CHIHUAHUA (LONG COAT & SHORT COAT)

RECOGNIZED: 1928

Effective: January 2008

The breed standard outlines the ideal characteristics, temperament and appearance of a breed, and ensures that a dog can carry out its original purpose. Breeders and judges should be mindful to prioritize dogs that are healthy and sound in both mind and body.

ORIGIN & PURPOSE

The world's smallest dog, the Chihuahua is the breed of dog considered truly indigenous to the Western Hemisphere. The breed's name indicates its ancestors came from the State of Chihuahua in Mexico. However, the breed's origins more properly belong to the whole of the country. It is thought that the Chihuahua is derived from an earlier breed known as Techichi, popular during the Toltec period, around the 7th century AD. It is said that the Long Coat variety was developed entirely in the United States by crossing the Short Coat to the Papillon and the Pomeranian. The Chihuahua has evolved primarily as a human companion.

GENERAL APPEARANCE

A graceful, alert, swift-moving little dog with saucy expression. Compact, and with terrier-like qualities.

TEMPERAMENT

Saucy, superior intelligence, generally reserved towards strangers.

SIZE

A well-balanced little dog not to exceed 2.75 kg (6 lb); 1 to 1.75 kg (2 to 4 lb) preferable.

COAT

In the smooth, the coat should be soft in texture, close and glossy. (Heavier coats with undercoats permissible.) Coat placed well over body with ruff on neck, and more scanty on head and ears.

COLOUR

A solid colour. Marked: A solid colour with markings of another solid colour(s). Splashed: Irregular, patched solid colour on white or white on solid colour. Merle shall disqualify.

HEAD

Skull: Well-rounded apple-dome skull, with or without molera. Cheeks and jaws lean. Muzzle: Moderately short, slightly pointed. Nose: Self-coloured in blonde types, or black. In moles, blues and chocolate, they are self-coloured. In blonde types, pink nose permissible. Mouth: Teeth level or scissors bite. Eyes: Full, but not protruding, balanced, set well apart – dark, ruby or luminous. (Light eyes in blond types permissible.) Ears: Large, held erect when alert, but flaring at the sides at about an angle of 45° when in repose. This gives breadth between the ears.

NECK

Slightly arched, gracefully sloping into lean shoulders, may be smooth in the very short types, or with ruff about neck preferred.

FOREQUARTERS

Shoulders: Lean, sloping into a slightly broadening support, well up, giving balance and soundness. Upper arm: Set on to give chestiness and strength of forequarters, yet not of the bulldog chest. Lower arm: Forelegs straight, set well under, giving free play at the elbow. Pasterns fine. Feet: A dainty small foot with toes well split up, but not spread, pads cushioned, with nails moderately long. (Neither the hare nor the cat-foot.)

BODY

Topline: Level back (never down or low), slightly longer than height. Chest: Plenty of brisket. Ribs: Rounded (but not too “barrel-shaped”). Loin: Well muscled. Croup in balance with rear assembly. Abdomen: Slight tuck-up.

HINDQUARTERS

Hip bone: Well covered. Upper thigh: Muscular, in balance with front assembly. Lower thigh: Muscular, in balance with front assembly. Hocks: Well apart, turning neither in nor out, well let down, with firm sturdy action. Stifle bend: Well bent and strong. Feet: A dainty small foot with toes well split up, but not spread, pads cushioned, with nails moderately long. (Neither the hare nor the cat-foot.)

TAIL

Moderately long, carried sickle either up or out, or in a loop over the back with tip just touching the back. (Never tucked under.) Hair on tail in harmony with the coat of the body, preferred furry.

GAIT

A graceful, swift and flowing straight forward movement with good reach and strong drive.

FAULTS

Any departure from the aforementioned ideals shall be considered faulty to the degree in which it interferes with the health and well-being of the dog and the breed’s traditional purpose.
