IMPORTANT UPDATE TO CDC DOG IMPORTATION POLICY FOR DOGS ENTERING U.S. FROM CANADA

The U.S. Centres for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has informed CKC that they have updated their policy for dog owners and importers seeking to bring a dog into the United States. The new policy focuses on high-risk countries for dog rabies and aims to reduce the burden on dog owners and importers of dogs from countries not considered high risk.

Under these changes

The most significant change to dogs entering the U.S. from Canada is that Canada will now be considered canine rabies virus variant free when importing a dog into the U.S. Dogs coming from low-risk or rabies-free countries are not required to be fully immunized or have a rabies vaccination certificate to enter the United States. This means is that a rabies vaccination certificate will no longer be required and CDC are no longer issuing unimmunized dog permits for dogs from Canada.

However, when travelers enter the United States with their dogs, they must provide written or oral statements that their dogs lived in a low-risk or rabies-free country for at least 6 months (or since birth) prior to arrival. Also note that, even if your dog is coming from a rabies-free country, dogs may still be denied entry if they appear sick, or are known to have a communicable disease.

Other Regulations

In addition to CDC regulations, you will have to comply with US Department of Agriculture and your destination state's regulations, which are often more strict than federal regulations. Please be aware that dogs imported for commercial (resale or adoption) purposes have additional requirements from USDA.

To avoid disappointment at the border, breeders that transport dogs to the US are encouraged to confirm all importation rules and regulations prior to finalizing a contract with puppy buyers.

For more information about CDC's import regulations, view www.cdc.gov/importation/bringing-an-animal-into-the-united-states/dogs.html.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES: KNOW THE RISKS AND TAKE STEPS TO MINIMIZE EXPOSURE

The Canadian Kennel Club Genetics and Medical Committee Reminds Breeders and Owners About the Risks of Infectious Diseases and the Baby Puppy Class.

Infectious diseases are always a risk, and The Canadian Kennel Club Genetics & Medical Committee wishes to remind breeders and owners of the best practices for limiting the spread of infectious diseases, and the unique concerns for animals entered in the Baby Puppy Class. Note these risks may also apply to all dog events.

Rules and Regulations

We remind exhibitors of Section 8.1 of the published CKC Conformation Show Rules and Regulations found here, with an excerpt below:

- 8.1 General
 - 8.1.1 A dog may not be entered or exhibited at a show held under these rules if it has any communicable disease. Dogs entered in a show must have current immunization status.
 - 8.1.2 No dog may be brought onto the grounds or premises of a show held under these rules if it:
 - (a) is known to have distemper, parvovirus, kennel cough or other communicable disease;
 - (b) has recovered from distemper, parvovirus, kennel cough or other communicable disease within the last 30 days
 - (c) has been housed within 30 days prior to the show on premises on which there existed distemper, parvovirus, kennel cough or other communicable disease.
 - 8.1.3 Where it is found that these rules have been contravened, the dog in question shall be removed from the show premises and the exhibitor will be subject to disciplinary action.

Steps to Minimize the Spread of Infections

1. All dogs should be up to date on their immunizations. Modern vaccines are generally quite safe and always safer than the risk of infections, especially Parvovirus and Distemper in unvaccinated animals. Ensure that your adult dogs have been vaccinated on a schedule recommended by your veterinarian.
2. Exhibiting dogs under six months in the Baby Puppy Class is inherently risky. Maternal antibodies may interfere with vaccines and prevent an immune response sufficient to protect against disease. Maternal antibodies may persist up to 12 weeks. Puppies younger than 16-18 weeks should have received a booster shot 1-4 weeks before the show date. Participation in the Baby Puppy Class is at your discretion and in all cases, your baby puppy should have had multiple separate immunizations before participating.

3. No unvaccinated puppies should ever be brought to a show.
4. Avoid unnecessary contact between your dogs and other dogs at the show, other exhibitors, and show attendees.
5. At home, try to minimize contact between dogs that have recently returned from a show and your other dogs, and in particular unvaccinated puppies, for a period of two weeks to minimize transmission of infections.
6. Do not bring a dog to a show if that dog, or any dog that your dog has come in contact with, has been ill within the last two weeks. Remember that infectious diseases can travel on clothing and be aware that you could be an agent of infection.
7. To minimize the risk of transmission of infections between dogs, we recommend the handler/owner open the mouth of dogs in the show ring to show the bite rather than having the judge perform this task. You can discuss this directly with the judge for your breed/group.
8. Anyone handling dogs should wash their hands thoroughly for at least 30 seconds, scrubbing thoroughly with soap and warm water between handling different dogs and frequently throughout the day during a show to minimize as far as possible transmission of infections. If proper hand-washing facilities are not accessible at a show, use an alcohol-containing hand sanitizer product.
9. Clean areas that come in contact with animals frequently and thoroughly with an appropriate cleaner, particularly crates, bowls and other items brought to and from the show floor. Dilute bleach or stabilized peroxide disinfectants are the most effective at killing all types of pathogens.
10. Any dog that falls ill while at a show may be removed by the show authorities and reported to the CKC (8.6.1(b) Conformation Show Rules). We suggest that if a dog falls ill at a show the owner/handler immediately remove the dog from the building and inform the show authorities as well as owners of any other dogs that may have come into immediate contact with the sick dog.
11. If your dog was exposed to any dog that was ill or later fell ill, quarantine the dog immediately for a minimum of two weeks and discuss with your veterinarian.

Again, we stress that no dog with a communicable disease may attend a CKC-sanctioned show and any dog may be removed from the show by the show authorities on account of disease and be reported to the CKC.

Additional information on infectious diseases can be obtained by from the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association (CVMA), or by speaking with your veterinarian.
