WHAT OUR BUSINESS PAGES SAY.

It should be noted that the West Chemical Co.'s address is now 125 Queen street east, Toronto. Their disinfectant is becoming more and more popular.

Those interested in Fox Terriers should read what Mr. A. A. Macdonald has to say of that splendid little Terrier, Aldon Orion. He was a heavy winner at the recent show in Toronto, and besides is most beautifully bred, being full of quality and character.

Geo. H. Carley, Hamilton, is offering a brace of French Bulldogs, imported Galopin and Leola, at a price that will give any one a start in this breed at an extremely low cost. Both are guaranteed in every particular, and are high class.

E. C. Parker, Compton, P. Que., is offering at stud the red Cocker Spaniel Knoydart, a winner at Boston, Ottawa and Toronto. To Eastern breeders especially the services of this dog should be a boon.

Fairbairn S. Falconer, Shelburne, Ont., is offering at stud the Collie MacPherson, a winner of five prizes at the recent Toronto Exhibition. The fee is an exceedingly low one of $8.00. Mr.

Falconer also has Collies for sale, and will be glad to send terms and prices on application.

A. D. Wilson, Edmonton, Alta., is offering at stud the services of his recent purchase, the famous Collie Brookmere Hopeful. We refer to him fully elsewhere. Mr. Wilson also has five litters of beautiful puppies now for sale.

The sensational Airedale, Commodore of Clipstone, that won everything he could at Toronto and London, is continued at stud by Mr. E. Wrightson Thorp, Toronto. The great record this dog has made at his first appearance here should make his services in great demand.

J. C. Lock, Meadowdale, Ont., in addition to offering Lock's Mange Knock, as a cure for skin disease, is willing, for $10.00, to take any case and return it cured in two weeks. No cure, no pay. This looks like a good proposition.

W. M. Clendening, Clifton Kennels, Hamilton, is offering at stud the imported English Bulldog Mohammedan, a picture of which appears on our front cover this issue. This is a two year old son of the great champion, Mohammet, and excellent in bone, with cobby body, perfect ears, short screw tail and immense vigor. Mr. Clendening is also offering a litter by Shields' Rodley Stone, out of an imported Magnitite bitch. There are two dogs and five bitches in this litter, whelped August 4th. Write for full description.

The address of W. J. Devitt, a British Columbia Bloodhound specialist, it should be noted, is now Nelson, B.C.

Robert McEwen, Byron, Ont., is offering at stud Holyrood Professor, by Parbold Professor, his new Collie that took everything in sight at Toronto, including three firsts and four specials, one of the latter for the best Collie in the show. Mr. McEwen is willing that the dog should be used freely, at least for the present, and so has placed the very moderate sum of $10.00 as the value of his services.

There are many offerings in bargain ads this month, including several Pomeranians, Boston puppies, American Foxhound puppies, Airedales, both puppies and brood bitches, a good Scotch Collie bitch and her seven puppies, pure white Toy French Poodles, a litter of Shields' Rodney Stone Bulldog puppies, and the services of the Black and Tan Dachshund, Bismarck II.

King Edward Collie Kennels, New Toronto, Ont., have a very attractive announcement in this issue, drawing attention to the four grand stud Collies in their kennel, Southport Star, King Edward Tytton, King Edward Pilgrim and King Edward Leader. These dogs are all imported and are all young dogs. High class champion bred Collies, grown dogs, brood bitches and puppies in both sexes for sale at reasonable prices. Full description will gladly be sent on application.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Vanguard Tib: This good Collie bitch, whose portrait appears in this issue, is at present nursing a nice litter by Vanguard Model, a son of Brookmere Conqueror and imported Sunshine Violetta.

Brookmere Hopeful: The Vanguard Collie Kennels, Edmonton, Alta., recently purchased this dog, a Collie that has done some good winning and is also the sire of several excellent specimens, including Brookmere High Hope, the sensational winner at Chicago and St. Louis in 1906. He owns as sire the imported dog Brookmere Hope by ch. Balgreggie Hope. His dam is Dingle Gaiety, a noted winner and the dam of many winners. She is by Master Clinker, ex Parbold Philomena by Ch. Wellesbourne Conqueror ex a champion Belgreggie Hope bitch. So that Mr. Wilson has all in all a very excellent combination in his new stud dog that we hope may do Collies in the West much benefit.

In commenting on the dog, American Field, of February 11th, 1905, says: The inaugural show of the Collie Breeders' Association was held February 1st and 2nd at the Coliseum Annex, Chicago, and from the breeders' standpoint was probably the most successful exclusive Collie show ever held in America. In the dogs, Brookmere Hopeful stood out in bold relief as plainly much superior to his competitors. He is a jaunty moving extra large puppy, sable and white, with splendid bone, heavy coat of the right texture, beautifully carried ears always at attention, a long, nicely chiselled head with flat skull and perfect mouth and an all-round good sound Collie. When he was given the pride of place by the judge, the action was hailed with universal acclaim. That good puppy Brookmere Hopeful went through these classes, winning first in the puppy, first in the novice, first in open and well deserved them.

B. C. Fox Terriers: Mr. Anthony, Vancouver, writes us that "the six dogs by Dartmouth, out of Rats—Dukedom, ex Donna Sylvia—are coming on splendidly. They are a classy lot and she has raised them in her own wild way, and she is the wildest thing in Terriers out. One evening I came home to find them all gone from her kennel. After much searching I found her under my house, which is four feet above the ground. She had dug a deep hole under an old cedar root, and by the aid of a light I could just see the little white things, but could not reach them. So I left her alone, and in about ten days I discovered another entrance to the burrow, and reached down and got them out. They were doing fine, so I put them back. They have now come out, so I put in a box of straw, but this did not suit her ladyship, and she made a nest of straw on the ground. I feed them a little now, and they all come out with a wild yell when they hear me call, but if I scare them they make a dive for the old burrow like a lot of wild foxes.

"For the past twelve months I have followed 'Great Dane's' feeding principles with entire success. As soon as my puppies begin to take food I give them milk with butter melted in it and also casein, which is the same as Plasmon, and once a day I give them the juice obtained from raw minced meat, but adding water to it and letting it stand, and as soon as they can eat they get the raw minced meat itself. My grown dogs get a liberal supply of clean raw meat.

"I find they do well on it, and keep in fine spirits. A little of this kind of food goes a long way. I must mention that to get under the house, Rats had to jump a wire fencing."

Bostons in London: Mr. J. A. Meadows, who is now living in London, Ont., has his good Boston, Combustion, with him, and several locally owned bitches have been bred to him. Mr. Meadows has a nice litter of five, of which three are dogs, by Wahneta's Peter Pan, the first litter that own Peter as sire. All have tight screw tails.

Selkirk: Mr. A. P. Mutchmor, Winnipeg, is applying for registration of the word Selkirk as his prefix.

Vancouver items: Mr. W. D. Bruce, Vancouver, has been unfortunate in losing a nice young Fox Terrier sent him out by Mr. J. C. Tinne. Mr. Bruce had out from Mr. Tinne in the spring a brace of good Terriers in Brockenhurst Boss and Brockenhurst Lasher. The former by The President, ex Sapho, the latter by Lasher, ex Isis. He was a typical Terrier and one that was needed on the coast, but unfortunately distemper, contracted on the voyage over, took him off. Next spring, it is hoped, a number of good ones may be had over, and Mr. Bruce intends to have the winner of the Produce Stakes sent East in the fall to try conclusions with the eastern dogs.

Aldon Trifle: Mr. Bailey's man 'phoned him a bit too soon. The litter from Aldon Trifle, noted in last issue, consisted of seven, not five, of which four are dogs. It is a case of "the more the merrier."

Ayrshire Purity: Mr. Geo. W. Crowther, Toronto, has imported the Collie bitch Ayrshire Purity, a tricolor, bred by R.

The Drumclaph Irish Terriers at Stud

& R. Nisbett, of Kilmarnock, Scotland. She is a bitch of good size, bone and expression, and is by the famous Ch. Wishaw Clinker ex Ayrshire Snowdrop.

Yorkshires too: Mr. Crowther is also adding to his kennel of Yorkshires, one of the smallest and best colored bitches to be found in the Midland Counties of England. Mr. Crowther is about to locate in Berlin, Ont., where he hopes to have more room for his dogs, and to be able to keep them under better conditions than is possible in a city the size of Toronto.

Dach. data: It takes more than one or two hard knocks to quench the enthusiasm of such a fancier as Mr. Sid Saunders, Guelph, and despite the hard luck that followed him some months back, he has again invested in an excellent and most typical Dachshund bitch. This bitch, Hexe Rote Foost, won her championships in both Austria and Germany, and although now seven years old Mr. Saunders expects to raise something exceptionally good from her, as she is in perfect health and condition, and sound as may be. She was successfully shown at Toronto.

Winnipeg arrivals: The Fox Terrier bitch that Mr. Mutchmor bought from Mr. A. A. Macdonald, Aldon Trinket, has presented her owner with five puppies, unfortunately but one being of the male sex. Ch. Aldon Cadet is the sire and we hope that next year these "Selkirks" may be able to give account of themselves.

Wishaw Hero dead: Mr. O. J. Albee, Lawrence, Cal., has been most unfortunate in losing, by violent death, that most typical stud Collie, Wishaw Hero, that he purchased from Col. Robert McEwen last July. He was killed on the railroad track that runs at the back of Mr. Albee's farm. He did well for Mr. Albee, winning in all cases entered and was daily growing more valuable, being considered on the coast a better dog than his sire, that is also owned in California. Hero has left some Al sons and daughters to perpetuate his memory.

Lennox Bulldogs: Things have been quite active recently in Mrs. Cartwright's kennel, as the following interesting items go to show. There is a good deal of activity in Bulldog circles in Canada now, very different to what was the case some four or five years ago, and when quality keeps pace with quantity, as it will, Canada will become known as a centre of the breed.

Mrs. Cartwright says:

Lennox Angostura has been on a visit to Mr. Garner's recently imported Stone Lion, and is showing in whelp to him. I hope for something good from the Rodney Stone cross. I have recently sold a thirteen months' old dog by Vinemount Lord Angus, ex Lennox Benita, to Mrs. Kline, of Portsmouth, Ohio, and a very nice five months' old Welsh Terrier bitch by Risby Brynhr, ex Lennox Helen, has gone to Mr. H. C. Bates, of Kingston. My Bull bitch Lennox Benita is at the Vinemount Kennels, East Aurora, N.Y., on a visit to Vinemount Clinker. This mating should produce something above the average. I am moving my kennel to a farm we have rented near Kingston, in October, and in due course the alteration might be made in my stud advertisement.

A message of thanks: Mr. R. H. Trimble desires through us to thank the members of the C.K.C. executive, that he has worked so pleasantly with during the past year, for their unwavering kindness and courtesy to him. Mr. Trimble assures the members that his services may be commanded at any time for any work that he can do. We heartily commend the sportsmanlike spirit displayed by Mr. Trimble.

The Airedale Terrier: Mr. Wrightson Thorp has compiled and issued a very valuable little book on "the origin of the Airedale Terrier of to-day, with hints on breeding and management." Valuable information is given on the breeding and rearing of Airedales, the Standard of the Airedale is given and many other useful hints in kennel management, including a table of remedies that are quite as applicable to other breeds as to the Airedale. The book is published at 25 cents, and may be had direct from Mr. E. Wrightson Thorp, Christie street, Toronto.

Collie trials: Bruce Burns, a Toronto cattle man, went down to Stanford, Conn., and defeated J. Pierpont Morgan's famous dog, Cragstone Bob, in a sheep-driving contest. Mr. Burns brought back with him a solid silver cup, valued at $50, and $90 in purse money. Mr. Burns handled the dog that won at Toronto several times.

Appreciation: I beg to acknowledge receipt of the silver medal which the Canadian Kennel Club awarded as a prize at the Winnipeg Exhibition. It is a beautiful medal and I wish to thank you very much for same. Yours very truly, V. C. Kobold. Winnipeg, Aug. 29, 1907.

Little Dutch to Ottawa: Mr. George W. Bailey, Ottawa, has bought from Mr. A. A. Macdonald the smooth Fox Terrier bitch Little Dutch, the dam of Aldon Orion. She is by Champion Dukedom, ex Lady Leger, by St. Leger.

CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB (Incorporated)

Annual Meeting Sept. 4th, 1907

(Official Minutes.)

The President of the Club, Mr. John G. Kent, presided at the large and enthusiastic meeting held on above date. Both Canada and the United States were largely represented, the board room of the Canadian National Exhibition being filled to overflowing.

Mr. Waters and Mr. Jackes were, on motion, appointed scrutineers to count the ballots sent in.

The minutes of the last annual meeting, as published in Gazette, were taken as read.

Secretary's report, as follows, was distributed:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

I beg to submit for your approval my annual financial report for the year ending August 31st, 1907, and to it have added the items that are before you for action at this meeting.

The number of dogs registered during the year just past is six hundred and forty-one, the total number of registrations now in the Stud Book being nine thousand five hundred and twenty.

The number of members who have paid is two hundred and sixty-five, but two less than last year. This, I think, is an excellent record considering the number of resignations received after the last annual meeting, when the fee was advanced from two dollars to three dollars. One hundred and four have already paid for 1908. At this time last year but thirty-nine had paid their fees for the coming year.

To balance

I am glad to be able to say that this is by far the best report that your executive have been able to present to you.

Notice of motion by Mr. Baker:
“That in 20 lb. Bull Terrier classes puppies must be over ten months old to compete.”

Notice of motion by Mr. Miller:
“That the registration of a word as sole property of applicant shall apply to kennel name, affix and prefix, and that the fee be $3.00,” has been withdrawn by mover.

Brantford cup case: Mrs. Waters appeals to this meeting from the decision of the executive in sustaining the judge's award, as given in his book, and sends the following letter:

St. Thomas, July 22, 1907.

Canadian Kennel Club, Toronto, Ont.:

Dear Sirs,—Your letter of the 17th received in regard to the Kent Cup, and I now put in an appeal to the annual meeting in September. I note in the new constitution rule 19 covers my case for 1907, but I was speaking of 1907 when a first prize winner had a right to show. Now I would know my place under the new ruling. Mrs. Russell was not in the building, nor was her dog shown for the Kent Cup.

Thanking you for your kindness in my behalf.

I remain, a dog lover,

(Mrs.) Chas. Waters.

P.S.—If I have not given notice of my appeal in the proper form, will you please do so for me, or notify me as to the proper way.

Mrs. Waters.

July 26th, 1907.

Mrs. Chas. Waters, St. Thomas, Ont.:

Dear Madam,—Yours of July 22nd received and noted. I have also conferred with the president in the matter. I cannot see where the rule you mention has any connection with the case, but I will bring the matter before the annual meeting as you request. Personally, however, I would have desired you to take the more dignified course, that is to abide by the decision and endeavor to make another win on the cup, which I have no doubt you would be able to do.

Yours truly,

H. B. Donovan,

Secy.-Treas.

The judge's award book, on which the decision of the executive was largely based, is here for investigation.

Suggested that the C.K.C. provide inserts containing show rules.

The following suggestion as to printed sheets has more than once been up for discussion. The difficulty to be met is that show premium lists and catalogues are not of uniform size. If this can be overcome by a compulsory rule stating that lists and catalogues must be, say, 6x9 inches (the usual size), I can see no reason why the request should not be acted upon.

Vancouver, B.C., 7th Aug., 1907.

Dear Sir,—I would suggest that the C.K.C. give to every kennel club in Canada a complete set of Stud Books and also one every year. It is almost imperative that every secretary should have this information at hand. It would help him in his work and would also simplify a great deal of unnecessary correspondence between yourself and local secretaries. There are very few clubs who are in a financial position to buy the books, and particularly so, new clubs starting up.

I would also suggest that the C.K.C. adopt regular colors for their ribbons or prizes, and have same printed in their rules. It would make uniformity all over Canada.

I further wish to draw your attention to a suggestion made by Mr. H. S. Rolston, of this city, some months ago, for the C.K.C. to have their dog show rules printed in catalogue size and sold to the local clubs at cost price. I do not know what printing costs in the East, but out here it is very high, as the following figures will prove: For our show this year we had 500 premium lists, which cost $65; catalogues, $92.50, and winners awards, $52; total, $209.50. You are aware what a large proportion of space the rules occupy and as they are compulsory, we think it only fair

The Famous Wandee Fox Terriers AT STUD

As I will be in Canada for a few months, breeders will have an opportunity of using these famous sires. It is well known that they are Terriers with a world-wide reputation and not at all local. As their produce is at the very top of the tree both in England and America, you are not guessing when using this blood.

that the C.K.C. should do as much as possible towards reducing it. I do not know how many clubs there are in Canada, or how many copies of the rules would be required, but I should judge in the neighborhood of 25,000 each year. (Next year we will require 2,000). It is plain to be seen that 25,000 could be bought ever so much cheaper than 500. Trusting you will bring these suggestions up at the next meeting.

I am, yours very truly,
E. C. Powell,
Secy. Vancouver Kennel Club.

August 19th, 1907.

Mr. E. C. Powell, Secy. Vancouver Kennel Club, Vancouver, B.C.:

Dear Sir,—Yours of Aug. 7th received and very carefully noted. I brought this matter up before, but as all shows unfortunately do not publish catalogues of uniform size, it was thought that it could hardly be made successful. The sum that you name is certainly out of all proportion to what such an item should cost, and I will be very glad indeed to press your claims, and those of other similar associations at the meeting.

Yours truly,
H. B. Donovan,
Secy.-Treas.

Canadian Black and Tan Club: The following correspondence is before you. No similar case has ever been up before. Decision, I judge, rests largely on your judgment as to who are the present owners of these trophies.

Ottawa, August 22nd, 1907.

Mr. H. B. Donovan, Secy.-Treas., Canadian Kennel Club, Toronto, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—I am instructed by the executive committee of the Ottawa Kennel Club to write you re the enclosed letter which was received from Mr. C. D. Carriere, and which the club thought should be dealt with by the Canadian Kennel Club. Awaiting an early reply, I am, yours very truly,

Geo. M. Tyrell,
Secy.-Treas.

Ottawa, Can., Aug. 21st, 1907.

To the Executive Members of the Ottawa Kennel Club, City:

Sirs,—I have been informed that "The Manchester Terrier specials," the Hon. Farley Cup and Ringmaster Cup are not going to be competed for at your show in September.

Now gentlemen, I gave up those cups to "The Ottawa Kennel Club," in September, 1906, and they were won by the present holder, Mr. F. McLean, after the above club was disorganized, as the fees were payable on September 1st, 1906, and there was no secretary to pay them to.

If your secretary, Mr. Tyrell, will refer to the minutes of last year's meetings, I think he will find that it was moved and seconded by executive members of "The Ottawa Kennel Club," that the secretary be instructed to write me, and if I did not hand the cups into "The Ottawa Kennel Club," they would place it into their solicitor's hands for action.

I received a letter from "The Ottawa Kennel Club's" solicitors, Messrs. Code & Burritt, demanding me to hand them into "The Ottawa Kennel Club" for competition, and if I did not, they would take action to recover same. I contend that the cups should be competed for this year, until won outright, as I hold that the case is exactly similar this year.

Yours truly,
C. D. Carriere.

August 26th, 1907.

Mr. Geo. M. Tyrell, Secy. Ottawa Kennel Club, Ottawa, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—Yours of Aug. 22nd, enclosing letter from Mr. C. D. Carriere, Aug. 21st, received. I will bring this matter before the Canadian Kennel Club and advise you again regarding it. This is an affair on which I cannot give an off-hand opinion, but without going further into the matter, I should say that the cups would either revert to the donors of them, or be retained by the last winner until the club was re-organized and conditions under which cups were received put in force again.

Yours truly,
H. B. Donovan,
Secy.-Treas.

Canadian National Exhibition Dog Show of 1907.

The Toronto show of 1907 goes down to history as the biggest and, in many ways, the best dog show ever held in Canada. That the entry of 1906, one thousand three hundred and forty-four, should be beaten, is remarkable, as little effort was made to get the dogs out, the management depending largely on the inducements contained in the premium list, specialty judges and fair cash prizes for a moderate fee. That they were justified in the assumption the entry of one thousand five hundred and twenty-seven amply proves. Not so many years ago an entry of five hundred was set as a mark to be aimed at, and the entry of this year is a good indication of the advance that has taken place in the interest displayed in dogs in Canada.

That there were many disappointments and some heart burning cannot be denied. The show has outgrown the present staff and an outside man as well as office management is needed and that badly. Not a worker, but one who will quietly and persistently see that others do their work. And isn't this, after all, the hardest and most trying kind of labor. The building, too, is behind the times, and this is matter that was taken up at the annual meeting of the C.K.C.

There was at times a dearth of ring stewards, a want that in future might be filled by eliminating such names as those of Mr. Donovan and others, whose duties prevent their giving two full days to the show, and this is really the time that is needed. The awards were slow in going up and many complaints were heard on this score. An extra office hand for two or three days would give relief here.

It was by no means a clean show, but food and water were a-plenty. There did not appear to be that enthusiastic feeling that such an entry should bring out, and a final "kick," the catalogue was "fearfully and wonderfully made."

We mention these items not in any carping spirit, but to remind the management that nothing on this mundane sphere is perfect, not even including the Toronto Dog Show. We feel sure that we have but to draw attention to these partial defects to have the proper remedy supplied.

Mr. R. H. Trimble was indefatigable, but he is handicapped in having too many details to attend to personally. His position should be truly that of "supervisor," and the actual work inside the office and out should all be done by others. His work should be the electric button one that keeps all parts in running order with but little effort on the part of the one who "touches." Many members of the committee stuck at it early and late and to them is due a large meed of praise.

A synopsis of the entry is as follows:

Airedale Terriers, 69; American Foxhounds, 59; Beagles, 77; Bedlington Terriers, 17; Black and Tan Terriers, 15; Bloodhounds, 15; Boston Terriers, 91; Bulldogs, 109; Bulldogs (French), 3; Bull Terriers, 95; Chesapeake Bay Dogs, 0; Cocker Spaniels, 191; Collies (rough), 100; Collies (smooth), 1; Dachshunde, 20; Dalmatians, 12; English Foxhounds, 13; English Setters, 37; English Toy Spaniels, 21; Field Spaniels, 0; Fox Terriers (smooth-haired), 95; Fox Terriers (wire-haired), 52; Gordon Setters, 1; Great Danes, 32; Greyhounds, 13; Irish Setters, 58; Irish Terriers, 74; Irish Water Spaniels, 7; Italian Greyhounds, 6; Japanese Spaniels, 0; Mastiffs, 0; Newfoundlands, 5; Old English Sheep Dogs, 3; Pointers, 53; Pomeranians, 33; Poodles, 6; Pugs, 3; Russian Wolfhounds, 25; Scottish Terriers, 24; Sheep Dogs (Trials), 4; Skye Terriers, 6; St. Bernards (rough and smooth), 21; Toy Black and Tan Terriers, 5; Welsh Terriers, 8; Whip-pets, 4; Yorkshire Terriers, 24; Miscellaneous, 9; Selling, 5; Scotch Deerhounds, 6.

St. Bernards get fewer and fewer, but there were in the winners here two or three specimens of merit. Mr. Sweetnam tells us of the Bloodhounds. In Newfoundlands winners was withheld. This tells the tale. Dr. Ford will tell us of the others, and Dr. Niven has promised a special report on the Fox Hounds. The winners in Pointers and English Setters stand out prominently and in Ben Lewis' practiced hand are a hard proposition for others. The Irish entry was large and good. Cockers are back a few on last year, but almost two hundred should be satisfactory to judge and management. Toronto is not a Collie show, and from the season of the year at which it is held can never be so. Col. McEwen's new dog won out—a big, heavy coated type ical Collie. A photo of him, none too good as a picture, will appear in next Gazette. Mr. Fraser had a lot of good Fox Terriers to pass on, and improvement here is marked both in quality and numbers. Bostons turned out well and gave Mr. Good something to think of. The sensation in Airedales was Commodore of Clipstone, a grand one put down to win, a beautiful headed dog with body and back especially that are what we want. Toronto got an Airedale entry at last and we now look for a future for the breed here. Mr. Lindsay had a big and good entry in Irish Terriers. We are glad to see some good ones being "bred in Canada." This is what we want.

Scotties, too, showed quite a step in advance, but Skyes went the other way. Bedlingtons were embellished by some new blood that changed things a bit. Welsh are at a standstill, and Black and Tans show a sad falling off in numbers. Beagles were good classes and Dachshunde had some new ones of merit. Were glad to see Mr. Saunders again in the ring, and with such a good one, too, as Rote Hexe Forst.

In Toys Mrs. Pitts' good little Pug that we saw at Montreal, was far the best of the two entered, and Poms have improved, both in import and home breeding. Mrs. Macdonald is to be congratulated on showing such a home bred one as the tiny specimen, so good in head, ears, back and size as that that bore the prefix "Rederoff." Toy Spaniels turned out in larger numbers than ever before, and the entry of Yorkshires made a record. But we don't want to forget that the Yorkshire is a Terrier, even though a miniature.

Bulldogs at Toronto.

Special Report by the Judge, Mr. W. R. Goodwin, East Aurora, N.Y.

Whilst I was very much gratified to find an entry of 109 at Toronto, I was also rather disappointed to see that as a whole the dogs were not of a type pleasing to me. The low to ground, massive dogs of quality, with sour expression, and good movers were unfortunately conspicuous by their absence. In my humble opinion there were too many big, coarse dogs, of a Mastiff type, unsoundness, soft expressions, goggle eyes, bad tails, pinched noses, and button ears, were also very much in evidence.

I am sorry to have to say it, but there were only about half a dozen dogs in the whole show that could move. I hope these remarks will not be misunderstood, as they are made in the interest of the Canadian fancy, whom I am afraid are getting hold of the wrong type of Bulldog. I feel sure that the Canadians will be just as successful with Bulldog breeding as they have been with other breeds, if only they get hold of the right type to set the foundation stone of the Canadian bred Bulldog. Now is the time to do it, as the Bulldog is still in its infancy in Canada, so to speak.

When I speak of type, it must be borne in mind that I mean dogs bred to a good type for generations, as all others are only flukes, and practically useless for successful breeding.

Now to the dogs themselves. I gave Champion Brill O' Don best in show and winners, as he scored in condition, expression, eyes, wrinkle, shortness of face, and turnup of underjaw, over Champion Rodney King, who was shown too fat and looked shapeless, which spoiled his good body. He is better than the winner in body, tail and ribs, he is shorter in back, as sound as a bell, and was the best mover in the whole show. The next in order was the Duke of Wellington, a Canadian bred fawn, with a short back, good ribs, very big bone and skull, also low to ground, lacks finish in face, and is a little inclined to be downfaced. He was by far the best Canadian dog in the show. Then came Rolling Stone, who did very well, winning altogether five firsts and one third. He is at a bad age, and should improve later. A big dog, with big bone and skull, his ears are too flat on his skull; he wants more turnup, shoulders and shorter back. Lennox Bendigo has improved since I last saw him, good in leg, back and cushion, very large skull, but wants breaking up, and is beefy behind. Lord Roberts, another big youngster, has expression and very long tail, large skull, good front, lay back and turnup, he could scarcely move behind. Lodge Keeper, a nice headed dog, with a short face, and very good underjaw, shown too light, and rather flat sided.

The bitches were not so numerous as the dogs. The winner and reserve winner were both in very poor condition, Rockwood Daisy is a very short faced bitch, with nice expression and underjaw, light in bone, wants to be lower to ground, good ribs and short back. Miss Scorpion lost in underjaw, small head, rather loose in shoulders, good in cushion, bone, ribs and eye. She was in miserable condition. Dorritt Stone, a nice bitch, very low, good shoulders, bone and ribs, shown too fat, and wants Cocker Spaniels at Toronto.

Special Report by the Judge, Mr. Lance Farewell, Toronto.

Cockers were a very good class on the whole, the bitches being the best I have ever seen at any show. They were all of good quality and gave me some difficulty in picking the winners.

In puppy dogs, a very nice little dog, Mystery, took first, with Talbot second. Novice dogs, Talbot received the blue ribbon, with Rodney, a dog showing a good deal of character, second. In the limit class, Kildare, a nice little, well set dog, was first, with another good dog, Mystery, second; third, Joe Hill, another nice little dog. Open, Kildare first; second, Joe Hill; third, Standard II.

Puppy bitches, Black Patti was first, a grand little bitch well set on legs, great form and fine head; second, Iona; third, Vonda, also two fine bitches. In the novice, a grand little bitch, Brynwood Narida, full of quality and of rare form, took first, with Rosa Lee II. close up. It is my opinion that in a year from now Rosa Lee II. will be able to beat the winner, but at present she shows badly; third, Lady Hunter. Limit, first, Brynwood Narida; second, Rosa Lee II.; third, Iris. Open bitches, first,

Bull Terriers at Toronto.

Special report by the Judge, Mr. Clair Foster, Douglaston, L.I.

Bull Terriers were a big improvement over the classes of two years ago, greater in number and decidedly better in quality. In fact, many of the dogs that got no better than V.H.C. could win at most shows.

It may seem presumptuous for a New Yorker to go into the stronghold of this breed to criticise the dogs; but it is not well that we should allow the continued success of the Canadian fanciers to grow too great in their own consciousness. Therefore it behooves some of us to go up there occasionally, and to pretend to know a great deal more about the breed than we really do.

I wish it were possible to give a detailed report of all the dogs exhibited. It is not, because I had to get into a ring the minute the show was reached, and had to hurry away the moment the classes were finished, and some one had helped me to mark a catalogue from the judging book. I have in my mind's eye all the dogs I saw; but a good many of them I am unable to connect with the numbers or names I find in the catalogue.

Now, isn't that a nice, smooth way of letting myself down easy in case I say inconsistent or untruthful things about a man's dog?

It was unfortunate for me that I had to hasten away. I like to stay around and hear the "kicks." It is a good thing in many ways. It may not be politic, and it may be very amateurish; but in the first place it precludes absolutely the possibility of ones getting the idea into his head that he is one of those good judges with whom all exhibitors agree. In the second place, he may learn many things that he never knew before. No two men's valuations of the various characteristics of a breed are alike. Moreover, even if they were alike to-day they either would vary tomorrow from each other or from the ideas of to-day. The terms "to-day" and "to-morrow" are used advisedly.

N. GORDON, KING EDWARD COLLIE KENNELS New Toronto, Ont., Can.

I mean that the prevalent ideas of to-day with regard to any breed will vary widely from those of a few years hence. To deny that this is true were to disregard the known facts of history. From this same truth we come logically to the utter absurdity of all arguments that because a breed has dropped many of the characteristics of its forbears the present standard must be wrong. In the case of Bull Terriers, if it be wrong to-day, it must have been wrong twenty-five years ago, the period to which most of the older critics hark back, for assuredly the Bull Terrier of that day was utterly different from the dog of fifty years ago.

Listening to the kicks does not mean that one need enter into discussions. He may accept and digest so much or so little as he chooses. It may not be a nice commentary, it may not even be a truthful one, on the doggy affairs of mine own country; but it always seemed to me that the Canadians were better losers than we. Perhaps this idea has to do with the statement in the Good Book that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country." Doubtless it would have been made to include judges as well as prophets if there had been dog shows in those days. Speaking of good losers reminds me that I missed seeing Mr. Elliott. Among other Canadian Bull Terrier men he is one who has endeared himself particularly to the rest of us in the States. In times of victory his attitude always is one of modesty and self-effacement, while in defeat he invariably is considerate and charitable.

So much for good losers; now for good dogs.

The first class brought out a real surprise, Inferno by name, and the best all around Bull Terrier seen out for a long, long time. A few months hence this statement may not fit him; for we are apt to look askance at a puppy which is extraordinarily good at an early age. However, as a seven-months-old dog this one is deserving of all the good things we can say of him. He is big for his age, but bigger still in bone for his size. For all his size and substance he shows not a sign of coarseness. He may get heavy in the shoulders, probably will unless he gets just enough, and not too much, of the right kind of exercise. He may get too cheeky, but I doubt it. He won't go bad in eye, for the simple reason that he can't; his forehead is filled bang up. And right here appears the reason for the latter-day Bull Terrier man's liking for a "down faced" dog. A down face almost invariably is a filled-up face, and a filled-up face is the surest sign of a laster. One could say a lot about this puppy and not tell all that is good about him; while he might say a very little and tell all that is bad. For a long time the fanciers of our breed have been asking each other, "When again shall we see a really first-class heavyweight?" The answer is, "Next winter," if this puppy comes on as we reasonably may hope, and does not go off, as we may not unreasonably fear.

His sire I never heard of. His dam is out of Mr. Walters' old stand-by, June II., a good one herself, but which never loomed up as a producer until she fell into the hands of our most prominent breeder.

Clarence Blazer was the second prize winner; a nice, upstanding dog, with fine legs and feet and perfect tail carriage, a natural shower all the time, and with a head not unlike that of his famous daddy. Third, Epsom Reliable, is a nice puppy, but barely six months old—too young to do himself justice. In novice the money prizes were accounted for by the three puppy winners. There was a dog in this class catalogued, Booker T. Washington, by Epsom Reliance, and whelped November, 1905. Reliance was the puppy winner at this show in September, 1905, and at that time was only eight months old. Guess somebody has things a little mixed.

The limit class under 30, aside from the winner, Epsom Reliable, I can't recall.

At StudScotch Collie MacPherson 9398 C.K.C.Winner of five prizes at Toronto Exhibition, 1907. Fee $8.00*Dogs For Sale. Terms on Application.*Fairbairn S. Falconer, 9.07 Shelburne Ont.

In open the puppy won over Bloomsbury Blazer easily, beating him in foreface, placement, size and shape of eye, in bone, body, shoulders and tail. Blazer's son, the second puppy, was third. There is little to choose between him and his sire.

Speaking of sires, some of us predicted when Blazer came to this country that he was of the right blood to produce good eye placement and filled up faces. He has more than made good in that direction. Although called Bloomsbury, he is not really a product of Mr. Monk's kennels. On the sides of both sire and dam he is an out-and-out Wild, the strain made notable by Tom Gannaway, the man to whom credit must be given for resuscitating in England the breed's most distinctive characteristics, correct eye placement and the filled-up face. Blazer's sire, Bloomsbury Charlwood, although on account of his temper seldom shown, is to-day the best headed dog in England. He is by a little dog that was a full brother to my old bitch, Charlwood Victoria Wild, who is as good to-day as she was when a puppy, distinctly a laster.

It will be noticed that Mr. Walters' best bitch, Epsom Modesty, also is by Blazer. The only dog we have who does not concede him the right to be called our at present most successful sire is the down-faced Canadian dog, Bows'n. Bows'n's best get are Ch. Haymarket Blazer and Ch. Edgewood Duval, both of the type that we claim makes lasters, and both are old enough to have demonstrated it.

The first named is out of Mr. Walters' old June II., the dam of Epsom Modesty. We of the States have been smiling lately at Walters' dipping into down-faced strains. A short time ago he used all sorts of argument in trying to convince us that the correct thing was the narrow skulled dogs, with straight profile. At one time he even claimed that the term "down-faced," as used in England, did not mean what we construed it, but that it meant a straight profiled dog which carried his head with nose pointing downwards. To help prove his contention, he sent us an old printed description of Principio, a great dog in his day. This was futile as logical argument for two reasons; it might have been written by some one who did not know what he was talking about, just as is half the stuff one reads. The fact that a thing is in type makes it no nearer the truth than what some other man might say with a bad pencil on a piece of brown wrapping paper. Then again, the fact that Principio was a great dog in his day is not sound argument for our using him as a standard now. So was Gully the Great a wonderful dog in his day, but there is not a man in the fancy now who would call him anything but a "mut." Mr. Walters may not have changed his views, but at least we may conclude from his having patronized so heavily down-faced stock that he either has done so or has failed to stand by his guns. He must see, himself, that dogs of the type of Epsom Modesty and Haymarket Blazer are better and will last longer than the best previous litters he ever produced from old June.

In open class under 20, Epsom Maple Leaf was an exceptionally good one at the weight. The other two I could describe, but cannot recall from the catalogue which was which.

In the breeders' class Clarence Blazer was first. Second and third to Epsom Lady of the Snows and Epsom Lady Beautiful. It was easy to see that Mr. Walters thought the latter the better of the two bitches. That made me give her a good, long look; for I have great respect for his judgment—when it doesn't happen to disagree with my own. She was better in some parts of her head, being wider in skull and smoother skinned and tighter lipped. She was better in eye and slightly better filled before. On the other hand she was pinched in muzzle, very light in bone, shy of substance throughout. Lady of the Snows, better in muzzle, bigger boned and straighter boned, had plenty of depth from withers to brisket, where the other failed noticeably. Moreover she had the right stiff, hard coat, while the other had the short soft coat that most Bull Terriers carry nowadays. In short, Lady Beautiful had it on the other slightly in head, but not enough to justify one in placing a bitch that dangerously approaches weediness over a strong, sturdy one that fails to her only a little in head and beats her everywhere else. It certainly is the head that makes the Bull Terrier a Bull Terrier; but a good head will not take him to the front without a certain amount of other qualities to back it up. Both of these bitches were exceedingly poor showers.

In the Canadian bred class these two were beaten by Dufferin Jenny Wren, which appears to be of the same litter as the puppy Inferno. She was lighter in eye than the others, but with good expression, was far better in bone, in elbows and feet; and she stood up and showed herself like a real Bull Terrier all the time. Reserve went to a pretty good lightweight, Stockwood Battle, which, back of the head, was the equal of any dog in the show. His skull was a little too wide for his length of head, eye a little too full and light, and somewhat dished in profile; but for all that a dog that can do a good deal of winning in the lightweight division.

Puppies, bitches, brought out two that were the hardest to separate of any two in the show, Clarence Molly and Epsom Modesty, both quality ones of the same type, size and make-up all through. They were placed in the order named, but if someone else had been doing the judging I should not have objected in the least if the order had been reversed. Modesty is a shade longer in head and a trifle stronger in muzzle. Back of the head Molly scored over the other a little more than she was beaten in the head. She stands better in front, being straighter in the bone of the foreleg, shoulders slope more, is a trifle better in feet, and stands straight on them, while Modesty's right forefoot turns out a bit when she stands unassisted. In coat Molly won decisively, having the moderately profuse, reasonably coarse, hard, glossy coat that is wanted in this breed, but nowadays is seen all too infrequently. In fact she was the best coated one exhibited. Both will last although neither has the substance that is needed in a good brood bitch. The good shower, Jenny Wren, was third. Another good stamp of bitch in this class, which got only V.H.C. on account of the hot company, was the one, I think, is catalogued Stockwood Polly Perkins.

Novice brought out Brocton Girl, the best bitch I have seen in the ring since Frank Watkins' Iris was shown at New York last winter, and a better one with a nice tail, well carried, good bone, than she. She is a full-ribbed roomy one with a nice tail well covered, good bone, shoulders, legs and feet; typical headed, with a well placed eye and real Bull Terrier expression. A stronger muzzle would improve her. Later on in the year when she is better coated, unless the boys have something good under cover which I have not seen, this one is going to walk through ten points without an effort. She beat Molly and Modesty as easily as they beat the rest. Aside from being more nearly typical she has the substance which goes with a big bitch, while the other two are essentially lightweights.

They and little Maple Leaf accounted for the money in the under 30 class, with the good Berwick Starlight reserve. Limit was practically a repetition, with Countess Grey, dam of the puppy winner, thrown in.

Old June II., a mighty good Bull Terrier, even forgetting her seven years, was second in the open. Duchess of Albany, another old timer, and still a good one, was reserve in this class. This bitch is one of the wisest things in the dog line that I ever saw. She was at our home on Long Island once, and there was something positively uncanny about her, she was so wise. Not that she was particularly alert or had any smart tricks, but she displayed reasoning faculties unmistakably.

Winners, dogs, of course, went to the puppy, while winners, bitches, was easy for Brocton Girl, with Clarence Molly beating for reserve the bitches she had not already met. The puppy beat the bitch by a safe margin for best in the show.

Well, Mr. Donovan asked for a few notes. He may not be pleased to get a book instead. However, he knows that I know what blue pencils were made for.

FOX HOUNDS AT TORONTO.

Special Report by the Judge, Dr. J. S. Niven, London.

The class of English Foxhounds was rather disappointing, only three being entered, the usual fine display of the Toronto Hunt Club being much missed. The winner is not good, but he has better feet and legs than the second prize one. There was a larger class of American Foxhounds than usual, but there were very few pure representatives of the breed, as the heavier built English hound had been much used. The best of the classes was the bitch Gay Lass. She was rather handicapped as having just nursed a litter, but her quality stood right out, and she ought to have been the placed hound in winners class but for some reason she did not appear when this class was called. Other hounds worthy of notice were Lansdowne Virginia and Lansdowne Nevada, both typical types, good heads, nice ears, well set up on straight, strong legs, and with feet to which no exception could be taken. Bounce and Ruler, in puppy class, were moderate. In novice Hanks Ringwood is a nice level hound with poor head. In limit and open, Raleigh had the better of the class by his good action.

The owners of American Foxhounds want to stick to a straight bred American Foxhound as the English class takes away from the type and gives a heavier head, thicker ears and much thicker build of dog.

There was one black and tan hound which struck me as being nearer the type of the old Virginia hound than any and should have stood much higher if her feet and legs had been proper.

ENGLISH BLOODHOUNDS AT TORONTO.

Special Report by the Judge, Mr. Geo. B. Sweetnam, Toronto.

At the recent bench show in connection with the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, five English Bloodhounds were entered, but only four materialized, two of which were puppies.

The Dartmoor Kennels, of King, the stalwarts here in this breed for the last three years, were conspicuous by their absence.

In novice dogs and bitches, Mr. John G. Harvey's Mount Vernon Dainty, a typical Bloodhound, slightly plain in head and short in ear, was an easy winner over Mr. W. A. Brodie's puppies Judge and King. Although litter brothers, Judge is rather better developed than King.

Limit dogs and bitches brought out in addition to Mount Vernon Dainty and Judge, Mr. Harvey's Pitmiley Orlando, an unusually strong all round Bloodhound, without having any fancy point unduly exaggerated.

Mr. Harvey was awarded a medal for the best brace, and two medals for Pitmiley Orlando, the best Bloodhound in the show.

NOTES.

Col. McEwen, sportsmanlike, withdrew his Collie entry, as president of the L. C. A. preferring to do so.

Mr. W. Saunders, London, the owner of the winning Dachshund bitch, bought from Mr. Sid Saunders the winning dog, The Dr., from Guelph. This is a red dog, sound in front and behind, with an excellent head and body and one that should help Mr. W. Saunders in establishing a kennel of this breed.

Balmoral Baron in heavy, though old coat, won out in Collies.

Mrs. Waters was disappointed in having her Pointer entries, through error, sent in too late and hence returned.

The nicely benched little show held in London on September 10th to 13th, under the management of London Canine Association and Western Fair, will go on record as a model for first attempts. The show was well run from start to finish, and the entry of 435 was remarkable for its size and for the quality of the dogs that went to make it up. Not like most "first shows," where the latter essential is mostly an unknown quantity. About forty late entries were refused and a little more effort would simply have crowded some of the exhibits out of doors. Next year many improvements are promised, including an increased classification and a larger building.

The public simply flocked to see the dogs and the first day some one thousand and two hundred people passed the gate. It paid the Western Fair Board as an investment, gave a return on the outlay despite the extra expense always entailed by an initial show and those members of the Board who were doubters are now amongst the warmest advocates of a continuance of the dog show.

A hard working committee and a secretary with a real head brought the show to a successful issue. Dr. F. L. Wood is an efficient officer that keeps things moving without fuss, and in George Bowman, an old Huntsman, we have a superintendent who knows dogs and their needs.

The neat catalogue contained the number of entries, four hundred and thirty-five, and the number of dogs catalogued two hundred and seven, but we believe the latter was augmented by one or two omissions.

There were few absentees and an extended report must wait for next issue.

Amongst those present were the Drumelamph Irish Terriers, that were after points not money, Mr. Coulter's Greyhounds, Mr. Harvey's Bloodhounds, London Hunt's Foxhounds, Mr. Graydon's Setters, Mr. Tomlinson's and "Pop" Dunn's Cockers, Smith Bros.' Beagles, Colla Kennels' Collies all the way from Montreal, "Colne" Airedales and Mr. Wrightson Thorp's grand dog of the same breed. He again won. Mr. Thody's Bull Terriers and Collies. A good Boston entry, where Combustion won, Mr. Anderson's, Mr. Austin's and others being represented. Dr. Drake's

STOCK-KEEPERISMS.

"Mr. Watson has arranged a very neat identification ticket for the Hackensack show, combining an admission ticket for the exhibitor as well. It is a miniature identification ticket, with a gate coupon that is torn off when first presenting the ticket; the check is numbered and there are spaces for the numbers of one's dogs, with an admonition to strike off the number of any entry that is absent. This is a good suggestion, for through the thoughtlessness of exhibitors who leave dogs at home and never acquaint the manager of the fact, a lot of unnecessary trouble is caused in looking for the dogs, and this at a one day show is provoking."

Would be glad to see one, Mr. Watson, might be useful at Toronto where the "pass trouble" remains a hardy perennial.

"We forgot to draw particular attention last week to the closing of the entries for Toronto show on the 15th, simply from the fact that nothing was sent to us about it. Now we get a list of monies in the various breeds which we had the pleasure of publishing two weeks ago. Oh, for a Stone that we could mark the lapse from old day methods. In the Stone age, we got more than we could use, now we have to think it up ourselves. Anyhow we trust the show will receive the entry the earnest efforts of the committee deserve, and that another 'best ever' will be the result of what is practically a home judged show, as compared to former days."

You needn't regret not receiving the "home made" stuff sent out, Mr. Stock-Keeper. It wasn't correct, as we found out after using it.

Memo: "If you want a thing done, do it yourself."

They also say:

"That the Canadian definition of an American bred dog is any dog bred on the continent of North America, and if we were not scared or prejudiced we would have it the same."

Thanks! We agree with you.

Retrospects for 1906.

From the English Kennel Gazette.

COLLIES (ROUGH).

By Robert Tait.

During the early part of this year the rough Collie classes did not fill very well, but the shows of late have been much better in this respect. The Palace, Edinburgh and Cheetham Hill had all a very good entry. In the early part of this year a new club was formed, under the name of the Northern Collie Club. This newly-formed club was very successful in securing a fairly large number of members in a very short time. I understand a small committee of about three was appointed to draw out a new standard of points on the Collie, and in looking it over it is very plainly seen that the new standard of points is drawn out to suit the dogs which the majority of the committee at present own. The chief alteration in their new standard was to greatly reduce the size of the Collie. A copy of the standard points was sent to the Collie Club and to the Scottish Collie Club by the Secretary, who hoped they would see their way to adopt it as their future standard. But both clubs refused to give up the old standard for the new one. Judging from the winner at the Palace, shown by the Secretary and judged by the President of this new club, they must have allowed their new standard to fall to the ground, as the winner is a very large dog and far too long on back, and a bad mover, which usually accompany this fault.

I will now give a short criticism on the young dogs that came out this year. Troon Matchless, a very large tri-color with a well-made body, extra heavy coat of good texture, good legs and feet, long head and fair ears. Eastwood Ensign, very long fine head, good ears, a nice dog, if put in good condition. Seedley Defender has a very nice head and eye, good ears, an improver. Lancaster Clinker, a dog that did a lot of winning, but had only size to recommend him, being altogether too coarse. Billisley Briton, a large, dark sable, long head, good ears, but not in coat when I saw him. Southport Student, too long in back, flat-sided and large ears, a bad mover, has only size and a long head to recommend him. Parkhill Paramount, a very large upstanding dog with a long head and good ears. Bomains Bummer, a very large, nicely-marked sable and white, has a nicely-shaped head on the strong side and good ears.

Wishaw Superior, being my property, will say nothing about him.

There has been no young one out this year able to take the colors from the old ones.

Ch. Squire of Tytton contented himself visiting a few of the small £1-first-prize shows, where he was not likely to meet strong opposition. Cr. Wishaw Leader was out at Manchester, Darlington, Edinburgh, and Cruft's, and won them all, also the cup at the latter for the best dog in the show.

I consider the bitches were a better lot than the dogs this year, and I will endeavor to give a short description of them. Eden Exquisite, a well-marked tri-color, good coat, rather low on the leg, not flat enough in skull, nice ears, and a good shower. Beauty of Tytton, very good quality one, good ears and eye, rather short in head, and more coat would improve her. Glenny Belinaer, the winner at Cruft's, though very young and not ready on that day, shows Mr. Dalgleish can see a champion at a distance, as she turned out to be about the best bitch this season, having size and quality combined. Wishaw Beauty being my property, then will I say nothing about her. Parkhill Pandora, good body, legs and feet and size, head not flat enough, good ears. Other two nice ones came out at Ayr, Parkhill Pauline and Hartwood Sublime, both good ones. The latter won at Glasgow after. Urmoston Blanchetta, good head and eye, not too good on legs, and not in show condition. Sapho of Tytton, the winner at the Palace and Edinburgh, is a large upstanding one, grand body, legs and feet, good ears and a long head; hard to find fault with. In conclusion, I should like to caution intending purchasers, at home and abroad, against buying through the reports in our weekly doggy papers, as the reports are often written by the owners, or subject to their dictation.

COLLIES (SMOOTH).

Just now there are more good dogs going the rounds of the shows than I ever remember seeing for the past twenty-five years. A few years ago there were only about three good dogs, now there is quite a number. In fact, they beat the bitches just now, which is something new, as the smooth bitches in the past always outclassed the dogs. Of the young ones that came out this year, Ch. Eastwood Eminent is undoubtedly the best, and is lasting well. Another good young dog is Medlock Magnate, and one that will improve. Lord Falconer, who did so well at the Palace, is plain in head, and has rather a lurcher appearance in body. Canute Model, a big upstanding dog, grand body, legs and feet, splendid coat, and a fine mover, good ears, head a nice shape, but one shade strong, his only fault. Canute Perfection, another good dog, well known. Stanhope Count is still looking well, no dog in the fancy has more ups and downs, and is a good dog to breed from. Canute Squire has a good head and ears, but fails in body. Sunnybrae Perfection, another grand dog. Heatherlea Tip, another nice dog, and the best I know of in Scotland. Smooth breeders never had such a good selection of stud dogs as they have now to choose from.

It appears no young bitch out this year can lower the colors of that grand bitch, Quality of Dunkirk. She is all quality and a good shower, and true to type. Ormskirck Venice, another nice one, good head and ears, legs and feet, rather light in the middle, which makes a smooth look rather lurcher like. Colet Lucy, smart head and ears, but too cobby in build, a fine shower. Woodbine Fascination, a good size, good head, ears well carried, but rather large. Champion Eleanor de Montfort, another good one that has lasted well. Canute Lady and Snow Queen are both good ones. During this year the smooth classes have been very well filled. At Edinburgh, where four classes were given them, we had an average entry of about nine per class, I think a record for a show in the north. If I have omitted any dogs, I hope the owners will forgive me, as this is written from memory.

BOULDEDOGUES FRANCAIS.

P. Mrs. Charles Waterlow.

It was with great pleasure that I acceded to the wish of the editor of The Kennel Gazette to write the retrospect of the French Bull Dog—though I felt that much as I have the interest and prosperity of the breed at heart, there were many others who could have performed the task much better than I can do.

I little thought when the request was made to me that our club would have to pass through such turbulent times, and all the more do I feel how glad I should have been to be released from my promise, in order that more justice might have been given to the breed. Still, there are so many staunch and loyal supporters of our little French Bull Dog that whatever be his origin, he has quite made up his mind to remain among us.

Since the year 1902, when the club was started, nothing but progress has followed. From the first club show held at Tattersalls in April, 1903, to the last one at the Horticultural Hall, Westminster, in March, 1906, our members have steadily increased. We have had innumerable difficulties to overcome. First and foremost, the one owing to quarantine regulations on imported dogs, and, secondly, the opposition and dislike to the breed shown by British Bull Dog fanciers. But time, progress, and getting more at home with the peculiarities of the breed, are great helpers in overcoming difficulties, and the club is now so thoroughly established, that at shows where classes have once been given, the invitation is invariably again extended.

As for the little dogs themselves, everyone who has one, as a pet, is anxious to have another. They are most affectionate, faithful, and full of intelligence, but of a highly nervous, sensitive temperament, and do not in consequence show to perfection at the time when their owners are naturally most keen for them to look their best.

Their great feature is the ear, which must be upright and of a spoon shape, not pointed or set on too low. Since the breed was started some points, such as chop and underjaw, are vastly improved owing to the attention paid to the correct mating, and very few dogs now shown in the ring are froggy, or show their teeth.

Bodies are generally good and of cobby build. Tails require improvement, and it is quite one of the difficulties to get them carried well down, and short. Out of a litter of six on the average there will be only one or two with a short tail; legs, too, are a weak point. There are many at present shown which are really too long.

Weight.—I am not in favor of dogs which are under 20 lbs., and consider those nearer to 24 lbs. as being the correct weight to get all the good points properly developed.

Breeding is again a hard question, for the little dogs are not over strong, and many valuable litters are lost through the mothers not being able, or not caring, to undertake her maternal duties.

The Club Committee during the year has experienced difficulty in obtaining judges, as there are at present so few who are willing to undertake the onerous duty. But it is hoped in the future pamphlet has been written by F. W. Cousens, M.R.C.V.S., F.Z.S., on the origin and history of the breed, which deals more exhaustively with the subject than I feel I am able to do, and all interested in the breed will enjoy reading it.

Since the above was written, the Kennel Club have decided the vexed question of the cross breeding of Bouledogues Français and Miniature Bull

Two views of Dartmouth, a very excellent Fox Terrier owned by Mr. R. G. S. Anthony, Devonian Kennels, Vancouver, B.C. Dartmouth is by Cadger of Oaks ex Filley Nelly and is a grandson of Ch. Daddy. He has already made his mark, both on the bench and as a sire. He is nearly two years old, and has six points towards his championship won under Mr. Barker at Vancouver and Mr. Lyndon at Calgary. The only one of his get so far shown is Devon Dusky, that got first in puppy class at Vancouver, 1907, and also 1st at Portland, Ore., this year. His owner believes Dusky to be a better dog than his sire, beating him in coat. Dartmouth sires large, even litters of sound stock, dogs predominating. In fact he might be bred to wire bitches, such is the coat texture of his puppies. His owner is not pressing for a sale. Dartmouth being the house dog, and a real good companion, but an offer would be considered. Address as above.

that this will be overcome, as the club have decided to reconsider the question of points and description of the dogs, so as to create a standard for the various judges to go by. With this to work upon, we may perhaps look forward to a more unanimous opinion on the merits of these dogs, as this year the Challenge Certificates have been given to different dogs at each show. A very able

It is hoped that no further difficulties will arise, as this places the breed on a firm footing. I can only hope that all members will do their utmost to improve and strengthen the position by trying to import new specimens of true type and character.

In conclusion, I trust the year 1907 will bring good luck to all those interested, as everything points to a most successful future for this fascinating breed, and with such a hardworking, painstaking Secretary as the club is so fortunate in possessing, it only needs the co-operation of all the members to establish fresh records, and insure success whenever the French Bull Dog is exhibited.

POMERANIANS.

By Stanley Mappin

The year that has just closed has been in every way most encouraging to all who are in any way interested in this popular breed. There has been general improvement all round. A better type has been shown, and the rage for the diminutive, badly conditioned little weeds has given place to a demand for a sturdier, heavier, and better type of dog altogether; breeders gradually having grasped the fact that the best judges will not recognize such undesirable weaklings, and that the only way to obtain the correct type is to breed from healthy bitches of sound constitution, with a weight of not less than 5 lbs., I strongly advise those whom it concerns to have nothing to do with breeding from the undersized weaklings, who only perpetuate a type which is even worse than that of their progenitors. Good judges, and all who have the welfare of the breed at heart, do not care a single jot about size, and a good dog is not now handicapped because he weighs 7 lbs.

It may be said without fear of contradiction that in the majority of cases the smaller the dog, in similar proportion do his points deteriorate; bad head, with too prominent eyes, soft, flat coat, long back, unsoundness in legs, and the texture of coat—except in the case of the "over 8 lbs. dogs"—being far too soft, so that in the diminutive "show cripples" it becomes more like silk than hair. In my opinion, the correct coat is carried by such dogs as Champion Haughty Prince, Sable Atom, Sable Mite, Brighton Bobbie and The Wee Kaffir. The coats of those I have named are really stand-off spikey coats, and such as every breeder might take for an object lesson as to what the coat of a Pomeranian should be.

The sooner the question of color is tackled, the better for the breed. The recognized colors at the present time are white, black, brown, blue, orange and shaded sable. Surely a pretty liberal classification! And it would be well for the breed if no other colors than these were recognized. And while referring to the question of color, I may add that when each separate color is being judged, the judge should adopt a very strict standard, and turn out of the ring any bad-color specimen that may appear before him. The orange classes are the worst offenders in this respect, the majority being absolutely devoid of any pretensions to the true color. Mrs. Hall Walker's Gateacre Lupino, Miss M. Appleton's Brighton Bobbie, and nearly all Mr. Brown's dogs are the true orange color, but the remainder of those shown as orange, though often good dogs in other respects, have no earthly right to be in an orange class, and in fairness to exhibitors of the correct color, it is the bounden duty of the judge to turn them out of the ring without a prize.

Recently the following new colors have made their appearance:—

Creams, which are a bad colored white.
Fawns, bad light-colored browns.

Beavers, which are what their owner's like to describe them according to the classification at the show at which they are to be exhibited.

Orange shaded sables. A most inexplicable color, which no one but their owners can define.

And last, but most difficult of all to tabulate, brindled shaded sables.

All the above should be classified with the parti-colors, and should be entered in the class provided for them at every show, viz., that for "any other color."

Everyone is agreed as to the definition of the color of the whites, browns, blacks and blue, but the definition "shaded sable" is very elastic, and often very much abused, and, as it is generally admitted that Sable Atom, Sable Mite, Sable Sue, May Duchess, and others too numerous to mention, are what the true shaded sable color should be, with these examples in his mind, if not actually before him, a judge should penalize all those whose color is not up to the correct standard. Oranges, the worst offenders of all, I have already dealt with.

Very few good puppies have appeared this year, indeed only one really stands out by itself, and that is May Duchess, a shaded sable, full of character, and a Pomeranian of the best type. I first saw her at the Kennel Club Show, where she deservedly went through all her classes. The only other noticeable new face that occurs to me is a most beautiful black dog, The Wee Kaffir, the property of Mrs. E. Smith. This dog I judged at the North of England Pomeranian Club Show at Manchester, where he ran through all his classes. He is a most beautiful little dog, with a dense coat, which positively stands off all over like the quills of a porcupine. He is a beautifully-bodied dog, on good legs and feet, with perfect head, and ears set on a short neck. If he only goes on in the right way he should make a name for himself.

Of the older generation, Champion Haughty Prince seems to improve as he gets older, and is now absolutely in his prime. Sable Atom and Sable Mite have deservedly done a lot of winning, and these three stand out by themselves, and it will indeed take a good Pomeranian to lower their colors.

With the faint hope that possibly these notes may be read by a Show Secretary or two, I do most earnestly beseech any whose eyes may wander over them to give us competent ring stewards. The way the ring stewarding of Pomeranians is too frequently carried out is really painful, and I most emphatically state that to conscientiously perform the duties of a ring steward for a big breed like Pomeranians is really hard work, and is not a task that should ever be undertaken lightly, and most certainly not a task that should ever be undertaken by a lady.

As I have already stated, the type of Pomeranian shown during 1906 is a vast improvement upon that of former years. The best collections that I have ever seen were those at the North of England Pomeranian Show at Manchester, in October last, and at the Pet Dog Show at the Horticultural Hall, Westminster. At the former show especially, the heavy-weight dogs were splendid, and with such dogs existing as were there shown every hope may be entertained that the breed is advancing by leaps and bounds.

SCHIPPERKES.

By C. D. Freeman.

The past year has not brought forth anything remarkable in the Schipperke way, though there are no signs of any decrease of popularity. No puppy of any real excellence made its debut, with perhaps the exception of Miss Whitney's Firewood Fauntleroy, who came, saw and conquered, qualifying for full championship honors in a short time, his chief failing, like that of Mrs. Deane Willis' Joe of Moorfield, being his size; were both a size larger all round they would be really good, but unfortunately at the present time the tendency is towards getting them too small. A nice bitch puppy in Venetian Lady made her appearance, and a very favorable one, but she went all to pieces, whether she would have "come round" again will never be known, as unfortunately she died.

Another bitch, Mrs. J. W. Proctor's Ch. Ollerton Sprite, also joined the majority. She had many admirers, and I hope her place will be taken by something even better. Just at the close of the year Mrs. Crosfield had the misfortune to lose Ch. El Capitan at the early age of seven years. In every way he was a typical Skip not a member of the namby-pamby brigade), hence a most charming companion; a big winner on the bench, and a most successful sire. his loss to the breed is a great one, but his name will be handed down to posterity as one of the best Schipperkes of the past decade, and he will be remembered amongst the champions of the breed as one that was really worthy of the honor and title. The Schipperke world is the poorer by the loss of two of its oldest exhibitors, Messrs. E. Durrant and E. W. Lulham. The latter was perhaps the better known, and always owned some useful ones, though never anything of the highest class. His loss is regretted by everyone who has had the pleasure of his acquaintance. The "any other color" than black have had another revival during the year, and it cannot be said that their popularity has exceeded that of the female suffragist. Little, if anything, can be written in their favor, much to the contrary, and

I have neither the inclination or patience to write on specimens whose proper place is a freak museum.

Some faults, such as light eyes, which were very prevalent a year or so ago, have greatly diminished, and this is a step in the right direction. One of the greatest faults I have already mentioned, diminutiveness, at present is undoubtedly want of texture of coat, very few Schipperkes having a jacket that could correctly be described as weather resisting; the undercoat is wanting. There is plenty of harshness outside, but nothing underneath. The greatest, and at the same time the most serious failing, is that the Schipperke, in some hands, is gradually becoming nothing more or less than a pampered pet or listless lap-dog, the fire and life being replaced by sulks and snarls. What do we see? Carried into the ring, they mope as if they were heartily ashamed of themselves (and well they might be), looking as happy as a schoolboy does after his first smoke, whilst champions, real live champions, are literally dragged about, refusing to walk or even stand. These are specimens of the Schipperke "with sharp expression, intensely lively, presenting the appearance of being always on the alert." Further, he is decked with enough ribbon to make a savage a decent "rig-out," or else is adorned with such a profusion of harness that a sledge dog would turn green with envy on seeing it.

On the benches the "little dear" has a nice feather cushion; the partitions are covered with canvas, so that "the pet" shall not get a shock from seeing its neighbor—in all probability a colored relative. Inquiries are made as to where milk can be obtained for this "game and good vermin dog," and who knows; we may yet see the President of the Schipperke Club of England exhibiting a Schipperke ornamented with ribbons, so as to resemble an animated rainbow, and enticing it to show by means of a baby's bottle filled with specially sterilized milk from one of Mr. Dean Willis' ten thousand pound Short-horns.

TOY SPANIELS.

By Geoffrey T. Crank.

"My Spaniel, prettiest of his race, and high in pedigree."—Cowper.

In my attempt to review the history of King Charles Spaniels during the past year, I have prefaced my remarks by a line from the poet Cowper, which should recall a thought perhaps too often forgotten. To the true dog lover, none of our canine friends come amiss in companionship and affection, but it seems to me, the poet's words are specially appropriate to the breed under notice. For no dog, I think, appeals so strongly to our devotion as the King Charles Spaniel, with his beautiful, soft pleading eyes, his pretty, winsome ways, and his wealth of affection—never withheld. And his intelligence—sometimes almost human—is quite on a level with his distinguished lineage, and the royal traditions in which the breed is cradled.

Before treating of the events of the past year, I would like to say that any opinions expressed in this retrospect are merely personal, and that I do not in the slightest degree claim to write "as one having authority."

In dealing with the four varieties of King Charles Spaniels, the entries at the five leading shows, viz., Cruft's, Toy Dog Show, L.K.A. Kennel Club and Birmingham have been taken as the basis of subject matter. Judging by the large number of exhibits at these shows, the past year has been one of success for Toy Spaniels. When the increased patronage accorded to one-day shows is considered, and the growing disposition in fanciers to shirk the three days' ordeal in favor of the shorter period is remembered, the success appears even greater. And this, notwithstanding the fact that—for one reason or another—some of our leading kennels have not been quite as largely represented as heretofore. In regard to quality, too, the past year has—all things considered—been one of progress, though I do not think the improvement has been equally shared amongst the varieties; this, however, will be dealt with under the different colors.

Black and Tans.

In the black and tan variety, the number of entries has been satisfactory enough, but few unusually good new exhibits have been benched. Still, for all that, some progress has been made, and many of last year's juniors have developed into splendid specimens. Good skull properties, shortness of face, straightness of coat, and soundness of action have been well maintained, but there is a tendency to pinched or froggy muzzles in some of the rising generation. Old-fashioned muzzles—strong, masculine, and well finished—are getting rarer. This is a point which should, I think, seriously engage the attention of breeders. In bodies I fail to note any very marked improvement. Many of our best black-and-tans are too long in the back, a point which fanciers—in their anxiety to obtain “head”—lose sight of in the mating. We should strive to obtain more specimens with the Rococo type of head on Blackford Royal bodies. It is, of course, very easy to make a general suggestion of this nature; it is extremely difficult to say how its purpose is to be achieved. The whole subject of canine reproduction bristles with difficulties, which, however, are not insuperable, if breeding be conducted on scientific lines.

The following dogs have won full championship honors in the past year viz., Royal Pearl, McDuff, Rococo, and Royal Clyde.

Prize-winners in this variety include Champion McDuff, Champion Rococo, Champion Royal Pearl, Champion Royal Clyde, Clevedon Samson, Clevedon Orion, Riparian, Highland Lad, Lord Lovel, Grand Tete, The Bishop, My Lovely, Lady Stella, Pinner Smut, Baby Bunting, Earl of Norwood, Sweet Mistress Prue, Bonny May, Regenta, Zeta, Sensation, Bonny McDuff, Gazeka, Sir Samuel, Fire Fly, etc., etc.

Rubies or Red.

In this color—usually the least progressive of the four—I am glad to think there is, in the average, a distinct improvement. The class of dog which is now coming to the front is smaller and cobbier, straight in coat, and deeper in color than some of our previous winners. Head properties have in no way suffered, and really short faces and good up-faced muzzles are more in evidence. In this remark I am not merely including the puppies of the present year, but the dogs which have “won their spurs” during the same period. One or two of our best dogs in this variety have not been benched this year, and so do not come within the scope of this article, but I am glad to think there are, amongst those exhibited, some promising “under studies” to take their places when they retire.

The Rubies new to championship honors in the year are Ashton More Baronet, Red Rancee, and Duke of Monte Carlo.

Amongst others, the following have won prizes, viz., Champion Ashton More Baronet, Champion Red Rancee, Champion Duke of Monte Carlo, Sans Pareil, Rose of the East, Hertha, Pearllette, Merry Lees Rip, Midget, Sundial, King

Crook, Southdown Queen, Ready Money, etc., etc.

Tri-colors or Black, White and Tan.

In this variety also great improvement can be claimed. A marked advance is noticeable in the size of the exhibits, shortness of back, and general appearance, whilst head and face properties are on a plane of excellence scarcely reached in recent years.

It is a long time since we had together four such rattling specimens of the tri-color as Ch. The Seraph, Ch. Casino Girl, Ch. Clevedon Magnet and Ch. King Leopold. Some very promising youngsters have also made their debut, and it is pleasing to think that the outlook for the coming year is rosy in the extreme. Still, there are two faults which require correction, one the heavy markings, and the second the narrowness of chest of some of our best specimens.

As regards the former, I think perhaps too little importance is attached to a tri-color being well broken up in color. Broadly speaking, markings are as necessary in a tri-color as a Blenheim, and it would certainly improve this variety if there were more “splashed” after the manner of Ch. Clevedon Magnet than we see at present. The somewhat unhealthy call for “sleeve dogs” is, in a great measure, the cause of the narrow chest. A toy Spaniel should be deep and wide in this part of the body, and, as it concerns the future of the breed, the matter is well worthy of the attention of fanciers.

There are two new tri-color champions this year: The Seraph and Casino Girl. Some of the prize winners are: Ch. Fly, Danum Adonis, Ashridge Hero, etc., etc.

Blenheim, or Red and White.

Troubadour, Rose Petal, Casino Novelty, Casino Boy, Dickory Dock, Dragon King Leopold, Ch. Casino Girl, Ch. Zana, Peter Piper, The Orchid, The Clevedon Magnet, Ch. The Seraph, Ch.

On the whole, I am inclined to think that Blenheims have quite held their own during the past year, although there is much that may be improved in them. Good black noses have been few and far between, and “the spot,” which used to be the pride of this variety, is oftener than not conspicuous by its absence. Markings, too, are, in many instances, not sufficiently heavy and too pale in color. Breeders have only themselves to blame for their disappointment if, by neglecting to introduce the tri-color cross, they lose the black nose and depth of color in body markings. As regards “the spot,” it used to be a characteristic of the old Marlborough Blenheims, and, it is much to be feared, as we get further and further removed from the original stock, that this beauty will, in course of time, disappear altogether.

At present, however, we can do much to cultivate it, and, as it is such an essential in the perfect Blenheim, I trust breeders will make an effort to retain the “Duchess’ thumb mark.”

There has been a noted improvement in body properties, size, general appearance, and action. We have been introduced to very few new youngsters of special merit, but the variety has more than held its own by the quality of the older dogs, several of which are quite at the top of the tree.

Windfall has qualified for full championship honors this year.

Amongst the prize winners occur Champion Windfall, Champion Cara, Joy, Mermaid’s Cherub, Doncaster Comet, Roscoe, Caramel, Vida, Cherub Junior, Little Boy Blue, Miss Comet, Baby Comet, Lala, Bandolero, Dandy Jim, The Mermaid, Buckingham Bon Bouche, Hiawatha Odahmin, Stuart King, etc., etc.

One further word in conclusion. The outlook for Toy Spaniels to me seems to be promising. At present all the varieties are flourishing, and, if there have been comparatively few new faces to welcome in 1906, that may be accounted for by an unusual mortality in brood bitches.

Into many a kennel, sorrow and the bitterness of disappointed hopes have entered, chastening the joys of victory. But we must not despond; there is no room for pessimism. May the New Year be a bright and prosperous one, from its dawn right through to its setting, for our beautiful and royal breed—our beloved King Charles Spaniels.
