Meetings of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club

The meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Carls-Rite Hotel, Toronto, on Wednesday afternoon, February 4th, 1920, at 2 o'clock.

The President, Mr. Joseph Russell was in the chair. Directors in attendance: Mr. Harry Clayton, Mr. Fred W. Jacobi, Mr. John H. Kenyon, Mr. Charles W. Dickinson, and Mr. Donald Wheeler.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary and it was moved and seconded "that they be accepted and confirmed."—Carried.

The Secretary read a letter from the Bulldog Club of Canada, having reference to a standardized classification, and it was agreed to leave it with the Secretary to find out if it could be made practicable.

The Secretary brought the report of a recent court prosecution, involving the Kennel of one of the members, and was instructed to ask the member to appear before the Board at its next meeting, to explain certain charges made against the Kennel and show reasons why the membership should not be discontinued.

A letter from the Alberta Kennel Club was read, and it was agreed to refer the matter to the National Live Stock Record Board, before taking any action.

A letter from the Secretary of the Regina Kennel Club was read to show that the election of John A. Newman as Director for Saskatchewan, would be agreeable to that Club. It was agreed to refer the letter to the New Board of Directors for their consideration.

It was agreed that Shetland Sheep Dogs be added to the list of recognized breeds, and that the breed known as Dachshunds be changed to read "Badger dogs."

It was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn.—Carried.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Carls-Rite Hotel, Toronto, on Wednesday evening, February 4th, 1920, the President, Mr. Joseph Russell, presiding; other members attending included: Messrs. Wm. R. Aitken, Montreal; F. W. Jacobi, H. Clayton, C. Dickinson, J. H. Kenyon, Geo. Briggs, Geo. Ward, Bert Swann, B. B. Finnie, C. Faux, F. Shawley, T. Murray, A. Davis, H. Shaw, E. Murphy, Chas. Herd.

The President, on declaring the meeting open, with a few well-chosen remarks, outlined the business coming before the meeting, and complimented the members who had faced the icy weather to be in attendance.

The Secretary presented the minutes of the previous meeting, and it was moved and seconded that they be "held as read."—Carried.

The Secretary read the report of the Rating Committee's findings, and it was moved and seconded that they be endorsed.—Carried.

The report of the Election Commissioner was presented by the President (in the unavoidable absence of Mr. A. Atkinson, through indisposition), and the following Directors were declared elected for the current term:

The President, on behalf of the members, expressed their appreciation of the invaluable work of the Election Commissioner, and asked Mr. Atkinson's associate in business, Mr. C. W. Dickinson, to convey to the Commissioner the hearty thanks of the members present at the annual meeting for his preparing the results of the election.

The Secretary submitted the following report:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:—It is with much diffidence that I submit to you, and to our members too far distant to be with us here this evening, my report for the year 1919. For many years it was my privilege to criticize, favorably or otherwise, the work of past secretaries, and for a number of years as a Director of our organization. I have listened to your criticisms; also favorable or otherwise—but in the main, mostly favorable—but to-night, for the first time, I meet you all at this annual meeting, in the role of your paid servant, to hear your criticisms, and offer explanations, calculated, I trust, to make our relationship towards each other mutually satisfactory and agreeable.

When I accepted the position as your Secretary, I did so with a strong determination to play no favorites, but to work insistently in the interests of every member whose name appears on our books, no matter who he or she was, what they were, or where they came from, and I am inclined to believe that in faithfully following that determination right out during the year, I have in some small measure restored the confidences of those of our members who had come to think they were too far removed from us by distance to fully participate in the advantages which our Canine Government undoubtedly hold in trust for the fancy in common. In fact, I have received many encouraging letters from our members in distant points in Canada assuring me that, that is so.

And I want to say here, that any of our 1,500 members who are in difficulties, and who consider my advice or assistance an advantage, I am at their service, and they do not need to hesitate to get in touch with me at any and all times.

Happily, we do not talk war any more, and I am glad to report that most of our "fighting" members, I mean by that, "real men fighters," the men who fought for us in the "terrible war." Most of "our boys" have come back to us, and most of them have communicated the information, and it should rejoice our hearts to know that, after their manifold experiences (some of which they themselves hesitate to relate, so gruesome are they), they are able to again adapt themselves to their former avocations, and their hobbies. Eastern and Western Canada report the same information. The boys are back and in the game stronger than ever.

Our Club year, as our auditors' report will show, has been quite favorable, and shows that we are again on the high road to a greater growth, and incidentally to a greater usefulness. I will quote you a few interesting figures which will serve to show our activities for the year. 25 shows were held during 1919. 16,000 copies of our Dog Show Rules were sold to show-giving clubs. 2,913 dogs were listed—an item for future consideration by the incoming Board of Directors. 5,300 dogs were benched, and 11,000 entered. There was $625.00 taken in license fees and $145.00 paid back in rebates. There was in all 52 Championship points earned.

You will be mightily interested in your paper, "Kennel and Bench"—your official organ—that has been removed from the debit to the credit side of your business, and to-day is rather better than self-supporting. This showing, backed by your generous support both by sending in the news of your kennels and your advertising, will accomplish much for your paper in the present year. And remember, it takes more than news to make it pay. Your paper's overhead charges are easily increased 100 per cent., and we must look to you to overcome that increase, in your generous advertising. A few more figures of interest. January, 1919, the cost of printing 1,400 copies of "Kennel and Bench" was $96.25. The cost for printing January, 1920, was $199.32, which proves my overhead printing increase of 100 per cent to be a conservative one. The circulation has been increased from 1,400 in January, to 1,700 in December, with new applications for subscriptions coming in daily.

Seven license dates have already been granted this year, three of which are either new, or have not been operating during the war. New clubs are starting up, and I confidently look forward to a real year's business in 1920.

To detail the achievements of our members and their dogs would be to intrude on your patience. Suffice it to say that our Canadian canines have won a great share of the prizes in Canada or wherever offered.

I will now read to you the auditor's report, which I trust you will find not only interesting, but satisfactory as well.

The President, Officers and Members,
 The Canadian Kennel Club, Inc.:

At your request, I have examined the books and accounts of the Canadian Kennel Club, Inc. at the Toronto offices, for the year ending December 31st, 1919, and have prepared the attached balance sheet, and receipts and payments statement therefrom. I have verified the Bank Account, which agrees with the books. The balance sheet herewith is, in my opinion, a correct showing of the Club's affairs at above dates, according to the books, and information given.

J. L. ATKINSON,
 Chartered Accountant.

J. H. Ackerson, Blackfalds, Alta., writes to say he has the best working Irish Wolfhounds in North America. Also American Foxhounds of exceptional merit, one of which has held a coyote to trail ahead of him for eight hours. Friend Ackerson says he is prepared to put his good Irish Wolfhound against any dog in Canada, as a killer. He owns 3 stud dogs and 4 brood bitches and finds a ready sale for all he can raise. All the above are genuine, fearless workers and sure killers.

IMPORTANT

The members will kindly be governed accordingly.

And it was moved and seconded that the Financial Statements be approved. Carried.

The President gave an exhaustive and interesting resume of the year's work and expressed himself as being highly pleased with what had been accomplished by the Club, and delighted with the showing made by the paper, which, he said, had been made a little better than self-supporting, and that instead of being actually a debit to the Club, had paid its own way and showed a creditable credit balance in its favor. He paid a tribute of thanks to the members for the great confidence they had reposed in him, by returning him by acclamation to look after their interests for another year. Another fine tribute he paid to the members of the Board of Directors for their attendance at the meetings, and for their able support, so ungrudgingly given at all times. Reference was made to the possibility of the Live Stock Arena materializing, wholly or in part, during the present year, after which Dog Show accommodation in Toronto, would be the best on the American Continent. An expression of regret was made to the annoying conditions under which Collies were judged at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1919, which was favorably received.

Mr. Wm. R. Aitkin, Montreal, and Mr. N. R. Filler were unanimously accepted as scrutineers.

Nomination being declared in order for two representatives to the Canadian National Exhibition Association, the following members were nominated: Messrs. J. Russell, H. Clayton, B. Swann, F. W. Jacobi, J. H. Kenyon, N. R. Miller, H. M. Jackson, E. Murby.

The following begged to be excused and requested their names withdrawn: Messrs. F. W. Jacobi and E. Murby, which was granted.

The ballots having been scrutinized (Mr. Wheeler acting for Mr. Miller), it was found that Messrs. Jos. Russell and Harry Clayton had again been elected.

Nominations were declared in order for one representative to the Central Canada Exhibition Association, T. A. Armstrong, Ottawa, being the only nominee, was declared elected.

Nominations were declared in order for the election of three representatives—including the President—to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Association. The following members were nominated: Messrs. Geo. Ward, B. Swann, F. W. Jacobi, D. Wheeler, J. H. Kenyon, M. Gracie, H. Clayton. On the scrutineers' report, the following were declared elected:—Jos. Russell (ex-officio), F. W. Jacobi and H. Clayton.

Nominations were declared in order for Election Commissioner. Mr. Arthur Atkinson was declared elected by acclamation.

The Secretary submitted a letter from the Bulldog Club of Canada, relative to the standardization of classification, and preparation of same by the Canadian Kennel Club. The Secretary, having declared himself in sympathy with the proposal if same was found practical, it was moved and seconded: "That the matter be referred to the new Board of Directors." "Carried."

The notices of motion, which had appeared in the January issue of Kennel and Bench, were declared to be now in order, and proved themselves to be both contentious motions, and after an avalanche of motions, amendments and admendments to the amendments, it was left to F. W. Jacobi to pour oil on the troubled waters by moving "That the membership fee of the Canadian Kennel Club be raised from $3.00 per year to $4.00 per year, the change to take effect as at May 1st, 1919. The motion was seconded by P. Herd and declared "carried."

It was further moved and seconded that the Secretary send notice of the change to all the members. "Carried."

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the offices of the Club, 774½ Yonge Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, February 19th, 1920, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Joseph Russell in the chair. Mr. N. McConnell, of North Vancouver, the re-elected Director for the Province of British Columbia, was in attendance, and took an active interest in the deliberations before the meeting. Other directors present were: Messrs. N. R. Miller, N. W. Renwick, N. K. Swire, Geo. Ward, H. M. Jackson.

"Carried."

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Regina Kennel Club, saying that the election of John A. Newman as Director for Alberta would be in order, and satisfactory to the Club. And it was moved and seconded that Mr. J. A. Newman be declared Director for the Province of Alberta. "Carried."

The Secretary submitted an application for Club registration from the Boston Terrier Club of Toronto, which was accompanied with a list of their members in good standing with the Canadian Kennel Club, as required by constitution, together with the necessary fee. Chairman of the Kennel Club (Eng.), for Twenty Years

THE LATE DR. SIDNEY TURNER

THE "GRAND OLD MAN" OF ENGLISH DOGDOM

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Sidney Turner, who, elected a member of the governing body as long since as 1881, succeeded the late Mr.
S. E. Shirley as chairman of the Committee on April 4th, 1899, and occupied that distinguished position up to the time of his death at Stanton, Anerley, on Friday in last week. On retiring from the medical profession not much more than a year since, Mr.
Sidney Turner devoted practically the whole of his time to the affairs of the Kennel Club, presiding at the meetings of the Committee with unflinching regularity. But, possibly, his last public appearance in connection with dogs was at the meeting held under the direct auspices of the Kennel Club at the Cannon Street Hotel in June, 1919, at which resolutions in favor of universal muzzling were adopted. Mr.
Sidney Turner made one of his best speeches on that occasion. About the same time he interested himself in the proposals of the International Gundog League regarding the establishment of a Stud Book and Registry for Gundogs, and on August 8th took part in a joint conference held at 84, Piccadilly, W., and presided over by Lord Chesterfield.

Born at Shoreham, Sussex, in 1843, the late Chairman of the Kennel Club had long since passed the allotted span, but there were no signs of waning interest in his hobby of dog breeding, and, had he been spared, there is little doubt he would have been found judging at one or other of the shows which are to be held in the summer.
Keenly interested in Gundogs, he was a frequent visitor to the spring trials of the Kennel Club, and, though not able to follow the work as he would have liked to at Orwell last spring because of a recent accident, he presided at the dinner each evening, and, on handing over the Victory Cup of Messrs. Lowe to the winning owner, Mr. Conway Williams, proved by his remarks on the performances of the dogs that very little, if any, of the work done had escaped his notice.

As an active supporter of shows,

Mr. Sidney Turner was one of the oldest exhibitors in the country, for he was represented, though not successfully, at Cremorne, Chelsea, in March, 1863. He was then a great admirer of the Black and Tan Terrier;
he also kept Bull Terriers. Later, however, he showed Beagles, Mastiffs, Fox and Yorkshire Terriers, Blenheim Spaniels, Retrievers and St. Bernards; possibly the best dogs he ever benchbed being the Mastiffs, Hotspur and Beaufort, and the Bloodhounds, Trinket and Triumph. As a judge, especially of foreign dogs, his services were in great request, while his work as General Editor of the "Kennel En-cyclopædia" proved there was little he did not know about most varieties.
The canine community, indeed, owes Mr. Sidney Turner a great deal; his place will be hard to fill. He had been a magistrate for Kent since 1902, having been recommended by Lord Stanhope, and for some years he was Chairman of the Penge Petty Sessions.
He was a staunch Conservative, a member of the Council of the Lister Institute of Preventive Medicine, and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Medicine, and of the Linnean Society. He is survived by his wife, one of the first members of the Kennel Club (Ladies' Branch). Mrs. Sidney Turner has been the recipient of many touching letters of sympathy from dog-owners in all parts of the country. A por-

Central Canada Kennel Show

"Ottawa Goes to the Dogs"

The Ottawa Winter Dog Show, which was opened on Tuesday, Jan. 27th, by His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire. It was a decided success in every way and as a result of it the relief fund of the Ottawa branch of the G.W.V.A. is to be substantially augmented. The Central Canada Kennel Club, which undertook the enterprise for the benefit of the veterans, is to be complimented on its success, and will certainly be encouraged to arrange such an exhibition again even during the unfavorable season of winter.

Crowds thronged the drill hall all during the show and great interest was evinced in the work of Mr. Livesay, the noted American judge, who finished up shortly after nine o'clock Wednesday night. Many casual visitors who have heretofore not particularly interested themselves in dogs of any kind will certainly hereafter become warm friends and possessors of them. The secretary's office was busy all day answering inquiries from would-be purchasers anxious to at once show their interest in the canines.

Great credit is due the officers of the Central Canada Kennel Club for the success of the show. The project was undertaken by the officers of the club, although held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A., and only their efforts would have made possible the results obtained. Mr. A. G. Marshall, the energetic show secretary, deserves particular mention, and also Mr. W. F. Turner, superintendent. The ladies' committee, which looked after refreshments, etc., was in the charge of Mrs. de Salaberry, who had with her several ladies who, as ex-nurses and V.A.D.'s, have become associated with the work of the local branch of the G.W.V.A., and its work is to be commended.

The drawing for the Pomeranian, which was offered as the prize in the tombola, will take place in a few days in a local theatre. A great many tickets were sold. Announcement will be made of the fortunate winner of the dog after the drawing has taken place.

The Show was patronized by out-of-town fanciers, Toronto being represented by Messrs. B. Swann, H. Shaw, A. Cook and Mr. Wilson, all with a string in charge. The Montrealers were also out in force, with Mde. Beland and Miss Lavolette with Poms and Pekes, while Messrs. Lepine and Cornforth were there with Wires and Airedales. "Bob" Ross was also on job to see what was doing.

Terminal City Kennel Club

Albert Greenwood Dons the "Ermine" and Gives "the Boys" Satisfaction.

The fourth parlor show in the season of the Terminal City Kennel Club, held in the rooms of the Vancouver Exhibition Association, was marked by good attendance and a large entry list. The judge, Mr. Albert Greenwood, an old-timer in the judging of dogs, gave general satisfaction in his awards. He commented on the large number of high-class Pomeranians shown, but remarked on the scarcity of wire-haired fox terriers.

There was only one wire-haired fox terrier in the show, a very good puppy dog, Helmcken Swell, owned by a local fancier, Mr. Dodds. Among other good dogs were the following: Rowland's Credential, English setter; Grandview Little Tich, black Pomeranian; Peter Gilligan, Irish terrier; Wee Star, orange pomeranian; Anzac White Countess, bull terrier; Anzac Jolly Girl, bulldog.

The awards were as follows:

Puppy Sweepstake.

1. Mr. Dodd's wire fox terrier, Helmcken Swell.
2. Mr. J. J. Jackson's English bulldog, Burnaby Bertie.
3. Mr. Archer's black cocker.

2. Mrs. Rose's Yorkshire terrier, Little Midge.

Victoria City Kennel Club

Victoria City Kennel Club, after a period of inactivity, held their general meeting on Jan. 22nd, 1920, and handled an old-time programme of business on the "double." First, of course, election of officers: President, Dr. Garesche; Vice-President, J. D. Creighton; Secretary-Treasurer, Montague D. Harbord; Recording Secretary, G. H. Jeatt. Executive—A Meldram, Mr. M. E. M. Vicker, V. Heather, A. Pritchett, A. Wippleworth, Mr. Orrivk, M. Hickford, C. A. Goodwin, and Messrs. Wallace, Dodds and Forbes, Hon. Veterinarian, Dr. Keown.

Twenty-five new members were enrolled, while all the "old-timers" have signified their intentions of coming back into the game, and the immediate prospects for immediate doings are very bright.

April 13 and 14 have been obtained for the all-breed show, which will be held under Canadian Kennel Club rules, at the culmination of which will see Victoria Kennel Club back on the map again, and to stay. We wish their enterprise the best of luck.

Central Canada Kennel Club

The Central Canada Kennel Club reports having passed the 200-point of their membership barometer, which they say forecasts "Fair and Warmer." Their recent show was a "Now, altogether, boys' affair."

Another record: From the granting of dates, on Jan. 7th, 1920, until Jan. 27th (only 20 days), and with little advertising, 220 dogs were benched (actual), 497 entries made, and two championship points earned.

Who said the Ottawa people were a dead bunch, eh? Go to it, and beat that record of ours—if you can.

Nanaimo Kennel Club

Nanaimo Kennel Club can rightly boast of having one of the most consistent clubs in Canada; no jealousies are entertained and every fancier helps the other fellow; their business is methodical and on time and their motto, "Let well enough alone." Their annual meeting was held on Saturday, Feb. 14th, when the following promotions were made and officers elected.

President, Harold Kneen; 1st Vice-President, R. W. Watson; 2nd Vice-President, Jack Cottle; Secretary-Treasurer, H. Hickling; Assistant Secretary, Miss L. A. Hicklin.

Toronto Kennel Club

Toronto Kennel Club keeps forging ahead, working and complaining, complaining and working, but always forging ahead. Time was when this weather-beaten old reliable club had all the show business her own way, both for the evening fixtures and the licensed events, but those times have changed. Nowadays it is quite fashionable for all the many specialty clubs to manage a series of evening events open to all ages and breeds, but quite recently we have had the experience of individuals invading the evening show field, and shows in Toronto are almost a weekly observance, and they all make money, notwithstanding the high cost of painting, accommodation, silver and silk. Still old Toronto Kennel Club would much prefer that specialty clubs should confine their exertions to their own particular breed, and leave the all-round end of the business to the all-round show-giving club, and their contention has many sympathizers, and their number is steadily growing.

Their last evening show was a big affair, over 100 dogs being in evidence. Boston Terriers mustered an entry of 22, Pomeranians, a close contender for the premier place, Pekingese 14 entries, and Bulldogs 12. Quite a lot of new dogs were out, and made their presence felt amongst the regular attenders. Chief of the newcomers was found in the Chinook Kennel's latest purchase, "Southport Joffre," a Bulldog who will always bother them all. Southport Joffre was returned best in the show, any breed. Another new one was Dr. Elliott's Belgian Sheep Dog, "Count De Bethune." The Dr. got deeply interested in this breed (which threaten to become very popular all over the world), when "On Duty" in France, and intends to do his share in popularizing the "Belgian" in Canada. "Charlie" Dickinson brought out a splendid Mastiff in "Brutus," and was returned the best of the larger breeds. Walter Stroud brought out a young Bulldog named "Mickey," which will take some close watching.

Maisonneuve Canine Club

The Maisonneuve Canine Club successfully staged their Open Show for English Bulldogs, Bull Terriers, Large and Sporting Dogs (Terriers barred), at the Maisonneuve Market Hall, on Saturday, February 21st, Charles Hop-ton officiating.

The benching arrangements were perfect, the Club having supplied 50 per cent of the benching, and it was brand new, and the Bulldog Club of Canada having loaned the balance required.

One hundred and thirty-six dogs were benched, with a total of 233 entries, in 139 classes, which, when you eliminate all Terriers and Toys from a show, is a very fair entry, all the entries except two being local dogs.

Mr. A. Trudeau, of Longueuil, with his Irish Setter bitch, Sonora Nancy, lead off with the highest honors in the Show, which was not a very great surprise to the dogmen, after the sensation she caused in Westminster Show. This bitch won the Mappin & Webb Cup for the best in show open to all. The Secretary's Cup, for the best in Show, owned by a club member, Mr. Strachan's Special for the best Sporting Variety class, the Rogers' Silver Cup for the best Setter in the Show, and the Club Special for the Setter bitch.

Having cleaned up this amount, Mr. A. Trudeau, with his Pointer Senora Jess, took the Clup Special for the best Pointer bitch, and the McGregor Silver Cup for the best Pointer or Dalmation in the Show. He then took the Winners Dogs with his black Cocker Spaniel Sonora General Joffre, and decided that he had got enough for one day, but Mrs. Trudeau decided that she should have something, and captured Winners Dogs with her well-known old English Sheepdog, Sonora Billy, also the Club Special for the best dog, and the Hugh Scott Silver Cup for the best of breed.

In English Bulldogs, the Best of Breed, went to Mrs. P. Malovitz's Who Goes There, this dog capturing the best opposite sex to the winner of the Mappin & Webb Cup for best in Show, open to all, the Dubois Hotel Cup for the best of Breed, the Dubois Hotel Special for the best Limit Heavyweight dog in Show, and the Club Special for the best Open Heavyweight in the Show, and the Club Special for the best dog in the Bulldogs.

The most popular win of the day was our old friend A. C. A. Chisholm's puppy, Lorne Kersal Commander, which won the blue in every class it was entered in, and captured the Scarsbrook Special for the best Canadian bred, the Holmes special for the best puppy dog, the Burrows Special for the best maiden, the Pillsbury Special for the best novice.

New Brunswick Kennel Club

Down at St. Johns N.B., a series of evening shows during the winter help to keep the fanciers together. The second of the series was held on Tuesday, Feb. 17th, when Robt. Magee, the old St. John fancier and judge, ably supported by W. W. Lackey of Fredericton, passed the rule over a large entry of St. Johns' best canines.

Some time this month (March) the last show of the series will take place, when a trophy "for the winners of the season" will come together to determine which of them is adjudged best dog shown. Should the winner of the trophy prove to be a sporting dog, another special will be awarded the best non-sporting, and vice versa.

Boston Terrier Club of Toronto, (Reg'd)

Twenty-six members have already joined up, and all Boston Terrier breeders, and one hundred members is aimed at as the possible for 1920. An evening "Specialty" show will be held under the auspices of the new organization on Monday, March 15th.

As a means to an end—that end "sociability amongst members"—a series of social evenings will be arranged, and will be observed as a regular part of the club's activities. The following officers were elected:

President, H. M. Jackson; 1st Vice-President, Harold Shaw; 2nd Vice-President, R. E. Stonehouse; Secretary-Treasurer, G. McFadden, 58a Sorauren Ave., Toronto; Press Representative, Geo. Sleeth. Executive—B. A. Brown, D. Dickinson, W. Clarke, Wm. Austin and Dr. McKenzie.

The Bulldog Breeders' Association of Canada

The annual meeting of the Bulldog Breeders' Association was held recently, when a report was submitted which showed the club's affairs to be in a prosperous condition. The election of officers saw a mixture of the "Old Boys," with the best of the "Newcomers."

President, Mr. C. Sims; 1st Vice-President, Mr. Geo. Gaull; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. H. "Diamond" Wilson; Secretary, Mr. F. Lacy; Treasurer, Mr. Jas. Marsden; Veterinarian, D. Harold Bond. Executive Committee—Messrs. B. Preston, Ed. Johnston, Taylor Ridge, D. Stroud, L. O. Cawthra; Publicity Agent, S. O. Cawthra.

The subject of our front page illustration this month is the well-known Ch. "Lady Evelyn," property of genial Jack Schaefer, Toronto. It is unusual to have members of the "opposite sex" adorn the front page, for what reason we do not know. Certain it is, that they play a very important part in the very best Kennels. The "brood bitch" is the breeders' most valuable stock-in-trade, a fact that is not so strongly emphasized as it should be. To "Lady Evelyn," therefore, is given the deserved prominence.

This good Boston is a daughter of "The Spirit," and out of "Brownie B," born Feb. 12th, 1917, is still in her youth, Canadian-bred and owned, and winning her Championship at the three largest Canadian shows is the boast of her well-satisfied owner. 1919 was her year. Starting full steam ahead at the Boston Terrier Club of Canada's Specialty Show, on Jan. 1st, she beat all comers in females, annexing 3 points. Then on to the greatest show in the Dominion, the Canadian National Exhibition, repeats her earlier triumph in red-hot competition and incidentally 5 more points. From Toronto to Ottawa was but a step, with similar results, and a Championship. Her other ring victories include: 1st limit, 2nd open, and 1st Canadian-bred, Maple Leaf Show, Toronto, 1919; Buffalo Specialty Show, 1918, 1st novice, 1st limit, 1st open; Buffalo Specialty Show, 1919, 1st limit, 1st open, and reserve winners.

A study of this splendid record may be the cause of Jack Schaefer always throwing his chest out at the bare suggestion of Ch. "Lady Evelyn's" name in his hearing, and at that he has every right to be mighty proud of her.

At all recent Toronto evening shows, Jack has brought out 1 male puppy and 1 female puppy, by "Raffles Lorraine," ex a Ch. "Prince Rexworthy" bitch, that are considered by the connoisseurs of the Boston Terrier fancy, "real hot stuff." The female referred to won for best puppy any variety at two of the fixtures, and only awaits maturity to justify her owner's high opinion of her.

"Raffles Lorraine" stands at stud and gets a full quota of the stud business in the light-weight section.

We wish the "Smiling Schaefer" a continuity of his good luck in his kennel operations.

Items of Interest From Far and Near Quits Poms for Pokes.

George H. Eastham, Toronto, has decided to forsake the Poms., and has taken to Pokes., and as the nucleus of his foundation stock, he has acquired the imported English and Canadian winning dog, "Yen Li," from Sam Bamford, Toronto. From the same source he has secured the female, "Daffy of Hartbourne," and is now looking for other good brood and show propositions, after which it will be "full steam ahead."

Ed. Johnson, Toronto, has had the misfortune to lose his good English Bulldog, "Markham Tony," who our Bulldog readers will remember we referred to in our February issue. "Tony" had just been imported from England and looked likely to bring satisfaction to his new owner, both as a show specimen and a stud proposition. Ed. entered the dog for New York Show, but we believe he was found dead in his crate when the handler went to look over his charges. Of all the bad luck that comes to the Bulldog fancier, Eddie Johnson has got a full share, but he is a "sticker" and it will be no surprise in Toronto when another good specimen lands to Ed's order. Meantime, we feel sure he has the sympathy of the fancy in his great loss.

We regret to report the passing of the great Russian Wolfhound, Ch. Clarhysdhu Elka (revealed in our Feb. issue) and with her exit goes one of the greatest winning bitches of any breed in Canada. Mrs. Mattie L. Arnold, of Alliance, Alberta, who owned this grand hound at the time of its death, says it was the most intelligent working dog she ever knew, and it is Mrs. Arnold's business to know them, and to know them well. Dogs, like humans, do not live forever; still we regret Elka's death.

A. V. Webley, Ottawa's enthusiastic Wolfhound (Russian) expert, has brought prominence to his home city, and incidentally to Canada, by his election to the Board of Governors of the Russian Wolfhound Club of America, during the annual sessions of that august body, held at Philadelphia last week. This is especially flattering to friend Webley, considering his election was unanimous, and in his absence. Congratulations.

M. U. Bates, Metagama, Ont., has bred his Ch. "Bothwell Peggy" to Int. Ch. "Kootenai Chinook," a hunting dog bred at Butte, Mont., and expects a litter of "actual realizers" as the result of the mating. A large hunting bitch has been bought from Mr. Underbakke, Sask., to give size to friend Bates' Hudson Bay Strain, now in the process of establishment. This bitch has already bred a Canadian Champion, in "Beau Belle Scrapper," and in a few days will be bred to "Bothwell Peggy's" brother, Ch. "Abbey King Nobbler," the results will be crossed with "Peggy's" pups, and a double strain of the reliable "Elruge Monarch," with the valuable hunting bloods of "Preparedness" and "Chinook" thrown in for outcrossings and size. Bates has hung out his shingle and it reads thus: "Hudson Bay Kennels. No scrubs allowed."

A correspondent draws our attention to the fact that, besides the splendid wins made by Mrs. W. Wylie's Pomeranian at New York Show, the dog which won first prize for best American-bred and second in open, was sired by Cairndhu "Brown Speck," a good son of Ch. Cairndhu "Merrymaker," while the dam was also bred from the Cairndhu strain. "Fine!"

Sam Bamford, Toronto, reports the dog business, from an agent's viewpoint, to be very good indeed. Since getting back from his English trip he has sold 20 dogs, while 16 matrons have visited the stud dogs at the "Walnut" kennels and many reservations have been made.

Dr. H. B. Thomson, Toronto, is the proud owner of a grand litter of 5 Carin Terriers, out of his recently imported bitch, "Vixen of Misty Isles." The sire, "Ardsheil Gillie Cam," H. Payne Whitney's famous Carin stud.

R. Wilkinson, Toronto, advising us that we were in error reporting his "Banker's Conqueror" as being by "Kilburn Facinator," this good youngster is by "Kilburn Banker."

Same owner has a nice bitch puppy by "Kilburn Banker," ex his good female "Lorraine," and intends bringing her before the footlights at Toronto Spring Show. "Lorraine" has again been bred to Herby Gubb's "Kilburn Banker."

The Airedale at Work

By M. U. BATES

It is a decided pleasure to present to our readers the first part of a 2100-word article, on: "THE AIREDALE AT WORK," by one of our North Country members, M. U. Bates, Metagama, Ont., who is specializing in thoroughbred working Airedales, and whose observations will be closely watched by all K. and B. readers.—Editor.

The capacity of the Airedale to adapt himself to any kind of work expected of a dog, and his ability, even after the most brief period of training to perform those duties, and in a manner, often, that puts the work of the hitherto recognized specialists in that particular line into the shade has now become so universally known that any further enlargement upon that much written subject must seem superfluous. And it is not my intention to dwell upon that subject particularly in this article; but for the enlightenment and interest of the true fanciers in the cities and settled places it is a pleasure for me to record some of the actual deeds I have seen these dogs do out here in the open places where their natural instincts, always so strongly evident in them at any time, have had scope and opportunity for full development, and also, for the same purpose, to describe more fully than I have generally seen written the actual nature of the duties required of a hunting dog.

First, as a deer dog: Many red deer, and also moose, shot low in the paunch or in other parts where the wound is not immediately fatal, will sometimes go a mile or more before they will finally collapse. If the animal be bleeding internally, which commonly happens, it is often impossible, even with snow on the ground, for the hunter to follow it. This is especially true where several other deer are travelling in the same locality, which bitter lesson the writer has learned to his dismay on more than one occasion.

The Airedale more so than any other dog living, is the remedy for this. The dog is kept "at heel" till the wounded animal is seen to be getting away. Then at the command "Get him," the eager dog leaps forward, and in a very short time the excited yap, yaps coming from the bunch of green timber in the valley, tell you that your wounded deer is either hard pressed or is already at bay.

Both the deer that my partner and self shot this fall were got under practically these circumstances; one: the big Airedale drove into water, and the other, a small eleven-months-old hunting bitch, held onto by the throat till it fell over from its wound and the worry. I can take positive oath to both these occurrences, and have snapshots to show the smaller Airedale still hanging onto her struggling deer after we had come up to them.

The Airedale's work on moose, which generally "herd up" when the snow is on, in heavy, thick timber, making it practically impossible for the hunter to get within sight of them, is to fight the moose and hold it at bay till the hunter can get close enough to send in the lucky shot that ends the noisy combat. This is principally the Indian trapper's way of getting them, and so far, being busy with other interests, I have not had the opportunity of personally trying it out. The Indians, however, claim that this method is infallible, and I have no doubt but that in this, as in other tests of gameness the Airedale can give a very good account of himself.

In the early fall, of course, the moose is hunted the same as deer, being driven into the water. I have here one young Airedale dog that drove his first moose to water at the early age of seven months, and have a snapshot of the "critter" still lying in the water, after we had shot him, which snap I shall probably have published in one of the kennel or sporting magazines at a later date.

In "trenching" or "chiselling" the beaver, an art not generally known to amateur trappers, the Airedale is, perhaps, at his best. Having been developed primarily for work amongst aquatic animals,—the otter, rat, etc.,—and with the terrier instinct so strong within him, he develops quickly an ability and intelligence at this sort of work which is simply a marvel to the Indians, who, hitherto, have had to depend upon the indifferent work of some cross-bred koodle of doubtful lineage for this difficult and delicate purpose. Some idea of the value of a good dog for this sort of work may be gleaned from the fact that sometimes as many as five to ten beaver can be taken in this way by a good trapper in a day. I have known beaver pelts this fall to sell as high as thirty and thirty-five dollars each, so surely at this rate it does not take the Indian trapper long to win back his initial twenty-five or fifty-dollar investment in his Airedale pup. One trapper to whom I sold a hunting pup last spring told me early in the winter that already his dog had gotten him and his family upwards of a thousand dollars worth of pelts. I might say that this method of taking the beaver is in contravention of the Ontario game laws, and most white trappers—especially those nearer the settlements—do not practice it generally; but,—"there are 'strange things' done in the Midnight Sun," and I have been offered on more than one occasion by Indian trappers as high as one hundred and one hundred and twenty-five dollars for a hunting pup; and it is safe to assume that when they got back in a tall timber a ways, the pup's activities weren't going to be confined to chasing squirrels alone!

An incident I may recount illustrative of the wide range of this dog's adaptability, also of his responsiveness to training, will no doubt be taken as a "fish story" by a good many "wise saws," but to this, as in the case of the foregoing incidents, in addition to having responsible witnesses, I am ready at any time to make affidavit. On Nov. 5th, the opening day of the deer season in Ontario, I went out accompanied by a guest, Mr. Geo. A. Murray of Cleveland, Ohio. My faithful Airedale, of course, accompanied us. We parted along about noon, and about one o'clock, just when I was about ready to give up hunting in that locality for the day, the Airedale, who had been following at heel all morning, suddenly cropped up his ears and bounded ahead a few paces, where he remained standing stiffly at point. I knew that there was game close ahead, and beckoning in the dumb language, a sign he had learned on previous hunting trips, for the dog to come back to heel, I told him to "stay" where he was—another trick he had learned on the trap line where I have had poison sets for fox and wolf, and did not want the dog to approach too close to them—while I moved on carefully ahead to locate the cause of his excitement. Gentlemen, may I be permitted to observe, out of justice to my faithful dumb friend, that it takes "some dog" to do this!

Westminster Kennel Club Show

The Westminster Kennel Club's Forty-fourth Annual Dog Show was held in New York.

This show of shows was held in the Grand Central Palace, on Feb. 11th to 14th, and drew an entry of 2,780, the actual number benched being 1,612.

Fanciers from all parts of Canada had journeyed down with their dogs to compete at the monster event, and it is gratifying to know they brought back many laurels to the "Land of the Maple Leaf."

This year the management saw fit to appoint Canadian talent on the judges' list, and we miss our guess if they do not come back for more. Mr. Lance Farewell, of Toronto, who enjoys a world-wide reputation as an authority on Cocker Spaniels, was the judge-elect for that variety, his placing being well received. Mr. W. McFadden, of Montreal, passed the rule over the Pomeranians, his knowledge of this breed places him amongst the foremost authorities on them, his work was also much commended; the other Canadian judge was the all-rounder, Mr. N. K. Swire, of Toronto, who handled the bulk of the judging in a most satisfactory manner, handing out his awards in the various breeds without fear or favor, proving to the sceptical that those of them who had seen fit to leave their dogs at home had made a terrible blunder, and that against themselves, and, as the ringsider wrote so convincingly: "Norman came, saw, conquered." it surely is a great compliment to Canada that we are able to write in this strain, and we trust our many readers share our views in this respect.

The following is a brief review of the breeds, calculated to interest Canadian readers, specially written for this issue. (By one who knows whereof he writes):

Big breeds were not up to the usual standard seen at this show. In Mastiffs Mrs. A. E. Ingle's Beowulf of Wingfield, a most handsome and typical specimen, accounted for winners and afterwards went to second place in a strong non-sporting variety class. C. W. Dickinson, Toronto, the staunchest fancier and largest breeder of this good old variety on the continent, sent down three exhibits that did well in their respective classes; incidentally, we may mention that all the entries in this section were products of the noted Wingfield Kennels. Mr. A. V.

Webbley, of Ottawa, sent down a nice team of Russian Wolfhounds, which we considered a little unfortunate in not going higher in the prize list. Our Canadian entry in Greyhounds, Int. ch. Master Butcher once more led the field, his wonderful quality and exquisite ring manners placed him over all comers. The classes for American Fox Hounds were all well filled; here again a Canadian dog went to the top, in Mr. W. C. Baldwin's Baldwin Heffwin, who shows all the qualities necessary in these handsome and attractive sporting dogs. Setters were a nice collection, but we could not follow the placings, as many fine specimens were amongst the "also rans." In the "Irish brigade" we noticed several from Canada that figured with the best, of these being Mr. A. Trudeau's Sonora Nancy, a bitch of superb type and quality. Cocker Spaniels turned out in full force, over 70 dogs being entered, with very few absentees. The well-known Midkiff Kennels had over 20 of their good dogs benched, and carried off many prizes. Mr. Charles Bowerbank and Mr. F. Lewis, of Toronto; Mr. A. D. Heward, of Oakville, and Mr. F. J. McGuavan, of Vancouver, all made entries, and captured a fair share of the spoils.

Collies, with 61 dogs entered, made a nice collection. Glenwin King Monte, an exceptionally nice 8-months-old youngster, was the pick of the juveniles, Ch. Alstead Altus headed the tricolored contingent. It was in the open class for sables where the real interest was centred, with ten dogs entered, including three with the prefix of champion; these, along with other aspirants, made the contest very keen. After going over them carefully, the judge placed Ch. Howgill Rival first, Ch. Laund Luminous second and Laund Limit third. The winners class was also a close contest between Ch. Howgill Rival and Ch. Seedley Satisfaction—they finished in the order named. Sarsfield Sweet Marie is a young bitch of quality, and carried off several blue ribbons. The pride of place in females went to Ch. Alstead Ardshiel Wendy, with Ch. Sarsfield Wishaw Queen reserve.

Shepherd Dogs are gaining popularity at a rapid pace, over one hundred of them being entered, and a nice, uniform, even lot they were. Twenty fine old English Sheepdogs faced the judge, his choice for best dog being International Weather; an inmate from the same kennel named Victory Weather headed the classes for the opposite sex.

Chows, with over 80 dogs benched, were quite a feature; the well-known Greenacre Kennels benched over 20 of these dogs and carried off many honors. Dalmatians were also a nice, even lot.

Bulldogs turned out to the tune of about 70, the quality of which was very noticeable. Here again we could not see eye to eye with the placings. The Strathroy Kennels carried off winners in both sexes. White Hope headed the dogs and White Ligh the bitches, followed closely by Ch. Cleveland Molly. Our choice in this variety was the reserve winner, Censor. Montreal and Toronto exhibits being rather unfortunate in this section, consequently failed to live up to last year's record.

Airedales, with 117 dogs entered, averaged over nine per class. The uniformity of type and all-round evenness of the exhibits in this breed was very marked, and goes to prove that the Airedale fanciers are at last "sticking to type." Canada produced the winners dog in Int. Ch. Polam Maxim, who duplicated his wins at the Specialty Show the day previous. O. C. of York landed top place in bitches.

There was a nice lot of Bull Terriers benched, and quite a sensation was caused when the judge placed Ch. All-fire Supreme over the Canadian champion Haymarket Faultless; this pair eventually finished up winners and reserve in the order named. The premier honor in the bitch class went to Ch. Charlwood Ariel. Next in order came Ch. Noross Radiant, with Lincoln Polly third. It is interesting to note that both the first and third are products of Canada.

Boston Terriers held pride of place for numbers; all classes were well filled and the quality was of an even nature throughout. We noticed no less than 27 promising youngsters trotted out in the class for puppy dogs. Ace of Aces was winners dogs and Arroyo Arbitrator reserve. The coveted rosette for the opposite sex went to Bestyette, with Gyps Branty reserve.

Fox Terriers as usual produced some real hot classes. Ch. Sabine Fernlike added another victory to her long list and also captured special for best smooth. Over 100 of the very best "Wires" were out to fight battles over again. Ch. Conijo Wycollar Boy winning everything he was eligible for; reserve to him was that other wonderful dog, Ch. Pride's Hill Tweak-em. The winners bitch, Conijo Perfection, is a kennel mate of the winners dog; reserve to her was Chesney Correct.

Irish Terriers were a real "hot" bunch, the best collection seen together for a long time. Ch. Double Shear was first open and winners, Ch. Brentmoor Blinker second open and reserve winners, and our Montreal dog, Mendon Mike, third. That good bitch, Blarney's Wonderful Biddy, got winners, with her kennel mate, Blarney's Bonnet, reserve.

Scotch Terriers were above the average in quantity and quality. Walescot Kennels had over twenty dogs benched, which helped to strengthen the contingent. Exhibits from these kennels carried off winners in both sex.

White West Highland and Sealyhams were fair in numbers, but of good quality; the same thing applies to Cairns and Welsh Terriers.

Pomeranians were plentiful and produced some keen contests. Ch. Pall Mall Sunlight Merriville Marquis captured winners, with Elmer Sunlight Orange Boy reserve. The winners of the opposite sex went to a Canadian exhibit named Cairndhu Felicitous, with Coal Spec reserve.

Toy Spaniels were well represented in the open class for reds. Ch. Greenacre Comet went to top, Ch. Wetnona second and Ch. Tommy Atkins third. Princess Alice, a well balanced and typical specimen, headed the tri-colors. Ma Ma, a Japanese of superb quality, went to top place with ease.

Pekingese were the outstanding feature in the Toy section. Amongst the 50 dogs entered six were champions of note, others had been imported at record prices, and home-breds of quality were plentiful, making the competition in all classes worth going a long way to see. The crowds that flocked round the ringside during the judging demonstrated that the Peke is one of our most popular canine pets. Winners dogs went to Ch. Chun Chang of Alderbourne, reserve to Rex of Glenlyon. The honors in the opposite sex went to Ch. Cumbala Ce Mee, with Felicie of Alderbourne a close reserve. The special for best was won by that exquisite specimen, Ch. Phantom of Ashcroft. This wonderful collection was considered by many to be the best ever seen. With few exceptions they were put down in wonderful coat and condition.

One lone Pug was the only representative of that old-fashioned variety.

Little Rex Doll, a dainty specimen of a Toy Poodle, carried all before her in that section.

Yorkshire Terriers were few in numbers, but of grand quality. Mike O'Brien carries a grand coat of the right color; he also carries the winners ribbon home. Pride of place in the opposite sex went to Little Babs, a typical Yorkie covered with a wonderful coat; she also annexed the special for best of breed.

Maltese were the largest and best collection seen together for a long time, due to the splendid entry from the Melita Kennels, 16 of them having travelled all the way from Seattle. One of these, Prince Melita, went to the top in dogs, the leader in the opposite sex going to Little Girlie of Especial. The special for best of breed went to Ch. Melita Cupid, that for the opposite sex going to his kennel mate, Ch. Melita Snow Dream. This wonderful pair carried off with ease the special for best brace.

Brussels Griffons were plentiful and of good quality. Winners dogs went to a representative from Montreal named The Remy; honors in the opposite sex fell to Ch. Eopthorne Sugar Plum.

The variety classes as usual were a source of interest to the spectators and attracted a large crowd, chief interest being entered in that coveted honor, "Best in Show." The three judges, Messrs. Warner, Bellin and Swire, had before them about 30 contestants for that much-sought-after trophy. The best representatives of the various breeds were all paraded round the large ring, and provided a sight worth going a long way to see. After much consideration and careful inspection, the judges handed the ribbon to the Wire-Haired Fox Terrier, Ch. Conijo Wycollar Boy, owned by Mrs. Roy A. Rainey. Best of opposite sex to Mrs. B. F. Lewis' Greyhound, Ch. Lansdowne Sunflower. The class for Canadian-owned dogs, any breed, resulted as follows:—1st, J. G. Kent's Greyhound Int. Ch. Master Butcher; 2nd, R. S. Wilson's Bulldog Ch. Cleveclon Molly; 3rd, J. C. Hanna's Irish Setter Larry O'Brien; 4th, Mr. J. F. Strachan's Fox Terrier Ridgeway Dark Boy.

Bulldog Club of Canada

Among the animal meetings held since the first of the year is that of the Bulldog Club of Canada in Montreal, Que. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Robert Mills (re-elected); 1st Vice-President, H. L. Thomas; 2nd Vice-President, Geo. H. French; Secretary-Treasurer, W. W. Marshall. Executive Committee—Mrs. E. J. R. Smith, E. W. Andrews, S. Almond, W. Chatfield; Honorary Veterinary Surgeon, Dr. F. W. Robinson.

By common consent, it was decided to leave four remaining places on the Executive vacant, in the meantime, to be filled from new members of the club at a later date.

With such an old and sterling fancier as Bob Mills again in the chair, and such an energetic go-ahead bunch of officers, the club has taken on a new lease of life, with the result that since the annual meeting there has been 33 per cent. increase in the membership, and plans have been arranged for the holding of the annual dinner of the club at Queen's Hotel, March 20th, this being an event in the Doggy year, which is looked forward to by all Montreal fanciers; the date of April 17th has been applied for, for the annual spring show, and directors of the club are determined to make this event one of the best, if not the best, ever held in the history of the bulldog cult in the Province of Quebec.

They are looking forward to having a big entry from Ontario fanciers, and promise interesting and valuable specials, which will make the trip well worth while for those who have the goods to win with.

They also promise visiting exhibitors the keenest kind of competition, as Montreal to-day has as good home-bred and imported Bulldogs as can be found on the continent. The motto of the club for 1920 is "Watch her grow."

Our London Letter

As I write, on Sunday the 1st February, I see in a daily paper a very welcome announcement under the title of "Muzzles Off!" As anticipated, it has really come to pass; dogs within the London area need not wear their muzzles after to-morrow, Monday, the 2nd February. To-morrow control will be removed from the whole of the County of London, the whole of Middlesex, except the portion lying to the southwest of a line from Uxbridge to Twickenham, the portion of Hertfordshire, which at present lies in the restricted area, a small part of Buckinghamshire, and the south-eastern half of Surrey. Dogs which do not come from any muzzling area can now be moved without a license while in transit through London from one part of the country to another, London will be a free area.

The month of January last has witnessed two important championship shows in London: that of the National Terrier Club, and that of the London and Provincial Pekingese Club, and the two events can really be taken as criterions of what the breeding of dogs has been during the last period of the war and during the period after the Armistice. I must say at once that what especially struck the attentive observer was to see the dogs in a far better show-condition than was the case before the war, in so far that the exhibits were not by far so fat and so "too contented looking" as in the times when "coming events did not even cast a shadow before them." Possibly, scarcity of rich food had something to do with it. Anyhow, the dogs looked in a far better show condition than in the times of plenty and cheapness. It is really ill wind that blows nobody any good.

The National Terrier Club's Show, on the 15th of January, was quite another matter; it was a very great success from both points of view: quality and quantity. There were 1206 entries, distributed as follows: Wire-haired Fox Terriers, 240; Smooth Fox Terriers, 139; Sealyhams, 200; Scottish Terriers, 154; Airdales, 106; Bull Terriers, 85; Cairns, 76; West Highland White Terriers, 50; Irish Terriers, 48; Welsh Terriers, 34; Bedlington, 20; Dandie Dinmounts, 12; Border Terriers, 12; and Cup Class, 25. It was for the first time, I think, that the Border Terriers received a class at a championship show, and it can be said that this ignored terrier of the Borders has at last received a recompense for its long neglect. I hardly think there are many judges who could judge this terrier in the show ring, for to be able to appreciate him it is necessary to see him at work, on the badger or on the line of an otter. There still exists several strains of the Border Terriers to be met with in Northumberland, in the county of Galloway, in Ayrshire, etc.

The best section in this show was, without doubt, the Fox Terriers, of which the wire-haired were better than the smooths; they were excellent in uniformity of type, and better in size and coat. It was, therefore, a great surprise to me that the Victory Cup went to a Scottish Terrier, and the reserve in this class to a Dandie Dinmount Terrier. In the smooths the principal winner, in dogs, was Mr. Herrick's puppy, Blybro' Top Note, a real beauty, but a bit big, to my liking, but it must be noted that, with but very few exceptions, our smooths are higher on the legs than our wires.

The Bull Terriers were good, but they should be better in bone, for one meets very often splendid Bull Terriers, with grand bodies, but lacking in bone, which makes them look like a "cow on matches" (regardez moi le mot). If we look up the list of judges at the National Terrier Club's Show, we will notice that all the judges were breeders of their varieties, and this is as it should be. However, there are fanciers, especially on the Continent, who are of opinion that the judge should not be a breeder, but should be a total stranger to the dogs and to the exhibitors at a show. This is the reason why, before the war, the Russian Canine Societies always invited either English, or French, or Belgian judges for their annual shows, and this is the reason why the Pointer Club of France, for instance, invites a foreign judge for the Pointers at the annual Paris show. This is, I think, a very interesting question, on the subject of which I will here say a few words. Experience teaches us that, for a show of, say, 400 dogs, it is necessary to have about ten judges, but it would, of course, be foolish to invite a foreign judge, which would be too expensive. Therefore, in most cases, we must put up with the breeder-judge, who has, of course, his good qualities and his defects; the former are real, and the proof of it lies in the confidence which he inspires; his defects are bearable.

Many things are reproached to the breeder-judge, and often these reproaches are well-founded, but can such a judge help it? He visits nearly every dog show and cannot, therefore, help fraternizing with those who have the same opinions as he has; he cannot help always meeting the same dogs, or the progeny of the same dogs. This judge is a breeder, he cannot refuse the stud-services to his dogs, he cannot refuse selling his surplus stock. But, generally speaking, the breeder-judge is impartial, and does not, as a rule, take much notice of what the dogs before him have won under another judge, and if it happens—which is usually the case—that dogs are nearly always similarly placed, the reason of it is that the judges have generally the same idea of the value of these dogs.

There are exhibitors who think that a judge should refuse to award a prize to a dog sold by him; there are others, on the contrary, who submit that such a judge should have courage enough to face the situation, and I am on the side of this latter assertion, because I think that a man who is a breeder is more at home with dogs than the other party. There is very often another reason why the breeder-judge has a predilection for dogs of his breeding. Let us for a moment consider that the type to which every breeder aspires in his breeding is a cross-roads. One breeder will try to approach the latter by one road, another, by another road. In other words, a practical breeder will take the purely mechanical road, a show breeder will choose an aesthetic road. Therefore, if two dogs are equally far from the cross-roads, one will be put first by the sporting judge, the other will be put first by the show-judge, and vice versa. This conception of the desired type shows the possibility of the existence of several types in the same breed, all these types trying to blend in the ideal defined by the clubs. Breeder-judges are, therefore, of the greatest importance, but show-committees should see that the same judges are not always invited to judge everywhere, for the real value of the dogs can better be fixed through an ensemble of different appreciations.

Our Mail Bag

"The following interesting communication, which reached the office too late for the February issue, is now offered to our readers for their opinions.

Any fancier who has noticed the peculiarities referred to, may contribute their observations up to 250 words.—Editor.

156 2nd Street, N.E.,
Medicine Hat, Alberta,
26th January, 1920.

James D. Strachan, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—If, after the perusal of the following, you consider that the subject may be of some interest to the readers of Kennel and Bench, will you please find space for it in the above-mentioned publication, as some of our friends, who may have given the matter serious thought and consideration, will be able to confirm the conclusions arrived at; or offer a more feasible answer thereto.

In a letter to my brother in Calgary I submitted the following question to him: In what manner does one dog receive communication from another? stating that it was one of the things upon which there has been no satisfactory answer to my personal knowledge. As an example of what I had in mind, I wrote him as follows: A bitch is in the yard with her pups, the latter romping and playing near her, when something outside the fence brings the former to her feet, all on the alert. Now watch the pups. Several, if not all of them, upon noticing their dam, will go up to her, touch their noses to hers and unfailingly turn and face in exactly the same direction she is doing, or take, as another instance, two dogs out with their master, running here and there ahead of him, when one picks up a scent which brings him into a point. The second one, upon coming up with his mate, will note the position, touch his nose to that of the other and become staunch either alongside or back of the first, but pointing in the same direction.

The answer I received in connection with the above is to the following effect:

The answer to your question on communication between dogs is, to my mind, a simple one, if you keep before you the undeniable fact that a dog's most wonderful and sensitive organ is its sense of smell. Now we will take, for instance, a dog which has come into a point; some scent has reached his nostrils which has caused him to do so. Watch how he forcibly inhales and exhales, endeavoring to obtain the scent in its most direct line. As he stands thus, his mate, seeing that something has aroused the other's interest, and being full of curiosity as to what has caused it, comes up and, as he touches his nose to that of the first one, he, having as sensitive an organ of smell, receives the particular scent which has caused the point as it is exhaled, or maybe inhaled by the other. Then, becoming through this means, aware of what has interested his partner, he immediately takes up for himself the scent which the other has thus given him.

As this answer to my question strikes me as quite feasible, and should the consensus of opinion of your readers justify the above answer, it would just be a little more added to our knowledge of our canine friends. Yours faithfully,

JAMES OLDEN.

To the Editor, Kennel and Bench,
Toronto:

Dear Mr. Editor,—As a visitor to the recent Dog Show held in Ottawa by the Central Canada Canine Association, I wish to show my appreciation, by sending you a few notes for your Go-Ahead Journal.

The quality of the dogs was a surprise, many of the best specimens of most of the breeds were of merit enough to compete anywhere in England or America. The building was a splendid one for a dog show, and every convenience had been thought of by the energetic workers of the Club. The tea-rooms proved a blessing in disguise for all, and brought back memories of some of the fine shows held in England and Scotland that you no doubt can well remember. This innovation could with advantage be followed by other show-giving clubs in Canada, at all seasons of the year.

The judge was up to his business, and gave good satisfaction, and as I moved amongst the exhibitors there was an entire lack of the usual growlings and no sign of any discord whatever.

It is usual to say great praise can be given to so-and-so when not half of it is meant, but this show was well above the merit of most of the shows I have attended during a period covering many, many years, and in all truth the general members of the Central Canada Canine Association can be proud of their able and courteous Dog Show Committee. I believe, Mr. Editor, their organization is a new one, and if that is so, it is a mighty good start they have made. Also, please accept my compliments in regard to your February issue of Kennel and Bench. It stands a credit to the Canadian Kennel Club.

"A CHEIL FRAE AFAR."

Ottawa Notes

Lansdowne Duchess and Lansdowne Betty, two promising Pom. bitches of J. Barlow, are showing heavy in wheel to that good stud dog of Mde. Belan, Montreal, "Stormlight of Dara."

Mr. Barlow has an eleven-weeks' Pom. puppy weighing only 13 ozs., Stormlight of Dara, ex River Topsy, that has received much admiration from the fanciers in this city, also several very tempting offers at the present the fortunate owner says, "not for sale."

Riverdale Kennels report Bostons, six in all, four males, two females, by Slatter St. of Riverdale Flashlight, marked, dark seal, and promise of being very good prospects.

The happy owner states it the best litter he has ever intends holding them all for show purposes.

We hear that our friend, W. C. Baldwin, went to winners with his good American Foxhound at the recent New York Show. Congratulations, for that is some going at that!

Brentwood Betty has presented a litter of seven, six males and one female, by Rockley Raider, to her owner, Albert Kerr, and from present indications several look very promising.

Dr. Kennedy, V.S., reports that sales have been very good of late in thoroughbred dogs. The Doc. conducts an hospital and infirmary on the Market and tries to impart the knowledge that "the keeping of a pure-bred dog is the best policy."

E. A. Runions reports a litter of two nice Boston Terrier puppies from his imported bitch (she by Bantam King, ex Ch. Heinbins Dream Girl), the sire is Ch. "Ingram's Little Man," and friend Runions claims they are both duplicates of their sire.

Why I Like Dogs

A Chat About Them Written for the Benefit of All Whom Dogs Love

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

I like them, for one reason, because they like me. A dog's liking for a human has nothing to do with the likee's good or bad qualities, by the way. Bill Sikes' dog was as devoted to his master as was George Washington's.

I like them, because I find them the best and most unobtrusive and most considerate and amusing and original set of comrades. I like them because there is an unswerving squareness and decency about the best of them, that makes me just a little ashamed.

I like them because of some forty-odd years' close study of their race.

This told me they are the nearest likable and least objectionable of God's Terriers. I like them because of two thousand the two good and cogent as criterions.

Dogs has been in the war and isn't always the Armistice. Ask anyone: that what espee people?—tive observer swer must be: a far better, ple I like very the case bome I don't like that the e Some I neither fat and or dislike." And the same retort must apply to dogs.

I have seen dogs that were incurably mean or vicious or cowardly or foolish or bumptious. But I have seen many more humans, in proportion, with one or several of those same unpleasant traits. So I like dogs, even as I like humans, only, I have found more likable dogs than humans. I am, therefore, more prone to accept the former on their face value, and less often do I have cause to be disappointed in them, which is not cynicism, but common sense.

And now, let's stop talking of my personal likings—which interest nobody but me—and speak instead about the dogs themselves—which interest nearly every normal person.

Even as no two humans have just the same personality, so no two dogs are alike. Certain breeds are strong or weak on certain qualities. And by their breeds shall ye judge them. Only, please remember this rule is no more infallible than are any of the innumerable character rules by which you judge humans. The "personal-characteristics" element is always likely to enter the equation. In other words, there are always exceptions.

I lay stress on this, so that you may not interrupt my statement, for instance, that an Airedale is a one-man dog, by saying: "Why, we had an Airedale, out in Flatbush, that used to follow every stranger he saw!"

So much for exceptions. Now for well as in general characteristics, will fit in your pose. It is a trifle hard upon the dog. But he will learn quickly what is expected of him.

If, on the other hand, you want a dog to break up your glum dignity, the fox terrier, or the collie, or the bull terrier will do wonders for you. All three are blessed—or cursed—with an abidingly frothy sense of humor and with bubbling originality.

If you are a pugnacious chap and want a kindred soul to share and abet your scrappy qualities, take any of the terrier breeds—except the Boston—ranging from bull terrier to Scotch. Nearly all of them love a scrap for a scrap's own sake and for the joyous excitement thereof. They are forever looking for adventure—especially if a bit of trouble is linked with it—and they will give you plenty of action along your own favorite line.

Watch a typical Irish terrier's morning march down the road, if you doubt this—also if you doubt he is Irish. He fears nothing. He seeks to avoid nothing that will lead him into a row or into a perilous adventure. He is Irish. And he is a terrier. Let the other dog turn aside, Mick won't.

If, on the contrary, you seek to cultivate traits of peaceful friendliness, buy a sad-eyed and enormous-eared beagle, or else a spaniel—cocker preferred. They are lovable little fellows, sleek of head, demonstratively affectionate, fairly well-equipped with brains, pretty pets. The kind which—were they human—would never cause their mothers a moment's anxiety.

I don't want to say much about Airedales, because, frankly, I don't like them. When I confess that, I realize that I am turning away a certain percentage of my readers. So I'll hurry on to say as many nice things of the breed as I conscientiously can.

By special arrangement with the author, and courtesy of the "People's Favorite Magazine," we are reproducing in this issue Albert Payson Terhune's wonderful article,

"Why I Like Dogs"

Particularly to Kennel and Bench readers this should be profoundly interesting, as friend Terhune has bred them, has been with them, lost with them, and perhaps above all, leaved with them. His book, "Lad a Dog" should be in the library of every fancier, there to be read and re-read at pleasure, no dog story since "Bob Son of Battle" can equal the "Grip on the Heart" like Albert Payson Terhune "Lad a Dog."

EDITOR.

the rule—as I have found it—in the course of the aforesaid forty-odd years' somewhat close study:

To me the collie is the One Dog. I grant freely that I am prejudiced, so I shall keep him in the background for a while. I mention it, lest he crop out unduly often.

Did it ever occur to you, in choosing a dog, to pick out one to match your own prevailing moods—or to act as a counterbalance for such moods? It is not a bad idea.

For instance: If you are of a glum and dignified nature—and if you rather admire that type of man—the dog for you is a Great Dane or a Russian wolfhound. One that has passed the jolly and irresponsible age of puppyhood, and that has not too much imagination. Both of those dogs are lofty of manner as well as of aspect. Both, by appearance as Donald MacKenzie, K.C., of Regina, has had the supreme satisfaction of seeing his great Airedale, Int. Ch. Polam Maxim, scoring the two greatest triumphs on the calendar of the American Airedale year.

First: At the Airedale Terrier Club of America Show, this "greatest of all" Airedale terriers was awarded 1st open winner's prize, silver trophy for best dog, and special.

Second: At the Westminster Kennel Club Show, New York, he won 1st open winner's prize, silver trophy for best dog, and special.

The silver trophy for the best Airedale Dog of the year 1919 was won by "Maxim," the points being computed from the Westminster of 1919 to the Airedale Terrier Club Show of 1920. "Dogs may come and dogs may go, But Mac's good dog goes on forever."

We unhesitatingly congratulate our Western friend, his great dog, and his able handler, Mr. Bert Swan, on this remarkable dual victory.

Alf. Delmont Steers Ch. Sabine Fernlike to Highest Honors at Boston

The magnificent little smooth-coated fox terrier, Ch. Sabine Fernlike, owned by Thomas Rice Varick, of Manchester, N.D., was adjudged the best of all breeds at the show of the Eastern Dog Club.

Fernlike was one of 10 competing dogs, representing the best of as many breeds in the world, and on his way to the win.

Fernlike had to defeat the celebrated bulldog Censor, owned by Mrs. W. N. Gilbert Clark, of Beacon Street, Boston, and the equally noted greyhound, Champion Lansdowne Sunflower, and owned by Mrs. B. F. Lewis, Jr., of Lansdowne, Penn.

Fernlike was shown before the three judges by Alf Delmont, and the little dog never showed to better advantage. Fernlike stood under the close scrutiny of the judges like a marble statue and it was a popular award.

The dog has been a big winner ever since his puppy days. Two years ago at the all-breed show in Boston, it got the same award it received last night. In the last two years the dog has been adjudged best of all breeds no less than 15 times, and in that time has won over 50 blues and specials and 36 in 1919. A wonderful record for a smooth.—Boston Post.

In a letter of congratulation from Mr. John A. Newman, Regina, on the success of the National Terrier Club's Show, he says that Sealyhams were the breed that most attracted him in the show. He announces his intention of starting a kennel in Western Canada on his return, and feels sure that the breed will take on rapidly in the West. He will do all in his power to influence others to take them up. This is most surely another sign of the rising tide of popularity for our gay little workers who achieved the honor of attracting this visitor from overseas above any other Terrier in the show, and there were a rare collection of all breeds at their best that day. Mr. Newman will be taking a team back with him.

Miss Wilson is shipping to Mrs. Gerst, of Alton, U.S.A., a lovely orange sable stud dog, very short, and carrying a big coat. As a stud dog he ought to be invaluable over there, combining, as he does, the strains of Ch. Sable Atom, Mite, Honey Dew, and Nanky Poo. Mrs. Gerst is going in strongly for Poms. She has kept almost all breeds, and she finds that these very fascinating little dogs are in greater demand, and fetch better prices than any other breed—even Terriers.—Dog World (English.)

A. O. Underbakke, Hanley, Sask., reports a grand litter of Airedale puppies, arriving at the Viking Kennels on Feb. 17th, 1920. The litter is bred in the purple, embracing all the combination of blood lines that have made Airedales famous. The sire is "Rockley Raider," whose pedigree goes quickly back to Ch. "Soudan Swiveller." The dam is by Int. Ch. "Abbey King Nobbler," and he is by Ch. "Soudan Swiveller." Great things are expected from these youngsters, and the owner puts a price on them, which may be found on referring to the advertising columns of this issue.

E. Harrington, Toronto, reports a grand litter of Boston puppies out of his bitch, "Peggie Major," the sire, "Paddie Del." One male of this litter was sold for $100 at 6 weeks, while a female brought $150 at the same age, while the remaining puppy will remain with friend Harrington unless a very tempting offer looms up unexpectedly and makes him change his mind on the subject.

Charlie Webber, London, reports the dog business good in the Fo City, and that his home-bred "Baron Masterpiece" is fast maturing into "real 'un." Recent visitors to "Baron's Masterpiece" include: A. W. Henry's "Uxbridge Midget," W. F. Maylard's "Lady Sawyer" and "Jolly Stone," J. E. Crooke's "Gabby," while H. C. Herbert, of Messina, N.Y., sent his "Lady Gwendolin." Jas. Parke Paris, Ont., sent a good bitch by K burn Facinator, ex Katrina, a Charlie intends to watch the rest closely.

Mr. F. Lacey, of "Monarch" nels, reports a litter of four pups by H. Wilson's "Diamond Red De out of "Monarch Girl."

Mr. H. L. Thomas, Montreal, Toronto last week on a business and saved all his spare time energy looking over the saleable dogs being offered. It was a "getting what I want" and no question of price.

We learn that he R. Morrison to part with St. in exchange for an "Ella" is by "Crop" "Rydal Mollie," and "Soul" nel of Mr. Thomas. luck to this fancier. Ky. is strong for the "Soul."

The Gerstdale Kennel, Iowa, who specialize in Poms, Boxers and Chows, report a heavy demand for all their stock. A recent advertisement in Kennel and Bench surprised them by the great number of people offering to fill their wants.

Mrs. E. M. Graham, Toronto, reports a litter of six Boston puppies from her "Mongolian Blossom," all good and healthy, and well marked. The sire of the litter was "Bumble Bee."

Mrs. F. Tomkins, Toronto, reports a good litter of 4 male Pekingese puppies from her "Fu Lu Chung," sired by Mrs. W. E. Mountain's Ch. "Chuen Chip."

Walter S. Fairweather, Sussex, N.B., has a nice Boston Terrier from the kennels of W. J. Welsh, Peterboro, sired by Ch. "Joyce's Prince," that he considers very good, and hopes to be able to join the race of the shows at an early date.

Why I Like Dogs

A Columbia held their annual meeting and election of officers on the 14th. Harmony and enthusiasm seemed to be the watchwords for 1920. The officers elected were: President, Archie Hogg; 1st Vice-President, G. H. Galvin; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. J. E. Elcock; Honorary Secretary-Treasurer, G. E. Halliday. About fifty new members have been enrolled and, with the old brigade on hand, everything augurs well for a banner dog year in Vancouver.

Mr. Alick McCloy, the "Canny Scot" of the New Westminster, has just registered a typical White West Highland from Donald McKellar, of Oak-half. To say that "freen Sandy" is coming is to put it mildly, and with the "Nancy," another importation, trans has a brace that any good of man would be proud to own.

The Galvin, our Boston Booster, has been launched out in another direction. Shows to be seen the other day walking proudly down the street with a and how. On making enquiries, the two eye dog in question came as criterions of no less a celebrity dogs has been on of New Westminster of the war and puppy was out of a the Armistice. p. Brantford Notes

By FREDDIE REID.

The Telephone City Spring Show dates have been definitely fixed, viz., May 13th and 14th. It was the intention of the Club to run their Show (as previously mentioned in these columns) in April, but owing to the impossibility to procure a suitable building for that date and in order to give both the exhibitors and public at large the Club's best efforts in every respect, was decided to have the "big doings" month later, viz., May 13th and 14th. The Brantford City Council and the Brantford Chamber of Commerce are taking a great interest in the Club's fare. The City Council, at their meeting the other evening, recognized Brantford, to do all in their power to provide attractive prizes and are banking on at least a three-point Spring Show. The Printing Committee are busily engaged with the premium lists and other printing matter.

Freddie Howie has had to mark his late litter of Beagle puppies by the "Colored Ribbon Route," in order to distinguish the one from the other. They sure are a bunch of beauties, bred from his good bitch, "Haig's Flora," and sired by the grand show-dog, "Haig's Monarch."

Billy Campbell has bred his grand little Boston Bitch, "Roena," to J. W. Church's well-known Canadian winner, "Peter." "Nuff sed." The results are sure.

Short Barks

Thomas Hicks, Toronto, reports real business at his kennels, the recently imported stud and show Bulldog, "Clevelock Unity," having many admirers. Recent visitors include Mr. Ford's "Logan Queen," Mr. Harrison's "Panzeretta," Mr. Yapp's (Brantford) "Lady Mayflower," Mr. Varley's "Roxanna," Mr. Ronce's "Lady Mine," while "Hefty Pleasant Lady" is showing heavy in whelp and is due March 10th to the same stud.

Mrs. M. Matthews, of Toronto, is rejoicing over a grand litter of Pekingese—three males and one female—from her good matron, "Kutzie Wan Li," by her own stud dog, "Netoe's Just in Time." They are a very promising and healthy bunch.

Mrs. Peabody, Peterboro, Ont., has purchased a couple of English Bulldog puppies, by "Prince Albert," ex a "Coster's Diamond," female, and considers the blood combination good enough to watch closely and hear carefully.

"Billy" Village, Winnipeg, boasts that his Christmas box for 1919 surpassed all previous good things, it being in the shape of a litter of eight (smooth) Fox Terrier puppies, by S. C. Taylor's "Rolyat Reformation," and out of "Billy's" good bitch, Ch. "Madison Atalanta" (well known to Eastern fanciers). The above combination embraces the best "Smooth" blood obtainable in England and America, and of course friend Village naturally expects something extraordinary from the mating, and we will miss our guess if he should be disappointed. "Santa Claus" was very generous in this case, and our Western fancier must have had "both" stockings hung up.

As we go to press we hear that the good Boston Terrier female, "Velvet Pride," owned by John A. Gouin of Three Rivers, Que., and who has done considerable winning for her owner, has been sold for a good price at the Westminster Show last month. "Rose Home Exterminator," another fast Boston, owned by the Three Rivers breeder, has also been disposed of at a high price. What good one will Mr. Gouin pick up now? We don't know, but no doubt we will learn pretty soon.

The recent Boston Terrier, winners, and best of breed, at the Eastern Dog Club Show of Boston, Mass., held at Boston on the 25th February last, went to "Dandy Pat II.," owned by Mrs. I. Lichtenheim of Newtonville. "Dandy Pat II." was sired by "King's Captain," formerly owned by Jos. A. Gouin of Three Rivers, Que., and, as Mr. Gouin always said, "He is not a topper in the ring, but he has the breeding there, that must always tell its own story."

At the Canadian National Exhibition of 1919 he won 1st novice, 1st limit and 1st open, and the only pup sired by him, old enough to show, was Sweet Marie, which won 1st puppy and 1st novice in a class of 12, the only two classes she was entered in.

This dog needs no introduction to the bulldog fancy. His stock is so well-known, both in Eastern and Western Canada, it being a well-known fact that every puppy from this stock is a show specimen.

ADVANCE GUARD has no need to rely on his sire or dam's performances to advertise himself. As a puppy he has competed in all large Eastern Shows and carried Blue Ribbons as well as winning the Puppy Variety Class, Canadian National Exhibition, 1919. Why resort to using imported dogs whose progeny are unknown, when you can have the services of a dog bred from stock that has been proven in your own Show Rings?

IMPORTERS AND BREEDERS

LADYHILL SABLE SPARK

Little Gold King is the most recent importation to come to the kennels of those well-known sporting gentlemen, Jack Waggitt, Toronto and Fred Simmons, London, who have agreed to verge their kennel business.

To attempt to do elaborate on the great quality of Little Gold King would be akin to "reaching for the moon." He is too well known to Pomeranian breeders to require much description. His head is of the very neatest, with tiny ears, fine bone, shortest backed brilliant clear orange living. He has won over 100 first and other prizes at the leading shows in England, some of which we herewith enumerate.

By Shelton Sunstar, by Ch. The Sable Mite, ex Scampy, by Sweet William, he is full of Dragon Fly and Brooklyn Goldspeck blood. He has won 1st and 2nd at Cruft's; 1st and 2nd at the Championship Pom. Club Show, London; 1st and 2nd, Sutton Coldfield; 1st and 3rd, Royal, Manchester; 1st, Manchester Toy Dog Show; 2nd, North East Lancashire Pom. Show; two 1sts, South Manchester; and 1st and 2nd, Shropshire Canine Society; as well as a number of other honors. On top of this add his wins in Canada, since his arrival last November, include at 3 shows 3 times best Pom, 3 times best Toy, any breed. To those wishing to use this good Pom, his fee will be $10.00
