The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held in the club offices, 774½ Yonge Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, March 17th, 1921. The first vice-president, Mr. H. Clayton, in the Chair.

The Secretary announced that Mr. Frank T. Slattery was in waiting, and it was agreed to hear Mr. Slattery before proceeding further with the agenda. Mr. Slattery announced that he again appeared in the interest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Parker, Toronto, and seeking that the Board of Directors raise the suspension of either one or both of his clients. After stating his case most eloquently, he thanked the Board for their continued courtesy to him and withdrew. The Directors then considered Mr. Slattery's claims on behalf of his clients, and it was moved and seconded:

"That the Secretary write Mr. Slattery, advising him, That the Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club cannot at this time concede to his request that suspension should be raised on one or both parties under suspension." (Carried.)

The Secretary reported on the preparation of Field Trial Rules, and was instructed to take the matter up with the President, with a view to their perfection (if found necessary).

It was moved and seconded: "That in future all Canadian Kennel Club meetings, particularly those of the Directors, be called to order precisely at the hour stated in the notice calling such meeting." (Carried.)

"That Toronto Kennel Club be added to the list of registered clubs." (Carried.)

A similar application was received from The Pekin Palace Toy Dog Association of Canada, and all the essentials having been observed, and the fee paid, it was moved and seconded:

"That the Pekin Palace Toy Dog Association of Canada be added to the list of registered clubs." (Carried.)

The Secretary read correspondence from the Director for the Province of Manitoba, and it was agreed to leave the business arising therefrom in the hands of the Secretary.

Correspondence was read from Mr. Alf. Lepine, Montreal, complaining of the difficulties experienced in releasing Canadian registered dogs on their return from the United States, and again raising the question of a standard Canadian Kennel Club classification for all shows held under the club's rules.

Director George C. Briggs volunteered to seek enlightenment on the first part of Mr. Lepine's letter, and it was the opinion of the Board that the proposed standard classification was an impossibility.

The Secretary read a letter from the Longstone Kennels, Victoria, B.C., and was instructed to reply informing the writer that the matter referred to was considered closed.

A letter from the Terminal City Kennel Club, Vancouver, B.C., was read, requesting the Board of Directors to send the Secretary to Vancouver at an early date, preferably at the time of their Annual Show, to be held May 23-24, 1921, and it was agreed that the letter be referred to the April meeting, with the recommendation: "That the Secretary be sent to the Coast, at the invitation of the Terminal City Kennel Club, and at the expense of the Canadian Kennel Club."

It was moved and seconded: "That the meeting adjourn." (Carried.)

Upon motion it was decided to increase the amount of special cash prizes offered at the various shows where Russian Wolfhound Club judges officiated.

WITH THE CALMOS.

Calmo Kennels, Toronto, get their full share of the Cocker business, and their dogs (see Stud advertisement in our business columns) have been very busy lately. Mr. F. Stuart, Montreal, sent his good red bitch and had her mated to Champion Calmo Perfecto, and is banking on the future already. Dr. McDonald, Toronto, bred a nice black matron to the same sire, and intends sending three others at an early date.

Robert Macgaughey, New York, visited the Calmo establishment when on his judging trip to Toronto and was loud in his praises for the promising youngster "Calmo Aero."

OUR RECENT SHOWS

Boston Terrier Club of Toronto

The Second, and best Annual Specialty Show of the above Club was held on March 19th, with the popular "Pat" Dowd of Boston, Mass., bearing the judicial ermine. And it is safe to chronicle the fact, that Mr. Dowd placed the dogs at this Show where they belonged, as they came before his trained mind and eye, this verdict was conceded generally, and "grouching" was conspicuous by its absence. True, there were one or two little flurries of doubt and misunderstanding, but these were but short lived, and sportsmanship prevailed.

Crystal Perfect Lady, the pretty little imported female, owned by R. G. Long, and daughter of Moshulo Blink, out of Crystal Lady Sensation, was protested on her appearance in the Novice Class. And rightly so, as this little lady has done some nice winning across the line. As for instance, at the Bronx Kennel Club Show, last October, when she went to reserve winners under Dr. Traynor. But "Bob" only wants what belongs to him, and a prize belonging to another dog will not be wanted by this enthusiastic fancier, of this, we are positive. Then, there were no scales present, and the weights of several entries were questioned. There can be no excuse accepted for this breach of the official Rules, as Dog Show Rule XVI. reads at its last clause, "The Club must provide scales for the use of the exhibitor and judges," and is quite definite. However, we trust the "jar" can be easily and amicably adjusted, and that other Show giving clubs will notice this, and see to it that proper scales are provided at their Shows.

Judging, although started punctually, was still going strong as the midnight hour pealed forth from the brazen throat of Toronto's "Big Ben" and the regard for the Sabbath of the "Holy City" or rather, the fear of trespassing on the feelings of the "Lord's Day Alliance," caused the work to come to a close while there were yet quite a few very important Specials to be decided. Harold Shaw, Toronto, seemed to be the chief sufferer here, as he had divided $24.00 in Specials of $5.00, $4.00 and $3.00 for the best get of his Stud dogs Ch. "Count Der Cee" and "Rex Raffles Facinator," and as there were 17 dogs of the total entry sired by the "Count," an interesting and profitable feature was anticipated, and the chief participants were very naturally disappointed. We believe, however, that Mr. Shaw is agreeable that those Specials be left as they are until the Canadian National Exhibition, when they may be decided upon by the judge selected for the breed on that occasion.

Benching is a fine art with this young Club, and their white painted, uniform sized stalls, looked very inviting indeed. The Show was sweet and clean at all times, and reflects the greatest credit on the officials. H. M. Jackson, the President, was in attendance all the time, and had his lads all in their places, and the sum total was as smooth a fixture as any we have ever seen. The Boston Terrier Club of Canada members were very much in evidence, and their entries fared exceedingly well at the hands of the genial Dowd, and the results we trust will have the effect of creating a better understanding between these two important bodies. Four Championship points—the maximum for a Specialty Show—were easily earned. The attendance at all times was very encouraging, and we are informed by the Show Secretary, that the Club finances strong as they were, have been largely augmented as the result of this successful fixture.

Mr. Dowd has promised Kennel and Bench a short review, which we hope to be able to offer our readers in our May issue.

A special word of praise must here be offered to E. A. Brown the Show Secretary. To "Brownie," probably more than to any other one person, belongs the credit for much of this fixtures great success. Day and night is the scope of his activity. Possible entries, possible specials, possible hints on "how to improve things" are all known to E. A., and he corrals 'em all. Hence the financial gain and the championship possible (4 points for a Specialty Show) follows in the train of his work. Earl's motto is, "If a job has to be done, go and do it yourself," and he has proven the theory to be correct.

Following are the awards:

Toronto Kennel Club

The Eighteenth Annual Spring Show of this old weather beaten organization was held on Good Friday and Saturday at Toronto. Predictions of ruin were rife, and that the old club would go out of business was a foregone conclusion. However, the prophets were on their "ear" once more, and when reduced to figures the following comparisons become interesting:

Spring Show, 1917; 210 benched, 398 entries, 1 point.

Spring Show, 1918; 324 benched, 690 entries, 2 points.

Spring Show, 1919; 252 benched, 276 entries, 2 points.

Spring Show, 1920; 287 benched, 609 entries, 2 points.

Spring Show, 1921; 246 benched, 553 entries, 2 points.

The fact remains intact, however, that the possibilities in 1921 should have seen a 4-point show, under the auspices of Toronto Kennel Club this spring. And while we do not wish to dictate the policy of the Toronto Kennel Club, but rather, will be content to carry our voice and influence to the meetings thereof, we certainly would welcome a closer relationship between this good old all-round show giving Club, and the several Specialty Clubs now operating in the Queen City, and in this connection it is worthy of note, that the Mother of all Canine governments, the Kennel Club, England, having in mind their forthcoming show, are about to seek representatives from Specialty Clubs to meet them in conference, obviously, to discuss the thorny questions of judges, etc., and probably, many beneficial objects will be attained as a result of the conference, and methinks this idea could profitably be copied in Canada and particularly in Toronto, where every breed has its own protective club.

Suitable Dog Show Buildings are not to be found in Toronto, and our sympathies are all with the fancier into whose hands is placed the onerous task of securing suitable accommodation for a Dog Show. This year the old McLaughlin paint shop was secured, and while it was by no means ideal, still it served the purpose, and was the best that could be had, for love or money.

It was refreshing to see many of the "old timers" attending, and we particularly noticed Col. G. F. McFarland of "Franklyn" fame, who was more than interested in the Bull Terrier entry, and who—if the "symptoms" prove anything—will soon be benching one or two on his own account again. Arthur Atkinson was on hand both days, and proved himself a "youngster" at the game of "ring steward," of which he is a pastmaster.

The judge was Robert McGaughey of the "Hy-Klass" fame, and while we frankly admit our inability to follow him all the time, we are prepared to say that he did his work conscientiously, and as he seen it.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Margeson came all the way from Kentville, Nova Scotia, bringing with them a brace of rich cream colored Pekingeses that made their presence felt in the award column. Their "Tung Ling of Aldercrest" taking the dizzy trip from puppy to reserve winners, in hot competition, and was unfortunate in meeting the great "Cha of Alderbourne," with "Ling Fang of Merridale," 2nd brace was annexed in the variety brace class. Other visitors we noticed were J. H. Holmes, Montreal; Mrs. J. H. Enright, Montreal—this lady gave as fine an exhibition of Irish Setter handling as the most critical could wish to see, her two charges "Tyrone Lady Erin," won 1st in the Sporting Variety, while her "My Wild Irish Rose" cinched the Puppy Variety. Dr. J. H. Villeneuve was on hand, combining business with pleasure, the Doctor generally gets to Toronto at this time of the year, which probably explains why we usually steer clear of hay fevers and spring colds. Dr. John Webster was in from Whitby, but confessed that he felt himself quite a stranger, but now that Dr. C. Y. Ford is getting into the game again, some good dogs will soon be gambolling on the Whitby pastures. Brantford sent over Jim Bewick, Harry Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. McKibbin and J. Kerr; Hamilton sent Jim Clelland, Geo. Day and our old friend, Mr. Gammon. Oakville—well we better not mention the Oakville contingent, as they would surely be offended by being listed as visitors. D. McKellar, R. S. Wilson and J. Meadows are all at home in Toronto.

On Friday evening at 9.30 the Annual Dinner of the Toronto Kennel Club was observed, which was the first re-union in several years, owing to the war. Two hundred sat down to a repast which was very enticing, reflecting great credit to the Iroquois Hotel and its popular dog loving manager, Mr. Currie; and to see the joyful facial expressions of the gathering, one would wonder how it was ever possible for hard feelings to creep into the game. The Club's active President was in the Chair, and with a zip ran off a lengthy and appropriate programme of toasts, music, song and story, which was refreshing. The feature of the evening was when the double quartette party from Mimico sprang their Palm Beach creation, "We want a drink," to the absolute consternation of your scribe, and to the immense merriment of everybody else. The pathetic ballad runs as follows:

"We want a drink, just like the drink
That pickled Jimmie Strachan.

It was a drink, and the only drink
That Jimmie ever had?

To H— with the ginger ale, to H—
with the pop,

We want something with the foam on the top.

We want a drink, just like the drink
That pickled Jimmie Strachan."

Not only is the accusation false but the Mimico quartette knows that it is false. Everyone knows that in the "Holy City" and in near prohibition, that "pickling" is a forgotten art, so probably it was "tickled" that was meant, and probably we got it wrong, but I'll say, they made it go, all right.

The gathering declared the dinner a most satisfactory affair, every speaker in their turn from ex-Controller Ramsden, down to Daddy John Kenyon, all spoke in optimistic language as to the usefulness of the old Toronto Kennel Club, with its many ups and downs.

In concluding this report we would desire to express the wish, that some immediate effort be made, which will be calculated to create a complete understanding between the oldest all-round show giving Club in Toronto and the Specialty Clubs operating in this city. With a strong representation in the Toronto Kennel Club, by members from the Specialty organizations this understanding is alone possible.

Put away the hammer lads, and get together.

WHY THE MARCH ISSUE WAS LATE.

Owing to many of our advertisers using their half-tones in the premium lists of "The Boston Terrier Club of Toronto" and "Toronto Kennel Club" Shows, the March issue was delayed quite considerably, which we deplore, particularly as our readers were obliged to write us as follows:—

Has "Kennel and Bench" been issued for March yet? My copy has not arrived and I feel as though I had missed a big meal, by not having it. Please send me my meal."

We Sent It Quick!

While everybody is feeling pleased with their paper, we want you to send along your contributions of reading and advertising copy regularly, to reach here not later than the 20th of each month.

"TOLSTOI" NOTES.

The good Russian Wolfhound Bitch "War Baby," owned by Mr. Beardmore, of Toronto, has just whelped a litter of eight beautiful puppies, sired by Champion "Krilenko," owned by A. V. Webley, Toronto.

The following Bitches have recently been served by Champion "Krilenko": "Vlaska V.," owned by Mr. Erlanger of New York City, and "Vareska," owned by Mr. J. Bailey Wilson, Lansdowne, Pa., U.S.A., and good results are expected from these matings.

"Zahftra of Tolstoi" is showing heavy in whelp to Champion "Krilenko."

CHAMPION EATONIAN COUNTESS

(C. K. C. 16815) COMES TO AN UNTIMELY END.

It is with the deepest regret that we receive through the courtesy of the new Secretary of the Montreal Kennel Association, Mr. J. Todd, the sad intelligence of the death by shooting of the beautiful "Eatonian Countess," property of our member, Leonard W. Halliday, Montreal, and a heroine of the show bench. Born on June 28th, 1915, sired by "Beaumont Earl," out of Ch. "Eatonian Bess," she inherited the well known qualities of her dam and made her debut in her home town in May, 1917, then took in the Canadian National at Toronto, Sherbrooke Fair, Central Canada Exhibition, Montreal Kennel Association (Sept. of the same year), and New Brunswick, creating a profound impression on the lovers of the "White 'Uns," and incidentally winning her championship. "Countess" was the pride of the Halliday home, where she was a great companion and an admired pet, and, coming to her death in such a dastardly way, our sincere wish is that our good friend Halliday may be able to bring the perpetrator to immediate justice. Following are the particulars as we have received them.

Ch. "Eatonian Countess" was found on Saturday, March 26th, in a field in Notre Dame de Grace, with seventeen bullet holes in her body and although pierced through the heart, lungs and intestines, she lived for several hours, but finally succumbed to her terrible wounds.

Mr. Halliday is offering a reward for information that will lead to the conviction of the slayer of his beautiful bitch, which he valued at over $1,000.

Kennel and Bench will be glad to receive any information likely to be of assistance to Mr. Halliday in his great sorrow, and we also express our sympathy with the owner, and also with the breeder, the well known Bull Terrier breeder at the Coast, G. E. Halliday, Vancouver, and we recollect that "Countess" was always a dog that Ted referred to with pardonable pride.

MORE MICKEYS.

J. Henderson, Hamilton, Ont., advises us that a litter of four Boston Terriers, neatly marked, and equally divided by sex, has been born to "Roxanna" sired by Harry O'Neil's "Little Mickey Ringmaster."

HUDSON BAY DOG DERBY

(Specially Written for Kennel and Bench by Dr. Roy G. Musgrove, The Pas, Manitoba).

Dear Mr. Editor: I will endeavor to give you a few notes on the recent Hudson's Bay Dog Derby, but presume that the Toronto papers have fairly well reported on the race. I have jotted down a few notes to give you and if you see fit to publish any or all of them, well and good.

It is estimated that between 1500 and 2000 people saw the dogs start from scratch on the Saskatchewan River at the foot of the town. The weather was not favorable, recent thaws making the going hard as the dogs were continually cutting through the crusted snow, thereby cutting their feet. This trouble was more or less overcome by the use of dog moc-casins.

The tandem hitch was used by only one man, the others using the two abreast with one leader method, and this is conceded to be by far the best hitch as it gives every dog a clear space ahead of at least eight feet, instead of one of a few inches, as in the tandem hitch.

The harness used by most of the racers was made of light webbing which proved a great boon to the dogs as the heavier sort of leather harness, used on commercial dogs, would prove a handicap in racing.

The race was over a course of approximately 200 miles, from The Pas to Flin Flon, and return. Each driver was given a race card by the official starter, bearing the driver's name, the number and description of his dogs and time of starting. The drivers had to present this card to an official at Sturgeon Landing, a post en route, and the official put the time of arrival and departure of each team on the drivers' cards.

The prizes for the big race amounted to $2500. The winner also received a small cup and had his name engraved on a shield on the beautiful large cup donated by Frank Burns, Esq., of Toronto, this cup going to the man winning three consecutive races.

It was felt by many that 200 miles is too far for a race, this being the longest non-stop race ever run. The Derby Executive may see fit to cut down the distance considerably next year.

After last year's race, which was won by the Alaskan Kid, Walter Goyne, local dog mushers figured that the dogs of these parts were not cut out for racing against such dogs as Goyne drove, but several local drivers decided to train animals for racing and see what the results would be. Every local man who seriously trained his dogs, finished in the money from the winner to fourth prize. This demonstrates beyond a doubt that if a man will train, feed and not abuse his dogs, he can look for wonderful results. A Husky is in his prime for racing when he is from three to five years of age.

The average speed for the 200 miles was about seven and one-half miles per hour, and one of this year's drivers is out to better this next year by one and one-half miles per hour.

The number of dogs per team varied as did the breeds. The winning team consisted of nine Malamutes; the other teams had from seven to eleven dogs. Goyne was the most experienced driver of racing dogs and the only one who has made a specialty of breeding such. He has a string of eleven dogs made up of such cross-breeds as Irish Setter-Malamute, Shepherd-Malamute and Fox-Hound-Malamute. The last named are considered the ideal racing breed by him. Goyne's team was very greatly handicapped this year due to the loss of his famous Setter-Malamute leader of last year's race, and of two other of his best dogs. He replaced these by young, inexperienced dogs, which could not stand the strain and played out when 50 miles from the finish. He is out in earnest to have the winning team for next year's race and local drivers will have to spend more time and give their dogs better care and attention in order to keep him from winning. Goyne himself is not in favor of a 200-mile race. He contends that it is a dog as well as a man-killer and that it is not really a race at all but a feat of endurance. He argues that to get the best out of a dog race the dogs should not be sent away from scratch, but should be sent away by time, thereby giving the dogs something to race for, if they are to catch up to and pass teams sent out ahead of them.

All drivers used the Alaskan sleds which averaged about 15 pounds in weight. These were found to be much better than toboggans as they were lighter and took the trails better.

I have a splendid Husky bitch nine months of age and am going to experiment by lining her to one of Goyne's Shepherd-Malamute dogs. I hope to get a fast bunch from this cross. I had intended lining her to my English Setter but was advised not to by Goyne. The reason being that owing to the timid nature of the English Setteer the pups would inherit this temperament and would not be good sleigh-dogs.

Cruelty to the dogs was eliminated as this meant disqualification.

One splendid feature of the Hudson's Bay Dog Derby is that it has stimulated the desire to raise better dogs in this part of the world and it has shown beyond a doubt that a man can't throw his dogs a few frozen fish irregularly and abuse them, and expect good results. This sort of treatment has been given the Huskies up here for years, previous to the inception of the Derby, but even the natives are learning that a dog must be cared for in at least a half decent sort of way.

The shorter races of five, ten and fifteen miles were run in good time but of course the real racing dogs were away on the big hike. It was generally conceded that Goyne would experience little difficulty in winning any race up to 20 miles.

I don't know whether official results of the big race were published in the Toronto papers or not, but it is very likely they were. However, I will give you the results in case you missed seeing them. Winners and time as follows:—

C. B. Morgan's team, driven by Billy Winterton, first prize, $1200, and Derby Cup for 1921; time, 32 hours, 46 mins. Larry McKay, owner and driver, second prize, $700; time, 32 hours, 51 mins. G. R. Bancroft's team, driven by T. Dupas, third prize, $400; time, 33 hours, 45 mins. Sam Pranteau, owner and driver, fourth prize, $200; time, 40 hours. Goyne finished about twenty-four hours after the winning team, having stopped at Sturgeon Landing on the return lap owing to several of his dogs needing a rest.

One more thing, aside from the Derby. If you can tell me of any other town having a population of 1500 people where so many different breeds of dogs can be found, I would like to know the spot. We have almost all known breeds here, irrespective of their profession. There is talk of forming a small Kennel Club and I think it would be a good idea.

LETTER TO EDITOR.

Dear Mr. Editor: Who is the Montreal Star's correspondent who loves to couple the name of of "Champion Prides Hill Tweakem" with that of the "Ormsby" prefix owned by Jas. F. Strachan of Montreal. The particular phrase the party seems partial to when singing the praises of the Ormsbys is: "beating, among others, 'Ch. Prides Hill Tweakem'"). Away back in May, 1920, this same remark was made following the American Fox Terrier Club Show held at the Rockaway Hunting Club, Long Island, N.Y. Miss M. E. Lewis of England making the awards. I attended that show myself in those days with my own dogs. I took one puppy bitch, and incidentally was the only Montreal owner to actually win a Blue Ribbon. In the class for Open Dogs both "Ch. Prides Hill Tweak Em" and "Ch. Ridgeway Dark Boy" were, to use a doggy expression, given the gate. After these two and I think others had departed there still remained six in the ring. While I will admit that "Tweak Em" did leave the ring ahead of "Dark Boy," I do not think there was any necessity to call the public attention to the fact that "Dark Boy" had defeated "Tweak Em." At the same time, to those who get pleasure from that sort of advertising, it was within the law, but that which appears in the Montreal Star of February 14th is not within the law. It is a false statement. Of course I have no doubt that it is a big error, but there should have been no error because the statement is quite uncalled for any way. "Ormsby Snowball" did not defeat "Champion Prides Hill Tweakem" The only class in which they met was won by "Tweak Em" with "Snowball" placed fourth. The Special for best Fox Terrier, either coat or sex, was won by the smooth dog "Deputy Chief," owned by Thomas Rice Varick, of Manchester, N.H. "Ch. Prides Hill Tweakem" did not compete, owing to an oversight on my part which I have not forgotten yet. "Tweak Em" was only beaten in the particularly high priced imported dogs shown for the first time in this country. There were many good dogs behind him.

Trusting that this will clarify the density of the atmosphere and that honor where honor is due may continue hereafter to be the policy of erratic reporters. Yours very truly, (Sgd.) CHAS. POWLES LAND.

ST. BERNARD SAVES CHICAGO
GROCER FROM BANDITS' BULLETS.

And Incidentally $500 From the Cash Register, Paying the Penalty of His Devotion With His Life.

Leo, a St. Bernard dog, proved the traditional devotion of his breed recently. He laid down his life for his master.

Leonardo Malone was alone with his dog in the little grocery at 602 Taylor Street. Leo, curled up behind the apple barrel, thumped a heavy tail upon the floor and looked up with eyes of dog-like devotion every time Leonardo glanced his way.

Then the bandits entered. There were three of them and they were all armed with pistols.

"Stick 'em up," growled the leader. "Put your hands—"

He got no further. A tawny streak of vengeful fury launched itself at him from the floor.

Startled cries broke from the bandits. The sharp crack of the pistol was muffled in the angry roar of the enraged St. Bernard.

The trio fled. Leo, wounded, still pursued. He would have leaped aboard the bandit automobile had not a veritable storm of bullets dropped him as he crouched to spring.

Leo raised his head as Leonardo bent over him. A hot red tongue caressed the trembling hand. Then, with a whimper like that of a tired child, he died.

WITH THE DIAMONDS.

"Diamond Thornfield Pride" has changed ownership, the sale actually taking place several weeks ago, but an arrangement was made whereby this good dog was to stay at the Diamond kennels until the spring, and we are informed that "Pride's" services were greatly in demand lately.

It looks like further importations now, and we will not be surprised to hear of something good coming to fill the places of "White Squire" and "Thornfield Pride."

Harry "Diamond" Wilson has sold his good Bulldog, "Dundee White Squire," to Charlie Webber of London, Ont., for a cheque in keeping with the known worth of the animal.

"Dundee White Squire" now heads the kennel of our London friend, and as both seller and buyer are satisfied it naturally follows that we may expect to hear more of this dog in the near future.

IS YOUR PREFIX REGISTERED?

There are a great many breeders of dogs to-day using a kennel name that they evidently have overlooked recording, and the result is, that any person who may have a liking for the "word" and sends along an application to the Accountant, Canadian National Live Stock Records, and enclosing the necessary fee ($5.00) invariably gets the prefix claimed, and then there is a howl of indignation immediately heard from the party who liked the word, but did not take the precaution of "claiming" it.

The argument has been advanced that where a man has used a certain word for a certain length of time, he should be protected to the extent of his being advised that "another" is seeking to register the prefix that he has always used, but it will be readily granted, that the argument has nothing at all to recommend it if a man is breeding dogs and registering them and has a prefix or affix that he likes to use in distinguishing his stock from the "other fellow's"; then it is only a business principle that should constrain him to secure the recording of the prefix in the regular way.

There never was a time when fanciers took this matter to their hearts so seriously as the present time, and we advise all breeders not having a recognized Kennel name recorded, to get this important matter attended to without further delay.

Register your prefix now!

"ON THEIR MARKS."

Whippet racing has struck Calgary hard, and there is no more enthusiastic bunch there at this writing than the lads with their little racing dogs.

Jack Donaldson's "Mickey" is enjoying the limelight, and this Whippet has the reputation of being as true as steel on the track, and as game as a bulldog any time, with a movement akin to a streak, and enjoys the distinction of being a son of the noted winner, "Rhoda," and sired by "Erin Torpedo," and a half brother to the western Champion "Alcester Rose."

Mr. Geo. Fowles, Banff, owns another speedy "longtail" in "Rhoderick," by "Erin Torpedo," ex "Alcester Rose," and it is said that there is nothing on four legs to handicap him on the track.

"Jimmy" Young, of "Strathcona" fame, is amongst the boys out there with his old time enthusiasm and his old Ch. "Rhoda" is able to keep the Whippet owners in good sporting spirit all the time.

OUR FRONTISPIECE.

Our Pomeranian and Toy dog breeders will take especial pride in studying the little mite of Pomeranian flesh which adorns our front cover this month.

Ch. Pomeria Princilla.

This much discussed little Pomeranian has a charm all her own, and when on the block before the judge she is quite capable of "pleading her own case," and generally comes through with the verdict "acquitted with honor." It is quite some considerable time also, since we gave the front page to such a "wee mite," but Princilla has earned the distinction for herself on merit, and merit alone, and her appearance there will no doubt give a stimulus to the Pomeranian fancy.

Romping home to a Canadian Championship undefeated, is the chief adornment of her victor's crown, and for good measure her achievements at New York last February will be long remembered and often commented upon. Her shows were not of the one-point variety either, as her first win was at the Canadian National Exhibition, 1920, under Alva Rosenberg, and incidentally half a Championship. Pomeranian Specialty Club, under Mrs. F. Clark, and 2 more points, Toronto Kennel Club Show, under the expert N. K. Swire, Toronto; and two more points, Toronto Kennel Club Spring Show, 1921. Robert McGaughey, judging, and a championship, and something to spare, a different judge every time, and the same verdict always.

Ch. Pomeria Princilla took the measure of every Pomeranian of her sex at Madison Square Gardens, meeting and defeating them all, and including those specially imported for this Show, and the best of it all, when everything has been said and done, is that Princilla is a home-bred with all that, that implies to a fancier to-day. Add to this the fact that the dog is only 16 months' old when you are reading this review, and you must admit her performances to date border on the almost impossible.

A daughter of "Cairndhu Orange Fly" (who is justly famous as a sire, he having sired the winning bitch at New York Show two years in succession) ex Pomeria Beauty. She by "Sherdon Star" ex Pomeria Peggy. Can you wonder at her great quality? "Pomeria Beauty," we believe, is again mated to "Cairndhu Orange Fly," and the owner of Priscilla is hopeful of a dog puppy to tackle the entry at

New York in 1922, and we wish that his hopes may materialize to his satisfaction.

"Dame Rumor" (uncertain as she sometimes can be) has it that a celebrated Black Pom will shortly leave Scotland labelled Pomeria Kennels, Toronto, Canada.

BRITISH COLUMBIA NOTES.

By Bert Finch.

It is to be hoped that the Vancouver crowd of fanciers get over that way of late of passing up Victoria shows, for Victoria is always a booster for here and elsewhere, so try and get your entries in for the 27th of May show and give Chris Shuttleworth a bumper crowd from here.

Doctor Sleeth, Vancouver, has now installed a big X-Ray machine to locate broken bones, wounds, stoppages, etc., in dogs and cats. This laboratory is the most up-to-date, bar none, in Canada. Dr. Sleeth will examine every dog and cat visiting the B.C. Sportsman Show in the Arena, May 20-21.

Sam Crabtree will have very little time to spare after judging the dog show here, May 23-24, to reach Dunedin, New Zealand, his first show there being early in June. Then two other shows in New Zealand after that Australia and S. Africa, three shows there, then home to England, is a record for any canine judge.

The King of Great Britain visited Crufts big dog show in England last month. His two Labrador dogs winning, bred at Sandringham. H. Bland, the King's kennelman was also present.

We often hear of Luke Crabtree and his bulldogs, but one of the best dogs ever owned by Friend Luke was the noted black and white greyhound "Jenny Jones," who competed in the semi-final of the Waterloo Cup in 1892.

The cocker spaniel, Braeside Baroness, owned by Frank Archer, had six lovely puppies, sired by Romans Champion Folly, an orange and white. Braeside Queen has been shipped also to Romans Braeside Folly. Ted Cargill bred his good parti-colored cocker to Ch. Princello, also Mrs. McLeland's cocker female, Princess Royal, has been shipped to Princello also.

THE BOSTON TERRIER.

There is probably no more popular member of the canine race on this vast continent than the trappy little Boston Terrier. The characteristics of this American product may be summed up by saying that he is a loveable companion and pet, and especially adapted for a place in our homes. He is a small, short-haired dog with a very sporty appearance, kind and affectionate, intelligent to a marked degree and should an occasion arise he is quite capable of taking care of himself.

It is about thirty-five years ago since this aristocrat of dogdom was introduced to the public, and during the ensuing period he has grown in popularity to such an extent that he is now known from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Southern States to Northern Canada. Authorities in a position to know claim that he was manufactured by crossing the English Bulldog with the Bull Terrier, while others vouch for the facts that the Pug and French Bulldog have been introduced. In the early days they were known as the Boston Bulls, the name being changed to Boston Terriers in 1893, when the American Kennel Club accepted them as a recognized breed. This name was suggested by the officials of the American Kennel Club, due to the fact that most of the owners and breeders at that time lived in and around Boston. After the recognition by the governing body they come to the front by leaps and bounds, and to-day they are one of the most popular and best-filled classes at almost every show. True, the standard has been changed from time to time, but to-day we have an established variety breeding true to the type that the present-day standard calls for.

Enough literature is at present on the market to show who the pioneers of the breed were and the changes and advancements that have been made since its introduction, so we will confine the remainder of our review to the present-day knowledge of their care and management. Their affectionate dispositions and temperaments are such that they thrive best when kept in the house and the fancier who is breeding them extensively will be well repaid by seeing that they are housed in comfortable and well ventilated kennels. It is a matter of personal choice whether the kennels be plain or ornamental, but the fact must never be overlooked that they need ample space for exercise, as they are naturally an active breed. ## DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS AND SCALE OF POINTS.

Point Values.

- 10 GENERAL APPEARANCE: The general appearance of the Boston Terrier should be that of a lively, highly intelligent, smooth coated, short headed, compactly built, short tailed, well balanced dog of medium station, of brindle color and evenly marked with white.

The head should indicate a high degree of intelligence, and should be in proportion to the size of the dog; the body rather short and well knit, the limbs strong and neatly turned; tail short; and no feature be so prominent that the dog appears badly proportioned.

The dog should convey an impression of determination, strength and activity, with style of a high order; carriage easy and graceful.

A proportionate combination of "Color" and "Ideal Markings" is a particularly distinctive feature of a representative specimen, and a dog with a preponderance of white on body, or without the proper proportion of brindle and white on head, should possess sufficient merit otherwise to counteract its deficiencies in these respects.

The ideal "Boston Terrier Expression" as indicating "a high degree of intelligence" is also an important characteristic of the breed.

"Color and Markings" and "Expression" should be given particular consideration in determining the relative value of "General Appearance" to other points.

- 12 SKULL: Square, flat on top, free from wrinkles; cheeks flat; brow abrupt, stop well defined.

- 5 EYES: Wide apart, large and round, dark in color, expression alert but kind and intelligent. The eyes should set square in the skull, and the outside corners should be on a line with the cheeks as viewed from the front.

- 12 MUZZLE: Short, square, wide and deep, and in proportion to skull; free from wrinkles; shorter in length than in width and depth, not exceeding in length approximately one-third of length of skull; width and depth carried out well to end; the muzzle from stop to end of nose on a line parallel to the top of the skull; nose black and wide, with well defined line between nostrils. The jaws broad and square, with short regular teeth. The chops of good depth but not pendulous, completely covering the teeth when mouth is closed.

- 2 EARS: Carried erect; small and thin; situated as near corners of skull as possible. HEAD FAULTS: Skull "domed" or inclined; furrowed by a medial line; skull too long for breadth, or vice versa; stop too shallow; brow and skull too slanting.

Eyes small or sunken; too prominent; light color or wall eye; showing too much white or haw.

Muzzle wedge shaped or lacking depth; down faced; too much cut out below the eyes; pinched or wide nostrils; butterfly nose; protruding teeth; weak lower jaw; showing "turn up." Ears poorly carried or in size out of proportion to head.

- 3 NECK: Of fair length, slightly arched and carrying the head gracefully; setting neatly into shoulders.

NECK FAULTS: Ewe-necked; throatiness; short and thick.

- 15 BODY: Deep with good width of chest; shoulders sloping; back short; ribs deep and well arched, carried well back to loins; loins short and ters should be provided for whelping bitches, and in the event of difficulties arising during parturition no time should be lost in consulting a veterinary surgeon who makes a specialty in the ailments and diseases of dogs. Do not get into a panic and employ the nearest or any veterinarian to handle such cases, as bitter disappointment invariably result. Otherwise, better notify your veterinarian a few days before your bitch is due to whelp, so that he will be prepared to assist you if necessary. During the period of gestation it is essential that they get a liberal amount of gentle exercise and an occasional dessert-spoonful of olive oil. Assuming that everything has passed off successfully, it is advisable not to disturb the mother and family any more than is absolutely necessary. An examination of the new arrivals should be done as quietly and quickly as possible. It is not uncommon for Bostons to be born with harelips and cleft palates. In such cases it is better to destroy them, as they seldom live and are a nuisance to the mother and remaining family. Should the mother be delicate or have a large litter, or the supply of milk be inadequate it will then be necessary to obtain a foster-mother, otherwise it may necessitate bringing the puppies up on a bottle, which is both tedious and unsatisfactory. When the pups are about four weeks old they should be given a mild vermifuge for worms. A convenient way to administer this is to get the capsules that are prepared for that purpose by reliable firms. Experience has taught us that every pup, whether showing symptoms of worms or not, should be periodically treated for these dangerous pests. Watch your pups to see that they do not become infested with fleas, lice or other parasites, for you cannot raise healthy dogs if they are so infested. See that your young stock is kept growing all the time and never neglect the outdoor exercise when the weather permits.

There are three Boston Terrier Clubs in Canada looking after the welfare of the breed, and we have seen specialty shows where well over 100 Boston Terriers were benched, and report one in this issue. The clubs are the Boston Terrier Club of Canada, the Boston Terrier Club of Western Canada and the Boston Terrier Club of Toronto.

The following is the standard of the breed as adopted by the Boston Terrier Club of America, and which became effective on June 1, 1920, and if you are interested in this trappy little dog we advise that save this standard muscular; rump curving slightly to set-on of tail; flank very slightly cut up. The body should appear short but not chunky.

BODY FAULTS: Flat sides; narrow chest; long or slack loins; roach back; sway back; too much cut up in flank.

4 ELBOWS: Standing neither in nor out.

5 FORELEGS: Set moderately wide apart and on a line with the point of the shoulders; straight in bone and well muscled; pasterns short and strong.

5 HINDLEGS: Set true; bent at stifles; short from hocks to feet; hocks turning neither in nor out; toes well arched.

LEG AND FEET FAULTS: Loose shoulders or elbows; hind legs too straight at stifles; hocks too prominent; long or weak pasterns; splay feet.

5 TAIL: Set-on low; short, fine and tapering; straight or screw; devoid of fringe or coarse hair, and not carried above horizontal.

TAIL FAULTS: A long or gaily carried tail; extremely gnarled or curled against body.

(Note: The preferred tail should not exceed in length approximately half the distance from set-on to hock.)

4 COLOR: Brindle with white markings; brindle must show throughout the body distinctly.

(Ideal Color shall be one in which the brindle coloring is evenly distributed throughout the body.)

10 IDEAL MARKINGS: White muzzle, even white blaze over head, collar, breast, part or whole of forelegs, and hindlegs below hocks.

COLOR AND MARKINGS FAULTS: All white; absence of white markings; preponderance of white on body; without the proper proportion of white on body; without the proper proportion of brindle and white on head; or any variations detracting from the general appearance.

3 COAT: Short, smooth, bright and fine in texture.

COAT FAULTS: Long or coarse; lacking lustre.

100

WEIGHT: Not exceeding 25 pounds, divided by classes as follows:

Lightweight: Under 15 pounds.

Middleweight: 15 and under 20 pounds.

Heavyweight: 20 and not exceeding 25 pounds.

DISQUALIFICATIONS: Black; black and tan; liver, and mouse colors. Dudley nose. Docked tail and any artificial means used to deceive the judge.

MONTREALERS MAKE MERRY.

The Montreal Kennel Association held their first Annual Dinner on Saturday, March 12th, at the Castle Blend Rooms, and upwards of one hundred members and friends sat down to a nicely served, substantial repast.

The table decorations were in keeping with the occasion, statues of dogs, cups and trophies, lent by members, were tastefully displayed, and a photographer being on hand, a capital flashlight photo was taken.

Among those present were Mr. H. L. Thomas, representing the Bull Dog Club, Mr. Robert Mills and Mr. J. H. Holmes of the Maisonneuve Club. President W. E. Baldwin was in the chair, supported by Vice-President A. C. A. Chisholm, who also acted as Toastmaster.

A musical programme of a very high order had been provided for by the Dinner Committee and Messrs. Brady, Hanrahan and Claxton were all in fine voice, while the humorous selections by Messrs. T. Ritchie, A. Hobdell and our versatile Vice-President, A. C. A. Chisholm, were all enjoyed.

The Toast of "Kindred Clubs" was proposed by Hon. President W. R. Aitken and replied to by Mr. H. L. Thomas and Mr. Robert Mills.

Mr. A. C. Chisholm, in a short speech, proposed the health of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin and a beautiful bouquet of roses was presented by Mr. Flanagan to Mr. Baldwin. The President in reply thanked the members for their kind sentiment, and pointed to the splendid financial position of the Club, who have now a bank balance of over $800.

Telegrams from Dr. J. H. Villeneuve and Mr. Chisholm, of Cornwall Kennel Club, who were unable to attend, were read.

A vote of thanks to the committee brought to a close a highly successful dinner.

This Club will hold the Annual C. K. C. Show on 20th and 21st May.

WHAT THE CLUBS ARE DOING

ALBERTA KENNEL CLUB.

Report on Evening Show held March 23rd, in the Victoria Pavilion, Calgary.

(Special to Kennel and Bench.)

By Jack Fletcher.

The first Matinee show of the Alberta Kennel Club, held March 23rd, was an unqualified success viewed from all angles. The Show was held in the spacious, well-lighted Victoria Pavilion in Victoria Park. Although quite a large building the Exhibitors and visitors taxed it to capacity. The dogs were numerous and the quality of a very high order. All breeds were catered for and the turn out was very gratifying to the hard working Executive, who worked as one man. The writer has witnessed many matinee shows in various parts of the country and has no hesitation in pronouncing this fixture quite the best seen for many years. Upwards of one hundred and twenty dogs faced the various judges, two rings were kept in full swing for four hours and at that the ring stewards had to hustle to keep the judges busy, as they were all working at top speed. Their awards were well received both by the exhibitors and ringsiders, who signalled their approval by vigorously applauding.

Mr. H. V. Grainger, well known Boston breeder and judge, placed the awards in this breed. Quite a grand array of this classy breed faced him, but as usual Mr. Gringer placed them as they should go and satisfied the Boston Terrier fans.

The Cocker Spaniel section was very ably handled by Mr. D. Wilson of Gleichen. Mr. Wilson has spent a fairly long life amongst this breed and the most critical could not find a flaw in his judgment, his classes were heavy and the quality good.

Whippets were one of the biggest classes in the show and were judged by the veteran dog fancier, Harry Grant. Harry is no stranger to the judging ring, having officiated at some very large shows in Calgary. He was very painstaking and his awards gave general satisfaction. The balance of the breeds and general specials were judged by Mr. Leonard H. Cooper, who had no easy task, in fact some of the classes would have taxed the ability of some of our most prominent judges. However, Mr. Cooper handled his classes splendidly, he went over each dog carefully nothing seemed to escape his critical eye. Len seemed to possess the happy faculty of pleasing winners and losers alike, and from the applause his awards received from the ringside, it is very evident his placings were correct, for after all the ringsiders are the real critics. The writer would hazard a guess that Mr. Cooper's services will be sought after as all-rounder at some of our larger Canadian Dog Shows.

A word of praise for the Ring Stewards would be in order. Messrs. Payne, Rudolph, Pope, Morgan and Dave Williams, not forgetting the acting secretary, Mr. James Moss, who was ably assisted by Mrs. L. H. Cooper, who rendered yeoman services. This brought to a close one of the most successful Matinee Shows ever staged in Calgary.

The success of this enthusiastic venture augurs well for the possibilities of the larger event, which will undoubtedly materialize some time this summer or early fall, when the possible point rating under Canadian Kennel Club rules, will be attempted, and will likely be attained; in the meantime cast an eye Calgary way.

BULLDOG CLUB OF CANADA.

The Bulldog Club of Canada Specialty Show gives promise of being a real affair. The services of E. L. Boger Philadelphia, have been secured. Mr. Bogar is the President of the Bulldog Club of America, and enjoys the confidence of the fancy over there, and his Montreal engagement is expected to greatly popularize his ability to judge Bulldogs in Canada.

This show takes place on April 16th, and a large entry is expected to follow the offerings of the premium list, backed by the authority and standing of the judge elect.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

This is a new venture, and has at its steering wheel the well known canine writer, Bert Finch, late of Calgary, Alta., and the men behind the guns, are some of the best known sportsmen of the West.

Jack Fletcher, the Calgary "Ace," will judge the entry in the dog section, and it is a well known fact that J. C. is an all-round authority, and his placings will be followed very closely.

Bert Finch the manager has done a powerful propaganda work to make the fixture a success, and his influence has brought Specials by the hundreds to his disposal from all over the English speaking canine world; all of which will be generously offered with no unnecessary strings attached.

LONDON CANINE ASSOCIATION.

On April 28th, "All roads will lead to London," here "Dad" Ward, Toronto, is the all-round judge, and will undoubtedly have a large following, as it is generally conceded that Mr. Ward knows the dog game from A to Z. The co-operation of the combined clubs will receive its first real tryout here, and their "weight" will be a criterion of their strength to help make each Show at least a 2-point affair. Guelph, Brantford and Hamilton are expected to make a combined entry, and every other city is expected to enter up to their last dog. The location is a good one, and travelling is just right, while hotel accommodation is good and plentiful.

TERMINAL CITY KENNEL CLUB.

This old Club at the "end of the road," are plugging ahead in preparation to receive the great "Crabtree" of England and incidentally to show the world that they can stage a fine point show just when they fell like it.

Mr. S. Crabtree has judged at all the important Canine fixtures in Great Britain and on the Continent, and comes to Canada with an International reputation. He has bred many breeds from the majestic Mastiff, down to Toy Spaniels, dogs sporting, and dogs non-sporting. Nat McConnell, the President, is determined that "his year" will be a red letter mark in the Club's history, and is straining every hour towards that very desirable end.

The Bulldog Breeders' Association of Canada have the distinction of being the first Club to bring Mr. Emo Meyers to Toronto, to judge Bulldogs on May 24th. The venue will be the sanitary building known as Community Hall, Carlaw and Danforth Aves., Toronto.

Several novel features will be introduced which will be appreciated. A "buffet" lunch counter under the able charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary, will be open all day, and patrons may rest assured of high class service there.

The premium list will soon be ready and will be found the most attractive ever offered by this live Club, and that is saying an earful.

GUELPH KENNEL CLUB.

This club have selected Jack Waggett, Toronto, to judge all breeds at their forthcoming show, and will depend on their premium list to attract the entry for them. Secretary Molloy says that his Club has left the novice stage and is ready for the Open and Winners' Class. A lot of spade work has been accomplished and the show will have the benefit of the "guarantee" arrangement from London, Brantford and Hamilton, which will justify at least 2 points for Guelph this year.

Cups and special prizes have been collected from every available source and they promise an attraction for every possible breed.

VICTORIA CITY KENNEL CLUB.

The latest advices from this Club gives the impression that all their previous efforts are to be eclipsed by their 1921 summer show.

The reliable Chris Shuttleworth has been selected to don the ermine, and Chris has a reputation at the Coast that draws a larger entry on each recurring appearance on the "wool-sack," and this contention is borne out in the fact, that already hundreds of applications have been received from Seattle, Spokane, Portland and Tacoma, and Secretary Harbord has his machine running smoothly right now. The building is the one at the Exhibition, where the arrangements are considered ideal, and 400 dogs are anticipated to grace the benching at the opening.

FORT GARRY KENNEL CLUB.

Jack Meadows, Oakville, Ont., judge. George Humphries, the Show Secretary for this live Club, says that he is an optimist compared with his executive for this event, and that being so, we believe that the fixture will be of the "rip snorter" order.

The show will be held in the Skating Ring again, and is rather hurried because of the fact that the Fort Garry lads are getting in line for the several fixtures further West, immediately after their own show. The opinion of Mr. Meadows is very much appreciated in the West, and his selections meet with general favor. Fanciers would do well to notice that the entries close on May 1st, post mark.

TELEPHONE CITY KENNEL CLUB.

The Brantford lads are at it again, and enthusiasm is running high for their Show on June 9-10. And the enthusiasm of the fanciers there, coupled with that of the general public,—as demonstrated at the several Parlor shows held in Brantford this winter—lead us to believe that this Summer show will be a "real one." Good dogs are finding their way into the "Telephone" City.

Another Parlor Show was held at "Alick" Paterson's "St. Julien" Hotel, recently, and the dogs to touch the high spots, were: Fred Howie's "Speaker," Best Beagle; Mrs. Mc Kibbon's "Brandywine," Best Toy; J. Plomley's "Becky," Best Dog in Show; Fred Beney's "Little Tony Boy"; F. Nolan's had the best puppy, with a smart, little Beagle. A litter of 5 "Live Wires" have arrived at the Kennel of John Kerr, who claim Ch. "Flornell Rapid Fire" as their daddy, and friend Kerr says they are "hot stuff."

Montreal Kennel Association are doing considerable spade work in connection with their forthcoming Show to be held in May. The judges have been appointed, two of which are local fanciers, viz., Harry Silver, who will take on Boston Terriers, Bull Terriers and all Toys; C. C. Fleurequin will pass the rule over the increasing Belgian Sheep Dog entry, and "Charlie" Treyford the terrier expert of "Conego" fame, will take the balance.

The premium list is being prepared to "force" the largest entry ever benched in Quebec Province, and if you are just a little bit interested, you better write the genial Secretary, J. Todd, 52 Oxford Ave., Montreal, he will look after you quickly.

The Airedale Terrier Club of Canada held an evening show recently that packed the Alhambra Hall to the gills with fanciers and their charges, and netted for the Club a handsome chunk of solid profit, that will come in quite handy as prize money for the larger event under the Canadian Kennel Club rules on May 24th, when Harold Ober of New York will be the judge of our Canadian dogs.

Bert Swann, Humber Bay, judged the major portion of the breeds at the Parlor Show, and probably it was more to this attraction than to any other, that the entry was so large. When Swann handles in front of the other fellow he takes all he can beg, borrow, or steal. But when the "other fellow" handles in front of Swann, he just takes what he gets, he gets what is coming to him, and is satisfied generally in the belief that, that is so.

Airedalers are preparing their dogs for the Specialty Show, and have decided on Harold Ober, New York, as judge for their breed, and as Mr. Ober is an authority, based on his knowledge as owner and breeder, it is safe assumption that every placement will be the result of merit.

If any past or present member, or any interested reader, should desire to receive information for this Show, we advise writing D. R. Williams, cor. Queen and Lee ave., Toronto.

BULLDOG BREEDERS' BALL.

The Bulldog Breeders' Association, can, and have on several occasions shown that they could do things well, but recent happenings prove that they have no monopoly of the brains of that institution. The ladies, or, "the better halves" of the members have shown that for downright organizing ability, they, themselves carry the palm. On March 23rd a Concert, Euchre and Dance was pulled off that bordered on the margin of impossibility.

Mrs. F. R. G. Lacey, wife of the Club Secretary, with the assistance of several dependable henchwomen, conceived the idea of a social for the members, and their families, and 100 was figured as being within the range of possibility. However, the words "and friends" were added to "members and their families," and the result was that over 200 were on hand and proved quite a tax on the arrangements, but the Ladies' Committee met the situation along the most business-like fashion. To feed 100 is one proposition (this not being the season of miracles) and to satisfy the "inner man" of 200 is the same task, 100% aggravated. Yet everyone had enough, and there were the proverbial "basketfuls to spare."

These social functions have caught on in Toronto this season, and as a "get together medium" and a "fellowship" creator have no equal, and a "kicker" here has very little (if any) sympathy shown to him, while as a money maker for Club coffers, they are considered hard to beat. Euchre engaged one-half the total entry, while the "light fantastic" had the balance, and altogether a most enjoyable evening was the result.

The Ladies' Committee on this occasion proved themselves a valuable asset to the Club.

WHIPPET WHEEZES.

(Special to Kennel and Bench.)

(By Whippeter.)

We are glad to report that there is no let up in Whippet affairs. The Toronto Whippet Association held their Annual Meeting on March 4th, and the gathering was composed of the most enthusiastic Whippet fanciers and followers of the sport of Racing Whippets.

Ex-Controller Sam McBride was elected Hon. President, Joseph Russell and John G. Kent, Hon. Vice-Presidents; G. G. Mitchell, President; Arthur Atkinson, Vice-President; A. Lowenstein, Secretary-Treasurer; A. Perry, E. Call, W. Stroud, Executive.

The report of the Secretary on the financial standing of the Club was received with cheers, and the sport of racing will by all indications flourish this season. Mr. Sam McBride is going to include Whippet Handicaps in between the trotting races held by his Club, the Dufferin Driving Club, who will also open their book on Whippets, and that is where the ambition of the followers of this sport will have a chance of showing its sporting proclivities.

Dufferin Track also has been secured for this Club's Annual Derby. The Canadian Whippet Derby, to be held on May 24th, when we will see our best and fastest dogs from this Continent competing, and special endeavors are being made to bring the Boston team here which beat the Canadian dogs in last year's American Whippet Derby. There will be over $200.00 cash and a number of trophies competed for, and this year's event will eclipse anything ever held in Whippet history.

The races will be held in the forenoon, so that the sporting public will be able to attend the Woodbine races later in the day.

Information regarding this Whippet Derby gladly furnished by A. Lowenstein, 994 Dovercourt Road, Toronto, Secretary, Toronto Whippet Association.

We regret to announce the death of "Boxer," the young Whippet dog owned by John F. McGarry, Toronto. The (Duke) said in his letter, "nobody knows how he and his family feels about his loss, and how it affected him." Yes, we know exactly how it feels, and are very sorry indeed.

Mr. A. Lowenstein, Toronto, reports a nice litter of 5 puppies, 4 females and 1 male, by his "Tight Fit" and "Mischief," both imported.

Mrs. J. C. Hadley of Erie, Pa.; J. D. Mitchell of Calgary, Alta.; Jean Moran, Toronto, have secured each one female of the above litter.

W. Gourd, owner of "Whizz Bang," is lying ill with rheumatism in Christie Street Hospital, where he went previous to an operation to be performed through shell wounds received in the Great War.

Whippets at the Easter Show of the Toronto Kennel Club (Robert MacGaughey, New York, judging) turned out in good style.

Winners, dogs: J. King's "Royal Oak." Winners, bitches: A. Lowenstein's "Resolute."

"Resolute" also came second in the Sporting Variety Class which was strongly contested, and won the highest honor in the ring a Whippet ever has been awarded, Best bitch in Show, owned by a member of Toronto Kennel Club.

PAT DOWD

Tells About the Bostons at the Boston Terrier Club of Toronto Show.

Boston, Mass.,

April 1, 1921.

Mr. J. D. Strachan:

Dear Sir,—Regarding your request made to me when I was in Toronto as to the improvement of the Boston Terriers there, since my first visit to Canada five years ago, I would say that I find that there is a wonderful improvement. There were some fine specimens at this show, which I had the honor to be judge of, but there is still room for a big improvement yet.

What I especially did notice was a great many good brood bitches, which is a very valuable asset, and I am sorry to say that I found a large percentage of temporary crippled dogs, which are this way possibly through lack of exercise.

The importation of such dogs as Ch. "Count Dee Cee," Ch. "Paddy D," Ch. "Joyce's Prince," Ch. "Jackson's Dream Girl," Ch. "Little Pete II," Ch. "Dowd's Glory" and others. These dogs have done considerable to improve your breeding and I sincerely hope that present fanciers will import some more good dogs such as these.

A few remarks regarding the Show. I would say that it was a credit to the Canadian breeder. The entry of dogs was as large, if not larger than most of our specialty shows, outside of the Mother Club Show, held annually in Boston. The winners, dog, is an excellent specimen. He has beautiful color and markings and a grand body and tail, but his face is a little down and lacks expression. His front legs are a trifle thick, but he was shown by a handler who could cover up his weak points under 90 per cent. of the judges of to-day. This dog should have no trouble in reaching its Canadian championship.

The winner's bitch is a beautiful little thing. She has everything that a Boston Terrier should have, and is a beautiful shower, although some might think her a little short in face.

Yours truly,

P. E. DOWD.

NOTABLE BULL TERRIER LEAVES CANADA.

"Lionheart," the Central Canada Exhibition winner of 1920, under the English authority, Jack Holgate, has been sold by his breeder, Fred W. Coles, Toronto, to Floyd E. Waite, Secretary to the Governor of the State of Ohio, for a figure said to be well into four figures, and his new owner (the dog was only shipped from Toronto on March 3rd, 1921) has already been gratified with three winners' ribbons in as many starts and under three different judges at the following three shows—Cleveland, Akron and Cincinnati. Vincent Breese, speaking of "Lionheart," says: "Lionheart" is just what, I have been telling the fancy for years, a Bull Terrier should be. He is by no means faultless, but the intensity of type far exceeds his failings. He will win well under judges who know the breed, and, if sufficiently prepotent, should make an even greater name for himself as a stud.

To show his appreciation of Mr. Coles' sportsmanship in releasing "Lionheart" to America, Mr. Waite, the new owner will select from his kennel and ship to Mr. Coles a female by Ch. "Allfire Alive," and we would not be surprised at all to see Fred take hold of this gift and utilize it to the further betterment of the Bull Terrier.

Friends who do not know Mr. Coles will be well advised to associate him with the celebrated kennel of "Miles & Coles," which partnership was broken up in recent years, and there is no more faithful follower of the breed living than the same genial Fred.

Mrs. Riley, Vancouver, the popular owner of the Anzac Kennels, mated her good dog Bulldog, female, to J. Jackson's good young dog, Kingsway Squire.

THE GLEE CLUB.

Speed, the hound, thought he had a good voice for singing, and so called the other dogs together. "Let's form a glee club," said he. "I know you all haven't as good voices as mine, but with my baritone our club is bound to be popular."

"I sing tenor," spoke up Rags, the airedale.

"And I sing soprano," chimed in Florrie, the fox-terrier.

"Mine is a deep bass voice," the English bulldog, Tommy, thundered in his gruff voice.

"I have a nice voice, but I don't know what it is. My training has been neglected," piped Sammy the poodle.

"Well, we'll have a try-out," Speed announced. "Now, then, Rags, tune up your tenor."

Rags struck a note and held it.

"Well done," said Speed. "Now Tommy, your turn."

The bulldog took a long breath, then bellowed forth a deep note.

"Your turn, Florrie," Speed was hurrying things over for he feared his own reputation was at stake.

The little fox-terrier stepped daintily forward. She raised her head, opened her mouth and then the longest and highest note of all fled from her lips. How the other dogs applauded. She was their star soloist, they felt sure.

"Now, Sammy," Speed spoke grimly.

"Ya, ya, ya, ya!" shrilled the poodle.

"Oh, oh, oh!" the other dogs groaned. "Put him out! Shut him up! Oh me, oh my, what a terrible voice!"

"We must try a song together," Speed announced, as soon as his voice could be heard above the din. The poodle won't sing in the club. Let's try 'What a Jubilee There'll Be When the Dog Catcher Goes to Sea.' Now then, altogether."

It was a popular song and the singers started in with a vim. High and shrill, loud and low, shaky and squeaky, the dogs made a dreadful din. Every dog tried to be heard above the others.

"Fine!" applauded Speed, but before he could add another remark, there was an interruption. Up went a window above their heads, then down came a shower of water. "Scat!" cried the angry voice of the man who had spilled a pail of water over them. "Get out of here!"

But his last warning was not needed. With the first ducking every dog had fled. Needless to say, the Glee Club never met again.

How Fido Lost His Tail.

The dogs had formed a club. Every little dog in the neighborhood belonged except one—and that one was Fido. Why do you suppose they wouldn't have him? You will never guess. Because his tail had never been cut.

Alas for Fido! When he was a puppy a kind mistress had refused to have him suffer the tortures of losing his tail, so he had gone through the world a long-tailed fox-terrier.

"Why can't I belong to the club?" Fido asked, when he begged admittance. "Your president has a long tail—a tail much longer than mine."

"And so he should have," Beans, the Boston, had answered hotly. "Our president is a distinguished setter dog, and a setter's tail should be long. But a long-tailed fox terrier, pooh!" and Beans stopped with this sneer of contempt. It was too silly for words, he thought.

It was unfortunate to be misshaped, and Fido felt the pain of it.

"Why don't you go to the hospital and get your tail cut off?" asked Foch, the Police Dog. Foch was a returned soldier dog. He had served with the Red Cross in France. "I saw all kinds of operations over there," he told them.

That set Fido thinking. Why shouldn't he try the hospital? That afternoon he set out for the big building near the river. Luckily someone had left the big door open, so boldly he walked in. There was a sickly smell about the place that made Fido wish he had stayed home. Bravely he started up to the desk.

"Bow, woof, row, growl?" he said, which is dog for "Please, where is the doctor?" The nurse at the desk looked up.

"What a nice dog," she smiled. "How did you get in?"

Fido tried to tell her he had come to get his tail taken off, but of course she did not understand. Just then one of the doctors came along.

"A nice dog, but he should have had his tail cut off when he was a pup," he told the nurse. The doctor's remark brought hope to Fido's heart. Joyfully he jumped about, trying his best to tell them what he had come for.

"What a funny dog," laughed the nurse.

"Alas, poor Fido! In his excitement and trying to make them understand, he forgot where he was, and started to bark at the top of his voice.

"Here, this will never do," cried the doctor, his thoughts with the sick people who might be disturbed by the noise, and straightway he drove Fido from the building.

What a sad Fido he was when he got on the street. How he wished he could die right there.

"Gong, gong!" In his sorrow he did not hear the street car coming. There! He jumped just as it was upon him. But too late! Under the wheels he went. How Fido did shriek with pain. The car stopped and people ran from everywhere. The doctor was on his way out when the accident happened, and he ran to Fido, too.

"Why he has had his tail cut off. There's not another injury," the doctor announced. "I will bandage him up and he will be as well as ever in a short time."

What joyful news that was to Fido. His tail was hurting something awful, but he did not care. He was no longer a long-tailed fox-terrier.

CANADIAN DOGS TO THE FRONT AT CLEVELAND.

A. V. Webley's Champion Russian Wolfhounds again distinguished themselves in fast company at the Dog Show held in Cleveland recently. Champion "Krilenko" captured First Novice, First Limit, First American Bred, First Open, and Winners. Champion "Krassai" captured First Open, and Reserve Winners, also two Specials. There were twelve hounds in the Show, all of the highest quality.

SHORT BARKS.

James McMahon, Halifax, N.S., has purchased from Joe Guarnera, Winnipeg, the Toronto Kennel Club (Fall) winning Collie bitch, "Imera Whyzetta II," and intends fostering the interests of the Collie in that city.

H. G. Mason recently bred his best bitch to Ch. "Count Dee Cee," and now reports a litter of five, all good ones, but one particularly so, that will be kept for the benefit of the kennel.

DOGS OF THE NORTH

Special Contributed to Kennel and Bench.

By H. G. JEFFREY, Westboro, Ont.

Jack London's "White Fang," in the "Call of the Wild," had quite a vogue, and is remembered as one of the "real" dogs of fiction. It was always supposed that the author's account of the life led by those wonderful sleigh dogs of the frozen North was a true one, written from first-hand knowledge.

A wild life, a hard life, a life almost entirely bereft of all the little tendernesses we fanciers associate with the animals of all others we love the most.

"White Fang" was not quite friendless, but he was scarcely beloved. Certainly he was no fond mistress' darling; the life he led was of the hardest, the life, that is, as pictured by the author. And we all of us thought it true, the more so because of certain less picturesque accounts of the dog teams of the North, written by prosaic folk who are not concerned at all with canine psychology. There is, for instance, an interesting chapter on these dogs in Cassel's standard work. In it some interesting facts are given. From it one learns that over seven hundred miles have been covered by a dog team at an average of just under fifty miles a day, and that on one occasion when life was in danger, two Eskimo natives, with a double team of forty dogs and a sleigh on "iced" runners, "did" ten miles in 22½ minutes.

One wonders, naturally, how dogs, which can perform such work as this, are treated. "They are irregular in their feeding and are content if they get a good meal twice a week, and for the lack of better food they will devour almost anything from a chunk of wood to a coil of tar rope, their own harness or a greasy pair of trousers."

But this picture must not be taken too literally, for the best workers are fed when things go right.

"Their food consists of dried and fresh fish, dried and fresh meat, blubber, pemmican and imported dog biscuit, according to the yield of the country."

Their whole life is not spent in captivity, hard as their work is at times, for in the summer the dogs are turned loose, and go off by themselves in packs, but before the winter comes on they return to their old masters, usually accompanied by puppies. And this, too, is interesting, though one would like fuller confirmation of the statement:—In Greenland a marriage between two of the Esquimaux breed is binding for life, and any interference with the sanctity of the marriage results in a fight to the death. It is a different picture a writer to the daily press gave recently, and though it may be true enough, it will puzzle Jack London's readers.

"Elaborate precautions are taken to ensure the comfort of these wonderful dogs. Blankets, green veils to relieve their eyes when the sun shines brilliantly, flannel moccasins to protect their feet from the sharp ice, occasional rubbings down with alcohol. These may indicate the care and attention devoted to the plucky canine teams."

It may be true, and yet we wonder what "White Fang" would have said about it. "Poor Fang, with his feet wrapped in flannel, a green veil over his eyes!" Enough to make even "Fang" forget the "Call of the Wild." No wonder dogs so cared for can do their 120 miles a day—120 miles!

And now, Mr. Editor, the pith of this is culled from an Old Country paper, but is interesting enough to repeat and may be the means of drawing an article from some authority up North, and I would really not be surprised to find a stray copy of Kennel and Bench north of 53°. Yours respectfully,

SHORT BARKS.

Mrs. S. Gullick, Toronto, announces that her good Pekingese matron, "Musa," who won the cup for the "best red" at Toronto Kennel Club Show recently, is showing heavy in whelp to Ch. "Walnut Mannikin," and that she anticipates exceptional results from this mating.

Charlie Clarke, Toronto, reports his good English Bulldog bitch being heavy in whelp to Harry Wilson's "Dundee Knight," and looks forward to the whelping date with more than usual interest.

Same owner has disposed of his puppy, "Jellicoe Queen," the little bitch that started her ring career at the Toronto evening shows, when only six weeks old, and came out to them all, and always in the prize list. H. Williams, Toronto, was the buyer.

If you're asked to say anything for the 'good of the order,' don't say it, it might do good, but later, shout to everybody how you would do things.

"Don't do anything more than you can help doing, it might hurt you; and when the other chaps do their darndest to help the owl chariot along, you howl like the devil that the whole show is run by a clique.

"Don't pay your dues, let them come after you for 'em. The exercise will do 'em good, and show you are a good sport and a gentleman.

"Don't try to get any new members, that's too much like real help. Sit aisy an' let George do that."

"By crackie, Mickey, I'll hae tae think ower that speech for a wee while. You're an awfu' man, tae rub it in like that. So ye are; so you are."

A bunch of juicy bones were now produced and wholesome chewing was in order, then a pail of water was introduced and put the finishing touches to the repast, which was voted both scrumptious and satisfying.

The chairman said he would tell them a story: "One day, while out for my constitutional," he said, "the mistress was viewing the grandeur of Eaton's displays, while I was viewing the street scenery to my heart's content, and I espied an old gent, who evidently was quite absorbed in himself, not seeming to notice anyone particularly. So I walked over to him and put my hind leg up on his ankle, and that seemed to wake him up, for he kicked out at me, and shouted: 'Go on—go on out of here, you mangy Mutt!' So the mistress, hearing the argument, said in her sweetest way: 'Oh, please, sir, don't get rattled at little Mannie. He wouldn't bite you, I'm sure he wouldn't. Would you, Mannie?' And before I had time to answer in the affirmative, the old gent said: 'Oh, holy smoke, missus, I wasn't scared of the rascal biting me; but the way he lifted his leg, it looked as if maybe he wanted to kick me. Ha! Ha! Ha!'"

This story tickled the whole party, but particularly the committee who, like Sandy, nearly burst their sides laughing.

The kicking element ejected, the party who had been found worthy grew in numbers and showed by their precept and example that there was only one way to success and that way—to break the hammer and to throw away the handle, to drop the "knock" out of "knocker," and when the pups meet for their next party, every whelp will be eligible. At least that's what they say themselves.

AT THE PUPS PARTY

By the Old Dog Himself.

They were a bunch of happy-go-lucky puppies, with never a care in the whole wide world. Their owners, always indulgent, were willing that they should have a party all their own. So the S.O.S. (Sons of Scotland) sign was sent out broadcast by two Scotch Collies and very soon every pup in the countryside was yapping about the party that the pups were going to pull off on the following Sunday for, like everything sensible, they considered that "the better the day, the better the deed," and so, Sunday it had to be. Besides, would not the masters all be attending at the Kirk on that day?

Many would be called, and few would be chosen, was the motto decided upon, and as the news of the party spread with wildfire rapidity, and every pup claiming an hour this side of twelve months old, had decided to be present—but they had reckoned without their hosts. A committee of five (four Fox Terriers and a Peke), were appointed to scrutinize the credentials of all the puppies claiming the right to be invited, with instructions that the applications of all growlers, crabs and kickers had to be ignored.

The very first one to seek an invitation was "Mike," an Irish Terrier, about a year old, and he was promptly referred to the committee of five, who received him very courteously.

"Bejabers, boys, but it's going to be at the party for mine on Sunday night and I'll dance ye an Irish jig, sing ye, 'The Stone Outside Dan Murphy's Door,' 'n'everything." And the committee put little Mike's name on the book.

Then in came "Barney" and "Bridget," pups out of the same litter. Bridget had a bone in her mouth and her tail in the air, and Barney, his ear slit and bleeding, looked as if he had fared badly in a "Kilkenny Cat" scrap. "By my sowl, I'll have that bone yet," says Barney, and there they were at it again, and "chewin' the bone" had "chewin' the rag" skinned every way.

"Where did you get that bone?"

"It's none of your bizness."

"G-r-r-r!" and the committee waited no longer, but threw the disturbers out into the street.

Then in slipped a Scottish Terrier. "It's braw weather we're havin' the noo, eh? Can I come tae the pups' spree on Sawbath nicht? I hae a bit lassie I'd like tae fetch wi' me—they ca' her 'Betty Smith.' She's o' guld kith an' kin. We'el sing 'Jeanie's Black Ee,' an' recite ye 'The Collie's Setterdy Nicht.'" The committee asked "Sandy" to hold his peace and wrote two more names on the book.

"G-r-r, G-r-r-r, G-r-r-r-r!" and in rushed a Pomeranian. "G-r-r-r! Where is the guy with the tickets? I'll tell him a thing or two. I want tickets for the wife and family—never mind me. I'll fight my way in and fight my way out again." The chairman looked serious, and with one swift kick the squealer was thrown out bodily, and as he slunk away, was heard to exclaim: "There's no use trying to lord it over that bunch." And Sandy says: "I'm burstin' ma sides lauchin' at his impudence." And so the process of elimination was carried on until a harmonious element was selected and work in earnest was begun, and on the Sunday afternoon the pups' party was well in hand.

On the platform was "Cha," the Peke, with his four henchmen, Pete, Spot, Nell and Snap, and it was early apparent that the choice of an executive was a happy one. The party sang lustily in chorus:—

"The Maple Leaves are good to see,
The Maple Leaves for ever!

The shade they make is cool an' free,

So let them spread for ever!"

And Mike said: "Sure that's right.

Every time I look a Maple Leaf in the eye, I just imagine it to be an overgrown Shamrock, an' me heart goes back to Tyrone, among the green bushes, in a minit—"

"Aw, haud yer tongue, Mickey, an' stop yer bletherin'. You're faur ower too sentimental. Ye'll mak' me greet if ye dinna' shut up. Tell us somethin' that'll be for the guid o' the pairty, if ye're gaun tae say ocht ava."

"Now, Sandy, by the holy piper that played before Moses, I don't know what to say that would help the owld pups' party any, but I could tell ye how to kill wan, an' here it is:—

"Don't go to the meetin's.

"If you do go, go at closin' time, an' meet the other fellows goin' home, and let on ye feel sore about somethin'.

"If the weather is not to your taste, why, sure, stay at home; it'll make them good an' mad.

"If you do go, find fault wid everybody an' raise blazes wid the officers and the members generally.

"Never take on a job yersilf. You'll find it aisier to raise a rumpus about how the other fellow does the work.

"If you are not picked out to be the boss, raise the devil, but if ye are picked out, don't go near the bunch; it'll serve them right.

THE COMMITTEE OF FIVE.

SHORT BARKS.

Andrew Buchanan, Toronto, is a "cannie Scot wi' an e'e for a guid Scottie," and has imported "Elwyn Cheil" through Provost J. C. Dalgleish of Galashiels, Scotland, an authority on every canine subject in the "land o' cakes." The new dog is 17 months old and built like a cannon and makes a welcome addition to the Stud Scotties in Canada.

James B. Syme, the energetic Secretary of the Collie Club of Canada, since the signing of the armistice, has raised his fifth litter of Collies, 43 in all. Eight of this number he has raised to maturity and signifies his intention of merely noticing this achievement as a start, and says that before the end of the year he will own one of the largest, if not actually the largest, Collie kennels in the country.

Mrs. M. Redway, Toronto, has shown her faith in the siring qualities of her stud dog "Sunni of Somme," by purchasing from A. L. Colquhoun, the lovely red Chin Chin Chow, who kept close in the wake of the prize takers at the Toronto Kennel Club Show.

The youngster is very cobby, with a grand headpiece and an extra heavy coat, and one year old. Our readers are referred to the inside front cover of this issue for all stud particulars of the new dog.

"Princess Pat," A. W. Talby's good English Bulldog bitch, is nursing a corking good litter of little "sour mugs," nine in all (five males), sired by the great producer, "Irish Challenger." A few of this litter will be retained to assist in putting St. Thomas further on the Canadian dog map.

T. Donald, Winnipeg, reports a litter of 6 Tri-color Collies (Rough) from his well bred bitch, "Lady Madina," by "Sterling Sambo." This is a "Laund" bred litter, and shows exceptional promise.

Mrs. C. M. Castle, Ganges, B.C., reports a litter of four Peke puppies, as like as four peas in a pod, from her good matron, "Yum Yum," sired by her own dog "Shantung of Wangea."

J. Thomson of Fairbanks-Morse Co., good fawn Bulldog, visited Dr. Moody's good specimen, Vesey Vice-roy, this week.

"KENNEL AND BENCH" BRINGS THE BUSINESS TO MONT-

REAL FANCIERS.

My advertisement in your "Kennel and Bench" was so effective that I have had so many enquiries for puppies and grown dogs that I am not near able to meet the demand. These enquiries have come from Victoria to Halifax, from every State in the American Union, even as far away as Texas, and I'm afraid that if I advertised constantly in your paper, I could not breed enough in two years as would meet the demand of as many months, and if I had over 200 puppies I could sell every one right now. Honestly, I am smothered with orders, and, as I said before, if I advertised with you continuously I would require a secretary to attend all the correspondence.

I surely wish you every possible success. I remain, yours truly, and we know that they tell the truth, because our other correspondence substantiates their statements. Here are a couple of cases in point:

JAMES F. STRACHAN.

Dear Mr. Editor:

The paragraph in your "Short Bark" column sold all the puppies (5) and as I feel that the "little" notice was tantamount to a "big" advertisement, enclosed you will find $5.00, which amount I consider I owe you. "Kennel and Bench" reaches all the parties likely to be interested, I tell you.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I am pleased to inform you that I got great results from my little advertisement in "Kennel and Bench." Some of the stock was shipped to Toronto. Can you imagine Longueuil supplying the "Holy City?" I feel quite proud about it.

Moral: Send in your advertising work, and keep right on sending it. The results will be mutual.

"East or West, it's all the same,
The advertisers know it's true;
If you are out to play the game,
Kennel and Bench will win for you."

CINCINNATI KENNEL CLUB'S ANNUAL DOG SHOW.

(Special to Kennel and Bench.)

The Second Annual Dog Show, held under the auspices of the above-mentioned club, will go down in history as one of the best staged shows ever seen in the middle-west of America. Amongst the many reasons for the remarkable success of this event are the facts that the officials are thorough sportsmen and their hospitality knows no bounds, and every official seemed to be especially fitted for the tasks allotted to him.

The building in which the show was held is an ideal one in every respect—clean and sanitary, well lighted with ample room; the judging ring was clean and spacious, thus permitting the exhibits to be seen to fine advantage.

There was over 500 dogs benched. Setters, Pointers and Spaniels were well represented; Bulldogs, Collies, Beagles and Shepherd Dogs were also very prominent; Airedales topped the lot for numbers; Toys were none too plentiful. One of the noteworthy incidents in connection with this event was the Pug section, seventeen of this quaint variety being exhibited, and had many admirers. Our Canadian all-rounder, Norman K. Swire of Toronto, adjudicated over the majority of the breeds and General Spaniels. His cool and careful manner, combined with his knowledge of all varieties, evidently has placed him in the front lines of our present-day judges.

The plaudits from the vast crowds round the ring-side bore testimony to his decisions being popular. The judging for the Special Best in Show, which took place on the evening of the third day, made a fitting wind-up to this successful show. Over 250 cups and trophies were displayed in the ring when the 30 winners of the various varieties marched in to compete for the President's Cup (a splendid trophy measuring nearly three feet high). It was a wonderful sight to see the canine talent and trophies. Mr. Swire went over every dog carefully before arriving at a decision, and finally handed the coveted trophy to the wonderful bull bitch, Ch. "Strathway White Light," owned by the well-known Warleigh Kennels of Indianapolis, Indiana.

Another good litter of wires (4) by "Parkton Collar Bone," are reported by Wainright & Duckworth, who also brought out a storming "Frenchie"

A TRIP TO THE WEST

And Return to the East—By the Editor

The trip has been a long one, so it seems to me, and the "big four" have resolved that never before in all their lives have they seen so much of sameness at a stretch, days running into nights, and then reversing themselves, and it is forest, river and lake continuously, and now we are on the qui vive (whatever that means) for the change that is now unravelling. We are now in Manitoba, and we trust it is not so extensive as Ontario, because we have a deal further to go yet before we strike Saskatchewan. We don't really know what the correct time is, as we hear of past and future changes for the timepiece, but we never stuck yet, and they say Winnipeg is drawing near (so well it may) it is night again (the third). At last we really stand at the door of the great Mecca of the West—Winnipeg. We think of Sam C. Taylor, George Kynoch, Alick MacKidd, Jake Holman, Pete Ross, and a host of others, and we go out on the great wide clean street there, and while we don't meet a soul we know, we admit they are all well off and greatly privileged to live in such a beautiful big open city like Winnipeg, but we must needs get back to the train again. A different train this, but just as comfortable. Dr. Swire has been thinking of our health and has on board a veritable fruiterer's store which we greedily sample, and award him 1st for oranges, 2nd for bananas, 3rd for plums, and special for thoughtfulness.

So feeling satisfied with the world, the sandman had but little difficulty in spiriting the vagabonds into his great domain of slumberland. Even the "cullud portah" yawned, stretched and finally yielded, and, like the rest of us, passed into the "land of Nod." Sleep is no respecter of persons, and one by one the human family toddle off to their daily unconsciousness.

Now what has happened? We wake up and find the train at a standstill and broad daylight, so off to the conductor again, for the whys and wherefores of the delay. Cyclonic rainstorms, lots of damage, circus train ahead derailed and a chapter of disaster generally. Our Western brethren had been praying for the rain, and they had their prayers answered by a deluge, and we were sorry to learn of their plight, but remembered that "The Lord works in a mysterious way," so did not question any further. But, oh my! the transformation. Nowhere as far as the eye can discern is there a tree to be seen, not even a bush of any kind. Everywhere the never-ending prairies, the western plains, and on a clear day like this—I should imagine—twenty miles or more could be plainly seen. Elevators in groups of three or four are now passed at every town along the line and we realize for the first time clearly the meaning of the phrase, "The Nation's Bread Basket." The homes are low and generally of frame structure. We think of the cyclone and ask no further questions. The schools, too. How small in size, but no doubt large in spirit. There the old Union Jack fluttering to the breeze. The cosmopolitan people of the prairies have their hearts in the right place, and are undoubtedly true patriots. Time has changed again. What time is it now, anyway? Regina. Yes, sir, there it is. R-E-G-I-N-A, and on the siding stands a great car bearing the legend, "48TH HIGHLANDER BAND, TORONTO," and there the brawny Kilties, with a bevy of Regina's most handsome ladies, chattering in a free and easy way, which suggests to us "and your people shall be my people," etc. Here we are then, and in Regina. Swann and Redway have their dogs to mind, while Norman and your humble scribe takes notice. Where is Newman? Where is Herb? Where is the gang? Where?

Let's call some of them on the 'phone. What is this? Telephone—but no one says number, please, and so we are for the moment nonplussed, then a good Samaritan (you'll find them everywhere) suggested that there was no "central." That everyone was their own "operator," and right here we hand the palm to Western Canada for its superior telephonic service. Theirs is what we may style a self-service system, by which I mean that in Western cities one party speaks directly with another, there being no "Central." Instead of calling Central, you simply manipulate a revolving disc, according to the number required, and in a moment you are talking to your party. The party we called was Archie Semple, and this is what was said:

"Hello! Mr. Semple?" "Yes, who's speaking? Jimmie Strachan. Oh, aye. Jimmie, hoo's a' wi' ye? Fine, thank ye." Norman Swire and I are at the depot, and have been trying to locate Jack Newman or Herb Clements. Well you don't need to try any longer. They have both gone out to the country, and will be back at six o'clock, but come on up here. So up we went, and upon our arrival found "Erchie" there in true and ancient form and according to Hoyle, dispensing the information gathered by experience, to a novice—it was "castor oil, buckthorn an' something else." Archie has a nice home, a nice wife, a nice table, a cool cellar, a nice kennel which, when sum totalled, spells real, genuine, solid satisfaction or its equivalent—life's worth while in this old world after all—East or West. So we visited the parlor, the sample-room, the dining-room—the sample-room, the smoking-room, the sample-room, the kennel, the sample-room, and so on, and so forth, until Mrs. Semple imparted the information that "Johnnie" and "Herb" had arrived. Jack, we already had the good fortune to know, and Herb, we shall never forget, and so our first impressions of our Western brethren and sistern, too, were of the very happiest kind, and we were sorry we were not again able to spend a visit with Archie and Mrs. Semple of "Cactus" fame, before we left Regina. Into Herb's "Flying Scotchman" we went, and off to Herb's castle we were merrily whirled. Here we met a "brace" of hostesses that would bring cheer to the heart of a man from Timbuctoo. They were Miss Del Whitem and her sister, Mrs. Herb Clements, and your scribe would not be surprised if they were altogether responsible for Herb's million-dollar-smile. Herb smiles when the sun of fortune shines, and he smiles equally serenely when anything else shines. Here we met Mrs. Jack Newman, and her three embryo dog fanciers, three pretty little girlies that we loved from the first. T. Kay Mackenzie and the one and only Billy Village, and, Oh Boy! if we did not prove the truism that the "better day, the better deed," I'll eat your hat. So, on the first day we made several important discoveries, chief of which was that Saskatchewan was not as dry as a desert, that Mrs. Herb Clements was a soprano vocalist, with grand opera qualifications, that Miss Del Whitem was a pianist on a par with her amiable sister, that Jack Newman was a baritone vocalist with a register of great compass and a voice and enunciation as clear as a crystal, and, last but not least, that Billy Village had his worship, Sir Harry, clean backed off the map for song and story, while the sayings of T. Kay Mackenzie were a benediction to the ears of an erstwhile Scotchman—the end of a perfect day.

Monday, and a veritable reunion of old friends, and making lots of new ones, and I must give pride of place to Hugh Leslie, Winnipeg. Hughie fought in France, and many a story has he to tell that makes "Old Bill" and the "Better 'Ole" look like third-rate stuff. No matter what the other attractions were, here was always an ear for Hughie's contribution to the programme. Evan Gravel of Vancouver, who was a problem to us at first, but oh, how soon we learned to love the lanky lad from the Coast, always ready to sing, to smile or to relate a story or listen to the other fellow's part, and E. P. Tuson from Lethbridge, with a working appearance and a "wad" as thick around as my thigh, and we give E. P. the palm for being a dyed-in-the-wool-dog-fancier, the irrepressible little man from Alberta can buy a dog, sell a dog, and show a dog; he can win and he can lose equally well, and pays like a Prince, and rises with the lark in the morning—sometimes he gets up before he lies down. George Kynoch and Jack Fletcher are on hand, and it is well to mention those two in the one breath, both men are hard working handlers and know their charges as you good readers know your "Kennel and Bench," and they are always ready for a lark on the least provocation. Kynoch always looks 100 per cent. fit, and we were glad to notice that J. C. never looked so well in his life—at least not in the last ten years. Sam Jackson, Sam C. Taylor, "Pete Ross—our C. K. C. Director for Manitoba last year—and their meetings and greetings augur well for the future welfare of the Canadian dog game.

Winnipeg Ave., Winnipeg, Typifies the Spaciousness of the West.

So away we went to meet the source of our invitation, Charlie Keating, the up-to-the-minute Secretary of the Regina Kennel Club, and our meeting was not long delayed and without once noticing that we were now meeting each other for the first time, away we went like two brothers—and en route we met another “Charlie”—this time it was Charlie Watson, Regina Kennel Club’s ruling President, and, after introductions, this dialogue took place: “Where are you two going?” “I’m taking Jimmie to get a Coca-Kola”—an, oh, it was honeyed words we listened to next. “Coka-Cola be d—, is that the best you can get for a visitor?” and catching on to a “high-ball sign,” we followed without question, and real beer on a sweltering day in a Western city is not a commodity to be carelessly sneezed at. And so night comes again, and we go to Herb’s headquarters. This time the party is augmented by P. Redway and Bert Swann, both of Toronto. Swann has been everywhere and has met everybody—that’s his job; so we leave him with an easy mind, knowing full well that he will have a full measure of all the “fun of the fair,” but with Redway it is different. Poor chap, he has had a hard row to hoe. A serious operation has been successfully overcome, while his good wife’s health has been indifferent for quite a while. He is on the road with his first dogs, and of course is a novice to all the branches of the game, and we are anxious that he will be favorably impressed in his new surroundings and with his new friends, and we literally rejoice when we hear him make the declaration, “I have never enjoyed myself so well in all my life.” Herb puts the “White Horse” in the stable and introduces a Scotchman to the company by the name of “Peter Dawson,” and Peter is well received from the start. Another good sport is introduced, and is a perfect hercules in build. He is none other than Jim O’Phelan, sporting editor of the “Regina Leader,” and a good friend to the dog game in his city, but it is not only as an editor that Jim shines, but when he favors the company with the masterpiece, “Casey at the Bat,” and incidentally brings the house down on Peter Dawson, his friends and himself. Latent talent is being unearthed on all sides. Evan Gravell has discovered material for a “male voice choir,” and soon we are tuning up our vocal chords previous to tackling “The Wee Hoose ‘Mang the Heather,” truly when conviviality reigns, the human family soon becomes “A’ Jock Tamson’s Bairns.”

Herb takes us back to the hotel in time for breakfast and a clean collar.

Tuesday and the great opening of the old Dog Show. Another good Samaritan has volunteered to help ensure our pleasure. This time it is Ed. Sterns, of the “Lilac” Kennels, and he places his big powerful car at our disposal, to be used in sunlight and starlight, and we used Ed’s car in both, and can testify to its dependable qualities under all circumstances. The Show is open and the dogs are passing in review before Evan, who looks just a trifle nervous. It is his first appointment to judge a show under Canadian Kennel Club rules, but he instantly steadies himself and is master of the work lying to hand, and we are immediately impressed at the knowing, matter-of-fact manner in which he handles his classes, and a well-filled class of Sporting Setters, getting the “once over” from a Sporting Dog Specialist, is worth going a long way to see, and right here we feel thankful to the Regina Kennel Club for their thoughtful kindness in inviting us to be their guests for this good show, and good show is just correct here, because between the Secretary, Charles Keating, and the Superintendent, Jack Newman, who work their respective parts according to Hoyle, their show is a perfectly smooth-running machine. The day is over, the winners and losers look alike, and no soreness is on their apparent horizon, but that’s another story. Charlie Watson has mentioned—confidentially, of course—that over at his house there are eats to be eaten, smokes to be smoken, and drinks to be drunken, with encore numbers if necessary, and then some. So we depart in peace and in anticipation to Charlie’s domicile, and, after formal introductions to his beautiful better-half and having been given the freedom of the home, we settled down again for song and story, with Charlie Watson himself first on the programme with “John Anderson, my Joe John, an’ doe ye min’ the day?” and, after Charlie was through, it was generally conceded that it would be easier for “John Anderson” to forget the day than it would be for Charlie’s friends to forget the singer, the song and the night. T. Kay Mackenzie and Billy Village were in rare form and scored high for Winnipeg on this occasion. The entries all looked alike in the ring at this free-and-easy, but when “point judging” was resorted to Western Canada scored 85 out of the possible 100. It is quite true that Swann, Swire, Strachan and Redway did their best, but the Western talent completely blanketed their best efforts. We tried an eleventh-hour rally, but we were beaten to a showdown, and lost. Mrs. Watson, our hostess, must be a wizard at gauging the appetites of hungry dog lovers, because we consumed everything in sight down to the narrowest margin. Our tribute to the good things prepared for us. Evan Gravell’s male voice choir again was asked (by special request) to sing “The Wee Hoose Amang the Heather,” which they did with telling effect. Norman Swire sang “The Anchor’s Weighed,” and, as an encore, the pathetic old ballad “Just a Wee Deoch an’ Doris.” Herb Clement’s “McLaughlan Six” hummed the chorus, and away we went to the “Clayton Hotel” in time for breakfast and the morning paper, but everybody happy.

Wednesday—how the time does fly. Off we go to Herb’s establishment. We read “vulcanizing” over the door. We speak it under our breath, then say it aloud, and that’s just as good a test as being able to say “It’s a braw bricht munelicht nicht the nicht,” and “yer a’ richt,” etc., and there goes Herb and his smile, here, there, everywhere, this being done, that being done, fires, tires, steam, rubber and smiles, no wonder the “Clements” firm is a winner every time they open their door, but the show will soon be going again. This time the Toronto marvel, N. K. Swire, is to be working, and now he is at his task. In they come, class after class, the gallery is well filled with interested spectators, but none of them any more interested than the King of Regina Dogdom, Norman MacKenzie, K.C. There he is in the crowd there, and he takes the same seat every session that the judging is going on and follows every movement with evident pleasure and close interest, and we are greatly impressed with this thought, Can a man of Mr. MacKenzie’s social standing really find pleasure in doggie associations and amongst its associates? We can hardly arrive at a definite conclusion, when the genial “Mac” himself comes to our rescue and declares he wins on all counts and gets plenty of real sport out of the game. Airedales are called, and in due course the tit-bit of the show is staged. It is now open dogs. The parade is on and Judge Swire is sizing up the merits and demerits of the contestants, and when the coveted “purple” again is given.

FROM BRANTFORD.

Fred Beney, says little, but keeps buying and selling a great many good Bostons all the time, and a couple of nice brood matrons were recently added to the list of Kennel inmates. Glyn Bowden, the Club's press man, has joined the Canadian Kennel Club and after feeling out his new standing, wants to know when he becomes entitled to that real dog paper, "Kennel and Bench." Must be some "Scotch" in Glyn somewhere.

"Three points or bust." No one wants to see the Telephone City Club go bust, so the moral becomes: "Three points."

LEADING IN ENGLAND.

Labradors are the leading trial dogs and gun dogs. In England, Pointers and Setters come next as written. In America, Pointers lead with Setters next. Field trials are becoming more popular every year. It's a pity that more of our Canadian breeders, of Bench show dogs, don't go in for this good sport.

Hugh Falconer, Toronto, has purchased a parti-colored Cocker Spaniel, out of "Sonora Mayflower," sired by "Newport Wallace," and declares it the best Red and White he has ever seen.

TRAPPERS, ATTENTION!

The American Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Offers Big Prize.

The prize of $500 is offered concurrently with a bill introduced in the Legislature of the State of New York prohibiting the use, after September 1, 1922, of the steel-jawed leg trap (commonly known as the steel trap), or any other form of trap not capable of killing animals instantly or capturing them alive and uninjured.

The crusade for humane trapping, the legislation that is being sought, is not an effort to abolish the professional trapper's occupation or to destroy or injure the fur industry. At the present time trapping is one of the most cruel occupations in which mankind is engaged. Animals caught between the jaws of steel traps languish for hours and sometimes days, suffering the agony of steel cutting deeper and deeper into the flesh; the victims of burning fever and unquenchable thirst, awaiting a pitiful death.

Conditions of Competition.

1. The competition is open to all without restriction.
2. The Society reserves the right to reject any or all submissions.
3. The award will be made by the Board of Managers of the Society.
4. The design may be submitted by means of drawings, or a model, or both. A description should accompany each submission stating, in detail, the merits claimed for the invention, the material used, or proposed to be used, in its construction, and its estimated cost; and whether or not the invention is in actual use.
5. Each sheet of drawing and each model and all descriptive matter shall be unsigned, but shall bear a device, cipher or emblem for identification, and the same device, cipher or emblem shall be placed in a sealed envelope containing the competitor's name and address. This will not be opened until the award has been made.

6. Drawings and models, with the accompanying envelopes, must be securely packed or wrapped and delivered at the office of The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Madison Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street, New York, before 6 o'clock p.m., on Saturday, October 1, 1921. Each package and envelope must bear the words: "Trap Competition."

The Puget Sound Kennel Club, organized recently in Seattle, Washington, for the purpose of promoting the scientific breeding and the regular showing of thoroughbred dogs, has been formally approved by the American Kennel Club and enters the dog game under the most auspicious circumstances. The officers of the club are, L. W. Brydon, President; William Gyldenfeldt, Vice-President; J. Alvah Scott, Secretary-Treasurer. The Board of Governors consists of four well known fanciers, Capt. Charles Tennant, Dr. Oscar Hartnagel, Mr. Max Steinhaer and Mr. Charles Howell.

The Puget Sound Kennel Club has been incorporated, the membership consisting exclusively of the original stockholders. The prominence of these men in the dog game and their records as good sportsmen insures a fine future for the club, and a square deal for all exhibitors at their annual shows.

The first annual show of the club will be held in Seattle, May 5, 6 and 7, and that it will be a tremendous success is already assured. The classification embraces some 65 breeds, includes nearly 600 classes and a correspondingly large number of dogs will be benched. A large number of handsome trophies have been received and many more are insured, and these trophies will be placed where every one will have an equal chance at them.

The offices of the club, No. 207 University Street, Seattle, have been deluged with inquiries from prospective exhibitors ever since the first public announcement of the spring show was made. It is already assured that a big entry from British Columbia, the Northwest and all down the Coast will be benched and the quality of the showing will be equal to the quantity. The entire Coast has probably never been so rich in fine stock as it is this year and many recent importations in Collies, Scottish Terriers, Bulldogs, Doberman Pinschers and smaller breeds will be shown. There are also some wonderful dogs, American and Canadian bred, from imported strains to add distinction to the showing.

Decision as to who shall judge this array of class has not yet been reached, but exhibitors can rest assured that the best man in the business will be obtained. The Puget Sound Kennel Club is determined to spare no expense to make this, their first annual show, a complete success in every particular.

strong, healthy stock, mostly males. A big winner—shown but four times, viz.: Boston—Winners Dog and Special for Best of the Breed, 5 points; Chicago—Winners Dog and Special Best of the Breed, 5 points; Brooklyn—Winners Dog and Special for Best of the Breed, 2 points; Brockton—Winners Dog and Special for Best of the Breed, 1 point; defeating in all 175 dogs of the breed under different judges. Truly a remarkable record for this young dog. Needs but two points for his American championship. FEE, $40.00

STAR CHALLENGER (A.K.C. 291953)—Whelped June 1st, 1919. Recently imported. Big winner abroad, also in America. Color, Golden Black and Tan head, Black body, Golden Tan legs. This dog has produced some wonderful stock since his arrival in America. An extra good bred one. Full of Kriminopolizi blood—this is the blood that is producing the winners in England and on the Continent to-day. FEE, $50.00.

This is the most fashionable breed of to-day. At the recent Crystal Palace show in England this breed had the largest entry except one, and once you own one of this noble breeding you will never be without one. From a breeder's point of view they are more profitable than any other breed. Large litters and easily raised. We now offer you several well-bred bitches, every one had litters and raised their puppies. We will give a free stud service to the purchaser of any of these bitches to any of our stud dogs.

We also have several litters ranging from two to four months; all well bred, and we will register every dog we sell.

Owners sending their bitches for service are assured they will receive the best care and attention.

The Star Kennels rank amongst the most up-to-date in America, and under the management of Mr. Fred Wright, late of Toronto and Bloomfield Kennels, Detroit.

Satisfaction is our aim—Let us prove it. When you buy a Police Dog, buy a good one.

PRIDES HILL SHORT CUT

This young dog has had tremendous success both on the show bench and at stud in Canada. He will be at the Spring shows in tip top form, and in our opinion, he is capable of topping the lot. He is a beautifully balanced Terrier, with splendid lean head, little well-placed ears, real Terrier expression, the best of legs and feet, a coat like nails, and a neck and shoulder that would make a horseman sigh. "Short Cut" is a "big little one." Here is where we feel he can beat the best Terriers now on the bench. He has all that the others have, and in addition is a size smaller. He reminds one of a miniature Hackney, and is a credit to his wonderful sire. He is offered at stud at $25 to a limited number of approved bitches. A stud card will shortly be available.

Globe Sweet William Tops Canadian Stud Dogs

This young dog with two of his get at the big specialty show of the Boston Terrier Club of Toronto, March 19th, under P. Dowd, of Boston, defeated four champions for first place in the largest stud-dog class ever assembled in Canada.

His twelve months' old son, "Globe League O'Nations," was returned winners at the specialty show and was again winners at the Toronto Kennel Club show a week later. "Globe Tiny Tim," another "Sweet William" pup, was reserve winners at the latter event.

Reviewing the New York show, George Heinlein, the well-known New York breeder and judge, prophesies in "Dogdom" that, barring accidents, "Moshula Buddie Blink" and "Globe League O'Nations," the two puppies that swept the classes at New York, will both annex their championship before they are out of their puppyhood.

"GLOBE SWEET WILLIAM" (C.K.C. 22089)
