At this meeting Mrs. Elizabeth Brownlie will appeal to the members for re-instatement to Club membership as allowed by Constitution.

At this meeting Mr. N. R. Miller will move that the first paragraph of Dog Show Regulation IV. be changed to read as follows:

Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Club offices, 774½ Yonge Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, July 20th, 1922, at 8 o'clock.

In the absence of the President, the first Vice-President, Mr. Harry Clayton presided.

Directors in attendance were Messrs. H. A. Wilson, C. Dickinson, N. K. Swire and J. Waggitt.

The Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting, and it was moved and seconded, "That the minutes be approved as read."

The Secretary reported on the Conference held on May 18th, 1922, and was instructed to get an understanding with the Live Stock Record Office as soon as possible.

The secretary read further correspondence on the Thompson-McConnell charge which included the report of the Jury's finding in favor of Thompson. "It was moved and seconded that we leave the Thompson-McConnell charge for the present, and consider the matter of the Terminal City Kennel Club-McConnell charge." Carried.

The Secretary read the correspondence from the British Columbia Directors who had been charged to investigate the Thompson-McConnell and the Terminal City Kennel Club-McConnell charges, and after discussion, it was moved and seconded "That Norman McConnell be suspended from the Canadian Kennel Club, he having been found guilty of misconduct which is considered to be prejudicial to the best interests of the dog game." Carried.

The Secretary reported that he had received replies from two out of the four parties complained against by the Montreal Great Joint Dog Show Committee, and read a letter from Miss C. J. LaViolette. It was moved and seconded "That Mr. Charles Fleurquin, Mr. Wm. J. McCorquodale and Mrs. D. Burgouis be suspended, until such time as they shall submit suitable explanations and apologies for their having infracted Dog Show Rule 25." Carried.

The Secretary reported correspondence from Mr. Alf. Lepine, named in the Strachan-Lepine complaint, but had not yet received the apology requested by the motion of the Directors, but pointed out that Mr. Lepine had serious sickness at home, and besides, he still had a few days' grace left. It was agreed to leave the matter over until the full expiry of the 30-day allowance.

The Secretary read a letter from Mr. T. F. Slattery, legal adviser to Mrs. Elizabeth Brownlie, which intimated his intention to appeal to the General Meeting for the removal of the expulsion now resting on his client. The Secretary was instructed to notify Mr. Slattery of the time and place of the next regular meeting.

The Secretary was instructed to get information regarding an application which meantime is held over.

A complaint was laid by Reg. P. Sparkes, against the Bulldog Breeder's Association, and it was agreed to leave the matter in the Secretary's care with a view to effecting an amicable arrangement. Mr. T. Murray complained (second time) against the new conditions proposed by The Pomeranian Club of Canada for controlling the Trophy, known as "The Defender Cup" and on which he had a claim. The original conditions read:

"The Defender Cup, donated by J. McNaughton for best Black dog or bitch, sired by the late champion 'McNaughton's Defender' to be won twice in succession; medal given to commemorate the win."

The proposed new condition:

"The Defender Cup for the best dog or bitch sired by any of McNaughton's or Wickham's Stud Dogs."

The Secretary produced premium lists of previous years which showed the actual conditions of competition clearly, and none were shown in early premium lists which called for competition amongst members or otherwise.

It was moved and seconded "That Mr. Murray's complaint be upheld, and that the Pomeranian Club revert back to the original conditions governing 'The Defender Cup.'" Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

HOW ABOUT YOUR LIBRARY?

We will be glad to secure for any of our readers, any book in print, on the subject of Dogs, at cost price, plus postage and customs duty (if any). Your hobby takes on a keener pleasure as you begin to fathom the foundations of the breed that interests you most.

Other people have learned their hard lessons at the school of experience, but we don't all need to take our tuition from that institution. With the kinks taken out by others, the pathway is made very pleasant, but, you have to know how! There are many good books that tell you how.

State your wants to KENNEL AND BENCH.

CANADA'S GREAT EASTERN DOG SHOW

Sherbrooke Dog Show will again be judged by the American expert, Charles G. Hopton, for the second consecutive year, which is no doubt a well deserved compliment to Mr. Hopton, whom we understand will visit England before this fixture matures. Mr. Sydney E. Francis is very anxious to have more fanciers come to Sherbrooke for the purpose of building up the championship value of his Association's Show, and besides having secured a reliable judge, he offers worth-while possible winnings, both in silver, and in actual cash, and on top of that, fanciers with a good entry are guaranteed a real good time, second only to their receiving the freedom of the city itself.

THE WESTERN FAIR DOG SHOW

London, Ont., will be the Mecca of the countryside during the fair week, September 9th to 16th, but the dates September 12th to 15th, will be the attraction for the dog followers, who elect to patronize London, in preference to the Ottawa Show. The premium lists are now ready, and a substantial cash prize and special offering is found for the winning dog owners. Many improvements will be noticeable this year at the London venue, a larger show ring, suitably arranged to suit a heavy gallery of ringsiders. The benching has all been painted battleship grey, giving the whole a clean and sanitary appearance.

NANAIMO KENNEL CLUB SUMMER SHOW

On August 25th and 26th Mr. Albert Greenwood will hold the "Woolsack" for the above show. Mr. Greenwood enjoys the confidence of a great army of coast fanciers, and a good Show will no doubt reward the executive for their wise selection. The classification which has been approved is quite comprehensive, and the prize list will be as strong as a willing band of enthusiastic fanciers are able to make it. Miss Hickling is the Honorary Secretary, and she will be glad to attend to any correspondence soliciting premium lists or other information from anyone who may be interested.

VANCOUVER EXHIBITION ASSO-CIATION DOG SHOW

Mr.H.S.Rolson has again prepared a most attractive premium list for the dog show to be held on August 21st to 23rd in connection with the Exhibition at Vancouver, and there will be a very successful show on the dates mentioned. At time of writing we have not heard who the judge would be, but there are rumors afloat that Jack Holgate will be asked to judge at one of the far western fixtures, before he returns to England, after having judged at Ottawa.

The Airedale Terrier Club of Canada Show

The Third Show to be held by the above well-known Club, was held at Toronto on Saturday, July 1st, 1922, and was on the lines of a family gathering in many respects. All the dyed-in-thewools being on hand. The entry was the only disappointment and then, not because of any lack of quality. The dogs entered were all in good shape. Wire Haired Fox Terriers were allowed to join in the carnival, and lent a shade of color to the sober black and tan of the Airedale. Show Secretary Gordon Higbee, despite the fact that he had worked up the Show on his nerve, and positively against his doctor's orders, had his end of the work in nice shape. Superintendent Joseph (Joe) Perkins was responsible for a well laid out benching arrangement, giving every dog entered lots of room, and as the partitions were solid, and generous in build, excessive barking by the "Terriers" was noticeable by its almost total absence. The Club Secretary, Claude Faux, was on the job from start to finish and the two named left but little to be Generous assistance of the kind most required to run a dog show successfully was freely forthcoming, almost $400.00 being "chipped in" by friends of the Club, their liberality freeing the executive from many of the uncertainties and worries of a show of this kind.

Mr. Earl Woodward, Highland Park, Ill., U.S.A., judged the two varieties in a way that left criticism to the deaf and dumb, at least we never heard any being peddled, which creates a new record, as the sporting editors say. Mr. Woodward is a breeder judge who possibly became famous because of the sterling achievements on the bench of his Chicago bred Airedale "Champion Earlwood Warlock," a name almost identical to that of the breeder.

"Ch. Earlwood Warlock," although now six years old, was good enough to win for best Airedale, and best in Show all breeds, at Cleveland and Chicago this spring. He is by "Earlwood-Hickory-Limb" out of "Isabella Faustine," and is still a great Airedale.

Mr. Woodward very kindly consented to review his work at this Show for our readers, which we now introduce to them, for their delectation:—

The Third Annual Summer Show of the Airedale Terrier Club of Canada was held on July 1st, Dominion Day, at Toronto, and was most successful.

It was the writer's duty to make the awards, and at the request of the Editor, I will review the winners.

Juvenile Dogs—Only one entry, "Calven Prince," a fair sort with good head and conformation, a trifle roached in back, and not good in coat.

Puppy Dogs-First to "Ringmaster," a very nice puppy indeed for a large one. His head and expression is exceptional, good ears properly carried. A beautiful front with the best of legs and feet. A graceful neck nicely let into a clean pair of shoulders, and good body, except that he is rather roached over the loin, and consequently set on of stern is also not so good. Shown in the best condition of any dog in the show he had no difficulty in topping the class, despite his size and legginess. Second to "Garden Roy," another big one, but lacking the clean flat skull and general quality of first, nor did he show so well. Third to "Claycliff Crusier," a nicely balanced puppy, but would not show. Reserve to "Morning Beau," a good coated pup but loses in skull and somewhat light in Junior Dogs-First to "Ringmaster." Second to "Brant Mischievous Boy," a keen, well-made terrier of the right size, and a flat skull. His general appearance is spoiled by a short curly coat of the sort that often appears in many Airedale strains. It is not attractive or practical, but aside from this, he was a nice sort. Third, "Ontario Admiral" was another real terrier with a good coat, but a large round eye, and lacked the balance of the dog above him. Reserve to "Garden ' Although he is the same type as the first in the class, it was necessary to separate the two in this class as the second and third winners were of a better size, and sufficiently good to warrant their places, while "Ringmaster," though large, scored heavily in quality and condition, and on the day was easily

Canadian-bred Dogs-First went to "Colne Master Oorang," a real terrier of the correct size, and a showman. His back is short and he moves well. Not in the best of condition, but a real good coat of fair color. He has a good head, marred slightly by ears that are a bit heavy. Put down in good form, this dog can hold his own in any company. Second to the puppy winner loosing in type and size. Third to "Boxwood Blimp," a rather good type, and a nice size with good head, but is very sway backed and too wide in front. Was overtrimmed, being bare of hair on his shoulders. Reserve, "Claycliff Cruiser."

Novice Dogs—First, "Ringmaster," Second, "Harvie Humorist," a better size, and a good type of terrier, but rather short in head and throaty. Third to "Garden Roy" and Reserve to "Claycliff Cruiser."

Limit Dogs—First to "Colne Master Oorang." Second, "Ringmaster." Third, "Brant Mischievous Boy. "Reserve, "Ontario Admiral." Open—A repeat of the Canadian-bred class.

Breeders Dogs—First to "Ch. Clay-Cliffe Tip Top," has a good coat and color, and short body. A nice size, but his low set tail and short weak face did not give him much of an edge over "Brant Mischievous Boy," second, who only failed in coat and general appearance. Third to "Claycliff Cruiser."

Winners went to "Colne Master Oorang" and Reserve to "Ringmaster."

Juvenile Bitches—Only two. First, "Roycroft Pixie." Second, "Claycliff Bankers Pride." Both of a type, but first scores in head, being cleaner in skull cleaner in throat, and darker in eye, also better coat and bone.

Puppy Bitches-A sortier class than the dogs. First, "Claycliff Clip," a good sound bitch, scoring in conformation. coat and feet. A cleaner skull and better ear would make her a very good bitch indeed. Second, "Roycroft Pixie," very nice little bitch that should do better. On the day failed in condition and a trifle light in underjaw. Third, "Casa Loma Peggy," in very nice condition and a nice size, good coat and color. Rather heavy in skull and ear, and a sway back, a serious fault in a terrier of any age, but more so in a puppy, as it will not improve. Reserve, "Claycliff Bankers Pride."

Junior Bitches—First, "Casa Loma Peggy," wins on coat and color, and substance. Second, "Claycliff Cobweb," a showy terrier, but light in bone, rather short head and light eye. Third, "Claycliff Correct," not in good condition, and lacks the quality of the first two.

Canadian-bred-First, "Briar Rose," a beautiful bitch in nice form, good coat long lean head and keen shower. A bit heavy in ear, and would look better with more coat on front legs. Second, "Suncrest Titania," another very good bitch of the right type and almost perfect conformation. Loses in condition, and has a rather large eye which spoils her expression. Put down in real good form she might reverse the above placing, but to-day "Rose" had the edge. Third, "Lady Granby," a good big sound bitch, but would not show and lacks the quality of the two above her. Reserve, "Claycliff Cobweb."

Novice Bitches — First, "Claycliff Clip." Second, "Casa Loma Peggy," Third, "Maid of the Mist," better in coat and eyes than Reserve, "Claycliff Correct."

Limit Bitches—First, "Suncrest Titania." Second, "Lady Granby." Third, "Claycliff Debit," pressed close, but not so good in body and coat.

Open Bitches—A repeat.
Winners—"Briar Rose." Reserve.

"Suncrest Titania," two beautiful bitches that can do well in any company, and both of the right size and type. A joy to see them after some of the big leggy and doggy bitches that are going about.

Best Airedale went to "Colne Master Oorang," scoring over the bitch in substance and general type, also in eye and terrier character.

It was certainly a pleasure to see so many terriers of good type and after the judging to become acquainted with their owners and the officers of the Club. A better organization of real fanciers and sportsmen who know and love the King of Terriers cannot be found anywhere.—EARLE WOODWARD.

THE DAILY PRESS

We are indeed grateful for the very generous space allotted to the cause of our dogs by the daily press of this country. Almost daily, we notice something that brings the circumstance home to us very forcibly—as, for instance, the following editorial which appeared on page 6 of the "Mail and Empire" (Toronto) of the issue of July 6th, 1922, under the heading "For the Sake of a Dog"

Ever since Charlie Ouetschke, of Toledo, Ohio, presented the President of the United States with the Airedale Terrier "Laddie Boy," we have felt that the president was a dog lover. When we read the letter, dated Jan. 3rd, 1922, which President Harding wrote for "Laddie Boy," who had been invited to visit Boston by "Tiger," the pet dog of Wm. Hodge, the playwright, then we knew that the chief of the White House was an out-and-out dog lover, but from the "Mail and Empire's" editorial we now learn that Mrs. Harding is also a dog lover, although we had our doubts in that connection up to now, for didn't "Laddie Boy"confide to"Tiger"-"When I came to the White House the mistress gave me rather a cold shoulder," and then generous "Laddie Boy" again confides-"I found out afterwards it was because she did not want to become attached to me, and later be excessively grieved in case our association had to be severed."

We have in the Chief Executives of both sides of our imaginary boundary line, two "big" men. And two men who love our friend the dog, and are not above speaking on his behalf.

FOR THE SAKE OF A DOG

However historians may rank Mr. Harding among the Presidents of the United States from the standpoint of statesmanship or political leadership, it is quite clear that as a kind-hearted human being he will be remembered as the equal of anyone who ever preceded him in office. He has a disarming personality that makes no enemies. His critics say it would be better for his administration if he was the kind of man who does not hesitate to make enemies, and is always ready for battle. But the occasional glimpses which he gives to tender heartedness and compassion will not be lost upon the public. A few days ago he intervened in behalf of a dog that was under sentence of death in Lansdale, Pennsylvania, wrote a long letter to the Governor of the State, in which he said that Mrs. Harding was as interested as he is in saving the dog, and asking the Governor to take steps in the matter. President Harding said that if necessary, he would issue an executive order, sparing the dog. The animal in question is a large half-bred St. Bernardmastiff. He is the property of a Russian who has not been naturalized. Had the owner been an American citizen, the dog would have been safe, even if he had been a Russian dog. But because the owner of the dog is an alien, the dog itself, though born on this continent, is deemed a foreigner, and under the law of Pennsylvania should be destroyed.

To say that the dog is of little value, because of its mixed parentage, would be to show slight knowledge of the feelings that dog owners have for their pets. The dog was a member of the Russian's family, esteemed hardly less than one of the children. When the ukase went forth, that the dog must be slain, it was as though a Herod decree had issued against the youngest child. There was sudden agitation, giving place to despair as one local authority after another was appealed to, but could give no hope. Then either the immigrant or someone on his behalf wrote a letter to President Harding. This brought promptly the letter from the President, describing himself as a lover of dogs, to Governor Sproule, in which he said that a man who loved a dog as much as the Russian obviously loved his dog had in him the making of a good citizen. When the case came to trial, the magistrate expressed the opinion that the Act had been faultily drawn, and therefore decided that the dog should not perish. In the newspaper reports of the case it is said that the court room was crowded, and that apparently as much interest was taken in the fate of the Lansdale mongrel as though some charming and fashionable murderess had been going through the formality of an acquittal. Cynicism, bolshevism and atheism may be growing throughout the world, but it appears that in the English-speaking countries the dog lovers still constitute a ruling majority.

Alberta Kennel Club Show

SOME OF THE EXHIBITORS AT THE DOG SHOW

By STANLEY DORRELL (Judge)

The Alberta Kennel Club held a very successful Dog Show at the Exhibition grounds, Calgary, on July, 5th, 6th and 7th, and it was indeed gratifying all around to see the large increase in the entries which were more than double that of previous years. No less than 206 canines being benched, which was the means of giving dogdom a great boost in the Sunny City. The quality also showed a great improvement, many eastern representatives toeing the line. George Kynoch of Winnipeg bringing up a fine string representing Manitoba. The officials all put their shoulder to the wheel and everything went off harmoniously. Secretary Bob Robson was here, there, and everywhere, while Messrs. W. H. Morgan, Westmoreland, Currie, Cooper, J. Fletcher and others, were in evidence all the time.

In Toy Poms, the black Pom "Swanse Ebony" went to winners, also Best Pom in Show. He has turned out a real topper, and is on a par with his sire "Ch. Jacobean of Granby." Immense coat and conformation, and a grand mover. Reserve going to "Brockley Tom Tit," a worthy son of "Ebony." Best Pom Bitch went to the well known "Frescini Girl," looking as well as ever. Pekes were few in numbers, but quality good. "Brockley Whi Whi," one of the sleeve specimen, going to Winners. English Bulldogs were a real good lot. The dogs headed by the Winnipeg dog, owned by George Kynoch, "Ace of Aces," one of the best lightweights we have ever seen out west. He scores heavily in head properties, and should do a tremendous amount of winning. This completed his championship. Reserve winners in dogs went to "General Byng," another good one with massive bone and well balanced. He cleaned up the heavyweight division. Another promising youngster was "Yorkshire Sunshine," a dark brindle bitch which will be heard of again. "Prohibition Jim" looked very fit, and won the Limit Class. In bitches, Mr. Howlett's "Count Compassion II." a lovely bitch with good head, body, lay back and bone, ably handled by J. Fletcher went to winners, also best Bull in Show, and completing her championship. In Bostons, the open bitch class took a long time to decide for premier honors between W. Morgan's "Miss Colleen," and P Biller's "Wheatland Shop Girl," "Miss Colleen" securing the blue, also best Boston in Show. P. Biller's "Ringside Pal" going best Boston dog, followed by W. Morgan's "Patsy Boy 6th." The Whippets were exceptionally strong, ten being brought in at a time. They were the finest lot I have seen in Canada. The winning dog, "Strathcona Peter," owned by F. J. Young being a very classy one with a nice long, lean head, beautiful legs and feet, and a fine arched neck. "Newsboy," another good one being runner up. In bitches I discovered a real gem in "Strathcona Girl," owned by J. F. Young. The right size, legs and feet A1, splendid head and body, and muscular hind quarters, deep chest, and in perfect condition. The best Whippet in Show, also reserve, best of all breeds, and with her stable companion, "Strathcona Peter," annexed best variety brace in Show. Reserve winners bitch "Ch. Rhoda" also looked in the pink of condition, and is also one of the first water. Scotties only one, but a good bitch, good skull and eye. Fox Terriers-I was rather disappointed in, the smooths being a very ordinary lot, and in wires the entry was very meagre, "Carnival Queen," a wire bitch, being the pick. Airedales were a fine lot, and competition at concert pitch all the time, ten dogs in the novice class, eager for the fray. Here I may mention was the surprise of the Show, and it was "Brockley Surprise," owned by J. Fletcher. He is a beautiful color, with grand body, legs and feet, short back, lots of timber, and a fine neck and shoulders. This dog went clean through from Novice Dog to Winners, also scoring for Championship of Show, a truly remarkable performance. He was followed by "Champion Silver Cadet," and "Kingston Pat," two excellent Airedales, fit to go in any company. The winning bitch going to G. Kynoch with "Dictatorious" a very useful sort.

Bull Terriers were an ordinary lot, and the Pit Bulls were poor, being altogether too coarse. Cockers were fair and not near as good as the coast dogs. The best going to the parti-color "Ch. Philip S." closely followed by the black Cocker "Matlock Durbar." the latter just failing in fore face to "Philip S." Best bitch going to "Lunesdale Beauty" for parti-colors, and "Rosie," a good red bitch taking winners in solids. Old English Sheep Dogs were fair, and lacked coat. Collies were very good and competition very interesting. The best of breed going to J. Gaurnera with "Imera Sky Pilot," a beautiful headed dog, with nice ears well carried, good body, legs and feet, also brush, his coat was not in the best of condition, but scored heavily in other points to overcome this fault. Second, Scott Bros.' "Sandy 27th," wearing well, but had to give way to his youthful competitor "3rd Riply Sultan," another good one with the best of ear carriage. In bitches there was another tussle, the best going to "Burnaby Beauty," although five years old, was looking real good and certainly good for some time to come. She possesses a good head, body and coat. Second, H. Leslie's "Scotia Stylish," close on the heels of the winner and Scott Bros.' "Meg of Buccleuch." Third, all real ones and fit to win in first class company. Irish Water Spaniels. A brilliant array, ten again in the open class, and all good ones. First whose name I cannot remember, went though from Puppy to Winners, an exceptionally boned dog with dense coat, powerful hindquarters, and a nice dome and topknot. Second to J. Whiterak's "Loyal Pat," built on similar lines to the winner. In bitches, best to J. M. Rudolph "Happy of Redlands," nice low set ears, dark eye, stern and coat and color. Second, Van Camp's "Curly McShane," a sound coat and body, head and legs. Retrievers-Dogs, First, "Kruger," a typical specimen, the same applies to the winners bitch, "Beechgrove Sally." Irish Setters-nothing outstanding. English Setters-A fair sort, the winning bitch, Dr. Wright's "Magic Jewel," good coat and feather, and looked a working sort. Chesapeake Bays were there in quantity and quality, and were a very even lot. The winning bitch being a dense coated dead grass, and looked a worker from the word go. Two capital Springers were shown by G. Kynoch, and want some stopping, although they had no competition. Taking all in all this was a most enjoyable meeting, and everyone wore a smile. I shall always look back with pleasure on the welcome I received at the hands of the Alberta Kennel Club.

PREFIX GRANTED.

The Kennel name "Briton" has been registered in the name of H. Smith, Hamilton, Ont.

Our Frontispiece

The subject of our front cover feature for the current issue is none other than

brought over from England by Mr. Richard (Dick) Wilkinson, Toronto, on his return from the Motherland recently. This importation at the tender age-for a bulldog-of nine months, came out and made his debut to the show ring, he won three first prizes and passed "Ch. Caulfield Monarch" in a canter, and since that time he has been shown with consistent fearlessness at all the leading shows in the south of England-where the cream of old England's bulldogs may be found-and was able to meet and beat the best of them.

Bred in the purple is his middle name, i.e., Sire "Cambrai Tank" (litter brother to "Ch. Jutland Jupiter"); Dam, "Vimy Girl," and he claims the bloods of "Penfold Pleasant Berti," "Colchester" and "Dalston" strains. His dam, "Vimy Girl," is by "Ospringe Duke," and he claims "Kilburn Duke," "Old Catton," "Kilburn Barrister" and "Newington Prince Arthur" strains.

Brindle, with white on chest, he was born on October 30th, 1919, he is just now at the commencement of a vigorous life. When we looked him over we found him nicely coupled, short and low to ground with a large well-proportioned headpiece, with exceptional nostrils. A combination that should make him an immediate and valuable asset to the Canadian fancy, as our females for the most part stand high on the leg, and often long backed. As a matter of fact, since his advent into Canada his services have been in great demand, and the owner advises that two good matrons were obliged to go unserved. The first bitches mated to him that have gone far enough to show, give every promise of their being in whelp.

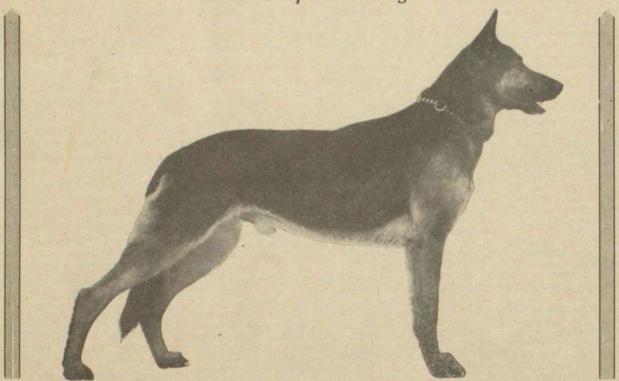

As far as the show bench of Canada is concerned, "Kilburn Tank" will be a regular adornment, whenever and whereever it is possible for him to attend.

CORRECTION

On page 7, column 3 of our June issue, we incorrectly report that Lunan & Perry's trappy little Boston Terrier, "Ch. Globe League O' Nations" was placed 3rd, in the Open Dog Class (15 and under 20 lbs.) The erroneous placing, of course, was altogether unintentional, and as a matter of fact, the dog was resting on his laurels at this fixture, and was only entered for Specials, and was awarded that, for best of breed.

We thank our correspondent for bringing this ludicrous error before our notice and we now have pleasure in rectifying the situation, and offer our apologies to the owners of the dog.

The Shepherd Dog

(Special to KENNEL AND BENCH) By Dr. J. N. MACRAE, Galt, Ont. *In no way claiming to be an authority on the breed, the writer of this article, at the request of the Editor of KENNEL AND BENCH, is endeavoring to give something of the history and characteristics of the German Shepherd Dog. Registered under different names in different English speaking countries, in England as the Alsatian Wolf Dog and in the United States as the Shepherd, in Canada we hear them called Alsatians. French Police Dogs, Belgian Police Dogs, etc., though we are now registering them as Shepherds, the same as in the United States, still the fact remains that the breed originated in Germany, and the first stud-book started in Germany, and although it goes against the grain to uphold anything "made in Germany," yet the fact remains that this great dog is German. Some writers claim that, in order to keep it distinctive in name from other breeds of Shepherds, it should be known as the German Shepherd. We now have in Canada two distinct breeds of Belgian Shepherds, the Malanois, small and smooth-haired, and the Groenendale, medium sized and long-haired. There are also three kinds of French Shepherds, the Beauce, the Brie and the Picardy

The German Shepherd as a breed is over one hundred years old, although the first stud-book was only started twenty-four years ago, in 1898. It is claimed that they were originated by German peasants from trapped wolves. English-speaking countries have only taken them up to any extent within the last dozen years, and chiefly since the war brought them so prominently to the front. England, and to a lesser extent, Scotland and Ireland, has gone into them very strongly. In a great many shows there, the preponderance of exhibits is Alsatians. In the United States they have also caught on with a vengeance, our cousins to the south having spent tremendous sums of money in importing the best specimens obtainable. There, also, the entries at shows equal and frequently exceed the entries of any other breed.

The writer first became interested in this breed in England in 1915. Later in Belgium and France, and in Germany after the Armistice, he had the opportunity of seeing some very good dogs, and of talking with some of the good breeders. He has been a student and lover of the breed ever since.

By whatever name you call him, the Shepherd is essentially a working dog, built for untiring action. The predominant characteristics of the breed, outside of ability as workers, are mental and physical alertness; fidelity and obedience to his master in an extremely marked degree; docility with children, but suspicious of adult strangers. Their mental development makes them easy to train, but on the other hand they can be as easily spoiled by improper handling and injudicious punishment. Their reasoning faculty is sometimes almost uncanny. Their coolness, control and lack of nervousness made them preeminently the ideal dog for work in the war-zone and they exceeded by a big margin the number of all other dogs combined, used by all armies during the late war.

Like in many other breeds, breeders have gone to extremes, concentrating first on one characteristic and then on another. The standard at present calls for a dog to be between twenty-two and twenty-six inches in height, and bitches between twenty-one and a half, and twenty-four inches in height at the top of shoulder blade, the hair parted or pushed well down to show only the actual measurement of the height of the frame of the dog. Proportion of length to height may vary from, as ten is to eight to as ten is to nine, preferably ten to eight. In moving, the dog should move evenly and harmoniously, the stride being long and elastic, lifting the feet only just clear of the ground. The longer and smoother the stride the better, providing the gait does not become slouchy, and this necessitates a strong muscular body with shoulders long and slanting, lying flat against the body chest deep but not too broad, ribs flat. The hind legs should not be up under the body but slanting back at a good angle, and with no tendency to cowhocks. The back should be straight and well developed, loins broad and powerful, croup long and slanting slightly downwards. The tail should hang down reaching the hock, generally forming a slight curve at the end when quiet, but when dog is excited, the tail may be raised, and the curve accentuated, but never curled over the back. Space will not permit covering the whole standard, but an endeavor has been made to cover the more important points. The Alsatian Wolf Dog Club of England and the Shepherd Dog Club of America, are both at present making a few minor changes in the standard to conform with the decisions of the College of Judges of Germany, particularly in the matter of height, so that a dog over twenty-six inches high will not be disqualified. In a letter received this week from Major Dunbar Kelly, probably the best judge of this breed in England, he states: "The great fault with Alsatians, to my mind, are too short in body in comparison to height. The length of body from point of shoulder to end of thigh should be at least one-tenth more than the height from the top of the shoulder to the ground. Another point is weak heads. They should be fairly long, but not snipey, and should be fairly deep. They must not resemble a fox in any way. Gait also is most important. The hind legs should have strong propelling power, and move in complete harmony with the front action which should be free and long striding. The shoulders should be well sloped and articulated to give this freedom, and the hind legs should be well behind and the hocks well let down. An ideal conformation would be, that if one dropped a spot of water between the ears, it would run right down the back and off the tip of the tail. The ribs should be somewhat flat and the chest deep. The whole body should be lithe and agile, but not in any way resembling the Greyhound.'

As in other breeds, outstanding families or strains have developed in this breed. Line-breeding to the standard has developed four great families with others, as results of intermixtures of these families. These families are known as the Kriminalpolezei, the Uckermark, the Von Boll and the Riedeckenburg. Other families, the results of crosses of the above, or of not such prominence are the Herkulespark, the Sudenburg, the Scharenstetten and the Gigillberg. Other strains or families will undoubtedly develop in time, but the fact remains that the majority of the prominent dogs of to-day have, as a foundation, the blood of one or more of the first four mentioned families.

The founders or great dogs of these four families are, in the Kriminalpolezei family, Sieger 1910, Tell von der Kriminalpolezei, P.H., and his son, Dutch Ch. 1913, Jung Tell v.d. Kriminalpolezei; in the Von Boll family, Horst von Boll, P.H.; in the Uckermark family, Sieger 1909, Hettel Uckermark, H.G.H., sired by the great Sieger of 1906/7, Roland von Starkenburg, and by Siegerin 1906, Gretel Uckermark; and in the Riedeckenburg family by Flora Berkmeyer, one of the greatest producers of winners in Shepherd history. The writer has no wish to advertise American dogs to the disadvantage of Canadian dogs, but if we have any outstanding dogs in Canada, they are not advertised, consequently the public has no opportunity of knowing of them. In the United States, they have such dogs available at stud as "Int. Ch. Gerri von Oberklamm, P.H." whose picture illustrates this article as a typical specimen, an intensely bred "Flora Berkmeyer" with "Uckerman" strain; "Int. Ch. Dolf von Dusternbrook, P.H.," strongly bred "Uckermark" with "Flora Berkmeyer" strain; "Luchs Uckermark, P.H.," pure "Uckermark" strain; "Flock von Bern, P.H.," intense "Uckermark" with "Flora Berkmeyer" strain, he being a son of "Alex von Westfalenheim," that great sire of champions of whom "Our Dogs," England, reported to be, "perhaps the greatest of all Alsatian sires and who died in 1918, after winning everything he competed for": "Nores v.d. Kriminalpolezei," combining "Horst von Boll" and "Kriminalpolezei" strains; "Ch. Ali-Altwurttemburg," combining "Kriminalpolezei" and "Von Boll" strains. These are only a very few of the very good dogs that are available to the south of us. The letters "P.H." after a dogs name' indicate that he has passed a trial and received a certificate as a working police-dog. The letters "H.G.H." indicate a certificated herding-dog, and the letters "Kr.H." indicate that a dog has actually worked as a war-dog. "Sieger" means "German Champion.'

The possibilities of this breed in Canada are enormous. We have the natural characteristics, climate, etc., suited for its best growth and development. The best blood in the world is right at our door and with the concentrated efforts of the few good breeders we now have in Canada, spreading the gospel of the Shepherd which it merits, its popularity here will soon be on a level with that of other countries.

It is only fair to our obliging contributor to mention the fact that we had received his copy before our July issue was published, hence his ignorance of the fact that Canadian owned Shepherd Dogs (Alsatian) were now being advertised. We take this opportunity to thank Dr. MacRae for his timely contribution on the Shepherd Dog, who is daily growing in popularity in several Canadian centres. In our next issue we will endeavor to print the standard as it may be approved, as suggested in the present article.—Editor's note.

WESTERN COLLIE CLUB IN GENERAL SESSION

A general meeting of the Western Collie Club was held on the 7th inst., and a report was read of the Futurity Stakes committee in which it was agreed to hold an open show, and futurity stakes in October, 1923. Nomination of litters to be made from 1st July, 1922, until 1st April, 1923. It was also agreed to hold an open collie show in October of this year, and in the meantime, a matinee show will be held to keep up the interest of the fancy.

It has been freely circulated around that the Western Collie Club has been burst up. No effort has been made meantime to ascertain from what source this has sprung, as it is clearly the work of some poor kicker hiding his wonderful demoralizing efforts behind a bushel. On behalf of the Western Collie Club, I wish to state to all "real" collie fanciers, the Club was never in better standing to carry out the work for which it was inaugurated, namely, the holding of shows and assisting in any way towards the advancement of the fancy.

HUGH LESLIE, Secretary-Treasurer.

SPORTING MAN'S VIRTUES

To brag little, to show well, to crow gently if in luck—to pay up, to own up, and to shut up, if beaten are the virtues of a sporting man—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

They Are Both Intelligent Breeds

A friend in those early days had an Irish wolfhound called "Wing." This dog killed coyotes like a terrier does a rat. Running alongside, he caught the wolf under the middle with his nose, threw him in the air and had the throat before he touched ground.

Two of this dog's pups, at eight months, used to go out to hunt by themselves. They left many a dead one on the prairie. While riding one day, "Wing" and a collie chased a coyote; it took to the river. "Wing" would not take the water, but the collie, jumping in, pulled the wolf under and drowned him.

In the same river a female hound I owned, called "Juno," a cross between a pure-bred Russian, father, and a greyhound, mother, fought a coyote in deep water for an hour. This hound caught and killed two jack rabbits within a mile, ran a third for three miles, when she caught up. Both animals dropped and lay side by side not a yard from each other, both too winded to move. It was a fine sight to see this dog catch and throw a wolf, but she was too light to kill alone.

For pure, unadulterated devotion, a little black and white collie I owned some years ago will long live in my memory.

"Shadow," as she was appropriately called, belonged to the storekeeper in the frontier town that sprang up near the old ranch. She had her first litter and was kenneled in a barrel at the side of the store. I had dropped in for a few groceries; on approaching the store was somewhat surprised and amused to see the dog suddenly dart out and seize a customer who was just entering, by a portion of his clothing that he was in the habit of sitting on.

On entering, I found her owner trying to soothe the feelings of a rather angry individual by a present of a new pair of overalls. I was greeted with, "Do you want a good dog," and on learning it was "Shadow," lost no time in accepting.

On leaving I called the dog, who knew me well. It was about time for weaning the pups, and she followed me home with neither collar or chain. From that day till her death she was indeed my "shadow." A better cattle dog never lived.

One summer day I was engaged on some road work, and had carelessly thrown an old coat down. On going back to dinner I forgot it. Hardly had I got the fire started when a buggy, followed by three large stag hounds came in sight. The driver, the local livery man, stepped out, carefully lifting the old coat, in which "Shadow" was wrapped, out. She was more dead than alive, but the look she gave me I shall never forget. This is what happened. Seeing me throw the coat down, the dog had sat guard. Hardly had I left when the team and hounds came down the road. The hounds went to investigate, when "Shadow" attacked them. Seeing she would be speedily killed, the driver jumped out to her assistance, when she turned on him. With great presence of mind he threw the coat over her head, wrapped her in it, got into the rig, where she continued to give occasional growls, till I lifted her out. Ye Gods! a lower animal indeed. In the matter of intelligence I must give the palm to my wife's greyhound, "Rena." This dog is almost human. We have owned her since a pup of six weeks, and, on account of her short coat, allowed her the run of the house.

One incident will be sufficient to illustrate the extraordinary reasoning power of this dog. The daughter of an old friend, wishing to learn to play the piano, induced my wife to give her lessons. She always came at a stated time on Saturday afternoons. "Rena" is very sensitive to music and will run up the scales in a manner that would be a credit to Paderewski.

Thinking, no doubt, the lesson was for her especial benefit, she immediately joined in, only to discover her mistake, when on the wrong side of the back door.

The Russian wolf hounds generally accompanied me to the field, but the greyhound never came unless informed a hunt was imminent. What was my surprise on the following Saturday to discover "Rena" frisking along with the wolf hound. This she continued to do on her own account, with one exception, while the lessons lasted. One day we received a 'phone message that our friend could not come that week. My wife informed me of this in the dog's presence, and that Saturday she stayed at the house.

This dog plays with our young daughter, picking up a glove, shaking it and running just as she does with her own or any of the other hound's pups.

I could give dozens of incidents connected with this dog, but must not trespass on valued space, only to add that she is a wolf killer. A word about my Russians. I have a half sister, a son and a daughter of Ch. "Tippy Dondingo," the greatest wolf killer and show dog combined Canada has ever produced, and they are worthy relatives. I have heard it said that Russians are not reliable with children. Personally I can say this is utterly false. I have found that hounds, like smaller breeds of dogs, vary individually, both in intelligence and temper; a great deal depends on training and ownership.

To see our three-year-old daughter ride these dogs is as good as a "stampede," and when she stands her show dog, well, I hope we shall all see them in the ring one of these days.

In conclusion, might I ask our editor to kindly have published the various good and bad points of each individual breed, with illustrations, one in each number. It would be a great help to the beginner and keep us all up to date, and let us remember there is no best breed of dog.

For a town man, the wire hair, Irish terrier or Scotch terrier. The outdoor person, Chesapeake Bay (dead grass), airedale or spaniel. The farmer and rancher, collie, old English sheep dog and wolf hounds. For the man of wealth, the best that money can buy of your fancy. A good dog is without price.

Yours truly,

(Sgd.) R. S. TYRRELL.

A Puppy Story

By Frank F. Dole "New York Herald"

Once upon a time (that's a bad beginning for a true story, I know, but let it stand and take my word that this is not a fairy story) there was a lady in our fair city who had considerable possessions. If we put the total of her bank account at $250,000 we would not be far out of the way. In addition, this lady had another priceless attribute in the shape of a love for well bred dogs.

Enough for one person, any one might think, but as happens so often in this strange family of ours, the lady was not content. Considerable possessions were not enough. She wanted more. A certain street which stretches directly from the door of Trinity Church seemed to promise her the greater possessions that she craved. She embarked on the stormy sea of stock speculation.

For a while all went delightfully, and the lady's broker showed her increasing wealth—on paper. Deeper and deeper plunged the victim, until her last dollar was involved. Then one day on the front page of her favorite evening newspaper she saw a recognizable cut of her broker's classic features. Turning to the accompanying reading matter, she found that the gentleman in question had just been apprehended, and lodged in our most popular local jail.

The brokerage business had been the veriest bucket shop, without pretense of honest trading. Her entire fortune had been engulfed. She was reduced to penury.

When the unfortunate woman came to estimate her position, she found little left over but debts, and when these were paid, her fortune consisted of two thoroughbred puppies which she had bought during the period of her paper prosperity.

Much as she hated to part with the animals, stern necessity compelled her. Finally she found a buyer to her liking who paid her $250 for the puppies.

Goddess of Fortune Smiles

With this money the lady was able to establish a small business along unusual lines. The goddess of fortune, after making her the butt of her darts, relented and smiled on the new venture, which proved successful beyond anything the unfortunate lady had dared hope. In a single year she cleared $5,000 above all her expenses, and the business is still growing.

Now, this just proves my oft repeated contention, that dogs are the best friends we have. Here was a woman left stranded, friendless and almost helpless, rescued in the nick of time by two little puppies, which she bought as the merest playthings.

Although this lady now had her $5,000 and a growing business, she always regretted having let the two puppies go. She sought out the purchaser of her pups and told the story to her. She asked if she could buy the dogs back. The purchaser gladly returned the dogs to her at the same price at which she had bought them, for she realized that this lady was indeed a true dog lover. The two little dogs are now in their old home, and I can safely say will be there until they start on their journey to dog heaven.

The Fox Terrier for the Past Forty-Five Years

By Prof. Eli Ward, Toronto "BELGRAVE JOE"

What memories the name awakes "Belgrave Joe," when I first saw him, had just passed his fifteenth birthday. I was on a lecturing tour through Great Britain, against one of the "isms" that bid fair to eat away the vitals of England. We were occupying the great Floral Hall at Leicester, and I sent a note to Mr. Luke Turner, asking if it were possible for me to see "Joe." Another Joe brought the reply-poor old Joe Forman. I was to go at once, and if he could have had his way, he would have kept me all the week. "Belgrave Joe" was running about like a homeless cur. He seemed master of all he surveyed; he could do nothing wrong. I was shown six litters by him, and if all had been made in the same mould, they could not have been more alike. What heads, legs, feet, coats, short backs, and ribs, "all by 'Joe'," was the remark passed. Then we looked at him, and when spoken to, he stood like a wooden dog. I could only find one fault with him, even in his fifteen years' span. His ears hung by the side of his head just a bit lifeless, but his front, shoulders, bone, feet and coat were A1. Then we were shown his son "Spice" and he was a spice-a regular red pepper. The roundest boned, smallest footed, shortest backed Fox Terrier we have ever seen up to now. He was brown tan marked on head, with spot at root of tail. We saw him three months later at Sheffield Show, where he won everything before him, and was soon after sold for $2,500.00 to America, but alas, he was worried by a Collie a few days after landing. To give the names of all the good Terriers "Belgrave Joe" sired would occupy too much space, hence to mention "Champion Spice," "Champion Olive" and "Brokenhurst Joe" will suffice as the blood of these are running in the veins of all our present-day champions. "Belgrave Joe" was by "Belvour Joe" out of "Brunston's White Vic." He was a dog seventeen and a half lbs., and his son "Champion Spice" was one pound less. There were other families of Fox Terriers about this time, but none seemed to breed as true to type and size as the "Belgrave" strain. In fact there were so many good looking dogs bred the wrong side of twenty lbs. that they were catered for at Birmingham for many years, but were at last stamped out, and I feel sure that a Fox Terrier sixteen lbs. to eighteen and a half lbs. is plenty large enough, and bitches from one pound to one and a half lbs. less is plenty large enough, for the most fastidious. When people talk about the Terrier for work, they must remember that "Reynard" will get to a place of safety in less room than it would take a fifteen-lb. Terrier, and I speak with practical knowledge. The present day Fox Terrier are exhibition dogs and nothing more. They are no doubt plucky. and some are aggressive, but don't bet your last dollar they can win, and follow the fox to his place of safety. The Shotley Bridge, County of Durham had a breed about twelve lbs. Two of these were carried in a game bag slung around the shoulder of the second horseman and to see them bolt a fox was a treat to be remembered. Since my last article, I have been like one in the Merchant of Venice. I have been tempted with dollar bills and for the first time in about fifty years I am without Bantams

My next article will deal with Messrs. Clarks, of Nottingham, Brokenhurst Ralley Strain.

Our Forthcoming Shows

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION DOG SHOW

The fall season is upon us already, almost before we had begun to realize that summer had come. The Dog fanciers of Canada associate the coming of the fall, with the arrival of the Canadian National Exhibition, and that gigantic institution is even now making rapid strides, and will actually be with us almost at once. The Dog Show of the Canadian National Exhibition is indeed a National event with the dog fancy. At this fixture may be met the backbone of the fancy from sea to sea, while our American cousins foregather here in ever increasing force, and this year will eclipse all its many predecessors in both respects. An unusual entry is anticipated and seldom has this great fixture been provided with better judicial talent than that selected to officiate this year. The premium lists are out, and if you have not yet entered your dog, there is no further time to lose, write to Canadian National Exhibition offices, Lumsden Building, Toronto, for entry forms, premium lists, or other information.

HAMILTON AND WENTWORTH KENNEL CLUB

This hustling young organization is getting ready to stage their Fall Show again, and are keeping up their matinee show features, which they find profitable, and a good way to keep the club interest in a healthy condition. The Secretary of last year, Mr. J. J. Dillon has had a terrible fight on his hands, trying to keep alive Several serious operations have been encountered in the bout, but he has dodged the knock-outs so far, and while he is yet far from being strong, the Club is anxious to have his leadership which cannot be given for obvious reasons, but friend Dillon's advice is as good as many another man's action, and this he gives out freely, and the Club will be benefitted to that extent.

Mr. W. M. Clendening, Court House Building, Hamilton, Ont., is the Show Secretary, and will be glad to correspond with any fancier who is concerned about the Show at Hamilton on September 22nd and 23rd. Particulars of Judge, and premium list attractions will be ready shortly. Send in your application for information now.

CENTRAL CANADA EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION

Have again demonstrated the fact of their being desirous of making their Dog Show at Ottawa just what they desire to make it, i.e., second to no other similar exhibition in the Dominion, and with that end in view they have again decided to have as their 1922 all-round judge the clever English expert John J. Holgate, of Doncaster, England, who will come over to Canada especially for that purpose. It will be remembered that on Mr. Holgate's last engagement at Ottawa, in 1922, a three point championship rating was obtained, and this year must beat even that fine showing or the Ottawa executive will be badly disappointed.

An elaborate classification has been prepared, and all the cash that was obtainable (see premium list for exact amount), has been secured, and has been allocated along the lines of placing the money where it will "do the most good to the greatest number," a policy that cannot fail to appeal to the utmost fancier, and a huge entry is anticipated at this fixture. Premium Lists are now ready, and if you have not secured your copy, apply as directed in our business columns, and your request will be attended to instanter.

TOY DOG CLUB OF MONTREAL "REG'D."

Is the youngest of Montreal's Canine Clubs, and is the outcome of a propaganda that culminated successfully at the office of Dr. Etienne, when about fifty followers of the "smaller" variety cast in their lot with the new Association, showing that the new Club was necessary, and has at once come into favor.

Following are the names of the first officers selected and elected to control the affairs of the "youngster" club. President, W. W. Brown; 1st Vice-President, Madame D. Beland; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. W. W. Brown; Secretary, Mr. Gagnon, 474 Magdalene St., Montreal, Que.; Treasurer, Mr. Prevost; Veterinarian, Dr. Etienne. Executive: Mrs. H. Wells, Mrs. A. NINETY-NINE DOLLARS, WITH INTEREST AND COSTS

Our readers will recall the circumstances whereby Mrs. J. H. Enright, Montreal, lost a brace of Cockers whilst in transit to Sherbrooke Exhibition last August by asphyxiation, whilst in their crates. The circumstance has been the subject of long drawn legal proceedings which have happily concluded.

"Enright's El Pajaro Jose," a black dog which was imported from Miss L. Hering's Kennels at Oakland, California, and a son of "Ch. Mission," who had won half a Canadian championship, was one of the two which were so unfortunately smothered, and "Enright's Dusty Rhoades," a parti-color (black and white) also a Californian-bred dog, from Mrs. F. Rhoades' Kennels at Watson Ville was the other dog, and he too was a son of a champion, this time "Ch. Denniston Nugget." The valuable brace were only valued at $50.00 (minimum) to save express charges, although their true value was undoubtedly several times that amount. The Dominion Express Company endeavored to prove that the cause of death was due to indigestion, but a medical test dissipated their contention. Their next argument was, that the weather was extremely hot, and that the crates were not large enough. It was proven that the same crate had been used for nineteen trips, eighteen of which were three times as long as the trip to Sherbrooke. The crate was produced in court, and two Cocker Spaniels placed inside, and demonstrated that the crate was ample for comfort, in respect to room and ventilation.

By courtesy of Mrs. Enright, we are able to print the judgment in the case for the benefit of our readers, many of whom we know are deeply interested.

Judgment in re Doyle and The Dominion Express Co.

The admission made by one of the defendant's witnesses of his mistake concerning the freight charge for the two dogs shipped in one crate and what occurred then, justifies plaintiff in bringing action for the full amount stated in the declaration (consent to amendment noted).

Without entering on a consideration of the many points raised in a case carefully prepared and presented on both sides, it appears to me that the weak point in the defendant's case is found in the evidence of the witness Butler.

The witness Kirkpatrick, who states that on the 30th August, the mercury stood at eighty-four degrees, and that it was a hot day, tells us that "the dogs were placed in the messenger car so that they may be looked after."

Butler who was in charge of the messenger car, and who also states that the day was very hot, tells us that he did once try to see into the crate (where the dogs were) through the holes in the crate but could not see them, as it was dark in the crate, and that he did not hear the dogs complain during the trip. And this from the evidence is the only notice or "looking after" that he took of the dogs.

It seems to me that, if, as he says, the crate was too small for two dogs, it was decided negligence on his part to have paid so little attention to the dogs, the more so indeed since they were so silent. (See Live Stock contract, paragraph 6, Section E).

It was incumbent on him as a "bon pere de famille" to have looked after the dogs more than he did, even to the extent of opening the crate, had he done so, the proof being that the dogs were in good condition when delivered to Defendants, the probability is that the dogs would have reached their destination

Under the circumstances, plaintiff is entitled to succeed.

Judgment for Plaintiff for ninety-nine dollars ($99.00) with interest and costs.

(Sgd.) J. D. PURCELL J. C. C. 30th June, 1922.

Brown, Montgomery & McMichael, for the Plaintiff.

MEREDITH & HILDEN, for the Defendants.

PREPARING FOR THE FALL CIRCUIT

The Ormsby Wire Haired Fox Terrier Kennels are in the midst of their preparations for the fall circuit starting at Sherbrooke, and already forty-eight individual specimens have been stripped of their superfluous coats, and from that number, a string of twenty-four will be selected to uphold the stables' colors in the show ring.

Mr. Alf. Delmont, handler for the Ormsby establishment, will be visiting in Europe by the time this reaches our readers, Mrs. Delmont has gone across with her hustling husband. The trip will be of the short and speedy variety, as Mr. Delmont intends being on hand in good time for the Canadian National Exhibition.

THE GENERAL DOG FANCIERS' CLUB

There is a new name for you, and no doubt you will be wondering from whence it came, and whither it goeth, but we will not keep you curious too long. The General Dog Fanciers' Club, is the chief canine club of the new world, with its office at Sydney, New South Wales, where it operates under Kennel Association Rules, and continues to make very steady progress right along. As an indication of just what we mean by that, we would mention that when Sam Crabtree judged there on his round-the-world trip, they gathered 1,010 entries for his scrutiny.

A canine magazine is a possibility, and negotiations are now going on with that end in view. Miss C. P. Brooks, the Honorary Secretary, advises us that Mr. H. M. Somer, Secretary of the Royal Agricultural Society of New South Wales is now in the United States, and hopes to visit Canada, and we bespeak a hearty reception for this good fancier from the Antipodes, whenever, and wherever he sees fit to visit any of our Kennels, and that his associating with us will give him some good data that he may see fit to use in building up the sport in his part of the world.

"MONARCH NIGHTRAIDER" OFF TO THE U.S.A.

"Monarch Nightraider," a real good Bulldog who kept right on improving with age, has been sold to Mr. H. D. Dwight of the Cerebus Kennels, Flint, Mich., by Mr. C. Webber of London, at a tempting figure. By "Diamond Red Demon" (Imp.) out of a "Kilburn Fascinator" (Imp.) bitch "Nightraider" was a good blooded one. As a showman, he won for 1st Junior the first time out of half a dozen tries, and landed in reserve winners place at Brantford and London, and if he keeps on improving he will do better than that yet.

GIVING DOGS MEDICINE

Administering medicines to a dog is somewhat of a trick, but a great deal more simple than most people suppose. Unless the dog is a very large one, in which case someone may have to hold the patient, one person can administer the medicines. The best way is to stand or sit over the dog and grip him at the shoulders between your knees. The mouth should be opened with the left hand by closing it down over the muzzle and pressing the upper lips against the teeth, the dog will not bite, since he will come down on his own lips. In giving liquids, it is more convenient not to open the mouth at all, but the muzzle should be held with the thumb and first finger, the middle finger stuck in beside the teeth and the lips pulled out to one side. This makes a natural funnel into which the liquid can be easily poured, especially if the dose has been measured out into a small, wide mouthed bottle. After the medicine (dry or liquid) has been put in the mouth, the head should be elevated, the mouth held closed and the throat tickled to induce swallowing. Do not let the dog lower his head, till you are assured he has taken his dose.

A Few Maxims

By Sydney Castle
To the Breeder

Don't be disheartened if you don't breed a winner in each litter; remember that life is, made up of disappointments, and in nothing is there more of this than breeding Fox Terriers. "Job never kept Fox Terriers."

Remember that if show Fox Terriers could be bred as easily as rabbits or white mice, they would only be as valuable.

Don't try and breed too many puppies, or keep too many brood bitches.

Don't wear out a prolific brood bitch by breeding from her every time. It is a good maxim to breed two litters, then rest her for a year.

It is not always the most advertised stud dogs that are the best sires, and it does not follow because a stud dog gets a winner from one bitch that he will get one from yours.

Use your brains in choosing a mate for your bitch; it is better to mate the pedigrees than the animals. Put your bitch's pedigree on paper and compare it with the sires' you intend to select from.

Don't waste time and trouble in breeding from bad ones. The man who owns the best bitches generally produces the best puppies.

Spare no expense in doing your puppies well, whether at home or at "walk." Good feeding, exercise, warm quarters, and absolute cleanliness are essential for a puppy's welfare.

Don't be in a hurry to sell your young puppies. The ugly duckling of the litter often turns out to be the swan of the party.

Dock your puppies and remove dewclaws when fourteen days old, wean them at six or seven weeks. Treat them for worms at eight weeks.

Don't proclaim to everybody you meet that you have bred a flyer, the best you ever saw, etc. Most well-bred puppies appear champions when six weeks old but they have a nasty habit of losing the reputations which you have been foolish enough to bestow upon them.

Never show a litter you value in a "litter class," at even your local show. The risk is not justified by the possible small gain to even your vanity or your pocket.

Keep friends with the cook; she can make the puppies' food better than your kennelman, and it is very handy to have your litter of puppies in the kitchen during a cold winter, or a sick terrier by the kitchen fire.

To the Exhibitor

Learn to show your exhibit to the best advantage, both in the way you handle him, and the way he behaves himself.

Don't be in a hurry to show a young puppy; nine or ten months old is time enough if it is a good one. "Venio" and "Vesuvienne" were not benched till just on twelve months old.

Don't talk to, or try to attract the judge's attention to your animal, to the detriment of your competitors.

Let your lead be long enough to give your dog liberty of action, but not to get twisted round other people's legs like a fishing line.

Don't be downhearted if you get a card, nor over-elated if you win first prize; but rather strive to lose like a man, and win like a gentleman.

In making your entries, read the conditions carefully and act up to them, and remember that your animal must be registered at the Kennel Club, or if you have purchased your dog, the transfer of ownership must also be registered, details which are often overlooked; result—disqualification for the dog, and much regrets to the careless owner.

See that your dog is comfortably benched, and that he has sufficient food before going into the ring. Don't blow him out like a balloon, nor show him so empty that he looks slack in his loin.

Watch carefully for any signs of distemper in your young puppy; forestall the malady by a timely "Tisley" while at the show, and again when you get home.

Don't encourage your exhibit to fight in the ring; he becomes a nusiance to everybody in general and to the judge in particular. Besides, over-excitement detracts from the animal's good appearance.

The practice of buying a dog from a judge, and exhibiting the animal under him almost directly afterwards, is not thought highly of, and should not be encouraged. It often puts the judge in an invidious position.

Don't show your Wire Haired Fox Terriers with all their old shaggy coats on. Put them down in the best possible form as you would yourself. Don't over-trim them; it is almost as bad as the other extreme.

If you show your "Wires" in tip top condition as to coat, don't boast that you never touch them; because others know that either your statement is a pure invention or else that your man trims them, because he can do it better than you can yourself.

If you use chalk to whiten your terriers, do so before you get to the show, and see that it is all brushed out. It looks bad for a cloud of white dust to appear when the judge handles or pats your dog's coat in the ring.

Don't over-show a good dog. It may be very profitable to win fifty prizes in one month, but continual benching and travelling all over the country in a dog box is not conducive to your dog's good health. Many a promising terrier has been ruined through being over-shown.

Don't boast when you succeed nor cry when you fail.

Brent was looking for a good canine companion and had answered an advertisement in the newspaper.

"You advertise a sensible dog for sale?" he said, hopefully, to the shabby individual who answered his knock.

"I do," was the guarded reply.

"What do you mean by a sensible dog?" questioned Brent.

"This one has never had a ribbon round his neck, and has never ridden in a motor car since the day he was born. He's a happy, bone-burying, cat-chasing, 100 per cent. dog!"

And Brent paid down the price demanded without a murmur.

AN exceptional litter of puppies sired by International Champion "Dolf von Dusternbrook" and out of "Loni of Strongheart." The Dam, as a show bitch of finished quality, is well known and carries the blood lines of the following German Grand Champions: "Sieger Tell von der Kriminalpoleis," "Sieger Roland von Starkenburg," "Sieger Luchs von Kalsmunt Wetzlar," and the great "Guntar Uckermark" and his Dam, the 1906 Siegerin "Gretel Uckermark," producing in the pups of this mating twice the blood lines of "Sieger Roland von Starkenburg," "Guntar Uckermark" and "Siegerin Gretel Uckermark." We feel confident in saying that this litter possesses in blood lines the very flower of the breed and we recommend them especially to breeders as foundation stock.

Ready for delivery about August 1st

Also three and six months old puppies, representing the blood lines of the Great German Siegers.

We have on the way from Germany two males and three females which were bought for us by Joseph Schwabacher, the well-known German judge. This shipment represents the most careful selection both in breeding and show records that Mr. Schwabacher could secure.

Prices and particulars will be furnished on request.

OUR BOB

As a sire, this beautiful little dog has already created a sensation among the Canadian fanciers. He is siring small, beautifully marked puppies, which possess wonderful heads and short, square muzzles. This, of course, is to be expected, as he comes from two of America's greatest toy Bostons, namely, "Dowd's Little Man" and "Ted Bindo." This alone accounts for his large litters of small, even puppies. All indications point to his becoming one of the greatest sires in Canada.

As a show dog he demonstrated his qualities at the Boston Terrier Specialty Show, January 2nd, 1922, running second only to "Our King Pin" in his classes, with the best dogs in Canada benched.

THIS STERLING LITTLE TERRIER CANNOT BE EXCELLED AS A SIRE. READ THIS RECORD.

"Selected" has sired just five litters, last two being only six weeks old. Litter No. 1 produced "By Town Little Lady," Reserve Winners at London, 1921, and since sold to the U.S.A. "By Town Selected," who went so sensationally from Puppy to Winners at Montreal Kennel Association's Spring Show, 1921. "By Town Artist," 1st Puppy, 2nd Limit, Ladies' Kennel Club Show (Montreal) 1921.

THREE SHOW TERRIERS IN ONE LITTER!

Litter No. 2 produced "By Town Bootlegger," who went from Puppy to Winners, to Best Terrier in Show, all breeds, at only seven months old. This young dog, now 10 months old, is pronounced by experts to be one of the best now out.

Litter No. 3 produced "By Town Selected White," a beautiful all white bitch which went from Puppy to Winners Bitches and Reserve for Best Terrier, to her kennel mate, "Bootlegger." Then, coupled with "By Town White Lady," was best brace, all breeds, at Central Canada Exhibition Show (Ottawa) 1921.

Surely this constitutes a record-for a sire to produce three winners from the first three litters sired by him.
