HEFTY ARGO

AT STUD

FEE -- TO HIGH CLASS BITCHES -- $25.00 FOR THE PRESENT

Leaving out all "if's" and "buts," Hefty Argo is a really high class bulldog.

I HAVE been repeatedly asked this question: "How did you come to own Hefty Argo?" The story is a short one, so I'll tell it now for the benefit of those interested. When Hefty Argo was only a tiny tot of 3 months, I tried to purchase him from Mr. Jack Meadows, Oakville, Ont. (now of Vancouver), but Jack said NO. Almost daily, for the next nine months, I tried to buy that bulldog pup. I noticed the slight defect that I knew was responsible for keeping him back from the purple silk. One day I said "Hefty Argo is to be my dog," and the bulldog world knows that now he is mine. Only one short hour after he became the property of the Kamel Bulldog Kennels he was on the operating table and had his ingrowing eyelids rectified by my veterinary, Dr. J. A. Campbell, and as soon as possible thereafter I knew the operation was the success I anticipated, and since then my confidence in the dog has been amply repaid by his performance on the show bench, and his success as a stud force.

This advertisement tells of his greatest wins, and to a dog lover they represent the zenith of ambition. As a Sire he has had 27 chances and only missed two. He is satisfied with that, and so am I. His puppies are of a very high average quality.

Hefty Argo will not be sold under any circumstances, no matter what the extent of the "other fellow's" cheque may be. He is my ideal bulldog, my property and my pal, and that ends the story—How do you like it?

HEFTY ARGO (C.K.C.S.B. 39385

His latest wins, when shown at Toronto Kennel Club's great International Show last Good Friday and Saturday, include the Bulldog Classes, 1st Canadian Bred, 1st Limit (over 45 lbs.), 1st Open (over 45 lbs.), Winners Dogs, and Best of Breed; Cup for Best Non-Sporting Dog or Bitch in Show; Cup for Best Canadian Bred Dog or Bitch in Show; Best Bulldog (male); Best Bulldog (either sex); and—let this sink in—Trophy for Best Dog in Show, All Breeds. On this outstanding win I have received shoals of congratulations, and naturally I appreciate them, but here is one that I intend to get framed, since it shows true sportsmanship between interested exhibitors:—

Dear Sir—My very sincere congratulations on your great win at Toronto. From all accounts, your dog went over as the best in show, justly and rightly, and you have my best wishes for the future.

Very truly yours,
E. M. BURKE.

Thanks, Mr. Burke, I realize that I won over the best, when I won over your beautiful Russian Wolfhound, Princess Orloff, who will conquer over the best herself yet, or I am greatly mistaken.

A MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB will be held at the offices of the Club, 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, May 21st, 1925, commencing at 8 o'clock.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Club's offices, 25 Melinda St., Toronto, on Thursday evening, April 16, 1925, at 8 o'clock. In the absence of the President, Mr. Joseph Russell, the First Vice-President, Col. G. F. McFarland, presided.

Directors in attendance included—Dr. J. N. MacRae, Gen C. M. Nelles, and Messrs. H. Clayton, V. G. Perry, N. K. Swire. (Correction:—We omitted from our printed minutes for March meeting the name of Mr. W. B. Cleland (Hamilton) as being present, a circumstance we exceedingly regret. As a matter of fact, Mr. Cleland was present at the March meeting and took a very definite interest on everything coming before that meeting).

The Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting, and on motion they were declared adopted as read.

The Secretary reported that the listing fees collected at the recent United Canine All Breed Show had been paid, and that he had been given a 90-day note for the balance.

The Secretary reported that the Fire Insurance Policy had been raised to $2,000.00.

The matter of the offer of Spratt's Patent, Limited (London, England), to furnish the Canadian Kennel Club with official entry forms for the use of show giving Clubs was left over until next meeting.

The matter of the letter of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, which had been on the table since the previous meeting, was considered, and the following resolution became the finding of the Board:—

"That the Secretary be instructed to write the Royal Winter Fair Association, advising that, owing to the fact that the prize money offered at the Dog Show of the Royal Winter Fair is not contributed by the Royal Winter Fair Association, and furthermore, that dog shows of equal status are run from Coast to Coast, it will be impossible to donate to one, without donating to them all, and we are reluctantly compelled to decline the suggestion contained in the letter for the present."

The Secretary presented the following accounts for payment:—

And it was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—

"That the applicants be received to membership."

The Secretary reported the details of the tragedy which had overtaken our good member, Mrs. Geo. W. Bailey, Ottawa, wherein he had lost his wife in an auto truck accident, and was instructed to send a letter of condolence to Mr. Bailey, in the name of the Board of Directors.

The Secretary reported that Mr. H. B. Charlton and his legal adviser, Mr. C. C. Slemin of Slemin & Slemin, barristers, Brantford, were in waiting in accordance with the requirements of the resolution passed at the March meeting of the Directors.

Col. G. F. McFarland advised Mr. Slemin, that the matter which concerned his client, had come before the Directors in the form of a complaint made by Mrs. W. E. Porter, 8019 Colfax St., Denver, Colo., U.S.A., who complained against Mr. Charlton's right to use the picture of his dog, in connection with the advertising of his (Charlton's) dog.

Mr. Slemin said that his client was a member of the Canadian Kennel Club and as such, would be entitled to its protection, and requested that he would be so protected. It would be quite unfair to Mr. Charlton, if the Board took action in the matter of the complaint, before he had a chance to protect himself. Mr. Slemin questioned the jurisdiction of trying the case. Col. McFarland said, that the Canadian Kennel Club had no jurisdiction over matters of a civil nature, and had no power to assess damages, but the Club had certain disciplinary powers, the same as similar Clubs had, and the question was whether or not Mr. Charlton was guilty of misrepresentation, and if he was, he would be guilty of misconduct. Mr. Slemin said that if action was taken, and anything happened it would be detrimental to Mr. Charlton in his business life in Brantford. Mr. Slemin asked if the prosecution had come from Brantford and was advised that certain correspondence had come from Brantford but that it had never been considered in connection with the complaint.

Photographs of Mrs. W. E. Porter's Boston Terrier "Ch. Mosholu Buddy Blink" and Mr. Charlton's "Charlton's Big Ben" were carefully examined, and it was admitted that the picture of the latter was a manufactured picture which had been taken because of its likeness to Mr. Charlton's dog. It was further admitted that the picture was taken from the canine magazine "Dogdom."

Col. McFarland said: "Then we may presume that the picture used was that of Mrs. W. E. Porter's dog, and that certain alterations had been made." Mr. Slemin thought that a picture could be manufactured to show a dog, and stressed the argument that his client had so believed, and that he had acted in perfectly good faith, with no thought of gain in connection with the arrangement. At this stage Mr. Charlton endeavoured to show the exactness of the likeness to his dog "Charlton's Big Ben." Mr. Slemin pleading for Mr. Charlton said that it would be too bad for the Club to penalize Mr. Charlton for doing something that had been done in absolutely good faith. Col. McFarland said that it was quite clear that Mr. Charlton had a cut made from the picture of Mrs. Porter's dog to faithfully represent his own dog. Mr. Slemin said, yes, but thought that Mr. Charlton had a good defence, since he had acted in good faith, and asked that his client be given the benefit of the doubt. He thanked the Directors for the manner in which they had heard him, and regretted that he had been unable to put the case before them better.

After Mr. Slemin and Mr. Charlton had retired—it was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—

"That Mr. H. B. Charlton be suspended for two years for misrepresentation."

The Secretary advised the Board that Mr. Charles Keleher, Milliken, Ont., was in waiting, and that his mission was to explain why a picture of the Boston Terrier "The Toddler," a Chicago dog, had been used in connection with the advertising of his dog "Highway Duke" in the catalogue of The Boston Terrier Club of Canada Specialty Show held at Toronto on New Year's Day, 1925. Mr. Keleher was called and was advised regarding the complaint, and asked to explain what appeared to be a misrepresentation. Mr. Keleher said that he had a cut of "The Toddler" made, but had never intended using it. He had no intention of infringing on anyone's rights. He had just liked the cut and had had one made. He did not deny that the cut complained of was the cut of "The Toddler." He admitted being morally guilty, but insisted that he had not intended to use the cut. He said that he had explained his position the best way he could, and left the matter entirely in their hands.

After Mr. Keleher had retired, It was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—

"That Mr. Charles Keleher be suspended for a period of six months for misrepresentation."

ALSATIANISTS AT TRIAL PRACTICE.

A new venture and a popular one with the members of the Alsatian Shepherd Dog Club of Canada, was inaugurated on Sunday morning, April 26th, when at the invitation of Mr. Ed. Yates the Club hustling Secretary, about 100 Shepherd Dog enthusiasts and their dogs met in a field adjoining the Eglinton Hunt Club, Toronto.

Mr. George Moffat the club's President, introduced Dr. J. N. MacRae (who had motored in from his new Oak Park Farms, near Paris, Ont., for the training exercises) to the assembled crowd. The Doctor taking the list of preliminary and advanced trials as prepared by the Club, explained just what had to be accomplished between an owner and his dog, before the latter could be expected to qualify in the actual trials later on obedience, prompt and absolute was the foundation of all trial success, the lessons easy and often at first, and gradually advancing to the advanced lessons. Dr. O. Elliott was then called on to demonstrate what Dr. MacRae had described. And the ever obliging Dr. Elliott with his wonderfully uncanny dog "Paddie" went through the several trials perfectly and easily. Mr. Al Keith turned his dog "Laddie" over to his six-year-old son "Mac" and the little toddler took his dog 500 yards away, bade him "stay put," and then retraced his steps back to the starting place on the full gallop, whilst "Laddie" held his soul in patience, and not before little Mac recovered his wind and was able to make his little treble voice audible to the distant dog did "Laddie" move an inch, finally when he did catch "His Master's Voice" he made "record" time in rejoining the youthful "Mac." After these stellar performances, the rank and file were invited to show off their achievements in training their dogs, and it falls to be recorded now that the Club officials, plus the 100 folks which made up the crowd, plus the many interested members of the Hunt Club who watched the trials from the elevated positions of their horses' backs were all very agreeably surprised.

The meeting was most enjoyable and on Sunday, May 9th, another practice will be held, and anyone wishing to participate or be present should get in touch with the secretary, Mr. T. E. Yates, 181 Heward Avenue, Toronto, concerning time and place. The enthusiasm can be gauged correctly when we say that a dozen of those present motored 100 miles to be present.

Toronto Kennel Club Spring Show

It is quite some time ago since we reported a spring show for Toronto Kennel Club, but the delay is forgotten in the pleasure of our now recording the fact that the show was one of the best ever held in Toronto with 353 dogs benched, and 707 entries, made the old wholesale house of Gowans-Kent, Front Street East, Toronto, as busy as a bee's hive on Good Friday and Saturday. The building was not ideal for the purpose by any means, but it was the best available, and the decorations put up by the show committee quite enlivened the several floors where the dogs were benched. Commodious exercising rings were conveniently situated, and thanks to Wood's Odorless Disinfectant which was freely used, there was no trace of odor in the building.

Mr. Emo Meyer, Cincinnati, Ohio, was the little giant who separated the corn from the chaff in all the breeds, and seldom, if ever, has a more efficient job of judging been done in Toronto. It would indeed be hypocritical for us to chronicle the circumstance of every exhibitor being satisfied, but we can truthfully say that every exhibitor realized that he was receiving a man's honest opinion of the dog benched, which realization in itself goes far towards satisfying any sporting person.

The task was too much for any one man, and although Mr. Meyer never faltered nor complained, we feel sure that the show committee were satisfied that they were working their judge unreasonably hard. The committee had the satisfaction of knowing that Mr. Meyer was not the only overwrought individual in the show, since they themselves had been working night and day preparing the show for him.

Several surprises have confronted us as we have analyzed the entry. For instance Smooth Fox Terriers were only 6 dogs behind the more popular Wires, 9 of the 19 entered were from the noted Claycliffe Kennels of Mr. Joseph Russell, Toronto, and he was successful in winning 1st, 2nd and 3rd puppy dogs, and 2nd and 3rd puppy bitches; and other prizes including reserve winners bitches. This breed is again coming to the front, and ere long will be one of our most popular and largest entries. Alsations (Shepherd Dogs) not so long ago unknown in Canadian competition had 32 dogs benched, and ranking in comparative strength as 4th in number of dogs benched. Here again Canadian bred Alsations were only nosed out of highest honors in males and females by imported specimens owned by the Weddingen Kennels of Detroit. Ali v. Winkwitz, a big outstanding son of Alex v. Westfalenheim winning for his sex, and Bretta of Friedenster for bitches. Mr. R. Wilkinson handling.

Mr. J. G. Goldie, Galt, had a brace of home-breds sired by Cito v. Island, that with maturity will indeed be hard to stop. This pair is only 9 months old, and are already real contenders. Russian Wolfhounds made a nice show in themselves and counted 17 in number, and were equal in this respect with Airedale Terriers, which also totalled 17 dogs benched. Winners dogs and bitches were found in the Vaski entry Ch. Galaroff, O'Valley Farm and Princess Orloff. Both animals were in nice condition, and the latter was much favored for best in show honors, however this failed to materialize at the crucial moment, and was placed reserve to best in show. Reserve Winners dogs went to Romanoff Peterkoff, and reserve in bitches went to the enthusiastic George Oakley, Toronto. Boston Terriers held the front of the stage with 40 nice entries. As in Alsations a pair of lightweight Bostons from Detroit won the Royal Purple ribbons. They were Jab's King Tut, and Ketesons Worthy Maid, both are owned by Mrs. E. D. Daley, Detroit. Reserve Winners dogs was Mr. G. A. Beaumont's (Toronto) Rialto Peach, and in bitches, Mr. R. B. Pincomb's (Strathroy, Ont.) Nations Dream Baby. This little madam was removed from the show on the first night, and as the catalogue through a printer's error had made her a year old on April 6th, whereas her birth certificate had it April 16th, there was talk of protest, or worse, but in a case of this kind, certain enquiries should be made before anyone shouts "protest." Collies were 19, with a great deal of quality evenly distributed over the entry. Mr. J. N. Levine's (Timmins, Ont.) Pineridge Sweet Mary, taking best of breed honors over the best field she has met to date. Cockers were 17 all told, and gave a very definite argument for the abolition of separate championship rating for Solids and Parti-colors. In 12 classes of dogs 7 had 2 dogs entered, and 5 classes had only one entered. Bitch classes had more in quantity, but less in quality, the aggregation earning 12 championship points. A new fancier, Mr. W. M. Miskelly (Toronto), on his first appearance as an exhibitor, won Winners and Reserve dogs with two black puppy sons of Farewell's Man O' War that looked pretty nice stuff. The same owner won reserve bitches parti-color with the mother of the above brace.

Doberman Pinchers had an entry of 5, and all were Toronto owned, and of course shared the spoils like neighbors should. This entry would seem to indicate that the breed was taking hold in Canada.

English Bulldogs numbered 34, and were much admired. All the recent winners were out to get Mr. Meyer's opinion as to their relative merits, and he gave it this way: 1st, Hefty Argo (Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes, Toronto); 2nd, Ch. Dauntless Dan (Mr. Jas. Cassina, Toronto); 3rd, Prince of Wales (Mr. Chas. S. Webber, London); reserve, Piccadilly Victorious (W. E. Cooper, London). This was a nice class to watch being judged. The much abused Ch. St. Roche Girl Guide, again scored for her sex and incidentally added further testimony to her personal merit. Reserve went to W. Cooper's Piccadilly Pansy. The Pekingese were strongest in numbers for the Toy section with 35 entered. The winners and reserve winners dogs and winners and reserve winners bitches were all Toronto owned, and most of them Toronto bred. The reserve winners dog and winners bitch being two Pekes out of one litter, and were bred by Mrs. Peter Herd, Toronto. Mrs. M. Mitchell's typical Beau Fang of Badmington winning best of breed honors. Treleavan and Hatchers (Toronto) won reserve winners with their T'samara of Chinatown. Pomeranians benched 30, and the higher placings were shared by the kennels of Mr. Geo. Puncheon, Mrs. J. N. Bruce, and Mr. J. T. Waggitt, all of Toronto.

Beagles, Irish Terriers, Scottish Terriers and Whippets were all breeds that were weaker in numbers than they were in quality.

The officials headed by the President, Mr. Jack McNaughton the Club's President were an active lot of men. Mr. G. McFadden (Show Secretary) absorbed the grind like a galley slave. Mr. Peter Herd and Mr. Arthur Hanson, superintendent and assistant superintendent respectively, were the buffers of the show, and special mention of these workers must be made. Mr. Herd says "Never Again" but those of us who know Peter best, know well enough that he will smile and say "Dog Show" in the Spring of 1926 again. The attendance was encouraging and the weather favorable, and the show was a success in every way. Dr. J. A. Campbell and Dr. E. Jones were the official veterinarians, and gave the show a clean bill of health at all times. The official ring stewards were Gen.

C. M. Nelles (Niagara-on-the-Lake) and Colonel G. F. McFarland (Toronto) and right well did they perform their duties. The outstanding feature of the show as far as dogs were concerned, was a pair of massive Newfoundlanders and we wish to compliment the owners Mr. J. P. E. Brown (Toronto) and Mr. F. H. Robinson (Cookstown, Ont.) on the wonderful condition and quality of both these elegant specimens.

The closing moments of this show were tense, and excitement was at a high pitch. Nine specimens of different breeds which might be considered the cream of the show paraded before the judge for his final analysis of their respective degrees of merit. The owners had spent much time in getting their dogs ready for this the final test. Every eye was turned unconsciously on the Vaski entry, Princess Orloff, who appeared in a coat of snowy whiteness, every hair of her coat laid out to the best advantage, in fact a picture. Her handler, Mr. Bert Swann, always a past master in handling dogs of this kind, eagerly sought every advantage to show his charge. The judge seemed to favor these dogs particularly, and from time to time visited their locations in the ring. Olcliffe Lapful, a Wire Haired Fox Terrier, ably handled by the Montreal owner of the "Warrior" Prefix, Mr. Jack Steer, was closely gone over. At the south side of the ring, and never letting up for a second, was the bulldog Hefty Argo, showing for his life; his owner, Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes, seemed to be lost in his dog, and quite oblivious to what was going on around him. To make the most of the "main chance" was his constant care, the moments were indeed tense, and finally Mr. Meyer went to his table, got the cup—a beauty—and the coveted ribbon, and seemed to make a start for the Russian Wolfhound, and the crowd was ready to "let go," but as Burns said "The best laid plans o' men an' mice gang aft agley," and in the center of the ring he took a right turn and finished up at the Bulldog to the delirious delight of Mr. Sparkes, and the aforementioned "Let go" from the ringside.

After the crowd dispersed, President Mr. J. McNaughton and his officers and members went into the ring and officially complimented Mr. Enno Meyer on his splendid work for the Club, and the midnight chimes were mixed with the strains of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Mr. Meyer mentioned that the work had been strenuous, but he was satisfied and very pleased with his reception in Toronto and the manner in which the exhibitors had accepted his placings, which were honestly and fearlessly given.

POPULAR ALSATIANISTS AMALGAMATE.

The well-known Alsatian fanciers, Dr. J. N. MacRae and John G. Goldie, both of Galt, Ontario, have purchased the well-known Oak Park Farm at Paris, Ont., which consists of 540 acres on the Grand River, and where a general farming business will be carried on. The oak Park Farm is said to be one of the Eastern Canada's finest farming establishments, which, when farmed on modern principles can be made—possibly—the best.

Both principals are ardent Alsatianists breeding along the best lines of the German breeders, and no doubt stock raised at Oak Park will often be heard of at future dog shows. Quite recently two Alsations were sold to the Department of Forests, and the other day two females, Clem von Bern, and Sylvia von Bern, were sold to the Oak Ridges Kennels of Mr. L. G. Baker.

VANCOUVER KENNEL CLUB SHOW

Vancouver Kennel Club held its fourth annual spring show on April 10th and 11th, when dogs filled the benches out at Hastings Park. The noted Mr. G. S. Thomas, of Hamilton, Mass. was advertised to judge the show, but was prevented on account of the sudden illness of Mrs. Thomas. In his unavoidable and regrettable absence, a meeting was called prior to the opening of the show, and two local fanciers were delegated to take over Judge Thomas' duties. The two men were Mr. Wm. H. Pym, and Mr. Jack Meadows late of Oakville, Ont., and history will record that they gave a good account of themselves in this emergency.

DO DOGS THINK?

By Canis Major.

It would probably be a startling experience for us if our own dog's mind were to be revealed to us by means of a clever invention. Supposing someone discovered a machine which would record the thoughts of animals and transcribe them into human speech, in the same way as the telegraphic codes of dots are turned into ordinary words at the G.P.O. in London! I wonder what the effect would be upon those of us who read the message on the tape?

Would it read "My mistress is the handsomest woman in Britain and if any dog dares contradict me I'll fight him, no matter what his size may be?" Judging by the way dogs look into the faces of their women-owners, worshipping them and paying gallant compliments with their eyes, it is likely that this would be a frequent message. Dogs are great flatterers, but the pleasant part of the business is that we know it is sincere admiration and not mere toadyism or bluff.

Or do you think the tape-message from the dog's mind would read; "My master is a beast of a fellow; he has a horrible voice and a heavy foot! I hate him like I hate rats?" Perhaps you know of some men who own dogs and ill-treat them in such a way as to deserve the condemnation. But it is doubtful if you know a dog who would express such an opinion, even of a cruel and neglectful owner and I often think that this is one of the most beautiful traits in canine character, for a dog is always ready to forgive and forget. In face of this belief it seems to me to be an act of base treachery to neglect or ill-use so loyal a friend.

Scoffers may ask how we know the opinions of dogs, seeing that they cannot talk or that a machine for translating their thoughts has not yet been invented.

Contributed to Kennel and Bench by C. Van Camp, Montreal.

Recently I was asked if I could explain the meaning of the word "Sieger"—a title given to the Alsatian Shepherd Dog. In Continental Europe, Germany, Austria, Belgium, etc., Dog Shows are judged in a manner different from those prevailing in North America. Here in Canada a dog becomes a champion after gaining ten points at three different Shows held under Canadian Kennel Club rules, and when judged under three different judges. It does not make the slightest difference if the dog be merely a third-rater or a top-notch; as long as he gets the ten points he becomes a title-holder—a champion. Some owners of the poorer class of shepherd dogs are clever enough to confine themselves to those small shows where they have no competition—or, at least, are sure not to meet any really first-class dogs. Later on, when the necessity arises of showing this made-to-order champion to the public at a better or bigger show, the owner's cleverness asserts itself again, and the dog is entered "for exhibition only!" That is why I personally don't care for most of the champions that are made this way, and I think very little of their crowns.

Not So In Europe.

There is no chance whatsoever for anyone to get away with such flimsiness in Europe. Most European countries have more numerous shows than the countries on this side of the Atlantic, but no champions are made by way of winning so many points. In Germany, for instance (the real home of the so-called "Alsatian," but which in fact is the German Shepherd Dog), the judge gives the dogs four classifications, viz.: Fair, Good, Very Good and Excellent. At the end of the season a Sieger (championship) Show is held, where the dogs, who have been awarded Very Good and Excellent at the shows during the year, will compete. At the Sieger Show only one competitor is awarded the title of Sieger for the Male Class, and one competitor for the Female Class, who is given the title of Siegerin.

This means that there are only two champions made in a year.

314 German Shepherd Dogs In One Show.

At the Sieger Show held in Hannover, September, 1924, no less than three hundred and fourteen Shepherd Dogs were entered to compete for the grand honor of the year, viz.: the titles, Sieger and Siegerin (Champions). The name of the 1924 Sieger is Donor von Overstolzen, a pure black dog, eighteen months old, just through his training. To win the title of Sieger (Champion) it is absolutely necessary for the dog to have qualified in a trial (Police or Herd), as the Shepherd Dog must be a working dog. This above-named Sieger cannot be used as a stud dog, according to the regulations, until the second year—otherwise he loses his title of Sieger. Nor may he be sold to anyone in another country before there have appeared some of his progeny in his home country.

Genuine Competition.

In my estimation, the owner of a Sieger in Germany may be very proud of his dog, because his dog has won the title in the hottest competition of his own breed. I have never known that one of these Siegers was ever defeated by another dog of his breed in another country. The reason is evident that the judge or jury who have awarded the title were men who knew their business and were not simply good guessers.

Inexcusable Ignorance.

Here in our country we have to trust our dogs to the hands of judges who know very little about the German Shepherd—and care less—men, who, with very few exceptions, would be immediately embarrassed if they were asked a few questions on the breed. The majority of these judges, being men who have never seen Alsations away from home.

I was showing Shepherd Dogs in Montreal twelve years ago. There was then an excuse for the poor judging at that time because the breed was a novelty in those days. But to-day the German Shepherd Dog (erroneously called the Alsatian), is popular enough to deserve as a judge a man whose sole knowledge and reputation has not been acquired through witnessing a farcical Police Dog Trial in Canada or the United States.

No First Prize Awarded.

I was present at a show in Brussels, Belgium, when six dogs appeared in the same class. The opinion of the judge was that none of the six dogs had enough quality to earn a first prize, so only a second prize was awarded to the best dog of the six. If our own judges carried as much conviction at dog shows, what a dispersal of crown-seekers there would be!

The Matter of Color.

I wish to say a few words regarding color in the German Shepherd or "Alsatian." Most of us know that the novice-fancier of this breed is looking for prick-ears first, and color after. They want a silver-grey or something next to it. I remember when I had puppies advertised for sale, and when someone telephoned to me, the first thing I was asked was always, "What color are the pups, sir?" I was never questioned about the Sire or Dam, the quality, etc. But many times I was asked whether these two-months-old puppies were house-broken or not.

In discussing the subject of color in Shepherd Dogs lately, a German agent was setting forth the assertion that not three per cent. of the dogs shown in Germany at the present time are of the silver grey or light grey color. He claims this color in the German Police Dog (Alsatian), is fast going out of existence in the better class of dog shows in Germany, and states that the black and tan dog is at the present time the popular fancy. I know, myself, at least a dozen Siegers, all black and tan in color or jet black. We all know that an even, matched color is more pleasing to the eye than any other, but I think it is our duty to teach the novice that he or she should look more for quality than for color. If beauty is only a matter of thickness of skin color is superficial, and it has nothing to do with the good points of the dog. Sieger Erich von Grafenwerth is a black and tan dog, and he was sold in Germany for five thousand dollars—United States money.

HARRY WHITLEY (MONTREAL) GETTING IN DEEPER.

We have just learned that Mr. Harry Whitley, who recently purchased from the noted Mr. George S. Thomas, Hamilton, Mass., "Kold Kash," the outstanding Puppy Winner at the recent New York Shows, has now added to his holdings in Wires, the smart bitch, "Olcliffe Lapfull," who went to Winners and Best of Breed at Toronto Kennel Club Show, April 10th and 11th, where she was a strong contender for Best in Show Honors, enjoying a lot of ring-side support. Olcliffe Lapfull is by Olcliffe Lapper, ex Olcliffe Bank, and was born on July 9th, 1923, and is a really high-class type of bitch, and one that will go far to again make Mr. Whitley feel comfortable and at home in the excitement of breeding, and exhibiting Wire-Haired Fox Terriers, his hobby by choice. Kold Kash and Olcliffe Lapfull will no doubt be seen under the Whitley colors at the forthcoming Montreal show on May 28th to 30th.

NOTES FROM THE AMERICAN SIDE

By Charles G. Hopton.

THE marked success of many Canadian-breds at the leading American shows must be very gratifying to the Dominion Fancy as it proves so clearly that blood lines and individuality are uppermost in the Canadian breeder's mind when selecting their breeding stock. Unfortunately many fanciers in America have been more keen on having puppies by the latest imported champions, selecting sires solely on their show records, hence the number of mediocre home-breds. However, recent shows have seen a great improvement and it is no idle statement that the near future is apt to see quite a few home-breds good enough to make the famous imported champions look to their laurels. This has been noted in Fox Terriers, Airedales, Bulldogs, St. Bernards and several of the gundog breeds. Possibly the most convincing proof was given at the recent annual event of the Maryland Kennel Club, held at Baltimore when best in show brought in such a splendid collection with top honors going to the Hercuven home-bred St. Bernard, Ch. Aurora Borealis, the best Smooth dog or bitch seen in America for many years and a decided credit to that enthusiastic sportswoman, Mrs. G. Davies-Lintz, whose famous Hercuven kennels has produced the majority of winning St. Bernards during the past decade.

To enumerate all the wins credited to the now famous Canadian-bred Pomeranian, Int. Champion, Cairndhu Gold Shade, recently purchased by Mrs. H. G. Emich of Pittsburg, Pa., would take up too much space but such wins of Best of all Toys as New Haven, Newark, Cleveland and other important events is surely sufficient proof that the Cairndhu strain owned by Mrs. W. Wyllie of Vineland, Ontario, is exceptionally good. It is now an accepted fact that the Canadian-bred Pomeranians excel in profusion and texture of coat. We have ample proof of that dating back to the days of the splendid Aldon home-breds shown by that charming sportswoman, Mrs. A. A. Macdonald, of Deer Park, then we had the sincere Mrs. A. H. Howorth of East Grimsby to be followed by a host of Toronto fanciers, among them being Mrs. J. W. Bruce, Mrs. A. R. Kittermister, J. G. Waggitt, McNaughton and Wickham, and others who have made their presence in the popular Shepherd Dogs that many of us have become somewhat "fed-up" especially by the prolonged try-outs when selecting the dogs. At the recent Baltimore show where the Specialty Show of the Shepherd Dog Club of Maryland attracted a good entry for John Gans, to be repeated at the regular Baltimore show judged by Mrs. G. G. Flory, who followed suit to a great extent, as the majority of her awards were duplicates of those made by Mr. Gans.

Quite a few really smart home-breds appearing, among them being a very striking pair of sables, Vera of Joselle, and Zelterta of Joselle, by the famous Ch. Dolf von Dusterbrook, which won their classes comfortably to be beaten for top honors by the more matured Ch. Giralda's Teutilde von Hagenscheiss, a very typical and sound bitch imported by Mrs. G. Rockefeller Dodge last fall to make its debut at the Bronx show and went through to Winners. Under Mr. Gans, Remus Rival was best of breed, but Mrs. Florry placed the well known black bitch, Ch. Freia von Humboldtpark, best to be finally beaten in the subsequent Working class by the well-known champion Cocker spaniel, Midkiff-Miracle Man, and the superb Whippet, Nomad Nancy of Oxon, who had beaten a topping entry under Mr. Reeves. To those who are keen on the Shepherd Dog and would like to get a most thorough and clearly designed demonstration of "angulations and springy pasterns," should get the March issue of the new English paper, The Dog Bulletin, so ably edited by Miss F. A. White, whose noted "Wyebridge" kennel has made history in Greyhounds and Old English Sheepdogs. The article very cleverly illustrated by Mr. Henry Robbins of "Matteson" fame proves conclusively that we do not need the exaggerations that some of our American experts would have us believe are right.

"SCOTLAND FOR EVER."

ence felt by taking top honors with dogs that were shown in rare bloom and carried themselves as all high-class Poms should when on parade.

We hear on good authority that Mrs. H. G. Emich of Pittsburg will judge Pomeranians at the Port Stanley show during the week of Fourth of July, when it is planned to have a trial for Shepherd Dogs and a valuable handicap for Whippets. As the writer expects to manage the show everything possible will be done to attract a record entry and to make everybody feel at home, so please do not forget the first week in July at Port Stanley, the beautiful Lake resort near London, Ontario. The Trial for Shepherds and Whippet handicap will take place the day following the show which should make it a truly sporting event and most enjoyable to all.

One hears so much about "angulations, springy pasterns and action"

As one noted International all-rounder remarked at the ring side at Baltimore, "Why should it be so essential in Shepherd Dogs to have this continual parade; (over half an hour had been spent in trying the dogs for gait, then came the long pose while the judge took, or rather dictated his notes before awarding the prizes), surely sound action and symmetrical lines are as important in such sporting breeds as setters, pointers and greyhounds, but you do not see those judges wasting so much time; it is a case of just "swank" to put the dogs and exhibitors to such a trying ordeal." In this we agreed and then went into the question of extreme length of body, and "spring" in pasterns. Is it not fair to assume that when excessive length in body is obtained that a slight dip behind the withers is apt to be seen; then again why should the Shepherd dog have an exaggerated length of pastern? Do we see it in the Arab horse? an animal that is used for the lope, or gallop as any Shepherd dog. On the other hand the same formation as seen in the Foxhound is not right, there should be a certain amount of spring at the pastern with hocks well let down but not to the extent as seen in some of the much-lauded "Grand-Champions" or "Seigars" which we are told by certain experts are examples we should follow. The writer is of the opinion that the type of Astor Mein Augenstrost, and Teuthildra V. Hagenscheiss, shown by the Giralda Farms, Anni V. Humboldtpark, possibly the nearest to perfection seen on this side, and Dolf von Dusternbrook, might be taken as the stamp one should breed for they have enough "angulation" and spring of "pasterns," but are not on the exaggerated order by any means.

The game little Cairn is coming into public favor by leaps and bounds on both sides of the line, and why not, for he is a veritable multum in parvo, with all the gameness and devotion of his larger cousins the West Highland White, and Scottie, but a modification in weight which is in its favor as a pet. The famous Dochfour strain owned by the Baroness Burton has asserted itself both in the British Isles and on this side of the Atlantic, as one finds champions bearing this prefix invincible at many of the leading shows. The recent New York show had Ch. Dochfour Oliver, shown by Francis L. Robbins, Jr., best of the breed; he was bred by the Baroness Burton, as was that impressive light brindle, Dochfour Oonah, owned by Miss F. Dagmar Ogilvy, of Montreal, who has had the good fortune to breed a remarkable litter by her Dochfour-Lugach, who has a valuable cross of the much sought Rosshire blood. In crossing back to the Dochfour blood lines Miss Ogilvy has bred one of the very best brindle dogs it has been our good luck to see, and one feels thoroughly justified in predicting a bright future for her wonderful sound home-bred Dugald, whose remarkable type and rare combination of blood should do the game little Cairn a heap of good in the Dominion.

"A' 'OO AN' A YAIRD WIDE."

Collies, thanks to the splendid entry for Walter Reeves at the regular Baltimore show and the Collie Club Specialty so well judged by that keen admirer of the breed Alex Scott of Schenectady, were one of the main attractions at Baltimore, where the consistent awards made by "Geordie" Murdoch at the Westminster were rightly repeated. It was a great day for the Bournbrae kennels, whose remarkable team of blue merles were invincible in dogs, with top honors going to the famous Anglo-American champion, Treffynon Blue Sol, unquestionably the best of this beautiful variety ever shown, whose dam, the well known English champion, Eltham Park Blue Blossom, won her classes handily; then came the Westminster sensation, All Sett Bournbrae Lassie, a gorgeous sable and white puppy, in perfect bloom, which went right through to her championship without a defeat. Bred by the Rev. Roger McGinley, and sold by him to Daniel McVicar, this remarkable puppy may be described as quite one of the very best American-bred bitches seen at many a show, being of good size, the personification of Collie type, sound at both ends, as a working dog should be and heavily coated with a jacket that is worthy of being described as "weather-resisting."

Had there been a special for best puppy of all breeds she might have won in a common canter. The same might be said of Treffynon Blue Sol, that is for the best coat and condition. He was superb as the accompanying picture so clearly shows. Our sincere congratulations to the Bournbrae Kennels, its clever handler, George Huhn, and most worthy owner, who it is sincerely hoped will again try the successful combination, Rob Roy of Bournbrae, and Blue Jean of Bournbrae to produce another All Sett Bournbrae Lassie, which has done such splendid work for Daniel McVicar's noted kennel.

The Canadian Fancy will be sorry to learn of the much regretted death of the noted Wire-Fox Terrier, Int. Champion Gang Warily, who was found dead in his crate at the Warily Kennels, Fairfield, Conn., last month.

It may be recalled that at the Combined Terrier Clubs show, the day before the great Westminster, Gang Warily beat a record entry in dogs and was highly complimented on by Holland Buckley and other noted English judges who remarked that the dog never looked better. The following day his superb daughter, Int. Ch. Warily Stockmoor Sequence, beat the greatest entry of Fox Terriers ever seen under the popular English expert, Walter S. Glynn, and should have gone clear through to Best in Show but for a far-fetched technicality on the part of the Rules Committee, who declared her a beaten dog in a class that should have been void. It is consoling, however, to learn that Warily Stockmoor Sequence went through to Best in Show at Cleveland and other important circuit events, thus substantiating the judges at the English Kennel Club Show who awarded her the Lord Lonsdale 100 guinea cup for best in a show where the very cream of the British Isles competed.

Bulldogs are coming into their own, for when it comes to the Variety classes England's National breed usually makes a great impression. It was so at New York when the now famous Ch. St. Roche Girl Guide, finished a very close reserve for best in Non-sporting after topping a record entry in its breed. The circuit shows also found St. Roche Girl Guide winning at Detroit, but the most consistent winner has been the recently imported Ch. Mulravonside-Challenger, a very massive and rare bodied white and brindle, shown by R. H. McElroy of Dayton, which so far has gone through at Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, etc., without defeat, to be awarded the special for best Non-sporting and finished the runner-up on two occasions for Best in Show.

THE ONLY DOG IN HEAVEN

The article in April "Kennel and Bench," asking "Has the Dog A Soul" reminds me of a little story told of Endesthora, one of the very early kings of Egypt, which records the admission of the only dog ever admitted into the heaven of the ancients. Endesthora was about to start for the place where the horizon touches the earth, and where he was to meet his god. After many days' travel he arrived at the Celestial Gate. After knocking for admission, Ram (ancient god of the Egyptians) appeared, and opening the curtains of the sky said to Endesthora "Enter." But said Endesthora: "I do not wish to enter heaven without my dog. If he is sent

As a special convenience to out-of-town breeders, we are adopting a new policy of returning the entire stud fee to the owner of a female that fails to prove in whelp to one of our dogs. This applies to all females owned outside of London and bred at our kennels after May 1st, 1925. London owned females are entitled to the usual return privilege.

Upon notification of a female not proving in whelp, which must be made not earlier than a week after and not later than three weeks after she is due, we will promptly mail our cheque. If he does not care to do so, the owner of a female is under no obligation to send the female back to us her next time in season.

THE FLAPPER BOSTON TERRIERS.

Have we struck a flapper age with the Boston Terrier and are they being placed according to attractive appearances and with utter disregard to the qualifications that the standard calls for which says they should have a good width of skull and depth as well as width of muzzle. The front legs should be set moderately wide apart straight in bone and well muscled. The thighs of hind legs strong and well muscled. The body deep with good width of chest. I mention above from the standard to show that I think it is impossible to get the quality that some recent judges are looking for, and live up to the standard. I like quality as well as anyone, but not without the qualifications that are asked for in the standard and which are so hard to obtain. I noticed at a recent show a very fine Boston get the gate that nearly all the breeders who were there agreed had mostly all the qualifications asked for in the standard, but dark enough in coat although it appeared to have brindle showing through the body. Previous to this there was a young dog placed second in a good sized class, a real beauty in appearance, with a glossy black coat and snowy white markings which appeared to have brindle only in the legs and which is considered by most people to be black and tan. I mention this simply to show that if the former dog was wrong, the latter was not so good. This little dog, apart from its beauty, did not have width of skull, depth of muzzle, or width of chest; in fact it had very few of the qualifications laid down in the standard but its beauty helped it to win a prize. If this be true, does the standard need to be changed, or do some of the judges need to take some time to read up the standard and scale of points so that they can judge accordingly and not from fancy.

Yours truly, H. M. JACKSON.

However, "The best laid plans o' mice and etc." go astray once in a while, and we are advised that the youngster has decided to make "his abiding city" in New York, he has chosen to remain a bachelor and to shun the show bench, and to live for the adornment and the protection of the home of his new owners.

Canadians Win at Pierce County Kennel Club Show

The Fourth Annual Bench Show of Pierce County Kennel Club, held in the State Armory at Tacoma, Washington, March 19 to 21, 1925.

Attendance was large, weather fine, show room well lighted and ventilated, plenty of space on main floor for the benching, exhibitors and spectators; large judging ring and paddock; two balconies with 1,000 opera chairs overlooking the main floor and ring; fine exercising grounds for the 331 dogs; the show run on schedule without a hitch; the awards in each class bulletined as fast as the wins were recorded in the judge's book, and judging which has never been excelled in the history of dog shows in the Pacific Northwest. That's the story of this year's Tacoma show in a nutshell.

George A. Cranfield, of Ocean Park, California, judged all breeds except Boston, and did it in masterly fashion.

Best Dog In Show.

First—Jos. J. Cottle's (Nanaimo, B.C.) English Setter, Racket's Rummey (Nanaimo). Second—Mrs. Jennie Larsen's French Bulldog, Wee Wee Babe. Third—Mrs. J. E. Kenna's Pekingese, Ch. Rastus of Kennadale.

Notes of the Show.

Norman McConnell of Vancouver, B.C., started for the Tacoma show Wednesday night with a truckload of twelve dogs. He was held up at the boundary line by the Customs officials who refused to let him through with Dr. Sleeth's three Bulldogs unless a bond for $5,500 was forthcoming. After much argument, telegraphing, and telephoning, the Bulldogs were finally shipped back to Vancouver, and "Mac" burned up the pavement in a mad rush for the Tacoma show. He arrived in time for the English Setter judging Thursday night; showed J. J. Cottle's Racket's Rummey for a winner's ribbon in dogs, and Oswald Balshaw's Selkirk Juliet (Vancouver) for a purple ribbon in bitches. Saturday night Racket's Rummey won $7.50 in the Sporting Dogs group class and $50 cash for best dog in show, all breeds.

By A. E. Grafton.

Wm. Ollard, who lived in Tacoma for twenty years, and made the "Coast Native" prefix famous in Irish Terriers, is home from a several years' sojourn in Washington and Philadelphia. He exhibited an eastern bred bitch at the Tacoma Show, which won a second in two classes. Mr. Ollard has decided to re-establish his Irish Terrier Kennels, and hopes to have a winner or two by next year.

Mrs. J. E. Kenna, an elderly lady of Tacoma, is an enthusiastic fancier of Pekingese. She bred Rastus of Kennadale, and campaigned him to a championship. He won the trophy for best of breed at Tacoma. During this show Mrs. Kenna received an offer of $500 for the Peke from a wealthy fancier in Dallas, Texas. She had about decided to accept the offer, until Saturday night, when he won best Toy and was rated the third best dog in show. Now she is going to campaign "Rastus" at the Vancouver and Victoria shows, and hopes to complete his Canadian championship. She thinks an International Champion will look better in Tacoma than in any other city. Mrs. Kenna has decided that Tacoma owners of good dogs should keep them at home where they can be of service in improving the quality of the breed locally.

Dr. O. Hartnagel of Seattle, the genial D.V.S., was all smiles at the Tacoma show over the winnings of the English Setters, Racket's Rummey, owned by J. J. Cottle of Nanaimo, B.C., and Mae (reserve winners) owned by G. F. Bowers of Seattle. Hartnagel's champion Mallwyd Ralph was the sire of both winners.

Bowers protested the wins of Racket's Rummey and Selkirk Juliet on the ground of "late arrival," due to McConnell's "hold-up" by the Custom officers at the boundary line. The Bench Show Committee had been notified of the delay, had granted McConnell the necessary time in which to reach Tacoma, and promptly voted not to sustain Mr. Bowers' protest. The Custom officers had passed McConnell O.K. the previous week, with the same truckload of dogs for the Seattle show. Someone had marked a Seattle dog show catalog and sent it to the Customs Service, calling attention to the "for sale" price of $2500 on the English Bulldog, Champion Kingsway Man O'War, and $3000 for two Bulldog bitches, all owned by Dr. T. E. Sleeth of Vancouver, B.C. The Customs officers demanded a bond of $5,500 before permitting McConnell to bring these three dogs into the United States. Without previous notice, of course, "Mack" couldn't give the bond; Sleeth couldn't square matters from Vancouver by telephone or telegraph, so the Bulldogs didn't get to Tacoma, and Mack broke all speed records for a truck hurrying to a dog show.

THE PAPILLON

By Mrs. Lillian C. Raymond-Mallock, England.

THIS breed, which has only recently been seen at English shows, claims to be one of very ancient lineage, and even to be the "forebears" of the King Charles Spaniel.

Its origin is probably French, but since the French Revolution, Belgium seems to have become the home of the breed, and it is that country which caters for its show needs, and where the majority of specimens are to be found.

Henry III. of France is credited with being one of the first lovers of this breed, but except that his dogs came from Lyons, were called "Lyon Dogs" and were very small, there is nothing more definite to connect them with the Papillon.

Historic Art, however, gives us a better idea of what they were. In pictures by Rubens, in the Louvre, several small dogs of this type are seen notably in one of Marie de Medici's wedding at Lyons, where the little dog is shown with ears thrown back in true Papillon style, and this same little dog, or similar ones, are shown in several other pictures of her life's history. Also, in the Louvre, is to be found a picture by Van Dyke of Charles I. as a child, with one of these small spaniels at his feet, but this time with the ears drooping. Also in a portrait of Charles II's sister, the Duchess d'Orleans, a small spaniel with long ears and silky hair, is to be seen, but both these last two would seem to be nearer the old King Charles Spaniel type than the Papillon, whereas in the favorites of Madam de Pompadour, so familiar in the well-known engravings, the Papillon type is more in evidence again. The story of the small dog which accompanied the Great Duke of

Beautiful Red and White Female,

Marlborough throughout the Battle of Blenheim, and from which the Blenheim Spaniel derives its name, is another link between the two breeds, and there seems to be no doubt but that they were closely allied. To my mind there must have been a mixture of two distinct breeds, probably the Lyon's dog of Henry III. fame and the small spaniel, for in the former the erect ears, and tail carried over the back are hardly Spaniel characteristics and savor more of the Pom-eranian. To return to the modern product and its present home, which is undoubtedly Belgium, we still find two varieties shown and bred together, both called Spaniels, but the one variety only called Butterfly Spaniels, the other being content with the general term of Dwarf Spaniel. As will be seen from the Belgium standard of points given below, the only difference in the two varieties is in the ear carriage. In England, the one name, Papillon, is given to the breed, and the Spaniel is dropped, probably for convenience sake, though the term is not appropriate to the drop-eared variety. His dainty beauty, light weight, vivacious expression and silken tresses make him a beau ideal ladies' pet. The breed is one of the smallest known, and yet they are of robust constitution and easy to breed. The name Papillon is derived from the way he flies his ears, which gives his head a veritable butterfly appearance, but the variety with drooping ears is also recognized and in Belgium is called Epagneul Nain.

Standard.

General Appearance—A lovely toy dog, active and intelligent, gracious and elegant, with a proud gait.

Head—Small, skull slightly domed, muzzle snipy.

Eyes—Round, set rather low in the head, dark color, very lively, and intelligent.

Nose—Always black, except in the reds and red and white, when brown is allowed.

Ears—Set on high at the head, carried hanging (by the so-called epagneul nain—toy spaniel) or carried obliquely erect, like butterfly-wings (by the so-called epagneul papillon-butterfly spaniel) and always heavily feathered.

"JUST" PETERKINS
Passing the Hat.

Lips—Thin and well closed.
 Neck—Not too short.
 Shoulders—Well developed.
 Chest—Rather deep.
 Back—Straight and not too short.
 Belly—Slightly drawn up.
 Loins—Well arched.

Body—Well made, rather long, not so cobby as Blenheim Spaniel or Toy Pomeranian.

Legs—Straight, thin and rather short, fore-legs well feathered.

Feet—Rather long, toenails black.

Tail—Long, carried like the squirrel, well over the back and heavily feathered.

Coat—Abundant, rather long and silky; on the muzzle and the foreside of the legs the coat is short.

Color — Uni-colored brown, chestnut-red, ruby, dark yellow or with white with these patched, red and white, black and white.

Height at Shoulder — From eight to ten inches, the smaller the better.

Weight—From five to eight pounds.

Faults—Over or undershot, nose brown or parti-color, except in reds and red and white, uni-colored black coat, tongue hanging.

The only difference between the two breeds or varieties is to be found in the way of carrying the ears; hanging by the Epagneul Nain and erect by the Papillon.

Papillons at Cannes, France, From "Our Dogs" (Eng.) we learn that Mrs. Gordon Gratrix has written Mrs. Couper to say that the Papillons shown at Cannes, caused a sensation, and that she (Mrs. Gratrix) intends showing Papillons from her "De Flandre" Kennels at the next big show at Paris, and there meet the French fanciers on their own ground.

At Manchester Championship show the dogs from Mrs. Gratrix's Kennel won for best brace.

RED ADMIRAL, PAINTED LADY & ORANGE TIP. All the Papillons illustrating this interesting article on this beautiful toy breed, are the property of Mrs. Gordon Greatrex, Westgate House, Bury Street, Edmunds, England.

ROSES.

It is rather out of the ordinary for a dog magazine to be offering roses for sale, but as the roses mentioned are of the out of the ordinary kind, then possibly the arrangement may be considered well balanced. However, we can vouch for the roses wholeheartedly, they are as represented and any fancier whose garden can be beautified by the addition of a few choice varieties of the world famed McGready's Irish roses, should get some of these. In the Editor's garden twenty-five nice rose bushes add a lot of pleasure to his home hours, every one an "Irish McGready."

Mr. Waters is a member of the Canadian Kennel Club, and is a lover of Collies and he is a "square shooter," he spends a lot of money to "say it with flowers," and believes that he should "say it with roses" to the Canadian dog fancy, and we trust that his investment with Kennel and Bench will be a profitable one.

THE LADIES' KENNEL CLUB PLAY EUCHRE

On Wednesday, April 22nd, the Ladies' Kennel Club (Montreal) staged another of their popular euchre parties in St. Anthony's Church Hall, where in a conservatory atmosphere laden with chrysanthemums, foliage and ferns, the "ladies" were welcomed by the Rev. Jas. F. Flood, who said it was altogether fitting that the Ladies' Kennel Club should meet and entertain their friends in St. Anthony's because St. Anthony was a friend of animals. In their hearts the ladies said, "Thanks your reverence for those kind words."

The ladies knew that much depended on them if this, their first public social event, was to "go over big," and so, committees had solicited sporting Montreal and received wonderful material support. The list of contributors shows that the ladies forgot nobody, and now, as a result their coffers are enriched to the extent of $200, and they are confronted with the problem of securing sufficient accommodation to house their next

The Windsor Kennel Club advised that they had decided to affiliate with the Western Ontario Kennel Association, and that their fifty members were working on the forthcoming dog show, which will be held at the armouries at Windsor on June 9th and 10th, under Canadian Kennel Club rules, and were building new benching to accommodate the expected entry of 500 dogs.

Progress was reported on the plans for the forthcoming Western Ontario Kennel Association Dog Show, which is to be held at Port Stanley on July 1st, 2nd, and 3rd. The Superintendent being the noted American judge, Mr. Chas G. Hopton, New York, requests for information from fanciers over a large area were already coming, and were very encouraging.

A new departure in Canine features has been planned by the Association, and on the morning of Victoria Day, in Victoria Park, London (May 25th) the good citizens of the Forest City will have the unique novelty of a Dog Parade, when the number of dogs parading will be measured by the efforts of the Committee in charge of this activity.

ALONG WITH THE FANCIERS

WE HAVE just learned that Major H. W. Nivens, Winnipeg, has imported the noted English Whippet Ch. Taffys Pride, said by experts to be the best whippet ever seen in Canada. And since we have seen Ch. Nancy of Oxon and Ch. Freemanor Gallopin Dominoes and remember that the Major's rattling good Whippet, R.A.M., was given the award of Best Dog in Show all breeds, under Mr. Chas. G. Hopton last May. It will be a pleasure indeed to see the newly imported champion and hope that the gallant Major will send the Winnipeg Whippets to the Eastern shows some time this year.

Ch. Taffy's Pride has been a consistent winner in England when shown, his certificates were won at The Ladies Kennel Association, Birmingham and Bristol shows during 1923, and he has sired the winning puppies for the Cardiff, Alexandra Palace, and Wallingford shows, and at the time of his leaving British shores he leaves some exceedingly promising stock. Go to it Major Niven and more power to your arm, it does look as if a brighter sun was in the ascendant for Whippets on the American Continent.

Other importations include the Bulldog Muiravonside Bob, by Ch. Donachadh Ban. ex Caulfield Lilly. This son of the noted Champion with the Gaelic name was bred by Dr. W. Anderson. He is a white with brindle markings, grand head, short back and lots of bone. Needless to say Muiravonside Bob was imported by our Manitoba Director, Mr. George Kynoch, Winnipeg. Another good one is on the water now, but as particulars are not to hand we will wait for further information regarding him. A third new one, is a lightweight dark brindle, bred in Winnipeg, but missed apparently until Mr. Kynoch discovered him, but now that the pup has been found we will leave it to George to show us just how good it is.

At Calgary on Good Friday, the Alberta Kennel Club held a matinee show and had one hundred and eighty-seven dogs entered. Judging started at three o'clock in the afternoon and continued until midnight and then—because even human beings have a limit of endurance,—it was adjourned with most of the special prizes unplaced, but as far as possible this will be attended to by the judges who had charge of the breeds.

The "Scott Bros." of the "Ripley" portfox benched a young Collie named, Ripley Victorious, that is credited with being the best specimen ever seen in Western Canada. This is another Major claim, and we would like to see this dog in competition too. Anyway the judges found in Victorious, the victor over all the other dogs in the show, Reserve going to Mr. C. Y. Howlett's Bulldog Ch. Mersey Sally II, who was also placed Best Bitch in show. One exhibitor, Mrs. Carr, had 14 wire haired fox terriers benched, and was an exhibition in itself. Best Brace under 25 lbs. was a hot class, and took half an hour of valuable time, and a referee to decide, the honor finally going to Mr. Geo. Chmo's entry of Cocker. Spaniels which were shown in ideal condition. Mr. Jack Miller, Sec. of the Alberta Kennel Club, is securing much publicity for his club by editing the Kennel Department of the leading Calgary newspaper, from which most of this article has been taken.

To go even further west, we learn that Mr. Geo. S. Thomas, was unable to judge the Vancouver Kennel Club Show, owing to the impoverished state of Mrs. Thomas' health. His work was taken over by Messrs. Wm. Pym, and Jack Meadows, who gave an A.I. account of their ability to fill the bench. 263 dogs were benched, which looks from this distance—like a four point show, and this in view of internal troubles in the Club, is a most favorable showing. The best dog in Show, was not a dog at all, but the noted bitch Ch. Kingsway My Reverie. She is only 18 months old, and for a bulldog the honor is an outstanding one, and it is something of a coincidence that when she was winning the highest honors for her sex, Hefty Argo was winning the same victory for the male sex at Toronto Kennel Club Show. Ch. Kingsway by Reverie is a daughter of Ch. Kingsway Man o'War, and she has only been benched at three shows. Best non-sporting. Best Bulldog bitch were honors collected whilst she was only 10 months old. Next trip out, she was found to be the best female in show, and now best of all breeds. At this show the 20 months' old, Sandy McNab, another son of Ch. Kingsway Man o'War belonging to Mr. T. Cruickshanks is said to have finished his championship at the Vancouver Show just closed. He is only 20 months old.

Whilst Bulldogs are bidding for the "higher places," all over Canada it is worthy of note that Mr. E. McElroy's great bulldog has been throwing consternation into the present circuit of Shows running in the United States. His Ch. Muirvonside Challenger has made a record that will be very hard to duplicate anywhere. Starting at Akron Show, this grand dog went to winners, best non-sporting and best of breed, topping off the day by winning for Best of all breeds in Show. Just make a special note of this for historical purposes. Bulldog Ch. Muirvonside Challenger wins Best dog in show all breeds at Akron March 8-9, 1925 Bulldog Hefty Argo. wins Best dog in Show all breeds at Toronto, April 10-11, 1925, and Ch. My Reverie, wins Best dog in Show all breeds at Vancouver, April 10-11, 1925. Ch. Muirvonside Challenger with his greater show opportunities won reserve best of all breeds at Cleveland, at Detroit, and at Indianapolis, best of all breed at Toledo, and at the Cincinnati Bulldog Specialty Show, with the noted Mr. John Collins judging. At these shows Ch. Muirvonside Challenger won over the field of champions, American and Canadian, and experts acclaim him "The best since Katterfelts." "The best in 25 years." "The best bulldog they have ever seen," and the moderates, "As good a bulldog as they have ever seen."

The bulldog fancy of this Continent will want to congratulate this near novice in their ranks, who, notwithstanding terrible handicaps, has achieved such marvellous victories in the pitched battle of competitive bulldogs. The latest tragedy to overtake Mr. McElroy, is the death of the recently imported Blair Athol, who died at the Kennel at Dayton whilst the Cincinnati Show was on. It will be remembered that the same good sportsman lost Champion Buccaneer recently, or, two imported bulldogs dead within six months of each other.

Mr. McElroy is a sticker, whose middle name is "do or die" and he has just imported Rose Marie, a daughter of Ch. Lochaber's, ex Caulfield Lilly (That makes two importations out of this famous producing bitch, that are reviewed in the article) she being by Ch. Caulfield Monarch from Sweet Remembrance, who is a dam of Ch. Night-watchman. Rose Marie, who is said to strongly resemble the late Ivel Doctor, was placed "best of opposite sex" to Ch. Muirvonside Challenger, at Cincinnati, and at the show she was handicapped by being shown heavy in whelps.

The Dog on the Postage Stamp

Courage, Docility and Faithfulness are Characteristic of the Newfoundland

By EDWIN H. MORRIS

THERE is a story told of a woman, prominent in society and proud of her Virginian ancestry, who stopped investigating her family tree after discovering that a forebear had spent seven days in jail for stealing a bag of meal.

The tale proves that one can never tell what lies at the roots of an ancestral tree. That is why the study of genealogy is so fascinating. And although the study of the ancestry of a breed may not come under the head of genealogy, it is just as fascinating as the investigation of one's ancestral tree.

It is a peculiar thing that technical dog writers have discovered very little about the ancestry of the Newfoundland. Naturally, the ones interested in the breed have always been curious about the forebears of this noble animal. Also they are always desirous of knowing what blood lines are calculated to produce specimens up to standard requirements, maintaining at the same time the brains, courage, docility, fondness for water and retrieving, devotion to children, and implicit faithfulness that have made the traditional Newfoundland.

The neglect of this handsome and noble animal is so unjustified that I have undertaken to gather the data. And what I have discovered is now given for the first time to all lovers of pure-bred dogs.

The Newfoundland, and also the Labrador dog, sometimes called the smooth-coated retriever, were both derived from a cross between the Pyrenees sheepdogs, brought to Newfoundland from France by Biscay fishermen between 1506 and 1662, and also later and black retrievers accompanying the English colonists.

Of all dogs, the Newfoundland is the only one whose picture has ever been used on a postage stamp. The artist chose as his model a black and white dog of the island.

In 1506, Jean Denys, of Harfleur, France, visited the island, establishing a base, and leaving boats and barks in the haven called Rounoust. Other expeditions followed, but not until 1662 did the French winter on the island. Then they settled at Rounoust, a supposed corruption of Orrouge, near St. Jean de Luz, and in Placentia Bay, where Little and Great Burin, St. Lawrence, Marter, named for Pierre Mortier, and Chapeau Rouge were the chief sites.

Jean Denys probably reported that the waters were not only abundantly stocked with fish, but that on land were a goodly number of wolves and other animals. Hence, not as mascots alone, but for protection, were the creamy-white sheepdogs of the Pyrenees brought over from France.

These dogs were moderately large, active and faithful, with a cautious, dignified deportment, and flat coats, coarse with woolly undercoats, capable or resisting the rigorous climate of the Pyrenees. They had deep flews, affording plenty of space for the olfactory nerves, which give them good noses. And they had eyes of almost human pathos; deep, small, and searching, indicating resolution.

When the English colonists went to Newfoundland to stay, they brought such sporting dogs as were in vogue in their native land. Probably these were curly-coated retrievers, black dogs of medium size, with curls so dense that the nearer they compared with those on the head of a negro, the nearer their perfection when dog shows finally were established. The dogs had long muzzles, were inclined to be hard-headed and hard-mouthed, made good dogs for water or land retrieving, and were alert and intelligent.

The French fisherman's favorite became crossed with the English sportsman's companion, and from this was evolved the greater Newfoundland, Landseer, the Labrador or smooth-coated retriever, probably the Chesapeake Bay dog, and later on the greater was crossed with Alpine dogs, producing the modern St. Bernard.

In spite of all that has been said to the contrary, that branch of the greater, called Landseers, was strictly of this origin. When Sir Edwin Landseer painted his picture, representing a black-and-white dog on a raft with a child it had saved from drowning, and called it "A Member of the Humane Society," he accurately depicted the type of dog that came from Newfoundland.

Sir Edwin faithfully portrayed animal life in the early Victorian era, about 1837, and his brother made the engraving from which Sir Edwin's popularity came. To distinguish the black-and-white dogs from the blacks, which afterwards developed, the former were called Landseers. In case any doubt exists, and to refute the oft-repeated assertion that in order to produce Landseers a cross with the St. Bernards or dogs from the hospice at

TYPICAL NEWFOUNDLAND HEAD.

This head study would do ideally if Newfoundland decided to again use a dog on its postage stamp.

A MODERN NEWFOUNDLAND

This is an excellent head study of the black dog that is popular on the island to-day.

LADY REBECCA.

Newfoundland dogs are celebrated for their great love of children. This handsome animal is of the famous Sir Arthur and Lady Hilda blood and was the dam of Tip.

the Alpine pass was resorted to, it may be said that, though this might have been done to supply the demand for dogs of such color, after the engraving appeared, yet Philip Reinagle, R.A., who painted Newfoundland dogs, did his work some years before the advent of Landseers, in the latter part of the 17th and early part of the 18th century. His picture called "Dog of Newfoundland," was white with black marks.

Reinagle was celebrated for his truthful portrayal of the dogs of the British Isles and possessions, and Landseer for putting life and spirit into his work.

Besides these two instances, there is the Landseer painting of "Twa Dogs," a black-and-white Newfoundland and another like a collie, which was exhibited at the South Kensington Museum, London, in 1858, and was engraved by Benjamin P. Gibbon.

Robert Burns, too, when he wrote "Twa Dogs," must have had an idea of something superior in the breed, for his words are:

"His lockit, letter'd, braw brass collar
Show'd him the gentleman and scholar."

And it must be remembered that the comparison was with a Scottish dog.

In order to make the point quite clear, it is well to state that, about forty years ago, white dogs, as well as black-and-whites, and some almost black, were sent from Newfoundland to the North American continent. It is difficult to get evidence, yet one instance may be cited because it can be confirmed by pictures and by descendants of the owner.

About thirty-six years ago, Augustus McClain, of Stapleton, S.I., bought a creamy-white dog, with a pedigree as a Newfoundland, whelped on the Island. Mr. McClain's son married a daughter of W. H. Harmon, of Bank Street, Paterson, N.J., who had the dog while the young folks went on a trip abroad.

On the death of this dog, another white dog, with a yellow spot on one side, was procured. This can be confirmed by Samuel J. Harmon, of the United States Trust Company, Paterson, N.J. Such evidence should be conclusive that the early importations into the United States and England from Newfoundland were and white-and-black dogs now known as Landseers.

Later on blacks were landed in England from the codfish vessels, and, with the English breeders' eye for type, the best were mated. Their progeny favored the Pyrenees sheepdog and had the characteristics and instincts of such dogs. Finally, this type was adopted for exhibitions, and although many showed much white on the chest, tail, and sometimes on the paws, yet by selection and careful breeding this was greatly overcome. Some also came curly in coat, indicating an undue proportion of retriever blood. But this, too, disappeared, and none but those with straight or wavy coats, with dense, woolly undercoats, were favored.

Although the English mastiff was popular at that time, Alpine dogs were making a display, and Leonbergs—Alpines crossed with Newfoundlands—were being pushed. The Newfoundland retained an amazing hold on public appreciation, and it was contended that it was the only dog capable of magnanimity.

The Rev. F. O. Morris was responsible for a story of a mastiff and Newfoundland that frequently fought, until one day a duel was in progress on a pier and both dogs fell into the water. The Newfoundland soon reached shore, shook the water from his coat, and looked for his antagonist. Seeing the mastiff hardly able to keep afloat, the Newfoundland again plunged into the water and helped his enemy to land. After which the dogs became friendly and the battles ceased.

LADY BECKEY.

This bitch has done a great deal for the Newfoundland breed. She is the dam of Ch. Rolfe and other winners. Her progeny have always been of the true type.

GOOD NEWS

Good news for Canadian Breeders of the Alsatian Shepherd Dogs, who wish to breed puppies from the best blood that can be got Arko von Oberklamm, a young dog lately imported from Germany, is a dog of very good conformation and grand expression. He has a fearless disposition, stands 26 inches at the shoulder; color, tan, with black saddle.

His sire is the famous International Champion, Claus v. d. Furstenburg. This sire made his debut on the Continent, winning four first prizes at the big show in Wiesbaden, together with the Czecho-Slovak Grand Championship of 1922. In the same year he gained the Austrian Grand Championship with "Excellent." At Bath and at Windsor he carried all before him, gaining the English title of Champion.

His dam: Siegerin Gunda von Oberklamm, Grand Champion of Austria, 1921. Gunda is a litter-sister of the famous International Champion, Gerri von Oberklamm. Baron E. V. Otto of Bergstrass has made a bronze statuette of this bitch, Gunda, and claims that she is the best-proportioned bitch living, as she represents undoubtedly the very perfection of body-construction and conformity. A photo of Gunda von Oberklamm can be seen on the front cover of von Stephanitz's book, "The German Shepherd Dog in Word and Picture."

THE full page advertisement of the Alsatian Shepherd Dog Club of Canada, found in the business pages of this issue of Kennel and Bench, has been inserted by the Club Executive to offset the apparent oversight of the Editor, who neglected to mention our coming Show on June 6th, at the Hamilton Hunt Club, Hamilton, Ont., under the heading of "Coming Shows" in the last issue.

Our compliments are, however, extended to the Editor for his business acumen in disposing of advertising space: 'Tis nice to now human nature.

While one only needs one pair of eyes to realize that the Alsatian is fast gaining popularity with the public, the activities of the Club are also going on apace. From the inception of the Club three years ago with an initial membership of five members, the Club now boasts a paid-up membership of over fifty, with many valuable trophies for Annual competition, as well as the trophies which can be won outright at each of our Shows held during the year.

Last year at the Old Mill on the Humber (Toronto), we held our Spring Bench Show and Field Trials, where we had an entry of forty-five dogs with sixty-five entries in the various classes. Cups were given for each class in both the Bench and Field, the show was a great impetus to the popularity of the breed.

This year the Hamilton members have applied for the privilege of running the Spring Show, and when Hamilton people undertake anything! well, they are like the town itself—they hog all the good things—which leads to the thought, will Mr. Condry's dog be able to repeat its bench performances made at Buffalo and Toronto? As judging by the recent events at the Toronto Kennel Club Show there are now some good dogs in Galt. However, we are putting on the usual classes on the Bench and will leave it to the Judge to please the winners, and let the others show what constitutes good sportsmanship. The wonderful trophy presented by Mr. Frank P. O'Connor has been duplicated by Mr. Raymond L. Patterson of the Giralda Farms, Madison, New Jersey, and either, or both, of these trophies will make wonderful prizes for the fortunate exhibitors.

At the Annual Meeting last January, an experienced Committee was appointed to draw up the Field Trial Programme. This Committee has spared neither time nor effort in its endeavor to draw up suitable list of tests, so that while last year we had Preliminary and Advanced Trials, this year we have, Puppy, Novice and Open Classes. A copy of these tests has long since been in the hands of all members, which should result in competition of a very keen nature. The Committee seem to have arranged it so that the Puppy and Novice Dogs will have a little competition all by themselves, while in the Open Class rumor has it that the dogs owned by Dr. Elliott, Mr. Keith will have keener competition than they have before experienced. These two dogs have been very lucky in past events and a win at the Field Trials in Hamilton by some other Field Dog will certainly add zest and zip to the competition, and the game in general.

The interval between now and the 6th of June will of course be largely taken up in the training and preparing of our dogs for this show and the Club has arranged weekly meetings—Sunday mornings—where all the members wishing to do so, can get together and have a general good time in the open air and sunshine—providing it doesn't rain. The members will be notified by the Secretary where the meetings will be held.

"Coming Shows" refer only to licensed fixtures with accounts for the non-appearance of the Alsatian shepherd Dog Club of Canada, notice under that heading in our last issue. However, our readers will notice that the members of this Club don't absorb little supposed slights in the regular way, but like real sportsmen come right back and buy space at the legitimate rate, added to that is a recognition of "ye Editor's" right and promise of "four pointing fouring" him, if he should dare go to Hamilton on June 6th. At that "ye Editor" thinks it might be worth while taking the chance—and may do so. The list of exercises is published in the hope that they will be found useful in other Canadian cities where the Shepherd Dog is fast becoming popular with the public.—Ed.

ASHTON-MORE WEN-CHU

THE KING CHARLES SPANIEL CLUB MEMBERS SHOW.

By Lillian C. Raymond-Mallock (President of the King Charles Spaniel Club.)

THE entry of 107 for 14 classes was a decided compliment to Mr. Thompson who officiated as Judge. The quality all round was of a high standard; and some very lovely youngsters were benched. For the first time a "Beginners" class was scheduled, and proved a great success with 6 entries. It was for dogs the property of exhibitors who have never won a prize value £2 with King Charles Spaniels.

Mrs. Olding won 1st in this class with Ashton-More Barbara, a well-marked, compactly built little Blenheim who showed for all she was worth. Miss Reave came second with a good headed juppy in John o' Dreams, Mrs. Braley's Cisey 3rd, and Mrs. Catterall's Chrisie Res. Puppy (with 11 entries) was a strong class, and not at all easy to Judge, but Mr. Thompson made no mistake in picking his first prize winner. This was Lady Fowler's charming Blenheim Ariel of Braemore, she is well made and symmetrical all round, with full skull, large eyes, well placed ears, the shortest possible face and free action. More Cushions under the eyes would improve her, but no doubt this will come with age. Mrs. Gabb's diminutive Tricolour Festing Gloria was second., she has a lovely head and skull, and very sweet expression, My own Ashton-More Pandora 3rd. and Festing Natalie Res, a well coated, black and tan, who was put down in tip top condition, rather longer in back than those placed above her. Maiden first and 2nd repeats, 3 to Miss Brune's Rupert of Hentzau; and Res Miss Racines Mars of Pedmore.

Ariel of Braemore led off again in a big Novice class followed by Rupert of Hentzau, and Mrs. Gardner's Aristocrat, a very nice Blenheim, who later won the special for best coat. Mrs. Heckeher's Sensola was Res Graduate dogs black and tan or Ruby. Mrs. Daniels came first with her home bred Carthoria, a big headed flat-faced dog of strong type, who was put down in the pink of condition. Miss Brunn's Hentzau Bucks Hussar 2nd, owns a fine head and long well placed ears, but lost in colour and markings to Mrs. Braud's Goblin Pan another handsome dog full of quality and stamina, the very type to make an excellent sire. Mrs. Pro-wett Ferdinands good little Ruby Macnab of Hentzau Res. He is a superb colour short in face and back and his action leave little to be desired. Mrs. Hidgel's Model Perfection led off in the Graduate class for bitches, and well deserved her place, she is full of quality and was looking her best, Sensola 2nd. My own Ashton-More Pandora 3rd. and Festing Natalie Res. In the Limit class for dogs Carthoria won again closely pressed by Mrs. Hecksher's Lovejoy who was looking simply lovely, in spite of her 8 years. I have seldom seen a better skull or finish of face. She was very much admired. Mrs. Kimcald's Fergus of Zenda; is small and shapely, and scores well in colour and markings, but was rather out of coat on the day. There was no denying Little Miniater for Premier honours in the open class, followed by Carthoris, Fergus of Zenda, and Mrs. Pemberton's Upney Prince, a lovely little Ruby who has much improved in coat and now made up in body. Lovejoy headed the open class for bitches followed by Model Perfection, Myra of Zenda, and Ch Sweet Iris. The latter was put down in full bloom and looked a picture. In my opinion she should have been higher. Blenheim or Tricolour. Graduate dogs: Miss Brunn's Hentzau Bacchannal Frolic led off, a short faced, big headed Blenheim on the large side, rather lippy, good figure, moved and showed well. My own Ashton-More Crusader 2nd, Domino 3rd., Aristocrat Res., Ariel of Braemore won again in Graduate bitches, followed by Mrs. Kincaid's Flavia of Zenda, who scores in head and body properties, but lost in coat and condition. Bijun of Braemore 3rd., has a short face and good all round quality, and Mrs. Williamson's Raleigh Love in a Mist (who came Res) owns an exceptionally good head and will do well later on but was too immature for such company. In the Limit class the order was Ariel of Braemore, my own Ch Ashton-More Crystal, Hentzau, Bacchannal Frolic, and Biju of Braemore. Open dogs repeat as Graduate. Open bitches. Lady Fowler's Ch Berceuse of Braemore the well-known Tricolor was looking quite lovely, and eventually won for best in show. Veteran to Mrs. Graves Ch Sweet Iris. Brace my own Ch Ashton-More Crystal and Ashton-More Crusader with Lady Fowler's Ariel of Braemore and Biju of Braemore Res.

MONTREAL ALL SET.

"All aboard for Montreal" will be the fancier slogan for the dog show to be held in the Colliseum on Guy Street, Montreal, on May 28th to 30th. The Dog Show Committee say that by the offerings of the premium list, they will expect more dogs, more points, and more money; the three essentials of dog show success.

Mr. Alf. Delmont, Wynnewood, Pa., will judge all breeds, and will judge them right, as "he knows how." The President of the Association, Mr. James F. Strachan of "Ormsby" fame, will have all his best Wire Haired Fox Terriers entered, but, for exhibition only. This arrangement will leave Mr. Strachan free to assist in the running of the show, where he will have the able assistance of Mr. P. E. Aird, Mr. C. C. Costar, Mr. C. H. Snow, and all the boosters on the show committee.

Champion Silver Birch Ladylike (C.K.C.S.B. 28889)

In offering Ch. Silver Birch Ladylike for sale to the Airedale fancy, I am conscious of offering the best specimen ever bred at the Silver Birch Kennels. She was sired by Silver Birch Maxim, who was sired by the world famous Int. Ch. Polam Maxim, who was sired by Int. Ch. King Nobblers Double. S. B. Maxim is out of Bothwell Peggy, and she was by Ch. Soudan Swiveller, out of Ch. Kenmeral Sorceress. On the dam's side Ch. S. B. Ladylike is again strong in the great King Nobblers Double blood, the whole making her an outstanding proposition for the consideration of discriminating breeders.

Her bench record is in keeping with her breeding. Shown at eleven of Canada's greatest dog show fixtures, she won the winners prizes eight times and the reserve winners prizes three times. At these shows she won twenty-two championship points, ten only being required for her championship. At the Montreal show she was best Terrier in show, any breed, an important win. At shows held in the United States she won for best Airedale at Toledo and Detroit.
