"LEADS TO LOVELY LITTERS"

Lactol for WEANING & REARING PUPPIES

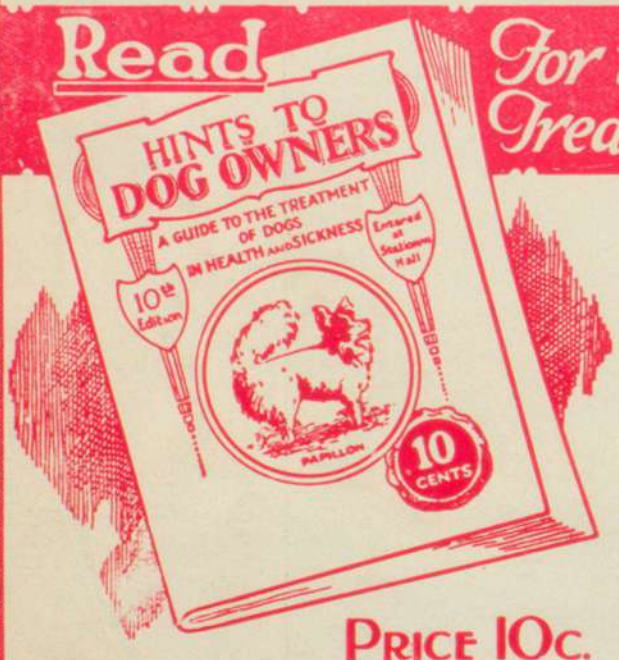

EQUALLY SUITABLE FOR KITTENS & SILVER FOX CUBS

PUPPIES have small stomachs, and the milk of a bitch is therefore a concentrated food, being more than twice as strong as cow's milk. LACTOL closely resembles the puppies' natural food, which is why they do so well on it. Puppies reared on LACTOL thrive remarkably, and do not suffer from indigestion, vomiting, diarrhoea, rickets, etc., as when given cow's milk or other foods.

LACTOL is already used by many breeders in Canada and the U.S.A., whilst in the British Isles no kennel of any importance is ever without it. PUPPIES LOVE LACTOL.

WITH THE DOG SHOWS ACROSS CANADA.

It is very seldom that we are called upon to mention dog shows which have been held in Canada between the Pacific and the Atlantic, but this is just what happens in this issue. Commencing with Vancouver Exhibition which was held on August 15 to 17, and ending with Nova Scotia Kennel Club on September 13 to 16, we find sandwiched between those too far stretched points New Westminster, Southern Alberta, Hamilton, Canadian National, London, Peterboro, Sherbrooke and St. John, N.B. Therefore, owing to the pressure placed on this particular issue, the only references which can be made on these shows at this time will be the articles sent in and the writer's own copy. No one need be annoyed by this arrangement as the judges' awards will in every instance be given, and where the returns have been promptly sent to headquarters we will give as much information on the shows as possible.

Open Bitches—1, A. T. McIntosh's Brenda V. Weithof; 2, C. O. Herron's Tis Herr; 3, Lady V. Kracxemisel.

Canadian National Exhibition Dog Show

"The Thirty-Ninth Annual Show of the Toronto Fair" was in many respects one of the most successful ever held in the Dominion of Canada, and perhaps was the last show to be held in the old dog show building. Not that the old building is the worst of its kind in Canada, because, as a matter of cold fact, and having in mind how often the "old shed" has been cussed and double cussed year after year, the fact remains unaltered that barring the superb dog show building recently built by the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa, the dog show building is the best dog show building in the Dominion. And if you are inclined to be argumentative tell us where there is one to beat it. Anyway it has to go now, for at the closing of the Exhibition this year the retiring President, Mr. J. J. Dixon, declared the building programme for 1927-1928 as a new machinery and electric building, a motor building, a Dominion Government building, a building for the Federation of British industries, a new construction building, a new art gallery, a new grandstand—and a new dog and cat show building. When this latter building has been erected the possibility of benching some of the greatest dog shows outside of Great Britain becomes not only possible but quite probable. The old dog show building had to go naturally, not because it had actually outlived its usefulness, but rather because it had become out of harmony with the other magnificent structures which now have become features of the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds, which are the pride of all Torontonians and of Canadians generally.

The real cash prizes offered year after year, plus a wise selection of judges, makes the Canadian National Canada's premier dog show. One Boston Terrier fancier—who is not at all considered outstanding—with one dog and one bitch entered, won close on $100.00 in cash prizes, 4 cups and 2 medals. On top of this his animals were judged by "Paddy" E. Dowd, of Dorchester, Mass., a breeder judge of great experience. And after all is said and done, it is the "location", "cash" and "judge" that are the foundation stones upon which any successful dog show, large or small, may be safely built on.

The critics, like the proverbial poor, are always with us, and so we were not a bit surprised to hear the query, "Who selected the judges, anyway." Nevertheless the judges slate was made up of the following five well-known experts: Messrs. Enno Meyer, Milford, Ohio; "Jack" C. Fletcher, Calgary, Alta.; "Billy" W. T. Payne, Kingston, Pa.; Norman K. Swire, Toronto, Ont.; and "Pat" E. Dowd, Dorchester, Mass. And we invite the critics to name a more experienced quintette—if they can. We congratulate Mr. Frank M. Johnston, the chairman of the dog show committee, and the members of his committee on their choice of judges for the 1927 Diamond Jubilee dog show.

The committee has the advantage of experienced fanciers of the calibre of Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, Mr. John W. Bruce, and A. A. Macdonald, the latter one of Canada's foremost dog exhibitors and breeders of a couple of decades ago, and the former "brace" have been as long at the game and are "still in it," and—they "know how." There never was a year in the writer's memory where the dogs were judged more honorably, nor more fearlessly, and that statement goes generally. Some day the critics will go a little too far in their unwarranted vaporings, after which time, and at their leisure they may get down to a study of the ethics of sportsmanship.

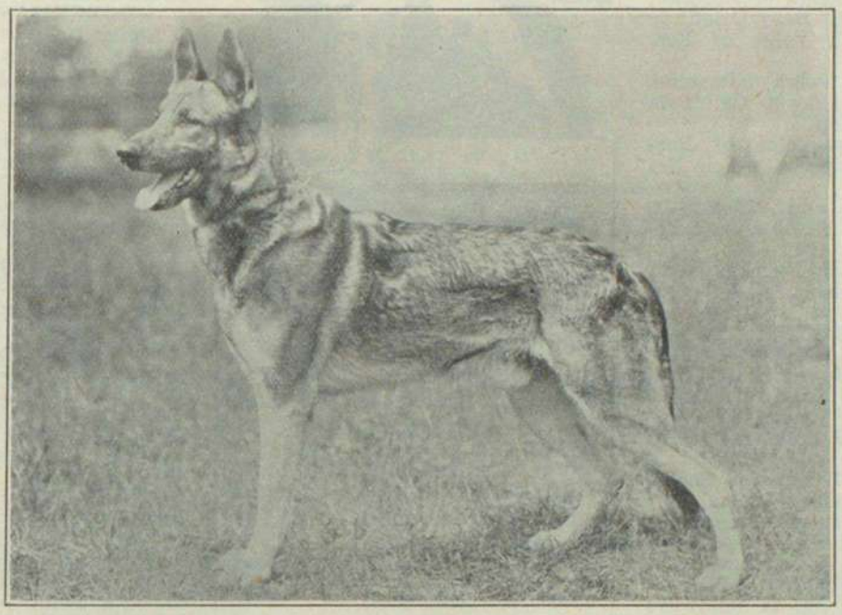

Six Hundred Dogs graced the benches, and generally speaking they were of splendid quality. Of that great number possibly the Collie entry made the poorest showing, but it was quite encouraging to have several of the older Collie enthusiasts declare that it was their intention to "jump in" and "do their bit" to bring this old, well liked and popular breed back to its own again, and in that worthy cause we wish them every possible measure of success.

Alsatians, Bulldogs, Bostons, Cockers, Fox Terriers, Scotties, Pomeranians and Pekingese were the breeds that stood out like "sore thumbs" at this show. The latter breed, thanks to the Pekingese and Toy Dog Breeders' Association of Canada, were kept before the visiting public in a prominent manner through a decorative combination of purple and gold which enveloped the benching of their entries, whilst the lady members of the Association sported themselves robed in kennels coats of those captivating colors.

Show Superintendent, Mr. Fred W. Jacobi, had arranged for the observance of the new dog show rule requiring the Winners dog and bitch of each breed to come together for the Best of Breed ribbon special. And this judicious arrangement was successful to a marked degree when the show had spent itself to the interesting point of General Specials, which were judged on the afternoon of the closing day, and after the variety classes had been disposed of. The sight of the "Best of Breeds" as they came together for the "big Specials," was an inspiring sight that would have rejoiced the hearts of a Mortimer or a Marples. About 35 dogs, representative of the quality of their respective breeds came together to have one of themselves declared the "very" best specimen. The judges had them parade in single file first, then in pairs—Noah's Ark style, then in groups of sporting, non-sporting, working, terrier, and toy, after several eliminations had been made, the interest became intensified and the great assembly of interested exhibitors and the equally interested general public were on their tip toes with expectancy. It seemed to be a matter of "all hands on deck". The show Superintendent, Mr. "Fred" Jacobi, and his assistant, Mr. Peter Herd; the Stewards, Capt. Dudley Waters, Messrs. "Jim" Gray, "Jack" Bruce and "Jack" McNaughwere all craning their necks to catch the first glimpse of concerted favor from the judges' faces. The President of the Canadian Kennel Club, Lt.-Col. G. F. MacFarland, was in the ring to hand the cherished trophies to the judges' final findings. And as they passed from one to another of the few dogs left in the ring, the Colonel followed each one from his catalogue in a manner indicative of his own deep interest at the moment. An Irish Setter, Kingsmill Jack, handled by "Benny" Lewis, Jr., in magnificent coat of superb color had the stage for a while, but something that must have been in front of his ears stopped him and he was excused. A Pomeranian, Ch. Glenrose Flashaway, hero of many shows, and best dog in show all breeds at Hamilton for two consecutive years, handled by his owner, "Joe" Greenwood, was now in the limelight and had plenty of support, but he too was excused. The little Scottie bitch, Cedric Countess, a new comer to Canada, was much admired, handled by "Ted" Ward in an able manner, but it must have been the thought of forthcoming maternal duties that occupied the little matron's head, and she looked tired and lacked interest, she was well liked by the judges by all appearances, but had to be excused. The Alsatian, Ch. Alpha Von Krone, the sensation of the recent Shepherd Dog Specialty Show, and handled by his owner, "Alf" Loveridge, had the judges' eyes aplenty but the four days' show had its effect on this usually alert animal and he refused to make the most of himself at this critical moment and so paid the penalty by being excused.

MR. R. PERRY, of VON EDELWEISS SHEPHERD FARMS, is now sole owner of Xeres, having purchased the interests in this dog of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Munns, of the Von Ischeland Kennels, Toronto.

XERES has now compiled half the points necessary for his Canadian Championship, as follows: Ottawa, 2 points; Sherbrooke, 1 point; Peterboro', 2 points. His latest success was Winners dog and Best of Breed at Peterboro', where he was also one of best non-sporting brace.

The Springer Spaniel, Ch. Marvel of Avandale, handled by George Kynoch, Winnipeg, moved like a machine and looked like an argument for the best, in her canine mind. She was out for the honors and looked like getting them for a while, and here again it must have been something on the North side of the collar line that stopped her as she was in superb condition and her quality seemed to be outstanding. "The dark horse" of the company was the Doberman Pincher, Fedor Von Butersburg, owned by the White Gates Kennels, of Lansdowne, Pa., and handled by "Benny Lewis, Jr." in magnificent conditon, and a quality appeal that could not be denied, "slick as a silk hat", perfect ring manners, and moving like a Waltham watch of many jewelled bearings, the elegant black and tan son of Astor von Goldgrund, appealed to the judges and was not denied. And as Col. McFarland handed over the Canadian Kennel Club Trophy for the best dog or bitch in the show the cheers arose to the roof in a deafening volume. And so ended the 39th International Dog Show of the Canadian National Exhibition.

In conclusion and again getting back to the "old building," it was remarked that even at the end of the fourth day any objectionable odors that might reasonably have been anticipated were altogether negligible by their entire absence, thanks to a plentiful use of a deodorizing disinfectant.

Spratt's Patent, Limited, London, England, fed the show as usual, and their booth at the entrance to the Dog Show building was the Mecca of those interested in securing suitable kennel equipment and feeding supplies. The booth was in charge of Mr. Reid of Langley-Harris Company, Toronto, Ontario, distributors for Spratt's Patent, Ltd., and Mr. Harry "Diamond" Wilson, Toronto, who handles the Spratt's Patent, Ltd., products by the car load almost weekly.

Dr. J. A. Campbell and Dr. Harold O. Bond were the veterinaries in charge of the health of the show, and after the "passing in" process came to an end the balance of the show—as far as they were concerned—became a pleasant task.

The Sled Dogs of the North Country

The principal effect of castration on all animals is to diminish masculinity and aggressiveness, and whether it be a dog, gelding or steer, the animal tends to become fat and lazy. To get the best results it is not wise to castrate a young puppy, but rather to wait until he is a year and six months old, or just before he goes into harness in the autumn. Perhaps that is about the best all round time for the operation. To prevent a dog from getting fat and lazy he must be worked just as soon as he has recovered from the operation and continuously so after this until he has lost his strength and speed, through age or infirmity. To explain more fully—it is believed that a castrated racing dog which has once been allowed to become fat through idleness will never come back entirely to his previous speed and endurance, even though he is thoroughly worked and trained. The writer is fully aware of the difficulties in keeping sled dogs at work in summer, but unless this can be done, he believes that a castrated dog's speediest year will follow his castration and that the next year he will be decidedly slower. For work dogs which are often tied up or kept in an enclosure during the summer, castration is not advised except perhaps in the case of bad fighters. If a comparison be made between dogs and horses, it seems probable that an uncastrated dog will work just as well and may have more endurance than an uncastrated animal that is to say, up to the time he begins to develop sexual instincts. As soon as a dog has mated, his character changes markedly; the change is well known to dog men, and it is just this alteration of temperament which does not fit in with racing.

To sum up, puppies should not be castrated until full grown. After castration they must work continuously without long spells of idleness.

TREATMENT OF WOUNDS AND INJURIES.

The most important and serious of all injuries are those which occur in the feet. For sore and swollen feet, the writer has found nothing better than a white lotion of lead acetate and zinc sulphate made with snow water. These drugs are most convenient to use while travelling; small packets of the mixed powders may be carried without danger of freezing, such as there is with most disinfectants. At the end of a day's run, when the dogs have been fed and watered, a powder is dropped into a cup or basin of warm water and it is then a simple matter to dip and soak all the sore and tender feet which may be found in a team.

For cuts and frozen surfaces, pure glycerine to which has been added 2 per cent. Lysol is a good thing to apply. It softens the skin and of course cannot freeze, either when it is applied or in the bottle. In the protection of the feet, especially towards spring when needle points form on the snow, mocassins of flannelette, canvas, or buckskin are used. Moccasins unfortunately wear out rapidly or else cause friction of the raw surfaces consequently, and instead of improving the condition, they may aggravate it. It is therefore a wise plan to keep a watchful eye on the dogs to prevent such occurrences. Cotton batting applied to the foot before the moccasin is tied on will sometimes protect the raw surface and prevent the sore from sticking.

INWARD TURNING OF EYELIDS.

This condition is fairly common among sled dogs. The results are disastrous. One eyelid slips under the other, the eyelashes irritate the eye ball, the pus begins to form, and very soon the dog becomes half blind. Cutting out a piece of skin close to the eyelid and sewing together the edges of the wound will pull the eyelid in place. Care and cleanliness must of course be observed. It seems probable that this eyelid trouble is connected with weak eyes or through snow blindness.

DISEASES.

There is one northern disease which occurs periodically and which has somewhat the appearance of rabies, but from what the writer has learned about the affection it cannot be true rabies. Whatever may be the exact nature of the disease it attacks all canines, either wild or domestic.

Just as the writer had finished his paper, he received a letter from the Rev. Marsh of Eskimo Point, Hudson Bay, informing him that a bad outbreak of the above disease had occurred. The symptoms he gives are as follows—"The dogs here are again suffering from this terrible scourge. It seems to me like rabies. The cheeks swell, the nose stops up, the mouth drips saliva, the animal is gradually paralyzed (from hindquarters usually,) and very soon is dead." He adds —"The natives are all losing dogs and so are the white men, and you can realize I know, how serious a proposition it is."

Generally speaking, northern dogs are more healthy than those of temperate climates, though under certain conditions they suffer more from parasites.

PARASITES.

During his stay in Alaska one of the first things the author noticed was that the fall litters of pups usually grew larger and stronger than those of the spring litters. From repeated observations in different places, he decided that this was due to infection with worms, both round worms (Ascarids) and hookworms (Ancyloctoma) during the summer months. The pups in the fall litters escaped infection owing to the cold weather and to the ground being covered with snow. There are some excellent remedies for the treatment of round worms—oil of chenopodium, santonin and calomel, and carbon tetrachloride for hookworms. A plan recommended by Hall might be tried. Treat the bitch for worms beforehand or early in pregnancy, wash her with soap and water, and then place her in a clean run where no dogs have been before. After the puppies are born, they must be kept isolated from all other dogs until they are three or four months old. Once a dog has obtained his growth, worms do not hurt him as much. Growing puppies on the other hand, show the stunting effects of worms markedly they become "pot bellied" and unhealthy looking and cease to grow. Hookworms bring on a serious form of anemia, so that any sled dog which shows lack of stamina and is losing flesh should be given a treatment for worms.

THE GIANT KIDNEY WORM.
(Dioctophynme renale)

This is a very large red worm, one to two feet long, or even larger. It occurs in the kidney or in the abdominal cavity. The worm is comparatively rare in the States, but the writer has seen specimens from the Hudson Bay region where it is said to cause considerable trouble. Hall, writing about this worm, said "Infested dogs are said to be dull as a rule and to have a wabbling gait and a hoarse bark. Nervous symptoms sometimes stimulate rabies." According to Silvestrini, Levi and Lisi, rabiform symptoms have been observed in dogs which harbor the worm. It is thought that dogs obtain the worm from eating fish, but the life history is not yet known.

TAPEWORMS.

All dogs are likely to get tapeworms if fed on raw offal or meat from rabbits, caribou, or the domestic animals. In northern dogs there are at least three species which are common where caribou or reindeer meat is fed. The cystic form of one of these, Echinococcus granulosus, is dangerous to man.

All drivers should be careful not to get their hands soiled with dog feces, and make it a practice to wash thoroughly before eating.

The new treatment for tapeworms in dogs with Arecoline hydrobromide is safe and effective, so that tapeworms are not now such a trouble as they used to be.

SUMMARY.

Dog racing is a sport which is deserving of encouragement.

A standard is given for the huskie. This dog should not be crossed indiscriminately with other breeds. He should be improved by careful selection.

It is recommended that the Siberian or Samoyede dog be introduced into Canada, to be used as a mail carrying dog for fast travel and for racing. A standard for these dogs is given.

The different breeds of dogs used in racing are described.

Any kind of dog will do for a short race provided he is fast; but for a long race in a northern country, the dogs to choose are the huskie for strength and endurance and the Siberian for speed. Races in which the drivers run alongside their sleds most of the way are regarded as being more in the nature of contests, in which the running powers of the men should be considered as well as those of the dogs.

In the Alaskan races there are no limitations on the number of dogs which may constitute a team.

These races are not run "on time," the team which comes back first to the starting point wins the race.

Dogs enjoy being driven and they respond to kind treatment. The Indian is regarded as being more cruel to his dogs than the Eskimo.

Driving dogs in pairs is recommended where a large number are being used and where the trails are wide enough.

Fish is an ideal food for dogs as it contains all the necessary elements. This can easily be proved by feeding it continuously over a long period. Dogs do not get a distaste for fish.

During the races it is not advisable to suddenly change the diet, merely to make additions to it.

Castrated dogs are easy to manage. If they are kept continually in training they make good racers.

The treatment of wounds and sore feet is discussed. Remedies suitable for a northern climate are indicated.

Diseases are mentioned, and an epidemic which has raged over the north country is discussed.

Parasitic worms are described together with methods of treatment and suppression.

CONCLUSIONS.

In concluding this discussion on northern dogs, the writer hopes that he has shown the need for thorough study of sled dogs, methods of handling them by breeding better strains, of selecting proper foods and other matters which are of vital interest to dog drivers.

In addition to this if the northern European method of staking trails and building rest cabins at necessary points was adopted, our north country would develop much faster and Canada would benefit as a whole.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The writer is greatly indebted to Mr. F. C. Hennessey for the three-half tone illustrations of the Huskie, Siberian and Wolf-Huskie. Mr. Hennessey made these drawings from photographs supplied by the author. Mr. Hennessey has also drawn outlines of the three types of dogs, which gives an idea of the proportions of the animals. It must be mentioned also that it was through the kindness of Mr. A. Gibson of the Dominion Department of Entomology that Mr. Hennessey's work was permitted. The writer wishes to acknowledge the help of numerous friends who have assisted him and given information both in the North and in more temperate climes.

Mr. Walter Reeves has kindly looked over the standards which the writer has set up. These standards are based in part on the work of others, notably from M. le Comte de Bylandt, supplemented with the writer's own ideas on the importance and the percentage which certain characters deserve.

Figs. 7, 8 and 13 were permitted through the kindness of Mr. Carl Lomen of Nome, Alaska.

Notes From Manitoba

By Provincial Contributing Editor, J. C. WOODEND, Winnipeg, Man.

MONDAY, August 6th, was proclaimed civic holiday for Winnipeg. A few hurried calls on the 'phone arranged an outing for Manitoba's contributing editor.

D. E. McLean, breeder and importer of English setters, and R. C. Henderson, Springer Spaniel enthusiast, were to trek north some hundred miles to look over dogs they had in training there in the game country. I was to join them and bring along Johnny Labotts for good measure.

Noon Saturday gave every promise of fair weather so we gathered at McLean's Iono kennels, transferred equipment to Mac's car, then had a look at inmates of the kennel. There was the grand old dog Ch. Jock of Crombie, ravaged by a malady, contracted when out for his championship, which hundreds of dollars paid to medical men had failed to cure—he was a long step from the dog who stood on the block in England's largest shows and met defeat only by his sire, the invincible Ch. Oh By Jingo. Some consolation to Mac was that his latest imported bitch Jean of Crombie was heavy in whelp to him.—Jean is of splendid type and mated to Jock should prove very valuable.

Iona's Pride, around home known as Tilly the Toiler, was next paraded. Here is a beautiful Blue Belton bitch, the apple of Mac's eye—and he may be right too, although looking thin on the day, it was explained, by her energy in pointing birds around the kennels from morning till night, very little to fault in her and on maturing should go a long way.

We hurried now for we had a long trail of unknown condition ahead, bid farewell to Mrs. McLean and headed north.—Mud holes—detour, north again—detour, north again, and at one of these detours "ye editor" set his "turkey," containing a change, by the roadside, and failed to lift it as motor moved away—so felt somewhat embarrassed when lights out were sounded—but it's true.

We passed through a lovely country, heavy in crop on all sides, left Grosse Isle on right, then the town of Warren, then woodlands. Now we came to the grazing country, the beautiful green hay fields, and bluffs of poplar and oak were very restful to the eye. This continued right on through Lake Francis, St. Laurent Beach and Oak Point. From here on—well, maybe they were roads, but all I saw was mud holes and detours. Finally Lundar came in view, and a most inviting sign, "Parlor." We went in, refreshed. We made last two miles over excellent gravel road to C. C. Ayre's dairy farm and dog ranch. A party of six of Ayre's relatives had preceded us a few hours and our arrival was a sure surprise on account of recent heavy rains, but such a crowd did not feaze our host, his wife or strapping big son. A most hearty welcome was ours. A meal—soon ready, soon gone—was plentiful and appetizing, and these continued during our stay. Several hours talk out under the oaks—not bothered with skeeters either, which surprised me, as I came prepared with a bottle of skeeter dope—made us ready to roll into the feathers—yes sir, real feather beds—and next we knew, fall out orders well sounded by entire kennel, at 5 a.m.

Mac had ambition, so took a pair of setters over the meadows. A four-month-old son of Ch. Jock was not to be left, so on he went for full two hours. "Ye editor" pulled one when he got a pail and stool, and did his best by helping with the milking—they didn't think he could. Henderson had Rufus of Wildwood among the rabbits, where he proved steady, and no chase.

A heavy breakfast required a ball game to limber up—then proceeded to go over the dogs and put them through few trials with a dummy and get some pictures. First we took a look at Grit, as handsome and typical dark liver and white springer as can be seen anywhere, one that if given a fair and unbiased judgment would carry away the blue ribbon at any show. Then Monty, a very handsome black and white springer; then his sister, Beauty, also black and white, real nice type too, and a very intelligent bitch. Next black and white Wildwood Rufus, Henderson's pup and exceptionally keen young dog with plenty of fire. These were all given a tryout and performed nicely. Crossing a field we came to another bunch of twelve. These, too, were given a trial and showed up well. The outstanding one here was a black Labrador Bitch, and she would gladden the heart of any shooting man, very fast and sure, a tender-mouthed faultless retriever.

Moving in again, the English Setters were loosed for a run over the meadows. Nora of Edendale, owned by that veteran fancier, Mr. Ridge, Iona's Pride, Vita's Juno, Ch. Jock of Crombie, Iona's Endurance, from McLean's string—these are all splendid specimens. Blue Beltons displayed excellent ranging. With such stock under these conditions Manitoba is ready to dispute first place with any province in Canada.

Word had come to our ears that we would find disease rampant at these kennels of Mr. Ayre's, and we hasten to say that no dogs any place on earth could be found in more excellent condition, coats in full bloom, shining like satin, and every dog in splendid flesh. Not a sign of disease on a single dog, every one fit to enter any dog show. Each dog had his kennel in the shade of large oak trees.

Sloughs met the eye for miles and gave promise of excellent duck shooting when the season opens next month. From this position we got a splendid view of the house, nestling in a grand oak grove, well protected from north and full open on south. The land gradually sloped to the hay lands, then to the marshes, which, we are told, abound with duck. A few miles away is an ideal country for chicken.

Mr. Ayre is assisted by his strapping son on the farm. Mrs. Ayre is ever watching to see if she can't do something more for you, is busy looking after the house and about 200 young turkeys, some goslings and chickens, but always has a pat and kind word for the dogs. She is great admirer of the Springer, having had dogs of this breed ever since she was five years of age. I don't think I am misplacing credit when I say I feel her care helps to keep the dogs in such fine condition.

Just west of the house a grove shelters about 100 rabbits, domestic varieties but bred wild, in wild surroundings. Here Mr. Ayre trains his dogs to ignore fur, except on command. He says his dogs are 100 per cent. rabbit proof—we believe it. Ch. Jock of Crombie felt sure he could catch one or get in a wood pile and bring it out. They're too fast for him. Sunday afternoon all cars loaded up and we went over to Lake Manitoba, only a few miles away, to spend on hour on the beach which thronged with people from the district.

Monday morning we had another run with the dogs. Yours truly shouldered Henderson's gun and did away with some vermin. I've to miss my first one yet. Credit was given to the gun—nevertheless, I did the shooting.

We now had a real treat. Gladys, a prospective daughter, made ice cream—and it was ice cream. Lunch served we loaded up for home.

Such hospitality as we had enjoyed during our visit was entirely unlooked for and will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Ayre has a wonderful place for dog building and training, and we wish him unbounded success.

I stopped at Lundar for gas and oil for Lizzie, and Labetts for ourselves had a blowout down the trail. "Tilly the Toiler" or Iona Pride got busy and soon nosed out a large flock of turkey (may have been domestic), but the way they went over tops of the trees would have done credit to the relatives of the south. We made another stop at a refreshment parlor and then home where Mrs. McLean—ever a hospitable hostess—loaded a table with lunch which was soon put away where it did much good. Thus ended a happy outing with the assurance that we'd hit that trail again on the fifteenth of September, at the opening of game season.

One of the leading Collie breeders and exhibitors, who has come to the front in the last ten years, is F. G. Dunstan, founder of the Magnus Kennels, Winnipeg. While looking round the kennels, recently, we were greatly taken with Mr. Dunstan's stud dog, Egyptian Bing Boy, imported from Illinois, U.S.A. "Bing Boy" is a golden sable and white dog of great quality and style, with excellent head, eyes and expression. With a capital front, sound feet and legs, plenty of bone, without being coarse or clumsy, he is a fine mover and as active as a terrier. Gifted also with a deep chest, well ribbed up, a short back, and powerful hind quarters, this dog, in show condition, should prove as successful on the bench as he is already proving as a sire of high-quality pups.

Magnus Bing, another nice Collie, and Sunbeam Fairy, a recent winner on the bench were others noticed in the kennels, not forgetting a nice litter of six Cillie pups sired by Egyptian Bing Boy. Unfortunately five of this litter are bitch puppies—four sable and white, and one tri-color. All, especially the dog puppy, give promise of developing into Collies above the ordinary in character, style and quality.

AN INSTANCE OF A COLLIE'S SENSE AND INTELLIGENCE.

While remarking on the Magnus Collies, it may interest lovers of the breed to learn that Mr. Dunstan recently disposed of a young tri-color bitch to parties residing over 100 miles west of Winnipeg. Within a week this Collie returned on foot to the kennels, with the soles of her feet bleeding, sore, and so worn down that it took a week's veterinary treatment to get her on her legs again. She is not fifteen months old till September, was always treated kindly by her original owner, and since her return to the Magnus Kennels will scarcely let Mr. Dunstan out of her sight. Meantime she has developed into a very fine specimen of the breed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pratt of "Braeside" Scottish Terrier fame, are equalled by few breeders in Winnipeg and the West, in their admiration of the "Towsie Tyke" and the quality of the puppies bred by them, which are winning all over Canada and the U.S.A.

Two particularly good "Scotties" are at present housed at the "Braeside" headquarters on Portage Avenue. These are the black brindle, seven and a half months' old puppy, Braeside Jamie, and his dam, Braeside McGraw. Taking the puppy first: Braeside Jamie (C.K.C. 69642) is a beautiful puppy with exceptionally good head, eyes, ears and expression. He is endowed with lots of bone, good front, short back, good spring of rib, and a hard coat of the proper texture. In character and disposition he is a genuine "Diehard," with sound short legs and good feet. He should do well when he makes his debut in public, and later as a sire. A perusal of his pedigree reveals that the best blood of the most famous British, Canadian and American "Scottie" strains run in his veins. He is by John O'Groats (31153), out of Braeside McGraw, (44168), she by the late Pete Ross's Ch. Jock McGraw, out of the famous brood matron Wynyard Belle, (2098). Braeside James' sire's sire was by Gallant Stewart (20825), out of Avondale Action (20514). Some famous Old Country strains of blood figuring in this pedigree are those of the Tayside, Albourne, Adavi, Ellwyn, and other noted kennels. Braeside McGraw, whose breeding is mentioned above, is considered by experts to be one of the most typical Scottish Terriers on this side of the Atlantic. All black in color, with a grand head, and all other points in proportion, she at once strikes a lover of Scotties as an ideal brood-matron, and a certain winner in high-class company, should her owners elect to exhibit her on the bench. She is prolific producer, having whelped on the last two occasions six and eight puppies, respectively to the litter. Curiously enough her litters nearly always contain equal numbers of either sex; in the litter of six there were three dog and three bitch puppies; in that of eight, four of each sex were born. Moreover their dam is a splendid mother and is capable of raising them all without assistance. She is healthy, sound and active, and with reasonable care should prove a little gold mine in the future to her fortunate owners.

Notes From Manitoba

By Provincial Contributing Editor, J. C. WOODEND, Winnipeg, Man.

MONDAY, August 6th, was proclaimed civic holiday for Winnipeg. A few hurried calls on the 'phone arranged an outing for Manitoba's contributing editor.

D. E. McLean, breeder and importer of English setters, and R. C. Henderson, Springer Spaniel enthusiast, were to trek north some hundred miles to look over dogs they had in training there in the game country. I was to join them and bring along Johnny Labotts for good measure.

Noon Saturday gave every promise of fair weather so we gathered at McLean's Iono kennels, transferred equipment to Mac's car, then had a look at inmates of the kennel. There was the grand old dog Ch. Jock of Crombie, ravaged by a malady, contracted when out for his championship, which hundreds of dollars paid to medical men had failed to cure—he was a long step from the dog who stood on the block in England's largest shows and met defeat only by his sire, the invincible Ch. Oh By Jingo. Some consolation to Mac was that his latest imported bitch Jean of Crombie was heavy in whelp to him.—Jean is of splendid type and mated to Jock should prove very valuable.

Iona's Pride, around home known as Tilly the Toiler, was next paraded. Here is a beautiful Blue Belton bitch, the apple of Mac's eye—and he may be right too, although looking thin on the day, it was explained, by her energy in pointing birds around the kennels from morning till night, very little to fault in her and on maturing should go a long way.

We hurried now for we had a long trail of unknown condition ahead, bid farewell to Mrs. McLean and headed north.—Mud holes—detour, north again—detour, north again, and at one of these detours "ye editor" set his "turkey," containing a change, by the roadside, and failed to lift it as motor moved away—so felt somewhat embarrassed when lights out were sounded—but it's true.

We passed through a lovely country, heavy in crop on all sides, left Grosse Isle on right, then the town of Warren, then woodlands. Now we came to the grazing country, the beautiful green hay fields, and bluffs of poplar and oak were very restful to the eye. This continued right on through Lake Francis, St. Laurent Beach and Oak Point. From here on—well, maybe they were roads, but all I saw was mud holes and detours. Finally Lundar came in view, and a most inviting sign, "Parlor." We went in, refreshed. We made last two miles over excellent gravel road to C. C. Ayre's dairy farm and dog ranch. A party of six of Ayre's relatives had preceded us a few hours and our arrival was a sure surprise on account of recent heavy rains, but such a crowd did not feaze our host, his wife or strapping big son. A most hearty welcome was ours. A meal—soon ready, soon gone—was plentiful and appetizing, and these continued during our stay. Several hours talk out under the oaks—not bothered with skeeters either, which surprised me, as I came prepared with a bottle of skeeter dope—made us ready to roll into the feathers—yes sir, real feather beds—and next we knew, fall out orders well sounded by entire kennel, at 5 a.m.

Mac had ambition, so took a pair of setters over the meadows. A four-month-old son of Ch. Jock was not to be left, so on he went for full two hours. "Ye editor" pulled one when he got a pail and stool, and did his best by helping with the milking—they didn't think he could. Henderson had Rufus of Wildwood among the rabbits, where he proved steady, and no chase.

A heavy breakfast required a ball game to limber up—then proceeded to go over the dogs and put them through few trials with a dummy and get some pictures. First we took a look at Grit, as handsome and typical dark liver and white springer as can be seen anywhere, one that if given a fair and unbiased judgment would carry away the blue ribbon at any show. Then Monty, a very handsome black and white springer; then his sister, Beauty, also black and white, real nice type too, and a very intelligent bitch. Next black and white Wildwood Rufus, Henderson's pup and exceptionally keen young dog with plenty of fire. These were all given a tryout and performed nicely. Crossing a field we came to another bunch of twelve. These, too, were given a trial and showed up well. The outstanding one here was a black Labrador Bitch, and she would gladden the heart of any shooting man, very fast and sure, a tender-mouthed faultless retriever.

Moving in again, the English Setters were loosed for a run over the meadows. Nora of Edendale, owned by that veteran fancier, Mr. Ridge, Iona's Pride, Vita's Juno, Ch. Jock of Crombie, Iona's Endurance, from McLean's string—these are all splendid specimens. Blue Beltons displayed excellent ranging. With such stock under these conditions Manitoba is ready to dispute first place with any province in Canada.

Word had come to our ears that we would find disease rampant at these kennels of Mr. Ayre's, and we hasten to say that no dogs any place on earth could be found in more excellent condition, coats in full bloom, shining like satin, and every dog in splendid flesh. Not a sign of disease on a single dog, every one fit to enter any dog show. Each dog had his kennel in the shade of large oak trees.

Sloughs met the eye for miles and gave promise of excellent duck shooting when the season opens next month. From this position we got a splendid view of the house, nestling in a grand oak grove, well protected from north and full open on south. The land gradually sloped to the hay lands, then to the marshes, which, we are told, abound with duck. A few miles away is an ideal country for chicken.

Mr. Ayre is assisted by his strapping son on the farm. Mrs. Ayre is ever watching to see if she can't do something more for you, is busy looking after the house and about 200 young turkeys, some goslings and chickens, but always has a pat and kind word for the dogs. She is great admirer of the Springer, having had dogs of this breed ever since she was five years of age. I don't think I am misplacing credit when I say I feel her care helps to keep the dogs in such fine condition.

Just west of the house a grove shelters about 100 rabbits, domestic varieties but bred wild, in wild surroundings. Here Mr. Ayre trains his dogs to ignore fur, except on command. He says his dogs are 100 per cent. rabbit proof—we believe it. Ch. Jock of Crombie felt sure he could catch one or get in a wood pile and bring it out. They're too fast for him. Sunday afternoon all cars loaded up and we went over to Lake Manitoba, only a few miles away, to spend on hour on the beach which thronged with people from the district.

Monday morning we had another run with the dogs. Yours truly shouldered Henderson's gun and did away with some vermin. I've to miss my first one yet. Credit was given to the gun—nevertheless, I did the shooting.

We now had a real treat. Gladys, a prospective daughter, made ice cream—and it was ice cream. Lunch served we loaded up for home.

Such hospitality as we had enjoyed during our visit was entirely unlooked for and will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Ayre has a wonderful place for dog building and training, and we wish him unbounded success.

I stopped at Lundar for gas and oil for Lizzie, and Labetts for ourselves had a blowout down the trail. "Tilly the Toiler" or Iona Pride got busy and soon nosed out a large flock of turkey (may have been domestic), but the way they went over tops of the trees would have done credit to the relatives of the south. We made another stop at a refreshment parlor and then home where Mrs. McLean—ever a hospitable hostess—loaded a table with lunch which was soon put away where it did much good. REGISTERED WHIPPETS.

Mr. R. Holliday, Lachine, Que., is to be congratulated upon his successes on the track and on the bench with his registered whippets. The combination has not been as popular as perhaps it should have been, performance seemed to be at all times the foremost consideration with our whippeters. Mr. Holliday is satisfied that performance and blood may be equally prominent in the "little long tails," and has demonstrated, is demonstrating and will continue to demonstrate the important circumstance, that the registered whippet is a real racing animal. Track records satisfy Mr. Holliday and those associated with the sport, Bench performances can be gauged from the standing of September (C.K.C., 52576), a white, fawn marked son of that other good utility whippet, Ch. Taffy's Pride, Little "Sept." has cleaned the boards at four important shows this year so far, and at the Canadian National finished his championship, and was amongst the last very few left in the ring for the best dog in show. All breeds. We hope Mr. Holliday will have many such wonderful experiences with his whippets in the future.

Do You Know?

Fire—The Torch of Carelessness. (Fire Prevention Week).

DO YOU KNOW that the fire waste of Ontario exceeds $34,000 a day? That on an average per capita basis EVERYONE contributed $4.00 to this huge bonfire last year?

DO YOU KNOW that too frequently pipes, stoves or ranges are in close proximity to wooden partitions, ceiling or other flammable material, and under favorable conditions a fire is sure to follow?

DO YOU KNOW that the only SURE WAY to prevent fires, when electric irons are in contact with flammable material is to keep the current turned off, except while the irons are in actual use?

DO YOU KNOW that coal oil or gasoline lamps should be filled and cleaned in daylight?

DO YOU KNOW that "dry cleaning" in the home may have disastrous results?

DO YOU KNOW that chimneys built on brackets and other faulty constructions are the cause of a large portion of our fire waste, in addition to serious injury and loss of life from fire?

DO YOU KNOW that oily waste and oil-soaked rags should be kept in metal cans?

DO YOU KNOW that it is dangerous to use your barn as a garage?

DO YOU KNOW that hay or straw when thoroughly dried, but which later becomes wet, will, if densely packed, be liable to ignite spontaneously just the same as if it were densely packed without having been thoroughly dried?

DO YOU KNOW that in hay the cells continue to live and breathe for some time after it is cut, so that great care is necessary to see that the hay is properly cured?

DO YOU KNOW that it is dangerous to pour gasoline or coal-oil on a fire to quicken it?

DO YOU KNOW that every hour of the day and night the TORCH OF CARELESSNESS brings destruction to somebody's home or place of business in Ontario?

DO YOU KNOW that dogs are considered and acknowledged to be wonderful fire alarms?

DO YOU KNOW that sometimes they save human lives from death by fire?

DO YOU KNOW that sometimes humans risk their own lives to save their dogs from death by fire?

DO YOU REMEMBER some of these happenings for instance?

TEN-YEAR-OLD LIONEL ROSENTINE, Montreal, rescued his sleeping baby sister, the family cat and the pet dog from the home that was in flames through the explosion of an oil furnace? (Toronto Telegram, February 11th).

LADDIE BOY, AN AIREDALE, a Chicago dog, saved the lives of seven persons, including a minister, his wife and child. He also saved the lives of three other dogs? (Toronto Globe, February 28th).

VIMY, A BULLDOG, saved Arthur Peacock and his wife from being suffocated while they slept in their apartment? (Toronto Star).

DOG—JUST PLAIN DOG, and at a quarter to four in the morning, woke up Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wickens, Wallaceburg, Ont., $40,000 damage, LIVES SAVED though! Thanks, dog!

AT BRANTFORD, ONT., during May, a bulldog alarmed Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stanton who had barely time to escape, the rear of their home was burned clean out.

A FAITHFUL LITTLE DOG arroused C. McLellan, Toronto, his wife and four children and a roomer, just in time to permit of their escape through a window on to an adjoining roof.

Fanciers, there are hundreds of such cases on record, all the foregoing is unusual appearing in a sports paper, but, Fire is a serious matter, a "red hot" question at any time. As dog fanciers we are all particularly interested because of the "alarms" that we keep, feed, and kennel. So may we not now decide to become a vigilance committee to be an aid to our Fire Marshals everywhere, and decide also that we will be eternally on the outlook for the prevention of fire.

(At the request of the Fire Marshal, Province of Ontario).

RODDY OF HARTLEBURY (IMP.), DEAD.

The above good producing Red Peke was imported from England, near the end of 1921 by Mrs. R. S. Richardson, Toronto, and at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1922 made his debut memorable by winning 1st limit in good hot competition. During 1923 he reached Reserve winner at Brantford and at London, in 1924 he appeared at the Canadian National and at the National Kennel Club shows wearing the Kelvinside colors of Mrs. P. Herd, Toronto. At Hamilton in 1925 he won his first championship points.

It was more as a producer than as a show specimen, wherein "Roddy" was found in the limelight, and such specimens as Kelvindale Wei Shi Lo Kee, of Badmington, Bumblebee of Badmington were "Roddy's" get. On September 1st, he died, being almost 11 years old.

DOGS OF THE EMPIRE

By FREEMAN LLOYD.

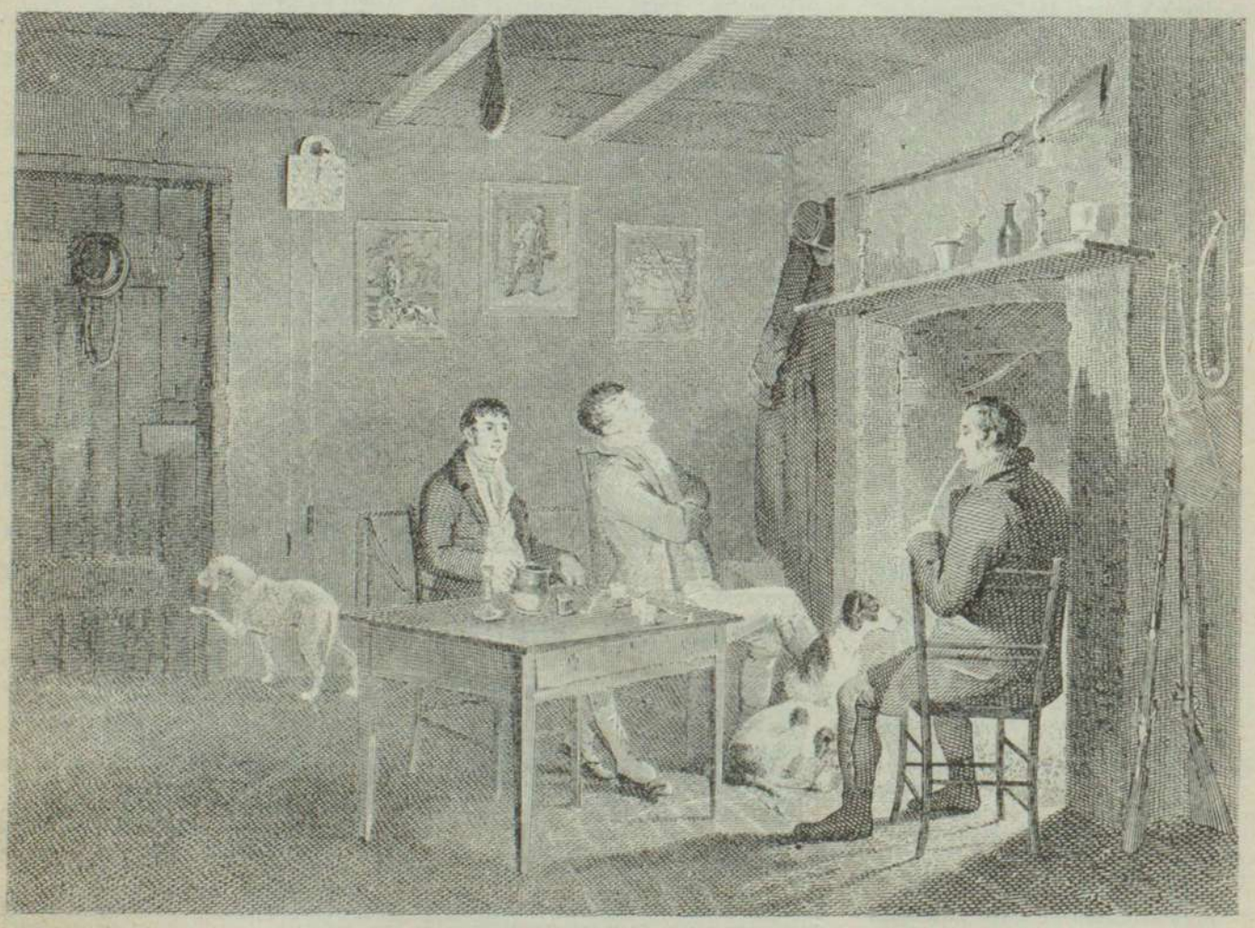

(Illustrations from the Author's collection.)

Hurrah! once again for October! *
Get ready the dogs and the gun!
And be sure you don't fail to remember
The Whiskey-flask marked No. I.
And boy, above all, don't be sleeping
When rises the bright star of day,
For soon as gray morning is peeping,
We'll haste to the stubbles, away!

HERE, indeed, is the sentiment that exists in every sporting soul at this time of the year. For it can be said that October is the best of all sporting months, not only in the vast Dominion of Canada, but in other parts of North America. Even in the lower latitudes, say of Maine and of the Northern Eastern States, the taste of the frost appeared in the atmosphere, a couple of weeks before the opening of the shooting season in Canada. Sportsmen have been looking over their dogs, their guns and hunting appliances. Game has become unduly scarce in some parts of the United States; and shootingmen who delight to shoot over pointers, setters, griffons and spaniels, if they have the time and the money, hasten to the Canadian Provinces to participate in the sport that the Western divisions now afford. Already the field-trial dog-breakers had been working their dogs on the stubbles of Manitoba; but as there is no open season this year for shooting prarie chicken in that part of the wheat belt, sportsmen must go farther afield into Saskatchewan or elsewhere for their prairie chicken shooting!

The fast-increasing numbers of Hungarian partridges in Canada will mean a continuous sporting prosperity for the Western Provinces; for thereto will flock, year after year, those who love to shoot over dogs. It seems that the European partridge particularly enjoys the surroundings and conditions of those great expanses of cultivated prairie lands, where wheat crops are everywhere. Here is an ideal sustenance for the partridges of the kind that like the open country, with grain, grass, berry, and insect life. When men in some places will have to content themselves with clay "birds" for shooting purposes, the dog and gun man will be thankfully content with the plenitude of chicken and European partridges on the Western prairies. It will be therefore well understood that the gun dogs, such as pointers, setters, spaniels and retrievers of the various kinds, will be ever popular. Further, there can be no fall in the values of such dogs. Therefore it will be wise for breeders of gun dogs in Western Canada to produce working and good-looking gun dogs.

* "September" in the old ballad.

FIRST OF SEPTEMBER
"Hurrah! once again for October! Get ready the dogs and the gun!"

There is a nenormous demand for broken dogs. From two to four hundred dollars may be obtained for a really useful shooting dog. There is a sure and constant market.

When we examine the pictures—the old prints that illustrate this contribution—we will appreciate the great things our forefathers accomplished for us in the way of dogs—their shooting or sporting dogs were sublime! We will look upon the reproductions of the engravings that were published considerably over one hundred years ago. The sportsman will enjoy them as if they first came from off the printing press of the day of his perusal of this article. In some way the prints will appeal to our souls—to our sense and knowledge of sportsmanship. There is about these illustrations the perfume of the Scottish heather; the warm but straight-backed chair comfort of the sportsman's lodge or cottage; the aroma of spirituous liquors; the consoling influence of the fumes and inhalations from the long and cherished church warden and clay tobacco pipes; the great wastes of the long-reeded marshes; the boom of the bittern, and the wariness and commonsense of our spaniel dog!

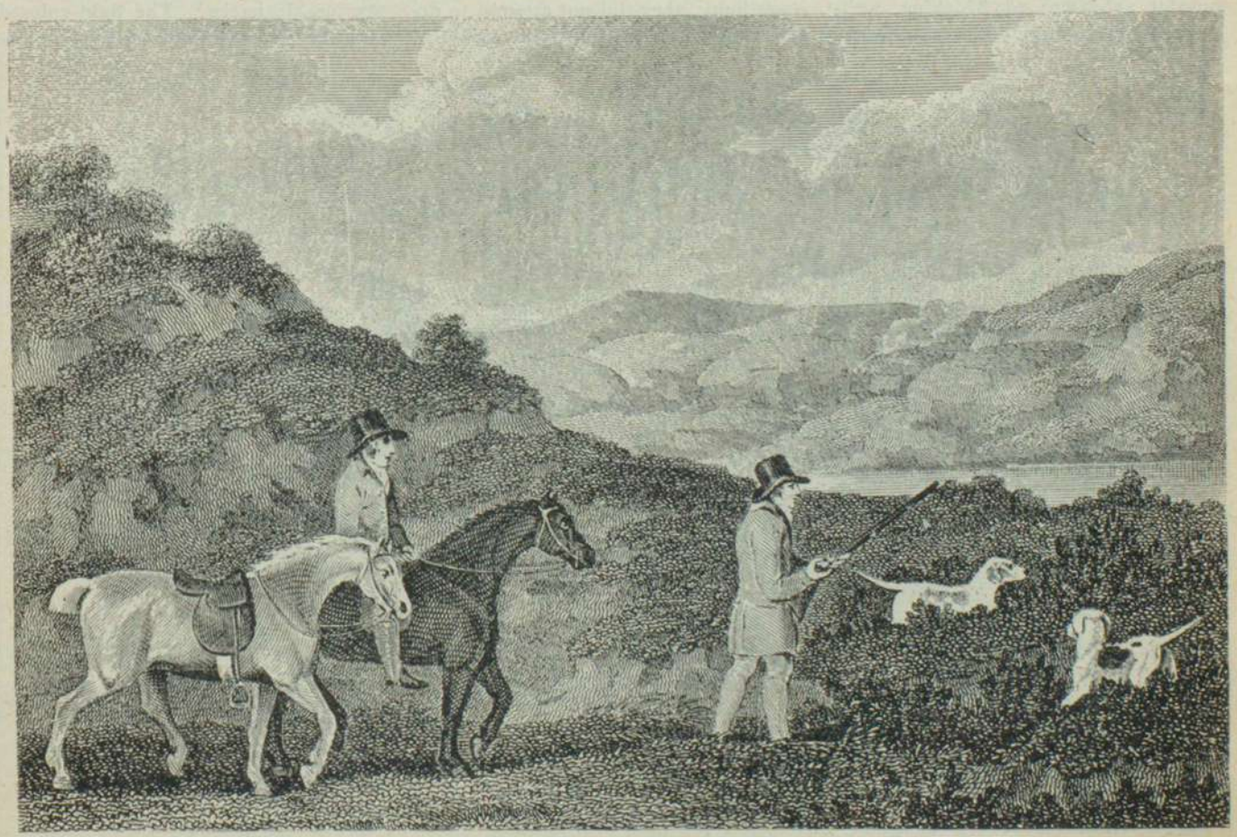

All these things here portrayed, happened in the times of our great-great-grandfathers, sportsmen mostly long, long ago forgotten, but whose sporting and dog-loving traits exist in the make-up of our shooting dog owners of the present moment. Perhaps our desire for sport has not come to us directly from our fathers. It may have missed fire for a generation or two. But the old gun at last went off and cast its shot in the right place. In other words, the non-sportsman often begets a sportsman, especially if the mother of the offspring be of sporting blood.

This contribution has, of course, to do more with dogs than with men; but there are times when both the domesticated canine and the human being may not be saparated—even in print. I like to look upon the "First of September" picture, and realize that men and dogs do not change. And when I go over my portfolios of old prints, some of them linking up the past centuries of sport with dogs, with the self-same occupations of this day, I feel that I am more than ever part of an older world, and realize how ingrained is this sporting inclination of the present dog owner, and his desire for the companionship and surroundings of well-bred, good-looking and useful dogs.

Who has not sat up all night on the eve of the Feast of Saint Partridge, in the home countries of the British Empire? And while the wood fire has crackled in the stone hearth, have we not thoroughly enjoyed the re-union of old shooting friends, and the presence of all and sundry dogs. What a lot of memories will arise in our minds if we look well into this "September" picture! It is midnight. But there will be no "bed". Even as the old song has it:

> "As soon as the grey morning is peeping, they'll haste to the stubbles away."

One of the pointers is getting rather uneasy. He or she is house-broken, and there's a time and place for everything! The men are well-breeched and gaitered; their guns and their dogs are their nearest and dearest friends. The long hand of the clock points to one minute after twelve. The timepiece has struck and each beat has been methodically counted. O joy! The day of the sportsman's heaven has arrived! The dawn and magnificence of his paradise is about to be revealed unto him! The men have drank wisely; their's must be steady nerves, eyes and finger-pulls, half a dozen hours hence. One of the pointer dogs can, like men, see happenings or visions in the flames. Perhaps these are sights of the past, but not forgotten; the ecstasy of the questing for feathered game; the fleeing fur that must not be chased; the presence of the tantalizing but game-scented meadow larks; the darting, winding woodcock; the raucous voiced snipe; the fluttering, falling partridge; the winged, running cock-pheasant; the jealous dog-partner in the hunt, and the bad shot although a good master! For a gun dog thinks and dreams—even as you and I think and dream.

GROUSE SHOOTING

It is to such men and dogs as we see in the pictures here presented that the British Empire has reason to be very, very thankful. For, assuredly, its members and its gun dogs have made their marks all over the world; and those who have passed have left their indelible and sporting footprints on the sands of Time.

The pointers of a century and a quarter ago were good-looking, well-made, speedy dogs. They were removed from houndness; their tails were whip-like, while their colors were mostly white with liver, and white with orange or lemon shade markings. There has been a change in the make of guns. While powder flasks, shot pouches, and candles have become old-fashioned, the men, dogs, hard liquor, and sporting pictures on the wall, have remained about the same. It is the Old Adam in us that is responsible for the exultation that "The First of September" illustration provokes in our being. And these your hunting inclinations and affections for dogs will be passed on and handed down to your children's children.

We will again see some excellent pointer dogs in the "Grouse Shooting" picture. This print was published in 1804 A.D. Good judges of a cob, and a gun dog will be pleased with the conformation of both the shooting ponies and the shooting dogs. Perhaps, some moderns might be inclined to laugh at the top-hats of the sportsmen; but these persons would be probably unaware that the high-hat is not only the coolest but the lightest of all head-wear. Again men who went shooting over pointers were not supposed to enter into a covert, or bushes where a tall hat would be in the way. Men who kept hunting dogs made the dogs hunt; they did not attempt to do the work of their dogs. It was the pleasure of the sportsman to see that his dogs did work; furthermore, he kept them working within a reasonable distance from the gun. It is granted that pointers and setters were only owned or maintained by the sporting "gentry" who had game preserves or naturally well-stocked grouse moors for their own or friends' shooting. The "race" of the American field-trial dogs had not been dreamed of; and this, very likely, was all the better for the shooting man and the shooting dog. The pointers in the grouse-shooting picture are high-class, highly typical dogs—pointer dogs with correct tails and carriage of tails. They were gentlemen's dogs, and such a term may be here used without any tinge of snobbishness. "I like a good tail on a pointer dog," once remarked Ray Holland, editor of "Field and Stream," New York. "Freeman," he continued, "I often look at a pointer's tail before I look at his head!" And Holland was and is right. A pointer's tail is often a better index to the purity of his blood than is the same pointer's head!

Leaving the pointer dogs for the moment, what shall we not say of the beauty of the shooting cobs or ponies of about 14 hands in height? Are they not splendidly made and strictly serviceable hacks? The light-colored little horse is a model. He is a compact piece of horseflesh and possesses a wonderful forepart; nice shoulders; a good forearm; a splendid neck for one of his breed, and a handsome, blood-like head. His hindquarters are long, wide and deep; his back goes out almost in a straight line to the crup; his short back is a dream; his strength of loin is apparent; and his girth is rounded and deep. Many years ago a prize was offered by the "Fox Terrier Chronicle" for the best description of a fox terrier. The late L. P. C. Astley was editor of the publication. If I remember rightly, "Phil" placed great stress on the importance of the term "general appearance" as applied to the fox terrier—wire-haired or smooth-haired. He required an apt likeness in a few words.

"Like a hackney horse," wrote the late Enoch Welburn, a prominent fox terrier man and sporting boniface.

Before us we have pony hackneys. A fox terrier built like a led cob would be pretty well the ideal fox terrier dog of the present day, as he was in Welburn's time—the eighties and nineties of the last century. The coarse shoulders and forelegs of the bay or black cob are the slovenly works of the engraver. They did not belong to the build of that marvelous little beast!

Time and again it has been pointed out that the spaniel has been the same in head, ears, body, coats, and disposition for hundreds of years. The engraving of the "Bittern and Spaniel," here reproduced, was the work of Howitt, an industrious artist for work of this kind. The print was published in 1814. The dog is typical as a small-sized springer spaniel, and an active and eager one at that. The head-markings and tickings of liver color on the legs and nose are as typical to-day as they were in the time of Johannes Stradanus (1523-1605 A.D.). This designer's real name was Jan van der Straet. He was born in Bruges, Belgium. In Italy he was known as Giovanni della Strada, and for many years devoted himself "to the amazingly popular depicting of sporting scenes." As I write, I have before me a picture of Stradanus' spaniel as the dog accompanies a wild-fowler armed with a wheelock gun. There is little or no variations in the forms of the Stradanus spaniels of the sixteenth century, Howitt's spaniels of the nineteenth century, and the springer spaniel now at my feet, in the twentieth century! So how true and long-lineaged our spaniels are! And down through the cycles of time, these dogs have possessed and certainly enjoyed the same hunting proclivities, the same passions, the same kindliness, the same obedience, the same shape of body, heads, ears.

A wounded bittern is a dangerous bird. Like unto all of the crane or heron tribe, a thrust of its rapier-like bill will quickly blind the unwary and aggressive dog. And Howitt's springer spaniel knew that he had better keep at a respectful distance until the arrival of his master.

And so ends our imaginary shooting day.

And when we are homeward returning,
Fatigu'd with the sports of the field,
Who's he that once knows would be spurning
The health and the pleasure they yield?
If sickness or sorrow come o'er us,
A fee to no doctor we pay,
But shouting "To ho there" in chorus
We speed through the stubbles away.

Maritime Notes and News

Provincial Contributing Editor ROBERT B. LASKEY, Saint John, N.B.

The New Brunswick Kennel Club celebrated its twentieth anniversary as an organization with a very pleasing show September 5 to 8, in an ideal building with the Provincial Fair in Saint John. The show arrangements were quite faultless and accommodating for many out-of-town exhibitors. It was cheerful company having these visitors—some familiar, others new faces with us. Those I recall are, Mrs. P. A. Margeson, Kentville, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. Ora Doherty, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Miller, H. M. McLeod, Reginald Young, and the Zuricker brothers, all of Halifax; Dr. Grey, Saint Stephen, P. S. Clark and daughter, Marietta, St. Stephen; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lutes, Moncton; also A. E. Armitage, of Sherbrooke.

We missed the club's President, Allan G. McAvity, the first day when his favorite breed—pointers—were judged, but excuse him knowing his energetic and attentive duties with the N.B. Fish and Game Association, of which he is also President.

Best in Show, all breeds, went to a very typical blue belton English Setter, Thornehaven Morris, bred and owned by Chas. C. Sullivan, Saint John. This is the third consecutive time when a "bred by exhibitor" has gone up best in show. First last year under Vinton P. Preese. Mrs. P. A. Margeson's delightful biscuit Peke Ch. Tung Ling of Cedarcrest was supreme. At N.B.K.C. May show under K. Wilson, Saint John, Thornehaven Morris was Best in Show, representing this signal honor here. The awards for Best opposite sex to the English Setter went to M. B. Zwicker's August importation, Nona of Shay, a noted English winner and a strong addition to his team of four, so splendidly benched, all in capital condition.

Sporting dogs, as expected, had a quality entry with immature dogs and fillers conspicuously absent. Right or wrong there was no gainsaying the judge, Dr. Hair's honest decisions, and if your dog didn't go up the "Doctors" could tell you why.—His opinion counted on the day!

Best in a fair entry of Pointers, Walter Bartlet's Ridgeway Jenny Lind, not the Jenny Lind we remember (bred by Jas. Laidlaw) of fair name fame and fortune, but a junior bitch hardly ready as yet though shows promise, being quite fair in head, has clean neck, shoulders, legs and feet, needs lots of time on body and quarters.

Best in dogs, Wm. S. Higgins' Brownie, a showy liver and white, well made up with a shapely head, stands on good legs and feet, in splendid condition.

English Setters had forward a very even lot in this breed, including several good bitches. Winners dog, C. C. Sullivan's Thornehaven Morris, reviewed in M.B.K.C. May show report of June issue. The same owner had his Thornehaven Glenfall more matured than last showing—pressed hard by W. T. Miller's Ridgeway Treasure, also a blue belton typical setter.

Irish Setters were but a shadow of former days, six here where twenty are sometimes exhibited. The bitches provided best of breed. The winner, H. M. McLeod's Lady Haliburton, an American bred, built on nice lines, clean in limb, rich in color, coat and feather, has a pleasing head and eyes, quite true in front, moves with grace.

Reserve winner Nan Brown, a racy sort of nice type, shy in coat and feather, same owner.

Winners dog, Miss K. Craft's Brownie, a well matured good stamp of setter, now getting heavy, fails in color, coat and condition.

Reserve Dog, G. B. Taylor's Barney Connemara, a rich colored, able dog, covers lots of ground, could carry more flesh.

Cockers—Not so many as other years, but an improved entry with parti-colors predominating in numbers and awards. Best of Breed, Doyle and Armitage's American bred lemon and white Mistover Daffodil.

Winners, a nice little show bitch owning a lovely head and neatly balanced all through on the day, short of coat; reserve bitch, Wm. McQuade's black and white Peggy, a local bred of more useful size, but lacks real Cocker character, the latter had a close decision over John Scott's very typical Misty Miss.

James Whitebone's Ch. Enright Centre Star was the judges' choice for winners dog, with Mr. Knapman's Lucky Prince reserve. Winners solid colors was the sturdy black. B. A. Smith's Goldstream Gunner just missed being a real one.

Springers had Sherbrooke entries winners in both sexes. S. G. Newton's liver and white Marlo of Oxford first, Winners dog over Miss Mathews' Pete. Best in bitches and Best of Breed, Lady of Oxford excelling in body and skull over her daughter, Belmors Fleur of Oxford, an attractive blue-roan, all spaniel.

Russian Wolfhounds were a pleasing entry, with the Marlboro Borzoi taking chief awards for their owner, M. B. Zwicker. His Ch. Korol, a well-made, mahogany-marked Winners dog, the same owners. Nona of Shay, winners bitches, an orange and white, excelling in body and coat over Murray and Grannan's Appreciation Mabel. "Nona" owns a pleasing head, nice eye, splendid body, stands on good legs and feet, a popular winner in the specials. A fine pair of Great Danes were benched, Ray Rogers Viking of Evangeline is a sound, able, cropped dog, with a typical clean head and face, good shoulders, front, and right behind.

Ralph Proctor's Evangeline Kennels had his Griselda of Evangeline, winners bitches and best of breed. She is a lovely marked tiger brindle, in good form, excelling Viking in body and quarters. A winner in the variety classes.

Irish Water Spaniels becoming popular hereabouts, had Edw. Whittaker's Idlwyd Irish Prince winners dog, he is an ably-built spaniel, well-bodied, ample bone, quite fair in coat and color. E. A. Dickie's Qu'Appelle Patsy winners bitches, a handier size one, sounder on the day. Boston Terriers were a very small entry. We missed "Parrtowns" whom I heard lost several fine Bostons through illness during August. Two Halifax terriers won handily here, owned by John Reid, and accounted for several specials, also. Reid's Dandy Boy, winners dog, a nice-marked, well-balanced middleweight put down fit. The same owners' very smart lightweight, Little Rosebud, has good color, conformation and style.

English Bulldogs not up to former entries, so the going was easy for Nova Kennels with their Novalaunt, a massive, compact, fawn and white dog, more matured now than on his May appearance, winners dog, bred and owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ora Doherty, who also owned winners bitches, Alaunts Heiress, unquestionably one of our best and foremost bitches of the breed in Canada. A wonderful headed one, good wide front, big bone, well-ribbed, cut up in loin and sound behind. Reserve in bitches, Dr. Macintosh's Barbican British Princess, a brindle lightweight, not holding her own. Reserve winners dog, a new face here, D. A. MacKinnon's Heft Samson II., a good-bodied dog, well-boned, but fails in head and foreface.

Collies at this show were an improvement, still some local cracks were absent. Robert Jamieson's big tricolor, Ayshire Squire of Stonehaven, was lion of the tribe, boasts a wealth of coat, quite typical long, clean head, nice ear, big bone and quarters. Winners bitches and best of breed, a delightful blue merle puppy, bred and owned by Matt. T. Morris, also breeder of the winning dog. His Blue Dawn of Stonehaven is a blue bred typical daughter of Mountshannon Blue Smoke ex his late Mount Shannon Blue Sylph. Blue Dawn promises quality in her make-up, has a lovely head, eyes, body, legs and feet, nicely-marked and fair in coat for a puppy.

Newfoundland's are dropping off, with no outstanding dog. O. S. Trentowsky's Max, quite fair in bone, size and color, will improve with time. James H. Donnelly had an attractive marked pair of "Landseers" but lacked size and fail in heads. Paddys' Guide and Princess reserve dog and—winners bitches.

Alsatians had a larger entry than on former shows here, with a puppy going to winners and best of breed. An attractive, alert-eared wolf grey male, Teddy Von Soolbad, fairly good in head, legs and feet, needs time in body and quarters, could be improved in tail. Owner, Mrs. Wm. Smith. Winners bitches, Fan of Highcrest; owner, J. B. Roach, Sussex, N.B.

Airedales, all Canadian bred benched. Winners dog, Adena Clydebank; breeder and exhibitor, Mrs. J. T. Neville, Montreal. "Clyde" is a short-backed, big-boned terrier, A 1 front, legs and feet, in better form than his former appearance; the same owners, Adena Judy, also winners bitch, is a pleasing sort, more racy than her kennel mate. Reserve winner dog and bitch owned and bred by James Merrifield, the dog, a puppy, Merrifield's Lord Baldwin, shows good front, bone and outline; his bitch, somewhat similar, M. Lady Baldwin. Best of breed, R. A. Christie's Ch. Roskwood Ranger, excelling in ears, head and color only, not moving so well as the runner-up, Ch. Silver Birch Miss Quality, which could display more spirit and terrier life.

Irish Terriers were an interesting seven, with the well-known local dog, winners and best of breed, Miss M. Ryan's Shoeing-Forge Surprise, a right-sized "Mick" evenly balanced, improved in body, shown quite fit. Reserve winner, Robt. Magee's youthful puppy, Maritime Tony, a lean-headed, racy "Irishman", wants time to improve. The winners bitch was a little sister to M. Tony, bred by that sincere fancier, Robert Magee; her name, Tara Maritime Bejabers, quite a fair bitch, with pleasing outline, still carries her puppy coat and must improve in feet; owner, Mrs. Wm. Bowman.

Bull Terriers had a new winner in Geo. Secords' bitch, "Cis," quite good in face and eye. Best dog, A. Longon's Sam, much the same stamp of terrier, a trifle strong in shoulder. Reserve dog, Woggie of South Park. Smooth Fox Terriers had quite a decent entry, but lacked uniformity in size, dogs being superior all-round than bitches. Dr. Hair chose Thornehaven Bonzo for winners dog and best of breed; an attractive marked, modest sized terrier, with lovely front, clean head, small eye and ear, best of legs and feet, though not in his best form or asking for it. He was pressed hard by Clarence Keyes' Bellum Teddy in good form, excelling in body and quarters, not a bad smooth. Winners bitches, my own, Crown Dark Dora, just fair.

Wires had an upset in awards, with the local circuit winner nosed out, but Epping Edict redeemed himself in terrier variety class. Winners dog, Ralph Preston's own bred Reciprocity, a neat, showy, little one, quite fit. Reserve winner, LeBaron Wilson's Hard Pine, a handier-sized dog, nicely made-up, just fails in eyes. A gamer tyke that just missed it, was Robt. Smith's good-headed, well-bodied, white terrier, Vaughan's Bob, third open in a good class. Winners bitches, Ronald Vaughan's Garwood Lady, a shapely-made junior wire that needs a better jacket. Reserve, Robt. Smith's Ormsby Sweetheart, a short-backed, good-bodied, keen-eyed terrier, with an honest coat, fails in shoulders.

Scotch Terriers and Sealyhams, same entries as reported in May Spring show review. With more importations Poms and Pekes added much to the Toy variety.

The Pomona entries gave a fill-up to the Pom section, Mrs. D. Beland's profuse-coated orange dog showing well, had a close win over Mrs. Harry Short's Tommy Tucker, a very taking dense chocolate miniature, quite typical in head, lovely legs and feet, put down very fit, moves nicely. Goldacre scored heavily in coat and rib, a likely sire. In bitches, best was a dark sable of Mrs. Beland's Reflection of Pomona, a miniature daughter by that good English sire, Gold Petal, a neat-made short-backed Pom, with a nice face and ear placement, though looking presentable, not in full coat here. Reserve winners bitch, an attractive biscuit, imported daughter of Ch. Goldsan of Sunbright. She has lovely eyes, fine bone, nice feet, quite fair in coat, moves smart; owner, Mrs. Harry Short. Best Pom, the imported Ofleda Goldflake. Pekingese had more exhibitors, which speaks well for their growing popularity in the Maritimes. With such a formidable kennel filling the classes, "Cedarcrests" got the lion's share. Not fully satisfied with good homebreds, Mrs. Margeson has fortified her stock with several importations, which included a winners dog, Pagan Prince of Cedarcrest, a beautiful dark red, that owns a splendid head, flat face, dark mask, wrinkle, lovely eyes set off with nice ears and fringes, boasts a shapely body and neat waist, a bold, fearless dog; showed well, and won many specials for his fair owner. Reserve dog, A. E. Clute's Prince Shan II., a heavy, well-boned sound parti-color, with good skull, just outclassed. Winners bitches, Ashton More Chilo, another new face, an August importation of Mrs. Margeson's for Cedarcrest. She is a very typical shaded sable with the flattest face, deep wrinkle, good skull, eyes and underjaw, is low, big rib, short back, not in good coat or showing too well. Reserve winners, a charming little red sleeve bitch of Mrs. Arthur Gillards, Mi Jetta of Cedarcrest, very sound, has an attractive head, dark mask, flat face, good underjaw, shows and moves right; more coat would improve her.

Variety classes caused several surprises, but in this, as in the breed awards, the judge pleased himself. So we must respect the judge's awards and opinion, which carries the day.

Other winners I have left over where they repeated their wins the week following in Halifax, of which a very brief resume will appear in these columns later.

A sadly-missed exhibitor, who attended the last two shows of the N.B.K.C., was J. E. St. Onge, Campbellton, N.B., a breeder of Bostons and Alsatians, whose entries placed in the awards. Mr. St. Onge met a sudden and tragic death by drowning in an effort to rescue a little child from a watery grave. To his wife, family and parents we extend our sincere sympathy for those bereaved of one called so early in life. May his heroic soul rest in peace!

Some months ago I wrote about the possibilities and prospects of field trials to be held by members of the N.B.K.C. and shooting-dog owners of our Province, which we hope will be sanctioned and under recognized rules and regulations, as plans are now being made by the New Brunswick Kennel Club for the holding of a field trial for pointers and setters in the Province on October 21 and 22. "Ozark" Ripley, famous sportsman and editor of the dog department of "The American Field," is to be one of the judges. He was here during last summer and gave a demonstration of fly casting at Lily Lake, St. John.

Mr. Ripley plans to arrive here about October 15, and will spend several days hunting with Allan G. McAvity, of the N. B. Fish and Game Protective Association.

Through the courtesy of C. H. J. Knapp and Fred Ayer, the trial will be held on their leased woodcock covers in the vicinity of Fredericton Junction and Petersville, N.B. Prior to the event, Ozard Ripley plans to go over the ground with a committee from the N. B. Kennel Club, and lay out the course. Only two classes will be run, novice and derby. The latter will be for young dogs under two years of age.

Arrangements are being made to have the C.P.R. send a photographer of the Associated Screen News to take pictures of the animals in action.

I will be pleased to hear from outside fanciers about entries, or from any one interested in these trials.

A very welcome visit to these Provinces down by the Atlantic and Fundy's Bay, was the visit of our genial secretary, James D. Strachan. To many of our Canadian Kennel Club members and breeders he was a stranger far off—but now a friend in court. From the hour he stepped off the train in Halifax until he left Fredericton, N.B., his time was never his own. So many wanted to know our editor, talk over dog business, also lots to see and to do in club matters.

For tact, wisdom and experience, the club has a most capable official in our Secretary. An unexpected feature of his visit during the N.B.K.C. show in Halifax, was his judging local specials, members' classes and children's variety classes, ably substituting for Mr. Walter Reeves, who finished all breeds, general specials and best in show a day early to keep a judging appointment at Haverhill, Mass. But I'll leave this and the editor's visit to New Brunswick for next issue.

IMPORTANT!

"In connection with the issuing of export pedigree certificates under the new arrangement with the Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington, it is desirable that applicants for these certificates place on the application for transfer of ownership the street address, post office box, or rural route of the United States purchaser. The Canadian seller should also impress on the United States purchaser the necessity of having the 'Affidavit of Identity' and 'Application for Certificate of Pure Breeding' completely filled in before sending them to Washington, otherwise considerable delay is occasioned in getting release of the bond which must be furnished for animals when entering the United States."

The Well-Known Alsatian Shepherd Dog

CHAMPION ERICH VON BERN, C.K.C.S.B.

AN INTERNATIONAL WINNER

By International Champion Erich Von Grafenwerth, ex Helga Von Dusternbrook

Von Ischeland Kennels are pleased to announce the purchase of Ch. Erich Von Bern from the Cougar Kennels, Port Nelson, Ont., and would like to point out that Erich has won more championship points than any other Shepherd dog in Ontario, and, as far as we know, in Canada (14 points).
Erich holds the distinction of winning the International Stud Dog Trophy two years in succession—1926 and 1927. He took this prize in International competition at the Alsatian Shepherd Dog Club of Canada Specialty Show in each case. It should be realized that the ability to produce outstanding puppies of quality is as important as show performances. Erich meets both requirements absolutely. He is an Angekort dog.

Approved bitches will be accepted for mating to Erich at the very reasonable fee of $40.00 prepaid

(MR. AND MRS. W. T. MUNNS)

404 GAINSBOROUGH ROAD, TORONTO TELEPHONE GROVER 0787

OUR FRONTISPIECE.

It is quite becoming that we should feature of Nova Scotia canine celebrity on our front cover for this month, since it was the writer's pleasure to have been present at Nova Scotia Kennel Club Show just closed, where, under judge Mr. Walter H. Reeves, this famous Bulldog Ch. Dunalaunt (Imp.) (C.K.C.S.B., 49342) won for Best Dog in Show. All breeds.

Champion Dunalaunt was bred to be a good one, having been bred by Mrs. Dinsley Cooper, of "Kilburn" fame, England. Sired by Dundee Legal Challenger out of Toddalaunt, Dundee Legal Adviser was a son of Kilburn Regal out of Ch. Muiravonside Lass, a daughter of Ch. Challenger out of Ch. Muiravonside Queen, Kilburn Regal by Carslake Rex ex Willesden Magnet.

Not one with less extraordinary is the breeding of Toddalaunt, who was by the noted Irish Alaunt, son of Ch. Tintagel, out of Irish Lady Sam, Tintoddles, is also by Ch. Tintagel out of Gascoigne Daisy. Choice blood combinations such as the above invariably produce for English breeders the choice specimens that come to America. Ch. Dunalaunt is a white heavyweight with fawn markings, and was born on June 29th, 1924, and brought to Canada on April 18th, 1925, by Mrs. Ora Doherty, proud owner of the quality Dunalaunt. At every show within reasonable distance from Hailfax Mrs. Dorothy shows her dogs, just loves to show them, and, of course, quite naturally loves to win with them, and the music which follows in the trail of Dunalaunt, is the sweet sounding "Firsh, firsh, firsh winners," "Winners and best of breed." Best of breed and best non-sporting." "Best non-sporting and best in show, all breeds." Mrs. Doherty requested that no mention of specific cases of dogs beaten by Ch. Dunalaunt be made in this artcle, and so in deference to her wishes, all just say that Dunalaunt is a hard bulldog to beat, as the dogs who have met him in competition can testify to.

At the Nova Kennels there are other bulldogs of both sexes that make the competition interestng when they appear n the ring. This is a circumstance that was quite noticeable following the judging. At Halifax, when the fair owner of the Nova Bulldogs came into the ring time after time at the call of her name to receive the special prizes won by her dogs, those specials ranged from Nova Scotia Kennel Club Cups, to the handsome Canadian Kennel Club Trophy which marks the goal of ambtion for every fancier.

Mrs. Ora Doherty has other claims to distinction besides her bulldogs. She is at home anywhere when there is a good horse around—and when she happens to be on his back.

Halifax Herald sent her abroad in the world as "Miss Halifax." At that time "Halifax" became a household word in Canada.

Halifax Bulldogdom is to be congratulated upon having Mrs. Doherty sponsoring the breed in Eastern Canada, and we trust that she may be long spared to continue with her hobby.

STAYS WITH BULLDOGS.

It is understood that the well-known bulldog importer and breeder, A. C. A. Chisholm, Montreal, who, some time ago, took a plunge into the fascinating breed, Irish Water Spaniels, and in these as in the bulldogs, Mr. Chisholm has had a lot of fun in the ring, but the call of his beloved bulldogs cannot be denied, and the Irish Water Spaniels are to be offered for sale—in this issue we believe. The male, Spud Murphy (C.K.C. 54456), (A.K.C., 524,222), lack but one lone point of his Canadian championship. The bitch, Fussy McGussie, (C.K.C., 54455), (A.K.C., 524,223), has won half of her championship, both are dark liver in color, and being registered in Canada and the United States, the animals are well worthy of the consideration of parties interested in Irish Water Spaniels.

C.K.C. RULES IN FRENCH.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Albert Pleau, Montreal, the French-Canadian fanciers of Eastern Canada will soon be able to have the Canadian Kennel Club rules in the French language. This arrangement has been made possible through the co-operation of Mr. Pleau and the Canadian Kennel Club officials, and will undoubtedly feel a long felt want, especially in the province of Quebec.

THE CANADIAN FANCY

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ontario.

AT the shows I have attended the last few months, there has been considerable discussion over the type of the Chesapeake Bay Dogs. At some of the Western shows, where some of the American judges were officiating, they, I understand, expressed the opinion that the type favored around Saskatoon, Regina and Calgary was totally different to the type wanted across the border.

When these, or I might say one, American judge expressed this opinion, I believe that his intention was to mention color, instead of type. Admittedly, there is a tendency to-day by breeders of the Chesapeake to try and produce a smaller dog. This being to try and get into line with sportsmen who very rightly contend that a couple or more Chesapeakes weighing a hundred pounds or more make a distinctly heavy load for a boat, and it has been found that a dog weighing sixty to seventy pounds can be depended upon to do everything the heavier dog can do, and there is no gainsaying the fact that the smaller dogs are much easier to transport to the shoot. I have seen the heavy and also the smaller Chesapeake and, in my opinion, the breeders who have been devoting much time to developing a smaller strain of Chesapeake, have not sacrificed type in producing the smaller dog. In different parts of the American continent one finds a diversity of opinion as to the most desirable color, some shooting men contending that the original color, a reddish brown, was far too readily seen by ducks and geese and did much harm in scaring off the birds before the guns had a chance. On this account, breeders tried and succeeded in producing Chesapeakes a totally different color, and from the opinions I have heard expressed by both breeders and sportsmen, the most desirable color to-day is dead grass. Some of the old time breeders were very averse to this important change, and many, perhaps rightly, contend that to get this color, breeders have paid far too much attention to color at the expense of type and conformation. This morning I was inspecting a most promising litter of Chesapeakes, bred and owned by Mr. Schwartz, who has made an enviable name as a breeder, exhibitor and trainer of Chesapeakes. In this litter I found a diversity of color, some being dead grass and others decidedly darker. I asked their breeder his opinion as to color, and he is of opinion that the old-time dog, reddish brown in color, was an all-round better performer in the "field." He is, however, of opinion that the smaller dog is more desirable than the dogs weighing eighty to a hundred pounds.

Going back to what I mentioned earlier on in these notes, that an American judge stated that Canadian breeders wanted a different type of dog, I have failed to find any proof of this statement, the difference in Chesapeakes in different parts of the American continent being not of type, but color and also size. Very much depends on the country where the dogs are working, and purely on this account, I would suggest that breeders get together and if there is enough call for a large and smaller Chesapeake, that classes should be given for dogs and bitches under sixty-five or seventy pounds, and also classes for the heavier specimens.

Whilst in Vancouver last month, I was very interested to hear that B.C. breeders of Setters, Pointers and Spaniels have found a ready market for well-trained and typical specimens of these varieties in Honolulu and Japan. I was talking to a prominent Japanese sportsmen and he informed me that his fellow sportsmen in Japan highly esteemed the Setters which had been imported from B.C., and also the Cocker Spaniels. Unfortunately, owing to the climate, the imported dogs do not live long, and therefore, providing that breeders continue to keep up the quality of the dogs they are selling, Japan and Honolulu will continue to import their dogs from B.C. in preference to other parts of the world.

Whilst at the Vancouver Exhibition, I had the pleasure of meeting and speaking to many men interested in Setters, and they all were of opinion that around Vancouver and Victoria there were a great number of beautiful Setters, bred and kept by sportsmen who so far could not be induced to exhibit them. A club was started some months ago for the purpose of holding Field Trials for Setters and I understood that considerably over a hundred members had already joined. It is proposed that at these Field Trials bench classes will be given, and it is hoped that these classes will prove popular, and be the means of some of these shooting men being induced to enter the fancy and exhibit at the shows in B.C. I have promised to try and get to the first Field Trial, and if I can possibly find time to make the trip, will certainly do so, for, from the photographs of Setters I have seen, I believe the oft-mentioned assertion that B.C. Setters can hold their own against the world, can be substantiated.

Undoubtedly the Collie has for some years not been keeping up its old-time popularity, new or imported breeds having slowly but surely pushed this beautiful and useful variety into the background. Some of the breeders who have stuck to Queen Victoria's favorite variety have always contended that the collie would eventually come back. These old stalwarts, therefore, must be much gratified at the renewal of interest that is being shown. Amongst the many who have taken advantage of the dispersal of the Hungerford Kennels is George Graham, of the Quinte Farms, Belleville, Ontario, who has acquired four extremely nice bitches and a son of Mrs. Itch's International Champion Laund Lero. George Graham I consider one of the most valuable recruits I have seen enter the fancy. He has a wonderful eye for type and conformation, and has had considerable experience and success in showing pigeons and foxes. With fantail pigeons, he has practically swept the decks clean at all the shows in Canada and the U.S.A. If he only shows the same keenness with Collies as he has with pigeons and foxes, the Quinte Farm Collies will in a year or so be hard to beat.

My remarks last month re the sunken skulls of Irish Terriers evidently found favor with breeders, for I have received many letters endorsing the opinions I expressed. Amongst them is Alex. Petrie, Oakville, Ontario, who tells me that he is using at stud a Terrier imported from A. B. Montgomery, of Celtic fame, and that a few weeks ago he received a most promising young bitch from T. Yorks, whose prefix of Rambling is world-famous. The bitch in question, Ramblin Ruth, is in whelp to Tom Scott's Ch. Cotteridge Boozer. Naturally great things are hoped and expected of the anticipated litter.

CRESTY
A typical Chesapeake. Note the good body and color.

One of the most pleasant of my judging engagements was the fifth annual show of the Nova Scotia Kennel Club, held at Halifax, on September 14th, 15th, and 16th. Arriving at Halifax the night before the show, I noticed by the hotel register that our popular secretary and editor, Jimmy Strachan, was already registered, and after trying several likely spots to run him to ground, the president and myself returned to the Halifax Hotel, and there found Jimmy. We talked over dogs and the fancy until the wee small hours of the morning, and then induced our secretary to join us in going out to find a restaurant where we could get a broiled lobster, and although the hour was somewhat late, Ralph Proctor evidently knows his town well, for before long, Jimmy was sitting down before a five-pound lobster. I always make it a rule when in Halifax to practically live on lobsters and Jimmy I found a most congenial companion. He enoyed the Halifax lobsters so much that when he found it impossible to get a consignment of live lobsters sent to Toronto, he compromised by ordering a case containing close on a hundred tins to be sent.

In my travels to the Old Country and to the West Indies, I had previously often visited the town, but I had never met the breeders or exhibitors before. Jimmy Strachan very quickly made friends, and it was certainly not hard to do so, for I never have met a keener or a more hospitable lot of fanciers anywhere. Ralph Proctor, the president, was on hand from early morn until, I was going to write, late at night, but this would have been a mistake, for the Halifax fancy during dog show week seem to dispense with bed, and it was always the wee small hours of the morning when we were allowed to break up the party. The Nova Scotia Kennel Club are particularly fortunate in their officials. H. M. McLeod, the vice, when he is not looking after the affairs of the club, breeds and shows Irish Setters; the secretary-treasurer, A. V. Martin, a past master in running shows and popular with everyone, is a well-known Collie breeder; Jack Fry, Jr., one of the directors, has a rare eye for type and quality, and is an adept at handling. He must have been a tired man when the show was over, for everyone who was exhibiting and could not be present, and several who were present, wanted Jack to handle their dogs. The chairman, Gordon Page, seemed to be keeping an ever-watchful eye on the show. M. B. Zwicker, who has made quite an enviable name with his Russian Wolfhounds, is likely to go far with his favorite variety. These fanciers were ably assisted by George St. C. Stayne and T. L. Macdonald, in making the show an unqualified success and one and all were delighted at the Canadian Kennel Club sending their secretary to represent the Club, and they certainly showed their appreciation in no unmistakable way. Our secretary has the gift of making friends, and his presence will, I believe, have wide-reaching results in making an united fancy. Jimmy Strachan, after the show, was visiting the fancy through the Maritime Provinces, making calls at all the important towns. It was certainly another proof of the ability and foresight of our President, Col. McFarland, in arranging this tour.

The venue of the show was the Armouries, and it was certainly one of the best buildings for the holding of dog shows I have ever seen — roomy enough to bench two thousand dogs and then have plenty of space for judging rings. Close by the ring was an attractive stand on which the red and white cover of Kennel and Bench was displayed. This stand, throughout the show, was the popular rendezvous of the fancy. The show dates were originally intended for the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th, but as a three-days' show seemed to be more popular, one day was taken off, the 13th. In writing to me, the hon. secretary intimated that the show would finish on the 15th which would give me time to fulfill my engagement at Haverhill, Mass., on the Saturday, and it was not until I arrived that the mistake was found out. I had, therefore, to finish the judging on the second day, but left some children's classes and a couple of local classes for our secretary to judge on Friday evening, so that the gate would not suffer.

Taking the dogs in catalogue order, Beagles were the first to come up for inspection. Some really excellent little hounds were competing, and I noticed quite a few of the old Southern type. With this type, one usually finds a little more character in head properties, but they usually fall down badly in legs and feet. I would strongly advise breeders to pay more attention to legs and feet, and to try and breed a more compact hound. The two winners were both of the Northern type, and very sorty little hounds they were —admirably shown by W. A. Cornwall. Pointers were just fair. Bobby Laskey having no difficulty in getting winners with W. H. Higgins' Brownie. W. T. Miller led in bitches with the aid of Ridgeway Dusty, a capital working stamp, wanting a little in quality and type in head properties. Easily the best of a fair lot of English Setters was P. W. Longmuir's Lord Byng of Vimy. It appeared to me that a couple of Vancouver Setters could be used by breeders with advantage. R. M. McLeod had an extremely typical team of Irish Setters competing, his Champion Lavory Boy having not the slightest difficulty in securing the special. Some attractive little Cocker Spaniels came forward, but here again a really good stud dog, a descendant of a strain noted for prepotency in getting good heads and legs and feet would be a good investment. Springer Spaniels were small in numbers, but the quality was first class. W. J. Pacey's brace, Inveresk Collyshot, and Belmoss Countess could not possibly be denied. They were shown in beautiful condition by Bobby Laskey. Col. Beeman had an extremely nice bitch competing. He has for some time been importing the best show and field trial strains from England, and Jimmy Strachan and myself on the morning of the second day had the pleasure of inspecting twenty puppies about six months old, and they were certainly a credit to their enthusiastic breeder, who has the laudable intention of placing a number of well-bred bitches around amongst the shooting men in the vicinity with the stock he has. Col. Beeman should undoubtedly come right to the front as a breeder of Springers of the right type. Russian Wolfhounds have a very staunch supporter in M. B. Zwicker, who has spent considerable money in importing the best from England and with his present stock. I am of opinion that the Marlboro Kennels are going to play an important part in prize lists on the American continent in the future; their owner is exceedingly keen, and I formed the conclusion that he is not a happy-go-lucky breeder, but one who has made a study of breeding and is au fait with all the successful strains, both on this continent and also in England.

A capital lot of Boston Terriers came forward. John Reid owning both the winning dog and bitch, Dandy Boy and The Little Rosebud. The former, if he possesses the ability to transmit his type and quality to his progeny, should be extremely valuable to breeders desirous of breeding the right type. The Nova Kennels certainly farmed the Bulldog classes. Champion Donalaunt, a vastly improved dog since I saw him at the National Kennel Club two years ago, easily being the best. Some really good French Bulldogs were present. With this variety breeders need to pay more attention to body properties. J. E. Donahue's Queenie is far above the average. Collies, with the exception of the winning dog, were poor. Ralph Proctor had a couple of more than average Great Danes competing, and these two bitches mated right would produce Danes good enough to compete at our best shows in the East. Some average Newfoundlands competed, but the majority were wanting in type. The wining dog, although small, is correct in type. A couple of really good Dobermans were shown. Alsatians showed the want of a really good stud dog. Airedale Terriers were mostly all shown in the rough. J. T. Neville's Adam Clydebank and Miss Freda Fraser's Ardmore Kim being the best. Charley Sullivan had no difficulty in securing the special for the best Smooth Fox Terrier with Thornhaven Bonnie. J. Elliott's Scotland's Dude having the pull in head properties over the compact Dark Doris. The winning Irishman, T. C. Lynch's Playboy, is a sound-coated racily-built terrier. Miss Brownman's Tara Maritime Bejabbers is a bitch puppy of considerable promise.

The Toy section was far above the average, particularly in Pomeranians and Pekingese, the Pomona Kennels having the winning dog and bitch with Goldacre Imp. and Fascination of Pomona. The latter a very pretty little orange, dainty in bone, getting the special for best, their closest opponent being Wm. Wheeler's good colored black, Vermont Strar. Wm. Margeson's wonderful team of Pekingese were one of the main attractions with visitors to the show. Toy Poodles and Maltese were just fair. The principal specials were awarded as follows: the bulldog, Champion Donalaunt, gained the C.K.C. cup for best dog in show, the President's cup for best of opposite sex going to the Springer bitch, H. J. Placey's Belmoss Countess; the Governor-General's cup for best Canadian-bred dog being awarded to Mrs. Margeson's Peke, Ch. Tung Ling of Cedarwood. The other specials will appear in the prize list.

On the day following Halifax show, I was judging at Haverhill, Mass., at the show gotten up by the Essex Kennel Club. This was a nice quality show all through, capitally managed by Rupert Kobza. The best section was the English Setters, and here was found the eventual winner of best in show, Willowbrook Preda II, bred and shown by Charles H. Tyler. Whilst waiting to judge the specials, I was enabled to watch the Shepherd specialist make his awards. Seemingly to me, he laid far too much stress on angulation. His winning dog excelled in this particular point but he left much to be desired in legs and feet, and was absolutely unsound in hindquarters. In open bitches, the winner certainly had angulation, but her feet were about the worst I have ever seen on any dog. To get the gait, one must have angulation, but what's the use of angulation if the dog is not sound I notice that Shepherd Dog judges always insist on a big ring to judge, where there is no excuse if they place high in the prize list an unsound dog, yet they or many of the Shepherd Dog specialists appear to pay very little attention to legs and feet or hindquarters.

Through the rush in getting my copy in last month, I omitted to mention the excellent wins which were made by Mrs. L. L. Bailey with her two Pekes, the famous International Champions, Champion Kiang of Ashford and Champion Lin Pno, which have gone through to their championship without defeat, a feat naturally very pleasing to their Victoria, B.C., breeders and exhibitors, who undoubtedly owns one of the strongest kennels on the Pacific Coast.

A Wire Fox Terrier kennel that has come right to the front is the Benson, owned by Tom Grimshaw, Toronto. Benson Show Girl completed her championships under the writer at Hamilton, and was then sold to a fancier across the border where she has had a long run of successes—at one show, St. Louis, gaining the special under Alf Dalmont for best dog of all breeds. Show Girl's successes have been followed up by Benson Dark Horse, who started a splendid run of successes at the T.K.C. Show. This was followed by a clean run at Peterboro, in all his classes beating Ch. Aman Fox Trot. Dark Horse's brother, Ringleader, the winning puppy at Buffalo, has been sold to the States.

NEW ENGLISH BULLDOG CLUB FOR CANADA.

The feeling amongst a certain following of "The National Breed" that the breed was suffering for lack of interest on the part of its sponsors has led to the formation of a new club which will be known as The English Bulldog Club of Canada. And we are advised that already many are gathering around the banner of the new club. Several organization meetings have been held and the following list of officers have been elected to control the affairs of the club for the present, or until their successors shall have been elected.

President, Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes; First Vice-President, Mr. J. Harrison; Second Vice-President, Mr. E. Cheetham; Secretary, (pro tem) J. Harrison; Treasurer, Mr. A. W. Wrigley; Executives, Messrs. T. McEwan, J. Kirk, F. Ogilvy, E. Edwards, H. Hulcoop, and Mesdames E. W. Adams and F. Ogilvy; Veterinary, Dr. J. A. Campbell; Press, R. P. Sparks; Auditors, Messrs. A. W. Wrigley and F. Ogilvy.

To mark the sincerity of those forming the new club it is intended to claim dates for a specialty show in the near future, when it is sanguinely expected that the necessity for the forming of the new club will be clearly demonstrated.

Hamilton Kennel Club Show

In an endeavor to make the dog show at Hamilton the success that it should be President "Charlie" E. Davey, his Executive and his Secretary, "Al" G. Lammond, decided to try out the Friday and Saturday preceding the Canadian National Dog Show this year, but whether or not they benefitted by the arrangement we cannot at this writing say. We will say, however, that this hard-working, enthusiastic band of dog lovers, who have nothing to gain and plenty to lose, should have the support of every exhibiting dog fancier convenient to their locality. The classification was as generous as the "scale" system of paying prize money allowed it to be. The special prizes indicated the thankless task of canvassing the Hamilton merchants for their support, by a committee who have been over the "rough road" many times before. The judge was Mr. Frank Addyman, Ardsley, N.Y., and Mr. Addyman is one of our United States judges who becomes more popular in Canada following every visit that he makes here. His work at Hamilton on this occasion was well received generally speaking. Always cool looking as an icicle, he calculates the merit coming before him in masterful fashion, and when he "places 'em" they stay that way.

The benching was rough looking, but it remains to be said in its favor, that it is all new lumber and has as its chief advantage absolute freedom from any possible distemper contagion and that is surely a desirable consideration at all times. The veterinarans, Drs. J. J. Rumney, B.V.S., and J. Harrington, V.S., were available at all times, and no cases of sickness were reported.

After the class judging had been completed and the general specials had become the feature, it was found that In. Ch. Glen Rose Flashaway, owned by Mr. "Joe" Greenwood, had repeated his 1926 performance and for the second consecutive year was awarded the highest honors of the show, i.e., The Canadian Kennel Club Trophy for best dog or bitch in the show, and plus, the His Excellency the Viscount Willingdon the Governor-General of Canada Sterling Silver Trophy for best Canadian-bred dog or bitch exhibited during 1927. In this respect we would mention that this latter Special Trophy is engaging the thought of many fanciers, at every show, and very often in the regular correspondence we are asked the question, "Who has the greatest number of points on the Governor-General's Trophy now?" but if our exhibitors would only remember that there are dogs shows being held all over Canada at present they would realize that we would not, in fact we could not, venture even a guess as to the present standing of the Trophy. One thing certain though is this, Whoever wins this splendid trophy will be able to prize it greatly, and later will hand it down to posterity with much pride. To have the honor of campaigning the Best Canadian-Bred for 1927 will be an abiding honor for all time.

POPULAR SECRETARY SIGNALLY HONORED.

There were rejoicings and lamentations heard at Winnipeg on Friday evening, August 20th, when Winnipeg dog fanciers met in the Board Room of the Winnipeg Free Press for the purpose of bidding God speed to Mr. Fred W. Walkerdine, the popular secretary of the Fort Garry Kennel Club for the past six consequtive years, during which period the club had experienced several shows of a successful nature.

Mr. F. E. Trautman advised the gathering that business matters had made it quite necessary for Mr. Walkerdine to move his residence to Toronto. Every one present knew of Mr. Walkerdine's arduous and unselfish labors for Fort Garry Kennel Club's welfare, and his departure from Winnipeg was a circumstance that would leave Winnipeg the poorer, and his arrival in Toronto would undoubtedly soon be signalled by his becoming secretary for some fortunate club there.

Other speeches were made along similar lines and at their conclusion,

FRED. W. WALKERDINE,

Canadian Kennel Club Director for the Province of Manitoba. For several years secretary of Fort Garry Kennel Club, and now a resident of Toronto, having come here from Winnipeg a couple of weeks ago.

Mr. Trautman presented the departing secretary with a solid leather club bag and a fully equipped picnic kit. Mrs. Walkerdine was presented with a suitcase and hat bag to mark her steadfast co-operation with her husband's labors for Fort Garry Club.

It was only the matter of days after Mr. Walkerdine had arrived in Toronto that he was induced to take out membership in Toronto Clubs and already he has been approached to take over secretarial duties here. Speaking officially and as far as headquarters is concerned, Mr. Walkerdine has always been one of the most efficient secretaries in our business. That he will be welcomed here goes without saying, and having in mind the regrettable death of our late friend, Mr. Arthur Hanson, we would not be a bit surprised to see Mr. Walkerdine taking up the burden laid down by Mr. Hanson.

Train Your Own Shooting Dog

AFTER you have spent a number of days working with your dog, in the manner described in the last article, and have been successful in getting a number of birds dropped over him, the real training will begin. He will, by this time, have gained unbounded confidence in you and will display unbounded excitement when he finds out that you are about to take him out shooting, and he will watch the gun as though it was an idol, made for him to worship.

You can now start to exact a little more obedience from him. No doubt some of this might have been done easier before having gone so far, but an amateur can do so at this time with much less danger of spoiling him by making him a blinker, because the dog's interest is so wrapped up in the one who hunts with him that he will overlook a good deal of punishment that would, at an earlier period in the training, have almost broken his heart.

You will, no doubt, find that although he may not feel inclined to run out when you shoot, so long as he knows that you have the check-line on him, do so when he is running free. To stop this, catch him and make him drop and give him a few strokes with your whip, and keep him down for some time. When you do move on, lead him for awhile. The latter will be much the sterner punishment, as he is very anxious to get after those birds. Do not expect to catch him by running after him, or think that he will come when you call or whistle, because it is extremely unlikely that he will take any notice of you, but he will soon return to where he flushed the birds, to see if there are any left, and then you can get hold of him.

Once you put him on the ground do not allow him to get up until you order him. Better put the line on for the first few times and when you consider that you are gaining influence over him move around him, at the same time making sure that he is not going to get up on his feet or haunches. Soon you will be able to increase the distance that you can leave him and will be able to drop him by command. Always use the same word when you are forcing him down — either Drop or Down. When you can leave him for a distance with safety, take your gun and allow him to witness that you are trying to find the birds about the place from which he has flushed them, even though you know perfectly well that there are none left there. If fortune favors you and there happens to be one still there, do your best to get it, and then you are giving your pup an invaluable lesson. Keep him down and bring the bird to him and stay on the ground with him, making much of the bird. Do not get away from there without giving him plenty of time to think the matter over and reason out for himself the best way for him to go about getting those birds down, for dogs do reason, even though many scientists will argue that all their cunning comes from instinct. We who are working bird-dogs know that his field work is neither the result of instinct nor that of a number of tricks taught him by his handler, but that he reasons it out for himself as to which is the best way to get the birds. The more the trainer can bear this in mind the better success he will have for his efforts.

Many and varied are the remarks which are often passed on my setters by the country people whom I meet—farmers and range riders. The majority know of no other dogs than the cattle dog and the wolf-hound. Some there are, who have heard, at some remote time in their lives, of dogs that could "catch" birds but have never been able to "figure out" how they could manage to get their teeth into these Hungarians and chickens, and feel quite disappointed when I explain that the birds are shot after the dog finds them. They will then often relate how many chickens they used to bag in a dag with a .22 rifle, but those days are gone and the birds are a good deal wiser now than they used to be, during the early days of settlement, and keep much closer to cover. This fact has a tendency to lead many to believe that chickens have decreased much more than is really the case.

You should find opportunities at different times, when convenient, to teach your dog to follow at heel, which is easily done by allowing him to trail the check-line and forcing him with a switch to keep behind you. So long as you are firm with him you will find no trouble in getting him to do this in the course of a few days. You should also see that he behaves himself properly when you are carrying him in a vehicle. Do not allow him to jump out until you order him to do so, even if you have to tie him with a short chain at the start. Make him lay on the floor at all times, for sometimes he will be muddy and not fit to be on the cushions, and besides you may, at some time, want him to ride in another's car and it is embarrassing to have your dog damaging the upholstering, by jumping around in a rough manner.

For a dog that is very headstrong and rough to handle a chain spike collar is often useful. A few sharp jerks with one will often give you good results, but do not keep nagging at him with it.

When you can consider that your pupil is steady—staunch on point and steady to a wild flush, and to shot, you can then proceed to teach him to "Mark Dead" which, personally, I prefer to having a bird-dog to retriever, for the reason that you can get your bird without getting your dog's mouth tainted by retrieving and consequently impairing his scenting powers by carrying the scent of the retrieved bird on his lips. We all know that if we eat a piece of onion, we are not able to smell what remains of it. I feel sure that the powers of a dog would be interfered with in a similar manner.

To teach him to mark Dead it is best to start him when you have a good idea as to where your bird has fallen. Bring him up to it on the check-line or, rather work him up to it in a round-about way, frequently repeating the order, "Mark Dead." When he gets the scent of it, steady him as you did on his first point and afterwards let him see you pick up the bird. Do not expect him to get wind of the dead bird at as great a distance as he would a live one. A good deal of the effluvia from game birds is emitted with the breath, hence after death the scent is not so strong.

I do not mean to insinuate that it is ridiculous to have a bird-dog retrieve. I know that many good dog-men would not have a dog that would not do so. Any dog can be taught to retrieve by the force retrieving method. Setters and Pointers do not often do this naturally as do many of the Retrievers and all of the Springers.

Shortly after this paper is away the shooting season will be open in many parts. The three month season for Hungarians in Alberta will give shooters ample opportunities for working their dogs. No better birds could be found for this class of sport and circumstances all point to the game being plentiful. Sufficient rains during summer will have provided the young birds with an abundance of insect food and there were no violent storms in the brooding-time to cause loss of chicks from drowning. The crops grew tall and heavy and much became lodged. This will mean that stubble enough is left to give unlimited covert and the birds will lay well to the dogs. As is always the case, with such a harvest, there is a lot of grain left on the ground that the binders cannot pick up. This will assure a good winter's keep for the gleaners—the game birds.

It is most interesting to witness a field that a covey of partridges has been feeding on after a fall of 10 or 12 inches of snow. It becomes a veritable maze of tunnels, the roofs of which fall in as the little workers pass on, leaving a paltern resembling that which a crazy-china bowl has. They are most industrious, and are invariably fat and plump in the middle of a hard winter.

So, there are good chances for plenty of sport this fall and if anyone can enjoy it the more for having followed me in order to get more satisfaction from their four-legged companion of the fields, I shall be very well repaid for my efforts,

Remember, when you have a Setter or Pointer you possess a heirloom handed down to you from sportsmen of high estate. They were never the dogs of the laborer, or even the yeomen (in the older countries, many farm leases of the present time specify that no Setter or Pointer shall be kept by the tenant), but were the exclusive property of the nobles and their squires.

Consequently, treat him as such.

VICTORIA AND DISTRICT GUN-DOG CLUB.

The first meeting of the above club was held Saturday, 27th August, and took the form of an Open Air Show, and Retrieving Contest in connection therewith.

The double event was successful beyond the expectation of the club. There was a goodly number of entries for both show and contest—sixty-five in all—and the attendance of the general public was very satisfactory, in spite of the fact that the races were on in Victoria.

Mr. D. D. Upper was brought from Seattle to judge Setters; Mr. Robert Musgrave and Mr. Creighton, both of Victoria, judged Retrievers and Pointers and Sporting Spaniels, respectively.

As might have been expected, since it was, as far as could be ascertained, the first event of its kind ever held under the same rules in America, the retrieving contest failed to bring out the best performance of the various dogs entered. The throw-trap was located too near the judge, handlers, and dogs; the nature of the ground was such that the crowd continually encroached upon the judge, handlers and dogs; it was impossible to carry on the water work, since a very heavy sea was running, and the beautiful secluded bay, which had been selected for this work, was jammed with logs, driftwood, and seaweed.

Nevertheless, the retrieving contest was undoubtedly the drawing card of the club's first event, and it is certain that the next contest held will be well attended by both dog-owners and the public.

Mr. C. E. Thomas, who judged the retrieving work, in his speech at the meeting held Saturday evening, remarked that the dogs "showed a woeful lack of training"; since this club was organized with one of it's objects, the Better Training of Gun Dogs, it is hoped that Mr. Thomas' remark will bear fruit; nevertheless, the writer, having seen several of the dogs competing, perform in the field, feels that their lack of performance may better be blamed upon the novel conditions under which they worked, than upon a lack of training.

Mr. Thomas' placing of the retrieving dogs seems to have given universal satisfaction; the same seems to have been true in the show ring, which is undoubtedly another innovation to add to the innovations introduced by this club, as follows:—All prizes paid in cash, except some "Specials", taking the form of magazine subscriptions offered by the Sporting and Dog Magazines of America, and articles kindly donated by the local sporting goods stores and dog-lovers; every cent of cash donated by actual members of the club; in show ring, first and second money—real money—only, no third money; in contest, the winning dog in each class took all the money! The usual "Best Dog in Show" class was eliminated, as it was thought to cause too much jealousy between breeds; and finally, the winner of each class in the retrieving contest did not compete against the winner of another class.

Full particulars as to the conduct of retrieving contest and throw-trap used will be gladly furnished to any sportsmens' organizations, upon application to the Secretary, Clark Dennis, Pinehill Kennels, R.M.D. 3, Victoria.

At the meeting Saturday night, after event, when prizes were awarded, Mr. Upper made a wonderful speech as to the general adoption of the "Modified Type" of Setter; a general and sincere vote of thanks was tendered the judges, who had worked without charge, as an appreciation of our first events; also sincere vote of thanks to Captain and Mrs. Bessonette, on the extensive grounds of whose beautiful residence the double event had been held. Mrs. Bessonette is the proprietor of the famous Dovedale Kennels, and had worked hard to make a success of the meeting.

Eighteen dogs competed in the retrieving contest, and it is certain that many more will compete in the next event of this kind held by this club.

NOTES FROM THE COAST

By Provincial Contributing Editor, ALBERT KERR, Vancouver.

THE Vancouver Exhibition Dog Show has passed into history and with it all the events and happenings to the individual exhibitor have become a memory, yet this show marked some important events. It was Mr. Walter Reeves' initial introduction to the B.C. fanciers in the role of judge, giving him a chance to gain an impression of the quality of dogs owned by the extreme West enthusiasts, also to form an opinion of these same fanciers themselves. From the general comment one hears in the mixing with these elements after the show Mr. Reeves' placings were generally well received, yet even in the face of this statement, there were those who were on the losing end, and those his placings did not please. Several reversals and upsets to previous shows were handed out, all of which has a tendency to keep one guessing, but the explanations by the judge clears these points; which after all, if viewed in a sportsmanlike manner are only the opinion of one man on that day, which all goes to make up the uncertainty of the game, which uncertainty is the chief attraction of the sport.

One pleasing feature was to note the increased number of exhibitors from across the line who brought over "the goods" and "took home the bacon" in certain breeds, while on the other hand a whole lot more support could have ben given by the local fanciers to boost the entry—the rumor monger tried to get in his work which may have had some effect on the entries but with all it was a show of quality well managed and a credit to those in charge and we have heard since, it has the commendation of the Exhibition Officials.

In the August issue of Kennel & Bench Mr. Walter Reeves makes mention of an enquiry he received from South Africa with reference to the English Setters in these parts we note his remarks and we trust that since he has had the privilege of viewing some of the Setters hereabouts at the recent show his opinions have been greatly strengthened.

In the July issue of The Doggy Digest mention is made of Ch. Sir Orkney Willgress, a setter bred by Wally Willgress of Vancouver, and sold by him to J. J. Sinclair of San Francisco, who has done considerable winning with him in those parts, also stamping his qualities in his progeny; was in turn sold to and is now owned by Mr. R. Jennings of New York, and then shown by him at the Westchester Show, was acclaimed one of the finest setters of any variety out today. During the past three years Ch. Sir Orkney Willgress has held an unbeaten record on the Coast and won the sporting group nine different times —the critic in Doggy Digest says Ch. Sir Orkney Willgress is possibly the best English setter existent at the present time in America.

Mr. Wally Willgress has been a breeder and devotee to the English Setter for years and has shipped stock to different parts of the world.

We have also in Mr. J. J. Cottle of Nanaimo another outstanding breeder of English Setters who has consistently produced real ones, and who at the present time is the proud owner of Ch. Rackets Rummy, one that has proved his winning qualities on both sides of the line and as a sire is transmitting his exceptional qualities to his proging which are numerous on both sides of the border—his proging at the recent Vancouver Exhibition carried off the honors.

Ch. Rackets Rummy is an outstanding specimen of the English setters and rates with the best of them.

Joe has been a pillar in the fancy (as per "ye scribes" "At Last" and Joe chuckles at this it almost starts off as though it were a memorium), for a great number of years dating back to showing under Major Taylor of New York and James Mortimer admitted by the dog critics as being the foremost judges of their day. These setters are field workers, as well as being able to cop the prizes in the bench.

In Mr. Norman McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. O. Balshaw we have devotees who can place good ones on the bench also and who have already a long list of winnings to their credit.

Mr. McConnell has had farther success with his whippet "Ederia Dot," having been awarded best sporting, best in show all breeds, at the Arlington Kennel Club Show, Arlington, Wash., under Jack Meadows of Vancouver, and at the recent Vancouver Exhibition Show was awarded best in show all breeds under Mr. Walter Reeves.

The Dog Show held in connection with the Provincial Exhibition, New Westminster, was another successful affair and proves that the fanciers of the Royal City under the management of their efficient and hard working committee can put across a real show, while space is somewhat cramped yet withal they had a good entry the building was kept in A1 condition and the new judging ring which has been an addition to the building this year was a noticeable improvement and added greatly to the appearance and comfort of exhibitors. The judging was in the hands of Mr. John McMann of Seattle, and from reports his placings were very satisfactory and acceptable to those exhibiting and the ringside.

Mary Pickford of Hollywood, popularly known as "America's Sweetheart," now is the proud possessor of a small black Scottish terrier, born and raised in Victoria.

Some time ago, Miss Pickford, in private life Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, heard through a friend visiting these parts of the Secord Kennels on Quadra Street, where Mr. Ernest Hill specializes in raising thoroughbred Scottish terriers, Sealyhams and wire-haired terriers. She wrote to Mr. Hill who selected a fine pedigreed terrier for her and shipped it by express on August 12 to her Hollywood studios. Mr. Hill is the proud recipient of a letter from Miss Pickford's secretary, in which she expresses delight on behalf of her employer at the safe arrival of the dog. The letter also mentions that Miss Pickford will send a picture of herself and the terrier in the near future.

Mr. Hill stated that Scottish Terriers were becoming very popular in all parts of the United States, even eclipsing in popularity the German and Belgian police dogs.

The Secord Kennels have also imported from the Broadway Kennels of Birmingham, England, two English pups which arrived last week, the male, Crack Shot of Broadway, is a fawn and the female, Playtime of Broadway, is a black, both these specimens are small and typy and their new owners are quite satisfied with them and expect to renew the interest in this breed that was current some years ago. Considering the lengths of the journey these two dogs arrived in good condition.

Mrs. H. J. Harrison who has been showing Black Poms for the last few years with varying success, has added another string to her bow by purchasing from Mrs. J. W. Bruce of the Melbourne Kennels, Toronto, the clear orange bitch Melbourne Estelle. This sweet little lady, being mated as she is to Melbourne Gold Pennant, should go a long way towards bolstering up the oranges on the Coast.

Another Canadian bulldog has passed over the border to swell the ranks of this popular breed in the States, we refer to Mr. and Mrs. T. Cruickshanks' Ch. Sandy McNabb, which has been sold to a devotee in Los Angeles at a record price for these parts, a figure said to be well up in four numerals. Mr. and Mrs. Cruickshank made the journey in person to deliver Sandy over to his new owner's address, and we wish further success for their dog in his new circle.

In the sales line Sam Jones has also been cutting a caper, having sold two to Japan, James Sambo and a female, also three to Seattle and under their new owner have started out to win for him. Sam captured a win on the Governor General's Cup for the Best Canadian Bred at the recent Vancouver Exhibition show.

We regret to note that the good whippet Ch. Carabosse, owned by Wm. T. Oates, is no more, having been a victim to the fatal automobile, she again captured winners at the Vancouver Exhibition Show and a few days later through accident the kennel yard gate was opened letting a number of dogs out on a very busy thoroughfare but she alone of the number was the marked victim, being run down and killed, Billy misses this pal and she will be hard to replace.

The B.C. Fox Terrier Club have preparations under way for their Annual C.K.C. Show to be held on Thanksgiving (Armistice) Day, Nov. 7th, the judge has not yet been selected but one of note is anticipated.

Rumors also have it that the Nanaimo Club purpose putting on a C.K.C. show this coming season.

Bill Pym states that the whippet-ters are still on the go and that a large party of followers and their dogs were leaving this week to stage a series of race mets at different points across the line, he also reports that Spokane Show at which he officiated as judge had one of the largest shows on the circuit and with a good class and high quality throughout.

Mrs. Lavina Lewis Bailey of Victoria, B.C., has been successful in making her Pekingese Lin Poa an international champion, having completed the circuit of shows on both sides of the border, his kennel mate Kiang of Ashtead, was also well on the way to a championship, but unfortunately became a victim to distemper.

Mrs. L. L. Bailey's International Champion, LIN PAO.

The Victoria Kennel Club have mapped out a very interesting programme for the coming season with the idea of being some help to the novice fancier, talks and addresses are on the agenda of subjects that are of more than common interests to the beginner in his efforts to reach the point where the blue ribbons are handed out.

GOOD BOSTON LEAVES TORONTO.

When "Mike" Samarelli, Toronto, brought out his two nine months' old puppies at the Canadian National Exhibition dog show under Judge "Paddy" Dowd, it was soon obvious that he had benched a couple of real ones, judging from the constant stream of Boston admirers to the benches where the "twins" were benched. "King of Jubilee" and "Queen of Jubilee" were the seasonal names wished on to the "beauties" by the patriotic "Mike." Both animals started off the day of their debut in a way that was good to see, and when the smoke had cleared away the "King" had won three firsts and one second; "Queen," four firsts and one second. Quite nice winning for puppies nine months old that were stacked up against big classes at Canada's biggest show.

We had hoped to watch the further progress of both dogs in Canada, but as we go to press we learn with a measure of regret that King of Jubilee, son of Ch. Highball Just It—a stud force that is advertised in these columns each month—out of Minuet, a bitch having for her paternal grandsires Count de Luxe and Ch. Joyce's Prince, has been sold to that successful Detroit fancier, Mrs. E. Daley, and under the guidance of her experienced care it is more than mere conjecture that in the days to come there will be a new Boston star seen on the Boston skies, and his name will be Champion Jubilee King, home address, Toronto, Canada.

TRAIN YOUR OWN SHOOTING DOG.

Do not abuse him or handle him roughly. He is quite as sensitive now as he was generations ago, when he always got courteous treatment from men who were trained to be courteous to animals as well as to other men.

A well-trained bird-dog is a beautiful and faithful possession, and a joy to his owner, which nothing can replace. And if you can spare the time to train him personally your interest in him will know no bounds, and he will draw you into the country at times when you would never think of going if you did not have him—and all for your benefit, for you will live the longer, and more happily, for frequent excursions into the free and open fields.

NEW FANCIER DEAD.

Just as we close the last frame for this issue we are advised of the death of Mr. J. Atkinson, Toronto, an experienced fancier who had but recently arrived in Canada. This is a loss that we will not be able to fully appreciate, not having had time to find out just how valuable a man our late friend really was capable of being.

Terrier fanciers attending the Canadian National Exhibition and successive shows will remember the sweet little Scottie bitch, Cedric Countess; she was one of the few sensations of the show. Her extreme Scottie character carried her through to the higher places when Best Dog in Show, All Breeds, were being featured. Undoubtedly she would have gone higher only her condition was against her chances. Since the show the little matron brought three of her kind into the world, and these have already been picked up by discriminating fanciers.

Kennel and Bench readers sympathize with Mr. Atkinson's widow, and with the bereaved family generally.

A REVIEW OF THE TOY BREEDS AT THE C.N.E.

By the Judge, Norman K. Swire.

It has often been my pleasure to adjudicate over the Toy Section at the C.N.E. and I have seen many good imported ones, but this year I was much impressed with the home-breds which indicates that our fanciers are breeding on the right lines. Most of the exhibits were put down in good condition and shown to advantage. These facts, coupled with the excellent services I received from the Ring Stewards, made my task a pleasant one.

Commencing with the breeds in catalogue order, the Italian Greyhounds came first, only 2 entries and both were bred and owned by that enthusiasic fancier, Mrs. S. A. Delaney. Her champion, Lord Bobs, despite his age, is looking well and won easily over his son, Morning Glory, in front, brisket and loin.

POMERANIANS came next—not quite so numerous as I have seen at this show, but the quality was very fair. First in Puppy Dogs was Mrs. E. Brownlie's Laudervale Redflame, a small and typical shaded sable; nice head and ears, short back and fine bone. He is just a youngster, but full of quality. First in Canadian Breds, Mr. J. Greenwood's Glen Rose Fireflame, a wolf-shaded sable of intense type, small and a fearless shower. On the day he was a little short of coat. Second to Mrs. J. Bruce's Melbourne Orange Pennant, a very small and typical dark orange with nice head, short back and in fair coat. Third to Mr. Proctor's Firelight, a little more coat would improve him. First in Limit Blacks was Mrs. E. Vallom's Model's Double, a nice typy dog, good coat and color. Melbourne Sultan was second losing to winner in coat and condition. Open Dogs, Black or Chocolate—First to Mrs. Bruce's Melbourne Star Bright, a well-balanced good colored chocolate with lots of quality. If this little fellow would only improve in his ring manners, he could do a lot of winning, Second to Model's Double. Open Dogs, any other color, First, Melbourne Orange Pennant. Second, Mr. J. T. Wagget's Arndale Firelight, a lovely colored orange, with good head, fine bone and put down fit. Third to Little Firelight.

Open Dogs, any other color, First, Mrs. J. Bruce's Cheswick Gold Boy, a stylish light orange with fine bone, short back, good coat and nice ring manners. Second, Glen Rose Fireflame, Third to Mrs. J. Bruce's Cheswick Gold Star, a real shower; put down fit, but a trifle large for this company. Open Dogs, White, went to Mrs. J. Bruce's Melbourne Gift, a small quality one that should do some winning in this color. Open Dogs over 7 lbs was an easy thing for Mr. Waggett's beautiful colored orange Lillyhill Gold Dust, all type, and was shown in tip-top condition. Winner's Dogs, Cheswick Gold Boy. Reserve to Glen Rose Fireflame. In Canadian Bred Bitches, Mr. Waggett's Arndale, Gold Gleam was an easy first. She is a lovely orange, very typical and dainty, good head, fine bone and carries a coat of the right texture. Second, Miss P. L. Whyte's Parkview Golden Fairy. She too has a lot of quality, but loses to winner in head. Novice, first a repeat, second, Mrs. E. Brownlie's Queen of Laudervale, a short-backed shaded sable, very stylish with a nice foxy head and fine bone. With a little more coat this dainty mite can do a lot of winning. Third, to Parkview Golden Fairy. Open Bitches, Black First, Mrs. O'Rourke's Melbourne Wentworth Nona. This is a quality one, solid black and carries a good coat of the right texture. She is well balanced all over and shows herself to advantage. Limit and Open Bitches, already reviewed. Winners Bitches, Melbourne Wentworth Nona, Reserve, Arndale Golden Gleam. Brace Class, First, Mrs. J. Bruce, second, Miss P. L. Whyte. Team Class went to Mrs. J. Bruce with a well matched team that would do credit to any kennel. Special for Best of Breed went to Mr. J. Greenwood's Ch. Glen Rose Flashaway — a wonderful dog who shows his many charms to advantage and can hold his own in any company.

TOY POODLES—Mrs. J. Fitzgerald made a clean-up. Her good little female Mites Babie went to Winners and Best of Breed. Mites Dodie, a little sister to above going to Reserve Winners. She is not so well balanced or as good in front as the winner. In other respects they are very similar. The same owner's Mites Ringmaster, was also winners in the dog section.

YORKSHIRE TERRIERS were none too plentiful. In the Novice Class Mr. G. Day's Mountain Toodles was first, a real good sort, nice head with a short level back and a good quality coat of the right color and texture. Second, Mrs. W. Weldon's Weldon's Teddy, a sound little dog not quite so good in coat or color as the winner. Winner's Bitches and Best of Breed, Mountain Toodles,

VERMICIDE CAPSULES

Are Put Up In Two Sizes:

No. 1—Full-Strength

No. 2—Half-Strength

The No. 1 Full-Strength Vermicide Capsules should be given to all grown dogs and to puppies of regular breeds after three months of age. They are given in varying numbers according to the age and breed of the animal. For instance, one Capsule is sufficient for any puppy up till six or eight months, and thereafter two or more according to the size and age of the animal.

reserve to same owners, Mountain Tess, a nice one but lacks the quality and coat of the winner.

TOY TERRIERS. Black and Tan, Mr. W. Weldon's Delta Trixie, was first in Limit and Open, winners and best of breed, she is a high-class specimen with the correct color and markings that are essential in this variety and was shown to perfection. Second, Capt. R. W. Card's Lady Barbara, a trifle smaller than the winner, but not so good in color and markings. Third, to Miss Rabjohn's Midget, a fair one in good condition but lacking in type and markings.

PEKINGESE, with 68 exhibits, made a good showing and the all-round quality has improved very much since I last judged them. Puppy dogs with 13 entries saw Mrs. M. Redway's Wen Shu Shong come out on top. He has a well-finished face, large eyes, flat skull and good ear carriage, good body and bone and should do a lot of winning when matured. Second, to Mrs. A. Reid's Bunty Wee, another very promising young red who showed well, just loses to the above in head and substance. Third, to Mrs. G. Eastman's Pun Chin of China, a good headed pup, well balanced all over, just needs a little more coat. Novice Dogs with 18 entries made a nice collection. First, Mrs. E. A. Whitehouse's So Kuen Chang, a wonderful headed dog with short square face, large eyes, flat skull and nice ear placement, lots of bone and a good front. Second to him was Mrs. M. Redway's Yun Mannikin, just a youngster but showing lots of promise. Third, Mrs. A. Hamilton's Prince Tueng Cha, of Barton, a well balanced little red with good head. Could be better in coat and hindquarters.

The Canadian Bred was a hot class. First, Mrs. E. A. Whitehouse's Chuan Sang. This dog's head is a study and just about perfect; has good bone and front with a shapely body and was put down in better condition and coat than I have seen him for some time. Second, Mrs. H. Warrington's General Gordon, a very pleasing biscuit colored dog; lots of type and a good shower; carries a good coat; shorter in back than the winner but loses to him in head and substance. Third, Mrs. M. Redway's Bumble Bee of Badminton, a very typy and attractive little red dog, but not in his usual coat and condition. Limit dogs, first, to Balcroft Kennels Yutoi of Balcroft, the most typical dog in the show, massive head with good finish of face, wonderful eye and ear placement, big flat skull, wonderful bone with the correct front and well-turned body covered with a good coat and sound. Second, So Kuan Chang. Third, General Gordon. Open, dogs under 10 lbs. First, Mrs. M. Mitchell's Beau Fang, of Badminton, a lovely biscuit colored dog, well proportioned all over and a good shower, carries a wonderful coat and was put down in A1 condition. Second, General Gordon. Third, Bumble Bee, of Badminton. Open, dogs over 10 lbs. First, Chuan Sang; second, Mrs. M. Stevenson's Fu Chien Ouen Sun, a very useful type, but not so good in head as the winner. Third, Miss C. M. Anglin's Washik of Alderbourne, a useful stamp, biscuit color, shown in good condition and coat. Winners, dogs, Yutoi of Balcroft. Reserve, Beau Fang of Badminton.

Open Dogs and Bitches (under 6 lbs.)—First, Mrs. M. Mitchell's O'Shee of Badminton, a sweet little biscuit colored mite, nice type for one so small, carries a good coat and was shown to advantage. Second, Mrs. M. Baker's Ty Nie II, a reddish colored dog in nice shape, fair head, good coat and a shower. Third, Mrs. J. McKee's Sun Kee, a good little dog, but failed to show to advantage.

Puppy Bitches — Miss C. M. Anglin won with Chuta of Glen Denn, a very typical and nicely built youngster that should be heard from later.

Novice Bitches — First, Mrs. M. Redway's Fan Tan of Sandown, a useful sort with nice eye and ear placement, flat skull, grand coat, good bone and a nice mover. Second, Miss L. P. Whyte's Yet Wu Tai of Badminton, a beautiful colored female, with no glaring faults and should do a lot of winning when in better coat. Third, to Mr. F. G. Smith's Wei Wei of Wkyham, another nice type, not so good as the above pair in head and bone.

Canadian Bred Bitches.— A repeat. Limit Bitches.— First, Balcroft Kennels' Lola of Balcroft, a real Peke with faultless head, nice shaped body with good bone, excellent ring manners. With a little more coat she would be hard to fault. Second, Mrs. M. G. Clarke's Tinker Toy of Shiek Yuan, a quality one with a good head, nice body, bone and coat and a shower, in excellent condition and moved well. Third, Balcroft Kennels' Wan of Chinatown, another typey one, with nice conformation, but not so good in head properties as the above pair. Open, bitches. First, a repeat; second, Wan of Chinatown; third, Yet Wu Tai of Badminton. Open, bitches, 10 lbs and over, Fan Tan of Sandown. Winner's bitch, Lola of Balcroft; reserve, Tinker Toy of Sheik Yuan. Five Braces were shown. Of these I selected Mrs. Whitehouse's. Both dogs were the same type, color and size and both good specimens. Second to Mrs. F. G. Smith's brace—a nicely matched pair, same color and size. Third, to Mrs. M. Redway's brace. Both were good specimens, but not so well matched as the above. In the Team Class, Mrs. Redway was first and Mr. Smith second. Special for Best of Breed went to Lola of Balcroft.

Maltese Terriers.

Winners and Best of Breed to Ch. Daphine of Malta, owned by that keen fancier of the breed, R. W. G. Card, who, as usual, had her old favorite in excellent coat and condition. Second to Mrs. Dowie's Lady Tiny, just a youngster but showing great promise.

WAY DOWN EAST

By J. D. STRACHAN, Toronto.

Just to meet the fanciers and to complete the visit from coast to coast which was commenced around this time a year ago. The Canadian National Exhibition had become history. London and Peterboro would for one year excuse our annual pilgrimage to their shows and in this way enable us to visit other dog lovers and exhibitors, many of whom we had never met, although all were well enough known by name at least. The Canadian Pacific Railway had very kindly agreed to meet the transportation as far as their steel extended, but the Canadian National Railway, covering as it does the highways to the extreme east ends of Canada, were given the last say, and so we left Toronto on Sunday, September 11th, at the hour when all good dog fanciers are busy with their prayers, the travelling vouchers were marked Yarmouth, with unlimited stop-over privileges. However, we were satisfied with the journey when Halifax was reached, and the stop-over privileges we used to the limit, as our readers will learn as they continue through this article.

The country that opened up during the daylight hours between Montreal and Riviere Du Loup and between Newcastle and Halifax was more than ordinarily interesting; the quaint little farmsteads of old Quebec Province in their uniform and attractive whiteness, and the long, narrow fields were of much sameness hour after hour as we travelled along the pathway that leads to the Atlantic—and to a club known as the Nova Scotia Kennel Club, a club composed of young hustling business men, of more anon.

Hotel Halifax was a welcome hostelry that offered food and lodging of a high order, and soon we were enjoying the delights of shedding travel-stained harness, and getting into something clean and more comfortable; then initiation into the ancient and honorable army of lobster devotees. This latter was easy, as it was pleasant, as you will now learn almost at once. We were joined by the globe-trotting all-breed judge, Mr. Walter H. Reeves, who was to judge the show on the morrow, and his committee of one, Mr. Ralph Proctor. Ralph's other associates were at the show building putting on the finishing touches; pretty soft job for Mr. Ralph, this entertaining and initiating business, nevertheless an ideal man for the work. It was now Tuesday, the 12th, or to be perfectly accurate and honest about things, let the truth be told, really it was Wednesday, the 13th, but the day was only three hours old. Ralph's conception of introduction was an early breakfast up High Street before we should turn in for the night, or the day, whatever we should choose to call it. His conception of initiating this scribe to lobster was a knockout. A giant lobster "weighing five and one-half pounds" —as the boxing announcer would say —was broiled over live coals and later served to the visitors. Land sakes, as the monster lay there with all the trimmings we shuddered at the sight, at least speaking for me, I did. Nut-crackers to bust up the thighs and shins of the monster made this initiation look irksome to me. However, "stoot he'rt for stey brae" being sound doctrine for one of my nationality, the charge was made 'mong thoughts of sleepless hours plus the pains of indigestion, by degrees the huge carcass of Mr. Giant Lobster was reduced to a point where we were actually going over the remains a second, aye a third time; it was only shame that prevented me from suggesting to Ralph Proctor that he again visit the kitchen to see what he could find there. The sleep of the just followed in goodly measure. Indigestion, huh, whoever heard of indigestion following a feast of real Atlantic lobster? So, it was lobster regularly after that, and by actual count we indulged in the delicacy five times in a single twenty-four hour period. Indeed, Atlantic lobster is food for the gods.

The show is now opened and the judging has begun. Away down the neat benching arrangement we wander to get the "once over" on the quantity and the quality; the former commodity was quite plentiful and the later was of quite a high order. There were quite a few dogs benched that the catalogue showed had been born in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, and there was but scant credit to boast of for either province. The thought occurred to the writer as he viewed some of the so-called Smooths and Wires in Fox Terriers. Here is a potential market for surplus stock. Some breeders obviously have discovered it. The door has been opened and sales have been made. Opportunities to sell are plentiful. Why not try to develop this market for dogs by sending only such dogs as will, at least, give some satisfaction? What can be gained by sending high-legged, long-backed, bad-eared, snipey-nosed specimens to beginners who are determined to stick Would it not be better business ethics to send something representative, even if for the time being some trifling loss was absorbed in the transaction while the Atlantic coast fanciers were in the process of founding their kennels? Really, we were ashamed of some of the dogs benched that had come from Ontario particularly. It is nothing short of a near-sighted policy for breeders to open a new door for sales and to close it effectually by sending mediocre specimens to our new customers. Enthusiastic beginners with their education all in front of them would say, "Come and look at this one. I got it from Ontario." We could hardly say that we were ashamed of it coming from our own province, and so cowardly like we left it for Judge Reeves to remove their illusions. Wake up, ye experienced breeders; here is a market of merit. Send stock that will advertise your kennels and cash in on the wants of many Nova Scotia breeders. Wires, Smooths, Collies, Alsatians, Scotties, and such breeds are required here by many fanciers yet in the making. The McLeod Irish Setters, the Zwicker Russian Wolfhounds, the Doherty Bulldogs, the Beland Pomeranians, in charge of Bobbie Laskey. The Margeson Pekingese, the Proctor Great Danes, the Placey Springers are all high-grade entries that go far to proclaim the quality of the show. German Shepherd dogs are twenty in number, showing that here as elsewhere in Canada, this breed has taken a strong hold with the dog-loving public. And here we would throw out a little hint to the Nova Scotia Alsatianists. Why not form an Alsatian Specialty Club? Why not invite Mr. George Moffat, of Moir's chocolate fame, to become president? George is a past president of the Alsatian Shepherd Dog Club of Canada and well qualified to guide Nova Scotia breeders of Alsatians.

The judging proceeds and the award columns wil show the placings, so we will not dwell on this angle of the show here; let Mr. Reeve's work speak for itself, however. Through a slight misunderstanding the judge had to leave some of his work undone, and this writer was invited by the President of Nova Scotia Kennel Club to finish the remnants, such as Local, Members, and Children's Classes, and under the circumstances it was a pleasure to accept the invitation. The children's class was most impressive, and as thirty-two "young hopefuls" led—or were led—into the ring, their many pets, it was apparent that Nova Scotia will be well cared for in the days to come as far as fanciers are concerned. A cup was given for best, and boxes of Moir's famous chocolates were given to all others, through the courtesy of Mr. George Moffat. At the conclusion of this class a miniature Jack Johnston led a miniature fox terrier into the ring. "The cullud boy" was well armed with a generous supply of weiners which he proceeded to devour in a way that would have rejoiced the "Christie Brothers" out California way. Then he "black-bottomed" his way into the hearts of the ringsiders, who showed their appreciation with a shower of quarters, dimes and nickels, which little Rastus picked up with the alacrity of a Scotchman. But the tid-bit of the evening came when someone placed a bill on the far end of the block from "Sunshine" who, when he turned and took in the significance of the offering, dropped his "hot dogs" and, with eyes popping out of his little curly head, he fairly dived on to the paper currency. He was a great kid and his turn was well received.

We paid visits to the Marlboro Kennels and to the Nova Kennels, and the "hopefuls" we noticed there are tagged "future prospects." An early morning visit to Colonel C. Beeman's Springer Kennels was a really wonderful treat, twenty-two Springers, looking very fit and showing their quality, wending their way in and out of the bush, each one obedient to the master and mindful of his every bidding, was a great pleasure. Mr. Reeves "spotted a team" that looked particularly promising indeed.

Four days spent in the above described manner soon came to an end in Halifax, and it was with sincere regret that we bade the Nova Scotia fanciers good bye for the time being. We found Halifax was not too far away, we found the "boys" a great aggregation of youthful enthusiasm, and we will surely go back there again, lobster or no lobster. President Ralph Proctor is to be congratulated on the quality of his club officials, and we should imagine that a line up of those we noticed in action, such as the all breed—no fee-handler Jack Fry, Junior, who wagered we could not name a breed that he had not handled at this show. We accepted Jack's wager, knowing full well that our margin of safety was a slender things. But again, Jack Fletcher's "rabbit fut" came to our rescue and we won the wager on the one lone breed that the versatile Jack had not handled—our lucky day. H. M. McLeod, the Secretary; A. V. Martin, who had worked for the show from a sick bed; C. St. C. Stayner, a late secretary and a good one; M. B. Zwicker, the Vince Breese of Nova Scotia; Gordon Page, Chairman of the Dog Show Committee; F. Fangere; Ora Doherty of "Nova" fame; F. C. Randall, Gordon Page's able assistant. These men were enthusiasm personified, they have stood together as a unit since the club was formed and they are capable of greater things yet.

Good-bye was said and soon we were headed towards the cities between here and Toronto, with St. John, N.B. as our next big stop. But we dropped off at Moncton to see the Chief of Police there who had a Coltness Alsatian, and of this and many other interesting things, we will tell you in our next issue.

WESTERN FAIR DOG SHOW

Three beautiful sunshiny days favored the Western Fair for their 1927 Dog Show held in London on September 13th, 14th and 15th. The conflicting dates with Peterboro made the entry a good deal smaller than former years, but the quality was by no means diminished. Had a few more dogs been entered to put the show within reach of a two point rating an effort could have been made to fill the benches, but the committee in charge felt that filling the benches with inferior dogs would by no means build up the reputation of this good show, with the result that the custom of some other years was dropped and a drive for late entries was not made. The Western Fair made no mistake in adopting this attitude this year. The prize money offered in their prize list was certainly large enough to attract a big entry. Indeed, it is always second only to the Canadian National Exhibition in amount offered and the show was worthy of support.

As a glance at the awards will show, the head-liners from the other shows were there and a win at London this year was a meritorious one.

Mr. Alfred Delmont of Wynnewood, Pa., was the all-rounder, and further added to his reputation as one of America's most thorough and competent judges. Mr. Delmont went over every dog placed before him, handled each one and satisfied the exhibitors that he was giving their dog a fair chance to exhibit its merits. On the whole his decisions were well-taken.

It was a popular win for best in show all breed when the Canadian Kennel Club Trophy went to Mrs. Patterson of Brantford with her Russian Wolfhound "International Champion Romanoff Peterhoff," in gorgeous bloom and a worthy winner. The popularity of this sterling little sportswoman who breeds her own champions and shows them herself was evidenced by the hearty acclaim of the ringside.

No less a favorite than the winner was the international champion Pomeranian "Glenrose Flashaway," owned by Jos. Greenwood of Beamsville, runner up for the best in show award. He was awarded the win on the Governor General Trophy. Mrs. Patterson did not compete for this trophy despite the fact that her dog was a Canadian-bred and eligible.

Best of the non-sporting dogs was the Bulldog "Beach Park Dominator."

Best Terrier was Sir Getty's Quarrybrae Lustre.

It is regrettable that some of the wins at this show will be cancelled by the committee because of dogs being taken away from the show without permission on the first and second night and not returned on the closing day of the show. Exhibitors, however, know when they enter a dog for a three-day show that they are expected to abide by the rules, and must suffer the consequences of infraction of these rules.

Notes From Old Quebec

Provincial Contributing Editor, LT.-COL. SYDNEY E. FRANCIS, Sherbrooke.

I have wondered if any of the readers of Kennel and Bench have noticed that my column was missing in the last issue, and wondered if the just vengeance of an indignant Montrealer had descended with fatal effect on my devoted head; if so I will at once put them out of their suspense and explain the reason of my silence.

Canada's Great Eastern Exhibition was only a few weeks away, and you may believe me when I say that at that time I have no time for any extraneous duties however important they may be; now that hectic time is over and conditions are normal once again.

Readers will be more interested in the fine dog show held at the Fair under the control of the Eastern Townships Kennel Club, and it is rather doubtful if a detailed report will appear in this issue, not through any slackness in the Kennel and Bench but rather owing to a delay in sending the returns from the Show; I am hoping also that Dad Ward, the judge whose reputation did so much to bring such an excellent showing of dogs, will find time for a detailed critique from his point of view.

From my view point, firmly nailed to my office chair, and able to see but very little of the actual operations, the Bench Show was a great success, one hundred and sixty-one dogs being benched, an increase of over fifty per cent of any previous show; the capital cities of Montreal and Toronto also did noble work, handlers Getty, Silver, Trudeau and Seguin bringing in a nice showing; names that have been missing for years appeared once more in the catalogue together with the faithful owners of dogs who will turn out year after year and are always the most welcome of guests—"regular fellers!"

An improvement was noticed both in the benching and organization, and not before it was needed at this the only Exhibition Dog Show in this old Province of Quebec, and compliments were in order and were handed out to the active ring steward, John Rennie, and to "Pat" Donovan, the efficient superintendent, while Carl Ives attended to the welcoming and care of visiting fanciers—and did he do it well, I ask you? Ernest Armitage and Hollis Placey also did a full share of work, and then some.

The writer was honored by many visitors, among others Mr. George Ward, who, by the bye, sold me my first "wire," and the genial and smiling secretary of the Montreal Kennel Club, who made touching references to the writer's literary efforts, of which he did not hesitate to express his disapproval—no hitting behind the back here, but face to face and man to man; after the round was over we shook hands and parted better friends than before.

Dr. Langelier of Cap Rouge sent a nice string of Cockers which met with stiff competition in this man's town.

Mr. Bourgeault, of East Angus, assures us on good authority that the old city of Quebec intends to revive their Dog Show. This is good news, as they have the men and the goods to put up a real show.

Sherbrooke also are hoping to increase and improve their accommodation and there is also a suggested change of location to be considered; local fanciers are also planning on a Winter show—C.K.C. rules—so that with the energy shown in Montreal, Quebec will soon take its proper place in the dog world—top dog, in fact.

Thursday, 22nd September, will remain a "red letter day" in the annals of the Eastern Townships Kennel Club, as Sherbrooke was honored by an official visit from Jas. D. Strachan, secretary, C.K.C., and editor of Kennel and Bench. This was his first visit to Sherbrooke and we rise to remark that if his judgment is what we think it is, he will come again. Certainly he cannot come too often to please us.

He was met on arrival by Messrs. Placey and Ives and of course made an immediate visit to the Belmoss Kennels and introduced him to Int. Ch. Inveresk Cocksure and his family, then to the Armitage Kennels to see Mistover Daffodil et alia, and in fact during his brief stay he met all the beauties—canine—in town.

A little group of "doggy" men met at the New Sherbrooke at dinner and a very happy and interesting evening was enjoyed; even the Dempsey-Tunney fight was forgotten for several hours, in the good fellowship which emanated from "Jimmy" at the head of the table.

On the following Saturday the Ladies Kennel Club staged a Dinner Dance in honor of the popular Canadian Kennel Club Secretary in fact I imagine that after H.R.H. the Prince of Wales—J.D. is one of the most popular men in the canine circle of the Province.

Previous to the dinner and dance a very interesting meeting of fanciers was held in the office of Drs. Eteienne, who are always so generous in this matter. After Mr. Ross had modestly declined the honor of presiding, Mr. W. R. Aitken was prevailed upon to take the chair and the fireworks began: purely imaginary grievances explained by the straightforward and forceful remarks of Mr. Strachan: some say that time was wasted, but I think no time is spent better than coming to an understanding between friends, and that is what was the result of the meeting; as usual the meeting adjourned in the early morning.

Never have the dog fanciers of Montreal shown such a spirit of get-together than at the Salle Dore, Mt. Royal Hotel on Saturday evening, although it was restricted to the members and friends of the Ladies Kennel Club—the whole hotel itself would not have been large enough to accommodate the friends of the guest of honor. The dinner was most excellent and the toast list a short one with few speeches; a happy touch was given when Mr. Pleau's daughter, Mrs. Domus, vice president of the Ladies Kennel Club proposed the health of "Kindred Clubs" in the French language.

An excellent dance programme with inspirating music filled in the balance of the evening and cheers for the Ladies Kennel Club, Canadian Kennel Club and Mr. Strachan wound up what will ever be a memorable occasion.
