EQUALLY SUITABLE FOR KITTENS & SILVER FOX CUBS

PUPPIES have small stomachs, and the milk of a bitch is therefore a concentrated food, being more than twice as strong as cow's milk. LACTOL closely resembles the puppies' natural food, which is why they do so well on it. Puppies reared on LACTOL thrive remarkably, and do not suffer from indigestion, vomiting, diarrhoea, rickets, etc., as when given cow's milk or other foods.

LACTOL is already used by many breeders in Canada and the U.S.A., whilst in the British Isles no kennel of any importance is ever without it. PUPPIES LOVE LACTOL.

Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club, Inc.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the club's offices, 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, October 20th, 1927, the President, Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, in the chair. Directors present included: Brig.-Gen. C. M. Nelles, Lt.-Col. J. N. MacRae, Reg. P. Sparkes, R. L. Wainright, J. W. Bruce and F. W. Walkerdine (Manitoba).

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and it was regularly moved, seconded and carried: "That the minutes be adopted as read."

The Secretary submitted the following report:

"I take this opportunity to report to this meeting, the impressions I gathered between the time of my leaving Toronto and my return to the city, which was a period of fifteen days. I went straight to Halifax on a pass issued to me by the Publicity Department of the Canadian National Railway. At Halifax, the Nova Scotia Kennel Club was running their annual Dog Show. The show, in my judgment, was well managed and splendidly judged. I was impressed with the display of sportsmanship, which was decidedly apparent throughout the three days of the Dog Show. I regret to report that I noticed puppies under six months of age kennelled in the Dog Show building. There can be no excuse allowed for this; if for no other good reason than this, of all the individuals and kennels exhibiting only one or two brought in under-age purposes for apparently commercial reasons only. Halifax is to be complimented on its Kennel Club officers and members.

At St. John, I was met by officers and members of New Brunswick Kennel Club. Many problems were discussed from many different angles, and not without manifest feeling. After several hours had been spent in conference, it was agreed that the causes for several grievances had been discovered, and that a better understanding had been established for the future.

From St. John to Montreal extends an area that we must consider in a very especial manner in future—at least, I so recommend. Such cities as Sherbrooke, Three Rivers, and Quebec, should enjoy the same special point ratings as those existing at present between Port Arthur and Nanaimo in the West, and in the Maritimes.

It is a matter of history, that shows have been held at Three Rivers and Quebec. It is also a matter of history that shows in these cities are not now being held. These cities can, at the best, only hope for one-point shows, and that attraction is so slim that the enthusiasm of those really interested is easily and quickly neutralized by the results which follow their labors in the interests of Dog Shows. This enthusiasm still exists, gentlemen, and we must find ways and means to properly develop it in our own best interests. I paid visits to all these two cities that are only to be considered small in a doggie sense, because of their geographical locations and distance from the centres that make Dog Shows pleasant and encouraging—if not profitable.

Montreal paid me the compliments of enabling me to again confer with the officers and members of its two clubs, and my impression is, that we must in some very definite manner, create an atmosphere of confidence between our people there and ourselves.

Summarizing, I would say that from Toronto to Halifax, the Canadian Kennel Club is in quite a healthy condition, and I am proud of the fanciers I met during my rather hurried visit, and like the visit paid by myself to the West, I am hopeful that arrangements have been made for a closer personal contact between ourselves and our Eastern members.

Halifax is all right. St. John is all right. Our director for the Maritime Provinces has the confidence of our people there.

I want to express my thanks here in a very specific way to Ralph Proctor, President of Nova Scotia Kennel Club; to Francis Kerr, Second Vice-President of New Brunswick Kennel Club; to W. W. Laskey at Fredericton; to Lt.-Col. Sydney E. Francis, Sherbrooke, where I was guest at a dinner in my honor, as your representative, held at the New Sherbrooke Hotel; to Harry Doyle at Quebec, to J. A. Camu at Montreal, and to Mrs. J. H. Enright, also at Montreal. Mrs. Enright's Ladies' Kennel Club tendered a banquet in my honor—as your representative—at the Mount Royal Hotel. When mentioning the foregoing names, I merely intend to convey the information to you—gentlemen—that those I have named were apparently the parties elected by their fellows to meet me, and to arrange for my comfort. I have now covered Canada from coast to coast, and I am greatly enthused for the future of the Canadian Kennel Club in all Canada."

After active discussion, it was regularly moved, seconded and carried: "That the Secretary's report be accepted."

The Secretary reported the deaths of three members of the Canadian Kennel Club, i.e., E. J. Atkinson, Toronto; J. J. McCaffrey, Fredericton, and E. P. Hall, Edmonton, and advised that he had forwarded messages of condolence to the bereaved families in the name of the President, Directors and members of the club. It was agreed to endorse the action of the Secretary.

The matter of the disputed count of the recent Vancouver Kennel Club Show was discussed, and the Secretary advised that he had received a declaration from the Chairman of the British Columbia Provincial Committee, and was now awaiting the declared statement requested from Vancouver Kennel Club. The Secretary was instructed to request the Vancouver Kennel Club to have the necessary declaration on hand by the date of next Directors' Meeting, when the case would then be disposed of.

The Secretary reported that a check had been made on the certificate of count returned by Saskatoon Kennel Club, and that a one-point rating had only been allowed.

A letter was read from the Western Fair Association advising that all wins made by dogs entered by Mr. James Cassina, Toronto, had been cancelled for the reason that Mr. Cassina's dogs were removed without permission on the second day of the show, and were not returned for the third day.

A letter from Mr. Cassina advised that motor trouble had been the cause of his absence on the third day. Two Directors spoke of Mr. Cassina having advised them of his car breaking down on the day of its happening. The letter from the Western Fair was ordered placed on file.

A letter was read from the American Kennel Club advising that Mr. J. McNulty had been reinstated to all the privileges of the American Kennel Club and therefore he was now in good standing. The Secretary was instructed to observe the customary procedure in such matters.

The Secretary requested the Board of Directors to transfer the prefix "Cedric" and the club membership standing in the names of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Atkinson to show both as being held by Mrs. E. J. Atkinson. It was agreed to accede to the Secretary's request.

The Secretary reported two cases of forgery of names on litter application for registration forms, and explained the non-existence of necessity for the forgeries, as the required signatures had been always available on request. Stud fees in both instances having been paid, and friendly relationships having always existed between all parties concerned. The parties had been warned by the Records Office and by the Secretary, and both had confessed their guilt, and both had expressed their sincere regrets. The Secretary requested the Directors to be satisfied that sufficient punishment had been meted out to both offenders, and advised that by so doing the record officials would agree conditional on a warning being published in Kennel and Bench, and that the condition would be carefully observed.

The Directors decided that, under the circumstances, the explanations given by the Secretary would be satisfactory.

A letter was read from Miss G. M. Scott, Toronto, which sought that the suspension resting on Chetwood Kennels be removed. It was moved, seconded and carried: "That this suspension be lifted on the first day of February, 1928."

Thompson, John P., 11 Church St., Halifax, N.S.

Williams, J., 52 Amherst Ave., Toronto, Ont.

And it was regularly moved, seconded and carried: "That the applicants be received into membership in the Club."

A complaint in the form of a declaration alleging irregularities in connection with registrations was read and the Secretary was instructed by motion to send the declaration to the Live Stock Records Office with a request that the matter be investigated.

The Secretary reported that he had not heard from Mrs. Daley, Detroit, in connection with the alleged wrongful using of a picture of her dog, "Ch. Detroit News", which is alleged to have appeared in the columns of a Toronto newspaper featuring a dog of another name. It was agreed to have the matter lie in the table until the next meeting.

The Secretary reported having received the report and recommendations of the Manitoba Provincial Committee on the matter of the Fort Garry Kennel Club (Winnipeg) vs. T. P. Murray (Winnipeg). It was agreed that Mr. Walkerdine would hear the report and then be excused whilst the matter was being discussed.

The Committee's finding and recommendation follows: "It is unanimously agreed by this Committee that T. P. Murray has been proven guilty of the offence of substituting one dog for another at the Fort Garry Kennel Club Show in May last, and we recommend to the Canadian Kennel Club that he be disciplined accordingly." The Committee's signatures appeared in full to the documents. Mr. Walkerdine asked to be excused, and at this point left the meeting.

The report of the Provincial Committee was discussed at length, and it was regularly moved, seconded and carried: "That Mr. T. P. Murray be suspended until December 31st, 1928, from taking part in or having any connection with any Dog Show or Field Trial held under the sanction of the Canadian Kennel Club. Such suspension to disqualify him from competition all dogs registred in his name and owned by him as from the date of the charge on which he has been found guilty being lodged at the office of the Canadian Kennel Club, and for the period of such suspension."

This being the business coming before the Board of Directors at this time, it was moved: "That the meeting do now adjourn."

MORE SMOOTHS FROM ENGLAND.

That staunch old-timer, W. M. Coats, of Seattle, Wash.—late of Vancouver—received from England on October 15th the Smooth Fox Terriers, Quakertown Quality, a bitch that has won upwards of 50 first prizes in England. Accompanying Q. Quality came Quakertown Quaver, a bitch who has never been beaten, but who beat one of England's best champion bitches before she left the Motherland. Both arrived in capital condition, in fact ready for the show benches. There are 13 puppies sired by Quakertown Quartermaster out of three bitches, and in next to no time, and through the interest taken by Mr. Coats, there is a revival of fever-heat intensity prevailing at present in Smooth Fox Terrier circles down Seattle way.

DOGS OF THE EMPIRE

By FREEMAN LLOYD,

HAS it ever occurred to the average Canadian dog fancier that he has a breed of dogs at his very door which he has failed to exploit? It seems so, and I am more than ever convinced that a great day is coming for the North American Huskie dog, first and foremost as he is among the utility canine animals of the Dominion.

Huskies are here, there and everywhere, especially in New Ontario and Manitoba. The soap-box dog of the small boy on the streets of Winnipeg is as faithful a beast as any. Such a dog would find an immediate sale in New York and New England States where the winters are long and severe. The soap-box dog would become a precious creature in the hands of the American boy who is often sent on errands to the country store and railroad station. It would delight the youngster to have as his companion a beast of burden that would put all the other village dogs to shame, because of its strength, willingness and Arctic appearance. (Who knows that the ownership of such a dog may not put the spirit of adventure into the already unmolded and unfixed ambitions of the youngster?) As we know, the boy of today will be the man of to-morrow, and the youth imbued with the desire of exploration and adventure becomes the Empire Builder of a later day. It is only the dog—the Huskie dog—that can take the prospector into the rough and often ice-bound places. The dogs will be barking and running out from Sioux Look Out and Hudson, to the gold-bearing lands in the north west, when the crippled flying machines will remain tied to their moorings on the lakes.

Speaking of those great systems of steel roads that traverse Canada, it is to be reminded that had it not been for the Huskie dogs, the huge tasks of railroad building would have been more difficult and prolonged. What the camel is to the deserts of North Africa, the bullock to South Africa, the horse to Europe, the llama to parts of South America, the Huskie is to Canada. He, in the winter-time, is the back-bone of travel; he is the alpha and omega of the whole toilings connected with individual transportation. Like the brave men, women and children of the mighty North, the Huskie remains and will endure. When we come to consider the every-day requirements of the human in Northern Canada, the Huskie's value becomes more and more valuable.

In Canada, the Huskie remains a half-domesticated wild-dog. But out of this slave there is a great opportunity to make a courtier. It is repeated that a single, good-looking, working Huskie, fitted with a new set of harness and a local-made toboggan or sleigh, would fetch $200 in the American market. Furthermore, around Christmas time, the owner of such a dog could get a still larger amount for a representative turn-out such as the one described.

Good harness can be purchased from the Hudson Bay and other stores; and if these leathers bear bells and some of the ornamental conceits of the man who prides himself in his team of sleigh dogs, the utmost satisfaction will be felt by the youthful person and his affluent parent south of the border line.

It is said that the Huskie is savage. So are all dogs which come in for the treatment that most Huskies experience. A muzzle could go along with the sold dog; indeed, the ferocity of the animal might be valued by the new owner. In these days of burglaries and worse, the alert Huskie would be invaluable in the suburbs of American cities, where protection from murderous assaults will be appreciated.

Other and less noble dogs of the Arctic regions have become "fancy" dogs among dyed-in-the-wool dog fanciers of Europe and America. Let us take the Samoyed or Siberian dog. A more handsome creature doesn't exist. As for his strength, it is known that the famous explorer, Dr. Nansen, would have no other breed than the Samoyed on his farthest North expeditions. Supposing a Huskie were put in the condition and his coat encouraged or farmed like that of the Samoyed, what would we then think of the Canadian Huskie as compared with the Siberian dog? Not much, you will allow. The Samoyed is not being depreciated in any sense. The comparison is here used for the purpose of pointing out that a most imposing in appearance, and brave dog which, perhaps, may be seen at his best in Canada, can be made into a "show" dog in every sense of that word.

It was only the other day that our train stopped for ten minutes at the Hornepayne depot in New Ontario. The country to the North is limitless and rich. On the station there stood a young man with his Husky dog. He called him Bruin—a capital name in a bear locality. The dog was not for sale, but puppies by him and out of a pure-bred bitch could be had for ten dollars each. Bruin was the sole animal kept by the boy's household for hauling wood and water. Furthermore he could pull his 300 pounds. On being asked to give an instance of the dog's hauling abilities, his owner said that Bruin had pulled that young man, his brother and a quarter of beef weighing 103 pounds, over the frozen snows of last winter.

And at its worst, the temperature at Hornepayne is 70 deg. below zero!

While in Canada, I heard some remarkable stories regarding Huskies and their work. As we sat around the roaring stove at the Chevrier shooting lodge, St. Ambrose, Manitoba, we forgot all about the ducks of that day, and the shooting prospects of the morrow, when Ned Rowand related some of the anecdotes that had been handed down among the members of his family, pioneers and Hudson Bay factors, all of them. Here was a race of superlatively strong men, the results of whose works and accomplishments we now enjoy. But it was to Huskie dogs the family, through its generations, had to be most thankful. For the dogs of the North are the pioneers of the North; and it would seem that the public is now beginning to appreciate that fact. These stories cannot be given here. They are too long, wonderfully delightful and interesting to be passed over within the space allowed for this particular article.

The Alsatian Sheep Dogs have been tried in the traces, and they have worked well. But he would be an ill-informed and inexperienced man who would say or believe that the "police dog" can ever be equal to the tasks the Husky is equal to in the most trying of weathers.

A year ago, Robert C. Reade wrote a most exhilarating article on the dogs of the North. It was in the Xmas issue of the very readable Canadian National Railways Magazine, which was among the periodicals that one enjoyed while on a 2,400-mile journey. Mr. Reade reminded us that at Christmas, Canada is divided into two parts, the holly belt, and the Huskie belt. If you live in the Huskie belt, your heart will leap with joy at the open mouths of these Christmas songsters, he says. If you run on frozen trails, or tramp knee-deep or waist-deep in snow-drifted trails, making all speed to a distant Christmas dinner, the sight of these songsters caroling lustily will make you exclaim: "Hark the herald angels sing!"

But don't be too dogmatic in asserting these Huskie wassailers are not singing a song of true Christmas glee. You have read somewhere that the Huskies spend their nights weeping over the blows they had received during the day. Writers have made your flesh creep by their descriptions of the long-drawn, mournful howls, the upper register shriek and the lower register sobs of these helots of the North, mumbling their melancholy ballads of bondage. You can't imagine a malamute aria can be a mirthful madrigal to anyone.

And so you think of the tinkle of reindeer bells, the honk of taxi horns, the postman's knock lyrical because they bring you Christmas presents. You would soon feel that these Huskie carols are poetical, if you realized that they are the Christmas carols of the North. Don't tell the men of the North that these dogs, the canine Chaliapins of the North, are not singing true carols of their own hinterland.

I saw a very fine almost all-white Huskie at the George Kynoch kennels in Winnipeg. He was a handsome fellow, possessing a countenance that was neither "dog" nor "wolf." What that expression was I am not prepared to describe. But it was oriental—or let me say it was different to what we are used to seeing in the facial looks among the rag, tag and bobtail of other of our occidental breeds of dogs. Mr. Kynoch said that such dogs as this were plentiful, especially in the near north of the wheat capital. This dog stood about 29-30 inches at the shoulders. He was strong of body and in bone, and evidently speedy. He had not grown his winter coat, but he was a beauty! If placed on the American market, dogs of this stamp and broken to harness, would fetch large prices. Again, it is repeated, there is an entirely unexploited market for single toboggan dogs of the Huskie type. The youngsters of well-to-do parents would bow down and practically worship such beautiful examples of canine flesh.

I have seen a Huskie type of sleigh dogs from Northern Asia or Asiatic Russia, and these were employed on a German Antarctic expedition about 27 years ago. They were more or less weaklings as compared with the general run of the Canadian dogs. These Asiatic dogs which had been shipped from Vladivostock, had arrived at Sydney, N.S.W., Australia, and it was there they were observed, while in quarantine. How an expedition could have trusted itself to such an unworthy lot of dogs was hard to imagine; and, as the results proved, these castrated dogs were failures. So a fortune was lost on worthless Russian dogs. If Canadian Huskies had been chosen, there, very likely, would have been a different tale to tell.

Where did the Huskie come from? Did he arrive in Northern America over the ice fields, or from across the waters with the Norsemen, who first discovered the New World? Probably they came by both routes or passages. It has been customary for explorers to take dogs with them on their voyages; and later, if successful, in their expeditions, to return to the scenes of their earlier discoveries, and bring more dogs.

For where man plants his foot, he likes a dog to be at his heel.

All strictly Northern dogs have pricked or upright ears, and curled tails. The latter is the "muff" that covers the head and thus the caudal appendage gives comfort to the sleeping dog. The brains of the dog and that of the man are very sensitive to extreme cold; and that is the reason the fur or skin cap is an unequalled protection for the human's forehead when the mercury is very low. The old Eskimo dogs of Greenland were large dogs. They were profusely coated with harsh hair. Mostly white in color, they were savage in appearance and giants in strength.

There is more and more talk about sleigh-dog racing in the States. If there is no ice, the events can be run over snow and slush, or even wheels can be used in the place of runners. This is mentioned for the reason that sooner or later a big demand will arise for the Canadian Huskie dogs, and it will be well for my friends to be prepared. The meanest kind of Huskie was worth $75 when the gold-seekers were on the move towards the Red Lake district.

National Kennel Club Show

The club held two matinee shows during the season which proved very successful, and were complimented on their selection of judges; the quality of specials given was not surpassed at any other matinee or evening shows in Toronto.

There were three new trophies donated at this meeting, these to be competed for at the Toronto Kennel Club Spring Show, 1928. The R. G. Dudley trophy for best male Cocker, any color; Mr. J. Massie kindly donated a trophy for best female Cocker, any color; and the J. B. Forsyth trophy for best Cocker puppy, male or female, any color.

We are exceedingly pleased to state that at this year's Exhibition, Cockers had the largest entry of any breed, 76 being benched, this no doubt being through the energy of the club members.

The finances of the club are indeed very satisfactory, there being no accounts payable, with quite a substantial cash balance on hand.

THE SPORTING SPANIEL, JUST PUBLISHED.

Many a time we have been asked by our readers to secure for them a copy of The Sporting Spaniel, and as many times we have tried to secure the book for them. Very often we were both disappointed, for the reason that the book was for a time out of print. Happily the authors, C. A. Phillips and R. Claude Cane, have been induced to bring the work up to date, and the publishers, "Our Dogs" Publishing Company, Limited, Manchester, England, have now ready for immediate sale what is probably the greatest work on Sporting Spaniels ever published to date.

The whole family of Sporting Spaniels have been given their own section in the new book, the illustrations are superb, the type is 8-point and easily read, the latest standard for each breed is given, information chapter on field trials, pictures of famous spaniels, past and present.

Extended pedigrees showing the principal families of Cocker Spaniels and English Springers, going back to the original progenitors of both breeds. The book is bound in cloth, contains 150 pages of reading and 50 pages of illustrations.

Kennel and Bench has ordered a supply of this book for its readers. The price will be $1.75 post-paid, Kennel and Bench, 25 Melinda St., Toronto 2, Canada.

R FRONTISPIECE.

Routley and Firesqual. The ribbon won by a novice has on that is all by itself. The ribbon with the accompanying points has its The first special ribbon with the Best Dog in Show, has a distinct thrill for the in the receiving end. Possibility is of the more lasting we notice that once a fan- ences this thrill once, he is ing for the exhilarations of nning time after time. But beyond all this there is the of dual winning, such as wins that came to our On- ger enthusiast, Mr. Herbert of the Trent Valley Ken- terboro, Ont., who at the trial meeting of the Eng- er Spaniel Field Trial As- eld at Fisher's Island, New umber 19, 20 and 21, where "Herb" seems to have had as of his experience.

Wigan, of Brandon, Suf- nd, was the judge, and his Springers "had to be t where they did" in the nns, which lie before the e moment. The Springers at the trials were indeed ve of all the famous rains, and of these Trent ndale, Horsford and Ham- ight out in prominence all e catalogued entries. In Stake, with an even dozen nt Valley Handsome, by d Dick ex Trent Valley placed second and the win ash prize of $25. Handsome is the property of Roy Rymer, St. Catharines, Ont. We mention the ownership so that Mr. Routley may not be accused of taking credit due to another fancier. In the non-winners' stake, Herb's well-known dog, Lime- light, by Ch. Flint of Avandale ex Langtoun Light, was placed 3rd in a class of 18, many of which were im- ported Springers. The cash prize was one of $15. In the open all-age stake—the supreme test—the British Chal- lenge Cup was up for the competition, and, to show the popularity now enjoy- ed by the English Springer, we men- tion that 27 dogs were entered for this rich and distinctive stake. The win- ner was Herbert S. Routley's recently imported bitch, Firesqual, and besides the Challenge Cup the cash prize was $100. The Amateur Handlers Stake, with Mr. Routley as the handler, was won by Firesqual from a field of 16 dogs, and with the win went a sterling silver trophy. In the All-age Stakes, with 16 entries, Firesqual again was found to be on top and the winner of more sterling silver.

Following the trials, a bench show was held. Roy Rymer's Trent Valley Handsome was winners, dog, and best of the winners. Firesqual was win- ners, bitch, and as such entered the pathway that leads onwards to inter- national honors at the first asking. (She won at Peterboro.)

Firesqual is an imported liver, white and tan daughter of the well-known field trial winner, Chum of Chance- field ex Firecrest, a little sister to Field Trial Champion Firecall Reving- ton Rochester, a daughter of Corn- wall's Cavalier. Born on January 30th, 1925, and bred by Mr. R. Corn- thwaite, England, and imported on September 5th, 1927. From the fore- going paragraph it may be gathered that Mr. Routley had only about 20 days in which he could introduce him- self to this wonderful bitch, and ap- parently he made splendid use of his time in that respect.

Besides the cash prizes mentioned, the wins bring over $1,000 (one thou- sand dollars) worth of sterling silver trophies, and before leaving New York, Mr. Routley was offered "four figures" for the great Firesqual. Con- gratulations, Mr. Routley, and if you are not short of cash, why, just hold Firesqual for Canada.

The valuable trophies are in New York being engraved, and as soon as that work has been completed, our readers will be favored by being able to look them over from illustrations appearing in our pages.

"WAY DOWN EAST"

By J. D. STRACHAN, Toronto.

AS we promised our readers last month to tell them of the interesting things that came to the surface on our way back from Halifax, we start now with our first stop-over, which was Moncton, a progressive city, whose citizens boast of imported dogs of different breeds, and thanks to our "chaperone" who, on this occasion was no less a personage than Mr. L. S. Hutchinson, the Chief of Police for the well-behaved city of Moncton, our Maritimes Director, Mr. C. C. Sullivan, and myself, were soon "seeing the good ones." There were a couple of nice young "Wires" that had just arrived from England, and they only need to live to be heard from. Some nice "Pekes" were looked at, too, but the owner, a hustling young Englishman, was too busy making ready to take his place on "Prosperity Street" to have time for the showing of his dogs. A couple of young Shepherd Dogs, one of which bears the name of Coltness The Chief Constable—an Alpha von Krone product—the other, Coltness Shepherdess, were looked over, and Mr. Alf. Loveridge was right when he said: "That is the best dog puppy by Alpha that I have ever seen." This youngster is truly "A Police Dog" in every sense of that term. A Chief of Police for his master. The whole police staff for his associates and friends. We hope that this puppy will be able to navigate his way past all puppy dangers and finish what he is so capable of finishing. Four happy hours were spent in the atmosphere of "billy sticks" and "steel wristbands."

The fascinations of a deck of cards brought us to St. John without experiencing one lonesome moment. And as we drew in at 8 o'clock on Saturday, the 17th, we found "Sandy" Christie and his chariot at the station, heading the reception committee, and in a few moments we were comfortably chatting things over within the cosy walls of the Admiral Beatty Hotel. Many knotty problems that had caused the New Brunswick Kennel Club lots of worry were thrashed out in an even temper and soon the atmosphere was made clear enough to justify the belief of a much better understanding for the future. As the group present at this meeting is remembered by me now, those present were: Messrs. C. C. Sullivan, Canadian Kennel Club Director for the Maritimes; "Sandy" Christie, Lee Baron Wilson, Ralph Preston and Francis Kerr, all old members of N.B.K.C., and all proud of their affiliations with their club. As the "wee 'oors" brought the demand for some sleep, the "gang" left, and ten o'clock a.m., was the hour set for the morrow. "Brite an' early" and sharp at ten came "Sandy" and right there and then commenced one of the most wonderful days that this Scribe has ever experienced. A visit to the Reversing Falls was a sight that will long be remembered. The flow at the time of our "close up" inspection can only be compared to the angry waters of the Niagara Gorge. At high tide the falls are on one side, and at low tide they are on the other; between tides the whole looks like a mill pond. Then away to the "clam diggers" at Lepreau, about 25 miles out on a road that much resembles certain places at our Northern Ontario fishing and hunting resorts, everything pointed to a sportsman's paradise. Clams, two sackfuls of them, and all freshly dug; back to Frank Kerr's summer cottage on Spruce Lake, and there were all the "faithful gathered." To the names already mentioned must now be added Messrs. Tom Scott, Tom Linton, "Billie" Frost, "Billie" Smith and Harry Brodie, and each of these had given yeoman service to their club—always. Some of them, like John Scott, Lee Baron Wilson and Ralph Preston, had labored conscientiously since the earlier days of the ancient and honorable New Brunswick Kennel Club.

"Work" was each man's middle name. Some were washing clams, some scouring pots and pans, others getting the lobsters ready for the table, Francis Kerr active superintendent of the whole. The "old guard," Wilson, Preston and Scott, resting on their past performances on just such occasions as this. Charlie Sullivan, "Billie" Frost, and "yours truly" got into a boat and went off to take in the beauties of Spruce Lake—a cowardly thing to do, this shirking the work—but very pleasant, nevertheless.

There have been many battles in the world since time began. The battle of Bannockburn, the battle of the Boyne, the battle of Queenston Heights, to mention just a few, but the battle on the clams and lobsters at Spruce Lake on Sunday, September 18th, will be a battle that will long be remembered by the warriors taking part. You will remember I told you the number of clams were two sackfuls; the number of lobsters were two dozen. After the first charge both "enemies" were repulsed with heavy losses. The second charge found their forces greatly reduced, and the third charge found them exterminated, with Francis Kerr on the short end picking up odd remnants here and there. It has been truly said that soldiers cannot fight much on empty stomachs—and we believe that statement to be quite true—and so it was a real battalion of well-fed battlers that tackled kennel matters now. With fair fighters such as those that have been named, the battle to understanding and to closer co-operation was soon over and friendship declared. It was now night, and our sympathies went out to Dr. Hair—who had been the visiting guest at Spruce Lake before we arrived. The doctor must have had a hard time negotiating the "tall timbers" that cluster around Francis Kerr's summer cottage. The end of a perfect day. Much more was accomplished than has been recorded here, and the future may safely be depended upon to tell the whole story later on.

Monday very generously allowed our visit to continue until 3 o'clock p.m., and that real old-timer, J. W. Cameron, of Collie fame, paid his respects. Many a good one has J. W. imported and many has he bred. What a pleasant chat that was. Away we went—we couldn't shake Charlie Sullivan, and so Charlie is in the "we" part of this story. A visit was paid to Lee Baron Wilson's tailoring establishment where the walls are literally covered with ancient performances of sport, afloat and on terra firma. This good sportsman, sire of the well-known Pointer breeder, "Keltie" Wilson has full newspaper pages framed and hung, to tell the remarkable prowess of some native son of the Maritimes; champion dogs that were famous before many of us were even born, and all breeds, too. A Past Grand Master of his Province, Mr. Wilson is a most interesting fellow, one of the few that a man hates to say "good-bye" to. Then to visit old "Bob" Smith and his good wife. Bob is 86 years old and has been a dog fancier on his own admission, for 75 years—can you beat that? Dear old scout; he is ill when we arrive, but he must—and did—get up to be in on the party. The first detachment of Northwest Mounted Police numbered Corporal Smith as one of their best men. An eye of eagle clearness to-day, he must have stricken terror to the heart of many a wrongdoer when he was in his prime. With the "Mounties" he served around 30 years. He has exhibited dogs at St. John ever since dogs were exhibited there. English Setters were his specialty, but now "Wires" fill his eye. And, be it known amongst dog men, "Bob" Smith still takes an interest in the dog shows and attends them almost religiously. It is noteworthy, too, to chronicle the fact that New Brunswick Kennel Club has made "Ow'd Bob" an honorary member with full privileges. A bite to eat and—oh, darn it—it is 3 o'clock. Good-byes are said and as the train pulls out we say to ourselves, "What an enthusiastic mixture! Young 'uns, old 'uns, and all pulling for St. John and for N.B.K.C."

Reflecting on all that has happened since we left Toronto nine days ago, the time slips past almost unnoticed, and before we have time to figure out where we are, the train has stopped at Fredericton, the home of the energetic "Billy" Laskey, for many years Maritime's Director of the Canadian Kennel Club. The taxi driver advises that "Billy" has been looking for "Ye Scribe" all day—and that is just what was expected of him. To say that "Billy" Laskey is a "live wire" would be tantamount to slander. "Billy" is the dynamo that charges the "live wire." So with the last bite of a good "Barker House" supper stuck somewhere in the "gizzard" we were off to make some visits of "Billy's" arranging, and the two available hours were soon spent. Next morning, however, saw the start of a busy day—remember that I had only hoped to meet Mr. Laskey. Into the picture came Bob MacCunn, W. A. Vanwart, Harry Watson and Harry Watson's Buick. At the homes of all the above we found pictures of such "doggie" appeal that some of them will appear in these pages from time to time in the near future—wonderful pictures. One, a group of Setters, I could have stolen there and then and taken my chances of "telling it to the judge" afterwards—if necessary. With another, a picture of a Greyhound, there goes a story. When Harold McMurray's father purchased a house from a doctor who was leaving for some point in Ontario, he found a picture, sewn in canvas, wound up in excelsior, packed in a wooden box, and the box well covered with oil paper. The McMurray Pater advised the doctor, who in turn advised the elder McMurray that the picture must have been in the house when he bought it many years before, and advised him to keep it. He did. Now the junior McMurray has agreed to have it photographed and copies sent to this office. When they come—and come they will—we will hand our readers a real treat.

Real dog lovers, these boys I have already named, and those that are yet to be named are every whit as good. W. A. Vanwart's liking goes out to Irish Terriers, and he has owned many good ones, such as Ch. Munster Vixen, Mickey of York, etc. Harold McMurray owns that wonderful Labrador Ch. Gilnockie Port, and the dog has brains to burn. Locked in a garage, Mr. McMurray threw his tobacco pouch into some dense shrubbery. Bringing Gilnockie Port out and sending him to find the missing pouch, the dog set out uncannily and the old sure nose soon found the scent that led to the find.

A visit to the Burns' Monument left the impression with me that this beautiful work is a duplicate of the monument to "Robbie" that Torontonians have in Allan Gardens. To the old Parliament Building, which has stood the weathers since 1776, when the first New Brunswick Parliament met. To the new Parliament Building where "on the floor of the House," we made our maiden speech—under our breath, of course. The speech was in admiration of two wonderful paintings by Reynolds; one was of King George III., the other of Queen Charlotte. What a wealth of detail "the master painter" had woven into the Royal robes. Up to the roof of the University to scan the immense stretches of the magnificent St. John river, a panorama never to be forgotten. Then to the Rotary Club luncheon. Here we met "Billy's" friends aplenty; it was Farmers' Day at the luncheon and poor Laskey had to pay a fine of half a dollar because he could not truthfully say that his "boy" friend was a farmer. Had Bert Swann been with us, Billy would have saved his wealth. Then to the largest cotton mill in Canada (under one roof). The manager, Mr. Joseph Dolphin, a past president of Fredericton Rotary Club, very kindly showed us the almost human machinery; in fact, he showed us a knotting machine that eclipsed human effort entirely, only it was the human brain that had created the wonderful machine in the first place.

They say that a prophet is without honor in his own country, but this cannot be said of W. W. Laskey. Undoubtedly he was the most popular individual we met at Fredericton. So much was the writer impressed with this noticeable popularity, that I was tempted to ask, "What is it all about?"—and I did. "Why, Billy would go barefooted in winter to do anybody a good turn." "He would give the shirt off his back if you needed it more than he did." That's Bill Laskey as the boys told it to me.

My 13½ hours in Fredericton were pretty well crammed, you will agree. The "boys" there are a real outfit, and it only required the suggestion to bring forth the declaration of, "Sure, we will have a dog show in Fredericton next year." Fredericton is a beautiful city of homes, where the citizens have lots of room to live in comfort.

We cannot leave Fredericton without making reference to the "Coleman Frog," which we actually studied at close quarters. Forty-two pounds in weight at the time of its death, this freak of nature has been carefully preserved. The Coleman frog was found at Killarney Lake, four miles from Fredericton, by the late Fred B. Coleman, in 1885, and because of its then weight—seven pounds—it was placed in captivity. An American scientist prescribed the diet and three years later the frog weighed 42 lbs.

Next month we will tell you of our wanderings at "Old Quebec," Sherbrooke, and Montreal, and until then, au revoir.

NOTES FROM THE COAST

By Provincial Contributing Editor, ALBERT KERR, Vancouver.

WE regret to have to chronicle the death of one of the most outstanding specimens in the Bulldog world both in Canada and the United States and especially one familiar to the Western fanciers, that of Ch. Kingsway Man-o'-War.

K. Man-o'-War, or Sammy, as he was known in the kennels, was outstanding in several respects, being a show specimen of highest calibre, having repeatedly run through his classes to winners and in numerous occasions going best in show all breeds at shows on both sides of the line.

We are of the opinion that had Dr. Sleeth been in the position to have travelled with and to have shown Man-o'-War when he was in his prime and at his best, in competition with the Eastern representatives of the breed, given a fair and even break, Sammy would have topped the best of them and have proven his superiority; unfortunately, he was only placed in one circuit of Eastern shows when a little past his best days, but at that he could hold his own with the best.

Ch. Kingsway Man-o'-War with all was a real pal of the most kindly disposition, so much so that Dr. Sleeth thought so much of him that he refused several tempting offers to sell, amongst them one of $3,000, always stating that he would keep Sammy until he died, and this great bulldog is now no more, having passed quietly on in his sleep to the great beyond.

We referred in our last month's notes to the fact that Ch. Sandy McNabb had crossed over the border to the land of dollars, but a number have taken advantage of his services at stud and some good puppies are left behind. We had the pleasure of viewing what these fanciers, Mr. and Mrs. G. Noble of Vancouver, termed Sandy's farewell litter, which was one of ten puppies, eight of which were alive, and from indications looked a particularly nice lot of puppies from which some real fliers ought to develop. There was also a nice nine months old fawn puppy, Anzac Cannaberra Boy, well developed, good head, well broken up face which had the earmarks of a good one, also sired by Ch. Sandy McNabb out of Anzac Bonnie Girl, she a home bred one by Billy Buttons out of Jolly Girl. Anzac Billy Boy was the cut-up of the kennels and family, and if you refer to the cover cut of Kennel and Bench of September, 1926, you will see him there in the pose of a real sport. Mr. and Mrs. G. Noble are dyed-in-the-wool Bulldog fanciers.

As is the case no matter where you meet them, the Fox Terrier enthusiast will always be striving to keep on top with the best of them. Reports are to hand that Mrs. Thornton Sharpe had sent her female Wharfside Work Girl to be bred to Ch. Barrington Bridegroom, and from this mating has been presented with a litter of three puppies, two males and one female. Mrs. R. H. F. Purdon, of Ulidia Kennels, another devotee of the wire Fox Terriers, has sent a female, Ulidia Fragrance, to be bred to Ch. Crackley Sensational. We wish them both success and may they all be fliers.

The B.C. Fox Terrier Association have selected Mr. Irving C. Ackerman, who has consented to judge their annual C.K.C. show on Thanksgiving Day, November 7th. A large entry should greet Mr. Ackerman, and the committee is working to put it over big.

Following our notes of last month's issue on English Setters, we have received a few snaps and notes from J. J. (Joe) Cottle of Nanaimo which bears out the statements that these dogs are workers as well as bench specimens. The snaps show Int. Ch. Rackets Rummy and Grayland Snowgirl resting after a few days' hunt with a goodly number of birds showing in the background, the result of the kill. This was a four days' hunt at the opening of the season on blue grouse and in the mountains of Vancouver Island. Joe says: "The dogs have to literally hang on by their toenails to retrieve, and work all day and spell it with capitals WORK."

We had the pleasure of a few hours' visit to the Cloverdale Springer Spaniel Kennels, owned by Mr. Geo. Miller, where a number of real good ones were comfortably housed and well looked after, headed by "Boghurst Ben" (Imp.). As one looked about at Mr. Miller's farm, here was a real location to breed this type of dogs. On the one side were fields and bogs abounding in pheasants, and through the property runs the Serpentine River, inhabited by the wild ducks, a most ideal environment for raising and training these dogs, and just to show the writer that he had the goods, we went off with a couple of dogs and hunted the fields for a few hours, returning quite satisfied that these Springers were workers and with an invitation to come again, which we certainly will accept.

The dog clubs of the United States continue to look to this side of the international boundary for judging material. The fall circuit of shows held through Washington and Oregon were of an international character, inasmuch as Canada was well represented both with judges and exhibitors. The circuit opened at Gresham, Oregon, with Jack Meadows as all-arounder. This was the first show for the Gresham club and the results exceeded the expectations of the officers. Everett, Wash., was next in line with C. B. Payne wearing the ermine. This show was followed by Centrallia, where Henry Oppenheimer of Spokane made his debut to north-west exhibitors. Elma, Wash., was the next fixture, and Norman McConnell drew a good entry for this enthralling club. The circuit ended at Spokane, September 1, 2, 3, when the Interstate Fair staged their twenty-first annual dog show. W. H. Pym was judge of all breeds and the club officials claim this year's show was the most successful show staged by this club. Entries were received from the States of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Oregon, with Boston Terriers leading in number of entries, closely followed by Shepherds and Pointers, while the other popular breeds were represented. The Spokane Club is a member of the American Kennel Club, and therefore was the first north-western club to list the fifty dollars cash prize for the best dog in show, all breeds, American bred. The working, sporting, and non-sporting groups were headed with international champions, but the honor of best in show, all breeds, went to the International Champion Buddy Highball of Roseholme, owned by Mr. John Lewis of Seattle.

won the lion's share of the prizes offered on this coast. Some of the prominent winners are: Clifts "Roy Roy," winner of the Fourth of July Handicap Cup. The same owner's "True Blue" won the King County Sportsmen's Club (Seattle) Cup. W. A. Coull's "Edna Brownie" annexed the Vancouver Exhibition Handicap Cup. The next even in order was the Elma, Washington Fair Cup, which was won by W. H. Pym's dog, "The Fortune Teller". The next event in the States was at Puyallup, where Mrs. P. Willox won the Wm. Coats Cup for the fastest dog at the meet, and W. Clifts "True Blue" again stepped into the limelight by winning the Western Washington Fairs Associations Cup. The Canadian Legion of Vancouver put on their first whippet handicap, and top honors were won by "Quick Arrow", owned by W. H. Pym. It is rumored that the next important handicap will be run at South Vancouver on Thanksgiving Day, when the principal cash prizes will run into three figures.

The fall season has ushered in the evening parlor shows which were started off by the B.C. Toy and Boston Club, which was favored with a fair attendance and entry, although evidently poorly supported by its own members, as the toys had only a small representation. Mr. Geo. Pearson acted as judge.

The Vancouver Kennel Club will stage their first evening show on Oct. 22nd with W. T. (Billy) Oates as judge; while on the same date the Greater Vancouver Whippet Association will also put on an all-breed show with a newcomer in the person of Mr. Lath acting as judge.

These dates seem to clash, but as arrangements were made without the knowledge of the other club's affairs and being far removed as to location from each other, may work out O.K.

heard and received certain criticisms as to the matter which composes these columns. We readily admit that we are not infallible. No doubt in someone's opinions we leave out the write-ups on others we should put in, but kindly get this into your heads, we play no favorites, and, if you will refer to a previous number of this journal, the invitation was offered for you to send along your general interest notes, and the same still holds good. ## ENGLISH SPRINGERS A BY-WORD IN CANADA.

Mr. W. Calvert, "Rickshaw," Editor of "Spaniel Sparks," in "Our Dogs," England, says in the issue of August 19th, 1927:

"Of the numerous letters which regularly reach the addresses at the head of this column expressing appreciation of the efforts made to further the sporting Spaniel cause, few are more gratifying than those of overseas origin. In the larger Colonies—Australia, Canada and S. Africa—the breed is strongly established. The former absorbs an increasing Cocker stream, which has been strengthened by the Antipodean judging tour undertaken last year by Mr. W. S. Hunt. Canada boasts some good Sussex specimens, while the popularity of the E. Springer in the land of the maple has become a bye-word."

THE CANADIAN FANCY

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ontario.

FANCIERS throughout the Dominion have either made or are making their entree for the National Kennel Club's forthcoming show at the Royal Winter Fair, on Nov. 22nd, 23rd, and 24th. This show should undoubtedly be one of the greatest shows that has been held for many years. The venue could not possibly be improved upon, and as the Winter Fair has always been the outstanding fashionable event of Toronto's social year, the show is certain to be patronized by a large percentage of people who will be willing to pay well for the variety of dog that takes their fancy, and it should also be the means of inducing a number of new fanciers to enter into one of the most attractive hobbies of the day—the breeding and exhibition of pure-bred dogs.

The list of specials and the liberal prize money should induce exhibitors from all over Canada to make an entry, in fact, it is a show where every prominent breeder and exhibitor should be represented. The judges, with one notable exception, are all from across the border, which should mean that the entry will be swelled by a fair number of American dogs. Mrs. Dodge, who is judging Shepherds, is so well known to all Alsatian exhibitors that she can hardly fail to draw a big entry. Russell H. Johnson, Jr., is one of the most reliable Terrier judges on the American continent to-day, and he will be sure to be a big drawing card to the Terrier exhibitors. W. P. Fraser, the only Canadian judge, has for so many years taken such a keen and active part with Scottish Terriers that I anticipate that the entry of "Diehards" will be one of the features of the show. Turk McBee is so sound a judge of bulldogs that this breed should have a record entry. Geo. W. Murdock, who is judging a great number of breeds, I have not had the pleasure of meeting, but the other all-round judge, E. J. Bernhard, acted in a similar role at one of the shows across the border, at which I was judging last year, and his work was most impressive.

I am sure all Bulldog breeders and exhibitors will join me in offering sincere sympathy to Dr. Sleeth, Vancouver, on the death of his famous Bulldog, Champion Man O' War. The information of his death came to me a few days ago, but the cause of death was not given. Only a couple of months ago, I had the privilege of seeing Man O' War, and like all great dogs, he had his boosters and destructors. However, the information I had been given caused me to think that Man O' War was a Bulldog well worth seeing, but I hardly expected to find a Bulldog so really great as he undoubtedly was. In my opinion, notwithstanding the fact that Man O' War had shrunk a little, due to age, he could even then have given all the great dogs I have judged a rare run for the premier awards. Although an all-white dog, he resembled in symmetry and type that wonderful Bulldog, Champion Broadlea Squire, one of the greatest Bulldogs ever to enter a ring and admitted by authorities to be one of the best Bulldogs ever bred. Some critics who had seen Man O' War in the show ring faulted him for hind action and the general consensus of opinions expressed leads me to think that the show ring did not appeal to Man O' War. I saw this famous white dog on the street outside Dr. Sleeth's infirmary at Vancouver, and although I tried him pretty thoroughly, I could find absolutely nothing wrong with his gait. Man O' War, if he had first seen the light of day in England, would have been used by our foremost breeders, and this was the one regret that I expressed to his breeder, that a dog of his breeding and type had had such limited opportunities at stud.

I am still getting letters re my remarks on Tanrours heads with Irish Terriers, and evidently some breeders cannot distinguish between a bumpy skull and sunken temples. G. Thomas Dutcher, the founder of the Erincrest strain of Irish Terriers, of Seattle, writes me that my remarks have caused considerable discussion amongst breeders and that exhibitors out there have been feeling for bumps. I have judged G. Thomas Dutcher's Terriers at several shows the last year or so, and although one or two of his Terriers are not quite as flat in skull as I like an Irish Terrier skull to be, they are certainly free from the fault I have been discussing—sunken temples, or a Tanrour or alligator skull. One usually does not even have to handle the skull to find this fault, for it invariably carries its "landmark," a badly balanced head, short skull and abnormal length of foreface. As I said in my previous remarks, Tanrours was responsible for these heads, like the old "bread-winner" (as Sam Wilson's noted Irish Terrier, Champion Bolton Woods Mixer, was known) is responsible for the wooly coats many Irish Terriers have to-day. The Irish Terriers of my boyhood days required practically no trimming, and one did not have to be a coat artist in those days to show Irish Terriers.

THE LATE CH. KINGSWAY MAN O' WAR
Bred and campaigned by Dr. T. E. Sleeth, Vancouver, B.C.

Please don't misunderstand me—I don't mean to say that all our Irish Terriers to-day are bad-coated, but one cannot go along Irish Terrier benches to-day and find the wonderful dense, harsh coats that distinguished the dare-devils when Billie Graham was the most successful breeder of the day.

It has always been my opinion that to get dog shows as popular as they are in the United Kingdom and the United States, that more care should be taken by those running dog shows to see that suitable buildings are selected. An attractive, clean building is essential in running a successful show in Canada because the "gate" counts so much. The expense of running a show is far greater than it is in England. The exhibitor, in many cases, has quite a considerable outlay in paying transportation to the show, and the gate means much to him. The prize money, in the majority of cases, does not begin to cover expenses, but if the exhibits are attractively "housed" and a good gate results, an exhibitor usually finds a market amongst the spectators for some of his surplus stock, and amongst the gate are people who may be induced, if they find the surroundings pleasing, to enter into one of the most fascinating sports of the day—the breeding and exhibiting of dogs. The photograph reproduced is of the new dog show building of the Ottawa Exhibition. I have heard from the most reliable sources that the new building is a real one and I sincerely congratulate the go-ahead officials of the Central Canada Exhibition on erecting an up-to-date building. It will result in a bumper entry next year, I feel sure.

Our hard-working secretary, Jimmy Strachan, can always be relied upon to do anything in his power to help along a fancier. I hear that through the efforts of Jimmy, the late E. J. Atkinson, who had only recently arrived in Canada, was given a Masonic funeral, through the courtesy of the John Ross Robertson Lodge, Toronto. Many dog fanciers who were craftsmen were noticed amongst the mourners. I regret very much the untimely death of Mr. Atkinson who looked like proving one of the most valuable recruits of recent years to the Canadian Fancy. It will be remembered that Mr. Atkinson brought out with him from the Old Country that particularly nice wire Fox Terrier bitch, Cedric Charm, who made so favorable an impression at Hamilton. This good bitch has been, I understand, mated to Int. Champion Aman Fox Trot. Another of the team brought out by Mr. Atkinson was the exceptionally nice Scottish Terrier, Cedric Countess, who gained the special for best of her breed, and was for a long time in the ring when best dog in show, all breeds, was before the judges.

I am indeed sorry to hear of the death of that well-known Fredericton fancier, J. J. McCaffray, which occurred a few days ago. When judging at Fredericton, N.B., a couple of years ago, I had the privilege of meeting Mr. McCaffray, who was the President of the club. We spent quite some time together for I found that Mr. McCaffrey was keenly interested in two of my hobbies—horses and dogs. His death means not only a loss to Fredericton, but to the whole of the Canadian Fancy.

I have been asked if I can give some particulars of Greyhound racing in England, and am sorry to say I cannot give any of my personal experience, as Greyhound racing was not in vogue when I was living in England five years ago. Of course, like nearly every Britisher, I have often been present at the Waterloo Cup, where I have had my off days—mostly off, to be truthful. One cup meeting I remember very distinctly was when Black Fury, trained at

At the extreme right may be seen the one and only Harry Armistead, with his noted wires—Ormsby Rainbow and Ormsby Marie Rose. As a brace these two animals won outright the magnificent Solid Silver Tray for the best Canadian-bred Brace, donated in 1922 by Miss Ada F. Coombs, of the Willinez Kennels, Holmdel, N.J. Hendon, about six miles from Charing Cross, London, and won the cup, defeating two odds on favorites, Peregrine Pickle and George Tinclear. Like many others, I did not value the things produced close to home, and I followed the lead of others in backing Peregrine Pickle, one of the greatest favorites that has ever run at this famous coursing meeting and then when he broke a toe, tried to save my stake by backing George Tinclear, an exceedingly fast dog, or considered so by the critics who ought to know. Like many other hot favorites, he failed at the critical moment, Black Fury leading and never being headed. Going back to Greyhound racing, my correspondent asks me if I think the sport would become popular if introduced in Canada. I cannot say, but I note that my old friend, Mrs. Carlo F. C. Clarke, one of the leading authorities on Greyhound coursing in England, writes in most enthusiastic terms of the new sport in England, in the last issue of Dogdom. Mrs. Clarke writes: "The first meeting in the south of England was only held at the Stadium, White City, on Wednesday, June 20th, yet for the past month the kennels have been full to overflowing. There is a long list of would-be owners, who cannot be supplied with dogs, whilst even, if like myself, you obtain a dog, there seems no likelihood of being able to run it at the Stadium. This season, all nominations being full, the daily papers are even suggesting a shortage in Greyhounds, so immense is the demand to supply material for the many tracks all over the country, but one can hardly take this seriously, for large consignments are still arriving from Ireland and many "knowing ones" who appear to have foreseen this boom have been steadily breeding Greyhounds for the last eighteen months. The capacity of the White City Stadium is, I believe, 150,000, and so far, the record attendance is over 100,000; but even on the wet nights so prevalent during this so-called summer, crowds of over 75,000 were admitted without any serious dampening of their enthusiasm. So serious is the disorganization of the traffic by road and rail caused by these immense crowds that on July 20 the executive issued a circular to all members of the Greyhound Racing Club begging them to journey to and from Shepherd's Bush by the alternate bye-routes suggested.

Apparently, reading through the article by Mrs. Clarke, the sport has caught on to all classes. One of the winners illustrated is owned by Her Grace The Duchess of Sutherland. The White City has been honored by visits from H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, and his brothers, and Prince and Princess Arthur of Connaught, whilst the King of Spain was so charmed with the sport that after supping at the club, he asked for a special race to be run under the electric light, and expressed his intention of having a track constructed immediately at Madrid. The sport has already a royal owner, the Ex-Queen of Greece having won a race with "Talmga."

* * *

The appointment of judges is a subject that is ever before the fancy. In the latest issue of the American Kennel Gazette, Frank E. Davis, the live wire of the Professional Handlers' Association, in his "Random Thoughts Regarding Judges," writes: "That some members of his association consider that the American Kennel Club should send a list of all rounders to each show-giving club, after they have selected their class judges—these selections to be made under the conditions that now exist. These show-giving clubs shall pick from the all-rounder list the judge for the best in show class."

The authority of the all-rounder should not be limited to the picking of the best dog in show. He should be the official representative of the American Kennel Club at the show to which he has been assigned, and as the official representative of the parent club he should have the authority to act in any capacity for the good of the exhibition. Also he should see that all the rules of the American Kennel Club are strictly enforced.

The members of our Association who advocate this idea would give even greater power to the final judge. They believe that if the final judge is not satisfied that the dog that is sent along is the best of breed, that he can order the dog's competitors into the ring and also the judge that made the original decision. He can then ask the judge to explain his original decision. If after a conference, the judges do not agree, the final judge may be allowed to place in the variety class the dog he thinks is better than the one that has been sent along. Of course, this ruling should not affect in any way the decision made by the original judge. It would simply mean that two of the same breed would be in the variety class. The advantage of such a plan lies in the fact that all judges would be even keener than they are to-day in the placing of their dogs. Naturally, they would not care to have their decisions officially questioned. Even the all-rounder would have to be on his toes, as his decision might be over-ruled by the judge of the variety class.

Of course, this question of this all-powerful all-rounder is one that would have to be given serious consideration. He would have to be paid—naturally—by the American Kennel Club. In turn, the parent body could pass along the cost of the all-rounder to the show-giving club. Also it might be well to bond the all-rounder, this bond to be forfeited if the all-rounder breaks the rules of the American Kennel Club. In fact, it has been suggested that the American Kennel Club pay all judges and that these be bonded for the good of the game.

Evidently from information received from a most reliable correspondent, some errors were given in the last issue of Kennel and Bench with reference to Wm. L. Bailey's Pekingese. I understand that Mrs. Bailey so far has not owned two International Champions, her Kiang of Ashtead, unfortunately, having won only thirteen points towards her American Championship up to the time of her death. Kiang, like all celebrities, has had her setbacks, having been beaten by Barlow of Alderbourne, Madam Tuson, My Ockley Pippy, and Ruby of Shantung. Lun Pae has also tasted defeat, having been beaten by G. S. Stock's Ch. Chong Young Shi, and also by his son, Weu Lew Smudger. There are such a number of breeders interested in Pekingese in B.C., striving to breed Pekes of the right type, that it certainly looks as if B.C. Pekes in a few years will be as highly valued by connoisseurs as B.C. English Setters are at the present time.

ANOTHER BOARDING KENNEL FOR TORONTO.

Not long ago it was a problem in Toronto when a dog fancier had a dog that required the comforts of a boarding kennel. This condition has disappeared and boarding kennels are becoming quite plentiful again. The latest is the "Alva Boarding Kennel" (see advertisement in this issue), at Stop 32A, on the Kingston Road, at West Hill, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. J. McColl have purchased the Arran boarding kennels, built and owned by the late Dr. Williams, V.S.

The kennel buildings have accommodation for 25 dogs, and the dogs are separated by heavy mesh wire inside and outside in such a way that abundance of freedom is at all times available for the kennel inmates. Indoor and outdoor runs, double-action doors, comfortable sleeping benches, electric light and heat, separate building for whelping cases, isolation room for sick dogs; in short, the Alva Kennel is up-to-date in every respect. Dog comfort is absolute. Plenty of sunshine in extreme weathers, because of spacious windows and extensive skylights.

Visitors interested in securing Al boarding accommodation, or desiring to purchase Shepherd dogs, are cordially invited to visit the Alva Kennels.

A GREAT BULLDOG DEAD.

Probably the best known English Bulldog in Western Canada, and one of the best known Bulldogs on the American continent, was the noted Ch. Kingsway Man O' War, who was bred and owned by Dr. T. E. Sleeth, Vancouver, B.C., for many years a director of the Canadian Kennel Club, and a devotee at the shrine of the Bulldog. "Old Sammy," as Man O' War was known at the kennel at Kingsway, and by most of the Coast fanciers, was a white son of Kingsway Squire (Imp.) out of Futurity Real Lady (Imp.), a daughter of Ch. Cintra Sam, and his breeding was always prominent in his get, died on October 1st. Always of an easy-going nature, he simply died in his sleep and was off to his happy hunting ground without warning other than the warning of his getting on to seven years of age, which is a good age for the breed. Dr. Sleeth has a few good youngsters sired by the "old champion" to carry on with. The late Champion Kingsway Man O' War was sire of many good ones and prominent amongst these were the following: Ch. Kingsway My Reverie (now in New York), Ch. Sandy McNab (also now in the United States), Ch. Kingsway White Ambassador, who died at London, Ont., on July 13th this year, where he was kennelled at the Picadilly Kennels by an arrangement. Ch. Kingsway Molly O'Neil is at present the latest champion to call "Old Sammy" her "daddy."

Removed as the late Champion Man O' War undoubtedly was from the conveniences of the Bulldog fraternity generally, he certainly cut out a niche in the "hall of fame" as a producer of quality bulldogs, and if he had had the opportunities that he deserved, he possibly would have been Canada's greatest bulldog sire. No judge that ever passed on his quality during the years that he was shown, but came back writing of the marvelous quality of the dog. Dr. Sleeth has every good reason to long remember the name and fame of Ch. Kingsway Man O' War, and undoubtedly he will do so.

HARRY W. LACY—AN ECHO.

(An Old Guard of the Kennel World Honors Late Member).

At a recent meeting of the Executive Board of the Old Guard of the Kennel World the following preamble and resolutions were adopted, that,

Whereas, in the recent death of Harry W. Lacy, the Old Guard of the Kennel World has lost a member who was one of the original founders of this association, and as such always heartily advocated and endorsed its activities and policies in the dog world, and,

Whereas, his kindly spirit, coupled with his acknowledged ability as a fluent and gifted writer and editor, accompanied always with fairness and justness in his deductions in important matters canine, endeared him to his fellow-members of the Old Guard, as well, in truth, to the dog people at large, and,

Whereas, in the passing of Harry W. Lacy, we realize that an enthusiastic member has been taken from us, one whose advice was sought by us on occasion, and always valued, be it therefore,

Resolved, that we, the Old Guard of the Kennel World, many members of which have had the satisfaction and pleasure of having been accounted a personal friend of Harry W. Lacy's for more than a quarter of a century, hereby register our heartfelt regret at his untimely death, and it is further

Resolved, that the above preamble and resolutions be properly inscribed upon the minutes of this association, and that a copy of the same be signed by the President and the Secretary, and duly forwarded to the family of the deceased, also to "Thee Fancier and Stockkeeper," of which he was so long the Kennel Editor. (Signed)

A. Clinton Wilmerding, President.
James E. Hair, M.D., Secretary.

ANOTHER CHAMPION FOR AMERICA.

Ch. "O'Kay", the property of Mrs. W. J. Nichols of Wimbledon, England, was shipped on Saturday last by the S.S. "Aquitania" to Mr. Moses Taylor, U.S.A., by Spratts' shipping department.

First shown at the Crystal Palace in April, 1927, Ch. "O'Kay" has a wonderful record. His successes include:—

1927

April 7—Crystal Palace, 5 Firsts and Championship.

April 20—Rugby, 5 First and Championship; 3 Challenge Cups.

April 21—Brighton, 3 Firsts.

May—Olympia, L.K.A., 4 Firsts and Championship.

May 12—Bath, 5 Firsts and Championship; 3 Specials.

May 18—Cardiff, 3 Firsts.

June 2—Winchester, 6 Firsts; 3 Cups.

June 9—Hatfield, 5 Firsts.

July 6—Guildford, 9 Firsts.

July 12—Richmond, 2 Firsts and Championship.

August 18—Worcester, 3 Firsts and Championship.

August 21—Sandy, 5 Firsts.

September—Crystal Palace, (Kennel Club Show). First and Championship.

Mrs. Nichols has been wonderfully successful with her Sealyhams. It was only in 1925 that Ch. "How's This?" made his debut and at Crufts went through all his classes, including the winning of the Challenge Certificate.

NEWS FROM OLD QUEBEC.

The Ladies again showed their organizing powers and initiative in staging this event to such a successful issue; I would like to thank the Committee in charge for honoring me with an invitation and assure them that my regret increases each time I think of it.

A real feature will be the Field Dog Trials to be staged by the Bird Dog Association of the Province of Quebec. This event, the first of its kind in this Province, will be held on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 12th and 13th at St. Hilaire, near Montreal with Headquarters at Cloutiers Hotel.

Assemble shortly after lunch and a Bench Show at 4 p.m.

Association Dinner at 7 p.m., at which the drawing for the trials will be made.

First Brace laid down Sunday be had on application to Mr. F. H. a.m. at 8.30. Full information can Hathaway or to Mr. Jno. S. Hall, Sec.-Treasurer, 625 Transportation Bldg., Montreal.

The Toy Dog Club of Montreal staged one of their popular monthly shows at the Gordon Hall, on Saturday, September 24th. Bulldogs and Fox Terriers (wire) were the outstanding breeds for numbers, and Mr. Jack Sheehan gave a good account of himself in the judging role.

St. Andrew's Agricultural Show at Selkirk, Man.

Well, folks, how many of you have heard of Selkirk? otherwise known as the Fish Town. It is situated about twenty-five miles north of Winnipeg, and on Saturday, Sept. 24th, the fanciers there held their first dog show under the auspices of the Agricultural Society and under the rules of the Canadian Kennel Club. At this show the dog game of Manitoba unearthed a heretofore unheard of enthusiast, who is none other than the Rev. Alex. T. Macintosh. It has been said by some that he is the "Sporting Parson", but after enquiring about this gentleman's sportiness, we were told that he once was known as "The Cowboy Parson", so possibly this is where he got his love for animals. However, Mr. Macintosh put on a real dog show, with the aid of a few of his Winnipeg friends, that was a credit to any town. There were 139 dogs entered and about 120 actually benched. Winnipeg dogs went down in great numbers, and we think every "purp" in Selkirk was looking his best. The Canadian Husky was the feature dog of this show, and some mighty fine specimens were exhibited; they were dogs that any fancier could not help but admire. We are sure that the owner of the best Husky in the show—Mr. Epstein from Selkirk—does not know how valuable his dog really is. The Selkirk folks were very wise in their choice of judge, who was George Kynoch, Winnipeg, who is perhaps better known than any other dog fancier in Canada. George did his job well and to the satisfaction of every one attending, in fact, not one complaint was heard afterwards regarding the way he made his awards. He judged the dogs fearlessly, irrespective as to who the owner was, and there is no doubt but what the best dog won out. The weather happened to be one of those miserable Fall days with which this Western country is blessed, and of course, this did not add to the comfort of the patrons and their dogs, but nevertheless, it was a spectacular affair for their first dog show, and it is to be hoped that they will make it an annual event. Several dogs are reported to have obtained the necessary "one point" in order to complete their championships. Amongst the fanciers from Winnipeg, we noticed George Duncan, "Jimmy" Woodend, "Mort." Alldritt, Doc. Little, Fred. Dunstan, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, "Johnny Stokes, his collies" and his wife, Mrs. Stokes, Fred Gates and his family of whippets, Mr. Gyles from Charleswood, Mr. and Mrs.

Dunsire from Brandon, and a host of others which the writer cannot remember at this writing.

Selkirk has been responsible for the raising of some very well known athletes, chief amongst which we suppose would be the great defense hockey player, Joe Simpson, and several others, but we are now convinced that the dog fanciers have seen a real live dog show and some real live dogs, that in a few years there will be quite a few canine champions raised in this wonderful little town.

Since writing the foregoing, I have heard that the Rev. A. T. Macintosh had as his first congregation the fisher-crofter folks of Lybster at Caithness-shire, Scotland, and it is on record "that a finer people no minister ever had." He used to have a hankering to go out to sea with the boats, but remembering the fate of Jonah, it was not every boat that held a welcome for the parson because of the superstitions of some boat owners or crews. One boat, the WK.66, owned by the Munro boys, always had the "welcome" sign out for the "meen-ister" who, as soon as he got out to sea, put the dignity of the cloth gently aside and became plain "Mac" to the owners and crew. Then all became pals, and no doubt the WK.66 had many a laugh to itself as the "parson fisherman" let the "big fish" slip through his fingers.

Just to show that Mr. Macintosh is quite an interested dog lover, we draw attention to the fact that his German Shepherd Dog, Brenda v. Weitohof, by Int. Ch. Iso von Doernerhof ex-Ch. Roxawna of Kalso, has appeared at shows in Toronto (twice), London, Saskatoon, Winnipeg (twice), Moose Jaw, Regina, Prince Albert, and for her share of the spoils she has to her credit six winners ribbons and three reserve winners, and now stands on the threshold of the hall of fame, lacking only two points of her championship.

Canada's Foremost Show Stock Producers

RATHER than leave an air of vagueness concerning the above statement, we will endeavor to present for you a partial list of wins, recorded by both the American and Canadian Kennel Club Show Records, attributed to progeny sired by these two famous champions. The following results are amply substantiated by Gazette, along with Kennel and Bench reports, and are, we consider, without parallel in the annals of siring qualities:

Canada's Most Famous Champion

Weight
16½ Lbs.

STUD FEE $15.00

OUR LATEST CHAMPION
BUFFALO'S TINY KING

Weight
13½ Lbs.

STUD FEE $10.00

AT THE BOSTON TERRIER CLUB OF TORONTO'S SPECIALTY SHOW—1st Novice Under 15 lbs.; 2nd Male Puppy; 2nd Juvenile Male.

THE CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION, 1926—2nd Male Puppy; 1st Novice Male Under 15 lbs. 1927—2nd Male Puppy; 2nd Canadian-Bred Dog; 1st Novice; 1st Limit; 1st Open Dogs Under 15 lbs.; 1st Puppy Female; 1st Canadian-Bred Female; 1st Novice Under 15 lbs.; 1st Limit, and 2nd Open Females Under 15 lbs.; 2nd Novice; 2nd Limit; 2nd Open Females, 15-20 lbs.; Best Brace and three in first four in Puppy Females sired by our dogs at this show. MONTREAL KENNEL CLUB—1st Open, and Winners Bitch. COLUMBUS KENNEL CLUB—2nd American-Bred; 2nd Open Male Under 15 lbs. OHIO STATE FAIR—2nd Open Male Under 15 lbs., and Reserve Winners Dog. REGINA, SASK.—1st Open Female Under 15 lbs., and Winners Bitch. SHERBROOKE, QUE.—1st Open Female Under 15 lbs., and Winners Bitch.

WE are firmly of the opinion that no such array of achievements has ever been approached or surpassed by any two sires alive, and the foregoing noteworthy successes attributed to these two famous Highball Studs should justify their consideration beyond any shadow of doubt, that they are the one and only exponents of show stock reproduction. We might also point out for fanciers favoring the small type of Boston that the above, with but a single exception, are all under 15 lbs. For your own benefit alone, use either one of these sires and assure yourself success by Breeding and Winning.

Southern Alberta Kennel Club Show

We regret our having been obliged to keep this show report out of our October issue owing to an unprecedented demand on our available space. In all, seven pages had to be taken out at the last moment. It was a fresh start for the Lethbridge fanciers and right royally did they come back to the business of dog showing. Mr. V. Williams, the Secretary, had enthusiasm sufficient for two show managers and had the support of his president, Mr. E. W. Bavin. The judge was the well-known Mr. "Bobbie" Thompson, of Calgary, Alta., who placed the 117 dogs benched in their line according to their quality and to the satisfaction of the exhibitors.

Following are the awards:

POMERANIANS.

TOYS AT LIVERPOOL CHAMPIONSHIP SHOW

(Special report to Kennel and Bench by the Judge, Mrs. Lillian C. Raymond-Mallock).

A splendid entry of 'Pekes greeted me at Liverpool. I had the pleasure of handling many really beautiful specimens and several good dogs had to go cardless.

On the whole, I thought the Northern dogs were much on the larger side than the average show dog of the South, and their head properties more exaggerated; their noses were absolutely squashed in and the large negroid nostril which gives the Kylin expression so characteristic of the breed was quite absent.

I wish to thank my six ring stewards for their kind assistance and the prompt way the dogs made their appearance in the ring.

Puppy Dogs—This was a strong class, teeming with quality. Bubbles de Gratton landed ahead; he has wonderful bone and substance, low to ground and very well proportioned, possessing a profuse coat of the correct texture. There is no saying how high he will go when he has gained finish. 2nd: Rajah of Hesketh, a black and tan with the shortest of faces, plenty of coat but rather too soft, firm jaw and good bone. 3rd: Sankow Gargole, a red with good head and unbroken wrinkle, a powerful dog with a huge flat skull and face; good coat but a shade long in back and on the large side. Reserve: Cumbala Chu-Chi-Tu, better size; a glorious red color, good bone and substance, generally lost to those above in head properties.

Maiden Dogs—1st: Puck of Northrepps, a promising parti-color; has every essential that goes to make a Pekingese; will go farther later on. 2nd: Humming Bee of Alderbourne. A charming little miniature, pretty face and figure; excellent ring manners. 3rd: Ah-Wong of Chaseley. A red brindle with a splendid coat; loses only in legs. Reserve: Pekoe of Lewisham. Well coated fawn, lost with a small margin in face to winners.

Novice Dogs—1st: Portlet-Chin-Poo. A big coated flashy dog with a wonderfully flat face, showed for all he was worth. 2nd: Foo-Foo of Brookbridge. A brilliant red with black mask; nice size and very neat; not in her best bib and tucker to-day, but a lively mover. 3rd: Puck of Northrepps. Reserve: Sheik of Huntingdon. A handsome red brindle, very short face, good wrinkle and cobby body; shown in wonderful condition.

Tyro Dogs—A very strong class indeed, with fifteen entries. 1st: Bubbles de Gratton. 2nd: Marco of Shantung. A black and tan; marvelous head and in full fettle, but lost in body. 3rd: Man-Dah of Chinatown, a red brindle; good head properties and plenty of coat, but rather long in back; had to pay the penalty of being very ring shy. Reserve: Portlet-Chin-Poo.

Junior Dogs—1st: Yu-Chuan of Alderbourne. A very beautiful little dog, with lustrous round eyes, a quite lovely head without the absolutely bashed-in nose that I noticed in the former winners. His face is well-cushioned up under the eyes; he scores in coat, carriage and general make-up. His size is perfect and he is not exaggerated in any point (a rare thing nowadays), but scores in all. 2nd: Headmaster of Shantung. A dark grey brindle, different to winner, but quite a masterpiece; wonderful head with nose embedded in his forehead, and the great unbroken wrinkle which I admire so much in this breed; good coat, legs and action, lost to winner in eye and size; he also had a small nostril which spoils his expression. 3rd: Fu-Chow Pilate, a pleasing dog, with sterling qualities and very lovely, brilliant red coloring. He is thoroughly sound. Reserve: Rajah of Hesketh.

Graduate Dogs—1st: Bon-Dah of Kingsmere, a fawn brindle, lovely head and eyes, set on well-balanced body, showed to perfection. 2nd: Bubbles de Gratton. 3rd: Sankow Gargole. Reserve: Li-T'ning of Thorpe; golden fawn, needs cushion under the eyes, good type, beaten through want of coat.

Special Limit Dogs—Yu-Chuan of Alderbourne, Headmaster of Shantung and Fu-Chow Pilate, passed the winning post 1, 2, 3. Reserve Bon-Dah of Kingsmere. A splendid class—all beautiful specimens.

Limit Dogs—1st: Sandboy of Sherhill, a "peke" in every sense of the word; dense jacket, lovely eyes and correct expression; well-balanced body, good mover, simply teeming with quality. Gave him later, his third challenge certificate, which he well deserved. 2nd: Yu-Chuan of Alderbourne. 3rd: Headmaster of Shantung. Reserve: Fu-Chow Pilate.

Open Dogs—1st and 2nd: repeat. 3rd: Ch. Monarque of Ashcroft, a well-known winner, but he was not himself and was inclined to be listless in the ring—possibly bored with his former victories. Reserve: Headmaster of Shantung.

Puppy Bitches—1st: Suki of Law-rock—a puppy of outstanding merit; good head, legs and body. Was put down to the minute. 2nd: Lilac of Hesketh, a flame red with dense coat, superb head and plenty of substance, not level in back and short of fringes. She wants more confidence to better display her virtues. 3rd: Monica of Ashcroft, very small and neat, with great dark eyes and flat face. Reserve: Mo-San-Dah of Meols; charming red brindle, short, very wide face and splendid bone. Loses in texture of coat to the winners.

Graduate Bitches—1st: Dee Dee of Summerdown; good face with massive skull, lion-like body, decided waist, any amount of bone but bad tail carriage. 2nd: Fow-Ena of Holmefield; typical fawn, low brow, very dark eyes, good wrinkle and splendid muzzle, not enough bone or substance. 3rd: Hsia of Thorpe. Reserve: Pride of Shantung; black and white parti-color, very good shape and legs, short face, skull should be flatter, nice length of coat.

Special Limit Bitches—1st: Midget of Holmefield, thoroughly well proportioned throughout; short back, good chest, plenty of coat, very lovely eyes and face. 2nd: Ballawoddan Shangetta, a sturdy little specimen, very sound, good legs and with the typical Peke expression. 3rd: Trinket of Ashcroft; apricot, small, neat and dainty; smart action. Reserve: Suzee-Chee-Lo of Glendon; a typical bitch, scoring in head, ears, coat and general make-up.

Maiden Bitches—1st and 2nd: a repeat of puppy bitches. 3rd: Fun-Yeng Shangella; a very good face, strong chin and a great unbroken wrinkle; might be flatter in skull; a nice short back, but by no means in good coat, though she travelled well. Reserve: Farina of Huntingdon.

Novice Bitches—1st: Suki of Lawrock. 2nd: Dahrina of Chinatown; a fawn brindle, good head, but a trifle long in body, typical expression, compact little dog and a good type all through. 3rd: Lilac of Hesketh. Reserve: Fun-Yen Shangella.

Tyro Bitches—1st, 2nd and 3rd: repeat of Novice. Reserve: Verity Mini-Belle, a very pretty little dog with plenty of coat and nice plume; falls a little in face and lacks bone and substance.

Junior Bitches—1st: Hsia of Thorpe; fawn; Al legs, bone, head and ribs; plenty of coat of correct texture and a quantity of undercoat. Needs to be more cushioned up underneath the eyes. 2nd: Chispa of

GRAND CHAMPION XERES DE LA CHASSE ROYALE

A wonderfully constructed German Shepherd dog, possessing an exceptionally smooth, outreaching gait, and a very strong back. XERES is, at stud at the Von Edelweiss Shepherd Farms, Islington, Ont.

FEE

Northrepps; a lovely red, quite good all round, but the winner held her safe; she needs more coat. 3rd: Monica of Ashcroft. Reserve: Mo-San-Dah of Meols.

Limit Bitches—1st: Quenie of Holmeffeld. This beautiful bitch retains her form and must be in front in any company for some time to come. There was a good margin between her and 2nd, Fun-Yeng-Shang-Ena, who was dead out of coat, but her head properties are lovely and quite unbeatable. 3rd: Petal of Shirhill, the well-known red brindle; flat face, good front and well ribbed-up body in good condition. It is a pleasure to judge a dog who showed as this one did. Reserve: Ballavodan Shangetta.

Open Bitches—Ch. T'sautee of Chinatown; a mighty good one, put down in perfect bloom, barring her eyes, which are slightly marked; she is hard to fault. She scored so heavily in all other points that I awarded her the prize and later the challenge certificate. I feel very strongly upon the subject of marked eyes, which unfortunately is a common occurrence with Pekingeses. One should handicap for any blemish, but I consider that if a dog is sufficiently superior in type, deportment and condition, to give the points allowed for eyes, he should win, provided the eyes are not sufficiently blemished to spoil the "tout ensemble." 2nd: Fun-Yeng-Shang-Ena. 3rd: Petal of Shirhill. Reserve: Midget of Holmeffeld.

Fawn or Grey Brindle (12 entries)—1st: T'Sautee of Chinatown. 2nd: Yu-Chuan of Alderbourne. 3rd: Headmaster of Shantung. Reserve: Bon-Dah of Kingsmere.

Restricted Open (under 7 lbs.)—1st: Li Lil-Shing, a very smart little one with flat face, neat figure and lovely plume. 2nd: Darro, well-known, but not quite ready to-day. 3rd: Portlet Nannette, very smart and taking; a most pleasant dog in the ring. Reserve: Shantung Dinkie of Scarstuick; flat skull, huge round eyes; in good coat and smart action.

Challenge Certificates—Dogs: Sand-boy of Sherhill. Reserve: Yu-Chuan of Alderbourne.

Bitches—Ch. T'sautee of Chinatown. Reserve: Queenie of Holmeffeld.

KING CHARLES SPANIELS.

I also had the pleasure of judging my favorite breed, the King Charles Spaniel, and found a really lovely lot of these delightful little dogs before me. In the puppy class there was no denying Bonny Prince of Otter. He is a small and shapely Blenheim with well-broken markings, big skull and flat face; a large white patch on lip rather spoils his expression. Otherwise very good. 2nd: Goblin Chickee, a diminutive flat-faced ruby with excellent skull but very short of coat on the day. Should go far later on. 3rd: The Chimps Princess Charming, lost in shortness of face to those placed above her, but she has a very pretty figure, high skull and lovely coat. Reserve: Hattersly Jock, the best puppy in the class, who unfortunately went dead lame in the ring, and so I could not place him.

Novice—1st: Bonny Prince of Otter. 2nd: Goblin Chickee. 3rd: Valantyne Jack, lost in face and body properties to winners. Reserve: Hattersly Jock, V.H.C. Michenden Fairey.

Junior—1st: Sir Galahad—a big-headed, short-faced tri-color, put down in very good condition; rather heavily marked. 2nd: Eccles Hall Jovial Monarch, Blenheim, with high, full skull, clear markings and well placed ears. 3rd: Bonny Prince of Otter. Reserve: Fairy Elf, a smart little Blenheim, scoring in shape and head properties, put down in good condition. V. H. C., the Chimes Princess Charming, Goblin Chickee and Valentine Jock.

Graduate—Shupert of the Lyrics, a very handsome tri-color, with great length of ears, good skull, short face, moved and showed well. 2nd: Sunboy Raincliff, lost to winner in coat and condition. 3rd: Eccles Hall Jovial Monarch.

Open Dog—1st: Goblin Gobbly, a handsome typical black and tan, put down in superb coat. He is much too big. Otherwise very good all round. 2nd: Sir Gallahad. 3rd: Shubert of the Lyrics. Reserve: Sunboy of Raincliff, V. H. C., Eccleshall, Jovial Monarch and Fairy Piper.

Open Bitches—1st: Fairy Elf. 2nd: Goblin Chickee. 3rd: The Chimes Princess Charming.

Blenheim or Tri-Color Graduate—1st: Sir Galahad. 2nd: Winnalot, a very short-faced, lightly-marked Blenheim, put down to the minute. 3rd: Shubert of the Lyrics. Reserve: Sunboy of Raincliff, V. H. C., Eccleshall, Jovial Monarch, Bonny Prince of Otter.

Limit—1st: Winnalot. 2nd: Shubert of the Lyrics. 3rd: Sunboy of Raincliff. Reserve: Eccleshall Jovial Monarch.

"K. & B." SELLS THE SPANIELS.

Kennel and Bench is advised that through the display advertisement which appeared on page 51 of our October issue, having caught the eye of Mr. Harold Richardson—who has a camp and shooting preserves in the Laurentian Mountains—it did not take him long to make up his mind about the purchase of the noted Irish Water Spaniel, Champion Spud Murphy, who is looked upon as the finest specimen of his breed anywhere. Joining this crack Spaniel is his kennel mate, Fussy McGussie, who is on the championship threshold herself, and her splendid litter of five puppies will accompany her to Mr. Richardson's mountain bungalow.

Ch. Spud Murphy will be on hand to try his skill when the duck shooting is on this fall. We know that the seller, Mr. Allan (Lorne) Chisholm, was in love with his Irish Water Spaniels and was loath to sell this fine brace of sporting spaniels, but as we hinted last month, his supreme ambition lies where the very best bulldogs are.

The puppies sold with the two champions are part of a litter of sixteen. Mr. Chisholm, always active in the interests of the smaller animals, and actuated by humane impulses, lessened the little mother's responsibilities quite considerably by dispatching several of the litter to the happy hunting grounds of dogdom.

"In connection with the issuing of export pedigree certificates under the new arrangement with the Bureau of Animal Industry in Washington, it is desirable that applicants for these certificates place on the application for transfer of ownership the street address, post office box, or rural route of the United States purchaser. The Canadian seller should also impress on the United States purchaser the necessity of having the 'Affidavit of Identity' and 'Application for Certificate of Pure Breeding' completely filled in before sending them to Washington, otherwise considerable delay is occasioned in getting release of the bond which must be furnished for animals when entering the United States."

Information Regarding the Rabies Situation

(From the Report of the Veterinary Director General George Hilton, V.S.)

This disease has not any time been prevalent in Canada and for long periods no cases have occurred. Early in 1926, however, a considerable outbreak occurred in Quebec and Ontario. A synopsis of the occurrence of rabies in Canada is as follows:

An outbreak was reported in March, 1905, at North Portal, Sask., which was believed to have been introduced from North Dakota. The disease was, however, not confirmed. The suspected dog along with a number of strays were destroyed and all others in the vicinity muzzled. No further cases occurred until July, 1905, when an outbreak of disease supposed to be rabies occurred at Oxbow, Sask. One dog was killed by an inspector and eleven were destroyed by their owners. Several reports of suspected cases were later received and these cases were quarantined, but the disease could not be confirmed.

In June, 1905, in London, Ont., a small dog reported to be rabid bit a child. As both were immediately removed to New York the department was deprived of the opportunity of verifying the diagnosis. Two veterinary inspectors were instructed to co-operate with the city authorities and local Board of Health, and as a precautionary measure a large number of dogs were quarantined, including several which had bitten human beings. No actual case of rabies was found, which was remarkable, as the first dog mentioned was pronounced at the Pasteur Institute, New York, to be affected with that disease.

No other suspected cases appeared in the Dominion until 1907 when cases were diagnosed in the Niagara peninsula which were directly traceable to dogs from the United States. A few outbreaks also occurred in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, due to infection brought in by the dogs of American settlers.

The outbreaks in the Prairie Provinces were quickly eradicated by the enforcement of muzzling orders covering large areas.

In Ontario, however, infection extended over the western peninsula; cattle, sheep and horses, in addition to dogs, developed the disease and many people were bitten.

Much trouble was experienced in controlling the disease and it was necessary to adopt stringent measures over a large territory. An order was passed requiring all dogs to be muzzled or kept under lock and key and the movement of dogs from the infected area was entirely prohibited.

This outbreak proved to be the most serious and extensive ever experienced in Canada, but with strict enforcement of the muzzling orders and quarantining of premises on which the disease was confirmed, infection did not extend beyond this area except in two cases.

A limited outbreak in the Red Deer district in Alberta was traced to a dog shipped from the infected area in Ontario before the prohibitory order was effective, and another small outbreak in the Minnedosa district in Manitoba was also traced to a dog introduced from the western peninsula of Ontario.

The Minnedosa case is of interest on account of the long period the disease remained latent, as the infection must have taken place prior to the dog's removal from the infected district in Ontario. While the exact period could not be ascertained it must have been approximately twelve months.

Rabies continued in Ontario from 1907 to 1914, with the maximum number of outbreaks in 1910.

In 1913 one suspected outbreak occurred in the Medicine Hat district in Alberta and one in Victoria, B.C., but in neither case was the disease confirmed. In 1914 another outbreak occurred in Victoria, B.C., and this time was confirmed but was quickly controlled and eradicated.

Several premises were quarantined at Vancouver and Nanaimo because exposed dogs had been traced to these districts. Some trouble was experienced in eradicating the diseases in these districts although the number of suspected cases was limited. During 1915 a number of quarantines were maintained for long periods. At the end of the year all restrictions were removed.

During 1916 to 1920 careful attention was given to the infected area in Ontario and a few cases were found in 1916 and 1917, but after 1917 no case of rabies was confirmed.

No rabies was reported in any other part of Canada during that five-year period and the Dominion was entirely free from the disease from 1917 to the fall of 1925.

In January, 1926, rabies was re-Quebec. Investigation showed that two or three stray hounds were seen running at large in this district after the close of the hunting season in November, 1925. The peculiar actions of these hounds attracted attention and they were known to have bitten several dogs.

As rabies was unknown in the district and had not been detected in Canada for several years it was not suspected and not reported. A little later a number of cattle and sheep developed nervous symptoms. At this period no stabled animals had exhibited similar symptoms. Early in January, 1926, the heads of several sheep from the Low district were forwarded to the Biological Laboratory. Microscopical examination of the brain showed the characteristic "Negri bodies" and rabbit inoculations confirmed the disease.

The disease spread from Low to Hull, P.Q., and then to Ottawa and the Gatineau and Ottawa valleys in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Orders requiring muzzling and detention of all dogs were eventually put in force. Portions of the counties of Pontiac and Hull, and all the county of Papineau and the island of Montreal in Quebec, and the counties of Carleton, Russell, Grenville, Dundas, Lanark, and Leeds, in Ontario.

In July, 1926, the disease was confirmed in the county of Renfrew, Ont., and a ministerial order was signed on July 2 requiring the detention or muzzling of dogs in the townships of Admaston, Horton, Blithfield, Bagot and McNab in that county.

Much opposition was encountered in the island of Montreal and the ministerial order issued on March 1, 1926, is still in force. Although progress was delayed there is now a noticeable improvement in the co-operation offered by the municipal authorities on the island. The provincial Department of Health has also given great assistance.

With the co-operation of municipal bodies in the quarantined area it was possible to rescind the muzzling orders covering the above-mentioned territories, with the exception of the island of Montreal. On October 7, 1926, the following ministerial orders were revoked and cancelled. The ministerial order of February 4, 1926, covering (a) the townships of Alleyn, Cawood, Aldfield and Onslow, in the county of Pontiac; (b) all that portion of the county of Hull lying south of the townships of Wright, Wakefield and Blake; (c) the townships of Bigelow, Bowman, Portland and Templeton, in the county of Papineau in Quebec, and the counties of Carleton, Russell, Grenville and Dundas in Ontario; the ministerial order of February 19, 1926, covering all the county of Papineau, P.Q.; the ministerial order of February 26, 1926, covering the counties of Lanark and Leeds; and the order of July 2, 1926, covering the townships of Admaston, Horton, Blythfield, Bagot and McNab, in the county of Renfrew.

Lin-Pao is a dog of outstanding quality—a clear orange in color, finished with black mask and heavy ear fringes. He possesses a broad, flat face with unbroken wrinkles, under large, expressive dark eyes; is well boned and low-to-ground. Has abundant coat and beautiful plume of the correct texture. He, together with his kennel mate, has taken Best Pekingese ten times in succession, and five times Best Toy under eight different judges between March and September of this year.

In order to clear up the situation in Montreal inspectors were detailed on February 28 to collect and destroy all unmuzzled dogs in Montreal, and by March 31, 1927, 467 dogs were destroyed in the city of Montreal and 81 in other municipalities on the island.

Individual quarantines were placed to control suspected cases both inside and outside of quarantined areas. Three premises were quarantined in Prince Edward Island. Two hundred and twenty-one quarantines were placed in sixteen counties in the province of Quebec, and ninety premises were quarantined in eight counties in Ontario. One quarantine was placed in Saskatchewan and one in British Columbia as a result of dogs dying with nervous symptoms but there is little reason in either case to suppose that rabies existed.

BOSTON TERRIER CLUB OF TORONTO.

The Boston Terrier Club of Toronto held their annual meeting in the York Parlors of the Prince George Hotel, Toronto, on August 18th, when most encouraging reports were submitted by the several committee chairmen and accepted by the general members enthusiastically. Particularly favorable was the financial statement which showed the bank balance ahead of this time a year ago.

The club's annual picnic was attended by a hundred Boston Terrier fanciers and friends of the breed at the beautiful High Park Grounds, and the close of the day brought many expressions of appreciation for the work of the picnic committee. The fat man's race was an easy thing for the President, Mr. H. M. Jackson—until he fell. Regarding what happened afterwards we have no information that we are permitted to make public at this time. The ball game was a win by the close margin of 3 to 2 for Firman's well marked Pups, over Jackson's Rarmblers.

Officers for 1927-28 are as follows: President, Mr. H. M. Jackson; First Vice-President, Mr. A. Craddock; Second Vice-President, Mr. C. B. Firman; Secretary, Mrs. C. B. Firman; Treasurer, Mr. R. H. Sim; Executive Committee, Messrs. J. Fraser, T. Brown, G. Flood, T. Pezzack, W. Bannister.

Dates have been secured for the Annual Specialty Show which will be held on Monday, November 7th, 1927. No doubt it will be held in the ballroom of the Prince George Hotel, Toronto.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR. INTERMOUNTAIN KENNEL CLUB

Royal Princes in Role of Dog Judges.
Editor, Kennel and Bench:

Possibly many of your readers do not know who the photograph of the good man, good dog and good horse referred to August issue of the Kennel and Bench for 1925.

The good man is John Giddie, chief game warden of Yoho and Glacier Park. He served in the Great War and has a framed certificate showing his years of service. He is well acquainted with all trails and their dangers as is the good dog, Yamby, an Airedale and wonderful watchdog. It has become such a habit of Yamby's to follow the pack-ponies that any trip without him is incomplete.

The good horse is Lallie, who last year had the misfortune to cut his leg in some barbed-wire, much to Mr. and Mrs. Giddie's regret. Fortunately, he has now almost fully recovered.

Missing from this interesting picture is Mrs. Giddie and her dog, Cosack Valdra. He is but a year old, of a timid nature, but a keen pupil of Yamby's.

As their Royal Highnesses the Prince of Wales and Prince George passed through Field, B.C., recently, Val was taken to see them. He was a source of interest to all spectators and the Prince of Wales was overheard to remark that he had a beautiful head, he thought, but few brains, at which Prince George replied: "He has brains enough." And this is perfectly true, as he is a nephew of that famous dog, "Don Juan," who earned a great reputation by saving his master and mistress from what might have been a serious fire.

A COSSACK ADMIRER.

A SUCCESS.

The Third Annual Show of the Intermountain Kennel Club, held October 6, 7 and 8, was the largest and most successful show ever held in Salt Lake City. Over two hundred dogs were entered.

The weather, which had been most disagreeable the week preceding the show, cleared and the sun shone out gloriously, which was very much appreciated by everyone, as the judging ring is out-of-doors, all judging taking place in the daytime.

John W. Burton, of Chicago, was the judge, and his work gave universal satisfaction.

The variety class awards were as follows: Sporting: Springer Spaniel, Triple Int. Ch. Boghurst Rover, owned by Geo. H. Higgs of Los Angeles. Working: Shepherd, Lady Lou, owned by Dr. Albert J. Alexander of Salt Lake. Terriers: Mairn Terrier, Meadowbrook Big Boy, owned by Herbert S. Auerbach of Salt Lake City. Toy: Pomeranian, Fair Red Wing, owned by Miss Leona Jamieson of Salt Lake City, Utah. Non-Sporting: Boston Terrier, Lanto's Peter Pan, owned by Kingway Kennels of Denver, Colorado.

This brought five of the best dogs that ever graced a judge's ring in Salt Lake City together for best in show, which was finally awarded to Lanto's Peter Pan, the Boston Terrier.

Mrs. R. T. Nugent's trophy cup for best dog in show shown by a resident of Utah, was won by Fairfax Red Wing. This makes the second year that the trophy cup offered for best in Utah has gone to the Jamiesons' Joss House Kennels.

At this show there were four dogs who completed the number of points required to affix the word "Champion" to their names. They were: Tut-ti of Ranneymeade, Pekingese; Fairfax Red Wing, Pomeranian; Nugent's Pert, Smooth Fox Terrier and Nugent's Tag-a-Long, Cocker Spaniel. —Observer.

WHERE IT BELONGS.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Governors of the Southampton Kennel Club, L.I., N.Y., held at the residence of the president, Harry P. Robbins, Southampton, on Saturday, September 10th, 1927. It came about in this way:

The needs of the Distemper Fund and the great work which was being done to prevent and eradicate the malady which is so serious a problem to owners of dogs having been brought to the attention of the meeting, it was resolved that the Southampton Kennel Club contribute from its surplus funds the sum of Two Hundred Dollars ($200) to the Distemper Fund.

Here, indeed, is a splendid example for the various Kennel Clubs and Field Trial Associations throughout America to follow. In no way can the profits or some of them, from bench shows and other sporting kennel institutions, be better employed than for the purposes of establishing sufficient funds to carry on the great searches now being made into the causes of the disease of distemper which is the bugbear of all breeders of dogs.

It is declared by eminent scientists that a preventive might soon be found to offset the ravages of a plague that has not as yet been combated among dogs and certain other animals.

The profits from bench shows, etc., have hitherto been distributed among charities which have had little or nothing to do with the advancement of the kennel interests of the year in and year out supporters of exhibitions for pure-bred and worthy dogs of all varieties. Now, thanks to the Southampton Kennel Club, a substantial sum of money has been placed where it can do the most good, and for dog owners throughout the world. Donations such as this gift of the Southampton Kennel Club go where they belong; for surely the first claim on the surplus money of kennel clubs and associations must be for the benefit of dogs and their owners.

We are officially informed that the researches now being made have every promise of being successful, and the satisfactory results obtained from experiments which have been carried on by the aid of public subscriptions, will be placed at the free disposal of the people.

It cannot be too earnestly advocated that all Bench Show and Field Trial Committees follow the example of the Southampton Kennel Club. Subscriptions should be sent to Chas. H. Tyler, Ames Building, Boston, Mass.

CENTRAL ONTARIO BEAGLE HOUND CLUB AND DISTEMPER.

At a recent meeting of the above club, the question of "The Field Distemper Research Committee" was discussed by the members attending, and as the discussion ended, the members "chipped in" and as a result a cheque was mailed to Chas. H. Tyler, Ames Building, Boston, Mass.

Thanks, Central Ontario Beaglers!

We hope the example set by the Central Ontario Beagle Hound fanciers will be noticed by every fancier who is a member of any dog club, and that further appeals will be made successfully. This office will gladly receive and forward to Boston any such subscriptions or donations.

The Canadian Springer Spaniel Trials

By the Judge FREEMAN LLOYD

IN beautiful shooting weather the 6th Annual Field Trials of the Canadian Springer Spaniel Club, were held on October 1, 1927, on the prairie lands 60 miles north-west of Winnipeg, in the St. Ambrose country, a vast expanse of meadow, bluff, and lake-lands. However, for the purpose of prairie-chicken shooting it appeared that these grazing lands were too far away from the stubbles to hold many of the famous North-West Canadian game birds, on which, of course, there is a close season. Thanks to the Department of Agriculture of the Manitoba Government, a limited number of birds was available for the holding of the one day trials of this club.

Only three chickens were shot, and it was noted that this game is extremely scarce in the territory mentioned. No ruffed grouse (partridge) were available, so the Trials were run on bush or snoeshoe rabbits.

A representative company was present. Among the sportsmen noticed were E. Chevrier, (President of the Springer Spaniel Club of Canada.) D. McIlroy, J. H. McIlroy, A. H. Allardyce, George Kynoch, Thos. P. Murray, Sgts. Malcolm, Fallows, Fleming, Durham, Greenlay, and Clark of Lord Strathcona Light Horse; H. R. McLaughlin, E. R. T. Rowand, M. Aldmeritt, W. H. Chadderton, George Cook, A. F. MacKinnon, R. MacFarlane, Pat. Ducharme, L. Ducharme, Dr. H. Gordon, Dr. R. Harding, Mr. Nelson of Council Bluffs, Illinois, Mr. J. W. Menhall of Edgerton, Wisc. (president of the Mid-West Sporting Spaniel Club), Mr. Walters of Omaha, Neb., Mr. G. Dodds of Vancouver, B.C.

The Judges were Freeman Lloyd, New York, and Wm. McCall, Winnipeg.

The Official Guns were P. Ducharme, A. F. MacKinnon and H. R. McLaughlin. The shooting was excellent.

A large company was entertained over the week-end at Mr. E. Chevrier's Shooting Lodge, situated in the immediate vicinity of the famous Lake Francis marshes, one of the greatest wild-fowl feeding and holding grounds in America. Here several of the visitors thoroughly enjoyed themselves on the Monday and Tuesday following the Trials.

The only drawback of this truly sportsmanlike series of Springer Spaniel Trials this year was the shortness of feathered game.

Puppy Stakes.

There were nine entries for this stake, a nice lot of well grown (1926) puppies, in capital condition, and almost without exception they were forward in their work. A balmy morning with a wind in the Sou' East, gave them excellent opportunities for picking up scent. Indeed all of these tests were held under ideal hunting conditions, although game was decidedly scarce. Crocker of Dalquhairn and Ferdie of Avandale, make up the first brace. Crocker was handled by A. H. Allardyce and Ferdie by R. MacFarlane. The cover was grass and poplar bluffs. Crocker had the most enthusiasm and was under the better command. He soon found a rabbit, which, on being shot, he retrieved. Ferdie was not so fast as Mr. Allardyce's dog, which was given the benefit of the heat.

Madrilene of Avandale (Allardyce) and Reliable of Avandale (MacFarlane) ran a good heat. Madrilene soon found a rabbit and was steady to shot. Sent to retrieve she failed to pick it up. Reliable retrieved a second rabbit and well up to hand. He was quite the better dog in this.

Dalshangan Pride, an all black bitch, was now put down against Dalshangan Smiler, a liver and white dog. Both had been imported from Scotland, where they had received the benefit of the Trotter breaking and handling. Worked by MacFarlane, and were fast, possessed good noses, and under fair command. Pride found a rabbit and was steady to shot. She was then sent to retrieve, Smiler remaining down. Pride dropped a second rabbit, to subsequently pick it up in grand style. She is a very fast, smart bitch in cover and was under better command than Smiler.

Maggy of Avandale, met Dalshangan Ghillie, the latter, an imported dog, liver, white and tan in color. Maggy is a good, strong worker, and soon a rabbit was shot to Ghillie, which dropped backwards almost into the dogs' mouth. In fact, the company remarked "He took it on the fly". Maggy now got wild at shot and when sent to retrieve a rabbit, failed to carry it. But Ghillie on being ordered on, immediately wiped the bitch's eye, which quick and satisfactory action, made him a great favorite with the field. The judges immediately gave their decision.

1. Dalshangan Price.
2. Dalshangan Ghillie.
3. Reliable of Avandale.
4. Cracker of Dalquhairn.

Novice Stakes.

Here Dalshangan Pride met Solwyn Sam, a liver and white, both of them in the charge of MacFarlane, and were excellent workers, Pride being the smarter. Both went down to shot, and Sam sent for the rabbit, soon got his game and retrieved with a fairly fast delivery. Subsequently he made a very creditable showing. In the heat between Marker of Avandale and Madrilene of Avandale (Allardyce) Marker hunted well and soon pushed out a rabbit: He was steady. Then both were wild to shot and were immediately ordered up.

Cracker of Dalquhairn and Reliable of Avandale were next. The former soon moved a rabbit, and was steady to shot, which proved a miss. Afterwards Reliable was steady to three shots and he retrieved one rabbit well and up to the hand. Moreover he was a capital worker. The heat closed with Cracker retrieving another rabbit, but Reliable had quite the better of the deal.

In the fourth heat, Maggy of Avandale was better than Dalshangan Smiler, which was a little wild to shot. Then both became steady and Maggy was sent on and retrieved a rabbit in excellent style. Smiler settled down to his work as the competition progressed.

Dandy Boy of Avandale, which proved to be the star of the meeting, was drawn against Dalshangan Ghillie, and ran a very satisfactory trial. Dandy Boy almost immediately found a rabbit, but Ghillie was not steady, and rushing on, retrieved of his own accord. Dandy also beat his ground thoroughly and ever within nice range, an obedient, serviceable Spaniel and evidently a lovely dog to shoot over and of the sort required for filling the game-bag. Dandy was now sent for another rabbit, which he retrieved at the canter. The judges announced their awards.

1. Dandy Boy of Avandale.
2. Dalshangan Pride.
3. Reliable of Avandale.
4. Maggy of Avandale.

Open Stakes.

Solwyn Sam and Brucefield Ginger were put down in a short bush cover of scrub oak and young poplar. Ginger soon showed a superiority in her work, and when a rabbit was shot to her, she retrieved it well to hand. In fact it was the best return, so far as carry and pace, as the company at this meeting had yet seen. Ginger now found a rabbit and dropped to shot. Sam, on being sent on, failed to retrieve the fur, which left Ginger the preferred dog in this heat.

Prince Henry and Reliable were next. Prince was a fast dog. He was too speedy at first, but his handler soon had him under control. At first they were steady to shot. But to another rabbit Reliable was not so dependable. After Prince had retrieved a rabbit both were called up after a short trial.

Grace of Avandale, owned by J. W. Menhall, and handled by Mr. Walters of Omaha, Neb., met Dalshangan Ghillie, worked by MacFarlane. Grace proved to be a fast worker, but inclined at times to get out of hand. On the other hand, Ghillie is a handier spaniel. As the heat progressed, the Wisconsin bitch settled down to work and retrieved a rabbit in capital style. This made her a favorite with the company. Ghillie was steady to the next shot and retrieved his rabbit. However, a few moments after, the Scottish dog was unsteady to a walked-up rabbit.

Jane of Avandale, another of the Menhall string, now met Dalshangan Pride. Two prairie chickens went down and both dogs, when tried in turn, failed to locate the lost birds, one of which was evidently a strong runner. Eventually Jane marked the dead bird, and the retrieve was a moderate one. Pride was now tried on the winged bird, which she failed to find. She was subsequently sent for a dead bird, and this she was disinclined to pick up. Jane remaining the choice in this heat.

Now there came Tiebeau of Avandale, owned by Mr. Menhall, and Dandy Boy of Avandale. The former is a very attractive appearing Springer and won the Silver Cup offered by the club for the best looking dog at the meeting. It was afterwards learned that he was an A.K.C. Champion, although only eighteen months old. Dandy soon found a rabbit and was steady to shot. He was a faster and better worker than the somewhat slow Tiebeau, which slowed down as the heat progressed. He failed to find a shot rabbit, which Dandy soon retrieved, well to hand.

Marker of Avandale, now met Cracker of Dalquhairn. Cracker was steady to shot, the rabbit being missed. Marker found the next one and both were steady to shot. Cracker sent on, retrieved, but Marker now got out of hand. Cracker was sent for another rabbit, which he was not so fast in retrieving. The wards:

1. Dandy Boy of Avandale.
2. Grace of Avandale.
3. Cracker of Dalquhairn.
4. Jane of Avandale.

Brace Stakes.

These were short trials, daylight being on the wane, and time valuable. Brucefield Ginger and Solwyn Sam were the first brace down. Sam almost at once found a rabbit and retrieved it, while Ginger remained down. It was fast but satisfactory work. Madreline of Avandale and Cracker of Dalquhairn were wild to shot and immediately ordered up by the judges. When Dandy Boy of Avandale and Dalshangan Pride ran, the former soon found a rabbit, which Pride for some reason did not care about retrieving. Neither did the other dog.

Furthermore, Grace of Avandale, nor Tiebeau of Avandale had no inclinations to pick up the same rabbit, and when Tiebeau did bring back the fur, he was slow about it.

Both Reliable of Avandale and Prince Henry of Avandale were under good command and immediately went down to shot, on a walked-up rabbit. Reliable was sent on and retrieved in a smart and workmanlike way. Results:

1. Brucefield Ginger and Solwyn Sam.

Team Stakes.

The work of the teams could hardly be considered satisfactory from the shooting dog point of view. The game was scarcer than ever, and the sun quickly going down. For these reasons it was suggested by the owners of the two teams, that a somewhat unusual competition be inaugurated, for the purpose of demonstrating which team was under the better command. But the dogs were not tried for their hunting or their game locating powers, their steadiness to shot and the individual retrieving powers of one of the three dogs when selected to go on and get his game, while the others remained at the down charge. So the dogs were taken for a distance of 150 yards and there dropped by their respective handlers. One dog being called upon to come on, which he did, the others being more or less inclined to follow their leader. On the other hand Grace, Jane and Tiebeau of Avandale, which had been very carefully trained by Walters were steadier under these conditions than were the Winnipeg dogs. Tiebeau was ordered to come on, the others remaining down at their assigned positions. This mode of trying a team of Spaniels can be hardly considered a satisfactory one, and the judges were disinclined to place much merit upon these performances. The cup for the best working Springer owned outside of Manitoba was taken by Mr. Menhall's Grace of Avandale. This completed the Sixth Annual Meeting of the oldest English Springer Spaniel Club in America.

A GREAT BULLDOG DEAD.

Just as we closed Kennel and Bench for October we received the unpleasant information concerning the death of that great Canadian-bred Bulldog, Champion Dauntless Dan, (C.K.C. 36848). A dog that had been splendidly campaigned on both sides of the international boundary by his owner, James Cassina, Toronto. It was quite a coincidence that the day of "Danny's" death, October 2nd, 1927, was exactly to a day, a year from that memorable occasion when the quality Ch. Dauntless Dan "stopped the parade" at Philadelphia, under judge A. F. Kramer, of Chicago. At this show there were over 90 of America's best bulldogs of both sexes benched.

There are but few dogs having their records kept in our files that have done so much consistent winning as the late, bronze fawn, with white markings, son of that wonder producer, Hefty Monarch (Imp.).

Mr. Cassina has taken the death of his "old pal Danny" very much to heart, and those of us who understood the relationship between "Jim" and his Danny realize just how he feels. It was the hope of Danny's owner that the dog would live the longer of the two, foolish no doubt, but nevertheless sincere. The dog got a near Christian burial and later a headstone will mark the dog's last resting place amongst the trees on the Cassina farm.

Never has there been a more pathetic message reach this office than Jim Cassina's intimation of the death of Ch. Dauntless Dan. It is known that handsome cheques running into four figures were repeatedly turned down for "Danny."

That is not all Mr. Cassina's misfortune. A few days ago he buried the winsome fawn colored Beach Park Dominator, a dog well known on the circuit, and a dog that Mr. Cassina recently turned down $1,200 for, declaring at the time, "No, thing doing. I still have a crust for him and he'll stay right here."

Even before the deaths referred too by a few days, Vimy Ridge died, so it is clearly seen why Mr. Cassina has received a jarring jolt at this time.

The Late Ch. Dauntless Dan.

THE LATE E. J. ATKINSON.

In our last issue we mentioned the passing of E. J. Atkinson, a recruit to the ranks of Canadian dogdom, who had but recently arrived in Toronto. At that time our knowledge of the deceased was indeed very limited; however, much information has come to us in the meantime.

Our late friend had been quite active in the canine affairs of England for the last 25 years during which time he owned many high class show and stud dogs. A few of the most notable were Trails Hall Mark, a wire-haired Fox Terrier of the noted Wy-collar strain, and a dog that fared well at championship shows, and one that was recognized as a first rate sire; Cedric Realty, Cedric Warfare were other good wires that won well. Scotties were held high in Mr. Atkinson's esteem and perhaps the most notable specimen of the many Scotties passing through his hands was the outstanding Cedric Countess, the little bitch that was so much favored by the judges, and so much admired by the exhibitors and the general public at the Canadian National Exhibition, and at Hamilton. At these two shows, the little matron went far towards her championship in Canada although only a few weeks in the country. At present she is "mamma" to two male and one female puppies sired by the good English winner, Ormsay Cameronian. Cedric Charm is the wire-haired Fox Terrier bitch that went to Reserve Winners at the Canadian National, a gold medal winner in England and now showing in whelp to Int. Ch. Aman Fox Trot.

Mr. Atkinson was one of the founders of the Preston Sporting Terrier Association, and a valued member of the Preston Canine Society, an all-breed club. He had 32 years active service with the British Government and resided as chief officer at Shrewsbury, England. He received the long service medal from His Majesty King George V, at Preston, Lancs., and it is to be regretted that he was only spared but one short year after his retirement. Canada had long appealed to Mr. Atkinson, and he was extremely happy when his good wife and himself landed on Canadian soil. To make his home here was his cherished intention, but alas, death had planned differently.

A craftsman of Union Lodge A. F. & A. M., No. 310, at Carlisle, since January 14th, 1923, it was fit and proper that he should be given the last rites of the order, and this was arranged for in the regular way by the master and officers of John Ross Robertson Lodge No. 545, at Toronto.

The church service was held at St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Toronto, when the Rev. T. H. Cotton had charge of the funeral ceremonies himself. Pall bearers were S. E. Madgett, Master of John Ross Robertson Lodge, Ald. Walter Howell, Harry Clayton (Silver Birch Kennels), Jack Kennedy (Vivadora Kennels). The writer and a friend of the Atkinson family whose name we overlooked getting. The President of the Canadian Kennel Club would have taken charge of the Masonic part of the services only for the fact that he was actively engaged in the centenary celebration of Toronto University at the time of the funeral.

It is the intention of Mrs. Atkinson to "carry on" and already the kennel name "Cedric" and the Canadian Kennel Club membership have been transferred to her sole ownership. She has the sympathies of all, we feel sure, and we trust that she will long remain with us in Canada.

REJOICING AT CALGARY.

Calgary dog owners are rejoicing that at last, after over four months imprisonment—because of the rabies scare—their dog chums are free once more.

Dogs lovers in the city had been getting very restless owing to repeated rumors that the city intended keeping dogs on the leash all the time, and were preparing a city by-law to that effect.

After waiting some time for some one to move in the matter, Mrs. M. J. Carr, owner of the Farleigh Fox Terrier Kennels, called a meeting of dog owners and dog lovers entirely on her own responsibility, Mr. H. P. Saunders, the well-known lawyer and breeder of Cocker Spaniels, took the chair.

The large hall at the Public Library was crowded and many disappointed dog lovers had to stand outside in the corridors.

Two committees were formed, one under Dr. R. B. Francis, who had already secured a number of names from his district. His committee consisted of H. P. Saunders, S. R. Swepson, and R. H. Parkyu. This committee were to petition Ottawa to release the ban on that portion of the city under quarantine. This was signed by everyone at the meeting, and during the time before sending it away to Ottawa more than a thousand dog lovers signed, and the ban has been removed. The other committee, consisting of Dr. H. V. McCaulay, A. H. Goodall, G. Hill, J. W. Littleton, Mrs. Walter Weller, and Mrs. M. J. Carr, were to wait on the mayor and aldermen. This meeting has just taken place and it made every dog lover's heart throb to see the crowded council chamber.

Everyone listened eagerly to Dr. Macauley, who made a speech long to be remembered. Mrs. Walter Weller, well-known in political circles at Calgary, also spoke. The cheering for both speakers was so prolonged that the mayor had to call for order.

A deputation from the Humane Society was also present, and a letter was read from the president of the Horticultural Society also, begging for the removal of the dog restrictions.

After a lot of discussion in which Alderman Parkyn (Secretary of the Anti-Vivisection Society in Calgary) determinedly stood up for the dogs, the muzzle and leash were declared scrapped, and Calgary dogs were free once more.

Enthusiasm over all things doggy is now at fever heat, and a championship point show is being arranged for and will be held some time in early December.

CANADIAN BOSTONS AT BUFFALO SPECIALTY SHOW.

By V. G. Perry, London.

There was a very splendid entry of Boston Terriers to greet John J. Barrett, of New York, at the annual specialty show of the Boston Terrier Club of Buffalo, at Buffalo, on Oct. 29th and 30th. This Buffalo show is always a popular one with the Canadian Boston Terrier cult and has more claim to being called an international show than any other specialty show that we know of. Toronto, as usual, was well represented, and other Canadian centres sent their fanciers. Though the show was not the largest Buffalo has had, it was certainly one of the best, and had the largest out of town entry of any show held by that club. A distinct compliment, that, to John Barrett, a breeder and exhibitor of the Boston Terrier who has owned many good specimens in his day, and demonstrated quite ably that he knew his dogs. Buffalo has not had a better judge for years and it was the general opinion among the fancy that he did a good clean judging job.

Dogs were a beautiful lot with winners going to the good Syracuse champion, Joe Underwood's Pye's Little Boy Blue, who completed his title. Here is a good dog all over, with full ideal markings, possessing the best of bodies and absolutely beyond criticism in feet and legs. He is a much improved dog in head properties since last year, and was well deserving of his win on the day.

There were three males entered from Canada but only one was benched, Mrs. Steven's Burglar Dee Cee, who accounted for fourth ribbon in a very hot class of exceedingly good puppies. This little dog afterwards beat two nice females from Toronto for the best of the dogs entered from Canada.

Though she is not now owned in Canada, the big plum of the show in bitches was given to the great Canadian-bred female, O'Glos Midgie, owned by Mrs. Hilda Ritter, of New York. This beautiful female defeated one of the fastest crowd of bitches this writer has ever seen brought together. There were at least twenty bitches good enough to go winners at any show and any one of ten at this show could have been placed on top without the owners of the other nine having much room for complaint.

The win of O'Glos Midgie was all the more impressive on that account. Bred by Mr. E. A. Ruinions, Ottawa, sired by Ch. Globe League O'Nations out of Ch. Bonnie Intruder, later purchased by Mr. Ogilvie, of Toronto, a few months before his regrettable and untimely death, and then going to Mr. Mike Samarelli, of Toronto, in whose hands she raised a couple of litters of puppies, this good bitch was snapped up by Mrs. Dean, of Detroit, and in turn sold to Mrs. Ritter. Mrs. Ritter has had instantaneous success with Midgie. She is a well-known exhibitor around New York but this was her first Boston of winners calibre, and four straight shows in succession have brought the winners ribbon to the little Canadian-bred bitch, now within two points of her American championship title.

In puppy bitches, Arthur Craddock, of Toronto, won second with Queen of Jubilee, a beautiful headed bitch, sired by Ch. Highball Just It. In novice, bitches, this same bitch was third, second going to another Canadian-bred, Stott's Baby Doll, bred by A. D. Stott of Dresden, sired by Champion League O'Nations ex Aloha Melody. Baby Doll is owned by H. C. Jeitzel, Detroit. In heavyweight bitches, Mrs. Firman, of Toronto, scored with her good Miss Toronto II, with Mrs. C. E. Singleton, of London, in second place with Lady Lindy. Mrs. Firman's bitch is by Tormentor W., Mrs. Singleton's by Ch. Globe Sweet William. Both bitches had to step down in limit and open to Aman's Dream Girl, one of the best bitches in the show of any weight.

That the bitches were better than the dogs at this show can be judged from the fact that a bitch awarded third in open middleweights was placed over the reserve winners, dog, for best owned in Buffalo. With so many good ones present some of the good ones certainly had to go without a ribbon. They will no doubt have their innings next time.

NO SHOW AT KITCHENER.

We have been advised by Mr. Frank Dale, the enthusiastic president of Kitchener Kennel Club, that owing to the Club being unable to secure suitable accommodation for the purposes of properly benching a dog show, the executive of the club had been reluctantly obliged to declare the show "called off" for the present. Mr. Dale regrets his club's inability to proceed with the show at Kitchener. Considerable cash had been promised and part of it actually collected, which was encouraging to the club's officers and a nice show was easily possible. However, Mr. Dale says: "As soon as possible, Kitchener club will sponsor a real dog show."

Get dogs into condition
so that they stay
in condition

Tonic Globules are invaluable in all cases of "out of condition" and especially where dogs are constantly itching and scratching when the condition is obviously not due to the Mange parasite. In fact, most skin diseases respond quickly to a course of treatment with Tonic Globules, since they are usually due to disturbances of the digestive tract.

Maritime Notes and News

Provincial Contributing Editor ROBERT B. LASKEY, Saint John, N.B.

THE expected Field Trials in New Brunswick did not materialize, rather were postponed, due to a week of deplorable wet weather that made the course and ground impossible for dog, man and trial work. Hope this is only a temporary delay as this is a step in the right direction, meaning, as it will be, a demand for working setters and pointers. A good entry for these trials was reported with a few outside American entries to liven the field. I hope to have a report of their doings in these columns later.

It is several years since a judges report appeared in this journal of a Maritime dog. Here was a chance for the amateur judges to put on paper their opinion and knowledge for the exhibiting readers.

Mr. Walter Reeves' review saves me considerable space, for I know the fancy in general want the judges report. You committee men! . . . When inviting the judge to do your show, insist as a part of his contract, he write up and review your show.

Mr. Reeves asked me to make a few comments on the show at Halifax, but after Mr. Strachans racy comment and the judges report, there is little left but fill in the gaps.

Beagles mustered about nineteen, and a very favorable lot, a bath or dry cleaning would have improved most of them. Thanks to the all-year-round efforts of Messrs. Carnell and Cornwall the breed here holds its own. These two breeders and exhibitors had a close race for best honors. W. A. Cornwall's Shawanoo Buster II had the pull in body over the typical Man O' War of Mr. Carnell's. The former's heavy marked Happyland Marie, winners bitches and best of breed. Large sporting dogs were not so many but the Zwicker, Marlboro Borgois were in nice form and quite fair in coat. They got a good hand, while his new English importation Nona of Shay favorably impressed the judge who made her runner up for Best of Bitches to Ch. Belmoss Countess Best Opposite sex. Mr. Wm. Higgins' well set up liver and white pointer won handily for best of breed, also Paul Longmire's blue betton

CH. DUNALAUNT
Best Dog in Show at Halifax, N.S.

Lord Byng of Vimy, both of these bird dogs won enough points at this show to be listed in the book of champions.

H. J. Placey's springers are familiar faces in Nova Scotia and done well here. Inverness Collyshot, a typical, nice marked Springer winner dog, while the same owners Ch. Belmoss Countess, a most splendid liver and white, was winners bitches, best of breed, and also best bitch in show. A very promising puppy, a blue roan, son of Ch. Inveresk Cocksure, was reserve winners, a credit to its breeder E. S. Townsend Rexal of Tantar-mar, owner.

Bostons, a large, interesting entry had the circuit winners repeating their similar awards in New Brunswick—John Reid's Little Rose, a well marked, neat sized little terrier, best of breed. Generally speaking, terriers were much below par. The most outstanding terrier perhaps was the Irishman, Shoeing Forge Surprise, the best Mic seen in Halifax of recent years. Mr. Lynch's Irish, a Wheaten much off form. Miss Ryan's "Surprise" dog and Mrs. Bowman's Maritime Bejabers, Wheaten puppy bitch, winners also were Saint John entries.

English Bulldogs had a gala day for the Nova's, Mrs. Doherty out on top again. Her good pal Ch. Dunalaunt rejuvenated himself going right up to the dizzy heights and signalled victory for his sporting owner.

Poms had quite a fair entry, winners and reserve winner were all good specimens. Pomonas, of Mrs. D. Belands, won chief honors. The commendable imported Ofleda Goldacre winners dog is a lovely, clear orange that won the Pom special at N.B.K.C. show the week previous at Saint John. Bred by Mrs. Gatehouse, England, who by the way, also won at Brighton champion show her third challenge certificate for her own bred Peter Blackacre, half brother of this orange Goldacre, this on the same day and date as when he was winning in Saint John. Winners in bitches the same owner's delightful bright orange female Facination of Pomona owns a sweet face, eye, neat ear, nice conformation coat and a smart mover, showing well. Awarded best of breed and completed her championship here. Theree generations of Pomonas, the very notable sire the late Int. Ch. Stormlight of Dara, the incomparable sable who passed on only this summer, and Facination's sire, Int. Ch. Stormlight of Dara, Jr., congratulations, Mrs. Beland!

Pekes were a repeat in winners as at Saint Johns, but best of breed went rightly to Mrs. Margeson's noted stud dog, the adorable biscuit Ch. Tung Ling of Cedarcrest. More matured and finished in head, face and body over the glorious red with dark mask and bold carriage of her imported Pagan Prince of Cedarcrest.

While showing smooth fox terriers at this show I missed my youthful competitor who won over me at the spring show and learned from his father than Master Rand, his boy, had died this summer. A sad blow this to the homer, a smart lad at school who also took an interest with his father in the dog shows about town. We won't forget, "Georgi", the touch of the vanished hand.

Since my last copy went to press the "powers that be" decided in haste to have a dog show in Amherst. The secretary put the date down October 1, 2, 3—I know he meant November 1, 2, 3. Mr. Harold Tennant is chairman of the show committee and with Frank Ormund as show secretary I'm sure there will be little work for me to do, being invited to give a hand as superintendent. Mr. Ralph Preston of Saint John is senior partner in the brace of two judges, with Mr. Jack Fry, Jr. of Halifax—both should draw a good entry—not forgetting the good time exhibitors can have in Amherst.

GERMAN SHEPHERD SIEGER SHOW AT CHICAGO.

The decision to bring the 13th Annual Specialty Show of the Shepherd Dog Club of America to Chicago for the 1927-28 Grand Victor and Grand Victrix title has aroused an unusual amount of interest among the Shepherd fancy throughout the nation. Heretofore the show has always been held in the Eastern States with the exception perhaps, when Cleveland was host to the show. The Shepherd interests everywhere have been insisting that the National Show be brought to some other city in order that the entire nation would have an opportunity to have their dogs reviewed and have a chance at the national title. The Eastern Seaboard, it was claimed, was too far distant from the centre of population. And now that the show has been brought home to Chicago, the powers that be in the National Club have answered the call wisely, and have placed the show at the threshold of all concerned. It should be well attended, and it well deserves to be.

The show will be held this year at the 122nd Regiment Armory, which is but a stone's throw from the heart of Chicago's main business district. Besides the great Society Horse Show, this is the first time that the Armory has ever been used for any purpose whatsoever, save that of military. In the immediate neighborhood of the Armory are located the homes of Chicago's most prominent citizenry and Chicago's finest hotels, such as the Drake, the Davis, the Pearson, the Lake Shore, and others. All of Chicago's elite have promised to give of their unstinted support in this worthy cause, the date of which is December 3rd and 4th.

The Cattle Owners' and Breeders' Association are holding their convention in Chicago at that time, namely, the last two days of the International Live Stock Show and the Poultry Show, as well as the great and unusual Turkey Exposition. Many farm organizations are to give publicity to the Shepherd Dog Show, bringing out the point that the Shepherd is a working dog, and urging their members to attend the Specialty Show. The International Live Stock Exposition has also promised their support and are to have banners and pennants, placed in conspicuous places, announcing the time and place of the 13th Annual Specialty Show.

Taking it all in all, this national Shepherd event should prove a most excellent medium for propagating the cause of the Shepherd into the farms

CANADIAN JUDGE FOR PITTSBURG SPECIALTY?

One Canadian Kennel Club Director, V. G. Perry, London, Ont., has been offered—and likely has accepted—the distinction of judging the Boston Terrier Club of Western Pennsylvania Specialty Show at Pittsburgh on Saturday, December 17th. Not only that, but advice to Kennel and Bench office says that "Mr. Perry was the unanimous choice of our club." It really seems to be something of a paradox that specialty clubs in the United States are eager to have Canadian fanciers for their specialty shows, while specialty clubs in Canada almost invariably insist upon having United States judges to officiate at our shows in Canada. In Canada we know who the good "American judges" are, and in the United States the fanciers know who the good "Canadian judges" are, only it is the clubs in the United States who usually unearth our Canadian judging material and use it long before we are aware that such material exists.

EDMONTON DOG FANCIERS' CLUB LOSE VALUED MEMBER.

The dog fanciers of Edmonton are mourning the passing of one of their number in the person of the late Mr. E. P. Hall. Our records show that Mr. Hall was also a member of the Canadian Kennel Club in his own name and had a joint membership with his lifelong friend, Mr. W. F. H. Mason, and a joint interest in the Springer Spaniel, Stylish Jock (Imp.), a nice black and white sired by a son of Ch. Flint of Avondale. We well remember this dog being shown at Edmonton last summer when he won his first championship points.

We regret to learn that heart failure in the course of a hunting trip was the cause of Mr. Hall's death. Albeit there may be a measure of comfort in the knowledge that he died a sportsman whilst in the pursuit of a healthy he-man's sport.

We sympathize with those left to mourn the passing of our good member, Mr. Hall.

COLLIES COMING BACK?

We hear of another collie importation which is at the time of writing on the Atlantic, and when you are reading this, the animal will have arrived in Ottawa, to the order of Duncan. This female is a combination of the Eden and Treffeynon strains and will make a welcome addition to our collies in Canada, and we trust that she will help to give that impetus to the breed that it seems at the present time to require.

That old wizard breeder, Jack Milner, who for a long time filled the eye of the Collie world with his Corona strain of Collies, is at present tenderly caring for a male puppy, sired by Ch. Teddy Brown out of Inverness Intent. The dog has been registered Corona Club Special and the writer thought sufficient of his dam that he placed her at the top of 40 entries at Ottawa last winter. Corona Club Special may mean that "Johnnie" Milner has again actively entered the ranks of Collie breeders, and if he has, it will mean plenty to the breed. He says that the youngster is the best that he has seen since the Corona Kennels—as they were known when Jack had the prefix as his own property—were disbanded at Winnipeg.

FORGERY.

What a diabolical word! Almost makes a person feel queer to look at it in print, dangerous and menacing always, it is taboo generally amongst all self respecting people.

Signing other peoples' names is forgery, and to forge a signature is a criminal offence. It is to be regretted that certain cases have recently been investigated by the Canadian National Live Stock Records Office, where signatures were admittedly forged. Fortunately there was no good reason for the illegal signing, since the proper signatures were at all times obtainable, otherwise the courts of Canada would have been called upon to state the penalties. However, it must be perfectly understood from this hour that ignorance is never a satisfying excuse and repetitions of improper signing of vouchers of registration will not be tolerated.

INTERNATIONAL CHAMPION FLORNELL WALNUT KING BEST AIREDALE AT SPECIALTY SHOW.

At the Airedale Terrier Club of America's Summer Specialty Show, held at the Longwood Cricket Club's spacious grounds near Boston, Mass., under the auspices of the Airedale Terrier Club of New England, the Canadian-owned Airedale, Ch. Flornell Walnut King, was placed winners and best of the winners by Mr. W. E. Baker, who in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Harold, acted in the capacity of judge. Not only did Int. Ch. Flornell Walnut King bring a nice victory to Canada, and to his enthusiastic novice-owner, Mr. Wm. Davey, Toronto, and he either completed or came within an ace of completing his international championship.

Int. Ch. Flornell Walnut King was sired by Moorhead Marquis, a son of Ch. Warland Ditto, and out of Kierwar, a daughter of Ch. Warland Ditto. So he is bred to be a winner. As a producer, he has sired some young stock that is being offered for sale at several hundreds of dollars, and these Airedales are sure to be heard from regularly in the future following the show circuits.

Notes From Old Quebec

By Provincial Contributing Editor, LT.-COL. SYDNEY E. FRANCIS, Sherbrooke.

The solemn warning so often given from the pulpit was never brought home to us so vividly when we heard of the death of our friend and companion—Pat Donovan, charter member and Director of the Eastern Townships Kennel Club, and Superintendent at several of their recent shows.

On the recent joyous occasion previously referred to, namely the official visit of the Editor of Kennel and Bench to Sherbrooke, Pat was in evidence both at the banquet and at the Riverside Kennels next day, when J. D. S. called round to see him, although confessing to feeling a little "under the weather."

The next day we were shocked to hear of his removal to the hospital in a critical stage of double pneumonia, from which he never rallied but passed away Tuesday night, October 4th.

His funeral, held at St. Patrick's Church, was largely attended by his friends, and his widow, herself a dog-lover and handler of ability, is gradually recovering from the shock of her sudden bereavement.

Pat was universally liked by his friends, quiet and obtrusive, with a sparkling Irish wit that came natural to him. He was diligent in his work, and had just succeeded in establishing a boarding kennel which was on a fair way to success. His death is a distinct loss to the Eastern Township Kennel Club and to the dog world in general. * * *

In the canine world, as in the human world, I suppose the births, marriages and deaths columns in the local news, is always of interest, and in this respect the capital city of Montreal is certainly doing itself proud recently.

Fussie McGussie, and she looks the part, has presented her owner, Alan Chisholm, with sixteen sturdy, strapping young spaniels—and if you want to know their nationality—well, their sire was Spud Murphy.

Belgian Kennels Reg'd. have been caught in the advancing wave of civilization to which we all have to yield—and the heartless authorities have ordered them to move their kennels of Police dogs to a more deserted spot outside the city limits. Having a yearly lease, it is doubtful whether they can be forced to vacate at short notice; but dog owners should always realize, that while we think with the poet, "Tis sweet to hear the watchdog's honest bark," yet even I must confess, that when a couple of temperamental terriers wake up in the middle of the night, and stage an imaginary but none the less enthusiastic rabbit hunt, I am moved to descend upon them with wrath and a stout switch, and thank my stars that I live in the middle of a nine-acre estate and that my neighbors are good-natured and far away.

Montreal dogs carry their proclivities to a distance, as Wild Irish Susan, purchased from Mr. Pat Doyle by Dr. Brink of Toronto, has given birth to thirteen puppies by Wild Irish Dan, who topped the list at last February Westminster Show.

Bob Ross has returned from Texas, where he judged the Terrier specialty and as All Rounder for the All Breed Show. Tell us, Bob, is it a fact that the judge has to wear "something on his hip" when he is down south, in order to back up his judgments if found unpopular? Oh, no! you mistake my meaning entirely.

But the palm really must go to the Ormsby Kennels. Thirty-four puppies in one month does not seem to indicate any tendency to race suicide either, and the consequence is that Harry Armistead will have a nice string to pick from when he goes up to the Royal at Toronto.

Consequently Harry will be missed at the card party which the Montreal Ladies Kennel Club are staging at the Victoria Hall, Westmount, on Tuesday, 22nd February. When it comes to staging a dog show, a dinner dance or a card party, I am confident that the ladies have now perfected an organization that will make it a success.

Alvin Hatcher of Riverside Kennels, Sherbrooke, has been getting some good ones lately. Field Spaniels are his specialty, and three of them have recently been shipped—one to St. John, N.B., another to Mrs. Norris at Vedado, Habana, Cuba, and the third to Sandy Beach, New York; all these, we believe, were sired by Oxford Dark Boy, the boss of Chelsea Kennels.

By the by a mistake occurred in the report of the Sherbrooke Show (possibly more than one, mea culpa) when the local female, Mistover Dafodil, owned by Doyle and Armitage of the Chelsea Kennels, Sherbrooke, was awarded the Cup for Best of Breed, and two other local dogs were given specials respectively for Best Local Dog or Bitch, and Best of Breed local. This is passing them around with a vengeance, but it looks like penalizing an old sportsman in order to please two new-comers; however, the old hand proved his sportsmanship by letting it go without a protest.

What about the nominations for Directors for the Province of Quebec? Never mind how many you nominate, but for the love of Mike, show your pride in your own Province, and pick your man. Next year I expect that this Province is going to show a big increase in membership—and in every way will be a power to be reckoned with in the Canadian Kennel Club; and, between you and me and the town pump, there will be no one more pleased than the present management of the Canadian Kennel Club, if some of the Quebec men will carry some of the load that Ontario has had to bear for so many years.—Not for Quebec, not for Ontario or any other Province, but for the Dominion of Canada and the sport so dear to dog lovers.

I will be glad to take care of any reviews that Quebec readers may have in mind for this year's special Christmas number of Kennel and Bench. I know it is the desire of the Editor to have a very definite section in the Christmas number for every province, and he should not be disappointed. Kennel and Bench is as much Quebec's magazine as it is the magazine of Alberta, and vice versa, and the onus lies with the provinces to so support the magazine that it must appear in a truly representative way. If you have made up your mind what space you will take, you might send your copy to me at the address showing at the top of this page, and I will send it to Mr. Strachan, with your instructions and my suggestions.

DOGS AND PUPPIES

. . . no matter what you want—foods, kennels, appliances or advice, Spillers can do it for you, and do it well!

To ask for a "Spillers" product — "Osoko" or "Saval," for example — is to make your dog happy and contented, fit and strong.

Look straight ahead—look for the name "Spillers"—it stands for all that is best.

Science takes a hand.....

Not only in so far as the selection of the sire and dam is concerned, but in the maintenance of perfect bodily fitness, and all the factors of exercise, housing and feeding governed by it.

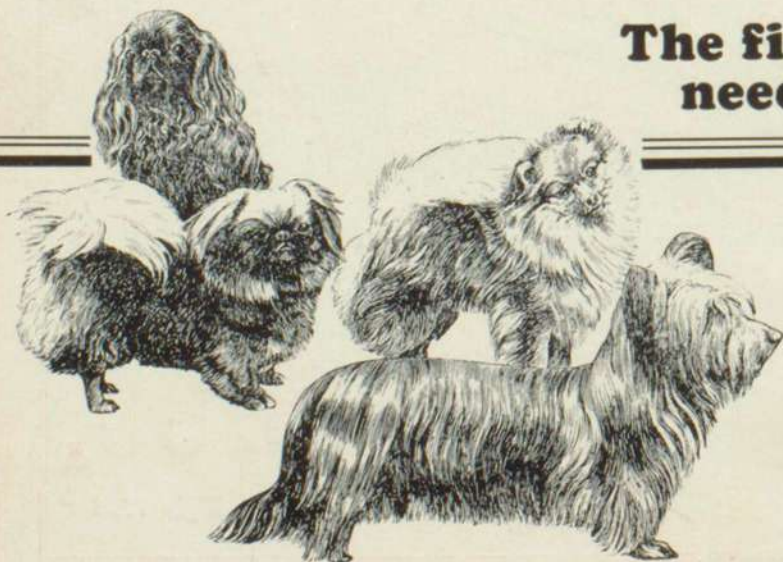

Scientific feeding originated nearly seventy years ago with the first Spratt's "Meat-Fibrine" Dog Cake. Fads and fancies crop up periodically in doggy circles, but today that crisp, meaty diet of Spratt's is considered not only the most scientifically sound, but the handiest, the most economical, the best in every way.

Spratt's claim to the finest and most comprehensive series of Dog Foods in the whole world is endorsed by Dog Show Organizers, Show Secretaries, Famous Breeders and doggy authorities in five continents! Spratt's is a quality that is imitated by many, but equalled by none.
