"LEADS TO LOVELY LITTERS"

WEANING & REARING PUPPIES

EQUALLY SUITABLE FOR KITTENS & SILVER FOX CUBS

PUPPIES have small stomachs, and the milk of a bitch is therefore a concentrated food, being more than twice as strong as cow's milk. LACTOL closely resembles the puppies' natural food, which is why they do so well on it. Puppies reared on LACTOL thrive remarkably, and do not suffer from indigestion, vomiting, diarrhoea, rickets, etc., as when given cow's milk or other foods.

LACTOL is already used by many breeders in Canada and the U.S.A., whilst in the British Isles no kennel of any importance is ever without it. PUPPIES LOVE LACTOL.

C.N.E. DOG SHOW BUILDING

The question of better and more up-to-date accommodation and equipment for the Dog Show of the Canadian National Exhibition is one that has been receiving, in recent days, a great deal of careful consideration by the Executive Committee of the Exhibition Association.

The erection of a new Engineering and Electrical Building in Exhibition Park, Toronto, has rendered vacant the old Electrical Building and a suggestion that the latter building be renovated and transformed so as to accommodate the Dog Show has been placed before the Exhibition Directors. Although most anxious to provide better quarters for the Canine population of Exhibition City, the Directors feel that to place the Show in the old Electrical Building would be a mistaken policy, inasmuch as this building is one of the oldest upon the grounds and, in the scheme for development of a greater Exhibition, is destined soon to be razed.

It was the unanimous decision of the Executive Committee at its recent meeting that the dogs should remain housed in their present quarters for this year and that immediately after Exhibition representatives of the various Dog Clubs be asked to meet with the Executive of the Exhibition in order that together they might study the problem and discover ways and means of obtaining a new and satisfactory Dog Building.

It is felt that by waiting a little longer greater results may be obtained. In the meantime, the present Building is being cleaned and re-decorated and will prove, if not ideal, at least highly comfortable quarters for the Dog Show.

DOGS OF THE EMPIRE

By FREEMAN LLOYD.

(Illustrations from the Author's Collection)

The Author, Mr. Freeman Lloyd.

The scene depicted is a collie dog watching over the remains of his dead master in a plain coffin in a one-roomed cottager's hut. Landseer's pictures of dogs possess great human interest. He put in them the expressions and actions of dogs, an indescribable something that we can always understand. The dog's thoughts are the artist's thoughts, and both of these thoughts synchronize with our own.

Sir Edwin Landseer (knighted in 1850) was the third son of John Landseer, a well-known engraver and writer on art. His mother was Miss Potts, who sat to Sir Joshua Reynolds as the reaper with a sheaf of corn on her head in "The Gleaners." Only the other day I was fortunate enough to purchase a very nice engraving after Landseer, in which a young woman appears with a sheaf of grain on her head. She is accompanied by a black-tan-and-white collie with a narrow skull, long, sharp forehead and perfectly carried ears. Probably Landseer had in his mind and memory his mother's face and artistic occupation as a Reynolds' model, when he painted this picture.

Edwin drew fairly well in his fifth year, and was familiar with animal character and passion. Drawings of his, in the Victoria and Albert Museum, London, dated by his father, attest that he drew excellently at eight years of age; at ten he was an admirable draughtsman, and his work shows considerable sense of humor. At thirteen he drew a majestic St. Bernard dog so finely that his brother, Thomas, engraved and published the work. At this date (1815) he sent two pictures to the Royal Academy, and was described in the catalogue as "Master E. Landseer." Youth forbade his being reckoned among practising artists, and caused him to be considered as an "Honorary Exhibitor" of a "Portrait of a Mule" and "Portraits of a Pointer Bitch and Puppy."

Therefore, it will be gathered that Landseer practically commenced with dogs as his subject indeed, in the fields near his London boyhood home, he had the advantage of being able to study cattle and cattle-dogs from life. In 1818 Landseer's "Fighting Dogs Getting Wind" was purchased by Sir George Beaumont. Some authorities claim this picture was the making of the lad, although it displays not an iota of sentiment—in after days the artist's great forte.

Scotland, its people, deer and dogs, made a tremendous impression on the Englishman Landseer; and there can be little doubt that his deerhounds, collies and terriers will forever keep alive the extreme and rightful interest that is taken in the useful and ornamental dogs of the older North Britain—breeds that gave us the now well-known and much valued Scottish varieties of dogs.

The dogs of Scotland are part of that country's life and living, just as are its pedigreed cattle, horses and sheep. The Springer and Cocker spaniels bred North of the Tweed are to be seen competing at field trials and bench shows at points as far apart as India and Canada. The terriers of Scotland grace the stalls of all the large kennel exhibitions on the five continents; while the collies of Caledonia have remained among the most wonderful and beautiful of all dogs in every climate where the white man can live, and under all conditions.

It was for Edwin Landseer to discover these dogs or types of breed of dogs, which types and breeds the men and women of our own times are perpetuating, while they keep and breed in their kennels the Scottish show and working dogs.

To put this subject in another way: Men and women of somewhat remote times—men and women of taste and knowledge—"made" certain breeds of Scottish dogs. It was Landseer who put the descendants of the earlier Scottish dogs on his canvasses; and other men and other women looked upon the artist's pictures, made mental photographs of those dogs, admired them, and, subsequently, set about acquiring dogs of those breeds as were depicted by the pencil and brush of the immortal portrayer of animals. Landseer's paintings make an everlasting impression on the lay observer of pictures of dogs. And that is one of the reasons this artist will be ever popular with the millions.

We who may or may not be advanced in our knowledge of dogs and their finer points (according to the show or field man's views) may search farther abroad for pictures of very real dogs with very real points; but, we should recollect that such often extravagantly admired show points of a given breed of dogs, are not always understood or worshipped by the man-in-the-street.

Somehow or another the Scottish deerhound always gives one the idea of a dog that is very grand and stately. The deerhound is not "noble" in the sense that property is to be really seen in the sagacious appearance of the St. Bernard or Newfoundland dog. The deerhound bears some other characteristic that we must associate with people in high places. The deerhound is distinctly out of place at the heels of a poor or lowly man; the deerhound's place

This wonderful Landseer study is only one of many thousands of similar prints owned by Mr. Freeman Lloyd, who is eternally looking for animal subjects, and of course, particularly dog subjects.

After Landseer: The originals of these Scottish Deerhounds were loaned to the artist by the late Edward Armstrong, father of the well-known Gun dog breakers, now residing in America.

is in the hall of the aristocrat—and we seem to know it!

Landseer always placed his deerhound where he was associated with the chase of the stag, or in the castle or apartment of the great. He loved to put the deerhound among examples of old armour, falcons, spears, javelins, and the other attributes and accessories of the high and mighty. Landseer made his deerhounds pull down the stags of the forests of the affluent, while his collies followed their rightful occupations as shepherd's dogs on the hills and mountains. The artist's terriers were kept in their places—in the kitchens of the big houses, or in the cotters' or keepers' homes—not much larger than hovels, where the long-backed and short-legged terriers were looked after by the hirelings' children.

Landseer's dogs of luxury, such as "The Cavalier's Pets," the picture of two English toy spaniels, he placed alongside of a wide-brimmed and plumed hat of a cavalier of the House of Stuart period, when the Prince Charles or black-white-and-tan spaniels, and the Blenheim or white-and-red or orange colored spaniels were the conceits of both the men and women of the Court of the Gay Monarch—and of Churchill and others. Thus did Landseer portray the dog among its proper surroundings; and, for that reason, his pictures will always be educational. The plain painting or photograph of a dog may mean anything. Place the dog in its correct "atmosphere" and we have something that will be worth while; for the reason that even the least observant will be able to gather the exact use for which a given breed of dog is intended. These are pictorial dishes that will never surfeit us; indeed, it seems to me that the more we look right into the older and better of pictures, the more we begin to know all about dogs.

A sporting godson of the celebrated Rev. Jack Russell, whose strain of earth going fox terriers is still in existence, and actually now at Star Ridge Farm, Brewster, N.Y., once told me that another Devonshire parson (my friend's father was a third and celebrated cleric of that delightful country) used to constantly remark: "When a man begins to know all about a horse and a dog, it is time for him to die." In other words, there is always something more to learn, and, consequently, "know" about dogs.

Certain breeds of dogs appear to have been changed in their builds through the motives or mistakes of men. Some dogs, which in older and, perhaps, wiser days, had been bred and reared for the purposes of the chase or vermin killing, have been so altered in their physical proportions that they have become more or less unfitted for the work for which they were originally bred up to a type that was suitable for the purpose of going to ground. The long-backed and short-legged terrier was the more suitable for going to a fox which really can enter a drain pipe with a diameter of nine inches. How many of our present terrier dogs (of any breed) could negotiate such an entrance and earth?

The interior or "den" of the earth would probably be twelve inches in height; and, even in such a place, a good many of our over 18 pounds (or less) terriers would have a deuce of a job to accomplish what he was sent in there to do, and that would be the driving out rather than the killing of the fox. So, to come to the point, there must be many who would prefer the smaller, shorter legged and longer bodied terriers for going to a fox—terriers not unlike the white, and the sandy and white colored, coarse and hard-coated terriers in Landseer's picture,

"THE BREAKFAST PARTY"

After Landseer: Such Terriers as those to be seen in this picture, were the obvious progenitors of the Cairn and West Highland White Terriers of the present day.

"COMICAL DOGS"

After Landseer: The Skye Terriers, as here portrayed, might have been the not unworthy, yet remote ancestors of our Aberdeen or Scottish Terriers.

"The Breakfast Party," that embellishes this contribution.

Harking back to the Parson Russell terriers, it will surely be of interest to mention "Grip," the little white and lemon-marked bitch recently imported along with ten couple of Welsh foxhounds. They are owned by Erastus Tefft of New York City, and Brewster, N.Y. Grip is what her short and not too sweet name suggests. She is a fearless, devilish, hard-bitten lady rascal; ready to go to fox, badger, otter or any other reputable wild animal that breeds underground. Grip is not unlike the white terrier in the foreground of the "Breakfast" picture. She only weighs about 14 or 15 pounds at the outside; but she is straight, fore-legged, sound and active. She would be a nailing kind of bitch for ferreting and ratting, and that is the kind of terrier which becomes more and more beloved by the sportsman. In breeding shorter-backed Stottish terriers, the majority of these dogs have become weightier and taller and possibly clumsier. Many of these would not be so well suited for real terrier work as the Cairns and the West Highland terriers, whose smaller sizes and lesser weights would be to the ground-going terrier's advantage.

The Skye Terriers of Landseer's period appear to have been shorter bodied than the show Skyes of the present time. The older dogs were not so long in their coats and the harsh and sweeping jackets of strong hair as have been seen in the British Isles. Strange to relate, although a constant visitor to the best shows in America, for the last quarter, I have not observed a round dozen of representative Skyes in that somewhat extended period.

Scotland is a bad country for the foxhunter of the hunting-with-a-pack of hounds description. Because of the hilly and rough topography, hounds would run away from the field, and have all the fun for themselves. But where there is game—feathered and furred—there will be foxes and other vermin; and when game is to be preserved, the vermin has to be kept down by trapping and the employment of terriers. Therefore, the old Scottish breeds of terriers had to be capable of entering the retreats of foxes, etc. Here we have the first and last reason for the existence of the Cairn terriers or those terrier dogs just fitted and bred for the purpose of going into cairns and other rock-bound places where the litters of cubs are dropped

AT STUD—FEE $10.00

Just what everybody has been looking for, a small, strong head and muzzle. And this dog is proving himself a wonderful sire, too, producing quality as well as quantity in every litter, his average being five puppies to a litter, the majority being male puppies and invariably good show prospects. For example, watch for his offspring at the coming shows.

He has excellent breeding. Sire: Ch. Buffalo's Tiny King. Dam: Wonder's Lady Charming, half sister of the famous Int. Ch. Highball Let's Go.

As a show dog he has been benched at all breed and specialty shows since he was able to qualify by age, going to reserve winners to his illustrious father at the age of eight months, and he has never yet been out of the money. Book your services in advance and avoid disappointment.

by the vixens, and fed with the food hunted and caught by the wily parents.

Foxes are preserved in those countries where foxhounds are regularly used to hunt foxes. But where there are no hounds, foxes will breed and multiply to such an extent that they become a menace to the sheep flocks, as well as to the domestic poultry; also to the owners of the shooting properties. So everyone's hands, and all dogs' teeth are set against Mr. and Mrs. Tod and their activities. Moreover, there is good money to be obtained, in England, for strong fox-cubs from Scotland, the youngsters being turned down in the new homes of gorse, too, in time, be rattled about the covers and woods in September-October by the entry of hound puppies. If these young or old foxes survive, later they will become the heroes and heroines of the operations of the November to February months, when the fox hunting season is in full blast.

The foxes from Scotland, as a family or strain, bear most reputable and good characters. Not so the red coats from some other and continental countries! And those Scottish foxes and cubs from the cairns, to a certain extent, would have been unattainable or ungettable, had it not been for the earlier work of such long-backed and short-legged terriers as seen, sketched and painted by the adorable Landseer.

BOSTON TERRIER CLUB OF TORONTO PICNIC.

Saturday, July 21st, was a day of picnics in Toronto's play ground—High Park, but the picnic of the day was that of The Boston Terrier Club of Toronto, when 150 members and their friends gathered at Area No. 15 for their Annual Outing.

The soft-ball game between Jackson's Jammers and Sim's Sluggers was closely contested, and resulted in a victory for the Jammers by the narrow margin of 2. To refer at any length to the ability of any of the members of either team, would be to slight all others, but passing mention must be made of the pitching ability of Robinson of the Sluggers, whom the captain of the Pammers suspected as a ringer. Suffice it to say that we believe his suspicions to have been aroused by the fact of his failing to reach first base during the whole of the game.

At the close of the game, a sumptuous repast, prepared by the lady members of the club, was partaken of by all present, and we have reason to believe some of them thought they could qualify for the "fat man's race" judging by the quantity they consumed.

After an all too short respite, races were in order and every event was well filled and closely contested. Prizes were provided for all in the "Tots" races, and in the other classes the prizes were well worth competing for.

Not satisfied with the victory of the afternoon, Captain Jackson of the newly organized "Silly Singles", issued a challenge to the "Merry Married's", and another ball game was staged, which only the shades of night brought to a finish, and as the score was in doubt, it was decided to replay it at some future date.

To all the members of the Social Committee the thanks of those present is due, for the able manner in which they organized and conducted this event, and things of this nature—held in this way—only go to show that those who hold them are imbued with the spirit of good-will and sociability, which make for success in any Club. May they be permitted to hold many more functions of this kind!

Can You Get Along Without Vitakalk?

Is the popularity of Vitakalk just a fad? Is it something which may put your dogs into better condition? Or, can't you get along without it? Here is a letter just received from the well-known Dr. J. W. Sherer, West Orange, New Jersey, whose Shereston Shepherds are famous in blue ribbon land. He writes: "I would no more think of raising real Shepherds without Vitakalk than giving up using raw beef. It has superseded every other adjunct in the menage of our dogs, brood bitches, and puppies. One point you should stress more is the value of Vitakalk in the treatment of distemper. If we didn't have Vitakalk we would be deprived of our most valuable ally in fighting this disease, especially in the later stages. No matter what other treatment breeders are using, Vitakalk should be administered twice daily with excellent results. Please send me another 10-lb. can at once."

From Mr. E. B. Allen, owner of the well-known Tru-Pal Kennels, Oaktown, Indiana, comes the statement: "I am frank to say that Vitakalk is without exception the best conditioner I have ever had any experience with. It is almost unbelievable the change that it made in a young bitch in our kennels. I am increasing my remittance to you as I am putting more dogs on this tonic and conditioner." This gives you an idea of how absolutely necessary Vitakalk is in the breeding and successful raising of fine dogs, in the opinion of experts."

Vitakalk
TONIC AND CONDITIONER

What Vitakalk does for dogs is to add to their food the elements which they would get if they were running wild in a natural state. A little Vitakalk added to the daily rations of your animals gives them the needed calcium and phosphorus for bone and muscle building. Because of its vitamin-yeast it is slightly laxative, and the essential D-Vitamins put into it by exposure to ultra violet light make it fight rickets and other diseases of malnutrition. Dogs like Vitakalk and assimilate it easily.

You will very soon see its beneficial effects in more liveliness, brighter eyes, increased appetite, better health, and thick, brilliant, glossy coats. Vitakalk is officially recommended by the Society for German Shepherd Dogs (Verein fuer Deutsche Schaeferhunde) and also by The Shepherd Dog Club of New England.

THE CANADIAN FANCY

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ontario.

MY remarks in the last issue of Kennel and Bench of my impressions of the Western fancy had to be very brief as the editor had only promised to keep my pages open until the mail could bring copy posted from Edmonton the day following the show, and as I had a luncheon engagement on this day with the two Springer breeders, L. E. Wise and W. F. H. Mason, who had kindly promised to take me to the Mayfair County Club to see the Western Championship golf match between Cuthbert and Mountfield, my notes had to be very hurried. Our talk, naturally, during lunch, was mainly of Springer Spaniels, and I was most agreeably surprised to find that both my hosts were au fait with not only the present-day Springers, but also had for several years kept themselves up to date with the doings of their favorite breed in the Old Country. Both are young fanciers, and they usually foregather every Sunday at W. C. Burns' stock farm, a few miles out of Edmonton, where so many good Springers have been bred. W. C. Burns has got together quite a nice team. The Edmonton-bred Springers were quite the feature of the show, being particularly noticeable for their excellent head, true Springer action and spring of rib. I would like to see them a shade shorter in back, and if only a sire can be found that has not only this desirable point, but can transmit it to his progeny, we shall see Springers bred by Messrs. W. C. Burns, L. E. Wise, and W. F. H. Mason taking a prominent position at shows all over the American continent.

Closely following the Springers at Edmonton show were the German Shepherds, and the breed is certainly fortunate in having two such keen admirers as J. G. Young and Geo. Kirkwood. The secretary, J. G. Young, has two excellent stud dogs in Curt von Ruf and Buster von Leonhardt, and a black dog puppy by Curt, who has the appearance of maturing into a real useful Shepherd. J. G. Young, at the time of the show, was expecting the great English winner, Bridget of Picardy, purchased from Major Baldwin, of the Picardy Kennels. Bridget has a splendid record as a consistent winner, and before leaving England she is to be mated to the famous German winner, Cito V. D. Lovestback of Picardy, a dog who apparently from his record possesses the rare ability of being able to head the strongest classes and to pass on his sterling character and type to his progeny. I am asking our editor to include in my pages a cut of Bridget—not a good photo, but the only one available—and although not very clear, it shows her type and great angu-lation. The local Shepherds need generally a little more quality and I sincerely hope that J. G. Young's pluck in acquiring Bridget will have the success it deserves.

There are a number of keen fanciers around Edmonton interested in Russian Wolfhounds, J. T. Flavell having quite a big team competing, and a very marked improvement could soon be made if a real good headed stud dog was acquired, providing only the dog is a descendant of a strain noted for head properties. I was glad to see such a good entry of Collies, but here again new blood is sadly needed, the majority being decidedly plain in head properties, a bright exception being Dr. J. T. Cooper's Elmhill Jerry. A renewal of interest apparently is being taken in Newfoundlands, and breeders are certainly fortunate in having Montague Wallace's Ch. Knight of Drumnod available. Bob Cundall is the right man to look after the interest of the national breed. He has some excellent specimens of the low, cloddy and massive type, and in this breed, again, heads are the drawback, and a dog with a long, massive skull, plenty of chop and layback and a real shovel underjaw could be used to great advantage. Easily the best of the Terriers was MacLaughlin and Griffon's Bunt of Thane, a Cairn bitch puppy of very great promise. Apparently there are a number of keen Boston Terrier fanciers around, and as I remarked at the dinner, breeders need to pay more attention to body properties. Pekes and Poms made a good showing. I would like to sound a note of warning to the

BRIDGET OF PICARDY
Imported by J. G. Young, Edmonton, Alberta.

Peke breeders, and that is that they should pay more attention to "fronts." A Peke's front legs should not be straight like a Terrier. They should be bowed, but this does not mean that when they walk their pasterns touch the floor, or that the elbows should be loose. Evidently some judges seem to think that a deformed front is desirable. The correct Peke front is not difficult to breed, providing the right strain is used. Leaving Edmonton by the night train for Saskatoon, I found a number of fanciers at the station to wish me "bon voyage," and my thoughts on leaving were indeed pleasant. I had met a number of keen fanciers who are loyal to the Canadian Kennel Club, and with the increased prosperity that is so very apparent in the West, I feel confident that the Edmonton dog fanciers with genial Harry Nash as their president are going to play a very prominent part in getting recruits to what is undoubtedly one of the most fascinating hobbies of to-day, the breeding and exhibition of man's best friend, the dog.

Arriving next morning at Saskatoon, I found Monty Wallace, Dr. Cooper, Major J. D. Gunn, and G. C. Hauselman to greet me. It is really due to these keen fanciers that a show was held this year. The club suffered a serious financial loss early this year, and it seemed to be difficult to have a show until Monty Wallace, Dr. Cooper and Major J. D. Gunn interviewed the Exhibition officials, and in S. W. Johns, the manager, they found a friend who knew that the breeding and exhibition of dogs in the Old Country had become an industry and a very paying one. The result was that the Industrial Exhibition and the Saskatoon Kennel Club are now working together for the good of the fancy. The show this year showed the Exhibition officials that it was one of the main attractions, and next year they will see that everything is not left to the last minute. Monty, like the good sport he is, gave up his holiday to act as show superintendent. What a worker he is! G. C. Hauselman, the president, is interested in St. Bernards. Dr. J. T. Cooper is building up a very valuable strain of Collies, and I hope the day is not far distant when one of the "Elmhills" will top the classes at New York show. Mrs. Lewis has also some nice Collies. Other helpers were Mrs. A. Middleton, J. C. Watt, J. Bateman, and Mrs. Monty Wallace. J. E. Chater made a very creditable debut in the fancy by acting as secretary. His duties were new, but he proved a very willing pupil. Reverses have brought the fancy in Saskatoon closer together and they have men who unselfishly will give their time for the improvement of shows and dogs. I heard a rumor that steps are being taken to get other clubs in the surrounding locality to combine and hold a big winter show. This is the right spirit, and I sincerely hope the rumor will prove to be an actual fact.

Many of the winning dogs were present at Edmonton, so I will only give my impressions of the quality of the Saskatoon winners. Chesapeake were not as numerous as at the Spring show last year, and there still seems to be some difficulty in understanding just what is required when looking for exhibits dead grass in color. May I give a note of warning, and that is, breeders should not sacrifice type and conformation for color. A perfect colored dog would be useless for the purpose for which he is required if he has not conformation and soundness.

Chesberry Patricia looks all over a worker. The winning dog, Prince Carlos, is a big, upstanding dog, inclined to be a little loose at elbows. Silverdale Resolute and Snowdrop found nothing to extend them in Bull-dogs. Ch. Knight of Drumnod, the Newfoundland, has improved greatly since I last saw him, and I hope to see this great bodied dog competing at New York. Before leaving Saskatoon, I went out to see the other inmates of Monty Wallace's kennel, and saw proof that the "Black Knight" is a potent force at stud. What a pity it is that this good dog is not more accessible to our Eastern breeders. Collies were hardly as strong as usual. Maternal duties and the fact that many were shy of coat, keeping many of Dr. Cooper's best at home. The Doctor very kindly drove me out to his kennel where I had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. and Miss Cooper, and also of inspecting some Elmhill puppies that have only to summer well to bring further fame to this genial owner and breeder. There must be some distinctly useful breeding English Setters around judging by the good puppies exhibited. James Campbell's Laddie is a really nice youngster who just needs a little time yet to strengthen in hocks. Adonis of Avondale, in spite of the fact that he showed signs of being on the circuit, had the easiest of wins in Springer dogs. He is one of the most impressive dogs I have ever judged. E. B. Haffner exhibited a real nice bitch in Dido of Charleswood. Capital head, body, and style, she could with advantage have a little more bone. The winning bitch was Sunrae of Avondale, looking as well as when I gave her the special three years ago at St. Paul, Minn., for best exhibit in the show, added another best in show win to her long list here, Monty Wallace's Knight of Drummond gaining reserve. Some very useful Shepherds were competing. Int. Champion Claus von Kulefelds, however, found nothing to extend him. Generally speaking, the other competitors were found wanting somewhat in quality and angulation. R. Hogg had a couple of more than useful Airedale Terriers, Ch. Funnichy Queen and Squire, the latter a rare colored puppy who looks like maturing into a good Terrier. Silverdale Fox Trot and Antrim Bridesmaid stood out in Wire Fox Terriers. Sutton Dusky Widow is a really nice smooth, who, if an inch shorter in back, could make the best step lively. Bostons saw the Edmonton winners to the fore. G. W. Bridgeman's Bell Rock Tramp Fast, and in Pekes, Mrs. Samson Noodles held an advantage in fineness of face and front over Cactus Toon Lo Wah.

* * *

I was able to spend two days in Saskatoon before leaving on Friday night for Winnipeg, where I arrived on Saturday. I found that A. Troutman had very kindly reserved me a room at the Royal Alexandria and I was most agreeably surprised to find Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Marples there, who, on being informed that I would be in Winnipeg Saturday and Sunday, decided, instead of going on direct to Regina, to spend the two days with me. It was indeed an unexpected pleasure to be able to hear the latest news of my many friends in the Old Country. Mr. and Mrs. Marples, after Regina and Vancouver shows, were going on to visit their son at San Francisco. After lunch, we went out to Headingley and almost the first to greet us was Billy Williams, who for many years was the secretary of New Shropshire show, and also one of the committee of Taunton. Winnipeg fanciers are to be congratulated on such a valuable acquisition to their ranks, as he is a past master in running shows. He has purchased a large farm near Headingley, where he had been living for two years or more, but up to the time of my visit had not interested himself in dogs. Bill Chatterton and George Kynoch will, I know, see that he is not allowed to continue in retirement. Headingley was a side issue to the Exhibition, and judging started about 2.30 and was quickly finished. A few of the outstanding dogs were C. M. Tangstad's Armor von Vogel, a really good Shepherd, not quite pleasing in texture of coat. T. Eames' Sheelah Tipperary, a

On Sunday morning, Bill Chadderton and George Kynoch came to the hotel and took J. W. Marples and myself out to see the Avondale Springers. It was certainly an education in Springer type, but it would have taken days to really inspect the kennel, for it contained over two hundred Springers. What struck us both as remarkable was that their owner, E. Chevrier, not only knew them each by name, but without the aid of notes could give not only their breeding, but also tell us where many of the imported dogs had won in the Old Country. In all my travels I have never met two men with such unique memories as E. Chevrier and George Kynoch. George can tell you and describe all the best Cockers that have been out for the last twenty years. Leaving the Chevriers, we paid a visit to Geo. Duncan, and all of us envied his Boston bitch puppy; and from there we visited J. N. Alldritt who has a kennel of Wire Fox Terriers and Cocker Spaniels. It was time for dinner after this visit, as my train left soon after 7 o'clock for Toronto. A. Trontman had personally seen that I had a comfortable berth on the train and much too soon for me it was time for me to say good-bye. May I, in conclusion, thank the Western fancy for the kindness they extended, which made the trip one of the most enjoyable I ever had. I hope that in future they will continue to extend this friendship by keeping me posted with their troubles and successes, so that my pages will cover the whole of our great country. My impressions of the West are that we have a real lot of fanciers out there, who, with the prosperity that has come to the Dominion, will find that this hobby is going to be not only a pleasant one, but also a paying one. The West needs help to induce a reduction of rates with the express companies, and they will get it if they only will co-operate. It would pay the clubs to engage a paid secretary to run this show. They need to give prize money, and they also need the co-operation of the Eastern fanciers to send them reliable stock. Competition in the West is keen, and Eastern fanciers should realize that a dog that cannot win in the East has no more chance to do so in the West. The West in some breeds needs some reliable stud dogs, but they don't want mediocre dogs, described as world-beaters, which on their arrival have been found to be not worth the freight.

* * *

I have been favored by R. P. Sparkes with a very nicely got up stud card of his latest importation, the Bulldog, Kippax Jock. I have not yet seen this dog, but have been informed by those on whose word I can place reliance that Kippax Jock is a real specimen of the national breed, and their opinion is backed up by the show record of the dog in England. His breeding cannot fail to please any student of Bulldog pedigrees.

* * *

I am indeed pleased to be able to reproduce the photographs of two of the English Setters which competed in the Victoria, B.C., Spring Trials. Mr. W. F. Daw, Victoria, B.C., writes me that the trials were a great success. He has sent me a snapshot of Monte Carlo Topsy and Moonbeam, which were placed second and third in the Shooting Dog stakes. Topsy is a daughter of Leonidas of Ware, a dog who has been so successfully used by the famous Willowbrook Kennels, being the sire of the New York winner and also the winner and reserve at Boston. Topsy, besides being a great worker in the field is the dam of Gore's Blue Pal and Seales' Arbitno Blue, best of breed at Louisville, Memphis, and Birmingham. Moonbeam is also a daughter of Topsy's, her sire being Moonshine by Ch. Coles' Blue Prince ex Ch. Magician's Jewell. Both bitches, Mr. Daws states, are big quality bitches, and they certainly bear out the statements I have so often heard made of the quality and type of the English Setters used by sportsmen in B.C.

MONTE CARLO TOPSY
Dr. D. F. Daw, Owner.

The Eastern circuit has started, Ottawa starting the circuit on Aug. 21st. This popular show was followed by Sherbrooke, Bert Swann being the judge. The New Brunswick Kennel Club anticipate having a big, good-quality entry for C. H. Davis to pass his opinion. The Hamilton Kennel Club are out for a record, and this club certainly deserves the hearty support of exhibitors. Their premium list is certainly a most liberal one. It is rather unfortunate that the New Brunswick Kennel Club and the Canadian National shows clash as regards dates. Toronto exhibitors will, no doubt, all be anxious to get the opinion of J. W. Marples, who will have covered Canada pretty well by the time he arrives at Toronto. London will finish the circuit with its two shows, the London Canine Association, and the Western Fair. Many of the judges will be new to us and it will be interesting to study the awards at the different shows.

* * *

I heard a number of arguments re the interesting articles by my friend, Professor Hadwen, on the sled dogs of the North Country, appearing in Kennel and Bench. Some fanciers contending that the Huskie is not a cross between the wolf and dog. I happen to have had the pleasure of going over this article long before it appeared in print, and from the convincing talk I had with the author, I am confident that Professor Hadwen is sure that the wolf and dog have mated. However, the argument may lead to some interesting facts, and I would be glad to receive opinions on the cross.

OTTAWA SHOW.

The 1928 show held in connection with, and under the management of the Central Canada Exhibition, was a very pleasant show to judge, the quality of the exhibits in the majority of the classes being far above the average. Mr. Cecil Behune, the President of the Exhibition, is a very keen admirer of Airedale Terriers, his prefix of Earls court being one of the best known in the Dominion. Naturally, therefore, the Dog Show was shown every consideration. I was particularly well impressed with the new dog show building which is certainly a credit to all concerned in its construction. It allows ample room for benching, is light and well ventilated and a splendid judging ring is provided. Regarding the management I have nothing but praise. Arthur S. Davis, the Superintendent, is the right man for this important position, courteous and on the job from morning to night, and everyone was struck with the cleanliness of the show. My assistant in the ring was Jack Ferguson, and he certainly is a past master as ring steward. Arthur Davis at the ring gate saw that the dogs were promptly brought into the ring and Jack Ferguson was there to check up absentees. The show lacked some of the vim and go of former years and this can be traced to the sudden death of Mrs. W. C. Baldwin. "Dude" Baldwin, the well-known hound expert, has a host of friends everywhere, and the cause of his absence from the show was commented upon by all the out-of-town visitors, who were unanimous in extending their sympathy to "Dude" on his great loss. "Our Jimmy," with his usual kindly thought, arranged for a wreath to be sent from us all on Thursday morning when the funeral took place. The committee out of respect for the memory of Mrs. Baldwin decided that the judging be postponed until the afternoon, and this enabled the exhibitors to attend and show by their presence how deeply they sympathized with "Dude" in his grievous loss. Another great friend of the fancy was missed and this was J. F. Strachan, the owner of the Ormsby wire fox terriers, and his many friends all over the American continent will be sorry to hear that the reason of his absence was owing to the fact that he had been and is still very ill at the General Hospital, Montreal. I know his endless friends will join in extending hopes that he will very soon be fit again. Harry Armistead, his able manager, said that the best tonic he could have been given, were the splendid wins achieved by the Ormsbys at the show. The team certainly deserved it, for they were to my way of thinking the best team ever sent from the Montreal Kennel. Harry has undoubtedly some likely Terriers, home-bred, which should make things lively for the best. The principal specials were awarded as follows: Best dog or bitch, Reg. Sparkes' Bulldog Kippax Jock.—The Canadian Kennel Club's beautiful trophy for the best Canadian-bred dog or bitch was won by the wire Fox Terrier Ormsby Formula, and she with her kennel mate Ormsby Evermore gained the trophy for the best Canadian-bred brace. The novice trophy went to Ormsby Ever Ready. The sporting-dog trophy to Frank Plant's Cocker, Ottawa Tartan. The Terrier trophy was easily won by Ormsby Formula, and the Toy trophy by Madame Beland's Pomeranian Storm King of Dara. The Doberman Pinscher, Koningstad Amerant of White Gate, admirably handled and shown by Ted Ward, won the working dog special. St. Bernards and Newfoundlanders were very poor in quality. The winning Great Dane excels in type and outline but fails in color. American Foxhounds were just fair. Dude Baldwin's entries not competing. The winning hound, Rowdy, is a well-built showy hound, leaning more to the English type. Banzo held a distinct advantage in legs and feet over Driver. The winning Beagle, Baldwin's Jim, is an attractive little hound, a shade long in couplings. Peter, an English Setter, could not be denied in his class for he has quality and style.

Irish Setters.—Ch. King Morello Oge, a big, sound dog, was on the day shown far too heavy in flesh. His action is a pleasure to watch. Wild Irish Dan, is inclined to roach his back and did not move to advantage in hind action. Ch. Nell Law Watt evidently is of an easy disposition, for, like her kennel companion, she was far too fat. Her beautiful head and front gave her the advantage over Wild Irish Betty. Shepherds were patchy in quality. Fritz von Weitzel, a typical symmetrical Shepherd, scored in angulation from Fritz von der Borne. Cosalta's Irma, a really beautiful bitch with great angulation and stride, met nothing to extend her and easily won the special for best Shepherd. Brea von der Borm shows type but was shown far too fat and has gone somewhat loaded at shoulders.

Cocker Spaniels were difficult classes to judge as the exhibits were so varied in type. Ottawa Tartan is a model for type and, in spite of the fact that he has lost some of his teeth, could not be denied the special. Ottawa Mickey is a well-made typical black. Ottawa Belle is a very smart black and white parti-color. Springers were not numerous. John Ritchie Langtown Lubricant is a sound typical dog. He scored in character and body over his kennel companion Boghurst Bushie.

Collies.—Inverness Intent 2nd, a showy big coated bitch, gained the special. Argyle Admirer shows quality in head but was very shy of coat. Corona Pilot, the winning dog, has a long, shapely head, good legs and feet, with very fair class of coat.

Bulldogs.—Reg P. Sparkes' importation, Kippax Jock, came, saw and conquered. A very massive, heavy weight, sound and active as a Terrier, immense skull, well-wrinkled nice finish of face, and wide, well-turned-up underjaw, extra good bone and shoulders, big ribs and tapering quarters, Kippax Jock should have a very bright future.

Bull Terriers.—Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland's Ch. Albion Victor could not be denied the special for he is a sound, well built, typical Terrier. R. H. Elliott has a nice team forward, the winning dog scoring in body over his kennel companion. The Earls court kennels found nothing equal to extend Ch. Earls court Parkdale Chief or Ch. Earls court Modern.

Boston Terriers.—The winning dog, the Burglar Dee Cee, owns a beautiful head and expression, a short good body, and stands on admirable legs and feet. Pal's Peter is a neat shapely Terrier, just losing in all-round finish to the Burglar. Jubilee's Million Dollar Beauty is well named. She has character, quality and style. Winsome Lassie owns a really beautiful head and the best of legs and feet.

Fox Terriers were quite one of the best sections in the show. W. J. Newton had a great run of successes with Dumbarton Sweetheart, a very beautiful puppy, extra nice head, body, legs and feet, and very stylish. If she grows on she will trouble the best. Le Bretaus' Snowball, neat good head, needs time to lift her ears and to make up in body. Little Snip Snap, a real stylish Terrier, long quality head, capital neck, body and shoulders, with very good legs and feet. Clapton Richard, if only a shade longer in head, would be difficult to fault.

Wires were a particularly good quality entry. Richmond Senator Kash, a very neat puppy, held an advantage in body properties over Ormsby Punch. Ormsby Ever Ready, a tan-marked compact Terrier, with capital head, body, legs and feet, and good coat. Ormsby Evermore, another beautiful Terrier, owning a long, well-balanced head and a short back, beautiful legs and feet, and a sound coat. Ever Ready and Ever More will bring further fame to this kennel as they are two of the best-bred by Jas. F. Strachan. Ormsby by Johnny Alex is a great showman, and it was through this that I placed him reserve winners to Evermore instead of giving the position to Ever Ready. Richmond Tillie Kash is too big a showy Terrier, holding a big advantage on the day in style and hind-quarters over Ormsby Erin, better in size and far shorter in back. Ormsby Dolly is an attractive Terrier, scored handily from Flapper in head and feet. Ormsby Formula, one of the best bitches now being shown, beautiful head, body, style and particularly good in bone, neck, shoulders, coat and feet.

Irish Terriers.—Murphy's Irish Boy is all Irish. Great head, eye, and expression. A shade big and on the day full in coat. Albany Straight Tip is a stylish Terrier, to-day somewhat dead in coat. Ch. West Park Rattler, nice size and style, gone a little strong in skull.

Scottish Terriers were hardly as numerous as one would expect, with such an expert as Geo. Robertson living in Ottawa. Bassetlaw Rosera, who gained the special, is a beautiful Terrier, extra nice head and eye, sound front and a very good body. Ashburnham Bunt, a model in body properties and owning a typical, if somewhat short, head.

The winning Pomeranian, Storm King of Dara is a very sound-coated black, neat head and ears, heavy coat and very stylish.

Pekingese—Puff Ball of Kyratow, beautiful skull, eyes and finish of face, short of feathering on ears, very sound front with the correct lion-shaped body. General Gordon, admirable body and action, lost to the winner in skull, chin and width of face. Jue So Tia, a sound, typical bitch, scored in shoulders over the nice-headed Mia Wong.

Queen's Betts, a very typical Chesapeake, found nothing to extend her in Miscellaneous. Her nearest opponent being Nylehurst Nipigon Lad, a Gordon Setter on the small side.

OUR FRONTISPIECE.

There are bulldogs—and bulldogs, and it is one of the latter variety that adorns the front cover of Kennel and Bench this month.

Kippax Jock (C.K.C.S.B. 71698) came from England to Canada a few short weeks ago and was heralded from coast to coast as being a real bulldog. However, the old saying has it, that "The proof of the pudding is in the eating of it," and so the rank and file of the bulldog fancy were eagerly awaiting the first appearance of Kippax Jock in a Canadian dog show ring under an efficient judge. This opportunity came at the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa, on Thursday evening, August 23rd, when this grand bulldog, piloted by Ted Ward, headed a parade of many dogs of different breeds, many of which could have been placed best dog in show anywhere.

Kippax Jock had no trouble in defeating the competition offered by his breed at the show, but to defeat the choicest entrants at Ottawa was quite a distinctive debut for any dog, and this is just what came to Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes' recently imported "What we have we hold" dog. Everybody had conceded the dog's superiority, but it was Judge Walter H. Reeves, who was to have the final say, and so the excitement was quite tense. Wires, Smooths, Springers, Poms, Pekes, Foxhounds, Setters, Shepherds, Bostons, Collies, Cockers, Dobermans, Bull Terriers, Airedales, Irish Terriers, and Whippets were all contenders for the crown. Many were champions, too, and the struggle was no sinecure. The parade was a real joy to the eye of any fancier. Kippax Jock seemed to think himself supreme and felt like eating up any dog having an inclination for argument. Proudly he "rolled" along until Mr. Reeves called a halt, and as he crowned Kippax Jock king of the show the cheering indicated the popularity of the win; and so the records of the future will show that this handsome bulldog, who has had so many victories in England, made his debut in Canada in glorious fashion.

We understand that Mr. Sparkes has gone on to Halifax show, taking his cherished bulldog with him, and at the city by the Atlantic, Judge Charles G. Hopton of New York, who knows the bulldog as few judges know the breed, will have the opportunity to uphold or reverse Mr. Reeves' placing, and later, it will be most interesting for bulldog fanciers to read the impressions these men have made of Kippax Jock. After Halifax comes the Canadian National, and we trust that the long trip will have no ill-effects on either owner or dog, and that both will come back in perfect shape to meet the tremendous competition that the Canadian National furnishes annually. Without fear or favor the writer has no hesitation in declaring that Canada has every reason to be proud that a dog of the quality of Kippax Jock was imported into the Dominion. That he will one day become an international champion depends only upon his being spared his life to compete.

BOSTON TERRIER FANCIERS MAKE A NOTE OF THE ABOVE ADVERTISEMENT, AND MARK YOUR CALENDAR ACCORDINGLY.

Little Bits From Here and There

Mrs. Sarah Dowser, of Detroit, whose sensational wins with the Boston Terrier, Int. Ch. Dowser's I'm Alone, twice best in all breed shows, still is the talk of the fanciers of this American dog, is at it again. While putting I'm Alone through in Canada, Mrs. Dowser, whose judgment in selecting prospects is uncanny, discovered one that pleased her and brought him home. Now she is on the circuit with this new dog, oddly named Little Man's Confederation, and at Sewickley, Pa., he was reserve winners, then at Pittsburgh he went best of breed and second in the variety class. Experts who looked him over carefully predict that he will be a champion before snow flies. This dog, a year old May 23, weighs 14 pounds, is a dark mahogany brindle with a full white collar and perfect markings. He also is a proven sire, as he has four litters in Canada that are said to be exceptional.

Meanwhile Int. Ch. Dowser's I'm Alone is doing all the business he can, bitches being shipped from long distances. Dr. Addison L. Tow, chief veterinary of the Detroit Kennel Club, has a litter of three by him out of a Prince Conde bitch that will go far. W. Hall, of Blenheim, has five that are a sensation there. Many wonderful litters are reported in Detroit. Mrs. Dowser, herself, has two extremely good ones out of Int. Ch. Little Miss Muffit II, the male having been christened Dowser's I'm Alone, Jr.—watch out for him. Ch. Olivette II has one good puppy and is in whelp to I'm Alone. Ch. Detroit's Million Dollar Girl has an outstanding bitch puppy. There are two fine ones from McGoldrick's Peggy. Million Dollar Bill is the sire of a splendid male 2½ months old from Priscilla. An I'm The Guy bitch is heavy in whelp to Dowser's Detroit Times.

Another recruit to the ranks of the Wire-Haired Fox Terrier devotees was added when J. R. Kennedy, Kingston Road, Toronto, became the owner of several good bitches from the Silver Birch Kennels of our director H. Clayton, Toronto. Amongst the purchases were Dogberry Frivolous Imp. (55794) who has since been bred to the recently-imported Lord Brilliance, Imp. (69793), owned by the Grayhill Kennels, Toronto, and right here Mr. Kennedy should get a good start in his new enterprise. Dogberry Frivolous is by a son of Ch. Barrington Bridegroom and of a daughter of Ch. Wycke Workman whose dam was Ch. Indecision. Lord Brilliance having for paternal great-grandsire Ch. Barrington Bridegroom and for his dam Evington Leigh, a daughter of the same great Bridegroom, and so in the aggregate the bloom combination entering into this particular mating should ensure the delivery of some choice stock later on.

Silver Birch Bride (65861) is a daughter of Ch. Barrington Bridegroom, Imp., and of Dogberry Frivolous, Imp.

The other bitch in the purchase is Silver Birch Waltz Dream (69423) and she carries an enviable combination of the world's best wires. Sired by Scamp Ontario, a son of Ch. Common Scamp of Notts, and out of Silver Birch Speedy Girl, she by Ch. Warily Speedy Girl, who was by Ch. Deykin Surprise. Dam of S.S. Speedy Girl is Driftwood Cutie (Imp.), a daughter of Ch. Barrington Bridegroom.

Friends of Mr. Kennedy will regret to learn that he has been on the sick list for the last 3 months, but he is now making progress, and posing his wires in the bed is perhaps the best tonic that has been presented for him to date.

Whilst Mr. Kennedy was being recruited other old-time fanciers were being withdrawn from the ranks by death, in the persons of the late Wm. Robinson, Toronto, who was well known in Pomeranian and Chow Chow circles. Mr. Robinson joined the Canadian Kennel Club in 1917 and during January the following year he imported from England the noted Pomeranian sire Wood View Honeydew (19999), a good orange sable that proved himself to be much more superior as a sire than a show dog, and many of our present-day good Poms show the influence of our late friend's good dog in their pedigrees. Mr. Robinson was buried on August 6th.

Another old friend of the Pomeranian who has also held membership in the Canadian Kennel Club since 1917 was Mrs. James McEwan, Toronto. Mrs. McEwan, apparently in good health and spirits, and looking forward hopefully to the celebrating of her golden wedding, went to do some small grocery buying and experienced a fainting spell on the street, and from this she never rallied and was laid away in God's acre, surrounded by many friends who mourned her unexpected death.

Bert Swann, Newcastle, Ont., has several appointments to judge all breeds at the forthcoming shows to be held in Canada and the United States. Sherbrooke, Que. (all breeds), Nassau, Wis. (all breeds); Cedar Rapids (all breeds, less two). Mr. Swann when judging is at all times zealous of the profession and takes plenty of time to get his dogs rightly placed, and no doubt the demand on his services will become increasingly great as his work recommends itself to show managers generally.

Three days after Regina show closed the officials had not experienced a hitch nor had they heard a complaint. Both circumstances reflect much credit to the Show Secretary, Charles S. Keating, and the Judge, J. W. Marples. The schedule arranged for the timing of the judging was strictly adhered to and in this respect the show closed exactly five minutes ahead of schedule, but they always do things at Regina just like that anyway.

Pomeranian breeders and dog lovers around Toronto will remember A. J. Davis (who at one time was Secretary of Toronto Kennel Club, and now—we believe—in New Zealand), sending a shaded, orange sable dog to an American client. The dog was registered as Rondo (27456) and was by Lilyhill Model, Imp., out of a daughter of Wood View Honey Dew, Imp. At the time of exportation the gossips had it that Rondon was not a show Pom, nor was he a sire. Well, it takes time to determine these little matters, and from a tiny beginning on the show bench at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1922, when Rondo won for 3rd Novice, he won best Pom and best Toy all breeds at Battle Creek show in 1924, under Judge Burton of Chicago, who on that occasion held the little Canadian-bred on high and exclaimed aloud, "That's my idea of a Toy dog." As a sire he produced the well-known orange sable Gateway Sable Prince. Another son, Rondino, defeated the imported Pomeranian Gold Speck Sonny, now an American champion, and so Rondo's record goes. He died on July 14th from toxic poisoning arising from pyorrhea. Mrs. Lewis B. Voke of Nile, Mich., has other good Canadian-bred Poms in the kennel, and also owns a fine Russian wolfhound named Almadin o' Hickory Ridge, by Int. Ch. Galaroff o' Valley Farm, ex Petrova of Tolstoi that won Reserve Winners at Chicago last year.

Is the Schipperke coming back into public favor in this country? Scanning the records as given in the American canine magazines we notice that the astute Judge, Norman Pabst, was given an entry of 19 "Skips," 18 of which were actually benched, and this is considered to be a record entry for the breed in the Americas. One of the entry, Chon Chon of Beresford, finished her championship at the Oakland show. Mrs. Brown, Toronto, is sponsoring the breed in Canada, and a large entry has been made for the Canadian National Exhibition and other dog shows, and this, beyond any other measure, should assist in bringing "The Little Skipper" before the public again in a very definite way.

What is this we hear about the new club being formed at Montreal, and named "The Associated Kennel Clubs of Montreal, Incorporated," and headed with the following officers: President, W. R. Stanley; Vice-President, J. McCorquodale; Secretary, R. B. Milburne, and Treasurer, W. R. Aitken.

Twenty-five dollars are on deposit for show dates during September and arrangements are now in progress.

The Montreal Standard on July 28th said:

"A gentleman well known in connection with canine interests, tells the Standard:—

"The gradual disintegration of the older dog clubs in Montreal from one cause or another has been the means of many good fanciers drifting away from the show game, with the natural result that nothing like the number of dogs are being shown that ought to be in a great sporting centre like Montreal.

"It seems now that common sense is bringing together the men who are really the heart of the dog game in Montreal, and that all differences having been sunk as the result of the procuring of a charter, under the name of "The Associated Kennel Clubs, Incorporated.

The above and similar statements from other sources have drawn replies from our Quebec Director, Mr. R. A. Ross, and from Mrs. J. H. Enright, President of the Ladies' Kennel Club, both of whom offer convincing arguments which are backed by the success of the recent shows held by their respective organizations, and judging from what has appeared in the Montreal press, the proffered olive branch for the sinking of differences has been met with a very definite "No surrender," and so we must abide in patience and await developments.

Edmonton has the nucleus of a grand kennel of German Shepherd dogs through J. G. Young's plucky purchase in England of the bitch Bridget of Picardy. Bridget was to have been bred to Ch. Caro of Welham before leaving British shores, but on the recommendation of Major Baldwin she was bred to the Major's new dog Cito of Picardy instead. This happened on July 16th, and now Mr. Young expects his new property to arrive at Edmonton any day.

It is pleasing to note the ever-increasing interest that lovers of the Alsatian are showing in the breed. Nearly every province having some outstanding specimens around. Western shows have been well pleased with their Alsatian entries generally.

It is with sincere regret that we learn of our esteemed contemporary "Field and Fancy" leaving the ranks of canine journalism in America after having given 28 years of valuable service to the dog lovers on this side of the Atlantic and beyond.

Mr. F. J. Skinner, the President and Treasurer, having passed the proverbial "three score and ten," feels that the years left to him should be years at his personal disposal and in making this decision another experienced journalist is withdrawn from active work in the doggy field. Personally the writer regrets the disappearance of "Field and Fancy" for the reason that Mr. Skinner has been invariably helpful and courteous to me in my work during the last ten years, and I hope that he will be spared for a long time yet to enjoy his well-earned retirement.

Popular Dogs Publishing Corporation will take over the unexpired subscriptions and the advertising, and henceforward will undoubtedly be recognized as America's greatest weekly canine journal.

Major J. H. MacQueen of the R.C.O.C. of Quebec has recently imported from England the liver and white Springer Spaniel bitch, Return of Ranscombe, mated before she left England to Ross of Ranscombe, and as a result of the mating a litter of nine are being raised that are eligible for registration in this country, and from an excellent field trial and bench strain that is new to this continent, furnishing an opportunity for breeders to add new blood to their existing strains.

Notes From Alberta

By Provincial Contributing Editor, R. S. TYRRELL, Bottrel, Alta.

JUDGE WALTER REEVES, report on the Edmonton show will probably be already in print, so that the following, very kindly sent to me by Mr. J. G. Young the Secretary may duplicate a part. Mr. Young's fame as the most efficient official of his kind in the west has spread far and wide, the delay in having this published is due to the fact that my July copy had gone forward. It was a great disappointment in that it was an impossibility for me to be present, and I have to thank Mr. Young for the following notes:

"At Edmonton, the Show this year was an unequalled success, everything ran along according to schedule and it was very gratifying to us to hear so many complimentary remarks about the show, especially from out-of-town exhibitors. We had an entry of 228 dogs with five absentees, which gives us a three point show, and an increase of fifty-seven entries over last year.

The annual banquet and dance on the first evening of the show was a very enjoyable affair. The out-of-town exhibitors were the guests of the Club, and it was a real doggy get-together. It was noticed that George Kynoch and E. P. Tuson are still arguing over bulldogs—past and present; that room 104 was a very busy place; that Billy Quilley got his own back at the president of the E.D.F. Club; that Bob Cundall shakes a mean hoof, with Bobby Robson of Calgary following him a close second; that Jack Fletcher can still make a speech; that Albert Figg excels, not only in the keeping of Poms, but also the keeping of the key; that Harry Leslie is going to get his entries in earlier next year; that the sale of Wrigley's did not increase when E. P. Tuson brought his Chinook Argo, who incidentally won best bulldog in show, and best opposite sex in show, to Edmonton.

Int. Ch. Marvel of Avandale won best dog in show, also the C.K.C. Cup for the Best Canadian-Bred. Mrs. T. P. Murray won the prize for best lady handler. Tommie Quilley and Regie Figg were the successful contenders for the best boy handler. Mr. Burns, who was not very complimentary in his remarks about Mr. Wize's tonsorial ability with a safety razor, won the prize for the best male handler—a genuine Gillette Safety Razor. Dr. W. A. Wilson won the special for the best bitch owned by a member of the E.D.F. Club with his beautiful pointer Alberta Bess. Mr. W. C. Burns won the special for the best puppy bred by a member of the Club, with his Springer Spaniel Blonde Bobbie of Burnside. Mrs. C. G. Budd of the Marvel Kennels won the cup for the best Edmonton Pekingese with her Chee Li of Chinatown. The writer won the special for a stud dog and two of his get with Curt von Ruf, Hamish von Kirk and P. Alexis von Kirk. Miss Eleanor Rawlings, 4-year-old, won the prize for the best girl handler with the Springer Spaniel, Flint on Thank of Burnside—George Kynoch had better keep a close eye on this young lady or she will be doing him out of his job with the Avandale Springers.

The attendance at the show was very gratifying, over three thousand persons paying admission to the show, with over fifteen hundred on the second day.

Lethbridge Fanciers are very pleased with the success of their dogs at Medicine Hat in Collies "Brookland Baron" owned by the Luxemburg Kennels took winners dogs best collie in show and fourth place for best of all breeds, the same kennels also won 1st puppy in Alsations this youngster was also best puppy in the show all breeds. Mrs. Holberton the Secretary of the Southern Club took winners dogs with her Parti-Colored Cocker Spaniel "Pat".

All is set for their show on the 23rd. and 24th. inst. William Forest Esq. of Calgary is the Judge and this year will see the "Best ever". Alsatian Police Dog Trials will be held, a $50.00 cup is offered, and there is much interest amongst fanciers of this breed.

Mrs. N. Kerfoot of Grand Valley has added to her Sealyhams imported from England last fall, this time from south of the line. The shipment consists of "Shelterfield Surprise" A.K.C. No. 583893, born March 19, 1927, white with badger markings on head.

Sire, Int. Ch. St. Margaret Surprise of Lucknow Dam Kenduskey Valley Allspice, by Ch. Barberryhill Jim Riekey a lovely little bitch with excellent carriage. The other is "Shelterfield Santurk", an all white female, born Feb. 29, 1928, by Ch. Brash Beau, by Ch. Hornstall Dod Dam, Kenduskey Valley Indian Maid. Miss Fox of Calgary has one or two nice puppies by Ch. Blitz of Nibelhort still to dispose of, they were advertised in Kennel and Bench recently, those interested in Doberman-Pinchers would do well to communicate with her. The Alberta Field Trial Club were greatly handicapped by scarcity of birds during their spring meet at High River. The writer has persuaded Jack Miner their very enthusiastic secretary to look over the ground in this district. A great many young birds perished in the August snow storms which fell in 1926-7; but with the natural shelter in the Dog Pound District they are coming back fast.

The principal winners during the spring event were:

Junior Puppy Stake for Pointers and Setters under one year of age, eight entries, 1st.—Pat Dough Rap owned and handled by C. M. Arnold of High River. Pat is by Nifty Boy ex Tips Josephine, a fast puppy and should develop into a good one: Ghost's Blue Belle, by Eugene Ghost's Flash ex-Gunner Girl, the youngest dog in the stake, owned and handled by Dr. W. A. Wilson of Edmonton, secured second. A snappy one barely eight months old. In the Derby's, 1st.—Kelley by Lady's Charley P. ex-Moyer, he hunted at all times and finished strong. 2nd.—Miss N.R.M. owned and handled by J. M. Miller, A pointer bitch by Jack Par ex Bourbon's Compass Point, proved a surprise in the toughest going; 3rd.—to Etta Eugene by Eugene Ghost's Flash ex-Tinjik Etta, owned and handled by J. M. Rudolph, Senior Puppy Stake, open to Setters and Pointers whelped subsequently to Jan. 1st, 1927, increased entry and superior quality to previous events, 1st.—C. M. Arnold's pointer Pat Dough Rap. Turned in a first class performance, Robert P., owned and handled by J. M. Rudolph, a big black and white setter dog by "Hilliers Bimbo" ex-Beau Peep Fanny, placed second. All age stake, 24 dogs entered and real competition if there had been birds.

Kelley again showed excellent form and took 1st. "Daisy" English setter bitch owned and handled by M. R. Christie, 2nd; Jim Riley Frush and Mandy Lou divided third.

Dog Racing in Canada will soon be an accomplished fact. This has been made possible by an invention of the writers, a motor propelled mechanical rabbit, which takes the place of the electric track, which without legalized betting was too costly to install, to pay dividends on the amount of capital involved.

The Alberta Dog Racing Association expect to hold a meet in Calgary on Labor Day.

The officers are Manager and Secretary R. S. Tyrell "Cossack Kennels" Bottrel, Alberta, "Borzois", The Managing Committee are influential Calgary citizens and dog fanciers of long standing. Mr. F. Currie, Whip-pets; Mr. L. Jacques, Greyhounds and Borzois; Mr. F. Baker, Greyhounds.

The racing is being conducted as a sport and the betting question is not involved at present.

Amongst others interested is Mr. J. E. Hunter, President of the Alberta Kennel Club whose racing whippet Jack Fairman, a beautiful clean-cut Red, has just completed his Championship. He is by Edina Black Hawk ex-Ch. Rosebank Sensation. A lovable little dog with a host of admirers, he has won under Mr. Oppenheimer at Calgary; Mr. Selby at Medicine Hat; Jack Fletcher Calgary; Walter Reeves at Edmonton. His Manchester terriers, Danleno (61990) and Princess Doreen (55752) have also just completed their Championships Willowdale Princess (46414) had also done so, but was accidentally killed at a time when the writer was enjoying a visit with Mr. Hunter. It was a very sad incident in an otherwise pleasant occasion, and Mr. Hunter will have the sympathy not only of myself, but of all real fanciers. The Borzoi Club of Canada have written asking my support in getting the name of our breed changed from Russian Wolfhound to Borzoi, made official. This is something I have always advocated. It was a mistake in the first place to call our beautiful breed other than by its correct appellation, it was owing to a domestic squabble in the States that they were called Russian Wolfhounds at all, and this should never have involved Canada. In England and other parts of the British Empire, also I believe in Europe, the breed is called by its true Russian name of

BEAGLES AND BEAGLERS

The Annual Meeting of the Central Ontario Beagle Club was held at the Brunswick Hotel, Toronto, July 23rd.
The President, Mr. W. J. Archibald, occupied the chair. Preceding the election of officers for the coming year, Mr. Archibald gave a brief outline of the year's activities. He pointed out that the membership had grown—that interest in the Beagle was increasing, and that the Club was in a sound and solvent condition. He hoped that the meeting would decide to hold this year's Trials on the white hare, as he thought that they would provide a better test of the hounds than the Jacks.

At the conclusion of his remarks, he announced his decision to retire from the Presidency of the Club. He said he would continue taking an active part in its affairs.

The following officers were elected:
President, Mr. N. F. Tonkin, Oshawa; Vice-President, Mr. Geo. Foster, Toronto; Secretary-Treasurer, Emerson
Robertson, 38 Pollis Ave., Toronto.

After the election of officers the Secretary outlined a place he had for this year's Trials. The suggestion was that the Trials be held at Acton, Ont., on white hare. That they be confined to four classes, 13 and 15 inch derbys and 13 and 15 inch Championships, and that they be run off in two days, starting Saturday morning, October 6th; also that a bench show and entertainment be held on Saturday evening at the Station Hotel where the Club will make its headquarters.

The meeting was very enthusiastic over the idea, and decided to adopt it.
It was felt that this would enable a large number of fanciers to attend who were unable to give three days from their business, but who could easily get away for a week-end. The field trial committee are to bring in a detailed report for the August meeting.

SASKATCHEWAN NEWS

By Provincial Contributing Editor, MONTAGUE WALLACE, Saskatoon.

THE Western Prairies' big show season has just closed, and we can look over it and say honestly, "Best yet." We are greatly handicapped by long distance and high express rates, but this is to a great extent lost sight of in the good sportsmanship and good fellowship that prevails at these gatherings.

As we look back over this long line of successive shows, we can readily see a steady improvement in the quality of dogs shown. We can compare the present season's specimens of any breed, with those of a few years ago, and see a marked advance in the general quality, and many outstanding individuals, individuals that would be outstanding in any show on earth. We also note that there is a better system in the management of these shows, and a greatly increased interest and attendance. Mr. Dog is steadily forging to the front, and the Management of the Agricultural and Industrial Exhibitions, in connection with which these dog shows are held, are taking cognizance of this fact, as shown by their more liberal terms, and increased encouragement to the Kennel Clubs. All put together, the Kennel Clubs of the West can report marked progress.

The circuit included shows held at Moose Jaw, Brandon, Medicine Hat, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina and Prince Albert. Inasmuch that some of these are outside of the Province of Saskatchewan we can only mention them in passing, as they will be reported more fully by the contributor in the Province where they were held.

The mere mention of Moose Jaw brings back memories of excellent shows and wonderful times. This year this energetic and enthusiastic club outdid itself. The venue was a hummer and made one think of Madison Square Garden. The club was able to get the whole ground floor of a large block with big windows on three sides, a high ceiling, modern conveniences and roomy and airy benching. The show was a three-pointer and a good one. The officers and members had put an unlimited amount of work on this show. Everyone from President Phil Lillie down were tugging in the traces to carry the show over the top, and they did it. The Secretary, H. E. Devlin, deserves special mention for faithful services, and I need only mention the Judge's name, George Kynoch, and you will know that that Department was well looked after. George certainly knows his groceries, and places the ribbons accordingly. All-in-all, this was a splendid show.

The procession now goes to Brandon, where Mr. J. C. Fletcher was judge. Someone made a slip in arrangements when Moose Jaw and Brandon shows overlapped. Then followed in quick succession Medicine Hat, Calgary, and Edmonton shows.

Now we find all roads leading back to Saskatchewan and to Saskatoon. Mr. Walter H. Reeves was selected to do the adjudicating and well he did it too. He was not unknown in Saskatoon, and certainly was welcomed back again. And still another welcome awaits him for the future. Saskatoon likes Walter Reeves and Walter Reeves' judging. The show brought out many very fine specimens, but space forbids mention of these. The prize winners will be listed in this issue. One dog we might mention. This is the Chow Chow, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Moore of Regina, Sask. We have few Chows in Western Canada, and this one owned by these popular fanciers is a good one. His sire is Hong Kong King, and when he is fully developed he will be a dog to be proud of. The Exhibition Board handed over to the ever-popular Major Gunn the duty of looking after the Kennel Department, and he, with the Fair Manager, Mr. S. W. Johns, were ever ready to help in every way, to make this show a crowning success. They arranged a splendid dinner which gave officers of the Exhibition and Members and Exhibitors of the Kennel Club a chance to get together for their mutual benefit. In these two men, Major Gunn and S. W. Johns, the Club has real friends, and with their help the Kennel Club hopes to make future shows an interesting part of the Exhibition.

As Saskatoon closed her gates, Regina opened hers. We looked forward to Regina show with interest, knowing that they had brought a Judge, Mr. J. W. Marples, across the Atlantic to make their awards. There was a splendid display of dogs. Many of them with international reputations, and quite a few here imported.

After the shake-up International Champion Marvel of Avondale was drawn from the bag as best in show. This is a top-notch Springer, piloted by Mr. George Kynoch. She was bred here in the West, and can hold her own in any show ring in the world. She bears her name "Marvel" well.

Mr. T. D. Handrahan acted as ring steward, and kept everybody and everything in order, and much of the success of the show may be credited to him. Mr. Keating, as Superintendent and Secretary, was right on his job, and kept the machinery nicely oiled and working smoothly. The visitors and Exhibitors are much indebted to Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Semple and to Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Dean, for hospitality extended.

The next move was to Prince Albert, the constituency of our Federal Premier, Sir W. L. McKenzie King. Mr. King was called to Europe a few days previously and had to forego seeing a very fine collection of Saskatchewan dogs. George Kynoch sorted them over at this show, and found the best in Mr. Wilcox's Springer Spaniel bitch. She was a beauty and "Geordie" soon had her spotted. We offer our best congratulations to Mr. Wilcox, as seldom a local dog wins when many with big reputations are sent in from all over the country. The people of the district showed their interest by turning out in goodly numbers. The usual splendid good fellowship prevailed, and interesting entertainment was provided for the visitors, all of whom expressed their good wishes to the Prince Albert Club, and hoped to return again when the next show was announced. All these shows will furnish much argument and amusement around the grocery store fire this winter.

Dr. J. T. Cooper, C.K.C. Director for Saskatchewan, undertook to visit all the shows in the Province this summer. He was able to be at Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and Prince Albert, but pressure of business prevented him from getting to Regina, although he had planned to be there.

Mrs. Hanselman, wife of the President of the Saskatoon Kennel Club, very graciously presented the prizes to the winners at the conclusion of the Saskatoon show.

We note with pleasure that Saskatchewan has contributed liberally to the list of champions this year. Jas. Bell of Limerick gets the certificate for his Labrador, Banchory Jake. Mrs. H. Helby of Regina, has collected the necessary points for her Cocker, Goldstream Diplomat. Rock-Ribbed Intruder, Boston-bred by R. B. Carter of Assinaboia, is also accepted into the charmed circle. Mr. J. C. Mitchell claims a championship for his smooth Collie, Royalty's Emigrant. And now one more is added to the list in Dr. Cooper's tri-color Collie dog, Elmhill Jerry. This dog was best of breed at Moose Jaw, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Regina.

We looked in vain at all the Shows for the President of the Canadian Kennel Club, Mr. McFarland, whom we had hoped would visit us this summer. We will still hope for that visit in the near future.

DOG DISCIPLINE.

By Sir Robert Gower, O.B.E., M.P.

Now and again there arises, in the Press, a somewhat heated discussion on the misbehavior of dogs. Various remedies for what is termed "the dog nuisance" are suggested, such as a prohibitive tax. Some people hint darkly that a wholesale massacre of dogs would improve the world.

Such extravagances may be dismissed without comment, but those who have the welfare of the dog at heart cannot afford to ignore the reasonable and restrained protests of people who, while suffering from the shortcomings of some badly trained dog or his owner, are always ready to give a well-mannered dog his due.

Many grievances arise because some owners fail to realize the potentialities of the average dog's mind, and accordingly omit certain subjects from his curriculum because he "won't understand".

The first lesson is obedience—not in performing unnatural tricks, but a habit of prompt compliance with reasonable demands. If he does wrong, tell him—don't thrash him. Corporal punishment is a destructive form of argument, weakening the dog's spirit, and his respect for his owner. Be consistent—don't bewilder a dog by permitting certain transgressions one day, and forbidding them the next. Be consistent, too, in using words of command, and see that others who may have control of the dog adopt the same phrases. No dog can serve two masters. The punishment for flagrant misbehavior should be solitary confinement for an hour or so.

Frequently one sees a dog rushing out after motor vehicles and cycles—a habit involving great danger to himself and to the objects of his attentions. Such a tendency should be sternly repressed at the time of the offence. The habit of jumping up at people should also be discouraged. A dog often does this with the best of intentions, but to the utter ruin of a friend's delicate frock.

Another aspect of a dog's training that calls for careful attention, is in keeping him to heel. As with the rest of his "schooling", in puppyhood is the best time to train him. An admirable way is to attach to his collar a considerable length of strong twine, which obviates the chafing attendant upon the use of an ordinary leash. If the dog fails instantly to respond to your command, draw him gently towards you, at the same time repeating the command.

Prompt obedience to orders, especially when complied with in the face of great temptation, should receive praise. A pat or a kind word means much to a dog.

CANCELLATIONS SASKATOON KENNEL CLUB.

English Bulldog Puppy and Novice Dogs "Lindbergh" ineligible, as no breeder, sire or dam was given. No reserve.

Shepherd Dog, Alsatian, Novice Bitches, "Big Bertha Von Froben" ineligible, having won a first prize in the Novice Class at the Saskatoon Kennel Club, 1927, placing "Toots Von Nordstern" 2nd.

NOVA SCOTIA NOTES.

By Mrs. Helen Doherty.

Preparations are now complete for the show to be held next week—Aug. 28th-29th-30th and 31st, by the Nova Scotia Kennel Club, and all things point to an outstanding success. Certain it is that never has such a standard of quality been attained, and the going promises to be highly interesting in all the classes.

Young Halifax is all agog over the Pet Parade to be held on the morning of Tuesday, the opening day. The children will gather at the S.P.C. Rooms, and march through town, thence to the Commons opposite the Armouries, where the judging will take place, C. E. Power, Roy McKay, and W. T. Miller officiating.

Three big special prizes will be awarded, one for the fattest dog, one one for the smallest and one for the largest dog. Other prizes will be distributed, one to each child participating in the parade. In the afternoon the dog show will open, and it is expected that the finest bunch of ever benched in the Maritimes will be present, and many new importations will vie with the old favorites for the coveted "blue".

Major C. H. Colwell of this city received last week from the kennels of Mr. James Voase Rank a beautiful harlequin Dane bitch pup, just over six months. She is registered as "Harmonica of Ouborough", being sired by "Capitol of Oughborough", he by "Grand Champion Rex Lendor von Zellnerschloss of Ouborough". The dam is "Autumn of Harmony", she, if I remember rightly being by "Champion Marcus of Walsall". This youngster is a magnificent specimen, possessing very heavy bone, being full of quality, and should develop into a sound large bitch, able to give a good account of herself in the nursery and the ring.

Among the latest arrivals to the "garrison city" are "Nova Moravian Miss Muffit", a sixteen months' old brindle and white English bull bitch which has done considerable winning in England for her breeder T. Slater, under the name of "Glentina". This bitch is by the late "Champion Glenalmond", and is one of the first of his progeny to come to Nova Scotia, if not to Canada. Accompanying her on the S. S. Arabia was a grey brindle Irish Woldhound from I. W. Everett, also for the Nova Kennels. She is a sound typical eighteen months old bitch by "Champion Kilshane" ex the winning bitch "Jilldon". The following day there arrived at the same kennels the Irish Woldhound "Nova Wilton Wood Kilbarry", the well known New York winner, and sire of the sensational "Champion Mona of Ambleside".

The week following the Nova Scotia Kennel Club fixture will witness the twentieth annual dog show of the New Brunswick Kennel Club.

What SANAHIDE
Will do For Your Dog

HAS YOUR DOG MANGE? SANAHIDE

Will Conquer It This Way:

Sanahide dissolves the waxy, sebaceous secretions overlying the mites, frees the mites and then kills them.

Sanahide is no hit or miss remedy. It is scientific. The best kennels recommend it; Veterinarians endorse it; hundreds of unsolicited testimonials prove it.

The following experiment is interesting: A well-known Veterinarian, of New Haven, Conn. (U.S.A.), whose dog had a bad and long standing case of mange, divided the dog into two zones. On one he put his own remedy, and on the other, Sanahide. In a little while the side of the dog on which he put the Sanahide was completely well, while mange was still present on the other side.

FOR RINGWORM AND ECZEMA
CHAMPION dogs reach top form with Sanahide. For grooming a dog for the show bench, nothing equals Sanahide. Blue ribbons prove it. Try it and see.

WITH THE WHIPPETS.

For an unadvertised race a remarkable crowd turned out to see the Long Tails compete for the Dufferin Trophy. The sport is certainly taking an upward curve and racing Whippets are now as scarce as hen's teeth. The demand for Whippets exceeds the supply. New members want a running dog of their own. The Toronto Whippet Association is a properly organized body to conduct Whippet racing on a fair and honorable basis. The time is not far distant when they will have their own race track with a paid gate. The race by heats:

1st Heat.

This heat went to Just in Time, with Baby Peggy second. Just in Time broke fast as usual and held her lead all the way. Baby Peggy put up a game race to be second, as did Nuf Sed (enough said), who could not overcome his handicap. Time, 13 4-5 seconds.

2nd Heat.

Finds the picture dog Gaffsman in front. White Wings was second, but Polly Anna was a good thing. Time, 12 3-5 seconds.

3rd Heat.

This heat went to Mr. Eakins' Queenie. This fast bitch had the advantage of a perfect slip by Mr. Anderson and caught Sturdy Stella at the 180-yard mark. Time, 12 3-5 seconds.

1st Semi-Final.

Gaffsman had to extend himself to catch Just in Time. He raced Just in Time neck and neck all the way and passed her at his owner's bidding a yard from the finish, to win by a nose. Time, 2 3-5 seconds.

2nd Semi-Final.

Again finds the consistent Queenie in front. Mr. Anderson, alert at the start, had her away flying at the 180-yard mark. Sturdy Stella stole a look over her shoulder and finished second. Time, 12 3-5 seconds.

The Final.

Finds Queenie able to hold her handicap advantage to the finishing line. Just in Time 2nd. Gaffsman 3rd. Sturdy Stella 4. This was a real fast race. Sturdy Stella led for 180 yards. Queenie creeps up and passes her, as does Just in Time and Gaffsman. All four dogs banged over the line with no daylight between them. Time, 12 2-5 seconds. A day of real racing and the handicapper, Mr. O. J. Storer, is to be congratulated on his close finishes.

Gaffsman won the Flash-Away Stakes, running over a heavy track. He picked out the best going and won handily. Time 13 seconds. The Match Race between Mr. Rudd's Eddie's Monkey and Champion Jean was won by the former. Monkey was slipped by Mr. Rudd and Ch. Jean by her owner, P. Smith. Peter got the jump at the break, but you can't slip a dog and rag it too, so Jean was beat. Jean led for 175 yards, but Peter was at the wrong end. Monkey came on at his owner's bidding to win by 2 yards. The time, as taken by O. J. Storer, was 13 seconds. Mr. Rudd's claim for a Canadian record is not recognized by the Toronto Whippet Association. Monkey proved he has not gone back any by beating Gaffsman in a hastily arranged Match Race. True, Gaffsman had been training for 100-yard race and was leading at that point. These two dogs will have to come together again under proper terms, the whole Whippet fancy expects it.

Can a Whippet beat a Race Horse? The other evening at the Dufferin Race Rack Sturdy Stella, the Long Tail that races for Jim Sparks, beat seven of the best Whippets in training, winning her heats handily. In addition to the usual fans all the horsemen turned out and enjoyed (to them) the new sport.

Afterwards the two groups of sportsmen got together and the question came up: Can a Whippet beat a Race Horse? Both groups standing pat for their respective fancies. The outcome of which will be a match between a race horse of the sprinter class that runs 3 furlongs in 35 or 36 seconds and a Whippet that runs 200 yards in about 12 3-5 seconds. The race to be 200 yards from a standing start.

The dog men bank on the Whippet starting faster, and the horse men on the horse catching him before the finishing line. This should be a race worth seeing.

The writer will be pleased to hear from any Exhibition or Fair officials, or "Old Home Week" officials, who would like a Whippet race put on at their respective attractions.

The Sled Dogs of the North Country

The principal effect of castration on all animals is to diminish masculinity and aggressiveness, and whether it be a dog, gelding or steer, the animal tends to become fat and lazy. To get the best results it is not wise to castrate a young puppy, but rather to wait until he is a year and six months old, or just before he goes into harness in the autumn. Perhaps that is about the best all round time for the operation. To prevent a dog from getting fat and lazy he must be worked just as soon as he has recovered from the operation and continuously so after this until he has lost his strength and speed, through age or infirmity. To explain more fully—it is believed that a castrated racing dog which has once been allowed to become fat through idleness will never come back entirely to his previous speed and endurance, even though he is thoroughly worked and trained. The writer is fully aware of the difficulties in keeping sled dogs at work in summer, but unless this can be done, he believes that a castrated dog's speediest year will follow his castration and that the next year he will be decidedly slower. For work dogs which are often tied up or kept in an enclosure during the summer, castration is not advised except perhaps in the case of bad fighters. If a comparison be made between dogs and horses, it seems probable that an uncastrated dog will work just as well and may have more endurance than an uncastrated animal that is to say, up to the time he begins to develop sexual instincts. As soon as a dog has mated, his character changes markedly; the change is well known to dog men, and it is just this alteration of temperament which does not fit in with racing.

To sum up, puppies should not be castrated until full grown. After castration they must work continuously without long spells of idleness.

TREATMENT OF WOUNDS AND INJURIES.

The most important and serious of all injuries are those which occur in the feet. For sore and swollen feet, the writer has found nothing better than a white lotion of lead acetate and zinc sulphate made with snow water. These drugs are most convenient to use while travelling; small packets of the mixed powders may be carried without danger of freezing, such as there is with most disinfectants. At the end of a day's run, when the dogs have been fed and watered, a powder is dropped into a cup or basin of warm water and it is then a simple matter to dip and soak all the sore and tender feet which may be found in a team.

For cuts and frozen surfaces, pure glycerine to which has been added 2 per cent. Lysol is a good thing to apply. It softens the skin and of course cannot freeze, either when it is applied or in the bottle. In the protection of the feet, especially towards spring when needle points form on the snow, mocassins of flannelette, canvas, or buckskin are used. Mocassins unfortunately wear out rapidly or else cause friction of the raw surfaces consequently, and instead of improving the condition, they may aggravate it. It is therefore a wise plan to keep a watchful eye on the dogs to prevent such occurrences. Cotton batting applied to the foot before the moccasin is tied on will sometimes protect the raw surface and prevent the sore from sticking.

INWARD TURNING OF EYELIDS.

This condition is fairly common among sled dogs. The results are disastrous. One eyelid slips under the other, the eyelashes irritate the eye ball, the pus begins to form, and very soon the dog becomes half blind. Cutting out a piece of skin close to the eyelid and sewing together the edges of the wound will pull the eyelid in place. Care and cleanliness must of course be observed. It seems probable that this eyelid trouble is connected with weak eyes or through snow blindness.

DISEASES.

There is one northern disease which occurs periodically and which has somewhat the appearance of rabies, but from what the writer has learned about the affection it cannot be true rabies. Whatever may be the exact nature of the disease it attacks all canines, either wild or domestic.

Just as the writer had finished his paper, he received a letter from the Rev. Marsh of Eskimo Point, Hudson Bay, informing him that a bad outbreak of the above disease had occurred. The symptoms he gives are as follows—"The dogs here are again suffering from this terrible scourge. It seems to me like rabies. The cheeks swell, the nose stops up, the mouth drips saliva, the animal is gradually paralyzed (from hindquarters usually,) and very soon is dead." He adds—"The natives are all losing dogs and so are the white men, and you can realize I know, how serious a proposition it is."

Generally speaking, northern dogs are more healthy than those of temperate climates, though under certain conditions they suffer more from parasites.

PARASITES.

During his stay in Alaska one of the first things the author noticed was that the fall litters of pups usually grew larger and stronger than those of the spring litters. From repeated observations in different places, he decided that this was due to infection with worms, both round worms (Ascarids) and hookworms (Ancylostoma) during the summer months. The pups in the fall litters escaped infection owing to the cold weather and to the ground being covered with snow. There are some excellent remedies for the treatment of round worms—oil of chenopodium, santonin and calomel, and carbon tetrachloride for hookworms. A plan recommended by Hall might be tried. Treat the bitch for worms beforehand or early in pregnancy, wash her with soap and water, and then place her in a clean run where no dogs have been before. After the puppies are born, they must be kept isolated from all other dogs until they are three or four months old. Once a dog has obtained his growth, worms do not hurt him as much. Growing puppies on the other hand, show the stunting effects of worms markedly they become "pot bellied" and unhealthy looking and cease to grow. Hookworms bring on a serious form of anemia, so that any sled dog which shows lack of stamina and is losing flesh should be given a treatment for worms.

THE GIANT KIDNEY WORM.

(Diectophynme renale)

This is a very large red worm, one to two feet long, or even larger. It occurs in the kidney or in the abdominal cavity. The worm is comparatively rare in the States, but the writer has seen specimens from the Hudson Bay region where it is said to cause considerable trouble. Hall, writing about this worm, said "Infested dogs are said to be dull as a rule and to have a wabbling gait and a hoarse bark. Nervous symptoms sometimes stimulate rabies." According to Silvestrini, Levi and Lisi, rabiform symptoms have been observed in dogs which harbor the worm. It is thought that dogs obtain the worm from eating fish, but the life history is not yet known.

TAPEWORMS.

All dogs are likely to get tapeworms if fed on raw offal or meat from rabbits, caribou, or the domestic animals. In northern dogs there are at least three species which are common where caribou or reindeer meat is fed. The cystic form of one of these, Echinococcus granulosus, is dangerous to man.

All drivers should be careful not to get their hands soiled with dog feces, and make it a practice to wash thoroughly before eating.

The new treatment for tapeworms in dogs with Arecoline hydrobromide is safe and effective, so that tapeworms are not now such a trouble as they used to be.

SUMMARY.

Dog racing is a sport which is deserving of encouragement.

A standard is given for the huskie. This dog should not be crossed indiscriminately with other breeds. He should be improved by careful selection.

It is recommended that the Siberian or Samoyede dog be introduced into Canada, to be used as a mail carrying dog for fast travel and for racing. A standard for these dogs is given.

The different breeds of dogs used in racing are described.

Any kind of dog will do for a short race provided he is fast; but for a long race in a northern country, the dogs to choose are the huskie for strength and endurance and the Siberian for speed. Races in which the drivers run alongside their sleds most of the way are regarded as being more in the nature of contests, in which the running powers of the men should be considered as well as those of the dogs.

In the Alaskan races there are no limitations on the number of dogs which may constitute a team.

These races are not run "on time," the team which comes back first to the starting point wins the race.

Dogs enjoy being driven and they respond to kind treatment. The Indian is regarded as being more cruel to his dogs than the Eskimo.

Driving dogs in pairs is recommended where a large number are being used and where the trails are wide enough.

Fish is an ideal food for dogs as it contains all the necessary elements. This can easily be proved by feeding it continuously over a long period. Dogs do not get a distaste for fish.

During the races it is not advisable to suddenly change the diet, merely to make additions to it.

Castrated dogs are easy to manage. If they are kept continually in training they make good racers.

The treatment of wounds and sore feet is discussed. Remedies suitable for a northern climate are indicated.

Diseases are mentioned, and an epidemic which has raged over the north country is discussed.

Parasitic worms are described together with methods of treatment and suppression.

CONCLUSIONS.

In concluding this discussion on northern dogs, the writer hopes that he has shown the need for thorough study of sled dogs, methods of handling them by breeding better strains, of selecting proper foods and other matters which are of vital interest to dog drivers.

In addition to this if the northern European method of staking trails and building rest cabins at necessary points was adopted, our north country would develop much faster and Canada would benefit as a whole.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

The writer is greatly indebted to Mr. F. C. Hennessey for the three-half tone illustrations of the Huskie, Siberian and Wolf-Huskie. Mr. Hennessey made these drawings from photographs supplied by the author. Mr. Hennessey has also drawn outlines of the three types of dogs, which gives an idea of the proportions of the animals. It must be mentioned also that it was through the kindness of Mr. A. Gibson of the Dominion Department of Entomology that Mr. Hennessey's work was permitted. The writer wishes to acknowledge the help of numerous friends who have assisted him and given information both in the North and in more temperate climes.

Mr. Walter Reeves has kindly looked over the standards which the writer has set up. These standards are based in part on the work of others, notably from M. le Comte de Bylandt, supplemented with the writer's own ideas on the importance and the percentage which certain characters deserve.

Figs. 7, 8 and 13 were permitted through the kindness of Mr. Carl Lomen of Nome, Alaska.

KENNEL AND BENCH

Notes From Manitoba

By Provincial Contributing Editor, J. C. WOODEND, Winnipeg, Man.

MONDAY, August 6th, was proclaimed civic holiday for Winnipeg. A few hurried calls on the 'phone arranged an outing for Manitoba's contributing editor.

D. E. McLean, breeder and importer of English setters, and R. C. Henderson, Springer Spaniel enthusiast, were to trek north some hundred miles to look over dogs they had in training there in the game country. I was to join them and bring along Johnny Labotts for good measure.

Noon Saturday gave every promise of fair weather so we gathered at McLean's Iono kennels, transferred equipment to Mac's car, then had a look at inmates of the kennel. There was the grand old dog Ch. Jock of Crombie, ravaged by a malady, contracted when out for his championship, which hundreds of dollars paid to medical men had failed to cure—he was a long step from the dog who stood on the block in England's largest shows and met defeat only by his sire, the invincible Ch. Oh By Jingo. Some consolation to Mac was that his latest imported bitch Jean of Crombie was heavy in whelp to him.—Jean is of splendid type and mated to Jock should prove very valuable.

Iona's Pride, around home known as Tilly the Toiler, was next paraded. Here is a beautiful Blue Belton bitch, the apple of Mac's eye—and he may be right too, although looking thin on the day, it was explained, by her energy in pointing birds around the kennels from morning till night, very little to fault in her and on maturing should go a long way.

We hurried now for we had a long trail of unknown condition ahead, bid farewell to Mrs. McLean and headed north.—Mud holes—detour, north again—detour, north again, and at one of these detours "ye editor" set his "turkey," containing a change, by the roadside, and failed to lift it as motor moved away—so felt somewhat embarrassed when lights out were sounded—but it's true.

We passed through a lovely country, heavy in crop on all sides, left Grosse Isle on right, then the town of Warren, then woodlands. Now we came to the grazing country, the beautiful green hay fields, and bluffs of poplar and oak were very restful to the eye. This continued right on through Lake Francis, St. Laurent Beach and Oak Point. From here on—well, maybe they were roads, but all I saw was mud holes and detours. Finally Lunder came in view, and a most inviting sign, "Parlor." We went in, refreshed. We made last two miles over excellent gravel road to C. C. Ayre's dairy farm and dog ranch. A party of six of Ayre's relatives had preceded us a few hours and our arrival was a sure surprise on account of recent heavy rains, but such a crowd did not feaze our host, his wife or strapping big son. A most hearty welcome was ours. A meal—soon ready, soon gone—was plentiful and appetizing, and these continued during our stay. Several hours talk out under the oaks—not bothered with skeeters either, which surprised me, as I came prepared with a bottle of skeeter dope—made us ready to roll into the feathers—yes sir, real feather beds—and next we knew, fall out orders well sounded by entire kennel, at 5 a.m.

Mac had ambition, so took a pair of setters over the meadows. A four-month-old son of Ch. Jock was not to be left, so on he went for full two hours. "Ye editor" pulled one when he got a pail and stool, and did his best by helping with the milking—they didn't think he could. Henderson had Rufus of Wildwood among the rabbits, where he proved steady, and no chase.

A heavy breakfast required a ball game to limber up—then proceeded to go over the dogs and put them through few trials with a dummy and get some pictures. First we took a look at Grit, as handsome and typical dark liver and white springer as can be seen anywhere, one that if given a fair and unbiased judgment would carry away the blue ribbon at any show. Then Monty, a very handsome black and white springer; then his sister, Beauty, also black and white, real nice type too, and a very intelligent bitch. Next black and white Wildwood Rufus, Henderson's pup and exceptionally keen young dog with plenty of fire. These were all given a tryout and performed nicely. Crossing a field we came to another bunch of twelve. These, too, were given a trial and showed up well. The outstanding one here was a black Labrador Bitch, and she would gladden the heart of any shooting man, very fast and sure, a tender-mouthed faultless retriever.

Moving in again, the English Setters were loosed for a run over the meadows. Nora of Edendale, owned by that veteran fancier, Mr. Ridge, Iona's Pride, Vita's Juno, Ch. Jock of Crombie, Iona's Endurance, from McLean's string—these are all splendid specimens. Blue Beltons displayed excellent ranging. With such stock under these conditions Manitoba is ready to dispute first place with any province in Canada.

Word had come to our ears that we would find disease rampant at these kennels of Mr. Ayre's, and we hasten to say that no dogs any place on earth could be found in more excellent condition, coats in full bloom, shining like satin, and every dog in splendid flesh. Not a sign of disease on a single dog, every one fit to enter any dog show. Each dog had his kennel in the shade of large oak trees.

Sloughs met the eye for miles and gave promise of excellent duck shooting when the season opens next month. From this position we got a splendid view of the house, nestling in a grand oak grove, well protected from north and full open on south. The land gradually sloped to the hay lands, then to the marshes, which, we are told, abound with duck. A few miles away is an ideal country for chicken.

Mr. Ayre is assisted by his strapping son on the farm. Mrs. Ayre is ever watching to see if she can't do something more for you, is busy looking after the house and about 200 young turkeys, some goslings and chickens, but always has a pat and kind word for the dogs. She is great admirer of the Springer, having had dogs of this breed ever since she was five years of age. I don't think I am misplacing credit when I say I feel her care helps to keep the dogs in such fine condition.

Just west of the house a grove shelters about 100 rabbits, domestic varieties but bred wild, in wild surroundings. Here Mr. Ayre trains his dogs to ignore fur, except on command. He says his dogs are 100 per cent. rabbit proof—we believe it. Ch. Jock of Crombie felt sure he could catch one or get in a wood pile and bring it out. They're too fast for him. Sunday afternoon all cars loaded up and we went over to Lake Manitoba, only a few miles away, to spend on hour on the beach which thronged with people from the district.

Monday morning we had another run with the dogs. Yours truly shouldered Henderson's gun and did away with some vermin. I've to miss my first one yet. Credit was given to the gun—nevertheless, I did the shooting.

We now had a real treat. Gladys, a prospective daughter, made ice cream—and it was ice cream. Lunch served we loaded up for home.

Such hospitality as we had enjoyed during our visit was entirely unlooked for and will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Ayre has a wonderful place for dog building and training, and we wish him unbounded success.

I stopped at Lundar for gas and oil for Lizzie, and Labetts for ourselves had a blowout down the trail. "Tilly the Toiler" or Iona Pride got busy and soon nosed out a large flock of turkey (may have been domestic), but the way they went over tops of the trees would have done credit to the relatives of the south. We made another stop at a refreshment parlor and then home where Mrs. McLean—ever a hospitable hostess—loaded a table with lunch which was soon put away where it did much good. Thus ended a happy outing with the assurance that we'd hit that trail again on the fifteenth of September, at the opening of game season.

One of the leading Collie breeders and exhibitors, who has come to the front in the last ten years, is F. G. Dunstan, founder of the Magnus Kennels, Winnipeg. While looking round the kennels, recently, we were greatly taken with Mr. Dunstan's stud dog, Egyptian Bing Boy, imported from Illinois, U.S.A. "Bing Boy" is a golden sable and white dog of great quality and style, with excellent head, eyes and expression. With a capital front, sound feet and legs, plenty of bone, without being coarse or clumsy, he is a fine mover and as active as a terrier. Gifted also with a deep chest, well ribbed up, a short back, and powerful hind quarters, this dog, in show condition, should prove as successful on the bench as he is already proving as a sire of high-quality pups.

Magnus Bing, another nice Collie, and Sunbeam Fairy, a recent winner on the bench were others noticed in the kennels, not forgetting a nice litter of six Cillie pups sired by Egyptian Bing Boy. Unfortunately five of this litter are bitch puppies—four sable and white, and one tri-color. All, especially the dog puppy, give promise of developing into Collies above the ordinary in character, style and quality.

MR. C. C. AYRE, Lundar, Man., with the Springer Beauty of Kenilworth.

AN INSTANCE OF A COLLIE'S SENSE AND INTELLIGENCE.

While remarking on the Magnus Collies, it may interest lovers of the breed to learn that Mr. Dunstan recently disposed of a young tri-color bitch to parties residing over 100 miles west of Winnipeg. Within a week this Collie returned on foot to the kennels, with the soles of her feet bleeding, sore, and so worn down that it took a week's veterinary treatment to get her on her legs again. She is not fifteen months old till September, was always treated kindly by her original owner, and since her return to the Magnus Kennels will scarcely let Mr. Dunstan out of her sight. Meantime she has developed into a very fine specimen of the breed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pratt of "Braeside" Scottish Terrier fame, are equalled by few breeders in Winnipeg and the West, in their admiration of the "Towsie Tyke" and the quality of the puppies bred by them, which are winning all over Canada and the U.S.A.

Two particularly good "Scotties" are at present housed at the "Braeside" headquarters on Portage Avenue. These are the black brindle, seven and a half months' old puppy, Braeside Jamie, and his dam, Braeside McGraw. Taking the puppy first: Braeside Jamie (C.K.C. 69642) is a beautiful puppy with exceptionally good head, eyes, ears and expression. He is endowed with lots of bone, good front, short back, good spring of rib, and a hard coat of the proper texture. In character and disposition he is a genuine "Diehard," with sound short legs and good feet. He should do well when he makes his debut in public, and later as a sire. A perusal of his pedigree reveals that the best blood of the most famous British, Canadian and American "Scottie" strains run in his veins. He is by John O'Groats (31153), out of Braeside McGraw, (44168), she by the late Pete Ross's Ch. Jock McGraw, out of the famous brood matron Wynyard Belle, (2098). Braeside James' sire's sire was by Gallant Stewart (20825), out of Avondale Action (20514). Some famous Old Country strains of blood figuring in this pedigree are those of the Tayside, Albourne, Adavi, Ellwyn, and other noted kennels. Braeside McGraw, whose breeding is mentioned above, is considered by experts to be one of the most typical Scottish Terriers on this side of the Atlantic. All black in color, with a grand head, and all other points in proportion, she at once strikes a lover of Scotties as an ideal brood-matron, and a certain winner in high-class company, should her owners elect to exhibit her on the bench. She is prolific producer, having whelped on the last two occasions six and eight puppies, respectively to the litter. Curiously enough her litters nearly always contain equal numbers of either sex; in the litter of six there were three dog and three bitch puppies; in that of eight, four of each sex were born. Moreover their dam is a splendid mother and is capable of raising them all without assistance. She is healthy, sound and active, and with reasonable care should prove a little gold mine in the future to her fortunate owners.

Central Canada Exhibition Dog Show

The show at Ottawa this year did not receive the support that Ottawa show certainly deserves, and fanciers should in their own interests realize that space at any exhibition is always at a premium, and that exhibition managements are always cognizant of this fact and feel that any building on the fair grounds can be put to more material advantage than the holding of a dog show that only fills the building for a short period of the fair's duration, and much better support should be forthcoming.

At Ottawa, from the President, Cecil Bethune, down to the boy in charge of keeping the ring clean all are keen on taking care of dog-show exhibitors. Most of the men who manage Ottawa show are themselves dog fanciers with ring reputations, men like Mr. Bethune, who keeps a kennel of Airedales; Mr. Plant, Irish Setters, Pekingese and Cockers; Dr. R. Barnes and Geo. Robertson, Scotties; Jack A. Ferguson, Sealyhams; R. "Humphrey" Elliott, Bull Terriers; W. C. "Dude" Baldwin, American Fox Hounds; Fred C. McLean, Manchestersters; C. E. "Ned" Lining, Cockers. Men from the above have shown at New York and Boston. Some of them have judged at these shows. Ottawa is a genuine dog-loving city, and naturally expects its shows to be considered amongst Canada's best fixtures, and it should be.

Judge Walter H. Reeves has been kind enough to send his impressions on the show, so we will leave his field to him, as after all is said and done, the judge's say is final, and our impressions can make no appreciable difference anyway.

We must however refer to a real human touch that manifested itself at the Ottawa fixture, wondering why the famous American Foxhounds of W. C. Baldwin had not been benched. Inquiries were met with the sad intelligence that Mrs. Baldwin had died suddenly at her home on Patterson Ave. Almost spontaneously a little fund was secured and an eloquent message of sympathy in the form of a lovely floral spray was sent to the stricken home from the exhibitors attending the show. We noticed too that many found it convenient to attend the funeral. We noticed Messrs. Cecil Bethune, Dr. Barnes, Humphrey Elliott, Jack Ferguson, Dick Briggs, Art Davies, Fred McLean, George Robertson, Pete Foubert, Ex-Mayor Frank Plant, W. E. Newton, Tom Short, "Ned" Living and Walter H. Reeves amongst the mourners. The funeral was in charge of the Rev. Robert Milliken of Stewarton United Church. The burial was at Beechwood cemetery, one of the most beautiful of all God's acres that we have been privileged to see.

An abundance of flowers—which had been sent in spite of a published request that it was the family's desire that same should be omitted—spoke eloquently of the esteem in which Mrs. Baldwin had been held by a large circle of friends. Wreaths from Ottawa Kennel Club, friends attending the show, Central Canada Exhibition directors, E. B. Eddy Co., Ottawa, Pidegin Stock Association, were noticeable because of their beauty. Kennel and Bench extends to Mr. Baldwin the sincere sympathy of dog lovers of Canada in his bereavement.

The management was again largely in the hands of Jack Ferguson and Arthur Davis, a combination that is hard to beat anywhere. When the judging periods started the building invariably looked as it did at the opening, clean and comfortable.

NOTES FROM THE COAST

By Provincial Contributing Editor, ALBERT KERR, Vancouver.

THE Nanaimo Kennel Club staged their thirteenth annual show under quite favorable and successful conditions. Here is a building (St. John's Hall) that lends itself to a very neat and natty layout of benching and judging ring, in fact one of the best seen for a long time to stage a small show in; clean, comfortable, and the decorative scheme on the walls lends a most pleasing appearance. The only fault is being away from the main street. There is no doubt that the gate receipts suffer in consequence even though it is in a small city. We found that ever willing and old reliable supporter and President of the Club, A. W. Willgress, hard at it in preparation for the show, backed up by Harold Kneen as Show Superintendent, and Miss L. Heckling as Show Secretary, and a Committee consisting of Messrs. J. Easthorn, Jack Cottle, C. Thompson, Jack Cottle, C. Thompson, J. Spencer, E. Thompson and E. Blackburn with Joe Cottle and Percy H. Heckling as ring stewards. All went smoothly along in good order. Mr. Archie Hogg of New Westminster, B.C., was Judge of all breeds and gave entire satisfaction in his placings. Best in show went to Miss Stewart's Alsatian, Yonga Du Mahon, who also accounted for best working dog, best in show opposite sex, and best Toy went to Mr. Wm. White's Pomeranian, Fraserview Ophelia 2nd. Best Canadian-bred and winner of the Canadian Kennel Club cup was Mrs. H. Bates' Boston Mushon Peter Blink, who also accounted for best non-sporting. Best sporting was given to Mr. A. W. Willgress' English Setter Saxon's Rowland, while Mrs. Alsen's smooth Fox Terrier Ch. Nottingham Edmonds was placed best Terrier in show. Altogether a very pleasing show was staged and if one might admonish on the side of constructive criticism, would say a little more cohesion and combined effort with all working and hitting on all cylinders, this club with the support of the mainland and other island points ought to be able to put on a much larger rated show in the future.

The Canadian Pacific Exhibition Dog Show opened under most favorable conditions and with 211 dogs bunched making it a three-point affair with the renowned Mr. J. W. Marples Judge of all breeds, with the exception of the Boston Terriers which were passed on by Mr. W. H. Pym. With this adjudicator of such noted fame and wide experience we had looked forward to the largest show in the history of the Coast shows. Just what to account for the falling off in entries, one is at a loss just what to attribute it to, but we do know that some individual or individuals, more set on spreading dissension than at boosting up the show, went out of their way to start or spread the rumor that Mr. Marples, our noted judge, would not put in appearance, with the result that a host of enquiries kept pouring into the office to ask if this were so. That it was felt in the number of entries was apparent. The published denial in the local papers only partly offset the harm done by this or these insidious fabricators. The pity is that if those responsible could only be brought to book for carrying on these underhanded methods of wrecking the good work of others for the game, their expulsion from dogdom would be in the best interests of all concerned.

With all the drawbacks as above stated the show was staged and put across in a most befitting manner. Mr. J. W. Marples was on hand bright and early, and the entry taking it all through provided some high-quality exhibits and many received an eye opener in the judging that upset their calculations, several very decisive upsets were on the boards. The Wire Fox Terriers was one. The ring side had the dogs judged just opposite to the way they were placed. In Bulldogs was the greatest upset the winner at previous shows which had gone to the top of show under several prominent judges, was not awarded a ribbon by Mr. Marples.

In picking his best Canadian-bred, which also carried with it the best in show, Mr. Marples placed Mr. Wm. White's Pomeranian Fraserview Ophelia 2nd at the top, and the winner of the Canadian Kennel Club cup for this show, and also the winner of the Spratts, Ltd., Challenge Cup for the best-bred and owned in British Columbia. This was a very popular win and Mr. White received a great hand from the gallery with many congratulations, as he has been a great admirer and breeder of Poms for years, and well deserves this merited distinction for his application to and the production of as near a perfect specimen as would be possible to produce. Mr. Marples stated

BETTY MARIE
(C.K.C.S.B. 63698) Owned by Mrs. E. A. Dunn, the popular secretary of the Vancouver Kennel Club.

that with one exception that he knew of, this seven-months-old puppy could beat the best in England, that for its age barring the growth of a full coat it was practically without fault.

We will expect to hear more of the details of this show from Mr. Marples' pen at a later date, so we will not try to interpret his views as we understand a review for Kennel and Bench will be given on all shows visited in Canada.

Best opposite sex was given to Mr. N. McConnell's old campaigner, the English Setter, Int. Ch. McConnell's Nori, looking as fit as ever, but had to give way to the Pom with Mrs. H. Bates' Boston Mushon Peter Blink, and Chris. Whent's Edna Dora next in order.

The show management was along the lines one would expect from the Old Timer Sandy MacLean as Superintendent, backed up with Mrs. E. A. Dunn as Show Secretary with her years of experience, and Miss L. Heckling in the roll as Ring Steward. Judging was carried out expeditiously and was followed at all times by a large gallery. The building was kept in clean and good order.

With reference to the Bostons these were taken care of by Mr. W. H. Pym in his usual careful and painstaking way and we have taken the liberty of having Mr. Pym give us the review of his class, which we include here-with for those interested, and is as follows:—

Open, dogs, under 15 pounds, the well-known "I'm the King," owned by W. W. Steeves, won. Mushon Peter Blink, owned by Mrs. Bates, accounted for the Canadian-bred class, and was also first in the open class over 15 pounds, with Skelly's Fifty-Fifty Second. Peter Blink won over Fifty-Fifty in muzzle, hindquarters and movement. Peter Blink also won the winners' ribbon, with Fifty-Fifty defeating his closest competitor, I'm the King, for reserve, scoring in movement and markings. In females I. T. Betram's Lothian Betty won first novice, while Mrs. E. A. Dunn won handily in Canadian-bred limit, and open classes, also the winner's rosette with Betty Marie. This win completes Betty's Canadian Championship as she won under Judges Bradshaw, Cranfield and Hogg. The competition for best of breed was between Betty Marie and Mushon Peter Blink. Both are of championship caliber but the dog won over the female.

Sidelights of the Show.

We noticed that Mrs. Alsen repeated her success of the Nanaimo show by going to best of breed with her smooth at this show. Ch. Nottingham Edmonds has been a consistent winner since entering on her show career and now bears the proud distinction of champion.

While talking on smooths we might mention that Mr. Malcolm McCraith was going around with his chest stuck out and those in know can quite imagine it was some size for Malcolm is not at all in the bantam class. All the winners dogs and bitches and best of breed are the get of Ch. Avon Reckoner out of Cromwell Game. These were imported by Mr. McCraith and which must cause him a lot of satisfaction in that his judgment in the first instance must have been right. Ch. Avon Reckoner has been sold to Japan.

Talking about having a pull with the government, a certain young lady in these parts must have a pull with the steamship company or else they are partial to dog fanciers, when they will hold the boat after casting off the lines so as not to disappoint the aforesaid young lady and her attendance at the Nanaimo Dog Show.

It was a field day for home-breds especially in Wires when Kerby Keepsake went to Winners and Best of Breeds, this repeats the placing of this same dog at the Fox Terrier Specialty Show with Mrs. Pearson's Ace of Vanity reserve, a classy terrier which had just returned from the American shows after a successful tour. In bitches Mr. Geo. D. Ireland's Tynedale Bridesmaid went to Winners with Frank Notts' Merstone Maggie reserve, all home-breds.

We are presenting to the fancy in this month's issue a photo of Mrs. E. A. Dunn's Betty Marie (C.K.C.S.B.

63698) who has now completed her championship at the recent Canadian Pacific Exhibition Show. Betty Marie was purchased from Mr. H. M. Jackson, Toronto, having been shown by him at Toronto and accounted for some good wins in strong competition, heeding the call of the West, Betty changed her location last February and since coming to the West has been shown fearlessly at all the intervening shows only being defeated on one occasion, she is now entitled to the proud distinction of a Canadian championship and we are looking for her to stamp her mark on the fancy in these parts as she will now be retired as a brood. Mrs. Dunn is also to be congratulated on having owned "Jack Fairman" a Whippet which was sold to Mr. John E. Hunter in Calgary and which we note from this month's reports of the Prairie Shows that "Jack Fairman" is also well on the way to claim a Canadian Championship.

In the President's page of Kennel and Bench on several occasions our President has referred to correspondence he has had with Mr. Koh Tsurumi who is one of the leading officials in Kennel affairs in Japan and as previously recorded in this magazine that the writer along with Mr. Neil Kelso Co-Director for B.C. were favorable with a visit from the above named Japanese gentleman, when at the request of our President we in some small way tried to make their visit a pleasant one and introduced Mr. Tsurumi amongst the fancy where it was possible for him to gain some of the knowledge he was seeking to get, which would be of value to him amongst the canine association of his native land. Since Mr. Koh Tsurumi has returned to Japan the writer has been favored with several letters and enclosed photos of the Bulldog bitch which he took back with him also a photo of the Directors of the Bulldog Fanciers Association of Japan which might be of interest to the Canadian fancy at large and especially to Bulldog breeders which we herewith present to the fanciers through Kennel and Bench.

We are informed that when Bill Pym puts on a Whippet Handicap he stages a real show, several of these have been put on across the border and we are anxious to see this novel turn-out on this side, all the old bally-hoo of the Whippet racing is taboo and a real show is presented to the public, run along the lines of a modern race meet and which is sure to catch the public's fancy. The following is the results at a meet put on in Seattle; Fortune Teller of the

Shepherd Dog Club of Canada Specialty Show

For the third time in as many years this hustling Specialty Club invited its members and supporters of the German Shepherd Dog to foregather at the inviting grounds of Toronto Hunt Club, an invitation that was accepted by many fanciers in Canada and quite a few from the United States. Still the premium list sent out should have drawn a larger entry. For Puppy, Novice, Canadian-bred and Limit Classes, $20 was offered for division amongst the dogs winning the ribbons ($10 first, $6 second, and $4 third), and in the Open Class the cash prizes read $12, $8 and $5. In addition, valuable special prizes were offered to the ribbon winners, in the shape of hams, bread, butter, candies, etc. Ross-Miller Biscuit Company offered 50 lbs. of their dog food, and Canadian Shredded Wheat Company 100 lbs. of their dog food. Special cups were given to Winners, Reserve Winners, Best of Breed, etc.; in fact, there were plenty of everything for all the winners.

Dr. H. H. Hodgson, the club's president, is to be highly complimented on the club's 1928 show, and also his henchmen, A. C. Corry (show secretary), T. W. Lee (show superintendent), T. E. Yates (club secretary), and a host of willing workers deserve much credit for their efforts that made the show the success that it quite undoubtedly was.

W. H. Ebeling, of Dover, New Jersey, was the judge, and his patient work was much admired. Shepherds, showing quality, but being poorly handled, found their friend in Mr. Ebeling. The award columns will show his placings, and as Mr. Ebeling has promised to send "His impressions of the show" to Kennel and Bench, our readers who were exhibitors, winning or losing, will still have a treat in store for them, as he is just as good a writer as he is a judge.

Following are the judge's impressions:

When I received the invitation to judge this show I felt highly honored, and the thought that I should once in my life be placed in the position to judge a show, where exhibitors and exhibits would be an absolutely unknown "quantity," created within me a sense of great delight. I accepted therefore this assignment with pleasure, realizing that in this case I should not have to be in conflict with "prejudice," and that all the placings would have to be in keeping with the impressions the animals created during the process of adjudication. However, nothing in life is perfect, and I was to find out that this pleasant thought was but a dream. A few dogs I knew found their way into Canada as I found mine. It was a compliment to the Club, which I am sure the Canadian Fanciers appreciate.

My good friend, Chas. W. G. Baiter, motored with me to Toronto, which added greatly to the delights of this trip, and the courtesies which we experienced at the hands of all Canadian officials we came in contact with added greatly to our pleasures. We had once more the opportunity of enjoying the greatness of Niagara Falls, and the scenic beauty of the approach to Toronto is one of the most interesting which we have ever seen. Other surprises, however, awaited us. Great as nature is, greater was the impression created by the hospitality and sportsmanship which it was our privilege and pleasure to enjoy during our short stay with our Canadian friends. We have carried away with us a lasting impression of Canada's greatness, and her people, and may I express the hope that my own shortcomings, in whichever direction they may have shown themselves, have not been a disturbing factor in this perfect setting. I want to send you our greetings, we want to thank you all.

The show was a successful show. Entries were smaller than in previous years I was told, but quality as an average may well be spoken of as satisfactory, with occasional high spots of excellent animals. I found what I consider an undue amount of faulty mouths. Too many animals had missing teeth, some did not have the scissor's bite, one case slightly overshot, and one with a tendency of being undershot, the first case of this nature I have ever seen in a Shepherd. Overshot means where the teeth of the upper jaw do not meet the outer edge of the incisors of the lower jaw, undershot means where the teeth of the upper jaw fall behind the incisors of the lower jaw. This latter case is very rare in Shepherds and is considered a more serious fault than the other. I was happy to note that you were not overburdened with animals of extreme size, but very striking was, and this particularly in the young dogs, the formation of a hindquarter, which, in my opinion, was extended too far behind the body of the dogs. The structure would not permit to call it overangulated, yet it gave me the sensation as if it were impossible for those dogs to "stand on their four legs," which means, if those hindquarters were put under the body where they would seem to belong, the dog would be higher in back than in front, however, left to themselves, they did not stand that way, and one can in consequence not speak about "overbuiltness." Dogs with these hindquarters carried a body somewhat shelly, with a decided lack of flank development, or as we commonly call it, "too tucked up." It was also accompanied by a tendency to body shortness. The gait in these animals appeared very satisfactory, but I question if such body structure would be useful if it came to endurance. They lean too closely to the Greyhound structure, and I do not think it is our intention to breed the Shepherd to participate in Greyhound coursing. I may still add that this style of dog impressed me also as too light all over, or lacking in substance.

A very delightful feature of your show were the many good temperaments, in this respect the progressive stand taken by the Club is very noticeable and if you continue in your efforts you will be soon rid of the most destructive element in our breed. No Shepherd is a true Shepherd which is devoid of brain and character, and it is the solemn obligation of every Shepherd dog breeder to destroy any youngster with undesirable characteristics as soon as we notice them. If we, as breeders, are kind to the public, the public will retaliate in kind, and the less we hesitate on the temperament question the faster shall we be able to convince the dog loving public that we have a real dog. In fact, we shall not have to do any convincing, the true Shepherd will do that for us. It will be an exceedingly easy matter to get back to sound temperaments, because inherently the Shepherd has a good character. All we have to do is to select properly, and the stricter this selection in all its phases, the sooner shall we arrive where we want to get. I believe your distinguished President, Dr. Hodgson, has fully realized the importance of this question, you will succeed under such leadership.

Twenty classes are a bit staggering to a judge, but compensation was found in the clever arrangement on the many specials offered, all of which were practically automatic. This was indeed very nice and I hope many Clubs will follow your lead. Of great value were classes 15 and 20, Stud Dogs and two of their get, and Brood Bitches and two of their get. Interesting to judge and of great educational value. Another very fine class for a Specialty show would be to bring together in competition progeny sired by the different Stud dogs without the sire, then select from each group the best dog and again bring the best of each group into competition for the best of all.

My memory is not sufficiently clear to enter upon a detailed discussion of the exhibits, but I should say to you that no placings were made after the 4th dog, and it follows that for instance the dog at the end of the line was not necessarily the dog which I considered of least merit. The many repeats made the placings of all dogs impractical because of the relatively short time at our disposal.

The winning male puppy was Dolf v.d. Marktfeste, J. Sparfel, mainly on substance.

The Novice Class went to Faust, John J. Savoy, an unusually well-balanced-out animal, of nice size and substance, good carriage and a well co-ordinated and fleet gait, the latter largely due to harmony in front and rear angulation, strength in muscles and tautness of ligaments. Faust is only 18 months old and I believe he has a bright future before him.

Canadian-bred Dogs went to Roger von Rhein, Dr. H. H. Hodgson, a dog built very much on the order of Faust, slightly finer in substance but still sufficient in that respect. He has a very pleasing individuality, is a well angulated dog and a good mover in spite of apparent softness in ligaments. He was put down in poor condition. Roger is still a young dog and should do well if he tightens up.

Limit Dogs, First Faust, described in Novice Class, followed by Roger, just mentioned. Third, Berol Von Eremitenquell, C. Van Camp, a dog of very pleasing outline, with beautiful temperament, wide in front and a bit large all over. Fourth, Merrieboy of Dingerein, Edelweiss Kennels, also pleasing in appearance and fine in character. Slightly straighter in hind-quarter than Berol and did not show on the day as good a gait as his nearest competitor, however better in size.

Open, Dogs—First, Billo Bex of Doreborn, Mrs. James O. Sanborn, all dog from point of individuality as well as structure, with the reservation, however, that he should carry a slightly better angulated hindquarters, which, perhaps, together with his long trip, made his rear action quite choppy. He is beautiful in head and expression and has an unusually fine shoulder construction. Next followed Roger, then Berol, and reserve, Emir v. d. Sudenburg, a dog with a wonderfully balanced structure and gait, but absolutely lifeless on the day. I tried hard to make Emir win for himself a much higher place, which he easily deserved from point of structure.

Winners, Dogs, went to Billo Rex, with Faust reserve. Billo may well call this is lucky day. It was a case of experience versus inexperience. To defeat or to be defeated does not detract from either.

Puppy, Bitches, the honor carried by Minka v. Bulow, Walter Lee, and she was second in the winning.

Novice, Bitch, Maxine v. Hauser, Mr. and Mrs. Hulme, a bitch of not very attractive color, but well-balanced-out with a sufficient substance, but slightly tending to overbuiltness. She did not always act as absolutely sure of herself, but I could not detect actual temperament faults.

Canadian-bred Bitches were led by Francine v. Krone, Mrs. Hilda Bartley, a well-put-together bitch, strong and nicely finished. A bit more depth of flank would be very desirable and her rather widely-set ears detracted somewhat from her otherwise good expression.

The most attractive bitch in this class was Coltness, The Black Tulip, an excellent example of structural quality, one for our Canadian friends to aim for in their breeding. Unfortunately she had soft ears and a very doubtful temperament. Except for these defects she would have been an easy winner in this class, and would also have been a very serious contender for the Championship points.

Limit, Bitches, brought out an unusually fine bitch in Lore, F. P. Steglich, wolf-grey, excellent in size, substance, proportion and temperament. Her well co-ordinated running gears give her a pleasing gait, which lacked however somewhat in driving power, which I mainly attribute either to lack of leash training or a slight stubbornness, and it is this "I don't care" mannerism which deprives her of the otherwise well-deserved place of winners, bitches. Here is another good model for Canadian breeders to aim for.

In Open, Bitches, the fight was between Irma of Cosalta, Cosalta Kennels, and Lore. Except for Irma's size these two animals are about on an even keel. My preference was with Lore until it came to the final gait test, where Irma's vivacity tipped the scale into her favor. Mr. Loveridge's hard work and Irma's response saved the day for her. And here I want to express to Mr. Steglich my appreciation for accepting Lore's defeat in the spirit of good fellowship, he saw my point readily.

Best in Show went to Irma over Billo Bex, also on gait.

Best Canadian-bred was won by Francine von Krone over Roger von Rhein only because of the more closely knit structure of the bitch.

REGINA EXHIBITION DOG SHOW

That the Dog Show held at Regina was an unqualified success must go without saying, for was not England's best liked and most authoritative dog judge officiating there. The press of Saskatchewan was generous of its space and gave many columns over to boasting the show before the judging and by publishing the awards daily and in full as the judging proceeded, was not C. S. Keating the model dog show manager again holding the reins of control, aided and abetted by many willing workers amongst whom we find such names as Norman MacKenzie, the man who made Airedales famous in the Americas, who for years has been chairman of the Dog Show department of the Regina Exhibition. A. R. Mackie the Vice-President, I. G. Nickerson the representative to the Exhibition Board, T. D. Handershon the efficient ring steward, J. C. Mitchell of Smooth Collie fame and known as the Wheat King of the world, no wonder the show was a success, and next year, the seeds sown this season will again manifest itself and Regina show will be a fixture to keep in mind.

The judge was greatly impressed with the entry of two hundred and two dogs benched, the entry generally being excellent with the local dogs claiming and receiving lots of attention, as our award columns will now show, and later, we hope to point Mr. Marples' impressions of Canada generally, when our Regina exhibitors will get to know Mr. Marples even better than they now do.

The show ran to schedule and at 5 o'clock on the closing day the judge's work came to a satisfactory ending, and he having expressed a wish that certain photographs would be taken, a photographer was ordered to be on the scene at that hour. The pictures taken will appear in "Our Dogs" England, but no doubt Kennel and Bench readers will be privileged to see them soon in their own magazine.

Mrs. L. B. Eagle, Mighty Atom.GOING TO THE DOGS!

By K. McRae, Toronto.

Here's a tale about the Dog Show—

In the City of Toronto.

It is held in bright September,

And a sight you will remember.

Doggies small and Doggies tall,

Doggies, aye, the best of all.

Not on leash and not on tether,

They are kenneled close together.

Great St. Bernards, kind and wise,

Look at you with honest eyes.

Newfoundlands, graceful as the deer,

Great Danes—fierce, inspiring fear.

Then come Collies, who they tell us,

Although loving, are so jealous.

Pointers clear-cut as a statue,

Stand and silently gaze at you,

While the Bulldogs, sullen,

grim,

Lick their chops, and eye your limb.

Upstairs, Terriers sharp and snappy,

Let you know they're feeling

The Dachshunds there will catch your eye,

Dog and half long and half-dog high.

Our inspiration further fails,

Short and sweet, like puppy-dog tails.

For a pen is hopeless, quite,

To describe this lovely sight.

There's a "Rex" and "Rover",

"Gyp" and "Fan,"

So take the show in if you can.

See man's best, most faithful friend,

One who serves him to the end.
