WEANING & REARING PUPPIES

EQUALLY SUITABLE FOR KITTENS & SILVER FOX CUBS

PUPPIES have small stomachs, and the milk of a bitch is therefore a concentrated food, being more than twice as strong as cow's milk. LACTOL closely resembles the puppies' natural food, which is why they do so well on it. Puppies reared on LACTOL thrive remarkably, and do not suffer from indigestion, vomiting, diarrhoea, rickets, etc., as when given cow's milk or other foods.

LACTOL is already used by many breeders in Canada and the U.S.A., whilst in the British Isles no kennel of any importance is ever without it. PUPPIES LOVE LACTOL.

THAT SASKATCHEWAN SHOW

On page 74 of our last issue we gathered from contributing editor "Monty" Wallace's "Saskatchewan News" that a big all breed show was more than a pure possibility for this winter. Should this proposal materialize there will be some pronounced provincial activities spring up all over the West following whatever is best in the plans promulgated in the Saskatchewan venture.

If a suitable building could be secured in Regina a wonderful show could easily be arranged for. With committees operating in the several Saskatchewan cities and functioning with a central organization, it is the writer's belief that the sponsors of the idea themselves would be greatly surprised with the results. Happily, all western cities have their percentage of influential and interested followers of good sportsmen that would be quite willing to share the burden of running such a show. Mr. Wallace mentions the cost of the premium list and catalogue, but isn't it true that the Secretary of Fort Garry Kennel Club volunteered to become personally responsible for these costs of given the advertising privileges outright, and it is a matter of history that, not only did the advertising pay for premiums list and catalogue, but that there was as much profit left as pay for Mr. Walkerdine's shoe leather which was lost in the search for the advertising. So if Winnipeg can do this, what better chance must Saskatchewan have with several cities to draw from?

We will wait and see what fruit will be garnered in from Mr. Wallace's enthusiastic and encouraging article of last month and wish his efforts every success in the meantime.

NORMAN SWIRE

NORMAN SWIRE is dead. That event means much to the dog men from Halifax to Vancouver. Much of sorrow and much of loss. He was probably as well known throughout the Dominion as any man who has ever taken an active interest in matters pertaining to the dog. In many respects he was a curious chap and presented the mental anomaly of a nature, gentle and almost shy but at the same time tenacious of opinion and pugnacious in support of what he considered right. I wonder if any one ever saw him angry or heard him say a bitter thing about any one. He will be sorely missed on the Board of Directors by whom practically all technical questions have been referred to him for years. His passing leaves a gap which will not soon be filled. In Chaucer's quaint old phrase,—“He was a very perfect gentle knight.”

DOG SHOW RIBBONS

An effort is being made by the Canadian Association of Exhibitions to standardize prize ribbons. The matter will come up at the annual meeting of that Association which will be held in Toronto at the time of the Royal Winter Fair, and the proposal is that the first prize ribbon shall be Red, the second Blue, the third White, and the fourth Yellow. This is to apply to all Exhibitions of every kind throughout Canada, and the Canadian Kennel Club has been asked by that Association to conform to this arrangement. This is a matter which demands careful consideration. So far as I know, there has never been a Dog Show held anywhere in the world at which the first prize ribbon has not been Blue and a tradition of such standing should not be abandoned without some excellent reason. The tradition has also established itself in our vocabulary, because one always hears of the best animal or the best article referred to as the “Blue Ribbon” animal or the “Blue Ribbon” article. The only argument we have heard in favor of the use of the Red ribbon for first prize is that it is more conspicuous, but the value of that argument seems to me to be problematical. The matter will come up for determination at the meeting of the Directors to be held on November 15th next. In the meantime, what do our Members think of the proposal?

NOMINATIONS

Nominations for Officers and Directors are now being sent in. We hope that sufficient interest will be displayed to see that sufficient nominations are received for all positions and particularly for the Provincial Directors and Provincial Committees and that our Members will take the trouble to satisfy themselves that their nominees are suitable men for the positions and also are willing to serve. The operation of Provincial Committees has not yet passed the experimental stage but already they have amply justified their existence. Our problems of Government are exactly the same problems which are faced by the Government of our City; this must necessarily be so because they arise from the same causes, viz.: great distances and comparatively sparse and scattered population. These problems must be faced squarely and dealt with to the best of our ability and in my opinion the Provincial Committees, functioning properly and imbued with a spirit of service, afford the best solution which has yet been devised. That makes it a matter of vital importance that the proper men shall be nominated for and elected to these Committees—Be careful how you ballot.

Meeting of Board Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club, Inc.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Club's Offices, 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, October 18th, 1928, at 8 o'clock. The President, Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland presided.

Directors attending included Brig.-Gen. C. M. Nelles, Col. J. N. MacRae, Major Ward Wright, Harry Clayton and R. Lee Wainwright.

The Secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting, and on motion the minutes were declared "Adopted as read". The President advised that before proceeding with the business further, it was his desire to refer to the death of Director Mr. Norman K. Swire. Mr. Swire was undoubtedly the best known and best liked man in Canadian Dogdom. A man that had not an enemy in the World. A man whose passing has meant something in our life as far as dogdom generally was concerned. As a Director we always had Mr. Swire's constant attendance and attention and the advantages of his wide experience and great knowledge. By his death the ranks of dog lovers on the American Continent had indeed lost a valuable officer. Brig.-Gen. C. M. Nelles and other Directors expressed their regrets and sympathies in similar strains.

The President and Secretary were instructed to prepare a resolution of sympathy for the purpose of sending it to Mr. Swire's parents in England.

The resolution so prepared is as follows:—

Resolution Passed at a Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club Incorporated, Held at the Head Office of the Club, 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, on October 18th, 1928.

Moved by Brigadier-General Nelles, C.M.G., seconded by Colonel J. N. MacRae, M.C.:

Whereas the Club has suffered a severe loss in the death of our Co-Director, Norman K. Swire, which occurred in Toronto on October 6th, 1928.

And Whereas the late Mr. Swire had been a member of the Club since December, 1915 and a member of the Board of Directors since February, 1917, during which time he had rendered extensive and valuable service to the Club and made many lasting friendships with the other Directors and the members.

Be It Therefore Resolved that the Directors record their great regret at Mr. Swire's untimely death and their deep appreciation of the very valuable service which he has rendered to the Canadian Kennel Club Incorporated.

Be It Further Resolved that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to Mr. Swire's parents.

(This resolution will be suitably engrossed and prepared in such a way that it will make a lasting link between Mr. Swire's parents, relatives and the Canadian Kennel Club.)

The Secretary reported that he had received from the Estate of the late Lance Farewell, Toronto, a framed picture of the Cocker Spaniel "Black Brant" (C.K.C.S.B. 1159). "Black Brant" was born on September 18th, 1890 and was by "Ch. Brant" ex "Daisy". (In the picture "Black Brant" carries a beautiful Mallard Duck in his mouth). Also a framed picture of "Forbes R". (C.K.C.S.B. 10062). "Forbes R" was born on April 22nd, 1906 and was by "Olie Obo" ex "Lady Ruth". And further, that he had received from Mr. John Milner, Ottawa, an unframed picture of the famous Collie "Ch. Corona Premier" (C.K.C. S.B. 12519). "Ch. Corona Premier" was born at Winnipeg on June 19th, 1911 and was by "Mountaineer Magnet" ex "Corona Daisy".

It was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—"That the Secretary receive the pictures on behalf of the Club, and to extend the thanks of the Directors to the donors."

A complaint was read from Mr. George Kynoch, Winnipeg, agent for Mr. Endore Chevrier, Winnipeg. The complaint referred to an alleged misrepresentation which had appeared in Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes', Toronto, full page advertisement in Kennel and Bench, October issue, where in bold-face type the words "Best Dog In Show, All Breeds" had been used, whereas the complainant claimed that to his charge "International Champion Marvel of Avandale" a Springer Spaniel had been awarded the prize for Best Dog in Show, all breeds.

It was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—"That, Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes be requested to submit any explanation he may have to offer in the matter of Mr. Kynoch's complaint to the Board of Directors at their next meeting."

The Secretary reported that he had received letters of regret and apologies from Messrs. Lynch and Greene, Toronto and Mrs. M. Firman, Toronto, in connection with the complaint made by the London Canine Association and was instructed to refer the letters to the London Canine Association and ascertain if the expressions of regrets and apologies were considered satisfactory, and if the cancellations made would be removed or be continued.

Owing to the vacancy on the Board and because of the fact that the name of Mr. Peter Herd, Toronto, appeared next in turn on the scale of ballots cast at the last election, it was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—

"That, Mr. Peter Herd be asked to consider filling the vacancy on the Board caused through the death of Mr. N. K. Swire."

The Secretary reported that he was planning to visit Fort Garry Kennel Club Show to be held at Winnipeg on Armistice Day, November 12th, and asked for the endorsement of the Board.

It was regularly moved, seconded and carried:—"That, the Secretary attend the Winnipeg Show."

Acknowledged by discriminating fanciers to be the greatest sire of the breed offered at public stud.

Following in the footsteps of his famous sire, Erich von Grafenwerth, the following comments justify these claims:

At the Specialty Show in September, 1928, the eminent authority, Dr. Roesbeck, said: "Klodo, a dog of model proportions of height to length, and in fact, so good in proportion as to rarely find an equal."

Dr. Werner Funk of Hannover writes, "The children of Klodo have made a remarkable record on the show bench. He is acknowledged to be the best sire today."

Sickinger, in his comment on the last Sieger Show, writes that "Int. Sieger Klodo von Boxberg was represented with seven entries. All seven received the 'S-G' awards, which would prove that Klodo transmits his qualities at a very pleasing average. The so-called average dogs are the most desirable and valuable."

His get are all dogs of fine disposition. He has the happy faculty of transmitting his own beautiful proportions. He is therefore offered at stud, to approved bitches only, at a fee of $100, to be booked in advance, and fee paid at time of service. One return service to the same bitch will be allowed if manna are non-productive. Animals are received at owner's risk, but will be handled and housed with every care and attention.

Norman K. Swire Passes Onward

Toronto fanciers were shocked when the news was spread that Mr. Norman K. Swire was again ill, and when it became known that he had died at Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, on Saturday, October 6th, the fancy generally were frankly stricken with an honest grief, and at once prepared to pay their last respects to one that they had respected for a great many years as a co-worker in dogdom, and it was not at all surprising to find every club in Toronto represented at the funeral by their officers and members in person, and by the wealth of floral tributes, which surrounded the coffin and rose almost to the ceiling of Washington & Johnston's (Blake Johnston of Doberman fame) funeral parlors, where the body lay for the three days preceding the funeral.

Looking over the wreaths we noticed that the following were but a few who had sent flowers to express their sympathies: The Canadian Kennel Club, the Toronto Kennel Club, the Eastern Collie Club of Canada, the Cocker Spaniel Club of Canada, the Toy Dog Club of Canada, Peke and Toy Dog Breeders' Association, the Boston Terrier Club, the Russian Wolfhound Club of Canada, the Borzoi Club of Canada, the Pomeranian Club of Canada, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Campbell and family, staff of Campbell's Veterinary Hospital, "From Nettie," Miss Edna Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Swann, "The Becks" of the Zahftra Kennels, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Getty, Dr. V. L. Banks, Mrs. M. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. George Eastham, Mr. and Mrs. A. Paterson and family, P. Lewis & McQuirk, Mrs. L. A. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Knight, the Wards, R. G. Broadhurst and Miss Hodgetts, Mr. and Mrs. Loft, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkiss, Bill & Doc, Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Collidge, H. V. Chamberlain, Treleavan and Hatcher, Mr. R. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. R. McColl, Mrs. M. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Strachan.

The clergyman in charge was the Rev. A. Pashlor of St. Bartholomew's, Anglican, and the pall-bearers included the following who were all men from Glossop, Mr. Swire's native town in England: Messrs. Bert Swann, R. G. Broadhurst, Phil Broderick, Frank Broderick, J. Aldous, J.

W. Sykes, Joe Gee, M. Lowe and J. Caldicutt.

As the service at the graveside amongst the great maples of the Necropolis cemetery was in progress, it became astounding to the writer to notice the great number of people that had been able to come out and pay their last tribute of respect to one who was loved by them all. Surrounded on three sides by earthly friends the one and only Norman Swire of dogdom was tenderly returned to the bosom of Mother Earth, the birds singing, the sun shining, the leaves and the tears falling.

Messages from out of town friends come in with every mail delivery, and out of courtesy we print a few extracts.

From Freeman Lloyd, New York: "I read about the death of poor Norman. The notice appeared on the bulletin board in the observation car (C.N.R.) He knew as much about the outside as the inside of any dog. God knows he was an upright and just judge."

From Joe Hill, Toronto: "Broken-hearted as I read of Norman's death. What are we going to do without him? I don't know."

From Vince Perry, London: "I am pleased in a way that I will not be able to come to Toronto for the funeral, because I will then remember him as the living Norman, the rather shy, rather retiring but always gentlemanly little Englishman who never boasted what he knew, but who demonstrated it so often in the ring. I know this will be a sad blow to you because Norman was so closely associated with you in so many ways and for so many years. My sympathy is all with his parents, relatives and friends, and of the latter amongst those that I know he always counted you first."

From Jack Fry, Jr.: "What a shock I got when I read of the death of my good little friend, Norman Swire. As I do not know if Norman had any relatives on this side of the Atlantic, I take this opportunity to express through you my deepest and heartfelt sympathy."

From Bert Swann, Newcastle, Ont.: "The shock of Norman's passing will continue with his intimates for a long time. I always did enjoy every minute I spent at a dog show, but the news of his death arriving just previous to the judging of Varieties and General Specials at Atlanta, made the close of that show a veritable nightmare to me, and the long journey home, alone, and with our little friend my topmost thought, was an experience I never want to have repeated."

From "Bob" and Mrs. Ross, Montreal: "The news of Norman's death has been a terrific shock to mother and myself. The fact is that the truth has not filtered through my single-track brain yet. I just can't realize it, that's all. He put lots into the game, Jim, and took damn little out of it. There were few, very few, just like little Norman. I never heard him say an unkind word about anybody. Yes, Jim, we will miss him plenty, but his memory will last for generations to come. May his soul rest in peace."

From F. E. Bechmann (Dogdom), Battle Creek, Mich.: "Your article helps me greatly, and is more in line with what I wanted to say about Mr. Swire. I had the great pleasure of entertaining him in my home for a short time when he was in Battle Creek judging our show, and my memories of him will always be very pleasant."

From Gerald L. Stock, Vancouver, B.C.: "Those of us who have come in personal contact with our late brother fancier know that the fancy as well as the Canadian Kennel Club has suffered a sad blow by his passing. To the kinsmen of Norman that he has left behind we extend our heartfelt sympathies (Coast City Kennel Club). To the Canadian Kennel Club we can only express our sorrow that it will never again have the assistance of him, who by his sterling qualifications of integrity and foresight, had so well earned the position of a Director for the Province of Ontario, and trust that his successor may be a worthy one."

But why continue? We could fill this issue with similar expressions of sympathy and regret. We have tendered our readers proof of the international sorrow as expressed by one and all, and like our good friend, "Bob" Ross, and as far as this world is concerned, we bid our good comrade, Norman K. Swire, an earthly fond adieu, and say again, "May his soul rest in peace."

VITAKALK is a Strength-Maker for Bitches in Whelp

For litters that are healthy and strong—that won't weaken and die pup by pup—feed now with Vitakalk. Vitakalk, with its vitamins, digestible calcium and other essential minerals, provides bitches in whelp with the strength that produces healthy litters and starts pups on their way to husky dog-lives, free of diseases and ailments.

Used now—just before the breeding season, VITAKALK can do its greatest good. As Mr. J. B. Magrath, of the Magrathstone Kennels, Stoneham, Mass., one of the largest breeders of Pomeranians in the States, said of VITAKALK, "VITAKALK answers a long felt want. Breeders will do well to know about it."

TONIC AND

Vitakalk

VITAKALK is a proven conditioner and strength maker. Breeders mix it with food all year round to prevent and cure rickets and keep the sparkle of health always in the eyes of their dogs. These breeders tell us that VITAKALK makes healthy appetites, fills out pups, builds them up, and keeps dogs always in bounding health.

We can show you hundreds of testimonials from these breeders. VITAKALK is the only conditioner on the market officially recommended by a Veterinary College and by dog clubs. Your best testimonial, however, will be your own test when you have used your first can. Try one now and watch the improvement in the health and strength of the VITAKALK litters.

GERMAN DOGS.

By E. Von Otto.

A Review by Dr. H. H. Hodgson, Stamford Centre, Ont.

Here is a book which many dog fanciers will be glad to include on their shelves. It gives us first hand information of the breeds about which little is known by the average English-speaking fancier. It starts off with the Great Dane, and carries one through Shepherd Dogs, Dobermans, Rottweilers, Boxers, German Pointers, Wire-haired Pointing Griffons, Wire-haired Pinschers and Dachshundes, and lastly a suggestion and a plea regarding Dog Statuary, which is well put and might be the means of improving our prize lists, if the right Statuary gets here first. It is most entertainingly written, and while it does not pretend to be an exhaustive treatise on each or any breed, it gives one a good distinctive idea of the characteristics of each one and they really are quite different "when you know them." The standard for each breed is set forth in unmistakable detail as well as their racial history and characteristics. The less popular breeds are treated very liberally and it creates in the reader a desire to own one or two of each of these interesting breeds. You know the Germans are wonderful trainers and they get much more out of their animals than merely attending shows with them. It is a most interesting book to read, printed on exceptionally good paper and illustrated profusely with cuts which are a credit to the printers' art, and you leave it with an appetite for more.

I believe that orders will be taken by Kennel and Bench for this most interesting and educative book.

A TRI-NATIONAL CHAMPION BULLDOG.

It is a strange coincidence that on the day we learned of the death of Tri-National Champion Prince of Wales II. by accident in England, that we should learn that another Tri-National Champion had been made in the great Bulldog Sessue, owned by Mr. William E. Chetwin, Syracuse, N.Y., and it looked as if, when one great dog had been withdrawn, another one had arisen to take its place in the ranks of the breed. Sessue is well-known to Canadian exhibitors, he having created a sensation by winning for best dog in show all breeds at Toronto Kennel Club Show in the spring of last year, and on his three other appearances in Canada he has always been a contender for the highest placings, and when he was found reserve best in the Peterboro Show just closed he had earned the right to great distinctions, i.e., an English champion, an American champion, and a Canadian champion, honors that come to very few dogs in a lifetime.

Sessue, like Prince of Wales, was a brindle with white markings. He was sired by Limehurst Marquis, ex a daughter of Irish Alaunt, and is now a trifle over five years old. The owners of both dogs are typical Englishmen, strong in their feelings for the Motherland. Tommy Grisdale, the owner of the late Dominion Fortitude, and Ted Chetwin, the owner of Sessue, are great admirers of each other, and their interests in life are in many ways identical, both have distinguished themselves in the dog world in similar ways, and the coincidence is more than ordinary to the writer. Congratulations, Mr. Chetwin.

Five Foods that Positively Satisfy

Read What Users of R-M Dog Foods Say

"As far as I am concerned, R-M DOG FOODS ARE giving good results in my kennels. I have 18 Eskimo dogs at present. R-M Dog Foods agree with them all, grown dogs and puppies alike. I have had no cow-hocked youngsters in the kennel since using R-M products. What a row they make at feeding time. Every morsel of food is eagerly eaten up." EUGENE F. KERNAN, Nominique, P.Q.

"Some time ago a friend suggested the use of R-M Dog Biscuits, and I have been feeding them ever since. I am delighted with the results, and cannot speak too highly of their use as a food, in fact prefer them to any other biscuit. The dogs will eat them any time, and will actually leave meat or bones for their R-M." CHARLES ARNOLD STONE, Forest Kennels, Toronto.

DOGS OF THE EMPIRE

By FREEMAN LLOYD.

(Illustrations from the Author's Collection)

SO far as my information goes, a Corgi or Welsh cur sheepdog, has not yet been seen in North America, although there is a variety of farm dogs to be seen in the North-West of the Dominion, that approximates, for utility purposes, the smaller variety of cattle and hog dog that is the latest of the ancient and British breeds to be taken up by the dog fanciers of the Old Country. The Corgi is recognized by the English Kennel Club.

The word "cur" is not used in a slurring way. It were better to style the Corgi as a cur-tailed dog, and then we will understand the more about him and his kind. The sheepdogs of all kinds in Britain were docked or had their tails cut off close to the rump, so that such dogs would not be able to run down and kill hares, those animals being always or mostly looked upon as the property of the landlord; a clause appearing in the lease document providing for the preservation of the hares on the land, and for the owner's use. So as to make doubly sure of the protection of hares, the farm dogs had to be docked. They were robbed of their caudal appendages; and, dogs with short tails were designated as "curs". Again, the cur-tailed dogs were exempt from taxation. They were harmless so far as the game-preserving landlord was concerned; the dogs' decreased activity in the way of turning quickly was of no consequence to the farmer-pastoralist, who knew all about there being more than one way to catch a hare. Indeed, the snare was as deadly as the lurcher, should the agriculturist require a hare for himself or somebody else. But, as a rule, farmers did not eat the flesh of the hare; but they were not disinclined to sell one to the game-dealer in the market town. A hare was always worth about three to four shillings.

Whether the continual docking of the dogs' tails will bring about tailless dogs, I am not prepared to say. But all of us who have bred Old English Bobtail Sheepdogs, are aware that puppies of that breed, when born, have bobtails, half-length tails, full tails; while, sometimes, an absolutely tailless whelp makes its appearance. On the other hand, the puppies of the spaniel breed, the tails of which have been docked for hundreds of years, still arrive with long and strong tails. In-breeding, it is and has been said, is the cause for screw tails more than often observed on English and French bulldogs and Boston terriers. Now and then we see tailless bulldogs and Boston terriers. Such specimens are not the pleasantest of creatures to look upon or discuss.

I think we will be on safer ground if we believe that the absence of tails on specimens of certain breeds or varieties of dogs are more in consequence of in-breeding

"A HEELING COLLIE"

A Scottish scene about the year 1800. It is usual for farm dogs to run at and heel horned cattle, and that mode of procedure is invariably employed by the Corgi dog, the latest of farm dogs classified by the English Kennel Club.

than cutting the tails of dogs. In the case of the Corgi dogs the Cardiganshire enthusiasts declare for a long tail, while the Pembroke-shire patriots cry aloud for a short tail, or no tail at all, on a Corgi. As I was a pupil on a farm about eight or ten miles south of the Pembroke-shire-Cardiganshire border, I used to see scores of these little farm Corgi dogs, although many were used by the shepherds and farmers on the Precelly Range—a bare and mountainous country where the sheep were very wild and particularly active. It does not require a large collie to go around and drive the scattered sheep first into a mob and then in any direction the shepherd may desire.

The shepherding dogs or kelpies of Tasmania, New South Wales, Victoria and Queensland are possibly the smallest sheepdogs in the world, the Corgis excepted. The Australian shepherding dogs are not unlike miniature Belgian sheepdogs. The old Corgis, as I have known them for perhaps sixty years, were of the color of the smooth or short-coated Welsh collies; but the Corgis were short and often crooked in the fore legs. The Corgi's body was a level backed one. Reduce the size of the Welsh short or smooth haired collie, shorten his legs, and to all intents and purposes, you had a Corgi—the farmer's cur, as he was invariably called.

It was always understood that the chief value of the Corgi lay in his heeling abilities. He would heel a beast, ear a sow, and give a wide berth to the hind feet of a horse. If I had to drive cattle, I'd whistle on the Park East Corgi "Fan"; if some ewes or wethers had to be driven along the road to the fair, I'd give the driving part of the job to the collie "Watch". The mud-student walked ahead of the sheep and Watch drove them from behind. In this manner the shepherd could regulate the pace at which the fat sheep could be travelled. The collie would bark as he drove the sheep. If the Corgi had been used, he, as likely as not, would have been silent. But, on the other hand, he would be quite vicious as he heeled and bit the timid and stupid animals.

I will again repeat that the Corgi, as I knew him, was a sort of sawed-off Welsh collie dog, and cur-tailed at that! He was mostly blue-merle, black-and-tan, red, light fawn, or sandy in color. The merled dogs had china or wall eyes, a common occurrence among all glaucous-colored dogs, horses and cattle. The Corgis of the Maenclochog district would not work if addressed in the English tongue; they were cunning and sly little devils. They understood the language of the Ancient Britons. The Corgis would rat, rabbit and grow fat on mice during the spring-threshing season, when the little rodents were "good eating" after their winter's keep on the grain fat of the land. The Corgi's work was more of the fold than of the field description. The old, long-eared, razor-backed sows of the Welsh breed, screamed their hardest when the Corgi was called upon to do his duty. But, as before written, the Corgi eared the pig, heeled the horned beast, and ran alongside or at the head of a horse. The Corgi dog "knew his onion"!

The ears of the Corgi of three score and less years ago were of the folding sort of lugs. The ears were not upright in carriage, if my memory serves me arightly. They had the smooth-collie rather than the terrier type of head, and, in weight, were rather larger than the standardized avoirdupois now declared as being approximately the correct one. It appears to a fairly practical man that 22 pounds is rather a small weight for a dog supposed to withstand the wear and tear of the sheep, cattle and pig work on a farm. There must be something more required than the power that would be forthcoming from an over-sized fox terrier. However, some of the old Corgis weighed less than 20 pounds.

There are so many breeds and varieties of shepherd dogs, that one often wonders why the American Kennel Club still continues to classify the German Sheep or Cattle dogs as "shepherd dogs". Each and every sheepdog (and there are many) from the Scottish collie to the Australian kelpie, has as much right to be called and catalogued as "shepherd dog" as the product of the Fatherland. The A. K. C. classification is not only a misnomer but an undeserved slur on the many pure breeds of shepherds' dogs that are known to exist in Europe and elsewhere. So why not give — and gracefully present — the right and lawful name to the American German shepherd dogs of the future? The dog, horse, sheep, goat, beast and other domestic animals remain the same in their different types and employments, notwithstanding the men of their national-

"THE SHEPHERD'S DOG"

By John Ward, R.A. (1808). A decidedly useful Sheepdog, blue, grizzle and white in color. This dog was not encumbered with the heavy coat and large size of several of the Old English Sheepdogs of to-day.

ities to go forth to battle. You can alter the colors on a map; but a country's live stock breeds must remain and endure for ever.

I have referred to the Australian sheepdog or kelpie—kelpie, of course, meaning "help". Moreover, it will be gathered that the country of the largest number of flocks of sheep, have the smallest sheep dogs. That is a matter for serious thought and consideration, especially when we bear in mind that sheepdog trials are as popular in Australia, as baseball is in America. As every hamlet, village, town and city has its annual agricultural show, and every show its sheepdog trials, it can be well imagined that sheepdog trialing has been brought to a high state of perfection on the island-continent. The lesson taught to the person who takes time to think this matter over, is that small sheep dogs might be as good as big sheepdogs; and, very likely, that is the case.

The big collie or bobtail will be found the more imposing creature in the show ring. But are we infallibly right in these matters? There has been a growing feeling among breeders of Old English Sheepdogs, that the breed is getting too big and ungainly. Undoubtedly, there is much to be said in favor of the contention that a bob-tailed sheepdog need not be "as big as a house". There are some enormous specimens of the bobtail kind; again their coats are immense, although not weather-resisting so far as the skin or hide of the dog is concerned.

It is obvious that the shepherd dog as portrayed by the celebrated John Ward, and published in the year 1809, would be able to run around the ordinary bench show bobtail of to-day. The dog in the picture would not be impeded by a mass of hair—a collector of moisture and mud. Ward's bobtail had a blue-grizzle coat made up of fairly long and harsh hairs, with, presumably, a wool or down-like under-jacket. His was the work in a hilly and difficult country where the sheep would be fast, active and sure-footed as goats. We cannot afford to kill off our largest and most noticeable Old English Sheepdogs, but sheepdogs should not be giants except when they are employed for herding or looking after sheep in a country where the larger of the wild carnivore are a bane to the flockmaster.

In the days of my youth there was mostly a spaniel rather than a terrier on every farm. While the farmer was exempted from payment of taxes on bona fide farm dogs such as the sheep or cattle dogs that had to be kelpies, bobtailed sheepdogs or collies of some sort, the agriculturist had to pay the Queen's Tax if he housed a spaniel. And this our rubicund friends didn't seem to mind. Sheepdogs and Corgi puppies they gave away; a spaniel puppy was worth ten or fifteen shillings. A willing, pushful, face-anything, rabbiting spaniel, could be always disposed of for two pounds ($10). But, truth to tell, the spaniel was hardly ever for sale. Such a dog would kill rats, hunt fur and feather, retrieve from water and enjoy himself on anything from a water rail to a cock pheasant. No pointer, setter or greyhound was allowed on the holding. The peasant dared not possess such a dog; afraid, as the countryman was, of receiving notice to quit at the next Michaelmas. So the spaniel held his own; he was a rabbitier rather than a pheasant dog; or, at least, it was wrongly and cunningly customary to speak about the farm spaniel as such. But, like the Corgi, the spaniel knew his "business".

The spaniels and the wild cat in the picture remind one of a scene recently observed in the kennel premises on a country gentleman's estate in Putnam County, New York State. There had been a wholesale trapping of the wild cats and the poaching, household cats. One of the several wild cats was weighed. It scaled 13 pounds, after it had been killed a month or so, and its entrails dried up and wasted away. All the wild cats were striped or tabbied. Their fur was very full and very close. The kennelman-dog-trainer-trapper was asked how he could tell the difference between a wild cat and a tame cat:

"O," he quickly replied, "A house cat mews to be taken out of the trap, while the wild cat will spit, claw and fight to the last."

"What about a spaniel and a wild cat? How'd the dog fare?" "Like Hell: she'd tear the spaniel to ribbons!" was the all-sufficient response.

So there can be no wonder that Samuel Howitt's spaniels, in the picture, cared only for a stand-off acquaintance with the striped tom of the wood lands.

"WILD CAT AND SPANIELS"

By Samuel Howitt (1801). Spaniels were the only sporting dogs allowed to be kept by tenant farmers. The ordinary sheep and cattle dogs were and are exempt from English taxation. Spaniels were kept as rabbiters. No herd dog was allowed to hunt game.

IMPRESSIONS OF CANADIAN SHOWS

By J. W. MARPLES.

When popular Mr. "J. D." Strachan the able Sec'y of the Canadian Kennel Club asked me if I would give him a few "Impressions of Canadian Shows" from an English standpoint I readily agreed to do so.

What impressed me most at all the shows I attended, not only at those I officiated at, but also at those that I visited, was how wonderfully well organized they were, and above all how scrupulously clean they were kept. In the latter case Canadian show giving Clubs can give an object lesson to many of our shows at home, then again, every official had allotted to him or her certain duties and without exception each person carried out their respective jobs in a very able and efficient manner, had the exhibitors done their duty, how able and smoothly the whole machinery would have run, but instead of that, nearly all the exhibitors with the possible exception of a few handlers and old hands, seems to treat the showing of their dogs as a "joke", even when the stewards were successful in finding them, after possibly searching for them all over the grounds. There is not the slightest doubt exhibitors will have to learn, not only the art of showing and handling their dogs, but also in preparing them, in both departments they are sadly lacking. If they would only take the exhibition and handling more seriously as we in England do, or put same energy into their hobby as they do in their motor cars, what a boon it would be to the show promoters, officials and general public alike. There is also another matter I cannot refrain from pointing out, and that is the lack of true sportsmanship in taking a beating with equal grace as a victory, there seems to be an undercurrent of jealousy amongst the majority of the exhibitors, they appear to have no confidence in anyone connected with the shows, and it is my belief that unless this spirit is removed it will certainly prevent many real sporting ladies and gentlemen from joining the ranks of one of the most fascinating and sporting pursuits in the world. I am well aware that you cannot expect too much from a comparatively new country, but I see no earthly reason for such a poor sporting spirit in either a new or old country, and if ever I have the time and pleasure of again visiting your beautiful and prosperous country I hope and trust this evil will be conspicuous by its absence, for in my opinion it is the greatest drawback to the successful running of shows from the Atlantic to the Pacific, beyond this I can see no reason why shows should not increase and prosper in the Dominion, which I feel sure they will once this evil has been killed. I was also very glad to observe how true and loyal the majority of the fanciers are to the Canadian Kennel Club, this is as it should be. Grumblers there are and always will be, but my advice after a very lengthy experience is to support your Kennel Club, for without a ruling authority the whole game would not be worth the candle, like all other governing bodies there is always room for improvement, and one of them that struck me—if I may be allowed to say so—is, that owing to the great vastness of territory covered by the Canadian Kennel Club it does not seem to receive the same support—say in—Western Canada, that it does from the Eastern Provinces, so I think it might be advisable to create say a Western Kennel Club exactly on the same lines as our Scottish Kennel Club, this would, I feel sure, not only strengthen the Canadian Kennel Clubs hands, but it would remove many grievances that appear to exist, real or imaginary. Another matter that impressed me was the number of champions that came nuder me in many cases—so I was informed—they had attained that great honor without ever meeting any competitors. I personally withheld many winners for want of merit, in some cases to a full champion, and I was promptly told that other judges had given these dogs winners, and in some cases the judges had informed their owners that their dogs were equal to anything in the Old Country. One of us must be wrong, however, I think the much coveted title of champion should be made so difficult to obtain that only the very best specimens of the breed would be able to secure championship (or winners) honors. This is of course a matter for the Canadian Kennel Club, but I'm sure it rests with the judges, most of whom do not appear to have the courage to carry out the instructions of the Canadian Kennel Club. How to remedy this evil is of course a very difficult problem and at the same time encourage the breeding and exhibiting of high-class dogs, but the fact remains and it is generally admitted, that there are too many cheap champions. Perhaps a rule to the effect that where there are less than three dogs competing in any one breed, no winners prize can be awarded, however, my sole object in writing this little article is to help the Canadian fancy all I can, and I trust it will be received in the spirit in which I have written it. In conclusion I feel sure with the material you have, coupled with such a splendid body of true sportsmen and women that constitutes the Canadian Kennel Club, that the fancy will go on and prosper, that is the sincere wish of the writer.

THE LATE NORMAN K. SWIRE

An Appreciation, by JAMES D. STRACHAN

AN Englishman whose word was his bond.
A friend whose friendship was of the lasting order, and so well worth while.

A servant whose loyalty to his employer was extreme to the point of being pathetic.

A judge of dogs whose judgment was based on knowledge, plus a well-known integrity.

An athlete who won and lost with equal grace.

A sportsman every inch of him—

And a man.

It was my pleasure to consider myself a new-comer to Canada at about the same time that my good friend Norman Swire came to this country, and on our first meeting there arose a fast friendship that never did, and never will end, though death has removed dear little Norman to—that Better Land where sorrows are unknown throughout eternity, and to-day when we lay his remains back into the dust from whence he came I know my heart will continue in heaviness even as it is at this moment. The parting is only temporary, and that is the only comforting thought that comes to my mind as I write.

After a palship extending to eighteen years, I don't know of any one thing, great or small, that I could say was unworthy of my departed friend, and in these days that are so crammed with petty jealousies and unwarrantable little misunderstandings, that in itself is something to marvel at. He loved his friends and they were legion; they loved him in return, and this afternoon the fancy in Toronto will realize just what is in my thoughts at the present moment. I have been twice to look at him lying there so still, so contented and happy like.

Already he is embanked in roses and lillies that tell their own story of the many who feel just as I do, of the many who will be there to breathe their last earthly good-bye to the little wee man with the great big heart that will throb no more. What a friend to lose! Norman, I will miss you. We will all miss you friend of us all, friend of all that was ours, the dogs of so many breeds that bound and held us all so closely together.

Perhaps our good friend, Dr. J. A. Campbell, will miss Mr. Swire more than anyone else in the world, when we except only the father, mother, and two brothers that are resident at Glossop, Derbyshire, England.

If Norman's name had been "Service" instead of "Swire" it would surely have been more fitting in every instance. He loved to serve.

To his Father and Mother and Brothers in England, I would say that they were seldom out of Norman's mind, and he was forever planning to run over home and be with them all for a little while. And if, "To Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother" will open Heaven's Gates of Pearl, then we may lay aside our grief in the knowledge of Norman's welcome Home. Mr. and Mrs. Swire, and Norman's brothers over home in England, it will be good for you to know that your boy had a countless number of friends in this country and in the United States of America, and that we are all with you to-day mourning the death of your Son and Brother, and our friend and co-worker.

It was at Dr. Campbell's noted hospital that our late comrade met the fancy in great numbers, and where innumerable friends were made by him, Dr. Campbell being without question Canada's greatest authority on the ailments to which the smaller animals are subject to, it was quite natural that his Hospital should be the headquarters of the follower's of "Man's Best Friend." Day or night the Hospital was open, and day or night the welcome sign was on the door for man or beast. Day or night Norman was there, always ready to assist in alleviating the sufferings of the great family of his four-footed friends. Time or trouble were never considerations, and necessary bodily rest was often sacrificed for the great love he had for his work, and it goes without question that the great loyalty that he brought to his employer has in part been responsible for his comparatively early withdrawal from our midst. Dr. Campbell is grief stricken and realizes his own great share of our common loss.

When Norman judged at London on September 10th and 11th, I was greatly impressed with his work on that occasion. He seemed possessed of an uncanny gift of speedy appraisal of quality. The dogs coming before him were quietly and quickly placed according to their respective degrees of merit. I recall mentioning my impressions to another good fancier, who promptly pointed out the circumstances of several differences that had happened when Mr. Stewart judged the second show on the following two days, but, after all, isn't that just the very secret of the life of all our shows, in every land? If all our judges rated their dogs identically, how long would the thrills of our dog shows continue to exist? Isn't it "that grand and glorious uncertainty" that forms the chief attraction of all our shows wherever held? It is the "uncertainty that provides the secret fascination that brings us so often together. At London Norman was master of the ring, and I will always remember that his placings were received in a friendly manner by winners and losers alike.

At night he came to my room at the Hotel London to meet a little coterie of friends. At that time he looked ill at ease and anything but well. All that night I worried about him, and when he attended the Board of Directors Meeting on September 20th, he still looked far from being himself, and now I well realize how well-founded were my several fears. He was much worse than I knew.

As an athlete he won many prizes on the track. Fleet of foot as any deer, and to beat the gun was a science with him. He was well-known two decades ago on most tracks in England.

THE LATE NORMAN K. SWIRE

December 7th, 1915, is the date showing on our records for the coming of Norman to the Canadian Kennel Club as a member, and during February, 1917, he was elected to the directorate. We came together to the Board, Norman Swire and I. and we had been in continuous service until last Saturday, when he was withdrawn by death. The late Mr. Joseph Russell had come out as President that year, and it was no secret then that there was much work to be done for the Canadian Kennel Club. Just how well that work was done, and how much of it was done well, Mr. Swire was always content to let what had been accomplished speak for itself. However, he is gone now, and in fairness to him I must recall the dark days when Kennel and Bench was the property of a Toronto firm of printers, who were responsible for its monthly appearance, of that happy day when the Canadian Kennel Club redeemed the paper and became responsible for it. There it was, and that was about all. No money behind it, no editor to take care of it, and it was our late comrade, who, for the princely sum of $20.00 per month became responsible for the success of the official organ in its entirety. It is no small wonder that he was well liked wherever he was known, how could it possibly be otherwise?

"When to the sessions of sweet silent thought,
I summon up remembrance of things past,
I sigh the lack of many a thing I sought,
And with old woes new wail my dear time's waste:
Then can I drown an eye, unused to flow,
For precious friends hid in death's dateless night,
And weep afresh love's long-since cancelled woe,
And moan the expense of many a vanished sight:
Then can I grieve at grievances foregone,
And heavily from woe to woe tell o'er
The sad account of fore-bemoaned moan
Which I now pay as if not paid before,
But if the while I think on thee, dear friend,
All losses are restored, and sorrows end."

—Shakespeare.

THE CANADIAN FANCY

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ontario.

I SINCERELY regret an error which occurred in my notes last month with reference to the judging at the Toronto Exhibition for the best dog or bitch in the show. I wrote "that after the weeding out process, amongst the last four dogs left in the ring were the Pekingese, Beau Fang." This was an error, for the Pekingese left in the ring was Mrs. W. Patters' Sunny Pansy, who by the way completed her championship at this show, and therefore in future will be known as Champion Sunny Pansy. The gaining of the coveted title must be very pleasing to Mrs. Potter, as she had the honor of breeding this exceptionally good specimen.

The many friends of Norman K. Swire will, I know, regret to hear that this genial good fellow passed the great divide on Oct. 6th at Toronto. "Norman," as he was known all over the American continent, came from England some years ago and settled in Toronto, where he quickly made an enviable name as a veterinary surgeon assistant, and also as an all-round judge. Some few years ago we acted together at the New York Show, and I gathered then that Norman was "au fait" with the characteristics of the many different breeds that came before us when awarding the special for the best dog in the show. In the last issue of Kennel and Bench, information was given that Norman was at the Wellesley Hospital, Toronto, where he had undergone an operation. Evidently from the sad news to hand, Norman never recovered from this operation. I know I can bespeak the sympathy of not only the Canadian Fancy but the whole American Fancy, to extend to the sorrowing relatives.

Undoubtedly the most important sale that has occurred for some considerable time has just been completed by Erik Bergishagen, of the Jagersbo Kennels, Orione, Michigan, U.S.A., who has induced Joseph J. Cottle to part with his great English Setter, International Champion Rackets Rumney. Some few months ago, when judging across the border, Erik Bergishagen came to me asking for information as to where was the best place to buy some real good Setters. Naturally, holding as I do such a high opinion of the British Columbia Setters, I answered, go to Vancouver. The result of this talk over English Setters resulted in the sale by Norman McConnell of Laynour Rip Rap and Selkirk Snooksie. On their arrival at Michigan, Erik Bergishagen was like Oliver Twist—he wanted more, and the next news was that their new owner had gone to Vancouver, and my mail this morning contained the news that International Champion Rackets Rumney was on his way to the Jagersbo Kennels. This wonderful Setter is admittedly the greatest stud and show proposition to be obtained. Rumney has an enviable record in the prize ring at Canadian and American shows, and if he is in anything like the condition he was shown to the writer at the Canadian Pacific Exhibition at Vancouver, he is certain to make a sensation when exhibited under his new owner's colors. International Champion Rackets Rumney was bred by Rees Jones, Nanaimo, B.C., his sire being Champion Mallwyd

Ralph, and his dam Stylish Pretty Polly. As a sire Rumney has been a great success, amongst his numerous progeny being that great dog, McConnell's Nori. I understand that Rumney has been passed on to W. F. Austin, Detroit, who is certainly getting together a great kennel of Setters.

* * *

The writer wishes to thank Arthur S. Davis for quite a budget of interesting news about the Ottawa fanciers. Ottawa has always been a stronghold for Smooth Fox Terriers, many of the outstanding Terriers on the continent having been bred there. In fact, in proportion to population, Ottawa can claim more breeders of Smooth Fox Terriers than any other place in the Dominion. There are five kennels breeding Smooths, namely, the Clapton, Dumbarton, Le Breton, and Hillside, owned respectively by George Bailey, Bill Newton, J. J. Tourcotte, and Arthur S. Davis. A newcomer and a very welcome addition is C. Y. Capal, who recently arrived from England and started a kennel. He already owns a very classy Terrier, Little Snip Snap, the Terrier to whom the writer awarded Winners, Dog, and Best of Breed at the Ottawa Exhibition, and he repeated these wins at Peterboro. C. Y. Capal is, I understand, expecting the arrival of a beautiful bitch from England, mated to the noted winner, Champion Selecta Ideal. It will no doubt be of interest to my readers to hear that C. Y. Capal is a distinguished airman. He accompanied Sir Allan Cobham as his chief mechanic on that wonderful flight from England to Australia and back a year or so ago. C. Y. Capal is now Chief Technical Representative of the Armstrong-Whitworth Aircraft, Ltd.

* * *

George Bailey has been marking time for the last year or so, and has not been breeding quite so extensively as he used to, but I understand that he intends staging a comeback. Therefore we will see again the "Clapton" prefix to the fore. "Billy" (W. E.) Newton was hit pretty hard when Champion Southboro Selextra died, but he brought out a real nice daughter by his favorite at Ottawa, who, if she grows on a little, will trouble the best, and I understand he has recently bred a bitch to Little Snip Snap.

* * *

Arthur S. Davis has a particularly nice looking litter by Ch. Southboro Salextra. The writer has held a very high opinion of the progeny of Salextra, for usually in every litter this good Terrier sired there was one or more of championship calibre. As the litter bred by Arthur S. Davis is the last one sired by Salextra it is to be sincerely hoped that they will continue to go on as they promise at the present time.

* * *

From the conversation I had with Frank Plant at Ottawa, I am not surprised to hear that he intends to go in for Sealyham Terriers. With this laudable object in view, he is importing one of England's best Sealyhams, Brazen Bonaparte. This news, I know, will be particularly pleasing to Jack Ferguson, who has been breeding Sealy's for a number of years, and always bemoaning the fact that he had so little competition. It certainly looks as if Jack will now have some real competition. Frank Plant never does things in a half-hearted way, and personally I should not be surprised to see Sealyham Terriers enjoying a real boom.

* * *

Of late there seems to be a great diversity of type amongst our show Cocker Spaniels. I believe the reason of the club in highering the weight was to allow breeders to breed Cockers a little more off the ground, so as to allow these merry little Spaniels to carry out the work in the field for which they were originally intended. Some breeders evidently misunderstood, for to-day one sees at every show Spaniels exhibited in Cocker classes that bear very little resemblance to the Cocker, many closely approaching in type the shooting man's abomination, the old-time show field Spaniel—as long in back as a wet week, absurdly short on the leg, with loose elbows and indifferent shoulders. I have often wondered why some of our breeders have not followed the example of the English expert, H. S. Lloyd. This well known expert imported a stud dog from Canada to cross with English bitches, and the experiment proved a success. Why not import an English Cocker, if Canadian breeders wanted a little more length of leg on their Cockers but wished to retain the symmetrical body they had been striving so many years to get. An English Cocker seems to me to be the only logical means. At Peterboro show this month, when going around the benches, I thought for a moment that I must be back again in the Old Country, for I came across a real little English Cocker. On consulting my catalogue, I found that the little blue roan stranger was Yoredale Pat, imported by Herbert S. Routley, the well-known Springer Spaniel expert of Peterborough. Yoredale Pat is by the great English stud success, Southernwood Critic, and his dam is by Ch. Lill Beau Brummel, breeding which commends itself to the most critical student of Cocker breeding. Yoredale Pat weighs twenty-four pounds, is short in back and is particularly pleasing in head, expression, and also in placement and carriage of ears. It was, however, Yoredale Pat's front that I admired, perfectly straight legs and really beautiful placement of shoulders. Herbert S. Routley has indeed proved a friend in need to Cocker breeders, but he does not take any credit for it, for he writes me that he imported Pat for his wonderful ability in the field and intends running him at the American Spaniel Club Trials at Brewster, N.Y., on Nov. 1st and 2nd, and also at Cornwall, N.Y.

Still more Cocker news. Dr. C. Y. Ford, informs me that he had little time whilst in England to visit many of the shows over there, but found time to visit H. S. Lloyd's kennels. Whilst there he could not resist the charms shown by a very beautiful blue roan Cocker lady, registered as Inroaders Daughter, her sire being that great particolor, Champion Inroaders of Ware, winner of fifteen challenge certificates. Dr. Ford's lucky star must have been out, for Invader's Daughter was ready to be bred, and the dog selected was Champion Joyful Joe, a super Cocker and winner of the cup for best of all at the Spaniel classes at Crufts, 1928. Dr. Ford has sent Invader's Daughter to California where game is plentiful, and if she whelps a litter, he is hoping to figure at the Spaniel Trials of 1929. The many friends of Dr. Ford I know will join the writer in wishing him the best of luck, and that his hopes will materialize.

Today it seems to be the exception to see a real good Pointer competing in the East and therefore I am asking our Editor to include in my pages this month the photograph of an exceptionally fine bitch imported by my friend Erik Bergishagen, from Sweden, Champion Dreaming Lulu of Lyngron. At the time the wonderful photograph of Dreaming Lulu "on point" was taken she was only fourteen months old. A close study of this photograph shows that Lulu is quite free from any suggestion of hound type. Lulu is a big bitch with intense quality and type, and with plenty of substance—points that are difficult to obtain, for usually, when you get such intense quality as that shown by Lulu, it is accompanied by a lack of substance. In make and shape, neck, placement of shoulders and quarters, Lulu carries my memory back to one of the greatest Pointers of all time. Of course, I refer to Champion Coronation, who at the Birmingham (England) show a good many years ago was the winner of Messrs. Spratt's Patent, Ltd., $2,500 gold trophy. Years before the late war, fanciers in Norway and Sweden imported a great many of our best Pointers, and from the information I have to hand, I believe that Sweden to-day has just claims to be considered the Pointer country. I hope it may be possible that Erik Bergishagen can be induced to show Champion Dreaming Lulu and International Champion Rumney Racket at the National Kennel Club show.

* * *

In closing my last paragraph, I noticed on my desk the attractively gotten up schedule of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair International Dog Show, which is to be held under the auspices of the National Kennel Club, Inc., on November 26th, 27th and 28th. Capt. Dudley Waters is the show secretary and superintendent. The judges are Miss Marie J. Leary, German Shepherd Dogs. This well-known exhibitor knows the breed well, and we are sure to see a master hand at work. Theodore Offerman, the judge for Airedale Terriers, Bull Terriers, Manchester Kerry Blues, Bedlington Terriers, French Bulldogs, Doberman Pinschers, Schipperkes, Schnauzers and all Toys, ought to draw a bumper entry, and so should John G. Bates, who is taking Wire-haired Fox Terriers, Irish and Welsh Terriers. Robert Sedgwick will certainly be "at home" with Smooth Fox Terriers, Sealyhams, Scottish Cairns, and West Highland Terriers. Tyler Morse will prove a big drawing card for Bulldogs. The three Canadian judges are Dr. C. Y. Ford, who has Collies, Old English Sheepdogs, Russian Wolfhounds, Greyhounds, Whip-pets, Chow Chows, Beagles and American Fox Hounds. Vincent G. Perry will hand out the ribbons in the Boston Terrier ring, and Joe Hill will take all Spaniels, Pointers, Retrievers and Setters. Messrs. Offerman, Morse, and Dr. C. Y. Ford will be the arbitrators for the big money, $50 for best dog; $25 for best Canadian-bred; $15 for best team, and $10 for best brace. $10 is the first prize for each of the five groups, and a trophy will also be won outright with each of the above cash prizes. Amongst the many other valuable specials and trophies, I notice the Harry Hungerford Memorial Trophy for best Collie dog or bitch bred by exhibitor. This show draws so large a gate that it appears to me that every kennel in Canada should be represented. Exhibitors who wish to enter but cannot attend should consult the business pages of Kennel and Bench where it will be found that many of our best handlers are offering their services to handle dogs. Remember that entries close on November 12th.

I have been able to take in this year a far greater proportion of our shows than in former years, and I was particularly pleased to be able to take advantage of a wet day to motor over to Peterborough show. The venue of the show, the Brook Street arena, is an ideal one, big and roomy and capable, I should say, of benching a thousand dogs. Of course, almost the first man to greet me was "Jimmy" Strachan—keeping a watchful eye on the judging and greeting old and new members of our Club. The President, Herbert S. Routley, who plays so strong a hand with Springer Spaniels, naturally was delighted at the success of his show, which proved a very high quality one. The Secretary-Treasurer, W. E. Jackson, is the right man for this important post. Reg. I. Sparkes was the Show Superintendent and he had the active help of the committee who one and all were workers. Might I suggest one thing that would prove to be a big improvement—an award board. So many Canadian shows forget this important feature, and visitors often find it difficult to get any reliable information as to the placings. Going around the benches, I noticed that Geo. Ward had the leading Airedale Terrier, Flornell Zur Bombay, who is quite a useful stamp. Ted Ward was handling the winning Beagle, J. H. Schwendan's Shady Shores Showman, a very attractive little hound, with admirable legs and feet. Herbert Routley, of course, was well represented in Springer Spaniels. His International Champion Trent Valley Critic was entered for exhibition, but her kennel companion, Trent Valley Impressive, gathered in Winners, Bitch, with ease. Winners Dog, being awarded to H. Mountain's Dan of Toronto, a liver roan of nice character and style. Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland's Ch. Albion Victor had no competition in Bull Terriers. C. S. Morrow's two typical Schnauzers, Int. Ch. Pompom Du Jorat and Lindy Lu, were much admired. In Pointers, Geo. Ward's Pathfinder is well named, for his legs are the kind that need easy going, and in my opinion, Judge Hopton might, with advantage to the breed, have withheld the prize. Oscar C. Pierson had the only other Pointer present, My Gal Sally, a useful stamp, showing far more character than the dog and although by no means perfect in front or behind, she could easily have won the special. In Bulldogs, W. E. Chetwin was showing Sessue for the last time, for I understand that this dog has been sold for a big price to a Philadelphia fancier. H. S. Stuart's

Queen of Challenger won handily in bitches. Cocker Spaniels were one of the features, and it gave me a deal of pleasure to have W. M. Nickle take Frontenac Speckled Beauty and Frontenac Fortune off the bench for my inspection. The former is a most attractive red and white parti-color—very pleasing in head and expression, and owning an excellent body. He is nicely off the ground and moves well—a Cocker that looks like doing the work the breed is required to do, and doing it well. I can quite understand Geo. Kynoch's putting Frontenac Speckled Beauty through some hot classes when he was only seven months old. Frontenac Foundation, a very sweet black and white parti-color, was acquired from W. T. Payne. She can bear the closest inspection, true to type, extra good in action with admirable legs and feet—the size that looks as if a real hard day's work would find her at the close still going merrily along. Ottawa Tartan is another real good Cocker. H. S. Routley's Yoredale Pat I have mentioned before in my notes. A number of local exhibitors were competing and it looks as if Peterborough will show up strongly in the future with Cockers. Mrs. M. Stevens did well with her trappy little brace of Boston Terriers, Champion The Burglar Dee Cee and Jubilee Million Dollar Beauty, the Toy rightly getting the special. Cecil C. S. Capel gathered in some more points with his Smooth Fox Terrier, Little Snip Snap, a Terrier who ought to do a lot of good for the breed if he possesses the faculty to transmit his sterling type to his progeny. Wire Fox Terriers were decidedly hot classes. Tom Grimshaw's Benson Blazer is a puppy of promise, who just needs time to let down and mature. Harry Clayton's Silver Birch Bridegroom was looking well. Geo. Ward's Humbervale Dancing Master is a tan-marked, good-coated Terrier with a long, well balanced head and moves well coming and going. Geo. Ward's Champion Albany Matchless held an advantage in size and action behind, over Flornell Flower Pot. It was the first time I had seen Matchless and she impressed me so greatly that I was by no means surprised to hear that she eventually won the special for best dog or bitch in the show. The local class created a deal of merriment. Judge Hopton had three dogs to pass on. One looked as if he had never had a comb through his coat; another had his body coat all taken off to the skin and the hair left on his legs. Parading around the ring he reminded me of a boy with his first pair of long pants. F. H. Plant found no competition with his two good Irish Setters, Ch. King Morello Oge and Ch. Nell Watt Law. O. R. Edwards and Doughty & Son had some real nice American Foxhounds competing. Shepherds were patchy in quality. Jimmy Strachan's Coltness Flying Dutchman is a particularly pleasing dog; on the day a little light in condition. He owns a good quality head with very good angulation, and moves particularly well. G. H. Gilchrist's Fritz Von Weidel was in rare bloom. Alf. Lovelidge was handling Tara of Cosalta, an extremely nice black bitch, who moves like a piece of clockwork. John Paton created a deal of very favorable comment with Maytime Michael, a Sealyham Terrier that should do much to bring attention to the just claims of these attractive little Terriers.

I had to leave before the Toys were judged, but I noticed that the quality both in Pekingese and Pomeranians was far above the average.

president, through his page last month sounded a note of warning to the steward who thinks that part of his duties as being steward is to express his opinion in preferences in a voice audible to the judge. There have been several instances of this brought to my notice lately, and although I think our judges are strong minded enough not to be influenced—still, it should not be done, and therefore I am hoping that our president's remarks will deter those men who, when acting as stewards, apparently think that it is their duty to point out defects of the exhibits to the judge. A ring steward's duties are—first to see that the dogs are brought into the ring; second to check up absentees; third to have the ribbons ready for the judge.

I am including amongst the illustrations for my pages a reproduction of the photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Starbucks' Irish Wolfhound bitch, Champion Mona of Ambleside, admitted to be the best of her variety on the American continent. I have judged this wonderful bitch on several occasions, and consider her the best specimen of her variety that I have ever seen. The photograph shows off to much advantage her immense size, substance and quality and also shows that it is possible to breed these enormous hounds with sound hindquarters.

Editor's Note.—The picture of Mr. Erik Bergishagen's Pointer, Champion Dreaming Lulu of Lyngron, does not appear in Mr. Reeves' Canadian notes for the only reason that the detail of the photograph is altogether too indefinite to reproduce successfully on a halftone cut. We will be pleased to show our readers this splendid Pointer at any time when a suitable photograph is available.

Notes From Manitoba

By Provincial Contributing Editor, J. C. WOODEND, Winnipeg, Man.

THE Decision of the Executive of the Fort Garry Kennel Club to hold a show, under Canadian Kennel Club rules, on Thanksgiving Day, November 22nd, has been favorably received in points farther West.

With a view to participating in the following show, a large number of the leading Western fanciers are getting their dogs in trim, the proposal finding special favor with the admirers of Terriers of all varieties.

Not many Western owners and breeders of Fox Terriers, in recent years, have been so uniformly successful in exhibiting and breeding as Messrs. F. E. Trautman and Art. Picard of "Sutton" Kennels fame. Champions too numerous to mention have been bred or developed at these kennels, in the past, including both Wire-haired and Smooth-coated terriers. At the present time there are in the kennels, at St. Vital, three remarkably good "Smooths" which are worthy of especial notice. These are Ch. Sutton's Dusky Widow, Ch. Sutton's Gwynne Darrell and Ch. Sutton's Friar Tuck.

To commence with "Dusky Widow": This beautiful terrier, a daughter of the Canadian-bred International Champion Clapton Rapture's Legacy, began her career by going from puppy to winners at the Canadian National Exhibition Show, at Toronto, of her year. She topped the puppy entries in a class of thirteen of the best youngsters to be found in the Dominion and U. S. A., and subsequently went on to win her full championship points before she was a year old. After that her bench career was a series of successes, and it is estimated that to-day she has at least 30 points to her credit won at the leading Canadian fixtures—or is, in other words, a treble "Bench" champion.

Ch. Gwynne Darrell is another Smooth-coated Fox Terrier possessing all the necessary qualities that are embodied in the make-up of a bench champion. He is a son of the famous English champion Darrell, and has had a distinguished career as a show and stud dog. His son, Ch. Sutton's Friar Tuck, is the pride of the Sutton Kennels, and in himself combines about the best strains of the Old Country and Canadian Fox Terrier blood.

"Friar Tuck" is one of the handsomest terriers in North America. Gifted with real terrier character and expression, he excels in head, eye, and perfect ear-carriage. His clean shoulders, straight forelegs and sound hindquarters, together with his well-ribbed-up body and short back all combine in enhancing his general appearance, which invariably finds favor with expert judges of the breed. In the ring he is always on show, and strongly resembles his grandsire, the famous Ch. Darrell.

Ch. Friar Tuck has had an exceptionally successful show career, having not only frequently been awarded the special for best Fox Terrier in show, but also adjudged best Terrier in show, in keen competition.

A few of his successes on the bench are mentioned below:
Best in show at Edmonton, 1927, under Frank A. Walsh.

Best Terrier in All Terrier Club of Canada show, Winnipeg, under A. P. Mutchmor. Best Terrier in show at Moosejaw, Sask. (1927), under C. G. Hopton. Best Fox Terrier in the Fort Garry Kennel Club's show (1927) under the late Norman K. Levire.

* * *

In closing this brief account of the "Sutton" Fox Terriers we should mention that the kennels gained great kudos shortly after the Great War, with the home-bred Ch. Airy Fairy Sutton, who as a puppy triumphed over all opposition, and was awarded the Reserve to Grand Champion at Winnipeg. "Airy Fairy" was the dam of Ch. Dusky Widow and grandam of "Friar Tuck."

* * *

Boston Terriers, for the last twelve or fourteen years, have been deservedly popular in Winnipeg and Western Canada, and probably there is no greater admirer of the "little American dog" than George Duncan, the proprietor of the Trapystok Kennels, which are devoted to the breeding and exhibiting of Boston Terriers, exclusively.

A former President of the Boston Terrier Club of Western Canada, Mr. Duncan, has in past years bred and exhibited "Bostons" with remarkable success, several champions of both sexes having been bred or developed by the Trapystok Kennels.

Quite recently Mr. Duncan and his brother, with a view to "lengthening their cards and strengthening their stakes," have acquired a handsome new residence (on Ethelbert Street, South Winnipeg), which was designed and erected to their order. At the back of the house, a very complete and up-to-date kennel has been built, large enough to accommodate twelve or more brood bitches, puppies or young dogs. Both the house and the kennel roofs are covered with fire-proof asbestos shingles which give a finish to the appearance of the buildings, very pleasing to the eye. The kennel has been planned to be cool in summer and warm in winter. Special attention has been given to the matters of water supply, drainage, electric lighting and heating. The kennel has double walls, concrete outside and match-lined wood inside, with the spaces between filled with non-conducting material which practically ensures an equable temperature in both hot and cold weather. The floors are also double to avoid risk from damp and the interior is lofty enough to accommodate two tiers of portable kennels or rows of benching. At the back of the kennel will be a large exercising yard, about 15 ft. by 9 ft., encompassed by a fence about six feet high, giving ample room for the terriers to play about in fine weather.

At the time of writing the three principal winners of the kennels are Ch. Roselawn Dandy Boy, Trapystok Askim, and Trapystok Tilling Tilly.

Ch. Roselawn Dandy Boy's record as a show and stud dog does credit to the foresight of his owner, who purchased him with the idea of obtaining a good outcross for local and Western brood matrons.

Mr. Duncan's experiment resulted in success as Ch. Roselawn Dandy Boy has proved himself invaluable as a stud dog, and sire of numerous sound and typical Boston puppies.

Trapystok Askim is another young dog of good type, color and quality, whose influence on the breed should prove all to the good in the near future.

"Toiling Tilly" is a very smart well-marked brindle and white puppy of eight months or so. She should 'catch the judge's eye' whenever her owner elects to exhibit her.

In addition to the three Bostons briefly noted above Mr. Duncan has a dozen or more good brood bitches farmed out with various fanciers. Most of these will be housed in the new kennels, as soon as completed, where there is plenty of room for them, as well as space reserved for visiting brood matrons.

Largely owing to business being quiet in the cities and industrial centres of Manitoba for the last year or two, interest in dog-breeding and exhibiting has somewhat declined. It is therefore, greatly to the credit of Mr. Duncan and others like him, who are willing to launch out in fresh enterprises with the object of restoring the dog to his former high position in the Province and the West.

It is difficult to explain the manner in which the various breeds of terriers in turn rise and fall in popularity with dog owners and breeders. Only a few short years ago the handsome, dashing Irish Terrier had scores of admirers in Winnipeg, and was a prominent feature and public favorite of the local shows. To-day there are still some classy "Daredevils" to be found in and around the city, but the craze for Alsations and other foreign breeds appears to have temporarily eclipsed the Irishman as well as other "nailing good terriers."

As a life-long admirer of the "Micks" the writer was glad to get the opportunity of inspecting a grand brace owned by H. Dargie of Young Street, Winnipeg. These dogs are splendid specimens of their breed, and were both imported at considerable cost by their owner—the dog from Ireland, and the bitch from the United States.

Mourne King, by Dollar Dictator ex Mourne Princess was the first to be led out for our inspection. This is undoubtedly one of the best Irish Terriers in Canada. Just the right size, with a real red hard coat, "King" has a beautiful long lean head, keen dark eyes, and well placed ears which unite in giving him the genuine "daredevil" expression so difficult to define, but which Irishmen are wont to describe in some such terms as, "Shure, that wan has the map of Oireland on his mug."

Butler of Chicago, and born November 21, 1924. She has proved a great success on the bench, and a good mother of first-class puppies. Some expert judges prefer her type to that of Mourne King but we cannot altogether agree with them there.

Owing to want of space in the city, Mr. Dargie is thinking of reducing his stock, and has some good puppies of the above-mentioned strain to dispose of.

Mrs. J. D. Wade, within the last year or two established the nucleus of a kennel of Scottish Terriers which has done some winning and contains some "Diehards" that are likely to be heard of in the future, and should increase local interest among "Scottie" Fanciers.

Calling at Salter Street, where the kennels are situated, we were sorry to hear that Mrs. Wade was in the hospital, but Mr. Wade was able to give us the particulars required, and brought the dogs out for inspection. The first to come under notice was the well-bred Laidon Lightstep, imported November 30, 1927.

This—as one would expect from her breeding—is a really nice Black-Brindle, equally good on the bench or in the breeding kennel. Her sire (Ch. Laidon Lumen, by Ch. Laidon Luminary ex Ch. Laidon Lightsome), like his progenitors, was a celebrity in the Old Country, both as a show and stud dog.

On her dam's side Laidon Lightstep is equally well-bred, Cons Speculation being a daughter of Ch. Albourne Young Lochinvar ex Albourne Mikado. Looking farther back into Laidon Lightstep's pedigree, the Albertay and Albourne blood predominates, with one cross of Claymore Commandant.

Ornsay Druid (imported July, 1928, and whelped August 1927) is the kennel mate of Laidon Lightstep. "Druid" a capital specimen of the "Diehard" breed. A good head, small dark eyes, erect ears and keen expression distinguish this son of Ornsay Magnet and Tess of the Crossways. He is black-brindle in color, with good deep bris- ket, straight short forelegs, compact

On Atlantic Avenue, North Winnipeg there is a kennel of Pomeranians, which since the "Great War" has made the prefix "Wimaca" a name to conjure with, and is known for the splendid miniature Poms. bred there, all over the North American continent. "Andy" Skidmore is the owner and breeder of the far-famed Wimaca Poms, many of which are direct descendants of the late James Skidmore's little orange colored dog, champion Waratah Torquil.

To a lover of Toy dogs the chance of looking over merry little rascals domiciled at the kennels, is always interesting. There are from 20 to 30 poms. of all ages usually to be found on the premises. Some of the best recently looked over are noted below: Wimaca Lady Betty, by Torquil II. out of Wimaca Lassie, born July 26, 1928, is a very small chocolate puppy of perfect conformation, type and character, which promises to create a sensation, whenever her owner elects to show her. Lady Betty's great grand-sire, Go Boy, is stated to have sired more winners than any other Pom. in Western Canada, his produce having as many as 136 first prizes to their credit, in less than a year. Go Boy, still alive and well, is the product of the judicious mating of Offley and Ellerby (Old Country) strains.

Wimaca Trixie, (C.K.C. 73855) is a lovely sable puppy, born January 2, 1928, her sire Torquil II. (58030) and her dam Wimaca Merry Lass (54470). "Merry Lass" is by Wimaca Guardsman (26023) ex Wimaca Jean M. (40069), Wimaca Tommy, a litter brother of "Trixie" has been sold for a good figure to Mrs. Carol L. Nelson of Mereda, Wis. There is great demand in the United States for puppies from the Wimaca Kennels. In the last 3 years, more than 100 Poms. have been sent to satisfied customers, south of the Canadian border. Miss Anne Bronaugh, the well-known actress, purchased the black, Madame X., and the blue Pom. Beau Geste from the Wimaca Kennels and others have recently gone to ladies in Clarksburg, Va., Washington, D.C., and New York. A perusal of the kennel records shows that Poms. have been sold to fanciers in most cities from Halifax to Vancouver, New York to Seattle, and The Pas to New Orleans.

Mr. Skidmore can point with pride to Poms., that have an American-wide reputation from home-bred stock over a period of eight generations.

F. G. Dunstan's promising young Collie, Egyptian Byng Boy, recently imported from Illinois, U.S.A., has grown on in the right way since his arrival in Winnipeg. A strikingly handsome sable and white Collie, he possesses all the quality and good points that go to make a champion. Nearly perfect in head, eyes and expression, he is endowed with that balance and activity seldom seen nowadays on the bench or in the show ring.

There is, in the Magnus Kennels, a perfectly marked sable and white dog-puppy by "Byng Boy," which is sure to attract the notice of Collie fanciers whenever he appears in public.

Notes From Alberta

By Provincial Contributing Editor, R. S. TYRELL, Bottrel, Alta.

GENERAL meeting of the Alberta Kennel Club was held on Sept. 21st with a good attendance. An old member, A. P. Patrick, Esq., by an unanimous vote was made an Honorary President, this in view, not only of his long connection but also in recognition of his magnificent support of the Club.

A Point Show is to be held on Dec. 18th and 19th with Bob Thompson, Esq. and Hugh Leslie, Esq. as judges, Superintendent, John C. Fletcher, Esq. This show will take the place of the usual matinee show held for many years on Thanksgiving Day and it is probable that the Alberta Dog Racing Ass'n. will stage a dog race meet to take its place. In view of the great success of the December show last year, it is anticipated that a five point rating will be made. A great number of fanciers are very unwilling to exhibit their dogs during the heat of the summer months and with such popular—experienced judges as those mentioned above we predict that this show will be the greatest ever.

It was with very sincere regret that the members accepted the resignation of John E. Hunter, Esq. their President. This is a great loss. Mr Hunter is not only a keen fancier but was a very able chairman, while his sense of British fairplay and oldfashioned honesty, were a distinct asset to the Club. It was only after serious consideration, in view of the fact that he is at present unable to give this important post the really necessary time and attention required, that the step was taken. In my last notes the attention of our members was drawn to the excessive costs of importing my hounds to the Lethbridge Show. Before me is a letter from V. W. Williams, Esq. the President which is given here in toto:

Lethbridge, Alta.,
August 27, 1928.

R. S. Tyrell, Esq.,
Bottrel, Alta.

Dear Mr. Tyrell:

I just wish to thank you sincerely for the great assistance you gave our Secretary during judging hours and I regret that I did not have any time during the two days to call my own so that I could make your stay more pleasant but I am sure that you will appreciate my time was fully occupied and any lack of entertainment on my part was due to my time being taken up in other ways.

It was a little discouraging to find the small number of entries in view of the wealth of prizes and cups we had to give away and it seems to me that this is one matter which the C.K.C. might make very plain to exhibitors, that unless they support the shows with their entries they cannot expect to have future shows as it is quite a drain on the General Merchants of the town to be continually asked for cups and prizes.

Several dogs had to remain over on account of the Railroad Company refusing to take them back as baggage, claiming they were show dogs and had to be crated and sent by Express, the cost of which you will appreciate was out of reason and as a consequence I have my yards full of show dogs at the present time. Would it not be possible for every club to organize and get behind a petition backed by the C.K.C. in an effort to bring the C.P.R. Express rates down to a minimum.

I am sure that every dog fancier in Alberta would be indebted to you for life if you could bring about such a change of affairs. Thanking you again for your assistance and appreciating your presence down here, I remain,

Yours very truly,

The Southern Alberta Kennel Club,
V. W. Williams,
President.

It is certainly time this matter was given the serious consideration it warrants.

The general run of dog fanciers in the West are not in the millionaire class, (by a long way), and by far the majority support the larger breeds.

The express companies hold a privileged position in our Dominion, in other parts of the British Empire their prerogative is enjoyed by the Government. Then some of these dogs are conveyed by the railroads themselves at rates that are very much more reasonable than those charged in Canada.

It may be argued that showing dogs is a luxury and not a necessity, but the same thing might be said relative to sheep or pigs!

The injustice of the express rates on dogs can be easily seen by the following comparative costs:

Shipping one Russian Wolfhound Cochrane to Regina per express (rate 100 lbs. $4.20), on chain, double $4.20; total $8.40.

In crate, weighing 50 lbs., one and one half rate, one 1st class express rate, hounds, $4.20, crate, $2.10; total, $6.30.

Half rate on $6.30, $3.15; total $9.45.

Rate on crate alone $3.15, to ship crate alone without hound $2.10, to ship crate 1st class freight $1.55.

To ship this dog on a chain where the inconvenience and risk to the express company must be considerably greater than crated, there is a saving to the fancier of $1.05.

The saving to the shipper of sending the crate without the dog is also (express) $1.05.

Even at the present high charges the rates are not logical, neither of these charges cover insurance on value over $50.00.

The first race meet of the Alberta Dog Racing Ass'n. was a complete success and demonstrated the fact that Russian Wolfhounds bred under Western conditions are second to none in speed.

Cossack Cassandra (Cassy) ran the 240 yds. in 13 seconds flat with Cossack Zenoza (Nosey) half a length behind. Don, a Russian puppy owned by M. Allan, Esq., Calgary, third. This time equals the English electric track record.

The local Press with full headlines gave the new sport an enthusiastic send-off and described the races as of a high standard.

Whatever may be said against dog racing, there is not the slightest doubt that the sport is highly beneficial to the hounds and educational to their owners, while as a sport there is every indication that it will soon become the most popular in the Dominion.

The many Alberta fanciers who have been considering advertising their stud dogs and kennels should make their arrangements now for our Xmas issue. Kennel and Bench reaches practically every fancier in the Dominion and it is really surprising the very large number of prospective buyers in the States who consult our Canadian canine magazine before purchasing.

SAM BAMFORD BUYS NOTED IRISH TERRIER.

Mr. Sam Bamford, late of Toronto and now of Blackburn, England, has purchased the famous Irish Terrier Champion, Galloper, at a big price, and as Sam says the good ones are the easiest to sell, naturally that is the kind he is picking up from time to time over there.

At the time of writing he was leaving for the Kennel Club Show at London in quest of a pair of Cairn Terriers for a client, and if he gets what he is looking for at the Kennel Club show his pocket book will have to be pretty well packed we should imagine.

Mr. Bamford expects to be in Toronto for the Royal Winter Fair show and will stay over here until the New York show is over.

WHIPPET RACING AND NEWS.

The Racing Whippet draws a bigger crowd than ever. It seems that a person has only to see a race and straight away he becomes an enthusiastic fan. Then he brings a couple of friends who also become supporters and talk whippet racing before baseball.

The ladies are taking more than a passing interest in the sport. Several Fair Owners are members of Toronto Whippet Association and will be racing their own stock next spring.

All this season's pups are being quickly snapped up, the get of Gaffsman being especially in demand.

Talking of Gaffsman reminds us. Mr. Jack Chappell set out to prove that a good Whippet can win, both on the show bench and on the race track. Local opinion was all against it being done, and Old Timers said "Impossible —it can't be done! Show Whippets and Racing Whippets are widely separated, etc., etc."

Everybody knows Gaffsman's Racing Record, 200 yards in 12 1-5 secs. over a track used for horse racing. He is undoubtedly one of the fastest dogs in Canada. He now has the coveted prefix of "Champion Gaffsman." Under the capable handling of Mr. Ted Ward he had his championship in less than a month, with a point to spare.

At the Peterboro Show Mr. Hopton had the unique experience of having had three generations showing dogs under him. Mr. Geo. Ward, Mr. Ted Ward and his son George, Jr., who showed Gaffsman under his dad's watchful eye.

The Beaconsfield Handicap.

The Beaconsfield, one of the classic events of dog racing, brought together some of the fastest dogs in training with the crack slippers, making this a special event. The regulars were all on hand with their friends, the Fans know the dogs by name, and every mother's son and daughter were shouting at once for their favorite, "Come on you speed merchant," "Step on it, Baby Peg," "Just in Time—that Baby has the right name," and a hundred other shouts are on the air at once. The dogs were just as eager as their owners and really do enjoy racing. You can actually see a winning dog "swagger" after the race.

The track was quite heavy, so no fast time was made.

1st Heat.—Just in Time had the crack slipper, Joe Storer, to help her get away. Fast as usual, she caught her field at the 175-yard and wore down Baby Peggy near the finish to win nicely. Time, 12 4-5 seconds.

2nd Heat.—The dogs were put on the mark keen, the slippers were on their toes too. The start was perfect. All dogs away with the crack of the pistol still in the air. 1st, Sturdy Stella, she kept her handicap advantage to the end. Jean ran a corking good race to beat the rest of the field for 2nd place. Time, 12 4-5 secs.

The Final.—Start good. Harry Anderson had Sturdy Stella away well. She had her orders to "step on the gas" and was never in danger. Just in Time was closest. Jean was third and Baby Peggy fourth. Time, 12 3-5 secs.

The racing season officially closes with the "Thanksgiving." The winner's owner can throw out his chest and say he has won a race. The favorite will likely be White Wings, with Gaffsman second choice, but the race does not always go to the favorite. If Sturdy Stella holds her present good form she will be a hard bitch to beat.

Little Bits From Far and Near

By A. HAMILTON, JR., Scotland.

It is estimated that in the 3,500,000 homes in Great Britain there is a dog in the capacity of a pet, friend or guard.

There is an entry of 6,900 for the English K.C. Sixty-seventh Annual Show.

Sir W. Chilcott has sailed from Paris with a pack of 45 Boarhounds for Corsica, where he intends to hunt the wild boar on his estate at St. Florens.

German police are using an amazing device to aid in tracking-down criminals, an "ultra whistle" that summons police dogs without giving the faintest audible sound to warn the fugitive. The sound wave that the device admits is of more than 40,000 vibration to the second—too high-pitched for the human ear to hear, but the dog's sensitive ear, it is said, detects and understands it.

J. M. Wilson, of Moffat, Scotland, with his dog "Fly" won the championship shield in the final of the International Sheepdog Trials at Llandudno, Wales, last week. He scored 160 points.

Wales won the Team Aggregate Shield, a victory chiefly due to the plucky work of the Hon. E. L. Mostyn, who entered with his dog though handicapped by injuries resulting from a recent accident and compelled to use two sticks.

All day the trials went in favor of Scotland.

The death has just been announced of Mr. Robert Houston, late of Kilmarnock, Scotland, and with his passing another link with the earlier days of the Fox Terrier fancy has snapped. Mr. Houston was a great fancier and a successful business man in his younger days in Kilmarnock, the town of his birth. He was the leading Pouter pigeon breeder half a century ago and also dabbled in various breeds of dogs, not to mention horses. He spent a number of years in Canada, where he was very well-known in the canine fancy. He visited the Home Country several times and took back to Canada quite a number of famous Terriers with him. After the war he returned and settled down in Scotland. He had been in failing health for some time, and his death took place at Irvine. He leaves a grown up son and daughter.

A curious example of misplaced maternal instinct is recorded by the "Echo de Paris." A gardener near Lille had a small puppy on which he took pity when the mother was killed. It had to be fed from a bottle, but obviously felt cold with no mother to keep it warm. The difficulty has, however, been overcome by the curious action of a hen, who has adopted the puppy and keeps it jealously guarded under her wings, defending it when anyone approaches. The hen will doubtless later on find her adopted charge more trouble than the proverbial brood of ducklings.

It is not generally known that in France there is a duty of 2½ per cent. on all sales of dogs sold under 300 francs plus a luxury tax of 10 per cent. on dogs sold over 300 francs.

The September 21st issue of "Our Dogs" publishes two interesting photos, one showing judge, officials and a few exhibitors of the Vancouver Kennel Club of Vancouver, B.C., and the other of members of the British Columbia Fox Terrier Association with their exhibits at the Vancouver Show. The same issue publishes a very interesting critique of Mr. J. W. Marples Canadian tour.

Several very important sales have just taken place in Scottish doggy circles. The Baroness Burton has sold the Cairn Terrier Douchfour Nigel to the Hon. Lady De Courcy Wheeler. The Duchess of Montrose sold the winning Schnauzer, Brodick Castle, Pan, to a client in Glasgow, and Miss E. M. R. Reoch has parted with Valiant Struan to H.H. the Maharajah of Jind.

Captain Rao Raja Birenda Singh of Putalia made his debut as a Fox Terrier judge at Camberley. He was greeted with the heaviest entry and his decisions were well received. His Highness is better-known in Gundog circles.

Many Scottish exhibitors made the crossing to Ireland to compete at the Belfast Championship Show and were very successful. There was an entry of 1,430.

During August the English Kennel Club issued 131 export pedigrees for dogs bound for Canada and the United States of America.

The Irish Free State Government, to the great satisfaction of all who love game shooting, are about to introduce new game laws when the Dail re-assembles. It will be of a drastic character. Partridge and grouse shooting will be prohibited for two years, and the killing of hares, except by coursing or with packs of hounds, will be prohibited altogether, save under license. No person can purchase game except from a licensed dealer who must keep a register of all transactions, and the Civic Guards are to be given full powers of search and inspection. The bill is a drastic one, but as game in Ireland was almost depleted the act is absolutely necessary.

We have just learned with regret of the death of Sir Theodore Cook, editor of The Field. Sir Theodore was only 61 years of age. He was a well-known sportsman and author.

The first Championship Show of the "National Airedale Terrier Association" (England) was held in Regent Park. It is reckoned to be the finest collection of Airedales that ever paraded before a judge. The entry was 479.

Sing a song of Airedales,
A tableful of cups,
Nine-and-twenty classes
Of championships and pups.

When the show was opened
The dogs began to bark,
Wasn't that the finest sound
E'er heard in Regent's Park?

The judge was in the ring soon,
Weighing all their merits,
Exhibitors sat round about,
Keeping up their "Sperrits."

The dogs paraded one and all,
With Neadwood Captain best,
And Wagtail Jess not far behind,
While veterans stood the test.

On September 14th, in Jersey (Channel Islands), an interesting function took place in the opening of a dogs' cemetery by the Lieut.-Governor, accompanied by Lady Bingham. The cemetery is in the St. Aubin's Road and was gifted by Mrs. Bellie, widow of the late Vicar of All Saints' Church.

another. The competition was regarded as one of the most interesting ever held in England. The weather was dry and cold and after a keenly contested match the south won a great victory by an aggregate of 2,412 to 2,043 points. The judges were Major Beddoes for the south and Mr. Ernest Wrigley for the north. Lady Kitty Ritson was referee. As each dog completed each exercise the marks awarded by the judges were posted on a board and it was thus possible for the public to compare their own views with those of the judges. The idea proved popular and the spectators fully appreciated it.

SELL SOME OF YOUR SURPLUS STOCK TO JAPAN.

Mr. J. A. Jeffries, Foxboro, Ont., advises us that he has received enquiries from Japan regarding the Collies offered by him for sale in Kennel and Bench. Our readers should take heed to the ramifications of Kennel and Bench circulation and be ready to ship to quite unexpected destinations. Breeders from Ontario to British Columbia have shipped to Japan with satisfying results. There is a good market here and our readers who will send full value for monies received will undoubtedly share and keep sharing in this market.

If you have surplus stock in your kennels and keep the secret to yourselves you must be prepared to absorb the cares of useless feeding and exercising. Why not tell the world that you have something worth while to sell and give it a chance to purchase from you.—Advertising pays.

The Canadian National Beagle Club Trials

The fifteenth Annual Field Trials of the Canadian National Club were held at Rodney, Ont., and went down in history as being an absolute success in every respect. There were several reasons for the 1928 Trials being as successful as they were and hereunder Kennel and Bench readers may learn of several.

First, a club often does not realize certain members are a valuable asset to any club, in this instance we wish to thank Mr. George Sherman, of Sunnybank Beagle fame, familiarly known as "Buck," for his untiring activity as Field Marshall, he can truthfully lay claim to the "blue" in this division. Two new-comers to the Canadian were Mr. F. L. Wise, of New York City, and Mr. Nick Wiegel, of Springfield, Ohio, and both vouch for "Buck" and will, no doubt, further add that no club has a Field Marshall that can compare with him. Not a brace went down without "Buck" being right on the job, helping start the game, and being useful in general.

Mr. Frank Walker is another member who freely gives his services, and his services are invaluable, as "Honey" does not need to take a back seat when it comes to knowing hound work. As a judge he can be recommended to any club.

Second, our field trial grounds were well-liked, and rabbits while not in abundance were plentiful. Some of the old-time field followers were of the opinion that our grounds could safely be ranked third on the continent.

Third, hotel accommodations were good, not pretentious, but the good fellowship and home atmosphere made up for any shortcomings. We were certainly treated royally and hope some of Kennel and Bench readers will be with us next fall to enjoy our whole hearted hospitality.

Third, kennels were located directly behind the hotel, large roomy box stalls that were screened off in front, not quite enough of them for the unexpected large entry, but more stalls will be added for next year.

Fourth, the judging was in the capable hands of Harry M. Curtis and Frank Walker. Both men are well-known and acquitted themselves satisfactorily.

Fifth, the Volstead Act may be O.K.—in some instances—but, boys, after about the fourth brace has been run, the weather just a trifle warm, how could you refuse an ice cold bottle of Cincinnati Cream—or, maybe, two? To tell the truth, none were refused.

Even the judges, it was said, indulged. Of course our good President, Jim Hendricks, had to come across with his customary toast, "May you never die until I murder you!" We are now ready for the fifth brace.

Sixth, Mr. R. L. Gilkey, of Plainwell, Mich., was much in evidence. Never missed a brace, was right up with the running at all times, and a few men like R. L. Gilkey can do a Beagle Club a world of good. The Wolverine Beagle Club should be commended for having a dyed-in-the-wool beagler such as R. L. Gilkey for President.

Mrs. Gribble, of Niles, Mich., was an active participant, can "talk hound" with the best of them, also she is a woman who at a trial does not need any assistance to handle her entry.

The Honorable Thomas Duffy, of Ionia, Mich., one-time president of the Wolverine, was also numbered among those present, along with his hound "The Advertiser." Tom judged the Thirteen-inch Derbies, and, boys, he was all to the good.

Mr. F. L. Wise traveled all the way from New York, an event in itself. He did not go back empty handed and his winnings will testify to that effect.

Mr. Nick Wiegel, staunch supporter of the Highland, we tried to out-do the Highland, but Nick was true blue and stuck to his guns. He made a host of friends for the Highland, because we all admire a booster.

The old stand-bys, who patronize the Canadian year in and year out, rain or shine, we need not mention, as their support is never questioned.

In closing, we wish to thank those who have helped make our past trials successful, and it is our sincere wish that those who have enjoyed our hospitality will again be with us next fall.

Following are the awards:—

The 15-in. Championship furnished 8 starters, and was won by "The Advertiser" (Jupiter of Birch Brae, ex Twilight of Birch Brae), owned by the Hon. Thos. Duffy, and handled by the "Honorable Tom." ### IRELAND AND THE IRISH WOLFHOUND.

That a revival of interest in the Irish Wolfhound is with us cannot be denied. The large entries of the breed at recent shows have been very encouraging to all lovers of the breed, and apparently we are to see this condition develop more and more in the future.

From the Weekly Irish Times the following clipping tells in no uncertain manner of the intense interest being taken in Ireland by those sponsoring the ancient Irish hound, who we are told ranks amongst the very oldest breeds, and of whom Oison, the son of Finn, tells St. Patrick, in the year A.D. 250 of the battle of Gabhoa, and of the great deeds of that day. He says:—

"Sweeter to MacCumbail,

And the nobles of the Fenians;

To hear the voices of the hounds,
Than to solicit mercy!"

And to which the Saint replies:

"Oh! how sorrowful was the choice
The Fenians of Fionn preferred;
That their hounds should be sweeter
to them

Than to be praying to the Saints"—
The clipping:

The Association of Irish Wolfhound Breeders, in their appeal for support and co-operation, state in a circular that "the origin of our national dog is wrapped in the obscurity of the dawn of history." The Irish wolf-hound has been described as 'noble in character, majestic in bearing, swift in the chase, tenacious to the end; a mighty hunter, generous to friend, but terrible to foe; supreme

DANGER!

National Better Business Bureau
Finds Mongrel Dogs Being Registered as Pure-Breds
by United Kennel Club.

Pure bred registration for dogs of any parentage whatsoever is easily obtainable through the United Kennel Club of Kalamazoo, Michigan, according to an investigation recently conducted by the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., 383 Madison Avenue, New York, N.Y. In test cases conducted by the Bureau, two non-existent mutts which, because of their muddled ancestry can only be classed as mongrels, were speedily granted "pure-bred" registry by the Club with no questions asked.

Of the dogs for which the Bureau sought registry, one was represented as being a Boston Terrier and the other as a Sealyham. The supposed immediate progenitors of these animals are all pure bred dogs of various breeds all duly registered with the American Kennel Club, a legitimate organization well known to dog fanciers. Both dogs were promptly registered by the Club and imposing "pedigree certificates" were furnished without delay.

Both of the parents of the Boston Terrier were given, in the Bureau's application, as Boston Terriers with two of his grandparents listed as being of the same breed. The other two grandparents chosen by the Bureau were a Wire Haired Fox Terrier and a Bulldog. This dog's great-grandparents, however, showed a decided diversity of breed. Of them, two were Boston Terriers and two Pointers, the others being a Shepherd, a Poodle, a Manchester Terrier, and an English Toy Spaniel.

Like the Boston Terrier, the Sealyham came from pure-bred stock so far as his parents were concerned. Both were Sealyhams. Beyond that, however, there was confusion. His grandparents were listed as an Airedale Terrier, a Cairn Terrier, a West Highland White Terrier, and a Bull Terrier. While no two were the same breed, the one redeeming characteristic of this dog's great-grandparents was that they were all Terriers. But scarcely any stretch of the imagination can conceive of them producing a "pure bred" Sealyham. These great-grandparent Terriers were a Boston, a Scottish, a Wire Haired Fox, a Yorkshire, a Welsh, a Sealyham, a Smooth Fox, and a Bull.

The part played by a bona fide registered pedigree in the sale, transfer, and handling of pure-bred dogs has led the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., to issue a bulletin on the facts given above to its forty-seven affiliated local Bureaus, which points out that registry by the United Kennel Club is apparently worthless and probably fraudulent. The bulletin asks the local Bureaus to warn dog lovers to look with suspicion upon dogs offered for sale as registered pure-breds when such registry is attributed to the United Kennel Club. Local Bureaus are asked, also, to warn all those who are considering applying to the Club for registration that their dogs' registry under this method of operation will be deceptive and unauthentic.

among the canine races for intelligence and an almost uncanny sense of good and evil; sublime in his devotion; the joy of his master's heart and faithful unto death"—such is the splendid record of the Irish wolf-hound, gleaned from the mythological legends of the Emerald Isle, and taken from the written page of English history from the dawn of our race unto the twentieth century.

The breed, it is further stated, is advancing "with giant strides" towards its proper position of pre-eminence in the canine world, not only in England, but in many of the countries of Europe and in America.

"It was with a view to endeavoring to make our own country take its proper place as the real home of its own national hound," says the circular, "that the campaign for the revival, purification and increase of the breed that the Association of Irish Wolfhound Breeders was founded on the 23rd July, 1928."

The president of the Association is Lady Talbot de Malahide, and the vice-presidents are Viscount Powerscourt, the Marquess of Londonderry, Mr. J. F. Baily, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rork.

Among the objects and methods of the Association are an endeavor "to establish firmly the breed of Irish wolf-hound in Ireland by defining as precisely as possible its type and qualities; to urge upon breeders and judges the adoption of that type and those qualities as the only standard by which Irish wolf-hounds are to be bred and judged, and which may, therefore, be universally accepted as the sole standard in breeding."

KENNEL NAMES.

The Kennel Name "Ornetsie" has been registered in the name of John D. Wade, Winnipeg, Man.

JACK DUNN, BASEBALL MAGNATE DEAD.

We do not report the death of a baseball Prince every day, and although the writer had admired this mighty man of the diamond for many years, the admiration had been purely for baseball reasons alone. But Jack Dunn of the International League was the best known owner and manager in the League his Baltimore Orioles having won the "bunting" for seven consecutive years. The sport owes it to Jack Dunn for Babe Ruth, that is common knowledge in baseball circles, but this is a dog magazine and so we mention the circumstances for what it is worth to our non-baseball readers.

Jack was also president of the Baltimore (Oriole) Field Trial Club, and had a kennel of show specimens, and of dogs famed for their work at the trials.

At the recent trials of the Baltimore Club Mr. Dunn was following the work of one of his dogs. Seated on his horse he was plainly excited as was customary with him, in fact he was the central figure of the meeting. Suddenly he became seized with a heart stroke and the large gallery noticed his head fall on his chest, and gradually he dropped out of the saddle—dead. The trials were immediately called off, as the leading spirit of the party had left. There is a great loss amongst ball fans and amongst sporting dog lovers generally, and Kennel and Bench extends to his relatives and intimate friends the sympathy of the dog fanciers of the Dominion of Canada.

THE ROKEBY KENNELS

Exhibitors at the Canadian National Exhibition Dog Show could not help but notice the smart little handler that was taking the best ribbons in Bull Terriers and Scottish Terriers, and his tussle with a good one of the latter breed for best dog in show all breeds. Well, that was the popular American handler, Mr. Abe Swartz, of Wynnewood, Pa., and a former pupil of the old ring master, Mr. Alf. Delmont, and one who has become a credit to his tutor.

Not so long ago, and shortly after Mr. Swartz had started up in business for himself, he awoke one day to find his kennels burned to the ground, and to one with less grit than "Abe" that would have spelt the word "finish," but not so with Mr. Swartz. With commendable pluck he secured for himself four acres of desirable property with modern fire-proof kennels capable of accommodating 75 dogs. The kennels are built Californian style with every modern convenience installed, even the kennel windows are shaded and a dog's life at Rokeby Kennels is something to make the dogs themselves feel important.

The illustration used shows the kennel buildings, and at a glance one may notice that there is little chance of any recurrence of such a fire as came nearly breaking Mr. Swartz's heart a short time ago. Far and near you will meet Mr. Swartz at American shows, and, as he says himself, he likes to visit the most important of the Canadian shows and meet the Canadian fanciers. In our business pages we will commence to carry a handler's card for Abe Swartz, and dogs in his care are always well attended to wherever their entry forms note that they have to appear.

Rokeby Kennels look more like an Old Country castle than a dog kennel, but Abe says it is "The Home of Comfort."

JOE GREENWOOD DONATES A TROPHY.

It will be recalled that Mr. Joseph Greenwood, of Beamsville, Ont., had the distinction of winning the Sterling Silver Trophy donated by His Excellency The Viscount Willingdon, the Governor-General of Canada, for the Best Canadian-bred dog or bitch shown during 1927, with his famous Pomeranian International Champion Glen Rose Flashaway, and in conversation with Mr. Greenwood at the Canadian National Exhibition he expressed his desire to put up a Trophy to be known as the International Champion Glen Rose Flashaway Memorial Trophy, and to be offered in 1928 under the identical conditions which governed the Governor-General's Trophy.

The Trophy has been purchased already, and will be offered to every all breed show giving club holding shows in Canada under Canadian Kennel Club rules during 1928, and as in the case of the Governor-General Trophy, full conditions will be sent to all show secretaries at the time of their claiming the dates for their shows.

Canadian-bred dogs are becoming more and more important as time goes on and the wonderful performances of such a dog as the Tri-Country Champion, Prince of Wales 2nd (now Dominion Fortitude), turned the eyes of the world on Canada as a dog producing country. The Canadian Kennel Club has been featuring the Canadian-bred dog right through 1928, and no doubt the giving of these Trophies will further encourage our breeders and stimulate their breeding and showing activities in the coming years.

The conditions of the Trophy under review are as follows:

"For the Best Canadian-bred dog or bitch exhibited in the Dominion of Canada during 1929. Winnings to be rated according to the championship points earned at every all-breed show held under Canadian Kennel Club Rules, where the Trophy is offered for competition. Canadian-bred champions are not barred from competition for this Trophy."

THE EFF-EFF ART GALLERY

Conducted by
The French Remedy Company
Victoria, B.C.

IN THE INTEREST OF SCIENCE

On account of the widespread discussion that has been taking place as to which Worm Remedy is preferred by the average dog, it was decided to apply the famous Blindfold Test at Wormville University, Connecticut. An Investigating Committee, composed of old Doc Fixem, the Dean of the University Professor Goingsum, and Miss Maria Kittikid, were appointed to settle the question. The famous pedigreed Hunting Dog, "Migosh Howyspotzem," was brought from the Middle West to the University campus, where four well-known brands of Worm Remedies were separately exposed, each in a little group. This extraordinarily intelligent animal, whose sense of smell is so highly developed that he can stand a bird with his tail, on being conducted in a blindfolded state to the field, almost instantly swung round and convincingly stood in a steady point to VERMICIDE CAPSULES.

HELPING THE EX-SERVICE MEN.

The Russian wolfhound of Canada may have an opportunity to show its interest in local ex-service men if plans now under consideration mature as anticipated.

A joint meeting of the executive officers of the Christie Street Hospital, Post No. 19, Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League and the executive officers of the above named club, on October 23rd, and pending the consent of the Post on November 13 (which consent if given), the Russian Wolfhound Club of Canada, under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, will hold a matinee show some time in December, the proceeds of which will be devoted entirely to the relief and distress among ex-service men and their dependents during the coming winter.

Maritime Notes and News

By Provincial Contributing Editor, MRS. HELEN DOHERTY, Nova Scotia.

General satisfaction is expressed at the recovery of the Shepherd dog, "Leo von Albertann", owned by H. Henry of Dartmouth, and which escaped from the show building in Saint John. The dog was at large for several days in spite of all efforts to locate him, but was finally found, very little the worse for his adventure, but unfortunately too late to be shown. It will be recalled that this young dog did so well at the Halifax fixture when he made his debut in September.

The winning Boston terrier bitch "Chickie", bred by Julius M. Fangman, New Jersey, and owned by R. A. Corbett of Halifax, recently whelped a beautiful litter, and is raising two husky, healthy pups, one of either sex. "Chickie" is by "Monte Carlo Tiny" ex "Fangman's Rose", and is a half sister of the famous "Champion Fangman's Sandra." The sire of these pups is John Reid's "Champion Reid's Dandy Boy", he by "The Sultan" ex "Keleher's Sweet Bouquet."

Since writing last month we have heard the Boston terrier bitch "Champion O'Glo's Midgie", exhibited so successfully both here and in Saint John, by Mrs. Hilda M. Ridder of Lake Saint George, New York, was placed best of breed at London, Ont., thus completing her Canadian championship in three weeks, at three successive shows, without a defeat, and was again awarded at London the Canadian Kennel Club cup for best Canadian bred dog or bitch in show.

Miss Alice O'Brien recently shipped a very fine Sealyham puppy to Mrs. Benjamin Curran of Calais, Maine. This likely looking youngster was sired by the Cardigan Kennel's own stud "Champion James of St. Margaret", and claims as dam "Champion Reloof Toodles", and should be heard from when old enough to be shown.

Sales have been brisk at the bulldog kennels of W. A. Baker of Middleton, N.S. "Lord Roberts" was purchased by H. G. Goucher of the same place, and "Prince Roma" was shipped to A. Ruffee of Annapolis. These dogs are litter brothers, being by "Colonel Beresford" ex "Derbyshire Lass", and were whelped May 16, 1927. Both dogs were exhibited at the recent N.S.K.C. show, and will be recalled as part of the very fine entry of five shown by this enthusiastic fancier.

Fred Fougere of this city had the misfortune to lose a three months old Irish terrier dog pup which died very suddenly one day during the past week.

Two extremely good dog pups were lately sent down from Toronto to that staunch supporter of the Irish terrier breed, John Fry, Sr., and those who have seen them consider them very likely prospects. Their sire is "Champion Albany Straight Tip", the "wheaten" dog which was shown here by Ted Ward, and which we believe completed his championship while in Halifax. The dam, "Champion Anandale Rosie O'Grady", a well known one at the larger upper Canadian fixtures, where she won her title in hot company, was shipped at the same time to the Acadia Kennels, owned by John Fry, Jr., where she is now an inmate.

Henry M. McLeod's well known winning Irish Setter bitch "Champion

Lady Haliburton" recently whelped nine sturdy puppies, four males and five females, sired by that good American dog "Champion Samada Red King" of the Colby Kennels, Dover, New Hampshire. This dog has distinguished himself not only in the show ring, but is also a big winner in the field, being awarded first in the Field Trials held at that place last month. Mr. McLeod's "Champion Larry Boy" was placed best of breed at Saint John in September, over a class of twenty-six, by Judge Charles H. Davis. This was one of the hottest classes seen in that city for years, and that alone speaks volumes for McLeod's win, as the "sister city", and New Brunswick in general, is noted for its sporting dogs.

It is with very deep regret that the people of the Maritimes learned of the death in Toronto recently of Norman K. Swire, so well known and liked by all with whom he came in contact. Mr. Swire judged the second show of the Nova Scotia Kennel Club, and made many friends during the brief time he spent in Halifax.

W. W. Lasky of Fredericton, N.B. has been a visitor to the "garrison city" for the past week, and while here took the opportunity to see many of the kennels in and around town. Mr. Lasky is one of the best known Maritime fanciers, and for many years has been the owner of some good "sour mugs", but at the present time his attention seems to have strayed somewhat from the national breed, and he is now devoting his energies to a revival of the Scottish terrier.

F. Wm. Johnson is the proud owner of an exceptionally even and well balanced litter of smooth fox terriers. It is no exaggeration to say that there is not a poor one in the lot. The dam is Mr. Johnson's good bitch "Pride's Hill Sapphire", and the sire is "Champion Pride's Hill Resultant". "Pride's Hill Sapphire" will in all likelihood be sent to Montreal for the forthcoming show of the Associated Kennel Club, in company with W. T. Miller's English setter "Tijuca Blonde", Charles Randall's Pointer bitch "Lady o' the Glen", Marlboro Kennel's sensational Borzoi homebred "Turgenoff of Marlboro", and Cyril H. Colwell's recently imported Dane bitch "Harmonica of Ouborough".

JUST A WORD ABOUT JOE

A letter to Toronto Globe by Vincent G. Perry, London.

Is there any place in a big newspaper to say a dog is dead?

If there is, Mr. Editor, will you say that Joe is dead. We rather think we would like to see that in print, and perhaps you could say he was a mighty good dog, because Joe was just that—such a mighty good dog! And we don't say good because of the cups and ribbons and the championship he earned—if that was what we wanted to say we would say he was a splendid type of Boston terrier, the great champion Globe Sweet William, famed in two countries. But right now, with our fingers still marked with the soil of the little grave down in the garden, and our eyes smarting hot with unashamed tears for a pal of the heart, we just want to say our dog is dead.

He was a good dog, Joe. From the very first day we brought him home, a raw puppy, big and awkward for his age, he won us. And the battles we had to fight for him! Untutored in the way of well-ordered homes, trying so hard to please every one, but falling prey to his own prankishness every so often, his early days were rather tempestuous. There was the ripped-up sofa pillow, with its millions of feathers all over the house on the very day most impressive guests were expected, and then again there was that tempting fur collar of a brand-new winter coat belonging to the fastidious member of the household. How was Joe to know fur was not for his teeth to worry? Again we recall a stolen pie, and a roast of meat for Sunday dinner left on the doorstep, where a hungry little dog could not be expected to know it was not a gift for his own enjoyment. Disasters overtook Joe in those days, but he did try to be good—and eventually he learned the ways of man and became wise beyond belief. The greater part of Joe's life was spent in living an orderly life and palling with those he loved. Especially did he love this man human who is writing these lines. To be within touch of these unworthy fingers was all he asked of life.

The shows with Joe were mere episodes. He enjoyed them only when he went with his master. Comes rather vividly the memory of one great show at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Dogs were there from everywhere. A strange handler had Joe in the ring. The class was a large one. Joe was sluggish, and did not take the showing business seriously. His master was standing high up on some stalls several feet from the ring where he could watch the judging over the heads of the crowd which packed the ringside. Competition narrowed down to Joe and three other famous dogs. The crucial moment found Joe not standing properly, pouting, and straining on his leash to get away from the unfamiliar handler. The master realized his dog's chances were being lost, so he whistled, the long-drawn-out whistle that he used to call Joe from his play in the garden. Up went Joe's ears, down went his feet into proper position, and he posed on the show-block as he had never posed before—head held up high, feet firmly under him, straining every sense to locate the direction from which the whistle had come. It was the perfect picture of a dog at the alert position, and showed Joe as he really was, a very handsome dog of correct proportions. The judge took out his book, marked down a number, and Joe had won first prize.

Joe never grew too old to play with a puppy, or father the flock at the kennel. He was the head of the kennel family in every way, the lord of all he surveyed. His name is on the pedigree of many famous champions and winners of today, but he never became conceited, and never put on airs. He was always a wholesome dog with very gentlemanly manners. He allowed no liberties from other dogs, but was by no means quarrelsome. He had a sort of quiet dignity about him. In his show days thousands of people had stroked his head as he set on the show bench, but never once had he snapped, or given way to the nervous strain it must have been to have hand after hand stroke his brow. He knew that people meant to be friendly, and for each pat he gave an answering wag of his little kinked tail. Just the same he was the dread of the garbage collector and the rag and house man, because Joe could guard his master's home with his 18 pounds of weight just as well as the heaviest police dog. It was a great comfort for the master of the house to know that the little mother and the little son at home were being guarded by a staunch dog like Joe.

And the little son—the baby who came when Joe was quite an old dog and unused to baby fingers. How he will miss Joe! Joe had been pinched and pulled and loved almost to suffocation by the little lad just turned two—and there was not a scar on baby fingers or a blemish anywhere to show that Joe resented these discomfitures. Like the rest of us, Joe learned a baby is a thing to love and protect, and he did both of those things as best he knew how.

For the last year Joe had been quite blind. That had not stopped him jumping gates and playing in the garden almost up to the time of this last sickness which took him away. He was such an active dog, blindness was just another obstacle he faced cheerfully and conquered.

It is a hackneyed phrase to say a life well spent; but Joe's life was well spent. We are so glad we knew him and loved him. He is lying out there now, with a bleeding heart, the emblem of love and devotion, planted over his grave. And a little boy with blue, blue eyes and unruly gold-tinted hair, is going about the house calling: "Heah, Joe—heah, Joe; where are you, Joe?"

TRI - NATIONAL CHAMPION BULLDOG PRINCE OF WALES II, DEAD

There has never been a dog of any breed born in Canada that has brought the Canadian breeder so prominently before the eyes of the world's dogdom, as the good honest bulldog, Prince of Wales II, who was bred by Mr. L. S. Lumley, of Sarnia, Ont.

The world famous Prince of Wales II, as he was always known on this side of the Atlantic—was a dark brindle, (with white marked collar), son of Hefty Challenger, in turn a son of that great producer Hefty Monarch, who was brought to Canada by Mr. Thos. Hicks of Toronto on Victoria Day in 1921. And out of Glenarden Lady Isabelle. The "Prince" was born on June 18th, 1923 and on July 26th he left Sarnia, and came to the Glenarden Kennels of Mr. Chas. S. Webber, at London, Ont., the astute "Charlie" was at all times well aware of the qualities of the dog and after a period of conditioning he brought the dog to the Canadian National Exhibition show in 1924. At the first showing he annexed half of what was his Canadian championship and was at once on the way to make Canada famous as a dog breeding country, taking in the shows as they came along he finished his championship in neat style at the Bulldog Breeders Association show in the spring of the following year, and it must be written too, that his 1924 victory made at the Toronto Fair was repeated in 1925, and for good measure he was awarded the silver for the best dog in the show all breeds. It must be remembered that Canadian bulldogs were a formidable outfit in those days.

At the Canadian National show in 1925, the dean of the American bulldog world, Mr. Thos. Grisdale of New York, was a "ringsider", and it was known that Tommy was infatuated with the winner. And it was only a matter of making out the necessary cheque that met the requirements of Mr. Webber, who has the reputation of being a shrewd buyer and an able seller, and the dog became the property of Mr. Grisdale.

History has it recorded that Prince of Wales II, soon made his American championship under Mr. Grisdale's colors. And then, "to the land of his fathers" became an obsession with Mr. Grisdale, and to England went our "Prince." But staid old England could not have any dog in its midst with such a democratic name and said so. Sitting on the base of the Edith Cavell monument in London, and musing over many things that have been often recorded in this magazine because of their exquisite tribute to the British Empire, the new name Dominion Fortitude was born, and from that day onward the changed name meant more and still greater victories were achieved until Dominion Fortitude was a champion in those countries where bulldog competition has always been of the hectic order.

Coming to Canada this spring and remembering the dogs age and distinguished career arrangements were made to take the care of the comfort and well-being of the tri-national champion, it was felt that the arrangements were complete in there every detail, even to isolation from possible contact with danger, however, a cable advises Mr. Grisdale that his great bulldog was killed by a motor truck, a photograph lies on the table here that speaks eloquently of the tragedy, and so ends the career of the greatest bulldog that history has on record, a dog that was building up a reputation for himself, having been named as the greatest producing sire of winning progeny in England last year. Four outstanding specimens sired by him have been brought to the United States within the last few days by Mr. Grisdale, these will keep the name Prince of Wales II, Dominion Fortitude, either or both, fresh in the public eye for some considerable time to come. Then it will be recalled that Fortitude was first dog puppy at Crofts last February; first novice at Richmond Championship Show. Young Fortitude, Miss Fortitude and others yet unnamed and left behind by an illustrious sire, will yet establish this great Canadian-bred dog as the premier sire of England in 1927, and forever blasts the vile insinuations so prevalent on this side of the water before Mr. Grisdale took the dog across the "pond", that the Prince was a non-producer. To Mr. Grisdale Dominion Fortitude met the most exacting requirements and every desire, for productiveness. A great show winner for sport, and for companion, for everything, and at all times.

Ch Prince of Wales II, Tri-National Champion, Dominion Fortitude could easily have had an even more comprehensive name, "Hearts Desire."

Ch. Warfleigh, Sensible Fred, the dog that went to England with Prince of Wales II, has come back looking younger and fitter than ever, and that being so Mr. Grisdale has that comfort remaining, we are one with him in sympathy for this great unexpected loss.

OUR FRONTISPIECE.

A Worthy International Champion.

The recent record-breaking trip of the prominent New York fancier Mrs. Hilda M. Ridder and her now famous Boston Terrier International Champion O Glo's Midgie—who has the distinction of being the only New York owned Boston Terrier to win this coveted title and a decided credit to the Canadian Boston Terrier Fancy—deserves special notice for not only was the trip an epoch maker but the undertaking a record one in many ways. In the first place it was the first time in the history of the Maritime shows that a New Yorker had personally shown her dog, as a matter of fact the first time that such a noted winner had competed, then again the record time, and the fact that the winner went right through without defeat is indeed an achievement that deserves the highest possible praise, hence the sincere congratulations of the Canadian Fancy to Mrs. Ridder and her worthy International Champion, O Glo's Midgie.

It appears that Mrs. Ridder purchased her famous champion as an unknown, when in poor condition, from the well known Detroit expert Mrs. Dean, having just left a litter, however, the clever manner in which Mrs. Ridder conditioned her latest acquisition soon gave Midgie the American title and the distinction of beating all at Brooklyn and other prominent shows in the Non-Sporting group, then came the mating with Ch. Haggerty Again and a wonderful litter, the fourth had by Midgie, then the long trip to Halifax where Mr. Chas. G. Hopton placed Midgie the Breed Champion, best of all Canadian-breds to finish third best of all breeds, St. John followed where she was the runner-up for best in show, then came the two London shows where Midgie again proved invincible and won the title, and the Canadian Kennel Club Cup for the best of all Canadian-breds, all within two weeks, not a bad record for a matron who had raised four litters in as many years, and is at present in prime condition.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Our Saskatchewan Editor drew our attention recently, to the fact that that Provincial Government has passed a bill limiting the number of dogs that could be kept by farmers in the rural districts.

There is an adage that, "the law is an ass" and apparently the quotation applied in this instance.

Having ranged in the West since the old range days, the writer is familiar with the dog nuisance. As a dog fancier of long standing, and one who has kept from twenty to forty wolfhounds, greyhounds and collies at one time, and whose immediate neighbors have kept sheep, I am prone to state that my dogs have never caused any serious trouble. Their happy state of affairs is due to the fact that every dog is securely fastened up AT NIGHT!

It is a fact, many a well behaved dog in the daytime, is quite the opposite after night fall, and generally unknown to their owners.

A number of years ago, when riding home from helping a neighbor thresh, I came across a number of mongrel cattle dogs chasing a small herd of cattle in a pasture, thus at about twelve p.m. On investigation they proved to be local dogs, several of them well known to me.

On questioning their owner, everyone insisted that their dogs had not been away from home.

A similar but more serious occurrence came to my attention last spring.

Having occasion to go a considerable distance to purchase seed grain, a young female wolfhound followed me, some time after my departure.

At my request that night, the farmer kindly shut the hound up in an empty granary. On being informed it was a rule at the kennels, he remarked, it would save a lot of ill-feeling and trouble between neighbors if everyone did the same. I have had to shoot several really good coyote hounds for killing my sheep at night, the funny part was that their owner absolutely refused to believe that the hounds would touch sheep, as he kept them himself.

To this day their disappearance is a mystery. Somewhat similar instances come to mind but the above should suffice.

We do not want or need an act limiting the number of dogs a farmer may keep, what we want is a law compelling him to keep his dog or dogs under control. The first step in that direction is to have every dog securely fastened up AT NIGHT.

R. S. Tyrrell.

CANADIAN JUDGE PLEASES

U.S.A. FANCIERS.

Editor, Kennel and Bench.

Dear Sir,—

Nothing that I know will do more to improve the relations between the American and Canadian fanciers than an exchange of judges—provided we both send men like Bert Swann. Mr. Swann judged for us the first of the month and did us a beautiful job. He has a particular happy faculty of helping novice exhibitors. He knows his dogs, goes over them carefully, and puts them where he thinks they should be.

As president of the Atlanta Kennel Club, I want to express the appreciation of the Club as a whole for the very fine work Mr. Swann did here and hope that he will find many engagements.

Sincerely yours,
F. E. COFFEE.

MILLER'S A-1 FOODS

It is a significant fact that Veterinarians, who have spent years studying the dietary functions of dogs, use and recommend Miller's A-1 scientifically balanced foods.

They have found that behind the appetizing flavor so appealing to dogs are nutritious food elements in just the right proportions to build health—and maintain it.

The experimenting has been done by experts in the "Health Food City of America", and when you purchase a food bearing the name, "Miller's", you can rest assured that you are giving your dog the proper nourishment to keep him in "The Pink of Condition."

You'll find the complete line of Miller's A-1 Foods at your pet shop, feed store, grocery, seed dealer, veterinarian, or sporting goods store.

Peterboro Kennel Club Show

Peterboro, off to a late start, was successful in pulling off one of the best shows held in Ontario (outside of Toronto) this year, and no doubt much credit for the results obtained is due that popular Peterboro sportsman, Mr. Herb. Routley, who, when he came to Toronto Exhibition, selected Mr. Chas. G. Hopton, New York, as all-breed judge and Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes, Toronto, as show superintendent, and declared the show on for Thursday and Friday, October 4th and 5th. That Peterboro held a two-point show on such short notice must be principally due to quick action and to the fact that the show was "pushed" from first to last by the Superintendent, Mr. Sparkes, who kept up a telephonic and personal interview bombardment on all and sundry until an entry of around 230 promised safety for at least 2 points for the faithful followers of the dog shows.

Quality was easily noticeable and many of the year's most consistent winners were on hand to give the visitors the thrill that they expected to receive for their admission fee. Thanks to the energy of Mr. Sparkes the "whole show" was available for inspection, and the many fine dogs that are usually conspicuous by their absence—on the benches—were ordered benched, or removed, and naturally they were quickly benched, reluctantly maybe, but they were benched, and that circumstance alone lent much worthwhile color to the fixture, and Mr. Sparkes is to be complimented on the stand taken at the show.

Perhaps there was "slow motion" at times, but this cannot be blamed on any person. The Peterboro lads feel that they lack experience, and their temerity kept them from functioning as ring stewards as nicely as they are undoubtedly capable of. The result was that the Show Superintendent had far too much unnecessary work to do. Yet he was always willing, and that willingness in itself kept the shortcoming from becoming noticeable. Next year certain members of Peterboro Club should be given specific duties to perform and be held responsible for functioning properly and completely. The material is at Peterboro and should be trained and used. Mr. W. E. "Bill" Jackson, the Club's Secretary, was untiring in his efforts to have the show operating around the 100% mark, and he had lots to be proud of during the two days the show was on. The Brock Street Arena is an ideal place for a show of any kind and particularly ideal for a dog show, and like the Academy at Hamilton, and given 100 more dogs the result would indeed be splendid. With the available accommodation taken up completely with well-filled show benches both Peterboro and Hamilton shows would be of the "knock-out" order.

At the Peterboro Kiwanis' Club luncheon, held at Mr. George Graham's Hostelry—The Empress (headquarters for the exhibitors) at noon on the second day of the show, Mr. W. Merrill, the Honorary President of Peterboro Kennel Club had Mr. Hopton and the writer as his guests, and there the Kiwanians were told in plain English that could not be misunderstood that the Dog Show was a Peterboro fixture, and as such was entitled to full Peterboro support. The result was a crowded dog show thereafter until the closing hour.

Prominent among the exhibits were many good dogs, but the blue-roan Cocker Yoredale Pat, son of the famous English Cocker Southernwood Critic—Yoredale Patch, and recently imported by Mr. Herb. Routley for field trial work and for breeding purposes, had many admirers, and it will be interesting to watch for this good Cocker's performances at the forthcoming trials. Mr. W. M. Nickle, of Kingston, and Mr. Doug. Grant, of Peterboro, benched 10 of the entry of 23 Cockers and both had a good share of the spoils. Sessue, Mr. Ted Chetwin's great bulldog was a much admired dog, but he did not look as spry as on his former appearances in Canada. Withal at Peterboro he finished his Canadian Championship and now has the distinction of being a Champion in England, in the United States and in Canada. Sessue was favored to win Best in Show All Breeds, but was nosed out of the honor by the smart Wire-Haired Fox Terrier Ch. Albany Matchless, bred by Mr. A. Pickles, Toronto, and now owned by Mr. George "Dad" Ward, Clarkson, Ont. This bitch has never known the color of a ribbon below first place in Canada and on the day was in "matchless" bloom. She is just turned two years old and was sired by Silver Birch Iron Boy, ex a daughter of Scamp Ontario (Imp.). Other nice wins were made by Mr. F. E. Upton's Russian Wolfhounds, who won the Chevrolet Cup for the best brace of sporting dogs. The Canadian Kennel Club Trophy was won by Mr. Raymond G. Schlegel, of Pittsburg, Pa., with his Toronto-bred Pomeranian Ch. Arndale Firelight, sired by Woodbine Fire-flame, ex Arndale Golden Locks, and bred by Mr. J. T. Waggitt, Toronto.

All-in-all Peterboro Show was a very pleasant fixture, well benched and housed with quality exhibits predominating.

TELEPHONE CITY KENNEL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS.

This energetic Brantford Club held its annual meeting recently and elected its officers for 1928-29, as follows: President, Dr. Porter; First Vice-President, Mrs. John Kerr; Second Vice-President, Mrs. Yallop; Secretary-Treasurer, Norman H. Duckworth; Show Superintendent, Glyn Bowden; Hon. Veterinary Surgeon, Dr. Porter; Auditors, John Kerr and R. Lee Wainwright; Social Committee, Oscar Pierson, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. (John) Kerr, Mrs. Yallop and Mrs. Hardy.

The financial affairs of the Club were reported to be in splendid shape, and the usual winter and spring activities are to be carried out in the usual manner.

The feature of the meeting was the presentation by the members to R. Lee Wainwright, whose wedding took place recently. At the presentation ceremony Mr. Wainwright was complimented on his marriage venture, and also on his good work as a director of the Canadian Kennel Club since his election in 1927. It being known that Mr. Wainwright had again been nominated, the meeting decided to endorse his candidature and to support it in every way.

A DAY WITH THE BEAGLERS.

When the Secretary of the Central Ontario Beagle Club sent out the premium list for the Club's Bench Show and Trials this year, he had inserted the following words in inducement: "A cordial invitation is extended, whether members or not, to visit the Trials and to enjoy the sport that Nature has provided," and just how much credit is due to the Secretary's thoughtful invitation is a matter of conjecture. Nevertheless, the gallery was the largest and most enthusiastic that have attended the Club's Trials to date, and the sport furnished was of the most satisfactory nature generally. Games were plentiful and the music of the Beagles was pronounced as it was continuous.

All the faithful were on hand and the international effect was imparted by the presence of Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Wilson, who had motored from Bradford, Pa., to compete at the Trials and Bench Show. The Station Hotel, at Acton, Ont., was the Club's headquarters, where every comfort was available for man and dog.

Following are the results:—

The 13-in. Championship had 15 entries and 1st prize was awarded to Muskoka Floss (Barney Boy, ex Muskoka Lady), owned by Ed. Johns, Gravenhurst; 2nd, Ch. Models Swampy Queen (Ch. Mackenzie King, ex Charmion Crocus), owned by Oscar Pierson, Cainsville; 3rd, Tecumseh Little Dandy (Milldale Rocky, ex Milldale Eva), owned by N. T. Tonkin, Oshawa.

15-in. Derby—1, Muskoka Fanny (Muskoka Bobby, ex Muskoka Jean), owned by Ed. Johns; 2nd, Muskoka Jake, owned by Dr. H. A. Wilson, Bradford, Pa.

The Bench Show.

The Bench Show was held in the rotunda of the Hotel, with Walter Langdon, Jr., on the "Woolsack," and the prize winners follow:

Montreal Associated Kennel Club, Inc. Show.

The first show of this recently formed association was held at Prince Arthur Hall, Montreal, on Saturday, October 27th. The officers from President W. R. Stanley down to the Veterinarian, Dr. C. Baker, B.V.Sc. were a bunch of workers whose lack of experience—if any—was offset by sustained attention to their several duties. For instance, Dr. Baker not only inspected the incoming dogs but he was in attendance throughout the entire show, and later presented the cups and other prizes to the successful winners. His day's work was against all union regulations and his hours must have been 20 at least. Special mention must be made of Ted "Withy" Warren, who was in charge of the show in the capacity of show president, and the popular "Withy" shirked at nothing which happened along in his direction. As ring stewards, Jack Almon and Wm. Ogden were outstanding in every respect. J. MacCorquodale, as show superintendent, had his hands full and running over at all times, and W. R. Aitken certainly upheld the characteristics of his nationality through his tenacious guarding of the financial income of the show. He had a conscience, however, and when 10 o'clock struck he closed his wicket and left the doors open to the many who still insisted on "seeing the dog show." A. C. A. Chisholm was official announcer and kept the gallery informed concerning the high lights of the show. R. B. Milburne, who was enjoying his "first offence" as a show secretary, found lots to keep him active all the time, too. To Mrs. J. H. Enright, president of the Ladies' Kennel Club, Montreal, Mr. Milburne paid a nice compliment, when he said, "She has been a wonderful help to me all through from start to finish," and this is the brand of co-operation that the Game can use in ever increasing popularity.

The Club had banked on a nice show being the outcome of their efforts, but the response to the premium list actually exceeded their most sanguine expectations, when the entry for the three hundredth dog was accepted. The Prince Arthur Hall lends itself admirably for specialty show purposes, but Superintendent MacCorquodale must have had a perfect nightmare when planning the space to take care of all breeds. The benching was in three rooms, the judging rings were set up in two of them. The aisles were short and very narrow, and the several minor accidents reported are something to wonder at, as really something serious could easily have transpired. Another case of few available dog show locations in the larger cities. The new Club will hardly repeat in Prince Arthur Halls unless no other building can be found.

The judges were five, and included H. E. Whitley, Montreal. That old veteran, James Lindsay, Montreal; J. "Harry" Silver, Montreal; Forest J. Keene, Sherbrooke, and Reg. P. Sparkes, Toronto, the peak-load being carried by Messrs. Silver, Keene and Sparkes, and in proportion as written. Mr. Silver was the all-round judge, Mr. Keene had Shepherds and Bostons (both large entries), and Mr. Sparkes had his beloved Bulldogs and about 30 of them. The variety classes were shared by the judges between them.

"Ted" Ward had a small but select string on hand, and whilst he was not in the ring very often, his handling was impressive, as the quality of his charges were convincing when he did happen to take the limelight. The handsome trophies of best in show all breeds and for best Canadian-bred went to "Ted," when his father's Humbervale Dancing Master (Aman Fox Trot, ex Duchess of Humbervale), a Wire-Haired Fox Terrier, beat the opposition from all quarters. Best opposite was awarded to John Ritchies', Ottawa, Springer Spaniel, Boghurst Busche (Imp.), looking fit on the day. The quality was plentiful, and in Irish Setters there was an indication of much interest prevailing in the breed at present. A score of these charming Setters were on hand at the show.

NOTES FROM THE COAST

By Provincial Contributing Editor, ALBERT KERR, Vancouver.

IT was with regret that the writer read the newspaper announcement of the death of the late Norman K. Swire, and I am sure that in these few lines of sympathy the sentiments of the B.C. fanciers are expressed, and all would join in extending their regrets at his early passing and especially of those who were personally acquainted with him. The writer recalls the first meeting with the late Mr. Swire in Toronto a number of years ago, and then again meeting him at the coast on his last judging appointment, but recalls with pleasure the association together at the Canadian Kennel Club's annual meeting in February this year, and the several social affairs in connection therewith at which he attended, although then only having recently recovered from a serious illness. Norman Swire will be remembered for his quiet, unassuming manner, but withal a true friend and fancier, and a dog lover at heart, by a large representation of Dog fanciers from Coast to Coast and across the line, and after all that what more could one say that would be a more fitting tribute?

We are presenting to the fancy of the world the photo of that grand little Pomeranian Fraser-view Ophelia II., along with the souvenirs she won at three of the leading Coast shows. This is the Pom so highly spoken of by Mr. J. W. Marples while filling his judging appointment at the Canadian Pacific Exhibition Dog Show, Vancouver, seven months old at that time and placed to highest honors in the show—as near a perfect specimen as he had seen was the Judge's comment and equal to the best in England—some praise for the breeder, Mr. Wm. White, of Eburne, B.C., who is a real honest-to-goodness fancier and well merits all the commendation, for he is one of the best in the game and puts a whole lot of study and care into his breeding operations. This puppy won fourteen firsts and eighteen specials in three shows at Vancouver, Nanaimo, and New Westminster, some achievement for a seven-months-old puppy.

We understand that Mr. White has re-mated the sire and dam of this good one and here is hoping that he will produce just such another to disprove that old saw—that these good ones are only the once happenings of a lifetime.

It was with regret that we heard that Mr. Frank Topp Turner, of Victoria, that real old veteran fancier of sporting dogs had been laid up with a serious illness, but on enquiry we learn that he has greatly recovered and is now able to be about again, but is not yet fully recovered.

I am sure the wishes of his friends in the fancy goes out for his speedy and full recovery.

Vancouver dogs did well in the Northwest Fox Terrier Club show at the Western Washington State Fair at Puyallup, R. H. F. Purdon's wire-haired entries winning seven first and one second prizes, while Mrs. Thornton Sharp's entries captured three first and two second places.

Mr. Purdon's Ch. Ulidia Fusilier took first for Aemican bred dogs, first open dog, first bred by exhibitor, first Pacific Coast bred, first stud dog, and best in show, wire or smooth. His Ulidia Fieolax was first senior puppy bitch, and Ulidia Fianna secured first novice. Ulidia Fairway was second debutante puppy bitch.

Mrs. Thornton Sharp's Lyncote Heartsease was first open bitch and first bitch bred by exhibitor, while Ulidia Faith was first Pacific Coast bred bitch, second limit bitches and second open bitches.

The Vancouver fanciers were also in attendance at the Yakima Show, when Mr. Gerald L. Stock carried off best in show all breeds with his Pekinese Ch. Chong Yung Shi, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison's Pom went to winners and best of breed, while Mrs. Geo. Pearson's Ace of Vanity, Wire-Haired Fox Terrier, went to winners, best of breed and best terrier in show, stepping over several champions in his way up to the top. At recent shows the terrier has been setting a good clip and is making them all step, and when handled right and put down in condition is a real one and ought to improve all the time and whenever shown is right there asking for the blue.

In conversation with our Provincial Committeeman, Fred Dodsworth, of Victoria, who is an admirer of the "Die Hards," he informed me that his good old standby Ch. Ellwyn Cheil has passed over. Cheil has just gained his tenth year, but the effect of age was the cause of his death. Imported from Scotland by Andrew Buchanan, of Toronto, this good Setter, after a period of usefulness there at stud, found his way to the Coast and was located in Victoria, where he has stamped his impressions on the breed in that Scottie centre, few pedigrees of late years but what show the name of this dog somewhere in the line-up.

We will be watching the results of this mating with great interest. Alex. McCloy, Victoria, has shipped his grand bitch Ch. Eglington Sweet Memory to be bred to that real topper Ch. Albourn Vindicated of Bentley, who is under the care of Chris. Shuttleworth in California. From these two Scotties of such high quality ought to come some real worthwhile puppies. Well, Alex., here is hoping.

Some more gossip amongst the Scot-ties of Victoria. We learn that Mr. and Mrs. E. Hill have sold that good little one that the writer admired, "Cardross Cadet," to Quebec, and Merlewood Tony, who was imported by the late Pete Ross, has gone East to Ontario. They report having sold their second Scottie puppy to Mary Pickford, the famous movie star.

In our last month's note we made some mention of the Second Annual Retrieving Contest and Open-Air Show of the Victoria and District Gun Dog Club, which was held on Saturday, September 1st, at Esquimalt—this innovation amongst the Sporting Dog followers was originated by this Club last year, the first ever held in North America under the same rules. Since then Sporting Dog Clubs from all over America have written for these rules, also plans of the trap used in throwing the dead birds in contest. This trap was invented and made in Victoria and is absolutely a success, as was proven on this occasion.

The standard of the dogs shown on the bench was away ahead of the previous year and was attended by owners and handlers from all over the Vancouver Island. W. R. (Wallie) Willgress, of Vancouver, was the bench show judge and E. N. Barker, of Cobble Hill, B.C., judged the retrieving contest. Both gave entire satisfaction and are looked for at the next year's event.

Another B.C. dog that has been in the limelight on the show bench is Ch. Jones Gold Dust, C.K.C. No. 60203, which we include in our notes for this month. Here is a real good Cocker that we have made mention of before, but in presenting to the readers of this magazine his photo a better conception will be gained of his outstanding qualities. This young dog has been consistently shown since he was eight months of age at all the Pacific Coast shows, and has never suffered a defeat. His best wins were at last year's Vancouver Exhibition Show of 1927 when under Mr. Walter Reeves was placed best owned and bred in B.C. winning the Spratt Cup for the year's best Canadian Bred getting a win on the Willingdon Cup, Winners, etc. Gold Dust is a real good specimen of the breed and ought to stamp his quality in his progeny if given the chance at stud. A little brother, Jones' Black Diamond is doing considerable winning on the other side of the line for Mrs. Romans, of Seattle.

Once more we are in the season when the Sporting Dog men are in their glory, hunting and shooting season opened in full on the 15th October and the fields and favorite spots along the shores and islands were besieged with the shooters looking for pheasants and ducks.

The writer took advantage of the kind invitation of Mr. Geo. Miller of the Cloverdale Springer Spaniel Kennels to spend the day under his guidance and with the aid of the occupants of these kennels. Last season we made mention of the ideal location for actual shooting and hunting conditions of these kennels but as Mr. Miller, owing to illness at that time, was unable to see the finished work of his dogs, but this year everything was as should be outside of a wet rainy day, arriving at the zero hour set by regulations we proceeded to the fields and to follow the work of these Springers. After a few minutes of exuberance of feeling the old Veteran of the Kennels Boghurst Ben (imp). settled down to real work and was not long in putting up the first bird, and so continued throughout the day, being apparently as fresh at night as when he started in the morning. Together with him were worked other inmates of the kennels at intervals through the day and the writer's impression of the Springers was greatly increased by the work shown by all these dogs, here you have a real gun dog that will work in the heaviest kind of going, the underbrush and bracken was thick and dense that it required jumping over it in spots to get through but these dogs were equal to the task and what was more their work was well nigh faultless, when you saw them dive into the brush or cover after holding their noses in the air it was the signal for action and without fail they flushed the bird. Boghurst Ben is an outstanding worker in the field and sure transmits this quality to his progeny and in Mr. Miller the dogs have had a good trainer for at all times they were under command and the writer's opinion and respect have gone up one hundred per cent. for the Springer Spaniel and my wish is for a few more days of hunting under these conditions with such good dogs before the season ends.

Coupled with the above was the hospitality extended by Mrs. Miller which went a long way to complete a most perfect day and my thanks are given to these two enthusiastic Springer breeders for the day's enjoyment.

A DAY WITH THE BEAGLERS

Some few years ago there appeared an article in Kennel and Bench that had for its caption "A Greenhorn Goes to the Field Trials," or something similar to that. When reading the story it was felt that it was either greatly exaggerated, or that it was the after effects of a Welsh rarebit or some other disturber of a writer's mind, but ever since that article was read by me I determined to take in a Beagle Trial and find out first hand just what was possible to happen there. So for that purpose I attended the Sixth Annual Field Trials and Bench Show held at Acton, Ontario, on the week-end of October 6th, and I am now frank to admit that "beagling is the berries" of all outdoor events featuring dogs, and that beaglers are in a line by themselves as sportsmen.

Arriving late at the Station Hotel at Acton I was instructed on "How to get there," but I soon found out that a Chinese puzzle was much less intricate than the following out of my carefully rehearsed instructions, which I felt I could have followed out even if I had been blindfolded. Anyway, after many weary miles of marching through the highways and byways that must necessarily lead to any beagler's paradise, I felt that there was not so much mystifying imagination to the "Greenhorn's" writings after all, and just as I had given up, and as a last effort I found myself enquiry from a farmer's wife, whether or not she had seen any automobiles, dogs or men passing that way during the forenoon, and her reply was "Yes, I noticed a funeral passing here about an hour ago, I know it was a funeral for I saw the coffin on the side of the first car, and I thought that was a strange way to carry a coffin. I don't know what cemetery they could be going to up that way, for I don't know of any cemetery up there, but they went up that way anyway." I knew that it was getting to be customary to kennel and carry the dogs on the side of modern automobiles, and had an idea that it was just this that had given the farmer's wife so much food for thought that morning, and again the "Greenhorn's" story struck me.

"Swampy Acton" I have heard the pretty little town on the Number 7 Provincial Highway described, but never had the idea occurred to me that any place could be so completely surrounded by swampy lands, and apparently every swamp is known locally by the farmer's name on whose land the swamps happen to be located, and if I had listened more to the swamps named, than I had to the "rights", "lefts", "one way crossings," and "two way crossing" it would have saved me much time for one thing, and the farmer's wife's terrible dilemma—about the peculiar coffin carrying—for another. I should perhaps say, that, eventually I did arrive at the beagling grounds, and to my utter astonishment, I found about 100 men there, and each one of the 100 seemed to be having a wonderful time, it was all "over my head" I will admit, and like "Greenhorn" I soon realized that I had lots to learn about the science of beagling.

I mentioned semi-confidentially to a fellow on the grounds, that I had met somewhere before, why I had come, mentioning the story that the "Greeney" had written, and he told me that he personally knew the author of the article, and that in fact he was one of the present gallery, and that, if I would like to meet him, he would take care of the introductions, and so, it was that way that we soon met, and I quickly decided that if that bird of a story writer had ever been a greenhorn at the beagling game, he had learned something about it worth while, and in quick time. The "Borsalino hat", and the "city clothes" had been discarded in favor of the rough and tumble garb that is the distinguishing mark of any worth while beagler, and I could not help but notice too, first how comfortable and happy he seemed to be, and as I told him why I had come to the trials, and what for, he assured me that there was a whole lot more truth than poetry in the story that he had written, and when I related the incident of the "funeral" to him, he told me beagling was just like that, it made everyone in the outside world feel "nutty", whilst the initiated always had a whale of a good time. I suggested that there was nothing "nutty" about me, and he remarked that "every squirrel knew himself best," and anyhow he could see no harm in a "couple of nuts" spending their time together at the Trials, and so I had to agree to that.

Together we joined the gathering, the dogs for the (13" and under) Derby had just been picked up, and all and sundry were invited to have lunch on the Club. Weak digestions seemed out of place around the grub wagon, and as I watched that hungry crew grab great hunks of bread, spread it open and stuff immense slices of ham inside, and on top of that huge slabs of cheese—if they are still alive will be truly marvellous.

The 15" open to all dogs and bitches was put down in new territory where game was obviously in abundance, and for hours on end the atmosphere was blue with the yapping of so many hounds, and to the owners of the dogs the racing must have been very gratifying indeed, but to me, the scene, though most interesting, satisfied me that for anyone not actively interested in beagling sport, it would be the easiest thing in the world for a greenhorn to experience the thrills that made it possible for the "Greenhorn" story of two years ago.

The bench show was replete with action, and perhaps it was even more interesting than the trials. Mr. Robert Hall appeared in the role of professional handler for the first time in his life notwithstanding the fact that he had celebrated his 80th birthday last May, and as "Bob" posed his wayward Beagle on the block, and she wanted to sit down rather than to stand up, he had a very trying time of it in spots. "Hold her tail up Bob" was advice freely handed out, and it was comical to see the aged Scot doing his utmost to hold the bitch up, and at the same time to hold her tail up—but didn't he try? You bet he did. "Hold her tail up Bob" came the admonition again and again. "Ach, hoo can I haud her up, an' haud her tail up at the same time?" replied the exasperated rheumatically old sport. "But you must hold her tail up Bob, see, all the others have their tails up." "Aw dam it, if you want her tail held up come on an' haud it up yersel, when ye' get tae be as auld as I am, ye'll need somebody tae haud yer ain tail up." And so the humorous dialogue went on, however, "Owd Bob" won a first, two seconds and a third, and to see this withered old man fondle those ribbons, and to hear him speak of how he was going to "String them, and hang them up on the wall" was to feel that an old man was nothing more nor less than a young boy grown up.

There will be other reports appearing for the trials and bench show results, so I will now "hang up" with this word of parting. If you like the open road that leads to health and life worth while, buy yourself a Beagle and get in touch with Mr. E. Robertson, 38 Follis Ave., Toronto, and if you take my advice, you will be soon on your way.
