WEANING & REARING PUPPIES

EQUALLY SUITABLE FOR KITTENS & SILVER FOX CUBS

PUPPIES have small stomachs, and the milk of a bitch is therefore a concentrated food, being more than twice as strong as cow's milk. LACTOL closely resembles the puppies' natural food, which is why they do so well on it. Puppies reared on LACTOL thrive remarkably, and do not suffer from indigestion, vomiting, diarrhoea, rickets, etc., as when given cow's milk or other foods.

LACTOL is already used by many breeders in Canada and the U.S.A., whilst in the British Isles no kennel of any importance is ever without it. PUPPIES LOVE LACTOL.

A GOOD "MICK" FOR MONTREAL.

When we visited Detroit Kennel Club Show it was a pleasure to meet the popular terrier judge, Jeremiah J. O'Callaghan of West Roxbury, Mass. "Jerry," as Mr. O'Callaghan is known to his friends, is a staunch supporter of the Irish Terrier breed, and many good ones have been imported, bred and piloted to high places in competition by him. He said that he had sent his good New York winning puppy to Henry E. Whitley of Montreal, for a big price. Naturally a big price for this "Young Irishman" would have to be paid, for he is "real mick" all through. Born on the "Seventeenth of Ould Ireland," 1928, he has just passed his first milestone of life. A home-bred, too, being by Kilvara Music Master and out of Kilvara Wild Flower.

It was the noted terrier judge, Theo Offerman of New York, who judged the breed at the Garden this year, and

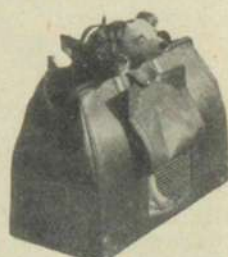

FULL OF PEP FOR EVERY PERFORMANCE

FOSTER and Peggy and Chiby bring many happy minutes to dog lovers along the big time vaudeville circuits. From the first trick to the grand finale, Foster has crowded his act full of action. Peggy plays recognizable tunes on her special piano, and both dogs count and sing with surprising intelligence.

Keeping his dogs in tip-top condition and full of pep for every performance no longer causes Foster any great concern. He has learned that Miller's A-1 Foods in the daily diet schedule give Peggy and Chiby the necessary food essentials to maintain the vigorous health and super-canine intelligence so entertaining to their audiences.

Your dog, too, will thrive on Miller's. These nationally famous health foods contain all the good things dogs need and like. Cereals, meat, bone meal, cod liver oil in just the right proportions for a balanced appetizing diet.

Ask at your favorite pet shop, grocery, drug store, feed or seed dealer, sporting goods store, or veterinarians for Miller's A-1 Foods. If they cannot supply you, send ten cents with the coupon below for trial feedings and a copy of "The Pink of Condition."

I am enclosing ten cents in stamps for trial feedings of Miller's A-1 Foods and your dog book, "The Pink of Condition."

the new Canuck came out in the Open class in competition where that admittedly great Irish Terrier, Ch. Galloper, was a contender, and the award columns gave Marcus Bruckheimer's Conspirator 1st, J. J. O'Callaghan's Kilvara Postman 2nd, and the great Galloper 3rd; and later, when Henry E. Whitley's new possession came out in the junior dog class, he took the $15 prize and his place at the top of the class. These wins alone placed a value on Kilvara Postman that meant plenty.

We are pleased that Mr. Whitley has bought this good Irish terrier, and it will be no surprise to find the dog in competition at all the shows this year, as Mr. Whitley likes a good dog, likes a winning dog, and, above and beyond every other consideration, he surely loves a good terrier.

CHAMPION SCOTTISH TERRIER.

The latest Scottish Terrier to be awarded the title of Champion by the American Kennel Club, is Nosegay Solomon's Seal, A.K.C. 541186.

Solomon's Seal is by that great sire, Champion Bellstane Laddie, sire of many winners, including five champions: Frost Lad; Nixie; Nosegay Virginia; Nosegay Solomon's Seal, and the incomparable Cotsol Lassie, several times winner of the certificate at the Westminster and internationally famous.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

HAD a letter a few days ago from Albert Payson Terhune, who has had a most picturesque career, and is now known throughout the English-speaking world as a writer of fascinating stories, principally about dogs. The letter was written on the stationery of his own kennels, where he breeds Collies of distinction. The letterhead contained the motto of the kennels, "To win without boasting, and lose without excuses."

What a delightful game the breeding and showing of dogs would be if this motto were universally adopted and invariably lived up to. I believe that ninety per cent. of the people who exhibit dogs are good losers, but the trouble is that the good losers are unobtrusive, while the other ten per cent. are blatantly obvious. If the bad loser could only be made to see that his attitude is financially unsound, perhaps he might attempt to change it; and yet it is literally true because nothing alienates the public more quickly or more effectively than such petulant outbursts as we have seen at recent shows.

Sportsmanship is not confined to sport. It permeates every aspect of life and in many respects is a synonym for citizenship. What a pity that the people who give public exhibitions of poor sportsmanship could not be made to realize that they are "telling the world" that they are poor citizens.

PETS' PARADE.

The dog lovers who did not see the Pets' Parade, which was sponsored by the Toronto Humane Society and took place on April 2nd, missed something really worthwhile. The bulk of the pets exhibited were, of course, dogs, and it looked as if there were enough dogs in Queen's Park to make a five-point show. Some of them were really fine specimens of their respective breeds; others were just plain dog. They were judged for care and condition rather than points, and a dog good enough to win a championship at an ordinary show was ignored if his coat was dirty or his avoirdupois too apparent. It is a magnificent work that the Toronto Humane Society is doing in encouraging the proper care of pets by the children of Toronto. The idea of the Parade originated, we understand, with Mr. Fox, and this year's arrangements were largely the work of our Director, Mr. Spark. To both of these gentlemen unbounded credit is due.

CROPPING.

The anti-cropping question has been taken up in the State of New York from a new and most interesting angle. Our readers will remember that a Bill prohibiting cropping was passed by the State legislature last year. It was vetoed by Governor Smith. A similar enactment, known as the Thompson-Shonk Bill, has been passed by the Legislature at this year's session, and the constitutionality of the bill is now being attacked. It involves the question of State rights and the clash of jurisdiction between Federal and State jurisdiction, which has always been a fruitful source of constitutional conflict in the great Republic. The point is, that the Supreme Court of the United States has ruled, in a case which came before it for adjudication, that the dog is an article of inter-state commerce, and the opponents of the Bill claim that this decision removes the dog from the jurisdiction of the State Legislature.

A public hearing was held by Governor Roosevelt on the 1st of April, and the opponents and proponents of the bill appeared in full force. The adherents of the bill upheld its constitutionality, and stated that dogs imported for breeding purposes were specifically excluded from its operation and that dog owners who were not interested in breeding for profit are unanimously in favour of the bill. Veterinarians stated that the actual operation performed under anaesthetic is painless, but that considerable pain was inevitable afterwards.

The opponents of the bill pointed out that the dog breeding industry of the United States has an annual turnover of $4,000,000, and that the people whose money is tied up in this large industry are the ones who know and try to do what is best for the dogs which are the foundation of their industry. It was stated that there may at times be cruelty in connection with cropping, but never among dog breeders. It was pointed out that if the bill is passed, no cropped dogs can be exhibited at any show in the State of New York. This last statement will be particularly interesting to Canadian fanciers of cropped breeds.

During the proceedings the statement was made that women living in apartment houses in New York are having the vocal chords of their dogs operated on to prevent them barking. This is interesting, if true.

Governor Roosevelt has asked both sides to submit briefs within a week, and his decision will be eagerly awaited.

"Quality minus Condition seldom wins. Condition plus Quality ALWAYS wins." Therefore, Condition is the prime factor of success.

DUNCRAGGEN KENNELS.

Duncraggen Kennels of Cairns have an ideal location just outside Winnipeg on the motor highway across Canada. The name Duncraggen is taken from Mr. Hunter's home in Oban, Scotland, and from his brother's Ardsheal Kennels have come the foundation stock which represent some of our finest Cairns. The most recent arrival is a young stud dog, Ardsheal Gillie Mohr, a lovely Cairn in every way and of the desired shade of red fawn. He was especially chosen to mate to the splendid imported bitches, Ardsheal Osach and Ardsheal Statac, as well as the five or six home-bred bitches.

At the present time, Ardsheal Osach is weaning a lovely litter by Wee Sandy of Clwyd, a winning son of Ch. Gillie of Thane and Ch. Skirlette of Thame, he by Ch. Gillie of Heyner, and three bitches are mated to Gillie Mohr.

The kennels are most capably looked after by Mrs. Mason, who has a very keen interest in them.

Sales advertisement will be seen elsewhere in the paper.

NOTED FANCIER LEAVES THE RANKS.

There passed away in London early in February one of the staunchest supporters of dog shows and doggy interests in the Canadian fancy, in the person of Mrs. Frances M. Singleton, wife of Charles E. Singleton.

Visitors to all London shows in the past few years will remember Mrs. Singleton for her untiring efforts in assisting the committees. Her jovial, pleasant face and quiet unaffected manner were always one of the highlights at London. Boston terrier fanciers in particular will miss this good woman who was never so happy as when attending a specialty show or an all breed show where her little favorites, the Boston was on exhibition. To Mrs. Singleton fell that rare privilege of breeding a topper of the breed. International Champion Little Miss Muffett 2nd, campaigned by Mrs. Dowser of Detroit; Miss Muffett 2nd was a product of the Singleton Kennels.

"A woman who knew a lot, said little and just went on in her own quiet way", was the one bright tribute paid her by those who knew her well. A daughter of William McKenna of London, Mrs. Singleton came from one of the pioneer families of the Forest City. She was well known through her interest in amateur theatricals and church work, and received public recognition during the 1918 influenza epidemic through her untiring efforts in nursing the sick.

NEW SCOTTIES FOR CALGARY.

From "Our Dogs" we learn that our good friend Wm. "Bill" Forrest of Calgary has been visiting the Motherland during the last two months, and whilst there he had been going the rounds looking over the best Scottie stud dogs and had purchased from the Tayside Kennels of George Longair the classical young bitch Donah of Tayside, which has Ch. Lainden Lumen, Ch. Tip O'Deeside, Abertay Sport and etc. blood. Previous to returning to Canada "Bill" had her mated Mac Taggart of Tayside, (Ch. Bobbie Burcott and Laindon, etc. blood.)

This importation will do lots of good for the Scotties of Western Canada, as Mr. Forrest is an experienced breeder who knows his bloodline secrets and how to raise his young stock when he gets it, so here's hoping his pilgrimages and his new purchases will be always a pleasant memory with him.

THE CANADIAN FANCY

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ontario.

SINCE my return from California and Oregon I have been going over the records of the wins of the Canadian dogs shown at New York and Boston shows. I must say that I am disappointed at the showing our dogs made. Canadian exhibits were well up in several sections, but taken as a Canadian team, I must say that they were hardly the best team we could have sent from Canada. I will admit that some of our dogs met with hard luck, fickle Dame Fortune being particularly unkind to us in Bulldogs. George Kynoch's latest acquisition, Guinea Gold II, was a shadow compared to the grand little Bulldog that was placed in his crate at the depot at Winnipeg. He refused to eat on the train or while his owner was in Toronto attending the general meeting of the Canadian Kennel Club, and Kynoch was undecided whether to show him or not. As events turned out, it would probably have been the best policy to have waited for "another day" for the American debut of one of the soundest little Bulldogs that ever left that one-time stronghold of the breed—Winnipeg. Reg. P. Sparkes had even worse luck. The sudden death of Manresa Molly was bad enough, but Ch. Kippax Jock was decidedly unlucky to be so far away from the top. However, if it was not for these reversals of public favor, dog showing would not be the fascinating sport it is to-day. Our Jimmy's eye was not at fault when he writes that "Robert J. Maloney's liver and white ticked Pointer had claims for a higher position in the final award for best in show." I was talking to Dr. Ford at San Francisco show, and he told me that he was greatly impressed with J. P. and he is the man who should know. Harking back to our team's successes, surely we could be better represented another year. I would like to see each province pick a team of, say, four. George Kynoch could look after the teams sent from the Middle West. We have several capable handlers further West for the teams selected. Jack Fry, Jr., could pilot the Maritime Province team, and there would be no trouble to get handlers for the Ontario team. By sharing the expenses in this way, the outlay would not be excessive, and I believe that providing the railway companies were approached, we might even be given a reduction in fares. James F. Strachan always sends some of the Ormsby's, and his kennel manager, the popular Harry Armistead, would, I feel sure, look after the Quebec team. I would like to receive suggestions from my readers, many of whom—I feel confident—share the same opinion as I do, that we have dogs in Canada that can head the strongest classes across the border.

Amongst the correspondence that has collected whilst I have been away is a letter from a friend who for many years has been interested in the showing of horses and cattle. He is seriously thinking of breaking into our game, but before doing so, asks my opinion whether it is as difficult to win as some writers state, and encloses two papers. These articles certainly do serious harm. I have not the slightest hesitation in writing that the breeding and exhibition of dogs is one of the cleanest sports on the American continent, and that I absolutely disagree with the sentiments expressed by both writers. I have thirty years' experience in judging in all parts of the world, and have been "approached" only once. I sent the letter to the English Kennel Club, and the man was warned off for life. I am quite confident that the American Kennel Club and the Canadian Kennel Club would quickly deal with any case brought to their notice. Writing in "Dogdom" under the heading, "Something Will be Done", S. Boehm states:

"A gentleman from Cumberland, Md., writes: 'I have become so disgusted with what I have seen and heard around the shows the last couple of years that the showing of my dogs has become a joke and I have concluded I can win on merit only occasionally.' The fancier goes on telling of a visit, during Christmas week, to one of the largest eastern cities. He had a puppy along and called upon a professional handler of some reputation. The handler congratulated him upon having such a fine specimen and informed him that the dog could, or rather should, win on his merits, but to put him through and have him win all over the circuit would be pretty expensive. The visitor asked what was meant by that. 'Well', the answer was, 'We handlers can usually get what we go after, and in some instances lately with me it has cost $100—to win in the puppy class alone!' The visitor replied that he would not be a party to such crooked dealings. He'd rather go home and try to breed a few good ones, and sell them to parties who would be less squeamish!"

This is a very serious statement to make, and I would like to draw the attention of the President, Dr. J. E. de Mund, of the American Kennel Club, to it, and also the Secretary of the Handlers' Association. Probably the gentleman from Cumberland would be willing to give Dr. J. E. de Mund the handler's name? and I am equally sure the Handlers' Association would be interested. H. W. Beddoe, writing for the "Dog World", under the heading, "Murder the Judge", states:

"What Would You Do?"

"Imagine yourself in the judge's place. You are a professional judge. Your very existence depends on 'general' satisfaction you leave behind you at each judging. If you continue to be called upon to judge, you have to look after the interest of the club which hires you. You must draw that club a good entry or they do not want you because they are paying you good money to bring them lots of dogs.

"Who is your main support? You answer, 'the handler, or, as some put it, 'the necessary evil' and that is exactly the right answer. If you don't take care of the professional handler, he will not follow you and you will be dead as a door nail. One of the most competent judges in the United States is inactive to-day because of this. I was present when his name was suggested as judge at a certain show. Some one yelled out, 'No! we don't want him. The handlers won't show under him.' And so a competent judge is put on the shelf because he judges dogs and not handlers. These are cruel words but absolute facts and we might as well face it.

"On the other hand, the handler can not be blamed. Most of them are good fellows and really good sports, but they are representing their clients and unless they can win, they lose their clients. I do not criticize the professional handler. They are necessary. Under the circumstances what would you do? You would either do just like the professional judge is doing or you would quit. For this reason I would never make a professional judge."

I happen to know H. W. Beddoe and cannot understand him making such a statement. I think I know the majority of the handlers and have found them, as a whole, a good lot of sportsmen. Naturally, they will do everything in their power to win with their client's dogs, but from my own observations, what they try to do is to have their dogs shown fit in the ring, and handled to the best advantage. They never give up trying until the ribbons are handed out, and the majority know whereabouts the dog they are handling should be in the prize list. Of course, we do find some judges accepting appointments to judge all-round when they are somewhat shy on some breeds, but in my experience to-day, on the whole, our dog shows are well judged. We will always have differences of opinion, but that's what makes the showing of dogs such a fascinating hobby. If all judges thought alike, the showing of dogs would soon be a thing of the past, instead of the thriving hobby it is at the present time.

I understand that the Canadian Pacific S.S. Montclair brought to St. John, N.B., two Irish Wolfhounds from England. These immense hounds created a deal of interest on the ship and were imported by S. Knowlton, Quebec, the owner of the Old Home Stock Farms, who, I believe, is founding an extensive kennel. At the Royal Winter Show there were quite a number of Irish Wolfhounds exhibited, and they created much favorable comment from the visitors who attended the show.

Mrs. Daisy Daintrey, the publicity agent of the Alberta Kennel Club, is undoubtedly creating much interest in the doings of her club with her publicity. The officers elected for this year are as follows: President, C. B. Clarke; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. W. W. Hugill, E. Cheeney, and R. Thomson. Committee: Messrs. G. Climo, H. Price, T. Flint, A. A. Jullian, G. Westmoreland, Dr. G. Wright, A. W. Greenhill, and Mrs. G. Swann. Their regular matinee show is to be held on Good Friday, and from the present signs of enthusiasm that are being shown, a splendid show should result. H. Raby has kindly consented to carry on the secretarial duties until W. Forrest returns from Scotland. It is whispered that he will be accompanied back from the "Land of Burns" with several notable winners. Chief of Police D. Ritchie, who achieved such success last year in his Scottish terrier breeding experiments, has been made Honorary President of the Club.

I hear of a notable addition to the Haldon Kennels of Scottish Terriers, owned by Dr. H. E. and Mrs. Batt. These enthusiastic fanciers have imported the well-known winner, Cairngoram Chief—a great-coated black dog, by Ch. Albourne Arthur ex Rancee of Jamnagar. Chief was imported to cross with the Haldon Kennel bitches of Albourne blood, and from his breeding, he is a decided acquisition, not only to his kennel, but also to other breeders. Chief was shown at New York and Newark shows, but was hardly in the form to meet the stiff going he encountered, owing to the fact that he had managed to rub off some of the hair on his foreface, and the "Diehard" from Scotland hardly looks his best to meet company when he is shy of whiskers. Notwithstanding, he won 3rd, limit, N.Y., and 2nd, limit, and open, and also reserve winners, Newark. Mrs. Batt goes on to say: "From your encouragement to us with our one and only Scottie at Hamilton show a few years ago, our kennel has developed to fourteen adults, six imported direct from England, ten youngsters and with two home-raised and two imported bitches, due to whelp the end of the month. One can truthfully write: 'Verily you cast seeds of encouragement on good ground and did yield fruit that sprang up and increased some thirty-fold'."

* * *

Mrs. C. W. Wilson, another well known Scottish Terrier breeder and exhibitor, writes me from the Gale, York Mills, Ontario, that she returned from England the end of February after spending a very delightful six months over there. Mrs. Wilson was accompanied back by two Scotties—the dog is known as Walnut Blizzard; he is only eighteen months old and yet has more than fifty wins to his credit. Blizzard's companion across was Ralleston Dulcie, who has been exhibited thirteen times, and has won thirteen times. Sincere congratulations, Mrs. Wilson, it certainly looks as if Scotties are going to boom like they are in England at the present time. Robert Chapman's win of best in show at Crufts with Ch. Heather Necessity will draw much well deserved attention to the sterling all-round merits of the game little "Diehard."

When at Headingley, Manitoba, late last year, I judged a very nice Old English Sheepdog who had been imported from England. This owner, C. Halfelds, sends me a snapshot of his first get in Canada. They are five in number and certainly show promise.

The English Bulldog Club of Canada is certainly going ahead. Since the club was organized in August, 1927, they have purchased from Spratts their own benching at a cost of $750, and yet their financial balance as presented by the auditors shows a credit on the right side of $450.00—really a wonderful achievement, and I sincerely congratulate all concerned. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Reg. P. Sparkes; First Vice-President, F. Dye-loy; Second Vice-President, P. Alderson; Secretary-Treasurer, F. W. Walkerdine. Committee, Messrs. G. F. Elgier, J. Kirk, T. McEwan, F. Leech; Hon. V.S., Dr. J. A. Campbell; Auditors, Messrs. Carter and McMartry.

I have received a very lengthy letter from O. Pierson with reference to my remarks about his beagles in the Xmas number of Kennel and Bench, when I congratulated him on the success that was attending him in establishing a very valuable strain. These remarks were criticized by Mr. Nolan who apparently seems to think that the credit of establishing the Swampy strain belongs to him. O. Pierson gives credit to the founding of the strain to where it belongs, and that is to that great producer, Charmion Crocus, who is by Ch. Stokes Place Sapper. I have always held a great admiration for the little Beagles exhibited by O. Pierson, and as he has very kindly sent me their pedigrees, a perusal of which has carried my mind back to my early boyhood days in the beagle world. I hope at some future time to relate some of my experiences with Beagles. Meantime, I am looking forward with much pleasure to a chat with O. Pierson who, I understand, has registered his kennel as "River Park."

COME AND SUPPORT THE ARISTOCRAT OF THE CANINE RACE

have been used fairly extensively by sportsmen in the West when out after duck and geese, and although somewhat headstrong, they are tireless workers, have a really wonderful nose and can stand the cold weather. When in Calgary a few years ago, I found a particularly attractive entry, and if the breeders there have kept up their interest they will find a very ready sale for puppies and really good prices obtainable for well broken dogs. The Irish Water Spaniel, as their name denotes, is a product of Ireland. I have been asked to give the standard of points, which is as follows:

1. Color.—The color should always be a rich dark liver, or pure without any white at all. Any white except the slightest of "shirt fronts" should disqualify. The nose, of course, should conform to the coat in color and be dark brown.

2. Head.—The head should have a capacious skull fairly but not excessively domed, with plenty of brain room. It should be surmounted by a regular topknot of curly hair, a most important and distinctive point. This topknot should never be square cut or like a poodle's wig, but should grow down to a well defined point between the eyes.

3. Eyes.—The eyes should be small, dark and set obliquely like a Chinaman's.

4. Ears.—The ears should be long, strong in leather, low set, heavily ringleted, and from 18 to 24 inches long according to size.

5. Muzzle and Jaw.—The muzzle and jaw should be long and strong. There should be a decided "stop" but not so pronounced as to make the brows or forehead prominent.

6. Neck.—The neck should be fairly long and very muscular.

7. Shoulders.—The shoulders should be sloping. Many Irish Water Spaniels have straight shoulders, but this is a serious defect.

8. Chest.—The chest is deep and usually rather narrow, but should not be so narrow as to constrict the heart and lungs.

9. Back and Loins.—The back and loins strong and arched.

10. Fore Legs.—The fore legs straight and well boned. Heavily ringleted or feathered all over.

11. Hind Legs.—The hind legs with hocks set very low. Stifles rather straight, feathered all over, except inside the hocks down, which part should be covered with short hair (a most distinctive point).

12. Feet.—The feet rather large and spreading, as is proper for a water dog. Well covered with hair.

13. Stern.—The stern covered with the shortest of hair except for the first couple of inches next the buttocks. Whiplike (a most important point) carried low, not like a hound's.

14. Coat.—The coat composed entirely of short crisp curls, not wooly like a Poodle's and very dense. If left to itself, this coat mats or cords, but this is not permissible in show dogs. The hair on the muzzle and forehead below the topknot is quite short and smooth as well as that on the stern.

15. Height.—The height should be between 21 and 23 inches.

I have been asked to give this description some months ago, but could not obtain a suitable photograph for illustration.

At San Francisco, Leo J. McEnerney exhibited a very typical brace who, although only a year old, show great promise and are both typical specimens of this quaint and intelligent breed.

Congratulations are due to the Pekin Palace Dog Association for the excellence of their show which was held at the Labor Temple, Toronto, on March 16th. The judge, Mrs. A. V. Ocorr, evidently gave general satisfaction with her awards, which I hear were consistent throughout. The winners dog, King Peppin of Grey-stone, was shown in rare coat and feathers. It is certainly pleasing to note that a puppy, Trynklyt of Balcroft, was awarded winners in bitches. The Balcroft Kennels were sincerely congratulated on the successes obtained by this puppy who, if she only continues to go on as she promises to-day, will take a very prominent position in future prize lists. arrangements of the show were excellent in every way.

In going over my last issue of Kennel and Bench, my attention was attracted by the striking stud advertisement of H. J. Placey, giving particulars of this enthusiastic Springer Spaniel fancier's recent acquisition, the great English Ch. "Inveresk Chancellor," purchased from the famous Scotch breeder, McNab Chassels. I shall look forward with a great deal of interest to seeing Chancellor, for he certainly is a most impressive Springer, particularly so in placement of shoulders, where so many of our present-day Springers fail. My old friend, H. S. Lloyd, writes in glowing terms of the quality of Chancellor's progeny. Breeders, therefore, should not forget this great dog when looking for a sire that has show, field, and stud records, and also breeding which will commend itself to the most critical student of blood lines.

R. P. Sparkes has lost no time in filling the vacant kennel of the late Mauresa Molly, for I understand that after considerable persuasion, backed up with a cheque of £180—one hundred and eighty pounds—he has got J. Berry of the Mauresa Kennels, Oldham, Lancashire, England, to part with Molly's sister, Bere-Regis-Jummy, generally admitted by the cognoscenti in England to be not only one of the best specimens of the national breed over there at the present time, but also as one of the best bitches ever bred. I am sure R. P. Sparkes' many friends will join me in congratulating him on his pluck and judgment in acquiring this great bitch whose debut will be watched with keen interest.

OLD ENGLISH SHEEP DOGS.

This breed is making headway in Canada without a doubt. Mrs. H. B. Bowen, Montreal, wife of the Chief of the Mechanical Department, C.P.R., has received from Mrs. Dohring of the far-famed Cliffwold Kennels, U.S.A., the young dog "Cliffwold Danny Boy"—said to be a smart one, and bred along the same lines as the Best in Show Winter Fair winner, "Champion Cliffwold Minstrel Boy."

Frank M. Ross of Montreal, and well-known in the shipping and aeroplane designing world, is another recruit in the "Bobtail Sheepdog" ranks. Mr. Ross owns a fine stock farm near St. Johns, New Brunswick, and has received a young dog said to be a flyer, from England. He hails from the Downerry Kennels—the Premier Old English Sheepdog Kennels of Miss Audrey Taylor. A smart bitch in whelp to Champion Elkington Squire, winner of fifteen Challenge Certificates, is on the way over. Still another bitch has been procured for Mr. Hamilton Goodsell, of the Ten-acre Kennels, White Plains, N.Y. Mr. Ross has joined the Old English Sheepdog Club of America.

ANOTHER SPRINGER FOR CANADA.

On page 61 of our March issue A. Hamilton, Jr., told us in his second note, that, A. McNab Chassels had made an addition to his Kennel by the purchase of Inveresk Clip, one of the greatest headed Springers ever seen, and that the ultimate destination of Inveresk Clip was Canada.

Mr. Hamilton had his data right apparently as far as the ultimate destination was concerned, as Inveresk Clip joined the Lansdowne Kennels of John Ritchie of Ottawa on February 19th and John is particularly proud of his latest importation.

Langtown Lubricant, Mr. Ritchie's former chief stud was sold to a client in West Virginia named Edward Dana Knight, and for the new owner Langtown Lubricant won 2nd open and reserve winner at America's two greatest shows Madison Garden and Boston this year.

It will be interesting to see the Springers recently exported from Scotland, when they come together at the show rings of Canada.

NOTICE.

If Kennel and Bench readers will kindly note that page 43 of our March issue should really be folioed as page 47 they will have the proper sequence of our folios. Thank you.

DOGS OF THE EMPIRE

By FREEMAN LLOYD.

(Illustrations from the Author's Collection)

THE Toy or Ladies' Dogs of Britain are really very wonderful; and when we consider they have been nurtured for centuries by the women-folk, we will then take a further interest in these small dogs. These lap-dogs have descended from the larger breeds—the sporting dogs, more or less belonging to the lords and masters of these ladies of quality.

The Toy Spaniels generally associated with House of Stuart, the Charleses and the Jameses of Britain—must be the first to come under notice, since the descendants of those dogs still bear the names of Prince Charles and King Charles Spaniels. As every dog fancier knows, the black-tan-and-white is a Prince Charles, and a wholly black-and-tan is a King Charles Spaniel. But strictly speaking, there is reason to believe that the black-white-and-tan was the original King Charles Spaniel. Be that as it may, both are singularly interesting and "handsome" dogs in the eyes of the dyed-in-the-wool dog fancier.

When Charles the Second was King, one of the greatest annoyances suffered by the Gay Monarch, was that the dog thieves or "fanciers" (as the canine purloiners were then styled) used to coax away and steal the king's pet or favorite dogs. It is on record that Charles had to publicly call attention to these below-stairs methods of "lifting" his Spaniels. He appealed to the rascals through the London Gazette to at least leave him his dogs. Poor man! The loss of a favorite dog was as much to the person of high degree as it was to the lowest of the King's subjects. "Will they not even leave me my dogs?" Charles cried in his agony. Surely, his was a feeling that we have all experienced at one time or another.

The Toy Spaniels of the British Breeds and their varieties, descended from the hunting Spaniels of the field, just as, in later days, the black Cocker Spaniels came to us from the larger black Field Spaniels. I am old enough to recollect a dog and bitch, full-brother and sister, being entered—one in the Field Spaniel class and the other in the Cocker Spaniel section. The Cocker won, and the Field Spaniel either won or was high up in the money. And so the smaller Spaniels were made house pets to, in time, become the close and agreeably tempered pets of the ladies of the household. There is some such a transition going on now; for we will as often as not see Cocker Spaniels as the companions of women and children rather than the helpmates of their shooting men.

To suit the tastes of the bench-show-going public, the forefates of all Toy Spaniels have become shorter and shorter. That the skull and face of the poor dog has been deformed during this shortening process, there can be no doubt.

If one pays a visit to the South Kensington Museum in London, he will be able to see for himself what a terrible havoc we have made with the formation of the jaws of some of God's creatures. When I have looked into the glass cases (where the dog's skulls are placed and arranged under the names of their breeds), I confess to having been heartily ashamed of being a dog fancier, and one of those who had actually helped in bringing about these unforgiveable and unsightly malformations.

As a so-called expert-reporter, I must have described thousands of these little Toy Spaniels. When a long and natural-faced dog was observed, down, of course, went the note "too long in face." In the extended critique, the supposed fault was duly enlarged on and in cold type it was read everywhere. Here was the implied advice that breeders of Toy Spaniels should breed or produce Toy Spaniels with short, shorter, and shortest faces. And the mischief and agony has been prolonged even unto this day! To cap all, it was not long before some breeders came along and actually bragged about their "noseless"

Spaniels as if ugliness were a virtue and deformity a delight! The terrible jaws with the molar teeth twisted around (as they may be seen at Kensington at the Natural History Department of the British Museum) are terrifying to look upon; and, we, as dog fanciers, ought to be really ashamed to look upon those evidences of our own debasement. We often hear about a dog's beauty consisting in the dog's ugliness. A smart and easy wisecrack, but one that will not bear investigation.

A "noseless" dog means one of those poor little creatures that has little or nothing in the way of a nasal organ save the nostrils that are placed flat on its face. There can be no beauty in a monstrosity, and women (and men) must be prepared to suffer from the nasty remarks passed by outsiders regarding the "tastes" of certain of their fellow beings.

The excellent picture of the black-and-tan King Charles Spaniel presented in this number will at once give the reader an idea of what the really sensible-headed Toy Spaniel should be like. There is a sufficiency of nose or that part of the upper face that can assist a dog to chew his food or gnaw a bone.

These actions are necessary for the upkeep of the dog's health and strength.

The head of the British Toy Spaniel dog must be dome-like or apple-headed, as it is styled. These round heads are a sure sign of in-breeding. Strange as it must appear, Fashion declares that the skulls of the British and Japanese Toy Spaniels' skulls must be domed, while the skulls of the Chinese or Pekingese Toy Spaniels must be flat. It would therefore appear that the Pekes, as a race, are not so closely related to one another as are the English and Japanese Toys. That is probably the reason the Pekes are a stronger and robuster lot than their Asiatic cousins and faraway distant relatives of Europe. But we will admire the skull, eyes, nose, nostrils, cushion, lips and finish of the face of the beautifully coated King Charles Spaniel on the first page of this contribution.

Another great point in the make-up of the beautiful black-and-tan King Charles now illustrated, is the length of the ear, and the set-on of the same property. It has been always said that even the working or shooting Spaniel's ears should be long enough at the tips to meet around the nose of the dog. But in Toy Spaniels (as in Water Spaniels) the ears may be much longer. More than often it is the feather or fringe on the flesh parts of the ear that grows to such luxuriant lengths because of the constant combing and other care given the little animals.

There are different the English and Japanese Toys. That is probably the reason the Pekes are a stronger and robuster lot than their Asiatic cousins and faraway distant relatives of Europe. But we will admire the skull, eyes, nose, nostrils, cushion, lips and finish of the face of the beautifully coated King Charles

BLACK TOY POMERANIAN

During the last forty years the Pomeranian has been much reduced in size and weight, the older and larger Wolf Spitz dogs of Germany being thrown into the discard, outside of their own country. The later Toy or Miniature Pomeranians of the '90's scaled 7-8 pounds. Now they are considered highly typical if of half or less than that in weight.

sizes and weights—and the latter may vary all the way from 6 to 12 pounds. The very leggy King Charles Spaniel is not so attractive in appearance as the closer-to-the-ground dog. The long silky and almost flat coat is to be preferred to the very curly specimens, several of these being indifferent in the richness of the tan markings. This tan color is of the rich-mahogany shade, like that of the really sound-colored black-and-tan Manchester Terrier, and the Gordon Setter dogs. In the King Charles Spaniel the tan markings should be conspicuous on the muzzle, legs, chest, linings of ears, and under the tail. The tan spots over the eyes add to the attractiveness of the little beasties.

With the onrush of the Pekingese Fancy, the Toy Spaniels of England were almost forgotten. But thanks to a few enthusiasts on both sides of the Atlantic, there appears to be a comeback in sight, for the Charlies, the Rubies, and the Blenheims.

Among my collection of prints, etc., I have a portrait of a Duke of Marlborough who sat for Sir Joshua Reynolds. In the picture is the body of a Spaniel—from about the shoulders back. Unfortunately, the head of the dog is out of sight; but what there is of that dog is all Cocker Spaniel and of the size or weight (25 pounds) of our present-day dogs of Cocker Breed. The Marlborough or Blenheim Spaniel was red or orange-and-white in color, the markings being well distributed. The family name of the Marlboroughs is Churchill, one of whom was a courtier of Charles the Second. As you will remember, it was John, the Great Duke of Marlborough, who, in the time of Queen Anne, was the most adored man of his nation which built for the victorious soldier a palace at Woodstock, Oxfordshire, and called it Blenheim.

It was from the Churchills or Marlboroughs of Blenheim Palace there came the Blenheim Spaniels—originally small, sporting Cocker-like Spaniels. As far back as thirty-six to forty years ago, there were long-faced Blenheim Spaniels owned in Woodstock, and these were exhibited in a special class at a show held in the Park, and seen by myself. No end of interest was taken in the old breed that had not been bred so much to the type fancied in the outside world in general and London in particular. There was a movement afoot that attempted to popularize the red or orange-and-white Toy Spaniels of the Marlboroughs of the Victorian period. But the half-hearted enterprise did not receive much support. So once again the whim of the larger interests prevailed.

There may not be very many of us left who can remember the old and picturesque dogs of the very beautiful White Pomeranian breed—the pride of thousands upon thousands of persons in the Old and New Worlds. Nowadays a white Pomeranian dog like Mr. Fawdry's Charley would be probably relegated to the Spitz Dog class—if such a section were provided. Yet the large white Pomeranian dog is as handsome as any creature on four legs, although, apparently, the show ring has, for a while at least, seen the last of him. Moreover, the large Pomeranian is a particularly good hunting dog. He will be found useful if required to do the rabbit work often required of the terrier.

It was not until about the year 1890 that the smaller Pomeranians began to make a pronounced appearance in England. These were of about 7 to 8 pounds in weight, and appeared small enough in all conscience. For we had been used to observing White Poms—and sometimes a black or wolf-grey one of 12 pounds and a lot upwards.

It was in 1891 the Pomeranian Club was formed, Theo Marples being its first secretary. Under my old associate's distinguished and constant care, the cult of the Toy or Miniature Pomeranian became the rage and, as we know, it continues to this day. No Toy dogs are more and rightly popular than those we now commonly designate as Pomeranians, forgetting all about the "Toy" and "Miniature" terms as applied to them—only yesterday, it seems.

From the descendants of the 7 and 8 pounds Poms of 1890, the breeders of 1929 are producing wonderful little creatures perfect in formation, more or less intelligent, scaling four pounds and often considerably less. England and America have vied with each other in the production of these profusely jacketed midgets. Less than centuries ago these puny Pomeranian dogs had as ancestors the larger wolf-Spitz dogs, the Scandinavian Spitz dogs, the Siberian dogs, the greater, stronger and bolder dogs of Greenland and their Arctic white-wolf crosses. In the modern lilliputians of Pomerania, we cannot fail to observe the fox-like heads, the prick-ears, the curl-tails, the enormous coats, the alacrity and perhaps the easily made-to-bark larger domesticated dogs of the Far North.

The Englishmen proved themselves to be the most sagacious of dog men, and the princes of breeders when they purchased the very best Toy Pomeranian stock they could find in Germany.

Notes From Old Quebec

By Fred La Rue, Cap St. Martin, Que.

We have hardly had time to recover from that New York fever and we already begin to feel a relapse, so to speak, into another attack. The symptoms of a great excitement which will eventually melt into a glorious activity are in the air; everything points to an unprecedented success for the fast-approaching Ladies' Kennel Club Shows.

Ce que femme vent, Dieu le vent! A Joan of Arc of Dogdom has unfurled the standard of goodwill. English or French, Liberal and Conservative, Federal and Provincial influences have been swayed into action to get funds and location for the two big, one-day shows, which will be benched on May 29th and 30th, next.

I met Pat on St. James Street the other morning:

"Good morning, Baptiste!" (He always calls me Baptiste, I suppose my write-up reminds him so much of the desert where John the Baptist used to preach).

"Bon jour, Pat! Did you hear of the Ladies' Kennel Club's two shows?"

"I heard that they will have a show in May, of course; I suppose they will also have one next fall?"

"No, Pat, these shows will be twins; the second one will be born just eight hours after the first one!"

"But, in what hospital—beg your pardon, I mean building, will they be benched?"

"Pat, you are too curious! I won't tell you the address yet; suffice it to say that they won't be far from Montreal City Hall. You get your Irish Terriers ready!"

"Oh, no, Baptiste, I won't show this time; I hear Henry E. Whitley has purchased the winning Irish pup in Madison Garden, and I don't want to get beat."

And that's the way an Irishman talked to me on St. Patrick's Day; a man who breeds the gamest terriers in the world! But I know that he will think it over and enter all his dogs!

If everybody else was afraid of the imported dogs' competition, there would be no shows at all in Montreal this spring, because there have been a score of dogs imported lately. I know an instance of a Mr. James Calder, who has imported three English Setters, one Retriever and one Springer Spaniel. Mr. Laurencelle of Seeds and Birds, has wired for no less than two Wires of "Epping" prefix and two Cocker Spaniels.

Then what about that English Setter from California, which was imported by an European Consulate? Really, the sporting dogs are more than holding their own in and around Montreal just now. And the news has leaked out that, very, very soon, big kennels will be opened on the South Shore for the boarding, rearing and training of gun dogs. Many a hunter nowadays has got to board his dogs quite far away from the city and, consequently, he is too much of a stranger to them when the shooting season starts.

The location of the proposed kennels will be reached by electric cars, and a man will have the pleasure to keep in touch with his dogs the year round.

We have no doubt that there will be quite a number of that good English Setter's "Wild Irish Surprise" puppies in these kennels, as he is very busy at stud these days.

We have seen the following visiting matrons at Mr. Sam Doyle's home this week: Miss Alice Martha's Destiny's Betty, and Rev. Father Martin's Lady Mona.

Pagaro Diane is now nursing six puppies, born March 17th, sired by Surprise.

What about a show in Sherbrooke right after the twin Montreal shows? It would certainly draw a big entry and give many a flyer the chance to finish his championship in short time!

My friend, G. W. Bailey of Gatineau Hills' fame, writes me that we seem to have all missed Blarney's Trail win in New York. That wonderful son of Just Kold Gold, went to third place in a very hot class of 22 Wire puppies. I was in the ring showing one of Mr. F. Coleman's puppies, which was nosed out of the money on account of irregular teething, and as the Wrightville puppy was sired by the same dog, I kept on thinking of what Mr. Humphrey Elliot, of Haymarket Faultless' fame, told me one day: "If you like a dog, breed to his sire."

I have no doubt that many will follow the advice by using Just Kold Gold, and next year we will see a Canadian-bred first Wire puppy in Madison Square. And here is my temperature going up again!

When the dog fever strikes Eastern Canada in the Spring of the year, the germ strikes Toronto and from there spreads east and west. If the infection that struck Toronto Kennel Club this Good Friday and Saturday develops, it will certainly be a big successful year for these parts. Three hundred and eighty-five dogs were entered, 18 were marked absent by the judges, this latter figure cannot be considered actual, as the writer noted at least one marked absent, that was actually benched, and as this leads to confusion it should be compulsory for every dog entered for competition and benched, to be obliged to come to the ring at the designated time, the feelings of disgruntled fanciers notwithstanding, it is obvious, when, in the case of a narrow margin governing points, an official count might be made that would be quite unfair to a show giving club. In the case of an exhibitor getting "hot under the collar" when a judge does not "see eye to eye" with him, and that exhibitor deliberately refuses to bring his dog back to the ring for other classes, where it is entered, or keeps other dogs, that he may have entered, out of competition, and so having them marked absent, the act should be considered, "misconduct unbecoming to a sportsman," and should be so handled to its final consummation. Suppose the practice became chronic, what a debacle our shows might easily become. It is unfortunate that these undesirable occurrences have to be recorded, and so they must be stopped at all costs. In this instance the absentees actual or otherwise does not affect the points of this show, as there was a comfortable margin over 350 dogs benched.

The Commerce and Transportation building was airy, light, roomy, and at all times comfortable for man and dog, and President "Jack" McNaughton, Vice-president Peter Herd, who also acted in the capacity of show superintendent, and secretary "Len" Morris, Second Vice-president Mrs. J. W. Bruce are a team that may be equalled, but cannot be excelled anywhere for continuous, untiring labors for the club and its activities. We have wondered how much thought any of the 250 exhibitors gave to the monumental effort that had to be made on their behalf before they were able to tie the dogs up in their stalls, and look the show over, and that effort, the effort of a very few interested club workers. Let us give this important matter some thought, it will help to temper possible criticisms deserved or undeserved.

The team of workers we have mentioned, footsore and weary as the show drew to a close, were noticed to be wreathed in smiles as the splendid spectacle of the group classes unfolded itself to the point where the best dog in show was chosen—their only reward, and as Secretary Morris was heard to say to his president, "Well Jack, it's worth all the work after all—isn't it?" and "Jack" like the good fellow he is, answered in the affirmative, and that's how shows go on, year after year—the only way.

The general public showed its sympathy and interest, with, and in dogs by creating a new high record for "gate" as far as Toronto Kennel Club is concerned, and this was of course gratifying to all.

The judges were, Mrs. W. H. Dean, Detroit, Mich., Dr. H. H. Hodgson, Stamford Center, Ont., and Dr. George G. Anderson, of New York City. Mrs. W. H. Dean knows her "Boston," and ably demonstrated the fact by her every move in the ring. The "Little American Dog" was thoroughly judged. According to this expert in a most careful manner, and she found her best specimen in Mrs. M. Stevens, Toronto tripply little dog, Ch. The Bugler Dee Cee.

Dr. Hodgson had 40 odd shepherd dogs as his portion, and after he had finished, the exhibitor's and their dogs were well aware of the fact that they had been before a man who knew his breed thoroughly, and as in Bostons, there was no breath of criticism for Dr. Hodgson's placings. The local fraternity were enthusiastic, and gave a demonstration of their feelings, when Judge Hodgson found Wm. Storey's (Toronto), Billo von Berg-holtz as his best specimen. It was a real treat to see this grand young son of Ch. Alpha von Krone going through his paces so faultlessly and cheerfully.

Dr. Anderson had the lion's share of the work and right manfully did he stick to his task, finishing two hours ahead of the limit set by most of the experienced show goers present. It will be well for the executive if Toronto Kennel Club consider the elimination of many of the special prizes now being offered for competition, confining these to winners of regular classes, where it will be an easy matter to hand out the specials by reference to the black board.

Toys were a large entry, with Pekes a feature. 66 dogs and 127 entries and 74 special prizes and was a task for a specialist judge; the handling of so many specials may interest successful Peke owners, but it does slow down a show, and the general public is left to wonder what it is all about. We do not say this in the spirit of criticism, as we realize that collecting specials is no easy task, it is an unselfish labor of love, but it can be overdone. Toronto Kennel Club is a big organization today, capable of doing big things in a big way, the show just held left no argument in this respect, so in future there need be no such specials as "Salt Shakers," "Orange Pekoe Tea," "Parcels of Butter," "Boxes of Chocolate," "Neckties," "Subscriptions to Dog Magazines," "Services to Stud Dogs," and such like small stuff that should be below the consideration of one of Canada's oldest and most respected clubs. The "Butter and Tea" specials can be left to the parlor shows to advantage.

The quality of the dogs was exceptionally good, and splendidly varied, making the show extremely interesting at all times, a feature was the handing of a cup for best Italian Greyhound by "Ted" Wards dainty little daughter to Mrs. Delaney one of Toronto's oldest and staunchest dog show supporters, and it is quite safe to say that if "Mother" Delaney had been blessed with means she would undoubtedly have been one of Canada's best known oldest and staunchest show supporters. May she be spared to us for many years to come.

Other features were Lieut.-Col. G. F. McFarland's handing out of the Group Specials, his complimenting and congratulating of the winners, their exhibition of good sportsmanship when the losers shook hands with the winners, and probably best of all was when the unexpected happened and Judge Anderson awarded Best in Show to Harry Draper's magnificently furnished Yorkshire terrier Ch. Lord Byng, and the owners of dogs such as Horace Placey's (Sherbrooke) imported Springer Inveresk Chancellor, Wm. Fear's (Toronto) Collie Captain Lukeo, Matt Gracey's (Toronto) imported "Wire" Wireboy Simon and Thomas J. Parvin's (Newark, N.J.) imported Bulldog, Markham Spot, as they lined up one after the other, and congratulated Mr. Draper on his great win. Colonel McFarland's speech of encouragement to the club, the winners and losers was an epic and added the necessary color to close the show in a fitting manner. Mr. Draper, as he picked up his numerous trophies, amongst which was the Canadian Kennel Club Cup, the handsome "Spratts Patent Limited" London, England, Cup, President McNaughton's Cup, Toronto Kennel Club Cup, etc., showed in every line and move that he had just arrived at the greatest moment of his life, and trying to realize that his dog had been crowned "King of the Show."

AT STUD

Int. Gr. Champion
Klodo von Boxberg,
SCH. H.

Acknowledged by discriminating fanciers to be the greatest sire of the breed offered at public stud.

Following in the footsteps of his famous sire, Erich von Grafenwerth, the following comments justify these claims:

At the Specialty Show in September, 1928, the eminent authority, Dr. Roesbeck, said: "Klodo, a dog of model proportions of height to length, and in fact, so good in proportion as to rarely find an equal."

Dr. Werner Funk of Hannover writes, "The children of Klodo have made a remarkable record on the show bench. He is acknowledged to be the best sire today."

Sickinger, in his comment on the last Sieger Show, writes that "Int. Sieger Klodo von Boxberg was represented with seven entries. All seven received the 'S-G' awards, which would prove that Klodo transmits his qualities at a very pleasing average. The so-called average dogs are the most desirable and valuable."

His get are all dogs of fine disposition. He has the happy faculty of transmitting his own beautiful proportions. He is therefore offered at stud, to approved bitches only, at a fee of $100, to be booked in advance, and fee paid at time of service. One return service to the same bitch will be allowed if matings are non-productive. Animals are received at owner's risk, but will be handled and housed with every care and attention.

THE GRIER PEKINGESE KENNELS

Martin's Ferry, Ohio, U.S.A.

Mr. E. R. Grier, of the Grier Pekingese Kennels, of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, U.S.A., was a visitor to the Toronto Kennel Club show just closed, and marked the occasion by winning out in an exceptionally strong class of young females with his Tal-Tal, an attractive puppy bred by Treleavan & Hatcher, Toronto. The young lady was sired by Shimerh of Chinatown, ex Betty of Balcroft, and looks her breeding all over.

That Mr. Grier has set out to make headway in Pekes is quite noticeable from the enthusiasm that he cannot help showing, and when he was in Toronto he purchased from Mr. A. Roberts, of the popular Shensi Kennels, Toronto, that sterling young dog, Shensi Sam Ko-Dah, just out of his puppyhood but already a winner of much note. Ko-Dah came out at the last Canadian National Exhibition, again at Hamilton, and later at the Royal Winter Fair, and gave a good account of himself at every appearance.

Mr. Grier's high-class brace, Shensi Sam Ko-Dah and Tal-Tal.

At Buffalo show, held recently, he won over a splendid entry and earned for himself 5 championship points under Judge Miss Grace Conolly Hillas, of Boston, Mass., and it looks as if both the specimens mentioned here will one day sport the highest titles that come to dogdom. At Buffalo, where the Canadian Pekingese fanciers turned out in strength, the new purchase, Ko-Dah, was awarded the special for best dog from Canada, and at the Pekin Palace specialty show he was right on the heels of the well-known English and American champion, King Pippin of Greystones. At Toronto Kennel Club, Shensi Sam Ko-Dah was again well up in the running.

Mr. Grier was bound to purchase Ko-Dah, and of course had to make his cheque up to a satisfying amount in order to tempt Mr. Roberts to sell. With this addition to the kennel, Mr. Grier hopes to see the added strength manifest itself very soon, and in any case, it is his intention to step right out and to breed and to show on a larger scale than ever before, and soon he will place Shensi Sam Ko-Dah at public stud.

Correspondence intended for Mr. Grier should be addressed as described at the top of this review.

GERMAN SHEPHERD DOGS AT TORONTO SHOW.

Special Report to Kennel and Bench
By the Judge,
Dr. H. H. Hodgson.

A pleasant task was allotted to me in the spacious ring provided for Shepherds—it was well lighted and had an ideal surface (of concrete) for the dogs to show their ability to cover ground quickly and smoothly.

Puppy Dogs. This class resulted in an easy win for Emo von Bergholtz, a classy black and tan of nice balance and substance who handled himself very well. Has a slight roach in his back. His temperament appeared firm.

2nd, Emir von Bergholtz, who was shown perhaps a little too fat, lost to his brother in gait and general nobility.

3rd, Cito von Borsdorf, a black and tan with a nice hind quarter assembly and a strong back, but who is tied up in front so that his gait was spoiled and this showed more in the next class.

Novice Dogs. 1st, Pride of Gertsdale, who is very typey, with a good gait, but is above the standard in height, although, even after penalizing for his size I found him still the best dog.

2nd, Aribert von Bulow, a nice grey dog, somewhat immature, slightly soft in back and ligaments.

3rd, Arko von Printzenhof, good front, good proportion, hind quarters should have deeper angulation, therefore gait lacks thrust.

Canadian-bred Dogs. 1st, Billo von Bergholtz, a rather plain appearing grey dog easily headed this class; running gear well set on, nice angulation and splendid bone; great length of stride, good follow through and smooth throughout. Needs more weight.

2nd, Pride of Gertzdale, lost out to Billo on proportion and general balance.

3rd, Fritz von Weitzel, inclined to blockiness, loses also in hind quarters, both of which affect his gait. Lacks nobility.

Limit Dogs. 1st, Pride of Gertzdale (already reviewed); 2nd, Fritz von Weitzel (already reviewed); 3rd, Arko von Printzenhof (already reviewed).

Open Dogs. 1st, Billo von Bergholtz, (already reviewed).

2nd, Bluto von Haleskape, black and tan, lacks the freedom of movement of the winner, loses also in proportion and angulation.

HIGHBALL'S LITTLE MAN

This great little International Winner is now a recognized stud force that is quickly making a good name for himself and no mistake.

He is the Sire of Little Man's Confederation, now owned in Detroit, Mich., the Boston that is going Best of Breed at some of the important American shows, and is now nearing his American Championship.

He is also the Sire of Confederation White Socks, the trappy little Boston that was awarded the prize for Best Boston from Canada at the most recent specialty show at Detroit. Several litters have been born recently and these only tend to enhance most strikingly Highball's Little Man's ability to quantify that are stamped with quality.

Puppy Bitches. 1st, Helge of Northmore, a typey 11 months' old puppy who possesses a nice body, strong back, well set on running gear. Rather coarse bone detracted from this young bitch. She showed a nice disposition.

2nd, Freda von der Bulow, a grey bitch of nice proportion, and well balanced, somewhat soft in back but she moved well nevertheless. Good in disposition.

3rd, Wanda, a better puppy than she appears, her coat is bad. Her back is rather long but her angulation is good and so is her temperament.

Novice Bitches. 1st, Helga of Northmore (reviewed).

2nd, Black Jetty, a very typey black who is a little shaky in temperament and has a slight weakness in hind-quarters, but easily beating the next bitch.

3rd, Wanda (reviewed).

Canadian-bred Bitches. 1st, Helga (reviewed); 2nd, Freda (reviewed); 3rd, Lady von Gretzel, good proportion, well balanced, fair angulation and good back, and a very good temperament.

4th, Gertsdale von Bergholtz, a black and tan of uncertain temperament, a nice deep body but a weak back; quite good angulation.

5th, Elsa von Stroghoff, a trim young bitch with a very pleasing outline, however she was nervous, and too light in bone.

6th, Another bitch who is deserving of mention is Lulo von der Goth Ruhe, fairly good proportion with good running gear but a very weak body which had no depth, which is a serious fault in a bitch.

I would like to mention here that I found this a most interesting and difficult class to judge, due to the difference in ages and types.

Limit Bitches. 1st, Black Jetty; 2nd, Elsa von Stroghoff; 3rd, Lulu von Goth Ruhe.

Open Bitches. 1st, Tara of Cosalta, a beautiful bodied bitch with a masculine head and an unpleasant expression; splendid front with plenty of angulation which gives her a very smooth gait. In standing she shows a slight weakness in hocks.

2nd, Black Jetty; 3rd, Lady von Gretzel.

Winners Bitches, Tara of Cosalta.

Reserve, Helga of Northmore.

Best of Breed, Billo von Bergholtz.

SAM BAMFORD COMING TO CANADA.

On the front cover of our English contemporary "The Dog World", March 15th issue, we are delighted to notice a fine picture of a good Wire-Haired Fox Terrier which bears as part of his name the old familiar prefix "Walnut", the full name being Walnut Gamecock, and the name seems to suit the specimen perfectly. A son of Ch. Talavera Simon out of a Barrington Bridegroom bitch—Yeoman Sargirl.

In a recent letter from Mr. Bamford he took us to task for publishing in Kennel and Bench that Jack Steer of Montreal had purchased Olcliffe Carnation and advised that Mr. Steer had never been offered Carnation, but rather that Mr. Bamford had sold this good bitch to Mr. Keater of Hamburg, N.Y., direct and asked that a suitable correction be made.

We advised Mr. Steer accordingly and felt quite relieved when he was able to satisfy us, that, not only had he cabled for Olcliffe Carnation, but had sent the money for her in good enough faith, but he was just a trifle late in both to secure her.

Mr. Bamford hopes to leave England for Canada about the beginning of April, to meet the boys, and to sell them something worthwhile.

LADIES KENNEL CLUB LOSE A FRIEND.

By the passing of W. F. Fawcett in the General Hospital at Montreal, on Saturday, March 24th the Ladies Kennel Club has lost a staunch supporter of the club's activities. It was always a pleasure with him when working for, or giving to the Ladies Club.

Other recent losses sustained by the club was the removal by death of Mrs. Skyes and Mrs. Neville. Both were keen supporters of their club, and active in all its functions.

VIVADORA WIRE FOX TERRIERS.

The Vivadora Kennels have been threatening to enter the Wire-haired Fox Terrier field for some considerable time now and before this appears in print the Kennel will have attained some noteworthy strength that will be heard from at different times in the near future.

To head the stud department of the new venture Mr. J. R. Kennedy has secured the well known English winner, Watteau Review, a son of Ch. Watteau Roberts by a daughter of Uksider, a son of Barrington Fearnought. The new importation has been described as a game sand-coated terrier, beautiful for size, with a grand head expression. He has been shown under at least thirty-five judges and amongst them J. H. Wright, W. J. Nicholls, J. W. Marples, A. Cooper, J. J. Holgate, Holland Buckley, Theo Marples, Chris Houliker, Walter Glynn, J. R. Barlow, W. H. Oldershaw, etc, etc.

A check up on the awards won show that Watteau Review has won 108 first prizes, 57 seconds and 27 thirds, which record is said to be unique for any wire dog out in England for the last 12 to 18 months. Under E. J. Failer at Oldham Show Watteau Review was awarded the special for best wire dog in show.

To add strength to the Kennel the good winning bitch Rare Treasure was purchased in Ireland, with the condition attached to the purchase that she be kept there and bred to Ch. Stockmoor Storm before shipping to Canada and it is expected that she will not arrive in Canada until some time in May.

The Vivadora Kennels sponsored Dobermans and Schnauzers in Toronto but it begins to look as if these breeds would be ousted in favor of the "wire". A Schnauzer has been shipped to a New York client and at the same time a Doberman was shipped also to a New York address.

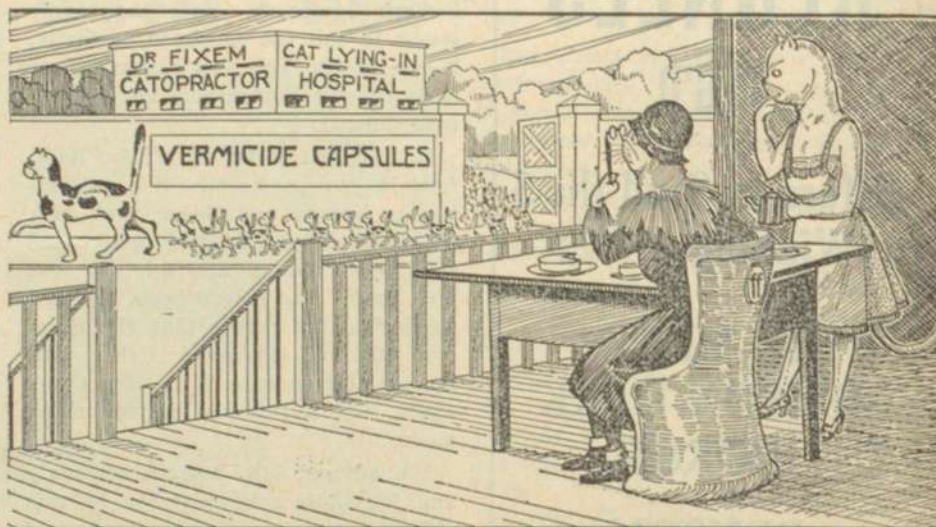

Elsie of Atkenden, the winning Doberman bitch at Hamilton Show last year is in whelp to Ch. Koningstad Amerant of Whitegate and wire bitch Silverbirch Waltz Dream is "showing signs", the sire being one of the "Ormsby" wires.

The writer mentioned to Mr. Kennedy that "wires were a millionaires' hobby," and was met with the retort, "Well, maybe we can make things interesting for the wealthy fellows, the British breeders furnish the best specimens and they are not all millionaires, are they?"

A Talk on Vitamins

The discovery by two British scientists of a method for the making of Vitamin D in the laboratory by the ultraviolet eradication of a substance known as ergosterol caused a revolution in the field of vitamin research.

Prior to this nothing was known of the nature of vitamins or their evolution, investigations hitherto having been confined to their physiological action rather than to methods of manufacturing the vitamins. Most exhaustive research which included physiological experiments on animals had been carried out in the laboratory. It had been established by these experiments that vitamins were absolutely essential to life, and that even a slight deficiency, if not counteracted, led eventually to serious illness. For example it was proved that vitamin A promoted growth in young animals and helped to build up new tissue in the full grown. Young animals fed on a diet deficient in Vitamin A were found to grow up undersized, in fact, when the Vitamin A deficiency persisted, growth ceased.

Experiments demonstrated also that the feeding of animals on diet deficient in Vitamin A increased susceptibility to infectious diseases; conversely a sufficiency of Vitamin A in the diet was found to give the animals power to resist infection. From the dog breeders' point of view this is a very important consideration.

Vitamin B was found to have effect particularly in toning up the nervous system, in sharpening the appetite and preventing constipation. In fact all experiments went to prove that many troubles, that the dog breeder had to contend with were traceable to the lack of Vitamin B in the diet.

Vitamin B was found to be of special value to brood bitches as a sufficient milk supply for the puppies is impossible without a sufficient supply of this vitamin. The effect on the milk flow resulting from the addition of Vitamin B to the diet is remarkable. At this period it is estimated that a bitch nursing puppies requires at least five times the amount of Vitamin B required by an adult of the same breed. A deficiency has a deleterious effect on the puppies, and pulls down the system of the brood bitch.

In regard to Vitamin D. It has been established that this Vitamin is necessary for correct absorption into the system of Calcium (lime) and phosphorus, the elements which go to form bones and teeth. Lack of Vitamin D result in faulty formation of bones and teeth and in young dogs and puppies, to rickets.

Although the prevalence of rickets amongst young dogs and puppies is a serious matter, it is readily detected and can be immediately cured if taken in hand early enough, but generally seaking the effects of Vitamin deficiency in the diet of the animal is always detectable by ordinary methods of observation. Often a dog may be losing ground without showing visible evidence of illness. In fact, the great majority of dogs suffer from Vitamin deficiency without showing any outward signs of disease. A lack of vim, lustre in the eye and coat, is all that can be seen and the assumption that it is the want of vitamins that is the trouble, can be confirmed by submitting them to a course of treatment. Within a very short time, it will be noticed that the rate of growth in the young stock has increased, whilst the fullgrown animal will pick up in an astonishing fashion.

Previous to the discoveries by the scientists, the troubles arising from the deficiency of Vitamins were alleviated by the following recipe: Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, 8 oz. Oil of Wintergreen, ½ dram. Powdered Acacia, 3 drams. Hypophosite of lime, 1 dram. Water 5 oz.

Mix the Acacia and water. Add the oils gradually to make an emulsion and then add the lime and soda. But many much better Vitamin products are on the market in a rich concentrated form.

WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIERS

Is the little white coated West Highlander coming back to popularity again? From recent correspondence we are inclined to believe that he is, and with him for good company his fellow countryman and compatriot the Cairn Terrier.

Jack Eagan, Guelph; Alick McCloy, Victoria; and Donald McKellar, Oakville; were the Fanciers that were identified with the White Highlanders, but we do not notice these names so frequently in the Kennel press as formerly, however, we were pleased to notice at two of America's greatest Shows held recently, i.e., New York and Detroit, that Canada still has a few good specimens left yet.

At Westminster Kennel Club Show in a mixed class of five, the first prize winner was Neilson's Dizzy Lizzie, by Ch. Rip. of Ythanside, ex. Neilson's Margaret, and this good puppy is owned by Mrs. M. L. Neilson, of London, Ont. At Detroit a little sister to Dizzy Lizzie, named Redford Witch, owned by Mrs. M. Laing, Detroit, won 1st of Winners.

It has been said that "Where there is smoke, there is fire," and we trust this little "puff" that we have noticed, will soon assert itself, and that the fiery little terriers under review will soon become more noticeable at our shows.

NOTES FROM THE COAST

By Provincial Contributing Editor, ALBERT KERR, Vancouver.

THE membership of the Canadian Kennel Club, spread out all over this Dominion, have again been presented with the yearly reports as to the progress of our Association, and the verbatim report of the doings at the Annual Meeting, which must present to each individual member a feeling of confidence and pleasure to know that the affairs of this club are of such moment as to receive the consideration given them by our respective directors from all sections of this country; that the discussions are broad and open-minded, having in view the welfare of the membership at large and the most good to the greater number. The membership in Vancouver were greatly pleased to have our Director, W. H. Pym, report on his visit to the Annual Meeting in Toronto, and to review the happenings thereat, and to state with what measure of success the various proposals emanating from this section were received.

Mr. Pym re-echoed the sentiments as expressed by the previous directors who had paid this visit to Toronto, that the affairs of our Association were in most capable hands and management, and the pleasure it had afforded him to have met with the central governing body to prove this fact for himself; and after any member has read these various reports, as printed in our March issue of Kennel and Bench, must be convinced of this also.

At the regular March meeting of the British Columbia Fox Terrier Club, Mr. Pym—by request—presented to this club his impressions of the great New York shows and reviewed the Winnipeg Terrier at these shows he visited.

From reports, the coming Spring Shows in British Columbia will go over big. Victoria City Kennel Club has selected Mr. C. W. Thwaites of Medicine Hat, as judge of all breeds, and as it will be Mr. Thwaites' first visit to the Coast in this capacity, a large entry ought to greet him, as he comes well recommended and with a reputation as to properly place them.

A most enticing list of Specials will be put up for competition and Victoria is expecting a large measure of support from the Fanciers.

The Vancouver Kennel Club expect to close with a noted judge from across the line, who is very highly recommended by the kennel fraternity and press, and who is a stranger to these parts. This, with the usual good list of Specials always presented at this show, ought to ensure a large entry to greet this newcomer. Visitors are assured of the usual hospitable welcome from those in charge of the May 24th and 25th fixture.

The Royal City Kennel Club follows with their show on Monday, May 27th, and while theirs is the last of the Spring Circuit, they promise not to be behind in putting over one of the best shows of the season. They have not selected the judge at this date, but several good ones are in view for selection, and their Special Prize List receiving the necessary attention to make it one of the best.

Here is the opportunity for the Fanciers to take two shows over the holiday, with the possibility of announcing a fair number of championship points.

The final Parlor Show of the season, held by the Victoria City Kennel Club, proved to be the best of them. Mr. H. C. Burns, late of Edmonton, but a resident of British Columbia, was the adjudicator of the evening and was greeted with 93 entries. The hall was packed with spectators; the result: a nice large cash balance for this show.

The Nanaimo Kennel Club, though small in number, make up in enthusiasm. At the Annual Meeting the following were elected to guide the Association for the coming year; President, J. Eastman; 1st Vice-President, J. Cottle; 2nd Vice-President, Harold Kneen; Secretary, Treasurer, Miss L. A. Hickling.

Miss Hickling reports that things in the doggie game are very quiet at present, but withal we may expect to see Nanaimo bubbling over to put on their usual yearly show.

The Parlor Show held by the Nanaimo Kennel Club proved a very successful affair, the quality of the dogs being exceptionally good. The children's classes caused considerable excitement, competition being very keen. Mr. Willgress of Vancouver, who was judge, gave entire satisfaction, and expressed himself as pleased with the quality exhibited.

An interested Wire-Haired Fancier, in the person of Mr. Gerald Griffin of Los Angeles, Cal., was a visitor in Vancouver during March, being booked on the bill at the Strand Theatre. He took advantage to see what was doing in "Wires" in these parts. A short visit was paid to T. Milner's, Geo. Lydiatt's and to Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pardon's kennels, where, at each place, some very nice stock was coming along, and the kennel standbys were also in tip-top form. We predict strong competition at the coming shows.

As Mr. Griffin expects to be back at a later date, we hope he will be able to look over several other kennels of Wires, where we know he will be welcomed, and see some classy youngsters. Mr. Griffin's kennel house several imported Wires.

We were amply repaid with a visit to Mr. G. Tyson's kennels, to see the several young Wires that he has on hand from imported stock, and we are expecting to see him in the limelight at coming shows.

THE BUFFALO DOG SHOW

BROADWAY Auditorium was again the venue of this year's annual dog show of the Buffalo Kennel Club, when President Dana L. Spring and Secretary Wm. H. Schwinger had their efforts crowned with an entry of 800 dogs and being convenient to the Canadian boundary and having made Customs arrangements that appealed to the nearby Canadian fraternity, quite a number of our people exhibited at the show, whilst many more attended the fixture in the section referred to as "the general public." The show was under the supervision of the George F. Foley Dog Show organization and that together with the benching that had caused such favorable comment at the Westminster Kennel Club Show, and because many of the New York winners were entered, the whole gave the Buffalo fixture a most inviting atmosphere indeed.

Buffalo is to be congratulated on its Kennel Club and particularly so on the Club's officers. It is always a very definite pleasure to cross the imaginary boundary line and fraternize with the fanciers over there in that good American city. We realize that the boundary line is not literally imaginary, in fact we have personal experience of it being a very real, live boundary line, but that is because it denotes on the maps of the world, that the one side is the United States and the other is Canada, otherwise it is more imaginary than real in the minds of the citizens of both countries. To further emphasize the strength of the Canadian contingent, it was noticeable that in such breeds as Poms, Pekes, Shepherds, Springers, Setters and Schipperkes there were classes where there were as many Canadian as American dogs in competition, and very often the Canadian exhibitors came out with most of the prizes. Buffalo is one of the clubs that appreciate Canadian entries and cater to them by using the business pages of Kennel and Bench for publicity purposes, and by seeing to it that Kennel and Bench office has a supply of premium lists for those Canadian fanciers whose names may not be on the Buffalo mailing list and by the important and most desirable arrangements the club makes with the Customs authorities that makes everything so splendidly pleasing when the American border is reached, and other American clubs who desire Canadian entries should make note of this.

We did not notice any Canadian

Beagles present but did see Oscar Person, (Cainsville, Ont.) around, which led us to watch the little rabbits and was rewarded by seeing a couple in the novice class with the monickers Model Swampy Pal, and Model Swampy Bandit taking 1st and 2nd novice in the "not exceeding 15 inch" in the order named, with Pal taking reserve winners for added measure.

Cocker Spaniels gave 1st in open dogs Parti to Miss L. B. Le Vescontes, (Clarkson, Ont.) Stanley Cress and later reserve winners. Stanley Cress was flattered when the winners Parti-colored dog Hayes Donald was given the purple silk. These placings were responsible for further judging by those who claimed to know their Cockers later, and they gave Cress first call by a nice margin.

Springer Spaniels gave first ribbons for both the young classes and for both sexes to Roy Rymers, (St. Catharines) entries. Roy is a plugging fancier and will get to the top in time. Wm. Thompson, (St. Catharines) of the Tipperary prefix took 1st in the puppy class for Collies, and in this section a well furnished Collie owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schwingers (Secretary Buffalo Kennel Club), created a mild sensation by going right to the top and on to the best in the working class. Only later to spoil his chances for best in show by trying to tickle his ears with the end of his tail.

Shepherds was a thriller when Canadian dogs made their presence felt in fine style. In novice dogs Paul Steglich's, (Paul really belongs to Niagara Falls, N. Y., but the Canadian alsatianists claim him as a brother and so he's adopted), Ari V. D. Kracheninsel, Wm. Storey's, (Toronto), Billo o' Bergholtz and J. D. Strachan's, (Toronto) Coltness Flying Dutchman won the three prizes in this order. In Limit Dogs, D. H. Hodgson, Stamford Center, Ont. and President of Shepherd Dog Club of Canada, introduced his Roger o' Rhein and judge B. T. Fensterman, N.Y. seemed to catch Roger as he came in the ring and from then on it was all Dr. Hodgson's entry and so the winners ribbon in this strong American breed came to Canada. In the Bred by Exhibitor, Class 1st went to Roger o' Rhein and Coltness Flying Dutchman earned 1st and 2nd brackets. In the opposite sex division, Walter Lee, (Welland, Ont.) won 1st puppy bitches with his Wanda and in novice bitches Wm. Storey, (Toronto) won 1st with Gertsdale of Bergholtz. Another win for this female was 3rd limit. 3rd open went to Walter Lee's Lady v. Gretzel.

In Wire Fox Terrier's Frank Small, (Toronto) won 2nd Novice dogs with Corinthian Controller. Robert McAdam, (Toronto) won 3rd in a hot Limit class. The now famous Eden Aristocrat of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bondy, Golden's Bridge, N.Y., was of course top dog on the day for his breed.

Scottish Terriers woke us up when Mr. Frank Small, (Toronto) winning 3rd with Corinthian Commander, and they do say that Frank has had a warm place in his heart for Scotties for quite some considerable time now.

Pekes were plentiful for quantity and quality and had much the appearance of an international contest. In Limit (under 8 lbs.) Mrs. B. Foster's, (Mimico, Beach, Ont.) Lai Tu Hartlebury won the 1st ribbon and repeated in open, for same weight. In (8 lbs. and over) Mrs. G. Eastham, (Toronto) won 1st with her Chinky Chog of China. 2nd going to Mrs. B. Foster's Wong Li of Walmsley. The best work of all though was Albert Robert's (Humber Bay, Ont.) Shensi Sam Ko Dah's winning 1st in Limit dogs, (8 lbs. and over) and then on top of that win going on to take the winners prize as well. The Bitches were started off on the right foot when Geo. Hatcher's, (Toronto) Trinklet of Balcroft was the "blue." Novice bitches lent the color to the show so far when the three prizes were won by as many Canadian dogs. 1st to Geo Hatcher's Trinklet of Balcroft; 2nd to Mrs. M. Mitchell's Queso of Badminton and 3rd to Mrs. B. Foster's Kadio Shuchong. Open bitches, (under 8 lbs.) 1st to Queso of Badminton and in Limit (over 8 lbs.) 1st to Trinklet of Balcroft. In Open bitches (over 8 lbs.) Mrs. Denefer Morris, (Toronto) had a nice win when her Sum Wun of Rivercourt was placed 2nd in a nice class. The Partis gave 1st prize in Open bitches to Mrs. G. Eastham's Juni of China, Mrs. Mary G. Clarke's, (Buffalo and well known in Canada), old favorite Ch. T'San Pam of Balcroft.

Pom's were another feather in the Canadian cap and opened with the awarding of the 1st prize for Puppy dogs to Mrs. A. R. Kittermaster's, (Toronto) Scothy's Tullionaire. 2nd to Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Votz's Arndale, Lone Ace and 3rd, Mrs. W. Wylies', (Vineland, Ont.), Cairndhu Orange Topper. In the older Puppy class, Cairndhu Courtier had things his own way. Novice dogs, 1st to George Pott's (Vineland, Ont.), Cairndhu Brasso and 3rd to Tullionaire. Open dogs, (black), 1st to Mr. A. R. Kittermaster's Bambo Boy. Limit, (orange or sable), 1st to Mrs. Wylies' Cairndhu Gold Ray and 3rd to Mrs. E. Brownlies', (Toronto), Laudervale Redflame. Open dogs, (orange or sable), 1st to Mrs. W. Wylies' Cairndhu Sunbright; 2nd to R. G. Schlegel's Arndale Firelight. Open dogs, (under 5 lbs.) 1st to Mrs. A. R. Kittermaster's Flying Shellfire. 2nd Cairndhu Brasso. Winners was won by Cairndhu Sunbright and Reserve to Flying Shellfire, and for the sterner sex of Poms these were verily nice wins.

Puppy bitches was also a Canadian feature when Cairndhu Golden Gleam won 1st and Joseph Greenwood, (Beamsville, Ont.), Glenrose Chocolate Girl II. Open bitches, (black), was won by Mrs. H. O. Rourke's, (Hamilton, Ont.), Wentworth Nona. Winner bitches was a win that put the Cairndhu entries on top in the regular classes when Cairndhu Sunbright took the purple silk.

Bostons were an interesting entry with Mrs. M. Steven's, (Toronto) Jubilee's Little Pal winning 1st Novice (under 15 lbs.) and her Jubilee's Sis The Girl winning 1st in Novice American-bred, and Limit classes, (not exceeding 25 lbs.) and our old friend Mrs. L. B. Daley, of Detroit topping the lot with her Haggerty's Sensation II.

Tom McEwan, Toronto, won the first ribbon offered for Bulldogs with a nice youngster named Son o' Mike's Argo, and later won 2nd Limit, (under 45 lbs) with Son o' Mike.

Schipperkes were a nice entry and as at New York furnished a contender for the Non-Sporting Group when Coltness Little Skipper won over a nice bunch of "Little Black Devils." Mrs. E. Brown, Toronto won Reserve winners dogs, with her Roff o' The North and Winners bitches with Jess o' the North. Reserve with Jean o' the North. Coltness Little Skipper being awarded Best of Breed.

CLEM WOODS TO JUDGE BULLDOGS.

Mr. Clem Woods of Leeds, England, has accepted the invitation of the Bulldog Club of America to judge the "National Breed" at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City on April 13th. Mr. Woods will be accompanied by Mrs. Woods on the way over, and they come over especially to judge this Specialty Show, which will be, together with the specialty fixture of the French Bulldog Club of America, the last fixtures to be held on the sun roof of the Astoria where so many notable specialty shows have been held in the past. Mr. Anton A. Post, New York City will judge the "Frenchies."

The Waldorf-Astoria will be replaced by a mammoth office building in the very near future.

CANADIAN SEALYHAM WINS AT BERMUDA.

When the prizes were handed out at the 5th Annual Show of the Bermuda Kennel Club on March 12th there was one, a silver cup for the best visiting dog in show and for this trophy Miss M. D. Grant, of London, Ontario, brought her imported Sealyham Terrier, Maytime Michael, (Hollbourne Handy ex Hollbourne Bess), into the ring, and of course that's the whole story in a nut-shell. Michael not only won the visitors cup for the best owned by a visitor, but he won 1st prize for best imported male Sealyham.

Maytime Michael it will be remembered won 1st limit, 2nd open and reserve winners at Peterboro last year.

By A. HAMILTON, JR., Dennyloanhead, Stirlingshire, Scotland.

Mr. A. McNab Chassels, Coatbridge, has been making a further addition to his Kennel by the purchase of a young black and white Springer Dog, "Inveresk Clip", one of the greatest headed Springers that has been seen. He came out under Mr. Jas. Garrow at Coatbridge Show on Tuesday, and secured two firsts, and the Trebor Cup as reserve to best exhibit in show."

"Baillie McNab Chassels, brought out a new face at Coatbridge show in "Inveresk Clip"—a beautiful big sound black-and-white Springer, with a magnificent head. He put up a fine performance and won several first prizes and the cup for best gun dog in the show.

"We understand from Baillie, that Clip sails on the 8th of February, 1929, to a client in Ottawa, where there is no doubt he will make history."

There was a fine turn out at the 51st annual general meeting of the Scottish Kennel Club. Mr. Andrew McCulloch was in the chair. The account showing £3,063 to the credit of the club was unanimously passed.

The annual general meeting of the Scottish Fox Terrier Club was held on Feb. 28. Mr. Jas. Brown, the president, tendered his resignation which was accepted with genuine regret. Mr. D. B. Hirlong, the vice-chairman, was elevated.

Four good Pugs in King Carnival of Broadway, Nell Gwynne of Broadway, Blossom Time of Broadway and Coal Black Mammie of Broadway have left England for the "Land of the Almighty Dollar. Mrs. Power is the owner of the famous Broadway prefix.

The Waterloo Cup was won by Golden Surprise which has lived up to its name in beating Bassoon. Mr. A. Gordon Smith is the owner of Golden Surprise.

In Ireland coursing has had little interference from frosts throughout the winter although the bitter east winds have been unpleasant for the spectators.

The National Greyhound Racing Club is apparently not going to let off unscathed those greyhounds which have been running, are running, or will run on unlicensed tracks. The National Greyhound Racing Calendar now contains the official intimation that, "It is proposed to publish periodically the names of greyhounds known to have been entered to run at unlicensed meetings.

Our readers will no doubt be interested in the marriage of Miss Crabtree, the daughter of the one and only "Sam." Mr. Parkinson, the bridegroom, hails from Bolton, and is greatly interested in Sealyhams and racing greyhounds. The honeymoon was spent in the South of France.

Greyhound racing experts disagree emphatically with the statement made by Lord Lonsdale at a dinner given by the National Greyhound Racing Society of London, that a greyhound is not alert until he is in the slips after something alive, and that the real results could not be got from chasing an artificial hare.

Mr. Garland Wells states that Lord Lonsdale has admittedly never attended a track race, and he speaks from one kind of experience only. I can speak from knowledge of both coursing and track racing and disagree entirely with his statement. We have very great hopes that Lord Lonsdale will become a patron of track racing when he has seen the sport for himself. Mr. Garland Wells is managing director of Clapton racing track.

Captain Brice who will judge this year's Waterloo Cup race states, "Some dogs that are good behind the live hare are no good behind an electric one. On the other hand, other dogs will run faster behind an electric hare than when following a live one. It is the duty of the professional staffs on the track to see that only dogs which legitimately chase an electric hare and put every ounce into their running are entered on the programme thus assuring a fair run for backers. The race is therefore a true one and not a mere lottery.

DOG RACING ATTACKED.

The Earl of Sefton, the president of the National Coursing Club, made an attack on greyhound racing in a speech last night at the banquet which succeeded the draw for the Waterloo Cup. He said:—

"I feel that the present moment is the opportunity I ought to take to make a short statement to the coursing world of the position the National Coursing Club takes up with regard to greyhounds. I am particularly anxious to put right any misconception which may have arisen through a report which appeared in at least one paper of certain remarks made by Lord Lonsdale when he was quite informally asked to join an after dinner gathering of the National Greyhound Racing Society.

"Many people have drawn my attention to this report, in which Lord Lonsdale was represented as having given if not exactly an assurance, at any rate an impression that co-operation between the N.C.C. and the N.G.R.A. might be expected. When I saw Lord Lonsdale a few days ago and mentioned this matter to him, it took him as much by surprise as it had myself. In fairness to him, and, indeed, at his request, I will read you extracts from his letter to me. He writes:—

No Amalgamation.

"As regards co-operation, this must be entirely an invention on the part of whoever is responsible for the article, for I never said anything of the kind. No one is more convinced than I am that any amalgamation between track racing and coursing is as wide as the Atlantic and as full of waves.

I should feel most grateful if you would make any remarks that you like on what I am supposed to have said, for it is so far from my feeling that I am still more grateful to you for having drawn the article to my attention. The article unfairly reports what I said, leaving out the essential essence of my remarks and only quoting sentences with the introductions to them omitted, which gives a wrong impression.

"So much for that," continued Lord Sefton. "For myself, first and foremost, I may state that my primary objection to greyhound racing is based on what I feel sure will be the great deterioration of the breed of the greyhound. Coursing owners all over the country have selected the worst of their greyhounds, after proving them to be either too slow for coursing or rogues that would not try, and have disposed of them in large numbers to the track.

Worthy of Breed?

"Up to a few days ago the list of stud dogs had reached no less than 360 as bona-fide coursers, we have only to ask ourselves the question, if there are anything like this quantity of dogs in the country that are worthy to perpetuate their breed? I would ask you what would happen in the racing world if 'selling platers' formed the majority of animals bred from.

"The enormous number of dogs who would have gone to the track would have been destroyed had there been no track, and they would have been well out of the way. Let the lovers of greyhound racing go greyhound racing, but for co-operation of that and the genuine old sport of coursing I can see no hope.

"I throw no stones at any coursing owner selling dogs to the track, but, speaking for myself alone, I have never sold one for that purpose, and I do not feel I should be honest in my sincere opposition to the track if I did so."

Last year the Czecho-Slovakian Ministry of Social Care distributed 115 dogs to men blinded in the war.

Export pedigree certificates were issued during January 1929 for 112 dogs for the U.S.A.

The S.V. Show will be held at Berlin in April and many British Alsatian fanciers will endeavour to see their favourites judged on their native soil. The Show is held on a Saturday and Sunday.

A well known writer in a contemporary asks a question of interest to many in this country. "Do wolves have distemper?" A question that has not been satisfactorily answered and I wonder what Kennel and Bench readers say.

THE IMPORTING SEASON.

March has been a busy month with the importers, in fact, since Christmas time, many new canines have started housekeeping in Canada. This morning, we had the pleasure of looking over J. R. Kennedy's Wire Fox Terrier Watteau Review, which landed in Toronto last night at the zero hour. The newcomer had been entered for Toronto Kennel Club Show, but will not be benched there this time; not because he is not good enough to bench, far from that, as one day ere long he will earn his spurs in hot competition, but he is not just ready yet; he still has his sea legs, and being of a lively nature, and inquisitive as the dickens, he has thinned out in coat over the hips; otherwise, he is ready to take his place with the best of them. Later, he will enter the argument with gusto.

By Ch. Watteau Robeto, a son of Ch. Fountain Crusader, who is the sire of the great producer, Ch. Talavera Simon, and out of a daughter of Uksider, who is a son of Barrington Fearnought, this new importation will do lots for the betterment of the "Wire" breed in these parts.

Harry Wilson of "Diamond" fame, has been busy building up a Bird and Dog accessory business these past few years, but he has always been looking forward to the day when he would have time to import "a good one," and last Friday there arrived in Toronto the white and brindle pied Crewe So Favourite (C.K.C.S.B. 78534), who came as a Cruft's winner for his credentials, and to be a Cruft's winner is generally sufficient credential to stamp any dog as being worthy of a place in any good dog company, and that being so, we will await for further particulars of this new Canadian in our midst, and will hope to see him benched in competition on Good Friday.

WHAT WAS IT?—LUCK?

On February 27th armed bandits entered the premises of the Charcoal Supply Coy., of Montreal, and held up Earl Durham, beating him into insensibility, and after he had become unconscious coolly fired two shots into his prostrate body. C. Costar, the well-known dog show superintendent, who is so well known to all fanciers who patronize Montreal shows, apparently arrived in time to prevent the looting of the property and was fired at point blank, and according to The Montreal Daily Star of February 27th Mr. Costar is lucky to be alive today.

The bullet fired at the popular Montreal fancier went through his overcoat, suit coat, and halted in his vest pocket where it came in contact with Mr. Costar's watch, the back of the watch was badly bent, the works destroyed, but the face of the watch was left intact as was the wearer's body, and we are left to conjecture whether our thanks are due to a protective Providence, or merely to luck, but in any case we mourn the untimely death of Mr. Durham who gave four years of his life to the Royal Flying Corps only to meet death from the hands of bandits, yet we rejoice that Mr. Costar has been spared to us a while longer.

Notes From Alberta

By Provincial Contributing Editor, R. S. TYRRELL, Bottrel, Alta.

THE General Annual Meeting of the Alberta Kennel Club was held in the Public Library at Calgary on Feb. 26th. Mr. C. B. Clarke was re-elected President. Lt.-Col. David Ritchie (Chief of Police), and John E. Hunter, J.P., were made Hon. Presidents. This, in addition to E. D. Adams, M. R. Christie, and F. J. White. The club also have the honor of having their Excellencies Viscount Lord and the Viscountess Willingdon Hon. Patrons. The Vice-Presidents elected were Messrs. J. M. Hugill, K.C., E. Cheney and R. Thompson. Mr. Thompson served in the same capacity last year. Executive Committee: Dr. Wright, A. A. Jullian, Mrs. G. A. Swann, Geo. Westmoreland, G. Climo, T. R. Flint, D. Price and H. F. N. Greenhill.

It will be observed from the above that the Fanciers of Calgary have repudiated the charge of Mr. Marples that the Western dog Fanciers are not taking a serious interest in their own canine affairs. The Sec.-Treas., Mr. H. E. Raby, 10th Avenue West, is continuing to hold this important post. In a recent article, mention was made of Mr. Hunter's winning Whippet, "Edina Dictum," which he acquired a short time ago in Vancouver. This speedy rascal's name is "Jerry," and not "Hop" as previously stated, "Hop" being another of the kennel inmates. "Edina Dictum" had a very successful racing and show career at the Coast, and now only lacks two points to his Championship. He was Winners dog at Vancouver, New Westminster and Calgary, and was bred by W. A. Coull of Vancouver; sired by "Edino Nomad Dawn"; he by Ch. "Freeman Galloping Dominoes"; dam "Willesblend" (imp.); she by Ch. "Willesbeau" ex "Willesbelle."

What's the matter with Greyhound racing? faced us in big type in our February issue. To be quite correct the query should have read: What's the matter with some of the English Greyhound racing tracks? What was the matter with the various booms in real estate, oil shares, wheat futures and stock exchange gambles indulged in in Canada? There was nothing wrong either with the land, oil, or wheat, or even with the shares of dependable industrial concerns, neither is there anything wrong with Greyhound racing as a sport. The trouble in England was that the first track, started by some prominent English sportsmen, was so successful financially, that a great many persons of the get-rich-quick variety, saw what looked like an excellent opportunity to acquire a large amount of wealth with an infinitesimal amount of work. A number of these tracks did not pay from the start and their disillusioned shareholders are now tearing their hair. It is hardly necessary to point out that both Mr. Walter Reeves and the writer foresaw this. In the "Canadian Fancy" we were warned that if dog racing was going to follow the same lines in Canada as it was doing in England, we were better off without it, and as Manager of the Alberta Dog Racing Association, I pointed out that the sport in Alberta was being instituted as a SPORT and not as a betting machine. So far as can be ascertained at present, our organization seems to be the only one which is making a really serious effort along these lines. While on the racing topic, a novel event occurred at Cambridge University a short time ago, when the President of their Athletic Association tried out a match with a Whippet. Needless to say, the dog was the victor.

The Calgary to Banff Dog Derby had to be cancelled this year on account of the trails being in such poor condition. Dog-sleigh racing is increasing in popularity all over the North American Continent. A great many events with teams of almost every breed of pure and cross-bred dogs, have been held in different parts of Canada and the States this winter. Our old friend, "Dick" Zwicker, has sent me a photo of his own wonderful team in action. They are making the twelve-mile run from Bridgewater to Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, at an average speed of fifteen miles an hour. And what a team; in the lead is Ch. "Korol"; 2nd, Ch. "Marlboro's Nona of Shay"; 3rd, "Marlboro of Vaskie," by Int. Ch. "Gallaroff" ex Int. Ch. "Orloff."

An American reader writes regarding my proposal that we should have a Dominion law, making it compulsory for owners to confine their dogs to their own premises at night. "Of what use is a dog fastened up so that he cannot be a guard to his master's property?" Our reply is, of what use is a dog to his master or anyone else running all over the town or countryside after nightfall? We do not, of course, intend dogs to be chained up in such a manner that they cannot act as guards, that is one of the main considerations in my proposal.

National Dog Week. A year or two ago, a National Dog Week was inaugurated in England, quickly followed by France. This year, sponsored by our contemporary, "Dog World," of Chicago, the United States is following suit. The object of a National Dog Week is to enlighten the general public respecting well-bred dogs, both from a sentimental and monetary standpoint. To educate dog owners in the better care of their pets and their responsibility towards their fellow citizens for their dog's conduct in public. Such a movement would be of immense value in Canada, especially if sponsored by the C.K.C. and the S.P.C.A. It should go a long way to help eliminate dog-poisoning and shooting, assist in doing away with mongrels and absurd laws framed for the purpose of counteracting the gross carelessness and inhumanity of some dog owners.

A step of more than usual interest has been taken by the Russian Wolf-Hound Club of America in going on record that they will not support shows where professional judges or ex-professional handlers officiate as judges. Dr. De Mund, President of the American Kennel Club, is a keen Russian Wolf-Hound Fancier and has been President for the Russian Wolf-Hound Club also. This question of judges seems to be becoming more complicated as years go by, neither in the States or Canada do we seem to be making any effort to educate young material to take the place of the "Old Guard" when they are no longer active. In cattle, horses, sheep and pigs, the agricultural societies, calf clubs and breed organizations are holding competitions at the fairs, etc., where our girls and boys can judge in open competition and where they have the guidance of experts as instructors subsequently. Cannot some such system be devised to insure a supply of competent canine judges in the future?

The Editor of that remarkable book, "Wonders of Animal Life," in his "Foreword" writes: "A boundless curiosity about the infinite diversity of creatures that share the life of the globe with him is a deep and abiding and a most natural trait in man. It lies at the root of humanitarianism. Interest in animal life is never an idle curiosity, and it may prove more absorbing than any other interest that could be named." Lying on a rug before me are a Russian Wolf-Hound, a Greyhound, and a Boston. It requires little imagination to visualize that in a short space of time the Wolfhound could be changed into the Greyhound or vice versa, with a somewhat longer lapse of time and equal lengthening of the imagination, either or both might be turned into a Boston. When one reads that the "Ungulates" which are mammals equipped with hoofs, including such diverse creatures as the elephant, the horse, the sheep and the buffalo, through the varying conditions and ages of time have become so changed from one remote ancestor, how easy it is to comprehend the development of the present great variety of canine breeds from their one common ancestor, the wild dog.

Mr. J. A. McKinnel, who is an old neighbor of mine, but now of Duncan, B.C., wishes me to point out that his idea in drawing attention to the different methods whereby Champions gain their points, here and in the States, is the fact that the greater part of dogs sold in his vicinity go to the States, a large number of them are gun dogs, in which Mr. McKinnel is interested. Approximately thirty-four thousand dollars worth of dogs were shipped out from British Columbia to the States, Japan and England last year, and many purchasers query what dogs the Champion has defeated rather than accept the Championship at its face value. Mr. McKinnel points out that if the "Championship" were placed on the same plane on both sides of the line, the qualification would not be subject to any doubts.

BERE-REGIS-JUMMY COMING TO CANADA.

Pounds, shillings and pence count in English dogdom to-day as never before in the sea-girt little blot on the map known as Great Britain. An offer of $700 was cabled to J. Berry, the owner of the Manresa Kennels at Oldham, Lancs, for his sterling young bitch, Bere-Regis-Jummy, a full litter sister to the late Manresa Molly, and a bitch that has been placed Reserve twice to Ch. Dames Double.

One hundred and eighty pounds, f.o.b. Liverpool, take her or leave her, came back the reply, and so discretion having advantages over valor, in this particular matter, Reg. P. Sparkes of Toronto, promptly cabled the essential equivalent, and hopes to have Manresa Molly replaced in time for the Spring circuits.

We believe that the ropes are out in an effort to catch some young females that have been taking the eye of connoisseurs over there, and that are said to be exceptionally good.

HAMILTON AND DISTRICT BEAGLE CLUB.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Hamilton and District Beagle Club was held at the Wentworth Arms Hotel, Hamilton on February 15th.

The new officers include: President, E. Perrow; Vice-President, S. A. Gourley; Secy.-Treasurer, J. H. Schwendan; Executive, W. Griner, R. Armstrong and T. Dickenson.

In order to stimulate interest in beagles and beagling in the Hamilton district the Club will hold meetings monthly in future instead of quarterly meetings as heretofore.

It was decided to hold the Spring Derby Trials at Freeleton, Ont., on April 28th, when large entries will be anticipated, as there are a growing number of Derbies being held around the Province of Ontario.

NEW CHAMPIONS.

"RAP'S DAISY CASH" (listed) Pointer. Bred by E. M. Minnehan, Snoqualmie Falls, Wash. Now owned by Paul Henry, Seattle, Wash. Sire, Raps Grouse. Dam, Washington Daisy. 1st open, winners, Victoria City Kennel Club, 1927, 2 points; 1st open, winners, Victoria City Kennel Club, 1928, 2 points; 1st open, winners, Vancouver Kennel Club, 1928, 4 points; 1st open, winners, Royal City Kennel Club, 1928, 3 points.

This dog is brim full of terrier type and character, and is bound to make himself felt. Registered as "Humberville Cracker," he is sired by the "Bridegroom of Paignton" ex "Humberville Betty," and presents bloodlines which should prove a valuable outcross to most of the local bitches.

When John Fry, Jr. returned from the Boston show he came accompanied by two Irish terriers, both being, we understand from the kennels of William Livesey at Madison, N.J., who judged here several years ago. One of these is a most likely looking show prospect, excelling especially in head properties, and the other is a valuable addition to the nursery at the Acadia Kennels. Both are timely arrivals, as Mr. Fry had the misfortune to lose a young dog only a few days ago, death being caused by an internal hemorrhage. He was one of a pair shipped down from Toronto last fall, and was to have been shortly placed at public stud.

This week-end two of the "old timers" in the persons of "Witty" Warren and Robert Lasky were in Halifax, the former on business bent, although he managed to visit several of the kennels, and secured some entries for the Ladies' Kennel Club show in Montreal, and the latter playing in the badminton tournament in which he did exceedingly well.

Mrs. B. M. Forest, whose Saint John Boston Terrier Kennels have been steadily making such a name for themselves has recently brought from the States a young dog of the popular Hagerty King strain, his sire being Droll and Rosenbloom's "Champion Hagerty King Jr.'s Son." Mrs. Frost has been so markedly successful with her homebreds that the progeny of the latest stud will be watched for with the keenest interest.

W. T. Miller was another interested spectator at the Boston show who returned home accompanied by a new purchase—a very fine collie dog, which had been extensively cam-

John Reid's "Champion Reid's Dandy Boy" struck his nose, and although apparently not badly hurt, died within a very short time. This is a grievous loss, as "Dandy Boy" was a young dog, just three years old. He was a big winner in the hottest competition, and had already sired much stock above the average. The constant pet and companion of his owner, he will be greatly mourned. Mr. Reid is too ardent an admirer of the alert little "Boston" to be long without one, and already negotiations are under way for another dog, which it is safe to predict will be a real one; he will have nothing but the best.

Spring is well on the way, and bringing with it a renewal of interest which somehow wanes a bit during the winter months. Kennels are being overhauled and renovated, and hopes are running high of something good in the way of spring puppies.

There are whispers and rumours of several new dogs, mostly in the sporting group coming to Nova Scotia, two at least being well known English dogs, of which there will be more anon.

PRINCESS FOR THE YEAR.

Some folks are born to become famous and pretty little Betty Gray, of St. John, N.B., is one of such. The children of St. John gathered in the Arena there on Saturday, March 23rd, and from the number was selected Betty Gray to be Princess of Saint John for 1929.

To mark the occasion, Miss Betty was presented with a wrist watch and bouquet, as fitting tributes of her high honor. And we imagine that her preferment would have gladdened the heart of her father, W. George Gray of "Doolan" Irish Terrier fame, if he had been spared to have seen his child so honored. In his place, however, those of us who are left behind for the present, rejoice in his stead, and extended to Miss Betty Gray and her mother our hearty congratulations and hope that the Princess of 1929

POPULAR SCOTTISH FANCIER DEAD.

Fanciers who have attended the shows of the Scottish Kennel Club will remember the genial hustling show manager "Willie" Shannon of Glasgow. That Mr. Shannon died suddenly is apparent when we recall that he judged the show held at Bellahill in conjunction with James Garrow on March 8th and now we have the news that he died on March 10th.

Mr. Shannon followed the other "Willie" of beloved memory, "Willie" Ballantyne, as show manager of the Scottish Kennel Club and two better liked men never lived in the hearts of Scottish fanciers. Mr. Shannon acted as show manager one year for Charles Crupp's great show, and was also show manager for the first show run in Glasgow by the Scottish Joint Terrier Association.

As a judge his services were in demand for Shetland Sheep Dogs and Bull Terriers, the latter breed being his specialty and at the time of his death he had received and had accepted judging appointments at Kilmirk and Gurnifles shows.

A soldier too and served in the Great War, and was in France most of the time that the "big argument" was on, a keen cricketer, and in fact an all round good sport, and his passing leaves the dog fancy of Great Britain much the poorer.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

Brantford, March 10, 1929.

Editor Kennel & Beach.

Dear Sir: In the February copy of Kennel & Beach I noticed a letter from F. E. Upton regarding color and head of the Wolfhound.

Kindly allow the undersigned space in your most interesting paper to reply to F. E. Upton's remarks.

As regards color, F. E. Upton says white must predominate.

The Standard of Perfection says, "any color" white usually predominating, more or less marked with lemon, tan, brindle, gray or black. While colored specimens of these tints occasionally appear. Solid black or black marked with tan should be considered a disqualification.

Now let us see what the standard says regarding the head—"skull slightly domed, long and narrow with scarcely any perceptible stop, rather inclined to be Roman nosed; jaws long, powerful and deep; teeth strong clear and even, neither pig-jawed or undershot; nose, large and black."

If the writer knows his Wolfhound and he should, having had twenty-seven years in Europe and also having never missed a show of any account in Canada since the present regime gained control in Russia, allow me to say that the large full-faced Wolfhound is not any more to be considered by a judge than the dog with a slightly dished nose, is fact the dished nose dog has the advantage both from a beauty standpoint, and for even jaws.

Some of the full-faced dogs being shown at the present time are over shot as much as 1 to 1 1/4 inches which interferes with the famous strike of the Wolfhound in the kill.

Regarding the judges, allow me to state that the judges in Canada and in fact every other country with very few exceptions are fair, honest, and judge the dog as they see him, not on past record or the quiet word passed along.

The writer had the pleasure two years ago of seeing a Wolfhound bitch that was got, bred and very much till a great well-bred bitch, north of Coburn, in fact that fourteen minutes. This bitch was dashed a little in her past, but was not great because she showed the Wolfhound instinct, a very early action from the start and close to the kill.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

Very truly yours,

(Signed) OLD PETER SAGANET.

PEKIN PALACE DOG ASSOCIATION SPECIALTY.

IT was a real pleasure to attend the "Fourth Annual" of the Pekin Palace Dog Association. Nicely benched in their decorated cages were the sixty odd specimens, out to get a share of the many splendid special prizes that an energetic committee had secured for the occasion, and that were most tastefully displayed on a long table at one end of the judging ring. Well over 100 pieces, and each piece a desirable prize. The ring was in charge of Len Morris, the secretary of Toronto Kennel Club and his task seemed to be much of a pleasure with him, as he showed great interest in the judging, lost no time in getting his dogs to the ring and the awards appeared on the black board with dispatch.

The judge, Mrs. A. V. Ocorr of Pittsford, N.Y., was quite at home in the judges role and appraised the merits and demerits faultlessly and quickly. Only once did she appear to be concerned unduly, and that was when Trynklyt of Balcroft and Sum Wun of Rivercourt came together for winners bitches, here Mrs. Ocorr gave her very best to separate the small margin that was dividing these two nice females. Mr. Hatcher never let up in his efforts to show Trynklyt, while Mrs. Morris was content to let Sum Wun win for herself, and in the writer's judgment the arrangement favoured Trynklyt, in any case the awards will show that they were placed that way.

At this fixture last year, it will be remembered that the Chuchow Kennels, at Braddock, Pa., exhibited an exceptionally fine specimen in King Pippin of Graystones, that had just come over from England. Well the same King Pippin was present this year and duplicated his 1928 victory, taking the strongest competition from Mrs. B. Foster's imported Pun Chu. The quality of both seemed to be about the same and perhaps it was the smoothness of King Pippin's gait that scored in his favor, in any case they both looked might good to the writer. The win gave King Pippin of Graystones one half of his championship points and Mrs. C. Hager will no doubt be back in Canada again in the near future in quest of the other points. It is well to remember that King Pippin of Graystones was one of the contenders for best dog in show at Madison Square last month, which circumstance in itself speaks volumes for his great quality.

To president Dr. C. C. Clemmer and his band of officers and members is due great credit for a nice quiet, clean show that had an atmosphere of sportsmanship and free from any noticeable acrimony.

The health of the show was in the capable hands of the Club's Honorary Veterinarian, Dr. J. A. Campbell.

A Night with the Old Guard of the Kennel World

"20 Years in The Service."

The ninth Annual Dinner and Meeting of The Old Guard of the Kennel World were held at the Hotel Times Square, New York City, on February 10th, 1929, the day before the opening of the Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show. This date fell on a Sunday, which fact, however, did not affect in any way the attendance, but proved to be a happy plan of the committee, as dog show activities, such as other club dinners, and meetings, as regularly occur while the dog show is in progress, did not thus conflict, there being a record attendance of about sixty members and guests present.

At the dinner Mr. C. G. Hopton officiated as toastmaster, and an excellent toastmaster he proved to be, keeping, as he did, the assemblage on the qui vive, and one speaker after another on their feet with reminiscent tale of some kind, or with a good story. So, with a stringed orchestra; a fine soloist, in Mr. Nolan, a popular Metropolitan tenor; an excellent flashlight made by the Century Co., in which each face was a portrait, and the bonhomie and friendly feeling that is always a component part of these Old Guard gatherings, the affair passed off gaily and all too quickly.

At the opening of the meeting Mr. Norman Fensterer arose and in well chosen words, presented to the President, Mr. Wilmerding, a handsome silver mounted gavel, suitably engraved, from the members of the Association. Mr. Wilmerding in response expressed his hearty thanks for the token, and his keen appreciation of the kind thought of his fellow members.

During the meeting the Treasurer's report showed a handsome balance in bank, and the Secretary reported "all's well", and with thirty new names coming up for election.

The executive board's action in offering five of the Association's Silver-Plaque Medals, value $13.00 each, at the W.K.C. Show 1929, was endorsed, and the breeds selected for this the first year's allotment, were Collies, Fox Terriers, Cockers, Airedales, and Irish Terriers. Also, each year hereafter five of these medals will be offered for competition at the W.K.C., show covering five different breeds, until all the various recognized breeds are provided for.

Mrs. James Watson sat at the President's right as guest of honor, and many pleasing references were made to her, and to her late husband, the well known author, judge and dog expert.

At the President's table were: Mr. Wilmerding, Mrs. Watson, Mr. Geo. S. West, Honorary President, Mr. M. M. Palmer, Vice-president; Mr. Herman Fensterer, Treasurer; Mr. Wilbur N. Purcell, Secretary and Mr. Chas. G. Hopton, toastmaster.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, A. Clinton Wilmerding; Honorary President, Hon. Townsend Scudder; Vice-President, M. Mobray Palmer; Treasurer, Herman Fensterer; Secretary, Wilbur N. Purcell; J. D. Strachan, Canadian representative.

The object of the Old Guard of the Kennel World is to bring together in its membership, the names of those who have, and who do, reflect credit on the dog world, and who in turn shall consider it an honor to belong to this Association—"The Old Guard", to hold an annual reunion or dinner, and to offer a suitable cup or prize annually at the Westminster Kennel Club show in New York, same to be known as the "Old Guard Trophy."

Its membership consists of breeders or exhibitors of pure bred dogs, or judges of same, or members of any regular Kennel Club, or writers on any dog papers, whose service in these lines has extended for a period of twenty years or more, or those who may subsequently attain that period of service.

The dues are $3.00 for the first year, and $1.00 for each subsequent year. Life membership may be obtained by the payment of $10.00.

J. D. Strachan, J.P., Toronto, is the Canadian representative of the Old Guard of The Kennel World, and anyone desirous of becoming a member should communicate with him direct.

No, sir, this is not the "bald headed row," although all are veterans of the good old dog game. The picture shows the members and friends of the Old Guard of the Kennel World, resting and refreshing themselves on the eve of New York show. "20 years in the service" is the passport to membership, but, bless you, some of these old-timers like President Clinton Wilmerding, Freeman Lloyd, Tommy Grisdale, and the guest of honor, Mrs. James Watson, and old Billy Livesey were in the game before most of us were born. See if you can pick out Bob Mills and Allan Chisholm of Montreal, they are there, too. Charlie Davies, Alf. Mitchell and Charlie Hopton. Mowbray Palmer, Wilbur Purcell, look them all over.

THE ROSS-MILLER DOG FOODS

This is the testimony that reaches the ROSS-MILLER offices in every delivery of mail, and it is gratifying to notice that such testimonials come from every province in the Dominion, as well as from several cities in the United States.

ROSS-MILLER DOG FOODS—ARE GOOD FOODS

The Dogs themselves have so declared, and their owners have so advised us. And when better Dog Foods can be made, Ross-Miller will make them.

"THE FIVE VARIETIES"

R-M DOG BISCUIT—THE STANDARD DOG FOOD

is a product fairly high in protein, containing meat cracklings, cod liver oil and all the other ingredients, in exactly the right proportions to make a balanced ration. Feed dry.

R-M SQUARE PUPPY MILK-AND-BONE BISCUIT IS THE IDEAL FOOD

for young growing dogs, containing an increased percentage of powdered whole milk and ground bone. This food is literally full of vitamins and bone-building elements and insures strong muscles and big bones. Feed dry.

R-M KIBBLED DOG FOOD IS EXACTLY THE SAME as our large Dog Biscuit, only ground up into small pieces for convenience. To it is added just the right proportion of our Charcoal Biscuits (ground up) to aid digestion and to help eliminate worms. It is being fed by owners of large dogs—toy dogs—and to pups after teeth have come.

R-M PUPPY MEAL IS THE SAME AS KIBBLO, ONLY—

ground finer and is more suitable for feeding with milk, especially to young pups just after weaning.

R-M CHARCOAL BISCUIT IS STRONGLY RECOMMENDED

for keeping dogs in good healthy condition and to help eliminate worms. They should be fed once or twice a week instead of the regular Dog Biscuit.

The Capacity of our Factory is 20,000 lbs.

Samples and prices and any other information sent on request.
