WEANING & REARING PUPPIES

EQUALLY SUITABLE FOR KITTENS & SILVER FOX CUBS

PUPPIES have small stomachs, and the milk of a bitch is therefore a concentrated food, being more than twice as strong as cow's milk. LACTOL closely resembles the puppies' natural food, which is why they do so well on it. Puppies reared on LACTOL thrive remarkably, and do not suffer from indigestion, vomiting, diarrhoea, rickets, etc., as when given cow's milk or other foods.

LACTOL is already used by many breeders in Canada and the U.S.A., whilst in the British Isles no kennel of any importance is ever without it. PUPPIES LOVE LACTOL.

Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club, Incorporated

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club, Incorporated, was held at the offices of the Club, 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, on Thursday evening, May 16th, 1929, at 8 o'clock.

The President Lt. Col. G. F. McFarland presided. Directors in attendance were: Brig. Gen. C. M. Nelles, Major Ward Wright, Col. J. N. MacRae, Capt. H. Dudley Waters, Reg. P. Sparkes, W. H. Reeves, J. W. Bruce and V. G. Perry.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting of the Board of Directors, and on motion regularly moved, seconded and carried, the minutes were declared "Adopted as read."

The secretary reported that the Offices had been decorated since the previous meeting.

The secretary reported that he had received from D. G. MacPherson over 100 books on dog subjects, the same being donated with a view to their forming the nucleus of a Kennel reference library for the use of the Canadian Kennel Club and its members, and with a proviso, "That, should the donor wish to refer to any of the matter donated he would have the right to borrow such book or material."

The books and material having been catalogued by the secretary, they were on view for the inspection of the Directors.

It was regularly moved, seconded and carried: "That the gift be accepted by the Club with acknowledgment to the donor. That suitable accommodation be secured for their preservation, and that any copies found badly worn, be sent to the book-binders for necessary repairs."

A letter and a newspaper clipping sent to the President by George Kynoch our Manitoba Director was read, and it was regularly moved, seconded and carried;

"That, they be placed on file."

A letter was read from Sam Jackson, Winnipeg, re the non-appearance in Kennel and Bench of the personnel of the Provincial Committees, and it was regularly moved, seconded and carried:

"That the letter be placed on file."

A letter was read from the secretary of Manitoba Kennel Club, Ltd., which requested certain information to be furnished, and it was decided to advise, that the information had already been sent.

The cropping question was again discussed and it was agreed to keep the matter in mind with a view to having the matter brought before the Club at the Annual Meeting.

HAS CROSSED "THE GREAT DIVIDE."

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. J. H. Axon, of Victoria, B.C., who has been a member of the Canadian Kennel Club since 1923. The late Mr. Axon was a lover of the Bulldog as became one associated with the British navy, and after a long illness extending to 16 months he passed away on March 19th, and was laid to rest with full Naval Honors in recognition of his service record in the Great War whilst attached to the British Royal Navy.

Our sympathies go out to our late comrade's widow and relatives at this time.

JUDGES FOR THE CANADIAN NATIONAL.

The Canadian National Exhibition is forever on the alert to keep all matters pertaining to the "World's Greatest Annual Fair" right up to the minute, and in this respect the Annual Dog Show is always in alignment. The dog show building is the one thing that has not been definitely decided upon yet, the show may, or may not be held in the old building, at the moment no one can tell. The management are studying the problem and seeking a solution for it, let us hope they find it. We know and realize that the Exhibition management really want a new dog show building themselves, it is only a matter of location, time and money at the moment.

As usual the best judging talent available has been chosen for this year's show, and we are advised that the following judges have accepted their invitations and allocations of breeds.

To our Canadian Kennel Club director Walter H. Reeves, Belleville, has been given the largest allotment, and his breeds include Airedale Terriers, Old English Sheep Dogs, English Bulldogs, Bull Terriers, Fox Terriers, Sealyham Terriers, Irish Terriers, Cairn Terriers, White West Highland Terriers, Bedlington Terriers, Kerry Blue Terriers, Pomeranians, Toy Poodles, Yorkshire Terriers, Toy Terriers, Pugs, Pekingese, Maltese, Chows.

Dr. Tom Buck, of Rochester, N.Y., will judge Pointers, English Setters, Irish Setters, Dalmatians, Beagles, Collies, Doberman Pinschers, Manchester Terriers, Greyhounds, Whippets, Newfoundlands, Schipperkes, Schnauzers, French Bulldogs, Welsh Terriers, Russian Wolfhounds and American Foxhounds.

Dr. Buck is well known in Canada, and his judging at important shows held in the United States has always been well received by the fanciers there.

Dr. H. B. Kobber, of Philadelphia, Pa., takes the larger breeds and Sporting Spaniels including: Mastiffs, St. Bernards, Bloodhounds, Great Danes, Irish Wolfhounds, Retrievers, Field Spaniels, Springer Spaniels, Cocker Spaniels, Irish Water Spaniels, Cocker Spaniels, Chesapeake Bay dogs and miscellaneous class. And being a sporting spaniel specialist the spaniel family will be well served by Dr. Kobber.

The popular "Tom" Hunter of Boston, Mass., has been given the Boston Terrier entry and we will not be surprised to find the Bostons on top in respect to entries this year.

German Shepherd dogs will be taken care of by Al Lederhos, of Boston, Mass. This breed has enjoyed many specialist judges, in this respect the Shepherd has stood alone for the last ten years, during which time the most notable specialist judges have come to Toronto year after year. In Al Lederhos comes a man who knows the breed from A to Z and judges accordingly. There is a real treat in store for the police dog fanciers at this year's Exhibition dog show.

We have not been advised concerning the allotment of judging Best In Show, but feel reasonably sure that this distinction will be equally shared by Mr. Reeves, Drs. Buck and Kobler, three men well qualified to bring the show to a dignified and satisfactory conclusion.

THE PROFESSIONAL HANDLER.

It is obvious that all is not well with the profession of handling Dogs. Rumors have been flying (particularly in the United States, although there have been very definite echoes in Canada) that the conduct of certain well-known handlers had become definitely prejudicial to the game in general, and "Popular Dogs" in its issue of the 26th May, 1929, came out in the open with a strong editorial. In view of the fact that "Popular Dogs" is owned and published by the George F. Foley Dog Show Organization, which manages most of the big shows in the United States, this editorial must be regarded as significant.

Here are certain extracts from the editorial which will indicate its purport:—

"The handlers are getting out of hand. They are drinking, fighting, evading the rules and altogether comporting themselves so disgracefully as to merit severe criticism for themselves and their association. . . . The professional handler who should, by virtue of his experience, stand for the dignified and finished expert of the sport, has disintegrated into a rather unmanageable and certainly an unpleasant factor of the dog game,—a bad actor whom clubs in many instances fear to penalize. Drink is to a great extent responsible for the misdemeanors of the handlers. . . . And between the acts, as a sort of pastime, they boo and hiss their opponents in the ring; they continually talk of "fixing", . . . They abuse judges and refuse to accept ribbons, and when confronted with their violations, their anger and profanity are things to wonder at."

The above presents a pretty damning statement of affairs and yet I venture to say that most of us have seen something of what the editor describes. One of our best known all-round judges told me a few days ago of a handler bringing a large dog into the ring where he was judging, which was known to the handler to be particularly vicious and which had attacked a judge the previous week at another show. The handler who was not quite himself, not only did not warn the judge of the dog's tendencies, but actually permitted the dog to make an attack on the judge which came very close to having serious consequences.

Fortunately conditions are not so bad in Canada, but there is every indication that they may become so unless we "sit up and take notice." We know that at a recent show in Toronto there was ample evidence of the beginning of the conditions mentioned above. It is significant that we have very little trouble at Canadian shows with handlers from the United States, and this may not be entirely unconnected with the fact that one of the best known American handlers was disqualified for a year by the Canadian Kennel Club for smuggling dogs out of a show here in Toronto, and as this caused his automatic disqualification in the United States, the lesson had a salutary effect.

The American Kennel Club is taking official notice of conditions in the United States and, no doubt, some drastic action will be taken soon. One suggestion is that all professional handlers be licensed by the American Kennel Club and the license withdrawn for any infraction of the rules or other misconduct. Certainly the Canadian Kennel Club will never tolerate the development of the conditions described above, and when it does strike it will strike hard.

The whole problem is up to the handlers themselves. It seems inconceivable that a man whose livelihood, largely or entirely depends on this work, should deliberately so misconduct himself or neglect his duties as to deprive himself of the opportunity of making that livelihood. Apart altogether from the ethics of the matter, it looks to me like deliberately throwing away his bread and butter. At the same time it cannot be denied that a certain laxity on the part of show officials and a tendency to pander to the professional who can give the show a big entry has something to do with the situation. This much is certain, that nothing will kill the dog-show game more rapidly than conditions such as those described above in the editorial from which I have quoted.

THE CANADIAN FANCY

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ontario.

I AM glad to see that my pages are becoming more and more a meeting place for fanciers all over the Dominion. Since the last issue of Kennel and Bench, I have had several letters asking my opinion as to the value of potatoes as a diet as advocated by my friend and confrere, Freeman Lloyd. Personally, I have never fed potatoes in my kennel and I know that some owners of dogs are of opinion that there is very little food value when potatoes are used as the staple diet. Going back over my experience with dogs, I can recall reading an article from Albert Payson Terhune in which this well known authority gave it as his opinion, that potatoes had little food value if fed to dogs. Will any of my readers who have tried potatoes kindly give me their experience as evidently Freeman Lloyd has touched on a very debatable point.

* * *

A friend on the Pacific Coast writes me that my remarks in regard to making our shows more interesting to the general public are beginning to bear fruit. At the last show of the Coast City Kennel Club the officials did everything in their power to enlighten the neophyte as to what the judge was doing in the ring. At their most successful and ably run show they rigidly enforced the wearing of numbers in the ring by the handlers of the exhibit and also had first, second and third prize stations marked off on one wall of the ring so it was possible to follow the placings of the judge and also to mark up one's catalogue as the awards were made. This was certainly a move in the right direction and I am firmly of opinion that if we only will try to make our shows more interesting, that before long shows will be able to offer more substantial prize money, the added expenses being taken care of by the increased gate. One of the best moves that I have seen on my travels to get the outside public interested in the dog show occurred at a show across the border. Three prizes were offered for the best poster designed by the students attending the art school. Some forty or fifty attractively drawn posters were sent in. These posters were prominently displayed in some of the store windows. I was told that the idea was a big winner, for the show obtained a great deal of publicity and the gate was just double what it had been the previous year.

I may be an optimist but I have always held the opinion that we can easily double the interest that is being taken in the breeding and showing of dogs. This year I have noticed with interest, that clubs are beginning to talk shows much earlier than in former years. To my way of thinking, it is only courting a dismal failure to expect to run a successful dog show with only a month or six weeks' preliminary preparations. The shows that are successful talk show months before the date it is to be held. New York Show, which is to be held next February, is already getting their judges list complete. I know this, for it is over a month ago that I was invited to judge. The great drawback we have here is the vast distances between shows and the expense entailed. This is almost as big an obstacle as "Beecher's Brook" in the Grand National Steeple Chase and the only way I can see to ease the situation is by making our shows interesting enough to draw a gate: an increased gate means increased prize money, and increased prize money means a big increase in entry, and then the Railways and Express Co.'s might see that it was to their advantage to give the same treatment to exhibitors and dogs that is at present extended to exhibitors of live stock other than dogs.

The breeders and exhibitors of dogs that are usually shown cropped are in rather a serious quandary here in Canada as to whether to crop or not. From the present "writings on the wall," it undoubtedly looks as if, within the next few years, that a cropped dog will be a novelty at shows, held in the U.S.A. This will mean that a Canadian cropped dog will not be able to compete across the border. There is no gainsaying the fact that better prices at the present time can be obtained in the U.S.A. than in Canada, therefore if breeders continue to crop, they are closing the gate of their best market. It is going to take us some time to get used to an uncropped

Boston or Bull Terrier, but the Canadian breeder who has decided that he is going to breed a neat, well placed and carried ear on his Boston or Bull Terrier will be studying his pocket-book. The cropping law as passed recently in New York State reads as follows: "Whoever clips or cuts or causes or procures another to clip or cut off the whole or any part of an ear of any dog, other than when necessary for

DIGNITY AND IMPUDENCE—UP-TO-DATE

Sad news has arrived from Worcester, Mass., from the kennel started by the late Homer Gage, and now carried on by his father and mother, with "Joe" Booth in charge. International Champion Barrington Bridegroom is dead. There will always be differences of opinion as to his size,—but that he was one of the most prepotent sires will be endorsed by anyone taking an interest in wire fox terriers. We have had many pillars of the stud book in the past such as Champion Short Circuit, to mention one of the outstanding sires. But it is a moot question whether any breed has had a more successful sire than Champion Bridegroom. His ability to sire sons who themselves proved remarkable sires entitles him to the opinion so often expressed, that, he was the greatest proved prepotent sire to great grandsire in England or America. Bridegroom had certainly a great influence for good and his name will be kept famous through his progeny like other great sires of other breeds, such as the Bulldog, Rodney Stone, and the Pekinges Champion, Chu-erb of Alderbourn. Bridegroom's last show was at the Specialty show of the Chicago Fox Terrier Club, when at the age of eight and a half years he skipped across the ring with "Joe" Booth like a puppy.

* * *

I am pleased to hear from a correspondent in whom I can place the utmost confidence, that wire fox terriers on the Pacific Coast are particularly good this year and that among the youngsters are several of championship class. George Lydiatt continues to head the strongest class with terriers from his kennel. Redcliffe Swell has rather an unique record. The other day he was best wire at Seattle Show. This is the fourth time Swell has been best wire dog at Seattle—and yet, some breeders say that a wire is past his prime when he passes his second year. I have heard different opinions expressed of the imported terrier Beckside Bonus, evidently by his prefix of Breckside, bred by W. J. Winder, one of the most successful breeders in the North of England. Evidently Bonus is at times an indifferent showman and a terrier who refuses to show, beats himself.

have been hoping to get out to the Coast to see Bonus and a youngster, Barrokar Reflex, exhibited by G. Tyson, who gained reserve winners at the Coast City Show. Reflex is a puppy who from all accounts looks like making the best step lively to get in front.

A particularly strong section at the Coast City Show was the entry of English Setters, the quality all through being exceptional—I hear glowing accounts of the youngsters, J. A. McKinnell of Duncan, Vancouver Island, has been particularly fortunate with his spring litters and he has several litters of which this successful breeder is quite proud.

I have received a photograph of J. B. Love's bulldog Kingsway Commander and judging by the photograph, Commander is some bulldog. Good length and width of skull, neat well placed eyes, the shovel underjaw and his depth and width of face; then his neck is placed into his shoulders: his depth of brisket, spring of rib and turn of forearm. I understand that so far Commander's owner has not been induced to exhibit. It is to be hoped that he will, for if Commander is as good as he looks, he can hardly fail to make a sensation in the show ring.

During one of my recent trips across the border, the remark was made by quite a prominent exhibitor that he had heard we had a number of mediocre champions in Canada—I flatly contradicted my friend and we had quite a discussion on Canadian shows. Evidently by the discussion which became general, amongst the rather important number of exhibitors who were present, the opinion apparently across the border is that a Canadian championship is very easily won. I invited my friends to come across this summer and to bring one of the popular varieties and I assured them that their dogs would get plenty of competition and they would see for themselves that by far the larger proportion of our Canadian Champions are fully entitled to this coveted honor. It has always been my contention that in any of the popular breeds one has to have a really good dog to obtain points to be able to place the title of champion in front of the dog's name—but, some judges are inclined to be lenient in not withholding points in breeds that have waned in popularity, a great mistake, for fashions in dogs change almost as quickly as ladies' attire. Therefore, for the good of the Fancy, I hope judges this year will bear in mind the instructions they will receive from the Canadian Kennel Club to withhold points if the exhibit is not worthy of being a Canadian Champion.

As I am writing these pages for the June issue of Kennel and Bench, the Field Trials of the Nanaimo Pointer and Setter Club are being held. I understand that a capital entry has been obtained and therefore some really excellent trials should result. It is a good many years since I was present at a Field Trial but I often used to report them in England prior to the war and I had hopes, earlier in the year, to be able to spare the time to see the Nanaimo Trials, therefore, I was very glad to avail myself of the offer of a Vancouver friend to send me a short resume. May I once again ask my many friends to remember that news, to be in the current issue must reach me not later than the twentieth of the month.

My old friend, the late Dean of the fancy, Harry Hungerford, never missed a chance of gaining a recruit. Of the many he induced to seriously take up the breeding of dogs, one is Miss Driscoll of Belleville, who has bred several really nice cockers. The other day I had the pleasure of inspecting her kennel and amongst the team was a young dog by the late "Andy" Armstrong's Ottawa-Tartan that looks like making a name for himself and his fair owner. He owns the beautifully chiselled head for which the "Andy" Armstrong strain are famous, is good in outline and scores heavily where so many of our present dogs are deficient, namely in placement of shoulders. Miss Driscoll's first cocker was the black dog whose photograph appears in this issue, with a very precocious puppy. "Brandy" is a descendant of the late Lance Farwell's strain, and was acquired by the late H. B. Hungerford when he had intentions of again breeding the "merry little cocker."

I have received quite a budget of news from Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy of the Vivadora Kennels, Kingston Road, Toronto. Evidently these two enthusiastic fanciers means to have a real kennel of Wires. The show dog of the kennel will be Watteau Review, one of my old friends across the pond—Calvert Butler's breeding. Watteau Review should be a real acquisition not only to the Vivadora Kennels but also to breeders, as he has the best blood lines obtainable, and he has won 1st prizes under the following experts, Messrs. R. T. Barnes, J. H. Wright, W. J. Winder, J. W. Marples, Col. O. Swaffield, W. J. Nichols, Rev. Dr. Bruce, A. Cooper, H. E. Greenbough, S. Warburton, H. Calvert, Losco Bradley, Rogers Thomas, Holland Buckley, Theo. Marples, E. Houliker, H. H. Wilson, G. Wallwork, Roger Phillips and W. S. Glynn. To join Watteau Review, Rare Treasure was acquired from Goff. Pim, generally admitted to be the most successful of the Irish breeders of wires: he has been breeding there for 45 years. Goff Pim exhibited Rare Treasure at Belfast show on April 1st and was placed best wire in show. Rare Treasure before leaving Ireland was bred to Stockmore Storm, a royally bred terrier whose blood lines should nick in well with Rare Treasure. She was accompanied across the pond by Lisna Rarity, a green star winner and bred to Rare Slasher. The Vivadora Kennels also acquired the pick of Harry Clayton's kennel, including Dogberry Frivolous, a big winner at the Toronto Spring show, also Silverbirch Brid by the sire of the century, Champic Barrington Bridegroom ex Dogberry Frivolous. I regret to hear that Kennedy has been seriously ill for nearly a year and I know that I can bespeak the wishes of his many friends that ere long he will be completely recovered and have the pleasure of handling his Wires to victory.

W. M. Nickle, who has so strong kennel of Cocker Spaniels at Kingston, writes me that with a view to starting a kennel club in Kingston and working in conjunction with the Kingston Fair, it is proposed to hold a dog show there on the 11th, 12th and 13th of September, all breeds to be judged on the 12th. This is a move in the right direction for seeing if there is room for a good club in these parts. Kingston should draw an entry from the east and west and know that good dogs are appreciated these days.

* * *

Amongst my mail this month is a letter from a very well known dog trainer in Scotland. He asks for some information on the training of Spaniels in Canada, as he would like to come out to Canada and start a training kennel here. I have had no experience with Field Trials in Canada and hesitate to give the advice asked. Will any of my readers interested in Field Trials kindly give me their opinion as to the possibilities—as to whether enough dogs could be obtained to train and the best part of Canada for a training kennel! My correspondent stipulates on a place where there would be plenty of rabbits.

Our Frontispiece

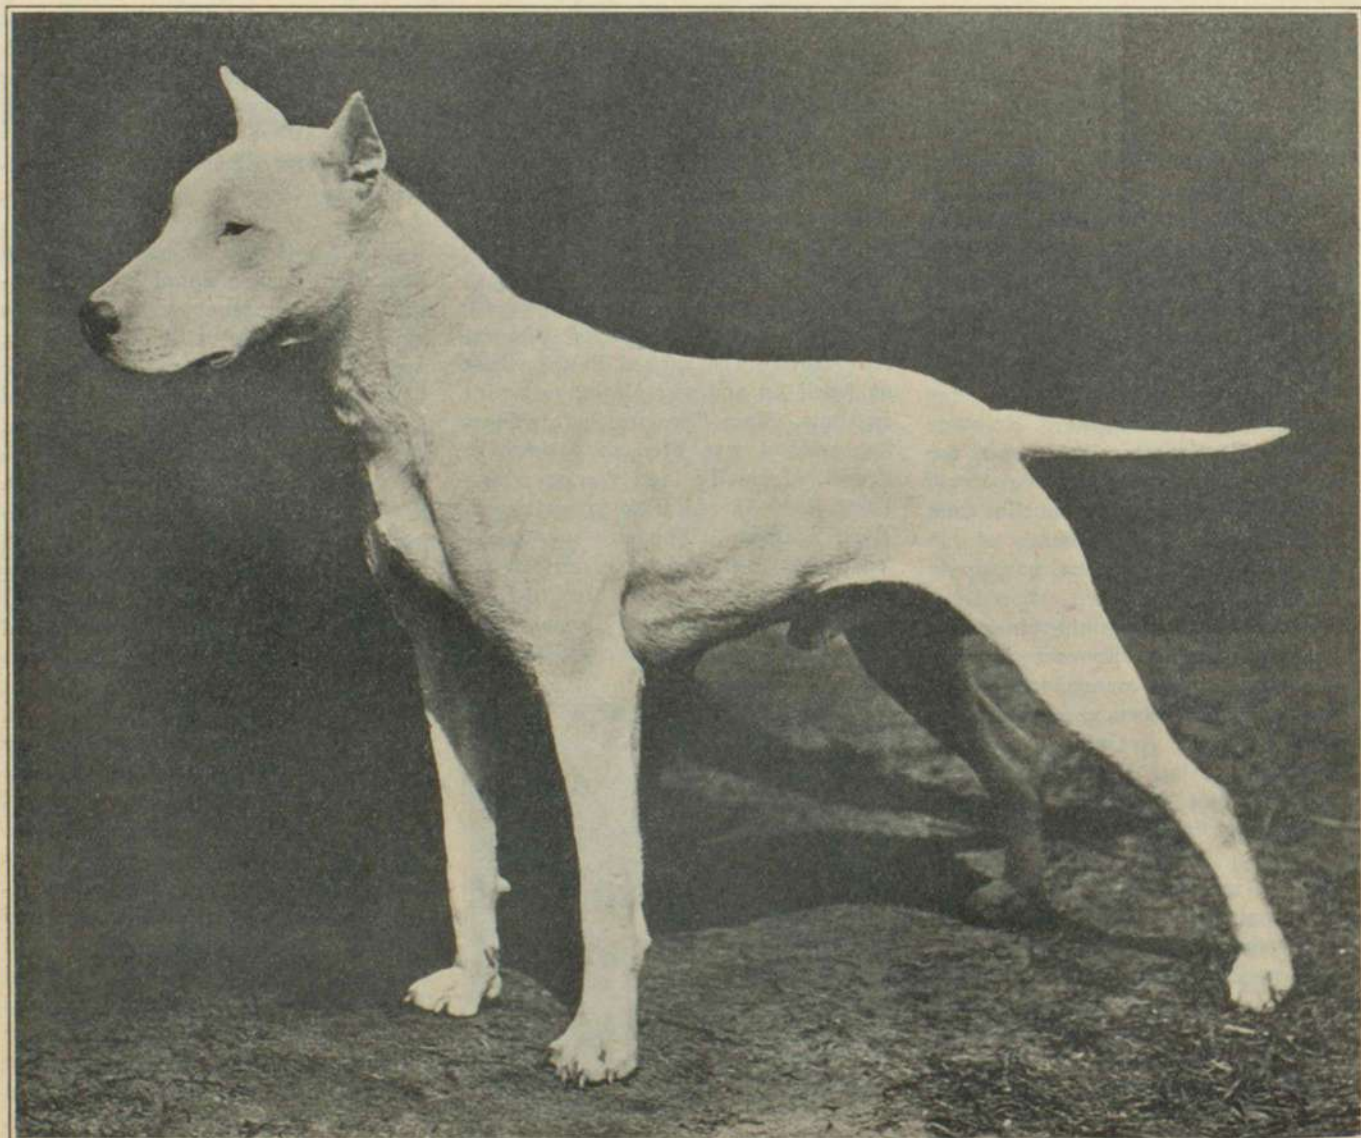

WE take much pride in presenting to our readers this month, the well-known battling Bull Terrier, Champion Albion Victor (C.K.C.S.B. 65083), the property of our highly esteemed Kennel Club President, Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, K.C., Toronto, owner of the "Franklin" Prefix made famous in Bull Terriers in America during the last 30 years.

Ch. Albion Victor was born a winner. His quality came into the world with him, and it only required the necessary few months to give him an opportunity to prove his worth. If our memory is functioning properly, we would say that it was at the Canadian National Exhibition Dog Show of 1927, when this all white son of Haymarket Senator (Ch. Coolridge Grit of Blighty Imp. ex Markwood Mitzi, a daughter of Ch. Coolridge Grit of Blighty and out of Haymarket Spot, who is by Haymarket Laddie, a son of Ch. Coolridge Grit of Blighty, out of Ch. Modesty. The Dam of Haymarket Spot is Haymarket Cave Lady by Ukipita War Dance, ex Haymarket Thelma) came out.

Here is a study in blood concentration in combination that could not possibly fail the parties responsible for its collection, and so in the progeny we find extremes in quality. So much so, that in Canada where Bull Terriers are conceded to have made history over a lengthy period of time, we find our latest Champion Bull Terrier "Albion Victor" coming out as a puppy at the Canadian National of 1927, taking the measure of the entry by going from puppy to winners, and half a Championship, and just "as there is a time when dogs like men, may take opportunity at its flow and go to greater things," so it was with our "White Cavalier" now under review. At Hamilton, The Western Fair (London) and at the National Kennel Club Show of the same year, he went on to his Championship without tasting defeat from any of his sex in his breed classes, and in 1928, he won as well at Toronto Kennel Club Show, and later went to the All Terrier Club Show at Winnipeg, a one time stronghold of the breed, and of course, he won there as well.

Having tasted sweet morsels of victory in Canada, he sought the larger opportunities offered by the United States for fresh fields to conquer, and continuing his winning career of 1928, he "stopped the parade" at Buffalo, N.Y., Sewickley, Pa., and Ebensburg, Pa. This year, he has victories showing to his credit at New Haven, Conn., Hartford, Conn., Detroit, Mich., Columbus, Ohio, Cleveland, Ohio, Scranton, Pa., and Dayton, Ohio, his International Championship must be around the corner somewhere.

Champion Albion Victor is indeed a campaigner of much repute, and in his short career to date he has travelled more extensively than any other Bull Terrier in Canada. He is the property of our president, Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, K.C.

To our President—who simply loves a Bull Terrier because he cannot help himself—the show career of Ch. Albion Victor has been a source of great pleasure. More so, perhaps than the winnings of any other dog of the many that have passed through the “Franklin” Kennels, and indeed, they have been many in truth.

Thinking back along the years, we come to the days of Gully The Great, one of the earliest great Bull Terriers of America, and from there, starts down through the intervening forty years, with such men as “Jim” Harris (Toronto), W. Willis (Clarksburg, Ont.), Syd. Howard (Montreal), “Billy” Hammall, of the old “Wheatsheaf” (Toronto), the headquarters of dogdom in the early days of organized dogdom in this country, and of course that Dean of Bull Terrierdom, Frank F. Dole, then of New Haven, Conn., and now of New York. Then that noted old breeder, Mark O'Rourke of Hamilton, Ont., Sidney Britcher of Montreal, Fred T. Miller, Trenton, Ont.

In the late “eighties” came John Miles, (Toronto), of glorious memory, and with him, John Allaster, W. E. Sampson, both of Toronto and in the early “nineties”—“Andy” Armstrong (Ottawa) had a fling with the “white ‘uns” with a lot of credit to his old “Ottawa” Prefix. In 1904 the Bull Terrier was established on a high pinnacle indeed. Enthusiastic fanciers were gathering behind his banner prepared to follow wherever “The White Cavalier” might lead. R. “Humphrey” Elliott, and J. G. Walters, both of Ottawa, of Armstrong, Walters and Elliott, only the latter remains with us today, and what a faithful follower he has proven himself to be, and what wonderful rewards has his faithfulness earned for the Bull Terrier on the American continent. Remember the great Haymarket Faultless? Anything brilliant that could be written of that great dog, would only dull the brightness of his glitter. What a Bull Terrier!

At this period we had the “wise ‘uns” using such sires as Ch. Faultless, Rudyard Kipling, Newmarket Harvester, Bayview Boswain, and such bitches as Countess of Devon, Leading Lady, Ottawa Biddy, and the breed was making leaps and bounds in improvement of quality, and it may be of some small interest if we mention here that dog shows were none too plentiful in the early days, and at the time of our starting this story, the only shows held in all Canada, were the Canadian Fox Terrier Club, Peterboro Kennel Club, Winnipeg Kennel Club, and the Toronto Industrial.

In 1904, J. G. Walters, Ottawa, brought out Epsom Candidate (formerly Ch. Edgewood Candidate), bred by J. Warren, England, and many availed themselves of this new source of blood for their breeding operations right away.

This man J. G. Walters, must have been a born Bull Terrier fancier, and that he experienced great success in his breeding operations, and on the show bench, is borne out conclusively by the records, but there is one thing more that adds to his distinguished activities for the breed, and that is, that he sold Edgewood Rudyard Kipling (9014) to our President, Lt. Col. G. F. McFarland, in 1907, and it is from this point that we recognized "The Boss" as a real Bull Terrier fan, although the records show him to have owned good specimens of the breed since 1904. Anyway, at this early date the "Franklin" Kennels had "thrown the gauntlet into the ring" in earnest as owners, breeders and exhibitors. The basic breeding stock is from established Kennels with A.I. credentials, and enviable reputations, i.e., the "Edgewood" and the "Wentworth" and all that these prefixes imply. Franklin Zip (9630) was sold to A. T. Lindsay of Maple Creek, Sask., born on April 13th, 1907, bred by G. F. McFarland, Toronto, sired by Edgewood Rudyard Kipling and out of Wentworth Edith. Wentworth Edith, sporting the Franklin colors, won 2nd limit (under 30 lbs.) at Toronto Kennel Club Show in 1908.

The breed was now popular and the followers were men of determination to see it go to the very top rung of dogdom's pinnacle of fame. Besides the names already mentioned, who were still going strong, and accomplishing great achievements for the white 'uns, we must now add the names of the new comers, many of whom are still at it hammer and tongs at the present time. Miles and Coles—both have made their mark indelibly on the records that will stand for all time. Miles has left our ranks and gone to "that great show where The Greatest Judge of all has charge of the ring." Coles, well, he is so modest, that we must be careful of our writing, and yet he has rung up a record of three winners in three years—yes, consecutively—at New York Show, and now feels content to rest on his laurels. The "Lewis Boys" J. H. Ferguson, H. Silver, J. E. Brunette, "Dan" Thody H. E. Middleton, "The Halliday Brothers," J. V. Aree, etc.

Perhaps the greatest achievement of all time ever made for the breed in this country, was the winning of the Best Dog in show all breeds at the Westminster Kennel Club Show on the 23rd day of February, 1918, at the old Madison Square Garden venue, by Champion Haymarket Faultless, bred and owned by "Humphrey" Elliott of Ottawa. On that memorable day, the cream of England, the United States and Canada that had been selected by the judges from the competition of the three previous days, came together for the grand finale, and quite outstanding was the great son of Ch. Noross Patrician in that glorious spectacle, and how the "old Garden rafters rung" when the Canadian-bred was crowned "King of Dogdom" for the year.

Many will remember the scene that took place in the ring at Westminster Kennel Club in 1921, when the "Greatest Roman of them all" sought to repeat his 1918 achievement. There stood the "White Cavalier"—white as snow, and staunch as steel. In the ring with him, was the Canadian-bred Bulldog "Tam's Result." The Peke "Phantom of Ashcroft," the near hero of 1918, the Irish Terrier, "Blarney Beckside Begorra," the Airedale "Ch. Warland Strategy," the Boston Puppy "Buddie Blink," the Cairn "Grosse Pointe Rags," the Scottie "Auburn Beetle,"—that magnificent Greyhound "Lansdowne Sunflower," the Cocker "Midkiff Seductive," the German Shepherd "Dolf Von Dusternbrook," the Russian Wolfhound "Nikko II," etc., etc.

As in 1918, Ch. Haymarket Faultless had all that the best of them had—and then some. The judges agreed to disagree, that circumstance was glaringly obvious. The 1918 decision had to be reversed it appeared. One "stood pat" for the elegant Bull Terrier. The other was solid for the Peke. The older Judge brought all his stock of persuasion into play on behalf of his choice, dramatically he slapped the "white statue" thereby causing the chalk to fly, and as dramatically was the other Judge's attention drawn to the circumstance, but with that determination that won the World War, there was no surrendering on either side, and finally, a referee was called in to break the deadlock, and to the relief of the multitude the award was given to a Cocker Spaniel. The Cocker was grand, there was no disputing the fact, but it had been noted that she had never used her tail, never a wag of any kind, and it is from this characteristic "wag" that the Cocker derives its descriptive name "The Merrie Little Cocker" and so the "wag" being absent, the little Black Cocker Bitch had been penalized by her judges, but with the referee, it was different, and to her absolute advantage. In the writer's judgment, Ch. Haymarket Faultless was robbed of honors that had been justly earned, and one of the few black marks of dog history came to be written into the book.

Today, the Bull-Terrier continues to offer real competition at all shows, and once in a while, he finds his way to the very top of the heap, to land Best in Show all breeds. Those who swear by "The White Cavalier" have a dog they may well be proud of, and in turn, the Bull Terrier has much to be thankful for when he considers the type of men who are behind him. It is a case of "through thick and thin for mutual advantage"—an arrangement that is altogether desirable.

Arthur H. Gale, owner of that good winner "Shure Thing," has been analyzing his favorite breed whilst the "muse" was around, and has reduced his thoughts into verse, which lines appeared in "Popular Dogs" issue of May 18th, under W. Fre Ford's original paragraphs and read as follows:—

"The White 'Un."

True as the steel of which he is made
Pure as his coat is white,
Gentle and kind, but unafraid,
Proud of his heritage—Might.
He does not bully, snap or snarl,
Where'er he walks, he is lord:
The White Cavalier is loath to quarrel,
But beware, when he draws his sword.
The red flame of courage burns high in his breast,
For unto himself he is law.
There's a heart full of love in his big barrel chest,
There is death in his punishing jaw
The Gladiator of his race,
To me, he stands—a king apart.
No other dog, shall e'er replace,
The White 'Un in my heart.

And, taking the liberty of speaking for all good Bull Terrier Fanciers past and present, and including L. Col. G. F. McFarland, whose Ch. A. bion Victor features this review, would say, "Them's our sentiments too."

DOGS OF THE EMPIRE

By FREEMAN LLOYD.

(Illustrations from the Author's Collection.)

SOME day Canadians will awaken to the fact that they own as good native dogs as are possessed by any other nationality on earth! Because the Huskie dog is pretty well everywhere, and is in constant use during the winter months, it would seem that his very common place among the communities as a part and parcel of the domestic economy of the country that this Canadian dog is looked upon as so much "dirt" under the feet of the ordinary dog fancier of the Dominion! Which is strange—passing strange!

Canada is becoming a bigger and bigger—a richer and richer—country every day. The vast mineral wealth now being developed in Northern Ontario, Manitoba and elsewhere will attract the willing-to-work adventurers from Europe and America. There is Canadian gold aplenty without travelling half over the world to win the precious mineral; furthermore, Canada is a "safe" and healthy country. If it had not been for Canada's sled dogs, there would not have been such developments; indeed, the dog trail will likely be always used.

Canada's dogs are Huskie dogs and there is always a demand for the even common-place specimens from the bench show man's point of view. But what shall we say about the very good-looking and typical dog trail will likely Huskie breed? Are not these dogs quite as handsome and remarkable in appearance as their distant cousins, the Chow Chow dogs of China, the sled dogs of the Siberians or Samoyeds, the elk dogs—I refuse to class them as "hounds" of Scandinavia, the large Spitz dog of Germany, the miniature Spitz dogs of Pomerania, the detailed barge dogs of Belgium and the Volpino Spitz dogs of Italy? All of these breeds of dogs are as closely related as the races of men. We can trace the descent from one breed to the other. We must accept the Canadian Huskie dog as of a breed of great antiquity. He has been of the greatest service to mankind down through the long, long periods of untold centuries of time.

The Canadian Huskie of to-day was probably the Northern European and Asiatic sled or sleigh dog of yesterday. As for the Southern Asiatic dog—the Chinese Chow Chow, he is an enigma with his black or blue tongue, lips and insides of mouth. Pink, blue or black tongued, as the case might be, there is a great likeness existing between the prick-eared and curl-tailed dogs of China and the dogs of Northern America, Europe, and Northern Asia. The prick-eared and curled-tailed dogs probably existed where pre-historic man existed.

I have never yet been able to discover what manner of dog it was that put the curled tail on to the wild wolf puppies which some naturalists declare were the ancestors of our domesticated dogs. The wolf has a straight and comparatively short tail. It would surely take a very long time to breed a curled of a whip-tail on a wolf. Really, the more we commence to think about this matter of evolution, the more we are prone to question whether it is a fact that the round-eyed and curled-tailed, prick-eared dogs of the northernmost parts of the two hemispheres had wolves as their sole earlier progenitors.

However, the theme of the descent of dogs may be more in the sphere of the scientist than it might be understandable among the ordinary, matter-of-fact, everyday dog man, who, very likely, will be not inclined to believe that our scores of present-day breeds of dogs are nothing more or less than bred-to-order creatures that originally came from the loins of the wolf. That the wild wolf is used to strengthen the blood of some of the Alaska dogs, is a matter of knowledge. But I think I would rather breed from an Eastern Huskie dog (which would be far removed from kinship to the Alaska dog) than I would breed from an Arctic wolf. I would get quite as much strength from the more or less domesticated curl-tailed Huskie dog of Quebec, Ontario or Manitoba as I would be able to obtain from the savager and straight-tailed wolf of the North.

TYPICAL CANADIAN HUSKIE DOG

A good-coated, headed, eared and eyed example of the Northern Ontario Huskie breed. There is no trace of the Wolf in this dog, which may be considered as beautiful in appearance as any of the European or Asiatic dogs of the prick-eared and curl-tailed kinds. Photo taken in the Red Lake Mining District, Hudson, Ont.

If the Canadian Huskie dog is to be made into a good selling proposition, or as a "fancy" dog for the outside world—especially in Europe, the less of the "wolf" about him the better it will be for those who breed him. For the public has a wholesale dread of any breed of dog about which there is the slightest suspicion that he has "wolf" in him. We know that the German Shepherd or Alsatian dog has suffered in the eyes of very many people because of the allegation that the German dog is more or less related to the wolf. Even magistrates have denounced the Alsatian dogs as being unsuitable as companions for women and children. To cap all, the Australians have barred the entry of German or Alsatian Shepherd dogs into their sheep country, for the declared reason that the German dogs are closely related to the sheep-killing wolves of Europe. There are no wolves on the island-continent so the Alsatis are barred from the paddocks of the greatest sheep-breeding country in the world.

If we are to popularize the Canadian Huskie in Europe, we must keep the "wolf" out of the picture.

I was born in the year that the first public dog show was held, and must have been very young when I first heard about prize dogs. As a small boy, one of my great ambitions was to visit Birmingham, England, while the dog show was on; the other desire of my heart was to see the animals in the Zoological Gardens, in London. Such modest pilgrimages as these have been my lifelong delights; indeed, there are few breeds of dogs or wild animals that I have not studied from the amateur's standpoint. I would love to be an expert naturalist and taxidermist, so that I could follow my bent and go into strange lands, among strange peoples and do my stuff on behalf of Science and help to entertain other Natural History inclined men, women and children. With my knowledge of dogs, I could gain more and more information regarding the wonderful varieties of dogs of the sharp-faced, prick and pointed ear kinds—especially those with curled tails. I could select the fuller-coated dogs of the northernmost climes, and attempt to discover North American, Asiatic, and European dogs that would more than grace the benches and show rings of the dog shows of the world! And, bearing in mind these ambitions, would it not be fair to anticipate that I would be able to find several Canadian Huskies which could hold their own in competition against the best dogs that Northern Europe and Asia could produce? Among these would be the Samoyeds of Siberia, the Elk dogs of Norway, the Spitz dogs of Central Europe and the strangely crippled-hocked, edible dogs of China. The properly-conditioned Canadian Huskie would surely carry as great a coat as any. His sagacious-appearing countenance, alert appearance, soundness of limbs, compactness of body and well-turned tail would soon make him a great favorite in the greatest of all doggie countries—Britain!

Observe what beautiful and level-made animals the dog breeders of Britain have made out of the Samoyed, Scandinavian Spitz and Pomeranian dogs! These prick-eared, twisted-tail dogs are among the more popular dogs of to-day; and this in the face of the fact that the Canadian Huskie is quite as good looking and very likely twice as useful as any of those dogs of the Eastern Hemisphere. So there must be something wrong—somewhere!

What might it be?

Probably the lack of enterprise on the part of Canadians who, in their hurry to work the poor, old Huskie half or wholly off his legs, have never given a thought regarding the riches that lie beneath the harsh, profuse coat and thick hide of the ship of the north and northwest. For if the camel may be described as the ship of the desert, the Huskie can be designated as the craft of the frozen muskeg.

What stories of romance and adventure could be written around the Huskie dogs of the pioneers who opened up that vast domain known as British North America—the utility dogs on which depend the Eskimos, Indians, Canadians, Europeanas, Americans and others who have made Canada what she is!

A descendant of the last of a long line of

TYPICAL CHINESE CHOW CHOW DOG

There is a very considerable likeness in the head of the Chow to that of the Canadian Huskie. The Chow is useless as a dog for draught purposes. To all intents and purposes, the modern Chow dog, bred as he is with straight hocks, has become an unsound quadruped. In coat, ears and carriage of tail, the Chow is similar to the Canadian Huskie.

Hudson Bay Company's factors, said that the Labrador Huskie dogs of approximately seventy years ago were considered the strongest and best. To illustrate this point, my Winnipeg friend told a pretty tale: On the occasion of his grandmother's espousal to the Company's factor in Western Canada, then practically an unknown land, Labrador Huskie dogs were purchased for the purposes of pulling the four or five Indian-made sleds, one of which was to convey the lady, over the icebound river and land trails of hundreds of miles. The bride-to-be of the East must have the best possible dogs—the Labrador Huskies, which were declared to be stronger than the ordinary sled dogs of Quebec and Ontario. The factor at the western fort, in what is now Alberta, ruled his empire westward to the Pacific and northward to the Arctic Circle. He was a man possessing absolute power. The entourage of this great factor's lady-to-be must be one of pomp and circumstance. Even the Indians knew of this. In their own and rude way they painted representations of the wild roses of the prairies upon the woodwork of chief toboggan or dog "coach" of the beautiful young woman. What a story—a sort of story that would at once appeal to the practical as well as the sentimental man or woman across the seas.

The human life-saving narratives related around the St. Bernard and Newfoundland breeds of dogs have been responsible for the great and lasting popularities of those animals; and there is every reason to believe that stories regarding the strength, speed and devotion of the Huskies could be exploited, so that these Canadian dogs would enjoy the instant attention of the millions of people who, as yet, are entirely unacquainted with what the Dominion can so easily supply in the way of dogs. The kennel world is continually hankering after a new breed. And Canada has it! Then why hide the light of the Canadian Huskie under the bushel of non-exploitation and non-publicity?

The only thing that stands in the way of the importation of Canadian Huskies into England is the quarantine which all foreign dogs have to undergo. But that would be a small affair of delay and expense if a few responsible men get together and, after acquiring some really representative Canadian sled dogs of the pure and typical breed, place the exported Huskies in the charge of some responsible or highly-placed person of the English kennel world. If a dozen or more representative Huskies were placed on the benches at the leading London and Provincial shows, an immediate demand for such dogs would ensue; for, after all, the Britisher may be depended on to quickly and loyally patronize dogs that come from the lands of his own people. There are few, if any, Colonial dogs to be seen in the Homeland—a country that is always yearning for something new in the form of a first-class, pure-bred dog. Again it is repeated that Canada has the very dog—the well-coated Huskie, which will be found good enough for anything. Above all he is as good and very likely more useful than the great majority of the northern breeds which have sharp faces, prick ears and curled tails. The Huskie's color would suit all tastes; his hardiness would be equal if not superior to any dog of any breed known to man. The Huskie breeds true to type and voice. These are true signs of pure blood. And that is what the dog-fancying world is looking for.

TYPICAL MINIATURE POMERANIANS

Pomeranian dogs have descended from the larger Spitz Dogs of Northern Europe. In reality, they are the bantams evolved from the constant in-breeding of the larger sled herd, and hunting, prick-eared and curl-tailed dogs of the Siberian, Scandinavian and German dogs. Continuous in-breeding of the fully domesticated animals will gradually reduce the sizes of the ensuing puppies.

Who would be the likely person or persons to look after the interests of the Canadian Huskie in Britain?

The answer is that probably such well-known kennel authorities as Lady Kitty Ritson, of Frittenden, Cobham, Surrey, and Mrs. Phyllis Robson, of the Dog World, London, could be consulted on this important matter. They are workers and travelers. Both are widely respected. Furthermore, they would be able to speak from experience regarding the Great Canadian Huskie—his good, imposing appearance, his pure-breed, his true-to-type characteristics and, above all, his undoubted usefulness.

The Canadian Huskie dog is one of the chief animal assets of the British Empire in the New World. But, strange to say, as yet this breed of dog is unknown in Europe!

EULOGY TO "MY HUSKY."

"Where crawls the Northern Mail still farther North
Beyond the ken of transit's conquering eye,
Nor stream, nor harnessed gas, nor thunderbolt,
May draw the loads of men, but only you—
You padded-footed foot-pad, from frost immune
You mush in Arctic ice as it were June—MY HUSKY.

Where crouching Nature saps all human strength,
The mushing man must look to dog for aid;
Where roaring Blizzard shows his icy teeth,
You packed my pack and drew my crooked sled;
You strained your back—you wolf in leather things,
To right by day your endless nightly wrongs—MY HUSKY.

Where gold lures man out yonder, where copper calls,
Where pelts of Noah's children fill the traps,
You hid your fangs and bent to human will,
By day a servant; by night a howling fiend,
Your wolf-call piercing down the lonesome trail
Till frozen Storm King shivered at your wail—MY HUSKY."

EXPLANATIONS AND EXPRESSIONS OF REGRET

WHILST the details of the dog show held by the Borzoi Club of Canada were being worked out by me, Leslie Leivers, Secretary of the Club, I found the burden beyond my ability to some extent, and in some respects beyond my control, in so limited a time.

Since the show is now a matter of record, I take this opportunity to explain and express my most profound regrets for happenings that were not exactly according to the Hoyle of dogdom.

My first regret is that some of my officers and members, fearing that the show could not be made the success they desired it to be, withdrew their support at a most critical period.

My second regret is that I was obliged to have the show open when I was short of several benches, due principally to the fact that the entry exceeded my most enthusiastic expectations.

My third, and greatest regret is, that two advertisements, i.e., the Vita-Malt and the H. A. Wilson advertisements became mixed up to a certain extent.

In explanation, I would say, that the lack of confidence on the part of some people connected with the show was without justification, as the results positively will show.

Had I been given a few days more to take care of the detail properly, I would have had a bench for every dog, and a drinking-pan for every dog's comfort. To the Collie fanciers I express my deep regret that I could not bench all their dogs, but lacking benches, I made their dogs as comfortable as possible under the impossible circumstances.

My great regret in the matter of the messing up of the advertisements, to which reference has already been made, is explained as follows: After night and day effort on the part of Mrs. Leivers and myself, the copy was placed in the hands of my printer, and as soon as possible thereafter proofs were secured such proofs were shown to advertisers. The advertisements of Vita-Malt and H. A. Wilson were discovered to be wrong, inasmuch as a cut of a Bulldog known as Pugilist, that should rightly have appeared in the Vita-Malt advertisement, wrongly appeared in the H. A. Wilson advertisement. Both advertisers noticed the error and drew my attention to it, and to both I readily agreed to cause the necessary correction to be made, fully intending to keep the promises made. On my return to the printing plant several hours later, I was discouraged to find the premium list already off the press and in the process of mailing. To have ordered the work corrected and run off again would have delayed beyond practical value the mailing of my premium list, and so I allowed the premium list to be sent out.

I fully realize and appreciate the wrong done to both advertisers, and take this opportunity of making this explanation and, at the same time, tendering to them publicly, through the pages of Kennel and Bench, the official organ of Canadian dogdom, my most sincere apologies, and trust that such apologies will be accepted by both as becomes the sportsmen I believe both parties to be.

In conclusion, let me explain, that, with the help in view when I claimed the dates to hold the show, everything was easily within control. With the withdrawal of anticipated assistance, the show matured with every last ounce of my ability in it, and the known shortcomings developed only because they got beyond my strength.

I take this opportunity to publicly acknowledge my appreciation of the volunteer support so timely given by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bruce, Mr. J. B. Forsythe, Leonard Morris, Mrs. Luke, and all the friends who helped or encouraged me in any way.

It was cruelly declared that the show was held under the cloak of charity, for selfish purposes. In the next issue of Kennel and Bench I will announce the expression of satisfaction that has been furnished to me by the Christie Street Branch of the Legion, and fanciers have my word for it that all minor obligations will be taken care of promptly.

The Canadian Kennel Club, Inc., will have no cause to regret granting dog show license to the Borzoi Club of Canada, and I trust the fixture will come to be recognized as an annual event.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Toronto, Ont.,
May 14th, 1929.

Editor, Kennel and Bench.

Dear Sir,

I notice in the last issue of Kennel and Bench Mr. Reeve's suggestion in regard to having all Canadian dogs benched together at New York Show.

There is not the slightest doubt, but, that, that show is the Mecca of the doggy world of this continent, and it would doubtless be a great acquisition to Canadian exhibitors if the suggestion could be carried out successfully.

One fault I see, is, the general public (on viewing the show) will like to be able to compare the different winners in their classes. Take for instance, suppose a Canadian dog should take First and another dog Second—not from Canada, the admirers of the breed would require to go perhaps a considerable distance in the building (Madison Square is no small place) after first finding the locality before they could make their comparison of the second or third. This would cause considerable inconvenience and loss of time and knock the catalogue out of tune. At all events, I would like to hear the views of others. While writing, another very important matter comes into my mind which I think should be taken up by the Canadian Kennel Club and that is the very heavy charges of transportation and trouble of Customs, as it is now, it takes a small fortune to attend shows in the United States and Canada. Consequently, many lovers of dogs can't exhibit on account of the cost. Could not certain centres be selected, say London, Toronto, Hamilton, Ottawa, and have all the dogs in that vicinity get together at the points mentioned and make shipment in whole or car lots as a single consignment? I think arrangements could be made with the Express Companies for the carrying of same. Terms could also be made with the Railway authorities whereby special excursion or club rates could be issued to exhibitors, thus lowering the cost to a very large extent.

In regard to the Customs, it could be handled in a similar manner as the dogs could all go in bond under one consignment.

At the Canadian National Exhibition dog shows which I managed a number of years ago as secretary and superintendent, there was an arrangement whereby dogs coming to Toronto came in to the country in Bond, remained so until leaving, the dog show building being considered a "Bonded Warehouse." The dogs were never out of Bond until they left the country again at port of entry. The Exhibition had a special Custom Office for that purpose, consequently exhibitors saved any amount of trouble and expense. Have had hundreds of dogs consigned in Bond to me as secretary and remained so until I shipped them back.

Years ago I remember leaving London for Ottawa show with a special car of dogs. When we arrived here, we picked up the Toronto dogs. Another time we left London by special car, picking up Woodstock, Hamilton, and Toronto dogs for New York Show.

Perhaps the idea is worth trying and can be worked out. We never get anywhere if we don't try.

BORZOI CLUB OF CANADA ALL-BREED SHOW

WHAT was termed the "First Annual International, All-Breed May Dog Show" of the Borzoi Club of Canada was held in the Commerce & Transportation Building, Toronto, on Saturday, May 25th, when a 3-point rating was earned to crown the club's efforts. Perhaps we should not refer to the success of the show as having to be shared by any club, as the only visible evidence of club support that was noticeable was the support of one member. The rank and file seemed to have left the show to the club's secretary who stuck to the point of collapse, when others took up the task and put the finishing touches across.

Too much credit cannot be given to Secretary Leivers for the mammoth effort he put into it for one man. Much praise is due to Reg. P. Sparke who acted as Master of Ceremonies, though in a crippled condition physically himself on the day. To Leonard Morris. Jno. and Mrs. Bruce of the Toronto Kennel Club, and to J. B. Forsythe of the Cocker Spaniel Club, and to Scott Wilson. Without the untiring efforts of the parties named the show would have been badly handicapped at the last hour. The other "one man" already referred to was George Oakley, and he certainly gave his last ounce of effort for the show's success.

A disturbing element crept in from quite an unexpected source, when a man obviously imbued with the holiday "Spirit" essayed to exercise the Old English Sheepdog entry, restrained by heavy, powerful steel leashes the dogs came together in battle, and as at all dog shows there were many who "knew how" and soon the battlers were separated, and good advice given to the novice; this advice was disregarded and the handler sought to show the dogs that they must live in harmony, and so they were asked to "kiss and make up." At once the fight was renewed, this happened a third time, when, an exhibitor sensing the danger, effected a separation of the fighting dogs in a manner that would have been acceptable to the Humane Society, but objected to by the other party, with the steel chains flying in every direction it was surely an act of Providence that no one was injured. The arrival of the police was the signal for the removal of the man who was fighting mad, and soon the regrettable incident was forgotten. We never hope to see a recurrence of the scene at any show again.

The judges were eight in number and each one kept his appointment. Chas. G. Hopton had the "All-the-other breed" allotment and he was a tired man at the end of the day. Frank Berry had the larger breeds as his share, with Schipperkes added as a compliment for his efforts made in bringing the famous "O' The Norths" to Canada. Col. J. N. MacRae, had a small but select entry of Shepherds come before him, and as usual he gave a good account of himself as a Shepherd judge. W. E. Chetwin, of Syracuse, and "International Champion Sessue" fame judged the Bulldogs in his own expert manner. "Bob" Long judged the Bostons in a most impressive way that left little to be desired. Bert Swann had the Terrier family to look after, and his work was up to standard. Frank Metcalfe judged the Collies, and the entry should have been much larger to meet a man famous in Collies a couple of decades ago, or later. Fred Smith had the Bull Terriers, Manchesters and several other breeds as his share. "Eight Judges" looked big in print, but they were all required for the size of the entry.

The "Groups" were an indication of the Class of the Show, and the five representatives of the five groups as chosen, could very well bring dignity to the best in show all breeds at most shows.

There were several shortcomings noticeable that may just as well be mentioned here as later. For lack of a few benches the Collies were obliged to rest on piles of straw, this was most regrettable. There were several late entries that did not appear in the catalogue. There were no drinking pans provided and this gave rise to much complaining. The blocks though new were altogether too small, and since the floor was a cement one, the blocks should have been dispensed with altogether. Wash-room accommodation was plentiful but no one knew just where it was, and this gave rise to a lot of unnecessary complaint.

Now let us be entirely fair about things, we have already said that it was infinitely more a Leslie Levier's show than a Borzoi Club Show, realizing that it was "up to him" he worked night and day to make it what he wanted it to be, but human flesh has its limitations, and a dog show for all breeds has its extensive demands, and the marvel of it all lies in the fact that the man was able to see his efforts materialize as successfully as they did, all criticisms notwithstanding. Given a week's more time, the show would undoubtedly have been free of imperfections, and as it was, the charitably inclined will not seek to offer criticism. In many respects it was a wonderful show indeed.

WALNUT BENEDICT

(Formerly Edgemoor Enedict)

By CH. BARRY BENEDICT, ex EDGEMOOR ENID, by CH. WYCOLLAR TRAIL

This young dog has every qualification for a stud dog, being perfectly sound at both ends, and shows great quality combined with substance. His short back, perfect set-on of tail, small eyes and ears (both correctly placed), finish off his long, lean head, giving that terrier expression so desired. He is a winner every time out, under F. Swan, H. Yeadon, Herriots, H. Clough, H. H. Wilson, S. Warburton, and H. Clapham. Never has he been out of the first three.

Secretary Doderworth, Show Supt. Moore and his various Stewards there was no delay in getting the dogs into the ring, thereby enabling the judging of what might have been a two-days show being finished in the one day. Commencing with the Toys which were not very numerous, the outstanding was a nice Pom put down in good condition; then the Peke Bijou of Shantung also a good specimen. There was a good show of Pugs, the best of breed going to a good sort, a black dog, Bulgar of Powell River, who owns a good head, short back and good twist. Scottish Terriers brought out some good specimens, the best of breed and winner of The Governor General's Medal was the well put up short backed, little dog, Kirkhope Regal. Wire-haired Fox Terriers, a good class, the best of breed going to that grand little showman, Redcliff Swell, who also won special for best Canadian bred, best Wire and best Smoother Wire in the show. Smooths, nothing very outstanding, the best being found in Nottingham Lamb, a nice terrier who

Alsations, best of breed, the imported Yougo Du Nahon, a very attractive specimen, good mover and well handled.

Doberman Pinschers, a pair of excellent specimens in Ari V. D. Blankenburg and Blanka V. Lenberg. Blanka is a splendid bitch, wonderful outline, great length of neck, nice placed ears, good head and very intelligent, was best specimen. Also won the most coveted special for best dog or bitch in show, best non-sporting and best dog or bitch from U.S.A.

Bulldogs—McNab Marquis, best of breed, is a low, compact, little dog with good turnup, nice body and roach but although very active might be a little better on his pasterns.

AT THE BAR OF JUSTICE.

The trial of an action took place yesterday at the Court House, Belleville, before His Honour Judge McLean in which dog owners and fanciers are interested.

Orick Latchford of Belleville brought an Action against Delbert Latta claiming $150.00 damages for breach of contract alleged to have been made between the parties by which the plaintiff alleged that Latta agreed to give the plaintiff registration papers for a certain bull dog, purchased by the plaintiff from the defendant. The defendant disputed the plaintiff's claim on the ground that the contract did not include the delivery of registration papers and that the defendant specifically informed the plaintiff at the time of the sale and purchase that registration papers could not be obtained for the dog and counter claimed against the plaintiff for the balance of the purchase money and a mandamus requiring the plaintiff to give the defendant the first choice of the first litter of pups, which the defendant alleged was part of the bargain. The plaintiff admitted in his evidence that the dog would have been worth a large sum of money if registration papers had been obtainable and after hearing all the witnesses the presiding Judge found that the bargain was exactly as alleged by the defendant, which was as follows:

The plaintiff was to pay $25 to the defendant and the defendant was to have the choice of the first litter of pups, and that the defendant did not agree to furnish pedigree papers. Judgment was therefore entered dismissing the plaintiff's action with costs and giving judgment to the defendant for $13.00, the balance of the purchase money, and an order requiring the plaintiff to deliver to the defendant the dog pup in his possession there having been a litter, which fact the plaintiff concealed from the defendant. The presiding Judge allowed the defendant costs throughout. R. D. Ponton, K.C., appeared for the defendant. Mr. J. D. O'Flynn appeared for the plaintiff.

CHAMPION MENAIFRON PAT O'MOY, (Ch. Amongst his wins are two Certificates under Mrs. Ingle-Bepler, and another at the 1928 Scottish Kennel Club Show, in a class of 22, under the famous judge, Mr. T. Steadman, followed by yet a further at Birmingham under Mr. J. A. Carberry.

NORNA, (Loc Garmain Barney et Rheola Didona). Has yet to be beaten at Championship Shows, and is considered by those best qualified to judge, to be the best bitch since the days of the famous Champion Strabane Sally. Shown only four times at Championship Shows she has won the Challenge Certificate on each occasion, one being at the Kennel Club Show (1928), the Red Ribbon of the year.

Notes From Alberta

By Provincial Contributing Editor, R. S. TYRRELL, Bottrel, Alta.

A CONSIDERABLE interest has been aroused amongst Calgary fanciers by my proposal that Canada holds a National Dog Week in common with Great Britain, France, the United States, etc. To be effective it would of course be necessary to have the enthusiastic support of the dog fanciers not only of the Cities, but the towns and rural localities throughout the whole Dominion. A fund would be required, either by subscription or donations, for the necessary propaganda. I should be very pleased to hear from my fellow fanciers just what they think of the idea.

Medicine Hat dog fanciers continue to make healthy progress, our old friend Charles W. Twaites is the main support of the dog game in those parts. He is always in demand to act in a judicial capacity and is particularly popular at Lethbridge. He recently handed out the ribbons for all but sporting breeds at their recent Matinee show, Mr. J. C. Titsworth of Raymond judging this section. Owing to the roads being in such terrible condition the entries were not quite so numerous as usual. Mr. Twaites has had some bad luck just recently his young dog "Farncliffe Captain" that went through to winners at Medicine Hat last year was run over by an auto and killed. Another splendid Wire-hair Terrier a sister to his winning bitch "Farncliffe Ruby" was unfortunately worried to death. Mr. Twaites has been appointed judge of all breeds for Victoria City Kennel Club show on the 18th inst. Medicine Hat expect to hold their point show in the latter part of August or early September.

Mr. C. B. Clark, owing to the pressure of business, has been obliged to retire from the position of President of the Alberta Kennel Club. Mr. Clark's fancy was for the popular Alsatian and he owns an excellent specimen in the "Shah of Longworth" of dark wolf grey colour, sired by "Int. Grand Ch. Cito Bergerslust" Grand Ch. of Germany 1922-23 and United States Grand Ch. 1924-25. His Dam was "Elsa of Josella" bred from "Dolf V Dusterbrook" German Grand Ch. 1919; also States Grand Ch. 1923.

The Alberta Kennel Club aims this year to hold one of the biggest shows in the Dominion. Interest was greatly revived with the third General Meeting of the Club, held at the Public Library, April 18th. The session was largely attended with President John W. Hugill, K.C., in the chair. It reminded one of an old time reunion, and there was a sprinkling of some fifty new members who were made heartily welcome. This meeting in fact developed into one of the most enthusiastic since the organisation of the Club in 1915, and with such keen support the officials and all members are looking forward to the 24th annual show to be held in conjunction with the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede on July 10, 11, 12th., to make a new record. Three judges have been appointed, all prominent Western officials. B. M. Armstrong, of Winnipeg, well known in the racing world and in fact all sporting circles both in Canada and the States, an eminent authority on horses as well as dogs, has consented to be the Hon. Arbitrary Judge. J. H. Tanton of Edmonton will judge the gun dogs and no one knows them better than J. H., for he has been breeder and exhibitor for many years. Our old stand by William Forest of Calgary, recently back from Europe, where he visited many of the large shows, has come back so fresh that we might think he was just out from the land of the Heather, will resume his old judicial role and judge all other breeds. These two, with Mr. Armstrong as Hon. Judge will combine to judge the general specials.

Congratulations are the order of the day for Miss Moore who has reported great success with the Advertising and arrangements for the premium list and catalogue. To Mrs. Swann and Mrs. Jullian upon their successful membership drive.

President Hugill impressed upon the members the various needs to make the show a complete success. Unity and good fellowship, with every one pulling together instead of individual interests is required. Get a member get a Special and the most important, get a dog and show it. Start to get him in condition now, for this goes a long way towards success in the ring.

The following changes have taken place in the list of Club Officers. Pres: J. W. Hugill, K.C. Vice-Pres: L. Cooper; Mr. Forest has been added to the executive Committee also Mr. G. Westmoreland. Mr. T. R. Flint will shortly be leaving Calgary for Edmonton in the interests of his employers, P. Burns Ltd., and the Edmonton D.F.C. will get a sound fancier at the expense of the Southern City.

Mr. Anderson of Rosebud, who is keenly interested in dog racing reports a splendid litter from his fast Greyhound bitch, recently purchased from "Freedoms Greyhound Kennels," Edmonton. Mr. J. Lowther of Wayne, who was assistant greyhound trainer to Sir G. Noble and later private trainer for Captain R. B. Webster, expects to take a hand in the game here. He is bringing out his fast bitch by "Staff Officer" ex "Nemoline Naomi". He sends a number of interesting items regarding greyhound racing at Crew, England, which shows that the sport there is far from dead. He is quite astonished that public opinion should be against coursing in Canada, pointing out that it a sport followed by the most exclusive and aristocratic families in Europe.

Mr. Reeves' proposal that Canada should send a representative canine team to compete at the Westminster Show has my unqualified approval. There is practical difficulty in the way as to how and who should select such a team. My own proposition for some years has been that the C.K.C. should co-operate with the owners of dogs taking best of breed at the various local shows, both East and West, to transport them to either the Canadian National or the National Dog Show. One car starting from Vancouver and one from Halifax in charge of competent handlers could pick up the dogs en route. If the charges were clubbed together and the C.K.C. bore a proportion of the cost to the individual fancier would then come within the average owners means. In this manner the cream of Canada's dogs would meet together in competition at one central point and it would be a simple matter then to find the invading team to uphold Canada's standard at the big States' show.

Let's have other readers' opinions on this proposition!

In reply you are advised that it has been the practice of the Department for a number of years to permit female dogs sent to Canada to be bred, entry under bond as set forth in Memo No. 1296-B, a copy of which is enclosed for your information, and the Collector of National Revenue at Toronto is being advised to this effect.

WITH THE BEAGLERS

It was a happy and care free dog and man combination that met at the Royal Hotel, Rodney, Ont., under the auspices of the Canadian National Beagle Club on Saturday and Sunday, May 4th and 5th with a view to trying out the beagles and to come together in good fellowship. The Wolverine Club members were out in full force and it is problematical which club showed the greatest strength in numbers, of course that issue is not considered important, as perhaps it should not be mentioned at all. What did matter was that the rain had been called off, that "old sol" was on his throne, the beagles were anxious and ready to go, and the boys were glad at the opportunity given for getting together.

The banquet held on the Saturday night was unique in many ways. The member for the Provincial House for Elgin West, Mr. F. G. Macdiarmid welcomed the sportsmen and their hounds and gave an illuminating address on the possibilities of Canada generally and of the province of Ontario particularly. The farmers and their wives from the grounds where the dogs had run in past years, and were running this year, were the guests of the club and had their healths toasted in due and ancient form. The reply brought a warm welcome to the beaglers to come to Rodney as often as they wanted to, but in any case to come oftener. Three beaglers from the Louisville Club of Kentucky were introduced and welcomed, the spokesman said that the South was said to be noted for its hospitality, but the hospitality which they had received in Canada left nothing to be desired. Popular "Ike."

Carrell from Hounds and Hunting, Arthur Oggle of the Detroit News were publicity men that enjoyed the outing and banquet tremendously.

The secretary of the Canadian Kennel Club attended by request with a view to learning the requirements of the sport as it concerned championships for beagles contesting at field trials in Canada, and as a result Field Trial Rules that we hope will meet the situation will be immediately drawn up and considered by those interested in beagling, arrangements for taking care of trials for other departments of the Field will be considered as their requirements may demand.

The trials themselves were extremely successful, and revealed a splendid lot of detail work that the club's secretary, Frank C. Richmond must be given credit for—if giving credit to a club's secretary for anything is a possibility.

One regret that was most pronounced was the absence through illness of the club's president "Jim" Kendricks but his famous toast "May you live until I murder you" was not forgotten by those present, and was regularly pledged in his absence, we trust this good old sportsman will soon be leading "his boys" to the chase again.

Following are the results of the meet:

13 Inch Class.

This class composed of puppies under thirteen inches in height produced some real rabbit races. The hound work displayed by these little Beagle hounds indicated many of the boys are still devoting plenty of time to their puppies.

The winner Whiteheart Lady was handicapped by winning the Ohio State Championship this spring. The gallery and judges alike usually expect the impossible from a winner, every move made is subjected to close scrutiny, the meritorious work goes for naught while the few mistakes the gallery happens to be in position to see is usually the target of severe criticism.

Whiteheart Lady surmounted every obstacle winning best in the class not easily, but winning through the process of elimination, going into the second series she was rated only third high. Her first series should not be entirely overlooked although some credit must be given her brace mate Swingalong Bell who assisted her materially in keeping bunny moving.

WITH THE BEAGLERS

"The Days of Real Sport"—When the Beaglers get out after the rabbits, every day is a day of real sport. Some of the owners, handlers and Beagles that were successful at the joint Canadian National and Wolverine Meet, held at Rodney, Ont.

One instance in particular stood out, the rabbit was driven under a brush pile, these little hounds squirmed under driving bunny out through the top and he away around the end of the swamp, across a lane heading for a swale a quarter of a mile away. Bell and Lady both struck the trail together driving hard to the spot where bunny had turned at right angles to cross the lane. The gallery over anxious, not knowing exactly where the rabbit had crossed, tramped the trail up considerably. The pause here was only momentary, Lady step by step picked the line bunny had taken, in and out between the feet of the spectators until open pasture was encountered, then she took the trail at a run, tongueing at every jump. This piece of work would have done credit to a seasoned campaigner let alone a pup whelped February, 27, 1928.

Haig's Mad Cap with Canamish King put up quite a sensational race the first series although both hunted listlessly even after they were worked along on a fresh trail, neither hound showing any inclination to produce. Luckily both hounds the same time spied bunny making a sneak for safer quarters, this was the needed inspiration. They took the trail both hounds doing nice work, Mad Cap picking most of the losses, but both pups were driving hard when ordered up.

Whiteheart Lady was raced with Dowaglac Trix in the first brace of the second series, both hounds did creditable work, the edge going to Trix not by much but she certainly had an advantage. In the excitement Trix had a running fit, leaving the field out of control just as the judges were about to order them up. This is one unpardonable sin in the field trial game, although in this instance it was certainly unfortunate.

The way these two little hounds worked was a revelation and would have discounted that old adage, if one man had the good fortune to own them both, "A good hound but once in a man's lifetime."

The next brace in the second series brought Swingalong Bell and Shawanoc Jeanette together. Both hounds spoiled their chances after their failure to keep the first two rabbits given them moving. The third rabbit must have been a large one because they gave him a merry chase, but eventually they came to a loss when the rabbit took out across a ploughed ground. Jeanette proved herself the best of the two in this heat.

Gastric Trouble quickly ended.

Gastric, or stomach trouble, one of the most distressing and at the same time most common ailments in the dog, is also a warning of more serious trouble brewing. Therefore this symptom requires prompt treatment. Give Karswood Dog Powders at once. The trouble then will quickly be ended and all danger removed. Read this letter:—

32, Sunny Bank, Hull.

Some weeks ago my Collie dog, Hymer's Sensation, had a very bad attack of gastritis and was in a shocking condition, no appetite and losing flesh rapidly. I tried various advertised remedies, but nothing seemed to help until I wrote for two boxes of your Karswood Dog Powders. After 3 days the dog looked much brighter, and after one box of Karswood Dog Powders, was eating well. He is now quite fit, and has no return of stomach trouble.

(Mrs.) G. C. LEACH.

Karswood Dog Powders contain specific nerve foods and organic salts not contained in the dog's ordinary diet, but which are necessary to enable his system to throw off disease. No other dog preparation contains the same ingredients—hence none is so effective for the purpose. Prove this for yourself.

Haig's Mad Cap and Whiteheart Lady was braced in the final heat of the series. The gallery put out a rabbit, just catching a fleeting glimpse of him as he scooted away through the briars. The hounds were layed on the line, Lady immediately made game, trailing steadily all the way tongueing only when carrying the trail at a run. Mad Cap following along behind showing no interest whatsoever. This continued for at least two hundred yards until Lady came to temporary loss. One rabbit was seen to swing to the right and another going out directly ahead of Mad Cap. He came to life as in his first series and made a nice showing. The rabbit which turned to the right to all appearances was a small rabbit or creeper. Lady picked his trail along through the brush while Mad Cap was driving his rabbit hard in the opposite direction. It was evident to all Mad Cap would not have made a showing if Lady's rabbit ability had not carried him along until he had the good fortune to again run on to a rabbit and got away to a good drive, of course it would be difficult to definitely state which rabbit was the original Lady or Mad Cap was running, at any rate Lady must be given credit for producing a rabbit after her brace mate had proven he could not carry the scent.

15 Inch Class.

The larger hounds usually drive harder and give the gallery more thrills than the small hound class. The first series displayed a nice quality of hound work. Some of the hounds entered showed lack of experience, but these same hounds this fall may develop into real derby prospects.

The first series can be skipped over as the judges carried six hounds back into the second series, half of the entire class.

Twister Jr. ran a wonderful first series and was braced with Swingalong Fan in the second series. Fan reversed the decision in this heat winning easily. She settled down to business putting bunny out of one swale into another, a chase full of thrills for the gallery as the whole race was in the open. Fan cutting out most of the work.

Johnston's Sheba was braced with Haig's Toiler. Sheba had all the hunt expected of a puppy and a little more, but when it came to rabbit ability Toiler was the better hound.

Haig's Mischief and Haig's Forager was braced together, both hounds were put on a marked trail. Mischief ran a nice race out in front most of the time and also picking most of the turns. These puppies were both driving their game when ordered up.

The last and final brace found Haig's Toiler with Haig's Mischief braced together running for first and second place. Toiler started his own game in a swamp, Mischief barked in, both puppies giving as wonderful an exhibition of trailing as ever will be encountered in an all-age stake. The gallery having the opportunity to observe most of the work as bunny was driven from swamp to swale and back again. This hound called Toiler was unbeatable, "as good a puppy as ever run at a field trial was the unanimous decision of the old timers who had the good fortune to observe this heat.

ENGLISH BULLDOG CLUB OF CANADA PREPARING FOR SPECIALTY SHOW IN FALL.

Everything is now set for the above Club to hold its Second show under C.K.C. rules, and at the Club's recent meeting it was finally decided to stage same on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 11th next.

It is expected that a well known authority of the Breed will hand out the awards and there is every reason to believe that the show will be much larger and better than previous. A novel feature will be staged at this event in the manner of a Puppy sweepstake; an added burden to a Secretary in the preparation of, and staging same, but F. W. Walkerdine will handle this with pleasure and any other event that will keep the "Sour Mug" before the public eye.

The attendance at the regular monthly meetings have been encouraging and with the community spirit prevailing among the members the Secretary is about to prepare a Field and Sports day programme to be pulled off at High Park during the summer.

This progressive Club makes a point of sparing no effort towards an abundance of special prizes and Cups to be won outright at these Shows and this year's show will be no exception to the rule. So soon as the Judge has been decided upon further particulars will appear in the advertising columns of this paper, and those who are interested in this Breed can obtain further particulars from the Secretary, Fred W. Walkerdine, 127 Bingham Ave., Toronto 13.

HAMILTON AND DISTRICT BEAGLE ASSOCIATION TRIALS

The Hamilton and District Beagle Association held their second annual Spring Trials at Kilbride, Ont., on Sunday April 28th, and Sunday May the 5th. On April 28th the Club certainly did not get a break with the weather, as just after the 13-inch Derbies had been run off the rain came down in torrents, making it impossible to go on with the 15-inch Derbies and the Mixed All Age. These two events were competed for on Sunday May 5th.

The postponement caused quite a cut in the entries as some of the fanciers who had a distance to come, were not able to make it the following Sunday.

The mixed All Age as it might be called (but not according to "Hoyle", as far as field trials are concerned) consisted of 13 and 15-inch dogs being put down together. The idea of the Hamilton Club in running an affair of this kind was to get all the boys out together. Mr. Filman's Aldershot Doctor, winner of this class, always gives a good account of himself at the trials. This fellow has speed to burn.

Russell King's latest importation, Shady Shores Silklyk, winner of the 13-inch Derby is certainly a stylish little Miss of 13 inches, and she is a wizard in the field. She repeated the following Sunday May 5th, by winning the 15-inch Derbies.

The prizes in all cases were good sized Silver Cups to be won outright. The judging was very capably handled by Messrs. Wm. Hancock, Walter Langdon and Wm. Ballantyne.

NEW POMS FOR MELBOURNE KENNELS.

Mrs. J. W. Bruce, of the Melbourne Kennels at Richmond Hill, Ont., is seldom content during the Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter, unless she is negotiating in England for "Something new in Poms." Her last shipments to arrive at the Melbourne Kennels were no less than three, two males and one female.

One of the males was a youngster not yet a year old, and bearing the dignified name of Chiswick Chieftain, a bold name for a black Pom. Chieftain is said to be one of the best black Pomeranians to leave England this year, and has for his sire Chiswick Spade King, and for his dam Chiswick Bessie, thus giving him a double cross of Ch. Chiswick Authority. The Sire of Chiswick Spade King, Magician's Double is a son of Ch. Magician of Melyd, and this breeding will go far to enriching the blood of the Melbourne Poms already rich, as that blood is known to be.

Chiswick Dulcie, an orange daughter of Normandale Raffles ex Daisy of Normandale and still on her sea legs was introduced to the Canadian Shows being at Toronto Kennel Club Show held on Good Friday at Toronto, and won 2nd place in the two strong classes, Limit and Open, and when she becomes acclimatized, she will do much better than that on future circuits. Ch. Gold Premium and Ch. Sunbright Tatcho are noted dogs appearing in Dulcie's pedigree and good puppies are expected from her as a matter of course.

WELL KNOWN BULLDOG FAN- CIER DEAD.

Our bulldog fanciers will regret to learn of the death of a good friend of the breed in the person of the late J. A. Anderson, of St. Lamberts, near Montreal. Our comrade was operated on at Montreal General Hospital for tumor on the brain on March 26th., the following day he died, and on the 30th., he was laid to his last rest.

The funeral was largely attended by the late Mr. Anderson's doggie friends, associates and friends of Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, of which Association he was a prominent member. A large presentation from various Montreal Masonic bodies attended, making the funeral most impressive to all who attended. Those of us who were unable to attend will always remember the big broad smile and the hearty handshake which were always forthcoming when our late friend would appear on the scene. To be happy and to look the part was characteristic of Mr. Anderson, and he will be greatly missed by many who were proud to have his friendship.

SOMETHING NEW AT WINDSOR.

"Something new for Windsor" was how the doggie fraternity of the Border Cities labelled the first Matinee Show ever held in Windsor. It is true that other dog shows have been held at Windsor, as for instance, the All-Breed Summer Show of 1925, held by the Windsor section of the altogether too short-lived Western Ontario Kennel Association, Inc., but the Matinee show was "something new" and to properly honor the occasion, Fred Wright was brought over from Battle Creek to judge the 150 dogs that the populace brought together for his appreciation—gave the best day of the year. The Mayor, Cecil E. Jackson came out, and in a few words of real welcome made the fanciers and their friends feel that the afternoon's sport was to be more of a public function than a dog show. The grounds of the Windsor Jockey Club was the venue, and everything desirable was convenient there.

The City Parks Commission had sent out plenty of the park benches, which, when laid end on end, constituted a judging ring half an acre in size, the floor of which was a close-cropped green sward of velvety appearance. Wire-haired Fox Terriers, Alsatians, Collies, and English Setters were plentiful, whilst the other breeds were well represented too. Vice-President C. R. Tweney, had quite an army of assistants who seemed to have been drilled to take care of their own job, leaving the popular and youthful President, Jack Perdue, free to take care of the many distinguished citizens who spent the afternoon in the doggie atmosphere. Dr. Perdue, Jack's father and the father of Windsor dogdom was his boy's assistant on the reception end for the day—a happy arrangement.

All of the foregoing augurs well for the temporary club and officers becoming a very permanent club and executive following the June meeting as per the present schedule of arrangements and there is secret made of the newly organized club's intention to demonstrate its strength by wrestling with a championship show in the near future and right here we would offer the suggestion, that to come on immediately before or immediately after the Detroit Kennel Club Show next spring should be a possibility worthy of the club's serious consideration.

Page 12 of Saturday, May 25th, issue of the Border Cities Star has been given over entirely to a review of the show, two-thirds of the space to pictures and the remaining third to reading matter on the doings of the day at the dog show and herein lies a secret source of strength that only a few clubs have so far been able to tap—if indeed they have ever tried. It is a good Kennel club practice to have friends in the sports departments of the Canadian dailies, and with this thought in mind, clubs might do worse than consider having members of the sports branch of a newspaper plant as honorary club members.

After the labors of the day had come to an end the club members and their friends came together for refreshment at a banquet held at the Sylvan Tea Rooms and the writer noted that there was not a vacant chair in the room and here His Worship, Mayor Jackson, together with Fred Wright, W. J. Kent and the writer were declared to be the guests of the club, and speaking for the guests, we would say, that if the club enjoyed having us there as guests, we were more than delighted to have the club as our host. The night was given over to short talks and community singing and it was quite remarkable to notice the extent of the evening's pleasure.

"Keep an eye on Windsor," is our advice, with the fanciers there working in the May 24th combination they can "put over" anything they may set out to do.

WITH THE BOSTON TERRIER

(By Vincent G. Perry, London, Ontario.)

In the years that I have been privileged to judge in the United States and Canada, despite the fact that a great number of champions have passed before me for judgment, there are three dogs that stand out in my mind as real thrill-givers. When they stepped into the ring and I had an opportunity of going over them, on each occasion I have thrilled to the finger tips at the sight of such perfection. The first was at Chicago in 1922 when Mrs. McGlone showed her marvellous youngster Mosholu Bunkio, which was the best puppy of the breed I have ever seen and an easy winner for top honors on that day. The second thrill came at Detroit in 1926 when Detroit News came in fresh from his victory at Boston. Here was the matured finished dog in perfect shape, a dog that filled my eye and satisfied me as the nearest approach to ideal type that I could imagine. He went best in show under me that day over several champions. And the third thrill, just as poignant as the other, came on Good Friday of this year at Chicago when the most adorable young female Boston I have seen in ages stepped smartly in and took her place with one of the fastest aggregations of lightweight females any judge could be privileged to go over. This female Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frisbee's Glint of Gold captured me on the first glance and when I had an opportunity to go over her point for point I felt just as a lover of the old masters must feel when he views a Rembrandt or a Gainsborough—for here was a masterpiece of Boston Terrier dog flesh, a truly wonderful specimen. Picture a rich brindle into which are set ideal markings on face and limbs, markings of snowy whiteness. See a front that is a front, beautiful cat-like feet, rounded bone, plenty of substance, and the legs placed true and carried straight down. Picture a head that is truly feminine, yet shows no weakness, no wrinkle, no lippiness, a skull, a body of most graceful correct lines, a tail set on low, cleanest of shoulders, and hindquarters that carry their proud little possessor about with the gait and stride of a hackney. If there is another Boston terrier female in all the world like Frisbee's Glint of Gold, I have yet to see it. Can she be faulted? Yes—but not seriously.

And from all this one can gather that at the Chicago Kennel Club Show, Frisbee's Glint of Gold was awarded best Boston Terrier and best non-supporting dog under my judgment and it was my day to do the placing.

There was a nice entry of sixty-two Bostons at this show, which was very fair, considering that it was a three day show and a specialty show the day before was much more attractive to exhibitors who can only spare a short time from business.

Junior puppy dogs had a nice entry in Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Cameron's Royal Actor aptly named for his showing qualities and his all-round type was royal enough. He was seriously considered for reserve winners.

Puppy dogs gave first to a pleasing youngster, T. K. Woodburr's Darby Boy, a fairly light mahogany brindle, uncropped, built on ultra-terrier lines, but quite a bit ahead of the others. Age will give him the proper strengthening up and letting down required to make him a headliner. (2) Rosehome Kennels' Rosehome Honey Boy, more compact than the winner but not shown in good order and lacks finish just now. (3) Rockefeller 2nd, a better than average puppy which will mature into a heavyweight where he can hold his own.

Novice lightweight found Darby Day again first with H. W. McCathern's Corky Rockefeller second. Corky is an all-round genuine terrier with lots to recommend him. Third, Mrs. S. S. Kaufman's Rockefeller 2nd, who was weighed in the next class and found to be entered in his wrong class, Fourth to Miss Glen Wood's, My Own Moody, a taking little stock dog but not a show specimen.

Limit lightweights found My Cincinnati reserve winners dog Fascination Lot of Fun in first place. Here too, his good head put him across second to Mildred Littlejohn's Chocolate Soldier, a terrier dog with lots to recommend him. Hindquarters were his greatest handicap here. Third was Rosehome Kennels' Rosehome Gossoon shown in excellent condition, beautifully marked and with a coat like satin truly; he possessed a good skull and eye, but was inclined to the lay-back type of muzzle and was uncertain in shoulders and limbs. This is not the type of dog I am accustomed to under the Rosehome colors.

Open lightweights found Rosehome Gossoon first with My Own Moody second and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Siebert's Mickey again third.

Novice middleweights was an easy first for Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Wood's Sigourney Sequel a son of the old King himself. Built on generous lines he favors the bully type a bit too much, but he was most attractively marked, beautiful in coloration and was asking for his ribbon all the time. (2) Miss Glen Wood's How About Me—well that's it, how about him?

Limit middleweights found Miss Glen Wood's Rialto Peach first. This dog remains an ideal bodied one, beautiful in color and markings, but wooden all over. (2) Sigourney Sesqui, owned by Fred E. Harrison, a nice even middleweight with lots of good everywhere. He was unfortunate to be in with a dog so good in the spots where he was weak, with the result that his faults appeared exaggerated here. The decision might have gone either way. Third to Alex. Williams' Tri-City News, not so good as the other two.

Open middleweights brought in the winners dog in Dr. and Mrs. Brandle's Rockabye Tunney, a gloriously marked dark seal brindle, possessing beautiful lines, almost perfect feet and limbs and not so bad in head points, though I would like a bit more clean chiseling in head and a better eye, these improvements would give him the needed finish and quality—but then what can the doctor expect in one litter. (Ch. Rockabye Dempsey is a litter brother, and he certainly has the head and quality).

Rialto Peach was second and another extra good middleweight Glenway Skipper was third.

Heavyweights had nothing startling and winners went to Rockabye Tunney with Fascination Lot of Fun in reserve position.

The minor classes in female were ordinary but open American bred brought in two nice ones in Friendship, My Cincinnati winners female who won with little to spare over John S. Troske's Diana Sensation, a neat one with plenty of real Boston terrier type.

The lightweight classes were the best in the show. In this Frisbee's Glint of Gold walked away with the honors. (2) Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Heydorn's Sunny Girl, a daughter of Ravenroyd Round-up and resembling him in head, but even better than her sire there, clean in cheek and no suggestion of lay-back whatever. At first I had this bitch lined up for fourth place but each time I passed over her I saw more good in her and finally moved her up to second place. Her front feet need work on, she is not at all good in feet but her beautiful head, her nice even markings, nice neck and clean shoulders, and sound hindquarters scored her higher in my eyes than her nearest competitor Rosehome Kennels' Rosehome Peaches. Here is an attractively marked and compactly built female, not as refined in headpoints or as good in expression as Rosehome females usually are, and the superiority she had in front over Sunny Girl was offset by faulty hindquarters. Fourth in this class was Michael Lally's Nealy's Haggerty, a bit overdone all over, built more on the lines of a stock dog than a show female in my opinion. She might have changed places with Friendship for fifth place in this very good class of lightweights. The worth of this class can be estimated when I state that a week previously the bitch finishing fifth had winners under me at Cincinnati and the day before the fourth bitch had been awarded winners and best of winners at the specialty show under another judge, and had defeated all the females I placed over her.

Open was a repeat.

Middleweights were outclassed by their lighter sisters, but first in the principal class went to Rosehome Kennels' Hummels Beauty, more like a Rosehome entry, but unfortunately showing too plainly signs of approaching maternal duties. She was an attractive bitch in color and markings, possessed the expression we all like on a female and showed well. Her front was excellent and she moved well behind.

It was an easy winners ribbon for Frisbee's Glint of Gold with Sunny Girl fighting it out with Hummel's Beauty for reserve position. Sunny Girl won on head points and the Rosehome bitch had to be penalized for lack of show condition. Some of my Chicago friends questioned my judging of the reserve winners bitch and thought I erred in this placing, so the day after the judging I asked to see Sunny Girl on the bench and on the floor, and I did not change my opinion of her, in fact was pleasantly surprised with her general good quality. She is a high class bitch in spite of her one apparent glaring fault.

Best of breed brought Glint of Gold in against the winning dog, Rockabye Dempsey. The bitch won handily.

This was my fourth judging engagement in Chicago in six years, and it gave me great pleasure to renew old acquaintances. The Chicago fanciers are good losers and good winners.

TWO NEW RECRUITS TO "WIRES" IN CANADA.

Within the last few days we have received from across the Atlantic a couple of good Wire-Haired Fox Terrier Fanciers that are welcome in our midst, both have the necessary credentials to command our respect and consideration from the first.

We will let Holland Buckley himself introduce our first visitor, and will do so, by quoting from "Fox Terrier Facts," as they appear on page 102 of the April 12th issue of "Our Dogs";

"The old saying that: 'One's meat is another's poison' is peculiarly pertinent to bad news just received that Mr. Guy Cowper is leaving the old country for good to take up a very important position for his firm in Toronto, Canada. The Northumberland expert will be a tower of strength to the Canadian Fancy, for without any question whatsoever, his ability in judging smooths, or wires for that matter, is outstanding, and that combined with a pleasing diffident personality will soon make him a prime favorite over there, where they quicken to real men in very short order. The Australian fancy are strongly in our friend's debt, for the exportation of Ch. Gay Lally, Ch. Netwell Radiance and Ch. Staunch Swell; the fancy out there has been practically re-made. Doubtless our Canadian friends will have equal cause in the future to be pleased at our friend's presence amongst them."

Mrs. Phyllis Robson of the "Dog World" (England) says on page 1402 of the April 19th issue: "I was awfully sorry to hear that Mr. Guy Cowper, the Fox Terrier fancier—one of the very best—is leaving the North for Canada, where he intends to settle permanently. We shall all miss Mr. Cowper's genial smile, breezy ways and he will be a great acquisition to 'The Canadian Fancy'. I can see my good friend, Mr. 'Jimmie' Strachan, the secretary of the Canadian Kennel Club and Editor of Kennel and Bench welcoming him."

Having met Mr. Cowper we can bear out the testimonies of Brother Holland and Sister Phyllis to the letter and there is a good place assured for Mr. Cowper as soon as he has time to come out and meet the boys.

Samuel Ruddell, of Ballymena, Ireland, is with us too, and Mr. Ruddell is already a member of the Canadian Kennel Club. You can't keep the Irish down that's obvious. Setters and Fox Terriers are the breeds that Mr. Ruddell has sponsored for the last 30 years, and he has some with him now, and others to follow later, and just as soon as he gets his land legs, finds a house to his liking, and other similar tasks that our visitors have to take care we will have Mr. Ruddell taking his place amongst us.

We heartily welcome both men and hope that they will find Canada and her Canadians worthy substitutes for the country and friends they have left behind in the Motherland.

it takes a steady powerful pull to reach China and Japan. Well, Kennel and Bench has that strong pull. Through the courtesy of Mr. B. J. Berry, Saskatoon, we publish the following:

"Shanghai, Jan. 18, 1929.

"Dear Sir:

"Yours truly,

Some powerful pull.

MY BULL TERRIER.

Bull Terrier? Sure she's a white 'un—there ain't no other breed.

Frolic 'round you in the sunshine, murder in time o' need.

Soul? O' course, she ain't got none. A dog with a soul, gee whiz!

We folks, so the preachers tell us, has all the souls that there is.

The thief has a soul, and a pander; the wife-beater, he has a soul;

But Frost! O' course not, she ain't on the lordly roll.

A dog when it dies, so they tell us, well—that dog is just plain dead, But we lofty human beings have eternity ahead.

And this Frost she ain't fit, like us Folks, for to enter into that same,

For she only minds her own business and raises her pups to be game.

The world has millions o' humans a-whinin' to thousands o' gods,

While this Frost asks nothin' from no one, whatever the bloomin' odds.

She never goes back on a pal, and there's nothin' can make her quit.

Not if you chopped her to pieces and burned her bit by bit.

But o' course, when she dies, she's a dead one, I have to go it alone,

And I ain't so keen on facin' that shadowy trail on my own.

Still, if I ever fluke into heaven, I'll bet I hain't long to wait, Till that blame little Frost comes smashing right through the pearly gate.

St. Peter could never stop her, not if she gets a start,

And if ever he looks in them eyes, I doubt if he'd have the heart.

This Frost, the preachers tell us, has no soul, and maybe it's true.

Though I knows the white on her jacket runs plumb clear all the way through—

Which is more'n I can say of some humans possessed of Immortal souls;

Well, loyalty maybe is foolish; it surely don't fatten no rolls.

Frost, I guess, is a fool, and don't know her way about,

For she'll stick, while your friends forget you as soon as you're down and out.

So, according to what they tell us, I'll have to say good-bye

To the game little pal of a white 'un When it comes my time to die.

That's right I suppose, but if ever she thinks that I need her—well,

That Frost'll knock down the devil and swim through the flames of hell.

—WEX JONES.

MARITIME NOTES

By HELEN MITCHELL DOHERTY, Halifax, N.S.

ONE of the most enthusiastic dog lovers of whom the Maritimes may boast is the Reverend Eric T. Davies. Dogs have been a hobby eagerly pursued since his early days, and from then until now he has been a constant exhibitor in both England and Wales, and more latterly in Canada. Sporting dogs, and more particularly Setters and Pointers, hold first place in his affection, and all the dogs, as soon as they are old enough, are personally broken and trained to their work by this enthusiastic sportsman. The kennel, not far from some of the best shooting in Nova Scotia, is beautifully situated on the edge of one of the famed Dartmouth lakes, and the dogs are provided with ample sunny runs. While the writer was there several of the Pointers were moved with a desire to demonstrate their ability in the water, so their beautiful, healthy, clean condition is understood.

Among the lot two youngsters stood out—a beautifully headed liver and white bitch, and a well grown dog pup, aptly named "Goliath," and showing promise in every line of him. One of the most playful of them all was a bitch, now eight years of age, a consistent winner on the other side, and but recently the dam of eight pups.

Although the present outlook is bright, Mr. Davies has experienced a frightful run of bad luck during the past few months. In the winter distemper swept through the kennel, causing the death of a beagle, a good foxhound bitch, and an Irish Setter pup which had been purchased from Henry McLeod, and was one of the litter by "Champion Samada Red King" ex "Champion Lady Haliburton." This seems quite enough, but worse was yet to come. For a long while Mr. Davies had been on the look-out in the old country for a young Pointer dog containing the bloodlines he desired with real type and quality. This at last he found in "Ochterloney Druid" by "Ferndale Friar" ex "Ferndale Charlotte," bred by the world famous Ferndale kennels. "Ochterloney Druid" was shipped out in due course, not yet quite a year old. A beautiful liver and white dog, he was about as perfect as they come, and most certainly would have made a name for himself in Canada and the States, besides doing much for the Pointers of our own province. He made a wonderful brace with a liver and white bitch imported by Mr. Davies last year. Only a short time after his arrival the dog was lured away, and although everything possible was done to find him, he was not discovered until about a week later, very ill with pneumonia. He was carefully nursed and doctored, but the disease had gained too much headway, and "Druid" finally succumbed. All fanciers will heartily sympathize with Mr. Davies in this grievous loss, and hope that the two bitches mated to "Druid" after his arrival, and one of which is now showing in whelp, will produce something worthy of their sire, and in part make up for his untimely death.

Miss Alice O'Brien last week received a young Sealyham bitch registered as "Shelterfield Sample," from the kennels of Mr. and Mrs. Ingersoll, to take the place of the late "Champion Saint Margaret May Queen." "Sample," although only ten months old, is giving promise of great things, and will be heard from when shown in the early autumn. It is safe to predict she will carry the Cardigan colors far. She is royally bred, being by "Champion Burnholme Bo Jum," the open Westminster winner of 1928, he being by "Internattional Champion Saint Margaret's Surprise of Lucknow." The dam, "Brash Belissima of Lucknow," is no less aristocratic, she being by Lord Dewar's well-known "Homestall Dod," ex the English "Champion Brash Bertha." "Shelterfield Sample" is the litter sister of "Shelterfield Saturnia," the winning Sealyham puppy at the last Westminster show, and her dam was winner of the puppy Criterion at the English Kennel Club show in 1925.

Miss O'Brien has just shipped a very good dog pup to Thomas Stevens of Toronto, and another to Captain Van Vleet of Camp Borden, both being by "Champion James of Saint Margaret" ex "Champion Relwolf Toodles."

The many friends of Mrs. P. A. Margeson will be pleased to learn she has returned home to Kentville after a successful operation at the Victoria General Hospital, and is convalescing slowly but satisfactorily at "Cedarcrest."

Fred O'Connell of Halifax has been doing much for the improvement of the Alsatian in the Maritimes. On his return from New York, where he spends part of each year, he brought back with him a very good brace of these dogs, the bitch having been imported from Germany. Last year he was fortunate enough to lose a nice bitch, she also having come from Germany. Mr. O'Connell has now a dog pup which we may expect to hear from later.

The Halifax Herald and Evening Mail are offering a nice five weeks old Newfoundland dog puppy as a gift to the person who sends in to this paper the most appropriate name. This pup was one of a litter owned and bred by Mrs. G. G. Buell, of Melville Cove. Both sire and dam are prize winners. To see this ball of fluff, merry sparkling eyes, and loving disposition, is to want him for one's own, and a wonderful pal and playmate he will be for the person fortunate enough to win him. F. Wm. Johnson, the president of the Nova Scotia Kennel Club, Mrs. Ora Doherty, and a third as yet unnamed, are, we understand, to be the judges.

FREEMAN LLOYD

Oscawana-on-Hudson New York

IN one of those events all too few among doggie folks, the Coast City Kennel Club put over a very enjoyable and sociable evening when their members and friends gathered together at a banquet in Love's Cafe, to celebrate the close of a most successful year. This club is but one year old, but is composed of enthusiastic fanciers who have made a success of their club and have put over a number of successful events and closed the year with a good financial statement, and, what is best of all, their membership in harmony.

We noticed amongst the guests a widespread representation of those interested in kennel matters: Messrs Alex. McCloy, from Victoria; J. C. Fletcher, Calgary; Mrs. T. P. Murray (formerly of Winnipeg), and many local fanciers of long standing, together with a number of new faces, which carries with it the prediction that the sport will have a long-continued existence.

The gathering sat down to a most sumptuous repast, the menu including everything as per the proverbial saying, from "soup to nuts," and even "ye editor's" heart would have been gladdened for the little frills so much craved for by some, were not overlooked. Mr. Gerald Stock, the president, presided and acted as toastmaster, and in his remarks outlined the activities of the club during its short life, and also made mention of one or two objects that he would like to see the fanciers working for, amongst which were an independent show building owned by the clubs with their own benching.

The following toasts were proposed and responded to: Mr. Alex. McCloy spoke for the "Visitors," and conveyed the greetings to the gathering from the Victoria City Kennel Club; Mr. W. H. Pym responded for the "Fanciers," and stressed on the need of all fanciers giving their support to all the shows. "The Canadian Kennel Club"—the names of Messrs. Pym and J. A. Meadows were coupled to respond, but Jack let Bill do all the talking and, as usual, Bill extolled the virtues of the C. K. C., touching lightly on its shortcomings, but withal asking a whole-hearted support of its members.

"Judges" were allotted to Mr. J. C. Fletcher, who gave to the audience the judge's side of life and asked that more consideration be given to those who take this part and to their decisions, and humorously referred to many incidents that crop up while filling this role.

"The Ladies" were responded to by Mr. R. W. Hatley, who gave the ladies full measure of credit for their assistance in all activities around the kennel and clubs.

"The Press" was responded to by Albert Kerr, who tried to leave the thought that as in all lines of publications, the press had to do with moulding public opinion, and only as the people gave to it in their interests, so would the result be, and if the doggie people were looking for a high standard Doggie paper, it was up to them to give, in thought and support, that these things might be conveyed to the rest of the world and the standard thereby raised accordingly; with particular reference to Kennel and Bench, the paper was theirs and open to them for their expressions.

"The Secretary" was responded to by Mr. Harry Lester, who, in his remarks, said that he looked forward to all the membership working for the betterment of the clubs and whole-hearted support of the clubs' efforts on their behalf.

The show superintendent, Mr. Percy Johnston, was referred to in happy vein, and replied to the compliments.

Mr. Stanley Dorrell, who has of late joined the staff of the local pound, was called upon, and gave to the meeting some of the workings at this institution, stating that the dog fanciers would find that the pound would ultimately be to their interests and invited a visit when the new building was put up.

Votes of thanks were tendered to the officers and members of the club on behalf of those attending the banquet, and the health of the officers was proposed by Messrs. Kerr and McCloy, bringing to a close one of the most enjoyable affairs in many moons amongst the doggie folks of these parts.

No matter with what intent one may record certain notes, having in mind to give justice where due, and how easily it is to make a slip, and how prone is the world at large to prod you on such slipping. In our last month's notes, we, without malice aforethought, in error, stated in our write up on the Coast City Kennel Club Show, that "Savanah's Surprise," an English Setter, belonged to Bill Willgress, but we were mistaken, not having a catalogue to refer to; it belongs to another member of the family, Mrs. Wally Willgress, of Vancouver.

Why the prodding? After all it was only a family matter. [Editor's note.]

The people of Victoria will be entertained to a real Whippet Handicap Meet on May 24th, when the Greater Vancouver and District Whippet Association will send over sixteen Whippets to compete in a series of races against several noted long tails from the States.

F. Pamplin's puppy, Ione, won the Greater Vancouver Whippet Association's Handicap at Memorial Park, on Saturday afternoon, April 27th, beating J. W. Talbot's The Magpie and W. McLeod's Johann in the final.

Ione had previously won the first heat, while The Magpie captured the second heat, T. Upfield's Pat Baker the third heat, and Johann the fourth heat. A large crowd witnessed the races.

That good little Boston lady, Ch. Betty Marie, owned by Mrs. E. A. Dunn, presented a litter of three nice puppies to her mistress, sired by Steeve's "I Am the King." May they all be champions!

The Victoria City Kennel Club certainly merit the congratulations of the fanciers and visitors to their show held on Saturday, May 18th. A one-day fixture turned out to be a four-point affair, and the largest and best ever put on by this club. We noted the large number of fanciers from the different sections: Vancouver, Nanaimo, New Westminster and other Island and Mainland points, and a large following from the fanciers from across the line, all of which is most pleasing, and the word co-operation is becoming more a reality amongst the kennel agreeably surprised at the general layout and arrangements; the decorations added a pleasing touch and finish to the whole affair, and a "little bird" gave us the whisper, that the committee were unable to get the building until past eleven o'clock the previous evening to start and set up the benching and show ring, which meant working well into the next morning to complete this work and have same ready to receive the dogs, but it was accomplished, and with such enthusiasm, more the reason that the successful conclusion was merited.

A touch of dignity was added to this show when, shortly after noon, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor officially opened the show. He congratulated the club on its success in the show, manifesting his approval of various animals as he saw them in their cages. He then presented the Governor's medal to the club to award to the Best Dog in the Show.

A stroll through the benches revealed a sight for sore eyes to the Sporting Dog fanciers. Just fancy an entry of forty English Setters, and this in the very centre, where the good ones are located, and quality a predominating factor. These were closely followed by the English Springer Spaniels, with thirty-two benched, showing how fast this favorite sporting dog is coming to the fore here. A large entry was benched from the Pinehill Kennels and an entry of four from the Morgan Kennels of Fir, Wash., which included "High Tide Barney," set at a sale price of $2,500. Cockers were represented by nineteen entries, including those from all the noted breeders on the Coast and from across the line. Pointers numbered fourteen, with quality being an outstanding feature. And while on the sporting dogs, it would be well to mention that it was a most pleasing sight to see the Gordon Setters back in the limelight with eight entries; and the Irish with five—and good ones at that.

In the Terriers, as usual, the Fox Terriers topped the list with twenty-four. George Lydiatt with his string sweeping the boards. Next came our old favorite, the Scotties, with an entry of seventeen, and we would add the wave of popularity that has taken hold of this breed in the East also for Best Scottie Puppy. This one possesses a very good head and ear carriage, dark, keen eye, and short body, and ought to improve.

And so on down the different sections the different breeds were well represented, even to a showing of seven Pugs, which have been a rarity at all shows for a number of years, and, as we stated before, that quality stood out in all sections of the show, far too much work for any one man to do in such a short time on a four-point show. As a result, the judging extended well into the small hours of the morning before it was completed, but the judge was favored with the assistance of Major H. W. Niven and Mr. J. K. Angus as ring stewards, with Mr. W. Moore as superintendent, and a bench show committee and ladies' committee that had the show working in clock-like precision; and not to overlook the secretary, Mr. Dodsworth, who had everything up-to-date, and with the trophies and specials in a caged-off portion on view and ready for delivery to the winning recipients.

We were pleased to see that good old fancier and sportsman, Mr. Topp Turner, up and around again, and as interested as ever after such a long siege of illness. Here is wishing him long-continued good health.

In passing the Pinehill Kennels benches, we noticed two congratulatory telegrams posted up, from Mr. Freeman Lloyd and Mr. E. Chevrier, upon the large entry of Springers at this show.

In closing, would again state that the Armouries made the very best building obtainable to put on this show and provided all the accommodation required for all, and other clubs throughout Canada would be well advised to try and secure these buildings in the respective locations for to hold their shows in.

The Tail-Waggers' Club

(Its Origin, Development and Activities)

INAUGURATED by the National Dog Week Council as one phase of its activity in connection with the First National Dog Week (September 23rd to 29th, 1928), the Tail-Waggers' Club has achieved a degree of success entirely unanticipated by the most enthusiastic of its promoters.

For a proper understanding of the place and purpose of the Tail-Waggers' Club, it is necessary, as a preliminary, to understand the objects for which the National Dog Week Council (under the presidency of the Earl of Chesterfield, K.G.) came into existence. These can be quite briefly stated.

There are in this country to-day, approximately three and a-half million homes in which there are dogs—sufficient indication of the important place occupied by the dog in British family life. The value of the dog as comrade and servant is being more and more widely recognized, and within recent years there has been an immense increase in the canine population. It is impossible to assess in terms of material things the debt that men and women owe to dogs, but we do owe it to them to ensure them those living conditions conducive to health and happiness which are the prerogative of all animal life. The conditions of the dog's existence are wholly determined by its human masters. The law protects the dog, as it protects all living things, from overt cruelty, but the dog is still subject to a very great deal of unintentional cruelty, based not on ill-will but on ignorance; and whereas the dog may be a blessing in a home, there are still far too many cases in which it is a nuisance to the community. The fault is not the dog's, but the dog-owner's, and again ignorance is the cause.

It was to counteract that ignorance, to afford such enlightenment to the public as should make for the general health and happiness of the canine race and the comfort and well-being of the general community, that the National Dog Week was instituted.

That the National Dog Week Council, in inaugurating the Movement, did not err in believing that it would have the sympathy and moral support of all people of good feeling, is soundly evidenced by the fact that the published report of the activities of the First National Dog

Week show that over nine hundred localities linked up to assist the furtherance of the work.

But in addition to its educational objectives, the National Dog Week Council has also a philanthropic one—the financial assistance of institutions devoted to the welfare of dogs, and it is the intention of the Council each year to select a beneficiary of its money-raising activities.

At present the Council is directing its energies to the assistance of the Royal Veterinary College Canine Diseases Appeal Fund, no less a sum than £20,000 being required for the rebuilding of the canine departments of the College, the installation of thoroughly modern equipment, the continuation on the scale demanded by modern conditions of the "Poor People's Out-Patient Department" (treating over ten thousand cases a year), and, what is now a vital national necessity, the establishment and endowment of a Chair of Canine Medicine and Surgery.

In connection with the last-mentioned, one has only to consider that "Canine Hysteria" or "Fright Disease" is becoming increasingly prevalent, yet defies all efforts hitherto to determine its cause, and that Chorea (St. Vitus' Dance), Stuttgart Disease, Follicular Mange, Rheumatism, Interdigital Abscesses, Corneal Ulcers, and other troubles, are still "obscure" as to origin and without known certain treatment and cure, to realize how imperative it is that funds should be promptly forthcoming which will make intensive and concentrated study possible.

The establishment of a Chair of Canine Medicine and Surgery, through the R.V.C. Canine Diseases Appeal Fund, will make that study possible; will permit the finest brains in veterinary science to tackle the problems of these canine troubles; will benefit incalculably the whole world of dogs and dog-owners.

Of the capital sum of £20,000 required, the National

Dog Week Council has already raised and handed over £5,000; and of this, nearly two thousand pounds has been provided by the Tail-Waggers' Club.

The enthusiasm for this, the first and only Club for dogs, has been astounding. Its inauguration was announced at a meeting at Birmingham on September 5th, 1928, and the first fifteen recruits enrolled within five minutes. On September 29th the first membership medallion was despatched. On November 26th the membership had reached 10,000 and exceeded that figure by some hundreds, and by January 21st, 1929, the membership had doubled to 20,000, and was increasing at the rate of 250 a day. And the membership was not confined to large cities and towns, but was at that time distributed amongst nearly two thousand different cities, towns, and villages in the British Isles.

The Tail-Waggers' Club has long ceased to be localized in Great Britain or to be even an Empire Institution; amongst the first 20,000 members are to be found dogs resident in Gibraltar, India, South Africa, New Zealand, Australia, Jamaica, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Sweden, Italy, Egypt Transjordan, Persia, Poland, United States, and Canada. While some of the primary benefits of the Club are necessarily most readily available to the British dog and dog owner, there is recognition throughout the world of the importance of its present work for the Royal Veterinary College, and people of all nations and languages are joining in swelling the Club membership and aiding the great work in progress.

All dogs are eligible for membership whose masters and mistresses take an intelligent interest in their welfare, and recognize their right to "Fresh clean water always, right food regularly, housing comfortably, exercise daily, kindness invariably," as these are the conditions of life which keep a dog's tail wagging.

The entrance fee and life subscription are combined in one initial payment; the minimum is two shillings, but as much more may be sent as desired. This necessarily has to be paid in currency of the realm by the dog-owner, but on the understanding that the dog will more than repay over a term of years in sterling companionship, fidelity and loyalty.

Promptly on receipt of membership fee there is despatched—
For the Dog:

- (1) A handsome oxydized silver collar medallion bearing on the reverse the dog's distinctive membership number, which is equivalent to a doggy monogram and identity disc.

For the Owner:

- (2) Certificate of the dog's membership.
- (3) Certificate entitling to free postal advice on dog management, hygiene, and general information during the life of the dog enrolled.

"DOC" The Wonderful Shepherd Dog

"DOC" of course is only a stage name for the German shepherd dog registered as Blitz von Dusterbrook, (C.K.C.S.B. 66963) bred by L. S. Hutchinson the popular and well-known Chief of Police at Moncton, N.B. and now owned by the "Joe" Milanson, of the same city. "Doc" is only two years old past the 14th day of May, and already he has appeared on the vaudeville stages of every city and town from Halifax to Toronto.

Billed as the "Rin Tin Tin of Canada" "Doc" goes through a lengthy programme of unusual difficulty with an accuracy that is bewildering. To see "Doc" go backwards up a ladder of apparently frail construction, to perch on a tiny platform waving a Union Jack is to get a real thrill out of a trained animal act.

For Mr. Melanson, "Jack London Clubs" or "Humane Societies" can only mean friends. His training methods are based on kindness. "Doc" with a brain developed to a degree that may be compared to the brain of a normal child of 12 years of age, simply asks for teaching, and glories in his work on stage or in the parlor, and how he does adore his master Milanson. At the rate that "Doc" learns new lessons he should soon be known as "Canada's Greatest Trained Dog." In fact he meets that specification now, and it will only be a matter of time until he requires further room for the demonstration of his abilities.

Mr. Melanson is a native of New Brunswick, "Doc" is also a native of New Brunswick and so it is a "Canadian-bred" turn all round, and so, "Doc's" appearances should be welcomed by all dog fanciers wherever he may be billed to appear.

Some of "Doc's" accomplishments are to push a baby carriage on the street, through heavy traffic for three miles on his hind legs, and three miles is not his limit by any means. He just loves to do this particular turn. Selecting any number called for by any person in the audience, and himself selecting and showing the number to the caller, jumping through hoops, barrels, etc. are great fun for him. An especial treat is to be allowed to enter a school playground and to mingle with the children and take part in their games. "Ball" games, of course, are favored by "Doc." When "Doc" is at his devotions no distractions can disturb him, and only the word "Amen" spoken reverently by Mr. Milanson may conclude "Doc's" offering to his recognized deity.

From a dog lover's point of view "Doc" is a most desirable pal. His devotion to his master is pathetic. The dog is healthy, splendidly bred, always happy, kind with children, in fact the dog fancier's ideal.

On Thursday afternoon, May 9th, Mr. Milanson and "Doc" were the invited guests of Riverdale Kiwanis Club. A hit was made when genial Joe asked "Doc" to shake hands with the club's president, and then with the secretary of the Canadian Kennel Club. So much were the 100 odd business men taken up with "Doc's" introduction that every chair was turned in the direction of the improvised platform, and when "Doc" picked out certain numbers asked for by the club members—from a series of cards, the generous audience readily agreed that "Doc" was no common actor. Hoop and barrel jumping at various heights showed "Doc" to be delightful in disposition and in condition, and when he scaled a 15-foot ladder backwards to an elevated platform waving a Union Jack in mouth whilst the strains of "O Canada" filled the room. "Doc" and Joe Milanson were given an ovation that both received most graciously.

Dog fanciers living in cities where "Doc" is billed to appear on the stages of their communities, should see this dog perform. They should also meet the dog and the owner as well.

AND AS JOE SAYS:—

"Now he shares my board, and he owns my bed,
And he fairly shouts when he hears my tread.
Then if things go wrong, as they sometimes do,
And the world is cold, and I'm feeling blue,
He asserts his right to assuage my woes
With a warm, red tongue and a nice, cold nose,
And a silky head on my arm or knee,
And a paw as soft as a paw can be.
When we rove the woods for a league about
He's as full of pranks as a school let out;
For he romps and frisks like a three-months' colt,
And he runs me down like a thunder-bolt.
Oh, the blithest of sights in the world so fair
Is my dog 'Doc' with his tail in air!"

Eastern Collie Club of Canada Specialty Show

(Special Report to Kennel and Bench by Jack Milner, Ottawa)

The Eastern Collie Club of Canada held its specialty show in the Labor Temple, Toronto, on Empire Day with a wonderful array of specials, and a large number of dogs in competition. Mr. Daniel Taylor of the Inverness Collie Kennels, Chicago, was a visitor to the show and another good old-timer Tom Milner was keenly interested in the placings of the judge, Bert Swann, of Newcastle, Ont., and as one Collie man to another this same Bert Swann has no superior on this continent where judging Collies is concerned.

As a visitor to this show the writer was much disappointed in the way in which support from other breeders were lacking. Specialty Clubs need and should have all the support that it is possible for fellow Specialty Clubs to give them.

In passing comment on the awards I would say to those who exhibited that they are written in a friendly spirit, without fear or favor, the awards in my opinion faultless, and were as follows:

PUPPY DOGS.

1. King Billy—Better type than above, too high in ear carriage.
2. Laird o' Thrums—Just a fair specimen, wants time too.
3. Mayfair Mack.

NOVICE DOGS.

1. King Billy.
2. Heather Perriot—Another fair sort lacking finish.
3. Laird o' Thrums.

CANADIAN BRED. (Any Color)

1. Captain Luke—A big upstanding sable and white, and a good shower, now losing coat on neck and shoulders, not so good in eye and finish of foreface as when I saw him last November.

2. Heather Perriot.
3. Laird o' Thrums.

LIMIT (Sable and White)

1. Captain Luke.
2. Highland Chief—A well-grown dog, grand body, legs and feet; his head qualities leave much to be desired.

3. Heather Perriot.

LIMIT (Any Other Color)

1. Beverley's Jubilee Tige.
2. Highland Supreme.
3. Laird o' Thrums.

PUPPY FEMALES.

1. Straun Princess.
2. Landseer Jeanette—Just another fair sort.

NOVICE FEMALES (Any Color)

1. Alford Mignonette—A sable and white; stood out from those above, a good shower, sound and of good quality all round.

2. Page Farm Phyllis—Not as good in quality as the Alford Mignonette on the day.

3. Landseer Jeanette.

LIMIT FEMALES (Sable and White)

1. Alford Mignonette.
2. Rough Coat Rosalie—Rather a nice one this but not in show condition, having left her puppies at home, splendid foreface but a little high in ears and light in bone; will do better another day.

OPEN FEMALES (Sable and White)

1. Ch. Sefton Whirlwind—Won here and rightly so, grand type, on the old "Parbold" lines, grand skull, and evenly built with the exception of standing a little wide in front.

2. Alford Mignonette—An easy second.

3. Highland Princess.

LIMIT (Any Other Color) FEMALES

1. Alton Triclor.
2. Aldwych Lass.
3. Scotch Bet.

"Three of a Kind," only moderate.

VETERANS DOGS AND BITCHES.

1. Trossacks Princess—Won easily; had quality rarely seen in a 9-years-old dog, head of good type and still free from coarseness and as sprightly as a puppy, should have been in more classes.

2. Highland Supreme.
3. Jack.

The judging for Best in Show took place in the evening and if ever two dogs got a real going over it was Captain Luke and Ch. Sefton Whirlwind with the honors going rightly to Whirlwind whose movement was perfect. The same could not be said for Captain Lukes whose hind action was not at all comparable; he won over her in shoulders, but lost again in eye and head finish—a good decision truly.

Collie Fanciers don't overlook the two shows to be held in Ottawa next August; entry fee is only a dollar a class. Mr. Reeves is one judge—he knows his Collies. Mr. Hopton is the other—he may know them too. So come to Ottawa and get two opinions in four days. I'll be pleased to meet you there.

The Ladies' Kennel Club Shows

TWO shows in two days and both managed and held under the banner of The Ladies' Kennel Club of Canada, Inc., Montreal, was the fare offered to fanciers on Wednesday and Thursday, May 29th and 30th, and whilst the arrangement was new, it must be said that everything in connection with the shows was pretty nearly all new as well. But the striking features were: The terrific heat handed out by "Old Sol" on both days, making life trying for man and dog; particularly did the Bulldog entry suffer despite a plentiful supply of ice being on hand at all times. In one class alone we noticed two dogs lying prostrate in the ring at the same time, and Judge Otto Gross is to be complimented on the consideration he gave to the animals that were unable to stand up. The venue of the show was The Mount Royal arena, and only for the fact that it was so far removed from downtown it was ideal in every respect. The other striking feature is, that no same club will hold two shows in two days in future.

What a tremendous expense the Ladies' club must have incurred for these two shows, no wonder the president, Mrs. J. H. Enright, gets greyer over the temples all the time, and no wonder her smile was not as steadily prominent as of yore. Her critics dwelt on "the idea of a two-dollar entry fee for each class." A pretty lame excuse for failing to support a dog show. It is a matter of record that everything that we know or, changed its value after 1914, only dog show entry fees—just think that

The judges were Otto H. Gross of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Anton Rost of New York City and, on the whole, the placings of both men were well received. That they did not see eye to eye exactly, will be noticed from our award columns; but then, if all judges happened to see alike, much of the attraction of dog showing would be lost to us. For his Best of all Breeds Mr. Rost found the Pekingese Rajah of Hesketh Wo Kee—the Borzoi club winner—to be his best on the first day, and on the second day, Mr. Gross found the Bulldog bitch, Ch. Westdorf's Miss Cintrason as Queen of the Carnival, and as both are real high-class specimens, and that they had lots of competition, speaks much for the quality of the dogs at the Montreal fixtures.

We never intended to report the Ladies' Kennel Club Shows in this issue, and only for the co-operation received from the officials, we could not have made the reports. However, here they are, and following are the awards for the first day's show:

Arranging the Special Prizes

There seems to be much diversity of opinion in connection with the proper allocation of special prizes in the premium lists as sent out by dog show committees from time to time. Oftentimes, the arrangement adopted, gives rise to confusion, often to dissatisfaction, and of course, this condition is unwarranted and should not continue to exist any longer than it takes to eliminate it entirely.

Special prizes should not be confused with the regular cash class prizes when the premium list goes out for a "cash prize show" where stated amounts say First prize $6.00, Second prize $4.00, and Third prize $2.00, although cash prizes and specials may freely be offered at the same show. Special prizes should be divided into two well defined sections known as unclassified and classified, leaving out the term "General Specials" entirely, because of its misleading element.

Underneath, we have endeavoured to classify the whole situation in the hope that the plans submitted may be helpful to the show secretary who does not claim to know it all.

UNCLASSIFIED SPECIAL PRIZES

1. The Westeast Kennel Club offers $50.00 in cash or plate for the best dog or bitch in show.
2. The president of the Eastwest Kennel Club offers a shield for the best dog or bitch in show, owned by a member of the Eastwest Kennel Club.
3. The Canadian Kennel Club Inc. Trophy for the best Canadian-bred dog or bitch in show.
4. The Sporting Dog Club of Canada offers a challenge trophy for the best sporting dog of the following breeds: Chesapeake Bays, Retrievers (any coat); Setters (any variety).

It will be wise to notice that the foregoing special prizes do not lend themselves to the classified list, because of their specific conditions, "Best in Show," "Best Dog or Bitch owned by a Club member," "Best Sporting of stated breeds" and "Best Canadian-bred." Such a list can extend to the full requirements of specific offerings, and, of course, it is worthy of note that all group specials—when the grouping system becomes operative in June—must appear under the classified heading.

CLASSIFIED SPECIAL PRIZES Collies

1. John Smith offers $5.00 for best sable and white dog or bitch.
2. John Smith offers a cup for the best puppy, any color or sex.

3. John Jones offers a subscription to Kennel and Bench for the best in the green class irrespective of color or sex.

German Shepherd Dogs

4. Von Reidekenburg offers a statuette of Flora Berkemeyer for the best specimen in the show.
5. Von Westfalenheim offers a Trophy to the best opposite sex to the winner of the Von Reidekenburg Special.

English Bulldogs.

6. Rodney Stone offers a Silver Cup for the best Bulldog (male) in the heavyweight section.
7. La Ambassadeur offers a set of bronze book-ends for the best Bulldog (female) heavyweight.

In connection with the Classified Specials, it is important that they should lend themselves to clear classification, and it is always a good arrangement in any premium list to have all the Specials to be offered, separated and under their proper heading unclassified or classified. In fact, it is quite important that this should be done.

In the Catalogue, the unclassified specials should appear on a page by themselves near to the front cover. The classified should be arranged in such a way that they will appear at once under the heading of the breed that they have been set aside for, holding the number given to them in the Premium List, not so much for reference purposes, as in consideration of printing costs.

If this little talk is found helpful to any show secretary we will be pleased to have him tell about it.

NOTES FROM SCOTLAND.

The stewards of the National Racing Club have under consideration a method of identifying greyhounds which it is claimed will prevent substituting one dog for another. It consists of a small disc which can be permanently fixed in the dog's ear and which bears a number. A gauge is provided and by applying this it can be at once seen if the disc is genuine or not. The stewards have made a careful examination of the invention and were favorably impressed by the general principle of the disc. If adopted however, it will not be for some time. It is to be out over an extensive period.

The National Sheep Dog Trials are fixed for Wales, at Llandrindod Wells, on August 12 and 13. Scotland, at Hareshawmuir, on August 27 and 28. England, at Hexham on September 3 and 4. The International Trials will be held at The Golf Links, Morecombe, on September 18, 19 and 20.

The whole English dog-loving public congratulate Mr. Walter H. Reeves on his appointment as a director of the Canadian Kennel Club.

India is looking forward to an expectant judging tour by Mr. G. S. Thomas, the "American Ambassador" as he is known. He will be certain of a hearty welcome should he decide to go.

The cup for the best in show over all breeds at Bath Championship Show (England) went to that great bulldog Ch. Oakville Supreme. The bulldogs at this show were of a high standard and many a real good specimen had to be content with a back number.

The Japanese seem to be taking up the Pointer cult as Mr. Isaac Sharp, Keith, Scotland, has sent quite a number from his celebrated kennel to that country.

It was a cold wind that blew both inside and out The Crystal Palace on April 11, the day of Kensington Canine Society's Championship Show. There was an entry of 4,500. The silver cup for the best in the Show was won by the well known bulldog Ch. Oakville Supreme, the property of Major Rousseau. It would have been interesting to see how Dr. Kinsey Taylor the judge would have placed that other great Bulldog, Ch. Pugalist, had he been there. Mr. H. S. Lloyd's blue roan cocker, Enviably of Ware won the Puppy and Novice Stakes in class of 35 entries. The Junior Stakes were won by Capt. Phipps' Wire Fox Terrier bitch, Talavera Ethel. Mrs. Langdon Thomas won the Special Graduate Stakes with the Pom, Perinale of Silver Morn (25 entries).

American Scottish Terrier fanciers will soon have among them another great Scottie. An American buyer is keen to have a world-beater and is searching the "Land o' lakes and Heather" for it.

The forty-third annual general meeting of Spratt's Patent Ltd., was held on March 19th. It was announced that a final dividend be paid at the rate of 1s. 6d. per share on the ordinary shares, making a total of 2s. 6d. per share or 12½ per cent. for the year.

ANOTHER BERGHOLTZ GOES TO COSALTO.

History was made for the German Shepherd dog in Canada when Alf. Loveridge sold his Iso v. Bergholtz to the Cosalta Kennels of Miss Marie J. Leary. Iso had made his Canadian championship, and when sold to Cosalto soon earned his International honors—a wonderful performance for the Canadian-bred son of Ch. Iso v. Doernerhof ex Ch. Roxawana of Kash.

Now Mr. Loveridge has sold his most excellent bitch Ch. Alla v. Krone to Miss Leary, and although Alla is of the 1924 vintage we will not be a particle surprised to see her make a bid for international honors yet.

From our advertising pages it will be noticed that the Bergholtz Kennels are offering for sale some of their choicest specimens at most enticing prices to effect quick clearance.

Mr. Loveridge has just completed the purchase of extensive farm holdings and no doubt he is considering running an up-to-date stud and boarding kennel as subsidiaries to the farming project, it is known that his holdings in young shepherd dog stock is quite extensive, and his future activities will be worth watching.

Have Your Dogs in Condition For The Shows

Exhibitors Are Enthusiastic About Our ROSS-MILLER DOG FOODS

"The Feeds That Satisfy"

The Dogs themselves have so declared, and their owners have so advised us.
And when better Dog Foods can be made, Ross-Miller will make them.

"THE FIVE VARIETIES"

R-M DOG BISCUIT—THE STANDARD DOG FOOD

is a product fairly high in protein, containing meat cracklings, cod liver oil and all the other ingredients, in exactly the right proportions to make a balanced ration. Feed dry.

R-M SQUARE PUPPY MILK-AND-BONE BISCUIT IS THE IDEAL FOOD

for young growing dogs, containing an increased percentage of powdered whole milk and ground bone. This food is literally full of vitamins and bone-building elements and insures strong muscles and big bones. Feed dry.

R-M KIBBLED DOG FOOD IS EXACTLY THE SAME as our large Dog Biscuit, only ground up into small pieces for convenience. To it is added just the right proportion of our Charcoal Biscuits (ground up) to aid digestion and to help eliminate worms. It is being fed by owners of large dogs—toy dogs—and to pups after teeth have come.

R-M PUPPY MEAL IS THE SAME AS KIBBLO, ONLY—

ground finer and is more suitable for feeding with milk, especially to young pups just after weaning.

R-M CHARCOAL BISCUIT IS STRONGLY RECOMMENDED

for keeping dogs in good healthy condition and to help eliminate worms. They should be fed once or twice a week instead of the regular Dog Biscuit.
