The President's Message

Ave Atque Vale! Hail and Farewell!

IT is difficult to express adequately one's feelings on quitting the Presidency of the Canadian Kennel Club after so many years. There are memories innumerable, the vast majority of them pleasant ones, and a few unpleasant. There has been hard work rewarded by a consciousness of something accomplished, rewarded also by the formation of life-long friendships, and the joy of enthusiastic co-operation of one's colleagues. That, I think, has been the key-note—loyal co-operation and a sincere desire on the part of almost everyone actively connected with the management of its affairs to serve unselfishly,—and sometimes unappreciated by certain elements,—the best interests of the Club.

What of the Future?

ALONG with all other institutions and individuals we are passing through the Valley of the Shadow, but already there are signs of approaching the end of the Valley and emerging into the sun-light. It is inconceivable that an organization which has been performing such signal service for so many years, and which is composed of members of the type which we have, scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific, should fail to achieve the objects for which it exists, and the achievement of which is the only thing that will justify its existence.

And So My Message

for the Christmas Number is one of Good-Will to every individual member and to the Club itself, and the expression of my very deep gratitude for the loyalty which I have felt was mine during my term of office.

G. F. McFarland

"WHITE" CAVALIERS—BOTH OF 'EM!
Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, K.C., has rendered invaluable service to the Canadian Kennel Club since 1908, and will retire from the Presidency on February 9th, 1934.

The letter contained sworn declarations made by Arthur Attridge, Fruitland, Ont., and Mrs. Arthur Attridge of the same address, and it was agreed that copies of the declarations be forwarded to Mrs. Robert Young, Rochester, N.Y., with a request that she furnish a sworn statement concerning her dealings with Mr. Attridge for the information of the Board of Directors, and that no further action be taken in the meantime.

A letter was read from the Live Stock Records advising that J. Paton, Brantford, had tendered his apologies and that they had been accepted.

The Secretary advised that applications for registrations and transfers had been forwarded to the Live Stock Records Office in connection with dogs sold by George Kynoch, Winnipeg and that Mr. Kynoch had telegraphed the information that W. H. Foster had already received his certificate of registration. The Secretary was instructed to secure confirmation from Mr. Foster by November 21st, whether or not he had received the certificate, and if the reply was in the affirmative, the matter to be considered closed.

The Secretary requested instruction in connection with Mr. Kynoch's nomination for Director, and was advised, that if proof is furnished to show that Mr. Foster's registration papers were delivered prior to the date of nominations being closed, that the nomination would be considered as being in order.

SPECIALTY CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP RATING

The Specialty Club Ratings, and for bench shows held in conjunction with licensed Field Trials:—

- Not less than 100 dogs shall count five points.
- Not less than 75 dogs shall count four points.
- Not less than 50 dogs shall count three points.
- Not less than 40 dogs shall count two points.
- Less than 40 dogs shall count one point.

In the preparation of the foregoing tables of Championship Rating, I had the closest co-operation of my entire committee, for which I tender my sincere thanks. Unfortunately, Mr. Herd could not see his way clear to be with us during a part of 1933, and this I regretted very sincerely. To Mr. W. Stockdale and to Mr. F. W. Walkerdine, I also extend sincere thanks, both men accepted my Committee's invitation to sit in and give their views, and it was most encouraging to find in practice that there was an almost unbelievable minor margin of difference of thought or opinion amongst us. I take this opportunity to thank our Provincial Directors and J. D. Strachan, our Secretary, for their splendid co-operation and assistance.

Now we place the matter in the hands of the general body of members without prejudice, and without further comment, and on behalf of the Rules Committee.

(Signed) WALTER H. REEVES.

"A dog eligible for registration in the Canadian Kennel Club Stud Book may be listed for three shows, subsequent entry of same dog must give C.K.C. registration number or its entry will be refused. Every completed entry blank must state whether a dog is eligible for registration in the Canadian Kennel Club Stud Book or otherwise."

Moved by Mrs. R. McColl, Toronto, Ont.—

That the puppy class in Rule 31 be amended to read as follows:

"Puppies, irrespective of classes in which they are entered, need not be brought to a show until the opening of the show on the day on which they are to be judged. They may be permanently removed from a show after the closing hour on the day their classes have been judged."

Moved by Gerald L. Stock, Vancouver, B.C.—

That Dog Show Rule No. 31 shall be revised to read as follows:

"A Puppy Class to be known as Junior Puppy Class shall be for dogs six months of age and under nine months of age on the first day of the show. A Puppy Class to be known as Senior Puppy Class shall be for dogs nine months of age on the first day of the show and under twelve months of age on the first day of the show, and no entry can be made of one whose date of birth, sire and dam and breeder is unknown."

Moved by Mrs. R. McColl, Toronto, Ont.—

That Rule 37 be changed to read as follows:

"Winners and Reserve Winners must be provided for in every breed recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club for which proper classification has been provided. The Winners and Reserve Winners and the Open Class must be divided by sex."

Moved by Mrs. R. McColl, Toronto, Ont.—

"That the weight rule in Cocker Spaniels be struck out of Dog Show Rule 38 entirely."

Should the above be defeated I will move an amendment as follows:

"That when the Dog Show Rules require that dogs be weighed, a Government-tested scale must be supplied by the show-giving club. The scale to be tested on the day of judging by a Government Inspector. Dogs disqualified for under or over weight must be removed from the show and marked absent in the rating of dogs. The entry fee must be returned to the exhibitor by the show-giving club on dogs disqualified for under or over weight."

Moved by Major E. Ward Wright, Toronto, Ont.—

That Dog Show Rule 58 be amended to read:

"Any person (member or non-member) guilty of misconduct of any kind in connection with dogs, dog shows, or field trials, may be suspended, disqualified or expelled by the Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club; the suspension, disqualification or expulsion of any owner may be made to apply to all dogs owned by him or connected with the perpetration of a fraudulent act."

Moved by J. G. Young, Edmonton, Alberta—

"That any amendments to the existing championship ratings of dog shows held under the Canadian Kennel Club Rules that are offered for the consideration of the meeting be filed for future reference."

Moved by Mrs. M. D. R. Brine, King, Ont.—

"That a separate class at shows held under Canadian Kennel Club Rules be provided for Long-haired Dachshunde."

Moved by Mrs. R. McColl, Toronto, Ont.—

"That Dachshunde be removed from Group 2, Working Dogs, and placed in Group 1, Sporting Dogs."

Moved by W. D. Bannister, Toronto, Ont.—

"That the Canadian Kennel Club include a class to be known as the Championship Class, the winner of this class to be awarded points the same as other dogs competing for points, only his points are to count towards a Grand Champion, which must be ten (10) won under the same rules as before and that there must be at least five (5) dogs which have won their championship and registered as such, competing."

The following is a proposed amendment to the Dog Show Regulations:—

Moved by Mrs. R. McColl, Toronto, Ont.—

"That Regulation 12 of the Dog Show Regulations and dates be amended to read as follows: Following the rule re catalogues that this be added, 'It must also contain the names and addresses of all exhibitors'."

Moved by W. H. Reeves, Belleville, Ont.—

Ch. The Burglar Dee Cee

We are pleased to say that The Burglar Dee Cee is still producing the purple ribbon stock and has at present to his credit two well known champions—Ch. Horning's Honey Boy and Ch. Jubilee Chummy Boy, one finishing at the Royal Winter Fair, 1932, and the latter winners at Canadian National Exhibition two consecutive years (1932-1933), also at Toronto Kennel Club Show, 1933. Sired by Ch. The Burglar Dee Cee and that well known dam, Int. Ch. Susan Conde.

Now we are the proud owner of that little lightweight, Jubilee Happy Day, who requires but two points to finish his championship. Winners and Best of Breed at Montreal, 1933, Winners and Best of Breed also best Non-Sporting at Welland, 1933, Winners at Oakville, 1933, Best owned and bred by exhibitor at Toronto Kennel Club Spring Show, 1933, and Boston Terrier Club of Toronto Specialty Show, 1933.

Sweet Baby, another product of Int. Ch. Susan Conde and that all American-bred, Tommy Steps Out. We are proud of our "Baby" for she was Best Puppy at Buffalo Specialty Show, 1933, and Reserve Winners at Welland, 1933. Tommy Steps Out was also Winner in his respective classes, Limit, American-bred and Open at Buffalo Specialty Show, 1933.

We would also like to advise those who are interested in bloodlines to remember the Reserve Winners Dog, Pennridge Play Boy at the Boston Terrier Club of Toronto Specialty Show, 1933, and best American-bred under 15 lbs. at Buffalo Specialty Show, 1933.

THE foundation of these kennels has been drawn from the best bloodlines of the breed and our importations from time to time from the best British lineage now bespeak our success. We feel proud of our Melbourne Kennels which are now second to none on the continent, and our accomplishments speak for themselves.

THESE Kennels were represented during 1933 at eleven Canadian Kennel Club Shows and one American Kennel Club Specialty Show, and our records cannot be overestimated, for we won 35 Firsts, 14 Seconds, 6 Thirds, 12 Winners, 4 Reserve Winners, 10 times Best of Breed, 9 times Best Toy, 4 times Best in Show and completed three championships, under an array of judges whose decisions cannot be challenged, such as Hopton, Delmont, Kynoch, Stewart, Reeves, Ross, Perry, Addyman, Orrick, and Thomas.

The Sensational 1932-1933 Pomeranian CH. MELBOURNE SUPREME

a home-bred by Ch. Chiswick Sunkist (Imp.) ex Lady Rosebud (Imp.) was an outstanding success and a dog of remarkable merit. It is safe to say that no Pomeranian in Canada has such a wonderful record. He has made history for the breed and truly reflects the value of his breeding. Since first shown he has only been defeated three times and now has to his record six times Best in Show all breeds, a truly wonderful accomplishment and we believe unparalleled by a Toy dog.

Besides these imported dogs, we have a number of splendid home-grown specimens, such as Melbourne Red Mite, Chiswick Cyril, Gold Boy Midge and many others of all colors including whites.

Our Stud Fees will meet the pocket book of any fancier, and are from $10.00 up. Our brood stock is the most selective and reliable.

The Canadian Fancy

By WALTER H. REEVES, Belleville, Ont.

THE writer takes this opportunity, through the pages of Kennel and Bench, to wish all the Canadian Fancy a very Happy Christmas.

1933 has been an anxious one to many, world conditions seem as unsettled as ever. Yet notwithstanding the very abnormal times dog breeders and show giving clubs have had a really wonderful year. I was somewhat, and I must say most agreeably, surprised to hear from our Secretary that the peak year of the Canadian Kennel Club was 1928, and that this year, despite conditions, we have held as many licensed fixtures as in 1928. This surely shows the ever increasing interest that is being taken in "Man's Best Friend" throughout the Dominion. I happened to meet a few months ago an old-time English friend, who, when he lived in Lancashire, was interested in Terriers, and was also a Short Horn Cattle breeder of note. He is now living in the Eastern United States, where he has a large stock farm; naturally our conversation soon led us back to the time we were both living in England, and to the Short Horns my friend had sold prior to the war to South American breeders, when $30,000 was by no means an uncommon price paid for an outstanding bull.

Those days are over, my friend remarked, and I doubt whether they will ever return, and he went on, "I suppose it is the same with dogs!" He really wanted some convincing when I replied that really good dogs were worth more and considerably more than before the war. If that is so, my friend replied, they are the only kind of live stock that has thrived through the depression and how do you account for it? "Why you know the reason as well as I do," I replied, "dog breeding will always continue to prosper. First, because the general public have been educated to the fact that a well-bred dog costs no more to keep than a mongrel, and the man who has not a big bank account can and does compete successfully with even a millionaire as a breeder." My friend thought this over for a while and then recalled an incident and a journey that I had forgotten. He happened to be my companion when I called on a coal miner who had met with quite remarkable success as a breeder of wire-haired Fox Terriers. The miner's start was a well-bred bitch puppy that he had purchased for fifty shillings. In her first litter she produced an outstanding winner and I wanted to buy this terrier. On arrival we found the miner was out of work and both my friend and I were surprised when he declined my offer of $750. I thought it might benefit him if I showed him the money and counted off the £150 and placed it on the table—"Pocket yer money man," said the miner, "yer can't buy the bread winner of the family." Jack, pointing to the dog I wanted so badly, is averaging "two pun a week," needless to say I left without the "bread winner." During the dark days of the depression which we have been and are still going through, many a breeder has found that his hobby has helped to pay the rent and taxes. The small breeder has an equal chance with the large breeder to produce a champion and no matter which variety of dog he is breeding, suitable sires are available at fees that are within the reach of all. It is a strange fact, but nevertheless true, that although dogs have increased so in value, stud fees today show little if any increase from pre war days.

In this issue of Kennel and Bench there appears the proposed amendments to the Canadian Kennel Club's Championship rating. The Rules Committee have given considerable thought to this important question, and as it is practically unanimous amongst the members that a change was needed, I write practically unanimous, for I would not be giving a fair report of the many opinions that have been sent to me as Chairman of the Rules Committee, if I did not mention that a few members wished to continue on the old rating, but those wishing for the old rating were very, very few, the preponderance of opinion was that our present rating was quite out of date with present conditions. The Rules Committee fully realized the difficulties ahead of them and I am glad to be able to state that the proposed new rating has been brought about by the splendid co-operation of the Canadian Kennel Club (members) throughout the Dominion and the Rules and Regulations Committee. One man in particular, Director Wm. H. Pym, of Vancouver, will go down in Canadian Kennel Club history as the real originator of the proposed new rating. The writer at the 1933 annual general meeting asked the provincial directors for their co-operation and they one and all responded nobly. W. G. Climo, of Calgary, sent a proposed scheme which in its evolution and preparation must have taken weeks to get into shape, and I am glad of the opportunity to thank him publicly for giving so much of his time to try and solve a pressing need. The writer is familiar with both the English and American Championship ratings and he considered that neither would be workable in Canada. He hoped that before the drafting that he might have the opportunity of going through to the coast and also to the Maritimes, unfortunately business conditions were such that this intention could not be carried out.

The writer was drafting a plan when Mr. Pym's suggestion came, the suggested plan appealed to the writer and his surmise that it would be received with favor has been proven by the support it has received all over Canada. A. P. Mutchmor, of the Provincial Committee for Manitoba, writes:—"The plan sent from British Columbia is very much along the same lines as our suggestions, any difference is possibly in favor of their plan, or an improvement on ours. We take exception to the two point show being required, as some of our breeds and real good dogs will require ten shows to get their points without this clause, and with this clause they might never get their championship." A. P. Mutchmor will see that the Rules and Regulation Committee have taken care of this situation by the extra points given to the Group and Best Dog in Show. S. S. Magoffin very rightly takes exception to the fact that under our present rating a dog can gain his championship without competition. The proposed new rating insists on competition either in the breed classes or in the groups. Take the case of an outstanding Mastiff, he may be alone in his breed classes, and on being awarded winners dog or bitch as the case may be he gets one point, but if his merit is recognized by the group judge and he places him ahead in the group—the win in the group entitles the Mastiff to the highest point rating of any dog in the group. Now let's look at it from another angle, a mediocre Mastiff is shown under our present rating, we will say at the Canadian National Exhibition, the judge notwithstanding the explicit instructions to withhold winners if there is not sufficient merit, either is afraid of public opinion, the owner, or as one judge remarked was a little shy on the breed and therefore takes a leap in the dark and awards the mediocre specimen winners; at the moment not realizing perhaps that he has given five points towards a Canadian Championship, and also made a heap of trouble for judges in the future.

come to the writer's notice through the actions of weak judges not withholding prizes from mediocre specimens was at a show across the border where in some Samoyede classes the writer withheld prizes from two "Spitz" which were entered and then the fireworks started, for at the previous show these two Spitz had been awarded winners dog and bitch. Judges in the future will hesitate to award winners to mediocre specimens if the proposed new rating is passed, for the dog has to parade in his group to retain his points. Show executives will welcome the new rating that every Best of Winners, if he or she is not beaten for Best of Breed by a dog entered for specials only, has to compete in the group and as everyone knows the groups are the most interesting classes for the general public. Dr. Cooper, our director for Saskatchewan, endorses the Pym plan and so have the Maritimes through Director A. V. Martin. With such strong endorsements the Rules Committee could not do otherwise than take the Pym scale and work from it in their endeavor to suggest a rating which would find favor all over the Dominion. At their final meeting they had the invaluable assistance of Director Wm. Stockdale and F. W. Walkerdine, who very kindly came to the meeting and both were apparently thoroughly in accord with the plan set forth. The writer has lightly touched upon the salient features of the proposed new rating, not for one instant would he claim that it is perfect, and only time will find out its weak points. Some breeds may need tightening up and some may need a more liberal rating. One thing we do know that our present rating has served its usefulness and the proposed new rating will do away with many of the disadvantages of our present rating. One thing certain it will prove a help to exhibitors and show-giving clubs.

We welcome a new comer to the ranks of those interested in the most fashionable of our Terrier breeds, the Wire-Haired Fox Terrier. My mail this month contained a most interesting letter from S. W. Scarpa, the owner of the Malabar Kennels at Point Fortune, Quebec. From the letter the writer gains the following facts, that S. W. Scarpa has recently returned to Canada having spent four years in England and Europe, part of this time being spent in Antwerp, where he was with the General Motors, his engagement was such that although very interested in dogs and particularly in Dachshunds that he had little time to devote to his dogs and that he was compelled to leave much of the management to his kennel man. My correspondent continues: "I always had a craving to go in for breeding Wires and now he finds, since returning to Canada, that he has plenty of time to indulge his craving and indulge in this fascinating sport and has therefore moved out to the country to make the most of it whilst it lasts. One of his bitches that he had with him at Antwerp he CHAMPION WEE LA DEE (C.K.C.S.B. 77727). This wonderfully headed Peke has been referred to by some of our most prominent judges as a dog likely to make history for the breed he so ably represents.

STOCKTONION MITZI DUSEN (C.K.C.S.B. 106627) is a sun red son of our Ch. Wee La Dee ex our sweet bitch, Ch. Eastern Beauty. This Peke is always in the money at the shows.

STOCKTONION CON FU SHA (C.K.C.S.B. 105705) is still another good stud force and he too is a son of Ch. Wee La Dee ex the imported bitch Boltonia Dinah. This dog is a producer of large quality litters.

One of the outstanding features associated with Stocktonion Kennels was the magnificent win made by a grandson of our Ch. Wee La Dee at the Canadian National Exhibition of 1932, who went to winners beating a dog reputed to have cost $10,000.00, the sire being Ch. Wee La Dee's son, Stocktonion Sun Beau. We are rather proud of this achievement.

Stocktonion Kennels made a champion in 1931 and another in 1933, the former Ch. Wee La Dee and the latter Ch. Eastern Beauty, and we are ready to continue the quest for additional champions from now on, as we are breeding from the same bloodlines which have been so successful in the past.

To our many clients we would say that at the present time we can sell young stock for the show ring, or for companions; also adult stock for showing, or for breeding, or in combination of both. A handsome son of Ch. Wee La Dee can be purchased by some discriminating buyer right now. The Stocktonion prices are always reasonable so don't overlook this real good one. The Dam is an imported bitch. Make a deposit on your Christmas puppy now when the selection is so attractive.

mated to the "Int. Ch. Thet Timber of Earlsmoor," now at the Hague, Holland, and through the kindness of the Veterinary, Director General for Canada, Dr. G. Hilton, he received a special permit to import her, but of course she is still in quarantine and so are her five puppies, all bitches, they are just three months old, they and their mother will be out of quarantine in January. From England, the owner of the Malabar Kennels brought "Thet Thelma," by "Ch. Fourwents Rocket" ex "Simon's Dimple," the dam of the following great winners, "Ch's. Thet Timber," "Tetrarch," "Tristrom" and many others. "Thelma" has a five month's litter by "Champion Lanark Bramble," a "Champion Crackley Starter" son, and a very beautiful terrier judging by the reproduction of his photograph which appears on his Stud card. "Ch. Lanark Bramble" is owned by Mrs. E. M. Lester, of Eastcote, Middlesex, whose kennel is apparently near to another one-time famous kennel of Smooths, that of Mrs. Brunett Edwards, so admirably managed for so many years by Arthur Cartledge. S. W. Scarpa continues, "I had a kennel built, strong, warm and roomy, and I do all the work myself, even the trimming and you can judge by what some one said at the Ladies' Kennel Club Show, Montreal, where "Thelma" was Reserve Winners that in the right hands she could have been winners bitch, not much of a compliment to my trimming. Hitherto I have had someone else do the trimming, but I want now to do it myself for it's double the fun, but of course, one has to pay for experience. But I don't mind and only hope to try and have her in better condition the next time, she was only three months after whelping and short of whiskers and leg hair; I suppose I should have waited."

My correspondent concludes his interesting and enthusiastic letter with the remark that in the spring he will be able to show some of the "Bramble" and "Timber" puppies. Here's hoping he may, for judging from the enthusiastic tone of his letter he should prove a most valuable acquisition to the ranks of those interesting themselves in the welfare of the Wire Fox Terrier. The writer extends his sincere wish that in the future we may see many champions owing the Malabar prefix.

Dick Briggs, of Ottawa, naturally was interested in the particulars I gave in the last issue of "Kennel and Bench" of Fred Radcliffe's Irish Setter puppies by "Int. Ch. King Morello Oge 2nd" and the writer is glad to hear that this beautiful Irish Setter is in the best of form. Dick writes in glowing terms of some young Scotties he has by John Ritchie's imported dog, "Inveresk Coppersmith" which as a puppy impressed me very favorably. Dick also sends the news that he has three Wire bitches bred to "Ch. Dancing Master," and is hoping that something as good as their sire will result from this mating.

News is to hand from the well-known Bulldog exhibitor, H. Hopkins, of a trip he took with Percy Alderson and Harry Shields to the Chicago Bulldog Club Show, where Harry Shields won Novice Dog and 2nd Novice Bitch. Percy Alderson 2nd Open Dogs and my bitch was third Novice. George Kynoch won winners bitch. Five Canadian dogs and every one in the money which is really splendid. Through the request of several exhibitors a special puppy class, six to nine months, was placed in the classification for the National Dog Club and H. Hopkins thinks this class should be given at all shows. The writer agrees that a six months' bull puppy has little chance to compete successfully with a ten or eleven months' puppy. H. Hopkins informs me that he has been making enquiries about going to New York Show from Toronto by bus and finds out that if twenty people go, a bus can be chartered and the fare would be fifteen dollars and of course they could take their dogs along. Can any of my readers enlighten my correspondent on whether the Bulldog Breeders' Association is not the oldest Bulldog Club in North America. My records are not complete enough to answer this question. This old club proposes to put on a big open show next spring—the suggestion being an afternoon show which should undoubtedly be a success for it would enable our bulldog friends across the border to leave home the night before and be in ample time for the judging. Percy Alderson found, when he returned from Chicago, that Dame Fortune had taken a nasty crack for his "Int. Ch. Dewhurst Dan," was very sick and that a bitch and her eight puppies had died.

It is with very sincere regret that the writer hears that notwithstanding the unremitting care of Dr. Bailey, "Dan" went over the "great divide" on October 26th. This is indeed a blow not only to "Dan's" owner, but also to bulldog breeders. There are only two bitches in whelp to "Dan," one is owned by Percy Alderson, a "Crewe So Favourite" bitch and is due to whelp as I am penning these lines. Here's hoping that there may be another as good as "Dan" amongst the litter. H. Hopkins owns the other bitch and she whelped on November 6th, six dogs and two bitches, and all are alive and doing well—the dam is by "Markham Red" which is inbred to "Hefty Red Dragon" out of a "Crewe So Favourite bitch." This interesting budget of news winds up with a few particulars of the Detroit Bulldog Show which was judged by Reg. P. Sparkes. There were a number of Toronto-owned bulldogs competing, and they between them accounted for several of the principal prizes. "Larchmount Lady Betty," now owned by Dr. Varden, was the winning bitch and Harry A. Wilson's "Ch. Marwell Marquis" was Reserve Winning Dog—the Winning Bitch Puppy which was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, I understand, made a big impression. Although the awards given to me are by no means complete, they show that Canadian-owned dogs were as usual able to give an excellent account of themselves; this is hardly to be wondered at for Toronto has always been a hotbed for bulldogs.

A very interesting letter has been received with reference to the weight of Cocker Spaniels. The following facts are brought out,—that owing to the fact that Canadian Kennel Club limits the weight to 28 lbs. this limit would eliminate some of the world famous English Champions, such as "Ch. Invader of Ware," 29 lbs.; "Lucky Star of Ware," 29½ lbs.; "Whoopee of Ware," 29 lbs.; "Ch. Rivington Gunner, 29½ lbs. The letter continues: "I have a good English Cocker which I imported last October, which I am told is a very fine specimen, but she weighs 29 lbs., I therefore write to enquire whether the Canadian Kennel Club have given consideration either to the revision of the present rule regarding weight, or establishing a class for the heavier type of English Cocker.

The present rule seems all in favor of the American dog and against Empire bred dogs. From observations under actual hunting conditions in the Laurentians, etc., it seems to me that the sturdier English dog is a superior type for Canadian conditions, being able to overcome the innumerable obstacles and punishing conditions which are more baffling and fatiguing for the smaller American type. The English dog, moreover, seems to be less hindered by snow than the smaller Spaniels. Furthermore, the English Cocker is better able to retrieve its 'carry' over obstacles and without dragging such game as rabbits, ducks, etc. I understand that since 1909 no English Gun Dog can be given the title of champion unless it has also obtained a working certificate in the field. Perhaps it is for this very good reason that the English seem to have developed a somewhat larger and more practical type of Cocker. May I therefore take the liberty of suggesting that the Canadian Kennel Club should give consideration to the question of providing a class that will permit the exhibition in Canada of the English type of Cocker Spaniel, which has become world-famous for its indefatigable energy, working capabilities and perfect symmetry." There are many points brought out by this letter, which should be carefully considered by Canadian Cocker breeders. The question of weight or limiting the weight to 28 lbs. has always been a much debated question amongst Cocker breeders, and I thought that there would have been an amendment to this rule sent in so that there could have been a further discussion at the 1934 annual general meeting. My correspondent evidently is not aware of the fact that Canadian Cockers are usually heavier than those shown across the border, although I must say, that one does not see there the little toys that at one time were so popular, some of them would have had difficulty in equalling the weight of the game let alone carrying or retrieving it. The one reason that the Springer Spaniel became so popular amongst shooting men was due to some of the reasons brought out by my correspondent in favoring the English Cocker.

where there is always a good selection of high class puppies, brood matrons and stud dogs for sale at reasonable prices. Here we have Miss Nancy Brown herself, with two of her undefeated Pekes. Miss Nancy is but nine years old, nevertheless, she has been an ardent exhibitor since she was only 13 months of age, at which time she won the largest cup in the show for the best brace of puppies owned and shown by exhibitor under Madam Trudeau, of Longueuil, P.Q. Miss Nancy Brown was made a life member of the Toy Dog Club of Montreal, when only two months old, and just like her Dad, she knows a good Peke when she sees one.

Champions are considerably down in Stud fees. The dogs which have gained their title getting, I believe, several of the bitches which would have been sent to my kennel if I had kept them in open competition. By so doing these inferior specimens would not have the coveted title of champions and be able to command the same Stud fee as my two champions. Another well-known exhibitor suggests that after a dog has attained his title he should be allowed to remain in open competition for one year and afterwards should be shown in a new class, a champion class. The winner of this class, however, should not be allowed to compete for winners. The reason given being that our shows are so few that exhibitors need every encouragement and help to attain the points. Still another opinion given is all through this year I have received a number of letters with reference to champions competing in open classes. The opinions expressed are so divided that I am afraid that it would be almost hopeless to try and find a solution. Many exhibitors state that in every other kind of sport a champion has to defend his title until he is beaten and therefore a champion should not be entered for specials only. A well-known breeder asks me why is it that it is not considered sporting to keep on showing a champion for open competition. "I have kept my champions out of the open classes with the result that inferior specimens have gained their championship. Speaking only from a monetary standard this has proved to be bad business methods on my part. That a champion should be entered in a special class and have to compete amongst his group; a terrier would compete amongst the Terrier group and a Peke amongst the Toy Group. These competitions to be judged before the regular groups and points to be given for the wins, the number to be decided by the Canadian Kennel Club and when the points have been won, instead of the title of champion, the dog should be known as Group Champion." There is something in the last suggestion and it might be found workable. I wish that my readers would send in their opinions as to whether they are in favor of allowing a champion to compete in open classes or not. This is a matter well worth discussion at the annual general meeting.

DR. JOHN DE MUND DEAD

It was a shock to Canadian fanciers when the sad information reached Toronto that the big hearted, genial Dr. de Mund had died suddenly at his home at Montclair, N.J., on November 11th, 1933, from heart disease, at the age of 66 years. The doctor had many friends in the Dominion who join the fanciers of the United States in sorrowing with Mrs. de Mund and the doctor's only sister, Mrs. Louis de Mund Hegeman, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The late Dr. de Mund was well known in Canada as an all-breed judge, and later as the president of the American Kennel Club, an organization which developed mightily under his loyal and tireless guidance from 1922 until he retired owing to ill health in 1932.

As a breeder, he was keen for Russian Wolfhounds, and many splendid hounds found their home with one who admired them for their elegance and beauty alone.

American dogdom has lost a pillar of strength in the death of Dr. de Mund.

VETERAN FANCIER DIES IN ENGLAND

Mr. John Swire, of Wooley Bridge, Glossop, England, died on Thursday, October 19th, at the age of 86 years. The late Mr. Swire was famous as a clog maker at Wooley Bridge for the long space of 60 years. He was a successful breeder of King Charles Spaniels and was the oldest member of Glossop Canine Society. Canadian fanciers are advised that Mr. Swire was father of that good Anglo-Canadian breeder, exhibitor and judge of international fame, the late Norman K. Swire, so long associated with Dr. J. A. Campbell, Toronto. "Norman" was everybody's friend, and through the Glossop Advertiser we learn that he came by his kindly characteristics quite honestly, and it could be truly said of him that "he was a chip of the old block".

On behalf of the fanciers of the United States and Canada who knew our late friend "Little Norman," we extend our sympathies to his dear mother, his sisters and brothers at this time.

ODDS AND ENDS

THE Penn Athletic Club, Philadelphia, do things differently. As guests of honor at a recent dinner the club had the English Setter, "Ch. Blue Dan," the Bull Terrier, "Ch. White Corsair," the Doberman, "Ch.

Erna von Graf Zeppelin," and the Boston Terrier, "Bantams Tiny Boy," and each dog has his place at the table and each one behaves himself, or herself, as becomes the occasion.

No less than 76 Smooth Fox Terriers came before the judge at the Kennel Club Show (England) when Her Grace the Duchess of Newcastle furnished both winners with "Ch. Chosen of Notts" and "Ch. Bowden Rakish." We are going to see good entries of Smooths at Canadian shows before long.

At Crystal Palace the "Any Variety" class drew an entry of 31 dogs, amongst them 4 Boston Terriers, 4 Apsos (whatever they may be), 4 Lhasa Terriers, 2 Tibetan Spaniels, and 1 Tibetan Terrier. The Open Bitch class was headed by the Boston Terrier "Highgrange Winkum". Page "Paddy" Dowd and "Tommy Hunter".

The Chicago Specialty attraction—seventeen Specialty Club shows under one roof at the "World's Fair," was quite kind to Canadian exhibitors. Our informant advises that George Kynoch's Bulldog bitch, "Silverdale Dimple," went to Winners, and in the end gave "Ch. Morovian Marquise" and "Ch. The Crovan Spring" quite an argument for Best of Breed, and only took her licking from "The Crovan Spring". This should make nice reading for those who sponsor the "Sour Mug" in the Dominion.

Harry Shiels, Toronto, won the Novice Dog class. A dog recently sold to the United States by H. A. Wilson, Toronto, and named "Son of Crewe So Favorite," won the 45-lb. Limit Class. In Open Dogs over 45 lbs., P. Alderson, Toronto, won 2nd with "Dewhurst Durham". Novice Bitches gave 2nd prize to Harry Shiels' "Miss Malabar".

At the Cocker Spaniel section of the Chicago Specialties, R. H. "Dick" Hepplestone, of Barrie, Ont., won Reserve Winners with his "Romilla of Barrie". "Romilla of Barrie" was described as "a black and white with a beautiful head and expression," and it is worthy of note here, too, that the Cocker that beat "Romilla of Barrie" was "Rees' Joker," who later was declared Best of Winners. Best of Breed was "Windsweep Ladysman".

Cairn Terrier breeders are watching the fortunes of the Cairn Terrier Club of America Sweepstakes which will materialize on February 10th at the Cairn Specialty Show at New York. Of the 16 dogs and 19 bitches named we find Mrs. G. W. Hyslop's (York Mills, Ont.) "Ch. Divor of Gunthorpe of Cairndania," and "Tinker of Tapsot of Cairndania". In bitches, Mrs. Hyslop has nominated "Moccasin Mary of Cairndania" and "Bunty of Cairndania". Here's hoping Canada gets into the winning side of the picture.

Owners of puppies sired by the above dogs, or out of the above bitches, may enter their "little hopefuls" for the sweepstakes.

Mrs. Herb. Ross, Brampton, reports the death of two sisters of "Ch. The Iron Duke". One was "Ch. Brampton Stormer" and the other, her late husband's favorite, "Ch. Brampton Dream Kisses". To lose the inmates of one's kennel is always discouraging enough at any time, but to lose Cockers of proven bench quality who are valuable breeding animals is simply heartbreaking. We trust the end of Mrs. Ross' troubles is not far off now.

We sincerely regret to learn that the "Farleigh" Fox Terriers, which have always been prominent at all shows held at Calgary, have been dispersed owing to the serious illness of M. J. Carr, the owner. As many as twenty-five Fox Terriers carrying the "Farleigh" prefix have graced the benches of the Alberta Kennel Club before now, and the "Farleigh" entry was always appreciated by that club.

Several of the dogs which Mr. and Mrs. Carr felt they could not part with will return with their owners to England.

We trust that the change will work wonders for Mr. Carr, and that we will again have him back in Canada fully restored in health, meantime they leave us, carrying with them our very best wishes.

To have the distinction of winning eight championship certificates is sufficient to mark one as a successful breeder and exhibitor, and recently we sent the eighth certificate to Dr. T. R. R. Hoggan, Vancouver, B.C., and when acknowledging receipt the genial doctor advises us that his good young "Mick", "Harwood Garry," would have been the next contender, with as good a chance as any of the others to make the grade, but sickness overtook the youngster and as a result he had to be destroyed.

Dr. Hoggan has five good bitches in the kennel, but for several good reasons which he tabulates, he has discontinued breeding for the meantime, and when one considers that he bred his first Irish Terrier in England during March, 1896—thirty-seven years ago past, the doctor cannot be denied the respite which he believes to be his due.

When the Cocker Spaniel Club of New England held its 12th annual show in the Horticultural Building at Boston on November 10th and 11th, Judge Frank H. Addyman, of Ardsley, N.Y., found sufficient Cockers awaiting his decisions to make an entry of 184. At the near end of the judging there were eight of the greatest Cocker Spaniels in America to contest for which one was the best, and this honor was given to that famous campaigner the "Great My Own".

The club elected its officers on November 10th. Mrs. O. B. Gilman was elected president, an office which she has filled acceptably before. And on November 11th, judging was suspended whilst the members escorted their newly elected president to the judging ring, where she was presented with a beautiful basket of roses to commemorate the 31st anniversary of her wedding, and her election to the club's presidency.

Beagling in Canada did not disappoint us this year. Championship Trials were held by Canadian National, Oshawa, Central Ontario, and Hamilton clubs. Each Trial was successful to the satisfaction of the clubs interested, and a nice circuit was established. At one time or another the writer has been fortunate enough to have attended Trials of all the clubs named, and can vouch for the sport as being clean, healthy and most enjoyable. That it has only to become better known to draw for itself a strong following of interested supporters.

A photograph, sent to us by Recorder J. A. Thouin, K.C., the president of the Beagle Club at Montreal, tells the story of Montreal beaglers being ready for any issue, and no doubt this club will hold licensed trials in a big way next year, and we would suggest that the clubs already established should get in touch with the Montreal club and give it the advantages of their experiences as a gesture of welcome to the Canadian circuit of Trial-giving clubs.

On Sunday, November 5th, the Ta-I-O Beagle Club of Montreal held a most successful hunt at St. Pie de Bagot under ideal weather conditions, when a great assemblage of beaglers and their hounds came together from far and near to participate in the day's sport. The judges were: A. D. P. Lalaune, Roch Fournier and Wilfrid St. Pierre, who officiated on the field, and R. A. Ross, who picked out the best specimens for their show type.

The 15 in. Derby drew an entry of 12 starters, and the 15 in. all-age drew an entry of 14 starters. The Derby winner was "Polo," owned by J. E. Roy, and the all-age winner was the same good hunting beagle. The best show type hound was Record J. A. Thouin's smart hound, "Sport T".

From such auspicious beginnings come licensed trials, so success to Le Club de Beagles TA-I-O de Montreal.

"Bob" McAdam, Toronto, has sold his imported Wire Fox Terrier, "Ch. Stormy Boy," son of "Ch. Stockmoor Storm," ex a bitch having for paternal and maternal grandsires "Ch. Talavera Simon" and "Ch. Crackley Sensation" respectively.

Mrs. McLaughlan of Savanna, Ga., the new owner, telegraphed the following gratifying information on the arrival of "Stormy Boy" at his new home: "Ch. Stormy Boy arrived, surpassed all expectations."

"Ch. Stormy Boy" met all the good ones in Canada whilst he was being campaigned in 1930 and early 1931, and was always in trim for his battles, therefore we are not surprised to learn that he is finding favor with his new mistress.

The residents of Oakville, and many fanciers from the cities and towns adjoining, gathered in large numbers at the home of Mr. Donald McKellar, Brant St., Oakville, Ont., to pay their last respects to Mrs. McKellar, and the abundance of floral tributes told their silent story of their affection for one of sterling worth whom they had learned to respect greatly.

The Scottish Terriers and the West Highland White Terriers, which came to the shows with the far-famed "Donald", had a staunch friend in Mrs. McKellar, who never tired when their welfare called for her attention, and to quote Mr. McKellar's own words: "She was the best pal a dog fancier ever had".

We believe that it is Mr. McKellar's intention to sell his home and his kennels in the near future, and if we have been correctly informed, then there is an opportunity for anyone requiring a cosy home of convenient proportions, together with a well-equipped kennel with commodious exercising grounds which are adjacent to the open spaces.

Oakville Kennel Club certainly "packed 'em in" at the parlor show held at Oakville, Ont., on Saturday evening, October 28th. After the show building became jammed with people and their dogs, there was nothing left for the officials to do only to excuse the late comers who could not get up the stairs to make their entries.

The Championship Trials of the Oshawa Beagle Club were held at Dagmar, Ont., on Saturday and Sunday, November 4th and 5th, when Judges Art Bourne and A. Fowler found a small but select lot of hounds eager to show their several degrees of efficiency on the field for judicial appraisal.

From the three braces contending for the 13-inch all-age dogs, and bitches honors the judges found the following to be best: 1st, "Hayes Princess"; 2nd, "Shirks' Harkaway Flash"; 3rd, "Rigg's 'Yankee Beauty'"; 4th, Filman's "Yankee Trip," and Reserve, "Bowman's Buddy." The 13-inch series was run off on Saturday, November 4th.

Sunday found more dogs ready to contend for placements in the 15-inch all-age series. Some good running on game was always in evidence throughout the day. Four couples started and furnished some nice sport for the gallery's entertainment and the judges' score sheets, and at the end of the day the following were announced to be the winners: 1st, R. Armstrong's "Blarney Boy"; 2nd, E. Burns' "Harkaway Bill"; 3rd, J. Moor's "Hayes Jenny"; 4th, W. Haye's "Haye's Lady"; Reserve, C. Sever's "Belmont Park Billy".

With the running of the Trials at Oshawa falls to be recorded the circumstance of no less than four Championship Beagle Field Trials being held in Canada this year. The several Beagle Clubs are functioning as a unit for the advancement of Beagling in this country, and no doubt this branch of sport will develop further still in the very near future.

The Alberta News

By Provincial Contributing Editor,
C. H. PARK, Medicine Hat, Alta.

AS this is the last time that we shall appear in print before the festive Christmas season is on us, the writer takes this opportunity of wishing all members of the Canadian Kennel Club and fanciers in general, A Very Merry Christmas and a Bright and More Prosperous New Year, and thanks the Alberta fanciers for the very liberal support they have given him in his efforts to make this page of interest, and asks for a continuance of same.

It is nice to open on a cheerful note and the valued contribution from friend J. G. Young of our Capital City, Edmonton, is very bright and cheery and is an object lesson to the rest of the fanciers in the province. The excellent support they have given this number in the advertising columns shows that they agree with the writer that the Red Magazine goes home to be read and not consigned to the waste paper basket.

Edmonton Notes—Once again the fanciers of the City of Edmonton can append "progress" to their activities for the year just past. The year of 1933 has been a hard one for most fanciers, but I believe that the fancy will agree with the writer that we have progressed considerably over the previous two years, when we were able to stage a three-point show this summer in conjunction with the Edmonton Exhibition instead of the usual two-pointer. And while we have lost some of our older breeders, our loss has been some other community's gain, and we have also been successful in interesting a number of new fanciers in our sport. Sales, while they have not been all that could be desired for some of us, have held up wonderfully well, and only this evening one of our members informed me that to date this year their kennel had disposed of fifty-five dogs, puppies and grown stock, which is surely an enviable record for all our members to strive to beat. We, in Edmonton, also look forward to the staging of a Winter All-breed Show early in the New Year for charitable purposes, but more anon.

I am sure the fanciers in Western Canada will join with us in extending to our president, Harry Nash, their deepest sympathy in the loss of his good flat-coated Retriever, "Ellwyn Earldom." This dog, while still in his prime, was seized with an unknown malady, and in spite of the very best veterinarian treatment, passed away a short time ago. "Earldom's" passing is regrettable to the sportsmen of the Western Provinces, inasmuch as Mr. Nash imported this dog from Bailee Dagliesh, Scotland, in the hope of producing worth-while specimens of this most desirable breed of hunting dogs. We all sincerely hope that Harry will once again stare old "lady luck" in the eye, and import another suitable mate for his good flat-coated bitch, "Ch. Ellwyn Vanity"—you know Harry, they say the first seven years are the worst, so you have a couple of more to go before you encounter your Waterloo.

Mrs. S. C. Arno, owner of the Marvel Kennels, reports a most satisfactory year in bench show winnings and sales. Her "Ch. Whitworth Kiss Kisch" demonstrated his ability as a veteran to go out and win Best Pekinese at the Summer Show of the Edmonton Dog Fanciers' Club over his new kennel mate, "Ho Lem." "Kiss" stayed at home, but "Ho Lem" took in the Greater Winnipeg Club Show this fall where he annexed "Best Pekinese," and those who know this breed say that "Ho Lem" is one of the best Pekes in America today. He is a biscuit shaded gentleman with a black mask, and will always be in the money wherever shown. To carry on their breeding programme the Marvel Kennels purchased a young dog whose nomenclature is "Shantung Dandee Doc"—another of the biscuit shade with a black mask, who was brought into the kennel because of the suitability of blood lines for mating to their younger females out of "Ch. Ku San of Shantung." "Doc" is a young Pekinese, if used scientifically in breeding, that is going to do this breed considerable good in Western Canada, as well as make a name for himself on the show bench. Another new addition to the kennel is that brilliant red and white parti-colored Peke, "Moy San of Peiping"; this is probably the most attractive Pekinese ever seen in Canada, and he was bred right here in Edmonton by Mrs. W. J. Caudwell; this dog has already done considerable winning on the bench, and it will not be long before he acquires the enviable prefix of "Champion." The matrons of the kennel of this breed, including "Ch. Ku San of Shantung" and "Ch. Marvel Moon Star," continue to supply their owner with really, worth-while specimens of the breed which have been disposed of to satisfied purchasers all over Canada, and have continued to live up to the quality of Marvel bred stock by winning for their new owners. Among the recent sales of the Marvel Kennels are a female in whelp, Pekinese, as well as a son of their "Ch. Whitworth Kiss Kisch," to Mrs. Aldrich of Carstairs, Alberta, who intends going in extensively for this breed, as well as their "Marvel June Budd" and another son of "Whitworth Kiss Kisch" to Mr. Masterman of Winnipeg. "Marvel June Budd" is now back at her home kennels for a mating to one of her former kennel mates. In Pomeranians this kennel houses two important clear orange stud dogs in "Ch. Cairndhu Courtier" and "Marvel Ginger Snap." Both dogs are available for the use of the fancy, and stud fees can be obtained upon application to Mrs. Arno—see display advertisement for address.

Here's a news flash, as Walter Winchell or his girl Friday, would say. Sandy Robertson, of the Merrie Cocker Kennels, has today acquired, or should we say, re-acquired, that good Cocker bitch, "Ch. Alberta Patsy." I don't know of anyone else who should have this bitch in his kennels, inasmuch as he went to the expense of making her a champion; however, as she is the dam of "Ch. Merrie Beauty," who produced in her first litter that good Cocker, "Ch. Merrie Durbar," who has, incidentally, recently been exported to the United States, the proposed mating of "Ch. Alberta Patsy" to "Ch. Calmas Durbar" should contain some future champions. Sandy has also been interesting himself in parti-colors lately, and next year should see some worth-while specimens emanate from his kennels.

While we are on the subject of Cockers, we should not forget the activities of our old friend, Jack Tanton. Jack was one of the premier sponsors of this breed in Alberta and spent considerable money in importing worthwhile specimen from England to carry out his breeding programmes. However, circumstances over which he had no control compelled him to relinquish his activities in the breed to some extent a few years ago, but he is now building up a kennel of super Cockers of the most desirable strains. At the present time he is the owner of "Merrie Duchess," as well as a good young dog sired by "Ch. Calmas Durbar" ex "Lucky Girl." This dog is of the same breeding, later litter, as the young black bitch that did so well at the Eastern shows this year, under George Climo's prefix, but which, unfortunately, succumbed to the ravishes of distemper a short time ago. We believe that it will only be a very short time before Mr. Tanton will be holding his own with the best of Cocker breeders in Canada, which was the enviable position he owned a few years ago.

Mrs. C. L. Young, of Edmonton, is one of the "one dog owners" we are happy to have as a member of our club. Mrs. Young is an ardent worker for saw what was in his opinion nearly a perfect Springer, a son of "Ch. Lile Messenger Boy"; he had been told about this dog by W. C. Burns, of Victoria, who knows a good one, and he came up to expectations, so much so, that the Doctor immediately made arrangements to breed a bitch to him. At the present time one of his best broods is in whelp to "Rocky" and great things are expected from the mating.

Dr. Calvert extends the season's greetings to all.

Mrs. Hedley-Peek of Sidney, on Vancouver Island, who registered her kennel name Widbrook in 1929, has been having a busy time in Dachshund sales—all the young dogs on hand and many bitches have been sold for good prices; seven went in ten days, and there have been a number of enquiries for breeding pairs. Mrs. Hedley-Peek has just imported a new stud dog, "Kensal Wee Boy," a black and tan, and recently sold "Ch. Red Imp of Querns" to Mrs. Grayce Greenburg of California, and "Ch. Widbrook Wotan" has gone to Mrs. Nichol of Victoria.

Early in the new year some new blood will be coming out from England in the person of a son of the great "Ch. Wolf vom Birchenschloss," and also a few Dapples.

More litters are expected shortly, which is only natural in a kennel that contains twenty-three of the breed. Even at that, six of these go to new homes this month, and orders are booked for coming litters.

Mrs. Hedley-Peek finds the Dachshunds most attractive little fellows, wonderfully easy to teach, and they make splendid pals.

The Dandie Dinmont also holds favor at the Widbrook Kennels, where "Ch. Matching Gleikum Deil" rules the roost in that department. The Widbrooks are surely making history in B.C. and we wish their popular owner continued success in the breeds which she has done so much for.

From Nanaimo comes word that Robert Mercer's fine old Wire, "Templehill Chunky," has passed on to the doggy Valhalla, a game, assertive Terrier of the kind that always appealed to the Nanaimo breeders, or used to at any rate, for of late years we have lost much of the assertiveness of our early terriers.

J. Griffiths, of the same city, has just had two Wire bitches whelp, one of "Templehill" blood, the other by a "Lyncote" sire.

R. Horman, also of Nanaimo, has made another start in Wires by purchasing a brace of puppies from Mr. Griffiths, for he found it hard to keep out of the game, and a surprise may be sprung on us all next spring. Good luck, Mr. Horman.

Shooting on Vancouver Island in parts has not been up to former years; some good bags have been had, although the pheasants are reported not so plentiful. Mr. Cottle, who is well posted in these matters, thinks that the Game Board should trap pheasants in the dry belt and liberate these birds next spring on the Island, to introduce some fresh blood. Mr. Cottle asks me to convey his best wishes for the coming year to all dog fanciers, in other lands, as well as our own, and hopes that "old man depression" will be gone and forgotten in 1934.

We are pleased to report that Mr. Shepherd of Nanaimo has recovered from his recent illness, and hopes to be over for the Junior League Show with some of Miss Rhoda Shepherd's Newfoundlands, a few of whose dogs have recently found new homes.

George W. Jackson and his famous Irish Setter "Champion Tzouhalem Trail Blazer," have just returned from Edmonton, and had some good shooting in that district. While there Mr. Jackson called upon Dr. Hall who imported the Irish Setter "Ch. Ronald of Boyne" and others, but now keeps Labradors. He still uses one Irish Setter which money could not buy, a splendid field dog, "Northfield Jerry of Glenora," bred by Jack Cottle.

It really looks as if the vexed question of championship ratings will shortly be settled to the satisfaction of all parts of the country. Judging by reports in Kennel and Bench the P. R. (Pym ratings) system is finding approval, of course it can hardly be expected to launch such a scheme and find universal acceptance for it, but when Mr. Pym offered us his ratings, I feel sure he had that in mind, and his ratings were designed so as to be acceptable to all, as in a case like this we must all give and take a little. Too much tinkering with the P. R. scheme will weaken the foundations, which fundamentally are sound, and only what we expect from our C.K.C. Director.

From H. A. Rhodes of Cowichan Station, comes some news of the "Of Moray" Kennels, several of the Cockers have found new homes, two outstanding young dogs by "Ch. Lucky Streak of Ware" ex "Cinderella of Ware" have left B.C., one went to Mrs. Fleishman of Los Angeles, and the other, as I write, is on his way to Waterloo, Ont., where he is to be entered for the "Royal" at Toronto, this month. I am sure that Cocker breeders here will be waiting with interest to hear the result of his debut.

The imported black bitch "Sweet-heart of Ware" last month gave her owners five most promising black pups to "Weathercock of Ware," "Weathercock" was bred by Mrs. Ralph Fytche of the Fulmer Kennels, whose name is a household word in the breed, and described him as "one of the best she had ever had."

WORTHY COUPLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George Ward, of the Albany Kennels at Oakville, Ont., have been celebrating the 50th anniversary of their marriage, which took place at Sheffield, England, during October, 1883. Telegrams and letters of happy congratulations have come to the veteran couple from all over the United States and Canada. Presents of many kinds and from many sources have brought much joy to the hearts of the worthy couple, who have enjoyed being remembered so generously and so spontaneously by so many.

"Dad" Ward and his family came to Canada in 1910, and "Dad," having been born a dog lover, has always taken his proper place in Canadian dogdom since their arrival in Canada. An efficient and competent judge, his services in the ring were always in demand, but because of business reasons, many invitations to judge had to be declined with thanks. As a breeder and exhibitor, Mr. Ward has consistently been prominent at most Canadian shows for the past two decades, and in spite of his advancing years, he is just as keen for dogs today as he has ever been. Let "Dad" Ward see them "in the rough" and he will invariably help himself to the best being offered, and his judgment in this respect is invariably consistent, even to the verge of being uncanny.

Experience is a great teacher, they say, and "Dad" Ward's experience ripened early. Nevertheless, it was always at the disposal of those seeking information or requiring it. Always a gentleman at home or abroad, he made a host of friends for himself, and their response to the golden wedding celebration was proof positive that he had the faculty of retaining the many friendships made in his lifetime.

In all that ever concerned Mr. Ward, he had, as helpmate, one who played a full part, since that day when the marriage bells pealed for the happy union fifty years ago. Not only has Mrs. Ward been true to her trust, as wife and mother, she has always taken a keen interest in anything concerning the Albany Kennels, an institution in which she has been part and parcel all her life. At a kennel such as the "Albany," there must necessarily be a constant stream of visitors arriving, and it is here that Mrs. Ward stands right out. Night or day she is on hand. Every visitor is made welcome by her, and always she remembers that travel demands attention, and so her pots and pans are eternally ready for service. No fuss, no trouble—so she says—but you "must be hungry, come in and eat."

The "old school," you say, well maybe that does serve to describe the picture somewhat, and if that is the answer, then here's a health to the "old school" in general and to "Dad" and Mrs. Ward in particular, and may they be spared to each other for many years to come. More than man and wife are they. Pals they have always been, and will continue to be. Congratulations!

PREPOTENCY

By H. E. Batt, B.V.Sc.

IN the science of genetics the term prepotency is used to designate the ability of a given sire or dam to transmit individual or racial characteristics to their offspring. The geneticist recognizes a fact which is often lost sight of by the average livestock breeder, that is, that prepotency is double edged and may operate for good or ill. Bad as well as good characteristics may be and often are transmitted. In dealing with and applying the phenomenon of prepotency to breeding operations one is often led to expect too much by looking only on one side of the picture. It is natural that this should occur, as a breeder of livestock is usually an optimist in regard to the quality of expected offspring from a mating. It frequently happens that a somewhat indifferent animal is mated to an individual of superior type and breeding, as the result of which the breeder expects offspring that will closely resemble the good individual and is often disappointed. The progeny of such a mating should be and often are of better quality than the poorer parent, but they fall more or less below the standard of the better of the two parents. A knowledge of genetics will explain why this occurs and while preparing the breeder for disappointments will at the same time show him the way to improvement of livestock by intelligence and patience.

In connection with the subject of prepotency it should be clearly understood by the livestock breeder that many laws laid down by the geneticist are founded wholly or in part upon observations and experiments upon plants, and that while in the main these rules may be applied to animals certain reservations must be made. One should remember when dealing with domesticated animals that however pure the ancestry of any given individual may be, there are within that animal, be it sire or dam, characteristics which are hidden and which will appear only in its offspring, so that after all the true value of a breeding animal can only be estimated by the quality and vigour of its offspring. The potential or possible characteristics hidden or contained within the germ cells of domesticated animals are many and mixed. This is not to be wondered at when one takes into consideration the history of the development of the breed or strain. Many of the breeds of domesticated animals are of comparatively recent origin and the characteristics within their genes or germ plasma are still in a state of flux, not being fixed to anything like the same degree as in wild animals. A good illustration of the fixation of characteristics may be observed when one takes into consideration the remarkable similarity in regard to colour, size and temperament in, say, wild red foxes or among wild birds. In these cases, as among all wild life, the differences as a rule are too small to be noted except by very careful observation and measurement. This fixation of type is the result of countless generations of like producing like. On the other hand, observe the many different types occurring among a number of domesticated animals of any breed. Also observe the uniformity of type seen among the animals of a careful breeder. Uniformity of type should be the aim of every livestock breeder, no matter what breed of animals he is interested in.

The apparent or potential characteristics of any given animal, domestic or wild, are the result of the fusion of genes derived from the germ plasma of its sire and dam and these in turn derived their characteristics from their four parents. The four grandparents of the given animal are also the result of the union of the germ plasma of their parents and so on back through the generations. In any given animal are to be found mingled the characteristics of its ancestors to a diminishing degree in so far as the older generations are concerned. The breeder should understand when dealing with genetics as applied to domesticated animals that these characteristics are many and that an almost endless number of combinations may occur often resulting in a lesser or greater degree of variation from the desired type. A very slight knowledge of genetics will show how important it is to make sure that the sire and dam are the offspring of parents whose ancestors were desirable animals as regards type and temperament.

It frequently happens that among the progeny resulting from the mating of carefully selected desirable animals there will be one or more that are of inferior quality. Perhaps, as sometimes happens, all will be poor specimens. What is the meaning of this? The explanation is that a reversion to type has occurred. The genes of these two good quality parents contained characteristics derived from somewhat indifferent ancestors and the germ plasma from which the offspring were constructed produced animals resembling indifferent grandparents or perhaps great grandparents. This reversion to type is common. It may be a blessing when the ancestry is good, and because of it the livestock breeder should study pedigree in an attempt to select animals of good ancestry.

The value of a sire or dam is dependent to a large extent upon the purity of the germ plasma as regards freedom from undesirable characteristics. It is difficult to estimate the possibility or degree of prepotency in any given animal unless the quality of its offspring can be judged and unless there is a pedigree available, and even then mistakes may be made as the mating from which the offspring resulted may not have been suitable. That is, the characteristics present in the germ plasma of the two parents did not blend well in the offspring. It frequently happens that an animal will produce much better quality offspring when mated to an animal that suits. Again the reason for this is one of blending of characteristics. The germ plasma of some strains will blend well with that of other strains producing offspring of superior type. On the other hand the blending of strains sometimes results in an inferior type of offspring. Experience and observation will teach which strains blend well and which do not.

It frequently happens that one of the offspring of somewhat indifferent parents is a good individual but it should be remembered that such an animal is often incapable of transmitting its good qualities to its offspring because of its indifferent ancestors. This is the reason for the fact that some of the best animals in so far as type goes are of little value as breeders. It also explains why there are cases of somewhat indifferent individuals producing offspring of better quality than themselves, the reason in this case being that some of their ancestors were good quality animals. Provided there are no outstanding faults present in an animal whose ancestors were of good type, such an animal may be used for breeding purposes and will often produce progeny of good type and quality if suitably mated. The difficulty in this case lies in the selection of a suitable mate. Often the process of trial and error are the only means available. The use of such animals as breeders is, however, somewhat dangerous and does not tend to uniform quality of the offspring in the first generation, but if the best of the progeny are retained and careful breeding persisted in for several generations a number of superior quality animals will result.

Royal Winter Fair Dog Show

THE National Kennel Club, Inc., held its International Dog Show in the Million Dollar Horse Palace, in conjunction with the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, Toronto, on November 27-29, when a most gratifying entry greeted the judges selected for this year's fixture, i.e., Madame Camille de P. Doniphan, Montreal, who judged all the Toy breeds; Mrs. Ward Pitfield, Montreal, Sealyhams and Welsh Terriers; W. E. Chetwin, Syracuse, N.Y., English Bulldogs and Frenchies; J. G. Goldie, Waterloo, Ont., German Shepherds; J. Fraser, Toronto, Boston Terriers; Joseph Hill, Toronto, Cocker Spaniels, and Robert A. Ross, Montreal, all other breeds.

The quality of the show was quite extraordinary in every respect, and the dogs which came to the rings for the groups was an indication of good judging, in fact, the quality of the dogs competing in the Group classes was on par with that seen at the very best shows held in America as the award columns will clearly show.

Capt. H. Dudley-Waters had the advantage of splendid assisting talent as ring stewards, and in the general running of the entire show, and he must be complimented on the smooth running of the whole dog show machine on this occasion. The dogs were fed by Spratt's Patent Ltd., and disinfected by Izal as usual. The benching used was that of Toronto Kennel Club which ensured comfort for every animal benched.

President Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, K.C., and Vice-President Major E. Ward Wright were constant in their attentions for the general welfare of everything and everybody connected with the fixture. The usual get together luncheon for the judges and stewards was well attended and the atmosphere was indicative of general satisfaction.

Particularly colorful was the judging of the Sporting dog group, when such celebrities of dogdom came together as the Giralda Farms Pointer, "Benson of Crombie," handled by McClure Halley, the Happy Valley Kennels' English Setter, "The Country Gentleman," handled by Alf Loveridge, and a lot of really choice specimens of the Sporting breeds. Mr. Ross gave every animal his very best, and this careful judging appealed mightily to the interested gallery. In the end the Pointer was declared the winner.

Terriers as a group were as nice a lot as anyone might wish to see in any ring, and as the several representatives showed their quality, the ringside marked their approval in the usual manner, but Mr. Ross was quite adamant on the day, and his nonchalance to the plaudits predicted that his "say so" would only count in the end, and so he found Dr. C. R. Boulding's Wire Fox Terrier, "Ch. Talavera Symington" for best, and the dog was nicely presented by handler Ted Ward.

The entries of Old English Sheepdogs and of Shetland Sheepdogs were two of the show's greatest features, the former for the many splendidly prepared animals in competition, truly the Royal Show always brings an unusual lot of "bobtails" together year after year. So profuse in coat were several of the outstanding dogs, that one little chap became quite mystified, and wanted to know at which end the dog ate his cornflakes. Oh well, we couldn't blame the kid for that, no doubt some grown folks were agitating themselves over the same score. The Shetlands were well received, and there can be no denying the appeal of the Miniature Collie, this breed makes new friends every time they are shown and there will be a good market for this smart little breed for whoever takes up the breeding of "Shelties" seriously.

"9 PUPS CURED OF DISTEMPER"

Says This Ontario Kennel Man

"Since using DISTEMPOT, I have no fear of distemper, nor would I attempt isolating any case of distemper in my kennels. I have nine puppies and young stock, now under one year, positively cured of distemper, all on one tube of DISTEMPOT. Surely the cheapest immunizing agent known."

Ontario, Nov. 26, 1932.

The name and address of this satisfied DISTEMPOT user will be furnished on request. His original letter, and many others, are on file in our office.

DISTEMPOT is an amazing, revolutionary, yet common sense remedy reported to have actually restored many distemper-afflicted animals to health. Easily spread on nose like a salve. No forcing, struggling, nor unpleasant after effects. Reaches all infected points without pain or disturbance.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

At a meeting of the above Association held at Toronto, on November 8th, the Officers and Committees of the Association reported on the activities of the past year in connection with kennel licenses, aid to dog breeders in York County and relative to general assistance given to dog fanciers in general.

The Secretary reported as to the financial activities and his Annual Statement showed the Association to be in a most healthy condition. The clubs roster stands at 137 members. Proposed activities for the winter months include a Poultry Euchre, a grand Matinee Show in January, and possibly an At-Home at a later date.

The following officers were elected: President, Wm. Stockdale; 1st Vice-President, W. Brown; 2nd Vice-President, A. Roberts; Sec'y-Treas., W. H. Carter, 36 Ascot Ave., Toronto. Executive Committee: Mrs. F. Luke, Mrs. E. Horning, Mrs. M. Stevens, and Messrs. A. E. Patchell, Geo. Potts and W. McKibbin.

HIGH HONOR FOR CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB PRESIDENT

Just as we go to press with our Christmas Number, we learn with a deep sense of pride, that our President, Lt.-Col. G. F. McFarland, K.C., has been appointed Judge of the High Court of Justice for Ontario. The announcement having been made by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice. Mr. McFarland succeeds Mr. Justice W. E. Raney, who died recently. Congratulations are now in order.

The Alberta News

By Provincial Contributing Editor,
C. H. PARK, Medicine Hat, Alta.

AS this is the last time that we shall appear in print before the festive Christmas season is on us, the writer takes this opportunity of wishing all members of the Canadian Kennel Club and fanciers in general, A Very Merry Christmas and a Bright and More Prosperous New Year, and thanks the Alberta fanciers for the very liberal support they have given him in his efforts to make this page of interest, and asks for a continuance of same.

It is nice to open on a cheerful note and the valued contribution from friend J. G. Young of our Capital City, Edmonton, is very bright and cheery and is an object lesson to the rest of the fanciers in the province. The excellent support they have given this number in the advertising columns shows that they agree with the writer that the Red Magazine goes home to be read and not consigned to the waste paper basket.

Edmonton Notes—Once again the fanciers of the City of Edmonton can append "progress" to their activities for the year just past. The year of 1933 has been a hard one for most fanciers, but I believe that the fancy will agree with the writer that we have progressed considerably over the previous two years, when we were able to stage a three-point show this summer in conjunction with the Edmonton Exhibition instead of the usual two-pointer. And while we have lost some of our older breeders, our loss has been some other community's gain, and we have also been successful in interesting a number of new fanciers in our sport. Sales, while they have not been all that could be desired for some of us, have held up wonderfully well, and only this evening one of our members informed me that to date this year their kennel had disposed of fifty-five dogs, puppies and grown stock, which is surely an enviable record for all our members to strive to beat. We, in Edmonton, also look forward to the staging of a Winter All-breed Show early in the New Year for charitable purposes, but more anon.

I am sure the fanciers in Western Canada will join with us in extending to our president, Harry Nash, their deepest sympathy in the loss of his good flat-coated Retriever, "Ellwyn Earldom." This dog, while still in his prime, was seized with an unknown malady, and in spite of the very best veterinarian treatment, passed away a short time ago. "Earldom's" passing is regrettable to the sportsmen of the Western Provinces, inasmuch as Mr. Nash imported this dog from Baileie Dagliesh, Scotland, in the hope of producing worth-while specimens of this most desirable breed of hunting dogs. We all sincerely hope that Harry will once again stare old "lady luck" in the eye, and import another suitable mate for his good flat-coated bitch, "Ch. Ellwyn Vanity"—you know Harry, they say the first seven years are the worst, so you have a couple of more to go before you encounter your Waterloo.

Mrs. S. C. Arno, owner of the Marvel Kennels, reports a most satisfactory year in bench show winnings and sales. Her "Ch. Whitworth Kiss Kisch" demonstrated his ability as a veteran to go out and win Best Pekinese at the Summer Show of the Edmonton Dog Fanciers' Club over his new kennel mate, "Ho Lem." "Kiss" stayed at home, but "Ho Lem" took in the Greater Winnipeg Club Show this fall where he annexed "Best Pekinese," and those who know this breed say that "Ho Lem" is one of the best Pekes in America today. He is a biscuit shaded gentleman with a black mask, and will always be in the money wherever shown. To carry on their breeding programme the Marvel Kennels purchased a young dog whose nomenclature is "Shantung Dandee Doc"—another of the biscuit shade with a black mask, who was brought into the kennel because of the suitability of blood lines for mating to their younger females out of "Ch. Ku San of Shantung." "Doc" is a young Pekinese, if used scientifically in breeding, that is going to do this breed considerable good in Western Canada, as well as make a name for himself on the show bench. Another new addition to the kennel is that brilliant red and white parti-colored Peke, "Moy San of Peiping"; this is probably the most attractive Pekinese ever seen in Canada, and he was bred right here in Edmonton by Mrs. W. J. Caudwell; this dog has already done considerable winning on the bench, and it will not be long before he acquires the enviable prefix of "Champion." The matrons of the kennel of this breed, including "Ch. Ku San of Shantung" and "Ch. Marvel Moon Star," continue to supply their owner with really, worth-while specimens of the breed which have been disposed of to satisfied purchasers all over Canada, and have continued to live up to the quality of Marvel bred stock by winning for their new owners. Among the recent sales of the Marvel Kennels are a female in whelp, Pekinese, as well as a son of their "Ch. Whitworth Kiss Kisch," to Mrs. Aldrich of Carstairs, Alberta, who intends going in extensively for this breed, as well as their "Marvel June Budd" and another son of "Whitworth Kiss Kisch" to Mr. Masterman of Winnipeg. "Marvel June Budd" is now back at her home kennels for a mating to one of her former kennel mates. In Pomeranians this kennel houses two important clear orange stud dogs in "Ch. Cairndhu Courtier" and "Marvel Ginger Snap." Both dogs are available for the use of the fancy, and stud fees can be obtained upon application to Mrs. Arno—see display advertisement for address.

Here's a news flash, as Walter Winchell or his girl Friday, would say. Sandy Robertson, of the Merrie Cocker Kennels, has today acquired, or should we say, re-acquired, that good Cocker bitch, "Ch. Alberta Patsy." I don't know of anyone else who should have this bitch in his kennels, inasmuch as he went to the expense of making her a champion; however, as she is the dam of "Ch. Merrie Beauty," who produced in her first litter that good Cocker, "Ch. Merrie Durbar," who has, incidentally, recently been exported to the United States, the proposed mating of "Ch. Alberta Patsy" to "Ch. Calmas Durbar" should contain some future champions. Sandy has also been interesting himself in parti-colors lately, and next year should see some worthwhile specimens emanate from his kennels.

While we are on the subject of Cockers, we should not forget the activities of our old friend, Jack Tanton. Jack was one of the premier sponsors of this breed in Alberta and spent considerable money in importing worthwhile specimen from England to carry out his breeding programmes. However, circumstances over which he had no control compelled him to relinquish his activities in the breed to some extent a few years ago, but he is now building up a kennel of super Cockers of the most desirable strains. At the present time he is the owner of "Merrie Duchess," as well as a good young dog sired by "Ch. Calmas Durbar" ex "Lucky Girl." This dog is of the same breeding, later litter, as the young black bitch that did so well at the Eastern shows this year, under George Climo's prefix, but which, unfortunately, succumbed to the ravishes of distemper a short time ago. We believe that it will only be a very short time before Mr. Tanton will be holding his own with the best of Cocker breeders in Canada, which was the enviable position he owned a few years ago.

Mrs. C. L. Young, of Edmonton, is one of the "one dog owners" we are happy to have as a member of our club. Mrs. Young is an ardent worker for the success of our shows and one who would be an asset to any club. Her only dog is "Ch. Alberta Prince of Drumnod," but as his name implies, he emanated from the kennel of that sterling fancier, Monty Wallace, Saskatoon, and as he was a gift from Monty to Mrs. Young because of his close friendship with her husband. You can be sure that "Ch. Alberta Prince of Drumnod" is all that a Newfoundland should be, and in his short show career in this part of Canada has won many of the premier awards at our shows.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allen, owners of the "von Ritzendorf" German Shepherd Kennels, are still devoting their activities to this most popular breed, and while statisticians would have the fancy believe that this breed is slipping, I think the western clubs will agree that they are still one of the most largest entries at our shows. Mr. and Mrs. Allen have already campaigned one dog to his championship, "Ch. Detlef of Stockade," and it is the sincere wish of our members that it will not be the last one of this popular breed.

Jack Rawlings, owner of the "Quantock Vale" Kennels of Springers, reports a most successful season and the completion of the championship of his good Springer bitch "Ch. Quantock Vale of Burnside." As the name of this bitch would imply, she is a daughter of "Ch. Vale of Burnside," who won best of breed at the Westminster Club Show a few years ago, being sired by

"Int. Ch. High Tide Barney." Mr. Rawlings is looking forward to another successful season next year in the disposal of puppies and young stock for hunting purposes.

W. H. Driscoll is another of the "one dog owners" we are happy to have as a member of our club. His good German Shepherd, "Ch. Etzel of Stockade," completed his championship this year, and we are of the opinion that it will not be very long before Bill feels the urge to breed something that will be able to beat his present Champion—more power to you, Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Warry, owners of the Acme Variety Kennels, are one of the fewer members of our club who go in for the breeding of various breeds. The breeds they sponsor are Pekingeses, Pomeranians, Boston Terriers, Cocker and Springer Spaniels, and Irish Water Spaniels. They have had a very successful season on the show bench this year, and Mr. Warry is to be congratulated for the commendable way in which he handled the superintending of the Edmonton Show this summer. They report a keen demand for their young stock of all breeds, and are looking forward to exhibit a number of their dogs at the forthcoming show of the Alberta Kennel Club on December 1st and 2nd, which will be over by the time this item appears in print.

While Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkwood, owners of the "of Kirk" affix, have not been very active in breeding the last year or so, we hope that in 1934 they will find the time to take care of a litter of German Shepherd puppies from their "Ch. Alice of Normandy," sired by the best possible mate they can find for her on this continent. However, it is quite possible that before many moons come over the horizon they will have forgotten their first love, and blossom out as full-fledged breeders of a very popular breed—the "Sealyham"; we will wait and see.

The Stockade Kennels, owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Elliott, is one to conjure with when German Shepherds are mentioned in this locality. As will be noted from the foregoing notes in this review, these breeders are already responsible for two "Championships" completed this year on "Stockade" dogs. It is regrettable that, owing to illness in their home, these sterling fanciers could not continue their breeding operations in 1933, but it is our sincere hope that they will be able to carry on their hobby next year, when we feel sure that they will be in a position to add additional laurels to their efforts.

It seems to be a habit that the Normandy Kennels continue to win Best in Show for All Breeds in Edmonton, but the quality of their Scotties is such that they take a back seat to no kennel on our continent. The foundation stock for this kennel was imported from the world-famous Glenboig roost of the world renowned Robert Chapman, two bitches in whelp; one to "Ch. Merlewood Aristocrat" and the other to "Ch. Albourne Reveller." To carry on their breeding programme this kennel imported from Mr. Chapman "Heather Jock," a son of the distinguished "Ch. Heather Necessity" ex "Ch. Ornsay Baba"; to further illustrate their intentions of breeding worth-while Scotties, they imported from the world-famous Albourne Kennels of A. G. Cowley, "Albourne Adventure," a jet black, prize winning dog in the British Isles, and one that was used by the best breeders while he was at stud at Mr. Cowley's kennels. This good dog is a double grandson of the pillar of our breed, "Ch. Albourne Barty," whose female offspring are so much in demand in the British Isles today. That "Adventure" is carrying on his high breeding possibilities in Canada as he did in the British Isles is evidenced by the quality of the young stock in the carry out the breeding programmes the Normandy Kennels today. To further owner of this kennel had in mind, Mr. Young this Fall, when he was a visitor to Vancouver, acquired a red-brindle dog by "Ch. Gaisgill Great Scot," with the object of intensifying the blood argument, is as follows: "Judges strongly urged to withhold 'Winners' from unworthy specimens."

As I have just said, most of the fanciers I have heard on the matter are of the opinion that, regardless of system used or number of dogs in class, in the final analysis it still rests with the judge. It is easy to imagine a case where the best of a large class might not compare with the single entry so that the duty of the judge is equally clear in either case. I am thinking of a judge for whose ability I have great regard admitting that he gave "Winners" to a "mutt" knowing that the points given with this win would finish this dog's Championship because he did not like to withhold "Winners" when other judges had passed the dog that far.

The chief reason, however, for taking issue on this question is a case brought to my notice in looking over the "Saskatchewan Notes", where the Editor mentions a letter in "Canadian Fancy," October Number of Kennel and Bench, from S. S. Magoffin, Vancouver. Mr. Magoffin infers that a dog was shipped from Manitoba to the Coast to avoid competition and that same dog received his Championship in a week or ten days with absolutely no competition. While no owner's name is mentioned, there can be little doubt as to the case to which he refers, and if I am correct in my opinion as to the identity of the owner of this dog, then I can only say that Mr. Magoffin has very little knowledge of this man's record either as a showman or a sportsman. He has shown dogs fearlessly all over Canada and the United States, and the dog which we presume to be the one in mind later went to "Winners" at the Morris and Essex Show with just under fifty entries in this breed, and was only defeated for "Best of Winners" and "Best of Breed" by his litter sister who won same honors at the Westminster and ten or twelve of the larger shows in the Eastern States. So then, are we to suppose the breeder, whose main object after all is advertising, is going to keep on year after year sending his dogs into the hotbeds of competition or is he going to seek new fields? Many times these past few outside the Prairie circuit, the cost involved being the chief factor in decades have I thought of sending dogs tarring me. So all power to the man who has the courage to ship his dogs such a distance. Should he not be congratulated rather than receive what the Saskatchewan Editor very rightly calls, "scathing remarks from some would-be inventor of elaborate system, which, when shorn of their flourishes, are only found to be the old system in disguise except that there is added the unthinkable feature that will absolutely discourage the owner of breeds that are short in number or particularly so in certain districts from sending their dogs where they are not sure of plenty of competition and so lose the advertising that the shows are supposed to afford."

In other words, it is what we are continually trying to get away from in a so-called democratic country, discriminatory legislation. It would hardly seem that some of these parties are keen students of the Bible yet they seem to stand for the principle mentioned in Matthew 13:12, which says: "Whosoever hath, to him shall be given, but whosoever has not, from him shall be taken away, even that which he hath." The only redeeming feature is contained in allowing dogs that win in group classes the same points as dogs they win over, but even that is not so good as again the old law of average gives the edge to the greater number.

Mervyn Lloyd now speaking.

The usual rush of the shooting season prevented me from forwarding last month's contribution of these notes. There is little time to be spent at home with the writing desk when each and every day brings excitement anew in the shooting field. The favorable prospects were creditably fulfilled, the early part of the season being particularly enjoyable. Unfortunately, inclement weather conditions have curtailed the duration to a considerable degree. As is usually the case in Western Canada, the Provincial Game Commissioner declares when the season shall open, but Mother Nature attends to the closing of it. Although at the time of writing there are many ducks still in the vicinity, the privations which would have to be endured to approach them overbalance the sport obtained. However, short though our season might be, it is certainly a merry one for all good sportsmen—and their dogs.

Many notable sportsmen have visited the ranch this year, including some of international repute, gentlemen who have followed the bird dogs in very many quarters of the globe, and who, one and all, proclaim that the rough vigorous shooting day of Alberta ranks among the best of their experiences. Unhampered by boundary limits and very slightly restricted by etiquette and convention, our shooting draws the gunner nearer to the natural, instinctive hunting of our primitive forefathers than any of the well-ordered, methodical shooting parties on the preserves of other countries. It is a well known fact that such conditions cannot last for all time, but it is pleasant to observe that they are appreciated while they last. Unfortunately there are very many conditions which directly affect the propagation of game and the hunting of it over which the sportsman has no control, chief of which is the advance of civilization and agriculture. As a result, the shooting of a generation or two hence is quite likely to be deprived of much of its present day glorious freedom. Thanks to the wisdom and foresight of some of our local sportsmen who were instrumental in introducing the Hungarian Partridge and later the Oriental Pheasant, we are assured that the province will never be devoid of game. For this eminently successful experiment homage must be paid to the Bird Dog lovers of Alberta who so strongly supported it. Its marvellous success has proved beyond the fondest hopes, for it is safe to assume that none of these gentlemen responsible for introduction of these birds ever deemed that within their lifetimes the law would permit them to bag 75 birds per season, at which number the legal bag limit now stands, and moreover there is more likelihood of this number being increased in future years than it shall ever be reduced.

Our kennels have welcomed the arrival of two pleasing litters of Setters of late, both sired by our imported dog, "Rhe J. Hunter," the dams being "Trevalen Fay"—3 dogs and 2 bitches, and "Ch. Molly Rowland"—2 dogs and 2 bitches. We are soon to expect a litter of Springers from the beautiful bitch, "Marobar's Moorland Maid". Miss Alice Hall of Edmonton, who has carried on so devotedly with the kennel of Setters established by her late father, is now adding to it, having recently purchased one of our young Sealyhams, "Cleodau Casper," and we trust that she will derive much pleasure and faithful companionship from this member of this increasingly popular breed, a breed which embraces all that is desired in a house dog and canine friend, for none can surpass them for buoyant spirits, poise, humor, sympathy and faithfulness. Truly a marvellous combination.

In an effort to get some extra advertising for the Christmas Number of Kennel and Bench your correspondent circularized the secretaries of the four show-giving clubs of Alberta suggesting the advisability of making an extra effort and each club taking a page and dividing it up to suit the membership. D. B. Young, president of the Southern Alberta Kennel Club, in answer to our letter, writes as follows: "As far as advertising in Kennel and Bench is concerned, I looked over the sample sent to our secretary, but I am afraid that the hard times will prevent us from reserving any space. We tried to get a few together but had no success. We have but very few members in our club and the sign of the times is evident in all their faces."

By the time Kennel and Bench is again in print, the Calgary Kennel Club show will be over. I am hoping to be present as I will have three dogs there.

One Springer, "Mighty Cute," one Gordon Setter, "Dusky Maid," and a peach of a Smooth-haired Fox Terrier, he by "Ch. Prides Hill Resultant" ex "Farleigh Needle". He is a pretty nice dog and if you are there I will have you look him over. Breeders of this sporty terrier should not overlook this dog. He is 18 months old. However, while I think he is O.K., "Billy" Oates may think different at Calgary, but I am hoping for the best, as always. My kennel activities for 1933 have been more satisfactory than in any previous year both as regards sales and the quality of stock housed in my kennels now. Some nice sales in sporting dogs have been made, the latest being a Gordon Setter to H. S. Cressburn, Lashburn, Sask. Only one more Pointer is available for sale and he is liable to go any day. Springer Spaniels seem to be the ever popular duck dog as they seem to be in steady demand as the retrievers. In the Terrier section of my kennel, there are two Haldon-bred Scotties and two home-bred Wire-haired Terriers, and I have found a ready sale for all the pups raised. My kennel now consists of three English Setters, my stud dog being "Dennis O'Brien," and he is a good one, a son of "Paliacho Jr.," an all American champion, and is siring wonderful pups; three Springer Spaniels which are among the best around and require no apologies; two Pointers, the bitch being bred close up to some of the best Pointers obtainable. My stud dog is "Radio Tony" (Imp.) and is a great stud force and bird dog. This dog has been very much in demand as a stud dog. As before mentioned, my latest arrival being the smooth-haired terrier. I also have one Gordon Setter bitch that will be heard about at some later time.

Passing through Macleod yesterday, I called on Frank Tatham and looked over his kennel. He has improved his stock very much of late and has some very nice Springers, Setters, Terriers of all kinds and some Alsations. His latest arrival is "Ch. Valencia," a Russian Wolfhound, and he intends showing her at Calgary. She looks good.

At the last meeting of the Southern Alberta Kennel Club, the secretary presented his financial statement which we all considered satisfactory, as we have a nice little bank account, something we never had before. A discussion took place on the newly suggested scale of points (W. Pym's idea) and we feel it would be an improvement on the present standing. Here's hoping the Christmas Number of Kennel and Bench is a bumper. An enquiry for a black Pom. passed on to Mrs. Jas. Waite of Cochrane elicited the news that she hadn't a thing for sale. Her two litters of puppies born in July disappeared quickly, and at present she has nothing but breeding stock, which she has increased by two nice youngsters. Around January she expects to be in a position to say whether she can fulfill orders as the "stork is expected" shortly. Mrs. Waite has sold her 10 months' old male puppy, "Sundance Mahatma," to Mrs. E. Bradley of Victoria for use in her splendid Pom. kennels.

Dick Smith of Lethbridge reports a litter of three puppies by "Medalta Simple Simon," ex his good bitch, and Wm. Laybourn of Calgary has also a litter of three by "Simon". At the time of writing the Medalta Kennels are housing three litters of Wires by "Vivadora Masterpiece," ex prize-winning bitches, and a litter of Smooths by "Calgaree Real Spice," ex "Calgaree Maid of Mirth," a prize winner herself and by "Ch. Prides Hill Resultant," ex "Ch. Danby Molly". These are advertised through the columns of this paper.

Local fanciers are getting a few dogs ready to take in the Alberta Kennel Club show at Calgary on December 1st and 2nd with Billy Oates of Vancouver handing out the awards, and although they do not expect to clean up everything, they are hoping to get their share of the ribbons. Bill Burrow, the local Springer King, was in Lethbridge the other day and took the opportunity to look over some of the kennels, and amongst others was very favorably impressed with a Springer puppy shown him by Duke Wellington, which he thinks should be there or thereabouts whenever shown if all goes well with it. Bob Grayson of Medicine Hat, who had the misfortune to have his good Boston bitch, "Bell Rock Bella Donna," killed (a prize winner recently purchased from Bob Carter of Assiniboia and heavy in whelp to Lorne Laidlaw's dog, "Lity Busto"), when she was run over by a train, has not stayed long without replacing her and he has again gone to the Bell Rock Kennels, and report says he has purchased another real good one, a daughter of "Ch. Reigh Counts Sensation". Here's wishing him better luck with his new purchase as he is a real enthusiast. Joe Marsh of Medicine Hat, who recently purchased through Messrs. Armstrong and Currie a Boston of Geo. Duncan's breeding, has also had the misfortune to lose it.

Glancing at the calendar I realize rather suddenly that these notes are intended for publication in the Christmas Number of Kennel and Bench, so we must stop right here, but before doing so, we take this splendid opportunity to convey to all readers our sincere wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Saskatchewan News

By Provincial Contributing Editor,
W. W. RIOME, Moose Jaw, Sask.

SASKATCHEWAN fanciers take this opportunity of extending their heartiest good wishes to all readers of Kennel and Bench for a very Merry Christmas, coupled with the hope that the advent of 1934 will usher the dawn of a more prosperous year for all interested in breeding and showing man's best friend—THE DOG.

The many letters received have conveyed Christmas and New Year Greetings to fellow fanciers, but to save space, we will refrain from using these messages in the various items of kennel news.

There is a splendid bond of friendship existing among the men and women who have carried on kennel activities during the last few years in this great province. The work of putting on shows has been done with much co-operation, under very difficult circumstances; usually a few carrying the whole burden, with little or no thanks. These true fanciers are to be commended for their faithfulness; may their labors be rewarded with breeding a real one that will bring sufficient joy to counteract the hard grind of the past.

Dr. Moyer, of Rockglen, Sask., is still very interested in his Collies. His favorite, "Queen O' Scotia," whelped eight puppies on October 5th. These youngsters own "Glenogal Guardian" as their sire. Mrs. David Anderson and Warren Stewart of Assiniboia have each selected a male puppy. Another male will be shipped to Galt, Ontario. A litter is expected from "Rockglen Romance" and "Glenogal Guardian" this week. A male selected from the last litter from these parents has developed very nicely, and Dr. Moyer hopes to have him in shape for the coming shows. Dr. Kroshus and family are on an extended visit to California. So far, his Collies are farmed out. The Doctor took a keen interest at this season's shows and his Collies were always placed high.

Mrs. D. C. Macleod, of Yorkton, expresses her regret at sending her news so late. The writer appreciates the fact that some do realize that news can be late. After writing to the majority of our Saskatchewan breeders appealing for their news to be sent in by the tenth of the month, only four sent before the 15th. It is very discouraging to your correspondent and not only means two or three late nights, but it's just too bad to leave everything to the last minute and then cause the Toronto office staff to rush everything in order that the printer may get his copy in decent time. A little forethought on the fanciers part would make conditions much better for all concerned.

Well, back to the Yorkton Kennels. Mrs. Macleod has recently paid a visit to the Haldon Kennels owned by Dr. and Mrs. Batt, Guelph, Ontario. Mrs. Macleod returned with two purchases in Scottish Terriers, a very typical brood matron "Haldon Valentine" and a young stud, "Haldon Trumpeter." The latter was selected for use in the Glendhall Kennels, and later will be placed at public stud. "Trumpeter" is a fine show specimen. Sales have been brisk from these kennels. The Scotch Terrier female "Glendhall Juliana," sold to a Sask. fancier, was bred before being shipped. In Irish Terriers, "Nortobas Mickey" was sold, in whelp, to Geo. Beatty of Yorkton, and a young Irish Terrier male to E. Pinkerton, Mayor of Yorkton.

Mrs. Nellie M. Mollard, of Watrous, Sask., sends most interesting news of her St. Bernards. This kennel has maintained a high standard for the past several years. Further purchases have been made to make still greater improvements. A beautiful young female has arrived from the Waldeck Kennels, Brooklyn, N.Y. This female is a combination of the best European and American bloodlines, being sired by "Ch. Hercuven Invincible" who was best St. Bernard at the Westminster Show in 1932. On the dam's side, there are such famous European dogs as "Ch. Xevos Von Toubertal" and "Ch. Kavalier Von Grossgloches," the latter being that well known St. Bernard imported by the Fisher Auto Body Co. of Detroit, a few years ago.

Mrs. Mollard is so well satisfied with her recent purchase from the Waldeck Kennels that she has written Mr. Forbriger and made reservations for a suitable male. This has been arranged and in the spring a male puppy will be shipped to Watrous, by that, probably the most famous of all living Saints, "International Ch. Rasko Von der Reppich Waldeck." It is Mr. Forbriger's intention to mate his best imported Swiss female, "Berna Von der Hueg Waldeck" to "Rasko" shortly, and it is the best male of the litter that will be sent to Saskatchewan.

Since we have several ardent fanciers of Saints in our province, a word about "Rasko." At the Waldeck Kennels there is lots of space and food to breed and raise these large dogs. Nothing is too good for Paul R. Forbriger, who recently imported from Berne, Switzerland, that incomparable Saint Bernard, "Ch. Rasko von der Reppich Waldeck," a son of the famous "Emir von Jura," owned by Herr Gustave Giavina of Berne. "Rasko" went to the United States, many times crowned a champion by continental European judges. He is probably an American Champion at this time, having won fourteen of the required points during his first two weeks stay in America. In addition to going Winners and Best of Breed in practically every show in which he was entered, he was placed up in his group as Best Working Dog in Newark. Perhaps the greatest honor to come to "Rasko" is the recommendation of his breeder who considers him even greater than his famous sire, "Sieger Emir von Jura."

Mrs. Mollard is extremely interested in the fascinating game of raising St. Bernards, and is anxious to help the Canadian fancy, and with this pair having such wonderful breeding behind them, feels she will be in a position to do so.

To attempt to describe Bob Carter's Bostons would take up a whole issue of Kennel and Bench. We notice Bob is always keeping abreast of the times with new importations. His female line is just wonderful, and winners in this kennel are practically made to order. We will just take a glance at some of the studs in the Bell Rock Kennels: "Haggerty King's Laddie" by "Ch. Haggerty Again" needs no introduction to the Mid-west. He is still winning and siring winners. Then that little dandy, the sensation of 1933, "Ch. Reigh Count's Sensation" by "Int. Ch. Reigh Count." Imagine the thrill of winning Best Dog in Show, all breeds, at three shows on end, each time under a different judge, and to know that the dapper little fellow is siring winning puppies in every litter. "Bell Rock Pilot" by "Ch. Bell Rock Ribbed Intruder" ex a "Ch. Joyces Prince bitch." "Pilot" sired the best Non-Sporting dog at Edmonton this year. "Bell Rock Count Frisco" by "Ch. Reigh Counts Sensation," like his sire, nice marked a real brindle, a sure comer. Then comes "Bell Rock Lucky Intruder" by Bell Rock Pilot" ex "Bell Rock Hagerty Bell," winners bitches each time shown this year. "Lucky" will be the big leader at the 1934 shows. He has everything a good show dog requires. Bob's Bostons have made Assiniboia a very popular town.

A little "Mutual Mick" comes out of the north. Russell Hughes of Harvey, Illinois, is quite interested in Canadian Dogdom, and is desirous of having our Official Organ, "Kennel and Bench" forwarded to his home. Irish Terrier fanciers will be pleased to know that Mr. Hughes takes a keen interest in the "Dare Devils" as his letter says:—"When the Canadian Champion arrived at our home from Mutual Kennels, Moose Jaw, she was heavy in whelp. She gave us a litter of five males and three females. 'Moirá' and her puppies were kept at a kennel quite a long way from home. After the puppies were weaned she returned to our home and the puppies were left out at the kennels. On several occasions 'Moirá' got homesick for her family, and decided to run away from home, but was always found discussing the future with her family. 'Moirá' has become our great favorite; she has the quality, is a fine mother, has both a wonderful disposition and a world of patience." But to get to the real part of the story, Mr. Hughes says: "During the summer, 'Moirá' was sent to Tom Gately to be conditioned for a few Eastern shows prior to the Chicago Specialty on Oct. 21-22. On the day of the Chicago fixture she was grand, went Winners Bitch, won the cup for best bitch, won 5 points towards her International Championship. The judge (A. M. Niese, Secretary of the Irish Terrier Club of America) said she was the best bitch he had seen for years. To make her win more gratifying to us, one of 'Moirá's' puppies, 'Jalna Jan of Avonmore,' was first puppy bitch." Mr. Hughes compliments Mr. Gately of Hempstead, Long Island, on his conditioning and handling.

Mrs. Smallwood, of Ardencote Kennels, reports the arrival of the following five promising litters of Pekingese puppies: Three males and one female by "Chink-Kee Tu of Chinette" out of "Tay-Yiang of Ardencote." The males have already found new homes with Mr. and Mrs. J. Gillan, Mr. J. Miller and Mrs. Brown, all of Moose Jaw. One male and three females sired by "Ki Pung of Badminton," out of a splendid specimen from the Cactus Kennels. One male and one female sired by "Ch. Cactus Ku Chi" out of "Kum Sum of Ardencote." One male and one female by "Ki Pung of Badminton," out of "So Pai Che of Ardencote." The tiny female from this litter is the subject of Mrs. Smallwood's advertisement in this issue. "Chutty Chow of Kent," a splendid boned American-bred female, has also presented her owner with a fine puppy by "Li Hung Chang of Ardencote." The above litters include fawns, reds and perfectly broken parti-colors.

In the last issue of Kennel and Bench it was stated that Miss Freda Henderson had been elected to fill the office of Secretary of the Moose Jaw Kennel Club. Miss Henderson states that it will be impossible for her to take over the duties of Secretary, as she expects to be out of the city during most of January and February, attending the "Hannibal of Orchard Hill" which she bought from Mrs. Richard S. Quigley, owner of the Orchard Hill Kennels at Lock Haven, Pa., when she visited this world famous kennel last May. "Hannibal" is a son of the late "Ch. Sutherland Avenue Han Shih" whose sudden death last February was a lasting tragedy to the breed. "Han Shih" was honored even in death, as in life, as he was selected as the outstanding specimen to represent Pekingese at the Peabody Museum at Yale. He was by "Ch. Yu Chuan of Alderbourne," he by that most famous winner of all times, "Ch. Tai Yang of Newnham," so it will be seen that "Hannibal" comes from a line of famous producers, and he is proving his worth as the sire of puppies having the gorgeous coat and bone typical of this strain.

Hughie Leslie, Rosetown, has been a busy man getting a string together for the Calgary Show. You can rely on Hugh doing his best to inoculate a little enthusiasm into everything.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillan, Moose Jaw, are getting a whole lot of pleasure from their Scotties. "Sheila of Tayside," a bitch that was placed Winners at Regina, is heavy in whelp to the home stud, "Dougal Craitur." We hope Joe gets a couple of winners from this mating, for he has put a lot of work and cash into his kennel, beside the usual labor of love for the kennel inmates.

Jesse Howe, Saskatoon, has never had a nicer bunch of Chesapeake, uniform in color and size and born workers.

Jack Droppo says he has nothing to report except that he is planning to have another Boston of the superfine quality of "Ch. Ti Dee Miss," bred in his kennel and sold to U.S.A. Jack is bound to have a good one for next year's circuit.

Charlie and Mrs. Williams are carrying on with their Cocker Spaniels under adverse circumstances. It will be remembered Charles lost his sight a few years back, but he can still pick the good ones out by carefully feeling the dogs and can describe their faults or good points. "Merridale Winnie," a black, went Winners at Winnipeg. "Merridale Topsy" black, went Winners at Moose Jaw at 7 months of age. "Merridale Billie Boy," a red, will shortly be placed at stud. There are a few quality puppies in the kennel, partis and solids. All the above were sired by "Wimaca Sir James." "Ch. Fawn" was looking remarkably well, a great producer of quality stock.

We recently asked the Rev. John McKnight why he liked his Doberman Pinscher, and here are a few of his reasons: (1) Because of his color; his clean, glossy black coat; (2) Two minutes with a brush and damp cloth puts him in shape, ready to go anywhere; (3) Because of his size he is large enough to be a real protector and companion and yet not too large for the home or car; (4) Because of his wonderful intelligence. In fact I can hardly think of anything that any other breed of dog is used that he could not be used for. He is well named "The dog with the human brain." While in my recently acquired enthusiasm for this breed, I am not suggesting the Pinscher is the only dog, far be it from me to suggest that. Every man to his fancy.

The Rev. J. H. Scervior, of Sceptre, Sask., is quite as enthusiastic over his Newfoundlands. There is a litter of puppies at this home all doing well from imported parents. Mr. W. R. Cunningham, of Calgary, purchased a young dog from the Rev. Scervior recently and is very well pleased with him, the puppy fulfilling all the requirements wished for. By nature and instinct he is a water dog, is an ideal family pet, mild, affectionate, loyal, a trusty companion, a dog of great strength, a gentleman from the point of his nose to the tip of his tail. Twice a dog has been honored by being the subject of a postage stamp—both times a Newfoundland.

Four Gables Kennel, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Driver, house a nice array of Irish Setters, "Coleen Bawn of Homerville," who has been in the north country undergoing training, has returned to the kennels the finished article. She can and will do all the exacting things required of a gun dog, and those who have seen her at work speak very highly of her, and offers have been refused as this bitch is not for sale. "Kate Kearney" has been bred to "Humes Madoc Chief." Sales have been brisk, and all the spring puppies are sold. A young bitch of outstanding quality, sired by Mr. Gretton's "Ch. Drumgolland Cabin Boy," and out of "Hume's Biddy Queen," is being retained with hopes of the future. An English Setter, "Woodland Waif" is in whelp to Joe Hyland's dog whose name we have not to hand. Mrs. Driver has a few choice Poms and Pekes, the latest young Peke being by "Ch. Kingwin Koa Shing."

Mr. C. E. Stewart Donaldson, of Windthorst, Sask., has for the past few years been carrying on a training school for Shepherds and all varieties of gun dogs. The Shepherds have to be good, no cringers are tolerated. The gun dogs are fully trained for field trial work, and every detail is carefully carried out. Mr. Donaldson says a Cocker bitch, "Slipper of Moray," the property of H. A. Rhodes, B.C., is one of the best he has handled. These kennels make a specialty of training, and dogs entrusted to these past masters are ready for all kinds of duty when they return.

Phil Lillie, of Moose Jaw, says if you want to enjoy a day's good sport, get an English Setter. He has had a lot of pleasure out of his since it was trained.

At the Mutual Kennels "Ch. Culbarn Molly" is busy nursing a litter by owner's "Tim Healey." The Scottie "Glendhall Annie Laurie" is also doing maternal duties, her litter being sired by Joe Gillan's "Wycote Dougal Craitur," the terriers are all fighting fit.

OUR FRONTISPIECE

Our frontispiece for December is the Winnipeg-bred English Bulldog, "Ch. Silverdale Dimple" (C.K.C.S.B. 108644), bred by our Manitoba Director, Mr. George Kynoch. At all the shows attended by this exceptionally good bitch in Canada, she has been on top at five of them and Reserve at two. It was at the Chicago Specialty show where she met the best bulldogs in the United States, and it was only after a hectic struggle that she was able to dispose of the noted "Ch. Moravian Marquis" and to take on the formidable "Ch. The Crovanspring," and here the judge, John F. Collins, the peer of American judges, found the great "Crovanspring" to be a shade better in foreface, shoulders and body lines. Nevertheless, this splendid win, under such a judge, stamped the Canadian-bred "Silverdale Dimple" as a bulldog to be considered in any man's ring.

A study of "Champion Silverdale Dimple's" pedigree serves to show that "Silverdale" sires and dams have been responsible in a large way for her personal excellence—

Ch. Caulfield Monarch
Hefty Samson (Imp.)
Hefty Biddy
Ch. Markus Samson
Ch. Ace of Aces
Silverdale Tootsy Ace
Silverdale Rose
Ch. Muiravonside Bob (Imp.)
Silverdale Resolute
Silverdale Mother O' Mine
Sensible Lady
Donside King
Lady Claremont
Mersey Betty

and naturally Mr. Kynoch is rather sweet on his new champion, since his kennel name features so largely in her breeding.

As "Ch. Silverdale Dimple" is now in Eastern Canada for the Winter Circuit, Mr. Kynoch is content to leave it to the judges to give their own opinion of her, and so declines to say anything further concerning her quality, it being sufficient for him to know she is a credit to her owner, and to her breeding as well as to her breed.

Notes from Manitoba

By Provincial Contributing Editor,
W. B. R. KNOWLES, Winnipeg, Man.

THE Fort Garry Kennel Club will hold its regular Annual Matinee Dog Show on behalf of the Winnipeg Tribune "Empty Stocking Fund" on December 9th. To bring joy and happiness to little children is a worthy object at any time, but never more so than at the present time, with its intensified distressed conditions. This worthy object therefore merits the active support of all dog lovers, and it is sincerely hoped the efforts of the Fort Garry Kennel Club will receive the reward their efforts merit.

In Manitoba Notes of November issue of Kennel and Bench, there was an unfortunate omission in connection with Boston Terrier "Kirby's Sensation," whilst "Ch. Captain Hagerty" is the grandsire of "Kirby's Sensation," his sire is "Winchester Joycaster." "Winchester Joycaster" was sold to a United States purchaser some time ago. Nevertheless he leaves behind in his get the most desirable combination of bloodlines the Boston Terrier enthusiast could wish to obtain.

Carl M. Tangstad has received a letter from Mr. Y. Ikida, of Tokyo, the Japanese gentleman who purchased "Ch. Armor von Vogel" from him. The letter runs as follows:

Dear Mr. Tangstad:

Wonderful "Ch. Armor von Vogel" has safely arrived at Yokohama early morning of 4th inst, via Empress of Asia. My first impression on "Armor" is nothing to say but wonderful and excellent Shepherd dog I have ever seen. I found that he was in good condition and there is no exhaustion in spite of his long voyage.

Many thanks for your past favors,
(Sgd.) Y. Ikida.

Mr. Tangstad is to be congratulated on such an enthusiastic and satisfied customer, because such customers generally mean more business.

Mr. Corson advises me he has obtained from W. L. Darby, of Hopewell, N.J., U.S.A., two Irish Setters, "Palmerston Setdy" by "Ch. P. Connemara Grand" and "Queen Red Jacket" by "Ch. Don Dail." Mr. Corson advises there is a long line of champions in the registered pedigrees of these two dogs, including "Ch. Lady Betty" and that Mrs. Darby has obtained from him the English Setter, "Glencoe Mory o' Callaghan."

T. P. Devlin, B.S.A., of Winnipeg, a gentleman well known in agricultural circles, and who has been appointed to award the honors on Clydesdales at the Royal Show, has imported two Scottish Terriers, dog bred by W.

Crawford, Rosehall Kennels, Falkirk. "Rosehall Rector," by "Ch. Heather Fashion Hint," out of "Rosehall Jeannie" she by "Ch. Laurieston Landseer," whelped Dec. 20th, 1931. Bitch, bred by John Haddon, Motherwell, "Calder Lupine," by "Ch. Glenisla Cantycarl," out of "Amelia," she by "Tavaler Vagabond," whelped, June 6th, 1932. Mr. H. Bentley sends me the following notes:

Pekingese.—H. Beardsley's "Ashburn Rich" has been bred to "Sankow Chanticleer," imp., and that Mrs. H. Thompson's "Baroni Tot" has been bred to "Sankow Chanticleer," imp.

Mr. Bentley's "Nankee Panzee of Cromwell" is nursing a litter of puppies by "Sankow".

Pomeranians.—Mrs. Standiland's "Wryeland Girlie" is showing heavy in whelp to H. Bentley's "Sandhills Rufus," imp., he by "Flashlight Admiral," who is the sire of world famous "Ch. Minegold Justet". Some exceptionally fine puppies are expected from the mating.

Mr. Bentley feels very much encouraged with his breeding activities in Poms because he has more enquiries than he can supply, and he believes this is due to the high quality of the stock he imported from England.

Wire-Haired Fox Terriers.—H. Bentley's "Sandhills Delight," imp., of "Ch. Stockman" strain is nursing a beautiful litter of puppies by the owners, "Patria Revival," imp., and he says if they are as good as a previous litter the Fox Terrier men should prepare for some real competition.

Mr. C. Beatty's "Kickapoo Lady Blue Gown" is nursing a litter by "Revival," of which he is giving glowing accounts as they appear to be very promising. Mr. Chanders' "Cromwell Rose Marie" is nursing a very promising litter of puppies by "Patria Revival," imp.

Mr. C. Beatty reports that Mr. Rossebo's "Antrim Tiny" has been mated to his young dog, "Kickapoo Side Step."

Boston Terriers.—Mrs. Rogers reports that her Boston female is nursing a beautiful litter of puppies by "Ch. Valente's Aviator."

VENTILATION OF THE KENNEL AND ITS RELATION TO HEALTH

(Contributed)

Who has not seen in the intense heat of a sultry summer's day, when the blinds or shades have been drawn down to exclude the sun's rays, and when a beam of sunlight has entered through some small opening, that the beam has thrown on to bold relief all the particles of dust and foreign material that are suspended in the very air we are breathing? We usually see and probably draw the attention of others to what we see, but do we realize that although we cannot see it, similar particles are floating in the air all around us? Some large department stores and also some schools have installed ventilating systems that by means of fans draw air in from the outside, and because the outside air is full of floating particles of foreign matter a fine spray of water is thrown across the chamber into which the air is drawn. The water saturates the suspended particles, makes them too heavy to float and so they fall to the bottom of the chamber. The patrons of the store, together with the employees, and the scholars and teachers in the school, are thus assured the air they breathe is pure.

Let us change the scene to a busy street in a city or village in winter when the temperature is below the freezing point, and watch the streams of exhaled, moist, respiratory air issuing from the mouths and nostrils of animals and human beings. It can be seen because the action of the below freezing temperature freezes the moisture in the air that is being exhaled. The same conditions occur in above freezing temperatures with the exception that we do not see it. The upper respiratory tract and mouth both contain abundant bacilli, so do the particles of dust and foreign matter floating or suspended in the air. In summer the moist, exhaled warm respiratory is readily dried and rises and in extremely cold weather it is quickly frozen and gradually falls, but in the temperatures immediately above and below freezing point it remains suspended and we have our usual crop of late fall and spring colds and other infections.

Someone might say, just what has this to do with kennels, we know all about it and also about conditions in other places?

In a heated kennel the air in all probability rises and a small ventilator shaft will take it to the outside air. You can easily find out the motion of the air currents in the kennel. Take two concentric dishes, one larger than the other. Cover the bottom of the larger one to the depth of one-eighth inches with ammonium hydroxide and the bottom of the smaller one to the same depth with hydrochloric acid. The smaller dish is placed within the larger one and the vapors of the two chemicals combine to form ammonium chloride, a white vapor which is carried about in the air currents.

By this means you can observe just how and to where your air currents go.

In an unheated kennel, with a number of dogs probably lying on straw beds on the floor, and with the dogs on the street it can be readily seen how the winter and spring epidemics of distemper, etc., are brought about. But some will say a dog does better if he is in a cold kennel. I agree with you provided he has a warm bed and is alone and not breathing in the exhaled air from another or other dogs.

The whole scheme of nature is one of attack and defence. As I have pointed out above, the upper respiratory tract and mouth are covered with bacilli, so, too, is the intestinal tract. They are along the first line of defence waiting their opportunity to break through. If a few break through whilst the body is in good condition they are immediately destroyed by the wandering cells, which pass a nomadic existence in the tissue and constitute the second line of defence. It is when the body, by a chill, fatigue, exhaustion or extremes of heat or cold is brought below par and the wandering cells are not as efficient as they should be that we can look out for trouble. There are other defences, too, elaborated by the body fluids.

In all the diseases caused by bacterial parasites there is a constant struggle for supremacy, we might say even for life, going on between the host and the invader. Disease-producing bacteria elaborate poisons somewhat similar to those secreted by venomous animals and poisonous plants or which can be extracted from them. They are highly intricate combinations of which little generally is known, but these poisons play a very important role in disease. And it is against these poisons that the body can elaborate special defensive substances. In order to do this, however, the body must be kept in good condition.

TAKES this seasonable opportunity to wish his patrons, friends, and the dog fanciers in general, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year," and to let them know he is still going strong in Boston Terriers.

WHILE we admit the year just about to close has not been our banner year financially, we do claim the volume of business both in stud and sales has been the biggest in the history of the kennel. Our show records also can boast of another home-bred Champion.

Trapystok Bostons At Stud

CH. TRAPYSTOK HEADLIGHT (C.K.C. 100688), (16 lbs.). A perfectly marked seal brindle of the Sigourney King strain, very strong blocky head. As a show dog he has few equals. A consistent sire of sensational litters.

KATINKA UP AND UP II, Imported (C.K.C. 110009), (16 lbs.). A direct son of the great Katinka Going Up. Dark seal brindle. Perfect full snow white markings. He also is a strong headed and perfect limbed dog. He is siring large litters of handsome puppies.

KIRBY'S SENSATION (C.K.C. 103864), (15 lbs.). A grandson of the famous A.K.C. Ch. Captain Hagerty. Dark mahogany brindle. Full snow white markings. We strongly recommend him as a cross for very dark seal brindle bitches. A proven sire.

Our Aim is Better Bostons

THE above named dogs which are of the Sigourney King, Katinka, and Hagerty strains, combine the bloodlines of all the leading Bostons known to the fancy of today as successful stud dogs. With this as our aim and line of procedure in the past, and our efforts being marked with considerable success, we hope to continue and attain our ends.

STUD FEES WITHIN REACH OF ALL

DURING the present times of depression, by special arrangement only, we will breed to approved bitches for the choice of litter.

OUR Kennels are hot water heated, sanitary and up-to-date in every respect. Visiting matrons receive my personal attention. Visitors always welcome at Trapystok Kennels.

Maritime News

By Provincial Contributing Editor,
G. D. ANDERSON, Halifax, N.S.

MERRY CHRISTMAS, folks. Not to be outdone I am offering my greeting to you at the very start of this column. Here we are again with another Xmas issue of "Kennel and Bench" that is just teeming with real interesting Canadian doggie news, and is just full of sincere exchanges of seasonal greetings. This dog business, or hobby, is a fascinating one and to the best of my knowledge it is the only one that finds so many of its followers at this joyous season competing with one another in their efforts to wish the other fellow the merriest sort of a Xmas and an even better sort of a New Year. We all compete with one another at shows and in the sale of our young stock, and yet we are all only too glad to help the other chap along, to give him advice based upon our own experiences, . . . and the other chap is just as willing to help us. It's a great game isn't it? True, we do have our own disputes and wordy quarrels, but they all seem to be caused by the differences of opinion as to which is the better course for us to pursue in order to better the game and further its general interest. I think that the general spirit that pervades Canadian dogdom today is unique in that it is made up of competition, good clean sportsmanship and a camaraderie that is unrivalled. 'Tis truly the proper spirit for "the game" in a young country such as ours, and my most sincere wish is that this general spirit will always remain with the game in Canada.

I am sure that the Xmas greetings expressed in this issue of "Kennel and Bench" will ring a more true and more optimistic note in the heart of the "fancy" than did those same greetings last year. To most of us the Xmas of 1933 will be more merry and happy than the one of 1932. Today world conditions in general seem to be more settled, the blue talk of depression seems to be less audible, the future seems to be more certain for us all, and we can all look forward to this next year with less of the doubt and uncertainty that was so prevalent just a year ago.

The dog game has passed through a year of very strenuous and trying world conditions and has emerged with flying colors, and wagging tails, and with more sane vigor and enthusiasm than it ever had before.

In the Maritimes the past year was indeed an interesting one, and I think that from almost every viewpoint it was a successful one. We have today almost all of our former exhibitors and fanciers as well as some intensely keen new ones. Most of our old fanciers have smaller kennels than they had a year or two ago, but the quality of their stock is better because the poorer ones were disposed of in various ways. The new exhibitors have brought a lot of enthusiasm with them to the game to help to cheer on the older ones who are apt to become a bit downhearted at times.

Several breeds have this year, for the first time, been exhibited in the Maritimes. I am thinking of the shaggy Irish Wolfhounds that are owned in New Brunswick, the long eared Bloodhounds that were exhibited at the Halifax shows by "Bluenose Kennels," the attractive pair of Samoyedes that J. F. Rudderham had benched at the Nova Scotia Provincial Exhibition show in Halifax, and possibly one or two others.

The past year has seen more English dogs imported to the Maritimes than ever before. "Cossar Farms" of Gagetown, N.B., probably lead in numbers with a kennel of Scottish Terriers imported, for the most part, from Scotland. Several Irish and English Setters have been imported from England by fanciers in the Halifax district. Most of these were trained gun dogs and all acquitted themselves nobly in the bird season that just recently ended.

One or two of our old exhibitors who were not too well represented this year at our shows are soon due to be back in harness again. Just last evening I had a long doggy talk to our old friend, F. W. Johnson, of Haligonian prefix, who deplored the fact that he had not had for several months a dog to really be interested in and call his own. He is doing a lot of thinking these days and he is looking over the dog magazines too intently for mere interest. I think I am safe in promising that it won't be long before "F. W." will have some real foundation stock for a breed that will be new to the Maritimes. And when we remember what the Haligonian Kennels did for "Smooths" in the Maritimes, we just feel sure that some other breed is soon to be given a real boost when "F. W." takes them over.

Many of our old fanciers have changed their "loves" during the past twelve months, and what appeals to me as being rather amazing is the fact that so many of them have taken up the Boston Terrier. This breed has certainly staged a real come-back in the Maritimes and can truly be called our most popular breed if number of show entries is any criterion.

Just recently the ever popular J. D. Whiteley was the happiest fancier in town when he opened a crate, delivered by the Express Co., and watched a trappy little Bull Terrier bitch jump out. Jim has gone back to his old love and I am sure that for the next few years we are going to see some real Bull Terriers in this part of the country.

Rumor has it that Miss Alice O'Brien is going to have some competition in Sealyhams. No friends, not a new fancier, but just one of the old ones who is adding another breed to his present well-known kennel.

I can surely promise that in the very near future, Bluenose Kennels will have Bloodhounds that will be as good as any in existence for trailing purposes. Just recently the writer visited the famous "White Isle Kennels," owned by Leon F. Whitney, of New Haven, Conn., and picked out a new Stallion hound that represents the choicest trailing stock available today.

This last year saw Henry McLeod add some nice Cockers to his well known kennel of "Haliburton" Irish Setters.

In fact when we view the past year in panorama we see many changes in the various kennels, a better type of stock in practically every case, and the owners gradually becoming imbued with their old-time spirit of optimism. At the shows we see better type and quality than we ever before viewed in the East. In number of show entries 1933 led the several previous years. We can also see real efforts being made toward breed improvement. We see new fanciers added to our ranks, and above all else we cannot fail to notice the vast increase in popularity that our "game" enjoys in the minds of the public, and this year more than ever before found the buying public demanding pure-bred, registered dogs. Truly, an interesting and inspiring panorama and certainly indicative of the fact that the game is improving and is more successful than ever.

We must not lose sight of the fact that at the field trials held in New Brunswick, now becoming an annual event, Maritime dogs won the leading awards. This is real proof of the working ability of our gun dogs. Several of our Maritime dogs have been sold to fanciers in the West and in foreign countries at long prices. The pictures of several of these have graced the pages of various doggie journals in conspicuous and well-deserved publicity. And these dogs have acquitted themselves nobly in show competition in their new territory, and have made their new owners justly proud of them.

I know that you will agree with me in saying that the year just passed was a really successful one in every way. May next year be even better.

I have on hand a goodly collection of doggie news from the various kennels that is all very interesting; but in this issue I am purposely going to avoid writing it up because I want to leave lots of space for the New Brunswick news that my good friend, R. B. Laskey will probably mail direct to headquarters.

If it is the wish of the fancy in the Maritimes I will act as your correspondent for next year and do all that I can to make this column a more interesting one for you and the fancy as a whole. With your co-operation it can be done.

In conclusion I want to sincerely thank the unknown person who saw fit to nominate me as Maritime Director. It is impossible for me to find the time required by this office this year, and I am therefore forced to refuse the nomination. Perhaps next year I will be in a better position to accept your nomination.

And now, friends, I want to extend my most cordial greetings to you one and all, and on behalf of the Maritime Fancy I want to express to the rest of the Canadian fancy a very sincere Merry Xmas.

We always welcome—and gladly, a new kennel with its canine activities especially if well founded with a good stamp in various breeds and managed by such a dyed-in-the-wool fancier as Gerald G. McCarthy, one of our Maritimes "Old Guard," who exhibited and bred dogs before the momentous days of August, 1914. For experience and variety of show career in handling or training dogs, "Gerald" got most of his on the American circuit with Charley Davis also with several big kennels; was also Maritime representative and member of the American Professional Handlers' Association which brought him in contact with all the popular and many foreign breeds.

"Mayfly," his prefix, was well known on some winning Setters, the most noted being "Int. Champion Count Mayfly," bred by Gerald McCarthy, and the first local bred dog of any breed to win the American title after his Canadian honors; the "Count" completed his championship at the English Setter Specialty Show, Medford Penn., 1923 under Samuel Allen. "Ch. Count Mayfly" was sired by "Ch. Racket," a local bred sire, out of McCarthy's own "Ch. Tess Mayfly," she was sired by "Ch. Glenview Major" considered one of the best sires of English Setters in Canada.

Mayfly Kennels are situated in Milford, N.B., near the C.P.R. highway, three miles from Saint John, where are comfortably housed in spacious new

This dog is never ill.

Once a week—regularly as clockwork—his master gives him a Karswood Dog Powder. This new improved dog remedy, containing nerve foods and organic salts, provides the dog's system with increased resistance to disease. Prevention is better than cure, and as the cost of Karswood Dog Powders is very small, and the difference to the dog's well-being and happiness enormous, it is a cheap form of insurance indeed. Read this letter:—

A Splendid Tonic.

I have used your Karswood Dog Powders consistently, with excellent results. A brood bitch about whom I was anxious had one powder weekly before whelping, and her pups, now 5 months old, are in the pink of condition, and have been maintained on regular dose of Karswood Dog Powders given ever since weaning. I used to find my dogs very difficult to keep free from skin trouble—living so near the sea—but since giving Karswood Dog Powders there has been no trouble of that kind with any of them. It is a great boon to have such a splendid tonic put up in a very convenient and evidently palatable form.

(Mrs.) L. M. TWITE.

16th October, 1927.

Karswood Dog Powders contain nerve foods and organic salts which are not contained in the dog's ordinary food, but which are essential to the healthy functioning of his system. No other dog medicine contains the same ingredients as Karswood Dog Powders, hence none is so effective for the purpose.

kennels, Setters, Pointers, Bostons, Wire Fox Terriers and Scottish, also a Pom. These we know will thrive and flourish under its care and management. Such honorable mention as "International Champion or rather American-Canadian Champion has been awarded four show dogs owned in Saint John. To Mrs. Alban Sturdee, she and her "Glencho" Irish Setters, now situated in Albany, N.Y., was the first to win such honors with "Ch. Corry Law," Ben Lewis, Sr., piloted the Irishman for her. The next winner was the aforementioned "Ch. Count Mayfly" soon followed by the very typical Pointer bitch, "Ch. Ridgeway Gamefeather," bred by that sincere fancier and good shot, Keltie Wilson, now an American resident. The last but very recent twin-titled dog is "Ch. Garwood Tip Top," who finished his dual championship last month in the Southern States.

What pleasure and pride for Ronald Vaughan to receive word that his own bred Terrier had won its American title. "Tip Top" finished his Canadian championship at the Royal Winter Fair a year ago where he went Best of Breed. This nice Smooth Fox Terrier is the first Maritime Terrier of any variety to win both a Canadian and American title. We congratulate both the breeder and new owner, T. C. Hautman, Atlanta, Ga. on their success. It may not be out of place here to inform our readers that the Smooth Fox Terriers, we think, hold the record for the number of titled champions claimed by one breed in these provinces. Here's a list for a new generation of ambitious exhibitors to rival and surpass, from 1918 "Ch. Warren Rascal," "Cariama," "Thornhaven Bandsman," "Thornhaven Bonzo," "Thornhaven Theodora," "Crown Ajax," "Garwood Jack o' Clubs," "Garwood Major," "Pride's Hill Dryden Daisy Maid," "Garwood Tip Top" and "Crown Gloria." All won their honors while owned in Saint John for their owners—Robert B. Laskey, C. C. Sullivan, and R. C. Vaughan.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Saint John, who raises bairns and Cairns, has been most active this season with litters from her "Ch. Betsey o' the Shieling" and "Gertrude of Glassee," all sired by her "Ch. Crochan D'Ornum." Four now claim new owners, Mrs. J. McMurray, Rothesay, N.B., has purchased "Joan of Glassee, a dark masked wheaten; Miss Jennie Spangler got a wheaten "Sookie of Glassee; and Wm. Hazen, "Dan of Glassee," a steel brindle, both owned in Saint John; Larry Porter, of Halifax, bought "Spark of Glassee," a light brindle. Mrs. Smith, we regret, was less fortunate with her Scottie litter of seven, sired recently by Mrs. S. Kirkland's imported "Heather Hornpipe." At the time of writing one only survives a "black orphan" now being bottle fed.

Scottish Terriers that had the largest entry on the Maritime circuit shows have not waned in interest or activity. Laskey Bros. have placed two bitches in good hands, one to a one-time bulldog and Boston breeder, John F. MacDonald, Halifax, who writes so favorably of his new "Canmore Bonnie Jean" by "Heather Highlander," out of "Drumclaph Lucie." Sam Orr's daughter owns a sister, "Canmore Daisy," both were black brindles. Cossar Farm have also been active with sales, their "Cossar Rab" stayed in Halifax after the shows being much envied by his new owners while on the bench by his disposition, appearance and winnings at four shows. Mrs. and Dr. Holland have a lovely home, so "Rab's" a lucky dog. Frank Wilson, of Saint John, has a black son of their winning "Heather Highlander."

Harry Brodie whose "Kinloch" exhibits made such a nice Scotty display at the last N.B.K.C. Show has bought a very promising bitch, out of "Devorgill Charmery by the Farm"—the same "Highlander" for sire. Garwood Kennels too have made sales and deliveries in Fox Terriers and Scottish. R. C. Vaughan is also to be congratulated on his newest champion, the bitch, "Irish Idol," a local bred product by "Maritime Tony," out of "Redwing," the latter dam and daughter were both bred by John Scott.

Leonard G. Rock, our Great Dane enthusiast, is much pleased with his new litter out of "June of Evangeline," a tiger brindle bitch, sired by a fawn son of "Ch. Kuno von Moritzberg." He proposes raising seven of these, four fawns and three brindles, having an immediate demand for puppies. Eight Danes were benched at our provincial shows this season.

J. Gerald Cavanaugh, of Cedargrove Kennels seems to have turned "recovery corner" after many litter losses, is raising some nice solid Cockers out of his American-bred red, "Ch. My Own Cedarcrest Crescent," so recently mated to a black son of "Obo Donatello" named "Dick o' Fundy," a proven sire of Cedargrove ownership.

Here New Brunswick breeders wish to extend hearty greetings this Joyous Christmastide to their Nova Scotia friends, and all other fanciers in Canada.

THE MAN YOU KNOW!

EX-PROVOST J. DALGLIESH
Galashiels, Scotland, with one of his favorite "Longtails"

Ex-Provost Dalgliesh knows his Canada as very few Scottish breeders know this country. He has judged here, and he has sent dogs out to many fanciers in the Dominion, and as a matter of fact, he continues to send dogs to Canada regularly yet. One of the most recent shipments is the Scottish Terrier, "Ellwyn Red Robin," who left on the C.P.R. S.S. Duchess of Bedford, and "Robin" may make his Canadian debut at the National Kennel Club show at the end of the present month, and it is said that there are some splendid youngsters sired by "Ellwyn Red Robin" at Mr. E. Chevrier's Avandale Kennels at Winnipeg at the present time.

The show rings of the Motherland do not find the genial Jimmie Dalgliesh towing dogs into the "square of judgment" as frequently now as in the past years, but rather he presides over the "courts" at many shows himself, but at Hawick Show, in 1932, under a noted British all-rounder, the ex-Provost introduced "Ellwyn Red Robin," who won a couple of first prizes.

Canine Dystocia--and its Treatment

By J. A. Campbell, V.S., B.V.Sc., Toronto, Ont.

ALL breeds of dogs are liable to dystocia. There is no variety that will not provide cases of difficult parturition. The condition, however, is more prevalent among dogs of the short-faced and round-headed types, with which features are usually allied, thick necks, wide shoulders and narrow hindquarters. In other words, the dog whose bulk is at the front end, such as the English and French Bulldogs, Pekes, Toy Spaniels, Pugs and Griffons.

The different "Toy" breeds, owing to their small physique, contribute many cases of difficult birth. The very large varieties are apt to lack the tone or vitality possessed by the smaller or more normal sized breeds, which is so essential for the ordeal of parturition, and do not have the energy and force so necessary in their labour efforts.

During the last quarter of a century, the breeds that are prone to difficult parturition have become very popular with the dog owning public. Take the Boston Terrier for example, thirty years ago a "rara canis," today among the leaders in Stud book registrations, and a general favourite in thousands of homes, as it has proved to be an ideal housedog in every respect.

This popular American dog, whose basic progenitor was the English Bulldog, is a breed notorious for its short face, massive skull, thick muscular neck, wide chest and heavy shoulders, and a conformation which as far as natural breeding is concerned, shows a total lack of balance. Reversion to ancestral type is a very dominant characteristic in the Boston Terrier owing to its recent origin, for it shows at birth a marked resemblance to its Bulldog forebears, in that the puppies are too heavily built in the forepart, in proportion to the capacity of their mother's genital passage.

Among the aforementioned breeds, there is a distinct tendency towards defective hindquarters. We find shallow ossa innominata, straight loosely formed hind legs, dislocations of the patella joint, all of which seems to be nature's reactions to artificial standards, since they constitute a decided handicap, when occasion arises for the delivery of puppies.

The hindquarters as a whole are very important structures of the anatomy of labour, containing and supporting a great part of the genital system. Any imperfection of the structural conformation, or lack of proper angulation, decreases the power of leverage, which is required, and essential to the act of parturition, as during the throes of normal labour, the entire fabric of the hind legs, down to the toes, is brought into action. Besides, a defective conformation of the "rear end" involves the whole structure, and tends to have a bearing on the constriction of the pelvic girdle, so that the necessary expansion of the pelvic funnel is lacking for the easy exit of the fetus.

The dog fancier, in his breeding operations, has concentrated on the forepart, and definitely neglected the hind quarters, thus producing genital features which make a normal birth impossible for bitches whose pelvic canal has not undergone commensurate changes with the anterior part of the body. We habitually see a well bred female that has a good head and front, but is crippled behind, used as a brood bitch; it is almost impossible for dams with such a weakness to escape dystocia.

Again, the system of judging the breeds prone to whelping troubles, is intensifying and perpetuating another factor of dystocia which is in regard to the shortness of the back. The same standards are applied to the bitch as to the dog, when there should be a decided difference in this respect. A closely coupled female of the masculine type cannot be a good breeding proposition, as she lacks the accommodation and is too heavily muscled in the hindquarters, thus restricting the necessary yielding of the genital structures to facilitate the passing of a fetus.

"Died Whelping" is often the obituary of some famous show bitch, when used as a brood female.

The inclination on the part of the public to possess diminutive specimens of certain varieties, influences breeders to mate their smaller females, many of which are cretins, or altogether too small for breeding purposes. This will surely result in trouble at whelping time, and if the young survive, they will be, even before maturity, twice as big as their mothers; the penalty of neglect in failing to consider the conformation of their ancestry for several generations back. The chief contributor to the cause of dystocia is this unnatural conformation.

The physical condition of the bitch has a considerable bearing on her ability to stand the ordeal of whelping. Many are too fat, or in poor muscular tone; the family pet, the lazy bitch, and the female that conceives for the first time at three or four years of age all show a tendency to accumulate even more fat during pregnancy, no matter what breed. A decided lack of vitality and activity is manifested, and after a few attempts at straining, they usually give up. The same applies to the other extreme; a thin or poorly nourished bitch, through debility and weakness, has a very hard time, and tires rapidly.

Regular and ample exercise is of the greatest importance in parturition; it is the "secret" of the successful breeder.

Conditions that may obstruct the passage of the fetus, and that may be found in any breed are: deformities of the pelvis due to fractures or rickets, persistent hymen, a dry or swollen condition of the genital mucosa, or growths arising from the soft tissues in the genital passage.

Excessive expulsive effort, the condition opposite to inertia uteri, may give rise to dystocia, and sometimes is seen in hyperexcitable females that are in a state of tonicity during parturition.

Immaturity is another cause of difficult birth in females that become pregnant while yet undeveloped, and at parturition the genital canal is not of sufficient size for the passage of an adult fetus. This is quite often seen amongst Boston Terriers, English Bulldogs and Pekingese, breeders of which are strong in the belief that it is advisable to mate females during their first estrum, with the idea that the pelvic structures are more flexible and yielding while the bitch is young; "it opens them up as it were."

There may be some foundation for this belief, but the first estral period varies so, in individuals, that some bitches come in season when only seven or eight months old, and if such females are mated, they are almost sure to have difficulty; the termination of pregnancy will arrive before they have attained their full growth and development.

Fecal impaction and a distended bladder must not be overlooked as contributors to dystocia, as they will obstruct the passage of a fetus.

From a fetal standpoint, conformation is also a decided factor at birth.

This most interesting and educative paper was delivered at Cornell University, before the 25th Annual Conference of Veterinarians, New York State Veterinary College, Ithaca, N.Y., on January 12th, 1933, by Dr. Campbell and is reprinted from The Cornell Veterinarian, Vol. 23, No. 2, issue of April 2nd, 1933.

There is a distinct contrast between a puppy with a sharp pointed nose, long narrow skull, slim neck, slender body and thin supple legs, and one of the round-headed variety with its high forehead, heavily muscled shoulders, cobby body and thick stubby legs. It will easily be seen that obstacles possessed by the latter are a decided handicap for entering and travelling along the pelvic canal.

A variation in the sizes of the fetuses occurs in the newer breeds, such as the Boston Terrier, and one large puppy among others half its size, is often found. Where a mesalliance has occurred, the mating of a small bitch with a larger dog may result in the puppies being too big for the mother's capacity of delivery.

A large number of fetuses will give rise to over-crowding. A puppy located near the end of the horn may be lying just in front of the pelvic opening, and interfere with one about to be delivered, or two puppies may arrive into the fundus of the uterus at the same time, and prevent each other's exit.

When there are only one or two fetuses present, which is not a normal state of pregnancy with the dog family, the bitch may run over her time, and owing to a lack of sufficient stimuli, there may be little or no labor effort. It is natural to assume that where only a single fetus is present, it will be larger than if there were four or five, and that difficult parturition will follow.

Excessive amounts of fetal fluids, or the lack of them, retained placenta, abnormalities such as hydrocephalus or anasarca and the existence of infection—puppies rigid with rigor mortis, or bloated with emphysema, will all restrict the process of parturition to such an extent that dystocia will occur, and there may be a hysterocoele containing a fetus or two. Where dystocia exists in an easy whelping breed, mal-presentation is generally the cause.

Before taking up the methods of dealing with dystocia, a word or two regarding normal parturition is at this point in order.

Owing to the many differences between the breeds and the individuals, the dog manifests considerable variation prior to, and in the act of whelping. As a rule young bitches and those that are undergoing their first whelping experience, show some excitement and cry out with pain, whilst those which have had several litters, may not exhibit much evidence or utter a sound before a puppy is born.

Invariably, the symptoms are a desire to make a nest, or seek some place to be alone, lack of usual interest in the food, panting, change of facial expression, more or less discomfiture, vulva enlarged, mucous membrane red, giving off a white of an egg-like discharge, and the presence of white milk. This state may exist as long as twenty-four hours before a birth takes place.

Some bitches will give birth quickly at regular intervals of from fifteen minutes to an hour; others may take all day with irregular delay between the births, whilst some of the large breeds may be two days in delivering a litter.

The usual position occupied by a bitch when whelping, is lying on her side. There may be a few moans or cries of pain, but if a bitch repeatedly leaves the nest and assumes an attitude of urinating, it is invariably a case of dystocia.

The generally accepted idea is that the dog's period of pregnancy is 63 days. Some bitches will go 65 to 67 and even 72 days, but experience and examination of the Stud book records for a thousand births shows the average period to be 62 days. Some owners depend too much upon the "time limit" rather than on the manifestations of the female, and novices are very apt to attribute any efforts the bitch makes, before she is supposed to be due, to "false" labor pains, which occur in the human, but seldom in the dog.

Puppies delivered before the 58th day, whether naturally or otherwise, invariably die unless kept by themselves in very warm surroundings, and held on to the bitch whilst nursing, when there is hope of saving them.

A very large proportion of the puppies come with the hind legs first. This position occurs so frequently, possibly in 30 to 40 per cent of the cases, that some authorities state that it must be considered almost normal.

With dogs larger than the Boston, there is difficulty in determining whether the uterus is empty; it is not advisable to be too positive, a guarded opinion should be given. Some bitches may retain a puppy or two, carry them for several days and seem normal, then without ill effects finally deliver them.

The continuance of a blackish-green discharge, and the slightest sign of straining are very sure symptoms that something remains, either a pup or an afterbirth, but generally speaking this condition is quite obvious, as the bitch loses appetite, shows little interest in her pups and rapidly becomes toxic.

All parturition cases require a careful and thorough examination, in order that a correct diagnosis of the female's condition may be ascertained. It is necessary to know when the bitch is due, the number of services, if she has had pups before and whether any difficulty was previously experienced; also, in the latter case, if the same sire was used? Ascertain when the first signs of whelping were noticed, the extent of her efforts, when last fed, and whether any vomiting has occurred.

After removing sufficient hair from the parts, washing and disinfecting, an internal exploration is made with a well-lubricated finger, to ascertain conditions in the vagina and uterus, whether parturition has commenced or not, and if so, the whereabouts and state of the fetus. Upon completion of the examination, if it is found that the uterus has dilated, and a fetus is present at the pelvic opening, it is necessary to make up one's mind quickly as to whether the case calls for immediate action or allows for delay. At the same time, whilst one should not be too hasty in giving a final decision, there is danger in delay, and it is not advisable to leave too much to nature, who has long since given up her interest in the domestic dog.

There is always the remote possibility of the female being able to pass the pups, and bitches have been known to have whelped naturally, in spite of every impossible indication; but the risk in waiting may not warrant any postponement of active assistance. Here, it is well to consider how long a fetus will live after the membranes have ruptured. I have known them to be very much alive twelve hours after, and then only in cases where there has been no straining.

As a rule Boston Terrier Fanciers do not wait very long before seeking assistance, but a Fox Terrier or Collie breeder, to whom dystocia is rare, may not seek advice for a day or so after it has set in.

We must bear in mind that a live uninjured puppy is a very pleasing sight to an owner; besides the prospect of it some day becoming a champion, it is an index that skill and care were used to effect delivery. On seeing the helpless, delicate little animal safely born, the owner receives the impression that there could not have been any harm done to the bitch; whereas, with the exhibit of a dead and mutilated fetus, the very opposite idea may be created, and if any ill results set in with the bitch, someone is apt to say that "the case was not handled as gently as it might have been."

It is advisable, therefore, to consider well the different methods of treatment before rendering assistance. They depend, of course, upon circumstances, and may include manipulations, medicinal agents or ecboics, the use of instruments, or Cæsarian section. A combination of these methods, excepting hysterotomy, will sometimes meet with success. The extraction, or straightening out of a mal-presentation with forceps, with perhaps a dose or two of pituitrin, and a little assistance by manipulations may be all that is required to bring about the natural delivery of the remaining fetuses.

In cases of belated parturition, the termination of pregnancy can be brought about by using pressure with the forefinger against the opening into the uterus. If there are no results, in six hours or so another attempt should be made, a brisk laxative or an enema will help to start thing.

Very frequently puppies can be delivered with the hand, by introducing a finger into the genital passage, and the act of moving it around will be the means of stimulating the labor pains. If the fetus can be felt and made to move, straining on the part of the bitch is likely to increase. This, in itself, is frequently sufficient to begin labor, in fact, a drive around the block in an auto, or even having the bitch run up and down stairs will start the delayed birth.

By palpating and massaging the abdominal walls it is possible to propel a fetus along the uterine passage and eventually expel it. Cases frequently occur where a puppy is held up and becomes stationary with its head or hind legs protruding from the vulva, which often happens with immature bitches. Delivery is made by the fingers, by gently pulling the protruding parts and gradually working higher and higher, at the same time assisting through the belly walls with the free hand. Where only one hind leg is felt, the other should be secured, so as to distribute the strain. It is of great help to have several pieces of soft cloth at hand while delivering puppies. When it becomes necessary to grasp a fetus with the hand it should be covered with gauze, so as to obtain a firmer hold.

A towel placed around the body, just posterior to the ribs, and twisted until tight, is of great assistance in aiding the expulsion of a fetus.

Most puppies are killed in delivery by dislocation of the first cervical joint. This can be guarded against by securing a hold with the finger and thumb on the neck, posterior to this articulation before any efforts to move it by pulling are commenced. A similar dislocation can occur with a breech presentation when the back of the head becomes fixed against the edge of the pelvic roof and traction is continued. When this happens the chin should be tilted upwards, and the head forced through with an inward and backward pressure of the first two fingers of each hand on either side of the belly wall.

Medicinal agents have their place in dystocia; they are pituitrin, preparations of ergot of rye, and quinin. Ergot of rye gives indifferent results, none to speak of were obtained by the use of quinin, and pituitrin was found to be the most reliable, acting quickly and effectively in some cases. Their use is indicated where the phenomenon of parturition has commenced and the passage is clear for birth, such as uterine inertia, or in protracted cases where the expulsive effort has become exhausted. If the desired effect is not obtained by the use of two doses of pituitrin, a repetition does not appear to improve matters, and time will not permit of further dependence upon its use. Different treatment of a positive nature must be taken immediately if unfortunate results are to be avoided. Some few years ago, pituitrin was acclaimed by unprofessional writers in dog journals, as the solution of all whelping troubles. Unfortunately, it has not by any means proved a complete solution.

When should we use instruments? This will, of course, depend on the practitioner's ability, time, and patience, and whether he has long slender fingers and a good assortment of different sized and shaped forceps. If he hasn't these, he had better by far resort to hysterotomy as soon as possible, in cases where there would be any danger to the bitch or to the pups. Generally speaking, instruments are indicated where dystocia occurs after the birth of several puppies, when it is known that dead puppies are present, and where it is decided that their use would be more advantageous to save the bitch, rather than the progeny.

Before delivery is attempted with instruments, the hair should be clipped in the area surrounding the region of the perineum and tail, and the hindquarters and belly thoroughly washed and disinfected. It is also advisable, wherever possible, to cover the parts with a sterile cloth. The sterilized instruments should be placed in a mild antiseptic solution, and two dishes of the same solution should be prepared for the purpose of rinsing the hands.

The bitch should be made to stand, as any other position will have a tendency to crowd the abdominal viscera on to the contents of the uterus, except when an anesthetic is being used for this method of delivery.

I have tried all kinds of hooks, snares and forceps, but practically the only instruments I now use for delivery are forceps; my favorites being the differently shaped human placenta ones.

For the removal of live puppies, I find the Corey forceps most satisfactory. They are long enough for the big breeds, can be used safely for the large "Toys" and for very small bitches I have a pair of reduced size. They have the advantage of being strong, though lightly constructed, with smooth, thin, flexible blades which have a good distribution of pressure. Each of the two sections being detachable, they may be placed on the fetus separately, and joined together or taken apart whilst inside the uterus.

Most of the bitch forceps are heavily made, particularly those with the inside surface of the jaws serrated. These are more serviceable in extracting a dead puppy, and for this purpose I favor Aston's Pile Clamps, especially when it is found necessary to crush a skull, or to remove a fetus piecemeal. Care has to be taken in their use, as the surfaces of the jaws are sharp at the edges.

The great point in working with instruments is to acquire the feel of things inside with them, to know by their touch, whether they are on a part of the uterus or fetus. It is not advisable to attempt their use, unless the puppy can be felt with the finger, but where a fetus is beyond the reach of the finger, and there is plenty of room, it should be tried. The possibility of inflicting injury to the bitch must be uppermost in the mind of the operator. Before exerting pressure with the instruments, precautions should be taken to ascertain that no part of the genital wall is included in their grasp. ✦

When the head arrives at the brim of the pubes, the end of the finger should be placed under the chin to close the mouth. If this is not done, the pressure of the forceps will cause the puppy to open its mouth, and the lower jaw will become jammed against the edge of the pelvis. In the event of the head becoming lodged at the entrance of the pelvic funnel, a finger exploration through the bowel will give some idea as to whether the skull will safely pass along.

It is advisable to try several forceps of different shapes, and sometimes a change of operators will meet with immediate success, as the sense of touch is lost if the hands tire.

Where a condition of dryness exists, of both the fetus and the maternal mucosa, which are usually swollen as well, we inject some mild antiseptic lubricant, and for the latter purpose a grease gun, which was originally intended for packing gauze into a cavity, is used. Flaxseed tea, which closely resembles the fetal fluids, is also very efficacious.

While instruments are on the head, there is a great possibility of the ear being torn off, or an eye injured, the latter especially in the prominent eyed breeds.

With a breech presentation, the forceps should be placed on the fleshy part of the leg if possible, before any pressure or traction is made, as it is better able to stand injury than the other structures. It is always advisable to apply traction in conjunction with the efforts of the female, and plenty of time should be taken. A good assistant can help by manipulating the fetus through the abdominal walls and working it along the passage. By seizing the skin with artery forceps on either side of the neck, or as far up the back as possible in a breech presentation, a better distribution of the strain is made, and it is a very effective way of extracting a live puppy.

When it is known that a puppy is dead, every effort should be made to crush it as much as possible before attempting to withdraw it. With such cases there is danger of infection, and we always thoroughly irrigate the uterus by using therapogen, permanganate of potash, or saline solutions, which should be continued if infection is manifested.

The use of a general anaesthetic in conjunction with forceps, often works well. We have seen bitches expel a fetus while ether was being administered for a Cesarean operation, prior to which there had been no results from continued straining on the part of the bitch.

When delivering puppies, care should be taken to always remove the placenta at the same time. Forceful and abrupt traction at this point, is apt to sever the umbilical cord, and if the placenta remains in the uterus, it is liable to impede the passage of a fetus. They should always be counted.

In the event of a retained afterbirth, it can be removed with a placenta burr, which, on being passed well into the uterus, is gently turned round to gather up the loose shreds of the membrane until by the feel it is known that the whole mass is wound around the instrument.

One should always consider the bitch, in respect to her suffering or becoming tired, and if the operation is of long duration, she should have frequent and ample rests. Quite often, during these intervals, the fetus will change its position and move into a more favorable site for delivery.

One cannot but be impressed by the manner in which bitches submit to handling and particularly the use of instruments. Some young, nervous females are apt to resent assistance, but in a short while, all resentment ceases, and they behave as if they realized that help is being given. It is not common to have a bitch that persists in resisting in such a violent manner that the use of instruments is highly fraught with danger to her. For such uncontrollable individuals, the only treatment is hysterotomy.

When to discontinue the use of instruments and resort to the Cesarean section is a step that should be considered early, as the prolonged use of the former increases the hazards for the successful outcome of the latter.

There remains fortunately the Cesarian operation, which some years ago was considered a last resort, but is now recognized as a practical and humane method of effecting delivery of puppies in cases of dystocia, which would otherwise result in disaster to mother and offspring. The good results attending this scientific method of counter-balancing the effects produced by outraged nature in artificial breeding, as well as the causes, have become so well known among breeds that it is now a regular and recognized phase of ordinary veterinary practice, and a common procedure with breeders of dogs prone to whelping difficulties. In fact, they frequently anticipate us, by requesting it.

We have the following instruments on hand: one surgical knife with a convex cutting surface, one blunt pointed bistoury, one pair of blunt pointed scissors, four artery forceps, human tongue forceps for holding uterus, Forester's sponge forceps for securing pups if necessary, needles and suturing material, 00 or 0 catgut for the uterus, Nos. 1, 2 or 3 chromic catgut for muscle walls, and waxed linen thread for the skin.

All dogs are placed in a lateral position for anesthesia, with the left side uppermost, as in this posture the heart action may be observed and worked on in case of an accident.

We find that ether is the most suitable agent, as in an hour or so after the operation is over the bitch usually has recovered from the effects, and is ready to look after her family.

It is our practice to always administer pituitrin while the anesthetic is being given for the following reasons: overcoming shock, contracting the uterus, controlling hemorrhage, and stimulating the flow of milk.

The abdominal cavity is entered through the left flank. On the second occasion the incision is made in the right side, and on the third in the left flank again. This location is superior to and has many sound advantages over the median line. The wound has a better chance of uniting, and frequently heals without interruption. If drainage is required, its position is such, that it is easier to care for, and may be cleaned while the bitch is lying down. There is very little likelihood of hernia, and the part is more out of reach of the puppies, which should be placed with the mother, as soon as her mental condition allows. Objections have been raised that a scar will more readily be seen. This is not so, as in most cases one has to look closely to see whether a bitch has been operated on.

In the case of the median line entrance, the mammae are very much in the way, and owing to a particularly active and sensitive state at the time, inflammatory processes may extend into them, and also the position of the wound makes cleaning difficult. There is greater weight to carry, as the abdominal viscera are more likely to come into contact with the region, and a hernia may readily occur. The puppies, also, are apt to irritate the opening and annoy the mother.

An area of 4 inches by 6 for a Boston Terrier is shaved and cleaned. While the anesthetic is being administered, the operative area is disinfected with tincture of iodine. When completed, the bitch is carried into the operating room. The assistants stand ready to hold the patient should she move, and to handle and dry the puppies as they are removed. Sterile cloths are placed on the bitch, leaving the site of the operation exposed to view.

In making the skin incision on a Boston Terrier, the last but one teat is taken as a guide, the bottom of which should be about two inches above the border of the mammae and made vertically, varying in length from 3 to 4 inches. No particular advantage is to be gained by operating through a small opening, as there is always danger of tearing something. Should a quantity of fat be found beneath the skin, it is removed, and the muscular tissues elevated with a hook, and the incision continued through the three layers, until the abdominal cavity is entered with an aperture about an inch long; while the muscles are still elevated, the opening is enlarged with a pair of blunt pointed scissors. At this point a small artery may be severed, and slight hemorrhage encountered, which is controlled with the forceps.

Search is now made for the end of the uppermost horn and its ovarian attachment, which is followed down until a fetus is located. It will depend now, on the number present, as to how much of the uterus will be exposed. If there are many puppies, it will be advisable to go as near the bifurcation as possible, so that both horns may be evacuated with the least effort. The use of dry gauze allows a firm grip to be taken of the slippery uterus. If it is overdistended with fetal fluids, a small incision through the uterine wall will allow the fluids to escape and relieve the tension.

To open the womb, a site is selected that is not very vascular or directly over the placenta, and incision is made in line with the long axis of the organ. It should be of ample size, for if the aperture is too small a right angled tear is apt to result while withdrawing a fetus. Forester's forceps are applied lightly to the uterus just above the orifice, so that an assistant can hold

IDEAL KENNELS—SCHIPPERKES

THE IDEAL SCHIPPERKES OF

PETER HENDERSON, R. 1, BOX 56, ROYAL OAK, MICH., U.S.A.

HAVE been prominent at the shows in the United States and Canada in recent years. Particularly successful has been Canadian Champion Exceldall O' the North, a dog who has never taken second place to any other Schipperke in Canada. Ch. Exceldall O' the North is from straight English blood, and that is why he is so good, irrespective of all claims which may be made to the contrary. This dog won the Non-Sporting Group at Wissahickon this year, and at Huntingdon Valley was right up in the hot contention.

We Tommy Tucker, the winners dog at Westminster Kennel Club last February is another one that we are quite proud of. Merry Minx O' the North, the Westminster winners bitch is at Ideal Kennels, too, together with other splendid specimens of different sex and age.

If it is Schipperkes you require we invite your correspondence.

it in such a position that the fetal fluids will drop clear of the body, and not into the abdominal cavity.

The pup and placenta are extracted by a steady, gentle pull and dropped into the hands of a waiting assistant, or some heated receptacle. When it is the latter, the pup is freed from any coverings, and the mucus is dislodged from the nose and mouth, by shaking the head. Afterbirths may be detached at once or at a later time. When there is a delay, or a large number of puppies are to be taken out, necessitating lengthy exposure of the parts, coverings of hot sterile cloths should be used. They aid materially in contracting the uterus and checking hemorrhage. Occasionally bleeding will continue for a day or so and cause death.

Sometimes all the puppies are contained in the lower horn, in which case entry is made through the lowest part of the non-gravid horn. A puppy may be so situated that difficulty is experienced in bringing it to the operation opening, or owing to its slimy condition, a firm hold cannot be secured with the fingers. Aid may be given by an assistant passing the flat of his hand under the belly wall, to press up the contents toward the opening. A very useful instrument for grasping a leg is the human tongue forceps, and it is here that the cheesecloth is handy.

The womb may exhibit quite a variety of conditions with respect to its contents, such as live puppies among dead ones, in different stages of development and decomposition. Parts of the uterus may be necrosed, particularly where it is in contact with a dead fetus, partial or complete excision of the uterus will be necessary where any necrosed areas are found. Prognosis is very unfavorable, yet it is astonishing how bitches will survive when showing signs of being toxic and unsatisfactory conditions prevail. We never attempt to flush or irrigate with disinfectants; any cleansing that is done is confined to mopping with dry, sterile swabs.

Occasionally a bitch will commence to vomit towards the termination of the operation, a very frequent happening with English Bulldogs. Operations should cease until the nausea is over, care being taken to close the opening, and by using firm pressure over the site with sterile cloths, prevent the abdominal viscera being forced out. The assistant administering the ether must attend to the bitch, freeing the mouth and throat from mucus and vomit, as there is a possibility of choking or collapse. In a few minutes, normal respiration will commence again, after the paroxysms of vomiting are over.

When all the puppies with their placentae are removed, the uterus is closed by means of a single row continuous suture, including only the serous and muscle layers; fine catgut of the required size being used, and care being taken to turn in the cut borders, so that the serous coats are brought close together. With the removal of blood clots or any debris, the uterus is returned to its position in the abdominal cavity.

Peritoneum and muscles are sutured together with chromic catgut by the interrupted method, the stitches being $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ of an inch apart. The skin is united by wax linen thread with interrupted sutures $\frac{1}{2}$ inch apart.

The bitch is then placed in a warm cage until the effects of the anesthetic wear off, which may take from a few minutes to several hours. Some have been known to care for and commence nursing puppies intelligently, within an hour after entering the hospital.

I am a firm believer in having the bitch in her own home within a few hours after the operation. She settles down much better than if left in a hospital, amid strange surroundings. It is not uncommon for us to send bitches on a hundred mile journey shortly after the operation.

The following day, a visit should be made to remove the bottom stitch for drainage. Instructions are given to see that this is kept open and cleaned several times a day, and to report immediately any change in the disposition of the bitch. If unfavorable symptoms are noticed, such as loss of appetite, the temperature 103°F. , or no interest shown in the young, we advise taking the puppies off the bitch and placing them on a foster-mother, a cat, or resorting to artificial feeding.

Breeders are encouraged to advise us when they have a foster-mother available for nursing, of which a register is kept. Definite arrangements should always be made beforehand, between the owners of the bitch and the foster-mother with regard to the fees for rearing the puppies, as it varies from two to five dollars each, and it may be advisable to buy, or hire the foster-mother for the time being.

Caution must be used when introducing strange puppies to a foster-mother. If she has some of her own, they should be mixed together and watched for a while, as the strangers may not be welcomed at first, but as a general rule, if a female has plenty of milk she will be only too glad to nurse puppies. A careful examination of the foster-mother should be made to be sure that she is in good health, particularly with regard to the skin.

Treatment for the bitch is attention to the wound, without too much tampering, administration of tonics and forced feeding. In many cases the temperature drops to normal in a few days, and the bitch soon gains sufficient strength to nurse her own puppies, providing satisfactory progress is not being made with the foster-mother, or by the means of artificial feeding.

“When do we eat?”

“Some folks don’t know how hungry us young dogs get. They give us bread and potatoes and mushy table scraps---that’s not the stuff we need to grow on and build bone and muscle. No wonder we get hungry. Give us Ross-Miller Dog Foods and then see us grow!”

Ross-Miller Dog Foods are prepared by experts who know what nature requires. Their recipe includes high grade beef and pork cracklings, bone meal, fish meal, alfalfa meal, milk, cod liver oil and other ingredients in studied proportion.

Ask your grocer to supply Ross-Miller Biscuits for your dogs, regularly. They cost about one cent per meal.
