IDENTIFYING THE DOGS

We have been interested in following the tastes of our members when selecting their choice of the three alternate methods of identification and must frankly admit, that in actual practice, our own preconceived opinions have stood up to all tests remarkably well. We had opined that our people would only adopt one of the three methods when necessity obliged them to do so. How true this opinion has turned out to be. We believed that nose-printing and tattooing would be the favored methods and in that order and here again the available figures have not let us down, but we notice with regret that a trifle more than half of our members still have to make their choice yet.

The list of persons entitled to nominate or to be nominated, as it appeared in our October issue, was representative of the persons who were in good standing as members, as before the 15th day of September and there were 1,316 names on that list.

Let us look at the list this way:
Members in Good Standing before September 15th, 1939

	Alta.	B.C.	Man.	Marit.	Ont.	P.Q.	Sask.
Charting .....	6	13	4	5	51	4	5
Tattoo .....	30	16	27	11	109	47	11,251
Nose-Print .....	17	43	10	20	148	31	10,219
	53	72	41	36	308	82	26

The table shows that out of 1,316 paid up members, 618 have already arranged with the Records Office for that method of identification which they have considered to be the most satisfactory to themselves and leaving 698 members to still decide on their own choice of method and this should only be a matter of a very short time. For, like the "time and tide that waits for no man", registration must be kept up to date if the welfare of a kennel and its clients are to be properly safe-guarded.

Probably it would have been expecting too much, if we had anticipated no disturbance in our affairs through the inauguration and the functioning of the new identification legislation, frankly we did expect a measure of interruption, but with equal frankness we would say that we did not expect the apparent disruption that the figures for October show. For comparison, we show the registration and transfer figures for October 1938 and 1939:

October, 1938 — Registrations 698, Transfers 753.

October, 1939 — Registrations 333, Transfers 408.

This condition cannot be blamed on the war, therefore we must place it directly to the upset in our business, following directly the identification legislation coming into practice. We do earnestly trust that complete adjustment will soon become the rule rather than the exception, but, if almost one half of our members find it to their advantage to select one of the three alternate methods at the end of the second month after the inauguration of the necessary "practical and effective system" we trust that the other half will make a choice before "Santa Claus" reaches Canada in the course of his visitation to the Christian world.

A BREEZE FROM SUNNY HONOLULU

AS THE end of another year approaches one is forced to reflect upon the activities within our "doggy sphere" of the past twelve months. While nations are at war and others preparing for conflict, our members endeavor to spread good will as well as meeting all requirements of good citizenship. It has been truly said that the dog game is an International Fraternity open to every race and creed willing to play the game according to the rules of sportsmanship. Countless numbers of fanciers cross International Borders without inconvenience for the express purpose of attending dog shows in neighboring countries.

Year after year there is an exchange of judges, while at dog shows from San Francisco to New York, and from Victoria to Halifax, you will find foreign entries which lend an international aspect to the competition. Immigration and Customs officials at border points are particularly efficient and most helpful to all those who are willing to abide by the laws of the land they wish to enter, and it would appear they are especially friendly to dog fanciers.

As a shining example of good will among men, carefully examine the tenor of the "Secretary's Diary" which has been printed in Kennel and Bench. Here we find that James D. Strachan, starting at Toronto, crossed Canada, then sailed down the Washington, Oregon, and California coast. At every port he was greeted by dog fanciers, many he had never met personally before. Crossing the ocean to the old land he was greeted by fanciers at every turn, and when he returned to his own country, there on the pier at Montreal were dog fanciers with the "hand of welcome" fully extended. Would that all men in all countries could travel likewise today.

When the S.S. Ida Bakke sailed from Straits of Georgia for the Panama and Glasgow, with the Secretary aboard, this writer together with his daughter sailed from the port of Vancouver for Honolulu on a dog fanciers mission. When our ship the Empress of Canada headed out into the Pacific Ocean charted for Lat. 20 N., Long. 15 W., one could not but meditate on what laid beyond the prow of that ship plowing steadily day and night through the blue Pacific waters. After five days on board we dropped anchor off Diamond Head for quarantine and immigration inspection, but even before it was our turn to pass inspection, a quiet spoken gentleman approached us saying he was Sid Walker of Honolulu and promptly draped us with beautiful lei's (The Hawaiian symbol of friendship). Soon we were in dock and greeted by many fanciers and to receive more lei's, and to make new friends we hope we shall never lose.

Honolulu is probably the most doggy minded city of its size in the World. Imagine if you can a beautiful park with row upon row of modern kennels, each containing running water, cement and cinder runs, and shaded by Coconut trees with gorgeous flowers covering the iron fences. This is the so-called quarantine station with competent attendants in charge. Here dogs shipped in from the mainland are kept for a given time, while the owners are privileged to visit their dogs at all reasonable hours. If dogs could speak I am sure they would have nothing but praise for this necessary institution. If you read the Honolulu daily papers you will readily discover that there are four writers devoting considerable space to doggy activities each week, with the very competent Sidney Walker ever alert to boost the game during his radio talks.

I have been asked repeatedly as to the quality of the dogs owned in Honolulu. If you would like an agreeable surprise you should attend a Honolulu show. Here you will find dogs of real merit in every breed represented. How many mainland shows of a thousand dogs and less can boast of thirty-six shepherds all beautifully trained and not a mid-ocre one in the lot with the top dogs good enough for any competition; Great Danes that would surprise you with a home grown puppy that barring accidents, would make the best in the world of his age step to beat him; Irish and English Setters, Cockers (American and English type) that arouses your admiration; Irish and Wire-haired Fox Terriers in abundance; Pointers, Whippets, Doberman Pinschers that can waltz to their championships on the mainland. Grifons, Bostons and several other breeds that are a credit to their owners and breeders. Honolulu is the home of good dogs, if you intend selling dogs over there, the most friendly advice I could give you would be sell first class stock only, as fair specimens would merely clutter up the canine population and certainly would not get to first base in Honolulu competition.

On the Sunday following our arrival on the Island of Oahu, it was our pleasure to assist Mrs. Fordham, of Highland Park, Mich., and the well known Anton Rost, with the judging of the 7th annual show of the Hawaiian Kennel Club held on the beautiful Waialae Golf Course. Here Mrs. Fordham distinguished herself by turning in a beautiful job of judging; while Anton Rost was his same competent self that has judged dogs in many countries, and here let it be said that the same Anton is now an enterprising Honolulu business man and a hustling member of the Chamber of Commerce.

Who is responsible for staging such successful shows at this far away Paradise of the Pacific? and the answer is Arthur Zane, President, well known as a judge over here, and owner of the Central Market. Mr. H. K. L. Castle, a sportsman of the old school and the busiest man on the Islands with his Banks, Ships, terminals, Industries of various kinds, to say nothing of a twelve thousand acre ranch stocked with the finest of Aberdeen-Angus cattle, Polo ponies, Great Danes and Shepherd dogs. Sidney Walker, of the Honolulu Advertiser, Fred O. Bevin, of the Island Hotel interests. Dr. Napp Young, J. Platt Cook, W. K. Jordan, Dr. H. Dorothy Dudley the Alexanders and Schmidts, Edward Towse, H. A. Walker, and the efficient and much travelled Secretary Miss Sadie Dyson, well known on the mainland, together with scores of genuine fanciers who can accept a third ribbon quite as graciously as they do a first. Honolulu is a city of culture and beauty, a business culture and beauty, a business bee-hive, with the Royal Hawaiian Band playing you in and out of port with unforgettable melodies. To our globe trotting Secretary I would suggest that his travels will be quite incomplete until he meets the Hawaiian dog fanciers on their own soil.

ALOHA.

WM. H. PYM

By MILTON DANZIGER, Springfield, Mass.

WHEN Helen Keller, the world's most famous deaf and blind woman, was interviewed by the press, she stated that next to her work for the blind, her hobby was her love for dogs, six of which she has at her new Westport (Ct) home.

This summer Miss Keller received a Japanese Akita, a breed which resembles the Chow and is quite intelligent. The dog is supposed to be of the "barkless" variety.

The dog named "Kanzan Go", meaning Sword Mountain, was a gift of the Japanese state department and was trained from puppyhood to be a companion for Miss Keller. Two years ago when Miss Keller was touring Japan, her former Akita ("Kamikaze") died. To console her, the Japanese government requested the police of Akita to train a dog for her of the breed named after that town. When the Akita finished its training early this year, it was sent on its 11,000-mile journey to Miss Keller.

The governor of Akita located Ichiro Ogasawara, a policeman who gave Miss Keller her first dog and he agreed to donate and train another for her.

W. B. W. Fleisher of Beverly Hills, Cal., agreed to handle the details in the shipment of her second Akita to America, and in appreciation, Miss Keller wrote to Mr. Fleisher in part:

"I have always been fond of dogs. When Nature infused a spark into a bit of clay for the dog, I think she was in a good mood. Certainly I marvel at the dog's fidelity, loving us in silks or rags, when we feed him or forget his food, with our eyes full of light or groping through darkness.

"It was natural then, that among the countless gifts bestowed upon me by the Japanese people, the one I cared about most was the dog presented by a police officer in the town of Akita. Moreover, Kamikaze symbolized the love and generosity of the people who welcomed me from one end of the empire to the other.

"I like big dogs best and that big one, though but five months old, was an Argus-eyed watchdog without the ancestral menace to strangers which brings me uneasiness as well as safety. His devoted master left him by my side, I sensed, with a wrench at his heart, aboard the Asama Maru at Yokohama. Of course, the pupper expected to see him again and pathetically sniffed around the deck for the footsteps with which he was so familiar. However, as the ship surged into a world he did not know, he transferred his trustful loyalty to me and such a compliment from an Akita dog made me bow my head in humility.

"Always during his long journey from Yokohama to my home in Forest Hills, L.I., Kamikaze kept close to me. Every time Miss Thomson and I had to leave him in our stateroom, she said a tragic look came into his great eyes, and on our return he nearly pulled me down to the floor in ecstasy. Once he was accidentally shut out in the hall. He knew I was alone inside the room. He barked—something he seldom did—and banged his handsome head against the door until somebody opened it, then he jumped up in my lap and nearly covered me. I had a sensation as of wide protecting wings. How happily he was named—Kamikaze—"Wings of Gold"!

"In the sun his deep coat shone all golden from his ever-questioning ears to his never-still tail. He could not bear to see me sad. If I cried from loneliness for my beloved teacher, he would put his big paw up on my knee, press his cool nose to my cheek and lick away the tears. His intelligence and insatiate curiosity, his friendliness to everyone and bubbling delight over a walk or a meal made him the pet of the Asama Maru.

"Afterward at the Mayo clinic, where I was operated upon, the doctors and nurses who saw Kamikaze at my bedside declared he was the most lovable dog they had ever known. A strange foreboding pursued me that I might lose Kamikaze. Miss Thomson and I did what we could to insure his health by inoculations. I will pass over in silence the desolate heartache I endured when he died. I will only say he seemed one of my teacher's dear thoughts which had been taken form to gladden me for a little while. From the description I have tried to give above I hope you may gain some idea of the peculiar appeal the Akita dog has for me".

Helen Keller, with some of her canine pets. This photograph was taken just before the arrival of her second Akita dog from Japan and was autographed by Miss Keller for Mr. Danziger.

THE QUINTS IN A FIGHT

Miss Olive Walkerdine, and the boisterous chicken-hawk—notice the spread of its wings.

This rather unique story has no bearing on the famous Dionne Quints up at Callendar, Ontario, for the very good reason that the world famed sisters have been taught that well-bred young ladies don't fight, but ours is rather a strange line-up of battlers and in that respect they probably have no direct parallel in history, as our quints include a chicken hawk (with a three foot wing spread), a 'fair young lady', a Boston Terrier (called "Buddy"), a grocery clerk and a handy man—a motley aggregation in all truth. The Boston Terrier is the hero. The 'fair young lady' is the heroine. The hawk is the villain. The others are incidental to our little drama, so with this preamble we proceed to tell the real story.

Mrs. F. W. Walkerdine, Toronto, (whose name does not appear in the cast because the near tragedy was all over before she found her second wind) was making dinner ready for her family, when the chicken hawk took a nose dive through her kitchen window and flopped on the floor in a more or less dazed condition greatly to the utter amazement of "Ma" Walkerdine, but "Buddy", the Boston, sensed possible danger, and wasn't he the family protector anyway, he decided that he was taking no chances, so, puckering his bristles up over his withers he proceeded to ascertain the "whys" and "wherefores" of the rude intrusion and particularly to demand an explanation for the broken window. The chicken hawk was in no mood for explanations or apologies, so he decided to brazen the incident out. "Buddy" didn't agree and the fight was on. Flying fragments of fur and feathers indicated the location of the victor at the moment of viewing the struggle, "Buddy" was just about holding his own, and so the fair young lady—our heroine, having more than just a passing interest in her Boston Terrier, gets into the fight, fresh and rather vigorously, and so the "Allies" were now two to one as it were.

The hawk was obliged to give ground, slowly it is true, yet nevertheless steadily and gradually. Through the kitchen, into the dining room and on to the sitting room, inch by inch, give and take, and bye and bye the principals were at it hammer and tongs on the family chessfield. It was a fight to the finish and it became more and more hectic every passing minute.

In spite of possible prejudiced refereeing the hawk continued to be quite aggressive, so at the solicitation of Mrs. Walkerdine, the supporting strength of a near-by neighbour was added to the ranks. This neighbour was a quick thinker himself and he noticed a place in the general scheme for a real heavy-weight helper, so possessed with a large bag and a stout pole the battle was vigorously renewed and the fortunes of war were now apparently due to turn against the hapless hawk. The 'fair young lady' lays on lustily. "Buddy" continues to be quite aggressive and relentless. The heavy-weight, with the oaken staff, is fortunate enough to land a nasty crack on a vulnerable spot and the battle was over at last but sportsmen will agree that the hawk was a tough old bird and that he sold his life dearly. However, our illustration will describe any of the details that we may have inadvertently overlooked much better than anything that has been written so far. So here we have the poor old chicken thieving hawk, with head badly bent, if not entirely bowed, "Buddy" bold and defiant with the "I showed i'm" expression and Miss Olive,—well, if that smiling face doesn't literally say, "Love me, love my dog", then we don't know the first thing about a young ladies facial expressions. One party who looked at the photograph interpreted the Olive-Buddy expressions in combination to read, "Who said the Boston Terrier isn't a real bird dog". No wonder the hawk is hiding his face. He should be utterly ashamed of himself cutting up the way he did.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER LOCK HORNS

There were big things doing from the Canadian viewpoint at the 61st Specialty show of the American Fox Terrier Club held at Cleveland, Ohio, on Sunday, October 29th, when Frank and Mrs. Beer, Toronto caused a mild sensation by introducing their (Ch. "Nornay Saddler-Ch. "Dancing Doll") bitch puppy, "Glamour Girl" to the hectic competition which always marks these important fixtures. There were no less than 7 champions entered in the Smooth Fox Terrier section of the show, and one of these was the world record breaker for Best Dog in Show wins, the great Int. "Ch. Nornay Saddler" himself, and the Toronto puppy took them all in her stride as they came along until she came to her illustrious sire, and then she was blushing obliged to call it a day. However, any way we look at this great win, it most certainly scintillates like a newly ground diamond in the sunlight.

Adding further lustre to Mr. and Mrs. Beers Cleveland invasion was the wins of their "Menow" who garnered in the desirable American-bred ribbon and then went on to the reserve winners station to take her place beside her half sister "Glamour Girl", as "Menow" is out of "Ch. Dancing Doll" by "Ch. Farleton Fox-earth".

We are familiar with the measure of sincerity which Mr. and Mrs. Beer bring to their breeding plans, so that we were quite ready to absorb this good news when it came along and we unreservedly congratulate the proud owners and breeders of such outstanding dogs and wish them continued success.

SIBERIAN HUSKIES

TO CALL the Siberian a "Husky" is partially erroneous, for the word Husky, as it is commonly used to-day implies any northern dog of mixed breed and usually with a wolf cross. The Siberian is a pure bred dog coming from the Kolyma River district in Siberia, the dog of the Chuchi people. He is their utility dog, their pet, and the only toy of their children—a highly prized possession. As there is no animal known more susceptible to his environment than the dog, the Siberian reflects the temperament of the easy going nomadic Chuchi and has become known as the "sunny tempered Siberian." Unlike the Indian Malamutes and cross breeds, for the most part underfed and ill-treated, they are used to gentle handling and thus make equally as good pets as they do sled dogs. Also, unlike the other northern dogs, they are small and light, with remarkable endurance, holding the racing speed records of the northern classics against all comers.

When the Norwegian explorer, Roald Amundsen, planned his expedition to the North Pole, starting from Alaska, his friend and countryman, Jafet Lindeberg, the discoverer of the Nome gold fields, wished to make him a present of a dog team of Siberians. Thus a picked string was imported from Siberia. As Amundsen's trip was cancelled at the last moment, these dogs came into the possession of Leon-hard Seppala, another of his countrymen. With them he won the 408-mile All Alaska Sweepstakes three years in succession and also the title of "Alaska's Trail King." Besides the speed records set by these Siberians in the races, they freighted supplies in the construction of the Alaska railroad, and to them is attributed the credit of making possible the linking together of the outlying districts in the development of Seward Peninsula.

When brought to the United States and Canada by Seppala, so astounding was the disposition of the Siberian, his striking appearance, his attributes as a pet and his line of pure breeding in contrast to all other northern dogs, that he was recognized by the American Kennel Club. His ability to adapt himself to the warmer climates makes him as fine a house pet as any of the other better known "bench" dogs.

The puppies from the Seppala Siberian Kennels at Gray Rock Inn are genuine pedigreed Siberians, in direct line from the original imported stock and from the dogs that made the heroic dash with the diphtheria serum in Alaska in 1925, as well as from more recently imported stock.

Seppala has returned to the north but the strain of Siberians introduced by him has been carried on by Mr. Harry Wheeler at Gray Rocks Inn whose fame as a racer of dog teams is well known to all who follow this sport. The dogs in the Seppala Kennels at Gray Rocks have won many cups in international events with Mr. Wheeler as their driver.

Owing to the affectionate nature of the Siberians they have become extremely popular in the past few years as pets. A considerable number of Americans who have been guests at Gray Rocks Inn have returned home with Siberian puppies.

DACHSHUND NOTES

By MRS. A. FIX, 40 Center Road, R.R. 1, Port Credit, Ont.

AS THE year 1939 draws to its close, it may be wise to consider, for a moment, just what the Dachshund Club has been able to accomplish for its members, and for the breed itself. For its members the club has never held out any particular inducements as an attraction to build up the Club's roster, nevertheless, the co-operation of the Club's officers has greatly increased sales among the members and have made many valuable contacts possible. Personally I have turned over around an even dozen sales and service transactions to fellow members. These transactions were shared in by at least 8 different kennels. Other officers have had similar experiences no doubt, probably other officers have had even greater opportunities than I have had to make the club membership profitable as well as interesting, all this can be accomplished with confidence, as it is one of our chief aims to encourage high standards of scientific breeding. The friendly attitude of the club members in respect to all matters of breeding makes it comparatively easy to better appraise the real value of some of the splendid Canadian stock that we, as breeders, have available. We are well equipped in this country to engage in breeding programmes capable of yielding results second to none. We need no longer stand in awe before any new foreign champions as they are paraded before us, indeed, we can now afford to critically examine every virtue such dogs may have to offer before deciding whether or not, they have anything to offer for our advantage, or whether they are any improvement over our own Canadian stock.

Field Trial rules have been prepared, considered and approved of. The members will soon receive mimeographed copies, and later, when the proposed rules have been applied, the results will determine their suitability, when they may be ordered further amended or printed.

The cancellation of the National Kennel Club Show for 1939 was a great disappointment to the members of the Dachshund Club, but we are all looking forward in expectation of the proposed patriotic show which is said to be in prospect for early in the New Year.

War has cast its menacing shadow over us all and has aroused some speculation as to the effect it may have on dog breeding in general, as its events have proven conclusively that there is no abatement in the interest and sympathy towards our breed shown by the general public, we who have the privilege to own, or to breed Dachshunde rejoice that these gentle creatures are safe in our care and we hope, that when war is over, that the world will be a better place to live in, not only for ourselves, but for our dogs as well.

A menacing instance of war hysteria reached me the other day. It was the report of the destruction of a dog of the larger breeds, which had been destroyed, for the reason that its rations would be enough to feed a starving child. Well, I doubt very much that this condition exists at the present time, the larders of the allied nations are known to be generously stocked and I doubt very much if the portion of dog's meat would be desired by any child, starving or otherwise. Do not allow ourselves to become stampeded because of the strain on our nerves. Let us keep in control of our senses. I hope it will always be possible to have enough food to spare. My heart goes out to the great hearted watch dog who paid with his life his misplaced trust in human gratitude.

A word to the purchasing public. At the Christmas season you will be in the market for dogs and you will be well advised, that in this market, as in any other, you will get exactly what you pay for. If you only want a pet, be frank and say so, breeders sometimes have puppies to sell for pets, but do not be foolish enough to ask for "just a pet" if it is something else that you really want. If you want a show specimen, or some foundation breeding stock, go to reputable breeders and make your choice and it very likely will be wise for you to leave the choosing to him, if you are not familiar with the finer points of the breed yourself. A breeder gets just as much thrill out of the dog that he has sold you, as he would have got if he had kept it himself. Always remember, that an experienced fancier, when attending a dog show, invariably looks at the dog show catalogue to ascertain the name of the breeder, of any dog that may catch his eye.

"THE LION AND THE LAMB"

—in reverse. Could anything be sweeter than this little study. Here the old saw "a cat and dog life" is also in reverse, but that is the Dachshund all over—just a little different.

The Dachshund makes an ideal pet, and will fit into the general scheme of things in a country mansion, or in a city apartment and the breed can be depended upon to live in harmony with people, and with other animals. The old saying "living a dog and cat life" loses its meaning when the dog is a Dachshie and the cat is a worth while companion for a good dog.

Two of the features of the year just ending are the increase of such splendid breeding stock and the really fine enthusiasm that is found in the ranks of "Dachshie" admirers. The long-haired specimens favoured by the Club's Vice-President, Philip Dickinson, now number up to around 40 at Burwell, Ont. These dogs have been hand picked from the very best kennels in Europe and in the United States because of their choice quality. The wire-haired section has been enriched by Mrs. Tyrwhitt-Drakes' purchase of the splendid "Kima of Dunkerque" from Air Vice-Marshall Sir Charles Lambe's famous English Kennel. Miss Barbara Bannigan has acquired foundation stock for the miniature section. Whilst the smooth-haired variety numbers its adherents from the Atlantic to the Pacific and beyond, the whole a very desirable and satisfying condition. Another cheering side of the picture is the strength of the Dachshunde at all dog shows, here the entries keep mounting up and the breed has been noticed to top the entries on several occasions.

I noticed where a young lady came over to this side of the Atlantic recently on the "Clipper", she had been obliged to part with her "Dachshies" for a time, but feeling lonely for their companionship, she up and buys herself a dog and in due course will take it back to England with her.

Mrs. J. T. Symons tells of the traits of 4 of her dogs and they are indeed amusing, but she has touched our "funny bone" when she says she has named the four "Neville", "Anthony", "Winston" and "Halifax" and according to her "Neville" is very stern, "Anthony" is quite reserved, "Winston" is precocious and "Halifax" is very friendly.

And another choice tid bit is the poem by Bertha Bright Rainger a lover, breeder and judge of Dachshunde. Says the gifted Bertha:

POOR BOZE

Boze was a clever Dachshund pup,
Long and low as Dachs should be;
Proud of his stream-lined slenderness
And his long and famous pedigree.

They sold Boze. At his new home
A long-haired Dachs named Schatzi
Told him to his sad amazement
That his family now were Nazi.

This didn't seem so good to Boze,
But he gayly barked and said:
Tho I came from German ancestry
I am American-bred.

When they changed his name to "Hitler"

It was more than he could face.
Poor little Boze turned up his toes
And died of the disgrace.

To all readers of my column in Kennel and Bench, my dogs, my family, and myself extend hearty Christmas greetings. May we all carry on sanely and pray that the clouds of war will soon roll away.

THE SKYE TERRIER

By MRS. R. PERCY ADAMS, Westmount, P.Q.

THE Skye terrier is one of the grand old breeds and when he is seen in perfection is a very beautiful dog and is rapidly gaining great popularity in America. Certainly there can be found no breed that is more lovable, affectionate or more faithful. Among his many characteristics are a long enduring patience and a deep-hearted tenderness, combined with fearless courage. He is perhaps more sensitive to rebuke and punishment than most dogs and will nurse resentment to those who are unjust to him—not viciously, but with an almost human plaintiveness which demands an immediate reconciliation. He is a staunch unfailing friend to those who are kind to him. A wonderful child's pal, and housedog, as well as a grand companion for those of advanced years. He is a real terrier through and through. Originally he was meant for sport—(today he is bred more for show purposes and companionship). No one who has seen two Skyes fighting will deny their killing powers. They have jaws like steel traps, which, when hunting, are not loosened from their victim until they have done their work.

There is an old tradition that the breed was an offspring of some Spanish white dogs, at the time of the Armada, wrecked on the Isle of Skye—but, it is not likely that the Spaniards would take dogs on a military expedition and the Highlanders were known to have working terriers long before this time, probably brought over from Scandinavia by Norsemen who ruled the Hebrides three centuries earlier. The Skye had its early home on the 'Misty Isle of Skye' but was also found in Lewis, Oronsay, Colonsay and other of the Hebrides as well as the mainland of Scotland.

The Dandie Dinmont, Cairn, Scottish and Clydesdale terriers are all related but which is the parent breed it is almost impossible to determine.

The Skye was included in the first volume of the English Kennel Club Stud book.

The breed became very popular in England during the reign of Queen Victoria and from about 1843 onwards she always owned some beautiful specimens, an example which was followed by many of her loyal subjects. Her first, as far as we know was "Islay" a drop eared specimen. Later one was given to Her Majesty by a Mr. Pratt, a very famous Skye fancier, from these Skyes others were successfully bred in the Royal Kennels and one of these, "Cairnach" was an especial favorite with the Queen.

Later Her Majesty owned "Diana of Aldroallock", bred by the Rev. David Dolbin and said to have had the longest pedigree of any dog of any breed. After that she had "Rona II" a gift from the Rev. Dr. Rosslyn Bruce. "Rona II" is immortalized in the well known picture with Her Majesty by William Nicholson.

Mr. Pratt, known as "The man with the dogs" of Paddington, owned among others the well known "Sandy Grant" and "Piner". Other well known fanciers were Mr. Clark and the Duke of Argyll, Mrs. Hughes of "Wolverly" fame, Sir Claud and Lady Alexander of Ballochmyle, Mrs. Freeman, Miss Bowyer Smyth and Miss McCheane. Later Mrs. Hugh Ripley and the Countess of Aberdeen, whose favourites were the drop eared variety, Miss Wilmer, Miss Whishaw and Mrs. Sandwith.

Today we have in England breeding and exhibiting such famous names as Sir Claud and Lady Alexander, The Rev. Dr. Rosslyn Bruce, The Lady Marcia Miles, Miss Whishaw, Mrs. Cuthbert, Mrs. Axtell and Mrs. Morgan, Miss J. Craig, Mrs. Eaden and Mrs. Mowbray.

In Scotland — Mr. Millar, Mr. Blackie and Mr. Brash.

We also hear that the Queen Mother has now a 'Skye' for a pet and that one is owned by The Duchess of Luxembourg and another by a Scandinavian princess. Since 1930, Germany and France have been buying a great many of England's fine specimens and there are now some very excellent kennels in France, Germany, Denmark and Sweden.

Actresses and screen stars in France and Germany taking up this breed, gave them much publicity.

In the United States a Mr. Sanderson of West Philadelphia owned a very fine dog as far back as 1885.

Mrs. Robert H. McCurdy and the Swiss Mountain Kennels also had one or two good Skyes.

In Canada the late Mr. George Caverhill of Montreal had some very fine show dogs and from 1904 the writer has owned, showed and bred many fine specimens.

Today in the United States, Mrs. H. Davis, Mrs. Michael Stillman, Mrs. Edward Spencer, Mrs. Chas. Dewey, Mrs. Scudder and Mrs. Tulman have some lovely examples of the breed, also Miss Lily Pons, Miss Jeanette MacDonald and I think Miss Janet Gaynor.

In Canada the "Talisker" Skyes still carry on their pioneer work.

The Skye of today varies very little from the Skye of 50 years ago. He is without doubt one of the most beautiful dogs in existence and always commands a great deal of attention and admiration wherever he makes an appearance.

Altho' the present standard gives the weight as 18-20 lbs. for a dog and 16 to 18 lbs. for a bitch, Sir Claud Alexander (the greatest living authority on the breed) says his recollections go back 60 years in the breed and during that time there never were any Skyes of 18 pounds or anything near that very low weight. This is very interesting and very important to know. About 40 years ago Sir Claud weighed a large number of Skyes both dogs and bitches of his own and others. The dogs varied from 26 to 32 pounds, the bitches hardly varied at all from 24½ to 25 pounds. A Skyes weight cannot be wrong if he is long enough and low enough. The Skye Club of both England and America have now no weights mentioned in their Standard of perfection.

The Skye has a long level back, short, straight legs, very heavy bone—his feet are large and firm and pointing forward—not in the least like a fox terrier. His tail that of a setter. His head is long and lean with medium close set hazel or preferably dark brown eyes with a soft pathetic and loving expression. A Skye lover alone knows how a Skye can look at his master. His ears may be either prick or pendant but should be well feathered and his face long and thick. His coat in colour varies from light cream with black ears, nose and muzzle, dark or blue grey, silver or fawn with black points, on no account red or liver with noses of the same colour.

The coat should be long and straight, 5½ inches is the approved length altho' many show specimens have coats as long as twelve inches. This coat should be of a hard weather resisting texture with a soft rather woolly undercoat. A great many of the very long coated dogs are inclined to have softer, silkier hair. The coarser coats seem to take much longer time to grow.

To the average observer these long coats seem to present a great difficulty. This is not the case. If the dog is well bred, in good health and well fed on a meat diet, plenty of fresh air and exercise, his coat is easily kept and the experienced breeder and exhibitor spares the brush and comb and so saves the coat. The Skye is very seldom bathed, and is only brushed and combed perhaps

"WHA DAUR MEDDLE WI ME"—That is the motto of the "Skye" Club of Scotland, but here, in our illustration, we have that challenge multiplied six times. Dr. Caius, the first man to write a book on dogs, in his work, "Englishe Dogges", says in part, when writing of Skye Terriers, "brought out of barbarous borders fro' the uttermost Countreys northward." . . . "Which, by reason of the length of heare, makes shewe neither of face nor of body."

once a month. When combing, begin from the bottom of the hair, gently combing the snarls, if any, down gradually, thus avoiding breaking even one hair if possible of a show specimen. If a show coat is once broken, it takes a full year to grow a coat to show length again.

In choosing a puppy it is safe to pick the biggest and ugliest one of the litter, but safer to choose a show specimen after six months, as it is then more easily determined how his ear and tail carriage is going to be, also the colour of his eyes and the texture of his coat. The Skye is a late finisher and it takes him at least two years or more to fully develop and reveal all the qualities which go to make up a champion.

If given good care he will live a very long time. Fourteen years being a good average.

I hear that this breed is becoming very popular again in Europe and in America, and that the supply cannot meet the demand—"Every dog has his day".

A NEW KENNEL CLUB

The latest kennel club to adorn the Canadian horizon of dogdom will be known as "Province of Quebec Kennel Club" and the vigorous youngster was born on November 12th, when Mr. W. Scarpa, acted in the capacity of chairman of a representative committee whose united action should auger well for the welfare of dogdom in the metropolis of Canada, with four all-breed associations, i.e. Montreal Kennel Association, The Ladies Kennel Club of Canada, Inc., The North End Kennel Club and the P.Q.K.C. The Province of "old Quebec" should be featured in future, as a dog show giving center, and if there is anything in the old law "competition is the life of trade" then we may be tilting our hats to the Montreal lads and lassies any time now.

Notes From Old Quebec

By W. W. ROONEY, 2331 Coursol St.,
Montreal, Que.

FELLOW members, this edition is our Christmas Number for 1939 and I gladly take this opportunity to thank all those readers who gave me such a fine hearing when I was around soliciting advertisements for our own magazine. I have said in these columns before that there is much more in the dog game than merely owning, breeding, or showing a Champion, or winning a championship. There is that very definite bond of good fellowship, that real something in common that binds us so closely together, that "Hello there" that we get at the out-of-town show, that "Did you see my new Dog?" and that "How do you like him?" that encouraging appealing little something, that can only come from those whose opinions we value. Members, if I could only put into words the real pleasure that one gets from partaking to the full, this grand old game that we call the "dog game", I am sure that we would be ready to chronicle the fact that we all experienced similar pleasure in our affiliation, so I do hope that we will all profit by our experiences and see that if by the "boost" instead of the "knock", we do not experience that unexplainable something which encourages us to a tolerance of the other man's feelings and failings and to take a closer scrutiny of our own position in the game and to look forward to the newer horizon of 1940, for bigger and better dog shows in Canada, but particularly in the Province of Quebec. With everybody heading the same way, we can each take up our own share of the load. I do firmly believe that we can all get that "unexplainable something" out of our game. I know of no other hobby that opens such a gateway to such a desirable society as this. There seems to be no dividing line in all dogdom. All we need to have is the love for dogs in common, purebred if possible, but anyway love of man's best friend, at least, let us strive for that "something" that is indelibly written across our hearts.

Dogs for birthday presents is a new idea to me, but it is also a good one. H. J. Placey, Sherbrooke, P.Q., received a pair of beautiful Springer Spaniels on his recent birthday. Horace says, "this pair came to me from my good friend, Frank Shute of Fredericton, N.B., and they are just like chickens coming home to roost, as they are by "Belmoss Marquis" out of "Elegant of Sunstead", both of which were purchased from me in the first place."

Ten Dachshunde comprise another Sherbrooke kennel, and I understand that one of Dr. Gendreau's imported matrons has given a good account of herself, and there is now 10 in the kennel, and any kennel of ten just seems to invite me to its door no matter what the breed may be, so that here is another kennel down on my visiting list. My Sherbrooke news is very welcome and I would like you to feel that the folks there are with us.

New Pekingese blood comes to Quebec Province. Miss B. Cousineau, our enthusiastic breeder and exhibitor has just imported from Toy Town Kennels, Osterville, Mass., U.S.A., the young red dog "Rintsun of Toy Town". This dog is by the English Champion "Rintsun of Heskith" (imp.) of Toy Town Kennels. I also understand that "Treasure of Mealcroft" imported by Miss Cousineau has also proved herself a very useful acquisition to this kennel.

Recently I had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of the genial owner of the "Beaupré" Kennels, and as ever, the conversation turned to more shows for Quebec. Well, this condition will be met in a very short time I feel sure, in spite of all conditions. Our slogan must be "the show must go on". From Mr. Beach, Quebec, comes the encouragement that is so essential at this period of the year, the old, but nevertheless ever welcome wish, "good luck to Kennel and Bench".

I have yet to meet Dr. Trenouth, but I am glad to know that he too is with us in our effort to keep the

J. A. Robitaille informs me that he bred his Cocker bitch "Sherbrooke Patricia" (by that grand dog Ch. "Middlesex Mercury" out of "Idahurst Rodrigue"), to Mrs. J. S. Frolich's grand young dog "Jonmon's Big Boy", who now has 9 points to his championship. This breeding shows both good taste and great care in selection.

Twelve puppies in one litter of any breed is news worthy of mention, and especially when that number are all living. Brother J. M. Wilfrid, Professor of Poultry Husbandry at La Trappe, Oka. Que., is the owner of this prolific bitch. They are by "Round Out Sonny", imported by J. A. Robitaille from Mr. Campbell of Albany, N.Y.

A notice appeared in one of our Montreal daily papers to the effect that 1,000 dog owners would be summoned for non-payment of their 1939 dog licenses. In some cases sheer neglect or "old man procrastination" may have been the reason, but in some cases no doubt people had not the money to pay, owing to prevailing conditions, some probably on relief, but having in mind that pets had become part of some families and that those unable to pay the tax would be obliged to destroy their dogs, I took it upon myself to write the Mayor of Montreal requesting that some consideration be given to such unfortunate people, and where inability to pay was proven satisfactory, that free licenses should be issued as is the case in Toronto and other cities.

As might well be expected, His Worship Mayor Houde was wholly sympathetic to Mr. Rooney's well-considered plea. Primarily the first responsibility of the first citizen of Montreal is the city treasury, and with that no one can take exception, and does not. Nevertheless, something worth while has been conceded through the Mayor's decision to refer the matter (so timely brought to his attention by our Director for the Province of Quebec) to the Executive Committee and the City Council for whatever action they might see fit to take.

Many will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Fred Goodfellow, the hard-working official of the Ladies' Kennel Club of Canada, has been confined to the hospital. All join me in wishing her a speedy recovery.

Five Skye Terriers, six of them puppies, will soon be shipped to California, Florida, New York and Toronto. This surely attests to the demand and the popularity of this hardy little breed. When puppies, "Skyles" are the cutest things imaginable. Mrs. P. Adams says, "I will hate to part with them when the time comes for them to go because I get so attached to them"; but isn't that just the feeling of all true fanciers?

Miss Eadie has experienced good sales of her Cocker puppies, and defines the term, "a good sale" by saying that they went to good homes and this, she considers, essential to every sale. When coupled with value for the price, Miss Eadie's interest for dogs is in no way measured in dollars and cents, and she feels that all fanciers should strive to maintain a high standard of value, in spite of the fact that her own kennels are run for her own pleasure.

I had occasion to visit Montreal's only "Dog Beauty Parlour" and I must say that everything in that place was wondrous neat and clean. Such an establishment in our midst is bound to reflect credit on our local dog world, and it is little wonder that it is still in operation, a vigorous going concern after the 7 or 8 years of its existence. Institutions such as these are essential and I would like to say to the proprietress, Miss V. Robson, for her enterprise, "BRAVO".

I was told in a rather confidential way that two Lhasa Terriers had been imported into Montreal, so out I go to get the news. I called up the party who was supposed to have imported them, the Lhasas, and did I get mine? The lady thought that I was trying to make trouble for her and it was only when my explanation was made clear that she promised to furnish more details later. The reason I mention this is to suggest that "leads" should be made very clear when possible. In this case the Terriers were not imported but they were from imported stock and bred at Murray Bay, Que.

Joy of joys, a winter show! A Spring licensed show! And a Summer Lawn show, with a children's parade thrown in! This sounds like there was real life in the old game yet. This is the program of the recently organized Club. Its Directors and Committee are all enthusiastic dog lovers and as the name implies, it embraces the whole of this Province and in due course it will, I hope, hold shows at Sherbrooke, Quebec City, Hull, and other towns. Sub-Committees will be formed in all these cities before very long. Here is a lively aggregation of men who were willing to give their time, cash and knowledge to dogdom in Quebec Provinces and already their plans are well in hand. I feel sure I voice the sentiments of Many breeders have obtained outstanding success in breeding results with the help of REX Wheat Germ Oil, due to its high content of Vitamin E...the anti-sterility vitamin.

A deficiency of Vitamin E has been proved in many cases to be the cause of females failing to breed, failing to come in heat regularly, needing many services and producing small litters.

REX Wheat Germ Oil is rich in Vitamin E and, in addition, contains some members of the Vitamin B group, which helps promote growth and aids in producing fine, rich, glossy coats.

REX Wheat Germ Oil is a specially extracted pure, un-adulterated oil. The Vitamin E content is stabilized and guaranteed for a period of one year.

everyone when I say, long life to the "Province of Quebec Kennel Club" or in short P.Q. K.C.

I understand that Clubs in the U.S.A. gave valuable assistance in the formation of this new Club in matters of policy and management, and that they have expressed the hope that they will be notified when shows are to be held. This form of cooperation and good will in the dog game as in all other matters enhances the value of the term, "good neighbours", on the part of our cousins from South of the border.

As this is our Christmas number, may I extend to everyone within the scope of this article and beyond, my very best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

ROYAL MELBOURNE SHOW

"Down under" in Australia the war has had no effect on dog shows that can be noticed so far. The 1939 Royal Melbourne Show attracted the record entry of 1000 dogs. The judge with the lion's share of the judicial effort was our globe trotting friend, the one and only George Steadman Thomas, who gave an electrifying exhibition of masterly judging, such as had never been seen in the Antipodes before and from photographs appearing in the Kennel Control Council Gazette we learn that happy George has many good friends in Australia. The best dog and best exhibit in the show was Mrs. A. H. Moncreif's Pomeranian dog, Ch. "Caledonian Ideal Style" and the best bitch in the show was Miss

P. Pratt's wire Fox Terrier, Ch. "Wotton Wylda". In an all-breed novice class of 60 dogs a Scottish terrier, Rockbeare Kennels' "Rockbeare Realization", topped the class.

CH. STARTLING EVENT OF WILDOAKS

CH. MALABARS HAPPY EVENT

• CH. STARTLING EVENT OF WILDOAKS is a double cross of the famous Talavera Simon, and so a most desirable service dog for all well bred bitches. Sire: Ch. Crackley Startler of Wildoaks. Dam: Ch. Gains Great Surprise o' Wildoaks. This dog comes from one of the greatest kennels of Wires on this side of the Atlantic, and was secured by the Malabar Kennels for a very definite purpose, i.e., better "Wires" for Canada. His services are available to discriminating breeders.

• CH. MALABARS HAPPY EVENT was Best of Winners at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, and is a choicely bred "Wire", and a home-bred of which Malabar Kennels are justly proud. She is a daughter of Ch. Startling Event of Wildoaks ex Ch. Thet Thelma, therefore a valuable kennel asset in every sense of that term.

• CH. THET THELMA (Imp.) is just another of the excellent brood matrons which feature the breeding department of Malabar Kennels. She is an imported daughter of the great English Champion Fourwents Rocket, and her dam is Simons Dimple, one of Ch. Talavera Simons best daughters, so that really she is considered to be one of our best bitches.

*Malabar Kennels wishes its friends and clients
A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year*

CH. THET THELMA (Imp.)

Malabars Pointe of Fortune, is a wonderful blood combination that makes him an asset to the kennel. He is a white, black and tan dog by Ch. Lanarth Bramble (Ch. Crackley Startler ex Lanarth Ceres) out of the superbly bred Ch. Thet Thelma. His services are available to approved matrons only.

THE WELSH TERRIERS

Malabar Kennels have an admitted weakness for a good Welsh Terrier, and so we have Ch. "Bodies Tacks", who has appeared at all the shows from Montreal to Windsor. He is by "Bodies Tinker" ex "Bodies Toddy" a good daughter of Ch. "Penhill Pennant of Sy-Paw". "Fencliffe June Maltose" came to the Canadian shows this Fall, and she promises to give her kennel mate Ch. "Bodies Talks" a real tussle for the higher honors when, and if, she meets him in competition.

MISS ADELE COLGATE—Owner

TUXEDO PARK, N.Y. - - U.S.A.

The Hobby House Kennels of Miss Adele S. Colgate, of Tuxedo Park, N.Y., have become something of an international institution as far as the owners of German Shepherd dogs in Canada are concerned. As a matter of fact that genial personality, Miss Colgate, and her high class Shepherds seem to have been adopted by the Shepherd fraternity on this side of the international boundary line.

Shepherds from Hobby House Kennels are chiefly high class dogs imported from the most notable kennels in Germany, so that their influence is immediately felt on the breed itself, and particularly at the shows where they appear in competition.

International Champion Yola Von Vilsendorf is an appealing black and grey female, born August 17th, 1935. Bred by Fritz Jungeblut, Germany. By Attilas Argos, out of Resi von Vilsendorf. In her few appearances in Canada she has always taken the winner's ribbon, but at London she went to Best of Winners, and at Shepherd Dog Club of Canada Specialty Show, which enjoyed a bumper entry, the comely "Yola" was found to be the favoured specimen for Best in Show, a wonderful win, and fitting to finish off the coveted International Championship.

INTERNATIONAL CHAMPION YOLA VON VILSENDORF

INT. CH. FRIGGA VON KANNENBACKERLAND

"Ladies first", but that suits the gallant Pfeffer von der Secretainerie splendidly. Pfeffer is a black and grey tan dog with lots of breed type and character about him, and his worth will be established from now on. Born December 9th, 1936, he is just coming into his prime. Bred by Joseph Schwabacher, Germany. He is by Ferdi von der Secretainerie, of Birke von der Secretainerie, a daughter Hussan von Haus Schutting, "Pfeffer" brings the breeding of the best German blood streams, and is a high class dog in every respect, and well qualified to sport the Hobby House colors.

There will always be a welcome in Canada for the Hobby House dogs, and for the owner Miss Colgate, who takes this opportunity to wish her many Canadian friends the Compliments of the Season.

Here we present another little German lady, Int. Ch. Frigga von Kannenbackerland. Black and tan, born May 10th, 1934. Bred by Thekla Beuler, Germany. Sired by Reinulf van Haus Schutting, out of Tillia von Hallerwald. At the Ladies' Kennel Club of Canada, Inc. (Montreal) and at the National Kennel Club Show (both 1937) "Frigga" won 9 championship points, and at the Toronto Kennel Club Show this year (1939) she completed her championship easily and won for Best of Breed. Miss Colgate is very proud of Frigga von Kannenbackerland, and the feeling is mutual.

England's Best Bulldog for Canada

If the outstanding Bulldogs of the present time in England were to be rated according to the standard the following schedule would be about as accurate as any:

1. Ch. "Basford Golden Nymph".
2. Ch. "Berwyn British Baker".
3. Ch. "Son O' Boomerang's Replica".
4. Ch. "Cefnmabley King" (now in U.S.A.)
5. "Alesby Sam".
6. "Courageous".
7. "Master Ideal".

and we have it on reliable authority that the dog rated on top o' the pile of this dazzling galaxy of celebrities and near celebrities will soon find a new home for itself in the famous "Kamel" Kennels of the President of The Canadian Kennel Club, "Reg." P. Sparkes, Toronto. The word famous is used advisedly here because not so very long ago it was conceded that the "Kamel" Kennels housed the greatest aggregation of Bulldogs ever to be brought together in one kennel at the same time and owned by one owner. These dogs were Tri-Int. Ch. "Clarinda", Tri-Int. Ch. "Parkholme Primula", Int. Ch. "Junior Juno", Int. Ch. "Bunji" and Int. Ch. "Basford Ideal"—a glorious collection of the best "sour mugs" in all the world.

Now it begins to look as if Mr. Sparkes was about to "corner" another similar collection. His first choice was Jimmie Knodes well known Ch. "Besworth Queen" and she was not available. Next choice and equally as important as the first was Ernest Roddy's wonderful dog Ch. "Basford Golden Nymph" and this one was extremely hard to get, and only a figure that would stagger most purchasers stood in the way of this outstanding dog coming to Canada, but Mr. Sparkes has had a wide experience in figures only to be found in the higher brackets, figures that are only mentioned when the very best dogs are being bargained for and so the money was cabled and a glorious dog with a brilliant future before him will soon be in Canada and we can visualize Mr. Roddy's bank account bulge perceptibly. Who said there was no money in dogs?

Ch. "Basford Golden Nymph" has been described as being as sound as a hunter, a thick set cloddy dog with short, stout forelegs, beautifully placed shoulders and lovely body lines with good hocks well let down, the face-works being rich, a Bulldog close to the standard.

Will this dog make his debut in Canada or in the United States? Only Mr. Sparkes will be able to answer that query, but certainly the new owner seems to be determined to keep Canada in the forefront with high class Bulldogs, and breeders will find for the betterment of Bulldogs, and this new importation available at stud the dog's services will be offered in our business columns for January.

CRASHING INTO THE FRONT PAGE

A new high mark in dog news for the year is the leaving of two car loads of Gaines Dog Food, from the factory at Sherburne, to be used in connection with the Byrd, United States Antarctic Expedition. This is a recognition that this food is dependable in the hot tropics and the extreme cold of the wilderness near the South Pole. The Expedition this year will carry more dogs than ever before, for the very good reason that they make the most dependable means of transportation in the Arctic wastelands. Without dogs in perfect condition to do heavy haulage work the Expedition would be hopelessly handicapped.

Gaines' regular stock was chosen for the dogs, but a supply of Formula 107-A has been sent as part of the shipment and if there are any puppies born — and there will be, then the Formula will have a chance to prove its virtue to the young puppies in an atmosphere of 50 below zero.

Obituary

MAJOR E. WARD WRIGHT

THE Canadian Kennel Club lost a warm friend when Major E. Ward Wright, K.C., passed away on Saturday night, November 18th, after having experienced a long and trying illness. The Major's contribution to the Canadian Kennel Club was extensive, whole-hearted and valuable beyond appraisal in dollars and cents. The records show that his membership commenced on March 31st, 1922, and was continuing at the time of his demise.

Sealyham Terriers was his chosen breed and amongst his first show specimens were "Woodside Della", who won her first and only championship points at the Western Fair Show of 1923, and "Della", when bred to the noted Ch. "Twicknam Brigand" (Imp) produced Ch. "Edgewater Sweet Woman", the National Kennel Club winner of 1924 and the Canadian National Exhibition winner of 1925. On January 15th, 1924, a puppy came to the Edgewater Kennels, from the kennels of J. A. Burden, Syossett, N. Y. and this "blast o' Janwar win" was christened the "Barrister" and this dog never knew a win worse than the coveted winners at 10 of Canada's leading shows. Then came "Peggy of Uskvale" from England, selected for Major Ward Wright, by the late Capt. H. E. Hobbs the founder of The Tail-Waggers Club in England and the records show that "Peggy" was a "Purple" winner at every show where she appeared and at her first four shows in 1932, she earned her championship. Before leaving England "Peggy of Uskvale" had been bred to "Felcourt Rocket" and this union produced Ch. "Edgewater Careless". Ch. "Peggy of Uskvale" when bred to Ch. "Brash Bravado of Rensal" produced the latest Edgewater champion in Ch. "Edgewater Breeze". Major Ward Wright was proud of his "Sealvs" and no wonder.

At the Canadian Kennel Club election for 1928, "The Major" as he was always lovingly referred to, was elected to the Board of Directors and he held that office until 1933, and only relinquished the office to take up the burden of legal adviser to the club. At the end of 1934, he was obliged to resign from that office, but in doing so his "mantle" fell on the shoulders of his only son, Mr. Peter Wright, himself a brilliant lawyer although yet a young man.

The funeral service was most impressive from start to finish and was in charge of the Rev. Dr. George H. Sedgewick, of Westminster Central United Church whose message was entirely comforting.

Premier Hepburn and several of his Cabinet Ministers represented the Ontario Legislature. E. H. Coleman represented the Federal House of Parliament. Chief Justice Robertson represented the Supreme Court of Ontario and the Bench. The Canadian Kennel Club was represented by President Reg. P. Sparkes, Vice-President Capt. H. Dudley-Waters, Secretary J. D. Strachan and Director B. W. Esery; National Kennel Club by Bethune L. Smith; Boston Terrier Club of Toronto by H. M. Jackson.

The pall-bearers were members of Major Ward Wright's own office and were selected in accordance with his own wishes. They were Messrs. Wilkinson, Binch, Langford, Lynch, Berry and our own Club's legal adviser, Ross Dunn.

On arriving at the cemetery the cortege was met by a firing squad, bugling party and decorations bearer from the Royal Regiment of Canada, the wartime regiment to which Major Ward Wright had belonged. This provided an escort to the graveside and here the impression deepened as Mr. Sedgewick committed the body to the grave. The firing squad fired the customary rounds and the buglers sounded the "last post".

Outstanding amongst all the mourners was Lieut. Peter Wright, Major Ward Wright's only son. His internal heart-break was thoroughly concealed by a facial control which was magnificent. The crucial test came with the first sounds of the searching "last post" but the jaws clenched tightly and in due course the salute was given in masterly fashion—a real soldier.

It is with sincere regret that the officers and members of the Canadian Kennel Club are obliged to bid this old and tried friend adieu for the time being and a whole-hearted sympathy is offered to his widow Mrs. Ward Wright and to his only son, Lieut. Peter Wright.

THROUGH the courtesy of the Director, the Canadian National Live Stock Records, we have received a clipping from "The Citizen", Ottawa, from which we learn of the death of C. E. Living, Westboro, Ont., who had the distinction of being the only honorary member of the Canadian Kennel Club. Our late friend was 79 years of age at the time of his death, and as he had been a dog fancier all his life, he simply was recognized as one of the pillars of Canadian dogdom, in fact the records show that he had membership rank almost as early as our charter members Gen. Nelles, Col. McEwan and C. A. Stone, three early stalwarts who just failed to live long enough to share in the Golden Jubilee celebration in 1938, in fact an effort was made to have Mr. Living attend the Golden Jubilee Year banquet, but for health reasons he was reluctantly obliged to forego that distinction.

We well remember attending the Central Canada Exhibition dog show in the Fall of 1923, and the supper that we had with "Ned" Living on the evening of the second day, when much of the early history of the Canadian Kennel Club was reviewed at considerable length, and to the writer the recital was one of absorbing interest. During the chat we mentioned the scarcity of records at headquarters and particularly being without copies of the early Stud Books and the early volumes of the Kennel Gazette (one time official organ) to our surprise Mr. Living declared that he had all the records that we were in need of and we remember him saying, that "When his time came to go" such records would be considered as being without value, and so become so much waste paper only and it was agreed that his records would be sent to Toronto.

On March 20, 1924, we reported to the Board of Directors of that day, that Mr. Living had sent us the first 12 volumes of Kennel and Bench which embraced the period between 1888 and 1900, plus several of the early Stud Books in good condition. This information was received with pleasure and a resolution was written into the records which read "That Mr. C. E. Living, Ottawa, Ont., be made an honorary life member of the Canadian Kennel Club, with full privileges", and as far as we know, Mr. Living was the only person, so honored as long as the club has been in existence.

Mr. Living was endowed with a deep sense of honour and he gave his life in the services of Ottawa School Board as teacher, principal and clerk of supplies, only retiring as recently as 1934. To Ottawa Kennel Club he was a veritable bulwark and his advice was often sought when anything of a disturbing nature threatened the harmony or welfare of the club. As a breeder of Cocker Spaniels and as a judge of that breed he ranked with men like the late early enthusiasts "Andy" Armstrong, Lance Farewell and Jim Clark, fanciers that he now rejoins in the "Great Beyond".

The sincere sympathy of our people is tendered to Mrs. Living and her family at this time.

MANITOBA dogdom mourns the death of one of its feature members, in the late Mr. John Stokes, of the noted "Cambusnethan" prefix, which word has been associated with many of Western Canada's foremost Collies, which breed had a place close to the heart of Johnnie Stokes ever since the days when the Collies, of the late Robert Tait, Wishaw, Scotland, were to be met on the streets of Wishaw—the nearest town, to his birth place. Collies like "Ch. Wishaw Clinker" and "Ch. Wishaw Leader", made Wishaw folks Collie conscious with a consciousness that continued through life in many instances. It was from Mr. Tait, that Mr. Stokes purchased the Collie "Wishaw Rose" back in the early summer of 1923 and "Rose" was really a "Wishaw" bred Collie if ever there was such a thing and it was from this Tait bitch that came "Cambusnethan's" best Collies. Like "Wishaw Sweet Memory" "Ch. Cambusnethan Model" "Cambusnethan Rose" and her son by "Ch. Elmhill Jupiter", "Ch. Lord Clyde II". As a puppy

THE HOME OF SAINTS REST KENNELS

We are able to offer to a few discriminating Boston fanciers, some lovely young pups, who are double-crosses and triple-crosses of outstanding International Champions. Their bloodlines are the answer to any sincere Boston Breeder's prayer.

FOR HONOR, NOT FOR PROFIT

SAINTS REST is continuing its policy of "proving" the high quality of its show-type broods right in the show ring.

"Saints Rest Tiny Ace", Best of Winners at the 1938 Toronto Specialty Show, has recently competed at numerous AKC point-shows in the U.S.A. These were not "picked" shows—she was campaigned without fear or favor.

From the 9th to the 27th of [October] 1939, at these U.S.A., point shows, she was awarded:

2nd in Non-Sporting Group	Best of Breed
Winners (three times)	Best of Winners
Reserve Winners (four times)	Best of Opposite Sex

It is possible that no Boston entered from Canada, has ever made such a satisfying record on an American Show-circuit covering such a short period of time.

"Saints Rest Tiny Ace" was bred by us. She is typical of the exceptional stock we are producing, and is truly representative of our ten show-type broods, seven of which were sired by International Champions.

Moreover, you can really depend on the legitimacy of their pedigrees, and they would go to you fully registered—not just "eligible".

If you like fine Bostons, drop in and see us or drop us a line. Remember, Bostons are a hobby with us, not a business.

"Lord Clyde II" was Best Canadian-bred and Best in Show. Those wins were made at Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club in 1935 and at Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club show this year. The great "Lord Clyde II" was again Best in Show, showing that he was a "laster", but he came from a great line of Collie stock. Mr. Stokes liked this Collie better than any other dog that he ever raised perhaps.

One of the ambitions cherished by Mr. Stokes was to take a home-bred Collie into the ring of a licenced show, handle it himself and to win the ribbon for best dog in show. This objective was reached at Regina in the spring of this year when his "Lord Clyde II" won the coveted honor with his master at the control.

Mr. Stokes died on Monday morning, November 13th, after having been a member of the Canadian Kennel Club since March, 1925. He was a popular figure in Winnipeg and his hospitable home was the mecca of visiting exhibitors, handlers and judges. Johnnie and the writer were both old Wishaw Academy school-mates and so his demise leaves sincere regret around this desk and to his widow we extend the sympathy of our readers.

ANOTHER good fancier has left our ranks, in the person of Morley E. Manning, Burlington, Ont., and forces us to feel that we are being robbed of too many good fanciers all at, or around the same time, and both East and West. In some respects Mr. Manning left the ranks a little differently than the others, for apparently he had been enjoying good health, and so his sudden collapse and regrettable death leaves us a trifle stunned.

Newfoundlands were Mr. Manning's favorite breed and his massive dog champion "Lola" had many staunch friends, this was an ever apparent condition if one may depend on hearty applause as an indication. When "Lola" would trot up and down the ring invariably she was given a big hand from the ringside. Mr. Manning joined the Canadian Kennel Club on June 5th, 1933, and was in good standing at the time of his death. To his family of sons and daughters we extend our sincere sympathy.

CONGRATULATIONS DR. GREIG

Cocker fanciers generally, and friends of Dr. Fraser M. Greig, Bracebridge, Ont., particularly have been wondering what has happened to the "Binscarth" Cockers recently and to clear this matter up satisfactorily now, we would say that Dr. Greig has been experiencing a busy year at post graduate work and studying, all of which has materialized in successful examinations recently and his fellowship has been completed and the degree of F.R.C.S. (C)—Fellowship Royal College of Surgeons (Canada)—now distinguishes the successful Bracebridge doctor who has as his hobby Cocker Spaniels better than the ordinary. We will soon have Dr. Greig back at the shows again and his activities will again be featured in the business columns of this magazine.

CAN HARRY DO IT AGAIN?

Harry Draper, Toronto, and his champion Yorkshire Terrier "Lord Byng" used to be the center of attraction at many shows when the Toy Group was being judged and both man and dog had many admirers. Mr. Draper had the secret of 'coat' and no doubt he has it yet and "Lord Byng" used to move about the show ring like an animated lady's muff, and was always subject to his master's control. Mr. Draper has been more or less inactive in Yorkshires in recent years, but he has moved to Holland Landing, Ont., and has been successful in gathering together a few good specimens, mostly from his favorite strains and he is all set to try and produce a second "Lord Byng", and we just wonder if he can do that again. The new address is Box 53, Holland Landing, Ont.

COLLIE CLUB OF AMERICA FUTURITY

When nominations for the Collie Club of America Futurity closed on October 22nd, it was found that a Futurity class of around 20 puppies of the 35 originally nominated will come together to grapple for the $100.00 guaranteed minimum prize money offered at the Western Reserve Kennel Club Show — The Cleveland classic. This money shouldn't be hard to take and the competition will be worth going a long way to see.

Notes From British Columbia

By MRS. H. E. FLETCHER,
6996 Dumbfries St., Vancouver, B.C.

MRS. DAVIDSON, of the "Tullock" Cocker Kennels at Victoria, advises that the black Cocker "Darkness of Moray" since becoming the property of Miss Lea Casper, of Virginia, has earned an American championship for his new owner in the short space of 13 days. Miss Lea has now acquired from Mrs. Davidson Ch. Dainty Charmer of Tullock.

Vancouver dogdom took the spotlight on Friday evening, October 20th, when the Alpha Delta Pi Kennel Club put on a show in aid of the Red Cross. Director Mr. Irving was a busy man, and second vice-president Mr. Pym was the perfect master of ceremonies, and announced the various winners over the public address system. The highlight of the fixture was unquestionably "The Parade of the Nations", and here the services of Miss Maud Pym and Mrs. Gladys Peers were commandeered to assist in making "both ends meet" when the competitors were being costumed. A stitch here, a safety pin there kept the tableau within due bounds.

As the national representatives entered from the "wings" the efficient master of ceremonies made all the necessary introductions and explanations painstakingly. The name of the country represented was called out, the national breed of dog, who owned the dog and the name of the handler, in the order of their appearance. The orchestra playing snatches of appropriate national music in each instance. The climax coming when "John Bull" and a Red Cross nurse came on together, bringing the large assembly to its feet. The line-up was Margaret Ball and Lillian Pym with a Scottish Terrier and a Collie, as being representative of Scotland. "Bunny" Finch and Florence Jamieson with a Corgi, representatives of Wales. Zinia Allen, with an Irish Wolfhound, and Mrs. Pat Burroughs with a Kerry Blue Terrier, featuring "Owld Oireland". Canada was represented by a Boy Scout and a Girl Guide with a pair of nice Beagles. Molly Field and an Afgan Hound represented Afganistan. Switzerland had Elinor Bossey and a St. Bernard. Spain, by Rika Wright, and a Pointer. The United States had capable representation from Pat Breman, and a Boston Terrier. Gwen Pym, with a Poodle took care of our Ally—France. Jasper Daniels and his Chihuahuas represented Mexico. Billy Wallace and a Hungarian Puli was Hungary. Your B.C. correspondent Mrs. Jean Fletcher with a Dalmatian, represented Dalmatia. Gertrude Pierson, the Red Cross nurse, had an Old English Sheep Dog, and Jonathan Davies, with an English Bulldog was the perfect John Bull. It was lots of fun, and I hope the Red Cross did benefit by the extravaganza.

That was a wrong address we gave you for Mary Pickford, and her Cockers, to have been correct we should have told you "2384 Kingsway". It was all my fault, so don't blame the "Chief".

NEW WESTMINSTER - B.C.

Fame, like slander, travels fast. Other news of the success attending the "Parade of All Nations" reached the ears of the New Westminster Kiwanis Club. So the dog game, and particularly pure-bred dogs got further boosting, when Mr. Pym took over the duty of presenting the feature already described to 4,000 people at the Kiwanis pageant, held on October 21st. Here, "our turn" was greatly improved when Mrs. Peers came out and saluted the pipe band who, after playing several selections, tuned up in a blood-tingling march, and at a given signal the rest led off the floor to the music of the pipes, and in step with the pipers. Mr. Pym, who never misses a chance to say a good word for dogdom generally, gave a very interesting discourse on the owning and caring for the pure-bred dog.

A newcomer to the ranks of pure-bred dogs in this province is the Dachshund "Punz of Little Farm", imported by Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Murray, Vancouver, from the kennels of Mrs. David Dodge of Denver, Colorado. "Punz" is by Ch. "Achat of Werderhavelstrand" and of Ch. "Bona of Little Farm", and so is a welcome addition to our Dachie colony hereabouts. We regret to record that Mr. Murray is still in hospital, and is only slowly mending, but we all hope that he will soon be back home again amongst his family, his flowers and his dogs. At present he is thrilled over the circumstances of a couple of Springers he sold to Mrs. Barton Sewell, California, who are winning high, wide and handsome, and both are nearing their American Kennel Club Championships.

A welcome visitor to B.C. was Mr. Christiansen, of Calgary, Alta., who was a guest at the Murray home recently. Mr. Christiansen is a trainer of sporting dogs, and he was purchasing a few to take back to the Prairies for that purpose.

Wally Wilgress, and his son, John, are having lots of sport on pheasants, and breaking in their Labrador bitch "Mandy".

Bill Egerton had a Spring Setter out on the Island one day, and he did not return empty handed either.

Another would-be hunter is Pat

Brennan, and he had the "beginner's luck" on opening day, when he got his full quota plus a couple of nice ducks. Pat and his brother Keith tell a good story of how they were sitting in their car waiting for the Ladner ferry to come in, when Pat said to Keith, "Gee, I wish an old cock bird would show his head up in that field over there". When lo and behold two heads popped up, bang! bang!—just as easy as that. Charlie Butler, Billy Oates, Cliff Lumb, Jack Forbes and lots of other good out o' doorsmen have enjoyed good sport, and good bags to boot.

"Tell it not in Gath." I was out myself trying my hand at the gun and I admit that the pheasants were around, for gosh sakes didn't I see them with my own eyes. Do you know I actually believe those birds were thumbing their noses at me. Oh, well, be that as it may. All I ask for is time to learn to hit something, then watch my smoke.

Mrs. Gilbert Anderson (to as—Ena Dodds) has been in the city for a few days, and she tells me that at her new home at Merrit, B.C., the game there is plentiful, and that "friend husband" and her have been enjoying lots of sport and plenty of luck on recent week-end shooting excursions.

Mackenzie Matheson, K.C., has imported a Shetland Sheepdog from the O'Page's Hill Kennels of W. D. Gallagher, this one is "Bunty of Bagaduci" and is a sable and white. She has only been shown once, and then it was in New York and in a class of 11, when she had the pick of the ribbons as her reward.

Mrs. Wood, of "Melita" Cairn fame, has sold her comely little Ch. "Mars of Melita" to Mrs. Mer. Winslow, Rhode Island, N.Y., for a nice sum.

A nice Fox Terrier from England now finds a comfortable climate to her liking at Joseph Dodds' Tynedale Kennels, this one is "Newmaidley Aurora", by Ch. Ravely Radiance ex "Newmaidley Idyll". The new-comer made the trip from England in 9 days flat, so that is something worth noting in these troublous times. Before leaving the Old Country she had a nice run of wins at such championship shows as Taunton, Bristol and Brighton. She was bred to Ch. "Whitecastle Conqueror" before shipping, but unfortunately she has failed to prove in whelp! Mr. Dodds shipped his "Foxclaw of Tynedale", to Mr. Harris, at Honolulu, and has made other good sales recently.

Jack Meadows has lost his little pal, who was also Jack's best pal, in the Blue Roan Cocker "Smokie", who died on Armistice Day, Nov. 11th. Smokie came from the kennels of Raymond Tyrwhitt, at Oakville, Ont.

On November 7th Vancouver folks got a real thrill when the movie "Kennel Kings" came to a local picture house. This great canine epic was filmed at the Morris and Essex Show, N.Y., and when it comes to your town don't allow anything to stand in the way of your seeing it. This film gives one a comprehensive idea of the vastness which is the Morris and Essex Dog Show Grounds. The picture features our own "Billy" Pym giving the finishing touches to the six group winners which came before him to be judged for the very best one of the 6, and we were all loud in our praise

THE ENGLISH SETTER - TESS O'GOWRIE

THE DUAL PURPOSE ENGLISH SETTER TESS O'GOWRIE

TESS O'GOWRIE is an ideal dual purpose female that is bred right and THAT LOOKS RIGHT on the Show Bench or in the Hunting Field, and she is one of the most perfect moving English Setters alive. This female's progeny are now doing their fair share to bring British Columbia English Setters back to their formerly conceded eminence.

TESS O'GOWRIE is positively NOT FOR SALE but there may be a good puppy or two for discriminating disposal in the Spring, and such will have for their sire a dual purpose dog of real merit.

Wishing Kennel and Bench readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year, and may they all breed a champion in 1940.

W. H. PYM

736 GRANVILLE STREET, VANCOUVER, B.C., CANADA

for "Kennel Kings" and really proud of our Mr. Pym, who related a few interesting facts about each of the group representatives, and also about the comfort of the thousands of cars finding parking space without fuss or trouble of any kind, and how the crowd seemed to come all at once. They dispersed the same way at the close of the show. About the "feeding of the multitude", that would appear to be an impossibility under ordinary circumstances, but at the Morris and Essex it is simply "one more meal" and, in a large sense, a complimentary meal at that. About the personal contacts between Mr. and Mrs. Dodge, and their guests for the day, who are the exhibitors and general public. About the judges that come from the four corners of the earth to judge the "Kennel Kings" at the Morris and Essex Show. I have a little bit of change to bet that this province will be represented at the Morris and Essex by an increasing number of fanciers each year in the future—and I hope that I will be one of them.

May I extend to Miss Lillian Hickling, and her mother, the sincere sympathy of all readers of Kennel and Bench, on the death of Mr. Hickling. He was coroner of Nanaimo, and one of the town's leading citizens, and of course he was keenly interested in Lillian's dogs over a great number of years.

At Seattle Kennel Club Show held on November 18th and 19th, dogs from B.C. made their presence felt right down through the competition.

Best in show was won by Mel. Willgress' English Setter, "Melrenes Precious Jewel", whose dam "Christmas

Bell" was bred by Wally Willgress, Vancouver, whose grandsire is Ch. Shiplake Challenge, "Jewel" has been sold to Mrs. Taaffe, California, who also is the owner of "Shiplake Sandy", an English Setter secured from Wally Willgress during the summer of this year. "Sandy" has been securing for himself some Best of Breed ribbons in California.

Best Toy was won by John Rose's,

Vancouver, Yorkshire Terrier Ch. "Little Jetsom", handled by Vic Williams. This was a win that had a large ringside cheering enthusiastically.

Canadian owned dogs faring well were the Cairn Terrier Ch. "Sue of Twobees", who went to "Winners Bitch". This one is owned by Mrs. L. M. Wood, of Victoria. A feature of the show was the oil painted Scottish scene which formed the background of Mrs. Wood's exhibit of 6 Cairns, and to make the effect what it was intended to be, it was embellished with Scotch heather and bracken. The painting was the work of Mrs. Drummond Davies, Victoria.

Miss Billett's, Victoria, West Highland White Terrier Ch. "Edgerstoune Workman", won for Best of Breed and this one found a new home in the U.S.A.

Leslie Cameron, of Whonach, B.C., went to winners with his Dachshund "Benno von Plater Schulhaus".

The Cairn Terrier "Hailybury Sparrow" owned by Mrs. S. C. Sweeney, Vancouver, went to Best of Breed.

Another Best of Breed winner was the Poodle Ch. "Blakeen Perfection", owned by Mrs. B. Davidson, Victoria.

Mrs. Wally Bowdens, Victoria, Sealyham Ch. "Robin Hill Night Flight" finished at the Best of Breed station too.

Reserve winners with the Scottish Terrier "Heatherbelle Lady Scot", was a well contested win which came to Miss Hyacinth Harfield of Victoria.

Reserve winners to Mr. and Mrs. Stan. Dainard's Cocker (English) dog "Alberstan Autumn Shades".

MRS. R. DAWSON

In Cocker (English) bitches Mrs. McKinnon's, Vancouver, "Mount Joy Lucky Chance" went to winners.

McKenzie Matheson's Shetland Sheepdog "Caulfield Silver Lady" took the winners ribbon for her sex:

Vic. Williams, Vancouver, Wire Fox Terrier "Alert of Connaught" had a real battle on his hands when struggling through the hectic competition, but he was obliged to pull up at the reserve winners station at the finish.

In Irish Setters, Jack Forbes' Vancouver, Ch. "Strathbogie Red Mae", won reserve winners dogs.

Oh, yes, very likely I will have overlooked one, or maybe two—I hope not, anyway I did my best to catch 'em all. But there is one thing more I must mention, and that is the Tacoma Cocker Specialty Show on November 5th. The Alberstan Cockers of Mr. and Mrs. Dainard had a field day, when "Albertan Autumn Shades" won for best Cocker (English) and then the best opposite sex in show. Winners bitches went to their Ch. "Aberstan Wildflower".

Well, folks, this will be the last notes that I will write for this year. And I would just like to take this opportunity to tell you that I have really and truly enjoyed being your correspondent, but I must add that it is a very thankless task too. And it is quite impossible to please everyone. I have, honestly, tried to please you all, and in that respect I have no regrets. It is sometimes quite funny when people phone me to tell me that "I forgot this," or that "I forgot that". One has to have a well-developed sense of humour to get the most out of such nonsense, but I did NOT forget anything at all, nor is anything forgotten, but the "blue pencil" could tell the whole story. This has been a lengthy chapter, but when it eventually appears it will be incomplete to a certain extent, I'm quite sure of that, nevertheless. I wish you one and all a very joyous Yuletide and a Happy and Prosperous New Year. God bless you all—but don't forget that I will want some more news for the January issue.

(You have been a great little correspondent, Mrs. Fletcher, and we have enjoyed receiving your notes. We have been obliged to use the "blue pencil" from time to time, but you will admit that such things as matings, whelpings, sanction show reports and such like have little or no general interest, and it is just such items as these that run foul of the "blue pencil". We do sincerely wish your fans and yourself the Season's Greetings. Editor's note.)

DID I TELL YOU ABOUT MY WORMING?

Me—I was "sick as a pup." And there was the Master poring over the Sergeant's DOG BOOK. "Say!" he says. "You've got worms! Let's get 'em!" So—I go without dinner—and next day I get a capsule.

"Hmm," I says. "A Sergeant's PUPPY CAPSULE, eh?" "No," he says, "you're a big dog now. It's a SURE-SHOT CAPSULE—death on worms too!" It worked! I'm a new dog—thanks to that DOG BOOK! Get yours free at a drug or pet store, or with this coupon!

Notes From Saskatchewan

By MRS. W. M. KING,

2170 Hamilton St., Regina, Sask.

FIRST, let me say that I am obliged to W. A. Childs for several news items of interest to Kennel and Bench readers. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Randall have slowed up on English Setters and are now kenneling some choice Cocker Spaniels, blacks and reds. A. E. Danby, Wakaw, keeps bringing out the odd good Airedales. After several years away from the shows he clicked with a Best Dog in Show at Saskatoon this summer. Mr. Danby has not been in the best of health recently, so here's hoping for a steady improvement in that direction. Dr. Margaret French has been re-elected Secretary of Saskatoon Kennel Club for 1939-40, and Robert Hogg again taken up the Presidency. It has been a neck and neck race between Dr. French and Mr. Hogg in the making of most champions. Dr. Cooper is raising a good crop of young collies and at Saskatoon Kennel Club Spring Show, the genial Doctor benched no less than 8 good specimens, all in tip top condition, with exceptionally heavy coats. This collection made a nice display and elicited lots of complimentary remarks from other exhibitors and from the general public. Some of the "old Guard" are taking a new lease of interest in the Saskatoon Kennel Club and such men as Sam Watson, (a former Secretary) Don Sampson turned up at the last Club meeting. Ben Percy and Vic Harrison are in Vancouver and we feel that it is rather tough for us to lose such good members. Saskatoon Kennel Club will feature "judging contests" at its meetings this winter and Irish Terriers and Irish Setters will be the favored breeds to take the spotlight first. After the judging, questions will be invited, so that both the dogs and the judges will be "on the spot".—Thank you very much Mr. Childs for the foregoing newsy bits. I do appreciate your help.

George Roast was busy when the members of one of the New York hockey teams toured Western Canada recently and sold 4 of the team a dog each and one of the four dogs was the Cocker Spaniel "Game of The Woods", which was adopted by Charlie Connacher.

Well cheerio folks and I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Notes From Alberta

By H. P. SAUNDERS,
1010-4th Ave. N.W., Calgary, Alta.

One of the special features of the Children's Hospital Aid Society of Calgary, was the trained dog exhibition managed splendidly by Sgt. Cawsey, of the Royal North West Mounted. The German Shepherd dog, "Dale of Cawsalta", under the sergeant's direction, gave a spell-binding demonstration of what was required from a police trained dog in the discharge of its duties. The entertainment was as educational as it was interesting and the hour taken up by the demonstration was one of the most satisfying hours of the whole show.

Joseph Murphy, Trochu, a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, had his Labrador Retriever, Ch. "Dusky of Westmore", at the show and finished the honors there.

Edmonton's contingent included J. H. Tanton, "Billy" Quilly, Leonard Horncastle, J. E. Benson and J. S. and Mrs. Grant and they all shared well in the spoils of competition.

George Pickering, the specialist at the Bird Sanctuary, was a newcomer to the shows hereabouts and his Great Dane cleaned up in his classes.

Medicine Hat sent along N. B. Grayson, Jack Goff and Bill Burrows, each vying with 'tother to win the greatest number of prizes to take back home with them.

Tribute must be paid to Mrs. Johnson and to Mrs. Jullien for their ample contribution to the success of the C.H.A.S. show under the direction of superintendent Mr. Brereton. They labored ungrudgingly and consistently and so smoothly did they keep the machinery running that the classes were always in readiness for the ring so that there were none of the usual provoking and unnecessary delays. Their brand of help means so much all round and particularly is it appreciated by the exhibitors and the judge. We could do with lots more of this kind of practical assistance.

The Scottish Terrier, Ch. "Braw Lad II", bred in Calgary, at the Kennels of Lt.-Col. Ritchie, covered himself with glory when he won for best of breed at Joplin show recently. His new owners are Cove Kennels at St. Joseph, Missouri.

John E. Hunter had a good innings at the recent C.H.A.S. show when his "Calgaree" was tagged on the 1st prize winning Scottie puppy, "Calgaree Royal Scot" (Male) and the same honor with "Calgaree Royal Queen" in the female section, a brother and sister by Ch. "Tayside Rob Roy" ex "Calgaree Hunters Penelope". The male taking reserve winners.

Your Alberta correspondent wishes all readers the compliments of the season and requests the co-operation of all Albertan fanciers in making this column representative of Alberta.

Notes From Manitoba

By MRS. J. L. PATEMAN,
836 Henderson Ave., East
Kildonan, Man.

THE annual meeting of the Gun Dog Club of Manitoba was held on November 10th, when President Glen McDonald welcomed a goodly turnout of the Club's members and friends. Alex Gostick delivered an address on the Trials at Melita and at the conclusion, those attending were thrilled when the Club's Trials were relived on the screen and particularly the latter event, which was shown in color and the photographer's "Bud Nye" and J. E. Tulloch certainly earned the plaudits of the meeting. The film portraying the 1937 Trial, when compared with the 1939 recording indicated very definitely the improved efforts to make the sport appealing to sportsmen, their dogs and also to the general public. After the showing of the films the President presented the Club's trophies and cups to the winners of the various Field events.

I must pause to mention the passing of John Stokes, who was known to a legion of friends as Johnnie. He was a keen exhibitor at our Western Shows for many years and his jovial personality is going to be missed greatly. At all club meetings he was generous and wise in counsel and his advice was always given in the interest of the dog game as a whole, there was not a selfish thought in his make-up. Maybe there are fine dog lovers, maybe some are as fine as Johnnie Stokes was, but there never can be any finer.

At the time of writing I am "up to my ears" preparing for the forthcoming show of the Fort Garry Kennel Club, but the arrangements have at last been almost completed. The lady members are untiring in their efforts to solicit special prizes and to sell advance tickets and all that remains to assure success is to attract a large entry of good dogs. In the event of the show being a success financially a proportionate share of the profits will be donated to the Red Cross.

OAKLAND KENNELS WIN C.K.C. CUP

A. V. Martin, of the "Oakland" Collie Kennels, Halifax, N.S. is appreciative of winning the Canadian Kennel Club cup for best Canadian-bred and spreads the honour over a large area of incidentals associated with the win, such as the winning dog being one of his own breeding. At the show where he won the cup, the dog completed his championship. The award was made by "Reg" P. Sparkes, President of the Canadian Kennel Club. And on the very same day, but at another show altogether a good son of the cup winner won Best of Breed and 3rd in Working Group. And another thing, on the same day Mr. Martin's noted bitch "Saint Adrian Sedena" also finished her championship, so no wonder the C.K.C. cup is cherished by Mr. Martin.

AND NOT ONE SINGLE COMPLAINT

Saturday afternoon, October 28th, marked the occasion of the Specialty show of the Shepherd Dog Club of Canada and the event took place at the country estate of Marshall and Mrs. Soules, at Oakville, Ont. and replaced the fixture that is generally associated with the National Kennel Club show, which has been called off this year because of war conditions. The entry totalled no less than 38 dogs, the competition was keen and the judging was well received, but, how that frigid wind blew in from Lake Ontario, it had a bite to it that kept nose-wipes busy all afternoon and those that withstood the ice cold wind lashing are entitled to a leather medal with a wooden string any day—and there was not a complaint.

Mr. and Mrs. Soules threw their palatial home wide open for the day, and their friendly acceptance of close to 100 people, all of whom were properly fed and 'watered', was something to be written into the records. The whole affair from beginning to end was up to Shepherd Dog Club Standard. Plus, the visitors and particularly the visitors from south of the border were loud in their praises of the sport and of the hospitality. Dr. Charles Hopkins, Rochester, N.Y., the judge on the day, gave a resumé of his findings of the dogs that came before him, and this criticism furnished the necessary appetite sharpener which was so noticeable during the supper hour. A rousing vote of thanks to the host and hostess was tendered most heartily.

OSHAWA BEAGLE CLUB

The sportsmen whose names appear on the roster of the above club, enjoyed a couple of days in the open spaces, on October 21st and 22nd, there was not any too much excitement during the trials because of weather conditions and scarcity of "bunnies", nevertheless the club considered the sport enjoyable and successful. The judges included the seasoned Ernest Varmee and he had the assistance of C. Gibson, Jack Osborne and Lloyd Courtice when scoring the efforts of the hounds. Prominent in the gallery was Gregory Clark, the inimitable feature writer of the Toronto Star, his wife and family and those who know 'Greg' know that he has a weakness for Beagles in action. The entry was down a trifle but that was a condition that had been anticipated. The 'tops' in the several stakes were distributed in such a manner, that the 'spread' included Grand Rapids, Mich., Hamilton and Oshawa, other entries came all the way from Montreal in the East to Windsor in the west. This sport of Beagling is developing slowly but surely.

One of the many transactions of the American Railway Express during the historic one hundredth year of its existence was the handling of the Guelph born Collie, "Strathisla Lady o' Sunderland", who is now in her new home at Denver, Colorado, "in the shadow of the Rocky Mountains". This good youngster is from the Strathisla Kennels of G. C. Fraser, Guelph, Ont.

LUCY DAWSON'S DOG BOOK

Here is a different book altogether and it is a new book just off the press as well. It is all drawings of dogs and explanatory information. From "Corky" who declares the book open, to "Azore"—who was included at the last moment—to declare it closed, there is a wealth of variety that is indeed appealing and satisfying. The book is really richly artistic and the contents come from the pencils of a gifted author. The book looks like a real Christmas specialty at the moment and it sells at $3.00.

Our Frontispiece

The front cover for this, our Christmas number, portrays an illustration of the first Bernese Mountain female dog to be imported to the United States. "Friday v. Haslenbach" was imported and is now owned by Glen L. Shadow of Ruston, Louisiana, U.S.A. According to those well qualified to pass on the qualities of this breed, "Friday" is the best female of her kind in the world. She was awarded the first prize of her breed in 1935 at the dog show in Basle, Switzerland. She also won the first prize "Excellent" and C.A.C.I.B., which is the highest championship certificate awarded on the continent of Europe. It is called the International Beauty Championship Certificate.

The Bernese Mountain dog is well-balanced, standing from 25 to 27 inches at the shoulder, bitches up to 25 inches; with jet black, silky and slightly wavy coat of medium length; white markings on chest, feet, tip of tail and on foreface; rich russet brown body and tail; with a brown spot over each eye, which may never be missing; dark brown eyes, which seem to invite trust; ears V-shaped and set on high, hanging close to head; flat, short broad muzzle; level mouth; long bushy tail or brush, carried low, slightly upward swirl permissible; compact, not too long body; muscular, straight fore-legs and well developed stifles; and an all around robust dog. This gives a fairly good picture of a really good specimen of the Bernese species of Swiss mountain dogs.

Writing on the Bernese Mountain Dog, Mr. Shadow has this to say:

"These dogs are very powerful and alert. They are excellent watch-dogs for homes and estates. I know of no other dog that has as much reasoning as does the Bernese dog. They are more or less the one-man type, but recognize all members of a family. They are quick to learn the servants and employees who are entitled to enter the premises, and understand readily when the master tells them it is permissible for certain persons to enter or not to enter. They are very loyal, in fact, are ready to fight for their master, whether it be a child or an adult. I know of no other dog that makes as fine a pet and companion for a child as does the Bernese dog. A puppy raised with a child is one of the best nurses and care-takers a child could have. No one could molest or carry off a child that one of these dogs has been raised with. They love to play, and are very affectionate. They are especially acclimated to higher, cooler climates, but do well in the South when their heavy coat is clipped at the approach of hot weather. They are very hearty and easily kept."

"Friday" and "Felix" are the only two imported dogs of this breed in the United States. At present there are ten puppies raised from this pair of dogs, several of which are for sale. Anyone wishing to purchase one of these puppies should address the enquiries to Mr. Glen L. Shadow, Ruston, Louisiana, who will be glad to furnish further information.

Friday is spelled "Friday" and pronounced "Free'dy".

WAR DOGS ON THE WESTERN FRONT

By ERIC HARDY, F.Z.S.

Once more the war-dog is at the front, facing all the horrors and heroisms of 1914-1918 over again. We thought that the mechanisation of the modern armies put the end to the use of dumb animals in warfare, but the new war has found a use for them, and in the recent activity on the Western Front they have played an important part in the Maginot and Siegfried lines. The Poles also used them in the earlier stages of the war when well-trained Polish Alsations carried first-aid equipment and helped lay communication wires.

No fewer than a dozen different breeds of dogs have been reported in use on the Western Front, and the most interesting have been the watch-dogs of the Maginot Line—the Alsations, Groenendaels, and the Malinoes, used by the French observation corps to detect and give the alarm of any approaching patrols or enemy attacks across No Man's Land. It is suggested that these are also used to give additional warnings of enemy planes, but this is not a very likely use for them under the conditions of modern warfare.

The Alsation is working near its native Alsace, where for generations it has been the watchdog guarding the flocks of sheep against marauding wolves.

Breeds with a keen sense of smell are used by the Army Medical Corps during the night patrols in No Man's Land in search of the dead and wounded, while others carry first-aid equipment attached to their collars and shoulder harness. Greyhounds, Deerhounds and Wolfhounds, all strong and fast breeds, are used by patrols and advanced guards to send messages back to their bases, to lay communication lines, and for general communication over dangerous territory where enemy activity makes it impossible for despatch riders to stand much chance of getting through, and where a soldier squirming along on the ground would be too slow. There is also a fifth use, chiefly for large, heavy breeds like the St. Bernards, Great Danes and Alaskas which pull the small dog-carts in peace-time Central Europe, and are now adopted for the transport of food, medical supplies, and in the hills, ammunition and dismembered parts of field guns or other equipment.

The war-dog has certainly a very busy time in the present war, and both Keeshonds and Spaniels were in a batch of dogs accompanying a party of stretcher-bearers on the Western Front near the Maginot Line. Attempts to single out special breeds used in the war and shown upon the official photographs received from the Ministry of Information are difficult, for apart from the easily recognized Alsations and Great Danes, most of the dogs are of a mongrel type, heavy and strong of build. As they are selected for work and ability rather than fine show points, it is only natural that they have not the finer perfections of the show-bench animals.

Even the Soviet's Red Army is equipped with well-trained Alsations

Many animal-lovers would wish military science could substitute a mechanical replacement of the dog in war, but so far as the present fighting is concerned, he seems to have a very active part to play.
