Meeting of THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS of the Canadian Kennel Club, Inc. Held December 14th, 1939

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club, Inc., was held in the Board Room of the Club's offices, 25 Melinda St., Toronto, Ont., on Thursday, December 14th, 1939, at 2 o'clock P.M. The President, Reg. P. Sparkes, presided. Directors present included: Capt. H. Dudley-Waters, Mrs. E. Brown, Dr. H. E. Batt, B. W. Essery, W. McDerment and W. J. Risewick. It was regularly moved by Mrs. Brown, seconded by Dr. Batt and carried:

"That the Minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on November 16th be adopted as read."

The Secretary reported that since the last meeting of the Board, the Club had lost several of the members by death and named Major E. Ward Wright, K.C., Toronto, John Stokes, Winnipeg, and Morley Manning, Burlington, and that good friend of the Club, George Rothwell, Ottawa.

The Secretary reported that the Deputy Minister had advised that Article 16A Identification applied to all dogs registered as his or her property on and after September 1st, 1939, which made identification a definite requirement for all dogs registered in Canada. Exemption had not been made under the Constitution for dogs of solid color, although the Chart method could hardly be regarded as identification, but since the Constitution had not been made clear in that respect he agreed that such registration could not be denied. The dividing of Cocker Spaniels into two breeds was a matter of far reaching action and likely to involve difficulty in the determination of eligibility for registration by seriously affecting the status of dogs with breeding hitherto recognized as eligible.

The Directors agreed that imported dogs should be identified, Dr. Batt advising that he would hesitate to tattoo for identification an imported adult dog fearing the possible consequences of such an operation and he suggested that a breeder who had chosen the tattoo method of identification but who, for cause such as he had mentioned, should be permitted to adopt one of the other methods to identify dogs he might import. The Secretary was instructed to take this matter up with the Department.

A letter was read from the Canadian Patriotic Dog Fanciers' Show requesting the date Saturday, January 13th, for the purpose of holding an all-breed Show in Toronto. It was agreed that the granting of this date was automatic in view of a resolution previously passed by the Directors.

E. E. Armbrust, Sandy Falls, Ont.; D. R. Feetham, 19 Alberta Ave., Toronto, Ont.; James D. Griffin, Rockport, Ont.; H. J. Townsend & Allister MacDonald, Louisburg, N.S.; White-side & Gorth, 55 Isabel St., Winnipeg, Man.

And it was regularly moved by Mrs. Brown, seconded by Mr. Essery and carried:

"That the applicants be received as members."

The following Sanction Shows were ratified:

December 16th, 1939—Vancouver Whippet Association.

February 2nd, 1940—Supreme Boston Terrier Fanciers.

The Secretary reported that since the September meeting of the Directors, $249.60 had been collected on unpaid advertising accounts. The accounts still unpaid were reviewed and instructions regarding collection were given.

The Secretary submitted two proposed amendments which had come from Directors Mrs. J. L. Pateman, Winnipeg, and it was agreed that the matter of restoring donations to Clubs, and rules covering Children's classes, be referred to the Board of Directors on Friday, February 9th, 1940, for attention.

The President agreed to sponsor proposed changes to Article II—Amendments of the Constitution, also

Dog Show Rule 1—Listing, Registration and Transfer Fees.

The matter of proposed amendment to "Obedience Test Trials" as submitted by Mr. Jasper M. Daniels, Lynnmour, B.C., President of the Doberman Pinscher Club of B.C., was considered, and it was agreed that in view of the fact that Field Trial Rules had already been approved of by the Canadian Kennel Club, that the Clubs interested be required to come together and prepare for amendment, where necessary, one uniform set of rules to furnish complete coverage for Obedience Test Trials in Canada.

It was regularly moved by Mr. Risewick, seconded by Dr. Batt, and carried:

"That the usual amount be distributed at Christmas."

It was moved that this meeting do now adjourn (4.30 p.m.).

WHAT IS THIS?

Whilst scanning "The Star Weekly" for December 23rd, an old weakness of ours attracted us to Charles "Horses" Ayers column on page 8—"Straight, Place, Show" where the knowing "Charlie" was exhorting horsemen and grooms to play Santa Claus to "Old Dobbin" with extra fine carrots, a bag of lump sugar and a nice big red apple or two, or even an extra quart of oats and we thought that was fine of Mr. Ayers and it was too, but here is what followed. Read it for yourself:

"The most interesting piece of news we received during the week was that "Alf" Loveridge, one of America's top handlers of show dogs, has entered the sport of kings . . . Loveridge has purchased a yearling chestnut colt by Bad News Bob out of Lady Vixen from Miss Doreen McFaul of Alton, Ont. . . The youngster has been tagged, My Fancy . . . At present the son of Bad News Bob is stabled at Bill Risewick's Pine Ridge farm . . . Trainer Phil Rose, who conditions the horses of the Ravina stable, will be in charge of the Loveridge juvenile. * * *

"It might be of interest to know that Loveridge has to his credit the honor of piloting the Canadian-owned Old English sheep dog, international champion Ideal Weather, to the "best in show" for all breeds at the famous Morris and Essex, largest one-day dog show in the world . . . He also handled the international champion Pilot of Crombie, for Dr. A. A. Mitten of Philadelphia. The latter being an English setter. . . Loveridge will be a welcome addition to the ranks of owners." * * *

We believe that My Fancy is eligible for the Kings Plate in the Spring of 1940. So keep your fingers crossed folks and don't forget the name, not where you picked up the tip.

STARTING THE NEW YEAR RIGHT

THANKS to a robust feeling of patriotism which literally can be felt, heard and seen everywhere throughout the Empire. The dog loving fanciers of Toronto and surrounding cities have pooled their interests in such a way that there has come into being an organization bearing the warm name of the Canadian Dog Fanciers' Show and it can be taken for granted that this new body is an aggressive, progressive aggregation of men and women who have determined to keep the dog show banner flying at topmast hereabouts and for the worthiest of all worthy causes, i.e., The Canadian Red Cross Society.

The date Saturday, January 13th, has been taken for an all-breed dog show to be held in the Hurndall Building, 7-9 Duke Street, Toronto (near Jarvis Street). This will be a championship point show and it is felt that it will, in some measure, offset the disappointment created by the inability of the National Kennel Club to hold its annual show in 1939, on account of the Government having taken over the use of the larger buildings for training purposes. Much of the credit of leadership in conjunction with the activity has been conceded to F. H. Secretan, to Wm. McDerment and to Cameron Chisholm who have worked like trojans on the project.

The Judges Committee have prepared a slate of judicial talent that should attract a record entry. For the Sporting, Robert A. Ross, Montreal, P.Q., will take the Cocker Spaniels, E. D. McQuown, Springfield, Ohio, the remainder, with Walter H. Reeves, Belleville, Ont., caring for the Group. Sporting (Hounds) — Howard Erie, Stamford, Conn., will judge the Dachshunde, Mr. Ross the remainder. The Group to Mr. McQuown. Working — Col. J. N. MacRae, Galt, Ont., will take care of the German Shepherds, the balance to Mr. Reeves, with the Group to Mr. Ross. Terriers — Wire-hair and smooth-hair Fox Terriers to Dr. C. R. Boulding, Aurora, Ont., the remainder to Mr. Reeves and the Group to Mr. Ross. Toys are in the sole charge of Mrs. Robert Stein, Chicago, Ill., and she will also judge the Toy Group. Non-Sporting — The Boston entry will have the services of Henry C. Neitzel, Detroit, Mich., with the remainder to Mr. Reeves and the Group to Mr. McQuown.

The judging of General Specials and Best in Show will be the responsibility of Mr. McQuown.

The foregoing slate will attract the entries from far and near and when it is considered that the entry fee is only $2.00 with the very attractive 50 cent fee for subsequent entries of the same dog, the building which we understand is new, commodious and therefore attractive, should be taxed to the limit. Then there is the special medal commemorative of this fixture particularly that every owner of any dog, good enough to enter the competition, will want to win. Not the least of a host of appealing prizes will be the attractive "ten gallon" special prize offered by the British American Oil Company. This prize is ten gallons of Peerless Ethyl gasoline to each dog winning a first prize in each class where two or more are entered. Yes, these wonderful offerings go right through the breed classes, The British American Oil Company having set aside no less than 5000 gallons of gasoline for this purpose. Some of the larger exhibitors should have no gas bills to pay for this side of Victoria Day. The Robert Simpson Company Ltd., has donated the Trophy for Best in Show. The T. Eaton Company donates the Trophies for the 6 Group winners. Eastman Kodak Company donates the special prize for Reserve Best in Show. Fifty silver and 100 bronze medallions have been donated by Birks-Ellis-Ryrie Ltd., and etc., etc. The use of the building, owned by the Leland Electric Canada, Ltd., has been donated by Mr. Hurn-dall.

See the inside back cover of this issue for further particulars.

Make sure of getting a premium list. This is very important. If you are a "regular" you will get one sent to you, but don't take any chances. You write to Wm. McDerment, Patriotic Dog Fanciers' Show Secretary, 304 Central Building, 45 Richmond Street West, Toronto, Ont., and ask him to send you a copy and if you are entering several dogs ask him to send you extra entry forms.

Give your dog a chance to do his bit for The Canadian Red Cross Society—he'll like it.

"BOTTLE BABIES"

By DR. CHARLES E. CROWE

(Courtesy—The American Field)

ONE certainly has a herculean task on his hands if on his arrival at the kennel some fine cold morning he finds that his best brood bitch has given birth to a large litter of puppies and for one reason or another she is unable to care for them. Ways and means must be found immediately to care for the litter. We have on several occasions had the experience of rearing motherless puppies, but the one incident in our experience that will be of most interest to our readers, we believe, was the raising of a litter of puppies whelped by a pointer a few years ago.

"Old Rose" was a kind, intelligent, affectionate bitch to those she knew, but rather hard to make up with and more or less resentful of those she did not know. She had successfully raised several litters of puppies, was an exceptionally fine mother and on previous occasions had raised from six to nine puppies per litter. During her pregnancy we saw to it that she was fed a good, mixed diet, with plenty of fresh raw beef, bones to gnaw upon, some cod liver oil daily and that she was given exercise daily, though hardly enough to prevent her from putting on considerable fat. A few days before parturition was due, she, like most matrons, fussed around making a bed, tearing up papers and pushing them into small piles, acting more or less restless and seeming to anticipate the coming event, and by her expression wishing it would hurry along and be over with.

About the second day after she was noticed to be making a bed, the first slight labor pains were noted, there being just a hardly noticeable contraction of the abdominal walls. At this time the bitch was placed in a clear large room, in the corner of which was placed several large, washed burlap sacks which had been ripped open so as to cover more floor space. The labor pains increased in frequency and intensity during the next one and one-half to two hours, during which time the bitch was only casually observed so as not to distract her. After several hard contractions of the abdominal muscles the first puppy was expelled hanging to the umbilical cord, which connected the puppy to the, as yet, undischarged afterbirth. We gently took hold of the umbilical cord and in a few moments, with slight traction and some help from the bitch, the afterbirth was expelled and placed out of reach of the bitch. While the eating of the afterbirths appears to be a quite natural procedure with carnivora, we do not approve of it when it can be helped, as in our opinion there will be less bowel disturbance if a large quantity of this tissue is not allowed to be eaten by the bitch. Especially is this so if parturition has been delayed and there is advanced decomposition of the afterbirth. Another reason for preventing the bitch from eating afterbirths is, in the case of large litters, the tendency of the bitch—especially towards the end of parturition—to overload her stomach, causing her to become lazy in her efforts to expel the remaining puppies.

After the first puppy of this litter was born and the afterbirth removed, the umbilical cord was severed about an inch and a half from its attachment to the puppy. The puppy was carefully wiped and dried and placed in a small box, away from the bitch, in another room where she could not hear it if it cried. Several flat quart bottles were filled with warm water and placed in the bottom of the box and then covered with a heavy bath towel to help retain the heat in the bottles and to keep the puppies warm. These puppies were born in January and the temperature at the time was below zero.

We just about had things arranged for the comfort of the first puppy when No. 2 puppy arrived; the same procedure was gone through as with the first puppy. As it was nearly midnight we became a little sleepy and dozed off for about half an hour, only to wake and find that two more puppies had been born. The bitch was licking and drying them off the best she could. The little fellows had lots of life, but were somewhat cold. After the birth of these two puppies we were not sure whether the afterbirths had been eaten or retained; however, as more puppies were to be born we felt that the afterbirths belonging to the newly-born puppies, if retained, would be expelled when the next puppy, from that born of the uterus, was expelled. This is usually the case, but exceptions are common. We were up about all night assisting in the birth of these puppies and along about 8 o'clock the next morning the last of ten puppies was born. We felt that the bitch had done a fine job of delivering the puppies, as well as being in excellent condition at the end of it all, and had acted most kindly towards interference from us. After the last puppy was born she was allowed to go out for a few minutes and while she was out all of the puppies were placed in a nice clean bed to greet her upon her return. She nosed them over, licked them a little and cuddled up to them, accepting one and all. We helped the little fellows, which weighed about one pound apiece when born, to find a teat and get them started nursing, but their dam seemed shortly to lose interest and left the corner and the puppies, laying down in another part of the room. This leaving the puppies seemed strange, especially so soon after the birth of the litter, but we thought little of it. We saw to it that the puppies were covered and allowed the bitch to be alone.

We laid down for several hours in the afternoon and upon arising and going in to see the newly-arrived family, found the bitch not looking so good. Wanting to be sure that she was not retaining any afterbirths that might possibly be having some effect on her health, we washed out the uterus and, to our surprise, five afterbirths were removed. Feeling that she surely would be all right now we left her with the puppies for about four hours. On our return we found her definitely sick, she was vomiting, had a dejected expression and some dilation of the pupils. She would not touch food and ignored the puppies entirely. We felt that she had a streptococcus infection and treated her as best we could, but after a most rapid decline, during which time she became extremely toxic, after another all-night vigil of watching and treatment she passed into a coma, dying during the forenoon. I thought about as much of this bitch as a man could about a dog. We worked hard to save her and her passing was a decided shock and loss.

In order to determine, if possible, the cause of her sudden demise, an autopsy was held and the report furnished the information that this bitch had a ruptured urinary bladder and a generalized peritonitis, a sequel to the rupture.

This bitch did not have a difficult parturition, her puppies were not large and everything moved along during the birth of the puppies about as smoothly as the most uncomplicated natural whelping could be expected to. Just why the bladder ruptured we do not know; we do know that the walls of her urinary bladder were very thin, unnaturally thin, and suspect that along towards the end of parturition the bladder filled with urine and ruptured during the contractions of the abdominal muscles which took place during the birth of one of the puppies.

At the time the bitch died these puppies were from twenty-four to thirty-six hours old and except for the very little milk one or two of the puppies had obtained from the bitch, an hour or so after their birth, they had had nothing to eat. We have always felt that it was not necessary for puppies to nurse immediately after birth and this experiment seems to prove our contention. The puppies, during this fasting period, were kept very warm and comfortable and had but little to grumble about, apparently, until they were about twenty-four hours old. After this time they became restless and did considerable crying. When we looked the little fellows over and failed to find a foster mother for them, we realized what a task confronted us in order to successfully care for ten one-pound hungry puppies.

In caring for these puppies and feeding them no fancy apparatus of any kind was used except that we supplied heat with an electric reflector heater. At first we procured three of those large egg crates, such as hold a dozen cartons of eggs. The top was left open, one side removed and ordinary fly screening tacked on in place of the wood. Some clean burlap was cut to fit the bottom of the boxes. One box was placed on top of the other, making them three high, with two puppies on each side of a center board in each box. A clean bag was placed over the top of the upper box and down the back of the boxes to prevent a draft. An electric heater was placed on the floor at the proper distance and directed towards the open-sided boxes to supply heat. This system worked very well, the puppies were kept warm and soon, when not more than four or five days old, they were fastening their sharp little toe nails into the wire, pulling themselves up the screen and sliding down the wire. In fact, they proceeded to do this so often that they wore the skin off their tender little noses. Because of this the wire was removed and thin wood slats substituted. After these puppies were ten days old, as they were growing so rapidly, one egg crate was used for two puppies. Each puppy was placed by itself in one-half of the crate, which was already partitioned. We separated them into individual compartments so as to be able to watch their bowel movements. When two or more puppies were together, one could not know which of the puppies was having bowel movements. Placing each puppy in single compartments enabled us to make sure that each puppy had at least one bowel movement daily. If not, three or four drops of castor oil were given. Most of the puppies had regular bowel movements and only two or three required oil.

In feeding these puppies we used an ordinary nursing bottle and regulation nipple; we fed nothing but pasteurized cow's milk, to which we added about four ounces of ordinary cream per quart of milk. No lime water, egg, prepared baby food or other substance was added. We got the puppies to nurse, at first, by opening their mouths and placing the nipple therein. Then, by gently pressing the jaws together, a small amount of milk would be released and as soon as each puppy tasted the milk it would attempt to suck the nipple. Some were a little slower than others, but all soon learned to suck, but not to open their mouths.

At first we tried to feed them every three hours and it took about all of our time. The ten puppies could be fed in about half an hour and each consumed about half an ounce of milk at each feeding. The milk was warmed to just a few degrees over body temperature, and the bottles and nipples were boiled several times daily. One night we noticed that the puppies were not taking the milk as usual, they would suck the nipple a few times and then spit it out. The thought came that perhaps we were going to have some sick or dead puppies in a few days, but upon examining the milk bottle we noticed that the milk was somewhat cold. We warmed the milk above body temperature and these puppies, which had been accustomed to drinking warm milk, started immediately to nurse as of old.

As the puppies grew older they, of course, consumed more milk, about one and a half ounces at each feeding when about eighteen days old. After the first ten days we fed them as often as we could, about three or four times daily, although we will admit that it was not often enough, judging by their voracious appetites at each feeding. They were so hungry and vigorous that it was difficult to keep the nipples in the mouths of some of them and some would suck the milk so fast, despite small holes in the nipple, that the milk would run out of their noses and choke them. We tried using a rack to hold the bottles, with the hope of saving time. It took about one and a half hours to feed them when two weeks old, but we never succeeded in holding more than two puppies at one time to the bottle and then it was a man-sized job to hold two and keep the nipples in their mouths.

When these puppies were about twenty days old we started them to lapping milk. Some began lapping about as soon as their noses were placed in the milk, while others took several days to learn, but every one of them took raw beef without rehearsal at the very first offer. This beef was obtained by scraping a piece of meat with a teaspoon and they would take it with avidity. (One would have thought that the puppies had been eating meat from the day they were born.) Some of the puppies that could not lap when twenty-days old, took meat without hesitancy as soon as it was placed within reach of their mouths. These puppies grew splendidly and gained about a pound or more a week after the first week for about three weeks, then about a pound and a half a week. After they started to lap, they were fed milk and, once daily, for a few days, a little scraped beef. After a few days the frequency of feeding and the amount of food were increased and cooked oatmeal, meat and milk were introduced, as well as some cod liver oil daily. We examined the fecal matter of these puppies several times after they were two weeks old, but could not find a single worm ova of any kind and none was found until the puppies were seven weeks of age, at which time we disposed of them.

These puppies were not born with worm larva in their bodies because the bitch during her pregnancy was free of intestinal worms and was kept in a worm-egg and worm-larva free enclosure. The puppies were not placed in a worm producing environment until after they had passed from our hands. During her pregnancy the bitch was fed a lot of fresh raw beef and bones and no doubt the good feeding was reflected in the splendid condition of the puppies during the first weeks of their lives. The diet of the bitch was not changed in any way during her entire pregnancy; she was fed mostly on fresh raw meat; the puppies were normal physically, with no hernias, goiters, cleft palates or harelips. The dewclaws of the puppies that had them were removed when they were two days old. Their eyes opened when they were fourteen to sixteen days of age, the blue opacity of the cornea remaining for several days and gradually disappearing.

We learned from this experiment that puppies can be raised until at least weaning time without becoming infected with intestinal worms; that strong puppies need not nurse for a number of hours after birth, provided they are kept warm and thoroughly dry; that it is good practice to watch the bitch during parturition in order to know something about the afterbirths; that no special formulas are, on the whole, required to feed puppies; that warmth is an essential, in our opinion, in rearing puppies, and that time and patience are invaluable to a "foster parent."

It was rather a trying, exasperating task, at times, to hand-raise this number of puppies along with other duties, but it was truly a worth-while and useful experience.

It is nothing unusual for puppies to be hand-raised on a bottle. In fact, we quoted the title for this article because the inimitable A. F. Hochwalt dubbed the litter by Kremlin—Myers Ruth "Bottle Babies", for Mrs. Chesley H. Harris reared "Worry Wart", "Norias Kremlin", "Alabama Scrambles" and the other puppies on a bottle—and their deeds have made bird dog history. In fact, Clyde Morton has used a foster mother and resorted to bottle-feeding for the puppies in the three litters out of the immortal "Lullaby".

IDENTIFYING YOUR DOGS

LAST month we furnished figures to show the trend followed by our members and other breeders in respect to their choice of identification methods. The table showed that 279 persons had chosen the nose-print method, 251 had chosen the tattoo method and 88 had chosen the chart method. We do hope that our figures were of some assistance to breeders and that the figures helped some of our readers to decide upon the methods which would be most satisfactory to themselves.

Having decided upon which of the three alternates, or combination of them, best suited to your particular needs in respect to identification you will be well on your way to conforming to the most recent legislation.

May we respectfully suggest at this moment the procedure to be followed immediately you have decided upon your chosen method. You will at once contact the Canadian National Live Stock Records office, Ottawa, Ont., and advise that department concerning your choice and from the Records office you will secure all necessary further assistance. If you are going to favor the nose-print method you will so advise the Records office, send 50 cents for nose-print ink and when the ink and papers reach you the rest will be easy. If you favor tattooing you will so advise the Records office and be allotted your own private tattoo letters. Then you will either purchase a tattooing outfit or borrow one and again you are ready to go to work. If it is charting you adopt, you will so advise the Records office and arrange for the necessary papers to take care of your chartings. In all three methods great care must be observed if the maximum of satisfaction is to be secured.

We do not pose as experts on any one of the three methods, nevertheless we dare to offer still further advice in an honest endeavor to be as helpful to our people as possible.

If you have chosen the nose-print method a little judicious practice will pay good dividends. You will soon find out that a black smudge is not a nose-print. If you will spread out evenly on a flat hard substance such as a piece of glass, just the tiniest portion of nose-print ink in such a way that it will only contact the nose and nothing else (no need to smear the dog's whiskers at all). When you have everything ready wipe off the dog's nose and apply the ink by slightly pressing it on the nose, then apply the paper firmly but not too heavily and see what you get. If you get one nice clear print, take the second print at once and without any further ink. We have an idea that desirable satisfaction will follow this suggested procedure. It may be conceded at once that nose-printing has already become popular with our breeders.

If it is tattooing that you favor your tattoo letters will cost you $1.00 if you are a member or $2.00 if you are a non-member. Then your tattoo pliers, letters, numerals, ink and papers will cost you $5.50 more if you are a member or $6.50 if you are a non-member. This outlay now includes everything you will require to tattoo your dogs for identification and this method is considered capable of giving the utmost in satisfaction.

With the tattoo outfit on hand it will be quite wise for you to practice handling the new tools on a piece of paper, and preferably a stiff paper. Blotting paper is ideal for this suggested practice. When you are sure of the procedure you intend to follow, you will then have it all in mind before you start and you should not meet with any trouble. The part to

I had my ideas, of course — but I took the pups to the Master to make sure. We looked up the symptoms in the Sergeant's DOG BOOK. "It's worms, all right," he says, "I never saw a litter yet that missed them. Good thing we have some Sergeant's PUPPY CAPSULES in the house!"

be tattooed should be thoroughly cleaned off properly and evenly inked. Take the pliers and mark the application for registration form on that part that has been prepared for that purpose, then mark the puppy or grown animal on that part of its skin where the hair is not too dense. Fox breeders have found the ear the most suitable and convenient place to carry the identification markings but this may not be the most desirable location in respect to dogs where so much may be at stake when a show animal is tattooed on the ear. So breeders, who prefer tattooing might be well advised to consider marking their dogs on the flank or on the belly. It should be understood thoroughly that breeders are only obliged to have their dogs marked practically and effectively to meet the requirements of The Live Stock Pedigree Act. Having marked the dog rub the ink well into the perforations made by your allotted letters, the number figure and the year letter, then give the dog his freedom. Don't start to worry over the markings you have made because when the dog has been marked in conformity to the instructions sent out with the tattoo outfit and the letter and figures properly placed there can be no mistakes. In a few days the excess ink will disappear and the tattoo markings will stand right out like the proverbial sore thumb. You will be amazed at the simplicity of any one of the three methods, any one of which will be recognized as "practical and effective".

It had been believed that the chart method would not be acceptable in the case of solid colored dogs but that is not so. The chart method can be used in connection with the registration of any dog. It has been found that tattooing is not altogether satisfactory when used to identify black coloured dogs and that has made it necessary to permit the use of an alternate method that will give satisfaction and here the nose-print or chart system will be a great convenience in actual practice.

We should not hesitate to adopt the method that we feel will serve our individual purpose best; the method that will offer the greatest measure of protective satisfaction in its application. And above all, as we gather experience in identifying our dogs, let us be willing to give such advice and assistance to others as our experience may justify. We can all be of some service to each other in this matter as in everything else worth while.

Christmas Numbers

THE AMERICAN KENNEL GAZETTE is, as usual, "tops" for quality and for quantity and the 222 pages is a credit to Editor Louis de Casanova who features our gifted Canadian writer, Anne Elizabeth Wilson—Mrs. Victor Blochin, of "Bencruachan" West Highland White Terrier fame to "Kennel and Bench" readers—by placing her article, "The Lost Dog Brings a Gift", in the van of a plentitude of appealing reading material. Three feature pages are to be found opposite pages 9, 25 and 32 and here the connoisseur with a flair for collecting tid bits will find a picture of the English Cocker Spaniel, Ch. "Blackmoor Barnabas of Giralda", from a painting by Ward Binks. Then the Dalmatian, Ch. "Tally-Ho-Serius", and the Scottish Deerhound, Ch. "Prophetic of Ross", with her son and daughter. Any one or all of the three choice illustrations mentioned are well worthy of framing.

Norman Hankinson's article, "Christmas Memories of Many Dogmen", takes Gazette readers close up to the shrines of famous English celebrities and leaves them there to contemplate on the foundations upon which present day dogdom has been built.

To get a real treat in Christmas reading, The American Kennel Gazette is an invitation to those interested to help themselves.

When a canine publication runs 6-16s, an 8 and cover, there is a total of 106 pages and that is the measure of the WESTERN DOG WORLD Christmas number which has come to hand sparkling in its new "bib and tucker"—the Christmas cover, which features the Dalmatian, Ch. "Four-in-Hand Mischief", and the Beagle, Ch. "River Park Smart Girl", the property of Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Meeker, El Monte, California. The two dogs are encircled in a holly wreath, replete with Christmas bow and everything, the ensemble being smart and snappy. The magazine sells at 20c but it is really worth much more than that. A nice number Helen Rosemont II. No wonder you are proud about it. So are we.

That good old timer, THE KENNEL REVIEW, comes back smiling with 110 pages of good reading and with plenty of pictures. When we consider this achievement in conjunction with other magazines down California way, we are obliged to notice that "his majesty the dog" is supreme in the land of the orange blossom. The "Kennel Review" seems to have lost some of the glamour pages which has hitherto been so noticeable in its Christmas issue. Nevertheless it is a genuine tribute to its Editor and his associates.

Still another Californian canine publication to feature the Yuletide Season is Jack Bradshaw's DOG CRAFT. Adds 58 pages more to our Christmas library and this gives us a total of 274 pages of Christmassy reading to come out of California this season.

Capt. Will Judy's "DOG WORLD" takes 132 pages to absorb the Christmas fare that it has to offer readers this Yuletide and at that the material

LOOK OUT FOR SMOKE

The Boston Terrier Club of Detroit has let itself in for praise or for censure and it will be labelled "sincere" or "swagger" on and after March 2nd and 3rd. The club is out flat-footed with the challenge that the Boston Terrier will top all breeds in numbers benched at the forthcoming Detroit show, a challenge that other specialty clubs is quite liable to accept, and so put the Detroit "Bostonians" "on the spot", as it were.

for the most part is set in 6 point so that really the feast is infinitely greater than the 132 figures would suggest. "Dog World" for December sells at 50c per copy and for those who like both quality and quantity for their money here is a real investment.

The latest Christmas Number to reach us at the moment of writing is the veteran of three wars, the South African, the Great War and as the Editor says so aptly, Hitler's war—"OUR DOGS"—England, and the pleasant surprise is all ours. We had not dared visualize the 1939 Christmas number of "Our Dogs" to be the "Big Budget" that it has always been. Nevertheless, we have received 276 pages that are all worth while. The "reviews" of noted fanciers—the old guard—are again featured. Articles by such writers as Will Hally and James Garrow. A colored insert featuring what is termed—"The British Mascot" is the great Bulldog, Ch. "Bosworth Queen", the property of Jimmy Knode. "Everyone knows Jimmy Knode never owes, pays like lightning and always wears a rose." We advise that our readers purchase the English Christmas magazines as they always have done.

FORTHCOMING SHOWS

When 1940 alights at our respective doorsteps on Monday, January 1st, let us be ready to bid the newcomer welcome with a capital W. because 1939 will pass out into history with much to be recorded and much to be regretted. The old year brought to the world a war that may yet be referred to as "The Second World War" and the circumstance has disturbed the affairs of the world generally and probably, particularly dog shows in all countries engaged in the conflict. However, the following list should have substantial support and no doubt it will have:

IN CANADA

Jan. 13th—Canadian Patriotic Dog Fanciers Show, at Toronto. Wm. McDerment, 197 Ashworth Ave., Toronto, Ont.

March 1st-2nd — Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club, at Winnipeg. T. A. Smith, 254 Dubuc St., Winnipeg, Man.

March 16th—Mount Royal Toy Dog Club, at Montreal (Toy Breeds only). Mrs. C. de P. Doniphan, 4047 Dorchester St. W., Montreal, Que.

IN THE UNITED STATES

February 11 — Associated Terrier Clubs, at New York.

February 12-14—Westminster Kennel Club, at New York.

February 18-19—Eastern Dog Club, at Boston.

February 24-25 — Kennel Club of Buffalo, at Buffalo.

March 2-3—Detroit Kennel Club, at Detroit.

March 30-31—International Kennel Club of Chicago, at Chicago.

Your Dogs NEED REX WHEAT GERM OIL

TO AID MAXIMUM PRODUCTION AND REDUCE BREEDING FAILURES

Many letters in our possession testify to the phenomenal results breeders have obtained with REX Wheat Germ Oil. Mrs. George C. Huhn, owner of Captivator Kennels, registered with the American Kennel Club for twenty years, writes . . . "My attention was called to Rex Wheat Germ Oil as a possible aid in getting larger litters. As you know, Shetland Sheepdogs are a miniature breed and their tendency is to produce small litters. The last litter I had previous to the use of Rex Oil was one lone puppy. Since feeding my bitches Rex Oil, I have secured three fine litters: one of five, and two of six puppies each. The puppies were all uniform and strong and I have never seen puppies thrive like them."

Are You Buying Vitamin E or Just Wheat Germ Oil

Tests conducted by an outstanding pharmaceutical laboratory on feeding various wheat germ oil to animals, produced startling results in favour of Rex Wheat Germ Oil. Write for details of these tests that show the high

Notes From British Columbia

By MRS. H. E. FLETCHER,
6996 Dumfries St., Vancouver, B.C.

AS this is the first issue of Kennel & Bench for 1940, I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the assistance I have received from so many fanciers during the past year. In writing a page for Kennel & Bench there are many things which must be kept in mind. First I must secure the new items from the fanciers; then sometimes we must condense the wordage to meet the allotted space. Last but by no means least, we are subject to the editorial blue pencil, as the editor must trim his sails to suit the wind as it costs real money to publish a magazine, even when news pages are supported with paid advertising matter.

Real fanciers are a grand lot of people and we aim to please them. We realize that we are subjected to criticism, sometimes fairly, at other times wrongfully—we never hope to reach perfection—but we do our best at all times and when we are fairly criticized we hasten to make amends, but when we are unfairly criticized we insist upon retaining our sense of humor. We do not even get annoyed at that "quirk of nature" that prompts the occasional person to send us anonymous communications criticizing everything connected with ourselves and the paper, because we have lived long enough to learn that folks who haven't the courage to sign their own names to their own communications can say more nasty things in a minute than we could answer in ten years, so we gently lay their missiles in the well known W.P.B., and smile. So now that we are in 1940, I send a smile to all of you, and hope you will let me have your news items early each month.

As 1939 drew to its close this province featured no less than four sanction shows, proving that this department of dogdom is in a healthy condition hereabouts. First came the Doberman Pincher Club of B.C. effort, when Judge Charles Butler found Stan. Cunningham's Inga Von Dorn to be best. Then came the show of the Duncan Dog Club, with an entry of around 50 dogs came before Jasper M. Daniels, who was gracing the "Woolsack" for the first time. He found his best specimen in Mrs. J. Clarke's (Victoria) English Setter "Mike". Third, was at Victoria, sponsored by the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Club, judged by Cliff Lumb. This show was held in aid of Red Cross work, and 75 dogs lent their assistance in making the fixture a success. Lastly, the B.C. Whippet Club brought the talent together in aid of the Free Animal Clinic. Stanley Dorrell and Mrs. Alsen shared the judging honors, and in the end it was found that Joe Dodds' Wire Fox Terrier "Gracie" was best in show, and a Pointer owned by Wm. Egerton best opposite sex.

The annual meeting of the Doberman Pincher Club of B.C. was held on December 4th. When reports submitted showed this enthusiastic club to be still on the up-grade. Jasper M. Daniels continues in the presidency, and that assures still continuing progress. Much could be learned to advantage from this club. At all shows the breed is brought out in goodly numbers, every dog has his name appearing over his bench, and it is comparatively easy to contact their owners.

We regret to learn that Stanley Dorrell has sold all his dogs, and for the present he is resting on his laurels, but if there is anything to the old chestnut "Once a dog fancier always a dog fancier," then Stan should be back into the game on both feet before very long. His association with so many fine Scottish Terriers and Sealyhams, his experience in breeding, exhibiting, importing, exporting, owning and selling should furnish chains of sufficient strength to keep him anchored to the sport, but we'll see.

Henry Christiansen, formerly of Calgary, is awaiting the arrival of his new Pointer Doctor Pilot (Ch. "Sir Pilot" ex Ch. "Meyers Tuttle") from the Wildfair Kennels, of L. D. Johnson, Albany, Ga. Mr. Christiansen is enthusiastic over the sport afield in this province.

We thought that it was only the fishermen that stretched their stories, but listen to this epic as told to me by our mutual friend the versatile Billy Oates. "One day I was out after ducks, and in my travels I noticed a flock of them in a field where half a dozen cows were lying around chewing their cuds. So I crept up behind one of these cows, and pushed her along to a suitable spot to where I could use her as a "blind" for the unsuspecting ducks at the opportune time. I let 'er go, bang! Just one shot, and when I went to pick 'em up there they lay 14 of 'em. I gave a couple to the warden, and still had my own dozen, so what do you think o' that?" I'll tell you what I think of it, Mr. Oates. I think that the disciples of "Nimrod" and of "Izaak Walton" would all make good material for the proposed B.C. Annanias Club.

Captain Plumb has been enjoying good hunting with his imported Gordon Setter "Kentucky's Bingo"—a breed that the Captain tells me he has many enquiries for—who is shaping up as a potential A1 dog for 1940.

The fanciers advise that sales are uncommonly good since war was declared, but why not? In times of trouble and distress many people turn to the dog—who is still man's best friend—for comfort and companionship. With the men folks flocking to the colors, the womenfolks learn to appreciate the value of a dependable dog in the home.

Mrs. Gladys Peers, of the Tralee

Kerry Blues reports a nice sale at a good price to Mrs. Macnab of Calgary. So we may see Canadian Kerry's out in force at the Morris & Essex this year, with a percentage from Western Canada.

Pat Brennan has had the misfortune to lose a splendid young Boston Terrier bitch which gave promise of being a rival to his Ch. Mushon Miss Step On. However, Pat has a few nice ones around that he is grooming for the spring and summer shows. His stock is showing the advantages of his importations.

Mrs. Hilda Brint is breeding some really fine Pekes, the pair she imported from the kennels of Mrs. R. Quigley, Lock Haven, Penna., have proven their worth in a big way, a granddaughter of the pair is now ready to take its place with the best available.

Some time ago we mentioned that Pat Brennan had taken his Griffon Mountview Red Shadow (Jacques de Poudre ex Red Mitzie of Malmo) to Seattle to a dog from the East. Well now, for the first time in many moons there are a bunch of baby Griffons, and one must see these little rascals to appreciate them.

Down at our own kennels we have the well known campaigner, the Doberman Ch. "Bosko von Oxbo", who came to us from the Oxbo Kennels of Sgt. F. C. Fuqua, Seattle, Wash.

So that being all the news available at the time of writing nothing remains but to pull down the blinds on 1939, and raise them on 1940 and to wish dog fanciers within the influence of Kennel & Bench A Bright and Happy New Year.

Notes From Alberta

By H. P. SAUNDERS,
1010-4th Ave. N.W., Calgary, Alta.

I WAS pleased to get a letter from my friend Ted Cargill of Vancouver, who had just returned from an extended trip and of course he looked up as many Cocker as his time permitted. Apparently he was most impressed with the dogs carrying the Windridge prefix, owned by that ardent fancier Miss Swallowell. These kennels specialize in reds, and have made many champions. Cease firing on the western front was the command issued to all sportsmen in Alberta, on Nov. 30th, by the department governing game laws, but frantic efforts are being made to extend the time for shooting two weeks longer. We have had the most ideal weather for shooting, in fact the ducks are still feeding in the stubble, and do not seem to be in any hurry to go south.

Frank Moodie has had to take time off to consult with a specialist regarding his recent accident. He left by plane for the East last Sunday, and whispered to me before departing, that he would look up a good Setter and bring it back with him.

The Alberta Kennel Club at each monthly meeting select a member to give a talk on a particular breed of dog. Miss Eileen Mitchell had the Great Dane night and gave the breed's history and standard in a very concise and pleasing manner. She brought along her champion female and used her as a model. After the talk the members were given cards to mark or score their ideas of the dog demonstrated. An average was struck and the scorer nearest the average was awarded a prize by the president, Mr. Climo. Dave Johnson had English Setters and gave a very interesting talk, using Champion Davinas' Pat for a model. This draws a larger attendance to each meeting, and President Climo is to be congratulated on his efforts to arouse enthusiasm. Hugh Carney has kindly consented to take Bull dogs for the next meeting, and bring along one of his "sourmugs" for demonstration purposes.

In all probability Frank Fallon will have the Pointers and use his Champion Fallons' Frank for a model. Mr. Fallon is an outstanding sportsman, and his dog was field trained by Captain Harwich, and it is certainly as good a dog in the field as in the show ring.

Captain Harwich has just returned from Honolulu after a very pleasant and profitable sojourn.

May 1940 bring Peace and Prosperity to dog fanciers everywhere.

Notes From Old Quebec

By W. W. ROONEY, 2331 Coursol St.,
Montreal, Que.

IT is to be regretted that the year 1939, that is drawing to its close as these lines are being written, should bring sorrow to so many of our Kennel & Bench readers. But death is no respecter of persons nor of places, and so in the East and in the West we are obliged to bow our heads, and in reverence say "Thy will be done" as friends we have made in the dog game are taken out of the ranks. In Montreal alone we bade a sad "adieu" to two of our good friends in the persons of Wm. Ogden. An ardent Bulldog fancier, a kindly, unassuming gentlemanly person, Mr. Ogden was always to be found prominently active in doggie activities from Toronto to the Eastern Coast, but particularly so in and around Old Quebec. It was not generally known that Bill Ogden at one time held the bicycle record in England, that he had been "decorated" for life saving, that he had won many honors as a window dresser in London, England, and that he had the distinction of having been born on the same day as our late beloved Sovereign King George V.

The funeral service was of a simple nature in compliance with his expressed wishes. And attending we noticed Dr. Etienne, T. P. Ritchie, R. A. Ross, Allan C. Chisholm, E. Dwight, R. Preston, Miss Rafter, Miss Woods, and J. McCorquodale.

Then that tireless worker, the sweet-natured Mrs. Fred Goodfellow, so well known to so many people as the courteous Treasurer of the Ladies' Kennel Club of Canada, Inc., and agent for Spiller's Dog Food. I have to announce her death after a short illness. It is hard to part with fanciers such as Mr. Ogden and Mrs. Goodfellow, and we feel just that way as we write, and we extend deepest sympathy to all those left to mourn their passing hence.

Well, that new club that we told our readers about in the last issue, the P.Q.K.C. (Province of Quebec Kennel Club), has broken the ice, and has held its first sanction show under the leadership of S. W. Scarpa, and the experience has left the conviction that this province does need dog shows, and that the fanciers of the province will support dog shows, and so a second fixture will be arranged for and will materialize during February probably. After that a licenced show will be sponsored as a real test of club strength, and this may happen before the Morris & Essex fixture.

For best in show at the first sanction show there was a handsome trophy and $15.00 cash offered, and the winner was the Skye Terrier Ch. "George of Merrymount", owned by Mrs. R. Percy Adams, Montreal (see right hand bottom corner of page 15 last issue for picture). A nice win, for a splendid dog, and well deserved no doubt. Alderman Dave Rochon presented the trophy to Mrs. Adams.

Just as proof of what a couple of individuals are capable of accomplishing we draw attention to the efforts of Messrs. Herbert Crabtree and Walter Stafford of the Lions Club, in a campaign featuring $1.00 subscriptions they collected over $300.00 to secure through the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, in conjunction with the Seeing Eye of Morristown, N.J., a "Seeing Eye Dog" for Miss Elizabeth Walker, Montreal, and this makes the third such dog to come to this city.

Miss Walker has charge of the refreshment stand at the Children's Memorial Hospital, and her faithful dependable "Eye" guides her intelligently up street, down street, across the street, on to street cars, and off the street cars and through the traffic however busy it may be. It is said that there are now some 300 "Seeing Eye Dogs" in the United States and Canada, and we thank God for them.

For the "black-out" in England, there has been perfected for dogs a fluorescent collar that glows with a green color at night. An English dog owner who has treated his Scottie to this luxury has this to say: "I don't lose Jock now, although I am always afraid that some people will become hysterical when they see a circle of pale green moving around about one foot above the ground"—maybe this tale is hardly as "creepy" as it reads.

If you got results from your Christmas advertising in Kennel and Bench we would like to get the particulars. Let me give you my personal experience. The magazine was only out about a week when it functioned profitably for my own kennel, and apparently my clients' copy of Kennel & Bench was a newstand purchase.

Tattooing for the identification of Setter puppies belonging to T. Detmould, on the lower lip convinced us that, for the larger breeds, this location was preferable to the flank or ear, and much easier to get at and do. One of these dogs was sold through the advertisement in Kennel & Bench, which proves that our own paper is really good if we will only use as we should. Kennel & Bench is a dog paper featuring pure-bred dogs only, that is its field, and our field as well. So, for our own profit let's get behind it. Talking about tattooing toy dogs, we tattooed a pair of two months old Pom puppies on the flank, not a squawk, the puppy play was resumed as soon as the youngsters got back on to the floor again.

This paragraph is not intended to be free advertising for any railway company, but it is a fact, that if we could get a number of fanciers together to take in the Great Westminster Show at New York, we could enjoy a reduced fare, and have a coach all to ourselves. Let us hear from you if you are interested.

Now that Christmas is here we feel rather tired, and yet there is so much to be done, nevertheless we have enough energy left to wish all fanciers a bright and a prosperous New Year. And if our readers are making New Year resolutions, let two of them be, first, "I will support the 'Old Quebec' page in Kennel & Bench," and second "I will support Kennel & Bench with my advertising." Send along what news you have, and believe it to be of general reader interest and we will process it from here to the point of the "blue pencil" at 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, and we have found them to be quite lenient and considerate thereto.

Notes From Manitoba

By MRS. J. L. PATEMAN,
836 Henderson Ave. E. Kildonan, Man.

AFFAIRS in dogdom in this city and vicinity reached a climax by the holding of the one day all-breed fixture under the auspices of the old original Fort Garry Kennel Club on December 9th.

The judges, Messrs. J. H. Masterman, H. H. Allen and A. Laurence, did a very creditable job in surroundings tastily arranged under the expert supervision of J. Rogers, show superintendent. There was quite a nice entry, taking everything into consideration, and it is a pleasure to record that the event was a complete financial success, so much so that a substantial donation has been forwarded to the Red Cross Society. Fellow officers of the club are to be congratulated on the extent of co-operation they showed in all branches, which made largely for the smooth running of the show.

The awarding of supreme honours to that magnificent St. Bernard owned by A. Picard, "Plumas Crusader" raised not a dissenting voice. The dog is as sound as a bell, fore and aft, and was set down in beautiful style by Mr. Picard. Harry Fitchett's fine little parti-color Cocker "Ch. Freckles of Rivervue" made a strong bid for top honours and took reserve best in show only after quite a fight.

Mrs. Pat Randall from Saskatoon, a well known figure in and out of the show ring, came to the show with a nice string of dogs, and handled them all in faultless fashion. I believe all ringsiders were genuinely happy that she made such a nice showing. She was right in at the finish with a good Wire Fox Terrier "Gallant Supreme of Royal Oaks", owned by Walter Ward of Kerrobert, Sask. All exhibitors and members of the Fort Garry Kennel Club appreciate the Saskatchewan entry and it is the writer's sincere wish that the members will reciprocate when the Saskatoon Club hold their annual spring fixture.

We were very pleased to welcome a new exhibitor in the person of Mrs. E. Hartman, who set down a couple of nice Dachshies and we hope her initial experience was a pleasurable one that will be repeated.

I regret to advise that Dr. Hogg, one of our most popular exhibitors of his well known strain of Sealyhams, has been very ill in hospital, but latest enquiries indicate he is now making good progress. Thomas Donald is again in hospital, coming along as well as can be expected. Mrs. J. Masterman suffered a very painful accident by slipping and injured her back to such an extent that she has been ordered to remain in bed for at least ten days. It is my personal hope, and I am sure it will be shared by all fanciers in this city, that all of these good people will soon be up and around and once more able to take up their activities in the realm of dogdom.

In conclusion I sincerely hope that all of our readers will have had a most enjoyable Yuletide, and I do hope that the year 1940 will be a bright and prosperous one for each one of them.

JUDGES FOR THE CHICAGO SHOW

THE list of judges, together with their respective assignments for the International Kennel Club of Chicago show, to be held in the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards, on March 30-31, has been released and we are pleased to notice several Canadian judges appearing on the panel. Walter H. Reeves, Belleville, Ont., will be busy on both days sorting out no less than 11 of the Terrier breeds and on the second day he will select the winner of the Sporting Group. Herbert S. Routley, Peterborough, Ont., will be responsible for placing the Springer Spaniels and James D. Strachan, Toronto, will sort out the Collie entry.

Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge, Madison, New Jersey, will judge the hound group winners. Vinton Breese, Caldwell, N.J., has all of the assignments in this group with the exception of Beagles and American Foxhounds, which will be done by the well known Master of Hounds and judge W. Newbold Ely, Ambler, Pa.; Irish Wolfhounds, by Mr. Glebe; and Dachshunde, by Herbert Bertrand, Greenwich, Conn.

Mr. Glebe will name the winners of the working breeds. In this group Mrs. Enno Meyer, Milford, Ohio, will judge Alaskan Malamutes, Belgian Sheepdogs, Boxers, Briards, Bull-Mastiffs, and Bouviers de Flanders; and Enno Meyer will do all other working breeds except Great Danes, which will be judged by Harkness Edwards, Donerail, Ky.; Great Pyrenees, by R. Korshin, of New York City; German Shepherds by Mrs. Dodge.

Others who will officiate are Charles G. Hopton, of Brooklyn, N.Y., who will judge Airedales and Schnauzers; Mr. Breese, Irish Terriers and Cairns; Thomas H. Carruthers III, of Glendale, Ohio, Smooth and Wire Fox terriers; and Dr. Willard H. Hutchings, of Union Springs, Alabama, Kerry Blues. Mr. Korshin will judge the Terrier group.

Mr. Meyer will select the winners of the Toy group, and all of the Toy breeds will be done by Mr. Hopton, with the exception of Chihuahuas which have been listed for Mrs. Meyer.

Mr. Hopton will also judge the Non-Sporting group winners. Those who have been invited to judge in this group and the breeds they will place are Mr. Korshin, Boston Terriers, Keeshonden, and Poodles; Adolph Kramer, Chicago, Bulldogs; Mr. Breese, Chow Chows and French Bulldogs; Mrs. Paula Homiller, Newton, Pa., Dalmatians; and Mr. Meyer, Schipperkes.

OUR FRONTISPIECE

For our feature illustration this month we are privileged to have what has been termed "one of the fittest and greatest Bulldogs of all times". She is the very handsome Champion "Bosworth Queen", the property of Jimmy Knode. East Twickenham, Middlesex, England. At the end of September, 1939, her record stood at 16 championships in 9 months, 13 in England and 3 in Ireland and over a dozen times best in show. "Queenie" takes travelling in her stride, be it by air, steamship, train or road and has over 20,000 travelled miles in her itinerary log and that would have piled up to still higher brackets only for the advent of the war in Europe. We had the pleasure of looking at this grand bitch at Harrogate championship show on the day before war was declared. As a matter of fact we went to Harrogate to meet "Queenie" and her master Jimmie Knode after listening to their praises being sung by people whose opinions we hold in high regard.

It takes real class to win such shows as the Kennel Club, Crufts, L.K.A., Manchester, Ayr, Dublin, Monkstown and etc., etc., and that is exactly what "Bosworth Queen" had with her on all these important occasions. It has been hinted that Jimmie Knode and his pal Ch. "Bosworth Queen" may cross the Atlantic to take in one or more of our important shows and should they decide on that trip nothing on earth will stop them.

Mr. Knode has been offered tempting prices for his good bitch. Some from Canada, others from the United States, others from fanciers in England, but "Queenie" and Jimmy are pals and as such they are inseparable and therefore not for sale at any price.

THE OLD YEAR

One of our correspondents has advised us that he has found it to be almost impossible to get news of general interest for his provincial page in Kennel & Bench. In response to personal letters the best he could get were replies tantamount in their content to free advertising. It seems that fanciers do not fully realize the great advantages of a purely provincial section in a national magazine. By using such a section fairly and intelligently such fanciers would most surely be helping themselves after a most profitable and pleasing manner... That was in the old year!

THE NEW YEAR

They say that "a wink is as good as a nod to a blind horse". So we trust that the message handed down by the "Old Year" will be noticed enthusiastically in the "New Year". Unquestionably the Provincial Sections of Kennel & Bench must be of great value to those who support such sections. And to enjoy the privileges available all that needs to be remembered to steer clear of disappointment, is that "litters born", "matings consummated", "championships hoped for", "sanction show awards", and etc., all of which may have a local interest, can never claim to actually have general reader interest. So the reporting of such need not be sent to the Provincial Editor. There are plenty happenings going on all around us that will have a terrific general appeal, and that is what will serve to make the "New Year" forget that there ever was such a thing as an "Old Year".

DACHSHUND NOTES

When Howard Erie, of Stamford, Conn., steps into the ring at The Canadian Patriotic Dog Show fixture at Toronto, on January 13th, he will be confronted with a good entry of the little Teckel hounds. Mr. Erie is a prominent member of the Dachshund Club of America and the Canadian dogs will be honoured when appearing before a judge of Mr. Erie's known calibre. To mark the co-operation of the Dachshund Club of America with their confrères in Canada for the cause of the Red Cross, the American body has offered its greatest club attraction, the much sought after Dachshund pins for all three coats. So don't let anything stand in your way when you are invited to make your entries out for this most appealing and patriotic fixture.

CORRECTIONS

In the Vivadora advertisement which appeared on the lower half of the center column of page 25 of our December issue we say that the wire Fox Terrier "Fairmount Result" was the "Winner of our 5 first prizes". But what we should have said was this: "Winner of over 50 first prizes". Then for good measure we mispelt the word "Fandance", when we made it "Sundance" instead.

On page 12 appeared the article "The Skye Terrier", by Mrs. R. Percy Adams, Montreal, and in the second last line of the center column the two words "the present" appear in error. The correct wording of that line should read "Although old standards gives". Then on the right hand column of the same page and on the 26th line from the top the two words "should be" should be inserted between the words "head" and "long". Then on the sixth line further down the column the word "fringe" should appear between the words "face" and "long".

The illustration used on page 12 represents International Champion and Champion Skye Terriers, the property of Mrs. Williamson, Lille, France, through whose country the beautiful skye group picture was made available.

—Sorry Vivadora — Sorry Mrs. Adams. — Editor.

Obituary

WM. OGDEN

Since dogdom became organized in Canada many men have contributed much of their time and talent to its advancement and in this respect the late Mr. Ogden stood right out. He had inherited a kindly unassuming manner by nature and had developed an uncanny efficiency in the management of dog shows and he was privileged to function in the role of show superintendent about as often as he found it convenient to serve in that capacity. An "Ogden" show was invariably a well managed fixture.

Twenty-one years of a man's life is a long time and Mr. Ogden was a member of the Canadian Kennel Club for that long period. He had a trenchant eye for a good bulldog and therefore an associate of all who worshipped at the shrine of the "sour mug". There was always a better than ordinary bitch or two around where "Bill" Ogden was and these he bred to the best available sires. One of these was the Canadian-bred Ch. "Challenger Lolly", who had for sire the extensively campaigned "Hazelwood Samson", a son of Ch. "Hefty Monarch" and for dam "Frankie Challenger", a daughter of Ch. "Yamamoto Challenger". This was a friendly Toronto-Montreal combination that had much to commend it. Ch. "Lady Byng Challenger" was bred by Mr. Ogden. The last good producing bitch at the Ogden Kennel was "Lady Romiley".

The sympathy of our readers is extended to those who have been left to sorrow over the death of one so well beloved in Canada and beyond.

NOTED AGRICULTURIST DIES AT OTTAWA

The Federal Department of Agriculture received a nasty jolt on Sunday, December 3rd, when it became known that George B. Rothwell, Director of Production Service, and former Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, had passed away. The late Mr. Rothwell was well known to the members of the Canadian Kennel Club, he having graced by his presence the annual meetings of the club from time to time, when his well reasoned remarks were invariably well received.

The funeral service was held in the chapel of Hulse & Playfair on Tuesday, December 5th and was conducted by the Rev. W. R. Alp of Chalmers United Church. Interment was in Beechwood Cemetery, Ottawa.

Attending the funeral were Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture; Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and representatives from many of the other governmental departments and from the various breed associations and other bodies having affiliation with the Department of Agriculture.

We extend the sympathy of our readers to Mrs. Rothwell and her family at this time.

ONTARIO BIRD DOG ASSOCIATION

The Annual Field Trials of the above association were held at Niagara-on-the-Lake on October 14th and 15th and the sport was considered to be the best in the experience of the organization when 41 dogs competed in the several stakes. The weather was clear and crisp and so ideal for trials; the gallery was large and particularly so for the running of the all age stakes. When it was found necessary to utilize the services of the field marshal in the role of traffic officer.

The judges were, for the senior stakes, Fred Jeffries assisted by Don Crawford. Junior Stakes, G. W. Boag, assisted by Don Crawford.

Following are the awards:

WESTMINSTER

THE stage is all set for the sixty-fourth annual show of the Westminster Kennel Club to be held in Madison Square Garden, on February 12, 13 and 14, 1940.

Premium lists are in the hands of fanciers all over the country giving the details of how the big purse will be distributed and publishing again the requirements for the trophies.

They contain, of course, the judging list which already has been announced, but which reminds fanciers that the top honor, best in show, will be awarded by Dr. Samuel Milbank, vice-president of the club.

The six dogs from which he will make his choice will be sent up to him by Mrs. Walton Ferguson, Jr., of New York, who will do the gundogs; Joseph C. Quirk, of Greenwich, who has the hounds; Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge, of Madison, N.J., for the workers; John G. Bates, of Morristown, N.J., the terriers; Herbert L. Mapes, of Little Falls, N.J., the toys; and Carey W. Lindsay, of Towson, Md., the non-sporting.

Prior to this variety judging, which will consume the third day, there will have been two days of breed competition, with a corps of specialists making the awards in the breed classes and selecting the best of each variety to represent its breed on the final day.

All of that, to the bench show regular, indicates that the Westminster will follow its well-established pattern that has been worked out through the years in which this sporting organization.

The coming show, however, promises to have more than usual to interest the ordinary dog lover, the person who does not know or care a great deal about the fine points of bench judging but has one thing in common with the breeders and exhibitors, a liking for dogs.

Last year in what proved an extremely popular feature, the Westminster had two obedience teams, one of men and one of women, put their dogs through an especially devised drill for a prize. It was a fascinating performance, evoking a great deal of favorable comment from the spectators. It went across so well with everybody that it was decided to elaborate the competition this year, offering a large enough purse to attract competition from obedience clubs all over this section of the country.

To make this possible, Josef Weber, noted authority on obedience training who devised last year's test, worked out a special drill and obedience clubs were notified some months ago of what would be expected of them. That has given them an opportunity to organize and drill their teams and it is understood that a dozen teams, representing all the eastern territory, will be on hand to have a shot at the $500 purse that has been set aside for this competition.

As has been the case for the past dozen years, the show is under the management of the George Foley Organization, and premium lists with entry blanks can be obtained from its office at 2009 Hanstead Street, Philadelphia. Again the show has been restricted to 3,000, a number governed by limitations of comfort in the Garden.

FLAT OUT! but never OUT FLAT

When it comes to energy every dog is naturally a spendthrift. Leaping after a ball, tearing across the park, even just chasing his tail, he's spending energy lavishly. It's up to YOU to see that he's never spent out. Championships are never won by dull listless dogs—for a dog looks well only when he feels well.

By putting your dog on SPRATT'S you can be sure that every meal puts back into him all the energy that healthy exercise takes out. All Spratt's Biscuit Dog Foods are made with an eye to the fact that, of all a dog's requirements, the greatest one is energy.
