Honouring

"Inveresk" Chassels

All dog fanciers will be pleased to hear of the honour done recently to ex-Provost Angus McNab Chassels, who is a pillar of the Scottish Kennel Club. In recognition of his many services to the community of Coatbridge, he was presented in the Coatbridge Town Hall with his portrait in the uniform of a Deputy-Lieutenant of the county, painted by Mr. John McGhie, as a tribute from the townspeople. A replica of this and a portrait of herself, both painted by Mr. McGhie, were presented to Mrs. Chassels, who also received a diamond ring as a further token of appreciation.

Provost James Tennent, the president of the Scottish Gundog Association, presided, and was accompanied by Capt. Thomas Watt, of Airdrie (convener of the county), Bailie James B. Henderson, and the hon. treasurer, Mr. Purdie, who was convener of the testimonial committee, with the Town Clerk, Mr. Alexander B. Thom, hon. secretary.

Provost Tennent said that that day's ceremony must afford great satisfaction to ex-Provost and Mrs. Chassels. His own friendship with his predecessor had existed for over 30 years, and it was a great gratification to him to be occupying the chair on this occasion.

The presentation was made by Capt. Thomas Watt, who reviewed the many achievements of ex-Provost Chassels during his 17 years' membership of the Town Council. Special reference was made to his success in obtaining grants totalling almost £130,000 for the erection of new sewage purification works and public baths. Capt. Watt also complimented the ex-Provost on his excellent leadership of the community during the historic events which occurred while he was Provost. These events included the jubilee of the burgh, the silver jubilee of King George V., the proclamation and abdication of King Edward VIII., and the proclamation and coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth. The Ex-Provost had always acted honourably and justly. He was a shrewd business man, a fine sportsman and a lover of animals, and had a big reputation in the canine world as the breeder of some famous dogs.

Treasurer Purdie made the presentation to Mrs. Chassels.

Ex-Provost Chassels, on behalf of his wife and himself, expressed their gratitude for the gifts. The goodwill of the citizens of Coatbridge was in itself (he said) an ample reward for any services he had been able to render to the community. He returned to the Town Council the larger portrait of himself for inclusion in the civic gallery of past Provosts.

DOG WRITERS ASSOCIATION

ALMOST a year ago the members of the Dog Writers Association elected for their President the Editor of Kennel and Bench, who in turn will turn the reins of government over to George Butz, Kennel Editor of the Philadelphia Enquirer, on Sunday evening, February 11th, at the Annual Meeting of the Association in one of the salubrious dining rooms of the Hotel Lincoln, New York. Therefore, this is an appropriate time to tell the readers of this magazine just what the Dog Writers Association is, what it stands for and upon what foundation is its structure being built.

Five years ago the Dog Writers Association was born in the Press Room of Westminster Kennel Club Show, when a group of Publishers, Editors and Kennel Columnists decided that the time was ripe for the amalgamation of their common interests, for the promotion of the welfare of pure-bred dogs through news and informational channels to provide a medium for the exchange of ideas, methods, information and professional courtesies among members and to maintain a high standard of ethics in the collection and disseminating of dog news.

So rugged was the appeal of the Association and so seriously was its tenets observed by its members, that its ramifications today extend from Maine to California, the circumference reaching out to include Canada as part of all America and to Great Britain for generous measure. It may be said that the outstanding objective of the Association is co-operation for the general welfare.

The Code of Ethics prepared to guide the members in order that they might better deal with their various problems in a manner which would not be prejudicial to the principle, the dignity, the integrity and the prestige of the Association provide that the members—

- Should do their utmost to keep themselves well informed of all activities pertaining to dogs.
- Should endeavour to develop their knowledge of such activities to a point where they would be competent to properly consider and judge the propriety and worth of such activities.
- Should maintain proper balance in the awarding of space.
- Should maintain an impartial attitude in the presentation of legitimate news.
- Should avoid the development of publicity when such publicity tends to create an improper impression of any dog, person, or organization.
- Should avoid any entanglement with any clique, faction, or seeker for influence of political nature within the sport.
- Should make it plain, in their relations with others, that they place themselves under no express or implied obligation whatsoever and they should avoid any action which would lead any person to believe that any obligation existed.
- Should use judgment and discretion in presenting all material and should govern their conduct in a proper and responsible manner.

From the foregoing, it will be clearly noticeable that the guiding principle of the Dog Writers Association is its devotion to the impartial, disinterested and widespread service to the best interests of the dog and of those persons who own, breed and exhibit pure-bred dogs. We feel honoured in having been privileged to serve for one year as president of the Dog Writers Association.

EXPERIENCE? — OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

CHRIS. C. COSTER, Montreal, sold a young Labrador Retriever to a client at Manchester, N.H., just before Christmas, the dog was intended to be a gift from that generous old Scotchman "Sandy Claus" to a little girl named Ann Gordon. At Christmas time the little stocking contained no puppy and the blame came directly back on Mr. Coster, who had experienced some delay in having the dog tattoo identified and the registration vouchers showing the new ownership returned to him. So it was New Year's day before the dog was shipped.

A week is a long time for a little girl to wait for Santa Claus, so Ann, tired of her vigil, took the law into her own hands and the following letter was promptly dispatched to Mr. Coster:

"Dear Mr. Coster

I would like to tell you a suggestion why don't you send a jellyglass box with the dog in it they will think that the Tiger is jelly glasses.

Please hurry up and send the box to Miss Ann Gordon 45 bay street Manchester n. h. U. S. A. I wish you a merry Christmas and tiger too.

Ann Gordon."

That letter did the trick and Tiger was soon on his way, with a telegram to Miss Ann to that effect and her thrill is said to have been as complete as if Santa Claus had delivered her Tiger in person.

Chris says "Don't forget to send Miss Gordon's letter back to me", which shows clearly that fanciers generally are little more than children at heart at all times.

SHEPHERD DOGS IN THE FIELD

The Field Trial Committee of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada, met on Friday, January 19th, and submitted reports for 1939, which were instructive and satisfactory, and from the tabulations before us we learn that the MacRae Trophy for service class and championship had been won by that honest worker Fd. Ch. "Boots von Gettensby", owned by Mrs. S. W. Levack, who taught "Boots" what Field Trial work was all about. The McDowell Trophy for second service class was won by Dr. H. Halderson's "Rum of Northmere". The Max Trophy for the winner of the Companion Class also was won by Dr. Halderson's "Rum of Northmere", a really satisfying performer. The Northmere Trophy for Best Opposite Sex to the winner of the Max Trophy was won by Mrs. Levack's "Boots".

The Four Handicap Companion Class meets held during 1939, were all quite successful, and the top dogs were: 1st meet, Jack Coles, with the dog "Anthony"; 2nd and 3rd meets, Miss Hyde, with the dog "Eric von Gettensby", and the 4th meet to R. B. Gilmour's "Valorie of Northmere". It is worthy of notice, that the dogs competing at these Trials and Meets are all trained by their owners, and the performances of the dogs are worth going a long way to watch. It is also worthy of note, that the pleasure of training dogs is determined by the fact that the owners are to be found at any, or all of the clubs activities in fair weather or foul.

Three Handicap Meets will be featured in 1940, meetings featuring lectures on training will be advertised in order that all persons interested may be contacted. A veterinarian will discuss care and conditioning, so that really all eventualities will be covered by the year's programme.

Another desirable piece of legislation is the abolishing of the 5 lb. dumbell in the Service Class. In this class the test lost objects, the scouting exercise has been changed to the finding of the lost objects within a given area.

Fifty per cent of the 1940 funds will be used to purchase a perpetual trophy to be known as the Etoile Fortunate Fields Trophy. This feature trophy will be at the discretion of the Field Trial Committee who will determine what branch of the clubs activities will be featured by having this coveted trophy to strive after.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

AN INHERENT WORKER

By GERTRUDE W. DREW, TORONTO

UNDER the present fashion of making show dogs work has come the popular pastime of what we might call "dog cultivation" and we need go no further than to one of our great dog shows to be convinced of the successful accomplishment in this field of endeavour.

Here is a hobby which not only affords the utmost in enjoyment but which has been turned into a profitable profession, alike to dog and man.

After countless centuries of the dog's renunciation of the animal kingdom for man, he is at last making rapid strides toward a return to his natural heritage, and that heritage is to work, as is the incentive of every healthy living thing. In this the dog is supremely happy.

The stimulation of interest in the dog which is noticeably evident has created a marked demand for more and better dogs. Never in the history of "Man's best friend" has the trend of popularity risen to such heights and there seems to be no limit to this expansion as new breeds are being developed yearly whose ultimate destination is the "dog show".

There seems to be no reason at the present time why anyone should be pessimistic about the future of the dog. Indeed there is every reason to believe that a great cycle in dog cultivation is well on its way to perfection as this new trend of teaching the dog to work goes on and on into channels yet unexplored.

Man's recognition of his loyal and faithful friend, in providing a natural outlet for his instincts is being demonstrated daily, and the genuine interest which he is exhibiting in this comparatively new field is indeed worthy of note.

With the renewed and increasing interest in the great sport of bird and deer hunting the demand for good sporting dogs exceeds the supply and breeders of this attractive group would be well advised to augment their kennels with new and better blood, for the sportsmen of today are a discriminating lot and they are not going to be satisfied with a mediocre dog. They want the best. They want a dog that will meet all the requirements of both field and bench. In short they want a dog bearing the three requisite qualities; brains, beauty and stamina.

These sporting dogs are being worked perhaps more than any other group, yet every autumn we are confronted with the tragedy of the untrained dog as he tries with all the courage of his staunch and faithful heart to meet the requirements of this sport and fails. Literally hundreds of dogs throughout Canada are wontonly sacrificed due to their lack of training. To the hound particularly falls this uncharitable fate. In many cases, after having served his master to the best of his ability, he is left in the Canadian wilds to die a cruel and unmerited death, or he may fall an easy prey to wolves.

Contingent upon the foregoing facts lies the need for more and better trained dogs, and a ready army of hounds specially equipped for deer hunting in the fall of the year should be available. But the time is coming and not far distant, when our sporting dogs will distinguish themselves as experts in their particular field, as huntsmen realize and appreciate more than ever before, the advantages of a well trained dog and his performance is fast becoming a point of pride.

With the advent of dog racing in Canada it is hardly necessary to comment on the extensive training given greyhounds and whippets in order that they may compete on the various tracks before their race loving public, for dog racing is fast becoming one of the popular sports of the day. These fleet-footed animals, sight hunters of days gone by, are doing a marvelous job at racing. Not only are they exceedingly amenable to working in this fashion, but they actually thrive on it, for they love the spirit of the race. There is a great future in these dogs, both for the breeder and those interested in his racing career.

A most important group of dogs are those classified as workers. Chief among these are the shepherd type which includes the collie, German shepherd, old English and Shetland sheep dogs. The Great Dane, Newfoundland, St. Bernard, Mastiff, Eskimo and Siberian huskie are all classed as working dogs.

Obedience test competition gives ample evidence of the highly commendable form of achievement evolved from this fashionable revival of returning the dog to his heritage. A few years ago the German shepherd found himself in an altogether unknown vocation, that of being trained in the business of leading the blind. There is no gainsaying that this intelligent canine is making a success of this work in a most competent manner. The working possibilities of this dog exceed those of any other breed and one need only attend some of the field and obedience test trials for a practical demonstration of this fact. The noble part he played in the Great War as sentry, messenger and Red Cross worker is now authenticated history and there seems no limit to his educational capacity.

The collie, immortalized in literature, claims Scotland for his native land. This industrious fellow is perhaps the oldest among the shepherd types. He has always been an efficient worker, essentially a guard and herder, his ability and willingness to learn however, has placed him among the most versatile of canines. In early Canadian farm life he was more or less a domestic servant, but with the progression of time came modern household utilities and the collie was relieved of these menial duties. Today he is being used more and more in his original capacity, thus perpetuating his skill in his particular line.

The Shetland sheepdog is a replica of the Scotch collie in miniature. This diminutive worker is rapidly increasing in popularity and his presence at sheep dog trials is already being felt. He is a sturdy little fellow and is particularly suited to working in rough farmlands and though he is conspicuously small he lacks none of the courage and brains of the larger and more formidable varieties. They make admirable pets and companions about the house and their size renders them suitable for either country or city home. They excel as watchdogs and their rise to popularity is inevitable.

Among the life savers we have the Newfoundland and the St. Bernard. These large animals, in spite of their economic liability, maintain a growing popularity. They are being used in other capacities and are an adjunct to winter sports for children.

Much is to be said of the other working dogs but space does not allow for a more replete history.

It is hardly necessary to go into the terrier group extensively. This breed need little or no introduction, and, although there are many types they all have a big following. They are all "diggers of the soil" and derive their name from the Latin word "terra" the earth. Originally most of these dogs were vermin hunters and they still are, whenever opportunity affords. The foxterrier was used a century ago for routing the fox from his lair. The smooth type ante dates the wire, but the wire hair is the most fashionable of all the terriers today. This dapper fellow is a development of the old black and tan wire and the smooth. His advent into the dog realm is due to the untiring efforts of the Duchess of Newcastle. He is a stylish little dog and is a prime favourite at the dog shows—frequently going best in show.

Mention should be made of the Irish terrier. This highly intelligent and aggressive species has long been a devoted pal of the Irishman. He is capable of being put to many uses, though as a rat exterminator he probably tops them all.

The airedale too merits special mention for besides being an efficient vermin chaser his cross with the otter hound renders him adaptable for work both in and out of the water. Some years ago he became noted for his work in aiding police and today he is used extensively as a guard in large factories and private properties. He is a handsome, upstanding, impressive fellow and is one of the most amenable of the terrier group. He thrives on work and is fast finding favour with the farmer.

There are the miscellaneous or non-sporting dogs and here we have some erstwhile workers, though most of these dogs are of pet heritage. The poodle and schipperke can and will work if afforded the opportunity. The poodle, originally a water dog, later became a herder and hunter. Today he is carrying off top honours at obedience test trials, and he is very apt to find himself back in his old capacity. He is the star performer of the stage and has found great favour with Royalty who are responsible for his shorn and oddly fashioned coat. Many years ago he was trimmed to ape the lions appearance.

The schipperke is more or less a pet in Canada although his native country of Belgium hail him as a highly intelligent working dog. He is a very old breed and his work on canal boats render him indispensable in that country. He is highly regarded as a protector of property and is becoming more and more popular at the dog shows.

The bulldog, symbol of British tenacity, is also included in this group. He is a highly publicized dog and no show is complete without him. He was used many centuries ago for the sport of bull-baiting but since that sport has become lost in the mists of tradition the bulldog is now used as a protector and companion.

The chow who hails from China is one of the oldest breeds in existence, his history dating back two thousand years or more. He is accredited with having had a fierce disposition and it is said was once used to fight robber bands in Tibet. His luxurious fur was once the pride of Manchurian and Mongolian markets and his flesh was once a popular household commodity. The word "chow" in this country, meaning "something to eat" no doubt found its origin in this unique manner. Due to his long existence he has become a cultured and reserved creature, he makes a splendid companion and shows no sign of exhibiting his inherent fierceness unless he is unduly molested. A peculiarity of this dog is his blue tongue.

Some other dogs coming under this category are the dalmatian, Boston terrier, and keeshond, the latter being the National dog of Holland. He is rather a new comer in this country but someone is soon bound to sponsor his breed as he is one of the finest of housedogs.

With the astonishing increase in demand for apartment homes, in ratio, has come a marked demand for the smaller or toy dog, among these are the pekinese, pomeranian, chihuahua, dandie dinnont and many others. All these are active, alert little watchdogs and they serve their purpose in the apartment and smaller home just as the larger dog serves in a more pretentious manner.

The foregoing abbreviated resume of the adaptability and capability of a small representation of each group of dogs, gives a proportionately small idea of the real value of dogs in their diverse capacities.

Many hundreds of centuries have passed since that eventful time when dog and man struck up their strange friendship, a friendship which was henceforth destined to become imperishable. Their egression from the dark ages found the dog still closely allied with man, the animal kingdom forgotten.

In the intervening lapse of time man and dog were co-workers in their primitive way and much of dog's intelligence is a result of this partnership.

As time advanced and the reality of civilization began to dawn upon an ignorant world, the future for both man and dog took on a brighter aspect. Life at this stage was not easy for either, the dog being "Jack of all trades" did everything that lay within the scope of his knowledge.

Man soon became educated however, and the results of his own civilization began to deprive the dog of his economic usefulness. Within the history of our time, and through no fault of his own, the dog suffered the loss of that which made him happiest, his work.

Shift the scene now to present the day and we find the dog doing more work than he has done in years. This work is fast developing his inherent instincts and he is becoming "a thing of beauty" with brains as well.

The inspiration back of this movement in dog civilization gives rise to numerous, speculative thoughts, as to the reason for this interest. Many could be cited but among the most important is the sporting competition provided by the dog show, the field trials and obedience tests trials.

There is a theory extant which teaches "that all things eventually return to their source" and so it is with the dog. Today we find him well on his way back to his natural heritage, and that heritage is—to work.

ANIMAL SEX CONTROL

This is the name of Carl Warren's book that has just come off the presses of the Orange Judd Pub. Co., New York, and as the title would suggest, its content would be rather intriguing under any circumstances, but when the book tells its readers exactly how to breed males or female animals to order, well that is something to make them sit up and take notice. The author, Carl Warren, is Sex Control Editor of the New York "Daily News" which sponsored the first successful tests of the acid-alkali method in America, at the Applied Research Laboratories, Dayton, N.J., and the book is edited by Thomas Durfee, Director of the laboratories.

Every chapter holds the interested reader as closely as if he was reading the world's best seller in fiction, but when he comes to chapter 7—"Methods For Small Animals" and relates so vividly the experiences of Mrs. Mary Touchette, of New York City, with her springers; T. D. Dillon with airedales; Geo. E. Bayer with great danes and etc., one feels like "hitting the trail" himself.

The tests on rats and rabbits have been astounding and in the alkali group where males were desired the "little men" marched right in. In the acid group "the ladies" swamped "the gentlemen" almost entirely. In dogs enough has been demonstrated to make "sex control" the most appealing phase that has ever come to the animal breeding industry.

Let us relate Mrs. Touchette's experience in obtaining desired sex majorities by douching her two springer spaniels. She procured from a pharmacist a quart of 2% soda solution (bicarbonate of soda) in distilled water, and a quart of 2% lactic acid solution. She also secured an ordinary hard-rubber gooseneck syringe of the type used by women. To the nozzle she applied a thin coating of vaseline. She warmed the solutions to body heat and douched the bitches in a bathtub. The first bitch, "Blossom Lynn", was 3 years old and had borne one previous litter of 6 males and 3 females. She was douched with soda and after a 63-day gestation period bore a controlled litter of 4 males and 3 females. The second bitch "Skeetsbarry of Merry T", was 15 months old. She was douched with acid. The litter—her first—arrived after a 61-day gestation period and consisted of 2 males and 7 females.

Each of the bitches was mated to "Prince of Igor of Avondale", a 9-year-old stud, within 45 minutes after the douchings.

The age old problem with its myriad of solutions which never solved anything has at last been conquered. The charm of Carl Warren's new book lies in its simplicity and honest frankness.

The book may be secured through "Kennel and Bench" office at $2.50 post-paid.

NOTED GREAT DANE DEAD

American and Canadian Champion "Aslan von Loheland" (Imp.)

"I T NEVER rains but it pours" they say, and this has been the true to life experience of Mrs. G. W. Hyslop, Brockville, Ont., who, towards the end of November, 1939, had the misfortune to lose, by death, the noted German, American, and Canadian Champion "Senta Hexengold" a consistent Best of Breed winner, a Group winner at a couple of important Canadian shows, and who won for Best Dog In Show, at Toronto Kennel Club, Inc., show in 1937. "Senta" was probably the only Great Dane in Canada to have made such distinguishing winnings over such a wide area, and above all she was a great favorite with her fair young mistress.

The most recent catastrophe to overtake Mrs. Hyslop struck harshly and cruelly the night before the opening of the Red Cross dog show at Toronto, that was the night of January 12th, when her outstanding male dog, American and Canadian Champion "Aslan von Loheland" (Imp.) suffered a gastritis attack which proved fatal. At 10 dog shows in Canada between 1937 and 1939 "Aslan" won Best of Winners three times, Best of Breed nine times, Best in Group twice, and Best Dog in Show twice, and to prove that he was a real Great Dane, he won Best of Winners at Elizabeth, N.J. Winners at North Westchester, Reserve Winners at the Morris and Essex, and Best of Breed at Wissahicon, all during 1938, then in 1939, he again won for Best of Breed at Wissahicon, and at Lake George where he finished his American Championship.

It would be cruelly thoughtless to suggest that these losses do not mean much to Mrs. Hyslop, we happen to know that she gets to love her dogs just as sincerely as any dog lover does, and to love favorite dogs, in the manner of Mrs. Hyslop having lost her "Senta" and her "Aslan" are heart breaks, no matter in whose kennel such losses come. So we hope that the two vacancies in the kennels at Brockville will soon be filled again, and by that we mean, we hope the vacancies will soon be filled with dogs of equal quality.

THE DETROIT BOSTON TERRIER

The official mouthpiece of the Boston Terrier Club, of Detroit, for January, suggests that the editor of Kennel and Bench has his doubts about the Boston Terrier breed being 'tops' for entries at the forthcoming show of Detroit Kennel Club. We do not plead guilty to that charge, at least not voluntarily, because there are 'extenuating circumstances', "provocation", or sick like, but we will do right by 'Our Little Nell', if and when we catch the Boston entry on the "roof" at Detroit.

The same little 'chatter sheet' pays a nice compliment to Stevens and Richardson, of Toronto, and London, when it says that Mrs. Martha Stevens, does more travelling in any one year than any other Boston fancier, and that their entries have done more to keep the breed alive at all-breed shows, than anything else. Thanks Vint, this combination deserves your boost.

From the same source we learn that Paddy Bough's Ch. "Paddy's Dixie Romance" (who is now the property of E. D. Boehm, New York) started off on the right foot, at the recent Bronx show, on a march that may lead to international honors—here's hoping.

WHAT TATTOOING MAY LEAD TO

What the tattoo marks on a pure-bred dog can actually accomplish in the way of protective identification for an owner is clearly demonstrated in the experience of our good Montreal member, A. C. F. Archambault, who is so well known to our Setter breeders.

On December 14th, 1939, Mr. Archambault received the following letter from the Chief Constable of the International Paper Company, at Gatineau Mills, Que.:

"December 13th, 1939.

Mr. A. C. F. Archambault,
5257 Delorimier Ave.,
Montreal.

Dear Sir:

On December 11th an English Setter dog was picked up here in Gatineau Mill bearing the following tattoo identification markings. On the right ear F A and on the left ear 5 R. We had these marks checked at the Canadian National Live Stock Records at Ottawa, when it was at once discovered that this dog had been registered as No. 141002, and had been born, your property, on February 2nd, 1938, and that later the dog had bene transferred to A. Royer, Quebec City.

This dog is being held here, as it is probably a dog of value, and I would appreciate it, therefore, if you would advice at your earliest convenience, if the animal might have been sold to some party in the Ottawa district, or who should be contacted in order that the dog might be returned safely to its rightful owner.

Thanking you in anticipation of an early reply.

Yours very truly,
Guy C. Barrett."

Thank you Mr. Archambault for sending along this very interesting news item, which furnishes further substantial proof that the tattoo method of identification is a dependable protective measure.—Ed.

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE

The foregoing was the subject of a lecture given in Massey Hall, Toronto, on Thursday, January 12th, by Dale Carnegie and we were impressed by the following words which we quote: "One of the greatest of all urges in mankind is the hunger to be appreciated. It is a gnawing sort of hunger that is never fully satisfied. Show some one you appreciate him and you've won a friend. When I say that, I don't mean you should resort to flattery. Flattery is counterfeit and doesn't last. You must honestly interest yourself in other people. You can win more friends in two months that way than if you worked two years trying to get people interested in you."

Whilst we were pondering that logic over in our minds Mr. Carnegie gave us this one: "Any puppy knows more about 'winning friends and influencing people' than all the psychologists you could consult. When you come home at night and pat him on the head he just about tears things apart. You would think that pat on the head was one of the greatest events of his life. That's the kind of sincere appreciation that wins friends".

It was a good address but that tribute to a dumb animal's reaction to appreciation was a real gem — we thought.

PALS!

*When I see a boy who hasn't a dog,
Or a dog that hasn't a boy—
I think of the lot they are missing
Of frolic and genuine joy.
Some parents think dogs are a nuisance,
Just something to bark and annoy—
They can't know how badly a boy needs a dog
Or how sadly a dog needs a boy.*

"EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY"

Ch. "Beauchief Benefactor" (now 12 years old) with his daughter "Dove Valley Benefactress".

IT HAS been said that "every dog has his day" and a close inspection of our illustration will reveal that the dignified looking old patriarch on the left is one of the old dogs that has had his day—and what a day has been his. A reference to "Who's Who" furnishes the interesting information that we are looking at the famous springer spaniel, Ch. "Beauchief Benefactor" at the advanced age of 12 years and of course totally blind now, as can be easily noted. With Ch. "Beauchief Benefactor" is his own outstanding daughter, "Dove Valley Benefactress".

In the heyday of his life Ch. "Beauchief Benefactor" was recognized by the greatest authorities on the breed as the best specimen to be found in all England and by many he was said to be the best springer that had ever been born. The records will show that he won higher honors than any other springer spaniel in England and he has the distinction of being the only dog of his class to win for best exhibit all breeds at a championship show in the old land.

His comely daughter will shortly commence her trip across the Atlantic. "Dove Valley Benefactress" will soon become the kennel mate of Int. Ch. "Whitelight", Ch. "Canaline Sport" and "Dormand Rascal" as she has been purchased by W. P. Gudgeon, of the Canaline Kennels of Hamilton, Ont. Served by Ch. "Beauchief Outcross", she will be considered a valuable kennel asset from the time of her arrival in Canada as she is conceded to be one of the best young bitches in England at the present time and as proof of her quality, she has won several times for best any variety puppy at championship fixtures. Another honor that stands to her credit is best any variety gun dog.

In the pedigree of "Benefactress" is found such notables as Ch. "Beauchief Benefactor", Ch. "Nuthill Dignity", "Beauchief Bonetta", "Andon of Leam", Ch. "Banchory Tranquil", Ch. "Little Brand", Int. Ch. "Jambrok of Ware". In fact he is a double cross of all those famous springers consequently she is closely bred in four generations. A similar mating produced "Showman of Shotten", who was recently imported to America where he soon covered himself with honours. So, it will be noticed that her mate was chosen with the greatest of care and foresight to match the breeding of "Whitelight" with the future welfare of the breed as the first consideration.

Notes From Old Quebec

By W. W. ROONEY, 2331 Coursol St.,
Montreal, Que.

THAT enthusiastic exhibitor, breeder and importer of Skye Terriers, Mrs. R. Percy Adams, Westmount, has imported another good matron from the Rev. Dr. Roslyn Bruce, the new comer is "Holmsdale Tilda", and she was bred to Mr. Bruce's dog "Fergusson" before leaving England. This new bitch will be a definite acquisition to the noted 'Talisker' Kennels, as she comes to this side of the Atlantic with her reputation as a great producer. She is the dam of Ch. "Rip of Merrymount" one of Great Britain's most successful show specimens, she is also the dam of a champion now in Germany. She is the granddam of Mrs. Consequo V. Davies' Ch. "Bracadale Henry", and of Mrs. Adams' "Skyhigh Lady Fay of Talisker". "Holmsdale Tilda" left England on January 3rd, and arrived at Montreal on January 16th, in rare condition. The persistence of Mrs. Adams in popularizing the Skye Terrier is having beneficial results, and we are going to see more of this breed at our future shows.

Every breed has its quota of staunch supporters, but in R. M. Kenny, of Buckingham, the Bull Terrier has its staunchest supporter in this country. I hear that he has imported another good specimen, and I won't rest content until I have looked the new arrival over. In the last few years Mr. Kenny has imported that grandson of "Rubislaw", "Robust Laddie", "Brendon Belero", and now this fine youngster by Ch. "Rayduim Brigadier". Every such new importation means plenty to the Bull Terriers of America.

The Mount Royal Toy Dog Club has its officers and members busily engaged in the show that falls due in March, and all are striving after a good entry, or that kind of an entry that this active club so richly deserves.

Speaking of the Toys reminds me that Mrs. G. Bennett, and the well known expert in all Peke matters, have just taken possession of "Sambo of Sunnyfields Farm", "Sambo" was bred by Mrs. M. Van Beuren, Newport, R.I. and his pedigree reads like a fairy tale, his sire being "Sam-Fuh of Alderbourne", by Ch. "Yu Fuh of Alderbourne", by Ch. "Ti Fuh of Sherrill" by Ch. "Yu Chuan of Alderbourne", etc., ex a daughter of Ch. "Li of Silbir" by Ch. "Humming Bee of Alderbourne". His dam, "Faithful Duck of Sunnyfields Farm" is by Ch. "To Kai of S.F." by Ch. "Marvel of Shantung", by Ch. "Beulah of S.", etc., ex a daughter of Ch. "Meng of Alderbourne", by Ch. "Humming Bee of Alderbourne". Mrs. Doniphan attributes most of her success to the careful studies of pedigrees and line breeding and "Sambo" more than fills the bill. He won his senior puppy class in Newport last summer, and he will be campaigned during the present year.

Wasn't that a definite boost to tattooing as a protective means of dependable identification that came directly to the door of A.C.F. Arch-ambault, of course this gentleman has always held that tattooing was the only worth while identification but now he will swear by it. The details will be found elsewhere in this issue, but in the meantime, until you contact the story direct, I would like to suggest to you, what could nose-prints or charts have done to have brought such speedy protection to Mr. Archambault—think that one over.

The Malabar Kennels have sent a nice young show Wire Fox Terrier by (Am.) Ch. "Fox Hunter of Wildoaks" ex Ch. "Malabar's Happy Event" to a client in Halifax, N.S. On arrival at the East Coast the youngster was so appealing that a telegram was sent to Mr. Scarpa at once telling him to repeat the order.

The new dog at Malabar Kennels "Vivadora Easter Parade", was just so much admired, by the proprietor, after the arrival of the first litter, that arrangements were made which brought the dog's sister to Quebec, and she has since been bred to Ch. "Startling Event of Wildoaks".

That Welsh Terriers will soon become more popular and more plentiful at the shows may be gathered from the information that shows Ch. "Bodies Tacks", bred to Ch. "Warwell Welsh Stormer", and "Fencliff June Maltose", a daughter of Int. Ch. "Galen Maltose", has been bred to Ch. "Marlu Magnificent". There should be the makings of some nice competition here, and Mr. Scarpa will take care that the best of them come to the shows—if "lady Luck" plays her part as she is expected to do.

The Canadian National Live Stock Records are to be complimented on the service they can offer to breeders, quite recently I had a problem on my hands that commenced with the year 1890. I did not think that they would be in a position to help me very much, so imagine my surprise, when I received all the information I required, backed as it undoubtedly was by the assurance of authenticity, it was a lot to go with a man's membership, and even if we never need such assistance, it is comforting to know that it is available if and when we do need it.

To the lone Montreal exhibitor who attended the Patriotic Show at Toronto on January 13th, Mrs. J. Detmold, goes my hearty congratulations for the win that finished the championship of her English Setter bitch, the comely "Spruce Solace". If readers only knew of the snow storm with its accompanying snow banks, and the car troubles on the way out to the station, than it would be realized what was really meant by my congratulations. Mrs. Detmold was quite keen to support this Red Cross fixture, which she describes as having been a very splendid show. Our fanciers hereabouts must take their dogs to outside shows if ever they hope to attract outside dogs to our Province of Quebec shows.

My readers will be happy to learn that our little colony of 'Seeing Eye Dogs' are to have the protection of the city of Montreal, largely through the efforts of our good friend Alderman Dave Rochon, who advises me, that whilst there can be no free licences issued, that permits will be granted to such dogs. I intend to find out the total number of dog licence fees paid by dog owners on the Island of Montreal, as I am still of the opinion that licence purchasers do not get their money's worth out of the fee they pay, they are entitled to much more, and if the fanciers will back me up, when the time is opportune, we will get it. We have had the experience of having the loss of a dog radioed, and the Radio Police Service lent to the searching of the animal. So, if we knock hard enough someone will be bound to open the doors to us, for, after all, 15,000 votes come in handy in any election, Municipal or otherwise, and when this vote can be properly handled, any city Father will be happy to open the City Hall doors to any such caller.

Mr. Emile Vanier has been chosen as one of the judges in the "Pard" competition. Mr. Vanier is master of the French and English languages, a lover of 'Man's Best Friend', and as we all know, a real sportsman to boot.

Mrs. Rhodes has just advised me that she is back in the game with 3 Pomeranians, a male, selected from the kennel of that experienced fancier Madame Charlebois, a female from the kennels of Mrs. McConaghy, Toronto, and the other from Mrs. Kittermaster, Toronto.

THE CANADIAN PATRIOTIC DOG FANCIERS SHOW

CONGRATULATIONS

THAT is correct. Congratulations are in order for Cameron Chisholm, F. H. Secretan, Alex L. Gooderham and Wm. McDermont and for their committees, judges, stewards and all those persons who contributed to the success of The Canadian Patriotic Dog Fanciers' Show held on Saturday, January 13th, in the Hurndall Building, Toronto. Very seldom, in the memory of the writer, have we seen such co-ordination of effort and unification of interest, the old policy of "Let George do it" seemed to have been replaced with the new theory "Let George do what he is capable of doing best" and the new arrangement furnished a picture of co-operation that has not been noticeable since Towser was a pup.

Captain H. Dudley-Waters, M.C., functioned perfectly in the capacity of show superintendent and all rings were kept busy from start to finish.

All the judges had an interested gallery throughout the day with the specialty judges being favored in this respect. Col. J. N. MacRae, M.C., Galt, sorted out 50 German Shepherd dogs and if anyone thinks that the Colonel was not a busy little man for a few hours such a one would be wrong for once. The gallery at the ringside was large as it was critical, yet kindly withal. The show report will tell that Col. MacRae found for his Winners Dog, Winners Bitch, Best of Winners and Best of Breed, two 10 months old puppies out of one litter, with the higher honors to the male. It takes great sincerity in judging to find sufficient merit in young puppies to offset the advantages of maturity.

Dachshunde figured around 45 dogs for Judge Howard Eric and this dapper gentleman had his hands full for quite a long time. He was honoured by having three wire-haired specimens sent to him for judgment, all the way from the kennels of Mrs. A. K. Hedley-Peck, Victoria, B.C. It takes more than dollars and cents to send dogs from Victoria to Toronto for competition purposes, it takes plenty of pluck plus an honest to goodness interest besides. So special congratulations to Mrs. Hedley-Peck.

Boston terriers were a hot lot that amounted to around 40 dogs for Judge H. C. Neitzel, of Detroit and if applause is any criterion by which to prove popular judging, then Mr. Neitzel must have felt himself highly flattered. A dog from this breed won the Non-Sporting Group and was right in the thick of the struggle when the highest award of the show was to be the victor's prize.

One of the show's features was a nice entry of greyhounds with one of their number being the patron dog of the show. This was Mr. Fred Martin's lightning flash "Honor Toes", a racing hound of excellent breed type. We feel responsible for the appearance of this fine exhibit.

There was a large ringside watching the Cocker Spaniels going over their paces for Judge R. A. (Bob)

Ross, of Montreal. The noticeable enthusiasm of the gallery extended right into the ring itself, as the pooling of the donations made a cash prize available for every Class. The regular talent were all there sharing in the ribbons from Alroy K. Butler, who won the first red silk to Miss Elsie Mayhew who garnered in the coveted Best of Breed ribbon with her Ch. "Glen Rogue Highland Cream". The award columns will show that Dick Hepplestone, Nels Duckett, A. H. Beal, Miss E. Dagger, and A. E. Hayward were right in the thick of the battle where the smoke hung the thickest. Mr. Ross had to be good on the day, and the consensus of opinion, as heard expressed, had it that he was good.

A pall seemed to fall over the great dane entry when it became known that Mrs. G. H. Hyslop's Ch. "Aslan von Loheland" had died the night before the show in the hotel room of his fair mistress.

This was the first show to be held in Ontario since the exhibition dog show and the fanciers had a double reason for their eagerness to support this fixture. The chief reason was to rally around the Red Cross effort and the second reason was to satisfy the hunger for a dog show.

We understand that a substantial amount has been turned over to the Canadian Red Cross (Toronto).

Held at Toronto on January 13th.

THE HOME OF SAINTS REST KENNELS

CHAMPION BUBBLING WEE DEANNA

completing her Championship at the recent show of The Canadian Patriotic Dog Fanciers', on January 13th. 'Jolly', as the new champion is best known, was bred by her owners. She earned her honours at three shows, winning 1, 5 and 4 points, respectively. She is a sound, typical little Miss, with correct head, conformation and expression. Truly she is well worthy of being Canada's first Boston Terrier Champion in 1940.

Incidentally, we understand that The Canadian Patriotic Dog Fanciers' show was one of the largest shows held in Canada in recent years and possibly the largest one day ever held in this country, so Boston Terrier fanciers will be interested to know that our young male was not only judged Best of Breed in Boston Terriers, but went on to win the Non-Sporting Group. Our friends tell us that this was a great win and we are proud to endorse their statement in that respect.

Our sweet female 'Saints Rest Tiny Ace' was awarded Reserve Winners to Ch. 'Bubbling Wee Deanna'.

VITAMIN R^{EX}

WHEAT GERM OIL

added to your dog rations

Assures MAXIMUM LITTERS
FEWER MISSES AND BLANKS
STRONGER, HEALTHIER PUPS

That is because Rex wheat Germ Oil is a natural source of Vitamin "E" . . . which is so necessary to healthy breeding. Vitamin "E" is known as the anti-sterility vitamin. It was found that animals which did not have enough of this vitamin, were sterile, failed to come in heat regularly, needed many services or produced small litters.

SPECIALLY PROCESSED

Rex Wheat Germ Oil is a specially extracted, cold-processed, pure, unadulterated oil. Five years were spent in checking Rex Oil to be sure that the feeder and breeder would get the full benefit and to be sure that it would not lose its strength. A wheat germ oil that loses its strength in a few months is not of any value to anyone.

REX IS GUARANTEED

Rex Wheat Germ Oil is definitely stabilized, will not go rancid and its valuable Vitamin E content is guaranteed for one year. Tests have proved that no other wheat germ oil has higher Vitamin E strength than Rex. In addition it has plus values of lecithin and parts of the Vitamin B group.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD 'UN,

why not patronize the Kennel where the winners are—or why not use the Elmcroft stud dogs that produce winners. Our selling prices are so attractive and the stud fees are so reasonable that anyone can afford to come to Oshawa themselves, or to send their best bitches to Oshawa.

We also have Champion Studs in Irish Terriers and Pointers. In fact we have almost anything at Elmcroft that anyone might want in dogs and if we haven't got what you want, we will help you to get it some other place.

DOGDOMS ROLL OF HONOR

Early in the year 1937, Milton Danziger, a past President of the Dog Writers Association, whose "News of Dogdom Interest," is a weekly feature of the Springfield Daily Republican, presented to dog-gists in America a list of brief citations which placed in the spotlight of the Press the names of men and women who had contributed meritorious and conspicuous services rendered on behalf of dogs. The genial "Milt," as he is known to a vast number of friends and business associates, was so thoroughly thrilled by the reception of his citations that he continued them in 1937, 1938, and now.

A few of those mentioned in the 1936 citations included Charles Cruft, England; His Royal Highness the Duke of Windsor; Dr. F. J. J. Buytendijk, Holland; Mrs. Harrison Eustis of Switzerland and Morristown, N.J.; Mrs. Geraldine Rockefeller Dodge, N.J.; Lord Dunsauy, England; Charles T. Inglee, New York City, etc., etc.

The 1937 honor mentions included Dr. Samuel Millbank, New York; James A. Reid, Airdrie, Scotland; Haile Selassie, England; S. M. Stewart, Montclair, N.J.; Freeman Lloyd, New York; Mrs. Alice Rosenthal, Cincinnati, Ohio; James D. Strachan, Toronto, Canada, etc., etc.

1938 citations included Rear Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, Boston; Henry B. Fottrell, Dublin, Ireland; His Highness the Maharajah of Jind of Saugar, India; Roger Lloyd-Mostyn, Flint, Wales; Her Grace the Duchess of Newcastle, England; Col. J. N. MacRae, Galt, Canada, etc., etc.

The Honor Roll for 1939 has been judiciously selected and featured in the list we find the following which we pick out at random: Fred A. Bearse, Springfield, the dean of Boston Terrier fanciers on the American Continent for his unflinching efforts in

The family thought I was just "enjoying poor health." But I felt like an empty dinner-dish. Off my feed, nervous. So they avoided me! The Boss thought Nature would pull me around—till he read the Sergeant's DOG BOOK. Then he woke up!

The DOG BOOK described my symptoms and told what medicines I needed. So he got me Sergeant's CONDITION PILLS — and what a change! I feel a lot better just knowing that BOOK is in the house. It tells all the symptoms and treatments for most illnesses. How to feed and train me. Get your free copy at a drug or pet store — or with this coupon.

promoting America's own breed. Mrs. Phyllis Robson, England, for fostering international good-will among dog fanciers. Mrs. David Wadsworth, of Wailuku, Maui, for encouraging the breeding and exhibiting of pure-breed dogs in Hawaii. Oliver Young, Berkeley, California, who as a judge in a Municipal Court, dismissed a speeding charge, when the motorist recited how she had sped at 40 miles an hour to get her injured dog to a veterinarian. Bethune L. Smith, Toronto, Canada, for fostering amicable relations between Canadian and American breeders. Mrs. Milton Seeley, Wonalancet, New Hampshire, for her interest in developing the Arctic breeds of dogs and supplying sledge dogs for the Byrd expeditions. C. Tracey Stagg, Ithaca, N.Y., who, as a member of the New York State Legislature, called upon his reserves of legal knowledge in eloquent opposition to a Senate proposal which would have outlawed the time-honoured tradition that every dog is entitled to at least one bite before his master can be held liable for damages. Bob Becker, dog editor Chicago Tribune, conservationist, radio commentator, and author, for his conspicuous services on behalf of dogs, etc.

NOTES FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

By MRS. H. E. FLETCHER, 6996 Dumfries St., Vancouver, B.C.

CONGRATULATIONS are quite in order throughout this province at present, first to W. H. Pym, Second Vice-President of the Canadian Kennel Club, on his return to office by acclamation, and second to our new Director "Vic" W. Williams, who is no stranger to readers of these B.C. Notes. "Vic" takes up his official duties backed with many years of active experience, and knowing how to take the 'ups and downs' as they come along. He has judged, handled, superintended, presided, bred, exhibited, bought and sold, in fact he has seen the full gamut of the sport, and is familiar with its laws and usages, so we look to him with confidence to give the kind of leadership suited to our requirements as members of the C.K.C.

The fanciers hereabouts seldom miss an opportunity to celebrate the highlights as they happen, and the result of the recent elections made it possible for some 65 members, fanciers, and friends to come together as the guests of Stan and Mrs. Dainard, at their attractive commodious home at 'Green Timbers', New Westminster, on Saturday evening, January 13th. The house sits in its 20 acre setting of tall evergreens, and the 40 feet length of living room gave everybody lots of room to stretch their legs. As host and hostess the Dainards are the perfect combination.

The guests of honor were our new director Mr. Williams and his charming wife, the former was in fine form, and with Mrs. Dainard at the piano 'Vic' led the gathering in the singing of all the old favourite songs. Jim Blair presented Mr. Williams with an elegant club bag, whilst Jack Forbes presented Mrs. Williams with a bouquet of roses. The master of ceremonies that is always up on our B.C. band wagon, W. H. Pym, was suffering from a bad cold, and partial loss of voice so he had to be content as silent observer—or nearly so. At the end of a long happy evening the Dainards were shoof'd into the center of the group and in song were told that they were 'Jolly Good Fellows'.

It was rather a sad task for W. H. Pym, J. A. H. Irving, R. Hatley, Oswald Balshaw, W. J. Moffett, and Charles Butler, on January 10th, when they laid to rest the wife of Horace Wilkinson who died on January 8th in her 65th year. At the services held in the Central Park Funeral Home and at the graveside the great number attending was silent testimony to the love and regard in which she was held. Our sympathy to a good friend who is a real fancier.

The B.C. Fox Terrier Association held its Annual Meeting on January 8th and elected the following officers: Hon. Pres. W. J. Moffett; Hon. Vice-Presidents T. Pearce, W. M. Coats, Major Austin C. Taylor and K. McNaughton; President Jos. Dodds; 1st Vice-President Horace Wilkinson; 2nd Vice-President A. Swinden; Secy.-Treas. W. J. Moffett; Executive T. P. Milner, R. H. F. Purdon, "Vic" Williams, F. Withers, A. Principe and Mrs. C. E. Hatley.

On January 16th the Lower Mainland Gun Dog Club held a very successful stag party in the Odd Fellows Hall when 500 members turned out for the night's entertainment leaving the gals at home to twiddle their toes. This club boasts 1100 paid up members and when they entertain they do things right.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodward has left the coast to take up residence at the Capital. Mr. Woodward, whilst in Ottawa, will represent the West on the Supply Board for the duration. Both Mr. and Mrs. Woodward are keenly interested in war work and both were very popular in Vancouver. This was demonstrated when the fanciers turned out in full force to wish them good luck in the East. Sealyham Terriers have always been favored by Mr. and Mrs. Woodward but during 1939 a "wire", "Fancy Free of Tynedale", and a Bedlington, were added to the Kennel.

There is a new addition to the ranks of dogdom in these parts, who, in the days to come will be able to relate to his offspring how he made the trip out from England to B.C. in spite of blockades and "all sich". He is the wire-haired dachshund, "Locan of Tynewdd", bred by Miss Theo Watts, the well-known secretary of the wire-haired dachshund club of England and imported to Canada by Mrs. H. Philopowsky. This importation is by "Laki van der Ziven Berjes", out of "Cecily of Tynewdd", a daughter of Miss Watt's noted champion, "Ach-sel", said to be the best wire dachshie to date. "Laki" was imported from Holland last year by Miss Watts. Whilst scanning the English magazine, "The Country Outlook", I noticed a very interesting write-up on Mrs. Philopowsky's wire-haired dachshunde. She was the founder of the breed in Canada it is claimed. Other folks and Kennels mentioned were Mrs. L. M. Woods, of Victoria, who was given a real boost on her cairn terriers. Then J. McCallum, of "Thetford" Cocker Kennels, Thetford Mine, P.Q., and B. L. White, of Amherst, N.S., who features Chesapeake Bay dogs were both enthusiastically mentioned.

Mrs. G. McGee, Victoria, tells me that her eldest son has "joined up" and is now in England. Mrs. McGee has furnished Petty Officer McFadden, of Esquimalt, with a doberman pinscher who will replace a German shepherd dog now nine years old.

After being at home for around 6 weeks, T. P. Murray is again back in hospital, but he expects to be leaving again soon and we do trust that this will be the last of the hospital for some time as his present condition must be extremely discouraging for Tom and Mrs. Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cameron, Whonnock, B.C., who visited the East last summer, have just completed building a kennel that leaves nothing to the imagination.

The building "bug" caught up with "Billy" Oates too and a new battery of kennels in green and cream colored jackets are ready for occupancy right away.

"Billy", Joe Dodds and myself have gone "Bedlington", each having purchased good representative specimens when Stanley Dorrell sold out his kennels recently. We will make some competition for the summer shows and will get lots of fun out of our new possessions.

Mr. Dodds is keeping a Bedlington for Mrs. Woodward who is now in Ottawa, and one night whilst Joe was exercising his little charge an automobile back-fired and nearly scared her to death. She broke her lead in her excitement and took to her heels. Searching, advertising, the fanciers grapevine methods all failed to contact the lost bitch, and a whole week later, when Mr. Dodds went out for the morning milk, there she was on the verandah, footsore, weary, hungry and glad to be home again. Clever, wasn't she?

Mrs. Mary Pickford has just imported a nice black Cocker Spaniel bitch, named "Fredrickton Find" ("Torohill Trader" ex "Torohill Lassie") and she is thoroughly satisfied with her new acquisition, who has already been bred to Ch. "Holdfast Sonojo". "Fredrickton Find" being a double cross of the noted "Red Brucie", something is anticipated that will justify this purchase.

Mrs. Dorothy Pottruff, who was well known for her German shepherd dogs and Welsh corgis, has changed her name and is now Mrs. Ralph Barrie. Mrs. Barrie has a couple of 9 months old shepherds sired by Ch. "Odin v Busecker Schloss" that will stand some watching later on.

W. Hudson, of Seattle, brought his good English setter bitch, "Credentials Lady Betty", as a visitor to the court of "Shiplake Prince" at "Wally" Willgress' Kennels. "Betty" is owned by the Carnation Farms.

Sgt. Fuqua, of the "Oxbo" Kennels, Seattle, visited my little Kennel recently and brought along a new doberman for us, in "Anita of Reurstein". She is by (Am.) Ch. "Kurt v.d. Rhein-spierle-Rhinegold" out of "Lady Hattie of Gockstein".

Sales have been plentiful and it is said profitable too with the following fanciers all participating. Vic Williams, Billy Oates, Mrs. Mary Pickford, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dainard, Jasper Daniels and Mrs. Winnifred Powles.

Well that's the news for January folks, but what about the members of this province sharing in the business section of "Kennel and Bench" in proportion to the free space that is so generously set aside for our use from month to month. Let us be fair to the official organ and so will we be fair to ourselves and I will be happy to receive your advertising copy and send it to the Toronto office. Yes, "Kennel and Bench" has a nice circulation in the United States, too.

APPLICATIONS FOR KENNEL NAMES

The following applications for Kennel Names will be considered by the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club, Inc., on Thursday, February 15th, 1940. Any person having objection thereto should communicate promptly with the Secretary, Canadian Kennel Club, Inc., 25 Melinda St., Toronto, Canada.

DACHSHUNDE NOTES

SATURDAY, January 13th, lent itself beautifully to a 'gathering of the clans' as far as our breed was concerned, and our judge Howard Eric, of Stamford, Conn., had a nice assortment of Smooths, Longhaired's, and Wirehaired's coming before him is eloquent testimony that Canada has its quota of folks who swear by the Dachshunde as a breed. The extent of the entry may be gathered from the award columns in this issue.

It was quite evident that judge Eric was careful and conscientious in his labors, and those who followed him closely had no difficulty in determining that he was no mere reader of standards, it was easily apparent that he was quite familiar with the backgrounds for which the several types had been bred, it was clear that he had his ideal in mind, and that he was measuring his dogs to the standard of that ideal. Personally I have never seen any judge give the breed so much attention with the hunting quality and the breeding value so clearly in mind. Mr. Eric evidently liked his dogs a bit longer cast than most of the American judges, and that pleased me immensely, as I agree with Professor Leon F. Whitney, who suggests in his book 'How To Breed Dogs' that there is a great tendency in America to breed all dogs too short. Mr. Whitney also suggests that it is not logical to breed for huge chests to accommodate heart and lung room, and then to breed such short backs that the rest of the dog's interior finds itself crowded. Judge Eric liked his dogs to be muscular, and he expressed his regrets about several specimens which came before him carrying too much avordupois. Possibly he would smile if he only knew that some of the fat had been deliberately put on some of our dogs, the better to enable them to resist the extreme cold of our Canadian winters. Another consideration, no doubt, was the remembrance of so many of our dogs which had been presented to the judges streamlined, and perhaps on the thin side not faring any too well in the competition.

I know he would have had enjoyed a good laugh if he had known that Mrs. Donald Rogers whose dog went to Best of Breed, had been nervous about entering him for the show, because he had been running himself dizzy and was so thin.

The honours were pretty well divided at this show. Mrs. Rogers had winner's dog and Best of Breed with her "Fritzi" and Mrs. Lily Turner had winner's bitch. Among the puppies, Mr. Ray McLaughlin was the proud owner of best puppy dog and Mrs. Orville Warner had best puppy bitch with little "Patrizia of Kahlenberg".

Mrs. Pierre Desautels entered the ranks of the 'smooths' with a nice little 'Plater Schulhaus' bitch which made a successful debut in the novice class. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dickinson and the Desautels had an interesting showing of long-haired dogs—mostly puppies of their own breeding.

For sportsmanship, one must frankly mention Mrs. A. K. Hedley-Peek who sent three lovely wire-haired 'dachshies' all the way from Victoria, B.C. for the one day show. "Pumper-nikel" and "Frieda of Kilkee" were, I believe, bred by Mrs. Oscar Philipowsky and purchased by Mrs. Hedley-Peek. Both of them with their little pal, "Delilah" were benched near me and during the day, I became very much attached to them.

BUYING SPRINGER SPANIELS

Probably the largest sale of springer spaniels has just been completed by E. Chevrier, of Winnipeg, Man., who has, during the last few months, purchased over fifty springers from the Moira Kennels, at Belleville, Ont., the property of C. Tilbrook. The last consignment to leave Belleville, for Winnipeg, included that pillar of the stud book, "Irvine of Avondale", who will now end his days where he was bred and born. There is quite an interesting story about "Irvine". When Mr. Tilbrook bred his first litter of springers he asked the writer to come and dock the puppies. Maybe the dam paid too much attention to the puppies after they had been docked, anyway, the puppies all died that night. To make up for this loss, I wrote to Mr. Chevrier and asked him to send me a dog puppy to give to Mr. Tilbrook. One cold winter's morning the puppy arrived and nailed to the box was a letter giving the particulars of the pup. The description was "he may look like an ugly duckling, but his dam is one of the best bitches we have ever owned and he should make a sire." I wonder if Mr. Chevrier ever recalled these remarks when he read and saw champion after champion sired by "Irvine", amongst them Ch. "Dunoon Donald Dhu", best springer at New York in 1936 and himself the sire of several champions. Another of "Irvine's" famous "get" was Ch. "Professor of Moira", a sire of seven champions. "Irvine" is still a strong and vigorous dog and with the opportunities he will have in the place he was born, he should add considerably to his list of champion sons and daughters.

Notes From Manitoba

By MRS. J. L. PATEMAN,
836 Henderson Ave. E. Kildonan, Man.

NOW that the Festive Season has spent itself we are all in the process of settling down to serious business, with a view to sharing in the sport of dog showing, in the Field Trials, in breeding, buying and selling. I have been a trifle disturbed recently through the sudden death of Mr. Pateman's father, who had shared our home for the past ten years, and Mr. Pateman and I are going to miss him very much indeed. We have appreciated the expressions of sympathy from our many friends.

The annual general meeting of the Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club, was held on January 11th, when the following officers were elected:

Pres. George Duncan, Vice Pres. W. H. Chadderton, 2nd Vice Pres. S. Sikorski, Sec'y-Treas. T. A. Smith, 254 Dubuc St., Winnipeg, Man., Ass't Sec'y Mrs. R. Simpson, Executive: Mesdames T. Eamens, G. Clements, C. Joplin, J. Kerr, G. Skuice, and Messrs. R. Simpson, W. McBain, H. Griffith, W. Pettigrew and J. Cook.

The Secretary's report showed the Club to have been quite active and very successful during the past year, and the club to be in a sound position financially.

Plans were completed in connection with the Spring show, under C.K.C. rules, and in conjunction with the St. Agnes Guild, at which Harry Osborne, of Chicago, has been selected to judge, and it is hoped that he will meet the approval of all Western exhibitors and so attract a large entry.

Bulldog fanciers will regret to learn that J. W. Bradley has lost, by death, his English Bulldog "Bertie of Devon". When out exercising the dog one evening, it was noticed that he was not following at heel as usual, and investigation found him lying dead by the curb. Acute indigestion probably. "Bertie of Devon" had won 5 points towards his championship.

I made a pleasant visit to the Winnipeg Kennels the other day, and judging from the activity going on, and the improvements taking place this is likely to be one of the up-to-date kennels in the west before long. The proprietors Martin and Fitchett sponsor Cocker and Chow Chows.

W. Corson, late of this province, and now at Parkman, Sask., has disposed of his kennel of trained Labradors, and is now busy schooling a lot of promising youngsters.

And speaking of Labradors reminds me, that B. Aconly, has imported a good one, that may be a useful addition to the breed hereabouts.

A. H. Kirby, whose Boston Terriers shine at all the shows, has been very ill but latest reports say that he is now on the way to recovery.

For our March issue I will try and have some select and interesting notes which I will collect at Westminster Kennel Club Show, that will have general reader interest appeal, so likely to get past the blue pencil at headquarters.

Shouldn't the breeders of Manitoba use the business pages of Kennel and Bench and so assist materially in the success of our own magazine. I will gladly accept your advertisements, and send them along to Toronto office to be inserted in the business section.

OUR FRONTISPIECE

This month we feature the Winnipeg owned, Alberta bred, English bulldog, "Pulham Patty 2nd", C. K. C. S. B. 152135, who is the property of Mr. Sidney Grimble, Winnipeg, Man. "Pulham Patty 2nd" has scored high at every show where she has appeared and has won 4 winners ribbons, 2 best of winners ribbons, 3 best of breed ribbons and 1 non-sporting group ribbon, not bad winnings for 4 shows, but still there remains to be added 7 championship points that have a glamour all their own.

It is, however, as the family pet of the Grimble home that "Patty" really shines best, though her choice breeding which includes such outstanding bulldogs as (Am.) Ch. "Moravian Mandalay", Ch. "Crewso Sociable", and Ch. "Sociable Sugar" gives her another side which shines rather brightly. As a show specimen "Patty" is a very compact bitch. She is red fawn, and white for color, with a rare flat skull, beautiful lay-back and turn-up. She carries the best of ears that are always fully alive, sweet expression and boned like the proverbial little ox. She makes her presence felt wherever she appears in competition.

"Patty" was bred by H. G. McFarquhar, Black Diamond, Alta., and was born on September 30th, 1938. She became Mr. Grimble's property by transfer on December 16th, 1938. She started her show career at Winnipeg, on May 30th and 31st, 1939, when only eight months of age, under Judge J. G. Murphy, of St. Paul, Minn., by winning: First Junior Puppy; First Novice; First Limit; First Open Winners; Best of Winners; Best of Breed, beating two Champions; Best Puppy in Show, all breeds; also Best Novice in Show, all breeds, then winning the St. James Hotel cup and again defeating two Champions. Her next show was at Calgary under Fred Shawley, of Toronto, Ont., where she went Best of Breed; again at Saskatoon under Hugh Leslie, she went Best of Breed, and Best Non-Sporting. Regina came next with Mr. Squelch, and she went Best of Breed. At Sturgeon Creek, she went Best of Breed, also Best Bitch, All Breeds, in Show.

Her wins to date were all made while she was still a puppy. She is now heavy in whelp to "Pulham Daniel", and by the time this appears in print, should be nursing a nice litter. Good luck to her!

"Pulham Patty 2nd" has for her kennel mate Ch. "Pulham Daniel", a rare white brindle marked dog that campaigned most of the western shows in 1937-38 and was Best of Winners at Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club show in 1939.

George Kynoch takes care of the handling of Mr. Grimble's dogs and it is well known that the versatile George knows how.

The photograph from which our illustration was made was enlarged from a snapshot taken by the Grimble children right in their own garden.

Notes From Alberta

By H. P. SAUNDERS,
1010-4th Ave. N.W., Calgary, Alta.

CONGRATULATIONS have been pouring in on Alberta's "Grand OLD MAN", A. P. Patrick, J.P., on the occasion of his having negotiated his 92nd birthday happily and in comfort. Mr. Patrick is a very remarkable personality when measured by the yardstick of his life. No one would take him to be a day older than 70 years. He never wears spectacles, and he works every day as a Dominion Land Surveyor. For his hobby he favors English Setters and Pointers, and as a breeder he is proud of his home-bred Ch. Patrick's Jack. On the field, and as late as the past Fall, he has enjoyed splendid shooting sport on Hungarian part-ridge. A crack shot always and the man who follows in his trail has to move pretty fast if he would keep abreast of his shooting mate. We trust that he will long be spared to add further laurels to his name.

Congratulations are in order too to our Canadian Kennel Club president, Mr. Sparkes, Toronto, on the occasion of his bringing the outstanding "Sour Mug" of England, Ch. Basford Golden Nymph, to Canada. This dog will no doubt be a tower of added strength to the Bulldog fancy on the American Continent.

Calgarians have enjoyed a very mild Winter, so far, and the field men have enjoyed exceptional sport. The thermometer has never touched zero yet and the snow has been conspicuous by its scarcity and so conditions have been ideal for out-o-doors folks. Major and Mrs. Francis follow the Beagles every week-end, the dogs are as hard as nails, always "on the bit" and rarin' to go.

Reports on wild life are encouraging generally, and a good crop of game birds is assured for 1940.

At the December meeting of Alberta Kennel Club, President W. G. Climo gave a concise talk on the Bulldog, using Hugh Carney's good bitch for explanatory purposes. The address and demonstration were both acceptable and were well received. At the next meeting Percy Thomas will discourse on Pointers and will use his Ch. Touchtone Queen when discussing the standard. The Club is putting on a drive for members and this activity is in the hands of Miss Eileen Mitchell. The continuance of interesting meetings will be helpful in respect to Miss Mitchell's efforts.

What is the matter with our fanciers at Edmonton, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge? News from these cities has not been coming through since the New Year came in and whilst the war may be blamed for plenty, it can't be charged up with this apparent lack of co-operation, the element that makes this section of Kennel and Bench possible and desirable. A word to the wise, etc.

I have just brought in a pair of Setters, sired by the well known Shiplake Successor, out of Withlinee Winter, a daughter of Ch. Baydone Baronet. I am hoping for lots of sport with these youngsters at the shows and on the field this year.

How about the Province of Alberta waking up and taking on its share of the responsibility of making Kennel and Bench the paper we want it to be.

Notes From Saskatchewan

By MRS. W. M. KING,
2170 Hamilton St., Regina, Sask.

WELL, here we are again, with the New Year gradually picking up speed, and we trust that our Saskatchewan readers will get into step with it, and march right through with much gusto until December 31st. Let us make this a banner year for our own kennel activities with time out to oblige and encourage the other fellow wherever and whenever we get an opportunity to do so. We should always remember that the dog game is like life itself, and we just get out of it in proportion to what we put into it, however, the dog game is a fascinating hobby or sport—just as you make it, and can be enjoyed all the year round, for some breeding and exhibiting, for others both, plus happy days afield with dog and gun. I realize that I am an agreeable correspondent for our Saskatchewan page, but you should not shirk your responsibilities because of that, and you have a very definite responsibility with me, in furnishing the material to make this page a credit to our Director Walter J. Pym, to yourselves as members and readers, and to me as your correspondent. Have I made myself clear?

Regina Kennel Club installed its new officers at the January meeting, and our elected Director Mr. Pym will again be at the helm this year. This Club is taking up with the Saskatoon Kennel Club the difficult matter of entry fees, and out of town exhibitors should take steps to protect their own interests by sending the entry fees with their entries, if they would avoid disappointment or embarrassment. This is an evil that is due to be rectified.

One of the features of the Regina Kennel Club meetings, is the monthly lecture, and talk on the origin and development of the Cocker Spaniel, together with the popular place held by the breed, at the present time, was splendidly sponsored by G. Storey. At the next meeting the English Setter will be given the spotlight.

The fanciers at Moose Jaw have just suffered a hard blow through the death of one of their number who had often been tried, but who had never been found wanting, genial 'Phil' Lillie, dependable stand-by and past president of the now defunct Moose Jaw Kennel Club.

The late Mr. Lillie went overseas for the First Great War as a member of the Canadian Overseas Construction Corps, and gave 2 years and 3 months of his experience and effort in that capacity.

'Phil' was well known in fraternal circles, and was highly respected masonically. In doggie affairs he was a 'natural' and had his place in every scheme where dogs were featured, on the bench or afield our old friend's influence was substantially and constantly behind them. Our sincere sympathy to Mrs Lillie and her sorrowing family.

I thank W. W. Riome, for sending above sad news item along from Moose Jaw and by the same token it is pleasing to learn that Walter is again interesting himself in the dog game but this time with a new breed—Bull Terriers.

Those of our Wire Fox Terrier fans that keep tab on the winnings made at the shows will be familiar with the substantial standing of the 'Dewdney' Kennels in this respect. From the time that "Ch. Burlington Gallant Punch" garnered in the Golden Jubilee Year Silver, until "Dewdney Wedding Bells", was Reserve Best in Show at Calgary recently, the 'Dewdney' dogs have been winning high, wide and handsome, and speaking of 'Wedding Bells' reminds me that the mistress of the kennel heretofore, Miss Hazel Mabson, has been listening to the real wedding bells, and has taken over her new name, i.e., Mrs. W. Millerson-Maynard, and our best regards to both members of the new life partnership.

J. Turner, of the 'Croydon' Kennels had the misfortune to lose, by death, the Bulldog that featured one of the floats in the Travellers Parade at the Regina Exhibition last summer, after the float had been well placed in the judging, and had been very nicely received by the general public, but at last the loss has been redeemed, and the vacant kennel has been filled by a fine female from the 'Picadilly' Kennels of W. E. Cooper, London, Ont., named "Judy's Little Maid", a really well bred bitch that boasts the great Tri Int. "Ch. Bunjie" (Imp.) paternal grandsire, with a double cross of "Parkholme Barrister" (Imp.) on the maternal side of her pedigree. On the day that "Judy's Little Maid" arrived at Regina, the stork called and left twin daughters for Pa Turner for good measure, and whilst we wish the whole kaboodle the very best of luck, we still think that the drinks are on the 'Croydon's'.

Those members who sent me their kindly greetings at the holiday season, may be sure that I appreciated receiving their messages, but particularly the thoughtfulness of the gentleman who presented me with a very useful leather receptacle for the manuscripts appearing monthly in this column.

When sending your news items to me, you may send your advertising copy at the same time, and so help put Saskatchewan on the doggie map of this American Continent, as that is where our Province rightly belongs.

"GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY"

When our good old friend W. C. Burns, of Victoria, B.C., sent his customary good wishes to Kennel and Bench and its Editor, he takes the time to remark that it is to be regretted that entries for dog shows generally are much less to-day than they were years ago. One reason for the condition, in Mr. Burn's opinion, is that not enough attention is paid to the younger fanciers, or to exhibitors attending their first shows. Part of the blame may be traceable to the doors of the judges for their lack of attention, in the ring, that may not be good enough to win, this lack of attention leaving the feeling with the beginner, that they might just as well never have been at the show at all. Surely every budding exhibitor is entitled to get for his dog a good "look over" at least, with a kindly suggestion as to where the dog was lacking and so handicapped to the extent where he could not reach the ribbon line-up.

Another stimulation to the health of dog shows would be to prohibit dog show superintendents, ring stewards, or C.K.C. officials from taking dogs into the ring for competition. If such persons must show their dogs let them arrange for the services of a handler and so minimize the criticisms which follow this brand of procedure. Even though judges are honest and fair in their awards, even though the superintendents, stewards, etc., are justly entitled to any wins they may make, in Mr. Burn's opinion the whole thing looks bad and should be discontinued and so encourage the elimination of criticism.

Mr. Burns is of the opinion that we are apt to be too strenuous in the application of the "blue pencil" in respect to the reporting of Sanction Shows, because it is the Sanction Shows that are the roots of the point-show, particularly for beginners who like to find their names and wins in Kennel and Bench. The appeal for membership and subscription to the magazine being found there when an older fancier puts Kennel and Bench in their hands. These are the future members and their interests should not be neglected.

Obituary

The older school of cocker spaniel breeders and exhibitors will remember Jim Clark, Toronto, one of the early pillars of the breed in Canada and the man that George Kynoch contacted when he first came to Canada. Indeed it has been said that George was soon recognized as a member of Jim's family and we do happen to know that Mr. Clark's widow and the other members of his family still look on Mr. Kynoch as being one of themselves. We regret to chronicle the sad information that today, Saturday, January 13th, we will attend the funeral of Evelyn Clark, Jim Clark's favourite daughter and wife of J. T. MacLagan, who died in her 35th year. Our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Clark and her family.

Clarence S. Furness, Oakville, was with the A. McKim Limited, advertising agency, for 24 years. At the time of his death Mr. Furness was 65 years old. He was well known at Kennel and Bench office as our contact between the magazine and the agency and because of his daughter Loys-Ann Slean, wife of our good friend, Hill Slean, late editor of "Animal Life", Mr. Furness was favorably known in Ontario doggie circles and particularly amongst the German shepherd dog fraternity. Our sincere sympathy to Loys and Hill at this time.

Get Ready for the Shows

BUFFALO SHOW

When the smoke of the Westminster has cleared away, the next, close to the border fixture will be Buffalo Kennel Club Show on Saturday and Sunday, February 24th and 25th, which takes place in the Broadway Auditorium, when 1,000 of the best dogs of the United States and Canada will be in competition before a panel of carefully selected judges. $1,500.00 in cash and special prizes will bring the dogs far and near, war or no war. Ray H. Beale, the chairman for this year's show, knows how to make exhibitors feel at home, so the whole setting for the objective—1,000 dogs, is now in place.

CLEVELAND CLASSIC

We notice that there are two Canadian judges named to function in the judicial role at Cleveland, Ohio, on March 9th and 10th. Honourable Mr. Justice McFarland, Toronto, Ont., will 'pass the rule' over the Bull Terrier entry. Not only the White Cavaliers on this occasion but on the 'coloureds', as well. Walter H. Reeves, Belleville, Ont., will judge all spaniels except Cockers and Springers, and the Working Group.

INTERNATIONAL KENNEL CLUB OF CHICAGO

The 3rd annual show of the above club, will be the 39th show to be held in the City of Chicago, and all former records are in danger of being broken this year. In the modern Amphitheatre is seating accommodation for 8,000 people, and adjoining is the Stock Yard Inn, with its 225 rooms, and parking facilities for 4,000 cars.

The management predicts an unusually large participation in the Obedience Classes this year, owing, in part, to the great increase of interest in obedience training and trials in the Chicago area during the past year. These classes will be judged at the International show by Willy Necker, of Wheeling, Ill.

Children's Handling Classes will be judged by Owen Craighead, of Northbrook.

According to Mrs. Ellis, plans are also being made for another Amateur Judging Contest for children at this year's show, the first of which was held there last year. Emphasis last year was placed on the contestant's ability to score a dog of any breed of his own choosing and he was rated, largely, upon his knowledge of the breed's points and history. Officials of the show are now working on plans whereby actual classes of dogs may be judged, the awards to be made on the basis of comparative placings and reasons given for the placings.

Dr. Harry Jarrett, Philadelphia, who is well and favourably known in the Dominion will judge Best in Show.

TORONTO KENNEL CLUB SHOW

The Toronto Kennel Club, Inc., has been granted the dates March 22nd and 23rd, for its Annual Spring Show on Good Friday and Saturday. Owing to the scarcity of suitable buildings for dog shows, we are unable to state when the show will be held at the time of writing this notice, but the management of the club can be depended on to make the Spring fixture attractive in every respect.

GENESEE VALLEY KENNEL CLUB

After the show at Boston on February 18-19 the dogs will make for Rochester, N.Y., where Dr. Tom Buck, the genial President, will be supervising the comforts of the dogs and their owners. Dr. Buck has a warm spot in his heart for Canada and particularly for Toronto, and a special welcome awaits any of our Canadian fanciers who may decide to patronize Rochester show this year.
