MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

OF THE CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB, THURSDAY, JULY 18th, 1940

THE regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club, Inc., was held in the Board Room of the Club's offices, 25 Melinda Street, Toronto, on Thursday, July 18th, 1940, at 2.00 o'clock. The President, "Reg." P. Sparkes, presided. Directors present included: Walter H. Reeves, Dr. H. E. Batt, Mrs. E. Brown, Wm. McDerment, F. W. Walkerdine and W. J. Risewick.

The Asst. Secretary reported that the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Strachan, was progressing favourably in St. Michael's Hospital since his second operation on July 12th.

It was regularly moved by Mr. Reeves, seconded by Mr. Walkerdine and carried:

"That the Minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held Thursday, June 20th, be adopted as read."

The Asst. Secretary read a letter of thanks received from Mrs. T. P. Murray for the flowers sent during the recent loss of her husband.

The President reported that in accordance with the resolution adopted by the Board of Directors, his letter to Dr. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, had been posted on the day of the last Board meeting, June 20th, and that the Deputy Minister's reply of June 25th was published in the July issue of Dogs in Canada along with the report to the Board of Directors. The President also advised that Pages 6 to 10 inclusive of the July issue had been reprinted along with an explanatory memorandum from his office and this in the form of a pamphlet was being sent to all those persons who were members in 1938 and 1939 but who had not renewed for the current year, in order that they may be conversant with the present requirements of the Live Stock Records office in regard to identification. The President declared that he was firmly of the opinion that once the Live Stock Records had become "established" it would be in order to proceed with the matter of affiliation.

Certificates of registration issued by the Societe Canine de Monaco having been presented for consideration and examination, it was regularly moved by Mr. Walkerdine, seconded by Mr. McDerment, and carried:

"That certificates of registration issued by the Societe Canine de Monaco be recognized for registration purposes."

The Board considered four complaints in connection with registration, etc. and decided the action that should be taken in connection with each complaint.

In view of a recommendation made by the President, it was regularly moved by Mr. Reeves, seconded by Mr. Risewick, and carried:

"That Mr. Norman F. Brown be approved as co-signer of all cheques issued by the Canadian Kennel Club, Inc. along with the President, Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes, in the temporary absence of the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. James D. Strachan."

The President reported that he had received correspondence in respect to the approval of Mr. Strachan as judge of all breeds at the Children's Hospital Aid Society Show and the Board agreed that no change be made in their former decision.

It was moved by Mr. McDerment:

"That this meeting do now adjourn."

NOTE: These Minutes are subject to correction when presented for adoption at the next meeting of the Board of Directors.

CARRY ON!

IN EXTRAORDINARY times such as these through which we are now passing there is a tendency in some persons toward confusion, more particularly in thought rather than action. Others adopt an attitude of indifference toward their various spheres of activity and as a consequence it is almost inevitable that there will be a deterioration of spirit and effort in their everyday work and pleasure. Fortunately neither of these "psychological diseases" is general, nevertheless, they can become contagious and "infect" those who are determined to "carry on" if those lacking the intestinal fortitude and mental requirements of stability and commonsense are permitted to permeate the thoughts and feelings of their fellowmen and women with their ill-advised and totally un-British policy of defeatism and frustration.

These few words are therefore an appeal to those who have the sense to understand that by "carrying on", we can do more to successfully prosecute Canada's war effort than by passing up on our hobby and looking around for something less worthwhile to do. I do not for one moment suggest that those engaged in war work in any shape or form should permit their hobby to interfere with their effort, however, I do suggest that those who have the time and means should continue to breed and exhibit.

The facilities of The Western Fair (London), and the Central Canada Exhibition (Ottawa), fair grounds having been reserved for war purposes, these annual Exhibitions have been cancelled for the current year—consequently the dog shows usually held in conjunction with them have also been cancelled. Those show-giving clubs who are determined to continue with their fall shows because facilities are available should be congratulated and all exhibitors can show their appreciation to these show-giving clubs by supporting them to the fullest extent, particularly those shows the proceeds from which are being donated to the Red Cross or other similarly deserving organizations. This current issue of "Dogs in Canada" lists the forthcoming dog shows on Page 3.

There have been during the past nine months those who have alleged that the drop in the number of registrations, transfers, memberships, etc., was due entirely to the requirements of identification effective last September. Through the sympathetic understanding shown by the Department of Agriculture, these alleged shackles on our progress have now been removed and there can be no logical reason why those who refused to adopt one of the three systems of identification should delay in catching up on their registrations. Briefly the present requirements in respect to identification are as follows: Those who wish to continue to practice tattooing, nose-printing or charting, may do so. On the other hand, those who do not wish to practice any one of these systems may simply complete the application for registration form; the completion of the colour and markings section on the application for registration form constitutes "a system of identification" and meets all identification requirements. In other words, those who wish to register their dogs as they did prior to September 1, 1939, may do so. This arrangement, while effective immediately, is subject to the necessary amendment to the Constitution being adopted at the next Annual General Meeting.

Our canine pals place a tremendous amount of trust in us, therefore, it behooves us to see that their interests are not forgotten in these days of national emergency. As President of a national institution dedicated to the interests of purebred dogs, I sincerely recommend that everyone—

"CARRY ON!"

"REG." P. SPARKES,

President.

FROM FLEAS!

I started my vacation when we got Sergeant's SKIP-FLEA POWDER — it really kills fleas! Up till then, I was convention headquarters — for fleas. I looked like something the cat dragged in. My skin itches were serious. The Master got wise — and got SKIP-FLEA.

How we slaughtered those fleas! And fixed up my skin too — SKIP-FLEA POWDER is borated. Now I bathe with SKIP-FLEA SOAP (it kills 'em too), and take to the Powder between times. Get SKIP-FLEA SOAP and POWDER at a drug or pet store. Ask for the free Sergeant's DOG BOOK too — or mail this coupon.

FORTHCOMING SHOWS

The fall of the year is quite definitely "show time". At any rate readers of "Dogs in Canada" have usually found in their August issue a lengthy list of fall shows and this year, despite the war, is no exception.

The first show in August is that of the Toronto Ladies Kennel Association on August 5th. With the Show Executives, Mrs. M. Firman, Mrs. H. Shaw, Mrs. C. N. Gibson, and other ladies putting their shoulders to the wheel we anticipate that the Ladies as usual will have an excellent show. The judges will be Mrs. F. Small, Mrs. W. Wylie, Mrs. Floyd Roberts, George Hewson, R. H. Heppleston and Capt. H. Dudley-Waters.

The usual New Brunswick Kennel Club shows have been moved forward to August 19th and 20th, and the Bedford Kennel Club show held on September 14th. The regular shows held in conjunction with the Vancouver Exhibition are being held on Friday and Saturday before Labour Day and Labour Day. The Canadian National Exhibition, the Hamilton Kennel Club, the Ladies Club of Canada and the Boston Terrier Specialty Shows all fall on their usual dates. The Victoria City Kennel Club show will be held on September 14th.

Random Ramblings— Dogdom in England During Wartime

By PHYLLIS ROBSON, Editor of "The Dog World", England

HE WHO must be obeyed—i.e., your worthy secretary and my dear old friend, Mr. J. D. Strachan, has asked me to write "something" for "Dogs In Canada". "What shall I write about?" I asked. "Anything you please" was the answer, which wasn't very helpful as I've only been a few weeks in Canada and have not attended any shows or visited kennels since my arrival.

First let me say how delighted I am to be back once more in the hospitable land of the maple leaf. I have very happy recollections of my last visit to Toronto when I attended your big show, the Canadian National Exhibition, and met so many of your real sporting fanciers.

"How are things in England"? is the query I have been asked hundreds of times since I landed safely—with a big sigh of relief I don't mind admitting—on this side of the Atlantic. Crossing the ocean in war time is quite an adventure and when I got into New York harbour the prayer of myself and all my fellow passengers was—thank God for the British navy.

DOGS DESTROYED THE FIRST WEEKS

Now as to the position in England from a doggy viewpoint. There seems to be a considerable apprehension over here as to how we are carrying on. I have had innumerable letters from kind hearted people in the States offering to give dogs homes for the duration, but I don't find Britishers wanting to take advantage of the generous offers. At first, when war was declared, a large number of misguided people allowed themselves to become panic stricken and in the London area the number of dogs put down was heart breaking. Most fantastic figures appeared in the lay press stating that no less than 2,000,000 dogs and cats in London alone had been destroyed the first week of war. These figures were grossly exaggerated, though far more animals were put down than should have been. My own veterinary surgeon estimated 750,000 dogs and cats perished in the first six weeks of war and in the more populous and poorer districts of London, bodies had to be taken to the incinerators by the ton.

GOOD DOGS STILL IN DEMAND

I think many people allowed themselves to get stampeded on the question of food and thought there would not be enough for dogs. Others were perturbed about the effects of air raids on their pets. Others again feared our Kennel Club would put an embargo on breeding as they did during the Great War at the request of the British Government. Now, many of those who made drastic reductions are bitterly regretting their folly when would be purchasers come along and the kennel, like Mother Hubbard's cupboard—is bare. But the wise ones guarded their strains and in the majority of kennels enough good young stock has been retained to start breeding operations in full swing immediately peace is declared. Believe it or not—as Ripley says, there is still a demand for good dogs in England and buying and selling is going on. Indeed "business as usual" is the motto over there in spite of Mr. Adolph Hitler's threats and I happen to know that at the moment negotiations are taking place for a very high priced terrier to cross the Atlantic and have we not all read in the Toronto papers recently of your president of the Canadian Kennel Club paying $7,200 for a bulldog which has just landed from Great Britain. Dog lovers in England just can't be held down. After all there is not a shortage of food, the Kennel Club has not put a ban on breeding—though it has naturally asked activities in this line to be restricted and up to now I have not heard of cases where the raids have affected dogs and just about as good protection has been arranged for the friend of man by various societies as there is for humans in air raids.

BRITISH HAVE A GROUSE

The outbreak of war was an awful shock. We British are a peace loving nation and right up to the end the majority of us were optimistic that the powers-that-be would avert a conflict. When the blow fell, the doggy people groused. I think that a prolonged and honest-to-God grouse does some people more good than the sweetest music. Cheaper than medicine, it is also more effective. It is supposed to be an Englishman's privilege to grumble and we hated our activities being interrupted. We were just going to hold many of our big championship shows for which certain youngsters had been earmarked as world beaters, and alas! our dog world crashed about our ears. All shows were abandoned. So was everything to do with dogs such as field trials, greyhound racing and sheep-dog trials. Life for the dyed-in-the-wool dog show enthusiast becomes indeed a dull affair.

But not for long.

Our government realized that people without hobbies get depressed, especially with all the rules and regulation in force. The "blackout" proved particularly irksome. People simply had to have relaxation to keep up the morale of the country. So very soon the live wires' of dogdom began to get busy and early in November we held our first London dog show since the war. As large crowds are not permitted or desirable, it had to be on a small scale, but what a gathering there was! It was the first re-union for some months and was as welcome to dog lovers as an oasis in the desert to a thirsty man.

SHOWS FOR CHARITY

Since then many shows have been held, mostly in aid of the Red Cross and for comforts for the troops, and a large sum has been contributed by dog owners to these grand causes.

In the last issue of The Dog World just to hand no less than 62 shows are announced between now and early in September. Never was there a truer adage than "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy" and in these fixtures many men and women who are working overtime in the service of the country find a little relief from war news and activities. I learn there is a movement on foot to stop dog shows in England—not being on the spot, I do not feel qualified to express an opinion as to the necessity for this. The anti's hold that shows at present are quite wrong and ask what possible pleasure there can be in winning prizes where the competition is not as keen as heretofore owing to restricted competition. To get to shows a long distance off is impossible for the majority of people owing to the strict petrol rationing, but I am not sure that the competition is as lacking as has been suggested, in as much as a Cocker show recently received over 500 entries and averaged 13 per class. At the last moment the event was postponed owing to the critical war position which arose with the downfall of France, but 1,000 dollars had been subscribed for the Red Cross and it was hoped as a result of the event to hand over 2,500 dollars.

The pro-dog showite's—who are a very strong body which includes not only those whose sole means of livelihood in pre-war days was dogs, but others who have found in breeding dogs their means of escape from every day worries—contend that they have as much right to shows as have people who like a game of golf or cricket or tennis, or go hunting and shooting or pay visits to the theatres or movies. There is no doubt that for the 100 percent dog fancier, nothing gives greater relaxation than this hobby. Certainly any one who is pulling their weight in working hours is entitled to their own form of relaxation and is less likely to panic if enabled to retain something of a normal life. After all the British Empire is now fighting to preserve the right for us to live our own lives in our own way providing we don't interfere with the liberties of others. Who is to judge the relative value of relaxation? What is one man's meat is another man's poison. So much for the pros and cons of war time shows.

DOG PAPERS WILL CARRY ON

I have had quite a number of people in U.S.A. ask me if the dog papers were going to continue in England. I carried The Dog World through the last war almost single handed, and as far as I am concerned the paper will still be in existence when hostilities have ceased and Mr. Hitler has been put in his proper place. One of the happiest memories of the Great War was the large number of cheery letters I used to receive from the men at the Front telling me how glad they were to read about the dogs at

MORE PROOF THAT— "Saints Rest Bloodlines Are Winning Bloodlines"

Recently at Rochester's Boston Specialty show, a 4 point affair with 69 Bostons entered, Winners Male was "Royal Easter Parade" owned by L. Achenbach of Hersey, Penna. This dog is a full litter-brother to our own great stud, "Easter Parade".

At the same show, our own Easter Parade's half sister, "American Beauty", was awarded Winners Female. She is owned by J. Remonda of Syracuse, N.Y.

Saints Rest has personally attended 29 point-shows since the first of the year. We have seen 28 WINNERS ribbons given to dogs rich in the heritage of bloodlines which predominate in Saints Rest's kennels.

It is the same stock which produced our own International Champion "SAINTS REST DOUBLE ACE", who broke an ALL-TIME RECORD for the Boston breed by completing his title in less than 4 month's time from his first Winners ribbon.

His sire, "EASTER PARADE", now has another fast one to his credit. Word just received indicates that the lovely "Dawn of Shore Meadow", owned by George Moen of New York City, has received the required number of points, and confirmation of her U.S. Championship is being awaited. She, too, is sired by our Easter Parade.

EASTER PARADE by his producing record, and by his bloodlines is one of TODAY'S leading young studs. Remember, his "get" have 4 TIMES as many Championship points than any other young stud available in Ontario or Western New York State.

Breed to "EASTER PARADE" or to Int. Ch. "SAINTS REST DOUBLE ACE", and get into this WINNING stock.

home as a relief from the spells in the trenches, and asking me to keep the good work going. Many soldiers looked me up in London as they passed through on leave just to express their appreciation of my efforts to keep the "home fires" burning for dogdom.

Every mail brings me letters from the doggy people in Great Britain, who are determined to carry on—no matter at what cost. Optimism is the key note backed up with grim determination. "We can't be beaten" wrote one Scotsman last week "the Legions of evil will in the end be overthrown". I often think the old country must look a strange place at present. One friend wrote me a few days ago "I wish you could see the countryside now, it's transformed into a melee of all available obstacles against any possible form of invasion on Germany's part, all sign posts have been removed, even names that were on shops, entrances to golf courses, villages, in fact any that would give parachutists a hint of where they were—have been blotted out. Such fun trying to find your way about, it's just too bad if you don't know your way, you might go round in circles. If you ask the way, the person must ask you for your identity card, before telling you, and if you haven't got it with you, then whoops dearie! nothing doing, and you are liable to be pounced upon as a spy or something. Next thing are the big wide roads—every hundred yards or so with wires stretching across high enough to let buses go under without slicing them in two, but affording protection, so that troop carrying planes can't come down on them. All open spaces have been dug up in a series of long trenches at various angles thus making them unfit for landing on—open fields have been filled in a similar way with old cars, upside down, downside up, standing on end, any old way in fact, long posts grouped together, sheep pens, old railway sleepers, piles of stone reminiscent of the pioneer days in Canada, when they cleared the land and stacked them up. Main junctions of roads are guarded night and day by soldiers in their little sand bagged turrets, guns sticking out of peep holes camouflaged under netting, etc. Approaching important towns great barriers have been built across the roads, barbed wire galore and more armed soldiers ready to pounce on you".

I have a house on the water's edge which faces across the channel and is now a military area, a neighbour wrote me recently "this place is too near the enemy to be comfortable, the gunfire when they were fighting from Boulogne was continuous and we saw all the fires over there. It is interesting to watch the channel and see France in the distance and the German planes being engaged in dog fights with our men guarding convoys and how the R.A.F. do bring the Huns down. We have a front seat in the stalls to watch it all."

COURSING DURING AN AIR RAID

I had an experience myself just a few days before I left England when I was out coursing on miles of marshy ground just near my home. The noise of the guns was terrific and it turned out to be the home defenders beating off the German raiders who were trying to lay mines in the channel—but none of us took any notice—nor did the greyhounds who were—like ourselves—much more interested in the hares. Later on three planes bearing the swastika appeared over our heads—we could see the sign through glasses though they were flying very high, but we continued with our sport, feeling sure no "eggs" would be dropped in such a benighted area—nor was there anywhere to take cover had we wished to do so—but we were determined not to have a real good day's coursing spoilt by the Huns.

So much for the British spirit.

Many people have asked me how the air raids are affecting dogs—I can only say that in none of my home letters has there been any mention of ill effects. Here is what one friend writes "Not a sound from the family, canine, feline or parrot, when the sirens got us up at 3.15 a.m. last week. I quite expected the Springer bitch to assist them as she always did when they were tried in the day time. My shelter for the dogs is part of the house that used to be a coal shed and my great problem now is whether to disturb them at once on hearing the sirens or to risk waiting to hear gun fire getting near and then rush them up. The other night the "all-clear" sounded after 15 minutes, whilst I was still wondering whether to go down to them with a dog bowl on my head as a tin helmet! much to my husband's disgust of course. I am sure the only noisy one here in a raid will be the parrot who swings upside down when there is a lot of noise saying "Oh H——" with great feeling.

AN ANTI-NOISE COMFORTER

One enterprising woman has invented a pad for pulling over a dog's ears during raids and calls it the "Anti-noise comforter". It comprises an oblong pad of cotton wool not too thick, 14½ inches long and 5½ inches wide covered with some soft material. It passes under the dogs throat and over his ears and is tied together on the top of his head by ribbons. A cut out space is made to fit the neck. The comforter has a calming effect, the inventor claims and it entirely shuts out all noise. Gas masks and gas proof kennels have also been invented for dogs, mercifully up to the present these have not been required, but no one feels sure the Germans' will not resort to this special finishness at which they are such experts.

There is one thing this war has brought out and that is the great love of dogs which exists throughout Great Britain and mongrels have received the same attention as pedigreed stock. In London, a grand animal lover, the Duchess of Hamilton inaugurated a scheme whereby the dogs of poor people who could afford no payment whatever were evacuated to kind homes in the country where they are being kept free of charge to be returned later on to their owners when peace comes. This great work has brought happiness to many homes where it meant a real sacrifice to provide the family pet with food. But the gratitude of the humble dog owners has amply repaid the Duchess and her helpers for their great work.

"BE OF GOOD HEART"

Many of my home letters speak of the appreciation everyone feels over there of the great efforts Canada is making to help win the war—and just how great these are has been brought before me since I came amongst you and found, as in Great Britain, the spirit of defeatism is unknown. In many homes overseas, including my own is hung up in the hall the following motto:

"There is NO depression in this house, we are not interested in possibilities of defeat. They do not exist."

Everyone is following the advice our beloved King gave to the Empire when he broadcast on that fateful Sept. 3rd and said "Take heart in Britain and her Empire, in a nation resolute and determined to undertake any task that honour dictates, and resolve to do your share to defend that which is our priceless heritage—Freedom! Be of good heart!"

INTERNATIONAL CHAMPION "SAINTS REST DOUBLE ACE"

This little Boston recently completed his International title in less than four months' time from receiving his first Winners' ribbon and thus, according to Mr. Schelling, broke an all-time record for the breed. In acquiring his title he won 32 major awards (Winners or better) and 26 of these major awards were gained at the larger shows having 3 or more points in the Boston breed entry.

He is owned by Bob and Dody Schelling of the Saints Rest Kennels located at Fort Erie, Ont. Incidentally his sire, Easter Parade, is also the property of the owners of Saints Rest.

"SHOWMAN OF SHOTTON" RETIRED FROM SHOW RING

Paul G. Quay of Gates Mills, Ohio, has given notice of the retirement of the well known English Springer Spaniel, Champion "Showman of Shotton", after a very successful career in bench show competition. Shown fearlessly for one year, "Showman" won 12 times for best in show, 15 times as best sporting dog, and 22 times as best of breed. These wins include specialty shows and the shows he attended in Canada. His handler was Billy Lang. Mr. Quay says, "we have had our fun out of him and can gain little more by further shows". This is a real sporting attitude.

If, by any stretch of imagination, England should ever run short of good Bulldogs, it is a pretty sure bet that one person in particular will come in for his share of the blame for such a catastrophe and that person is none other than "Reg." P. Sparkes. At any rate "he's at it again" and so another good Bulldog leaves England for Canada. This one is "Kamel Newington White Knight", an all white dog and only twenty months old. He has had a very splendid show career and although he is not a champion it should be remembered that there have been no championship shows in England since war was declared last September. At the North London Bulldog Association show he was awarded four firsts and the Diploma for Best Dog in Show, and at the West Middlesex show he was Best of Breed. A proven sire, "White Knight" has served four bitches, three of which produced litters.

The Hon. George Beresford of England, now a resident of Hamilton, Ont., recently visited Mr. Sparkes' Kamel Kennels accompanied by his charming wife, and purchased "Kamel Bunty Queen." A dog lover all his life, Bunty's new owner intends to show her and Mr. Sparkes predicts a bright show future for this daughter of "Ch. Basford Golden Nymph."

FOREIGN BODIES

By DR. ALLAN SECORD, Toronto

(An extract from an address delivered by Dr. Secord at the fiftieth Annual Meeting of the New York State Veterinary Medical Society at Rochester, N.Y., and printed in the "Cornell Veterinarian".)

IN THE dog family, one of the favorite ways of attempted suicide is that of swallowing large and small undigestible foreign objects. In general, dogs are usually able to look after themselves and either get rid of these objects by regurgitation or by passage through the intestine with the feces. However, the nature of the ingested object is often such that it becomes lodged in the oesophagus, stomach or intestine and would cause death if not removed.

Dog owners should be warned of the danger of giving their pets rubber toys to play with. These are frequently swallowed and often cause a fatal stoppage. The recent craze of youngsters to play with "Bo-Lo" balls, an arrangement of a small soft sponge ball attached with an elastic to a flat wooden bat, has brought about an accompanying epidemic of gastrotomies necessitated to save the life of the family pet that swallowed one of these balls.

A dog bolts his food and when given cooked bones may hastily swallow a sharp pointed piece that lodges in the oesophagus or passes through the stomach undigested and causes an intestinal stoppage. Raw bones should be fed to dogs in preference to cooked bone as bone in the raw state is soft and easily digested and will not splinter. Certain dogs appear to have a specific mania for swallowing all kinds of objects. This unnatural appetite is recorded in many animals that have been maintained on an adequate diet so that it is not due to pica or perverted appetite of some dietary deficiency.

X-ray equipment is essential in the correct diagnosis and removal of most foreign bodies. While it is true that a good clinician may suspect a foreign body there are many cases where he could not be sure of his diagnosis without the x-ray to confirm it and give the detail necessary to bring the case to a successful completion. If your practice does not warrant this expense it would be wise to make contact with a medical hospital or a neighboring practitioner where such equipment is available to check up on suspect cases. The prestige that goes with the successful handling of foreign bodies, along with the sense of confidence which follows correct diagnosis, is such that no veterinarian who does any amount of small animal practice can afford to be without an x-ray equipment.

FOREIGN BODIES IN THE OESOPHAGUS

The act of swallowing produces the most force in the upper tract so that objects seldom lodge in the upper two thirds of the oesophagus. If there is any trouble it usually turns out to be a needle, pin or splinter of bone that has become lodged crossways in the throat at the start of the oesophagus. Fluoroscopy is a wise procedure if the object is not at once apparent. Do not mistake the hyoid bone in the larynx for a bone splinter.

Farther down in the cat, remember too, that this animal has a rudimentary clavicle or collar bone which might also be taken for a bone lodged in the oesophagus from certain angles.

A foreign body which lodges in the lower oesophagus does not appear to cause the animal as much immediately distressing symptoms as one that lodges in the upper tract. Cases are sometimes presented of long standing because of the vomiting that accompanies any attempt to swallow solid food rather than the idea on the part of the owner that there might be a bone lodged. All the cases which have been dealt with on my part where an object has become lodged in the thoracic oesophagus have been caused by a sharp bone. In each case the bone has been found to be just anterior to the oesophagus ring in the diaphragm. Apparently there is little if any power in the muscles of the oesophagus at this point. The fact that dog will swallow food ravenously and then bring it up almost at once is diagnostic. This is the so-called meat test. When a dog swallows food he does so ravenously and then regurgitates it with a characteristic painful gulping and bringing the head downward and inward. A dog's digestion does not start until food reaches the stomach proper so that a sharp pointed bone that becomes lodged here will not be digested. Often liquids can pass alongside of the bone and life can be maintained for months. A probang or stomach tube may also be passed successfully without dislodging the bone or pushing it down to the stomach where it would be digested. Other cases are on record where the irritation of the sharp points finally caused a perforation and death from pleurisy from the resulting infection.

FOREIGN BODIES IN THE STOMACH

The variety and nature of objects that dogs swallow and locate in the stomach would indeed make up a long list. Included are sponge rubber and hollow balls, hard rubber toys, stones, metal objects such as keys, rings, tap handles, beer bottle tops among the objects easily demonstrated under the x-ray or fluoroscope to cellophane, corn cobs, kid gloves, silk stockings, butchers twine, hard packed dry grass, hair balls, etc. that require some contrast medium or special technique to arrive at a definite diagnosis even with the aid of the x-ray. I am sure that every practicing veterinarian could relate oddities in the nature of objects recovered from the stomach.

Here are two cases that we have encountered.

"Sally" was a beautiful spotted Dalmatian puppy and a most attractive Christmas present but when she started to grow the owners finally decided she was no apartment model and gave her to relatives living on a farm. A few weeks before the lady of the house missed a string of precious pearl beads and a thorough search of the house failed to find them. One day four months later a long distance telephone call from the farm told the story that "Sally", now a grown dog, had been allowed into the kitchen as a special treat because of a violent storm and, apparently because of the unaccustomed heat of the stove, had been sick and brought up of all things the missing string of pearls.

The prize story is that of a golden Retriever pup that was presented feeling quite seedy after spending the evening eating all and sundry of the refreshments provided at a stag poker party. The overindulgence was treated with apomorphine and the pup presented us with 24 poker chips of assorted colours, red, white and blue, along with the bologna and other remnants of party refreshments. The owner when communicated with by telephone sent his chauffeur post haste to reclaim the chips and straighten out some argument that had developed when the party broke up the previous night.

The symptoms shown by a dog with a gastric foreign body are not constant and depend a great deal on the character of the material and size of the object ingested. Rubber and metal objects may remain for weeks and sometimes months without causing violent

Larger Litters - Healthy Pups "A CHAMPION in Each Litter"

This Breeder of Champions Endorses REX WHEAT GERM OIL

The above picture of the hungry Scotties shows one of two fine litters of seven pups each, owned by Charles Cooper Stalter of Paterson, N.J., a breeder of Champion Scotties. Mr. Stalter writes: "I have two different litters and there was a champion in each litter. I am using Rex Wheat Germ Oil and have been very pleased with the results. I feel there is little doubt that Rex Oil has contributed considerably to the success of my Scotties. I have been getting larger, healthier pups and have had practically no mating failures."

WHAT IS REX OIL ?

Rex Wheat Germ Oil is a natural source of Vitamin E (the anti-sterility vitamin). It is a specially-extracted, cold-processed, pure, unadulterated oil. It is definitely stabilized, will not go rancid, and its valuable Vitamin E content is guaranteed for one year.

WHY REX IS BETTER !

Tests have proved that no other wheat germ oil has higher vitamin E strength and that Rex is more stable. In addition it has plus values of lecithin and parts of the Vitamin B group.

symptoms. There is usually a history of vomiting and periodic attacks of inappetence and indigestion. Temperature usually remains normal. Animals sometimes are able to take fluids but cannot retain solid food. Other cases will eat solid food without trouble but are prone to vomit water. A talk with the owner will often give us a clue. We may find for instance that his dog has a habit of playing with small objects or that a small ball or rubber toy has disappeared. The easy cases are of course the ones where the owner suspects or knows that the object has been swallowed. I would say that any gastric condition that is chronic and fails to respond to routine treatment should be classified as a suspect foreign body and steps taken to make a thorough examination.

The removal of foreign bodies from the stomach may be accomplished in four ways. By vomiting induced by an emetic, passage through the intestine and out with the feces, by long instruments working under the fluroscope and grasping the object and pulling it up and out the mouth and by surgical intervention.

FOREIGN BODIES IN THE INTESTINE

Obstructing foreign bodies in the intestine are those small enough to pass through the pylorus and on into the small intestine and yet large enough that they are not able to negotiate the entire tract. Once they become lodged inflammation sets in and causes a complete stoppage. The higher the object locates the earlier and more severe are the symptoms. If the object is rough-sided and allows some gas and fluids to pass the symptoms will not be as severe as if there is a complete stoppage with gas anterior to the object. The higher the object locates the more persistent and violent the vomiting becomes. Vomiting is the earliest and most constant symptom of intestinal obstruction. Because of the vomiting the patient rapidly becomes dehydrated. The combination of nausea, abdominal pain and rapid dehydration produce a characteristic expression that will often lead one to suspect an intestinal obstructing foreign body even before a clinical examination has been made.

FOREIGN BODIES

GLOSSARY

Oesophagus—

Gullet—tube leading from mouth to the stomach.

Fluoroscopy—

X-ray—where a screen is used to register the picture only when the power is turned. Compared to an x-ray plate or negative that gives a permanent record like a film in a camera.

Hyoid—

Small bone in the voice box or larynx of the throat.

Larynx—

Voice box "Adams apple".

Rudimentary Clavicle—

Collar bone.

Cystic Calculus—

Stone in the bladder.

Mesenteric Lymph Glands—

Lymph nodules of the small intestines.

Pendulent Kidney—

Kidney loosely attached to the back bone.

The history is usually that of a sudden illness with loss of appetite, vomiting and excessive thirst. In the early stages the temperature is normal but tends to rise to several degrees the longer the obstruction persists. Intestinal foreign bodies are often palpable and are characterized by their mobility. The free movement of the small intestine is such that often the object slips away from the probing fingers and is pushed either backward into the pelvis or forward into the costal region. Careful palpation is necessary and may sometimes be helped by a digital rectal examination while the other hand pushes the abdominal content backward so that one can feel it with the finger tip in the rectum. Be sure to differentiate the possibility of a large cystic calculus, enlarged mesenteric lymph glands, spleen or a pendulent kidney.

X-ray examination is indicated wherever there is suspicion of an intestinal foreign body. The object is most likely to be a piece of hard rubber chewed from a rubber toy, a stone, piece of bone, beer bottle top, marble, peach stone, filbert or brazil nut.

ENGLISH CHAMPION "DIMAS EARTHSTOPPER"

This beautiful red Smooth Dachshund was imported from England recently by the Ellenbert Farm, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bertrand, Greenwich, Conn. Only three years old, he won seven championship certificates and was best Dachshund at the following shows: Windsor, Dachshund Club Specialty Show, Ayr, Cheltenham, Bath, Blackpool and Cardiff. He will be handled by L. L. Romine and is now at Romine's Kennel, Livingston, N.J., in top condition.

NOTES FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

By MRS. H. E. FLETCHER, 6998 Dumfries St., Vyncouver, B. C.

IT WILL not be long now before the fanciers meet once again at the Vancouver Exhibition shows. Because of the war the new building promised did not materialize, however, the old building has been completely renovated and the new improvements should please everyone. New benching, larger rings with theatre seats having leather cushions for the ring-siders, individual grooming tables and other improvements indicate a determination on the part of the Exhibition management to provide facilities that will make for a greater enjoyment of the shows by exhibitors and spectators alike. I also understand that the dog shows are to be major attractions at the fair and arrangements have been made at the border for the convenience of American exhibitors.

Provision has been made for automatic cash prizes and special cash prizes for novice exhibitors. Five specialty clubs—the Fox Terrier Club, the American Cocker Spaniel Club, the English Cocker Spaniel Club, the Doberman Pinscher Club and the Dachshunde Club—will hold specialty shows in conjunction with the first show which will be judged by Harry Osborne of Chicago. The well known George Kynoch of Winnipeg will "don the ermine" for all breeds at the second show.

The latest addition to the Winsome Kennels of Vic W. Williams is a Yorkshire Terrier, "Rose's Tea Bisket" by name. This tiny morsel is an offspring of "Raemon of Saham", recently sold to the well known movie actress, Mary Carlisle, for a record price. "Raemon" was imported from England last year by the one and only, John Rose. More Yorkshire news is the recent importation by the Rose Kennels of two pound "Lillyhill Midge". "Midge" is by "Lillyhill Superb", probably the best Yorkshire in Britain to-day and arrived from Scotland none the worse for the ocean voyage.

As a general rule litters are not reported in these columns however the arrival of what is likely the first registered litter of Miniature Pinschers in this province should not go unreported. This litter of seven, now six weeks old, is the property of R. H. McCullough of Vancouver who imported the dam from the well-known kennels of Dr. Harry Shier of Colorado. Incidentally Dr. Shier judged the breed at the last Morris & Essex. These little Pinschers are really miniature Dobermans, are smart in appearance, very affectionate and intelligent, make grand house pets and watch dogs.

The newly formed Fraser Valley Kennel Club, with G. J. Busby, the Springer fancier, as President, is planning a sanction show to be held in conjunction with the industrial fair at Abbotsford on September 6th. Your support of this initial venture will go far towards encouraging this, the youngest of the Club's in this province.

B.C. members and fanciers are indeed sorry to hear that our Secretary-Treasurer, Jimmie Strachan is in the hospital. They say "that you cannot keep a good fellow down" and it is our sincere hope that Jimmie will effect a speedy recovery.

News has just been received that our Director, "Vic" Williams is to do the honours at the forthcoming Victoria City Kennel Club show September 14th. A good entry is indicated as Mr. Williams is very popular on the mainland and the island.

Joe Dodds, the well known Fox Terrier breeder, has acquired a new Fox Terrier from England—"Newmaidley Olande" by name. Bred by Miss L. G. Beat, "Olande" is still a youngster and is by "Newmaidley Rex" out of "Tala-vera Leading Lady."

Stan and Mrs. Dainard are having a busy time keeping up with the sales lately. The "Alberstan" Cockers seem to go in pairs. Two were sold to Lady Dorothy Gibson of England who intends to take her purchases with her to England or Buenos Aires. Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rogers purchased two, Major Austin Taylor, two, and Mrs. G. B. Anderson, the former Ena Dodds, one.

W. H. Pym has returned from the Alberta Kennel Club show at Calgary and reports that this Club held one of the nicest shows imaginable. The Alberta Kennel Club at one time was about the most progressive Club in Canada, now they have the happy combination of experience and enthusiasm in their ranks with the "old Calgary spirit" riding high. There were several novice exhibitors in evidence and they received every co-operation from the old timers. The social side of Calgary dog shows has been revived, the ladies were entertained at a down town hotel during the show, and on the last evening, all hands sat down to a banquet Ye Old Malt House. The game is in excellent hands in Calgary, and the Alberta Kennel Club is a sporting organization that arouses your admiration. Exhibitors should not miss Calgary shows especially during the great Stampede week. Here you will meet "everybody from everywhere" and all out for a lot of good clean fun, and they have it.

His many friends in Canada and the United States will regret to hear that Thomas P. "Tommy" Murray passed away recently in the Shaughnessy Military Hospital. Very active in "doggy doings" since he was a boy in Scotland and Lancashire, England, the late Mr. Murray resumed breeding and handling dogs in Winnipeg following the Great War. He was Secretary of the Fort Garry Kennel Club, member of the Canadian Kennel Club, member of the All Terrier Club of Canada and officiated as judge at many shows in the United States and Canada. Too numerous to mention here are the many famous Cocker Spaniels bearing his kennel name "Goldstream" which earned their championships in Canada and the United States. Mr. Murray purchased for A. W. McLimont of Winnipeg the first Schnauzers ever shown in Canada and handled for the late B. M. Armstrong the first Golden Retrievers imported to Canada. Chairman of the first Junior League of Vancouver show, Mr. Murray was largely responsible for the success of the League's first effort at running a dog show.

Never overly robust in health from 1917 until his lamented passing, Mr. Murray spent the greater part of the last eight months in Shaughnessy Hospital. The sympathy of the fancy is extended to Mrs. Murray and family in their great loss.

Notes From Old Quebec

By W. W. ROONEY, 2331 Coursol St., Montreal, Que.

IN THE course of my rounds of kennels I visited the Malabar Kennels at Point Fortune, a veritable "house by the side of the road" where the proprietor is friend to both man and beast. Mr. Scarpa is too well known to need any introduction and those of us who have visited his establishment will agree that while it is small, it is a model kennel. Everything is wonderfully neat and clean; there is a place for everything and everything is in its place. Here the dogs comforts and cleanliness are the first considerations. Boxers, Wire-Haired Fox Terriers and Welsh Terriers are the breeds at this now famous Kennel. Some very nice young stock were the interesting feature of the visit. Wires and Welsh, I understand, are to carry the banner forward and very likely stock to do that job. The older stock, matrons that were the foundation stock, enjoy full freedom, sort of pensioners with full privileges. The grounds are beautifully kept, lawns and terraces with an abundance of flowers; all this on the banks of the Ottawa River. Mr. Scarpa intends to make Malabar a sort of Doggie paradise judging from his plans which will naturally take time to materialize. He is a collector of china dogs and his collection would turn most of us green with envy. A visit to Malabar is well worth while.

Collie fanciers will be glad to know that Mr. W. O. Roy is back in the sport with a vengeance and for a real "start" his sable Collie matron presented him with a nice litter. This may be a forerunner of new Collie activities locally.

Mr. LecLerc, the Doberman fancier, has added a few Great Danes to his kennels. As this gentleman is an enthusiastic dog fancier and exhibitor, we may soon see more good competition in this breed.

At the Dunroamen Kennels I understand the newest addition is none other than a Lakeland Terrier. If the figures mentioned in connection with this dog is any indication of quality, it must be a flyer. New breeds are like new blood, always welcome and interesting.

Miss Stella Gordon, third recipient of a "seeing eye" dog under the scheme sponsored by the Ladies' Kennel Club of Canada, has returned from the Morristown, N.J., school with her dog, officials of the Club have announced. Miss Gordon, while at Morristown, completed the month's training necessary to equip her for her new venture in life. The Ladies' Kennel Club will hold the annual show this year on September 28th and, from the proceeds, buy a fourth "seeing-eye" dog. The eye is the window of the soul and if all the efforts of all dog clubs everywhere never did more than supply one of the less fortunate souls with eyes of our humble canine, their efforts have not been in vain. A sense of security and confidence is our most priceless possession. I trust this sort of thing will go on and on until every blind person owns one of these trained friends of man.

An old Montreal Bulldog fancier wrote me the sort of letter that compensates one for the trouble of writing once a month. I would like all to see Sam Almond's letter. In part he says, "Montreal was the Bulldog market of America when 'he' was in Montreal." He speaks kindly of his associates and upbraids me for overlooking Jack Sheehan whom he says was his tutor. He says he is an interested spectator on the line watching the progress and although he is miles away, at heart he is with his Bulldog friends in good old Montreal and sends his best wishes to all.

In my notes for the July issue I mentioned the fact that I had received correspondence from far off British Columbia. Additional correspondence since received from that Province would more or less confirm the remarks made by myself in the July issue in respect to the British Columbia C.K.C. Protective Association. While I had prepared considerable copy in respect to the letter mailed out by that Association recently, the Editor has informed me that in the interests of the Sport and in order not to engender sectionalism, he is deleting all my notes on that subject. I heartily concur in any effort to make for a better understanding between all fanciers and I also agree that efforts to split the membership of the Club on any question should certainly be discouraged. If, however, those who, despite their statements supporting co-operation and sportsmanship, still continue to take action inconsistent with the progress of the Kennel Club itself, then I reserve for myself the right to criticize whether or not the Editor of the magazine is prepared to permit the use of the columns of the magazine for that purpose.

NOTES FROM ALBERTA

By H. P. SAUNDERS, 1010-4th Ave. N. W., Calgary, Alta.

I AM very sorry to announce the passing of Mr. John E. Hunter of Calgary, Alberta, for many years President of the Alberta Kennel Club. His death will leave a gap extremely difficult to fill. A devout Churchman, having filled the position of Warden, Mr. Hunter's experience and graciousness admirably fitted him for the many offices of trust and he did honor to them on every occasion. The funeral was held at Christ Church, Calgary, the services being conducted by Bishop Sherman. Mr. Hunter leaves a brother and sister in England, and many friends here in Canada who will miss him.

The thirty-fifth annual summer show of the Alberta Kennel Club, held in conjunction with the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, took place on July 10th and 11th with the popular Wm. H. (Bill) Pym of Vancouver judging all breeds in a manner most satisfactory to all exhibitors. His placements are recorded elsewhere in this issue. The Secretary and executive had worked hard and consistently to try and bring the calibre of the show as high as possible and the many kind expressions made by those in attendance certainly indicated their labor was not in vain. The President of the Exhibition Board and his staff worked right in harmony with all concerned and had the building thoroughly cleaned and whitewashed, then it was decorated by experts, so when Phil Heather, Vice-President, called the crowd to order and introduced Mr. E. L. Richardson, retiring President of the Calgary Exhibition, who in a very appropriate speech declared the show open, the crowd seemed then to realize Calgary dog fanciers had made material advances along Show lines. A two minute silence was observed in memory of our late lamented President.

Now if I might be permitted I shall go over the exhibitors rather than the dogs. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. O. Wood from Victoria brought over some exceptionally nice dogs and they were an adornment to our show, in fact any show anywhere. They have Cockers, both English and American, that can hold their own in any company. John S. and Mrs. Grant from Edmonton were on hand with real English Cockers. I believe they have the only champion red female English Cocker in Canada. Their dogs are all top-notchers and the kind that get right out and hunt, which makes them very much sought after both in Canada and the States. Miss Marguerite Mulligan from Edmonton, another English Cocker fan brought her entry and handled her dogs in a very pleasing manner. S. Saidman from Winnipeg was on hand for the first time bringing that old campaigner Ch. "Cinders of Heavensgate", one of the very best Cockers on the American continent. Mr. Saidman has a very charming personality and delighted all who met him. His dog already had many admirers here for he is popular wherever shown. Jack Goff always brings some wonderful Cockers teeming with quality and this time was no exception. Wm. Armstrong also from Medicine Hat is very partial to Springers and captured the coveted Best in Show with "Quantoock Caroline", a Springer that will go on and make as much history as any that ever left the kennels of J. and E.

Rawlings. I hope they remember what I told them when I judged "Caroline" as a pup in Edmonton last summer.

Bill Burrows of Medicine Hat did not look one bit peeved when his Boston "Burrows Royal Kid" went winners. Long may Bill be spared to come to Calgary! Norval Grayson now has a kennel of very fine Toys and does he delight in showing them. I was much impressed with the entry of Mrs. Ashmead, her Toys are the kind that can get right out and win anywhere. Bobby Thomson is an adept at putting dogs down in the right way, in the right shape, and they always show up like a million dollars. If ever you saw team work it is Bobby and his Bostons for they do everything right at the right time. Edwin M. Wright had an entry from the longest distance in the Bulldog female "Jolly Jessica", all the way from Montreal. She is all type and the best disposition ever carried by a dog. Dalmatians were topped by "Trevenen Aldershot" owned by J. S. Lloyd of Calgary, another dog shown in marvelous shape. Mrs. Alice Toole takes no back seat when it comes to showing, handling or conditioning a dog, her Keeshonden were a delight to all the spectators.

Col. Ritchie exhibited Ch. "Viceroy" and did the crowd applaud when this gallant little charge announced to all and sundry he would take them on regardless of size. Col. Ritchie has just been informed that Ch. "Braw Lad", the Scottie bred by him and now owned in the U.S.A. continues to win at the larger shows over there. William Semple from Regina was on hand for the first time bringing along some choice Fox-terriers competing well with the entries of Mrs. J. Brooks and W. W. Pratt. Mrs. Cowan from Kaslo, B.C., had a real exhibit of Great Danes. Do you know this breeder was the very first to make a blue Dane a champion, and now her "Rungmook Rupahra" only needs one point to complete his championship, then he will be the first blue to enter the charmed circle on the American continent. J. S. Higgin, Peter Brasso and Simon Christensen had nice Danes and all did remarkably well. Our Secretary, Miss Eileen Mitchell, exhibited her lovely Harlequin, Ch. "Rungmook Rosemary", always a drawing card wherever shown. Welcome visitors from across the imaginary line were Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Brown of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, bringing with them a nice string of sporting dogs. They have promised to return and it is hoped they will.

The thirty-fifth Annual summer dog show went out with a bang for the Club had arrangements made to entertain at a banquet. A delicious dinner was served after which many speeches were made and all agreed that a very good show and a very swell banquet rounded out 1940. Everyone agreed to come back next year and bring their friends.

NOTES FROM MANITOBA

By MRS. J. L. PATEMAN,

"Glan Avon," Lot 116 East St. Paul, Winnipeg

THE ladies of the Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club have undertaken to hold a sanction show on the grounds of Mrs. Jopling's residence on Saturday afternoon and evening, August 10th, with the help of the Women's Auxiliary, 19th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery. The proceeds of the show will be used to buy comforts for the Royal Canadian Artillery now in England, and although the Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club had decided to hold a puppy show they felt that a greater effort should be made when the Women's Auxiliary of the 19th Battery were so anxious to work with them. The ladies are working very hard and already sixty special prizes have been donated by members and friends.

George Kynoch has consented to judge all breeds. Mrs. Kerr has been appointed Show Superintendent and Mrs. K. B. Simpson as Show Secretary. Mr. Chadderton has very kindly donated a registered Springer Spaniel puppy to be drawn for and tickets are now on sale. Arrangements to have the dogs transported free of charge from some central point in the city are being made. Crates must be provided for the dogs which will be taken by truck to the show grounds and returned again in the evening. Exhibitors will of course have to travel by auto or street-car. The ladies of the 19th Battery Auxiliary will sell refreshments on the grounds.

Another sanction show of much interest is that to be held in conjunction with the St. Vital Flower, Horse and Vegetable show on August 24th. H. H. Allen, one of the West's most popular judges, will officiate in the ring. Mr. Cook assures me that the committee have been working very hard for a good display of specials for competition.

Mr. Cann has moved to a very lovely spot on the river bank, an ideal spot for the raising of Bulldogs.

Mr. Sikorski had the misfortune to lose his good Fox Terrier "Bonadale Bonna". This little dog did a lot of travelling with her owner and will be greatly missed as she was the pet of the kennel.

Manitoba fanciers should remember that the success of this column depends on their co-operation in supplying the news on which the column is built therefore I would ask you to let me have your kennel news and notes. Remember also that an advertisement in "Dogs In Canada" is indicated if you have any surplus stock for sale or dogs at stud.

DOG PAINTINGS FOR LUXURY LINER

Edwin Megargee, well known painter of dog subjects, recently completed twenty-four paintings of famous dogs. These portrait studies are in the form of medallions and are to be placed on the twenty-four individual dog compartments in the ultra modern kennels that have been specially designed for the big luxury liner "America", the largest passenger vessel ever built in the United States. The paintings constitute a gallery of champions in which twenty-four of some of the most popular breeds are represented. Many of the dogs have taken international honors and all are owned by well known Americans.

To mention a few there are: The English Setter, Ch. Bayldone Bucaneer, owner, Mrs. A. Biddle Duke, Tuxedo Park, N.Y.; Pointer, Ch. Benson of Crombie, owners, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge, Madison, N.J.; Dachshund, Ch. Heidi d. Flottenberg, owners, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bertrand, Greenwich, Conn.

As Proved In The Tropics— GAINES FOOD KEEPS DOGS IN CONDITION

well known for his work in training dogs for obedience tests. These puppies are the third generation that have been fed on Gaines Foods.

Reduce Breeding Hazards with Formula 107-A

Think of the advantages of having an unlimited supply of natural milk—for orphan puppies—for nursing mothers—for weaning puppies—for run-down dogs! Science has made it available—Gaines Formula 107-A—almost identical to natural milk in chemical analysis and in feeding results. Two years' use finds its popularity growing.

During Hot Weather

Before the dogs on the U. S. Antarctic Expedition could reach their destination, they had to endure the stifling heat of the tropics—closely confined aboard ship. During this critical time, they were fed Gaines Food . . . the condition of these dogs proved the ability of Gaines Food as a hot weather diet. Try it—your dogs will respond to its "balance" . . . its reservoir of vitamins A, B, D, E and G . . . its Starch-Splitting Enzymes that aid digestion. Intestinal tracts—coats—eyes—will escape the troubles that heavy, uncooked foods produce. The conditioning problem, next fall, will be easier. Use the coupon below—learn why really important kennels are switching to Gaines this year more than ever before.
