Blitzkreig Declared on Improper Feeding

OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE

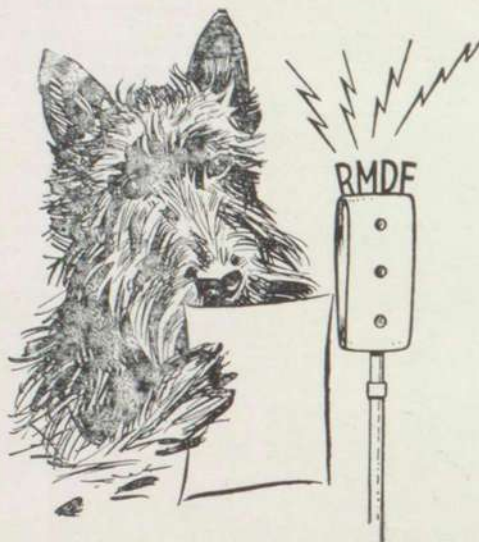

Despatch from Dogdom—

Kennel owners across Canada admit losses and poor returns in operations due to a hit-and-miss policy in feeding.

R-M Scores Big Success

Old Fashioned Ideas in Feeding Must Go if Kennel Owners are to Make the Most out of Their Business.

Cheap feeds, scrap feeds, foods that are not properly balanced are dear at any price. It's penny-wise pound foolish to skimp on quality.

You Get What You Pay for in Results. If Dogs are Vitamin Starved They Lose Show Appeal and Sales Appeal.

That's why more and more kennel owners find that the R-M way of feeding is the sure way to higher returns.

CALLING ALL KENNEL OWNERS

Latest announcement from Dogdom is to the effect that all dogs on R-M rations are healthy, happier dogs and kennel owners actually make more money in the long run.

Long Experience Proves that R-M is the Lowest-Priced Stamina Building Foods in Canada

If you have not already become one of the thousands of regular R-M users and have not yet written for samples and prices, it will pay you to do so now.

THE ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE

train their DOGS to be

Four-Footed SLEUTHS

Reproduced through courtesy of The "Tail-Wagger" Magazine

RECENTLY, in the field below the Rockcliffe barracks of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Ottawa, I watched three dogs being trained to be policemen. Two youngsters were very shy and not much inclined to show off, but Bachus, a Rottweiler, acted like a veteran and did his stuff in a workmanlike manner. He was expected to, for Bachus is the first graduate of the new R.C.M.P. dog-training school at Ottawa.

Big Bachus, although only two years old, possesses remarkable intelligence. He is the first of his breed to enter Canada, although since his arrival he has been joined by a mate.

Although the dogs are few and their work limited as yet, some of these new Mountie recruits are already famous in their own localities. They have made their own fame, as no official publicity has been given this new venture by the police. Each dog has a number and its own file at headquarters in Ottawa.

It is somewhat of a paradox that, in this scientific age, when police and detectives, in fiction thrillers at least, are making use of so many new inventions, they should be turning to dogs for help. Yet this is a world-wide trend, and the very best police forces are training dogs as an auxiliary force. London's Metropolitan police have established such a centre, and plan to send a trained dog with constables on night duty in the suburbs and lonely areas. It will warn the constable of approaching danger and take messages back to the district station. The South African police have a large training depot and more than 300 dogs. Many European cities have dogs attached to their police forces, and in the United States their use has become widespread.

The dogs trained for the R.C.M.P. at Calgary were all of the Alsatian breed. At Ottawa two new breeds were introduced, largely on the recommendation of the South African police. Bachus and his mate are Rottweilers, and the two shy pups are of the Riesenschнауzer breed. There is also a German shepherd in training at Ottawa. At Calgary the Doberman pinscher has been tried, but the thin coat of this breed makes it unsuitable for many parts of Canada in winter.

How Dogs Are Trained

A regular routine of training has been worked out by the Mounted Police for both dogs and the constables assigned as handlers or dog-masters.

Training starts in a quiet way when the dogs are but pups of six months, although if pups are born in police kennels they are handled and played with long before that age. The early training is proceeded with much as a colt is handled. The dog is never rushed, and, when young, is never worked very hard. Gradually and by slow stages it arrives at a stage of development when a daily routine commences.

During preliminary training, in fact for the first year or two, the dog only works with and for one master. As graduates, many of them learn to obey the commands and wishes of others, but in the early stages no constable interferes with another man's dog. The trainer or handler is always referred to as a "dog-master."

Implicit obedience is the first objective of all the early training. Experience has shown that a dog which will not obey instantly can often be a greater nuisance than aid. When the police talk of obedience they mean that, and no half measures will suffice. No matter what the provocation or how great the temptation, the dog must come to heel, crouch, or drop an object the moment its master calls.

To obtain this degree of perfection requires weeks and months of patient work on the part of the master. As a pup the dog is taught manners, how to lead at the end of a short or long rope, and how to heel. He is encouraged to play a great deal, and when he becomes too rough is checked at once. A special training collar has been devised for this early training, which allows the master to check a dog instantly upon a mistake having been made. Obedience comes to the dog largely as a result of the persistence and perseverance of the master. As daily training proceeds over weeks and months, the dog gradually knows exactly what is required at every command.

Superintendent Bavin's theory is that it is the natural thing for a dog to want to please its master. It gets a kick out of doing the right thing and seeing that the master appreciates it. This communion of spirit between dog and master, as it develops, is the real secret of success in training dogs. The dogs know they will be praised if they do right, and really try to carry out every command.

There is no substitute for kindness in training dogs, states Supt. Bavin. Dogs are never punished with a whip or stick. The usual form of punishment when some correction becomes necessary for repeated wrongdoing, is to make the dog crouch and crawl on its belly for a few yards.

"Dogs trained on harsh methods are never afterward satisfactory workers," is Bavin's dictum.

Although it is natural for such dogs as are used in police work to follow scent, yet careful training is required for them to do this properly. First they are held, and then sent off to find someone they know who has hidden. This becomes a game, and they are rewarded when they find the person. Later they are given some object used by a stranger who has wandered out of the dog's sight. Gradually, as training progresses, obedience tells, and the dogs will drop their nose and search for any given scent the moment the command is given.

They Must Be Athletes, Too

In order to be useful police dogs, they must learn to climb ladders, jump on and off platforms which represent box cars, jump through windows and over fences. This is done partly by example, using a well-trained dog as a lead, but mostly by asking the dog to follow the master up and over these obstacles. After the dog has been taught to retrieve, a bone or dumbbell will be thrown over or upon such obstacles, and the dog will learn to climb and jump while retrieving. A heavy dog can be taught to climb a seven- or eight-foot straight board fence where there is not foothold. Once a dog becomes proficient at following a scent, it is a comparatively easy matter to teach it the other "tricks," as a dog will follow a given scent in a direct line if it is at all possible.

As the training progresses, the dog following a scent is encouraged to call the attention of the master to, or retrieve, anything that the person trailed may have dropped. The master can encourage a dog to look for such objects, first by pointing them out to the dog, and then by showing great pleasure when the dog finds and brings him such an object. Later in their training, the dogs are sent back over trails so that they may be used to return to a given point with messages. At first the young dogs are bewildered by any but a fresh trail, but when they are old hands at the game they can follow a scent laid twenty-four hours previously.

Training normally takes twelve months. It is felt that a dog is a mature animal at eighteen months and should be a graduate student at that age, provided its training was started when six months old.

On his recent graduation day, Bachus, the big Rottweiler, showed how a dog handled the lost children problem. Some time before, a child had been sent wandering across the fields in a zigzag course and had been told to drop numerous objects along the way. Bachus was given a whiff of the child's clothing and told to get to work. Nose to ground, he went about the job in a painstaking manner, each dropped object being retrieved and brought back to the constable. Finally a loud yelp announced that the child had been found in bushes near the river. The dog brought a message back, then returned and demonstrated how gentle he could be by allowing the child to lead him home.

Remarkable Feats

The officer in charge of this as yet minor branch of R.C.M.P. work was asked to outline just what might be expected from these dog recruits when they are fully trained. His list is an impressive one. It includes:

The finding of children and adults lost in bush and forest. There have been many such cases in recent years,

PRESENTING TO BOSTON TERRIER BREEDERS . . .

Two of the Greatest Boston Studs Available in Canada

INTERNATIONAL CHAMPION SAINTS REST DOUBLE ACE

This sensational young dog has made history for the Boston breed, because in less than four short months he completed BOTH his Canadian and American championships, thus making a new all-time record for the breed. During that time, he was awarded 32 Major Awards (Winners or better), and 26 of these awards were won at the larger shows having 3 points or more in Bostons. He was campaigned without fear or favor, at all available shows from Ontario and Quebec south to Georgia, and from New York west to Missouri. Truly a REAL champion!

Int. Ch. "Saints Rest Double Ace" is in no sense a "flyer". He is the logical result of carefully planned line-breeding, combining two of the greatest winning modern bloodlines; a double-cross of Int. Ch. "Rockefeller's Ace", with an outcross to the blood of "Royal Kid".

and EASTER PARADE

EASTER PARADE

INT. CH. SAINTS REST DOUBLE ACE

An outstanding son of Int. Ch. "Elyria Easter Parade", out of the full litter sister of "Royal Kid", and ably carrying-on the heritage of both bloodlines.

Although yet a very young dog, he has already sired the record-breaking Int. Ch. "Saints Rest Double Ace", the lovely female (U.S.) Ch. "Dawn of Shore Meadow" (owned by George Moen of New York City) and other fast ones.

Here is a real sire who is producing large litters of exceptionally high quality pups. His "get" have 4 times more championship points than any other young stud available in Ontario, and over twice as many as any other young stud available in Canada.

(Owing to the fact that we have been appointed to officiate at the Canadian and World's Championship Power Boat races at the C.N.E., we shall be unable to exhibit some of our outstanding Bostons at the C.N.E. Dog Show. We extend a cordial invitation to discriminating breeders to inspect our Kennels and our stock at "Saints Rest.")

"SAINTS REST BLOODLINES ARE WINNING BLOODLINES"

We have personally attended 29 point-shows since the first of the year, and have there seen 28 WINNERS ribbons awarded to dogs rich in the heritage of bloodlines which predominate in Saints Rest's Kennels.

BOB & DODY SCHELLING, Canadian Address: SAINTS REST, River Rd., Fort Erie, Ont.

when hundreds of men have been employed on search parties. The police feel that one good dog would have solved the problem.

Assistance to police in finding trails from the seat of crimes. In country districts, such aid might be highly valuable and save a great deal of time and useless running around.

Finding lost articles. This in itself is frequently useful, but could be a great aid in crime detection. A gun, knife or piece of clothing found near where a crime has been committed may often lead to the guilty party. One of the dogs trained at the Western school followed a trail for miles over snow-covered prairie. Near a fence the dog uncovered a button in ten inches of snow. Later the police came across a man with such a button missing from his coat, and he proved to be the man they wanted.

The dogs are trained to rescue people from water and to retrieve from water.

The dogs are considered protection for a lone constable on patrols where otherwise two or three men might be necessary. A hunted man might hide in bushes, barns or houses where he would have every advantage that surprise gives. But nothing he could do would conceal his trail or presence from a trained dog. Cruising ahead, it warns its master of danger.

When a constable finds it necessary to leave articles of value, he can place his dog on guard. No one could touch those articles while the animal lived.

The dog will help a constable guard prisoners.

When searching buildings at night, the dog can be left to guard the exit, so reducing the number of men necessary on search parties. The dog acts as protection for the searchers.

The dogs are trained never to attack unless they or their master are attacked. If an aggressive move is made against them, they will stand up, even against gunfire, a knife or a stick.

That's a fair list of accomplishments, but the R.C.M.P. officers are confident their best dogs will do those things. They are not yet quite satisfied what breed of dog will do them best. The police files at Ottawa show by actual case records that dogs here in Canada have done them.

An actual case in point occurred at Moncton, N.B. when an automobile was stolen by two men who had just escaped from the county jail. Four miles out of town the stolen machine was sighted and stopped by R.C.M.P. constables. The two escaped prisoners jumped from their car, and made for the dense bush alongside a near-by river. It was dark and foggy, and the constables might have had difficulty following without the aid of Black Lux, Calgary-trained Alsatian dog, who always accompanies them on patrol. Black Lux was put on the trail, and within a few minutes had the men at bay in a clump of bushes. A word from the master and the dog came to heel, making no attempt to attack the men. The fact that the dog obeyed so promptly is, for the police at least, the chief point to his credit in this story. A full report of the case from the officer commanding in New Brunswick went into Black Lux's file at headquarters.

ful specimen of the Alsatian. He is the real star of the new police section and has already earned an honorable mention in many at difficult case. Dale was originally owned by an R.C.M.P. sergeant who frequently loaned him to the force. He became in such demand that he was taken on strength. His regimental number is K20 and he recently underwent a refresher course under a famous dog trainer. He has shown ability to work with more than one man and has been used on many cases in the West.

Dale has found lost children, has returned to base with important messages, has found money lost by a poor woman, led his master and other constables to a house when they were lost in a prairie snow-storm. When goods have been stolen he has led the police directly to the place where they were hidden. In 1935 two constables were shot and killed by desperadoes, and Dale led members of the Force directly to the place where the men were in hiding. The men broke cover as the dog approached and were shot by the police. Nine hours later an explosion in which arson was suspected Dale picked up a scent from a piece of dropped clothing and led the police over a long and difficult scent which finally led to the arrest of the guilty party. He is given credit for innumerable arrests.

Dale may be an exception, a wonder dog with almost human intelligence, but the police have great hopes for their dogs. Incidentally it is interesting that Black Lux, is a son of Dale. Maybe there is something in heredity after all.

This should be sufficient to show that in adding trained dogs to the force the R.C.M.P. are, at least, conducting a very interesting experiment for the whole thing is still looked upon as being in the experimental stage both as to eventual use and type of dog. But at the back of the Canadian experiment is the combined experience of some of the best police forces. For years the red-coated Mountie astride his faithful horse has been a symbol associated with the best in police tradition. Who knows but that in the future the symbol may be changed to a Mountie and his dog.

COCKER CLUB ENTERTAINED BY ITS PRESIDENT

On Sunday, June 9th, Miss A. Elsie Mayhew played hostess at a splendid picnic on her estate at Markham given in honor of Miss E. Fischer, who judged the cockers at the recent York Kennel Club Dog Show held at the Woodbine Race Track at Toronto.

About forty members of the Canadian Cocker Spaniel Club met at "Glen Rouge", and after viewing Miss Mayhew's kennel of fine cockers and admiring the grounds, gathered at the picnic grove amid spruce and pines. Bill Price, who acted as master of ceremonies, commenced activities by having the crowd participate in well-known picnic games. The nail driving contest caused many laughs, with Bill Price proving to have latent powers as a carpenter by winning this event, after defeating Miss Mayhew in the play-offs. "Pin the tail on the Cocker", a new twist to an old game, also created lots of fun, with Mr. F. Dagger coming closest to the spot and carrying off the prize.

Supper then followed, and what a supper! The table fairly groaned with good things to eat, and the crowd sure did justice to it.

A novel idea was carried out after supper, when each guest was given a small piece of colored plasticine and instructed to model on the back of their place card what they considered the ideal cocker. Miss Fischer was then asked to judge these and she certainly had to pass on some rare specimens of the breed. However, Mrs. Joe Hill's model was declared the winner, and everyone was heartily in accord with the judge's decision.

Undoubtedly this picnic will long be remembered as a most enjoyable event by all who attended.

—G. F. Burton.

Notes From Old Quebec

By W. W. ROONEY, 2331 Coursol St., Montreal, Que.

THE old adage, "It pays to advertise!" has proven its logic time and again. Speaking to Mrs. Percy Adams of Westmount, Que., I find that advertising does pay for this now famous Skye Terrier Kennel has sold Skye Terriers across the continent, in many cases twice to the same place and as far south as Florida. In recent weeks the Talisker Kennels have received some fifty-two enquiries for Skyes, in many cases for pairs, all of which is sufficient proof that this fine old breed is in demand and on the way to popularity again and rightly so for they are a grand dog from stem to stern.

Talisker Kennels are small but very active and at the present time are nursing two fine litters, one out of "Ch. Marielou of Merrymount" sired by "Ian O'Craig Mohr", a dog imported from Scotland in 1933, bloodlines that are almost extinct except for a few that may or may not be alive now in France. The other litter is out of "Holmesdale Tilda" sired by "Ch. George of Merrymount". This month one female from this famous kennel went to Winnipeg, being the second shipped to Miss Douglas. Astonishing "Lady of Talisker", a nine month old puppy, goes to Mrs. Chas. S. Dewey of Chicago to join an old kennel mate "Talisker Marcella" shipped early in 1939; "Lord Ross of Talisker", goes to Mrs. Ed. Waters, Huntington Valley, Pa.; "Lord Claud of Talisker" to Miss Emily Lyman of Englewood, N.J.; "Lord George of Talisker" to Stanford Drew of Los Angeles, Cal., this being a second purchase for Mr. Drew bought "Dauntless Lady of Talisker" last January.

Coupled with these fine sales are enquiries from Oregon, Florida, Boston and many other American and Canadian Cities. As well as keeping breeding operations interesting and at the same time popularizing the breed, sales on such a large scale and over such a wide area helps show giving clubs because these puppies, bred with the care I know they are, are all show specimens and may rightly be in the money wherever they are shown and the fact that new owners send for more means that they are not only satisfied with their purchase, but that they are intending breeding and good competition will be the result.

In passing, also, it is interesting to note that the world famous authority on this breed, Sir Claud Alexander of England writes:—"Save all the Skyes you can! We shall pull through but am not so confident about the dogs. I hope I shall be able to build up my kennel again with puppies, after victory is won", all of which points to the fact that England will look to Canadian breeders for stock when that day comes as surely it will come.

Honours have been conferred to Mrs. R. Percy Adams by the Skye Terrier fancy in U.S.A. by electing this enthusiastic breeder and exhibitor Vice-President of the Skye Terrier Club of America and may we add our congratulations for this well earned recognition.

Yes, advertising does pay and is proven by the long list of splendid sales. I trust this will be an incentive to other breeders to use the columns of "Dogs in Canada" to keep their stock before the public. I believe this magazine to be very widely read judging from the letters received by myself from all over the continent.

English setters seem to be in demand today and these demands are being met by local fanciers and from all accounts will be met for some time to come by our two local fanciers for both have imported new blood. First, Mrs. Detmold and A. C. F. Archambault import a champion dog from U.S.A. and, as usual, full of enthusiasm after his recent win at Toronto. There's nothing like a good win to boost the game.

Bulldogs and Montreal have long been synonymous and Montreal has long been a centre for "Sour Mugs". Miss Lydia P. Rafter of Ville St. Pierre, a suburb of Montreal, has just sold a Bulldog female pup, "Miss Not Lady Patricia", for three figures to Mrs. Lavia Willard of Mount Vernon, N.Y. This outstanding pup, out of Miss Rafter's "Buckingham Bright Star" by "Ch. Basford Golden Nymph", will travel in the modern manner when her new mistress will fly to Montreal and return in the same way with the pup. Good sales, like good wins, are the best boost.

With summer almost over, our thoughts turn to shows and of course the Ladies' Kennel Club is our next one on the local list, under the patronage of her Royal Highness, Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone. Entries for this fixture close September 14th and again with more strictness than ever. No late entries will be accepted, not because these entries are not wanted but because of the trouble these entries make. The Club regrets that so many entries had to be refused last year. They ask that those whose entries were too late last year, will make it a point to make their entries early and help in this worthwhile of all causes, to provide some blind person with a "Seeing Eye Dog". This will be the fourth such dog this Club has given to this worthy cause.

Needless to say all will be done to give all exhibitors all the comforts possible to make the day enjoyable. Shows can only be successfully run by the support given by exhibitors. Make this a date, Saturday, September 28th, and an annual meeting place for canine friends.

Judges will be the world famous G. S. Thomas who will judge Best in Show, Mrs. Warner S. Hays, N.Y. City and G. V. Glebe of New York.

I WAS ALLERGIC TO CARS

I knew what would happen when I got home, but a car made me see red. I might not be here today if the Mistress hadn't picked up a free copy of the Sergeant's DOG BOOK! The BOOK told her a real system for stopping me.

That DOG BOOK is required reading for any dog's family. It's full of expert information on feeding, training and how to tell and treat dog ailments. It's free to dog owners at drug and pet stores—or with this coupon.

WINDSOR KENNEL CLUB

The annual meeting of the above club was held on June 5th, when the general reports were considered to be entirely satisfactory. A good year had been enjoyed, with the club workers functioning harmoniously—the secret of success in any club—whilst the recent show was said to be the "biggest and best" in the history of the Club.

The following officers were elected: Pres., E. S. Jones (acclamation); Vice-Pres., Chas. E. Davis; Secy-Treas., Mrs. Wm. G. Wellwood (acc.) 61 Reedmere Ave., Windsor, Ont.; Executive: Mrs. C. Vandelindor, Mrs. R. Edwards, Jos. A. Smith, Alex. Napier and Wm. G. Wellwood.

AGREEMENT FORMS FOR PROTECTION WHEN SELLING

Agreement forms, covering the selling of registered dogs or unregistered dogs, sold on the distinct understanding that such dogs are never to be used for breeding or exhibition purposes, may be purchased through the Canadian Kennel Club office at the following prices:

One pad of ten sets in triplicate with two carbon sheets..... 25c
Single sets in triplicate with two carbon sheets..... 10c

The triplicate sheets furnish protection for the seller, for the buyer and for the Canadian National Live Stock Records.

NOTES FROM SASKATCHEWAN

By MRS. W. M. KING, 2170 Hamilton St., Regina, Sask.

AT LAST we have some items which may be of interest to the breeders and owners in Saskatchewan. Thru a visit to the Dewdney Kennels owned by Edward and Miss Hazel Mabson we learned that business is still improving and sales are brisk. Recently they have shipped some of their well-known wires to Tisdale, Rouleau and Estevan, all in this province, also one to Lettbridge, Alta., and a couple have new homes in their home city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Maynard (nee Hazel Mabson) spent their holidays at the West Coast and other points in B.C. and Alberta, visiting numerous kennels. Mrs. Maynard was particularly interested in the Dachshunds belonging to Mrs. Hedley-Peek of Victoria, also the Dandie Dinmonts, with the former breed being favored. It is possible they will be purchasing a Dach in the near future and with only one female of the breed in the City, we could do with more.

The most important item of news this month is the summer show of the Regina Kennel Club. This is not stated boastfully for Regina—we regret exceedingly that only one summer show was staged. However, we do hope that Saskatoon will be able to carry on and will have their regular spring show in '41 if they are unable to put one on this fall. The consensus of opinion is that Regina had one of the nicest shows it has ever staged. All the exhibitors seemed to be on the best of terms—after the judging as well as before. This, unfortunately is not always the case, although of course we know it should be. The total number of entries was down considerably (and this also applied to all the livestock exhibits). The quality, however, did not suffer—in fact the average was much higher—the top-notchers evidently were not among the missing. Vic. W. Williams put the dogs through their paces in a most praise-worthy manner (and made the exhibitors perspire profusely). With the show lasting three days nothing had to be hurried. For the judging of the groups the final evening of the show we were honored with the presence of Mayor Grassick and Mrs. R. N. Kelly (wife of one of the directors of the Exhibition) in the ring. Mrs. Kelly presented the trophies and spoke a few words to each winner. Mrs. R. Laing, on behalf of the local club, presented Mrs. Kelly with a bouquet in appreciation of the services rendered so charmingly. Later Mrs. Kelly advised the superintendent that she had never seen some of the breeds before—didn't know there were such dogs, and now she is quite interested in pure-bred dogs. The regular banquet had to be passed up this year, owing to lack of finances, but the exhibitors, while disappointed, were very understanding. It is difficult to know whether the audience or Mrs. Robert Simpson got the greatest thrill when that lady's "Brae Lad of Isla" went to best in show. It was a pleasure to see Mrs. Simpson's delight.

While still in the "Show" department, the president of the Regina Kennel Club, Mr. Pym, paid a visit to Moose Jaw recently to look over the situation there, and to get in touch with as many fanciers as time would permit. Walter Riome, who was such an indefatigable worker in the past, is putting all his energies into creating a beautiful garden out of his spacious grounds, and with more than a modicum of success. In his spare time he sits on the City Council. This is quite a loss to the fancy—but could the gentleman be persuaded to go "doggy" in the winter months? Mr. Riome has a very nice Bull terrier bitch, so we know he hasn't turned his back entirely on the dogs. Then there is Miss Freda Henderson, the Peke fancier, and erstwhile secretary of the Moose Jaw Kennel Club. From a conversation the writer had with this young lady some time ago, she is ready to give all the assistance possible should Moose Jaw wake up and resume activities. Mrs. Driver is still very interested in dogs, and has Springers, Irish Setters, Pekes and the Pom "Woodland Myth" also some boarding kennels. Practically all the doggy people in southern Saskatchewan know what a worker Mrs. Driver is. Then there is a new fancier in Moose Jaw—B. Clements, who has a very smart fox terrier (wire) and is intending to breed both wires and smooths. There is also James Booth, a real old timer who might help things along. From comments the writer has heard there seems to be very little sale for well-bred dogs in Moose Jaw at the present time. Well, it has been several years since a show was held there, and this might be the reason for the decrease in sales and indifference of Mr. and Mrs. Public. A show, with the attendant interest and advertising, is one of the best mediums of informing Mr. and Mrs. P. just "what is what" in dogs, and will lead to future sales. The members of the Regina Kennel Club would be only too pleased to assist in any way possible should the Moose Jaw fanciers wish to promote a show, so "Carry On" Moose Jaw.

It is with regret that we report the loss of Mr. Pym's smooth fox terrier puppy, "Bron-Wyn Dusky Don" which recently made such a good showing at Edmonton and Calgary, getting Best of Breed at both shows, and best terrier puppy at Calgary. Don was run over and killed by an automobile the day following his arrival home from Alberta. Mr. Pym had intended sending the puppy to the Vancouver shows as he was one of the best Smooths bred on the prairies for some time. Since then however, a new brood bitch has been added to the kennels, "Trixiene" from Vic Williams, of Vancouver. This bitch is the dam of two Smooths that have gone best in show, and is a daughter of "The Masquerader" ex "Eastview Ramona" (by Ch. Little Snip Snap Imp.). Her new owner intends to mate her to his "Sherdun Taximan."

Thanks to W. A. Childs of Saskatoon we have the following notes from that doggy centre:

It is with regret that we report the passing of A. E. Danby of Wakaw, an Airedale fancier for over twenty years and a continuous member of The Canadian Kennel Club since the last war. One of Mr. Danby's earliest champions was "Barnsley Boy". Bred by Mr. Danby, this dog was by "Pride of the North" out of "Jessie Marcelus" and "Jessie" was by "Barney B", a dog line-bred to "Ch. Endcliffe Crack" (imp), out of a bitch bred by the then well known Dufferin Kennels of Walter M. Berwick of Shelburne, Ontario. His latest champion was the female "Ch. Miss Romulus B 2nd", which dog completed her championship at this year's Saskatoon Kennel Club spring show. "Miss Romulus" was Best in Show at the Saskatoon Kennel Club July show of last year and is now offered for sale through an advertisement which appears elsewhere in this issue.

W. A. Childs of the Rockcroft Kennels reports shipping a black cocker dog to Leo Hoffman of Lapeer, Mich., also a black cocker bitch to Mrs. W. E. Porter of Denver, Col. Other exports are reported by Mrs. Randall—"Glendewar Candy" to Clyde Brock, Toledo, Ohio; "Glendewar Wing Commander" to B. E. McGrean of Tampa, Florida, and "Glendewar Dusky Dancer" to Miss Lena Myers of Ivycroft Farms, Wayne, Penn. Monty Wallace, breeder of the "Drumrod" Newfoundland, has now purchased a black cocker dog from Mrs. Randall, "Glendewar Colonel" by name.

Dave Kirton has added a new Scotty stud to his kennel, and this will round out a real Scotty kennel,

VITAMIN REX

WHEAT GERM OIL

Proves Itself Again

Chosen by Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited to fortify their new "Miracle" Dog Meal.

Following proof of the effectiveness of Rex Wheat Germ Oil in many leading kennels, we are now proud to say that after exhaustive tests, Ogilvie Flour Mills has decided to use Rex Oil in their prepared feeds, including their Dog Meal. This Company is one of the largest flour and feed mills in the world. The following letter from their Feeds Division speaks for itself:

"We have been studying Wheat Germ Oil as to its worthiness as a supplement to our feeds. Because of the data showing positive results with Wheat Germ Oil were largely done with extracted oil, we carried on these tests with REX Wheat Germ Oil. We were also aware that studies made by McKenzie and McCollum revealed the greater stability of Vitamin 'E' in extracted oil as compared to pressed oil.

"We instituted a number of carefully checked feeding tests under competent scientific supervision, using Rex Wheat Germ Oil in the feeding of cattle, hogs, poultry, dogs, fox and mink. Our results show conclusively that your product does preserve the Vitamin 'A' content of fish oils used for feed purposes.

Rex Wheat Germ Oil tends to overcome habitual abortion and appears to possess factors governing growth and that tend to prevention of rancidity. As a result of these studies we have decided to include Rex Wheat Germ Oil in all our balanced rations."

READ WHAT THESE READERS HAVE TO SAY ABOUT REX WHEAT GERM OIL

"We find the continued use of Rex Wheat Germ Oil aids in the growth and general condition of the dogs as well as the improvement in the quality of their coats."

"My Scotties have had a skin trouble which has been bothering them for more than three years. In less than a week after giving them Rex Oil, the skin trouble cleared up and their hair is healthy and thick now."

"I have been specializing in the breeding of Pekinese. I decided to try Rex Oil and am very pleased with the results. The last litters have averaged from four to five puppies, whereas I was only getting one to two before."

"I am using Rex Wheat Germ Oil and have been very pleased with the results. I feel there is little doubt that Rex Oil has contributed considerably to the success of my Scotties. I have been getting larger, healthier pups and have had practically no mating failures."

(Names supplied on request.)

What these breeders have done, you can do. The use of Rex Wheat Germ Oil may make all the difference between your kennels showing a loss or a profit.

SPECIALLY PROCESSED

Rex is a specially-extracted, cold-processed, pure, unadulterated oil. It is definitely stabilized, will not go rancid, and its valuable Vitamin E content is guaranteed for one year. Tests have proved that no other wheat germ oil has higher Vitamin E strength than Rex.

he already having two good bitches. Wilfred Hoy had the misfortune to lose his good McLaughton Irish Terrier bitch during whelping, but was fortunate enough to save two of the puppies, these being sired by "Newtownards Fiddlers Joe". Mrs. A. Carr has been casting her eyes over the Pekes recently and purchased one from Mrs. Massey, Regina, and another from Mr. Brown of Cupar, Sask. Mrs. Carr and Miss Bernice Brown are displaying considerable activity these days, building kennels, also breeding. Mrs. Steiman is now getting her Samoyed ready for the Fall circuit. There is plenty of room for dogs of this breed, and they have been quite conspicuous by their absence from the shows.

I would like to thank the friends who have taken the time to send me their notes, also for those who have invited me to see things for myself; it gives me a lot of satisfaction to be able to have some news once again.

SCOTTISH TERRIERS DO THEIR BIT

Canine exports to United States from Cossar Farm, Gagetown, N.B. helps to buy more seed and fertilizer for more crops, foodstuffs, and fruit for Canadians and overseas consumption.

Already two more Scottish terriers last month were sold and delivered recently to Sheriff James M. O'Reilly, Toledo, Ohio; they are "Cossar Chloe" and "Heather Labelia", Imp.; both left the kennels heavy in whelp. "Cossar Chloe" a daughter of "Ch. Reefer of Rookes", Imp., was bred to "Cossar Corsican". The latter is a very promising young black junior dog and son of the "Reefer" dog. "Corsican" is out of "Heather Labelia".

"Heather Labelia" was bred to "Cossar Constable" also a son of the same "Reefer" dog. "Ch. Reefer of Rookes" was previously reviewed in "Dogs in Canada" when exported to Sheriff O'Reilly this Spring. He reports since some very excellent puppies by this imported sire.

War or no war, supply and demand is active at Cossar Kenels. We believe the low water mark is reached in these kennels with some brand new puppies that may soon fill some of the many vacant stalls and runs. After all two young prolific sires with two very typical bitches can really carry on even in these stirring times.

NOTES FROM ALBERTA

By H. P. SAUNDERS, 1010-4th Ave., Calgary, Alta.

THE thirty-first Annual Dog Show of the Edmonton Dog Fanciers Club was held on July 17th and 18th with Arthur Wright of Vancouver functioning as judge of all breeds in a very capable manner. This was not Mr. Wright's first appearance at the Capital City as he was a former resident of Edmonton and he was welcomed back by a host of friends who were really thrilled with his excellent judging. For Best in Show Mr. Wright selected the Springer Spaniel female "Aberfeldy Suretrick", a daughter of Ch. "Frank of Avondale" and out of Ch. "Belmoose Betty". "Suretrick" was bred by M. B. McColl of Edmonton, was owned and handled by T. Quilley and was put down in marvellous shape. The Best of Opposite Sex went to a real Sealyham "Ch. Nutfield Senator" owned and shown by T. John of Edmonton. "Senator" was sired by Int. Ch. "Hillsome Solo Flight" and will always give a good account of himself when competing for top honors.

Edmonton always has been capable of putting on a show in real style and credit is due the President, Harry Nash, the Vice-Presidents, J. H. Tanton and M. B. McColl, the hard working executive and the energetic and capable Secretary, Miss Eleanor Rawlings. Add to the above the services of Bill Gardner, J. R. Benson and J. J. Patterson and one can look forward to the acme of perfection in the staging of a dog show.

Marsh Cunningham's good little Cocker "Captain Teach" completed his championship under Judge Wright. "Teach" received his first ribbon and five points in the Spring of 1936 and followed up with another purple ribbon and five points in the Spring of 1937, then took it on the chin to the tune of nine reserve ribbons over a period of three years before he was able to secure the necessary winners ribbon to complete a hard earned championship. Don't think that "Teach" objects to attending dog shows, he loves them, as a matter of fact, he would be heart broken if he did not get there. Moral,—keep showing your dog, it is good for the dog, good for the owner and good for the game.

Welsh Corgis were represented at this show by C. B. Holmes and Charles and Miss J. L. Batten, who between them were responsible for an excellent Corgi entry. Lt. Col. and Mrs. Cowan of Kaslo, B.C. sent along their Blue Dane, now "Ch. Rungmook Rupahara", the first Blue Dane to enter the coveted circle on the American Continent. The Cowans have the distinction of being the first to make a Blue Dane champion in the British Empire, this event taking place twenty-seven years ago.

Mrs. S. G. Collier, of Edmonton, is building up a kennel of English Toy Spaniels and has already imported some real nice youngsters and a female in whelp.

Mrs. Ayerst has imported a female Dalmatian and is now well on the way to a large kennel of this breed. A big litter sired by one of the best known dogs in the United States is housed here.

While Regina does not ordinarily fall within the scope of these notes, nevertheless, we cannot overlook the opportunity of remarking on the grand time the Alberta dog fanciers had at the Regina Show. V. W. Williams, of Vancouver, judged all breeds in a very superior manner and his placings demonstrated that he has given the standards close study. Mr. Williams is not a stranger in the Prairie Provinces, being a former resident of Lethbridge. His department is most pleasing and gentlemanly and he made a host of friends and admirers who will be glad to welcome him back.

Best in Show at Regina was a Cocker Spaniel "Brae Lad of Isla", bred and owned by Robert Simpson, of Winnipeg. This Cocker, a full brother to "Ch. Thunderbolt of Isla" who was recently sold to the United States, is a good one and will be heard from wherever he goes.

I was pleased to meet Mrs. Pettigrew, of Winnipeg, with her lovely Cockers, Mrs. Pat Randall with her "Glendewar Flag Salute", Jack Goff with his outstanding string of Cockers and J. W. Dudley who was also handling Cockers.

At this show Mrs. Oxenham sold one of her Pomeranian puppies to Baby Ruth of the American Shows. Baby Ruth weighs over 700 pounds and the Pomeranian almost an atom. I did hope to have a snapshot of the little lady holding the big Pomeranian, but Mrs. Oxenham did not get the negative in time.

Amongst the spectators watching the judging of Boston Terriers was George Duncan and his wife from Winnipeg and Bob Carter. These people are enthusiastic Boston breeders and watched with keen interest the judging. Loud applause greeted the winner "Trapystok Royal Nipper", owned by J. B. Lawson of Saskatoon, bred by George Duncan of Winnipeg, and ably handled by Pat Randall of Saskatoon. The three outstanding males were bred by George Duncan, one of Canada's grand Boston fanciers. Long may he be spared to come to our shows.

The English Bulldog "Jolly Jessica", owned by Edwin M. Wright of Montreal, followed up her wins of Best of Breed at Calgary, Winners Bitch in Edmonton, by going to Best of Breed at Regina, a very creditable showing after such a long journey. We hope to have other entries from Mr. Wright on our next circuit.

REDUCE BREEDING HAZARDS WITH FORMULA 107-A

Think of the advantages of having an unlimited supply of natural milk—for orphan puppies—for nursing mothers—for weaning puppies—for run-down dogs! Science has made it available—Gaines Formula 107-A—almost identical to natural milk in chemical analysis and in feeding results. Two years' use finds its popularity growing.

The hunting season is not far away. Feed your hunting dogs on Gaines Balanced Foods and your dogs will be in condition, ready for the hunt.

Gaines Foods are extensively used for the dogs at the famous Saskatchewan Dog Trials where dogs have to be in condition to be in the money.

tor, Walter J. Pym, who was untiring in his effort to see that things were run smoothly, and they did. I suggest that some of the male members of this club take off their coats and help Walter with the next show. WHY A ROYAL NAVY MASCOT WORE A GERMAN IRON CROSS

In the July issue of the American Kennel Gazette, official magazine of The American Kennel Club, will be found an interesting story of World War No. 1, written by Maud Turner, a noted animal artist of England, and entitled, "Why Biddy of The Royal Navy Wore a German Iron Cross." Incidentally Biddy was a truly British mascot being an English Bulldog. Miss Turner writes in part:

"My simple narrative of the post-war life of Biddy has brought comment on the ignominy of so truly British a dog being made to wear the Iron Cross. The truth is that Biddy came by her decoration under epic-making circumstances, and her master, himself the recipient of the Victoria Cross for his part in the affair, decreed that she should wear it always to the honored memory of a defeated enemy.

"The story was told by the rugged old seaman who delivered Biddy into my father's keeping after the war. . . . At the Jutland battle an incident occurred where Biddy's ship, by dashing in and drawing the enemy's fire, was able to protect a more valuable unit of our fleet and became involved with an enemy ship of superior strength. . . .

"Eventually, Biddy's ship gained the advantage . . . the fight was over . . . but an invitation to surrender was scornfully declined. The enemy chose to fight to the death, and her one remaining gun continued to blaze defiance up to the moment she sank beneath the waves. . . .

"The victory won, the immediate concern became the rescue of enemy survivors . . . among the first boatload was the enemy captain, horribly wounded, but still conscious . . . Biddy's attention was attracted to him by his efforts to raise his head. . . . As she moved toward him he greeted her kindly as "old dog". He even attempted to rub her ears. . . . Perhaps she realized that death ends all enmity . . . the fact remains that she so far forgot her dignity as to sit down beside her prisoner and lick his face. . . . As her caress descended upon him, a smile parted his ashen lips . . . With faltering fingers, he detached the Iron Cross from his breast, tucked it into Biddy's collar — and passed over."

Biddy guarded that decoration jealously for the rest of her life.

PRIVATE RECORD BOOK

Our private record book has become very popular with our breeders, and it will become more popular still as its value becomes better understood. Some fanciers have purchased several copies which leads us to believe that they are writing up back records for their own pleasure and information. One of our real old time fanciers, who has bred and imported Fox Terriers on a large scale for many years, has this to say:

"SPLENDID—JUST THE THING.

I wish we could have had these record books thirty years ago when I started in first, what a history I would have written up by now."

Well, it's better late than never they say, and now is a good time to start writing private records, because, when particulars are recorded there is nothing left to chance.

NOTES FROM MANITOBA

By MRS. J. L. PATEMAN, Box 2, Station F, Winnipeg, Man.

RECENTLY the writer had the privilege of visiting the establishment of "Bob" Simpson, proprietor of the cocker kennel "Of Isla" in North Kildonan. The first thing that caught my eye was a pair of solid black cockers in separate quarters. Knowing a bit about the breed I quickly observed they were above the ordinary run of good cockers. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson are not given to boasting about their dogs, and I had quite a time in gathering the facts. However I learned that the male, a lovely headed dog, was a home bred, Brae Lad of Isla, who had recently journeyed to Regina and captured top honours, "Best in Show", while the female, a recent purchase, "Sea Nymph of Barrie", was Winners at the same show. Quite a clean up by one kennel, and the most satisfactory part was that his own breeding went to the top. Bob has had this coming to him for a long time, and I am sure all breeders and fanciers will join me in the wish that his mating of Sea Nymph to Brae Lad will come up to his highest expectations from his new female.

As a part of the war effort the Ladies Auxiliary of the Greater Winnipeg Kennel Club, joined with the Women's Auxiliary of the 19th Battery, Royal Canada Artillery in putting on Sanction Show on Saturday afternoon, August 10th, in the lovely grounds of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jopling, situated on the banks of the old Red River. It was an ideal setting for an ideal sanction event. George Kynoch gave his services as all round judge and a real job he made of it. There was a good crowd, a nice lot of dogs, and a splendid spirit amongst the exhibitors. The lady members of the G.W.K.C. staged the whole event; a splendid lot of special prizes were offered thanks to the efforts of Mrs. Spinks. Mrs. Kate Simpson did a good job as show secretary and the most satisfactory result was that the net profits amounted to $217.69, which I believe is a record in this part of the country, seventy-five per cent going to the Women's Auxiliary 19th Battery R.C.A. amounting to $163.30. A nice contribution to take care of the comforts of the Boys now doing their bit for King and Country.

It was noticed with great satisfaction that George Duncan, President of the G.W.K.C., was an interested spectator at this event, and that he was able also to journey to Regina recently is a source of gratification to his host of well wishers and friends in the dog game in Western Canada.

News comes from the Gun Dog Club of Manitoba, that Adolph Hitler has seriously upset their plans to hold their annual field trial this summer and fall. The Chairman of the Field Trial Committee, J. E. Tulloch, has gone back to the Army and is now Lieut.-Col. O. C. of the 90th Royal Winnipeg Rifles; while his unit is now recruited to full strength his hands are too full to permit of his doggie activities. The Vice-President of the Club, Harold Taylor, is up to his ears in work assisting Major Flexman organize the Veterans Home Guard who as time goes on will be an important cog in the wheel of the defence of Canada. On top of this it is with sincere regret that their President, Glen McDonald, has been seriously ill for some time, and is still unable to attend meetings or take part in any of the Club's activities. "Mac", as he is fondly known to all his friends and co-workers of the club, is being sadly missed; he has the welfare of the club at heart and is keenly interested in any event that would encourage the sportsman to train his dog for field or marsh. His many friends in the sporting dog world will join with me in wishing him the best of luck and a speedy recovery. Other members of the Board of Directors are either drilling or in camp, so at their meeting held on Friday the 16th it was decided very reluctantly not to hold any field trials for this year in any event, but to continue meetings in the fall and keep an eye on conditions with a view of reviving field and other activities at the earliest possible moment. The club is in good financial condition.

Rumours have been heard that the suggestion has been offered by members of the Sporting Dog Club of Western Canada to the Manitoba Game and Fish Association to sponsor a field trial this fall. While I understand there is some opposition to the scheme from the viewpoint that the Game and Fish Association is not a sporting dog organization and is primarily interested in sponsoring the conservation of game and fish in this province, it is quite possible that there may be some sort of a field trial event this fall or late summer. At any rate the writer sincerely hopes so.

This War has surely changed, and will continue to change a lot of things.

Certainly it has welded the British Empire into one solid unit, determined to stamp out Hitlerism from the face of this fair globe. If a great Commonwealth of Nations can set aside their differences for the common cause, the survival of freedom in this the world we live in, is it not possible for us as dog lovers and breeders to set aside our petty differences and join in one big effort to put on an All Breed Dog Show this fall that will overshadow all previous events. With the officers of the two Kennel Clubs in this city co-operating it could be done. With proper organization and unity of purpose the two clubs could raise a couple of thousand dollars easily, that could be donated to some organization conducting war work. Isn't this something worth while? We could sponsor our own pet hobby, bury old prejudices, forget the past, start anew, and put Winnipeg on the map as far as the dog game is concerned. This is merely a suggestion and I do hope that it will meet with approval all around. The two clubs will be meeting very shortly and action should be taken at once if results are to be attained this fall. Let's go!

FAMOUS ENGLISH SPRINGER DEAD

The February issue of Dogs In Canada carried an illustration of the famous English Springer Spaniel, the twelve year old "Champion Beauchief Benefactor" together with his daughter "Dove Valley Benefactress". The latter was imported to Canada by Mr. W. P. Gudgeon of Hamilton and recently whelped a nice litter by Mr. Gudgeon's Int. Ch. "Whitelight. 'Ben', as "Benefactor" was known, was stone deaf and blind and was a great care to his owner, and consequently he was quietly put to sleep. Warner Hill, in his notes in "Our Dogs", has this to say on the passing of this great dog.

"My notes end on a very sad note for me personally, for this week marks the passing of Ch. Beauchief Benefactor. On his death I may perhaps be pardoned on referring to his career. Benefactor was out of Ch. Beauchief Bonetta, sister to Ch. Beauchief Buchanan, which I bred. Their sire, also a "Beauchief" sire, was Nicholas, of that good brace, Major and Nicholas, which were never beaten as a brace at any ch. show in the country. I have never been a great hand at statistics, and thus cannot give you the full list of Benefactor's wins. He won so many firsts and diplomas for best exhibit in show all breeds that I have quite lost count, and he was the only dog of his breed in England for many years to achieve the highest award of best all breeds at a ch. show. Many judges have expressed the opinion that he was the best Springer we have ever had. He excelled also as a sire, having a number of champions to his credit, and one must take consolation from the fact that I have his grandson with me, Beauchief Beaumonde, who is by Ch. Beauchief Beaucoupe, a son of Benefactor. His name will be kept in front of the American and Canadian breeders through Benefactress, who is already over there and will be making her debut shortly. She is just about the last of his progeny. Apart from a show dog, Benefactor was an excellent worker, and Mr. John Kent, the eminent field trial judge and trainer, was most complimentary on his working capabilities when Benefactor qualified under him at Sandbeck trials. Incidentally, Mr. Kent's co-judge at these trials was Col. Downes Powell, who passed the opinion that Benefactor was the best dog in the country, and only comparable with Dual Ch. Thoughtful of Harting, Col. Carrell's eminent winner of earlier days. A great dog which will probably be remembered much longer than his owner."

NOTES FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA

By MRS. H. E. FLETCHER, 6998 Dumfries St., Vancouver, B. C.

NEWs to hand from Mrs. C. Bloomfield, Secretary of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association indicates that she will be back in Victoria shortly and is planning on holding a fall show there in November.

Both Arthur Wright who judged at Edmonton and Vic. W. Williams who officiated at Regina speak very highly of the hospitality accorded them on their visits to the Prairie cities.

Mr. and Mrs. Figg from Edmonton, breeders and owners of good Pomeranians, have been visitors to Vancouver. I had the pleasure of meeting them when Mr. and Mrs. Wright were showing them the town.

A visit to the dog show building at the Exhibition is indeed a surprise. It may not be possible for most people to imagine that anything inanimate could have a warm feeling nevertheless that is my reaction to the colour scheme and improvements now evident in the dog show building. The ring is painted all around in yellow with green trim with the ring floor in green and the outside floor in brick red. The new benching is yellow with green trim. Put this against a white background and you have something that is both cheerful and clean. Some previewers were Billie Pym, Mr. and Mrs. Logan, Mr. Williams and Mr. Blair.

Mrs. Gladys McGee reports that sales are very good with three Doberman Pinschers and several Cocker Spaniels finding new homes. The latest addition to her kennels is a black and tan German Shepherd female imported from the well known kennels of Capt. and Mrs. Zingler. She is sired by "Bill of Black Forest" out of a daughter of "Ch. Erick Von Pagensgrub".

Many dogs owned by army men are stationed at Mrs. McGee's kennels while their owners are overseas so the proprietress calls it the Barracks Kennels for boarders.

I enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon when Mrs. Geo. Schroth visited my kennels accompanied by her son and mother and Mrs. Humber of Victoria. Mrs. Schroth has bred and sold some of the best in Dachshunde and when Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cameron of Whonnock drove down to our home to meet this well known Dachsie breeder, we all enjoyed a pleasant chat on our favourite breed.

George Busby of Popular Springer kennels of Abbotsford reports the sale of a nine months old Springer puppy to Mr. Vasseur of Chilliwack and a younger one to Mr. Wm. Tutton of Kamloops, B.C.

Norman McConnell well known in doggy circles as well as a breeder, owner and trainer of race horses will judge the Royal Melbourne Agricultural Dog Show at both Sydney and New Zealand. I believe that this is the first time on record that a Canadian judge will officiate at shows in the Antipodes and we wish Mr. McConnell a pleasant voyage and a safe return on his long journey.

Pat Brennan of Mountjoy Kennels recently lost his fifteen year old Boston Terrier, "Judy". This female supervised the raising of practically all the Boston litters in the Mountview Kennels and it will be remembered that "Judy" some time ago raised the only remaining puppy from "Ch. Mushon Miss Stepon" when that female died leaving the motherless puppy to "Judy's" care. Pat reports sales are brisk and his studs are kept busy. His female, "Flashy", is home from her trip to Portland where she was bred to Jack Playfair's "Rockefeller".

Mrs. Ralph Barrie (nee Dorothy Pottruff) has imported a new German Shepherd female, "Cara von Scrimpenhaur" out of "Pestana von Scrimpenhaur" by "Ch. Odin von Busecker Schloss". "Cara", a striking black with cream and silver shading, has a friendly disposition and is not at all nervous. Mrs. Barrie spent a week this summer at "Cara's" old home, Villa Marina Kennels of Santa Barbara, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Heckert Jr. The sire of this young bitch has run up quite a record in U.S.A. for groups and Best in Show awards and we wish Mrs. Barrie lots of success with her new purchase.

PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB PASSES

It is with deep regret that we report the passing on August 19th at his home in Fairview Ridge, near Norristown, Pa., of Russell H. Johnson, for many years head of the firm of Lawrence Johnson & Co., Philadelphia and for the past eight years President of the American Kennel Club. Mr. Johnson developed a keen interest in dogs in his youth and remained a life long doggist. He was especially fond of Terriers, established his own kennels, bred many fine specimens of Wire Fox Terriers, Airedales and other breeds and made frequent trips to England to acquire notable additions to his kennels. He was well known as a judge of Terriers at the leading dog shows but of late has not been active at the shows as either an exhibitor or judge.

Mr. Johnson was for 35 years a member of the Board of Delegates of the American Kennel Club representing the Wissahickon Kennel Club of Whitemarsh, Pa., a Director continuously since 1913, when he was first elected to the Board of Directors and last March was re-elected President of the American Kennel Club for his eighth consecutive term. Much of the prestige which the American Kennel Club now enjoys can be attributed to Mr. Johnson's insistence that affairs of the organization be conducted on a business like basis.

He leaves a widow, the former Natalie M. Sauvour of Chestnut Hill, two daughters, Elaine 10, and Natalie, 9; and two sisters, Mrs. Marshall S. Morgan and Mrs. Marshall Scull of Philadelphia.

The funeral service was held from St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, Whitemarsh, on Tuesday.

ALLAN C. McGUIRL OF OTTAWA DIES

The fancy in general and Cockerdom in particular lost a good friend and ardent supporter in the death at Ottawa on August 8th of Allan C. McGuirl at 46 years of age. Born in Ottawa, educated in the public schools, Lisgar Collegiate and Ottawa Normal School, he lived in the capital all his life and was widely known in sporting and musical circles throughout the district.

The kennel name "Ottawa", formerly the property of the late T. E. Armstrong, was transferred to Mr. McGuirl when he became a member in 1927 and the name is just as prominent to Cocker breeders today as in the past. He served as Secretary and Show Secretary of the Ottawa Kennel Club and on the Dog Show Committee for the shows held in conjunction with the Central Canada Exhibition.

Mr. McGuirl was also greatly interested in music, taught the Hawaiian guitar in Ottawa for some years and many times directed his Hawaiian orchestra over Ottawa radio stations and also at social gatherings and dances. Employed in the customs and excise division of the Department of National Revenue, he took an active part in the organizations of the Civil Service.

To his widow and children we extend deepest sympathy on behalf of all dog fanciers.

VINTON P. BREESE DIES

Vinton P. Breese, 61, of 161 Westville Avenue, West Caldwell, N.J., famous judge of dog shows throughout the U.S.A. and painter of dogs, died on August 12th at Orange Memorial Hospital, Orange, N.J. Mr. Breese's career as a judge of dogs extended over a period of 36 years, during which he officiated at more than 300 shows.

Mr. Breese bred his first championship dog when he was a 17-year-old clerk in a Newark, N.J., insurance company office. He sold the dog for $400, having paid $50 for its sire, and then bought another dog for $500. The dog, "Bright Helmsstone", he developed into a sensation and turned down offers of $1,500. A few weeks later the dog sickened and died. Despite this early set-back in his career as a dog fancier, Mr. Breese never left the field. He became a nationally known dog judge, wrote about them and painted them all his life.

His ability as an artist was inherited from his father, who was a painter. Mr. Breese's first artistic assignment was a comic strip artist for the old Newark Daily Advertiser. Later he did caricatures and sports cartoons. He also covered sporting events, mainly boxing bouts in old Madison Square Gardens, for the New York Journal. After these experiences Mr. Breese began devoting his entire time to dog lore. He conducted a dog column for the New York Sun and for 18 years was dog and horse editor for Town and Country. Lately he conducted the dog department of Country Life.

After judging dog shows at various places in the East, Mr. Breese's first big assignment came when the Westminster Kennel Club Show was inaugurated at Madison Square Garden in 1907, where he was called upon to judge Bulldogs, Bullterriers, Shepherds, and Boxers and fancy breeds, such as Bouvier des Flanders and Briards.

A VISIT TO THE SHIPLAKE KENNELS

It is probably to be expected that when any Canadian dog fancier serving in His Majesty's services in England goes on leave, he will, whenever the opportunity presents itself, visit the leading kennels of those breeds in which he is interested. Pte. J. P. Magee, an English Setter fancier of St. John, N.B., lost no time in visiting the internationally famous Shiplake Kennels where he was warmly received by the proprietress of the kennels, Mrs. J. English. Mr. Magee was very favourably impressed with the dogs he saw and suggests that Canadian breeders should secure the progeny of some of the fifteen English Setters exported to America by the Shiplake Kennels, the number of inmates of which has been greatly reduced since the outbreak of war.

CANADIAN TERRIER CLUB SHOW

Did you ever attend a dog show for over three hours, without hearing a single dog bark? The quietness of the dogs was not the least outstanding feature of a very interesting Sanction Show, which was held out-of-doors by the Canadian Terrier Club on the afternoon of July 27th. No doubt the fact that there were cool breezes off the lake, shady trees, and green grass, made the dogs feel more at home, but it is a fact that all through the afternoon's judging, there was not a restless or noisy dog.

The scene of the show was the beautiful grounds of Ballycliff Kennels, owned by Mr. Alexander Palmer, high on the cliffs overlooking Lake Ontario, near Scarboro Bluffs. The judging was done in rings on the large lawns, and the rings themselves were prettily decorated with colored pennants. In fact, these pennants were strung from the top of the tall tree in the center of the garden, to the four corners. The trophy table, under the center tree, was likewise decorated with pennants and garden flowers, and the summery shades of the ladies dresses against the dark green of the grass and foliage, presented a very striking appearance. Light showers did nothing to dampen the spirits of the exhibitors, and when the sun shone out in between, there was a general movement towards the shade of the trees.

After the show was over, what was originally planned as a basket picnic turned out to be almost a banquet, as a long table was made up in the middle of the lawn, and those who had not planned to stay, and had not brought their own baskets, were agreeably surprised by an invitation by the host and hostess, who supplied a delightful salad supper, and tea or coffee to everyone. Needless to say, the visitors did not hurry away from this lovely spot, and it was well on into the evening before the "party broke up."

DAUGHTER OF SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT TO WED IN MONTREAL

Of wide interest in Canada and the United States is the formal announcement made by our Second Vice-President, William H. Pym, telling of the engagement of his only daughter, Gwendolyn Northcote, to Mr. Milford Seymour Loughheed, only son of Mr. N. S. Loughheed, Vancouver.

Miss Pym commenced a promising musical career in Calgary. A graduate of the University of British Columbia, she is well known in international sorority circles, having served as District Governor of the northwest for her sorority Alpha Delta Pi, the only Canadian ever chosen to act in that capacity.

Mr. Loughheed attended the Royal Military College, Kingston, and graduated from the University of British Columbia in geological engineering.

The wedding will take place on September 12th in Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal. After a honeymoon at the Seignior Club, the young couple will make their home in Lamaque, Que.

CANINE BREEDERS' HOLD PICNIC

The Canine Breeders' and Exhibitors' Association held their first Annual Picnic at Huttonville Park on Sunday, July 14. More than one hundred members and their friends were present. There were balloon races, horse shoe pitching and slicing the melon contests among the regular picnic activities and everyone agreed that a very happy day had been well spent. Thanks to the weatherman, ideal weather prevailed.

NOW AVAILABLE TO BREEDERS and OWNERS

"Miracle" Dog Meal contains all the normal ingredients required for a scientifically balanced dog ration, plus "REX" WHEAT GERM OIL!

Exhaustive tests in leading kennels prove conclusively that all breeds and classes of dogs benefit by the addition of this valuable element to their ration. It maintains virility in males and tones up the entire reproductive system of both sexes. It supplies Vitamin B₆ so valuable in preventing and overcoming eczema and other skin troubles. And it contains a recently identified growth factor which aids the strong healthy development of pups.

Keep your dog or dogs in top form. Feed them "Miracle" Dog Meal from now on. It's thrifty—and your dogs will thrive on it. Buy it from your local feed dealer, or write direct to the manufacturers—

IN ADDITION TO WHEAT GERM and Wheat Germ Oil, "Miracle" Dog Meal contains the following ingredients—all first quality and fully tested.

Flaked Oat Groats, Flaked Wheat, Flaked Corn. These grains are carefully cooked by a special process thus rendering them very digestible and also giving flavour to the ration.

Soy Bean Oil Meal. An excellent source of vegetable proteins which tends to develop a glossy coat.

Alfalfa Leaf Meal. An excellent source of vitamin "A" and a good means of supplying roughage.

Irradiated Yeast. This is used for its vitamin "B" and vitamin "D" content. It ensures better bone development and growth.

Blood Meal and Fish Meal. These are cooked dried protein materials—the favourite food of all dogs with that meaty flavour they like.

Milk Powder. The proteins of milk are too well known to be described here and in addition to this, milk is a good source of vitamin "B₂" essential to growth.

Bone Flour. This is the finest source of Calcium and Phosphorus, the two vital minerals. They build bone, muscles, hair and tissues.

Iodized Salt. Iodine and salt are very essential for all animals and particularly for dogs.

Molasses. Added for flavour and as a mild laxative.
