What's Cookin' at Canadian Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals? Animal Week in Montreal

By Mrs. John Nethersol

Most dog lovers also love horses and animals in general, so we know all our readers will enjoy this article written in a light and amusing vein for Dogs In Canada by one of the greatest dog lovers in the world.—EDITOR.

MONTREALCHIDS (Montreal Orphans with apologies to Walter Winchell) to the Executive Committee of the C.S.P.C.A. for the splendid show they held recently, in aid of a Horse Ambulance for the streets of Montreal.

Said Committee consisted entirely of charming and charitable ladies, who decide that what this man's town needs is a horse ambulance, now that dear old Dobbin and the old gray mare, are back in business again. You know what happens just as well as I do, when a bunch of distinguished and determined dames desire something, and foregather to discuss it. They go places and do things, and like Kaiser, the ship-builder, produce results.

A barrel of bravos, to those great animal lovers who worked like the swing shift, day and night—night and day, to put it over with a bang for the above mentioned and most worthy cause. Best of all, they got what they wanted, the H.A. (Horse Ambulance to you.)

They exhibited a movie and made a radio broadcast on How To Be Kind to our Dumb Best Friends. Please don't get me wrong, I'm not referring to one's wife or husband or family or Sweetie-Pie, as the C.S.P.C.A. doesn't go in for that sort of Dumb-Best Friends, their only interest is the four-footed variety.

Well to continue with this saga of the Society, they really went to town, during their Animal Week's Exhibition, with a daring display of animal posters, designed by children who slung the paint and charcoal around in dashing and Dail style. Those pictures were wows and honeys from any angle you cared to view them.

A panel of famous artists judged the paintings and sketches by these children and awarded the prizes very artistically and judiciously, just as you would expect them to do.

Reams of reading matter was given away on What To Do and What Not To Do with one's pets, especially dogs, in the event of air raids and helpful hints on animal feeding, come meat rationing.

The Big Moment

Then came, not the dawn, but the big moment, which was the drawing of the donated prizes, all very snappy num-bahs.

A list of the items reads like "What Every Woman Wants", "What Every Man Goes For", and "What Every Child Cherishes".

Get a load of the following articles and unless I miss my guess, you'll rally round to their next rip-roaring event.

Now for the stupendous stuff:

A lovely landscape, donated by the artist, Richard Jack, R.A., which like the Canadian Army Show, fills the spectator with delight.

A wrist-watch, donated by Mappin's, that is as streamlined and modern as the world of tomorrow.

A bicycle (built for one, not two, but any Daisy would look sweet—upon the seat—in a play-suit. Moreover, it has RUBBER tires that are the real McCoy.)

A case of Red Indian motor oil, donated by McColl-Frontenac, fool-proof lotion to keep your motor running like Rommel in retreat.

A raincoat, donated by T. Eaton & Co., so very smart that it can also be worn sunny-side up.

A deluxe chest of Beauty Conselor creams, sure-fire improvement for any feminine pan and a genuine beauty-catcher (anything from a cute Colonel down might be ensnared.)

A doll, with trossseau, guaranteed to develop the maternal instinct in the toughest tomboy.

A permanent wave, donated by Palmer & Son (that gets in your hair and what's more, stays there—and gives a girl that Dorothy Lamourish look, with or without sarong.)

A dozen pairs of rayon silk stockings that will glorify and glamourize any pair of gams, like the great Ziegfeld.

A Copenhagen China Dog, the kind to which hard-boiled hotels and even harder-boiled landlords couldn't possibly object.

Last but not least, a turkey, a tasty and toothsome bird, who like them thar Flying Fortresses, is destined to wing its way into the interior.

A good time was had by all, even the customers who didn't win any of these deevine prizes, which is saying a lot.

The tidy, neat not guady, sum of over thirteen hundred smackers, was realized for the cause, which ain't hay.

Thanks to the C.S.P.C.A. and the big hearted citizens, Canada can now boast of its happy horses, delighted dogs, carefree cats and contented cows.

MR. A. ROBERTS IMPORTS COLLIE FROM THE STATES

Canadian Colliedom has received a great addition to its ranks by the recent arrival of a very aristocratic young male from the famous Bellhaven Kennels of Mrs. Ilch, of New Jersey. Mr. A. Roberts, of 115 Lakeshore Road, Humber Bay, Ont., is the importer. "Jack" is a very beautiful sable and white and his pedigree contains the creme de la creme of aristocratic Collie blood. He has the lovely head of his sire, the undefeated Champion Braegate Model of Bellhaven, and the same beautiful natural ears. He is sound as a bell and beautifully marked with grand bone and coat. In fact he is the sort that is almost "too good to be true", for though he was only born on July 13th, 1942, he has a particularly well moulded muzzle and looks like being a world beater.

Now let's take a peep at his pedigree. His sire is too well known to need any description. He is famed throughout the cult of the Collie as one of "the greatest ever" of his breed and the dam is Bellhaven Sweet Leilani.

Model was by Eden Electrician ex Braegate Lass. The former is from one of the most famous kennels in Great Britain, that of Fred Robson, of Carlisle, who turns out winners as regularly as clockwork. Leilani's sire was Champion Luckystone and her dam, Sister Sue.

Great Grandparents

In this generation we find the world renowned Laund blood from the kennels of Mr. W. W. Stansfield, Britain's Collie king. Eden Electrician is by Wellcroft Watcher ex Wellcroft Waffle, and Braegate Lass is by Alphington Diamond King ex Miss Betty. Then, on the dam's side, Luckystone is by International Champion Laund Luckystone of Bellhaven ex Int. Champion Eden Edith of Bellhaven, whilst Leilani is by Ch. Bellhaven Black Lucason ex Bellhaven Begonia.

Great Great Grandparents

In this generation there is a galaxy of stars. Watcher is by Blue Blend ex Wellcroft Whim. Waffle is by Int. Ch. Laund Lector of Bellhaven ex Wellcroft Westful. King is by Alphington Safeguard ex Alphington Primrose and Miss Betty is by Netherkeir George ex Beacon Lass. On the dam's side Luckystone is by Int. Champion Laund Langton of Bellhaven ex Lady of Leyban. Edith is by Eden Electron ex Pelton Flary. Black Lucason is by Triple Champion Lucason of Ashted O' Bellhaven ex Eng. Ch. Viola of Ashted O' Bellhaven and Begonia is by Champion Bellhaven Standard Bearer ex Ch. Miss Stronghold of Bellhaven. All names that represent everything that is best in Collies.

We must congratulate Mr. Roberts upon his intrepid purchase and wish him all the best of luck with his latest acquisition which should make history in Canada.

ENGLISH SPRINGER SPANIELS

We have a good looking litter, dark liver and white by Mr. Fred Jackson's International Champion Whirlaway out of our good bitch, Tonic. Sire, line-bred to Rufton Recorder; dam, line-bred to Marmion of Marmion through "Dry Toast", the "model" Springer.

OUR FRONTISPIECE

We are very proud to have on our frontispiece this month a Terrier which has made history, viz., Ch. Nornay Saddler, Winner of more Bests in Show than any other dog in the world. The story of this great Smooth Fox Terrier is interesting, he is now in his seventh year, but he seems to have acquired the secret of perpetual youth as he looks and acts like a two-year-old. The cult of the Smooth Fox Terrier on this side of the Atlantic owes a great deal to Mr. Austin. Time was when Smooths had to take a back seat to the all conquering Wires, but the coming of Ch. Nornay Saddler altered all this and nowadays at many shows the Smooths outnumber their Wire-coated brethren. Some day it will be known how much the genial Squire of Wissaboo has done for the breed.

Saddler was born in England. His mother was Wyrksop Surprise and his father was Ch. Traveling Fox. Saddler's birth at Worksop, Nottinghamshire, on March 12th, 1936, was unattended and almost resulted in his death. Frances Coward, owner of the dam, and her parents were sitting in their home one rainy night when the maid entered and said that Wyrksop Surprise had brought what she took to be a rat into the kitchen and that she was about to throw it into the stove. Mr. Coward, who had never bred anything but horses before, took a look and saw it was a dog.

Thus saved from extinction, the dog was named for Mrs. Coward's maiden name of Nornay and Saddler because of the small black mark on his back. Mr. Coward trained Saddler and when he was 8 months old entered him in a couple of local fox terrier shows. One judge predicted a "starry future" for him and the other said he would "create a furor".

Mr. Austin saw these comments and a picture of him in an English magazine and immediately cabled an offer of 100 pounds for him, which was accepted. On arrival Saddler had both distemper and malnutritional complications. He put Saddler to bed and hired a dog nurse to stay with him when he was not there himself.

In July, 1937, Mr. Austin showed the dog for the first time and after that he was shown on the average of once a week for the next 2½ years. By that time he had won 50 best in show awards.

Winthrop Rutherford, President of the American Fox Terrier Club, once said, "When they wrote the standard for fox terriers they closed their eyes and dreamed of Saddler." Both his weight and height are ideal for a fox terrier. He weighs 18 pounds and stands 15 and a quarter inches at the shoulder. His proportions are almost exactly those of the standard Rutherford mentions, although this was formed in 1876, 60 years before Saddler was born.

I think the proudest day in Mr. Austin's life was when he won Best in Show at the last Morris and Essex event, thus completing Saddler's 56th triumph. I see him now proudly receiving the Rockefeller Trophy from the gracious Lady of Giralda. With his face radiating happiness and pride and all the more pleasing was the fact that the win was so popular.

Ch. Nornay Saddler has staked a claim in history for all time. His remarkable show successes make him a super dog. His progeny, a long line of champions, place him as a stud force of equal merit. The picture of his first seven champion children, serves to amplify the accuracy of these facts, and in addition some other champions he has sired are Ch. Sabine Flashy, Ch. Wrico Solo Flight, Ch. Knockout of Wissaboo, Ch. Foxspan Goblin, Ch. Foxspan Little Fox, Ch. Goodtime of Wirehart, Ch. Kings Point Master Saddler, Ch. Predictor of Etona, Canadian Ch. Scarlet O'Hara, Ch. Foxspan Pinkerton Man, Ch. Clover Club of Wissaboo and Ch. Warren Soldier.

The Wissaboo Kennel, is no one dog one, however famous he may be, and Mr. Austin has recently imported from England, Bowden Night Reveller, a smooth with a great claim to recognition. He is by Bowden Incurable ex Bowden Friday Night by Ch. Caswell Baldu ex Bowden Fair Maid by Bowden Hamish. He has a good list of wins to his credit in England, including the Fox Terrier Club's 50 Guinea Challenge Cup. Reveller made his debut at Westminster and created quite a sensation and promptly went to Best of his Variety.

Anyone who visits the Wissaboo Kennels will be struck by the quality of all the dogs. There is not a light-eyed terrier amongst them. Legs and feet will also rejoice experts, and there is uniformity of size and the correct texture of coat with ample bone, combined with symmetry and beauty. In short, Mr. Austin has built up a kennel of well-balanced terriers, excelling in heads, with perfect legs and feet, and they are always as fit as the proverbial fiddle.

Full particulars of the terriers at stud will be found in our business columns, and Canadians are asked to note Mr. Austin's very generous offer which removed the Foreign Exchange Control requirements.

Phyllis Robson.

I LIKE THE AMERICAN TYPE COCKER SPANIEL

By BRUCE A. E. CLOUSE

of Kingsville, Ontario

MY REASONS for liking this breed are many, for as an all-round family dog for the average household, there is nothing like them. There is no breed so versatile, and at the same time so affectionate and eager and ready to learn.

Ancient History

Looking into the ancient history of the breed, here is an interesting quotation from the "Sportsman's Cabinet", published in 1803, where there is this graphic description of the Spaniel: "The race of dogs passing under the denomination of spaniels are of two kinds, one of which is considerably larger than the other, and are known by the appellation of the springing spaniel—as applicable to every kind of game in every country; the smaller is called the cocker or cock-sion and preservation of the Duke of Marlborough and his friends, these are invariably red and white with very long ears, short noses, and black eyes; they are excellent and indefatigable, being in great estimation with those sportsmen who can become possessed of the breed. It is upon record how much that unfortunate monarch Charles I was attached to spaniels, of which he had always favorites about him; and although they were supposed to be of the small, black, curly sort, which bear his name, they were much more likely to have been of the distinct breed of cockers, if judgment may be consistently formed from the pictures of Vandyke, in which they are introduced.

"The large springing spaniel, and the diminutive cocker, although they vary in size, differ but little in their qualifications except that the former does not equal the latter in the rapidity of action; nor do they seem either to catch the scent so suddenly, or to enjoy it with the same ecstatic enthusiasm when found. The smaller spaniel has also the advantage of getting through the low bushy covert with much less difficulty than the larger spaniel, and in that particular department may probably not tire so soon, whatever may be the length and labor of the day.

"Spaniels of both descriptions are used as finders in coursing with greyhounds, and are eagerly indefatigable in their exertions to find and pursue a hare, as they are in search of winged game with the gun. From the time they are thrown off in the field, as a proof of the pleasure they feel in being employed, the tail is in perpetual motion (which is termed feathering), upon the increasing vibration of which the experienced sportsman well knows when he is getting nearer to the object of attraction. The nearer he approaches the game he is in pursuit of, the more energetic he becomes in his endeavours to succeed; tremulative whimpers escape him as a matter of doubt; but the moment that doubt is dispelled, and the game found, his clamorous raptures break forth in full confirmation of the gratification he receives; and this proclamation may be so firmly relied on (though in the midst of the thickest covert), that the happy owner may exultantly boast he is in possession of at least one faithful domestic who never tells a lie."

Eyes Which Talk

Their beautiful head and eye expression, disposition and ability to hunt as hard as a dog twice their size, has made me continue to like them. That soft expression with eyes that fairly talk and a tail that won't stay still, there is nothing else like it. The American Type Cocker justly deserves its present high place in the favor of so many owners, both exhibitors and pet owners.

Cockers are not naturally aggressive dogs like some breeds, but are to a high degree intelligent, and should have as much human companionship as possible to bring out their best characteristics, and develop their brain and education, and should be given a chance to pursue their natural inclination to hunt. Enter your dog in field trials if you can, the exercise and training will be good for the dog and you, too, if you can't spare the time to enter in field trials, then by all means get your dogs out of the kennel and into the open country as often as possible. This from start to finish is a brain stimulator and developer to say nothing of a physical conditioner.

The dog which has from a puppy been educated as a companion and introduced to all the things which it is expected to come in contact with later on, is better equipped to take on dog shows, field trials, or whatever else it may be, right in stride and without any fear. Cockers have the mentality to do anything that any dog can do.

Hunters and Good Companions

In the cocker are combined the most desirable attributes of hunter and good companion. The fast-growing popularity of the spaniel as an all-round hunting dog is becoming more pronounced. They ing-spaniel, as being more adapted to covert and woodchuck shooting, to which they are more particularly appropriated and by nature seem designed." After referring to "the true English-bred springing spaniel", the author continues: "From this description the cocker differs, having a shorter, more compact form, a rounder head, shorter nose, ears long (and the longer the more admired), the limbs short and strong, the coat more inclined to curl than the springers, is longer, particularly on the tail, which is generally truncated; color, liver and white, red, red and white, black and white, all liver color, and not infrequently black with tanned legs and muzzle. From the great similitude between some of the cockers and the small water-dog, both in figure and disposition, there is little doubt but they may have been originally produced by a cross between the springing spaniel and the latter.

Sussex Spaniels

"Some of the largest and strongest of this description are very common in most parts of Sussex and are called Sussex Spaniels. The smallest spaniels passing under the denomination of Cockers is that peculiar breed in posses-will flush game from the most difficult places, running down crippled birds which otherwise would get away to die in some hidden place, retrieve pheasant and quail, etc., to hand, as well as water fowl from swamps or water. These days you probably don't have either the tires or gasoline to do much driving, so spend more time in the field with your dogs.

If you have a preference for some particular color, you should be able to find your choice in either the solid colors or parti-colors. I like all colors myself but have a special liking for a buff or red with a good dark eye and nose. The solid colors other than black have an uphill fight as they have to compete against the blacks which are far more numerous. I have thought for some time that there should be separate winners classes for "solid color other than black".

To quote a famous expression, "Let's Look at the Record". At the recent London, Ontario, show there were 61 cockers in a total entry of 208, at Windsor, Ontario, 68 cockers in a total entry

I Like English Cockers

By GERALDINE R. DODGE

There are certain attributes that are common to all breeds of dog, but in some these characteristics are so much more highly marked than in others, and in the English Cocker Spaniel we find developed to a very high degree the qualities that are most appealing. Though they have a silky and quite profuse coat with great feathering they are not difficult to take care of and can endure great changes of climate. Their eyes lend themselves to great expression and have a very soulful appeal.

Ideal Dogs

As a breed I have found the greatest devotion and loyalty coupled with friendliness and intelligent alertness and watchfulness and have known them to challenge without fear both man and dog in the defense of their master. They are an ideal size, neither too large nor too small.

They are very amenable to training and are really natural hunters and retrievers. They enjoy following their master either on foot or horseback and most of them are delighted with an invitation to ride in an automobile. They are very adaptable and are never happier than when undergoing intelligent training. At three months of age I have known them to make perfect retrievers and it depends upon the master as to which service he designates them; as a household pal and guardian, as his companion in the field and with a gun, or as a competitor in obedience work. In the show ring they are usually happy and we are very glad when we see them gaily marching around the ring with tail in motion and gladness in their mien.

A Fine Motto

The limitations of the Cocker's services are only restricted by his master's desires. He can fulfill one or all of these different assignments. It is up to his master to say.

"By loyalty: No truer friend than he Has come to prove his friendship's worth to me.

He does not fear the master—knows no fear—
But loves the man who is his master here.

"By countenance: If there be nobler eyes,
More full of honor and of honesties,
In finer head, on broader shoulders found—

Then have I never met the man or hound.

Here is the motto of my lifeboat's log:
'God grant I may be worthy of my dog!'"

AN ENGLISHWOMAN'S OPINION

Writing in the "English Dog World", Mrs. Hester Higgins, owner of the famous Falconer's Cockers, says: "I am often asked why the Cocker keeps on getting more and more popular. Honestly, I believe it is its face. I never claim all the good points for my own breed—a Terrier may suit you and a Greyhound me, and there is no 'best' breed. The Cocker's face has gone on getting more and more beautiful year by year and his expression 'gets' most people, and when they find that the Cocker can do pretty well most of a Terrier's jobs, except going to ground, that settles them."

of 282. Doesn't that entitle them to further consideration?

Many owners hesitate to enter their reds or buffs and therefore leave them at home, many others would breed more reds and buffs and show them if they had a chance to compete against their own colors for points. Also, I would like to see the American rule adopted of having the best parti-color as well as the best solid color go into the group, if that were the case you would see cockers win more groups in Canada as they now are doing in the States.

Therefore, as an all-round family dog for the average household the American Type Cocker Spaniel is the best bet alive today, because in him are combined the most desirable attributes of companion and hunting dog.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Should the Weight of Cockers Be Raised?

Dear Sir:

Several points of controversial nature were being discussed a short time ago, and it was suggested that I write you concerning them, as the opinions of a great many persons might then be secured. As one point concerns all breeds, while the others refer particularly to Cockers, I shall mention it first.

The majority of those in the discussion expressed the opinion (with which I do not agree) that non-registered dogs should not be shown—that is, a dog must be pedigreed before competing in shows, nor have in any way, any of the privileges of the registered stock. It often happens that purebred animals are not registered (I know of two cases myself) and later on it becomes impossible to effect a proper registration because of loss of breeder's name or some such cause. To me it does not seem right that the owner of such a dog should suffer unduly through somebody else's negligence. Could not two or three experts (of the breed concerned) inspect the dog, and if, in their opinion, the animal is purebred, then the Kennel Club could give it a special registration number? Such a procedure is followed, I understand, in England.

The next two points concern Cockers, in which I am more particularly interested. In the first place weight—I do not see why a Cocker should be ruled out, as it were, simply because he or she weighs 30 or even 32 or 33 pounds. This breed will grow to such weights, in perfect proportions, by a very selective diet. And if the dog, so fed, weighs 30 pounds, but in all other points conforms perfectly to the proportions of a Cocker (while better able to carry out the gaming instincts, for which he should be bred) why should he not have a chance against a 24-27 pounder and one who may not be, otherwise, as perfectly proportioned? The second point has to do with color and I put a hypothetical case before you. A solid red or solid black, and a parti-color are in the ring for best of breed, each is as perfect as is possible to breed, to the human eye and touch there is no difference in any place, other than color—which dog will be dropped first? Am I wrong when I say the parti will get least consideration? Why, for I believe color is not a factor?

In closing may I say that I have never shown a dog, so there is no axe being ground, but I would like to have the opinions of others, and I hope you are interested. And may I wish your magazine continued and greater success in achieving its aims and objectives.

Sincerely,

—A. M. Fitzgerald.

Toronto.

Your remarks in respect to the weight in Cockers represents a matter that Cocker fanciers might care to express their opinions about via these columns. As for your suggestion relative to the registration of dogs whose background is unknown or relatively so, we can only suggest that the appearance of a dog, even though 100 per cent that of the breed it is supposed to be, is no guarantee that it is a purebred animal and if used for breeding purposes will throw only purebred stock.—EDITOR.

More Than One Judge Needed

Dear Sir:

The writer, after having had the pleasure of attending and exhibiting at the two recent shows held in London and Windsor, Ontario, cannot help but take the liberty of addressing you on the subject of the Show Giving Club only providing one judge to do an all breed show, this to the writer's mind is pretty nearly asking a man to do the impossible, in view of the number of entries there are always to be found in one breed, let alone the length of time it takes to do a show, which I believe in London ran until 1.30 a.m., which in my case was far too late to sit up and see the show as I anticipated doing. There is also another thought that where the Show Giving Club has provided for only one judge there is the possibility of him becoming ill and not being able to attend and, in substituting, there is bound to a little different feeling on the part of the exhibitors by them not knowing who they were going to show under.

I sincerely trust that this letter will be received in the spirit that same is written.

—E. McKay.

What's the Matter With the Dog Shows?

Dear Sir:

Why is it through these turbulent times, when the majority of people having uppermost in mind to keep their shoulder to the wheel, production up, to achieve Victory for our war-torn Nation, that when we take a day off to attend a Dog Show for a bit of diversion and good sportsmanship, that such a large percentage of us come away from these shows with a feeling of utter dissatisfaction. Is it because the judge put our dog or dogs down? Is it because we did not bring home a few more red ribbons or the coveted Best of Breed? Oh no. According to the law of averages most of us are losers oftener than we are winners, but if we Doggy people could come home from a show feeling we had had a square deal all round, I believe that is all most of us ask.

There are certain rules and regulations constituted by The Canadian Kennel Club that might be a good idea to see carried out as well as a number of desirable practices which exhibitors have come to recognize by their constant use at championship shows; for example, the breeds in any one particular group being judged by one judge are usually judged in the order in which they appear in the catalogue (the new rules require that these breeds shall be in alphabetical order), consequently when the judging of a group has commenced, an experienced exhibitor can estimate the approximate time when his breed will be judged and can make the necessary preparations. When he finds, however, that for no apparent good reason, or to suit the convenience of any one individual that the accepted order of judging is changed, then he has a very definite reason to feel dissatisfied, especially when his breed is called hours after he anticipated. Transportation conditions today are such that it makes it difficult to attend the shows at all, let alone missing the last train leaving town, just because it might be deemed necessary for a few attendants to shift the whole lay-out around to suit certain individuals. There is no reason why a breed, which in the normal procedure would be judged around noon, should be held over to possibly the last group.

The smart judge today is the judge who gives each dog an even break. Let the exhibitor be given a position when entering the ring, and let the judge see that that position is kept. Whether it be a handler or a man showing his own dog, they are entitled to the same consideration, and the judge who wishes to receive the approval of the spectator should be smart enough to spend an equal amount of time on each dog, even though he has made a mental reservation as to which dog should go up top. Going into a huddle over a couple of dogs at the head of the line and casually glancing over the balance does not look good to the exhibitor or spectator. If he is going to open the mouth of one dog, let him go down the line and treat each one accordingly.

Another word about the spectator. Does he pay his money out to see the dogs or a number of crates with goodness knows what peeping out through the bars?

The dog show needs the exhibitor. The exhibitor needs the public. How about making a few adjustments here and there? None of us are much good alone in this old world, we are all part of a whole, each one depending on the other to build or pull down. How about it, Mr. Dog Show?

Crestwood Kennels, —D. R. Feetham.
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir:

Four other girls and I (who all own wire haired terriers — of a kind!) thought we would go down and see the dog show in and look at the wire haired terriers.

We got there about seven in the evening, bought catalogues, and hurried over to the part of the building where it said "Wire haired terriers".

There was a stretch of empty boxes—no terriers! We thought "maybe they're being judged". Over to the judging place we went—no terriers! We walked around the show several times, watched some judging of some other kinds of dogs, then back to the wire haired terrier division again, thinking that no doubt they would be back there, from their exercising or wherever the owners had taken them—no terriers.

Finally we stopped a busy looking man who had been taking a lot of other dogs in to be judged, and who we thought might know, and asked him where we could see the wire haired fox terriers. "Oh," he said, "they are put away in their boxes". "Well," we asked, "when do they come out again?" "Oh, they don't. The owners keep them in there—they are down at the other end of the building". We hurried down there (less hopefully this time) and sure enough there were neat little boxes, with names on them, lined up against the wall, and by getting real close we could plainly see at least the noses of what we presumed were wire haired terriers!

So the five of us gave up and went home! A most enjoyable show!

Apparently we had a mistaken idea of a dog show. We thought that the advertisement in the newspaper meant that by paying 25c we could see all the different kind of dogs that were entered in that show. We didn't understand that one paid 25c to get in the building, 25c for a catalogue so that one could read what dogs were in the show, and then we could, if the owners didn't object, peer into little boxes and view, thoughtfully, the shiny black noses of what we presume—just presumed (as remember we could only really see the noses!) were wire haired fox terriers—which we had made a special trip to the show to see!

I wonder how dog showers would feel if they went to a movie show to see some picture that they particularly wanted to see, and were shown instead an empty screen but were assured that the FILM REALLY WAS IN THE BUILDING WAS KEPT IN A LITTLE BOX IN THE PROJECTION ROOM!

To use a vulgar expression—a dog show seems a sort of cock-eyed affair!

—Five Dog Lovers.

P.S.—We met an unknown lady there, who gave us a copy of your magazine, and that is the reason we address this letter to you—thought you might be interested in our point of view! Incidentally, your magazine is nice.

Cocker Breeders—Attention!

Dear Sir:

I shall be glad if all breeders and owners of cocker spaniels covering buff, red and any solid colour other than black will get in touch by letter with me.

For some time, many breeders and owners of A.E.C.O.B. cockers have expressed the desire that separate Winners classes be established for these solids and all those interested will greatly help the cause along if they will express their thoughts and desires by letter.

I have prepared a bulletin on this subject which will be mailed to all those writing.

"Is Dog Judging Scientific or Pseudo Scientific?"

It is incredible that so many dog judges lack true knowledge of the essential points of what constitute perfection in a specific breed,—or it is perhaps prejudice, or plain crookedness? Frankly, I, like a great many others, am at a loss to give a satisfactory answer to any of these questions. Having been a Great Dane fancier and, indeed, an owner of the breed for twenty-five years, plus the fact that I have read article after article on this breed including the worthy contributions made by the late Mr. D. E. Hale, perhaps I may be permitted to do a little boasting at this point by saying I do know something about Great Danes. Those familiar with genealogy in the dog world will be specially interested in the foregoing.

Here is my experience at two shows at which I entered two Great Danes, one thirteen months old and one nine months old, the breeding of which, according to the foremost authorities, is superb, having Ch. Duke of Roxdane strain and Czardas von Eppeleinsprung-Noris and the famous Hexengold strains. To breeders these names represent just about the zenith in blood lines. Both my Danes referred to were put down in the first show, and one in the second, perhaps quite rightly so, because the older of the two would not show according to the so-termed ring ethics, despite the fact that he was in the hands of a very capable handler. The nine months old pup was put down in the first show because, according to the judge to which I agreed, he was not as large, or heavy boned, or as sturdy as his opponent.

There were two other male dogs in both shows, one being about 2½ years and the other 13 months old; the latter of a superior breeding, whereas the other on the father's side comes from coarse harlequin breeding. Despite the fact that the mother is a fawn, and an excellent Great Dane, her owner for some reason, bred her to a large, brindle Great Dane who father was a harlequin and was purchased, somewhere in the neighbourhood of $25.00.

Now, the point which I am striving to bring out is that the judge at one show placed this thick-headed, coarse Dane over the truly magnificent, well-bred Great Dane. The reason given in the ring was,—“the other Dane was in better condition”. That was, perhaps, so but, the head, neck, and shoulders of the Dane with the good breeding was perhaps one of the best that has been seen on this continent. As an impartial party and, as neither of the two dogs belonged to me, I took it upon myself to disagree with the judge in which argument he replied,—“that he was an honest man”. Frankly I do not question that one iota. Therefore, it leaves only two conclusions:

Firstly: That he was impressed by the performance of the handler who showed this other Dane, as a courtesy to the owner;

Secondly: That he does not know Danes.

I might mention that the one referred to as the good specimen went Best of Breed at a previous show. I know there are hundreds of people who are thoroughly disgusted with dog judging, as will be noticed in the Great Dane column in the American Dog World, to say nothing of the disgusted and disgruntled owners of other breeds. One often wonders why the judge should be impressed by the skill of a handler or even of a lay person because they can twist a dog about to such a degree that he (the dog) shows advantageously to all concerned. Some handlers stretch a dog's hind quarters out behind him, with the head so high that the dog almost chokes, and his deformities disappear such as roached or a swayed-back, hideous, straight, hind legs, which in many cases are cow-hocked. Whereas the lay or inexperienced person, whose only attributes are the love of the animal, their interest to improve the breed, and their true knowledge of what constitutes a good Great Dane, perhaps does not know how to pose a dog as a handler does. Now the point is:

Firstly: Why should a dog have to be a Showman or an actor such as a human when being judged for points? Showmanship for humans on the stage or in pictures is both acceptable and enjoyable but, as the dog is not an actor or a human being, he should not be forced to stand like a statue with his legs posed out abnormally behind him and his tail between his legs, whether it be natural or not. I would venture to say that the judging would be far better if the larger breed were merely taken in a lead and the handlers, be they lay or professional, were not permitted to pose the dog in any manner whatsoever, just merely walk them or run them up and down as the judge so desires, and let them stand so that their good points or bad points will be visible to the judge and to the audience.

Secondly: Would not the show business prosper to a greater degree if the judges were honest enough to admit at the outset that they did not, or they could not judge all breeds?

Now, in the case of one of the shows alluded to would not the ordinary, inexperienced person, especially those who know little or nothing about blood lines, decide that the coarse-headed, inferior type of Dane was the best type to breed from inasmuch as the judge placed him Best of Breed? I feel sure most breeders will agree that such judging sets the standard back twenty years. It is a bit nauseating and discouraging to dog fanciers who, in many cases, have spent thousands of dollars in importing the best breeding available, and breeding for perfection, to have good specimens put down and inferior specimens up. Such judging can only be based on partiality, prejudice, ignorance or crookedness. Any, or all of these abominable conditions should be eliminated from the dog shows and, in fact, from all sporting events on earth by those who are in authority, for the world loves good sportsmanship and indeed the world wants better breeding in all animal life.

In conclusion I would like to mention an amusing incident. I asked one of the two judges—“what constitutes a good Dane?” His reply was in effect—“good feeding and lots of exercise”. I further quizzed him by asking—“was breeding not included?” He replied, “Yes”. I then informed him that I ride four to five days each week for an hour and a half to two hours at a stretch, sometimes longer. All of my dogs, from the time they reach three months of age, are permitted to go with the horses and they probably run 25 to 60 miles a day, (not the young ones). They are fed in a most scientific and extravagant manner and you may believe me when I say according to specifications as outlined by Hale, they score about 90 per cent perfection but, they are, unfortunately not good actors.

I appeal to all breeders of a sporting nature in all parts of America to eliminate the bad judges and keep the breed of all dogs on a high standard and, in the vernacular of slang—“Hats off to good judging and good breeding!”

Interesting Items About Doggy Folk

GOOD NEWS

We attended an interesting meeting of the Peel County Kennel Club which was held by courtesy of Mrs. Hanson, the Dachshund fancier—at her husband's offices. "TO BE OR NOT TO BE" was the great question, i.e., should the Peel show be held or not. The meeting with Mr. Symes in the chair unanimously said yes. A date early in August was selected subject to C.K.C. sanction. The question of venue came up and Col. Bartley Bull generously offered his estate at Brampton, which is accessible by train or bus—so the dominant problem of "gas" is as successfully solved for those who ain't got no sich! Charming Miss Cluff and her sister more generally alluded to as the "Cluff Girls", will act as secretaries—and Mrs. Hanson will give all the assistance possible as heretofore. It is hoped Breed Clubs will use Peel show to hold their specialties. Judges were discussed and on the suggestion of Mr. "Andy" Dunn, a very popular and charming American woman was invited to take some classes—but the judges' names are all very hush-hush at the moment. Col. Bull proposes to hold a garden party, in conjunction with the show which will tempt the local folk to patronize it and swell the gate and so the funds of the Red Cross. Col. Bull was leaving for Texas the following morning, so we told him we hoped he would sing the song, "Deep in the Heart of Texas", when he arrived.

We were very intrigued by the very pretty and serviceable coat and skirt worn by the younger Miss Cluff, it was of a grey fluffy tweed with a delightful pattern woven into it, and was made from the combings of the winning Old English Sheepdogs. So those of you who have dogs with long coats, save your combings and help the Dogs' Wool Industry.

WAY UP IN ALASKA

A line from Mrs. Helen Marjery Lewis, who judges Best in Show at the Peel Kennel Club event last year and who is now doing Red Cross Work—at which, by the way, she is a honey—up in Alaska, tells us she has her favorite obedience trained English Cocker with her, and he loves to romp and splash in the mud. "He has grown quite a lot, and Mr. 'of Ware' would approve of him. We have a fine team of seasoned sled dogs here and they are often photographed. We get meat only once a week, but it is most welcome." It is good to know that the Merriedip Kennel of Old English Sheepdogs is being carried on in Mr. Lewis' absence.

IN THE DOG HOUSE

This is a true story about Mr. L. L. Broley, the live wire Cocker fancier, and why his wife put him in "the dog house". It appears Mr. Broley had a cocker puppy which died, so carefully wrapping the deceased in a towel, he proceeded to borrow his wife's car and parked the dead body in the trunk, meaning to take it to Dr. Secord's for a postmortem. But something came along, and he forgot about the corpse. At the end of a month Mrs. Broley wished to use her car to take out a lady of high degree and very religious views, said dame was installed in the back of the car but at the end of about 10 minutes, said to Mrs. Broley: "I think I must get out, there is something very high behind here."

Investigations revealed the dead pup which by now was as high as limburger cheese. The body was cast out, but the odour remained.

Just what Mrs. Broley said to her husband history does not relate, except that never again will he be lent the car and he had to burn incense in the trunk to kill the scent left by the late unlamented pup.

Another who narrowly escaped the Dog House was Mr. "Andy" Dunn, the Dunoon Cocker and Springer judge and breeder. He went to the Peel County Kennel Club meeting and forgot it was the 16th anniversary of his wedding. Mrs. Dunn, being a very sweet-natured woman, forgave him, but said metaphorically—"Naughty boy—don't do it again".

THE LADY AT THE MIKE

Hamilton show was a very enjoyable event and the big rings with tiers of seats on one side gave everyone an opportunity of seeing the judging. It was nice to see the President, Mr. W. P. Gudgeon, looking so happy at the success of the show, and we hand his good wife a real bouquet for the way she took charge of the microphone, to be on duty from midday till after 11 p.m. is no sinecure—if anyone thinks it is—let them try it. Mrs. Gudgeon has an excellent voice and she certainly did a good job of work.

A LADY FROM IRELAND

Another who was unselfishly working hard was Mr. "Sandy" Palmer. Gee! is he doing his darndest to make his pet project, the All Terrier Breeds Ch. Show on July 3rd a big success. He was getting promises of support and trophies from practically everyone he asked. Sandy is like Father O'Flynn of song note, "he has a way wid him", and he was distributing leaflets and a grand article from the Evening Telegram about the Irish Terrier Slemish Sentiment, which has crossed the ocean—in grand fettle—to be raffled for the show which is to be held in aid of the British War Victims. Good work, "Sandy".

IN DIXIELAND

From Dr. Willard Hutchings of Detroit, who was one of the first to import a Kerry Blue to America—we hear he has just returned to his estate in Alabama—where Dogs in Canada follows him and to which paper he writes, "it is a pleasure to subscribe". The genial Dr. came up to Detroit for Easter, and reports that way down in Dixieland "we have had a very spotty season, warm and cold and warm again". Some years ago we spent a very happy New Year with Dr. Hutchings at his Southern Estate, which really is almost off the map, we went down to see some of the field trials and be introduced to quail shooting. We found a great number of most enthusiastic pointer and setter fanciers, including our host, who had a large kennel of both breeds. It was a new experience to us to go out shooting on horseback and we used to be accompanied by a converted hearse full of dogs. Happily, we had a camera and a picture of the negro driving that hearse with wired-in sides, full of pointers and setters, full tilt across a field—is a very treasured possession. Another recollection is of one of the negro servants, who had caught an opossum, he had it in his arms as we stroked it, thinking he was going to make a pet of it, we enquired what he would do with it—"Me eat 'um," was the reply. Alabama is a fine place for a holiday. The climate is grand and it is so much off the beaten track that when we went into the local bank with a letter of credit, the teller looked at it and turned it over and said: "What's that? I've never seen one of those before." Another story they tell against the Post Office is of someone who wanted to send a cable to a friend in Switzerland, and the clerk asked: "What country is that in?"

We have a host of happy memories of that grand trip and a most congenial host.

ENGLISH COCKER GOES TWICE BEST IN SHOW

Everyone will congratulate Mrs. Geraldine R. Dodge, whose interesting article on English Cockers appears in this issue upon her great triumph of recently winning Best in Show—at Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn.—with Ch. Shikar Wyn's Sentinel.

Surely this is a record for the breed? Mrs. Dodge also took the open classes and winners with Giralda's Officer and Forsythia. The other side of the picture is that Mrs. Dodge has just lost her famous Bloodhound Ch. Reynalton Brigadier. He was imported from England and was acknowledged to be the grandest Bloodhound that ever was imported or has been in the States. His record is simply stupendous. Sixty-one times shown and sixty-one Best of Breed, thirty Groups and two Bests in Show. He was Best of Breed at Westminster from 1935 to 1942, inclusive, with the exception of 1940, when Mrs. Dodge judged and he was not shown at Westminster this year as his owner was again judging. He would have been eleven years old this month and kept his grand character and personality to the end. Mrs. Dodge will have everyone's sympathy in her great loss.

A SALUKI OF 1570

Mr. E. K. Aldrich, Jr., of the Diamond Hill Saluki Kennels tells us two of his well known hounds had a wandering fit and decided to go places but returned next day "all in". Now the fence has been made fool proof and wire has been put in the ground parallel to it and for two feet inside and weighted down. Mr. Aldrich was invited to judge Schipperkes and Salukis at Katonah show and very much regrets that owing to the transport difficulties from his home in Rhode Island he has had to refuse. Mr. Aldrich is very pleased with an etching he has just obtained from Mr. T. W. Jones, of Toronto, depicting a Persian hunting scene with dogs of about 1570, one of which resembles a Saluki.

A DOGGY FILM

A note from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Picture Co. tells us that a film will shortly be shown in Ontario theatres entitled "Fala, The President's Dog". This is one of the most unusual and significant films ever made—unusual because it marks the first time a regular motion picture production has been filmed in the White House, significant because it serves to symbolize the spirit of the American way. Fala, by the way, a private in the Dogs Army, is a most intelligent Scottish Terrier and President Roosevelt's great pet and constant companion.

Fala is the one individual to whom all White House doors and gates are open and he makes full use of this exceptional liberty during his daily explorations. He has many favorite friends, including members of the Secret Service, the girls in the telephone room, and little Diana Hopkins, but he always manages to spend the tag-end of the day somewhere near "the Chief," who, in the midst of an incessant drive, is never long separated from him. M-G-M narrator Pete Smith speaks for Fala on the sound-track of the film, which is adapted from the book "The True Story of Fala," written by Margaret Suckley and Alice Dalgleish.

A RECORD IN COLLIES

Mrs. Florence B. Ilch of the famous Bellhaven Collie Kennels sends us a line of appreciation of our mention of her good win at Boston with her fine Ch. Braegate Model of Bellhaven. What a record Mrs. Ilch has in this breed—can any other Collie breeder compare with it? She had bred seventy-four champions, whilst in importations she had brought over from England twenty-two of the leading British champions which included the creme de la creme of the breed.

DOGS WHICH DON'T EAT!

A cherry letter from Mrs. Rosalind Layte, who breeds the Burlingame Griffons and a very popular judge in the States, tells us she has considerably reduced her kennels on account of the meat situation, but has bred some good puppies which went for top prices. An addition to the kennel is a black miniature Poodle bitch and her son which looks like being a flier. Mrs. Layte is now very busy collecting dogs which don't eat, i.e., porcelain ones, of which she has a grand assortment and asks us to keep our eyes open for any finds in the Toronto junk shops. She has a complete set of Royal Doulton, Copenhagen, etc. Collecting china dogs is a fascinating hobby—it happens to be one of our own and gives one such a grand excuse to nose around in antique shops. Mrs. Layte has put in a Victory Garden and she and her husband, who is a Canadian, have to look after it without any help. I hear Mr. Layte plans to come up here on a fishing trip this month, his wife wanted to come, too—but, alas, a couple of litters of Griffons are expected—so that's that!

AT GUELPH SHOW

We were delighted to meet Mrs. Madge Cluxton again at Guelph show. This charming lady has been absent from recent shows owing to a serious illness from which she has now happily recovered. She handled her famous Borzoi Ch. Czar 2nd of Glenwild to victory and her many friends were glad to see her looking so well and so chic.

It was nice to renew acquaintances with Mr. Gordon M. Parham, who crossed the border to judge the Cockers and Springers, he is a most interesting young man and was a very pleasant partner at the official lunch and he and Dr. Shute exchanged many merry quips and jokes. Incidentally, if the genial Dr. should ever want to exchange jobs, he'd be a great success on the radio—he made the announcements per microphone at the show and was tops at the job. The ordinary dog lover who had paid at the gate to visit the show must have found his running commentary exceedingly instructive and interesting.

To the officials, including the Secretary, Mr. J. S. Dunlop, go oodles of praise for running the show so smoothly and expeditiously — everyone appreciated getting away at a reasonable hour.

PIGEON FANCIERS—NOTE

One of our subscribers, Mr. E. Neale, of California, and the breeder of the great Pointer Ch. Hie-On Coronation, asks us if we have any interest in racing pigeons. The answer is no—our only experience of pigeons is in a pie—a most excellent dish. Maybe some of our readers would like to get in touch with Mr. Neale who is a racing

WHO'S WHO in the DOG WORLD

MR. AND MRS. W. G. KENYON

Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon, who hale from Lancashire and Yorkshire, England, respectively, came to Canada in 1925, Mr. Kenyon to manage the Canadian branch of an English printing machinery manufacturing concern. They purchased their first Chow in 1930, and while it was "just a Chow", his lovable qualities endeared him to his owners, and after his untimely end through an attack on a porcupine, two others were purchased in 1938, and thus began the Chalfont Kennels.

In August of 1939, they imported Choonam Che Yen, a daughter of the famous Ch. Hung Kwong, and as we reported previously, Che Yen died, needing but one point to finish her Canadian championship. However, she was soon replaced by two more females, one a daughter of their English import and of their own breeding, and the second, a puppy from Mrs. Ralph W. Spike's Chia Wan Kennels at Port Huron, Michigan. The latter is of Int. Ch. Red Monarch and Int. Ch. Blue Monarch blood lines, and naturally their owners are much enthused with the possibilities of the youngsters.

Mr. Kenyon is a member of the Board of Trade and British Empire Overseas Section, York Downs Golf and Country Club, Secretary-Treasurer of the South Magnetewan Hunting and Fishing Club, and Secretary of the Forest Hill Ratepayers' Association. His hobbies are golf, hunting, and, needless to say, dog shows.

QUIZ CONTEST

For those who have been anxiously awaiting an announcement concerning the result of the second Quiz Contest we now announce that the winner of the Canadian Kennel Club Stud Books for the years 1916 to 1941 inclusive is none other than our Sealyham enthusiast at Port Hope, Ont.—Miss M. Dorothy Grant to whom we offer congratulations.

The answers to the second contest are as follows: 1 (d); 2 (b); 3 (b); 4 (b); 5 (a) and (e); 6 (a); 7 (b); 8 (c); 9 (c) and (e); 10 (b) and (f); 11 (a); 12 (c); 13 (a); 14 (b); 15 (b); 16 (b); 17 (b); 18 (a); 19 (a); 20 (a).

Space being at a premium we are obliged to discontinue these contests for the moment, however, we hope to continue them later for the enjoyment of those interested in participating in anything of this nature.

enthusiast with a view to securing or exchanging some eggs as we understand there is a wartime restriction in Canada against shipping live pigeons out of the country. Mr. Neale would like to add to his breeding stock and we will gladly give his address to anyone who is interested.

I Like Sealyhams!

By ELIZABETH A. LEOPOLD

Owner of The Overport Kennels

ALTHOUGH I have had Sealyhams under my feet, or on my lap, for seven years, until Mrs. Robson very kindly asked me to state my reasons for preferring the breed, I have never declared, publicly, at least, that my introduction to them began as a result of a little friendly rivalry between my husband, his dogs, and myself. Having been married to him—and to his two Scotties—for three years, I felt myself missing the various terriers I had always had of my own and, in order to bring another four-footer into the family, had to prevail upon him that our daughter, then a baby, needed a pup.

I had decided that while I wanted a small dog for the sake of convenience in the city, he, or she, must be a terrier and, for contrast, white in color. By the process of elimination my mind settled upon a Sealyham and while I was wondering how, and when, I was going to introduce such to the household, Angus, the elder of the Scotties, died. This left Colonel, I insisted, very much alone. Christmas was on the way and I wanted a puppy under the tree. I wheedled and coaxed until finally Mr. Leopold gave in, but added his word of advice which unfortunately I didn't heed, that I send to England, the home of the breed, and have one shipped over. I disregarded this opinion and, to my later regret, set about purchasing the puppy myself, and in my own way. In a pet store I eventually found him—three months old, all white and begging for a home. I looked no further, not even into his mouth, or under his coat, but immediately named him Pumpkin and tied a red bow on his neck. I might add that he was a present "to me, from me, with love". Naturally, he wasn't house-trained and I spent all of Christmas day regretting this fact and also that he had a passion for the baby's toys, which to the accompaniment of her howls, he tore to pieces. By evening, he went a little too far in this game and chewed and swallowed a glass marble, causing no end of excitement, Drs. X-rays, etc., and, with this wrote "finish" to a perfect day. Not to be daunted, he was up and on his feet again in short order and was the first rung on our small, but sturdy ladder which became our kennel.

Public Interest in Sealyhams

As I remember him, I am very much afraid that the style, the individuality, and the glamour, which are all so much a part of the breed, were sadly lacking. However, what he missed in looks he made up for in spirit, and had the traditional gameness and endurance which first accorded public interest in Sealyhams due to their working ability. His spunk and untiring energy endeared him to the family and, when the following year we lost our other Scottie, I went in search of a companion for him. This time, having definitely decided and convinced Mr. Leopold that the allure of these white-bodied, well-balanced, keen-eyed little terriers were for us, I studied their points, confirmation and general outline and was fortunate in meeting a now very good friend of mine, Mr. Joseph Burrell, then manager of the Clairedale Kennels. Through him, and at that delightful home of the breed, I bought my first bitch, Clairedale Felicity. A very few weeks after purchasing her I showed her, on good advice, at Westminster where she took second in her class. How proud I was! My first show and also my first ribbon. It was then that I made up my mind no matter how the wind blew, I was going to have more and more of these self-showing, independent, lovable Sealyhams. Having braved the "Garden", I continued being represented at all of the following shows and made her Champion. She is now the Duchess in the house and I shall never have another who can laugh, cry, or understand, as this faithful, sturdy little lady has done and who now sleeps on my bed and has become such a part of my existence.

A Kennel Noted for Wire Coats

The following year found our bank account short but our household longer as a result, with three puppies, a young dog and another lovely bitch, nearly all Clairedale stock. This kennel on Long Island boasted the packed wire coat that most American kennels are still striving to produce and which helps so much in outlining their powerful shoulders and their strong fore legs. These weather-resisting coats are dense under the top coat, and respond greatly to daily brushing thereby eliminating many baths. In fact, one asset these substantial terriers boast of is their ability to be well groomed with little assistance from their owners. They must be taken down at least twice a year, fall and spring, but aside from combing, they need no cod-dling and suffer little from change of temperature.

We were in possession of a lease of an apartment on Park Avenue that winter and not only were we trying to exercise seven husky terriers, but had an English guest, nine years of age, who also had to be aired and chaperoned in Central Park. However, by this time we had been properly taken in by the dog game and our efforts duly rewarded by our wins and recognitions. We made another dog and bitch champions and had great fun, and much pride, in watching Ch. Ballerina of Overport "come out" again under our supervision and regain the admiration and respect of all the lovers and judges, of this true, sound terrier representative. In the meantime we were forced to move, and again the Sealys (by their increase) were responsible for our digging in our pockets and this time taking a house. The backyard was converted into four runs and all the neighboring apartments and houses had their complaints in the mail before the kennel arrived. All were disappointed for the intelligence and the refinement of the Sealys warned them (the dogs) of impending disaster and, scenting trouble, they kept us out of it by behaving as only ladies and gentlemen know how. As a result we are still in the good graces of East 80th street and our mustekers have become an accessory to the fact.

An Acceptable Gift

Before he departed for home, our English evacuee presented us, as a gift from his family, Slick Son of Foscarter, who, despite a perilous crossing, little nourishment, and previous nerve-racking conditions at home, arrived with flying colors. He is by Sealing Slick Fella and a more graceful genuine type, honestly sound Sealy I have yet to see. He has become nicely acclimatized, is true to form in his appreciation of attention and has the ever-growing strength of the country from which he so proudly hails. He has produced two nice litters and his son Johnny stands ready to come out and help us, and Dogs for Defense.

People are constantly asking us how we manage the dogs in the city and what we do about feeding, breeding, etc. The truth of the matter is, that Sealys take very good care of themselves. Their independence is a great help in shifting them around and they have great understanding of conditions. They are equally happy in the backyard or watching the squirrels in the park. As they don't all, and always, agree, I have various ones upstairs at different times but they are very adaptable to housing problems. Due to the war and present uncertainties, I have reduced my stock greatly and have not bred as I wished to do, fearing a shortage of proper food, so important to a bitch in whelp or her puppies. I also prefer to keep those I have in the "pink" rather than worry that an additional number might cause discomfort to those who have proven so loyal to us in the past. Our canine family is a happy one! Now that we have less to care for, one and all are under our personal supervision and enjoy personal relationship with all members of the family. When anyone leaves the house they are only too glad to be accompanied by at least one dog, and in this way added exercise is extended to their regime.

Sealys Command Respect

Now that I have written the above, I feel that in no sense have I satisfied Mrs. Robson in replying to "why I prefer Sealys". Perhaps those of you who have read through this will understand that I have not built up the actual points or confirmation of the breed because, while they are naturally the key to success in raising and producing good stock, they are not alone in making the quality that is so entrancing and so defiantly attractive. They are dogs that command respect, that revere and guard the home, ready to go when and where with their master, and that enjoy life as it is given to them. Kennel dogs, or pets, they are at any time ready and willing to hold their own, to demand attention, and to return affection in appreciation of the love any owner feels for the Sealy that is theirs.

In short, I like a Sealy because I have a companion, a trooper and a stylish, self-respecting terrier.

LATE NEWS

The many friends of Mrs. Joy Osterdahl of Brockville will be glad to hear she is home again from a Montreal hospital after a very serious operation and is now convalescing. We regret to hear that Mrs. Kedney of Russian Wolfhound fame, is quite ill in the Toronto East General Hospital. Maybe some of the friends of both these ladies would like to write them a few lines and cheer them up, as only "doggy" people can cheer one another.

Dr. P. G. Webster of Kentville, N.S., recently purchased a ten-months' old orange belton English Setter from R. L. Rife's Fair Glen Kennels. This dog's grandsire was Rummy Stagboro and has been mated with a young bitch which had for its sire, Ch. Davina's Ranger, a descendant of Int. Ch. Racket's Rummy on his dam's side, and sired by Ch. Davina's Pat. Pups from this mating should make fine bench and field dogs. Dr. Webster expects to show this new dog in the Maritime Circuit this season.

Toronto, the home of many good Collies in the past, is once more forging ahead in this beautiful breed—which is again coming rapidly to the front. Mr. Geo. Getty, the President of the Collie and Shetland Sheep dog Club of Canada, reports this newly formed flourishing organization is a real go-ahead club with a substantial membership. Mr. Getty, a Collie fancier for over thirty years, now has in his kennels some of the best Collies seen around Toronto in recent years. In addition to the beautiful headed Ch. Elmhill Buddie Boy, there is the young

Tri-color female who has won half of the championship (Elmhill Edena), whose first litter of puppies by Buddie Boy show great promise and they will be ready to start their show career in the fall. Old time Collie fanciers predict a brilliant future for one or two of these five months' old youngsters if all goes well between now and their debut in the show ring.

ONTARIO BIRD DOG ASSOCIATION

About the most successful Spring trials in the history of the Ontario Bird Dog Ass'n were held at Niagara-on-the-Lake. The weather was ideal; the crowd was unusually large, and the large number of dogs showed a higher calibre of ability than ever. Everyone was pleased to see "Andy" Dunn back again with the largest entry in Spaniels, having 3 Cockers and 1 Springer, all from F. T. champion stock.

Spaniel Events

Apen all-age, "Frejex Flash Hat", liver and white Springer, owned by Fred Stickle, by Ch. Fryar Fine Flash ex Green Valley Heritage. "Victoria Shot", black and white Springer, Lloyd Brown. "Sport", red and white Cocker, owned by Melvin Darling. Novice, "Victoria Shot", "Ridgecroft Peggy", Spring, Leslie Horton; "Ridgecroft Rusty", Ken Duggan.

Puppy, "Dunoon Nobel Nipper", Andrew Dunn; "Ridgecroft Peggy", Leslie Horton; "Jonlock Peter Pan", Del Peer.

In the Retriever stakes— "Chippewa Brock", a Chesapeake Bay, owned by Dr. J. A. Meek was 1st; "Max", another Chesapeake, owned by Col. H. B. Sheets, and handled by William Clarke, was 2nd; and "Sarone Queen of Kylemore", a curly-coated Retriever, owned by A. E. Brown, and handled by George Summers, was 3rd.

Pointers and Setters

There was an unusually large entry in the Pointer and Setter events. There were 14 in the puppy stakes, 13 in the novice, and 14 in the open all-age. Winner of the open stakes was "Palmer's Village Proctor", a Pointer owned by Wesley Proctor, by Village Boy ex Comanches Ferris Jane; "Scout's Village Vamp", Irving Clark, and "Jiggs, Maggie's Mate", George Summers.

Novice, "Dainty Bess", a Setter owned by Dr. C. A. Nelson, was 1st to win the Meakins & Sons trophy; 2nd was "Jake's Village Captain", owned by Irving Clark; 3rd was "Hi of Skeet", owned by Fred Lister.

Puppy—"Palmer's Red Rider", owned by Wesley Palmer, which won the puppy event, and the Dr. Temple trophy last fall, again was 1st; "Palmer's Linda", also owned by Mr. Temple, was 2nd; and 3rd was "Ginger Highball", owned by Leonard Brill.

W. B. Elliott, St. Catharines, was official gunner. The judges for the Pointer and Setter events, Roy Johnson of Buffalo, and Fred Jeffries, London, Ont., had a difficult task for they followed all dogs around the long courses to watch their performances closely. Other judges were: Spaniels, Frank Day and William J. Phillips, Jr., of the LaSalle Sportsman Association, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Retrievers, A. E. Brown, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Banquet and Testimonial to J. D. (Jimmie) Strachan

A Festive Gathering

Some 60 friends of the late Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Kennel Club attended a dinner at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on May 21st, when a presentation was made to Mr. Strachan. Mr. W. J. Rise-wick was in the chair and he was supported by Mrs. E. Brown, Dr. Orvil Elliott, Mrs. Phyllis Robson, J. Milner, Walter Brown, John Bruce, Mrs. M. Firman, Mrs. Audrey Carley, Mr. and Mrs. Drew, Reg. P. Sparkes, Miss Jean Brown, Lieut. Gladys Peers, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Brown, Mrs. Mougennell, Mrs. L. Jackson, D. R. Feetlam, Alf. Love-ridge, M. C. C. Chisholm, Jack Wear, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Gudgeon, Mrs. M. Stevens, Mrs. F. Luke, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Lewis, Earl Cathcart, A. Brooks, H. McDowell, Mrs. Angus, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kennedy, Alex Gooderham, G. A. Keith, Dr. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. O. Viau, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Weller, Mr. and Mrs. G. Gibson, and all the members of the Farm Creek Hunt Club.

After the Rev. W. E. Wilson said grace the chairman gave the toast of the King and then said: "I am very pleased tonight to meet so many friends, of my friend, Jimmie Strachan. We have come together to pay a well deserved tribute to a man who has given a generous portion of his lifetime in service to us—particularly as breeders and exhibitors, but generally as a friend to us all. It is fitting, I think, that we should have him with us in a social way so that we can have the opportunity of telling him face to face what we think of him."

In my association with the governing body I have always found his counsel and service have been invaluable.

"Others who are unable to be with us tonight have sent messages of goodwill. Here is one from the President of the Old Guard of the Kennel World, Mr. A. Clinton Wilmerding, who is one of the oldest fanciers on this continent: 'With me Jimmy has been always one of the bright particular stars of the doggy firmament and I respect and love him. It is too bad from my viewpoint that I cannot be with you all tomorrow evening when I could slap him on the back, and tell him and the men and women assembled what I think of him. Give my affectionate regards to "The Culprit" and to your fine compatriots at the dinner.'

"Here is a telegraphed message from our Hon. President, the Hon. Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland: 'TERRIBLY SORRY UNABLE BE PRESENT TO HONOUR GRAND OLD MAN OF DOGDOM—MAN BEYOND ALL OTHERS RESPONSIBLE FOR PROGRESS OF CLUB—CONTINUING GREAT ABILITY WITH QUALITIES OF MIND AND HEART THAT BIND ALL TO HIM WITH STEEL BONDS OF FRIENDSHIP—LONG LIFE AND HAPPINESS—MORE POWER TO HIS ELBOW.'

"Others have come from Dr. J. T. Cooper of Saskatoon; W. W. Gallagher of Philadelphia; C. E. Harbison of New York; E. A. Runions of Ottawa; Mrs. Florence B. Ilch of Redbank, N.J.; J. T. McCallum of Thetford Mines, Que.; Teddy Gundersen of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schelling of Fort Erie; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ritchie of Montreal; Mrs. Pat Randall of Saskatoon; Mrs. Geraldine Dodge and Raymond L. Patterson of Madison, N.J.; Dr. A. A. Mitten of Philadelphia; W. B. Cleland of St. Catharines; Father John J. Lafey of Mooseheart, Ill."

The Second Vice-President's Tribute

The Chairman next called upon Mrs. Robson to read the message received from Mr. W. Pym, the 2nd Vice-President. This was as follows:

"On an occasion such as this when ladies and gentlemen gather together to honor one of their fellows, it is with sincere regret that circumstances over which I have no control prohibit my attendance. Yet a distance of three thousand miles is not sufficient obstacle to prevent my paying well deserved personal tribute to the guest of honor."

"I have no doubt many present day dog fanciers think of Jimmie Strachan in terms pertaining to the last decade. I think of him more particularly in connection with the events of a quarter century and more ago. During that hectic period when the Canadian K.C., Inc., was a struggling organization with activities centralized more or less in the Province of Ontario, while at the same time that vast country west of the Great Lakes was the new home of dog fanciers from all points of the compass, many of them possessed with individual ideas in regard to canine government in the Dominion of Canada."

"The Secretary of the C.K.C. of the period was the focal point for innumerable complaints and suggestions regardless of merit. It was the thankless task of the then Secretary to sift the wheat from the chaff and promote harmony throughout this vast country."

"Jimmie Strachan everlastingly preached the tenets of the proposed Canadian K.C. that was to govern all of Canada, and through mutual understanding of a common problem his ideal was accomplished and today the C.K.C. is second to none on this continent as a live stock governing organization, and it was during this transition period that Jimmie Strachan demonstrated his strength of character, loyalty to his directors, and unquestionable foresight."

"If memory serves me well, it was seventeen years ago that Jimmie made a coast to coast trip as an ambassador of goodwill on behalf of the organization, the benefits of that trip must be manifest to all connected with the organization."

"During the year 1939, and again but a few weeks ago, Jimmie again visited his Western friends and found that the intervening years 1926-1943 had actually increased his personal popularity."

"Jimmie Strachan's work has been well and truly done, so Mister Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, it is my sincere wish that Jimmie's days among us may be many, and that his every hour will be filled with happiness."

Mrs. Robson said she would like to add her own tribute to Mr. Strachan on behalf of all his legion of friends in England. They, too, were at the gathering in spirit, and a cable had just arrived from a friend in London saying, "Greeting and best wishes for a Happy Re-union banquet. Griffiths Averill." In Scotland, too, Jimmie was held in high esteem and affection and on behalf of his fellow Scotsman, she wished him "Lang May yer Lum Reek". Mr. Strachan had always been a staunch and loyal friend and no words fitted him better than

"He's dead on the level
But a bit of a devil
Is my Pal Jim."

Mr. Cameron Chisholm was next asked to pay a tribute to Mr. Strachan. He spoke of the long and faithful years of service which "Jimmie" had given to dogdom. By his work he has created a memorial to himself which would be everlasting.

Mr. Reg. P. Sparkes spoke on behalf of Officers of the Club past and present. He said that in 1918 when a new Secretary was wanted, the Board made no mistake in choosing Mr. Strachan. Mr. Sparkes gave a most eulogistic description of "Our Jimmie", who had been a loyal and faithful friend during his years of presidency.

Mr. Phillips, on behalf of the Farm Creek Club, which comprised 12 members, said 100 per cent of their members were present and he paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Strachan as a fishing companion.

Mrs. Gibson thanked one and all from the bottom of her heart for their kindness to her father. His recent trip had done him a lot of good in health and spirits.

Mr. Walter Brown said he had not been in the dog game many years but he had always found Mr. Strachan a grand man who never minced his words.

Mr. Bruce said Jimmie contributed a great deal to the welfare of the Canadian Kennel Club which was controlled by the Government, the only Kennel Club in the world which was associated with the Government, and it was largely through Mr. Strachan this was brought about.

Mr. Alex Gooderham made a very witty speech eulogizing the guest of honor, so did Mr. Len Waters and Mr. William Giles, who made the company laugh at the reminiscences of fishing trips with Jimmie.

Mr. W. Gudgeon said so much had been said that there was precious little for him to say about Jimmie Strachan. He personally had not been in dogs long enough to be called an old timer, but he had always found "J. S." ready to solve any problem he took to the Kennel Club. Jimmie's name stood high at Hamilton, and he had always been a d.....d good fellow.

Mrs. E. Brown spoke of Jimmie as a fellow exhibitor and a good loser and a loyal friend.

THE PRESENTATION

Mr. Jack Kennedy said how delighted he was to make the presentation. Jimmie came from the land of the heather, which had produced so many famous people such as Bobbie Burns, Sir Douglas Haig, Donald Gordon, Harry Lauder, Queen Elizabeth—then Jimmie. He was not speaking of him as a member of the K. C. but as a man, and he would always remember him as the most charitable and forgiving man he had ever known. Jimmie had gone through troublesome times but there was always a smile on his face, and this had taught him that only great men can forgive injustice, he had found Jimmie one of the squarest of men and he asked him to accept a gift which he would take on his trips as a souvenir of all his friends. Mr. Kennedy then handed over a very handsome sealskin wallet well filled with notes which had been subscribed by the following in addition to the names we gave in last month's "Dogs in Canada": Members of the Farm Creek Hunt Club, Dr. Arvil Elliott, G. A. Keith, Chas. Stanyon, A. L. Gooderham, Mr. and Mrs. Vian, the Shepherd Dog Club of Canada, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Weller, M. C. C. Chisholm, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moll, Dr. Alan Secord, Gordon Coles, George Ross, J. T. Cooper, W. B. Cleland, Pat Randall, E. A. Runions, Mrs. M. Firman, Mrs. F. B. Ilch, Dr. A. A. Mitten, Dr. Arnold, G. F. McFarland, Jonny Milner, C. E. Harbison, A. Friend, Mr. and Mrs. W. Henderson, A. Palmer, J. T. McCallum, Eric Jakes, W. H. Pym, Mrs. G. Drew, Miss Katherine Corley, Ted. Gundersen, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ritchie, Reg. P. Sparkes, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schelling, A. Clinton Wilmerding, E. C. Westcott, Mrs. E. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Soules.

MR. STRACHAN'S REPLY

In replying, Mr. Strachan was very much moved. He made a very wonderful speech and we are only sorry that space prevents our giving it verbatim. He said it was seldom he ran short of words wherewith to express his feelings but at last the seemingly impossible had caught up with him. He was so happy to be the guest of so many friends at this time, a time which follows in the wake of other such meetings held between here and Victoria. Those responsible for the promotion of the activity maturing that evening could be classed as "Clams" without any fear of libel as he had to depend on "Dogs in Canada" for his information in respect to its interest. He construed the intention as three-fold. First, as belated recognition of the many years of service which he was privileged to give the Canadian Kennel Club; second, to mark his passing of the Biblical "three score and ten"; and third, to bid him welcome back to Toronto which he described as "the adopted City of my heart's desire". Mr. Strachan said that in spite of all the early hardships of his work at the K. C. as Secretary-Editor, they were quite the happiest days of his existence, and he paid tribute to the Past President, the late Joseph Russell, who brought him into the Club in an executive capacity. His older friends like the ex-President, the Hon. Mr. Justice McFarland, knew that he took his obligations very seriously, giving the Club 15 hours a day. Sundays included, but he had never regretted giving service to that extent.

"Imagine that as recently as 1918, when a dog completed its championship at shows held under C.K.C. rules, and when a member claimed a championship cup to mark the occasion, that it was quite customary for the Secretary to send the claimant an application for championship form to be filled out and returned. This form required the member to show when, where, and under what judges the championship had been made, and the only official check on such claim, after it was received at headquarters, would be by reference to the marked catalogues—if they had them, and sometimes they did not have them, but this was the best arrangement which had been evolved in the first thirty years of the Club's official life; naturally, the system was aggravating and provocative in the extreme. The Club correspondence for 1918 will show that claimants for championship cups had been advised repeatedly that their cups had been ordered from the Club's Silversmiths in Britain and that their delayed arrival in Canada was not understood, but the truth of the matter was, that the cups had never been ordered, for the same very good reason that the Stud Books at that time were in arrears, simply because there were no funds available to pay for them."

"I want to tell you what a particularly interesting periodical Dogs in Canada is. Mr. Leopold enjoyed it equally well and we are both looking forward to our monthly number. We are most enthusiastic in doing what we can to further its popularity in this country."—Elizabeth Leopold, New York City.

"Dogs in Canada is most interesting and I am delighted to subscribe to it."—Cynthia Herbst, Bernardsville, New Jersey.

Dogs in Canada is now a Tri-International paper with recent subscriptions from England, United States and Canada. Our latest supporters include: Dr. F. Moore Scott, M.D., F.R.C.S., of Toronto, who is a great admirer of Dobermans and speaks very enthusiastically of Dr. Shute's article in Dogs in Canada. Mr. David Fingard, of Toronto, who is a Great Dane enthusiast and a winner with King of Roxdane at the recent London and Windsor shows. Mr. A. M. "Monty" Lewis, the treasurer of Dogs For Defence, and a well known sporting dog judge in the States. Mrs. Myrtle Falcon Cooper, of the Lustucru Standard Schnauzers and a popular judge of the breed, Mrs. Suydam Cutting, who owns the leading Lhasa Terrier Kennel in the States and who has turned her estate at Gladstone, N.J., into a convalescent centre for merchant seamen. Mr. Fred Huyler who manages Mrs. Cutting's Hamilton Kennels, Cr. and Mrs. James Farrell, Jr., of the famous Foxden Kennels at Darien, Connecticut. Comd. Farrell judged the terrier group at the last Westminster show and is a well known smooth Fox Terrier judge. Mr. and Mrs. Ward, of Sheffield, England. Mr. W. R. Perkins, of New Brighton, England, a brother of the Rockley Airedale wizard. Mrs. James M. Leopold, a popular Sealyham owner, whose husband is the Secretary of the Longshore Club show, to be held at Rye, N.Y., the day following the great Katonah event, on June 13th. Miss Waterman, of New York City; Mrs. Rosalind Layte, who breeds the well-known winning Burlingame Griffons and a very popular judge. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Mills, of London, Dachshund enthusiasts; Dr. Willard Hutchings, of Detroit, who brought over one of the first Kerry Blues to the States from Ireland. Mr. Wm. Robertson, of Walkerville, owner of winning Skye Terriers; Mrs. Helen Margery Lewis, of the Merriedip O.S. Sheepdogs and a Tri-International Judge. Mr. Wm. Prescott Wolcott, the famous American Terrier judge. Mr. Robert Neff, also a well known judge and breeder of Fox Terriers. Mrs. Kitty Carlin, a native of England and a popular judge of Toy Dogs; Miss A. S. Colgate, of the winning kennel of Shepherds at Tuxedo Park and a well known judge of the breed. Mrs. C. Herbst, an ardent English Cocker enthusiast, of New Jersey. Mrs. J. H. Page, of the Cresheim Kennel of Sealyhams, of Paoli, Pa., a very popular American judge. Mr. Stanley Halle, of the well known Halleston Fox Terrier Kennels, and one of America's best judges. Mr. Joseph de Cola, an Afghan enthusiast, from Buffalo, Mr. Clifford Schultz, of New Jersey, who owns so many grand imported Lakeland Terriers. Mrs. Helena Neal, vice-chairman of the War Dogs Fund and a well known international judge. Mr. Wm. H. Tuten, of Maryland, a Bulldog fancier; Mr. Thos. M. Crawford, of Baltimore, also a well known Bulldog exhibitor.

Mrs. Marie Stone, of the Kinclaven Kennel of Scottish Terriers, at Milwaukee, a well-known judge; Mr. S. Neale, of California, breeder of the great Pointer Ch. Hie-On Coronation; Mr. McGauvran, also of California; Mr. Arnold Brock, whose wife keeps the successful Happy Ridge Kennel, of Boston Terriers, at Searsdale, N.Y.; Dr. Harry Marxmiller, of California, a well known Afghan lover in California; Mr. John H. Morrison, of West Virginia, a successful Doberman exhibitor at the recent Canadian shows; Mrs. Cheever Porter, whose famous Irish Setter is such a big winner; Mr. Irving Ackerman, of California, one of the greatest authorities in the world on Fox Terriers; Mr. Leo Groombridge, of Windsor, a Springer fancier; Miss Ada Currie, of Gualph, who keeps Welsh Corgis; Mr. J. S. Dunlop, also of Guelph and the popular secretary of the show held in that town; Dr. J. Baikie, of Chicago; Mr. James T. Boyle, of Chicago, owner of some good wire-haired Fox Terriers.

MANITOBA GOSSIP

By ALEC GOSTICK

We have no new members to add to our new-member roll this month, in fact, sad to relate we are forced to report, minus one, a very active and popular lady member having left to reside in Victoria. Mrs. Skuce is the lady referred to and she will be missed by all the dog fanciers in Winnipeg, but particularly she will be missed by the Boston Terrier folks and the Greater Winnipeg K.C., an evidence of her popularity was the number of sincere farewell gatherings and presentations which were given in her behalf. The Greater Winnipeg ladies called a special meeting in order to present her with an over-night case. The Boston Terrier Club members said good-bye with a personal gift and a suitable function held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Duncan and a further farewell party was held at the Marlboro Hotel at which some twenty friends, all ladies, gathered, our loss will be Victoria's gain and the dog folks there would be well advised to contact this lady, she'll be just as popular with you as she was with us. We have hopes of off-setting this deficit in our membership with the addition of three or four new members next month.

Elsewhere you will find a report of the wins at the Greater Winnipeg K.C. show held on April 19th and 20th. As we saw the show, we'd say: A Setter and Chow ran one, two and that it was a close heat; the Setter, an orange belton, was smart, stylish and well put down; the Chow, which is a local one, is about the best we've had in our town, including the imports, angulation, color, expression and disposition are all good and he shows well.

A great deal of interest centred around the Cocker class. A smart red Cocker, Manitoba Keystone, was trying to make his ch. in three straight, the opposition was tough and Keystone and his handler were forced to do it the hard way, at the Fort Garry show, last fall, where Keystone won reserve best in show, he met with an accident going into the ring and it took some smart handling to ease him back into his stride, at this last show, he still seemed to have "memories" and lacked his usual gayness in the ring and a handler with less experience could have spoiled his chances. Since this show Keystone's litter sister, Model in Red, has completed her Ch. and we are happy to congratulate Whiteside & Gorth on the double event, points in the Cocker class don't come the easy way anymore.

A perky black Pom was Best Toy; the Dachshund, Jimmy Cricket, took the hound group again and Dr. French's Airedale was top Terrier, either one of two Scotties could have been contenders here, but neither were ready. Dr. Anderson's Doberman, Adam Von Mannerheim, who is getting to be a veteran at our shows, was the winner of the working group.

Two novice fanciers who received enough encouragement to make them want to try again were Joan Cummings and Master Billy Fitchett. Joan, a very young lady, won the Collie class, did her own handling and was mighty proud.

Young Billy Fitchett, aged nine, did his first job of handling with the grown-ups, he stepped into the ring with himself and his dog well groomed, which indicated just how well he'd learned his first lesson and then proceeded to do a very steady job of handling. It's interesting to watch these young folks on the way up, they'll have to take over one day.

All in all it was a good show. This Club has the advantage of a master of ceremonies, a ring steward and a show superintendent with years of experience, which they use to advantage, add to these a group of very energetic ladies and you have a set-up which really gets things done.

It used to be that the St. Agnes' Guild took care of 80 per cent of the advanced ticket sale but now its fifty-fifty. The final figures will come within an ace of equalling last year's record, which is encouraging news when one considers the handicap decreased advertising entailed and the fact that the Hudson's Bay store was not available.

Judging by the Springer entry in this and recent shows, folks interested in the breed could well afford to hold a revival meeting. Springers should be one of Manitoba's strongest breeds. We were reading Eugene Chevrois' articles in a contemporary recently, recalling his Springer importations, wins, etc., twenty-odd years ago. When one recalls such names as L'He Messenger Boy, Marvel of Avandale, Flint of Avandale and numerous others, one feels that we could well afford to turn back the clock.

QUEBEC NOTES

By VEVA H. ROBSON

Mrs. Phyllis Robson has most kindly invited me to contribute to a monthly Quebec column—it seems to me the best plan would be for all of us to send our little news or big items—direct to Mrs. Robson. Most of us have something in the way of a scrap of news—it would be interesting to hear about the different breeds from the different breeders each and all must have their doggie histories to talk about—past and present—this would make interesting reading and bring our Province into the limelight—while it sadly needs.

You breeders will regret that the Ladies' K.C. of Canada Inc. will not hold a show this year. There is a rustling in the wind about a show though, which we hope will materialize—this will be sponsored by a group of doggie enthusiasts.

DON'T LET HIM DIE BEFORE HIS TIME

You'd miss that dog of yours. He is like one of the family and in his eyes, you're the grandest person on earth. Don't let him die before his time. See him through to healthy, happy old age by treating him to a Karswood Condition Powder once a week. 81 out of every 100 Dog Experts in Britain give their valuable pedigree dogs "Karswoods." They know this is a reliable way to help keep dogs well. Get Karswood Dog Condition Powders at drug stores and pet shops. 21 powders for 40c.

It has so often struck me as marvelous that out of the many dogs who come to my doggie hairdressing shop—so few are cross—mostly all are most amiable and easy to handle—a feather in their Breeder's cap—but I would indeed like the breeders to advise the purchasers of pets how to look after their dogs—keep them groomed and clean. Oogs have come to my place that it would make your heart ache to see them—dirty, unkept and full of knots. When I give a little pep talk on the subject, they simply stare and say "Why we didn't know they had to be groomed so often". In town when it is so dirty it is impossible for an animal to keep itself in any way and a gentle hint at the start might go a long way towards a happier life for that little puppy. Most people are devoted to their dogs, but it stops short of elbow grease.

Some of these days I hope to see a good training school here—we need it. It might also be a good idea for a newcomer to be advised to teach his or her pet to learn to stay alone if need be, and to remain in its box if necessary—then when it has to be confined it would not be so unhappy.

Have noticed recently a demand for "better dogs", also larger breeds. Montreal has some very good Poodles—but all want them trimmed either Kerry Blue or the Dutch cut. Possibly our winters have something to do with banning the Standard.

Cockers seem to lead the race at present—although more Wires and Scotties are once more appearing on the streets. Am surprised there are not more Welsh Terriers—they seem so suited to city life and have such dispositions. Most of those that have been to my place have been ideal pals and very smart to look at.

It would be nice if we doggie people could try and arouse more interest among the amateurs—keep their dogs looking smart—buy good ones and show when there is a show. Most outsiders are keen about their dog's appearance, but here it is the few only. Once in the Spring and once in the Fall—a general clean-up seems to rule the day. Can we change it—let us try, and if Mrs. Robson wants a Quebec column and is kind enough to put one in—let us help her.

News from ALBERTA

By H. P. SAUNDERS

The First Annual Dog Show of the Kinsmen Club of Edmonton, under the Canadian K.C. Rules, in aid of the milk for Britain Fund was held in the Palace Gardens, Jasper Ave. east, Edmonton, Alberta, on Wednesday, April 28th, 1943.

Pat Randall and Dr. Cooper of Saskatchewan judged. At this fixture the English Cocker Spaniel Club of Alberta considered it their first annual specialty.

The secretary, Mary D. Gardner, and her assistants went out to make this a record breaker and they certainly succeeded beyond their imaginations for entries were received from many outside points, even from across the line, in fact, the show was an international event. Whenever Mrs. Gardner is at the helm success is always sure to crown her efforts. She very wisely picked out two outstanding ring stewards, Bill Gardner and W. J. McDonald, and her choice of show superintendent, Mrs. R. E. Austin, made it just perfect and things just had to run smoothly.

The show was honored with the presence of our Jimmie Strachan, who dropped in rather unexpectedly, and was welcomed by all. It was just too bad that we did not know beforehand so that some form of special entertainment could have been arranged for Jimmie.

The quality of the dogs benched was away above par, and many spectators graced the show with their presence, so that when the final accounting was made over one thousand dollars was realized. Now, just why can't other places take a leaf from Mrs. Gardner's book and stage a similar show in their towns and cities, I could name many places that could make considerable money to assist the war effort—Red Deer, Lethbridge, and others. The judges found for Best in Show the English Setter Am. Ch. Knight Errant of Delwed, a noble son of Ch. Sturdy Max, owned by F. W. McKay of San Francisco, California.

At this particular time it is very hard to find accommodation at Edmonton, but Mrs. Gardner and her efficient committee had everything pretty well arranged so that it was not necessary for any of the exhibitors to bunk with their dogs. I was particularly pleased to see Leonard Horncastle back in the ring showing a Boston.

I was very sorry to learn that the old standby, Joe Caswell, was confined to his bed. We all hope that he will soon be better and again able to take his place handling and judging; for a great many years Joe was the outstanding breeder and exhibitor of the English Curly Coat, and Irish Terriers, and what good ones he did show.

The rule that bars a ring steward or any member of his family from showing a dog, kept away the Gardner exhibit of Sealyhams, Scotties, Fox Terriers and Poodles always an added attraction to any show. It is my candid opinion that a judge that would let any such influence his awards should not be worthy of the position. I also know that the Gardners would be the very last people to expect any judge to be so influenced.

Edmonton can boast of having sent many winners to other parts. Smith Foster having made history with his Chesapeake; Jack Tanton, who had such an attractive entry of eight Cockers at this show, has advertised Edmonton all over the continent. Jack and Girlie Rawlings with their Springers take a back seat to no others.

A. J. Hale has sent some dogs to the market that will and are making his home city famous, and he has some young stock coming along that are bound to follow in the footsteps of the old stock. Hale takes in all the shows near and far, and he wins. Charles and Miss Jessie Batten have always had things pretty well all their own with Welsh Corgi (Pembroke), I know should they take their dogs to more distant shows they would easily clean up, their dogs are very typical and are born showmen.

The Grants are to the fore with their English Cockers and have told me they intend to show across the line this year. I know they will continue to add fresh laurels for they also have been very successful. Mr. McMillan, with his Springers, is an asset to any show and he has the right idea about things. I was pleased, indeed, to again have a talk to him. I must thank him for his very interesting account of the Springer trials. Calgary hopes to have Retriever trials in the near future and I would like to see Mr. McMillan and others from Edmonton bring their dogs down for the occasion.

Mary Lee and Mr. Girvin, with their Kerries, made a sensational win at this show. They have the right idea, Mary Lee sent over to England for her first kerry and from that on she would have nothing but the best, the result is that her stock is winning wherever shown, and does she put them down in good shape? A feature of the Edmonton show was the win made by Jerry Go Oil The Car (such a name) for so grand a dog, and was Mary proud, and did Girvin smile. I was proud of their win, and may they go on to bigger shows, for I have seen the best of them and believe these dogs can hold their own any place.

I was also pleased that my old friend, A. E. Figg, was again an exhibitor, but now for the grin—he has branched out in Cockers and was wise in going to my friend, Mary Pickford, for his foundation stock, so watch Albert from now on, and get your license ready, for he will be there. Ralph and Mrs. Smith always to the front, excel in Cockers, and they are the kind that are always there and always working with a friendly smile. I was pleased to have a call from Dave Kilgannon; Dave has joined the Air Force, and his father is carrying on with their kennel of St. Bernards. I did miss meeting Eva Graham, and watching her Wires win. She has been ill for some time, but here is hoping she will soon be well enough to be back with her lovely string of dogs.

Mrs. Arno, the expert Toy breeder and handler, and her daughter, who is now growing up to be a very attractive young lady, are always to the fore with their Toys, and they are an added attraction to any show.

The Editor has said that I must be brief, so I must ring off before I am really finished, but I will continue next month.

Brevities from Britain

By PHYLLIS ROBSON

At a recent meeting of the Kennel Club a letter was read from Miss D. Gardner, who is trying to establish a new breed which she called Old English Spaniels, but which was in part a cross between a King Charles Spaniel and Welsh Springer. One of these dogs had been sold to a Mr. Hawkins, and he wished to know if there was such a breed.

The Committee decided that Miss Gardner and Mr. Hawkins be informed that they can only be registered as Crossbred Spaniels.

It was reported that registrations for February were 2,066 as compared with 2,236 for January. A decrease of 170. Transfers for February, 603, as compared with 493 for January. An increase of 110. The registrations as compared with February, 1942, showed an increase of 909 and transfers as compared with February, 1942, an increase of 330.

The Kennel Gazette announces 61 shows to be held; and an export pedigree to Canada was issued for the Irish Terrier Slemish Sentiment.

The following are extracts taken from letters written to a milk office:

I have one baby two months old, fed entirely on cow's milk and another four months old.

Will I be able to have milk for baby, as my husband finishes his job as night watchman next Thursday.

Please find out if my husband is dead as the man I am living with won't get out or do anything till he is sure.

Please send me my money, I have fallen into errors with my landlord.

I have no children as my husband is a bus driver and works day and night.

This is my eighth child, what are you going to do about it?

I posted a form by mistake before my child was properly filled in.

"And what started the row?" inquired the magistrate of the minesweeper who had come ashore for a refresher.

He answered thus: "It was like this. First 'e throws 'is beer over me, then I 'its 'im in the face with me elbow. Then 'e cuts me 'ead open with a bottle, so I pushes 'im through a winder. . . . The next thing we know we's quarrelling."

There is a hen up in Yorkshire, a two-year-old black Wyandotte, which would have been turned into a good Sunday dinner if she had not suddenly changed her ways for the better.

Mr. William Adamson, who is a poultry fancier, decided to kill the bird because her egg production was far from satisfactory.

But when he went to his poultry house recently he found an outsize in eggs awaiting him. The hen he had "sentenced" had laid him an egg 5 ozs. in weight.

Next day she followed this up with another good effort, laying a large egg weighing 3¾ ozs., and on the following two days there were eggs of normal size.

After this Mr. Adamson had no option but to grant her a "reprieve".

I have just received a copy of "De Hond", Amsterdam, which tells again the well-known story of the dog of Montargis, after paragraphs relating the way in which Buddha endowed Fidelity with a shape, the process resulting in the little quadruped we call the Pekingese.

One is reminded of the popular legend concerning the origin of the Boxer that is related in a German book on the breed. On the fifth day God made, among other creatures, one of every breed of dog, large and small, brown and white, or brindled. Then He said: "Behold a collection that can hardly be equalled among my other animals. Yet in order to crown the whole I will now create a dog in which friendliness and courage, strength and speed shall be combined." He took a handful of clay and made a Boxer, which indeed looked very much like the one we know today, except that its head differed little from that of other breeds. And God was pleased and said: "This has succeeded beyond all expectations." The Boxer heard this and could not help letting other dogs know what a fine animal he was. The small breeds agreed but the large ones were offended that the medium-sized Boxer should seem to surpass them. Growls and snarls were followed by one of those lightning-like springs! But the Boxer had forgotten that his muzzle was still soft and tender and the damage was done, if damage it may be called. To this day the smaller breeds are greeted by the Boxer in the friendliest way; the bigger breeds do well to keep at a respectful distance.

Two soldiers' wives write as follows: "After hearing of Canada's magnificent gift to the war effort may we be permitted to offer our very grateful thanks for all she has done for us since the commencement of the war?"

"We have found many splendid articles of food marked 'Canadian' in the shops, and we would so much like to express our gratitude to the people of Canada—and our blessed Royal and Merchant Navies—for countless nourishing and delicious meals."

"Say, doctor, I asked that nurse to put a hot-water bottle at my feet and she stuck up her nose and walked away," complained the patient.

"What else could you expect? That was the head nurse," explained the doctor.

"Oh, do they specialize that much? Then get me the foot nurse."

I've just received such an interesting letter from Sgt. G. E. Duckworth, who is serving overseas in the Canadian Army and comes from Toronto. Here is what he says: "I have been in England three years and ever since I came here I have been looking for a Shepherd dog, and whilst travelling around your lovely country I saw some lovely ones owned by Mrs. Uglione in Surrey. We soon became very close friends and I bought a pup from her, his name is Nica and his sire Etzel of Brittas, dam Ghita of Ingore, and I wouldn't take all the money in England for him. He is the best companion a man in the Army could have and when I go away sometimes I leave him with Mrs. Uglione. One day I was talking to her and she kept on repeating your name and she was telling me what a grand person you are (thanks for the compliment, Sergeant—P.R.) and when I heard that you were living in Toronto I thought I must write you a letter. My mother lives at 184 Westminster Avenue and if you would call on her I know she would be very pleased to see you and if you have the time to write to me, I would appreciate it very much and I will be glad to send you a picture of Nica."

Now isn't that a nice letter. Needless to say, I have written the Sergeant who signs himself "one of the many dog lovers", and I hope to look up his mother. After all the kindness I have received from Canadian and American fanciers it makes me very happy to hear of one receiving kindness in my beloved country.

"No money could have bought it from us," said an officer at Marlborough Police Court, when Leonard Davis was fined £10 for shooting a puppy which had been adopted as a mascot by Canadian soldiers.

The puppy was four months old and was stated to have grown very affectionate and intelligent.

Davis said the puppy chased his fowls. He shot in its direction to frighten it—not intending to wound it.

The puppy was so severely wounded that it had to be destroyed.

A Scottish woman who received a letter from the enemy-occupied Channel Islands was puzzled by a phrase in it—"Your letter of the 11/4th, like Paul's letter to Corinth, has been a long time on the journey."

The woman looked up the Epistle to the Corinthians, turned to the fourth chapter, and found the 11th verse read:

"Even unto this present hour we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted and have no certain dwellingplace."

"Not working today, John?" inquired the Vicar of the veteran when he strutted down the village street towards the Unicorn.

"No, sir, I'm celebrating my golden wedding," replied old John.

"Well, where's the missus?"

"It's no concern of hers. She's my fourth," said old John emphatically.

MR. NORMAN K. BROWN JOINS THE AIR FORCE

Mr. Brown was born in Toronto in 1915 and when very young paid a visit to York, England, his mother's home town.

At school he was always the plugging student and he mastered the science of the three R's—readin', ritin', and rith-metic—at the Birchcliffe Public School, passing his entrance in 1929. He won the gold medal offered by the Scarborough Township Council for the pupil having the highest aggregate marks amongst all pupils in the Township trying their entrance examinations that year. On leaving public school he entered Scarborough Collegiate, there to take the commercial course and in the two full years that he attended won the two prizes offered for general proficiency in the commercial forms.

When Mr. Strachan was looking for a young man that he could train to serve the Canadian Kennel Club after he had retired from its service through advancing years, his choice was young Norman Brown. Norman was employed by an electrical manufacturing company and when he advised that concern that he had decided to enter the employ of The Canadian Kennel Club, the principals were quite shocked that he should wish to leave their employ and literally go "to the dogs". His steady application of mathematical knowledge to his particular work has been favourably noticed and he was ear-marked for speedy advancement.

In the Kennel Club offices Mr. Brown was encouraged to give full play to his talents and soon he had made his presence felt in the every day life of the club's business. After six years' training, Mr. Strachan was able to convince the then President, Col. MacRae, that Mr. Brown could be trusted to take over the Secretarial-Editorial burden in its entirety and it was understood that he would be given the opportunity to demonstrate his ability. The election brought a new President, however, and Mr. Strachan felt that it was indicated that he should continue a while longer and he did. In course of time, however, he was obliged to hand over the reins of secretarial government to his understudy and there has been no regrets of any consequence following the change. Mr. Brown has filled his position much better than is commonly understood and the several committees that have functioned in recent years would not hesitate to give him full credit for the success of their submitted reports.

AN APPRECIATION

We know our readers will be interested to learn that the Managing Editor of Dogs In Canada—Mr. Norman Brown—has joined the Air Force and for the present his services will not be available to dogdom. His legion of friends will wish him well in his new career and a safe and speedy return to his dual duties as Secretary of the Canadian K. C. and Editor of this magazine.

At school Mr. Brown naturally participated in all sports that were going—baseball, football, handball and basketball—and since leaving school has taken up tennis and badminton.

He belonged to a small group of fellows who had their regular bowling and poker sessions and of this group he is the fifth to enter the Air Force. However, he is now confronted with a game that transcends all other games and as he takes his place on the team, in whatever capacity, he will have much to give and he will give that freely, vigorously and in good time.

We, his colleagues, wish to express our appreciation of his courtesy and good fellowship—he is a fine sportsman and always fair and helpful and a loyal friend. God Bless him.

—Phyllis Robson.

Missing your PULVEX fellows?

DON'T blame your master if he isn't supplying you with your favourite PULVEX these days. It isn't his fault. It's the fault of two rats named Hitler and Hirohito. We dogs have a good reason of our own for hating these two enemies of man and dogdom—Because it was the overrunning of the Malay States by the Japs that cut off the supply of Derris which is the active ingredient in PULVEX.

Of course, it's tough on us dogs. PULVEX is naturally the favourite flea killer of every dog who values his health and comfort because it's the flea killer that really kills them and keeps them off for days. But if your master cannot get your PULVEX—don't blame him. Blame Hitler and Hirohito. But the day is coming when all of us—British bulldog, the American mastiff and the Russian wolf hound—will have those two rats by the throat—and then once again we dogs can enjoy the benefit of PULVEX. In the meantime, there is still PULVEX available at some dealers—and if you're a lucky dog you may be able to get some. Tell master to try.

GUELPH

The Second Annual Charity show sponsored by the Guelph Junior Board of Trade was held in the Winter Fair Buildings and had an entry of over 200. The venue was a spacious one, with two large rings and plenty of seating accommodation for spectators. The show officials were all very much on the spot and comprised, Dr. W. E. Shute, the superintendent, who officiated at the microphone; the secretary, Mr. J. S. Dunlop—a real live wire; the ring stewards, Messrs. A. Roberts, Jas. E. Stopps and M. A. Whitehead; the trophy secretaries, Messrs. H. R. White and H. W. Bryant, and the veterinarians, Drs. Nelson Cote and Brown.

Judging started promptly, and after an interval for lunch recommenced at 2 o'clock with only a brief interlude of fifteen minutes for refreshments soon after 6 p.m., was recontinued, so that very soon after 10 p.m. the proceedings concluded—much to the satisfaction of all concerned. We find that the long-drawn-out sessions of evening judging is coming in for much criticism these days, so it is pleasant to be able to give a full mead of praise to the Guelph show officials.

Once more Cocker entries predominated, and one must hand it out to the Cocker Club of Central Ontario, as out of the 39 entrants, 31 belonged to members of the go ahead body who now number over 55. The two big rings were a treat and the "gate" seemed to be excellent, on entering the building, everyone was invited to take a ticket in a raffle for some cocker puppies—in the sacred cause of charity and business was excellent. We wish space was not at a premium so that we could mention a tithe of the good folks with whom we exchanged friendly greetings—our first visit to Guelph was indeed made pleasant by the hearty welcome we received. One of the first we met was Mr. J. De Cola of Buffalo, who was very happy at getting the first points towards his Canadian Ch. with his American Ch. Afghan bitch—he was greatly impressed with the good fellowship of Canadian exhibitors at his first show as an exhibitor and intends to come again. Every one was pleased to welcome the popular President of the Canadian K.C., Mr. W. J. Risewick, this busy man was taking a day off and we noticed that he was particularly interested in his old love—i.e., the Bulldog. Another officer of the K.C. who was very welcome and who was showing a Schipperke, was Director Mrs. Brown, who was doing all she could to collect trophies for the forthcoming All Terrier breeds show—she and Mr. "Sandy" Palmer made a formidable double to whom no one can say no. The charming Misses Cluff were putting in some fine work on behalf of Peel County show and, incidentally, did some good winning with a home-bred O.E. Sheepdog. It was pleasant to meet Miss A. B. Currie, an enthusiastic Welsh Corgi fancier, and in Cockers we chatted with Miss Dagger, Mr. L. L. Broley, Mrs. Hamilton—who had a team of five—Mr. R. G. Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Butler, Miss Elsie Mayhew, who did well with her Am. Ch. Sirdar Guildler, and Mrs. McClements from Detroit. Mr. A. Roberts—the Collie fancier and King Pin of ring stewards, told us of his new Collie purchase and Mr. Geo. Getty was very happy at his success in his favorite breed. In Dobermans, it was pleasant to welcome Mr. and Mrs. John H. Morrison, all the way from West Virginia, U.S.A., with their red dog, Gesner's Happy Jack and Ego V. Glenrhugel. Mrs. G. W. Hyslop did well in Cairns and in Smooth Fox Terriers; Mr. R. Ray McLaughlin had a strong hand and seemed to be very happy at being again at a show—he is a very busy man these days. Mrs. Spiker carried all before her in Kerries with a dog which came of the same breeding as seventeen American champions—so we were informed by microphone. Dr. and Mrs. Secretan did well in Scotties, Ch. Desril Rock, their imported dog, being in grand fettle. In Bostons, it was pleasant to meet Mr. C. J. McGarry, who expressed his pleasure at the manner in which his "ad" was set up in the last issue of Dogs in Canada, Mr. Walter Brown had a field in Bulldogs—he sure does know how to turn out the old sour mugs; in Chows we met Mrs. Viola Fielden and Mr. and Mrs. Kenyon—the latter benched a trio, including a couple of good home-breds.

To Captain Dudley Waters went the lion's share of the judging, as he had all the breeds not taken by the other three judges, as well as all Groups and Best in Show—and a real good job he did. The Working Group was a grand one and must have caused him to put on his thinking cap, and when he chose the O.E. Sheepdog, there was loud applause.

The President, Mr. Elmer Goetz, made a delightful speech and thanked all for their wonderful response, the entire proceeds of the show—he told us—went to the Guelph Mercury for the London (England) Distress Fund—a very worthy cause—to which every possible cent was donated. Capt. Waters selected Mrs. Matchett's beautiful Afghan Hound as Best in Show—a popular award which repeated the recent London show triumph—and this dog also won Best Canadian Bred—whilst best local exhibit went to Mr. Charles Ogg's Springer, Stuart's Silver. The Cocker puppy raffle was then drawn for and a Guelph man won the first prize and proudly claimed his pup. And so ended an enjoyable and well-managed show.

HAMILTON

The Hamilton Kennel Club has every reason to feel proud of its last show, which was held at the Arena. A somewhat chilly venue as we understand that up to very recently, it has been used as an ice storage, some of us wondered if the ice was still under the floors! The President, Mr. W. P. Gudgeon, is a great worker and he looked very happy at the good entry and good gate. He was ably backed up by the most capable Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. G. D. Lawless, the assistant Secretary, Mrs. T. H. McGuire, and the Show Committee, comprising the following: F. Patrick, A. Turnbull, W. Foster, A. Garrick, Mrs. N. Springstead, Mrs. M. Stevens, C. M. Stevens, Mrs. W. P. Gudgeon, R. A. Moll, Mrs. G. Lawless, A. Landl, T. Donnelly, H. C. Smith. With Show Superintendent T. Frankland, and Ring Stewards, W. Foster, C. M. Stevens, A. Turnbull, A. Roberts, and Mrs. W. P. Gudgeon.

The Veterinarians were: Dr. W. J. Rumney, Dr. T. McCrae Mathews, Dr. H. R. McLean.

The Hon. Vice-President is Mr. T. H. Ross, M.P., and the Vice-President, Mr. T. Patrick.

Judging started at midday, when Mr. Reeves commenced his big task and Mr. "Andy" Dunn had his hands full with all the sporting breeds and 54 cockers. Everyone was delighted to welcome Mrs. Marion Foster Florsheim, the American Army Aviatrix, who was paying her first visit to a Canadian Dog Show. Mrs. Florsheim has won many Bests in Show with her beautiful Afghans at the Canadian events so everyone was pleased to meet this charming young woman and "hope you'll come again" was said to her many times. Another welcome visitor, also from the States, was Mr. Joseph De Cola, an Afghan enthusiast, from Buffalo. Excitement ran high when it was found that Mrs. James M. Austin's famous Best in Show winning Pekingese Ch. Le of Matson's Catawba had come up from New York, in charge of Mrs. Ruth Burnett Sayres, and that she and her husband, Mr. Henry Sayres, had brought along their lovely Canadian-bred Kerry Blue, Ch. Kenmare Sun Bonnet, the presence of the great English Setter, Mr. Kennedy's Ch. Maro of Maridor, added zest to the oft-repeated question, "Who's going to win Best in Show". Thank goodness, we never heard the hated expression, "It's in the bag". There was an open field.

During the evening, there was a long wait whilst Mr. Reeves finished his breeds and after Mr. Dunn had judged the Sporting Group, for over an hour one of the big rings was vacant, and many people found interest in watching Mrs. Sayres preparing the Pekingese, and Mr. Henry Sayres the Kerry Blue. We certainly got an object lesson in expert grooming, and the crowd just loved the luxurious way Ch. Le enjoyed his beauty treatment. This British-bred peke has now won 39 Best in Show and 193 Bests of Breed, a pretty fine record and one never approached by any other Toy Dog.

At long last Mr. Reeves took the big ring and commenced his groups and when the final six dogs were selected the excitement was intense. The tiers of seats were crowded with spectators and round the ring they were three or four deep. It was shortly after 11 p.m. when the judge faced the six contenders and there was much speculation as to the final result. After going over all six, Mr. Reeves returned to the Setter and the Pekingese—gave both a final once over, and then, with a sphinx-like expression, went to the table—marked his book—took up the trophy and advanced to—which?—the Setter, amidst applause—gave it to the handler of Ch. Maro of Maridor. Then came Best Canadian-bred, and this was a most popular win, for it went to the Kerry Blue—so Mr. and Mrs. Sayres had some trophies to take back to the States as souvenirs of their visit to the show which is described in the catalogue as "Canada's Finest One Day Show". Congratulations, Mr. Secretary G. D. Lawless, on doing a real good job of job.

SHEPHERD DOG CLUB OF CANADA

On Saturday, May 1st, The Shepherd Dog Club of Canada held the first matinee show of the year on the grounds of the Manufacturers' Life Bldg., Bloor St. Owing to the bad weather there wasn't the usual turnout of Shepherd enthusiasts, but Mrs. Hendry, of Scarboro Bluffs; Mr. Geo. Jermain, St. Davids and Mr. and Mrs. F. Walker, from Woodbridge way, turned up, much to the surprise and delight of the rest of the Shepherd people from Toronto. Mr. Alex Gooderham, of the well-known Northmere Kennels fame, officiated. As his Winners dog he picked Mr. J. Hayman's Cholo von Nebrie, Winners Bitches and Best of Breed, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Weller's five months' old puppy bitch Elly of Briardale.

While waiting for the judging to begin, Mr. Hayman, with his Cholo von Nebrie, Mr. Walker with his Susan of Fairacres, Mr. Hendry with his Anita of Briardale and Mr. Eric Jackes with his Shadow von Einam entertained the spectators by having their dogs go through a few obedience exercises. None of these dogs have been thoroughly trained, as their owners have been too busy to spend the time on them, but it is a wonderful sight to see a shepherd in the "down position" staying, while other dogs are running free around them. It just proved that even a few minutes' training every day on a Shepherd repays you a thousand-fold for your little effort.

The S. C. Club of Canada intends holding matinee shows once a month, and if there are any Shepherd dog fanciers who would like to attend and do not know the dates, if they would get in touch with Mrs. Weller, 540 Kingston Road, she will keep them advised as to time, place, etc.

Jimmie Strachan's Banquet

But when Col McFarland came back from the First Great War, he found a dawning prosperity falling on the Kennel Club.

Mr. Strachan continued that when he passed the "seventy" mark he remembered a pledge he had made to himself, i.e., that he would voluntarily sever his connection with the Kennel Club as a salaried executive and seek to re-enter the field of member service. He had no regrets at having taken it even if it did mean sacrificing a well-deserved old-age pension arrangement of desirable proportion. In conclusion, Mr. Strachan concluded:

"I would like to pay my tribute of sincere respect for the Presidents and Officers of the Club, who have served the last fifty-five years, this tribute, including the present President and his officers, not necessarily including myself. Our debt of gratitude is our justification for revering the memories of those of them who have passed on to the larger life that we believe exists beyond the limits of this earthly struggle. For the attendance of so many of you here tonight I am deeply and appreciatively grateful. For the tangible token of your respect and your friendship I can only say, "Thank you, one and all", and that comes from the depths of my heart. And here is a tip for which I make no charge: The Canadian Kennel Club is one of the very best Breed Associations incorporated with the Department of Agriculture; I am inordinately proud of my connection with it; I am happy to render it any service that lies within my power, and now I am thanking you all again and in the same breath, almost, I ask you to boost it, and boost it, keep right on boosting it. I believe that we have the power to make it the best Breed Association so far incorporated, and that this will be proven just as soon as the war ends, and Canadian everyday life resumes its normal course again. Thank you all, again, and God bless you."

There was tremendous applause at the end of the speech, the whole company standing and singing, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". This was followed by Auld Lang Syne" and then the party broke up into little groups, some sang and danced and a good time was had by all.

And so ended a memorable evening.

Doberman Pinschers

JUDY OF NAVIGATOR and her beautiful son, RENCO V. MAN-NERHEIM, finished their championships at the Guelph show on May 15th. JUDY will have pups again this summer, and ARIS OF PONTCHARTRAIN has eight beauties now, three of which are red males.

Why not buy from the kennel which produces and SELLS the winners. BARBEL V. MANNERHEIM with one Best-in-Show and ADAM VON MANNERHEIM are near their championships.

OBITUARY

The Late Evan Gravell, Vancouver, B.C.

The news of the passing of this true and well beloved dog fancier struck the City of Vancouver like a bombshell, as the report of his death was passed slowly from mouth to ear, on Friday, April 16th. The writer had spent part of the previous Sabbath day at Evan's home, and had arranged for a further visit later in the same week. On Friday, the 16th, the fanciers of British Columbia was going to entertain the writer at the Pacific Athletic Club and Evan was to be there as a token of his friendship, but it was a vacant chair instead that told the story of his absence and the cause thereof, for he had died on that very day. It was freely remarked that the likeable Evan never had a single enemy in the City of Vancouver, probably he never had an enemy anywhere, and this in spite of the fact that he had judged frequently at dog shows in Canada and in the United States.

It was the writer's privilege to meet Mr. Gravell in 1921, at Regina Exhibition, that was the year that Regina Exhibition extended an invitation to be their guest at Regina. It was there that the late Bert Swann, the late Norman Swire and myself met Evan for the first time, and if memory continues to serve correctly, that was my friend's first judging appointment in Canada. That friendship continued unbroken as long as life made it possible, now the fragrance of it becomes a cherished memory.

English Setters took a warm place in Evan Gravell's Welsh heart, although it was a Gordon Setter that he brought home with Katie, when the latter was carried over the threshold as Malwydd Rowland, and Ch. Rowlands Credential, one that he picked out of the nest for his friend, Walley Wilgress. In recent years the pair of English Setters in the accompanying illustration (left) Ch.

Snowdens' Rockets Lad, (right) Snowden Clincher held much of the lime-light. Trophies of all sizes and varieties tell of Evans' skill as a breeder, but the one donated by that noted sportsman, Mr. Austin Taylor, of Vancouver, to V. K. C. for Best in Show in 1938 takes pride of place. Another piece of silver that is greatly prized is a silver platter, donated for Best in Show to the Royal City Kennel Club in 1932.

The late Mr. Gravell took a fling at wire Fox Terriers for a little diversion, and a sweet bitch, named "Snowdon Miss Flip" was imported, and he used to make much amusing capital out of a heavily black marked bitch that George S. Thomas advised being excused via the water bucket, and later when the pup had developed and Mr. Thomas became enamoured with her, Evan would kid him about the proposed drowning. Anyway Mr. Thomas became the owner of "Miss Flip", and Mr. Irving Ackerman became the owner of Flip's daughter "Flip's Meloday".

On Monday, April 19th, Evan Einon Gravell, was attended by one hundred and fifty friends, who came to pay their last respects to the man they had come to hold in highest regard. Rev. E. Williams was the pastor in charge and he paid eloquent tribute to Evan. The choral service, partly in English and partly in Welsh, was most effective. Interment took place at Mountain View Cemetery. Flowers in great number and variety bore mute testimony to one who had left the ranks a little while before his fellows. As a pall-bearer I was allowed to represent dog-dom in B.C.

It occurred to the writer that the B.C. fanciers really came together when one of their number is visited by the "Grim Reaper".

Mrs. Evan Gravell ("Katie") took her grief in true British fashion, and we could not help feeling proud of her deportment under such trying circumstances. It has been a great comfort to herto receive messages of condolence from many friends, and from far scattered areas. She surely has everyone's sincere sympathy in this, her dark hour.
