OUR COVER

Our Cover this month is the Bull-Mastiff, Canadian and American Champion Tasmar Bridget of Le Tasyll, first bitch of the breed to gain the North American International title. Sired by the well-known English stud dog, Robin Hood of Le Tasyll, who has recently completed his English Championship (he also sired the first European International Champion Bull-Mastiff and the Canadian and American Champion Robin of the Rouge, first North American International Champion), Tasmar Bridget was bred by Mrs. G. Mitchley out of Maritime Copy-right and was imported last year by Kennels of the Rouge from Mrs. D. J. Nash, owner of the famous Le Tasyll Kennels in England. She will shortly be bred to Int. Ch. Robin of the Rouge.

Also included in the stock of Kennels of the Rouge is a younger son of English Champion Robin Hood of Le Tasyll out of Carokid Jane, and young Canadian-bred stock of both sexes sired by Int. Ch. Robin of the Rouge who are consistent show winners in Canada and the U.S.A.

Kennels of the Rouge, Reg'd, owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins, are situated on No. 2 Highway, seventeen miles east of Toronto and one mile east of the Lansing cut-off. Visitors are always welcome.

Breeding: A Fine Art

By Hayes Blake Hoyt

THE aim of good animal breeding is to achieve an animal which conforms to some standard—in the case of dogs, The American Kennel Club standard—which at the same time possesses strength and character. Readers probably know the old adage, "breed in for type, breed out for vigor," and the dog breeder's problem is to integrate these two pieces of advice in order to obtain the near-perfect animal, for without physical strength and character, the dog which is just "typey" is a distinct liability, and, therefore, can be considered somewhat of a failure.

The ideal show dog is highly responsive to its handler and definitely "gives" in the ring. It learns quickly the role that it must play and enters into it with spirit and poise. The role is a subtle one because outside of ordinary good manners, such as letting strangers handle it, open its mouth, etc., very little appears to be demanded of it except that it be gay, poised and docile, qualities which stem from courage and good nerves. It must, however, possess intelligence, for through its intelligence it responds to the mood of the moment, like a good actor, and this is what ring-siders mean when they say, "the dog was asking for it every moment," or "the dog never quit asking for it."

In my twenty years of breeding show dogs, I have found several fallacies in some of the old adages, but many more truths. For instance, nervous characteristics, such as timidity or bad temper, can be inherited but they do tend to disappear. In other words, they are recessive traits. In a naturally gentle dog, such as one of the Spaniel family, timidity is more common than in an aggressive breed such as a terrier, etc. I have found crossing a line where aggressiveness or bad temper (provided this comes from courage, not fear) with a line where timidity is inherited, to be helpful to the offspring's disposition. In other words, the offspring is neither as shy, nor as quarrelsome as the parent, and tends to be a dog with a better disposition.

Of course the danger in breeding for character is that the lines may not be related on the right side for good type, and all the breeder can do is to search diligently until he finds the right side for type with the right character.

In breeding for type it is necessary to mate the dog or bitch to a dog or bitch related on the side which has produced the best type. I feel it a waste of time to mate simply two good individuals and have never seen such a mating produce anything outstanding in type. For instance, suppose one has a bitch with a good head but, as is common with this type, is slightly long in back, weak in pasterns, with only fair feet. These would be common characteristics with a very long fine headed bitch as the bones tend to be long everywhere. In the interest of type one would desire to mate such a bitch with a line that was short in body and strong in feet, and such a line all too frequently possesses short heads. One would, therefore, search for a short backed cobby dog, related, if possible, to the long headed side of the bitch's family. The dog himself might be inferior in head (that is, short and somewhat broad), but it would be hoped that his relationship to the bitch's family on the long headed branch would produce good headed puppies, plus the "outside" characteristics of shorter bones and better feet.

I have found that mutations or differences of the line come more decisively from the sire, but that general characteristics and temperament are carried more definitely through the dam. There are, of course, many exceptions to this generalization. One of them: there are certain dogs and bitches which tend to throw their particular type regardless of the other parent. This was seen in the Standard Poodle, Nelly v.d. Schneeflocke of Blakeen which, bred to three different dogs during her lifetime, inevitably produced outstanding offspring of the same type. I have also found that offspring most generally resemble their grand-parents rather than the parents, and that males have a tendency to resemble the dam's line, and females the sire's.

Another Poodle which inevitably produced his type, and most interesting from the standpoint of the breeder, also produced his temperament, was the grey Standard, Ch. Griseley Labory of Piperscroft of Blakeen, C.D. This dog had a remarkably fine temperament, wonderful feet, and substance, but was rather straight behind. To this day I can tell a Griseley descendant. Griseley himself was a mutation in color, a gray from a black line. Bred to his own daughters he produced grays, but bred to other outside bitches of any color, including gray, he produced blacks. I have been amused to note that many modern gray breeders tell me that the common characteristics of the gray Standard Poodle are exceptionally fine temperaments, good feet, but that they tend to be broad in head and straight behind. It is only the gray Griseley descendants who have these characteristics!

The mistake of the average breeder is to become absorbed in one trait such as a good head, short back, good action, good hindquarters, etc., and to strive to obtain these characteristics at the expense of others. I have seen a number of kennels, not only Poodles, but other breeds as well, where most of the dogs had one great common virtue, but, alas, the proud breeder had become kennel blind and did not notice that with this one virtue the dogs possessed many grave faults. This is the type of breeder who, once famous and successful, wonders why in a few years his dogs no longer triumph in the show ring.

My advice to the novice breeder would be to seek balance before everything else. I feel that with an understanding and knowledge of the standard itself, if one can produce a balanced dog according to the standard, one has achieved permanent triumph, and something of definite value to the breed. By balance I mean that if a long head is required, let us have a long head, but not so overly long that the rest of the dog will suffer in consequence. It is better to develop all virtues evenly rather than to exaggerate any one or two.

I would next urge the breeder to be forever dissatisfied: one successful breeding combination does not mean the breeder knows all about breeding, and it is well to remember that even the near-perfect dog possesses faults. The good breeder remains aware of these faults, and strives to overcome them in the next generation. The same can be said about character, and here again the good breeder sacrifices, perhaps, some type in order to promote a sturdy and courageous temperament. Above all, the good breeder avoids the freak—the occasional dog which is born with excellent type character, but which cannot transmit the qualities. Such a dog should be used for breeding to determine whether it is a freak (it usually is), or whether the chromosomes and genes have come together in a manner capable of starting a new line (like the gray Standard, Griseley). If a freak, no matter how beautiful, fails to produce the desired mutation it is useless for breeding. This type of dog should be bred of course with its own son or daughter, as well as outside stock.

I, myself, never care whether the dog to which I am going to breed is a champion, nor do I care too much about its appearance, provided of course that it has no major inheritable fault. What I do care about is the pedigree, and in what respect this pedigree is related to that of my bitch. In order to judge this I must really be familiar with both pedigrees and herein lies the work of the real breeder.

He must zealously study pedigrees. This means writing letters, visiting, delving into the past, and in fact, all the activity of good hard research. Without this research the breeder is helpless as he should never "trust to luck." In breeding there is no such thing as luck; it is a matter of combining the right lines.

Man, There Was a Breeder

By Harry C. Grau

THE world will ever be grateful to Abbott Gregor Johann Mendel, who, in the 1860's was experimenting with ordinary peas in the garden of his monastery at Brunn, in what is now part of Czecho-Slovakia. He carefully noted and recorded the results of his work, and they were published in the "Proceedings of the Natural History Society of Brunn" in 1866. The benefits to mankind as a result of the application of the laws of heredity which Mendel discovered are incalculable. We can, to a large extent thank the good Abbot for our present-day beef animals, which carry more and better meat; for our chickens with more white meat, for the improvement in the strains of grasses and grains, fruits and vegetables.

This revolution in the science of genetics has all come about in the last fifty years. The basic laws which Mendel discovered and set down were, of course, established with the creation of the World and supposedly were unknown to man before 1866. However, there is evidence that mankind, or at least one man, knew about them thousands of years before Mendel was born. Let me recount the story of one man's experience with these laws and the results that were achieved. It is taken from the book of Genesis.

The part of the story we are interested in begins with Jacob's arrival in the land of Haran, to visit his uncle, Laban. A series of events, having to do with his brother Esau's sale of his birthright to Jacob, and Jacob's deception in securing his father's blessing instead of Esau, made it expedient for Jacob to leave home for a while.

He was warmly greeted by Laban on arrival and told to make himself at home. He found that Laban had two daughters: the older being Leah, and Rachel, who in Jacob's eyes was "beautiful and well favored", the younger. Jacob was immediately smitten with Rachel, and, as is still done today, spoke to her father about marriage. Contrary to present-day practices, however, he offered to serve Laban seven years for Rachel's hand. The bargain was struck and he was given charge of Laban's flocks.

Because of the love he had for Rachel the seven years seemed as a day to Jacob, and at the end of the term he came to Laban and claimed his reward. Laban said "O.K.," and arranged a big party to celebrate the nuptials. It must have been quite a party because Jacob, on awakening the next morning, found that he was married to Leah, the sister, instead of Rachel. Naturally, Jacob was upset at this turn in events and reproached Laban with the deception, which he admitted, saying that it was not customary for the younger daughter to marry first. He agreed, however, to give him Rachel, then and there, for another seven years' work. I guess he had poor Jacob there, for he went back to the flocks and worked another seven-year stretch.

Now Jacob was apparently a pretty good man with a herd of cattle (a term in those days applied to all domestic animals such as goats, swine, sheep and the like, in addition to cattle as we term them today) for, at the end of fourteen years he points out to Laban "... it was little which thou hadst before I came, and it's now increased to a multitude." He had also learned a thing or two about selective breeding, for when Laban urged him to stay on, and the question of pay came up, Jacob named his price: "I will pass through all thy flock today, removing from thence all the speckled and spotted cattle, and all the brown cattle among the sheep, and the spotted and speckled among the goats; and of such shall be my hire." Laban agreed to this arrangement, and most likely regretted it to his dying day.

From then on, all the best cattle were speckled and spotted, and all the sheep were brown. When he tried to even things up by reversing conditions, the few and the puny cattle were the speckled and spotted ones. He could not win.

This situation persisted for six years. Then Jacob began to notice a certain coolness on the part of his father-in-law. So he decided it was time, at least, to go home. He called his wives, Leah and Rachel, to him and explained it thus: "I see your father's countenance, that it is not toward me as before; but the God of my father hath been with me. And ye know that with all my power I have served your father. And your father hath deceived me, and changed my wages ten times; but God suffered him not to hurt me. If he said thus, 'The speckled shall be thy wages', then all the cattle bore speckled: and if he said thus, 'The ringstreaked shall be thy hire'; then bore all the cattle ringstreaked. Thus God hath taken away the cattle of your father and given them to me."

How was all this accomplished? Jacob, as you see, gives God all the credit. But at the same time, he was not idle himself. The Bible relates that "... Jacob took him rods of green poplar, and of the hazel and chestnut tree, and peeled white strakes in them, and made the white appear which was in the rods. And he set the rods which he had peeled before the flocks in the gutters in the watering troughs when the flocks came to drink, that they should conceive when they came to drink. And the flocks conceived among the rods, and brought forth cattle ringstreaked and speckled and spotted. ... And it came to pass, whensoever the stronger cattle did conceive, that Jacob laid the rods before the eyes of the cattle in the gutters, that they might conceive among the rods. But when the cattle were feeble, he put them not in, so the feeble were Laban's and the stronger were Jacob's. And the man increased exceedingly, and had much cattle, and maidservants, and menservants, and camels and asses."

Now Jacob, never having heard of Mendel, is presumed to know nothing of the science of genetics, or the laws of inheritance. The heck he didn't. Man, there was a breeder.

Know Your Breed...

By Alva McColl

The history of the Bull-Mastiff, while fairly modern, is of considerable interest, as it originated from a breed which is one of the most ancient in British history—the Mastiff. The courage and power of the Mastiff was well known and so was of much benefit to the gamekeepers whose endeavours to keep the game preserves free from the depredations of poachers was an arduous task. As the poachers became more efficient in their raiding of these preserves, it was found that in addition to courage and strength the dog to be used against them must have speed as well, and be able to attack on command.

The Bulldog, which was in use at that time for bull baiting, was a little too aggressive when ordered to attack the poachers. In order that these men could be thrown and held, but not mauled, it was decided to try a cross of the Bulldog and the Mastiff. Careful breeding with the elimination of those dogs which did not measure up to the required standard soon produced the Bull-Mastiff, known more commonly, in those days, as "the gamekeepers' night dog". That the Bull-Mastiffs did their work well is apparent from the fact that poaching in areas where they were used rapidly disappeared.

However, the value of this breed as a guardian and watch dog made it increasingly popular, for not only is the dog superlative in this respect, but it has such an amazingly even disposition that it is ideal as a companion and playmate for children. The powerfully built but active body has an endurance and alertness which, coupled with its marvellous sense of smell, makes it an ideal companion at any time. For those who prefer a dog not as large as a bloodhound or as small as a bulldog, the Bull-Mastiff strikes a happy medium. Its short coat is convenient in warm climates, yet so strong is the body that it can live outdoors in the harshest kind of weather without ill effects. At first a dark brindle colour was preferred so that the dog could fade into the background of night, but as the need for this disappeared the beautiful fawn colour was encouraged, and that is the most popular colour today.

Females 24 to 26 inches at shoulder

Evaluation of Points

By J. P. McCain, M.D.

PERFECTION is an eminence to which man has always aspired, but never attained. Despite his best efforts, it eludes him, yet inspires him to greater effort. I think the Powers That Be were wise in placing perfection just beyond human reach. As one writer has so aptly said, "Ah! but man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what is Heaven for?"

In this fascinating game of breeding dogs, we are ever trying to breed the perfect one, hoping always that our best efforts will suffer defeat, since a perfect dog would leave us no more worlds to conquer. The urge would be gone, and we would be left with nothing to do.

We start with this premise—all dogs have faults. Why then should we concentrate on looking for defects which we know are there? Far better to search for virtues which may or may not be present. A newcomer in the game decides what breed he likes. He reads the Standard of that breed; he commits part of it to memory; then he starts looking at other people's dogs, but with jaundiced eyes. He can discourse at great length on the faults of your dog, but never does he say, or see, its good features. These he is apt to overlook entirely, being too absorbed only in fault hunting, which we contend is the wrong approach, since it blinds one to the importance of seeing the whole dog.

Evaluation of faults will differ with different individuals and according to his own experiences. A breeder will consider them from the angle of how difficult it is to rid his dogs of certain faults in his breeding operations.

We divide faults as major and minor. Our Standard has attempted to do this and to list the ones which should be most harshly penalized. Personally, I feel that faults which interfere with the natural function or work of the dog are to be considered as major. Bad mouths and congenital absence of teeth will interfere with eating and assimilation of food. Bad feet, poor angulation, faults of the bony skeleton, all interfere with proper locomotion. As a result the work of the dog is impaired.

Therefore, strenuous efforts should be made to eliminate these faults in our stock. We are breeding a dog to take his place with the workers of other breeds so he should look and move like a worker, sound in feet and limb and very sound in body. Cow hocks, flat feet, poor angulation, and shelly bodies must go. We have all had dogs with these faults and still have some, but that is no reason for us to condone them because of a good headpiece. It behooves us to stir ourselves to get good headpieces with good running gear and sound bodies. Then, and not until then, will the Collie take his rightful place among the workers of his group. Head faults are common and since the head is the important part for the identity of the breed, we have made great effort and much progress toward eliminating head faults. Along this line I think that we (the Collie breeders) have gone too far. In our frantic efforts to improve head qualities, we have lost sight of the other parts of the dog.

An old friend of mine told me early in my Collie life, "Remember, Doc, a Collie has four feet, four legs, a body, coat, and a tail in addition to the head." We would do well to remember this in our breeding programs. Of course, the head is very important, for by its type is set. You may have soundness in body, feet, and legs, but if you have a poor headpiece, you have a mediocre dog. On the other hand, if one has a dog with a beautiful headpiece but poor in other qualities, he must try to keep that head and by selective breeding add to the other desired characteristics.

There is no royal road to success in the breeding game and very few short cuts. That is why we consider one lifetime too short for a breeding program. In trying to correct faults by breeding to dogs without the specific ones we are trying to eliminate, we usually run into others we do not have. Thus a vicious cycle is created. Once in a while in the turmoil, we come up with one nearly perfect and this gives us the necessary shot in the arm to keep trying.

In the judging of dogs, one is compelled to look for faults and to try to evaluate them. In the process we are likely to become, as we say "hepped," on some particular fault. I wish to warn against this for often we become wound up in details and fail to look at the whole dog. To illustrate: I was standing at the ringside one day watching a judge sort out a large entry of Collies. One dog in a class caught my eye, but much to my surprise, he was unplaced. After the judging, I asked the judge if he remembered that particular dog. He told me he did. "Why did you place him so far down?" I asked. "Well," he said, "the dog has a bump on his skull. He has not flattened out yet, but," he continued, "the dog is young and probably will flatten out." When I asked whether he had found any other fault, his reply was that he could find nothing else wrong. Whereupon I told him that a dog with only one fault is a 'rara avis,' and that I was afraid that he had allowed this bump to keep him from seeing the over-all Collie.

The point I wish to make is this: Keep an open mind. Don't permit yourself to be blinded by some particular fault which you personally abhor. Speaking for myself, I have an aversion to large, round, light eyes, which detract from the appearance of the Collie and spoil expression; yet in the evaluation, I realize this should not be too harshly censured. In my experience, eye faults are easiest to correct in breeding; therefore, they should not be dealt with as a major fault.

Improper ear carriage is another bugaboo to the Collie breeder. Some class it as minor, while others claim it is to be a major. I am inclined to go along with the latter, for in my breeding experience it is a most difficult fault to eradicate. Even at that, I think a dog should not be knocked out entirely for ear faults alone. Yet there are some who say a prick-eared dog or the other extreme, low-eared, should be given the gate. I most heartily disagree.

Just a word here about another fault which is not so prevalent in our breed as it was some time ago. Temperament—particularly shyness. I am happy to say that rapid strides have been made in this particular line. This is one fault on which I am "hepped." I will not tolerate a shy, flighty Collie, no matter how good he is in other ways. First, it is heart-breaking to the owner. Second, it makes a very bad impression on the spectators or prospective purchasers. All in all, it is poor publicity for the breed. Good, sound, fearless, upstanding dogs are what we require for our breed. We must refuse to use a stud dog if he has a streak of shyness. I am thoroughly convinced that this trait is passed along more by the sire than the dam. No matter what else he has to give, I turn thumbs down on a shy, flighty male. This is a most difficult fault to overcome, for it goes on and on through generation after generation, ad nauseam. Once in a while a bold one will show up, and we think, "Well, we have that licked," only to have it come back in the next generation. So, my friends, for the good of the breed and your own peace of mind, get rid of shyness in your Collies.

To summarize for breeders and judges of the breed: Faults fall in two categories, viz., major and minor. Those faults which tend toward deterioration of the breed or ones that interfere with natural functions of metabolism or work are major. These faults are not to be tolerated, but dealt with harshly. Minor faults are ones that are easily corrected. They are not to be passed over too lightly, but not to be too heavily penalized.

One should first learn true Collie type. Later, when he has learned to evaluate faults honestly he can also learn to correct them in breeding.

Do not, as a judge, make it your prime business to look for faults. You are there to find the best of breed. Throughout your work you will, of course, see faults and evaluate them. Above all, do not allow a couple of minor faults to keep you from seeing what is good about the dog. Judging and breeding are both the same purpose, viz., general improvement of the breed.

Advertising Suspension --- Suicidal Folly

By Phyllis Robson

"He who filches from me my good name
Robs me of that which not enriches him

And makes me poor indeed".

THOSE lines from one of the most familiar quotations from Shakespeare's "Othello" were personal in application, but are suggestive of a much wider than purely personal truth. The good name of a product or Kennel is an invaluable asset. Good names may be "filched" by neglect and the lapse of time as certainly as by the most effective defamation.

The truth of the subject of the crack: "The public's short memory is the politician's long suit"—has been demonstrated by many a product of merit. How many of the younger generation today, could complete the sentence "Good morning, have you used—?" or imparted "the smile that won't come off." Probably fewer than the number who couldn't have passed this little quiz successfully a quarter of a century ago. Why? The question is a mere rhetorical gesture, for those who fail to answer unhesitatingly, "lapse of advertising".

Advertising simply means to make known. In its current popularly accepted sense its meaning is perhaps better defined as "mass merchandising". Years ago one of the great masters of mass production decided that mass merchandising — advertising — was "bunk" and stopped it. But not for long. Experience, the best teacher, convinced him expeditiously of the truth that mass merchandising is essential to the attainment and maintenance of mass production. Despite the inexorable sequence of cause and effect, many business men, some of high estate, have yet to learn this rudimentary lesson. Yet, who among them is so naive, so ignorant, as to assume that the successes of the various Victory Bond campaigns were not attributable in considerable part to the Government's advertising campaign.

Look at all the businesses so badly hit by the war—yet we found them continuing to advertise. Napoleon contemptuously referred to the British as "a nation of shopkeepers" and lived to learn to his sorrow that they were as they are, much more. Let the dog people take a lesson from various manufacturers who, with superb courage, confidence and foresight, continue to advertise, for they learned well the lessons that made and maintained them as the world's greatest traders.

Recently, a business man complained "Advertising is—well—intangible". So it is and so, too, are courage, stamina, resourcefulness, enterprise, desire, the philippic eloquence of Churchill and Hitler's hate. To attempt a mathematical evaluation of them is to invite insanity, if it is not symptomatic of it.

No paper or magazine could survive as an efficient organ of public opinion if it had to rely solely for its revenues upon the subscription which its average reader is prepared to pay. Its continued existence depends upon its advertising revenue, and it is just this revenue which enables it to preserve the independence which is the life blood of its usefulness to the public. So, considerable interest attaches to the controversy which has been proceeding in the London Times about the social and economic value of advertising. We quote the following from the Toronto Globe and Mail:

"Critics who assailed advertising as a wasteful feature of the national economy have been effectively answered by Lord Kelmsley, one of the owners of the Daily Telegraph, and others, who have made a reasoned and intelligent defence of advertising, and offered an explanation of its true function in the economic sphere. They claim quite justifiably for the great economic and social benefit of advertising that it decreases costs of production, and helps thereby to raise standards of living. In the present machine age, production on a small scale must always be very costly, as compared with large scale production, and advertising generates the widespread demand which ensures the operation of plants of economical size and efficient distribution. If, for example, the bicycle when it first appeared, had not been given very generous advertisement, years might have elapsed before the public discovered the advantages of this new convenient form of location, and there would have been no rapid lowering of the price of bicycles such as occurred.

Advertising also benefits the public by promoting a dynamic expanding economy. It is beneficial from a social standpoint by encouraging the development of new products, because it offers an agency through which an inventor or entrepreneur can hope to build up a profitable demand for new and differentiated merchandise which will justify investment in production.

Artificial Insemination

ARTIFICIAL insemination was first successfully performed about the year 1780 by an Italian named Spallanzani. Dogs were used in this experiment, which is of importance since it provided a basis for further study of the physiology of reproduction. Spallanzani "lived before his time", and as a consequence his work was ignored and almost forgotten. During the next hundred years little further progress was made, and there are but few references to artificial insemination in medical literature until 1897. In 1897 Heape published a review on the subject, mentioning experiments upon the dog and upon mares. Between that date and the present time an immense amount of investigational work has been done along this line. The results obtained by many workers in both Europe and America have proved beyond all doubt that artificial insemination is possible. Russian biologists have been foremost in the work. The late Professor Elie Ivanov commenced his investigations on the subject in 1899 and continued with brilliant results until quite recently.

During and after the war and revolution in Russia, the flocks and herds were decimated and had deteriorated in quality to such a degree that it became imperative that recovery be made as soon as possible. Consequently, artificial insemination was practised as a means to this end. Reports from Russia tended to show that under conditions such as existed in that country artificial insemination was a success as a means of propagation of improved livestock when only a few desirable sires were procurable.

Artificial insemination has been practised and experimented with in many biological institutions in various countries, and consequently the attention of livestock producers has been drawn to it. From an academic or scientific viewpoint, artificial insemination seems to be desirable, but it is somewhat doubtful whether or not the practice is economically or biologically sound in classes of livestock. Particularly is this so in such countries as North America and the British Isles.

The idea of the exponents of artificial insemination seems to be that a few high quality sires of the various breeds of domesticated animals may be maintained at given points and that semen from these be distributed to livestock breeders as required. There is no doubt such a method is possible and only requires organization to make it successful in so far as impregnating the females is concerned.

It has been recognized for many years that the number of sperm deposited by the male during a service is far in excess of the actual requirements. The Mammalian female produces from one to twenty mature ova (eggs) at each oestrus. Consequently, the biologist argues that this apparent waste may be overcome by collecting the semen, by diluting it in a carefully prepared fluid, and by placing a small quantity of dilution containing the sperm into the passage of the oestrus female.

The collection, dilution and storage of the semen is a matter of careful and exact procedure which is not difficult provided proper equipment, instruments and expert knowledge are available, particularly in the case of the diluting fluid which must be very carefully prepared, and which requires a slightly different formula for each species of animal. The semen, being diluted, can be stored at proper temperatures and shipped out in vials as required. Under careful control, the sperm cells will remain alive for some weeks, and no doubt, as better technique is devised, they will be maintained alive for longer periods.

The actual impregnation of the female is a procedure requiring some technical skill. The operator must be able to gauge the stage of oestrus existing at any given time during the oestral period, because success depends to a large extent upon the fact that the sperm must reach the upper portion of the oviduct before actual ovulation (egg production) takes place. In animals with a short oestral period, it is comparatively easy to determine when to operate, but in order to be doubly certain, two or more injections are made at intervals during the oestral period. In the case of the bitch, in which animal the oestral period lasts about twenty days, three injections are advocated, beginning at about the fourteenth day and repeated every other day. The methods used to introduce the diluted semen into the mouth of the uterus require instruments, antiseptic precautions and a knowledge of the anatomy of the parts. It would appear from recent reports on the subject that for the best results the sperm must be introduced into the mouth of the uterus and not beyond this point. A perfectly dry and sterile glass syringe is used. Care must be exercised to insure that no foreign matter or even water gets into contact with the diluted semen, as this may be fatal to the sperm. It is advisable to use a vaginal speculum in order to dilate the vagina, so as to clearly observe the mouth of the uterus.

There seem to be no reasons to prevent the intelligent stock breeder from artificially impregnating his own animals, provided he has the necessary skill and instruments; but as before stated, the collection, dilution and storage of the semen and sperm require a laboratory close at hand with trained biologist and chemists to carry out that part of the procedure.

In so far as the actual technique of collecting, storing, shipping and injecting the semen is concerned, the difficulties can be overcome by proper organization, provided expense is no object, and theoretically artificial insemination should be a success. According to the Imperial Bureau of Animal Genetics "There are at the present moment no technical obstacles to prevent 1,200 to 1,500 calves being sired by a single bull during a 60-day breeding season".

Looking at artificial insemination from an economic viewpoint, it may be argued that if the process became universal throughout a given country, the livestock industry would be revolutionized. Certainly, there would be little demand for high-class sires, and the production and sale of good class males to be used as sires is a very important branch of any livestock industry.

From the biological viewpoint, it may well be argued that the universal practice of artificial insemination would be unsound because the virtues of any breed of domesticated animal are not to be found all incorporated in a few selected sires. The practice would tend to eliminate herds in which constructive breeding is followed, that is line breeding, in order to produce an outstanding strain or family of animals.

Looking at artificial insemination from all angles, it must be admitted that it is of great scientific and genetic interest, and as such it should be pursued and that, under certain conditions, it may be useful and necessary; but from the viewpoint of the individual stock breeder it is doubtful whether it will ever become universal in dogs.

JULY 5th, 1950

1626. A regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club Inc. was held in the Club's offices, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario, on Wednesday, July 5th, 1950, commencing at 11.00 a.m. The Vice-President, Douglas Riedel, presided. Directors present at the commencement of the meeting included Paddy Boughs, Mrs. Ellen Brown, J. J. Farmer and C. S. Spratt.

1627. (1610). MINUTES

SUBJECT: The Secretary presented for adoption minutes of meetings of the Board held on March 27th, March 28th, March 30th, May 2nd, May 10th and May 17th and June 7th, 1950.

ACTION: The minutes were ordered tabled for consideration later in the meeting.

1628 (1611). IDENTIFICATION AND RE-ORGANIZATION REPORT: The Secretary reported that:

- (a) Immediately upon the President's return from New York following the meeting of the Board on June 7th, he had informed the President of the action taken by the Board in respect to identification and had been directed by the President to get in touch with the Deputy Minister of Agriculture with a view to determining when the Department was prepared to give a decision on nose-printing as a method of identification and when it would be advisable for the Committee, appointed by the Board on June 7th, to meet with officials of the Department;
- (b) In accordance with the President's direction he had informed the Deputy Minister, by telephone, of the Board's action on June 7th. The Deputy had indicated that the action of the Board on June 7th closely approached what the Department felt to be a possible satisfactory solution to the problem, however before suggesting when it would be advisable for the Committee to proceed to Ottawa the Deputy proposed attending the Live Stock Record Committee meeting on Tuesday, June 13th and would return the Secretary's call after that meeting;

- (c) On Wednesday morning, June 14th, Deputy Minister had called him by long distance telephone and stated that: (1) As a result of the Record Committee meeting it was considered advisable to consult the Department of Justice on several points these including the matter of the Club's position in relation to Canadian National Live Stock Records; (2) He would immediately ask Mr. Peterson to get in touch with the Department of Justice and determine when it would be able to furnish opinions on the questions being referred to it by the Department of Agriculture; (3) He or Mr. Peterson would call back in the afternoon;
- (d) Mr. Peterson had called back in the afternoon and had: (1) Indicated that with the House in session it would not be possible, before the Deputy Minister left for overseas on Saturday, June 17th, to obtain, from the Department of Justice, the opinions which the Department of Agriculture wished to obtain before proceeding further; (2) Advised that any amendment to the Constitution would have to be approved by the Deputy Minister before it could be effective and under the circumstances that approval would not be possible before the Deputy returned to Ottawa from overseas on June 26th; (3) The Department would welcome discussions with the Committee pending the Deputy's return from overseas; (4) Enquired about the Articles of Affiliation;
- (e) He had reported Mr. Peterson's remarks to the President who was of the opinion that since there could be no final approval of any identification amendment until the Deputy Minister returned to Ottawa, the meeting of the Committee with officials of the Department should be postponed until the Deputy returned from overseas;
- (f) Meanwhile application had been made to the Minister of Agriculture for approval of the amendment on identification as reworded by the Board at its meeting on June 7th;
- (g) Following a long distance telephone conversation with Mr. Peterson on June 23rd and an exchange of telegrams with Mr. Peterson and on the instruction of the President arrangements were made for the Secretary to meet with officials of the Department in Ottawa on Tuesday, June 27th;
- (h) On June 27th, at a conference attended by Mr. Peterson, Mr. A. P. MacVannel, Mr. A. Steele, and Mr. R. G. T. Hitchman and the Secretary a draft of an amendment in respect to identification had been worked out for the consideration of the Deputy Minister, the President and Director Farmer. Following this conference and in discussions with Mr. Peterson, Mr. Peterson had indicated a desire to discuss with the President the matter of the 1950 By-laws;
- (i) On Tuesday evening, as previously arranged, the President was provided, by telephone, with a report on the results of the conference (the President had indicated his approval of the draft amendment as worked out in the aforementioned conference) and was informed of Mr. Peterson's desire to discuss the matter of the 1950 by-laws. The President had immediately stated that he would seek airplane accommodation so as to arrive in Ottawa the following morning for the purpose of completing all arrangements in respect to identification and discussing the matter of the 1950 by-laws;
- (j) Later the same evening the President informed him that he could not obtain airplane accommodation so as to be in Ottawa on Wednesday; that previous commitments prevented his being in Ottawa on Thursday but he had made a tentative airplane reservation for Friday. Following further discussion the President had directed that: (1) The amendment on identification as drafted in conference be presented for Ministerial approval providing it was approved by Director Farmer (the other member of the Committee appointed by the Board), Director Farmer being expected in Ottawa (following a trip to Western Canada) on Wednesday morning; (2) The Articles of Affiliation, approved by the members at the last annual general meeting, be deposited with the Department; (3) He inform Mr. Peterson of the understanding reached with the Minister on April 17th regarding the Club continuing to operate under the 1947 Constitution, of the President's view that no action should be taken on the 1950 by-laws until registrations were again going through smoothly; but of his preparedness to discuss the 1950 by-laws at some future date that would be mutually satisfactory;
- (k) On Wednesday, Director Farmer, as a member of the Committee appointed by the Board on June 7th, had approved the draft amendment on identification. The amendment was then prepared for Ministerial approval and was approved on behalf of the Minister, by the Deputy Minister. The Articles of Affiliation had been turned over to the Department;
- (l) As a result of a brief conference with the Deputy Minister prior to leaving Ottawa he gained the impression that the Department of Agriculture would be more satisfied were the Club operating under the by-laws approved at the 1950 annual general meeting and were the new article on identification a part of such by-laws.

Director T. B. McRae entered the meeting.

DISCUSSION: Director Farmer expressed the view that the Department felt that the Club, as presently constituted, was vulnerable, that the Department did not wish to take over the Club or to be concerned with the show and trial end of the Club's activities, that the Department was not concerned with the disposition of the Club's financial resources so long as it remained financially solvent, and the Department felt that the 1950 by-laws were more consistent with The Live Stock Pedigree Act 1949.

The Secretary reported that in his earlier discussions on this matter the President had expressed the view that no action should be taken on the 1950 by-laws until registrations were again being processed smoothly. At the Board's request the Secretary discussed the matter further by telephone with the President (who was at Niagara Falls) and subsequently reported to the Board that it was the President's view that no action should be taken in respect to the 1950 by-laws until the Department clearly indicated by letter where it felt that the 1947 Constitution was legally inconsistent with the present Live Stock Pedigree Act. Director Spratt suggested that the Secretary contact Mr. Peterson and seek to establish what the Department felt to be wrong with the present Constitution; he expressed the view that there could be no harm done providing the Club obtained a Dominion charter to regulate shows, trials, etc. before it submitted the 1950 by-laws. Vice-President Riedel stated that if the 1950 by-laws were to be submitted at all then they should include the objects set out in the 1947 Constitution and while it may be felt in the Department that submission of the 1950 by-laws would represent compliance with the action taken at the last annual general meeting the members attending that meeting adopted such by-laws believing that they had no alternative but to do so.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Farmer, seconded by Director Mrs. Brown:

"THAT, the By-laws adopted at the annual general meeting held on March 29th, 1950, be presented to the Department of Agriculture for their approval including the new amendment on identification already approved by the Department on June 28th, 1950, with the assurance of a charter for the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club Inc. to govern dog shows, field trials, obedience trials, racing and coursing in the Dominion of Canada."

Director Farmer suggested and it was agreed that the members of the Board present (except the Chairman) vote on the motion and all members of the Board (including the President) be given an opportunity to vote for or against the resolution before it is determined whether the resolution is adopted or not. Members of the Board present voted as follows:

FOR: Directors Farmer, Mrs. Brown and Spratt.

AGAINST: Directors McRae and Boughs.

All members of the Board present agreed to accept office as Directors in the new corporation if formed, the President to be given an opportunity of doing so and all other members of the Board to be admitted as Directors if they so desired.

It was agreed that if a majority of the Board voted in favour of the resolution the Secretary would get in touch with Mr. Peterson and secure confirmation that a Dominion charter would be granted for the purposes outlined in the resolution, and if such confirmation is received then the Secretary is to submit the 1950 By-laws to the Department and instruct the solicitor to make application for a charter naming the full Ontario Board of Directors as the Board and members of the new body.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to send the following day letter, in respect to the foregoing resolution, to all members of the Board not present at this meeting: "Ontario Board has instructed me to secure your vote by return wire collect that nineteen fifty by-laws be presented to Department of Agriculture on the assurance of a Dominion charter for dog shows, trials, etc. stop this is not to interfere with approved article on identification."

DISCUSSION: The Board reviewed the new amendment on identification.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Spratt, seconded by Director Boughs:

"THAT, the action of the Committee (composed of the President, Director J. J. Farmer and the Secretary) in respect to the new amendment on identification be endorsed."

Motion carried.

DISCUSSION: The Secretary reported that arrangements had already been made for the printing of the special nose-print forms that would, under the new article on identification, be required for registration purposes and that he had already provided the Director of Live Stock Records with the layout of a new application for registration form. The Secretary referred to a special type of inking pad known as "Wheel Ink Plate" which he felt would prove most satisfactory to those nose-printing for identification purposes, and sought an instruction regarding the purchase and distribution of these pads. The Board discussed the costs involved in the purchase and distribution of nose-printing equipment.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. Brown, seconded by Director Spratt:

"THAT, any person wishing to nose-print dogs be supplied with a Wheel Ink Plate and 30 individual nose-print forms at a charge of $2.00; and additional nose-print forms be made available at 25c for each 30 individual nose-print forms."

Motion unanimously carried.

B.C. Mainland News

By Jean Fletcher

CHIHUAHUAS are becoming very popular on the coast, with new breeders being added to the rolls each month. Mrs. G. O. Alsen has raised a real blue one, which is considered a rarity in the breed.

Congratulations to Betty Jean Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts of Abbotsford Kennels, whose wedding took place on August 6th. Louie Roberts, well-known photographer, of Seattle, Wash., was the bridegroom. We understand that Louie is going back to the Marines, which is sad news, indeed, as he was so generous in photographing our shows.

The Frank Creasey's have just returned home again from a judging tour of California. Needless to say, they brought some good dogs back with them and they are amalgamating with the well-known Pekingese Kennels owned by Dolly Wall.

ANOTHER month has gone by, bringing us that much closer to the Fall Circuit. Plans are shaping up well for our Fall Show. The premium list should be good, if the efforts of the canvassers are as successful in the next month as they have been in the last. Through the kind co-operation of the Thistle Curling Rink and the Edmonton Exhibition Association we will, again, hold our show in the building known during Exhibition week as the Automobile Building and during the winter as the Thistle Rink. With a few minor changes in the floor plan and a better lunch counter set-up, we hope to put on a bang-up show. Do you remember the party we had last year after the show? This year it will be as good if not better, so come if you can—with or without a dog(s).

I spent a few evenings at the Exhibition while it was here, and saw enough purebred dogs owned by those travelling with the show to hold a show of their own; everything from Great Danes to Pokes.

Dogs are still arriving and leaving Edmonton by air. The oil workers from the States are bringing up their pets. Some look queer, but some are good and include everything from Collies to Bostons.

The Kennel Club car donated to the War Services Council by associated clubs of Edmonton in 1946, has now been assigned to the War Services Council to be traded in on a new car for the use of Veterans hospitalized in Edmonton and surrounding areas. Our record of being the only "Doggie" fraternity (so far), to donate a car for the use of veterans will be carried on. Besides this car the Kennel Club have a trust fund to supply veterans with comforts not supplied by the government, such as billiard balls, ash trays, cards, etc.

John Grant and his son, Bob, of the Seafeld Kennels, suffered injuries while on a holiday in Flint, Michigan. The irresistible force met the immovable object. The Grants were doing forty, the other guy between eighty and ninety. Their new car was in quite a mess. John Grant is still on crutches from the accident and it will be quite a while before he is able to walk without them. All his friends wish him a very speedy recovery.

To all the friends of Albert Figge, who may be looking for him within the next month or so at "Beer Inn", Alberta Beach. He deserves a good rest as he has been in and out of the hospital frequently during the last year.

Old-timer Joe Caswell was a visitor to Edmonton in July. A get-together was held for him at Kilgannon's and he was suitably entertained.

Many thanks to our good friend and booster Jack Delong of the Edmonton Bulletin, for the many and very much appreciated plugs he gives the Kennel Clubs in his splendid column.

This is all for now. Don't forget to come to the Fall Show, and above all, please send me some NEWS for our column.

Manitoba Notes

By Suzanne Borse

THERE isn't much "doggy" news around this neck of the woods this month, but here are a few lines just to keep Manitoba on the map.

An interesting addition to Winnipeg's dogdom is a Weimaraner pup. At five months of age it is already a wonderful watch dog and companion. We'll be looking forward to seeing the owners back in the show ring.

Congratulations to "Boots", better known as International Champion Personality's I'm the Emperor, the lovely Boston owned by Mr. C. G. Biggar, who came home from Regina with Best in Show laurels.

Our Pekingese, Fernray Jacqueline, has really made a record for herself. To date, she is the proud mother of three Champions, all out of her first litter. The latest one, Su-Roi's Miss San Fu, is in a kennel out East.

Mr. W. Staniland, a breeder of Pomeranians for the past thirty years, died suddenly after a short illness. Seventy years of age, he served in the Coldstream Guards in the First World War, where he received the Medaille Militaire for outstanding service from the French Government. He was a bird fancier and judge, and a member of the Winnipeg Cage Bird Society as well as a member of the Greater Winnipeg and Fort Garry Kennel Clubs.

CLUB NOTES

The Barrie Kennel Club

By Harry Morren

THE Barrie Kennel Club has progressed quite a long way since it was first sponsored by the Barrie Chamber of Commerce. Four very successful shows have been held, each in the Barrie Arena, and those who follow the circuits admit these were as good as the best in Ontario.

The various members have been giving unstintingly of their time in the evenings, this summer, to paint and finish the huge quantity of benching which they, themselves, constructed and which is necessary to have to care for the entry which generally runs around 300 dogs. It will take some time, yet, to finance the full quantity needed, but it will be a great credit to the fine co-operative spirit of the boys and their wives who have made it possible.

At a recent meeting, the following officers were elected for the 1950-1951 season: President, Major N. N. Brimstin; Vice-President, Mr. Albert Kaye; Secretary, Mr. Roy N. Black; Treasurer, Mr. Gordon Aiken; Chairman of the Bench Show Committee, Mr. Cliff Van Valkenburg; Chairman of the Social Committee, Mrs. Albert Kaye.

A MEETING will be held on September 14th to appoint a Corresponding Secretary and an Election Committee of three who hold office for one month only. Your new Constitution has been adopted whereby the President and three of the Directors will hold office for a TWO year period. There will be a Corresponding Secretary in office as well as a Recording Secretary. You are the people who decide who will carry out these duties for the Club, therefore, it is essential that every member should attend this meeting and the Annual Banquet which is to be held on October 12th instead of in September as previously mentioned.

The Entertainment Committee will be all out to make this a big night. New officers will be elected and will take over their respective assignments and this will be followed by a supper with a guest speaker, dance and card games. There will be a lucky draw to cover expenses, and each member will have received five books of tickets. These tickets represent expenses for the evening. Should any member overlook these books, the committee will be obliged to draw money from the Club Treasury to cover costs. Persons selling the most tickets will receive a prize of one small Royal Doulton china Collie. This is your chance to give your committee help, so how about it, folks?

Sorry to hear that Mrs. MacBride has been ill, but members will be pleased to know she is on the way to recovery and should be up to par in time for the Annual Banquet. We are pleased, also, to announce that George Getty is feeling more like his old self again, though he is still under the doctor's care.

Canadian Collies are gaining still more recognition with the exporting of puppies to the United States. We'll be keeping our eyes open at the shows in the near future for our Secretary, who has bought himself a young male of which he is very proud. Best of luck, Bill. Many thanks to the members for their consideration shown to my wife during her illness. I am happy to say she is well on the way to recovery.

There have been great Collies and great breeders in the past and there still are. We are told the perfect Collie has never been born—SO—the challenge is still there.

What have you ready for Canada's Nifty Fifty at Ottawa! It will be worth your trip.

The English Cocker Club of Ontario

By K. J. Waldie

THIS Club has been formed to popularize the breed, to have an official voice to speak for Ontario English Cocker fanciers and to keep before the public the value of the English Cocker as a field dog and companion.

You are cordially invited to join us. Should our object appeal to you and you wish to become a founding member, a donation will help set the Club on its feet. It is not just a Club for breeders, but for all who are interested in English Cockers, and we shall have meetings at which talks will be given by experts on care, training and handling the dog in all its various aspects.

It is proposed to hold an election prior to January, 1951, when you will have the opportunity of electing officers according to your wishes. The officers pro tem are: President, Mrs. A. R. Sacré; Vice-President, J. R. Waldie; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Freda G. James; Directors, J. K. Waldie, H. C. Vaughan, E. W. Bannister.

Eastern Ontario Collie Club News

By Alma Harwood

A MAN who possesses two of the most essential requirements for the dog business is the 1950 choice of this organization for the great coming event on October 14th—a thorough and complete knowledge of the breeds to be judged and a ready warm sense of humor that easily endears him to the hearts of all who know him. Such a person is Mr. Edwin J. Meyers, of the famed Ardenhill Collies. In keeping with the established prestige of this show and the promised custom of bringing only the best qualified men to these Canadian Specialty shows, the Club feels this is more than a well placed choice.

Mr. Meyers' earliest recollection of a Collie puppy being among his possessions was in the year 1910, when, according to his own recital of the facts, he was much too young to appreciate the breed. Consequently, he and the puppy grew up together, each doing the other a fair amount of harm. However, this early association paved the way for other ownerships, and in the year 1937 the first show type Collie was purchased from the Cainbrooke Kennels. From here on neither Mr. Meyers nor his wife have been absent from the show ring.

Many American organizations have boasted of the supporting membership of this man, but perhaps foremost in his held positions is the fact that he has twice been President of the Collie Club of America and for this present year holds the office of Director-at-large. Under this organization Mr. Meyers acted as Chairman of the Revision Committee, which has now completed the Clarification work on the Collie Standard. It is well established in American circles that a better, more comprehensive wording would have been hard to find and it is more than apparent that Mr. Meyers and his committee had a wide understanding of the breed that has such a high following in America.

As a writer, a prolific string of articles constantly goes to American publications. Perhaps one writing that will be read more than others is the "Comprehensive History of Collie Progress", edited in the Modern Dog Encyclopedia.

As a judge, Mr. Meyers has accepted assignments from Coast to Coast. His most recent large one being the Futurity and Specialty of the California Collie Clan, when two hundred and thirty-two dogs passed before the judge's table. The acid test of returning a judge to his previous assignment holds no fear for Mr. Meyers, because for three consecutive years he has judged the Washington Specialty Show.

The formal cessation of meetings throughout the summer months hasn't been regarded too seriously, due no doubt to the unexpected interest displayed in the Obedience Classes sponsored by this Club. At the time of reading, five classes will have passed the instruction and no doubt owners and their dogs will be better acquainted. The Collies aren't too evident, there being only three entered, and regretfully we cannot boast a Sheltie under instruction, but other breeders have

The Labrador Retriever Association of Ontario

By Jeanne White

DESPITE adverse weather conditions, the Field Training at York Mills, Ontario, on Sunday, July 30th, was well attended. The somewhat wet atmosphere did not, in the least, dampen the enthusiasm of the Labs, but did rather dampen the trouser legs of the male members of the Association. The distaff side were more fortunate, or perhaps smarter, as they appeared in shorts. In particular the "Captain of the Guns" had the bedraggled appearance of a small boy who had fallen into the creek.

Plans were made and committees appointed for our proposed fall shows.

Labrador Retrievers are not only (and this is not just our own opinion) the "tops" in sporting, companion and working dogs, but are also natural showmen. In particular we are referring to that lovable clown, Killarney Shawn, owned by Member Jack MacKenzie. Shawn, alias the Thunderbolt, is one of the fastest dogs on the retrieve we have ever seen. Jack usually takes Shawn in the car with him when he goes to work. One day, in the heart of downtown Toronto, Jack, returning to his car after a call, was compelled to force his way through a large crowd. On reaching the car he found Shawn, who had crawled through a partly-opened window, sitting on top of the car looking very pleased with himself and more or less taking bows.

A newcomer to our kennels, a six months old pup, is a very demanding little character. On being denied a further dish of water (her sides were already bulging), she backed up half the length of the room and made a flying leap into the sink. P.S. She got the drink!

The writer was unable to see the working display of our Club Labs. at the Campbellford Regatta, but judging from the reports, it was a great success.

HOUNDS and HUNTING

42 Washington St. Greenfield, Ohio

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director McRae, seconded by Director Mrs. Brown:

"THAT, the wins earned by STOVER'S BLACK KNIGHT at The Sportsmen's Kennel Club show held on March 24th and 25th, 1950, be cancelled and the necessary adjustments be made in the records."

SUBJECT: The Secretary reported that new "regulations and standards for Obedience Trial", adopted by the American Kennel Club, would be effective on July 1st, 1950, and these rules, because of a resolution adopted at the annual general meeting of the Canadian Kennel Club held on February 6th, 1948, would be effective in Canada except those sections covered in the Canadian Kennel Club's Obedience Trial Regulations. The Secretary reported that as an economy measure, copies of the A.K.C. Rules had been purchased, and these had been made available, with the amendments and the Regulations, to those requesting a copy.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to follow the same procedure in respect to the new rules.

SUBJECT: The Secretary referred to the letter from E. S. McKay, Toronto, considered by the Board when it last met, regarding the procedure followed in the selection of Best Canadian-bred in Show at the Niagara Frontier Kennel Club show held on June 3rd. The Secretary reported that the judge's book for the Niagara Frontier Kennel Club show indicated that the dog placed Reserve Best in Show, a Canadian-bred dog, was also placed Best Canadian-bred in Show.

ACTION: Following discussion the Board:

- (1) Agreed that Chapt. 4, Section 3 (m) of the Dog Show Rules should be amended to provide that if a Canadian-bred dog is placed Best in Show, or Reserve Best in Show if Best in Show not Canadian-bred, such dog should automatically be declared Best Canadian-bred in Show;
- (2) Directed the Secretary to inform Mr. McKay that while the Board understands that the procedure outlined in Chapt. 4, Section 3 (m) no doubt prompted his letter, the Board feels that inasmuch as a Canadian-bred dog was placed Reserve Best in Show at the Niagara Frontier Kennel Club show it is extremely unlikely that the judge would have placed any other dog, then the one placed Reserve Best in Show and Best Canadian-bred in Show, Best Canadian-bred in Show.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. W. Gottschalk, Toronto, who reported that her Miniature Schnauzer, entered for Specials Only at the Progressive Kennel Club show held on June 10th, was called to the ring after the judge had awarded Best of Breed and marked his judge's book accordingly.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to communicate with the Show Superintendent of the show, and ask whether or not he had any knowledge of the circumstances or developments reported by Mrs. Gottschalk.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read letters received from Vic Grainger, Field Trial Representative for Alberta, seeking a ruling, in connection with Retriever trials, as to whether the gun must be fired from where the dog and handler are stationed or elsewhere.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to communicate with Mr. Grainger and the Field Trial Representative for B.C. and request that they obtain the views of the various field trial clubs, holding Retriever Trials in their respective provinces, on the point raised by Mr. Grainger, such views to be reported to the Board so that a ruling may be handed down.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. May Southcott, Trophy Chairman of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada, seeking consent for the German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada to include in the premium list of its specialty show to be held in October prizes in the form of stud services to a well known German Shepherd Dog owned in the United States.

ACTION: Following discussion the Board decided to postpone reaching a decision on this request. The Secretary was directed to refer the matter to the Board at its next regular meeting.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from the Halifax Kennel Club requesting a copy of the section of the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors at which the Board took action with regard to the 50c recording fee. The Secretary read his reply to the effect that he did not feel that it was within his jurisdiction to distribute minutes of a meeting of the Board of Directors before they are published in DOGS IN CANADA and without prior instruction to do so from the Board of Directors.

ACTION: The Board endorsed the action taken by the Secretary.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Dr. E. H. Sproston and C. M. Butler, Vancouver, judges of the Retriever trial held by the B.C. Gun Dog Club Inc. on April 23rd, 1950, in which they stated that:

- (1) They felt that "all rules of the C.K.C. were followed" in their judging of the B.C. Gun Dog trial held on April 23rd, 1950;
- (2) They had not been informed of the meeting of the Field Trial Committee of the B.C. Gun Dog Club at which any protest in respect of their judging was considered, and they had not been informed as to what section of the rules had been broken.

ACTION: Following discussion the Secretary was directed to inform Dr. Sproston and Mr. Butler that the Canadian Kennel Club had been informed that the Field Trial Committee of the B.C. Gun Dog Club Inc. had reached its decision "after hearing all interested parties" which led the Board to believe that they had been informed of the nature of the protest and had been given an opportunity of presenting their views on the matter.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from A. Hamilton Gault, Montreal, who objected to the use of the word "foreign", as used in some show catalogues, in indicating the birthplace of dogs born anywhere in the British Empire outside Canada. Mr. Gault contended that such dogs should be entered as "imported" or the actual country of birth should be stated on the entry form and in the catalogue.

DISCUSSION: The Board noted that the standard entry form provided for an exhibitor to indicate that a dog was born in Canada, the United States or "elsewhere." The Board agreed that the present entry form was designed to facilitate the entry of the great majority of dogs exhibited in Canada.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to bring the matter to the Board's attention when it next had occasion to consider the layout of the standard entry form.

SUBJECT: The Secretary reviewed correspondence and developments which followed the disqualification, because of height, of the Beagle CHESSMAN OF WALNUT HALL at the Halifax Kennel Club show held on July 16th, 1949. The Secretary tabled an official A.K.C. Measuring Certificate, dated June 14th, 1950, indicating that this dog was in the "over 13 inches but not exceeding 15 inches" class.

DISCUSSION: The Board reviewed Chapt. 21, Section 7 (b) of the Dog Show Rules, and discussed whether or not the official A.K.C. Measuring Certificate, submitted by Mr. Clinton J. Callahan, owner of this dog, would meet the requirements of this rule.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director McRae, seconded by Director Farmer:

"THAT, we accept the official A.K.C. Measurement Certificate issued for CHESSMAN OF WALNUT HALL, and confirm the championship status of this dog."

SUBJECT: The Secretary read letters from the Secretary of the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club regarding the number of dogs required in certain exercises in the Open Classes at Obedience Trials.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to refer the correspondence to the Board for further consideration as soon as copies of the new Obedience Trial Rules were available for the Board's examination.

1637 (1623). FOXHOUND FIELD TRIAL RULES

REPORT: Director Farmer reported that he had reviewed the Constitution of the All Canadian Foxhunters' Association, and the running rules which that Association had adopted, and had made arrangements to discuss these items with officials of the All Canadian Foxhunters' Association.

ACTION: The matter was left over for the Board's further consideration following a further report from Director Farmer after his meeting with officials of the All Canadian Foxhunters' Association.

1638. BRAQUE SAINT GERMAIN

SUBJECT: The Secretary reviewed a file having to do with the wish of J. L. Dupuis, Eastman, Que., that the Canadian Kennel Club recognize the breed "Braque Saint Germain" and register a specimen of this breed, registered with the Societe Centrale Canine pour l'Amelioration des Races de Chiens en France.

ACTION: The file was ordered turned over to Director Farmer who agreed to obtain further information, if possible, on the breed.

1639 (1605). LETTERS FROM MRS. LORNA JACKSON

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter received from The American Kennel Club in respect to the Board's enquiry regarding the registration of three dogs, said to be Alaskan Malamutes, imported from the United States by Mrs. Lorna Jackson, Toronto. The letter indicated that the American Kennel Club did not find any basis to object to the registration of these dogs in Canada but that if these dogs or any of their descendants were sent to the United States, such dogs would qualify for registration with the American Kennel Club only if entered at shows held under A.K.C. rules and were credited with ten or more championship points in the records of the American Kennel Club.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Spratt, seconded by Director Mrs. Brown:

"THAT, this file be referred to the Registration Committee which is authorized to proceed with the registration of these dogs providing Mrs. Jackson can provide all the required information for registration purposes."

1640 (1621). GENERAL MEETING—JULY 10th

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter received from Director Mrs. Alsen along with a message (also read by the Secretary addressed to members attending the general meeting to be held on July 10th).

DISCUSSION: Director Farmer suggested that the advice of the Club's solicitor should be obtained in respect to the form items set out in the petition calling for the general meeting, and the matters referred to in the message from British Columbia so that the Chairman of the general meeting would be in a position to take appropriate and legal action as these items came before the general meeting. He suggested that the Board should meet again at 3.30 p.m. on Monday afternoon.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to obtain the opinion of the Club's solicitor in respect to the rights of the general meeting, to be held on July 10th, to deal with the four items set out in the notice calling the meeting, and also in respect to the items referred to in the message from B.C. members.

1641. BONDS

SUBJECT: Director Farmer pointed out that the Club held a number of bonds payable in U.S. funds, and since there was a possibility that the present premium on U.S. funds would be removed, the Board should consider the advisability of selling those bonds payable in U.S. funds, while they were being held at a premium, and replace them with other bonds.

ACTION: The matter was left in the hands of the Secretary for appropriate action if advice obtained from competent authorities indicated the wisdom of disposing of the bonds referred to by Director Farmer and re-investing the proceeds in other bonds.

1642. LETTER TO MRS. KENNETH D. MARLATT

SUBJECT: Director Mrs. Brown suggested that a message of deepest sympathy be sent to Mrs. Kenneth D. Marlatt in respect of the loss of her son, through an airplane accident recently.

ACTION: The Board unanimously endorsed this suggestion and directed the Secretary to be governed accordingly. Director McRae left the meeting at this time.

1643 (1627). MINUTES

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Farmer, seconded by Director Mrs. Brown:

"THAT, the minutes of the meetings of the Board of Directors held on March 27th, March 28th, March 30th, May 2nd, May 10th and May 17th, 1950, be adopted."

ACTION: The minutes of the meeting of the Board held on June 7th were ordered held over for attention after members of the Board had had an opportunity of studying the minutes prepared by the Secretary.

1645. ADJOURNMENT

At 6.50 p.m., on motion by Director Farmer, duly seconded and carried, this meeting of the Board of Directors adjourned to reconvene in the Club's offices, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ontario, on Monday, July 10th, 1950, commencing at 3.30 p.m.

1646. JULY 10th, 1950

The meeting of the Board of Directors which adjourned on July 5th, 1950, reconvened in the Club's offices, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, on July 10th, 1950, at 3.30 p.m. The Vice-President, Douglas Riedel, presided. Directors present included Paddy Boughs, Mrs. Ellen Brown, J. J. Farmer, T. B. McRae and C. S. Spratt.

1647. (1640). GENERAL MEETING—JULY 10th

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a message, dictated by the President, which the President wished read at the general meeting.

ACTION: It was agreed that the President's message would be read at the opening of the meeting.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from David Fingard, Toronto, who stated that it was imperative that the Secretary bring to the special general meeting the minutes of all meetings of the Board of Directors since May 17th and including July 5th.

ACTION: No action was taken.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a night letter, addressed to the Board of Directors by Director C. G. Biggar, in which Director Biggar indicated that he "thoroughly disagreed" with the decision of the Board (Item No. 1621) to the effect that it could not authorize payment of travelling expenses in connection with the general meeting to be held on July 10th. Director Biggar stated "If this and other actions are to be continued please accept my resignation."

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Farmer, seconded by Director McRae:

"THAT, Director Biggar be written to and asked that he reconsider his resignation." Motion carried.

1648 (1628). RE-ORGANIZATION

REPORT: The Secretary reported that members of the Board not present at the meeting of the Board on July 5th had replied as follows to the telegraphic message sent to them in respect to application for a charter:

- (1) President Riswick: "By virtue of an understanding with the Minister we are carrying on under our 1947 Constitution to which we have added nose-printing, as an alternative method of identification. Do not believe we should take any action in this matter until registrations are again going through smoothly, and then only if we receive written advice from the Minister or Deputy Minister, backed by an opinion from the Department of Justice, that action along this line is both necessary and advisable."
- (2) Second Vice-President Williams: "Unless information particulars of which the writer is not aware I see no reason there should have been any delay in presentation of 1950 by-laws."
- (3) Director Mrs. Alsen: "I will vote for Dominion charter."
- (4) Director Pratt: "You have my vote that nineteen fifty by-laws be presented to Dept. Agriculture."
- (5) Director Randall: "I agree 1950 by-laws be presented to Department of Agriculture on assurance of Dominion charter for dog shows, trials, etc."
- (6) Director Mrs. Mack: "I approve 1950 by-laws be presented to Dept. of Agriculture for their approval."
- (7) Director Moore: "I vote that nineteen fifty by-laws be presented to Department Agriculture under conditions contained in your wire."

The Secretary reported that following receipt of these messages he had, as directed by the President, consulted the Club's solicitor who had expressed the opinion that it would not be possible to complete the required application for the charter before this meeting of the Board, and he had therefore held the matter over for the consideration of the Board after they had received and considered the views of the members of the Board not present on July 5th.

DISCUSSION: It was agreed that the recorded vote at the meeting of the Board on July 5th and the messages from other members of the Board indicated a majority in favour of obtaining the charter.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. Brown, seconded by Director McRae:

"THAT, Directors J. J. Farmer and C. S. Spratt be authorized to obtain from the Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mr. Peterson an assurance that the Department of Agriculture approves of the Canadian Kennel Club obtaining a charter, from the Secretary of State for Canada, for the power to govern dog shows, field trials, obedience trials, racing and coursing of pure-bred dogs, etc.; that Directors Farmer and Spratt take the application for the charter to the Deputy Minister of Agriculture for approval and if assurance is received that the charter will be granted, submit for Ministerial approval the by-laws adopted at the 1950 annual general meeting; and that Director Farmer be authorized to pay the necessary incorporation fee to the Department of Justice."

Motion unanimously carried.

DISCUSSION: Following discussion it was agreed that in the event the charter is applied for that:

- (1) The present Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club (except those members of the Board who did not wish to participate) would be the Board of Directors of the new corporation; to hold office for the balance of 1950;
- (2) For 1951 and thereafter the Board of Directors of the new corporation would be elected annually on the same ballot and at the same time as the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club, the Board of Directors of the new corporation to be the same as for the Canadian Kennel Club;

- (3) Assurance should be obtained from the Department of Agriculture that the Board of Directors of the Canadian Kennel Club could use its discretion in respect to the Canadian Kennel Club subsidizing the operations of the new corporation.

1649 (1603). LETTER FROM FRED W. BLATCH

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Fred W. Blatch, Hull, Que., who referred to the action taken by the Board of Directors in cancelling wins earned by the Toy Manchester Terrier CH. WEE PENNY ANN at the Sportsmen's Kennel Club show held on March 22nd and 23rd, 1950. Mr. Blatch pointed out that:

- (a) The Sportsmen's Kennel Club show was held on March 22nd and 23rd, 1950;
- (b) The amendment to the dog show rules deleting "Toy Manchester Terriers" from the provisions of the Dog Show Rules—Chapter 17, Section 2 (a) was adopted at the general meeting held in March 29th, 1950;
- (c) An amendment to the dog show rules is not effective until sixty days after its adoption.

DISCUSSION: In reviewing its earlier decision the Board noted that:

- (1) Chapter 8, Section 13 of the Dog Show Rules reads: "Judges officiating at shows held under these rules shall be governed by the standards of the breeds as adopted by The Canadian Kennel Club."
- (2) Chapter 34A of the Club's Constitution reads: "1. The standards of breeds as recognized by the American Kennel Club shall be the standards of breeds recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club."
- (3) The Standard of the Toy Manchester Terrier, as adopted by the American Kennel Club reads (in part): "cropped or cut ears shall disqualify. NOTE:—Disqualification for cropped ears shall apply only to dogs whelped after October 11, 1938."

The Board agreed that at the time of the Sportsmen's Kennel Club show held on March 22nd and 23rd, 1950, Chapt. 8, Section 13 of the Dog Show Rules was not in agreement with Chapter 17, Section 2 (a) of the Dog Show Rules.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Spratt, seconded by Director Farmer:

"THAT, the resolution set out in item No. 1603 of the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors held on May 17th, 1950, in respect to cancellation of wins earned by the Toy Manchester Terrier CH. WEE PENNY ANN at The Sportsmen's Kennel Club show held on March 22nd and 23rd, 1950, be rescinded, and Mr. McLean be informed that he may retain ribbons and prizes won by CH. WEE PENNY ANN at that show."

FOR THE MOTION: Directors Boughs, Farmer, McRae and Spratt.

AGAINST: Director Mrs. Brown.

Motion carried.

Director Mrs. Brown explained that her vote was based on what appears in the standard of the Toy Manchester Terrier and in Chapter 8, Section 13 of the Dog Show Rules.

1650. ADJOURNMENT

At 5.30 p.m., on motion by Director Mrs. Brown, duly seconded and carried, this meeting of the Board of Directors adjourned.

(NOTE: The minutes reported in this issue of Dogs in Canada are subject to correction when presented to the Board for adoption.)

Notice to Those Using the Nose Print Method of Identification

The taking of nose prints is still in the experimental stage and with some breeds of dogs it is found that a different method produces better results. For instance, with a Boston Terrier a firm pressure on the center of the nose produces a clearer print than the rolling motion which is used in taking the nose print of a Great Dane.

The Secretary of the Canadian Kennel Club will welcome any suggestions as to the methods of taking prints which the breeders through their experimentations have found more applicable to their specific breed. Do not hesitate to write to him if you are experiencing any difficulty in obtaining clear nose prints.

INFORMATION ON NOSE-PRINTING

The following information is provided for the guidance of those wishing to use this method of identification for registration purposes.

How To Take Nose-Prints

1. Since a dog's nose may be in one of many degrees of cleanliness besides being either too wet or too dry, we suggest the following: Wet a piece of cheesecloth or any other type of absorbent material (the cloth should be but slightly wetted). Wipe the dog's nose with this cloth. Then with dry cloth remove excessive moisture.
2. Holding the dog's nose UP, roll ink pad over the frontal part of the nose, once or twice, depending on amount of ink on pad. The dog's mouth should be held by the fingers of the left hand, while the right hand is devoted to the inking and taking of nose-print. DO NOT release the dog's mouth between the inking and the taking of the print.
3. Immediately thereafter, press official nose-print form to the nose, exerting a slight pressure to insure contact with as much of the frontal part of the nose as is possible without smudging the print.

In making the print, place the nose-print form in such a manner that the top part of the nose is first contacted and with one rolling downward movement (with equal pressure throughout) the entire front part of the nose makes contact with the form. As an alternative, start from one side of the dog's nose and by exerting equal pressure throughout, roll the nose-print form once to the other side of the nose. If properly done you should obtain a clear print where the ink markings shown on the form are uniform throughout.

4. A good print is one that shows the small island details clearly outlined, and is free from smudges or blots of any kind. (See illustrations at the bottom of page 17 of the March 1950 issue of DOGS IN CANADA). Your co-operation in submitting only good nose-prints will remove the necessity of applications being returned with a request for other prints.
5. Persons using the "Wheel Ink Plate" pad will find that the inside of the top of the pad (which is removable) will serve as a firm base in which to place the nose-print forms for the taking of prints.

General Information

1. TWO nose-prints, on official numbered forms, will be required with the application for registration of a single dog identified, for registration purposes, by this method.
2. New applications for registration are now being printed. The reverse side of these forms will provide a section where the applicant for registration is to insert the numbers appearing on the official nose-print forms for the dog covered by the application for registration.
3. Applicants using the old style application for registration forms should place the following information, IN INK, at the left hand side of the form (turn form on its side to do this):
"Nose-prints No.— and No.— enclosed with this application". This should also be done with applications previously submitted to the Canadian National Live Stock Records, which were returned for further identification, and the registration fee in effect at the time the application was first received at the Records office will apply. It is not necessary to make out new applications for registration providing the originals are in order.
4. The two nose-prints for each dog need not necessarily bear consecutive numbers. For example the nose-prints for a dog may be No. A25 and No. A32. (DO NOT forget to indicate the letter appearing with the numbers on the nose-print form). DO NOT place more than one nose-print on a single nose-print form. It is not necessary to account for unused or spoiled nose-print forms. Spoiled nose-print forms should be promptly destroyed.
5. DO NOT attach or adhere nose-print forms to the application for registration form or to any other enclosure being forwarded to the Live Stock Records office. DO NOT write or typewrite on the nose-print forms.
6. It is strongly recommended that persons using this method of identification experiment, on plain paper, in the taking of prints in order that they may obtain experience before turning to the use of the official forms.

Nose-Printing Equipment And Supplies

We suggest the use of a "Wheel Ink Plate" stamp pad for best results. This pad provides a thin film of ink on a flat surface which may be considered best for the placing of ink on the dog's nose. This pad, together with 30 individual nose-print forms, can be obtained by forwarding money order for $2.00 to the Canadian Kennel Club, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto. Additional nose-print forms can be obtained at 30 for 25c. (all orders to be sent to the Canadian Kennel Club at Toronto).

Only nose-prints taken on official "identification nose-print" forms obtainable from the Canadian Kennel Club will be acceptable for registration purposes.

Notice Regarding Nose-Prints

It is clear, from examination of nose-prints submitted to the Canadian National Live Stock Records office and forwarded to the Canadian Kennel Club for inspection, that some breeders are submitting nose-prints which could not, by any stretch of the imagination, be considered acceptable for identification and registration purposes. As stated in the announcement published in the August issue of Dogs in Canada and in the information sent out with all nose-print forms, a good print "is one that shows the small island details clearly outlined, and is free from smudges or blots of all kinds." To illustrate what is required we publish (below) a print which was published in the March issue.

It is important that the two prints submitted for any dog be sufficiently alike that inspection of the two prints, in the Records office and in the Department of Agriculture, will indicate the two prints to be of the same dog.

The submission of good prints only will save time and ensure the earlier issuance of certificates of registration.

Your co-operation is solicited.

Note the grooves running through and around the pores. These grooves are as distinctly different as the pores themselves and can be read by ordinary eyesight.

Why your dog will benefit from Regular Conditioning

Regular conditioning for your dog means giving him the vitamins and mineral elements he needs in order to be frisky and have a soft and silky coat. Bob Martin's Condition Tablets supply many of these essential substances—and thus help to prevent disorders such as loss of appetite, listlessness, scratching and loose coat.

Give your dog a Bob Martin's Condition Tablet once every day and the result will be there for you to see—your dog in grand health, a friendly lively companion.

HOW can Dog Chow be so High in Quality yet so Low in Price?

Pine Cove Star Warrior, and a young son—bred by Mrs. N. T. Smith, Port Nelson, Ont.

That's a question that's often asked when "dog people" get around to pricing Purina Dog Chow. They know that Dog Chow is the choice of so many leading showmen and handlers that they haven't much doubt about the quality, but for that very reason they expect it to be high-priced and are surprised to find that it isn't.

The quality is there, of course. Ralston Purina Company has been making animal feeds for over 55 years . . . Dog Chow for over 23 years. And behind every Checkerboard Bag stands not only this long experience, but the Purina Research Farm and Laboratories. Over 2,300 dogs in the Research Kennels have helped to build today's Dog Chow!

The reason the price is so reasonable is that Ralston Purina Company makes not just Dog Chow alone, but balanced rations for every type of farm live stock and poultry; and these products are distributed in great volume through an extensive feed dealer organization. So Dog Chow goes into circulation not as a lone specialty but on the same basis as live stock and poultry feeds which are used in much greater quantities.

Better look into this from both standpoints — quality and price. Ask your Purina dealer, at his Store with the Checkerboard Sign.
