Champion Dah-Lyn Canadian Kai Jin of Caversham, the sensational Winning Pekingese who won Best in Show at the National Sportmen's Show on March 17, 1951, has a long list of notable credits. In a year and a half of exhibition he has been 45 times Best of Breed including Westminster 1950 and 1951; 34 times Best Toy; 12 times Best in Show all breeds.

His first puppy, Audax Kylie, was Best Puppy at Morris and Essex, 1950. Dah-Lyn is the sire of some very outstanding stock, namely Jin Tong and Kai Jin of Dah-Lyn, which inherit their sire's terrific coat and fringes... They will be shown at the late spring shows.

Over the past 20 years, some of the greatest Pekingese have come from the Dah-Lyn Kennels of Mr. Royce. Many in Canada may remember the great Tri-Champion Kai Lo of Dah-Lyn as well as Int. Champion Nanking Noel. The present inmates are quite some of the best. A List of Mr. Royce's present stud dogs are: Ch. Dah-Lyn Nell Bee of Eastnighton, Ch. Dah-Lyn Nell Jay of Langridge (Best of Winners Westminster, 1951), Tri-Champion Kai Choo of Dah-Lyn, his son, Champion Yung Kai Choo of Dah-Lyn, in turn his son now Champion Yung Fuh of Dah-Lyn was Best of Winners at Morris and Essex, 1950, and shortly to be brought out is that outstanding little dog, Dah-Lyn Verity China-Boy. For real type and top Pekingese quality may we suggest that anyone interested will always find some very worthwhile specimens of the breed at stud and for sale at Mr. Royce's famous Kennel.

Champion Dah-Lyn Kai Jin of Caversham is at stud for a fee of $100.00. All enquiries sent to his owner, John B. Royce, 140 Naples Rd., Brookline, Mass.

Cruft's Dog Show

THE Epsom Derby of the English dog world, the magic name of Cruft's continues to outpoint all other dog shows.

When the first dog show was opened by Cruft at the Royal Aquarium in 1866, there were 600 dogs entered. In 1950 there were 5720, and this year despite the flu epidemic among the humans and practically the same type of epidemic among the dogs, there were 5543 dogs with an estimated 45,000 paid admissions. The show is now held in Olympia Hall which would cover more than a city block.

We have come a long way since the time of the first dog show on record. This was a private affair, held at the Zoological Gardens in London, England, about 1843, and was confined to Spaniels. However, the earliest open dog show was held on June 28 and 29, 1859 in the Corn Exchange at Newcastle-on-Tyne. This one also catered to the sporting breeds, having two classes, one for Pointers and one for Setters. There were 60 entries and a gate of 15,000 dog lovers.

Next year Cruft's will occupy the full expanse of the Olympia halls and galleries.

There were just as many upsets in the breeds as there are at most shows. The two time Best in Show winner, Tracey Witch of Ware, the English Cocker Spaniel, went down to her kennel mate Joywyns Blue Boy of Ware. The English press remarked that Tracey Witch had a litter of puppies just four months old, and so excused her from being in top form. The two finalists were a triumph for the "little man", because neither the Best in Show — the Welsh Terrier, Twynstar Dyma-Fi, or the German Shepherd, Edana of Combehill, had won their championships and the owners are little known to the dog world in England.

It was the handler, George Barr, who spotted the Welsh Terrier and purchased her for Capt. and Mrs. I. M. Thomas of Harrow. Although two years of age, her merits had not been noted and her first entry into top competition was at the National Terrier Show held just before Cruft's, when this beautiful Welsh female won through to Best in Show. With all the skill a professional handler can give to a dog, George Barr piloted her through again to the top at Cruft's. Here, however, one must concede that luck favoured the terrier for she had a day's complete rest, having been shown the first day. On the other hand the German Shepherd (known as Alsations in England) had been in the ring for more than three hours in her classes, and the handler had to dash from the ordeal over to the Best in Show ring, where another hour or more of continuous posing and trotting was necessary for her to win Best of the second day's competition. Then on to the Best in Show all breeds. What a tired dog she must have been, and the little terrier fresh from a day's rest, trotted into the ring full of fire and ready for all comers.

It was noted in the press that at the last moment the Shepherd seemed to fade, and although she continued to move tirelessly and with perfect precision, the ears which had been kept erect hour after hour, drooped at the final moment and the terrier was waved to first position. It was a glorious defeat for few dogs could have borne the strain, and speaks well for the conformation of the Shepherd who had moved up from the Undergraduate and Post Graduate classes to the top. The owner, H. Johnson, is now repaid for the hard work, patience and skill he has put into this breed. Incidentally, Mr. Johnson is a Sunderland detective, his Shepherd is both obedience and police trained.

The terriers, hounds and toy breeds were judged the first day, the Welsh Terrier stated before was awarded Best of the first day's show. Reserve to him was the Saluki, Golden Dawn Nadir owned by Mr. Buglass of Edinburgh, Scotland. On the second day the Gundogs, non-sporting were judged, the Shepherd was first with the Old English Sheepdog, Ch. Shepton Indomitable, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Howell, was placed reserve. In the group judging all Best of Breed dogs go in together — that is, the groups are not segregated as is done in Canada, so that some 50 or 60 dogs are in the ring for three judges to separate. The Best in Show has yet another group of three judges, so that a dog to reach the final must pass the inspection of seven judges, quite a feat and reminiscent of the system used years ago on this side of the Atlantic. The most popular breed in entries were the Cocker Spaniels with 784, Labrador Retrievers with 513, German Shepherds, 497; Golden Retrievers, 422; Pekingese, 369; Welsh Corgis (Pembroke) 336 and Smooth Haired Dachshunds, 315.

It is too arduous a task to recount all the breeds and space will not permit, but if any readers would write for information regarding the breed they are interested in, we will look it up and send it along.

are worth repeating: "Other pens will deal fully with Twynstar Dyma-Fi. Could there have been a better name? "Dyma-Fi" means in Welsh "Here I am!"

"And that is just what Capt. Thomas' little female seemed to be saying every time Georgie Barr brought her into the ring—"Here I am, and who's like me?" Or, if it weren't so inappropriate for a Welshman to be using the Doric "Here's tae me—wha's like me?"

"She is a born little extrovert.

"That America will be after her, have no manner of doubt. But that her proud owner will consider selling her before she completes her title (remember that this was only her second C.C., though also her second best in show at a championship event) is impossible.

"A quick skim through the notes I managed to make at Cruft's in intervals of television, newspaper and social endeavour:

"Edana of Combehill, the Alsatian runner-up for best in show (and what a moment for Alsatian people it would have been had the long-awaited championship show variety triumph for the breed taken place at this show of all shows!) is obedience trained as befits a female belonging to a Sunderland detective . . . Mrs. Dunkels and Mrs. Gamble, doing the double in the big Boxer entry, put up a record which will take some equalling . . . Bert Lloyd, doing the double in Cockers, was in complete agreement with the two judges who reckoned Joywyns Blueboy better than Tracey Witch for best of breed on the strength of his better coat condition; after all, it is only four months since she had her pups . . . Sheltie people were excited by the triumph of two puppies, the dog Crag of Exford, eight months old, and the female, Helensdale Lora, still younger, for the certificates; about 18 months ago Leo Wilson started Ch. Helensdale Ace off on his career with a remarkable parallel under the same judge . . . Leo himself was in high feather over the way the five-year-old Ch. Laurel Wreath, the Smooth, his old favourite, had staged a comeback and taken best of breed for his new owners. . . .

"Then there were the triumphant veterans in other breeds . . . Ch. Waterman, best of the Flat-coats, is six years old . . . Int. Ch. Gogolev Corbeskey, best Samoyed, is rising seven . . . Game Sessnach, the Gordon, is five . . . Tracey Witch is rising six . . . so is Int. Ch. Shotwick Nancy of Bann, winner once again in Irish Water Spaniels. . . .

Mr. Dudley P. Rogers, who has been president of the American Kennel Club for the past 10 years, presented his resignation at the annual meeting held in New York City recently. Henry D. Bixby, who has been the executive vice-president for the past eight years, also retired from office and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, William E. Buckley, Huntington, L.I., N.Y., delegate of the Westbury Kennel Association; executive vice-president, John C. Neff, New York, N.Y., delegate of the Irish Setter Club of America; treasurer, William Ross Proctor, Pittstown, N.J., delegate of the American Sealyham Terrier Club; executive secretary, Alfred M. Dick, Philadelphia, Pa.; and secretary, Phyllis B. Everett, New York, N.Y.

At the annual meeting the motion to admit women as delegates to the American Kennel Club was tabled. Women have never been admitted as delegates, and this has necessitated electing a man to represent them. One of these delegates, James M. Austin, representing the Ladies' Kennel Association, presented an eight-point resolution that women be admitted as delegates. The question will be discussed when the delegates have received further instructions from their clubs.

The Toronto Anglers' and Hunters' Association, sponsors of the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show, held in Toronto last month, added the dog show to their list of attractions.

The two two-day dog shows were a great success, and despite the fact that the large international show was being held in Chicago at the same time the entry from the United States added to the Canadian entries brought some 400 dogs into competition. Through the courtesy of Dr. Ballard's Dog Food Company, photographs were taken of the Groups and Best in Show, and these will be published in the next issue of Dogs in Canada.

The show was under the management of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cushman, of Philadelphia, who did a most magnificent job and whose never-failing courtesy endeared them to the exhibitors, who expressed the hope that they would come back again soon. The completed judges book, marked catalogue and all business pertaining to the show was finished by midnight of the closing day and delivered to the writer to be placed in the Canadian Kennel Club office, and the Cushmans, weary and tired, left the next morning for their American assignments, full of enthusiasm for the dog show officials and the exhibitors.

All profits from the dog show are to be donated to the Toronto Humane Society and the officials of that organization were helpful in making the show a success. The spirit of sportsmanship which prevails between the Society and the dog show exhibitors was most notable, and we have every reason to believe that they will work together with greater enthusiasm as a result.

As many of the directors of the Toronto Humane Society are also members of the National Kennel Club who sponsored the National Kennel Club show held in conjunction with the Royal Winter Fair for so many years, there is a possibility that we will again have a Royal Winter Fair Dog Show.

Two outstanding attractions on the program of the stage show held in the Arena of the Coliseum were the Roustabouts, a comedy act of 16 dogs with Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Moore, and Frank Weed and His Sporting Dogs. As Sonny Moore and Frank Weed are both dog fanciers, they offered to put on part of their acts for the benefit of those attending the dog show. We propose to give more details of this in the next issue of the magazine. In the meanwhile, we are expressing the appreciation of the exhibitors by stating that their contributions did much to make the dog show more enjoyable. As stated before, the photographs and full particulars of the dog show itself will be published next month.

Best Dog in Show All Breeds at the first show was the American Cocker Spaniel, Alhambra Kingfish, which was also Reserve Best in Show of the second show. This dog was bred and owned by the Alhambra Kennels of Millidgeville, St. John, N.B. The Best in Show at the second show was the Pekingese, Dah-Lyn Kai Jin of Caversham, owned by John B. Royce, of Brookline, Mass. This dog is featured on our front cover this month.

Best Canadian Bred at both shows was the Cocker Spaniel, Alhambra

Kingfish, and we believe this dog gathered sufficient points for his Canadian Championship which, added to his American Champion, now makes him an International Champion.

The Best Canadian Bred Puppy and also Reserve Best in Show at the first show, was the Wire Hair Fox Terrier, Torquay Traveller, owned by John Treleaven and bred by Dr. N. O. Scolard, and Best Canadian Bred Puppy at the second show was the Miniature Schnauzer, Cosburns Sandmans Kandy, owned by W. H. MacKendrick, of Oakville, and bred by Mrs. W. Gottschalk.

Due to the severe illness of Walter Ferrier whose drawings of "Know Your Breed" have received such wide acclaim, the "Cocker Spaniel" is a repeat this month. This feature of "Dogs in Canada" is in great demand, and we certainly hope Mr. Ferrier will soon be well enough to contribute his art again. The next feature will be two dogs of Canadian origin, the Tolling Retriever and the Tahltan Bear dog. We hope to repeat some of the drawings used in the past, if any of the readers prefer a certain breed we will publish them in future issues of the magazine.

Miss Winnifred Steggall of Winna Pug fame is seriously ill in a Montreal hospital. Members and her many friends throughout the Canadian fancy wish Miss Steggall a speedy recovery.

The Rockley airedales are to continue, Joe Perkins, brother of the late Sid Perkins has decided to carry on the famous strain, and before long the airedale competition will be as keen and numerous as it was in the Rockley days.

A Guide to Small Animal Nutrition

The following is an address given by Mr. A. A. Winston, head of the Processing Technology Section, Central Laboratories of General Foods Corporation, Hoboken, New Jersey, to the 77th Annual Meeting of the Ontario Veterinary Association last January 11th at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. Mr. Winston is responsible for the development and control of Gaines Meal and Gaines Krunchon in the United States, and is well qualified to discuss nutrition in small animals from his long and varied experience.

There are probably as many opinions as to the proper diet for dogs and cats as there are people who breed, raise and maintain these animals. Fortunately in the past 100 years the dog, and to some extent the cat, have been used for experimental nutritional studies. Considerable data have been accumulated as to the nutritional requirements of these animals. This information has helped to dispel many of the superstitions that have arisen as a result of various feeding practices.

First of all, I would like to discuss what is meant by nutrition. Nutrition may be defined as the science which is concerned with 1) the needs of the animal body for specific and essential factors such as water, calories, amino acids, fatty acids, vitamins and minerals, 2) the analysis of various foods and diets for their contents of these essential nutrients, 3) the effects of deficiencies of these items.

Foods contain five groups of substances which supply the essential nutritional factors just mentioned. These are known as carbohydrates, proteins, fats, vitamins and minerals. The following is a brief description of these compounds:

Carbohydrates are the principle constituents of grains, fruits and vegetables. Examples of this class of food elements are cellulose, hemi-cellulose, gums, pectins, starch, dextrins, glycogen, sugars, (sucrose, lactose, glucose, fructose, etc.) In the course of digestion all the sugars and gelatinized starch are broken down into the simplest of sugar glucose. This is absorbed and carried by the blood to the liver where it is stored as glycogen. The supply of glycogen is drawn off as needed by the muscles and body cells; but it is converted into glucose again before entering the blood stream. Carbohydrates serve as a source of fuel and provide heat and warmth to the animal body. Carbohydrate ingested in excess of caloric needs is converted to body fat. Celluloses and hemi-celluloses are not broken down by the digestive systems of dogs. Their content in a diet is indicated by the fiber analysis. Their main function is to provide bulk and prevent constipation. Many people believe that because the anatomy of dogs indicates that these animals are carnivores they should not be fed grains or cereals. However, in the wild state they obtain their carbohydrate requirements from the intestinal and organ contents of their prey. Dogs do very well on diets containing as much as 50% carbohydrate.

Proteins are colloid compounds of various alpha amino acids. Their function is to replace worn tissue and to provide for growth. Every living animal cell consists in the main of a protein of some type. While the number of natural proteins is almost limitless, every one is made up from 23 known amino acids in different combinations and amounts. In digestion, the proteins of the food are hydrolyzed into amino acids and absorbed as such into the blood stream. Within the body the amino acids are recombined to form the type of protein needed. During this synthesis some amino acids can substitute for others but there are nine essential amino acids which the animal cannot synthesize in this way. These nine are known as lysine, tryptophane, histidine, phenylalanine, leucine, isoleucine, threonine, methionine and valine. Arginine and cystine are sometimes included in this list. Arginine can be synthesized but not at a sufficient rate to meet the demands of normal growth. Cystine can be used to replace 1/6 of the methionine. Thus the nutritional value of the protein depends only on its digestibility . . . such proteins that are found in hair, horns and hoofs are not digestible . . . but also on the content and balance of its essential amino acids. Examples of foods containing proteins with high biological value are muscle meat, meat organs, milk, eggs, fish, fowl, corn germ, wheat germ, soya beans and yeast. Connective tissues, bone, cereals, and grains have protein lacking in a full complement of essential amino acids. However, full advantage can be taken of these proteins if they are fed at the same time with other sources containing an excess of the amino acids which are lacking. Growing animals require approximately 8% of their caloric intake in the form of essential amino acids. Since complete proteins contain only 40 to 50% amino acids, the diets of dogs should contain from 25 to 30% protein allowing for some safety factor. Even higher levels may be desirable for weaning puppies. This may be illustrated by the fact that the milk of the mother contains 32% protein.

Fats are the glycerol esters of saturated and unsaturated fatty acids. They are desirable constituents of a diet because they have a high caloric and satiety value, 2) they contain fat soluble vitamins, 3) they aid in the ob-sorption of minerals and vitamins and 4) they contain essential fatty acids. In the process of digestion, fats are broken down into their simpler components and absorbed largely as fatty acids. The nature and source of the fat makes no nutritional difference. Vegetable fats are capable of substituting fully for animal fats and vice versa. Within the body most of the fatty acids are used for heat and warmth or converted to body fats. These body fats not only serve as compact reserves for energy but also cushion vital organs. Within the body, fatty acids also combine with carbohydrates and other food elements, or form many of the fluids which are essential to the functioning of the system. Three highly unsaturated fatty acids are considered essential, that is, they cannot be synthesized from other components. These three, linoleic, linolenic, and arachidonic acids must be present for normal growth and tissue metabolism. Deficiencies of these elements will result in poor skins and coats and lack of growth in the young. Fat requirements and needs vary but a level of 5% is about a minimum. At least 1% should be in the form of essential fatty acids. Good natural sources of fats are meat, fish, milk, wheat germ, corn germ and soya beans. In general, small animals do well on diets that allow for more than the minimum amount of fat, but fat is a highly concentrated food with 2 1/4 times the calories per unit weight than carbohydrates or proteins. If the diet contains too much fat, appetite will fall off with a satisfaction of caloric needs and not enough other essential food elements may be consumed.

Minerals are simple chemical elements used by the body in many ways and in amounts varying from one per cent of the food to one-millionth of one per cent. Calcium and phosphorus, which serve mainly as bone and tooth building materials, are required in the largest quantities. Their presence is especially important to growing puppies, of course, but since the bones of adult animals are far from "dead matter" and since both minerals are also used by blood and muscles, a certain amount of calcium and phosphorus is always needed, and particularly during periods of stress such as pregnancy and lactation. As in the case of many other food elements, these two minerals must be provided not only in ample amounts but in the proper ratio to each other.

The ability of red blood to carry oxygen to the body cells depends directly upon iron. To build new red blood cells, iron, copper, and cobalt must be present. The need for these minerals is especially great during

THE COCKER SPANIEL

THE Cocker Spaniel is the smallest of the sporting Spaniel family and by reason of his versatility in the field in addition to his sterling worth as a companion in the house, to adults and children alike, is a very popular breed. The variations in colour add to the interest in the breed among which are the solid colours, consisting of black, red, parti-colours among which you will find black and white, black and tan and combinations of black, tan and white known as tri-colours; also a few liver and whites.

The Spaniel family is a large one and one of considerable antiquity. As far back as 1386, we find mention of the Spaniel which in the next century was divided into two groups; the land and the water Spaniel. Later, a further division of the large Spaniels and the small ones cut the toy Spaniels from the sporting ones, and eventually as various localities developed individualistic strains the classification became a definite one of which, numerically, the Cocker Spaniels have held the lead both in England and the United States.

He is a serviceable-looking dog with a refinedly chiseled head; standing on straight legs and well up at the shoulders; of compact body and wide, muscular quarters. The Cocker Spaniel's sturdy body, powerful quarters and strong, well-boned legs show him to be a dog capable of considerable speed combined with great endurance. Above all he must be free and merry, sound, well balanced throughout, and in action show a keen inclination to work; equable in temperament with no suggestion of timidity. Not under 22 nor over 28 pounds in weight.

growth and after blood loss. Whenever they are not required, the body seems able to cut off their absorption from the digestive tract.

Potassium, magnesium, sodium, and chlorine serve largely as "fluid-regulating" minerals. They are used in forming many of the body's fluids and help maintain the balance between fluids inside and outside the individual cells.

Iodine and zinc are materials for some of the hormones which regulate the entire body machinery. Manganese, fluorine, aluminum, silicon, and sulphur also are needed . . . most of them in extremely small amounts.

Many of these minerals cannot be utilized in all the forms in which they occur. Excessive amounts of most minerals can be poisonous, yet a deficiency of any one can be eventually fatal.

Vitamins are highly specialized compounds which the body cannot form for itself out of more common elements. They are used as raw materials for certain key cells and fluids. They occur and are used in relatively small amounts, but without them life and growth is impossible, and a scanty supply of any essential one can cause widespread afflictions ranging from a drab coat to sudden death.

Vitamin A is needed by the tissues which line the body . . . mouth, digestive tract, eyes, nose, and glands. Among other things, it is one of the substances which enable the eye to respond to light and is consumed in the process of seeing. Ample amounts of vitamin A throughout life can distinctly lengthen the life-span of an animal.

The group of vitamins known as the B-complex are generally required by the enzymes and hormones which enable the body cells to use the nutrition of carbohydrates, proteins, and fats. Thiamine (B₁), for example, is linked to the consumption of non-fat food energy; riboflavin (B₂) and niacin, to carbohydrates and proteins; and choline, to fats. Other vitamins in this group are pyridoxine, pantothenic acid, folic acid, B₁₂, biotin, inositol, and para-aminobenzoic acid. Lack of almost any one of these vitamins can cause nervous disorders, poor appetite, anemia, stunted growth, and unhealthy skin and coat.

Vitamin D is necessary to the use of calcium and phosphorus for building bones and teeth. It can be formed within the body through the action of sunlight on substances under the skin. But the amount of sunlight that reaches the animal's skin is, at best, uncertain, and it is much safer to have a steady supply of this vitamin in the diet. The amount required depends entirely on the amount of calcium and phosphorus being used. Without enough vitamin D, puppies develop bow-legs, poor teeth, and other symptoms of rickets.

Vitamin E affects a certain type of muscle tissue throughout the body, and is essential for reproduction. It also helps protect the vitamin A content in the intestinal tract.

There are other vitamins, such as vitamin C and K, the lack of which in the diets of humans and other animals can cause severe troubles but which does not seem to affect dogs.

The Energy Requirement

The newer knowledge of proteins, vitamins and minerals and the graphic nature of the symptoms which accompany the lack of such essentials have given these substances the spotlight. However the need for fuel to produce heat, maintain muscle work, and support other forms of energy are just as important if not more so. This energy is obtained from the combustion of digestible carbohydrate, protein and fat in the diet. It is measured in terms of a heat unit, "the large calorie", which is the amount of heat required to raise one kilogram of water one degree centigrade. Carbohydrates and proteins provide 4 calories per gram.

Fats provide 9 calories per gram. These factors are used to calculate the caloric content of any food or diet.

The daily requirement of dogs for calories varies of course, with their breed, size and activity. As a general rule a 10 lb. dog will require 5 cal/lb of body weight; 20 lb. dog about 40 cal/lb of body weight, a 50 lb. dog about 35 and 100 lb. dog about 28, 150 lb. dog about 25 cal/lb body weight. Growing puppies require about twice as many calories as an adult dog, something in the range of about 70 cal/lb body weight. The above estimates are equally applicable for cats.

Water. More than $\frac{3}{4}$ of an animal body consists of water. Water is constantly being lost by evaporation from the skin, tongue, and lungs, in the urine and feces and in the milk of a lactating mother. The requirements for water is self regulated and can be satisfied by permitting the animal to have free access at all times or by offering water at frequent intervals. It is best not to permit the drinking of water immediately before and after meals or after violent exercise.

The following data summarizes the amounts of essential nutrients a diet for dogs should provide. Water—ad libitum; Calories—25-50 cal/lb body wt/day, 50-100 cal/lb body wt/day for puppies, 45-75 cal/lb body wt/day pregnant females; Protein—At least 15-20% of the food on a dry basis of protein of optimum quality. For mixed ration preferably 25-30%; Fat—Minimum of 5%—preferable level $7\frac{1}{2}$ to 10% (at least 1% in the form of essential fatty acids); Fiber—3-5% of the food on a dry basis; Carbohydrates (other than fiber)—40-45% Food (dry basis); Ash—6-10% Food (dry basis).

Minerals per 100 grams dry food. Calcium—At least 0.5 grams for prepared foods 1.8 grams; Phosphorus—At least 0.4 grams. For prepared foods 1.3 grams. (Calcium to Phosphorus ratio should be at least 1.1 and not exceed 2.1). Sodium Chloride—0.5 grams; Magnesium—0.07 grams; Potassium—0.6 grams; Iron—1 milligrams; Copper—0.1 milligrams; Cobalt—trace; Iodine—0.06 milligrams; Manganese—0.3 milligrams; Zinc—0.4 milligrams; Fluorine—trace; Aluminum—trace; Silicon—trace.

Vitamins—Basis one pound of dry food. Vitamin A—At least 1000 USP units/lb. preferable, 4000-5000 for prepared foods; Vitamin D—At least 270 USP units, preferable, 1000 units for prepared food; Vitamin C—Not required in normal animals; Vitamin E—About 20 milligrams/lb. good diet might have 50-60; Thiamin—0.5 mg/lb, good diet 1.5-2; Riboflavin—0.8 mg/lb, good diet 2.5; Niacin—4.5 mg/lb, good diet 20; Pyridoxine, 0.4 mg/lb, good diet 1.5; Pantothenic Acid—1.4 mg/lb, good diet 6.0; Folic Acid—undetermined, good diet 0.5 mg; Choline—At most 450 mg for a high fat diet; Biotin—Undetermined, good diet 0.06 mg; Inositol—Not required, good diet 350 mg; Para-amino benzoic acid—Undetermined; Vitamin K—Not required; Vitamin B 12—Approximately 6 micrograms/lb, good diet 12.

Now having described the essential factors needed by the animal and some of the symptoms accompanying nutritional failure, I would like to point out that nutritional deficiencies may occur not only as a result of failure of the diet to provide adequate amounts of essential nutrients, but also because of abnormalities in the gastro-intestinal canal which prevents the digestion of the food or prevents absorption into the blood system and/or because the tissues fail to utilize the nutrient presented by the blood. Those of us who are in the business of manufacturing prepared foods for small animals can only design diets which will provide the normal animal with sufficient quantities of various essential nutrients. Because of these other factors involved in nutritional failures, occasions arise where an animal fed a recognized proven product is presented to a practitioner with symptoms of nutritional deficiencies. In these cases a thorough examination may reveal the particular organic disturbance interfering with metabolism and the veterinarian can then prescribe treatment and diet to suit the individual patient. These cases do not indicate that the original diet was poorly formulated, but that certain individual animals require treatment that can only be supplied by the veterinarian. To further illustrate the difficulty of making diagnoses of nutritional failure I would like to cite the case of a 2-year-old Golden Retriever that was brought to our attention. This dog was owned by one of our vice-presidents. The animal appeared to develop a stiffness in his hind quarters. He would prefer to remain in a squatting position, he had difficulty getting up, and difficulty jumping in and out of a car. The dog was taken to a highly regarded veterinarian and diagnosis made of Vitamin B Complex deficiency. Treatment with B Complex Concentrates did not result in any improvement. The dog was then sent to our Gaines Research Kennels in Ridgefield, Connecticut. The hind quarters were X-rayed and the pictures showed that both femurs were not fully rounded but had flattened heads. This was the cause of the poor locomotion and not nerve degeneration. The cause of this condition is unknown and there is no known treatment. This case illustrates that diagnosis of nutritional failure is frequently difficult and that other factors causing similar symptoms should often be sought.

Meeting of the Board of Directors

1815. The meeting of the Board of Directors, which adjourned on January 24th, to reconvene at the call of the President, re-convened at the call of the President in the Club's offices, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, at 10 A.M. on Tuesday, February 6th, 1951.

The President, H. L. Walley, presided. Directors present included Paddy Boughs, Mrs. Ellen Brown, J. J. Farmer, and Mrs. Alva McColl.

1816 (1798). FINANCIAL REPORTS AND MATTERS

SUBJECT: The Secretary placed before the Board the financial statement received from Clarkson, Gordon & Company, the Club's auditors, a copy of which statements had been forwarded to all members of the Board.

ACTION: It was agreed that these statements be tabled until the members of the Board had had an opportunity of studying their contents.

REPORT: Director Farmer reported the information received from the Live Stock Records office, indicating that 1421 certificates had been issued during the month of January, that of this number, 1113 were for dogs identified by tattoo-marking 308 by nose-prints. Director Farmer further reported that only 54 applications where dogs had been identified by nose-prints had been returned during the past month, and that the percentage of acceptable nose-prints had increased to 82.8%, a decided increase over the earlier percentage of approximately 50%.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to:
(1) Publish the financial statements in the March issue of DOGS IN CANADA;
(2) Indicate, in the statement of salaries paid, those receiving salaries who were considered "temporary" members of the staff.

SUBJECT: The Secretary reported that the Club's monthly levy to the Live Stock Records had been set at $1,850.00.

DISCUSSION: Director Farmer expressed the view that this figure may be low if registrations continued to increase, and suggested that close check be made from month to month so that at the end of the year the Club may not face an unexpectedly large balance due the Records office.

ACTION: The Board authorized payment of the monthly levy as set by the Record Committee.

1817 (1795). MEETING OF REPRESENTATIVES OF BREED ASSOCIATIONS

REPORT: The President reported that in accordance with the Board's direction, the Secretary and himself had attended a meeting of Breed Secretaries and other representatives, which meeting was held at the Royal York Hotel on January 29th. The President reported that at the meeting the delegates discussed—

1. The setting up of charges for work handled by the Live Stock Records office beyond the routine work of memberships, registrations, transfers and kennel or herd names;
2. The setting-up of charges for any extra work involved where the type of service provided was not uniform for all associations;
3. Means by which operating costs of the Live Stock Records office could be reduced;
4. Whether certain work presently handled by the Records office should be handled directly by the associations concerned.

The President further reported that as a result of the discussions which took place, recommendations would no doubt be placed before the Annual Meeting of the Live Stock Records Board, which would likely be held toward the end of March.

The Secretary reported that at the meeting reported on by the President, the following resolutions had been adopted:

"THAT, this meeting go on record as complimenting the Record Committee in initiating steps apparently intended to arrange for equitable distribution of costs; and that it be recommended to the Live Stock Record Committee that further definite time studies be made of the various operational items, and the result of such studies be communicated to the next Record Board meeting for final consideration, a copy of such Record Committee recommendations to be forwarded to Breed Secretaries well in advance of the Record Board meeting."

"THAT, we further suggest that all Breed Secretaries be asked to convey to their Breed Associations the views of this meeting in respect to equitable distribution of costs and the principle of the Live Stock Records office functioning solely as a Records office."

ACTION: The matter was ordered deferred pending receipt of the recommendations expected from the Live Stock Records Committee.

It was agreed that Director Farmer would inform the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records of the dates set for the annual meetings of the Club and of the wish of the Board that any date set for the annual meeting of the Live Stock Records Board would not conflict with the dates of the Club's annual meetings, this in order that the Club may be represented at the Annual meeting of the Live Stock Records Board.

1818 (1808). RE-ORGANIZATION AND BY-LAWS

REPORT: The President reported that the Secretary and himself had had an opportunity of discussing with Mr. A. W. Peterson and Dr. J. A. Leslie, of the Department of Agriculture, proposals which had followed earlier discussion with the Department regarding the Club's future activities and responsibilities. The President expressed the view that it was of prime importance that at the earliest opportunity the members have an opportunity of discussing and adopting proposed by-laws intended to replace the existing constitution of the Club. He reported that he had explained to Mr. Peterson and Dr. Leslie the need for publication of proposed by-laws in the February issue of DOGS IN CANADA, so that such proposed by-laws could be dealt with at the Annual General Meeting of the Club, and that such proposed by-laws could be used as a basis of discussion with the Department prior to the Annual General Meeting.

The President informed the Board that it was the view of Mr. Peterson that representatives of the Club and of the Department should meet, preferably in Ottawa, so that some agreement could be reached and proposals placed before the members attending the General Meeting, so that any by-laws adopted by the members may, as far as possible, be consistent with the Live Stock Pedigree Act and receive early Ministerial approval.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. McColl, seconded by Director Boughs:

"THAT, a committee composed of the President, Director Farmer and the Secretary-Treasurer, meet with officials of the Department of Agriculture with regard to discussing proposed by-laws to replace the Constitution presently in effect, and an effort be made for this meeting to materialize on or about February 26th."

Motion carried.

1819. OFFICE MANAGER

SUBJECT: The President suggested that the Board should give consideration to the appointment of an Office Manager, preferably the Secretary-Treasurer, for in his opinion such a step would result in every member of the staff doing what was expected of them under proper supervision and proper delegation of work and would permit of prompt service, particularly to members.

ACTION: At the suggestion of Directors Farmer and Mrs. Brown, the matter was ordered held over for the consideration of the Board at its annual meeting.

1820. AGENDAS

SUBJECT: Director Mrs. McColl suggested that the Secretary be directed to provide each member of the Board with copies of correspondence being placed before the Board.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. McColl, seconded by Director Mrs. Brown:

"THAT, all members of the Board be provided with a copy or review of all matters pertaining to finances between the Records office and this Club, any protests and all matters of policy requiring the attention of the national board."

Motion carried.

1821 (1806). DATES OF BOARD MEETINGS

DISCUSSION: Director Farmer asked the Board to review its decision (see Item No. 1806) regarding the date on which regular monthly meetings of the Board would be held during the current year.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. Brown, seconded by Director Boughs:

"THAT, in order to accommodate all Ontario members of the Board as far as possible, regular monthly meetings of the Board be held on the first Thursday of each month instead of as previously agreed on by the Board (see Item No. 1806)." Motion carried.

1824 (1813). DATES, JUDGES, SHOW & TRIAL MATTERS

REPORT: The Secretary reported on the following applications for dates:

March 18th—Montreal Dog Obedience Training Club (Obedience Trial).

March 18th—Montreal Dog Fanciers' Club (Sanction Show).

May 23rd and 24th—B.C. Ladies' Kennel Club (2 Ch. Shows).

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. Brown, seconded by Director Farmer:

"THAT, provided these applications comply with the requirements of the applicable rules, said applications be approved subject to the rules, regulations and conditions in effect at the time of the shows (or trials)." Motion carried.

REPORT: The Secretary reported that the Collie & Shetland Sheepdog Club of Canada decided to change the date of its specialty show from April 21st to April 28th.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Farmer, seconded by Director Mrs. Brown:

"THAT, the change of date requested by the Collie & Shetland Sheepdog Club of Canada be approved." Motion carried.

REPORT: The Secretary reported that the Atlantic Beagle Club had made application for permission to stage a licensed trial for Beagles on April 24th, 25th and 26th.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to include this application in the list of dates approved earlier in the meeting, and to advise the Club that if the trial is run on snow-shoe rabbits, it must be a pack trial.

REPORT: The Secretary reported that the Cocker Spaniel Club of Central Ontario Inc. had selected Roy Benbow, Chicago, Ill., as judge of its specialty show to be held on March 23rd.

ACTION: This selection of judge was approved.

SUBJECT: The Secretary tabled the list of proposed judges for the Barrie Kennel Club Championship Show to be held on June 22nd.

ACTION: The list was ordered held in abeyance pending receipt of a letter from the American Kennel Club.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from G. Reg. Poole, Secretary of the Brandon Kennel Club, seeking a ruling on whether or not it would be permissible for a number of dogs to be removed temporarily from its proposed summer shows (held in conjunction with the Provincial Exhibition) in order that a parade of champions "or something of that sort" may be held in the light horse ring.

ACTION: The Board agreed that this is in order, providing the dogs are absent from the show only for the period required to participate in the parade and providing the activity does not interfere with or delay the regular judging of the dog shows.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins, Pickering, Ontario, seeking the Board's approval of an arrangement which would permit of the offering of a trophy, as an annual special to the West Highland White Terrier Club of America, the trophy to be awarded to the member of that Club whose Canadian-bred dogs and/or bitches gain the greatest number of points at Championship shows held under the auspices of the Canadian Kennel Club, such points only to be reckoned as are gained up to and including a show at which the championship of any such dog or bitch is completed.

DISCUSSION: The Board, in discussing this request, noted the provisions of Chapter 6, Section 2, and Chapter 15, Section 7, of the Dog Show Rules.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Farmer, seconded by Director Mrs. McColl:

"THAT, in view of the provisions of our Dog Show Rules, this request can not be granted; however, the Board is prepared to consider the matter further if Mrs. Jenkins will provide additional information in respect of this proposed offering." Motion carried.

SUBJECT: The Secretary referred to a letter previously considered by the Board, in which Mr. O. E. Krog, Vancouver, had sought permission to divulge the name of the dog placed "Reserve" at the National Championship Retriever Stake held near Vancouver in November.

ACTION: The letter was ordered referred to the Board at its annual meeting.

SUBJECT: The Secretary placed before the Board, the C.K.C. Representative's report on his visit to Sarnia, for the purpose of advising the officials and members of the Sarnia Kennel Club regarding the preparations for and running of their first Championship Show to be held on May 26th.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. McColl, seconded by Director Farmer,

"THAT, Mr. Loveridge's report be received." Motion carried.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a memo, from the C.K.C. representative, who reported that the offering by the Canadian Kennel Club of the William H. Pym medal for the dog winning the most Best in Show awards during 1950 had been earned by Mrs. F. Yeigh McEachern's Kerry Blue Terrier, CH. DANNY'S MASTERPIECE OF TAILTEANN. The C.K.C. representative's report also indicated that the same dog had won the most Best Canadian-Bred in Show awards during 1950, for which the Club had offered the James D. Strachan Memorial medal. The report however pointed out that the latter offering had been made on the condition that it could not be won by the same member, and the medal was then to be awarded to the dog having won the next most number of Best Canadian-bred in Show awards during the calendar year. Mr. Loveridge reported that a check of the records indicated that two dogs had qualified for the medal under this arrangement, these dogs being the Boxer, CH. THURZALAINES BRIGADIER, owned by Mr. Grant Mahood of White Rock, B.C., and the Great Dane, CH. FINGARDS COUNT, owned by Mr. David Fingard of Toronto. The Secretary asked for an instruction regarding delivery of medals.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Farmer, seconded by Director Boughs:

"THAT, Mr. Mahood and Mr. David Fingard each be provided a James D. Strachan Memorial Medal." Motion carried.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to refer this matter to the annual meeting of the Board for clarification, so that a decision may be reached should such a situation again develop in the future.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Director Irving, regarding the action taken by the Board on the applications of the Victoria City Kennel Club and the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association for spring show dates. Mr. Irving stated, "To me it is extremely regrettable that a minority of the Board should have the temerity to deal with a matter of this nature. While there is no good in labelling the point I simply wish to be on record as to my views."

ACTION: No action was taken.

SUBJECT: The Secretary read a letter from Mrs. Mollie Hudson, Secretary of the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club, who asked whether or not there were any circumstances under which the judge could change the score of a dog, at an Obedience Trial, when such score had already been entered in the judge's book.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to communicate with Mrs. Hudson, and ask for specific information as to what had prompted the inquiry.

1825 (1802). ANNUAL MEETINGS

REPORT: The Secretary reported that arrangements had been made with the King Edward Hotel for accommodation for the Annual General Meeting, and sought instruction with regard to calling the annual meeting of the Dominion-wide Board of Directors.

ACTION: It was unanimously agreed that the annual meeting of the Board of Directors should be held, preferably at the King Edward Hotel, starting at 10.00 a.m. on March 29th, 1951, to reconvene at 10.00 a.m. on March 31st.

The Secretary was directed to inform all members of the Board accordingly.

1826. DISTEMPER AND ALLIED DISEASES

SUBJECT: The Secretary reported that in recent conversation with him, Mrs. L. M. Hamilton of Aurora, Ontario, had indicated a desire that the Board again take under consideration setting up of a bursary for research into distemper and allied diseases towards which she was prepared to make a large donation.

ACTION: Following discussion, the Secretary was directed to suggest to Mrs. Hamilton, that she communicate with the Research Division of the Dominion Government handling such matters, which Department, if approached, may be prepared to lend their assistance in such a project.

1828 (1812). AUDITORS AND ELECTION COMMISSION

REPORT: The Secretary reported that following the last meeting of the Board, Director Farmer had suggested that an order to obtain tenders in respect of auditors and election commission, advertising should be used as a means of obtaining such tenders.

ACTION: Following discussion the Secretary was directed to arrange for advertisements to appear in local newspapers, under a box number, seeking tenders from firms interested in becoming the Club's auditors and election commission.

Director Boughs left the meeting at this time.

1829 (1801). APPLICATION FOR HANDLERS' LICENSES

REPORT: The Secretary reported that the following had submitted applications for Handlers' licenses:

Mrs. Pamela B. Mack, Dorval Station, Que. (All breeds)
Mrs. Joy Osterdahl, Highland Creek, Ont. (All breeds)
Miss Shirley Stone, Detroit, Mich. (All Toy Breeds and Brittany Spaniels)

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. Brown, seconded by Director Farmer:

"THAT, the applications of Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Osterdahl for handlers' licenses be approved, and that the application of Miss Shirley Stone be approved, conditional that Miss Stone is presently licensed as a professional handler by the American Kennel Club."

Motion carried.

ACTION: The Secretary was directed to number the handlers' licenses for the current year, starting with number 200. The Secretary was further instructed to inform those licensed in 1950 that applications for handlers' licenses for 1951 must be submitted by those desirous of handling dogs, for financial gain, during 1951.

1830. REPRESENTATIVES TO CANADIAN NATIONAL LIVE STOCK RECORDS BOARD

SUBJECT: The Secretary reported that it is customary for the Board of Directors, at its annual meeting, to appoint the Club's representatives to the Canadian National Live Stock Records Board for the current year.

ACTION: Following discussion, it was unanimously agreed that the following should represent the Club on the Live Stock Records Board for the current year: W. H. Walley, Mrs. Ellen Brown, J. J. Farmer, Mrs. Alva McColl, and N. F. Brown. This action was taken when it appeared likely that the annual meeting of the Live Stock Records Board would be held before the annual meeting of the Board of Directors.

1831. REGISTRATION OF CLUB NAME

REPORT: The Secretary reported that the Scottish Terrier Club of Canada (Mr. Robert Sharp, Secretary-Treasurer, 78 Lisgar Street, Ottawa, Ontario) had applied for registration of its Club name, that notice of such application had been published in DOGS IN CANADA, and no objection to the application had been received.

RESOLUTION: It was regularly moved by Director Mrs. Brown, seconded by Director Farmer:

"THAT, the application of the Scottish Terrier Club of Canada for registration of its Club name be approved, conditional that such application meets the requirements of Chapter 26A of the Constitution."

Motion carried.

1832. SANCTION SHOWS

SUBJECT: Reference was made to the practice at some Sanction Shows of calling dogs to the ring by naming the owner and/or the dogs entered. It was felt that this practice should be replaced by a system whereby dogs are called by number, as at Championship Shows.

ACTION: Director Mrs. McColl agreed to obtain, while in New York attending the Westminster Kennel Club Show, a copy of the Judge's book used at sanction shows in the United States.

1833. ADJOURNMENT

On motion by Director Mrs. Brown, duly seconded and carried, this meeting of the Board of Directors adjourned at 3.45 p.m.

Registration and Identification

Before a dog may be registered individually in the records of the Canadian Kennel Club, the dog must be identified by one of the two recognized methods of identification set forth in the Club's Constitution. The two recognized methods are: (1) Tattoo markings; (2) Nose-prints. A copy of the new regulations on identification is available by writing the Canadian Kennel Club, 667 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont.

These identification requirements apply to ALL unregistered dogs regardless of where or when they were born, or by whom they are owned.

If a dog has been tattoo marked, in accordance with the regulations on tattoo markings, then the application for registration form must clearly indicate the tattoo markings that have been placed on the dog.

If a dog has been nose-printed, in accordance with regulations on nose-printing, then two nose-prints, on official nose-print forms obtainable from the Canadian Kennel Club, must accompany the application for registration.

All applications and fees must be submitted direct to the Canadian National Live Stock Records, Ottawa, Ontario.

Information on tattoo marking or nose-printing of dogs for registration and identification purposes may be obtained by writing the Canadian Kennel Club, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ont.

Dogs that have been registered individually in the records of the Canadian Kennel Club do not have to be re-registered.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ON NOSE-PRINTING

The following information is provided for the guidance of those using this method of identification

How To Take Nose - Prints

For the information of those using this method of identification we would report that the following method of procedure, in taking prints, has proven satisfactory.

1. A small amount of tube ink (see below) is placed on the smooth surface of a piece of wood, glass, or other smooth surfaced material and is spread evenly on such surface.
2. Excessive moisture is removed from the dog's nose by cloth or other absorbent material.
3. Using tip of index finger, a small amount of ink is spread as evenly as possible across area of nose to be nose-printed. The amount of ink to be used and the extent to which the ink is spread by finger-tip can best be determined by experiment.
4. Take an official nose-print form (or plain paper when experimenting) and grasp it firmly, at centre of its outer edges, by the finger-tips of each hand, holding the form in a vertical position.
5. Person taking print (while dog's head is firmly held by another person) takes position directly in front of dog, facing its nose and holding the form (still in vertical position) so that gummed side is toward holder of form.
6. Move form forward till contact is made, at centre of form, with nose, then carry outer edges of form slightly more forward so as to allow for curvature of dog's nose.
7. As soon as print is taken, remove form by quick backward movement of hands.
8. Set print to one side until ink is thoroughly dry.

As a suggestion to those nose-printing such breeds as Boxers, Bulldogs, Pokes, etc., make fold in the form about one-third from bottom of form, and in taking print see that fold is directly opposite the lowest section of the nose to be printed. Straighten out form after print is taken.

Care should be exercised, when folding the form, to see that gummed edge folded back does not adhere to gummed section unto which it is folded.

General Information

1. TWO nose-prints, on official numbered forms, will be required with the application for registration of a single dog identified, for registration purposes, by this method.
2. New applications for registration are now available. These forms provide a section where the applicant for registration is to insert the numbers appearing on the official nose-print forms accompanying the application for registration of an individual dog.
3. Applicants using the old style application for registration forms should place the following information, IN INK, at the left hand side of the form (turn form on its side to do this):
"Nose-prints No.— and No.— enclosed with this application". This should also be done with applications previously submitted to the Canadian National Live Stock Records, which were returned for further identification, and the registration fee in effect at the time the application was first received at the Records office will apply. It is not necessary to make out new applications for registration providing the originals are in order.
4. The two nose-prints for each dog need not necessarily bear consecutive numbers. For example the nose-prints for a dog may be No. A25 and No. A32. (DO NOT forget to indicate the letter appearing with the numbers on the nose-print form). DO NOT place more than one nose-print on a single nose-print form. It is not necessary to account for unused or spoiled nose-print forms. Spoiled nose-print forms should be promptly destroyed.
Nose-print forms need not necessarily be used by the person to whom they were sold; there is no objection to such forms being used by other breeders.
5. DO NOT attach or adhere nose-print forms to the application for registration form or to any other enclosure being forwarded to the Live Stock Records office. DO NOT write or typewrite on the nose-print forms.
6. It is strongly recommended that persons using this method of identification experiment, on plain paper, in the taking of prints in order that they may obtain experience before turning to the use of the official forms.

Other Nose Print Ink Available

It has been found that excellent prints can be obtained by following the method, outlined above, and using the same type of ink that was used, for nose-printing purposes, some years ago. In order to accommodate those who would wish to use such ink, arrangements have been made so that a two-ounce tube of this ink may be obtained from the Canadian Kennel Club, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ont., on payment of 75c. Official nose-print forms (30 for 25c) can be obtained by forwarding order, with covering payment, to the Canadian Kennel Club. No C.O.D. orders please.

"Then there were such reasons for broad smiles by winning owners as Ch. Mignonette of Rosterloy's 20th C.C. for Bill Hindley Taylor in Pekes . . . Donald Becker's double in Miniature Schnauzers . . . Mrs. Dyke's double in Poms . . . Miss Tudor Williams' double in Basenjis . . . handler Albert Sheldon celebrating winning the Aire-dale dog ticket at every Cruft's since the war . . . Mrs. L. Rigby delighted to think that her boy and his chums at school would be able to see her and her winning Fox Terrier in the TV program . . . Mrs. Swainston Goodger into the double figures of certificates with that grand personality of a Pug, Ch. Silvio of Swainston. . . .

"But surely no smile at all equalled that wide, delighted, and impossible to wipe off, which graced the face of Edinburgh's W. D. Buglass from 7.30 p.m. Friday onwards, after his five-year-old Saluki female, Goldendawn Nadir Nar, had not only become a champion, but had finished runner-up to the Welsh Terrier for the first day best in show.

"It just came right out of the blue," said Mr. Buglass.

"No one I spoke to could recall any Saluki ever being as high as this at Cruft's . . . a fine fillip for a lovely breed which has not been exactly on the crest of the wave numerically in recent years. . . .

"The television broadcast from Cruft's on the first night received lavish praise from the radio critics of the lay press.

"Among the moments which viewers most enjoyed were the close-up head study of Twynstar Dyma-Fi (the eventual best in show) with which the program opened; the glance which Tracey Witch gave Mr. Lloyd just before she was paraded; the fierce growling and snapping of the Lakeland, Ch. Adastra Warspite, the leap of the Bull Terrier, Ch. The Sphinx, in pursuit of his ball; the demonstration by Mrs. Dyke of how a Pom is prepared with spray and powder. (They pepper and salt them. You'd think they were going to eat them.)

"It was a great and memorable show . . . one which will rank with me, for many reasons, as one of the most enjoyable ever."

Collie Club News

TWO big shows have passed behind us. Cruft's had an entry of 251 Collies. A couple of perennial winners were at the top. Ch. Lochinvar of Ladypark was best of breed and Ch. Alphington Nigger King was reserve. This latter dog Mrs. Long of United States placed best of breed when she judged at Richmond. I noticed in the judges' remarks that some dogs came in the ring with grease on their ears. This shows that the novices are getting enthusiastic.

Westminster (New York) holds a lot of glamour. Had 101 Collies and they were the third largest breed entry.

When you read this, the Collie Club of America's big Specialty at St. Louis will have passed (being held on Easter Saturday and Sunday). One hundred and eighteen pups have been kept eligible for the futurity. Mr. Ed Meyers (who judged Eastern Ontario last fall) will judge the Futurity and Best of Winners. Mrs. Browning and Mr. Tom Halpin will judge the mature dogs and females.

At the Sportsmen's Show, Mr. Chris. Castleman judged the Collies. He is one of the "Twenty Popular Collie Judges" of United States. He will also judge the Morris and Essex. Good judging makes it a pleasure to show.

At home in Canada, we have a major show—The Collie and Shetland Sheep Dog Specialty, in Oshawa on April 28th. It has been encouraging to the committee to have promises of some of the best dogs in United States. The total of $1,000 in prizes makes it attractive to come from a distance. Long Island to Winnipeg is a long distance and we have promises from these places. Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo have also promised their quota.

We will easily double last year's entries. Dr. J. P. McCain has accepted the responsibility of judging. His popularity is attested to by having a substantial majority of the ballots cast. This is his third specialty in Canada. Miss Edith Hall, of Cambridge, Mass., will judge the obedience. This young lady has been in great demand and in April judged as far west as Colorado.

CORRESPONDENTS please note

Provincial Club notes must reach the office of Dogs in Canada by the 10th of the month at the latest. Any news received after that date will be held over for the following month. Advertisements must also be received by the 10th of the month if proofs are to be acknowledged.

The German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada

by Sheila Snell

IT is with a great deal of pleasure that we report an incident this month which really demonstrates the worth of our dogs.

Dixie of Dervock is a two-year-old Shepherd, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Ogle of Highland Creek. She has had considerable training at various times for her C.D. She is also a boon companion of Jean McKay, fourteen years old, of Rouge Hills. On January 12, Jean went skating, accompanied by Dixie, on the Rouge River. Suddenly the ice broke, plunging Jean into fifteen feet of water. Her cries for help were not heard by anyone, as it was a very lonely spot. However, by repeated pulling and tugging at the girl's sleeve and shoulder, even though the ice kept breaking at the edges, Dixie finally managed to drag the youngster to safety, and thus save her from drowning.

In honour of this, the German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada has presented Mr. and Mrs. Ogle with a small bronze plaque, with suitable engraving to commemorate the event.

Dr. Alan Secord was guest speaker at the regular general meeting held on March 8th, at the Royal York Hotel. Dr. Secord showed some beautiful colored films which he had taken on a visit to Carolina, where he was quail hunting. He also showed a reel of a more educational nature, but not in color.

Plans for our matinee shows which start in May, are underway, with the first one to be held at Mr. Van Hezewyck's farm on May 20th, where Mr. Eric Jackes will act as judge. At Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moffats, on June 17, Mr. T. Lee will judge, and Mr. Alex Gooderham will do the honors at Mrs. Corry's on July 15.

We are pleased to see so many of our new members out to the meeting, among them, Mrs. Tolman and Mr. and Mrs. Fitzer, the very newest.

Aurora and District Kennel Club

OUR club is now in the thick of things in preparation for our All Breed Dog Show to be held on May 24th. The tremendous efforts being put forth by our members is very pleasing, but we still have room for lots more prizes, as our objective is to have a most attractive prize list to offer to our friends, the exhibitors; something with which to remember our first All Breed Dog Show.

Advertising, as you all know, is a huge task to obtain; but we are making satisfactory headway, through the diligent efforts of our members in charge of that task.

If we have forgotten anyone in the rush of things, please bear with us and pass along such oversights to the Aurora and District Kennel Club. See advertisement this issue.

The Guelph Kennel Club

by Jean McCrae

The Guelph Kennel Club held its Annual Banquet, January 24th, in the Windsor Room of the Royal Hotel. Everyone enjoyed themselves immensely, and especially appreciated the inspiring message delivered to us by Judge Roy Austen, who was introduced by His Honor Major James Clare. The subject of his talk was The Art of Growing Up. Mr. J. Whitaker, on behalf of the Guelph Board of Trade, spoke a few words of appreciation for the work done by the Guelph Kennel Club.

Mr. Earl Rudd, our president, called on several of the guests, well known in dog circles, namely, Doug. Riedel, George Lawless, Jack Simpson and Leo Bodemer.

The February meeting of the Guelph Kennel Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hebden. Most of the time was spent in making plans for the Guelph Kennel Club All Breed Dog Show, which is to be held Saturday, May 12th, in the Guelph Memorial Gardens.

The German Shepherd Breeders Association, the Great Dane Club and the Boxer Club are holding their Specialty Shows in conjunction with this show.

The usual high standard of judging is exemplified by the following slate of judges: J. J. Duncan, Atlanta, Georgia; William F. Meyer, Westfield, N.J.; and as specialty show judges: Mr. Alex. Gooderham, Toronto, German Shepherds; Mrs. Florence C. Proctor, Sugar Grove, Pa., Great Danes; and Mr. Alvin Neidrauer, of Buffalo, Boxers.

Mr. Jack Simpson is our Show Secretary this year and all inquiries should be addressed to him at Box 222, Bridgeport, Ontario.

The Obedience Training Class, which was begun in January under Mr. Ed. O'Brien's guidance, is progressing most favourably and with great enthusiasm on the part of all. Most of the dogs seem to enjoy the work. Mr. O'Brien hopes to have at least six of the canine pupils ready for the Trials at the Sportsmen's Show.

The German Shepherd Dog Breeders Association

by Ellen Gibbs

Our monthly meeting was held at the Danforth Hotel, Tuesday, February 6th. Most of our members attended. It was decided we would hold our Annual Specialty Show in conjunction with the Guelph Kennel Club on Saturday, May 12th. We will have the best of judges and trophies as we have had in the past.

Our lecture night was held Tuesday, February 20th. Our training master, Mr. George Taylor, gave a most interesting lecture on obedience training and reviewed all obedience rules. Mr. Joe Hooker brought his dog, Duke, to the meeting and Mr. Taylor had Joe and Duke demonstrate how the correct exercises should be done. As they worked he pointed out the many important facts to be remembered by the trainer.

Our weekly training meets have been very successful and we are looking forward to seeing all these dogs in obedience trials in the near future.

The Irish Setter Club of Canada

by Elizabeth W. Svanefelt

As I write this, March is already here and Spring is just around the corner—meaning, that the Dog Show Season is beginning. I presume all you Irish Setter breeders are getting your dogs trimmed and groomed for the ring. Best of luck to you! Remember, we can't all win but we can do our best—and there will be another show.

The regular meeting of the Irish Setter Club of Canada was held on Thursday, February 22nd in St. Clair and Robina Ave branch of the Y.M.C.A.

Unfortunately a few of our members were conspicuous by their absence, as so much "flu" and so many bad colds were prevalent. Hope you are all on the road to recovery.

Applications for membership are still being received from various parts of Canada and some even from our "Good Neighbours" to the South. We welcome all new members into the fold.

Plans are in progress to hold a Euchre in the near future to raise some money for the Club treasury.

We regret that our guest speaker, Mrs. Ellen Brown, was ill and was unable to speak to us. We will be looking forward to have Mrs. Brown visit us in the near future, and hope she has fully recovered by now.

Plans are still going ahead for the Specialty Show—but more of that anon. So long until next month.

Sarnia Kennel Club

by Jean Scattergood

On February 28th, 1951, The Sarnia Kennel Club met in the Canadian Corps Hall for the purpose of drawing up the premium list of the All Breed Dog Show. A total of $800.00 in cash, trophies and prizes has been donated towards the event. The show is scheduled for May 26th.

The objective of the Club for this year is to buy a "Seeing Eye Dog" for a blind person in the community.

Mr. Smith of Dr. Ballard's Dog Foods, gave a very interesting talk on the composition of their dog foods. He stated that Dr. Ballard's were going to feed the dogs at our coming show. This meeting was held on March 7.

B.C. Mainland News

by G. Fletcher

OUR heartfelt sympathies to Helen Bristowe, whose mother recently passed away after a long illness.

Know the old timers will be sorry to hear of the death of Archie Hogg, who for many years was very active in the dog game, breeding and exhibiting Scotties, a one time director and president of the old Royal City Kennel Club. He was well known as a judge of both dogs and flowers. Archie was a contractor by trade, also an alderman for Westminster. He was a great sport, helping many novices, with always a kind word and smile of encouragement to a greenhorn. I know because 20 years ago I was one of the novices he helped.

Probably the biggest price ever paid for a Kerry in British Columbia was for Mrs. E. McEachren's Int. Ch. Danny's Masterpiece of Tailteann, sold to Mr. E. Glaspe of Vancouver. He also bought a young female.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wells leased a female from an American fancier who decided to deliver her to the border to Mr. Wells. As they neared the border the stork took matters into his hands and delivered three puppies, con-

Elsie Murray sends the following Boxer news. New officers for The Western Canada Boxer Club were recently elected at a very well attended meeting held in the Georgia Hotel. Plans were made for a Boxer Specialty Show to be held May 24th. Strong efforts are being made to bring in a judge who rates high with Boxer breeders in the United States and Canada. This Club feels that 1951 should be a great year for their breed since Ch. Bangaway of Serrah Crest went Best in Show at New York.

President of the Club is Mr. Donald F. Lyle; first vice-president, Mr. Hunter Lewis; second vice-president, Mr. A. H. M. Campbell; secretary-treasurer, Elsie D. Murray.

At the annual North West Golden Glove Tournament in Seattle, the honor of judging was bestowed on Billy Oates, whose work in this field is acclaimed by many.

At Biggar, Sask. a little Dachsie we sent there will always be remembered. George lived at the Eden Hotel with his owners, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Spooner. When fire broke out, George's frantic barking woke up Mrs. Spooner. Although great damage was done to the hotel, most of it was saved along with all the occupants. Had the hotel completely burned a good bit of the town would have gone too. Mr. and Mrs. Spooner couldn't praise George and the volunteer fire department enough. George gets a medal.

At both the Terrier Specialty in New York and the Madison Square Gardens Show in New York, Eileen McEachren won Best Kerry Brace. At Madison

The Kiwanis Club held their annual show March 6th and 7th. This is always a wonderful show, wonderful trophies and food and run by wonderful people. Ole Man Winter double-crossed them this year for a few days prior to the show, we got snow, snow, snow. Many fanciers from the South had difficulty—so had many of us. Just imagine three feet of snow and more in some sections, and some of us had part of our vegetable gardens planted.

Vancouver Island Notes

by Gladys McGee

The Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association held their annual dance recently—a good crowd attended and many prizes were won for spot dances, etc. Refreshments were served and a merry time was had by all.

Victoria City Kennel Club have decided to postpone their spring show, which was to have been held in March, till later.

The Oakcrest Kennels, owned jointly by Mrs. A. Wilkie and Mr. K. Rickman, have been closed and probably sold. Mrs. Wilkie on the advice of her doctor must take things easy, and property has been purchased at Deep Cove, one of our Island beauty spots, where only three or four pets will be kept.

We will have news of the arrival of a Weimeraner puppy next month. A Victoria naval man is completing details. We believe it will be the first one on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Arthur Knowles, a new C.K.C. member, is importing a German Shepherd Female in whelp from the United States. He has applied for his kennel name and is most enthusiastic about the breed. He has already purchased two females, so we may look for a larger entry of this breed at our future shows.

We are a little short of news this month—there is so much flu about and the weather has been very changeable. However, with the advent of spring (we hope) there should be news of our fanciers doings. Send it to me at 1186 Craigflower Road, Victoria.

News from Alberta Kennel Club, Calgary

by Dorothy Somerville

Mr. Gray, Chairman of the premium committee, took a deep breath and reached out to all members of the club for his committee. His well organized assault left many of the members hanging on the ropes, but he got a committee working in record time.

A couple of newly initiated members still don't know what hit them, but faced up bravely to the task of "dig deep brother" that was delegated to them. "That fellow Gray doesn't give you a chance to say no, does he?" one member muttered as he made his way from the last meeting.

Mrs. Marge Sasseville is recovering from a bout with a surgeon's knife (appendix) and our hard working show committee is hoping to see her well in time to take over the "mike" for the spring show.

Mr. Bobby Thomson, himself recovering from a stroke, mourns the death of his wife. Bobby is a well known figure in the kennel work, both in show and field trials activities.

We all envy Mr. and Mrs. Fawcett, who have left our wintry clime for California and other warm and sunny spots for a long holiday. I'll bet that they spend some time at many of the American kennels that we have read about in the counterpart of our "Dogs in Canada."

We learn today that Mrs. Marie Glover, of Edmonton, has lost several of her Championship Bulldogs in a fire that struck her kennels recently. Tough luck, Marie.

I overheard a male member of the club state: "These women on the board of directors seem to be doing a darn good job—hope they keep it up." He was referring to the fact that the president, secretary, treasurer and some of the directors were all women as elected at the last annual meeting of our club . . . well, what does he expect . . . that we wouldn't?

the Cocker Spaniel Club. Harry Fitch did a very nice job of judging, giving reserve winner to a lovely black cocker owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. White. Mr. Cliff Biggar, our director for the fourth year, presented the Best in Show award. Peggy Crombie, secretary of the Cocker Club, said the Show was a financial success and she was looking forward to the show in June.

Had quite a chat with Bill McAuley the other day, who told me Mrs. McAuley was very critically ill for a long time. She is much better now, to the relief of everyone. Bill acted as Ring Steward at the Sanction Show.

Mr. Harry Baker was forced to move his shoe repair business from a down town address to a store north on the Crosstown Highway. Mr. Baker said what seemed a calamity at first is proving to be a move for the better. Mr. Baker was your correspondent a few years ago and gave me a few words of encouragement on this column which I appreciated (and needed).

Members of Fort Garry Kennel Club appreciated the films shown by Dr. J. L. Anderson at their February meeting and are looking forward to seeing more soon.

Mrs. J. Gove has been in the hospital for a few weeks this winter, but you can't keep a "good girl" down. She will probably be up to her ears in work at the next dog show.

Mr. Harold Bently, one of our well known dog fanciers and judges, has also spent some considerable time in the hospital this winter. However, I am happy to tell you he is at home now, feeling much better under the expert care of Mrs. Bently. Hope to see him around the next show.

A 12-year-old Irish Setter who passed on is sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Eamens. They are left now with only one Setter and many pleasant memories. Mrs. Eamens kept the two Setters as companions for the past few years since retiring them from the showing.

Toots, a female Boston, well known to her many admirers for her tricks, died at the ripe old age of 18 years at the Anderson Animal Hospital where she lived.

I would like to hear from C.K.C. members who are not members of local clubs. Surely you have something of interest that can be added to this column.

He'll be a Healthier, Happier Dog...

Whatever breed of dog you own, you can improve its skin and coat condition by supplementing its daily diet with Rex Oil.

Used regularly by dog owners everywhere, Rex Oil supplies the unsaturated fats (skin vitamins) usually lacking in a dog's diet due to destruction by rancidity and cooking.

These vitamins, so necessary for promoting a clear healthy skin and lustrous coat help prevent itching, dandruff, scale and summer eczema. Dogs having these symptoms are quickly relieved when a few drops of Rex Oil are added to the daily meal.

Rex Oil is also an aid in preventing non-organic breeding disorders, weak young and high mortality, being a rich source of the Anti-sterility vitamin and fresh food factors.

Add a few drops of Rex Oil to your dog's meal each day for one month and judge its merits for yourself. Accept no substitutes. Rex Oil is absolutely harmless and unconditionally guaranteed to give the desired result or money refunded.

Available where pet supplies are sold.

Notes from the Province of Quebec

by Pamela B. Mack

Hope you have all weathered the flu bug. It seems to have played havoc everywhere. However, don't despair, Spring is just around the corner, so they say.

Had the pleasure of attending the Westminster Kennel Club show, recently, and as usual it was beautifully organized and went off like clockwork. It really is a sight to see so many beautifully prepared and put down dogs. When one realizes the weeks of preparation and hopes that go into each entry, it is no wonder that the dogs look so beautifully turned out. There was very stiff competition in most breeds and the judges had some difficult decisions. To my mind the hardest class to judge—so ably done by that master handler Percy Roberts—was the Junior Showmanship. Forty-five children from all over the United States, who had previously won a first in this class at some A.K.C. show during 1950, were all in the ring together and working every minute. This was a long drawn out class to judge and yet the youngsters never let up. Truly all of them deserved a prize and certainly should wake up handlers and exhibitors in the future, as they seemed to know all the tricks of the trade. It will be interesting to keep an eye on these youngsters for some will surely make their mark in the rings in the future.

Several Quebec dogs were present, and many from this province were there to admire and learn as I was. Among the exhibitors were Miss Stegall, of Winna Pugs, who took Winners Bitch, Winners Dog, Best of Winners and Best Pug Brace in tough competition which was a wonderful victory. Also John Shaw, with his lovely Irish Setter homebred female—unfortunately she did not place but looked lovely in the ring and both she and her owner gained worthwhile experience.

Mr. Mac McLean, president of the Hull and District Kennel Club, was on hand with his usual string of Manchester Terriers, but unfortunately did not get the results of the judging. Also saw an Acadia Lodge Bedlington was entered by its American owner.

Another dog American owned but bred in Quebec to do very well was the little Welsh Corgi, Int. Ch. Upper-ton Corn Cob, who went Best of Breed over eight champions, also Best Corgi Brace with his daughter. All in all, the Quebec dogs gave a good account of themselves. If I have left any out I hope the owners will let me know.

Among those attending from Quebec, I saw Mr. McLean, Miss Steggall, John Shaw, Mrs. Condon and daughter Beverley, Mr. W. W. Rooney, Mrs. Sutherland, Mr. Eddie Wright, and many others. Also was delighted to meet Mrs. Lallemand again, who is now living in the States. She will be remembered for her lovely poodles. It was a great show. I hope next year more of you can attend and bring along your good dogs.

I hear from the Quebec Kennel Club that Mr. G. M. Howard has just been named president. Also that their annual shows this year will be held in the fall—probably in October. This is a good idea as most of the shows around here are held in the spring and will give us some later shows not too far away to look forward to.

By the time you read this, two more sanction shows in our province will be over. The Hull and District Kennel Club on March 11th and the Montreal Dog Fanciers' Club on March 18th, the last in conjunction with a licensed obedience trial being put on by the Montreal Dog Obedience Training Club, so will have to give you the results in the next issue.

Guess that will be all for now. Do send me in your news by the 18th of the month. I will be delighted to include it in these notes.

I hope you all are working hard with your dogs as the spring shows are getting nearer each day and shall look forward to seeing you.

"PURINA
GIVES US STURDIER
STRONGER NERVED
DOGS", says Mrs. Bernice Paine

Mrs. Bernice Paine specializes in Chihuahuas and Manchester Toys, and keeps from 30 to 40 of these two breeds in her Aztec Kennels, 42 Bernice Ave., Toronto. She finds this keeps her quite busy enough without showing; but she has two Champions of her own breeding among her Manchester Toys, bought back after they had qualified for other people.

Mrs. Paine finds that feeding Purina Dog Chow has given her "sturdier, stronger-nerved dogs" and more puppies per litter. "We've bred 4 generations of the same strain, and now get 1 to 2 more pups per litter than when we began," she reports.

PURINA IS THEIR CHOICE

You'll find many leading kennels feeding Dog Chow for these and other reasons—balanced nutrition, outstanding condition, palatability, economy. Consult your Purina dealer, at his store with the Checkerboard Sign; and if you buy in substantial quantity, be sure to ask him about the Purina Courtesy Card—it may mean a substantial saving!
