WITHOUT appearing to rush the calendar, the time is not too far distant when dog fanciers will celebrate the Centenary of the first recorded dog show, that held at Newcastle, England, on June 8th and 9th, 1859. The dog game has come a long way during the intervening period, and it would be impossible to evaluate the influence that dog shows have had on the ever increasing interest in the pure-bred dog. Irregularities in connection with dog shows in the fourteen-year period following the first show led to the formation of the Kennel Club (England) in 1873, dog owners and breeders feeling that a body with powers to enforce their decisions, to provide legislation and guidance, should be brought into existence to do for dogs what the Jockey Club had done in connection with equine affairs.

In the first Constitution of the Canadian Kennel Club, the object "to formulate rules for the governing of dog shows" was stated before the object "to open a register for the recording of pure-bred dogs".

The Dog Show is regarded as the "show window" of the dog fancier. The use of the word "show", meaning to "exhibit" or "present to view", was appropriately used from the beginning of these events, and lends credence to the belief that apart from affording dog owners an opportunity to have their dogs evaluated in competition, an essential purpose was to place the dogs on exhibition.

Of course, the strains from which most of today's breeds descended were being established, through intelligent breeding practices, before dog shows became so popular, but it is not unreasonable to assume that the pure-bred dog would not have risen to its present peak of popularity, nor would the various breeds have been improved to the extent that has been recognized, had not dog shows and other forms of canine competitions, such as field trials and obedience trials, become well established forms of activity in the dog game.

The Sporting Spaniel

THE various breeds of Spaniels have enjoyed great popularity for centuries. That the Spaniel is of great antiquity is undoubted. There are a number of references, in the English language, of the use of both Setters and Spaniels as aids to the hawk and the net.

In his excellent book on the Cocker Spaniel, Mr. H. S. Llyod, whose "of Ware" Kennels are world famous, states that one of the earliest references to the Spaniel as a recognized breed of dog may be found in the Welsh Laws of the Howel Dda (obit 948), promulgated fully a century prior to the Norman Conquest. In a section entitled "The Worth of Dogs", the following occurs in a code setting forth the value of different breeds of dogs: "The Spaniel of the King is a pound in value. The Spaniel of an uchelior, a pound. The Spaniel of a free-man is six score pence in value. The Spaniel of an ailt, four pence, the same value as his cur."

In English literature, reference to the "Spaynel" is found in The Wif of Bathes Prologue, by Chaucer (born 1328).

In 1387 Gaston, Comte de Foix, wrote a book called La Livre de Chasse. de Foix, who lived in Southern France close to the border of Spain, was a feudal monarch with large estates, followed the chase and owned hundreds of dogs of all kinds. Whether the Spaniel is indigenous to Spain or originated elsewhere, will never be known, but there is little doubt that the Spaniel owes his name to that country.

Still, another early reference to the Spaniel may be found in The Master of Game attributed to Edward Plantagenet, second Duke of York, who was killed at the Battle of Agincourt in 1415. Edward was Master of Game to King Henry IV, his uncle. Generally regarded as a slightly altered translation of de Foix' Livre de Chasse, thirteen of its sixteen manuscripts are in the British Museum. From Chapter seventeen on Spaniels, we quote:

"Saynolfes (Spaniels) and of hure (her) nature. Another manner of houndes (the word dog was not then in general use) there is that byn clepid for ye hawke, and Spaynels for ye nature of hem cometh from Spayn, notwithstondying (notwithstanding) that ther ben many in other cuntres (countries); and soche houndes havyn many good custumes (customs) and euel (evil). Also a faire hound for ye hawke, should have a greet (great) heede, (head), and greet body, and of faire hew (hue) or white or tawne (de Foix did not use the word for tawny, but 'tavele', i.e. pied, speckled or mottled), for thei (they) ben ye fairest and of suche hewe thei byn commonly best. A good Spainel shuld not be to jough (rough), but his taile should be rough. The good custumes (qualities) that soche houndes havyn byn thise, thei loosen (love) wel here (her) maistris (master) and felowe (follow) hym with out lesyng (losing) thoo (although) thei be in greet prees (crowd) of men; and comonly thei goon (go) bifore hure mastre, rennying (running) and playeng with here taile, and reyson (raise) or sterten (start) foules and wild beestis, but here (their) ryght craft is of the perterich (partridge) and of the quale (quail). It is a good thing to a man that hath a good goshawke, or tercelle (tiercel), or sparhawke (sparrowhawk) for perterich to have soche hounds, and also whan thei byn i taught to be crouchers the byn good for to take a perteriche and the quaile with a nette."

The Boke of St. Albans (1486) sometimes called The Book of Field Sports, refers to "Spanyellys".

In a book of falconry by George Turberville, published in 1575, there is this reference to the Spaniel:

"Howe necessary a thing a Spanell is to Falconrie, and for those that use that pastime, keeping hawkes for their pleasure and recreation. I deeme no man doubteth, as well to spring and retrive a fowle, being flowen to the marke, as also divers other ways to assist and ayde falcons and goshawkes".

Perhaps the first real book on dogs is the famous Treatise of Englishe Dogges, the diuersities, the names, the natures and the properties written by Dr. Johannes Caius, founder of Caius College, Cambridge, and physician to Queen Elizabeth. Written originally in Latin, at the request of the naturalist, Conrad Gesner, this work was translated by a friend and admirer, Abraham Fleming, and was published in 1576. Dr. Caius classified all sporting dogs under the headings:—

(i) Venatici — dogs used for hunting beasts;

(ii) Aucupatorii — dogs used for the pursuit of fowl.

The following is an extra from Dr. Caius' "Of English Dogges":

"The feconde Section of this difcourfe.

Of gentle Dogges seruing the hauke, and first of the Spaniell, called in Latine Hispaniolus.

Such Dogges as ferue for fowling I think conuenient and requisite to place in this seconde Section of this treatise. These are also to bee reckoned and accounted in the number of the dogges which come of a gentle kind, and of those which serue for fowling.

There be two

(The first findeth game on the land)

The other findeth game on the water)

Such as delight on the land, play their partes, eyther by swiftnesse of foote, or by often questing, to search out and to spying the byrde for further hope of aduantage, or else by some secrete signe and priuy token bewray the place where they fall.

The first kinde of such serue
(The Hauke

The Seconde, (The net, or, traine

The first kinde haue no peculiar names assigned vnto them, saue onely that they be denominated after the byrde which by naturall appointment he is allotted to take, for the which consideration.

Some be called Dogges, (For the Falcon) (The Pheasant) (The Partridge) and such like

The common sort of people call them by one generall word, namely, Spanielles. As though these kinde of Dogges came originally and first of all out of Spaine, The most part of their skynnes are white, and if they be marcked with any spottes, they are commonly red, and somewhat great therewithall, the heares not growing in such thicknesse but that the mixture of them maye easely be perceaued. Othersome of them be reddishe and blackishe, but of that sorte there be but a very few. There is also at this day among us a newe kinde of dogge brought out of Fraunce (for we Englishe men are maruailous greedy gaping gluttons after nouelties, and couetous cormorauntes of all things that be seldom, rare, straunge, and hard to get). And they be speckled all ouer with white and black, which mingled colours incline to a marble blewe, which bewtifyth their skines and affordeth a seemely show of comlynesse. These are called French dogges as is aboue declared already."

From the foregoing, it would seem that all of the old Spaniel colours are those known to present day fanciers. It is also interesting to note here that in writing his friend Gesner, Caius said: "Thus much also understand, that as in your language Hunde is the common word, so not our naturall tongue dogge is the vniversall, but Hunde is perticular and a speciall, for it signifieth such a dogge only as serveth to hunt".

In Taplin's Sporting Dictionary and Rural Repository, published in London in 1803, there is this interesting description of the Spaniel and his work:

"Spaniel is the name of a dog of which there are different kinds: and even these have been so repeatedly crossed that unless it is in the possession of sportsmen who have been careful in preserving the purity of the breed perfectly free from casual contamination, the well bred genuine Cocking Spaniel is difficult to obtain.

There are four different kinds of dogs passing under this denomination—the large Water Spaniel, and a smaller of the same sort. Of land Spaniels there are two kinds also—the one larger than the other, much stronger in the bone but with curly waves in the hair; and a small yellow pied springing Spaniel (used in pheasant and cock shooting) whose hair is long, soft and delicately pliable, with ears of the same description, reaching, when extended, beyond the point of the nose.

They are indefatigable in their exertions. From the time they are thrown off in the pursuit of game, the tail is in a perpetual motion (called feathering) by the increased vibration of which an experienced sportsman knows when he gets nearer the object of attraction. The nearer he approaches it, the more violent he becomes in his endeavours to succeed; tremulative whimpers escape him as a matter of doubt; but the moment that doubt's dispelled, his clamorous raptures break forth in full confirmation of the gratification he receives. And this proclamation may be so firmly relied on (though in the midst of the thickest covert) that the happy owner may exultingly boast he is in the possession of one faithful domestic who never tells a lie."

In the Encyclopoedia of Rural Sports (1840) there appears the following:

"The Cocker, so called from his appropriation to woodcock shooting, has a short, round head when compared with that of a springer; he is, also, much smaller in size, more compact in his frame, and not high on his legs. His ears are usually long and well feathered, as are also his legs and tail, his hair likewise generally is more waved and curled than that of the springer spaniel. The Cocker of the present day is very diversified in his colour, occasionally he is an entire black and then he is indeed a beautiful animal."

There are, of course, many later references to the Spaniel in English literature and canine books, however, the foregoing is intended to show the great antiquity of the Spaniel, and to lay the background for another article in this issue dealing specifically with the Cocker Spaniel.

CH. HONEY CREEK HEIRLOOM

Bred and owned by Mrs. Bea Wegusen, Honey Creek Kennels, Ada, Michigan

It is with pleasure and pride that we present as our Cover Dog for this special feature issue Ch. Honey Creek Heirloom, that flashy parti-colour who has such a successful show and siring record.

He is a son of the Canadian, American, Cuban and Mexican Champions Honey Creek Harmonizer and Honey Creek Vivacious, and is one of a litter of six—the "Famous Six"—all of whom have completed their championships.

Heirloom has had a spectacular show career; starting at Westminster in 1950 he was shown aggressively and his wins include two Best in Shows (Specialties) and five Group placings, one of them a first.

At three years of age, at least 23 of his get have either finished or have points. Mrs. Wegusen has always kept in mind the objective of making progress towards the greater Parti-colour that tomorrow may bring. She invites inquiries.

EARLY writers on the Spaniel divided this class of dog into two groups: the land spaniel, and the water spaniel. Later writers spoke of a division of the land spaniels into the large Spaniels ("Springing Spaniels") and the small Spaniels, "the Cocker" being in the second division, so named because he was chiefly used for hunting woodcocks, though also good for general purposes. The Toy Spaniels belonged originally to the second division although are not now classified as a "Sporting Spaniel".

In the first volume of the Kennel Club (England) stud books, compiled by Frank C. S. Pearce at the request of the Kennel Club, published in 1874, and covering show and breeding activities in the years 1859 to 1874, the Spaniels (other than Water Spaniels) are grouped together under the heading "Spaniels (Field, Cocker and Sussex)". Few of the dogs under that heading are identified as to the variety to which they may have belonged, although in many instances the weight is stated. In the English Kennel Club stud books for the years 1875 to 1885 inclusive the breed heading "Field Spaniels" included many dogs from which the modern day Cocker is descended. For the years 1886 to 1892 inclusive the stud book listings were headed "Spaniels, Field, other than Liver-colour, exceeding 25 lbs.; and the Cockers, Any Colour, not exceeding 25 lbs." Beginning in 1893 Cockers had their own separate register.

The first volume of the Canadian Kennel Club stud books, published in 1892, listed Cocker Spaniels independent of Field Spaniels.

From the foregoing it is clear that the Field Spaniel was very much mixed with the Cocker. For show purposes a division was usually made by providing one class for "Field Spaniels over 25 lbs." and another for "Field Spaniels under 25 lbs." Not infrequently puppies from the same litter competed in each of the two divisions. As the internationally known C. A. Phillips of "Rivington" fame stated: "It certainly was absurd that the only formal and official definition of what was now admitted as a distinct variety should be a question of weight, and it was quite possible that, officially speaking, a dog which was a Cocker in the morning might after breakfast have metamorphosed himself, by eating a hearty meal, into a Field Spaniel."

In 1901 the Spaniel Club (England) abolished the weight limit for Cockers. Their action was confirmed by the Kennel Club, and a new era dawned for the Cocker.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the pedigree of Eng. Ch. Obo, born the property of J. J. Farrow ("OBO") on June 14th, 1879. All students of Cocker breeding will surely agree that this dog was well-named a "pillar" of the Cocker breed. Certainly he is the tap-root of the modern Cocker, English and American. As the pedigree of Obo shows, he was descended from Spaniels kept for many years by the late Mr. Burdett. While Obo's pedigree does not show the ancestry of "Betty", his dam, authorities on the breed state that she too was descended from Mr. Burdett's Spaniels.

As the dog "Bebb", which appears in the pedigree of the original "Obo", appears prominently in the pedigree of the dam of Am. Ch. Obo II, the first "pillar" of the American type Cocker, some details about this dog would likely be of interest. In a most interesting history of the early strains of Cocker Spaniels which Mr. Farrow contributed to the canine press in 1897, Mr. Farrow said (in part): "When staying with poor Phineas Bullock at Bilston for a day or so to talk Spaniels and to have a look around his kennels in 1874, I well remember his telling me that the greatest mistake he ever made was selling a Spaniel named "Bebb". "This Spaniel has not, in my humble opinion, had an equal from the commencement of dog shows up to date. It matters not what prominent Spaniel's pedigree — Field, Cocker, or Sussex — we unravel, Bebb's blood turns up in 80 per cent of them . . .". "Bebb, as a pillar of the stud book in the class of Spaniels known as Field, Cocker, and Sussex, is what I have placed him, a champion of champions . . .". "Now for a few words about Bebb's points as a Spaniel for the information of your readers who never had the pleasure of seeing the dog. He is entered in the First Vol. of the stud book as a liver-coloured Sussex. Well, as a matter of fact, he was no more a Sussex in type than I am like a black man. Indeed, the only point about him, including pedigree, that could be called Sussex was his colour, and that was far from typical when compared with the colour of the Sussex Spaniels seen to-day. In Bebb's days many Spaniel men called every Spaniel that was liver-coloured a Sussex, in the same way as a good number of Spaniel men to-day call all Spaniels under 25 lbs. Cockers. As a Field Spaniel Bebb had really a very grand head, a head that would fit in with the particulars given in the standard of points issued by the Spaniel Club for Field Spaniels as near as any Spaniel dog I know to-day. He had very long ears, too long I used to fancy a little, wonderfully low set, tail action good, with a good body and the best of legs and feet, and a little too much coat; in outline, of course, very different from the typical dog of to-day; nevertheless, what in those days was considered long and low, but when I tell your readers that he weighed in show form 38 lbs. and stood 18½ inches in height, a very poor show, they will at once say, this grand old "pillar" would make if he could be compared with the long and low celebrities of 1897".

The "American" Cocker Spaniel

In Volume I of the American stud books published in 1879 twenty Cocker Spaniels were listed. The ancestry given for these dogs does not suggest any connection with present-day Cockers, and so hardly calls for any details here except that we would note that two of these first listings, litter brother and sister born in 1877, were owned by John Hammon, of Windsor, Ontario.

In The Dog Book by James Watson we find the following: "With the establishment of the Spaniel Club the breed boomed, and as the great authority for dog men, Stonehenge, had praised the spaniel Brush, some breeders made a rush for Brush stock. Mr. Pitcher and Mr. Cummings, of New Hampshire, imported some of this blood from the Easton Kennels, as did the Hornell Club, but these were a mixed lot. Doctor Niven (London, Ont.) got the best cocker of all the Brush line in his Black Bess, a very good bitch, nice size, good head and particularly good in coat. Doctor Niven also got her daughter Bene, who was by Bob III, the fighting field spaniel referred to in the previous chapter. Bene was also a nicely feathered bitch, and some preferred her to her dam."

Lest present-day students of American Cocker breeding feel that Brush did not enter the early ancestry of present-day American Cockers, the following instances of his appearing in the early pedigrees should be of interest (taking Billy Obo's pedigree as an example):

1. Woodland Queen, granddam of the famous Am. Ch. Black Duke (to whom we shall refer later), was out of the female Black Bess referred to by Mr. Watson.
2. Blackie III, dam of Ch. Brant, who figures prominently in Billy Obo's ancestry, was by an imported son of Brush.
3. Black Pete is a descendant of Brush on his dam's side.
4. Both Nora Harrity and Pansy Butler, grandams of Woodland Flossie, were descended from Brush.

Mr. Farrow's Obo strain having become very prominent in England, it was perhaps natural for the Obo influence to eventually be felt on this continent. That influence became a fact when Mr. Pitcher imported the Bullock-bred female, Chloe II, in whelp to Mr. Farrow's Obo. Mr. J. P. Willey, of Salmon Falls, N.H., lost no time in acquiring a black male puppy from the litter born to Chloe II, and named the puppy Obo II after his famous sire.

In his "Our Prize Dogs", Mr. James Watson, an early authority on dogs on this continent, included this critique on Obo II:

"Skull showing slight coarseness. Muzzle should be deeper, with a cleaner cut appearance in every direction; it is wider than we like and the lower incisors project, slightly. Ears correct in size, shape, position, quality and carriage. Eyes good in color, size and expression. Neck somewhat too heavy. Chest deep, with ribs beautifully sprung. Shoulders strong and free. Back firm. Loin compact and strong. Hindquarters of exquisite formation. Forelegs showing great strength and set into good feet. Stern well set. Carriage gay. Coat showing slight curliness, especially on neck and hindquarters. Feather profuse. A thick-set and sturdy little dog that looks exactly what he is—the prince of stud cockers. Obo II is not so good in head as his kennel companion, Miss Obo II, but his worth to the cocker interests of this country cannot be overestimated. We did not feel like overlooking a dog of such sterling worth just because he was not exhibited at any of the shows included in this volume; and so Obo II is given the pride of place to which he is entitled by merit. With this most successful of sires, Mr. Willey and two or three other gentlemen who have bred from Obo II have laid the foundation for a beautiful type of cocker in this country; and unless it is destroyed by less thoughtful and careful breeders, the benches will soon be adorned by many a lovely specimen. But there must be no reckless experimenting, or the results may be the same as with the pointers. The Graphic Kennels' time and money would have been sacrificed if the typical and truly bred daughters of Donald and Revel III have been mated with such worthless fragments of pointer type as Jimmie, Comet and their like; and it remains to be seen if the great good that has been done the cocker interests by the Salmon Falls breeder in particular, shall be allowed to bring forth satisfactory results in the future. Obo II was withdrawn from the show bench after having won the champion prize at Boston, 1885."

George W. Leavitt of Boston imported Obo Jr., son of Ch. Obo, from Mr. Farrow's Obo Kennels. Mr. Willey purchased Obo Jr. from Mr. Leavitt, and this dog was later acquired by Mr. P. G. Keyes of Ottawa, Ont.

American and Canadian Cocker breeders lost no time in sending females to Mr. Willey to be mated to Obo II, and the wisdom of their choice of stud soon became apparent.

Two of the most prominent sons of Ch. Obo II were the dogs Ch. Black Duke and Ch. Brant. James Luckwell of Toronto sent his female Woodland Queen to Mr. Willey to be mated to Obo II, and the litter whelped on June 22nd, 1887, included Ch. Black Duke. Mr. Luckwell and George Douglas of Woodstock, Ont., who later acquired the dog, both exhibited Duke. In 1906 Mr. Watson said of Duke: "Beyond any question he was the star of the Obo II family. It is not too much to say that this was the best cocker dog ever shown in America."

"Brant" was born the property of Mr. Willey and was acquired by the late Brig.-Gen. C. M. Nelles, C.M.G., one of the original members of the CKC in 1888 and President of the Club in 1931. Gen. Nelles' "Brant Cocker Kennels" were then located at Brantford, Ontario, and were advertised as "The Largest Breeding and Show Kennel of Cockers in America". Gen. Nelles advertised Ch. Brant as the "unbeaten Champion of America for four years".

The available records show that Brant competed at shows held at Buffalo, Newark, Providence, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and Detroit in 1887, and at Utica, New York, Boston, Buffalo, Syracuse, London, Ont., and St. Paul in 1888.

From a mating of his Woodstock Dinah to Ch. Brant, Gen. Nelles got his Am. Ch. Brantford Red Jacket, a deep red dog that did a great deal of winning in the United States and Canada. It is from Red Jacket that Am. Ch. Romany Rye is descended in tail-male line.

George Douglas of Woodstock, Ont., bred his Woodland Flossie to Black

English Cocker in Canada

FROM the early days of the Cocker in Canada up to about 1927, there were occasional importations of Cockers from Great Britain. These were bred with the type of Cocker established on this Continent and were gradually assimilated, by inter-breeding. From about 1928, the number of importations from Great Britain increased, but a movement away from inter-breeding with the American type took place, breeders evidently feeling that neither type gained anything by the mixture. As the numbers of Cockers belonging to the English type increased, through further importations and breeding activities, the natural movement was to set-up the English type as a separate and distinct breed both for show and registration purposes. This came about first in connection with shows in 1939 and followed with registration in 1940.

Aurora, Ontario

Since that time, the two types have been recognized as separate and distinct breeds for show and breeding purposes, and inter-breeding is not permitted. With a separate breed register and its own classes at shows, interest in the English Cocker has naturally increased, deservedly so.

The English Cocker, like his American counterpart, is largely descended from the OBO strain, and many famous English strains are known throughout the world. As examples, there are the "Of Ware" (founded by Mr. R. Lloyd and carried on by his son, Mr. H. S. Lloyd), the "Rivingtons", (originated by Mr. C. A. Phillips), the "Braesides" (established by Mr. J. M. Porter), the "Bowdlers" (owned by Mr. R. de C. Peele), and others.

Ottawa Breeder Produces Five Champions in First Fifteen Years

WHEN Lorne Moore, of Ottawa, started breeding dogs in 1937, he little dreamed that his efforts would be rewarded with no less than 5 champions. But in his comparatively short career, he has established a record which is the envy of many old-timers.

Over 300 pedigreed dogs have come out of this modern Kennel at Ottawa. At present, Mr. Moore has 3 champions on his roster, as well as a sister of the famous Ch. Black Success of Moore. His clean, well-lighted and heated establishment continues to produce winners at a record rate.

As a handler, too, he has had unusual success, with many of his charges proving their latent capabilities under his patient, sympathetic guidance. Mr. Moore, always ready to help others with their problems, would be glad to hear from anyone. To make a contact, write Lorne Moore, 17 Newton St., Ottawa.

This grasp of the dog's point of view seems to run in the family. The Moore girls, Nora, aged 13, and Jeanne, just 10, are already mastering their father's methods and handling winners on their own account.

We predict that the name of Moore will continue to be a bright one in the Canadian handling and training field for many years.

"Billy Obo"

ELSEWHERE we commented on the readiness of our friends to the south in crediting Canadian Cocker breeders with a share in the production of those Cockers which have laid the basis for the modern "American Cocker". An example of this may be found in one of a series of articles which W. H. Kelly, of St. Paul, Minn., penned for Dog World on "Red Brucie's Champions". In the first of the series Mr. Kelley had this to say:

"One wonders how many of the thirty-six sons and daughters of Red Brucie that are recognized as champions by the AKC were the result of linebreeding. In checking the pedigrees of the dams, we find that eight of the champions dams were daughters of Lucky Durbar, six were daughters of Ch. Obo Donatello and four were daughters of Ch. Goldstream Guard of Cordova. These were probably the best known and most widely advertised litters. They included the Big Four, the Big Five and the famous Brucie-Guard combination.

"Seven of the dams of Red Brucie's champions were sired by Brucie sons. Ch. My Own Peter Manning sired three, Ch. My Own Big Parade two, and Ch. La Peer and My Own Black Brucie one each.

"One of his champions was the result of breeding to his half sister, Ch. Midkiff Trouble, and the dam of one was sired by his half brother, Ch. Sand Spring Surmise. Ch. Cordova Clare, the dam of three Brucie champions was a granddaughter of Brucie as was Ch. Sand Spring Storm Cloud, the dam of Ch. Sand Spring Smiling Thru.

"Lucky Durbar was a half brother of Red Brucie, so the blending of their bloodlines can be considered as linebreeding. Therefore at least twenty-one of Brucie's thirty-six champion offspring were the result of linebreeding. When we consider that others of the dams, such as Sweet Georgia Brown, were more distantly related, we must admit that linebreeding played a prominent part in making Brucie what he was—the greatest sire of the breed.

"Granted, then that linebreeding was an asset in this line, was the concentration of the blood of his sire or of his dam the more effective? The champion that was the result of a half brother and sister mating, Ch. Merryfield Wildfire, and the one whose dam was sired by Ch. Sand Spring Surmise, Ch. Sand Spring Red Dust, were linebred on Brucie's sire, Robinhurst Foreglow.

"Those of the Brucie champions whose dams were sired by Lucky Durbar, Ch. My Own Peter Manning, Ch. Kemah, Ch. Durbar, etc., were all the result of a concentration of the Rees Dolly bloodline.

"This would indicate that Brucie's dam was more valuable than his sire in her ability to transmit desirable qualities to offspring, yet that is hard to believe when we remember that Foreglow sired eight A.K.C. champions as well as Red Brucie and that a number of them were high quality producers.

"Let us study our pedigrees again and learn if there is any common denominator in the background of the Brucie champions. A six-generation pedigree of the dam of the Big Four, Ch. Princess Marie, shows considerable linebreeding to Billy Obo through Ch. Clark's Dare, Kildare and Ch. Durbar. Brucie's dam, Rees Dolly has Kildare in her pedigree too. Ch. Obo Donatello and Ch. Goldstream Guard are linebred to Billy Obo. Ch. Kemah, Ch. Durbar, Ch. Midkiff Creme dela Creme, Ch. Max Dare, Pardon, Ch. Lucknow Lottery, all grand sires of Red Brucie champions, carry Billy Obo blood. Is that the common denominator? One cannot say that it is responsible for the producing of the modern Cocker, yet it must have been of inestimable value.

"It would be interesting, wouldn't it, to see a picture of this big black Canadian-bred Billy Obo, or to read a detailed description of his appearance."

Some years ago Joseph H. Hill, of Toronto, contributed an article which was published in DOGS IN CANADA in which Joe, who has been a Cocker Spaniel fancier for more than half a century, paid a justly deserved tribute to Lance Farewell, of Toronto, who passed away in 1928. Joe's article dealt with a much later period of the late Mr. Farewell's breeding activities than is indicated by the pedigree of Billy Obo appearing in this issue of DOGS IN CANADA, however, since this article has to do with the background of Billy Obo we shall confine our remarks to the dogs appearing in his pedigree.

Billy Obo, born on September 10th, 1903, was bred by Mr. Farewell as were also the following dogs in his pedigree: Olie Obo, Willard, Deer Park Pansy, Deer Park Bessie and Black Bird. Registration procedures in those days differed considerably from those now in effect, and the early stud books do not carry any individual listings for Deer Park Beauty, Deer Park Flirt, Deer Park Dazzle, Deer Park Nellie and Deer Park Brownie, but when it is noted that "Deer Park" was one of two kennels names ("Obo" being the other) used extensively by Mr. Farewell it is not unreasonable to suppose that these dogs too were bred by Mr. Farewell.

Billy Obo

"Miss Brant", who figures prominently in Olie Obo's ancestry, was bred by W. Barclay of Georgetown, Ont., and later became the property of Mr. Farewell. Mr. Farewell also owned Madame Patti.

One of Billy Obo's well known sons was Ch. Clark's Dare, referred to elsewhere in this issue. "Dare", bred by Mr. Farewell, and whelped April 24th, 1906, later became the property of James S. Clark, of Toronto. Mrs. Clark bred her "Jessie" to "Dare" and from this mating came "Midkiff Kermit", sold to W. T. Payne of "Midkiff" fame.

La Paloma Cockers - John I. Florence

STARTING off with the purchase of an outstanding ascob puppy a little over two years ago because he thought having a few good Cockers would be a relaxing hobby, John I. Florence is very happy with his Ch. Bougholme Melody as his main foundation female. She is by Walter J. Martin's great producing dog, Myroy Above All, ex Bigg's Lipstick.

Shortly afterwards, he bought three ascob female puppies out of a litter by Can. and Am. Ch. Glo's Gay Pete's Repete ex Ch. Brae Mar's Bufferette. They are Ch. Brae Mar's High Style, Brae Mar's Style Trend and Brae Mar's Suzanne. Suzanne has points but Style Trend has been busy with her puppies and has not yet appeared in the show ring.

His first dog was Ch. Rubo's Black Knight, followed by Ch. Stockdale Liberty Lad, Try Cob's King of Wonderland, Can. and Am. Ch. Denbi's Cogo and Maribeau's Milestone.

By careful and judicious matings, he has succeeded in breeding several very nice dogs some of which have made creditable wins.

His La Paloma Statesman, a buff, whelped July 16, 1951, won the puppy sweepstake at the Cocker Specialty in Toronto on Good Friday. He was also best Canadian-bred in Show and Best Puppy, while his litter sister, La Paloma Sun Glow was Best of Opposite Sex. Incidentally, the Best in Show winner, Ch. Maddie's Vagabond's Return, is the sire of these two pups and Style Trend is the dam. Statesman was also Best Puppy in Show at Windsor on May 11th.

Another of his puppies, Bucksburn's Miss Dignity, by Ch. Rubo's Black Knight, was second in the puppy sweepstake.

Glen Rouge Dry Martini, a beautiful black, has just completed her championship.

Rubo, Liberty Lad and High Style completed their championships last year and Cogo, Melody and Martini this year, while Statesman, King, Suzanne, Sun Glow and Milestone only need one or two points each.

At the Ottawa Kennel Club show on April 4th, Mr. Florence achieved the distinction of winning all four varieties with his entries.

"Ch. Stockdale Town Talk"

By Warren H. Kelly

Ch. Stockdale Town Talk is dead. He passed away on April 11th in the arms of his owner, Mr. C. B. Van Meter, after an illness of only ten days. This story was written by Mr. Kelly before he received the sad news. The story appeared in the May issue of THE COCKER SPANIEL VISITOR, and is reprinted in DOGS IN CANADA through the kind permission of the Editor of the VISITOR.

CH. Stockdale Town Talk's record as a producer has never been equaled, never approached, and perhaps it never will be. Every cocker breeder is entitled to at least a twinge of pride that one of our dogs has made such an outstanding record. There have been a few articles about him in dog publications, very few indeed considering his accomplishments, but he's never had publicity to compare to that of such dogs as Ch. My Own Brucie. For the record we'd like to give some of the facts as we know them.

He was born August 25th, 1939, a solid black, by the black Ch. Argyll's Archer (now the sire of eleven champions) out of the red Startler bitch Audacious Lady (now the dam of three champions). He was bred by Stephanie Adams and acquired at a young age by C. B. Van Meter who started showing him when he was about 18 months old. Here I refer to Kirk Beal's article in the August 1948 issue of the Visitor. "He was shown 43 times with 43 Best of Varieties, 19 Best of Shows, three of these Specialties. Out of the 40 all-breed shows he won the group 35 times—never placed lower than second in the group."

Perhaps it doesn't matter too much how he was bred, considering his twelfth birthday was last August, considering his amazing production and his show record; all these things are enough, but in addition he was of really excellent breeding. Most of the Stockdale dogs, in the 30's, were by Ch. Sand Spring Storm-along and his brother Ch. Sand Spring Follow Thru or their sons, Ch. Stockdale Startler and Ch. S. S. Star of Stockdale. The dam of Stormalong and Follow Thru was a great winning and producing bitch, Ch. S.S. Smiling Thru. Town Talk carried her blood on both the sire's and the dam's side of the pedigree. It is interesting to note, too, that he carries the blood of all of the big four, the legendary litter by Red Brucie ex Ch. Princess Marie.

Close up, Archer, his sire, is litter brother to Ch. Argyll's Enchantress, the foundation bitch of the Nonquitt line, dam and grand-dam of two of the three bitches who are tied for the record as producers. Close up on the dam's side Black Winnie, the maternal grand-dam, was purchased by Mr. Adams because of rare and striking head and eye qualities which he sought successfully to retain in subsequent generations.

Many of you have seen Town Talk; I had an opportunity to become well acquainted with him back in early 1944. He was neither big nor small—just right—I'd guess him to weigh 27 or 28 lbs. in show condition, but he was so beautifully put together, so smooth, moved so effortlessly that he gave the impression of being a bit smaller than he was. I tried to see him with complete objectivity, not just as a beautiful dog but in comparison with other pillars of the breed such as Trader, Brucie, Holmeric, the Candidates, others I'd had an opportunity to go over carefully. The following description is an attempt to describe honestly how I saw him at the time.

His showmanship and gaiety on a leash was tops, but at home he wasn't a friendly dog with strangers, or at least not with me. He didn't seem shy; he just didn't care to come to strangers, but he loved Van and was very demonstrative toward him. His head appeared stronger than it was. He had a clean, well-domed skull with low-placed ears, quite a full eye and amazingly deep chiseling under the eye. His stop was deep, his muzzle square but would have appeared a trifle light had it not been for his depth of chiseling. His neck line was clean, slightly arched. At the time I commented that if I could change him I'd like a trifle more length of neck, and Van concurred.

From that point on you fault him; I can't. He was well up on leg, exceptionally short coupled for his time, with a slightly sloping topline. He had good depth of brisket, a clean front, beautiful set-on of rear, level tail-set, and hocks were perfectly true. His conformation was such that when he was standing at ease he was posed as if for the judge's inspection, and his movement was perfectly true, front and rear. He was well-boned, but not massive in any sense of the word, with the emphasis on smooth lines, with no excess anywhere.

So, today, 71 of Town Talk's offspring are champions and others are on their way; we still think he'll achieve the 76 needed to double Red Brucie's record. Perhaps you'll be interested in knowing a little more about those offspring and the bitches who whelped them.

Forty-two of the champion offspring were dogs, and 29 were bitches. Of the dogs 23 were black, 14 red and 5 black and tan. Fifteen of the bitches were black, 11 red and 3 black and tan.

Twenty-five of the 71 produced one or more champions. Ch. Country Gossip has 20; Ch. Stockdale Red Rocket and Ch. MyRoy Masterpiece have 17 each. His most successful producing daughters are Ch. Marmilos Golden Lady (4 Chs.) and Ch. Hickory Hill High Barbaree (3 chs.)

Forty-six bitches produced these 71 champions. Only 1 of them, the black and white Ch. Maplecliffe Farmer's Dottie, was a particolor. Three of them, Ch. Nonquitt Nowanda, Dantim's Martha Patricia, and Smithwood Jessica Jack were black and tans and produced black and tans by him. Twenty-four of the champions had red, and 43 had black dams. Fifteen of the 46 dams were champions, and these 15 produced 34 of the 71 champions. Thirteen of the 46 dams produced 2 or more champions by Town Talk, and 33 produced only 1 champion by him.

Ch. Gaming Acres Maid O'War, dam of the big five, produced a total of 7 champions by Town Talk; Ch. Swan's Suzanne of Stockdale 6; Ch. Rose of Stockdale, Ch. Camby's Autumn Glow and Ch. Mariquita Miss Muffet each produced three. Forest-Glen Beau Catcher, Hickory Hill High Bid, Hi-Tone Hildegarde, Lady Janiffer, Norbill's Bright Forecast, O-T-No Gold Coin, Stockdale Miss Naughty, and Stockdale Prom Queen each produced two.

These 46 dams were sired by 34 different dogs. Sixteen of them were by Ch. Stockdale Startler, and he was grand-sire of 19 of them. In fact 53 of the 71 champions carry some Startler blood on the dam's side. Nine of the 18 who do not, trace back to Startler's sire. Ch. Sand Spring Stormalong, and three others trace back to Stormalong's brother Follow Thru.

Seven of the 46 dams carried some Ch. Holmeric of Brookville blood, and traced back to Ch. Trycob's Candidate. Seven of them were descendants of Town Talk himself.

Mr. Van Meter bred only ten of the 71 champions. Thirty-six other people bred 1 or more of the remaining 61. This is remarkable in that the success of a stud so often seems to depend on the owner's assuming major responsibility not only for breeding but showing great percentage of the stud's winning offspring, to keep him in the public eye. Town Talk's offspring advertised themselves at the shows.

So many times, in recent years, we've heard the statement, "It doesn't matter how good a dog you have; he can't win unless he's properly conditioned and trimmed and skillfully shown, and even then you seldom stand a chance unless you're known to the judge as a successful breeder." Yet in going through the list of Town Talk's champion offspring we find names of many kennels and owners we never heard of before. We infer from this that a goodly number of his pups were good enough to win consistently without the prestige of influential owners.

All this, we hope, will add to the record of the facts available on a remarkable dog with an unequalled record, who has influenced the breed as has no other dog of our time, and who will, undoubtedly, become increasingly influential for years after he is gone.

A Tribute to the Cocker

THERE is something about this breed of dogs that at once appeals to our sympathy, and no man can own one and not feel constantly on the alert to defend it from abuse, slander, or misrepresentation. There is no other breed of dogs that will win one's affection so completely, and hold it so firmly. A new Spaniel puppy may never replace, in its owner's heart, some favorite old Setter or Pointer, but it will be sure to find a place there, and hold it, too, against all comers. When the shooting season closes, the Pointer and Setter are laid up in ordinary until the approach of the next season. If owned by the right man, they are regularly exercised and carefully groomed every day, and their grateful master never tires of relating their wonderful prowess in the field. They rest on their laurels contentedly.

"Not so with the little Cocker. He and his game have no close season. He seems to know, intuitively, a thousand and one little tricks and ways to please, entertain, and surprise his master, in and out of season. He is constantly at work in a busy, merry, unobtrusive way. He knows your words better than you do yourself, and governs himself accordingly. If you want him, he is right here before you, wagging his tail and looking at you intently, as if to say, "I am ready for anything." If you don't want him, he is away in some corner quietly dozing, or apparently sleeping, but always on the alert. He is never troublesome. He is always able to take care of himself, and to do a great deal else besides.

"He is a most noble and faithful guardian of your property and person. While he is in your possession, chickens do not scratch the flower-beds and wallow around the front porch; rats do not come into the cellar, nor strange cats into the back yard; your peaches and melons ripen before they are stolen, and burglars do not temper with your locks and window-catches. If anything goes wrong about the place, the little Cocker is almost always the first one to notice it, and the almost human way in which he comes and tells you of it touches certain chords in the heart which do not vibrate too often. They are the handiest little companions of the whole dog race. They ask for but little room, little food, and little care, yet in return they give a value tangible only to those who know how to love and appreciate a good and faithful dog. Their worth can not be told in dollars and cents, nor compared with other standards.

"I know of no other breed of dogs so generally useful and worthy of man's companionship at all times and places, in town or country; although I have not had personal experience on all game, yet from close study of their ways and methods, and a knowledge of their great intelligence, I am sure they would not be out of place whether one hunts ducks or squirrels, 'coons, rabbits, partridges, pheasants, woodcocks, or wild turkeys, and I was not at all surprised to read in a recent number of the American Field that one of our best-known sportsmen had found them very serviceable while hunting deer. I know the Cocker, and am not afraid to say that he can make himself more or less useful on any game that is hunted; and unless a sportsman confines himself to some game to which another breed of dogs is better adapted, there is no more useful dog for him to own than a bright, active, intelligent Cocker Spaniel.

"Now let me ask, Why are they not more popular? Why are not thousands instead of hundreds sold every year? When they can be utilized at all times, and kept in city or country, in the house or outdoors, at an office or a hotel, why are they counted by ones and twos to a county here and there, while every town has almost as many Setters, Pointers, and Hounds as there are men and boys who shoot?

"It is simply because the merits and good qualities of the Cocker are not known to the masses. It is because our favorites have not been advertised and pushed to the front as the other breeds of sporting dogs have; and if Cocker breeders and Cocker owners would institute field trials for Cockers, thousands of sportsmen would come and see them run who are now ignorant of their usefulness. Then we should see the noble little dog take his place at the front, where he belongs."

(The foregoing tribute to the Cocker Spaniel, written by Mr. J. E. Hosford, was published in THE AMERICAN FIELD over sixty years ago.—Ed.

Champion Goldstream Guard of Cordova

COCKER fanciers in the United States are most fair in granting recognition to any Canadian-bred Cockers which have contributed substantially to the improvement of the American Cocker. One of the Canadian-bred Cockers which has received much acclaim is the late Champion Goldstream Guard of Cordova, bred by the late Thomas P. Murray of Winnipeg, Manitoba. It appears that in 1927, the late Charles G. Hopton came across this dog while in Canada, and after looking the dog over very thoroughly, he suggested to Miss Alice A. Dodsworth that she purchase the dog, for he felt very certain that the dog would prove his worth both as a show dog and at stud. Miss Dodsworth immediately got in touch with Tom Murray and Guard became a part of the Cordova Kennels. He completed his American championship within a short time, probably, his most notable win being at Lenox in 1928, where he was Best in Show. Guard passed away at the Windsweep (formerly Cordova) Kennels in 1936 at the age of eleven years.

Combined with Red Brucie bloodlines, the get of Guard have been most successful in the show ring and as further producers of good Cockers. A few of the many notable dogs carrying a combination of Red Brucie and Goldstream Guard bloodlines are as follows: "Ch. Torohill Trader", "Ch. Blow's Discovery", "Ch. Torohill Smoky", "Ch. Nonquitt Notable", "Ch. Freeland's By Request", etc.

The immediate ancestry of Guard is largely Canadian. His sire, Champion Matlock Durbar, was bred by E. Cargill, still active in dogs in Vancouver. M. Durbar was acquired by W. G. Climo ("Calmas" Kennels), of Calgary, and was exhibited by Mr. Climo at Calgary, the Vancouver Exhibition and the Canadian National Exhibition in 1924, going Winners at all three shows. Matlock Durbar was by Mepals Sahib, which Mr. Cargill, then living at Calgary, imported from the United States. Sahib, in turn, was sired by Durbar, who was bred by the late Fred W. Lewis ("Calmo") of Toronto. Matlock Flossie, the dam of Ch. Matlock Durbar, was bred by R. J. Robson, of Calgary, and was acquired by Mr. Cargill. Flossie later became the property of Mr. Climo.

Guard's dam, "Lady Betty", was bred by F. J. McGauvran, as was also her sire (Am. Ch. Billy Obo Jr.) and her dam (Judy Obo). As a matter of fact Mr. McGauvran, whose "Obo Kennels" were then located at Vancouver, also bred the sire and dam of Judy Obo (Redwin-Dusty Obo). Ch. Billy Obo Jr. was sired by Ch. Moore's Cavalier, bred by Mrs. H. R. Moore, of Calgary. "Cavalier" was by Billy Obo out of Ch. Moore's Rosaline, a granddaughter of Ch. Clark's Dare (son of Billy Obo).

Canis Femininus

By L. K. SCHMIDT

(Reprinted from Popular Dogs Magazine, January, 1950)

THE female of the specie may be the "most deadly" in some respects, as is the common expression, but the propagation of life through the female, is the key to perfection of the specie, regardless of the fact that males approaching perfection are much sought after by breeders of animals in general.

This may sound strange on the face of it, but it is in the female that the young are conceived, nurtured and given life itself. Could it not be possible then that the selection of the female would be the key to the most important part of animal husbandry?

Top quality males of course are very important, and it is through the general type and styling of these males, that any specie is judged for the most part. However, let's deflate the ego of a very good male specimen a little bit, by making some comparisons, in numbers.

There are quite a few females in the country today who have produced 3 to 6 champions, maybe in their lifetime, or maybe in successive litters, a few, more than that. For the most part these females have had two litters a year, many of them only one litter each year, and in each litter of 5 puppies, with one champion in it, she is producing at the percentage rate of 20. A great many of the top males sire up to 100 to 150 litters a year, 5 in a litter on an average, would be 500 to 750 puppies. If the male produces 5 champions, he has a percentage of 1, compared to the female with her 20 percent of production of champions. If there is a male that has produced 50 champions, which would be considered the very top in production, he still would be only producing at the percentage rate of 10, and still only half as much as the good female. There have been males that have produced over 50 champions, BUT, in doing so they have sired, not 500 puppies, but 1500 to 2500 puppies, and you can see where that puts his percentage of production again.

We know, of course, that in siring puppies from some 300 or more females, in the life of a top quality male, he has been bred to females of all types, styles colors and conformations, good, bad and indifferent. A great many of his puppies, will eventually, be the means to the end result of champions, although they themselves are not champions, nor of championship quality, and it is through these offspring and their later offspring, that a champion top quality male's value is eventually realized.

That leads up again, then, to the female and her value to the breed. She may be only a fair to good specimen, as far as show quality goes, BUT, if she is carrying the proper genetic factors to produce the desirable characteristics in relative proportions to the standard of perfection of the breed, she will, without question, produce the good ones, when bred to a comparatively equal quality male, and in many cases, better quality than the male she was bred to. Were this not possible in breeding, there would be no improvement in any given breed. Then it would only be possible to produce champions of top quality, by mating a champion to a champion and if the records are checked we find champions from such matings are in the minority, and in many cases of such matings, we are forced to start from the beginning once more.

When selection is made of the female, the first thought is to secure a good one. Females with every fault of the breed, or some one serious fault, are of course, not desirable, regardless of their breeding. But it is also not necessary to have a champion female, probably desireable under certain circumstances, but not absolutely necessary. The most important factor in the selection is, that she comes from a line that is known to produce top quality consistently, that is accepted by the fancy as approaching perfection according to the Standard of the breed, and, that the female carry, visually, the characteristics that are most potent in the line, that have made the line a very good one, and so desirable.

Line breeding of course, is one of the most important factors in breeding dogs. It is the means by which a good line of specimens may be intensified in their potency for the good qualities that made the line very worth while. However, it is not the "last word" in breeding, nor is it the "easy" way to breed champions. While it is definite in showing results over a period of time and many matings, it can also be used in doing great harm to a breed, providing there are serious faults in the line which is being used, these faults usually being far in the background, and unknown to the breeder, which creep closer and closer to the present offspring, according to the intensity of the line breeding practised.

Line breeding is practised today on a large scale, and has resulted in wonderful specimens of the breeds, but it has also shown many weaknesses in certain family lines, that, had it not been practised in that line, could have resulted in quality specimens through outcrossing, into a line, by coordinating like characteristics. Just line breeding alone does not insure success, but it is assumed, and rightly so, that where a line or family of a breed has a record of quality production from generation to generation there must be a potency for certain characteristics that are most desirable in the breed, and, by line breeding in this family, selecting of course specimens that carry these desirable characteristics, the potency will be intensified.

It has often been stated, that in breeding, it is better to use a poor specimen from a good line, than a good specimen, from a poor line. Long years of experience in breeding will verify this statement to be true, for after many years of existence of a given breed, the records will show that there were the so called pillars of the breed in the background, forming the nucleus of the good family lines of the breed, from which today, the top quality specimens are still coming, generation after generation.

We, today, who can see these records that have been compiled year after year, have a greater chance to produce good ones and improve the breed, than did the breeders of years ago, who had to use poor specimens, coordinating one at a time, the desirable characteristics until that characteric would breed true, then moving on to another, etc., etc., until they had laid the foundation in some one specimen, than by test in the mating pen, proved his or her value to the breed. Little thought or credit is given today to those old breeders who had infinite patience, and were farsighted enough to recognize those specimens, that today are recognized as the pillars of the breed or the very foundation of the modern styling of our dogs.

It is true, that if today, you look back even so short a time as 30 years ago, in many of the breeds, the modern specimen of today is a great deal different. The same breed pictures of those dogs 30 years ago, will in some of the breeds, be barely recognized. If the records are carefully checked, one will find that as many females as males were responsible for these great improvements resulting in the modern dog of today. Male foundation specimens of course, are more often found in the pedigrees of the breed, the female being only the means to the end result, but let us not lose sight of the fact that the truly great producing males had to have a dam, and in that dam was conceived the specimen that proved himself over the years. Are there any of us who would be willing to believe that any of these great producing males, would have been, had he had another dam than the one he had?

That is food for thought. Where did she come from? How was she bred? What did she look like? How near like her son, was she? How near like the sire was the son? And last, but not the least, how near alike were the characteristics of the sire and dam of this great foundation male? The next time you wish to make a mating, ask yourself these questions about the female you wish to use, the male you have chosen for her mating, and the family lines in back of the two specimens.

First of all, when you are planning a mating, you have the female you wish to breed. Analyze her carefully and above all, don't fool yourself about her quality. Chances are she is not perfect, possibly she has what we term a weak rear quarter. Assuming she is herself line bred through a fairly good family line, which line has a record of producing rather weak rear quarters, but, other qualities up to par. It would then be wrong to breed her to another specimen, male, from her own family line. Her proper mating would be to a good specimen male, who is known to come from a line or family that has a record of producing very strong rear quarters, and, if possible, a male who himself is line bred in his particular family line, which will increase his potency for this very strong rear quarter. However, in using this male, don't lose sight of the fact that he must also be uniformly "like" in other characteristics with the female, as you are making a rank outcross. An illustration here will help. Supposing the male you choose has a rather long foreface, but even so, a very well balanced and beautiful head. He is known to come from a family line that produces uniformly rather long forefaces. Your female has a very beautiful head structure, but, is rather short in the foreface and comes from a line that has a record of producing these short forefaces. Then disaster will be in the offing, the litter will invariably be one of undershot puppies for the most part, and those of the litter, that are not undershot, will carry the factor for it, by reason of carrying both the long foreface and short foreface factor in themselves, to produce it in later matings whenever they are mated to a like specimen carrying the same factors.

The blending of the characteristics on both sides of a mating is a study in itself, that demands a lot of thought. It is recognized by all authorities on dogs, and has resulted in the owner of the female being acclaimed as the "breeder" of the litter in all cases. Therefore, you as a breeder are responsible for the results of the mating of your female and it is up to you. Study all of the angles as closely as you can, and eliminate as much guesswork as possible. There is a saying that Like begets Like, but the laws of heredity belie this saying in a great many instances. Were it true, it would be relatively simple to breed wonderful specimens very easily. One instance for illustration. Were you to breed a male, out of your litter, above mentioned where there were some undershot puppies in it, but you used a male that was not undershot, to a female that also was not undershot, from a very similar mating, even if it was a half brother half sister line bred mating, you would get undershot puppies. Therefore Like did not beget Like as far as you can see it with the eye, but Like did beget Like in the mating, because similarity was in the background of the two specimens used.

Undershotness in a breed that is not supposed to be undershot is invariably due to the mating of long muzzle factor to short muzzle factor, and if one realizes that the upper part of the jaw is integral with the skull formation and the lower jaw is hinged, it can readily be seen just why this happens. A pig jaw in a dog is from the same result, and all depends on the potency of the length of jaw, either short muzzle or long muzzle, whichever is the case in the mating. The short muzzle of the cocker spaniel is a dominant characteristic, while the long narrow muzzle is a recessive. When we breed a short muzzle to a long muzzle, the dominance of the short muzzle will control the length of the skull and upper jaw structure, therefore the long lower jaw will show an undershot specimen. Corrective matings are possible, but it is better to avoid them in the first place.

Your female is a wonderful institution in herself. Through her, it is possible for you to improve the breed in many ways. Possibly not in producing champions directly out of her, but if her matings are made correctly, and your selections are made in order, her future generations can easily be great ones, if you will but remember that she is the key to the life that carries on. We build a house and start with the foundation. If when it is done, the foundation is weak and crumbles, or even the walls in the middle collapse, we must start all over once more to build. So it is with your female, a good one or a fair specimen, if you build strongly and carefully, your "structure" will stand for posterity to use. She will not be able to give you too many puppies in her short lifetime, but be sure she has the chance to give you the best that is in her.

In most all breeds there are excellent males that will fit your particular female, in one way or another to the end result. If you try to use them all, she will not live long enough for that and you have wasted her life. She is your key to success as a breeder so make the best of it.

On Matters Canine

By DR. A. KASSIRER

This third of a series of articles on canine ills has been kindly provided by Dr. A. Kassirer, Carling Veterinary Clinic, 1569 Carling Avenue, Ottawa, Ontario.

Dr. Kassirer was graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College in 1942, and took a year at Toronto in Agricultural Economics. On discharge from the Service, he took up Veterinary Medicine, his interneship having been spent in Buffalo at a small animal hospital. His practice at Ottawa was set-up in 1949.

Dr. Kassirer offered a scholarship, which has been accepted, to a psychologist to work with a psychiatrist and himself on a thesis entitled: "A Study of the Relationship of Pets to Man".—Ed.

THE material presented here is intended to help the novice and small kennel owner whose hobby is to promote and advance the public interest in pure bred dogs.

Far too often we tend to forget or overlook things that are too small, and insignificant, because they are so obvious—little things that pertain to the general care and health of the animal.

Let's look at the head first. In what condition are the eyes? If they are slightly inflamed use some murine or two percent boric acid solution. If the nose is dry and cracked, lubricate with vaseline, and have the dog checked by your veterinarian. Check the teeth for tartar. Stale bread, and hard biscuits help keep tartar to a minimum. Teeth heavily encrusted will loosen and eventually fall out. Early cleaning will prevent this. Wax and dirt accumulation, and parasites in the ear are the chief causes for the dog shaking his head and scratching at the ears with his feet. Swab the ears out with cotton periodically. But if in doubt about their condition don't tamper with them. Let the veterinarian use his otoscope and prescribe treatment.

Daily vigorous brushing keeps the dog's skin and coat in a healthy condition. Always groom the dog before bathing. Dogs should be bathed only if caked with dirt, dandruff or if body odour is present. Some people prefer using the various powders on the market and giving the dogs a dry bath. Too frequent washing removes the natural oils from the skin and coat giving the dog a dull dry coat. The skin becomes itchy and usually initiates a condition of dry eczema. I prefer a shampoo to soap. The reason — it's easier to wash and rinse the hair. If the coat is very dry, use a coconut oil shampoo and then rub baby oil lightly into the skin. After the dog is completely dry (and this takes in the undercoat too) wipe the inside of the ears perfectly dry. Lastly, trim the dog's toe-nails (pedicure) and don't miss the dew-claws. There is a tendency for breeders to remove all the dew-claws at birth — an excellent idea. If the nails are left too long it creates discomfort and lameness.

External Parasites

Fleas, lice and ticks are carriers of disease and when present on the dog make his life miserable. Fleas come any time and stay till both the kennel and dogs are treated simultaneously. Many people use the DDT bomb sprays. It is important to see that all cracks and crevices are sprayed to take care of the eggs and fleas that might be present there. It takes a week for a flea egg to develop. By the tenth day the grub has become a nymph and by the end of two-three weeks a fully developed flea has been born. It is for this reason that you must treat every two weeks for at least three times. Although powdered parasiticides such as "Pulvex" are excellent, I prefer bathing with an insecticide. In this way I know the dog is evenly and completely taken care of. A two percent solution of creolin in warm water is one agent commonly used. Be careful when working about the face and eyes, and always start with the head and work back. This is followed by a bath.

Lice are easier to control than fleas chiefly because they attach their eggs to the hair (particularly about the ear) instead of depositing them in cracks and crevices of floors. The life cycle of lice is spent entirely on the host. The insects remain alive as many as five days off the host. The eggs hatch in five to twelve days; it is the nits that are difficult to kill and thus repeated baths or powdering is a MUST. Again two percent creolin can be used.

Ticks are removed by bathing a dog every five days in a gallon solution containing four ounces of derris powder having a rotenone content of four percent. If you suspect mange have your veterinarian take a scraping of the suspected area for examination under the microscope for positive identification.

Internal Parasites

There are plenty of worm capsules on the market to get rid of worms. Many dogs indiscriminately wormed with these have been inadvertently disposed of along with the parasites. It is important to know with what kind of worms your dogs are infested and a microscopic examination of stool from suspected cases is recommended. Nor does it mean, because most puppies have worms, that every owner should go out and buy a package of worm medicine. It is surprising the number of people who worm puppies just because they are rubbing their rectums on the ground. Round worms and tape worms are the two most common offenders. Occasionally seen are whipworm, hookworm and coccidia. Contrary to many peoples' beliefs, pin worms are not transmitted by dogs; often a carrier in the family is the culprit although he or she may not be suspected.

Distemper kills more puppies than all other ailments combined. It is far easier to prevent distemper than to cure it. To-day the veterinarian inoculates the dogs with three inoculations, two to three weeks apart, when the dog is between three to four months old. Or else he can use the single injection of modified canine distemper virus. Both methods are equally good. Those of you who do not believe in inoculating your dogs for distemper, be sure that dogs taken to the shows are at least protected with canine distemper serum. On your return from a show keep the animals in an isolated ward for at least two weeks before returning them to their regular place in the kennel. Some breeders do not sell their dogs until they are inoculated (at three months). Dogs inoculated earlier than three months should be given a booster dose around the seventh month. In areas where canine hepatitis is present, the use of serum or the single vaccine injection would be advisable.

When your dog seems ill, take his temperature rectally. One degree higher or lower than 101.5° F. is a warning signal, and is of value to your doctor. Know also, whether the dog is eating, is constipated and/or has difficulty urinating. It saves time.

If you are a breeder, interested in selling pups as pets, be sure that your dogs have a good disposition. Some breeders are concerned only with how a dog will succeed in the "show ring". Some, caring only about the monetary angle, produce high strung nervous dogs. Fortunately, there are others who are interested in raising dogs with character, of which disposition is a very important quality. Nothing is finer than to have a family come back a dozen years later to buy another pup because they like the kind of dog you raise.

If you are moving to a new location and don't know what veterinarian to visit, consult the local Humane Society. They should be able to give you several names of practitioners in your area. If you feel that your dog is not getting any better and wish to seek further advice—tell your doctor. Any sincere practitioner will welcome consultation. Some breeders have a tendency to nurse along a sick dog for days, then, realizing the dog isn't getting better, will call the doctor (usually late at night) to see his "very sick animal". Can you blame the veterinarian for seeing him the next day? Do not expect that your doctor will be on hand seven days a week twenty-four hours at a stretch. He too, needs time off in order to give you the best that he knows how.

You, as a breeder, are providing a commodity essential to human happiness. A pet provides companionship and security to the youngster, to the newlyweds, to grandparents and to big brother and sister in some distant city living in a bachelor apartment. Again he provides vital comfort and security to the blind, deaf and maimed. So that the work of the breeder and veterinarian is not purely physical, but is far more reaching than meets the eye. Both are unwittingly contributing to the mental health of the nation.

The Canadian National Live Stock Records

IN THIS fourth and last of the present series of articles on the Canadian National Live Stock Records, we shall deal with some of the common errors that occur in applications submitted to the Records Office, and give some helpful hints with a view to eliminating, as far as possible, many of the errors and omissions which delay the issuance of certificates and cause much annoyance to breeders.

Litter Applications

In completing applications, it is important that the breed name be properly shown on the application. For example, the Cocker Spaniel is either a "Spaniel (American Cocker)" or a "Spaniel (English Cocker)", and it is not sufficient to simply state "Cocker" or "Cocker Spaniel". This type of error does not necessarily call for an application to be returned, but it does take the time of the Registrar in making any necessary changes so that the breed name is properly shown on the certificate when it is typed.

The breeder of a litter is the person who owned (or was lessee of) the dam of the litter at the time of the mating that resulted in the litter. The name of that person should be shown on the line marked "Bred by". The person who bred a litter is not necessarily the person who owned the litter when it was born, for although the breeder may own the dam of a litter at the time of the mating which produced the litter, he may sell the female before her litter is born. We have seen applications where the name of the owner of the stud dog was inserted on a line marked "Bred by" even though the owner of the stud dog was in no way concerned with the ownership of the dam of the litter. As a matter of fact, the Editor has seen applications where the name of the sire of the litter itself was inserted on that line.

The line marked "Whelped the property of" should show the person who owned or was lessee of the dam of the litter at the time the litter was born. Let us suppose that John Jones owned (or was lessee of) "Trixie" when she was bred to "Rover" on say June 1st, and on June 15th sold "Trixie" to John Doe. On the application, the name and address of John Jones should show on the line "Bred by" and the name and address of John Doe would appear in the section "Whelped the property of". In the section of the application calling for the signature of the breeder, John Jones would sign as owner (or lessee of Trixie) at the time of the mating that produced the litter, and John Doe would sign the section calling for the signature of the owner (of litter) at birth.

Care should be exercised to see that the date of mating which produced the litter is carefully set-out in the application and allows for reasonable gestation period (normally 63 days). When proper private breeding records are kept, there should be no problem in furnishing correct dates on applications.

Registration of Individual Dogs

In completing applications for registration of individual dogs, the comments which appear above, regarding litter applications, insofar as it concerns name of breed, name of breeder, name of owner or lessee of dog at birth, apply also in connection with completion of an application for registration of an individual dog.

In completing the section of the application calling for the sex of the dog, place an "X" in the square which denotes the sex of the dog. This might seem elementary and hardly calling for comment, but applications have been submitted where the applicant has placed an "X" in the square of the opposite sex of the dog, intending that such a marking shall indicate that the sex of the dog is opposite to that in which the "X' was placed.

In giving the name of the dog, be certain that the entire name, including spaces between words, forming the name, do not exceed 30-letter spaces. Do not use the names of members of the Royal family or of prominent national leaders. Where an imported dog is being registered, the name shown on the application must be identical in every respect to the name shown on the registration certificate of the country from which the dog is imported.

In stating the colour or colours, the briefest possible description only is required. All colours appearing on the dog must be listed; the predominating colour should be stated first. The date of birth must correspond with the date of birth on record for the litter.

If the dog is tattoo-marked, the identification letters (usually three) allotted to the person registering the dog should be stated on the line calling for the "identification letters". The tattoo number is the serial number used to differentiate between dogs born the property of the same person in the same year. The two lines "Location" are furnished, for it is permissible for the identification letters to be placed, say, in the right ear, and the tattoo number and year letter in the left ear, particularly in small dogs where no suitable location exists for grouping all the tattoo symbols in the one location.

If the dog is imported, the name of the importer must be stated, and that will be the person residing in Canada whose name appears as owner on the certificate of registration issued by the Kennel Club in the country from which the dog was imported. Do not indicate as importer, the name of the agent, or shipping firm, who looked after the details of the dog's transportation to this country.

If the dog has been sold, then the transfer of ownership section should be completed. Do not forget to include the initials of the new owner (a common omission on applications, necessitating their return). Give the complete date of transfer of ownership. It is not sufficient to state, for example, "September 1951". Only if the dog that is being registered and transferred is a female that has been bred prior to her sale, should the section dealing with that mating be completed.

In giving the name of the sire and dam, such names must be identical to those appearing on their certificates of registration. Be careful that the proper registration numbers are given.

If the dog has been sold, then two signatures are required on the application. If the dog is an imported dog, then only the signature of the importer is required. If the dog is one owned in the United States and registered with the American Kennel Club, then the signature of the person showing as owner on the A.K.C. certificate accompanying the application only need appear on the application.

It should be noted that all Kennel names registered with the C.K.C. after May 5th, 1951 may be used as a prefix only. This does not apply to Kennel names registered with the C.K.C. prior to May 5th, 1951.

Where the applicant does not have a typewriter, it is suggested that all information (except signatures and numerals) be in the form of block letters.

Signatures

Signatures must appear in ink and must not be printed. Consistency as to form and content of signature is important. For example, do not sign on one occasion as John C. Doe and on another occasion as J. C. Doe. Wherever possible, the signatures should be identical to the way the ownership is shown in the Club's records. If, for example, Mrs. John C. Doe has signed an application as "Mrs. Ethel Doe", then she should continue to sign applications as Mrs. Ethel Doe. Inconsistency in signing applications means additional work for the Records Office in that they check as far as possible to see that each signature is genuine and consistency in signing applications in the same way is of considerable help to them.

In the case of partnerships, clubs or companies, the person authorized to sign must do so. For example, if in the case of a partnership for Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, it is recorded at Ottawa that John Doe will sign for the partnership, then the application should be signed "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe per John Doe". In the case of companies, the name of the company should be stated per the signature of the authorized signing Officer. In the case of an estate, the application should be signed "Estate of——" per the signature of the person authorized to sign for the estate, and below his signature there must be an indication of his authority to sign for the estate (Executor, Administrator, etc.).

If a partnership is dissolved, then both parties should sign the application for transfer of ownership. In the case of a minor, the minor's guardian signs and states if he is a parent or legal guardian, for example, "John Doe (minor), per John Doe Sr. (father)."

Transfers of Ownership

In transferring a dog already registered in the records of the Canadian Kennel Club, the certificate of registration must accompany the transfer.

Fees

Insufficient fees is a common cause of delay in the issuance of certificates. One common error on the part of many applicants is the assumption that a transfer fee need not be remitted when a transfer is being effected at the same time as a registration. Although a transfer may be indicated on an application for registration, there is a separate charge, and fees must be remitted in accordance with the schedule appearing on the back of the application. In this connection, another common error occurs when a dog is purchased by a member of the C.K.C. from a non-member, many persons being under the impression that the transfer fee will be members' rates. Such is not the case—it is the seller's status as a member or non-member that determines whether the fee will be at members' or non-members' rates.

Before determining the fee payable in connection with registration of a litter or of individual dogs, carefully determine the age of the litter, or individual dog, before calculating the fee payable according to the schedule on the back of the application. It should be noted that the fee payable is determined by the date on which the application reaches the Live Stock Records office and not on the date on which the application is completed, which in some instances may be months before the application is actually submitted to the Records Office.

Identification

It should be noted that regardless of whether a dog is tattoo-marked or nose-printed, the identification procedures must be carried out before the application is submitted to the Records Office. That, of course, will be obvious to those nose-printing a dog, because the nose-prints of a dog must accompany the application.

Conclusions

There is a high percentage of returned applications because of errors or omissions in the applications or because of insufficient fees. This not only delays the final handling of those applications, but it delays also the handling of applications which are properly completed in the first instance. In other words, everyone suffers.

Where an application is returned for any reason and is later resubmitted to the Records Office, it does not receive any priority attention nor is it placed ahead of applications reaching the Records Office for the first time.

A Century of Spaniel Breeding

ANY student of Cocker Spaniel breeding, sufficiently interested in doing so, can trace the breeding, at least in part, of any present-day Cocker Spaniel back to a point close to 100 years ago.

Let us take our frontispiece for this issue, Ch. Honey Creek Heirloom, as an example.

Heirloom was by Ch. Honey Creek Harmonizer. Harmonizer was by Ch. Bobb's Show Master, he by Ch. Bobb's Master Showman, he by Ch. Easdale's Winsome Laddie.

Laddie was out of the female Scioto Pierette, she by Ch. Scioto Sand Storm, a son of Ch. Sand Spring Surmise.

Surmise was a son of Robinhurst Foreglow who was a son of Ch. Blackstone Chief, he a son of Ch. Blackstone Dynamite.

Dynamite was by Ch. Denniston's Nugget who was a son of Mepals Olaf, he a son of Danny Deever.

Danny Deever was by Midkiff Kiltie who was a son of Saybrook Louis, he a son of Tasso.

Tasso was by Ch. Cherry Boy who was a son of Ch. Ebony, he a son of Ch. Obo II.

Ch. Obo II was by the immortal Ch. Obo who was a son of Fred, he a son of Bebb (born 1866).

Bebb was by Old Bebb, who was by Jones' Bob (born 1860), he by Burdett's Bob (born 1856). Bob was by Frank out of Venus.

For her other grand-sire, Scioto Pierette had the immortal Red Brucie, who was a son of Robinhurst Foreglow, so the same line follows back from Foreglow. It will be noted that Heirloom is 26 generations removed from Frank and Venus.

Space precludes our tracing here the full ancestry of the other dogs appearing in Heirloom's immediate pedigree, however, the foregoing will be of interest to those wishing to know at least part of the connection of Heirloom with dogs mentioned elsewhere in this issue.

Novice Obedience Training

By

Mrs. Mary Southcott

THE trainer must be patient, should not become exasperated or grow lax, and above all must not lose his temper or give any demonstration of violence. He should try to understand the character and temperament of his dog and train accordingly. There should be a happy relationship between trainer and dog. A puppy's routine habits should be formed as soon as he is able to walk, and he should learn to distinguish the different tones of voice and understand the meaning of certain words. Puppies from 3 to 4 months of age should be taught house manners and be given leash work with a few simple exercises such as "sit", "down", "heel", and "come", but intensive Obedience Training should not begin much under a year. Never use a harness on a puppy. When leash-breaking use an ordinary leather collar and a long leash and coax him along. Never fight with him or pull him around as this will only terrify him. When he becomes used to the collar, switch to a chain slip collar. The correct way to put this type of collar on a dog is to place it on the dog's neck so that when he is sitting on your left side the leash is fastened to the end of the chain which passes OVER and not under the dog's neck. The leash should be about 6 feet long, made of pliable flat leather. Always work the dog on your left side, holding the leash in your right hand. Regulate the slack in the leash, make the necessary corrections, and pat your dog with your left hand. Play with your dog for awhile before and after working him, but never during the training period. Do not try to teach him too much at once, but concentrate on one exercise at a time until he understands it. Never allow your dog to work off leash until he has learned the exercise thoroughly on leash. Ten or fifteen minutes of concentrated work morning and night, or half an hour once a day is sufficient time to train. But take advantage of every opportunity to teach him commands while out walking or in the house and always praise him when he obeys. Always give clear, sharp commands, using the same words every time, and when working the dog walk and move briskly. Hand signals should accompany the voice commands so that the dog will learn to work by either. Do not be impatient if the dog is slow to learn. Slow, steady improvement over a long period will give the best results. Be firm and insist on your command being obeyed, even though not perfectly. Do not handle the dog too much. Jerk sharply on the collar for corrections. Kindness will accomplish far more than harshness and cruelty. Be considerate — do not feed your dog just before working him and do not train during the heat of the day in summer. Use the dog's name frequently when giving commands in order to keep his attention. In C.D. (Companion Dog) obedience training, the following commands are :used "Heel", "Sit", "Down", "Come", "Stay", "Stand", and the compulsory exercises are are follows:

1. Heeling on Leash. Dog walks on your left side with his shoulder opposite your knee. When you stop he must sit down promptly without command, squarely and close beside your knee but not leaning against it, and remain thus until you resume walking, at which time you give the command "heel". The leash should be slack and at no time should the dog pull on it. In teaching, coax the dog along beside you, giving sharp jerks on the leash when he lags or runs ahead, praising him when he remains in the proper position, and repeating the word "heel" very often. When you stop, lift the leash up in the right hand, keep your body erect, remain facing in the direction in which you are going, bend the right knee and take a short step backward with your left foot while at the same time push down on his hindquarters with your left hand saying "sit". Stop this when he begins to understand what is required and instead give the leash a short snap backward with the left hand as the command is given. Eventually he will learn to sit quickly when you stop, without the command or signal. On the right turn, pivot sharply, and tighten the lead up short, giving a quick jerk on it to keep the dog's attention on what you are doing. On the right-about turn (or "about turn") the dog makes a U-turn around you as you pivot. If the dog has a habit of stopping too far in front of you, put your left leg straight out to the side in front of him as you stop. Vary your speeds, going very slowly, then walking at a normal brisk pace, and then a slow run.

2. Figure Eight. This is done on leash, the dog "heeling" as in the first exercise, but making a figure 8 beside you around two people who are spaced about eight feet apart. Keep as close as possible to the people when going around them. The dog should not shy away from them or hesitate to sniff. To teach this, two posts may be set up, or trees will serve the purpose. Should the dog start to go on the wrong side of the post or tree, pull leash tight and hold until he corrects himself. When he does so, praise him. When coming to a halt during this exercise practise stopping near the posts, trees or people, so that the dog must sit close to them without paying any attention to them.

3. Heeling Free. This is similar to the first exercise, but performed with the dog working off the leash. Be sure he has learned to heel well while on the leash before attempting this exercise without the leash. When teaching, snap the lead back on immediately should he lag, stray or run ahead. Do it each time this happens until he learns to "heel" properly while free.

4. Sit, Stay, (Long Sit). The dog is required to sit squarely and stay quietly in that position off leash for one minute, while you leave him and go away some distance, turning to face him for the required period of time. When you return to him the dog should not move until the judge says, "exercise finished". To teach this, begin on leash. Bring the dog to sitting position "at heel". Keep the leash in your right hand, place left hand on the dog's muzzle, command him to "sit-stay" then step in front of him. If he starts to get up, tighten lead and push him down again, repeating "sit". As soon as he begins to stay, walk backwards to end of leash. Walk slowly back and forth in front of him in a semicircle, repeating the command often. If he starts inching toward you flick the leash sharply under his chin. When he finally gets the idea, begin returning to him by walking slowly to the right around in back of him to heel position while holding his muzzle turned slightly to the left with your left hand to prevent his turning around and following you. Repeat this several times before praising him. When you feel confident that he understands this exercise, begin dropping the leash on the ground and step in front of him. If he breaks, step quickly on leash and repeat. Then begin taking lead off, but increase the distance you walk away from him very gradually. Do not correct your dog from a distance. Always return to him and make him start over and do the exercise properly.

5. Down, Stay, (Long Down). Similar to the "Sit, Stay", but the dog is required to lie down quietly for three minutes while the handler is away at a distance from him. To teach the dog to "down", start with him in a sitting position in front of you and facing you, leash in your left hand. Raise right hand in striking motion, step on leash close to the dog's neck with the right foot to force him down while giving the command at the same time. Hold him in this position for a few minutes by standing on the lead, even though he fights, until he stops yelping or struggling and is quiet. Slacken the lead at once and stroke him gently. Repeat this until he drops instantly on command, accompanied by the hand signal. Then begin the complete exercise: Start with the dog in sitting position at heel. Give the "down" signal and command simultaneously. When dog drops, tell him to "stay", giving his muzzle a gentle shove with the palm of your left hand, and walk away from him. When you return, walk to the right of the dog and around behind him, coming to position beside his right shoulder. Do not allow him to get up until you give the command to "heel" or "sit". Then he should promptly come to the correct position and remain thus until the judge says "exercise finished".

6. Recall. The dog is left in the "Sit-Stay" position while handler walks away to a distance then turns around to stand facing him. At the judge's signal, call the dog by name followed immediately by the command "come". Dog should walk or trot briskly straight toward you and come to a sitting position squarely in front of you and fairly close where he should remain until given the command to "heel", at which time he takes that position sitting squarely beside you. Begin in the same way you started teaching him to "sit-stay", keeping the leash in your hand while facing him. At the command "come" draw him to you with leash in both hands at your chest. Then tell him to "sit". Use lead to guide him to position squarely in front of you, not your hands. Tell him to "stay". To bring him to "heel", give the command, move back two or three steps and at the same time slide your left hand down the leash and motion toward your left side, The dog will get up to follow you as you step backward. Then move forward two or three steps and he will swing around into position. Halt, and the dog should sit instantly. Keep repeating this exercise until you do not need to move and the dog comes to heel at command only. If the dog goes to run away from you when you begin doing the "recall" off leash, try tying a long, light line to his collar and walk out to the end of it. If he strays off to the side when coming to you, or is very slow, encourage him by voice and draw him gently by the line to sit squarely in front of you.

7. Stand for Examination. This exercise is a test for temperament. The dog remains in a standing position on command, while the handler walks around in front and turns to face him while holding the leash. The judge then touches the dog's head, body and hind quarters, then gives the order "return to your dog". The handler walks around to the right and behind the dog to return and stand at the dog's right shoulder. The dog must remain standing still until the judge says "finish" at which time handler and dog take a few steps forward then halt, dog sitting prompty at heel. To teach him to "stand-stay", walk along with dog heeling, then, using the palm of your left hand, gently push against the dog's muzzle and command him to "stand". If he goes to sit down, slip your left foot under his stomach as you halt to keep him standing or slide your left hand down his right side and hold it just in front of his back leg; or take a step forward each time the dog starts to sit, repeating the command "stand" over and over again. In the Obedience Trials, one command OR signal only is allowed for each part of an exercise except in the heeling on and off leash, when the command "heel" may be given once after each halt. No command may be given for the halt — the dog must sit promptly of his own accord when you stop. Always be precise, work briskly and do not confuse the dog with unnecessary motions and words. Do not over-work the dog and praise him when he does an exercise properly.

Springtime is Puppy Time

THERE are few factors of the home-life of the average Canadian family more certain than that sooner or later they will debate the advisability of buying a dog. For a wide variety of reasons too numerous to mention here, every normal family, at some time or other, feels that irresistible urge that can only be satisfied by a wiggly little ball of puppy clumsily cavorting on the parlor carpet. Then the whole family assembles in conclave and, nine times out of ten, they decide to go puppy shopping.

The business of buying a dog is simple enough on the face of it. All you have to do, apparently, is take fifty dollars to a reputable breeder, pick out the puppy that is bold enough to run up and play with the cuff of your trousers and take him home. But, alas, all is not so simple. After all, when you buy a dog you are actually buying friendship, loyalty, protection and companionship. And such qualities cannot be bought blindly by the mere passing of coin.

First there is the breed to be decided. The man of the house is probably visualizing a Mastiff or a Great Dane, "none of these little Fifis. When you meet them on the street you don't know whether they are going to bite you or sting you". The "misses", on the other hand, would rather rely on the policeman on the beat for her protection and get something soft and cuddly, "something that won't sweep my vases off the table with its tail".

So Mr. and Mrs. Puppy Prospect try to settle on the breed question. Friends, neighbors and relatives immediately come forward with all kinds of advice and suggestions. Mrs. Jones has heard that long-haired dogs are better because they won't catch cold in winter. Mrs. Smith says to get a short-haired dog "unless you like hairs in your food". A maiden aunt says a Boston Terrier makes a very good watch dog; she's had "three robberies in her house and her Boston has watched every one of them". They should get a puppy that will grow up with them. They should get a mature dog and avoid distemper. They should get a big dog to protect the home. They should get a small dog . . . And finally the garbage man says there's no use spending all that money on a dog because he will get them one for nothing—"his father was a champeen Airedale and his mother was a champeen Hound—so he must be a thoroughbred".

All this advice is good stuff to ignore. The selection of a breed is a serious business to be entered into with both eyes wide open, because all breeds, like all humans, have a definite personality of their own. Unless this personality, or temperament, is suited to that of the dog's owner, then the dog will not be happy nor will his master receive the maximum pleasure from his ownership. The only safe method is to sit down and carefully analyse the type of dog that will best fit into the household. Probably three or four breeds will suit equally well. Then analyse the facilities necessary to the happiness of the remaining breeds and select the one that you feel you can make comfortable with the amount of time you can spare for exercising, grooming, etc., and the room you have for exercise. In fairness to yourself, select the breed that "fits" temperamentally. And in fairness to the dog, select the breed that can be made happy in the environment in which you will ask him to live.

A Dog for a Child

It is a rare dog that is not good with a child; but since the majority of dogs bought today are for children there are a few points to be kept in mind in buying a child's pet. Small dogs with small children are apt to lead a hard life since they are not large enough to resist a youngster's unconscious abuse and cannot be blamed for sometimes snapping to free themselves. Puppies of the smaller breeds are likely to be definitely harmed by a child's mauling and thus their disposition is spoiled. On the other hand Cockers and some of the Terriers have been known to endure near-torture at the hands of children and never make a move of retaliation. Small breeds become passionately fond of their young masters and mistresses and they have a recommendation in that their size is nearer that of the child in proportion and so can be more easily taken up and petted. Further, such breeds can be taken on a lead without the danger that the dog, if untrained, will pull the child about and possibly injure him in a sudden pursuit of a cat or the like. It is also important that small dogs can be about the house continually with the child and so be more readily available for play or comfort.

Larger dogs, like the Great Dane, St. Bernard and Collie, on the other hand, seem to have a natural love for children and, in addition, they have more of the guarding instinct with the physical ability to put it into effect. German Shepherd Dogs have been known to follow children wherever they go to guard them from possible harm. Everyone has heard stories of the protection such breeds afford their young masters. They are less demonstrative than smaller dogs but they are steadier and not so interested in what is going on about them that they are likely to be darting about instead of attending to their business with the child. They can take a great deal of mauling without complaint and when the discomfort becomes too great they are able to pull away without resorting to snapping. There is danger in a large dog as well, however, in that a boisterous puppy of considerable size may be so happy and frolicsome when first introduced to the family that he may frighten the child and knock him around a bit.

The wise puppy buyer will consider both sides of the case and select a breed of size and temperament that best coincides with the size and temperament of his child. If the decision is for a small dog, educate the child to the fact that the puppy is fragile and can feel pain, too. If you decide on a large breed, get a puppy of about three months old so that his size will not frighten the child and train the puppy to curb his natural boisterous instincts.

Don't Buy A Mutt

Regardless of what decision you come to as to breed, there is but one decision common to every wise puppy buyer. Buy a pure-bred! You cannot be sure of anything else. The cute little ball of squirming fluff that you know is not pure-bred can develop in the most amazing way into a lean, lanky mongrel that you will be ashamed to take down the street with you. A body suitable to a Setter may be found supported by Fox Terrier legs and with the flat face of a Pug. If human beings were so proportioned we would pay money to see them in a side show. A pure-bred dog has a beauty of line all its own because it has the most efficient legs, body, head and tail for a certain purpose, just as a streamlined airplane, a modern skyscraper, or a pure Colonial farmhouse possesses the beauty that comes from sheer efficiency. A good dog is a constant delight. A mongrel, a mixture of parts, is a distress to dog-lovers and a shame to its owner.

What Should a Puppy Cost?

If the dog business were run like any other business with a definite relation between production costs, profit and selling price, it would be impossible to get a pure-bred dog for less than around one hundred dollars. But it isn't. Profit, in many cases, is forgotten. If we had space here to detail the costs of raising a dog to the age of three months you would wonder how there could be any profit in the average price for most pure-bred dogs.

Just bear in mind that the breeder has to house, feed and care for adult dogs which he uses for breeding purposes, that he has advertising and veterinary expenses from time to time, that he may have stud fees to pay, and other expenses depending on the scope of his operations as a breeder.

There is no set or average price for a puppy of any breed—price is determined by the quality of the puppy, its potential value as a show or breeding animal, the quality of its bloodlines, its age, sex, and other factors that will fix the breeder's asking price. Of course there are occasions when unusual circumstances make it advisable for the breeder to reduce his prices for quick sale.

A would-be purchaser would be wise to remember that under ordinary conditions the dog will be with the family for several years, and when the purchase price is spread over the normal lifetime of a dog, the cost per year is very small having in mind the pleasure the dog will afford while it is with you.

CORRECTION

In her Irish Setter Club of Canada notes published on pages 17 and 18 of the May issue, Mrs. Drew reported that Mrs. Walters' "BRIAN" had taken Best of Breed at the Ottawa shows, this being based on the first report which Mrs. Drew received. Later, and before the May issue went to press, Mrs. Drew heard that it was Mr. Fred Shaw's female "SHAROC COQUETTE" which had taken Best of Breed at both of the Ottawa shows early in April.

This information was confirmed by the official returns received at the Kennel Club and acting on Mrs. Drew's request, steps were taken to make a correction in Mrs. Drew's notes. For some unaccountable reason, the correction did not appear in the correct paragraph, with the result that the concluding sentences of paragraphs 3 and 4 of her notes on page 18 were in error. We regret that the "correction" did not appear as requested by Mrs. Drew.

OBITUARY

The dog fancy lost two veteran fanciers during the past several weeks when Mrs. M. McConaghy of Toronto and Mr. Arthur Picard of Norwood, Manitoba passed away.

Mrs. McConaghy was an active breeder and exhibitor of Pomeranians for many years, many of her Poms being known by the "Fairbank" prefix. One of Mrs. McConaghy's winning Poms was the male "Ch. Windermere Fairbank Destiny". In a single year Destiny was once Best in Show (Hamilton), first in the Toy Group at five shows, and had two other group placements to his credit. Mrs. McConaghy was Second Vice-President of the Toy Dog Breeders' Association of Canada. Mr. McConaghy is deeply appreciative of the many messages of sympathy he has received.

Mr. Picard was one of the oldest members of the C.K.C. in Western Canada. St. Bernards were his first love, and he had a Best in Show Winner in 1908. Smooth Fox Terriers received his devoted attention for many years. A fine spokesman, quiet spoken, he was highly respected by all those who knew him. Although his sight was failing in his last years, he was always to be seen at Winnipeg Dog Shows, reminiscing with the real old timers of yesteryear.

Our heart-felt sympathy goes out to the families of the late Mrs. McConaghy and Mr. Picard.

CONGRATULATIONS to Col. and Mrs. Sam McGoffin and their genial Kennel Manager, Slim Hall. Their Golden Retriever, ROCKHAVEN RAYNARD FO-GO-TA won the Parksville Trial, winning 1st in the Open Stake, thereby completing his Canadian Field Trial Championship. Raynard, who has four points towards his American Field Trial championship, is Rockhaven's first Field Champion although they have made countless bench champions in U.S. and Canada. Chas. Bunker trained and handled Raynard.

Another Best in Show chalked up for Geo. and Avis Shillingham — this time at Edmonton with Glenwood Chieftain, handled by Vic Williams. This young Scottie was Reserve Best in Show at Edmonton's second show and twice Best Canadian-bred in Show. The same owners' Ch. GLENWOOD HIGHLANDER took the points in males at Richland, Wash., five points to be exact, giving Highlander his two major shows in the U.S.

Miss Jane Campbell of Vancouver is also to be congratulated on her Boxer's Best in Show win at Calgary, Ch. ELMAR'S CAESAR AUGUSTUS handled by Pat Tripp, was also Best Canadian-bred.

A Sheltie owned by Mrs. Olive Smith took the Working Group at Calgary. J. C. O'Connor's Boxer, FLARE OF CASTLEHILL, went Best Canadian-bred Puppy in Show, once at Calgary and twice at Edmonton.

Newcomers to our shows are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Melchers. With them came the Miniature Poodle Eng. Ch. FIREBRAVE PIMPERNEL, 11 times shown, won 6 challenge certificates and 5 reserve certificates as a puppy — 5 times Best in Show. Pimpernel has as his sire one of the most famous sires in England, Ch. FIREBRAVE GAULOIS. Another Melcher Poodle is a female who has a family by Pimpernel.

Talking of Poodles, there is a very smart Poodle House in San Francisco with everything for Poodles including a Beauty Parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Melcher's other love is the German Shepherd, having two that have travelled around the world with them several times. The male is a grandson of that very famous Eng. sire Ch. Geralf of Brittas, and the female is from Piccardy-Coulmony strain. Both have done a lot of winning.

Saskatchewan Notes

by Hector L. Watson, M.D., C.M.

THE past couple of months have served to illustrate very clearly just how important the dog show is to the life and energies of a kennel club. It is certainly no fallacy that the kennel club exists almost solely for the purpose of putting on dog shows. This is, after all, the best known way to promote the breeding and welfare of pure-bred dogs—and that is the purpose of a kennel club.

It seems to me that in Saskatchewan the outbreak of hoof-and-mouth disease and the consequent cancellation of dog shows has depressed the activities of our clubs to a remarkable degree.

During these months of enforced inactivity in the dog show field I think we might concentrate heavily on the other important facet of kennel club welfare — the burning question of finance.

Since kennel clubs are first, last and always designed specially to put on dog shows and thus promote the welfare of purebred dogs and their breeders and owners, they frequently find themselves seriously short of funds. Ask that long-suffering soul, the Show Secretary, just what this shortage means in the way of extra work and headaches during the pre-show period, and also after the show. In addition to the thousand and one items arising in the course of putting on a dog show, there hovers over every club the awful bugbear of finance. Money to pay judges—money to rent show premises—money for benching, for paper, for night watchmen, money, money, money.

And then — just when your Show Secretary thinks everything is at last under control the Premium Committee is quite likely to report "no progress" on solicitations for prizes and that bad news is rapidly followed by advice from the Advertising Committee that simply no one seems to want to advertise in the catalogue.

Perhaps the clubs in the large cities—Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver and Calgary — don't have these problems. I don't know. I know that we in Saskatchewan do. And I know too that unless we find some way to improve our position our members are soon going to feel the business is not worth the effort.

I have felt for some time that we are going to have to find a way to operate dog shows without the necessity of begging prizes and advertising from our already over-solicited citizenry. There is no use blinking the fact—more people are NOT interested in pure bred dogs than are. If you don't agree, look at the membership of C.K.C. out of a total population of over ten million people. That disposes of the folk who will give money or premiums because of their interest in pure-bred dogs. There has to be some end to asking club members and other old stand-bys year after year.

In addition to this aspect, we must appreciate that the value of any advertising placed in a dog show catalogue is more apparent than real in a majority of instances. Merchants know this. They know their 'ad' is going to reach very limited audiences. And the results? A negative answer in nine out of every ten solicitations — and who can blame them.

Have you ever wondered what kind of an entry a club would get if it offered no premiums at all? I think it would get a very small entry from the one-dog and new exhibitor and the usual entry from the kennel owner or breeder and professional handler. This latter group want championships—not premiums. But we must have the one-dog exhibitor. He's the backbone of the game and of the kennel clubs too. He's the man or woman who has the time to give and gives it freely month after month to club projects during the times between shows.

So there's our position. We may not steal, we can't borrow, and like the man in the old saying, to beg we are, or should be ashamed. There remains but one solution.

I think we are going to have to earn our money. Sufficient money to put on our dog shows without begging either prizes or advertising. Our between show activities are going to have to include any and every possible method of making a few pennies and a few dollars. No one in this province ever hopes to do more than "break even" at a dog show. We haven't the gate and we haven't the entry to make profits — other than very small ones if that. That makes it plainly apparent that we must look elsewhere for money-making projects.

What suggestions have your members for raising funds? The phenomenal results achieved by small groups of people in church clubs amazes me. Nothing seems to be too much work for these men and women in order to raise funds for their favourite project. We can do it too if we try. And there's something else about all this—a club working together on any proposal is a live, active organization. Such operations would help keep our clubs energetic and interested between dog shows. Club members will not have to repeat the old cry "we never seem to DO anything in our kennel club" if you are all working together for a good purpose.

With every one pulling together we should be able to finance our own dog shows and deliver up our members from the harrowing experience of begging money and advertising. I think you would soon find more members eager to help out with the dog show. After all — do YOU really enjoy going cadging from your friends or friendly merchants? If you do, then you are the exception and I advise your Club to cherish you like the treasure you are.

With any luck we are going to be able to manage a Fall circuit in Saskatchewan. Will your club be able to finance all by itself or will you be having the constant headache of worrying about where your next penny is coming from?

H. DARGIE, after many years service with Hudson Bay Company, retired from service in January. He plans to devote a good portion of his free time to enjoying his dogs. Another new import added to his "Shamrock Kennels" is Toyia Lord Portious, a nine-month-old male Welsh Terrier from South Wales. This makes it four imports from Wales in the last year and a half, two males and two females.

Mrs. W. Boston has imported a lovely female Peke from the West Coast who, a few weeks after arrival, whelped a litter. Mrs. Boston will keep the puppies, and hopes to join the fast-growing group of exhibitors. Mr. Boston was a fancier of "Bostons" a number of years ago — it's turnabout now, the "Mrs."

MARCH 26th, 1952

2198. A regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club Incorporated was held in the Club's offices, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto, on Wednesday, March 26th, 1952, commencing at 10.00 a.m. The President, J. J. Farmer, presided. Directors present included: George Getty, W. H. MacKendrick, Mrs. Alva McColl and W. J. Monaghan. The Secretary reported that Director S. Back was absent because of illness.

2199 (2130). MINUTES

The Secretary reported that he had been unable to complete the minutes of the annual meeting of the Board and have such copy in the hands of all members in time for them to submit their observations regarding errors and omissions in time for the consideration of the Board at this meeting. The President suggested that the minutes be not adopted nor any attempt made to make corrections until all the members of the Board had had an opportunity of communicating their observations regarding errors and omissions to the Secretary.

Mrs. McColl maintained that the resolution adopted by the Board of Directors (see item 1968) with regard to action on decisions reached at meetings of the Board was still in effect, and that the minutes of a Board meeting should not be published until any necessary corrections had been made by the Board.

Following discussion, it was regularly moved by Mr. Monaghan, seconded by Mr. Getty:

"THAT, we receive the minutes that had been mailed to members of the Board up to this time."

Motion unanimously carried.

It was agreed that minutes of the annual meeting of the Board would not be published until all necessary corrections and omissions had been cleared.

2200 (2151). REPORT OF RECORD BOARD MEETING—MARCH 25th, 1952

The President reported that Mr. Monaghan, Mr. MacKendick, the Secretary and himself, as representatives of the Canadian Kennel Club, had attended the annual meeting of the Canadian National Live Stock Records Board held at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on March 25th. The Committee presented the following report of this Record Board meeting:

"Following the roll call of Club Representatives attending the meeting, the minutes of the 1951 meeting of the Board were presented for adoption.

The minutes of said meeting were adopted.

The Director of the Canadian National Live Stock Records read the financial statements of the Records Office for 1951 as incorporated in the report of the Record Committee. After a brief discussion the financial statements for 1951 were adopted.

The Director read the proposed budget for the year 1952 and after brief discussion the budget was approved.

Mr. Stewart, Chairman of the Record Committee for 1951, read a report of the activities of the Record Committee including a review of the conditions at the Records Office. His report was adopted.

In connection with the appointment of auditors for the Records Office for 1952, the auditors in 1951 were nominated, as also was another firm. Following a standing vote on each of the two firms nominated, the auditors in 1951 were re-appointed for 1952. In connection with the election of the Record Committee for 1952, Mr. J. Earl Ness, Vice-Chairman in 1951, was moved into the office of Chairman. Seven representatives were nominated for election to five offices on the Record Committee, and after balloting the following were declared elected: T. A. Robinson, W. D. Thomson, George Rodanz, T. K. Henderson and Colonel Halle. On the recommendation of the Record Committee for 1951, the following resolution was placed before the meeting.

"THAT, the Record Committee recommend to the Record Board that the Canadian National Live Stock Records be instructed to provide a standard certificate of registration showing two generations of ancestry only, additional ancestry or information requested by breeders to be added to the certificate at the breeder's expense, at a charge to be determined by the Record Committee".

Following discussion, this motion was adopted.

In answer to a question from the floor the Director said that where additional ancestry or information is required such additions would be made at the Records Office.

Following the dinner and preceding the business meeting, a very interesting and informative moving picture on Hoof and Mouth Disease, made available by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, was shown to the assembled representatives."

2201 (2178). AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS

The President reported that the following members of the Board had submitted their views and recommendations with regard to amendments to the By-laws to be submitted to the Minister of Agriculture for Ministerial approval: Mr. Williams, Mr. Monaghan, Mr. Pratt, Mrs. Margeson, Mr. Irving, Mrs. Mack and Mr. MacKendrick. He suggested that in order to expedite business at this meeting, that a Committee composed of Mr. MacKendrick and Mr. Monaghan meet during the luncheon recess, consider the views received and present a report to the Board following the luncheon recess. The President's recommentation was approved.

2202 (2161). APPROVAL OF JUDGES (PROCEDURE).

The President referred to the discussion at the annual meeting of the Board regarding suggested arrangements for examining those submitting applications for approval to judge in accordance with the amendments to the Dog Show Rules approved in the last Referendum Ballot. He reported that members of the Board outside of Ontario were being asked to submit their further thoughts on procedure, and he suggested that a committee of Ontario members of the Board be appointed to submit recommendations in that regard. The President named Directors Mr. Getty (Chairman), Mrs. McColl and Mr. Back, a Committee to study the matter and to submit a report with recommendations for the Board's consideration.

2203 (2188). DOGS IN CANADA

The President reported that since the annual meeting of the Board, the following developments have taken place with regard to the filling of the position of Managing Editor of DOGS IN CANADA:

1. Advertisements had been placed seeking applications for the position of Managing Editor of the Club's magazine.
2. Seventeen applications had been received for the position (President read names of all applicants).
3. In order to expedite consideration of the applications, the President appointed a Committee composed of himself, Director Monaghan and the Secretary, who reviewed the written applications received. The most likely prospects, judging from the nature of the written applications for the position, were selected and interviews were arranged for the evening of March 7th and the morning of March 8th. Eleven interviews were arranged; ten applicants interviewed, one applicant failing to keep his appointment.
4. From those interviews, the Committee had selected what it considered the four most likely prospects for the Board's consideration.
5. Each of these four applicants had been requested to submit in writing, his views with regard to the publication and also proposals with regard to salary and/or commission.

Mr. MacKendrick expressed the view that the Committee's recommendation with regard to the four particular applicants, which the Committee felt worthy of the Board's consideration, should be accepted and that the Board should proceed from that point. Mrs. McColl stated that in view of her recent position in respect to the magazine, she should not be expected to make any specific recommendation with regard to an appointment and suggested that the Committee's recommendation with regard to the four applicants which it had segregated and the proposals received from these four applicants be submitted to the entire Board for consideration and recommendation.

In the discussion which followed, it was agreed that the letters received from the four applicants segregated by the Committee be forwarded to the entire Board, and this meeting should adjourn to reconvene, at the call of the President, on or about April 8th to consider the replies received from members of the Board.

It was regularly moved by Mr. MacKendrick, seconded by Mr. Getty:

"THAT, the Committee's recommendation of the four applicants be accepted, and a summary of the four applications be forwarded to all members of the Board with a request that their specific recommendation be submitted so as to be received by the Secretary on or before April 8th."

Motion unanimously carried.

——The Board recessed for lunch.

2204 (2201). AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS

The Committee appointed by the President reported that only seven members of the Board had submitted their views with regard to the amendments to the By-laws yet to be submitted for Ministerial approval, and reported that on most amendments there was not any unanimity of opinion with regard to a recommendation to the Minister. The Committee raised the question as to whether it would be proper and fair to report the views received until all members of the Board had submitted their opinions and recommendations on each amendment.

Mrs. McColl stated that she was not prepared to express any views with regard to the amendments approved by the members, her feeling being that the Board should be governed by the results of the vote of the membership on the amendments. Mr. Getty expressed the same feeling.

Following discussion, it was regularly moved by Mrs. McColl, seconded by Mr. Getty:

"THAT, the members of the Board not present, who had not submitted opinions with regard to amendments to the By-laws, be requested to submit their views to the Secretary not later than April 5th." Motion carried unanimously.

It was agreed that the Committee appointed by the President would tabulate the opinions of all views received and report to the Board when it reconvenes on or about April 8th.

2207 (2183-2200). STANDARD CERTIFICATES (ARTICLES OF AFFILIATION).

The President referred to a letter (dated February 19, 1952) received by the Secretary from the Director of the Canadian National Live Stock Records in which the Director reported that he had been informed by Mr. Gundersen that the Board of Directors had approved the two-generation standard certificate, and requested a direction with regard to the printing of blank certificates for future use. The President reported that while the Board had conditionally approved the standard certificate, the negotiations authorized by the Board had not taken place, and that he had, therefore, directed the Director of the Canadian National Live Stock Records to continue with the issuance of the three-generation certificates. The President questioned the right of the Club's Registrar to make any report to Mr. Hitchman pending the finalizing of arrangements with regard to standard certificates.

Following discussion, it was regularly moved by Mrs. McColl, seconded by Mr. MacKendrick:

"THAT, a letter be addressed to the Director of the Canadian National Live Stock Records requesting information as to when and where Mr. Gundersen received information regarding the Board's action on the standard certificates, for this matter was not discussed by the Board of Directors until February 7th and the minutes of the meeting of the Board in that connection were not mailed until March 22nd."

Motion unanimously carried.

2208 (2167). STUD BOOKS.

The President reported that apart from the action taken by the Board at its annual meeting with regard to providing funds for the publication of future stud books, consideration may have to be given to publication of back volumes covering registrations for the years 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1951, and consideration was being given to a number of alternative suggestions that had been advanced to him in that connection, and a report would later be made to the Board.

2209 (2142). RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT WITH AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB.

The President reported that while in New York attending the Westminster Kennel Club show he had met with Mr. John Neff, Executive Vice-President of the American Kennel Club, and while detailed discussions on revisions of the existing agreements with the American Kennel Club had not taken place at that time, reference was made to the need for early action in that connection. The President stated that he was of the opinion that negotiations for amending the agreements should not take place until action on amendments to the By-laws and negotiations regarding standardized certificates had been finalized.

The matter was left in abeyance pending a further report from the President.

2210. TUTTLE CRATES (AIR SHIPMENTS).

The Secretary reported that in accordance with the resolution adopted by the members attending the annual meeting with regard to the compulsory use of Tuttle Crates on air shipments by T.C.A., a letter had been addressed to Mr. Hugh Johnston, Director of Cargo Sales of Trans Canada Air Lines.

A letter from Mr. Johnston was read wherein Mr. Johnston stated that he wished to investigate the matter thoroughly before making a detailed reply.

The matter was ordered held in abeyance pending a further report to the Board.

2211. TERM OF OFFICE (BOARD OF DIRECTORS).

The Secretary reported that Mrs. D. T. Weir, Chairman of the Committee appointed in 1951 to study a proposal that the term of office of part or whole of the Board of Directors, be extended by amending the Club's By-laws accordingly, had recommended the addition of the following members to the Committee: W. J. Risewick, W. J. Monaghan and Peter Smith.

The Board endorsed Mrs. Weir's recommendation, and directed the Secretary to request that the report of the Committee be submitted so as to be received on or before July 1st.

2212. COMMITTEE ON BENEFIT SHOW.

The President referred to the resolution adopted at the last annual meeting directing him to appoint a committee "from the City of Toronto to consider the advisability of running a dog show for the benefit of the Canadian Kennel Club", and reported that he had named Mr. Walter Brown as Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Hedley Hull, a member of the Committee, with power to Mr. Brown to add to the Committee as he sees fit.

2213. COMPLAINTS COMMITTEE.

The President named Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Getty and Mrs. McColl as the "Complaints Committee' to review and report on complaints.

2214. OFFICE EQUIPMENT.

The President reported that for sometime past it had been the policy for mimeographing work to be done outside of the Club's office, and the number of copies of minutes, reports, etc., sent to members of the Board required additional typing, conditions that could be overcome by the purchasing of suitable mimeographing equipment. He reported that a "Ditto" machine had been installed on a trial basis, had proven quite satisfactory, and the following members of the Board had endorsed the purchase of this machine: Mr. Monaghan, Mr. Irving, Dr. Watson, Mr. Pratt, Mr. Williams, Mrs. Margeson, Mr. MacKendrick and Mrs. Mack.

It was regularly moved by Mr. MacKendrick, seconded by Mr. Monaghan:

"THAT, the 'Ditto" machine be purchased."

Motion carried.

The Secretary read a letter from Vice-President Williams recommending the sale of dictaphone equipment, purchased in 1948, presently not used. Following discussion the Secretary was authorized to determine the suitability of this equipment for present use in the office, and if found unsuitable, to arrange for its sale.

2215. AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS AND RULES

Mr. Monaghan referred to the suggestions which Director Irving had advanced at the annual meeting regarding the early submission, by members, of proposed amendments to the By-laws and Rules of the Club, in order that all proposed amendments could be published and the membership at large have an opportunity of studying, and discussing, each proposed amendment before being called upon to vote on the amendments included in the next referendum ballot.

He suggested that:

1. Each member of the Board be asked to submit, by June 1st, his or her suggestions for proposed amendments to be included in the referendum ballot so all the suggestions may be submitted to the full Board and the solicitors, and be published in DOGS IN CANADA before being submitted to the membership in the form of a ballot next November;

2. A notice be published in the June and July issues of the official organ asking members to submit their suggestions for proposed amendments before August 1st for the purpose of having them published in DOGS IN CANADA in time to allow other members to study and discuss them, and support or criticize, before they are submitted to the membership in the form of a ballot; space to be made available in the magazine for such letters as are sent in.

Mrs. McColl recommended that a notice be published in the April, May and June issues of the magazine pointing out that only paid-up members as at June 30th may participate in the next election of Officers and Directors and vote on proposed amendments. In respect to the Ontario County Kennel Club's (show May 31st) proposed list of judges, the Board noted that Mrs. Vera Page had been selected to judge All Breeds in Group 1, whereas approval had been previously given to the Guelph Kennel Club's selection of Mrs. Page as judge of all Cocker Spaniels at their championship show to be held on April 19th. A letter from Mr. A. M. Fitzgerald, Vice-President of the Ontario County Kennel Club was read in this connection advising that Mrs. Page had been selected by their Club to judge at their show, and had agreed to judge at their show, in December last. The Board noted that the Ontario County Kennel Club's application for approval of selected judges had not reached the Secretary until after approval had been given to the Guelph Kennel Club's application for approval of selected judges. The Secretary was directed to suggest to the Ontario County Kennel Club that they select another judge of all Cocker Spaniels for their championship show.

The Board noted that the Hamilton Kennel Club had selected Mr. G. M. Parham as judge of All Breeds in Groups 1 and 2 at their championship show to be held on June 21st, while approval had already been given to Mr. Parham to judge All Breeds in Group 2 at the Windsor Kennel Club show to be held on May 11th. The Secretary was directed to request the Hamilton Kennel Club to make another selection of judge for All Breeds in Group 2. The Board noted that Mr. Hans Oberhammer, New York, was selected to judge the breeds in Groups 2, 3 and 6 and Variety Groups 1 and 4, whereas Mr. Oberhammer was not listed, in the list of approved juges isued by the American Kennel Club, as judge of Variety Groups 1 and 4. The Secretary was directed to suggest that the judging of Variety Groups 1 and 4 be assigned to another judge. The Secretary was directed to forward a copy of the Dog Show Rules to Mr. Oberhammer informing him that he had been approved to judge at the Hamilton Kennel Club Show, and the Board anticipated that in fulfilling his assignment, he would be governed by the Dog Show Rules of the Canadian Kennel Club.

The Secretary read a letter from Mr. W. H. Pym dated March 17th, who advised that because of serious illness in his family, he would not be able to keep his judging engagement at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Shows on March 21st and 22nd. The Secretary reported that the Sportsmen's Shows had arranged for another judge to take up Mr. Pym's assignment.

The Secretary sought an instruction with regard to reprinting of the Dog Show Rules including the amendments effective on April 6th. It was agreed that each Club holding a show or trial would be provided with two free copies of the Dog Show or Field Trial Rules, as the case may be, and that additional copies could be obtained upon payment of 15c per copy.

No action was taken.

The Secretary read a letter from the President of the Cornwall Kennel Club enquiring whether or not that Club could, at a sanction show, combine the classes in American Cocker Spaniels instead of dividing the classes in that breed by colors as is required at championship shows. Mrs. McColl suggested that standing resolution regarding minutes (see No. 1968 on page 29) should be amended to permit of a member of the Board notifying the Secretary of errors and omissions up to the commencement of the meeting of the Board at which such minutes are to be presented for adoption. It was agreed that the entire Board be consulted in this connection before any change in this standing resolution is ordered.

Mrs. McColl pointed out that a reasonable interpretation of the resolution on travelling allowances (see No. 2054 on page 29) would be that such allowances were payable for each meeting of the Board and suggested that the resolution be amended to specifically provide that such allowances were payable only in connection with the annual meetings of the Club, and its Board of Directors. It was agreed that Mrs. McColl's recommendation be placed before the entire Board for its consideration.

2236 (2204). AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS

Mr. Monaghan, reporting for the Committee composed of Mr. MacKendrick and himself, had reviewed all the letters received from members of the Board with regard to representations to the Minister in respect to amendments to the By-laws, stated that:

1. The following members of the Board had submitted recommendations on the amendments to be submitted for Ministerial approval: V. W. Williams, C. G. Biggar, J. A. H. Irving, W. W. Pratt, W. H. MacKendrick, W. J. Monaghan, Mrs. P. Mack and Mrs. P. Margeson.
2. The following members of the Board had declined to make any recommendations or suggestions for the consideration of the Minister, believing that the Board should be governed by the results of the vote of the membership on the amendments: S. Back, Dr. H. L. Watson, G. Getty, and Mrs. A. McColl.
3. Contrary to what was apparently anticipated at the annual meeting of the Board, no unanimity of opinion exists on procedure in respect of submitting the amendments to the Minister (i.e. with or without representations), nor was there any unanimity of opinion on all of the individual amendments, and it was therefore extremely unlikely that further correspondence would bring about unanimity of opinion on both points;
4. Officials of the Department would not likely come to any immediate decision with regard to the amendments, preferring the opportunity of studying each amendment and any representations that are made;
5. Early submission of the amendments for Ministerial approval was imperative;
6. In view of the foregoing the Committee doubted the wisdom of a Committee proceeding to Ottawa in connection with the amendments;
7. THEREFORE, the Committee recommended as follows:
   (a) The full file be referred to the Club's solicitors for perusal and consideration of the views expressed by the individual members of the Board who did reply;
   (b) The solicitors be requested to draw up a summary suitable for forwarding to the Minister, thus obviating the necessity of their personal attendance on the Minister;
   (c) The summary be submitted to the entire Board for ratification before being sent to the Minister.

Following consideration of the Committee's report, it was regularly moved by Mr. Monaghan, seconded by Mr. MacKendrick:

"THAT, the report as submitted be adopted."

FOR MOTION: Mr. Back, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan.

AGAINST MOTION: Mr. Getty, Mrs. McColl.

Motion carried.

2237 (2202). APPROVAL OF JUDGES (PROCEDURE)

Mr. Getty reported that the Committee (composed of Mrs. McColl, Mr. Back and himself), appointed by the President on March 26th had met on April 1st. The Committee's report, as follows, was then read by the President:

"The Committee appointed at the Board of Directors meeting held on March 26th, held a meeting on Tuesday April 1st.

"This Committee of George Getty, Samuel Back and Alva McColl with Mr. Getty as Chairman studied the stenographers report of the Annual Meeting of the members of the C.K.C. and came to the following conclusions:

"Whereas, We as a committee having examined the judges application form which was approved by the entire Board of Directors at the Annual Meeting do direct that this form be accepted, and instructions given, to have the form printed for distribution to applicants for judging approval.

Whereas, We as a committee having studied referendum ballot number 25, and all discussion relative thereto by the members at the Annual Meeting do hereby direct that the procedures as outlined in referendum ballot number 25 be carried out.

"Whereas, We as a committee having been appointed as a special committee do recommend that the committee be allowed to add such persons as may be necessary for further inquiries on the applications for approval to judge.

"Whereas, definite instructions were given the Board of Directors of the C.K.C. by the members at the Annual Meeting to secure legal advice regarding amendment number 26, We as a committee direct, that the solicitor for the Canadian Kennel Club be consulted immediately, as to the validity of referendum ballot number 26, calling for a $25.00 fee, and also the solicitors opinion be obtained as to the powers of the Board of Directors to revoke said license without explanation."

(Signed by: George Getty, Chairman; Alva McColl; Samuel Back.)

Following discussion it was regularly moved by Mr. Getty, seconded by Mrs. McColl:

"THAT, the Committee's report be received, and a copy forwarded to all members of the Board."

Motion unanimously carried.

2238 (2203) DOGS IN CANADA

The President reported that:

1. In accordance with the resolution adopted by the Board on March 26th, letters and proposals received from the four applicants segregated by the Committee had been forwarded to all members of the Board;
2. Replies had been received from Mr. Williams, Mr. Irving, Mr. Pratt, Dr. Watson, Mr. Monaghan, Mr. MacKendrick, Mrs. Margeson, Mr. Biggar, and Mrs. Mack.
3. Replies had not been received from: Mr. Getty, Mr. Back, and Mrs. McColl.
4. The replies received indicated there was no unanimity of opinion with regard to an appointment of any particular one of the four applicants, one member of the Board (Mr. Williams) recommended that the Secretary-Treasurer carry on as Editor.

Mr. Getty stated that, for financial reasons, he favored the Secretary-Treasurer carrying on as Managing Editor.

Mr. Back stated that while he was prepared to go along with the majority opinion of the Board, he favored the appointment of a person possessing a knowledge of dogs.

Mrs. McColl stated that as recent Editor of the magazine it would not be fair to expect her to pass upon the appointment of an Editor, and expressed the views that the opinions expressed by individual members of the Board on the four applicants should be communicated to the entire Board.

Mr. Monaghan enquired whether the Board wished to see any or all of the four applicants segregated by the Committee. Mrs. McColl suggested that the Committee should consider the matter further and submit a specific recommendation to the entire Board.

Following discussion it was agreed that the Committee would consider the matter further, arrange for any additional interviews it thought advisable, and submit a recommendation to the entire Board. The Secretary asked to be excused from the Committee. The President approved the Secretary's request, and named Mr. MacKendrick to serve with Mr. Monaghan on the Committee.

2239 (2227). VACATION PAY (MRS. A. McCOLL)

Mrs. McColl stated that she had received a letter from the Secretary with cheque for $3.90, but that she wished the entire Board to again review the matter. The President read Mrs. McColl's letter dated April 5th with which Mrs. McColl returned the cheque for $3.90.

Following discussion it was regularly moved by Mr. MacKendrick, seconded by Mr. Getty:

"THAT, Mrs. McColl's letter and cheque for $3.90 be received and that copy of the letter from the solicitors and copy of Mrs. McColl's letter to the Board be forwarded to the entire Board."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Back, Mr. Getty, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan.

ABSTAINED FROM VOTING: Mrs. McColl.

Motion carried.

2240. ADJOURNMENT

The President asked to be excused, the serious illness of a member of his family at Ottawa necessitating his taking the afternoon train to Ottawa (accommodation on plane flights and night sleeper train to Ottawa not being available).

The meeting adjourned at 2.45 P.M.

WANTED —
Information About You and Your Dogs

WHEN a copy writer of a large metropolitan newspaper directs the copy boy to secure certain information from the "morgue", he is not, as many might be inclined to believe, sending the young fellow off on an errand to that dreaded institution. No, for in newspaper parlance the "morgue" is that section of a newspaper's own reference library wherein are kept press clippings on important personalities and events for ready reference. The value of the information represented by these clippings should be evident to everyone and without them the copy writers could not, without considerable difficulty, enlarge upon and draw conclusions from the terse news reports coming over the wires at all times of the day.

It is your Editor's desire to build up a reliable reference file on persons engaged in any way in our sport, and there can be no more dependable method of securing this information than from those concerned. You are asked to put aside your modesty and enable us to put on record all those biographical facts of your life and activities to which you will have no objection should they be published in whole or part, now or later. The same, of course, applies to all those dogs in which you have an interest, past or present.

It is proposed in future issues of the magazine to publish notes entitled "Personalities in our Sport", and the information which you are asked to furnish would be very helpful in preparing that material. We would like to know your name in full, place of birth, hobbies, doggy and other clubs or organizations of which you are a member and official position in such (if any), your activities in the dog game (past and present), occupation, and any other biographical facts that you would care to provide. About your dogs, we would like to know some of those which you have bred, owned, imported or exported, especially champions of record and particulars of the blood lines of those that you now own. If you have a kennel name, please refer to that also.

THE EDITOR'S MAILBAG

With this issue, DOGS IN CANADA begins a new feature— "The Editor's Mailbag." This forum for our readers will be one in which the opinions expressed are those of the letter-writer.

Toronto, Ont.

The Editor.

Dear Sir:

As I believe "letters to the Editor" are now in order, possibly the following may be of some interest. In discussing a recent Show held in Toronto with one of the persons responsible for its welfare, the writer was informed that "in Canada we had no one good enough to operate a large show." To the many Canadian Dog Breeders who for years have been successfully operating Shows, this will no doubt come as a surprise. Canadian Breeders are still winning in The United States and Canadian Judges are working over there at some of the largest Shows, so surely we have some men who have the experience and knowledge to promote and manage a show. If this is true could the C.K.C. arrange to give some publicity and backing to Canadians who can either Judge or Manage.

There are no doubt some organizations operating Shows who would be glad to have a list of competent people who could take over the "headaches" connected with the above. Possibly some of your readers may have some suggestions.

Hedley E. Hull.

The Editor:

Hardly an issue of magazines devoted to dogs fails to carry an account of the passing on of some noted show winner and, at times, even the tragic facts of an entire kennel being wiped out by some highly virulent form of infection.

I gave the matter serious consideration during my recent plane trip to Corpus Christi, Texas, directly following the two shows held by the Ottawa Kennel Club. At Corpus Christi I tried an experiment in the Toy Breeds and it is just possible my findings may prove both constructive and interesting to exhibitors and fellow judges as well.

I did not place a hand to the mouth of a single entry in Toys. The handlers were asked to show me the "bite". I found the dogs were under better control than if a total stranger approached them and I had the satisfaction of knowing that I had not been the medium of passing on some infectious disease.

I feel that the Canadian Kennel Club could do well to invoke such legislation as to eliminate the customary procedure wherein a judge's hands come in direct contact with the mouth of an entry. This should also apply to the official veterinarians. I am sincere in my belief that we could lessen, to a marked degree, the epidemics which take such a frightful toll each year among our dogs.

For one, and this after thirty years of all breed judging, I fully intend to adopt this 'hands off the mouth' when officiating at future shows. It is practical in operation. In fact I found it a decided improvement as the dogs showed less resentment to being so exhibited than is the case where a total stranger inspects the mouth after the stranger raises the upper and lowers the under lip.

I feel the suggestion is worthy of serious consideration by all exhibitors. I also feel an expression regarding the issue might prove timely. No doubt "Dogs in Canada" would welcome your views on this all important matter with the objective of making The Canadian Kennel Club the first organization to take steps to rectify the situation.

Frank Foster Davis.

Congratulations are due George Miyaki whose female Chihuahua "La Oro Pintura De Oro" won Best American Bred and Best of Breed over 17 other entries at Minneapolis' show May 4, gaining three points.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Herald were also successful at Minneapolis. Their puppy "D'Arcis Storm Cloud" went Best Min. Pin. Puppy and their lovely little male "La Roy's On Parade" went Best of Winners and Best of Breed, also a major three point win.

The members of the Fort Garry Kennel Club and friends enjoyed a series of films (doggy of course) shown at the last meeting.

The executives are endeavouring to make the meetings interesting and educational and are pleased with the increased membership. There are lots of vacancies — new members are always welcome.

In the April issue, greetings went to Mr. A. Picard. Being remembered in our magazine really hit the spot and helped to cheer an old fancier's heart in his last days. Mr. Picard, 74, died early in May. The heart-felt sympathy of Club members goes out to Mrs. Picard and family.

Mrs. A. Dance, an ardent Pom fancier, also died early in May after a severe heart attack. She was a loyal dog show supporter in Winnipeg as well as at those in Brandon, Saskatoon, Port Arthur and Fort William. A familiar figure in the ring with her little black Pomeranian, Ch. Jefferson's Lord Bo-Bo, she will be sadly missed. Deepest sympathy goes to Mr. Dance.

The Cocker Spaniel Club took advantage of the fine film service made available to clubs by the Winnipeg Public Library. The March meeting was highlighted by the showing of two interesting dog films.

Adding to the enjoyment of those present was a very instructive homespun talk by Corporal Bailey of the R.C.M.P. Cpl. Bailey stressed the importance of kindness to gain and keep the confidence of the dog to be trained.

He maintained that contrary to many who claim that their dogs understand every word they say, he said: "All due respect, but this is just not so". The results of experiment and research in his department revealed that a dog can understand about 20 words or commands intelligently.

Readers will be interested to know that Mrs. Peggy Crombie has imported a red and white Cocker Spaniel female from the United States. By arrangement, it is planned that "Lolly" will return in due course for a visit to the home kennel and "Int. Ch. Honey Creek Harmonizer", who we understand is tops in red and whites in the U.S.

In the July issue, highlights of the "Greater Winnipeg Ladies' Club Show" will be featured in this column.

Maritime Notes

by Geoffrey Ryder

DOGS owned by Maritimers have, during the past month, been distinguishing themselves in widely separated parts of this Continent, so much so that I might very well confine my Notes this month to a résumé of their performance.

Frequently, during recent months I have mentioned the grand little homebred Pomeranian being so fearlessly campaigned for Championship honors by the Laskey Brothers, of Canmore Kennels, Fredericton. I speak of "Canmore Captivator" who, subject to C.K.C. confirmation, is now a Champion he having completed his quota of points at the recent Show in Guelph. Bob Laskey further informs me that their English importation of last Fall, will be ready for exhibition at the coming Shows. He is "Sealand Tinderbox", bred in England by Miss F. J. Henshaw, and from whom great things are expected.

Dogs from Nova Scotia, did very well at the Show of the Ladies Kennel Club of Canada, held in Montreal, on Sunday, April 27th. In addition to the two outstanding wins made by Aubrey Cox, of "Armcrest Kennels", Halifax, N.S., Miss Alice O'Brien, of "Cardigan Sealyham Kennels", Halifax, won the breed with her very smart little Sealyham female, Ch. Jacdor Judett. This dog, an offspring of the celebrated Ch. St. Margaret's Statesman, was brought out to Canada last year by Miss O'Brien when she returned from England. Then again we were all delighted to welcome back to the ring that grand old Boston Terrier fancier, Roy F. McKay, of Halifax. Roy, who is a "thirty year" man in the C.K.C. came back with a "bang" with a particularly promising Boston Dog Puppy, Mac's Regards, a youngster absolutely teeming with quality, strong in "Easter Parade" and "Royal Kid's Regard's blood. With this young hopeful Roy carried off Best Can. bred Boston Puppy, Winners Dog and Best of Opposite Sex, pretty good for a first appearance in the ring.

In addition to these wins dogs from Truro also made a very creditable showing. The entry of Boxers was quite outstanding, both as regards quality and numbers, and it was very gratifying to see a Nova Scotia bred and owned entry placed Winners Dog and gain for himself five Championship points. Handled by Miss Phyllis Fulton of Truro, a striking nineteen month old Boxer, bred by Mrs. Percy Tupper, of Truro and owned by Mr. B. C. Dyzon, also of Truro, did just this. His name is "Fritz von Court", and with ordinary good fortune this dog should go far. Miss Fulton handled a Smooth Fox Terrier, owned by herself, a very snappy little Terrier, "Breakeyton Katrina", bred by Ian Breakey. She was placed Winners female, and so, all in all, I think that the Nova Scotian contingent has every reason to be satisfied with their showing.

"Penhorns Son of Prophet", the outstanding Cocker Spaniel owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edison MacNeill, is still continuing his winning ways in the masterhands of Clint Callaghan, and likewise, the all conquering Black Cockers, from the Alhambra Kennels, in Saint John, N.B.

The Atlantic Beagle Club of Halifax, held their annual Spring Trials at Mount Uniacke on April the 23rd and 24th. Eleven fifteen inch females were entered the first day, males the next day. The Judge was Cliff Cottrell, of Walpole, Mass., and he turned in an excellent job. The weather on both days was ideal, game was not overly plentiful, but for all that, excellent sport was enjoyed by those who made the trip. "Burnside Princess", owned by E. Clifford of H.M.C.S. Shearwater, won the female Stake, and Ch. Burnside Banjo won the male Stake. "Burnside Banjo" is owned by Frank Pugh, and by virtue of this win he becomes a Field Trial Champion after C.K.C. confirmation. It is believed that 'Banjo" is the first Dual Champion (both Bench and Field) of his breed in over two decades and his proud owner is being congratulated on all sides.

The Secretary of the Cape Breton Club informs me that three pure-bred puppies will be raffled for on the day of the show, the winners of these dogs, having the choice of the dog or its cash value. There is however, one very wise provision in connection with these raffles, and that is that the puppies will only be allowed to go to approved homes.

I am also given to understand that the Sydney Girls' Pipe Band will give a programme of pipe music and Highland dancing each day. This should prove a great attraction as this Band is quite a unique organization. It will be most interesting however, to know which wins, the dogs, or the Pipers. This Club seems determined to help along the funds accruing from their show, by several outside activities.

I have also to thank Miss Rhoda Curtis for sending me the following most interesting item which comes from the "Lucky Charm Kennels" of Mrs. L. C. Trivett of Sydney. An English Springer Spaniel, bred and raised in her Kennel, "Top Gunner of Lucky Charm", was purchased by Major J. C. Whalley, of the R.M.C. Kingston. When this Officer was transferred to Alaska, "Gunner" accompanied him and flew with his master to his new station. The average temperature throughout the long winter has been between 40 and 50 degrees below zero, and Gunner thrived on it, growing himself a profuse and thick coat. He is a keen and clever hunter, has been shot over all winter, and has been most successful while being used on duck, ptarmigan and partridge.

In Halifax I found a most efficient and energetic Committee had been hard at work for sometime getting things lined up for the Halifax Show to be held on July 1st. The Show Committee is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Moll, the wife of the President of the Club, and on this Committee, I could not help but notice, it was the names of ladies that predominated. This Committee has apparently made up their minds that this year's Show will be the best ever, and in the course of a most interesting conversation with its charming chairman I gathered that if Mrs. Moll is able to do all the things she has planned, this end will undoubtedly be attained. Contrary to their usual policy, the Club will not this year be sponsored by one of the local service Clubs, but will be run by the Club for the benefit of the 'Walter Callew Wheel Chair Coach Fund". This most deserving charity always meets with a most hearty response in Halifax. The Show this year is being held in the Halifax Forum, which is an ideal venue to hold a Dog Show. It is one of the largest rinks in Eastern Canada, and it is the best lighted. It has quite recently been renovated and re-decorated, has ample seating capacity, and everything is being done to ensure the comfort, the safety and the convenience of the dogs and their owners, as well as the patrons of the show. There is also free parking space and room for large excercise rings, both inside and outside of the building. Following their usual custom, the Club has arranged for the children of both the Protestant and the Catholic Orphanages to visit the Show in the morning, when they will be regaled with "pop" and candy. This is an event eagerly looked for by the kiddies, all the more so this year, as last year they were deprived of the treat by an outbreak of polio. During the afternoon and evening relays of of veterans from Camp Hill Hospital will be conveyed to the Show in Callew Coaches. It is also planned to bring down from Toronto some nationally known radio stars as an added attraction for the patrons of the show. Coming to that part of the show which will be of most interest to those who intend to exhibit, Mrs. Moll informs me that when the premium list comes into the hands of prospective exhibitors, it will be an exhibitor's "Dream" for not only are there very valuable trophies for Best in Show, and Reserve Best in Show, but also there will be valuable cash prizes for each Group. The Judge that has been chosen, while new to Halifax, is no stranger to Maritimers. He is Frank Foster Davis of Ventnor, N.J., and is rated as one of the top-ranking judges on the Continent. All in all, the 1952 Show in Halifax, promises to be as good, if not superior, to any of its predecessors.

I have just received the names of the Officers elected for 1952 by the Members of the New Brunswick Kennel Club, Saint John, N.B.: President, M. D. Earle; Secretary, Jack MacKay; Treasurer, R. B. Laskey.

Last month I said that I hoped to give you the dates of further Nova Scotian Shows. I have only succeeded in learning of one other, the Pictou County K.C. will hold their annual Show in the new and spacious ring in New Glasgow on June 18th and the veteran Ronald Vaughan, of Saint John, N.B., will be the Judge.

Notes from the Province of Quebec

by Pamela B. Mack

IT was nice to see such a large turnout at the Ladies' Kennel Club show in Montreal on April 27th, and judging from the attendance, the show was a great success. We hope to hear soon that the Club has been able to donate more seeing-eye dogs to blind people in this province, and give them the guidance and constant companionship of a well trained guide dog.

Best in Show this year was the Cairn KINDON SAUCY SUE, owned and shown by Mrs. Hyslop of Brockville and bred by George P. Davies. The Cairn was, of course, also Best Canadian-bred. Reserve Best in Show was the Smooth Dachshund NICODEMUS OF LENAIR, and Best Puppy in Show was Mr. Ormston Roy's Collie COILA CAMILLIA. Best Brace and Best Team in Show were Miss W. Steggall's beautiful fawn Pugs which certainly took the fancy of the crowd. I have not the results of the Group or Best of Breed wins; this will be shown in the official report, but know that many Quebec dogs placed high up in the official judging. Congratulations to the winners and their owners.

Don't forget members, that the Cornwall Kennel Club is holding a Sanction Show on Friday evening, June 6th; this is an easy drive from Quebec, so why not take along your young dogs, and give them some practice. There is an excellent array of prizes, good judges, and there will be a demonstration of pair obedience work by the graduates of Mrs. Evelyn McCullough's obedience class; so plan to attend and give the Cornwall Kennel Club a boost towards their proposed Fall point show.

I do hope all your puppies and young stock are getting out and having plenty of playing in the good Spring sunshine, but don't leave the cod liver oil and calcium out of their diets yet, and do keep them out of the cold winds.

Hull and District News

by Fred Blatch

I HAD the pleasure of visiting the new up-and-coming "BERTHA-GENE" kennel of collies, Russell Road, Ottawa, over the weekend. Here, I found a small, but select, kennel of carefully bred collies owned by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parent. This kennel is also the home of "Ch. Quarrybrae Nifty-Fifty", a beautiful blue merle of superior quality, sound as a bell, nice eye and expression, natural ear carriage, flat skull, smooth gait and an abundance of coat of the right texture. "Nifty" won his championship in plenty of fast competition. Later on, "Nifty-Fifty" will be made available at public stud to a few approved bitches. This dog should prove a great asset in the breeding collies of quality in Canada. Bertha and Gene deserve much credit for the splendid way in which they have raised and trained this fine Blue Merle from puppyhood.

The two shows held in Ottawa this spring are now history. Although the small entry was somewhat disappointing, the quality of the dogs exhibited was of a high calibre; and the majority of the exhibitors were much impressed with the job done by the judges, Mr. "Reggie" Sparks, who is well known the world over as a leading breeder and fearless judge, and Mr. Frank Foster Davis, of Ventnor, N.J., who was making his debut at Ottawa, proved himself to be one of the most efficient American judges ever to come to these parts. It was very pleasing to hear the many complimentary expressions of opinion by the exhibitors on the business-like, confident way in which Mr. Davis went about his work, and, the great interest he showed in the exhibitors and their dogs, after the judging was all over, by visiting them at their benches and discussing their problems with them. It is such little things as this that create a satisfied mind, even in the biggest "grouch" in the show, and tends to provide for better shows in the future.

News has just been received from Mac McLean, President of the Hull & District Kennel Club to say that the Club will be holding an open-air, unbenched, point show on Sunday, August 24th; the day following the Central Canada Exhibition Dog Show. This show will be staged on the lawns at the Connaught Park Race Track, an ideal spot for such an occasion, and given fine weather should prove a great attraction, especially as the Hull Club has proven itself to be most popular with a large majority of Canadian and American exhibitors.

The Toronto and York Spaniel Club

by Alice Cooper

THE oft heard saying that "you only get out of anything what you put into it" is no longer just a saying to the members of a newly formed group of Spaniel enthusiasts but an actual proof of what co-operation and genuine effort can produce.

In January of this year a group of Spaniel owners and breeders met to discuss the possibility of organizing what they felt was very much needed among them—a really active Spaniel Club. As the result of this meeting The Toronto and York Spaniel Club came into being. To Mr. Art Burden, of Toronto, well known Professional

Demand for puppies like Tom and Queen greater than supply.

Mrs. Button, Hamilton, and Mrs. McGregor, Thamesford, are very happy over recent litters.

Owner

DR. ROY N. DAVIS

120 Delaware Ave., Hamilton, Ont. Phone: 4-7352

Best Wishes to Mac Bell, Agent, now Kennel Mgr. Harhan Kennels, Chicago

Handler, goes the credit of getting the Club off to a successful start. While Mr. Burden declined to accept nomination for any office in the Club he willingly agreed to act in an advisory capacity on the Committees formed and the Club as a whole feel deeply indebted to him for his generous and valuable advice and help in all matters pertaining to the formation of the Club and to dog shows in general. The Executive elected at this first meeting was as follows:

Honorary President: Mr. Art Burden.
President: Mr. Cecil H. Canham.
Vice-President: Mr. R. J. Austen.
Secretary: Mrs. M. Craig.
Members: Mr. R. Stan Jones, Mr. Kenneth R. Pitchford, Mr. R. Polson, Mrs. Florence Davey.

Later the Constitution and By-Laws were carefully drafted and submitted to the members for study and approval. For the readers information the following articles are contained in the Constitution, quote:

Article 2—AREA

The area covered by this club shall be the City of Toronto and County of York and its immediate environs, notwithstanding any person living in the Province of Ontario may be deemed eligible for membership.

Article 3—OBJECTS

(A) The improvement of the spaniel breeds and encouragement of breeding and exhibiting.

FUNCTIONS

(B) The functions of the club as related to Art. 3 are:

(1) To disseminate knowledge to the members.
(2) To conduct or sponsor any shows as sanctioned by the C.K.C.

Article 4—MEMBERSHIP

(A) Any person or his immediate family interested in furthering the objects of the club may become eligible for membership. Unquote.

As indicated by the name all breeds of Spaniels are included in the Club interests and while the Cocker owners are at present in the majority the Executive is very pleased that owners of Springer and Brittany Spaniels have applied for membership and take this opportunity to stress the fact that the Club includes all breeds of Spaniels. The Club meets once a month and a full program of interesting and informative topics has been planned for the remainder of the year.

To date the big news item is the result of the Club's first Specialty Show at Guelph on April 19th last. That the Spaniel exhibit was a great success leaves little room for doubt and proves what can be accomplished when a group all pull in the one direction. At this point the Executive wish to express their sincere thanks to the Guelph Kennel Club for their generous help and co-operation in promoting the Club's Specialty Show. Mrs. R. T. Lawrence is to be congratulated upon her success as Trophy Convener. All agreed that the trophy table was indeed beautiful, the result of a great deal of time spent and hard work collecting and arranging the trophies and prizes. Mrs. Lawrence was ably assisted throughout the day by Mrs. Harold Bell and Mrs. F. Davey. The following summary speaks for itself:

Judge: Mrs. Vera Page.

Entries—American Cockers		61
	English Cockers	12
	Springers	11
	Brittany	1
	Irish Water	1

Total Spaniels benched—86.

Of this number 45 American Cockers, 3 English Cockers and 6 Springers were either owned or bred by a member of the T. & Y.S.C.

Awards at the Guelph show will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Boxer Club of Canada

by W. H. MacKendrick

THE Boxer Club of Canada held its annual Specialty Show in conjunction with the Guelph Kennel Club Show on April 19th. We were very fortunate this year in having as our Judge Dr. Lewis E. Daniels of Birmingham, Mich. He, as most of our breeders know, is the owner of Ch. Mazelaines's Kappelmeister, one of the two dogs tying last year for producer of the most Champions 1951. He did a wonderful job and everybody who spoke to me was happy about his judging.

The trophy table this year was particularly loaded, and I think there were only two exhibitors who didn't draw a Trophy. The number of entries was a little down this year due to the earlier date of the show and to the fact that so many of our breeders were expecting pups.

The Punfield's empty bench was suitably placarded by this sign—"Sorry, couldn't find a Baby Sitter", this from their female who was expecting.

The Directorate wish to take this opportunity to thank those newer members who dug in and helped both on the trophy table and in the organization of the party following the Show — it is members like these of a Club that keep it blooming and healthy.

The next feature of the Club's will be a sound film of the Parade of Champions at the American Boxer Club Specialty at New York. Come on you, Boxer enthusiasts, join in and learn more than you thought possible about our Breed.

Windsor Kennel Club

by Harold Wellwood Jr.

WITH a deadline to meet, the scene is one of weary minds and bodies surrounded by stalls now almost completely empty but which once were a bedlam of racket, and now in their silence almost as deafening to the ear.

Three days of shows, Chatham, Sarnia and Windsor, and then someone has the nerve to say—"the poor dogs—how they must be tired!" Of course, the poor creatures who each day got up at 5.00 a.m. and waited hand and foot on man's best friend until 1:00 and 2:30 A.M. the next morning is as fresh as the Spring air, while his poor tired friend who slept like a baby in his stall for twelve hours, except for the odd moments when he was rudely awakened to have a stern looking stranger look him over to see if he was all there, is completely exhausted from such a gruelling ordeal. "Man", how we would love to be so abused at this moment.

They tell us that they are getting ready to do Best in Show now—a Peke did it in Chatham Friday, a Borzoi yesterday in Sarnia, and who it's going to be here, we're too bushed to go and find out. As some of the Club members go by, we can't help but feel that they are in the wrong procession, for a finer group of professional mourners we have never seen.

Our Club President, Tom Nichol, who gets our orchid this month for his "Clark Kent" (Superman to you) effort in repairing the benching, looks like something that not even the cats would drag in. In fact, he just stepped outside and got snubbed by the undertaker around the corner. Kit Nicholl, just out of a hospital bed, looks good for another three shows, as does our cute little Show Secretary, Agnes Napier, who from here on in we dub "Super Gal". It looks like "us guys" are really the weaker sex after all. Somebody is getting the applause right now, but honestly, we're more interested in knowing who the individual is that has the strength at this hour to clap hands. Give that man the ribbon and let's go home.

In fact, that's what we're going to do right now, and if you want to know who did what at Windsor, a report will appear in Dogs in Canada. However, before we fade out, we should like to mention how much we enjoyed the folks we've met at the Canadian shows the past month. Particularly, the gang down "Collie Alley" where most of our time is spent. If the rest of the "breeds" have folks like the Hewsons, Maynards, Purdens, Prices, Sullivans, Amera Croakman, and last but not least, that distinguished and jolly natured individual, Major Brimstin, all whom we have met the past month, then that's the answer to why people keep coming to dog shows.

To our good neighbours Chatham and Sarnia, we should like to make this comment—"your shows were terrific". If asked what we liked the best about each it would be tough to say, but we were impressed with Chatham's ability to keep things moving lively and coming up with an early finish. Over in Sarnia, the attractiveness of the show, cleanliness, punctual start and Phyllis Rawlings all caught our eye. Phyllis is the sharp little "cookie" who wields the mean "pen" for the Sarnia Kennel Club notes.

TO honor Mr. Fred Hessel, President of the London Canine Association on his 84th birthday, members of the Club staged a turkey dinner April 29, in London, Ontario.

The veteran Spaniel breeder was presented with a leather wallet, and Mrs. Hessel was given a corsage.

Some 36 members attended the social evening and euchre which followed.

The London Club is the oldest dog group in Canada. Meetings are held the third Wednesday of each month.

The Irish Setter Club of Canada

by Gertrude W. Drew

OUR April meeting showed the same good attendance as has marked all 1952 meetings but still there were several absentees. In case you have forgotten the meeting place, it is St. Clair Ave. Y.M.C.A. and the date the 4th Monday of each month. Incidentally, next month's meeting will be the last until September.

Mr. and Mrs. Al. Lake and myself called on the Honsbergers at Streetsville a couple of weeks ago and we were pleased to see Ken looking so well. He was still in the cast and getting around amazingly well but he was uncomfortable, and while not complaining, he was looking forward to the day he would be free of it. They showed us two four month old pups which we thought were "tops".

It is always a pleasure to get a letter from Wm. Irons of Bowness, Alta. He tells me that he has been suffering from a blood ailment and has not been too well for sometime. Still, he is well enough to attend to his dogs, and apparently this is one of his great pleasures. It is nice to hear all about his dogs and his dog doings. He tells me a lot about other dogs near him, and he always has something nice to say about other breeders and their dogs. A member like Mr. Irons is a great asset to the breed and we hope his health continues to improve.

We are pleased to welcome three new members, Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Toogood, and Mr. Gordon Armstrong, all of Toronto. Our local membership is improving all the time which is very encouraging.

Our April meeting was enhanced by the presence of Mrs. Ellen Brown as our guest speaker. She gave a very interesting and informative talk on breeding. Mrs. Brown's informality in covering the subject appealed to everyone present, and it was felt that more speakers of this type would be of great assistance to our newer members and fanciers. Mrs. Brown stressed the importance of breeding good dogs.

Fifteen years ago, it was not unusual to see Irish Setters with white on them, especially a white spot on the chest. But, have you noticed how few we see today with so much as a dozen white hairs? Dogs with white on them have become a rarity, the better breeders are producing litter after litter with no sign whatsoever of white. The complete elimination of white is what good breeders have striven for these many years, and it has all been done by selection. Quite an achievement too when one considers that the Irish Setter at one time was a parti-colored dog.

Cocker Spaniel Club of Central Ontario

by Olive S. Potter

THE Tenth Specialty Show of the Cocker Spaniel Club of Central Ontario is now history; but it is a show that will long be remembered by all who attended.

From the writer's viewpoint it was outstanding for its efficiency, smoothness, and co-ordination, which shows what can be achieved by a hardworking group of people. Many comments were heard on the trophy table with its beautiful display of fine prizes.

One couldn't help but notice the high quality of the dogs entered. It made for good, keen competition, and this is as it should be. It shows that breeders of Cocker Spaniels are aware of the need for top quality dogs, true representatives of this popular breed.

Dr. W. J. Westcott, of Detroit, Michigan, was the judge and did a very thorough and able job. The popular Mr. MacCallum was again ring steward. "Mac" has no equal in this position.

The puppy sweepstakes was won by La Paloma Statesman, a fine buff pup sired by Maddie's Vagabond's Return, and owned by John Florence, of Ottawa. Litter sister of this pup La Paloma Sun Gold, went Best of Opposite Sex in the American cockers.

John Devlin's new black and tan puppy Marbo's Spicy Rumour of Ayr, went winners bitch to win two points, starting her on her way to being a champion.

Best in Show went to Maddie's Vagabond's Return. This is truly one of the most beautiful buff dogs the writer has seen. He has a gorgeous coat and a disposition to match. He captured everyone's heart, and stole the show. Mrs. M. Peuquet, of Buffalo, New York, owner and breeder of Vagabond, is to be congratulated on owning such a dog as this.

So the curtain goes down on the specialty show of the Cocker Spaniel Club of Central Ontario, which in its own way is a special event in the calendar of dog shows.

German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada

ONCE more fortune has smiled on us financially, with the success of our first dance, held to raise money for a Seeing Eye Dog. The orchestra was excellent, the floor slick, (as dance floors should be), and the lunch delicious. Eddy Noble, our enthusiastic master of ceremonies, saw to it that the crowd entered into the spirit of the evening, and Paul Jones, the great mixer, broom tags, Strauss waltzes, all added to the enjoyment of the fun. We are already looking forward to our next one in the near future.

Spring training has been transferred outdoors to the Exhibition Grounds, on the boulevard beside the Ontario Government building. It is held Thursday nights, at 8:00 p.m. sharp, with Larry Snell in charge.

The Hub City Kennel Club of Saskatoon

by Eileen Benson

THERE is little news this month from our club, we are sorry that our last month's notes didn't reach DOGS IN CANADA in time, they were sent Air Mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hoard had to postpone their trip to the Coast, due to Mr. Hoard taking ill and spending some time in the D.V.A. Hospital. We are glad to know that Max is now back at work again. Mrs. Hoard is going to make the trip to the Coast in the near future and while there will be looking for a place to settle down on.

We were sorry to hear that Mrs. M. A. Bottomley's Black Male Chow Chow, Lesbury's Val-Waun Lah Wong, had passed away.

The club, at their next meeting, are having films, one of which is coming from Vancouver. We are looking forward for a good turnout. At our last meeting, we had a very interesting talk by Dr. Jean Morgan, on Veterinary practice in general, spaying and distemper.

LAKEHEAD KENNEL CLUB

(Where East meets West)

Two All Breed Dog Shows

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, AUGUST 8th and 9th, 1952.

In conjunction with the Canadian Lakehead Exhibition in the EXHIBITION GROUNDS, FORT WILLIAM

(Prairie Point Ratings)

TWO DISTINCT SHOWS — TWO SETS OF POINTS

JUDGES: August 8th—Albert J. Milne, Cainsville, Ont.
August 9th—Hugh H. Allen, Winnipeg, Man.

For information write: Mr. L. J. Lagimodiere, 122 Prospect Ave., Port Arthur, Ont.

Our club has voted to hold a Fall show, and as Edmonton have written to us that they have already applied for Fall dates, we will probably fall in behind them. We are holding off, for another week, until we see what is going to happen to the clubs in Southern Saskatchewan, now that there has been a new outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease

Our President, Bill Story, who was to have written this column this month, has been too busy. He has his Rite Spot Ranchette, Rite Spot Lunch, and now has taken over the operating of the Swing In Curb Service out on Nos. 11 and 14 highways. We are wondering how Bill manages to be at so many places at once.

Mr. Dick Gould, our Vice-Pres., and his family have just returned from a two months' trip to the East. While in Toronto attended the Sportsman's Show, and also made a visit to the offices of C. K. C. We are glad to have Dick back as he is a very active member of the club.

The Rockcroft Kennels, owned by Mr. W. A. Childs, have purchased a four months' old Black Cocker Spaniel bitch pup from the Alhambra Kennels of St. John, New Brunswick.

We want to thank those who have given us news items, both for this write-up and the last, and hope that we will be able to have more to write about in the next issue. By that time, we will know definitely about our shows and will be able to pass on the information.

Cairn Terrier Club of Canada

by J. T. Shirkie

DURING the past few years, there has been a considerable increase in popularity of the Cairn Terrier. We breeders have been greatly encouraged by this trend. The time has surely come when we can all profit by the formation of a club or association of breeders and owners to promote the understanding of this fine breed and to serve as an exchange for news and information.

This idea prompted several Cairn fanciers of the Toronto district to meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Palmer to continue the organization of a club. Business matters transacted at the meeting included election of the following officers:

President: Mr. T. E. Smith, Lawrence Ave. E., Wexford.

Secretary: Mrs. J. Palmer, Sandra Ave., Lansing.

Treasurer: Mr. R. W. Anderson, 83 Kipling Rd., Hamilton.

These officers will retain office until April 30th, 1953. There was some discussion on the constitution of the Club, but no decisions were taken. The members felt that the Club should be national in scope and want all potential members to have a voice in the constitution. So, wherever you are, if you own or are interested in Cairn Terriers, will you please write our Secretary, and give her your views on the matter. We promise that your letters will be read and discussed at our next meeting, which will be held on June 15th. In return, you will receive directly an account of this meeting and the discussion of your suggestions.

"We Wonder . . . "

WE WONDER whether Fred C. Hessell ("Covedale"), when he was feted at a recent gathering of members of the London Canine Association, recalled the black female COVEDALE LASSIE, which he bred and owned. Lassie was by Black Knight of Woodstock (a grandson of Ch. Obo II) out of Eclipse, a daughter of Am. Ch. Omo, a grandson of Ch. Obo II. Possibly, Fred remembered having exhibited Lassie at the "Industrial Exposition" at Toronto (now known to so many as the Canadian National Exhibition) in 1904, competing against such Cocker stalwarts as James S. Clark of Toronto, Arthur Garrick of Hamilton, John Tomlinson of Woodstock, Miss E. Macdonnell of Kingston showing Ch. Braeside Blue Jacket, George Dunn, T. A. Armstrong of Ottawa showing Ottawa Chief, Ottawa Jessie, Ottawa Nellie, etc., and others. Perhaps, Fred also recalled that the annual meetings of the C.K.C. in those days and for many years afterwards, was held during the C.N. Exhibition show, the Club's fiscal year then ending on August 31st of each year.

WE WONDER whether present day Cocker fanciers in Ottawa — John Florence, Lorne Moore, Jack Farmer, et al — knew of or recall other Cocker fanciers in the Ottawa area of days gone by; such as C. E. Living ("Corktown"), Alfred Geddes ("Carleton"), P. G. Keyes ("Rideau"), T. A. Armstrong ("Ottawa"), F. H. F. Mercer, Allan C. McGuirl "Ottawa"). Back in the '80's, Mr. Keyes owned a number of Cockers (Obo Jr., Bob Obo, etc.) imported from James Farrows' Obo Kennels in England. In the gay '90s, Mr. Geddes was Chairman of the Central Canada Exhibition's dog shows. It was John Lunny of Ottawa who bred Ottawa Red Light (later owned by T. A. Armstrong). Red Light as mated to Denniston Lady Margaret and two females from this mating (Am. Ch. Lady Cozette and Goldie K) were the granddams of Am. Ch. Blackstone Chief, sire of Robinhurst Foreglow. In the January (1952) issue of the American Kennel Gazette, the Hon. Townsend Scudder, who was exhibiting when Ch. Obo II won his championships, had this to say of Foreglow: "Through his four great sons "Midkiff Miracle Man (Am. Ch.), Sand Spring Surmise (Am. Ch.), Red Brucie and Limestone Laddie (the Canadian champion), Foreglow lives on; and down through the years to come, his will be the distinction of being OBO II's junior co-founder of the modern Cocker Spaniel breed".

WE WONDER whether Peter Herd ("Belmont"), retired Chief of the Toronto Fire Department, recalls the day his Ch. Belmont Freelance came within a whisker of taking down Best in Show at the Canadian National Exhibition show in 1925. Freelance, handled by George Kynock, went through the Cocker classes, judged by W. T. "Billy" Payne ("Midkiff"), in grand style, but tired a little when he appeared before the late "Bob" Ross and Norman K. Swire for top honors and Peter had to settle for Reserve Best in Show. However, less than a week later, Freelance was Best in Show at Hamilton. Peter may not care to admit how long he has been in the Cocker game, but while looking up some ancestry records on Cockers, your Editor noted that he was listed as co-breeder of a number of Cockers born in 1907. Incidentally, at the "Exhibition" show mentioned above there were 604 dogs benched.

WE WONDER whether Jack McNaughton, popular Show Superintendent of the Canadian National Exhibition and Toronto Kennel Club shows, when seeing to the benching of Cockers at present day shows, recalls his female BELMONT PRINCESS, listed in the C.K.C. Stud Book for 1909. Princess was a granddaughter of Am. Ch. Romany Rye and Saybrook Louis.

RATES IN LINE

Launching an all-out campaign to give dog fanciers within the next several months a Canadian publication second to none in its field, DOGS IN CANADA has announced a new schedule of advertising rates in line with such a program.

Production costs in the publication field have risen more than 125 per cent since 1939 and DOGS IN CANADA has failed to pass these along.

The new program is designed to give readers a highly illustrated, informative publication which they eagerly will look forward to each month. This will make our advertising columns more sellable, giving the space client "more for his money."

And yet the new rates which are now in effect are as low or lower than the least costly Canadian and American magazines of comparable controlled circulation.

LET THE "NEW" DOGS IN CANADA BOOST YOUR SALES.

Rate cards will be forwarded immediately on request to: Advertising Manager, DOGS IN CANADA, 667 Yonge St., Toronto 5.

"Show Time Canada"

That's the theme for the August issue of DOGS IN CANADA.

Every Dog Fancier from Coast to Coast will want this bang-up semi-annual number.

If You Want To

If you want to live in a kind of a club,
Like the kind of club you like.
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip and start on a long hike.
You will only find what you left behind
That it's nothing really new
It's a knock at yourself when
You knock your club,
It isn't your club
It's you.

ARMCREST kennels

Gaylord of Armcrest, bred and raised at Armcrest, Best of Variety at Ladies' Kennel Club All-Breed Show in April.

"I give a great deal of credit for my dogs' excellent condition to Purina," says Aubrey Cox.

In the short space of eight years, Aubrey Cox, owner of Armcrest Kennels, Armdale, Nova Scotia, has achieved noteworthy success as a breeder of American Cockers. He bred what is believed to be the first black-and-tan to win its Canadian Championship in the Maritimes.

Gaylord of Armcrest, pictured above, took Best of Winners at seven months and Best of Variety at 15 months (April, 1952). Country Gentleman of Armcrest took Best of Breed at nine months and Best Canadian-bred Puppy in Group at 13 months (Montreal, April, 1952). Country Talk of Armcrest, after winning her Canadian Championship, is now well on her way toward an American.

Champion Country Talk of Armcrest, bred and raised by Mr. Cox, is now owned in the U.S. and has won points toward her American Championship.

PURINA IS HIS CHOICE

After watching the results other kennel owners were getting from Purina Dog Chow, Mr. Cox switched to Dog Chow himself, five years ago. He is still feeding it.

"I give a great deal of credit for my dogs' excellent condition to Purina," says Mr. Cox. "It shows up in the shiny coats."

Countless kennel people say the same thing. They find that for feeding economy, palatability, and results Dog Chow really fills the bill. Why not benefit by their experience? Consult your Purina district manager or local Purina dealer.
