SPRATT'S

"CRISP-BAKED" DOG FOODS

The best is the most economical. Nowhere does this principle apply more completely than in the care and feeding of dogs.

Owners and breeders all over the world, who use Spratt's, find that it pays rich dividends in healthier, more uniformly developed dogs that show better and command a better price.

It's easy to understand why Spratt's DRY dog foods are better, when you consider that Spratt's have the experience of over eighty years of infinitely patient work in helping breeders and owners to develop finer lines and finer kennels.

There's a Spratt's for every age and breed. The special patented "Crisp-Baked" process provides the most natural and complete dog food obtainable. Twice as nourishing as meat alone, its crunchy texture and tested ingredients exercise jaws and stimulate digestion to build powerful, close-set teeth, sound bones and strong, uniform muscles.

Spratt's Dog Meal too is excellent for breeders. It has been produced through many years of experience for which Spratt's are famous.

Now is the time to give Spratt's a real test in your kennels. You'll be well repaid in proudly poised, clever, courageous dogs whose coats are thick and shining.

SPECIAL FREE OFFER to owners and breeders. Write for your sample of Spratt's Weetmeet #1 for puppies up to 3 months. You'll be pleased with the results. Don't forget to ask for a free copy of the new edition of Spratt's excellent booklet (100 pages) "Guide to Dog Management".

Editorial

THE recent success of some specialty clubs with puppy matches prompts the question: "Why are there not more puppy matches across Canada?" Many are the advantages of such events.

Just last Sunday a Boxer puppy match at Toronto drew 35 entrants, including some from the United States.

Although the first dog show was held in New Castle, England, in 1859, puppy shows or matches were held some years previously.

In the late 30's of the 19th Century the masters of three hunts in England agreed to hold a competition amongst themselves. Each master showed some puppies and each contributed towards a prize, which in one year was enough scarlet cloth to make a hunting coat, in another year a saddle, and in another a horn. The matches eventually became annual, were held in the summer and each master entertained farmers and puppy walkers to luncheon afterwards. It is not unreasonable to suppose these events led to the first formal dog show in 1859.

A puppy match presents an excellent opportunity for a specialty club to further increase interest in its breed, although a puppy match may not necessarily be confined to one breed. The novice, without any previous dog show experience, may be reluctant to enter his dog in a championship show, but with a little persuasion may be interested in taking his dog to a puppy match.

This informal initiation to dog shows may well result in addition to the ranks of those campaigning at championship shows. The puppy match, like the sanction show, provides the owner with an opportunity of giving his dog experience in a show ring.

The social amenities which follow the match are an added attraction.

It is not hard to visualize many other advantages arising from a puppy match, and with relatively few shows in the summer such an event could well be a stimulus to keeping a club's membership together during an off-show period.

The Editor's Mailbag

Letters, not exceeding 250 words, on topical matters are invited by the editor for use in this corner of the magazine. Letters to the Editor NOT FOR PUBLICATION should be marked thus. Most good letters can be written in 75-100 words when the platitudes are eliminated. For articles, expressing editorial opinion and not requested by the editor, "The Fancy's Forum" has been set up.

Answers "Handler"

Editor: We would like to extend to you our sincere congratulations for the July issue of DOGS IN CANADA.

You requested that members present their opinions on the way forthcoming issues of our magazine are to be set up. We are definitely not in favor of the idea of Breed Columns replacing the Provincial Notes. A combination of the two in our mind would be ideal, but if this is not possible we definitely still want to read our own local news.

The idea of presenting the magazine to have more appeal to the pet market is one that we cannot go along with. The magazine is the official organ of the Canadian Kennel Club and therefore is designed as a medium of exchange of ideas between those people interested in the development of pure-bred dogs.

We have been all in favor of the technical articles on breeding, feeding, diseases, etc., which have been presented in the past, and we sincerely hope that more of these articles will be forthcoming in the future.

One suggestion might be that the magazine feature the breeds in each of the six groups every other month.

John S. Kingston.
N. Vancouver.

EDITOR'S NOTE—DOGS IN CANADA is published to promote the interest of pure bred dogs. Interest in pure bred dogs is not limited only to those actively engaged in breeding and showing. Thousands of pure bred dogs are sold annually as pets. Many breeders feel there is a potential market for thousands more. They have stated a growing dog fancy must look to the outside for "new blood". They point to the fact that "many a pet owner has become an ardent dog man." They feel these potential pure bred dog owners must be reached and DOGS IN CANADA can do it for them.

Hopes For Rule

Editor: Having just received my July issue of the new DOGS IN CANADA, I would like to express my views on the Fancier's Forum. First, the recording of champions produced by various stud dogs and brood bitches throughout the Dominion is an excellent one and badly needed and should receive the support of all serious-minded breeders and fanciers, leading to the betterment of all breeds.

Another controversial subject, which I for one hope will become a rule of our CKC, that all judges request exhibitors to open the mouth of their exhibit for examination, thereby doing away with all doubt that perhaps a judge unknowingly, having examined an exhibit that may have just gotten over an attack of distemper, or having been on the premises where distemper or other contagious diseases have been, has passed it on. Should this rule be made effective, I believe it would help all entries at our point shows, as undoubtedly entries are held back on this account.

May the new DOGS IN CANADA continue to progress, as it appears to be doing.

Caulfeild, B.C. Mrs. F. W. Avent.

Seeks Pen Pal

There's nothing unusual about a 22-year-old girl in Melbourne, Australia and her sister breeding and showing Collies. But what does make Ivey Hanneysee different is that she has polio.

Ivey wrote the Canadian Kennel Club to see if it could suggest how she could get a Canadian pen friend who is interested in breeding and showing dogs. She would like to exchange ideas and suggestions.

Her own Collie, CH. KIMBERLEY LADY BRONWYNE, has been winning shows throughout Australia since she was 11 months.

"I would be very interested to hear about your Canadian dogs and shows, as well as hearing about Canada," she said. "I would like to write to some young person in Canada who shows Collies, or any dog . . . I could take photos of some of our dogs here in Victoria and send them over."

Her address is Myhaven Kennels, 276 Union St., West Brunswick, N. 12, Melbourne, Victoria, Australia.

NOTES TO NOVICES

Six Titles Can Be Won

A DOG competing at a show can win one or more of six titles. He can be Winners Dog (Winners Bitch), Reserve Winners Dog (Reserve Winners Bitch), Best of Winners, Best of Breed, Best of Group, Best in Show. The latter, being the highest, is often most coveted but can be gained only after wins in other classifications.

FIRST PRIZE

A Winners Dog (Bitch) is the best of the first-prize winners of the puppy or Regular classes. The second-place winner in the class in which the Winners Dog (Bitch) was entered competes with the first-prize winners in the other five classes for Reserve Winners Dog (Bitch).

The Winners Dog and Winners Bitch next compete against each other for the Best of Winners title. The Best of Winners next enters the Best of Breed class with dogs entered in "for specials only".

The latter dogs or bitches do not undergo judging previously to that for Best of Breed and are also ineligible for championship points. This means most of the dogs entered in the Best of Breed group are already champions. If there are no specials entered, Best of Winners automatically becomes Best of Breed.

The six variety groups—sporting, non-sporting, hounds, working, terriers, and toys—encompass all the 113 known breeds. Best of Breed for each breed competes for Best of Group (second and third prizes are given in each variety group).

The six Best of Group winners, ie. Best Sporting Dog, Best Working Dog, are then judged for the top award—Best in Show.

Colors Have Meaning

The blue rosette your friend sports so proudly isn't just another piece of ribbon. It means his dog has won Best In Show, the most coveted title of any and every show.

The color of every ribbon or rosette has its meaning. Ribbons for Best In Show and Best In Group are usually rosettes. All winnings are symbolized as follows: Best of Breed, red, white and blue; Best of Winners, purple and gold; Special prize, green; Winners, royal purple; Reserve Winners, mauve.

In the regular classes first prize is blue, second prize is red, third prize is yellow. At sanction (non-championship) shows first prize is rose, second prize is brown, third prize is grey.

Rosettes or ribbons awarded in the Best in Group mean Best in Group, blue; second best, red; third best, yellow.

A famous English judge, a Yorkshire man, was approached at a show by an exhibitor who felt his dog hadn't received his just due. He said he felt his dog should have received an award because he had "a wonderful pedigree".

"If tha' tak my advice, lad," said the veteran judge, "the next toime ther' goes to show, thou'll tak thy dog's pedigree wi thee, and leave dog at 'ome."

The Fancy's Forum

DOGS IN CANADA presents a forum of signed editorial opinion by dog fanciers. No attempt will be made to censor provocative material which is written within the bounds of good taste. All submissions, however, will be edited. A maximum of 450 words will be allowed each article, providing the material warrants the wordage. The forum is an auxiliary to "The Editor's Mailbag" where letters should not exceed 250 words. Most letters can be written in 75-100 words. The forum content, of course, does not necessarily reflect the opinion of the magazine.—EDITOR.

Our Frontispiece

Just in the "nick-of-time" this sensational young Dachshund, Ch. Nicodemus of Lenair, came up with his first Best in Show at Streetsville, Ont., July 26 to make our "Showtime" issue complete. It was a great win for "Nicky" who earlier this year won his championship in three straight shows — Guelph, 5 points, Montreal, 4 points and Chatham 3 — then went on to further victories at Sarnia, Windsor, Leaside, Markham and Hamilton. Our cover dog has had a spectacular show career, winning a BIS, two Reserve Best in Show, three Best Canadian Bred in Show and four Best in Hound Group. He is owned by shoeman John R. Clapp, 588 Yonge Street, Toronto, and ably handled by Art Burden.

Saskatchewan Speaks

I know you will agree with me when I insist that when a Club doesn't thrive, doesn't grow, doesn't constantly attract new members and hold the old, there is something seriously amiss.

Membership in the CKC in Saskatchewan is NOT growing. We are not thriving as we should. That is why I want to set before you some of the complaints, some of the "gripes" and some of the suggestions which have been sent to me as your representative at Toronto.

A considerable number of really constructive suggestions grew out of the good meeting we had in Saskatoon at the end of June. A number of other matters have been garnered at dog shows, club meetings and wherever the fancy meets. If you can add anything you feel will be helpful, please write me and let us get together and see what can be done to see that we grow stronger and more vital in the West.

EASILY ANSWERED

The most often-heard complaint is, of course, "What does the CKC actually DO for us anyway?" That one is easy for the breeder and exhibitor to answer.

Breeders have access to records otherwise not available, they get reductions in registration fees, they get protection against unscrupulous competition. Exhibitors in search of championships get an efficient recording of wins and placings as well as the opportunity to exhibit in the first instance. Breeders and exhibitors can see the gains in belonging to the CKC.

But what about the one-dog owner, the owner of a registered pet? What does he get?

The advantages are there all right but what effort is made to impress those advantages upon the prospective member? It is difficult to convince him that there is any real advantage in membership. Often he will choose to belong to a local kennel club, ignoring the CKC. That is a poor sign, both for the local club and for the CKC. And it is one of those situations which makes me say we are at a vital crossroads in our welfare as a club and as a fancy.

The complaints with respect to our publication have been so many and so varied over the years there just isn't anything new to be said. The suggestions for improvement are legion and most of them are good and many of them feasible. I think the subject can be safely allowed to stand for a few months while the membership watches what a new staff and new organization can do with our magazine. Let's give it a chance first before we either praise or condemn.

COMPLAIN OF DELAY

One of the bitterest complaints brought to my attention is the long delay encountered in getting any action from head office. Now I am not referring to registrations. This is a matter for the Livestock Records Branch and we are at liberty to address our complaints to that department of the government. I am speaking of matters coming within the jurisdiction of the CKC and for which the CKC is responsible.

Some of the delay is caused by the fact these matters are referred to Toronto from all over Canada. This is a national organization and as such it must cope with problems across the breadth of Canada.

Last spring, while in Toronto, I looked into the set-up very thoroughly. I can honestly report that the staff is efficient and well trained, that the office organization is splendid and that any delays are not due to a lack in the present staff. It may be we are asking too few people to do too much.

And that's the rub. Our finances will not bear any further additions to the staff and so what can we do? Some improvement should be made in this matter of delays.

TALK DECENTRALIZATION

The members in Saskatoon put forward a proposal which appeals to me because it answers this question and at the same time is feasible, economically and practically—Decentralization. They insist that if each province were given more provincial autonomy much of the material loaded upon Toronto could be dealt with at home.

And they point out, with justice, that many of the matters could be dealt with by local people with a greater knowledge of the actual circumstances. They suggest and they sponsor a regional set-up giving the elected Director an elected Advisory Board and the authority to deal with such matters as provincial disciplinary measures, dates and approval of judges. If you suggest that your Director is asked for his opinions and advice by Toronto, they simply point out the further delays involved. It is difficult to see the shortcomings of such a scheme and very difficult indeed to suggest a better one.

Now, granted we want something different, how are we to go about getting it? The time is coming when the western provinces and the Maritimes will have to be given better representation at Toronto, but that time is not yet.

In the meantime what can we do. Anything we attain by letters, votes and appeals can be undone in five minutes at the annual general meeting. Can we afford to send down two or three hundred voting delegates to Toronto? Of course we can't.

SEEK PROXY VOTES

There is only one thing we can do, set up an appeal for proxy votes. Every company gives its shareholders the right to vote by proxy if they cannot attend annual meetings. We are shareholders in the Canadian Kennel Club. Clubs give their members the right to vote by proxy. Why can't the maritime's director go to the annual meeting with the proxy votes of his provincial members with which to meet the votes of Toronto and vicinity voters? Why can't your western directors do likewise.

We elect these people. We trust them to put our views forward at Toronto. Then we send them down and they have one vote for their entire province. A simple matter of finances and distances.

Why should all the advantage lie with those persons situated close to head office?

And let us not talk about referendum ballots. The annual general meeting went over the whole ballot after the votes were counted. We still have repercussions of that, as you will see if you read your minutes.

No wonder the West is gaining fewer and fewer members. No wonder they prefer to join their local clubs. Their votes count there.

We must get together on this. I think we are asking for the reasonable thing. I think if we ask long enough and loud enough we might even be able to convince the Torontonians that we are entitled to a voice in the policies of a national organization.

What do you think? And how many letters can you get into this office telling me about your views so that I can present a really strong picture to the Board? It's entirely up to you. I have one voice. I should have hundreds. Are you prepared to do your part?

Hector L. Watson, M.D., C.M.,
Provincial Director.

Exhibition Dog Shows Thrive

By BARBARA BROWN

IT'S showtime across Canada. From coast to coast breeders, owners and fanciers are showing their dogs, hoping 1952 will be the big year for them.

AUGUST DATES

Late August is the time for the exhibition shows with the three big exhibition shows all starting at the end of the month. The Ottawa Exhibition starts things rolling with a one-day show on Aug. 23. From there the Canadian National Exhibition takes over for three two-day shows, Aug. 27 to Sept. 2 with the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, holding one two-day and one one-day shows Aug. 29 and 30 and Sept. 1.

Another top exhibition, Western Fair at London, Ont., is staging its dog show October 2—about three weeks after the regular exhibition—in conjunction with the London Canine Association and the Forest City Kennel Club. It is to be London's first three day dog show circuit.

Exhibition shows vary with their geographical location. Well-organized, smooth-running shows are the desire of the Eastern exhibition committees while out on the West coast showmanship is the by-word of the P.N.E. This showmanship is attracting exhibitors from across the Dominion and the U.S. as well as bringing in the crowds.

The biggest crowd-catcher is the C.N.E. where it is estimated between 40,000 and 50,000 persons attended the dog and cat shows last year.

"The C.N.E. is possibly the premier show in Canada where 50 percent of the attendance is exhibition visitors who take in the dog show as one of the main attractions, and the show is one of the most popular attractions staged by the exhibition", Sam Foster, manager, department of agriculture for the Exhibition, said in an interview with DOGS IN CANADA.

(Last year, the Oakville and District Kennel Club had the largest single entry—513—of any single show in Canada.)

BIG BUSINESS

To say the show is big business is putting it mildly. From the first C.N.E. show in 1880 entries have swelled from 248 to 895 during the two shows of '51.

The Ottawa Exhibition, according to H. H. McElroy, general manager of the Central Canada Exhibition Association, expects between 250 and 350 entries this year, which is comparable to early shows in Ottawa's 28-year exhibition show history.

In the lengthy history of Canadian exhibition shows a gradual change, imperceptible in some cases, marked in others, appears. A movement toward perfection.

The C.N.E. has been a pioneer in these improvements. It was the first to bring European judges to do the honors, Mr. Foster said. Much of the international flavor of the C.N.E. shows stems from the activities of the late John Kent and the late H. B. Donovan, both of whom were the Canadian Kennel Club's first delegates on the exhibition's board of directors when the C.N.E. extended membership to the CKC in 1889.

The late John Holgate, who was considered one of the finest judges in England at his time, was one of the many good judges who put Ottawa into the international show picture.

LIKE BEACON

In showmanship the P.N.E. stands out like a beacon. Aim on the west coast is to give people something to see.

"Present plan", W. H. Pym, chairman of the dog show committee, said, "is to present dogs to the public (in as far as possible) in the same manner a merchant would present his best stock"—the "we're-proud-of-our-dogs-and-want-to-show-them-off" attitude.

Mr. Pym compared the first P.N.E. show in 1910 to the plans for the 1952 show and commented that the difference between the two was the "same as between a horse and buggy and a cadillac".

His committee feels many of the exhibition attenders know very little, if anything, about dogs. Rather than have them pass up the show, the committee plans to draw them to it with a Barnum and Bailey touch.

Green velvet trimmed with yellow, P.N.E. colors, decks the steward's tables. Upholstered theatre chairs around the ring, brightly painted benching, indoor exercise rings—all these provide novice viewers with the initial "something to see".

In past years, P.N.E. shows have featured such drawing cards as the obedience skit "Showtime" starring Darby, Belle, Kim and Jill. This year puppy classes will be featured.

On the other hand, C.N.E. and Ottawa shows are run strictly as shows without the trimmings of the west coasters. They, too, draw the crowds—too many at times—and officially are most concerned with keeping the shows moving smoothly.

The famous Can. and Am. CH. PRUNE'S OWN BLUE MOON is one of the many Best in Show winners of the C.N.E.'s shows. He is seen at right with his handler, judge Mrs. Sherman Hoit of Hartford, Conn. (left) and Mrs. R. C. Berkinshaw, wife of the 1950 C.N.E. president.

59TH YEAR

Mr. Foster said the C.N.E. has "perhaps done more than any other organization to popularize dog shows". Its lengthy history—this is the 59th year of dog shows—is one of continual improvement in procedure and popularity, both from the point of view of exhibitor and public.

All three shows were discontinued during the war years but for the most part have been steady annual attractions since their inception.

The Ottawa show is conducted by the Central Canada Exhibition Association in a similar manner to the way the C.N.E. and P.N.E. boards run those shows. However, the dog show committee for Ottawa consists of kennel club representatives from Ottawa and Hull with other interested parties.

Prior to 1940, P.N.E. shows were run by west coast kennel clubs, now a show committee receives its authority from the exhibition board.

In Toronto, W. A. Harris has been chairman of the show committee for many years and receives his authority from the C.N.E. board of directors.

Prizes awarded at these shows are always an attraction. This year the C.C.E.A. is offering walnut plaques with bronze shields for best in show at Ottawa and larger plaques for the group winners.

Exhibition shows of today are the culmination of years of work by faithful individuals with vision. They saw the possibilities exhibitions shows offered the dog world. Their hard work and careful planning have resulted in the efficiently run shows that raise interest not only in canine circles but also among the public. It is a result to be proud of, a goal for kennel clubs to work toward.

Will Your Dog Suffer?

WHAT about your dog at a show? Is he going to suffer because his routine has been changed? Will he have ample opportunity for exercise and to get a drink?

MANY HAVE DOUBTS

Many persons who are planning to show their dog for the first time have doubts about the welfare of their dog at a show. For people such as these W. H. Pym of Vancouver wrote a foreward for the Pacific National Exhibition dog show catalogue of 1951.

Mr. Pym said in part:

"Before your dog is permitted to enter the dog show building at shows licensed by the Canadian Kennel Club Inc., he must be examined and certified to be free of disease by the official veterinarian . . . As none but healthy dogs are in this building, and the building and equipment have been examined and approved by the Health Department . . . your dog is in good company and healthful surroundings.

"It is assumed you take proper care of your dog at home. You feed and exercise him morning and night. You exercised and fed him before you brought him to the show . . .

"Fresh water is available at the show and you should frequently give the dog an opportunity to partake of a drink, but do not leave the water dish on his bench.

"The management of this show understands dogs, their habits and requirements.

"No longer are dogs compelled to be taken to a common exercising spot . . . you are now provided with modern indoor exercising rings for each sex of your dog where you can turn your dog loose behind a safe wall at any time (except when the breed is being judged).

COMPETENT ATTENDANT

"The exercising rings are under the supervision of a competent attendant who services the ring after each individual use.

". . . we advise you to take your dog to the exercising ring several times during the day, and particularly immediately before your breed is scheduled to be judged."

"On the whole the usual routine of your dog's daily life will be little disturbed by his attendance at this show. If you must feed your dog while at the show do so at a time corresponding to his usual meal time . . . but feed lightly if your dog is to be judged after his usual mealtime, and refrain from inflicting mistaken kindness on him."

"A dog perspires through his tongue and you will not foolishly assume your dog is distressed because on occasion he may drool at the mouth."

These are a few of the suggestions and information given in Mr. Pym's article. While all shows may not have the same facilities as the P.N.E. show, most of the information holds true across the country.

Plan Big August Shows

THE comparatively new Hull and District Kennel Club, which held its first dog show in 1949, is looking forward to its biggest show yet August 24 at the Connaught Race Track near Hull.

UNBENCHED SHOW

Last year, the Hull club staged its show with 179 dogs benched and expects to top that this month. Mrs. Florence M. Adamson of Chelsea, Que., is the show secretary. This year the fourth show will be unbenched.

Judges for the show will be Dr. W. E. Shute of London, Ont., and Mr. Alf. Loveridge of Toronto.

J. W. Dockrill, now president of the Ottawa Kennel Club, was first president of the Hull group. He was elected when the club was formed in 1948.

The following year, M. C. McLean was elected president and has held that office ever since.

Members of the Hull Kennel Club join with Ottawa on the Central Canada Exhibition committee, which this year is staging its show the day previous.

IN HOSPITAL

Friends of John A. Marks of Ottawa, owner of "Camelot Kennels (Bulldogs)," will regret to learn that he has been confined to hospital but is expected to be released early this month. He suffered a heart attack and complications set in which caused the removal of his right leg.

Many Champions

One out of every seven new champions listed in the July issue of DOGS IN CANADA was owned by an Ottawa and district person. Reference to this was made by E. B. Reid in a recent column in the Ottawa Journal. This ratio, Mr. Reid said, "would indicate, when the total dog population of Canada is taken into consideration, that the proportion of champions in Ottawa is very high".

New champions listed were: John I. Florence's two Cockers, La Paloma Sunglow and Stockdale Liberty Lad; Brian Noel of Huntley, an Irish Setter bred by Mrs. Blanche Bleeks-Walters; an Irish Wolfhound, owned by Miss June Craid; the Collie, Quarrybrae Nifty Fifty, owned by O. E. Parent; Cinderella Gipsy of Ronas Hill, a Shetland Sheepdog, owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Lovett of Carp; a wire-haired Terrier owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dockrill; a Scottish Terrier, Ben Braggie Braw Lad, owned by Fred Fraser, and a Miniature Schnauzer owned by the Oak Gable Kennels at Hazeldean.

THE 28th All-Breed Championship Dog Show on the final day, August 23, of the Central Exhibition at Lansdowne Park in Ottawa is expected to draw both a large entry and large crowds of spectators. Up to 350 entries are expected.

ON COMMITTEE

The show is conducted by the Central Canada Exhibition with representatives on the committee from both the Ottawa and Hull kennel clubs. President of the Ottawa Kennel Club is J. W. Dockrill and heading the Hull Kennel Club is M. C. (Mac) McLean.

The dog show will be held in the large Coliseum as has been the practice in recent years.

At one time dog shows were ballyhooed in a similar manner to other midway attractions in an effort to stimulate interest. And at the same period the dogs were paraded in front of the grandstand during the intermission between harness horse races to catch the attention of the crowd.

The Ottawa Kennel Club which plays a large part in the exhibition show has a history dating back to the pre-World War I period. One of its longest presidents was Frank H. Plant, now honorary life president. W. C. Baldwin is a lifetime director and life members included: the late George Robertson, Harry Fraser, J. A. Ferguson, W. G. Walters, M. C. McLean and Fred Coleman.

Some of the presidents in recent years have been, besides Messrs. Plant and Dockrill, John Barlow, Jack Farmer, E. B. Reid and Mrs. Blanche Walters.

Other well-known oldtimers in the dog game around Ottawa are such names as Dr. Robert Barnes, Fred C. McLean, Lt. .Col. H. Stothers, Andy Armstrong, the late Cecil Bethune and the late Ed. Runions.

The dog game around Ottawa has had its ups and downs but many of the oldtimers observe that today, as never before, there is every indication that interest in the canine fancy is on the threshold of record heights.

MARITIME CIRCUIT

By GEOFF. G. RYDER

(Mr. Geoffrey G. Ryder who for many years has been correspondent for DOGS IN CANADA in the Maritimes, reviews and comments on the recent Maritime dog show circuit in the following article.—ED.)

THE Show season in the Maritimes for 1952 got away to a most auspicious start with the 16th Annual All-breed Show of the Pictou County K.C. in New Glasgow June 18th.

SEVERE HANDICAP

This Club has labored under a severe handicap since its organization, in that its members were unable to obtain a building that was suitable for a dog show. But now, through the hard work and enterprise of a few public-spirited citizens, they have a splendid new rink at their disposal. One admires the "stick-to-itiveness" of some of veteran club members who worked so hard through the difficult years to keep the club flag flying. And it is to be hoped with the great handicap removed, they will be able to carry on to bigger and better things.

The entries this year were a little disappointing but New Glasgow is not the only Club to suffer for entries appear to be down right across the country.

The judge was Ronald J. Vaughan of Rothsay, N.B., he, as well as his clean cut and well-considered decisions, are known to all Maritime exhibitors. They were, as always, well received.

He awarded Best in Show to an imported Wire Haired Fox Terrier, Ch. Whitwyre Monopoly, owned and handled by veteran breeder Billy Smith of Halifax. This award was most popular with the ringside as was the award of Reserve Best to an imported solid Black Cocker, "Crestline Cavalier", owned by Harry Story and Roy Dauphinee, and handled by Miss Val Dauphinee. Best Canadian bred went to a very smart little Smooth Fox Terrier, owned and handled by Miss Phyllis Fulton of Truro, N.S.; while the Best Canadian Bred Puppy fell to a very promising home-bred Boston, shown by his breeder, Dr. Malcolm MacAulay, popular President of the Cape Breton, K.C. This puppy is "Dinah Mites Little Peter".

BRIGHTER SHOWS

The sixth and seventh annual shows of the Cape Breton K.C. were held in the Venetian Gardens at Sydney, N.S., on June 25 and 26. It would appear that this very progressive Club have been inspired by the oft-repeated cry for "brighter dog shows", and decided to do something about it.

The Venetian Gardens is a Dance Pavilion built right down on the seashore, where in hot weather as experienced each day of the shows, one can enjoy cool breezes off the Atlantic. The building has two floors, the dogs being benched on the lower floor and a spacious ring and ample seating capacity on the second. This arrangement was most pleasing, as it was comfortable and most of the usual noise was eliminated.

The Show was highlighted by the Sydney Girls Pipe Band and their colorful Tartans. The skirl of pipes and the lilt of their Highland music, gave the show a truly and appropriate Highland atmosphere. These lassies gave clever exhibitions of Highland dancing at frequent intervals during each evening and their efforts were loudly acclaimed by the large audience.

But quite the most unique and pleasing feature of each evening was their piping of the judge into the ring.

Another pleasing innovation was an exhibition of obedience work by a class of junior students and their dogs. These youngsters were trained by Miss Rhoda Curtis and her associate, Mrs. A. Z. Whitman. The audience were thrilled by the very clever way they put their Dogs through their drills. Mr. Helms Crutchfield, of Richmond, Va., himself an experienced authority in obedience work, told me that he was amazed at the degree of efficiency of these youngsters in so short a time. Coming from such an authority, this was high praise indeed and these two ladies deserve the greatest credit.

The judge on the first day was Mrs. Alva McColl of Toronto, and on that day the club president, Dr. MacAulay, had a real field day. His Boston Terrier puppy "Dinah Mite's Little Peter" walked off with Best in Show, Best Canadian Bred and Best Canadian bred Puppy in Show. This was an outstanding performance for a 10-month-old. We shall watch his future with much interest.

Reserve Best in Show went to Percy Sawler's great American Cocker, "Ambition of Brookside". If applause is any criterion, the judge's decisions were pleasing to the ringside.

HIGHLY REGARDED

The judge for the second day was A. M. Fitzgerald of Pickering, Ont., this was his first appearance in a judging capacity in N.S., although he is a well-known exhibitor. His opinion is highly rated, evidenced by the enthusiasm with which his award of Best in Show was received.

It was a history-making one with the beautiful and striking Weimaraner

Good Winners Play The Game

(We feel it appropriate to republish in this issue devoted to dog shows, a fine article written for DOGS IN CANADA by the late James D. Strachan, popular secretary of the C.K.C. for 22 years, after his retirement from office in 1941. Mr. Strachan was an exhibitor of dogs throughout his long association with the sport. His views on dog show ethics can be considered as timely today as when the article was written.—ED.)

By JAMES D. STRACHAN

AS A foundation ethic, nothing could be more substantial than this one—"Let the best dog win no matter to whom he belongs."

HONESTY IMPORTANT

Worthy building material might easily be "rectitude and common honesty". Material to be rejected might be "selfishness, jealousy and bickering."

Everyone ought to be content to start the race from scratch and to be satisfied with their placing when they reach the finishing tape.

The duty of each exhibitor is to secure the best specimen of the breed of his choice that it is possible for him to obtain, and having done so, his constant concern should be for the dog's general welfare.

Well-balanced diet, plenty of clean drinking water, comfortable kennel quarters, generous exercising facilities, sufficient grooming and preparation for the show, and then you may have every right to expect your dog to be ready for the judge to inspect in the ring.

The dog that is or has been wormy, the dog that is or has been constipated, the dog that is or has been neglected more or less, may well be in the ring with you, but he will very often be beaten at the very outset and very often the joy of the show will be lost at this point.

BECLOUD ISSUE

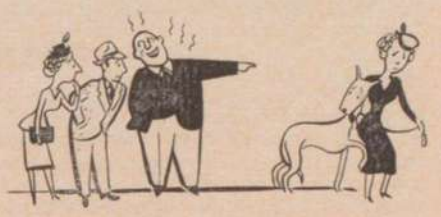
The loser may easily becloud the atmosphere, be semi-secretly inferring that he "knew all the time that he was going to lose", that he "had been tipped off" that so and so dog had to win. Nothing is so detrimental to dog showing than the methods of the unethical insinuating loser.

After many years of association with judges I am thoroughly convinced that 99 per cent of our judges are honest.

It is quite true that I would not say, could not say in fact, that 99 per cent of our judges were competent, but honesty and competency are two widely separated virtues, and the 99 per cent of judges who are honest are entitled to our utmost respect, as the 100 per cent mark represents perfection and perfection calls for wings and harp and one-way transportation to the realms above.

If it is human to err, remember that judges and exhibitors alike are human. Most of us are more or less selfish in many things and selfishness amongst civilized people is simply a throw-back to savagery.

Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on through life,
I ask but a field that is fair,
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,
A courage to strive and dare;
And if I should win, let it be by the code,
With my faith and my honor held high;
And if I should lose, let me stand by the road,
And cheer as the winners go by.



FAKING NOVICES

A lot of ink has been spilled on the matter of faking. Breed representatives at Canadian National Live Stock Record Board annual meetings have made it quite clear that dog fanciers are really novices in the art of clever faking.

Exhibitors are no doubt justified in doing everything within their power to win in a legitimate way, but by the same token they are not justified in trying to win by unlawful means, such as trying to influence a judge, making a dog look what he is not, etc.

Novice fanciers are likely to consider their geese to be all swans. The novice hears so much talk about "favoritism" that he is apt to get harmful impressions which he will never be able to properly unload and this in itself should induce experienced exhibitors to play the game fairly.

To fool the novice is a practice that no self-respecting fancier should tolerate or indulge in. To have a novice exhibit his dog on unreliable advice, and when he loses, to suggest that favoritism beat him and not quality is a crime against the sport of exhibiting to say the least.

To raise hope in the mind of the novice and to see that hope curelly dashed to the ground is a terrible thing, but to place the failure to favoritism or to lack of knowledge on the part of the judge is likely to drive the novice right out of the game, and is quite contrary to the ethics of the show ring.

It is true there is a wide range of diversity of opinion as to the merits and demerits of dogs, and perhaps this is caused by the study and education of the modern dogs and the interpretation of standards. This difference of opinion, when legitimate, although it may hurt plenty when it clashes with the opinion of one's self or with the opinions of others, is really a blessing in disguise since it furnishes that great uncertainty in showing dogs which gives a piquancy to the sport that is relished by all true sportsmen and sportswomen.

NO SPORTSMANSHIP

Then there is the exhibitor that must win at any price—or some folks say—whether their dog is good enough or not. Such fanciers are unethical and sportsmanship is quite an unknown quality with them.

Then there is the exhibitor who may be willing to pay a price to get certain dogs removed out of a show before the judging starts, because certain other dogs have been entered or are present. Can anyone say that such a type of sportsman is any advantage to dog showing?

To offset this type of exhibitor we happily have fanciers who could never appreciate any win that was not fully deserved. Such fanciers are always the best losers as they are always the best and most gracious winners.

An exhibitor knows when he looks at his premium list before he makes out his entries everything about a show—the show-giving Club, the place, the judges, the prizes—and so he has the privilege of confidently writing out his cheque and signing the entry form on the dotted line.

He also has the privilege of placing the premium list in the wastepaper basket if he is not interested.

But once he agrees to the terms of the contract by signing the entry form then he should be satisfied to win or to lose as the judges may decide on the day.

A good judge is born, not made, and such a judge is capable of quickly comparing degrees of merit. He has studied the anatomy of the dog, and the sense of feeling tells him of structural faults when they are present.

His eye quickly appraises proportion of quality. His method of handling and placing his dogs all show his knowledge and ability, and as he finally arranges the placings and hands out his degrees of favor he is justly entitled to your approval of his work.

The chances are mostly all in favor of his having been honest, that he knows more about the dogs than you do—therefore, show him that you entered your dog to get his opinion and now that you have it—first in ten or last—show him that you acknowledge his judgment.

It is good to be a good winner. It is much better to be a good loser.

It is unethical to be "in the game" and not to "play it".

Success of Trials Increases

(Mr. Vic Granger, CKC Field Trial Representative for Alberta, gives his impressions of field trials on the prairie circuit this year in the following article.—ED).

By VIC GRAINGER

I cannot refrain from bragging a bit about our increasing success with retriever trials on the western Canadian prairie. Saskatoon has been added to our list, and what an effort they put on to make everyone happy! The grounds were well selected with plenty of chance to vary the tests and give the dogs an opportunity to show their stuff.

ENCOURAGING SIGN

A very encouraging sign was the large entry of junior and non-winners which points towards the Saskatchewan boys coming along with something good for the All-Age later. The all-age stake did not last as long as we expected.

I realize that we made the walk-up test much too severe by throwing the bird from behind the dogs and some real top dogs could not stand the excitement which caused them to break and be eliminated.

The officials and committee in charge made a wonderful job of everything. A large tent was arranged as a dining room, and what fine meals. In charge of the dining room was Mrs. Pat Randall, who for many years was a CKC director and is a real judge and handler. I have known her for several years to be a big help to Field Trials in keeping the Sporting Dog where he belongs, a useful hunting dog, as well as show type.

I attended all the other trials and two shows all of which were in Alberta.

Something at the Calgary show started me wondering. There were around 10 golden Labradors and only one black.

Surely the black breeders are not going to let the blacks go like the Setters and Pointers. Anything that looked like a setter or pointer was good enough for hunting.

The very capable field marshal, manager and chairman of the field committee of the Calgary Club, Mr. W. B. (Bill) Gault was the big winner at one of these shows. He finished Calder's Golden Gypsy. She is a field dog and will be in action at the next Retriever Trial.

Edmonton was the first trial in Alberta and an unbelievable improvement over last spring. The tests were well arranged and looked plenty tough, but 10 out of 16 dogs entered in the all-age came through and completed all seven tests.

Everything went smoothly and without delay. I wonder if the new secretary, Mrs. W. E. Madge, deserves a lot of credit for this improvement. She is very interested and doing a grand job.

The only criticism would be a bit more exchanging of judges and not stick to the local judges so tightly.

TESTS STIFF

Drumheller was next. While the tests were very stiff, yet practical, there seemed to be too much time wasted between tests and too many stakes for one day. I believe next Fall there should be a two-day trial and more team work to hustle things along and give enought time for enough tests for the open All-Age.

Possibly the 19 entries were more than expected. If these trials keep on increasing we may be forced to get back to the qualification for All-Age which we had removed from the definition in the rule book a few years ago. This may work a hardship on some, as I noticed in B.C., there have been trials in the past year with the minimum of eight entries to make a point trial.

The Calgary trial was held on two days and this was really a trial to brag about. Never before have I seen such practical, well-varied tests carried out so smoothly. The 1952 officers cannot be praised too highly.

Here we had 17 entries in both the All-Age and the Non-Winners, with many juniors and puppies coming up. The way secretary, Mrs. L. Phillips, handled her job was commendable. The extra charge, as published in the entry form, was enforced for all post entries. The program was nicely arranged, pointing out the value of the Retriever as a conservationist and some good hints on field trial etiquette.

PONOKA LAST

Ponoka was last on the Spring circuit, with 15 entries in the All-Age, 11 in the novice and four puppies. It was advertised on the entry form, 'positively no post entries'. This may have kept entries down a little.

The weather was rainy and cold at times but the tests were arranged accordingly. At that only five dogs came through to the finish.

If the handler must carry the gun and shoot, why should it not be made a rule that he shall bring the gun to his shoulder and point it at the bird to fire? Instead I saw some handlers hold the gun at their side, fire straight up, and at the same time watching and commanding their dogs to heel and sit. I think this practice should be stopped.

It was pleasing to see the past officers of this club standing by the new officers and giving them guidance and a helping hand when needed. There is a very harmonious membership in this club.

Two big things are in store for the championship point winners. Any dog winning a place in open All-Age competition will be invited to compete in the national to be held in Alberta at the end of the Fall circuit. This should be well worth trying for and many are trying hard to place.

Another is something to shoot at for years to come—a trophy for the Retriever winning the most points each year. Instead of all the clubs equally sharing the cost, J. E. Jefferies, of Calgary, has kindly donated a beautiful and elaborate trophy to the Alberta Field Trials Club. The Club has placed this trophy in competition for the Retriever dog winning the most open All-Age championship points in trials on the Canadian prairie provinces each year.

Eleven dogs have already made a start on this. The highest point winner has 13 points. Anything can happen during the six Fall circuit trials starting Sept. 1.

Dog Skin Cares

Dogs often suffer from loss of hair arising from a variety of causes, but it does not follow that because a dog is losing its hair it is suffering from "mange". In very many cases nothing more is needed than a little blood medicine.

Sulphur is one of the best of these and can easily be given to dogs mixed with a syrup.

Careful attention ought also to be paid to dieting.

A little extra grooming is very beneficial in all cases of skin trouble, as it stimulates the growth of the hair. A soft brush should be used—not too stiff a one—and the oftener it is used the better.

Do not begin to plaster a dog all over with some abominable home-made concoction directly he shows any sign of skin irritation or loss of hair. In all probability it will increase the irritation instead of relieving it.

In cases of skin irritation a cooling lotion is essential and most effective. After using this the skin can be sponged with water and the dog can be rubbed dry with a towel. Then he will be left very comfortable. A continual application should soon effect a cure.

In bad cases of eczema it is advisable to use a good antiseptic ointment as well. This keeps the skin soft and cool, after the lotion has been used, until another dressing is applied. Iron is an excellent thing for the blood, and is a very useful tonic for all skin diseases, in that it enriches the blood and does away with all impurities.

Shows, Trials Hit 110 Mark

ROUNDING the corner into the eighth month of 1952, a survey shows Canada has held 41 dog shows, benched and unbenched, 16 field trials and 17 obedience trials. Still to come, with dates approved by the Canadian Kennel Club, are 35 shows and many trials.

The Canadian National Sportsmen's Shows in Toronto, March 19-22 started off the show year. Last show of the year is not yet definite but at publication time Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association had the latest date—Nov. 7.

Because of the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan earlier in the year many of the western provincial exhibition boards have cancelled their dog shows for this year.

TOP DOGS

Following are the top dogs for the first seven months of 1952:

CH. KINDON SAUCY SUE, a perky Cairn Terrier, owned by Mrs. G. W. Hyslop of Brockville, Ont., trotted off with the first best in show of the year at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show in March. She also took top honors at the Ladies Kennel Club of Canada show in Montreal in late April and followed that with a third BIS at the Aurora and District Club show the middle of May.

Last winner of the 41 shows prior to August 1, was our cover dog CH. NICODEMUS OF LENAIR who took best in show and Best Canadian Bred at the Streetsville and District Kennel Club show and obedience trials, July 26. Owner is John Clapp of Toronto.

Four-time top dog so far in 1952 is FLO BOB'S MR. MARKER, an American Cocker, who won best in show awards at Kiwanis Club of Kerrisdale show, April 12; Capital City Club of Alberta, Edmonton, May 8; Alberta Kennel Club, May 13; B.C. Ladies Kennel Club, May 24. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bailey of Portland, Ore.

CH. EDMAR'S CAESAR AUGUSTUS, a Boxer, preceded MR. MARKER at both the latter two shows, winning a best in show at both the Alberta Kennel Club show of May 12, and at the B.C. Ladies Kennel Club show, May 23. His first BIS of 1952 came on April 19 at the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association show. He is owned by Miss Jane Campbell of Vancouver.

CH. TATJAN OF REKLAW, a Doberman Pinscher, took best in show at both Ottawa Kennel Club shows on April 4 and 5. His awards came from Governor General Vincent Massey. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wickstrom of Kitchener.

Another two-time winner was CH. MAYCHN OF MERIDIAN, owned by Mr. and Mrs. S. Pomeroy of Puyallup, Wash. He was BIS at the Kiwanis Club of Kerrisdale, B.C., show, April 11, and the Western Canada Boxer Club Specialty on May 24.

The Pekingese PROSPER TOP took best in show at the Kent Kennel Club show in Chatham, May 9, and two days later at the Windsor Kennel Club show.

Honor of being the first of his breed to win a best in show on the North American continent came to HELMANHOF'S SKYROCKET, a Weimaraner, June 26, at the Cape Breton Kennel Club show. He clinched his claim to fame on July 1 at Halifax when he took a second best in show.

Other Canadian shows, their dates and best in show winners are:

Canadian National Sportsmen's, March 21, 22, TORONTINA (Fox Terrier, wire), owned by Anton Rost of New York.

Victoria City Kennel Club, March 7, PERSONALITY'S BONNY WISE (Boston Terrier), owned by Pearl E. Wise of Portland, Ore.

Victoria City Kennel Club, March 8, CH. LYMAS MASTER KEY (English Cocker), owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts of Abbotsford, B.C.

Cocker Club of Central Ontario, April 11, MADDIES VAGABOND'S RETURN (American Cocker), owned by Mrs. M. Peuquent of Buffalo, N.Y.

Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, April 18, LOBER'S HOT ZIGGITY (Boxer), owned by Mr. A. H. Campbell of Vancouver.

Guelph Kennel Club, April 19, MINKA - VON - STEGLICH (German Shepherd), owned by Samuel Back, Toronto.

English Cocker Spaniel Club of Alberta, May 8, GLENWOOD'S CHIEFTAN (Scottish Terrier), owned by Mrs. G. Shillinglaw of New Westminster.

Sarnia Kennel Club, May 10, CH. NICHOLAS OF SLEEPING BEAR (Borzoi), owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark of Glenn Arbor, Mich.

Canine Breeders' and Exhibitors' Association of Canada, May 24, CH. KURRAMSON EL MYIA (Afghan Hound), owned by Mary C. Matchett of Highland Creek, Ont.

German Shepherd Club, May 23, CH. DOCTOR OF LONGWORTH (German Shepherd), owned by Winnifred Dorchester of West Vancouver.

Greater Winnipeg Ladies' Kennel Club, May 23, CH. BONACRES VICTORIA OF KILLORAN (Collie, rough), owned by John Low of Winnipeg.

Greater Winnipeg Ladies' Kennel Club, May 24, SU-ROI'S-FU-LING (Pekingese), owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Borse of St. Boniface, Man.

Ontario County Kennel Club, Oshawa, May 31, CH. PILOT OF SANDOREA, C.D.X. (German Shepherd), owned by George Lucas of Toronto.

Barrie Kennel Club, June 7, CH. SOVEREIGN'S ESCORT (Boston Terrier), owned by Mrs. Dorothy Drury of Oakville, Ont.

Central Ontario Beagle Club, June 15, ERIN-CREEK-TIM (Beagle), owned by W. Hagarth, Streetsville, Ont.

Progressive Kennel Club of Canada, June 14, CH. LUDAR OF BLUE BAR (English Setter), owned by W. C. Sears of Detroit.

Pictou County Kennel Club, June 18, CH. WHITWYRE MONOPOLY (Fox Terrier), owned by W. G. Smith of Halifax.

Hamilton Kennel Club, June 21, BOUQUET NOUVELLE AMI (French Bulldog), owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph West of Detroit.

Cape Breton Kennel Club, June 25, DINAH MITE'S LITTLE PETER (Boston Terrier), owned by Dr. M. J. Macaulay of Sydney, N.S.

Burnaby Kennel Club, July 2, ELECTRA V RIN-TIN-TIN (German Shepherd), owned by Evelyn Lindberg of Clackamas, Ore.

Burnaby Kennel Club, July 3, CH. H'IN SAN'S AH CUM SEE (Pekingese), owned by Gladys Creasey of North Vancouver.

The Toy Dog Breeders Association of Canada, July 12, LADY VALERIE OF WALKLEY (Yorkshire Terrier), owned by Harry Draper of Holland Landing, Ont.

DOGS IN CANADA is paying a monthly visit to the hospital—but for a cheer-up rather than a check-up.

Through the courtesy of The Canadian Kennel Club veterans hospitals across the Dominion are being sent free copies of each issue of the official publication.

On the instruction of the Board of Directors copies were first sent out in June and 21 veterans hospitals were asked if they wished to be placed on the DOGS IN CANADA mailing list gratis. Without exception, most hospitals have sent replies accepting DOGS IN CANADA as "a welcome addition" to their libraries.

Manners Mean Much in Ring

MANNERS mean much in the show ring and many a novice fails through not thoroughly schooling himself and his dog before entering the ring.

EXPERIENCED OPINIONS

That is the opinion of several experienced masters of the show ring.

Here are many things which such writers as Phyllis Robson and others say about manners in the show ring.

Manners mean far more than the dog's strict obedience to his handler. They mean more than his not looking around or chasing other dogs. Manners encompass the whole behavior while in the show ring.

Like fashion models, the dog must be able to walk properly. His movements must be graceful for they contribute to the overall picture he presents.

The dog must stand rigidly at attention when told to do so, must be able to pose perfectly without fidgeting. He must learn to be a showman, first, last and always. But to be a showman he must have a show-conscious handler.

At the outset you must gain your dog's entire confidence so that even if he doesn't understand what you are trying to make him do he will feel it is important to you that he does what you are asking. Then it becomes important to him.

PATIENCE REQUIRED

The task of teaching a proper walk, trot and run so that his best points show requires patience and a great deal of walking on the part of the handler. Terriers especially have trouble gaining a graceful carriage.

In addition to walking, both handler and dog must learn how to pause and pose, to do everything with complete abandon, ignoring all other dogs and people.

An aid in this is to walk the dog around the ring in which he is to be shown, some time before the judging. Once he is familiar with the ring he is not so tempted to look around.

From the moment your dog steps into the ring he is on show. He is THE show, the leading man stepping into the spotlight. The success of his performance depends largely upon his training.

Just as an actor must learn his lines and co-ordinate them with his movements, your dog must learn the different steps in showing so they are natural to him and he doesn't appear stiff.

The dog which looks as if he is enjoying himself has a proud appearance, and presents his best to the judge. A dog who is unwilling to be a showman may be shy, but generally indicates poor training.

You'll Make a Judge, IF?

(With apologies to Rudyard Kipling)

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too,
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about, don't deal in lies
Or being hated, don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise.

If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two impostors just the same,
If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools;
If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with Kings—nor lose the common touch,
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much.

Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a Judge, my son.

Book Reviews

Popular Dogs

by Phyllis Robson

The second edition of this well-known book has been thoroughly revised and brought up-to-date by the author who is Consultant Editor of the "Dog World" (England) and is one of the best known figures in Dogdom today. Since Popular Dogs was first written more than fifteen years ago, many new breeds have sprung into popularity and in this new edition, which is largely re-written, Mrs. Robson has drawn upon her wealth of knowledge to write fully about them.

The chapters in this book include: Dogs and Their Origin, Choosing a Dog, Some Breeding Problems Past and Present, Line Breeding and In-Breeding, Kennels and Kennel-Maids, Puppy Rearing and Training, The Dog and His Food, Training and Education, Dog Shows and Their Purpose, Dogs and the Law, Improving the Dog, Management of Dogs, and many other interesting topics are dealt with.

The Popular Guide to Puppy Rearing

by Olwen Gwynne-Jones

This book is packed with practical and authoritative information on every aspect of puppy rearing. Novice and expert alike will find this book an authoritative mine of information. The latest and most authoritative veterinary information on many subjects, including difficult parturition, streptococcal infection and "hardpad" will be found in this book.

The book is illustrated to show a good type of travelling box, a whelping box, a suggested lay-out of kennels and runs for a few dogs, a useful bed for sick puppies, a show bench prepared for a puppy, and a pattern for a pneumonia jacket.

You've Got To Be Shown

By BARBARA BROWN

"SURE that's my picture on the billboard", said the Setter with a twinkle. "I've modelled for lots of pictures."

WALK, TROT, PACE

"Gee", said the Cocker longingly, "I wish I could have my picture on a billboard. All I do all day is walk up and down, trot, run and pose, pose, pose."

"That's why you ran away eh?"

"Well . . ."

"Listen small fry, those are the things you've got to know if you're going to make any showing in the ring. You're just a pup yet. Wait 'til you're out of the Regular Classes and you'll see some sense to all that training."

LIKE BEAUTY SHOW

"There's not going to be a "wait 'til" and there's not going to be a first time for me", the pup barked back. "It's silly all this prancing up and down, you'd think I was going in a beauty show, not a dog show."

"Kid, there's more to showing you than handing in your pedigree. A Best In Show takes finesse."

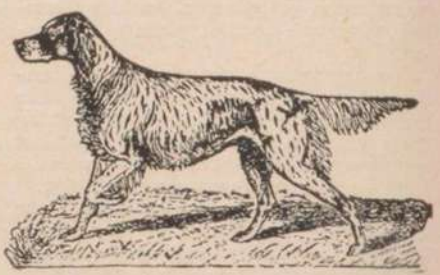
"Fin—what?"

"Finesse. That's what champions have. It's knowing what to do at the right moment and always looking your best in the ring, sensing when the judge is casting a sly look at you when you aren't looking.

FINESSE WINS

"Finesse wins the prizes after breeding and training are complete.

"It takes time and a few shows to really understand what's going on. Once you know the fundamentals of showing yourself you can enjoy it. Your handler thinks he's showing you, but you know people.



"You can't take your championship in one show you know.

"Take my advice, go back and give it another whirl. It's not as hard as it seems and a darn sight easier than modelling for these things," he said nodding toward the billboard picture.

"Well, if you say so . . ."

"Don't worry, you'll love it—the ring, the other dogs, strutting your stuff and showing up all your competitors."

The pup pulled himself up to his full height, measured himself with the billboard and nodded approval.

"See you in the ring", he said turning homeward.

The Setter's eyes twinkled again.

"Well champ", he thought out loud looking at the billboard dog, "sorry about the discrepancy in identification but we couldn't let a promising pup like that run away too. You know, I'm kind of glad one of our litter is a champion. It's like I always said, takes more than breeding to make a show dog."

Edgemere Selected

By J. Ernie Sucee

"For the past two years I have operated a training school for all breeds of dogs in every manner of corrective and obedience training. My experience in training goes back a good many years and only within the last two years have I made my kennels and services open to the public. I have had a very successful two years of training customers' dogs and I hope to continue for a long time to come.

"One of the biggest thrills I have had recently was to be picked by Mr. and Mrs. W. Rapp Jr. of Buffalo, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Baer of Snyder, N.Y. to have their German Shepherds, Regin of Baresden and Lahn of Baresden, litter brothers sired by Ch. Shoes of De Grassi, trained for obedience trials at Edgemere Kennels."

Gain Importance

Obedience Trials Grow

By BAY MEYERS

OBEDIENCE trials have been gaining importance across Canada during the past few years as interest in this training spreads to breeders of many types of dogs. For the first time this year, the Oshawa Agricultural Fair will have obedience trials as one of its features and many of the country's main shows now hold obedience trials.

SIXTEEN SHOWS

During the first six months of 1952, 16 obedience shows were held in Canada. More were held during July and still more have been planned for the last five months of this year.

For years obedience work was held back by two popular fallacies — that obedience training spoils a dog for showing, and that all top awards in the obedience rings are automatically won by dogs of the Working Group.

To see that the first belief is patently absurd one has only to look at German Shepherd dogs here and in the United States to find consistent winners on the bench winning in the obedience ring.

And not only German Shepherds win in both rings.

Probably the most notable dual success scored in Ontario for several years was the Best in Show win made by the Standard Poodle CH. JEANNE'S EMPEROR MAXIMILLIAN at the Canine Breeders' show in Toronto, Maxie followed his Best in Show award with two fine obedience displays at the Canadian National Exhibition trials the same week, to complete his C.D. in three straight shows.

To see the foolishness of the second fallacy one has only to read the tests required for obedience titles to see that they are designed, not for the highly-specialized dog but for the average dog with the average owner.

If little Snoozie will sit for one minute away from his owner and will heel and obey his commands instantly, he will probably be a better obedience trial dog than a police-trained Shepherd that can scale a 12-foot wall and catch burglars by the score.

MISTAKEN BELIEFS

But these two mistaken beliefs still persist. Why?

The first may be caused by so much talk about heeling with the dogs sitting when the owner stops, and too little attention being paid to the stand-for-examination exercise.

Too few dogs are working happily and cheerfully.

As long as obedience dogs look as if they are working because they have to work instead of because they enjoy it, there is no incentive for breeders to train their show dogs.

A show dog that slinks around the ring is beaten before it starts.

The second fallacy is due partly, I think, to the German Shepherd breeders.

Long ago, they set themselves a goal of breeding dogs that were not only beautiful but were also real companions. No breed owners have adhered more closely to their ideals.

HAD OWN CLUBS

For years before general obedience for all breeds was known in this country, German Shepherd owners had their own training clubs, and the result is now that new fanciers take to obedience work naturally as soon as they become Shepherd owners.

But, as remarked earlier, the obedience tests are designed for all dogs.

Surely the attitude of other breed owners should be to accept these Working Dogs as a challenge to prove that their own breeds can and will work just as well if trained, instead of the fatalistic attitude that if there are three dogs of the Working Group in an obedience class, little Snoozie may get fourth.

Obedience training for all breeds has become an established thing in Canada through the hard work of a very few people. Now it is on the threshold of greater things it is up to all of us to pause, and as in the prayer of the young and incoherent curate: "Let us take our hearts and look them in the face"!

Do we want obedience to continue as it is now? Or do we want it to be such fun and so accepted that not only professional trainers but breeders and one-dog owners want to join in?

Let us throw our hats in the ring—Come Shepherd, come Dane, my Pekinese can give you a run for your money!

New Departure

A NEW departure in obedience trials has been launched by the Oshawa Fair Board in conjunction with the Ontario County Kennel Club. These two bodies are staging a CKC Obedience Trial on Aug. 16 at the annual Agricultural Fair in Oshawa.

FIRST TIME

This is the first time many of those attending the fair will have an opportunity to see what a trained dog can do as many of these dogs would not normally be attending a dog show.

On the other hand, exhibitors will have the opportunity of enjoying the other attractions of the fair, including horse racing, midway, grandstand attractions, heavy and light horse show, and general exhibits.

Credit for combining the trial and fair is due to Dr. W. H. G. How, fair president, and Mrs. Seaton Graham, chairman of the O.C.K.C. training class.

Judge will be Mrs. Mary Southcott, well-known in Ontario obedience circles.

WELL-KNOWN TRAINER

Another interesting feature of the trial will be the introduction to eastern Ontario of Brian Lewry, well-known English war-dog trainer, who recently settled in Canada. He has consented to act as ring steward.

Mr. Lewry served 7½ years as a trainer and handler of war dogs for the Royal Air Force in England and on the continent. He was also a handler in the first cross-bred guard team to be used by the R.A.F.

SOME FACTS ON

How to Choose Your Puppy Gift

By B. G. WYATT

SO the gift's to be a puppy.

DECIDE KIND

Well, let's take common sense in hand and decide what kind.

There are 113 breeds for you to choose from and the job is to decide which would be the best for your gift. Consideration must be given to whether or not the dog is to be just a pet or to be a hunter, guard or show dog. Many people prefer a combination.

Is he to be lively company for youngsters or a quiet companion for older folk?

If the gift is for a child an active dog who is not too boisterous could be the answer. The dog also could be of a breed that is easily groomed so the child can learn to care for him.

If Dad's a hunting man and intends to bring Junior up the same way, a water dog, such as a spaniel, fits the bill. Of course if the prospective owner lives on a fair amount of land so the dog has a place to run, retrievers are ideal.

Terriers are popular with the younger folk but long-haired dogs also hold a dear spot—a spot that a mother with dark upholstery and deeply-piled rugs may not share.

But all this is "old stuff" to the breeder. He knows dogs, he's studied them carefully.

What he wants to do is check such things as feeding costs, amount of grooming necessary, temperament, susceptibility to skin diseases, boisterousness and destructiveness of the breed, roaming, fighting, barking.

A quick look at the approximate cost per day to feed a dog shows it varies from the price of a city postage stamp (3c) to 35 cents, averaging well under a cent per pound of dog.

The Chihuahua is the least expensive eater but then he weighs only five pounds. The Irish Wolfhound, at 150 pounds, each day wolfs down the top cost of 35 cents.

MAKES SURVEY

A survey by Dr. Leon Whitney shows that the Spaniel family costs 8 to 10 cents per day to feed; Setters, 16 or 17; Hounds, 7 to 15; Bulldogs, 7 to 12; Terriers, 6 to 16; Watchdogs, 9 to 20; Shepherds, 10 to 16; Toys, 3 to 6; Giants, 23 to 35; Retrievers, 16 or 17; Poodles, 7 or 15; and Pointers, 15 cents per day.

Poodles need the most grooming, bulldogs and hounds the least. Terriers as a group need a fair amount of grooming while other groups need more.

The survey states the English Cocker has the most reliable temperament of all the main breeds. Bulldogs as a class are temperamentally reliable and the Toy group isn't far behind.

Terriers are the scrappers, says Dr. Whitney, though the bulldog doesn't ask any quarter in a brawl. Spaniels, Setters and Shepherds are the least likely to come home tattered.

Irish setters and Hounds are the most likely to give young minds anxious moments when they spend a few days roaming the countryside. Spaniels and Toys are the stay-at-home breeds.

No, I'm not forgetting his pedigree but that's a word that isn't as important as everyone makes out. Every animal, no matter what it is, has a pedigree if you want to search for it. What you want to be sure of is that he's from a registered litter.

When you are prepared to purchase your gift always see a reliable breeder. Reliable breeders are usually those who are well-established, those who know their breed thoroughly and are proud to advertise them in their favorite dog magazine, such as DOGS IN CANADA.

See these breeders and their dogs and learn what they have to offer. Or take your dog magazine to a show and see the champions the various advertised kennels are producing. From these champions come excellent offspring.

Or better still, if you plan to attend a show, take the one who is going to receive the gift and see what breed he prefers. Then consider the other people in the house who will have to live with the pet too.

Then you should be able to purchase a gift that will bring pleasure for years to come.

POODLES

All three varieties of poodles are being specially featured at the Oakville & District Kennel Club's show on September 27th. Due to the generosity of poodle lovers there will be $225.00 in cash prizes and 21 trophies for poodles in breed and obedience. Carey Lindsay, judge. Help your breed by showing your poodles in breed or obedience or for exhibition only (in the latter two they may be shown in any clip).

Caring For Your Kennel

(A veteran in the care and kennelling of German Shepherds, Mrs. George Corser, owner of Sunne Ridge Kennels, Dixie, Ont., writes the following article on the care and management of a kennel. Mrs. Corser has been in the dog game more than 20 years and her long experience has provided a rich background for her article.—ED.)

By NELLIE A. CORSER

IF you are about to build your first kennel, you probably are wondering how to go about the job, what size to make the kennel and of what type of construction it should be. These are among the problems faced by the builder of a new kennel.

LOCATION FIRST

The location of your kennel is the first thing, and one of the most important things, to consider. It should be built on the highest part of your lot where the drainage at all times will be better than if located on low ground, particularly where the soil is heavy.

Sunshine is important for it is the greatest enemy of germs and there should be a great deal of sunshine in the runs. Shade and protection from weather in the runs will be dealt with later in the article.

When you have decided on the location of your kennel, get your materials together for building. For the erection of a building 40 feet long by 20 feet wide, with cinders 6 inches deep on the ground for good drainage, you will need approximately three loads, or 19 cubic yards, which at spring, 1952, costs will be about $40.00.

Your foundation may be built of 8-inch cement blocks (1 block high). These blocks will cost approximately 24 cents each. You may apportion the above according to the size of building you desire.

A cement floor is always advisable, as it may be easily cleaned. Have a smooth surface put on your cement, as it is much easier kept in a sanitary condition, than if the surface is rough.

There are different types of construction. Today, brick construction is about on a par with wood construction.

ROCKCROFT KENNELS

There is also cement block. I feel, from talking with builders, that cement block has a tendency towards dampness.

My own kennel is frame construction, well insulated, and is never damp at any time. Equip your building with eavestrough, with leads running into a drain, or if you live in the country, have them run well away from your building. The best shingles to use are asphalt. At the time your building is constructed, have a chimney built of chimney cement blocks, from floor to well above the peak of your building, if it is your intention to use coal for heating. Never let anyone induce you just to cut a hole in your roof, and put a pipe through it. The fire hazard is too great.

KENNEL INTERIOR

The interior of your kennel is something that you will need to give considerable thought to, in accordance with your own particular needs. The following description is what I have found suitable for my own Sunne Ridge kennels. My kennel is 40 feet long by 20 feet wide. Located at the front of the kennel is the reception room, 12 feet by 12 feet. Beside the reception room is the kitchen, 8 feet by 12 feet.

Make your reception room attractive, with curtains suitable for the purpose, pictures of your own particular breed of dog, trophies, ribbons, etc. Equip it with a couple of comfortable chairs, a table or two, some magazines of interest to dog lovers, any literature available for the care and health of dogs.

As my kennel is heated with coal, I have the largest size Quebec heater, with oven, in the reception room, thus making it always comfortable, and keeping the rest of the kennel at a temperature of between 40 and 50 degrees all winter.

The kitchen is in truth a kitchen. A kennel properly equipped is easy to work in. It is a great time saver and makes for greater efficiency.

Equip your kennel with two aluminum dishes for each individual kennel, one for water and one for food. Also have a few small dishes for small breeds.

If you do not have water piped into your kennel, keep three pails of fresh water always handy. In winter, a full pail is kept on the stove at all times, thus insuring hot water whenever necessary.

Meal should be kept in metal-lined bins, or metal containers, in order not to draw mice or rats.

Meat should be kept in the refrigerator at all times. And a word of warning, if the meat thaws, cook it to keep it. Never re-freeze it. Your dogs could be poisoned from refrozen meat. Canned meat needs no refrigeration.

KITCHEN SUPPLIES

Useful articles for the kennel kitchen include two aluminum dishes for each individual kennel, dish pan, dish cloths, towels, paper towels. Paper towels are great time savers for cleaning out food dishes before washing them. Soap, washing powders, a large mixing spoon, a set of measuring spoons, a knife, a scoop for measuring meal, a wall can-opener, a pair of scissors, two sprayers, hammer, screw driver, a few nails, screws and tacks, corn broom, push broom, dust pan, cellulose mop, dusters, and waste basket.

My kennel has a large kitchen cabinet equipped with the above articles. An ordinary kitchen table or long shelf is a necessity for the mixing of food. Cover it with a good floor linoleum. It is sanitary and easily cleaned.

My medicine cabinet is also kept in the kitchen, but not near other supplies.

Never put poisonous items near medicines. Always label them "POISON", and put a pin in each cork as added precaution.

The following simple remedies are always at hand in my kennel: magnesia (which every dog gets once a week)—mineral oil, sulphathiazol ointment, penecillin ointment, murine for minor eye irritations if your dog has been out in the wind a long time, bismuth, castor oil, a good exzema lotion for hot spots, oil for healthy skins and lovely coats, flaxseed, also for coat, vitamyacin, for general health, obtainable from your veterinary, yeast, for laggy appetites, absorbent cotton, boracic acid, epsom salts, for hot applications.

USE QUININE

Also dressing, bandages, quinine powder (if necessary to bandage your dog and he wants to bite the dressing, make a paste of quinine and paint on the bandage. He'll let it alone because quinine is extremely bitter).

Be sure to equip your kennel with good nail clippers, a good wire comb (used carefully) wire mitt, and ordinary wire hair brush, a couple of coarse bath towels for drying the dogs when wet, and for grooming, baking soda, salt and charcoal should be kept on hand at all times for cleaning your dog's teeth.

Always keep a few swabs of absorbent cotton on hand for cleaning ears. These should be carefully used, in order to not injure the ear. Tissue has a multitude of uses in your kennel. Always have a couple of boxes handy.

Puppies expected late July

A few articles which definitely have no place in your medicine cabinet, but which are a necessity are the following: lysol, a reliable fly spray, javex and flea powder.

On the advice of my veterinary, I use a simple solution of 2 tablespoons of javex, ½ teaspoon of lysol to a pint sprayer, for disinfecting my kennels.

If you have dogs in your kennels with small noses, such as Bostons, Boxers, etc., an even milder solution should be used for their kennels. Watch carefully your measurements when preparing your spray. A solution too strong can cause many minor irritations.

LIVING QUARTERS

Now to the part of the kennel where the dogs actually live. There are two rows of individual kennels, with a four-foot alleyway in the centre. Each kennel measures eight-feet long by five feet wide. There is a removable wooden floor covering half of each kennel, as dogs should not lie on cement. These are kept painted at all times.

Partitions between each kennel are wooden from the floor to the height of five feet, from there to ceiling heavy wiring. The partitions are removable, so that at spring cleaning time they can be taken out and everything thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

Once a year painting is a vital necessity for health for your dogs. It is not necessary to use expensive paint. The cheapest you can buy, but paint once a year.

MR. and MRS. GEO. S. COX

R.R. 1, Cooksville, Ont.

And incidentally, to each gallon of paint I add two tablespoons of lysol. Choose your own colors, but a light color is most attractive.

Have one or two kennels lined with galvanized iron for dogs that are chewers, and also cover your door with galvanizing. Put wire over the top of a couple of pens, even if they are wired to the top, just in case of bad actors.

Have strong bolts top and bottom of each door. Build the front of the individual kennel of wood to the height of five feet, and put heavy gauge wire from that height to the ceiling. I have seen some kennels with the entire front of wire, but there was continuous uproar with strange dogs coming and going. You will bless the opaque front, when you are taking in strange dogs.

My kennel is built with a 15" x 18" window every other kennel. If possible, these should swing up so that jumping dogs will not break them off their hinges. They may open with pulleys from the alley.

Cover the windows with heavy wiring on a frame, so that it may be easily removed to clean the windows. This is so that jumping dogs will not break the glass.

SCREENING NEEDED

One point I cannot stress too strongly is having your kennel screened, both doors and windows. Your kennel is your dog's home. Make him comfortable in it. He can't be happy with flies biting him.

A door which can be closed to separate the dogs' living quarters from the reception room is a godsend, when strangers come into your kennel. The dogs will undoubtedly try to drown out a strange voice.

A ticking alarm clock or small radio is company for your dogs.

Before your kennel is painted in the spring, it should be very thoroughly scrubbed with hot soap suds and disinfectant.

After each dog leaves my kennel, and before another dog is put in the same pen, each kennel is thoroughly scrubbed and disinfected, and if a dog has scratched a lot, it is painted again.

(To be concluded)

NEW STUD BOOK

AN improved stud book will be published by the American Kennel club starting early next year.

The club announced that following publication of the June, 1952, stud book, the book will be produced in an improved form.

Up to the present time the book has been a listing of monthly registrations which the kennel club feels is not of too much use to serious breeders.

The new stud book will contain only data on registered dogs and bitches which have produced offspring and will be published in a larger size, set in tabular form with separate columns for new information. Name and number of registered dog, its sire, dam, breeder and owner will be shown in each column.

At first the book will be quarterly but it is expected that it will become a monthly as the volume of information increases.

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS

The members of the Canadian Kennel Club are hereby advised that the Minister of Agriculture for Canada has approved all those amendments to the By-laws of the Club which received a majority affirmative vote on the referendum ballot distributed to members in 1951.

The amendments are now in effect.

Members wishing a copy of the By-laws of the Club may obtain a copy by addressing a letter or postcard to the Secretary - Treasurer of the Club, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto 5, Ont.

"Rufff!"

As any sound effects man will tell you, there's nothing that sounds like a barking dog like a barking dog. Actors with various "rufff!" voices have been used from time to time, but somehow they lack authentic canine tones.

Faced with an unusual amount of doggy chatter in Ruth Reid's "Puppy Luck" in the "CBC Children's Theatre" producer Kay Stevenson hit on the solution—real live dogs.

Actress Ruth Springford's Welsh Corgi, Myffanwy ("Miffy," for short), the only dog in Canadian radio which barks on cue (by the simple expedient of blowing on her nose) and "Freckles," a Springer Spaniel owned by Alice Hill's nine-year-old daughter, Pama Storey, were brought in to fill the barkers' roles. "Freckles" was coerced into dog-talk by waving a few biscuits.

All went well during the show, and "Miffy" and "Freckles" have been cited for doing an A-1 radio job, but the aftermath was unexpected.

CBC Toronto has received several reports of home-listening dogs going slightly berserk. One husky dog rammed his head through the protective cloth covering the family radio speaker.

There's nothing that sounds like a barking dog like a barking dog —but sometimes, perhaps, it can be too authentic!

STUDY VIRUS

New Vaccine Developed

By E. B. REID

THROUGH the kindness of Dr. Claude Kealey we had an opportunity this week of studying a report prepared by the well known Lederle Laboratories on research which they, and other scientists, have been conducting into virus diseases in dogs. Although highly technical, and prepared for members of the veterinary profession, there is a great deal in the report that will be of real interest to the layman and breeder interested in the welfare of his dog.

ENCOURAGING REPORT

Distemper and other virus diseases, undoubtedly will continue, but what is encouraging in the Lederle report is that more and more is being learned about the subject.

For instance it was not long ago that it was generally believed that distemper, the new "hard pad" disease and encephalitis were all separate and distinct virus diseases. Now, while there is still some difference of opinion among the scientists, the weight of evidence, as presented in the Lederle report, would indicate that all three diseases are the result at least of variants of the same virus.

This evidence and the results of mass experiments certainly indicate that dogs properly immunized against distemper will have a very high resistance, if not an entire immunity to hard pad and to encephalitis.

Apparently dogs, immune against distemper, are still susceptible to the hepatitis virus which indicates it is entirely dissimilar. Separate inoculations will still be needed for this disease, although results with the other three would indicate that the one, effective inoculation against distemper will also protect against hard pad and encephalitis.

In connection with distemper inoculations it is encouraging to note in the report that a new vaccine has been developed which appears to be much safer than the older type. Old timers used to estimate that about one dog in a couple of hundred inoculated would die as a result of the inoculation and mild cases of distemper arising from it were not unusual.

NEW VACCINE

This new type vaccine has been developed through feeding it on chick embryo in the egg. The vaccine is passed through this embryo as many as 30 or 35 times. That this method of developing the vaccine would seem to have eliminated the danger of reaction is shown in a table on the result of the vaccine on 308 puppies, aged from five weeks to about 20 weeks. None of these puppies, and some were extremely young, showed any reaction whatever, although several, some days after the inoculations did develop some touches of diarrhea and three, which were shipped away from home in crates, seven days after inoculation did develop a respiratory condition. This condition, however, was not distemper and all the puppies recovered.

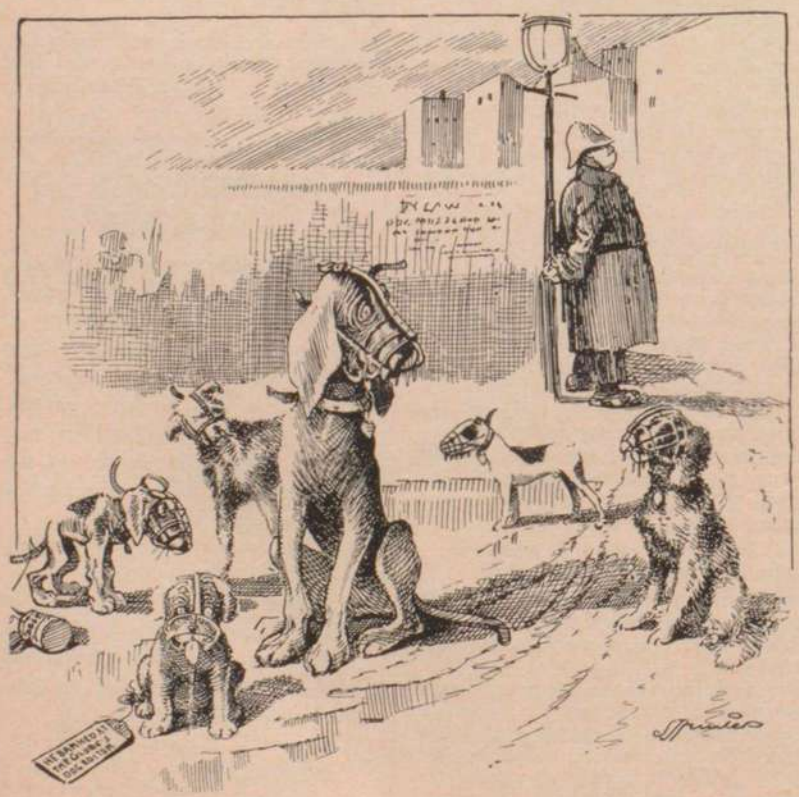
ON INOCULATIONS

Of interest to all dog owners are several suggestions given by the laboratories in regard to the time of inoculations. If any reaction does occur it is among the sick, the weak and the undernourished, so it would appear to be good sense to have your pup in good condition when inoculated.

Similarly it has been found that results are not so effective if the puppy has been receiving temporary serum inoculations. In this case it is recommended that 14 full days should elapse between the time a puppy has had an inoculation of the temporary serum and the time it receives the vaccine. This also applies in the case of very young puppies which have not been weaned, for an immunized mother passes on an immunity to the puppy while it is nursing, and this passed on immunity interferes with the effect of the vaccine.

(From Cornell University comes word that research workers there have produced a "combination vaccine" for distemper and infectious hepatitus which is said to give "durable immunity" from these viruses. The Cornell workers said immunizing trials with 250 dogs had proven it "safe and effective".)

Muzzling of dogs to combat rabies resulted in the satirical cartoon, below. Although England and the United States have had outbreaks since the turn of the century, rabies are a rarity in Canada. It is eight years since the last reported outbreak in Ontario.



Flashbacks . . .

Flashing back to 1895 . . . members of the Canadian Kennel Club, writing to the Kennel Gazette, were concerned over "Bloodhounds and Crime." Here are two letters to the editor.

TELLS EXPERIENCES

My attention having been drawn to several letters from your correspondents suggesting the formation of a club to keep and train Bloodhounds to assist the police in tracking criminals.

Some years ago I was fired with an ambition to train a canine Sherlock Holmes, and for this purpose I worked with two young dogs (champion bred), each possessing the points and qualifications which have rendered this breed so famous.

I found that the dogs would readily follow the track of anyone who had previously allowed them to scent their clothing, etc., but in cases where this was not done their tracking was faulty, and could not be relied upon. Moreover, good results depend upon the shortness of time which has elapsed since the trail was laid.

Atmospheric conditions also played a most prominent part; a strong wind blowing up the track—i.e., in the direction of the object chased, much dust, or the trail passing through running water, being detrimental to success.

It is a fallacy to suppose that Bloodhounds of the present day possess scenting powers superior to any other breed of dog.

Of one thing I am quite certain, and that is, that if the trail does not lay in unfrequented districts, tracking with dogs would be entirely useless.

Allow me to put an imaginary case. A murder say, has been committed, and soon afterwards discovered. The dogs are sent for and brought from their kennels some miles away; in the meantime the ground for some considerable distance around the scene of the crime has been disturbed by spectators. I believe unless the murderer had actually stepped into the blood of his victim the dogs might nose around for miles without striking the actual trail and in any case, a brace of well-trained sporting dogs, worked by an experienced man, would do just as well.

I would suggest that if a club be formed for this purpose, each member should—after proving to the District Police that the dog is a trained worker—be exempt from payment of the usual license. A special badge and collar should also be provided free of charge to the owner of the dog.

F. J. HUTTON.

CITES "THE RIPPER"

Bloodhounds as detectives may be a success if properly managed, but you will remember in the case of the Whitechapel murders how absurdly futile the attempt to trace "Jack the Ripper" was made by the mismanagement of the police in not getting quickly enough the dog on to the trail. The owner, fearing some harm might overtake his dogs in such a locality, withdrew them. The whole question is as to the practicability of "Ivy's" proposition.

Tribute to a Champ

(In keeping with our "Showtime Canada" theme, we pay tribute to an outstanding champion of the early World War II period—the top Best in Show winner in the Terrier Group from 1933 to 1943 in Canada — Can. and Am. Ch. Downsview Dolphin. This outstanding Kerry Blue, imported from England, died in the arms of his first North American owner in Toronto recently. The following resume is by this owner.—ED.)

By CLIFF TUSHINGHAM

IT IS with great sorrow we tell of the passing of one of the great dogs of all time, Can. and Am. Champion Downsview Dolphin.

TOOK TOP HONORS

Dolphin was the most outstanding and the greatest Best in Show winner in the Terrier breeds during a 10-year period from 1933 to 1943, although he didn't come to Canada until after the start of World War II. His greatest victory was winning Best in Show during the 1940 Canadian National Exhibition, competing with 550 dogs.

Dolphin was an English refugee and like all wartime emigrants to Canada he took some time getting acclimatized.

This Kerry Blue came to Canada as a puppy, spending 42 days on the rough Atlantic Ocean and arriving in poor condition. For some time he was unable to get used to the climate until one day he suddenly snapped out of it.

He happened to upset a tray of beer.

That was the turning point. From then on he thrived, adapting himself quite well to the country—and also to our beer.

Among Dolphin's other successes was his outstanding record at the United States Shows. At the age of 16 months, he was Winners at Morris and Essex, the greatest outdoor show in the world. He was also the Best of Opposite Sex at Westminster, judged by William Day.

This sterling terrier was only shown 16 times. He was 14 times Best of Breed, won eight Groups and seven Best in Show awards. But like all great champions, he went down in defeat and rendered his crown to another great dog, Kerry Blue Kenmare Masterpiece.

WAR ENDS SHOWS

With the coming of World War II, Britain had to discontinue its National Dog Shows so Mrs. Rose Marie Smith decided to sell practically all her dogs. Dolphin was exported to Canada which proved to be Great Britain's loss and Canada's gain

Dolphin's ancestry was a noble one. His sire was the English champion, Downsview Duellist and his grandsire Princeton Hell-of-a-Fella, was the winner of the most championship certificates in all of England for Kerry Blue Terriers.

As the old saying goes, "Like Father like Son". Dolphin carried on the tradition of producing great champions. Dolphin's final litter is not quite nine month's old yet, one of which was sold to Howie Meeker, M.P., of New Hamburg, Ont., member of the Toronto Mapleleaf hockey club.

Dolphin's ownership changed hands several times. At one time he was owned by H. O. Pattison, secretary of the U.S. Kerry Blue Terrier Club.

On the death of her husband, Mrs. (Dr.) D. S. McNab who had paid a four-figure sum for Dolphin, sent the dog back to its original North American owner to live out the rest of its life. He spent his remaining years as our family pet and gentleman of leisure.

IN WRITER'S ARMS

Last March 13, Dolphin died in the writer's arms, painlessly passing to another world.

This great champion was laid to rest at the pet cemetery on Highway 5, near Dixie, Ont., just a few miles west of Toronto. On the tombstone were the following words:

Date of Birth January 10th, 1939
Date of Death March 13th, 1952

50 YEARS AGO . . .

Newcomers to the dog game and many of the oldtimers may be interested in "What happened 50 years ago in Canadian Dogdom." The following items are from the Canadian Kennel Gazette, a forerunner of DOGS IN CANADA, for August, 1902.

Sherbrooke's second annual dog show in conjunction with the Great Eastern Exhibition will be held September 3-5.

T. C. MacLean of Hull, Quebec, imported a black and tan terrier "Merrymaker" two weeks ago which R. J. McGaughey of Pembroke, Ontario, writes "I thought so much of him I brought "Baby Mac" to him to breed as I thought it was too good a chance to miss".

Under the heading "Dogs and Flowers," the editor reprints an article from the Hamilton Herald. He says the Herald's floral editor uses flowery language looking at the question "in a one-sided way through glasses of verdant color". The Herald strongly criticizes dogs running unchecked over gardens in the city, discouraging the City Improvement Society's beautification program.

IMPORTS PEKE

Mrs. S. M. Abrey of Medicine Hat, Alta., has recently imported a white Pekingese from England. WHITE MITE of WANG LI was bred by Mrs. R. Widders of Ramford, Essex, England. He is the grandson of CH. KU CHI of CAVERSHAM and great grandson of PUFF BALL of CHUNKING.

The Laugh's on US

Mistakes have a way of creeping into a publication and the person held responsible is the editor, although often errors are beyond his control. Each month the editor of DOGS IN CANADA will acknowledge all major mistakes brought to his attention by the publication's readers. And any month we get by without your criticism, HORACE the HORSE can do his laughing elsewhere than in our columns.

This month, however, Horace gets his laugh because the identification of two dogs in Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson's wonderful kennel centrepiece in the July issue was switched. On pages two and three of the centrepiece the cutlines for Ch. Bodega's Alva's Taffy and Ch. Bodega's Alva's Dalmally appeared under the opposite dog. The editor takes full responsibility for this error and hopes the Thompsons were not inconvenienced.

Boxer Booster

A Boxer Booster Show will be held in conjunction with the Oakville and District Kennel Club show, Sept. 27, at Oakville, Ont. The Boxer Club held its own Specialty Show in April but plans to use the Booster Show as a means to publicize its breed.

A large entry is anticipated, John Marks, secretary of the club, said. The club plans to have a large entry in the Oakville Club's parade of champions, too.

The Oakville show of 1951 had the largest entry of any single show in Canada. There were 513 entries for the one-day show.

Grooming Your Dog For The Ring

GROOMING a dog for the show ring requires as much patience as training him for the ring. He must be healthy and in excellent condition so as to show off his good points.

COAT IMPORTANT

A healthy dog will have a good coat but it is well tc remember that most dogs do not have a full coat the year around. Even so, a well-trimmed coat and one that lies the way it should or fluffs properly, is not dirty or dried-out, prevents the loss of too many points when the coat is not full.

In the new Standard Book of Dog Care (Greystone Press, New York, $5.95, available through DOGS IN CANADA) Jeannette Cross and Blanche Saunders give some advice on the care of the coat. Some of the things these writers suggest for the proper care of the coat are comb, brush, hound glove, and stripping knife. A steel comb is always preferable, but it should not have sharp teeth.

A comb with heavy teeth set wide apart is better for dogs with profuse coats and heavy feathering while a finer comb is best for short-haired dogs.

The stiffness and length of bristles of brushes must vary directly with the length and density of the coat.

Where a coat is required to lie flat to the body a hound glove gives the best finish. It is particularly recommended for terriers, setters, spaniels and smooth-coated dogs as it lays the hairs in place and adds to their lustre.

HAIR REMOVAL

Removal of dead hairs and trimming of new ones is done with the stripping knife or dog dresser. This knife is used to make the dog's finish conform to the standard for his breed. It should be held with the edge of the handle against the heel of the hand and the first finger wrapped around the shank. The hair that is to be removed is pressed against the knife with the thumb. The stripping edge is brought in contact with the hairs by a slight upward twist of the wrist.

Best results are obtained by taking only a few hairs at a time.

The use of chalk is advantageous where a dog has principally a white coat and especially so on terriers. It should be rubbed in before the dog is stripped as it prevents the hairs from slipping during the stripping process.

In addition to cleaning and whitening the coat it improves the texture.

In trimming and straightening the lines of the ears, legs and belly and for trimming the feet and between the toes, dull-pointed scissors are the best.

Two hours before the dog is likely to be called for judgment, rub a wet towel or sponge over his coat until it is thoroughly dampened but not drip Let him shake himself and put back on the bench. If he does seem to be drying quick enough—f must be just dry and no more to his best—use a dry towel or walk about the exercise ring.

The coat that has just dried s out and each hair is evident in the

Each breed requires a diff grooming but it is well to reme that a good coat makes for a good pression.

Setters who are used in field or are to be entered in field trial more comfortable if the long hai their brisket, ears, legs and under are trimmed closely. This elimi the possibility of it being torn ou underbrush or becoming snarled tangled beyond repair by burrs ticks.

Poodle clipping is a specialize art and one that requires a gre deal of patience and attention.

There are between 30 and 40 v tions of the several styles of p clips. The English Saddle, the C nental, and the Puppy clips are only ones allowed in Canadian American rings.

No other breed has to such an e the advantage of artful dressin cover up poor body structure and m weaknesses. The type of clip used improve the overall appearance.

AT THE SHOW

For some tips about preparing coat for the ring after the dog ar at the show, DOGS IN CANADA i debted to James Watson, author of Dog Book".

If the coat has become dirty du the trip to the show washing ma necessary. If the dog is not too but merely dusty stand him on a and rub magnesia into his coat. W you brush it out the coat is clean has a good luster. White-coated are left whiter than if they had washed.

Be sure that all the magnesi is out of the coat before the do enters the ring. Finish the jo with the hand-glove.

For long-haired dogs who are quired to show coat the heat of sun or dryness of the show buil may require the production of an tation Scotch mist.

Scottie Breed Club Formed

NEWEST of the breed clubs on an all-Canada basis is the Scottish Terrier Club of Canada.

KEEN INTEREST

The club is the result of keen interest in breeding, buying, raising and showing felt across the country. A similar club in the United States has helped to bring unity between Canadians and Americans in that field.

Many Canadian dogs have been purchased by Americans and are now canine members of the American Kennel Club. The reverse also holds true.

The Scottish Terrier Club of Canada was formed to bring more interest and closer understanding among the owners and breeders of Scottish Terriers.

A general meeting of the club was held in Ottawa at the home of Mrs. Ann Macbeth, one of the directors. A large representation attended and the Scottish Terrier Specialty Show held in conjunction with the Canadian National Exhibition dog show was discussed. Prizes for this show have been collected and it was pointed out the trophies for the show were the biggest and best yet offered.

All members present announced they planned to show their dogs at the Specialty Show.

DINNER ARRANGED

The secretary read a letter from Mr. Walley of Toronto saying that a dinner after the show has been arranged for members and that he had taken care of the show's publicity.

It was pointed out that there are still many Scottie owners in Ottawa who are not yet aware of the club's existence and the club announced that membership forms can be obtained from Miss Lorna Ball, 61 Park Ave., Ottawa.

T. E. Gunderson was made an honorary member of the club and a letter of thanks from Mr. Gunderson was read.

The meeting also discussed the Sanction show it will hold in the Fall and moved that Mr. Lochrane find a suitable location.

Composer's Canines

By MARTHA McFARLANE

THE experts say that many dogs have an ear for music. Other dogs are music haters. But many dogs, history records, have won the affection of composers.

FEW COMPARED

Of all the composers who loved dogs few could compare with Sir Edward Elgar who had three of them. He had Mina, a Cairn Terrier; Marco, a black and white parti-colored Cocker Spaniel and Meg, a Scottish Terrier.

Marco was his favorite. His master said the dog possessed "worshipping eyes" and the animal never left him day or night.

Mina used to sit on the composer's large desk and as the piano was played would raise herself on her haunches, beating time with her forepaws.

The great Richard Wagner had a Newfoundland which he took with him to Paris after he was forced to leave Germany to avoid arrest on political charges. Wagner's misfortune went from bad to worse. He and his wife lived on the Rue de Tonnellerie and were dogged by hunger. Their small fortune dwindled as Wagner failed to gain musical recognition.

Finally their luck hit a record low. Their Newfoundland was stolen and was never found.

NOVEL DISMISSAL

French composer Charles Camille Saint-Saens was not as fond of his dogs as many other musicians but he found a novel way of dismissing his dog from the room when it would sit under the piano while Charles was trying to play.

The works of another composer did the trick. Every time Charles would start a Chopin number, his dog would slink out of the room.

But the dog that will go down in history as the one with the musical ear was the Pekingese owned by the famous contralto, Dame Clara Butt. This Peke would sit beside her as she sang scales and join his mistress up and down the octave.

The musical friends of Dame Clara marvelled at her Peke and claimed its vocal reproduction of the scales were nearly perfect.

Match Draws 35 Boxer Pups

FRITZ, son of BOJANGLES OF SHOWLINE, won Best In Match at the Boxer puppy match held July 27 at the Canadian National Exhibition bandshell. Thirty-five Boxer puppies between the ages of three and 18 months were shown, many for the first time.

It was first show for FRITZ, who is owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Yolles of Toronto. It was also first show for CINDY, a flashy brindle, owned by Peter Smith. Sired by PRIDE OF GLENN ECHO, CINDY won the three to six months class before taking the Best of Opposite Sex award. FRITZ won the nine to 12 months class before becoming match winner.

About 500 spectators watched during the afternoon. Among exhibitors were Mr. and Mrs. James Ferry of Springville, N.Y., whose pup was a class winner, and Mr. Al Neidrauer of Buffalo, N.Y., president of the Boxer Club of Western New York.

A. O. Fidget of Trenton, Ont., was the Judge.

It was the second puppy show staged by the Boxer Club. The first show was staged last year.

Mr. Vaughan was a well-known judge and was a prominent breeder of Wire-Hair Fox Terriers. He was also known as a Cocker Spaniel fancier both in the United States and Canada.

A Message from the President

Subject: Amendments and the Referendum Ballot.

LAST year, for the first time in the history of the Canadian Kennel Club, all proposed amendments to the Club's by-laws, Rules and Regulations were dealt with by a referendum ballot which was mailed to approximately 2650 members entitled to vote (a person must be a member in good standing as of June 30th in order to participate in the voting on amendments in the referendum ballot mailed to members along with the election ballot in connection with the election of Officers and Directors for the following year). Only on one previous occasion were amendments dealt with in this fashion, that in connection with four special amendments to the By-laws handled by referendum ballot in July 1946.

On other occasions proposed amendments were dealt with at the annual general meeting of the Club, and there can be no doubt that the handling of such amendments at a general meeting has its advantages. The main disadvantage, however, is that only those members who are in a position to attend the general meeting are in a position to vote on the amendments or changes which may be made in the amendments at the general meeting.

It is understandable that when a new policy is followed for the first time, it may not work out to the best advantage and with the best results. One disappointing feature of the referendum ballot which was distributed last November was the small proportion of the overall membership who returned their ballot (less than 25%). There may be several reasons for this. First, many members may have felt that they had no reasonable opportunity to discuss these amendments in a forum where the advantages and disadvantages of each amendment could be weighed in order that the member could decide whether to vote for or against the proposal. Secondly, an amendment as placed on a referendum ballot is not subject to change from the form in which it is set-out in the ballot, and a member may be for the proposal in principle but may dislike some particular detail concerned with the amendment which prompts him to vote against it or to express no preference at all. Thirdly, and this may be a point that we may find an answer for in due course, and that is that the referendum ballot reaches the membership at a time when they are probably more concerned with the coming Christmas festivities.

There can be no doubt that a greater satisfaction must exist throughout the membership from the very fact that more members are now given an opportunity to vote on the By-laws and Rules which govern the policies of their Club. We must, therefore, agree in principle that the referendum ballot is a fine and desirable thing. Just how this method of handling amendments can be used to the best advantage to the Club as a whole and to the members individually, presents problems which we should endeavour to overcome so that in the long run all will benefit.

Members will have noticed in the last issue of DOGS IN CANADA an invitation to submit any ideas they may entertain with regard to possible amendments. The thinking behind this invitation was that any member who contemplated submitting an amendment could submit in principle what he has in mind and his thinking in that connection could be published in DOGS IN CANADA for consideration and discussion amongst the members. Perhaps, the publication of the proposal would result in some worthwhile suggestions about how this proposal could be worded in detail or extended beyond what the proposers originally had in mind so that in the final analysis when their proposal is submitted for balloting, it will have had the advantage of prior discussion and perhaps suggestions on the part of other members interested in the principle of the idea advanced. Then too, comments or criticism of the proposal could be published in DOGS IN CANADA. The result may be that the proposal is entirely withdrawn or submitted in a different and more acceptable form.

I do know that at least one provincial Director last year, who after the referendum ballot had been received by members, held local meetings of members at which the amendments were discussed, and I have no doubt that as a result of these meetings, the members who attended them were in a position to more intelligently vote on the amendments included in the ballot. I am not suggesting that this procedure be followed throughout the country as a whole, that may not be feasible, but certainly the more consideration that can be given to an amendment, and the more opportunities that exist for the membership as a whole to discuss them amongst themselves, cannot help but be advantageous when the time comes for each member to mark his ballot.

Those who submit amendments should have in mind the best interests of the Club and the membership. We should, after viewing a proposal from the point of view of the advantages and benefits that it will bring, carefully weigh any disadvantages or problems that an amendment, if adopted, will create. Members of the Club have a right to expect that the members, the Board of Directors and staff to faithfully observe and carry out all By-laws and Rules which the members approve, but they should carefully weigh the position in which they are placing the members, Board and staff should a proposal be submitted and approved which is not practical and which may involve the Club in legal difficulties if carried out, or restrict the freedom of action of your executive in effectively managing the Club's affairs. Adoption of amendments designed to restrict the power of the Board in any particular connection is not the answer to lack of confidence in your Board. Where lack of confidence exists, proper action is to elect a Board in which you have confidence, and give them the "elbow room" necessary to do for you and your Club what you reasonably have a right to expect.

If I might be permitted to paraphrase an observation of an American expert on foreign affairs, I would say that no amendment will be effective or survive if it is not constructive in its own right. An amendment is of little value if, while correcting an undesirable situation, it creates at the same time problems or situations detrimental to you and your Club.

In short then, I would suggest that your proposals be submitted early in order that an opportunity may be exercised to publish them in DOGS IN CANADA and a reasonable space will be made available for those wishing to support the proposals or wishing to suggest alternative arrangements, or, of course, to indicate why such proposals should not be adopted. It should be remembered that all proposed amendments in proper form must be received by the Secretary not later than October 15th and any proposals not published in earlier issues of DOGS IN CANADA could be included in the November issue.

The referendum ballot is in a sense a form of democracy, and the extent to which sound thinking is exercised in connection with the submission of amendments, and the balloting thereon, will largely determine whether this democratic method of obtaining the wishes of the membership at large will survive.

I do not know whether the foregoing remarks represent the thinking of your entire Board, but I do feel that it is my duty to address them to you at a time when, no doubt, many members are contemplating the submission of proposed amendments.

J. J. Farmer, President.

NEW SHETLAND SHEEPDOG STANDARD

A NEW standard for the Shetland Sheepdog has been approved by the Board of Directors of the American Kennel Club as of June 10. As a matter of policy recognized by the by-laws of the CKC, any breed standard adopted by the American Kennel Club is automatically the standard recognized by the CKC, except for any changes authorized by the Board of Directors of the CKC.

For the information of readers interested in the "Sheltie," the new AKC breed standard follows:

SHETLAND SHEEPDOG
STANDARD PREAMBLE

THE Shetland Sheepdog, like the Collie, traces to the Border Collie of Scotland, which, transported to the Shetland Islands and crossed with small, intelligent, long-haired breeds, was reduced to miniature proportions. Subsequently crosses were made from time to time with Collies. This breed now bears the same relationship in size and general appearance to the Rough Collie as the Shetland Pony does to some of the larger breeds of horses. Although the resemblance between the Shetland Shepdog and the Rough Collie is marked, there are differences which may be noted.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION

The Shetland Shepdog is a small, alert, rough-coated, long-haired working dog. He must be sound, agile and sturdy. The outline should be symmetrical that no part appears out of proportion to the whole.

Dogs should appear masculine; bitches feminine.

FAULT: Lack of one testicle (monorchid) in adult males (more than 12 months).

DISQUALIFICATION: Lack of both testicles (cryptorchid) in adult males (more than 12 months).

SIZE

The Shetland Sheepdog should stand between 13 and 16 inches at the shoulder. Note: Height is determined by a line perpendicular to the ground from top of the shoulder blades, the dog standing naturally, with forelegs parallel to line of measurement.

DISQUALIFICATION: Heights above or below the desired size range are to be disqualified from the show-ring.

COAT

The coat should be double, the outer coat consisting of long, straight, harsh hair; the under coat, short, furry, and so dense as to give the entire coat its "stand-off" quality. The hair on face, tips of ears and feet should be smooth. Mane and frill should be abundant, and particularly impressive in males. The forelegs well featured, the hind legs heavily so but smooth below the hock joint. Hair on tail profuse. Note: Excess hair on ears, feet and on hocks may be trimmed for the show ring.

FAULTS: Coat short of flat, in whole or in part; wavy, curly, soft or silky. Lack of undercoat. Smooth-coated specimens.

COLORS

Black, blue merle, and sable (ranging from golden through mahogany); marked with varying amount of white and/or tan.

FAULTS: Rustiness in a black or a blue coat. Washed out or degenerate colors, such as pale sable and faded blue. Self color in the case of blue merle, that is, without any mereling or mottling and generally appearing as a faded or dilute tricolor. Conspicuous white body spots. Specimens with more than 50 percent white shall be so severely penalized as to effectively eliminate them from competition.

DISQUALIFICATION: Brindle.

TEMPERAMENT

The Shetland Sheepdog is intensely loyal, affectionate, and responsive to his owner. However, he may be reserved toward strangers but not to the point of showing fear or cringing in the ring.

FAULTS: Shyness, timidity, or nervousness. Stubbornness, snappishness or ill temper.

HEAD

The head should be refined and its shape, when viewed from top or side, is a long blunt wedge tapering slightly from ears to nose which must be black.

SKULL AND MUZZLE: Top of skull should be flat, showing no prominence at nuchal crest (the top of the occiput). Cheeks should be flat and should merge smoothly into a well rounded muzzle. Skull and muzzle should be of equal length, balance point being inner corner of eye. In profile the top line of skull should parallel the top line of muzzle, but on a higher plane due to the presence of a slight but definite stop.

Jaws clean and powerful. The deep, well developed under jaw, rounded at chin, should extend to base of nostril. Lips tight. Upper and lower lips must meet and fit smoothly together all the way around. Teeth level and evenly spaced. Scissors bite.

FAULTS: Too angled head. Too prominent stop, or no stop. Overfill below, between or above eyes. Prominent nuchal crest. Domed skull. Prominent cheek bones. Snipey muzzle. Short, receding or shallow underjaw, lacking breadth and depth. Over or under shot, missing or crooked teeth. Teeth visible when mouth is closed.

EYES: Medium size with dark, almond shaped rims, set somewhat obliquely in skull. Color must be dark with blue or merle eyes permissible in blue merles only.

FAULTS: Light, round, large or too small. Prominent haws.

EARS: Small and flexible, placed high, carried ⅔ erect with tips breaking forward. When in repose the ears fold lengthwise and are thrown back into the frill.

FAULTS: Set too low. Hound, prick, bat, twisted ears. Leather too thick or too thin.

EXPRESSION: Contours and chiselling of the head; the shape, set and use of ears; the placement, shape and color of the eyes; combine to produce expression. Normally the expression should be alert, gentle, intelligent and questioning. Toward strangers the eyes should show watchfulness and reserve, but no fear.

NECK

Neck should be muscular, arched, and of sufficient length to carry the head proudly.

FAULTS: Too short and thick.

BODY

In overall appearance the body should appear moderately long as measured from the shoulder joint to the ischium (rear most extremity of the pelvic bone) but much of this length is actually due to the proper angulation and breadth of the shoulder and hindquarter, as the back itself shoud be comparatively short. Back should be level and strongly muscled.

Chest should be deep, the brisket reaching to point of elbow. The ribs should be well sprung, but flattened at their lower half to allow free play of the foreleg and shoulder. Abdomen moderately tucked up.

FAULTS: Back too long, too short, swayed or arched. Barrel ribs. Slab sides. Chest narrow and/or too shallow.

FOREQUARTERS

From the withers the shoulder blades should slope at a 45 degree angle forward and downward to the shoulder joint. At the withers they are separated only by the vertebra, but they must slope outward sufficiently to accommodate the desired spring of rib. The upper arm should join the shoulder blade at as nearly as possible at right angle.

Elbow joint should be equidistant from the ground or from the withers.

Forelegs straight viewed from all angles, muscular and clean, and of strong bone. Pasterns very strong, sinewy and flexible. Dew claws may be removed.

FAULTS: Insufficient angulation shoulder and upper arm. Upper arm too short. Lack of outward slope of shoulders. Loose shoulders. Turning in or out of elbows. Crooked legs. Light bone.

FEET (front and hind): Feet should be oval and compact with toes well arched and fitting tightly together. Pads deep and tough, nails hard and strong.

FAULTS: Feet turning in or out. Splay feet. Hare feet. Cat feet.

HINDQUARTERS

There should be a slight arch at the loins, and the croup should slope gradually to the rear. The hip bone (pelvis) should be set at a 30 degree angle to the spine.

The thigh should be broad and muscular. The thigh bone should be set into the pelvis at a right angle corresponding to the angle of the shoulder blade and upper arm.

Stifle bones join the thigh bone and should be distinctly angled at the stifle joint. The overall length of the stifle should at least equal the length of the thigh bone, and preferably should slightly exceed it.

Hock joint should be cleancut, angular, sinewy, with good bone and strong ligamentation.

The hock (metatarsus) should be short, and straight viewed from all angles. Dew claws should be removed.

FEET: (see forequarters).

FAULTS: Croup higher than withers. Croup too straight or too steep. Narrow thighs. Cowhocks. Hocks turning out. Poorly defined hock joint. Feet (see forequarters).

TAIL

The tail should be sufficiently long so that when it is laid along the back edge of the hind legs the last vertebra will reach the hock joint.

Carriage of the tail at rest is straight down or in a slight upward curve. When the dog is alert the tail is normally lifted, but it should not be curved forward over the back.

FAULTS: Too short. Twisted at end.

GAIT

The trotting gait of the Shetland Sheepdog should denote effortless speed and smoothness. There should be no jerkiness, nor stiff, stilted, up-and-down movement.

The drive should be from the rear, true and straight, dependent upon correct angulation, musculation and ligamentation of the entire hindquarter, thus allowing the dog to reach well under his body with his hind legs and propel himself forward.

Reach of the stride of the foreleg is dependent upon correct angulation, musculation and ligamentation of the forequarters, together with correct width of chest and construction of rib cage. The foot should be lifted only enough to clear the ground as the leg swings forward.

Viewed from the front, both forelegs and hindlegs should move forward almost perpendicular to the ground at a walk, slanting a little inward at a slow trot, until at a swift trot the feet are brought so far inward toward centre line of body that the tracks left, show two parallel lines of footprints actually touching a centre line at their inner edges.

THERE SHOULD BE NO CROSSING OF THE FEET NOR THROWING OF THE WEIGHT FROM SIDE TO SIDE.

FAULTS: Stiff, short steps, with a choppy, jerky movement. Mincing steps, with a hopping up and down, or a balancing of weight from side to side (often erroneously admired as a "dancing gait" but permissible in young puppies). Lifting of front feet in hackney-like action, resulting in loss of speed and energy. Pacing gait.

THE Nicole Valley Rod and Gun Club held their first annual trials at Courtenay Lake Lodge. Bob Abercrombie, well-known Vancouver trainer and handler, took top honors in the open all-age stake with the Labrador SHIEK OF BRACKEN owned by H. E. J. Taylor. He also took first place in the non-winners stake with the curly-coated Retriever CURLY, owned by James Brown.

Second in the open went to George Walker's golden retriever WALKER'S RHETT. Al Schmidt, of Portland, was third with his golden field trial Ch. OAKCREEK VAN CLEAVE. In the Interior Handlers' stake first went to the yellow Labrador RUSTY, owned and handled by John Walker, of Merritt. Second went to H. G. Shaler's INK OF COLDWATER, third to George Armstrong's Labrador FLASH OF BRIMHERST. Judges were Hector Grant and Mell York. Henry Christensen was field trial chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Melcher's Eng. Ch. miniature Poodle FIREBRANCH PIMPERNAL was awarded five points at his first American show at Tacoma, Wash., and is well on his way to his Canadian title.

It was a great shock to all on the mainland to hear Mrs. Gladys McGee died after an illness. Mac and Gladys have been raising dogs at their kennels for a good many years and were active in all island doggie doings. Gladys was also an island correspondent for DOGS IN CANADA. She will be greatly missed.

The Burnaby Kennel Club have had nothing but praise for the two all-breed shows held under CKC rules. Sponsored by the Burnaby Diamond Jubilee, the shows were a great success.

Judges were Lillian Hickling, of Nanaimo, and Billy Oates. Famed Anton Korbel, of California, was the other judge. Credit for much of the work in organizing the show goes to Roy Coleman.

Poultry cages for the Toy benching had to be used but it worked very well. They are being used a lot in the U.S.

An unplanned party was held after the second show. Dr. Sargeant, put on a skit that had everyone in stitches.

The BIS trophies were something different and very worthwhile. A German Shepherd bitch AM. CH. ELECTRA V. RIN-TIN-TIN, owned by Evelyn Lindberg of Oregon, won the BIS table model radio for the first show and Gladys Creasey's Peke CH. X'IN SAN'S AH CUM SEE won the second show's BIS radio.

Imagine my surprise when I got a letter from Mrs. James Roberts of the Abbotsford Cocker Kennels. As a rule "Robbie's" news reaches me via the grapevine. Her lovely imported Eng. Cocker Am. & Can. Ch. Lymas Master Key took the breed group at Bremerton Wash., under Mr. Castleman, the breed and 2nd in group under Mrs. Edmiston of Richland, also breed and group at Yakima under Chris Shuttleworth.

"Tar" as he is known has 17 groups and nine Best in Show awards. Recently Mr. & Mrs. Roberts imported Tar's brother from England "Lymas Legionnaire". He is 10 months old. He won his class at Crufts over 34 others at six months.

"Inky of Abbotsford" who won the group at Victoria under Mrs. Jones and Reserve Best in Show has been sold to Mr. & Mrs. Robert Poole of Los Altos, California. Incidentally Mrs. Poole judged Weimaraners at Morris and Essex and Mr. Poole is an Eng. Cocker Judge.

Looks like Cockers are taking a back seat at Caldora Kennels. Mr. & Mrs. Cal Hayes have just imported a young Miniature Schnauzer stud from Mrs. Van of Chicago. This young fellow is "Van's Athen's Display" by "Ch. Dorem Display" and out of "Benbrook Blush".

Mrs. G. O. Alsen is the proud owner of a long-haired Chihuahua puppy which she bred herself.

Congratulations to Miss Winnie Dorchester and all the members who helped Winnie put on their first German Shepherd Specialty Show May 23, with Bob Waters donning the Ermine. Twenty-nine Shepherds entered, five champions in for Specials.

Best in Show went to Am. & Can. Champion "Doctor of Longworth" owned by Winnie Dorchester. Best of Opp. Sex to Jim and Betty Lightfoot's "Ch. Maida of Sandorea."

Mrs. Jane Kenzie has imported two pugs. The male "Biscayne Joringel of Desmond K." was bred by the Biscayne Kennels, Hamilton, Ont. He is sired by "Ch. Winna Sir Robin" out of "Blue Star Dusky Diana." The female came from "Blue Star Kennels" in New York. She is "Blue Star Doodie" by "Eadie's Tempestuous Tom" out of "Blue Star Betsy Bea".

Am. & Can. Ch. Doctor of Longworth chalked up another Best of Breed at the recent Tacoma Show under Danny Shuttleworth of California.

Winners bitch for four points was Jim Lightfoot's Can. Ch. Maida of Sandorea which almost finishes her Am. title.

Our heartfelt sympathy to Cynthia and Jack Kingston who had the dreadful misfortune to loose their winning young Dobie that they loved so much—Ch. Troll's Aladdin Von Edelweiss. He was their first homebred champion, the day he died his last litter of puppies were born, also that day his dam "Heidi of Truro" finished her championship. Troll had some nice wins in U.S. as well as in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughie McIntyre have bred their Bucknam's Winnie Winkle (their little Bl. tan Dachsie) to Am. Ch. Bucknam's Merrymaker owned by Jessie Bucknam of California.

English Cocker and English Springer Clubs

by A. R. Sacre

The English Cocker Club of Ontario and The English Springer Spaniel Club of Canada combined to hold a most enjoyable picnic at Miss James' Mulberry Hill Farm on June 28.

An informal show and field trial was held, the classes being puppy male, puppy female, adult male and adult female in each breed. Mr. G. Cox was judge of the show and Mr. Fred Sickle judged the field trial. No entry fees were charged but each person attending contributed $1.00 to cover the cost of prizes, etc.

About 50 people came and there were classes for ladies and children. An impromptu "anything goes" class was staged when Mrs. Lymburner took winner's dog with her handler's "Art Burdon"—this "animal" seemed to have trouble in obtaining a correct "stance", his angulation was poor. However, he had a docile disposition.

Our thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Hewat who undertook the task of organizing the show and catering departments, and also to Miss James who so kindly allowed us the use of her house and grounds.

The two Clubs have in the past been associated in various ways (several members belonging to both clubs) as English Springers and English Cockers have many common characteristics.

It was decided to hold our respective specialty shows on September 27 at Oakville in conjunction with the Oakville and District Kennel Club. We hope that many Cocker and Springer fans will enter their dogs and boost the breed.

Monthly meeting of the Forest City Kennel Club of London, Ont., was held at the country home of its president A. T. Steels, July 16.

The president presented a detailed account of the forthcoming three-day shows, to be held this fall. All members are highly enthused and we feel fond memories will be left in the hearts of all who attend these shows.

A most enjoyable wiener roast followed the business meeting.

We are also proud of two of our members who are successfully campaigning dogs. Miss Lena Shortt finished her wire - haired terrier VANITY PRIMA DONNA in Sarnia and Ray Baug's MAR - HAWKS SPARTY RASCAL made a five-point win at the New Jersey Cocker Specialty Show.

THE specialty show will be held on Sept. 1 and 2 at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto; not on Sept. 27 at Oakville as previously announced. The directors feel that this date will prove considerably more attractive and convenient to visitors from a distance.

The exhibition is holding a three-show circuit for all breeds (Aug. 27-28, Aug. 29-30 and Sept. 1-2). In addition there is a two-show circuit at Ottawa and Hull on August 23 and 24. These cities are separated by the Ottawa River and are only a day's drive from Toronto. Here is a wonderful opportunity to get the opinions of five different judges in ten days, to win points and to get group placings, prizes and trophies.

At the Specialty Show the exhibition offers its regular cash prizes, ranging up to $10 in the classes. In addition your trophy secretary, Mrs. Kaye, has assembled a splendid trophy list and Miss Barbara Worcester has most generously offered an English Silver trophy, the William J. Worcester Memorial Trophy, for annual competition.

Our Specialty judge will be Mr. William McDerment of Collingwood, Ontario, who comes to us with a high reputation as a first-rate terrier judge. Furthermore, as he has not been active in the ring for two or three years, he is not familiar with the individual dogs currently being shown, so you can be sure of an expert opinion as fresh and unbiased as any mere human being can bring into the ring. Terrier Group will be judged by Mr. Walter Reeves of Oakville, whose name is too well known to need any fair words to commend him.

One word of warning—as space at the show is not unlimited, get your entries in early.

Before we leave the subject of the Specialty Show, a word about the extra classes we are planning:

Members Class, open to any dog, regardless of sex, owned by a member of the C.W.H.W.T.C. resident in Canada. Best of Breed and Best of Opposite Sex excluded.

Visitors Class, open to any dog or bitch, owned by a person not ordinarily resident in Canada, whether a member of the C.W.H.W.T.C. or not; Best of Breed and Best of Opposite Sex encluded.

These two classes give an opportunity to good dogs which are not otherwise eligible for prizes (those entered in Specials Only for example) which are unfortunate enough to be defeated in the Best of Breed class.

Sire and two of his get; Dam and two of her progeny. We think these two classes will be of particular interest to the serious breeder. The three dogs comprising each entry need not be of the same sex or owned by the same exhibitor, nor need the get or progeny be out of the same litter. Here it is overal evenness of quality that counts.

International team match—The Canadian exhibitors are planning to challenge their American friends to a friendly match between four (or at least two) American-owned Westies against the same number of Canadian-owned. This will not be a class, nor published in the Premium list; details will be agreed upon at the time of the show—also the stakes.

Bulldog Club of Central Canada

By H. M. GORDON

LABOR DAY at the Canadian National Exhibition dog shows will see for the first time in many moons a Bulldog Specialty Show, sponsored by the Bulldog Club of Central Canada. A lively interest is being shown.

A full prize list as well as the usual cash prizes is certainly helping entries.

Specialty judge will be Dr. Gordon of Detroit, well-known figure in bulldog circles.

Dr. Ripley, of Richmond Hill, was speaker at the June meeting. His subject "Parasitical Infections of the Dog" was well worth hearing and his prize collection of specimens created more than casual interest. A Raspberry Social at the home of Vice-President and Mrs. H. Ince took care of the July meeting while the August meeting will be taken up with Specialty Show arrangements.

Mr. E. Williams will address the club early in the fall on "What I Look For in a Bulldog". This is on judging procedure. Other speakers on subjects of interest are being arranged, we hope to the satisfaction of our members who number just short of the 60 mark.

This is a very good indication of how this club has been received in its seven months of operation. The help and interest of everyone is the main reason for our progress for which executive committee is more than grateful.

MEMBERS of the Cocker Spaniel Specialty Club are deep in plans for their fall show to be held Sept. 5 and 6.

The Greater Winnipeg Ladies Kennel Club will resume meetings in September after holding no meetings during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Sutherland, who moved to Niagara Falls last year, visited Winnipeg early in June. Mr. Sutherland is a former president of the Cocker Club.

Speedy recovery is wished to Mr. T. Eamens and Mrs. Hanna Wade, both of whom are in hospital. The Eamens have also lost the companionship of their old Irish Setter.

The Toronto and York Spaniel Club

By ALICE COOPER

THE Toronto and York Spaniel Club have passed the half-year mark and have hung up a "Gone Fishing" sign for the Summer months.

The first six months were packed with solid interest and hard work. Memberships climbed to a very satisfactory high and our bank book shows a substantial balance. The Executive and Committees worked closely together and spared no effort to round out successful meetings to make interesting and constructive plans for the future. The several guest speakers we were fortunate in securing were excellent. We learned a lot of things and enjoyed a lot of things together.

We sponsored a successful Cocker Spaniel Specialty Show at Guelph last April and our members have been out in almost full force at every show throughout the past season and were well up around top ratings when awards were made.

To wind up the season we held a basket lunch picnic and puppy match on Mr. Gottschalk's property with Mrs. Alban E. Sturdee judging. We were pleased and honored to have Mrs. Sturdee judge our first Puppy Match. She was practically on her way to officiate as an all-round Judge at Madison Square Gardens which is top billing for our lady from Canada. No class there would be gone over with more genuine interest and careful inspection than Mrs. Sturdee gave our puppies that day. We remember her smiling remark as she was leaving, "I am more proud to judge your first Puppy Match than I would be your fiftieth".

A word of appreciation to our successful president, Cecil Canham, who battled traffic from his cottage to attend and to our Honorary President, Art Burden, who despite a sleepless night spent on the highway in the company of a dead battery, was there the same efficient Ring Steward as always. We all seemed to feel the same about it, "Art is here so everything will be O.K."

There is another person who rates more than a passing nod for her part in the club's success, the secretary, Mrs. M. Craig. The writer remembers how at the first meeting when Mrs. Craig was asked to accept nomination for secretary, she quietly came forward and said that while she had no experience she would try to do her best if elected. She has done a splendid job.

The day was lovely for the match. And the puppies, bless their hearts, lovelies all of them. And a very good turn out of them there was.

The past six months flew quickly by. Everybody knows and understands how busy everybody else is and how sometimes work is crowded into the last few days of preparation. It is seemed to some that they got just a mite more than their share of the slugging to do, no one said boo about it, just a mere "well, its for the Club, so what". Those regular meetings, the informal talks and helpful discussions on doggie problems, post mortems on the shows, the sharing of good fortunes and the inevitable bad fortunes, the freely given help and advice, the experienced talking to the inexperienced, and if nothing else just meeting real friends with a common interest. That's our Club.

On behalf of every member to Mr. and Mrs. Rice, of Ormstrum Head Kennels, R.R. 1, Tecumseh, Ont., our genuine sympathy and concern over the loss and damage suffered in a fire in their kennels. Material losses are hard to take. But bricks and mortar can be replaced.

With our annual show behind us we have had time to remember and think about some of the things we enjoyed so well. Our Junior Kennel Club gives us a feeling that our youngsters are doggy conscious and great praise should go to Miss Rhoda Curtis and Mrs. Mary Whitman for their untiring training and patience with these youngsters.

We are sure that all members congratulate Walter Boutilier for his excellent showing with his pride and joy JUDY CONSTANCE. Congratulations also go to Dr. MacAuley's LITTLE PETER for winning best in show as well as Mrs. Whitman's Pug WINNA BEAU GESTE and several best in their group. Congratulations are in order for RUFTON CHALLENGER of Lucky Charm Kennels, who is now a champion.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Whitman lost one of her female TINY TOOTS OF BONISCHIRE and litter of three.

Barrie Kennel Club

By DONALDA LAMONT

CELEBRATING the completion of his new equipment shop, President Stan King held a square dance for members of the Barrie Kennel Club July 11.

About 100 members and friends danced to the music of Howard Morris and Dr. James Veitch. Calling was handled by George Chesnutt.

The new building is located opposite Mr. King's home.

Proceeds from the evening were turned over to the club.

Irish Setter Club of Canada

By GERTRUDE W. DREW

WITH meetings suspended for the summer there is a dearth of news. Our last month news was mislaid by DOGS IN CANADA. However, there was nothing so important that it really matters much. Anything of interest will be included here.

All arrangements for Irish Setter Specialty show was completed at our last monthly meeting. This show being the main project of the year has been given much time and consideration and we hope it will be a greatly improved affair this year. There is no doubt that the club has given the breed a great boost. Many of the new breeders are as enthusiastic as the older ones and their dog or dogs have become much more interesting since their advent into the club. We have upwards of 50 members now but there is room and need for many more.

We completed what we think is a very spectacular prize list. This show is primarily for the encouragement of our Canadian breeders and we hope they will take advantage of the opportunity to bring out their dogs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ionson of Clarkson have invited members to their home for the in-between-shows party. This is not far from Toronto and the club were quick to accept the generous invitation.

Our thanks to Mr. William Irons of Bow Valley Kennels, Bowness, Alta., for his donation to our trophy fund. Incidentally, Mr. Irons got a pleasant surprise when the Calgary Kennel Club presented him with a set of pipes and a lighter. This was not for having the best Irish Setters but for being the oldest member of that club. It is forty years this month since Mr. Irons exhibited his first dogs. Congratulations from all of us here.

The Roystons from up Mona way called here one evening and displayed a pair of bitch puppies they recently purchased. They were beaming with pride and well they might for said puppies are little beauties.

Ken Honsberger seems to have fully recovered from his accident and I hear he is building a new home.

Ace Flyer of Aragon and Mollies Meg, both of "Wildair", now boast the Championship title. It was nice to get it all over with in a little more than a month.

CHAMPION DEAD

One of Vancouver Island's best-known champions is dead.

CH. DALEMOOR DONALD IMP., of C.K. Senior's Dalemoor Kennels, died at the age of 13½ years, leaving behind him a record of nine "best of breed" awards.

Sired by INT. CH. DRY TOAST, he was imported from England early in 1939 and competed in many all-breed championship shows on the west coast.

Of the many dogs sired by him, five are in Island homes.

Sarnia Kennel Club

By PHYLLIS RAWLINGS

The Sarnia Kennel Club show is over but not forgotten. By the very pleasing comments we received, we feel our efforts were appreciated.

A few words of appreciation, a little slap on the back carry a wealth of satisfaction. They really mean something.

The Sarnia K.C. says a very big, "Thanks a lot" to all those doggy people who enjoyed the show.

Summer month activities are few for the Sarnia K.C. but the annual picnic is on the list. At the last meeting Charles Joy took the chair and also gave a talk on "Kerries."

Maritime Circuit

Dog "Helmanhof's Skyrocket" cleverly jockeyed to his win by his justly proud breeder-owner. It was the first time one of this breed had gone best of all breeds in a show in Canada.

The Best Canadian Bred Puppy was a repeat of the first day—Dr. MacAuay's "Dinah Mite's Little Peter". And so ended what was generally felt the best Sydney Shows ever.

For upwards of half a century, there has been an annual dog show held in Halifax, not continuously by the same Club, but by one of the several clubs which for periods have flourished in the city.

On Dominion Day, the Halifax Kennel Club held its eleventh championship show and I feel that this year's show was the best arranged and smoothly-run show of any of its predecessors.

The reason for this happy state of things must have been because this show was virtually arranged and conducted by the Ladies of the Club.

Chairman of the Show Committee was Mrs. Werner Moll, wife of the genial president. To Mrs. Moll and her effifficient band of willing workers, go ORCHIDS for a perfect job.

The show was held in the Halifax Forum, a building that lends itself in every way, to the staging of a perfect dog show. It is without doubt the finest venue for that purpose east of Montreal. It is the best lighted, has ample seating accommodation, outside exercise rings and parking space, in fact has everything that either visitor or exhibitor could possibly desire. The ring was spacious, the benching adequate and well laid out, with easy access to the assembly ring. This enabled the inimitable Sam Ritchie, Maritimes ace ring steward and his nimble assistant to keep a constant flow of dogs before the judge.

A pleasing but pathetic note was struck when, at the evening session one side of the ring was occupied by wheel-chair patients from nearby Camp Hill Hospital. Object of the show was to help in this grand work.

The gorgeous array of trophies was a delight. It was arranged by Mrs. E. Morash and Mrs. N. Baker-Mosher, who worked like "Trojans".

Those two veterans of many dog shows, "Ike" W. T. Miller and Mike Andrews, were the joint Show Superintendents, and they, too, did a superlative job.

The judge was Frank Foster Davis of Ventnor, N.J., and, although Mr. Davis is well known to Maritime exhibitors, this was his first assignment in Halifax. He gave a memorable display of sound, clean-cut and watchable judging. His decisions gave general satisfaction. It was noticed that not once during the whole day did he touch a dog's mouth, a safeguard against infection. This writer chatted with Mr. Davis and was much impressed by his sincerity. He was most enthusiastic about the building, the general lay-out and the benching. The dogs, he said, were on a par with those one would find at a show of comparative size in the U.S. He told me that he was very much impressed by the sporting way his decisions had been received and also by how quickly each exhibitor had fallen in with his desire for them to show him the mouth of their dogs. He said how greatly he admired the Canadian Kennel Club for allowing but one Best of Breed in Cocker Spaniels and he was of the opinion that the A.K.C. would shortly adopt this system.

Mr. Davis gave B.I.S. to the Weimaraner "Helmanhof's Skyrocket", superbly handled by his justly proud owner, Mrs. Helms Crutchfield, of Richmond, Va. This dog, making canine history at Sydney, has a most impressive record. In four shows while still a puppy, within one week he annexed two B.I.S., won two Sporting Groups, and, subject to CKC confirmation, completed his Canadian championship. As he posed in the ring after the final award at Halifax, he looked like an exquisitely sculptured statuette in dull grey polished marble.

The reserve to Best in Show was Roy Montague's under 15" Beagle, "Ch. Mintis Nellie", this dog was also Best Canadian Bred in Show, while the award for Best Canadian Bred Puppy went to "Canning Towns Lovely Lady" an English Bulldog, owned by George Johnson of Truro. And so ended a brilliant show and everybody—well nearly everybody, went home happy.

Governor General Vincent Massey is shown presenting Mrs. F. M. Wickstrom of Kitchener with the Best in Show ribbon and silver serving dish won by her Doberman Pinscher, Tatjan of Reklaw, at the Ottawa Kennel Club's 38th annual international championship dog show. Tatjan was judged best in show both nights of the two-day show.

Trollhattan KENNELS

Miss Carla von Troll (right) and her 5-month-old offspring, Trollhattan's Major Factor, sired by Int. Ch. Baptiste's War Major, seem to have their eyes on something!

Trollhattan Kennels, under the experienced guidance and ownership of Harvey M. Gratton, Grand Bend, Ont., have been breeding Doberman Pinschers exclusively since 1934.

Through Miss Carla von Troll and her offspring by three different sires, including International Champion Baptiste's War Major, they have accounted for more wins in Canada than any other Canadian or American bred Doberman for the three year period, 1949-1951.

Carla is also the dam of Champion Trinka von Edelwesen, top winning Doberman in Canada for 1951, featured in the March issue, "Dogs in Canada". During 1951 at Sydney, St. John and Truro, Carla was Best of Breed, placing in the working group each time.

Mr. Gratton is shown above with Miss Joyce Anderson, who capably manages the kennels.

PURINA IS THEIR CHOICE

"To produce winners calls for selecting the best in type and bloodlines, the best in rations for proper growth and development", comments Mr. Gratton—a consistent Purina Dog Chow feeder for 10 years. "We like its bulky consistency, the way our dogs grow and develop, the complete absence of any setbacks at show time".

Yes, the rigid tests of top-flight kennel people everywhere have proved Dog Chow a sound investment. For them, Purina Dog Chow delivers the goods—basic economy, nutritional quality and high palatability.

Talk to any of the well-known breeders. You'll be surprised how many are feeding and recommending Purina Dog Chow.

If you feed in any appreciable quantity, inquire about the Purina Courtesy Card.
