Editorial

AS the end of a year approaches it is customary to review the preceding 12 months with the hope its lessons will be the guide to a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

If the past has not been all that one might have wished and there have been differences—some which appear so wide there seems no hope of compromise—it is a blessing on this world that there is such a thing as the "spirit of Christmas" when goodwill reigns supreme.

May dog lovers everywhere enjoy a Merry Christmas 1952 and throughout 1953 goodwill which alone can bring prosperity.—I.H.M.

The Golden Key In '53

ARE you among the many serious dog breeders who are looking for the "Golden Key" to the problem - "Just how can I operate successfully in the face of today's high costs?" Believe it or not, this key is within your grasp, all wrapped up in one word - Value.

In order to meet your costs, you must maintain a price level in excess of labor and out-of-pocket expenses. But you have to keep in mind that your prospect demands value for his money.

What then determines the value of a pure-bred dog? Mainly, how much it is in demand. Who creates that demand? You do by directing your every move toward boosting dog values or more specifically, creating a greater desire for your breed.

Then, why does demand fall off and with it prices? Because some of the necessary supports which boost value are forgotten.

One of the main supports of value is your pure-bred dog magazine. It is the "loud-speaker" for the fancy, continually spreading interest in pure-bred dogs which general publications often fail to do.

Only an active, well-supported prop will keep demand from sagging. To keep demand strong, it is necessary to widen the prospective market by continually boosting pure-bred dogs, your breed and specifically your dogs.

Demand determines value and Canada's only pure-bred dog magazine is ever creating that demand. In 1953 advertising in DOGS IN CANADA is the "Golden Key" to successful operation by every Canadian pure-bred dog breeder.—I.H.M.

'TIS HIMSELF — O'REILLY

CBC Gives Dogs The Air

THERE WAS A time when vaudeville gag men overworked the joke "Oh really? No, O'Reilly." The 1952 version of O'Reilly is no joke to thousands of Canadian kiddies to whom O'Reilly is as real as their own pets.

Four-year-old Bell-Erin Price, a smart Irish Setter owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Willis of Toronto, has been part of the many Just Mary books and broadcasts which have become so dear to the hearts of Canadian small fry.

O'Reilly, as he is known in Just Maryland, is but one of the "famous few" of Canadian radio dogdom. These are the dogs heard on Canadian Broadcasting Corporation programs and seen on television. They are also the dogs owned by artists and producers.

In one case a dog proved competition for her mistress when "Miffy," a Welsh Corgi appeared on one national network while her mistress, Ruth Springford, appeared on another. Ruth says rather ruefully that when she got home and asked how her show had gone her mother said she'd been listening to Miffy instead.

Many nationally-known radio figures do not have their dogs appearing in their shows but producer Jackie Rae used his Boxer, Caesar Von Styria, as a call boy for the Wayne and Shuster show one night. Caesar took his job very seriously literally dragging the comedians on stage - - to the delight of the studio audience.

At home Caesar shares the limelight with Wildair Cynthia, Sherry for short, a 2½ year old Irish Setter, and Skip, a "semi-Cocker," aged "about two years."

While not making personal appearances at all Markmor's Share the Wealth provides plenty of publicity for quizmaster Stan Francis. The smart three-year-old Boxer bitch has been nicknamed Halo.

Sportscaster Dave Price is itching for the day when Susie is old enough to go everywhere with him. Susie is not a youngster but a six-months-old Golden Retriever (Byrcober's Susie) whom Dave purchased this fall. Judging from the way Susie takes command of the car, Dave may be having competition on his programs. Susie appropriates the keys, tears out to the car and won't relinquish the keys until everyone is in the car with the door closed and ready to go.

Kipling on the other hand doesn't like cars and getting this Collie into one is a "big production" according to musician Cal Jackson. Cal is appearing both on radio and television. As yet Kipling hasn't tried to usurp his master's spotlight.

Cal's reason for continually owning Collies (Lonny preceded Kipling) is "a Collie and an Airedale saved my life when I was three—they killed a mad dog who had attacked me."

Cal figures Kipling's aversion to cars stems from the trip he took with his sable and white friend and the late Lonny. The dogs stood the whole way from California to New York some 3,200 miles. "Often if I'd stop suddenly they'd slip off the seat and I think that's what made him dislike the car."

Another Collie owner is Eddie Allen of the Happy Gang. Fellow gang member Dorothy Deane is the proud owner of Jody Jay-Deane, a 2½-year-old Great Dane. The Dean used to breed Danes but a move made it impossible for them to continue.

A fellow broadcaster with Dorothy Springford's Miffy is Alice Hill's Girl, a three-year-old Brittany Spaniel. Although Miffy has become a polished performer—she barks on cue—Girl is "just a real pet. She's quite an old woman at times, always has to have the last word." Girl became a real problem when Alice was living in an apartment where dogs were strictly taboo. "I had to tie a ribbon around her nose whenever she wanted to go out. Then we'd have to sneak out and back in." She now has lots of room to romp with Alice's daughter in their new home.

JODY HOLDS THE FORT

Girl now has to be coaxed to bark by tempting her with dog biscuits.

Perhaps the only time Dorothy Jane Goulding's (Kindergarten of the Air) Cocker Joe, short for Joshiah, was on the air was quite by accident. When Joe was a puppy he took exception to some flute music being broadcast and loudly protested from his bed in the control room. It was hoped his voice didn't carry over the flute notes.

Joe's greatest performance is his complete refusal to leave Dorothy alone—even when she has her children. "We got a dog because Dad always said any woman who plans to bring up a family should bring up a dog first. The children get the bringing up—Joe's the most spoilt member of the family."

A born showman is dancers Alan and Blanche Lund's Wirehair Foxterrier who appeared in the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand shows of 1952. "He was terrific," producer Jackie Rae enthused, "he did his part (in some of the crowd scenes) as if he were really enjoying it and never made a mistake."

The "famous few" of radio dogdom aren't just lost in the crowd when out walking. They are as much celebrities as some of their famous owners. Producer J. Frank Willis' O'Reilly is always spotted when out for a walk.

"Is he O'Reilly?" some youngster is bound to ask. One pint sized moppet said wistfully, "gee, I wish I had a saddle," obviously missing the point that HE was O'REILLY and not a pony.

Before O'Reilly the Willis' had O'Casey (after playwrit Sean O'Casey) who was just as important in his own right.

Their Persian cat Joe looks down upon fussing over O'Reilly with all the wisdom of his eight years. He too is in Just Mary books and broadcasts and he was a D-Day arrival too! ('Course the arrival was at the Willis' and not on this earth but it's still an important date.)

Jackie Rae's Sherry is the woman around the two-room bachelor apartment and keeps the youngsters in line. The three dogs get their exercise during the day while Jackie is at work.

The only one who doesn't think so much of Jackie's pets is his mother who comes to clean. Caesar has a mania for chewing hats.

Jackie's love for dogs has extended for years. Even during the war he had a dog. He left it with his Spitzfire squadron when he returned to Canada.

LOVE PLUS

"Love and kindness" are the best obedience teachers, according to Stan Francis who marvels at Halo's immediate response to his commands. She also is "about as good a car insurance as any. People take one look at her in the car and steer clear of it. If they'd look at her other end and see that tail going..."

Stan has also had a Collie, Cocker (English), Boston Terrier, Bulldog and English Sheepdog.

These are but a few of the dogs owned by radio artists and producers but their stories prove that even the busiest people have time for dogs. Despite the time-exhausting round of broadcasts, rehearsals and more broadcasts the dogs get their exercise and never miss a meal. Perhaps they provide a welcome relief from all the people their masters and mistresses see all day—their staunch love and devotion seem to inspire confidence.

While the dogs are listening to the radio and thinking "hey, that's MY boss," the people are at the studio saying "now my DOG..."

Learning to sing can be a pleasant job Joe (top left) finds — especially when mistress Dorothy Jane Golding is the pianist. At top right Halo shows who's boss around the Francis home while Stan ponders his next move. "Won't steal the spotlight, boss," Kipling (above) tells Cal Jackson, "if you don't make me go in the car."

The most unpopular people in York County, Ontario, in November were the meter readers. County council became highly indignant when it found out the meter readers were informers—on the canine population.

It seems the readers were reporting non-licensed dogs they saw while on their rounds.

The council emphatically laid down the law—meter readers will stick to reading meters. "We aren't having any Gestapo around here," one council member said.

Characteristically Yours

Dogs take on many of the characteristics of the people who own them, but deeply embedded are character roots that date back to their country of origin. Dogs through their association with man, have and are reflecting the personalities of the nationalities with whom they have been associated for generations. If one takes the time and is interested enough to study recently imported dogs, they will see where certain known characteristics of the countrymen are deeply instilled in these dogs, and are handed on from generation to generation.

England — English Bulldog
Tenacious, sociable, hardy.

China — Chow Chow
Silent, mysterious, inscrutable.

Scotland — Scottish Terrier
Solemn, independent, staunch, stubborn, dour.

Ireland — Irish Terrier
Impulsive, gay, sentimental, relish a good scrap.

Germany — Doberman Pinscher
Prussian, dogmatic, belligerent, underlying ferocity, love of discipline.

Did You Know

That . . . In Germany to-day Welsh Corgis are classified as Terriers.

That . . . One dog lived 117 days on water alone; many dogs and cats have existed for over two months on water.

That . . . Your dog, when he runs, is apt to hang himself if you leave his collar on in the bush. Many a good hunting dog has died of starvation or strangled when his collar caught on a heavy twig or wire fence. Jean White of the D'Argenteuil Kennels (Coonhounds and Labradors) suggests before you turn your dog loose to run or hunt you take off the collar and replace it with a piece of string with your identification on it, then if the dog is caught the string will break. Another means of simple identification is a strip of adhesive tape on his stomach: some hunters and breeders tattoo.

That . . . One well-known Scottish handler claims dogs should be fed ¾ fresh meat and lots of vitamin C, (orange juice, tomato juice, etc.). He feels not enough attention is given to this vitamin which he claims is a dog's natural food. The proof he says, is the condition of all his dogs at the kennel.

That . . . A dog or wolf running wild will always go first to the abdomen of his kill and eat the entrails.

That . . . There is a new dog food supplement on the market, containing extracted penicillium meal combining Antibiotics and vitamin B12, the name CANICIL.

CHRISTMAS PUP

It's Christmas time and I want a pup
But it's hard to make up my mind.
I've seen so many
I'd like to own
And all are a different kind.

There's the tiny Chihuahua, small as a mouse
With eyes like a deer, soft and bright
Who jumped in my lap
And cuddled up close
Such a dear friendly wee mite.

Then there's the bouncy, playful Cairn
With its black little Pixie face
Bobbing all over
The living room floor
Dragging a shoe by its lace.

And the sorrowful little Bloodhound
Appearing so sad and forlorn
With his long droopy ears
And his wrinkled face
Looking so lost and worn.

And of course, the Great Dane puppy
So big and awkward and cute
Prancing around,
His ears a-flopping,
Like a great and happy galoot.

Then there's the little Westie
Like a tiny tumbling puff
Growling like mad
At a Bull-Mastiff
Pretending he's awful tough.

So the antics of all these puppies
Keep passing through my mind
And I can't be sure
Of the one I want
The type, the sex or the kind.

Dog Tales

The Devil and Saint Peter were arguing as to which abode harboured the greatest dogs. St. Peter quietly but determindly stated that of course all the best dogs were in Heaven... and to prove his point he would challenge the Devil to bring his prize charges to a dog show.

The Devil screamed with laughter and jabbing the lower clouds with his hot little fork, informed St. Peter it would be a useless waste of time.

"I'll win," he shouted, "I know I'll win... I've got all the judges and handlers down with me...

Just what do bears and Labradors have in common? Dela (Ch. Winn's Miggs) at five months of age tried to make friends with two bear cubs. Mother bear was annoyed and voiced her anger. Dela just stayed and wagged her tail. Up popped Baron Etienne D'Argenteuil (Coonhound) grabbed Dela by the back of her neck and carried her protestingly into the house. Then he jumped a six foot fence and took off after the belligerent mother and cubs. He treed them two miles from the cottage and had to be dragged home.

Friends of Muriel Boughs, Toronto, are a little more than surprised when her phone is answered after five rings by a loud series of impatient barks. Her two-year-old Boston Terrier, Ch. Dibs Maid to Order, just can't stand the phone ringing, so she jumps up on the desk, bats the phone off the hook, and screams for Muriel to come and answer it.

A TOAST

I drink a toast to all the dogs
(Not one of any special breed
Or certified prize-winning strain)
Just to dogs . . . Whose honest, plain
Loyalty... Man's most desperate need.
I toast their happy eyes and wagging tails
Their courage and sagacity
The unselfish love that never fails,
Devotion given graciously.

A DOGGY FANTASY

The Spirit of Christmas 'Eve'

"AH, there's nothing like a good Christmas story to warm the cockles o' yer heart", said old Tom stretching his legs toward the fire's embers and scratching in his pocket for more 'baccy.

The young folks smiled, settling down for a story. Tom was a notable in the tale-telling department.

"Yer a-smiling and I don't blame ye one bit. When yer was tykes I'd tell the biggest fibs in the glen just to see yer faces. But this story, ah this story is real as real can be. The dear Lord's m' witness to it.

"And Eve's m' witness too.

"Everyone pondered why I'd call a he-dog 'Eve'. Thought as though I didn't know the diff'rence I guess, but Eve understands.

"Ye know they say a mon should never be alone Christmas Eve. It's the time of families and love and friendliness when a mon should have his loved ones 'round him to relive the miracle of the night.

"The only lonely Christmas eve in m' life was 'bout three year ago now. A devil of a night it was too. Couldn't see out the window, the snow was that high. Wind howled down the chimney til' even the fire shuddered at the sound of it.

"No 'un could get through. Roads had been blocked nigh on a week. Family was to gather here, just like they always did. Couldn't get through though—had to stay in Dungavin 'til the storm let up.

"Not a sound but the wind and m' pipe.

"I must have been thinking 'bout Christmas, never really had before, 'bout the night and the stars and the lambs on the hill.

SOME 'UN LOOKING

"And then I knew some 'un was looking in the window. Ever had that feeling? Don't s'pose ye have.

"Ye see I knew no 'un could look in for the snow was drifted to the eaves yet I knew some 'un was peeking in, studying me.

"Now yer a-thinking I'm into a ghost story, but I'm not. It wasn't a scarey feeling just a wondering who was peering at me.

"Guess whoever it was knew I knew so they came in. I knew they were in. Door didn't open, window stayed shut, but they were in.

"Couldn't see no' un but I spoke up anyway and said 'welcome stranger', M' auld eyes aren't as good as in past so I can't see ye so well but I bid ye welcome and come share m' fire wi' me. 'Tis a wretched night.'

"Nothing happened so I said 'I haven't much in the way of fancy food for the snow's kept me here nigh on a week but there's ale and bread, beans and cheese and a few trimmings that yer welcome to.'

"Still no answer. It was gone.

"I figured it was a friendly spirit and when it found me friendly it went on, Probably just wanted to get warm.

"Couldn't have been more than [illegible] minutes when I heard a crying outside. Now if I'd been thinking I'd known I couldn't hear a cry over that storm. But m' mind was on the stranger I couldn't see. Thought maybe he'd come to harm near the door.

"So I got into m' boots and coat and headed for the door.

"Wind darn near blew me through t'other wall it was so strong. I finally got the door closed behind me and listened for the voice.

"Couldn't hear it for the longest time so I headed along the path to the road. Then very faint I heard 'over here, 'over here.' I headed toward it and stumbled right into a fencepost covered with snow.

"The voice seemed to be coming from the field so I climbed the fence. Snow was 'way past m' waist, up under my armpits. The wind pushed me back step and half to every one I took.

WADING, STRUGGLING

"I tried to go right but the wind kept pushing me t'other way. Waded and struggled through the snow to where I thought the voice was but I couldn't hear it no more. Got worried too for m' hands and feet were numb and I was sure the voice had gone to sleep with the cold.

"If I didn't find it quick.....

"Went on for a spell but the storm kept rising and I was getting sleepy m'self. Figured I could rest in the shelter of an old tree 'bout 50 yards away 'til I could go on.

"Seemed hours before I got there but then...."

Old Tom tamped down his pipe again and scratched a match. The pipe caught, then died. Another match.

"Always enjoy a good smoke.

"Well, like I was saying, there I was at the tree and huddled in the hollow was the cutest wee pup-dog ye e'er did see. All shivering he was and hungry to boot.

"I put him in m' coat and snuggled him to m' chest. Didn't have nothing but a bit of chocolate left over from m' last hunting trip in the fall. Course he weren't too fussy.

SNUGGLED CLOSE

"It was a real struggle to get home. Many a time I fell and thought I couldn't get up but the pup-dog snuggling close to me gave courage and we finally made it. After we'd thawed out a bit I built up the fire, got some milk warmed and a bit of bread and meat. You should have seen us dig in!

Can. and Am. Ch. Denbi's Cogo

Owned by John I. Florence, La Paloma Kennels, Ottawa

With the revival of interest in the Black and Tan Cocker, it gives us much pleasure to feature as our cover dog this month Canadian and American Champion Denbi's Cogo. His owner feels he is without a doubt the outstanding black and tan Cocker in Canada and reports his show career is without parallel in the Variety.

His sire is Ch. Country Gossip, one of the "Maid O'War Five", and himself the sire of more than 20 champions. His dam, Ch. Denbi's Trisha, had a great show career, too.

"Cogo" is only one of the many champion Cockers in the noted La Paloma Kennels. Two others are featured in the centre section of this issue.

The contribution of Mr. Florence to the fine Canadian breeding of Cocker Spaniels is one which has won the acclaim of many, especially those primarily interested in stabilizing the Black and Tan, now that it is a separate variety in Canada.

Boxer Showing Good

Boxer breeders can well be proud of the showing of Boxers at recent all-breed sanction matches in the Toronto area.

Entries have been very good and the calibre of puppies in particular would indicate that competition in the Boxer Classes at next year's shows should be of a very high standard.

Aside from the fact there have been a good number of Boxers out, one very promising young male Black Diamond's Dark Secret, affectionately known as Tony, boasts an outstanding record to date. Shown four times, he has to his credit three Best Puppy in Show Awards, one Reserve Best in Show and one Best in Show (all ages). These were at all-breed matches.

Tony now is six months old, was bred by Mrs. R. McNeil of Toronto and is a son of Ch. Markmor's Altair. He is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Stan Whitmore of Haviland.

YOU CAN'T ESCAPE

PUPPY LOVE

HUNDREDS of babies will be joining Canadian families this Christmas. These will be four-footed babies who will become as much a part of the family as the human members.

Puppies are lovable, cuddly bits of life guaranteed to worm into your affections—and your best chair. They'll make puddles on the carpet (if you aren't careful), and look appealing, they'll chew holes in drapes and shoes, and look proud of themselves. They'll nip your heels, get under your feet, pull tablecloths—and the dishes on them—onto the floor. You'll be irritated, annoyed and downright mad. You'll scold, slap, then pick up the offender and cuddle him.

What's the use? You can't stay angry at a face like that!

To the man who brings a purebred dog into his home comes the satisfaction of watching develop a member of the family whose background and ancestry is as well-known as that of his own children. He knows when he brings a purebred home what he eventually will look like and what work he can do as a mature dog.

NO NEED TO GUESS

There is no guessing with a purebred. There is no "should be," only "will be" where a purebred is concerned.

But what about this tiny thing that has arrived to share your life? After all he has feelings of his own. How does he feel about his arrival

He is terrified! For the first time in his short life he is away from everything that has been around him since his birth. There is no comforting mother, no brothers or sisters, no familiar bed or toys, no well-known footstep or welcome voice. It is a strange and horrible world.

Chances are he has been taken from his home, packed in a crate and shipped, or else bundled into a car and carried far away from everything that has been his life up to now.

It is very important that he should not be given into rough little hands that will squeeze and fondle him He should not be patted and pushed when he first arrives.

He should be welcomed with friendly voices and perhaps a gentle pat. He should not be crowded around. He must make the first advances. The timid approach should be accepted with gentle words and a careful stroking to make him feel wanted.

When he has adjusted to the people let him explore the whole house or apartment. Puppies are downright nosey babies. They must know what and where everything is.

They often feel more at home if the breeder has sent a toy or something familiar with them. If he has not try a saucer of milk.

Once pup has explored the house and isn't so wary of its occupants you should show him his bed, put him in it. Of course you have it ready in a draftless place. If the floor is inclined to be drafty you have it slightly off the floor, away from radiators and hot air vents.

He sniffs at the papers or rug you have lined the bottom with and thoroughly acquaints himself with his new bed.

When time for that "first night" comes the whole family must be prepared to steel themselves. He is going to cry. You know it and it won't be long before your neighbors do.

If you're a real softy you'll get up and let him sleep on the bottom of your bed where he feels there is company. He's a frightened little fellow who wishes he were back home where the dark isn't so scarey.

But if you're wise you'll put an alarm clock in his bed or near it before you turn out the light. The ticking will keep him company and he won't be so likely to cry. It's up to you whether or not you get up if he cries—just remember there are at least 365 days each year and he is likely to be with you at least a decade.

So the second day you look a little haggard. The appealingly wistful face makes you feel better and the children want to cuddle him. Now is the time to teach them the proper way to pick up and hold their new friend.

Remember he is still getting used to you and it is hard for him so be careful he is not hurt. When he is lifted one hand should support his hindquarters and the other should be between his forelegs. If you hurt him he'll lea to mistrust your hands—his only prote tion is to nip and even at his tend age he'll have a sharp bite.

AFFECTS DISPOSITION

His ears and tail shouldn't be pulle He shouldn't be lifted by a leg or t scruff of the neck. His sparkly ey might prove temptation to a baby finger but that must at all costs b prevented. The treatment he receive as a pup greatly affects his disposit through life.

Oh, you want to retract a bit a find out just how "tender" your pup age is. The ideal age to get a pup between three and four months ol Any age up to six months is satisfa tory. By three months he has his fi or milk teeth and should be worme (Many haven't been wormed and y should contact your veterinarian t find out how and when to do this.)

You must be ready to spend as mu time as possible with the pup and...

Now you want to know if pup he or she.

That has been the debatable point f decades. Many kennels still consid the male more valuable than t female and charge accordingly. Act ally, females are usually quieter a many breeders feel they are bet watchdogs and hunters. This is course, a matter of opinion. She is co sidered neater and cleaner about h habits.

Her biggest drawback is that she comes into season twice a year for a two to three week period. These are the only periods when the owner must be careful of her for the rest of the year she cannot and will not be bred.

Now we are back to pup, plus a and sex, spending his second day w you. He must be played with to ma him feel wanted and at home. His to should be large enough so he can swallow them and chewy enough t be fun. Be careful what he chews o an old shoe is fine but how can he t what is old and what is new?

From the first he must realize that he, lovable little thing, so cute . . . , isn't lord of all he surveys. He thinks he is. So do you—NOW. When he gets a little bigger you won't think so.

STEEL YOUR HEART

Now and only now is the time to steel your heart against his cuteness. He must be trained from the first to obey when spoken to, to pay his visits outdoors, and to behave himself.

Remember, the most wonderful thing in his life is to be doing things for you, to be making you proud of him, but he must be taught how. That takes patience. Lots of it. More than you've ever used.

Never be angry while training, he'll learn to fear you. Never call him to you to punish him—he'll connect it with his coming and not the misdeed. Never sneak up on him to punish him or put a collar on him.

If you are going to punish him, and you'll have to at times, smack his hindquarters with a rolled newspaper. The noise will scare him more than the blow will hurt him. Never strike his face. You don't want him to fear you.

He looks upon his human family as demigods whom he respects and loves. That is an honor you can't afford to disgrace.

A full article will be devoted housebreaking and training for these are very important matters.

In addition to wanting your pup to act his best you will want him to look his best. Proper diet takes care of at least half of the battle. Plenty of excercise—regular excercise too—is another contributing factor. Grooming is the final one—taking for granted that the dog is in good health.

At present there is a great deal of talk about D.O. (doggy odors). Dogs, like people, do have odors but good health and careful grooming eliminate them.

You can't do away with bathing but with daily brushing he doesn't need a bath more than once a week or 10 days. Daily brushing maintains a gleaming coat and a healthy skin. Never comb a dog's hair when it is wet and rarely comb it at all.

Brush bristles should be about one inch long for shortcoated breeds, an inch and a half for long coated breeds. Grandma's 100 strokes nightly brought results—so will your daily grooming. Brush opposite to the lay first, with it for the last few strokes to put it back in place. Brushing against the lay tickles the dog and he loves it.

BATHING PLEASANT

When it comes to baths don't be fooled by the comic strips. Unlike Dagwood's pups, dogs won't mind a bath if their first few experiences are pleasant ones.

Always start washing with the feet leaving the face for last. Be careful not to get soap or water in his eyes and ears. Water should be medium warm and he should be soaped all over before a quantity of water is used. Always give him a clear rinse to remove all soap.

Never bath him if he has an irritated skin or skin condition.

Your dog may shake himself while in the tub but if he doesn't, quickly throw a towel over him when he gets out or the shower will be over everything.

More important than getting the coat clean and the soap rinsed out is getting him dry. Especially in long coated dogs, the outer coat dries quickly while close to the roots the hair is still wet. A severe cold may result unless the dog is kept in a warm draftless place until thoroughly dry. In the winter a dog should not be allowed outside for at least two hours after a bath..

Dry bathing with cornmeal, sawdust or commercial preparations can be recommended.

Toe nails need attention too. If the dog does not wear them down himself they must be clipped or filed. Be careful not to cut the quick.

When it comes to exercise your pup needs lots of it. There is no "if," "but" or "maybe" about it. He is full of life and should, if at all possible, be allowed to play with another dog sometime during the day. He should get out at least three times daily, on a lead if traffic is very heavy. As often as possible he should be taken to an open field where he can scamper and sniff to his heart's content.

You can't be lazy with a dog.

A fenced-in yard means puppy can romp without running into the road or getting into the neighbor's flowers. Of course then he gets into your garden. You are compensated by the fact that he is out of harm's way.

Do remember that he must have a round collar, preferably with his name on it—puppies have a faculty of getting lost—and his license once he reaches the taxable age. This varies with the community and you should contact your municipal government or humane society to find out at what age he needs a license.

HAMILTON, ONTARIO, CANADA

In breaking a new puppy to the leash firmness and a very hard sidewalk or road are needed. Be sure that the puppy is used to his collar and then snap on the leash. He may drag behind because he doesn't understand what is attached to his collar. If he pulls back just proceed and if he is dragged he is dragged. He will probably then sit down, but pull him along. If the road is hard enough he'll get up in a hurry and trot with you.

To give your puppy the extra exercise he needs give him a large rubber ball (big enough that he can't swallow it) a stocking stuffed with rags or other such toy. Let him retrieve sticks and jump after them.

Now a few words of advice about that pup.

Always reward and punish promptly. Puppies have very short memories and quickly forget the good and misdeeds.

Don't shout bewildering commands. Always use the same words when you want your pup to do things. Don't use "sit", "stay", "stop", all for the same thing. Use short commands and use ones that are very different sounding or he will confuse them.

A BIT OF GYPSY

Sooner rather than later you must teach your pup not to wander. There's a bit of gypsy in every dog's soul and he hates to be alone. A sharp eye will tell you when he starts away in search of a pal.

If you feed him at the same time and in the same place every day he won't go very far for fear of missing a meal — and if he doesn't come home for it he MISSES it. No softy you. Be firm. He'll be there for the next meal.

Make a real pal of your dog. Take him with you. Accustom him to strange noises. If he shows fear, pat him lightly on the head and speak gently to him. He loves and respects you. Soon he knows that nothing will happen to him while you are together.

Now that some of the basic things have been discussed, with the large items like training and feeding left to separate articles, there remains one big question in the mind. What breed should I have?

It really doesn't matter. Dogs and puppies are the most desirable gift and companion one could have. Just take into consideration the climate in which you live and the size of your dwelling. Be fair to the dog. If you live in a single room you don't want a huge dog and if you lived at the equator it wouldn't be fair to have a very heavy-coated pet.

With all the do's and don'ts the prospective puppy owner is apprehensive about whether or not he will be able to care for his pet properly. The main thing to remember is to use common sense at all times. Puppies are really the same as children, they are hard to keep up with but give dozens of moments of joy for every moment of trouble.

Dog Expressions Affect Our Talk

Living "a dog's life" may not be the ambition of many people but have you stopped to think of the effect the canine species has on your everyday language?

In the morning you arise, looking forward to a "dog-gone" good day ahead. Your attitude toward your work is going to be a "dogged" one and you've forgotten about your differences with your wife. You have found it is better to "let sleeping dogs lie" despite the fact you're sure she has a "dog in the manger" attitude.

Today is going to be different. You are going to follow the straight and narrow. There'll be no "dog leg" course.

On the way downtown, you feel like "a gay old dog" when you give the neighbor's 19-year-old daughter a lift to work.

You get to the office and the boss is on the muscle. Those "dog days" in the middle of summer are really getting him down. But you know "his bark is worse than his bite."

You've got a new idea, so you approach him. He won't accept it. He thinks "you can't teach an old dog new tricks." But you console yourself by saying, "every dog has its day."

But it's a long, hard day and you head home "dog tired" with your "dogs barking" like a beagle.

Your wife meets you at the door wearing a new hat. "Just putting on the dog," you say to yourself and head for your favorite easy chair and the family newspaper. You find it already "dog-eared" and blame your wife for not ordering the children to be more careful. She finds out that it isn't always true that "barking dogs never bite."

But your wife finds the way to your heart with a wholesome, tasty dinner, and happy and contented you curl up for a snooze on the nearest couch—"like dog, like master."

DIFFICULT TASK

How To Choose A Good Puppy

GAZING down at a mass of furry bundles all eager to tumble over their own toes causes the prospective owner to wonder just how he is going to pick the best, or a reasonably good puppy from the litter. Choosing a puppy for a pet and choosing one for the show ring are two distinct acts, the latter being by far the more difficult.

For a pet you want a pup that is sound in body and mind, will be sturdy and strong, and grow into a well-developed dog.

Far more than is expected, the puppy's coat plays the most important part in your choice. You unconsciously choose the pup whose coat is the color you like. The fact that as he gets older the color may deepen or lighten does not matter at the moment of choice—it is the color now.

Choosing the best puppy in a litter is one of the most difficult tasks in the world. Some of the best veterans of the business get fooled. The pup they were sure would never be anything but a pet turns out to be a top winner while their "show" pup fizzles out.

A good idea is not to choose the overly large or heavy pup. To get an idea how large he will be look at his feet. Large feet indicate a good-sized bone structure when he is fully grown.

Look carefully at his coat. It should be shiny and not dry, there should be no sores, scratches, dullness or flaking. Check his skin too. No sores or flaking here either.

CHECK EYES

Check the eyes. They should not be runny or have pus or white specks on them. Ears should not be red inside, nor look scratched or have any foul odor about them.

Look at the feet for sore pads; check legs for poor bone formation. Get the breeder to let you walk the dog up and down to check his movements. Watch for stiffness, lameness or dullness.

By now you know if he's fairly sound physically. You have also decided whether or not he's a wide-awake, playful fellow who wants to snuggle up to you, chew on anything chewable, comes when you call, bounds around showing off and generally proves he's a gay little chappie who has chosen you.

Beware of the one who stays in the corner. He may be shy but most likely he's sick.

Always ask the breeder if the pup has been wormed and has had distemper shots. Ask also for information regarding his pedigree—back three or four generations. Also find out if the puppy has been registered, if not get registration papers.

Take a good look at the mother too. If she seems in good health and physical structure your chances of having a good pup are better.

The task of choosing a show puppy is a much greater one, and, as said before, even experts get fooled.

One of the most difficult things for a new breeder to do is to cull within three days of birth the misfits of the litter. Crippled, misformed, off-color and badly marked puppies and those with other deformities should be culled or destroyed for the betterment of the breed. This procedure is often looked upon as cruel but breeders looking forward to the perfection of their breed know that this must be done.

The problem of picking the best pup looms large even when the litter is a small one. When the pup is chosen the breeder should mark that pup. Take a small patch of hair off, preferably on the head, as other identifications can be lost or may mar the coat.

As soon as the pup can move at more than a walk the breeder can determine how he will move. Gait is evident as soon as the puppy starts to move at a run.

The process of picking the show pup of the litter can be lengthened into months if the breeder is not sure. Bone structure, ear placement and coat can be judged at an early age.

Coat colors lighten or darken with age. Although the final coat color rarely appears before eight months a quick check of the hair at the tips of the ears will reveal what the final shade will be. Whether coats will be long or short, dense or sparse is evident from a very early age.

Unless nose color is brown the tendency of eye color to change will be to darken. By six weeks the lightness and blue color have become definite. It may take two weeks for skin colored and pink noses to turn black.

The final body structure cannot be determined accurately much before four months.

It is well to remember that a puppy reaches its full height in about half the time it takes to gain full maturity in weight and bone growth.

Housebreaking Takes Patience

BUYING a dog requires more than money. When a puppy is purchased the owner must also gather in an enormous quantity of patience and an extremely large mop.

Your puppy, male or female, must be taught to be a "gentleman" and be tidy in his ways. It is well to remember that the dog is native to fields and woods and it is not his nature to be mindful of the finer points of human etiquette.

Housebreaking is a major problem and one which requires a great deal of sympathy on the part of the owner. It takes a human baby a great deal longer to become housebroken than it does a puppy.

Pup, nine times out of 10, does a misdeed and then looks proud of himself. Mistress isn't proud of him though—that was a hardwood floor!

Decidedly annoyed Mistress sets about cleaning up. She needn't be so disgruntled for she has only herself to blame.

WEST HIGHLANDS -:- BULLMASTIFFS -:- PAPILLONS

During the housebreaking period, which may last from four to eight weeks (allowing for the occasional relapse) puppy should be confined to a certain room or rooms of the house and not be allowed elsewhere until he has learned manners.

The kitchen is an excellent spot. Here linoleum floors are quickly cleaned. Also the Mistress spends a good deal of her time here and can keep an eye on the small one.

It is better to catch before than after. This should be the motto of the housebreaker. The ounce of prevention helps teach pup and prevents puddles.

When pup seems to be going to relieve himself, rush at him. making a great deal of noise, scoop him up and hurry him outdoors. Always have a spot for him near some bushes, an ash pile or grassy spot. Dogs do not prefer a pavement and many a dog lover can never forgive a dog relieving himself on the pavement.

In many instances the deed has already been done. Now is the time to remember that a puppy's memory is about 30 seconds long. If you slap him sharply he may not remember what he has done.

It was also your fault for not watching.

USE 'BAD DOG'

Take him up to the puddle, point at it and say "bad dog" several times. Slap him sharply on the hindquarters with a rolled newspaper to emphasize your words. This connects "bad dog" with punishment. NEVER rub his nose in his misdeed, it is a disgusting practise and will turn the dog against you. He knows what it is and will connect "bad dog" with the accident.

One event such as this will not teach him manners but it will help to fix in his mind that puddles mean punishment.

Vinegar and water is a good deodorizer for puddles. Any scent left on floors or rugs after they are cleaned up is an invitation to a repeat performance. Some commercial deodorizers have been specially prepared for that purpose.

To help him you should take him out many times a day. Every hour if he seems inclined to relieve himself very often.

Take him on the leash and then slip it off. Puppies are modest little things and would rather suffer through the walk and go in the corner of the room when they get back rather than have you around. If he can run free he will quickly relieve himself.

It is best to take him along a path or in an area where other dogs have relieved themselves. This "calling card" will be an invitation and get the job over with in rapid order.

If your puppy must be indoors for a long period put a paper down for him to relieve himself on. If you leave part of the soiled paper with the fresh he will return to it the next time. This method should be dispensed with as soon as possible for the outdoor method or your dog won't want to go outdoors at all.

Always take him out after he finishes eating. He will soon ask to go out. If he is on a rigid meal schedule he will become regulated and will know when he is to go out.

Remember that if you live in an area where traffic is heavy and he must always be on the leash when outside let the leash be always slack and look about you, not at him. Give him a bit of privacy.

The female is a little more readily housebroken than the male. She doesn't have to take the trips quite as often as he does either.

After housebreaking is over and pup is beautifully mannered he should be allowed into the rest of the house. This in itself is a reward for learning etiquette.

It is a long process calling for patience unbounded, a sharp lookout and a strong mopping arm.

Did you hear about the elderly English couple who took their dog to the cinema? They had an extremely intelligent pet, everyone said.

As the picture progressed, the animal appeared to enjoy every bit of it. He laughed at the right time and growled at the villain.

A viewer, sitting immediately behind the threesome, was amazed. Tapping the husband on the shoulder, he said: "This is the most astounding sight I've ever seen. I can't understand it."

"I can't understand it, either," came the reply. "He simply hated the book."

Diet Keeps Puppies Healthy

YOUR new puppy is the world's worst beggar. His little, round tummy may be so full that he is acutely uncomfortable but he'll look irresistibly starved and beg as if his life depended upon it.

The main thing to remember is that he ISN'T starved. After all you're feeding him four times a day. Yes, you are. Morning, noon, night and bedtime your puppy gets fed.

LIKE A BABY

He's just like a baby, starts the day with warmed milk and pablum or a cooked cereal. A dose of cod liver oil, added to one meal, daily helps him along the road to good health.

More than 50 per cent of his good health comes from his diet. The proper food in the proper amount can mean a healthy or an unhealthy pup.

The proper amount depends, to a large extent, on the pup. Always remove his food dish immediately he has stopped eating and is just playing around with the food. Never leave food in the dish to nibble on or he won't have an appetite at mealtimes.

As he grows older he gets fewer meals a day until he is a year and a half. By then he is ready for an adult's meals. Most people prefer to give their grown dog two meals a day—a small one in the morning and a large one at night. If the dog is to be a watch dog give the meals the other way around for a big meal makes the dog sleepy, a light meal keeps him awake.

One thing that often startles a new dog owner is gulping. Gulping is not a vice. A dog's saliva contains very little pitalin, a digestive juice, so chewing has very little value.

Regular hours must be adhered to for mealtimes. Like babies and growing children, the pup must be kept on a meal schedule, being fed at the same time each and every day.

His noon and evening meals should consist of a good puppy meal mixed with warm broth or water and a generous supply of meat—ground horse meat, beef or lamb. Watch the pup for the amount, if he gobbles it all down give him a bit more until he slows down, then take the rest away.

The fourth meal, for young puppies, is warm milk before that last trip outdoors and bedtime. Always try to give milk rather than water.

After six months the pup needs a good milk and cereal breakfast, an early evening substantial meal and a puppy biscuit and milk at bedtime. The "grown dog needs only one meal a day" may hold true but he's much happier and healthier if that meal is split into two.

Back again to scooping up that picked over plate. The harder the heart the quicker pup learns "now or never" about meals. Irresistible means indigestion at a later date.

One thing old hard-heart must remember that as pup grows he needs more food. Gradually increase his daily allotment as he seems to need it. Never force food on him—he'll eat it to please you.

If he's fat YOU'LL have to run it off him.

There'll come the day when your dog may refuse to eat. The household goes into a panic. All the food was carefully prepared, water was clean. . . . Relax, germs are in the air too. It may be a minor ailment that will pass during the day. Watch him carefully. If he seems to mope and get worse call your veterinary.

One thing to be careful of is not to let him acquire the habit of eating anywhere but at home. This is a safeguard for if he eats at home you know what he eats. He will also have his own food dish and water dish. These will be spotlessly clean at all times.

What about bones? Dogs like them. They like to chew and eating doesn't entail chewing for them. Large well-cooked bones are fine but never small or sharp-edged ones or ones that splinter easily.

No chicken, rabbit or fish bones.

The merits and demerits of meat vs. prepared foods rages on. The use of high quality canned dog food can be highly recommended but not as a steady diet. About every fourth day you should completely change his diet —no matter what you are feeding him. How would you like to eat the same thing for months on end?

Meat and milk are top rungs on doggy diet ladders. They are good, good for him and he likes them. Please, no fried or highly seasoned meats though. Soft boiled eggs added to supper are occasionally a good idea. Not hardboiled or raw though.

Dog biscuits, large, small or middling, are excellent. They are chewy—clean the teeth and give them exercise. Never give in a mushy condition but a bit of broth provides a soup and crackers meal. Biscuits are nutritional, a filler, and help food costs.

Vegetables aren't so terribly important to the dog. If he likes them give him some but never force them on him. They should play a very small role in his diet. No potatoes, they get lumpy in the stomach—he swallows them whole.

No matter how cute he looks on his little hind legs and with his pleading smile you pop that chocolate into YOUR mouth. NO SWEETS, no puddings, no fried, spiced or highly seasoned foods.

If he's ailing he mustn't have very much water, unless your veterinarian says otherwise. Chopped raw beef is good and most ailing dogs will eat boiled lamb and barley broth.

A daily enema will help—use lukewarm water, slightly soaped.

A few hints designed to help: Hamburger should not have much fat or gristle; raw lean meat is very good even for puppies; pinch of salt now and then is good; a complete diet change may be too drastic and diarrhea may result—milk of bismuth three times daily for three days will help.

His diet should be changed but not too drastically all at once.

Authorities differ greatly as to the amount of water dogs should have. They all agree that water is not only an important part of the daily food intake but that it is an absolute necessity.

AMOUNT VARIES

The amount to be taken, however, varies from free access to clean, fresh water to only twice a day for mature dogs, four times daily for puppies under six months with the various authorities.

Water is taken into the dog's body through a lapping process where the tongue throws the water into the throat.

Most dogs are not fussy where they get their water although they do not like warm water. Fresh water should be available as standing water not only gets warm but collects dirt and germs. Clean water dishes should be used. Never use a rusty dish. Enamel or crockery dishes are best.

Dogs should, at all times, be stopped from drinking slough or puddle water.

A dog who gulps water should never be allowed to drink after eating. The dog's stomach is designed to empty easily and he will lose his meal if allowed to gulp great quantities of water. The water dilutes digestive acids which have poured into the stomach. Since the food cannot be digested by the diluted acids he vomits.

Do remember that even the healthiest of dogs vomit easily. Too much water is often the cause.

Water is found in every cell of the body and therefore plays an important part in the dog's life. It regulates the body heat and helps in the digestion of food fibres—if not taken in excess.

The dog's intake of water is not exclusively from the amount he drinks. He gets some in his food and from the air he breathes.

Dog Poisoners Strike in London

DOG poisoners have destroyed seve years of work in London, On Mr. and Mrs. H. Waggott lost seve of their prize Chihuahuas, their entir breeding stock, through strychnin poisoning believed to have been de liberately set for the dogs.

Their dogs were valued at $2,700 an represented the main part of the Wag gott's income. Mr. Waggott wa crippled by polio a number of year ago and makes his living breedin Chihuahuas. They have built up the stock during the past seven years. "W haven't a thing to breed from," th Waggotts said.

One of the poisoned dogs was champion and two others had point Two dogs on the show circuit and thr puppies were the only ones saved.

That the deaths were deliberate is borne out by the fact that all the dogs at Waggotts were fed at the same time the night of the poisoning. The dogs who were in the house are alive today—the seven who were outdoors are dead.

The dogs evidently died in grea agony, according to Capt. F. D. Miller of the London Humane Society. Th paper on the floor of their boxes wa torn to shreds.

Dr. J. M. Rice, of London, autopsie the bodies and stated that the death were "definitely cases of strychnin poisoning."

"We have wondered how anyon could have been so cruel," the Wag gotts wrote to a friend. "We are broken-hearted losing our lovely babies. . . ."

London police have been investigating but so far there have been no results.

Discipline is Necessary

THAT LITTLE bundle of love you brought into your home rapidly turned into a little dictator who is a law unto himself. Right now he's so cute his demands are met by loving and adoring humans.

But wait - - the day of reckoning is at hand. Just consider what that same little tyrant will be like when he becomes a big tyrant.

Not such a pleasant idea is it?

That is the very reason early training is advocated in doggy books and publications the world over. By the time you get puppy he is cute, cuddly and entirely irresistible. But, just as he must be housebroken, he must be trained to behave properly.

He won't hate you for it.

He will soon have one purpose in life - - to please his family. If the family is proud of him he is ecstatically happy.

Those things which appealed so much when he was a puppy are annoying in a mature dog. The family wants a dog who is well behaved when company comes, who walks down the street without chasing dogs, cats, cars or people, who heels properly, who sits or lies when spoken to, who doesn't roam around or jump on friends.

A poorly trained dog can deter visits from your friends. They don't want to be climbed upon, tugged at or barked at. They don't want a muddy-footed creature springing upon them when they meet you on the street.

To begin training you should decide who is going to do the training. This person should be the one to walk and feed the puppy. He must not be confused by several different methods of training.

No matter how much a dog is loved and how much a part of the family he is there will be times when he is not wanted hanging around. Hence he must learn to lie down when told.

To teach him to lie down get a small mat or rug, pull the puppy toward it on the leash and repeat "lie down." When he's on the mat force him to lie down, patting him and saying "good boy, that's right, lie down." The oftener the command is repeated with the action the sooner he will understand.

Once he understands the lying down walk away from him without looking backward. He'll immediately be on his feet to follow.

Then comes "no, no" and he is forced back on the mat in a lying position. This must be repeated until he understands.

NO MIRACLES

Of course you must not expect miracles and you must expect relapses. Like any small animal, pups quickly forget. They also quickly loose attention so training must start in a familiar room with only the well-known things around. At first lessons should last only a short time or he gets bored. Never drag past 30 minutes.

When he learns to "lie down" and to "stay there" he is ready to proceed outdoors.

Here he learns to come when called. A light rope around his middle will be strong enough to pull him and not heavy enough to cut into his stomach. When it is adjusted so it isn't too tight but won't slip off let pup run 30 or 40 feet, then call him.

Make your voice very pleasant or whistle if you want a response to a whistle. But above all be sure it is pleasant. If he doesn't come pull in the rope calling or whistling as you do so.

When he reaches you he gets petting and praise. What a good boy he is! You repeat the praise he is used to so he knows he has done something wonderful. This is repeated until he comes immediately on the call.

The praise he receives is very important. By reward he learns what pleases you and what doesn't.

Just be careful it doesn't backfire like one suburban family. Praise had always been lavished on its Labrador pup whenever he completed his tricks.

One especially accurate job was to bring the evening paper from the front gate to the house without tearing or ruffling it.

But one day the family was away when the paper arrived. Down bounded puppy to the gate and brought up the paper.

No reward.

Rebellion rose and with an "I'll-fix-them" attitude the paper became shreds in a matter of minutes.

The family had to borrow a neighbour's paper that night.

ALHAMBRA KENNELS, Millidgeville, Saint John, N.B.

A dog who heels properly is a mannered dog and a joy to walk with. There is no springing upon friends you meet, no chasing after cats, cars or other dogs. When he knows that to heel is to walk at your left side, head level with your legs and to sit down the minute you stop he has street manners.

Before you begin to teach heeling, the pup must be accustomed to a collar. Next arrange the training rope and set off at a smart pace saying "heel." If he darts ahead tap him lightly on the nose or chest saying "no, heel." At the same time pull him back with the rope. If he lags pull him up with a sharp jerk and say "come on, heel."

When he is at your side tell him "good dog, heel" and go on.

After he has learned to "heel" he must learn to sit properly. Suddenly stop walking and, holding his head up with the rope tell him to "sit." If he does not, force him to sit, repeating "sit" to him. When he is in position praise him for his efforts.

You go through this procedure until he sits the moment you stop walking.

Next the training rope is abandoned and you go through the same process with the leash and collar.

When pup seemingly has learned his lessons well tell him to "go" so that he understands he may romp. When he is at the extent of his leash and has played a bit tell him to "heel." If he returns to his exact position he has learned his lesson and will probably continue the procedure without the leash.

If not there are more lessons in store.

Now he lies, stays, sits, heels, goes and comes but he is so enthusiastic that when he sees one of your friends he tears at them jumping up and barking

To curb this arrange to have several of your friends meet you during a walk. When you near them and pup rushes forward have them smack him smartly with a rolled newspaper. After several of them have done it he will get over being taken aback and see he must not jump.

One walk will not cure this habit ask them to smack him whenever dashes at them.

This will curb the instinct to friendly with strangers too.

WILL HE GROWL?

The problem "won't he dislike friends and growl at them if strike him?" arises. Not if you hand it properly. You meet a friend on street. Pup bounces up and smacked. You tell him to "sit." Before friend leaves he bends over and speak to pup and pats him a couple of time

Each visit he smacks pup if he jum up but later speaks friendly and pa him after he has quieted down.

These are the basic training ste every dog should go through. Ma people prefer to go further, teach r trieving and tricks but others just wa a well behaved dog. There have bee many good books written by exper on advance training. The main thin to remember that your dog must ha elementary obedience training in orde to grow up into a dog to be proud o

Sickness Symptoms

HOW are you to know if your puppy is ill? There are many symptoms but the most common are loss of appetite, organic disturbances such as vomiting and diarrhoea, constipation, coughing, runny nose or eyes and pus in the eyes.

Watch carefully for ear canker if pup holds his head to one side or continually shakes it.

A narrow piece of yellow soap in the shape of a pencil with a rounded point will help ease constipation. This condition is often the warning that something much more serious is on the way.

If you are at all in doubt about your puppy's health take his temperature. It is not difficult and may save you much trouble and your pup much pain in the long run. Shake down a baby's rectal thermometer to below 100 degrees. Put a bit of petroleum jelly on the end and gently insert it in the puppy's rectum. He should be kept in a standing position for two minutes.

The normal temperature is 101.2 but is sometimes a bit higher even though the puppy is healthy.

If your puppy is ill call a veterinarian IMMEDIATELY and follow his advice.

The trouble may be worms. In that case never just dose your pup with a worming medicine. Call your veterinarian and either use the medicine he recommends or else let him worm the pup.

If puppy is healthy he has a shiny coat, straight firm legs not wobbling front or rear, no sores, scratches or bare spots. He should not be continually biting himself. There should be no unpleasant odor or discharge from the head organs.

Teeth are important and should be looked at for signs of tartar.

Your puppy should have his temporary distemper shots and later the permanent shots. Your veterinarian will inform you of the proper times.

Fright, indigestion, bad case of worms, overheating, foreign body in the throat and teething can cause fits. The beginnings for distemper are often marked by fits. Leave him alone until he calms down and then get him to a veterinarian immediately.

When pills or medicine are to be administered two people are better than one. If the medicine is liquid use a small bottle but not fragile enough so he can bite it through and pour the liquid, teaspoonful at a time, into the lower lip which has been pulled out. One person must hold his head. If a pill or pills are to be given or forced feeding to take place, one must hold the head while the other places the pill or food at the very back of the throat. Then hold the mouth shut until he swallows.

Dogs love attention when they are sick. They feel even closer to their human friends then.

Give milk instead of water when appetites are poor. Put a bit of honey in the milk to tempt him. Food should never be too hot or too cold. Broths are excellent.

The dog with fleas or related vermin may irritate his family with his constant scratching but they aren't nearly as irritated as he is! Daily grooming will help lessen the danger of vermin. There are many excellent preparations now on the market which will get rid of them.

The constant fear of rabies is often in the back of the owners' minds. Rabies has been exceedingly rare in Canada and the likelihood of a serious outbreak is slight.

A safeguard is the rabies "shot" required by all dogs entering Canada. This is for the benefit of our healthy dogs and also serves to immunized dogs from other nations.

The age-old question of spaying comes up whenever dog owners gather. If a dog or bitch is to be spayed it should be done at about seven months. By this time the male and female characteristics have developed.

FRANK H. PLANT

20-Year President Of Dog Club Dies

News of the unexepected death of Frank H. Plant in Ottawa early Nov. 7, came as a great personal shock to his many friends, particularly members of the Ottawa Kennel Club.

Only the previous evening, he attended the annual meeting of the club, of which he was honorary life president, and had joined enthusiastically in the discussion about the club and plans for the future. At the meeting, he presented a life-membership certificate to M. C. McLean. Little did anyone present think or realize this would be the last of countless official acts which marked the outstanding record of this distinguished Ottawa citizen.

Mr. Plant had a splendid standing in the arena of sport. He was a CKC member for many years. He had been president of the Ottawa Kennel Club for 20 years and on his retirement in 1944 was made honorary life president. Despite a busy life, he rarely missed an O.K.C. meeting where his counsel and guidance were always eagerly sought.

The Cocker Spaniel was his first love and he was an active exhibitor for over 35 years. Just recently, he returned to his first love and purchased a black Cocker, a son of Ch. Stockdale Town Talk, and was planning to campaign him next Spring.

He registered "Glen Gyle" as his kennel name in the twenties and thereafter was a familiar figure and strong competitor at many shows. He owned the outstanding Irish Setters, Can. and Am. Ch. King Morello Oge, his son Can. and Am. Ch. King Morello Oge 2nd, and Can. and Am. Ch. Nell Law Watt, all of which were American field trial champions. He also owned the famous black Cocker female, Can. and Am. Ch. Nishnabotna Pepper, and that great parti-color, Ch. Ottawa Tartan, a prepotent sire, bred by Andy Armstrong, which did considerable winning both in Canada and the U.S. He owned the imported Flashlight of Glenbervie, a blue roan English Cocker, a notable sire and showman, which was accidentally killed before completing his championship. Later, he imported Ch. Brazen Bonaparte, a Sealyham, better known as "Blinker" and purchased Ch. Humbervale Dancing Master, a Wire, from George Ward. Mr. Plant's dogs were consistent group winners and had numerous Best in Show awards to their credit. He also was a lover of horses and had many fine specimens.

He was a former president of the Ottawa City Baseball League, president of the Ottawa Hockey League, vice-president of the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Federation and a commissioner of the Central Canada Hockey Association. He seldom missed a hockey, baseball or football game. Mr. Plant was a director of the Central Canada Exhibition Association since 1917 and in 1925 and 1926 he was its president.

Mr. Plant was mayor of Ottawa in 1921, 1922 and 1923 and again in 1930. Before that he had been an alderman and a controller. His long membership in the Hydro Commission followed and he had been chairman for the last 12 years. He was also a past president of the Eastern Ontario Municipal Electric Association and president of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association.

With an unusual capacity for friendship, those who knew him well said Mr. Plant combined a substantial and intelligently-directed interest in public affairs and a high degree of efficiency in their direction. He gave his best to the city he loved and the people among whom he lived, and out of his great experience, his gift for organization and his keen and vigorous mind, he contributed handsomely to the community's well-being.

Citizens of Mr. Plant's cheerful and generous usefulness are uncommon and Ottawa and the Ottawa Kennel Club are the poorer for his passing.

DOGS IN CANADA joins in extending sincere sympathy to Mrs. Plant, to his son Frank O. Plant, vice-president of the Ottawa Kennel Club and chairman of the Dog Show Committee, Central Canada Exhibition Association, and to the other members of the family.

Obedience Gives Dogs Confidence

ONE of Canada's largest obedience training clubs was formed because a Keeshonden was a "difficult little puppy and needed all the confidence I could give him."

And confidence he got. Owner Mrs. D. B. Hudson of Victoria, B.C., not only trained him but also became the guiding hand behind the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club which last year had a membership of 107.

Mrs. Hudson felt that there must be many other dogs who needed confidence and some obedience training before they were prepared to enter the show ring. It took several months of visiting breeders and shows before the club was started but since that time it has grown by the proverbial "leaps and bounds."

"Toffels," the shy pup, is now Ch. Oakcrest Pantoffel, C.D., C.D.X., U.D. His mistress claims he is the first of his breed to gain the Utility Dog title.

The Victoria-bred pup was nine weeks old when he went to his new home on Oak Bay. Since then he has given other dogs confidence and has become an example of what can be accomplished with obedience training.

Both kennel clubs in Victoria have "co-operated splendidly" in having obedience trials held in conjunction with their shows, Mrs. Hudson said.

That the club is now a going concern is shown in the fact that in the third year of existence 98 dogs and owners were trained while the membership climbed to more than 100 in 1951.

This year the club trains dogs for owners who are not interested in becoming members, reserving memberships for those who will be really active.

Now eight years old, "Toffels" is a star at displays presented by the club. At the last display he retrieved a scented egg from one dozen fresh ones (over a jump) and then repeated with another scented by a stranger.

"Toffel's" averages for his three obedience titles were 189 2/3, 194 and 189.

Dance Supports Seeing-Eye Dog

By NELLIE A. CORSER

SEVEN months work was climaxed at a Halloween dance, Oct. 31, sponsored by the German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada. At the end of March the club decided to raise funds for the purchase of a seeing-eye dog for a blind person.

Through the summer and fall the club took time off from its show activities to work toward raising the funds for this project. The dance culminated its work.

Stephen Bradley, chairman of the Peel County division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was present at the dance and spoke briefly on the work of the Institute. He said that there were 40 blind people in Peel County alone.

The dance was a masquerade and in keeping with the ghostly evening. Despite the hilarity of the event, the crowd was extremely interested in Mr. Bradley's short talk and especially in the project of the sponsoring body.

The club will turn over the money before the end of year and the Institute will chose the dog and the blind person to receive the dog.

The generous support of the public to this project made its success possible. The club is looking forward to the thought that some blind person's Christmas may be happier with the knowledge that the new year will bring a little light into his life with a doggy companion.

Reason for forming the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Club is Ch. Oakcrest Pantoffel, U.D. "Toffels" is owned by Mrs. D. B. Hudson of Victoria. A Canad'an-bred Keeshonden, "Toffels" was sired by Conwood Cornelius. His dam was Conwood Lisa. He won his championship on the west coast.

MAMMOTH DOG WEEK

Canadians in Show

By LORNA CASGRAIN

CELEBRATION of National Dog Week in New York City took the form of a two-hour performance of various features concerning dogs held in Rockefeller Plaza. It was the silver anniversary of the week and two Canadians, Mrs. Jean Ferrabee and myself, were part of the mammoth performance.

It all began back in August at Blanche Saunder's obedience exhibition in Yankee Stadium. At that time Blanche asked Mrs. Bryson, the other Canadian there, and me to return for the dog week celebration. Mrs. Bryson couldn't come but Jean went to help me with Wendy and Becky. She took her Cairn Scone along, hoping young Scone would absorb some atmosphere at Miss Saunders.

For those who don't know Wendy and Becky are Poodles.

Sept. 25 was the big day at the Plaza and the performance was an amazing one.

It opened when the members of the Poodle Obedience Training Club of Greater New York circled the Plaza with their dogs. Each dog carried a pennant bearing a letter. We criss-crossed in the centre and lined up along one side leaving the dogs in a sit-stay position.

NATIONAL DOG WEEK was the result. Two small Poodles with no pennant provided the spacing between the words.

Then five Poodles bearing signs announced the next event would be dogs of the White House.

This was a representation of each breed owned by an American President during his term of office. The dogs paraded around the Plaza with a man bearing a large banner with a picture of the president owning that breed. There were several Foxhounds, English and Gordon Setters, a Beagle, Harrier, Airedale and the Scottish Terrier representing the famous Falla, Franklin D. Roosevelt's favorite.

Fifteen children and their dogs next went through some novice obedience direction with Blanche Saunders in charge. The smartly dressed children, all in navy and white, handled their dogs well and provided several amusing incidents. One large dog, handled by a very small boy, decided he was through for the day and was going home. You can picture what happened.

Each obedience feature was announced by Mrs. Ethel Nathanson's Miniature Poodle Bubbles. Bubbles holds the Utility Dog title and did the utility "directed go" the full length of the Plaza carrying a large sign with OBEDIENCE on it, returning on the recall. He also did some of his individual work, jumping through hoops and causing much hilarity by retrieving an enormous woolly ball.

LITTLE JEWELS OF DOGDOM appeared next in the mouth of Poodle Celebrity Jester, who carried the sign well. This was a parade of the Toy group with a short breed history being given of each while they lined up on tiny red cushions.

Back to obedience with Miss Laura Dale's two Boxer bitches. Miss Dale belongs to the Metropolitan Boxer Training Club. Her dogs gave an outstanding performance wearing a tandem collar, even doing the utility directed jumping exercise and a recall over three jumps together.

The children received a cherish visit when Roy Rogers, complete with cowboy outfit and flanked by two cowgirls, arrived with his German Shepherd dog Bullet. Actress Vivian Blaine presented Bullet with a medal for his work in the entertainment field. Bullet showed just what had occasioned this award with his repertoire of tricks which has been amusing veterans and children throughout the U.S.

Miss Beth Gardiner, of Ottawa, daughter of Canada's Agriculture Minister, Hon. James G. Gardiner, is pictured with her sister's Great Dane, Fingard's Duke, a gift of the breeder, David Fingard of Toronto. "Duke" belongs to Mrs. Florence Stevenson of Montreal

Finale was an excellent obedience exhibition by the Poodle group, directed by Miss Saunders. It included open and utility work and a special feature of hoop-jumping by four Miniature Poodles with U.D.'s. Bubbles rounded off the whole performance by jumping through four hoops and retrieving first his own name on a sign and then his special beflowered basket.

We had arrived a few days early for rehearsals and were able to see Blanche at work with the Poodle and Boxer obedience training clubs. Both Jean and myself are members of the Mountain City Obedience Training Club of Montreal and we were very interested.

Jean handled Becky very well during the Plaza performance and Becky was a very good girl except she would come to ME on the recalls.

The Fancy's Forum

ALTHOUGH I am but a neophyte to dog breeding and showing, I observe a lessened public interest at the shows and a declining zest for the ring. On page six of the July 1950 issue of DOGS IN CANADA, there appears this sentence, "with a little encouragement, the novice becomes a permanent breeder who will invest considerable money in purebred dogs in his desire to produce a winner in the show ring."

If I am properly informed 97 per cent of all dogs that became finished champions in the United States last year, were shown by commissioned handlers. Only three per cent of dogs, who so qualified, were handled by owners.

An observer cannot help being impressed by the skill and ability of the professional handler, especially when one sees the frequency with which the dogs they show are chosen over those shown by owners. This recent decision of the Board will, I feel, increase the tendency of the amateur to leave the showing to the commissioned handler.

Many an owner wonders if the excellence of his dog would not have been evident if the dog had not been penalized by the poor way in which the owner showed him. This feeling of inferiority is inevitable before the masterful manner of the professional—and is transferred to his dog! It isn't overcome by the reassurances of his spouse, who has been a tortured observer!

Being humbled five times in succession, (while showing different dogs too), is usually enough to convince the hardiest amateur.

In the past he has had three choices: (1) employ a handler, (2) seek as an agent, one who has the experience and aplomb to show the dog to its best advantage, or (3) quit the unequal struggle. Now that the second of these courses is gone, a man of spirit has only the latter choice. This is the decision of many to whom I have talked.

Let us return to the earlier quotation, "with a little encouragement . . ." It may be naive to do so but I wish to make a suggestion that may give this much-needed encouragement.

Beginning in 1953, let one-third of the shows be barred to any professional or commissioned handler except in the role of spectator. Make it obligatory that each kennel club shall hold such a show once every three years.

Only by drastic action can the tendency of commercialism be averted.

I anticipate protest of this suggestion.

One can expect such comments as: "It's been tried in the States and it didn't work." "It will ruin attendance." "It's the commissioned handlers who make the show." "Those who employ professional handlers won't show."

"Distant owners, unable to attend in person, will not show." All are remarks without complete truth.

But let us examine the facts. Who pays for the shows? Not the handlers, but the public, the owners, and the commercial firms who make and sell products related to the care and feeding of dogs. Who does the work at the shows? Not the handlers, but volunteers, interested in improving the breed. So, if we pay for it and work for it, why then don't we, at least, share proportionately in the glory?

Who makes the money? The commissioned handlers, of course. They will complain that I am suggesting a loss of a third of their income. It is granted that there will be a decreased potential income, but this will only force the poor ones to seek other, and to them, more useful existence.

Good handlers will be unaffected.

I believe that a move towards amateur competition will foster increased public interest.

There is an issue, let's face it! Shows are held to improve the breed but one must prove that they are to give employment to handlers only secondarily.

Four Seek Presidency

Four persons—three from Ontario and one from British Columbia—are candidates for 1953 president of the Canadian Kennel Club, Incorporated. Only in British Columbia and Ontario is there to be an election for directors.

Acclamations have been given to five directors and the first vice-president while there was no candidate nominated for second vice-president.

BALLOTS OUT

Ballots have already gone out to members of the CKC eligible to vote in this year's election. (A member must pay his or her dues prior to July 1 to be an eligible voter.) Ballot papers must be returned to reach the election commission, Trafford and Company, Toronto, on or before 12 noon, December 22.

Nominated for president are: J. J. Farmer of Ottawa, David Fingard of Toronto, Mrs. Alva McColl of Toronto, and Vic. W. Williams of Vancouver.

C. G. Biggar of Winnipeg, 2nd vice-president this year, has moved up to 1st vice-president by acclamation.

Acclamations went to all 1952 directors in Alberta, Manitoba, the Maritimes, Quebec and Saskatchewan. They are: William W. Pratt of Calgary, Mrs. J. F. Kerr of Norwood Grove, Man.; Mrs. P. A. Margeson of Kentville, N.S., Mrs. Pamela B. Mack of Dorval, Que., and Dr. Hector L. Watson of Regina.

In British Columbia, it is a two-way fight between J. A. H. Irving of West Vancouver and Mrs. Dolly Wall, also of Vancouver.

For five Ontario seats on the Board there are 15 candidates. They are Samuel Back of Toronto, Walter Brown of Wexford, Dr. James A. Campbell of Toronto, J. H. Daniel-Jenkins of Pickering, George P. Davies of York Mills, John Devlin of Toronto, Albert J. Miller of Cainsville, W. J. Monaghan of Ottawa, W. Harry MacKendrick of Oakville, Alex. Napier of Windsor, Earl Rutter of Guelph, A. R. Sacre of Aurora, Peter Smith of Toronto, Archie T. Steele of Lambeth and W. Richard White of Agincourt.

Results of the election will be known early in January and will be published in the February issue of DOGS IN CANADA.

President's Message

Further to my message in the July issue, I would like to bring you up to date on the affairs of the Club.

Financial

The financial reports for the first nine months of this year as compared with the same period last year shows:
1951—net excess of revenue over expenditure—$1,985.06
1952—net excess of revenue over expenditure—$2,579.86

The change in the financial picture of "Dogs in Canada" from a surplus of $1,246.43 at end of September, 1951, as compared with a net loss of $355.51 at end of September this year is caused by an increase of printing costs (largely the result of a new schedule of wages in the printers union contracts) from $9,459.54 to $10,904.98 and an increase in postage—both uncontrollable items. At the same time there has been a modest net increase in advertising revenue. Salaries are $198.95 more than last year but no car allowance is being paid the new editor. Last year $180.00 was paid to end of September.

The Board has arranged for more detailed and intelligible financial statements than hitherto to be provided at the end of the year in order that the members may be in a better position to assess the financial operations and the Club's overall financial position from time to time.

There is, however, no doubt that the Club's financial position today is not nearly as strong as it was some years ago, and I am firmly of the opinion that something must now be done to place it on a much sounder basis than it is at present.

A cost analysis of operational items has already been published and if we are realistic we will all agree that operational costs have been increasing with the times and little has been done to offset these increases.

Standard Certificates

A great deal of consideration has been given by the Board this year to the matter of Standard Certificates, and it has been decided that in fairness to the membership at large the members should have the opportunity of deciding, by majority vote, whether our certificates of registration for individual dogs will in future show one generation or two generation ancestry. Information on this subject is incorporated in the Referendum Ballot and I earnestly request every voting member to mark his or her ballot one way or the other on this important matter.

Stud Books

For financial reasons, the Club has not published stud books since volume 51 (1947 registrations). A number of members have expressed the view that the discontinuation of the stud books was an unwise policy.

In this connection, we face an important fact that must now be considered. It is that the continued duty-free provisions of the American tariff law on the entry of pure-bred dogs into the United States from Canada is contingent upon our supplying the American Government with up-to-date stud books. Approximately 1,000 registered dogs are shipped out of Canada each year, the great majority of which go to the United States. This is an important market and Canadian breeders shipping dogs there would stand to lose the most if the present duty-free conditions of American tariffs are unfavourably altered.

A new system of publishing stud books has been suggested for the future, conditional, of course, on whether or not sufficient revenue will be forthcoming.

In these circumstances, it has been further suggested that a special account be set up for the publication of stud books, the revenue to go directly into this account from higher fees on transfers to non-residents. Towards this end a proposed amendment is being placed before you.

While the installation of I.B.M. equipment at the Records Office will make possible the production of a maximum of only six stud books annually, we still have the problem of producing in some form the volumes for the years 1948-1952 inclusive, as well as additional copies of future volumes. The cost to produce the last volume, 51, was approximately $3,000.00, and costs are much higher now.

As I see it, the bringing of the stud books up to date is a pressing necessity. The combined proposal of changing to a one-generation certificate, increasing the fifty cent items in the schedule to a dollar and arranging for a higher fee for transfers to non-residents appears to be the most business-like solution. This would leave the membership fee and the registration fee as they are. I commend this combined proposal outlined in amendments 11 to 15 inclusive and the question on standardized certificates to your favourable consideration.

Recognition of Additional Stud Books

As a result of discussions with organizations concerned, a proposed amendment (#10 in the Referendum Ballot) has been placed before the members, which amendment is designed to permit of the recognition of additional American Stud Books and records such as Chase, Field, and National Coursing.

Dogs in Canada

A new Editor and an Assistant Editor, both university graduates in Journalism, have been employed for DOGS IN CANADA and steps have been taken to place the magazine on a proper business basis, the financial results of which will be reflected just as soon as the advertising contracts now being negotiated have become effective. The feature and reader interest results are already apparent.

Circulation is the life blood of any publication. The more readers there are, the better the results for the advertisers; the more advertisers, the better the publication. Consequently, I would like to ask each of you to try to get one or two subscribers for "Dogs in Canada"; perhaps those to whom you sell puppies are the logical ones to approach.

Licensing of Handlers and Agents

In seeking to fairly and impartially implement the existing Dog Show Rule regarding the licensing of handlers and agents, this year's Board laid down what it considered to be a sound and workable policy with regard to non-resident handlers and agents. Unfortunately, a statement published by order of the Board in premium lists of most recent shows has been misconstrued. At no time has it been the intention of the Board that persons resident in Canada acting as agents or handlers, without compensation for their services, must be licensed.

I am sure that most members will recognize the difficulty in fully implementing the existing rule because it is almost impossible in so many cases to establish whether non-licensed handlers or agents are, in effect, receiving remuneration for their services. It may be possible, by the adoption of stringent regulations, to fully enforce the rule so that it is observed 100%. However, there is the possibility that any attempt to do so will cause a great deal of irritation to those who do not come within the provisions of the rule and I have in mind particularly those who assist other exhibitors, by preparing and handling their dogs, without any remuneration whatsoever.

It may be that the only alternative is to completely eliminate the licensing of handlers and agents and for the purpose of determining the wishes of the membership at large on this important question a proposed amendment (No. 28 in the referendum ballot) is being placed before you to ascertain whether you wish the policy of licensing of handlers and agents to continue or whether you wish such licensing completely eliminated.

Dogs Crossing Border

As was announced at our annual meeting, we were instrumental this year in making possible the easier entry of American exhibitors into Canada and with a continuation of the present policy it seems likely that further efforts to bring about a reciprocal arrangement will in due course be successful.

Standard — Black and Tan Cocker Spaniel

With the Black and Tan Cocker Spaniel now a separate variety, action was initiated to clarify the standard for it, but there has been no final decision on the matter due to the fact that it is considered an insufficient number of fanciers have submitted views on the subject.

Foxhound Field Trials

Another achievement this year was the adoption, after consideration by a committee appointed for the purpose, of Field Trial Rules for Foxhound Trials. The All-Canadian Championship Stake this year was run under our Rules for the first time. I am satisfied that the net result of the Board's action will be the bringing of a fine group of sportsmen into C.K.C. membership and the registration of many fine Foxhounds.

Other Trials

Some progress was made in an effort to develop and improve field and obedience trials and some amendments to the Rules are being submitted, in the referendum ballot, for your consideration.

Approval of Judges (Procedure)

A national committee has drafted a plan for the Approval of Judges (Procedure), and a copy of the report is being forwarded with each referendum ballot. The system of approval of judges in the future will be determined in the light of your vote.

Membership

Steps were taken to ascertain the true reasons for the high incidence of memberships lapsing and, through the information received, new policies have been formulated to bring about a greater number of renewals as well as to secure additional non-member subscribers and increased newsstand sales for the official organ.

While on the subject of membership, may I refer you to another proposed amendment (No. 1 in the Referendum Ballot). Under our existing By-laws, if a person has not renewed his membership by January 31st he ceases to be a member and may only again become a member in good standing by applying for membership and paying the initial membership fee of $6.00. Through special dispensation, this requirement was not observed throughout 1952 but an amendment to the existing By-law would seem advisable.

Noseprinting

Ministerial acceptance of noseprinting as a satisfactory alternate means of identification was secured; previously it had been on a trial basis only.

Other Items

Office procedure on a number of routine matters has been streamlined and I feel that better service is now being given.

A codicil was added to the original agreement with the C.K.C. representative.

The Pym and Strachan Medals were offered again for this year and the item has been placed on the agenda of the annual meeting of the Board for further consideration.

The committee appointed under the authority of a resolution adopted at the last annual meeting "to consider the advisability of running a dog show for the benefit of The Canadian Kennel Club" has not yet submitted a report.

Unfinished Business

It is inevitable that any Board would find it impossible to completely finalize all business with which it has had occasion to deal during its term of office, particularly when any proposed policies are contingent on the final result of the members voting on By-laws, Rules or a questionnaire included in the Referendum Ballot. Possibly, action on a number of items intended for the advancement of the Club, and its affairs, is dependent on our future financial position. For the moment, then, the following matters will of necessity be left over for the consideration of next year's Board:

1. preparation of model premium list for guidance of show-giving clubs;
2. better system of publishing show winners;
3. welfare benefits and pensions for staff;
4. handbook for show-giving clubs;
5. standard requirements and procedure for show superintendents;
6. standard requirements and procedure for ring stewards;
7. standing committees on show and field trial rules;
8. the institution of a research programme on breeding values;
9. compiling statistics on parents of champion offspring;
10. development of dual championship competitions.

Great Change

On all matters of national importance, the policy this year has been to consult the full Board and wait a reasonable time for replies to be received before final action was taken. Advantage is being taken of the Referendum Ballot to consult you on policies, some of which have not been previously referred to the membership at large.

I am satisfied that substantial progress has been made and that there is a re-awakening of confidence and enthusiasm among the members. There has been a break in the cloud and the sun is peeking through—giving new hope. This new hope is reflected in the fact that many members are offering as candidates in the forthcoming election and indicates their willingness and sincere desire to devote time and energy to promoting the welfare of the Club—a great change from only a year ago.

While progress has been made, much remains to be done, particularly with respect to judges, shows, trials both field and obedience, the magazine, stud books, financial position, and faster and better service for members and breeders.

In conclusion, may I wish you and yours a Bright and Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd.) J. J. FARMER,
President.

FOX HUNTERS PROCLAIM

First CKC Champion

THIS YEAR'S All Canadian fox hound trial held near Kitchener, Ontario October 31 and November 1 took on a new look.

The new look was the running of this important trial under Canadian Kennel Club rules. This was the first time an official CKC championship has been awarded to a field trial foxhound in Canada and in making this move the All Canadian was able, as a result of the elimination trials conducted by its affiliated associations, to go all the way and have the winner declared a CKC national champion.

This is what the All Canadian and its affiliated associations had been working toward for some time. This trial was built to the point where the winners could qualify for the highest honor for field trial foxhounds in Canada.

The All Canadian Fox Hunters' Association was formed in 1947. At that time the idea was conceived that something should be done to provide a testing ground (a final trial idea) for the winners of district trials being held throughout the country. This would not only set up a final trial but an organization to standardize, to a certain extent, the field trial program for foxhounds in Canada. The planners subscribed to the idea that limitations should be put on the number of hounds which could compete at such a trial, as they considered that too many hounds competing at one time would detract, rather than add to the value of a win.

The organization did appreciate, however, that any set up to do the job should and must provide a place for all winning hounds from district trials being held in different sections of the country to compete.

From this thinking came the plan of setting up a central organization, known as the All Canadian Fox Hunters, with which any properly organized district field trial association, on payment of a fee, could affiliate and enter in the All Canadian trial. The first six winners from district trials would compete.

The plan worked and the All Canadian, starting with its first trial in 1947—with four district associations affiliated—has held its big trial at the completion of the district trials each year since. The number of district associations affiliated has now increased to seven, which represents some hundreds of foxhounds and foxhound people.

Affiliation with the All Canadian is open to all properly organized foxhound field trial organizations. The All Canadian stands ready at all times to help with the organization of new associations. All affiliated associations conduct their trials under the National Fox Hunters' running rules, which are the rules adopted by the All Canadian association. This means that all hounds running in any affiliated district trial, or the All Canadian trial, are judged under the same rules.

Each affiliated association is entitled to appoint three directors to the All Canadian board of directors, from which the officers of the All Canadian are appointed to deal with the affairs of the association.

F. T. Ch. Bonnyman's Fancy

Judges for the All Canadian Trial are selected from the different affiliated associations. They judge in pairs and only judges approved by examination, by the All Canadian board, are eligible to judge at All Canadian trials. All hounds finishing an All Canadian Trial will have run from 18 to 24 hours, and will be judged by at least two sets of judges.

President E. D. Bonnyman has this to say about the 1952 trial.

All in all it was a great trial and a great gathering. The All Canadian wishes to express its appreciation to the judges and all concerned for helping to put this trial across. The Western Ontario Club deserve great credit for the fine work they did in making local arrangements for the trial.

The co-operation extended to the All Canadian through their President, J. J. Farmer, and director, W. J. Monaghan, in helping to run this trial under CKC rules was indeed appreciated, he said. It was the kind of co-operation which gets results.

With the present set-up and every one working together and toward one common objective, there is every reason to believe that the All Canadian CKC National Championship trial will tend to have a great bearing and influence on the Canadian field trial program in the future.

All Canadian Exacting Trial

ONE of the most exacting trials ever held by the All-Canadian Fox Hunters Association was the first official CKC national championship trial held Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 at Bamberg, near Kitchener, Ont.

Bonnyman's Fancy, Foxhound bitch owned by E. D. Bonnyman of Ottawa, won the trial and the title, National Foxhound Champion of 1952-3.

Competing were 30 top Canadian hounds who had arrived at the finals through the elimination trials held by various member organizations.

Sentiments of all on hand were voiced by the Master of Hounds, Cecil Taylor, of Brampton, Ont., when he said "may the best hound win".

Scenting conditions were not good on the first day and it was mostly a hunting and trailing day although there was some speed and driving during the morning. It was rapidly apparent that the hounds must get down to hard and intelligent work and stick to it if they were to get by as the judges were very much on the job, watching everything very carefully.

Judges were Mr. Taylor; A. L. Pimlott of Ottawa, Assistant Master of Hounds; Angus McDermid, Stratford, Ont., and L. Carter, Cornwall, Ont., home plate judges. Field judges were also on their toes.

Running conditions on the second morning were fairly good and for the first two hours there was some excellent speed and driving. Foxes and hounds raced over the high hills for a time. Then running slackened due to a rising wind. Despite the wind the hounds stuck to the job.

Judges and officials really went out and slugged hard.

There were some hounds scratched—this was a very exacting trial.

W. J. Monaghan of the CKC was on hand to witness the proceedings.

Hunters and visitors relaxed at the banquet Saturday night, visiting while they awarded the results of the trial.

Coming second in the trial, behind F. T. Ch. Bonnyman's Fancy, was Pegg's Queenie, owned by Norman Pegg of Lombardy, Ont. Third, fourth and fifth places were taken by the following: Dr. Jester, owned by Len McWhiter of Port Credit; Leroy Pichett, owned by Frank Boomer of Ottawa, and Big Lee Buzzard, owned by Horace Haws of Orangeville.

JUDGES: Thomas Kirkham; H. Hammond; R. Hunt; M. Smith; Terrence Mulligan; George Reist; Orvil Baxter; O. Thompson; E. MacMillan; Leonard Carter; Angus MacDermid.

The awards are as follows:

1st. E. B. Bonnyman's Bonnyman's Fancy; 2nd, Norman Pegg's Pegg's Queenie; 3rd. Len McWhitter's Dr. Jester; 4th, Frank Boomer's Leroy Pickett; 5th, Horace Haws' Big Lee Buzzard; 6th, Charles Jacobs' Flying Sam W; 7th, Chas. Devlin's Prince Haggin; 8th, Robt. Menary's Fleeta Haggin; 9th, Orval Baxter's Stansbury's Big Boy; 10th, E. Bonnyman's Bonnyman's Aristocrat.

Winner of the Canadian National Retriever trials held near Calgary in October was the sensational Golden Retriever F.T. Ch. Oakcreek Van Cleve. U.S. RETRIEVER

Wins National Title

By VIC GRAINGER

OCTOBER saw the running of the third national Retriever champion stakes, staged this year in Alberta by the National Retriever Club (Canada) Ltd. The three day affair was held just outside Calgary and drew an entry of 17 dogs—10 of whom were from the prairies, three from neighbor British Columbia, and four from across the U.S. border. It was the largest entry ever.

All dogs placing first to fourth in the open all-age stakes at CKC-licenced Retriever trials this year were eligible to enter the national event.

Oakcreek's Van Cleve, a stylish Golden Retriever owned and handled by Alfred H. Schmidt of Portland, Ore., took the title. This dog is exceptionally well-known and now holds the Canadian and American field trial championships as well as the American amateur and Canadian national field trial championships.

Immediately after his win, the new champion hustled off to the photographer, did some of his pet tricks and ended up holding the ribbon in his mouth to prove he was the champion.

What most pleased the Retriever people was that competition from American professional handlers, about which so much had been said, did not materialize and the trials were left to our amateur handlers. Some of the dogs had been professionally trained but the handlers were mostly amateur and in the game for a hobby.

Judges were Clifford Brignall of Long Beach, Calif., Dr. E. Hugh Sproston of Vancouver and C. Albert Lindquist of Calgary. They had three days to run the nine tests eliminating 11 of the 17 entered and the final test to chose the winner from the six left.

The trial brought out some of the continent's top performers and the results were excellent.

There were no really tough tests such as are paralleled in regular hunting trips in Alberta. There was no ditch crossing, no thistles or rough cover, no hard-to-get-at general search area where the dog is left on his own to find the bird or no diversion shooting.

There were no really tough tests grass cover work in the tests. Seventy-five yards was the longest run, but on these short tests the wind played an important part for the tests had been well arranged for wind. There were no trick tests and the judges told each handler what he must do.

Ideal weather held for the first two days but the third was raw and miserable—a perfect day for testing as dogs must be able to "do their stuff" in duck hunting weather as well as fair.

The tests themselves seemed fairly easy but actually were deceiving for everything had been taken into consideration including wind direction. Dogs were judged on how they worked instead of by simple elimination.

The only thing about the tests which did not seem quite right, for they were excellent tests, was that everything had been made as difficult as possible except the marking. Marking, according to the rule book, is of primary importance.

Field trial committee was John Breckenridge of Calgary, field marshal; James Lowther, Brooks, Alta.; Mel McCoy, Ponoka, Alta.; Roland Winters, Drumheller, Alta.; and Frank Barrigan, Edmonton. Bert Deverill, field marshal for the first two national trials was again on hand to help. Bert is from Vancouver. Calgary field marshal Bill Gualt, Don Hatton and Bob Daniels were helping out.

Officers for the event were G. W. Tomlinson, Calgary, president; Oliver Krog, vice-president; T. A. Brown, secretary; Dr. E. H. Sproston, treasurer. The last three are all from Vancouver.

Dr. J. Gordon Anderson and Dr. W. T. Nagge, both of Calgary, were official veterinarians.

The Calgary secretary, Mrs. T. H. Phillips, was assistant secretary while Mrs. Vi Goodrich took care of the entertainment — including a chicken banquet.

Outfoxing Reynard Trial for Hounds

(Following is a description of a typical foxhound field trial such as the recent All Canadian at Bamberg, near Kitchener, Ont. This particular trial was held at Iroquois, in Eastern Ontario.—ED.)

EVEN IN THE best of fox hunts an accident may happen and that is what occurred at Iroquois, Ont., October 24 when the St. Lawrence and Matilda District Fox Hunters' Association held their fall trial. A fox was killed.

To the uninitiated, the death of a fox at a fox hunt may not appear unusual. But it isn't very often that happens. The hunters carry no guns at trials and wouldn't dream of shooting the foxes.

But the fox hunters at Iroquois took the mishap in their stride while the 31 hounds gave Ol' Reddy's brothers and sisters the time of their lives.

The six-hour trial began at the crack of 7 a.m. as the 32 hopefuls streaked across the farmers' fields.

Nearly a dozen red foxes rolled open sleepy eyes, poked curious snouts outside their burrows to see what the fuss was about, and then gave a couple of excited yips and scurried in red streaks across the countryside to try their legs against the foxhounds.

A foxhound can clip across open fields at a pace of 35 miles an hour. Provided he still has four legs not completely paralysed, any healthy fox can dance along in front of such a pack all day, take time out for lunch and maybe a noonday snooze, and still be carrying his brush at a jaunty angle when he trots happily home at sunset.

The rules of the competition call for six hours of chase each day, and the dogs are matched against each other rather than against the foxes whose function is merely to put the hounds through their paces.

The hounds, each with a big white number painted on their sides, are scored by the judges for their skill in hunting, trailing, endurance, speed and drive.

MANY RULES

The contest has many rules and a dog can disqualify himself by committing any of a score of misdemeanors, including everything from being too lazy to being too smart.

For example a hound may figure out the way the chase is shaping up and decide to take a shortcut to intercept the fox. This definitely is not considered cricket. He's supposed to use his nose, not his brain. He may catch the fox, but the judges will disqualify him for cheating and he'll be sent home in disgrace.

If he loafs around lazily, drops out of the running, interferes with the other dogs, or confuses the pack by "babbling" that he has found a trail where none exists, balks about going over a fence or through obstacles, or comes home to lunch too early, he can be disqualified.

The ideal fox hound is bred and trained to chase foxes only and ignore anything else.

Frequently, a rabbit looks a lot more alluring than a far-off fox. The hounds aren't disqualified for chasing rabbits, but they get no points for it either, just wasting their breath and their time. When a rabbit hunt interferes with the chase the rule book requires the judges to do all in their power to break it up and get the dogs back to concentrating on foxes. This usually requires judges to run full tilt across several concessions of the township, waving their arms frantically, whistling and shouting.

The owners are not allowed to touch the dogs or signal to them from the moment they are "cast off" in the morning until the chase ends six hours later. Then comes the problem of gathering in the dogs spread out over an area of more than 25 square miles.

As far as possible the owners follow along in automobiles behind their dogs and pick them up when the trial is over. Some dogs are broken to the sound of the hunting horn and will come to it on signal. The remainder just come when they are good and ready. At nightfall a few dejected owners are still plodding wearily across darkened fields whistling vainly for dogs missing since the contest closed hours earlier Some come in during the night. There will be others who won't show up for a week. They'll be shipped home to their owners by the association.

Usually there is about one judge for every ten dogs competing, and they are stationed, preferably in pairs, at strategic points around the area ahead of time.

At Iroquois, the fox which got killed was one which apparently had been wounded previously and couldn't keep ahead of the hounds. It probably was the victim of some farmer's buckshot after poking its nose into his chickens.

Boxer Club of Canada

By JOHN MARKS

W. Harry MacKendrick of Oakville was re-elected president of the Boxer Club of Canada at the club's annual meeting, Oct. 26 at Riverside Lodge, Oakville, Ont.

A review of the past year's activities showed that the puppy match and booster show put on this year by the club were successful and the club is considering repeating them in 1953.

It was decided to hold the Boxer specialty show for 1953 in conjunction with the Sportsmen's show in March. Len Carey, who will judge the working group at the show, will also judge the specialty.

A new program committee was formed to insure a fuller program of interesting issues regarding Boxers.

Other executive members elected were W. J. Lawrence of Toronto, first vice-president; Mrs. Stanley Whitmore, Haviland, Ont., second vice-president; John Marks, Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

HOW APPROPRIATE

Dinah Mite of Marimere, a black German Shepherd bitch owned by Mary Hart of Pickering, Ont., has been sold to the Explosives Division of Defence Industries Ltd. in Valleyfield, P.Q., as a guard dog.

Could be her name had anything to do with her assignment to that particular division?

B.C. Mainland News

By JEAN FLETCHER

Missed my column last month due to gadding about the continent for five weeks and then trying to catch up on everything at home. But what a trip it was! All the old friends so well and their dogs. . .

Had a newsy letter from Mrs. James Roberts ("Robbie" to all her friends) of Abbotsford, B.C. Her English Cocker "Tar" (Am. and Can. Ch. Lymas Master Key is his official name) had a very successful time on the American west coast. On the California and Oregon circuit he was in the group four times in four days going Best In Show at Redding, Calif., taking two groups and placing second in the fourth show.

(We note that since Mrs. Fletcher's letter "Tar" continued his excellent showing, having at our last count six sporting groups and two Best In Shows out of seven shows—all in two weeks. —ED).

Robbie's female, Myrtle of Abbotsford, was Best of Winners at all four shows. Between the two they took 11 trophies, considerable cash and the sterling challenge trophy which had to be won two years running by the same dog. Canada really went to town.

Several B.C. people have been importing stock this summer. Mrs. E. C. Lambert of Vancouver Island imported a pair of English Pomeranians and is very pleased with them. Mrs. Ruth Tyrrell, also from the island, brought back an American Miniature Pinscher Bo-Peep of Dallymount. Mrs. Tyrrell is a new fancier and the west coast fancy was sorry to hear she had lost a very fine little Min-Pin in an accident. Mrs. A. L. Wilkie and her partner Ken Rickman have imported a lovely little Yorkshire Terrier bitch from San Diego, Calif.

During the trip I visited kennels in Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and California.

One of the most fascinating events happened while driving across the painted desert. Two city blocks of sheep and goats (owned by Navajo Indians) were guarded by dogs. There was not a person in sight. As the car neared the flock the dogs stopped until the herd had safely crossed the road.

One very noticable thing was that in all my travels through the south-west there were very few dogs on the streets. Perhaps it was too hot but dogs just weren't running about.

To top off the trip a visit to the D.D. Daniels', California kennel brought us the information that a puppy my husband and I had sold them had won the six to eight months class at a puppy match down there.

From the enthusiastic support the club has received its members are looking forward to keeping up the good start the club has.

Cairn Terrier Club of Canada

By J. T. SHIRKIE

The Cairn Terrier Club of Canada has been extremely active during the past few months despite its silence in DOGS IN CANADA. Probably its greatest real accomplishment to date is the drafting of the club constitution. This task was ably performed by president T. E. Smith, J. Palmer and J. A. Birnie. This was a tough assignment and these members deserve a great deal of credit.

Since the last report of the club's meetings there have been three more, each of which represented a considerable step forward.

The first of these meetings was held at the home of Laura and Jim Shirkie in Claremont, Ont. Members demonstrated their enthusiasm in the club by coming from as far away as Hamilton. The second meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Molly Baker in Cobourg, Ont.

The last was held Oct. 22 at the place where the idea for the club originated—the Palmers. This meeting was marked by perhaps the greatest forward step the club has taken—the reading and final acceptance of the constitution.

The club is looking forward to its specialty show to be held next March in conjunction with the Sportsmen's Show in Toronto. The members are hoping for an enthusiastic turn-out to the specialty.

At the last meeting the club welcomed two new members—Mrs. Fairgreaves of Dunbarton and Norman Cox of Aurora. It was decided that the club would accept associate memberships, at a reduced membership fee, for those unable to be active members but who would like to identify themselves with the club.

The Palmers have been more than kind in the past offering their homes for four meetings of the club. They have now suggested that, since theirs is the most central location, club meetings be held there regularly. The other members gratefully accepted their offer for the next meeting, the annual one, on November 22.

Alberta Kennel Club

By DOROTHY SOMERVILLE

Alberta dogs took a good share of the honors at the recent Great Falls, Montana, annual dog show.

The English Bulldog Ch. Canning Town's Princess won Best of Breed and also the Non-Sporting group trophy. "Princess" is owned by Ernest R. Crawford of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brooks of Calgary took Best of Breed with their perky Wire-Haired Terrier, Foothills Enchanted Evening.

Bert Forrest's little Shetland Sheepdog, Tayside Lil'Bet, also won a Best of Breed ribbon.

Mrs. W. Clementi of Ralston showed her English-imported Long-Haired Dachshunds, and went Winners Dog with her lively Ch. Yclept Russett Jager, and Reserve Winners bitch with Ch. Yclept Russett Jenny.

My Little Wotan, a smooth Dachshund, owned and bred by Agnes Hammond of Cochrane went Best of Breed and then won the Hound group. His kennel mates Tory von der Fletcher went Reserve Winners Dog and Ch. Marianne von Atlantis Reserve Winners Bitch. "Wotan" and "Tory" then went on to win the trophy for Best Brace in Show.

After the show a non-hostess dinner was held at Dempsey's.

The club's annual dinner meeting will be held in the Ranch Room of the White Spot this year, old and new members welcome. Election of the 1953 officers will be held with entertainment to follow the meeting.

German Shepherd Dog Breeders' Association

By MARY HART

Since reporting in the September issue that four Best in Show awards in Canada this year had already gone to German Shepherds, three more B.I.S. wins have increased the total to seven. Five of these have gone to Ch. Minka-V-Steglich, owned by Samuel Back of Toronto. Minka's wins can be looked upon with pride by German Shepherd owners and breeders throughout Canada and especially among members of the German Shepherd Dog Breeders' Association of which Mr. Back is a member.

Also worthy of note is the fact that 15-year-old Marion Slattery finished her Naida of Sandorea at the Canadian National Exhibition shows and George Taylor's Best Canadian Bred win at the German Shepherd Dog Club's specialty show.

The club is busy making plans for its winter obedience training classes. It seems likely that they will be held in heated quarters at West Hill, just east of Toronto, instead of at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Visitors and their Shepherds are welcome for three classes but must become club members if they wish to attend any more than three.

Now is the time to train those young puppies for next year's shows. Training should take place at home, at obedience classes and sanction shows throughout the winter months.

The club's own sanction show is now over and it is making plans for its championship show to be held next June 13 at the Scarboro Arena Gardens.

The new year will bring a new slate of officers both to our club and the CKC. Let's get behind the new executives and give them all the encouragement and co-operation they need.

Plans were made for the forthcoming Christmas party.

Applications for new memberships were reviewed.

English Springer Spaniel Club of Canada

By LILAH S. LYMBURNER

THE ENGLISH Springer Spaniel Club of Canada had two important weekends in September and October. The club held its annual specialty show in conjunction with the Oakville show. The following weekend it held its annual field trials (for championship points) at Cooke's Mills, Ont.

At the specialty show top honors were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Walgate's Walpride Flaming Rocket who had recently completed his American championship and certainly lived up to his name by going right on to Best in Show. Best Opposite Sex went to L. G. Lymburner's Ch. Covington Daphne. Winners Bitch was also owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walgate, Walpride Fire Fly, litter sister of Rocket. Reserve Winners Bitch was taken by Lilah Lymburner's Covington Black Satin and Reserve Winners Dog went to Best in Show. Best Opposite Sex mand.

The day of the field trials was a hunter's dream—just frosty enough for the dogs to work well, with a bright sky overhead and excellent cover for the birds.

The necessary number of starters for a five point win in the open stake were entered. Several dogs worked marvellously well. Taking top place was Edgar Langlois' Ridgecroft Rosa.

Coming close behind was an import from Scotland, Amer Bright, owned by Alfred E. Kuntz of Low, P.Q. A young dog, he gives promise of becoming really outstanding in the field. The dog was entered in the gun dog stake also, and here, was handled by Mrs. Kuntz, only woman to handle a dog at the trials this year.

The club combines the puppy and novice stakes so that good birds may be used for these youngsters who, if they have been trained on game birds, sometimes refuse to work over pigeons. In this stake the best puppy is chosen as well as the best novice, making it fair for all dogs. Beaverdale Danny was awarded the top spot as best puppy. This youngster was trained by Edgar Langlois, who bred him, and owned by Les Lambert of Welland. Second place honors went to Henry J. Nicholson's Dunoon Desire Me. First Novice went to Mr. Kuntz's Amber Bright, second place to Mr. Nicholson's Purkiss Place Buttons and third place to Robert J. Walgate's Runor's Daniel Boone. Beaverdale Mike, owned by Les Lambert, won the gun dog stake.

Judges for all stakes were Don Whitton of Buffalo, N.Y., who has been associated with sporting dog activities across the border for many years, and G. Fred Stickel of Welland, Springer breeder.

Lunch was served at the noon hour by the ladies section of the club and a festive affair it was. There are those who have attended the club's field trials who have said frankly that one of their reasons for coming was for the meal prepared by Leona Walgate, Freda James, and Mrs. Henry Nicholson.

In the evening 40 members and guests gathered at the Barclay Hotel in Welland, Ont. for a steak dinner after which the presentation of trophies and certificates was made by vice-president, Henry J. Nicholson, in the absence of Andrew Dunn who was doing some shooting in Scotland.

Mr. Nicholson expressed appreciation for the fine work done by the members of the club, particularly field marshal Jack Hewat and club secretary Lilah Lymburner. He added a special word of commendation for those friends of members who had lent their efforts during the day.

Both Mr. Whitton and Mr. Stickel spoke briefly, touching on the excellent work of the dogs in the field and marking particularly the fine sportsmanship which had been shown on the part of every handler throughout the day.

Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Club of Canada

By BERNARD YOUNG

The club's monthly meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drewe of Toronto. Business of greatest concern to the club these days is the coming specialty show the club is holding in Toronto next March in conjunction with the Sportsmen's show.

A great deal of work was required in order to have the premium list turned into the Sportsmen's club by Dec. 1. In an effort to encourage exhibitors, the club decided to offer a prize, probably cash, to the best dressed bench at the specialty. It is hoped that this offer will help set off the dogs and also improve the appearance of the Collie and Sheltie section. It was generally agreed that the dogs look extremely lonely and neglected on bare benching.

One of the club's more distant members, Mrs. Marie Tuyl, of Montreal, writes that she has been extremely pleased with the progress of her kennels since her purchase of new stock.

The club extends the season's greetings to the fancy and hopes that 1953 will be a bright one for all.

Maritime Notes

By GEOFFREY G. RYDER

While all the other clubs in the Maritimes were sitting back, resting and counting up their championship points obtained during the 10 shows held between July and September, the ladies of the Halifax Kennel Club were making plans for a sanction show. The show, which was held Nov. 14, was sponsored and run by the ladies of the club under the chairmanship of Mrs. S. E. Kominsky.

Despite an extremely late start, due to the city's power system failing about the time everyone was setting out for the show, it was a big success and attracted a large and enthusiastic ringside.

The show committee had decided on a rather novel classification which met with a great deal of approval. Three puppy classes were the three to six months, six to nine months, and nine to 12 months. Novice and open classes were also held.

While the dogs were being prepared for the ring Val Dauphinee gave another of her faultless demonstrations on how to handle a dog in the show ring.

The committee were fortunate in obtaining the services of the veteran judge and breeder William T. Miller ("Ike" to his friends).

As usual he gave the dogs a thorough going over and his judgements were well received.

He awarded Best In Show to a very stylish 17 months black Cocker owned and showed by young Bill Bissett of Halifax. This was a most popular win as Bill is a graduate of the juvenile handling classes and he has worked most diligently.

Reserve Best went to a smart Scottie shown by a well-known local sportswoman, Mrs. Agnes Meisener. Best Canadian Bred Puppy was won by Glen Scarill's Cocker.

Owing to the late start the evening was not over until quite late but those attending did not seem to mind and everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Mrs. Kominsky and her committee did an excellent job and even provided refreshments through a committee chairmaned by Miss Alice O'Brien.

Talking to the Edison MacNeill's of Dartmouth, N.S. recently. They say their "Dempsey" (Can. and Am. Ch. Penhorn's Son of Prophet to give him his correct name and style) is carrying on his winning ways in the States. Since he annexed his American title, he has taken Best of Variety at two leading shows and placed second and fourth in the group at these shows.

Nova Scotia was pleased at the news that our popular provincial director, Mrs. P. G. Margeson, has been re-elected by acclamation for a third term. Few of us realize the vast amount of work and worry entailed in the position.

On behalf of the Maritimes, these notes extend Christmas and New Year's greetings and a Joyeux Noel to French Canada.

Manitoba Notes

By SUZANNE BORSE

The coming festive season has slowed up activities of the Manitoba kennel clubs but the members are still very busy.

Phyllis Allen, editor of the Fort Garry K.C. paper, is back from the east and seems to be more than hard at work, judging from what she's turned out lately.

News from Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Anderson, who are now at the Ontario Veterinary College in Guelph, is that they are liking the east but miss their friends in Winnipeg. Mrs. Montgomery, a Dachsie fancier, has taken over Dr. Anderson's place in east St. Paul district and reports she is doing well.

The fancy extends belated sympathies to Mrs. Currie, who's husband John died late this fall.

Mrs. G. R. Willing, of Pigeon Lake, Man. is convalescing at home after a long spell in the hospital. She is treasurer of the Cocker Spaniel Specialty Club.

It has been good to see J. F. Kerr looking so well again after his operation in October. The Kerr's lost one of their Boston females. She left a litter 2½ weeks old. They had better luck with their little "Kerr's Glint of Gold" who went Winners Bitch and Reserve to her sire at an American show—picked up three points toward her U.S. championship.

Quite a few of the Manitoba fancy were at the Minneapolis show. Mr. and Mrs. R. Swail's Great Dane was first in the open males and Mr. and Mrs. G. Herald's Min Pin went Best of Breed.

Lastly, from the Manitoba fancy comes a Merry Christmas and all the best to the dog fancy for 1953.

Something Fishy Here

A "second love" has come to some Manitoba breeders. According to Mrs. Roy Borse, "you can hear their 'ohs' and 'ahs' about the beautiful colors and graceful movements, raving about having hundreds of babies at one time. They even talk about 'line breeding'."

The catch is they aren't talking about dogs but tropical fish!

Guelph Kennel Club

By JEAN McCRAE

Jack Tolton was elected president of the Guelph Kennel Club at the group's annual meeting Nov. 11.

Earl Rudd, who retired after seven years as president, has been nominated as a candidate for a director of the CKC. Earl has worked hard for the local K.C. and under his guidance the club has built its annual dog show into a top ranking event. The club wishes him the very best of luck in the elections.

Plans are already under way for the 1953 show to be held May 23. Members are also planning to increase social activities throughout the coming year.

Other executive members elected were Dr. Anderson, vice-president; Mrs. Cameron, secretary-treasurer; Mr. McCartney and Mrs. Hilda Archibald, directors; Earl Rudd, property committee; Dr. Anderson and Earl Rudd, show committee; Hugh Gutherie, auditor; Jean McCrea, publicity committee.

The members' match held at Streetsville (Ont.) Park on October 19, was a real hit and a decided success.

A goodly number of dogs turned out and many more people. Judging began about 2 p.m. The weather turned very cold but luckily the club secured a park building. The complete program was conducted inside.

L. L. Broley, pinch hitting for Bob Blythe, was Judge and, according to comments, did a perfect job. Every one was well satisfied and the general concensus was that the club should hold another match early next summer.

Winners Dog and Best of Winners went to R. Dafoe's Prince Rory. Winners Bitch was Bridget, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Henry. Best of breed was my Mike and Best Puppy was Mr. and Mrs. Honsberger's Shawn.

The ladies' handling class was won by Mrs. Honsberger while Al Lake annexed the honors for gentlemen handlers.

An interesting visitor for the afternoon was Dr. Christie of Streetsville, Ont. He praised the idea of the match, and the excellency of the dogs. He is scheduled to speak at one of the club's monthly meetings.

The spring specialty show was the chief subject of the last meeting held Oct. 23. Plans are well under way and due to the intervention of the Christmas holidays the club will have to have its premium list completed early in December. This means a lot of work in a short time.

It is the club's intention to run two specialty shows a year—one with the Sportsmans Club and one with the Canadian National Exhibition. In this way the members hope to stimulate greater interest in breed.

The club is presently completing two years of operation. Annual elections will take place on Dec. 11.

The club extends the seasons greetings to all its dog friends and fanciers everywhere.

Progressive Kennel Club of Canada

By DOROTHY R. VAUGHAN

By now most "show minded" breeders have settled back with a sigh of relief at the thought of some show-free time ahead. Just social sanctions to break the monotony for them.

For the show committees it is a different matter. Much thought, time and hard work are going into the sanction shows and already plans are under way and dates for championship shows are booked.

After much discussion, the club decided to put on only one show—a benched one—next year and aim to make it a very worthwhile one.

We have a brand new location already booked—the new, Scarboro Arena Gardens at Birchmount and Kingston Road, Toronto. The building is huge with every possible convenience including an up-to-date lunch bar.

In keeping with our aim at making this Show the best ever we have engaged the following judges: Mrs. Louis J. Murr, N.Y.; Louis S. Worden, N.J.; Mrs. Dorothy Conway, N.Y.; G. R. Jerman, St. David, Ont. These judges are so well known and liked they need no words of commendation

The size and facilities offered by the arena should be ideal for a benched show. The club feels it is such an ideal spot that it is offering its facilities for specialties. Show secretary Mrs. M. Stevens of Toronto has all the details.

Club members would like to extend to the dog fancy the best wishes of the holiday season.

Cape Breton Kennel Club

By MRS. W. BARNETT

Colored movies and slides were the highlights of the October meeting of the Cape Breton Kennel Club. The "pet parade" at our recent all-breed show was one of the movies shown along with "Kennel Kings" and "Training You to Train Your Dog." Dr. Macaulay also showed slides of the club's corn boil.

Old friends of the club, Jack MacKenna and Dan MacLean, were welcomed to the meeting. Special guests were Clifford Coates and some of the junior kennel club members.

The ways and means committee presented a novel money-raiser Nov. 5 in the form of an antique tea styled along gay nineties lines with old and valuable treasures being on display.

Mountain City Obedience Club

By AGNES LOVETT

THE FIRST meeting of the Mountain City Obedience Club (Montreal) was held Oct. 14 with 22 of the 29 members present. Following the welcome by the president Mrs. A. Casgrain, the constitution was read and approved.

A tentative program of activities, including training for obedience trials and demonstrational work, training problem discussion and "surprise" evenings, was discussed.

A trophy for advanced work in club competitions has been donated. It is to be known as the Blanche Saunders trophy in honor of our honorary president and training advisor.

The club was fortunate in finding a hall suitable for meetings and training sessions.

Within the club's 22 canine members are holders of many titles. We have one Utility Dog, four Companion Dog Excellent (three Canadian and one American), and 11 Companion Dog (five Canadian and six American) titles.

The club members were delighted with the results of the Kingston trial in October. Mrs. Tyner's standard Poodle Mandy was first in the Novice A with a score of 199½ and, having tied with the Novice B winner, took the trophy. Mrs. J. Dempster's Petticote Ballarina was second in the Novice A with 199 and Mrs. H. G. Ferrabee's Cairn Scone was fourth with 179. Mrs. Casgrain's Poodle Petticote Becky was first in the open B with 198.

What Not To Do In Dog Show Ring

Twenty "DOG SHOW DON'TS" are outlined in an article in the October issue of the American Kennel Gazette "Pure-Bred Dogs" by Louis J. Murr which he points out he obtained several years ago from a dog show catalogue at Moncton, New Brunswick.

Mr. Murr, a prominent U.S. dog show judge, said he took them to the U.S. with him after judging at the Moncton show and they were copied by the American Kennel Gazette and reprinted later in several other dog publications.

He says in his article "What Every Breeder-Exhibitor Should Know" he feels they should be included in "a very conspicuous place" in every dog show catalogue. Here they are:

(1) Don't wear your hat in the ring. Your hat is in the ring figuratively but not actually.

(2) Don't smoke in the ring.

(3) Don't pay so much attention to one part of the dog that you overlook another important part.

(4) Don't call the judge's notice to a fault by trying eagerly to conceal or minimize it.

(5) Don't call your dog by its registered name (or any other name).

(6) Don't converse unnecessarily with the judge or the stewart or another exhibitor and certainly not with the ringside.

(7) Don't tell the judge about your dog, his pedigree, or the wins at some other shows.

(8) Don't have the jitters. Be calm and collected; if you are nervous, you transmit your excitement to the ring.

(9) Don't hog the attention of the judge.

(10) Don't argue with the judge as you leave the ring; if you don't agree with his placing ask him after he has finished all his work, to explain his reasons, if he feels so inclined.

(11) Don't have your dog facing a strong light.

(12) Don't loaf in the ring before or after your class is judged.

(13) Don't let the dog boss you; keep both the dog and yourself under control.

(14) Don't let the judge's hand come down close to the mouth of a biting dog.

(15) Don't punish your dog in the ring; it shows poor training and lack of control.

(16) Don't get between the dog and the judge.

(17) Don't mope around or stand idly or gaze absent-mindedly; keep your mind and your eye on your dog and the judge.

(18) Don't fuss with your dog if he is showing well.

(19) Don't get too close to another dog or person purposely. The other fellow may be a bigger bully than you.

(20) Don't try to draw attention to yourself; the dog is on show not you.

Faithful Friend

Faithful to end was "Blackie," Cocker pal of 75-year-old Alan Fountain, an Ontario trapper. When Mr. Fountain died quietly while inspecting his trapping lines, "Blackie" remained at his side.

Even after police had removed Mr. Fountain's body from against the tree where he died, "Blackie" remained on the spot. It was more than five hours after the men had left the bush that "Blackie'" arrived home.

The two had been inseparable friends. Police believed that Mr. Fountain had sat down against the tree to rest and had passed away.

WHAT are the prospects for Canadian dog breeders in 1953? Will they enjoy prosperity or are their investments a cause for concern?

To answer these questions, it is necessary to glance at the current picture of our economy. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported recently that Canada's productivity for 1952 showed a continued three per cent gain as it did a year ago. But "How do things look for the future?"

Three published opinions of United States observers are all optimistic. The magazine Newsweek said that "tough-minded world traders have given the economy and future of Canada an overwhelming vote of confidence." And the weekly pointed out: "Out of every $5 worth of goods and services Canadians themselves produce, more than $1 is going into new plants or machinery."

The latter statement is especially significant. It shows that there is strong confidence in the future of Canada and that businessmen are building with vision. They know you must invest now if you hope to grow with a country whose standard of living, according to the New York Times, has risen 40 per cent since 1939. Fortune magazine had this to say: "Even conservative Canadian economists think the Canadian market will more than double again before 1975."

These observations should be especially heartening to dog people who are building for the future. They can see that despite high costs, businessmen with vision are investing in the future. They refuse to heed the pessimists who say: "It's been tried before so I'm against it."

A current cartoon shows a big fish swimming about an aquarium with a host of minnows swishing by his nose. Formerly, a glass plate was between the fish and the minnows and every time he tried to catch a minnow he was foiled. Now the coast was clear, but because the fish had tried before and wouldn't try again he missed a grand opportunity.

Canadian pure-bred dog breeders have the same opportunities as Canadian industrialists to build for the future. If the foremost thought is one of vision, unshackled by highly-critical pessimism, prosperity should be greater than ever in 1953—and for years to come.—I.H.M.

THE Fredericton Kennel Club has adopted a commendable proposal to boost its own attendance and further the work of The Canadian Kennel Club. At every third meeting, members of the club who are not members of the CKC, will participate in a draw with the prize to be a fully paid-up membership in The Canadian Kennel Club.

In a paid advertisement, elsewhere in this issue, the club announces its desire to donate 10 per cent of its net profits to the CKC "in recognition and appreciation of the indispensable services rendered." Under the signature of J. D. Campbell, president, the club says: "This decision was made with the thought that this is one way all clubs could help the parent body."

The Fredericton club has already forwarded a cheque to the CKC but the proposal did not arrive in time to be presented to the final meeting of the 1952 Board of Directors.—I.H.M.

Sled Dog Evolution

By LORNA JACKSON

Illustrations by PAT HOWDEN

VARIED opinions are always given on the history and origin of dogs but perhaps the most controversial is carried on about the breeds of northern dogs now in existence. Writers invariably refer to this group as the Spitz-Eskimo (Esquimaux) group. Perhaps the most confusing issue of all is the numerous names given these dogs throughout the northern hemisphere and the conflicting ideas as to types and origins.

It must be remembered that nature changes all her children with the passing centuries, types change to suit the times and, of course, the breeders of dogs the world over change the type to suit the show ring. We sometimes find a vast difference in the working dog and the show dog of the same breed. Fashion and demand play a vital part in the type of dog being bred today.

Sled dogs and their history is an interesting but confusing study. One can very easily get lost trying to sort out the maze of opinions and the types of dogs. It must be remembered that many articles written on sled dogs refer to all the northern breeds as Huskies or Eskimo dogs. Perhaps that is where so many people are misled.

Today there are several distinct northern breeds recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club and by the American Kennel Club. They are the Alaskan Malamute, Samoyed, Esquimaux, and the Siberian Husky. It would take too long to break down all these breeds, to try and trace the many strains, but taking the Esquimaux dog as a quick example, we find his strains in Canada, Greenland, Labrador and Baffinland. In the four places mentioned we find a different type of Esquimaux dog.

Historians have given the study of fossils very critical study and found there is a definite indication that 40,000,000 years ago there lived a strange, long-bodied little carnivore, with short legs, which was given the name of MIACIS. From this creature evolved a type of animal from which the dog family is supposed to have branched off into its numerous shoots. Next came the CYNODICTIS who possessed many dog-like qualities, bore little actual resemblance to the dogs, as we know them today, yet still carried the characteristic long body and short legs. This creature in turn was responsible for the two definable dog-like beasts who made their appearance approximately 25,000,000 years later, the TOMNOCYON and CYNODESMUS. The later animal is believed to be the ancestor of the large group—dogs and true wolves, while the former, the ancestor of the hunting dogs of Africa and India.

Somewhere in between these last two creatures and the CANIS FAMILIARIS is the missing link of dog lore; here and there offshoots appeared and died off, leaving only the survival of the fittest. Dogs grew in body development and have followed four general lines of evolutionary advancement: gigantic bear dogs (direct ancestors of the bears), African hunting dogs (more like wolves but different family history), hyaena-like dogs, and wolves, wild dogs, foxes.

Although all springing from the same common ancestor, the dog family became more tractable, while the wolves maintained their wildness and ferocity. Dogs have been associated with man for centuries, but the earliest record of them being used as beasts of burden is around the 15th century.

The true dogs of the American Indians were of medium size, according to the remains found, possibly they accompanied prehistoric man across the Bering strait into Alaska. Considerable breeding with wolves and coyotes could have taken place when the true dogs were brought into close contact with the early North American settlements.

Many authorities agree the dog is largely descended from the Eurasiatic wolf, if this seems a little far fetched to you compare the numerous members of the cat family, the puma, cheetah, tiger or ocelot to the common house cat.

Vast changes are still taking place in the progress of all breeds of dogs. Climate, food, environment and the ways of living play a major part in determining the change of coat, type and size. Just sit down sometime and compare your breed today with the same breed of 15 years ago.

MEETING OF BOARD OF DIRECTORS

OCTOBER 15TH, 1952

2385. The meeting of the Board of Directors which adjourned on October 1st, 1952, reconvened in the Club's offices, 667 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont. on October 15th, 1952, commencing at 10:00 A.M. The President, J. J. Farmer, presided. Directors present were: S. Back, George Getty, J. A. H. Irving, Mrs. P. Mack, W. H. MacKendrick, Mrs. Alva McColl and W. J. Monaghan.

The President pointed out that the Board had reconvened at this time primarily for the purpose of discussing and perhaps arranging for any proposed amendments, to appear on the next referendum ballot, so that the wishes of the members could be ascertained on a number of important points. The President suggested that this be considered the first order of business. It was regularly moved by Mr. Irving, seconded by Mrs. Mack:

"THAT, we postpone the regular order of business and carry on with proposed amendments."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Back, Mr. Getty, Mr. Irving, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mrs. McColl and Mr. Monaghan.

Motion unanimously carried.

2386. PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

Discussion then took place on a number of possible proposed amendments, some having to do with action to remove existing contradictions in the By-laws or rules, others to correct phraseology in order to bring about consistency in the By-laws and rules.

The necessary notice of amendment forms were completed where majority opinion prevailed. The forms were signed and deposited with the Secretary.

It was understood and agreed that the proposed amendments did not necessarily represent majority opinion of the entire Board. It was also understood and agreed that the action of individual members of the Board signing said proposed amendments did not necessarily indicate that they were in favour of said amendments, their action arising solely from a desire to make it possible for the members to indicate their wishes on the matters covered by the amendments.

2387 (2373). FINANCIAL MATTERS

The Secretary tabled financial statements prepared by the Club's auditors for the period ending September 30th, 1952.

After discussion the Secretary was directed to forward copy of the statement to all members of the Board, and to publish the statements in the earliest possible issue of DOGS IN CANADA.

2391 (2340). RECOGNITION OF THE "SHIH TZU"

Mrs. Mack referred to the Board's previous order regarding recognition of the "Shih Tzu," and questioned the placing of the breed in the Terrier Group for show purposes.

Following discussion, it was regularly moved by Mrs. Mack, seconded by Mrs. McColl:

"THAT, the Shih Tzu be reclassified and be included, for show purposes, in Group 6 (Non-sporting)."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Back, Mr. Getty, Mr. Irving, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan and Mrs. McColl.

Motion unanimously carried.

2392. NOMINATIONS

The Secretary referred to the Board's direction, in 1951, with regard to disclosing the names of members nominated for office during the nominating period, and asked whether the same policy is to apply during the current election.

Following discussion, it was regularly moved by Mr. Monaghan, seconded by Mr. Irving:

"THAT, the Election Commission be instructed that names of members nominated for office are not to be disclosed to anyone (except the member nominated and those who nominated him) until the period of nominations is closed; and that thereafter the Election Commission shall furnish each member nominated with a list of all persons nominated for election to the Board."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Back, Mr. Getty, Mr. Irving, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mrs. McColl and Mr. Monaghan.

Motion unanimously carried.

2393. FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR 1952

The Secretary referred to the new By-law requiring separate financial statements and sought an instruction on procedure in carrying out the requirements of this By-law.

The matter was left over for consideration.

2394 (2354). REGISTRATION COMMITTEE MATTERS

The Secretary reported that a number of applications for registration of imported dogs were now before the Registration Committee, and referred to the requirements of Article XXVIII, Section 1 (d) of the By-laws regarding the appointment, by the Board, of persons to examine and report on these imported dogs.

Following discussion it was unanimously agreed that the following be appointed for the purpose set out in the By-laws:

(1) J. H. Sheehan and Albert Collins, Montreal, to inspect and report on a number of dogs owned in the Montreal area;
(2) C. C. Sullivan and Robert B. Laskey, Saint John, to inspect and report on a Dachshund (Long-haired) owned in the Saint John area;
(3) George R. Jerman, St. Davids, Ont., to inspect and report on two imported German Shepherd Dogs owned in the Niagara Falls area.

The Secretary reported on an application for registration of an Irish Terrier imported from Czechoslovakia, said dog being registered in the stud book of a specialty club in Czechoslovakia. Following discussion, it was unanimously agreed that the importer be informed that registration of the dog in the records of the Ceskoslovensky Kynologicky Svas will be required, or, as an alternative, the specialty club's certificate which accompanied the application for registration must be approved by the C.K.S., before registration will be authorized by the Registration Committee.

2395 (2383). DATES, JUDGES, SHOW AND TRIAL MATTERS

The Secretary reported on his discussion with the Show Secretary of the Progressive Kennel Club of Canada regarding their application for permission to hold championship show on June 6th, 1953. The Secretary reported that the Progressive Kennel Club of Canada had since submitted application for priority rights, with required fee, for the following show dates: June 6th, 1953; June 5th, 1954; June 4th, 1955; June 2nd, 1956; and June 1st, 1957. The applications of the German Shepherd Dog Breeders Association and the Ontario County Kennel Club for 1953 show dates, were left in the hands of the Secretary for further attention and report.

Mr. Irving tabled the application of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association Inc. for permission to hold championship shows and licensed obedience trials on May 22nd and 23rd, 1953, also the application of the B.C. Ladies' Kennel Club for permission to hold championship shows and licensed obedience trials on May 25th and 26th, 1953. These applications were approved.

Mr. Irving enquired whether the Board would approve an application for permission to hold a specialty show on a Sunday provided said application fitted in satisfactorily with show dates already approved. Approval having been given in the past to shows on a Sunday, the Board indicated no objection.

The application of the Toronto Branch of the Ontario Bird Dog Association for permission to hold a licensed field trial for pointing breeds at Ajax, Ontario, on October 26th, 1952, was approved as was also the Association's list of proposed judges.

The Secretary read a letter from Director Mrs. Margeson who reported that the proper procedure with regard to judging of Reserve Best in Show was not followed at several of the recent Maritime shows, in that not all of the eligible dogs competed for this award. The matter was left over for further discussion.

The Secretary reported that the Chow Chow Club of Canada had cancelled its show, scheduled for October 11th, because of lack of entries. The Secretary was directed to so mark the records, and to consider the date fee forfeited.

The Secretary read a letter from the President of the Cornwall Kennel Club enquiring whether the Board would grant permission for an additional sanction show, the Club having held three sanction shows to date. The communication was ordered held in abevance for further consideration.

Approval was given the following lists of proposed judges:

OTTAWA KENNEL CLUB—championship show—May 1st, 1953.
Alva Rosenberg, Kew Gardens, L.I., N.Y.—All breeds in Groups 1, 4 and 5; Groups 1, 4 and 5; and any other General Specials;
Alf. Loveridge, Toronto, Ont—All breeds in Groups 2, 3 and 6; Groups 2, 3 and 6; Best Canadian-bred in Show.

OTTAWA KENNEL CLUB—championship show—May 2nd, 1953—same judges as above, but reverse breeds and awards.

The Secretary reported that an enquiry had been received seeking information as to permissible dimensions of a table on which an individual exhibitor could pose his dog in the ring. The Board noted that no rule covered the enquiry received, and unanimously agreed that it rested entirely with the presiding judge whether he permitted any exhibitor to present his dog on a separate table or stand.

2398 (2377). APPLICATIONS FOR HANDLERS' LICENSES

The Secretary reported on the following applications for handler's license:

1. Wally Jones, Sturgis, Mich.—All breeds;
2. Donald F. Starkweather, Detroit, Mich.—All breeds;
3. Fred W. Fraser, Ottawa, Ont.—All breeds in Group 4.

It was regularly moved by Mr. MacKendrick, seconded by Mr. Irving:

"THAT, these applications for handlers' licenses be approved."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Back, Mr. Getty, Mr. Irving, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mrs. McColl and Mr. Monaghan.

Motion unanimously carried.

2400. LETTERS PUBLISHED IN DOGS IN CANADA

Mr. Irving reported that following his attendance at a licensed Retriever trial held at Saskatoon, Dr. Sproston had submitted an article to the Editor which had been published in DOGS IN CANADA. Following publication of said article a letter from another member had been published in a later issue. Mr. Irving contended that Dr. Sproston should have an opportunity of submitting a rebuttal to the letter published about his original remarks. It was agreed that it would be in order for a rebuttal to be published, if submitted.

2401. ADJOURNMENT

At 8:45 P.M., on motion by Mr. Monaghan, duly seconded and carried, this meeting of the Board of Directors adjourned to reconvene at the call of the President.

scissors, unless you take great care) See illustration 3A. (B) Wipe off the area with carbon tetrachloride as is provided with the set. (See illustration 3B). Do not use coal oil or turpentine, as they will affect the ink. If you do not have carbon tetrachloride, the next best thing is alcohol or in an emergency you may use soap and water. With the latter, be sure the area is dry before you start to tattoo.

No. 4 Put a very small amount of liquid or paste ink right on the area to be tattooed—don't smear it all over so that you cannot see the veins. See illustration 4. Also, put a small amount over the pin points of the letters and figures which protrude beyond the rubber strippers. Be careful that the ear is held firmly so that there are no wrinkles in it.

No. 5. With a quick firm motion, squeeze pliers and pierce the ear. Release immediately. With the thumb and forefinger massage more tattoo ink on the tattooed area. See illustrations 5 and 6.

Do not wipe off the excess tattoo ink, or clean the ear in any way. Simply allow the ink to dry, and disappear. This will take about ten days. When the surface ink has worn away, you will have a clear and legible mark. This will take about three weeks. See illustration 7. Clean the letters and figures well, using the brush provided for this purpose, both before and after using. Oil the pliers occasionally and keep the equipment stored in a dry place.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR FLANK TATTOOING. There should be no difficulty in tattooing in this location, but more care must be taken. You must have an assistant, who will hold the dog in a comfortable position, stretching his leg until the skin of the flank is quite taut, but not uncomfortable. Follow the regular instructions in every way, continue to hold the dog after you rub the ink in so that he cannot move his leg until the ink has dried slightly. This should be about five minutes. If you allow the dog to walk around immediately he will probably rub the ink off on the other side of the flank.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR LIP TATTOOING. Lip tattooing is completely successful, but requires a special size letter, as supplied in a model 50DL. The method is the same, except that you must be sure that the lower lip is held firmly, and is completely dry and free of saliva, both before and after tattooing.

Recommendation — We recommend that any dog, but particularly large eared dogs, be tattooed in both ears—the year letter and number in one ear —the registration letters in the other. This will allow you to leave a blank space between your letters and figures, and the resulting marks are especially clear. See illustration 8.

Sheltie Breeder Injured In Automobile Collision

A WELL-KNOWN Collie and Sheltie breeder, Mrs. Helen Lovett of Carp, Ont., was seriously injured Dec. 6 when the car in which she was riding was involved in a head-on collision near Scranton, Pa.

Mrs. Lovett was on her way to the Philadelphia dog show with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Percival of Ottawa, and four dogs. Following the accident two of the dogs ran away, probably frightened by the collision.

Mrs. Lovett fractured her right hip and will have to remain in bed for about five months. She was flown home as soon as she was able to leave the Scranton hospital.

Her daughter, who was driving, received only multiple cuts although her head went through the windshield. Mr. Percival, however, suffered multiple cuts about the face and possible fracture to a shoulder and his head.

Three nearby breeders, Mrs. Ruth Rivetti, R. W. Oliphant and Mrs. Craig Morris organized a search of the area for the missing dogs, while Mrs. Marian Sweppenheiser, whose kennels are located near the scene of the accident, kept a sharp look out for the dogs who might have been attracted by the barking of her dogs.

DOG OWNER'S VETERINARY GUIDE

By G. W. STAMM

A handy book to have around a house where a dog lives. G. W. Stamm has not written a "cure-all" book but rather a helpful guide to what may be wrong with your dog and some of the treatments that can safely be given by the owner.

In the author's words it is a "valuable handbook on the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of the diseases of dogs." It is written in language that is easy to understand and can easily be followed—no long medical terms or complicated treatments.

The book is clearly illustrated with pictures and drawings.

COLLIE COGNIZANCE

Do You See What I Mean?

(In place of THE FANCY'S FORUM this month, we present a special article on Collies by the well-known Pacific Coast breeder, W. G. "Uncle Billy" Hassell, Alandale Collies, 1395 Newton Rd., R.R. 6, New Westminster, B.C. This provocative editorial is backed by the writer's long experience with the Collie breed.—ED.)

By W. G. HASSELL

I WAS encouraged when I read in the 1952 "Report of the Committee on the Approval of Judges" that the first principle of judging has to be, and I quote, "Judge must use standard as guide, not his own opinion; same as in law—he does not make the law, he only interprets and applies it." More than anything I have encountered in years, this inspired me to further effort.

As I have so often written before, we need to substitute knowledge for opinion.

The standard is more than opinion—very much more. It is the combined knowledge and experience of the great Collie connoisseurs of all time as expertly expressed as it was possible for the eminently qualified committee to word it.

The standard is the Collie, and those who criticize it are actually criticizing the breed they love so much.

I would like to see the day when all judges must know word for word the standards of the breeds they judge, and take oath to do all in their power to understand what it means, and to apply it.

Without dog shows and judges we could not carry on the improvement of registered dogs. Our judges are men and women who must have a unique combination of outstanding ability, knowledge, experience, showmanship, and integrity. They are vitally necessary to the dog game and have great importance. When any judge departs from his duty to judge according to the standard, he basically undermines general confidence in the dog game, and partially destroys the importance and authority of himself and all other judges. To judge according to the standard is his only duty, and no reason is sufficient to depart from it.

Because the standard must necessarily be worded as briefly as possible and the Collie fancy is composed of a large number of people varying in ability, knowledge, and experience, their understanding of the standard must also necessarily be a matter of degree. Any quotation from the standard can be constructively discussed extensively with benefit to all.

INCREASED SIZE

As a result of several years' meticulous endeavour, the Collie standard was recently revised and greatly improved. The most criticized part of the revision was that relating to the increase in size. From conversation and correspondence with outstanding authorities, I know that the reason for this was that all down through the years a good big one had always beaten a good little one. I am convinced that this is because, in males particularly, a large dog has an impressive grandeur that the small one lacks.

I remember discussing this matter with Edwin L. Pickhardt, than whom no one knows a Collie more thoroughly. I can quote his words from memory, "When thinking of Collie size, don't forget the grandeur." George Getty, an authority in the same class as Pickhardt, said, "Give me a Collie with substance. The male Collie must have grandeur."

Not taking time to discuss the extreme importance of coat and condition in this regard, we will briefly consider an actual quotation from the Collie standard. The Collie should be a dog carrying no useless timber." The key to understanding this quotation lies in realizing that the word useless is in there. It does not say "without timber," it says carrying no useless timber." Within the limits of height and weight set by the standard, the more timber (bone, substance) a Collie has, the grander and more impressive he is going to be, providing it is not useless timber; that is, providing he can handle it, and carry himself with the gracefulness which means hidden power, and providing it does not make him lethargic and destroy the lithe activity the standard also calls for.

When you see a Collie that has body, bone, and substance—dressed in a huge correct coat with tremendous ruff and flowing frill—combined with the technical excellence called for in other parts of the standard, including beautifully balanced head, with round barrel muzzle, flat skull, topped by small, tight, correctly tipped ears, ever alert, and eyes correct in color, size, shape, and placement—together with lithe activity—you see a picture you will never forget, and take another step forward in Collie cognizance. You also realize what the standard means when it says that the Collie can not be properly evaluated until his expression has been judged. Do you see what I mean?

Canadian Collies Coast to Coast

By BERNARD YOUNG

(With what little response there was to DOGS IN CANADA's call for news of Collies and Shetland Sheepdogs in the Dominion, Bernard Young of Toronto, capable correspondent of the Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Club of Canada, has compiled a roundup of briefs about breeders and some of their dogs. A sincere attempt was made to cover most breeders and if any were missed only lack of response to the appeal could be the answer.—ED.)

IT APPEARS the Collie picture in Canada, and elsewhere, is settling down after the feverish pitch of popularity it has enjoyed since the showing of "Lassie" films. It is generally agreed by serious fanciers that such popularity does more harm than good.

Every bitch resembling a Collie was bred to supply the demand for pets "just like Lassie." People who did this and were not true fanciers dropped out as soon as they were left with one or two unsold litters. It looks as if most of these "opportunists" are fast disappearing and the field is left to the true fancier to maintain and improve the quality Collie.

"WHO'S WHO"

A glance at "Who's who" in Canadian Collies today brings to mind many serious breeders. Throughout this article I will do my best to include all those breeders known to me but I feel sure there may be others who are doing their best to maintain a high standard and are producing Collies which are a credit to the breed.

Among the foremost of the Maritime Collie fancy is A. V. Martin of the famous Oakland prefix. He came to the front after showing that great dog Can. and Am. Champion Major Lukeo. Unfortunately for Canada, Major Lukeo was sold to St. Andrian kennels in the U.S., where he sired many champions. Mr. Martin has kept close contact with St. Adrian kennels and most of his dogs have been directly or indirectly of Major-St. Adrian breeding.

His Can. and Am. Ch. Oakland Laureate was also considered a superb Collie but he too was sold to St. Adrian.

Miss Maude Jodrey (Juniper) entered the picture about 12 years ago and bred blue merles. However, she had most success with the purchase of Elmhill Elinda from the late Dr. Cooper, a well-known Saskatoon breeder. This bitch, when bred to Ch. St. Adrian Braw Centurus, produced Ch. Juniper Sable Centurus and several other sables and tri's of good quality such as the dam of Ch. Sovereign Dougie's Choice (Winners Dog at Westminster, 1952).

Ernest Robb is another Maritime breeder who has been successful in obtaining a championship for his Alandale Lissome Lady as well as making some good wins with Collies of his own breeding. He has recently been campaigning with Oakland Golden Lanarkson.

COLLIE "DEAN"

At Ste. Therese, Que., is the kennel of W. Ormiston Roy (Coila) who is generally considered "dean of Collie fanciers." His fame is international and he has been responsible for bringing many good dogs from the "Old Country" during the past 35 to 40 years. Most of the Coila Collies are kenneled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Eccles who are very enthusiastic Collie people. They consider Juniper Star of Coila, a blue merle, the top dog in the kennel and one of the most outstanding blue merles today. Although Coila specializes in blue merles, sables and tricolors are also bred there.

Mrs. Marie Tuyl of Montreal is ardent and enthusiastic but comparative new comer to the game. She breeds all three colors (merles, sables and tri's). She still has her first Collie, Inverdine's Treasure Laddie, a tricolor dog with what is considered a very good head and eye. Among several bitches there is Levenloch Lucinda, bred by the writer.

Mrs. Linda Nairn (Faraway Hill) started breeding Collies with the purchase of a tri bitch Quarrybrae Highland Belle. This bitch, when bred to Coila MacDonald, produced some blues and tri's of highest quality. Some are still around Faraway Hill.

Mrs. J. O. McKell (Kelingrove) of Ormstown, P.Q., has owned and bred many good dogs. One of her top dogs is the sable and white Alandale Sir Lockinvar.

In the Ottawa area, there comes to mind the names of Mrs. Alma Harwood who was instrumental in the formation of the Eastern Ontario Collie Club. She is the owner of Ch. Gai-har Commander. One of her breeding, a blue merle puppy, owned by O. Parent of the Ottawa district, recently took the working group at a sanction show in the capital. There is also Mrs. Eileen MacDonald whose Collie Coila Kirsty of Caithness finished her championship recently.

Across the Quebec border in Hull and District, Collie fancier Fred Blatch is still one of the active oldtimers. At nearby Billings Bridge, there is Mr. and Mrs. W. Samardak (Ballangeich).

Mrs. George Lovett (Ronas Hill) of Carp, Ont. is a comparative newcomer. With the breeding of her blue merle bitch Tokalon Hawthorne Mist to Sunnybrook Seabiscuit she produced several good blue merles and tri's that have done some winning in Canada as well as in the U.S.

At Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sleeth (Sovereign) are the proud owners of Ch. Sovereign Dougie's Choice which went Winners Dog at the 1952 Westminister Kennel Club show in New York. Recently they have also completed the title for the blue merle Ch. Sovereign Pride of Marydale.

One of the top Toronto area kennels is that of Mr. and Mrs. George Getty (Quarrybrae) at Newtonbrook. Heading their high quality Collies is Ch. Graham Farm's Parader. This dog has three Best In Show awards as well as numerous other wins. He is an orange sable and white and is particularly noted for his soundness and balance. He has sired many champions and winners. Other notable Quarrybrae Collies are the tri' Ch. Sterling Stormy Weather, the sable Ch. Quarrybrae's Correct. Mrs. Getty is current president of the Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Club of Canada, a position her husband held for many years.

TORONTO BREEDER

William Powell (Bonacres) of Toronto, another breeder whose dogs have had considerable success started breeding Collies seriously with the importation from England of Beulah's Golden Victory. This sable and white dog is the sire of Ch. Bonacres Pickwick, a Best In Show winner with many other awards to his credit. Golden Victory is also the sire of the sensational Best In Show winner Ch. Bonacres Victoria O'Kiloran owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Low of Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Price (Sunnybrook) of Lansing, started breeding Collies with two champions. One was Ch. Quarrybrae Judy, a tri bitch and the other, Quarrybrae Punch. Their beautiful sable and white bitch Sunnybrook's Mona Belle was recently shown to her title in Canada. Mona Belle also has American points.

Stewart Harvey of Toronto (Coronet) has bred several champions including Coronet Artillerymen of Ascot. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hewson (Hewmac) of Oak Ridges have several bitches of best quality. Among them are the tri' Quarrybrae Honey Chile, Ch. Alandale Luscious and Ch. Alandale Alouette, both sable and white, and the American-bred blue merle bitch, Bogelwick Silver Lining. Mr. Hewson has a couple of promising pups he is keeping for the spring shows.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan (Sullivan's) of Gormley have been breeding Collies for several years now and have produced a number of champions. Among them is the tri' dog Ch. Sullivan's Squire of Leighton. They have recently shown Southdown Lucky May to her title. Lucky May was bred by Miss Doris Hoare of Toronto.

Winner of nine Best in Show awards and three Reserve Best, Champion Bonacres Victoria O'Kiloran, pictured above, has set an enviable record for Collies everywhere. She is owned by John Low of Winnipeg and was bred by William Powell of Toronto. A year ago she was the winner of the James D. Strachan Memorial Medal for the most Best Canadian-bred in Show awards.

A. Roberts (Ascot) of Etobicoke began breeding Collies with the importation of the sable and white dog Ch. Bellhaven Model's Commander, a son of the undefeated Ch. Braegale Model of Bellhaven. His first bitches were three sable litter sisters one of whom was Ch. Clydebak Golden Dawn. There have been many Ascot champions but ony a few have been in the show ring during the past few years.

Miss Lottie Johnston (Piper Glen) of Hawkstone started her breeding program about three years ago with the tri' bitch Moorland Parader's Queen. This bitch, when bred to Ch. Graham Farm's Parader, produced her new champion, Glen Garry Lad II, a sable and white of good quality.

ANOTHER CHAMPION

Mr. and Mrs. William Clark (Collenden) of Agincourt have recently shown their Tam Ah Lad to his championship. He is a good type shaded sable and white.

Mrs. Sue Haines (Arrowhead) of Toronto is a novice breeder. She owns Ch. Ascot Model's Gold Dust and has a couple of nice pups she is planning to show this spring.

W. Hayden (Erith) of Willowdale, Ont., has bred very few litters but has been fortunate in producing at least two champions among them. One is the tri' bitch Ch. Cloe of Erith and the other is the sable and white dog Ch. Erith's Golden Prince who is now owned by Joe Edwards of Dunbarton, Ont.

Hedley Hull (Elstow) formerly of Dorchester and now of Toronto, has bred many good Collies but unfortunately is not able to do any breeding at the present time.

In the London area, Dr. and Mrs. Earle Zeigler (Collwood) of Delaware are familiar figures around the shows. In their kennel is the American import, Goldmount Guard of Woodwinds.

Near Jarvis in the Hamilton area is M. O. Wilkins (Shadyholme) who has looked to imports from England for his foundation breeding stock. He imported Dryfesdale Delilah in whelp and later Beulah's Golden Glory.

Harold Wellwood Jr., of Riverside in the Windsor district is a very enthusiastic newcomer. This year he completed a Canadian championship with his first, and only, Collie, the sable and white bitch Petite Belle Fille of Halcath. She also has eight points toward her American championship. She is said to be a beautiful bitch of superb quality and type.

As far as I know there is little Collie activity on the prairies with the exception of the John Lows in Winnipeg. The Lows (O'Kiloran) have had a consistent winner in their lovely sable and white bitch Ch. Bonacres Victoria O'Kiloran who has been sweeping the western circuits with many Best In Show and Best Canadian Bred wins.

Mrs. John Floyde (McCreary's) has been breeding Collies in Manitoba for a number of years.

A newcomer in Alberta is John M. Jones of Wetaskawin who has sables and tri's.

In British Columbia for more breeders and W. G. Hassell's Alandale kennels in New Westminster. In addition to breeding many excellent dogs, Mr. Hassell has made a name in dog photography and has produced some excellent pictures. His leading stud has been Alandale Parader, an excellent Collie with good head and eye and wealth of coat. An injury to one of his hind legs spoiled his chances for a show career but he has sired many champions. Most of Mr. Hassell's brood bitches have been of "Sterling" breeding with depth of body and substance.

Mrs. Olive Smith (Haven) of Brighouse, B.C., has been a prominent West Coast Collie breeder for many years. Her champion dog, Seaforth Mackenzie, won the title under her guidance.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Monahan (Arfrene) have been successful in producing two champions, both sable and whites—Ch. Arfrene Agizziz and his litter sister Ch. Arfrene Tignish.

You could write a book about Collies in Canada. But we will have to be content with this brief résumé and look-see roundup.

Shetland Sheepdogs Across the Dominion

By BERNARD YOUNG

THERE are many good breeders of Shetland Sheepdogs across Canada but most of the kennels are in the Ontario-Quebec area. Because of little response to the general "call" sent out by DOGS IN CANADA, it has been difficult to cover the field. Some may be missed without intention.

In British Columbia, Mrs. Olive Smith of Brighouse (Haven) has the American bred, Ch. Tiny Scrapper of Walnut Hall and has made a new champion this year, Ch. Haven Peerie Rasmie.

At River Canard, near Windsor, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mittag (Hilmar) have the Am. Ch. Night Rider of Pocono in the kennels and are now showing him in Canada.

AROUND BARRIE

Around Barrie, Ont., there is considerable Sheltie interest.

Mr. and Mr. Nelson Brimstin (Sunbriar) have imported the dog Astolat Duke of Sunbriar who has done considerable winning of late. Mr. Brimstin has a complete litter he is keeping to await future developments.

Mr. and Mrs. Blakely Lamont (Knockdow) are others who have been prominent in the breed in that area recently. This year their female, Alford Petite Marie, attained championship status.

C. H. Camidge (Speed Valley), of Guelph, imported the bitch Pixie Dell Dark Rapture from the U.S. Dark Rapture bred to Lord Lovell O'Pages Hill produced Ch. Speed Valley Amber Boy, a good type sable and white dog who has produced many winners for Mr. Camidge and others.

Ch. Speed Valley Tommy (Shetland Sheepdog) owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Getty of Newtonbrook, Ont.

In the Toronto area Quarrybrae kennels are also breeding Shelties among whom are Ch. Speed Valley Tommy, a tri' dog with many Best of Breed awards to his credit. Ch. Quarrybrae Little Laurie is a blue merle bitch of outstanding type.

William Henderson (Alford), has been one of the pioneers of Sheltie breeding in Canada. The late Ch. Alford Heatherbelle created a sensation in her day. Another well-known champion was Alford Wee Macgregor who left many fine daughters and sons behind him.

Ronas Hill Kennels at Carp have many fine imported dogs. The foundation bitch is a blue merle, Can. and Am. Ch. Pocono Trinket of Windy Oaks.

From Quebec City, J. M. Riverin has been showing Alford McDuff prominently and the same holds true for Miss Maude L. Jodrey of Bridgetown, N.S., with Magic Master of Juniper.

Ch. Sovereign Dougie's Choice (rough Collie) owned by Mrs. Ariel Sleeth of Kingston, Ont.

Reflections on Collies

By WM. L. POWELL

ORCHIDS for 1952 as far as Collies in Canada are concerned go to Ch. Sovereign Dougie's Choice, owned by Mrs. Ariel Sleeth of Kingston, Ont. He was Best of Winners at New York and Buffalo and this gave him his necessary two major shows. He now has 12 points towards his American championship. Another small show and he will be an international champion.

Dougie's Choice is the first Canadian Collie I can find in the records that has won Best of Winners in New York. Dr. MacCain started this dog when he gave him Reserve Winners at the Eastern Ontario Collie Club show. The dog was only six months old.

"Pete" is a nice, sound tri-color, with a lovely fore-face and moderate size. He is now three years old and not showing any signs of going coarse. Congratulations are in order to Mr. and Mrs. Sleeth for the splendid way they have handled this dog.

Ch. Bonacres Victoria O'Kiloran, owned by John Low of Winnipeg, has added two more Best in Shows to her record and it now stands at nine with three Reserve Best in Show. This is truly some record. I have never heard of it being beaten by any Collie.

Wm. Stanfield of the famous Laund kennels, England, died recently in his 82nd year. He sold a lot of good dogs to America and they have left some of their great qualities in our present day dogs. Ch. Laund Liberation was his last outstanding dog exported to America and finished up with 53 times Best of Breed. Liberation the first time out at Detroit under the old Collie judge, Joe Burrell, was given Best in Show and the following Sunday in Cleveland, I saw him placed Best of Breed under Hal Loundsbury.

Fred Robson of the Eden kennels is retiring at the age of 75. He wrote me that his kennel manager, who was with him for 35 years has had his third major operation. So another old breeder moves to the side lines.

My first collie in 1902 was sired by an Eden dog and sometime I will write about his great qualities, of cattle driving and sheep herding. Ch. Eden Emerald was brought to America by Mrs. Lunt of the Alstead kennels, and no dog ever had more influence on the Collies of today than this dog. He sired El Capitan who in turn sired El Troubador and he sired Future of Arken, who in turn sired one of the most outstanding litters ever produced in America. They were Ch. Honeybrook Big Parade, Ch. Duchess of Arken and Ch. Future Flash of Arken. These three great Collies were all in one litter and I do not recall any other litter with such a record.

There has been quite a demand for Christmas pups but the lamentable part of this breeding is that any kind of a pup as long as it looks like a Collie and will satisfy Junior is sold. This kind of breeders sell both dog and bitch pups, then they get a pedigree. Poor mister buyer thinks he has a top specimen and he breeds this class of pup and that is where the damage is done and helps to pull the breed down. Why in heaven's name if they want to breed pets don't they destroy the bitches or specify they must be spayed. The harm that they are doing is immense.

A large American weekly magazine had an article some time ago that shows dogs didn't have sufficient intelligence. Now a leading Canadian weekend paper comes out and gives another black eye. So let us make a 1953 resolution to breed good Collies—true to type.

One of the nicest Collie acts I have ever seen was one border Collie rounding up 1000 sheep. Mr. Arnold paid £100 (nearly $300) for this bitch and our Canadian breeders think they do well to get $50 or $100. Again I say breed true to type and pay close attention to disposition and soundness and the simple rule for soundness is "the four feet shall parallel the body, neither turn in or out."

The Editor's Mailbag

Editor: It is with interest that I read in your November issue "Lost Dogs Pose a Problem" and may I suggest the following solutions.

Take a pair of sharp pointed scissors and cut your name in the hair on one side of your dog and on the other side of your dog, the name of the city or town you reside in.

We use this method every year on our dogs while hunting deer and we have yet to lose a dog as it takes seven or eight weeks for the hair to grow out again.

The second idea is to take a piece of white adhesive tape, print your name and address on it, wrap it fairly tight around the base of your dog's tail and cover it over with scotch tape, to protect it against water. This method is good for a few days' time as it will eventually work loose and fall off.

I hope these ideas may be of some help in the future to some hunter and dog owner.

Clean lines and a keen outlook

When a dog's in perfect health you can see it in every line of him. And when you see a dog like that you can be sure he's getting the essential minerals in his diet. Modern methods of feeding and town life keep a dog from getting the valuable food elements that dogs in the wild state used to find in grasses. That's why Karswood Dog Powders are so important to balanced nourishment. They are specially made to supply those very minerals that the animal doesn't get in his regular food. They'll help give your dog the clear eyes, clean breath and general fitness you want him to enjoy. Pet stores and drug stores everywhere sell Karswood Dog Powders.

Newfoundland Revered In Prose and Poetry

IN 1949 Canada became the land of origin of a notable breed, for it was then that Newfoundland became her 10th province and it was in Newfoundland that a mighty breed began.

The huge black (or black and white) Newfoundland has many tales of heroic action to his credit. He is revered in poetry, prose and painting. These gigantic dogs are not merely objects of majestic beauty but are truly working dogs—and are used as such.

Their heavy coats are designed to keep out the blasts of bitter Newfoundland cold. Their strong bodies and webbed feet make them ideal water dogs and tales of their outstanding rescue work off the island province are many. In addition to being excellent water dogs they are used as pack animals and to drag carts—an easy task for dogs who weigh as much as many humans.

Origin of this breed was in Newfoundland, probably from dogs brought to those shores by European fishermen. The white Great Pyrenees and one of the ancient French hounds are suggested as possible ancestors. Many old prints of the breed show a dog with traces of Husky traits.

Despite its large size the Newfoundland is extremely gentle which makes him an ideal companion for children. He takes such duties very seriously and cares for children like a nursemaid. His unswerving loyalty makes him a wonderful companion.

An inherent intelligence has enabled the Newfoundland to act quickly when the need arises and many lives have been saved by his accepting responsibility without being told.

He has long been admired for his physical ability and beauty. English breeders rapidly came to care for this breed which became so popular when it was first introduced in England that most of the pedigreed stock, even in Newfoundland, today can trace their forebears to English breeding.

Although the Newfoundland is considered a black dog, the Landseer variety is black and white with only the coat color being different.

TRUE LOVE
Own a Puli, and you will see!

Puli Is Canine Cowboy

COWBOY of the canine world is the Puli, a sheepdog who made his appearance in North America during this century. For generations the breed (Pulik) has been noted as shepherds in Hungary.

This shaggy-haired breed became known in central Europe when the Asiatic hordes swept over that area some 1100 years ago. It is believed that the Puli is closely related to Icelandic and Greenlandic dogs and that his ancestry, therefore, must be Nordic.

The question "how is the Puli a cowboy" is answered by watching one at work. He herds by running lightly over his charges' backs. No circling the herd, he takes the quickest way to the other side—across the backs.

To collect a runaway he merely jumps on its back and rides the frightened animal—like a bronc buster—until it calms down with exhaustion. Then he steers it back to the herd, still riding it.

It has been agreed that the Puli is one of the most easily trained of all breeds. His versatility brought him to the attention of the U.S. government who has been making tests as to the Puli's hunting abilities as well as his possibilities as a shepherd in western ranches and farms.

About the middle of the 18th century he was mentioned by a noted German authority as excellent in retrieving water fowl and at rabbit hunting.

Standing about 17 inches high, he is self-colored in white, cream, grey or black with black being the predominant color. In the lighter shades, the ears are a darker shade of the same color.

He is inclined to be a one-man dog and distrustful of strangers who might do damage to those under his protection. Those who own a Puli claim he is unexcelled with children.

Rescue Skill Unique

LITTLE did St. Bernard de Menthon realize when he founded his famous Hospice in the Swiss Alps that a breed of dogs would be named after him—a breed of dogs whose courage and skill at rescue work would help carry the Hospice's name throughout the world.

It is believed these dogs were direct ancestors of the Roman Molosser who originally came from Asia. Early records still available do not mention the Hospice dogs but two fires destroyed many of the oldest of records. It is believed, however, that dogs from the neighboring valleys were brought to the Hospice as watchdogs somewhere in the period 1660 to 1670. These were the dogs whose uncanny sense of smell helped save thousands of lives.

In the early days they ran in packs. Upon locating a snow victim, one dog would lie down on either side of the person to keep him warm, another would lick his face to try to revive him while the others would race back to get the monks. The keg of spirits slung from these dogs' collars has become a symbol of their work, although this practice is not followed today.

Aurora and District Kennel Club

By D. R. WILSON

J. Sullivan was re-elected president of the Aurora and District Kennel Club at the group's annual meeting held Dec. 1 at the Aurora fire hall. Other officers re-elected were A. R. Sacre, secretary, and Mrs. Hamilton, advertising secretary.

New members of the executive are: Mrs. J. Kendall, vice-president; D. R. Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. A. Richards, show secretary; and Mrs. A. R. Sacre, trophy secretary. Mrs. J. Sullivan will be in charge of catering at the club's show with Miss L. Carroll assisting.

It was learned with regret that Mr. and Mrs. Len Morris are retiring from active club work. The club extends these two oldtimers a sincere thank you for two years work as show and trophy secretaries. It was good to see Mrs. Hamilton back after her trip overseas. She attended some of the shows in England and reports there is a keen interest shown on what is going on over here in the various breeds.

German Shepherd Dog Breeders' Association

By SPENCER WELLER

A large group of members were on hand Dec. 2 at the Danforth Hotel, Toronto, for the association's annual meeting. Paul Firman was re-elected president for the coming year. Before the election he had remarked on the excellent spirit of co-operation shown throughout the past year in association affairs, adding that if this spirit continued through the coming year further advancements would be found —benefitting not only the members' favorite breed but the dog "game" as a whole.

George Taylor, the 1952 training director, declined the position for the coming year and was elected 1st vice-president. Sid Wintour, a member with considerable experience, will be training director next year.

For the first time in the history of the association a lady was elected to the 2nd vice-president's chair. Mrs. Betty Dehnhart was elected.

Secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Audrey Wallis, show secretary is Mrs. Mary Weller and recording secretary is Mrs. Edna Barbour.

Chairing the committees are Mrs. Jean Wilson, trophy; Max Sumner, membership; Roy Wilson, constitution; Mrs. Shirley Smith, social.

Mr. Sumner is a new member of the club and has had considerable experience in club work in England and has had German Shepherds for a number of years. Jerry Monkhouse will assist Mr. Wintour with the training program.

One of the club's new members, Mrs. Emily Gerricks, took Best of Breed at the association's recent sanction show with her American-bred Jezebel of Briardale. Judge was George Jerman, owner of the only Canadian-bred dog to become Grand Victor of the United States in his own breed. This dog is Ch. Major of Northmere.

Reserve Best in Show at the Cocker Spaniel Club of Central Ontario's sanction show was Count Brandy of De Grassi who was ably handled by the association's Mary Hart.

Plans for the association's first all-breed show June 13, 1953 are going ahead rapidly. Judges for the breed classes will be announced later in the year. German Shepherd judge will be one of the world's leading authorities on the breed. The show will be the association's specialty for the year.

Social event for the club was a euchre and bingo at the Wellers, followed by dancing.

In closing the association's notes, particular tribute is paid to a truly great lady—Ch. Mink-V-Steglich who created a record for Best in Show awards won by a German Shepherd. Congratulations to her owner, Samuel Back.

Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association

By MRS. MELITA WOOD

Keeping in mind that today's children are tomorrow's breeders and exhibitors, the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association has instituted a junior auxiliary for children eight to 15 years. Monthly classes on all phases of dogs—obedience, showing, feeding and others —are all designed to instil at an early age good sportsmanship and good fellowship.

The club has planned for this class a summer picnic and a winter party where a registered puppy will be awarded the winner of a year-end essay contest. The children will be allowed to state breed preference on the entry form. The club hopes it can gain the co-operation of other clubs or individual breeders in the event that an essay winner prefers a breed our club members do not have. Any offers?

It is hoped that the children will be useful at shows in the matter of exercising and even showing. They will wear armbands to identify themselves with the class.

First class was scheduled for Dec. 26 at the home of acting president, Mrs. Melita Wood, where a tour through the kennels was arranged. Special instructions went out to bring paper bags to cover their feet while in the kennels —a precaution against bringing in outside germs.

Springer Breeder Dies in New York

By PHYLLIS SMITH

The death of Mrs. Russell P. Evans of Clarence, N.Y., brought a great loss to the Springer Spaniel fancy. The Evans have bred many top winning Springers at their Hampton Acres Kennels, including such "greats" as Can. and Am. Ch. Walpride Sandeman and Ch. Happy Knight.

Muriel Evans was also a judge of note and was to have judged the breed at the famous Westminister Kennel Club show in February.

Maritime Notes

By GEOFFREY G. RYDER

Club activities in December, usually at a minimum, did not prevent the entertainment committee of the Halifax Kennel Club from arranging a most enjoyable dinner dance November 29 at nearby Lakeside. About 60 members attended. After the dinner the president in a neat speech explained they were there to say farewell to two members who for the past nine years had in every way been most devoted to the club and, although it gave the members sincere pleasure to honor Lieut.-Col and Mrs. A. E. Earchman, he knew all viewed their departure to Fraserville, Ont. with regret. He then turned the tribute over to Sam Kominsky, a past president, who gave a most interesting résumé of the Colonel's doggy activities.

At one time, he said, the Earchmans had Irish Setters and later a team of Huskies while stationed in Northern Ontario. These dogs did not prove speedy enough to win the "Derby" so he procured a team of German Shepherds. These again were not quite fast enough to win. But a dog show was organized in South Porcupine after the race and the Colonel unhitched his lead dog and went Best in Show in the ring. For that a very fine cup was awarded and, of all the many trophies the Earchmans have won it is the most valued.

Both Colonel and Mrs. Earchman were familiar figures at shows in the Maritimes. In bidding them farewell on behalf of the club, Sam presented them with a fine table lamp. The Colonel was visibly affected and thanked the members for their gift and the entertainment for both his wife and himself. He said the nine years he spent in Halifax would always stand out among their happiest memories, not alone for the success of his Wire Fox Terriers, but for the privilege of living among and competing against such good sportsmen and sportswomen. The evening was brought to a close by Colonel and Mrs. Earchman dancing an old-fashioned waltz under the "spotlight" to Auld Lang Syne.

A letter from a new Bulldog fancier, G. R. Johnston, of Truro, seems to have the right idea in that he is starting out with first-class basic stock. He informs me he is importing an outstanding stud which was best Canadian Bred at the Windsor Show last summer.

A call from Edison R. MacNeill, of Dartmouth, N.S., informs me of the triumph of his wonderful home-bred Cocker, Can. and Am. Ch. Penhorn's Son of Prophet at the Liberty Bell Cocker Spaniel Club's Specialty Show at Flourtown, Pa. He won Best in Show, defeating 126 other Cockers from all over the U.S.

May I express the very sincere hope that 1953 will bring to each and every one of you, health, prosperity, and all that you could wish for both you and your dogs.

Have you ever wondered why the dog has so many friends? Could it be that it is because he wags his tail and not his tongue?—(Contributed)

Winter activities have drawn a great deal of interest and the planning for them was very well done.

Guest speaker at the October meeting was Dr. J. C. Berry of the University of British Columbia who spoke on animal genetics. This talk was very interesting and informative—so much so that Dr. Berry will be a welcome speaker at any future meeting.

In November the club held open house for the fancy showing the film "Parade of Champions." Club members had an opportunity to see their breed in action and a chance to see the dogs that had previously only been pictures in a magazine. It was gratifying to see so many other breeders accept the invitation.

The balance of the winter's meetings will be instructional.

London Canine Association

By MIKE NIELSEN

Several big changes are planned by the London Canine Association when it stages its next dog show. This was decided at the club's meeting November 19.

President Fred Hessel presided over the meeting which also voiced its appreciation of the boost given the recent three-day circuit by DOGS IN CANADA.

All details, large and small, of the recent shows were discussed. Definite plans were not announced.

The Association voted a donation to a London family which recently lost several Chihuahuas from dog poisoning.

The Christmas party of the Forest City Kennel Club of London, Ont. was held Dec. 3 at the home of Miss Lena Shortt with 29 members in attendance. A short business meeting preceded the festivities.

Reports regarding the recent inter-club meeting at the Progressive Kennel Club meeting in Toronto were given by President Bud Hill and George Spinks. A discussion followed the reports.
