PICCADILLY BULLDOG KENNELS REG.

Champion Piccadilly Bod of Bodian
Born March 31, 1954
English Import

PRESENTING CHAMPION BOD OF BODIAN — a top representative of the famous strain of Kippax winning bulldogs.
Made his championship while very young, even taking a four point show at six months of age.
Winners or better every time shown and has defeated every bulldog he has met.

55 lbs. of bone and muscle. Rich red brindle white. Largest ribs and shortest back we know of.

His sire Bodian Bully was best dog in show three times in 1954 at England's top shows. Mrs. May Ellis, editor of The British Bulldog and one of England's foremost bulldog critics writes: "Bod of Bodian is a better dog than his sire at this age and should beat some of the very highest priced English exports if judged in honest competition."

His dam twice gold medalist. His dam's pedigree is equal to his sire's. Something seldom seen. His grand sires Kippax Jimmy and Tri Int. Nat. Ch. Juneters Ace are too well known to mention. Ch. Maelor Uplifter, Ch. Easter Sensation of Wiggin 13 C C (3 times), Ch. Superb of Wiggin, Ch. Maelor Solarium and other top English winners are all close up. Use all the top English winners at one breeding.

DOGS IN CANADA.

Your July issue carries a letter from Charlie Hawley, the 13-year-old Toronto boy with the allergy case. It came to me that quite possibly I might have the answer for the youngster and any other readers that have dog-affected allergies. Some years back the L. S. Green Associates in New York City were asked to develop something that would help the workers in the vital Los Alamos laboratories, who were allergic to furred animals, so necessary in their studies. The Green folks came up with "DUST SEAL" which worked perfectly and much hurried the necessary atomic studies. They were able then to turn their energies into the field of all who are thus affected, and under their own controls put out samples. Worked exceptionally well and much verified testimony came in. Being conscious of the duty owed my readers in our three newspapers, we "field tested" under our own controls for about a year, and finally were able to write a piece for my New York World-Telegram and Sun dog columns, fully endorsing the efficiency of "DUST SEAL". I would suggest that readers see if the product has yet reached Canada. The only place of which I am sure the product is sold in quantity is the Pet Dept., of Gimbel's, Broadway at 33rd St., NYC., and a query there would likely get a supply, or possibly a contact with the L. S. Green Associates, 160 West 59th St., New York 19, N.Y., who could advise where the product was available in Canada. Even the staid New York Times had a piece recently on a woman working with burros who was thus cured of her "furred" animal allergies. Trusting this may be of help to you afflicted readers.

Sincerely,

JACK BAIRD.

. . . I want to compliment you on at least one super feature in each magazine we have had — referring particularly to Canine Caravan in May edition and Cryptorchids in June. The latter was most enlightening in a clearly written manner.

I think our national dog magazine "Dogs in Canada" compares most favorably with the Dog World for its size and the photographs are much better than any magazine.

CAIRNDANIA

CAIRN TERRIERS GREAT DANES

Eng., Am. and Can. Ch. Redletter McRuffie, and Am. and Can. Ch. Cairndania McHolvex, shown winning Best of Breed and Best Opposite Sex at Cairn Terrier Club of America Specialty at Chicago, April 1 in record entry of 76. The Judge, Miss Bengough, of England, is the well-known breeder and owner of the Twobus Cairn Terrier.

CAIRNDANIA also won Winners Females with Am. and Can. Ch. Balkaren Amber of Devon-Sea and McRuffie was Best of Breed at Int. the following day.

Starting with the Cleveland Show when McHolvex was second in the Group Cairndania has topped the Breed at every Show in the United States at which they have been shown, including the Westminster and Morris & Essex shows – and in Canada, with one exception. They have also been Best of Breed and McRuffie has won 5 Terrier Groups. In the United States he has placed on several occasions in very hot Terrier Groups.

His son, Balkaren Ruffin of Cairndania – although just 13 months of age – has finished his American Championship (subject to confirmation). His wins include Best of Winners at Morris & Essex.

His daughter, Greysarge Flare was Reserve Winners at the Specialty and is within a few points of her American Championship.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

Since assuming the responsibility of producing "Dogs in Canada" your publishers have been devoted solely to reporting on and furthering the interest of purebred dogs in this country. "Dogs," of course, is also the official voice of The Canadian Kennel Club.

It should be stated clearly that any matters of a personal or political nature are not the concern of this magazine nor will be at any time, despite rumours that have come to our attention. It is our policy to publish a completely unbiased dog magazine, with attention given to all breeds.

"Dogs in Canada" is a meeting place of ideas for breeders and individual owners. Your suggestions, constructive criticism and co-operation will be sincerely welcomed.

DR. A. C. Andersen, who with Dr. G. H. Hart wrote the article on Kennel Construction in this issue obtained considerable field experience in kenneling in his own as well as other kennels in the western and eastern states. As specialist in the University of California from 1951 to 1954, the A.E.C. Project 4 was developed while completing the Ph.D. requirements in comparative pathology. He is now in charge of this project as associate specialist on the Davis campus. Dr. Hart, who retired in June, 1954 as dean of the Veterinary School, University of California, is now in Australia.

During the recent show held at Burlington, Ont. we asked several exhibitors of Red Setters how they coped with the tendency of the breed to make friends almost too readily and to wander at will. No trouble at all, they replied cheerfully. Never a worry since the dogs were Obedience trained.

COMING: Beloved of thousands in Canada, the Boxer will be featured in the September issue. Breeders wishing to take advantage of this promotion should reserve space now.

It is not too early for breeders of sporting dogs to plan their promotion for the October Hunting issue. This number will really pay dividends. Not a day too soon, either, to schedule space to promote kennels and stock for Christmas giving.

Jack Baird, who writes with a pixilated pen, and has a typewriter that elevates the letter 'm', has written the lively feature on The Weimaraner in this issue. A prolific writer, Mr. Baird is the author of the book "Pet Weimaraner", writes for magazines, canine and otherwise. He plans to attend the Obedience Trials to be held at Ste. Adele, Que., Sept. 18, under the auspices of the Montreal Dog Obedience Club.

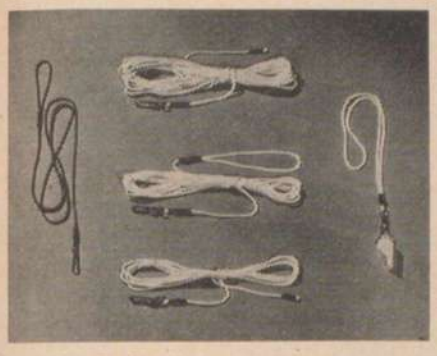
Mrs. Homer Kepler's three generations of International Champion Weimaraners shown on the cover epitomize the results of the rigid breeding standards of this all-round, yet highly specialized animal. Foundation of her kennels is Int. Ch. Ann's Sydney Sue, first International Champion of her breed in the United States.

SHOPPING CENTRE

New, low prices are announced on 50-foot Nylon field check cords for use by both amateur and professional trainers.



Hand-crafted of genuine government-tested Nylon, the cord is said to run smooth in the heaviest cover, is not affected by salt or fresh water, will neither stretch, mildew or rot. Actually stronger than rope, with a breaking strength of 600 pounds, finished with strong nickel snaps. Enquiries should be addressed to Sam Green, 2236 Lumpkin Rd. South, Lumpkin Terrace, Columbus, Ga.

Zippered Mattress

New in this country are the Hendryx metal dog beds we saw at the Dog in the Window shop, Toronto. The mattress cover is zippered for frequent launderings. What about the mattress stuffing? Easily disposable shavings which go out of sight and scent when soiled. Made by The Andrew B. Hendrix Co., New Haven 11, Conn.

No luxury but a necessity is a proper mattress for your dog to keep him off a cold drafty floor. Fur coat or not, you wouldn't sleep on the floor yourself, would you? Our search for the proper type of bed led us to the Kumfort Manufacturing Company at 79 Sudbury St., Boston, Mass. Their mattress, they tell us, is not a pad. It is made of first quality materials, four inches thick, and cedar treated for flea control. Available in a wide range of sizes, and sensibly priced for the smallest Chihuahua to the largest Great Dane, the bed is sold direct to dog owners and shipped express collect. THE WEIMARANER, by Jack Baird

The Weimaraner is a breed that you could not adequately cover in a huge volume, or which you could dismiss in a paragraph, depending on whether you are pro or con. Let us admit that the "gray ghosts" rate number one for controversy, and let us at the same time discount the lurid claims that were made while the breed was going through "growing pains" in North America, and thus suffered the penalties that are assessed against anything that is over-publicized.

As far as the records show, the Weimaraner is now in its 145th year as a recognized purebred dog. He was created originally as an individual, distinctive hunting field partner, starting out at a time when there was much big game. The better your dog at that time, the better was your table set, and believe me, no one of the favored few that had the gray ones ever died of malnutrition.

Came the time when big game was less plentiful and the breed had to be switched to smaller game—birds in particular. He took the transition well, and came from being primarily of the houndish-type of field worker to fit into the pointer-retriever style of worker.

We can say in all sincerity that we have verified reports of the Weimaraner doing an excellent job on furred game, of others being excellent in trailing the big stuff like cougar, and of a larger third group being all that the owner desired in a "meat" dog on feathered game. You pay your money and you take your choice as to which you wish your pet to do, and then you work like mad to train him for that field. Don't, however, get sold on the idea that he can do all three of these things on successive days, merely on your whisper into his ear that you want a certain thing on the day.

Brains he has in quantity, and the only handicap of the Weimaraner is the human hands into which he sometimes falls. Show us a bad one, or a failure, and we'll show you that the human element fell down, possibly in the unwise selection of parents, more probably in rearing and training. He is an individual from the day he is whelped and you must treat him as such. Not even two from the same litter can be handled exactly in the same manner.

The Weimaraner has more than proved his sense in the only proving ground for all breeds, obedience. Some of the greatest performers in this field have been the "gray ghosts", as witness the records. The only world record that can never be beaten in the United States is held by Grafmar's Ador, who had his CD at the tender age of six months and two days.

As a show dog he has his moments, as witness the many group awards and the scattered bests in show. Wiser breeding would produce more sterling physical specimens that could score more consistently in the show rings of the continent.

Wiser use is being made of the great field dogs in breeding programs and the list becomes longer of those that are placing and even winning in open field trial of account. The material is there and all it needs is wiser breeding, more intelligent handling and training and a consistency of purpose.

The Weimaraner is truly a glamour dog of sterling character (when bred right), a joy to behold, a dream with which to live, a guardian of life and property without peer, a trailer of lost humans unexcelled. In fact, he's a dog whose limits are those of his human companions, and these he usually can outthink. Live with one for ten years and you'll know.

THE WEIMARANER STANDARD

Herewith is presented the present (approved Dec. 8, 1953) standard for the Weimaraner. It is well to remember that like all breeds new to the country, this standard is subject to change, depending on how many of the Weimaraner Club want to get it back to the basic standard of the land of its creation.

General appearance—A medium-sized gray dog with light eyes, he should present a picture of great driving power, stamina, alertness, and balance. Above all, the dog should indicate ability to work hard in the field.

Height—At withers, dogs 25 to 27 inches; bitches 23 to 25 inches.

Head—Moderately long and aristocratic, with moderate stop and slight median line extending back over forehead. Rather prominent occipital bone and trumpets set well back, beginning at back of the eyesockets. Measurement from tip of nose to stop to equal that from stop to occipital bone. The flews should be moderately deep, enclosing a powerful jaw. Foreface perfectly straight, delicate at nostrils. Skin tightly drawn. Neck cleancut and moderately long. Expression kind, keen, intelligent.

Ears-Long and lobular, slightly folded and set high. The ear when drawn snugly along the side of the jaw should be approximately two inches from the point of the nose.

Eyes—In shades of light amber, gray or blue-gray, set well enought apart to indicate good disposition and intelligence. When dilated under excitement the eyes may appear almost black.

Teeth—Well-set, strong and even; well-developed and proportionate to jaw with correct scissors bite, and upper teeth protruding slightly over lower teeth but not more than one-sixteenth of an inch. Complete dentition is greatly to be desired.

Nose—Gray.

Lips and Gums—Pinkish flesh shades.

Body—The back should be moderate in length, set in a straight line, strong, and should slope slightly from the withers. The chest should be well developed and deep, shoulder well laid on and snug. Ribs well sprung and long. Abdomen firmly held; moderately tucked up flank. The brisket should drop to the elbow.

Coat—Short, smooth, and sleek in shades of mouse-gray to silver-gray; usually blending to a lighter shade on the head and ears. Small white mark allowable on chest, but not on any other part of the body. White spots that have resulted from injuries shall not be penalized.

Legs—Forelegs—straight and strong, with the measurement from the elbow to the ground approximately equalling the distance from the elbow to the top of the withers. Hindquarters—well angulated stifles and straight hocks. Musculation well developed. Feet—firm and compact, webbed, toes well arched, pads closed and thick, nails short and gray or amber. Dewclaws—allowable only on forelegs, there optional.

Tail—Docked, At maturity it should measure approximately six inches with a tendency to be light rather than heavy and should be carried in a manner expressing confidence and sound temperament.

Gait—The walk is rather awkward. The trot should be effortless; ground covering should indicate smooth coordination. When seen from the rear, the hind feet should parallel the front feet. When viewed from the side, the top line should remain strong and level.

Temperament—The dog should display a temperament that is keen, fearless, friendly, protective and obedient.

Very serious faults—Any long-haired coat or coat darker than mouse-gray to silver-gray is considered a most undesirable recessive trait. White, other than a spot on the chest. Eyes any color other than gray, blue-gray or light amber. Black mottled mouth. Non-docked tail. Cryptorchidism. Dog exhibiting strong fear. Viciousness.

Serious faults—Poor gait. Very poor feet. Cowhocks. Faulty backs, either roached or sway. Badly overshot or undershot jaw. Monorchidism. Snipey muzzle. Short ears. Yellow in white markings. Undersize.

Faults—Doggy bitches. Bitchy dogs. Improper muscular condition. Badly affected teeth. Back too long or too short. Faulty coat. Neck too short, thick or throaty. Low tail set. Elbows in or out; feet east and west.

Minor faults—Tail too long or too short. Pink nose. Oversize should not be considered a serious fault, providing correct structure and working ability is in evidence.

The Canadian Scene, by Kaye Peer

A group of Weimaraner owners made news recently when they formed the first Canadian region of the Weimaraner Club of America. Because of the increased interest in the "wonder dog" in this country, owners felt they could better further their common interest with a Canadian organization. Because the "Gray Ghost" is primarily a hunter, field trials play a vital role in the lives of the dogs and their owners. Many of the American Trials are held at widely spread points across the continent, making it impossible for Canadians to follow them to any degree.

The Canadian members are also members of The Weimaraner Club of America, and some are members of the German Club. Their operation, including their own Field Trials, will continue under the auspicies of the American club rules. As in the case of the main body, a prospective owner must join the Club before purchasing, and the same rigid rules apply regarding breeding.

Currently there are approximately 60 Weimaraners in this country. The first litter in Canada arrived on Sept. 2, 1949, sired by Grafmar's Citation out of Grafmar's Super Silver Dusty, owned by

KENNEL CONSTRUCTION AND MANAGEMENT

In Relation To Longevity In The Dog

By Dr. A. C. Anderson and Dr. G. H. Hart, Davis, Calif.

(Reprinted from Journal of the American Veterinary Association)

This report deals with kennel ground planning, construction, and procedures as evaluated from the standpoint of the animals' well-being. For the past three years, the School of Veterinary Medicine at the University of California has been engaged in establishing a kennel for longevity studies with a large number of dogs. Although many acceptable kennel designs exist, dimensional and operative data in relation to epizootiology and animal behavior are scant or lacking. The data presented in this report give promise of wide application wherever dog kennels are to be maintained for research or commercial purposes.

This experiment is primarily concerned with the life span of the normal dog as compared with that of animals receiving varying doses of total body x-irradiation as discussed by Blair.[1] The animal's longevity, the period of existence between birth and death, depends upon genetic background, care, and environment. From these factors are derived the principles of basic animal husbandry which take into consideration inheritance, nutrition, exercise, protection from the weather, contentment, and the control of disease and parasites.

Aside from accidents, including disease in the broad sense of the term, the life span of an animal is dependent upon its gene complex. This determines the progress of factors causing the various body structures to age. Therefore, efforts have been made, in establishing this kennel, to insure a healthy genetic background and to provide conditions that minimize accidents. Lansing[2] states, "The fact is that we know very little about aging." The causes of death in man as listed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company[3] are many, but purely old-age phenomena have not been definitely determined. Little as is known about aging in man, even less comparable data are available for animal life, including the dog, and yet all species have old-age characteristics if accidents can be prevented long enough for them to become manifest. This study was established to provide a basis for comparing the variations developing from the effect of total body x-irridiation.

Large numbers of dogs are needed to obtain a valid explanation of the causes of death. An aggregation of animals, however, favors an increase in morbidity and mortality due to infectious disease. Thus, in this kennel, every effort has been made to provide optimum conditions for normal life in a number of dogs.

Assembling the Experimental Animals

The Beagle breed was selected as the experimental animal because of the dogs' moderate size and weight, medium length of hair in two or more colors, and even disposition, and also because they are adapted to packs and do not require cosmetic surgery, although their penetrating bark and wandering tendency are objectionable.

This experiment required a minimum of 350 dogs. Females were preferred, to make possible the accumulation of measurable reproductive data. Also, the female has less aggressive tendencies than the male, and excretes urine directly on the ground. To obtain this number of females, a breeding colony was started in June, 1951, and completed in April, 1952. Eighty purebred females and 7 males were obtained from kennels and individual dog owners. In these animals were represented the variations within the standards of the Beagle breed.[4] In addition, 5 nonpedigreed Beagle-type females were obtained to lessen the possibility of breed sensitivity. This group of animals was held in isolation for one month, during which time 15 females and 1 male were culled because of undesirable characteristics. The remaining animals, constituting the breeding colony, were placed on the kennel site. The progeny from this colony supplied the experimental dogs.

The Experimental Kennel

An area 250 ft. by 450 ft., located about 1,000 ft. from the veterinary school buildings, was selected as the kennel site. It had previously been leveled for irrigation and consisted of heavy adobe soil. In this region, the annual temperature extremes vary from 20 F. to 110 F., with a high relative humidity in the winter and a low relative humidity in the summer.

Developing a ground plan for this kennel required several preliminary determinations: the desirable number of dogs to be placed together; the size, shape, and arrangement of pens; and the height and construction of the restraining fence. Satisfactory information was obtained after six months of experimentation.

It was found that the optimum number of dogs for each pen was 2, preferably unrelated animals. A dog placed alone in a pen often developed undesirable traits, such as pacing, digging, or jumping. When pacing, the animal constantly trotted back and forth over a given path in an obsessive manner. Such an animal consumed more food and remained in a thin but muscular condition. Paired dogs in neighboring pens then acquired the habit, and it appeared this activity could spread throughout the entire kennel. Placing more than 2 animals in a larger pen resulted in frequent quarreling and occasional serious fighting. When 8 females were placed in one large pen (25 ft. by 35 ft.), 1 of them soon became the leader. A fight started by the leader would draw in the other members of the group and end in the victim's death. Three deaths occurred in this manner in five months.

Several sizes, shapes, and arrangements of pens were tried. Paired animals covered more pen surface in their daily activity when allowed a minimum of 10 sq. ft. of ground per inch of body height. A rectangular pen of 1:2 proportions was found to be preferable. Smaller or differently shaped pens resulted in an uneven surface coverage and also led to digging or jumping. When the pens were close together, there was less tendency for the animals to attempt escape.

A ground plan, therefore, was designed as shown in figure 3. This plan included a 6-ft. cyclone fence surrounding the kennel site, with one entrance at the southeast corner and another on the west side. This enclosed area was covered with 8 to 9 in. of creek-run gravel to establish drainage. Elevating the original ground level with gravel has proved satisfactory in preventing standing water during heavy precipitation.

The two quonset huts located between the breeding and experimental pens (fig. 1) provide space for storage of feed and equipment, a field laboratory, office, and living quarters for a night attendant. The 168 experimental pens are arranged in 14 units of 12 pens each. Each unit has a 4-ft. concrete centre pathway with pen gates opening into the pathway at the adjacent corners of the pens.

Construction and Equipment of Pens

Each experimental pen (13 ft. by 29 ft.) provides 377 sq. ft. of surface area. The 5-ft., cyclone-type fence enclosing these pens is held in position by galvanized posts, with a top rail and spring steel wire at the base. Below the fence, a 6-in. by 10-in. concrete curb extends 2 to 3 in. below the ground level.

An underground water line supplies each pen with running water from a hose bib placed high enough above the ground to allow a 6-qt. pail to swing freely. Each dog is provided with an aluminum pie pan for feeding. An economical housing unit was constructed by slightly modifying the barrel design presented in the "Modern Dog Encyclopedia."[5] Two used wine or beer, oak barrels (capacity 20 to 30 gal.), raised off the ground by a redwood stand provide each dog with its own barrel, since few animals share their sleeping quarters. The barrels have their close ends facing the southerly rains and the open north ends protected by redwood boards placed 6 to 8 in. in front of the barrels with a vertical partition between the two entrances. This front supports a 3-ft. wooden platform covering the barrels for added weather protection.

Aluminum tinting of the platforms and sides of the barrels lowers the temperature in the barrels several degrees. On one warm day, a thermometer registered 97 F. under a nearby tree, 94 F. under a nontinted platform, and 92 F. under a tinted platform. This type of doghouse apparently affords ample protection, as heat exhaustion has not been observed in this kennel. Preservative treatment consists of coating the outside of the barrels with asbestos roofing tar and spraying the inside with raw linseed oil diluted with paint thinner (1:10).

Bedding material was not found to be necessary, since several types (sawdust, rags, paper, etc.), when placed in the barrels, were removed by the dogs within a few hours. The common bedsore has not been observed with this type of a housing unit.

Fig. 2.—This portable examination table is wheeled up to the pens for regular bimonthly veterinary examination of each dog.

Handling Puppies Raised in the Project

Puppies are weaned at 5 weeks of age. This is facilitated by feeding meat broth for three to four days before and after separating the litter from the dam. Each pup is then tattooed in the right ear with its litter number and receives avianized distemper and infectious canine hepatitis vaccines. The males are placed in the puppy runs (fig. 1), and the females are paired as nonlitter mates in the experimental pens. A second injection of infectious canine hepatitis vaccine is given when the puppies are between 7 and 8 weeks old. At 6 months of age, the pen number is tattooed in the left ear and also on the left flank, and photographs, showing the date and the dog's number, are taken as a further means of identification. The experimental dogs remain throughout their life span in the assigned pen, except for necessary experimental procedures.

Nutritional Regime

The diet consists of raw beef and compounded ration. Once or twice weekly, each animal receives between ¾ to 1 lb. of fresh frozen beef obtained directly from a local abattoir and consisting of cheeks, hearts, and oxtails. Oxtail, besides being a food, is excellent for de-tartarting and keeping the teeth and gums in good condition. The ration fed for the remainder of the week is compounded from foodstuffs selected as to price, availability, et cetera, according to methods used in the general feeding of farm animals. The following ration has been fed for the past thirty months:

Meat scraps, beef source	46.0%
Bread crumbs, bakery source	40.0%
Fish meal	8.0%
Alfalfa meal	1.5%
Blood meal	1.5%
Liver meal	1.0%
Dehydrated milk	1.0%
Salt	0.5%
Vitamins	0.5%

A—500,000 U.S.P. units per 100 lb. of microtized crystals;
B complex — 50 mg. each per 100 lb. of riboflavin, pantothenic acid, and niacin;
D — 5,000 U.S.P. units per 100 lb., irradiated yeast source.

These ingredients are mixed biweekly and stored in large covered containers. The mixture is prepared for feeding by adding warm water in a concrete mixer until the desired consistency is obtained. It is then emptied into a clean wheelbarrow and distributed to the dogs, each animal consuming approximately 2/3 lb. once daily.

A small quantity of fresh green feed is given to each animal every three to five weeks. Some dogs relish such monocotyledonous plants; however, this material does not appear to be essential to the diet. The dogs preferred barley grass to wheat or oat grass.

The diet must be complete. The criteria which assure this include its palatability and the occurrence of regular estrus, gestation, lactation, growth, fecal consistency, and general appearance of well-being. Over 150 litters have been raised on this ration without cases of eclampsia; neither has there been any difficulty in regard to palatability or the animals' general well-being.

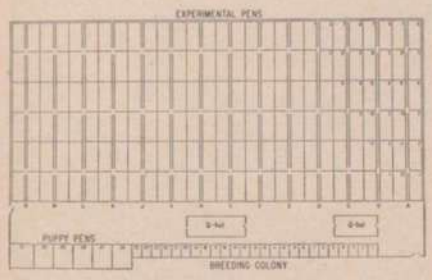

Fig. 3—Ground plan showing the arrangement of experimental pens, two quonset huts, breeding colony, and puppy runs.

General Kennel Management

The daily routine begins with feeding. One caretaker feeds approximately 125 dogs in individual feed pans in one hour. After feeding, the caretaker enters each pen, observes the animals, refills the water pail, removes the feces, and places the feed pans on the fence. Four units (96 dogs) are cleaned daily by each caretaker.

Each man works three, eight-hour days and three, five-hour days, then has three days off. The afternoons are used to tidy each pen, clean the feed pans and water buckets with soap and water, and wash the concrete pathways. One caretaker is required for every 52 dogs. This includes the foreman who also tabulates all observations in a daily record book.

The caretakers spend approximately two and a half minutes in each pen daily. This human relationship appears to be welcomed by the dogs and influence their manner during examination. However, to avoid having the caretakers favor certain animals while perhaps rejecting others, the men rotate one unit of dogs monthly.

Regular bimonthly veterinary examinations are made by bringing an examination table (fig. 2) to the pens. The body weight, rectal temperature, stage of estrous cycle, general condition (including hair, teeth, eyes, and ears), and other desired clinical data are obtained from each dog. This record and the daily information are tabulated in a separate file for each dog.

Psychological Reactions of the Animals

The tranquility of experimental animals throughout a life span in confined quarters is particularly important. Dogs definitely manifest social characteristics as shown by their manner of play, exercise, rest, and companionship.

The gregarious habits of this species are particularly noticeable when the animals in four adjoining pens get together. These social meetings vary between groups of animals but have a definite daily pattern. Some, after eating, form into a group for a period of time, then separate and exercise by playing with their pen mates. Certain individuals pay little or no attention to other animals, preferring to stay by themselves. The wire fence allows close animal contact but makes harmless any interpen arguments. This arrangement adds to the contentment of the experimental animals and makes a restraining barbed wire above the fence unnecessary. Approximately 400 dogs have been raised and kept within a 5-ft. fence and none has jumped the enclosure. Animals removed from their permanent quarters appear lost and show a desire to return to their respective pens. Digging into adjacent pens is not a problem.

The ground surface is also related to the animals' contentment. A gravel surface has the advantages of being movable, not becoming excessively hot or cold with weather changes, and allowing moisture to penetrate. Objections to this surface include the manual labor required to keep the pens tidy and the ingestion of gravel by the dogs. While it has not been a cause of death, gravel has been observed in the stools of a large number of dogs when blood meal or liver, or both, were excluded from the diet.

The additional surfacing of packed gravel with 2 to 3 in. of ¼-in. crushed rock has been found to be the most satisfactory surface. The platform above the barrels also contributes to the dogs' contentment, serving both as an observation post and a vantage point for teasing their mates in play.

Females in estrus show a definite change in disposition; a sociable individual often isolates herself from members of the group while tenseness may be observed in otherwise phlegmatic individuals. The female in mid- or late estrus may attract her mate for the purpose of riding in a sexual manner. Nymphomania has not been observed to create an adverse relationship between paired females. All of these sexual and individual characteristics may be modified by providing adequate housing quarters and a pen of appropriate size.

A healthy animal in an enclosure is alert to outside activity, demonstrating its reactions by running, barking, quarreling, or other pyschological manifestations. Outbursts of this kind may become annoying habits requiring control measures, in some cases drastic ones. In this kennel, surgery was necessary to control barking after other methods proved only temporary. Removal in large part of the vocal cords has both a physical and psychological effect. Following the operation, the animal continues barking, but the volume is decreased to a mellowed utterance and eventually the animal barks less often. Although the volume of the bark does increase somewhat a few weeks after the operation, it has usually been effective in modifying this habit.

Social traits should be considered in kenneling. This study shows that kennel design and management can influence the daily activities of the dog, including keeping it free from depression and preventing loss of appetite.

Epizootiology

This kennel offers a means for evaluating the effect of design, construction, and management upon the spread of parasites and diseases. The problem of disease control may be approached in two ways—either by the complete elimination of disease which, if possible in a larger number of dogs, would result in a high degree of disease susceptibility, or by fostering a low incidence of disease which would bring a certain degree of immunity. The latter alternative was selected in this kennel, as it more closely approaches natural conditions.

The epizootiology of infectious disease has been observed in this kennel both from trial challenges and natural invasions. Such evidences of disease as coryza, kennel cough, and pneumonia, when brought into the kennel by infected animals, resulted in a similar pattern of spread. When an animal was challenged by exposure, infection developed and an irregular and diminishing spread occurred. In each case, the disease gradually disappeared instead of increasing as might have been expected. In many trial challenges with dogs exhibiting the clinical signs of the distemper complex, no spread was evidenced by clinical manifestations, except for one instance. Following an exposure of 2 animals to an animal affected with distemper, which later exhibited "hard pad", the disease continued in the kennel for a three-month period, yet it affected only 15 of the 400 dogs (3.8%). The pattern of spread was similar to that described for the respiratory disease. Eleven of the 15 cases proved fatal, a mortality of 2.8 per cent from this virulent disease.

A general seeding of the parasites which infected the dogs took place during the assembling and establishing of the kennel. The foundation breeding stock and purchased experimental animals were isolated for a short period before being admitted into the kennel but, in spite of this preliminary examination and treatment, they again showed evidence of parasites after being placed on the kennel site.

DOGS and PEOPLE

Champion canine cuties from the United States and Canada will gather in Maple City Park, Hornell, next August 21 to vie for over $5,000.00 in silver money and useful premiums when once again the Southern Tier Kennel Club goes all out to attract the eyes of America to a small city of 17,000 dog lovers. Closing date for the show is August 8.

Scheduled as the 12th Annual Championship All-Breed Dog Show of the Club, this year's presentation is expected to attract a record entry of close to one thousand purebred dogs.

Topping the premium list is $250.00 in hand cut Hawkes crystal from the world-famous Glass Center in nearby Corning, N.Y. In addition, $50.00 in silver dollars will round out the Best in Show award.

Heading the pre-show entertainment will be the famous "get-to-gether party" offered to exhibitors by the club the night before the show.

The Damon Runyon Memorial Cancer Fund will, for the fourth consecutive year, benefit from the show.

The first convention ever to be held exclusively for dog food manufacturers will take place at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, Sept. 14-15. Subjects to be covered by some of the most outstanding speakers will include health, disease and nutrition of the dog, package design, sales motivation, showmanship, merchandising and market analysis.

Advance hotel and convention registration is being handled through the office of the American Feed Manufacturers Association, 53 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. and inquiries should be directed to this address.

Paul Palmer, executive editor of The Reader's Digest, Pleasantville, N.Y., heads the panel of 44 judges who will officiate at America's most important dog show—the competition of the Westminster Kennel Club. The show will be held in Madison Square Garden February 13 and 14.

Mr. Palmer's responsibility will be to name the best in show dog at the close of the two-day event. His qualifications are of the highest order. Having shown Airedale Terriers as a youngster, he has also owned prize-winning Sealyham and Fox Terriers as well as champion Pointers, Gordon and English Setters. He has judged many of the important shows on both coasts, including Boston, Chicago, Westchester and Santa Barbara.

Group judges approved by the American Kennel Club are Neill P. Overman, South Orange, N.J., Sporting; Virgil D. Johnson, Savannah, Ga., Hound; Mrs. Madeleine B. Baiter, Madison, N.J., Working; William Ross Proctor, Pittstown, N.J., Terrier; Miss Anna Katherine Nicholas, White Plains, N.Y., Toy; and Mrs. L. W. Bonney, Oyster Bay, N.Y., Non-Sporting.

Since no group judge is assigned any of the breeds, the final winner will have won under three different judges. The entry will again be limited to approximately 2,500 dogs which have won blue ribbons at previous American or Canadian dog shows (puppies excepted).

Because of the importance of Westminster, the club announces its panel far in advance so that exhibitors may know by whom their dogs will be judged.

Died — Mrs. Joe Dodds, whose loss is mourned in Vancouver, B.C. The funeral was held July 6.

Highly significant research discoveries in dog feeding were unfolded at a meeting of dog food scientists in Chicago.

Dr. Paul H. Phillips, University of Wisconsin reported on an attempt to isolate the cause for successful or unsuccessful reproduction, which may be governed by the exact level of protein included in the dog's diet. As the result of this work, in addition to research carried on at other universities and by leading dog food manufacturers, it is possible to know more exactly the levels of fat, protein, carbohydrates and many other health-giving elements that should be included in a dog's diet.

At the Boston Terrier Club Specialty Show held in London, Eng., July 6, Judge Alva McColl found her best dog in Ukansee Latest Model, a Canadian Bred Boston owned by Evelyn, Countess of Essex and exported by Jean Grant, Richmond Hill, Ont.

In a beautifully written essay called, "Man's Familiar Companion", published in 'Harper's New Monthly Magazine", more than 100 years ago, a now forgotten correspondent tells a number of dog stories that are as good today as the day they were written. One of the best is the story of the strange experience of an English officer travelling in Paris in 1815.

"An English officer in Paris in 1815, having occasion to cross one of the bridges over the Seine, had his boots, which had been previously polished, dirtied by a poodle dog rubbing against them. He in consequence, went to a man who was stationed on the bridge, and had them cleaned. The same circumstances having occurred more than once, his curiosity was excited, and he watched the dog. He saw him roll himself in the mud of the river, and then watch for a person with well polished boots, against which he contrived to rub himself. Finding the shoe-black was the owner of the dog, he taxed him with the artifice; and, after a little hesitation, he confessed that he had taught the dog the trick in order to procure customers for himself. The officer being much struck with the dog's sagacity, purchased him for a big price, and brought him to England. He kept him tied up in London for some time, and then released him. The dog remained with him a day or two, and then made his escape. A fortnight afterward, he was found with his former master, pursuing his old trade of dirtying gentlemen's boots on the bridge."

An entertaining story and picture layout on the boarding aspect of Mrs. Pamela Mack's Macksons Kennels Reg'd., appeared recently in the Montreal Gazette. Vacation-bound owners, it seems depart tearfully, while the canine boarders trot happily into their pens.

There was the lady who telephoned in two weeks to say she just knew Baby Jean hadn't been eating, and could some hamburger be bought for her. Mrs. Mack assured her that Baby Jean would not require hamburger if she hadn't eaten since her departure, "She'd be dead."

Then there was the gentleman who sailed for Europe but telephoned two days later . . . from the boat. About to leave on a honeymoon, a bride took Mrs. Mack aside and whispered: "My husband insists on changing the dog's name, but please break the news to him gently. I haven't the heart to tell him myself".

Mrs. Mack, a noted breeder, handler, and a Director of The Canadian Kennel Club, maintains a line of demarcation must exist between dogs and human beings.

'People who lavish too much affection on animals usually lack something in their relations with other people," she says.

Believed to be Canada's only homebred International Champion Collie, and the only male blue merle Collie, in the world to hold the title in two countries, Ch. Blue Minstrel of Ronas Hill won the final three points on his American Championship at the Staten Island Kennel Club Show, New York, on June 26, in an entry of 44 Collies. Owned by Mrs. G. F. Lovett of Ronas Hill Kennels, Stittsville, Ont., Minstrel has a record of consistent wins.

Halifax Show

The keenest admirers at the recent Halifax Kennel Club's 14th annual show were not connoisseurs of canine aristocracy. But they knew what they liked, and their praise was unrestrained. This particular group was made up of 135 youngsters from the city's Protestant and Roman Catholic orphanages who, cared for as they were, could not know the joy of owning a dog — any dog.

Guests of the show sponsors, the youngsters arrived at the Halifax Arena around ten in the morning, when they were turned loose to admire the dogs at will. Later they were treated to candy and ice cream. Other than the animated group, hundreds of adults thronged to see the largest dog show held in Halifax since the war years.

Ch. Cedarway Country Landmark.

The entry of 124 dogs, consisting of 35 different breeds was judged by Louis J. Murr, Spring Valley, N.Y., who assessed all breeds, general specials and Best in Show.

Detailed results will appear in the Show and Trial Results, here are the chief awards:

Best in Show—Cocker, Ch. Cedarway Country Landmark, owned by Aubrey Cox, Armdale, N.S. Best Canadian Bred in Show: Boxer-Valmax Aphrodite, owned by Mrs. Evelyn Bianco Roberts, Halifax, N.S. Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show — German Shepherd — Sheba of Fairbanks, owned by James F. Murray, Halifax, N.S.

A family of seven children attended a Sunday service as usual. They had just marched down the aisle, and rising from their prayers discovered two other occupants of the pew. It was their own pug dog accompanied by a large cat. The children thought the situation was ludicrous, all but the youngest, who departed with the animals and was too embarrassed to return.

Bred and owned by Mrs. Jouett Shouse of Washington, D.C., Ch. Atomic of Wolf Trap went Best of Breed at the Weimaraner Club of America Show June 4. Handler is Jane F. Kamp of Holliston, Mass., and Mrs. Francis V. Crane, Marathon, Fla., is the judge.

George Mitchell's Labrador Captures All-Age Stakes

Brant of Bardona, a black Labrador field trial champion owned and handled by George Mitchell of Edmonton, proved his class at Edmonton Beach recently by walking away with the important All-Age Stake victory in the Edmonton Sporting Dog Club's registered field trials.

Another black Labrador, Kinbird of Cutbank, owned and handled by F. M. Runnells of Edmonton, took first place in the puppy stake. McGraw, Percy Silk's chocolate colored Chesapeake, exhibited plenty of style in copping the non-winners event. Heather of Carmoney, a Chesapeake owned by Bruce C. Whittaker and handled by M. J. Coleman, made it an even split between the Labs and the Chessies by taking the junior stake.

An imported black Labrador, Broomeroyde Sweep, owned by M. J. Coleman, was named best-of-breed from a bench show standpoint, of all the competing dogs. Broomeroyde Sweep took third place in the non-winners stake.

Frank Cockrall's Baker's Black Jeff, as yet inexperienced in field trial competition, staged one of the most impressive shows of the two-day event when he placed second in both the non-winners and the open all-age stakes. Percy Silk's McGraw also drew dual honors finishing third in the open all-age.

From the standpoint of the number of dogs entered and the enthusiasm of the fans, owners and officials, the trials were the best staged by the local club to date.

Full details of wins will be published under Show and Trial Results.

ALL BREED SHOW

The German Shepherd Dog Breeders Assoc., Inc.

Can. and Am. Ch. Tailteann's Miss Gaiety, owned by Mrs. M. Eileen McEachren of Todmorden, Ont., adds another win by taking the Best in Show at the Third All-Breed Championship Dog Show of The German Shepherd Dog Breeders Association at Scarboro, Ont. June 18. Mr. Alfred LePine presents the award.

CLUB NOTES

Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club

by Mrs. D. B. Hudson

The Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club has completed a very successful year. At the Annual Meeting it was disclosed that 20 degrees had been awarded to our dogs by the C.K.C. from June 1954 to June 1955.

At our last Trial we were fortunate in having Miss Blanche Saunders as one of our Judges.

Having lured some entries from the States we are hoping that next year when we again put on All Obedience Trials, the strip of water dividing us won't seem so wide.

Miss Saunders gave us an evening to demonstrate her handling of different types of dogs. This was something new to Victoria and those who attended were thrilled to see her masterly successes. The Club's instructors were especially interested to note some new methods, which were not in her books.

One of our most interesting pupils last term was a man, sent to us by the Unemployment Bureau. A man without a dog. A Salesman of ability and keenness he was terrified of dogs and regularly bitten when calling on his clientele, mostly farms and out of the way places. We introduced him to all sorts of dogs and gave him a technique to handle his situations. I heard from him last week by phone. He was delighted that he had gone six weeks without a bite, although one dog had held his pant leg. He was sure it would have bitten him if he had not followed our advice and stood firm instead of making for his truck.

The Fall classes are filling up and we are looking forward to a full summer, with much entertainment, various displays and a Gymkhana. The Cowichan Dog Obedience Training Club cooperates with us in many activities and we share each other's fun.

Some of our dogs have done exceedingly well this year. Mr. G. Christie has a young Shepherd of great promise. He won highest scoring Shepherd in one of the last Trials. Mr. J. H. Green has a son of his well known Ch Labrador Hi-Park-Buddy U.D. who was unfortunately poisoned recently. Hi-Park-Buddy 2nd C.D.X. seems to be following in his father's footsteps as he only has one more leg in Utility to go. Another wonder dog was a Corgi, one from the Bhilwara Kennels owned by Mrs. I. Sherwin. This dog came untrained into our classes, his owner knowing nothing about Obedience training and took highest scoring dog in one of the Trials after 9 lessons.

Weimaraner News
By Helen Schulze

Sunday, the 19th of June, 1955, was a red letter day for our Weimaraners and their owners.

On this day the first Canadian region of the Weimaraner Club was formed in Toronto. The officers were elected as follows:

Mr. B. G. Schulze, Niagara Falls, Governor to the American Weimaraner Club
Mr. H. Paton, Toronto, President
Mr. P. Tomlinson, Toronto, 1st Vice-President
Mr. Bud Lomas, Toronto 2nd Vice-President
Mrs. B. Schulze, Niagara Falls, Secretary
Mrs. P. Tomlinson, Toronto, Treasurer
Mr. B. Tomlinson, Toronto, Chairman of Field Trials

Mr. and Mrs. H. Paton had invited Weimaraner owners and their dogs to the opening of the new swimming pool on their beautiful estate in Bayview, Toronto.

Ten dogs and their owners arrived to help celebrate this gay occasion. The afternoon was spent in fun field trial work, pointing and retrieving.

Supper and refreshments were served on the gaily decorated terrace. The host and hostess spared no effort to make this first get-together of the Weimaraner people and their dogs a very enjoyable one.

After the supper the forming of the club and election of officers was held and everyone went home feeling that a good day was spent both in enjoyment and work accomplished.

Dogs and owners came from London, St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Port Credit, and Toronto.

The Vancouver Junior Kennel Club

by Miss Kay Laughy

The Vancouver Junior Kennel Club have had a very busy and successful four months, with their monthly meetings, extra handling classes, rummage sales, teas and their displays at recent dog shows.

With her is Mrs. Dolly Wall and "Junior". Junior was offered by Mrs. Bailey of Portland, Oregon, as first prize in the examinations, which were marked on originality and neatness. Junior has now started his training in the Obedience field.

On April 14th a sale of home cooking, rummage sale and afternoon tea was staged by the Juniors in an effort to build up their travelling fund. Posters for advertising the tea were made by the children and placed in stores throughout the city. Mothers, fanciers, and others interested in the Club provided so many lovely things that almost $60.00 was added to their credit.

Moving back to the Victoria shows on April 9th, four children who won their Club tryouts were escorted by Mrs. Elsie Murray to compete with the Victoria Juniors in a handling display. Mr. Gene Hanlen and Mr. G. Bosley, both American professional handlers, did the judging. The Junior Boy class was won by Wyn Powell; Senior Boy, Ron Bouer; Junior Girl, Jackie Grenfell; and Senior Girl, Jinnie Grenfell, while Jackie went on to win "Best Handler". All four children are members of the Vancouver Club. Mrs. L. M. Wood of Victoria started the first Junior Kennel Club in B.C. and presented Jackie with a beautiful tray for her performance, and medals to each of the other winners. In the Open Class, in which none of the above members were allowed to compete, Jean Powell took first, Mercia Tripp second, Marion Powell third, and Richard Lewis of Victoria fourth.

May 22nd showed another display by the Juniors at the Western Canada Boxer Club Specialty show held in North Vancouver. Jackie Grenfell was again Best Handler under judge Mr. Alfred Putnam of Philadelphia.

The B.C. Ladies Kennel Club show of May 23rd and 24th showed a great many of the Juniors in the ring handling, and the Club has now been invited to put on displays at American Puppy Matches this summer.

The following Dogs were lost at Macksons Kennels in a fire on June 4th:

On June 5th, the Vancouver Dog Obedience Training Club staged an obedience trial at the University of B.C. with Miss Marion Powell and her Pekingese in the spotlight. Under judge Miss Blanche Saunders, Ming Wu took third in the Novice A Class and was top scorer in the toy dogs. Credit is due Mr. Don Hockin for his work in the training of the obedience and his help now on the Precision Drill. Also Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Tripp for their work on the handling, grooming and care etc.

On June 26th, 17 members of the Vancouver Junior Kennel Club were invited to the Yakima Kennel Club puppy Match to put on a handling display and precision drill. Members of the Yakima Club provided the dogs.

First in the display judged by Mr. Mel Wilgress of Seattle, was Gary Hartley; second, Ron Bouer; third, Audrey Roscoe; and fourth, Dorothy Simpson. All four winners were presented with a cup, and all the members received lovely dog leads.

The Juniors would like to thank Mrs. I. Powell, Mr. L. B. Nofield and Mr. Patrick Tripp for driving them to the Yakima Puppy Match.

Dachshund Club of Canada

by John M. Mahon

The June meeting was held at the home of Dr. Bridgman, at Burlington. Business arising from the highly successful Specialty Show was concluded. The resignation of the Vice President was regretfully accepted by the club. A replacement for the position will be selected at the next meeting.

Meetings for the summer months are suspended. The next meeting will be held the first Sunday in October at the home of Mrs. McKenzie, 1072 Trafalgar Street, London.

The agenda for the October meeting will include a panel discussion on breeding, blood lines and type, in the Dachshund breed. Members of the panel will be selected by the President.

Do YOU Own A "Scratching" Dog?

. . .If you own and are fond of a dog who, though clean and flea-free, is continuously scratching, digging, rubbing and biting himself until his skin is raw and sore, suspect that his trouble is due to an allergy which has set up an intense "inner itch." The dog is in torment and looks to you for help. Try this as so many pleased owners are doing. . . . At your Drug Store or Pet Shop ask for and get a package of Rex Hunters Antihistamine Dog Tablets, specially prepared for prompt relief and control of a dog's itching misery when due to allergies. Try it as per directions. Learn quickly what it will do for your dog. See if he doesn't love you for it. . . . If your dealer can't supply send $1.25 per box to Rex Hunters Products, Binghamton 488, N.Y.

The German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada

by Mary E. Southcott

Not only is our 33rd Annual Specialty Championship Show scheduled for September 17th shaping up beautifully, but plans are well underway for the Specialty Obedience Trial being sponsored by our Club in Toronto on September 25th. Two Specialties within a week's time seem like a gargantuan task for one Club to undertake, but our Directors and members are equal to it, as was proven last year. With the Oakville & District Kennel Club Show and Obedience Trial just the day prior to our Obedience Specialty, exhibitors are given the chance to compete in two Obedience Trials over one week-end. Since we shall be accepting post entries for the Obedience Classes up until one hour before commencement of judging, this will make it possible for those dogs completing a title at Oakville to enter a higher class the following day if desired.

The June Matinee Show at the home of members Mitzi and Max Frohle was highly successful, and even the downpour of rain did not dampen enthusiasm and pleasure. The July Matinee Show is to be held at the home of members Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Walker in Hamilton, and we are all looking forward to another memorable event, especially since the members of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Western Ontario are joining us for the occasion.

Some very worthwhile and valuable books on the Breed are being added to our Club library, and it will not be too long before we can boast of quite an extensive libarary for the benefit of our members.

Shepherds owned by members of our Club continue to do most of the winning at the various Championship Shows this year, and many are to be congratulated. However, with the hot weather which has arrived, local shows are not so numerous now, and doubtless the dogs are not sorry to be able to relax at home for a change over week-ends.

Summer being traditional vacation time, here's wishing everyone a safe and happy holiday.

Dog Lovers Association, Barrie

by Geoffrey White

Once again one of our members has been struck by tragedy among the dogs. In all too short a time two of our members have lost valuable Samoyeds, and another a thousand dollar Cocker through their wandering off the premises and getting killed. Now Jack Beaver's Labrador, trained and ready to start his Field Trials, has been missing over a week and it looks very much as if he has been stolen. Far too frequently experienced dog people learn the value of runs and good fences the hard way.

This Association can count among it's blessings the fact that it does not need very much in the way of funds. Nevertheless we have taken steps to raise a little as a stand-by. No doubt some good cause will be found to which we can apply them in due course. We must be almost unique as a dog club in that we are not particularly interested in money.

In lieu of the usual August meeting we are having our annual picnic. The film which Major Brimstin is making of the Association members and their dogs is well on it's way to completion and maybe the picnic will see it finished.

Oakville and District Kennel Club News

by Joyce Yarde

It was most gratifying to note the interest taken by Club members and friends in the Obedience Training Classes, just concluded in Oakville. At the final class last Wednesday a number of spectators turned out to see the progress that had been made by the students in the last ten weeks. Regular trial rules were observed — each entrant being given a number and being judged separately. Highest score was made by Mrs. Jean Howlett, with her Collie — second place was taken by Mr. Stewart Ware with his Boxer and in third place —Mr. John Broders with his Doberman. Mr. Willis was judged best handler. Mrs. Mary Southcott, who conducted the classes, judged the finals, assisted by her husband, Mr. J. Southcott. At the close of the trial, Mrs. Southcott was presented with a set of matched luggage by the Kennel Club, as a small token of appreciation for her kindness in coming to Oakville each week to conduct the course. It is hoped that most of the trainees of the Obedience Course will enter their dogs at the Oakville Show in September and with this in mind the Club is offering a special trophy for the Club member with the highest score in the Obedience Trial at the Oakville show.

In connection with the coming show, as the following is of international interest, it was thought it might be mentioned here—At the Oakville & District Kennel Club show, to be held in Oakville on September 24th., German Shepherds will be judged by Mr. Toni Kleinjohann, formerly of Cologne, Germany. Mr. Kleinjohann has bred German Shepherds in his homeland for 18 years, and has judged the breed in most of the larger Provincial Shows in Germany. A Chemical Technician with Tamblyn Drugs in Toronto he has, during the past few years, become a popular exhibitor. Much interest will be evinced in this, his first judging assignment on this side of the Atlantic.

The Club has always featured their poodle entries, and this year will be no exception. At the September show all poodles will be judged by Mrs. Harold Monro, of the famous "Firebrave Kennels", Chichester, Sussex, England. An author and breeder of poodles since 1936, Mrs. Monro is a member of the Ladies Branch of the English Kennel Club, and a committee member of The Poodle Club of England. She has judged at all of the larger Championship Shows of England, and has been selected to judge miniature poodles at the 1956 Cruft's Show.

New Brunswick Notes and News
by Robert B. Laskey

Show time is upon us again in New Brunswick. Here we have a three club, five show circuit in one week.

In Moncton city, the Moncton Kennel Club benches its show on Aug. 20th. The Fredericton Kennel Club will bench two one-day shows, Aug. 22 and Aug. 23. In Saint John they are to bench their "1885 Anniversary Shows 1955". It was here in this old Loyalist City that a small group of keen dog men, not satisfied with holding four ordinary dog shows, wanted their best dogs to be awarded honors for championship rating. For this purpose, they applied to the American Kennel Club for an official show License. This was granted.

This year, New Brunswick Kennel Club will again have two Canadian judges. Their two shows will be held in the St. Andrews Rink, Aug. 25 and 26.

These New Brunswick shows are becoming international events. We have a growing number from far away places exhibiting each year. It is now from California to Virginia; Wiscon. Mich. Ill., and other central States, also from New England; West and Eastern Ontario and Quebec, will have entries at these championship shows. So we are assured of keen competition, with a nice variety of breeds.

We in Saint John are to have the fourth lady judge to officiate here,—before it was Mrs. T. E. Kempt, Mrs. Wm. Constable, Mrs. P. A. Margeson and this year Mrs. Sturdee.

Recently the Maritime press news caused quite a doggy stir among us. We were informed that a well-to-do Dutch resident, Miss Jacoba Bregman, Garderen, Holland, had arrived in Cape Breton from Amsterdam in a chartered plane with a woman companion, her household effects and twenty three dogs, four of them Afghans. She is to settle on a 192 acre farm at Millville, near Sydney, C.B. N.S. She will in the future have many opportunities to show her various breed of dogs at the numerous shows held in the Maritimes each year. A warm welcome is assured this Dutch breeder with her dogs and her ponies.

Successful Field Trial
by Mrs. J. Gove

The Manitoba Gun Dog Association held a colourful Retriever trial on land and water in the vicinity of Petersfield on Sunday, June 19th.

Two groups of trials were held. In the Juniors event for dogs under two years of age, four dogs ran through a series of five tests. These consisted of short and long single marked retrieves on water, single and double marked retrieves in the field and finally double marked retrieves on water. This event was won by Spook of Delta, a 15 month old black Labrador, owned and handled by Peter Ward of Delta.

The Open All Age event, for dogs over 6 months of age, with twelve dogs competing, ran a series of four tests. Single and Double marked retrieves on land and water placed three dogs. The winner of this event, a male golden Labrador aged 5 years, Junior of Delta, handled by Peter Ward was closely followed by Goldie, a 2 year old Golden Labrador, owned and handled by Les Greene. Third place went to a 5 year old black Labrador male, Cap, owned and handled by George Duganis.

Mr. John Hall of Stonegate Kennels, Moorhead, Minnesota, assisted by Dr. Duncan Croll, of Winnipeg, judged all events. Mr. Hall commented very favourably on the improvement of the local dogs and handlers over last year's performance. He also congratulated the Association on the arrangements and running of the trial and particularly mentioned the work and enthusiasm of the gunners and bird handlers. The Secretary and Marshall of the trial was Ron Gilmour assisted by Peter Ward and his field men.

Following a short recess, for picnic lunch, Mr. Hall gave a demonstration of training and whistle control of dogs in the field with two beautifully trained dogs,—a Golden Retriever, Tuck of Stonegate, winner of the Open All Age in the Delta Stakes 1954, put on a masterly performance and as usual was a great showman. "Shad", a black Labrador, shared with Tuck to demonstrate both training and the carrying out of field and water events under competitive condition.

The Association will continue to run training events on Wednesday evenings at the Fort Whyte cement works in preparation for the registered trial, The Delta Stakes, to be held on September 3rd and 4th when many top performing dogs from Canada and the States will compete.

Boxer Club of Canada
by E. M. Salt

The annual Puppy Match took place on June 26 at Exhibition Park, Toronto. A fine entry of 54 puppies from two to eighteen months was capably judged by Mrs. Starkweather of Rainey-Lane Kennels.

Best puppy in match was Clancy, Miss Gertrude Stenhouse's lovely fawn male who went from Best Jr. Puppy to win the match.

Following the regular judging Miss Lorna Jackson judged two Junior Handler's Classes and two trophies were presented. Each child received an ice-cream treat following the event.

Four trophies were presented in each class and every entrant received several cans of dog food, so no one left empty handed. It was most gratifying to see the large number of spectators who came out; a great many bringing their pet Boxers for the outing.

A special vote of thanks goes to Mrs. Eve Whitmore for her untiring efforts, especially with regard to the trophies.

Following the match, a pot-luck picnic supper was held and again many thanks go to Mrs. Whitmore — her turkey was wonderful.

It occurred to me, following our annual Puppy Match, that the majority of those present gave no thought to the hours of work involved in arranging for an event of this kind. As usual, one or two members of the club did the lion's share of the work for which they received no recognition and the great majority of those present came and went with no thought as to the hours of planning and work that went into it.

There are also those who do not support the club—who criticize its efforts but who turn out for any special event, enjoy the fun of showing their dogs, perhaps take home several trophies — and go home to criticize again and are seen no more until the next specialty show or puppy match.

No club can carry on without support, and if one or two members are left to do all the work; if only a few turn out for monthly meetings, then that club is doomed.

So, how about it, you Boxerites? Come out and support your Club and keep it going!

Alberta Field Trials Club
by Zetta H. Phillips

Guy Burnett, prominent Amateur dog handler and trainer of Missoula, Mont., walked away with the major honors at the very successful Retriever Trial held by the Alberta Field Trials Club on June 18th and 19th. Mr. Burnett took first, second and fourth places in a field of twenty-four of the finest retrievers on the prairies in the Open All-Age Stake. First place went to American F. T. Ch. and Amateur F. T. Ch. Bitterroot Chink-ee, a black Labrador owned by Mrs. Burnett. This win completed Chink-ee's Canadian Championship, making him one of the select few holding all three titles. Second place went to Sentinal of Whitmore, another black Labrador sired by Chink-ee, and owned by Les Colby, of Missoula, and fourth place to Canadian F. T. Ch. Nelgard's Baron, a Chesapeake, well known in Alberta, and now owned by Cliff Brignall, of Anaheim, Calif. The lone Alberta dog to place in this tough competition was Wes Black Pete, a black lab. owned by F. W. Clark and handled by O. R. Koskinen, both of Calgary, who took the third place ribbon. Judges for this Stake were Johnny Brackenridge and C. A. Lindquist, of Calgary, and W. Herb Tait, of Edmonton.

In the Non-winners' Stake, judged by Mr. Burnett, C. A. Lindquist and Geo. J. Mitchell, the winners were: Ch. Valentine Jet, owned and handled by W. E. Madge, of Edmonton, in first place; second, Bullet of Avandale, owned and handled by Jas. Lowther of Calgary; third, Harvey's Rex, owned and handled by Floyd Toomer, of Magrath, and fourth, Flyway Tar, owned and handled by W. Herb Tait, of Edmonton.

Winner of the Junior Stake was January's Golden Ripper, owned and handled by Tom Moore of Innisfail, Alberta, Second place went to Dirk of Avandale, owned and handled by O. R. Koskinen, third to Bullet of Avandale, and fourth to Baker's Black Chief, owned and handled by R. H. Dobson, of Edmonton.

The Scottish Terrier Club of Canada

by Mrs. Harry Fraser

Our All Terrier show was on Friday, June 17th, and the setting was ideal, the day rather hot, but not unbearable. Our entries of all terriers numbered 86, and most of the breeds were represented. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Joel judged, awarding the wire Fox Terrier Eng. Ch. Quayside Drakehill Duncan Imp. Best in Show. It was a most difficult decision to make, but after much deliberation the nod went to the wire. Mr. and Mrs. Joel were commended for a fine job, and at the conclusion of the show, the President of the Club presented the judges with a handsome clock. The Cairn Terrier Club also presented the judges wire tumbler lawn stands.

All exhibitors, together with visitors, were asked to parade at the entrance at the commencement of the show, to follow the President of the club and his officers to the show ring and to be piped by a famous "Scot" playing the bagpipes. It was a moving spirit as the movie cameras clicked during the procession. Upon entering the main show ring the president asked that all open the show with singing God Save The Queen which, at the conclusion, commenced the second All Terrier Show sponsored by this Club.

The show was such a success that requests have been received from our exhibitors that this should be an annual affair, we hope that this will be possible.

Irish Setter Club of Canada

by Doris Dafoe

June meeting of the Club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Ionson, Clarkson, and took the form of a barbaque. At this meeting the Purina Company presented a very interesting film on training dogs for field work.

It was decided to hold a Field Trial, possibly in September, and this was to take the place of our Annual Members' Match and Picnic.

The Club has decided to include Obedience Awards in its Annual Award system, retroactive to January 1, 1955. With all the Fall shows coming up, it is still possible to train your Dogs over the summer months and enter into this competition. While speaking on Obedience, it is gratifying to report that we have two more Irishmen who have completed the necessary work for their C.D. titles — "Brigsain Seiger", owned by Mr. G. Howe and "Ch. Prince Rory of Kenten", owned by Mr. R. Dafoe.

The writer was very pleased to be present at the Irish Setter Club of New England Specialty Show at Framingham, Mass., and to see Mr. and Mrs. Polley's female, "Ardee's Dixie Gal", take Winners' Bitch and Best Opposite Sex.

The Cocker Spaniel Club of Central Ontario Inc.

by Mary McRae

Our Club is very happy to welcome the new members who have joined recently and also some of our good friends who have re-joined after too long an absence.

The club spirit has prompted us to arrange for a Booster Show to be held at the C.N.E. Dog Show, Sept. 2nd & 3rd. We have an attractive premium list and we hope this will provide the incentive for Cocker breeders who are not showing at present to bring their dogs out.

The Club held a very successful Puppy Match on the grounds at Brown-Lea Kennels on Sunday, June 19th. Mrs. Lilah Lymburner was the judge. The weather was excellent, everyone in good humour and we were treated to a look at some very promising young stock. Mr. & Mrs. Bob Austens' Hillhouse Hamish, a nice quality black, was judged Best Puppy in Match and Mrs. Doreen Browns' young black female, Vaunhaven's Varga Girl was Best of Opposite Sex. It was a very friendly get-together and we hope to make this an annual event.

German Shepherd Dog Club of Western Ontario

by Edna Summerfield

Our second matinee of the season was a great success with a large entry of dogs and some very promising young puppies out. A very nice lunch was served by all the lady members. The London Centennial Parade on July 1st had a feature in it that will long be remembered for the German Shepherd Dog Club of Western Ontario had a station wagon and 10 members with their dogs marching in it. The station wagon had it's hood covered with lovely flowers with signs on both sides welcoming the centennial visitors while the members and dogs marched along in the following formation, one lead dog then two, the station wagon with two lady members on each side of it, then two and one at the rear. A good hand was given this feature all along the 4 mile route with an even greater one when we passed the Queen's Park Grandstand which was packed with spectators. I am sure the club can feel very proud of those who participated in the parade for they did well on that very hot 1st of July.

AROUND THE OBEDIENCE RING

by Alan Sharp

The following article, written by Martin Thornhill, appeared in the Summer 1955 issue of the English publication, "The Countryman". I found this article very interesting and believe that its reproduction here should prove of interest to all dog obedience minded people.

DOG LANGUAGE

by Martin Thornhill

A Society concerned with the welfare of animals has compared dogs' language troubles with our own. A southerner unacquainted with the Yorkshire and Lancashire dialects finds these hard to follow. For a dog the difficulty is intensified. Dogs trained by Highland gillies and sent south are so confused by the speech of their new owners that as a rule they are useless until retaught.

An interesting example of this language difficulty was that of a gypsy lurcher. I had lately taken over a forest cottage, and while there I had performed some small service for a gypsy. In a chat soon afterwards I unthinkingly expressed a wish for a dog as pet and guard, and one evening my gypsy friend turned up with a young lurcher at heel. 'Take Pablo, mister', he said. It appeared that for some reason he could not keep the dog any longer; the animal was well trained and I was certain to like him. I accepted the gift, but the gypsy, wise in most things, overlooked one. He forgot to tell me, and I did not think of asking, what language the dog understood. Not one of my words seemed to have any meaning for the lurcher and I had to teach him all over again in my own way. Pablo did not mope, as often happens, partly, I suppose, because I liked him and made a fuss of him.

Some years later a Labrador bitch was lent to me by a friend who was going abroad for six months. Before he left, my friend had recounted all the things he had taught her to do, such as going straight home, lying down and walking to heel when told. She would, he had said, even remain rooted to one spot indefinitely unless given permission to move. Having been thus initiated, I concluded that the Labrador and I would get on well together; but it was soon evident that Susan would do none of these things for me. She moped and refused to eat, and even walks held little interest for her. Then I decided to find by assiduous elimination the words she knew. The moment I discovered the first she showed an awakened interest. Long before her master returned I had found them all, and Susan was responding to each with what I am sure was her old-time alacrity; her confidence had returned and she was happy.

It appeared that in each case the command consisted of a single word. This, I have since learnt, is vastly important. A dog is confused by needless verbiage and is best trained on the single-word technique, as I have proved with three dogs I have had since. After I had trained my present border collie bitch Jess to single-word commands, my children came home from school for the holidays and upset the regime by applying cumbrous commands of their own making. It was re-established only when the youngsters understood that Jess's vocabulary could never exceed a few words, and that each had therefore to be an important one for both her and them. There are, in fact, seven; and they cover all the essential obediences of a pet dog, if it is to be something better than a mere victim of lead and neglect At the word 'heel' Jess drops at once to a position away from approaching traffic. At 'go' she moves forwards again. She answers immediately to 'stand', 'sit' or 'lie' and 'to come' (or, of course, 'go') which releases her from those positions. The seventh word is 'path', which is useful when she is walking in the road and a car approaches; even if there is no path she at once hugs the hedge or fence.

Another advantage of the single-word technique is that a command is then easy to utter crisply and quickly. This is sometimes important. On one occasion a walk took Jess and myself across a busy arterial road, and we had reached our side of it when I saw a small unaccompanied child starting to cross from the other. Instinctively I ran over to stop him. Then I thought of Jess. Apparently she had waited, undecided, before attempting to cross; but now she had started to do so. She would almost certainly be run down by one of the many speeding cars. 'Lie!' I yelled, and she lay down on the kerb, waiting for 'come' before she budged another inch.

We take this opportunity to wish all our readers a very pleasant Summer and the best of luck in the coming trials.

THE ART OF HANDLING

Handling is a skill and a science. It can make or break a dog's career, and is an education to watch. Basically, a handler is a person well-experienced in at least several breeds, or all breeds, if he plans to work in a fairly broad field. In the first place, he should know as well as a judge what the dog should look like; how to emphasize good points while minimizing lesser qualities. A handler will know when a dog shouldn't pace in the ring, but trot. He should know the proper speed for the individual dog so that he appears at his best in motion.

Just as humans turn their better profile to the photographer, a dog can be set up to minimize a cow hock, or a tendency to turn out at the elbow.

Knowledge of how to hold the mouth is essential. With a certain number of teeth allowed missing in various groups, it is quite legitimate to hold a dog's mouth so that a missing tooth will not detract from his appearance.

Although there are many trade secrets handlers prefer not to divulge, successful handling boils down to having a feeling for the dog, with mutual confidence on the animals' part. A handler can tell whether an entrant is dragging or not moving right. He will know whether the animal has gone sour, or is tired or hot. Recognizing these signs, the attitude can be corrected to a degree. Many handlers, in fact, refuse to take a dog into the ring without getting to know it over a period of weeks.

A professional handler's life is not as glamorous as might appear. They engage in what could be termed a nomad's life with none of the carefree abandon of a holiday traveller. More than likely they are trying to reach a destination hundreds of miles from the previous show with sleep a matter of wishful thinking.

A handler fulfills a specific need. Many owners either cannot or do not wish to show their dogs personally. It may be they are nervous, tied down by business, or simply feel they are not in a position to show a dog at its best. Some owners prefer to watch their dog from the ringside, so that they may assess and compare their animals with others.

Conditioning and diet, training and temperament are all considerations in handling a dog. Bearing out the fact that there's more to handling than owning a smart station wagon and a stripping razor, the complete health of the dog must be part of the professional's responsibility.

According to Lorna Jackson, one of this country's busiest handlers, a dog should be like a well-formed athlete, with the exception of certain breeds. He should have balance, with no muscles or bones protruding, not overly fat, but well fed. Inner health will result in the appearance of the coat—length, texture and sheen. The firming of the flesh, the toning of the nerves is all part of the conditioning period.

True handlers, whatever their own methods may involve, agree that good health and good condition can be accomplished only by proper care of the body and all its functions, and not by doping with tonics or correctives, or any last-minute attempts at conditioning. As in the case of an athlete the proper amount of exercise must be given regularly.

A thorough study of canine anatomy is one excellent means toward understanding not only how a dog moves and looks as he does, but why.

Both handlers and their charges should be well schooled in ring manners. It's a matter of patient training to accustom a dog to various speeds on a leash, which may range from a moderate walk to a rapid gait. Here is one activity in which any number of the dog's personal preferences come to light. Some animals shy at objects, sounds or movements unfamiliar to him. Some like to run, others are hoppers, skippers or jumpers. Many dogs simply do not see any sense in standing or posing, and require every bit of patience available. Animal psychology in this instance very much follows that of people—everyone likes attention. The efficient handlers know when to coax, scold, when to offer a treat, when to be firm and when to stop training for the day.

An important part of the professional handler's work is trimming and grooming. A dog should be perfectly trimmed according to breed, and then groomed. You'll notice dogs groomed to the eyelashes getting another once-over-lightly before entering the ring. Much of the handler's work is unnoticed by the public and even the owner. Hours after an exhibitor has left the show, handlers are still working with their dogs, and often long before the owner arrives. Meals are frequently catch as catch can. Even if a good night's sleep is possible, it is often distrubed by restless worries about the possible performance of the dog and the judge's opinion.

If you are considering handling your own dog, you can't start too early. Taking him to shows, purely as an observer, will help condition him to ring noises and excitement. You can learn a lot, too, by watching how handlers feed tidbits to their dogs and when, to get a certain turn of the head, a keen look or a cheerful attitude. If you are one of the people who like to know the reason why, you will notice it is perfectly legitimate for a handler or owner to ask a judge nicely, after the conclusion of the event, why a dog was put down.

Children, according to professionals, can make excellent handlers. In fact, it's a joy to see a youngster doing a responsible job of bringing out the fine points of his dog. And who could be more justly proud of a win!

Repeated fecal flotation examinations have been made on these animals and their progeny during the past three years. Those animals showing evidence of parasites have been treated with a recognized therapy for the identified parasite. Probably no species of parasite originally introduced into the kennel has been eliminated, but the number of stools indicating the presence of parasites has progressively decreased to a low level, and the spread of parasites between pens has been reduced to a minimum.

How the movement of gravel between pens contributed to the spread of parasites was demonstrated by placing aluminum-tinted gravel in one pen and observing its movements as it was displaced by the dogs and caretakers. After some weeks, the marked gravel spread over several pens and even into neighboring units of pens. To restrict this movement, the coarse gravel was raked into a mound toward the center of the pens, the finer gravel remaining toward the outside of the pen. This facilitates the removal of feces, as most dogs defecate away from the housing unit in the center of the pen. The daily collection of feces, by shovel, includes some soiled gravel, about ½ cu. yd. of gravel being removed from the kennel weekly. This removal of gravel which has been soiled by feces and urine prevents excessive odors from accumulating, reduces the attraction for flying insects, and creates a more desirable working atmosphere.

Skin disorders and ectoparasites have not been a problem. All purchased animals were dipped in a 1 per cent solution of chlordan upon arrival and again after one week. Since then, fleas have not been observed. One infestation with lice in a few animals also was eliminated by dipping each dog twice at a weekly interval in a 1 per cent chlordan solution. Although several purchased animals exhibited skin lesions, including 3 which exhibited a dermatitis diagnosed as demodectic mange, spontaneous recovery occurred after the animals were placed in the kennel.

Conclusion

Three years of observation and experimentation indicate that optimum physical surroundings and management procedures have been established for normal canine growth and development. It is believed that the study of canine gerontology, which this kennel will make possible, will provide information of wide application for both commercial breeders and experimental scientists.

Summary

1) Basic animal husbandry principles were applied in establishing this kennel design and management.

2) Optimum pen size and shape was found to be 10 sq. ft. per inch of dog height in a rectangle of 1:2 proportions. Placing 2 unrelated females in each pen, with the pens arranged to allow group meetings, contributes to the contentment of the animals.

3) Eight to 9 in. of gravel covered with 1 to 2 in. of ¾-in. crushed rock is preferred as the pen cover surface.

4) Individual oak barrels, mounted on a wood frame with a board covering, provide an economical and efficient doghouse. Bedding material is not necessary.

5) A compounded ration supplemented with a weekly feeding of fresh beef has proved to be an adequate diet. Ox-tail is an excellent de-tartaring material. Eclampsia has not been observed in 150 litters on this diet.

6) One animal caretaker is required for every 52 dogs in the kennel. The daily removal of the feces from each pen ensures daily observation of the animals and prevents excessive odors. This daily human contact also improves the relationship between man and animal.

7) The infectious diseases which occurred in this kennel were observed to follow a definite pattern, diminishing as they spread. Internal parasites brought into the kennel have not been eliminated but remain at a low and subclinical level. Skin disorders, ectoparasites, and flying insects have not been a problem.

Mr. & Mrs. Benjamin Shulze, noted breeders and owners of the Heidehof Kennels, Niagara Falls, Ont. They had imported the mother from Boston, a grand-daughter of the first Weimaraners brought to North America by Howard Knight in 1938. Previous to this litter there were only two other known Weimaraner puppies in existence in this country—one in New Brunswick and the other in Saskatchewan.

The new group has planned a Field Trial for this month, states President Hugh Paton. For other news of the Club and slate of officers, see Club Notes.

Among the original members of the new Canadian group are Mr. & Mrs. W. De Boe, Mr. & Mrs. Michael Lo Presti, Mr. & Mrs. H. Harrison, Mr. & Mrs. P. Tomlinson, Mr. & Mrs. W. S. Tomlinson, all of Toronto; Mr. & Mrs. Benjamin G. Schulze, Niagara Falls, Ont., Mr. & Mrs. C. P. Hotchkiss, Erindale; Mr. & Mrs. T. G. Smith, Guelph; Mr. & Mrs. J. Jarrell and Mr. & Mrs. W. The woman busied herself with paper and pencil for a long time. Finally the doctor said, "That's a long will, isn't it?"

"Will, nothing," his patient snapped. "I'm just making a list of the people I'm going to bite."

What is the answer to the need for a higher standard of dog nutrition?

HERE'S THE PROBLEM YOU FACE!

Dog breeders and veterinarians have long realized that commercial dog foods vary considerably in nourishment and palatability. Even in individual brands these factors may vary from feeding to feeding.

What could be done about it? Gaines Research Kennels instituted a long range project for the study of this problem. The expense was justified because they came up with a practical answer.

THIS IS GAINES ANSWER—HOMOGENIZED DOG MEAL

Gaines developed a special homogenization process which combines the ingredients of Gaines formula into uniform, appetizing granules. This uniformity of nourishment is guaranteed in every package, every feeding, every mouthful! This is unique—Gaines Dog Meal is the only dog food you can buy which has this feature.

Each crunchy nugget of Gaines Dog Meal contains uniform amounts of every food element dogs are known to need. And this exclusive homogenization process makes it more readily absorbed, more palatable and easier to feed.

Homogenized Gaines Meal is our answer to the need for a higher standard of dog nutrition. It is an answer that has been endorsed by breeders and veterinarians whose recommendations have helped to make Gaines the largest-selling dog meal in the world.

We hope it is your answer, too.
