. . . I notice your column "Shopping Centre." This is a sound idea. Perhaps you can help me. I know there is on the market an article, "Plastic or rubber pants for bitches when in heat". Letters to the Editor

. . . My husband wrote some time ago for information regarding purebred dogs. We got an Irish Terrier puppy from Mr. W. J. Buchanan. She is almost five months old now and we are more than pleased with her. She is a real pet and is showing signs of having aspirations to be a watch-dog! She and our sixteen-months-old baby are practically inseparable, even at this early age. We have several books about raising dogs, but any suggestions would be appreciated.

MRS. MARGARET WEIR
London, Ont.

. . . To date I have not received my July issue of "Dogs in Canada". If you have an extra copy, would you send it to me as soon as possible. You have improved the magazine so much I don't want to miss a copy of it.

VICTORIA S. STURGE
Clarks Summit, Pa.

. . . We like "Dogs in Canada" very much, and will be shortly sending in an advertisement on the Weimaraners.

FRANK BUSH
Moose Jaw, Sask.

. . . First let me say how much I enjoy your magazine. It is nice to know what our neighbors across the border are doing and thinking. I am very much interested in German Shepherds and Newfoundlands. I would like to see more articles about these two breeds.

MISS PHOEBE R. McLAUGHLEN
Floral Park, L.I., N.Y.

Watch for November issue.—Ed.

. . . I think it is a mistake to discontinue the Advertisers' index in the front of the magazine as I think this is a great help to new members.

MRS. PEARL CURRIE
Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Currie's suggestion has merit, but an advertisers' index simplifies "looking up" to the extent that readers' attention is directly diverted to one breed. "Dogs in Canada's" new policy of reaching the public is not confined to providing more reader interest to the average dog enthusiast, but to help create a wider market for breeders.—Ed.

. . . Do you plan to have a section on pure bred cats in "Dogs in Canada"? Many Canadians have pedigreed cats, but there is no magazine pertaining to them.

A. W. LOCKE
Westminster, B.C.

We have been asked the same question numerous times during the past several months. The field of pure bred dogs, however, is so vast there seems little or no time for pussies.—Ed.

TRAINING BOOKS WANTED

. . . I was advised to write to you with regard to obtaining literature on training a German Shepherd. We have a German Shepherd, female, aged four months, and would like to train her correctly as soon as she is old enough. Would you kindly advise if you have the required literature?

MRS. GAI KUKKONEN
Whitefish, Ont.

. . . We were told by our farm paper to write you regarding training our pedigreed Cocker Spaniel, six months old and very wild and active. We simply can't get him to mind or come back when called.

ELMER MATTHEWS
Lowbanks, Ont.

. . . I have a beautiful German Shepherd dog five months old whom I wish to train. He seems to pick up commands very easy and with the proper training he would do better. So would you please send me any literature on above.

MRS. D. CARSON,
Angus, Ont.

. . . Please send me the book on training dogs. If there is any charge please send C.O.D.

MRS. FRANK DUNFIELD
Petitcodiac, N.B.

. . . Would you please let me know if you could send me some books on training dogs.

R. LACROIX
Rawdon, Que.

There are any number of books available on training. Other excellent volumes pertaining to specific breeds advise on training as well. See list appearing elsewhere in this issue.—Ed.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

The handsome duo of Weimaraners heading the article on this breed in the August issue are Champions Reinhard and Reingold Vom Heidehof, owned by Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Schulze of Heidehof Kennels, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Schulze have, among other accomplishments, the record of being the owners of the first litter of Weimaraners to be bred in Canada. Their Super Silver's Dusty was the first Weimaraner to be shown at a Canadian National Exhibition dog show.

Among near-future editorial plans will be a department for children, about children with some of the material by children who are active dog enthusiasts.

We would like to hear from youngsters who are owners, about their own experiences in caring for and training their dog, and if they are children of breeders, some of their duties in the kennels.

Many boys and girls still in their early teens have proven adept at handling, and are among the keenest pupils at Obedience Training classes.

COMING: The October Hunting issue is a timely one for all breeders of sporting dogs to display their stock and Kennels in the show window of Dogs in Canada. This promises to be an issue which will appeal to the public on a wide scale.

Fall is fast approaching, and so is Christmas. Special discounts will be given Christmas advertisers on a November-and-December consecutive order.

The German Shepherd will be in the limelight in November, with a rich, five-colour cover to introduce him.

It's true what they say about the Southern Tier Show at Hornell, N.Y., held August 21. Despite sweltering heat, dogs, exhibitors, townsfolk and your editor had a great day. Show Chairman Fran Maher and associates are to be commended for their hospitality, thoughtfulness and business-like management.

Among triumphant Canadians: Robert L. Blyth and Emerson Robertson, both of Streetsville, Ont.; Comdr. and Mrs. Peter Hopkinson, McDonalds Corners, Ont.; Mrs. M. Eileen McEachren, Todmorden, Ont.; William F. Hadley, Ottawa, Ont.; Roy N. and Mrs. Black, Barrie, Ont.; Margaret Thomas, Richmond Hill, Ont., and Albert and Mrs. Kaye, Unionville, Ont.

Nearly 600 dogs were entered, some coming from as far as Texas. More details in the October issue.

The Bar Sinister

Obedience training seemingly knows no limits. One idea of what can happen is the new M-G-M release, "The Bar Sinister", in which the canine cast has outbid the high-priced Hollywood help for drama and excitement.

Pure-bred, pure white Bull Terriers are the principal performers in the film version of Richard Harding Davis' famous story "The Bar Sinister", which is being released in Calgary early this month.

The story is about a Bull Terrier with a Bowery upbringing in which fighting and stealing are predominent. Scrubbed to the eyebrows, he causes a sensation at one of the swankiest shows in the country.

For this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture the requirements made on the canine cast were heavy—demanding sagacity, intelligence, emotional stability, trainability, as well as appeal.

Star of the picture is Cadence Glacier, C.D., renamed "Wildfire" for the movie. He was shown to his obedience title by his present owners Claudia M. Slack and Lillian Ritchell. His mother is played by Beaumont Lady of the Manor C.D.X., dyed to simulate the "old black-and-tan terrier". Lady was bred by Catherine Fallowell.

Doubling for the star was Count Cadence of Helix, C.D., owned by Miss Katy Ickis, bred by R. N. Little. Also doubling at times for the star was Serenade's Song of Songs, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reddick, bred by Mrs. Ritchell and Miss Slack. Ch. Cadence Ben Trovato, registered to Howard Chin, plays the father of "Wildfire", and several other Bull Terriers play minor parts. It is noteworthy that throughout the filming of the opus not one dog violated the precepts of his training, even in the simulated riot scene and other confusing episodes.

Sam Spade, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Higby is seen as the Bulldog character, "Jimmy Jocks." The philosophical old Labrador called "Captain" is played by "Ace", a 12-year-old dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Soper. Twelve well-trained mongrels were used in the Bowery Street scenes and dog catcher sequences.

Mr. & Mrs. William R. Koehler, owners of the Cadence Kennels, trained most of the dogs with Obedience degrees; others, under their supervision have been trained by the owners. Indirectly, Mr. H. Gordon Spohn, now of Calgary, was responsible for making the film possible, since most of the Bull Terriers in it carry the Marihuana blood, a strain he built up in Southern California 25 years ago.

THE BOXER STORY

From a background of savage forest fighters the Boxer has emerged a family pet, using brawn with brains and brains with brawn. He's immaculate, gentle and ready for fun – but watch out for fire if you or yours are threatened.

As little as 17 years ago it would have been difficult to find sufficient material on the Boxer to present his story in an informative manner. Now there are any number of Boxer Clubs throughout the world and a great deal of research has brought enlightenment on the background of this gay companion.

Boxer fanciers have much to back up their choice. As a rule the breed is comparatively healthy, free from worrisome skin disorders, easy to feed and easy to raise. The females appear to take to motherhood readily. As for contagious diseases, the Boxer appears to have top resistance.

Possibly this stems back to his early history, which more or less parallels that of several specific types of dog. Early hunting scenes, crude drawings and woodcuts are often the only clues.

At least it is ascertained that the Boxer stems from a big mastiff-type dog which roamed Germany centuries ago, and in time became valuable in hunting wild animals. The word Beiszer, meaning to bite, formed the basis of names for these fearless dogs, depending on their target. The prefix buffel in buffelbeiszer indicated the buffalo was the prey; the barenbeiszer indicated bear hunting as the specialty, while the bullenbeiszer was prized for his deadly handling of bulls.

The Boxer we know today is a far cry from these early animals which were fierce-looking, split-lipped and about as unlovable a creature as could be associated with humans. The great strength gave them another chore; they could quite easily pull the laden carts of butchers, bakers and other early-day merchandisers and provided inexpensive horse-power.

In the meantime England and Germany were eyeing each other's large-scale canines, and a certain amount of trading and improving was carried out. For centuries the Boxer was bred to conform with his work, and it was only in later years, as he received attention in America, that breeders began to "pretty him up." He is, as a result, more in keeping with his original structure than most other popular breeds today.

While he was being bred to better appearance, his temperament was also softened until now, rather than fierceness, he is noted for his gentleness. Brawn with plenty of brain; the brain alert and the brawn ready to follow like lightning. That is how this gentle playmate suddenly resembles a tiger when anything he guards is threatened.

Serious attention was paid to the breeding of the more refined type from about 1890 on, and the first specialty club was formed at Munich under the name "Boxer Klub". Since then his popularity has grown rapidly on both continents.

Appearance

Of all breeds, more things can be wrong with a Boxer's head than almost any other. And while balance is sought in any breed, here particularly with the short hair, discrepancies are more apparent.

The skull, for example, should be slightly arched at the top, and somewhat long and narrow. Flatness, too much roundness or width are out. The muzzle should be powerfully developed on all counts, length, breadth, height, with no leaning toward pointedness, narrowness, too shallow or too short. The bite is of prime importance. Notably, the mouth is moderately undershot, the incissors in an even, very slightly curved line, the canines widely spaced. Watch out for an even or equally bad, an overshot bite, which gives a Bulldog appearance. The teeth should not show when the mouth is closed.

The tip of the nose measures slightly higher than the base of the muzzle. The stop between the skull and muzzle should be distinct with a shallow furrow. Two faults here could be the absence of the stop entirely, or too much indentation, which again tends toward a Bulldog feature.

Ch. Bangaway of Sierrah Crest

Good ears are extremely important, and should be high set, clipped to a point and carried upright. Eyes are dark, with dark rims, which in a person would suggest fatigue but are imperative in the Boxer. The eyes should be moderate in size, neither pop-eyed or too small. Light eyes or flesh-coloured rims are not good.

The cleancut appearance of the Boxer is due to his short deep body and well ribbed back. The back line is straight and short from the withers to the pelvis, with a slight backward slope. The shoulder blades are long, and well laid back to high withers. To be avoided is a too long back, with a narrow thorax, a sway-back or a camel back, or sharp, sunken-in loins. Short, upright shoulder-blades are not good. The neck is long and gracefully powerful, crested and clean in the throat.

In this breed, wrong legs completely throw off an otherwise good body. The forearms should be heavyboned, straight, and dropping perpendicularly from the elbows. Either cow-hocked or barrel-legged tendencies spoil the whole appearance. The feet might be described as cat-feet and are small, deep and closely knuckled. Too large feet, rabbitty, or splayed are faults.

The hindquarters should be solid, with large hams, well bent stifles and short hocks. Straight hindquarters with long hocks lose points.

The composite picture is one of elegance, energy and intelligence. The Boxer will make his own way without being too aggressive or, on the other hand, too shy.

As to coloring, the shades range from fawn to a rich brindle, with or without white markings, which, by standards, must not exceed one third of the surface. The black mask on the muzzle may be broken with white marking. The mask is important. Either a white or black ground color is out and so is gray or gray - brindle.

Standard height in males is 22 inches to 24 inches at the withers. Females–21 inches to 23 inches at the withers. Males should not go under and females should not go over.

Weight: Males around 23 inches should weigh over 66 lbs., and females of about 22 inches should weigh around 62 lbs.

For full details of Standards see The Complete Dog Book.

Character

Here is a dog who agrees with his owners in the matter of cleanliness. He is quick to learn and remember that his bathroom is outdoors. He is good with young or old people alike. In the woods, if he finds something unpleasant, he avoids it and remains his immaculate self. Nor does he pick up burrs and other odds and ends. He is not a barker.

As for grooming, only the minimum care is necessary. His short shiny coat stays neat, and if he doesn't get a bath on schedule he is noted for washing himself like a cat.

The Boxer remains a good-natured kid most of his life, and likes nothing better than being pushed around or even teased in a good-natured fashion. In keeping with his own ebullience, he likes his owners to stay a little young in spirit too. This does not mean a lack of dignity.

This jaunty animal is so adaptable he'll go along with whatever you have in mind for him. If you want a watch dog, he'll become one. He'll fight if encouraged, but if, on the other hand, you train him not to combat, he'll abide by the ruling, unless there is some critical necessity. Boxers have even been used for duck hunting, and while they were never meant to be bird dogs, manage very well to let their owners know where the winged dinners are.

Boxers have done excellent work with the blind for the past number of years. They are patient, sensible and intelligent as well as sympathetic in this work. They are sociable animals, neither too friendly nor too inclined to be a one-man dog.

A Boxer is not a sulky animal. His continual interest is to please; if you want to play games, he'll be happier than anyone. But if you are sad or solemn, he'll fit his mood to yours and a more sympathetic animal would be hard to find.

He is an energetic animal, and as such, should have plenty of playtime, exercise and romping.

Boxer Note

Boxer enthusiasts cheered at the Boxer Specialty of the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show on March 19 when a Canadian Bred Boxer placed Best of Breed for the first time in eight years.

Gedong Rami Buti, handled by Stan Whitmore, went from the open Dogs Class to Best of Winners, and then on to Best of Breed and Best Canadian Bred. Buti, owned by Mona Bolton of Toronto, was bred by Mrs. J. Van Baarsel,, formerly of Holland and now a resident of Toronto.

Sired by Ch. Beau Jangle of Showline, of Haviland Kennels, his dam is Hilde v. Gevaraho who came from Holland with Mrs. Van Baarsel. In the group Buti placed second and was Best Canadian Bred. This fine young dog made his win under the noted Boxer breeder and judge, Mrs. Mary Cousins.

Buti has since gained his Championship.

Horace was the laziest man in town. He'd hang around the town hall all day, hoping no one would offer him work. One day the villagers were startled to see him racing down the street ahead of a bull mastiff.

"Dunno," Horace's voice drawled behind. "Ask the dog."

GEORGE FOLEY PREDICTS

So closely are Canadian and American Shows interwoven many of Mr. Foley's predictions for the future could well happen here

George Foley of Philadelphia, dean of American dog show superintendents, and well known to many Canadian breeders recently celebated his 73rd birthday.

In an interview DOGS IN CANADA asked Mr. Foley about the earliest dog shows held in the United States. The first was staged, he believes, by the Illinois Sporting Association, in 1875.

His own earliest memory of dog shows goes back to 1898 when the few clubs sponsoring shows competed against each other with a team of dogs. The Westminster Kennel Club, for example, featured pointers. The New England Kennel Club favoured English setters, while the St. Louis Kennel Club entered Irish setters and the Toledo, Ohio Kennel Club showed Lavering setters.

A story has been promised DOGS IN CANADA by this great man of dogdom and is slated for a future issue. In the meantime Mr. Foley gave us the following predictions from an article he wrote for Popular Dogs as to what the future holds for dog shows in the United States, and which may well have an effect in the Canadian scene: He predicts . . .

—that dog shows before 1965 will be classified relative to championship points according to size of show.

—That shows will be supported by 60% more exhibitors from within a fifty-mile radius of the show, due to the increased number of shows when they will be classified according to size.

—That there will be an education plan for judges via the screen with commentators explaining the anatomy of the dog, and points of the standard of each breed.

—That the standard of every breed will be revised as suggested by the breed parent clubs; approved by a special committee appointed by the American Kennel Club, composed of two directors of the AKC, two professional judges and two selected successful breeders, and finally approved by the board of directors of the AKC.

—That there will be women delegates and possibly directors.

—That there will be less artificial trimming and makeup than is now being done by the experts.

—That all dogs will be tattooed for identification and registration.

—That there will be evening dog shows held outdoors under arc lights.

—That there will be more Summer dog shows held indoors in air-conditioned buildings.

—That there will be more and more dog shows staged during the week, other than on weekends.

—That there will be a new system of licensing judges.

—That dogs will be examined at dog shows by veterinarians only on request, or because of a protest, when a more thorough examination could be made.

—That dogs will be transported to and from dog shows in air-conditioned cars.

—That officers and bench show committee members will not exhibit at their own shows.

—That bench show committees will be limited to five members including the president and secretary.

—That professional judges and superintendents will represent clubs as delegates but not as directors.

—That there will be two additional vice-presidents actively employed on salary by the AKC.

—That any judge not officiating for a period of eight years will be dropped from the list.

—That at many of our leading shows a running commentary explaining the judging be given by a competent expert during the group and best-in-show judging.

—That group judging will be televised and filmed at most of the big shows, and shown on the screen at various times.

—That judges reaching the age of 70 be required to furnish the AKC with a doctor's physical examination report, as well as an optical report.

—That there will be a revival of more interest in best-of-breed judging.

—That the name of the non-sporting group be changed to companion dog group — to include Miniature Poodles, Pugs, Lhasa Apsos, Basenjis, Boston Terriers, French Bulldogs, Chows, Keeshonden and Schipperkes; Dalmatians to be listed in the working group and Standard Poodles in the sporting group.

—That benching and judging tents will be air-conditioned, heated and lighted by special units.

I know that these prophesies (or informed guesses, if you prefer) will mean different things to different readers. They are, in other words, what I believe the future itself will bring.

Around The Obedience Ring

by Alan Sharp

It is a pleasure to reproduce the following letter which, incidentally, is the first letter on obedience matters received by this column from someone outside of Montreal:

"Here is some news for your obedience column in Dogs in Canada. My standard poodle Ch. Barlanark Lisette C.D. won a perfect score of 200 at the Cheshire K.C. show at Keine, N.H. This is her first leg on her American C.D. Last June she had the highest score, 197, in the second trial at the Hamilton Obedience Club Trials to give her the second leg towards her C.D.X.

Liz is being retired temporarily from the obedience ring to take care of her maternal duties."

Susan Radley
73 Highland Ave.
Toronto 5, Ont.

Our heartiest congratulations Miss Susan Radley! You should be very proud of your "200" score since as you probably know, perfect scores are very few and far between. You must have a beautiful working dog—a pleasure to see. Judging by her past performances, it shouldn't be too long before Lisette is an International C.D.—Ed.

Another very interesting letter was received from Mrs. Pamela B. Mack which reads as follows:

"Thought possibly you might like the following news for your obedience column in Dogs in Canada.

My Pembroke Welsh Corgi "Int. Champion Furnace Brook Eniwetok" has now completed his Int. C.D.X. and is according to the records of the Corgi Club of America the only living Corgi to hold both the Bench Championship title and the C.D.X. in Canada and the U.S.A.

Incidentally it might also interest you to know that "Tuck" as he is better known to you is the first pupil who has been trained all the way through at the M.D.O.T.C. classes to have his C.D.X. which certainly proves the club can train them if the pupil and handler are willing and anxious to work.

Tuck also got his first leg on his "C.D." after only five lessons at the Novice Beginners Class at the M.D. O.T.C."

Mrs. Pamela B. Mack

Congratulations to you Mrs. Mack! It must be very gratifying for you to know that you own one of the few dogs who

New Treatment For Whipworms

Although there is no threat of a whipworm scourge at present, it is well to know about this parasitical disease and its treatment.

(Courtesy Gaines Dog Research Center)

Three recent clinical trials on a new drug for eliminating whipworms in dogs appear to establish that an effective, safe and convenient treatment has been found for this serious parasitical disease.

The clinical tests made by Dr. Harry J. Magrane, Jr., were reported in the North American Veterinarian; tests made by Dr. Justin E. Jordan were reported in the Journal of the A.V.M.A.; and tests made by Drs. A. T. Knowles, Jack O. Knowles and Robert P. Knowles, reported in The Southwestern Veterinarian.

One deterring factor in obtaining a concise understanding of this parasitical disease has been the lack of a highly effective treatment, according to Dr. Magrane. In general, the available anthelmintics used to treat dogs with whipworm infection have not been totally satisfactory. Surgical removal of the cecum has been one procedure in treatment of whipworm.

Now it appears that a tablet form of medication called whipcide (Pitman-Moore) provides an effective and safe agent for removal of whipworm. In Dr. Magrane's clinical tests, of 29 cases treated once all but three, or 89 percent, were freed of whipworms, as judged by the fecal flotation tests. The dogs that continued to pass ova following the first dose were free of the infection by the second treatment. Fecal tests were made before and after treatment.

In various cases found positive for whipworm there had been a general chronic skin condition, dry, dull coat or intermittent diarrhea. In each case there was vast improvement in these conditions after treatment.

Two different treatment schedules were followed. In one, the dogs were fasted for about 12 hours and then dosed with 250 mg. of the drug per kilogram of body weight of the dog. In the other schedule, the dogs were not fasted but were given two doses at the rate of 200 mg./kg. of body weight, one in the morning and another at night. Each dose was preceded by a light meal.

In one case, two Pomeranians, three and five years old, respectively, had been treated with other drugs five times during a three-year period. The ova count showed a heavy infestation with whipworm. Two checks, one at eight days and another 26 days after treatment, were negative for ova and there was a marked improvement in skin condition and stool consistency.

In several instances where there had been diarrhea over a period of time, the condition disappeared along with removal of whipworms, even when the infection was mild.

Intermittent diarrhea, apparent pain, evidenced by crying when moving bowels, occasional constipation and very dry coat were evidenced in one case, a Pointer. This dog was found to have a heavy whipworm ova count. After treatment the ova count was negative and there was a great improvement in the coat. Bowel movement became normal without evidence of pain.

Several dogs, described by their owners as highly nervous, showed far less nervousness and very marked improvement after whipworms had been eliminated.

Dr. Jordan reported on the treatment of 38 dogs for whipworm infection. Except in two cases, all dogs received a two-dose treatment which consisted of 200 mg. of the drug per kilogram of body weight, administered morning and night following a light meal (one half of the regular ration). No evidence of toxicity was found in all the dogs treated. Three did vomit following medication. Follow-up flotation fecal tests were conducted routinely on the tenth post-treatment day and every thirty days thereafter when possible. In one kennel of thirteen dogs, where there had been a serious problem of whipworm, the ova count was negative on thirty days.

An unusual case reported by Dr. Jordan was that of a Boston Terrier which had persistent diarrhea for six months. Seven months after the last negative fecal check the dog showed poor appetite, depression, abdominal distention and mucoid diarrhea. Clinical examination under anesthesia revealed an impaction posterior to the ileocecal valve. By using long forceps the cause of the blockage was determined as a mass of whipworms and feces. The major portion was removed with the forceps and treatment with the drug was given on the following day. The recovery was uneventful.

Thirteen of the 15 cases treated by the Drs. Knowles were free of the parasite following one dose. They feel that the treatment would be most useful in eliminating this parasite from animals serving as carriers.

Comments On The German Shepherd

By Mary Hart

At the All-Breed Show held June 18 the German Shepherd Dog Breeders Association, Inc. were fortunate in being able to obtain, as judge for German Shepherds, Miss Margaret Megahan of Williamsport, Pa., an authority on the breed. There was a record entry for this year of 59 Shepherds.

Shortly after the show, the Club received a worthwhile critique of the dogs. Let me therefore, with Miss Megahan's permission, pass on to you the sections most valuable.

"Will you allow me to tell you some of the things which impressed me about your Canadian dogs, both good and bad? I doubt if I have ever seen as many dogs shown in so magnificent condition and such perfect coat. Only four mature dogs were faulted on temperament which meant a very high percentage of excellent temperament. Heads were excellent; I found only three faulty bites, one straight and two slightly overshot; while 18 had missing teeth, there were none with enough missing to make it a serious fault. Most gaits were true front and rear. There was almost 100% excellent substance of both bone and body and most of the dogs seemed well-balanced."

"If I were to mention faults which could be corrected through careful breeding and care, it would be that I feel I saw too many bad feet, thin or spread or flat or narrow; too many faulty backs, a roach (slight in most cases) a dip, a high rump leading to a downhill trot. I believe feet can be improved by shorter nails and exercise on stony rough ground, and I believe one should try to breed in a strong back where there is a fault.

"It is always hard to see gait at its best in an indoor ring and the dogs, I know, would have lengthened out in stride on secure outdoor footing. I believe sincerely that you should be proud of your Canadian Shepherds and I want you to know that I feel proud and highly honoured to have been chosen to pass on so large and good an entry. You all were wonderful sports and I assure you some decisions were close and hard to make."

Mr. Lloyd Brackett (Longworth Kennels) a top authority on Shepherds, after his assignment at an earlier show this Spring, stated that he was most favourably impressed with the improvement in temperament in Canadian Shepherds. He added he had judged many shows recently, but nowhere was the overall picture of temperament better than his entry on that day.

DOGS and PEOPLE

Returning home Mr. and Mrs. Gil Stoppes, Labrador Kennels, Reg'd., Ancaster, Ont., discovered two of their finest dogs Ch. Breezy Brae Gim Doy and Labradale's Top Brass, had dug their way to freedom and a wild 24 hours' run.

Gil combed the countryside until two in the morning while Penny alerted neighbors, police and radio stations. The search was resumed at daybreak and Radio Station CHML, Hamilton, broadcast a description. The first news of the truants came from a transport driver who reported he had seen what appeared to be the missing dogs on the river road between Caledonia and York.

The provincial police and Gil rushed to the location, a good 25 miles from home, only to learn the elusive quarry had stopped at a nearby farm five minutes before.

Late in the afternoon another call came from the police. They had sighted the dogs and were making every attempt to catch them. Again Gil drove out, tired, discouraged but determined. This time he was in luck. The miscreants were located in Cayuga, 30 miles from home—covered with mud and reeking from a losing encounter with skunks. The younger dog had come to grief with a muskrat trap but emerged with slight injuries. The pair had crossed safely through heavy traffic on two of the busiest highways in the district.

All the excitement was not confined to the chase. A female who had shown the good sense to stay at home gave birth a full ten days early. In keeping with Labradors' customarily large families, she proudly produced a family of ten.

Time Magazine's critique of Walt Disney's 75-minute Cinema-Scope cartoon "Lady and the Tramp" has brought about sufficient controversial comments to guarantee an even greater gallery of dog enthusiasts than anticipated. The story of the romance between a pedigreed cocker called Lady and a mongrel with the monicker of Tramp, with dogs of various nationalities taking on the characteristics as well as the conversation of their original country, its whimsy is followed up by whamsy, according to the Time reviewer.

Readers, however, comment on . . . the gooey sentiment, the stark horror . . . A Long Island lady places dogs in the category of politics and religion, i.e., one does not discuss . . . and a 9-year-old boy feels that "a grownup should not judge a child's movie. I would not attempt to judge a grownup's movie."

This department would welcome Canadian comments following viewing of the film.

Passengers on a fast westbound CNR train in the vicinity of Myrtle, Ont., were horrified to see a German Shepherd tied to the tracks struggling to free himself as the locomotive thundered toward it. The engineer applied the brakes without hope of stopping the train in time.

With exceptional clarity of thought, the dog strained the rope to its full length away from the rail. The engine severed the rope, and he was freed.

The Ontario Provincial Police at Whitby were notified, but the only clue to the sadist who tied the animal had left the scene and bounded into the woods.

Can., American & Irish Ch. Firebrave Anthea, owned and handled by Mrs. Ken Ellis, shown winning Best in Show at the Hamilton Kennel Club show, June 25, with Dr. W. Shute, London, Ont., Judge, having won Best of Breed under Miss M. Ruelle Keleher, of the famous Hollycourt Poodles.

A spaniel breeder and former CNR conductor, 75-year-old Fred Bambridge was recently found paralyzed amid debris in what was described as his bizarre home, near Milliken, Ont. He was discovered surrounded by his hungry barking dogs when a dog food salesman heard his cries and broke down the front door. Police said Mr. Bambridge had apparently suffered a heart attack and collapsed in the front room. The dogs had escaped from their wire mesh kennels and were running wild.

Best in Show at the all breed show held in Bermuda earlier this year, with Mrs. Eileen McEachren as judge, was this alert Doberman Pinscher, Bermuda's Sabre Jet.

A gate accidentally left open resulted in the death of Ch. Burnadeans Gold Trim, a valuable female American Cocker owned by Mrs. Beatty, a member of the Barrie Kennel Club. Although injured at the same time, Ch. Burnadean's Royal Salute is back in the ring as a winner, reports Club Correspondent Donalda Lamont.

CLUB NOTES

Labrador Retriever Club of Ontario
by Charles Croft

On June 18 and 19 the Labrador Club held its eighth licenced trial. This was, without a doubt, the best effort we have had to date. Bob Cowan, Vic Joyce, and Dick Moore performed a job of judging that defies description as did Fred Moss and Dave Cowan in their roles of Field Trial Marshalls.

The weather was blistering hot, the gallery was large but co-operative, and to all the people who worked to make this trial a fabulous success the President and Directors extend their thanks.

Jim Barr, who won the open, also won the gratitude of the Club for the sterling banquet he put on at the Guild Inn.

Open All Age consisted of five excellent series. It bears mentioning that the two judges proved that it does not take trick tests to separate the dogs. They set up straight hunting tests and had no difficulty in finding the four top dogs at the end of the day.

First Series—23 starters:

A wide double on land with a dog honouring. Scenting conditions were not good throughout the day and only two dogs failed this test.

Second Series

Over and under on water, first bird thrown in rushes at water's edge, second bird in the water about thirty yards from shore. Most dogs did a splendid job but two failed and were consequently not carried to the third Series.

Third Series

A land blind, approximately 100 yards. Dogs had to go through wire fence to pick up bird. Interesting to see the difficulty some handlers had in getting their dogs through the fence. Five dogs were dropped.

Fourth Series

Water blind. The dogs were started from a section of shoreline that was completely void of cover. Immediately to the handler's left was a point, running out from shore. The shore of this point or long strip of land was covered in tulles. The bird was placed in the open water at the end of the point and was not visible to handlers or dog. This retrieve was about a hundred yards and the handlers were instructed that if their dogs entered the tulles on the shore, they would be severely penalized. The reasoning here was that once the dog got into the rushes he would not be visible to the handler and therefore any degree of success attained would be purely luck. All but six dogs qualified to go on to the next Series.

The hot summer months were unusually quiet, with most breeders staying home trying to keep the animals as cool as possible.

Our first Fall meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Richmond Hill, Ont.

We have great plans for our sanction show, to be held on October 3 at College and Craford St. We have good judges and high quality prizes to offer. This is an all breed show so come along and bring your puppies.

In October we hope to have a well known veterinarian speak to us on genetics and diseases in general.

We plan to each month have an education program on such subjects as grooming your dog for the show ring, handling and many other topics of interest to the old and the new.

We are looking forward to a good season and also our specialty show in the Spring.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, an internationally known actress of earlier times, was airing her dog Moonbeam, when she realized she'd never make the matinee in time. She flagged the first cab, hurried into it, with Moonbeam in her arms.

"No dogs, lady," said the driver firmly.

"The Empire Theatre, and hurry, please," she ordered.

Before they reached the theatre Moonbeam had an accident. The driver was furious. "Madam," he began, "didn't I tell you—"

"Don't blame Moonbeam," Mrs. Campbell retorted icily. "I did it."

GRANDMOTHER KNEW BEST

A difficult operation, a grandmother's maternal instinct and a pup's will to live set the drama for this true story.

An operation performed on a Mexican Chihuahua is the subject of heated discussions in the dog fancy. While many consider the subsequent feat an impossibility, the struggle for survival of a tiny pup is being cheered.

Corunna Tansy, three-year-old Chihuahua pedigree, belonging to J. C. Young of Fort William, was having difficulty in giving birth. Mr. Young took small dog to veterinarian R. I. Sinwho performed a Caesarian section little "lady" after stimulants had to bring about normal birth. The on was completed in twenty-two and although the first pup was , the second proved to be a little female.

oung brought the pup home tly fed her with a doll-bottle ye dropper from noon until urs of the morning but fell asleep shortly after 5:30 a.m. Upon awakening he realized that he had failed badly in his mid-wife duties. Quickly preparing a formula for the latest arrival, he rushed to his task only to find that his charge was well fed, cozy and content. It amazed him to find that the grandmother, who has not had pups for three years, had taken over and was supplying the whelp with all the nourishment necessary for a growing damsel.

Mother in the meantime was not at all pleased with her operation and had chewed the stitches from her incision. Mr. Young was able to obtain some surgical powder which has healed the wound. Of the four dogs at the Young residence, the mother is the least interested in the new addition. The other dogs lick and fondle it at every opportunity and grandmother is seeing that it is well fed and that no harm befalls it. The mother takes a curious look now and again but has no active interest in it. The owner believes that "the operational birth destroyed all the dog's maternal instinct for her pup."

Mr. Young has raised many champions. The grandmother is registered under the name of Corunna Poppy, the mother is Corunna Tansy and the sire is Biscay's Tiny Tim.

A hunter left camp with his gun and dog, but emerged from the woods at the end of the day, tired and empty-handed.

"Didn't you shoot anything?" asked a friend.

"As a matter of fact," the hunter replied, "I shot my dog."

"Whatever for? Was he mad?"

"Well, he wasn't exactly mad, but then, he wasn't any too pleased, either."

On my own recent assignment of 39 Shepherds, I was fortunate to be able to judge them outdoors. As with Miss Megahan, the two outstanding features were excellent temperament and bad feet. To me, the temperament of our Shepherds has taken great strides forward in the past few years. . . . The number of poor feet was very disheartening, especially the number with very long toe nails. The standard states that feet should be "rather short, compact, with toes well arched, pads thick and hard, nails short and strong. The feet are important to the working qualities of the dog. The ideal foot is extremely strong with good gripping power and plenty of depth of pad."

How can we expect a Shepherd to gait well with toes spread out and nails an inch long, or more? I do believe that the recent hot weather has been the cause of much of this. Dogs have possibly been indoors more on hardwood floors and soft rugs, ground which was firm has become inches deep in sand, and pads have become burned and cracked from the very hot ground.

I wish all Shepherd owners and breeders would read the recently published book "This is the German Shepherd", by Captain William Goldbecker and Ernest H. Hart, which I have found most interesting and full of valuable information.

Note: Miss Hart's quotations from this book will appear in a later issue featuring the German Shepherd.—Ed.

Little Bobby rushed into the house, all excited. "Mummy, look," he shouted. "There's a big dog outside, big as a house!"

"Bobby," said his mother in exasperation. "Haven't I told you twenty million times not to exaggerate?"

"Lay down, doggie, there's a good pup," urged the visitor. "Lay down, now."

"You'll never get him to obey that way," interjected the host. "You'll have to say lie down. He's a Boston Terrier."

has earned an International Championship in the breed ring and an International C.D.X. title in the obedience ring. This should be of interest to those who have questioned the advisability of show dogs doing obedience work.—Ed.

Members of the Montreal Dog Obedience Training Club under the chairmanship of Mr. Frank Mingie have been hard at work this summer preparing for their 12th and 13th Obedience Trials and 2nd Tracking Test to be held on September 17 and 18 next at Lee Side Farm, Ste. Adele, P.Q., north of Montreal.

This is the second consecutive year that this Club has held unbenched trials outdoors.

It also marks only the second time that a tracking test has been held in Canada and a full entry of 10 dogs is expected. For those who are interested in seeing a tracking test, this should prove an excellent opportunity to watch the dogs working on September 18 in nice surroundings in the beautiful Laurentians.

I had the pleasure to travel to Leamington, Ontario, on July 24, 1955, to judge all classes at the Obedience Trial held by the Essex County Kennel Club.

While the entry list was not large, nevertheless the trial was a success. The dogs worked well as a whole even in spite of the very warm weather.

The Obedience Trial was very well organized and the stewarding was excellent. My congratulations to the Essex County Kennel Club on a job well done.

How do you pick a Dog Food?

Here's one expert's answer!

"First I choose a brand made by a manufacturer whose experience, facilities and reputation assure me that his food will supply my dogs with the best scientific nourishment.

"Next, I make the food selected the greater part of their diet for at least 30 days, keeping a close watch on coat, condition and general health. If I'm not satisfied, I give another brand a fair trial.

"I have found that you just can't beat a top quality dog meal for value. It costs much less than canned dog food. And a good quality meal is actually less expensive to feed than cheaper, inferior meals that require supplements. Incidentally, when buying a good dog meal, I find it pays to purchase the large economy package."

And Here's How Homogenized Gaines Meal Measures Up!

- It has been developed in laboratories and research kennels that are unmatched in their facilities and scope.
- Gaines Meal has been tested and proven through actual feeding to generation after generation of dogs.
- Gaines Meal contains meat, milk and fish protein plus every vitamin and mineral a dog is known to need.
