Master Horse Meat and Gravy
I need wholesome, nutritious food too!

Yes, veterinarians too agree that Master Horse Meat and Gravy is tops for your dog because it's high in food value, contains only the best cuts of meat — no "by-products", no cereals. Veterinary authorities agree too that variety in diet is necessary to keep dogs happy, healthy and eating well. You get both high quality and variety when you feed Master Dog Foods because they are formulated by experts in canine nutrition. Here's a daily diet one leading authority recommends:

The Main Meal

—should be composed of 25% Master Horse Meat and Gravy and 75% K-9 Meal or Master Kibble, or a 50-50 mixture of Master Canned Dog Food and K-9 Meal.

The Secondary Meal

—give your dog Master Kennel Kibble mixed with a lesser amount of Master Canned Dog Food at bedtime.

The "treat"

—for those little titbits all dogs enjoy, keep Master Shapes or Mixed O-B's handy.

SHOW BUSINESS

Six entrants to the class. Four soon eliminated—beam too narrow, apple headed, incorrect balance, snippy. Two well matched dogs are left. Nothing between them. Tough job this—but wait! No. 358 keener, positively glowing, obviously enjoying himself! Yes, he's the one. The deciding factor—his perfect condition.

CONDITIONING

Although wisely cared for, your dog may occasionally lose condition. Blood-purifying is the usual need. Karswood Dog Powders act directly on the liver, kidneys and bowels—organs responsible for cleaning and refreshing the blood stream. Karswood's also provide Phosphorus, Iodine, Tonic Salts, Sulphur and Calcium for Nerves, Muscles, Glands, Skin and Bone development. If you're in this Show Business, you can't afford to be without

TAKING TEMPERATURE

. . . I would like to know the normal temperature of a dog, and how to take the temperature. Also, what is the regular pulse rate?

JAMES BURNS

Regina, Sask.

Always take the temperature through the rectum, after cleansing the thermometer with alcohol, and shaking it to a point below 98 degrees. A slight coating of vaseline will help ease the thermometer into the passage. After several minutes remove the thermometer and wipe off. Normal temperature for a youngster is 101½ to 102 degrees, and 101.2 in an adult dog. Pulse ranges from 70 to 90 beats per minute. Normal breathing is from 18 to 25 per minute.—Ed.

Season's Greetings and Best Wishes
from
THE GIRLS AT BUCKSBURN

Our earliest recollections of Sunday School centre around the song, Brighten the Corner Where You Are. So fascinated were we at the thought of a youngster sending out shining rays and exposing other people to such childish happiness we joyously sang those words regardless of the hymn announced.

The memory filtered through the headlines of the past weeks—with the thought that in the face of threatened war, of youth and even tiny children fighting bravely but hopelessly, the least we can do is brighten our own corner—to make things pleasant for everyone we contact.

Some of our readers have suffered severe loss and disappointment during the past year. But even these are considerably less than the suffering of countless families in the powder-keg portions of the world.

Such minor disparities as being bested by another exhibitor's entry in a show can be given proper perspective. Your disappointment is another person's happiness—but your own triumph may mean a crestfallen competitor. It's all in the breed, so let's cheer for the progress on the whole.

Let's be happy with what we've got—it may be a little or it may be a lot—

Merry Christmas to all

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

Suggestion: when you write Dogs in Canada, please use a typewriter if you can. If not, these should be printed in block letters: names of dogs, places and persons. Saves time and precludes guessing.

The stirring article, Switzerland's Life-Saving Avalanche Dogs, by Robert Littell, which appeared in this magazine last month, is being reprinted in the December issue of Reader's Digest, with credit to Dogs in Canada. The attention of more than five million readers will be thus focused on Dogs.

Reg. P. Sparkes, noted bulldog breeder, has been invited to judge Bulldog classes at Crufts 1958 Show in England. This is a singular honour, and is the first such to come to a Canadian expert on this breed.

The crowned heads of Canadian dogdom will parade across the pages of the January issue in Four Galleries of Best in Show Winners, Champions, Obedience and Field Trial title-holders, all made in 1956. February launches the first of the Provincial issues, taking off with news and views of British Columbia. The Dachshund stars on the cover. Second of the provincial issues follows in March under the banner of Alberta.

To get firsthand insight on the dog business in British Columbia, your editor boarded a T.C.A. Super Constellation November 25, and made a brief but interest-brimmed visit to Vancouver, Victoria and Duncan. You'll meet the warm-hearted Westeners in the February issue.

Because of space limitations, it has been necessary to withhold some of the Club Notes. These will appear in the next issue.

TAHLTAN BEAR DOG

by W. G. Crisp

Drawing by Clarence Tillenius

THE only domestic animal possessed by the inhabitants of North America before the coming of the white man was the dog. South of the arctic tundra it was apparently not used as a draught animal. Excavations of middens in the Pacific Northwest have yielded skeletal remains, from five hundred to a thousand years old, of medium sized dogs, probably a little larger than fox terriers. In the last five hundred years before the arrival of the European explorers it is thought that the culture of the Northwest Pacific coast natives underwent little change.

Therefore it is probable that the remains found in the middens represent the same type of dogs that were recorded by Captain Vancouver among the Coast Salish in 1790, of which he wrote: "The dogs belonging to this tribe of Indians were numerous and much resembled those of Pomerania, though in general somewhat larger. They were all shorn as close to the skin as sheep in England; and so compact were their fleeces that a large portion could be lifted by a corner without causing any separation. They were composed of a mixture of a coarse kind of wool with very fine long hairs, capable of being spun into yarn." A painting by Paul Kane, dated 1848, showing one of these dogs freshly shorn, with a woman in the background spinning, is the only illustration in existence of the so-called "woolly dog." Robert James Anderson mentioned in his memoirs of his boyhood at Fort Victoria in 1850: "In the Indian Village were a great many of the small white woolly Indian dogs which have since become extinct." (Beaver, March 1951, p. 21.)

Twenty years before, Sir John Richardson had described a small dog used for hunting by the Hare Indians in the vicinity of Great Bear Lake, but these dogs, like the "woolly dogs" of the Pacific Coast, apparently became extinct soon after the middle of the nineteenth century. The Eskimo dog appeared to be the only survivor in Canada of an aboriginal breed. In 1915, however, James Teit, while engaged in research among the Tahltan Indians of the Stikine River, reported the existence of a small breed of native dogs. They were known locally as Bear Dogs because in the past they had been used extensively in the hunting of black bear, especially in the spring when a small dog could move quickly on the crust and hold a bear in deep snow until it was killed with bow and arrow or muzzle loader.

These quick-moving alert little dogs were common in the Cassiar when I was at Telegraph Creek in 1931. Generally black and white in colour, sometimes bluish-grey, they ranged in weight from ten to fifteen pounds, the smaller ones with predominantly black colouring being regarded as most typical of the breed. Their glossy coat was clean to touch, long guard hairs concealed thick woolly underfur, and there was a pronounced neck-ruff and long hairs on the flanks. They had the sharp muzzle and prick ears common to other small breeds of native dogs; but a distinctive feature was a straight, short bushy tail, five to ten inches long. Long hairs on the tail gave it the appearance of a giant shaving brush and it was entirely different from the long curled tail shown in an illustration of the Hare Indian dog published in 1829. Although their name indicated an animal of great ferocity, these Bear Dogs were friendly and affectionate by nature but at the same time inclined to be independent and suspicious of strangers.

We soon acquired a female puppy from the Indians, in spite of warning from old time residents of the country that her shrill yapping would drive us to distraction. It turned out however that there was always a reason for Wendy's staccato yelping; such as the time at Dease Lake when a moose walked between the store and the warehouse. She became the quietest and most obedient dog we have owned—and that covers two or three "civilized" breeds, highly recommended as household pets.

Wendy was pure white with a black face; she was mated with a small black-type Bear Dog at Dease Lake and gave birth to four pups. Two of these resembled the mother, one was black with white paws and chest like the father, and the fourth was bluish-grey. Two of these pups remained in the country and lived out their normal life span, but two which were sent outside died, apparently from distemper.

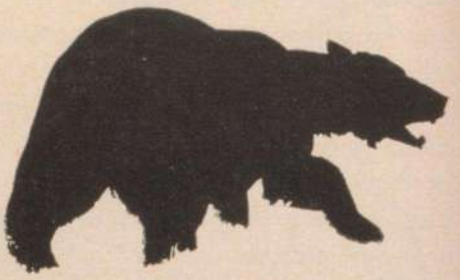

During the next five years our Bear Dog accompanied us on our travels throughout the southern half of the province, behaving so well in car, steamer or train that her presence was scarcely noticeable. Only once do I recall her attracting attention; that was in Vancouver when she was taken on a shopping expedition. She had never seen a meat cache of the proportions of a city meat market and retreated into the middle of a busy street, exploding into her characteristic shrill yelps of alarm. A street car ground to a stop and curious passengers stared while the motorman got out to ask, "What kind of a dog is that?" There was no time to explain the exotic phrase "Tahltan Bear Dog" as I ordered Wendy out of the way of the line of honking cars.

We visited a large poultry ranch in the Fraser Valley and the dog which had never seen a domestic fowl before,

"Tipi," a Tahltan Indian bear dog that was owned by Commissioner T.W.S. Parsons of the B.C. Provincial Police.

A bear dog once owned by Dr. Leo P. Bott of Little Rock, Arkansas. He is now to be seen in a glass case in the National Museum, Ottawa.

but had flushed hundreds of grouse from the jack pine terraces of the Cassiar, stayed obediently at my heels as a thousand White Leghorns milled around her. On the other hand I have heard of a Bear Dog that was brought outside having to be destroyed because it could not be cured of killing chickens. The same problem has arisen many times with almost any domestic breed one can think of, and there seems no basic difference in this respect between the Tahltan and any other type of dog; all being influenced by environment and training as much as by any heriditary traits.

It is natural though, that the Tahltan dog should retain a strong instinct for hunting. One instance that comes to mind concerns a Bear Dog in California which, without previous training, flushed quail from a thicket so dense that an experienced Springer spaniel refused to try and penetrate it.

Eventually we were transferred back to Telegraph Creek and there Wendy died of old age in 1939. About that time Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons and Constable J. B. Gray of the B.C. Police were instrumental in having a number of Tahltan dogs sent outside, where they were recognized as a distinct breed by the Canadian Kennel Club. A standard of characteristics was drawn up, but as far as I know they have never distinguished themselves in the show ring. It must certainly require great patience to train one of these dogs to stand still long enough to hold the conventional dog show pose.

The only dogs I have been able to trace belonged to a dog fancier in Southern Ontario, who was enthusiastic about the Bear Dogs as pets, but whose activities had been curtailed by ill health. Some pups had been shipped to California and it is to be hoped that somewhere a nucleus of breeding stock still exists that will save the Tahltan dog from the same fate as the woolly dog of the coast. In its native habitat the Bear Dog has by now become mongrelized to the extent that it is unrecognizable as a distinct type.

It is curious that they should have survived at all into this century. The area in which they were known to exist —the headwaters of the Stikine and Taku Rivers and the Atlin Lake country—was not exceptionally islolated and had been swept over by two successive gold rushes; in the '70s and in 1898. While there seems no doubt that the older generation of Tahltan Indians held a higher regard for their small hunting dogs than is usually credited to other tribes, it is rather unlikely that any selective breeding of the animals was carried out.

Since nomadic tribes of the Athapascan stock left no middens for the archaeologists to excavate there is very little to tell us of the past. One or two folk legends recorded by Teit mention small dogs used for hunting—that is all. The number of modern specimens available for study is not sufficient to give definite clues to the origin of the Tahltan dog. In 1931, Dr. Diamond Jenness of the National Museum collected all information and material available and passed it on to Professor G. M. Allen of Harvard University, an authority on aboriginal American dogs. Dr. Allen concluded: "I think there can be little doubt that the Bear Dog represents the same breed as the Hare Indian Dog described by Sir John Richardson."

Richardson had written that the Hare Indian dog bore the same relation to the prairie wolf that the Eskimo dog did to the great grey wolf; meaning that the latter had been evolved by domestication of the wolf and the smaller dog by domestication of the coyote. Many modern authorities however have come to the conclusion that all aboriginal dogs of North America originated in the Old World and followed mankind in successive waves of migration from Northern Asia across Bering Strait. The dog, it must be remembered, is the only animal which could have withstood the rigours of such a long trek. It is pointed out that the resemblance of Eskimo dogs to wolves, and of smaller dogs to coyotes or foxes, is superficial; zoologists having little difficulty in distinguishing the skulls of domestic dogs from those of wild canids.

In 1948, Dr. William G. Haag published the results of an exhaustive study of dog remains found in excavations in Alaska, the Pacific Northwest and in the shell heaps of Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi. In his summary he remarked: "They [the aboriginal breeds] are apparently related to Old World dogs at similar cultural levels, and the osteological characteristics do not show any resemblance to any native American canid."

I have watched a Bear Dog playing with a tame coyote, and certainly their appearance and actions seemed very similar; but no doubt the same could have been said had the dog involved been one of the Spitz group from Europe, which is generally admitted to have originated in Northern Asia. In fact breeds such as the Pomeranian, Keeshond and Schipperke, to name only a few, with their thick undercoat, prick ears and slender muzzles, all have as many points in common with the Tahltan dog as has the prairie wolf. It seems probable that British Columbia's Bear Dog is more closely related to commonly known European breeds than to any existing member of the wolf family.

A prairie crew of waterfowl biologists trains three reliable and enthusiastic assistants

HUNTERS who are enjoying this year's near-record crop of waterfowl may tender part of their thanks to some Prairie-bred dogs who have played an important part in the joint Canadian-United States waterfowl management program. This program aims to maintain satisfactory breeding stocks of ducks and geese while providing hunting opportunities for sportsmen of both countries.

The most extensive use of these dogs has been in the southern parts of the Prairie Provinces. In this fertile country there are innumerable sloughs and "potholes" which range in size from a few hundred square yards to several square miles. Because most of the continent's waterfowl breed in this area, it has became known to conservation people as the "duck factory".

Banding of wildfowl, which started in Europe half a century ago, is now widely used in studying migrations as well as in determining life spans.

Today's light aluminum bands carry an identifying address, so that hunters and others may be encouraged to report them. Centralized records for this continent are maintained by the Canadian Wildlife Service and the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

Last year nearly 73,000 birds were banded in Canada, of which some 35,000 were ducks and geese. The overall total of birds banded in North America to date is about 9,000,000.

This year, retrievers and spaniels were used in the banding programs of the Canadian Wildlife Service, co-operating with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, provincial game branches, Ducks Unlimited, and the Wildlife Management Institute. Most of the dogs were used in special study areas spotted across the prairies.

Kindersley, Saskatchewan, is the site of one of these study areas. Here biologists of the Canadian Wildlife Service have been using dogs for the past four years. This year their partners were Rusty, a four-year-old Labrador-Golden Retriever cross; Widgeon, a Chesapeake Bay Retriever, and Chips, a Labrador Retriever pup.

The importance of the part the dogs play can best be understood by looking at the purposes of the special study areas. The first objective is for ground crews to determine, by census, the size of the breeding populations in May and June and the number of young produced in July and August. Several of the counts are run at the same time as coverages by crews in light aircraft.

The aircrews conduct continent-wide surveys to determine waterfowl population trends, and it is largely on their data that hunting regulations for each year are based. Therefore, it is necessary to find out approximately what proportion of the ducks actually on the ground is recorded by the aircrews.

The comparisons between the two figures assume, of course, that the ground crews are getting accurate counts of the birds present. Without dogs, the men have always found it difficult enough to feel they were making a complete count even when they are "working" pairs of breeding ducks.

The Dogs Give Chase

With broods, the problem is greater because at the first sign of any disturbance mallard and pintail hens are liable to leave the water and head across country with their broods. If the dogs were not used to find and retrieve at least some members of these broods, they would go unrecorded.

The second objective of the ground study areas is to keep in close contact with ducks through the season, and to work on specific phases of the life history of one or several species. Dogs are a valuable asset, finding nests both by accidentally flushing the hens and by scenting them. Last spring at Kindersley, Widgeon found four mallard hens on their nests, thereby saving the crew the trouble of setting traps to catch and band them. The birds were first located by scent at distances up to 10 yards, and then either caught in the brush or picked out of the air.

It is in the banding of broods, however, both on the study areas and by roving crews, that dogs really come into their own. Since 1954, all the organizations banding in Canada have directed their efforts toward getting adequate samples of flightless young mallards. This species is the most abundant North American duck as well as the biggest contributor to the hunter's bag. In Canada, it is also the species causing most of the damage to the western farmer's swathed wheat and barley crops.

But the type of banding done in the past, voluminous as it has been, has yielded little information about the relative importance of the routes taken and the wintering areas used by mallard populations from specific portions of the breeding grounds. More of this information, as well as data on variations in shooting pressure from year to year, is still needed to bridge the gap between waterfowl surveys and hunting regulations.

At Kindersley, more than 3,000 flightless young mallards have been banded in the past four years by Canadian Wildlife Service crews using dogs like Rusty, Widgeon and Chips. Another 2,000 have been caught by herding or driving broods into traps. The dogs were used only on small sloughs containing fewer than half a dozen mallard broods; traps were used for larger numbers on areas large enough so that the mallards would condescend to remain while a trap was set up.

Most of this banding was done on a block of agricultural land some 20 miles square, and it was accomplished by one crew in 1953, two in 1954 and 1955, and three in 1956. The crews have consisted of one or two men and a dog, although one man has sometimes handled two dogs. The daily catch has ranged from two to 75 mallards per crew and has averaged 29.

To get a well-distributed sample of young mallards, just about every slough in an area has to be worked—whether or not the birds are seen on it. In many cases a mallard brood loafing on the shore will turn around and walk back into the grass as soon as a vehicle stops or a banding-crew appears; such a brood is seldom noted until the dog starts retrieving individuals from it. On sloughs with no emergent vegetation, mallard broods on the water will usually head for shore if they feel that they can escape unnoticed. If not, they may head for the deepest water, where they have to be carefully herded ashore either by wading or by canoe before the dog can work effectively.

With the dog leading, a team sets out across the marsh.

The pace quickens as chase leads through bog and water.

When on land the dog works the near-shore cover on the first trip around a slough, and then the area up to 300 yards back from shore on the second coverage. As a dog approaches a duck, his tailwagging speeds up until he is at close range; then he suddenly comes to an abrupt halt, tensely waiting a few seconds for his eyes to see or his ears to hear what his nose tells him is there. He then pounces in the general area, locates the duck, works it out of cover and carries it to the nearest bander.

It might seem that when working with these "upland waterfowl" the field men should be able to do their own duck catching, but this is not possible. One reason is that the birds usually rush into the thickest cover — bushes, grass or standing crops. Another is that they seldom stop near the water's edge, and within a matter of minutes may be scattered within a one-mile radius of the shore. In 1954, Rusty caught two young mallards about 1,500 yards from a slough that a crew had just finished working. Their hen was apparently leading them to another slough still a quarter-mile away. Because of this rapid scattering a dog seldom catches an entire brood.

And if the crew needs another excuse, they can only admit that they just don't have the nose for the job. The field books show that while each member of the two-man crew was finding one mallard, the dog had found and caught eleven. When dogs learn to attach the bands and keep the records, biologists will be out of the mallard-banding business.

While dogs work best on land, they are also efficient in shallow water. After a duck has dived three or four times, the dog is usually in a position where he can put his head under water and come up with the bird. In water deep enough so that the dog has to swim, he can still scent birds in dense aquatic vegetation, but here it is usually the handler rather than the dog who does the actual catching.

Field Training is Basic

Training dogs for this work differs little from that required for field trials. Fortunately, the dogs used at Kindersley have been endowed with a lot of natural ability, and quickly learned what was expected of them in return for the four to six cans of dog food they were given per day. When Chips, the latest addition to the crew, saw his first live duck he just pranced around and barked at it, but within a week he was retrieving live birds unharmed. If he learns as fast about skunks and porcupines, all will be well.

Any retriever with a good nose, basic obedience training and at least a rough idea of hand signals should develop into a good duck banding dog if he has what a dog handler calls a "soft mouth" and if he is otherwise gentle with live birds. One test for this is his ability to retrieve baby chicks unharmed. The few fatalities which occur usually happen as the dogs are getting birds out of particularly heavy cover rather than when they are carrying them. Serious injuries are practically non-existent.

As this season progresses down the flyways, hunting dogs from many of the 26 states visited by Kindersley-raised mallards will be retrieving banded birds that have once before been handled by one of three other dogs — Rusty, Widgeon or Chips.

THE FEMALE CANINE– Genetics and Breeding

by Dr. Lee Ford

It seems as if we are always having to make "decisions"! First, we had to decide if we wanted to buy a male or a female, then we had to decide if we wanted to buy a puppy or a grown female, then, if we bought the puppy, we had to make so many decisions about how to "properly" raise her. And now! Here she is in "heat" and we have to decide on a proper mate.

Need of the Male

Out of all of our problems and questions one simple fact remains unaltered: If we want to have a litter of puppies from our female, they will need a father as well as a mother! This is simply an undisputed biological phenomenon which has been unquestioned for a long time! We may or may not know all the details of just what goes on, just how the process of cogenesis forms the eggs which are contributed by the mother, or just how the process of spermatogenesis forms the spermatozeans which are contributed by the father, or just how the fertilized egg or zygote grows by the process of mitosis, cell enlargement, cell differentiation, and cell maturation, or even just exactly how the puppies are "born." But everyone does know that you have to have a father if you are going to have puppies, and that the "heat" period of the female is the myserious time during which these puppies are "made".

During the so-called "heat" period, our female becomes attractive to all males and so we have no difficulty in knowing she is now "in season". If we wish to check her condition and attempt to guess the right time for breeding, we carefully examine the "vulva" which is the external organ of the female reproductive system, located under the tail. Only during this "heat" period does the vulva become enlarged, swollen, and a reddish discharge appears. With passage of a week or ten days, the discharge gradually becomes lighter, and about the tenth, eleventh, or twelfth day the female will probably "receive" the male. Before this time, you actually have no worries (although still not a good idea to let her out with the males!), because she will not "receive" the male until she is ready anyhow.

A more or less general rule is that the female can probably be bred successfully about the twelfth to fourteenth day. But remember, your particular female is an individual, and individuals differ. She just might be one of those exceptions that is ready to breed on the second or third day or perhaps the sixth or seventh day. She also might be an exception that wouldn't breed until 16 or 18 days. We cannot deal with all the exceptions but only give a few general rules.

Selection of Stud Dog

If we are dealing with registered dogs of one particular breed, and if we wish to have registered puppies, we at least must limit ourselves to a registered stud dog of the same breed. Whether you decide to linebreed or outcross be sure your selected stud dog is registered and that you have made satisfactory arrangements with his owner for payment of the stud services.

In a short article it is impossible to discuss advantages and disadvantages of linebreeding and outcrossing except

Ten Years of Obedience in Quebec 1946-1956

A highly successful clinic marks ten years of hard work, laughter and loving patience under the heading of Obedience

THE story behind the story is often more interesting than the story itself. This is true of Obedience in Quebec where they are celebrating their tenth anniversary.

The ninth licensed trial of The Mountain City Obedience Club, which I had the pleasure of judging on October 27, was a delightful affair. The dog "clinic" was enthusiastically received and well attended, but my five-day visit took me back ten years to November, 1946, when I received my first telephone call from Mrs. A. E. Carter, President of the Montreal S.P.C.A. Their General Manager, Mr. W. N. Dunlop, while attending the National Humane Convention in Columbus, Ohio, that summer, had seen some film on dog training. Mr. Dunlop was anxious to have the films shown in Montreal, with the thought in mind that the S.P.C.A. would sponsor a series of dog training classes, similar to those offered by the A. S.-P. C. A. in New York City.

Thus, Miss Louise Branch, producer of the films, and I departed for the Mountain City with the three color and sound movies Puppy Trouble, Basic Obedience and Advanced Obedience, based on my recently published book Training You To Train Your Dog. We also had with us the star of the book and the films, a black Standard Poodle who sported the American title, Ch. Carillon Jester, U.D.T., who, in later years, went on to win his C.D. in Canada.

Victoria Hall in Westmount, where the films were to be shown and where Jester was to display his talents, was filled to capacity. The fact that there was such a large turnout made us feel that Montrealers at least liked dogs and that, as far as Obedience was concerned, we were on fertile soil. Montreal now has two active Obedience Clubs and holds four Obedience Trials a year, keeping pace with Obedience in the States and in other parts of Canada.

A black woolly dog, a pile of luggage and a raccoon coat were my introductions to Mrs. Alex Casgrain, Quebec's "mother of Obedience". Emerging from a taxi at 7 a.m. one morning on East 55th Street in New York City, like Aunt Ema, Lorna had come to stay. It was February, 1947, and the purpose of her visit was to attend one of the A.S.P.C.A.'s nine-week training courses, of which I was and still am, training director. (Mrs. Casgrain turned out to be the "pest" who, the night of the films, asked more questions than a customs official.) For weeks after my visit, the Montreal S.P.C.A. knew no peace. What about this Obedience training? When would classes begin? Who would be the trainer? In desperation it was suggested that since Mrs. Casgrain was so in earnest, she might like to take on the responsibility. With the S.P.C.A.'s moral support and with financial aid from the Department of Veterans Affairs (Mrs. Casgrain is an ex-Wren) she and Wendy, before venturing on their own, came to New York to learn what they could about Obedience training.

Some of you may not know who Wendy is. Others will remember her as a Standard Poodle and the first obedience trained dog in Quebec. Wendy's fancy name is Itou of Saguenay and, although now retired, she holds the American and Canadian titles of U.D.T., one of four Quebec dogs to do so. The others are Amanda of Merrychance, owned by Mrs. R. W. Tyner (the first to gain this distinction), Barlanark La Petite Coquette, owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Newcombe, and Petitcote Becky, another dog of Mrs. Casgrain's. It is interesting to note that all four dogs are Poodles.

Miss Saunders, judge, presents trophy to Mrs. R. H. Bryson, whose Standard Poodle, Petitcote Phantom, Can. & Am. C. D., won Open B class and highest score in Trial (198) at Mountain City Obedience Club Trial.

When I first met Wendy, she was just another shaggy dog, very polite and without the Ph.D after her name. To prove she was serious about this obedience business, while in the States, Wendy won her American C.D. degree, twice going highest scoring dog in trial. She studied advanced training, taking both Open and Utility work. She listened in, when she was supposed to be sleeping, while we discussed tracking with all its complications. One lesson in "attack" work, Wendy will never forget! After all, the "burglar", hiding behind the screen, wasn't very nice!

After Wendy returned to Canada, it was one continuous round of work. Through her demonstrations and exhibitions, she did more than any other dog to further the cause of Obedience in Quebec. My guess is that when Wendy reaches doggie heaven, she will receive a special reward for a job well done!

From this point on, the Obedience record speaks for itself. In May, 1947, the S.P.C.A. sponsored the first training classes in Montreal, with Mrs. Casgrain as instructor. Nine dogs were enrolled. For the next three years, from 1947 to 1950, when it was agreed that Mrs. Casgrain should run the classes as her own, the S.P.C.A. offered dog training as part of its educational program. Today, the Society, with Mrs. A. T. Galt Durnford at the helm, is still 100 per cent for Obedience Training and full support is given the Casgrain classes which, in 1956, number as many as seventy beginners.

Judging In Bermuda

by T. E. Gundersen

IT was considered an honour and a privilege to be asked to judge dogs with Dr. Wilfrid Shute on this beautiful and restful Island. Because of foggy weather, it was advisable to leave two days prior to the show. Unfortunately some exhibitors failed to consider this point, with the result that a number of Americans and some Canadians failed to reach the Island on November 1.

The flight to the Island was without mishap, and the secretary, John Oppenshaw, together with a distinguished group of officers from the Bermuda Kennel Club greeted us at the airport, from whence we were driven to the beautiful Bermudiana Hotel.

The show was held on the picturesque grounds of the Agricultural Station (in Canada The Dominion Experimental Farm) overlooking the south to the "cruel sea", which on the first day displayed some degree of anger. The attendance was excellent on all three days, and the temperature was 78, 75, and 72 degrees with a refreshing breeze.

The working dogs represented the largest entry, with Boxers and German Shepherds leading. The overall picture in analyzing the quality of dogs could be considered good and medium. Time was taken to explain the faults during the judging, and this was most appreciated as in some instances when dogs were taken by the judges and presented to the exhibitor to bring out the points.

The climate on the Island is not conducive to full bloom for long coated dogs, therefore allowances had to be borne in mind; athough the Pomeranians and the Collies did exhibit good coats. The entry of one Rhodesian Ridgeback was a novelty. The procedure of judging each show was patterned to C.K.C. rules. The point rating was one point to winners, add one point to Best of Breed, add two points Best in Group, and add one Point for BIS (12 points required for a championship).

The three-day show created a great deal of excitement and enthusiasm on this Island, and much publicity in shop windows was evident, which indicated the committee had been very active. Each day pictures and show reports were given front page news in the local papers.

The Bermuda Kennel Club is to be congratulated from the energetic president, Lady Florence Conyers through every officer and member who worked so hard. The hospitality and kindness extended to us exceeded anything one could imagine, and with the various functions arranged for sightseeing, swimming, cycling, and meeting so many fine people, we left this Island with a deep sense of thankfulness for this wonderful experience.

The potentialities for future dog shows on the Island are unlimited. The Club is most keen, and the exhibitors and breeders are anxious for future shows. We would strongly urge Canadian and American exhibitors to come to Bermuda not only as an exhibitor, but for a delightful vacation.

TERRIER TYPES

SMALL dogs with a wiry, short overcoat and bewhiskered face are apt to be misconstrued as a "Scottie". Anything from a Cairn to a Kerry, a Schnauzer to a Fox Terrier is assumed to be a Scottie by the uninitiated. Three things are patent: the lasting interest shown in the Scottish Terrier, the education to be done by enthusiasts of other Terriers, and the fact that anyone breeding the Scottish Terrier, or about to start a kennel should benefit by the evidence that the Scotsman has never long been out of the public mind.

A group of Terriers closely resembling each other but quite individual are the Airedales, Irish and Welsh Terriers, as well as the Fox Terriers. The white background of the last-named help greatly in the distinction. Basically, the grandaddy of them all seems likely to have been the early Broken-haired or Old English Terrier. Other breeds were introduced to bring in additional attributes. Many of the larger Terrier breeds, long known as ratters and fearless hunters of game such as fox, gained additional fame as guardsmen and messengers during wartime.

Look at the Irish Terrier, with his reddish coat, piercing eyes and somewhat longer body, and compare him with an Irish Wolfhound. Except for size and tail, there is a great similarity. The Welsh Terrier is distinctive from the others from the standpoint of his coat of black and rich tan (unaltered over a century) and somewhat smaller dimensions.

Wire and Smooth-haired Fox Terriers are not identical except for coat, as one might suppose. The Smooth preceded the Wire by about 15 years, and is said to have stemmed from an ancestry of the smooth-coated black-and-tan, the Beagle and the Greyhound and the Bull Terrier. In early times the Wires were crossed with the Smooths to encourage the white pigmentation, clean-cut head and outline.

Other rough-coated Terriers; The Schnauzers, which come in Miniature, Standard and Giant sizes by order of popularity on this continent, are becoming increasingly welcome as housepets which do not shed and are exceptionally loving and intelligent.

In the group of small Terriers are notably, the Cairn, the aforementioned Scottish, the Sealyham, Skye and West Highland White. All are quite well-known to dog enthusiasts, all have the same fighting, unflinching instinct, and all are becoming ever-increasingly in demand as pets. The Skye is perhaps outstanding as an attention-getter at shows for his long silky curtain of hair and massive head. The Dandie Dinmont may soon take its deserved place in popularity as more are being bred in Canada. His first publicist was Sir Walter Scott, around 1814. The Australian can be said to nearest resemble the Cairn, although the background includes the Dandie Dinmont, Skye, Scottish, a small perecentage of Yorkshire and Irish Blood. Among outstanding owners, Prince Aly Khan.

AIREDALE

Dapper as a man-about-town, a fearless hunter, used on large game not only on the north American continent but in Africa and India, the Airedale has retained his true line and high regard through the years. He is the largest of the Terrier family, and may be traced to the Valley of Aire, in Yorkshire. He is a gay, friendly dog, but takes his hunting and guardwork very seriously. An unusually clean dog, requiring little in the way of grooming.

The Airedale is readily adaptable to the life of his family, whether it be in the city or country, in a large or small home. He's a natural buddy for children and is delighted with rough and tumble play. A great companion for Mother, he is a man's man on a hunting trip with Dad. On the farm he is the avowed enemy in vermin. He rates high in the Obedience ring and is a born showman in competition.

While some dogs are quick to grasp a command, they are equally quick to forget. The Airedales have the commendable qualities of intelligence plus dependability. They were among the first breeds trained for police duty in Great Britain and Germany, and in wartime service as despatch bearers, displayed exceptional fortitude in carrying out duties despite injuries. Their disposition is one of sweetness to family and friends, and in general, show dignified deportment.

BULL TERRIERS

Early nineteenth century England found the Bull Terrier the associate of the country's more undesirable elements. The outlawing of dog fighting for which they were bred, gave the breed the opportunity to prove what a lovable and pleasant character lay in under the rugged exterior. It is difficult to live down a shady past and never was a breed of dog more maligned than the Bull Terrier. "Foremost to defend" is a most apt motto for the breed, as they do not look for trouble. They are, however, well able to defend themselves and their loved ones and do so with a superb courage. Bull Terriers may be white or coloured, the whites being permitted colour in front of the set-on of the head. The coloureds may be partly white as long as colour predominates.

The twelve week old puppy female, TILLY AN KERNOW, was bred by Mr. & Mrs. Geoffrey White, Kernow Kennels, R.R. #2, Barrie, Ont. and is now owned by their young daughter, Miss Bridget White. Now making reservations for Spring puppies, coloureds and whites. Stud service.

The Manchester Terrier devotees claim, without much opposition, that there is little to compare with him for his refined appearance, long clean head, and trim wide-awake expression. The Lakeland, one of the oldest working Terriers still in existence has become extremely rare.

Two other distinctly individual Terriers are the Bedlington, with his endearing lamb's head and silky wool coat, and the Staffordshire, who names the Bulldog among his forebears. An early appellation was the Bull-and-Terrier Dog. Note: the Staffordshire Terrier and the Staffordshire Bull Terrier are entirely different breeds.

Other not-so-well known breeds, at least on this continent, are the Norwich, Lhasa Apso, and Border. Another item to confuse: Three Terriers, the Toy Manchester, Boston and Yorkshire are not classed as terriers at all, but as Toys!

Terriers in general are hardy and need only reasonable and sensible care. By nature they are independent, even wilful. They may take a little more patience than some other breeds. Certainly the bright intelligence permits little doubt as to the owner's wishes, but frequently subjects the command to brief cogitation. Once the terrier decides the order makes sense, he'll give it his full obedient attention. This trait may well be forgiven in view of the great courage and loyalty of the terriers in all the varying breeds and sizes.

Little is required in the way of grooming in most Terrier types, as long as the coat is kept sufficiently nourished and does not become too dry. Terriers are naturally neat about themselves, but respond well to grooming, much as a person steps out more briskly when well turned out.

Most Terriers have an enviable talent for not showing their age, and even at nine or ten years may romp and play like a puppy. As for Terrier fanciers, they may become interested in the various breeds, but they are dyed-in-the-wool devotees of the Terrier Group.

KERRY BLUE TERRIER

The Kerry is ultra Terrier in all aspects by virtue of his size, colouring; (blue-black, shadings of deep slate through blue grey or grey blue (puppies are born jet black) square long face, and exceptional alertness.

The National dog of Ireland is a master guardian and hunter and an unusually gay companion. When approaching a Kerry, a stranger should be invited to stand still and allow the Kerry to size him up; once acceptable, this Irishman gives a heartful of loyalty and love. His silky, wavy coat needs little attention beyond good brushing and diet, and never sheds.

Ch. Bffoys Brigid of the Bog (Imp.) (awaiting C.K.C. confirmation). Nicky finished with 11 points, 3 Best of Breeds and 1 Group placing. Trained and handled by Mrs. B. DeBoer. Tregoad Kennels, Regd., owned by Mr. & Mrs. H. Betts, Tregoad Kennels, Regd., R.R. #1, Richmond Hill, Ont.

WELSH TERRIER

Research shows that the Welsh Terriers have existed as a pedigreed dog for more than a century. The Welshman is not descended from the Old English Black-and-Tan Terrier, but is its contemporary. The little Fox Terrier blood has now been bred out. Like many Terriers, the bristly-coated Welsh Terrier has large, soft eyes. He is one of the most alert of dogs, is a good size for the city home as well as the country, and is easy to care for.

The Welsh Terrier and the Lakeland are frequently confused. Although the pattern is somewhat similar, the Lakeland (rarely seen in Canada) is usually smaller and lighter. In character the Welsh and Lakeland are basically alike, with varying shadings. Both are working terriers, both keen to hunt; the Welsh calm and at the ready, the Lakeland eager and full of mischief.

Despite his hunting instinct, the Welshman is a great homebody and not given to roaming. He is an easy pet to rear, and if raised with children is a wonderful rough and tumble playmate, and a responsible companion.

Miss Norma Black, the youngest member of Milroy's Kennels, Reg'd., daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Roy N. Black, 134 Innisfil St., Barrie, Ont., with Ch. Milroy's Mona Belle and Ch. Milroy's Bonnie Son Hugh. Stud service, grown stock. Puppies usually available.

THE WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIER

As his name implies, the "Westie" hails from the Western Highlands of Scotland, where the type was developed for the control of foxes and other vermin. Originally of any colour, the white dogs came to be preferred as they are more easily seen while working and unlikely to be mistaken for the quarry. Working conditions demanded a high degree of courage, hardiness, strength and activity, as well as strong teeth in powerful jaws, with a heavy double coat as protection against weather, water and briars; all this in a small compass. Poor communications kept the breed from general public view until about fifty years ago. Since then his gay, affectionate temperament, coupled with the always desirable qualities already mentioned, have won it a staunch and steadily expanding circle of admirers.

Here is the pet for the person whose life and home indicate a small dog, but whose preference demands hardiness and gameness. Virtually anything the average owner undergoes in the way of exercise can be more than matched by the little Westie.

Although his coat is pure white, he is easily kept clean with just the daily application of brush and comb. He is easy to handle, and shows well.

Died: Dr. James A. Campbell, V.S., D.V.M. Honorary president of The Canadian Kennel Club and curator of Riverdale and High Park Zoos for more than three years. Born in Ootacamund, India, more than 70 years ago, he became internationally known and honoured, as a Fellow of the Zoological Societies of London, England and Dublin, vice-president of the North American Veterinary Association, and a member of numerous Kennel Clubs. Dr. Campbell had also served as consulting veterinarian of the Toronto Humane Society and veterinary surgeon for the Canadian National Exhibition.

He exhibited his first dog, Woolton Roona, a Spaniel, in 1899, and later became interested in Whippet racing, Wire Haired Terriers and Cocker Spaniels. Later Labrador Retrievers became his major breed interest. He was noted as the first veterinarian to convince breeders, whose dogs had serious whelping difficulties, of the humane use of Caesarian operations.

Macdonald Daly, noted British judge who evaluated at the Canadian National Exhibition shows this Fall, singled out Can. & Am. Ch. Tailteann's Miss Show-off of Cognewaugh as "one of the most interesting champions I encountered on visits to Canadian kennels".

Winner of 26 Best in Show awards, this matron is producing stars in her litters. She is owned by Mrs. M. Eileen McEachren, owner of Tailteann Kerry Blue Kennels and president of The Canadian Kennel Club. On his return to England Mr. Daly wrote a glowing account of Canadian dogs for the English publication "Our Dogs."

In Anchorage, Alaska, Jory the Schnauzer pet of Capt. and Mrs. Edwin Sweeney had the city in a turmoil after he escaped from air line attendants. The dog, who hates cages and distrusts strangers, was being shipped from the States to join his owners in Tokyo where Capt. Sweeney had been transferred to a fighter base.

Finally it was necessary to fly Mrs. Sweeney from Tokyo to Anchorage to carry on the search. A telephone call sent her hurrying to a vacant block, isolated by a cordon of police to keep strangers away from the frightened animal. When Mrs. Sweeney was 100 yards away Jory recognized her and dashed into her arms.

Vicious or frightened dogs can be handled easily by veterinarians through the use of tranquilizing drugs, the American Veterinary Medicine Association was told at its annual meeting in San Antonio, Texas.

Dr. J. O. Knowles of Miami, Florida, told of his experiments in which vicious dogs became friendly, frantic dogs calm, and even anxious noisy barking was reduced or eliminated. Tranquilizers, suggested Dr. Knowles, will make it easier for dog owners to bring their pets to veterinarians, if given in advance.

Jackie, a small black dog of doubtful ancestry, not only served as mascot for the Mike Long Stable at Fort Erie this summer, but entertained anyone who would watch his antics. Wearing a jockey cap, and sporting glasses and a cigar or pipe, he rides the stable pony and climbs ladders.

When working around the sheds he "hot-walks" the horses, gripping the end of a shank in his teeth, or occasionally stalking with a whip in his mouth. Jackie, who is seven and has been with the Long stables since puppyhood, frequently assumes police guard as well.

Crystal Creek Ranch owned by Lt. Col. and Mrs. J. De B. Cowan, Kaslo, B.C., have shipped two Great Dane pups by air to Anchorage Alaska, to protect a young family against wild dogs roaming the area. The four-months-old Blue Danes, Romany's Roderick and Romany's Random were flown to Alaska via CPA at the request of C. E. Chenoweth of Mount View. The dogs are turned loose when food supplies run low, and have been known to kill young children in their fight against hunger.

Mrs. Cowan has bred Danes for 54 years in England and Canada.

Kerry Blue Terriers are making their way into Newfoundland, where interest in the breed has suddenly caught on. A representative of Kennel of Sapphire Springs Reg'd., owned by Gordon A. Cunningham, Tecumseh, Ont. was one of the first.

The same kennels sold a Kerry male and a male Welsh Terrier to a visitor from Norway. Unfortunately a ruling states that any dog entering Scandinavia must undergo a six-month quarantine and the purchaser declined to submit dogs to this regulation, Mr. Cunningham reports.

Miss Ann Wurtele, London, Ont., assistant chairman of Junior Education for the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, teaches dog training and care to students. Helping her demonstrate dog and owner demeanor is Jemima, her white Cairn Terrier, who wears a white collar and bell. Jemima works smoothly and well, despite the fact that she is blind.

American dogs in many states actively campaigned to get more people out to vote in the recent election. A patriotic dog food manufacturer provided plastic dog blankets imprinted with "Be-sure-to-vote" messages to any owner who would use them. One message read: "Vote as you dog-gone please, But VOTE November 6th."

Both Messrs. Eisenhower and Stevenson are dog lovers. Twenty-three presidents to date have owned dogs.

"DOGGY" CHRISTMAS CARDS

Used copies of "Dogs in Canada" sell well at the stalls operated by the Animal Health Trust, reports Winnie Barber, Canine Liaison Officer. This fine animal welfare group, with headquarters in London, England, is a non-profit organization. One way in which funds are earned is by means of exceptionally fine "doggy" Christmas cards. A variety of comic greetings (one shows Dachshunds skiing with varying degrees of skill) picture a great many breeds. Others are straight sketches. Name and address can be overprinted. For details airmail: Winnie Barber, Animal Health Trust, 14 Ashley Place, Westminster, London, S.W. 1, England.

DOG HEALTH RECORD

A dog health record, designed to help the owner keep a continuous log of essential health data on his pet, is now available without cost.

The record provides space for the listing of the dog's family history, his life as a puppy, entries on vaccinations, wormings, ailments, injuries, hospitalizations, etc. This information is most helpful when a dog is brought in for diagnosis or treatment by a veterinarian.

A copy of "Your Dog's Health Record," complete with passport-type envelope, may be had on request from the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York 17, N.Y.

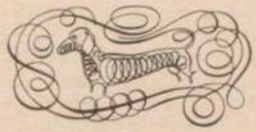

CORRECTION

DOGS IN CANADA

TOWEL, PLEASE

With the onset of rough weather, make sure your dog is thoroughly dried if he comes in wet, with particular attention to the kidney area. Be sure he does not lie in a draft, and keep a sharp eye for shivering. Make him run around to stimulate circulation. Natural precautions save suffering for the dog and dollars for the owner.

JAPANESE DOG FIGHTS

Dog fights in Japan are being actively opposed by the Japan Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Leading the group is Lady Gascogne, strong-minded wife of a former British diplomat in Tokyo.

Foreigners are rarely invited to the fights, with the thought they would find the affairs distasteful. The "tosa" dogs are generally the property of wealthy farmers. Although the dogs aim at each other's throats and continue the skirmish until one rolls to the mat or gives up, the contestants are rarely seriously injured. Bouts may last from one to 30 minutes, with the average time ten minutes.

SHELTIE'S BRAINWORK HONOURED

Here's the story behind Lassie, the Shetland Sheepdog honoured as National Dog Hero of the Year by the Ken-L-Ration Division of the Quaker Oats Company, Chicago.

Gary, son of Lassie's owners, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Gustafson, San Carlos, Calif., was recovering from an operation. When a hemorrhage suddenly occurred, the boy tried to reach his parents' bedroom but collapsed. The alert Lassie, sleeping downstairs, hurried to investigate the light thud, then tried to waken the parents. In desperation the small dog leaped on the bed and jerked at the covers. Reasoning the dog wanted to go outside, Gary's mother sleepily headed for the door. But Lassie anxiously started in the opposite direction. Following her, Mrs. Gustafson found Gary still unconscious and bleeding rapidly. Hospital transfusions saved his life, but his doctor commented that loss of blood for another quarter hour would have been fatal.

With the tribute, Lassie was presented with a $1,000 Defense Bond, a gold-plated lead and a year's supply of Ken-L-Ration.

PICKING PORCUPINE QUILLS

Here is still another method of making the removal of quills less painful: Add a tablespoon of baking soda to a cup of vinegar. Stir the solution thoroughly, then spread on all protruding sections of the quills. After ten minutes repeat. The quills become softened and can easily be released.

German Shepherd enthusiasts from Kingston, Fort Erie, Orillia and Buffalo as well as Toronto and district met recently at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, Ont. to hear Mr. Lloyd Brackett of Allegan, Mich., noted judge and lecturer, speak on Breeding and Gait. CLUB NOTES

The Boxer Club of Canada

by Dorothy M. Newman

We were pleased to welcome and re-elect a past president and founder of the Boxer Club, Mr. Spencer Weller, a man of great knowledge and personality who will give us of his store of knowledge to help us breed and show better Boxers. We felt badly, at the same time, to lose Mrs. McKendrick, our president for 1956.

It was agreed that we hold our Specialty Show at the German Shepherds Breeders Association All Breed Show in June, 1957.

Our Annual Meeting was held October 28 at the home of Mrs. Susie-Mae Weir. Her kind hospitality, and the delicious chicken dinner she served, combined with the friendly atmosphere of the meeting, made a very enjoyable afternoon.

Officers elected for 1957 are: Mr. Spencer Weller, president, Mrs. Susie-Mae Weir and Miss Jean Grant, first and second vice-presidents; Mrs. E. Salt, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy M. Newman, corresponding secretary; Mr. John Marks, show secretary; Mrs. Eve Whitmore, trophy manager, and Mr. Jim Punfield, publicity manager.

are held at the various members' homes at least once each two months. In addition to the general business of the club to be discussed at these meetings every endeavor is made to make them both interesting and instructive to the members. This is accomplished by the attendance of guest speakers and the occasional showing of motion pictures on "doggy" matters. While the President of the Club, Mrs. J. Neill Malcolm, resides in Ottawa most of the meetings are held in Toronto.

The West Highland White Terrier is continuing to prove himself a great little showman by making his presence felt in the show ring despite the keen competition from other breeds. 1956 has proven to be a gala year for our little Westies. Since the first of the year, in Championship shows, a West Highland White Terrier has been declared Best in Show on three occasions, once Best Canadian Bred in Show and once Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show. On nearly all occasions a West Highland White Terrier has figured prominently in the Terrier Group. During the year a West Highland White Terrier was also awarded his Canadian C.D. Title in the Obedience ring.

The Female Canine

to mention briefly the purpose and results of each. In linebreeding you stay within a certain group of related dogs, you intensify the good (and the bad) qualities that are in the dogs and, depending on the intensity of linebreeding, you are assured of more or less uniform progeny. In outcrossing you feel the need for something your line is weak in or lacks entirely and you look for another line which has the thing you need. Then, with time, you select for dogs having all the good traits. In an outcross, even in the same breed but between different lines, the first generation may be quite uniform and so quite misleading. But it will take several generations of backcrossing and selecting until you again get a uniform line.

So you select your male. He is either here or there — and if there, it may be only 50 or 60 miles, perhaps 300 or 400 miles, or more. You must get her to him. I know of very few owners who will take him to her. Although, when possible, that arrangement does have certain points in its favor.

Shipping the Female

Besides the details of a suitable crate, roomy and comfortable, and not too heavy, arrangements must be made for pick up and delivery of the crate to and from express company or airports and making sure she goes by air freight and not air express (which is a lot more expensive), arrangements for insurance, making sure all vaccinations are in order and health certificate proper, arranging for food and water with the company shipping her, to say nothing of notifying the owner of the stud dog when she is to be shipped and when she is expected to arrive. Besides all this there is the most difficult job of all . . . putting her in a little crate which she obviously does not care for and then going off and leaving her without being able to explain to her why you are "deserting" her.

Why Keep a Breeding Pair?

In my own Shamrock Collie genetic-breeding program we have advocated a unique and unusual plan which I think is the only one in operation as

      (ii) to warn, to reprimand, to fine, to impose costs, to debar and/or otherwise discipline any person, who in the opinion of the Board has done any act which is prejudicial to the objects or interests of the Club or to the interests of its members or their dogs or who has violated any of the provisions of The Live Stock Pedigree Act, of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act or of the by-laws, rules or regulations of the Club.

   (b) The Board shall have the power to deprive any non-member of the privileges of the Club if in the opinion of the Board he has violated:
      (i) A by-law of the Club relating to eligibility for registration, establishment of production credentials or payment of fees;
      (ii) section sixteen or section seventeen of The Live Stock Pedigree Act, 1949; or
      (iii) any provision of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act or the regulations thereunder relating to the identification, marking or testing of pure-bred dogs.
2. Any person or persons may submit a charge or complaint in writing to the Secretary with regard to any matter relating to the Club's objects or activities.
3. Any such charge or complaint shall be referred to a standing Complaints Committee appointed by the Board in accordance with general instructions given from time to time by the Board.

   (g) refer any charge or complaint to an Advisory Committee designated by the Board or by the standing Complaints Committee, for investigation and report;
   (h) take any other course with regard to any charge or complaint which the Board deems advisable.

   and may do any one or more of all of these things together or in succession or as the Board may from time to time determine provided that the Board may in its general instructions or with regard to any particular charge or complaint previously delegate to the standing Complaints Committee any or all of its powers under (a), (b), (c), (f) or (g) above.
5. Any person or persons against whom a charge or complaint has been submitted shall if such charge or complaint is referred to an Advisory Committee have fifteen days notice in writing by registered mail of the charge or complaint and of the time and place of hearing; shall have the right to be heard in person and to produce witnesses and evidence, and to be accompanied or represented by legal counsel.
6. Any person who has been expelled, suspended, has had membership terminated, has been deprived of the privileges of the Club or has been otherwise disciplined by the Board may apply for the reconsideration of such action by notice in writing filed with the Secretary within thirty days of being notified of such action. The Board may then reconsider the matter at a meeting of the Board held immediately before the annual general meeting of the Club and its decision after such reconsideration shall be final and binding unless at the immediately succeeding annual general meeting, on the written application of any persons so disciplined, the meeting appoints a Special Appeal Committee to review the matter. The decision of the Special Appeal Committee in that event shall be final and binding.
9. No person shall have any recourse against the Club, the Board, the standing Complaints Committee, any Advisory Committee or special Appeal Board or any of the members thereof by reason of the exercise of any disciplinary power or procedure.
10. In this article the following interpretations shall apply:
   (a) Person shall include member, partnership, club, association or corporation;
   (b) Expulsion when imposed terminates membership in the Club and deprives the person so expelled from all privileges of the Club;
   (c) Suspension when imposed deprives a member for the period ordered of all the privileges of the Club;
   (d) Deprivation of privileges when imposed deprives a non-member of all privileges accorded non-members of the Club;
   (e) Termination of membership when imposed deprives a person of the privileges accorded only to members of the Club but permits of his receiving the privileges of the Club accorded non-members.
   (f) Debarment when imposed prohibits any person participating in any competitions or other activities directed, sanctioned, sponsored or authorized by the Club or held under its auspices or under any of its rules or regulations, to the extent and subject to the terms imposed by the Board in any particular case.

1. Add a new section as follows:
   "2A. No entries may be accepted after the date and hour set forth in the Prize List. Entries must close and the drawing made at least three clear days before the Trial."
2. Amend Section 14 by adding to the list of regular official stakes: "Special All-Age Stake".
3. Delete Section 18 in its entirety and substitute the following:
   "18. A Qualifying Stake at a Retriever and/or Irish Water Spaniel Field Trial shall be for dogs which have never won first, second, third or fourth place in an Open All-Age Stake, Limited All-Age Stake, Special All-Age Stake, or won first, second, third or fourth place in an Amateur All-Age Stake or won first place in a Qualifying Stake at a licensed Trial. In determining whether a dog is eligible for the Qualifying Stake, no awards received on or after the official date of closing of entries shall be counted."

1. A new section be included and numbered 21A as follows:—

3. The part of Section 23 printed in italics be amended by deleting:—
   "In each Open All-Age or Limited All-Age Stake there must be at least 8 starters." and substituting therefor:—
   "In each Open All-Age, or Limited All-Age, or Special All-Age Stake there must be at least 8 starters, five of which are eligible for entry in a Limited All-Age Stake".
   and further—in the ninth line of the paragraph in italics, insert:—

   "At present to acquire an Amateur Field Trial Championship a Retriever and/or Irish Water Spaniel must win a total of fifteen points, which may be acquired as follows: in each Open All-Age Stake; Limited All-Age Stake; Special All-Age Stake, or Amateur All-Age Stake, open to all breeds there must be at least eight starters, five of which are eligible for entry in a Limited All-Age Stake, and the handler and owner must be an amateur in conformity with the definition laid down in our rules. PROPOSED BY: J. A. H. Irving, T. A. Brown & Sons, G. Victor Joyce, H. V. P. Lewis, and R. A. Laidlaw and H. V. P. Lewis.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT NO. 16

WE PROPOSE THAT: "Standard Procedure for Non Slip Retriever Trials" (Chap. 10) be amended as follows:

Par. 3 be deleted in its entirety and replaced by:—

A. Accurate marking is of primary importance. A dog which marks the fall of a bird, uses the wind, and follows a strong cripple is of great value. A dog that fails to find quickly and leaves the immediate area of the fall, disturbing the cover, or which requires direction from his handler while hunting for a bird which he has had the opportunity of marking, shall be penalized by the Judge. A dog that leaves the immediate area of the fall while hunting for a marked bird and in the opinion of the Judge switches to the area of another fall, shall be severely penalized or may be disqualified.

B. The Judges must judge their dogs for sagacity, attention, control, steadiness, nose, delivery, courage, perseverance and style. Dogs should deliver directly to hand and not drop game on the ground, but distinction should be made between deliberately dropping a bird or readjusting a bad hold. No dog should be disqualified for hard mouth until injured game has been examined by two judges.

C. On a blind retrieve, a dog which will take direction from his handler on land or in water is of great value. A dog should take the line given him by his handler, and should work in that direction until stopped by the handler. A dog that refuses to obey the whistle or hand signals of his handler shall be penalized by the Judges.

Par. 4 Delete the word "Wooden" in the third line.

Par. 5 Delete the second paragraph (page 12) in its entirety and substitute:—
"When the handler of a dog under judgment is ordered by the Judges for any reason to pick up his dog, he is still under judgment until he has left the line with his dog at heel. A handler shall be penalized if he speaks to or touches his dog or takes the dog from the line until so ordered by the Judges, and all provisions of Paragraph 5 of the Standard Procedure shall apply until that time."

Par. 6 Delete in its entirety.

Par. 7 and 8 Should be renumbered.

Par. 9 Delete in its entirety.

Par. 10, 11 and 12 Should be renumbered.

A new paragraph to be No. 11 is suggested.

A dog that drops one bird while retrieving and picks up another is to be disqualified.

A new paragraph to be No. 12 is suggested.

Dogs are expected to retrieve any type of game bird under all conditions and the Judges and the Field Trial Committee have complete control over the mechanics and requirements of each trial. This latitude is permitted in order to allow for the difference in conditions which may arise in trials given in widely separated parts of Canada which difference well may necessitate different methods of conducting water tests.

Par. 13 To be deleted in its entirety and replaced by the following:—
"A handler who is constantly nagging at his dog should be penalized. Any handler found holding his dog to keep him steady, or kicking, striking or roughly manhandling his dog for any purpose when under judgment may have his dog disqualified for the duration of the Stake. For the purpose of this paragraph a handler is under judgment at any time on or in the vicinity of the Field Trial grounds during the conduct of the Trial when he is seen kicking, striking, or roughly manhandling a dog by one or more of the Judges."

"Standard Procedure for Retriever Water Tests" be deleted entirely.

PROPOSED BY: J. A. H. Irving, T. A. Brown & Sons, Mrs. Ruth C. Copeland, H. V. P. Lewis, and R. A. Laidlaw and H. V. P. Lewis.

NOTICE TO C.K.C. MEMBERS

Elsewhere in this issue there appears a notice regarding the 1957 Annual General Meeting of The Canadian Kennel Club to be held at Montreal on February 17th, 1957.

C.K.C. members who expect to attend this meeting and who would be travelling by railway to and from the meeting are asked to communicate, as soon as possible, with the Secretary-Treasurer, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto. An effort is being made to arrange for Standard Certificate (convention) travelling rates to apply to members travelling by railway to and from the meeting.

MEMO FROM THE SECRETARY:

Some breeders are apparently under the impression that they may not proceed with the registration of individual puppies in a litter until they have received the litter registration certificate. This is not the case. Breeders are at liberty to submit direct to The Canadian National Live Stock Records Office applications for registration of individual dogs along with, or at any time following, the submission to the Records Office of an application for registration of litter. In other words, you need not await the issuance of a litter registration certificate in order to submit applications for registration of individual dogs. Of course, the individual registrations will not be fully processed unless the litter application is entirely in order and accompanied by the required fee.

Persons selling dogs to the United States or elsewhere should note that immediate attention will be given their applications for registration at the Canadian National Live Stock Records Office if, on the envelope in which the applications are addressed to the Records Office, there is placed in bold letters the word "Export".

If you do ship her out, should you keep within the line or outbreed? As we said before, better study it more thoroughly before you decide. But, unless there is some good reason, best to stick within your own line. If the "top stud" in your breed is in your line and if you want to use him, at least the puppies will have all the advantages of advertising in connection with their famous father. But it is a good idea to find out if he has been genetically tested and if he is a "carrier" for any bad, hidden recessives, such as blindness, deafness, etc. If you pay a stud fee of $75. or $100. you have every right to know that the stud you are using is not only a champion in looks but has been genetically tested and proven to be a "champion" in passing on good genes. If the top stud is not in your line, then you have to decide if you want to outcross.

Artificial Insemination

For the latest and most complete report on this fascinating and almost "forbidden" subject in dogs, you will want to read our Vol. II. Sufficient to say that at present the work of A.I. in dogs is not progressing very rapidly due not only to the technical difficulties involved but due also to the fact that official circles do not recognize it as beneficial. However, in other species (cattle, goats, rabbits, etc.) it has proven of great value in improving quickly and efficiently the different breeds and breed products. Until more of the technical difficulties, such as length of time for keeping sperm alive, methods of storing and shipping, have been worked out and until it is received a bit more kindly in official circles, A.I. cannot become popular. But it does have a definite place in dog breeding and has a lot of eventual advantages. Someday it will be quite common.

Note: For further details of the Shamrock Collie genetic-breeding program, see our Vol. XII which will be published shortly. Price $1.25 from Dr. Lee Ford, Shamrock Press, Butler, Indiana. friends, as this is what keeps a club together. New members were approved: Mr. and Mrs. Yon Shinizu, Wallaceburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Gracey, Tecumseh; and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. MacGregor, Chatham, Ont.

Reports were given of the Specialty Show, which was a great success.

The November 4 meeting was held at the home of Dr. Fred Bridgeman of Burlington. Guest speakers were Mr. N. F. Brown, secretary-treasurer of The Canadian Kennel Club, and Mrs. N. T. Smith of Burlington, a Director of the C.K.C.

Mr. George Garrett and his daughter Lorraine of Hamilton were approved for membership. We are delighted to have more new members, and if you would like to join our Dachshund Club, please come.

The German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada

by Mary E. Southcott

It was unfortunate that the General Meeting of our Club and the Rochester German Shepherd Dog Club Specialty Show fell on the same date. However, while a few members attended the Show, there was a good turnout at the meeting which was both interesting and informative. Ed Summerfield brought an excellent moving picture on the training of the famous Royal Canadian Mounted Police dogs, and following the meeting an enjoyable dinner was served.

Members continued to do some nice winning with their Shepherds all fall. At the Progressive K.C. Show on Sept. 29th, Doug Ames' lovely Ch. Glen Stewart's Burma took Best Opposite Sex and Best Canadian Bred Shepherd, while Stanley Hodgeman's Navigator was Best Canadian Bred Shepherd Puppy. At the London Canine Assoc. Show, Fort Coeur Lobo owned by your correspondent won 1st Open Dogs and then Winners Dog, Best of Winners, and Best Canadian Bred Shepherd. Winners Female was Mr. & Mrs. Ed. Summerfield's Sussex-Leigh's Lady Lorraine, while their Ch. Nina of Sussex-Leigh took Best Opposite Sex. During a heavy downpour late in the day it was discovered that the show building was not waterproof. When the rings were finally flooded out, the group judging finished up in the aisles between the benching. No-one can say that dog people are not good sports, and everyone took conditions with a sense of humour. During the group judging, Ed Summerfield was presented with a specifically designed button given to those who have been members of the Canadian Kennel Club for 25 years continuous membership. The Rochester Specialty boasted an excellent entry, and member Irene Seeber's nice young Warjan's Maharajah took 2nd in Bred by Exhibitor Dogs while my Fort Coeur Lobo was 2nd in Open Dogs and Reserve Winners Dog and my Lucille of Cara Mia took 1st Senior Puppy Females.

The "graduates", not content to stop after basic training, wanted some outlet for their energies. To solve this problem, Mrs. Casgrain and a group of her students got together and in 1948 formed the Montreal Dog Obedience Training Club. The charter members, along with Mrs. Casgrain, were Mrs. R. H. Bryson, Miss Dorothy Budge, Mr. Alan Sharp, Miss Lea Herranen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mingie and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McLellan. I had the pleasure of judging some of the first class graduations, including one in Ottawa, and I also judged some of the Club's early trials.

In 1952 a second club, The Mountain City Obedience Club, was formed. Mrs. Casgrain was again instrumental in laying the groundwork. Many of the members left the original group to join the new Club. Others stayed on with the old. Mrs. Bryson, Miss Dorothy Budge, Miss Madeleine Amos, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ferrabee, Laura Nygren, Lea Herranen and Valerie Reid, together with Mrs. Casgrain, are now active in the more recently formed Club. At their trial on October 27, my biggest thrill was presenting Mrs. Bryson, the Club's oldest active member, with the trophy for having the highest scoring dog. Her Standard Poodle, Petitcote Phantom, Can. and Am. C.D., (better known as Clobber) made me think of the unforgettable Bonzer Mrs. Bryson showed under me years ago.

Obedience in Quebec, without doubt, will go on prospering as long as it has the same fine leadership it had in its beginning and has had over the years. In celebrating its tenth anniversary, let us give three cheers for the Montreal S.P.C.A.; for Mrs. Alex Casgrain; for the members of the Montreal and the Mountain City Obedience Clubs and for Wendy, the Poodle, for giving us the story behind the story of Obedience in the Province of Quebec.

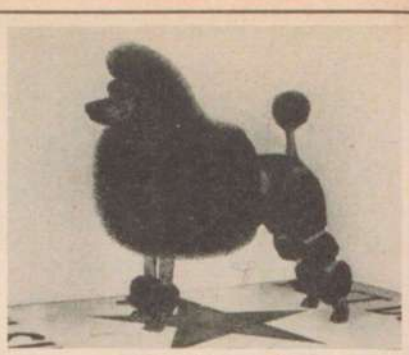

NATURE'S AIDS

Mineral oil is a valuable item to have in your cupboard. If placed in the food once a week, it will help the dog, and particularly puppies, pass small pebbles or bone which might be otherwise difficult or even painful.

This inexpensive, tasteless oil should also be given morning and night for a few days if the dog appears constipated. Milk of magnesia is also a helpful cleaner, and sweetens the stomach.

TO WORM OR NOT TO WORM

There are several precautions to take before worming your dog. First, make sure he really has parasites, by taking a bit of fresh fecal matter to your veterinarian to test. His microscope will not only show whether or not eggs are present, but if positive, what kind. He will then worm the dog for you, or advise what kind of treatment to give at home.

German Shepherd Dog Club of Western Ontario

by Alice Cook

Our October Meeting was held in the London Life Club Rooms with a good attendance. After a short business meeting, Alex Sangster entertained the members by showing some interesting films.

Congratulations go out to our members whose dogs obtained qualifying scores in the Obedience Trials at The London Canine Show which was held here recently. Those qualifying were Gord. Brackett's "Azant", Bill Cook's "Ranger" and "Kent" owned by Percy Wimbush.

A gala crowd of 'two-faced' characters turned out for the Hallowe'en Party which the Club held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook, Wilton Grove. Hob-Goblins, Witches and many other weird characters were portrayed in the Masquerade and added zest to the fun and frolic of the evening. Adam Cwik and his committee convened an excellent program and awarded prizes to Pat Quantrill and P. Wimbush for the 'Best Dressed Goons'.

The Welcome Mat is out this month to our new members, Mr. James Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. A. McKenzie, Earl Barton, Frank Devriese, and Miss Rita Kelleher.

Plans for the Annual Christmas Party are underway.

Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club

by Mrs. D. B. Hudson

Christmas time is upon us and the Greater Victoria Dog Obedience Training Club sends its good wishes to all members of the C.K.C.

This has been a wonderful summer and I am sure has been made more wonderful because of many more well-trained dogs than last year. Travelling with a well-behaved dog is a joy instead of a nuisance.

The Obedience Trials put on by the Victoria City Kennel Club last October were very successful and all contestants did splendidly. It was a "Sheltie" day, as the Shelties came first in all classes.

On October 7 our Club put on a Tracking test for their members, the first effort in this part of the country and a step towards a future C.K.C. Test. The day was fine but the wind was very blustery and that made it most confusing for the dogs, the handlers and the judges, as the scent was scattered in all directions. One dog kept his nose religiously to the ground and plodded to a successful finish. The other two in their confusion started guessing and investigated some promising lumps in the grass by sight and although they eventually picked up the scent again, they were quite properly failed. The few horses in the fields added to the hazards as they found the proceedings quite interesting. Mr. G. Donaldson and Mr. D. B. Hudson judged.

London Canine Association

by Mildred Dark

The October meeting was held in the Club rooms, with Vice-President George Tabner presiding over a good attendance. Main topic of the evening was the report of the October Show, one of the best ever held by the Club.

The weather man was very unkind in the evening, as we had one of the heaviest rains of the season, and with the Western Fair Board remodelling the building it was very unpleasant while judging the groups. The spirit of the Show, however, was undampened.

The following are the officers for 1957: George Tabner, president; Mrs. Ivan Price and William Cooper, first and second vice-presidents; Mildred Dark, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. William Kieser, assistant secretary. The executive comprises James Twells, Mrs. R. I. Allaster, Ken Tabner, Mrs. John Harris and Robert Revell. Dr. C. F. Comfort is the Club Veterinarian. Guests were members of the Executive of the German Shepherd Club.

The November meeting gave most of its time to the selection of judges for the 1957 point show. Three were chosen to look after the major portion of the show, with one specialty judge for the German Shepherd breed.

The December meeting will feature the annual election of officers for 1957.

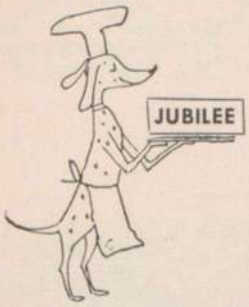

The date of the Club dinner, to be held at the Four Winds, Steele's Ave. West, has been set for January 18.

We regret to report that Mr. Morley Fisher, one of our valuable new members and rising young breeder of Springer Spaniels, has had the misfortune to lose his good male dog "Cream of the Crop". This dog was within one point of his championship.

It is no secret to dog breeders and veterinarians that many commercial dog foods vary considerably in their nutritional content—frequently from feeding to feeding. This fact has led to a common problem in the correct feeding of dogs, where it is well known that a completely balanced diet is essential to good health and top condition.

There are five good reasons why HOMOGENIZED GAINES MEAL supplies the answer to dog feeding problems. Here they are:

1. Gaines contains all the nourishment dogs need to keep them healthy, happy and in top condition.
2. Gaines is homogenized. So there's a balanced diet in every mouthful of every feeding.
3. Gaines is always ready to eat—dry or moistened.
4. Gaines is the truly tested dog meal, the product of years of research on whole generations of dogs, at the famous Gaines Research Kennels.
5. Gaines goes a long way! A 25 lb. bag of Gaines contains all the food value of 75 lbs. of canned dog food.
