IMPROVED WORM TABLETS

Bob Martin's Have Four Major Advantages

Bob Martin's laboratories have long recognized the need for an improved treatment of worm infestation in dogs and puppies.
After lengthy research and experimentation, Bob Martin's now have the answer. Bob Martin's tapeworm and Bob Martin's roundworm tablets have four distinct advantages:

1—No starving of the animal is either necessary or desirable.
2—No purgative or aperient is required.
3—The tablets have a very wide safety margin and can be given without risk even to delicate animals.
4—One treatment is sufficient in the majority of cases.

For all your dogs and puppies use Bob Martin's new Worm tablets — Now available through your pet shop, druggist or department store.

MISSING PERSONS DEPARTMENT

. . . Just reading "Privileges" written by Mr. William E. Cooper, London, Ont. I would like him to know and read Quebec Dog Fancy in July issue. I have 40 registered Chihuahuas, one of the best equipped and clean kennels in the province, and a long list of numbers in the Stud book. Yet Mrs. Pamela B. Mack, writing such article, does not even know my existence. So cheer up and forget. I will do the same. Thanks for Dogs in Canada's good co-operation.

DUAL STANDARD?

. . . In your July issue Alvin Florea refers to sacrificing brain power to vulgar show blood. It would be interesting to hear from Mr. Florea what standard Quebec beaglers are using for their breeding hounds . . . Man sucessful breeders in the United States and Canada have been doing a great deal in the last few years to breed hounds that could attain dual championships.

Is it not time for many more beaglers to stop fostering or magnifying assumed differences and build the breed to still greater heights?

CLAIRE PLIMLEY

Vancouver, B.C.

Standard adopted by both C.K.C. and A.K.C. for both hunting and show Beagles may be scanned elsewhere in this issue. Ed.

RARE IMPRESSION

. . . Our Miniature Schnauzer, Sandowns Impression (Impy) recently made a real impression by whelping eight lovely puppies. Next afternoon Jona-Jon's Cissy whelped seven. It is rare for this breed to whelp eight, although I believe nine is considered a record.

SHOW BUSINESS

Six entrants to the class. Four soon eliminated — beam too narrow, apple headed, incorrect balance, snippy. Two well matched dogs are left. Nothing between them. Tough job this—but wait! No. 358 keener, positively glowing, obviously enjoying himself! Yes, he's the one. The deciding factor — his perfect condition.

CONDITIONING

Although wisely cared for, your dog may occasionally lose condition. Blood-purifying is the usual need. Karswood Dog Powders act directly on the liver, kidneys and bowels—organs responsible for cleaning and refreshing the blood stream. Karswood's also provide Phosphorus, Iodine, Tonic Salts, Sulphur and Calcium for Nerves, Muscles, Glands, Skin and Bone development. If you're in this Show Business, you can't afford to be without

. . . It would seem to me that before publishing a list of Old Timers of any Province Dog Fancy, the names of the living old timers should be delved into thoroughly. I beg to mention the name of Mr. Ormiston Roy, a great Collie breeder and judge known all over the world, and Mr. Harry Armistead of Wire Terrier fame. Both these gentlemen were judging and breeding the top dogs of America when I was a little girl. I first owned Skye Terriers in 1904. Mr. Roy took two of my Skyes down to exhibit at Westminster in 1910. I would like to salute these two gentlemen as I am sure many others would like to do. I feel both should be given C.K.C. long service buttons if this has not already been done.

Through lack of full information, it is unfortunate some deserving breeders have not been mentioned, and this is regrettable. Not hearing from or of these fanciers during the past several years makes a full report virtually impossible. — Ed.

ADDRESS WANTED

. . . Can anyone give me the name and address of the owner or owners of Redfearn Kennels, breeders of German Shepherd dogs? My Margo of Bilthoven (purchased from Bilthoven Kennels, at that time in Strathroy) who is now ten years old, was sired by Redfearn's Largo, out of Truk of Redfearn and Akaska of Redfearn. I have not heard of these kennels since 1947 and I am very anxious to find something of that breeding somewhere in Ontario, or elsewhere if necessary. Please send any information you may have to me as soon as possible.

DYSPLASIA ARTICLE

. . . Re my report on Dysplasia (August, 1957 issue) may I take this opportunity to thank you, as this topic is of vital importance to all breeders . . . I would like to mention that when the report was prepared. I didn't know Dr. Beck was no longer chairman of the University of Pennsylvania Dept. of Veterinary Medicine. I now show him as former Chairman.

MISSING MARITIME MATERIAL

. . . It was with surprise, disappointment and resentment that I looked at your issue on The Maritimes and Newfoundland.

If the Maritimes and Newfoundland do not extend any farther than the Fredericton Kennel Club and Obedience from St. Stephen it is time we had better representation on the CKC Board of Directors or better publicity agents for the district.

In Saint John we have the only four all-breed judges in New Brunswick. The four oldest members of the CKC in New Brunswick are from Saint John and one of the oldest show giving clubs in Canada, if not the oldest, is The New Brunswick Kennel Club of Saint John.

One of the first, if not the first, dog of any breed in New Brunswick to be classed Canadian-American Champion was an English Setter from Saint John and several other Saint John dogs have been awarded the title of Canadian-American Champion.

In the city of Moncton there is a very active club and no mention is made of it. No mention is made of Nova Scotia, old-timers or outstanding dogs that have claimed Nova Scotia as their home.

A Nova Scotia Cocker Spaniel was rated best black Cocker Spaniel in North America less than five years ago and, a Nova Scotia Collie was Best in Show at three shows and was runner-up at the other two shows of a five show circuit a few years ago.

I could go on and on for some time about dogs and dog owners in The Maritimes I have met in my 30 years association with them and will say this is the first time in 30 years in the dog game that I have read an article claiming to represent a section of the country and only mentioning one club and a few of the members in the district it covered.

. . . Your publishers' views are much the same as Reader Cavanaugh's. The Provincial series was announced in November 1956, and news of people and activities requested in Dogs months ahead and by letter. The disappointment many readers must feel is shared by your editors. When individuals with both the knowledge and responsibility fail to come through with essential information there is little that can be done. The space was ready and waiting for all available pertinent material on the Maritimes and Newfoundland; fortunately a few interested people did come through. But making bricks of straw is a difficult feat. Our thanks to Mr. Cavanaugh for bringing the above informative notes to our attention — although belatedly. And our thanks to everyone who submitted articles and materials to us. — Ed.

THE OLD TIMER

Once a chewer, always a chewer, said the Old Timer, unless you start the puppy right.

"It's as true of dogs as of forests that 'as the twig is bent, so the tree is inclined," said the Old Timer.

I looked up from my job of trying to bring some order out of the chaos of the tools in his tack drawer. I knew, of course, of the affinity of dogs for trees but a similarity between a dog and a tree was something new.

"And what's all this leading up to?" I asked.

The Old Timer hesitated. He retrieved his pipe from the window ledge, loaded it carefully, a little tobacco at a time, tamping each bit precisely into place, and when he had got the pipe drawing freely, he settled back into his chair.

"What I'm shooting at," he said "is the owner who thinks everything a puppy does is cute, or excusable. He thinks its a great joke when the puppy brings one of the wife's bedroom slippers into the living room and proceeds to chew great holes in it. He gets a kick out of the first time the youngster climbs up on the chesterfield and calls him a clever boy. And he thinks it's fun when the baby grabs the cuff of his trousers and worries it like a terrier with a rat.

"Then suddenly it's more than an old bedroom slipper that gets chewed up. He sits down on the chesterfield and discovers a bunch of dog hairs on his newly cleaned suit and small tears and frayed spots appear on the cuffs of his favourite pair of sport slacks. And he expects the puppy to change all those habits overnight. If it doesn't there's punishment, and too often the result is a cowed, confused animal that should have been a well-mannered, good looking dog any owner would be proud to have."

I'd gone through just those things. There was the night my wife and I were going out to a dress affair. We'd been late, not because my wife delayed things, but because I'd made the mistake of sitting down on the chesterfield to wait for her and it had taken a good half hour to finally get the dog hairs off my tuxedo. And it wasn't a pair of slacks but a complete suit that had been demoted to third best as the result of those sharp, puppy teeth. The marks on the legs of tables and chairs would be there for the lifetime of those pieces of furniture.

The puppy and I had gone through a few rough sessions before those faults were corrected. Neither of us had felt very good about them.

"Well, what's the answer?" I asked.

"It's simple," said the Old Timer. "Just start the puppy off in the way he should go. If you're a normal person you don't want your dog on your furniture so, the first time he tries to climb on a chair, you stop him and you continue to stop him until he learns chairs are not for him. And when he starts to chew something he shouldn't, a sharp tap on the nose with one finger and an emphatic 'no' will soon put a stop to that." "But don't all puppies chew when they're teething?" I asked "and isn't the tendency to chew gone when the permanent teeth come in?"

"Sure, they're like babies that way," said the Old Timer. "When they're cutting teeth, the gums are sore and they want something to chew on. But what does a mother do when her baby is cutting its first teeth? She gives it something hard — my mother had an old silver spoon that all seven of us chewed on. Not very hygeinic maybe but it worked. So give the puppy something to work on — an old marrow bone is ideal — and make sure it chews on that and nothing else. It's amazing how smart puppies are. They soon learn what's permitted and what is not.

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

Dr. Ruth Krueger, who gives a veterinarian's insight on the Norwegian Elkhound in this issue, is a veterinarian practicing in Madison, Wisconsin. She writes that on July 21 a Great Lakes Norwegian Elkhound Association was started at the Comstocks "ElvAkre" Kennels in Batavia, Ill. This group will handle activities of Illinois, Wisconsin and Southern Indiana. Dr. Krueger's kennel name is Tantalum, chosen aptly from the name of the metal; a silver-gray element that is tough and ductile.

° ° ° °

So many comments have been received on the recently concluded series by Dr. Lee Ford from experienced and novice breeders alike, that we are arranging another group. In the meantime, readers will be interested to know that her series is available. Dr. Ford may be reached at Pacific Lutheran College, Parkland, Washington.

° ° ° °

Does it pay to advertise? Many reader-advertisers tell us they receive enquiries from the four corners of the continent. Others say they intend to run regularly instead of on a hit or miss basis. Reason: several breeders have told us they recently had queries from an advertisement run over a year ago, and are sorry they hadn't been running regularly.

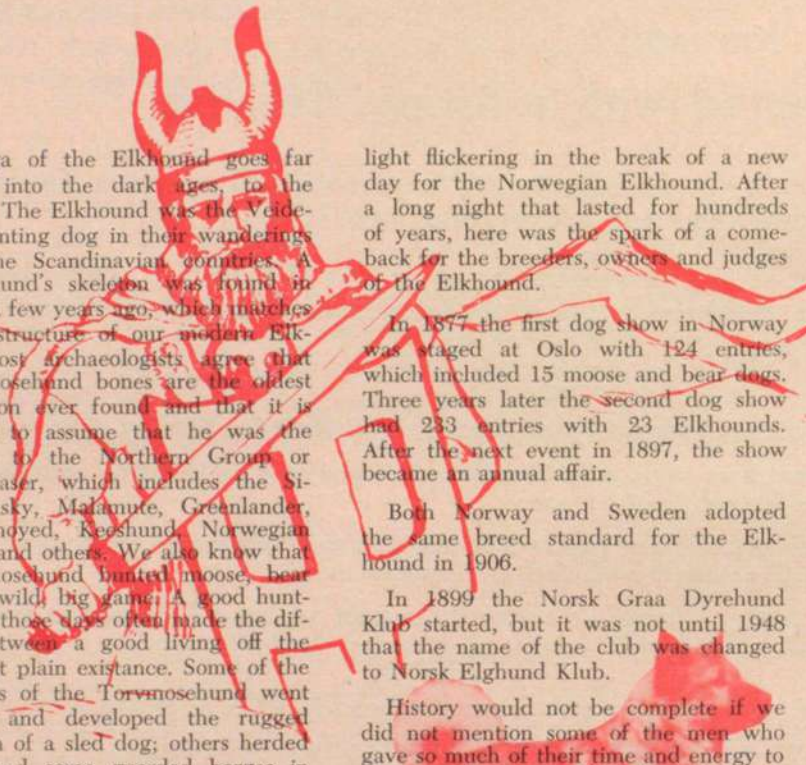
THE NORWEGIAN ELKHOUND

Long before the Vikings the Elkhound earned a living for his masters. Here is his age-old background as told by Olav Wallo.



The saga of the Elkhound goes far back into the dark ages, to the stone age. The Elkhound was the Veidefolket's hunting dog in their wanderings through the Scandinavian countries. A Torvmosehund's skeleton was found in Denmark a few years ago, which matches the bone structure of our modern Elkhound. Most archaeologists agree that the Torvmosehund bones are the oldest dog skeleton ever found and that it is reasonable to assume that he was the forerunner to the Northern Group or Spisshundraser, which includes the Siberian Husky, Malamute, Greenlander, Spitz, Samoyed, Keeshund, Norwegian Elkhound and others. We also know that the Torvmosehund hunted moose, bear and other wild big game. A good hunting dog in those days often made the difference between a good living off the land or just plain existance. Some of the descendants of the Torvmosehund went far north and developed the rugged constitution of a sled dog; others herded reindeer; and some guarded barges in Holland.

But the Elkhound developed the hunting ability unmatched by any other breed, which might be the key to his popularity as the Dog of the Vikings. At no time in the history of the Elkhound has he ever ridden so high and handsome as in the days of the Vikings. He was not a mascot or a pet; but the saga shows he was more like a comrade to wide-travelling men.

When Professor Brinchmann of the Bergen Museum found a Viking grave dating back to 5000 B.C., it contained four dog skeletons, two of which resembled the modern Elkhound in structure.

The Viking Period came to a slow halt, after which the Elkhound almost faded into oblivion. A few of them existed here and there, used mainly for hunting.

It was not until 1865 that the trailblazer. Gamle Bamse Gram, appeared. This dog was owned by Consul Gram of Ringerike. Luckily there were a few good females in the vicinity at that time and Bamse was used for breeding. So here in Central Norway we find a small light flickering in the break of a new day for the Norwegian Elkhound. After a long night that lasted for hundreds of years, here was the spark of a comeback for the breeders, owners and judges of the Elkhound.

In 1877 the first dog show in Norway was staged at Oslo with 124 entries, which included 15 moose and bear dogs. Three years later the second dog show had 233 entries with 23 Elkhounds. After the next event in 1897, the show became an annual affair.

Both Norway and Sweden adopted the same breed standard for the Elkhound in 1906.

In 1899 the Norsk Graa Dyrehund Klub started, but it was not until 1948 that the name of the club was changed to Norsk Elghund Klub.

History would not be complete if we did not mention some of the men who gave so much of their time and energy to promote the breed. If it had not been for Carl Omsted, born in 1867, we would not know the Elkhound as he is today. It is no wonder that his name shines like a beacon in the history of the national dog of Norway.

In the decade following 1920, we find breeders like T. Hemsen and his famous Glitre Kennel very much in the spotlight. It is rare even today to see a pedigree that does not contain the Glitre name. T. Hemsen purchased Senny II from Gullik Rua of Jondalen. She is the dam of so many Glitre dogs. Ch. Skrub av Glitre is recognized as the best Elkhound ever shown. Boy av Glitre was a model of perfection according to J. Aarflot. Rua produced some excellent dogs. Ch. Saga av Elglia was probably the most outstanding individual in the Elgia Kennels of J. Aarflot.

Two new kennels appeared in 1930, Skromtefjell Kennels belonging to Sven Mjerum, Secretary of the Norsk Elghund Klub, and Gjetemyra Kennels belonging to Hans Christiansen, who died in 1938. These kennels have been prominent for many years.

Erik Enberg, Elgstolen Kennels, owned good show dogs and outstanding hunters. Also mentioned are Tallo, Jarlsberg, Honn and Glennas Kennels. Sorvangen Kennels belong to Reidar Stromme, Oslo. These are some of the men and kennels that have shipped the Norwegian Elkhound all over the world.

The first Elkhound imported to England was in 1877. The following year a few Elkhounds were imported by Sir Alfred Strutt. The British Elkhound Society began in 1923.

When the Elkhound first came to America is not definitely known, but the earliest import seems to be in 1913. One of the best known imports was president Hoover's Elkhound, which was a gift to him by the Norwegian people in appreciation of his help during World War I. More than 150 Elkhounds have been imported since that time to improve the breed in America.

From 1880 to 1900 the Elkhound in England was very popular not only as a show dog but for his hunting ability. From 1900 to the First World War he did decline somewhat, but new breeders took hold. The English breeders have bred and raised some outstanding Elkhounds and have always imported good stock from Norway and Sweden.

Never has the Norwegian Elkhound stood on a higher level than it does today. Since 1947 the hunters in Norway and Sweden have shot between 26,000 and 30,000 moose every year, and mostly with the help of the Elkhound.

A veterinarian-breeder invites inspection of some thought-provoking aspects of

by Ruth Krueger, DVM

I was introduced to this breed by receiving one as a gift. Granted it was a poor show specimen, but it was a true specimen of the breed's nature. After serving as secretary to the Minnesota Association for two years and as president for one year while attending Veterinary College in St. Paul, I left that area and went to Chicago to work at a Pet Hospital.

As a veterinarian, I appreciate the Norwegian Elkhound from just a little different angle than most owners. Here is a breed that requires no artificial aids to beauty by clipping ears or tails or fancy trims. They are not plagued by bad temperaments or serious hereditary faults. Just as the minister's children are expected to be the epitome of good behaviour, so is the veterinarian's dog expected to be the last word in good health! And my Elkhounds have proved to fill that bill quite well.

Having gone through the throes of raising several litters, both as their breeder and their veterinarian, I have come up with a standard list of pointers to avoid trouble.

Avoid watering any puppy for an hour before and after eating. The Elkhound is a prodigious water drinker as a youngster and will give itself a good digestive upset if given too much. From the sanitation standpoint, I do not advise leaving water standing unless it is in a non-tipping fountain off the ground.

If a slight digestive upset is encountered, the first rule is to withhold all food and water for six to eight hours. (I will assume the pup is protected against distemper and hepatitis so these are ruled out as cause. I will also assume a careful deworming and check routine has been followed.) I would then offer the pup or dog a small amount of old-fashioned boiled rice mixed with stewed hamburger. This is a bland, antidiarrhetic ration adopted from the pediatrician. If the dog refuses to eat or the vomiting or diarrhea has not been controlled in a day, a veterinarian should be consulted. It must be remembered that some pups are unable to handle cow's milk, especially if they were not raised on it. Puppies love to chew and occasionally swallow socks or silk stockings. Any puppy that vomits for a period of time and has a diarrhea, especially if blood-tinged, is a likely candidate. Surgery is the only solution if the dog is unable to pass the object on.

As the dog matures, nails should be clipped frequently to keep the Elkhound's tight foot. Too many baths are not good for the coat. A good, thorough brushing removes most dirt since the Elkhound's coat is able to shed a good deal of the material much as a duck sheds water. If a bath is desired before a show, do so at least two days prior so the natural luster can be regained.

The Elkhound is bothered with sebaceous gland cysts as he gets older. They appear most often in the summer heat. The larger cysts may become infected or bleed. These can be easily removed by a veterinarian. Smaller cysts filled with the creamy material are best left alone or sponged out occasionally with soap and water with a bland ointment applied afterwards.

The Elkhound is both blessed and cursed with being an easy keeper. A mature Norwegian Elkhound should not be allowed to get fat. It is a hunting dog and as such should not be burdened with excess weight. The fat Elkhound should never be placed high in the show ring. It is definitely contrary to its use. I personally know a male that was put on a rigorous diet to lose about 12 pounds that had gone all too easily. Not only does he look better but this dog acts four years younger than he is! This dog is Ch. Dyre Vaa Skall Tryve owned by Mrs. Julia Bachelder in Wilmette, Ill. I'm sure many readers will remember this dog. It is of interest that she retired him June 30 at our Madison, Wis. show with about 25 Best of Breeds, several group placings and two group Firsts.

The fat Elkhound also is not an active breeder. Anyone planning on using a male at stud should be careful to keep him on the lean side. The fat female, especially if she is the family pet over three years old and has never been bred, is often almost impossible to get in whelp. A prescription diet called RD, available from most veterinarians, is very effective for reducing. Some dogs have benefitted by a thyroid preparation. Our dogs were bred and raised in an austere country where, I'm sure, the easy keeper was much preferred.

THE CONTROVERSY OVER COCKERS

Canadians Cock an Ear Toward American Discussion

Subject of heated controversy is the New Standard of the American Cocker Spaniel as approved by the Executive Committee of the American Spaniel Club on May 25, 1957.

Here are the comments of Mrs. Dorothy R. Vaughan, Vaunhaven Kennels, Agincourt, Ont., well known breeder and judge.

For over a year there has been a controversy raging in the States as to whether or not height should be limited. Eventually the idea carried and the motion was put through, though I do not think the majority figured on such a restricting limit. American breeders are still greatly divided in opinion as to whether or not it is a good thing for the breed. The previous standard called for no height specification, but it did have a weight clause (now discarded). The old weight clause read as follows:

"Not under 22 nor over 28 lbs. Weight under or in excess of these limits shall be severly penalized. Puppies are exempt from the minimum limitation."

The new height standard reads as follows: "The ideal height at the withers for an adult dog should be from 14½ to 15½ inches. The ideal height at the withers for an adult bitch should be from 13½" to 14½". An adult dog or bitch whose height does not meet the measurements specified herein shall be disqualified. Note: Height is determined by a line perpendicular to the ground from the top of the shoulder blades, the dog standing naturally with its forelegs and lower hind legs parallel to the line of measurement. Puppy classes are exempt from the minimum height limitations. (Disqualifications for height shall not become operative until January 1, 1959).

A further change in the standard which has caused quite a furore, and to my mind will continue to do so, as there can be no definite form of measurement, but will be entirely up to the judge's preference, is the clause re coat. The old standard carried the following only, re coat. "Flat or slightly waved, soft and dense, the ears, chest, abdomen and legs well feathered". The new standard has enlarged greatly on this and carries the stinger in the last line:

"On head, short and fine. On body, flat or slightly wavy (never curly), silky in texture, of medium length, with enough undercoating to give protection.

The nose knows it, says this world-famous trainer-author.

Here are some scent secrets.

by McDowell Lyon

TRAINING WITH SCENTS

SYNTHETIC scents, first used extensively by trappers for lures on their traplines, and kept hushed up as secrets of the trade have been used for years by amateur and professional dog trainers. For the one-dog owner who is short of time and doesn't have access to training grounds, these scents can be one of his greatest aids.

The scents will not do the job alone—they will not teach the dog to do something or break him of a bad habit. But they will help in training a hound to run a line and make checks. They'll also help a trail dog to be "straight" on anything from a cougar to a coon, a retriever or flush dog to find a pheasant, or a duck and upland gun dog to "ware" or stay off a deer trail..

Once as I waited in friend Henry Newman's office, he tossed some letters to his secretary and asked her to answer them as best she could. "I want to get some help with my beagle," he told her. "Hunting season's about to start and that mutt of mine still can't finish a line."

Henry had done his training where rabbits were scarce, so I took him to a club where he could "cane up" a liberated bunny every five minutes. His pup took the first line eagerly and ran it true to the first check, but there he stopped—like a streetcar at the end of the line. He was dumfounded; he didn't know what to do next.

"He does that every time," Henry complained.

There are many young dogs that have never learned to work a check or break in trail. If they're worked with schooled dogs, they usually pick it up from them. But Henry's dog didn't have this opportunity. His beagle had to learn that the line didn't end at the breaks but continued to the game itself, and that there he'd find his greatest pleasure.

"Don't feed your dog tomorrow," I suggested, "and we'll see what we can do."

In early training I find that it's best to work a hungry dog, using a food reward at the end of the line as an incentive for him to run. Later, when you're actually shooting game ahead of him, that alone will provide the incentive. But before that we need more than just a fresh rabbit track. Running with other dogs competitively usually gives that extra motivation, but for dogs running alone a small morsel of boiled liver at the end of the line will do the trick.

At first we laid a few drag lines with the liver at the finish—to teach the dog that a reward awaited him. On the second day we lengthened these drag lines, with short breaks upwind, and encouraged the dog to keep on working until he picked up the continuation. We were right there at the breaks to help him, which tended to give him the necessary confidence. The third day we made the breaks still longer, and on the fourth we continued the line downwind after the break.

It isn't always possible to progress a step a day, for this depends on the dog, conditions, and the amount of time you spend with him. You advance to the next step only when you see that the dog has the idea and is trying to work it out himself.

To start a dog with scents, the first lines can be made with liver alone. First toss small pieces of it to the right and left in view of the dog and let him go to them. Then make short drags of the liver through the grass, increasing their length when you see that the dog is running the line. After that use a scent drag with the liver drag, and after a few lessons use the liver only at the end of the line. When the dog is definitely running a full line for 200 or 300 feet, begin putting simple breaks, twists, and turns in the line, much like a rabbit's path. Help him with them, and never let him leave one unfinished. This is one of the secrets of the method's success.

If you have any doubt about dogs running a drag line made with synthetic scents, visit a coonhound field trial or follow one of the many drag hunts behind foxhounds. Most coonhound trials are run over drag trails with a live coon caged in the final tree. If scents can do the job in field competition, they can certainly be used to advantage in the basic training.

Scents are also used in breaking a dog to run a new species of game—without benefit of natural game trails. I went to Mexico once to run cat and bear with two good night-run-

Dachshunds Bred True In Germany

When I lived in England I came in touch with English breeders and was constantly asked about the system of breeding Dachshunds in Germany. So I give this account of German methods, ideals and standards in the belief that the comparison will be of interest and will encourage understanding. Nothing is written just for the sake of being controversial.

In his native Germany the Dachshund is one of the most popular breeds and the one with the most entries at shows.

The number of yearly registrations go up to about the 10,000 mark. More than half of the registrations are for the Long-haired variety, nearly one-third for Wires and the rest for Smooths (contrary to the position in this country where the Smooth is always on top). These registration figures include all the three varieties of Miniature Dachshunds, which are registered in the same Stud Book.

The Hunter

Many people keep the Dachshund for a pet because of his amiable, intelligent and even amusing qualities. But he is one of the most versatile hunting dogs that we have on the Continent. A large number of people in England do not seem to be aware of this fact, I found out. Some owners may have been astonished by the things that their Dachshunds like to do, but they are mostly things that have their origin in the natural hunting passion of the Dachshund.

The Dachshund is the lowest-to-ground hunting dog in the world, and is gifted with so many excellent qualities — sharpness, courage, stamina, a keen nose, intelligence, and an inborn enmity for all vermin, including fox, badger, rabbit and wild boar. He is the ideal companion for the foresters.

German forests are widspread with a heavy undergrowth of shrubbery and thorns. They are often mountainous and crowded with game of all kinds. The foresters are also gamekeepers and are responsible for clearing their districts of all ill, weak or over-aged game, and keeping the vermin down. Most of these foresters are civil servants, who hunt as a profession; only a few are in charge of private property. Few hunt solely as a hobby, on account of the expense involved.

What can the Dashchund do for these hunters? He has three functions.

He is adept at going to earth (Erdhund) for fox and badger, and in the case of Miniatures for rabbits, making them bolt. But dear master, the look on the face of your Dashchund if you have missed the quarry with your shot will make you blush. Foxes will not always bolt immediately, and then it depends on the Dachshund and how sharp he is to tackle the fox or keep baying at him so that the owner can locate them and dig them out.

Underground, the Dachshund is completely dependent on his own power, courage and intelligence. It is only when he emerges triumphant from the earth that his owner can lavish praise on his happy Dachs.

Because of his excellent nose the Dachshund is a good tracking dog (stoberhund), able to find live game, especially hare, rabbit and wild boar, and to bring it toward his master's gun. In doing this, the Dachshund must "give tongue" so that his master can hear which direction the hunt is taking. The handler should be able to tell the kind of game that has been put up by the way in which the Hound gives tongue, and to know whether he has found game on the wing (hetzlaut), is holding game at bay (standlaut), or has found dead game (totverbeller).

The third use of the Dachshund is in tracking wounded game, like a Gundog. However slightly wounded it may be, or however bad the weather, the persistence of the Dachshund enables the hunter to give the injured game the coup-de-grace.

It is amazing how fearless the Dachshund is in tackling wild boar. It is usual to work the dogs in packs of four or more, and they are very careful to avoid being hurt until their handler is able to come up with his gun. I have been told that when a Dachshund has learnt to deal successfully with wild boar, he loses interest in fox. On becoming such a skilled workman, he seems to feel that the fox is unworthy of his attention.

Only one type

It is a fundamental principle of German Dachshund breeding that separate strings are not kept for working and for the bench. Of course, hundreds of owners never use their Dachshunds for hunting having them only as pets. But the controlling body in Germany does not want breeders to forget that qualities which are never used can disappear. An exclusive breeding for work might eventually produce a coarse or even ugly dog, losing the nobility of the breed. An exclusive breeding for the show-bench would have the danger that the breed could be altered for personal fancy, putting emphasis on points for reasons of fashion alone. Then in the end there would be two very different types of Dachshunds.

The Deutscher Teckel Club, the parent club for all the small clubs in the breed, decided to bring both sections together with the aim of breeding a Dachshund that was both beautiful and had working qualities.

There is only one Stud Book in Germany for all varieties of Dachshunds, which is run by the parent club, and it is recognised by nearly all the ruling bodies in the world, including the English and American Kennel Clubs. Only puppies which are bred according to the rules of the Deutscher Teckel Club can be entered in the Stud Book. In all the Club's local groups the most important person is the breeding adviser (zuchtwart), who has to see that these rules are conformed with. He has to be a breeder of long experience and with a special knowledge of Dachshunds. Usually he is also a judge. Any litter that the breeder wants to register has to be shown to this breeding adviser at an age of about eight weeks. Before confirming the entry he looks for soundness and for any faults which would exclude the litter from the Stud Book.

Selection and Quality

(a) Pedigrees of both the female and sire have to be registered for at least three generations in the German Stud Book, or in an acknowledged Stud Book of a foreign country.

(b) Female and sire have to have won at least the grading Good at a show under a recognised Judge. Dachshunds with a lower grading have to have at least one test award in a field trial (leistungszeichen) before they can be allowed to breed.

(c) No litters from the mating of Smooth or Wire-haired with Long-haireds can be registered. But the mating of Smooth with Wire-haired is allowed.

(d) Dogs with these faults cannot be shown or registered: Incorrect mouth (overshot and undershot), incorrect rib formation, monorchidism, too much crook, knuckle (knicker); loose and weak shoulders, congenital short and crippled tail.

Joan and Vincent Vaughan, well-known breeders of fine Labradors, announce they are reducing their kennels, due to business reasons, but will continue with very restricted breeding, showing and training in their Waterland Kennels at Agincourt, Ont.

Becoming owners of their first Labrador Retrievers in 1946, they began breeding and showing the following year. In 1948 the Kennels were registered as a partnership between the Vaughans and Dr. J. A. Campbell. Following Dr. Campbell's death the kennels have been operated solely by the Vaughans.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan were in the original group which started the Labrador Retriever Association of Ontario and served on its board for a number of years. Vincent was at one time C.K.C. Field Trial Representative for Ontario. Waterland-trained Labradors have run in Field Trials since the origination of Field Trials in Ontario; won the first Labrador Retriever Specialty ever to be staged in Ontario with their homebred Ch. Waterland Scamp; have finished approximately one champion per year since.

Mrs. Mary Matchett and her El Myia Kennels at West Hill, Ont., came in for very fine and well deserved publicity in a picture-article by Globe and Mail staff writer Jane Tiel in the Globe and Mail August 17. Mrs. Matchett, one of Canada's most serious and hard-working breeders, lives "alone" with about 60 dogs, Afghans and Keeshonden, two mice, a hamster, a guinea pig, two budgies, two Java temple birds, canaries and two cats.

Timber wolves attacked two dogs near Timmins recently, nearly finishing a Spaniel before its master succeeded in frightening them away. Bud Snider of Timmins was crossing a creek when he heard his own dogs joining the battle downstream. His Golden Labrador crashed through the bush with two large wolves in pursuit. He chased the wolves off by brandishing a piece of driftwood then ran downstream to frighten two adult wolves and two pups besetting his Spaniel. Department of Lands and Forests wildlife officers report an unusual number of wolves and bears throughout the north this year.

SPORTING AND HOUND GALLERY, 1957

What do you want in a hunting dog? Here is a representation of a variety of breeds — sight or scent specialists, doubling as companions and guardians at home.

AFGHAN

A dog to make any owner justifiably proud, this aristocratic, reserved animal is extremely courageous, One of the oldest known breeds, and the least changed through many centuries. In its native lands, the Afghan is prized as a guardian of flocks and herds, as well as a hunter of deer and other animals; famed for fights with leopards and similar fierce adversaries. Extremely responsible and intelligent, works well in obedience, great guardian and friend. He can travel easily over rough territory with feet especially made for travelling over desert at a high speed.

EL MYIA KENNELS, Reg'd., Bobmar Road, Highland Creek, Ont. Phone AT 2-1031. Owner: Mrs. Mary Matchett. Four champions at stud. Puppies available. Boarding Kennels.

BASENJI

One of the wonders of the canine world, the Basenji is a small dapper hunter known as the Barkless Dog. But he is by no means noiseless. He expresses himself with dozens of different sounds, even mimics prey. When happy, he emits something between a chortle and a yodel. Highly intelligent, more than willing to please and trains easily. His deeply furrowed forehead gives him an appealing quizzical look. Good companion for children, keeps himself groomed, cat-fashion, and is free of doggy odours.

BI-EL KENNELS, Reg'd., 289 King St., Midland, Ont. Phone LA 6-5831. Owner, W. J. Leitch. Beau Bunty of Blue Nile, shown here, at stud. Bred by Mrs. Roberta C. Jenkins and handled by Kay Robinson. Temporary stud fee $75.00. Puppies for sale, whelped July 11, 1957.

BASSET

Fast becoming a "dog of distinction" by way of prestige advertising, the Basset is gaining sudden interest in Canada. He has the head of a bloodhound, the running equipment of the Daschund, the colouring of a Foxhound. The deep-chested, deep-voiced Basset originated in France and was achieved by crossing the old French Bloodhound with the white Hounds of the Abbots of St. Hubert. He is fine on rabbits and hare, and even pheasants and grouse. Can be taught to tree and retrieve. Lugubrious expression belies clowning and loving nature. Nothing to compare with his deep resonant voice and far-carrying bell-like note

ROSENDALE KENNELS, Reg'd., 512 Broadway, Victoria, B.C. Owner, Miss R. Osselton. Santana-Mandeville's Plato shown here. Reservations taken for choice tri-coloured or red and white puppies.

COONHOUND, BLACK AND TAN

This is one of the few truly North American breeds and he dates back to our earliest ancestors who used the breed to hunt for food and clothing. This breed of trail hounds is the result of a cross between the St. Hubert's Hound which were black and tan in colour and used for fox and big-game hunting, and the Cuban Bloodhound. Various strains from this cross have been developed through the centuries by numerous houndsmen to make the breed the excellent hunter of coon, or any furred game, that he is today. However, he prefers to hunt game that will "tree". His deep, musical "bawl" which can be heard for many miles while on the trail and his distinctive "chop" to indicate that his game is "treed" has thrilled hunters through the years and will always continue to do so.

Ch. d'Argenteuil Baron Bretton and Can. and Am. Ch. Melinda of Ten Oaks, owned by D'ARGENTEUIL KENNELS REG'D., Main St. N., R.R. No. 2, Newmarket, Ont., are two of the several champions in the d'Argenteuil hunting pack. Puppies, stud service and training.

DACHSHUND, SMOOTH

Once the butt of jokes, the Daschund has gained real respect and popularity. The low-slung badger dog has a proud but kindly mien, perhaps stemming from his early association with kings (a statute of an early Egyptian king shows him accompanied by a low-hung dog named Tekal, which may account for the German breed name Teckel). Now valued as one of the tidiest home dogs, the Daschund has a long reputation as a deer hunter and is particularly valuable on badger and other pests. Determined, and completely courageous.

DACHSHUND, MINIATURE SMOOTH

With the realization that there is a dog for every size of home and taste, we expect more Canadians will realize the worth of the Miniature Dachshund. This is by no means a toy, but a true hunting hound, with all the scenting nose and hunting instincts of the standard Daschund. They are used on rabbits, for example, and are prime mousers. They adhere symmetrically to the standard size, with similar soundness, and mental and physical vitality. Because of their size and neatness, make excellent travelling companions. Why miniature? They were produced to work in burrows too small for the larger type.

GHOST RIVER RANCH, Cochrane, Alta. Owner: Miss Agness Hammond. Shown here: Ch. Del Rey Trintetina. At stud: Ch. My Little Rudolph Von Belleau, 5½ pounds. Two litters expected soon.

DACHSHUND, LONG-HAIRED

The Daschund, almost more than any other breed, is constructed for the role he was born to play . . . long soft ears which move with the head in or out of the holes of burrowing animals, deep chest, short legs. Add to this long silky hair! This is not a new variation. Records show he was in existence as early as 1660, first in black and tan colouring and later in rich red tones; both now a matter of preference. Long-hairs work equally as efficiently as the smooth-coated.

YCLEPT RUSSETT DACHSHUNDS, Milk River, Alta. Owners, Dr. and Mrs. K. J. Clementi. Latest champion bred litter of 11 pups, whelped July 30. Sire Ch. Yclept Russett Dennis, dam Ch. Yclept Russett Judy. Shown here is a fine representative group of the Yclept Russet long-haired family.

DACHSHUND, WIRE-HAIRED

Authorities have varied opinions about the wire-haired variety. Some say he stemmed from a crossing of the smooth type with the wire-haired Pinscher, then this cross-bred with the Dandie Dinmont. Others attribute the rough coat to the Basset. The typical coat is rough and wiry like the Cairn, over a tight undercoat of close wool. Although the top of the head has flat wire hair, the ears are smooth. Slightly bushy hair over the eyes gives a quizzical look; the chin and upper and lower lips have a hard beard. Prized as a hunter, remarkably good on deer.

HAPSBURG KENNELS, Reg'd., 5051-2 St. N.W., Calgary, Alta. Owner, Mrs. Philine Eggenberger. Schoffie van de Zeven Bergjes at stud. Puppies expected this month (September).

POINTER, GERMAN SHORTHAIR

Here is one double cross that turned out well — the admixture of roughly 50% old Spanish Pointer, 25% English Foxhound and 25% Bloodhound became the magnificent German Shorthaired Pointer. Special equipment: webbed feet and water-resistent coat which enable him to work from icy water or rough terrain. Game: pheasant, duck, grouse, quail, partridge, jacksnipe, woodcock and rabbits as well as possum and coon; can trail and point deer. Canadians are showing new interest in this "all-purpose pointer", which is admirably suited to this country. He is a natural retriever, night trailer, duck dog, fine bird dog and good companion and guard dog at home.

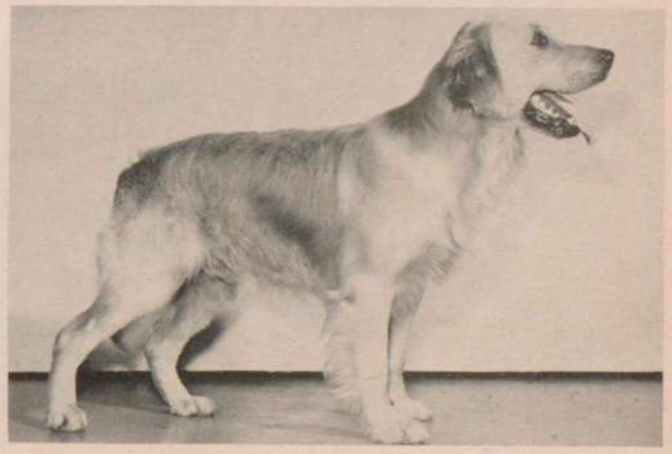
RETRIEVER, GOLDEN

Sir Dudley Marjoribanks sat entranced through the circus as the golden dogs went flawlessly through their intricate performance. Such intelligence, he reasoned, should prove even more valuable in the field and promptly negotiated for the troupe. That was nearly a century ago. These Russian trackers were so oblivious to cold and so highly responsible, it is said shepherds would leave the dogs in charge of the flock for months. In 1870 Sir Dudley crossed his trackers with Bloodhounds, only once, according to records. This reduced the size, accentuated the already keen scenting powers, slightly darkened and refined the coat. The Golden has been used both as a setter and retriever, works beautifully on land and in the water.



Shown here is Ingot of Janville (Punch) Imp. Owned by Lloyd Jarvis and Frank Sommers, Grimsby, Ont. At stud: Punch is a wonderful physical specimen and field-trained.

RETRIEVER, LABRADOR

Newfoundland is the original home of this handsome hunter. The "otter" tail is one of the most distinctive features of the Lab. It is thick near the base, tapers toward the tip, and unlike many field and water dogs, has no feathering. Movement is an all-important test of conformation. While in action, the forelegs hang perpendicular and swing parallel with the sides, much as the pendulum of a clock. The hind legs provide the principal propulsive power. The short, shining, straight-haired coat, sheds water like a duck. His intelligence and co-operation make him one of the most valuable shooting dogs of all times.

RHODESIAN RIDGEBACK

A source of satisfaction to the owner and a great attraction and conversation piece, the Ridgeback is gaining rapidly in this country. Even the babies have the unique hallmark: the ridge of hair growing in the opposite direction along the spine, commencing with two distinct, identical crowns back of the shoulders. The lion is known as the bravest of animals, but the Lion Dog has been the vanquisher of the King of Beasts countless times. This great warrior is not a fighter of other dogs, but is gentle as a kitten with children and smaller animals, and a responsible guardian.

KRAAL KENNELS, Regd., Kleinberg, Ont. Phone Maple 245. Owner: Dr. H. Hetherington. Puppies available now.

SALUKI

The Saluki runs like the wind, at a speed of 42 to 50 miles per hour. The Arabs used Salukis to bring down gazelles, swiftest of the fleet antelopes. They are courageous, and have been used against bears and boars. The build of elbow enables this galloping sight hound to turn sharply at full speed. Dignity and gentleness are keynotes to his personality, combining to make a good watch dog and friend for children. Coursing meets in England use Salukis on hare. Although he is primarily a sight hound his nose is quite good. The Saluki is raced as well in England and on the Continent.

SETTER, ENGLISH

For an ever-increasing group of sportsmen, the English Setter is the only dog. He has approximately 400 years of training behind him. As to character, some people say they like starch and even stubbornness. But here is a hunter with a mild, gentle disposition, aristocratic, beautiful and intelligent. He is active and rugged, showing a desirable spirit; and withal a wonderful companion. One thing to be remembered: If you own an English Setter you must be prepared to give him plenty of exercise. As to colour, he may be black, white and tan; black and white; blue belton; lemon and white; lemon belton; orange and white; orange belton; liver and white; liver belton; and solid white. Here is a dog handsome in symmetry with a rare number of colour variations to choose from.

SHEEP RIVER KENNELS, Reg'd., Box 147, Turner Valley, Alta. Owner: G. W. des Rosiers. Puppies for sale. Shown here is the stud Ch. Spol's Protege.

SETTER, IRISH

Lavish with affection and loaded with roguish appeal, the flashy Irish Setter is one of the universally liked dogs today. So entirely individual and distinguished is he, with his red-gold glinting coat that he stands out from all other dogs. For many generations this hunter was not self-coloured, but members of the Irish nobility admirably bred for one colour. He is primarily a gun dog, best on prairie chicken, ruffled grouse and quail. Characteristics are very much Irish—devil-may-care, but beauty and fun notwithstanding, he is bold and tough. He trains slowly but once trained on birds, he stays trained for life.

Two Irish Setter pups recently imported from Ireland being received by Harry Dean, ARDEE IRISH SETTER KENNELS, Dalmeny, Sask. These pups have a background of 20 champions in five generations, including six International Field Trial Champions and ten Field Trial Champions.

SPANIEL, AMERICAN COCKER

Owned and loved by people in all walks of life, the Cocker Spaniel is probably the world's most popular dog. The American Cocker is regarded by many as the most beautiful of all spaniels, and there is no doubt that a Cocker puppy would melt a heart of stone. But it should be emphasized that there is more to the Cocker than glamour; his aptitude for hunting has been long-established, although many owners are completely unaware of the fact. This breed is highly alert, give devoted attention, and will take correction without complaining. They show interest in every living thing, will crawl through, over or under a fence, up a creek bank even in puppyhood. They're a gallant little dog and any owner who takes his Cocker afield is giving the breed the break it deserves, while having the pleasure himself.

SPANIEL, ENGLISH COCKER

Larger than the American Cocker, resembling a small Springer. Another difference is in the slightly longer muzzle, with hair not quite as abundant, an advantage in the field. Many Cocker fanciers prefer this slightly less showy but nevertheless appealing and attractive type. Here is a dog who really enjoys living. Adores his master and household, is an intelligent and merry companion, rarely quarrels, and in the field is a responsive, willing worker and good companion. He is speedy, strong and has stamina. Scores well in obedience work.

CARROLL COCKERS Reg'd., 146 Bellamy Rd., R.R. No. 2, West Hill, Ont. Phone AM 1-4143. Owner: Mrs. Margaret Carroll. Shown here is Ch. Carroll Red Flame. English and American Champions at stud. Puppies for sale.

SPANIEL, ENGLISH SPRINGER

A field dog to make any owner's heart beat faster, the English Springer is a medium-sized dog with a dense but not curly coat, which may be black and white, liver and white frequently with tickings of either colour and liver or blue roan. He is sturdy, rather heavily boned and born for swimming and work in swamps. His feet are webbed, his toes well-arched and pads deep and horny. He is easily trained, quarters naturally, and learns readily to work a gun. The talent for retrieving is usually inherited, and that of marking a fallen bird developed quickly. Noted for their all-round ability.

WHIPPET

Symbol of speed, the streamlined Whippet was probably so named because he "whipped" up his game. Best description: an English Greyhound in miniature. He is considered the fastest animal of his weight (10 to 28 pounds) and can attain a speed of 35 miles per hour. He is neither delicate nor difficult to care for. Charming, intelligent and a good watchdog, he requires little care. Other attributes: quiet, well-mannered in the home, on the street or the show bench. This is a dog for more Canadians to consider as pets or breeding and showing.

CLUB NOTES

The Aurora and District Kennel Club Inc.

by Mrs. Florence Sullivan

The club held their annual picnic and get together July 26 at Talisman Poodle Kennels, the home of Mr. Alec and Charles Duncan.

Tony Sacre toasted wieners and marshmallows over a huge bonfire. Phil Sacre supplied the music with a guitar and mouth organ and a very enjoyable singsong was conducted by Mr. Sacre with, of course, the usual barber shop quartette thrown in.

Many thanks to both Alec and Charles Duncan for the lovely evening and for the beautiful roses they presented to all the club members upon their departure.

The next meeting will be September 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan.

Burlington & District Kennel Club

by Dr. W. Vivian

The general meeting of the club for July was held at the home of Dr. Fred Bridgman. It was planned to hold a barbecue but the weatherman saw otherwise, and all were thankful of our hosts hospitality and retired to the living room. Despite the storm the many present enjoyed the meeting and the "hot dogs".

Finals plans were made for the "Dog Exhibit" at the Rodeo and further plans made for our first Show and Trial. The decoration committee proposed some novel ideas for decorating the Arena to make this Show something more than just a place to get points.

The trophy Committee are offering trophies for all Open & Puppy classes, regardless of breed and for All Best of Breeds and Best Opposite Sex.

The Show will be benched with a panel of all Canadian judges, and dogs will be excused at 6.00 p.m. The trend seems to be to judge Groups upon the competition of the breeds but we feel the small rings are a hinderance to both Judges and the exhibitors. Consequently our Groups will be judged at 4.30 p.m. with a Championship parade at 4.00.

With the booster shows for five breeds, Irish Setters, Coonhounds, Dachshunds, Samoyeds and Toy Breeds and an Obedience Trial we hope to meet many new people in this our first Show.

Visitors are welcome to our meetings starting September 5.

The Dachshund Club of Canada

by Ernie Lindsay

Our regular monthly meeting was held at Port Lambton August 11 on the beautiful banks of the St. Clair River. The club held a brief meeting preceeding the general meeting of which our club and The Wallaceburg Kennel Club were hosts to all dog breeders in general of Western Ontario.

Mr. W. J. Monaghan of Ottawa being the principal speaker, and with his great knowledge of the C.K.C. proceedings and his answers to the many questions and problems put forth to him, everyone thoroughly enjoyed making his acquaintance after which the picnic baskets were brought out.

Don't forget our booster show in conjunction with the Burlington Kennel Club Show on September 28.

the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Cook, Wilton Grove, and was well attended. George Carpenter was Conformation Judge and selected the Sangster's "Aldona's Conn" for Best of Breed. Best Puppy award went to Mr. and Mrs. J. Logan's "Mandy". Percy Wimbush did a nice job of judging the All-Breed-Obedience Trials and the highest scoring dog was Helen Seabrook's Poodle. Kevin Cook won the prize in the Children's Handling Class.

Highlight of the day was a demonstration in Advanced Obedience and Rescue Work put on by Mr. A. Surette of Brantford, and his dog "Terry" A former TV star, "Terry" amazed the large audience by such spectacular feats as rescuing his master from the foot of a cliff, dragging a victim out of a fire and untying the ropes from a victim who had been bound by robbers. These and other interesting Obedience tricks were greatly enjoyed by the members. We are indeed indebted to Mr. Surette and "Terry" for a Command Performance.

Our members are still making a name for themselves in the Obedience world. Bob Bird's "Lady Roberta" and Wm. Johnston's "Bruno" have recently acquired their C.D. Titles.

At our last meeting Miss Lena Short was the guest speaker and gave a worthwhile talk on "Ring Stewarding". With our Fall Specialty Show and Obedience Trials 'just around the corner', members are all working hard on show arrangements. Having secured an outstanding American Judge for our Specialty Show, we are all looking forward to a truly successful event.

German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada

by Helen I. Scott

Plans are well underway for our Specialty Show on September 21. This is a Register of Merit Show. On September 14 the Oakville and District Kennel Club are holding their Annual Show at the Oakville Arena. This Club is giving our breed a specialty judge. Those interested in Obedience and coming from a distance will be interested to know they can show at Oakville on the 14th and show again on the 15th at the German Shepherd Obedience Trial at York Armories. Post entries will be taken an hour before the Trial.

Mary Southcott judged the Sportsman's Dog Training Club of Detroit Show earlier this month. Her report was, "It is the first time in a long while that she

by Edna T. Joel

A meeting of the club was held on June 12 at the Chateau Dufferin. We were delighted to welcome two new members to the club in Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reid.

Minutes of the previous meeting were passed.

In a speech by the president, Mr. C. Wright, he thanked Mr. and Mrs. D'Eath for all the work they had done on behalf of the club and presented them with a gift of a beautiful coffee carafe.

Both Mrs. Eileen McEachren and Mrs. Ruth Winters were unable to attend the meeting. Mrs. McEachren because of the illness of her mother who, I understand, is now making fair progress and Mrs. Winters because of a slight accident from which she has now recovered.

A garden party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Betts, Tregoad Kennels, on July 6. Although I was unable to attend I understand that it was a most successful affair with a large attendance.

An All Terrier Puppy Match will be held on Sunday, September 22 at the home of the Tailteann Kerry Blues, Steeles Ave. East, through the courtesy of Mrs. McEachren. Held in lovely surroundings it will be an ideal training ground for your puppy. Lots of car parking room too. So give the club your full support. Check advertisement in this issue for further details.

Niagara Bird Dog Association

by Ralph H. Frayne

The Association held a water test for Spaniels on July 14 at Merritton Picnic Parks near St. Catharines. This was an innovation in that we have never heard of an Ontario club holding this type of test before, and was so successful we plan to make it an annual event. Following is the placing of dog entitled to water certificates:

1st—Dauntless Donna, owned-handled by Stewart Walton, St. Catharines.
2nd—Marjohn's Royal Duke, owned-handled by Stanley E. Welsh, St. Catharines.
3rd—Walpride Wildfire, owned-handled by J. A. Meek, Welland, Ont.
4th—Beaverdale Duchess, owned by Stanley E. Welsh and handled by Ralph H. Frayne, St. Catharines.

Puppy Class

1st—Twin Flight Patricia, owned handled by T. Atherton, St. Catharines.
2nd—Cullin's Arrowhead Sussie, owned-handled by George Tabner, London.

After the trial a picnic was held in very nice picnic grounds and a good time was certainly enjoyed by all.

The Poodle Advancement Association

by Edna Joel

After various meetings of Poodle fanciers and a few months of hard work by some of them, a club was formed at the last meeting held in the home of Mrs. Susie Mae Weir on Sunday, July 12. The name of the club was decided by a unanimous vote. A temporary constitution was adopted.

President of the club is Mrs. Susie Mae Weir. Directors, Robert Burtt, Mrs. Bobbie Ellis, Miss Claire Jungelson, Nigel-Aubrey-Jones, Edna Joel. First vice-president, Ken Ellis; 2nd vice-president, John Jensen; secretary, Mrs. Edna Joel; treasurer, Robert Burtt to whom application for membership should be made accompanied by $5.00. Mr. Burtt's address is 7 McLennan Ave., North Rosedale, Toronto.

Next meeting of the club will be held on September 1 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis, De La Fontaine Kennels, Churchville (nr. Streetsville). We will be delighted to welcome everyone who has an interest in the Poodle and would like to become a member of the club. Letters with news and views will be welcomed by the writer.

At a special meeting held August 6, reports from the various officers were read in connection with the June show. Each report indicated progress and the officers were thanked for their fine efforts. THE GREY ELK DOG

The Elkhound is not a roamer if he is happy at home. The family looking for a dog that will wait out in the dog-house does not want this breed. They like to be in on all the family fun and for this reason actually do not make good kennel dogs.

I believe the breed would benefit greatly if more attention were paid to the standard, which incidentally, is quite vague on an all-important matter such as weight. It seems incredible that in the same show a 38 pound female and an 80 pound male could win in the same breed.

It also should be remembered that trouble sneaks slowly into a breed. It is well to be aware of problems in other breeds and watch out for them in ours. The luxated patella (trick knee) the congenital subluxation of the hip joint of the German Shepherd and others; the trichiasis of the Golden Retrievers, are present in any breed. They come to the fore, not when the general public is already cognizant of it, but when the alert, conscientious breeders become aware and through their efforts, attempt to eradicate the fault.

We have a problem in our breed that should receive more attention. While watching a large group of Norwegian Elkhound champions gait it was obvious that we haven't paid as much attention to gait as other breeders have. It is no wonder that group wins are slow if we don't have dogs that can go out and gait with the other smooth-gaited hounds. It is true that the Elkhound's true gait is a gallop but that does not mean that they shouldn't move soundly.

I am anxious to hear comments on the following question: Which is the better dog to use in a breeding program — one which matures early, looks good as a youngster, often goes to its championship when under a year and then, when around three years old, has no more "class"; or the slow-maturing dog that looks like nothing until around two years old and then blossoms out and stays about the same for years? What are the experiences of breeders who have these nice flyers of youngsters? I know I've only started to be aware of this factor and would like to know what the experts with the experience think about them.

Keep your dog safe from dog-nappers, warns the Gaines Dog Research Centre, this is the season when any dog resembling hounds or bird dogs are picked up, either by shady individuals who want a dog for the hunting season but are too miserly to keep a dog all year or by certain organized rings of dog thieves. Thousands of dogs are sold every year by unethical dog dealers, who depend upon dognappers for their supply.

NEW SKIN, COAT CONDITIONER

A new skin and coat conditioner developed by Lambert-Kay Inc. chemists is Linatone which, the manufacturer claims, stops scratching caused by dryness of the skin and the usual secondary infections that stem from this condition referred to as Summer Eczema. While reducing doggie odours, it produces lustrous coats and healthy soft skin, plus better appetite and energy. It is a supplement for daily use with regular food.

THE BEAGLE STANDARD

(As adopted by the National Beagle Club of America February, 1935)

BENCH SHOW STANDARD

Head—The skull should be fairly long, slightly domed at occiput, with cranium broad and full.

Ears — Ears set on moderately low, long, reaching when drawn out nearly, if not quite, to the end of the nose; fine in texture, fairly broad — with almost entire absence of erectile power—setting close to the head, with the forward edge slightly inturning to the cheek—rounded at tip.

Eyes—Eyes large, set well apart—soft and hound-like — expression gentle and pleading; of a brown or hazel color.

Muzzle—Muzzle of medium length—straight and square cut—the stop moderately defined.

Jaws—Level. Lips free from flews; nostrils, large and open.

Defects — A very flat skull, narrow across the top; excess of dome, eyes small, sharp and terrier like, or prominent and protruding; muzzle long, snipey or cut away decidedly below the eyes, or very short. Roman nosed, or upturned, giving a dish-face expression. Ears short, set on high or with a tendency to rise above the point of origin.

BODY

Neck and Throat — Neck rising free and light from the shoulders, strong in substance yet not loaded, of medium length. The throat clean and free from folds of skin; a slight wrinkle below the angle of the jaw, however, may be allowable.

Defects—A thick, short, cloddy neck carried on a line with the top of the shoulder. Throat showing dewlap and folds of skin to a degree termed "throatiness".

Shoulders and Chest—Shoulders sloping — clean, muscular, not heavy or loaded — conveying the idea of freedom of action with activity and strength. Chest deep and broad, but not broad enough to interfere with the free play of the shoulders.

Defects — Straight, upright shoulders. Chest disproportionately wide or with lack of depth.

Back Loin and Ribs—Back short, muscular and strong. Loin broad and slightly arched, and ribs well sprung, giving abundance of lung room.

Defects — Very long or swayed or roached back. Flat, narrow loin, flat ribs.

DOBES OUTDO ELECTRONICS

While many establishments are experimenting with electronic burglar alarms, Macy's huge department store in New York swears by its four-Doberman alarm system in use since 1952.

Prowlers were doing a land-office business by hiding in the store at the close of a business day and escaping on opening next morning. Since the Doberman Pinschers took over, not a penny in merchandise has been lost through theft.

"And don't make any mistake about believing that the chewing will stop when the permanent teeth are in. In my experience it's too often a case of once a chewer, always a chewer. They'll chew out of sheer boredom, if for no other reason."

The Old Timer went back to the kennels and came out with a dog left with him for conditioning. It was a wire-haired terrier, nicely marked, good headed, with a lovely eye and carrying its ears the way a wire's ears should be. But when you'd said that, you'd said it all. The dog was fat. It had no fire. It appeared out at elbows and bowed in the hind legs, as a result of the weight it was carrying.

"How old would you say this dog is?" The Old Timer asked.

I hazarded a guess at nine years.

"You're out by about five", the Old Timer told me. "He's just turned four but he's a beautiful example of the twig not being inclined in the right way. He's got indulgent owners, who have no children. If the puppy didn't want to eat at the regular feeding time, that was okay by them. It could eat later.

Never a bit of rich dessert but he got his share. The fat from the steaks and the chops was his, as of right. He almost completely lost his taste for anything as prosaic as plain, ordinary dog food."

"And how does he come to you?" I asked.

"Well, as you'd expect, the dog got sick. He was taken to the vet and the vet's first piece of advice was to get some weight off him. The owners are too kind hearted. They love him. They can't refuse him his tid-bits. So out of love and kindness they're killing him."

The Old Timer paused again. "A bit of a problem, this lad," he said. "I've had him two days and he hasn't eaten yet. But I'm not too worried. He can be like a bear and live off his fat for a while. Eventually he'll get hungry and eventually he'll eat, even if it is only ordinary dog food. It's offered to him twice a day and when he doesn't eat it's taken away. He doesn't get another chance until his next meal time. That doesn't worry me. What does is the owners. I'll get him down to his weight and I'll get him eating properly. But when the owners get him back, will it be the same old routine, all over again?"

"What you've been saying," I interrupted "is that in habits of living and eating the owner's rule should simply be common sense."

"Exactly that," said the Old Timer. "Use it and both owner and dog will have long years of happy, healthy companionship ahead of them."

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Secretary reported that he had asked the Directors in Ontario to submit their recommendations with regard to appointment of members in Ontario to the several Amendments Committees, and read the recommendations received. It was agreed that the following be appointed:

To the Amendments to By-laws Committee: R. T. Lawrence; H. N. J. Gardiner.

To the Amendments to Field Trial Rules and Regulations Committee: Robert Blyth; H. V. P. Lewis.

To the Amendments to Obedience Trial Regulations and Standards Committee: Miss V. E. Meyers; Miss Reba Graham.

The Secretary pointed out that at the annual meeting of the Board the appointment of an Obedience Trial Representative for Ontario had been ordered held over for consideration.

It was regularly moved by Mr. Monaghan, seconded by Mrs. Southcott:

"THAT, Miss V. E. Meyers be and is hereby appointed Obedience Trial Representative for Ontario, she to have the authority to appoint a competent person to attend and report on any trials which she cannot attend personally."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Brown, Miss Brooks, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan, and Mrs. Southcott.

ABSTAINED FROM VOTING: Mrs. Mack (on the grounds that this is an appointment for Ontario).

Motion carried.

The Secretary reported that Mr. Irving had selected Mr. Joseph Dodds to replace Mr. E. Cargill on the B.C. (Mainland) Advisory Committee, Mr. Cargill having declined the appointment, Mr. Irving's recommendation was approved.

3728 (3683). LIST OF REGISTERED TATTOO COMBINATIONS

The Secretary reported that in accordance with the Board's instruction (see Item #3683) he had communicated with the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records regarding the preparation of a list of registered tattoo combinations allotted to breeders, and reported that members of the Board had been advised that the list would comprise approximately 7300 tattoo combinations and the cost to prepare such a list would be approximately $150.00.

It was agreed that the project be abandoned, and no further action taken.

3730 (3727) APPOINTMENTS

The Secretary reported that the members of the Board had been provided with a copy of a letter from Mrs. Southcott who had sought clarification of the status, duties and responsibilities of the Obedience Council, more particularly as it concerned its relations with the appointed Standing Committee for Obedience.

The Secretary read a letter from Mr. Irving who: agreed with Mrs. Southcott that the amendment (effective March 6, 1957) to Article XIII, Section 11, of the By-laws provides that as Chairman of the Obedience Council she should advise the Board; stated that the amendment does not in any way try to tell the Board how it shall conduct its business, and in the matter of Obedience the Board has found it suitable to set up a Standing Committee for Obedience, and any reports from Mrs. Southcott in her capacity as Chairman of the Obedience Council would be turned over to the Chairman of the Standing Committee.

After discussion it was agreed that it be left to Mrs. Mack, Chairman of the Standing Committee for Obedience, and Mrs. Southcott, Chairman of the Obedience Council, to reach agreement as to the best means of carrying out the functions of the Council and the Standing Committee.

It was agreed that reports received by the Secretary from Obedience Trial Representatives be forwarded to both the Chairman of the Council and the Chairman of the Standing Committee.

3731 (3664). KENNEL NAMES

The Secretary:

(a) Reported that the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records had been informed of the resolutions adopted by the Board of Directors with regard to kennel names (see Item #3664);

(b) Read a letter, dated March 14th, from the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records, seeking a direction on the action to be taken in connection with the continued use by a breeder of a name which is the name of a place in Canada, and in connection with requiring breeders to register kennel names which are unsuitable for use as prefixes.

After discussion it was agreed that the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records should implement the policies outlined by the Board by:

(a) Refusing the continued use of a place name as a kennel name;

(b) Suggesting to breeders, when writing them about registration of kennel names, that names be selected only if satisfactory when used as a prefix.

3732 (3681). DOGS FOR CIVIL DEFENCE

The Secretary pointed out that no decision had been reached at the annual meeting of the Board regarding the office of liaison officer between the Club and the Department of National Health and Welfare on the subject of dogs for civil defence.

It was regularly moved by Mrs. Mack, seconded by Mrs. Southcott:

"THAT, Mr. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins be asked to carry on as liaison officer between the Club and the Federal Civil Co-Ordinator and Department of National Health and Welfare in connection with dogs for civil defence."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Brown, Miss Brooks, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan, and Mrs. Southcott.

Motion carried.

3733. IMPLEMENTING DECISIONS OF THIS MEETING

The Secretary sought authority to carry out decisions reached at this meeting.

It was regularly moved by Mr. Monaghan, seconded by Mrs. Southcott:

"THAT, the Secretary be and is hereby authorized to implement the decisions of this meeting."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Brown, Miss Brooks, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan, and Mrs. Southcott.

Motion carried.

3734 (3718). MINUTES

It was regularly moved by Mr. MacKendrick, seconded by Mrs. Mack:

"THAT, a Committee composed of the President, Vice-President and Director be and are hereby appointed to review any suggested corrections in the draft minutes of this meeting in order that publication of same may be made in the earliest possible issue of the official organ."

FOR THE MOTION: Mr. Brown, Miss Brooks, Mrs. Mack, Mr. MacKendrick, Mr. Monaghan, and Mrs. Southcott.

Motion carried.

3735. ADJOURNMENT

At 10.55 P.M., on motion by Mr. Monaghan, duly seconded and carried, this meeting of the Board of Directors adjourned.

Cocker Standard

The ears, chest, abdomen and posterior sides of the legs should be well feathered, but not so excessively as to hide the Cocker Spaniel's true lines and movement or affect his appearance and function as a Sporting Dog. Excessive coat or feathering shall be penalized."

Actually the height standard carries the same stinger only more so — disqualification. Why they used the word "ideal" I don't know. In view of the disqualification clause the word "ideal" is superfluous; one is only allowed the leeway of one inch.

Picking show prospects from a litter is a task calling for all one's knowledge of the breed; but who can prophecy the final mature height of a dog to one inch? I'm afraid many fine puppies kept as show material will end up being sold as pets when mature enough to enter Open competition under such a rigid ruling. Height limitation as such I can agree with, but not such a narrow "boxing in" with disqualification as the penalty.

One reason for the new standard devised by the American Spaniel Club is that after holding first place in popularity in the U.S.A. for many years, the Cocker Registrations suddenly began slipping. Both the size and the coat, claimed many breeders, were killing sales. The new standard is designed to cover both.

But there are still arguments for and against the new ideas in the States.

The reason the date of the standard going into effect more than a year after the announcement is to enable the breeders to conform to the new specifications.

It must be borne in mind that this new standard applies only in the U.S.A. Whether or not it will ever be adopted here is something that only time will tell.

DOG MEAT BANNED

For human consumption, that is. According to the Lauszanne Gazette, there is a large-scale traffic in dog meat for human use in some parts of Switzerland despite a government ban. For centuries peasants in French Switzerland have believed that dog or cat meat has health-giving properties—particularly as protection against rheumatism and tuberculosis.

HUNTERS TURN KILLERS

It would seem the last thing necessary to tell a hunter to watch his dogs, but apparently it's so. Ross Haines, dog control officer for Oshawa states that packs of wild dogs are roaming in bushland north of this community. He said they are mainly stolen hunting dogs which turn killer when abandoned. Flocks of sheep have been slaughtered, pheasants wiped out and a prize bull maimed.

Said Mr. Haines: "I want to warn hunters who have dogs to guard them well. Once they get the taste of blood they will go on killing just for the joy of it."

ning coonhounds, neither of which knew such animals existed. But after two weeks of daily work on cat and bear-drag scents, my dogs were as eager to follow those lines as they'd been on coons. Ivan Marx, a big-game guide in the California mountains, uses this same method to start all his bear and cat hounds.

There are not as many scents available for upland gamebirds as there are for trail game. Pheasant and duck scents are the only ones I've found on the market, and both are an excellent aid in teaching a dog to retrieve.

Pheasant scent can also be used in the early stages of breaking a flush dog on that bird, with an assist by pigeons. Drag a well-scented dummy a short distance through the cover, into the wind, and up to a pigeon in a spring trap. Encourage the dog to work this line, and just before he gets to the cage, spring it. The bird takes to wing and you shoot.

This is helpful in several ways. It acquaints the dog with the working scent, even though the synthetic isn't as strong as the natural. You can force the sit at wing, whether you're working on a check line or not, for you know exactly when the wing will take place. And by using a light load, you accustom the dog to shot. As you progress in the lessons, a dummy can be tossed with the shot, and the dog sent out to retrieve it.

All this can be done in almost any small area, making it a handy method for anyone who doesn't have access to good training grounds. If firearms are restricted, cap pistols or blank training pistols can be used.

The duck-scented dummy can be used right from the start in training retrieving —to immediately acquaint the dog with a scent related to that which he'll work.

Long ago I became convinced that a cardinal rule in training is to help the student dog in every possible way to learn his lessons. And one such way is to use highly scented dummies, which are much easier for a dog to find. Along that same line I always try to leave as little human scent on the dummy as possible, for there'll be none on the duck he retrieves.

While the synthetic scents are a tremendous help in basic training, only the actual field experience will give you a finished game dog.

Last season I hunted quail with a friend behind a promising young pointer in Virginia. The dog had given us two good covey finds and then on a cast along the edge of some second-growth pines, he gave tongue twice and took off into the trees. My friend whistled and yelled, but his only answer was an occasional bay deep in the woods.

"That's all!" he said disgustedly, throwing his gun down. "That's the third time this season that he's run deer, and his last."

"You can break him with synthetic scent," I suggested.

"Ah, I tried that on another dog—did as much good on him as my hollering does now."

Checking further, I learned that my friend had bought one of those $2 sample bottles and expected that to do the job. And it might, too, if the dog isn't a confirmed trailer, or if you ware the dog off the trail before he ever starts running it.

In many states a dog running a deer can be shot on sight. And there's nothing more annoying than having a quail or coon hunt broken up by your dog taking off for a two or three-hour deer run.

Deer musk lays a strong trail that's attractive to any dog. To break a dog of this, you can give him so much scent that he sickens of it and never wants another whiff—like a kid that has gorged himself on mince pie. Some trainers wet the end of a towel with the stuff and slap the dog across the face with it until he gags. Others spray the dog to gain the same results.

There are two other methods which are more emphatic. Put some saturated cotton in a glass jar having a perforated lid, and fasten this to the dog's collar so that the fumes reek under his nose. Still better, put the dog in a small box with not too much ventilation, one that's not his sleeping quarters. Place the jar in the box or spray it well with synthetic deer musk, and keep the dog in it for an hour or so daily until he fights to keep from being put back in.

We can test our cure or give ware training by laying a synthetic trail at a point where we know the dog will strike it, then be there to correct him should he show interest. With the trail hound we can lay a desired drag line and cross it at points with a drag of deer musk. Knowing these locations we can step in the moment he shows any interest in the new scent. This method will also show whether or not our corrective work with the spray or box has been effective, and whether we should continue to give the dog the same treatment.

Many trainers give their dogs a refresher treatment every year just for insurance.

For those of us who live with our dogs, a synthetic housebreaking scent often comes in handy. It is a concentrated urine scent, and one drop is an invitation to the dog so that he uses that particular place and no other in the house.

A last reminder: synthetic scents play a big role in basic training, but only the actual field experience will give you a finished game dog.—

TRAINING DIMINISHES DELINQUENCY

Members of Canadian dog clubs could make a valuable contribution toward fighting teen-age delinquency by encouraging obedience training classes, W. J. Monaghan, a C.K.C. director told a joint meeting of dog lovers, members of the C.K.C. and the Dachshund Club of Canada at a recent joint meeting at Port Lambton, Ont. "It is not a matter of just teaching a dog obedience," he stressed. "Obedience training actually trains the trainer to train the dog."

He also asked for close co-operation of all affiliated groups in encouraging improvement of show standards.

BERMUDA

Arrangements for transportation have finally been cleared for the flight south to take in the three 1957 Bermuda Club All-Breed Shows and Obedience Trials at Paget, Bermuda, October 31, November 1 and 2.

Sorry, but due to the 90-day quarantine regulations still in force, it's impossible for dogs to accompany owners on this trip. But the mills turn slowly, and possibly it will be all clear next near.

These Bermuda competitors were diminutive greeters to visitors at the Bermuda Kennel Club show last year.

Schedule: Leave Toronto by TCA October 30, continue from New York by BOAC (Tourist). Leave Bermuda for Toronto Sunday November 3 at 4.30 p.m. You stay at the fabulous Bermudiana Hotel five days and four nights, with breakfasts, afternoon teas and dinners served. Entertainment is Calypso singing by the Talbot Brothers, considered the greatest purveyors of Calypso in the world; dancing in the famous tropical Moonlight Gardens. Or if you feel like wandering about, you can have dinner or afternoon tea at Castle Harbor, where Hollywood stars relax, or Harmony Hall, another famous hotel featuring gombi entertainment, all included in your fare. And the whole trip costs only $210.00, including transfers to and from airport in Bermuda, tips to waiters, bedroom maids and luggage in hotel. Cost is based on two persons sharing a twin-bedded room. There are a limited number of single rooms available at an additional cost of $4.00 daily.

Canada's Newest Canine Shop and Salon Hits Headlines

Salon for Sophisticates

The Poodle Boutique, Canada's newest canine specialty shop, has just opened at 2355 Yonge St., Toronto, and makes luxury items primarily obtainable in Montreal and New York available in this area. Owners are Michael Karageorgis and Phyllis Walker, who have the Karas Kennels Reg'd. at Gormley, Ont. Phyllis is well known in England where she was manager of the Hawkridge Kennels at Knightsbridge, London, famous as England's foremost canine bureau. Michael was noted as an impressario in London, especially as a choreographer of Greek and Oriental dances, and was owner of the Flamingo restaurant, a popular meeting place for stars of drama and musicals.

The Boutique is handsomely appointed, with excellent and attractive fittings for grooming. Miss Poo, a silver Miniature Poodle, will be on hand to model the beautifully tailored English coats, the dress collars and leads and other fashionable accessories.

Press, TV and radio representatives, individuals to whom little is completely new, were openly impressed with the ingenuity of the raincoats, made-to-measure winter weight coats, cocktail coats, rhinestone-studded collars, boots, and even ear-bibs for long-eared breeds. Many saw for the first time such toiletries as doggy "satin-set" spray, colognes, colour rinses, creams to mask the little stains some light-coloured breeds show, and personalized doggy towels.

The Saluki

Drawing reprinted courtesy "The Saluki or Gazelle Hound Club"

There are folks who, at first glance, consider the Saluki a delicate dog. But the truth is, these swift hunters are among the hardiest in dogdom, able to withstand the heat of the blazing Far East sun and the bitter chill of the nights.

Salukis are undoubtedly the oldest known breed of domesticated dog and the most carefully bred through the centuries. The sacred dog was never sold by the Arabs nor allowed out of Arab territory. These limits were by no means confining, because of the roving life of these nomads. Home was where the tent was pitched — Egypt, Arabia, Palestine, Syria, Mesopotamia, Anatolia, Persia. There was some variation in type, naturally, but this difference touched only size and coat. For example, the Arabian Saluki was slightly smaller with less furnishings on his legs and ears than the Persian.

When Alexander the Great invaded India in 329 B.C. the Saluki had established his importance as a hunter, and was known as the Royal Dog of Egypt. Some say that whenever the word greyhound appears in the Bible, it actually means Saluki.

This hound appears carved on the Egyptain tombs of 2100 B.C. More recent excavations of the Sumarian empire, estimated at 7,000-6,000 B.C. have also bared carvings which show an amazing resemblance to the Saluki. One of the greatest differences between the Mohammedan and Moslem religions is in their attitude toward dogs. The followers of Mohammed class dogs as unclean; the Moslems declared the Saluki sacred and considered him "The Noble One" provided by heaven for their amusement and benefit — the latter including meat brought down by the speedy courser. There were other dogs, of course, but the Saluki was the only one allowed to sleep inside the Arab's tent, on the carpet. Some of the Pharoahs held their Salukis in such high regard they had the bodies preserved in mummy form, like their own.

The dashing Crusaders, apart from their endeavours on behalf of the Church, brought back some unique memoirs, among them the lean swift dogs. Undoubtedly the galloping breeds, Whippet, greyhound and Wolfhound, had their beginning in the Royal Dog of Egypt, aver students of the breed.

First Salukis to arrive in England over 100 years ago came from Persia. No great interest was evoked until 1895 when the Hon. Florence Amherst imported the first Arabian Salukis from Prince Abdulla in Transjordania.

Coursing with Salukis is still popular in their native land, although some aspects have changed, as witness a brief note by Vera H. Watkins which appeared in Our Dogs early this year. She writes of E. Russell Roberts whose recent business trip included Kuwait where he was the guest of His Excellency The Sheik.

"A coursing expedition with Salukis was laid on for his entertainment. But in contrast to our trudging over plough, the Sheik of Kuwait goes coursing with four enormous Cadillac cars; one for himself and his guests and three for the Salukis. About 30 hounds were taken out. Once again we find an old tradition confirmed. Salukis are carried to keep them fresh for the chase until game is sighted. They used to be carried on horse or camel."

The symmetry of the Saluki is compelling to the eye — clean-cut, graceful. The hair (colour is usually cream or fawn, although seen in red grizzle and tan, white and chestnut, or black, white and tan as well as solid black,) is short and silky with the exception of the ears, legs and tail. The long tail has silky hair and is carried naturally in a curve.

The Saluki Club of America has one Canadian breeder member, Mrs. Ruth Coates, Toronto, and the only known serious Saluki breeder in Canada at the present time. This is a breed other Canadian fanciers might do well to investigate. At one show in England last November there were no less than 44 individual entries. Another Saluki went Best in Show at the Bath show in England early this year.

1958 WESTMINSTER SHOW

William W. Brainard, Jr., Far Hills, N.J., has been selected to judge Best in Show at the 82nd Annual show of the Westminster Kennel Club slated for February 10-11 at Madison Square Garden, New York. The full panel of judges numbers 47. Mr. Brainard and his wife are partners of Downsbragh Kennels and breed Smooth Fox Terriers, Greyhounds, Dandie Dinmont Terriers and Labrador Retrievers.

Group judges will be: Mrs. Mildred T. Vogel, Lahaska, Penna., (Sporting), Mrs. Edward P. Renner, Lakeville, Conn. (Hounds), Len Carey, Cos Cob, Conn. (Working) James A. Farrell, Jr., New York, (Terriers), Richard A. Kerns, Jr., Ardmore, Penna. (Toys), and Virgil D. Johnson, Savannah, Ga. (Non-Sporting). None of the judges of the variety groups will judge any of the breeds. Winner of the top award will have won under three different judges.

HOW DO KENNELS GROW

SOME kennels are the culmination of many years of planning and saving. Probably a large percentage of present-day kennels, have emerged through a series of circumstances. Here is the story of the beginning of Green Island Kennels, Fairview, Alta., one of the few dog enterprises in the Peace River district, as told to Dogs in Canada by owner E. E. Shaw.

Years ago I was given a month-old German Shepherd pup, the son of King, who belonged to an RCMP sergeant. Smokey grew to be a beautiful dog who carried purses, groceries, escorted us to work in the morning and picked us up at night. He guarded the children and kept them from harm. I have turned down many offers for him, including one of $1,000 from an oil man, an unusual sum for an unregistered dog. He is now 13 years old, and offers are still being refused.

We wanted to keep a Shepherd, so in 1955 we purchased a registered female. She raised nine pups which sold immediately. That summer we bought a lovely female from Mrs. O. Gares of Whitehaven Kennels. The demand for pups was such that we had to get a registered male. Pups from these litters went so quickly we decided to improve our lines. Accordingly we purchased Gracie from Miss McCoy of Longworth Kennels in Michigan. After a number of false starts Gracie arrived by air, her crate covered with good wishes from traffic personnel along the way. Arrangements are under way to line breed her to one of the best Longworth males we are able to locate.

Naturally we have had ups and downs and sometimes it is difficult coping with

POODHALL POODLES

Am. & Can. Ch. Poodhall Gus winning his second BIS Guelph, Aug. 10, 1957 under Mr. Alfred Le Pine. Three weeks earlier he was BIS at the Lakehead Kennel Club under Mrs. Elsie Murray. Gus won his American championship with two 5 point shows, a Group (under Col. McQuown) and a three pointer. In Canada, this year, he has taken six groups under Judges Rosenburg, Bonney, Nixon, Murray, Semple and Le Pine. He is one of 12 champion children of our Tri-International Ch. Pixholme Firebrave Gustav, C.D. and is at stud to approved bitches.

His full sister, Ch. Poodhall Gustavia (who has eight American points) is expecting a litter by Ch. Hollycourt Phillippe.

frozen water and feed dishes. We keep our dogs dry and with lots of good bedding but strictly unheated. The pups are kept under heat lamps until the mother moves them away, a surprisingly short time. Then the pens are gradually cooled off until there is no heat. We have found the pups raised this way are extremely healthy and have lovely coats.

Gracie is by Peter of Knoll Crest from Am. & Ch. Mercurio of L-W. Her mother is a daughter of Ch. Cuno V. D. Teufelslache ex Kit-ten of L-W and Kit a daughter of the great Ch. Volex Ch. Miss Muffin. This Fall we will be purchasing a selected male for breeding purposes.

Our great difficulty is roads. About show time our Peace River is running full crest, and the ferry out of the question; the other road a sea of mud from here to Edmonton. Planes are unable to land then at Peace River because of soft runways. However, with the building of the large bridge across the Peace at Dunvegan we will be able to compete in most of the shows.

I do not know of any other active kennels in the Peace River District, but having overcome the first and I hope worst hurdles, we hope to enlarge and improve our facilities.

FOR DOGS ONLY

Basset Hounds rate next to Poodles in New York as companions for women shoppers. Dachshund, Chihuahuas and Cocker Spaniels are next popular in the shops. Bonwit Teller has had to make a rule about canine customers: one to an elevator. Bergdorf Goodman finds that sometimes customers can barely get on the lift for the canines. A $10,000 Weimaraner has shopped at B.G.'s so often he can find departments alone. Some stores make dogs really welcome. Bonwit glove department has a saleswoman who hands out malted milk tablets. At Wallach's a water trough stands in front of the building. Saks Fifth Avenue offers dogs biscuits and candy in a special dog toggery department. Head of this department sends his canine customers birthday cards.

Abercrombie and Fitch offers a dog towel with special designs (show ribbon, kennel, collar and lead, sweater) in lively colours on a practical beige background. And a brilliant red blanket with the dog's own call name stitched in white on one corner.

Male dogs can order custom-made velvet dinner jackets and terry-cloth bathrobes at Poodletown.

5 good reasons why GAINES is the answer to the dog breeder's nutrition problems!

Ch. Claverte Dolphin,
Shipmates Kennels (Reg.),
Willowdale, Ont.

Ch. Carrol Gretchen,
Carroll Kennels (Reg.),
West Hill, Ont.

Ch. Marine Belle,
Marine Kennels (Reg.),
Toronto, Ont.

It is no secret to dog breeders and veterinarians that many commercial dog foods vary considerably in their nutritional content—frequently from feeding to feeding. This fact has led to a common problem in the correct feeding of dogs, where it is well known that a completely balanced diet is essential to good health and top condition.

Quarrybrae's Golden Angus,
Quarrybrae Kennels (Reg.),
Willowdale, Ont.

There are five good reasons why HOMOGENIZED GAINES MEAL supplies the answer to dog feeding problems. Here they are:

1. Gaines contains all the nourishment dogs need to keep them healthy, happy and in top condition.
2. Gaines is homogenized. So there's a balanced diet in every mouthful of every feeding.
3. Gaines is always ready to eat—dry or moistened.
4. Gaines is the truly tested dog meal, the product of years of research on whole generations of dogs, at the famous Gaines Research Kennels.
5. Gaines goes a long way! A 25 lb. bag of Gaines contains all the food value of 75 lbs. of canned dog food.

Be sure to order your supply soon!

ALL go for Purina DOG CHOW!

Kibbled Meal • Checkers

made by the world's largest manufacturer of animal feeds

WHY DOG CHOW? Because, backed by Purina's scientific research, practical testing, and milling know-how, it's nutritionally right; and because, distributed through feed stores as a feed, it's economically right, too.

The Purina Dog Chow formula is based on 30 years of practical feeding tests with several thousand dogs, large and small, young and old; and it's "policed" continually by Purina's Research Laboratories and Research Kennels. Before it goes into the Checkerboard Bag it has to be right!

Notice, at the shows and trials, how many of the top breeders and handlers make Purina their choice. You too will be well pleased with the results from top-quality condition-building Dog Chow. You'll find it at The Store with the Checkerboard Sign!
