MORE ON SHOW PROBLEMS

... Re your editorial in the November issue in regard to the non-appearance of Canadian exhibitors at shows — in particular the C.N.E. shows. While we did show at two of the three shows, I can easily understand why the entry is not very good. The big objection to our mind is the two-day show — to get two sets of points at the C.N.E. we have a motel bill for at least three if not four or five nights, whereas at the Oakville-Canad shows the same points for one night out. While this should not bother Toronto exhibitors, it sure does affect people a hundred miles (we are 250 miles) or more away from Toronto and I don't think our problems are wholly realized. Exhibitors won't and cannot spend almost a week in Toronto for three shows — prominent American handlers with many dogs apparently can do it but small kennel owners cannot and for every one of the former there are 100 of the latter.

Some answers to the show problem were given in the letter from Mr. Benton — the benching used in most shows is an absolute disgrace — some will hardly hold our little Dachshunds let alone one of his Bullmastiffs. Also the aisle space; the Sportsmen's shows last Spring and the Burlington show this Fall are examples — no room for an exhibitor to sit, let alone talk to any prospective customers. Most of us, at any rate, are in this because we love dogs, but we do like and have to sell some and shows are the obvious place. How anyone could talk to a customer at these last mentioned, I'll never know. Some show authorities should examine the benching facilities at the All Pets Show, Montreal and the Bow Dog Organization who run most of the shows in Michigan. I realize smaller Canadian shows cannot compete with an outfit like Bow but either

MEMO FROM THE EDITOR

A RECENT newspaper editorial page recently carried a letter from a woman whose dog had had unsuccessful treatment from a layman. The dog suffered severely, and its owner wrote bitterly that surely some protection must be afforded owners against similar experiences. There is. The recently revised Ontario Veterinarians Act has been designed for this very purpose. In an interview with E. B. Joliffe, solicitor for the OVA, we learned such protection has been made an act of parliament.

Q. Is it true, as many believe, that veterinarians in Ontario cannot crop ears?

A. While most do not approve of ear cropping or any other unnecessary pain, it has always been legal for them to do so in Ontario, based on the premise that if it is allowable, then it should at least be done professionally.

Q. May an owner crop his own dog's ears?

A. Yes, legally. But unless he is experienced as to instruments, anaesthetic and stopping of blood, he should never attempt it.

Q. Can anyone other than the owner or veterinarian crop ears or do any other surgical work on one's dogs?

A. I'll explain the Act first; in it the word animal means a living being other than a human being. In reference to a registered veterinarian it means registered under this Act. The Act itself reads:

"veterinary science means the application of medicine or surgery to any animal, and includes diagnosing, prescribing, treating, manipulating and operating for the prevention, alleviation or correction of any disease, injury, pain, deficiency, deformity, defect, lesion, disorder or physical condition of or in any animal, with or without the use of instruments, appliances, medicine, drugs, anaesthetic, or antibiotic or biologic preparations, and also includes the giving of advice in respect of anything mentioned in this clause with a view to obtaining a fee or other remuneration."

No one except a veterinarian is permitted to treat your animals for a fee or other remuneration.

Q. How does this affect help in whelping?

A. As long as the whelping is going along normally, any non-professional can help. It is not legal, however, for an outsider to treat the matron for remuneration, or to use drugs such as petruitin.

Q. Could an experienced member of one's household or kennel treat dogs or work under supervision?

A. Certainly.

Q. What about first aid or temporary assistance in emergency?

A. Nothing in the Act prevents this.

Q. How does it affect giving medicine, i.e. worming or inoculations?

A. You can inoculate your own dogs, but it is strictly inadvisable without a thorough knowledge of the purchase and use of biologics. You must not vaccinate animals you do not own.

Q. Who is considered eligible for registration in Ontario?

A. A graduate in Veterinary Science of the Ontario Veterinary College or the University of Toronto, or of a veterinary college or university recognized by the Ontario Council.

Q. Is there a fine for disregarding this Act?

A. Yes—not less than $100 for the first offence, and for subsequent offences, up to $500 or three months imprisonment or both.

The Veterinary Science Practice Act, 1959, is purely for the protection of the public. Mr. Joliffe stressed. If a veterinarian commits an unethical act he loses his right to practice. Basically it's against the law to attempt to practice veterinary medicine unless one is a veterinarian. Your editors strongly urge readers living outside of Ontario to ascertain what similar protection covers them in their own province.

In this issue: Wire Fox Terrier specialist Joe Cartledge writes on the presentation of the WFT. This noted handler grew up in the Kennels of his internationally famous uncle, Arthur Cartledge. On his retirement he gave his noted Ryslip Kennels in Cippenham, Bucks to Joe to manage. In the meantime Joe had apprenticed under one of the greatest of all Wire men, Bob Barlow at the then leading kennel in England, Crackly Kennels. Breeding Wires in partnership with his kennel manageress, he has produced some top winners. His services are in demand on the Continent where he handles Wires at the big shows in Holland, Germany and France where this favourite must pass working tests and "go to ground for quarry" before get good benching and room for aisles or give up the idea of benched shows altogether.

One more point—refreshments at shows. Some of us, to get to shows on time and then back again have to drive almost all the night before a show and the same the night after. You can appreciate that just pop and chocolate bars or sandwiches are not too adequate — some reasonably priced good food sure would hit the spot.

Actually I did not mean this letter to be one of all complaints. Might I suggest that Canadian clubs try and get together and run shows over a weekend as the Oakville-Canaid shows were this last September. I think these would attract exceptional entries, especially if they did not conflict with prominent American shows.

HOW CAN THEY DO IT?

... Please thank Mrs. Rita Smith and Mrs. L. Johnston for the time they have spent in trying to awaken the breeders of Canada. It has always disgusted me when people try to mass-produce what they term pedigreed dogs.

Last year a man in Trenton advertised Chesapeake Bay Retrievers for $40; a third of what I sell my dogs for. This amazed me; everyone knows stud fees, hepatitis, distemper and serum needles, tattoo and deworming cost more than $40 per dog.

My first interest of course is in Chesapeake, but I would say regardless of breed from Afghan down the alphabet, let's make the stock better than last year and keep the price where it belongs, only then can we improve our Canadian breeds."

MRS. P. E. BERGEVIN
Kip Knob Kennels,
Pointe Claire, Que.

... Re "Letters", November, 1959. Apparently Ken and Hilda Rayner, Huntsville, Ont., did not read or understand my previous letter.

I am not complaining about the price of pups of any breed, but what I was complaining about was the breeder charging an additional $25 for the papers for the same pups. Example: price of pups $50; papers $25 extra.

I have been breeding English Bulldogs for the last 15 years and I think it is about time that steps were taken to see that some of the breeders conform to the rules and regulations of the Canadian Kennel Club.

A SPECTATOR SPEAKS

Although I am not a dog breeder at present, I do read Dogs, attend most shows in and around Toronto and am the proud owner of a Greyhound bitch.

As a spectator only these are my pet beefs: (1) There should be much more advertising, both before and during shows, in daily papers, weeklies and not to forget Dog magazines. Most people don't even know there are dog shows on, or where.

(2) More space is needed and on the ground floor. Having to climb stairs and squeeze through crowded aisles can discourage many people.

(3) Each dog (or group) should have a sign over them clearly giving this information (a) name and breed (b) name and address of breeder (c) availability of pups. The average would-be dog owner doesn't know one breed from another, let alone more pertinent details.

(4) Completely bewildered is the average person watching dogs being judged. What breed are they? How does he pick the winner? Who won? Why? This may sound silly to most breeders, but try listening to some of the spectators.

(5) Most people prefer one or more breeds and are pretty discouraged to go to Friday's show only to find their choice of dogs have been and gone a day or two previous. Wouldn't it be possible to specialize one or two groups each day and advertise it as such?

ATTENTION BASSET HOUND OWNERS

... I have been trying to form a Basset Hound club in Ontario and recently contacted 25 Basset owners asking their opinion about seeing such a club formed. To date the results have been gratifying indeed as 15 Basset owners have expressed their desire to see a club formed.

If interested readers would get in touch with me I will be glad to drop them a line giving them information.

GREAT SHELTYE MOTHER

... Re Amy Lea wishing to hear from readers having a Shetland Sheepdog that produced a large litter (Dogs, September, 1959). On April 25 my six-year-old pure-bred Sheltie gave birth to ten puppies. All her litters are large and she has had two previous ones of nine each. She's an extremely healthy dog with a marvelous constitution and is a terrific mother. She's had no trouble whatsoever in either whelping or looking after her large families.

I too, would be interested to know of any other large Sheltie litters.

A CHALLENGE TO ALL KENNEL OWNERS

Show me a kennel where there's coughing or a dog out of condition and I'll bet you'll find no ZEV—the amazing mixture that conquers coughs faster than any known remedy — and as a conditioner — ZEV has no equal. It keeps intestinal tract free of parasites, sharpens the appetite, aids digestion.

NO PET OWNER SHOULD BE WITHOUT ZEV AT ALL TIMES

Mrs. Mary Matchett, Highland Creek, Ont., noted breeder of Champion Show and Obedience Afghans, writes:

"After exacting tests of ZEV . . . I cannot recommend this remarkable remedy too highly. It is without equal for distemper, coughs, colds, etc.

It is the only single remedy I know that will expel all three types of worm: round, hook and tape."

Available in most drug stores and PET shops, or, you may order direct from W. K. BUCKLEY, LTD., 559 College St., Toronto, Canada, 8 oz., $1.25; ½ gallon, $6.50; 1 gallon, $12.00. Postage paid.

Train Your Dog To Use One Spot GOOD-BOY Housebreaking Aid

Place several drops of GOOD-BOY indoors on newspaper or in box, or outdoors on the place of your choice. After each of his first few meals take your pet to the spot and allow him to sniff the GOOD-BOY. He will soon train himself to always use the same spot.

MOTOR CITY SPECIALTY

More than 6,000 dog enthusiasts witnessed the judging of 829 entries at the Motor City Specialty Club's one day show at the Detroit Artillery Armory November 8. Ch. I. W. Harper von der Stadt Hamburg, a harlequin Dane was the only repeat winner. The victory marked a milestone for the big fellow, owned by Mrs. Antonia Pratt and Charles Staiger of Fern Creek, Ky. This year he topped a field of 111 entries. Dachshunds led all other breeds with an entry of 127.

Other breed winners were: Chihuahuas: Ch. Misalous Nozi Bozi, owned by Delores J. and Peter G. Kutsugeras,

ON EDUCATION

... I would like to let you know how impressed I am with the work the Education Committee of The Poodle Advancement Association has been doing.

They really deserve a bouquet. All members of the club were invited to attend an educational meeting at Dr. Martin's veterinary clinic at Islington, Ont. While there we were shown X-ray plates of dogs with hip dysplasia, slides of ear mites and various types of worms. Two doctors explained and discussed in two separate groups and afterwards allowed us half an hour to ask any type of question we wished.

It was a pity, however, that more members did not take advantage of the wealth of information available on such an interesting evening.

MARITIMES BECKON

... At the regular monthly meeting of the Moncton Kennel Club it was heartily agreed that our thanks be extended to Dogs in Canada for publishing Mr. Reid's very complimentary article on his vacation in the Maritimes.

We feel his article will do much to encourage exhibitors to visit our shows and certainly does much to encourage our local clubs.

DOGS IN CANADA, JANUARY, 1960

COVER STORY

Featured on this month's cover are four new Canadian representatives from Hungary. The magnificent Komondor, the tireless Kuvasz, the eager Puli and the pointer Vizsla are representing the Hungarian breed dogs in our country for the first time in history in number.

These dogs come from a long journey across the Atlantic, to bring joy and happiness to the fanciers in Canada, together with their natural talent for guarding, herding and hunting. They are also of very striking appearance, everyone of them are new to most Canadian eyes.

To their Canadian owners these dogs are "new", but in their country of origin all of them are well known and used for many centuries in their respective fields.

As the president of the Associated all Hungarian Breed Club of North America, by wishing a very happy and prosperous New Year to all dog lovers in Canada and in the United States, I wish to take the opportunity to express my hope that in these noble Hungarian breed dogs, their natural instinct and striking appearance will be preserved in every way by their new owners. For information on these dogs, write The Associated All-Hungarian Breed Club, 4962 Ponsard Ave., Westmount, Montreal, Que.

The following dogs are featured: Komondor, owned by Mrs. R. M. Evans, 2324 Evergreen Drive, Columbus, Ohio; Puli, Mrs. R. D. McLellan, 4962 Ponsard Ave., Westmount, Montreal, Que; Kuvasz, Mrs. H. de Lorenzo, Pearlville, Delaware County, N.Y.; Vizsla, A. G. Gerle, 12034 Depatie St., Montreal, Que.

THE OLD TIMER

"It might not be long before top field trial dogs can become top show ring contenders," averred the Old Timer.

"You know," said the Old Timer, "I wish I was 20 years younger".

I looked up from the lead I was making in the Old Timer's tack-room. This was an art the Old Timer was trying to teach me for he had little use for commercial show-ring leads. He made his own from long strips of rawhide belt lacing which he purchased from a farm supply house. Lately, I had been trying to turn out leads of the same quality as those made by the Old Timer.

As he watched me, the Old Timer sat back with an amused smile on his face. Now and again, he snorted impatiently and took the lead from me to correct an error I was in the process of making.

"So you wish you were 20 years younger," I asked. "And if you did have those 20 years back, what would you do with them?" — "I suppose mis-use them the way you misused the last 20!"

The Old Timer sniffed and made it very apparent that he did not think my remark even worthy of comment, but he did pull out his pipe, ream the carbon out of it and then after satisfying himself that it was in good smoking condition, he proceeded to fill it carefully and methodically in the way I had come to know so well. That, at least, meant I had got under his hide and I'd get the story that was in his mind.

"O.K.," I said, "I was kidding . . . but, what would you do if you could turn back the clock 20 years?"

"You know," he said, "I think I might just get interested in this field trial business. It looks to me as though the field trial boys are having a lot of fun we bench-show people are missing—and you know I always did like a good Beagle."

"Field trial!" I said, "I've known you a long time now and this is the first time I've ever seen you show any interest in hunting. How come?"

"I didn't say 'hunting'," the Old Timer corrected me, "I said field trials". "I had my first experience of them a couple of weeks ago when the Beagle boys asked me to judge their field trial winners for conformation. Well, if I was going to judge conformation, I thought I ought to know something of field trials, so . . . I was on hand when the owners and their dogs arrived bright and early on a Sunday morning.

"Believe me, those boys were having fun and also, believe me, I never saw such a variety of Beagles in all my born days. One thing they all had in common was that they were in condition, lean and hard.

"And, another thing, you don't have to be around very long to know that the dogs knew what they were there for and just raring to go. They even seemed to enjoy having the large yellow identification numbers stencilled on their sides, almost as though they knew that that was proof positive they would soon be in the bush with their noses to the ground.

"Among the owners, there was a spirit of camaraderie that we seem to have lost in the bench-show game. Every new arrival was greeted like a long-lost friend. Old days in the field, the records of great dogs of the past and present, were discussed as the official numberer applied the paint to the dogs' sides. There were more than 70 to be so numbered and only one man wielding the paint brush but nobody became impatient and nobody did any grousing. The day was cold but these field trial boys and girls were dressed for it . . . and when I say "girls", I'm including everything from girls in late teens to grandmothers . . . they were all there and all enthusiastic.

"Finally, the job of numbering was completed—the dogs were loaded into the cars and it was off to the bush for everyone.

"Now, that was a bush. Cedars and dense underbrush but that didn't seem to worry either the dogs or their owners. Once there, there was a minimum of delay. The dogs were turned loose, and like homing pigeons heading towards their lofts, the dogs headed into the evergreens.

For a few seconds there was a deep silence but the bush was apparently full or hare and it wasn't long before one of the Beagles gave tongue. Then the music began—and such music. There were at least 25 dogs in this first trial and every bark seemed to be re-echoed three and four times."

I looked up.

"You're not going to tell me that those owners followed their dogs into the bush?" I commented.

"They didn't need to", the Old Timer said. "They knew their dogs and by the belling could recognize their own and tell exactly what was happening".

"But how did they judge them?" I asked.

"Three strong ruddy tough men", said the Old Timer. "They were the judges and they had to get into that bush often enough and deep enough to watch the dogs running. They had to be able to tell those that were actually leading the pack and finding the hare. They had to be able to put those that were just going along for the ride, coasting on the leaders' ability to follow the scent. And, believe me, those men knew their job.

"But what impressed me most was the spirit of the owners after the runs were completed. They met at a near-by motel and waited for the results. When those results were announced, the congratulations to the owners of the winning dogs were sincere and they were just as sincere later, when the 'nineteenth' run was held in the motel rooms."

"Tell me," I said, "I've always heard that a field trial Beagle would have no chance of winning at a bench show. What's your impression?"

"On the whole, I think that is probably right because the field trial men have been breeding primarily for nose and running ability but I judged four classes, each made up of the five dogs which placed at the top in each of their field trial classes and in three out of the four classes I judged, the top winning field trial dog was also the best dog in the conformation class and, while they may not have been "fliers" they were good honest representatives of their breed.

"I found too that these field trial owners are becoming more conscious of conformation and do not have the same prejudice towards a bench show champion that was apparent three or four years ago. Mind you, they are not going to sacrifice hunting qualities to conformation but they are looking for field trial dogs that measure up as close to the Beagle standard as possible. They are sincerely interested in improving the appearance of their dogs while retaining the ability to hunt and they are approaching the problem intelligently and seriously. I would say it may not be too long before top field trial dogs can also become top show ring contenders and not too long, either, until dual Beagle champions will not be as rare as they are today."

The Old Timer relighted his pipe, he drew in a couple of deep puffs.

"And you know", he said with a chuckle, "I think the happiest of the field trial owners will be those who protest today that they wouldn't have an ounce of bench show blood in their kennels. You know I seemed to detect just a touch of longing for this as we bent an elbow together after all the trials were over."

PROFILE OF A JUDGE

by Peter J. Paterson

This judging business, even for the amateur, is at times a thankless task. Considerable physical fitness, so that weariness as the day wears on does not interfere with the faculty of intense mental consideration, is an attribute which every successful judge must have.

A friend of mine, an internationally famous judge, once remarked "The need for physical fitness, I feel, explains itself. Some day I will wear a pedometer and find out how many miles a judge really does walk, in addition to his bending and stretching exercises, in the course of judging a dozen breeds on a sultry summer's day."

Only by intense concentration can a judge become impervious to the outside considerations which arise. He must be deaf to applause and cajolery. He must be hard of heart to his friends and determinedly just to those he dislikes. He must not be swayed by a pretty face (in a handler) or impressed by wealth and title. He must not seek popularity and he must not seek the notoriety which comes of being too different. He must, indeed, have all the negative virtues except blindness.

The ideal judge would will himself into a type of trance in which he is oblivious of everything save the dogs, in which the handlers do not exist for him above their waist level, in which the ring is peopled only by dogs steered by a few pairs of slacks, a few skirts and occasional bobby sox and blue jeans.

On occasion a judge will concentrate to such an extent that he virtually achieves such a trance. Then how annoying it is to encounter in the hotel lobby in the evening, the stranger who says, "Tell me what you thought of my dog," expecting you to remember him and from him the dog. Such a person regards you with frank disbelief when you tell him that you never noticed him, but if he will fetch his dog you will remember it.

DOGS AFIELD

by DAVID BLAKE

"Elementary my dear Watson"—Most things are elementary when you know the right answers

The handler ran the gamut of expression from command to cajoling and finally downright pleading with no success, the little Springer stayed, frustratingly just a few feet short of him and refused to complete the retrieve. Even advancing a step or two toward her failed to get the desired results. In fact the dog backed off as he advanced and sought to go around him. No different from most of us, the handler had come to a fast boil when he finally took a few rapid steps and snatched the retrieve from the then cringing youngster.

Somehow the simple solution of the problem hadn't occurred to this handler. All he had to do to make the sensitive dog eager to complete the retrieve was back up a step or two or even, if necessary, in training, turn and walk away as though leaving her. She would have hastened to retain contact with him in this game they were playing together.

Some dogs wish to retain the contact between themselves and their masters. They don't want the game to end when they have returned with a bird. They freeze on the delivery. This is purely a psychological problem. If the dog thinks there is another bird or dummy, he will usually yield the first to continue the dog-master contact with the second. Don't fight a dog over a delivery. He will often absorb considerable pain and obviously ruin a good delivery if attempt is made to force him. Merely throw out another retrieve as he comes in. He will deliver promptly and be ready for the second. Naturally, in a trial or in the field you will not be in a position to throw out another retrieve. Your job then is to condition him in training to reacting to a motion such as you use to throw out a bird. This can gradually be cut down to a signal which is only significant to you and the dog.

Your pointing dog won't check in? Here, of course, we come to the question of what is meant by checking in. Personally, I like a dog to make a cast, bending from the right or left and coming out front ahead of the course he last saw me taking. He can then keep going to make subsequent casts or I can take this opportunity to call his attention to a change in the course or send him to some special objective. Some dogs don't check in often enough for the cover being hunted. It will not always work, but try hiding on such a dog. Sit quietly next to a tree or stump and relax for awhile. Typical dogs will begin to wonder where you are and start looking for you. When they become anxious enough about your whereabouts they will check in more often.

Another way that often works is to talk to your dog. You don't have to hoot 'n holler in big goin' trial fashion—just talk. The dog will enjoy this contact and become accustomed to it. Whenever you wish to see more of him, talk more softly or stop completely. Many dogs will respond to this simple device.

Bring the dirty dog home in the family car without incurring the wrath of the better half? Easy! Make a bag of an old blanket. Hem or loop the top for a draw cord. A large opening is easier to manage, since it can be laid flat on the floor or seat of the car. Put the beagle, setter, or what have you on it, lift the sides and draw the top around the dog's neck. Most dogs are tired enough after a hard day's hunt to sleep quietly in such a rig. They are kept warm and the car is spared the wear and tear.

You own a breed that's hard to see in cover? Is there any reason why an Irish setter should wear a russet leather collar? Weimaraners, heavily ticked shorthairs or setter, in fact any dog that blends with the background can be observed easily if it is wearing a white collar. This is a practice used by handlers in trials to identify one dog from another for the judges as though they couldn't distinguish the gait of the dogs. It is probably a help to the novice handler, however, to identify his own dog and certainly makes a dog more obvious to the hunter in the field.

Hounds are occasionally lost in strange country. Efforts to find them, no matter how strenuous may be in vain. A dog that is moving while you are looking for him and neither has any idea where the other is can be a very elusive objective.

Try making big loops into or even surrounding the country where you suspect the dog is lost. In other words, make one or more lines for the dog to come out on. If he strikes your line he will most certainly follow it. Be sure that there is something at the end of each such line such as an old coat or blanket with your sign, that will hold the dog. He will be tired and will most likely lie down and sleep on such an object. You will, therefore, find him when you make the rounds of these locations in your car. Sometimes these lines can terminate at a farmhouse — even at the house of a friend or acquaintance who can care for the dog and notify you of its arrival. It is even conceivable that the dog's crate or dog house or some of his bedding can be set out for him or perhaps the car you go hunting in so that he will feel he has arrived when he has followed the line in.

Each of us is faced with one or more problems with our dogs. It is amazing how elementary the solutions of these problems when you come up with the right answer.

TIPS FOR THE NOVICE

My kennel is unheated and being located several hundred feet from my house, frozen drinking water has been a problem all winter long. In a feed store the other day I noticed a "Poultry Water Warmer", a heating unit which is placed in a pail of water. When the water temperature reaches below 50 degrees the unit heats the water until it again reaches 50 degrees then shuts off. Now my dogs have drinking water night and day. This information might be helpful to other breeders encountering the same problem.

Dogs benefit more from high-quality foods

Breeders and owners know the importance of high-quality foods and their relation to a dog's health. In hundreds of systematic tests conducted in Dr. Ballard's Kennels and in private homes, the majority of dogs showed a preference for Dr. Ballard's Dog Food.

Dr. Ballard's provides complete, balanced nourishment

Dogs benefit more from Dr. Ballard's because every can contains scientifically-balanced nutrition—all the known nutrients they need to keep them in peak condition every active minute of the day. Dr. Ballard's animal nutrition specialists precisely control the proteins, vitamins, minerals and carbohydrates to assure the correct nutritional balance and constant, uniform quality.

Dogs love variety in their meals

It's a good idea to alternate dry dog meal with wet foods. For variety, feed Dr. Ballard's new Burgerbits. It provides twice the nourishment of prime beef hamburger—at half the price. Easy to prepare, Burgerbits mixes instantly with water, milk or soup.

SIDELIGHT ON GERMAN SHEPHERD DOG GAITING

by Geraldine R. Dodge

If you would know how the general public regards your breed, stand outside the judging ring and listen hard. Mr. General Public talks loud and long. He may be planning to acquire a dog some day, but at this moment he doesn't own one. He neither breeds, shows, buys or sells. He has no inhibitions, no axes to grind. He merely looks the show over, says exactly what he thinks, and the chips can jolly well fall where they may!

Much as we deplore the criticisms issuing from the lips of those unschooled in the ways of dog shows, once in a while they do a bit of good by jogging us out of ruts that we ourselves have made. Year upon year we accept certain show procedures as standard, not because they are good in themselves but because time and habit have dulled us into thinking they serve a worthy purpose. Prominent among these is the protracted gaiting of German Shepherd Dogs as a part of bench show judging.

"Why" asks an observer, "does the Shepherd Dog have to run around the ring so much? Other kinds of dogs don't do this!"

To which an obliging breeder replies: "That is the gait test which every competing Shepherd Dog must undergo. . . . The judge is watching the dog's gait and perhaps testing its endurance also."

What goes without saying is the fact that these marathons test the handler's condition and endurance as well as the dog's. And between the two, unquestionably the dog wins. No dog that I can recall at the moment has collapsed from ring tests although many have come close to it on hot, humid days. Handlers, however, have suffered in varying degrees, and some have died. There have been as many as three casualties in the Shepherd ring at a single show. I wonder how this compares with like regrettable happenings in other rings.

But why blame gaiting when so many other conditions may have been responsible for the collapse! Perhaps the exhibitor should have known he was not physically fit to cavort around the ring; but maybe too, that last lap was the straw that broke the camel's back. Is that last lap necessary? No, because the good judge can spot gait faults and virtues without playing to the galleries. If, on the other hand, the judge seeks to determine the degree of stamina by trying to tire the dogs out, then it should be emphasized that the bench show is a beauty contest. It is not a working trial or an endurance test of any kind.

How did excessive gaiting come to be so firmly fixed as a part of Shepherd judging? When and where did it begin? Why is it necessary now? Is Shepherd Dog gait so unique as to require especially long appraisal? And if such testing has proved advantageous, why have not other breed rings copied it long since?

The custom of gait testing originated in Germany where trials for Shepherds were instituted to determine the speed and endurance needed for herding, for finding lost persons and for apprehending criminals. The trials had nothing whatever to do with dog shows; they were merely a phase of training in Captain von Stephanitz' time prior to World War I. We might add that the comparative ease with which the Shepherd absorbed this training put Germany way out in front in the later schooling of dogs for war duty.

The gait tests were conducted always in the open country and on natural turf, the dogs trotting sometimes up and down on the straightaway, at other times around in a large circle. But never were they subjected to the uninterrupted travel expected of our Shepherds in today's show rings. It would appear that the trials abroad were predicated not upon wild dog stamina, but with the limitations of domesticated dog in mind. To be sure, the Shepherd, as every other dog, was designed a running animal, but he never was, nor is he now, a distance runner. He travels in comparatively short spurts and then stops.

Most working dogs move in this manner, the northern sled dogs excepted. Gundogs, to greater degree than guard dogs, are called upon for prolonged exertion in the field, but the huntsman does not have to maintain the dog's pace. When gundogs were slow, the huntsman accompanied his Bassets, his Harriers, Field Spaniels and the like, on foot and he experienced scant difficulty in keeping up with them. When dogs were bred to a more rapid pace, the huntsman got himself a horse and managed very well. Sometimes he rode horse-back and, if unequal to that, he followed his hunters in a wagon. As the dogs grew strong and enduring, the man's muscles deteriorated, and they have kept on deteriorating ever since.

We have made a fetish of Shepherd Dog gait and endurance and, while attempting to perfect them, we have allowed our own endurance to lapse. About the only exertion some of us can manage now is our sprint for the morning bus, after which we sit comfortably the rest of the day. Small wonder that the Saturday and Sunday marathon in the Shepherd ring finds the exhibitor so ill-prepared for the ordeal that occasionally he falls down flat and does not always get up again.

We have rules and regulations to insure the dog's health, his safety, his kindly handling. We have rules for exhibitors, a whole slew of them — what they are to do, and how, and when. We have the judges all wrapped up in rules, too, until they can hardly breathe. They are good rules, and the game is the better for them.

However, there is one lamentable omission, something not covered by the rules. Nor can it, nor should it, be. It is a degree of consideration almost too indefinable for words. In our Code of Ethics for Judges there is just one idea which by inference may serve to point up what I mean. It touches upon those things a judge would require were he an exhibitor.

Here is perhaps the first faint breath of solicitude for the exhibitor as a person. It is a mere whisper, to be sure, but it calls to mind some of the things that are due the exhibitor, not because he is showing a dog but because he is a human being — there is a degree of courtesy above and beyond the call of duty; there is understanding and compassion; there is even dignity in death.

MY SOJOURN IN BERMUDA

by Louis J. Murr

Three days of dog show extravaganza held in a most beautiful setting! The grass cut so that one felt he was walking on a large Chinese mandarin rug — but in some instances the dogs did not feel too secure and hesitated in their steps. As a whole, these shows were run like clockwork by Mrs. John C. McAteer, show chairman; Mrs. Conrad Engelhardt, show superintendent; Mrs. Edward Flieger, show secretary; Lady Conyers, president and not forgetting the chief ring steward, Miss Virginia Spiller and her able staff of stewards. In fact everyone connected with this undertaking worked like professionals; everyone knew what to do and did it. It was a pleasure to judge there.

In my humble opinion the Bermuda Dog Shows will be, in a way, better than the winter Florida circuit. I am saying this because the three Bermuda shows in five days, from the time you leave the States or Canada and return, can give as much, if not more, than showing in the Florida circuit. There is always the question of cost. It's a sure thing one cannot drive to Bermuda, but if one figures it out, it does not cost any more. For instance, for these last shows, round trip for one person and one dog was $150 and $25 extra for each additional dog. This year was the first time that the Bermuda Kennel Club chartered a plane to take exhibitors and their dogs to the shows and return. The response was good but it could have been better. Not all the exhibitors from the States and Canada took advantage of it. It is the belief of some of the officials that the airlines may be able to reduce the package price if there is more demand. Even if one drives to Florida, and let us assume this is the cheapest way to travel, before one gets through it's about the same and you are in Florida, not in Bermuda. Three shows in one spot, without moving, none better, and as I said the management is superb. Winners of Best in Show, Best of Varieties and Best of Breed are awarded Bermuda Kennel Club Certificates, signed by the president and the officiating judge; nice to have for your office, if fortunate enough to get one.

The climatic conditions in Bermuda this time of year naturally are not perfect, but almost, between 70 and 85 degrees. There is a great deal to see on these Islands, something different. These shows do not interfere with shows in the States or Canada; it is a very unique circuit.

Editor's note: Mr. Murr is well-known as an all-breed judge throughout Canada and the United States. For many years he owned the leading Borzoi kennels on this continent, and although he has not bred them for a number of years, many successful Borzoi kennels today have used his Romanoff stock as their foundation. Mr. Murr was born in France and grew up with a great variety of breeds, all of whom, he said, had a special duty on the family property.

From the time he turned in his handler's licence (1923-1949) for a judge's licence, he has handled or owned many of the top terriers of that era. His father, nearly 80, still carries on the old kennel name of Twin Hill Kennels, registered in 1921. Avers: "Sincere dog lovers are born—not made. Once you get it in your system you do not give it up in one form or another until the day you die."

The editor's bogey of space limitations reared its head again as we were going to press with this issue. Some very fine material had to be held for the next issue — including a thrilling account of the great National Championship Stakes and the third in a series of valuable articles on Developmental Genetics by Dr. Lee Ford.

Next month: the annual Dachshund issue with worthwhile articles by specialists in the breed.

PULI

JUDGING THE PULI

by MRS. ELIZABETH CSENGERI

THE "ideal Puli", as called for in the Hungarian Standard, has not changed much either in his exterior or character since he made his first European appearance over 1000 years ago. He is a pure Asiatic dog with the common characteristics of the dogs of Tibet — heavy coat, which all have as a protection from the rigors of the climate and carrying the tail curled up over his back. His characteristics, to a large extent, were governed by weather and living conditions and being a working dog he was developed for a serious, useful purpose. This is not a dog to be owned as a display, a spectacular possession or exhibit. There is not sham in him and he will not respond to it in man. Without human companionship he is not complete. His sensitive nature prohibits harsh treatment. He is easily trained because of the unique understanding and comradeship that exist between the Puli and his people.

Having chosen a working breed, the name implies "Utility," I sincerely feel that we, as breeders and judges have an obligation to maintain our wonderful breed fully in both conformation and in the purpose for which he was bred. Pulis in Israel and Hungary still carry the herding instinct to a high degree and, I feel, make more stable companions, are more intelligent and more easily trained for shows and obedience.

Judging the Puli in Israel and Europe is according to the Hungarian Standard which is very explicit in describing the ideal Specimen of Puli. This "ideal Specimen" and the fate and future of the breed, the judge should always carry in mind when choosing dogs for top awards. A diversity of types in the same breed only causes confusion in judging and breeding, since a "flyer" in one country will easily be considered quite undesirable in another country. Judging and exhibiting is very enjoyable but also a very heavy responsibility as we should not forget the public who comes to the shows to learn about breeds and their true representatives. Dog shows are the show window of the dog world. A judge should come to his assignment unprejudiced and his strict and firm judgment will often help an exhibitor and/or breeder who was blind to the imperfections in his dog to recognize and admit the undesirable features in his dog. A written report on the dogs, which is sent to the breed club, will also assist in furthering the breed and will justify his judgment to the good of all.

To be able to judge a breed one has to be familiar with the fundamental anatomy of the dog so one can recognize defects and faults which already degrade a dog as a dog at first sight. One should know in detail the characteristics of the ideal specimen which requires a vast knowledge of the breed itself and which can only be acquired by breeding and exhibiting the breed.

What to look for in the Puli

Although the frame is hidden beneath a mantle of hair, the Puli first of all should be a correctly built dog which moves well and fast. We prefer the medium sized dog between 37 and 42 cm though some specimen reach the height of 45 cm and 50 cm. Straight back with rump slightly sloping towards the root of the tail. Moderately broad loins well tucked up. Body and legs should form about a quadrangle. A small and short lead completely covered with hair, a slight stop and not too pointed muzzle. Tight flews which are black. Nose blunt and black. The V-shaped ears are small and high set and not carried too flat. Coffee-brown eyes covered by bushy eye-brows. The teeth are strong and large for the size of the dog. Level or scissor bite. The short, muscular neck runs into clean-cut sloping shoulders with elbows set close to the chest, which is fairly broad and deep but not so wide as to interfere with free action of front legs. These are straight and not high, well boned and muscular. Upper leg joins the body closely without loose elbows. Covered all around by long hair. Hindquarters should be well developed, moderately broad through the stifle which is well bent and muscular. Well developed hocks, also covered with long hair. Tail carried over back. The feet are strong, round and compact (cat's paws) well furnished with hair between toes, strong black nails. Gaitting is very important and shows up any weaknesses. It should be gay and bouncy. The Puli is capable of great speed and shows great stamina. Soundness is of greatest importance and absolutely necessary for the proper fulfilment of his centuries old task. Colour, black, greys and white. The black with Pulis is not a deep pure black but a reddish or greyish black. Colours should appear solid though the greys are mostly mixed with black and white hair but still look either all dark grey or all light grey. Pronounced shadings (dark grey body running into light grey legs) are very undesirable. When born, the puppies are nearly, without exception, jet black and acquire later the mentioned colours.

The Puli is unusual by typical coat of matted hair (double coat) and will always be a striking exhibit at the show and easily remembered.

We find different ways into which the tufted hair grows naturally, giving the coat a somewhat "corded" appearance though completely different from the corded coat of a Poodle. There are the tied cords which are round and the half-open flat strand. Sometimes the hair on the back of a tied corded Puli is somewhat open and continues on in cords. All those coats should be long and cover the whole body. Puli in their youth, before the underwool appears, have more or less pronounced tufted hair as demonstrated on the photo showing a two months old puppy. The formation of the Puszta coat takes about three years to achieve perfection.

The texture of the coat is very important. As mentioned before it is a double coat. The undercoat, resembling wool, is soft and dense and while growing out tangles with the outercoat which is of somewhat coarse texture, not straight, not silky and free of curls. Through this entanglement, which continues even when brushing the coat, the cords or half-open mats form naturally. The coat should appear dull. Short open silky hair is a serious fault. The texture of the coat should be the same all over the body.

KOMONDOR

European authorities on shepherd dogs say that the Komondor (for which the plural is Komondorok) is the king of the world's shepherd dogs.

It is believed that the Komondor was brought into Europe by the Magyar invasion, about a thousand years ago. A few writers, however, state that the Huns found Komondorok on the steppes of Russia and brought them along into Europe. These writers state that the Komondor is a descendent of a shepherd dog called the Aftscharka.

Whatever the truth of his origin, the Komondor has been a distinct type of dog for at least a thousand years. Shepherds in the Hortobagy area of Hungary, in particular, appear to have kept the breed pure, guarding the breed much as the individual dogs guarded the flocks on the plains and slopes.

By 1935 a few Komondorok began to appear in the United States, coming chiefly from Germany. However, a few came from Hungary and at least one from Italy. In November, 1937 the American Kennel Club recognized the breed and a standard was adopted for it.

The dogs grow to immense size, with some of them reaching 30" at the shoulder and weighing in excess of 100 pounds. Even so, they are believed to be somewhat smaller than the dogs of 1000 years ago. They are all white, other colours are barred.

In their native country, on the puszta, the coat grows over the eyes and is always long and heavily matted (like that of the Puli). The sheep of the area are semi-wild and the matted wool acts as a disguise.

As are many sheepdogs, which spend their lives in the open and which are descendants of such dogs, the Komondor tend to be distrustful of strangers. Yet they are loyal friends to those whom they know and they have a charming disposition.

THE KUVASZ

Probably the best known of all the Hungarian and Balkan dogs is the Kuvasz. His name is really Turkish and may be freely translated "guardian of the Nobles", or the "armed guard of the nobility".

It was said that the Kuvasz was imported from Tibet (the cradle of so many large dogs) by the Huns. Others believe that the Magyars brought him into Europe. Another story tells that the Hungarian nobles brought them in from Asia.

It is also certain that King Mathias did a great deal towards perpetuating a splendid strain of the breed. Only in rare occasions surplus puppies were presented to some of his favorite noblemen and visiting dignitaries.

In King Mathias' time some of the Kuvasz had a yellow saddle across their back. For breeding pure whiteness, the King eliminated these two-tone dogs. Occasionally, even today, a yellow saddled throwback pup is born and in breeding and show circles this is considered a fault.

One of the least excitable of all dogs, as well as one of the most intrinsically peaceful, the Kuvasz adjusts admirably to all climates and conditions. Formerly the Kuvasz was used for the defending of livestock against carnivorous animals, later on he became a watch dog with special capacities in villages and on farms.

The Kuvasz became so famous that people of other countries became interested in and adopted this breed. It became well established, especially in Germany, and he was adopted in cities as well as in the country. The Kuvasz is odorless and is not apt to wander far from home and without teaching appoints himself as ever present guardian.

Tests in Germany also proved that he makes an excellent seeing-eye dog. They are excellent for herding large or small livestock and they make superior travel companions and guardians for race or show horses in transit or at the farm. Deeply devoted to his master he is a never tired guardian of the home and children.

Now there are very few Kuvasz Kennels in Hungary due to the second World War and the revolution. Germany now has the largest number of Kuvasz as well as Pulik and Komondorok, but there are at least 100 to 150 Kuvasz in the United States.

MAGYAR VIZSLA

(Hungarian National Pointer)

One of the oldest hunting dogs, with over 1,000 years of recorded history, the Vizsla is striking in appearance, has an exceptionally good disposition, is robust but light-weight, slim and agile. In action the Vizsla is very fast, yet his movements are smooth and so graceful as to appear effortless.

His hunting technique varies considerably from that of American gun dogs. Instead of ranging fast over wide areas, he has been taught to search diligently for game and he will remain within ear-shot of his master. They are a dog of great driving power, good stamina, rugged constitution in which the desire to hunt and the well developed pointing and retrieving instinct are deeply ingrained. They have extremely high intelligence potentials, and are willing to obey whenever they understand.

The Vizsla really comes into his own on upland game. Here he combines the duties of pointer and retriever. In their native land they have been constantly used to hunt pheasants, ducks, partridges, geese, rabbits, wolves, boars, bears and deer.

They are apartment-sized hunting dogs, with a very beautiful and distinctive short-haired, rusty-gold coat as well as an aristocratic bearing, are well balanced and with a look of intelligence which sets them apart. Males generally weigh from 45 to 57 pounds, females about ten pounds less. Height is generally 19" to 23".

The Vizslas are now recognized by the CKC and it looks that these noble breed are getting a good start in this country.

(editor's note—the article on the Vizsla has been prepared for Dogs in Canada by Mr. A. G. Gerle of Montreal, Vizsla breeder and exhibitor).

HERDING SHEEP WITH THE PULI

While my experience with this ancient breed of Hungarian sheepdog is very short and limited in relation to the many hundreds of years the Puli has been bred and employed in Europe I have had considerable experience in training them for shows and more recently in training for their original occupation of handling sheep.

The Puli was developed in Hungary over 1000 years ago as a sheepdog, personal protective dog and family pet. Due to extreme weather conditions and extreme ruggedness of the country a working dog that would be useful for the purpose required to be rugged, intelligent, protective, fast, determined and insulated against all weather conditions. The Puli, as a medium sized working dog, has all of these qualities and its nature and protective "Pusztá" coat are distinctive. The Pusztá coat, which should consist of long, fine, soft and very dense hair in puppyhood later developing into long cords or strands, would at first appearance give the impression of being dirty. This however is not the case and if the dog is given an even chance to keep clean and kept in clean surroundings the coat is protected by a natural oil very clean and odorless.

We now have four Pulik, two imported from well known breeders in Germany and the other two from American breeders whose strain originated in Hungary. We have found the Puli to live up to all that has been said and written about this distinctive and loveable breed. They are very easy to train, have a natural instinct to herd, quite possessive and of a personality not to be found in any other breed. They love companionship, are very happy to work and please people and are natural show-offs in a show ring.

On some of the larger sheep ranches in Europe and the United States one Puli will handle flocks of up to 1000 sheep, not only saving in manual labor but doing a more efficient job than a man can do. Our experience, however, is on a much smaller scale and at the ranch we train one Puli at a time with a flock of about 250 sheep. The pup is started working with four or five head of sheep and as he learns the basic commands and complete obedience he is moved up or graduated to handling the entire flock. It is a pleasure to watch a dog go about his job, moving the flock from pasture to pasture, keeping the strays from wandering, forcing on the occasional laggard and protecting his flock from marauders. It is interesting to watch a Puli moving a flock through narrow lanes when quite often one of the flock leaders will balk and the whole lane will become jammed. Without instruction the Puli will walk the backs of the sheep until it has reached the lead and then start the flock onward again. The sheep eventually become accustomed to being handled by the Puli and are not nervous when the dog is among them.

The herding instinct is quite strong in the Puli as we witnessed on one occasion when we let about 20 Chihuahuas run free. Much to the disgust of the Chihuahuas, before they could get very far on their run, one of the Pulik was busy herding them back to the kennel, completely spoiling their freedom.

It is to be hoped this excellent working breed will become better known and appreciated in Canada and that the breeders will not degenerate its qualities by lowering the standard to permit poor specimens of doubtful breeding to enter our show-rings or be distributed throughout the country when they are not representative of the breed.

PLANNING A TRACKING TEST

by Pam Reid

This venture, held September 27 at Richmond, B.C., was the first for a 7-months-old group, the Richmond Dog Training Club. We were determined to make a success through good organization, a strict enforcement of schedule, happy contestants (no complaints) and a high percentage of passing dogs. We couldn't train the dogs or control the weather but we could lay out good tracks and train a track layer in the ways of winds and scent.

It was my duty as trial superintendent to get the area, see to the fields and train the track-layer, as well as setting up a tight time schedule so that in case we had 15 dogs (we limited it to 15 entries), we would get through before dark. This was our greatest worry, but it was overcome by having a central holding place where all dogs and handlers remained, then at intervals of every half hour a handler and his dog were taxed to the field they had drawn at an earlier date. This, we felt, would keep things on time and running smoothly: Dogs were numbered as each entry came in, then handlers drew for fields from 1 to 15... dog No. 1 having first chance at the draw and so on. This means that dog No. 1 might draw field No. 4, or that dog No. 6 got field No. 2. All the fields were mapped and plotted days ahead and each field numbered. The track-layer was given a plot of all 15 fields and a map of their location. After the drawing he was informed of the order in which the fields were to be tracked. He then knew that dog No. 1 had drawn field No. 6, and dog No. 2 had field No. 1, that he would go to field 6 first, then to field 1, etc. The club taxi drivers were also given maps and a time schedule of the fields drawn, so that they knew just when and where to get their charges. A trial steward was

by Agness Hammond

When Jody left his ranch home he was a big overgrown Weimaraner pup, a silver grey package of animated personality. He went to live in a small town in the middle of the Rocky Mountains. There he found all manner of new exciting life. Squirrels sat in tree branches above his head and chattered at him. Whisky-jacks flew down to peck at his chewing bones. Mule deer paused outside his pen, and investigated him with twitching nostrils. And sometimes in the evenings grey shadows would slip through the trees. Daytimes Jody spent following his master, learning to come, to sit and generally to become like a well-mannered dog. Nights he would curl in front of a log fire in the warm cabin. He was growing big and strong, was eight months old and doing his best to uphold the reputation of his ancestors for brains and intelligence.

It was early spring, although the ground was covered with snow and the lakes and rivers were still frozen solid with ice. Deer were seen more and more in the town streets, looking for extra food, and close behind them were the coyotes.

Jody was allowed to run free while his master worked around the house. Then one evening, he vanished. In a few hours everyone in town was watching for him. His master walked miles each night and morning, whistling and calling for Jody. A game warden reported a large silver dog with a chain collar running with a pack of coyotes. The weather dropped below zero and Jody had always slept inside. How could he survive in the bitter cold, with his thin coat? He was used to the best of feed twice a day. He had never had to look after himself and was still just a half-grown pup.

Days and weeks went by. Further reports came in of the silver dog with the coyote pack. They were seen in the early morning hours on the outskirts of town. Jody's master spent the next night waiting there, and that night they would be at the other end of town. Then they suddenly disappeared and no further word came of them.

About a month later a call came in from a village thirty miles away. A big grey dog had arrived in town and joined in play with two small children. The parents thought him a lovely playmate for the two little girls and coaxed him home. Within a few hours Jody's master heard of this and rushed down. It was Jody and he was nearly frantic with delight at seeing his master. He was thin, had a torn ear, but was strong and healthy.

That night Jody lay in front of the fire. He was clean and warm and his tummy was full. When his master spoke to him, asking where he had been, what he had been doing, Jody sat up, gave a big yawn, cocked his head and grinned.

THE TERRIER

... past and present

by W. A. HARVEY, Jr.

THERE is no doubt that the past five to ten years has seen a gradual increase in the number of dogs of the Terrier breeds being shown here in America and abroad. This in itself is encouraging but unfortunately I do not believe the quality has kept pace with the number of dogs being registered and exhibited. Too many of the present day Terriers do not compare with the overall Terrier Breeds of ten to 20 years ago. The high level of all over quality of the old dogs compared far more favorably with the standards of the respective breeds than do many of the dogs of today.

It is true certainly, that there are some excellent Terriers being exhibited today that could meet and quite possibly defeat the top dog of yesteryear but the general run would not, I am afraid, even come close to many of the so called class dogs many of the old time Terrier breeders can and will recall.

That indescribable something that sets the true Terrier apart from any other group of dogs—the so called “Terrier Fire” or “typical Terrier expression” — is sadly lacking in far too many of today's show Terriers. It is this inner something—this spirit from within—that made so many bystanders thrill at the sight of a really good one, standing his ground, showing like a mass of steel springs under pressure, ready to spring at any moment—and yet completely controlled. He was ready to fly at the drop of a hat but his forefeet were not always pawing the air. His feet were planted on the ground. His lip might curl and certainly he rumbled — but he was not snarling or frantic to the point of hysteria. He was a Terrier and a fighter—with control and the spirit to take on anything that dared to cross him.

The Kerry Blue and Scottish Terriers of today show more of this quality per dog than do many of the more extensively exhibited Terrier Breeds—in my opinion. The Wire and Smooth Fox Terriers, the Airedale, The Irish Terrier, and many others show it only spasmodically. You find it in these breeds in the top dogs and find it missing in the class dogs—the average dogs where it belongs every bit as much as it does in the top Breed and Group Winners. Even more so for far more breeding stock comes from the average class dog than from the few top dogs we are fortunate enough to breed, own, and handle.

Speaking again of the average dog—for it is the average dog that must be the basis of the breed—there is a definite lack of top conditioned dogs today. I do not believe that this lack of conditioning, the inability to “Set-Down” a Terrier at his very peak of perfection with every hair in place or out of place depending on his standard stems from lack of attention on the part of the present day handler or exhibitor but rather from the old timer of yesterday who has so jealously guarded the science—and it is a science—of correctly plucking and conditioning the Terrier that it is rapidly becoming a lost art to the average exhibitor and handler today. There is no other animal that is more manufactured, trimmed and conditioned, to a picture of his Breed Standard than is the Terrier. I do not mean artificially changed in any way—but rather through the art of trimming brought down to as near a picture of the perfect example of his breed as it is possible to bring him. It takes not only a master craftsman in his trade but an artist with a steady hand, a good eye for balance as well. He must be able to visualize the finished article he wants to produce. Not everyone has the ability to do this even with proper training but without it the dog, the handler, and the exhibitor suffer. To properly interest more sound, useful breeders and exhibitors of Terrier breeds this art of trimming and conditioning not only should be taught but will have to be taught if we wish to have the Terrier continue to be the individual he has always been. Those who are masters of the art will have to teach it to assistants sincere in their desire for top quality Terriers—we cannot live forever and if all we know passes away with us we have left absolutely nothing but the memory of what once was (and will soon be forgotten) behind us for the breed to continue with. This is pure selfishness on our part—we must teach and encourage, wisely and to the best of our ability, the coming breeders and exhibitors of tomorrow. A master does not lose his own ability or reputation by the teaching of others but unfortunately in the dog world this theory seems to be far too common.

Having watched the dogs of the Terrier breeds decline slowly for many years it is delightful to see a steady increase of breeders, exhibitors, and fanciers slowly materializing. Years ago—before the great tax bite—large sums of money were spent by individuals to bring to this country some of the finest Terriers that were then available from all over the world. They bought them, bred them, trained them, and hired the men who knew how to handle and condition them. Today it is the smaller breeder who is going to have to carry a large part of the burden of breeding and keeping quality Terriers alive. These people are our Terrier “Classes” and it is here that the encouragement and training are so vital. If these smaller people are constantly discouraged and defeated through lack of knowledge we are going to find ourselves encouraging backyard Terrier breeding with the lack of allover Terrier quality resulting in the class dogs exhibited. There will always be a few top large breeders—there must be—to guide and control—and lead. Even more, to assist those who sincerely love the Terrier and in their small way can do so much to give us back our true Terrier type.

TRIMMING AND PRESENTATION OF THE WIRE FOX TERRIER

by JOE CARTLEDGE

(excerpt from the book “The Wire-Haired Fox Terrier by Stanley Dangerfield”).

One of the most, if not the most, difficult breeds to prepare for the show ring is the Wire-haired Fox Terrier. For me to put what knowledge I have of this art on to paper is, I assure you, even more difficult!

In writing this, my endeavour is not only to help the beginner, but also the person with some experience of preparing his own dogs for exhibition, and who feels that with a little tuition he would win first instead of second prizes. If you are looking for a short cut in this field, this is not the article you want, and my advice is that you should not waste your time reading it, for not only must trimming be learned and learned thoroughly, but also you must learn what picture you are trying to produce. Nothing at all can be achieved until one has the true Standard, the make and shape of a Wire, clearly imprinted on one's mind.

To explain myself more fully, the idea behind trimming a Wire is not merely to present the animal with a tight harsh coat and with an abundance of hair on his legs and foreface, but to accentuate his good points, and minimize (if possible eliminate — at least from the judges' sight) his bad ones.

This cannot be done without sound knowledge of what the ideal Wire should look like, and this picture of perfection, this impression of the finished article, must always be quite clearly fixed in one's mind. It is not necessary to be able to trim to be able to judge and to judge well at that. On the other hand there is not a person alive who has, or ever will, achieve any success at all in presenting a Wire for show until they can judge for themselves exactly what is required.

Why do we have to trim? Briefly, because otherwise we should have a dog looking like a moth-eaten Teddy Bear! Excess and dead coat must be removed somehow and trimming is the name given to the operation that is necessary to present the broken coat of a Wire-haired Fox Terrier to perfection. No other treatment such as scissoring or clipping can achieve the desired effect, although, as I will explain later, the scissors do play a small part in the modern method of trimming for show. Clipping is definitely out as the use of clippers can do nothing but promote a soft woolly coat, and if they are used on the skull, they inevitably destroy that rich tan which is so attractive on the Wire.

The Tools

1) The Comb. A handy size is about six inches in length with the teeth set in lead, and as few teeth to the inch as it is possible to obtain. Being set in lead gives it that desired springy effect which reduces the chance of combing out valuable face and leg hair.

- 2) Trimming Knife. A large number of these knives are manufactured and what suits one handgrip will not necessarily suit another. It is important to purchase a knife made from good hard steel as nothing is more annoying than to buy a knife you think suitable and become accustomed to, only to find the steel badly tempered and wearing itself away, to become completely useless in a few months. Remember, only an expert can use a sharp trimming knife, as this sharpness in the hands of a novice will produce much the same effect as the clippers or scissors.
- 3) The 'Rake'. This tool is of great importance to the exhibitor if he is to keep his dog in show form for any length of time. The real art of preparing and exhibiting is not only to get your dog in show trim, but, as champions are not usually made up in a week, to keep him that way for a long time without having to strip him out completely and make a fresh start. This I will explain later — and then you will see why the rake plays such an important part.
- 4) Scissors. These must be the finest quality hairdressing scissors as the tips or points are essential parts, and they can only be kept in first-class order in really good quality scissors.
- 5) 'Dolling-up' Pad. Any make or shape (you'll quickly get used to the 'feel' of it) but avoid a pad with brass pins as any moisture on the coat or the pad will result in the discoloration of a white dog.
- 6) Bristle Brush. Moderately hard, and with the bristles not too close together, so as to allow the brush to get well into the coat. On the majority of coats a brush is far better than the hound glove.
- 7) File. Much more suitable for trimming back the toenails than any clippers. A reaper file is the most suitable and these are obtainable from any ironmonger.

Trimming Generally

First of all the coat must be completely and thoroughly combed out to ensure that the body, leg and face hair is absolutely free of matted hair. To attempt to trim a dog who is not properly combed out will only result in bald patches or an unsatisfactory base for the growth of new hair.

To the beginner, the first complete trimming of the body coat will be a long and trying job but do not lose heart, as at this stage, speed is of no consequence. Don't be put off in any way by people who tell you that they are able to 'rough' a Wire out in 20 minutes or so; maybe this is true, but remember they would be just as slow as you are at the outset.

To a beginner, starting out to trim with no one to encourage or advise, it will need hours and days, maybe weeks of practice when you just do not seem to make any progress at all. But if you persevere, then as sure as night follows day you will master this first stage of preparing a Wire; your trimming will become more even, your speed will improve, and your hand and wrist become less tired.

I am going to presume now that you at least understand the fundamentals of stripping a dog. That is, that you realize that very small tufts of hair are held between the thumb and the stripping knife, and pulled out in a movement from the front to the rear of the dog. I am also going to presume that you have the feel of your tools and are ready to think about showing your dog. This time is somewhere between six and eight weeks before the day of the show.

At this stage it is not necessary to trim out anything but the body coat. I mean that as the body coat, even at the minimum, will take four or five weeks to acquire that desired length and texture for competition, and that on the skull, quarters, etc., but a fortnight at the most, it is not essential to trim the latter now. Nothing will be lost, of course, should you decide to trim the skull, shoulders, etc., at this point; it will most certainly be added practice and the dog will look more presentable if he is to be seen at all in the meantime.

To return to the body coat, nothing further will be necessary for a while except an occasional brushing with the bristle brush, this to be done not too vigorously from head to stern in the direction of the natural lay of the coat. From a month onwards, the treatment is all according to the way the coat has progressed and the amount of hair and undercoat (wool) the last few weeks' attention has promoted. If the coat is of a good hard texture, at this stage a 'topping off' process is required. This is done with a very blunt trimming knife — and I repeat very blunt, even the experts use this — in much the same way as the trimming from the rough except that only the long straggly hair is removed, so leaving what will eventually become a tight weather-resisting jacket.

Should it not be a coat of good hard texture, however, the 'rake' is brought into play. A bad coat will, at this stage, have produced more woolly undercoat than harsh top coat, and 'topping' would only encourage the soft downy coat which is so undesirable. So, to sort out the wheat from the chaff, so to speak, from now until the show, the rake is your most important tool. Used as a rake not so harshly as to cause skin irritation, it will remove much of the woolly undercoat that is doing its best to choke the growth of the good live hair, and as this raking is continued day by day, you will have no doubts at all about the good you are doing.

The coat will begin to get that desired gloss and if your dog has black markings these will gradually lose that dowdy grey appearance and you will begin to see that he really is a black-marked dog!

Having considered the way to work on the two different types of coat you will come across in Wire-haired Fox Terriers, you will note (or at least you will when you put my advice into practical use) how right I am when I stress the importance of the rake in your trimming campaign. On some coats it plays just as large a part as the trimming knife.

Leg Hair and Nails

All this time, the less attention you have paid to the leg and face hair, the better, as there is only one method which will guarantee to grow it, and that is to leave it alone. You will hear, as you continue in the fancy, all kinds of weird and wonderful concoctions for producing this desirable hair, and no doubt some of them are quite useful, particularly as the show season continues.

The whitening used for cleaning does tend to rot the hair, and after each show it is a 'must' that the whitening be washed completely out of the leg and face hair with soap and water, taking care that the soap also is removed by thorough rinsing. Nevertheless, in my opinion, the best way to promote the growth of leg hair on a healthy dog, is to touch it as little as possible. You will find this advice difficult to put into practice, as it is a great temptation to comb out and 'doll-up' the dog to make him look his best, for even the most casual visitor to your kennel. But don't be tempted, as I have said before . . . leave it alone.

All this time, and through the weeks that follow, the dog's physical and mental condition must be watched carefully, as no amount of time or expert attention on the trimming table will achieve any success at all if the dog is not, in himself, in good health. The appetite, the keenness of hearing, the demand for more exercise, in fact the whole outlook towards life should be progressively more alert and bright.

At this point, time must be spent on seeing that the toenails are kept short. I do strongly advise filing the nails, as if done correctly there is very much less chance of causing discomfort and possibly even lameness, by getting too close to the quick; something which can easily happen when using nail clippers. The two middle nails on the front feet are the ones that will require the most attention, and the outer shell of these must be filed down once a week. In some cases no other nails will have to be touched at all; but to say that if a dog has sufficient exercise over rough ground or on concrete roads he will not require to have his nails touched is, alas, nonsense.

There is a considerable amount of difference in the time one has to spend on the nails of each individual dog, but nails must be kept as short as possible without causing the dog discomfort.

Three weeks before your dog's first show is a good time to settle down to picking over the leg hair, and again two methods must be learned. It must be appreciated that to obtain that full, padded appearance on the legs which is so desirable, and indeed essential if you are to compete with the expert trimmers, a much larger amount of undercoat must remain, and on no account must this be raked out as it is in the body coat.

Speaking generally, it is much more difficult to get the effect of those beautifully shaped legs and feet if your Wire has a good coat than if he has a bad one. This is because a poor coat is the one which grows an abundance of woolly undercoat, so undesirable on the body, yet to a point, so desirable on the legs. I've read somewhere that a great sculptor once said his work was very simple. He 'only knicked off the lumps he did not require'. This may appear funny and of no help at all but if you give a little thought you will realize why I have quoted it. Before he can start knocking off lumps he must have sufficient material. In the case of trimming the legs, you also must have sufficient material in the shape of leg hair before you can make a start.

With the dog who has grown all the leg hair you require, you will have a lot of the woolly undercoat, and it is far better to do your 'sculpting' of the legs with finger and thumb; a quantity of this fluff must be removed or the final result will be that you have a mass of 'cotton-wool' type leg hair with no substance whatsoever. Then the undercoat will succeed in choking what remains of the good new hair before you are able to get more than, at the most, a couple of shows with the dog. And Bingol, it will have forced the hair into a premature moult, or to put it into Fox Terrier terms the leg hair will have 'blown', or 'gone with the wind', so to speak, and you will have to wait, perhaps for months, for the dog to grow the amount necessary for a good start once again. Neither you nor anybody else will be able to retain the correct texture of the body coat for this length of time, so if this does happen, a fresh start will be required there also.

The other method of preparing the leg hair is by the use of the hairdressing scissors, this being necessary when there is not such a large amount of leg hair to work with, and when all the hair within the boundary of the outline must be used to gain that compact appearance. The points of the scissors only must be used otherwise a scissored or clipped effect will be obtained which ruins the whole outline of the animal.

This scissoring into the hair is a job that requires a lot of practice and my advice is that you do most of your practising on a dog you have no intention of showing in the immediate future. You must clip into the hair, not along the top of it.

About 14 days before the show, in some cases even less, you will have to get down to trimming the skull, ears, throat, shoulders, behind the tail, and the quarters. These parts need to be trimmed much closer than anywhere else on the dog, which is why we leave it so much later. When actually trimming, the idea is that you should get as close as possible without making the dog bare.

When this close stripping has been completed it is advisable to rub in a thin smear of Vaseline as, particularly in the cold weather, the ears are apt to 'chap'. With vaseline prevention is possible, but cure is almost impossible in cold frosty weather. If the 'chaps' on the ears are allowed to develop, the dog, by continually shaking his ears, will make them very sore, and this will affect his carriage (possibly even permanently) in any case until they are cured.

Last-Minute Touches

Nothing more can now be done until a day or at most two days before the show, when you should go over the skull, ears, throat, etc., that you trimmed a fortnight or less ago, and remove all the unwanted hair and loose bits.

In other words you must improve on the long lean skull, the narrow front, the well-scooped neck, the 'reachy' neck, and those small V-shaped ears. At this same time, I always complete my tidying of the leg hair by preparing the dog exactly as he will be when he goes in front of the judge, complete with chalk and powder. Only when the dog is produced in this way can you tell with certainty what he will look like on the day. If you leave this last look around until the few moments before you enter the ring, I promise you that you will put in some last-moment panic plucking which will not put either you or the dog into the correct frame of mind.

Finally comes the day of the show. This is something I propose to deal with very briefly because no explanation can be as good as 20 minutes spent watching an expert get his dog ready to go into the ring. All I will say is that, the ground work having been done, it is only necessary to whiten your dog's coat, and take him in looking as smart as possible. I always use ordinary whitening (which can be bought very cheaply from the more old-fashioned domestic stores) for the dog's body hair. Naturally you must take care to brush all of the powder out of the black and tan hair, and these should be given an extra polish with a chamois leather.

With the whisker and leg hair it is best to rub the faintest possible smear of Vaseline on first, and then fill them up with a finer chalk such as precipitated whitening. The Vaseline is put in to hold the powder, but remember that if you put on anything more than the faintest smear, the leg hair will stick together in the most ugly fashion and you will finish up with a last minute wash down before starting again! As I said before, go and watch the experts at work. You can see them at any show, and as long as you don't hinder them by asking questions when they are busy they will be as pleased as I have been to help you to learn more about the most difficult but interesting pastime in the whole dog game.

BEST KERRIES DON'T COME FROM IRELAND

by Guy Gordon

You might as well cancel those tickets to Shannon.

The best Kerry Blue Terriers aren't bred in Ireland any more. They're raised right here on the North American continent.

That's the conclusion to be drawn from reports sifting back from the Emerald Isle. Our globe-trotting informant, just back from the United Kingdom, saw the best Kerries that Ireland (and England) had to offer and says he'll stick to "made in U.S."

This may be a shocker to folks who think nothing's much good unless it's imported, but them's the facts, ma'am. It wouldn't be carting coals to Newcastle to ship American Kerries to Ireland. Ours are getting to be that much better.

We make this foolhardy statement in the full knowledge that we'll antagonize professional Hibernians for miles around. But look at the facts: the report is that there are scarcely 50 Kerries in Ireland today and the breed is considered to be dying out. Those Kerries which survive are sturdy but heavy-headed and long eared.

The situation in England isn't much better; Kerry entries at shows there are declining or non-existent.

Be that as it may, we'll be a long time paying off our debt to the Irish for developing the Kerry, as bright and handsome a dog as man ever bred.

Trimmed in the streamlined American style, its tight coat waving back smoothly, the slate grey Kerry is every bit as fashionable as the more popular Poodle and, if you go for snob appeal, considerably more exclusive.

It's a dog with unusual intelligence and a slaphappy sense of humour, devoted to its owner and sensitive to human moods. Notwithstanding its

NOTICE

Subject: Private Breeding Records

The Live Stock Pedigree Act, a federal statute, reads (in part) as follows:

"5. The By-laws of an association shall set forth or provide for

- (o) the keeping by its members of private breeding records, and the manner in which these shall be kept;
- (q) authority to conduct an inspection, on behalf of the association, of private breeding records, of the adequacy of the system of identification prescribed by the association and of the manner in which such system of identification is being practised;"

Article XXII (Private Breeding and Identification Records) of the Club's By-laws reads as follows:

"1. There shall be kept by each breeder a private record which shall contain full particulars of his breeding operations and identification of all dogs in his possession by reason of ownership, lease or agreement. These records shall be kept in the form as set forth in "Canadian Kennel Club Private Breeding Record" or in some other suitable form that will contain the same information.

"2. When and if, as a result of any charge or complaint laid by any person, the Board feels that an inspection of the defendant's breeding and/or identification records is advisable, the Board shall have the power to conduct an inspection, on behalf of the Club, of the private breeding records kept by the defendant, of the adequacy of the system of identification practised by such defendant and of the manner in which such system of identification is being practised by the defendant. Such inspection may be made by a person or committee appointed for the purpose by the Board."

To enable members to comply with the Act and the By-laws, The Canadian Kennel Club makes available a suitable Private Breeding Record Book. The price is 50¢ per copy. Orders with covering payment should be forwarded direct to the Secretary, The Canadian Kennel Club, 667 Yonge Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

INVITATION TO DACHSHUND FANCIERS

The Special Committee on Dachshunds has reached a stage in its work where it feels it is desirable to report to and seek the views of those interested in Dachshunds.

For this purpose the preparation of a mailing list of those interested in Dachshunds is essential.

This is therefore an invitation to all interested in Dachshunds to write the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club, 667 Yonge St., Toronto 5, Ont., stating that they wish to be placed on the Committee's mailing list. A postcard will be sufficient and must reach the Secretary not later than January 15, 1960.

Each person responding to this invitation is asked to indicate why he is interested in the breed; and if a breeder and/or exhibitor of Dachshunds, is requested to specify the size (Miniature, Standard) and coat (Smooth, Long-haired, Wire-haired) in which he is particularly interested.

THIS INVITATION PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON DACHSHUNDS

somewhat dandified appearance when trimmed to the eyeballs, the Kerry is also a rugged dog which harbours no fear of a scrap.

There are those (not Kerry owners) who'll tell you this breed is a mite on the belligerent side. But that's just the evidence of the Kerry's true Irish temperament. He'll love you to death if he likes you — or chase you over the fence if he doesn't.

Fortunately, most well-bred Kerries have the same sense to know who should be loved and who should be chased.

The origin of the breed is as romantic and full of blarney as most things of Gaelic ancestry. The yarn we like best gives credit for the Kerry breed to some Poodles which swam ashore from the Spanish Armada when it was whipped by the English in that famous sea battle.

These Latin Poodles got together with some native canine colleens and, begorra or caramba, the Kerry resulted, complete with the looks and volatile temperament that you might expect of a Spanish-Irish mating.

There's a dull, unromantic version that attributes the Kerry to a grey mutation appearing in litters of the reddish Irish Terrier. Far as we're concerned, anyone who prefers that story has no soul.

Whatever its origins, the American Kerry of today is a highly finished dog, steadily improving in appearance and temperament and moving ever closer toward its standard of perfection.

Probably the best Kerries bred today are products of Canada's Tailteann Kennels, which is currently supplying an increasing number of California's top-winning Kerries. Cross-breeding Tailteanns with local Kerries is long overdue.

Kerries are dogs of convenient size, being neither small or unduly hefty. They range in the neighbourhood of 40 pounds, give or take a few, but are stronger than their size suggests.

A real sales point for Kerrys is no dog for a lazy man. To get the most satisfaction out of him, you'll have to keep him properly brushed and trimmed, a time-consuming task. Otherwise he'll look like a bum.

But if you're willing to spend the time, and have a taste for the classy, then the Kerry — we liken him to a sort of Thunderbird sports car of dogdom — is the dog for you.

THE GREAT BULL AND TERRIER DOG

Because few people in Canada can describe the physical and temperamental attributes of the Staffordshire Terrier, we present here a description by the Staffordshire Terrier Club of America, sent by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Uplinger of Erie, Pa. It should be stated that on this continent the correct name is Staffordshire Terrier (not Staffordshire Bull Terrier as in England) and is a breed completely distinct from the Bull Terrier.

"The Staffordshire Terrier is by no means a new breed, having been referred to for years as the American (Pit) Bull Terrier or Yankee Terrier. They are among the oldest terriers, having had their origin in the early part of the 1800's as the result of crosses between the Bulldog of that time and the Game Terrier. We can say that our breed is truly American, and in recent years is being developed in accordance with our present standards.

The Staffordshire runs in all colours—brindles, parti, patched or any combination of colours. In this breed, it is easy to find a colour that suits your fancy. Their appearance is flashy, and they immediately win the admiration of on-lookers. A glance at one of these dogs will convince anyone that he has strength unusual for his size.

The breed has many likeable characteristics. They will hunt, go to the ground with the same zest as any other terrier, make excellent guard dogs, good farm dogs, are not too large for the apartment — and the surprising part is that they seem almost immune to all the trivial dog ailments, having exceptionally strong constitutions, because the breed has never been a pampered one, and has always been "all dog."

The breed's unswerving loyalty to masters and households is sufficient within itself to gain the admiration of the most demanding. They crave their master's attention and ask no better place than to be by his side. They thrive on affection and return it fourfold.

While their determination of purpose never wavers, they have no competitor as pal or guardian for children. They are unbelievably tolerant and dependable in this respect. They are large enough and strong enough so that a child can't pull them apart. With children they relish being part of the fun, and want to be considered a companion to absorb the child's overflow of animation. They can bear the brunt of short tempers without having their spirits broken, and will always come back to lick the administrative hand."

Editor's note: for additional information as provided by the Standard, consult The Complete Dog Book. It can be ordered direct through Dogs in Canada Magazine, at the price of $3.50.

LOOK FOR THE LAKELAND

One of the oldest known working breeds in existence today, the Lakeland terrier in the past few years has been attracting increasing attention in major shows.

The little Lakeland is always getting second glances on the street — people don't know whether he is a small Aire-dale, a form of Irish Terrier, or a black and tan Wirehair. He is none of these.

Whereas an Irish Terrier, for example, weighs approximately 27 pounds, the Lakeland is ten pounds less. Although there is some similarity in the over-all pattern of the above-mentioned terriers this small, courageous hunter (some have had to be blasted out of their quarry's lair days later) is a completely individual breed.

In order to help readers observe this breed more knowledgeably, the official standard is presented. This yardstick was finally approved and adopted by the English Kennel Club December 19, 1949.

General Appearance

Smart and workmanlike, with gay and fearless demeanour.

Head & Skull

Well balanced. Skull flat and refined. The jaws powerful and the muzzle should be broad, but not too long. The length of the head from the stop to the tip of the nose should not exceed that from the occiput to the stop. Nose black.

Eyes

Eyes should be dark or hazel.

Ears

Moderately small, V shaped, and alertly carried. They should not be placed too high or too low.

Mouth

Teeth even, closing scissor fashion, i.e. top teeth fitting closely over lower.

Neck

Reachy.

Forequarters

Shoulders well laid back, Forelegs straight and well boned.

Body

Chest reasonably narrow. Back strong, moderately short, well coupled.

Hindquarters

Strong and muscular, thighs long and powerful, well turned stifles, hocks low to ground and straight.

Feet

Small, compact, round and well padded.

Tail

Well set on, and carried gaily, but not to curl over the back.

Coat

Dense and weather resisting, harsh, with good undercoat.

Colour

Black and Tan, Blue and Tan, Red, Wheaten, Red Grizzle, Liver, Blue, or Black. Mahogany or deep tan is not typical.

Height & Size

The average weight of dogs is 17 lbs., Bitches, 15 lbs. The height should not exceed 14½ inches at shoulder.

Faults

A true Lakeland Terrier expression is determined by the head, ears and eyes. Too long a head, ears set on top of the head and slanting eyes are faults.

BOOKS FOR TROPHIES

The suggestion has been made that instead of shopping around for breed trophies, it would be a simple matter to give books. This would be particularly applicable in the case of specialty shows. Many breeders tell us there's little they'd like better as a trophy. If you haven't a list of books, write Book Department, Dogs in Canada.

ANNUAL TERRIER GALLERY

AUSTRALIAN TERRIER

Now recognized by both the CKC and AKC, this hardy small terrier is gaining increasing notice as a breed with a future in show, hunting and obedience rings as well as in the home. His bristling harsh coat, (which requires a minimum of grooming) is preferable in blue or silver grey with legs a rich tan, face tan below the ears and the top knot silver or blue; some prefer the body a clear sandy or red with a soft top knot. Intelligent and quick, they are great on ground game. They range in weight from 8 to 14 pounds and stand between 8 and 12 inches. Background is said to have been developed from several small British terrier breeds.

PLEASANT PASTURE KENNELS, 1411 Dorsett Dock Road, Point Pleasant, N.J., U.S.A. (Twinbrook 9-0557). Pedigreed Australian Terriers, Champion imported stock and American bred.

BEDLINGTON TERRIER

Some credit the Bedlington with the longest line of traceable pedigrees of all terriers — longer than most breeds. One of the least terrier-like in appearance, the Bedlington was originally bred as a fighter in match affairs, able to outrun a rabbit and game enough to handle badgers and foxes. Noted today for its sweet temperament, still courageous but a fighter only when provoked. Distinguishing it from other terriers are the long ears, oval-shaped head and roach back.

CENTER RIDGE KENNELS, Reg'd. At Stud, Am. and Can. Ch. Canis Furor, top winning Bedlington, 1955 and 1958. Fee $125. to approved females. Agent-handler: Robt. E. Treble, 14 Dominion Rd., Long Branch, Ont. Rob't. E. Scherff, owner, Milwaukee 4, Wis. Pictured here is the greatest group winning Bedlington, Am. and Can. Ch. CAIRN TERRIER

Sixteenth century writings refer to what must surely have been the ancestors of the perky little Cairn — in the early days known as the short-haired Skye Terrier. First used by Scottish lairds for hunting in packs, they were as much at home as spaniels in water, going after otter. They were death on fox, badgers and other vermin. Smallest of the working terrier, the Cairn is game to the utmost; its spirit and alertness result in an ideal watch dog. Affectionate with his own people, his blithe spirit makes him an amusing companion; with strangers he is somewhat aloof. Regular exercise, a minimum brushing, ordinary good food and love are the only requirements.

FOX TERRIER (SMOOTH)

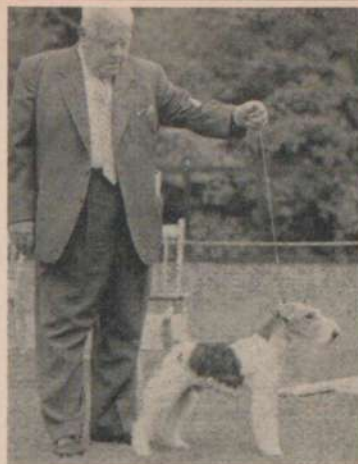

Despite their different backgrounds the Smooth and Wire are very similar, the Smooth preceding in first show recognition in England. Most important ingredients in this smart-looking Terrier were the old smooth-coated Black and Tan, Beagle, Bullterrier and Greyhound. The original standard, drawn up in 1876 has never changed except for two pounds weight for show. Originally he was so highly valued as a hunter (for his keen eyes, sharp nose and staying powers) he was classified in the sporting group. You will find Smooths in virtually every country where English is spoken, prized always for their keenness.

WESTMAYNE KENNELS, Reg'd., Westchester, Cumberland Co., N.S. Owner F. Mayne. Shown here is Eng. and Can. Ch. Brookland Royaltan. Home of champion smooth and wire Fox Terriers, Miniature Poodles.

FOX TERRIER (WIRE)

For an unusual number of years the Wire and Smooth alternated as Best in Show at Westminster. Since that time the popularity has remained at a good level. The Wire-haired Fox Terrier is claimed to be older than the Smooth. The type has changed little since the days of Rev. Jack Russell's breeding program of refinement 1812-1870. Developed for their pluck, lightning speed and keen eyesight in the field, the Wire's make-up is as sturdy as his body; his spirit high, his qualities as a watch dog commendable. This dapper dog never fails to excite comment for his smart appearance.

ASCOT KENNELS, 1506 The Queensway, Toronto 18, Ont. (CL 9-2176). Owner, A. Roberts. Shown here is Can. and Am. Ch. High Command of Wildoaks (6 points on Bermuda championship). Pedigree of Champions. Write for stud card.

KERRY BLUE TERRIER

As a working terrier, few breeds can match the Kerry for responsibility, speed and power while guarding cattle and sheep. In the field he is adept on birds and small game, and loves retrieving on land and in water. As to spirit, he's Irish all over, gay, teasing, and boundless in energy even in old age. Specially desirable for his awareness of anything strange, he is reserved until the invader of his property is approved by the owner. He is noted for his great devotion to the family. The Kerry is the National Dog of Ireland.

LHASA APSO

Still rare enough in this country to attract a great deal of attention, the little Lhasa Apso has one of the most exciting national backgrounds. In existence for at least 800 years, only a few ever left Tibet, and then only as a gift from the Dalai Lama. The coat, in keeping with Tibetan winters, is heavy, dense and long. In their native country, larger dogs do sentinel duty outside the home, the hardy little Lhasa Apsos are on duty inside, valued for their quick intelligence, acute hearing and ability to detect stranger from family at a distance. Gay companions, they are obedient and easily trained.

NORWICH TERRIER

This perky bundle of mischief is well worth investigating for the small home, as a pet especially. Less than a century old, this breed was developed by sporting Englishmen who desired a small working terrier that would be game to the last ounce, robust and active for its size (10 to 12 inches). The coat is short, hard and wiry, available in red, wheaten, black and tan or grizzle. It does not collect dirt and requires no extra care. Despite his short legs, the Norwich has no difficulty keeping up with horses, and has worked well with hunt clubs.

FAIRHOPE KENNELS Reg'd., 345 Monarch Park Ave., Toronto 6, Ont. (HO 3-3720). Owners, Frank and Getrude Bunce. Shown here is Ch. Fairhope's Dilly. Norwich (Jones) Terriers. Stud service and puppies.

SCHNAUZER (MINIATURE)

Still rare here, the Miniature is nevertheless being shown in greater numbers. A small dog with a great personality, this breed is welcomed for its freedom from doggy odour, shedding hair and attracting dirt. Quick to sense the owner's mood, the Schnauzer can be gay as a clown or quietly patient. An excellent guard dog with superlative hearing and eyesight, it is tireless on country hikes and is a born traveller. Sturdy, affectionate and witty, they are grand companions for owners of all ages.

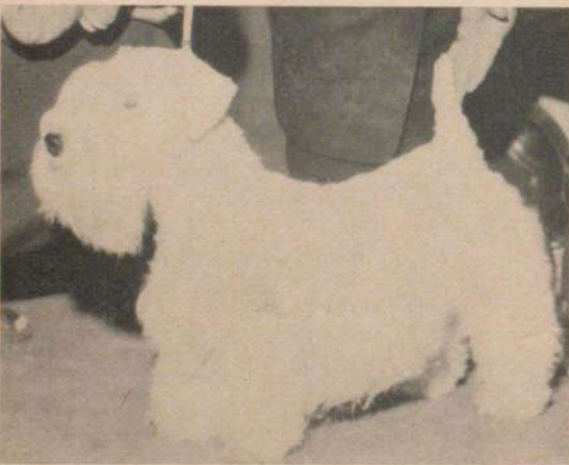

COSBURN KENNELS, (Mr. and Mrs. W. Gottschalk), 313 Blantyre Ave., Toronto 13, Ont. Pictured is Ch. Cosburn's Ensign, winner of one Best in Show All-Breeds and three Terrier Groups in 1959, his first year of showing.

SCOTTISH TERRIER

For many years the popular rage, the Scottie is once more on the upswing. One of the most ancient breeds of terrier, it stems from the Highland Terrier. The essentials of the standard drawn up by J. B. Morison in 1880 have changed but little; here we have a small terrier appearing the epitome of sturdiness and alertness, of engaging personality and loyalty. Proud and alert from head to toe, the "Aberdeen" is desirable in black, sandy, wheaten, steel or iron grey, brindled or grizzled.

SEALYHAM

This interesting terrier is named after the country place of an old English sportsman, Capt. John Edwardes who knew what he wanted in a terrier and "created" his own. Most concede there is Corgi blood as well as Dandie Dinmont and West Highland White Terrier in this little hunting terrier. One of the pluckiest of all breeds, the Sealyham is a charming companion and faithful watchdog. Its action is strong and quick. Height is about 10½ inches, colouring all white with lemon, tan or badger markings on ears and head.

BALKAREN KENNELS, Reg'd., Brock Road, Claremont, Ont. Owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Paton. Shown here is Br. and Can. Ch. Vandon Vagabond, imported from England along with our Ch. Shenden Pleasure and who won the Terrier Group at Stratford in May, 1958. Cairn, Maltese, Scottish and Sealyham Terriers. Puppies for sale and outstanding dogs at stud.

WELSH TERRIER

Little changed over the past century the Welshman is regarded as the oldest type of British terrier. The first Welsh Terrier appeared on this continent in 1888. Judging by old prints, he has changed but little since the early days. In his native home in Wales he is steadily used on badger, fox and otter. His very appearance indicates his capabilities, his speed, pluck and determination. His "Welsh" expression is a distinguishing feature. Standing about 15 inches high, he comes in black and tan or black grizzle and tan. A great companion for city or rural families.

ROSEHILL KENNELS, Hespeler, Ont. Owner, Mrs. Hugh Simpson. Shown here is CH. Monona's Twistie. Stud service to approved bitches. Grand disposition, black and tan coat.

WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIER

The West Highland White Terrier is a "game, hardy-looking terrier of varminty appearance . . . a hunter of small stature, great courage and unsurpassed determination". Purposely bred white to be easily distinguished from wild life during the hunt, his thick double coat is protection against weather and foe alike. His personal charm and equable disposition, have brought him into increasingly popular demand and as a small but fearless guard and devoted companion. He also does well at obedience work. Slight trimming and daily brushing will keep him clean and tidy.

RECENT SHOW WINNERS

Pictured here is Ch. Klondike's Tip O'Silver, believed by her owners, Dr. and Mrs. T. K. R. Bourns, Boru Kennels Reg'd, Byron, Ont., to be the first Alaskan Malamute female to win a Canadian championship. She finished June 6, 1959 at the Progressive Kennel Club of Canada show under Judge Glen Stevens. Bred by Mrs. Evelyn F. Lesh.

Shown here is the group-winning Maltese Terrier, Am. Ch. Fidino of Villa Malta who in four shows in Canada won seven points and a Toy Group and on October 11 took the Toy Group at Rochester, N.Y. Owned by Mrs. Justin Morgan of Clarence, N.Y. and now with Mr. and Mrs. Hans Brunotte, Poodhall Poodles, Caistor Centre, Ont.

Shown going BIS at Victoria, B.C. November 19, 1959 is the Pekinese Ch. Kee-Tin T'Sun Hai. Pictured are owner Carita Grieve, left; Gene Hahnen, centre (who has handled him exclusively); and Judge Bob Cross. This young dog, just two years old, earned 9 Best of Breeds, four Group and two Best in Show awards in 1959.

The Irish Setter female, Shandara Jewell of Wildair, was Winners Female and BOS for 5 points at The Provincial Irish Setter Club Specialty Show September 20, 1959 under Judge Dr. Wilfrid Shute. She was also BB and 4th in Group at Perth County Kennel Club under Judge Harold Watson. "Julie" is owned and shown by Mrs. Gertrude Drew, Wildair Kennels, Reg'd., Toronto.

Am. and Can. Ch. Schaufelein's Little Coquette, Am. and Can. C.D. is shown taking Best of Winners and Best Opposite at Emerett, Washington, under Judge Lloyd C. Brackett, to finish her American championship. In six wins Coquette had three majors. This outstanding Doberman Pinscher is handled by her owner, Pam Reid of Richmond, Vancouver, B.C.

Ch. Runwyre Raffles, Wire Fox Terrier, took BOB and a 3-pt. win to complete his title at the Wallaceburg Ch. Show under Judge Thomas Joel. At his first show at 10 months Raffles was BOB and BCB Puppy in the group under Mrs. Pat Randall. Other points won under Judges Percy Roberts, George F. Davies and Alex Napier. Five times BB, one BOS. Prepared and handled exclusively by his owner-breeder, Mrs. Pamela Running, Runwyre Kennels Reg'd., Brampton, Ont.

AROUND THE OBEDIENCE RING

ALAN SHARP

Montreal, Quebec.

Your Editor Says:

Now that the excitement of Christmas and New Years has subsided and we are gradually getting back to normal, it might very well be a good time to take stock of our obedience position and do a little analyzing. There must be many things that happened during the past year in our training, our handling in the obedience ring and our running of trials that were not quite up to par and therefore require improvements. There must have been many mistakes made during the year 1959 in all of these phases of obedience, which require correction lest they happen again. Now is the time to sit down in a quiet corner and make an analysis of the situation with the thought in mind that our shortcomings of the past will not be repeated in the future. Frankly, there is no better time to do a job of this kind than right now. After all, there are not too many trials taking place at this time of year so we should all have a certain amount of time on our hands. Everyone connected with obedience has a definite responsibility to perform — to improve and further the sport.

For example, if an individual has encountered difficulty with a certain obedience exercise, and that exercise has been responsible for the handler (and dog) failing a trial, then they should make a point of doing everything in their power to rectify the situation. There is no time like the present for, as we all know, time marches on. Then there is the matter of all those who are responsible for conducting training classes. Perhaps if you fall into this category you are aware of certain things you should have done, but, didn't, or of other things which require improving. You will undoubtedly then wish to make a note of such items so that they won't be forgotten in future, or that you will improve your training methods for the benefit of your pupils. Training class instructors must always keep in mind that they are usually the ones who start the handlers off on the road to obedience trials. It is a great responsibility and one which cannot be treated lightly.

Clubs running obedience trials should also take stock of themselves. There must be something that requires improvement over the efforts of last year. Perhaps the equipment is in need of repair or replacement. If such is the case, then now is the time to do it, not the day before the trial or on the day of the trial. There is nothing more exasperating for a judge than to have to work with faulty or inferior ring equipment, to say nothing of the poor dog and handler. One item that should be kept in mind is to have available for the judges, the score sheets which can be obtained from certain companies free of charge. Most judges come equipped, but, if for some reason one of your judges requires such material try and have it available, for after all it doesn't cost you anything.

Judges too should make an appraisal of themselves. They should be continuously reviewing the rules to make absolutely certain that they are on top of the subject at all times. There is nothing like reviewing a subject to improve one's understanding of it. Since judges are only human (no doubt some exhibitors will disagree) there may be certain points or rules which they would like clarified. If such is the case, then there is absolutely nothing wrong or anything to be ashamed about in asking a fellow judge for his interpretation or understanding of the point in question. The important point to remember is, if you are not sure about something, it is your duty as a judge to find out about it before your next judging assignment. Talk these points out with your fellow judges—it will improve your judging.

Yes, we should all take stock of ourselves and there is no better time to do it than at the beginning of the new year. Trainers, trainees, obedience clubs and judges all have definite responsibilities to perform in the obedience world. We must all ensure that we will carry out our jobs to the best of our ability. If this is done, then we will improve the status of dog obedience and automatically further the sport.

Coming Trials

Advance information reaches this department pointing out the fact that the Mountain City Obedience Club will be holding their Annual Obedience Trials on the estate of Commander and Mrs. F. W. R. Angus at Senneville, P.Q., on May 28 and 29, 1960, with three judges doing the scoring. These trials will afford all enthusiasts within travelling distance of the Montreal suburb a wonderful opportunity to participate in these annual outdoor affairs. More news and information will be available shortly.

Did You Know That:

- ... the principal feature of the Retrieve on Flat exercise is for the dog to retrieve promptly?
- ... the principal features of the Retrieve over High Jump exercise are that the dog must go out over the jump, pick up the dumbbell and promptly return with it over the jump?

Beagle Field Trials-Packs:

Last month, we tried to give you some idea how a Beagle Field Trial was conducted by the brace method. This month, we will deal with the pack method of running Beagle Field Trials.

In Canada, the game used as a quarry is the Varying Hare, or, as he is better known, the Snowshoe Rabbit. He is a true member of the hare family, since the young are born fully furred, and with their eyes open. The snowshoe has the unusual ability of being able to change the colour of his coat with the season. In the Summer, his fur is a brown colour with some grey hair. In the late Fall, white fur appears in spots among the brown, and by the time Winter arrives, he is entirely White except for his eyes and the tips of his ears, which are dark brown or black. At this season, the hair between the toes on the hind foot grows very thick and often interlaces. From this strange phenomenon, he gets his name the "Snowshoe". This extra fur on his hind feet tends to spread the toes like a man made snowshoes, so that he is able to run over the top of very deep snow.

As in brace trials, most Clubs accept the entries on the day of the trial. After you have made your entry with the Field Trial Secretary, you will have to have your hound measured to be sure that he does not exceed the height limitations for the class in which he is running. After he has been "measured in", you will take him over to another group of the Field Trial Committee, who will paint a number on his side for identification. This number is painted on both sides of the dog, and generally in a yellow colour. A special marking paint has been developed that is easily removed from the dog's coat (it says on the label) at the conclusion of the trial. The Field Trial Rules and Regulations specify the size and placement of the identification letters. The paint is allowed to dry before the hounds are cast.

Unlike the brace trials, where the hounds are compared in pairs, in the pack trial the hounds are run in a large pack. Normally the pack is made up of all the hounds entered in that particular class. The hounds are judged on their hunting ability and particularly on their contribution to the overall work of the entire pack. In a pack trial, he is not an individual, but rather a member of a smooth working team. As in all team sports, certain individuals are bound to excel in their work to a point that they are outstanding. A pack of hounds are no different in this respect. Gradually some of the hounds, by their superior hound work, will exert this mas-

All Terrier Clubs of Canada

by Eileen M. Stewart
R.R. #2, Aurora

Our October meeting was postponed for one week as a number of our "regular attenders" were expecting to be out of town on the second Thursday of the month. This meant that we missed the deadline for submitting our club notes.

The November meeting was highlighted by a most interesting address by Mrs. Eileen McEachren, who chose her recent successful trip to Europe as her subject.

This meeting also welcomed two new members, Miss Nita Freeman and Mrs. M. H. McBeth. Both these members who, incidentally, are sisters, are keen Dandie Dinmont enthusiasts.

Refreshments were served and we were pleased to see several "out-of-towners" at the meeting.

On November 21st we held our Sanction Show and wish to congratulate our President, Mr. Albert Kaye, and all those who helped to make it a pleasant, well-run show.

December's Meeting was devoted mainly to some discussions of our coming Booster Show to be held in conjunction with the Sportsman's Show and our own All Terrier Specialty Show, which, don't forget, is to be held in May this coming year.

Nominations were made for 1960 officers and results, after ballots have been returned, will be published in the next issue of our Club Notes.

Associated All Hungarian Breed Club

by Mr. A. G. Gerle 12034 Depatie Str. Montreal, Que.

There is rarely a thing so encouraging and of course interesting as the reading of the numerous enquiries received by this club since its founding, barely a year ago. Letters by the dozens, and in most of them people are asking us for advice: how to obtain good Hungarian breed dogs?

It is our club's main concern that breeders and fanciers of the Hungarian breed dogs should be able to obtain their stock from reliable sources, therefore soon after foundation we started a series of studies of the different strains of the Komondor, Kuvasz, Puli and Vizsla breeds. We also undertook the task of checking the different breeders overseas, especially in Hungary. Besides all this, we are now working toward the most important of all, the possible recognition of the Hungarian Kennel Club by the C.K.C.

We are now in steady correspondence with the Hungarian K. Club, with the different reliable breeders in Hungary and with the official agricultural import organ in Budapest. We would therefore urge everybody who is interested in obtaining dogs directly from Hungary to get in touch with the writer for additional information and for assistance. It would be a serious mistake to obtain bad and faulty dogs now, when the Hungarian breeds are just gaining foothold in North America. To avoid this, one should go ahead with the utmost precaution and should definitely enlist the knowledge of the experts.

The scheduled February general meeting of the club had to be postponed on account of various sicknesses. All officers of the club were elected for a two year period, so they will carry on automatically for another year.

Aurora & District Kennel Club Inc.

by Marion Hurst,
R. R. 1, King, Ont.

The club held its annual meeting on December 3 for the election of officers at the Ridge Inn, Oakridges. Mrs. Page took the chair. The following officers were elected for 1960: President, Mr. Joe Sullivan (by acclamation); Vice President, Mr. Kenneth Hurst; Treasurer, Mr. Jansen; Secretary, Mr. Kenneth Hurst; Show Secretary, Mrs. Mary Hart; Trophy Secretary, Mrs. Sullivan; Assistant Trophy Secretary, Mrs. Page; Show Superintendent, Mr. Tony Sacre; Advertising, Mrs. Jansen, Mr. MacCallum and Mr. Kenneth Hurst; Directors: Mr. and Mrs. Sacre, Mr. Joe Sullivan and Kenneth Hurst.

So we start another year with Joe Sullivan still to guide us. He extended many grateful thanks to the 1959 officers who had done a splendid job and welcomed the 1960 crew, without too much trepidation, we hope. However, there is much to be admired in our two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Jansen, who were willing to "have a go" in office this year.

Our judges were selected and arrangements made for their engagement. We are trying new blood this year and we hope all will show that they are happy with our selection by giving us a good entry.

We seem to have trouble finding a suitable evening for our meeting. Starting January 12 we are going to try the second Tuesday in the month. We then retired to a very lovely luncheon, served by the proprietor of the Ridge Inn, Mr. McCachen.

Next meeting will be at our President's home on January 12. Compliments of the season to all.

Barrie Kennel Club

by Miss Amy Lea

40 Worsley St., Barrie, Ont.

The November meeting of the club was held November 25. There were 17 members present. President Ken Johnston presided. A new member, Mr. Roger Kennedy, was introduced and welcomed into the club. Three new applications for membership were voted on and accepted.

The next business meeting will be held on January 27.

The Club held its first annual Christmas banquet at St. Paul's Church Hall, Midhurst on December 1. The hall was tastefully decorated for the festive season. A total of 46 members and guests sat down to a delicious banquet of roast turkey with all the trimmings, including Christmas pudding.

Seated at the head table were: President Ken Johnston, Mayor Willard Kinzie, Honorary President Mr. Norman Brown (Secretary Treasurer of the Canadian Kennel Club), Mrs. M. Eileen McEachren, guest speaker; Mrs. Mary Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Black, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones.

Mr. Roy Black introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. McEachren, owner of Tailteann Kennels, Todmorden near Toronto. Mrs. McEachren spoke on her trip to Europe to attend dog shows with her Kerry Blue Terrier, Tailteann's Rare Gem. Mrs. McEachren visited Amsterdam, Italy, Monte Carlo and France. The speaker was thanked by Mr. Harry Morren, who presented her with a bouquet of roses.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. Unger,

Mrs. Childs, Mayor Kinzie, Mr. Frank Jones, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. O'Brien-Saint, Mrs. Nutticombe and Mrs. Lamont. The evening closed with the singing of "O Canada".

The Black & Tan Coonhound Club of Canada

by Mrs. M. Jeanne White
R.R. 2, Neumarket, Ont.

The annual general meeting of this club was held at King, Ont., on December 5. The executive officers for 1960 are: President, Mr. Sidney Patrick; 1st Vice President, Mrs. Patricia Lennox; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. Peter Wyckoff; Secretary, Mrs. Jeanne White, "Tanglewood", North Main St., R.R. 2, Neumarket, Ont.; Treasurer, Mr. Gordon Beswetherick; Directors: Mr. William Moore, Mr. Richard White, Mrs. Linda Patrick, Mr. Robert Lennox.

Awards were presented by the club to the owners of the following Coonhounds: Ch. d'Argenteuil Joeliand, Ch. d'Argenteuil Laurielle, Ch. Black Hunter's Fantasia, Ch. d'Argenteuil Valois, Ch. Seven Hickories' Black Sambo, Ch. Ten Oaks Black Rufe, Ch. Black Hunter's Just Joe, Ch. d'Argenteuil Jaime.

The past year has brought many changes in the ranks of our Coonhounds as several great hounds have passed from our midst. We would like to pay a final tribute to these great hunting hounds: Can. & Am. Ch. Melinda of Ten Oaks, the first of her breed to gain a championship in more than one country and whose blood flows in most of the Coonhounds in Canada. She will be remembered for years to come as "the grand old lady" of the breed; Ch. d'Argenteuil Baron Bretton, a group winner with more than 30 BOB's, and the holder of the world's record for group-placings for his breed; Ch. Karlana's Musical Donna, a great champion who seldom missed placing in the Group; Sundown Rochon d'Argenteuil, who gave promise of being a strong contender for future field trial honours, but who was tragically killed before his second birthday. These Coonhounds will be greatly missed by their owners, d'Argenteuil Kennels Reg'd. A great loss was suffered by Seven Hickories Kennels Reg'd. by the untimely death of their foundation female, d'Argenteuil Mindonette. "Mindy" was not campaigned in the ring by her owners but she gave them many hours of pleasure in the woods with her great hunting heart.

We would like also to pay a final tribute to that great showman and group winner, Ch. Sweet Talk's Rock and Roll, owned by Sweet Talk Kennels Reg'd. "Rocky's" tragic and untimely death was a great shock to his breeder-owner and to all those who admire a great trouper.

Our New Year's wish is for health and happiness to all. And to all houndsmen—good hunting combined with good conservation of our natural resources.

Burlington & District Kennel Club

by Roy Dafee
3047 Woodland Park Dr., Burlington, Ont.

The November meeting was the annual meeting but as our club officers serve for a two-year term, it was only necessary to fill vacated positions. Membership of the club has now passed the 100 mark.

The Club has taken over the Waterdown Memorial Hall for 1960 and all club activities, meetings, winter trials and sanction shows will be held there. The club is anxious to rent this hall out to other clubs for such activities and for additional information, please contact Mrs. D. Engels, 1036 Marley Crescent, Burlington, Ont. This hall consists of two halls approximately 50' x 90' and two meeting rooms.

Final plans were made for the Matinee Show March 5, and judges will be Mr. J. Stetson and Mr. H. Hollands. A dinner will be held following the show at Stanley's Diningroom at Clappison's Corners. Charge for this dinner will be $2.50 per person and we would urge that you make reservations as early as possible to ensure a ticket.

Graduation for the Obedience Training Classes will be December 6 and the Christmas Party December 12. Final plans and judges have been approved for the Obedience Trial to be held January 30.

The Dachshund Club of Canada

by Ernie Lindsay

Willow Cove (Sub. P.O.) Burlington, Ontario.

Our annual meeting and election of executive officers for 1960 was held at the home of the Lindsays, Burlington, Ont. on December 6, with a very good attendance.

Considerable time was taken up with correspondence received during the last month, some of these letters containing very interesting viewpoints on the matter of Inter-breeding of coats. It was decided that all future correspondence of this nature be passed on to the C.K.E. Special Committee, who are endeavouring to conduct a thorough and lengthy study of these matters.

We were pleased to learn that Dr. Fred Bridgman is feeling much better as a result of his recent operation.

It was decided that our D.C.O.C. would sponsor an All Breed Sanction Show on February 6, to be held in the Waterdown Community Hall, pending C.K.C. approval.

We have received C.K.C. approval for our 5th Annual Specialty Show and 2nd Futurity, to be held on same day and same place, September 24, at Burlington Arena, along with the Burlington and District All Breed Show. Once again giving the Dachsie Breeders an opportunity of winning two sets of points on same day. Our Futurity is open to everyone, and all six varieties this year, and as we firmly believe this is the very best means of improving the matings and the breed, we would like to see more interest shown in the Futurity. Look for our Futurity ad elsewhere in "Dogs", and let's have those brood matrons nominated. Plan now to take in the big day, September 24.

After receiving Mr. Carl Sharen's explanation of not having time during the coming year to serve as Executive Officer, due to occupational duties, and your correspondent declaring I would like someone else to take over the President's duties for the coming year, so that I might offer my services as Secretary; the election of officers for 1960 was as follows: President, Dr. Fred Bridgman; Vice President, Mr. E. M. Breckon; Treasurer, Mr. Jos. Chatfield; Secretary, Mr. Ernie Lindsay; Assistant Secretary, Mrs. Barbara Moss; Directors, Mr. Leo Bodemer and Mrs. Barbara Moss.

With re-affirming that Mrs. N. T. Smith would continue as Futurity Chairman, and Ernie Lindsay as Public Relations Officer.

We take this opportunity to wish all club members and all dog lovers a very happy and prosperous 1960.

The Forest City Kennel Club (Reg'd) by Rita M. Smith

44 Flanders Row, London, Ont.

The regular meeting of the Forest City Kennel Club was held in the club rooms, The Duchess of Kent Hall, December 2, with the President presiding.

The most of the evening was taken up with our constitution as we are endeavouring to revise it somewhat, but of course there was discussion on our Christmas party and also our coming show in May '60. The judges have been selected, and we are hoping for a really big one. (Show that is).

I would like at this time to say I sincerely hope the holiday season was thoroughly enjoyed by all and that the coming year will hold only the very best for all of us and our dogs.

The meeting was adjourned and an enjoyable lunch was served by our convener, Mrs. Alexis Atkinson.

The German Shepherd Dog Breeders Association, Inc.

by Anne Gerigs,

c/o White Hart Kennels, Pickering, Ont.

First of all, I would like to welcome our new members Cliff and Maud Chapman.

Club Secretaries: Just an idea to improve attendance at Sanction shows. Would it be possible to notify all club secretaries of your coming shows? This way all the club members would be sure to know of the dates.

At the Sanction show of November 29 Herb and Hilda Burrows' Chimney Broom swept clean by going reserve winners bitch. At the same show Joe and Eileen Darlington's Jimmy won the senior puppy class.

Congratulations folks - in the coming year one of our activities will be a rummage sale. All donations would be gratefully accepted. For information contact, in the city, Win DeMeo at BA 1-7704 and out this end Hilda Burrows at Pickering 240M4. We are going to arrange that all donations be picked up. On the same day as the rummage sale there will be a bake sale.

Our K 9 Kollege of November 28 was a big success. Our thanks go to Herb Burrows for showing us some lovely films of our 1959 Specialty show. Our next Kollege will be on January 30. For information contact Pat Savink, our Secretary, at Pickering 91W4 or our Breed Chairman, Spencer Weller, at OX 9-2328. Flyers will be sent out later on.

Don't forget folks! Our Booster show comes up in February.

Things seem to be pretty quiet right now. Nobody seems to have any news at all. What about it Norm, haven't you fallen into any lakes lately?

Always finish with a smile: Question: Don't you think that old saying "Two can live as cheaply as one" also applies to dogs? Answer: Yes, but it is a question as to how long they will live.

could not have been done if we, as the organization most interested, had not undertaken it. We can look back and be proud of the following events: The Sportsmen's Booster Show, The Puppy Specialty Show, our training classes, which handled 190 dogs, the many obedience demonstrations, the Breed Improvement Committee educational evenings, four summer matinee shows, holding a breed survey, the acquiring of another Morristown Seeing Eye Dog for a blind Canadian, holding Ontario's only Tracking Test, and the promotion in general of this important canine field, and last but not least our great 37th Annual Specialty Show, which pioneered a system and type of show which perhaps, in ten years, will be recognized as the first of a type and style of specialized show. The judge, a widely recognized expert, flown 3000 miles and all dogs evaluated or classified. Yes 1959 was a great year!

At the general meeting December 6, the following new 1960 Board of Directors was introduced: President, Mary Southcott; Vice-President, Alex Gunn; Secretary, Nellie Corser; Treasurer, Ed Mile; Directors: Ken Collison, Gordon Garrett, Art Hagemans, Ed Harradine, Mary Hart, Peter Kirk, Richard Reid, Harry Watson, and the writer.

The members voted to remain an associate member of the Ontario Obedience Association and elected Fred Pfeifle, trainer of a UDT degree, to represent our club. Randal Perry a continuous member since 1926, was presented with a life membership as was Mrs. Levack, another member of long service.

The meeting was followed by an interesting, illustrated lecture on general canine medical problems encountered by Shepherd owners, delivered by the brilliant Dr. Lord of the Guelph Agricultural College.

Let us greet the New Year with hope for the future and respect for the past.

The Hamilton Obedience Club by Mary Ledingham

Pine Crest Survey, R.R. 2, Ancaster, Ont.

Congratulations to training class chairman Bud Mendham, trainers Vi McKay, Peggy Oldland, Bill Finn and all their assistant trainers! Our fall graduation was a pleasure to watch. Dogs that but ten weeks before were noisy and unmanageable graduated Sunday afternoon, November 29, quietly and well controlled. Club Vice-President and one of Ontario's newer judges, Jake Giacomelli, judged the novice class with Audrey Langford, our president and Ontario Obedience representative to The Canadian Kennel Club, marking the advanced groups. One of our new members, Mrs. Jane Duncan of Chippawa, Ont., took first place in the Novice A with her Welsh Corgi. Her score was 194. Fred Tremain and his German Shepherd captured the trophy for Novice B. with a score of 190. Rosie, John Koekman's Bouvier DeFlanders won the C.D.X. trophy. Our treasurer, Bill Finn and his German Shepherd, Cindy, held the spectators silent when they went through the U.D. work. Cindy's only misses were one scent article and a small slip on the signal exercise. Her score of 172 proved that Bill and Cindy are well ready for trial work. Watch for them at the spring trials!

At our December meeting, Mrs. D. Ward, our secretary, reported that Mr. E. O'Brien had accepted our invitation to judge our February trial. Our members agreed that since Novice A is always our largest class, it would be fairer to offer four trophies for it at this trial. U.D., usually being a smaller class, will receive two trophies, with the other classes trying for three trophies each. Since the majority of the members felt that a trophy lacked significance unless the dog had obtained a qualifying score, our club also decided not to award a trophy unless this has been obtained.

Club members were pleased to learn that Howard Bowler would be chairman and Mrs. Mary Krawesky class secretary for our next series of training classes. These will start on January 4 with an obedience film made by Bill Burr and an introductory talk. Bud Mendham, chairman of our last training class, reported that he and his committee had drawn up a suggested list of rules for assistant trainers which they felt would help to keep our classes running smoothly. Hull and District Kennel Club by E. Diana Gemmell 471 Golden Ave., Ottawa 3, Ont.

The monthly general meeting of the club was held on November 18, at the Humane Society Shelter.

Members were asked to concur in the election of Mr. Earl Scott and Mr. Hank Sims to the Board of Directors. It was announced that the secretary, Mrs. T. R. Gemmell, would carry on as Club Secretary but could not include Show Secretary in this. S/L Bert Stoughton agreed to carry on as Treasurer. Miss Mabel Smith reported that the Humane Society had agreed to the club's use of the board room for meetings for the coming year, provided it was not required for other purposes.

Preliminary plans for a Sanction Show were discussed, and February 21 selected as a tentative date.

Members voted on judges for the Championship Show in 1960.

Guests welcomed were three relatives of Mr. Frank Stocker, and Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Reid, formerly of Winnipeg.

by Pauline Forrest

3074 Balmoral Ave., Burlington, Ont.

The November meeting was held at the home of the Dafoes, Burlington, Ont. Mrs. Allen gave a detailed report on the trophy fund and also went into detail on her plans for trophies for 1960.

Considerable discussion took place on some extensive plans for 1960 and it was decided to go into more detail on this item at the January meeting.

It appears that our new club crest is receiving favourable comment and requests have been received from distant members for these crests. Club pins, earrings, cufflinks, etc., will be available at the January meeting.

From reports from our Treasurer at this meeting, it appears that the past year has been a financial success as the club has been involved in many activities but shows a healthy year-end balance.

As November is the annual election meeting, the following officers were elected for 1960: President, Mr. K. Honsberger; 1st Vice-President, Mr. W. Ineson; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. D. Youngblut; Secretary, Mrs. R. Dafoe; Treasurer, Mrs. J. English; Social, Mrs. K. Honsberger; Membership, Mrs. E. McGowan; Publicity, Mr. J. English; Field and Obedience, Mr. R. Allen; Annual Awards, Mr. D. Youngblut, club magazine "Paw Prints" — Editor Mr. R. Allen. It was gratifying to see some of the newer club members willing to accept positions on the executive.

We have received very interesting news of one of our Western members, Mr. Harry Dean of Dalmeny, Sask. Mr. Dean is known all over the North American continent and beyond for his efforts in both showing and field training his Irish Setters. Following is an excerpt from a column in a Saskatchewan newspaper: "Irish Setter Garners Top Honors in Trials — Ideal weather conditions and a total of 38 entries contributed to the success of the annual field trial for pointing breeds held by the Saskatchewan Field Trial Association, Inc., in the Aberdeen community pasture over the Labour Day weekend. Top winner in the major stakes was an Irish Setter, Moanrud Ambassador, who won first spot in both the Shooting Dog Stake and the Amateur All Age Stake and second place in the Open All Age Stake. Irish Setter breeder Harry Dean of rural Saskatoon imported this dog from Ireland as a puppy and trained him for the field". Other Irish winners were: Second place in the Shooting Dog Stake was won by Timothy of Ardee owned by Munro Murray; Second place in the puppy stake was taken by Pal of Ardee owned by Ron Oliver; Third in the Derby Stake was won by Sue of Ardee owned by Harry Dean.

BERWICK, N.S.

(Phone 538)

Mr. and Mrs. Gottschalk, was composed of a 'faithful few'. Fortunately, there was a quorum so it was possible to transact the business of the club.

With the new slate of officers taking charge, the main topic of discussion was the Specialty Show, generally held in conjunction with the Sportsmen's Show in March. However, after a 'poll of puppies' and other dogs available for competition, the members decided to postpone the Specialty until the time of the C.N.E. when a much larger entry would seem to be indicated.

Hearing a colourful report from the members who had gone on the chartered flight to Bermuda for the three dog shows, late in October, the possibility of the club holding a Booster Show in Bermuda next fall was put forward for serious consideration. It was quite pleasing to learn that Miniature Schanauzers made up the largest breed entry in Bermuda and, of these entries, fifty per cent were Canadian-bred!

Based on the club's new point system of recording wins, awards for 1958 were announced. 'Dog of the year' (bitch!)
went to Champion "Boxerly's Spunkie" owned by Mr. and Mrs. M. Raber, and 'Breeder of the Year' was won by the 'Boxerly' Kennels of Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacKendrick. Certificates for these achievements will be presented to the respective owners and breeders who hope this is the beginning of a beautiful collection!

What with the various matters of "shows", "trophies", etc. in the capable hands of our elected Chairmen and their committees, business gave way to the tasty pleasure of a pre-holiday turkey supper served by Mrs. Gottschalk in her newly-decorated and well-trophied home.

shore district, in Verdun, and in the Town of Mount Royal—will hold their graduation exercises. The class in the Town of Mount Royal is our newest effort. This class has about 30 dogs in both the basic and advanced groups. Included in this is a special class for children, ages 12-16. Youngsters of this age take a great deal of pride in their pets, and a class of this sort should do much towards building interest in obedience training.

The Ottawa Kennel Club by T. E. Gundersen

The December meeting of the club was held on December 3 in the Board Room of The Ottawa Humane Society with a goodly number of members present.

The interest focused on three Sanction shows to be held for January 30, February 27 and March 26. Mr. Robert Sharpe will superintend the first show, and Mr. Earle Harrigan the other two, and we may expect all details will be carried out with the usual skill of these members with their Committees.

Our Annual Point show will be held on May 6 and 7, and arrangements are well in hand for successful shows. Lt. D. G. Anderson is show chairman, and feel with his experience the shows will be conducted to a complete success.

The elected Directors have been assigned chairmanships and keen interest is underway for a successful year.

We hope to increase our membership, by asking each member to bring in a new member; also to solicit the new members to assist in learning ring stewarding and taking entries at the shows in addition to other worthwhile work in promoting the welfare of the club.

At our next meeting plans are under way for interesting movies on dogs and dog shows.

election night brought out a good crowd.

The president, Mr. C. Stevens, was in the chair and the regular business was dealt with first. There was some controversy over remunerations. After considerable argument, pro and con, the salaried offices were voted on and the results were almost the same.

The secretary-treasurer Mrs. Mary Lake, gave her annual report which was very adequate and acceptable.

Mr. A. H. Lake and Mr. R. T. Lawrence, auditors, gave their yearly summary. This was a well prepared report and the gentlemen were complimented for their splendid work.

It is expected that this club will put on another sanction show some time the latter part of February. The president was instructed to enquire into the matter of securing the York Farmers Market building for this event. If the building is available, the club will go ahead with the usual preparations. Notice of this show will appear in this column at a later date.

Mr. Walter Brown took the chair during elections, the results of which are as follows: President, Mr. C. Stevens; 1st vice-P., Mr. A. H. Lake; 2nd vice-P., Mrs. D. T. Weir; Sec'y-Treas., Mrs. Mary Lake; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Yan Paul; Show Comm. Chm, Mr. Roy Dewsbury; Show Supt., Mr. K. Clarke; Show Sec'y, Mrs. M. Stevens; Membership Chm, Mrs. Gertrude Drew. The offices of trophy secretary and bench committee chairman were not filled. It was decided to leave them over till the January meeting when they will again be brought before the electors.

The meeting was late getting over and everyone hid themselves to Fran's restaurant for coffee.

The Provincial Irish Setter Club by Gertrude W. Drew

The November meeting was a very special affair. It marked the end of our first fiscal year and was the initiatory step to our second. Much to the surprise of the writer it turned out to be a momentous event rather than the regular, routine type of meeting.

In spite of a good deal of sickness among members and their families there was a good attendance.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mrs. Laurie Banks who has been sick since September and who is at present in hospital.

Tara Hall was enhanced by the addition of a new Setter picture done by a friend of the Lakes. Also displayed on the wall was a hand carved ebony ash-tray showing harp and shamrocks so typical of the emerald isle. Also the gift of a friend and coming all the way from Ireland.

Plans for next year's work were discussed and finally laid over till the January meeting when further discussions and possible adoptions will take place.

The treasurer's statement showed a handsome bank balance.

The recording secretary had prepared a resume of the highlights and events of the year which read as follows: The most important event is the formation of The Provincial Irish Setter Club. The honorary president and honorary patrons were chosen and the club's constitution was set up.

The "get acquainted" night was held in January. It was most entertaining. A film was shown, skits were performed and our honorary president Mr. Walter Brown initiated Tara Hall into the service of the club.

A trophy fund was set aside to procure trophies for two all breed shows each year, consisting of, Best of breed, Best opposite sex, Best Canadian bred, Best Canadian bred puppy and a first prize in all classes having three or more entries. The two shows which received trophies this (1959) year were Barrie Kennel Club and Progressive Kennel Club. Because of a later request for trophies for Mrs. McColl's benefit show, two trophies were donated. These trophies are given to promote our breed, to promote our club and help show-giving clubs.

Our official name was changed from Provincial Red Setter Club, to The Provincial Irish Setter Club.

Two fine demonstrations were given on live models of dogs to familiarize the members with (1) the various parts of the dog and (2) the correct method of grooming show stock.

The raffle which was held to raise funds for the club's work proved to be extremely successful.

A number of educational films were shown throughout the year. These were instructive as well as entertaining. The films portrayed and described, field trials, obedience work and one on the understanding of man's best friend.

Dr. F. D. R. Clement gave an excel-tory over the other members of the pack. These are the hounds which deserve the special recognition. The judges score the hounds as specified in the Field Trial Rules and Regulations, and arrive at an order of placing of the hounds on their individual merits. The place and point requirements for a Field Champion title are identical, whether the hounds are run in pack or in braces.

Most of today's field trial men started out as hunters with one Beagle, and wound up with a whole kennel. We recently asked an old friend at a field trial how old he was, and how many hounds he owned. He answered that he was 89 years old, and when he had counted his hounds in September, he had 91 Beagles in the kennel, but that some of the bitches had pups in the meantime.

Let me warn any of you fellows who like hunting with dogs, if you get involved with Beagle Field Trials, you are very apt to end up like my friend.

lent lecture on the feeding of purebred dogs.

A number of training classes were held during the summer to teach the members show procedure and proper handling of their dogs.

The highlight of the whole year was, of course, our specialty show. It was most gratifying to all concerned that being our first show, it should prove to be so highly successful. It certainly made the tremendous amount of work it entailed well worthwhile and brought our first year to a triumphant close.

Signed — Dawn Miller, Recording Sec'y.

At the conclusion Mrs. Miller was complimented on the excellency of her work throughout the year and especially on this "resume", by club President Mrs. Drew and Honorary President Mr. Walter Brown. Mrs. Miller thanked them for their encouraging words.

Mr. Al Lake read an interesting article on The Irish Setter which was greatly appreciated.

After adjournment a surprise, anniversary party took place. This turned out to be a delightful affair. Before partaking of refreshments the writer was flabbergasted to find she was in the midst of a presentation. A lovely set of costume jewellery was presented by Mrs. Dorita Carter while Mr. Al Lake made a flowery speech. The card on the gift read "for loyal and progressive leadership". It was all very thoughtful and deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Lake and her assistants served a delightful lunch. A two foot long anniversary cake, appropriately inscribed, was cut by Mrs. Drew and the remainder of the evening was spent just happily talking.

During the latter part of the evening the Pritchetts called in to bid goodbye to all prior to leaving the next day for England. Mrs. Pritchett promised to keep the club in touch with English news. The party broke up at 11:30 p.m.

With the New Year in the offing the club wishes you all, prosperity and happiness in 1960.

for braving the weather in bringing them along. Judge John LeMoine, of Amherst, awarded top honors to a German Short-haired Pointer bred and owned by D. K. Scott of Bridgetown. Best puppy was won by Harold Robinson of Timberlea with his home-bred golden Cocker "Dutchman". Our thanks to Mr. LeMoine and Mrs. Hague for a job well done.

The Judges Committee reported on their decisions and the members agreed that if possible the club should hold two shows in 1960, on consecutive days. Charles Winship has accepted the position of Chairman of these shows.

Considerable discussion took place with regards changing the points now awarded for our "Dog of the Year" trophy and the executive will look into the matter further. The question of revising the Constitution was also brought up and this also has been passed to the executive for further study and will be presented at the next meeting.

At the close of the business session the writer gave a short talk on the Dandie Dimont Terrier. This was illustrated with the young bitch champion imported from England, Dogari Gama, "Floosie" to her friends! Refreshments were then served.

The next meeting will be in January 1960, at which nominations for the new slate will be taken, to be voted on at the Annual meeting in February.

Simcoe Kennel & Obedience Club

(Norfolk County)

by Betty Bent

R.R. #2, Simcoe, Ont.

Our club recently held the graduation of the third Obedience class. It was trained by Malin Wilkins and judged by Mrs. Gerald Charter. Congratulations to the high scoring Golden Retriever 196 points, owned and trained by Harold Harris of Fisherville.

At our November meeting the crest contest was judged and cash prizes awarded to the Grade 8 winners.

We have made a donation toward the expenses of a heart operation of a young Simcoe boy.

Several members and friends of the club enjoyed a tour of the new Small Animal Clinic at Guelph, this month.

Place, date, and judges are set for our 1960 show and trial.

At the last meeting we viewed the pictures and listened to Dr. John Hare tell of his experiences while in Kenya. Dr. Hare and his wife, also a veterinarian, have taken over the practice of the late Dr. Morrison in Simcoe.

Congratulations to Mrs. Florence Westbrook whose Great Dane continues his winning ways at the Detroit trials.

by Nancy R. LeMoine

26 Regent St., Amherst, N.S.

The regular monthly meeting of the club was held on Monday evening, November 23 at the Fort Cumberland Hotel with President, H. S. Colpitts, in the chair. The minutes of the October meeting were read and reports were given by several committee chairmen. Mrs. Harry Schwartz related that the Obedience training school will hold their graduating exercises Thursday, November 26 in the pavilion at Nappan, with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Morrison acting as judges. All were welcomed to attend.

J. J. LeMoine named a portion of his show committee for the shows to be held in May. They are as follows: Show

The remaining judges' replies were read and the show committee was given authorization by the club to settle on the judges.

The meeting was adjourned for a coffee break. Following this John LeMoine outlined the duties of the Ring Steward and classes will begin on the same at the December meeting, in which each member may participate.

To complete the program two films were shown, "Retrievers at Work," and "Wonder Dogs in Action," which were enjoyed by all.

The "200" Club

by Laura McNally

62 - 4th Ave. S., Roxboro, P.Q.

The only Canadian entries at the New England Dog Training Club's huge obedience trial at Boston, Mass. in November were all members of The "200" Club.

Two of the dogs, competing against the top Eastern scorers and handlers in Novice B, earned qualifying scores towards the American C.D. title.

Cairn Terrier, Watmar Mistymorn Can. C.D.X., shown by owner Mrs. Marge Hamilton earned 196 points. English Setter, Spruce Gale Can. C.D., and owner Mrs. Pat Perry scored 194 points.

On the local scene, the Club provided a six-dog demonstration of advanced obedience at the graduation of the Fall term pupils of the Lakeshore's Canine College. The "200" team consisted of Mrs. Osborne's German Shepherd 'Tracy', Mrs. Madge's Miniature Dachshund 'Count Schellen von Jorma', Mrs. Mordell's Miniature Poodle 'Pepinot Pitre', Mrs. Burke's Poodle 'Twinkle', Mrs. Ward's Basset 'Beau Brummel', and Mrs. Willis' Labrador Retriever 'Bergwaun Brambling'. The younger set of the club families served the coffee and cookies to the enthusiastic crowd which materialized despite a raging blizzard, the "Grey Cup" and the Santa Claus parade.

Another mock trial on December 12 will just about wind-up activities for 1959. I say "just about" as our training day falls immediately after Christmas and New Year's. It seemed likely that on those days attendance would be down so a vote was called for. Guess what? An overwhelming majority demanded practices on both holiday week-ends!

Although we're not even one year old yet here is our 1959 review. Confirmed Canadian titles earned in 1959 by dogs trained wholly in the "200" Club include seven C.D.'s; four C.D.X.'s; one U.D.; and one T.D. American titles completed consist of one C.D. and one C.D.X. We emphasize "wholly trained" as other titles were earned by members prior to inception of the "200" in April 1959.

A total of six Highest Scores in Trial were won by club dogs, including one perfect score 200.

We hope that the New Year will bring even more gratifying results both in the show-ring and in perhaps the more important everyday application of obedience training of our canine companions.

Working Dog Association of B.C.

by Pam Reid

Fall activities for the Association began with the start of the Obedience Classes, with a new instructor, Joe Gilbert, handling the Vancouver classes, Mrs. E. MacDonald the Albion class, and Mrs. Mary Johnstone back with the Sullivan class. Judging by the quick peek I had, one night, of Joe Gilbert's class, he is doing a remarkable job and should have several good dogs and handlers ready for Spring trials. Joe, himself, is a Shepherd owner and has his own dog working very well in Open.

As stated in earlier columns, while the Boxer is a Working dog, they have their own class, sponsored by the Western Canada Boxer Club, under the instruction of Ken Dobbyn and these classes have produced numerous top working dogs.

The club's Fall Obedience Trials, held on November 8 did not have as large an entry as the Spring trials, but it is believed that this is due to so many people being dormant during the Summer months, and just not putting enough 'umph' into it to get ready for Fall trials. It is always gratifying to see the number of Americans that turn up, and many of our top scores are captured by them. In the 1st Trial, a run-off was held between local entry, Shirley Luke and her Shepherd, Grippsnu's Banner U.D., and an American entry, Richard E. Johnson and his Shepherd, Mr. Sandman (Am.) U.D. with Banner taking the run-off... an excellent win, in tough competition. In the second trial, top score went to a superb working Labrador Retriever, owned by Dr. Clarke, of Kelowna B.C., scoring 200, in Novice B, a score that was difficult to equal. The "Richmond Dog Training Club's" trophy was won by Pam Stephenson, with her Miniature Poodle, Challendon Challenge C.D., in Open A.

On Friday, November 20, the club held its annual "Working Group" futurity, drawing a nice entry. "Best in Futurity" went to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Campbell's lovely Collie bitch, Forest Glen's Friendly Sprite, from the Sr. Puppy class. Best of Breed, German Shepherd, to Mrs. Marguerite Locke's Shepherd puppy; Best Shetland Sheepdog to Mrs. Lillian Miller's female puppy, Olympic Classic Pansy. Mrs. Hilda Balshaw, judging.

Following was the Sanction Show, which drew an entry of 75 dogs judged by Joan Railton and Mrs. Gwen Appell. Best in Show went to Mrs. Peligrini's Irish Setter, an entry all the way up from Seattle, Washington.

BEST OF VARIETY

It's a Dog's Life

One day when I was in the kitchen making cookies, Cheetah, our seven-month-old cocker puppy, came from the basement with a large onion in her mouth. She rolled it on the floor and played with it until the skin was off, then started to chew it. That wasn't so much fun and she came to me, her breath reeking and her eyes watering. But while I was taking the cookies out of the pan she remedied that. Putting her head into the half-open lazy susan, she tipped over the can of cloves. After a few good licks, all smell of the onion had disappeared and she was pure again. Of course it was a coincidence, but a clove breath on a dog is just as funny as an onion breath. And since then she avoids the onion bag like the plague.

IRREPRESSIBLE MOTHER INSTINCT

Penny, a 7-year-old German Shepherd owned by 12-year-old Anna Jennings of Seal Beach, Calif., has a penchant for mothering tiny things. She has adopted a guinea pig, two stray kittens and a tiny wild jack rabbit. Latest on the list is a baby chick with which she plays and cuddles and talks dog talk.

Here's what happened when Daniel Rodriguez of Fresno, Calif. swerved his car to avoid hitting a dog.

First he hit a telephone pole. The pole broke. A heavy lead-sheathed cable sagged and a number of service lines to nearby homes were broken. After police patrolmen sent the driver to a hospital, Jack R. Williams came down the street with a high load of lumber. He snagged a small line still hanging across the road. Nine other telephone poles came down.

The falling poles in turn struck three automobiles and the sagging lead-sheathed cable hit patrolman Ronald Kelley on the left shoulder, knocking him down and injuring back and shoulders. He was dispatched to a hospital for treatment. Gerald Greve was also hurt by the falling lines, but did not require treatment. The Pacific Telephone Company reported that 35 lines serving 40 subscribers were out of service for more than 12 hours.

All because a dog wanted to cross the road.

(from a report in the Los Angeles Times.)

DOGS ON DUTY

New York police are studying the possible use of dogs as an additional means of controlling hoodlums in Central Park. At Great Neck, N.Y., the school board is using a German Shepherd named Bullitt as an aid to the school's security force. Working with a patrolman, Bullitt barks or growls on sensing an intruder, and alerts watchmen of open windows, fire or smoke, and leaking water faucets.

A 6½ per cent drop in the city's crime rate is the boast of Baltimore, since adding 21 canine cops to the force just over a year ago. At Vaduz, Liechtenstein, one dog, one sergeant and seven officers maintain public order.

In Canada's far North, the Royal Canadian Mounties have found companionship and genuine assistance from dogs in police and sled work. Dogs joined the staff in 1936.

Cocoa, a German Shorthaired Pointer, herds and guards 20,000 turkeys on the Jacobson's turkey farm at Watertown, S.D. More than 100 different breeds of dogs perform valuable services in herding or driving cattle, sheep, poultry, reindeer and dromedaries throughout the world.

The first "police dog" to be commemorated in a painting is a Schnauzer portrayed with a night patrolman. The scene was Stuttgart, Germany; the year, 1620.

REUNION

by Evelyn C. Powell

*There is a ghost-like grey dog,
That sneaks in and out of town,
He is thin and very weary,
As he ambles all around,
His feet are sore, his coat is poor,
And sores run from his hide,
Poor lost ghost dog,
In misery he abides,
Forever he is seeking,
His Master whom had died.*

*Gone are the days when he knew joy,
And a loving friend had he,
One who saw to all his needs,
And kept him neat and clean,
If only he would give his love,
Again to someone kind,
But no, he stays around the grave,
No other will he mind,
Because he hopes that someday soon,
The friend he loves he'll find.*

*Ghost dog, some day very soon,
You will not search in vain,
Your Master whom has gone before,
Will call you once again,
There will be a grand reunion,
He will stroke your head and side,
And you will have as you deserve,
Your Master good and kind,
And he will tell you how his heart ached,
Knowing you were left behind.*

Mrs. Powell and family live in Edmonton, Alta. and are the owners of Carmory Carbon Copy, Labrador, top Junior Dog in Alberta for 1928. — Ed.

It is our painful duty to announce the sudden death of Mrs. Eileen McEachren on December 28, while flying home from Bermuda following a visit with her father.

Her passing, which was such a severe shock, leaves the dog world bereft of a woman who constantly endeavoured to raise the standard of Canadian dogs throughout the whole world. It would be impossible to fully appreciate the contribution which she made on behalf of us all.

Following numerous suggestions 'Dogs in Canada' has established a fund to furnish an opportunity for Mrs. McEachren's associates in the dog world to pay their final tribute to a woman who unselfishly devoted so much of her life to the betterment of purebred dogs.

The names of persons contributing to this fund, on or before January 18, will be published in the February issue of Dogs. Names of subsequent donors will appear in following issues.

Contributions will be accepted up to January 31. The entire proceeds will then be turned over to Mrs. McEachren's favorite charity, service or project. As your editors have not yet had an opportunity to speak with her family to determine what Mrs. McEachren's wishes would be, the name of the service, charity or project will be announced at a later date.

Your editors

We wish to express our sincere thanks to General Printers, Ltd., Oshawa, Ontario for their kindness in enabling us to include this announcement just as the magazine was about to be mailed.

PLANNING A TRACKING TEST

on hand at each field to be sure to keep the handler and his charge off and in case the judges hadn't arrived. The judges travelled by car from field to field with the trial superintendent, and arrived in each spot approximately five minutes before the scheduled time so that dog, handler, and judge were all ready to start "at the drop of a hat". No dog or handler was allowed to watch the previous dog and handler working, but after they had done their tracking they could follow along. This had the advantage of not having too many cars and people blocking the road, and also it allowed us to use the same type of plot for each field.

Richmond is a district on Lulu Island, at the mouth of the Fraser River, four feet below sea level and subject to terrific winds. All roads are ditched, and most fields have ditches between, so it was a case of designing a plot so that we could get the track layer off each field easily. All the fields had a bridge access to get on but it meant that if he used the same bridge to get off again the start and finish of the track would mingle together; hence we used a square U style track with the bridge at the start and he jumped or waded through the ditch to get back to the road to his assistant waiting for him with a car to take him to the next field. The distance between the fields varied from ½ mile to as far as 4 miles. If (and there are always lots of 'ifs' in tracking) the weather had done what it should have, we would have been able to have the fields closer, but the oat crop had not been cut and our oat stubble fields which we had planned to use were out. So we were reduced to pasture land and with the co-operation of farmers, livestock was kept off for a week to ten days ahead. However, three of our fields, which had been drawn, were occupied with cattle when our track-layer arrived on the scene. Extra fields had been arranged for, and plotted, so it just meant someone catching up with the track layer and getting him to use the extra fields.

The weather the day before the test for the qualifying dogs was terrible — dry, with an exceptionally strong wind that carried scent from one side of a field practically to the other, but on the great day itself, it was perfect — slightly damp and overcast, with a very slight breeze. As it turned out he had only eight dogs so that by noon or thereabouts we were finished and lucky it was as our last dog was working under bad conditions, insofar as it was drying rapidly and a strong wind coming up. We were very glad that in our square U's we had kept the turns from 125 yards to 150 yards or more apart, as the winds out here on the perfectly flat land can be disastrous, especially to a dog that has not coped with the condition before. I believe that I neglected to mention that each field used was at least six acres and of course they were well syncretized by the use of cars to get back and forth.

We feel that all this forethought paid off as we had six out of eight dogs pass, which is an average of 75%, and we feel quite a good percentage.
