FROM THE EDITOR

What, if any, protection does the professional handler enjoy against loss or theft of a dog in his care? And what redress can the owner expect should something happen to the dog during its absence for training with the handler prior to showing?

Dogs first consulted with The Canadian Kennel Club. An official stated that the club has no jurisdiction over such matters. The understanding must be between the owner and the handler.

Next Dogs contacted a number of well-known handlers. They admitted to having no protection for themselves nor do they have redress, should an owner wish to hold them financially responsible for the dog or dogs in their care. In fact, they seemed to be quite startled by the question.

The fact that so little thought has been given the subject speaks well for the relationship between exhibitor and handler. Obviously there has been little in the way of loss through theft, accident or illness to even raise the question of redress.

Yet professional handling is a business. As such, it should be regarded as a business, with records kept and above all, protection against serious loss through contingencies. As insurance men explain, it's not what hasn't happened that makes insurance necessary, but what might occur.

Handlers, for the most part, take their work and their charges very seriously. Their reputation is without price and is not easily made. But supposing the unexpected happens and the owner demands reimbursement. Who is to set the exact price? Like a house up for sale, or even second hand furniture, the article suddenly has a price put upon it way beyond the normal rate.

Who would ever sue a handler, you ask? Here's a similar situation. A motorist offers to drive a friend of many years to a destination. The car and passengers become involved in a serious accident. The owner is stunned when confronted by a lawsuit on behalf of his good friend. Such an incident is not considered far-fetched.

Would it not be sensible for a handler to have a simple form to be signed by his client prior to each show, or a covering from setting forth the monetary value of the dog and the obligations of both parties?

It could be as simple as the release form signed by a model or by a parent for a child setting forth stipulations as to the use of the photograph.

Such a form need cast no doubt on the efficiency or honesty of either party, nor disturb the good relationship in any way.

The undertaking might simply state that the handler agrees to give his charge the utmost care at all times, including the consultation of a veterinarian should the dog require medical attention. The owner might agree that the handler is in no way financially responsible should the dog meet with accident or fatal illness cover story

Can. and Am. Ch. Talisman's Sabrina Noir, this month's "Cover-Girl," began her career about 18 months ago by earning her Canadian title at the age of seven months in three straight shows. She gained her American Championship at two years of age. Now she is about to embark on another career, motherhood.

"Beanie", a black Toy Poodle, is a daughter of Paragon Xerces, and granddaughter of Ch. Talisman's Golden Oscar who appeared on the cover of Dogs, June, 1961. Her dam is a brown Toy, Talisman's Brown Promise. Xerces, owned by Talisman Kennels, was named 1961 Top Producing Toy Poodle in Canada.

Another daughter of Xerces, Talisman's Youpon of Monai, made news at her first show on March 13 at the Poodle Advancement Association Specialty (Dogs, May issue) by going Best Puppy in Show, all varieties. In the following two shows she gained six points.

Still another new star in the Talisman Kennels is Talisman's Ebony Rhapsody (known as "Sody") who went Reserve Winner in her first show and made a five-point win in her second show. She is a 13-month-old Miniature. Two Talisman-bred Toys and one Miniature, now owned in the United States, are well on their way to their American Championship.

Talisman's Kennels, whose mailing address is R.R. 1, Maple, Ont., is located in the vicinity of Jane and No. 7 Highway West. Owner Charles Kiel is well-known as a handler. Since he began handling professionally in 1955 he has brought 33 Poodles to their championship and has four more with but a few points to go. He is authorized to judge Groups V and VI and has accepted several summer assignments.

"Chuck" is equally known as a skater, and instructs at as many as three different clubs a day — 11 months of the year. In the past six months he has run up 20,000 miles, driving between clubs in and near Toronto.

One of his Poodles had a part in the big Rotary Ice Show held at Maple Leaf Gardens last month. "Poncho" gaited on ice, matching the steps of a pretty skating partner, and delighting in the applause.

Between skating and shows, "Chuck" also runs a busy grooming and clipping service. And as if that weren't enough, he has started raising finches, a small bird of which there are roughly 100 varieties.

Five dogs are at stud: Ch. Talisman's Golden Oscar and his son, Talisman's Oscar Too; Paragon Xerces and his sons, Ch. Barlanark Theodore and Talisman's Black Ace.

Visitors are welcome to the kennel — by appointment — AV 5-5520. ■

LETTERS

If you have any suggestions, any comments or constructive criticism to make concerning articles in this magazine, or with regard to shows, your opinion of what is happening to various breeds with regard to size, colour, coat, etc., write a brief letter to the Editor. We must reserve the right, however, to edit same.

CHEERS FOR RUSTY!

. . . This is a tribute to a dog — and what a dog! I had the pleasure of meeting him at the Kawartha KC's Obedience Trial on April 21. "Rusty" scored a perfect 200 in Open B on that day. This in itself is not such a rare occurrence, but it happened to be the 18th perfect score this Golden Retriever has made in his Obedience career! His full name is Sun Dance's Rusticana, Am. UD, Can. CD, and his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Munneke, of Ohio, are a charming couple. Mrs. Munneke handles Rusty in conformation (he has his American Championship) while Mr. Munneke takes him through his Obedience. And Rusty knows the difference between a show lead and a choke collar!

When we sell Poodle puppies an important part of our sales talk is stressing the intelligence of Poodles and how quickly they take to Obedience training. But I have to take my hat off to a Golden Retriever named Rusty!

INFANT CHAMPION

. . . Thank you for the nice reference which you made re our Lakeland Invicta in the May issue. We note you mention he was the only Canadian Bulldog to finish his title as a puppy . . . Invicta completed his championship while still a Junior puppy — and before he was nine months old. This we believe to be a first for Bulldogs in Canada.

SOUTHERN CANADIAN

. . . The article, "Canadian Wins at Westminster" in the April issue omitted the name of a very good friend of mine. He is a young Gordon Setter, officially known as Can. Ch. Hickory Smoke's Wild'N Wully. At Westminster "Wully" placed WD (three entries) and BW (three females).

Since moving down here to the "sunny south" last Fall, the Wully dog has achieved considerable success on the bench and in the field. I take great pride in reporting that he has already acquired two major wins toward his bench title as well as several Derby placements (including a 1st) in the field.

MRS. E. P. MUNTZ

Malvern, Pa.
We are pleased to note Wully's wins. Canadian exhibitors were invited to send in a notice of their Westminster victories. Since Wully is now living on the other side of the border, his would have been classed as an American entry.—Ed.

TOWARD COLLIE IMPROVEMENT

. . . Those of us who have experienced herding with the Rough Collie or dressing him to a spotless condition, are so aware of how capable he is . . . It is true many of the working breeds would be at a loss to perform the duties of the Collie. What God made in one He left out in another, therefore giving breed distinction and characteristics . . . The Collie's keen sense of intelligence allows him to combat any problem he may be confronted with . . . He is no shy fool but a sound, courageous, intelligent individual requiring very little teaching. The true way of a Collie is seldom found today and many may be easily led to believe that he can no longer work as he was bred to do.

. . . Let us all devote our time to having the show Standards of our breed in mind and watch for breed improvement.

MRS. R. L. ALEXANDER

One of these days we'll do something really special on the Chihuahua, both coats. In the meantime Maxwell Riddle, well-known author and judge, made a study of 400 Chihuahua litters. He found that the average litter is 3.2 puppies — that is, Chihuahua mothers have litters of four more often than smaller ones. Among the 400 litters there were two containing seven puppies each. The highest ever recorded by The American Kennel Club, he states, was one containing eight.—Ed.

TOP SCHIP CLAIMS

. . . Re the letter in May 1962 Dogs disputing our claim to owning the top-winning Schipperke in Canada, 1961, our dog's record reads: out of seven times shown, in Quebec and New Brunswick, six BB's, of which four were over competition with three others; (beaten once by our own daughter); Group wins over other breeds: two Best Canadian Bred, one 3rd, two 4ths.

By comparison, the complete record of the other dog reads: out of ten times shown in Ontario, nine BB's, of which three were over competition with one other specimen; one BOS over one other bitch; Group wins over other breeds; one Best Canadian Bred Puppy, two 4ths.

In so rare and little shown a breed as the Schip is at present in Canada, it is inevitable that championship points are won without competition. However, as the basis of our dog show sport is competition, our criterion of a top winner must be the highest total of group wins over other breeds — at least until such time as entries in the breed in Canada even remotely resemble the 51 Schipperkes present and competing at the 1962 SCA National Specialty in Indianapolis!

As to the rather strange allegation that our dog was "seventh in the CKC's list", may we point out that only seven individual Canadian-bred Schips won BB's over competition, across all of Canada in 1961!

GERALD AND LAURA MCNALLY

Now that both sides have stated their case, any further discussion must be between themselves or The Canadian Kennel Club. —Ed.

It takes more understanding

Whether it's a routine checkup, immunization shot or preparation for surgery, the veterinarian must have a lot of patience and understanding to win the confidence of his canine patients. By questioning you he learns about any changes in your dog's behaviour pattern. By examining your dog, he can detect symptoms of disease and can then take remedial action. When you have a particular problem with your dog and you want professional advice, see your veterinarian.

THE OLD TIMER

Just supposing, conjectured the Old Timer, a judge puts up a competitive dog one week and handles him the next? No law against it!

"I guess" said the Old Timer, "that in the final analysis it's a matter that must lie between a man and his conscience."

We'd been sitting around discussing a possible sire and when that had been taken care of the Old Timer had lasped into one of his quiet moods — an indication that he had something on his mind. His opening sentence was an invitation and I accepted it.

"Okay," I said "what is the matter and why does it lie, in the final analysis, between a man and his conscience?"

The Old Timer reached for his pipe. He packed it carefully a bit at a time. I knew this was stalling while he got his thoughts organized. Finally he had the pipe filled to his satisfaction and with it drawing easily he sat back in his old barrel chair and started in.

"I'm thinking," he said "of the problems that must face a man who plays a dual role in the dog game — that is, an exhibitor one week and a judge a couple of weeks later."

"For instance?" I asked.

The Old Timer took a couple of puffs on his pipe. He shoved the old fedora on the back of the head and pulled a couple of times on the lobe of his right ear.

"Now these are just supposings," he said, after a proper interval for cogitating, "because it's a case of no names — no pack drill. But just suppose a person is an active exhibitor and is also a licensed judge. There's a circuit of three shows in three days being given by the same club. He's invited to judge his group at the first of these shows. The other judges are continuing to judge at the next two shows, alternating their assignments. Should this man, after completing his assignment at the first show, become an exhibitor at the next two?"

This time it was my turn to scratch my head.

"Well, you say that in your opinion ninety per cent of judges are honest," I commented. "If you're right do you think that the fact that this exhibitor changed his hat from judge at the first show to exhibitor at the second and third is going to get him favorable consideration?"

"I'd only go as far as to say I don't think it would do him any harm," said the Old Timer "but to me he's placing his fellow judges at the first show in a most difficult position by exhibiting under them at the second and third. He may very well have the best dog in the ring but if those other judges put him up, what are the competing exhibitors going to say?"

I didn't have to scratch my head for the answer to that one. It was obvious. The comment would be that the dog didn't win, but that the judges had done a favor for a fellow judge who had been a colleague at the first show.

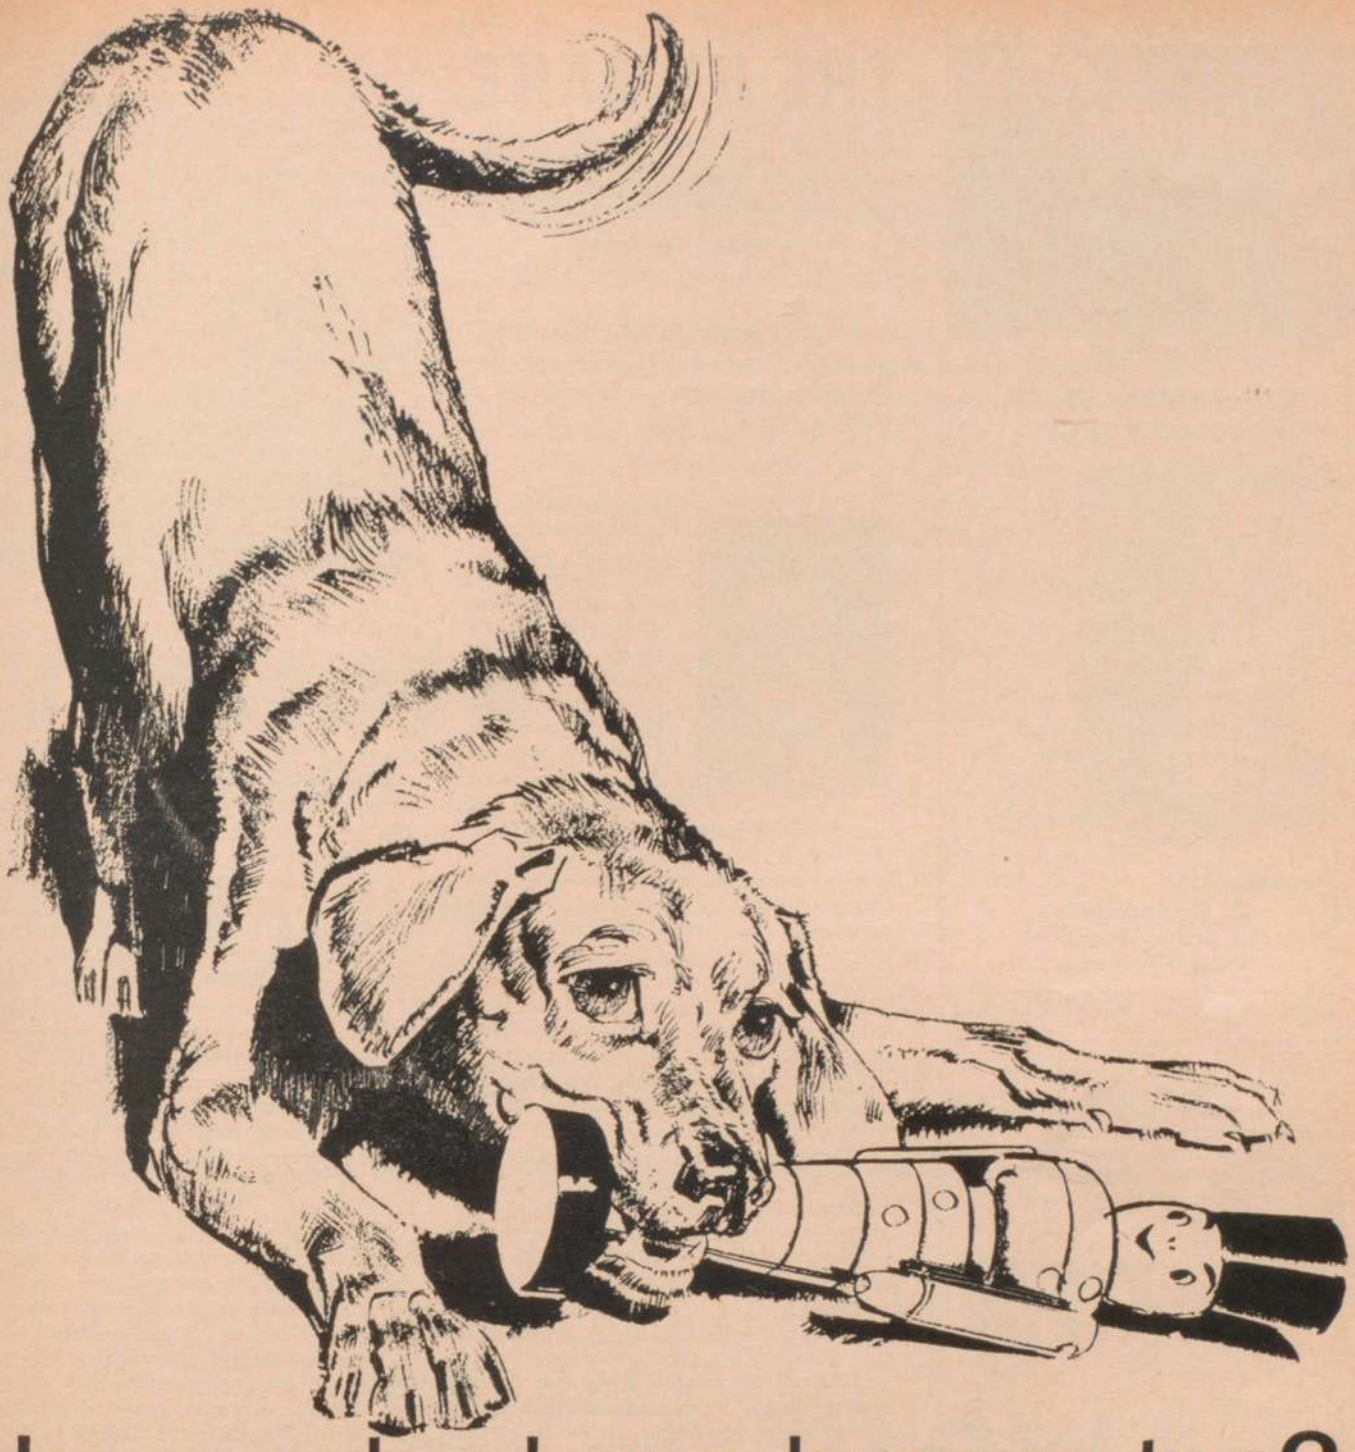

When I'd expressed this opinion and the Old Timer had confirmed that was what he had in mind I asked, "Any more just supposings?"

"Well let us take a look at this possible situation," he said. "A professional handler is also licensed to judge. At a certain show where he is judging he puts up a certain dog in a very hotly contested class. Two weeks later, at another show, he turns up as the handler of this very same dog. What's the reaction going to be?"

"There doesn't necessarily have to be anything wrong," I argued. The owner of the dog might very well have gone to him after the show and asked him to handle the dog, in view of the fact that he appeared to think it had quality."

"Of course he might and quite possibly did," said the Old Timer "and besides I'm citing it as a 'just supposing'. But I use the illustration merely to emphasize the complications that can arise when exhibitors act as judges in the areas where they normally exhibit."

Is your dog bone-hungry, too?

MILK-BONE satisfies the bone hunger of your dog.

A dog needs to chew, and knows it. In the absence of a bone, even the best-trained dog will find something else to chew—often something he shouldn't. But there are few bones in today's kitchens. Many that are available are not safe or good for your dog. That's why the modern dog goes bone-hungry.

The answer is Milk-Bone—the biscuit with the real bone shape that makes wonderful chewing, without a real bone's tendency to splinter or upset the digestion. Milk-Bone gives your dog all the important nourishment found in milk, meat, bone-meal and vegetables, too. Get Milk-Bone in the size that suits the size of your dog—regular or large.

THE HUMANE SOCIETY

BY TOM HUGHES

First in a series by the newly appointed General Manager of the Ontario Humane — famed as a fighter for his cause.

The image of the local "Humane Society" is unavoidably connected with the problem of dog control, or to be more blunt, pound keeping. It is unfortunate that because of efforts to improve the conditions under which dogs are impounded and destroyed the public should think of the Pound and the Humane Society as synonymous. It it true that the Ontario Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and its 37 affiliated societies and branches have entered into pound contracts with numerous cities, municipalities and townships. This is unfortunate, because this public misconception of the real purposes, aims and objects of the Ontario SPCA quite fails to take into account the much wider scope of the Society's activities.

The Ontario SPCA was first established in 1873. As such it is one of the oldest societies in Canada. Like all similar societies it has had a checkered career reflecting in periods of intense activity the drive and determination of individual officers.

In 1919 the Ontario SPCA recognized that it could not meet its obligation to protect animals without the proper status and authority. Accordingly, in that year the Government of Ontario incorporated the Society under a public act of legislature which altered the status of the Ontario SPCA from that of a private society to one of a semi-public body possessing privileges and police powers. In 1955 the Society's Act of Incorporation was brought up-to-date by amending the act in such a way that the Society was better able to cope with problems arising out of modern usages of animals.

Basically, the Act gives to the Society the power to appoint inspectors who in turn possess exactly the same powers and authority as a police officer. Furthermore, the inspector is empowered to enter property, without warrant, where a reasonable belief exists that an animal is being deprived of adequate food, water and care. On entering the premises the inspector can, under certain conditions, seize the animals and remove them to a place where they can be properly looked after. However, the basic task of the SPCA inspector is still to investigate any use or abuse of animals and if neglect or cruelty appears to exist, to caution, advise and finally charge the person responsible with a criminal offense.

Throughout the Province, Inspectors of the Society check many different operations ranging from auction barns, slaughter houses, assembly yards, stock trains, fairgrounds, zoos, circuses, kennels to public pounds. One of the more publicized aspects of our work is the inspection of bush horse camps in Northern Ontario.

It is almost impossible to cover a territory as big as the Province of Ontario to the degree which one would wish and which is necessary. The Humane Movement in Ontario therefore gains tremendous strength by having affiliated to it 37 local societies whose basic aims and objects are identical to those of the Ontario SPCA. These affiliated Societies cover the areas surrounding the major cities and towns in Ontario. Again, under the SPCA Act, all the authority, privileges and powers of the 'Ontario SPCA' are delegated to the affiliated Society. This places the 'Ontario SPCA' in the position of being a "parent body" to the Humane movement in Ontario, responsible for the way in which the affiliated Society exercises the power so delegated.

Where there are no affiliated Societies or Branches in existence the Ontario SPCA attempts to meet the challenge by directly appointing inspectors, who are also police constables, to cover large areas of unorganized territory. In addition, the work of the Society is greatly helped by the loan of six Ontario Provincial Police constables, together with all their equipment and transport. These constables are employed exclusively in the inspection of bush horse camps — reporting however, to the Headquarters of the Ontario SPCA.

All inspectors of the Society wear uniform and all carry identification cards and badges. They drive clearly marked vehicles all showing the blue cross of the "Ontario Humane". The vehicles are equipped so that the inspector is able to handle any emergency which may arise.

Although our proper name is "Ontario Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," we have recently adopted as a working name "Ontario Humane", retaining, of course, the full legal title for all official purposes.

Whatever the name, wherever the location, the same work goes on constantly. I have referred particularly to Ontario but my remarks apply to most provinces of Canada.

In fact, throughout Canada a comparatively small but determined group of men and women are working constantly to improve the way of life experienced by animals. Incidentally, it is not the purpose of the Society to suggest that an animal should be given an abnormal life or an abnormal amount of affection. To the contrary, an abnormal approach can sometimes lead to great cruelty. The main object of the Society remains the same; to prevent cruelty to animals and where it is unsuccessful in this, to ensure that

DOG FOOD
Yes, Ken·L research concentrates twice the calories—or energy power—of the choicest lean beefsteak into every package of Ken·L Kibble and Ken·L Meal. In addition, Ken·L's balanced formula of vitamins and minerals helps create the glossy coat, the bounding health, the superb spirits which mark the true champion. They're economical foods, too. Because they do so much more, you need smaller quantities. But you do need some. Arrange it with your Ken·L representative soon, or write:

POODLES PAST AND PRESENT

It was my great privilege to judge the Standard Poodles at the greatest show of all shows – Crufts, and a grand entry (the record for the breed) awaited me. Many of our best, if not all our best Standards, had "come to town" that day and my task was of great enjoyment and really hard work! There is no doubt that feet and action have made great strides and in the right direction too. Hind drive and angulation now resemble far more the action we used to have. The good angulation and power of quarters is most noticeable, especially when the dog is in natural stance.

Feet have improved tremendously; firm hard thick pads, well knuckled up toes. Some feet could still be a bit tighter.

Breeders, I think, still want to pay more attention to heads and necks. A far longer reach of neck is most certainly wanted in many of our Standards today. Without this reach the wonderful head carriage of the Poodle cannot be achieved. Heads: here I think too many lack foreface and strength of muzzle. Too many that I handled had a tendency to "snipyness"; a long lean head that is not finished off with depth of muzzle will only show up this "snipyness" more than anything else.

Ear leathers were good. Most Poodles had very good, well placed, low set ears with good length and width of nice thick, firm textured leather. I thought in the main that the bitches could have done with a shade less length of back. Dogs on the other hand, had particularly good short strong backs – and this is what we want.

But now to coats. How few, in any of the three varieties, do we find with the real true Poodle coat? Standards undoubtedly are far ahead of the Miniatures and the Toys and the Standards' coats do still have a proportionate balance with the dog. There are too many soft, fluffy coats and many of these are only a dense accumulation of straight hair, with no texture or spring in the coat. So many Poodles in any of the three varieties, to me, have a lifeless mass of hair with no 'feeling' to the coat when handled. Coat on the hindquarters can only be termed "plush". I am convinced that one thing alone is responsible for this – the use of the unnatural coat growers that force the coat to unnatural length and a still more unnatural amount in relation to the size of the dog, to such an extent that all sense of proportion and balance of the dog has been lost. All the nature seems to have gone out of the majority of coats one handles these days, far more so in the two smaller varieties than in the Standards, but I see this making itself apparent even with them. Gone indeed are the perfect astrakan quarters (all but on the odd Poodle), and the manes that resembled more a sheep's fleece, both in texture and density. Breeders have become so coat concious, it would seem, they forget that there does have to be a dog under the profuse yet unnatural coat. How a good coat stands out these days!, and how I wish that we could see more of the true Poodle coats come back.

From the many coat samples sent to me over the past two years, there can be no doubt that the Canadian and American Poodles are ahead of our English Poodles for texture, quality and density. Perhaps one wonders if the real reason for the deterioration of quality may not be "speed". Breeders nowadays do not seem to give coats time to develop and grow into a natural adult coat. From the soft, fluffy puppy coat they concentrate on gaining length. I am a firm believer in cutting all puppy coats right off, not only once – but several times so that all the soft puppy coat is got rid of and with the consequent result that at two years and onwards the adult, naturally hard-textured coat has grown in. Do not forget that once this harsh, firm-textured coat is obtained it can never be lost. That is the coat that only goes on improving in both length, quality, harshness and density with age. What I do not think is generally realized is that this type of coat – the true Poodle coat – is the easiest to maintain and it is a weather-resistant coat too, which is far more than one can say of the huge soft coats we so often find today on all our three sized Poodle breeds.

Looking back over the years I am certain of one thing, – the Poodle of today has not gone backward, but very much forward and with the exception of coats – the "greats" of today are ahead of the "greats" of yesterday, especially on heads, eyes, and general overall balance.

Some dogs which always come back to mind were, in their day, "great dogs" and without doubt their influence is still to be seen in many of our greats of today. Ch. Tom, that wonderfully coated black who only came to his best when five years old. Ch. Gobo, the wonderful brown who would have held his own with any today and few could have compared with him for size and superb quality. Ch. Nunsoe Nichola's Christopher Robbin, who probably did more for the breed in the early thirties than any other dog. Ch. Vulcan-Pomeroy, another dog with that wonderful quality and perfect balance. "Ch. Nunsoe Chevalier Labory, whom I imported with Ch. Nunsoe Loridequin Nellie, both black, and who both did so much for the blacks and coats over here. Then of course, the great Triple International Ch. Nunsoe Duc de la Terrace of Blakeen, whom I also imported in the early thirties. This dog excelled in action and great hind drive which can still be seen in his white descendants today. more on page 56

CONCERNING POODLES

HOWARD TYLER, R. D. 4, Danbury Conn., is a well-known judge and professional handler who has taken many noted Poodles to the top. The Tylers are a busy family, with dogs to prepare during the week and dog shows nearly every weekend of the year. A son has just entered the Navy Officers Candidate School at Newport and a daughter is an equestrienne, riding in important shows.

Mr. Tyler judged in Canada for the first time recently when he assessed the Poodle Advancement Association Specialty and Obedience Trial at Scarborough, Ont., March 13 (Dogs, May, 1962). A quiet, pleasant and very sincere man, he proved a fund of knowledge to those who were fortunate enough to converse with him at any length. Seasoned handlers, with well-developed likes and dislikes for judges, unanimously enjoy showing under him – which says a great deal.

Next to his family, his work and his dogs, Mr. Tyler is a devoted fisherman – trout fishing his chief delight.

The vast popularity of the Poodle in the United States, Canada and abroad, causes the writer to wonder just how far the breed can go without a serious decline in its overall quality. The following is written for the serious breeders, who may get some good from the observations of one who has been looking at Poodles, good and otherwise, for 25 years.

WE SHOULD FACE UP TO FACTS

(1) The backyard breeder is with us on a large scale. Poodles are being bred for sale purposes only. Very little thought is put into breeding of this sort, so how can we expect much in the way of good for the breed to come from it?

(2) Poor judging is going to take its toll, because many breeders are going to concentrate on the type of Poodle with which they think they can win, even if in their own minds they know they are doing much harm to their future breeding program.

(3) Irresponsible handlers, many very successful in the show rings, seem to think it is a large feather in their cap to put over a second or third rate specimen. These people are the most serious threat to the breeding of top quality Poodles in the future. Many breeders are going to be advised and guided by them. The fact that a Poodle has made its championship or even gone Best in Show several times, no longer sets that dog in a class as being good as a specimen or desirable as one to breed from. This in the writer's mind is all wrong. Handlers have a very important part to play in the future of the breeds they handle. It would be good for all concerned if the handlers would realize this.

FAULTS MOST COMMONLY SEEN

(1) Close hocks and cowhocks. This fault is almost a complete one of breeding. One cannot eliminate this fault by breeding a dog and a bitch which have the fault in common.

PREPARING YOUR MINIATURE POODLE

PHYLLIS WALKER is well-known as a breeder and exhibitor of Toy and Miniature Poodles, under the MaGriffe (my seal) prefix. With her brother Peter, she owns a successful doggy salon, Le Chien Elegant, in Toronto. Miss Walker's grooming and trimming career began with the noted Hawkridge Kennels in London, England where royalty and many titled folk brought their dogs. Among them were a Pug belonging to the Duke of Windsor, a Sealyham of the Queen of the Netherlands and Prince Bertold of Sweden's black Standard Poodle.

She has provided doggy costumes for a number of fashion shows (see Dogs and People, this issue). Latest request is for doggy models and costumes to stroll with models in promoting the movie A Dog's Life to appear in Toronto soon.

Let us suppose you have obtained a good show quality puppy of about four months of age. The first problem is to accustom him to regular grooming. The paws, face and tail should be clipped and the puppy should be taught to lie down and stand properly to facilitate brushing, and scissoring and other essential trimming.

STANDING FOR SHOW

The puppy should at the same time be taught to stand for show. While standing he should tolerate examination of the teeth, maintain correct pose even while strangers are touching and examining various parts of his body. Positioning should be taught as often and as regularly as possible by setting the puppy in pose, praising him if he maintains the stance for even a short period and encouraging him to extend the time indefinitely.

Novices not knowing how to set a dog in show pose should observe professional handlers from the ringside at dog shows. Or if the puppy is purchased from a reputable kennel, the breeder will be very helpful and willing to give advice. Sanction Shows are also excellent places for dog and owner to learn.

At six months a puppy may be shown in Junior Puppy classes where he will compete with other young dogs in the 6 to 9 months age group. A Sanction Show is invaluable because everyone there is training his dog for show. There is not such a strong competitive spirit but a friendly, relaxed atmosphere. Judges are extremely patient with youngsters and will also set them up in correct pose if they observe owners are not getting the best out of their dogs.

SHAPING THE COAT

Now that we have found our puppy enjoying shows and behaving well, the most difficult problem for most people is the clipping of the dog's coat into show pattern. The English Saddle version of the Lion Trim is the most desirable as the Continental clip is rarely seen.

We already have the paws, face and tail clipped. Remem-

Poodles are known as a companion breed, but this does not mean that they should not be able to move with good straight ahead leg action. Notice the best moving dogs closely and most of the time you will see that they are usually a bit straight in stifle and have very good hip structure.

(2) Straight shoulders. One sees many Poodles that can't stand right in front, let alone move right. Usually this is caused by the shoulders being placed too straight up or by the shoulders being too loose. The result is elbows that stick out instead of being snug as they should be. Feet that point in near opposite directions rather than straight ahead. Fronts that are much too wide, causing the feet to paddle, move close or toe in. Narrow fronts make the feet cross over one another. This fault in shoulders must be corrected in the same way that one would correct faulty hindquarters, namely by good commonsense selective breeding. Again, it cannot be done by compounding faults.

(3) Head faults: Snipey muzzles, which are usually in company with weak, shallow underjaws and a quick fallaway in front of the eyes. Thick skulls with rounded cheek bones. Eyes too light, small or too far apart, either of which can cause poor expression. Lipiness and loose throats can spoil an otherwise good head. Fortunately head faults may often be corrected in one or two generations of careful breeding. Short ear leathers are more of a problem in the Toys than in the other two varieties.

(4) Low-stationed fronts. One sees more cases of this in the Toys and Standards. The shoulders are level with the hips or in some instances lower. Poor front action goes right along with this condition. A good look at a wet Poodle will show this up best.

(5) Flat feet. Usually caused by thin, weak pads, but sometimes the result of lack of proper exercise or untended toenails.

(6) Long backs, low set tails. Usually a Poodle that is long in loin will be long in back. A low-set-on tail makes the back look just so much longer. It is the writer's opinion that too much leeway has been given to the bitches' length of back. It just makes good sense to expect short backs, only if both specimens are fairly short.

(7) Soft coats and thin coats. Not enough importance is placed on coat texture by a good majority of our present-day judges. It wasn't always so. It seems that great length of coat is the thing to have today. Texture, color and overall quality is often overlooked.

(8) Slab sides. Narrow, underdeveloped rib cages are quite common in all three varieties. Breeders would do well to see that their puppies are very properly wormed as early as possible. Feed a good balanced diet and have puppies with plenty of substance. Good spring of ribs is developed when the Poodle is quite young.

TO SUM UP

Look at your Poodle with eyes that are not kennel blind. Think your breedings out carefully. Form a mental picture of your ideal Poodle and breed toward that end. Take good advice when it is possible to get it. Although it is doubtful if there ever has been a perfect Poodle, keep breeding for the perfect one and you will be sure to come closer to it. As long as there is a firm hard core of serious Poodle breeders, there will always be good Poodles, in spite of all those who are careless.

Keep moderation in your mind when you trim. Don't try to emulate all you see presented by top handlers in the ring. A dog shown with what may appear to be a tremendous coat may be carrying a lot of faults underneath. Don't underestimate your dog. Know his good points and faults and show them up to the best of your ability. Remember the judge doesn't evaluate your Poodle by his lush coat alone. He's looking for the dog underneath. Too much coat can hide quality as well as fault.

ber that you hope to present to the judge a fine clean head showing true Poodle expression — whiskers or beards are not permissible. It is assumed that the reader is familiar with the overall appearance of a show Poodle. It should be pointed out here that the measurements which follow are subject to slight variations to adjust to the individual dog's proportions.

Forelegs: 3" to 4" of puff should be left above the top of the paw and the rest of the foreleg clipped clean to just below the elbow. The puff should be combed carefully and then scissored round and evenly (the puff should not extend beyond the side of the mane). When combing and scissoring it is important to remember that puppy hair is quite soft and will fall downwards after combing. It should therefore be scissored in that position.

Now the saddle pattern. We want our Poodle to be short in back and elegant. First scissor the long hair on the back from the tailset to approximately the third vertebra. It is wise to be cautious here and do the scissoring a little at a time. Stop now and again to brush the mane forward and if not satisfied scissor more off. The section which is now scissored off is known as the pack. The length of the hair left on the pack is a matter of preference — ½" to 2" is a fair average. (Remember it is always possible to cut more off, but the hair takes a long time to grow if too much is taken off at first). Scissoring should be continued down the thighs and the hair should be left longer here to complete the pattern. The appearance of a saddle should be created by clipping out semicircles of hair on the sides of the Poodle between the top of the back (the loin) and the belly. Going down the thigh approximately 6" from the hip joint is the stifle (equivalent of the human knee-cap). This is where the first band is made. It is possible to feel a small straight bone at the front of the stifle. At this point the hair should be combed downwards and a straight scissor line made around the leg, parrallel to the ground. This particular puff or bracelet should be from 3" to 4" in depth.

We now come to the hock, just above which another scissor line is made, which could be at a slight angle sloping towards toes in order to accentuate angulation of the hindquarters.

This completes our basic pattern. It is necessary to sharpen the outline by careful use of clippers and scissors after combing out the pack and puffs.

SHAMPOOING

The next step is to shampoo thoroughly. The only important part to stress is that the coat must be thoroughly brushed out while drying and not allowed to curl or crumple. (It is recommended that the shampoo be given two or three days before showing to allow the coat to regain coarseness of texture). After the Poodle is thoroughly dry and combed out lengthy scissor work is necessary to ensure clean outline on all the patterns described.

PROTECT THE HAIR

Between shows it is wise to protect ear feathering and topknot hair by covering with plastic wound around the hair and kept in place with elastic bands. These should on no account come into contact with the skin or the flesh.

IN ADDITION

Poodles must have hair removed from just inside their ears at least once a month. The novice should watch a professional or veterinarian do it first. A dusting of BFI powder keeps ears dry. When shampooing, avoid getting water in the ear (using absorbent cotton will help). Nails: if the dog is not exercised on gravel or asphalt, it is necessary to clip the nails once a week. Teeth: any discoloration or tartar should be removed by a veterinarian or a professional grooming establishment. Travelling: Accustom your young showman to travel by taking him on very short rides, even a few blocks at first, using a crate, or holding him steady in your lap. Then the long trips will be easy.

Best in Show at the 62nd Annual Chicago International was the Norwegian Elkhound, Ch. Gladjac Royal Oslo, owned by Mrs. Susan D. Phillips, South Royalton, Vt. L. to r: Mr. T. H. Carruthers, III, Judge; Mrs. William Wood Prince, Chairman; Mrs. C. Groverman Ellis, President; Mr. Bryan S. Reid II, Chief Steward and Miss Jane Kamp, handler.

CHICAGO — 1962

More and more Canadians are attending the huge Chicago International KC shows — and doing nice winning.

This year's event required 22 judges (including Canada's Walter Reeves) to assess the 2,624 dogs with action appearing simultaneously in 19 rings.

This was an opportunity for thousands of spectators to get acquainted with rare breeds, which some exhibitors regarded as a mixed blessing. A pencilled note over a pair of Bouvier's benches stated "We aren't Giant Schnauzers". Among the lesser known breeds shown were Bernese Mountain Dogs, Belgian Sheepdogs, Belgian Tervuren, Giant Schnauzers, Otter Hounds, Clumber Spaniels and Welsh Springer Spaniels. Shih Tzus were judged by Mr. Reeves (they are shown in Canada in the Non-Sporting Group but have no Group assignment in the States).

Shown at Chicago and recently for the first time on this continent, were dappled Standard Dachshunds. This coat seems strange at first, but on closer inspection proves interesting. Dogs talked at length to a breeder who explained the challenge of breeding. "You can't simply mate a dapple to a dapple," she said.

Spectators who could tear themselves away from the Conformation and Obedience rings or the indoor Field Trials, were drawn to the 600-foot indoor dirt racetrack where Whippet races alternated with Afghan racing. Although a popular sport in California, this was the first time Afghan races have been held at the International. Ralston Purina representatives handled the heats.

The slim small Whippets have been clocked up to 35 miles an hour and the Afghans up to 60 m.p.h. Sensation of the Afghan races was Ch. Akaba's Kharma of Torrekesh. This two-year-old silver gray youngster, known as "Rebel", who had never before raced, won all five heats to beat out his dad, one of the most famous winners in the California circuit. Enthusiasts were even more excited over the fact that Rebel went BOS to Ch. Akaba's Top Brass, a son of the famed Westminster winner, Ch. Sirkhan of Grandeur, at the Afghan Specialty two days before.

The Elkhound Specialty was something of a sensation, with 69 entered under the prominent specialist, John Aarflot of Norway. Although Canada was represented by only three exhibitors, ten of the dogs shown boast strong Canadian blood. WD was Frosti of Pomfret, owned by Susan Phillips, editor of the Elkhound Newsletter and past Secretary of the Norwegian Elkhound Association of America. Frosti, who finished his American title, is the sire of a litter at Til Likke Kennels in Dorval, Que. WB and BW was Thelma Hepworth's Cedarstone Zorei, later described by Judge Aarflot as one of the best bitches he had seen in years. She competed with the Specials to win BOS — at 13 months! Her sire is the Canadian-bred Ch. Vakker-Lund's Buster, also owned by Mrs. Heyworth. BB went to Glad-Jac Royal Oslo, sire of the WB and also owned by Mrs. Phillips. He won not only the Breed and Hound Group at this show but went on to take BIS. Mrs. Phillips is a part-time Canadian, spending her summers at her cottage on Sans Souci Island, Georgian Bay.

Montreal ...très bien

In every way, the 46th and 47th annual dog shows held by the Ladies Kennel Club of Canada on April 28 and 29 exceeded their highest expectations. The 853 dogs that paraded before the Judges on Saturday and Sunday had an enthusiastic audience of 4,000 spectators.

On both days, the Obedience Trials drew a large entry. Judges Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Sidney, of Colchester, Conn. expressed their appreciation of the assistance given by their capable stewards.

The Collie
from the Judge's side

ARIEL SLEETH, whose well-known kennel under the prefix Sovereign, is located at 1085 Princess St., Kingston, Ont. is the mother of four lively children whose interests appear equally divided between their Collies, Shelties and horses. They are the official "puppy breakers" in leash training. Mr. and Mrs. Sleeth are both keenly interested in their kennels and purebred Welsh Ponies. Mrs. Sleeth's judging assignments have taken her to American shows with exceptionally large entries.

Judging has made me a better and more understanding exhibitor. The importance of showing a clean, well-groomed dog who is showing to "play up" his good points is brought home in no uncertain terms. Showmanship is important only because it is the difference between showing the judge your dog's good features to full advantage and minimizing his faults, or magnifying his imperfections and keeping qualities such as ear carriage and expression completely hidden. We all have days when, after travelling miles to a show, our dog lets us down completely, showing only fleetingly if the judge is busy with another and has his back to our dog. It is much easier to realize why you did not get that blue ribbon after you have been in the judge's shoes and not just the breeder or exhibitor who has seen that dog show to advantage many times before.

Looking at the Collie as a judge, first of all we see the overall picture. The Collie presents a beautiful picture standing naturally, proud but not arrogant, head held high, neck arched, body a trifle long in proportion to the height, legs well apart with feet parallel to the body, a well-feathered tail carried low with the end having an upward twist. Last, but not least, is the intelligence and Collie character evident even in this "overall" picture.

The Collie in motion is a misunderstood dog in the Working Group. Because his correct action is all his own and not similar to other working breeds, he is often penalized for correct gait. The Collie's gait is not choppy but a smooth, effortless, reasonably long-reaching stride with the tail carried more gaily when the dog is in motion. So often misunderstood is the front and rear action. A sound Collie is not out at the elbows but does move toward the observer with his front feet tracking close together at the ground. The hind legs from the hock joint to the ground move in parallel vertical planes comparatively close together.

This is our working dog: a lithe, active, responsible dog with a muscular, fairly long, slightly arched neck, ribs well rounded behind the well sloped shoulders, chest deep, back strong and level with croup sloped to give a well rounded finish: forelegs straight and muscular, placed neither too wide apart nor too close: powerful hips and thighs, hind legs well angulated and placed well apart.

BUT WILL HE WORK?

Much has been written on this subject pro and con and I am going to discuss here only what I know to be fact from my own experience. My first Collie sold for farm work, 12 years ago, was such a tremendous success that she opened up an entirely new market for our companion Collies. The price of a purebred Collie is often the determining factor with most farmers. However, when reasonably sure of getting a dog of intelligence, who without too much effort will become a dependable herd dog, there seems to be no reluctance whatsoever to pay the price. Each time I have a Collie for farm work I have told the farmer it would be replaced with another should it not prove satisfactory. This eases the farmer's mind and in all of these years we have had only one dog to replace. I think this fact alone should answer the question. Our modern Collie is still a working dog with working ability if he is bred to conform with our show Standard and is a structurally sound dog with Collie character and intelligence.

On one ocasion we had a customer who wished a mature Collie to stay at the house with the children and to leave the herding and barn activities to a mongrel who had been working for this family for the past few years. At the time we had a beautiful show bitch well on her way to her championship when an accident had left her unable to continue to be shown. At this time Glory was four years old and this seemed like a wonderful home for her. I was sure she would fulfil their need of a companion for the young children. After explaining that Glory had never seen a cow and if they were sure they were not after a herd dog, I had her spayed and she left to live on a farm. Six months later we had a visit from the family to tell us that Glory had insisted on taking over all dog chores on the farm and after four months was doing such an excellent job herding, the mongrel had been dispensed with.

Another blue merle pup, sold to a large cattle farm in our vicinity, became so knowing he could be sent to bring from the herd certain cows by name when the veterinarian was there to vaccinate them. So numerous have the wonderful stories been about these "working Collies" I could not begin to list them all. Please don't tell me the modern Collie has lost his herding instinct. However honorable mention should be given to the one and only dog I had to replace as, when sold shortly after to a family who had just moved to a new country home, he was solely responsible for saving the young daughter's life when she fell into an abandoned well.

COLLIE TYPE

Coming back to the Collie as seen by the specialty judge, we come to what is known as type. Very often the all-rounder stops right here. He has judged the Collie on overall picture, balance, gait and temperament. However, it is type that makes this dog the beautiful creature he is and it is lack of type that will put this breed right back where it was in the beginning, a wonderful dog of good character and endurance but definitely on the common side. This brings us to head, eye and expression. No matter how sound, how good a mover the dog is, if he lacks Collie type and is common in head qualities, he is just a working mutt. I must admit to being a "Head hunter" in my

DOGS and PEOPLE

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Peacock, Burlington, Ont., who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on May 27. Mrs. Peacock was one of the first to receive a Canadian Kennel Club service button, is a longtime member of the Hamilton KC and is one of the original members of the Burlington and District KC. She has exhibited Pomeranians in almost every show in Ontario and has seldom missed Westminster. Recently she has gone into Maltese and Toy Poodles as well. Mr. and Mrs. Peacock were "at home" to their many "doggy friends" at 2253 Fassel Ave., Burlington, on that date. It's not too late to send them your good wishes.

Ill: At the time of writing Mr. Anthony Donderwitz, Kobbytown Cockers, Massena, N.Y., is still a patient at the Veteran's Hospital, Syracuse, N.Y., where he is in a full cast, following spinal surgery. He'd be happy to hear from Canadian fanciers and friends.

Visitors: Miss Norma Farrar, Field Executive of Seeing Eye and her 11-year-old Companion Shepherd, Patty. The pair appeared on Station CFTO-TV, Toronto, to explain how seeing folk can be both a help and a hindrance to the blind and their Seeing Eye dogs. Dogs is informed by Mrs. Stella Barnes, Toronto, that there are only 30 Seeing Eye dogs in Canada—her own faithful friend is one of them.

The second generation homebred Chow Chow, Am. and Can. Ch. Loy-Jean's China Boi, was Top Winner for 1961 in both the United States and in Canada, having finished his Canadian title with three 1st Non-Sporting Group and two 2nds in the Group. He finished the year in the top ten of the Non-Sporting Group. Under the Canadian system his sire, Nor-Ton Chindu Chan, is Top Sire of the Year and his dam, Ch. Loy-Jean's Mi Keta, is Dam of the Year. Breeder of the Year, owners Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Messer, Redmond, Wash. This year Am. and Can. Ch. Loy-Jean's China Boi was BIS at Longview, Texas as well as at the Inland Empire KC show at Spokane, bringing his record to four BIS, All-Breed, plus numerous Chow Specialties. He has been shown consistently by his breeder-owner, Floyd Messer. His other BIS wins were at the Portland KC under Maurice Baker and Mensona KC under Major Godsol. Derek Rayne gave him the Longview show and Mr. Trullinger the Spokane event.

Fashion shows in which dogs accompany models are not news. But a fashion show for dogs with the dogs wearing the eye-catching garb held recently in Toronto under the direction of Mrs. Frank Segee of Oakville, Ont. proved a tremendous hit, even to making CBC-TV Metro News. Elegant cocktail coats, raincoats, even a cowboy outfit were among the items modelled, all from Phyllis Walker's Le Chien Elegant, Toronto. Among the models were the Miniature Schnauzer, Tannenbaum's By Golly, owned and shown by Mrs. Carl Morden, Burlington, Ont., Ch. Karas Buccaneer of Ma Griffe, Miniature Poodle owned by Phyllis Walker (Dogs Cover, January, 1962); Wilmars Bell of Balmtre, Pug owned and shown by Mrs. W. Marks, Toronto; Yorkshire Terrier, Ch. Moonmist Lady Lisa, owned and shown by Mrs. J. B. Finnigan, Rexdale, Ont.; Blomidon's Jennifer O' Pomfrost, American Cocker Spaniel (Parti-color) owned and shown by Mrs. Segee; Miss Walker's Silver Toy Poodle, Ch. Jay's Ma Griffe Silver Sparkle; the Basenji, Coronation of the Congo, (Eng. Imp.) owned and shown by Mrs. Warren Beasley, Jr., Oakville; and the Chihuahua, Ch. Clarewood's Wee Kelly, owned and shown by Mrs. Clare Smith, Toronto. All these models have good show records. Commenting on the clothes was Mrs. Segee; on the dogs and their background, Kaye Peer.

Travellers: Dr. and Mrs. Allan Secord, Toronto, to Los Angeles, Hawaii and the Maritimes. They will attend veterinarian conventions where Dr. Secord will be a guest speaker. Dr. Secord is veterinarian to The Canadian Kennel Club.

Newfoundlanders urging exhibitors to travel to the extreme east coast to show their dogs proved willing to do the same amount of travelling by being on hand for the Newfoundland Booster show held in conjunction with the Sportsmen's Show. Among them, Megan and Bob Nutbeem, who at the same time picked up a puppy by their Swiss import, Romy v d Shurz; Betty and Hugh Baird all from Newfoundland. Other folk from distant points who attended the show: Mr. and Mrs. Fricke from Pennsylvania. Mrs. Ruth Drury judged. . . Other Newf fanciers on the move: Stephen Navin of Gormley, Ont. to a mining location near Ungava, Que. and Fran, following a year at McMaster University to Chilliwack, B.C. for a summer of ROTC training.

Can. and Am. Ch. Wycliffe Thomas, outstanding young Standard Poodle bred and owned by Mrs. Jean Lyle of Vancouver, B.C., captured his fourth BIS April 7 at Palause Hills Dog Fanciers Show at Pullman, Wash. Several of Tommy's puppies made big inroads on the ribbons under Judge Leo Wilson at the Chicago International in April. Am. Ch. Wycliffe Nathaniel, bred by Mrs. Lyle, entered in the Saarbruchen Poodle Specialty in Germany received the top rating of Excellent. He is owned by Mary Grogan.

At the Great Lakes Poodle Specialty, Chicago, April 6, Lady Margaret of Belle Glen, owned by Mrs. J. Malczuoski (ten months), sired by Tommy, was 1st in Junior Puppy Bitch Class. She was BOS and WB to Am. Ch. Wycliffe Virgil, who was BOV Standard Poodle, owned by Joan Schilke. Under Judge Mrs. Jesse Mason, Wycliffe Vanessa went WB, BW and BOV over specials in an entry of 19 Standards, ending up BOS in Show at the Hawaiian Poodle Specialty in Honolulu. This completed her championship in three five-point shows. Wycliffe Twinkling Tiara, owned by Barbara Quigley, went WB, BW and BOS at the Vancouver Wash, KC Show, in January, the Seattle KC in February, Portland KC in March and WB and BOS at Peninsula Dog Fanciers Show, Bremerton, Wash., to complete her American title. Wycliffe Theodore, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott, finished his American Championship by going WD at the Vancouver, Wash., Seattle KC and Portland KC shows. Wycliffe Xavier, born May 19, 1961, owned by Frank and Susan Dale, Los Angeles, was Best Puppy in Show at Valley of Sun Poodle Specialty, BOV over Specials at Mesa KC, BOV at San Diego and WD at Bakersfield KC, Calif., all in March and April and still only ten months. Other Wycliffe offspring have been doing equally important winning. The famous eight-year-old Can. and Am. Ch. Wycliffe Jacqueline, Can. UDT, Am. UD, long the Top Poodle Dam, is now the dam of 16 Champions. ■

CLUB NOTES

IMPORTANT: Club Notes are for the purpose of reporting activities and plans of Breed, Group and other specialty organizations. There are certain news items which cannot be considered as "club notes", but rather as advertising material. Names of judges may be used only if the club's show advertisement appears in DOGS IN CANADA. Wins of dogs which will be or have been reported in The Canadian Kennel Club "Show and Trial Results" cannot appear in these columns. Make your club notes meaty and interesting. 300 WORDS IS THE LIMIT.

NOTE: A number of club notes were received too late for this issue but will appear in July. Watch for important announcement next month.

The All Terrier Club of Canada
by Barbara G. Pirrie
58 Wolfrey Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Dogs In Canada, having paid an excellent tribute to Mr. Alf Roberts in their previous issue, leave very little for me to say, except that we'll greatly miss this fine gentleman, who had such an enjoyment of life and who, through an accident of birth was both the oldest and youngest member, 21 and 85 years, of the club.

Our April meeting, held informally at the home of Mrs. D. T. Weir, was a great success. Having dispensed with the club's business, we then proceeded to our question and answer session, Mrs. Weir moderating a panel consisting of Mrs. Betts, Mr. Jack Stewart and Mr. John Devlin. The questions introduced at this time were all based on the Stud Dog: Age at first service, age on retirement, care of a stud, and the responsibilities of a stud owner. It was evident, after hearing several personal experiences, that novice breeders could and most likely would, run into any number of problems if the owner of the stud dog proved to be just as much a novice at breeding as they were! How many novice stud owners have the information and instruction on breeding a bitch, which they owe to the breeder in return for the money they receive? It was concluded that there should be more control over people who advertise their dogs at stud, i.e. the possibility of a set of rules being composed and published as to the responsibility of the stud owner.

It is to be hoped that this discussion will be continued at some future date as this is something of vital interest to all breeders.

Now for some news from our travellers in the U.S. At Cleveland, Mr. John Treleaven's Scottie, Yankee Pride Blushing Squaw, was WB, BW and BB. At the Cairn Terrier Club of America's Specialty held prior to the International show, with 61 Cairns competing, Mrs. Hyslop's Can. and Am. Ch. Rossmar's Clanruf O'Cairndania repeated her 1961 BB win. The Sweepstakes, with 51 Cairns competing: 6-9 months: Cairndania's Clansilver's Carol: 9-12 months: Badenoch Purple Heather, also Best Female Puppy in Stakes; 12-18 months (Junior): Cairndania's McRuffie's Splinter, also Best In Stakes. We should certainly be most proud of Mrs. Hyslop's and Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane's outstanding success at this show.

Members of the club showing at the International also had good success with Canadian bred and owned dogs. Cairns: Mrs. Hyslop's Can. and Am. Ch. Rossmar's Clanruf O'Cairndania was BOS: Cairndania's McBrigand Holbrig came up from Puppy to take WB and BW; John Treleaven's Rideau Cliff's Lady Jula, 1st in Open Female and repeated her last year's success as R.W. Kerry Blues: Mrs. Casey Gardiner's Kerrycroft Abigail, 1st in Open Female. ATC members attending the shows in Chicago included Mrs. Hyslop, Mr. and Mrs. Treleaven, Mrs. H. C. Betts, Mrs. A. Roberts, Miss Mary Curran, Mrs. Gardiner and Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane.

Just to indicate that Terriers have brains as well as beauty, at the German Shepherd Obedience Trial this month a Westie, Misty Melissa of Dreamland owned by Mr. George James, bred by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kaye, tied for second in Novice A with a score of 197½, and a Welsh Terrier won the trophy for Top Scoring Dog to train with the German Shepherd Club, won also in 1961 by a Welsh Terrier. It is also interesting to note that at the one trial I had an opportunity to watch at the Sportsmen's Show, two of the three dogs to qualify in Novice A out of eight dogs, were Terriers, a Manchester and a Welsh.

The Boston Terrier Club of Hamilton
by Mrs. Maude McGrath
195 East 24th St., Hamilton, Ont.

The regular monthly meeting of our club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore, 332 Lock St. South, April 10.

Our show is shaping up into a banner event, weather permitting, on June 17.

The club wishes to thank the Moores for their hospitality following the business portion of the meeting, which was enjoyed by all.

Canadian Samoyed Club
by R. J. Hensley
60 Park St., Scarborough, Ont.

The annual meeting held at the Ridge Inn, Oak Ridges, with 22 members present saw the results of our election. The election was the heaviest to date, almost 90% of the ballots being returned and the majority of the offices had more than one contestant. Mr. Gordon MacDonald, our outgoing President, was given a vote of thanks by the attending members for carrying on despite ill health. He in turn thanked the executive and all others who had worked with him during his term of office.

The election results were as follows: President, Mr. Wally Freeman; 1st Vice-President, Mr. Sam Caterer; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. Jack Hensley; Club Secretary, Mrs. Edith Freeman; Club Treasurer, to be appointed. Director for British Columbia, Mrs. Barbara Gordon Findlay; for Prairie Provinces, Mrs. Barbara Selock; for Quebec, to be appointed; for Ontario, Mrs. Betty McHugh, Mrs. Dorothy Caterer, Mrs. Jean Hensley and Mr. James DeLaurier. After the general meeting a short meeting was held by the new executive and plans were made to hold their next meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Caterer. It is the aim of the new executive to hold more club activities. Mrs. Caterer and Mrs. Hensley kindly offered their services as Social Directors and we can look forward to many good times in the future. The Show Committee will also be busy with their plans for the coming Specialty Show to be held in the Fall. Location and judges have not yet been decided upon.

drove down from Woodstock to be our guest speaker.

The attendance was the largest in many years and it was a most enthusiastic group who settled back to enjoy and absorb the most helpful talk. He spoke on the proper way to train a dog, from early puppyhood to maturity, for the show ring; the step-by-step progress of the dog in this training; how the exhibitor may make the most of his dog in the ring; how he may be of help to the judge, in fact, every known phase of dog showing, even to a humorous comment and suggestion on the proper attire for the lady exhibitor in the ring!

Arrangements had been made to have six or seven of the members' dogs present and a practical demonstration on dog showing was made with the help of these "dog guests". Many were the questions that were asked of Mr. Smith, all of which he answered to the help and satisfaction of the members.

Our very grateful thanks go to Mr. Smith, for his courtesy in joining us at our meeting. Already the question has been asked, "could we have him give us another lecture in the not too distant future?" Perhaps, sometime we may have that pleasure.

Pekin Palace Dog Club of Canada
by Mrs. C. Peckhover
R.R. 3, Newmarket, Ont.

As mentioned in our club notices in the April issue of Dogs in Canada two valuable members of our club have suffered a lengthy illness.

Owing to this, the members at our April meeting regretfully passed the motion to postpone our point show, originally meant to be held on June 3. We are very sorry for this because we know many Peke breeders looked forward to this day.

However, we are still hoping to hold the show later this year. We are happy to hear that Mrs. Pasek is getting around a bit better and that our president, Mrs. Sheahan, is out of the hospital. We send best wishes for a speedy recovery to these two ladies and hope to see them out again at our meetings.

North York Obedience Club
by Margaret J. B. Thompson
16 Sabrina Dr., Weston, Ont.

The first annual meeting was a huge success. It was held at Peller's Restaurant, Yonge St. and Sheppard Ave. on April 8.

The club welcomed as its guests Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Diamond and Mr. and Mrs. T. Joel.

The President, Mrs. Grace Probert, spoke on the club's achievements since its inception in May, 1961 and thanked the officers and members for their support.

Mrs. C. Diamond gave a most informative talk on the Ontario Obedience Association. She also urged all members to join The Canadian Kennel Club so that in due time they may be able to vote on canine affairs.

Mr. Diamond spoke on the Fun Frolic to be held June 3 at the Ancaster Agricultural Grounds. All club members were encouraged to take part in this lively event.

He took the chair for the election of officers. The following have taken office: President, Mrs. Grace Probert; Vice-President, Mrs. Hilda Pugh; Secretary, Mrs. Audrey Jeffrey; Treasurer, Mrs. Irene Proctor; Directors, Mr. George Parlee and Mrs. Fred Donnelly.

Tentative events for the coming months include a bowling party, two Matinee Shows, a weiner roast and a dance. Mock Trials are scheduled for July 15 and October 14.

Presentations of club awards for 1961 were made by Mrs. Edna Joel. Mrs. Probert was presented with a medal and trophy for Tarzan, her German Shepherd, who won his American CD and Tracking title during 1961. Miss Thompson was presented with a medal for her Sheltie, Robin, who won her American

Following the presentation of the awards, a film on Dog Obedience taken on Long Island was shown. After the film members and guests sat down to a turkey dinner. Dinner speaker was Mrs. Edna Joel, a director of the CKC, who spoke on The Canadian Kennel Club and what it stands for, urging as many as possible to join. Mrs. Joel answered many questions. After the program members, friends and guests were entertained at the home of the President.

In keeping with our policy of all breed education, the SKC at its last general meeting presented the Beagle to the membership and the respective features of this breed were discussed. The history of the breed was given by Bud McGiness and the standard narrated by Howard Hood. Ch. Beau-A Black Bomber, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Al Beaumont and Ch. Fordenes Dawn, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ford were present, and a commentary was given on these two outstanding dogs.

The Club had its most successful Sanction Show to date with 160 dogs participating despite the extremely bad weather encountered by us all that week.

Sincere congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hardinge on the arrival of their baby daughter.

Mrs. DeForest Simmons, Chairman of the Membership Committee, welcomes new membership. Write her for forms and particulars at 6363 Kingston Rd., West Hill. Telephone ATlantic 2-0344.

The Simcoe and Obedience Club
(Norfolk County)
by Mrs. Dorothy Mehlenbacher
Fisherville, Ont.

At the April meeting the club decided to run a kennel registry on a trial basis owing to the number of calls received by members enquiring about puppies for sale in specific breeds. We hope to interest new members in the club and perform a service at the same time.

A new Obedience training class commenced on May 3 with Mr. George Mehlenbacher as trainer. These will be outside classes, weather permitting.

Mrs. Florence Westbrook reported on the Obedience Association of Ontario and reminded everyone of the Fun Frolic to be held June 3 at the Ancaster Fair Grounds. The Simcoe Club will again serve lunch as their contribution. She also requested everyone's support for our trophy fund as June 1 has been set as deadline date for advertising and trophies for the premium list.

Owing to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Charter will have a film available in May, their "Tracking" talk was postponed until then, when we hope for a much larger turnout.

Our monthly meeting was held at the Broadview YMCA with President W. H. Glenney presiding. The attendance was overwhelming. A well-known judge has accepted the assignment for our Specialty Show September 23 in conjunction with the Scarborough KC.

Our rummage sale took place May 5.

Renewal: Mrs. Edna Bellisle and Dr. Ellen Brown. Five new members joined: Mrs. Alice M. Pond, 290 Lockport Rd., Youngstown, N.Y.; Mrs. W. H. (Zoe) Broughall, 45 Douglas Cresc., Toronto 5; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Porter, 866 Ribston Rd., Cookstown, Ont. and Mrs. Vera Pasek, Bridgeview P.O., Ont. The latter attended the meeting and was welcomed to the club by the President.

Notes re the TDBA Specialty held March 17 in conjunction with the Sportsmen's Dog Show: a white Toy Poodle puppy, senior male, called Orra Dion, owned and bred by Dr. Ellen Brown, won the Dow Trophy for Best Canadian Bred Toy Dog in Show, bred and owned by a member in good standing of this club. Mr. J. W. MacCallum presented the award. Following the Specialty a beautiful birthday cake was presented as a surprise to Mrs. Charlotte Walker who turned 93 years young the following week. She was also presented with a black leather handbag and basket of flowers on behalf of the TDBA. Mr. Glenney made the presentation.

The club wishes to thank Mr. McIntosh for his splendid work on the trophies along with the ticket sale draw which netted $26.50 for the trophy fund. We would also like to thank Mr. A. Wigg, and Mr. Ed Holdham. Mrs. Edna Bellisle won the TV table with ticket No. 98. Ticket No. 94 is still unclaimed for the twin desk lamp. Would the holder please notify the writer? The Sportsmen's Dog Show informs us our show had the greatest entry of any Booster or Specialty Show this year.

Mrs. Margaret Sheahan is home and progressing slowly. Our Social convener, Mrs. Maud Symons and Mrs. Walker visited her in hospital and presented her with a gift from the club. Mrs. Gladys Jackson is convalescing at home following an operation. We all wish these ladies the very best.

the person or persons guilty of such cruelty be punished. Obviously, the Society would much rather prevent the cruelty even occuring, but this is not always possible.

The overall treatment of animals does not improve with the passing of the years. On the contrary, there is more animal suffering today as a result of new usages of animals than say 50 years ago. As a result, there is a great need for an active, effective Humane Society in each community. Most people lead busy, active lives and are not able to participate personally in every activity they would wish to. The prevention of cruelty to animals however, is one activity which we should all find some means of supporting. This help can take the form of voluntary work or financial assistance. The "Ontario Humane" and its 37 affiliated societies needs your support, both practical and financial. ■

Don't give up the search

by Audrey Gray

Penny rests contentedly at home with members of her family.

"Penny", Sweetheart of Ronas Hill, entered our lives in July, 1959. A lovely ten-month old Collie, she was to be the foundation bitch of the kennel of which I had dreamed since I was first old enough to read Albert Payson Terhune's immortal books. We had recently bought a home in a lovely secluded spot almost completely surrounded by woods, the perfect place to raise dogs.

A little over a month later Penny disappeared. One minute she was playing happily at the edge of the woods, the next minute all that was to be seen was a horse and rider galloping along the trail that cuts through the back of the property, right where Penny had been. Thinking the horse might have startled her I ran right down but there wasn't a sign of her anywhere. We spent the rest of the day searching the woods near the house where she and I had walked every day, but without any luck.

Where do you start to look for a dog in an area where the woods stretch for miles in every direction, with only a few houses along the roads that cut through several miles apart?

When we realized that she really was gone, the first thing we did was contact the kennels in the area thinking she might be attracted by the other dogs. All were most helpful, inquiring around themselves and investigating any unusual noise near their kennels. Of course we advertised and made good use of the local grapevine. We drove around the district going from door to door making inquiries in the most likely places. Within a short time every Collie for miles around had been subject to close inspection by someone.

There were two dogs I got to know pretty well. One was caught and held three times by different people until I could rush over to see it. After the first time the poor "fellow" was very relieved to see me, knowing I would let him go again. The other one was reported to me many times and one kind person even delivered her to me. I'm sure both these dogs would still answer to the name Penny.

PUPPIES FOR SALE

Owner: Mr. & Mrs. H. Libertus, R.R. #2, CLAREMONT, Ont. (Phone: Toronto LE 6-1192 or Claremont 87)

I had read about the work of the Canadian Council for Animal Welfare in Dogs in Canada and contacted them. I am most grateful to Mrs. Chisholm for her interest and encouragement.

The hunting season opened shortly after this and my greatest worry was that she might be hurt and helpless somewhere in the woods. Every day was spent searching the woods until I was sure this wasn't so. During this time so many people were of great help, neighbors, friends, and people I hadn't even known until then. Heather Lovett, daughter of the Lovetts of Ronas Hill Kennels, even came from Ottawa for a weekend to help me look.

About two months after Penny was lost, and everything looked hopeless, Mrs. Lovett offered me a lovely older bitch, Black Donna of Ronas Hill, to replace Penny. Donna quickly took over our household and in June, 1960 she presented me with my first, long-awaited litter. As happy as I was with Donna and her pups, thoughts of Penny still haunted me. If I only knew what had happened to her. Almost another year passed before I heard anything more.

On May 25, 1961 a man who worked with my husband told him about a lovely Collie bitch that lived across the road from his newly purchased home in a town near us. The dog had been a stray, but had been there for quite a long time. Fortunately, this man realized that this wasn't just a local pet and remembered hearing about Penny. I was so excited I was almost afraid to go and see her. Would she remember me or would I recognize her after all this time? I didn't know what to do. Could I take her from a home where she may have been for almost two years or should I forget about it? Nevertheless I had to see if it were she. I made up my mind if she was happy and had a good home I would leave her there and possibly make arrangements to have a litter from her. Such was not the case and the people were quite willing to part with her. The Lovetts had come down that week-end and went out with me. Penny seemed to know us, but was very confused. When we arrived home she was a different dog, happy and demanding attention. She couldn't quite understand why the other dogs were here but was glad to have their company. Penny spent her first evening at home with her head in my lap and what I can only call a smug expression on her face.

What happened to her while she was away is a story we will probably never know. In fact I don't think I want to know what hardships she must have suffered or what happened that made her afraid of men, a fear that she has overcome. It's enough to know that she is happy now. As I watch Penny and Donna both playing with their young litters, Penny's first for me and Donna's last (she is now retired from breeding) I, too, am happy. But I owe all this to the people who, with such understanding, helped and encouraged me when I might have given up in despair. ■

AUDREY LANGFORD

"What Do You Think?" Address queries to Audrey Langford, c/o Dogs in Canada Magazine.

The Ontario Obedience Association is currently discussing the matter of the approval of judges in Obedience and the opinion amongst their member clubs seems to be that they are in full accord with a high standard for judges officiating at Canadian Trials, and that to maintain this standard the CKC should not automatically accept judges approved by AKC (see January Forum). Some suggestions as to what should be done in this matter have been sorted out and are now being taken back to the member clubs for further discussion.

The Ontario Obedience Association consists now of 21 member clubs, each with a representative on its Board of Directors. These clubs are from Fort William in the North to St. Catharines in the South, from Kingston to Sarnia, the East and West boundaries of Ontario, but they know that this is a question for all of Canada, not for one area no matter how large. Every thought or angle on this subject is necessary to do it justice. How to get this information is a problem. Perhaps through this publication they can do so.

The following are suggestions under consideration at present:

1. All AKC judges who have previously judged in Canada, with no violations reported against them, be placed on our approved list.

2. All AKC approved judges accepting their first assignment in Canada be required to write our Canadian examinations at the time they are present in Canada to fulfil that assignment. If they receive the required 75%, they then be placed on our approved list with no apprenticing required.

3. All AKC judges with two violations reported against them be suspended as are our Canadian judges.

4. A period of one year be allowed from the time this is enacted before being put into effect.

I feel that if the above suggestions were incorporated by the Board of the CKC in their procedure for approval to judge, Chap. 1, Sub. 2, it would help to maintain our high standard, would not affect our old American friends, nor seriously inconvenience any new ones. Please put your opinion in writing. Is this good or bad in your opinion? Most of all have you some other suggestions as to how this situation can best be handled?

Should a judge penalize a dog that is posed in the Stand For Examination? Please show me why he can't, why he shouldn't and why he doesn't penalize this dog.

Chap. 2, Sec. 6, states ' . . . the handler will stand or pose his dog, give the command and/or signal to "Stay" . . .' My interpretation of this is that the handler is permitted in this exercise to touch his dog. This is something that is not allowed in any other exercise except the "Group Examination". This does not mean that he goes scot free if he poses his dog.

I have heard all and sundry state that you are not judged until after the command to "Stay". I have been guilty of this through faulty education, but now I should like to know where this fairy tale came from. Chap. 3, Sec. 15 states 'The orders for this exercise are "Stand Your Dog For Examination". — The exercise commences with that order. The Regulations and Standards instruct the judge, Chap. 3, Sec. 11, 'that the dog will not be judged after the order "Exercise Finished" but nowhere does it state that the dog will not be judged for even a fraction of a second between the first order for any exercise and the order 'Exercise Finished'.

Chap. 3, Sec. 6 'The Judge shall carry a mental picture of the theoretically perfect performance . . . and shall score each dog against this visualized Standard of perfection, which shall combine the utmost in precision. Each fault or deviation from this standard must be penalized.' According to these instructions, the judge who does not penalize this dog is wrong. The mental picture of perfect Obedience must be the dog who stands on command.

If you must pose your dog, go right ahead, but don't expect as many points as those who have trained their dogs to stand on a command or signal. In the breed ring some breeds are posed in an exaggerated stance in order to present a statuesque picture. In Obedience the dog stands to prove that others may touch him without his showing shyness or resentment so that he is fit to take his place in society. If the top scoring dog of the day had to be posed, and the second place dog didn't, their positions should be reversed for the one that stood on command was better trained and more deserving. The dog that has to be posed will never become an Obedience Trial Champion until he has learned to stand on signal alone, and in the Novice he does not deserve full marks.

In Chap. 3 under '. . . The Standards For Judging Are As Follows . . . The lists of faults are not intended to be complete . . . . A dog which makes none of the errors listed may still fail to qualify . . .'

Thus having ticked off judges, instructors and exhibitors, I hope we will have an avalanche of mail. Address your replies to Obedience Forum, Dogs In Canada.

READERS WRITE

. . . Re your item in the March issue, Chap. 2, Sec. 3. Countless times I have seen a trainer practically drag a dog into position for the next exercise. From the spectator standpoint, this does not look much like an Obedience-trained dog, especially in the Open. If a dog is trained for the heel off leash, he should be obedient enough to be controlled by voice to get into position for the next exercise. If he cannot be, it might look better if he was put on leash.

I do not think anything looks worse than a person bent nearly double leading a small dog around the ring. I think I would look ridiculous with my 6 foot, 200 pound frame leading a 10", 23 pound Corgi around the ring by his collar.

I understand the regulations "guided gently" means guided gently. That is to say, you can pat your dog and say "heel" to get him into position for the next exercise and then set him up. This is where a person with a large dog has an advantage, as he can pat the side of the dog's head to lead him into position. A person with a small dog cannot do this. After all, they are supposed to be Obedience trained and not to perform mere tricks, (Chap. 2, Sec. 1).

I have also noticed in the Utility some trainers will set their dog up by the collar and Chap. 2, Sec. 3 reads "a dog shall not be guided or controlled by the collar at any time."

In my opinion, I think there should be a penalty for excessive use of the collar in the Open and for touching the dog in the Utility, except at the end of each exercise when you can pat or praise your dog.

I would also like to congratulate the Sportsmen's Show Dog Show on the big improvement. It was a pleasure to be there this year. Just a suggestion since I am primarily interested in Obedience. I think it might be an incentive for more people to enter their dogs if there was a second or even third place trophy or prize offered, as persons with fairly obedient dogs will think, what is the use of spending all day at the Sportsmen's Show just on a chance they might get first place, as they can pick up their passing scores at other trials without spending the whole day sitting on a bench.

I must say that I enjoy your magazine and read the Obedience Forum first of all.

. . . Your article "breaking a tie" is a good idea as there is indeed too much inconsistency. One of your columns brought to mind another unfair procedure: the winning of the Highest Scoring Dog of Trial where there are two or more judges. With all due respect to each judge, there are some variances.

Would it not be possible to have the high scoring dog in Novice, Open and Utility to come into the ring and be judged separately by a finalist judge? This would certainly be much fairer in awarding Highest Scoring Dog and also keep ring-

monorchidism and cryptorchidism

Is this on the increase in Collies & Shelties and what should we do about it?

The following is a transcript of a portion of a panel discussion, held by the Montreal and District Branch of the Dominion Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Association, which is of general interest. The panel members were Mrs. Audrey Laurie, Mr. Stewart Reid and Mr. Ron Pitkethly. The panel chairman was Mac Stephens, the president of the club. The views expressed in this discussion are of course the views of the individuals concerned and not an expression of policy on the part of the club.

Stewart Reid: My own observation is that this is on the increase, both in Collies and Shetland Sheepdogs and this is a condition that we will have to watch very, very carefully. I am inclined to believe that it is the most serious problem that faces us. In the old country the Kennel Club won't give an export pedigree without the dog being certified entire. To the other question, it is a question that I don't know how to answer but it seems to me that the axiom of The Kennel Club in refusing to give an export pedigree would seem to point the way in a course of action that we might follow.

This is an inheritable trait, of course, and obviously the quickest action to follow is to breed away from it. This means as breeders we should commit ourselves not to use a stud that is not entire and I think we should also commit ourselves not to use females that to the best of our knowledge were not sired by entire studs. I know you can never tell by looking at a female but insofar as records permit I think we should all agree as breeders not to use this stock. It would be easy if you could isolate the condition and say that it comes from this line or that line but the tragic thing seems to be that it is present in all lines. Some of the top winning strains in the old country are full of it now. It doesn't seem to be attached to any particular line so I guess the only way to rule out the problem is simply not to use the individuals that carry it and if we keep on doing it over a number of generations then, if there is anything in Mendel's Law itself, it will follow that there will be an improvement but it seems to me that it is a problem calling for real discipline on our part. I have made the suggestion that we should suggest to the C.K.C. that no dog that it not entire should be listed in the stud book. This would be pretty drastic if you couldn't register stock from a stud that was not entire and there would be a lot of bad

ALBERTA K. C. centennial

by Wm. Pym

The 100th consecutive dog show of the Alberta Kennel Club of Calgary will be held July 14 and 15. This event will revive pleasant memories of former citizens of the pioneer days when "every person was young," in spirit at least.

The "spirit of Calgary" of this day was established in the main by the pioneers who came to Calgary from all points of the compass with their sporting tendancies expressed in their keen desires for competition with fine horses, dogs and guns, and field sports in general. Thus it was that a Western gentleman could be distinguished by the calibre of the horse and dog he possessed. His "past" was no person's business and enquiries were taboo.

About the year 1905, it was deemed advantageous to establish a governing body to control field trials and dog shows. The late W. N. Gibson, then Secretary of the Calgary Industrial Exhibition (prior to the current type Stampede) was established as Secretary of the newly formed Alberta Kennel Club, a position he held for many, many years with such prominent citizens as E. D. Adams, Admiral Dewey and others of their type occupying the office of President. It is significant to note that when the architect planned the Exhibition Building layout, the dog show building was situated immediately within the 17th Avenue main gate to the Exhibition Grounds. This prominent position was the venue for dog shows for many years.

It may be fair to say that when Calgary-owned pacing horse "Harold H" returned to his home barn after winning many prominent and rich stakes on the Grand Circuit for harness race horses, and that sporting man Johnny Reid promoted a special pullman train to carry the sports from Calgary to Reno, Nev. for the Jeffries-Johnson fight of July 1910, many Calgary dog fanciers cast a competitive eye far afield. So it was not considered extraordinary for Calgary-owned dogs to compete at Ontario shows as well as Detroit, Chigago and New York. The western circuits of the United States such as Minneapolis to Spokane, Seattle to San Francisco, often incurred five-day railway trips by train which were taken in stride.

Those great "kings of mirth", Kynoch and Fletcher, attended all Western shows with an average of 50 dogs of various breeds. Their mode of travel in those days was by railway freight car with tiered kennels within. To be en route two months at a stretch was not unusual for these knights of the road. Dog shows were of the three and four day variety with a laugh a minute and no tears—win, lose or draw.

Publicity derived from these foreign dog show trips contributed greatly to putting Calgary on the sporting map and the City Council was quick to appreciate the excellent publicity that was coming to our "Cow Town" of 65,000 population. In due time the three daily newspapers, the Albertan, Herald, and News Telegram, established full page dog departments for their Saturday editions. Littleburys Magazine, then published in Calgary, also had an extensive dog department in every issue.

Members of the clergy, judiciary, business and professional men, ranchers, and every day "joe's" who were dog fanciers, were not averse to a bit of humor and took delight in taunting Eastern fanciers with the suggestion that they should cease bragging about their Eastern wins back home and to come to the Calgary shows and show us what they could do in the West, under the world's best judges of the day such as the original Theo Marples, Sam Crabtree, Jack Holgate and Bailey Dalgleish from the Old Country, and the English-Americans such as the great James J. Mortimer, George S. Thomas, Alf Delmont, Walter Reeves, George Cranfield, Walter Harris and Billy Livesy. Strange as it may appear the gag worked and many sporting men from Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton and Buffalo came West with their dogs. Some returned to Calgary and made an excellent contribution to developing the young cities and the province of Alberta.

May I repeat the advice given to me while in the East more than a half century ago—"go west, young man, see Calgary first and you will never regret it." So, to you good folks of the East, may I suggest that you attend the 100th Dog Show of the Alberta Kennel Club and bring your smiles with you. You will have fun, believe me. ■ feelings I know, but I feel this is a problem that needs drastic steps.

Andrey Laurie: I agree this is a problem that is on the increase. I know that in most of the so-called popular breeds it is certainly more and more evident that it is increasing. Now as far as export certificates from the U.K. being withheld, this isn't going to help matters much as a lot of the animals being imported are at an age of two or three months — in which case I doubt if they could withhold export certificates. I think the biggest thing is making it a disqualifying factor for show and I think this is going to be a major deterrent. Of course, it is a thing that affects only serious breeders and exhibitors. It doesn't influence the pet market as much as hip dysplasia. A dog not entire is as good a pet as one that is, whereas with hip dysplasia you have a cripple on your hands that may have to be destroyed. I don't think many people buying puppies even know such conditions exist. I might point out that the first time the dog goes to a vet, it will be pointed out. I don't know really what we can do about it except through education as you say the breeders themselves are very foolish if they use such a dog at stud or a female that produces monorchid animals. I don't think there is any way you can curtail it by withholding registration. Puppies are registered at an age too soon to tell in many cases and I don't know how many people are going to write in when the dogs mature.

Stewart Reid: I am only suggesting withholding registration of puppies sired by dogs not entire. more on page 68 breeding program. I find it hard to tolerate imperfections here. It is here too, that Canadian Collies are most definitely behind their American cousins. Unlike the Canadian Shetland Sheepdog, who not only holds his own but is to be compared with the best of the American Shelties being shown, the Canadian Collie needs much more breeding attention to head qualities. I sincerely believe that the reason for this dilemma is the fact that at so many of our dog shows in Canada the Collie is shown under all-round judges who are quick to recognize the body structural faults and do not evaluate for good or bad the head qualities and lack of quality.

The key work in judging the Collie is proportion. There are no set rules for how long this should be or how wide that should be; each part is in proportion to the other and to the whole. In our Collie Standard it is stated, "The head properties are of great importance." First we must remember that Collie head is inclined to lightness and never appears massive or heavy. Both in front and profile the head bears a general resemblance to a well blunted, lean wedge. In profile the back skull and muzzle lie in two parallel straight planes of equal length, divided by a very slight stop or break. Midway between is the centre of balance in length of head. Here is placed the inside corner of the eyes. The back skull is flat and should not recede either laterally or backward. The width of the back skull should never be greater than its length. The muzzle should be full, well rounded, blunt on the end but not square and the teeth should meet in a scissors bite. Because of the combination of the flat skull, the arched eyebrow, the slight stop and the rounded muzzle, the foreface must be chiselled to form a receptacle for the eyes and they are placed obliquely to give the required forward look. Except for blue merles they must be matched in color, almond shaped and never appear large or round. Blue merles may have either or both eyes merle or china in color without penalty but other colors must have a dark brown eye. They must have a bright appearance expressing intelligence and inquisitiveness, particularly when the ears are drawn up and the dog is on the alert.

The ears are in proportion to the size of the head and are seldom too small if they break naturally. When alert they are drawn well up on the back skull and carried three-quarters erect with about one-fourth of the ear tipping.

Much attention and evaluation should be given the head qualities of our breed. It is without question the most difficult to know, the most difficult to breed to conformity and the most valuable asset to have in your line. The Standard says "Because of the importance of the head characteristics, prominent head faults are very severely penalized". Are they in Canada? Also regarding eye expression the standard says, "Eye faults are heavily penalized". On expression it says also, "Expression is one of the most important points in considering the relative value of Collies".

In view of this, how can we as breeders overlook the importance of type? How can we as breeders improve the judging of our breed so that our Collies can compete successfully with their American counterparts. It is my opinion that it is up to the Collie clubs, and the breeders as members, to strive for better officiating at the Canadian shows so that the breeding stock with the prefix Champion is of the type we want to perpetuate our breed and not merely glorified working dogs.

In Canada we are blessed with a large group of young all-round judges anxious to do a creditable job. If the breed clubs were to send educational information on the importance of some of the neglected features of the Collie with excerpts from the Standard, we would be well on our way to seeing a vast improvement in our breed here in Canada. Over the years Canadian Collies have been much sounder, better moving dogs than their American counterparts, and this too has been the direct result of so many of our shows being judged by all-rounders. I am confident we can produce a typier Collie without losing the soundness when our Canadian judges require more head quality for the Championship points. ■

From those days to the post-war days – first and foremost was undoubtedly my own Ch. Nunsoe His Grace, bred down from "Le Duc". His litter sister was Ch. Nunsoe The Pin Up Girl, a really superb silver. Later followed Ch. Solo Symphony, another superb silver, all these line bred to "His Grace". Ch. Vulcan Champagne Spinach, another bred back to "Nunsoe" and "His Grace", was a lovely silver with a glorious head. Ch. Vulcan Champagne Dijon, Ch. Vulcan Champagne Spear, both whites and again both direct from "His Grace". Then we had in England that truly great bitch, Ch. Frenches Honeysuckle, the apricot with wonderful balance. It was, I always thought, a tragedy that this lovely Poodle left England, leaving none of her progeny behind to carry on. These were the "greats", real "greats" who have left an impression that can still be seen today. Dogs or bitches who do this are the true "greats" of any breed, but to my mind the "greatest standard" yet seen has only now arrived. I refer to that superlative black, Ch. Vulcan Champagne Sambo. This dog will indeed live on for all time as one of the top "greats" along with those of other breeds. Without doubt he can be listed with the "Top Five" of all breeds in England today, and furthermore, I would not place him fifth! In this dog, breeders have the ideal Standard Poodle to aim for, as I am convinced that – of all the great standards that England has produced, none can truly compare with "Sambo" if an honest and unbiased opinion is passed upon him.

Taken point by point with the breed Standard there are few dogs in any breed who can so truly and closely conform – point by point, with the Standard. I do not believe that there is a perfect dog in any breed, a few have come very close to perfection. I call to mind some of them. My own Ch. Athos, the Bullmastiff, Ch. Red Flag, the Smooth Fox Terrier of the early thirties, Ch. Banchory Bob, the celebrated Labrador who belonged to the late Lorna, Countess Howe, and Mr. H. L. Gill's sensational Wire fox Terrier, Ch. Crackwyn Cockspur (Dogs, April, 1962), so superbly handled to Supreme Best in Show at Crufts this year by that "artist", Mr. Bob Barlow. All these and a few more are the "All Time Greats" of their breeds who never die in the memory.

It is amongst these that I gladly place Ch. Vulcan Champagne Sambo, who is not yet three years old. He was bred by the Hon. Mrs. Inoides and Miss Shirley Walne of "Vulcan" fame and came to the late Mrs. 'Jo' Weber at the early age of four months. He started with a brilliant career under Miss Loughrey and I was given the great joy to judge him at eight months of age and bring him through to Best of Breed. After Mrs. Weber's death in 1960 he passed into the ownership of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jobson. Mrs. Weber left him to them in the knowledge that he would never again change hands, and they have brought him through to his very worthy title. Apart from this great beauty he is a dog with quite a remarkable intelligence and memory for such a young dog. Mrs. Weber left a small son of 11 years who has known Sambo from the day he arrived with her, and there exists the most extraordinary bond between them to this day. The boy, now 13 and away at school, sees "Sambo" perhaps twice a year but the devotion never wanes or changes.

Next year I have been invited to judge Toy Poodles at Crufts which I am looking forward to doing. The Toy Poodle has come a long way in the past two or three years and has made enormous strides and while I can only go on photographic evidence, I am inclined to think that the best Toys may be in the United States. The photographs give me this impression and that their coats certainly balance with the dogs. Photographs, however, can be deceptive. Actually many of our English Toy Poodles have very good coat texture and also great density, and in the main, very firm strong coats. In action they have improved in an amazing way and considering the time that they have been going great credit is due to the Toy Poodle breeders for the betterment they have brought to the breed.

Many of our Toys can certainly hold their own with the Miniatures but, and here again I rely on photographic evidence, I have yet to see a miniature who can compare with Col. Fergusson's brown Miniature Int. Ch. Cappoquin Bon Jongleur, who, I feel, is a miniature edition of Ch. Vulcan Champagne Sambo. This Miniature is a dog I have always wanted to see "in the flesh". He seems to have that perfect balance so essential in any sized Poodle. Before I close these notes I would like to thank Dogs in Canada for inviting me to write for them. It has been a task I have enjoyed and have so much appreciated. "Dogs in Canada" is sent to me regularly and I do so enjoy reading it and await each copy with the greatest interest. ∎

FOR SALE:

A superb Silver Standard bitch, aged 14 months, who can if desired, be mated to Champion V.C. Sambo with no increase in purchase price. She is full sister to "Nunsoe Queens Council" and "Nunsoe Royal Romance", both big winners and now owned by the Vulcan Kennels. N.Q.C. being still unbeaten. She is also half sister to that great winning bitch "Nunsoe the Black Mantilla", owned by Bill Jobson, who is by Ch. Sambo and out of the same dam "Nunsoe Somebody's Sweetheart" who is one of the only three living bitches (2 in the U.S.A. and 1 in England) who are directly bred down (by the Nunsoe method used for line breeding) from the great "Nunsoe His Grace" and carry the bloodline of Nunsoe over 40 years standing.

There will be three puppies available only at the end of June out of "Nunsoe Somebody's Sweetheart" by an outcross carrying the "Champion N. His Grace" bloodline. Owing to the demand for this line, which is strictly limited, applications for reservations must be made early.

Intending purchasers please note: Only guaranteed "Nunsoe" bloodlines can be acquired by direct contact with Miss Lane, who controls this.

Blacks, Whites, Browns and Silvers are the colours obtainable and that are bred from pure coloured bloodlines.

"Okay, any more?" I asked.

"Well let's take a look at Mr. A. and Mr. B. Both have good dogs. Both are regular exhibitors. Both have approval to judge. So Mr. A. is judging in a certain city. Mr. B. sends his top dog to be shown under Mr. A. who is officiating a thousand miles away. Mr. A. carries the dog through to Best in Show.

"A few weeks later Mr. B is judging the group in which Mr. A normally exhibits. Mr. A. shows under him. And this time Mr. A. and his dog win the group. What's the public reaction?"

I agreed it wouldn't be good.

"Are you saying these things actually happen?" I suggested "And are you saying they get away with it?"

The Old Timer grinned.

"I said they were just supposings," he said "and I also said no names, no pack drill. Whether they happened or whether they didn't they do illustrate the dangers of people acting as both judges and exhibitors. There is, of course, no legislation that bars a person playing both roles—and I don't think there should be, for many of our finest Canadian judges are exhibitors as well. But I do believe that when an exhibitor applies for approval to judge he should accept an unwritten obligation—an obligation to do nothing that can be construed as even hinting at a lack of integrity on the part of the judges. You can't legislate against it, of course. But as I said earlier, it's got to be a matter between a man and his own conscience. And in most cases I still think the conscience is okay." ∎

FROM THE EDITOR

. . . unless the handler is well protected by insurance and can afford to be offhand about such an exigency.

Dogs consulted several insurance companies as to available coverage.

The owner could protect himself through livestock insurance. The value set on the life of the dog would have to be on a properly established amount. A local general insurance agent would refer the application to Lloyds of London. This type insurance, however, can be fairly expensive. Coverage for the handlers could be in the form of an all-risk policy based on the maximum estimated value of dogs in his care at any time. Your agent will not likely feel free to quote rates, but instead, would pass on the enquiry to Lloyds' brokers in London who, in turn, would take it up with Lloyds' head office and the reply would come back via the same route. It might be well worth investigating. ∎

BEST OF VARIETY

It's a Dog's Life

One of our Samoyed stud dogs was resting beside me after his labors. I reached down, patted him and said, "Well, Kim, how many puppies is Kwina going to have?" He looked up, beamed at me his great smile and wagged his tail.

"Will she have one?" I asked. He barked. "Two?" He barked again. "Three?" another bark. "Four?" He barked. "Five? Six? Seven?" Another bark. "Eight?" No response.

Sixty-three days later Kwina presented us with – you've guessed it – seven puppies."

Dr. Doris Tremeer,
Bowmanville, Ont.

The customer asked the breeder the price of a particular Miniature Poodle. "$200," was the reply.

"What's his name?" asked the man. "That one is 'Perhaps.'"

"Perhaps!" he replied. "When I pay $200 for a Poodle I want to be sure!"

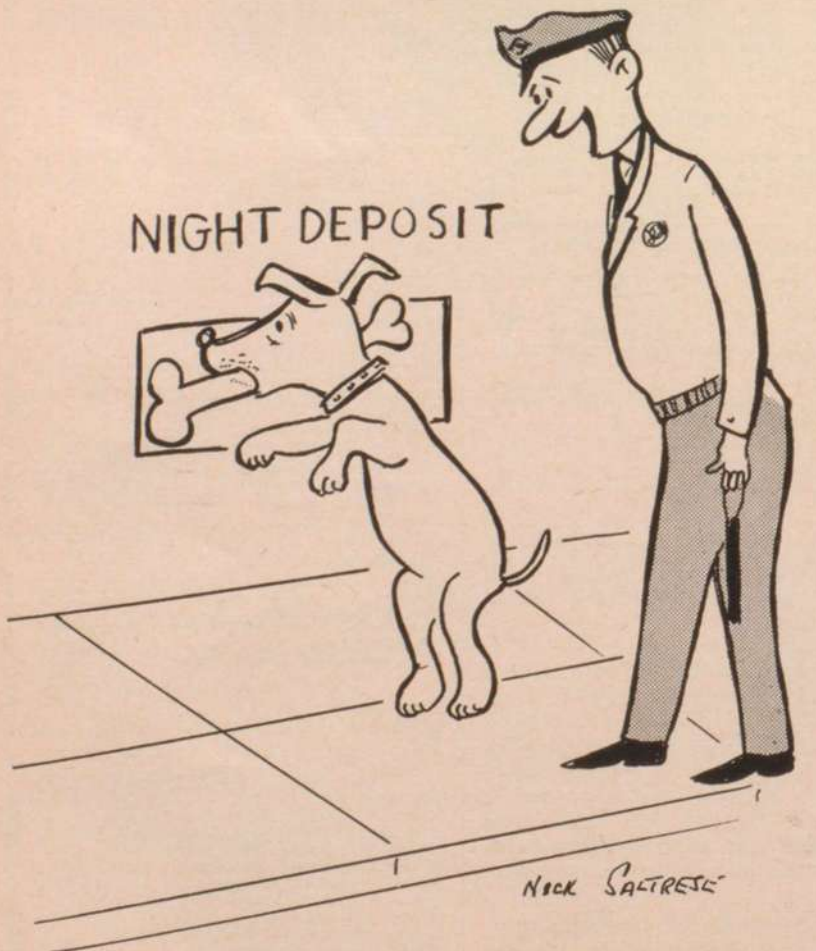

The policeman pulled up beside the speeding car.

"Where are you going in such a hurry?" he asked.

"I'm sick," explained the driver.

The cop took a closer look. "Sick? That looks like a dozen different dog show catalogues on the seat."

"Yes," agreed the driver. "And if you don't call that a sickness!

"Why can't you make your deposits during banking hours?"

Monorchidism and Cryptorchidism

Andrey Laurie: Then you are putting the onus on the honesty of the breeder.

Stewart Reid: I am suggesting that we should agree not to use them.

Andrey Laurie: I agree there. I think your problem is not going to come from this group or similar groups but from people who just don't care and the C.K.C. is taking the first step by making it a disqualifying show factor.

Ron Pitkethley: I agree with you both. The only thing back of my mind is whether this is really hereditary or whether something comes from Strontium 90 in the air or something along those lines but we didn't seem to hear so much about this up until just recently, or in recent years. Actually I don't know whether this is a hereditary problem or not.

Mac Stephens: Stewart has made some recommendations. However, in his original script he came out a little more positively than he did in his comments here tonight. He had two possible suggestions – that the C.K.C. require for registration of litter, a declaration from the owner of the sire stating that the stud is entire – and might even require that the owner of the dam make declaration that to the best of his knowldege the sire of the dam is similarly guaranteed entire. Now there is a certain amount of open thought on the part of geneticists that this characteristic is transmitted from female to male like haemophalia. I think that it is worth some thought, not only among this group but among other groups in the country, not only in our breeds but in all breeds. There is a great deal of reluctance on the part of all dog people to raise questions that might cast shadows on their own breeds, thereby making it difficult to sell their own puppies.

From the Floor: I think some more thought and money should be spent on the cause of monorchidism and cryptorchidism. Why has it become so prevalent? If it wasn't years ago, why not? Are people looking for it more now? Maybe they weren't paying much attention then.

Mac Stephens: I think you have hit the nail on the head. I remember seeing a lot of monorchids around when I was a small boy. I noticed that it was common to dogs and not to horses.

Stewart Reid: It is true that the geneticists are honestly puzzled by the growing incidence but I think it is also true that the incidence is growing and not just the observation of same.

NOTE:

The English Kennel Club policy with regard to export pedigrees is to require a veterinary certificate that the dog is entire, or if it is being exported as a young puppy to require a letter from the purchaser stating that he knows that the dog is not entire at the time of export. ■
