Dorcourt is a small, comparatively young kennel dedicated solely to the breeding and showing of fine quality Toy Poodles.

Although Doris Courtney had given considerable time to the breeding of Miniature Poodles, it all really began with the acquisition of the beautiful little silver toy female Ch. Tizzy Wizzy of Tyldesley. This lovely little girl proved her worth even as a very young puppy by going Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show and finished easily with a Best Canadian Bred in Show and many Group wins to her credit. However, like all good little showgirls she finally had to relinquish her career for the more serious business of motherhood. One of her gorgeous little daughters, Dorcourt's Toymaker, is presently being campaigned and even at the tender age of six months is showing much of the promise of her famous mother. Toymaker was sired by the well known Ch. (Can. & Am.) Encore's Silver Showman, pictured on the cover. Showman is another addition to Dorcourt and with his beautiful head and excellent conformation it is an indication of an honest endeavour to improve many of the faults found in today's Toy Poodle.

Ch. Lochmanor's Little Caesar is the lovely, typey little black Toy that Mrs. Courtney first saw and fell in love with as a young puppy last year at the Toronto Poodle Specialty. At that time it was said that he would certainly "go places" and proved this by finishing easily in three straight shows. "Caesar" is siring exquisite puppies with beautiful heads and good front angulation. He has just one major to finish in the U.S.

Last but not least is the flashy white Toy Ch. Peke Aboo Frost Man out of Wilber White Swan breeding. Frosty would be well remembered for his outstanding dense coat, very short stocky angulation and gay showy manner in the ring. Frosty was nominated last year as second best Toy Poodle in Canada.

Dorcourt Poodles are bred too for fine disposition. Any weekend during the summer, should you be in the 1000 Island's area of the St. Lawrence River, you might see two or three Poodles aboard the Courtney's yacht "Courtship" where there is even a kennel room aboard. Here they have proven themselves to be most able sailors. ■

recipe for dog biscuits

In your September number you carry a letter from Miss Marjorie Cummings asking for a recipe for making dog biscuits . . . While I cannot qualify as an oldtimer, I do have a recipe . . . (this can be halved for small kennels).

- 6 lbs. whole wheat flour (or half Graham and half whole wheat).
- 1 lb. animal fat, chicken, butter, bacon dripping etc.
- 3 tablespoons salt
- 6 meat extract cubes, or cheese scraps, etc.
- 3 pints of milk or water
- 1 to 2 lbs. ground meat
- 2 eggs, beaten.

Rub fat into flour and salt mixture, add crumbled extract cubes, or cheese, fry ground meat lightly and add (N.B. if fat, some of the rendered fat in the fry pan can be used in place of the 1 lb. animal fat rubbed into flour. Add eggs and liquid, knead.

Roll out $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick for small dogs, up to $\frac{1}{2}$ " thick for large dogs. If over $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick, prick biscuits before cooking to prevent blistering. Cut with knife or cookie cutter to size appropriate to dogs and bake in 300 degree oven on cookie sheets for $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours, turning over once. They will be very hard and brown and will keep in a covered container for over a month. Variations of the above can be had by adding honey, raisins, grated vegetables, etc., to the mixture.

my first show

It was with more than casual interest that I read Juliette Chessor's excellent article "Your First Show", in the September issue . . . only a few months before I had entered my own beloved homegrown first puppy, Bugle Ann, in my first show and had ex-

If you have any suggestions, any comments or constructive criticism to make concerning articles in this magazine, or with regard to shows, your opinion of what is happening to various breeds with regard to size, color, coat, etc., write a brief letter to the Editor. perienced the thrills of winning blue ribbons and BCBP. I, too, had floated on Cloud 9 with proud tears in my eyes. But at this point my story begins to differ. The other Beagle breeders in my area were not "condescending" or "grudging" or "cold". They were warm and friendly and helpful . . . Since then, with the help and encouragement of these wonderful people, Bugle Ann has won many more trophies and awards. But of more importance to me is that I can count as friends these breeders whose hearts are as big as those of the dogs they raise.

most famous min pin

With reference to your article "Most Famous Min Pin" in the September issue . . . With all due respect to the illustrious Ch. Patzie v Mill-Mass, I would like to point out that Ch. Rebel Roc's Casanova v Kurt has tripled her record with 75 All Breed BIS and 142 Groups. "Little Daddy" was the nation's top-winning dog for any breed in the year 1961. He won the top Ken-L Award for 1961 and the Popular Dogs Award for most BIS that year with 28. Also he was the winner of the Quaker Oats Southern Division Award, 1961.

This dog finished his Championship at 8 months of age with a BIS win. Other wins include the Toy Group at Westminster, 1963 and the Chicago International Toy Group for the years 1960, '62 and '63. As of April 7, 1963

he had won 6 Specialties.

"Little Daddy" has sired at least 10 Champions. All three from the second litter are Group winners and two are BIS winners.

Truly, this is a fabulous record and I have only covered it briefly, but I feel it is one for all Min Pin-ers to be proud of for no dog of the breed has ever amassed the fantastic wins that "Little Daddy" has done.

thanks, old timer

. . . After reading the article by the Old Timer and the letter by Sandy Briggs I should like to voice my small opinion . . . I should like to extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to the Old Timer for his comments on Show Secretaries. Obviously he is a man who is well aware of what is done by these people. Having worked on numerous shows both assisting the Secretary and as Show Secretary, I heartily agree with him, in fact I might go further and say that entries have also been received from exhibitors whereby they wish to enter a dog that is not even born, e.g. a dog entered in a show to take place on September 26, 1964 and date of birth given on entry form as December 15, 1964 . . . The Old Timer is quite right when he says exhibitors could lighten the burden. I do hope that now he is back his articles keep coming.

With reference to the letter by Sandy Briggs, I am sure that Miss Briggs has never been a Show Secre-

FROM THE EDITOR

IN a time when, unaccountably, juvenile delinquency appears almost condoned, when destruction of property is not too severely punishable it would seem there is a great lack of self-sufficiency among young people. Two major factors contribute to this state. Children in general have far more money and leisure than their parents ever dreamed of expecting. The imagination of children is not sufficiently called upon. Through a surfeit of video both in education and home life, children are only called upon to watch a screen.

The fact that young "punks" when and if apprehended claim they have nothing to do and actually demand that swimming pools and drag strips be provided for them is alarming.

Those of us who know the joy of owning and raising dogs are fully aware of how this can broaden one's life. Is this treasure being passed on to children?

What has become of children's handling classes at shows? Where are the Junior Kennel Clubs? Through the devotion of a few people on the West Coast and in Ontario such clubs have flourished.

To watch a child or teen-ager handling a dog with skill and assurance, and the closeness between the two, is a beautiful thing to see. Certainly children make mistakes. But who, among adult handlers, has not?

Junior Kennel Clubs across Canada could be a major step toward giving children something to think about, to strive for, to cherish. They would provide an anchor, an incentive toward accomplishment, and right thinking in the form of good sportsmanship. In time such graduates of clubs will be the backbone of the Canadian cream of dogdom. The formation of a Junior Kennel Club in your own community is not at all formidable. Here is a blueprint for consideration.

Suggested age is from eight to 20 years, with competition limited to 16 years of age. Members between 16 and 20 could be valuable in aiding with the younger members, assist with Obedience, train as instructors and learn the requirements of ring stewarding. The Club could be divided with Juniors ranging up to 13 years and Seniors from 13 to 20.

For numerous reasons Junior Kennel Clubs should be sponsored by an All Breed club, with a special committee set up in the adult club to work closely with, but not necessarily rule the Junior Club. The adult club would serve with financial aid as necessary, marking examination tary or assisted as such, otherwise she would well realize that with all the important work that has to be done in such a short time after entries close, there would not be enough time to send out such a detailed judging schedule as she suggests. Any of the shows I have worked on have sent out judging schedules but I wonder if she realizes the amount of work entailed to break down over 400 entries into sex, specials etc. . . . particularly if in addition to the All Breed Show you have three Specialties to contend with which usually means well over 500 dogs to be judged. I am sure the majority of the exhibitors have no idea of the amount of work that must be done between the time the entries close and the time the I.D. cards, judging schedules, ribbon order etc. have to be completed. A period of some five or six days. She mentions what a help this would be to exhibitors and breeders. HOW ABOUT THE EXHIBITORS AND BREEDERS GIVING A LITTLE MORE CONSIDERATION TO THE POOR HARASSED AND OVERWORKED SHOW SECRETARIES.

it does pay to advertise

Most people say that it pays to advertise, but little did I think that I would hear from Japan since we last advertised in your magazine in June. In the letter, the writer referred twice to Dogs in Canada and was so interested in Duke through his picture that he wanted him there so he could be entered for a show on November 3. But of course we could not part with Duke. I also received a letter from Mexico about a month ago regarding puppies and was quite surprised over that. Perhaps this is no surprise to you but I was amazed when I realized how far Dog in Canada travels. Keep up the good work.

the catheter method

. . . Recently an American dog magazine printed an article on feeding puppies by the Catheter method (tube through the mouth to the stomach).

May I offer a word of warning and advice on using this excellent method of feeding pups. The little puppy we inadvertently killed through ignorance, may not have lost his life in vain if we can help others.

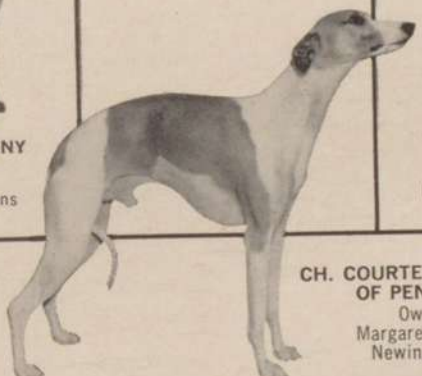

The catheter tube slips down easily and if, as in our case, the pup is premature and very small, no noticeable protest arises if the tube is mistakenly put into the windpipe.

First, once the tube is inserted listen down the free end. If breathing can be heard up the tube remove and start again.

Secondly, and most important. Do not feed if the pup is screaming. In this case the windpipe is wide open.

a very good question!

... I am a newcomer to showing dogs and am confused by certain aspects. It was my understanding that every purebred dog must conform to a certain standard. . . . One day, one judge puts up a certain dog BB and the very next day another judge doesn't even give that dog a fourth ribbon. Surely the dog couldn't have lost its qualities in one day! I have seen this happen where the same dogs are shown on both days and am at a loss to understand why. . . . I would think if all dogs had to conform to the standard of their breed to win, it would give breeders the incentive to up-breed to that standard. . . . I vote in favour of benched shows, the one day variety.

In July I sent you an item of news which I headed "International Affairs", concerning the titles gained by three generations of Colonsay Dalmatians in three months in three different countries, with the youngest, now in Canada, leading the field from his sire and grandsire.

In rewriting this news item, which you printed on page 56 of the September Dogs in Canada, you headed it "Three Generations, Three Championships, Two Countries" and mentioned the grandsire, Ch. Colonsay Red Handed Simon, as having gained his title in England. He got his Championship in India, hence the International flavour and the much more interesting groups of threes.

Down On Dog Peddlers

Provincial legislation in Ontario has been urged by the Toronto Board of Control which would require the licensing of all persons who raise dogs for experimental purposes.

Stated Con. William Dennison: "We should back the Ontario Humane Society completely in order to stop that barbarous treatment of dogs by these peddlers.

"We license pawnbrokers — why shouldn't we do the same for these fellows?" opined Con. Lamport, who also suggested that dogs raised for scientific experiment be catalogued. "And then maybe we can have these fellows hauled into court when they mistreat the dogs."

The Old Timer was thumbing through a number of dog show catalogues when I came into the kennel office.

"It's been a big year," he said. "Nearly every show in the country with a substantial increase in entries. Some outstanding new dogs making their bow in the ring. Definite trends in the popularity of the breeds and judging by the frequency with which the same dogs have been in the ribbons a reasonable degree of consistency in judging."

"So you're happy?" I suggested. "Reasonably. As I say, from the show standard 1964 has been a good year but now that the majority of the shows are over it's time to do a little planning for 1965."

"Any ideas?" I asked. The Old Timer reached for his pipe. That, of course meant that he wasn't going to come up with anything right away so I headed for the kennels to take a look at a litter of three-month-old puppies he'd been bragging about. When I returned he was leaning back in his chair and the blue smoke curling up from the bowl of his brier indicated he had it lighted to his satisfaction. So I sat.

"Yes," he said "I've got one idea. I'd like to see more sanction shows. I see no reason at all why dog show activities should close down more or less in the winter months. I'd like to see every club in the more heavily populated areas hold at least one sanction show during the winter and two or three for clubs in more remote areas would not be too many."

"Why the sudden interest?" I asked. "It's not sudden because I've always believed in them but lately I've been doing a little more thinking and to me they have very real value."

"For instance?" I asked. "You've been out looking at that litter of puppies," he said. "There are a couple there that I think have real promise. I'd like to show them next year. But I don't want any of them to make their bow at a championship show. When I take them out when the chips are down I want them to be ring-wise. I want to know just how they are likely to go. What better place to give them this education than a sanction show? The entry fee is low and if I can get them to two or three sanction shows before the point shows are under way they should go into the ring acting at least as though they'd been in a ring before.

"Then there's that puppy I had out a couple of times at the late shows. He'll be ready for the Open Class when the shows get underway next March — ready as far as development goes, that is. But will he be ready as far as ring manners are concerned? If I can get him to enough sanction shows he will be when the points are up for grabs.

"Then, too, I'm thinking about the new owners — people who have never shown a dog in their lives. They too need experience. Aren't they likely to be discouraged if their first time out is at a championship show with the fast, experienced competition they'll be up against there? But give them a few sanction shows under their belts and they'll lose much of their nervousness and self-consciousness."

"Anything else?" I prodded. "Yes, one thing more and this I think as important as any for sanction shows. We in Canada badly need judges. The all rounders are getting older and older. There are mighty few new, young judges coming on. Few new judges with more than a couple of breeds were approved in 1964. It looks to me that in a few years the judging situation is going to become critical unless more new, young judges are brought along. And what better training ground than the sanction show?"

"I don't like dictation. I think too many rules can spoil the dog game. But there are many, many kennel clubs in Canada that hold championship shows only. I think they are overlooking a bet and I think too, they are not making the contribution they should. Would it be too much, I wonder, to insist that any kennel club holding championship shows include at least one sanction show in its yearly activities. Perhaps this would be a case where the end would justify the means. I don't know — I just wonder."

OBEDIENCE

Ed. O'Brien, Canfield, Ont., is well-known as Canada's leading professional trainer of dogs in Obedience work. He is a licensed Judge, one of Canada's first. He began his career in the West, training dogs for herding and other farm work. Since moving to Ontario he has specialized in training dogs for police and guard work and for disabled people. Mr. O'Brien also breeds German Shepherds and Doberman

THIS AND THAT

The other day, as I watched my son crossing a field with some of Edlyn's "students", I was struck by the number of different breeds in the group: the number would likely have been doubled had all the dogs in the kennel been out at that time. As it was, Pat had with him two Labradors, a Golden Retriever, an Irish Setter, a German Short-Haired Pointer, a Doberman Pinscher and four German Shepherds. One of the Labradors, the Pointer and the Setter are being trained for field work, and two of the Shepherds for guard duty. The benefits of obedience training as a basis for more advanced work was brought home to me as I watched this group of dogs — all but two of whom were from different homes — going along peacefully together. They were ranging freely, yet always under control and it was not necessary to use the leash with even one of them. They were obviously relling in their freedom, as good dogs should.

Sometimes I think that one of the greatest benefits from obedience training, in a training kennel or an obedience class, is that each dog must learn to get along well with all the other dogs. No one wants a dog that lacks the courage to defend himself but on the other hand, a quarrelsome dog is a nuisance and a danger. Getting along well in a group doesn't come naturally to all dogs: they must, like children, be taught to work and play together.

The many different breeds of dogs now taking part in Obedience Trials is most interesting. They range in size from the smallest to the largest. Right now I would like to compliment the handlers of two of these dogs, one a massive Great Dane, the other a tiny Yorkshire Terrier. They have each done a wonderful job in recent trials. Mrs. Sean McCullough's Dane has now, I believe, completed its CDX work, and Mr. Harry Wilkinson will no doubt have finished Mrs. Wilkinson's Yorkshire Terrier in Utility by the time this column is published. A lot of credit is due to these two Hamilton people.

Congratulations also go from us to the Drill Team and their dogs from the North York Obedience Club who at the Trial held at the Canadian National Exhibition, went through a series of twists and turns so rapid and gracefully that admiration was expressed by all onlookers. Here was a demonstration of heeling de so take a bow, ladies, and the one gentleman.

We have again received several letters from handlers who object to tongs being used in the Scent Discrimination Exercise. The writers have a good point when they state that mention of tongs appears in the Regulations and Standards for Obedience Trials. One cannot but feel that the purpose of the exercise is being defeated when the only article with scent is the one that the handler is touched. As one writer puts it: "There is no discrimination where there is choice of scents." He also feels that where only one article has been touched, the dog would bring the article, regardless of who handled it.

Another writer would like to know why there is not more exchanging of obedience judges between the different provinces in Canada. He points out that bench judges cover practically all of the country, and particularly stresses the fact that obedience judges from other provinces are seldom invited to judge Ontario trials. An active member of one of our obedience clubs was of the opinion that the extra cost was the major factor. I doubt if this is the whole explanation but even if this is part of it, I feel that more thought should be given to this matter. In Ontario we have several clubs in a financial position to bring in outside Canadian judges and if we are interested in promoting obedience in all of Canada this would be a good boost in the right direction.

A couple of years ago I judged an obedience trial in Port Arthur together with a judge from Saskatchewan and one from Manitoba. The three of us had a wonderful time comparing provincial notes on obedience and learning from each other. Do think it over, you clubs with the big bank rolls.

BEAGLES

IN THE FIELD

The second in a series by Joe Tiede. Who is he? Beaglers know him best by his big booming voice, his rollicking laugh and personality merry as the Beagles he knows so well. He is one of Canada's top working Beagle men and a Beagle Field Trial judge, and for many years representative for Beagles for The Canadian Kennel Club.

BREED IMPROVEMENT

The kick, from the breeder's standpoint, is against the present methods of judging and I'll tell you the reason why. You have a Field Champion and he is a specialist in running a rabbit a certain way. I have a female that is a specialist in running a rabbit her way. I have never seen your dog work and there are a few faults I'm anxious to breed out of my female and I am convinced these were inherited. You live several hundred miles from me. Am I supposed to make the trip there to see your hound run, or would you be condescending enough to bring your hound to me and let me see him work? You say neither, he is a Field Champion of such and such bloodlines and was placed under Judges Whose It, and Missfit and Carenot, the foremost in the game. He is the best rabbit hound in the land and neither man or gun-shy and is siring winners from the most widely varied bloodlines, in fact he is very prepotent in this respect. The stud fee is so many dollars and paid at time of service, no puppy proposition to anyone. I say hold on just a minute; my female is a Field Champion of the same basis of breeding and the best in the land; and was placed at the leading trials under Judges Why, Where and How, but I know she has a few faults that I do not wish to perpetuate and I attribute these to heredity. Of course your Field Champion hasn't any faults, never had any, etc. Do you see where this leads to? Just a lot of apple-sauce. I may mate to the stallion hound in particular and get a corking litter or I may get a lot of mutts. There was not any degree of sound principles involved. Just because these were two good rabbit hounds they were brought together for reproduction.

On the other hand, should the scoring system be in effect you would have something like this to say: This hound was run at six trials under Judges Where, When, How, Who, Why and Which, being placed four times and two times unplaced. Am enclosing the score card and how each of these judges scored him. I appreciate it is just as important for you as a breeder to know the way he ran when not placed. Now I have something very constructive to work on and in order to make an intelligent mating I only need be unbiased in scoring my female and have an idea what to expect. Of course, we now come to whether all qualities, good and bad, were inherited or acquired. The present method of judging leaves it all to guess work. However, under the scoring system and a process of isolating dominant or recessive units we would, in a course of years, know for a fact what the prepotency of any particular stallion or female had the exact factors in which they were prepotent. Likewise we could select sires that we know to be prepotent in the qualities our females lacked.

A few days ago I had a gentleman, whom I hold in very high esteem, call on me and on going over the hounds in the kennel enquired if I had any of champion So and So blood. I told him I did and had a couple of youngsters in the kennel at that time that had several crosses of this blood, both on the sire and the dam line of breeding. He said he wanted it just as close up as possible. When I asked him the reason why, his reply was it was good stuff. Pardon me gentlemen for using a personal reference. It was done to illustrate a point. Here it is: If there is anything to present-day breeding, should not these youngsters carrying several crosses of this blood be better bred individuals than the old champion who he wanted close up? This particular champion has been dead for about 20 years. As matters stand, this old beagler did not think so. He wanted the blood a whole lot closer up than a great granddaughter. This is the biggest shock of all. I conclude that we, as fanciers, are looking further behind than we are ahead. Our only method of an estimate for the future is experience garnered from the past. On the other hand, if you saw a man walking on the street who continually looked backwards and finally stubbed his toe and fell you would laugh and say "The darn fool should have been looking where he was going." That is just what is happening in the Beagle fancy today. Don't take the extreme of this and think I mean that we are all doing it. However, a large proportion of us are.

There are a few things that I know can be bred into our breed. These are type and early maturity. All I need do is point to the field trial hound of today and ten years ago, and also to the spring derby run several years ago. The quality of the competing hounds of those days and what we expect of a spring derby today. I must take my hat off to some Beaglers, they have helped us to make progress in early maturity. Our standards have been set higher and we have made progress in these respects.

Now we are ripe for further progress. Were the famous hunting hounds of history prepotent in passing the hunting instinct to their young? If so, then where did these famous champions get their prepotency? Have the famous show hounds taken this instinct out of the breed? If so, where did they lose their hunting instinct? Assuming, of course, that all Beagles sprang from a common source. Now, if you name several well known champions prepotent in passing the hunting instinct to their young, then may I ask in what way were they prepotent? In siring good searchers and good trailers, or good searchers and not so good trailers, or just good tailing hounds? How did their young compare with the standard of the breed? Whichever way you answer it, prove it. On the other hand, I'll ask again, was this hunting instinct or acquired habit?

Don't laugh, but our neighbours have a black dog of the Heinz variety that can be measured into the 15" class and he will give any Beagle Field Champion the toughest competition of his life in a day's hunt, both in finding rabbits and running them after they are up. He is an open trailer of the yip-yip order. However, you can hear him and he is every inch a good gun dog, in fact one of the best all-round rabbit dogs I have ever seen. Now tell me, was this habit in him acquired, or is it hunting instinct? If the former, I surely wish more Beagles would acquire it and if the latter I'd like to use him as a sire.

All these questions lead us to one thing. We know these Field Champions were rabbit hounds. No one knows for a certainty in what respect they were prepotent, for the judges that made them champions left us only one record and that is that they thought them the best rabbit hound of the classes the days they placed them first. We haven't any record of how they ran the days they were not placed. We haven't any breeding record of the number of females they served, and the number of young they got, or the quality of the females served them. The present method of writing field trials takes away even the records of the number to get started. Again in what respect were the famous typed hounds lacking in passing on the hunting instinct? Is it because their young were held by a certain few that did not "Choose to run" at field trials? Or is it because a good youngster from a so-called show breeding usually brings more money than one from strictly field breeding and the purchasers of the

HUMANELY "SPEAKING"

BY TOM HUGHES
50 Maitland St., Toronto 5, Ont.

The General Manager of the Ontario Humane Society discusses "Cruelty on the ice".

Forgive me if I talk about seals rather than dogs but I must take the opportunity to ask for the help of the dog fanciers for yet another "campaign" by the humane movement in Canada.

I refer to the undoubted cruelty and exploitation imposed each year on the seal herds of the Gulf of St. Lawrence during the annual seal hunt.

To understand the problem it is necessary to go back into the history.

Sealing has long been a traditional means of earning a comparatively large sum of money in a relatively short space of time. To a fisherman who is accustomed to seasonal activity with periods of intense activity followed or interspersed by periods of almost complete idleness, the annual seal hunt is an important event.

When you consider the uncertainty of the fisherman's way of life and his very low standard of living, compared with other Canadians, it is easier to understand why the opportunity presented by the annual sealing expeditions is very attractive. And, it also explains much of the suffering and waste of animal life in sealing.

Sealing takes place in two areas of the North West Atlantic. One area is called the "front". This is literally the front edge of the ice stretching from the Strait of Bell-Isle to Greenland. This area is in International waters and is not subject to any laws that Canada or any other single country can enact or enforce.

The other area is the "Gulf". This stretches from the Strait of Bell-Isle westward along the Gulf of St. Lawrence and includes the Islands in the Gulf!

Under new legislation only just enacted by the Government of Canada this area is now within Canada's jurisdiction for fisheries purposes. Which means very simply that Canada can pass laws that could, at least theoretically, be enforced in that area.

For hundreds of years sealing expeditions have been sent both to the "Front" and to the "Gulf" by the maritime nations of the northern world. Britain, Norway, Denmark, United States and Russia were the countries most involved. The United States and Britain have both dropped out of the picture for different reasons. Canada's maritime provinces, including Newfoundland, have always been very active in sealing. At the present time Russia, Norway, Denmark and Canada are the countries involved in the trade.

It would be the height of wishful thinking to hope that Canada could persuade the nationals of the other countries, particularly Russia, to adopt methods of sealing in international waters that would in any way reduce the size of the catch or would be a radical change from the traditional methods used.

What are the "traditional" methods? First it must be understood that the seal herds have to be found! This presents a problem to a ship which has to cruise along the ice looking for the seals. The ship can only cover so many miles a day under extremely dangerous conditions. Conditions, in fact, which all other mariners will do anything to avoid. The result is that sea-borne sealing has gone on for hundreds of years without seriously depleting the size of the herds. Once found, the herds are attacked with ferocious speed. Unfortunately for the seals this fact also dictates the methods by which the seals are actually taken.

The first method is known as "quintering". This describes a process in which the sealing ship cruises very slowly through loose pack ice. The ship cannot stop for any length of time or it would risk being "frozen in". As the ship passes seals on the ice, men jump over the ship's side onto the ice and force a metal hook into the bodies of seals that have been shot by men on the ship. These seals are then hauled over the ice and into the ship. Some are dead; some are wounded. The wounded are then killed and the seals are pelts. The bodies of the seals are then thrown back over the side where they presumably contribute a source of food to other animals and fish. There is no economic use for the flesh. It cannot be brought back to port since it would occupy space needed for pelts. It is as simple as that.

The other basic procedure is for the sealing ships to heave-to close to the ice and land men by boat. The men open fire with high powered rifles as soon as the herd is in range. Many are not killed but only wounded. Some escape into the water only to die a long, lingering, painful death. A few have to be shot repeatedly before they can be skinned.

But not all the seals are shot. The young cubs weighing up to 100 lbs. are clubbed into unconsciousness by the use of a heavy wooden "gaff" tipped with a metal hook. This is the traditional "gaff" which has been used for centuries by all sealers and without which the sealers would not go out on the ice. It is their life saver. They use the gaff to vault across cracks in the ice; they can use the hook to draw themselves back onto the ice should they happen to go into the water. The gaff is never more than inches away from the sealer's hand.

All authorities agree that the gaff, properly used, is a humane way of rendering a seal cub unconscious.

All authorities agree that it is humane to shoot an adult seal, providing the shooting is accurate.

But of course the sealer is in tremendous hurry. Remember that the ship may have cruised for days without sighting a herd of any size. The weather may break up and an opportunity be lost. Heavy, killing clouds could suddenly close in. Sealing has always been a dangerous occupation. A sealer hoping to make enough money to see him and his family through a long winter and faced with personal danger is not going to be concerned with accuracy or the suffering of the seals. He will have one concern: his personal safety and the number of seals he can kill and pelt, while the opportunity lasts. To ask or require such a man to use a method which is contrary to his overpowering motives is futile. He would ignore a request and it would be almost impossible to enforce such a law. Even if fishery officers accompanied the sealers onto the ice, they might not be effective. The fishery officers would find it impossible to supervise each sealer.

But not all sealing is done from ships. Many seals are taken by men who walk out on the ice from the shore of the mainland of Canada or the Islands in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

A modern development is the air-borne sealer. These men are flown to the ice by light aircraft. Aircraft can search a larger area of ice in one hour than a ship can cover in a day. They are landed on the ice near the seals. The aircraft then ferry the pelts back to the base. The planes make a number of round trips during the day. The last trip picks up the sealers. This type of sealing is more dangerous than any other. During the 1963/64 sealing season a number of sealers and planes were lost.

The airborne sealer does not carry a heavy "gaff" because of the weight limitations of the aircraft. Instead they carry a light metal gaff. This implement cannot be as effective as the traditional weapon. A much larger number of seals will require more than one blow from the gaff before they become unconscious.

Speed is the cause of the cruelty. A sealer is paid on a "commission" basis. It's called a "share" of the catch. The more seal pelts taken the more money he will finally receive when he returns to base. The faster he works the more money he receives. Speed leads to half-gaffed animals that recover consciousness and have to be clubbed again or are skinned alive. Speed leads to wild shooting which wounds but does not kill. Speed leads to a large number of seals being shot which are never recovered.

It is impossible under the present circumstances to legislate against the methods. Shooting of large animals and clubbing of small animals is approved as humane by the Humane Slaughter Regulations of Canada. Millions of animals are slaughtered each year by these methods in slaughter houses throughout Canada. The only answer is to legislate against the circumstances which encourage and even demand speed, at all costs to man and animal.

The answer will not be easy to find. It will not be found until all the various interested groups sit down around a table and thrash the problem out.

The humane movement must be represented at that meeting. Only in this way will the public be confident that the interests of the seals will be properly looked after.

Until this is done the pain, suffering and waste of animal life which is commonplace in all forms of sealing will continue as long as sealing is carried on.

If an effective answer is not, or cannot, be found, then the only solution would be to prohibit the hunting of seals in the "Gulf" entirely. ■

Terriers By What?

Mr. Malcolm Stephens of St. Andrews East, Que., attended the Windsor KC show while visiting England recently. While watching Irish Wolfhounds being judged he overheard two ladies discussing the judging.

"You are, my dear, terriers by temperament, are you not?"

"Oh, no," replied the other promptly. "Terriers by training."

Man to lady in crowded elevator: "Aren't you afraid your little Chihuahua will get crushed?"

"Oh, no," said the lady cheerfully. "He nips ankles."

Capsule Competitions

A television series which will help publicize purebred dogs and give the public an insight on dogs shows has been authorized in England. Under the direction of Miss Jean Lanning, 13 Inter-Town competitions have been blessed by the English Kennel Club. A team of four dogs will meet a similar team of four dogs from another area. A different judge will appear on each program. All dogs must be registered with the Kennel Club and owners must be a member of an all-breed canine club. No CC winners may compete. A guest champion will also appear on each program. Preliminary contests are held to select the teams.

THE THIRD DIMENSION

BY SUSIE-MAE WEIR

WE are all familiar with this idea of perspective in sculpture, for the sculptor must visualize his complete subject in height, width and depth before he puts chisel to stone, but is there such a thing in dogs and, if so, what is it? I believe there is and that it is clearly and accurately defined in Paragraph 7, The Dog in Action, by McDowell Lyon. This third dimension is the key to the understanding of the trotting dog.

Nearly every breed standard calls for balance, and it has become the dubious custom to associate this with proportion between the "profile view" of the dog, i.e. (1) Length of back, or length of body, including as it does the prescribed angles of front and rear assemblies, and (2) Height at the withers or shoulders. Most breed standards also have some reference to proportions" (1) and (2) as described above and width, the (3) dimension. This is the primary factor of the balanced trot, as described on page 91 The Dog in Action and I quote —

"This will be governed by the roundness of the ribs, by the height on the body at which the shoulder assembly is set, and particularly by the shape of the brisket or lower section of the thoracic walls."

"In the back legs the inward angle starts at the stifle or pelvic joint. Much that has been said about the front leg applies here also. The true action must not come from turned-out hocks which thus direct the pad toward the center and apply force at an angle to the line of progress. The leg must retain the JOINT TO PAD MARK, THE LATTER BEING AS CLOSE TO THE VERTICAL CENTER OF GRAVITY AS POSSIBLE."

The accompanying illustrations have been adapted from The Dog in Action and explain more clearly.

In my opinion, therefore, TRUE balance can be obtained only by careful knowledgeable appraisal of the Three Dimensions and my conclusion would be that no judge could possibly give an informed opinion, or breeder make an accurate selection without giving full thought to the Width front and rear, and the Height and Length of any specimen, in accordance with the origin of the breed and the standard to which it conforms. This is particularly true of Poodles in varieties whose standard calls for "Straight forward Trot". I have used gait, either in a paragraph describing it in detail, or by implication when they make reference to the origin of the breed or the category of its inclusion in the respective groups.

True Balance can only be achieved by the full consideration of "profile original straight line as seen from the rear when standing true, with hocks neither in nor out, and it should move in a plane parallel with the line of locomotion. THIS PLANE SHOULD RUN IN A STRAIGHT LINE FROM PELVIC the meaning of the word trot as defined in The Concise Oxford Dictionary — i.e. "to proceed at steady pace faster than walk lifting each diagonal pair of legs alternately with brief intervals during which body is unsupported".

HOW LONG IS LONG?

(Reprinted from Popular Dogs Magazine)

BY MRS. GEORGE W. DOW

IT IS NOT EASY to write a breed "Standard." Anyone who has ever served on a committee to write or revise a Standard will affirm this. Each breeder has a picture in his mind's eye of the perfect example of his breed, but to transcribe that picture into accurate, exact, easily understood words, is an exercise in semantics that would give pause even to trained lexicographers.

We read constantly of the complaints of breeders that "judges never read the breed Standards." We hear ringside comments concerning the diversity of the breed Standard and the dog just chosen as the best approximation to it.

Breed Standards are usually written by committees appointed by the parent club, subsequently submitted for approval to the breeders within that breed and, only then, approved by the AKC. Each breeder has his own particular area of emphasis he considers important. These are the things he feels must be included in any accurate and well-defined description of his breed. A breed Standard could be 30 pages long—and still not cover every point that some breeder, somewhere, would like to have included. It is inevitable, therefore, that they provide only a framework for breeders and judges, and that individual interpretations will vary.

Not too long ago, a popular amusement among groups of dog fanciers gathered for an evening of relaxation was the game of "Guess Which Breed." One of the group would read from the AKC official dog book, deleting the obvious give-aways such as height, weight and color, and the rest of the group would attempt to name the breed. The results were sometimes hilarious. A refinement of this game involved the use of sketch pad and pencil, in an attempt to draw the dog described. How long is a "rather long" tail? How long is a "medium length" body? (And remember the series of drawings by Fred Sitzler in PD in 1951—Editor.) It has been said that most breed standards are written not only to describe the breed but to eulogize it. Thus, the great majority of eyes are "intelligent, alert and full of fire," most breeds have "dignity and reserve."

It is frequently suggested that certain judges be mailed a copy of the breed standard of various breeds (with the obvious inference that he has never before read it, or has read it so long ago he has forgotten it).

Our revised Poodle Standard has been in effect since 1959. There is no mention of ears being long enough to reach the tip of the nose when drawn forward. (My personal opinion is that noses have gotten so long the ears could not keep up.) Yet we still see judges in the ring pulling the ears forward to the tip of the nose. This may be understandable in judges of many years standing; habit is strong. However, we occasionally see newly qualified judges doing the same thing which is a bit bewildering. Are they copying the judging techniques of older and more secure judges?

It is not too surprising that judges differ in their interpretations of breed requirements; breeders themselves disagree. In one of our breed club publications, I read of a ringside discussion between two breeders. One of them was admiring the "lovely hackney gait" of a Poodle in the ring and the other breeder took exception to this, saying that a Poodle should not have a hackney gait (incidentally I agree). The first breeder then asked, "Just where in the Standard does it say a Poodle should not have a hackney gait?" It does not, of course, say that a Poodle should not have a hackney gait, nor does it say that a Poodle should not pace, or sidewind, or roll, but those who understand the structure of the Poodle know that a properly built Poodle could not move in any of these ways.

Some time ago I was asked to judge all non-sporting and all toy breeds at a sanctioned match. In preparation for this, I sat at ringside at several shows with the official book of breed standards on my lap, attempting to determine the reasons for the judge's placements. Later, I asked a few prominent breeders for their own interpretations of their breed standards. While they agreed on general aspects of their breeds, their emphasis was quite different—and yet each was considered a successful breeder.

These differences are inevitable, just as different words have different meanings for different people. Aristotle, the great Greek philosopher, started each discussion with the familiar phrase, "Define your terms," knowing that before men can discuss intelligently, they must agree as to the exact meaning of the words they use. Our breed Standard is our attempt to define our terms. Because we have had different backgrounds and different experiences, however, we are not all in agreement as to the meanings of the terms.

When I was an apprentice judge, I apprenticed on a circuit. Two of the judges were well known and well respected all-breed judges. Because it was a circuit, they were judging virtually the same dogs one day apart. The first day, after marking his judge's book, the judge turned to me and remarked that he particularly liked his winner (I will not give the variety). "The breed Standard called for elegance," he said, "and this was truly an elegant Poodle."

The next day this dog was left out of the ribbons and a very different kind of Poodle went up. I asked the second judge for his comment after he had completed his assignment. "A Poodle was originally a water retriever," he replied. "He has to have some substance; my winner has substance. Many of them are too refined." The same Poodle Standard under two judges—which judge was right? Actually both of them were aware of the requirements of the breed but they had different interpretations, and perhaps different emphasis on Standard delineations.

The Poodle Standard calls for a "squarely built" dog. A squarely built dog is not difficult to imagine; most of us would agree it is a dog measuring approximately the same from withers to ground as it does from withers to tail. Yet, now that we have so nearly achieved this desirable

CANINE HIP DYSPLASIA

PART 1: First in a series of five articles from the joint memorandum from the British Veterinary Association and the Kennel Club on hereditary defects in dogs. Reprinted from the Kennel Gazette, August, 1964. Next month: Dislocation of the Knee-Cap.

FOREWORD

HEREDITARY defects in dogs are not confined to this country, they occur wherever dog breeding is carried on. Moreover, recent pronouncements on these defects are not new, they are the logical results of the policy of the veterinary profession, supported by the Kennel Club, and begun in 1947, when the latter body appointed a Sub-committee to consider "night blindness" in Irish Setters, then causing great anxiety to breeders. In 1948 a programme was undertaken by the Canine Section of the Animal Health Trust under its director Mr. S. F. J. Hodgman, to investigate the inheritance of this condition, now known as Progressive Retinal Atrophy, a defect closely akin to a similar trouble in man, known to be hereditary. This project had the full approval and support of the Kennel Club whose General Committee prepared a practical scheme to stamp out the defect.

The plan was highly successful. The fact that a single animal here and there slipped through the net does not seriously affect the result.

In 1954 Dr. Gilbert B. Young, of the Animal Breeding Research Organization, Edinburgh, read a paper on Inherited Defects of Dogs, at the Annual Congress of the British Veterinary Association. Veterinary surgeons have been concerned with these problems, and considerable research has been done by the Animal Health Trust and other research bodies with the support of the Kennel Club, which, in 1959 with veterinary approval, prohibited the exhibition of non-entire dogs. A joint Committee of the Kennel Club and the British Veterinary Association now exists to investigate these defects and to find practical means of dealing with them. The most serious are described in this pamphlet, issued jointly by the Kennel Club and the British Veterinary Association.

Many breeders dispute the hereditary nature of these conditions, in some cases with little or no knowledge of this highly technical subject. The main reason for this appears to be the absence as yet of any exact knowledge of the way in which they are inherited. This argument is not impressive. One can be sure of facts without being able to explain their cause. For instance, it was known that cod liver oil prevented and cured rickets in children long before the existence of vitamins was even suspected, and similarly that lime or lemon juice prevented and cured scurvy in sailors and others who were deprived of fresh foods for long periods.

Scientific discoveries come about by two main methods. The first is an inspired "guess" followed by patient and often prolonged research to prove its validity (or the reverse); the inductive method. The second, the deductive method, takes established facts and by the same type of research proves their causation. Cherished theories may have to be abandoned when they conflict with facts.

Research will eventually establish the exact method of inheritance of all these conditions. It has already done so in the case of one type of Progressive Retinal Atrophy, which must have been inherited in duplicate, that is by a recessive factor from both parents for the animal to be blind. If the recessive factor is inherited from one parent only, its effect is masked by the dominant factor for sight from the second parent.

Research is now going on in Hip Dysplasia, and though it is not yet complete, the condition is believed to have a dominant element. Practically speaking, this means that most animals with hip dysplasia will show signs of it, and the radiographic signs can normally be seen before any outward signs of hip trouble. Thus breeding from animals with no radiographic signs of the defect is likely to stop its spread, though not enough is yet known to be more dogmatic.

Breeders can themselves do something to stop the spread and hasten the eradication of these defects.

Frankness on the subject of affected stock would do a great deal. Is this too much to ask of responsible breeders? Other steps are possible. First the refusal to use any affected animals for breeding. Second, the realisation that any animal which has produced an affected puppy may itself be a carrier of the defect, and in the case of a pair of recessive genes, must be a carrier. Finally the realisation that some litter mates of affected animals are likely to be carriers. The more breeders can learn about the ancestors, and above all the progeny of breeding stock, the better chance there is of avoiding affected strains. Complaints have been numerous about the publicity which hereditary defects have received. Would not the recognition of them and the serious attempt to investigate and eliminate them, prove the integrity and good sense of breeders rather than bring them and their dogs into disrepute?

HIP DYSPLASIA is the most widely accepted name given to the abnormal development of the hip joint in the dog which results from defective relationship of the bones involved in the joint rather than from primary disease of the affected parts.

The normal hip is a strong ball and socket joint. The socket is formed by the junction of the three bones of the pelvis to produce a deep cup-shaped cavity, lined with cartilage, into which the rounded head of the thigh-bone (femur) also covered with cartilage, fits neatly. The structure of this joint allows the limb to move freely from side to side, backwards and forwards, and in a rotary direction. The joint formed by the socket (acetabulum) and the head of the femur is enclosed and protected by strong fibrous ligaments which sheathe it. The innermost part of the head of the femur is attached to the socket by a strong round cord-like ligament.

Many breeds of dogs are affected by faulty conformation of this joint, but the larger breeds are especially prone to this condition and show the defect more often than dogs of the smaller breeds. The exception to this is the Greyhound. The condition has been reported from all parts of the world where dog-breeding is carried out.

Particular attention has been focused on this condition in the last five or six years, largely because it has become known that the abnormality is present in a high proportion of certain breeds and that in these breeds there are also many animals severely affected to display obvious clinical signs of abnormality.

Studies have also been made into the background causation of this condition and it has been shown to the satisfaction of the Joint Committee that the disease is controlled by heredity and that the tendency for this abnormal development is inherited from parent to offspring.

CLINICAL FEATURES OF HIP DYSPLASIA

Only those dogs which have a marked degree of abnormality of the hip-joint will show any clinical evidence of its existence. The clinical features which they exhibit are shown mostly in the form of poor gait in the hind legs. This gait is predominantly one which shows a degree of weakness and lack of propulsive power. In the slightly or moderately affected cases the dog will show a tendency to excessive sideways movement of the pelvis and hips at each step and they may also show some excessive rise and fall with each step, so that on occasion they may in fact exhibit a degree of some-

NOTES

Golden Retriever Club of America National Specialty

The 1964 event marked the silver anniversary of this club, and drew competitors in field, obedience and bench competition. This is the only specialty club which holds all three phases of competition at one time and place. The 268 entries came from 22 States and Canada.

BIS, over 147 entries, was Ch. (Can. & Am.) Beckwith's Copper Coin, who is well known in Canada as well as the States. He was placed by William H. Pym, noted Canadian judge. Mr. Pym indicated that this dog represents the "genuine living picture of what a Golden Retriever should be" as well as showing "purpose of use". The winner, bred, owned and handled by Richard E. Beckwith of Duluth, Minn., was also awarded, for the second year, the Etta Zoloto Trophy at the GRCA Annual dinner. Copper Coin received this award, given for the top-winning breeder-owner-handled Golden Retriever for the fiscal year 1964 in the USA.

BOS winner Funderne Gypsy of Nerrissida, owned by Mrs. Frances Hargrave of South Londonderry, Vt., completed her American championship at the same time. She came up from Open Females through the Female Specials.

Fifty dogs competed in the Novice A, Novice B, Open A, Open B and Utility Classes. Highest scoring dog in the Trial is well-known to Obedience enthusiasts: Ch. (Can. & Am.) Sun Dance's Rusticana, UDT, Can. U.D.

Sixteen entries comprised the Derby, 30 in Qualifying and 25 in Open All Age under Judges Dr. Forrest Flashman, Seattle, Wash., Miss Ann Fowler, Huntington, Long Island, N.Y. for Open All Age. Mrs. Gust Hronis, Sussex, Wash., and Mr. A. T. Cornish, Naperville, Ill., assessed Qualifying and Derby. Placements: 1st, Derby: Grace Art's Lucky Flyer, an 11 months old dog owned by William Cline, Chicago, Ill.; 1st, Qualifying: Am. Ch. Riverview's Chicasaw Thistle, CDX, owned and handled by Mrs. James Venerable, Huntly, Ill.; 1st, Open All-Age: Woodland Quill, breeder-owner-handled to this win by Mr. Robert C. Wilkinson of Portland, Ore.

A Judge's Award of Merit was presented to the Canadian Golden who participated in both the Qualifying and Open All-Age Stakes. Seg-Mars Stubbleswest Gold Teena, owned and handled by Mr. Barry W. Taylor, an Ontario competitor, won the JAM in Qualifying.

Color in Labradors

Three colors are recognized in Labrador Retrievers: black, chocolate or liver and yellow. Although the chocolate is rarely seen today, there have been complete litters of this color as in many other breeds where white is not desirable, the odd pure white has appeared. Yellow is the color that has come to the fore. Not too many years ago nearly all Labs were black. Today the yellows often outnumber the blacks at both shows and trials.

The yellows range from a pale cream to what some describe as red or rust, but the blacks should be as near solid as possible. A small amount of white is permissible on the chest, but no where else, particularly on the feet.

Newcomers to the breed should request the colors, black or yellow, to be marked on the pedigrees of ancestry, and in this way they could come close (though this is not infallible) as to what to expect in their litters.

The dominants and recessives are a very interesting study and charts of these factors can be obtained. Mrs. Helen Warwick, famous for her Lockerbie Kennels and as an international judge, covers all these points, charts, histories and other valuable topics, in The Complete Labrador Retriever, a "must" in the library of all Labrador breeders. (Note: this book is available through Dogs in Canada, Book Department. Cost is $8.75).

English Setter Type

We have three distinct types of English Setters being shown today. One writer compared them to well-known breeds of horses, namely the Percheron draft horse, Quarter horse and the Arabian type. This is an excellent comparison. Obviously we have advocates of each type, as our three top-producing studs of the last decade could be compared to the above breed of horses. English Setter type, therefore, has become a very controversial subject.

Our standard could be 100 pages long and still not cover every point that some breeder would wish included. Nor do I feel that our interpretation of the standard for true ES type would be of any value. However, recall such Canadian bred champions as Banner of Spruce, Best Friend's Miss Debutante, Hillsdale Susan, Skidby's Sturdy Tyke, Trueborn's Duchess and Wragge Run's Roulette. Faults they possessed, but they all gave a picture of good ES type.

What did these dogs have in common? They all had 'class' which, when

presented by

DOGS IN CANADA

and

Ken·L Dog Foods

Every manufacturer claims his dog food provides the nutrients a champion needs ... but only Ken·L Dog Foods have fed enough winners to prove it! Facts are what count. And one fact worth quoting is that better than 80% of the best-in-show winners in the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show Dog Shows for the past several years were raised on Ken·L Dog Foods!

THE DIET OF CHAMPIONS

This Directory will assist you in the purchase of purebred dogs from responsible kennels. Professional services are also listed. To keep fully advised about dog activities the whole year 'round, subscribe today to "Dogs in Canada" magazine ($5.00 one year; ($9.00 two years). Write to 1173 Bay St., Toronto 5, Ont.

SUBJECT: NAME OF AGENT OR HANDLER ON ENTRY FORM

It has been noted that when entering dogs at shows or trials held under the Club's rules many owners fail to show the name of the agent or handler on the entry form even though, at time of entry, the owner has already engaged a handler or agent to handle the dog at the show or trial.

Where an agent or handler has been engaged it is of considerable help to the trial or show secretary, the stewards and others responsible for the smooth running of the show or trial to have information about the name of the agent or handler if the dog is not to be handled at the show or trial by its owner.

By an order of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club this notice is published in "Dogs in Canada" drawing attention to the necessity of the name of the agent or handler being set forth on an entry form if the dog is to be handled at a show or trial by an agent or handler.

applied to an ES, lifts them from the mediocre to the top. It is instantly recognized by the initiated or the layman. Heads with no evidence of coarseness and pronounced chiseling. Soft expression and good temperament. Good bone but not extreme substance — thus they moved with fire and elegance. None went over 26" and overall were fairly sound. It has been proven that Canadian breeders do breed good English Setter type. Now all we need is more of them!

— Gus Polley

Zing Went Bing

The Marathon wasn't the only swim at the Canadian National Exhibition. The annual dog-swim brought out many fine, fast aquatic canines. Among the winners was Bing, black male Labrador owned by Roy Jones. Bing won the Labrador heat over half a dozen other entrants and placed a close second to the winning German Shepherd in the finals. Two handsome trophies accompanied them home.

Cocker Spaniel Colors

Although Cocker Spaniels (American) are but one breed and may be inter-bred in the various colors, they are shown in four varieties. Yet each color has a definite color or pattern to which it must conform. The standard states that the blacks shall be "jet black, those showing shadings of brown or liver in the sheen of the coat OR feathering should be penalized" . . . ASCOB cockers must be any SOLID color other than black. ". . . should be of sound shade, but lighter colored feathering, while not favored, does not disqualify" . . . In parti-colors "at least two definite colors appearing in clearly defined markings distinctly distributed over the body are ESSENTIAL." "Roans are classed as parti-color." The Black and Tans have a definite pattern they must follow: "The amount of tan is restricted to 10% and must appear — a clear spot over each eye; on the sides of the muzzle, and must not extend up and over and join; on the cheeks and on the underside of ears; on ALL feet extending upward toward the knee and hock joint; under the tail and around the vent."

The color is left to the judge to interpret as to what he considers the shade of tan should be. Some have penalized a dog for the tan being too light, others for the tan being too dark. The standard merely states "the richer or more vivid the coloring the better."

Vizsla News

If milestones measure progress then Vizsla owners should feel that several large steps forward were taken in the work of their breed during the past year. From no organization at all we have progressed to a small, but international, club membership of 38 dedicated persons. It is perhaps significant that the growth in membership has accompanied signs of activity in the club.

Probably the most important of our activities was the establishment of a quarterly newsletter. This has served to advise our membership on many important matters as well as to convey news of Vizsla activities among the many regions from which our membership derives. At the present time the writer is both editor and publisher of this newsletter, as well as president of the club, and it is hoped that these duties will be more broadly shared in the future. In addition, the first Booster Show for the breed to be held in Canada was a marked success at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Dog Show on March 21 of this year. We had 12 Vizslas entered, the largest ever for any single event in Canada to date, and supporters came from such diverse points as Winnipeg, Tennessee and Erie, Pa. This is one activity which we hope to establish as a regular feature of that outstanding Canadian sporting dog show.

Since our ultimate purpose with our breed is to develop its hunting prowess, it is only fitting that our next major step was the first Vizsla Club of Canada National Field Trial. This was held September 26 and 27 this Fall, in some of that wonderful bird country east of Calgary.

Since a major function of our club is to be of service to Vizsla owners and breeders we urge all who have not yet done so to contact us at any time.

chortling sound, giving him a reputation for a sense of humor, which is augmented by the curl of the mouth which in turn gives the impression of a secret smile.

The Basenji comes into heat only once a year, and this usually in the Fall. And even then the heat lasts between two and three weeks. If a breeding time, usually the 12th day, is missed, one must wait an entire year for another breeding.

Hunting With A Basset

Most people own a Basset as a family pet, particularly because he will clown his way through life and is such a placid, lovable animal. The hunting potential is, alas, often ignored.

If you have never seen four Bassetts in the field you have indeed missed a lot of fun and you have completely overlooked the purpose for which he was originally bred.

The Basset's nose is second only to the Bloodhound. He will quickly find the scent he is after and because of this fine nose he will never get lost in the field.

The Basset is bred low to the ground expressly for the purpose of hunting at a man's pace. One is able to keep up with him at all times, and consequently none of the fun of the hunt escapes you. He circles his quarry and it is not unusual to have a scared rabbit brush against you as he makes good his escape. When the Basset has found the scene he will immediately give voice in a most melodious tone, quite different to any noise you have ever heard him make before; deep and musical and quite beautiful. It is his way of calling the others, saying "Come quickly. I have found something good." At once the others join the "leader" and the cry is taken up by each one as they discover the scent. The lovely hunting music echoes across the country, everyone's pace is quickened and the little rabbit bounds away to safety at a fantastic speed.

If you are after blood you will have to do your own killing. The Basset is not fast enough to catch his prey. He circles to you and you must do the rest. We never hunt with guns and would not enjoy doing so, but this is our own preference.

Unfortunately in Canada there are no field trials held for Bassets, but we have found the Beagle people most generous and kind in allowing Bassets to join in on their hunts. We particularly enjoyed hunting in the West where the snows were not deep enough to hamper our short-legged dogs. Unfortunately the deep snows in Eastern Canada curtail winter hunting and we feel that it is climate, more than any other reason, that is keeping Bassets out of the field in Canada.

—Mrs. A. D. (Pamela) Hunt

Nip And Tuck Trial

A memorial trial held in honor of the late Int. Fd. Ch. Sureplace Happy Boy by the Mississippi Delta Beagle Club drew fine quality. Bohnland Beagles furnished handsome trophies for each winner and a huge one for the absolute winner.

Fd. Ch. Hazlewood Buddy, owned by Tom Roberts of Memphis, Tenn., won the 13" class and went on to capture the absolute winner trophy. Quaker Park Penny, owned by Tom Hedges, also of Memphis, won the 15" class. Other placings in the 13" class went to Fd. Ch. Watson's Mr. Shorty, owned by Ed Morgan, 2nd; Port City Sonny, owned by Jesse Williams, 3rd; Bohnland Jean, owned by Ted Latham, 4th. In the 15" class, Tom Hedges's Penny's Roamer placed 2nd; Jesse Williams' Port City Bell, 3rd; Ted Latham's Port City Trumpet, 4th.

In the second series, the race was so close that the judges required more than an hour's running to decide the winner between Fd. Ch. Hazlewood Buddy and Fd. Ch. Watson's Mr. Shorty. Judges were W. P. Land Sr. and son Junior of Memphis.

if a dog gets a 2nd in the Group he scores three points plus a point for every dog under him in the Group. "This, we think," writes Secretary Kitty Wake, "will make for a fairer overall competition, since entries vary so much from show to show across Canada." Another Specialty Show will likely be held in Calgary in April, she reports.

The Secretary's address is now 9932-108th St., Edmonton. Suggestions or enquiries may be directed to her at that address, and "any membership fees from old or new members will now apply to 1965".

Dachshund Specialty

Competition was notably increased at the ninth annual Specialty Show of the Dachshund Club of Canada at which Judge Stan Whitmore found his Best of Breed and Best Dachshund in Show in Ch. Canidae's Javelin, Standard Smooth owned by Mr. and Mrs. John France. Other wins may be noted in the official CKC Show and Trial results. Both top Dachshund and BOS in Show were sired by the fine producer, the late Ch. (Can. & Am.) Calypso of Gera. Where were the boys? No males were entered in the Standard Wire classes or in the Miniature Wires. No Miniature Longhairs were entered.

Miniature Import

Mrs. Sarah Diamond, Di-Mar Kennels, Kirkland, Que., has imported the Miniature Smooth Dachshund, Shouma of Montreux, from a top-winning kennel of Miniature Smooths in England. This female, she writes, was recently 1st in the Open Miniature Class at Stowe and Burlington in Vermont.

Miniature Smooths from Di-Mar have recently left for Jamaica, via six months quarantine in England, to Marietta, Ga., and to Greensboro, N.C.

Common Whippet Faults

Poor movement and prick ears are two ugly faults and both difficult to breed out, writes Dorothy Lewis in the English Whippet News . . . "especially ears, as it alters the whole expression and gives a hard, almost startled look which is quite foreign to the breed. When listening and the ears are up, there should be that sweet, almost 'talking look' . . . Close moving behind is also a thing to avoid, as it usually means they have little muscle on the second thigh and may be rather long from the stifle to the hock . . ."

The Breeding History Of Fireside Chat

Ch. (Can. Bda.) Fireside Chat of Blossomlea, four times BIS and multiple Group Placings, has retired from active competition at eight years of age. Shown but seldom owing to maternal duties, all her wins were under top Canadian and American judges such as Dr. Wilfrid Shute and Alva Rosenberg, Tommy Joel and Peter Smith.

B.C.'s top Doberman Pinscher, Ch. Mispah Pamela of Reidcroft, is shown taking the Breed at the Working Dog Show, September 8, under the noted judge James Case. She went on to take 3rd in Group. Owned by Reidcroft Kennels, 727 No. 2 Road, Richmond, B.C. and handled by Pam Reid.

Her making began 12 years ago with the birth of Ch. Painted Besom of Blossomlea, the first Canadian Boxer female bred by exhibitor to win BIS. Bred to Ch. Bangaway of Sirrah Crest, she produced Ch. Chataway, my most treasured possession who is now in her 11th year. Her next litter was to Ch. Jered's Spellbinder and produced Ch. Hot Spell of Blossomlea, sire of between 15 and 20 champions. This very lovely male convinced me this was "my line". So Ch. Chataway was sent to Ch. Spellbinder and produced the subject of this article, Ch. Fireside Chat of Blossomlea. She in turn has produced Ontario's only BIS Ch. male Boxer, Standfast of Blossomlea in her first litter, the near top award winner, Ch. Boxella's VanWick in her second, and the Exhibition winning puppy, Back Chat II of Blossomlea, her last. She has now joined her mother in the house, chases the neighbors' cats every day and has "chicken every Sunday".

Early Relatives Of The Bullmastiff

Recognized in its own right nearly four decades ago, the Bullmastiff's origin is still in debate. Clifford L. B. Hubbard, one of the most astute students of his background, theorizes "that the Bullmastiff has evolved from the Old Keeper's Night Dog, who in earlier turn developed from crossbred Mastiff-Bulldogs or from an intermediate or small-type Mastiff common many centuries ago and quite possibly older than the Bulldog."

In his book, The Bullmastiff Handbook, he lists the early large dogs he considers relatives: from France, the Dogue de Bordeaux, Dogue de Forte

Care of the Collie Coat

To have a beautiful coat a Collie owner should choose his parents with care, as an inheritance seems to be a major determinant of coat. However, regular grooming and a well-balanced diet will help attain the maximum coat potential.

A dog who is infested with internal parasites or who suffers even a low-grade infection will not be able to grow its best coat.

Diet is a very important factor in developing a good coat. We feed 40% meat, preferably raw, 45% meal and 15% beef or bacon fat. A cooked egg is added every other day. Some dogs can tolerate more fat than others, and we find that if a dog is inclined to have a dry coat the addition of more fat and wheat germ in the diet is very beneficial.

A Collie coat should be brushed once a week to prevent matting. A good natural bristle brush with a handle is best. Starting at the tail, the hair is brushed against the grade up towards the head and then with quick, light strokes, starting again at the tail, the hair is brushed down a little at a time. If grooming for a show, the coat is slightly dampened with a fine spray of water, as it is brushed against the grade. The ruff is brushed in the same way. The hair is brushed up towards the head and a little at a time is brushed down.

A fine metal comb is used to comb

the fine hair behind the ears and the frill around the face. If mats have formed behind the ears they are cut into with scissors and then combed out. The long feathers of the forelegs and the skirts are given a good brushing. The tail is brushed down towards the tip.

Whether you want your Collie simply as a pet, or if you want to show him, he will be a dog you can be proud of, if he is well-groomed and trimmed.

— Margaret McDvitt

Doberman Recipe

The Doberman Pinscher, created by the skilled German cynologist, Herr Dobermann of Apolda, around 1890, is said to have the following ingredients in its "creation": the Rottweiler, the old-type German Pinscher, one or more varieties of Vorstehhunde, and possibly later the Weimaraner in order to lessen the cloddiness. The first Doberman Pinscher breed club was formed in 1912.

German Shepherd Specialty

Had all the entries appeared, the 42nd annual German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada specialty championship show would have been the largest in Canada to date. However, the new venue in the lovely Downsview Dells Park in north-west Toronto, whose tree-studded hills formed a natural amphitheatre, was a little difficult to find, and a few competitors turned homeward without reaching it. Which was a pity, because it was a unique show. Judge Fritz Hartung of Germany, a very senior man who is said to rate with Dr. Werner Funk, is noted for his ability in assessing not only conformation and obedience but handling and defence work as well. Unable to speak English, he was assisted by interpreters Mrs. Mitzi Frohle and Tom Mann, son of the well-known Grant Mann. This was the first time Mr. Hartung has judged on this continent. Every competitor received a written critique and a classification card.

Troupers in the greatest sense of the word, the German Shepherd exhibitors undoubtedly work hardest at showing their breed. The show opened shortly after eight and finished nearly 12 hours later, illuminated by car headlights.

Best of Breed fell to Am. Ch. Therta's High Delight, owned by Carol H. and John M. McCormack of Gladwyne, Pa. This Grand Victrix was bred by Joanne Marsh, by Ch. Krisquiers Dummer Hannes ex Abadee's Karin. Best Opposite was Ch. Hessian's Caribe, owned by Joseph J. Palacios of San Juan, Puerto Rico, bred by Helen Hess, by Am. Ch. Hessian's Baldur ex Hessian's Quella. Handler Chum Porter, on receiving the trophy, happily remarked that this was the fourth time he had taken one of these trophies home. Best Canadian Bred was Ch. Na-Robi's Otto, owned by Peter Pederson and bred by Mr. and Mrs.

R. H. Walker of Hamilton. Best Canadian Bred Puppy was Adanac's Astor, owned by Fred Pfieffe of Petersburg and bred by Harry Watson of Beamsville, Ont.

A feature of this specialty, which is not usual in other breed specialties, was the Select Class, chosen from all the dogs rated Excellent, which provides an opportunity for fanciers to view these top ranking dogs in the ring together. The judge designates a number of this class as select breeding animals, an honor close to Best of Breed.

With Judge Hartung as surveyor, a breed survey in conjunction with the American Breed Survey Society for German Shepherd Dogs Inc. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Frohle, Toronto.

Sams Dominate The Match

Samoyeds were the best represented breed, 11 in all, at the Forest City Kennel Club Sanction Match held recently. This was twice the number of any other breed. All 11 were bred by Betty and Alex Dickson of Ziska Kennels, Dorchester. Mrs. Dickson limited her own entry to two puppies. The Kitchener-Waterloo Kennel Club show boasted 14 Samoyeds, virtually all Ziska dogs or their progeny.

Sheltie Size

The principal difference between the British Standard for the Sheltie and the Standard in Canada and USA is size. The British Standard: "Ideal height 14" at the withers. This is on maturity which is fixed at ten months". The Canadian and USA Standard: "The Shetland Sheepdog should stand between 13" and 16" at the shoulder. Note: Height is determined by a line perpendicular to the ground from the top of the shoulder blades, the dog standing naturally, with forelegs parallel to the line of measurement. Disqualification: Heights below or above the desired size range are to be disqualified from the show ring".

Here we have two quite different approaches to the same problem. Which is the better?

Four years ago one could see many Shelties at British Shows which were "Well up to Size". At that time, my British friends were horrified when I told them that their dogs were bigger than our North American dogs. This year the above criticism definitely does not apply. In three weeks in June I saw over 250 Shelties at three shows and in six kennels. I saw no young stock and nothing in the show ring of questionable size. The British breeders saw the danger and corrected it.

What can we say about this side of the Atlantic? In May I was at the American Shetland Sheepdog Association national specialty and saw big dogs win several of the major awards but not Best of Breed. At the DC&SSA specialty in Montreal in April a big dog won the points. I have just finished a female in Canada which consistently measured over 16" in 1962 but which after a litter consistently measures under 16" in 1963 if one holds her head up when she is being measured. The same dog measured with her head down measures over 16".

The difference in measurement before and after a litter is the result of the rib cage expanding to push the distal end of the scapula. The dog dropped the withers sufficiently to make a 16 1/4" dog into a 15 1/4" dog. When her head is up the scapula fits into the spine. When her head is down the spine arches and the measurement is probably taken on the spinous process of the seventh cervical vertebra or the first and second thoracic vertebrae. Is a measurement which is subject to so much variation a proper measurement on which to base a disqualification?

The number of persons available to make accurate measurements who at the same time understand the anatomical relationships between the bones which are supposed to be measured and those which may be measured by mistake is so limited that the exhibitor's chances of obtaining a correct measurement are very small. Breeders interested in any of the breeds which have a size disqualification and who have measured the same dog several times are familiar with variations similar to those described above. Those who have shown horses in classes with a size limit are aware of the arguments over size in horse circles.

Returning to the Sheltie, the hard fact is that many of the best Shelties are big. Some of these when bred produce small but good show specimens. If you have a good dog who is close to the limit but which can be measured under, do not be afraid to show it. Arrive early at the show and take your dog to the show superintendent and ask to have your dog measured. This ensures that the measurement will be taken with the minimum of stress and strain. If the measurement is asked for by the judge you will be upset. This will be sensed by your dog who may pull his front together and add the best part of an inch to his height. If your dog measures under the limit, the measurement will be entered in the judge's book and you are in the clear for that show. Repeat the process at the next show and so ad infinitum. Perhaps someday we may breed enough small Shelties that the disqualification may be dropped.

— H. Malcolm Stephens

All About Terriers

Canadian Terriers and Terrier fanciers have seen a good deal of the other side of the Border this past summer and from what one hears from both spectators and exhibitors alike, they'll be back bigger and better next year. The shows are well run, clean, mostly outdoor, well scheduled and the courtesy with which exhibitors are treated is quite refreshing!

First, the Vermont circuit, quite the most beautiful of all the American shows during the early summer months — an ideal time to combine both shows and vacation. At the Champlain Valley show Betty Hyslop's Cairn, Ch. Cairndania's McRuffie's Splinter, upheld the Canadian tradition by placing 2nd in a strong Terrier Group, while in the Obedience field Barb and Ross Pirrie's Welsh, Ch. Wil-Wag's Drop of Brandy, Can. CD qualified for her first American leg with a third in a large Novice Group. At the Carroll County show Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins' Westie, Philomel of the Rouge, was WF. The Ohio circuit in August also had a goodly sampling of Canadian exhibitors and spectators. At the Agathon show the Pirrie's Welsh, Ch. Wil-Wag's Rum 'n Coke, was WD, while Casey Gardiner's Kerry, Ch. Kerry-croft's Bold Brigand, was BW, a win which he repeated the following day at Ravenna, finishing a spectacular American championship. Canadians galore at the Chagrin Valley show, one of the most beautiful settings for a show in the mid-West. In Airedales, Marie Curran down from Sault Ste. Marie to judge the Puppy Sweeps at the Airedale Specialty; Bob Duguid exhibiting a puppy by the famous Ch. Navaho Warrior and placing 2nd in the Puppy Sweepstakes. Down just to observe were Mildred Black, Bill and Jane Cummings, and the newest addition to the Cummings household, as well as Matt and Marge Morrissey.

Now for Montgomery County, the REALLY Big Terrier show of the year. You Terrier fanciers who have never attended this show will find the following hard to believe, but this is not fantasy, nor exaggeration, but the facts!

Imagine, if you can, a show set in the midst of beautiful Gwynedd Valley, Pa., on the estate of G. Harrison Frazier, Jr., which he so kindly offers every year for this Terrier extravaganza. The montage of color through the mountains of New York and Pennsylvania in early autumn is enough to make the trip worthwhile in itself but for Terrier lovers, this is only the beginning!

When you enter the show and see seven Terrier rings operating at once, handling (now you're really going to have to stretch your imagination) an entry of 752 Terriers, a bit awesome for a moment, but then it hits you, this is really living! To give you some idea of the scope of this enormous entry try to feature 176 Schnauzers, 75 in Sweeps, 101 in regular classes; 105 Wire and Smooth Fox Terriers; 65 Airedales; 62 Scottish Terriers, 54 Westies; 30 Welsh Terriers; 23 Irish Terriers; 22 Norwich; 18 Bedlington. Hard to believe, isn't it, for you in the minority breeds, who during the year in Canada have to travel far and wide to see one other of your breed, and rather overwhelming but terribly exciting, I would think, for those in the more popular Terrier breeds. For the second year in a row the lovely Scottie female, Am. Ch. Carmichael's Fanfare, was BIS. Best Brace in Show went to the well-known Ruth Turner, breeder of Manchester Terriers.

Canadian Terrier fans were out in full force again, both visiting and exhibiting. In Airedales, Mary Curran, with a companion who had travelled from Vancouver, B.C. to view this show; Matt and Marge Morrissey, who like Mary Curran seem to be anywhere and everywhere Airedales are exhibited; and Bob Duguid who also gets around extensively in the Airedale world. In Kerries, Bob won 1st and 3rd in the Sweepstakes and 2nd and 4th in Class with a female and male puppy. At the Northern Ohio Airedale Terrier Club in Chagrin Valley earlier he took 1st in the Puppy Sweepstakes for females and males as well and a 2nd and 4th in the Class. Two Airedales of the same litter, bred by K. R. Thompson, Toronto, made tracks in the female Puppy Class. Ophelia of Castle Frank, owned by Mr. Thompson, took 1st

"Charlie", Wil-Wag's B'n B, Welsh Terrier, at the age of 7 months began his career in a most spectacular fashion this Fall. Under George Kynock at the Central Canada Exhibition he was WD and BCBP in Group; he then went on to the Hull show under Dr. Wilfrid Shute where he was WD, BB, 3rd in Group, BCBP in Group and BCBP in Show. Charlie is by Am. Ch. Strathglass Viceroy ex. Ch. Wil-Wag's Whiskey Mist. Bred, owned and handled by Barbara Pirrie, 300 Victoria Dr., Baie D'Urfe, Que.

In Kerries, Casey Gardiner upheld the honor of Ontario by taking Reserve Winners Male with Kerry-croft's Confidence Man, whose sire, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Kerrycroft's Benedict, went on to BOS with an entry of 30 Kerries; Quebec Kerries were represented by Claude Dube of Montreal with his female Kerrycroft's Louisella. In Welsh, the Pirries who, while temporary residents of Quebec still hold true and complete allegiance to Ontario; while the Quebec Welsh contingent was represented by Bob and Betty Wood of Beaurepaire. Best of Breed at the Welsh Specialty was Am. Ch. Caradoc Llywd of St. Aubrey, bred by W. Gregory of Aderdare, South Wales. This Welsh, not new to the fancy or such honors (he was BIS at Montgomery in '61) adheres to the Welsh Standard closer than any other this writer has had a chance to view. He is in part Canadian, being imported by Nigel Aubrey-Jones, then sold to Mrs. E. P. Alker of Long Island. West Highland White Terriers were well represented by Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins.

Earlier in the month Cliff Tushingham, Toronto, showed Rufus, a Kerry Blue Terrier who gained a major at his first American show. This dog, of Dorecliffe breeding, had been purchased by him as a pet, but showed his true quality at the Sportsmen's Shows this year by taking three BB's. At Montgomery, through a freak circumstance, he did not get Rufus into the ring, although he had his entry ready for 1½ hours.

Now, if you should ever feel the urge to attend any of these shows you'll know that you'll have lots of support from the home front, and a few good pats on the back from our American "confreres"; Possibly even a few of our Western exhibitors will take heart from the Vancouverite who visited Montgomery County — if it's Terriers you want to see, this is the place to go and you'll find hospitality second to none — not even Western brand!

Judge Don Fitzgerald chose Am. Ch. St. Aubrey Eloise of Elsdon as BIS at the Three Rivers show last August. Handled by Nigel Aubrey-Jones and owned by him in conjunction with R. Wm. Chihuahua Progress

The Chihuahua's first official mention north of Mexico was in the American Kennel Club Studbook of 1890. Recorded are the wins of four Chihuahuas who were unregistered at the time. For the next number of years show entries ranged from one to five. Fifteen were noted in 1901, five in 1902 and nine in 1903.

First Chihuahua champion was Beppie, who was whelped in 1903, a

Even in 1916 there was little to predict that the Chihuahua was to become so popular. That year only 50 were shown in the entire United States. Contrast this with 7,156 registrations in 1949 and currently between 3,500 and nearly 4,000 per month! In Canada well over 2,000 Chihuahuas are now recorded annually and many champions made.

Much of the advancement of today's Chihuahua can be credited to serious breeders who in 1923 organized the Chihuahua Club of America and standardization of the breed began.

squareness, we see backs getting shorter . . . and shorter, some of them to the point of being ridiculous. A "square" Poodle no longer looks "square." He looks rather long.

I well remember when, several years ago, a breeder-judge commented to a proud breeder that her puppy's back was too short. The owner was stunned — and asked how this could be possible. Today, it is becoming more and more prevalent in our show dogs. Not only the males but the bitches are being bred for extremely short backs. In MY interpretation, a Poodle with too-short a back is just as incorrect as one with too-long a back. Our breed Standard describes a proper head as having a muzzle: "Long, straight and fine with slight chiseling under the eyes, strong without lipping chin definite enough to preclude snipiness." Taking only the word "long and fine," we now have tendency to heads so overly long and fine as to appear to be top profiles pasted together. "Trousers press" heads, the English call them—and they look as though they were compressed this way.

BIS at the two Three Rivers shows held August was the two year old Pekinese, Ch. St. Aubrey Eloise of Elsdon, owned Messrs. Nigel Aubrey-Jones and R. V. Taylor, 4170 Decarie Blvd., Montreal. This outstanding female was sired by (Can. & Am.) St. Aubrey Mario of Elsdon. (Can. & Am.) St. Aubrey K. of Elsdon. She is pictured above with J. Reg. P. Sparkes.

Again, MY interpretation of Standard makes these overly long heads incorrect. Many of them are snipy, most of them lack chin—they are the extreme that arises when a good thing is carried too far.

Judging dogs cannot be an exact mathematical science. It is over-type which the breed Standard must attempt to define. Individual interpretations of those features by breeders and by judges, can never be controlled. Thus, each judge in the ring is giving his opinion. Some of them may differ from yours, some of them differ from other judges, but when an individual dog in any breed wins consistently under various judges it must be that that dog epitomizes the breed Standard as nearly as any dog currently being shown.

Minpin Eyes

Eyes dark as possible are a requirement for the award-winning Minpin Pinscher. They may even be black in the black-and-tan colored dogs. When the dog is alarmed, excited or angry, his eyes take on a wicked glint and give the impression of a much larger dog. Normally the expression is pleasant and kindly, the dog is happily alert, ready for frolic.

what "corkscrew-like" action, although this is normally shown only by the more seriously affected animals. Quite commonly these dogs will show a reluctance to attempt to jump on to a chair or over a fence, although this is not an invariable feature of the condition. The more seriously affected the dog is, the greater is the degree of abnormality shown during walking or jumping and it is quite striking that this is best seen when the animal is moving at a relatively slow pace, since, when the dog trots its whole body is more evenly "sprung" and so the unevenness in the hind legs is not so obvious. A common finding is that dogs tend to tire relatively easily during exercise and will often prefer to sit rather than stand.

In grossly affected cases a clicking noise may be heard in the hip joint area when the dog moves or the legs are manipulated, indicating partial or complete dislocation. Another sign may be present when the thigh is drawn outwards, away from the mid-line of the body. This will cause the dislocated or semi-dislocated head of the femur to slip back into the socket with a snap or jerk. The sign can be produced in reverse by drawing the thigh inwards towards the mid-line, and this will cause the head to slip outside its socket.

In a very small number of severe cases the head of the femur may dislocate practically spontaneously while the animal is moving or lying and this will cause severe pain when the dog moves. This pain disappears completely with the replacement of the head in the correct position.

Snappy little black Miniature Poodle, Kynances Xavier, is shown winning BCB in Group under Judge Mr. Ted Gundersen at the Victoria dog show in September. "Boy" is breeder-owned by Mrs. L. Morgan, 2051 West King Edward, Vancouver, B.C. and is handled by Ford Flechgr, Wesbrook Kennels, 1006 No. 5 Rd., Richmond, B.C.

In breeds which are afflicted by hip dysplasia, breeders can themselves do something to reduce gradually the number of affected animals and ultimately the condition itself. All breeding stock in such breeds should be X-rayed by experts in this particular field. As far as possible only dogs showing no radiographic evidences of the defect should be bred from.

RADIOGRAPHIC DIAGNOSIS OF HIP DYSPLASIA

X-Ray examination of the dog for hip dysplasia is necessary to determine those which show no clinical symptoms but which may possess minor abnormalities in the joint which are secondary features of the condition. Because of the presence of these features such dogs may be able to pass on the hereditary factors tending to hip dysplasia to their offspring.

The following factors may be present and can be discovered by X-Rays: The development of bony outgrowths on the socket of the joint and on the head of the femur. Alterations in the joint surfaces of the bones involved, particularly alterations in the shape of the rounded head of the femur which are sometimes difficult to detect, and alterations in the curve of the socket which may become flattened. This is caused by the constant wear which occurs in this area owing to the abnormal position of the head of the femur and the friction produced by this. This examination needs a very great degree of skill and practice and should be undertaken only by those veterinary surgeons who are prepared to examine plates in great detail before making a final assessment.

MERRYLEGS POODLES REG'D

We are so pleased that the following poodles, bred by us or sired by our stud, finished their titles this year and did so well for their new owners.

MINIATURES

Our black bitch, Infanta, bred to Can. Ch. Don Pedro of Montfleuri, produced a lovely litter including: Can. Ch. Merrylegs Frou, owned by Mr. & Mrs. Ferguson. Undeclared as a puppy, she finished at 13 months.

Our brown bitch, Russette, bred back to her grandfather, Can. & Am. Ch. Geraldo De La Fontaine, produced a good looking brown male, Can. Ch. Kilbarry De La Fontaine. He finished this year, and at his first American show, was awarded "Best of Winners". Owned by Mr. & Mrs. F. Edge.

STANDARDS

Our white stud Can. Ch. Calvados De La Fontaine bred to Mrs. D. MacRae's "Gaybets Suzette" produced an outstanding litter including:

Can. Ch. "Honeybun", owned by Mrs. D. Sugden, whose wins included several "Best Puppy in Show" and "Best of Breed". She finished at 9 months, won a group 1st at 13 months and has points towards her American title.

papers, perhaps offering a trophy, providing judges for informal competitions and standing by in general.

Two phases in training would be offered — Conformation and Obedience. A child could take training in one or both.

Instruction would be given by successful breeders, trainers and judges. Lectures would be given on such topics as breeds, explanation of The Canadian Kennel Club rules, differences in types of shows, i.e. CKC championship show and sanction, mock Obedience and licensed Obedience trials, ribbon colors and their values and many others. Ring steward instruction, of course, would be limited to the very senior members.

Both practical and written examinations would be given once a year.

The Junior Kennel Club would carry out its business in simple parliamentary procedure; that is, the annual election of its own officers: President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer.

Purebred dogs only would be permitted in competitions held under Junior Kennel Club Rules.

For protection of the dogs, the child and his parents would be instructed to have each dog inoculated and reasons given why the inoculations are essential, before the child brings a dog to class.

Because most children would be paying fees from their allowances, the fees should be kept as low as possible — another reason for the interest of an adult club. The children could help raise funds through their own projects as well.

Of utmost importance is the time set for meetings. Neither parents nor teachers would welcome classes which would interfere with school work. Children may need reminding occasionally that their school work comes first.

Children thrive on competition

Yearly or perpetual trophies would be awarded for the Highest Examination Papers, Highest Scoring in Obedience Examination Papers, for Highest Obedience Scores, Highest in Handling Competitions, for the child showing the most progress and many others. Actual competitions could be held during lulls at shows and trials, sanction or fun matches. Here is where experiment will add up to valuable experience in the ring.

When sufficient Junior Kennel Clubs are active in various parts of Canada, inter-zone competition could bring winners together at major international shows. Zones could be Western, Prairie, Ontario, Quebec and East Coast. Inter-zone examination marks could be competitive as well, with a trophy to be awarded to the zone winner, and possibly a national winner.

Club badges and ribbons are worn proudly by children. These would serve several purposes, i.e. to remind them of their affiliation, a constant reminder of sportsmanship, and would also be useful in helping show officials to pick them out when and where assistance is required. Juniors can serve in a multitude of ways at shows, particularly as runners. At the same time they are imbibing show atmosphere and rules in pleasurable service.

Once a year, at least, the Junior Kennel Clubs should have their own party, or open night, at which parents may attend. This not only sparks the interest of parents, but in many instances has led the parent not only to assist the club, but to help the child purchase a better purebred dog.

In forming a Junior Kennel Club, one could not do better than to become familiar with the famous 4-H clubs which have led many a youngster to embark on a career. The 4-H clubs offer a well-balanced program for living, with attention to the spiritual side, i.e. responsibility, sportsmanship as well as instruction and competition. The thought has been expressed that perhaps in time when sufficient clubs are active, they could actually become affiliated with 4H activities and thus broaden their scope. In the United States 4H clubs have already incorporated dogs and their work into their program.

The Canadian Kennel Club has drawn up a set of rules for the operation of a Junior Kennel Club. These are obtainable by writing to the Secretary.

higher priced youngsters do not care to put their charges out in the country to run loose, or is it because certain field trial followers are biased? All of these are pertinent questions confronting the fanciers of the breed today. They lead to only one thing and that is more complete methods of recording our field trial events and a standardized system of judging field trials. If we are going to put the merry little fellow on top of the heap again we must systematically chart our course.

A couple of years ago I attended a field trial and was down in a place that was unusually hard going and the judges, being considerate of the location, gave the hounds plenty of time. It was a picking affair and the hounds eventually cast out beyond the tough spot and got it going again, not very good driving from there on either, but they kept the rabbit moving. Now here were some good driving hounds and they proceeded to do their stuff. Second series the two picking hounds are called back and the good drivers left out; after the smoke had cleared, one of the pickers comes our first, the other fourth. Later, at the same place, a good brace are down at the hard spot and they pick two rabbits across this place. When they got them away from there they showed they could drive too. From this brace on not another brace got near this spot until the last brace with the bye dog. This brace got a good going rabbit for the first try and proceeded to give a good account of themselves holing your highness. However, the bye dog was cleanly beaten by its brace mate. On the second rabbit, which got up about 25 yards from the tough spot before mentioned, it went over this spot and squatted on the far side. The hounds were dropped on the line and drove to the graveyard where it was all over. The bye dog gave up entirely;

Pom, Pom, Jolie, Michelle and Pitou, four Toy Poodles, are the reason, Rudy Vallee laughingly claims, he is resigning from the role of J. B. Bigley, the executive who knits, in How to Succeed in Business. After playing J. B. B. for three full years, he and his wife Eleanor are departing on a nightclub tour.

Died: Checkers, black and white Cocker Spaniel owned by Richard and Pat Nixon, at the age of 12. Other than Fala, favorite of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, Checkers received the most publicity of any American dog. At the age of three months she made front pages when her master went on nationwide TV during the 1952 election campaign. Nixon explained she was the only campaign gift that he had kept for his personal use. The real subject in question at that time was a fund of $18,000.

Mrs. Blanche Roberts, Toronto, and Editor Kaye Peer have just returned from a whirlwind trip of a number of major cities in Western Europe. While in Spain they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jenkins who now reside in Alicante on the south-west coast of Spain. Mrs. Jenkins, prior to about five years ago, was well-known in Canada as a breeder and exhibitor of Basenjis. She was the recipient of a card, from Miss Peer, conveying greetings from Canada and containing a long list of signatures of "doggy folk" who remembered her well.

In the basement of Casa Guidi, the small fifteenth-century palazzo in which poets Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning spent most of their years in Florence, Italy, lies buried Flush, Elizabeth's Cocker Spaniel. Flush's mistress is buried in Florence, too, in the pretty little English Cemetery which is pointed out to visitors. Flush, according to Elizabeth, was a Byron of a dog and Virginia Woolf admired him so much she wrote a biography of him.

Your editor noted the innumerable paintings and tapestries hung in some of the world's most famous galleries and created by famed masters, in which dogs, some of them Spaniels, some Setters and some Hounds, played a central part. Considering that a great percentage of the paintings were commissioned by church, military or merchant princes of the day whose vanity demanded commemoration, the dogs must have been important to them. Dogs appear also in recording the lives of common folk of the day. And in carvings from Egypt, as seen in the Louvre, Paris, a beautiful simplicity of line brings great dignity to some of the dogs of the days of the Pharaohs.

Purebred dogs of a great variety of breeds were noticed in Amsterdam, fewer in Paris, and very few in Italy. However, these would be more apparent in the residential districts rather than the downtown section of shops and basilicas and galleries, where dogs are least likely to be seen.

Noted in downtown Florence were a few Boxers, very heavy and very old. Snoozing in the sun in small country places in Spain were numerous German Shepherds.

Most thrilling sight by the side of a rocky mountain road winding between Perugia and Rome was a flock of sheep grazing in an olive orchard, with a snowy white Great Pyrenees keeping a wary eye on his charges.

Directors' meetings can be fun! Standing are Dennis Mountney, Jerry Durocher and Mrs. Rosalind Dockrill.

the brace mate tried a little harder but no results and the brace here ordered up. Now the funny feature is that the bye dog and its brace mate are brought in second series and both placed in final results. The brace that could pick and drive over the tough spot were not even considered. No reflection on the judges, just this; we need a more standardized method of arriving at results at field trials as the present methods are not uniform. ■
