We are featuring, on this year's cover, our first group win in the USA. It was indeed a thrill for us to have Dr. Frank Porter Miller select our Ch. (Can. & Am.) Ja-Mar's Avenger of Arbor to top the group at French Creek Valley K.C. in New York State. "Rebel" took the breed again the next day but was not shown in the group. These are the only two American shows in which "Rebel" has been entered so far this year.

At the Canadian shows, Reb has been 1st in Group III twice, 2nd twice and once fourth in the Group. He has won the breed six times and has been BOS three times. He will be shown extensively again in the fall.

We are looking forward to a good start for our young stock in the near future. We have two daughters and a son of Ch. Wendy ex. Ch. Field Marshall of Arbywood R.O.M. and also a promising Avenger son. We are adding to our present stock and we have hopes that one or two of these "kids" will mature with the quality to fill the bill!

This fall, after confirmation from Mr. Ernest Loeb, we hope to have a fine litter from Ch. Bernd vom Kallengarten R.O.M. and our "Ulk" daughter, Juvanko's Carla. These puppies will be available next February, if all goes well, and reservations will be limited.

Another first for Donami occurred in May upon the purchase and importation of the male Basenji, Eng. Ch. Hadrian of Basen-Lake from England. We are very happy with his record in both countries under the expert handling of Mr. Frank Hardy.

Hadrian has not been defeated for the breed award in the four consecutive shows at which he has been entered so far, and has won the Hound Group once with a fourth placing in Group also. These wins gave him eight points in Canada towards his title.

Across the border, Hadrian remains undefeated for Best of Winners every time shown at time of writing and has several breed wins over champions. After a start with a fourth in group placing, he has eleven points in that country.

Ch. Avenger and little Hadrian are available at stud and we will be glad to furnish picture and pedigree of these boys on request. □

TO THE EDITOR

IN APPRECIATION

A few days ago we received a donation of $25.00 from Mrs. A. G. Yeats of 1316A King St. W., Toronto 3, in appreciation of your help in assisting her in the return of her dog.

Mrs. Yeats wrote "Miss Dunn did us a very great favour when we lost our little dog and we would like her to know that we are truly grateful". May I say how thoughtful of Mrs. Yeats to thank you in this manner and helping us to help in our animal welfare programme.

GEORGE HULME

General Manager, Toronto Humane Society.

(While we fully appreciate an owner's desire to reward the person responsible for reuniting master and pet, more than ample reward is derived at the confrontation scene. In this particular instance, Miss Dunn discovered a frightened little Chihuahua on a lonely country road, on her return from a cottage late one night. After four days of "getting to know" each other, Miss Dunn became an enthusiastic admirer of this courageous little breed. Newspaper advertising and the cooperation of radio stations produced a happy ending. — Ed.)

IDENTITY OF JUNIOR HANDLER

Regarding photo, page 78, June issue, the girl second from the left is our daughter, Margaret Dittrich. Just 12 years, she only recently became interested in handling dogs. Her win at the March 13 Sportsmen's Show was followed by a second at London (Forest City) and a first at Sarnia. These wins with our recently imported German Shepherd bitch, "Empress of Stahl Farm". Empress is now temporarily retired to raise her litter by Am. Ch. Condor vom Stoerstrudel. We then visited Detroit, Mich. to finish our male Shepherd's American CDX title. As Dusty is a very large, dynamic, powerful and strongly protective dog, we were somewhat dubious regarding Margaret's ability to handle him at this highly competitive show. (Dusty weighs 135 lbs. compared to Margaret's dainty 72 lbs.) Children can be persuasive and we finally permitted her to enter. Imagine our pleasure when Martin Holomo judged her the Best Handler in Show!

Couldn't these very important classes be held earlier in the day, before both children and dogs are usually exhausted. The luncheon period would be most suitable. Would also give more youngsters the chance to compete; it being a fact that most unbenched exhibitors leave as soon as possible.

We also have a four year old coming along capable of "out-handling" ALL of us. And she knows Novice, Open and Utility requirements perfectly already. She can't understand why she isn't permitted to enter Children's competition yet, particularly as she drags Dusty around with her all day, here at home.

HELP FOR NEWCOMER

We read with interest your column in the June issue of Dogs in Canada "Memo from the Editor". Maybe you can answer the following questions for me.

- How does a novice know when a show is a Sanction Show?
- Where can the Novice handler go for advice and/or training for showing his animal?
- Are there any books available?

We live in the Scarborough area and are interested in showing our German Shepherd starting in the puppy classes, and any advice you may give would be greatly appreciated.

The article by G. W. Frost of Edmonton, Alta., was most interesting and we especially liked his last statement about the temperament of German Shepherds as these are our sentiments exactly.

The whole family read your magazine from cover to cover. How about a question and answer column. This would be of great use to the new dog owners.

FROM A WESTIE FRIEND

Just had to write how wonderful the May cover on Dogs — good picture of Dee (Mrs. Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins) and a darling of the Westies. We really do enjoy Dogs in Canada — feel as though we do keep in touch. Memo from the Editor is always good and food for thought.

PEKE BREEDERS SHOULD X-RAY THEIR DOGS

In talking with local Peke breeders, I find it rather strange that so few have had their dogs x-rayed for hip dysplasia.

I had a 3½ year old female destroyed last April as she was suffering from h.d. Two weeks later, I bought a Peke on approval from a breeder from another city. It was a beautiful pup, daughter of an American and Canadian Champion, granddaughter of a Canadian Champion. I had planned to breed her so I had her x-rayed. I was shocked when told she also had h.d., so I returned the dog to the breeder.

I would suggest that if Peke breeders wish to maintain a healthy line of dog that they start x-raying their dogs. It is agreed that this will cost the breeder a few dollars but in the long run it would save this beautiful animal from becoming extinct.

OFFENSIVE MINORITY HURTS ALL

This past weekend I attended a dog show in Kingston. The show was fairly well attended, aspiring handlers of show dogs. I chose a motel which was lovely, had fine rooms and a lady and gentleman in charge.

I left the motel a little later than the "dog show" (uttered with disgust by the priestess) people and she introduced me to the reason for the reticence of many motel owners to rent rooms to people involved with showing dogs. I was ashamed to admit that I was involved in such a pastime as showing dogs after I heard what a state the rooms had been left in. They called the gardener off the grounds to help clean the rooms after the dog people had left. The dirt was too much for mere cleaning girls to tackle. What's more, the one room which we kept in a clean state unfortunately had a plugged drain from bathing dogs in the tub. No wonder the owners made a rule never to allow people who show dogs to stay at their motel with the dogs again!

The people who run this motel did not advertise that they would accept dogs as did some other motels. They just took us in as a favor. Verbal condition that the dogs were not to mess up the rooms. I assume that the inconsiderate offenders in this case read this letter and assume the responsibility that we have to spread favorable opinions of our dogs and their handlers, and mend their sloppy ways and keep their dogs off the beds.

I, for one, and many others I am sure resent being classed in a group with this small but offensive minority who treat the motel property of others (which after all they just rent for a small amount and find spotless) as a filthy kennel bathing station. The actions of people must certainly reflect their entire being!

BRICKS WITHOUT CLAY

Despite what undoubtedly must have been a diabolically uncomfortable and trying time due to your run-in with poison ivy, the June issue of Dogs in Canada in my opinion quite surpassed any other issues to date. I intended writing to you soon as I received it, but better late than never and I write now to congratulate you on your excellence.

Each succeeding issue of Dogs in Canada better than the last and I hope Canadian dog fanciers continue their support. It must be horribly frustrating to try to make "bricks without clay".

MRS. F. W. H. TROTT

Brentwood Bay, B.C.

Frankly, it would be easier to build better bricks with a better supply of "clay". It's quite a challenge! — Ed.

FROM THE EDITOR

IT CAN HAPPEN in the best of homes and kennels, regardless of family tree or venerable pedigree. There's a scratching within the framework of the house or kennels. It's mice and you know it, but neither bait nor trap will entice the little rodents from their lair. You swallow your pride because this certainly has never happened to you before. You have the horrible feeling that while you're trying to evict them the mice are busy raising a family and that if you don't get them out of there soon a set of grandchildren will be started. So before you lose any more sleep you decide to get professional help. You call an exterterminator. He gives you a lot of high-sounding gobbledygook and by the time he has left you your head is swimming with scientific facts and you are confident as he that the problem will be cleared up and your household will forever be safe from things that scratch and go boom in the night.

The service man arrives next morning wearing a clean white coat. You look for the apparatus that will probe into cracks and crannies that you haven't the skill or equipment to penetrate. Much to your surprise there isn't any. The man simply places some little cardboard boxes around on the floor containing a mixture of corn flour, sweetening and poison. This you could have done yourself, but that's not all!

"What about dogs?" you ask.

"Nothing to worry about," says he confidently. Not so confidently you say, "are you sure?" Certainly, he retorts and adds a dog would have to eat an awful lot before he got sick.

Thus assured, you allow a dog in the room. After a while there is a little chomping sound and you look with horror at your dog. There he is, glassy eyes, back arched, trembling. In terror you rush the dog to your veterinarian and its little stomach is washed out and pumped out and because of the prompt action the life is saved, but you have a sick dog in hospital for a week. You also have to bill to show for the excitement.

Dogs in Canada, interested in the case, talked to the management of the exterminator company. The man could have used covered metal containers, he conceded. At the same time he said a dog could eat its weight of the stuff before it was affected. There is almost tragic proof to the contrary, we said. Dogs talked with several veterinarians on this subject. All were adamant in stating the poison used is indeed poisonous to any animal coming in contact with it. One veterinarian helplessly watched a kennel of five Beagles die in Detroit. The owner had brought several dogs to the hospital when his wife telephoned that three more were violently ill. A Toronto veterinarian lost a fine poodle when the owners brought him nearly 24 hours after it had contacted the poison. If an affected dog is treated by a veterinarian within a few minutes or hours of eating the poison he can usually be saved, they said. But if a period of 12 to 24 hours elapses before treatment there is little hope. Why would anyone allow such time to slip away? Usually for the reason the owners don't know what is troubling the dog. In the case of the beautiful Poodle the dog had picked up the poison on the street in the Yorkville section of Toronto where the city health department had placed it to diminish the rat population. The health officials maintained the poison was harmless to dogs. The angry owners and veterinarian retorted they had a dead dog to disprove that statement.

This poison, it was explained, is an anti-coagulant, thinning the animal's blood until its lungs fill and it virtually drowns in the liquid contained in its body. There is a craving for water, and when the mouse or rat can't obtain water, it returns to the poison and eats more, going back to the recesses between the walls to die.

If you are forced to use a rodent poison, be sure it is in a covered container so that other living creatures cannot reach into it. But don't let anyone try to convince you that it is harmless.

On the lighter side, yet somewhat sad, is the story a well-known breeder told us the other day. She was certain she had seen a weasel in her kennels, which are quite new and very well built. Her husband laughed off her concern as womanly imagination. The next night he came into the house and somewhat shakenly confirmed her fears. Because of the new litters of puppies, as well as the older dogs, it was necessary to rip out part of the kennel wall. There they discovered a family of weasel babies as well as the older ones. They had to be killed, of course, but the breeder, who loves all animals, paced the floor and cried for some hours, she said, because she felt so sorry for the weasel parents!

THIS ISSUE, which was scheduled for the special promotion of the German Shepherd Dog, has been revised to carry more general articles as well as some information on the German Shepherd. The German Shepherd virtually leads in story material, not only because of its magnificence as a breed, but its participation in so many walks of life. The Shepherd is found in guard and patrol work, as a working companion of the blind, in rescue

"I think," said the Old Timer "that I've got an idea."

I whistled to express amazement. "Surely not at your age and on a hot day like this," I commented.

The Old Timer grinned.

"Actually," he said, "I'm kidding, but how about a 'Raised Eyebrow' division in The Canadian Kennel Club office administration?"

"Raised Eyebrow division?" I questioned. "Of course you're kidding but what would it do?"

The Old Timer chuckled. He reached for his pouch, cleaned out his pipe carefully, filled it just as carefully and then, with a grin settled back in his chair.

"The Raised Eyebrow Division," he said, "would be just that. Its job would be to provide answers to those things that happen at dog shows that cause raised eyebrows among the exhibitors."

"Like what?" I asked.

The Old Timer lighted his pipe just as carefully as he had cleaned and filled it. He shoved his fedora to the back of his head and pulled on the lobe of his ear.

"When I said I was kidding, I was only half kidding," he said. "I'm thinking particularly of judging inconsistencies — the glaring ones — and I think perhaps something could be done about it. Let's take a 'for instance' to show what I'm getting at."

"Okay," I answered, "Let's take a 'for instance' whatever that is."

The Old Timer looked at me.

"Now", he said, "I could name names and I could name shows — but I'm not going to. So, for instance, let's say Mr. A. and Mr. B. are both judges. They are also both exhibitors. Mr. A. has a dog that he has been showing — but not very successfully. The only time it has taken points has been when it's been alone in its sex. He enters it under Mr. B. and suddenly it's a group winner over dogs that have had consistent group placements and even Best in Shows to their credit.

"We wait a couple of months and this time Mr. A. is the judge. Mr. B. has a dog that's been doing not too badly — but has never at any time been a sensational winner. Suddenly, under Mr. A. it's a Best in Show dog. Now there may be nothing wrong with either placement — but they do go into the raised eyebrow department."

"And what would your Raised Eyebrow Department do?" I asked.

"I'm thinking of that fifty cent recording fee each exhibitor pays. The recording section at the CKC recording wins. It finds a two or three-year-old dog that in all its show career has had only a couple of one point wins — and that by virtue of the fact that it had no competition in its breed. Suddenly it's a group winner for four or five points. Nothing, of course, can be done at that time but couldn't the card be flagged to watch future wins. The dog does nothing spectacular until it's under the same judge again. Again it's a top winner. Surely the eyebrows go a little higher — perhaps high enough so that someone takes a look at the wins of dogs owned by the judge who apparently likes this dog so much. And a curious situation is revealed. Judge A's dogs have had their top wins under Judge B and by a strange coincidence the only major wins Judge B's dogs have had have been under Judge A.

"Oh I admit, nothing could be done, beyond perhaps informing the two judges of the coincidence, which might at least prevent coincidence becoming a habit.

"Frankly, I'm concerned about this situation. Much of the structure of the dog game rests on the integrity of the judges. Most of our judges are honest. But one rotten apple can spoil a barrel. I don't know whether a Raised Eyebrow Department could function but it might be worth a little exploration."

CAN WE DEVELOP BETTER BIRD DOGS BY INBREEDING AND LINEBREEDING

While in the Hawaiian Islands recently I became intrigued with the genealogical history of the Royal Hawaiian family and found it had been the custom for the kings to marry their own sisters. Tradition and recorded history indicate these close intermarriages prevailed for hundreds of years. When the missionaries arrived in the islands in 1821 they were amazed at the physical perfection and high intelligence of the members of the royal family.

In 1793 Captain Vancouver sailed the good ship Discovery to Hawaii and presented the king with one bull and two cows. The bull died soon after arrival but the two cows and their offspring showed tremendous potency. With an abundance of good pasture and royal protection the herd multiplied into thousands of head of cattle of high quality that would be a credit to any rancher.

Further research into this interesting subject of close breeding disclosed that Thomas Mann, 50 years ago, bred rats brother to sister for many generations without any physical degeneracy.

The mice used for scientific experiments throughout the world must be exactly the same in all physical characteristics so that when a scientist in Moscow makes an experiment it can be repeated in New York or elsewhere in order to confirm the result. These mice were developed for this purpose by breeding brother to sister for many generations and the mice remain healthy and vigorous.

Getting back to the dog world, we find that the spectacular achievements recently made in training dogs to lead the blind are due largely to the present breeding program of mating father to daughter, father to granddaughter, father to great granddaughter generation after generation.

If you intend to follow inbreeding or linebreeding you must make sure you have specimens for your foundation as close to perfection as it is possible to obtain.

Breeding the perfect dog seems so simple and easy but the pitfalls are many and you will find that perfection is always just over the next hill. □

Gaines Booklet Offers Help in Naming a Dog

As anyone who has sat through the long night hours of a whelping time can tell you, choosing a suitable name for a dog is no easy matter. (The writer and friends finished up one night vigil with exactly 100 names and were still not satisfied). Breeders who know their strains and have worked out a system are not so badly off. But the individual—your customer—with possibly his first dog, is likely to fall prey to easy names like Tiger, Pal, Lady, Lassie, Prince Queenie.

Gaines Dog Research Center comes to the rescue with a booklet. A Name to Fit Your Dog, which stresses the importance of choosing a meaningful name. It is also helpful to the kennel owner running out of ideas.

Just write to Gaines requesting the pamphlet A Name to Fit Your Dog, P.O. Box 1007, Kankakee, Ill. 60901. No charge.

Canadians will benefit from Morris research the General Manager of the Ontario Humane states.

A lot has been written and said about the use of animals in research. In Canada every year probably about eight to nine thousand dogs are subjected to some form of process which is part of an experimental procedure or test designed to increase man's capacity to treat his own disease, sickness, injury or simply the process of aging.

Many people criticize the use of animals in this way by suggesting that man should not cause pain or suffering to other forms of animal life simply to improve his own. Whether one is opposed to the use of animals for research or not, there will always be the feeling in the back of one's mind that our interest is extremely selfish. Perhaps this explains a modern phenomena, in which a group of men and women band together to try to give impetus to scientists to find a cure for a specific disease.

But there is another form of research involving animals which cannot be criticized on any grounds. I refer to the magnificent work done by the Morris Animal Foundation in Denver, Colorado. Just in case you are not familiar with this Foundation, this is a non-profit organization financed by humanitarians both individually and collectively throughout the United States and Canada. I should add that the Canadian contribution is rather small any way you care to look at it. If you compare it on a per capita basis, the support is still less than it should be and less than I hope it will be in the future.

The Morris Animal Foundation is divided into three divisions — canine, equine and feline. Each division attempts to bridge the gap between the owner and the scientific laboratory.

Naturally the canine division is the most interesting to the readers of Dogs in Canada, and some of the work done by this division is well worth reporting. For example, 120 national dog breed clubs in North America are currently being surveyed by the Morris Foundation, to determine health research needs.

The information will be valuable in establishing priorities for canine re-

I would like to call your attention to a new product that we now have for the prevention of estrus (heat periods) in your female dog or cat.

One injection usually brings your pet out of an established heat period in from 1 to 7 days and will keep her out of heat for at least six months. To prevent the animal from coming into heat, it is recommended that the injection be administered two to three weeks before she is due. In animals where long-term prevention of estrus is desired, the animal should receive an injection every six months. Yet, should you wish your animal to be bred at a future date, cessation of the injections will be followed by return to normal heat periods after a variable lag period with no adverse effects on breeding capabilities or litter size and condition.

I'd be happy to discuss the use of this treatment with you for your pet.

search. A good idea of the support given to the Foundation by clubs in the United States can be obtained from the fact that the Collie Club of America has raised $5,000 through contributions from members to finance research at the Ohio State University into the eye problems of dogs. The Morris Foundation showed its appreciation for this practical support by giving a Special Citation to Dale McMackin of St. Louis, who is Past President of the Collie Club.

Canada is represented on the Advisory Board by Dr. T. Lloyd Jones, who is Dean of the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph. A number of projects at Guelph have been financed by the Morris Foundation.

The annual report published by the Foundation for 1965 lists a number of current studies that are now being carried out in the field of canine research at various universities under grants from the Foundation. Even a casual study of the list makes you realize just how essential the work of the Foundation is.

I have often, in this column, commented on the need for research into various diseases of animals. Now that I am better aware of the work of the Morris Animal Foundation, I realize how much they deserve our support and encouragement.

New! Different!

Naturally work of this sort cannot go on without money. Money is needed to process grants, to produce literature, to administer the work of the Foundation and finally to finance the actual research. I should hasten to add that the Morris Animal Foundation is not a multi-million dollar organization that lives on its own fat. To the contrary, it is a down to earth organization which operated in 1964 on a total budget of less than $150,000. This is roughly the amount of money spent on animal control in any large city of over one million population. Surely this is a pathetically small amount considering the vast sums of money, running into millions of dollars, that are spent annually in the United States and Canada on such things as the purchase of pet foods, collars, leads, clothing and other related services. Compared to the amount of money spent by dog owners on boarding, training and exhibiting their dogs, it is a disgracefully small amount. What is wanted, perhaps, is a Canadian Branch of the Foundation which would have the task of raising funds for the Foundation in Canada. In this way, donors to the Fund could obtain Income Tax concessions for their donations. This might be a means of encouraging the increase of donations.

Anyone who is interested in the Foundation and would like to contribute individually can get in touch with the Foundation at 531, Guaranty Bank Building, Denver, Colorado USA. The Executive Director is Mr. Claude Ramsey. If nothing else, I would urge anyone to write to the Foundation and get a copy of the report. Studying the completed projects will alone impress you. Certainly our animals are most fortunate to have working for them on their behalf such a dedicated and talented group of men.

So many canine diseases are difficult to diagnose and more difficult to treat. The only answer to improved canine health is research. Your local veterinary surgeon has no facilities, time or the necessary scientific background to carry out research himself. He is already overworked, trying to deal with the problems that are brought to him each day in his animal clinic.

Research, to be of any value, must be carried on free of financial worry and not restricted by any commercial consideration. It must be pure research.

One suggestion that I have for every dog owner is to consider how much money he spent on veterinary fees in any one year and send a donation of 10% of that amount to the Morris Animal Foundation. It will be the best investment he ever made. It might contribute to finding the solution to a particular problem which may cost him many hundreds of dollars in veterinary fees in the future.

Don't Sell Canadian-Breds Short

by MRS. R. H. (ROBBIE) WALKER

Let's give Canadian-breds first consideration, urges this well-known Shepherd breeder. The word "import" is no guarantee of "best".

We believe that the most important factor in breeding good German Shepherds is a thorough knowledge of the breed and an understanding of the Standard. Being able to simply read the Standard is not sufficient. One must be able to apply that Standard to the dogs he owns.

In the breeding of our first two litters at Na-Robi we settled for a mediocre bitch and bred her to reasonably good dogs but all we managed to produce was mediocre stock. The puppies of these two litters were sound in temperament, pretty to look at and healthy — but that's where it ended.

In our quest for improvement we bought a top bitch for breeding from Long-Worth kennels which is legend in the Shepherd breed for its consistency in producing top winning stock which were linebred on three great dogs of the 1930's: Arras aus der Stadt Velbert, Odin von Busecker Schloss and Pfeffer von Bern. We also acquired two sisters which were heavily linebred on the famous Long-Worth D litter.

In the mid-1950's two top German imports were made available in this area which changed the whole shape of things in Canada. They were the 1955 Grand Victor Ch. Vali vom Seighaus and the 1957 Grand Victor Ch. Ero v.d. Auwallenburg. Although Vali was used a lot less he still made his presence known. Ero, of course, was the sire of numerous champions and definitely put his stamp on the breed in Canada.

We used Vali in our program only once and in this litter there was only one bitch. This matron is the mother of three champions and several other point winners. Her children in turn are producing champions.

We bred to Ero five times and we also produced champions which are producing champions. We also used a few other imports with the same good results. We have found that quite a lot of our success has come from using our linebred bitches to the Axel line through Ch. Ero, Ch. Troll von Richterbach and Alf von Nordfelsen.

For a while in the early 1950's the thought seemed to be that "if it came from Germany it had to be good", and we believe for a while this slowed down a lot of progress generally. Now young breeders seem to be realizing that true quality can come from any country, but there isn't any doubt that our breed in Canada needed a "shot in the arm" when Vali and Ero arrived.

Now it would be nice if people would begin to respect the Canadian-bred male. There are many top males in this country with extremely good backgrounds which probably should be used more often. (Here we will not mention names since the dogs we refer to are living and we don't want this to sound like a commercial even though many we can think of aren't necessarily ours.)

It is no longer necessary for Canadian-breds to take a back seat. Many dogs from the Western Ontario area are going down into the States and doing some good winning. I think in general our Shepherd breeders' per capita average of good dogs is probably as good as any country in the world, even Germany. True, they are producing and selling a lot of top dogs to this country but they are a very small percentage of the total of Shepherds bred in that country.

I would urge that if you are planning to bring additional stock to your kennel, or breeding to develop your own line, do give first consideration to Canadian-bred dogs and their records. □

JUDGING THE SHEPHERD

By MRS. HEATHER LOGAN

A high award mistakenly given a lesser dog may influence breeders and deal the breed a serious blow, avers this breeder and judge of Shepherds.

IT is, indeed, a great responsibility when a mortal sallies forth into the ring to pass judgment upon a breed. If you are to stop a moment and think, you must realize that many things are influenced by a judge's placings at each assignment!

A novice embarking on his first attempts in the ring is depending upon this person to give him an accurate judgment of his dog. This decision may influence his efforts in dogs for some time to come. If a mistake is made and his dog, perhaps with several faults, is given a high award; or worse, say he has a good specimen and is put down to an inferior dog, then the breed has been dealt a serious blow and a novice may have been sent on a path from which the turning may be costly in many ways. The choice for Best of Breed may influence breeders, rightly or wrongly, to use this male at stud, or as the case may be, this bitch for breeding. If the best animal present has not been selected, then a judge has lost the faith of many breeders.

When judging the Shepherd, the first thing which one must consider is correct temperament. This is a guard dog breed and therefore one should not expect the affability of the Cocker Spaniel. An animal that will not stand its ground when approached or issue a warning under provocation should not receive an award. A shy, shrinking dog does not possess either the desired nobility for the breed, nor is it suited to perform the work required of the Shepherd. Remember, this breed must always have "that look of eagles," to coin an oft used phrase.

In my opinion, another serious fault that is evident only too often these days, is lack of substance and bone. Another problem we seem to have is faulty rear assemblies, especially short and steep, or short and flat croups which take away from the desired rear drive in motion. The long, gently sloping croup described in our standard, which should form approximately one-third of the total length of the dog, is seldom seen in the breed today.

Fortunately, we are beginning to see Shepherds with good sound fore assemblies, better movement coming and going, with a ground covering side gait and an excellent head, which is so important as it is one of the features that distinguishes our breed from all the others. These common faults of conformation have been heavily penalized by the judges in the past few years and the results have been very gratifying to many astute breeders.

I have tried to outline some of the more serious faults that I see present today, with the breed solely at heart, and I am sure that all conscientious breeders of the German Shepherd dog will agree that our judges must be the appointed "watch dogs" of each breed and work together with us to help eradicate these major faults that plague the breed from time to time. □

Hormonal Delay of Estrus in the Bitch

At last — a tested method of preventing a mating at a critical time without surgery — and yet having litters later when desired.

IN passing from the primeval wild state to one of domesticity, dogs have had to make numerous adjustments. They have had to adjust to man's food, to man's shelter, to man's clothing, to man's idea of how they should act, and even to man's idea of how they should look. These adjustments have not been easy. In fact, it has taken dogs several thousand years to reach their present state, and adjustments are still going on.

But flexible as dogs have been to man's way of life — man's food, shelter, clothing and ideas of how dogs should look and act, man has not been able to make dogs adjust in one important area. Man has been able to adjust dogs, but he has not been able to manipulate nature. As might be expected, this balky inflexibility has not been demonstrated by the total dog population, but only by the perverse female of the species, the bitch. The bitch has persisted in coming into heat twice a year. Man has responded by isolating, chastising, feeding chlorophyll, spraying, and in final desperation, spaying, thereby avoiding the problem, covering up the problem, or removing the problem for all time—but he has not been able to prevent the problem—two million heats a year in Canada.

Promone E has now been used with over 2,000 Canadian pets over the past two years by veterinarians who reported their findings to ensure that the product is effective and safe.

Let's examine the problem at its source — the heat cycle or estrus cycle of the bitch.

The prepubertal bitch pup does not exhibit an estrus cycle. At puberty, the first estrus cycle is exhibited. This may occur as early as six to twelve months of age or as late as 18 to 24 months. It is divided into four phases. Proestrus is the phase of "coming into heat." It lasts an average of nine days, but may range anywhere from two to 27 days. There is vulvar swelling and hemorrhage. The bitch is attractive to male dogs, but will not stand for breeding.

Estrus is the period of "sexual desire." It also lasts an average of nine days, but may range anywhere from four to 13 days. In estrus, the bitch accepts breeding. Metestrus is the phase of "gradual subsiding." It lasts an average of 80 to 90 days. Anestrus is the phase of "relative quiescence." It lasts approximately 60 days.

Variations in the estrus cycle occur and this has been observed not only between different breeds, but even in the same bitch. Some bitches exhibit three or four cycles a year; others only two. If the bitch does not become pregnant, the estrus cycle continues with more-or-less regularity throughout its adult life.

There are usually two cycles a year, and although these are popularly thought to occur in the spring and again in the fall, this is not true. Seasonal differences in incidence of estrus are not striking.

This, then, is the estrus cycle of the bitch.

One can well imagine occasions on which dog owners would appreciate delay of estrus in their bitches. These occasions might be in one of four categories:

1. When long-term prevention of estrus is desired, in hunting dogs, racing dogs, show dogs, companion dogs, and house dogs.
2. When long-term prevention of estrus is desired or required to reduce the number of litters.
3. When long-term prevention of estrus is medically indicated, as in bitches that demonstrate excessive hemorrhage during estrus, in bitches with prolonged estrus, in bitches with repeatedly close cycles, in spayed bitches that are still attractive, and in bitches with multiple mammary tumors in which estrus is associated with rapid tumor growth.

4. When pregnancy and delivery are medically contraindicated, and long-term prevention of estrus thus indicated. Pregnancy and delivery might be contraindicated in bitches with hernias, birth-canal weakness, obstruction, uterine and general debility.

Prevention of estrus in the bitch could previously be accomplished only by surgical intervention. The effect was permanent and could not be reversed. Now there is a drug available from your veterinarian that will not only prevent estrus in the bitch, but will allow the bitch to come into heat and have pups at a later date. This drug is an injectable progesterone-like drug, Promone E, manufactured by The Upjohn Company, Don Mills, Ont.

When injected in bitches, Promone E produces effects in the ovary and uterus that are characteristic of pregnancy. The end result is that the estrus cycle is prevented and cannot continue until the drug wears off. When it is desired that the bitch return to normal cycling, the injections are stopped. It is not possible to predict when a bitch will come into heat after receiving Promone E; the effect persists for a variable period after administration has ceased. If, after several productive heats, it is again desirable to prevent estrus, Promone E may be reinstituted. □

READ, BREED, WEED

by MRS. R. PERCY ADAMS

There's no shortcut to success in line breeding, maintains this world famous breeder of Skyes.

THIS breeding business has represented many years of trial and error. Although my original Skyes from Scotland were of the finest strain, they were not used in the way I would breed today, having gained by experience and much research and study.

At first I simply did what so many still do today, just mated dogs to dogs. I have learned through much disappointment and sadness that one cannot breed this way. It is so important to find out, if possible, exactly what good and not-so-good points

Small boy to father: "Here's my report card and I'd just as soon not bother telling anybody about how you blackened Collieboy's nose before you took him into the ring."

every dog in the pedigree of dam and sire has, going back to seven or eight generations. These points do turn up in your litters, especially when doubled up by sire and dam.

SIX GENERATIONS

Just now I have six generations living in my kennel of about 70 Skyes. I hope to have the seventh generation before I lose Ch. Alison of the Mynd. I did own the eighth generation of the direct male line, and many back of that. I have always bred from the same main strain but had not had great success until I combined the Austrian strain of Austria's Fairy Queen (which goes way back to the ancestors of my old Ch. George of Merrymount), and the son of Ch. (Can. & Eng.) Alison of the Mynd. This mating has been made three times, each litter producing champions of great merit, winners of Best in Show and Terrier Group (and their children producing champion children and grandchildren).

Among these Ch. (Can. & Am.) Talisker's Fairy Wonder, Ch. Talisker's Fairy Tale, Ch. Lovely Fairy were in the first litter; in the second litter were Ch. (Can. & Am.) Talisker's Fairy Heir, Ch. Fairy Shadow and others of as great merit, though unshown. The third litter produced Ch. Talisker's Adorable Fairy and Ch. Talisker's Fairy Dream.

HALF-BROTHER, HALF-SISTER MATING

Of this line I have mated brother and sister, uncle and niece, father and daughter, and so on. The brother and sister mating produced Ch. (Can. & Am.) Mister Wonderful, whose son Young Wonderful is now winning well, and his son in turn shows great merit. I like half-brother and half-sister mating. I have found in mating this way I am gaining size, so hope soon to mate both these last-named dogs back to their very small mothers to see if I can get a more medium size. I have concentrated too on building another line by mating brother and sister who have produced excellent points. This line is from dogs I had 30 years ago, mated to children of sisters of Alison of the Mynd many generations back, which gives me the excellence of this family plus the good points of my old family. In this very close mating one may expect a couple or more very good dogs, and of course some who have inherited the bad genes. These latter must be destroyed at birth, if the faults can be seen. Some faults develop as the puppies mature, but must not be bred from.

I am now going to try to develop another line with the bitches I have recently imported from Czechoslovakia sired by their finest Skye, Ch. Olivia Jatagan, and hope to incorporate some of his good points.

USE TOP DOGS

I feel that once a "good nick" has been found between two Skyes or two strains, it should be continued. (Many goods dogs come from second and third matings.) But to do this with dogs of which you do not know the background of many generations, or who are not nearly perfect themselves, is fruitless. I have imported many, many Skyes who have not come up to expectations. I have had them put to sleep. To breed top dogs, I have found one must use top dogs, both of pedigree and quality themselves. The late Sir Claud Alexander, world authority on the Skye Terrier, who died about 1945, always said to me: "To arrive at success you must judge your Skyes mercilessly." This, of course, applies to any breed. One must not suffer from kennel blindness.

One thing which I find is very important: a Skye or any breed who is shy or sharp in temperament must not be used for breeding, nor should any dog in whom a bad fault shows in the second generation of breeding. No Skye or any other breed is perfect, or ever will be. Nature takes care of this and in the long run has the real "say" as to what comes in our litters. But with an open mind, hard research and study, and a lot of common sense, combined with great expense, we can breed a few really beautiful animals. The joy of producing one real beauty diminishes the disappointment and sadness which are always a part of this accomplishment. □

by W. J. LENNOX, D.V.M. (O.V.C.)

SINCE the introduction of Sulfonamides and later the availability of antibiotics, the life span of men and animals has increased considerably. Some of the severe, acute diseases which were in many instances fatal, have now been reduced to a status of only moderate concern. The decrease in the severity of diseases has unfortunately led to an increase in the number of chronic cases.

We may expect, with the advances in medicine, that this pattern will continue with animals living longer and suffering more with insidious chronic senile changes. Much research and emphasis is presently focused on the care and maintenance of the older animal.

Possibly one of the greatest contributing factors to premature senility and degeneration is the improper feeding of the average house pet. It is probable that, with few exceptions, obesity does not exist unless the intake of food is considerably in excess of the normal requirements.

It is wishful thinking to believe, or pretend to believe, that one's dog is overweight because of "glandular" trouble. This is an excuse commonly made by humans in an attempt to maintain peace of mind, when in reality it is in many cases nothing more than consuming more energy than one is using. Dr. Ryeanson, as co-author in an excellent book on human obesity, suggested that "the only glands involved in obesity are the salivary glands".

Man has adopted the animal and has arranged that it become dependent upon him for shelter, warmth, exercise and food. Having assumed this responsibility then, it becomes man's duty, having destroyed the animal's natural environment and some instincts, to care for it sensibly. It is interesting to note the condemnation of an owner who has an animal suffering from some malnutrition, which is "relatively" rare, while those with extremely overweight animals escape notice, when in effect they are guilty of mistreatment also.

Dogs are creatures of habit and will adjust more quickly to environments than will humans. It follows that the little animal that refuses certain foods and demands foods that were not designed for him is but reflecting the owner's mismanagement.

While dogs can survive comfortably on the same diet that humans enjoy, such a diet presents a number of difficult problems. So often the dog is presented with left-overs which are often in the form of fatty scraps and carbohydrate residues. Protein which is necessary for the building and replacing of vital tissue is often deficient, and a state of unbalanced results.

When obesity occurs, it is difficult for the owner to devise a suitable diet to produce weight loss. The animal in all probability has been fed the same volume daily, but the different caloric value may vary as much as 200-300 calories from day to day.

A consistent diet enables the owner to adjust the requirements for the animal with the knowledge that each daily feeding has the same caloric value. Little concern should be given to the changing of food tastes in sympathy with the animal's palate.

An animal should be fed according to his activity in order to maintain a consistent weight. It is difficult to understand why animals are allowed the same rations during the winter months as during the summer months when they are more active.

The energy requirements during the summer may double the winter requirements because of activity with children and the exposure to country and cottage living.

Improper feeding with resulting overweight predisposes to many undesirable pathological conditions. The incidence of heart failure or insufficiency is common in the overweight animal. The extra burden placed on the frame of the animal encourages joint disorders such as ruptured ligaments — intervertebral discs and arthritis.

The overweight animal is usually not a good producer — and most certainly presents difficulties during whelping.

Dog food producers for many years have recognized the value of pets to their owners and have spent vast amounts of money on research to perfect foods which are balanced, palatable, nutritious and inexpensive. These foods are designed to the dog's physiological system and all factors have been considered for compatibility with the animal's vital organs. It is difficult for the average owner to design a food that will fulfill these requirements. We may buy more expensive food, but there is danger in comparing costly foods to balanced foods.

It is so pitiful to see so often the tearful owner trying to explain that her animal, which is critically ill, has had the best of everything, including baby beef liver, shrimp, top round steak, chicken, etc., and not understanding that indeed this may have predisposed to the animal's early death.

In conclusion, it is current opinion that an animal fed a consistent diet is most certainly an animal less likely to be a premature burden to himself and an expense and a sorrowful experience for his owner, to say nothing about the happy mental attitude of both. □

HOT WEATHER HINTS

Summer is upon us and maybe this is a good time to think of precautions we should take in the hot weather with regard to our dogs. Many losses are reported time and time again of dogs who have been left in cars. At the time the dog is left in the car that particular spot may be in the shade but within an hour if the position of the sun changes your car may become as hot as an oven. Open windows do not solve the problem as dogs may jump out if windows are opened sufficiently to allow proper circulation of air. To chain the dog in the car too may involve some risk. The safest method is to leave the dog at home if you cannot have it with you.

When a dog or puppy is to be shipped try to route it so as to travel during the late evening or night and make sure that a full itinerary is posted on the shipping crate. Instructions should be included to water the dog at intervals and at all times to keep crate in the shade and all other boxes and crates away so as not to shut off the supply of air and cool breeze. Always have arrangements for shipping made but wait until a break in the weather occurs — there may be a cool day, then rush the dog. Never start a shipment to arrive on either Saturday or Sunday as the express offices in many towns are closed for the weekend and the dog may be held over and exposed to the heat.

Puppies should be given the benefit of fresh outdoor air and plenty of sunlight but too much exposure during the heat of the day may result in heat or sunstroke. The pen or run for the dogs and puppies should be so located that there is shade provided at all times, either by shade trees or canvas spread over the top of the runs. It is best to put puppies out early in the morning when it is cool and put them away from about noon time until four o'clock.

Act quickly in case of heat or sunstroke. The first symptoms are panting, a staggering gait and breathing may become very difficult; the dog may fall to the ground gasping. Remove the dog to a cool shady spot and place ice packs on the head. Place him in a prone position, make sure he is breathing and watch the tongue.

It should be pulled to the surface so that the dog does not choke. At this time it is wise to administer a little brandy or black tea to stimulate the dog. Cold towels may be placed on the body. In the case of severe sunstroke the dog may develop vomiting and diarrhea. In such an instance it is best to consult your veterinarian.

During hot weather dogs tend to eat lightly; this is nature's way of protecting them from the heat. Foods containing carbohydrates should be limited or completely eliminated during the hot spell. Cool, clean water should be available to the dog 24 hours a day. Remember cleanliness of dogs and kennels at all times is a necessity. Daily grooming of all dogs means that any unusual condition will be noticed immediately and prompt action will alleviate a great deal of discomfort for the dog and work for you too.

Hot weather brings along its problems of fleas and ticks which make life miserable for dogs. A scratch to rid himself of just one flea or tick may start a bad skin irritation. It is best to use a good insecticide powder at least once a week.

Dust, pollen or grass seed may cause eye and ear irritation. In case of eye trouble bathe at once with a boric solution or a good eye lotion. Remove any foreign matter which may be causing the irritation.

The dogs should receive as much exercise during the summer as they do at other times. All you need to do is change the time. It is wise to exercise the dogs in the early morning and late evening.

"Somebody's Dog"

*"Only a dog,"
Said a cop on the street.
"Only a dog"
That lay at his feet.
But one of God's creatures,
Mangled and torn,
The victim of someone
Who just honked his horn.*

*Somebody's dog.
Maybe a joy
Torn from the heart
Of a dog-loving boy.
Someone will miss
The heart-warming hail
Voiced without words
By a dog's wagging tail.*

*Someone will feel
The pain and regret
A dog lover knows
With the loss of a pet.
In somebody's life
A dog had its part,*

*A spot of its own
In somebody's heart.*

*So Mr. Driver,
Whoever you are,
Please be more careful
When driving your car.
Just for a dog's
And somebody's sake
When tooting your horn
Bear down on the brake.*

*And Mr. Policeman
Whatever your name,
For a common expression
You're not to blame,
But don't let a stock word
Your good nature be-fog
Please don't say "only"
Say "Somebody's Dog."*

The German Import

Held Vom Elbbachtal Sch H III FH AD

HELD'S HIP X-RAY

Sire:
ALF VOM
NORDFELSEN

Dam:
BURGA VOM
ELBBACHTAL

I HAVE WITHDRAWN THIS DOG FROM STUD BECAUSE OF HIP DYSPLASIA

Held was imported as a proven sire of Class I dogs in Germany—every litter he has produced in Canada has had Hip Dysplasia.

The British Veterinary Association in the report of their research on Hip Dysplasia state:

Breeders can themselves do something to stop the spread and hasten the eradication of these defects.

Frankness on the subject of affected stock would do a great deal. Is this too much to ask of responsible breeders? Other steps are possible. First the refusal to use any affected animal for breeding. Second, the realization that any animal which has produced an affected puppy may itself be a carrier of the defect, and in the case of a pair of recessive genes, must be a carrier. Finally the realization that some litter mates of affected animals are likely to be carriers. The more breeders can learn about the ancestors, and above all the progeny of breeding stock, the better chance there is of avoiding affected strains.

In 1962 Dr. A. J. Cawley, Department of Medicine and Surgery, Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, Ontario, in an article for Dogs in Canada wrote:

"It has been definitely established that hip dysplasia in the German Shepherd Dog is hereditary. The mode of inheritance is still debatable.

"The treatment of dogs with hip dysplasia will produce some freedom from pain when certain types of drugs are used. Unfortunately the arthritic process advances at its original rate to produce eventual crippling. The treatment of these animals to keep them in shows or prolong their reproductive life is a practice which is to be condemned.

"If hip dysplasia is to become an uncommon disease in the German Shepherd Dog population as a whole, it must be recognized by individuals breeding such dogs and the affected animals must be removed from the breeding stock."

Dr. Brian Sorrell, D.V.M., in an article for Dogs in Canada, writes:

"A little bit of dysplasia is still dysplasia. No matter how you slice it, the lad or lass who has this condition is a menace to his or her progeny."

The Armens Hundskola, Overgard, Sweden, in a study of 222 pups from 47 litters of purebred German Shepherd Dogs, the litters from 46 different bitches and 24 different studs, established the fact that the mating of normal parents produced offspring with a lower frequency of hip dysplasia than when parents with dysplasia were mated.

The new resolution resulting from a joint meeting of the World Small Animal Veterinary Association and the American Animal Hospital Association is worthy of consideration by every German Shepherd Dog Breeder.

WHEREAS canine hip dysplasia is an international disease affecting a large segment of the dog population, causing suffering and disability to the dog, and great economical and sentimental loss to the owners, be it resolved that the World Small Animal Veterinary Association, meeting in Washington, D.C., March 15, 1965, through its affiliated National Associations, and individual members take appropriate steps, whatever they may be, to eliminate this menacing disease."

In the President's Annual Report for the S.V. in the July issue of the S.V. publication 1963, Dr. Werner Funk states "Concerning Hip Dysplasia — we have decided to punish all dogs with non-sturdy hind quarters by a low qualification ... We believe this to be the most practical and only method to oppose Dysplasia which really is of minor importance in Germany. We also shall continue the started breeding experiments in spite of certain oppositions from Veterinary Colleges ..."

New Brunswick Field Trial Association

The field trial for pointing dogs held by the New Brunswick Field Trial Association on May 15 and 16 at Everett's Pheasant Preserve, Mactaquac, N.B. attracted fresh competition.

Saturday, May 15, opened sunny and fair and the shooting dog stake started at 9.15 with 16 dogs entered, under Judges F. H. Cunhill, Montreal, P.Q., and Lieut. Roy Ellison, Halifax, N.S. Some very good work in the back course bird field on planted pheasants was exhibited. First place went to Dufferin Mae, Pointer, owned and handled by H. O. Whitman, Gunningville, N.B. Second place went to Pego Lucky Strike, English Setter owned and handled by C. D. McManus, Moncton. Third place went to Monarch of the Vale, Irish Setter owned and handled by Kenn Chinn, Waverley, N.S. No fourth place was awarded. In this event Dufferin Mae won her championship with 14 points to her credit.

Derby Dog Stake, judged by Dr. Stuart Geddes, Moncton, N.B. and Capt. K. L. Mollison, Oromocto, N.B.; eight dogs in this entry. First place went to Corky de Leigh, Brittany, owner Basil Hawkins, Nashwaaksis, N.B. Second place to Princess Penelope of Bruno, German Shorthaired Pointer, owner and handler Alan Thompson, Westfield, N.B. Third to Princess Heidi Lee of Bruno, German Shorthaired Pointer, handled by Lois Ellwood, Westfield, N.B. Fourth place to Freckles de Leigh, Brittany, by Freeman Swan, Oromocto.

Special mention should be made of 2nd and 3rd place German Shorthaired Pointers entered in their first field trial in both Puppy and Derby stakes. Both dogs ran a good back course and were steady to point and flush, but chased to shot.

Sunday, May 16: Open All Age, judged by F. H. Cunhill, Montreal, and Basil Hawkins, Nooshowksis, N.B. No points for CKC awards were given, as the judges could not find a dog steady to shot, although most dogs were steady to point and flush. However, ribbons and prizes were given to the following dogs: 1st, Down Wind Pepsi, Pointer, owner and handler Major Collins, Rothesay, N.B.; 2nd, Asti Von Hagen Hagen, G.S.H., Major Donaldson, Oromocto, N.B.; 3rd, Woodridge Lady Patsy, Pointer, handled by E. Everett, Mactaquac, N.B.;

4th, Sir Lancelot, English Setter, A. D. Gray, Coverdale, N.B. 12 dogs in this entry.

Puppy Stake run off Sunday, May 16, eight dogs in this entry. Judges, H. O. Whitman, Gunningville, N.B. and Mrs. Gordon Donaldson, Oromocto, N.B. 1st, Princess Penelope of Bruno, G.S.F., Alan Thompson, Westfield, N.B.; 2nd, Petite Sue Belle of Lee Whirlaway, Brittany, owner Dr. Thompson, Fredericton, N.B.; 3rd, Princess Heidi Lee of Bruno, G.S.F., owner and handler Lois Ellwood, Westfield, N.B.; 4th, Prince de Leigh, Brittany, Dr. Thompson.

Special mention should go to the 2nd place dog, a very young pup in its first trial. It was outstanding in the back course, investigating all and every birdy, place and was very busy in the bird field. This dog will be in competition for first honors before long.

Another dog which deserves honorable mention is a five-months-old GSH bitch owned by Charlie Bennett, Nashwaaksis, N.B. This dog has excellent blood lines from her sire, dual and International, F.T.Ch. Kay V.D. Wildburg and dam, Treasure Valley Riga. This pup was a ball of fire and good in the back course. It backed momentarily two finds in the bird field, then at the flush chased and retrieved a cock pheasant as large as herself, and received a big hand from the gallery.

We are getting some excellent dog work at these trials and with the entry of new blood coming to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick we should be able to compete with the best in a few years. — H. O. Whitman, N.B. Field Trial Representative

Why Not Dual Champion? Asks a Labrador Devotee

In Manitoba, in the last ten years, there has been a notable upswing in Labrador Retriever activity. While this has been mainly in the area of field training and field trials (where the proficiency of today's dogs over those of a decade ago is very marked) there has also been increased interest in bench shows, even among some of the field trial people. As a gratifying result, Manitoba can now boast of having two Labrador bench and field trial champions. This coveted dual title was won last Fall by Dart of Netley Creek, owned by Lou Turenne of Winnipeg, and this Spring by Happy

And now something which was only of academic interest before, to this writer, becomes a source of irritation. I refer to the cumbersome method in Canada of designating these outstanding dogs as "champion and field trial champion So and So." Why not "dual champion"?

In the United Kingdom, where this wonderful breed was developed, the height of achievement in Labrador Retriever circles is the earning of the title dual champion. It is the almost impossible goal of all dedicated, dual-purpose Labrador breeders and owners. I say "almost impossible" because in 125 years there have been only ten great dogs who have earned this highest of all honors! And there is certainly no misunderstanding about the meaning of the title in that country, where it all started. A Dual Champion is the title bestowed only on that unique dog who is an outstandingly handsome example of the breed and also a magnificent performer in the field. Why, then, can not this rare title be used in Canada when it is earned?

It has been explained to me that the title was dropped in the United States because of confusion, willful or otherwise, in the minds of some people as to its exact meaning. Owners began calling a dog a dual champion who was both a field trial champion and an amateur field trial champion (or one who was both an American and Canadian field trial champion; or one who had won awards in obedience, utility or tracking and was also a bench champion or a field trial champion and so on and on ad nauseam.) And because of this confusion, the solution to the problem in the United States was to abolish the title. We, in Canada, seem to have gone along with this ruling — and I object to it, wholeheartedly!

My wife and I are the proud owners of a handsome black bench champion, Crozier's Castlemore Sean. We are also members of the Manitoba Gun Dog Club but participate only as admiring spectators, watching our favorite breed of dog performing in field trials. We do not have the dedication or, perhaps, the skill to train our Labradors for field trials — although Sean, in particular, shows all the desire and intelligence necessary to give a good account of himself in the field if given the needed training. Proud as we are of Sean we would be very much more so had he been able to earn his field trial championship. And if this had happened I would be insisting on the right to call him a dual champion! I believe that Lou Turenne, Scotty Gillespie and those few others elsewhere in Canada fortunate enough to own these outstanding dogs should have that right, today.

Granted, Canada is not the United Kingdom; but it is not the United

No looney Irish.

It would be interesting indeed to know by what uncanny means Dr.
 Frank Manolson arrived at the equally uncanny opinion "that elderly Irish Setters get skinny to the point of emaciation".

Old age would certainly be a tragedy if this were the case. In my long experience with this breed I have never once seen this happen to any healthy old dog. I would argue the reverse, that old setters are prone to put on extra weight. There are many old dogs with ailments who do lose weight and who eventually die, but surely the condition would be apparent and most people would recognize the difference between a sick old dog and a healthy old dog. Old age in Irish Setters is not conducive to emaciation.

Regarding "eccentric Irish Setters who are looney", if one is to understand that the word "looney" is derived from the word lunatic it would be difficult to visualize an Irish Setter as demented, insane, or crazy. I have seen a few temperamental setters in my day, dogs which might be termed eccentric, whimsical or unconventional but never a lunatic. Where does one see these freaks?

The Irish Setter is a respectable and versatile member of the canine family.
 Any oddities are few and far between.
 The dog's intelligence and ability are the index to his charming personality.
 He does not deviate much from the normal in either conduct or manner.

Dr. Manolson's observations are a surprise to me and I wonder if he is basing his opinions on perhaps a single member of this aristocratic and popular breed.

Ta-I-O Members Snare N.Y. State Hare Championship

Twelve of the 20 places at the New York State Hare Championship hosted at Sandy Creek were swept up by members of the Ta-I-O Beagle Club of Montreal, Inc. at the recent trial. The 13" Derby class showed Dick Atkinson's Meadow Brook Blue Note and Meadow Brook Blue Boy 1st and 2nd. Third was Earl Cunningham's young Bonnie. Pete Neville's winning Penwall Smokey Joe earned still another 1st for his already impressive derby record in the 15" class. Okill Stuart's Twink's Trader placed second and Twink's Thunder Flakers went reserve.

F.T. Ch. (Can. & Am.) Wally of Floline, owned by Royal Palmer, took the 13" championship, with Earl Cunningham's Dottie placing 2nd. For the second successive year F.T. Ch. Middlestone Fire Chief, owned by Glen Baugh, won the 15" championship. Okill Stuart's Bruno's Star placed 3rd, Pete Tremlett's Ira's Nifty Sage 4th and Leo Benware's Trixie Doodle Dandy went reserve.

Victorious Bloodhound Dies

A great loss to the Bloodhound breed, both in Canada and the United States, occurred recently with the death of Sy's Mr. Red, known as Major, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Brey of Grand Forks, N.D. This Bloodhound had obtained his Canadian championship (subject to CKC confirmation) and had won consistently in his short show career. At the time of his death he was only two years old. As an example of his winning, in a brief period of four shows he went BB three times and once BOS.

Winning Irish Wolfhound Adds Obedience Degree

When a rare breed, regardless of its fine quality, goes to the top in Group, it is quite an unusual occurrence. When this same dog, which is rarely seen in the ring, let alone in the obedience ring, obtains a degree, it is even more unique. The reference is to Ch. Keltic Sprite, owned by W. Brennan of Victoria, B.C. This remarkable Irish Wolfhound is also noteworthy in being the only one of its breed to attain a Group 1st in the past two show seasons.

Canadian Collie's Outstanding US Win

The female sable Collie, Crayster's Mavourneen, emerged from the classes to go BB over two American champions at the Mount Baker KC show July 4, under Judge Melbourne T. Downing. Owner is Margaret McDevitt of Richmond, B.C. Mavourneen's sire was WD.

Saints' Club Officers

Officers of the St. Bernard Club of Ontario for the year 1965-1966 have been appointed:

President, Mrs. A. Davis; Secretary, Mrs. J. Cox; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Kruppa; Directors, Mrs. B. Sorrell and Messrs. William Clifton, D. Davis, P. Green, J. Smith. Mrs. Sorrell also serves as editor.

Thirty dogs, 60 adults, plus children, attended the picnic-meeting.

Inaugural Samoyed Specialty

The first Specialty for the International Samoyed Society takes place at the Kitchener-Waterloo KC show, Saturday, August 14. The well-known Samoyed fancier, Len Cozens, judges.

Could You Groom 39 Sams in a Day?

In our breed, Samoyeds exclusively, the pups are placed on a cloth-topped grooming table as early as possible. The cloth prevents slipping and gives them confidence.

When a new litter is about four or five weeks old, each pup in turn is brought into the grooming room for attention. A soft hair brush is used for the start, brushing down from the head to tail, combing behind the ears where the very fine silky hair grows and so quickly knots, becoming painful for both pup and the person grooming. After a few minutes the entire coat is brushed upwards from tail to back of neck — the featherings if there, are combed down towards the feet, then outward. Never cut away; the more featherings the better the pup. The featherings between the pads prevents the dog slipping on the ice. At Ziska we try to breed as near the original Samoyed Standard and do breed for the featherings.

As the puppies are ready to leave the kennel between eight and nine weeks of age, every client is shown how to groom the pup. We strongly advise not to bath, unless absolutely necessary, until six months of age. Pups can be kept perfectly clean by bedding them down in shavings — not sawdust — and by regular grooming just a few minutes each day. Our adults, when getting ready for the shows at the beginning of the year, are brought down to the house in turn and each day five or six Sams are given a good "going over" to try and decide which will be shedding before the shows and the reverse, each one being thoroughly groomed. Then we start the rounds: those we think are about to shed are groomed more than those who are not. It is advisable to brush and comb out each day any dogs who are shedding, as the hair has to come out to enable the new coat to come in. The older dogs are groomed once a week thoroughly, if no longer going to shows, but the show prospects are groomed each day and in turn bathed. The dogs have their own bathroom here in the basement and a tub similar to the one we use, and have plenty of room to shake well. The door is closed and layers of paper placed on the floor to absorb the water. Then the dog is taken out on a 7' or 8' training lead and allowed to run round and round, getting rid of most of the water. We never rub the Sams. If the day is warm they are put up into the kennels for a while. As a rule they go to sleep in the clean shavings while another is bathed. We try to do four at a time this way, one after the other. It is surprising how much water the shavings absorb. Then the first one is brought down and a hand hair dryer is put over the parts still damp. Most of the dogs do not resent this. Perhaps while I am using the dryer Alex or the kennel help will brush the hair up from the dryer and the warm air seems to part the hair well. This is followed by a drink of milk, often with a small spoonful of brandy to throw off any chill if the weather is dull or the day is late. Then up the next one goes. Next day each dog bathed the previous day is brought down for a good hard grooming, using an ordinary nylon hair brush, purchased from a hairdresser or beauty parlor, as this type has a thumb rest on the handle, which is most helpful. We start from the head downwards and part here and there, brushing from the roots to the tail, finishing by brushing from the tail up to the head. As for the pants, as we call them, the brush goes outwards right from the roots — never just brush the top. Good grooming keeps the coat clean and in condition. Never use powder or chalk unless the feet and lower part of the legs become dirty, especially on some of the show floors, where many people and dogs are walking about. Excessive powdering can ruin the coat by taking natural oil out. As we receive $1.00 an ounce for our Samoyed combings, we very seldom use anything but a good dog shampoo. Constant powdering dulls the shine a Sammie coat should have. A dirty Sam is not a proud Sam. He can easily be kept clean. When shedding we use a wire brush and steel comb.

During the hot weather we often bring a few dogs down and go over them from head to tail, down the legs and over the face with a soft hair brush dipped in the rain water barrel. If no rain water is available, we find just boiled cold water removes the dust. If still a little damp the shavings complete the job. Every bed quarter is large enough for each dog to walk around if the weather is very bad and the dogs do not wish to lie around the run, they have access to their beds and runs at all times. There is ample shade over the runs with fiberglass covering. There is no earth in the runs as the dogs love to dig, which would present a real cleaning problem. A good clean bed and run, brushing when one can, anytime (they cannot be over-groomed) with good brush and comb presents no hard work for the one dog owner. The dog about to be shown should not be bathed for every show. The novice can ruin the dog's coat, though at the time he may look extra clean. Constant bathing takes the texture from the coat and when a Sam has a long silky coat, watch out! He cannot shake the moisture off and the under-coat is ruined.

Samoyeds have two coats and seldom lose the harsh outer coat unless over-bathed. Then the coat loses its water resistance.

As a breeder of Samoyeds for many years (and all my folks before me) I would like to stress that the breed is a beautiful canine which must be strong and graceful. But please avoid cowhocks. A good coat is nice, but bad hindquarters are awful!

There is something more to a Sam than a long white wavy coat.

The Samoyed, Ch. Nanook, owned by Mrs. Peg Bishop of Totem Kennels, Alberni, B.C. was one of a litter of ten pups, which is something in itself, but in addition, all ten puppies are females. went BB over the winner of the Airedale Terrier Club of America Specialty, handled by her 11-year-old owner, Debbie Duguid, Toronto.

This female is by Ch. Navaho Toronto Warrior out of Am. Ch. Fillet O' Sabu. Shawn's record at eight shows in the United States, including Westminster and the Chicago International is four BB, two BOS, one BOW and one WB. This dog has been handled exclusively by young Debbie and her sister Janet. Justifiably proud father Bob Duguid believes this to be "the first Canadian Airedale to finish in the United States for over two decades."

Bull Terrier Fancier Cold-Shouldered in U.K.

With £1,000 earmarked to purchase four top-class white Bull Terriers in England, wealthy South African cattle rancher Stephen Crament first called upon Raymond Oppenheimer on the suggestion of one of the famous Oppenheimer diamond kings, a relative. According to the newspaper, The People, May 2, 1965, Mr. Oppenheimer, who is one of Britain's leading Bull Terrier breeders and Chairman of the British Bull Terrier Club, took a dislike to the potential customer and refused to sell him a dog. Other breeders appeared equally reluctant to do business. Finally Mr. Crament was able to purchase a champion male for £400. He then purchased a fine female, Sally, from Mrs. Margaret Sweeten in Berkshire for £100. Ten days later, when he went to pick up the dog, Mrs. Sweeten had recalled a prior option to purchase and refused to part with Sally. Mr. Crament has stated his intention to go to court over Sally.

Badenoch Cairns Continue US Winning

An entry of ten Cairn Terriers was made by Mr. and Mrs. Jim McFarlane, Badenoch Cairns, Thornhill, Ont. at the Erie KC show in Pennsylvania

June 20. Their Ch. Badenoch Redham's Chieftain went WD, BW, BB while their Ch. Badenoch Redham's Sally was WB, BOS. Both picked up 3 pt. majors under Judge William Kendrick. The Badenoch Cairns later made a more than pleasing showing at the Genesee Valley and Buffalo shows July 10 and 11. Cairns from this kennel have been doing exceptional winning in Canadian shows as well this season.

Lakeland Imported from Eire

Lakeland devotee Ethna G. Alsip of De Winton, Alta. has imported the female, Redwood Cliffex Carol from the Redwood Kennels in Ireland. Carol is in whelp to Shaftmoor Moti Mia.

Breeder Alsip states she is a beginner in the breed and would appreciate seeing more about the Lakeland. Would established breeders send in helpful items, please?

Just What is A Kerry Blue?

Do you know? Do you really know the breed you are raising?

How many times have you looked at a group of dogs and unconsciously thought, "they all have the same name, but are they the same breed?"

Picture this:

The phone was ringing on March 1, 1970 at the offices of the DGA (Dog Genetics Archives) at 220 Park Ave., New York, or 1173 Bay St., Toronto.

"This is Mrs. Grindler of Trenton, N.J. I have a Kerry bitch listed with you under ROC 826. You have her entire RECORD OF CHARACTERISTICS, as well as those of her parents and grandparents. Will you please advise me how best to breed her?"

The kindly grey-haired secretary of DGA handed the slip on which she had scribbled the information just received to one of her assistants while answering, "This will take a minute, Mrs. Grindler, but while we are running your card through the computer, let me first caution you a bit. I trust you understand that whatever we may come up with is by no means a fool-proof guaranty that your puppies will really come up to your expectations. It is true that the statistics we have accumulated over the past six years very substantially improve your odds, but nature or the dimmer past still may cross us up."

"I understand that."

"Now, Mrs. Grindler, here is what the computer indicates. The ROC records of your bitch and her progenitors show that you have to guard against light eyes and straight stifles. Your best chances seem to lie in breeding your bitch to any of the sons of Ch. Bluesome out of Ch. Brighteyes."

"Thank you very much. I believe I know where one of these dogs can be located."

Science fiction? Yes... as of today, but not nearly as far removed from reality as today's scientific accomplish-

The breeding of purebred dogs, in spite of the many books on breeding theories, has not kept step with the methods of modern science as applied to most other areas of human endeavor. These methods are based on research. But, research cannot exist in a vacuum. It needs facts and records . . . and MORE facts and records.

Manitoba Toy Breed Notes

Toy breeders here will miss the presence of Mrs. Ellen Overby of St. Vital, Man. who for years has been the most outstanding Chihuahua breeder in our province. Mrs. Overby is taking up residence in London, Ont. where her husband has been transferred. Pokie, Mrs. Overby's good Chihuahua stud will also be missed in Manitoba.

Tris Tans' Fascination has just completed her American title. Fancy, sired by Mrs. Overby's Pokie, has been handled exclusively by Margo Kraus of Ludlow, Ky. She completed her title by gaining a 4 pt. major, beating champions in Utica, Mich. July 11. Owned by Fred Schultz of Winnipeg, Fancy needs only three more points for her Canadian title.

Ch. Copplestone Pu Marne, Pekingese male also owned by Mr. Schultz, has gained his American title under handling of Paul Booher, Reno, Nev.

The writer has just completed arrangements to purchase, through Miss W. Collings of the Kenthill Kennels in England, the winning Pekingese female Kenthill's Rebel Maid of Farnsworth. Genny, who has done some very keen winning in England, will be shown in Winnipeg in September.

Affenpinschers

Affenpinschers are small, charming, very intelligent, game and a durable breed of dog. Historians date the breed to the 17th century in Germany and Austria, coming to America around the 1930's. He became popular around 1936 with the importing and showing of Osko Von Der Franziskusklause, owned by Mrs. Bessie Malley of Cicero, Ill. In 1936 The American Kennel Club recognized them by giving regular show classes and stud book placings.

The basic foundation stock important to today's good dogs were Everl Von Der Franziskusklause and Nollie Von Anwander by Prinz Von Der Franziskusklause. One of the first American champions was Ch. Duke of Wolf the 2nd. Popularity has been gaining slowly with an average of 40 per year being registered in the USA. The breed obtained the name because of the comical appearance due to his wiry tufts of hair on the ears, over the eyes and on his little chin. In Germany the word Affenpinscher means Monkey Terrier. The true origin of the little fellow is unknown. He is the progenitor of two more popular breeds, the Brussels Griffon and the Miniature Schnauzers and possibly the Miniature Pinscher.

They are usually black and should have black, piercing eyes as well as nose, mask and foot pads. However red, black and tan, and silver is allowed. A large patch of white on chest or elsewhere is undesirable and a serious fault as well as the light body colors or light eyes.

The ideal Affenpinscher is 10 1/4" at the shoulder with the body comparable, giving a square look. The Standard states that the smaller, if of characteristic type, is more valuable. As in many toys that are bred down in size the very tiny ones lose many of the fine qualities we look for in the breed. Many times the very tiny ones also lack the ability to reproduce, since they are so small. Normally an 8 to 10" female is a free whelp and I found all to be excellent mothers.

Grooming of these little fellows is nil even for the show. General grooming is a weekly combing, toe nail trimming, ear cleaning and general body inspection for parasites especially in the summer. The hair between the pads should be trimmed to prevent sprayed feet. Show grooming is very little more, needing only a thinning shears, blunt pointed scissors, a blunt-toothed comb and a bristled brush (not a nylon as it breaks the coat). With the thinning shears, thin the outer edges of the ears till even, leaving the stiff hair on the inner ear. Even the leg feathers with the blunt scissors round the hair on the feet, also removing the hair between the pads. The tail should be trimmed evenly and straight across to resemble a paint brush. Every other day you should clean the matter from the eyes with a warm cotton sponge. Never use boric acid as it tends to whiten the hair.

In showing the Affen, he should stand straight with both the front legs and the back legs well under the body.

The breed is still considered rare. Fortunately most of them today are of good quality. A larger number are now being shown in America and a good percentage of champions as well as obedience degrees are obtained.

The Little Affen is very easily trained and the obedience work comes easy to them. To know an Affenpinscher is to love the breed for life.

More American Titles for St. Aubrey Pokes

Ch. St. Aubrey Debonaire of Elsdon, Pekingese who emerged from Canadian shows this Spring has just completed his American championship by winning seven Toy Groups and four BIS, All Breed in the United States — all these wins from the classes. His latest BIS was at Wheaton, Ill., mid-

July where he topped an entry of over 1,300 dogs. This winner is owned by Nigel Aubrey-Jones and R. William Taylor of Montreal in partnership with Mrs. Vera F. Crofton. Mrs. Lorraine Heichel is the victorious handler. Debonaire is a son of the great Can. & Am. Ch. Calartha Mandarin of Jehol out of Ch. St. Aubrey Kumarie of Elsdon, dam of six champions.

Another Peke from this kennel, St. Aubrey Fan Gee of Elsdon has just completed his American title as well. This is the third new American champion this year, bred by St. Aubrey Elsdon, the first being St. Aubrey Pepper of Elsdon who is also a Toy Group winner in the States. Other St. A. of E. homebreds completing their Canadian titles this Spring: Hearne's Marionna and Carol Holland's St. Aubrey Maribeau of Elsdon.

The Head of the Pug Dictates Body Symmetry

No breed, maintains Milo Denlinger in his book, The Complete Pug, is easier than the Pug to judge, that is, to recognize the correct type in contrast with the incorrect. It is largely a matter of symmetry, he maintains; no great perspicacity is required to separate the excellent from the mediocre. The proper structure builds itself up from a single part.

"With a skull such as the Pug's, the muzzle to go with it cannot be long in doubt. Such a head, rather obviously, requires large, full eyes, set wide apart. Nor can such a head be affixed to the body with a long, slender neck. A head like a Pug's would be weird on a frail, slender body and it would be out of keeping with frail, spindly legs. The various parts of a good Pug must fit together into a symmetrical whole, each part belonging to and balancing the other parts."

Imported Sight Unseen, Bulldog is Big Winner

Purchased by pedigree only (dog and owner unseen) the Bulldog imported from England this Spring by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Farrell (Nugget prefix) Toronto has more than justified their faith in the breeding. Ch. (Can. & work, in actually shepherding, as a hauler of carts. It is a sight to behold in the conformation and obedience rings. In popularity the Shepherd is a leader. Even prior to 1960 and ever since, this breed has been tops in Working Dogs shown and by far exceeds all working dogs in litter registration.

One would naturally believe that the breeders of this outstanding dog would be eager to cooperate in the promotion of their breed. Except for a few progressive and loyal breeders whose kennels are represented with advertising in this issue, the response has been disappointingly indifferent.

It would appear reasonable to devote this issue in future to a breed whose fanciers recognize that promotion must be a two-way street and back up the issue with advertising in whatever space they can afford. It is distinctly unfair to ride on the bandwagon of the few progressive kennels who do participate. □

"TOP DOG" STATISTICS

In a further study of the statistics which pointed to the Top Point Winning Dogs (featured in the June issue) here are more interesting sidelights.

In the Top Ten (Sporting Group) listings, four of the leaders were American Cocker Spaniels. Although more American Cockers were shown last year than any other Sporting breed, two of the leaders were Irish Setters, with roughly 50% fewer shown.

In the Hound Group, three Beagles were among the Top Ten. Beagles led this group in show numbers as they have for the past number of years. Two Bassets were in the proud circle, a breed which ranks third in numbers shown. Both the Afghan and the Basenji, of which considerably fewer are shown, were also in the Top Ten.

In the Working Dog Group, the German Shepherd has outweighed the other members of the Group III family for a number of years but three Old English Sheepdogs were in the "winning circle". This breed is being entered more frequently in Canadian show rings, although it is still seen but little as compared to some of the other large working breeds. Three Boxers were among the great winners, the breed being second to the German Shepherd in numbers shown.

Three West Highland White Terriers made the Top Ten in Group IV, the terrier breed most seen in Canadian shows last year. The Bedlington, appearing infrequently in the show ring, nevertheless had a leading representative.

About 50% fewer Pugs than Toy Poodles, the leading Toy breed, are seen in Canadian exhibition. The winning Pug was well ahead in amassing points in the Toy Group. Three Pekingeses were tops. This breed ranks third in the number of Toys shown, the aggregation is about one-third less than the Toy Poodle. Two of the latter qualified among the Top Ten.

As might be expected, Poodles led in the Non-Sporting Group with four Miniature Poodles and three Standards qualifying. However, with only about one-quarter of the number of Chow Chows shown as compared with the Miniature Poodle, one nevertheless did some outstanding winning. □

CLEAR UP THESE CANINE MISCONCEPTIONS

HAVE you ever heard that: Every adult dog needs bones to chew on? You can't teach an old dog new tricks? A dog's diet should consist mainly of lean meat?

Each of these is a popular fallacy, and they are just three of the many misconceptions which dog-owners have about their pets. But distinguishing fact from fallacy can help your dog look and feel better — it may even add years to his life.

Modern dogs, like modern human beings, tend to live longer and healthier lives than their ancestors, even those of a couple of generations ago. But this doesn't mean that dog-owners can feed and care for their pets any old way and expect modern science to bail them out — any more than they can expect to maintain their own good health under such a haphazard program.

In fact, there's increasing evidence that dogs and their masters are both suffering from a characteristically modern malady — too much good living! Too many dog-owners think they are being kind when they feed their pets "table treats". But according to the Gaines Dog Research Center, veterinary studies show that dogs whose diets are supplemented with "human" foods will often have a higher average cholesterol level than dogs who live mainly on regular commercial dog food.

Findings like these point up the importance of distinguishing fact from fallacy in dog care. Here are some of the most common misconceptions about canines — with corrections from the experts.

FALLACY: Every adult dog needs bones to chew on.

FACT: The amount of nourishment derived from bones is almost nonexistent, and the damage bones do to tooth enamel may be considerable. Well-balanced meals will supply all the elements needed for strong teeth and healthy gums. If you do want to give a dog a bone as an occasional treat, be sure it's the kind that won't splinter.

FALLACY: When a dog's nose is cold, he's healthy.

FACT: You can't depend on it. If you suspect that Fido is ailing, believe what your thermometer tells you. A dog with a fever may often have a hot, dry nose; but a seriously ill dog can still have a nose as cold as January.

FALLACY: Country dogs live longer than city dogs.

FACT: The average life span of the city dog is two to three years longer than that of the country dog — despite the dangers of the automobile. This may be due in part to greater ease of care and feeding. It is also a theory that city owners take more personal interest in their pets — living more closely together, they notice more and give greater care to veterinary services, grooming, etc.

FALLACY: Feeding raw eggs will make a dog's coat shine.

FACT: A shiny coat comes from good general condition and coat care. Egg yolk fed raw is good for dogs; but whole eggs or egg white should always be cooked because the raw white of egg destroys an important vitamin, biotin, in the intestines.

FALLACY: A dog's diet should consist mainly of lean meat.

FACT: A dog fed mostly on lean meat would not only get insufficient carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins — he would not even be getting a balanced supply of protein!

FALLACY: You can't teach an old dog new tricks.

FACT: It would be more correct to say, "You can't teach an old dog-owner new tricks." Take the case of the ten-year-old Dalmatian with no previous training who, within 12 months of the start of her schooling, won the highest obedience degree attainable, that of U.D.T. (Utility Dog Tracker). She was the third dog in the history of obedience training to win the degree in so short a time.

Actually, it is true that you can't teach a very young dog much. Most obedience training classes do not accept dogs under nine months of age.

FALLACY: A thin dog is the best hunter.

FACT: Unless a dog is adequately nourished, he can't have the stamina or the interest necessary to be a good hunter. And inadequate feeding for a prolonged period will affect his general health, as well as his usefulness.

FALLACY: A lump of sulphur in the drinking pan is good for a dog's health.

FACT: Since sulphur won't dissolve in water, a piece of rock in the pan would do just as much good.

FALLACY: 1 year of a dog's life is the equivalent of seven human years.

FACT: Experts no longer agree with this idea. The accepted theory, according to Gaines researchers, is that a year-old-dog corresponds to a 16-year-old person; a two-year-old dog to a 24-year-old human; a three-year-old dog to a 30-year-old; a four-year-old dog to a person of 35.

After that, each succeeding year in a dog's life is equivalent to five human years. The oldest known dog recently died at the age of 26 — about the same age as a 145-year-old human!

If you believed these fallacies, don't feel bad — after all, dogs aren't the only ones who sometimes bark up the wrong tree. But at least you can now bone up on the true techniques for helping Fido lead a dog's life in style. □

Subject of Dogs Leads in Requests

Of the 22,268 mail inquiries received by The American Humane Association, information on dogs is most requested. Here's the breakdown: 26.8 want literature on dogs; 26.1 per cent on cats; 12.7 per cent on horses; 12.4 per cent on birds; 11.5 per cent on small animals; 10.5 per cent on fish.

U.S. Registrations Soar

Up and up and up go the registrations of purebred dogs. In the five months' period from January 1, 1965 to May 28, 1965 the American Kennel Club received a total of 427,357 individual and litter applications, compared to 383,532 for the same period of 1964, up 43,825 or 11.4%. Individuals were 301,055 of the total against 268,381, up 32,674 or 12.2%. Litters were 126,302 against 115,151, up 11,151 or 9.7%.

Noted Judges Assess The CNE Shows

Two famous judges, Major and Mrs. Godsol of Woodland Hills, Calif., are among the experts who will assess the 1965 Canadian National Exhibition Shows September 1 and 2, 3 and 4 and Labor Day, September 6. The three CNE shows (giving exhibitors a triple chance to gain a championship) are held as usual in the Horse Palace, in the Coliseum. On the final day the judges are entirely Canadian.

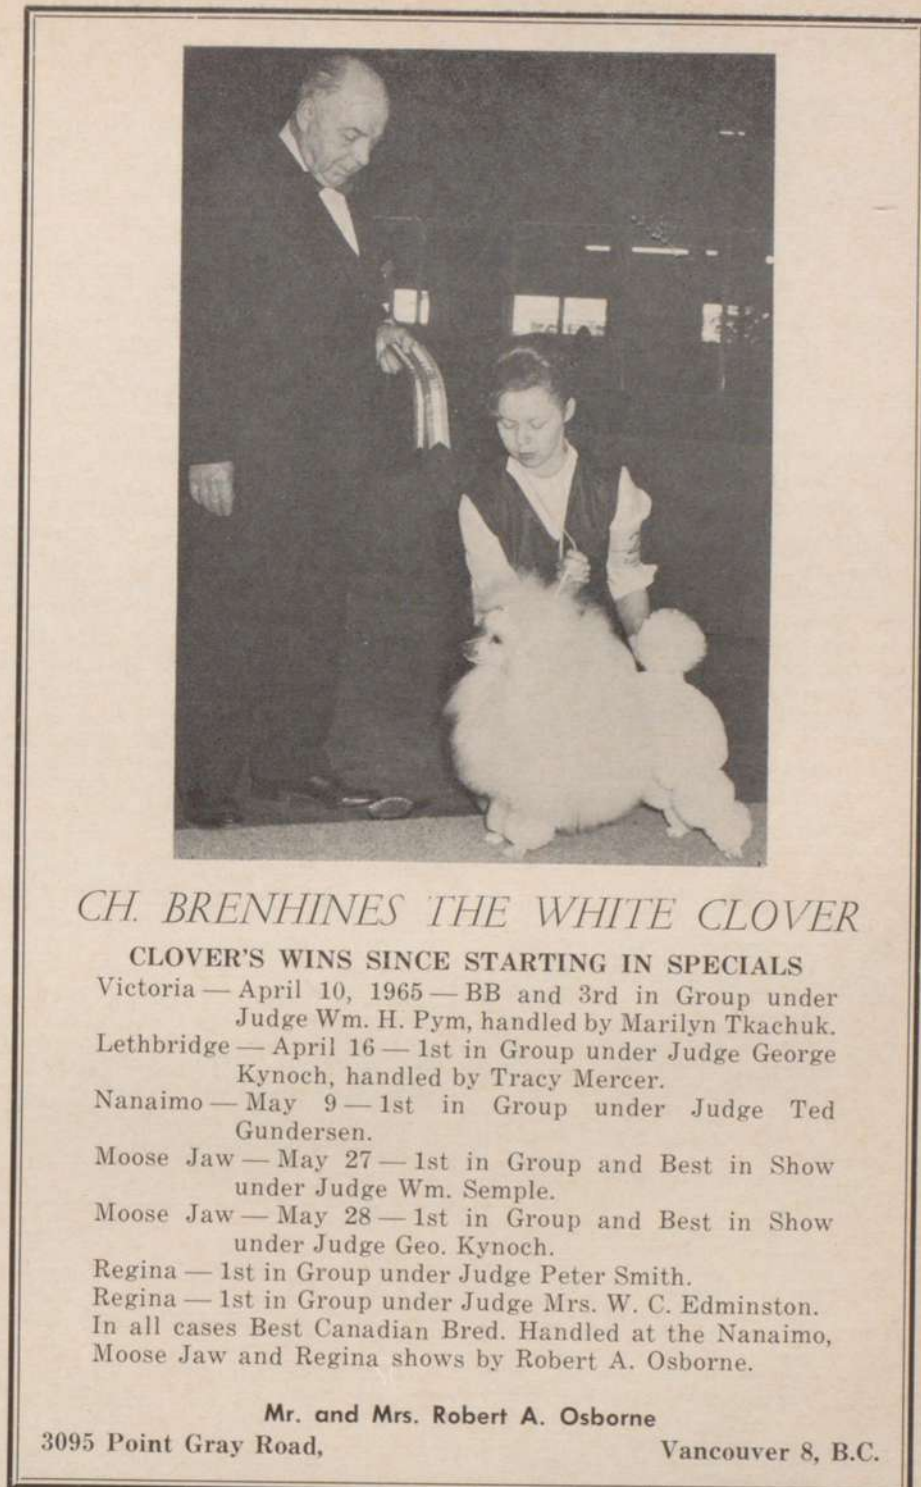

The venue has been newly painted and decorated. The benches, used only for the CNE shows, were new last year.

This is the set of shows where the main prizes offered by the CNE are of lovely green material — cash!

Animals Shown Living With People at Fair

Cleveland Amory, Director of the Humane Society of the United States personally directs the Animal Kingdom exhibit in the Better Living Center, New York World Fair. Live animals are shown in normal living conditions, in their natural state, with people, in eight glassed-in areas — no cages, no acts, no tricks. "Our aim is to demonstrate the closeness of man and animal . . . in a wonderful world of an enormous pet boom and which is . . . a sad and dwindling world for wildlife and strays and a world full of misery for laboratory animals."

What about a Canine Symbol for Each Province?

There's a campaign afoot to name state dogs and a national dog in the USA. Maryland's state dog is the Chesapeake Bay Retriever. Because the Great Dane was considered the best friend of state founder William Penn, this is the symbol they're trying for in Pennsylvania. Dog writer Harvey Barcus headed a newspaper poll in Michigan which brought the Brittany Spaniel to the fore, but legislature has not confirmed it.

What do you suppose would be a suitable dog to represent each province, considering the geographical and physical aspects of each?

Innovation at the Maritime Penitentiary, Dorchester, N.B. is the use of guard dogs to assist prison officers on night patrols of the yard and the area surrounding the prison walls.

DOGS & PEOPLE

Two Canadians, both well-known women judges, have received assignments for the 1966 Westminster KC show scheduled for February 14 and 15. Mrs. Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins of Rouge Hill P. O., Ont. will assess Bullmastiffs, West Highland White Terriers and Cairn Terriers. Mrs. Yan Paul of Willowdale, Ont. will judge Pekingese and Miniature Pinschers. For details of other judges assigned see elsewhere in this issue.

Tyro veterinarians: Rae Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brown (Blomidon Kennels), Unionville, Ont. begins his first year of veterinarian studies this fall. Simon, son of Major and Mrs. Tony Marsh of Bermuda, will also begin his first year veterinary studies, following several years away at school in Scotland. The Marshes are breeders and exhibitors of Boxers.

The S. S. Rotterdam, de luxe flagship of the Holland-America Line on its 1965 around-the-world tour, established a sort of "marine first" when it sponsored a get-together of dog fanciers in the ship's Cafe de la Paix as part of its social activities program. Held at the suggestion of the well-known passenger Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, the gathering was announced in advance in the ship's daily newspaper. Represented were Poodle, Beagle, Cocker Spaniel and German Shepherd fanciers hailing from New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Switzerland. Each individual was given an opportunity to not only talk about his or her breed but to relate doggy impressions picked up on shore stops in Egypt, India, Thailand, Japan and other interesting places visited on the cruise. During the trip Mr. and Mrs. Miller had the opportunity, during a day's stopover in Hawaii, of visiting the famous Alekai Poodle Kennels on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Kaiser on the outskirts of Honolulu.

Died: at the age of nearly 89, Mrs. Hugh Jeudwine, mother of Mrs. Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins (Kennels of the Rouge), Rouge Hills, Ont. Born in Scotland, Mrs. Jeudwine lived in South Africa many years of her life. She and her late husband moved to Pickering in 1948. At this time the Jeudwines became interested in dogs and had a few. Mrs. Jeudwine was active in many organizations, particularly with the Red Cross during the entire World War II in Johannesburg where she received a Red Cross pin for 3,000 hours' service. She was Secretary of the Canadian West Highland White Terrier Club for a short period, then Trophy Secretary for some time and Welfare Officer for the club up to this year. At the time of her death, following a bout of pneumonia, she was still Trophy Secretary of the Bullmastiff Fanciers of Canada. She was a member of The Canadian Kennel Club for many years. She was also very active in the Lions Ladies of Rouge Hill, Pickering Branch. An ardent bridge player, she played a keen game until a few months ago. Mrs. Jeudwine was laid to rest following service in the quiet cemetery of St. George's Anglican Church, Pickering. . . Mr. Wes Ionson, of Wynfield Kennels, Georgetown, Ont. Mr. Ionson suffered a heart attack a few weeks ago. The Ionsons are well-known for their fine Irish Setters and Papillons. Deepest sympathy is expressed to the bereaved families.

Travellers: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Odenkirchen of the Mi-Pao Chow Kennels, Woodbridge, Ont. leave Canada for Europe the early part of this month. Eleven of their Chows, seven of which have already been shipped, go to Europe with them. One of the males, Ch. Djimat van de Martin-Hoeve, gained his first leg toward his second title by picking up his first Challenge Certificate and placing second in Group last May in Hertogenbosch, Holland. . . Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jenkins of Alicante, Spain, are spending some time in Toronto at 1639 Bloor St. West and can be telephoned at LE 2-6653. The Jenkins were former well-known breeders of fine Basenjis just north of Toronto. . . Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Walker (Na-Robi Kennels), Hamilton, Ont. speak enthusiastically of their reception by members of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Regina. Writes Robbie: "This is a group of most eager, enthusiastic Shepherd lovers. They are doing their best to learn what is best for them to do and attempting to acquire the best breeding stock they can get. They operate a very good training class and many of their trainees go on to obedience work at the shows. Jack and Joyce Bernhardt, formerly of this area, are mainly responsible for the formation of this club." . . . Visitors to Mrs. Mary Weller, Toronto, well-known in German Shepherd circles, were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wallace of Phoenix, Ariz. Audrey (nee Johnstone) and Bob were formerly active German Shepherd breeders in Canada. . . Lieut. Cmdr. D. G. (Andy) Anderson and family, members of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, Victoria, B.C. have been moved back to Ottawa. . . Archie Warnock and family, Toronto, plan a holiday in Florida soon. Mr. Warnock is the well-known representative of Ken-L-Products.

Mrs. Mary Southcott, Cara Mia Kennels, Milton, Ont. judged the German Shepherd Dog Club of Oklahoma Specialty Show in Oklahoma City. A delightful show, reports Mary, with a large entry of 167 German Shepherds.

Actress Jayne Mansfield, with husband and four children, had to move out of a motel on Paugust Bay in Laconia, N.Y. Reason: seven dogs. The owner had no objection to one dog, but averred that "Seven dogs are six too many."

Retired: John and Claire Specht, Mt. Pocono, Pa., who have been more than successful breeders of Miniature Schnauzers for 22 years. Charles and Susan Wilson who formerly lived on Long Island, have been handling the kennels under the Spechts' supervision and have taken over. The Spechts have had a custom trailer built and plan to start their retirement in California. □

Kennel Tests Prove New Burgerbits gives dogs the taste they really like...the solid nutrition they need.

The Great New Taste* of Burgerbits

now in "flavour-kernel" form

Here's the dog food that kennel tests proved superior to all others in palatability and nutrition.

Dogs tested preferred new Burgerbits...thrived on new Burgerbits.

Here's why:

Increased Fat Content, with an improved fat-protein ratio, gives unsurpassed palatability, maintains glossy coats and healthy skin, helps prevent shedding.

New Flavour-Kernels. Smooth pre-formed kernels of uniform size and shape eliminate jagged, uneven particles and dust of ordinary dog foods.

Spray coating of natural meat fats locks in flavour, protects nutrients.

Aids Digestion. New Burgerbits is expanded to gelatinize starches for easier digestion.

Less Porous. Crunchier consistency helps keep teeth, gums and jaw healthy...absorbs liquids without getting mushy...feeding pans clean easily without scraping or scouring.

Exceeds NRC Requirements for daily nutritional intake, providing a complete and balanced diet.

Feed Dry or Wet. Kennel tests prove that many dogs prefer Burgerbits dry.

Fed wet, Burgerbits retains the crunchy texture and meaty aroma dogs really enjoy.

Special Professional Discounts. As with all of Dr. Ballard's Dog Foods, new Burgerbits carries a special Kennel Discount. Your local representative will be pleased to provide you with details.
