SHEDDING

Excess shedding in dogs can be caused by several factors including: (1) dietary imbalances; (2) light; (3) humidity; (4) year round confinement; (5) hormonal imbalances; (6) allergies; (7) parasites; and, (8) rodenticides containing thallium.

Dietary imbalances created by the excess feeding of supplements, such as vitamins and/or minerals and meats can result in excess shedding and sometimes scratching in dogs. It is recommended that no more than ¼th by weight of meat products to ¾th by weight (on a dry basis) of commercial dog rations be fed. Current commercial dog foods, such as Purina Dog Chow and Dog Meal, are adequately fortified. The addition of extra vitamins and/or minerals can increase costs and still not be beneficial to the dogs.

Light changes regulate many body processes including "normal" shedding. In the Spring the length of daylight increases until mid-June; dogs normally shed when the hours of daylight start to shorten until December when again they start to lengthen. In September or October, most dog owners become disenchanted with gardening and other outside activities and spend more time in the house. At the same time the dogs go in and are exposed to the house lights. Their "lighted day" lengthens at this point and shedding starts. Shedding at this point can be controlled only by restricting the dog to a nonlighted area after dark. Shedding will usually stop immediately.

Dogs kept in the house all of the time and not exposed to changing light patterns tend to shed continuously.

Low humidity can result in the hair coat becoming dry and brittle. Quite often this is a result of the dog being too long in bright sunlight in dry areas and can usually be corrected easily. Adding a small amount of corn oil to the diet will often help. Sometimes it is beneficial if a cloth with a light coating of corn oil is used to rub into the dog's coat daily to bring out the natural sheen. Too frequent washing or bathing of dogs dries out the skin and hair coat. Always be sure to use a good dog shampoo and not the human type for shampooing dogs. Rinse well after shampooing.

Hormonal imbalances often cause skin and coat problems resulting in shedding. The most frequent cause of hormonal imbalances associated with hair loss in dogs are from Sertoli Cell Tumors. These tumors, on the testicles of male dogs, produce an excess of female hormone and cause hair loss. This happens primarily in older dogs. Surgical removal of these tumors will correct this problem. Male hormone additions will usually hasten the correction.

Allergies cause lots of hair loss and may include allergic reactions to plants, sun, dust, wool, horse meat, and insects. Some dogs have an allergy to the sun's rays. This is particularly noticeable in light-skinned dogs and in depigmented areas, such as the light noses of Collies. This problem is so common in Collies that the condition has picked up the name "Collie Nose." Tattooing the nose black shuts out the harmful sun's rays and alleviates the problem of allergy and hair loss in this area.

Parasites, such as fleas, mites and fungus, are responsible for both hair loss and allergic conditions. Men sometimes become so hypersensitive to bee stings that a single bee sting can cause death. Similarly dogs can become sensitive to fleas which produces almost intolerable itching.

Generally any observant pet owner can tell whether hair loss is associated with management, parasites or hormones and internal organ malfunctions. With parasites hair loss is generally spotty while most hormone deficiencies will produce bilateral symmetry. This means that in hormone deficiencies an equal amount of hair will be lost on both sides of the body. By standing close behind your dog you can determine how even the loss is from each side.

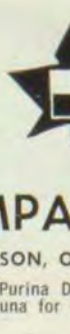

Mechanical hair loss from the dog's contact points with furniture or floors may be due to the dog going under low chairs, a low dog door or from hair rubbed off on rough floors. Careful observation makes these easy to detect and correct.

The sudden total loss of hair may indicate the dog has consumed a rodent poison containing thallium. When this happens the dogs generally recover in a few weeks if they are not exposed to another dose of the poison. You can help in the recovery from thallium by keeping your dog out of the bright sunlight, giving him a soft, non-irritating bedding to lie on and keeping him supplied with plenty of food and water.

Your veterinarian is in the best position to help make a diagnosis from his experience with problems of this type. Your careful observations will be an asset to him when these problems arise.

Normal dogs consuming good rations and water receive all of the nutrients they need for normal hair condition. When deviations occur these highlights will help pinpoint the problem.

cover story

SUMMIT SHETLAND SHEEPDOGS
Centerville, Mass.

This month's cover features the latest champion at Summit Kennels, Ch. Summit's Kissin Cousin ("Rowdy"). This is the son of last year's October Dogs in Canada cover girl, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Meridian's Miss Behave.

This new star completed his championship in three consecutive shows at eight and a half months of age under noted all-rounders, Heywood Hartley, Joseph Quirk and Vic Williams. He is a stunning, red gold sable and has an excellent temperament. Already a proven sire, his first litter produced six well-marked puppies, and at an early age they show uniformity of type. Rowdy is an in-bred son of the still impressive stud of Summit Kennels, the rich dark mahogany sable, Ch. Summit's Gold Dust, C.D., and displays the same type and elegance that has now become the trademark of Summit Shelties.

Gold Dust adds two more champions to his great string of champion sons and daughters — Rowdy and Meridian's Truly, Truly Fair, who also finished this year in three consecutive shows with a Best of Breed over Specials.

Although Dusty has been used at limited stud, his many winning sons and daughters have gained their championships in grand style. Four different dogs have won Best Puppy in Show, two have won Specialty shows, six of them finished in three consecutive shows and another finished with a five-point win.

Further proof of Gold Dust's siring ability is the imprint stamped on his grandchildren — another three have finished in the past year. The eye-catching Ch. Meridian's Summer Conquest, who completed his title in consecutive shows, including a Best Puppy in Show, and Best of Winners and Best Puppy at the Dominion Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Association in Montreal, and Ch. Hjalti Lady Patience and Ch. Braedean's Special Dividend.

Another granddaughter, the up-and-coming Meridian's Lady be Good, won four points and was Best Puppy in two strong working groups before she was eight months of age.

Summit Kennel has a very concentrated breeding program, producing quality, style and showmanship synonymous with Summit breeding.

Both Dusty and Rowdy are at stud at Summit Kennels to approved bitches.

A "THANK YOU"

. . . I wish to thank all the CKC members for all the "get well" cards and flowers I received during my two months in the hospital. They were certainly appreciated. I wish all the members luck with their dogs and best of luck with the magazine. Incidentally, now that I am well again I am not going out of Toy Manchesters.

WATCH WHAT YOU SAY — SOMEONE COULD GET HURT

. . . Recently I had the thrill of entering my first Championship Show. My Junior puppy was the only one entered in the breed . . . the judge gave an honest opinion, saying she was younger than he preferred but a fine puppy with good prospects. I left the ring elated and with a handful of ribbons. Later, we were judged for the Group but failed to place. Naturally, I was disappointed but even more so when my husband informed me of the disparaging comments a spectator had made to the effect that "she really thinks she's something, paid a lot of money for that dog and really thinks she's great, etc. etc." I was terribly discouraged . . . but since that time I've never looked back. I've made it a practice to keep my own counsel. My point is this: watch what you say as you never know who you may hurt and discourage. It's hard enough for a novice as it is witnout having to contend with thoughtless remarks.

We've done well in recent shows and have received some lovely compliments about our dog as well as meeting some of the "nicest people in the world" . . . We love your magazine and can't wait for new issues to arrive.

THREE CHEERS FOR THREE RIVERS

. . . Another year has rolled around and I, along with many others, have just enjoyed another show weekend in Three Rivers, Que. Mr. and Mrs. Rohrbach may again be proud of the results of their labors. There were many new faces in the crowd this year and they were, on the most part, very satisfied customers.

It would seem to me that the unselfish efforts of our hosts should be highly praised. These people do not show dogs themselves and really have nothing to gain by their hard work except the satisfaction of making it most enjoyable for everyone who attends the show. This year their job was made much more difficult by certain people who made a profound effort to throw a monkey wrench into the works both before and during the show and spent the weekend huddled in corners bending the ears of the innocent with petty remarks. My advice to these few would be — come to the shows, bring your dogs, show them for better or worse and leave the nastiness at home.

This is a good show. Let's keep it that way and make the Rohrbachs and Three Rivers see that we appreciate their unselfish efforts.

ENJOY THE STANDARD QUIZ

. . . I should like to comment on how much I enjoy the Standard Quizzes. Is there a chance that I could get the issue that had the Samoyed Quiz? My dogs went to work on that issue.

LIABILITY IN ANIMAL OWNERSHIP

. . . As a lawyer and dog owner (Pembroke Welsh Corgi, Gwell Kennels), I recently had the privilege of speaking to the members of the Thunder Bay Kennel and Training Club, about the liability to which they expose themselves by virtue of animal ownership.

Most of the members were aware that they might be held responsible in law, in the event that their dog bit or otherwise injured a person, but very few seem to know the extent of the law in that regard. It may be of a general interest to dog owners to review a recent decision in the High Court of Justice of Ontario.

The facts, in that particular case, are as follows:

Mr. W. was bitten on the knee by Mr. R's dog. The skin was not broken, but the day after the biting, Mr. W. noticed teeth marks on his knee and went to his family physician. The physician tested Mr. W. in a normal and approved manner for anti-tetanus allergy, and then gave him a full injection in the upper right arm, which is the normal and proper procedure for treatment of such injury. Mr. W. suffered a toxic reaction, which resulted in permanent partial paralysis of the right arm and shoulder. From medical evidence, it would appear that such cases of disability are rare.

Mr. W. sued the dog owner, Mr. R. for damages for the bite on his knee and for his partial paralysis. Mr. R. readily admitted that he would be liable for the bite on the knee, but in addition, the Court held that Mr. R. was also liable for the damage arising from the Doctor's injection. Damages in an amount of $23,784.30 was given as against the dog owner, and the Doctor was not held to be liable.

It goes without saying that many dog owners would not have anticipated this result and few would be prepared to pay in excess of $23,000.00 for a bite that did not break the skin.

From a practical point of view, dog owners who are home owners usually take out a policy of home liability insurance which in many cases would cover pet's damage. But, it is interesting to note that discussions with insurance agents have led me to the opinion that if a person is involved in breeding or raising dogs, other than just having a household pet or pets around, certain insurance companies will take the position that insurance will not pay for damages unless there is a special premium paid or full disclosure made by kennel owners and breeders.

I wonder how many kennel owners take this precaution?

DONALD A. MARTIN

217 Van Norman St., Port Arthur, Ont.

AND IS SHOOTING THE SOLUTION?

. . . Your directory received and out goes mail enquiries to those kennels listed . . . I bought my last dog in Canada from . . . . . , guaranteed "to go a mile after cattle and bring them." Paid him $50. plus $33.82 duty and express. When I first saw the dog at the R.R. depot I thought "you have never even seen cattle", and she ran from them when I took her out to the pasture close to them.

Very friendly with us but totally worthless. I kept and fed her for three months . . . I shot her later because of no value on our farm.

T. W. BARR

Jewett, Ohio.

(While we can sympathize with Mr. Barr's need for a cattle dog, it is incredible that a "friendly" dog is shot because it cannot fulfill a specific purpose. Surely someone could have been located who would want a companion and not farm help. And the breeder must bear responsibility for misrepresenting the dog's ability, thereby contributing to this shameful incident — Ed.)

KEES COLOR

. . . In answer to Mrs. Agnes Wilkie's letter re Kees color, I offer the following:

On January 17, 1939, the 1935 Standard of The Keeshond Club (England) was adopted by the Keeshond Club (later the Keeshond Club of America) and approved by the AKC on March 14, 1939. This Standard read, under the heading color: "Should be wolf, ash-grey; not all black nor all white and markings should be definite".

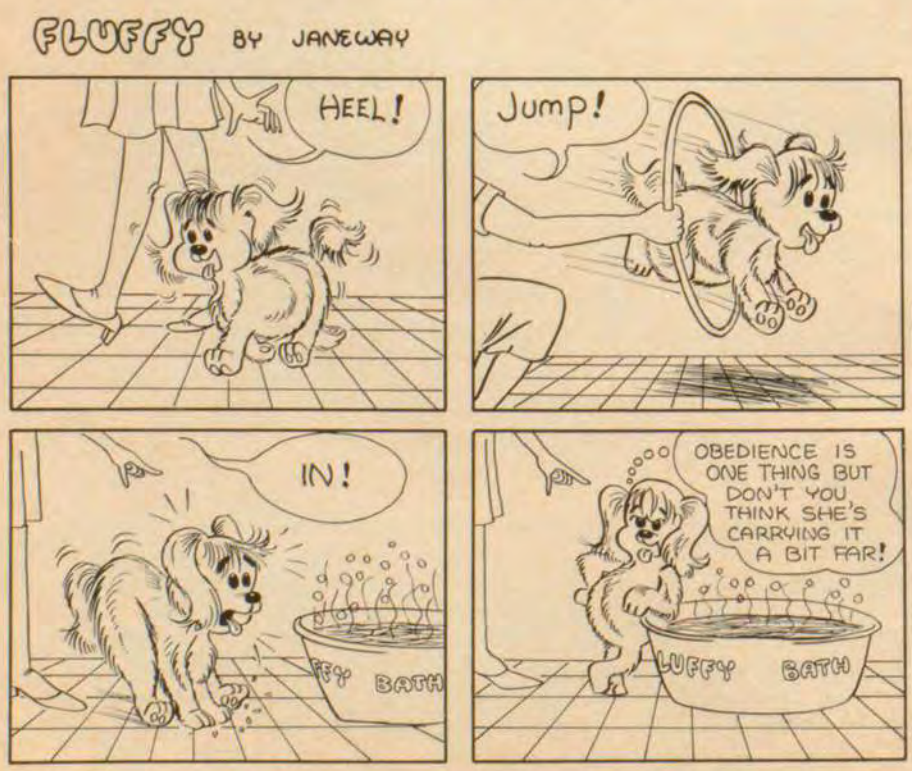

The club clarifeld this Standard somewhat in 1949 and remains to date. Here are some excerpts from the present Standard under heading #5, color: "A mixture of gray and black . . . the length of the black tips producing the characteristic shading of color. The color may vary from light to dark but any pronounced deviation from the gray color is not permissible . . . VERY SERIOUS FAULT:— Entirely black or white or any other solid color; any pronounced deviation from the gray color".

While it may be true that Kees do breed true to type and quality in variety it is bewildering why breeders of purebred dogs, supposedly striving to breed as true to the Standard as possible, do not find it their personal obligation to keep on the straight and narrow.

It would appear, if each breeder adopted his own set of rules and regulations and disregarded such a strong point so clearly set out in the Standard, that the breed would suffer greatly. Suppose we decide to breed Kees heads with no stop, yet the Standard says the head should exhibit a definite stop. The scale of points for head shape is 6, whereas 10 points are scaled for color and markings. Thus, it would be less serious to have a bad head than improper color. The day we throw away the Standard, we throw away the breed!

W. K. BUCKLEY LTD.

Gentlemen:

As owner of one of Canada's top winning show dogs, American and Canadian Champion Wycliffe Demosthenes, twice winner of the Ken-L-Ration Award as top group and Best-In-Show winner for the Canadian west, I feel justly qualified to "sing the praises" of your ZEV.

I was first introduced to your product by one of America's top-ranking professional handlers at a show in Lawton, Oklahoma a few years ago, and felt that I too might well benefit from its use in my own small kennel operation. Since then, "Demosthenes" and all the dogs here have been fed ZEV as a supplement to their regular diets. I have found it effective as well, used on brood matrons — it seems to encourage their otherwise sluggish appetites.

I have just returned from one of the mid-west's largest dog show fixtures — Heart of America Kennel Club in Kansas City, Missouri. I was pleased, needless to say, to see two litter brothers, my own Wentworth home-breds, raised on ZEV, now happy, healthy American Champions. Pleased too, to learn that their new owners are "ZEV users" as well.

Continued success with ZEV — no dog owner should be without it.

Sincerely,

WENTWORTH POODLES REG'D

the old timer

"I wonder," said the Old Timer, "just how long we can stand it?"

It was a beautiful autumn day and we'd spent the morning raking the leaves from under the poplars that he'd planted a few years ago to provide fast shade for the dog runs. Things looked neat and tidy except for the huge pile of leaves we'd accumulated. But we were both just a little pooped.

"True," I said, "you're not getting any younger but I'd still be willing to bet that you've got a few more seasons of raking leaves under your belt. You're not that decrepit. You'll be able to stand it."

I got that look the Old Timer saves for me when he thinks I'm being a bit flippant.

"Wasn't talking about leaves," he said, "and by the way you soldiered on the job this morning I'm willing to bet I'll still be raking them when you're under them. But I wonder if we aren't just starting to suffer from too much rich living in the dog show game — if we're not beginning to develop a case of the plenties."

"The plenties?", I asked. "What's that?"

"Too much of a good thing," the Old Timer said. "I've been taking a look at some figures. And the way I see it we're getting pretty close to a saturation point. Too many shows over too short a period.

"Now take last year for instance. We had roughly 140 all breed championship shows in Canada over a dog show season of approximately 35 weeks. We had another 35 specialty shows. And, when you add obedience and field trials to that, people showing dogs must have had well over 300 shows to work on."

"But Canada is a big country," I said. "It stretches from sea to sea. We've got over 3,000 miles of undefended border. Of course our population is concentrated in a comparatively small area adjacent to the United States border but look at our potential. With all that, does 300 or even 400 dog shows seem too many?"

"Short term, smart aleck reaction as usual," the Old Timer said. "But I'm serious. I can see a real danger to the quality of our dog shows. I can see problems for the clubs in the smaller centres. Perhaps it's time for a real look at the situation.

"Now, as I said, the dog show season in Canada is about 35 weeks. Last year we had roughly 140 all breed shows and about 35 specialties. That perhaps is not too many. But one of the problems as I see it is that too many of those shows are concentrated in certain areas.

"For instance, last year pretty nearly half of roughly 45 Ontario shows were concentrated within 50 miles of Toronto. In British Columbia about half of the total were in the City of Vancouver. In Manitoba practically all the shows were in the immediate Winnipeg area. In Alberta only two of 16 shows were in cities other than Calgary and Edmonton."

"But surely," I said, "that's exactly what you'd expect, the majority of the shows concentrated in the heavy centres of population."

"It's what I'd expect, of course," he said, "but is it necessarily good? Let's take Toronto as an example. As I said Toronto, last year, had about 18 all breed and about 19 specialty shows in the immediate area. That works out at better than a show a week during the season for breeders and exhibitors in the Toronto area. Vancouver, as another example, had an average of a show every second week. Of course it doesn't work out exactly like that because a lot of clubs stage two shows over a single weekend. But the fact still remains that exhibitors living in those two cities have ample opportunity for points right in their own backyard. But take a comparatively small centre like Leamington, in Ontario or Alberni in British Columbia. They've got enthusiastic people, but they don't have the dog population. If clubs in those smaller centres are going to stage shows, they absolutely must attract dogs from the larger centres."

"So?" I asked.

"So," said the Old Timer, "why should an exhibitor in Toronto or Vancouver — unless of course he's a rabid dog show fan — travel two or three hundred miles to show when he can stay right at home and show his dog 20 or 25 times during a year. The figures reflect this. Toronto had shows with over 600 dogs in competition. Vancouver had shows with close to 350. By the same token, Leamington, in Ontario, had about 160 dogs while Alberni drew only 140.

"Now, I know it isn't likely to be done but just let's take a look at what well might happen if the number of shows, particularly in the densely populated areas, were cut in half. Wouldn't Toronto exhibitors, for instance, be more likely to go to shows in Leamington if they had only ten shows in the immediate Toronto area instead of the present 20 or more? Wouldn't Vancouver exhibitors be more likely to travel if they had only seven or eight shows in a year in their own city instead of the present 16 or 17? And wouldn't the number and the quality of the dogs at shows such as Leamington and Alberni be increased and with more money to work with wouldn't the clubs in those smaller centres be able to stage better shows?"

I had to agree with the Old Timer's logic and I told him so.

"Mind you," said the Old Timer, "I see no chance of the number of shows being cut. But I think the warning signs are showing. I think we're reaching saturation. Perhaps we're at a point when The Canadian Kennel Club should take a good long look at every new application for dates and every application for additional dates. Perhaps they should say, 'enough is enough', particularly in certain areas. If they don't, I've a hunch we're in for a severe case of dog show indigestion. That could be bad." □

Vancouver Junior KC Produces Bulletin

A club bulletin is one sign of a progressive organization. When a teenage club produces a first Bulletin of the calibre of the Vancouver Junior KC, it's enough to make oldsters sit up and take notice. Produced on long green sheets, the Bulletin gives bright reports on activities current and to come. The publication also notes activities of the new Victoria Junior KC. Editorial is over the signature of President Karen Knight.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS

BY JAKE GIACOMELLI

What will we talk about this month? Another training session in one of the class exercises? Our last training bit was on directional jumping in the Utility Class, so how about an exercise out of the Open Class? Drop on Recall?

For some reason, many, many handlers cannot teach the Drop on Recall without their dogs becoming very slow on the recall portion of this exercise, or else continually anticipate the drop part of the exercise. So methinks we'll teach the "Drop on Recall" for those of you who are still having trouble with your drop, and for those of you that are just entering this exciting phase of obedience dog training.

There are many ways of teaching this exercise, some much better than others. What I am about to outline for you has been gleaned from many sources, tested in Classes and proven to be most successful in all cases that I have had anything to do with.

As this is an exercise in CDX training I should be safe in assuming that your Novice dog, by now, knows what the "Down" command means. The teaching of the ordinary down exercise for the novice will be covered at some later date.

STEP NO. 1:
With your dog on lead, sitting beside you in the proper Heel position, give one command, and one command only, either "Down" or "Fido, Down" in a normal but firm voice — let's not try to shout him down. Not only does it sound terrible to the "non-believer", but it really doesn't have much effect on your dog. It's not the loudness of your voice that does the trick, but it's the quickness and firmness of your correction that will teach him to obey promptly on command.

If your dog goes down on your first command, praise him quite profusely for about ten seconds, letting him know what a wonderful thing he has done for you.

However, if he fails to go down on the first command, then quickly and firmly grasp the lead close to his collar and jerk him sharply to the Down position — no anger, please — just a firm correction. While you are holding him in the Down position praise him enthusiastically (it will help cover up the surprise he just received!!).

Remember, it is not unfair to correct your dog for disobedience to a Down command while he is at your side — at this stage it is just plain novice work he is doing, so if he fails to obey the command, then a sharp correction is in order.

Repeat this part of the training at least ten times each evening during your regular training session, for at least two or three days, or until he's dropping promptly each time you give the "Down" command.

Please remember to give him plenty of praise, whether he's dropped on his own or whether you've dropped him by a firm correction.

Note: You do not go to Step 2 until he is dropping at your side every time you give him the "Down" command.

STEP NO. 2:
(a) With your dog in a sitting position, and the lead attached to his collar and extending out in front of him, stand about two or three feet in front of your dog and face him.

(b) Give him the "Down" command. If he goes down promptly move in to where he is down and praise him for about ten or 15 seconds. If he doesn't go down, quickly grasp the lead and drop him sharply with a firm downward jerk. The moment he is down praise him for the same length of time mentioned above.

It is surprising how a slight change of place on the trainee's part when giving the "Down" command will confuse some dogs — however, after a few, firm corrections your dog will soon learn that "Down" means "Down"!! — whether you're standing beside him or in front of him.

STEP NO. 3:
When your dog is dropping readily at three feet from you while facing you, extend this distance gradually from three to five feet each night until you have reached a point where you can drop him while he is in the Sit position, about 40 feet away from you. Do not extend your distance of dropping him until he is downing readily at the last place you were at.

Please Note!! Regardless of how far you are away from your dog you must go to him and praise him each time he has dropped — and lay it on, brother!! — a little genuine praise never hurt anybody, but it'll do wonders for your dog!!

By the same token, if he fails to go down on a single command, move quickly to where he is, grab his lead and drop him sharply, and start praising the moment he is down.

If, at any time your dog does not go down on command, but when you start moving in for the correction goes down before you get to him — do not accept this herring!! — still follow through with your correction, grab the lead close to his collar, raise him about a foot or so and then give a firm, downward correction. You will find that after a few of these corrections your dog will soon learn that your "Down" command means just that at the time you give it, not after you start back to correct. It is surprising how quickly they learn this if you follow through with your corrections.

In the meantime, after practicing these sequences of Downs as outlined above, call your dog on straight Recalls several times each time during your training with a view to making his Recall speedy and happy. You are not to try and drop your dog while calling him — I'll tell you when next month — there are still more Drop exercises to perform before we do it with the Recall.

By the time the next article appears in print your dog should easily be dropping 40 feet away from you if you've done your homework.

One final note — If, while you are training the Down exercise your dog goes down before he is given the command — jerk him back up — he is not to go down until he is ordered to do so. Don't worry — it won't confuse him — he'll just learn to wait for your command.

P.S. — If your dog looks unhappy because of the firm corrections he's received, don't worry about it — once he has learned to drop promptly on command he'll receive nothing but praise — hence happiness again. □

NOTICE

From time to time our attention is drawn to the practice of some breeders who, when advertising or otherwise offering dogs for sale, indicate in some way that the purchaser of a dog sold as pure-bred will be required to make a higher, or additional, payment in order to be furnished with a certificate of registration. Such persons should note that the price at which a dog is sold, or the purpose for which a dog was purchased, has no bearing whatever on the obligation of the seller to supply the purchaser with a certificate of registration issued by The Canadian Kennel Club for a dog sold as pure-bred.

The Live Stock Pedigree Act, a federal statute, requires that when a person sells a dog as pure-bred, or contracts to sell a dog as pure-bred, he must furnish, or agree to furnish, a certificate of registration, together with fully-recorded transfer of ownership to the buyer.

Article XXXI, Section 3 of the By-laws of The Canadian Kennel Club reads as follows:

"A member may be suspended or expelled, or a non-member deprived of the privileges of the Club, if it is proven to the satisfaction of the Board that when selling, or otherwise disposing of a dog for a consideration (monetary or otherwise), the person disposing of the dog has asked or required the new owner to make any form of payment specifically for the purpose of being furnished with a certificate or registration."

To avoid possible prosecution under the Live Stock Pedigree Act and/or possible disciplinary action by The Canadian Kennel Club, members and others engaged in the selling of dogs as pure-bred are cautioned to refrain from the practice of quoting two selling prices for the dogs, one "with papers", the other "without papers", or to in any other way indicate that an additional payment is required for a certificate of registration.

This notice is published by an order of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club.

LONDON CALLING

BY Stanley Dangerfield

This month the title is a misnomer. And that because I am really calling from "Down Under". Calling from Australia and New Zealand where I am on a pretty rugged judging trip, learning how the other half lives, and at times being duly thankful that it is the other and not my half!

In saying this I am being factual rather than critical. The truth is that the Australians have evolved a system of dog shows which suit them and suit their country. Frankly they would not suit Britain and neither for that matter would they suit North America. Indeed I would expect the riot squad to be in action long before the first show was over if either your or our judges and exhibitors were given the treatment which the Australian equivalents accept as normal.

Let me explain that although there are an abundance of shows here, probably as many or more than in Canada, only six of them really cut much ice. These are the six 'Royal Shows', one of which is held in each of the six state capitals in connection with a massive general show which is the social highlight of the year.

I have just judged two of these 'Royal' shows and give details of the last one, Adelaide, as being fairly typical of them all.

The entry was approximately 1,750 dogs and points were available in all breeds. Entry fees are modest at around $2 per dog with prize money offered on an even smaller scale.

The big difference is that there is no judging panel. Believe it or not, there is a judge! I speak with feeling because on this occasion it was me! Can one man judge all these dogs? Yes. Because the show lasts not for a day but for a week. And if this makes it sound easier let me assure you it is not.

I started at 9 o'clock on Monday morning and my first day's ration was 350 dogs. The next day there were another 350 and the next day and the next day and the day after that! If you have ever tried to judge 350 dogs in a day you will know what it feels like to keep it up for a week.

In the States 200 a day is a judge's permitted maximum. In England convention takes the place of legislation in settling on a similar figure. On one day in Australia I did 408 and felt very sorry indeed for the last dog, because of necessity I dealt with it in a manner that would get me warned off in any other country!

Now for the exhibitors' side. As judging must proceed at a steady rate of 50 dogs an hour for a week, even the lucky ones get a going over that is little short of perfunctory. They get no opportunity of talking to the judge before, during and after the show. They get no opinion, no chance to learn even what is in the judge's mind. They are marshalled in a spare ring while the previous class is going on, wheeled in, placed and wheeled out again. Their moment of glory is over. In some cases their total time in the ring is less than 60 seconds!

Even so they have to be benched before 9 a.m. in the morning and win, lose or draw, they have to stay on those benches until 9 at night even though judging is over by 4.30. And on Saturday, even though they live a thousand miles away they have to return to let the judge decide on Best Puppy, even Best of Breed and of course Best in Show. This final day's judging is over at around one o'clock mid-day. But still those dogs stay on their benches until 9 at night. See what I mean about the riot squad!

They have some good dogs. Some are surprisingly good. The best breeds are those which are fashionable enough to encourage exhibitors to import dogs from abroad. In this category I would place principally Afghans, Pekingese, Smooth Dachshunds, a number of terriers and Collies. Because of their quarantine regulations which are even more strict than our own, they buy principally from Britain. If for example they bought a Canadian dog it would first have to fly to England and spend six months in our quarantine kennels. Then it would have to travel by boat to Australia which would take it another five weeks. Then it would spend another three weeks in the local quarantine. By this time it would be ten hard, long months older. And the chances are that it would look it.

Direct import from any country other than Britain is forbidden. So is all import by air. These exhibitors have to be really keen and dedicated to carry on!

German Shepherd exhibitors need an extra dose of dedication. And that because the import of all German Shepherds is forbidden and has been since 1926.

Not one has landed in the country for the last 40 years. The thinking behind the ban is that a German Shepherd could decide to go wild and start savaging sheep, — animals which are as sacred as the cow in India although for a very different reason.

You may wonder, as I did, what point there is in forbidding the import of Shepherds in view of the fact that the breed still remains one of the most numerous in the country. Far from fading away they grow in numbers every year. Even more impressive, despite the fact that they live in what is virtually a vacuum, they are by no means bad.

That they are inbred is inevitable. That they are no world beaters is also inevitable. But when you consider that the drawbridge was lifted for ever in 1926 — in other words before the Shepherd as we know it today existed, the results are truly impressive.

Finally a word about dingoes, a breed of dog hated so much here that most Australians refuse to accept that they are dogs.

Their crime is killing sheep, a pastime at which they are so proficient that the annual bag is thought to be around a million sheep.

From which you will gather that although these wild and untameable dingoes are Australia's most numerous dog, they are not its most popular!

Even the professional 'doggers' who earn a miserable existence collecting ransom money on each scalp handed in to a government post, seem to hate them. □

Here's What Planned Publicity Can Do For Your Show

Publicity — interesting, well-done, informative, is one of the greatest needs in Canadian dogdom. It is not obtained without effort, but when good newspaper, radio or television space is given, the dog world image is tremendously improved. The public has an opportunity to learn what a great interest and exciting hobby the world of dogs can be.

A case in point is the Lakehead Show. The July 5, 1966 issue of the Sault Daily Star carried virtually a full page on the show itself, an interview with Judge John Devlin and other sidelights. Three articles under different bylines, plus one large show report and four large photographs, lent importance to the show.

Bill for Animal Care in U.S. Now is Law

President Johnson has signed the bill to require humane care and housing of animals for research and to prevent theft of dogs and cats for sale to scientific institutions. He stated:

"Progress, particularly in science and medicine, does require the use of animals for research and this bill does not interfere with that. But science and research do not compel us to tolerate the kind of inhumanity which has been involved in the business of supplying stolen animals to laboratories or which is sometimes involved in the careless and callous handling of animals in some of our laboratories."

HUMANELY SPEAKING

BY TOM HUGHES

Every day in Canada hundreds of dogs go astray. Where they go is quite often a mystery. In many cases the owner of the animals will presume, quite without reason, that the animal has been stolen for medical research. While it is true that many animals that subsequently find their way into the laboratories are in fact picked up off the streets, there are many other explanations for the disappearance of a dog.

Many dogs are found by well-meaning people, often when the animals are not lost. These people are unable to leave an animal alone when they see it on the streets and they jump to the conclusion that the kindest thing they can do is to take the dog home or to an animal shelter, public pound or some other such premises. Frequently, these people will travel long distances to reach such a shelter, and in so doing, they will effectively destroy any reasonable hope of the animal being returned to its legitimate and no doubt very worried owner.

This has happened so often to my own personal knowledge that I can assure you it is a very common thing indeed. This is particularly true on the main highways, or where animals are picked up at well known residential areas, tourist centres, and so on. For example, one of the most common experiences in Vancouver, B.C., is for animals to be picked up as far away from Vancouver as the Okanogan region, and taken to Vancouver and turned over to the animal shelter there. This is perhaps an extreme example but it does happen and certainly it happens very frequently from resorts that are closer to Vancouver. This is particularly true where there is not an animal shelter or public pound anywhere near the area where the animal is "found".

The average animal shelter will go to a great deal of trouble to try to find the owners of these animals by advertising in newspapers or getting in touch with the local police from the area where the dog was picked up. But in too many cases that is the end of the story and the dog is never returned to the owner, and is either adopted to a new home or, if this is not possible, humanely destroyed.

Another answer to the mystery of the missing animal are the well-meaning persons who decide that the animal must be taken to their own home until such time as they can try to find the owner. Again, these are well-meaning people who certainly do not intend to remove the animal from its legitimate owner. However, again in many cases this is exactly what they achieve. Time and time again, these people will pick up a dog, place it in their car, take it to their home and then keep it while they advertise the dog. Sometimes this works, particularly when the dog is a purebred or when it can be easily identified and, more important, easily described in the advertisement in such a way that the owner will recognize his own dog. However, if they go from one city to the other, even in a metropolitan area, frequently the owner of the animal will not watch the Found column advertisements in the paper where the "finder" of the dog is advertising.

A lot of people never look at the Found column of newspapers.

As the weeks go by, these people decide that the dog will never be claimed by the owner and of course in the meantime they become extremely attached to the dog. It is not long before they come to think of the dog as their own property and then within a matter of months they have forgotten how they obtained the animal, and are making no more attempts to return the dog to the owner. I have actually seen three different families all arguing with each other in the reception office of an animal shelter, and all claiming ownership of the same dog. Subsequent investigations showed that in point of fact, all three families had actually had the dog in their possession for varying periods of time during the dog's life. Of course, many dogs are stolen from the streets. Many dogs are actually picked up by people who know that they can obtain $15 or $20 for the dogs by simply keeping them until the owner has stopped looking for the dog and advertise it as available to go to a good home. There are dealers who will accept these animals without asking any questions and this provides a ready source of revenue to certain types of people.

One of the saddest things that can happen when an animal is lost is that a child is deprived of a very important adjunct to his or her formative years. It is a lucky child who is allowed to grow up in the company of animals under natural circumstances. Once a child acquires a respect for animals the adult will rarely lose it.

Similarly, one of the saddest experiences is one of an elderly person who loses a pet which is almost vital to his or her mental well being. Again, I have seen countless examples of elderly people to whom their pets represent the all important reason for living. It is no use criticising these people in becoming obsessed by their pet animals. There but for the grace of God may yet go you or I. When these people lose animals, they will frequently go to extreme lengths in attempts to recover their pet. Only recently I heard of a woman who resides in Montreal losing a cat while visiting in Cornwall, Ont. In her attempts to recover her pet she has devoted her every spare moment and has spent a small fortune in the process, all in my experience, without any real hope of success.

Perhaps one of the most pathetic cases however, is when a blind person loses a seeing eye dog. These unfortunate people who have lost their sight become entirely dependent on their seeing eye dogs and when they lose the dog it is almost as if they have lost their sight once again. The emotional shock is extreme and there is no doubt that the results of losing the animal may be long lasting. A few weeks ago a young man who lives near Toronto lost his treasured seeing eye dog. Every attempt has been made to find this dog. Every pound, animal shelter and veterinary hospital in the area has been checked. Every laboratory in the metropolitan area has been circulated with a description of the dog and a copy of his photograph, and all without any result whatsoever.

Officers in charge of laboratories have gone to great lengths to make personal checks to determine whether the dog was ever received by their departments. The cooperation has been excellent. The mother of the boy has

FROM THE CNE TO THE WEST

What breeds are in the winners' circle? Look at this east-west variety of BIS dogs.

THE Canadian National Exhibition Shows this year almost seemed a replica of the 1965 events, in that exhibitors expressed long and loudly their wishes for one-day shows rather than two two-day sessions and the single Labor Day Show.

With a total of 364 dogs entered for the final and biggest show on Labor Day (spread through 64 breeds) the competition was a little thin in some breeds. Two members of the Toy Group topped the entries with 16 each, followed by Standard and Miniature Poodles, Labrador Retrievers, Boxers, Collies, Shetland Sheepdogs and Airedale Terriers. The latter received a sudden boost on the final day with Jack Stewart's famous Crackerjack litter by Super Sid of Humberview ex Ch. Raceway My Doreda — all champions, all lively as crickets at the age of 10½!

Judge Elbert Vary, named Brampton, Ont. breeder Pamela Running's Ch. Wire Fox Terrier, Ch. Stoneygap Latest Edition (Imp.), as Top Dog in the First show. Owner handled, this is his first BIS. He has won four Terrier Groups in recent months, three consecutively.

Handled by his father, John Darch, John Darch Jr.'s Labrador Retriever, Foxleighs Jax Bumper, took the Second show under Judge Forest N. Hall. As far as can be ascertained, this is the first Labrador Retriever to go BIS at a Canadian National Exhibition show, John Sr. tells Dogs in Canada.

Labor Day BIS was the Miniature Poodle, Highlane Headmaster, owned by R. Stan Jones, whose agent is Charles Kiel. He was selected by Judge Samuel Back.

Jackie Darch, owner of the BIS Labrador, is a veteran entertainment showman of 13. Two years ago he was the most photographed boy in Canada and has been seen in numerous major television commercials. His father tells Dogs Jackie purchased the Lab himself.

Other sidelights: L. C. Powell, general manager of the CNE, is a true dog lover and has been one of Canada's most outstanding breeders of English Setters.

A man with a skunk on a leash was inadvertently allowed into the dog show by a doorman — much against the rules. He objected strenuously to being asked to leave the ringside.

For the first time the newly recognized Silky Terrier breed was entered at these shows.

Mayan Kennels used ingenuity in their miniature garden scene for their benched Chihuahuas.

While the shows were in progress, CNE officials were already making tentative plans for the 1967 shows, and radical innovations may be anticipated.

TATTOOING, NOSE PRINTING AND DOGNAPPING

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

The author presents strong arguments for positive identification of every purebred dog.

AMONG various bodies throughout the world which control breeding and registration of dogs, The Canadian Kennel Club is unique in that it provides for positive identification as a condition of registration. This has been the rule since 1939. It was started to comply with the requirements of the Livestock Registration Act. This is of particular interest at this time, as throughout the world various private schemes have been set up to provide for the tattooing of individual dogs for identification purposes and the registration of such numbers with a private organization. There is a current flurry of activity in the United States, for example, of having one's dog tattooed with one's Social Security number.

In Canada positive identification is provided by one of two methods, either tattooing or nose printing. The nose printing procedure is based on the same theory as the finger printing of humans, with corresponding difficulties of interpretation. With dogs the complication is added that most nose prints are taken of puppies. The adult dog is several times as large as the puppy, and if subsequent comparison is ever made, it is rather like comparing a one quarter scale drawing with a full scale original.

TATTOOING

The first step with regard to tattooing involves the registration of tattoo letters for the breeder with the National Livestock Registration Office in Ottawa. This is a group of letters assigned to the breeder. It is usually a three letter group or a two letter group. A small fee is payable with the registration of the tattoo letters. This is a permanent registration and no renewal fees are charged. Having registered one's litters, one then must buy tattoo equipment. This consists of a pair of pincers and a set of dies for the various letters and numbers which will be required for identifying your dogs. It will be necessary to buy dies for the two or three letters which form the breeder identification letters referred to immediately above, and in addition it will be necessary to buy dies for the various digits from one to zero and a supply of year letters. Puppies born in each year are tattooed with a letter for the year. X is the letter for 1966, for example. The first puppy registered by a breeder will carry his identification letters, eg. ST, 1 for the first puppy, and X for the year 1966. The total tattoo will then be ST1X. In my own case, I always put my letters ST on the right ear and the number and year letter on the left ear. It is a matter of personal preference. Some people prefer a tattoo on the flank. Provision is also made for tattooing lips. In addition to the permanent equipment there are consumable supplies in the form of tattoo ink and cleaning fluid. The cleaning fluid is to clean the dies and pincers after tattooing, not for cleaning the dog. If you have a breed which does not require barbering, and do not have a set of fine clippers, it will be necessary to buy a pair of 000 clippers, as it is absolutely essential that the area to be tattooed be free of hair if a good impression is to be obtained.

Assuming you are buying clippers as well as your tattoo equipment, the total cost of permanent equipment will be something in the neighbourhood of $20 to $22. Annual supplies will be something of the order of less than $2.

While this article was in course of preparation Pat Detmold, of English Setter fame, wrote in to suggest that an electric tattoo needle such as used in the tattoo parlours for people is less painful and requires no supplies other than ink. Such an electric needle costs about $30.

TATTOOING PROCEDURE

The detailed procedure for tattooing is relatively straightforward. First you must choose the location which you intend to tattoo. The choice is largely dictated by the breed which you wish to tattoo. The area to be tattooed is first clipped clean and this must be scrupulously clean. Clipping with scissors is not good enough as this will produce more than a reasonable number of illegible tattoos. It is then necessary to set the appropriate dies into the pincers. If one was doing the entire tattoo in one place, using the example above, one would set ST1X in the pincers. It is then very advisable to test this on a piece of blotting paper to make certain that the letters are in fact in the order you intend. This blotting paper also serves as a register to prevent duplication of numbers. If you have all your X puppies on one place on one blotting paper, you know without doubt that you have already got to 6X, therefore the next puppy should be 7X, without having to do any further research. The area which has been cleaned is then covered with ink. Approximately ⅛" of ink squeezed from the end of the tube is sufficient for one tattoo. This is rubbed over the area with one's finger. The dies are then pressed using the pincers penetrating the flesh through the ink. It is necessary to hold the die in place for a few seconds before removing it. Simultaneously one must hold the puppy, as he will be squirming and probably squealing a little bit. The interval of pain is very short, however, and need not disturb even the most gentle.

After removing the die from the area tattooed, rub the ink into the tattoo with one's finger. This is very important, and must be done carefully. Occasionally a die will pierce a blood vessel and a small amount of blood will be spurting out of a small wound. This is a minor complication. It is advisable to have a blood clotting agent available before starting the job. Most breeders have a supply of this on hand to take care of misadventures when clipping toenails. It was not therefore included in the special tattoo equipment outlined above. With a little practice, one can tattoo a litter of six puppies in an hour, or an average of ten minutes to a dog. If one only has one dog to do, it will probably take 30 minutes by the time you prepare your equipment, do the job, and clean up afterwards. It is very desirable that you keep your equipment clean, as it is most undesirable that the dies be allowed to rust. The tattoo ink, which comes in either black or green, is soluble in carbon tetrachloride, and this is the most satisfactory cleaning fluid to use.

NOSE PRINTING PROCEDURE

The procedure for nose printing is not as complicated as the tattoo procedure. First one wipes the nose clean, then the nose is smeared with ink. Special nose printing ink is available. The nose printing form is then applied to the nose. Two good impressions must be submitted to Ottawa, and it is desirable to keep a third for one's own file, as a check against the one which will be returned together with the registration, to make certain that there has been no transfer of nose prints from one dog to another at the registration office. 1966 Retriever Conference

A Report by Ruth C. Copeland

A Retriever field trial conference was held by the National Retriever Club of Canada at the Valhalla Inn, Toronto, on April 16 and 17. Good organization and excellent panels ensured a successful meeting. Such exchange of views should lead to greater uniformity and understanding in Retriever training. The conference was attended by about 75 field trialers, many of whom are judges.

The Committee was made up of National President J. F. Kelleher, Secretary R. K. Moore, and Director-Treasurer M. J. Seguin; Southern Ontario Directors C. J. Hunt and L. Jarvis; and members L. Barks, V. Bergman, and K. Perkins.

Panelists included T. S. Adams, O. W. Andrews, R. L. Blyth, A. Campbell, W. H. Copeland, Dr. D. Croll of Winnipeg, L. Ikonen, H. V. P. Lewis, W. K. McCaughey, J. W. MacDougall, P. A. Ouimet of Montreal, Dr. E. E. Pierce of Buffalo, L. Roberts, F. Sommers, and G. P. Sutherland of Brandon.

Among suggestions made were that it would be helpful to set and publish all Licensed Trial dates in January or early in the year; that a Standard Entry Form be adopted; and that the American pamphlet on Conduct at Field Trials be made available here.

Confusion existed among some delegates as to how new judges are created. Although not at present included in the Rule Book, upon the recommendation of the F.T. Council a quite comprehensive resolution was adopted by CKC which has been enforced since July of 1964. This ruling, defining elegibility and required qualifications of judges, was read to the meeting by one of the panelists, who also pointed to the sad fact that, like a would-be stud dog, an aspiring judge must first be asked! The sentiment was aired that wider variety, with creation of as many well qualified judges as possible, would benefit the sport. Before repeating with popular established judges, executive committees should give opportunities to judge to other knowledgeable field trialers who may be willing but have been overlooked. Some clubs have a good record for pairing an experienced judge with a novice at training trials to provide practice in the mechanics of judging. If these new judges show ability at judging, as well as meeting the other criteria of knowledge of the Rules and handling and trial experience, they are then invited to officiate at licensed trials, starting with Minor Stakes and teamed at first with approved judges.

Double Opens are held by some distant clubs to draw larger entries, but the consensus was that mechanics in single Opens are inclined to be better, and that one good Open, or separate Spring and Fall Opens, are to be preferred. Objection was expressed regarding double-header Juniors, where the Qualifying Stake is omitted. It was felt that the Qualifying Stake is a proving ground for the Open dogs of tomorrow, and also a necessary place for many "conservation" dogs to compete. There was favourable comment for allowing time, when there are large entries in the Open, for some tests to be carried over if necessary to the following morning, rather than having to chop too severely in order to finish in one day.

Membership on a F.T. Committee should not be honourary, and appointments should be made on the basis of knowledge of the Rules and of F.T. procedure, and of ability to act should any difficulty arise in connection with the trial.

Availability of grounds, especially of good water, has become so pressing a problem that it threatens the survival of Retriever training and trials. It was suggested that more government help be sought, and immediate consideration given to renting and buying permanent grounds.

Support for conservation of wetlands and wildlife habitat should be the active policy of every Retriever club. Membership in organizations such as the Conservation Council of Ontario and Ducks Unlimited ought to be encouraged.

A primary pre-trial responsibility of every club is to provide adequate water and land in good condition. The judges have a duty to view the grounds together prior to the day of the trial and to set up enough sound, interesting tests to allow for some alternatives and to test and separate the dogs properly. The Chairman or a Marshall who knows the area should accompany the judges, and while he should not enter into their deliberations regarding the tests, he should be able to point out peculiarities of the grounds that may not be readily apparent.

During the trial a marshall should always be available to the judges. It has been found a satisfactory arrangement to have two for each stake so that they may spell each other and one be free to direct setting up of the next test to avoid delay.

Rotation of the draw. A few people always have the handicap of being the first and last two or three in each series. There was no particular objection to rotation. It was agreed that females are at a disadvantage in always being drawn last and perhaps run over fouled ground or in failing light. A majority appeared to feel that bitches should be mixed with the males in the draw.

Training on the grounds, noise or use of whistles, and borrowing birds to be used in the trial should not be permitted. Exercise areas, both land and water, should be designated. Not to be tolerated, and fortunately unusual, are such unsportsmanlike crimes as working where dogs may see marks or blinds, and disciplining or abusing dogs — or judges.

Game, especially live ducks, should be plentiful and well cared for before, during and after a trial. It was suggested that birds be penned away from the gallery and public, and that ducks be used only once and then immediately unshackled and rested. From the point of scenting and dog work, ideally, pheasants or other dead game should be freshly killed a few at a time as required by the judges, rather than all together the night before or morning of the trial. Scent is improved by blooding (smearing some on feathers). Hen pheasants are thought to have less scent, especially in spring, than cock birds, and if possible all dogs in a series should be given ducks and pheasants of the same sex.

The gallery should never be allowed to interfere with the dog work, whether by its position, or by distracting sound or movement. A practical method of maintaining a clear area behind the handler has been found to be to use stakes and a rope.

Throwers and gunners should be experienced, capable, and carefully instructed. Their position (sitting, standing, in view) should remain the same for all dogs, and if they alternate, the coloring of clothing should be equally visible. Throws should be as high as possible so that the dogs have a chance to mark. Judges must be alert to the relative difficulty of marking against some backgrounds, such as high trees or glare from the sun.

Method of throwing gave rise to discussion. A minority thought that firing when the dead or shackled bird is at the apex of the throw, or firing simultaneously as the thrower lets go (if such accurate synchronization can ever be maintained throughout a stake), simulates hunting conditions. A majority, however, believed that these methods may not give the dogs a fair chance to mark, and that the fall of a dead or shackled bird glimpsed for a moment cannot really approximate the sound and flight of a live bird, either released as is done in American trials, or as in hunting conditions where the dog often follows a flight of ducks first seen on the horizon, or is alerted to the presence of upland game by having scented and trailed them as well as flushing them and watching the flight through the air. Most felt that the most straightforward method of throwing to give the dogs the best opportunity to mark dead or shackled birds was to have the shot fired first and the throw immediately afterwards.

Quadruple marks in the Open and triples in the Junior are occasionally given and were defended by some present; however, more seemed to feel that there is too great an element of luck, and that marking ability can be well tested without quadruples, which have sometimes been observed to have a fluky outcome. There is some feeling that dogs that come out on top may not necessarily be the best natural markers but can be those that line well and will handle obediently on marks. Opinion was divided as to triples in Junior but ordinarily, it was felt that they aren't necessary. Criticized as tricky were over and unders, and two birds in the same area or thrown by the same group.

One of the delegates read portions of the Rule dealing with hard mouth "if it is established by the judges that a dog is hard mouthed or has badly damaged game he must be eliminated", and of the Supplement, Page 25 (5) "Every bird retrieved, and delivered to the handler, should be inspected by one of the Judges, preferably not the one who is calling numbers. Failure to inspect retrieved birds must be catalogued as carelessness, and is an undesirable practice." Few Retrievers are hard mouthed, since for generations emphasis has been placed on breeding for soft mouth in dogs required to carry game. It was felt that it is usually difficult to establish hard mouth or roughness with game when killed birds are used, and thrown to land on ground.

Blind retrieves by shortest route? How much penalty, if any, should be exacted for deliberately putting a dog around, rather than straight through, a hazard such as an island or point or cover, where the dog would be in sight but easily lost? It appeared that what could be done quickly and usefully to pick up a fallen bird when hunting, and would be allowed by some judges, might be severely penalized by others who expect a dog at a trial to be sent on the most direct route.

On straightforward blinds it was generally agreed that there was little to choose between a dog that takes the blind on a line, and one that has a good line but requires and obediently accepts one or two casts.

Delivering to hand. If a handler fumbles, and the bird falls on the ground, or if a dog in its eagerness to go for the next bird is too quick for the handler, it appeared that most judges aren't concerned, but if this were repeated or there were evidence that a dog had a consistently poor delivery, dropping the game at a distance from the handler, or refusing to pick it up and deliver it if commanded to, then it would be considered a serious fault.

The handler should not be permitted to point out the gunners or throwers to his dog on a marked retrieve before his number is called. When he comes to line he should simply sit his dog at heel in a position where it ought to be able to mark.

Creeping, and line manners generally, gave rise to a variety of views. Some retriever men appear to place undue weight on line manners, while others, with ordinary retrievers that could easily be controlled with a little basic obedience training, cannot bring them to the line without a commotion. An Open dog is expected to be obedient but it is recognized that some of the greatest Open Retrievers of all time, and despite much discipline, crept or whined a little sometimes. The marking ability and temperament that give rise to extraordinary desire may require a very high price in repression to subdue some dogs on line. Creeping is an uncommon characteristic and unusual training problem of only occasional dogs, and is not personally encountered by most handlers. The difference in opinion seemed to lie mainly in how judges should deal with creeping.

Some judges, when a dog creeps, request the handler to bring his dog to heel before his number is called. They believe that all dogs should be sent from a position they have indicated. If he is heeled up they may disregard some creeping. Other judges feel that interfering with a dog during a marked retrieve is a double penalty that may cause the dog, by being held distracted and disciplined, to fail on the mark (a fault that creeping dogs seldom have). They therefore allow all dogs to complete the mark without interference and judge the creeping, as with other faults, on its own merits; noting it if it is slight, penalizing it if more pronounced or repeated, or if the dog creeps to a flagrant degree perhaps eliminating him from the stake. Creeping is classed as a minor fault in the supplement.

Honouring should be a test of steadiness, and it was felt by a majority that the honouring dog should not be judged for his alertness or apparent lack of attention. Some trainers teach Junior dogs to honour and would not object to this test in a Junior Stake, but most felt that honouring should be reserved for Open and Qualifying Stakes.

Restarts. If the result of accidental and momentary confusion, followed by a good eager performance, a slight false start would be excused. Lack of interest as the cause of recall, or return to the handler to be resent, was considered a serious fault, as also was a restart to line a dog on a mark it has missed. Restarts because of reluctance to enter water or to take a line on a blind retrieve usually would cause a dog to be dropped.

Controlled breaks are permissable in the Minor Stakes but judges should decide ahead of time what degree they will permit, and how severely they will penalize. Some judges deduct as much as five points for this in the Junior Stake, an extremely severe penalty that practically precludes any chance of the dog's placing; others are lenient, perhaps docking one point. There appears to be a need for greater uniformity in scoring controlled breaks.

Style is a rare asset and very pleasing, but care must be taken that this feature does not run away with the judge's decision in the final summing up.

Diagram and notes in sufficient detail that a judge can recall each dog's complete performance are very important in comparing and separating the dogs. This is particularly true in the Junior.

Requiring judges to post scores after each series is considered impractical by most judges. It is felt that this would be too demanding, restrictive and time consuming.

On the second day of the conference delegates separated into four groups, each with a chairman, to discuss training problems and methods. Such things came up as why many young dogs begin refusing the second bird of a marked retrieve; this was diagnosed as lack of desire, either from a basic shortcoming or a temporary training backfire, and suggested cures to rebuild enthusiasm were a total layoff for a while, watching other dogs retrieve, and giving short in-view marks to rebuild confidence. The common puppy fault of stopping to play with dummy or dropping it

Consideration of the DISK

In the recent book, Canine Neurology by B. F. Hoerlein, D.V.M., Ph.D., head, Small Animal Surgery and Medicine, School of Veterinary Medicine, Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama, the author deals extensively with the causes, symptoms and treatment of a condition that afflicts a number of dogs. It is not generally realized that this condition, although common in both man and dog, usually causes more severe symptoms in the dog because of anatomical differences in spinal structure and differences in the specific disks affected. The following discussion is based on excerpts from the chapter on intervertebral disk protrusions in the book, which is published by W. B. Saunders Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania ($13.50) and is reprinted courtesy "GAINES Dog Research Progress".

INTERVERTEBRAL disk degeneration occurs to some degree in virtually all dogs as part of the aging process, although not necessarily so severely as to cause clinical symptons. Premature degeneration seems most common in certain breeds, termed "chondrodystrophoid," and including the Dachshund, Cocker Spaniel, Pekingese and Beagle. In this respect it is interesting to note Dr. Hoerlein's suggestion that Dachshunds, Cockers and Pekingese, which constitute the highest percentage of cases presented for treatment are usually pets, while Beagles, more often used as hunting dogs, constitute a smaller percentage of cases than the other chondrodystrophoid breeds, especially in relation to their numbers. The incidence in man is similar: office workers accounted for 36% of 378 cases noted, and no cases were recorded among athletes in this study.

In order to understand what occurs, a knowledge of the normal functions of the disk is necessary. There are 26 disks interspaced between some 50 irregular segments of bone in the vertebral column. They lie beneath the spinal cord. Each disk is made up of two parts: a tough outer layer (the annulus fibrosus), and a central, softer gelatinous portion (the nucleus pulposus). The disks minimize trauma and shock and unite segments of the spinal column and they serve as shock absorbers between the bony vertebrae. When a shock or sudden force is exerted upon the disk, the elastic nucleus tends to distend or stretch the annulus fibrosus in at least one direction and the shock is absorbed, the pressure equalized over the entire intervertebral surface of each vertebrae. If the nucleus of the disk is destroyed or has lost its elasticity, the annulus is subjected to compression which it is not able to withstand. Rupture of the annulus fibrosus and expulsion of the nucleus pulposus into the spinal canal occurs. The majority of prolapses of this type occur where flexibility and strain are the greatest, such as in the neck region, or at the level of the last rib.

Another type of prolapse occurs frequently in older dogs. There is not a complete rupture of the annulus fibrosus, but degeneration of the disk occurs. In the dog, calcification seems to begin in the nucleus pulposus. Nuclear cells are reduced in number and some fibers degenerate. There is a loss of fluid, not only from the annulus fibrosus, but also from the nucleus pulposus.

There is an initial softening of the nucleus and the dorsal annulus prior to any displacement of nuclear material. Displacement of part or all of the nucleus into the spinal canal can happen suddenly. Generally, however, the nuclear material is extruded in small amounts, allowing for a buildup of the protrusion.

After each small rupture the nuclear material loses its elasticity and becomes fibrous and hard. This results in shrinkage and loss of fluid. Finally the protrusion calcifies. As the protruded nucleus undergoes a change, the remains of the disk also change. The disk space becomes narrower and may calcify completely.

When the annulus fibrosus becomes weak and allows disk material to bulge up towards the spinal cord, the cord will be compressed. The dog may show progressive weakness in the hind legs.

Compression of the spinal cord is, however, due not only to the pressure of the disk tissue, but also to the pressure of the inflamed tissue which has swollen around the extruded material. The disk is as much a foreign object there as a bullet in the leg. Pressure on the spinal cord decreases if inflammatory swelling regresses and the prolapsed material undergoes contraction and organization.

Symptons of prolapse of intervertebral disks vary considerably and can be either constant or intermittent. A sudden movement — jumping, going upstairs, mating or fighting with another dog — may precipitate the injury. Explosive expulsion of the disk tissue into the spinal canal produces sudden and severe damage resulting in complete paralysis. A slowly protruding disk may merely cause slight pain and discomfort, and the dog may resent being handled.

In disk protrusions in the neck, the pain may be so great that the animal may whine. He may refuse to eat or drink, and hold his head and neck low and rigidly, and may drag a forelimb. The hindlegs may be normal, but if the condition progresses, all the legs finally become paralyzed.

With protrusion in the lower back area, the dog may exhibit pain, a reluctance to move, or hind leg paralysis. Other functions, such as urination and defecation may be impaired. The dog may carry his legs under him or drag them behind. He may appear to feel well and seem normal in the forepart of his body. Great care should be used when lifting a dog in this condition.

Radiographic techniques are used to diagnose extent and type of lesions. Non-surgical treatment is indicated in cases of local myelitis causing pain and partial paralysis (paresis) or total paralysis; and in some other situations. Such treatment is based on rest and includes supportive care and maintenance of health. Time and personal attention are essential to keep the dog in good condition. Physical therapy and ultrasound treatment have both been proven sucessful, although the very good results for physical therapy depend on an excellence of equipment and technique usually available only to specialists.

Anodynes, sedatives, or tranquilizers should be used to control excessive pain, but there is a danger that too extensive a reduction of pain will cause over-activity and further damage to the patient. Anti-inflammatory drugs, therapeutic levels of B complex vitamins and thyroid extract are all helpful.

Surgical treatment has been increasingly important and surgical techniques are improved. Surgical intervention may be indicated in cases of recurrent, increasingly severe attacks of neurologic dysfunction, symptoms which prove unresponsive to other treatment, or profound paralysis with fecal and urinary dysfunction produced by a local compression existing less than a week. (If the severe symptoms have been present for longer than seven days, damage to the cord is probably too severe to be reversible.) Several surgical techniques are available and the

R.O.C. Deviations

PART ELEVEN:

A series by Mrs. Dennis Gardiner, Kerrycroft Kerry Blue Terrier fame, on "Common Deviations which Arise When Appraising Dogs for R.O.C.". Readers are invited to forward their comments directly to Mrs. Gardiner at Appleby Line, R.R. 6, Milton, Ont.

7 — FOREQUARTERS

The forequarters can be described as a separate skeletal assembly. This assembly is similar in all dogs, with bone lengths varying according to the breed. The bones are also similar to those found in the human arm with the same names.

(6) SHOULDER — or Scapula — is a flat bone which is roughly triangular with the wide base uppermost. An easily felt ridge extends approximately down the middle from the top to the bottom and is used in determining the degree of layback of the shoulder to the perpendicular. It ends in the ACROMIAL PROCESS (7), a hook-like formation of bone which forms part of the shoulder joint and limits the forward movement of the lower bones.

(8) UPPER ARM — Humerus — is between the shoulder and elbow joints.

(9) LOWER ARM — consists of two bones, the shorter front bone is the Radius. The longer Ulna extends above and back of the elbow joint. It is the tip of the elbow, the 'funny bone' or Olecranon Process (10) and is so constructed to allow a free forward movement and restricted movement to the sides.

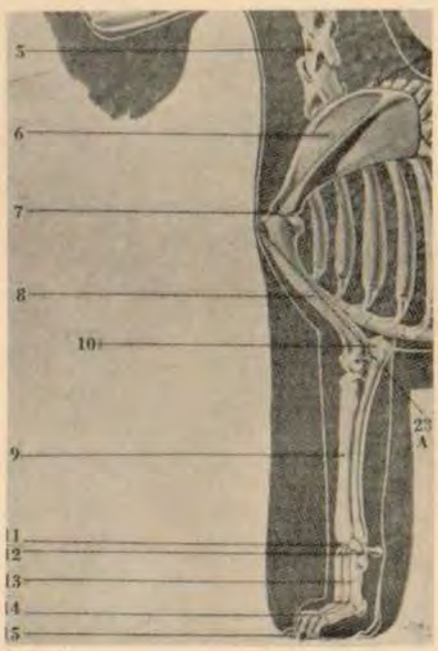

(11) PASTERN or WRIST JOINT — consists of seven Carpal bones, arranged in two rows. The ACCESSORY or PISIFORM CARPAL (12) is a short rod of bone projecting slightly at the back of the joint with a small pad on the surface.

(13) PASTERN — which consists of five Metacarpal bones corresponding to the bones in the human hand.

(14) PAWS — consist of the five Phalangeal bones or the fingers. In the dog the four fingers form the paw and the fifth or our thumb, is the dewclaw.

MUSCLES and their attachments are the same in all breeds of dogs. It is beginning to appear that the part they play in both the conformation and the movement of the dog has been underestimated. The forequarter assembly is attached to the body by means of the shoulder blade, by muscles ONLY. There is no socket joint, nor, as in the horse, are there tendons or ligaments which tend to produce a more rigid construction. The muscles forming this attachment are interwoven groups which make up what is called the "Shoulder Girdle". This in turn forms a complicated, harmonious, interdependent network with the muscles of the neck, the body, the spine and the lower forequarter limbs. The muscles of the lower limbs are simpler and weaker, but contain more tendons. This is due to the fact that the forequarters have more of a supporting role and most of the driving action is produced in the hindquarters.

PLACEMENT — It is desirable in most breeds to have the shoulders attached well back on the ribcage, with the point of the sternum (23A) ahead of the shoulder joints to some degree, according to the breed standard. This is necessary if the elbow joints are to be held and move closely against the correctly built ribcage. It is also necessary, if it is desirable to have the front legs upright, apart and parallel with toes turned slightly out, when the standing dog is viewed from the front.

ILL. 1

The shoulders should be held firmly against the ribcage from the shoulder joint to the upper edges. The tips of the shoulders will fit snugly (about ½" in a 20" dog) below the tips of the Thoracic Vertebrae or withers only if the shoulders are correctly placed on the ribcage and have a layback of about 45° to the perpendicular. In this size dog there will be about 1½" to 2" between the tips of the shoulders. This is necessary if the dog is to have freedom of action in raising and lowering the head. To understand this more clearly, place your fingers across the tips of the shoulders then raise the dog's head; note the slight spreading of the tips and the rise of the withers. Now lower the dog's head; the withers drop and the shoulder tips come together. It is understandable that a dog must be able to get his head down close enough to the ground to pick up his prey or eat without the shoulder tips binding.

STRUCTURE — Illustration 2 is a line drawing of 1. It shows the shoulder equal in length to the upper arm, the lower arm may be any length. When the shoulder and upper arm are equal, the layback of shoulder is 45° and the angle at the shoulder joint is 90°, the angle at the elbow joint is 135° if the lower arm is perpendicular to the ground. There must always be at least a 5° slope to the perpendicular at the pastern to allow for a cushioning action when the paw strikes the ground. Note — the perpendicular line drops from the tip of shoulder, to the tip of elbow to pad at back of pastern, to the ground back of the paw.

This structure produces the maximum reach and follow through with minimum amount of effort, as shown by the dotted lines. Dotted lines also show how this structure allows the maximum rotation of 15° backward and forward of the shoulder. This will be dealt with again in GAIT — KEEP THESE ILLUSTRATIONS HANDY FOR DEVIATIONS NEXT MONTH. □

Just call it hospitality

by E. B. (TIM) REID

That's got to be the impression of those who attended the Conception Bay Kennel Club shows at Harbour Grace, Nfld., this year. A long trip for many of the exhibitors but in the opinion of most, such as Elsie McDermott of Kingston who was there with her Pomeranians and Chihuahuas, well worth it.

This club, young in years but learning fast, has developed special features that old, long established clubs could well take a look at. Harbour Grace is roughly 70 miles from St. John's, location of the Newfoundland airport. The club recognized that this posed difficulties for exhibitors flying in from the mainland. But it was a difficulty the club took in its stride.

dogs and their owners to the site of the show and back to St. John's after the show ended.

The shows this year were held on a Saturday and a Monday, over the Labor Day weekend. But exhibitors were not left to hang around motel rooms over Sunday. Sightseeing trips were arranged for those who wanted to take them; there was a fish chowder party Sunday at noon — a rare experience for mainlanders who were guests of these warm-hearted Newfoundland people; and on Sunday evening a pleasant cocktail party at the beautiful home of Bob and Megan Nutbeem, owners of the well-known Harbour Beem Newfoundland Kennels. On the previous night there had been a similar party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Saltman, owners of one of that rare, rare breed, a Welsh Springer Spaniel.

This kind of hospitality has paid off. In 1965 the club had 72 dogs in competition. In 1966 there was an entry of 110, with only about five absentees. Entries came from as far as Weehawken, in New York State, and from London, Ont. The New England States and the mainland Maritime Provinces were well represented although the majority of the dogs were Newfoundland owned.

The quality was surprisingly good. As a judge I found at least a dozen or more that could hold their own at any show in Canada — top specimens of their breed. The others, on the whole, were far from mediocre. However, both dogs and exhibitors, in too many instances, suffered from lack of opportunity to get ring experience. A beautiful English Setter, for instance, friendly and confident outside the ring, fell apart when it was being shown. An extremely good Beagle that might well have taken the Hound Group had to be moved down a notch because of lack of presentation. A very promising parti-color American Cars were laid on to transport the Cocker puppy paid a similar penalty and also suffered from its owner's lack of experience in trimming. The same could be said of several quite promising terrier exhibits.

However, the Newfoundland people were anxious to learn. They were grateful for suggestions and what was particularly gratifying, they learned from the suggestions. I'm confident that presentation will improve.

Physical conditions for the show were excellent. The memorial arena in which it was held is clean, with ample space. Club members got together and built their own benching and ring equipment, all painted an attractive blue. The judging ring was big enough even for German Shepherds to move freely. The cement floor of the ring, completely covered with matting, provided sure footing no matter where a dog was being gaited. And outside the judging ring was a large, clean ready ring where dogs waiting to enter the judging ring could move freely without hindrance from spectators.

All these things, of course, cost money. How does a small club, with members living as much as 70 miles apart, finance such excellent shows — incidentally there was a Best of Breed prize in every breed regardless of entries. We didn't go into that. But we did notice that the show catalogue carried 53 full pages of advertising. That represents revenue. But it also would seem to represent a small club in which every one of the members buckles down and carries a fair share of the load.

My hat is off to these enthusiastic people. They have the problem of distance and sparse population, but as the word gets around I'm sure they'll attract more and more entries from the other provinces in Confederation and from the United States. Good luck to them.

Boys Assigned Job of Loving Police Puppies

Based on the successful formula used by the Guide Dogs for the Blind School in San Rafael, Calif., Vancouver police have enlisted two Richmond boys, Sea Scouts Grove Johnson, 13 and Blair Tipton, 14 to give their love and some play hours to two young German Shepherd pups. At the same time the puppies will be taught basic obedience. Then at the age of 12 months they will be turned over to a professional trainer to be taught to become responsible members of the police canine corps.

This method has proven over 92 percent successful in obtaining dogs for its purpose by turning over puppies to members of the 4-H club until they are a year old.

Inspector F. C. Errington of the Vancouver police department states the 15 dogs on his force capture 50 to 100 criminals a year that would otherwise escape.

This issue carries more than the average number of items relating to youthful activity in dog circles. To the readers who submitted material, our thanks. Junior endeavors are important — please continue to send in pictures and reports.

Prairie Juniors Handle Their First Show

The Saskatoon Junior KC members launched themselves as a show-giving club when they staged their first pre-sanction dog show and obedience trial August 21. The Juniors took on all the tasks themselves, including organizing the show, making ribbons and judging. The Working Group led in the 53 entries.

Jack Sonmor of Saskatoon won the Senior division of the handling competition with a Norwegian Elkhound, Torr's Silver Drey of Shonleh. Winner of the Junior division was Diane Burns, a Regina Junior KC member, with her Miniature Poodle, Taval Vidette.

The Juniors expressed their thanks to out-of-town exhibitors, enthusiasts from Saskatoon who supported the show and Judge Bill Dawson of Prince Albert who assessed the Junior Handling Competition.

A graduation was held at the Saskatoon Dog Show September 17 and 18 for members who completed their courses in handling, ring stewarding, obedience, a veterinarian course and classes in conformation. The Juniors have gained experience by helping at a number of shows during the past two years.

BREED NOTES

Readers are asking: why isn't there more about their breed? What are people doing in the many breeds? We need your help! Please send in brief items pertaining to your breed, Canadian wins in the U.S.A., imports, formation of new clubs, items of interest about various breeds you may find in your reading.

Alberta Retriever Clubs Association

The first trial of the Alberta Retriever Clubs Association was held on July 24, 1966, south and east of Red Deer on th Pine Lake road. This was a Limited All Age Stake and all mechanics were supplied by The Calgary Retriever Club. Wayne Peterson, President, acted as Field Trial Marshall and a big vote of thanks is due to him and the other members for running an excellent trial on such good grounds. This was an experiment, with the hope that it may become an annual two-day Double Open and that entries will come from other provinces.

There was a 16 dog entry, with four being scratched, leaving 12 starters all from Alberta. Lyman Turner of Magrath and Ken Powell of Edmonton were the judges, and set up some very challenging tests.

1st Test was a nice double across water, into heavy cover. All dogs back.

2nd Test was a cold blind about 110 yards out in the open, with heavy bush on the left and a road to the right. Post on the edge of the road, with a rolling hill for the dog to go down. All dogs back.

3rd Test was a triple. 1st bird thrown was to the left, down a hill about 40 yards to water, then across to heavy cover with bush directly behind the bird. 2nd bird was to the right about 125 yards out behind a hill and across a road into grassy slough. 3rd bird was about 20 yards out, thrown directly towards the dog and just to the left of being an over and under. All dogs back except two.

4th Test was a double with a blind down the middle. Dog completed test then honored. 1st bird thrown to the left, across water and up on land. 2nd bird to right in snake grass, just off the shore. The blind was on the same shore as the 1st bird thrown, but down the shore about 50 yards. Six dogs back after this test. For the above test a boat would have been handy, but dogs aren't the only shore runners. The throwers made good time.

5th Test was a triple cold blind. 1st bird planted out about 40 yards to the left in high grass and water directly behind the bird. 2nd bird to the right about 50 yards out in buck brush. 3rd bird down the middle and out about 130 yards, the dog being out of sight for a few seconds behind a hill.

The new Jim Lowther Memorial Trophy supplied by the Alberta Retriever Clubs Association was presented to the winner.

1st place — F.T.C. Mixed Up Mortie — Dr. B. L. Dunsworth, Edmonton.

2nd place — F.T.C. Carnmoney Billy-Jo — C. Bjork, Calgary.

3rd place — F.T.C. Brookfield's Kisskadden's Little Squeak — D. Brooks, Midnapore.

4th place — F.T.C. Kangas of Mount View Farm — H. Kangasniemi, Calgary.

Some of the younger dogs are showing good promise and their handlers needn't be discouraged. There was a sizeable gallery of spectators and they were able to get an excellent view of all tests, with everyone willing to help them understand the work of the dogs. The weather was ideal for the dogs, but a little damp at times for the spectators. However, the consensus of opinion was that it was a successful trial.

CH. (AM. & CAN.) SKIDBY'S CAMBRIDGE MISS

First to Last,
an outstanding bitch with elegance and true Setter type by Ch. Wamlay's Mike Chism ex Royal Blue of Stone Gables. Breeder: Pete and Gus Polley, Skidby Knls., Bishops Mills, Ont.

FIRST AKC show: Best of Breed — over Open Class competition — from the JR. PUPPY CLASS FINISHED her American championship in 7 shows; including, English Setter Association of America Specialty Show, WB for 5 pts.; English Setter Club of New England Specialty Show, WB for 3 pts.; Framingham District Kennel Club Show, another 3 pt. major.

AWARDED Winners Bitch of 1963 by both English Setter Association of America and English Setter Club of New England.

SHOWN only 3 times as a Special; 2 BEST OF BREEDS and 2 GROUP SECONDS.

LAST time shown, pictured, finishing her Canadian title (at the age of 6 years), under Judge William Kendrick at Fredericton Kennel Club Show, BEST OF BREED — SPORTING GROUP SECOND — BEST CANADIAN BRED IN SHOW.

"Camie" is now being retired from her limited show career to have one more litter and enjoy her maturity as the family pet. She has already produced FOUR American Champion offspring, plus several others with points. All of these youngsters, as well as "Camie" herself, have been entirely amateur-handled.

"Camie" pups due in March, 1967.

Retriever Conference

before delivery was dealt with by advising thorough training in coming when called without a dummy, followed by patient insistence on obedience to the command "hold it" or "fetch". Methods and age at which the extremely vital ability of line taking should be taught were covered. There is not space to include all of the discussions but a great deal of useful information was exchanged.

What the judges are looking for was summed up by one of the most experienced field trialers in this way: For Open All-Age they are looking for a thoroughly obedient, courageous and stylish dog, that can mark, handle and be a pleasure to be with on a day's shoot in the marsh or field. In the Qualifying the requirements are the same, but with reservations. In the Junior the judges are looking for an alert, stylish and active dog that is obedient, and can mark equally well on land and in water. He should have courage and stick to a job until it is finished.

Future Retriever Conferences. It is anticipated that this first very enjoyable and informative meeting, organized by the National Retriever Club of Canada, will be followed by many more in various areas of the country. □

The Chesapeake Bay Retriever

The Chesapeake is truly America's National dog, originating on the stormy shores of Maryland, on Chesapeake Bay, where only the most rugged dog could stand the work in the marshes. In the early 1800's a dog was often expected to retrieve as many as 200 ducks in a day.

The Chesapeake was registered as a breed by the AKC in 1878. It is primarily a water dog and due to their tremendous double, oily coat, which sheds water like a duck's back, they are capable of working under the toughest aquatic conditions.

He is equally as good on upland game. Some have been known to point pheasants, but we believe this to be unusual. He is NOT a deer hound, and rarely will even run rabbits. He is what his name implies, a retriever, and is bred to work from his master's side.

Usually a one man dog, the Chesapeake works best for his master. Affectionate and loyal, he will work his heart out for the one he loves. He is an excellent guard and a children's companion without peer.

The Chesapeake is a rugged individual and should be trained from the time he is a small pup. Be firm. Demand obedience. Be generous with praise but never beat or abuse your dog.

Kipewa Brittany Spaniels Tops in American Trials

At the September 5 Gouverneur, N.Y., Fall Field Trial, Ch. and F.T. Ch. Kipewa's Breton Belle was first in the Open Gun Dog Stake and her kennel mate, Rusty Freckles, was second. These dogs are owned and handled by W. McClure of Manotick, Ont. Freckles' daughter, 12 month old Kipewa's Britta, owned by H. Sauter of Ottawa, was first in the Open Puppy and third in the Open Derby. On the following weekend Britta placed second in a field of 22 in the Open Puppy Stake held by the Brittany Club of Upper New York.

B.C. Cocker Spaniel Club Booster Show

In conjunction with the September 9 and 10 all-breed shows of the V.I.D.F.A. in Victoria, the B.C. Cocker Spaniel Club held its first booster for English and American Cockers. An entry of 13 American and 18 English was judged by John Devlin who selected his winners as follows: In American Cockers BB was Ch. Norwyn's Tri Fi, a stylish tri-color. In the English, BB was the orange and white import, Ch. Cochise Cambyses. The Group judging saw Group 1st for Ch. Cochise Cambyses and Group 2nd and Canadian-Bred for Ch. Norwyn's Tri Fi. Sporting Puppy went to Ranzfel Gentian Girl, a blue roan English Cocker.

To put a fine ending to a successful day, the display of pheasants, ducks, bullrushes and salal which decorated the Cocker benching won the award for Best Decorated Benching by a Club.

As if the Cockers had not quite had enough, Mrs. Joan Smith, a Cocker club member, won the raffle — a Polaroid color camera!

"Happiness" is a Working Vizsla

Ronca's Csibesz, Jency, 22 month old Vizsla owned and trained by Keith Prior of North Delta, B.C., recently completed his UD. That's happiness! Not only because he was such an eager worker but the fact that he is the first Vizsla in Canada to acquire an O.T. Championship.

Jency, sired by Ch. Budavary Golden Prince to dam Ch. Lady Selle, CD, certainly proved this breed to be excellent workers in the Obedience ring. His record of wins was impressive; placing First in Class, five times; Second, three times and Fourth, once. Also, he was High Scoring Dog in Trial twice. All this was accomplished in just over one year of competition with an average score of 193.5. He also has his American CD, which he managed in three Trials with top-placing scores.

With hunting season approaching, it's semi-retirement from the ring and out to the bird fields for Jency.

literally made herself ill with her efforts to trace this dog.

Perhaps one of the finest things that could happen in Canada would be some system of tattooing all dogs. Not just purebreds but all dogs. I realize that this proposal is somewhat impractical in many areas of the country but it could be instituted in other areas with the cooperation of vets, public pounds, municipal licensing authorities, government authorities and with the active cooperation and participation of Humane Societies in the area. What I have in mind is a form of pet register that would be compulsory to all dog owners. Dogs tattooed under the authority of the National Livestock Records would be exempt from such a register.

But perhaps most important of all, if well meaning people would resist the temptation to pick up dogs that are simply wandering around countless thousands of dogs would be saved from separation from their owners and an equal number of people, plus many more employees and workers for Humane Societies, would be saved innumerable hours of anguish, effort, hard work and expense.

It may be hard for these people to understand, but if a dog is in ordinary condition the chances are a hundred to one that he is NOT lost; that, to the contrary, he knows exactly where he is and if he is left alone that he will return to his home sooner rather than later. Sure I know he shouldn't, in theory, be at large by himself but this doesn't justify someone "finding" the dog that isn't lost. □

choice depends on the nature of the lesion and other factors. Postoperative treatment is similar to non-surgical treatment of cases of local myelitis with pain and/or paresis and is essential to recovery.

There are, then, many procedures available for the treatment of disk protrusions depending on their severity. Early treatment is essential if optimum results are to be achieved. This is particularly true in the case of massive paralysis resulting from a severe rupture. In this latter event, unless pressure is relieved within a few days, there is little hope. □

A gushy woman asked a famous judge how she should proceed in reading about purebreds. "From left to right," he replied.

SUBJECT: Proposed Amendments to the Regulations and Standards for Obedience Trials

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at its annual meeting commencing on February 20, 1967, the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club will consider proposed amendments to the Regulations and Standards for Obedience Trials as outlined hereunder. Persons and clubs having reason to be interested in these proposed amendments are invited to submit their comments to the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club, 1173 Bay Street, Toronto 5, Ontario. All such comments must be received by the Secretary not later than January 1, 1967. All letters of comment should refer to file #12 OB 8.

IT IS PROPOSED THAT:

Chapter 1, be amended by the deletion of Subsections 1 and 2 in Section 8 (VETERINARY INSPECTION) and the following be substituted therefor:

"Subsection 1. Every licensed obedience trial shall have one or more qualified veterinarians in attendance before and during the entire progress of the trial or within easy call.

Subsection 2. The obedience trial committee must elect whether all dogs are to be inspected in respect to their apparent health before being admitted to the trial or whether dogs will be allowed to enter a trial premises without such inspection. If the committee decides that all dogs are to be inspected, the designation "Examined Trial" shall be printed on the title page of the premium list, and in the catalogue if one is published.

Subsection 3. An "Examined Trial" is one at which each dog is subject to a health inspection by one of the trial's veterinarians before being allowed to enter the trial permises.

Subsection 4. For an "Examined Trial" a club must employ a sufficient number of qualified veterinarians to ensure the inspection and admission of dogs without undue delay and shall arrange to have its full complement of veterinarians present during the hours of the trial when dogs will be admitted. If dogs are to be admitted to a trial premises before the published opening hour, the obedience trial committee of a club must arrange to have one or more of its veterinarians on duty during such time.

Subsection 5. At an "Examined Trial" the veterinarian must indicate on the identification card of each dog after examination, a certification of such examination, and no dog shall be considered officially admitted until this certificate is so attached. Any exhibitor must show the identification card of his dog to the steward upon entering the ring if requested to do so, by any competing exhibitor, and if the said card shall not contain the certification of the veterinarian the steward shall see to it that the said dog is removed from the trial and the club holding the trial shall, within ten days after the trial, report all such cases to The Canadian Kennel Club. When appealed to by a judge or when giving an opinion on a protest to the obedience trial committee, he shall immediately render his decision in writing. The exhibitor shall be subject to disciplinary action if his dog enters a trial without veterinary inspection.

Where, in the opinion of the official veterinarian inspecting the dogs before entry into the premises of a trial, a dog has distemper other communicable disease, or any condition which is considered by the official veterinarian to be prejudicial to the health of dogs entering the trial, he shall reject the entry of the dog and report such rejection to the Trial Secretary who shall, following the trial, report such rejection to The Canadian Kennel Club. The person presenting the dog for veterinary inspection, when advised by the official veterinarian that the dog has been rejected, shall at once remove the dog from the trial premises. No claim may be made against the official veterinarian, the trial-giving club or any official, for such rejection, nor may entry fees be refunded.

Subsection 6. At an "Examined Trial" the veterinarian shall sign every identification card after examining the dog or dogs covered by the identification card. Veterinarians also shall be furnished with a handy receptacle, containing a proper disinfectant for use after handling each dog.

A veterinarian who desires a dog's mouth to be opened may request the owner or person in charge to open it.

SUBSECTION 7. At an "Examined Trial" any person who takes any dog into an obedience trial without official veterinary inspection as above described, or who takes into a trial a dog that has been rejected by the official veterinarian or exposed to any dog suffering from any contagious disease within thirty days prior to the trial, shall be subject to disciplinary action by the Board of Directors.

Subsection 8. A report of any infraction of these rules must be made to the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club within ten days after the closing of the trial.

IT IS PROPOSED THAT:
In Subsection 1 of Section 12 of Chapter I the words "or six Utility entries per hour" be deleted and the words "or five Utility entries per hour" be substituted therefor.

IT IS PROPOSED THAT:
In Section 8 of Chapter III the following be deleted:
"In the case of a tie, the dogs shall be tested again by having them perform at the same time one or more of the regular exercises in that class which will prove to the Judge which dog is the most obedient."
and the following be substituted therefor:
"In case of a tie the dogs shall be tested again by having them perform at the same time all or some part of one or more of the regular exercises in that class."

IT IS PROPOSED THAT:
Section 18 (SIT AND DOWN) of Chapter III be amended by altering the fourth sentence to read as follows:
"A dog which fails to remain in the sitting or down position, whichever is required by the particular exercise, for at least three quarters of the specified time in the Novice Classes, or until the handler has returned to the heel position in the Open Classes, and a dog that barks or whines unreasonably, must receive less than 50% of the available points."

NOTICE

SUBJECT: An amendment to the Field Trial Rules & Regulations for Retrievers and Irish Water Spaniels

The following amendment to the C. K. C. Field Trial Rules & Regulations for Retrievers and Irish Water Spaniels was approved by the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club at its 1966 semi-annual meeting. The Amendment outlined hereunder will come into effect on January 1, 1967.

Chapter 4 (JUDGES) is amended by the addition of a new Section reading as follows:
"SECTION 7. Excluding the National Championship Stake, a judge shall not be approved to judge more than three All-Age Stakes in the same province in the same calendar year. A judge shall not be approved to judge All-Age Stakes to be held on consecutive dates within the same province."

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Amendments to the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Beagles

The following amendments to the C. K. C. Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Beagles were approved by the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club at its 1966 semi-annual meeting. The amendments outlined hereunder will come into effect on January 1, 1967.

Chapter 14, Section 3, is amended by deleting under "Maritime Provinces" the present championship point requirements for 13 inch dogs and substituting "30 points".

Chapter 14, Section 4, is amended to read as follows:
"SECTION 4. In order to become a Canadian Field Trial Champion a Beagle must be placed three times at recognized championship trials and two of such placings must be first place.

Notwithstanding that any Beagle that has obtained points in a licensed field trial for Beagles prior to January 1, 1967, may be awarded its Canadian Field Trial championship in accordance with the regulations in effect at that time."

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The semi-annual meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club was held at Toronto commencing on July 18th. The meeting adjourned on July 23rd.

There follows a summary of decisions of general interest reached at the meeting.

MINUTES

PUBLICATION OF MINUTES

At the annual meeting of the Board in March a discussion had taken place as to the advisability of publishing more detailed minutes of proceedings at meetings of the Board. This question was referred to a committee for study and report to the Board, Mrs. Phyllis Smith having been named Chairman of the Committee with the power to name the remaining members of the Committee.

At this meeting the Board considered a report submitted by Mrs. Smith in which Mrs. Smith:

(1) Reported that since her appointment as Chairman of the Committee she had discussed the subject with many members and had been "unable to find anyone with a difference of opinion" and "a committee, as such, has not been appointed and no meetings have been held."
(2) Reported that "It is the concensus of opinion that the members made a great error in approving the amendment proposed by the Board a couple of years ago which deleted the publication of Minutes".
(3) Pointed out that under the present By-laws the Board is "given the privilege of publishing a detailed report" of the business conducted at any meeting.
(4) Stated that the "detailed report" should "contain the following information: name of person introducing the subject; short resumé of discussion; name of mover and seconder of motion; names of the Board members voting in favour; those opposed; those abstained; and those absent at the motion".
(5) Recommended "that a detailed report as outlined above appear on the Secretary's Page after each meeting for the balance of 1966 or until an amendment can again go before the members in a Referendum Ballot".

During a discussion which followed the following factors were considered:

(1) it is the wish of some members that more detailed minutes be published;
(2) to return to the old format would likely mean printing costs in excess of $2,000 per year for minutes, and probable extra postage costs on "Dogs in Canada" in the area of $1,000 per year;
(3) many members across Canada did not read the full detailed minutes when published;
(4) the minutes are sometimes used by Board members for personal gratification and personal promotion;
(5) the difficulties and cost of providing a complete and accurate record of all discussions.

Upon a recorded vote the following motion was lost:

"THAT, the present method of publishing the Secretary's Page be continued and when important items are referred by the Board to be discussed at a future meeting of the Board, some brief notice of the items be made known through the Secretary's Page."

The following motion was also lost upon a recorded vote:

"THAT, more detailed information be published on the Secretary's Page."

This more detailed summary of proceedings on this particular question is published on an order of the Board.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

DOGS IN CANADA

At its last annual meeting the Board appointed a Committee to review, with the publishers of "Dogs in Canada", the existing agreements between the Club and the publishers regarding the publication of the Club's official magazine. At a subsequent meeting of the Board steps were taken with a view to the Board, at this meeting, having the opportunity of considering a proposed new agreement which would replace those now in effect.

The draft of a new agreement, as prepared under the supervision of the Club's solicitor, was considered by the Board. The proposed new agreement included a number of provisions not in the existing agreements. These changes or additions require that the Club shall pay the actual printing costs of the regular editorial section of the magazine for all copies the Club may order beyond those which it normally orders for distribution to members of the Club. It provides a definition of what constitutes "official business" as such appears in the magazine, and while stipulating the official business which must be carried in the magazine (such as show and trial reports, titles granted, kennel names applied for, etc.) enables the Board to publish independent of the magazine, certain other classes of official business such as reports of Board, annual general, and committee meetings. The agreement places a ceiling on the number of copies for which the Club is responsible for actual printing costs of official business. The proposed new agreement provides that if the Club should undertake to have a mailing system, for the mailing of magazines to members, at the plant of the printer, the Club would bear the costs of the establishment and maintenance of such mailing system at the printers. The proposed agreement also provides for the Club to appoint a liaison committee which committee would meet from time to time with the publishers for the purpose of discussing matters of mutual interest. The proposed agreement also provides that from time to time as the Club deems advisable, articles on the Club and its affairs may be published in the regular editorial section of the magazine, the writing of the articles to be the joint responsibility of the Club and the company, the cost of such articles to be borne by the Club.

Having approved the text of the proposed new agreement, the Board directed that the draft be referred to the publishers for consideration with authority to the President and Secretary to sign the proposed agreement on behalf of the Club if the proposed new agreement is satisfactory to the publishers.

The Board received the financial statements for Apex Publishers and Publicity Ltd. for that company's year ending April 30, 1966, and the Secretary's report that he had received a cheque from Apex in the amount of $2,308.10, being dividends declared at the annual meeting of that company held on June 23rd.

INTERNATIONAL MATTERS

THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB

The President read a letter from the Executive Vice-President of The American Kennel Club advising that a committee of the Board of Directors of The American Kennel Club is continuing to study proposals which The Canadian Kennel Club had advanced to The American Kennel Club regarding recognition of Canadian show judges.

CARIBBEAN KENNEL CLUB

A proposal of the Caribbean Kennel Club that a reciprocity agreement be entered into between it and The Canadian Kennel Club was considered. The Secretary was instructed to inform the Caribbean Kennel Club that it is not the policy of The Canadian Kennel Club to enter into formal reciprocity agreements.

FEDERATION CYNOLOGIQUE INTERNATIONALE

The Secretary was authorized to approach the Federation Cynologique Internationale, a federation of national Kennel Clubs in Europe, with regard to the possibility of The Canadian Kennel Club becoming an associate member of the Federation if such membership would not commit The Canadian Kennel Club to any policies of the F.C.I. or inhibit the freedom of The Canadian Kennel Club to make its own decisions without regard to the F.C.I.

REGISTRATION, STUD BOOKS AND RELATED MATTERS

KENNEL NAMES

The Board adopted a policy that in future any kennel name applied for would not be considered unless it is a single word without hyphen or apostrophe.

REGISTRATION COMMITTEE

The Board directed that, subject to the approval of the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture, certificates of registration and certified pedigrees issued by the Field Dog Stud Book for a specimen of any breed in Group 1 would be accepted for registration purposes, the regulations previously adopted for Pointers and English Setters registered in the Field Dog Stud Book to be now applicable to all breeds in Group 1.

The Board received a report from the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture to the effect that a suspected case of forgery in connection with an application for registration of a litter had been referred to the Department of Justice, the Department of Justice had arranged for the appointment of legal counsel, and the case would be proceeded with as early as possible.

The Board referred to the Registration Committee for further study and report, a suggestion that in order to be eligible for registration in the Club's records, all dogs included in a bulk shipment of dogs to Canada must be tattoo-marked before being shipped to Canada.

The Board referred to a special committee for review and study, with power to discuss with breeders, the Department of Agriculture, and the Canadian National Live Stock Records, a new system of registration advanced by the Secretary.

REGISTRATION OF DACHSHUNDS

At a previous meeting of the Board the question of policies applicable to the registration in the Club's records of Dachshunds imported to Canada, and Dachshunds owned in the United States which had been exhibited at shows or trials held in Canada, had been referred to the Registration Committee for study and report to the Board.

The Board considered the following recommendations to the Registration Committee:

(a) that with the approval of the Chief Registration Officer the regulations now in effect for the registration in the Club's records of Dachshunds imported to Canada or owned in the United States be repealed, and a simple policy be substituted in its place;
(b) that the simple policy be as follows:

An imported dog will be registered as to coat, according to what the dog actually is, whether it be Wire-haired, Smooth, or Long-haired.

If the importer wishes the dog registered as a Miniature, he must submit the dog for official weighing by a person appointed by the Club for the purpose. If the dog is found to be under 9 lbs. in weight at one year of age or more, the dog will be registered as a Miniature. If 9 lbs. or over, it will be registered as a Standard.

These regulations will also apply to American-owned Dachshunds brought to Canada for show or trial purposes.

After discussion the Board approved the recommendations of the Registration Committee and authorized the Secretary to seek the approval of the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture on the repeal of the present regulations and substitution of the regulations as proposed by the Registration Committee as such apply to imported Dachshunds and American-owned Dachshunds.
(Secretary's Note: An announcement will subsequently appear as to whether or not the regulations recommended by the Registration Committee have been approved by the Chief Registration Officer.)

BOOKLET ON IDENTIFICATION AND REGISTRATION

The Registration Committee was authorized to prepare for distribution with litter kits and otherwise, a booklet dealing with the identification and registration of dogs and the requirements of the Live Stock Pedigree Act and the Club's By-laws with regard to the furnishing of certificates of registration for dogs sold as pure-bred.

STUD BOOKS

At its annual meeting next February the Board of Directors will consider a proposal that the charge for a copy of the Club's annual Litter Record and Stud Book be increased to $5.00 per copy.

BREED IMPROVEMENT

The question of breed improvement and the importance in this regard of championship shows, and the judging at such shows, was discussed at considerable length. The discussion concluded with an instruction to the Secretary to address a letter to all conformation judges, drawing their attention to the provisions of Section 2 of Chapter 9 of the Dog Show Rules and of the necessity of their withholding awards and ribbons in cases where the dogs presented for judgment lack the required quality.

BREED STANDARDS

The Board considered a report of the Breed Standards Committee with regard to a proposed new standard for the Vizsla. It also considered a letter received from the Canadian West Highland White Terrier Club with regard to that Club's submission of a proposed new standard for the breed, and it also considered a letter from the Schipperke Club of Canada with regard to its proposed changes in the standard for the Schipperke.

When The Canadian Kennel Club published its first Book of Breed Standards in 1963 the Board at that time adopted a resolution strongly recommending to future Boards of Directors that the Club refrain from altering breed standards for a period of not less than five years, this in order that those who purchased the Book of Breed Standards could rely on it being up to date for a period of years.

The Board decided that the proposals which it had received would be referred to the Breed Standards Committee and that it be made known to those who had submitted such proposals that the Board will not consider any changes in breed standards until 1968.

COMPLAINTS, CHARGES AND PROTESTS

SPECIFIC CASES

The report of an Advisory Committee was considered by the Board, the Committee having been appointed to investigate and report on the alleged failure of five owners to comply with the requirements of Section 1, Chapter 19 of the Dog Show Rules in that they had removed dogs, without proper authorization, from a championship show before the time at which they were eligible to do so. All five defendants were deprived of the privilege of participating in shows and trials held under the Club's rules for a period of six months, commencing from September 1, 1966.

The report of another Advisory Committee was considered by the Board, the Committee having been appointed to investigate and report on the alleged failure of a number of exhibitors at a championship show to comply with the requirements of Section 1 of Chapter 19 of the Dog Show Rules regarding the benching of their dogs. Two exhibitors were deprived of the privilege of participating in shows and trials held under the rules of the Club for a period of six months commencing September 1, 1966.

The Board considered a communication received from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police following an investigation of the alleged failure of a breeder to supply certificates of registration for dogs sold as pure-bred, the report indicating that the investigation was continuing with a view to prosecution under Article 17 of the Live Stock Pedigree Act. (Secretary's Note: Prosecution proceedings have since been instituted).

The Board considered a report received from a Better Business Bureau on a number of complaints which the Bureau had received regarding the alleged failure of the operator of a pet shop to supply certificates of registration for dogs said to have been sold as pure-bred. The file was ordered referred to the Department of Agriculture with a request for an investigation. Also referred to the Department for investigation were a number of complaints against a member who is alleged to have failed to supply certificates of registration to purchasers.

INTERNAL & ADMINISTRATION

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS AND RULES

At its annual meeting in February the Board had given instructions with regard to the preparation of a number of proposed amendments to the By-laws and various rules on the understanding that the drafts of such proposed amendments would be considered at its semi-annual meeting.

At the commencement of this meeting the Board decided that it would not order the holding of a special referendum ballot in 1966. Instead the Board decided on the following programme:

(1) To appoint a Special Amendments Committee to consider all proposed amendments referred to it by the Board at this meeting. It named Mr. Donald H. Duff as Chairman of the Committee.
(2) The report and recommendations of the Special Amendments Committee would be published in the December (1966) issue of "Dogs in Canada" along with the notice calling the Club's next Annual General Meeting.
(3) The proposed amendments would be placed before the next Annual General Meeting for discussion.
(4) The Board would then decide whether to conduct a special referendum ballot in 1967 and if so, what proposed amendments would be included therein.

During the course of this meeting the following questions were referred to the Special Amendments Committee:

(1) Proposed amendments to the Dog Show Rules, the Obedience Trial Regulations and Standards, the Tracking Test Rules, and the Field Trial Rules and Regulations which would abolish provision for a date fee and provide for a club holding a championship show or licensed trial to pay recording and listing fees to the C. K. C. following the issuance of a statement of account to the club by the C.K. C.
(2) A proposed amendment to Article XXXVIII of the By-laws enabling the Election Commission to open envelopes containing returned referendum ballots immediately upon the close of balloting.
(3) A proposal to increase the number of members on the Dog Show Council by the addition of a Dog Show Representative in each zone.
(4) An amendment to the By-laws making it quite clear that the sire and dam of a litter (and individual) dog must be specimens of the same breed if registration is to be accorded the litter and individual dogs.
(5) A proposal that the list of recognized breeds appearing in the By-laws be rearranged in order that the breeds are listed in alphabetical order.
(Note: This does not involve any change in the grouping of breeds as such now appear in the Dog Show Rules for show purposes).
(6) A proposal to grant certain powers to the Board with regard to the list of recognized breeds and standards adopted by the Club.
(7) A proposal that all references in the By-laws to competitive events for dogs be incorporated into a single Article in the By-laws.
(8) A proposal that the By-laws (Article XXXVIII) be amended to provide that a regular referendum ballot may be conducted every two years concurrent with the election of the Club's Officers and Directors.
(9) A proposed New Article on Discipline (Article XV).
(10) Any revision of Chapter 7 (Eligibility for Approval to Judge) suggested by the Committee responsible for the processing of applications received from those wishing to establish eligibility to judge at championship shows.
(11) A proposed amendment, recommended by the Dog Show Council, empowering the Board to deal with proposed amendments to the Dog Show Rules.
(12) A proposed amendment, recommended by the Dog Show Council, to provide for "in transit" areas at dog shows.
(13) A proposed new Chapter 13 (Ring Stewards) of the Dog Show Rules as recommended by the Dog Show Council.

QUINQUENNIAL ADJUSTMENT

The Club's By-laws provide that every five years calculations shall be made with a view to determining the number of Directors to be elected in each electoral zone in the succeeding five years. When the Secretary's report on the number of Directors to be elected for the years 1966 to 1970 inclusive was considered by the Board at its last semi-annual meeting the Board noted that the province of Quebec was now entitled to elect two Directors, although the province of British Columbia with more members in 1964 than Quebec, continued with but one Director. The Board appointed a committee consisting of the Club's solicitor and the Secretary to review the matter and to present a report. That committee's report was presented at the last annual meeting of the Board when, following discussion, the Board appointed a committee consisting of W. Jacob (Chairman), R. B. Laskey, D. H. Duff, and George Frost to study and report to the Board on the redrafting of Section 5 (2) and 5 (3) of Article XII of the By-laws on the basis of proportional representation by membership in the electoral zones stipulated in Section 5 (1) of Article XII.

The report of that committee was placed before this meeting of the Board. The committee's report read as follows:

"In accordance with the terms of resolution #199-66, the committee, appointed by the Board at its annual meeting to study matters pertaining to QUINQUENNIAL ADJUSTMENT and the above named sections of the By-laws, have met, and hereby make the following specific recommendations for the serious consideration of the Board.

A. As only Ordinary Members are entitled to vote or to hold office, therefore only Ordinary Memberships in good standing should be used to arrive at a figure.

B. The registrations of individual dogs should not be a factor, as a large percentage of registrations are made by associate members and non-members.

C. As the country is at present divided into eight electoral zones, the unit eight should be used, rather than ten.

EXAMPLE OF RECOMMENDED METHOD, USING THE FIGURES FOR 1965.

Total Ordinary Memberships - 2,676 8 divided into 2,676 is - 334

Ontario	Ordinary Members -	1,368	--	334 divided into	1,368 is	---4.0
Quebec	Ordinary Members -	368	--	334 divided into	368 is	---1.0
B. C.	Ordinary Members -	399	--	334 divided into	399 is	---1.0

During this study it was found that the increase in membership is at about the same rate in all zones, and that Ontario has long had the largest membership. Since most methods examined indicate that Ontario should have four Directors and that no other zone should have more than one Director, it seems practical to divide Ontario into four electoral zones with one Director for each zone. This would produce a more compact Board of fourteen, Ontario would be more fairly represented by having Directors guaranteed in the several population centres of the Province, and there would be no need for Quinquennial Adjustment. Directors would have the power of appointing deputies to assist them in their duties."

(End of report)

During a discussion of the report:

(1) it was suggested that the number of electoral zones should be reduced from eight to four;
(2) it was stated that from a revenue standpoint, registrations are a greater factor than memberships;
(3) it was pointed out that not all voting members are breeders, and yet all ordinary members have a right to vote in the election and on legislation which may affect breeders;
(4) it was pointed out that not all registrations are effected by members of the Club.

The Board directed that the committee's report be included in full in this summary.

The discussion on this question concluded with a member of the Board giving a notice of motion calling for the reconsideration, at the next annual meeting of the Board, of the report previously submitted by the Club's solicitor and the Secretary.

HOUSING OF C. K. C. HEAD OFFICE

Arising out of a recommendation of a special committee appointed to study and report to the Board on recommendations included in the report of the Management Consultants, the Board had appointed a Committee to study all aspects of the housing of the C. K. C. head office.

Mr. McDerment, Chairman of the Committee, reported that he had no report to present at this meeting because he had not found it possible to reach agreement with members of the Committee on a date for the Committee to meet.

The Board dissolved the Committee previously named, and appointed Mr. McDerment as Chairman of a new Committee, Mr. McDerment to name the remaining members of the Committee, the Committee's report to be available for consideration at the next annual meeting of the Board.

REPORT OF MANAGEMENT CONSULTANTS

A motion calling for the Board to reconsider a number of sections of the report of the special committee appointed by the Board to study and report to it on the report of the Management Consultants was defeated.

BOARD MEETINGS

The Board decided that the next regular meeting of the Board would be held on October 5th.

Mr. Frost gave notice that at the next annual meeting of the Board he would move:

"THAT, the monthly meetings of the Board be dispensed with, authority to resolve Complaints, Registrations, Kennel Names be left with the appropriate councils. Subject to the provision of the By-laws."

PROMOTION, PUBLIC RELATIONS AND PUBLICITY

Mr. Ashcroft, Chairman of the Committee on Promotion, Public Relations and Publicity, presented the Committee's report which:

(1) pointed out that publicity and promotion of the C. K. C. and pure-bred dogs has two separate and distinct groups to deal with - those already within the membership, and those without;

(2) proposed that to overcome lack of knowledge concerning the Club's By-laws, every member be provided with a copy of the Club's By-laws;
(3) proposed that in order to estimate probable costs, a dummy be set up of an educational booklet dealing with such subjects as purchasing a puppy, dog shows, obedience trials, field trials, breeding, registration, selling dogs, the functions of the Canadian National Live Stock Records, and the office of the C. K. C.;
(4) reported that the newspaper advertising campaign drawing attention to the law dealing with the supplying of certificates of registration for dogs sold as pure-bred is continuing;
(5) reported on the probable costs of preparing films having to do with the Club and activities involving pure-bred dogs as proposed by Mr. Laskey.

The Board also considered further proposals advanced by Mr. Laskey with regard to the preparation and distribution of films

During a discussion which followed it was pointed out that for some time past it had been the practice to supply each new member, upon admission to membership, with a copy of the Club's By-laws, and periodically a notice is published in the Club's official magazine announcing the availability of a copy of the Club's By-laws to any member writing the Secretary for a copy.

A motion calling for the mailing of a copy of the Club's By-laws to every member was defeated, and a resolution was adopted calling for the periodic publication in "Dogs in Canada" of an announcement that a copy of the Club's By-laws is available upon request addressed to the Secretary.

The Board decided that at the discretion of the publishers of "Dogs in Canada" and the Liaison Committee (referred to elsewhere in this summary) articles would be published in the regular editorial section of the magazine dealing with one or more parts of the Club's By-laws, rules, policies and procedures, such articles to be entitled "Know Your Club".

The committee was asked to estimate probable costs of the educational booklet referred to in its report.

The Board allotted a further $1,500 for the newspaper and periodical advertising programme now being carried on.

STANDING RESOLUTIONS

The Board rescinded a standing resolution requiring each show superintendent to submit a report, on a special form, on a championship show held under the Club's rules.

The Board added to the Book of Standing Resolutions a resolution requiring a two-thirds majority vote of the Board to rescind a motion or reconsider a motion adopted by the Board.

Ordered included in the Book of Standing Resolutions was a ruling of the Board that in the case of a dog born in Canada it is the right of the owner of the dog at birth to name the dog and he is not obligated to consult the buyer.

In connection with the Board's order that the standing resolutions be published and be included with the appropriate rules (i.e. standing resolutions on shows to be included in a booklet to be distributed with copies of the Dog Show Rules), the Secretary was authorized to reword the resolutions in order that those published may be more readily understood.

BERMUDA KENNEL CLUB

For some years the Bermuda Kennel Club has held championship shows and licensed obedience trials under C. K. C. Rules, and the C. K. C. has undertaken to register dogs born in Bermuda. With a view to terminating these arrangements and substituting arrangements whereby the Bermuda Kennel Club would hold its shows and trials under its own rules and would maintain its own registration records, the Secretary met with officials of the Bermuda Kennel Club last November and subsequently submitted a report and recommendations to the Board at its annual meeting in February.

At this meeting the Board considered a letter from the President of the Bermuda Kennel Club stating its approval of the proposed arrangements set out in the Secretary's report. After discussion the Board agreed to leave it to the Secretary to proceed with the implementation of the proposed new arrangements between the C. K. C. and the Bermuda Kennel Club.

APPOINTMENTS FOR 1966

Referred to the Obedience Council for study and report was a proposal that additional Obedience Representatives be appointed so as to lessen the volume of work of each of the present Representatives.

Mrs. Ruth Hebel, Kitchener, Ont. was appointed the Obedience Representative for Ontario.

Mr. Jake Giacomelli, Hamilton, Ont. was appointed a member of the Obedience Council.

Mr. Albert Hansma, Edmonton, Alta. was appointed the Alberta Field Trial Representative for Pointing Breeds.

Mr. Roy Cook, Halifax, N. S. was appointed a member of the Field Trial Council for Pointing Breeds.

On the recommendation of the local Directors the following were appointed Dog Show Representatives:

New Brunswick & Prince Edward Island:	J. G. Cavanagh
Northern Ontario:	Mrs. Mary Curran
Eastern Ontario:	John McNicol
Western Ontario:	Louis Parent
Manitoba:	Douglas Law

It was agreed that Directors in the remaining zones would submit their recommendations by letter.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR 1967 ANNUAL MEETINGS

The Secretary reported that arrangements had been made for the annual meeting of the Board (commencing on February 20th) and the Annual General Meeting (February 25th) to be held at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa.

The Secretary was authorized to seek to make arrangements with the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records for the members of the Board to be shown through the Live Stock Records office during the course of the annual meetings.

MEMBERSHIP MATTERS

APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

The Board confirmed the approval given applications for membership reported on lists (#27 to #32 inclusive) mailed to each member of the Board.

The Board considered other applications for membership and:
(1) approved an application following a report on the inspection of the private breeding records kept by the applicant;
(2) rejected the application of a person keeping a pet shop at which other than pure-bred dogs are sold;
(3) ordered two applications held in abeyance pending further reports on complaints against the applicants;
(4) rejected the application of a person having an overdue account with "Dogs in Canada";
(5) received the Secretary's report that an application for membership had been withdrawn by an applicant following an inquiry into a report that the applicant had tendered an N. S. F. cheque to a show-giving club;
(6) approved the request of the widow of a member that ordinary membership in the name of her deceased husband be transferred to her name.

PLACE OF RESIDENCE

The Board ruled that a person would be considered a resident of Canada (for the purposes of associate or ordinary membership) if the member actually resides in Canada for a period of six or more months during the calendar year.

DOG SHOWS

JUDGES

Chapter 7 of the Dog Show Rules provides that upon passing written and oral examinations to establish eligibility to judge one or more breeds at championship shows held under the Club's rules, a person may be approved to judge at a show. The rules further provide that when officiating at a show, said person's work as a judge will be observed and reported on by an examining committee. In connection with the procedure to be followed when an examining committee observes and reports on the work of a judge, the Dog Show Council placed before the Board its recommendation as to the text and format of a report form to be used by the examining committee. After making a number of changes in the proposed report form the Board directed that it be used pursuant to the provisions of Section 2 of Chapter 7 of the Dog Show Rules.

The Board considered the appeal of an applicant seeking to establish eligibility to judge the breeds in a particular group, the appeal being from the decision of an examining committee which did not recommend approval of the applicant following an oral examination of the applicant on the standards of the breeds applied for. The appeal was not sustained.

The Board approved a "Judge's Agreement" form to be completed by a resident of another country selected to officiate as a judge at a championship show held under the Club's rules, this form to replace the application form previously employed when a person applies to establish eligibility to judge according to the provisions of Section 2 of Chapter 7 of the Dog Show Rules.

The Board considered the many occasions when it is necessary to arrange for applicants seeking to establish eligibility to judge at shows, obedience trials, and field trials to take written and oral examinations. With a view to lessening the paper work involved and the number of examining committees required, the Board decided that, effective January 1, 1967, applications would be processed as follows:
(1) All applications received during the six months period preceding January 1st would be processed collectively after January 1st.
(2) All applications received during the six months period preceding July 1st would be processed collectively after July 1st.

The Chairman of the Dog Show Council and the Secretary were asked to review the procedure now followed in the processing of an application to establish eligibility to judge, their report to be submitted to the Board for consideration. The Committee's report was considered later in the meeting and its redraft of the procedure was approved.

ENTRY FORMS

With a view to assisting those clubs holding shows and trials which are experiencing difficulty in obtaining official entry forms, the Board decided that the Club would make arrangements for entry forms to be printed in quantity and made available to clubs at cost.

SANCTION SHOWS

Referred to the Dog Show Council for consideration was a proposal that the reference to "sanction shows" in the Dog Show Rules be changed to "sanction matches".

With a view to lessening the probable cost of ribbons for sanction shows the Board decided that each type of ribbon required would be a solid colour, and it amended the Sanction Show Rules to provide that the ribbons for Best of Breed and Best in Show would be green rather than green and gold as now prescribed in the rules.

The Secretary was authorized to obtain quotations from firms supplying ribbons for sanction shows and to distribute to show-giving clubs, for their information, the quotations received.

DATES

It was pointed out that with 1967 being Canada's Centennial Year many clubs may find it necessary to reserve the venues for their shows and trials earlier than would otherwise be necessary. The Board decided that the present one-year limitation on the granting of a date for a show or trial would be disregarded in connection with applications for events to be held in 1967.

The question was raised as to whether it would be permissible for two or more clubs in an area to unite for the purpose of staging a "Centennial Year" show. It was agreed that this is permissible provided that the application for date is accompanied by a list of the clubs which have united for the purpose of the show, all of which would be held jointly responsible by the C.K.C., and all of which must be clubs recognized by the C.K.C.

The Board decided that applications for renewal of priority rights on dates, for the five year period commencing January 1, 1968, would not be published prior to approval; however, new applications for priority rights would be published before decisions are reached on such applications.

The Board decided that after obtaining the views of the members of the Board, the Dog Show Council would consider and submit to the Board its proposals with regard to steps which should be taken to arrange for a more satisfactory spacing of dog shows datewise.

After considering the application of a specialty club to hold specialty shows on consecutive dates, the Board decided that no specialty club would be granted permission to hold more than one specialty championship show in the same province during the same calendar year.

The Board approved the application of the Kingston and District Kennel Club to hold three championship shows in June, 1967, one of the three shows being an evening show on the Friday preceding their Saturday and Sunday shows.

NOTICE IN PREMIUM LISTS

The Secretary was instructed to arrange for a notice to be included in premium lists for shows, the notice to prohibit the taking of food, noise-making objects and any other objects designed to affect the dog or deportment of a dog, into a show ring, and to authorize judges to excuse dogs whose owners or handlers violate this prohibition.

SHOW CATALOGUES

After discussion, the Board decided that it would not alter the dimensions prescribed for show catalogues, and directed that the attention of a show-giving club, which had published a catalogue with dimensions larger than those prescribed, be drawn to the instructions given that club at the time its premium list was approved.

CHANGE OF ENTRIES

The Board considered a report that there appears to be an increasing tendency on the part of show-giving clubs to permit change of entry at their shows. The Secretary was authorized to cancel awards if the entry of a dog is altered after entries close, or if the entry form of a dog fails to provide the required information.

INTERPRETATIONS

After reviewing the Dog Show Rules and the standard for the Bull Terrier, the Board ruled that a Bull Terrier with cropped ears is eligible for competition at championship shows held under the Club's rules.

The Board ruled that while a dog entered in the Bred by Exhibitor Class at a show must be handled in the ring by the breeder when that Class is judged, this requirement does not apply to the dog when, at the same show, the dog competes in any other class or for any other award.

The Board ruled that a dog may not be handled in the Bred by Exhibitor Class by the spouse of its breeder, although a dog may be handled in this Class by either the husband or wife if the husband and wife were the breeders of the dog.

The Board ruled that the concluding paragraph (having to do with those who may attend when a dog is officially measured) of Section 4 of Chapter 19 of the Dog Show Rules applies equally to parts (b) and (c) of Section 4.

The Board ruled that a Beagle which is measured out of the 13" and under classes of the breed at a show cannot be transferred at the show to the higher height division.

The Board reviewed part (b) of Section 8 of Chapter 21 of the Dog Show Rules and ruled that a Beagle which had measured out of the 13" and under division and subsequently earned the required championship points in the higher height division, need not be officially measured by an Official Measurer, as long as the dog is not at any show, measured out of the higher height division.

The Board reviewed the provisions of Section 8 of Chapter 9 of the Dog Show Rules, which prescribes that "A judge shall not judge any dogs he has owned, conditioned, handled, sold, held under lease or boarded within six months prior to the date of the show at which he officiates as a judge.", and instructed the Secretary to seek information about three suspected violations of this rule, the information obtained to be placed before the next following meeting of the Board.

The Board ruled that the award of Best Canadian-bred Puppy in Show has no bearing on the question of competition as outlined in part (c) of Section 8, of Chapter 21 of the Dog Show Rules.

AMENDMENTS TO DOG SHOW RULES

At its annual meeting the Board had referred to the Dog Show Council for study and report, a proposal that a dog entered in a class at a championship show may be transferred to "Specials Only" at the show if, before the show, the dog had attained championship status. After studying the report of the Council and considering the advantages and disadvantages of permitting such a transfer, the Board decided that it was not prepared to initiate an amendment to the Dog Show Rules which would make such a transfer possible.

Referred to the Dog Show Council for study and report was a proposal that the Dog Show Rules be amended to discontinue any provision for challenge trophies.

WEIGHING AND MEASURING

The Board considered the views of the Dog Show Council on the question of whether or not the height or weight of a dog can be challenged at the Group or "General Specials" level. After discussion, the question was referred back to the Council, the Council to submit its proposals with regard to new rules on the weighing and measuring of dogs.

DOG SHOW REPRESENTATIVES

The Club's By-laws now provide for the appointment of Dog Show Representatives, whose duties shall be as prescribed by the Board from time to time. After discussion, the Board defined the duties of such Representatives as follows:

"Dog Show Representatives should attend as many shows as possible in their zone.
Deputies may be appointed when and if necessary.
They shall do all in their power to assist and advise the officials of the show-giving club on the operation of the show.
The Representative should endeavour to bring any rule infraction to the attention of the show officials and report same to the Dog Show Council."

DUTIES OF SHOW OFFICIALS

The Board considered the recommendations of the Dog Show Council with regard to information, to be included in a booklet, outlining the duties of a Show Chairman. After discussion it was agreed that the Council would prepare directives for the guidance of show officials; as each directive is prepared, a copy would be forwarded to each member of the Board; members of the Board would submit their suggestions as to any desirable changes or additions, these to be considered by the Council; the Council would then forward the final copy to the Secretary, who would arrange to have the booklet (on each show official) printed and distributed.

JUDGES' SEMINARS

After considering the recommendations of the Dog Show Council the Board agreed that arrangements for judges' seminars should be made the same as those already provided for obedience judges and field trial judges. To assist in the financing of such seminars, under the control of the Dog Show Council, funds were allotted on the following basis: $300 for Ontario; $200 for British Columbia; and $100 for each other electoral zone. The Board directed that funds allotted for judges' seminars may only be used to pay the following expenses: rental of the room in which each seminar is to be held; the props required; stationery; postage and notices. It ruled that in no case is any part of the funds allotted to be utilized for the payment of travelling expenses.

CHAMPIONS AND CHAMPIONSHIP POINT RATINGS

The Board considered proposals of the Dog Show Council with regard to a new system of championship point ratings. It directed that the Council's proposal, with appropriate explanations, be published in "Dogs in Canada" with an invitation soliciting comments, a report to be placed before the next annual meeting of the Board.

OBEDIENCE TRIALS

VETERINARY INSPECTION

Regardless of whether a licensed obedience trial held under the Club's rules is conducted in conjunction with, or independent of a championship show, the Obedience Regulations still require veterinary inspection of dogs entering the premises at which the trial is to be held. In view of a change in the Dog Show Rules which enables a club holding a championship show to decide whether or not it will have such veterinary inspection, the question of whether a similar change should be made in the Obedience Trial Regulations had been referred by the Board to the Obedience Council for consideration. The Board considered the Council's recommendation that the Obedience Trial Regulations and Standards (Section 8 of Chapter 1) be amended to include the same type of legislation as applies in connection with championship shows. The Board concurred with the Council's recommendation and directed that notice of this proposed amendment be published in "Dogs in Canada", the proposed amendment to be considered by the Board at its next annual meeting.

INOCULATED DOGS

The Board considered a recommendation of the Obedience Council with regard to a proposed deletion of part of Subsection 17 of Section 7 of Chapter 1, with regard to inoculated dogs. The Board did not approve the Council's recommendation that a part of the Subsection be deleted.

AMENDMENTS TO OBEDIENCE TRIAL REGULATIONS

The Board considered a recommendation of the Obedience Council that in Subsection 1 of Section 12 of Chapter 1, the words "or six Utility entries per hour" be deleted and the words "or five Utility entries per hour" be substituted. It directed that a notice of this proposed amendment be published in the official organ, and that the proposed amendment be considered at its next annual meeting.

The Board considered the recommendation of the Obedience Council with regard to a possible change in the rule as it applies to tie scores, and directed that notice of the proposed amendment, as outlined by the Council, be published in "Dogs in Canada" and that the proposed amendment be considered at the next annual meeting of the Board.

The Board considered a recommendation of the Council on a proposed amendment to Section 18 (Sit and Down) of Chapter 3 of the Obedience Trial Regulations and Standards. It directed that notice of the proposed amendment, as suggested by the Council, be published in "Dogs in Canada" and that the proposed amendment be considered by the Board at its next annual meeting.
(Secretary's Note: With regard to the proposed amendments referred to above, see elsewhere in this issue).

JUDGES

A motion, intended to rescind a previous motion requiring the re-examination of obedience judges every five years, was carried, but the Chairman was obliged to rule that the motion lacked the required two-thirds majority to be an effective motion.

The question of re-examination of obedience judges was referred back to the Obedience Council for an extensive study on the feeling of Obedience Representatives, judges, and exhibitors across Canada. The Board extended to July 1, 1967, the deadline by which those affected by the resolution requiring re-examination, must re-establish their eligibility to judge.

Mr. Duff gave notice of motion to reconsider, at the next annual meeting of the Board, resolution #363-65 dealing with the re-examination of obedience trial judges every five years.

INTERPRETATIONS

Subsection 4, of Section 14, of Chapter 1 of the Obedience Regulations and Standards provides that the three qualifying scores for an obedience title must be earned under two different judges, except in the Provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec, where the three qualifying scores must be earned under three different judges. The Board ruled that three qualifying scores must be earned under three different judges if one (or more) of the qualifying scores was earned in Ontario, Quebec, or British Columbia.

FIELD TRIALS

FIELD TRIALS FOR POINTING BREEDS

The Board received the report of Mr. D. H. Duff, Chairman of the Field Trial Council for Pointing Breeds, who reported that:

(1) the Council has prepared a new set of proposed Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Pointing Breeds and copies have been distributed to the Field Trial Representatives and clubs holding trials for Pointing Breeds for their examination and comments;

(2) in the course of preparing the new rules the Council had also considered the new A.K.C. Field Trial Rules for Pointing Breeds and the "Standards of Judicial Practice and Field Trial Procedure" as published by Gaines;

(3) after obtaining the views of those interested in field trials for Pointing Breeds the Council will review the material (comprising eighteen pages of typewritten copy) and will submit its recommendation to the Board.

FIELD TRIALS FOR BEAGLES

The Board noted the proposals put forth regarding a proposed seminar for French-speaking Beagle field trial judges and beaglers, and approved a recommendation of the Council that it grant $100 towards the expenses of conducting the proposed seminar.

The Board referred to the Field Trial Council for Beagles, a suggestion that arrangements be made for the holding of seminars in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island where interest in Beagle field trial activity is now developing.

The Board approved the action of the Field Trial Council for Beagles which had directed that a questionnaire be directed to every Beagle field trial judge, with a view to determining whether he wished his name to remain on the approved list of Beagle field trial judges, whether he considered himself physically fit to officiate as a judge at a licensed field trial, and whether his address as it appears on the list of approved judges is up-to-date.

The Board approved steps taken by the Field Trial Council for Beagles with a view to having prepared a booklet setting forth the duties of, and procedures to be followed by field trial marshals.

The Board appointed Roy Leach as an Official Measurer in the Eastern Ontario area to replace John Labonte (now deceased), and appointed the following as Official Measurers in the area west of Toronto: Arnold Young, Tom Walker, Bill Piper, Hardie Brown, Clarence Gignac, and Ralph Frayne.

Pursuant to an instruction given by the Board at its annual meeting, a notice was published in the May (1966) issue of "Dogs in Canada" with regard to a proposed amendment to the Beagle field trial rules having to do with championship points and championship requirements for dogs competing at licensed field trials for Beagles, held in the Maritimes. The Board concurred with a recommendation of the Field Trial Council for Beagles and declared the amendment approved and effective as of January 1, 1967.

The Board considered a report of the Field Trial Council for Beagles on a proposal that reports published in "Dogs in Canada" of awards at licensed Beagle field trials include the names of sire and dam of placing Beagles. It directed that all Beagle field trial clubs be informed that if this programme is to come into effect, the cost would be $5.00 per trial reported, this to be payable by the club holding the trial, but that this programme will only come into effect if a poll of the Beagle clubs indicates that 80% or more of the clubs are in favour of the programme.

FIELD TRIALS FOR RETRIEVERS

After considering the report of the Field Trial Council for Retrievers in connection with a proposed amendment to the Field Trial Rules for Retrievers, as reported in the May (1966) issue of "Dogs in Canada", the Board approved and declared effective as of January 1, 1967, a proposed amendment to Chapter 4, being a new Section reading as follows:

"SECTION 5. Excluding the National Championship Stake, a judge shall not be approved to judge more than three All-Age Stakes in the same province in the same calendar year. A judge shall not be approved to judge All-Age Stakes to be held on consecutive dates within the same province."

The Board noted that the Field Trial Council for Retrievers was not prepared at this time to recommend any change in the requirements for an Amateur Field Trial championship.

The Board concurred unanimously with a recommendation of the Council that the following new paragraph be added immediately following Section 2 in the "Regulations Applicable to the Selection of Judges for Licensed Retriever Trials held under C.K.C. Rules":

"If one of the two judges selected for an All-Age Stake has not previously judged an Open All-Age Stake at a licensed field trial, he should have previously officiated as a judge of either the Junior Stake or the Qualifying Stake at at least one licensed Retriever trial".

The Board concurred unanimously with a recommendation of the Council that the application of a club in British Columbia to hold three official stakes at a single-day trial be approved, but directed that a memorandum be addressed to all clubs conducting licensed field trials for Retrievers, seeking their views and recommendations on whether or not this practice should continue, or whether there should be a limitation placed on the number of official stakes which may be conducted at a single-day trial.

The Board referred to the Field Trial Council for Retrievers a proposal that a rule be formulated which would call for the disqualification of a dog, and the penalizing of its owner, if the dog had been operated on to prevent it barking.

The Board upheld a decision of the Secretary who had rejected an application for permission to hold a licensed Retriever trial, on the grounds that the application for date had not reached the C.K.C. office more than three months in advance of the date of the proposed trial.

FIELD TRIALS FOR FOXHOUNDS

After receiving the report of the Chairman of the Field Trial Council for Foxhounds, the Board decided that it would not at this time proceed with the publication of a proposed new set of running rules for Foxhound field trials.

GOOD AND WELFARE

CLUB CONSTITUTIONS

With a view to assisting clubs in the preparation of Constitutions and By-laws, the Board referred to a special committee for drafting, proposed Constitutions for all-breed clubs, local specialty clubs, and national specialty clubs.

SHEEP AND CATTLE DOGS

As Section 3 of Article XXVIII of the Club's By-laws provides for the enactment of special regulations on the registration of dogs suitable for work with sheep and cattle, the Board asked the Registration Committee to study and submit to the Board for its consideration, proposed regulations in this regard.

HIP DISPLASIA AND HEREDITARY DEFECTS IN DOGS

After considering a letter dated June 7th, received from Dr. A. J. Cawley of the Ontario Veterinary College, the Board instructed the Secretary to write to The American Kennel Club and The Kennel Club (England), with a view to determining to what extent they are participating in research on hip displasia, and whether they contemplate any action on their part with a view to determining to what extent they should be involved in the future.

CELEBRATION OF CANADA'S CENTENNIAL YEAR

The Board named Mr. William McDerment as Chairman of a special committee to study and report to the Board on possible methods of the Kennel Club participating in celebrations of Canada's Centennial Year.

(The following items will be inserted in their appropriate places in the preceding summary)

RABIES

The Board decided that it would not at this time act on a suggestion that a committee be set up "for the purpose of endeavouring to get joint Dominion-Provincial action on a programme for rabies control".

NOTICE

There appears to be some confusion as to what actually constitutes the INDIVIDUAL registration number of a dog registered individually in the records of The Canadian Kennel Club. On the certificate of registration issued by The Canadian Kennel Club the INDIVIDUAL registration number appears in brackets immediately following the name of the dog.

In the case of a dog born in Canada there will also appear on the certificate the litter registration number of the litter of which that dog was part. The litter registration number can be recognized because the last two digits in the number represent the year in which the litter was registered. For example, litter number 7237 registered in 1965 would appear as #7237-65.

When completing applications for registration of litters and individual dogs and transfers of ownership or corresponding with the Canadian National Live Stock Records or The Canadian Kennel Club it is the INDIVIDUAL registration numbers which should be shown or quoted in connection with dogs named on the applications or in the correspondence.

The standards recognized by The Canadian Kennel Club have been published in a book. It is available at a price of $3.00 per copy. An order, with covering payment, should be mailed direct to: The Canadian Kennel Club, 1173 Bay Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

Mexico New Home for Wunderbar Afghan Puppy

Mrs. Patrice Fisher, Wunderbar Kennels, Ancaster, Ont., reports the sale of a black male puppy to Dr. Fernando Aguilar, Torreon, Coah, Mexico, the first Afghan, she believes, ever exported to Mexico from Canada.

Another black male from Wunderbar Kennels went to Winnipeg many years ago and is now modelling for the Hudson Bay store in its newspaper advertising. Ch. Wunderbar's El Torbahn, Mrs. Fisher states, has a particularly fine temperament, a great asset to any model.

Wunderbar Kennels, Ancaster, Ont. (owned by Mrs. Patrice Fisher) have imported and finished for his Can. Ch., Sirron's Mighty Fine (subject to CKC approval). He was sired by Ch. (Can., Am., Ber. & Eng.) Mighty Fine v Walder ex Am. Ch. Misha v Zwergdackelheim and finished his Can. Ch. under a year of age. His owner reports he just tips the scales at six and a quarter pounds, is a clear Setter red and a joy to own.

Whippet Wins BIS at Puppy Match

Of interest to Canada's few Whippet breeders is the BIS won by Kurram's Rhapsody in Blue at the recent Scarborough KC Puppy Match, held at Green River, Ont.

Six months old on the day of the show, this lovely female was bred by Bill Milne and Garry Cooksey of Stouffville, Ont. and is owned by Terrence C. Taft and Allan E. Pepper, Port Perry, Ont. Rhapsody went over 100 puppies to win her BIS.

Thoughtfulness in Shipping Dogs

Airline advertising copy and illustrations currently make flying appear the ultimate in luxury and tender care. But for dogs travelling without proper information shown it can be a nightmare. Labrador Retriever expert Frank Jones of Minesing, Ont. recently took a male to Toronto International Airport to be shipped. The crate was an open one, bearing the dog's call name note: "My name is Derby." Mr. Jones had to leave the crate for a few minutes. On his return he found several men chatting with the dog, saying "Hi, Derby", who, in turn happily wagged his tail, responding to his name.

The success of this thoughtful gesture indicates it would be a good idea for all breeders shipping dogs.

The Chicago Humane Society places a note on shipping crates with the information that: "this dog was fed at 'such and such' an hour and other pertinent information. Excellent idea!

to Vancouver to see a number of Dogs friends.

When the Pacific National Exhibition constitution was drawn up in 1910 dog shows were included. They have been run continuously ever since, except for wartime interruptions. Judging honors were divided between Vincent G. Perry, originally from Vancouver and O. Carley Harriman. For his top dog August 20 Mr. Perry chose Mr. and Mrs. Osborne's headliner, the black Miniature Poodle, Ch. (Can. & Eng.) Tophill Orsino.

The lithe Whippet, Ch. Urray Wild Bill, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Webster and Miss C. W. Watson of Vancouver, was awarded Best in Show honors in the second show by Mr. Harriman. BIS award for the third show awaits CKC confirmation: the Pekingese, Mar Pat Pied Piper's Piccolo, owned by Martha M. Bingham and Patricia A. Miller of Gardina, Calif.

Two events, in addition to the Obedience Trials, were the Parade of Champions and the Junior Handling Classes judged by Mrs. Elsie Murray. The high regard in which the youngsters hold their mentor was evident both in the ring and out.

Just before entering the ring one child spotted another chewing nervously. "Spit out your gum," she hissed. "You know how Mrs. Murray hates it!"

In the absence of the expected photographer, Bob Osborne came through like a real pro and pictorially recorded the show. One of the well-known exhibitors with whom we chatted was Ford Flechar, one of the kindliest handlers to show or board a dog. Bulldog fancier Joan Railton has been invited to judge at the Oregon State Bulldog Specialty this month, one of the rare times a Canadian judge has been invited. Pat Tripp, usually a constant figure in the ring, had to be content with a minimum of handling, following surgery. Chatted with Jean and Don Lyle of the famous Wycliffe Standard Poodles. The former is relaxing a bit from her arduous kennel program, which now has a record of 70 Canadian and American champions. Irish Water Spaniel fancier Ron Murray of Richmond, B.C., has imported the male, Gormac Partridge, from Birmingham, England and has a female in whelp to come from Ireland. Talked with Tracy M. Blair and Stewart Ailor of Washington with their eye-catching Afghans. A West Coast show wouldn't be the same without Frances Clark and her Shelties. The Welsh Terrier, Ch. (Eng. Can. & Am.) Jokyl Karlstar Commodore, "Griff" of Thirlestane Kennels, is, we understand, the only Welsh in Canada with a triple title. George Kynoch has received a letter from the Director of The Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria to judge at the Royal Melbourne Show. An all-time record of 3,668 individual dogs will be shown, states the Director.

NORTH SHORE NOTES

Another great pleasure was in chatting with some of the officials of the North Shore Kennel Club of B.C. whose third annual conformation and obedience shows were held August 13 and 14 at North Vancouver.

It was a surprise to learn from Show Secretary Mrs. Helen Roy that the entire club consists of six couples. Working closely and unselfishly they were able to put on a showcase of a show and attract 586 dogs in the Saturday show and 631 the following day.

Five conformation and two obedience judges "each did a job in full accord with their reputation" states Mrs. Roy. Leo Wilson, noted English judge and journalist, showed "warm and friendly courtesy to novice and professional alike" . . . Louis Murr of New York was his usual competent and courteous self and again few would care to dispute his decisions. Nigel Aubrey-Jones of Montreal, Derek Rayne of California and Harry Dodds of Victoria, B.C., . . . were "gentlemen" indeed and their manners inside and outside the ring were an example to everyone.

The locale, the North Shore Recreational Centre in North Vancouver, is a magnificent new building with a beautiful indoor swimming pool available to competitors.

Leo Wilson put the Kerry Blue, Tregoad's Top Gallant, handled by Johnny Long, to Best in Show. Owners are Mr. and Mrs. Victor Munz of Seattle, Wash. The following day Mr. Murr placed the Pekingese, Mar Pat Pied Piper's Piccolo, handled by Mitch Wooten, in top place. He is owned by Martha M. Bingham and Patricia A. Miller of Gardena, Calif.

The showmanship did not end with the assessment of the dogs. Following the custom of previous years, the entry of the dogs into the ring for BIS created an unforgettable climax to the Saturday show. All the lights were extinguished, placing the large auditorium in complete darkness. Suddenly a brilliant spotlight came on, illuminating the first dog and his handler as they took their places in the ring for BIS. Then the lights came on in full and revealed dogs and handlers standing, waiting for the judging to commence. As a grand finale, after the BIS had been selected, the auditorium was again in complete darkness except for the spotlights as the BIS and Best Canadian Bred in Show, with their handlers, were paraded around the large ring by a Highland piper in dress uniform. For this occasion judges and handlers were in evening clothes.

The Obedience was equally successful and the judges again outstanding in their field. Judge Jake Giacomelli of Stoney Creek, Ont., and Harry L. Thomas of Seattle, Wash., were well received by competitors and spectators alike, officials noted.

The Centennial Committee of North Vancouver donated a special award for BIS and their silver tray was presented by the Mayor, Mrs. Cates. The regular trophy for BIS, silver candelabrum, donated by Col. the Hon. Clarence Wallace, was presented by The Canadian Kennel Club President, Vic Williams. Miss Katherine Hayward of North Scituate, R.I., received a silver bon bon dish as having entered from the longest distance.

A prize also went to the first and correct entry received.

Other amenities of the show included a noon-hour smorgasbord for competitors and officials and a poolside party. Food could be readily obtained in four different places during the day.

Demonstrations by Alaskan sled dogs attracted special interest, as did a performing German Shepherd Dog.

ASIDES

While in Vancouver we visited the newly opened Poodle Hotel, boarding kennels operated by Joyce Elgaard and husband at Burnaby. Designed and patented by Mrs. Elgaard, the building is circular for the most practical reasons. Among the interesting features: a big mirror so that the offside of the dog can be observed while grooming. A special fan takes out the hair during scissoring. The furnace is equipped with a magnetic filter, which kills 90% of bugs, germs and dust. All walls are creosoted. The boarding dogs are never alone. Wrought iron gates, fourposter beds for girl dogs and small beds with mats for male guests are the "room" furnishings. □

The Belgian Today

Like many European herding dogs, the history of the Belgian Sheepdog dates back to the latter part of the 19th Century when the environmental conditions and herding requirements provided the desirable situation for the development of this fine breed. Selective breeding at this time produced not only a bright, strong, agile dog that could perform his duty despite the rigorous Belgian climate but also produced six distinctive coat types; four of which have specific names. The long-haired Groenendael and Tervuren, the short-haired Malinois and the rough-haired Laeken have distinct names and are distinguished on the basis of their coat type and/or color. These varieties are all recognized as one breed in Canada as they are in Europe. They are supposed to differ only in coat type and not in basic conformation. The AKC recognizes the Groenendael, Tervuran and Malinois as three separate breeds with almost identical standards.

Today, the Belgian Sheepdog in Canada need take a back seat to no one. In pedigrees of Canadian Belgians appear the names of famous American kennels such as Bingen, Candide, Roll In, A-Yacht, as well as famous European kennels such as Du Clos St. Jacques, Du Clos St. Clair, Forges Monceux, Ardennes du Coitron, Pirata Nero. Canadian breeding stock compares in quality although not quantity with breeding stock in the USA and in Europe.

In the obedience ring, Belgians have always done well. In the show ring, Belgians are starting to be noticed. In the past year and a half, there has been a second place, a third place and three fourth place group ribbons given to Canadian Belgians. In the U.S., two Belgians have gone first in the group and several have placed in the group during the same period of time. As well, Belgian entries in shows are increasing and the breed is becoming recognized for its beauty and agility by both judge and spectator alike.

The Belgian Sheepdog Club of Canada is actively promoting the breed through the holding of Booster shows, the publishing of a Newsletter, and the advertising of the breed. The club has recently approved a revised standard of the breed which will shortly be forwarded to the CKC. The club hopes that the new Standard will more adequately describe the breed as a medium-sized, agile, squarely built, alert dog whose appearance implies working ability and beauty and whose temperament demands respect.

Belgian Sheepdog Imported From France

Mrs. Joan Kennedy, Willoan Kennels, Dundas, Ont., has recently imported a Tervuren bitch pup, Primevere du Clos Saint Jacques, from the famous kennels of Madame Muller, France. Sire is the handsome Gin du Clos St. Jacques, a Champion of France, Belgium, Luxemburg, Switzerland and Italy. Mrs. Kennedy welcomed her out of quarantine the middle of last month.

"This Pooch is the Most"

In a recent issue of the Toronto Telegram, Detroit was mentioned as having become the major market for Canadian dogs. The article stated that to date about 200 Bouvier de Flandres have gone to Detroit alone from the kennels of Andy Prinsen, Frisia Kennels, Kingsville, Ont. Trained to seek, find and hold, the dogs have wholly replaced other breeds with Bonded Guard Services Inc., Detroit's foremost private police organization. President of the company permits his staff to take the dogs home with them so they can play with youngsters.

Cheatah vom Sirrahwald, Can. & Am. CD (awaiting AKC conf.) finished her Am. CD at 10 months on August 7, 1966 in Duluth by going 3rd in a large Novice B class with a score of 197. She is pictured here at 6½ months. She achieved her titles in six straight trials. Cheatah is sired by Germ. import Kerry vom Furstenfeld and Am. Ch. Helga vom Furstenfeld (imp.) and is owned by Mrs. Susan Berst, 297 Grenville Ave., Port Arthur, Ont.

Gaymitz Dual Titles Won Over Two Years

The three Boxers mentioned on page 18 of the September issue of Dogs from Jack Northover's Am. Ch. Salgray's Flying High ex Can. Ch. Gaymitz Dash O'Fire won their Canadian Championships in 1965 and all gained their American titles for a dual Championship in 1966. It was incorrectly stated both titles had been won this year, says Mr. Northover.

50 Years in Purebred Collie Breeding

Our experience in breeding Collies goes back to 1916, when we purchased our first Collie while residing in Winnipeg. She was a sable female and from her mating to a male, known as Corona Cyclone from the Corona Kennels, owned by Harvey and Milner, we named our Kennels "Mayflower" and raised many litters of Collies. Mr. Webb was secretary-treasurer of the Fort Garry Kennel Club shortly after the end of World War I, when the dog shows commenced again. The Western Collie Club was organized and Mr. Webb was appointed secretary-treasurer.

After leaving Winnipeg for Victoria we purchased a male Collie from the late Dr. Cooper of Elmhill Kennels, Saskatoon, a female from Mr. O'Connor of Castlehill Kennels, Vancouver, B.C., a Bellhaven female from the late Mr. J. Sharp. Duncan, B.C., a male from Mr. Wm. Powell of Bonacres Kennels, Toronto, and a female from the Kinmont Kennels of Richland, Wn., USA. We registered our kennels as the Vantoria Collie Kennels and are still active breeders of the Collie, having owned the following champions: Elmhill Episode, Castlehill Coronet, Vantoria Valiant, Vantoria Vitality, Vantoria Viscount (a Best in Show winner in 1953), Kinmont Pretty Girl, Vantoria Vindicator (who obtained his championship at nine months in three shows), and Vantoria Vindictive. This is the complete lineage of the Vantoria (Collie) Kennels strain.

The Vancouver Island Dog Fancier's Assn. of B.C. was incorporated on December 9, 1949, and I was elected Secretary-Treasurer, which office I held until December 1963, a total of 14 years, and was accorded life membership of the club. I also received "Award for Outstanding service to Dogs" through Dog World magazine, and "For Devotion to the Collie breed from 1916, and for the betterment of this and all purebred dogs".

On a visit to England in 1960, the highlight was to see Crufts, the greatest dog show ever — over 7,000 dogs entered, with Mr. Fred Robson, 84, proprietor of Eden Collies, doing the Collie judging. I also journeyed to Blackpool for another big show, with many good Collies to be seen there.

On a second visit to England in the summer of 1964, it was another big event in my life, as a Collie breeder and fancier, to see the great show at Windsor, where many lovely Collies were being judged by J. E. Mycroft, proprietor of Mywicks Collie Kennels, who owned Ch. Mywick's Meadow Lancer, two years consecutive Best of Breed Collie at Crufts.

During these visits to England we met many very friendly Collie fanciers, and especially mention Mr. and Mrs. Cliffe of the Lyncliffe Collie Kennels at Blackpool; Mrs. Speding of the Antoc Collie Kennels of London; Miss P. M. Grey of the Ladypark Collie Kennels of Evesham.

In comparing the Collies of England with those of Canada and North America, as regards the number of Collies at shows we are decidedly in the backwoods, and although our Standard has been increased in height by 2", I believe, the standard in England remains the same. As regards types of Collies, there do not appear to be as many types in England as there are in Canada. The Collies we saw at the shows were more to Standard — lovely expression, good front and rear quarters and all with good ears and eyes, whereas the Collies we have here on the Pacific Coast seem to vary a great deal in type. Some are lightly boned and others are of heavy bone and very broad of back. The Collies of the 20's now and again seem to come out in some litters — big bone and broad of head, and we never had so many pricked ears to contend with. But in our experience in recent years the head has become rather of the narrow type and with very troublesome ear carriage. In our kennels at present we have an English Collie of the heavier breed type, being 11 years of age, of Eden Strain. He has certainly improved the ear carriage in some of the litters, as he is of the heavy type ear.

The judging of Collies in the shows in England greatly impressed me. They were paraded around the ring and each examined very thoroughly, and then judged for gait as is done here in Canada. However, the big difference that has come about in recent years in the judging of Collies here on the Pacific Coast, that we have noticed, is the request by the judge to "stack-up" your dog. That may be alright for sporting dogs — Pointers, Setters, etc. but when it comes to Collies no "stacking-up" should be necessary.

In England the Collie comes up to the judge after gaiting to a natural stop — no straightening of hindquarters or frontquarters as sometimes witnessed on the Pacific Coast.

One thing certainly has changed in recent years — the difficulty of being able to find a suitable place to start a breeding kennel. Unless a person moves miles out of town it is impossible to obtain a kennel licence to breed dogs. Even then, some far out municipalities will not give a licence, and many municipalities have increased their fees which makes it impossible to keep more than two or four dogs. The reason for this begins with the usual $3 or maybe $1.50 pets for sale. The purebred dog fancier goes to the expense of spending several hundreds of dollars for suitable buildings and runs to prevent their dogs from becoming a nuisance, and yet they are prevented from obtaining a kennel licence. A kennel licence is good only for one year anyway, and if a complaint goes in the licence can be withdrawn.

Another change since the 1920's has been in the S.P.C.A. I don't know if it is done in the East, but here in Victoria, they can sell animals (dogs, cats, etc.) to people by adoption. A friend adopted (?) two cats for $10, one died in the vet's and the other was given treatment and went home, both being sick when leaving the institution and the cost finally amounted to $60, and then the cat strayed away, so minus the two adoptions. The local S.P.C.A. here in Victoria also acts as the pound-keeper for a couple of municipalities, and can offer for adoption (?), for a price, any unwanted animals, and we have had many complaints re people having obtained such animals who have taken them to vets where it is found they are full of distemper. This is one reason for the purebred dog breeder having difficulty in keeping up his hobby. Back in 1923 we could obtain $65 for a purebred Collie puppy. But times have changed and a breeder is lucky to obtain even that price.

However, from 1916-1966 we can now celebrate our Golden Anniversary of breeding purebred Collies and are still in the fancy, having three old show veterans on retirement and, like ourselves, enjoying a restful life looking to the younger ones to produce some good specimens of the Collie breed.

Among them was the tricolour Ch. (Can. & Am.) Laurelridge Fuzzy Wuzzy, who is one of the great Ch. Blue Quest of Pocono's great grandsires.

In 1950, after owning and breeding Collies for eight years, we purchased our first Sheltie, Snow Sprite of Ronas Hill. She was a white with a blue merle head and body patches, and very dark eyes. She was very beautiful, with a tail so long it was always being stepped on, even when she was standing up. It wasn't until 1957 that we raised a litter from her sired by Juniper's My Black Magic II, purchased from Maude Jodrey of Bridgetown, N.S.

At this same time Mrs. Eleanor Pawson of Regina (Saskatchewan's present Obedience Representative), was also an active breeder of Shelties. Around 1953 she imported Am. Ch. Jeweltone of Hobby Ho, a very nice small sable, who made her Canadian title in short order. She had some lovely litters for the Kingsroad Shelties. Mrs. Pawson, unfortunately, has not been breeding Shelties during the last few years (too many neighbors), but we hope she will get back to it one day.

Our own Sheltie population has increased to eight at the present time. We have a Champion daughter of Ch. Timberidge Typesetter C.D., plus two granddaughters of his, one being sired by Ch. Sea Isle Camelot, of the Sea Isle Kennels. Our stud dog, coowned with Miss Lorraine Miller, Ch. Saravan's Elegant Lad, came from Illinois. His sire is Am. Ch. Thistlerose Milord. Also we are very proud to own Am. Ch. Kawartha's Fair Game, purchased a year ago. Susie, a lovely red gold now eight years old, is our official greeter. She offers a paw to all who come. We also have two daughters of hers — one year old Terian's Amber Fair and four months old Terian's Fair Match. The last to join the gang is a blue merle, Glenmargo's Silver Legacy.

About three years ago Mrs. Marilyn Taylor (Clan Lasslyn Kennels) imported Lingard Note at Clan Lasslyn, who completed his title while still under a year. He is by the well known Lingard Sealect Bruce.

The Howard MacDonald's of Saskatoon (Amelanchier Shelties), imported Olympic Senna a few years ago.

Miss Mary Gunvaldsen recently sent a bitch to Ch. (Can. & Am.) Malpsh Great Scott, and we are all waiting for this litter to grow up. They should be quite an asset to other breeders in this area.

Mrs. Pat Ristau has also sent one to the West Coast for breeding to one of the Champions at Hi-Hope Kennels.

The breeders here all enjoy their breed, besides just raising puppies. Nearly all are interested in obedience, with at least one C.D. dog to their credit, and many with more than one. Obedience class night often sees as many as nine or ten Shelties at work. At a recent show, where a parade of Champions and Obedience Degree holders was held, ten of the 31 entries were Shelties, all local dogs.

The breeders here are trying to bring in the best bloodlines available. This is difficult and expensive due to distance of shipping, plus customs problems involved in shipping to the States. Bitches have been held up as much as three days at the destination airport due to customs red tape. We must also accept what we read and see in the Sheltie ads, as it is impossible at this distance to get to see the better known studs, or even see many of their offspring, until we breed to them ourselves.

Saskatchewan breeders have many exciting plans for the future, such as new imports, planned breedings, exhibiting at shows, paricularly outside our own Province, which we have tried to do in the past. We would also welcome more outside competition at our shows. My own big hope for the future will be to some day exhibit at the Westminster New York show. A long way to go yet.

— Mrs. Joan Wiik
Terian Kennels, Reg'd., Sub. P.O. 13, Saskatoon, Sask.

Obedience and the Sheltie

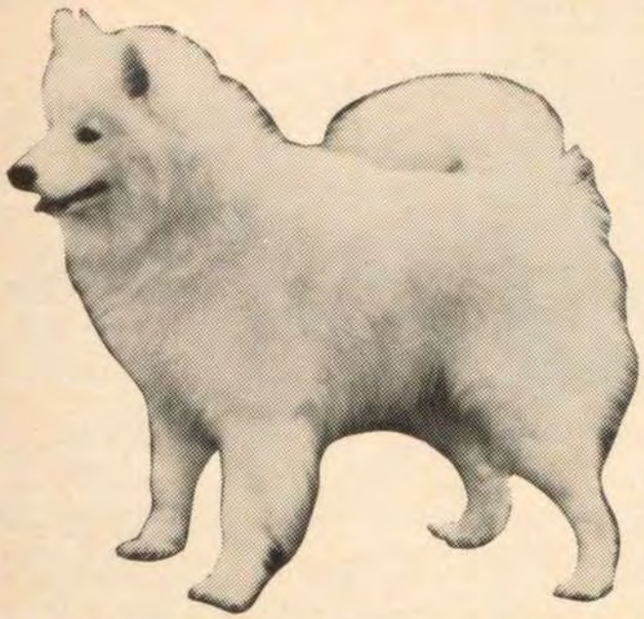

The experienced breeder and exhibitor is generally an invaluable source of information and advice for the novice. There is, however, one piece of advice which I believe we can very well do without. Sooner or later someone will tell you that you can't win in the breed ring with an obedience-trained dog. Some of these people are simply rationalizing their own disinclination to bother with obedience. Others genuinely believe it, and as a consequence miss out on a very enjoyable phase of the dog game.

The examples which disprove the theory are too numerous to list for our own breed, much less for all. A recent outstanding one is the young dog Ch. (Can. & Am.) Cee Dee's Squire, who took BIS one day at the last National Sportsmen's Show, followed by two Group 2nds and a 3rd in Group. He has also placed or won in Group competition in the USA. Squire finished 1st in his obedience class graduation and scored a 197 in his only Trial! My own Ch. Briarwood Viscount, Am. & Can. CD, took a 4th in Group the same day he won Highest Score in Trial and has two other HSTs to his credit. Many champions have a CD, some the CDX (does anyone know of one with a UD?). Jo Brandell of Brandell Kennels in Colorado has something like 18 champions with obedience degrees to her credit! Thus the novice who really looks into the question will have no difficulty realizing the fallacy of the theory. The one who concerns me is the one who hears it at a very early stage, and takes it to heart because it comes from someone who should know what he's talking about.

Obedience trials should serve other purposes than merely providing enjoyment for a few exhibitors. They can also be of value to the dog game as a whole by stimulating interest in breed competition, and by demonstrating to the public the intelligence of purebred dogs. Since the dog game depends on a constant influx of new exhibitors, the trials must serve as a stepping stone in building the interest of one-dog owners. These start out by taking their pet to a training class, where they gain confidence and discover that training for trials isn't impossibly difficult. By the time they've entered several trials, hopefully they've been bitten by the "show bug" and either have gone on to enter the pet in the breed ring or have acquired one of superior quality specifically for that purpose. In either case, by entering both the breed and trial competition, they double their chances of winning something at any one show — and success is a powerful stimulant to continued participation. Moreover, most novices start out with one or two pets which double as show dogs. I'm sure many feel as I do — I wouldn't want to live with a dog that wasn't obedience trained, nor would I find any particular enjoyment in a kennel dog that was not a pet in any sense of the word. What happens when these people are told that if they want to show, they shouldn't train for anything but gaiting, posing and being handled by strangers? They may never enter a show. If they do enter and don't win immediately, they may give up, thinking it's because the pet is obedience trained when in reality it's because the owner is an inexperienced handler. Trials should also be the place to show John Q. Public that purebred dogs are not just expensive ornaments, but can also be intelligent pets and companions. If the only dogs entered in trials are those which aren't good enough for the breed ring, we are instead implying that we breed for beauty at the expense of brains, that the two seldom coexist.

Occasionally one hears the suggestion that all dogs be required to pass some sort of performance test before being certified as champions. This would be an unfortunate solution, since many breeders lack either the time or the inclination to obedience train, and many of the best dogs are campaigned by professional handlers who have even less spare time. I believe the answer lies in encouraging those who do have the time to enter their best dogs in trials as well as breed rings — perhaps by offering a trophy or CKC certificate for the Highest Scoring Champion in Open A or B or Utility (entries in Novice classes wouldn't be eligible, since this would only encourage waiting to try for the CD until after the dog was a champion). At the very least, we must stop discouraging novices from entering both rings.

Our Shelties are Working Dogs. They were bred for centuries to fulfill a useful function in life and they thrive on training which gives them direction and purpose. This is an integral part of their breed individuality — let's keep it, and prove we are doing so by entering obedience competition!

Tip for the novice who decides to train for both rings: Train for the breed ring first. Always use a show lead when practicing gaiting and stacking. Always use a training collar and regulation trial leash when working on obedience exercises. Your dog will readily learn to differentiate between the two, and this gives him an additional cue as to what is expected of him.

I've just returned from two months of visiting my family in Illinois, and noticed one striking contrast in show grooming there as opposed to what I've observed here in Winnipeg and on the Saskatchewan circuit. Here we bathe the dogs to sparkling cleanliness and brush frequently, getting dead coat out completely. There they almost never bathe a dog, certainly not after early spring when it might loosen old coat. Brushing is avoided like the plague after the dog starts dropping coat, and other than trimming and chalking the only grooming at show time is a light combing or brushing to put the top hairs in place. Admittedly, my observations have been too limited in scope to permit any accurate generalizations. I would very much like to hear from others as to the practice in their areas.

Welsh Corgi — Pembroke

A Welsh word has been chosen for the name of a new Corgi Kennel at the Lakehead. "Gwell" means "Superior" in the Welsh tongue and one might construe this to refer to Superior Corgyn on the cold north shore of Lake Superior. We have had Corgyn for only four years but Gwell boasts two 1966 Champions as its foundation stock.

Champion Welcanis Celebration, (Wen), a two year old bitch, also has completed CD degree with a Highest Scoring Dog in Trial to her credit. Her kennel mate, Ch. Lees Osprey (Ossie), imported from England within the year made his ring debut this spring and quickly finished. Wen and Ossie should produce some handsome tricolor puppies, as both he and Wen's sire, Champion Royalbrae Nocturn, English import, are tricolored.

The Gwell dogs played host to some outstanding Corgyn visitors this summer vacation. Ch. Welcanis Adulation and her son, Distinction, a half brother to Celebration, and Ch. Dalevix Copshaw Crispin, enjoyed some of the good crisp fresh air from Lake Superior.

In all, it has been a good year for Corgyn in central Canada and it is hoped that interest in this breed will increase to allow these hardy little dogs the due they deserve.

Tattooing, Nose Printing

practice one can nose print a dog every five minutes or even less. Nose printing requires no permanent investment in equipment, and the cost of supplies is relatively small. Allowing for a reasonable number of spoiled forms, supplies for nose printing will probably cost less than 20c per dog. Nose printing is particularly suitable in the case of American dogs coming to Canada for competition either in conformation or in obedience, where registration of an adult dog for purposes of registration of the qualifications, either championship or an obedience degree. Nose printing is also particularly suitable for adult dogs imported into Canada and being registered for the first time as an adult. To tattoo an adult dog of large size without anaesthetic requires a firm hand and one or two assistants.

TATTOOING AND DOGNAPPING

On the score of cost, time and ease, nose printing is therefore the better of the two alternatives. A legible tattoo is a positive evidence of identification. The tattoo can be read by anyone and there are many examples of dogs which have been lost and recovered by their owners after long intervals on the basis of the tattoo identification. Tattooed dogs are not attractive to dognappers.

The medical and veterinary laboratories in Ontario alone presently require 9,000 dogs per annum, and the need is continually increasing with the proliferation of universities and the increasing size of the institutions. This is not the place to discuss whether or not this is a legitimate demand, and a legitimate use of live animals. The fact is that the demand is there and that it is going to be satisfied in one way or another. The institutions presently endeavor to obtain their supplies from dealers. These dealers are relatively few in number. They obtain the animals either by breeding them from their own stock; or by purchase from municipal pounds; or by other means which are considerably less straightforward than those described above. Animals which are either unwanted, lost and unclaimed, which go to shelters operated by the Ontario Humane Society and its affiliates, are not available for resale to research institutions in the province of Ontario. This means that the supplies of live dogs from dealers and municipal pounds frequently do not meet the demands of the institutions. There is therefore pressure on the dealers to increase their supply. This is where the dognapper comes into the picture. This is a trade which rivals the tales of the early nineteenth century of the body snatchers supplying cadavers for the medical schools at that time. A few months ago I was introduced to a lady in the Niagara Peninsula, "This is Mrs. So-and-so. She has Shelties". The answer was "I used to have Shelties — I put my two Shelties plus my German Shepherd in the back garden on Friday afternoon, the gate was closed, and 20 minutes later all three dogs were gone and the gate was still closed". This was a sad story. It has been repeated many times, not only in Ontario but elsewhere. This is one of the reasons why positive identification of your dog is extremely desirable. Tattooed dogs rarely turn up in laboratories. If a dognapper picks up an animal by one means or another and finds out it is tattooed, he either turns it loose or destroys it. He might even have the temerity to trace the dog through Ottawa and advise you that he has "found" it. In any case, he is most reluctant to pass it on and run the risk of prosecution for dealing in stolen goods. Laboratories likewise are most reluctant to take in tattooed animals lest they be charged on the same ground. In Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia there is legislation providing for all dogs unclaimed at municipal pounds and other animal shelters being made available to the research institutions. Other provinces lack such legislation.

One may well ask why the institutions do not breed their own dogs for their research requirements. This is a matter of simple economics. The price which an institution pays a dealer for a Beagle-sized dog is $25.00, for a Greyhound-sized dog $40.00. These are the two sizes which the institutions are interested in, and these are the prices. Anyone who has ever raised a litter of puppies under reasonably satisfactory conditions knows that is is uneconomic to breed dogs for these prices. The dealer, on the other hand, may have a dog-catching contract for a municipality, for which he receives a fee.

In many cases dealers have underbid other people for the dog-catching contract because they knew they had an outlet for the dogs which they might pick up. This is again pure economics. Dogs are purchased from "casual acquirers" for approximately $5.00 each. This gives the dealer a $20.00 profit for handling the dog and delivering it to an institution. If one is a derelict on skid row, $5.00 for a casually acquired dog is good business. One can buy three bottles of vino and sink into oblivion for 48 hours with the acquisition and sale of one dog.

To sum up, there seems to be a very strong argument for positive identification on every purebred dog. There is likewise an argument for a regularization of the supply of animals to the institutions without the encouragement of dognapping or in blunter terms, plain, ordinary theft. ■

The Bedlington Terrier

Perhaps one of the most unique of all dogs is the Bedlington Terrier. It does not shed and has no doggy odor. Pups are born black or dark mahogany. This latter turns to a blue shade or a liver color at maturity, usually before the dog is a year old. His coat is unlike any other breed as it is thick and linty.

Although he looks like a lamb, the closest breed to him is a Whippet. Both breeds share the coursing dog quarters and roach back.

The Skye Terrier Club of America

The schism within the ranks of the Skye Terrier Club of America was precipitated by an uncompromising disagreement over the color segment of the judging Standard. The turndown of a proposed Revision by The American Kennel Club resulted in the mass exodus of members which included all officers and five of the seven Directors. A mutual desire on the part of The American Kennel Club and the remaining membership for its continuance as a member club has resulted in the election of a temporary management to fill all vacant offices and seats on the Board of Directors. The following were elected and will remain in office until the next scheduled annual meeting in February, 1967: President and Director, W. R. Clarkson; 1st Vice-President, L. R. Kinnard; 2nd Vice-President,

Chas. L. Brown, Jr.; Secretary-Treasurer and Director, Mrs. John McDonald; Directors, Mrs. R. Percy Adams, Mrs. W. M. Cownts, Alan Leham.

Messrs. Brown and Kinnard, the two Directors elected last February who did not resign, will serve out their one-year term as members of the current board.

The individuals nominated and elected, some 70% of the membership in the special election held August 1, 1966, were selected as candidates first, for their deep interest in the breed as well as their complete familiarity with the problems confronting the club and second: their residences are so distributed geographically that they reflect a composite of the thinking of all the members, in seeking the solution to those problems.

This current management is confident that, during its interim term of office, it will be able to lay a solid foundation on which the next regularly elected officers and Directors can build a vigorous and realistic breed club, one which will be truly representative of the entire membership and function as a breed club should, working for the preservation of the integrity of the Skye Terrier and its restoration to a proper niche in the Terrier World.

Terrier Breeders' Association News

The Association held a fun match a go-go on August 14 for puppies ranging in age from ten weeks to 12 months and juniors from 12 months to 18 months. Judge Mr. J. G. Reynolds, now residing in Ottawa, handed out the awards. Place — home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McFarlane.

Theme of the match was a go-go all the way with the judge wearing a Tiger T. shirt and some of the younger set wore Tiger shifts, or maybe we should say mini-shifts. Some 50 puppies participated in the match, all given an equal chance in their own age group — this was accomplished by placing the up to six months 1-2-3-4; up to nine months the same way; up to 12 months the same way and from 12 to 18 months the same order, finally coming up with #1 in each age group. Then again the Judge placed these four in the order for Best Puppy in Match. Joan Morden's Tannenbaum Fast Company, five month old male Miniature Schnauzer, took the honors.

Every entry in the Match got a prize, as did every spectator. A "Pick N'Pay Table" was kept busy as white elephants from dime novels to materials were for sale at a very small cost. A Samsonite card table was drawn for, this was won by Mr. McTaggart while Mrs. Elms won second prize — a tray.

On Friday the McFarlanes left on a holiday, with three Cairns, to take in five shows in Michigan and Ohio. Results were as follows:

August 20 — Genesee County, Flint, Mich. — Judge Trullinger had an entry of five Cairns, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Badenoch Redham's Chieftain BB and Ch. Badenoch Silverfjord went Reserve Female. Wise's How-Bees Megan O'Scotia was Winners Female, BW and BOS.

August 21 — Pontiac, Mich. had an entry of eight with Mrs. Frances O. Holland doing the honors. Chieftain repeated as BB while Silverfjord was Winners and BOS. Incidentally, this was a three-point win to give her a second major. How-Bees Megan O'Scotia was Reserve while Morans Rinky-Dink was BW.

Monday to Wednesday was spent enjoying the country and playing a little golf.

August 25 — Sturgis, Mich. we had seven Cairns with Mr. Reginald Mitchell, Australia, handing out the ribbons. Here Silverfjord was WF, BW, BB, while Ch. Woody Woodpecker of Melita was BOS.

Friday was a little more golf and travelling and then came August 27 — Ravenna, Ohio. Here we had an entry of 10 less four absent. This was Silverfjord's show all the way. Mr. R. A. Cross placed her WF, BW, BB and to finish the day she placed 3rd in Group under Mr. Reginald Michell with 16 breeds competing in the Group.

August 28 — Chagrin Valley, Ohio was hot and humid with an entry of ten but here again we had four absentees. Ch. (Can. & Am.) Uniquecottage Goldspur was BB with Silverfjord WF, BW and BOS.

Subject to AKC approval we believe Silverfjord completed her Championship — she is just 18 months old. She is a granddaughter of Ch. (Can. & Am.) Badenoch Hamish Ruadh who is now in his 12th year and now leaves the ring to his sons and daughters and even his grandchildren and great-grandchildren to carry on

News from California about the Kerry Blue

In June the Kerry Blue Terrier Club of America held its Specialty Show at the Beverley Hills K.C. show with an entry of 55. The previous night the Southern California Club held a dinner attended by members and visitors from Hawaii, Kansas and Chicago. It was a very pleasant affair with the huge trophies on display.

On July 31 the Southern California Club held its Specialty with an entry of 47 and Puppy Sweepstakes, at Santa Barbara. I am pleased to say my puppy, Falconmoors Irish Fling (Ch. Walmars Irish Glenen ex Ch. Tregoad's Vickys Gallant) was first in his class and first in Jr. Puppy Sweepstakes. This is a beautiful setting for a show as it is held on the Polo Ground with a background of mountains and the day is always sunny.

The Betts family was quite excited this week as Carol Burnett, of TV and movie fame, came with husband and little girl and bought a Kerry puppy. Another Tregoad Kerry, Kansas Kate, who lives in Phoenix, Arizona, goes hunting with her owner and wrestles with bobcats and coyotes with end results a few scratches on the nose.

On August 13 a Kerry Blue workshop was held at the Betts' home and was very successful, with 60 people in attendance. We had grooming, handling and care of puppies demonstrations, also an obedience dog gave a display. Also held was a group judging to the Standard and a discussion on dog measuring. A chuck wagon lunch was served. Altogether a very nice day, sunny and cooled by ocean breezes!

We are going to Europe on October 3 for a month and hope to send some more news on my return.

INEBRIATED WITH HONORS

Coastal Canine Academy does it again! Six people worked eight dogs of different breeds and acquired a total of 15 qualifying scores!

The setting was the beautiful Recreational Centre at North Vancouver, B.C., for the All Breed Championship Dog Show and Licensed Obedience Trials held by the North Shore Kennel Club of B.C.

Saturday, August 13, the highlight to the Obedience Trial was in the Open "B" Class, when two dogs tied for 1st with a score of 198½. They were Miniature Pinscher Louie and Norwich Terrier, Fluky. Nothing unusual, you say? Well, both dogs are owned and trained by Mrs. Shirley Luke, who was thrilled though stymied when Judge, Mr. Harry Thomas, requested a run-off! Slight confusion followed, but it was finally accomplished, when Mr. Ben Taylor stepped in and offered to handle the Norwich Terrier. Fluky didn't think much of this and refused to work in his usual superb manner, so Louie came out on top! On top indeed, as he and Mrs. Luke had also earned the Highest Score in Trial. In addition to this honor they were awarded the Blanche Saunders Challenge Trophy offered by Mrs. Donald Lyle to the North Shore Kennel Club Trial. It was a great day for Mrs. Luke!

Sunday, August 14, the spotlight was on Mr. Ben Taylor and his Welsh Corgi, Ollie. Their combined performance in the Open "B" Class was magnificent! It was nearly flawless and earned them a score of 199 by well known Judge, Jake Giacomelli. Mr. Taylor was presented with the High Score in Trial Trophy for this day. Proud? You bet he was!

Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Luke are well known as they are regular participants in local trials, qualified Obedience Judges and Instructors for Coastal Canine Academy. No doubt it's their excellent instruction and their inspiration that makes this club so well represented at Obedience Trials.

At the North Shore Kennel Club Trial, Coastal Canine Academy trained dogs were on top in many of the Classes. Of this club, qualifying scores were earned by Mrs. Ann Whitton's two dogs — a lovely working Whippet and a Bouvier des Flandres (shaggy Boris certainly did his work well in the Utility Class). Mrs. Letcher's Miniature Poodle was High Scoring dog in the Novice "A" Class — this was their first Licensed Trial. A Weimaraner owned and trained by Mr. Moskaluke acquired two legs in the Open "A" Class — one score being Highest in Class. Miss Marg. Kuyt had two Skipperkes complete their degrees — CD and CDX.

Congratulations to the members of the North Shore Kennel Club of B.C., on a job well done! They should also be commended on providing such excellent Judges for Obedience. 'Hats off to both Mr. Jake Giacomelli and Mr. Harry Thomas'.

Brussels Griffon — Body and Legs

Our Standard asks for terrier-like, but cobby; the terrier clean lines, no loading of shoulders; well laid-back angulation of shoulders; good spring of rib; medium chest width; deep brisket to point of elbow; only slight tuck-up; ideal weights — female, eight to nine lbs.; male seven to eight lbs. mature; level topline, only acceptable one, with the required high set tail, carried upright.

Balance, for the square cobby outline, makes it imperative to judge length of leg to body. As we have two coats — rough and smooth varieties — a slight variance will give best results. A rough looks best, with height at shoulder, 45% body and 55% leg to allow for under body coat, not give short on the leg appearance. 50/50 ideal for the smooth coat.

The bone must be medium throughout and never fine boned. Straight front legs, neat, small, well tucked up, terrier foot, with the desired black toenails.

Hindquarters of sufficient width to carry out cobby make and shape; no barreled vents; thighs well muscled up; medium angulation; free from straight stifles; legs set true, turning neither in nor out.

— Mrs. Agnes L. Wilkie
R.R. 1, Sidney, V.I., B.C.

On the Cavalier King Charles Spaniel

Mouths: No puppy can ever be a "sure thing" as a future winner or champion, as every breeder knows. However, Cavalier King Charles Spaniels have a feature which makes judging puppies to the Standard particularly difficult. The Cavalier Standard requires that the mouth be level. A Cavalier puppy can be noticeably undershot at seven or eight months, and finish with a perfect mouth at a year and a half. This is hard to believe until you have seen it happen but anyone who has raised a number of litters has watched more than one puppy's bite change from being unmistakably undershot to level, sometimes in a matter of only a few months. (This does not, of course, apply to jaws with badly placed teeth or incorrct dentition, nor to crooked jaws themselves, all of which are serious faults).

Therefore, a "specialist" judge in this breed will frequently put a puppy with a dubious mouth, but good conformation, movement and type over a puppy whose mouth is perfect but who fails in any of the other categories. This will also explain such remarks in judges' critiques as "mouth needs time", or "at seven months this puppy was not penalized for a mouth not yet perfect".

Shillmaine Import

Mrs. Maureen Samuels, Shillmaine Kennel, Mimico, Ont., has recently imported a male Chihuahua from Mrs. Grace Shroyer of Lakeview, Ohio.

Incidentally, I note in Mr. Stephens' rules on the Chihuahua he has not noted the 45 degree angle of the ear when in repose. I believe it goes "the ears shall be erect at all times and only when in repose shall be flared slightly at an angle of 45 degrees". This point is worded the same in both the Canadian and American Standards. Judges appear very concerned with this point in their assessing of the dogs and I wonder if we breeders are possibly misinterpreting this because if you check the American Chihuahua closely you will find that the breadth between the ears has widened, hence the possible closing of the Molera and the ears now are almost at the side of the head. This is not how the Standard puts it but it is apparently, judging by what one sees in the States, a prime requisite. How can an ear be erect at all times and also be angled at 45 degrees?

New Pekingese Import

Nigel Aubrey-Jones and R. Wm. (Bill) Taylor have imported the latest English Pekingese Champion, Mathilda of Kettlemere, daughter of Ch. Ku Jin of Caversham and Ch. Margo of Kettlemere. They saw her when they were at Crufts and considered her to be the best bitch in England. At the time she was not for sale as her owner wanted to show and make her a champion but the moment she won her third certificate and her English title they were able to complete the purchase and are now looking forward to bringing her out in Canada and the USA.

what would you look for? I know the first thing I would get is a book on the Pomeranian Standard, and believe me I would study it very carefully. It never ceases to amaze me as to what some breeders of Poms will sell as show stock, so study your Standard and go prepared.

If you want one definitely for showing and you have that long green stuff, do not buy a puppy at six or eight weeks. There is no breeder and I don't care who it may be, that can pick a puppy at that age and honestly say "this will be a good show dog". You have a pretty fair idea that it will turn out nice, but even the nicest puppies can be real duds at eight months. So try for one about five or six months old. At that age any faults that it is going to have will be showing.

First of all, how is it for size? The Standard says three to five pounds. Next, is it in proportion? Try visualizing it in a square and exclude the head. Will your pup fit in a square? He should be no longer than he is tall. Now, are his legs nice and straight? No cowhocks and not out at the shoulders? Watch those knee joints in the hindquarters. Slipping patellas in Poms are quite common and it is hereditary. Now check that topline. Is it nice and straight like it should be or does he look like he's going down hill?

Next, let's look at that tail set. A low tail set can spoil the whole appearance of an otherwise nice dog. It should be set right on the top of the rump, otherwise it cannot lay flat but will go like a plume. If you put the flat of your hand on the dog's rear you should not feel the bend of the tail dig into the palm of your hand. Also, you will find a low tail set will be comparatively thick at the base. Also, make sure the tail is nice and straight and does not have a kink about an inch from the end as though it had been broken. This is one fault you cannot see so you must feel it.

Now for that all important coat. Study your Standard for this very carefully; make sure it has some undercoat evident at this age, not a flat silky soft coat. This will never stand out, and watch that color and check the parents for color. If it is to be orange it should have pretty well lost all its black hairs by six months and the true color should be quite plain. Also, watch for that black muzzle on an orange. This is wrong and if it has not lost it by six months it will never lose it. Look for a nice clear color in your Pom and regardless of what you are told, just because an orange Pom has a lot of black hair in it does not make it a sable.

Now about that head. Has it almond shaped eyes which are proper, or are they round and poppy? That bite as well — is it a nice scissors bite? And last, those all important ears — are they small? The smaller the better, you know. Big ears, I find, are a very prominent fault in Poms today and no amount of coat is going to hide big ears.

Notes on the Silky Terrier

I am very pleased to see the Silky Terrier take his place here in Canada. I have judged this breed many times in the USA and have found it to be a very delightful breed both in structure and temperament.

The Silky Terrier or the Sydney Silky was named for the Australian city of his origin where he may be found in the crowded areas of the flat or cottage dwellers. For although known for his courage and tenacity, he is not a dog of bush country but instead a companion in the suburban home. In his native land, where he is classed as a Toy, he must not exceed 12 pounds in weight. However, the average is around ten pounds and the height is about ten inches.

It is not difficult to credit the Silky's descent from the Australian Terrier, even though he differs from the latter breed in some respects.

In coat he is distinctive, owing to the fact that to produce him the Australian Terrier was again crossed with the Yorkshire and the Skye, possibly to obtain a more profuse coat of finer texture. Whatever may have been the avowed purpose of resorting repeatedly to two of the breeds already responsible for the Australian Terrier, the fact remains that the Silky emerged with a straight, fine-spun coat of some six inches in length.

Long hair growing on the face is considered objectionable. Nevertheless, the Silky Terrier has on the top of his head an abundance of long, silky hair falling forward over the face and often pinned or tied with a ribbon. Although I believe this has been abandoned as it tends to make the breed seem toyish. This fall is not generally called a top-knot, although under some circumstances it may be referred to as such. From the stop, the hair is parted over the head, the part extending right down the back to the tail.

In color, the coat may be blue and tan, or silver and tan. The blue extends from the base of the skull to the tip of the tail, down the forelegs to the knees, down the thighs to the hocks, while the tan extends around the base of the ears, on the muzzle and on the cheeks, on the legs below knees and hocks, and around the vent. There is also a tan spot over each eye. The richer the shade of tan the better.

In general, the Silky is a rather low-set dog, compact and active. Of but moderate length, the head shows strong terrier character. The bite of course should be level, with any appreciable degree of undershot or overshot subject to penalty. The nose is black, the eyes small, dark and piercingly keen in expression. The small V-shaped ears are set high on the skull and should be pricked.

The Silky's neck is just medium in length, his body well ribbed up, his back line straight and his tail docked. Forelegs are straight and well set under the body, while the hind legs are characteristically muscular in the thighs and moderately angulated at stifle and hock. The feet, which have thick, springy pads are cat-like in shape, with black or dark nails preferred. In fact, white or flesh-colored nails are regarded as a defect.

The terrier breeders are desirous of this breed not going less than eight inches in height.

All in all he is a very handsome little dog and I hope we see more of him in the shows.

Bulldog Puppy Match

The Bulldog Club of Central Canada had a highly successful Puppy Match at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fuelling, Weston, on August 14. Miss Jean Grant, Blossomlea Kennels, kindly consented to judge. Her Best Puppy was Thellwall Kim and Best Adult was Ninga Snow White. Afterwards, competitors and friends sat down to a delicious supper of turkey and trimmings. Present were several visitors from Buffalo — members of the newly formed Bulldog Club in Buffalo.

I was asked to judge the Fall Puppy Match held by the Bulldog Club of New Jersey in September.

Let's Take a Look at the Differences in the Canadian, English and American Poodle Standards

Second of a Two Part Article. By Mrs. D. T. Weir in collaboration with Miss Mary Jane T. Weir.

CANADIAN

b) CLIP: Clipping either in the traditional "Continental" or "English Saddle" style is correct. In the Continental clip the hindquarters are shaved, with pompons on hips (optional), and in the English saddle clip, the hindquarters are covered with a short blanket of hair. In both these clips the rest of the body must be left in full coat. The face, feet, legs and tail must be shaved, leaving bracelets on all four legs, and a pompon at the end of the tail. The topknot and feather on the ears must be long and profuse, so as not to lose the very essential Poodle expression. A dog under a year old may be shown with the coat long except the face, feet and base of tail, which should be shaved. Any Poodle clipped in any style other than the above mentioned shall be disqualified from the show ring.

AMERICAN

CLIP: A Poodle may be shown in the Puppy clip or in the traditional "Continental" Clip or in the "English Saddle" Clip. A Poodle under a year old may be shown in the "Puppy" Clip with the coat long except the face, feet and base of tail, which should be shaved. Dogs one year or older must be shown in either the "Continental" Clip or the "English Saddle" Clip. In the Continental Clip the hind quarters are shaved with pompons on hips (optional). The face, feet, legs and tail are shaved leaving bracelets on the hindlegs, puffs on the forelegs, and a pompon at the end of the tail. The rest of the body must be left in full coat. In the English Saddle Clip the hind quarters are covered with a short blanket of hair except for a curved shaved area on the flank and two shaved bands on each hindleg. The face, feet, forelegs and tail are shaved leaving puffs on the forelegs and a pompon at the end of the tail. The rest of the body must be left in full coat.

ENGLISH

NO HEADING

Eng. Has nothing very much to say about Clip, except that all short hair shall be close, thick and curly. So much for the so-called "plush-bottoms"! A strong recommendation for the Lion clip, with no penalty involved if pet clips appear, is going to make a weird and wonderful sight in the ring in five years' time. Does this imply that the Lion clip is strongly recommended over the Puppy and Continental Clips? What a mess — what a future! No description of any of the Clips leaves the field wide open, and with the present trend toward "Pop" art it defies the imagination as to what we shall see in the name of "Clips". In fact, what we see today defies description. Surely this will have some influence on the exports.

Can. Am. No essential difference here. Both would be improved if the placement of puffs and bracelets were linked to the bone structure. Many disasters in the hands of the inexperienced could be avoided if this were done. Can. mentions Disqualifications for unorthodox clip under this heading and again under Disqualifications. Am. mentions it only under Disqualifications.

Am. Adds low tailset to Can. list. Eng. does not include Shyness.

Can. Am. Eng. IN OUR OPINION if the Standard of Perfection is accurately written on the basis of anatomy, any deviation from it is a fault. Since the aim of Poodle breeders should be to achieve as near perfection as possible, there should be no preference for one fault over another. It is the sum total of all the faults that should be deducted from 100% perfect. Each and every fault must be eliminated before the perfect Poodle (according to the word picture the Standard presents) can be attained.

So long as the dog is definitely a Miniature or a Toy, diminutiveness is only the deciding factor when all other points are equal; soundness and activity are every whit as necessary in a Miniature and a Toy as they are in a Standard Poodle, and as these traits can only be seen when the dog is in action, it is imperative that Miniatures and Toys be moved in the ring as fully and decidedly as Standard Poodles.

SIZE: 15 inches or over.
MINIATURE POODLE: The Miniature Poodle should be in every respect a replica in miniature of the Standard Poodle. Height at shoulder must be 15 inches.
TOY POODLE: The standard of the Toy Poodle is the same as that of the Miniature and Standard except that the height at shoulder must be under 11 inches.

Can. Eng. No difference for the Standard Poodle.

Am. A Standard Poodle measuring 15" exactly is disqualified.

Can. Eng. No difference for the Miniature Poodle.

Am. Will admit a Miniature which measures 15" exactly, and disqualify a Miniature which measures 10" exactly. It looks as if the dog which measures 10" exactly on the day it is entered will have a slim chance of winning anything on the day it is shown. This also holds true for Miniatures, if they are exactly 15".

Can. Am. No difference for the Toy, but Canada insists the Miniatures and Toys must be exact replicas of the Standards, and calls for equally vigorous movement in the ring. Where Miniatures or Toys of equal quality but different size occur, Can. prefers the smaller size.

Eng. Toys must be under 11".

SUMMARY

The true meaning of the word "Standard", as quoted in the opening paragraph of this article, seems to have escaped the comprehension of those composing them. In writing a word description of the object to be copied one cannot suggest, prefer, or recommend; one must be definite.

The true meaning of the word "sound" ("healthy, not diseased, nor rotten") seems also to have taken a beating. We can have a sound trot, walk, run, pace, gallop, or even a kangaroo hop.

Looking generally, we think neither the American nor English Standards are so much better that the Canadian needs to be altered in any great respect. The English, in particular, seems a long step backward. We have no objection to correcting parts of any Standard, but a wholesale rewriting opens Pandora's box, and is a distinct admission of failure.

The Canadian Standard has not been completely re-written for a donkey's years and Canadians are to be congratulated! The result is quite evident in the show ring today.

Meek and mild customer to breeder: "If my wife doesn't like this dog would you please refuse to take it back?"

DOGS & PEOPLE

Travellers: Mrs. Betty Thomson of Twin Willow's Shelties note, Clarkson, Ont., enjoyed a recent holiday with her son and family in Hyannisport, Mass. On the return trip she visited the Sea Isle Kennels in Vermont whose owner, Mary Van Wagnan, showed her color slides of her renowned Shelties and others that have been bred to her studs. Mrs. Thomson stated she had never seen such a large collection of superb slides . . . Mr. and Mrs. Herd Izant, well known Kerry breeders from California, were in Montreal recently at a convention and visited Schipperke breeders Gerald and Laura McNally and Claude Dube and Guy Pelteau (Kerry breeders) and then on to Toronto to visit with more Kerry Blue Terrier breeders, Casey and Dennis Gardiner. Mrs. Izant (Edith) is "Coast Clips" editor of Popular Dogs . . . Mrs. E. Huck of Montreal has left for Dusseldorf, Germany, where she will represent the Montreal German Shepherd Club at the famed Siegerschau Show . . . Canadian Kennel Club Director and well-known judge Bill Dawson of Prince Albert, Sask., stopped in at the Canadian National Exhibition shows . . . Mrs. Meta Loveridge of the CKC staff enjoyed a brief visit to Ottawa . . . Among Canadians at the recent shows at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y. were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Samuels, Mrs. Kay Baylis, all of Toronto and "The Old Timer".

Retiring: After 16 years, 14 with the Montreal Dog Obedience Training Club, Mrs. Evelyn McCullough (Karleve Kennels) has retired as trainer and training director. Mrs. Hazel Slaughter, (Meridian) another club member, is carrying on with the basic training.

Award: The Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Montreal, has presented a $200 bursary to the most deserving student at the Quebec College of Veterinary Medicine at St. Hyacinthe, Que. This year's recipient is Roland Seyer of Acton Vale, Que.

Died: Mrs. Nancy Driver, a lover of all animals, and dogs in particular, passed away in Moose Jaw at the age of 75. A long-time member of the Moose Jaw All Breed Kennel & Obedience Club, as well as The Canadian Kennel Club, she moved to Brandon, Man. in 1926 where she raised English Bulldogs and operated a boarding kennel under the name of The Four Gables Kennels. Later she raised Boston Terriers in Moose Jaw. She will be sadly missed at all the local dog shows where her pleasant tales of her experiences were always enjoyed . . . Sympathy is extended to Mrs. R. Grise of Montreal in the loss of her husband. Breeders principally of Poodles under the Mon Chateau prefix, The Grises were also the proprietors of the Dog Castle in Montreal . . . J. Amedee Thouin, 74, Montreal. Mr. Thouin, a former Recorder-in Chief, was a member of a number of hunting and fishing clubs, and played an important role in game conservation work in Quebec. A former Field Trial Secretary of Le Club de Beagles Ta-I-O de Montreal Inc., he was a member of The Canadian Kennel Club from 1932 to 1942 and in 1945 and 1947.

Recuperating: Canadian Kennel Club Director William McDerment, Toronto, following a stroke, plus surgery for a hemhorraging ulcer. Still unable to speak, he wishes, through these columns, to express his appreciation for the many beautiful flowers and cards. . . . Mrs. Karen Smith, Coquitlam, B.C., following a session in hospital. The Smiths have the Bokai Lhasa Apso Kennels . . . Mrs. Helen Lovett, Stittsville, Ont., of Ronas Hill Collies note, and one of the most faithful exhibitors of The Ottawa KC, also hospitalized.

Racing Buffs: One of the smallest regular spectators at the Mosport and St. Jovite tracks is a Pekingese named Happy Small Dragon (registered as Sai Loong). Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Powell of Ottawa, he was bred by Mrs. Susann Hearne of Stittsville. Mr. Powell races a Mini-Cooper S. The Peke holds court in his travelling basket, which on hot days has a cold water bottle to keep him cool. Mrs. Powell noted a particularly fine Old English Sheepdog at the St. Jovite meet.

R. Wm. (Bill) Taylor will be judging Pekingese at the Ladies Kennel Club Show, London, England, on November 2. This is the largest one-day show in the world and Bill is looking forward to his assignment. This represents the third time he has judged Pekingese at a Championship event in England, as well as judging the breed at the Invicta Pekingese Club's large open show.

More travel: Betty Hyslop of Great Dane and Cairn Terrier note (Cairndania, Brockville, Ont.) off to England prior to the famous Montgomery Terrier Show at Canadian Thanksgiving time. Next move is to the New Orleans show October 29 where she judges.

Married: In Windsor, Ont., Stuart Roberts and the former Jean M. Jansen, joining the Dachshunds and Basenjis of Canidae Kennels with the Poodles, Pugs and Papillons of Raljeada Kennels — all to be known now as Canidae Kennels, R.R. 1, Walker Rd., Oldcastle, Ont.

American debut: Dachshund specialist Helen Sinclair of Meadowvale, Ont., (Lenair) judges at the all breed match show in Erie, Pa. October 23, where her invitation from the Erie Kennel Club includes all Hounds and Best in Match. This is Mrs. Sinclair's first American judging assignment. Preceding her into American territory is her German Shorthaired Pointer, the four-year-old Ch. Robin Crest Sally Forth, who is being campaigned by the well-known handler, Ed Carver. She already has a 5 point major in the States.

Record Sales: Reg. P. Sparkes, well-known yachtsman, judge and Bulldog breeder (Kamel Kennels) Thornhill, Ont., reports that to date 1966 has been his greatest year in Bulldog interest and sales, and particularly numerous sales to American Bulldog fanciers. Mr. Sparkes again judged at the Bermuda KC summer shows, which are now mainly restricted to Island residents (the famous International shows are scheduled for November 1, 2, 3 and 5). As previously, Mr. Sparkes has expressed a tremendous admiration for the enterprising, hospitable Bermuda KC members.

Notes from Lorna Jackson: Newfoundland breeder Jean Waller of Ottawa to hospital September 18, according to Mrs. R. Seaman of Markham, Ont. . . . Corgi breeder John R. Histed of Belleville, Ont., recuperating from a train accident, details not known at time of writing. . . . Mrs. William Henderson, Toronto, of Alford Shetland Sheepdog note, has just returned from a visit to England and Scotland.
