FOOD INTAKE

Dogs, like man, tend to consume the quantity of food needed by them to satisfy their requirement.

This consumption is influenced by many factors including:

1. the way the food is fed.
2. the nutritive value of the food.
3. its moisture content.
4. competition.

Some pet dogs eat only foods from the table. It is not uncommon for the pet owner to place the dog's dish filled with dog food on the table and during the meal remove it and offer it to the dog. Some dogs will eat this way when they will not eat any other way.

Most dogs have their container of dry dog food before them at all times with water in a nearby container. This is an excellent way to feed dogs. Dry food helps keep teeth free of tartar and the gums in a healthy condition.

HOW MUCH TO FEED

Normal dogs generally consume enough free-choice food to maintain their body weight and gain some as they grow older. This is the simplest way to feed. Feeding by weight and activity of the dog is more complex since the young 8 week old pup consumes a quantity equal to 8% of its body weight daily while an adult pet dog in an apartment consumes about 3% of its body weight each day in dry food.

The dog "normally knows better than his owner" how much he should eat. When the owner disagrees, then a few basic measures will help change the dog's food intake and subsequent weight.

METHOD OF FEEDING AND FOOD INTAKE

Dry Food — Usually an ample quantity will be consumed to maintain weight.

Dry Food + Water — Enough added water to produce a moist crumbly ration will increase food intake by 20%.

Dry Food + Water + Lean Meat — By adding 25% lean meat to the moistened ration a food increase of 20% will be achieved.

A dog needing more weight should be fed either moistened or moistened plus meat ration. Conversely a dog that is too heavy and is fed a moistened ration will consume less food when fed dry.

Competition increases food intake. Two dogs fed together will consume more food than when fed separately if adequate food is available.

A lactating bitch will eat three times as much as her maintenance level when she is milking heavily.

These guides can help you improve and understand your dog's food consumption and eating habits.

Pictured on our front cover is the beautiful Pekingese bitch, the imported English Champion Mathilda of Kettlemere. Mathilda had a very successful show career in England, winning her three champion certificates in the hottest of competition defeating at one time or another practically all the current English champions. She won her certificates at the great Cheltenham show, was Best of Breed at the Three Counties championship show and won her qualifying ticket at Dumfries in Scotland.

Mathilda made her American debut at the Progressive Toy show in New York where she was Winner Bitch and Best of Winners, going on to Best Opposite in a huge entry, gaining a five point major. She will be campaigned in Canada during 1967.

Mathilda is royally bred, being by the great sire Ch. Ku Jin of Caversham out of Ch. Margo of Kettlemere who is one of the best bitches in England, having scored over 20 challenge certificates. It is interesting to note that Mr. Taylor gave Margo her very first prize when she made her ring debut under him at the Invieta Pekingese Club championship show in 1960, going on to Best Puppy in Show at the age of eight months. So it is indeed interesting that this daughter of Margo, a great champion in her own right, should be the latest star of the famous St. Aubrey-Elsdon Pekingese.

The homebreds, however, will not be taking a back seat and one of the best yet produced is the striking St. Aubrey Maralito of Elsdon, a son of the great Mario. He won the puppy dog class at the Pekingese Club of America summer specialty and ringside opinion seemed to agree that he will have a brilliant future. He is out of a daughter of Am. Ch. St. Aubrey Wee Yen of Church Rd Farm and Am. & Can. Ch. St. Aubrey Marie Dee of Elsdon and so his breeding should interest all those who are keen students of pedigrees for he is three times bred to that brilliant stud dog, Am. & Can. Ch. Calartha Mandarin of Jehol.

Another homebred to score in 1966 was Can. Ch. St. Aubrey Manikin of Elsdon who created a sensation at the Montreal dog show by going through to Best in Show while still a puppy. He finished his championship in four straight shows in Canada and since joining the kennel of Mrs. Robert Tranchin in Texas he is un-

EXCELLENT MAGAZINE

... One glance through your excellent magazine and I was sold.

J. M. SCHWECHE (MRS.)

PROTECTION FOR RESEARCH ANIMALS

... I think it is time Canada asked the Government for laws to protect all animals used in research and that all farms where they keep such animals be licensed and inspected. The President of the United States has signed the new law for the USA which requires humane care and treatment. Both dealers and research facilities are required to keep records. Canada has good humane laws and the people here don't want cruelty in any form so it is up to us to speak for those who cannot speak for themselves, and have given so much for the good of mankind.

KATE McBROOM (MRS.)

CANADIANS MOVE SOUTH

... We have moved to the United States ... brought with us all our Airedales which number nine and it is our intention to continue breeding and showing. We have bought 11½ acres about 30 miles east of Cleveland and there is no need to mention that the dogs, my daughter, husband and I are in our glory with some land to romp on.

We hope to get up to the Sportsmen's Show and a few others so that we might keep up our contacts and visit with our friends and we would certainly welcome anyone down this way to drop in and pay us a visit.

ON GUN DOGS

... Myself and many others (hunters, trainers of gun dogs, etc.) interested in promoting and protecting "gun dogs" would appreciate those people connected with field trials in the CKC to take a serious look at today's ideas regarding Canadian field trials.

It is my understanding that there is a valid difference between field trial types of dogs such as Pointers or Setters, and gun dogs such as Weimaraners and Vizslas. The latter dogs are kind of dogs preferred by the average hunter who wants his dog to be under control and to never be out of gun range. The field trial type range out much too far for practical hunting conditions as well as other liabilities and the gun dogs, when confronted against the field trial type in a field trial, do not compare as far as range and speed.

If you have any suggestions, any comments or constructive criticism to make concerning articles in this magazine, or with regard to shows, your opinion of what is happening to various breeds with regard to size, color, coat, etc., write a brief letter to the Editor. We must reserve the right, however, to edit same. Opinions expressed in this department do not necessarily reflect those of the publishers.

Gun dogs in field trials will probably be spoiled unless they are put in a different class.

I sincerely hope that something in the near future will be done about the situation.

HATS OFF TO ALBERNI CLUB

... I think the Alberni Valley show committee should be complimented on their courageous stand of withholding their own dogs from their own show, thereby not putting the judges in an awkward position. The Alberni club did an extremely efficient job with the show starting and ending on time, also had two efficient judges who knew exactly what they were looking for. There were fabulous trophies and wall-to-wall matting, plus rubber ring mats — a show that was a pleasure to attend and we look forward to their '67 show with anticipation.

HELPFUL PAMPHLETS AVAILABLE

... Dog breeders are becoming increasingly aware of the necessity to provide a sound psychological as well as physical background for their animals.

Of interest to breeders and particularly to trainers are two pamphlets which have recently come to my attention. These are reprints from "Scientific American" and are available for approximately 50c from W. H. Freeman & Co., 660 Market St., San Francisco 4, Calif.

Reprint #423 is called "How to Teach Animals". It shows how simple techniques from the psychological laboratory can be used in teaching animals at home.

The second, and I think more important one, is reprint #469, "Early Environment". We are all familiar with the term "kennel shy" and have probably seen some examples at shows or training classes. Recently attention has been focused on this problem following publication of books based on the work done by Guide Dogs for the Blind and Dr. Paul Scott of the Animal Behavior Laboratory, Hamilton Station, Maine.

The article "Early Environment" describes experiments done with Scottish Terriers. The experiments point to the necessity of a rich, stimulating environment with a variety of experiences and human contacts during a puppy's early months. A dog deprived of these experiences was shown to be a psychological cripple, emotionally and socially retarded. Such a dog lacks personality and the capacity to accept normal experiences. Thus he makes a poor pet.

The conscientious breeder should endeavor to develop an emotionally sound pup just as surely as he provides a balanced diet and labors to eliminate congenital defects from his chosen breed.

DOG PEOPLE ARE WONDERFUL

... Do you appreciate just how much the "dog world" gives to you — oh, I know, it takes an awful lot, but do you really know the people who surround you at dog shows, meetings, etc.? I thought we did, we've met so many wonderful people in this game, but I truly didn't know the meaning of "doggy people" until last month. I hope you never have to find out in the manner that we did just what a grand group they are. If you do, I know there will be someone there to help you out too.

In the middle of October we lost our lovely Welsh bitch Mafon (Ch. Calynyn Mafon, C.D.X.) after a caesarian operation. This tragedy was heightened by the loss of her daughter Brandy (Ch. Wil-Wag's Drop of Brandy, C.D.) just two weeks previous through a kidney disease.

Mafon's death not only left us with a gap in our lives that will never be filled, she also left us with four little orphans that really didn't have a great deal to look forward to in life. We were so stunned that first night and day we simply seemed to be going around in circles — feeding the puppies on this formula and that, but not having any great hope that we could save them — by this time we were both emotionally and physically exhausted.

Luckily, after hearing of our plight, the dog people in this area literally took over. Within hours we had any number of suggestions as to favorite formulae, and even the offer of a Lhasa Apso bitch, who had just weaned her own puppies, from Mrs. M. Carroll, Carroll Kennels. This seemed the solution, as we didn't seem to be making much headway. Lovely, lovely Susie arrived that night and did a marvellous job with the pups for the next two crucial days, but she was miserable with us. Being a kennel dog, life in a home just wasn't Susie's cup of tea.

Just at this time I had a call from a friend who suggested Mrs. Evelyn Garrett, Haus-Chloe Kennels, had a Welsh Corgi bitch who had also just weaned her puppies. I immediately contacted Mrs. Garrett and she, without hesitation offered us Alice. I must mention here that up until this time I had never met either Mrs. Carroll or Mrs. Garrett, but they were both kind enough to entrust valuable bitches into my care ... something not to be taken lightly, I can assure you.

Alice came in here as if she owned us, the house and the puppies. After sizing up the situation and the mess we were in she took over

FROM THE EDITOR

HOW OFTEN have you heard the comment, at this season of the year, "If only the Christmas spirit of goodwill could be maintained throughout the entire year"? It is interesting to speculate on the atmosphere pervading a dog show held during Christmas week. We could expect to see sportsmanship the rule, not the exception; courtesy in abundance; genuine delight in a competitor's triumph; chivalry in flower, not a wilted boutonniere.

But at least we have this one week when the best instincts in man come to the fore and antagonisms are temporarily forgotten. Following this annual period of sweetness, we're faced with the other annual habit of making our New Year's resolutions. With Centennial celebrations ready to explode with the last sheet ripped off our calendar, we have an added motivation to personally contribute to our mutual hobby and sport. Thirteen years' of observation unfortunately confirm the persistent complaint of active club members that too few are expected to give too much too often. A priority resolution could go something like this: "I resolve to volunteer, not wait to be asked, whenever a job has to be done in my club". What a successful Centennial year this would produce in our hobby. Bigger shows, better planned. And who knows, it could be contagious and habit-forming. An obvious resolution is to be a "good sport" not only in thought but in deed. Deeds speak louder than words and there couldn't be a nicer way to guarantee your fellow dog lovers a happy New Year.

And we hope all New Year's resolutions will include a determination to keep news flowing in our direction. This will help us keep our resolution to provide you with a better, bigger magazine.

Happy Centennial Year, and all the rest to come!

Report to Professionals:

THE BIG FAT LIE

The first time you hear it, it seems to make sense:

Dogs love the taste of fat. And fat is essential in a dog's diet. So give them all the fat they want — the more, the better.

Don't you believe it!

The truth is that a dog needs just the right amount of fat. And the right kind.

Fat is a dog's most concentrated source of energy. It's also his source of fatty acids — essential for a glossy coat and healthy skin.

But fat contains over twice as many calories as an equal amount of protein or carbohydrate. Since a dog eats primarily to satisfy his caloric requirements, there is a danger that a high-fat diet may satisfy his requirements before he receives enough of the other vital nutrients.

The recommended minimum fat-level for dry-type dog foods is 5%. All Gaines products (Gaines Meal, Rally and Gravy Train) contain from 5 to 9% fat. This includes the fatty acids that promote a glossy coat and healthy skin.

It's easy to see why professionals insist on Gaines products. Gaines knows their business.

Professionals like yourself can also cut the cost of feeding by joining the Gaines Professional Service Plan. For complete details on the Plan, write to: Gaines Professional Service Centre, Box 4019, Terminal A, Toronto, Ontario.

"It was to be expected," said the Old Timer.

I looked up, startled. To suddenly have the conversation switched from a discussion of the correct temperature for a kennel to something entirely different was not a new experience with the Old Timer, but as usual I was not ready for it. So I stalled, while I got my bearings.

"What was to be expected?" I asked, "the nice days of Indian summer that we had — that the Chinese would develop a nuclear rocket or that the Finance Minister would announce an increase in income taxes?"

The Old Timer chuckled.

"No," he said, "I'm thinking about the storm that's developing over the latest ruling about taking anything else but the dog into the ring. It was to be expected there'd be protests. Next February's annual meeting could be a dandy — generate more bitterness when it's held in Ottawa than the flag debate."

I looked blank.

"New rule?" I asked. "What new rule is that?"

The Old Timer drew out his pipe. He packed it carefully, a bit of tobacco at a time. When he had the tobacco burning to his satisfaction he leaned back in his chair. I knew then I was in for it.

"Do you ever read the minutes of the meeting of the Board of Directors?" he asked.

I told him that I did.

"Did you read the minutes of the last meeting?" he continued.

I admitted I hadn't.

"If you did," said the Old Timer, "You'd know what is going on — you'd know about things that could seriously affect you and your dog in the ring. The new rule I'm talking about will prohibit exhibitors taking anything into the ring with them that is intended to animate the dog. Liver is out. Dog biscuits are out. Squeaky mice are out and balls are verboten. It's going to mean quite a radical change."

"You mean..." I started.

"Exactly what I said," the Old Timer picked me up. "And already the protests are starting. One of the largest specialty clubs has already started circulating a petition. Others, I understand, are going to follow this lead. Several kennel clubs, to my knowledge, have passed resolutions asking that the rule be rescinded. If the feeling snowballs, the next annual meeting should be a lively one."

"Any idea of the thinking behind the rule?" I asked.

"The minutes don't explain it," the Old Timer said, "but I can guess. We all know certain exhibitors have a habit of taking big chunks of liver into the ring. They break off pieces — they throw them around the ring. And when dogs come in for the next class they're distracted. As for the squeaky mice and other noisemakers, they too can create problems for the exhibitors of other dogs who work without them."

"Now I agree that no exhibitor has the right to do anything that will interfere with another exhibitor showing his dog. And an exhibitor who leaves bits of liver lying around a ring certainly interferes with the showing of other dogs in that ring. Ever seen a Beagle, Basset or Cocker handler trying to keep his dog's head up once the dog gets the scent of a tasty bit of baiting material lying in the area where it is being moved? And have you ever watched a handler trying to control a dog that's keyed up or perhaps just interested when somebody is operating with a squeaky toy not two feet away?"

"I see some merit in the rule but I just wonder if it isn't too drastic. I wonder if it doesn't penalize the considerate exhibitor who never throws things around the ring, but who uses a small piece of bait merely to keep his dog on its toes. I wonder if it won't work to the disadvantage of the dog that couldn't care less about being in a show ring and to the advantage of the dog that goes into a ring just asking for it. What about the German Shepherd exhibitors who get their dog on the line and then use a bit of liver to keep the dog interested? And Collie people — a breed where animation is important — may well find the rule hurts them. Terrier people probably will have second thoughts."

"While I can understand the thinking behind the rule, frankly I don't like it. Perhaps five per cent of exhibitors are inconsiderate of others. My guess is that the rule was designed to take care of them. But one hundred per cent of exhibitors will come under it. In my opinion a rule that may well affect one hundred per cent of persons adversely and that arises from only about five per cent whose conduct requires a little discipline is too sweeping. A second look, I'd suggest, is in order here." □ lock, stock and barrel. How many adjectives are there to describe a bitch like this — I could go on for pages — but the ones that sum it up are patient, loving, intelligent and above all dedicated. Not once did we fool Alice into thinking those puppies were her's — she had been sent to do a job, and she intended to do a good one.

Alice left for home tonight, leaving us with four lovely, fat, happy and healthy four week old puppies, and another sort of gap, as well as a great fondness for a breed which up until Alice's coming I literally knew nothing about.

Again let me express my thanks to the many people who came to our aid on that dark day. As for Mrs. Carroll and Mrs. Garrett, there is simply no way to adequately express my thanks, although I think and hope they know how grateful I am. I just hope you people in the Maritimes, in Quebec and in the West never run into a situation such as this, but if you do I hope you're half as lucky as we were in having such concerned "doggy" types surrounding you. And if you see my eye straying from time to time from the Terrier ring to the Working dogs, you'll know who I'm looking for — do go over and give her tummy a rub, she'd love it. She even talks if you know her well enough.

SUPPORTING TATTOOING

Here is a story to add to information supporting the use of tattoos on dogs.

This month a friend of ours called to ask how one would go about trying to prove ownership of a dog. She told us that Mr. and Mrs. James of West Hill had lost a Samoyed dog one and a half years ago and that on this day a similar dog had shown up at their home. They thought it was their own but were puzzled by a tattoo on the dog's flank. Was it really their dog? If so, where did the tattoo come from? They were almost sure it was their dog — it knew the way around the house and had familiar habits, etc. They were somewhat suspicious that the tattoo was recent, however this was not the case. The tattoo letters CRM belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Caterer of Stouffville. They told me that the dog had been sold to a local resident who had since moved. A letter to Ottawa brought a speedy reply. The dog had been resold and its registered owner was contacted.

It seems that these people had lost the dog two years ago. They felt that someone had stolen him or found him wandering. In any case, no effort was made to return him in spite of the tattoo and many lost dog advertisements. The owners had given up all hope and were overjoyed at the news which, as it happened, came on the owner's birthday.

Unfortunately, the James' dog was not tattooed and they had slim hope of finding him even 18 months ago, when he first disappeared. They have, however, had the satisfaction of seeing one family reunited with its lost pet.

PERSONALITY OF DOG FORMED IN PUPPYHOOD

What kind of personality does your dog have? Is he friendly and outgoing or shy and retiring? According to recent research you can blame it all on his puppyhood, states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York.

Heredity plays a major role in the overall temperament of dogs, but the environmental atmosphere of the pup's world during the first eight weeks of his life will decide how the dog gets along in society.

Puppies come into the world blind and deaf. During the first six weeks they develop their physical capacities, and at around four weeks of age they begin to make social contacts with their littermates and the humans who care for them. The best time to take a puppy as a pet is at around 6-10 weeks, to develop a normal emotional bond with humans. If taken

The advertisement, which gave valuable information on the various breeds in their groups, registration papers, obedience training, showing and many other aspects, was prompted by complaints of individuals who had purchased dogs and were asked to pay extra for papers, as well as resentment of high prices for dogs of mixed breeding, states club secretary, Mary Monro, R.R. 1, Thorold, Ont.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS

BY JAKE GIACOMELLI

Speaking of situations or unusual happenings in the obedience ring — how's this for a dandy!!

Recently, while judging at one of Canada's finest Obedience Trials in the Laurentians of Quebec, a most unusual situation occurred.

Picture, if you can, two roped-off obedience rings, butted end to end, and the Utility Class being judged in both rings at the same time. At the end where the two rings met, the one handler stood with her Golden Retriever in the Heel position while she rubbed her scent discrimination article very firmly and determinedly with her hands.

In the meantime, in the adjacent ring I am putting a Doberman and its handler through the Seek Back routine. Finally, after guiding the handler and dog back to the starting point of the Seek Back I give the order "Send your dog!!". I wish you could have seen the ruffled expression on the handler's face as he said "Send my dog after what?!!". I said "What do you mean?!!" — and he in turn said "The other dog has taken my Seek Back article!!".

What had happened was this!! As the Golden was beside his handler while she was rubbing her scent article, he was sitting facing our ring and in a position to observe the dropping of the article by the handler of the Doberman. On my order "Drop it" — the Golden's ears perked up, his eyes sparkled and body trembled with the anticipation of going for this Seek Back article — for once dropped openly in his complete view where he could mark the dropping point perfectly!! In the meantime the other Judge had taken the scent article from his handler and placed it amongst the other 12 in their ring. When the handler gave the Golden its order to get the scent article, lo and behold — her dog does not come around with her, but to her amazement and chagrin shoots straight off under the ropes into my ring, swoops up the Seek Back article in one fast retrieve and brings it directly back to his handler, eyes flashing and tail wagging to beat the band, as if to say, "How's that, mummy, aren't I an especially obedient doggie today?!!".

His handler, "God Bless her", after that fleeting look of "Oh, we goofed again", stooped down and gave her dog a big hug and a kiss and reassured him that he was a most obedient dog, no matter what anybody else thought.

Needless to say, the situation was not without its humor, for those who saw it happen, although feeling sorry for the handler, could not help but laugh to see the eagerness and happy look in the Golden's face when he returned with the article from the other ring — and so quickly, too!!

I am sure this little vignette of obedience will long remain with those of us who were fortunate enough to have seen it.

If you were a Judge, what would you have done if you were judging in the ring the Golden was in? In my ring there was really no problem at all — we merely obtained the Seek Back article from the other ring and did the complete exercise again. Let's get back to the other ring again — what would you do? Fail him for not going to the scent articles where he was supposed to go, or give him another chance to do the exercise over again???

Remember, if you decide to give him another chance or fail him, the following condition must prevail!! (Chapter III, Section 5, on Page 23 of January 1, 1964 Obedience Regulations).

"If a dog has failed in a particular part of an exercise he shall not ordinarily be rejudged nor given a second chance. BUT, if, in the Judge's opinion, the dog's performance was prejudiced by peculiar and unusual conditions, the Judge may, at his own discretion, rejudge the dog on the entire exercise".

Whatever your decision is, you must be able to back it up by the little yellow book, and if you feel sure in your mind you're doing the right thing, then stick by the courage of your convictions — sometimes the correct decision is not an easy one to make.

It is hard to believe a year has gone by so quickly since I was given this golden opportunity to write on my favourite subject and hobby "Obedience". It's been a wonderful year of Obedience, and I've enjoyed every

Ambitious Obedience Club

The Okanagan Valley Obedience Training Club, Vernon, B.C., now has a membership of 20, writes Mrs. Doreen Jones, secretary. Among the canine members are two UD and two CDX dogs. Many of the CD dogs are working toward further degrees.

"At the present time we hold training classes in Vernon and Kelowna. We have held highly successful Sanction shows and mock trials with very pleasing results. Our plans call for a licensed obedience trial in the future".

BREED IMPROVEMENT

Where do we start? There seems to be little argument that we do need breed improvement. Today we have quantity in dogs, but very little quality. Go to any dog show and you will find the quality of the average show dog is mediocre. There is no question this is true and if we, as breeders, judges and dog lovers, do not make an effort to do something to improve the quality of our dogs it will get worse.

Assuming you agree with what I have said so far, and I am quite sure that if you are a breeder of good dogs and sincerely interested in breed improvement, you will.

Where do we start? It is obviously a major problem and will not be resolved in a short period of time. As long as Judges award ribbons to dogs with insufficient quality or merit there will be little improvement. It is an injustice to the owner, and John Public to award ribbons to mediocre dogs.

We all know there are exhibitors capitalizing on the fact they can get ribbons for any poor specimen. John Public, not knowing any different, is misled into believing he is purchasing a quality dog simply because the seller has a few Blue ribbons won by dogs the average breeder would destroy.

It is the opinion of a large majority of dog people that few of our Judges are familiar with and understand the Standard for all the breeds listed and in all fairness to our Judges, most of them will agree this is true. It is imperative that Judges are capable and do know what constitutes a good specimen of the more popular breeds. How many do?

Let's take the German Shepherd Dog breed as an example. There were 2288 German Shepherd Dogs exhibited in 1965, the top entry by 752. Is it not essential that a Judge have a sound knowledge of the Standard for that breed? Yet how often have you and I seen poor specimens of the German Shepherd Dog put up over better dogs. All any exhibitor expects is a fair appraisal of his dog based on a knowledge of his breed.

As I said before, this problem will not be corrected in any short period of time, but a major step will be made to improve our breeds when Judges start to withhold and refuse to award ribbons to dogs with insufficient merit and quality. Judges, please, do not mislead the owner or John Public by awarding ribbons to a poor specimen of any breed.

Comments on the above, Pro and Con, will be appreciated. We need the support of all good breeders and sincere dog people to make any improvement.

Please address all correspondence to G. W. Frost, C.K.C. Chairman for Breed Improvement, 13525 Fort Road, Edmonton, Alta.

This advertisement is sponsored and paid for by a vast number of dog people interested in Breed Improvement.

LONDON CALLING

BY

Stanley Dingerfield

The Kennel Club, you will have to pardon me for not calling it the English Kennel Club, is by any standards a remarkable institution.

Self elected, self perpetuating, autocratic and wielding absolute power, it is in many ways a typical survivor of an earlier aristocratic sporting age when our peers, having decided without the benefit of consultation with us what was good for our souls, insisted that we accept and obey their rulings forthwith and thereafter.

Oddly enough it suited us then, suits us now, and will probably continue to suit us in the future.

It is a typically British arrangement. Definitely not for export!

The big difference between our Kennel Club and others is that the London version is and always has been a purely social club owned and controlled entirely by its 250 odd members.

We — I am fortunate enough to be a member — elect the committee, make the rules, administer discipline, keep the stud books and do all of the other things that are necessary. There is no direct or indirect link with any governmental department, no outside control other than that provided by the normal courts of law in the country.

Let me explain what I mean by 'social club'. It is that its core is a circle of men who enjoy each other's company. Thus there are club rooms, luncheon facilities and of course bars. Members need not be important in dogs or indeed even own one. They merely need to be proposed by one member, seconded by another and elected by the committee whose guiding principle is that the newcomer shall be acceptable socially to the majority.

The rank and file of exhibitors have no rights of entry at all. No power to make changes although this does not mean that their representations are unheeded.

In return, the Club has no real authority to insist upon obedience from the countless thousands who accept its dictates. It cannot force a man to obey its rules because it has no legal authority.

All it can do is say: "If you do not accept our rulings you will not be allowed to take part in any doggy event run under our jurisdiction". Admittedly this is enough. There has not within living memory been any serious attempt to form a break away group.

Perhaps the fact that we could mutiny if we wished prevents us from doing so. I could for example resign and start a rival Kennel Club tomorrow. I assure you I have no intention of doing so!

Perhaps one other thing that has enabled our Kennel Club to rule wisely and well for nearly a century is that it has never been over sensitive to criticism. Just as you may take a soap box into Hyde Park and plot the overthrow of the Government, or indeed the Monarchy, so here you may take your soap box into the pages of the canine press and criticize the Kennel Club.

We have of course a history of speaking up! And we certainly use it in the doggy world. If we think a judge did a rotten job we don't hesitate to write it. It's not even a crime to criticize a dog!

Maybe of course we are only deluding ourselves that we still have the ultimate freedom in free speech. But if it's a mere sop at least it's enough. Moreover letting off steam is more important for us today than ever before. It's the only thing that's not taxed!

We are on the threshold of an experiment. Briefly the compulsory veterinary inspection at the entrance to dog shows ceases on December 31.

For longer than anybody can remember all dogs entering a dog show have been examined by veterinary surgeons. These officials who normally gave their services free were interested principally in distemper and its allied diseases plus skin conditions such as eczema and mange.

When they find one of these conditions they forbid the dog entry. In recent years they have found few cases that warrant exclusion. My own estimate, formed on a knowledge of the results at Crufts, is that about one dog in 500 has been rejected.

The examinations have never been popular. If it is done briskly and efficiently exhibitors, although pleased to get their own dog through quickly, are critical of the cursory examination the other dogs get! If it is thorough and deliberate the queue which forms soon becomes alarming and can throw the whole timetable of the show out of gear. Four thousand dogs at a show here is common. There are often 10 Vets on duty. Even so, if a Vet starts taking temperatures it

NOTICE

From time to time our attention is drawn to the practice of some breeders who, when advertising or otherwise offering dogs for sale, indicate in some way that the purchaser of a dog sold as pure-bred will be required to make a higher, or additional, payment in order to be furnished with a certificate of registration. Such persons should note that the price at which a dog is sold, or the purpose for which a dog was purchased, has no bearing whatever on the obligation of the seller to supply the purchaser with a certificate of registration issued by The Canadian Kennel Club for a dog sold as pure-bred.

The Live Stock Pedigree Act, a federal statute, requires that when a person sells a dog as pure-bred, or contracts to sell a dog as pure-bred, he must furnish, or agree to furnish, a certificate of registration, together with fully-recorded transfer of ownership to the buyer.

Article XXXI, Section 3 of the By-laws of The Canadian Kennel Club reads as follows:

"A member may be suspended or expelled, or a non-member deprived of the privileges of the Club, if it is proven to the satisfaction of the Board that when selling, or otherwise disposing of a dog for a consideration (monetary or otherwise), the person disposing of the dog has asked or required the new owner to make any form of payment specifically for the purpose of being furnished with a certificate or registration."

To avoid possible prosecution under the Live Stock Pedigree Act and/or possible disciplinary action by The Canadian Kennel Club, members and others engaged in the selling of dogs as pure-bred are cautioned to refrain from the practice of quoting two selling prices for the dogs, one "with papers", the other "without papers", or to in any other way indicate that an additional payment is required for a certificate of registration.

This notice is published by an order of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club.

takes a mighty long time to pass 400 dogs.

Needless to say, here as elsewhere, all exhibitors arrive together and at the last possible moment!

Recently the age old problem of reconciling different points of view was taken out of our hands by the veterinary profession. In short they demanded payment. The suggested scale was around $12 per Vet an hour. The big shows were dismayed. Cruft's for example uses about 17 Vets and therefore faced minimum bills of around $1,000 a day.

Clearly compulsory vetting had to go and the Kennel Club quickly amended its rules. From the first of January therefore, while a show will still be required to have one or more Vets on duty all day they will not have to have the large numbers available which are necessary to examine all dogs.

Now the question is, has the comparative scarcity of sick dogs at shows been a reflection of less disease or the owner's acceptance of the fact that it was not worth attempting to enter with doubtful dogs?

Only time will provide the answer. ☐

Superswellegant!

This describes the Hamilton Obedience Club trials at Grimsby, October 15-16. Super-management of the trials; swell people from near and far and marvellous hosts and hostesses; elegant surroundings.

Unfortunately the weatherman did not cooperate but even though it rained, happy faces were all around. It was truly a sporting event, which started with a get-together courtesy of the club. There were no strangers for long, as the hosting members did a wonderful job.

The evening of the first two trials ended in a dinner at which excellent trophies were presented. Dancing followed and there were few wall flowers. Hamiltonians saw to that!

Sunday was rainy and overcast but the grins dispelled any gloom. The Americans were well in evidence. Hamilton is planning a bigger trial next year. Let's support it. I know from personal experience it is one of the best trials I have ever attended.

UMANELY SPEAKING

BY TOM HUGHES

The other day I saw a Cocker Spaniel whose owner had obviously decided that he or she preferred the dog with a full tail. Quite by accident, a few days later I saw a Boxer with natural ears.

Just to prove that everything happens in three's, I had a call from a lady who had "adopted" a stray cat and wanted my advice as to whether or not she should have the cat's claws removed to protect the furniture!

These three unrelated incidents, coming so closely together, made me think very carefully about the philosophy behind altering animals in a variety of ways.

I appreciate perfectly well that originally animals were altered simply to enable the animal to perform some function more efficiently than would otherwise have been possible.

I suppose that the most graphic example is the practice of cropping the ears of dogs used for pit fighting or other forms of dog fights. In this enlightened day we don't allow dogs to rip each other to pieces for the amusement or profit of their owners, but we still continue the practice that this barbaric sport made desirable or even necessary.

The only reason why animals' ears are cropped and the animal defaced is purely a matter of fashion. Fashions can change very quickly and it is true to say that in other countries where cropping is prohibited, or has been discontinued, the natural appearance of the animal quickly becomes as fashionable as the cropped version was at one time.

Similarly, dogs' tails were docked for a practical reason. A good example is the Cocker Spaniel whose merry tail action in thick cover, gorse and thorns causes the animal a great deal of unnecessary suffering. To avoid this the tail was docked and this is now the accepted fashion. But I would guarantee that not one in a thousand Spaniels needs this protection any more.

Another completely different example of tailoring an animal to suit the owner's circumstances is the relatively new practice of de-barking a dog. This practice, which is not entirely approved by the veterinary profession, is only followed to avoid inconvenience to the dog's owner or the neighbors. I know that many veterinarians refuse to de-bark dogs. A dog can be partially de-barked in such a way that the dog still has the capacity to bark but makes very little noise.

Another example is the practice of de-clawing an animal, such as a cat. I can't think of any more unnatural condition for an animal. A de-clawed cat is completely defenceless, even incapable of normal flight. Let's face it, when a dog chases a cat, the cat goes up a tree — no claws — no escape.

Horses, too, suffer from the dictates of fashion. The docking of tails is carried on without the least justification or excuse. Setting tails, which is the practice of breaking the tail and resetting it at an unnaturally high angle, is a practice still encouraged by those people who exhibit American saddle-bred horses. The Tennessee walking horse is induced to walk with a peculiar and unnatural gait by a variety of devices, all of which make the horse's feet so tender and sore that the animal will suffer pain whenever the foot touches the ground. This produces a very exaggerated action.

The list is endless and I could go on and on with other examples of how animals are altered, often by surgery, to suit the whims and fashions and ideas of mankind.

I wonder how long we will go on accepting these fashions. Surely we should be content to breed the best possible animal in the form that they are born.

I realize perfectly well that the traditionalist will be horrified at my suggestion. After all, most people who take an active interest in animals are, by their very nature, conservative. In fact, much of their energy and effort is put into maintaining a way of life which is a relic of the past. I wonder, for example, how many of the ladies who own and so admire Boston Bull Terriers would react to a fight between two of these dogs — fighting to the bitter end and probably dying in a welter of blood and torn flesh.

But at least some of the dictates of fashion can be achieved with relatively little, if any, physical suffering to the animal. A dog's tail can be docked with a minute amount of pain, and obviously the dog never misses its "wagger".

I am satisfied that dogs whose ears are cropped suffer little pain, except possibly in the post-operative stage. But how can we possibly justify debarking a dog, de-clawing a cat, or setting the tail of a horse?

It's about time that all of these practices were discontinued. This will only happen if legislation is passed prohibiting the practices entirely.

There is a good chance that some of the horse abuses will come to an end this year, or next, at the latest. Surely the time has come for all responsible, humane, dog breeders to really examine some of the current practices involving dogs to see if they can't be either softened or dropped altogether by general agreement without waiting for legislation.

After a very short period of time we would come to admire the long-tailed Spaniel and Pointer, and the natural-eared Dane, Boxer, etc.

It wouldn't be long before we would look back to the old days and wonder why we ever bothered to "crop" and "dock".

7 BOOSTER SHOWS ALREADY CONFIRMED

Ottawa – "Where The Exhibitor Is Top Dog"

Iowa State University College of Veterinary Medicine.

Nephritis, the disease being investigated, is an inflammatory disease of the kidneys, and many veterinarians believe that nearly every dog over 10 years of age has it. Nephritis causes increased thirst, increased urination, loss of weight, dehydration, digestive upset, nervousness and, if untreated, causes death by breaking down functional parts of the kidney.

Peter J. DeBaecke, a veterinary student at Iowa State, is working under the supervision of Dr. Robert Duncan, Associate Professor of Veterinary Pathology, to track down the unknown cause of nephritis. DeBaecke believes that the root of the disease may lie in a malfunction of the blood-forming tissues which, in turn, release toxic waste materials into the blood in excess of what the kidneys are able to filter out.

In the first year of research, DeBaecke performed extensive laboratory tests on blood and urine samples from dogs known to have high blood toxicity, but the results were inconclusive. He has developed a new technique in the study of this condition which shows promise in finding the correlation between the malfunction of blood-forming tissues and high toxic content of the blood.

DeBaecke's work is sponsored by the Morris Animal Foundation. If successful, it could lead the way to the development of a treatment for the disease.

Handsome New Cat Chart

As an appropriate companion piece to the popular "Gaines Guide to America's Dogs" the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York, has made available an authoritative and handsomely designed new chart entitled "Gaines Guide to America's Cats." Believed to be the only cat chart of its type in existence, the striking piece is printed on glossy paper and measures 30" x 23". Fifteen cats are pictured in beautiful color by the well-known illustrator and animal artist, Scott Johnston. A description of the breed, based on the standards of the National Cat Fanciers is printed under each portrait.

Canadians Score at Bermuda

Six Group Firsts and one Best in Show make Canadian presence felt

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

THE Bermuda Kennel Club is an example to most dog clubs in Canada and the United States for its enthusiastic, hard-working members who really get behind their club activities and make them run smoothly. Over 50 members were actually involved at the shows during the four days. I talked to three of the executive, each of whom confessed to spending over 600 hours of work on the November 1966 shows. Each member of the club seems to be particularly interested in producing a show which is a success and that every visiting exhibitor enjoys his or her self at all times and leaves Bermuda as a booster, not only of the show, but of the island. No service club, Chamber of Commerce or tourist bureau could possibly match this club in enthusiasm and well-directed effort. This is without doubt my most firmly etched memory of the Bermuda 1966 shows.

Four shows, four different Best in Show judges, produced four different Best in Show winners. One was the Canadian-owned Miniature Poodle, Int. Ch. Tophill Orsino, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Osborne of Vancouver, B.C., handled in the Groups by Mr. Osborne and for Best in Show by Pat Tripp. This same dog had one other Group 1st and one Group 2nd. The Best Puppy in Show award went to four different puppies, one the Canadian owned and bred Poodhall Arielle. This same puppy also had three other Best Puppy in Group wins, bred and owned by Poodhall Kennels of Caistor Centre, Ont.

Other Canadian dogs which took Group 1sts were the Boxer, Int. Ch. Gaymiz Jet Action, owned by George Fevgas of Toronto; the German Shepherd, Int. Ch. Donami's Frigga CD., bred and owned by Mr. and Mrs. John C. Logan of Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont.; the Samoyed, Ch. Kombos Silver Ruff, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews of Richmond, B.C.; and the Miniature Pinscher, Int. Ch. Airplane's Lucky Lady, owned by Mrs. W. Wartnow of North Surrey, B.C. Canadian dogs had so many group placements that it is not practical to mention other than 1st place winners.

There were a few Canadian bred dogs, owned outside Canada, at this show. The English Setter, now U.S.A.-owned but Canadian bred, Am. Ch. Best Friend's Prize Possession, bred by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Treble, won the Sporting Group on the first day. This was the only Canadian dog in the group. Can it be that all our dogs were busy hunting in November and had no time to go to Bermuda, or what was the reason?

Obedience exhibitor Olive Tyner of Senneville, Que., with the Standard Poodle, O.T. Ch. Petit-Cote Jubilant Judy, Can. & Am. U.D.T., in open B, had a total score of 793 points for four trials, but was beaten out for the top score by a Miniature Poodle from Michigan with a total of 796½ points. There were three other Canadian dogs entered in Obedience, two of which qualified, one with a CD, another with a CDX. The CDX dog also obtained his first leg on his U.D. at the post entry trial which was held on the Sunday following the four shows. This is one way of making certain that his handler had an excuse to come back to Bermuda for the 1967 shows and trials.

Of a total panel of 15 judges, three were Canadians. Mr. Robert Waters of North Surrey, B.C. judged groups at three shows and Best in Show at one; Mr. Hans Brunotte of Caistor Centre, Ont. judged the Terrier group at one show; Mr. Jake Giacomelli of Stoney Creek, Ont. was an Obedience judge at all four trials. The incomparable Jake, whose enthusiasm appears to be absolutely inexhaustible, also showed a training film on the Wednesday evening for the obedience exhibitors and spent most of Saturday afternoon, after his judging assignments had been completed, holding an informal clinic for Bermuda obedience enthusiasts. This was a purely spontaneous effort, which is typical of his generous spirit.

As usual, the entertainment provided for exhibitors and visitors was wonderful. It commenced with an opening cocktail party at the Inverurie Hotel on the Monday evening before the shows, continued during the week with cocktail parties to which all exhibitors were invited at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Erik Holmberg and Mr. and Mrs. James Hadley. Friday was a free day, and several members of the Bermuda Kennel Club and their friends made their yachts available for a day on the glorious waters of Bermuda. Eighty-three people took advantage of this trip and all appeared to have had a wonderful time. Some enthusiasts went fishing. Mr. John McGhee of Hamilton caught one fish which weighed eight times as much as his dog, and I rather suspect that the weight of Mr. McGhee's total catch was greater than the weight of Mr. McGhee.

The very successful week was marred by two unfortunate accidents. The Norwegian Elkhound, Am. Ch. Crafdal Trygs Trynka, was killed when she fell down a 20 foot hole concealed in the grass. Trynka was owned by Mrs. Glenna Crafts who is a frequent and well-known exhibitor in Canadian shows. The Basenji, Int. Ch. Hadrian of Basenlake, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John C. Logan of Niagara-on-the-Lake, became lost when a maid unfortunately left the door of the cottage open, and Hadrian took off into the bush and was not recovered for 48 hours. This dog was on the cover of Dogs in Canada in August of this year. Had he been present at the Saturday show, he would have become a four way champion, Eng., Can., Am. & Bda., as he had an almost certain two points at this show.

It is impossible to mention all the Canadians present, and all the dogs which won. It was interesting to see Obedience enthusiasts present without dogs to cheer for members of the Hamilton and Oakville clubs. The Canadian handlers, Pat Tripp and Ford Flechar, each had group wins and both finished champions for their clients. Many of the U.S. exhibitors present in Bermuda are well-known faces in Canada. This was particularly true of the Obedience exhibitors. So many of the members of the Bermuda Kennel Club were extremely active that none can be singled out for praise. One Bermudian who was

KNOW YOUR CLUB

SECOND IN A SERIES of articles, prepared jointly by The Canadian Kennel Club and the editors of Dogs in Canada, for the purpose of better acquainting our readers with various facets of the club's operations and responsibilities. In the first article we traced the beginnings of the "Canadian National Live Stock Records" and in this and subsequent articles we will continue to provide you with pertinent facts about an institution whose value to the world of live stock is recognized throughout the world.

THE breeder submits an application for registration to the Live Stock Records office, and in due course, he receives a certificate of registration. Between these two simple developments, much has to be done at the Records Office. If the full extent of the time and labor involved of maintaining registration records has not been fully appreciated and understood, perhaps that is attributable to a large extent in our not providing breeders with some understanding of just what is involved, and it is for that reason, that this series of articles on the Canadian National Live Stock Records is being published.

Contrary to popular belief, the Canadian National Live Stock Records or Records Office is not a Branch or Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture. It is a non profit organization provided for under the Live Stock Pedigree Act to handle the issuance of certificates of registration, record transfers of ownership and collect membership fees and all charges as set for in the constitutions of the various pure bred Breed Organizations which affiliate to form the Canadian National Live Stock Records.

The management of the Canadian National Live Stock Records is in the hands of a seven man Committee elected annually at a Record Board meeting from the representatives named by the affiliated Breed Associations. Representation to the Record Board is based on the number of members of the affiliated Breed Association. Each affiliated Association is limited to five representatives regardless of the number of members the affiliated Breed Association has.

In this second of the series of articles on the Live Stock Records office, we shall endeavor to describe the procedures that must be followed on various items of work handled for the Kennel Club.

Regardless of where a registration office is maintained and what breed or species it registers, the procedures followed must necessarily involve accounting records, the checking of the applications received, the preparation, checking and issuance of certificates, and the maintenance of files and records upon which registrations are based. While all items of work handled for the Kennel Club do not require the attention of all departments at the Records office, it would be wise at the very outset to itemize the five main departments in the Records Office system. These are: Accounting Department, Registrar's Department, Typing and Checking Department, Office of the Chief Registrar Officer of the Department of Agriculture and his staff, and the Mailing Department.

ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENT

Mail reaching the Records Office is taken direct to the Accounting Department where it is opened by a bonded staff. All remittances are listed in a daily cash book and all funds received in connection with dogs are deposited daily to the credit of The Canadian Kennel Club in an account upon which only the Kennel Club may draw. It should be noted that once deposited, all funds are beyond the control of the Records Office. Occasionally, remittances are returned direct to applicants, but that seldom occurs.

After the remittances have been posted and removed from the applications or correspondence with which they were received, the applications received from eight different people are segregated and are placed into a separate voucher file. By a numbering machine, the voucher file and all items in the file are numbered (all bearing the same voucher file number), so that if any application is removed from the file during the processing of the work, or is required in connection with special correspondence, it may later be returned to its proper file. On certificates that voucher file number will be found following the typist's initials. The voucher file number is very often cited in correspondence, and breeders and others having occasion to deal with the Live Stock Records office in connection with letters and certificates should, wherever possible, refer to the voucher file number concerned.

On each voucher file there is written the names and addresses of each of the eight applicants whose applications are in the file, and the amount and nature of each remittance received from each applicant. Before the voucher file leaves the Accounting Department, a note is made on the file as to whether or not any applicant has a credit balance other than the fees which he submitted with the applications in the file. On this same voucher file there is a printed form for the Registrar to mark in the number of completed applications for registration, transfer, etc., and this information is set out in such a way that the keeping of statistics by provinces is possible in the Accounting Department after the work in the file has been completely processed.

In the Accounting Department there is a separate account, on cards filed alphabetically by surname, for every breeder or owner who has remitted fees to the Live Stock Records office. Before the voucher file leaves the Accounting Department, note is made on the applicant's individual card of the remittance received, and this notation includes the date of receipt of the remittance, the nature of the remittance (whether cheque, money order, etc.) the amount of the remittance, and the number of the voucher file on which that remittance is also recorded.

The recording of each remittance received represents a "credit" in the account until any item of work has been completed for that person, and then the fee payable for that work is entered against the account, thus removing the credit entirely or leaving a credit balance for the applicant's future use.

This system of accounting makes it possible for the Records Office to readily list all remittance received from any applicant, and to trace all the items of work charged against that person's account over a period of several years.

REGISTRAR'S DEPARTMENT

After the initial accounting procedures are carried through, the voucher file and its contents are then turned over to the Kennel Club section of the Records Office. Depending upon the item of work to be handled, various steps are followed by the Registrar before the work in the voucher file is completed or turned over to the next Department concerned with its further processing. For the purpose of this explanation, we shall refer some of these items and describe how they are handled.

Applications for Membership — When an application for membership is received, the Registrar places a temporary note in the membership records indicating that the application has been received and notes the date on which he forwards the application to the Secretary of the Kennel Club for the consideration of the Board of Directors. Until the application, approved, is returned to his desk, any application submitted at membership rates are held in abeyance. Once the approved application for membership is returned to him, then such applications are released for further attention.

Membership records show all renewals of membership and changes of address of which the Records Office is notified in various ways. The necessity for such records should be obvious because of the difference in fees which the Registrar will assess according to whether each applicant is a member of the Club or not.

When an application for membership is received, a duplicate receipt is typed, one copy is placed in the voucher file, and the other copy is attached to the application when it is forwarded to the Secretary at Toronto.

When membership is renewed, a duplicate receipt is typed, one copy going in the voucher file and the other copy is forwarded to the Club's Toronto office so that a membership card can be issued and note made of the renewal in the membership records maintained at the Toronto office of the Club.

Application for registration of tattoo letters — Three steps are taken when the Registrar receives an application for registration of tattoo letters. First, he will refer to his complete records (filed alphabetically by tattoo letter combinations already registered) and will allot letters not previously registered. If the applicant has specified a particular combination of letters that he wishes to register, the Registrar will determine whether that particular combination is still available, and providing the combination does not conflict with the policies followed in connection with tattoo markings, he will allot that particular combination. As a combination of letters is allotted, note is made in that file of the name and address of the person to whom the letters are allotted and the date on which the letters were allotted.

Then a separate card is made showing the name and address (and letters allotted) of the person to whom letters have been allotted, and this card is filed alphabetically under the name of the person registering the letters. A card is then prepared and mailed to the applicant showing the letters allotted to him. When that particular breeder registers dogs with tattoo markings the Registrar notes such registrations (registration number assigned to dog is placed on the card opposite the tattoo combination placed on the dog as shown on the application) on the card. In this way, the Registrar can prevent the registration of two dogs having identical tattoo markings.

It will, therefore, be seen that with the foregoing records available to him, the Registrar can, within a matter of seconds, determine whether any particular combination of tattoo letters has been allotted, what combination has been allotted to any particular breeder, whether any registered dog has been previously tattoo marked with identical tattoo markings to those placed on a dog for which an application for registration has been submitted, and can readily remove from the records the file on any particular registered dog when he is informed of the tattoo markings placed on that dog.

Litter Applications — Before the Registrar examines an application for registration of litter, the office record for the dam of the litter is removed from the files as is also the record for the sire if the sire is owned in Canada. With these records before him, the Registrar checks to see that the breed name is properly set out on the application, checks the date of birth of the litter to see that it follows within a reasonable time after the last recorded litter (if any) whelped by the same female. The date of birth of the litter must, when checked against the date of mating shown on the application, allow for a reasonably accurate gestation period.

The name of the breeder of the litter (owner or lessee of the dam at time of mating), and the name of the person owning the litter at birth must correspond with the ownership (or lease) on record for the female. The ownership of the sire, as indicated by the signature appearing on the application, must correspond with the record of ownership for the sire. The Registrar checks to see that the name of the sire, his registration number, the name of the dam and her registration number are properly set out on the application. Wherever possible, the signatures are checked against previous records, and if either dog is owned by a partnership, the Registrar must see to it that the application has been signed by that particular part of the partnership authorized to sign on behalf of the partnership.

The Registrar checks the age of the dam as shown on her record, for if the dam is under six months' of age or over 12 years of age at the time of mating, the application must be accompanied by an affidavit or evidence to prove the facts, satisfactory to the Records Office, of the information set out in the application.

If the sire of the litter is owned in the United States, the Registrar must see to it that the application indicates that the ownership of the stud dog at the time of mating has been certified to by the American Kennel Club. In such cases, he must also arrange to obtain from the American Kennel Club sufficient ancestry record of the sire so that when individual puppies from the litter are registered, that information will be available for the individual certificates of registration.

If the stud dog is owned in any country other than the United States or Canada, the application must be accompanied by the official pedigree for the sire which is reviewed by the Registrar.

When all of the foregoing checking has been completed and the application is found to be in order, the Registrar will then assign a litter number and post, on the reverse side of the individual record for the dam of the litter, the date of birth of the litter, the name of the sire and his registration number and the number of males and females in the litter.

On the back of the record for the sire, he will indicate the name and registration number of the dam of the litter and the date of the mating that produced the litter. The records for sire and dam are then returned to the files and the application is passed to the Typing Department.

Application for Registration of Individual Dog — Before the Registrar examines an application for registration of an individual dog out of a litter registered in the records of the Club, the records for the sire and dam of the litter are removed from the files and placed before him with the application. In the case of individual dogs out of litters eligible for registration in the records of The Canadian Kennel Club, the Registrar first checks to see whether the litter has been registered in the records of the Club. If not, the Registrar cannot proceed with the registration of individual dogs in the litter until the litter is registered, and the breeder is so advised. In checking the application, he must see that the breed name is properly set out on the application.

When a dog out of a registered litter is registered individually, a note is made on the back of the record of the dam of the litter of the name, registration number and sex of each registered puppy in the litter, so that at all times the Registrar is in a position to see that no more than the number of males and females in the litter (reported when the litter was registered) are registered individually. Obviously then, if a record of a litter shows that there were three males in the litter and three males are registered individually, any application for registration of another male said to be from that litter will be subject to investigation. In each case, it is therefore necessary for the Registrar to ascertain whether or not the maximum number of males or females in that litter have been registered individually before he passes a further application for registration of a dog said to be out of that litter.

In connection with the name of a dog, the Registrar checks to ascertain that the length of the name shown on the application does not exceed 30 letter spaces (including the spaces between the words). Every complete part of the name of a dog shown on the application is checked against the list of registered kennel names to see whether or not the applicant is using any word which represents a kennel name registered by another breeder. If, for example, the name shown on the application constitutes three different words, then all three words must be checked against the file of registered kennel names.

The Registrar must see to it that the name given on the application does not violate the By-law of the Club prohibiting the use of names of members of the Royal Family and national leaders. A check is also made

Hip Dysplasia and a kennel club scheme which is working

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

In North America we talk about hip dysplasia. Some breeders view it with alarm, some hope it will go away. Nothing concrete has been done by either The American Kennel Club or The Canadian Kennel Club. In contrast, The Kennel Club (England) and the British Veterinary Association have a program which has now been accepted by the breeders to the point where there is no vocal opposition to it, and some are using it. This is a vast contrast to the situation in North America.

The first point to be noted about the English scheme is that it is a joint project between The Kennel Club and B.V.A. This cooperation between these two bodies was not achieved overnight. Some readers will recall the disturbance created a few years ago when a panel from the B.V.A. appeared on B.B.C. television on the Saturday evening before Crufts, to castigate the British dog fancy for their failure to cope with the problems created by several diseases, all of which were suspected to be hereditary. The timing of this program, immediately before Crufts, really shook the British dog fancy. There was a great deal of criticism of the B.V.A. for doing such a thing on the eve of the prestige show in the country. Looking back, it now appears as if the timing could not have been better. The outcry raised prompted The Kennel Club to discuss the problem, and as a result a joint committee of The Kennel Club and the B.V.A. was established to discuss the whole matter. From this joint committee emerged a report commenting on hip dysplasia, entropion and progressive retinal atrophy or night blindness. Out of this joint report emerged the hip dysplasia scheme which has now been working long enough to justify a description of it in action.

A breeder or owner wishing to have a dog certified to be free of H.D. under The Kennel Club scheme applies to The Kennel Club for a set of forms for a specific dog and pays to The Kennel Club the fee for the examination and the approval or not of the dog. The Kennel Club issues the forms and notes on the dog's record card the fact that forms have been issued and the date. The breeder takes the dog and forms to his own veterinarian, who x-rays the dog according to the rigid procedure laid down by the B.V.A. to its members. This procedure covers the positioning of the dog on the table for the x-ray examination and the identification of the plates. The veterinarian sends the forms and the plates to the secretary of the B.V.A. He, in turn, sends the plates and forms to one of a panel of specialists for diagnosis. You will note that this interposes a neutral person between the breeder's veterinarian and the specialist who is examining the plates. The specialist to whom the plates have been referred may ask for an additional opinion or opinions from other members of the panel of specialists, if he is not satisfied with his own diagnosis. If the diagnosis is that the dog is hip dysplasia free, the specialist endorses the forms to this effect and returns them to the B.V.A., and thence to the veterinarian who passes them on to the breeder or owner. The owner then has the responsibility of returning the completed form to The Kennel Club.

This rather complicated sequence of passing forms and plates from one party to another not only achieves the neutrality of the opinion, but it also leaves the responsibility for following up on the paper work to the owner or breeder, the party most concerned. The breeder is, however, barred from direct contact with the specialist analyzing the plates, and if there should be any delay in the return of the forms, the last known party to whom he can complain about the delay is the secretary of the B.V.A. This may be an unenviable position into which this long-suffering individual has been thrust. However, it prevents any possibility of interference by the breeder with the person making the diagnosis.

The Kennel Club, after receiving the completed forms, issues a certificate to the breeder or owner that the dog has been examined under the provisions of the scheme and is H.D. free. From time to time, a list of dogs who have been certified H.D. free is published in the Kennel Gazette. If the diagnosis is positive (ie. the dog is suspected of having H.D.) the forms are returned through the same channels as above, at least as far as the breeder or owner, without endorsement. The Kennel Club waits three months for the return of the forms, and if they are not returned within that time The Kennel Club makes a note on the dog's record card that forms have been issued and not returned. The significant feature of this procedure is that no one signs anything to the effect that the dog is suffering from H.D., if the diagnosis is to that effect. This presumably was designed to protect all concerned from any damage suits in the event that a second or third opinion might be that the dog is in fact H.D. free. We all know that this is a difficult diagnosis, about which no one can be dogmatic, and this seems to be a reasonable precaution.

When in England late in 1965, I had the opportunity of observing an actual example of the scheme at work. "A" bred her bitch to a stud owned by "B". Puppies from this litter were diagnosed as suffering from H.D. "A" was understandably upset and endeavored to place the blame on "B's" stud dog. "B," who is a character in her own right, and very capable of speaking her mind, immediately said that her stud dog was H.D. free. "A" countered by saying, if this is the case, why has the stud not been certified under the scheme. "B" replied that she would only have her dog done if the sire of the dam was also done. The sire of the dam was owned by "C," who lived many miles away and who, up to this point, was completely unaware of the altercation between "A" and "B". "C," however, rose to the occasion and had her stud dog done under the scheme. This of course forced "B's" hand, and "B" also had her dog processed under the scheme. Both dogs were found to be H.D. free. This may be a little how do you rate this possible new Championship Point System?

The present system under which dogs may attain championship status came into effect in 1934 although, of course, in the intervening years there have been a considerable number of changes in the ratings as they apply to the different breeds in different zones. As a system, it was far superior to the system which was in effect prior to 1934 but there has been some criticism of it, and for that reason the Dog Show Council, acting on an instruction of the Board of Directors, has given consideration to a possible new system.

AT the semi-annual meeting of the Board of Directors in July the Council submitted a new proposed method of allocating championship points and, on the Board's instruction, this article is published. It should be clearly understood that at this point the Board has not reached any decision on whether or not the voting members of the Club should be given the opportunity of voting on a proposed amendment which would bring the system into being. At this stage it merely feels that those interested should be acquainted with the details of the proposal and be given an opportunity of submitting their comments and suggestions for the consideration of the Board of Directors.

Before proceeding to outline the Council's proposal, we might look at a few weaknesses in the present system. First and foremost is the fact that there is a wide variation in the different breeds between the number of dogs which attain championship status and the total number of dogs actually entered and competing at shows. For example, in some breeds one dog in 40 might attain championship status while in other breeds the figure might be as low as one in ten. Strangely, it is in the very popular breeds that a lower percentage of dogs attain championship status.

Let us look at another point considered by the Council. At a given championship show with a breed with a minimum rating, four males are in class competition and four females are in class competition. Each of the two Winners would be credited with three championship points, but the dog earning Best of Winners would remain at three points. At another show in the same breed there are eight dogs in competition, all of one sex, so that the Winners would be credited with five championship points, yet the fact is that the dog which earned Best of Winners in the first case defeated just as many dogs in total as the dog which defeated specimens of the same sex at the second show.

It is also found that in many cases dogs which placed in group competition earned fewer points than other dogs in other breeds meeting and defeating far fewer dogs. For example, a dog might place second in a group and directly or indirectly defeat 40 dogs, yet if he earned but one point in his own breed he would remain at one point, while in another group a dog in a breed with a minimum rating might earn as many as five points defeating but seven dogs.

PROPOSED NEW SYSTEM

In its efforts to devise a system which would attempt to equalize the number of championships completed in a breed in relation to the total number of dogs competing in the breed at different shows within the calendar year, the Dog Show Council concluded that the most likely arrangement which would bring this into being would be a system calling for a single schedule of point ratings applicable to all breeds and all zones and that such a system should bear in mind the total number of dogs, regardless of sex or breed, directly or indirectly defeated by a dog obtaining one or more of the following awards: Winners, Best of Winners, Best of Breed, a regular group placement, and Best in Show.

For the moment the Council proposes a schedule as follows:

Dogs defeated	Points
1	1
3	2
7	3
13	4

It should be noted that the scale is applied to "dogs defeated" and in the computation of points the dog for whom championship points is being allocated does not count.

Let us take an example of just how this scale would apply. Miss Belle Hightower enters her Boston Terrier DING-DONG OF CARILLON in the Open Male Class at a championship show. On going to the show Miss Hightower finds that hers is the only male Boston entered in class competition. The catalogue also reveals that there is one female Boston entered in class competition and that there are two Bostons (one a male, one a female) entered for "Specials Only". In the course of the judging of the breed DING-DONG is awarded Winners, but because he was the only male in class competition he will not be credited with any championship points for that particular award. He, however, is awarded Best of Winners and having defeated the female awarded Winners, he now is credited with one championship point because he has defeated a dog. As judging proceeded, DING-DONG was awarded Best of Breed, and in so doing defeated the two "Specials Only" dogs, so up to this point he has defeated a total of three dogs and therefore his points for the show are increased from one to two points. As the show progressed DING-DONG was placed fourth in the Non-Sporting Group. To determine his rating for that award we add the three Boston Terriers defeated in the breed to all the dogs in the breeds that were not placed in the Non-Sporting Group, and we find that these represented a total of 22 dogs defeated directly or indirectly by DING-DONG, and his rating for the show now becomes five points.

Let us suppose that at that particular show a Bulldog had been placed first in the Non-Sporting Group and DING-DONG had been placed second. To have determined the total number of dogs defeated by DING-DONG we would have added all the dogs in the breeds in the group and deducted the number of Bulldogs competing, plus one dog (DING-DONG), to determine the total number of dogs directly or indirectly defeated by DING-DONG in placing second in the group. The total would then be applied to the scale set forth above and the rating would naturally follow.

Under this system it is clear that if there are the required number of dogs in competition it is quite possible that all four dogs placing in the group might be credited with five championship points.

Initially we should point out that only if a dog is awarded Winners will it be credited with any championship points at the show. It is not proposed that the number of total championship points (at present 10) be altered. The dog must receive three different Winners awards under three different judges. It will be noted that only if a dog defeats at least one dog at a show will the dog be credited with any points, but since the awards of Best of Winners, Best of Breed, a group placement, and Best in Show are now awards to be considered in determining dogs defeated, it is felt that this is a better arrangement than maintaining the present division on the basis of sex.

Let us take a look at just how this proposed arrangement would have altered some actual cases. At the Victoria City Kennel Club show held on March 12, 1966, a Bulldog (2nd in Group) directly or indirectly defeated 21 dogs and was credited with three championship points under the present system. At the same show a Miniature Poodle defeated ten dogs and was also credited with three points. Under the proposed system as outlined above, the Bulldog would have been credited with five points and the Miniature Poodle with three points.

At the Edmonton Kennel Club championship show held on March 13, 1966 a Lhasa Apso (3rd in Group) defeated directly or indirectly, ten dogs, and yet was credited with but one championship point, yet at the same championship show a Scottish Terrier with no competition was also credited with one championship point. Under the proposed system the Lhasa Apso would have been credited with three points and the Scottish Terrier with none.

At the Ottawa Kennel Club championship show held on May 6, 1966 a Miniature Smooth Dachshund (4th in Group) defeated, directly or indirectly, a total of 19 dogs, and yet was credited with but one championship point. At the same show a Basenji defeated two dogs and was credited with two points. Under the proposed system the Miniature Smooth Dachshund would have been credited with five points and the Basenji with but one point.

At the Halifax Kennel Club show held on July 3, 1965 a Newfoundland (4th in the Group) defeated a total of 14 dogs, directly or indirectly, and was credited with one point, yet at the same championship show a Doberman Pinscher, having defeated four dogs, was credited with two points. Under the proposed system the Newfoundland would have been credited with four points, and the Doberman Pinscher would have remained at two points.

We reiterate that at this point this proposed system has not been endorsed by the Board. It will be considered by the Board of Directors at its annual meeting next February, but in the meantime the Board is anxious to obtain the views of all those who have reason to be interested, including exhibitors and show-giving clubs. All comments should be addressed so as to be received by the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club by January 2, 1967. When writing the Secretary, please refer to file #11 D 34. □ length of reach and follow through will be reduced when the angle is reduced.

Illustration B (broken line) shows the shoulder placed on the body or ribcage at an angle of approximately 30° with the tip naturally further forward. The angle at the shoulder joint remains about 90°. Therefore, if the perpendicular or line of balance is to fall just back of the paw, it will produce:

1. An angle of approximately 95° at the elbow joint.
2. The elbow joint will fall back of the perpendicular line.
3. At times the paw may be ahead of the perpendicular line to achieve balance giving the illusion that the dog is down in pastern or actually weakening them.
4. The illustration shows clearly that the paw is above the ground level. In actual fact the height of the dog has been reduced considerably.

Observing this dog from the ring-side it appears to be pushing back — "rocking horse" is a common description used. If it is pushing back, there is usually a sag or roach to the topline. But if (1.) the neck appears short (2.) the topline is level, (e.g.) there is no slope from the withers to the tail — (3.) the withers are or appear to be lower than the tip of the pelvis — it is reasonable to surmise that the dog is steep in shoulder.

It is of the utmost importance to bear in mind that the bone lengths of dogs A and B are equal. Therefore, it is natural to surmise that the overall length of both these dogs will be approximately the same. But due to the reduced height of dog B, caused by the deviations of the angles, it will appear long in relation to dog A when overall balance is under consideration.

Illustration C shows the straight or so called "Terrier Front" (which I do not think many Terrier breeders desire) resulting from a steep or 30° placement of the shoulder. This produces:

- 1—A very wide angle of 120° at the shoulder.
- 2—A still wider angle of 150° at the elbow joint.
- 3—For some reason the pasterns on dogs with this type of structure are very upright or give this appearance.

R.O.C. Deviations

PART THIRTEEN

A series by Mrs. Dennis Gardiner, Kerrycoft Kerry Blue Terrier fame, on "Common Deviations which Arise When Appraising Dogs for R.O.C.". Readers are invited to forward their comments directly to Mrs. Gardiner at Appleby Line, R.R. 6, Milton, Ont.

STEEP SHOULDERS — straight shoulders, poor layback of shoulder are all the same condition. They usually mean that the layback of shoulder, or the angle formed by the spine of the shoulder (scapula) and the perpendicular, is considerably less than 45°. Anything under 35° begins to affect the gait noticeably and adversely.

This deviation is becoming very common in most breeds. WHY — why if the bone structure (lengths) are normal? We do know that the shoulder or scapula is held in position by groups of muscles only. Some say steep shoulders are hereditary, but how great a part does environment play? This covers food; general health; exercise or lack of it; footing — grass, gravel, slippery floors etc. Even mental attitude can affect muscles. There do not seem to be any answers to this question yet, so it is worth giving some thought.

It has been pretty well proven that layback of shoulder can change, but unfortunately it appears to be, for the most part, in an adverse manner. A young dog can have a good layback and mature with an extremely steep shoulder. They have exercises to improve posture and musculature in humans — why not controlled exercises for dogs?

SIDE VIEW

This time we will discuss steep shoulders when the shoulder (scapula) and upper arm (humerus) are approximately equal.

The placement of the forequarters can be normal, or too far forward on the body as discussed in last month's Dogs in Canada. Naturally, if the shoulders are steep and forequarters too far forward the deviations found in the gait will be more exaggerated.

Illustration A in the solid line shows what might be considered normal bone lengths and angulation. This structure was discussed in October Dogs in Canada and a line drawing showed that the maximum amount of reach and follow through could be achieved when the layback of shoulder was 45°. Using this principle it can be readily understood why the 4—The illustration shows very clearly how the height of the dog is increased.

Again the bone lengths of the dogs illustrated in A, B and C are all the same and we are assuming that the overall length of each is the same. In this case the dog C is going to look much shorter in body than either of the others. In actual fact it is higher than it is long, but its topline (spinal column) is still the same length as the others.

Observing this dog from the ring-side it gives the appearance of a well pulled together, short bodied, compact animal unless:

1—It is a short-coated dog and the straight front is clearly visible.

2—The neck is short or does not fit smoothly into the shoulders.

3—Being high at the withers or shoulder tips there is an extreme slope to the tail.

4—The topline (spinal column) is disproportionately long.

5—The distance between the elbow joint and the stifle joint is excessively long.

THEN it can be assumed that the dog is steep in shoulder and the overall appearance is an optical illusion.

FRONT VIEW

In both dogs B and C the shoulders tilt forward to produce the 30° lay-back. If the forequarter assembly is well back on the ribcage the tips of the withers will be level with the shoulder tips or sufficiently so to hold the shoulders in a fairly normal position as shown by the solid line in the front view illustration of last month's Dogs in Canada.

BUT it will only take a very slight move forward to produce the deviations and results described in that article.

It is said that dogs with steep shoulders tend to have overdeveloped shoulder muscles. Although this does not appear to have been scientifically proven many working dogs with steep shoulders have large, bulging muscle mass "loaded" on the shoulders. If this is true, it is quite conceivable that under certain conditions the muscles under the shoulder could become overdeveloped. This would account for the straight up and down appearance of the shoulders and the excessively wide, loose attachment at the tips of the shoulders.

Dear Casey:

A few weeks ago we decided to breed our Setter bitch, and were hard put to choose between two very typey stud dogs. The major fault of the dog which, we felt, had a slight edge, was that he appeared to be long in loin. Several breeders, and judges, under whom he had been shown, voiced this same criticism. The word "appeared" is an apt description, for before making a final decision between the two dogs, we measured both of them out, and found their loin measurements to be equal. The illusion of the long loin was due to the length of the withers in the one dog. The variation between the two dogs being 2½", although the variation in their overall length was only 1¼".

In the past we have heard breeders remark that "measuring is not everything", just as they voiced the opinion, to which they are certainly entitled, that judging dogs is not a science but an art. Measuring may not be everything, but it can be an important factor, as we found it to be in the above cited instance, in assessing and evaluating a dog. Breeders might well profit by the dictionary definition of the word "measure", which is: "to ascertain the extent, degree, or capacity of, by a standard."

Through modern science we can now measure, not only bone and muscle structure, but also the color, texture, and the density of a dog's coat. All told then, it is possible to complete a scientific assessment of a dog.

With the dictionary still at hand, the word science was looked up, and the specific definition given is: "accumulated knowledge systematized and formulated with reference to the discovery of general truths." Now an interesting fact is that the synonym of the word "science" is the word "art." The definition of "art" is as follows: "a branch of learning, a science. Skill in performance acquired by experience, study, or observation." Hence, science is systematized knowledge while art is knowledge made efficient by skill. With these definitions before you, should the judging of dogs fall in the realm of art or science?

The dictionary reveals many fascinating truths about the English language, and we are indeed foolish when we neglect its usage for clarifying our statements and thoughts.

With kind regards,

Sally Vertulia

Canadian National Championship Trial

by JOHN SELLEN

THE 1966 National was held in the Toffield area about 50 miles east of Edmonton (Oct. 6-9), and was hosted by the Edmonton Clubs and ably assisted by the Calgary Clubs. This was a joint effort by field trial people from Alberta and it was a tremendous success from every angle. From President Bryan Dunsworth on down, every man on the committees gave maximum effort, and the results were obvious. The trial was held in real duck-hunting areas, and frequently flocks of widgeons and mallards would either fly by, or even land in the area of the tests. Those people attending the trial who took out duck licenses were not disappointed.

45 dogs started the 1966 National — 39 Black Labradors — one Yellow Labrador — two Chesapeake Retrievers — two Chocolate Labradors and one Golden Retriever. 39 male dogs and six females. The finalists were all Black Labradors, six males and one female.

The Winner — 1966 U.S. National Championship, F.C. A.F.C. Captain of Lomac, Black Labrador, male, born May 23, 1959. Sire: Spook of Manhattan. Dam: Country Clubs Little Deb. Owned and handled by Rudy Deering, Vancouver, B.C.

This tremendous dog is continuing his winning ways following up his win in this year's U.S. Amateur National by taking this year's Canadian National. He slipped slightly on the second test but by and large his work was outstanding as a National Champion's work must be, and he capped his whole effort with a brilliant display on the tenth and final test to wrap up this year's National. Hats off to a worthy champion.

The finalists: Dog #8 F.T.C. Cole-raines Thunder Rock: Black Lab. Male — always a contender in the National, this year was no exception. This dog did some outstanding work in this trial, but did not have the razor sharp work throughout that it needed to win. Bill Ketchen, owner and handler and a real gentleman, can be justly proud of his dog.

Dog #20 F.T.C. Irwins Toby: Black Lab. Male — here is a dog who loves every minute of his work. He was hurt badly handling on two marks, and also one rough blind. However, he did have some brilliant work and his tail never stops wagging throughout every test. Owned and handled by Bill Hutchinson, Hamilton, one of the real nice guys in the field trial game.

Dog #28 F.T.C. Blyths Pat: Black Lab. Male — here surely was the dog who pushed the winner to the wire. His work throughout the trial was outstanding. He hurt himself badly on one bird and that was the long blind on the final test. He gave his handler some whistle and cast refusal on this bird. And after such a brilliant performance a miscue on the final blind cost him dearly. A real heartbreaker for the modest fellow Len Ikonen, Kitchener.

Dog #37 Mr. Macs Billy Boy: Black Lab. Male — this big, hard-charging dog with a world of class caught everybody's eye. A rough mark in the first test and again in the third hurt him a lot. Some great work but not quite enough of it to win. We are sure to hear much more of this team of Billy and owner handler Phil MacMillan, Brandon, Man.

Dog #40 F.T.C. Mixed up Mortie: Black Lab. Male — once again a dog more overleaf with some great work but he slipped a little on occasions, including a bad mark in the eighth test. Owned and handled by the President of this year's National, Bryan Dunsworth, Edmonton, Alta, Mortie gave Bryan a great run for his money.

Dog #43 F.T.C. Dessa Rae: Black Lab. Female — this dog started the trial with some outstanding tests. She started to slip a little as the tests continued. Never very far off the pace but just not sharp enough to win it all. Our congratulations for finishing to owner handler John Scharwat of Spokane, Wash.

First Test. Dog #1 started. Triple on water, crosswind blowing, cool bright morning. First bird thrown to fall to the right of line at 45° angle, on the shore and partly hidden by high tulies extending into the water at 40 yds. distant. Second bird thrown to fall almost straight away from the running dog in light tulie cover about 40 yds. distant. Third bird thrown at sharp angle to the right of line in light cover at 25 yds. distant. Several dogs were bothered by the right hand bird, by hitting the shore and hunting the tulies which extended into the water about 15 yds. in front of the bird. Still a few other dogs were undecided which of the birds to take, either the one on the left or the straight away bird. Last year's National Champion #14 broke on this test and dog #23 was dropped for poor work.

Second Test. Land double and blind, Dog #8 started. Crosswind blowing. Light stubble cover. First bird thrown to the right of line, at a slight angle to line, to fall about 100 yds. distant. Second bird thrown to the left of line at slight angle about 40 yds. distant. The blind was planted about 25 yds. beyond the hard bird and about 20 yds. to the left at about 125 yds. distant. Most dogs did excellent work on this test. Dogs #38 and #39 were dropped after this test because of overall poor grades.

Third Test. Double on water and blind with honor. The wind blew partly crosswind and sometimes downwind. Dog #16 started. First bird thrown to land 60 yds. distant in cover straight out from dog. Decoys were placed in front of this fall. A dry shot was then fired from a point of land to the left of line 80 yds. distant. The second bird was then thrown from the line to land in high tulies 20 yds. from the line. After the two marks were picked up, the dog was sent for a blind, which was planted on a point of land to the left of, and beyond the first mark. The dog had to pass the area of the dry shot to pick up the blind 100 yds. distant. Dogs dropped at the end of this test for below average grades were #12, 13, 15, 16, 17, 21, 27, 41, 42, 44, 45. Dog #31 broke on the honor.

Fourth Test. Triple on land wind blowing straight downwind, Dog #24 started. First bird thrown to land in heavy cover on top of high ridge 140 yds. distant. Second bird thrown to land to left of line at a 45° angle and behind a small knoll 35 yds. distant. Third bird thrown at slight angle to right of line to land on small hill 65 yds. distant. Dogs ran from a hill on this test. The terrain on this test was very much uphill and down. All dogs were called back for the fifth test. Dog #34 was scratched because of an injury.

Fifth Test. Cold blind, Dog #35 started. Strong crosswind blowing. Dogs started from a steep hill 35 yds. from the water and had to run through a gully and up a small rise of ground and then into the water. All dogs disappeared from sight momentarily before hitting the water. The dogs then had to swim down a narrow channel, past a clump of tulies which extended into the water from the right shore. The blind was planted on the left shore about 100 yds. distant. The boat used by the blind planter was left in the open on the left shore, and it pulled a few dogs off course. This test was a fairly rough one as the dogs started a fair distance from water and the channel was quite narrow with the boat on one side and the high tulies tempting the dogs on the right bank. Overall work was quite good with one or two sensational jobs. Following this test the following dogs were dropped, #13, 4, 10, 33, 34, 36, 6A.

Test #6. Double mark on land with blind, Dog #8A started. Very strong wind blowing straight out from line. Land area was rolling ground which was typical of most land tests in this National. The area of this test was surrounded by poplar bluffs and clumps of low growing buck bush was scattered throughout the area. On this test dog had to pick up one mark and then pick up the blind before going for the second mark. First bird thrown from edge of bush to land in grass cover 75 yds. from line and on the right side at 45° angle. Second bird was thrown from another clump of trees to land in grass cover 150 yds. distant at a sharp angle to the left of line. Blind was planted straight out from dog in heavy buck brush cover 115 yds. from line. Dogs had to handle smartly on this test or they could disappear behind bushes or behind a slight rise of ground about 20 yds. behind the blind. Work in general was good but a few dogs ran into serious trouble on this test. Dogs dropped coming into the seventh test were as follows: #5, 8A, 19, 25, 32, 35.

Test #7. Triple on land with double blind, crosswind blowing. Dog #29 started. First bird thrown from edge of bush to land near another small clump of trees slightly to the left of line and 80 yds. distant. These gunners then retired. Second bird was thrown straight out from line and angling back to fall 60 yds. from line. Third bird thrown at almost right angles to the left of line to fall across a dry ditch 35 yds. distant. First blind was planted between two marks on the left and up the side of a hill 125 yds. distant. Second blind was planted to the right of line and up the side of a hill 80 yds. distant. Again the whole area was of a very rolling nature. Dogs dropped at completion of this test were #6, 11, 26, 30.

Test #8. Double mark and blind on water. Dog #20 started. One mark was thrown on water and one on land and the blind was planted in high tulies 115 yds. from the line. First bird thrown was a duck at a 45° angle to the right of line to land in reeds 50 yds. distant. Second bird, a pheasant, was thrown at a sharp angle to the left of line in heavy marsh grass cover 40 yds. from the line. Dog was then sent for blind across 40 yds. of heavy marsh grass before entering water. A very strong gusty downwind blowing. Dogs had to handle sharply on this blind or they were lost in high tulies. Again one or two jobs bordered on the sensational but several dogs lost ground on this test. Dog #24 dropped at the completion of this test.

Test #9. Single mark and double blind on water. Mark was thrown to land in rough water 60 yds. from line and straight out from the dog. The first blind was planted at a 60° angle to the right of line and 115 yds. distant. Second blind was planted on the shore to left of line and the dogs had to swim out beyond a fence overgrown with reeds and then handled into a tremendous wind to pick up the blind 30 yds. distant. A terrific wind up to 50 miles an hour was blowing crosswind on this test and whipping up waves a foot high. Considering the wind, some of the handling jobs on this test were excellent. At the completion of this test dogs #2, 7, 9, 18 and 22 were dropped.

10th Test. Single mark and double blind on land. Dog #28 started. Strong downwind blowing. Mark was thrown to land in short grass up the side of hill 170 yds. distant and to the left of line. Dogs had to run through high thick grass on the way out to this mark. Short blind was planted slightly up to the right of line in edge of high grass. Long blind was planted 225 yds. to the right of line and on the side of a hill in high grass. A perfect setting for the final test with a very large gallery on hand sitting back on a high hill overlooking this test. The crowd was treated to a great display of handling by the eventual winner on this test.

Good solid tests prevailed throughout the trial and a good deal of credit must go to the three judges, Dr. T. O. Williams, Toronto, Dr. D. Croll, Winnipeg and K. Powell, Edmonton, who spared no amount of effort to make this trial a success. □

Alberta Retriever Clubs Association

(Ten Years of Progress)
by Evelyn Jones Powell

Ten years ago the various Field Trial Clubs in Alberta worked separately, each for their own club. This resulted in time wasted in obtaining judges and dates.

In 1956 several far-sighted people — among them Ruth Lowe, Vic Grainger, Albert Lindquist, Bill Howson, Norman Lee, Jack Runnells and others — decided it was time that the clubs started working in closer cooperation. To make this possible the Alberta Retriever Clubs Association was formed.

In 1957, on April 20 in Red Deer, voting delegate Frank Belyea of the Canadian Chesapeake Club, Mel McCoy of the Ponoka Sporting Dog Club, Ray Koskinen of the Calgary Retriever Club and Geoff Tomlinson of the Alberta Field Trial Club, as well as Bill Howson of the Edmonton Sporting Dog Club, who acted as chairman, sat at the head table. Provincial recommendations drawn up at the 1956 Convention were reviewed and modified. Each club had one vote made through their voting delegate, regardless of the number of delegates from any club.

Definite dates were set for the trials for all five clubs for both spring and fall. These dates were to be permanent, but a system of rotation in order would be followed automatically. Each year a club would drop one position, and the club listed on the bottom would go to the top. Only exception: Any club in Alberta acting as host to the National Retriever Trial would have priority for fall dates.

STANDARDS QUIZZ

Standards Quizz No. 21. Compiled by H. Malcolm Stephens. Object is to match the first set of numbers (which relate to various parts of the dog) with the second set of numbers (which describe that part of the dog). For example: 11-1 Bite — level. Scoring: 21-23 correct — you could be judging. 18-20 correct — you should start thinking about judging. 15-17 correct — good if you are in another breed. Less than 15 — you must be in another breed. Answers on page 94.

ning dogs, live game, judges, handlers conduct, prizes, market retrievers, gun handling, fees and financing of the association were discussed. Twenty "Suggestions to Judges" were passed unanimously. Two recommendations to CKC were made, and nine new business presented.

Ray Koskinen seconded, Bill Howson moved, that the Alberta Retriever Clubs Association be formed, comprising of one member to be elected by each Alberta Club, these to form a Board, and the Board elect its own chairman. Date of meeting to be the first Sunday in March in Red Deer. Unanimous. An extra large amount of work had been covered, and hopes were high for big things in the Field Trial game in Alberta.

March 2, 1958 saw a meeting again in Red Deer. Among those present were Jack Runnells, Jack Anderson (CKC Director for Alberta), Mrs. Z. Phillips (Secretary), Frank Belyea and others.

New business was discussed. Judges were discussed, and it was suggested that they should brief handlers on what to expect, and thus prevent questions later. Judges should not have to take comments from anyone, also Judges are to set up trials to Open-All-Age standards, no points to be awarded if calibre of work not up to standard. Judge should distinguish between enthusiasm and lack of control.

Dropping of low dog, use of test dog, penalty for puttering dogs were discussed.

Handlers would have to tighten up on their handling, and in all honoring and marking test, handlers are to stand free and clear of their dogs, and not obscure view.

Once again gun handling, judges' duties, rotation of dogs, post entries, handlers' manners and discipline of handler or owner, conduct unbecoming to good sportsmanship were discussed.

Twenty "Suggestions to Judges" all to assist trials to run smoother for all concerned were discussed. The difference between a dog that creeps and flounces, cries or barks, and should be penalized were compared with a dog that whimpers from eagerness and should not be penalized, were discussed.

Three recommendations to CKC were made, and four members brought up new suggestions.

Jack Anderson clarified some of the standing resolutions of the CKC.

March 8, 1959 saw another meeting in Red Deer. Jack Anderson was in the chair. Bill Howson read minutes. Among representatives from the five clubs were Jack Runnells, A. Gourveatt, A. Lindquist, W. O'Dell, Art Tomte, Frank Belyea. Jack Anderson advised that the resolution re the use of live game had been looked into by CKC and would go before the Minister of Justice in an attempt to revise the Criminal Code.

The 1958 business was reviewed with few changes suggested.

Vic Grainger suggested that the Provincial Association be formed officially. To start, each club pay $20.00. The CKC Director for Alberta was elected Honorary President and the Field trial representative for Alberta Honorary Vice President.

After heavy discussion it was agreed President and Secretary-Treasurer be located in the same centre for convenience and Regional Vice President from another centre.

Names were presented for President and Secretary and each club was to appoint two members to serve on the Board. Some business was tabled pending actual formation of the Association.

March 12, 1960 saw Jack Runnells in the chair with Norman F. Lee as acting Secretary. The meeting learned that Jack Runnells, Jack Green, W. R. Howson, and W. D. Abercrombie had prepared a rough draft for a proposed constitution.

"Qualifications of a Judge" were accepted, and 18 proposed amendments of Field Trial rules were discussed, also trial dates. Club fees were raised to $30.00 per club.

March 19, 1961 saw C. A. Lindquist, President and Mrs. Zetta Phillips, Secretary. The president announced that all could speak, but only official delegates could vote, one vote per club. Trial dates were discussed. Two clubs were not in favor of an Examining Board. Members of all five clubs were active, and motions and a good amount of business was covered.

Judges, finances, birds and handlers were discussed. Jack Anderson suggested a committee be appointed to look after the preparation of an "Amendment to the rules re Qualification of Judges". Ray Koskinen to head committee.

January 21, 1962 in Red Deer saw J. B. Green, President, Ed Bolander, Secretary-Treasurer and Zetta Phillips, Recording Secretary. The club had money on hand.

Frank Cockrall suggested a Sub-Field Committee to act with him in his capacity as F.T.R. for Retrievers. Adopted, and each club appointed a representative.

Trial dates were adopted and a proposed "Amendment of Field Trial Rules and Regulations" was discussed, also eight suggestions re "Administration of Trials". Most popular "Puppy Stakes be Encouraged".

January 20, 1963 saw Arnold Gorveatt, President, Ruth Lowe, Secretary-Treasurer. Four clubs present, also Bob McKillop, CKC Director. Judges were discussed and standard of dog work, also how long a dog can be "Listed".

Dates were set for seven clubs for spring and nine for fall. Payment of judges had a lengthy discussion. It was anticipated that the Southalta Dog Club, Lethbridge, and Brooks Gun Dog Club would become members of the A.R.C.A.

February, 1964 in Red Deer saw Kenneth W. Powell, President and G. J. Jaycocks, Secretary. Seven clubs were present: Cold Lake Sportsman's Association; Edmonton Sporting Dog Club; Southalta Gun Dog Club; Ponoka Kinsmen's Club; Alberta Field Trials Club; Calgary Retriever Club; Canadian Chesapeake Club. George Frost, CKC representative, attended and announced K. W. Powell had been appointed F.T.R. for Retrievers for 1964.

Twenty-two resolutions were passed, mostly regarding judges. Dates were set for the seven clubs. Judge's clinics, to standardize the work, was an important resolution.

December 6, 1964 saw a second meeting held that year. A. C. Gorveatt was President and G. J. Jaycocks, Acting Secretary. Twenty-one members present, two for the first time from Cold Lake, six clubs in all. Dates were due for revision as new clubs needed them also.

Twenty-three resolutions were passed. One was that the F.T.R. appoint a Deputy in the opposite part of the Province from which he resided, to act on his behalf if necessary.

Hosting the National was discussed.

December 6, 1965 found the A.R.T.C. in their tenth year of activity. Keith Wannamaker, President and Bruce Hollinger, Secretary. Twenty-six present, five clubs represented. Old business was covered and dates for five clubs.

Dr. Dunsforth spoke briefly on the 1966 National Field Trial, a four day event.

The Edmonton Sporting Dog Club would host the 1966 National, dates to be October 6, 7, 8, and 9th.

Ten years of progress had been accomplished at the close of the meeting, and plans were made to go into the eleventh year. Enthusiastic and dedicated Retriever owners and other interested parties had worked together diligently to improve all aspects of the Field Trials. Death and transfers had taken some of the members, but new Retriever owners, encouraged by the good work of the clubs, had filled in the gaps. And so, the A.R.C.A. reached its goal of uniting all the Alberta Field Trial Clubs into a working unit.

Ten Highlights of Ten Years of Progress

1. Satisfactory System of arranging dates.
2. Uniformity in judging.
3. Uniformity in mechanics of trial.
4. Progressive system of training judges.
5. Standardization of fees.
6. Visiting judges at each trial.
7. Maintaining high standard of dog work.
8. Enthusiasm of member participation.
9. Closer co-operation and participation with CKC.

Christmas Greetings to All Dog Lovers

Retriever Training

There have been quite a few very good books written on Retriever training, some of them very well written and full of worthwhile information. I have been asked to write an article on this subject and feel I should give a little of my background on why I may be able to help anyone starting out with a Retriever or contemplating getting one.

I have been in the Retriever game for almost 50 years, so have had quite some experience; the last 25 years as a professional trainer specializing in Retrievers.

In my opinion there is no hard and fast rule on training a Retriever. Each dog has a personality of its own, which means that there are very few dogs you can teach in exactly the same way. There are a few basic rules, however, which may be used when starting out, and I will try and list them in their proper order.

In the first place, you should have a dog that has a background of good breeding, perhaps Field Trial breeding, but certainly from good hunting stock. This is not a must but I firmly believe it is an advantage.

The next step is to see that the puppy or young dog has a good place to sleep, is well cared for and given plenty of love and affection. As soon as possible it should be introduced to retrieving — even as young as seven or eight weeks of age. Start it off with a few pheasant or duck wings tied together or a dummy made for the purpose and have it retrieve this a few times each day. It is very simple at this time to teach the puppy to deliver to hand. Once it picks something up it seems natural for it to bring it to the thrower. If it does not immediately come to hand, run away from it and encourage it to follow. Keep calling its name or use your whistle until it comes right up to you. This should be fun to the young dog and he will soon look forward to these little sessions.

A word of caution — be very careful not to overdo the retrieving as once the dog becomes disinterested, you are in real trouble. They can lose interest very quickly and the path to recovery could be a slow one.

Do not be in a hurry to start it retrieving from the water. Before you do so, make sure it likes the water. Just because it is a Retriever does not mean it will automatically take to the water like a duck. Introduce it to the water slowly, unless it is keen to go by itself. Even then it could get a fright that could make it slow to go back in. There are two or three ways to do this. With another dog, walk in with it or take it to a shallow pond and let it go in by itself. The water should be reasonably warm as very cold water can also have a bearing on whether it will like to return eagerly to the water. It is also just as important that it can get out of the water as easily as it can get in.

Never throw a puppy into the water! One fright can ruin your dog for life, so the advice here is — take it slowly. In fact, this applies to all training. It takes years to develop a first class Retriever, so always remember there is another day coming.

The next step, of course, is obedience. When to start depends entirely on the desire and eagerness of the dog to work. Too much obedience with a young dog can take away the most important attributes of a good Retriever, that is, the desire and love to work and retrieve.

The important part of the obedience, of course, is that the dog comes when called or whistled for. If you have followed the aforementioned technique of having the puppy come when he is retrieving, you have made a good start. Once in a while a frisky young dog will take it into its head to disobey. If this can be stopped at the beginning, your chances of having an obedient dog are greatly enhanced. Teach it to lead as early as possible. This should be done with kindness and firmness.

Getting the dog used to the gun is another problem that should be carefully considered. There are many ways of doing this, such as getting them used to loud noises when they are eating; shooting off a cap pistol when they are romping in a field; or barrelling out to make a retrieve; certainly when they are very interested in something that will take their mind off the noise. There are very few dogs, if any, that are born "gunshy". Most "gunshyness" is caused by carelessness or some loud noise that has frightened the dog sometime during its formative months.

Steadying the dog to shot is something like teaching him obedience. When to start will depend again on the dog's eagerness and desire to work and retrieve. The easiest way to do this, I have found, is to have someone throw the dummy, bird, or whatever you have been using for the dog to retrieve and shooting the gun off while the dummy is in the air, meanwhile holding the dog 30 or 40 yards away in a sitting position. You can hold him by his collar, choke chain, or whatever you wish, but make him sit until he has been given the signal to retrieve.

At least 75% of training a Retriever is obedience. The rest is bringing out the natural abilities of the dog by working it a little every day on the particular type of work you wish it to do.

There will come a day when you will have to apply some force to make the dog obey. Here again is the time when you make or break your dog. There may be a few dogs that you will be able to train without using force, but they are few and far between. A keen, hard going Retriever will, quite frequently, try to go its own way rather than yours and, let me tell you, if you do not correct it then, you might as well give up. I cannot tell you how to do this as each dog can be punished in a different manner, but it must be done with firmness and deliberation, never in anger.

A well trained Retriever is not only a joy to own and to watch, but a great asset in the conservation of game and anyone going hunting without a trained Retriever is missing a truly wonderful experience.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Regular meetings of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club were held in the Club's office, 1173 Bay Street, Toronto, Ont., on Wednesday, October 5th and Wednesday, November 2nd, 1966.

There follows a summary of decisions of general interest reached at the meetings.

OCTOBER 5th, 1966.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

The Secretary was instructed to consult the national Board on whether the ceiling of funds on deposit in a bank account on which the Secretary may draw cheques requiring only his signature may be raised from $5,000 to $7,000. On this particular bank account the Secretary is empowered to draw cheques in payment of salaries, income taxes to the Receiver General, refunds to clubs holding shows and trials, and any individual expenditure not exceeding $75.

REGISTRATION, STUD BOOKS AND RELATED MATTERS

A special Committee consisting of J. C. Anderson, George Mehlenbacher, and the Secretary, was appointed to meet in Ottawa with the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture for the purpose of discussing a proposed new system of registration, the identification and registration of dogs included in shipments of two or more dogs to Canada, and the registration of Border Collies.

The Board ruled that to be considered eligible for registration with the C.K.C. there must be provided, for a dog imported to Canada, an Export Certificate issued in the country from which the dog was exported to Canada. An exception may be permitted if arrangements to ship the dog to Canada were made by an agent living in a country other than the one in which the dog was born.

The Board ruled that even though the owner of a female mated to a stud dog owned by another owner has a stud receipt issued, at time of mating, by the owner of the stud dog, the application for registration of litter form must be signed by the owner of the stud dog certifying the service on the date or dates of mating set forth on the litter application.

The Secretary was instructed to seek recommendations from members of the Board as to desirable changes in the private breeding record books made available to breeders. Breeders having any suggestions to offer are invited to communicate their suggestions to the Secretary.

The C.K.C. makes available special agreement forms for use where dogs are sold on the understanding that they will not be used for breeding purposes. When an agreement of this kind is filed with The Canadian Kennel Club there is a statement on the certificate of registration to the effect that the dog has been sold on that understanding and that if the agreement is violated, the progeny of the dog is not eligible for C.K.C. registration. The question was raised as to whether the American Kennel Club would enforce such an agreement if it registered a dog previously registered with The Canadian Kennel Club on such an understanding. In response to an inquiry dispatched to the American Kennel Club on this question, a reply was received to the effect that the A.K.C. would not accept for registration in its records, a dog for which a C.K.C. certificate of registration was furnished showing that the dog had been registered with the C.K.C. on that understanding.

COMPLAINTS, CHARGES AND PROTESTS

Following consideration of a number of files on complaints and protests, the Board:

- (1) cancelled the awards earned by a dog improperly entered as to ownership at a championship show held under the Club's rules;
- (2) gave two members fifteen days in which to submit applications for registration and transfer or elect a formal hearing by an advisory committee as provided under Article XV (Discipline) of the Club's By-laws;
- (3) recommended to the Chief Registration Officer that the registration of a dog be cancelled as the dog does not bear the tattoo markings shown on its certificate of registration;
- (4) imposed a fine of $25.00 on a show-giving club for failing to properly handle a protest received at its championship show;
- (5) cancelled the awards earned by two dogs which were not returned to the second day of a two-day championship show;
- (6) reprimanded a handler and required that he address a letter of apology to the officiating judge for remarks addressed to the judge at a championship show;
- (7) ruled that:
 - (a) only if the official standard of a breed provides for the disqualification of a dog on the grounds of weight is a competing exhibitor or handler entitled to request the weighing of a competing dog or dogs;
 - (b) a protest against a dog on the grounds of weight shall not be accepted by the show-giving club unless the official standard of the breed provides for a disqualification of a dog on the grounds of weight.

INTERNAL AND ADMINISTRATION

At its semi-annual meeting the Board had appointed Mr. William McDerment as Chairman of the committee to look into the housing of the C.K.C. head office. In view of Mr. McDerment's illness, the Board named Mr. John Devlin as Vice-Chairman of the committee and authorized him to name the remaining members of the committee and to proceed with the work of the committee, in order that the committee's report may be available at the next annual meeting of the Board.

The Board decided that its next regular meeting would be held on November 2nd.

The Board referred to the committee on Promotion, Public Relations and Publicity, a full-page article which the Pacific National Exhibition had included in its show catalogues, the article having to do with The Canadian Kennel Club and procedures at championship shows.

The Board appointed Mr. Harry Whitman, Gunningsville, N.B. as a member of the Field Trial Council for Pointing Breeds.

MEMBERSHIP MATTERS

After confirming approval given applications for membership reported on five lists of applicants mailed to all members of the Board, the Board rejected three applications for associate membership and one application for ordinary membership in view of unresolved complaints against the applicants; and one application for associate membership was rejected on the grounds that the applicant has an overdue account with "Dogs in Canada". Three other applications were ordered held in abeyance pending a report to the Board on outstanding complaints against the applicants.

DOG SHOWS

The Secretary was given instructions with regard to information to be conveyed to non-resident judges drawing their attention to the fact that C.K.C. breed standards are not identical in all respects to those which may apply in any other country, and that C.K.C. standards may be found in the Book of Breed Standards which has been published by The Canadian Kennel Club.

Having regard for a policy set by the Board that permission to hold an all-breed championship show under the Club's rules would be granted only to fairs, exhibitions, service clubs and comparable types of events, and to clubs which, according to their respective names and constitutions could reasonably be considered all-breed clubs, the Board instructed the Secretary as to information to be conveyed to a club, a specialty club according to its name, in respect of that club's applications for permission to hold all-breed championship shows.

The Board decided on inquiries to be made with regard to apparent infractions of Sections 8 and 9 of Chapter 9 of the Dog Show Rules. It also instructed the Secretary as to information to be sought regarding the entry at subsequent shows of a dog disqualified at a show as a monorchid.

The Board received the report and recommendations of the Dog Show Council with regard to a proposed revision of the present regulations on the weighing and measuring of dogs, and referred the question back to the Council for further study.

It ordered that a severe reprimand be addressed to a show-giving club for its failure to mail judging schedules as required.

It instructed the Secretary to secure information with regard to an allegation that a show-giving club had awarded prizes at its championship show, some of which had not been included in the premium list of the show.

OBEDIENCE TRIALS

The Board received the report of the Obedience Council that three approved judges of obedience trials had successfully passed the written examinations on the re-examination program now in effect. It also considered the Council's report on one judge who had failed the written re-examination and agreed that the said judge would be required to take the oral examination in accordance with the policy set by the Board on the re-examination program.

The Board decided that when an obedience club applies for priority rights on a single date in each of five years, the application will be considered as being an application for a date, without regard to whether or not the club applying wishes to hold one or two trials on the date applied for.

FIELD TRIALS

After considering the report of the Chairman of the Field Trial Council for Pointing Breeds, the Board authorized the Secretary to inform the person inquiring that, within a given province any two or more clubs may organize the holding of an invitational stake for shooting dogs in 1967.

GOOD AND WELFARE

At the semi-annual meeting of the Board in July, Mr. William McDerment had been named Chairman of a committee appointed to look into means by which the C.K.C. may celebrate Canada's Centenary. In view of Mr. McDerment's illness, Mr. Mehlenbacher was appointed Vice-Chairman of the committee with authority to name the committee, and arrange for the work of the committee to proceed, in order that the committee's report may be available for the next annual meeting of the Board.

NOVEMBER 2nd, 1966

INTERNATIONAL MATTERS

The Board considered a request for official recognition as received from the Colombia Kennel Club of South America and instructed the Secretary to inform that Club that The Canadian Kennel Club does not enter into formal reciprocity agreements with other clubs and does not consider that there need be such agreements for a high degree of co-operation between this Club and another national kennel club.

REGISTRATION, STUD BOOKS AND RELATED MATTERS

A proposed new standard for the Belgian Sheepdog as submitted by the Belgian Sheepdog Club of Canada, was referred to the Breed Standards Committee for consideration and report to the Board.

The Special Committee appointed by the Board at its previous meeting to meet with the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture and officers of the Canadian National Live Stock Records for the purpose of discussing a proposed new system of registration, the identification and registration of dogs included in shipments of two or more dogs to Canada, and the registration of Border Collies, met with the officials of the Department and the Records Office at Ottawa on November 1st. The Board directed that the exchange of views obtained at that meeting be communicated to the Registration Committee for its further consideration of these subjects, the Registration Committee to submit its report and recommendations to the next annual meeting of the Board.

A resident of Canada who had imported a dog to Canada from Great Britain had been informed by The Kennel Club at London that the dog in question was not eligible for registration on the grounds that it was no longer domiciled in Great Britain. The Secretary was instructed to inform The Kennel Club that The Canadian Kennel Club had no objection to their proceeding with the registration and issuance of an Export Certificate for a dog already exported to Canada.

An inspection committee was named for the purpose of inspecting a dog, the purchaser of which had reason to doubt that the dog, registered in the Club's records, is a pure-bred dog.

The Board ruled that a Staffordshire Terrier born in England and exported directly from England to the United States, was not eligible for registration in the Club's records.

The Board authorized the Secretary to communicate to the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture a recommendation that he authorize the cancellation of the registration of a litter of Dachshunds which had been registered in error (the litter having been sired by a Miniature Wire-haired Dachshund and the dam of the litter is a Standard Wire-haired Dachshund).

The Registration Committee was asked to consider the practical arrangements which should be made for the weighing of Miniature Dachshunds imported to Canada, and American-owned Miniature Dachshunds exhibited at championship shows in Canada.

COMPLAINTS, CHARGES AND PROTESTS

Following consideration of a number of files on complaints, the Board:

- (1) imposed a fine of $25.00 on a show-giving club which had violated the Dog Show Rules in that Best Brace in Show at its championship show had been judged after Best in Show;
- (2) instructed the Secretary to inform a member that, while he may operate a pet shop, he cannot, if he wishes to remain a member of the Club, engage in the selling of dogs which are not pure-bred;
- (3) instructed the Secretary to poll the national Board on the expulsion of a member following consideration of the report of an advisory committee which had investigated three complaints against the member, two of which had to do with the member's alleged failure to supply certificates of registration for dogs sold as pure-bred, the other complaint being that a dog sold as pure-bred did not carry the tattoo markings shown on the certificate of registration which the member had furnished the buyer;

- (4) authorized the Secretary to continue his attendance at the trial of a member, being prosecuted, following investigation by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, of a violation of the Live Stock Pedigree Act in failing to supply a certificate of registration for a dog allegedly sold as pure-bred;
- (5) authorized the Secretary to give a show-giving club an opportunity for a formal hearing of its action in permitting changes of entry at its championship show;
- (6) confirmed the action of the Complaints Committee in asking the Department of Agriculture to undertake an investigation of a number of complaints against a member who is alleged to have sold dogs as pure-bred and failed to supply certificates.

INTERNAL AND ADMINISTRATION

The Board directed that the next regular meeting of the Board be held on January 7, 1967.

The Board approved the wish of the Bermuda Kennel Club that its championship shows to be held this month be recorded by the C.K.C. as usual, the new arrangements with regard to the Bermuda Kennel Club holding shows under its own rules and recording awards at its own shows, to commence in 1967.

The Board instructed the Secretary to extend invitations to the Chief Registration Officer of the Department of Agriculture, the Director of Canadian National Live Stock Records, and the Club's Registrar and Assistant Registrar in the Live Stock Records office to attend the luncheon and Annual General Meeting of the Club to be held at Ottawa in February, 1967.

MEMBERSHIP MATTERS

The Board confirmed the approval given applicants for membership reported on three lists of applications reported to the Board by mail.

DOG SHOWS

The Board considered the applications of the Regina Kennel & Obedience Club to hold championship shows at Regina on May 27th, 28th and 29th, 1967 and applications of "Mid-Canada Dog Shows" to hold all-breed championship shows at Winnipeg on May 26th, 27th and 28th, 1967. The Regina applications were approved and the Winnipeg organization was asked to select other dates which would not conflict with any of the shows in the Saskatchewan Circuit, which concludes with the Regina shows.

The Board instructed the Secretary to communicate its displeasure to a club which, having been informed that its application for a sanction show date could not be approved because it conflicted with a championship show in the same zone, had announced its intention to hold an "All-breed Puppy Match" for dogs up to 18 months of age on the same date.

The Board approved the applications of the Greenwood Kennel Club to hold championship shows on October 14th and 15th and instructed the Secretary to ask a German Shepherd Dog Club to select another date for its specialty show which would not conflict with the Greenwood dates.

The Board directed the Secretary to inform the Saskatoon Kennel & Obedience Club that although the Thunder Bay Kennel & Training Club has been granted permission to hold championship shows on September 16th and 17th, 1967, the Saskatoon Club may hold shows on those dates or a week later, but the Board was not prepared to grant the Saskatoon Club's request that no other club in Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba or the Lake-head area be granted the same dates as those selected by the Saskatoon Club.

The Secretary was instructed to be governed by the recommendation of the Director for British Columbia with regard to the application of the Shetland Sheepdog Club of B.C. to hold a licensed obedience trial on April 16, 1967, the Kiwanis Club of Kerrisdale having been granted permission to hold licensed obedience trials on April 21st and 22nd.

The Board instructed the Secretary to seek the views of the entire Board on the question of whether, pending further consideration at the

SUBJECT: STUD BOOKS

In the course of printing the C.K.C. Litter Record and Stud Book for 1965 (Vol. #69) the printers printed copies in excess of the number actually ordered by the C.K.C. Because of this we are now in the position of being able to obtain extra copies beyond the quantity ordered to fill orders received earlier this year. Any C.K.C. member who wishes to obtain a copy of this volume may submit an order to The Canadian Kennel Club, 1173 Bay Street, Toronto 5, Ontario, with a covering remittance ($2.00).
All such orders must reach the C.K.C. not later than November 30th, and as the quantity still available is limited, it will be a case of "first come, first served".

The American Kennel Club wishes to obtain a copy of volumes #57 and #60 of our Stud Book for its library. Any person having a copy of either or both of these volumes, in good condition, and willing to sell them is asked to so advise the Secretary of the Canadian Kennel Club, 1173 Bay Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

The Canadian Kennel Club still has a supply of the following Stud Books for sale:

Volumes:	#52-53 (combined)	for 1948-1949
	#54-55 (combined)	for 1950-1951
	#56	for 1952
	#58	for 1954
	#59	for 1955
	#64	for 1960
	#65	for 1961
	#68	for 1964

The price is $1.00 per copy and orders with covering payment should be addressed to The Canadian Kennel Club, 1173 Bay Street, Toronto 5, Ontario.

that while this dog is recorded as being the property of P. G.
Webster, it was entered as being the property of Mrs. Joan Detmold.

annual meeting of the Board next February, he should withhold any action to implement a Board instruction with regard to the inclusion of a notice in premium lists prohibiting the taking of food, noisemakers, etc. into show judging rings.

Pending a review of the question at the next annual meeting of the Board, the Board approved the recommendation of the Dog Show Council with regard to a form to be used by Dog Show Representatives when reporting on championship shows which they attend.

Referred to the annual meeting of the Board for consideration were proposals of the Dog Show Council with regard to new policies on the weighing and measuring of dogs.

OBEDIENCE TRIALS

The Hamilton Obedience Club having applied for permission to hold three licensed obedience trials on October 14th and 15th, 1967, the Secretary was instructed to inform the Hamilton Obedience Club that approval would be given their applications, provided that Club forfeited its priority rights on a June date in 1967 and agreed to forego holding any other licensed obedience trials in 1967.

The Board considered the request of a member who wished to offer a challenge trophy on an annual basis to "the dogs acquiring the highest number of points at trials" held within a single province, and agreed that approval could not be given such a request on the grounds that it did not conform with provisions for challenge trophies as set out in Subsection 2 of Section 11 of Chapter I of the Obedience Trial Regulations and Standards, which Subsection provides that the only challenge trophy which may receive C.K.C. approval is one which is offered "for the highest scoring dog in the trial or the highest scoring dog in one of the classes", such trophy to be offered at trials held by a single club.

The Board agreed that arrangements for a challenge trophy may provide that only qualifying scores will be counted.

NOTICE

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

NOTICE is hereby given to all members of The Canadian Kennel Club that the Annual General Meeting of the Club will be held in the

"WUNDERBAR" DACHSHUNDS

If there is a greater producer of Champions — "Wunderbar" will buy him.
Ch. Wunderbar's Crusader — the greatest winner — the top producer. Stud Fee, $100.00.

"Louie" congratulates his very young Champion offspring

Ch. Wunderbar's 'Tis Moe (Toronto)
Ch. Wunderbar's 'Tis Louie (Calgary)
Ch. Wunderbar's Pacemaker (Palermo, Italy)
Ch. Wunderbar's Son of Salute (Winnipeg)
Ch. Wunderbar's Marnette (Vancouver)

Ch. Wunderbar's Crusader's Dynasty (at home)
Wunderbar's Here 'Tis (Halifax) — four times shown, two BB and two BOS to Wunderbar's Gaye Trouper Dachsamar's Cleopatra, Crusader's daughter (Chelsea, Ont.) 5 point win at Dachsie Specialty

And last but not least, his baby daughter, Dor-Arts Angel (New Brunswick) on her second in Group and BCBP — first time shown!

Congratulations to Ch. Wunderbar's 'Tis Louie on his winning get. Space will not permit the listing of all the winning grandchildren of Crusader.

Ch. Wunderbar's Advancer (the old man) sends greetings to his daughter, Ch. Wunderbar's Patricia

Ch. Britto v Kirsh (the old old man) congratulates his winning great grandchildren.

Our very warmest holiday greetings to our many friends across Canada who have held the name
"Wunderbar" out front and our very grateful 'thank you'.

Our very deepest 'thank you' to Mr. Art Burden who has carried the torch high for many years for "Wunderbar", and, may I add, not only for "Wunderbar" but for ALL DACHSHUNDS.

We will be offering several grandchildren of Crusader, out of our lovely Ch. Dynasty, to show breeders only. Also top Miniature Longhaired and Miniature Smooth puppies.

"Wunderbar" may retire from the show ring in 1967 BUT we will continue to produce 'The Finest of its Kind' for the discriminating breeder.

If more love could be given the little Dachshund — "Wunderbar" would give it — if more thought could be given to improved matings — "Wunderbar" would give it — If better bloodlines could be had — "WUNDERBAR WOULD HAVE THEM".

Dog Diets

When it comes to diet, dogs are very much like people.

These days the average pure-bred dog, and a lot of others, lives on a diet of commercial dog food, prepared by scientists with painstaking care to every detail so that not a vitamin is missing. A lot of them enjoy it.

At the same time, however, there are those among the canine population who react in about the same way as the average human child when told something is good for him — they would rather have something else.

If their owners are careless, the something else may be someone's garbage. Or in rural areas it may be wild game.

But then there are the dogs who pick something else again — like raw fruit and vegetables.

A little brown mongrel I once knew preferred apple quarters, even though his owner ran a butcher shop. A hunting dog had a fondness for cabbage and cauliflower, and would even interrupt the hunt to pick up a couple of goodies.

In Pickering Township, just a few miles from Toronto, a yellow Labrador Retriever and a Springer Spaniel dined on sweet corn so frequently this past autumn their owner would have been glad to see raccoons in their place.

Both are owned by Alan Dawson who spends as many free moments as possible with his dogs, either hunting or just trying to keep them entertained.

The Springer, Sherry (West Riding Cherie) has long had a fondness for pears, which she has garnered for years with a littermate, Gina, and eaten in the comfort of the patio.

But the Labrador, Judy of Pickering, known as JB or Judy Baby

around the Dawson household, added sweet corn to the menu and, after first picking it a cob at a time, started pulling the corn up by the roots, hauling it to the garage and setting up her own corn crib in a small trailer used for gathering fruit in the orchard.

Now both dogs have sweet corn at frequent intervals — and fresh pears too, in season.

It has not, Mr. Dawson reports, interfered with their desire to hunt.

"IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFTS"

Kennels, Ottawa, comments on water bowls for Cockers. "To find a water container that withstands dumping, splashing, soaked ears, but still gives ample drink, take a look at poultry drinking cups. They come in two sizes; small holds about 11 oz. of water, large holds full quart. Made of galvanized tin, heavy gauge with a wide hook on the side the length of the cup. Cups are ample size for the dog's muzzle but the ears cannot get wet. When hooked off the floor of the cage they can't splash their paws in them, and being secured they can't spill. Ketchum's carry them but I suspect all farm equipment stores also handle them. $1.35 for small and $1.60 for large size, but well worth the price in work savings."

Belle Wins American Ruffed Grouse Championship

Ch. and Fld. Ch. Kipewa's Breton Belle, six year old Brittany Spaniel female owned by Wm. McClure of Kipewa Kennels, Manotick, Ont. has won the American Brittany Club National Ruffed Grouse Championship. In a Field Trial held on October 28, 29 and 30 at the Bradley Palmer State Forest near Ipswich, Mass., a field of 22 of America's best Brittany Spaniel grouse dogs competed over hour long courses. The victory for Belle marks the first time a Canadian Brittany Spaniel has ever won a major United States Championship event, writes Mr. McClure.

Canadian Irish Starts on American Points

Ch. Tree Tops Meg of Trievendale earned her first American points on October 1 and 2 at Long Island. October 1 she was WF and BOS over a Special and the next day, at a club Booster she was WB for two points and BW. Meg is owned and handled by the writer.

I was particularly interested in the Labrador entry of 39 dogs. They were excellent quality, with a large number of imports and dogs from imported parents. During my stay in New York I purchased a black male Labrador pup that shows great promise. He is Ares of Mellweyn, sired by Ch. (Eng., Am. & Can.) Sam of Blaircourt ex Ch. Mindy Belle of Fire Island.

Next year's Sportsmen's Show promises to have something new for the avid hunter. The Irish Water Spaniel Club of America will have its first Canadian Booster Show on the second Saturday of the shows. The entry will include Canadian and American dogs and it is hoped that anyone with a good Irish will support the show if possible. Anyone interested in the club or breed should contact its secretary, Mrs. Ruth McAfee, 9 Douglas Ave., Babylon, L.I., N.Y.

that Mrs. Carol Schurman of Red Deer, Alta., has made an enviable record in the obedience ring with her young male Afghan Hound, Ronas Hill Reharakhti, purchased from me at 10 weeks. By the age of 18 months this handsome young hound has won his C.D. in three straight trials and his C.D.X. in four trials, his lowest score being 185. Roundup of 1966 Basenji Activities

The general meeting of the Basenji Club of Canada was held August 15, 1966, at the club's Western Booster Show, held at the North Shore Recreational Center, North Vancouver, B.C., in liaison with the North Shore Kennel Club. The club's first mail ballot election was conducted in conjunction with the General Meeting.

The club was pleased to have visitors from the Evergreen Basenji Club of Washington State present at the annual meeting and to welcome their entries in friendly competition in this Booster Show.

The following club officers are announced for the new club year: President, J. L. Pearson, New Westminster, B.C.; Vice-President, Mrs. H. Kent, Lambeth, Ont.; Secretary Treasurer, M. E. MacDonald, Saint John, N.B. Show Committee; Far West, Mrs. Roni Mayes, West Vancouver, B.C.; Mid West, Mrs. H. O. Baldwin, Calgary, Alta.; Eastern, J. W. Fenney, Toronto, Ont.; Atlantic, Mrs. Mary E. Daye, Windsor Junction, N.S. A chairman will be elected by these people and is to be announced.

A publicity committee consisting of Robert Patchell, Toronto, Mrs. H. Kent, M. E. MacDonald, and Miss Diane Vieira, Weston, Ont., was selected to define and explore ways of expanding Canadian Basenji news and editorials. Robert Patchell is chairman.

Retiring president Mrs. Margaret E. Robertson, in turning the chair over to the president elect, expressed her thanks to all members of the club and to friends who have done so much for the Basenji Club of Canada and for their loyal support of the club.

The incoming president of the club, J. L. Pearson, in his message to the membership paid tribute to Mrs. Robertson.

The Western Booster Show was an outstanding success and Mrs. Roni Mayes, chairman for the show, is complimented for a job well done. Judge was Mr. Leo Wilson, from Britain.

The second Booster Show of the Basenji Club of Canada was held September 25, at Don Mills, Ont., in conjunction with the Scarborough Kennel Club all breed show. Chairman for the Booster was Miss Diane Vieira, Weston, Ont., who organized a most successful show and deserves special mention for her efforts. Judge was Dr. F. D. Rutherford, Detroit. Competition was keen.

The summer and fall show season has been most keenly contested and the barkless little Basenji has given a good account of himself in Canadian show rings from British Columbia to Newfoundland. Basenjies are noticeably improving in quality and are winning their share of group placements.

Basenjies in the Atlantic Provinces area enjoyed an opportunity of meeting the president elect of the club, Chief J. L. Pearson, during a visit to Saint John, N.B., to attend a Fire Chief's Association Conference. Chief and Mrs. Pearson attended the New Brunswick Kennel Club All Breed Shows at the Atlantic National Exhibition.

Mrs. Jack Wait, president of the New Brunswick Kennel Club and Dr. Wait, Lancaster, N.B., entertained the Pearsons at a social evening at their home in August. A souvenir of New Brunswick was presented to both Chief and Mrs. Pearson by the Atlantic members of the Basenji Club. Mrs. Ruth Tyner, a Saint John, N.B., member made the presentation to Mrs. Pearson, while M. E. MacDonald made the presentation to Chief Pearson. In the presentation it was noted that the legendary first Basenji was a fire dog and that it was fitting that the pioneer secretary-treasurer and the new president of the club should be a fireman.

It is with regret that the loss of several good Canadian Basenjies are noted. A promising young hopeful, Merlea Dancing Deputy, owned by A. David Hodson, Petersburg, Ont. was

Doberman Notes

On October 1 I had my dream come true when I participated at the Doberman Pinscher Club of America Annual Specialty, this year held at Kansas City. It was quite an experience to be able to see all the great Dobe people and their dogs. I had Palos (Ch. & O.T. Ch. Berst's Palos v Hoytt, Am. C.D.X.) entered in Utility and Cheatah vom Sirrahwald, Can. & Am. C.D. in Open B and also in Novice Bitch class at the Specialty. I was thrilled when Palos placed 2nd in Utility, Cheatah 4th in Open B and also won the Novice Bitch class.

Re Shelties breed notes, October issue... Obedience and Conformation can go hand in hand and it is very rewarding if you can do well in both rings! The saying that obedience training "will break the dog's spirit" is a lot of nonsense. Obedience training for a large dog like a Dobe is a must. Anyone knowing my Dobes would verify that their spirit is not broken. They are full of fire as any untrained Dobe; they also would like to chase cats, dogs, squirrels, etc. but if called back they stop in their tracks, no matter how great the temptation to do otherwise.

I have often wondered why more Dobes are not entered in Obedience. I'm almost used to the idea of having the only ones entered at a trial. Maybe it's the area I live in, but across the border the problem would seem to be the same.

I wish too that Dobe breeders would be more particular about whom they sell their dogs. The ones who acquire an inexpensive pet female are the first ones to breed. They have no idea about the Standard, bloodlines etc. and are too ignorant to learn. They have no idea what is involved and before they realize the puppies are three months old and it's time for ear cropping so they're sold as cheaply as possible "just to get rid of them and of the worry as to whether or not the ears will stand". If you ask these people why they breed you hear reasons like "my kids wanted to have puppies" or "just wanted to have a litter of pups" — and also the false illusion of making a dollar.

I'm sure these things are making every dedicated breeder sad. We cannot prevent the overnight breeders, however we can help somewhat if we ourselves are very careful to whom we sell our dogs as well as not breeding too often ourselves. Quality, rather than quantity, is what counts. Above all, we should use our studs only on worthy specimens owned by people willing to learn about the breed.

It took many years and many great Dobe people to create the Doberman of today. Let's do our best to keep him that way.

The German Shepherd — C'est Magnifique!

Could you walk a tightrope, control a panicking criminal, scale a nine foot wall? Specially trained canine members of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Canada do these stunts and more. Their daring showmanship and that of their dedicated owners is a continual reminder to the general public of the brains, nobility and trainability of the German Shepherd Dog.

Thousands of spectators at the March, 1966 Sportsmen's Dog Shows saw their spectacular agility, plus more than 15,000 at the Police Games at Varsity Stadium, Toronto last July 23 and countless additional thousands over TV Channel 9 a week later. The total number of demonstrations in 1½ years may well run to 26.

Demonstration Team captain is Glen Johnson of Cooksville, Ont. and Demonstration Team chairman is Don Caya of Toronto.

Participants in the show and their special acts include Don Caya with Sargeant, obedience; Ingrid Wauro, Tessa, tricks and obedience; George Low, Rory, broad and scaling jumps; Glen Johnson, Rex, ladder, tightrope and guard work; Paul Hudson, Kipper, tightrope; Ann Peacock, Sheba, tunnel and ladder work; Andy Neilson, Kim, attack and defence; Jack Nolan, Aladdin, obedience, Mrs. Rennie Caya is the "victim" and her husband the assailant. Mrs. Jean Low and dog Tara are stand-ins for absent participants in the straight obedience division.

Guarding the article.

Programs are worked out and timed to a script. The training requires a strong determination and sacrifice of time on the part of the owners. Some travel more than 120 miles for every session.

The team, originated by a few members of the Toronto Obedience Branch, began to function in January 1965, their endeavors based on the concept of Great Britain's Royal Tat-too. They began to create interest in specialized training with shows for Old Folks' Homes, community centres and Boy Scouts. Just before Christmas of that year the current team was formed of amateurs only, some of whom had never trained a dog prior to 1965.

One of the demanding tricks is that of Ingrid Wauro who, after demonstrating a variety of obedience procedures and tricks, places a steak on Tessa's nose. While she walks away and back the dog balances the meat on her nose. When the handler returns she removes the meat, throws it and sends her dog to retrieve it without eating it. Eventually the dog does get to eat her steak.

During the Sportsmen's Show George Low with Rory attempted to establish a Canadian and North American record in broad jumping. Rory, on a schedule of five jumps a night, was successful, clearing 20 feet. The world record is 24.

The attack and defence work are both thrilling and admirable. Perhaps the most breathtaking act of all is that of Glen Johnson's Rex — who scales an eight foot wall then carefully navigates his way across two one-inch ropes that are extended between the tops of two eight foot walls — carrying a raw egg. The dog, who has a penchant for eggs, happily accepts his cargo as a treat. Rex now performs mainly at smaller shows. His understudy, whose background makes his work all the more incredible, is Kipper owned by Paul Hudson. This young dog not too long ago was a mental and physical wreck. Mr. Johnson tells Dogs, without expression and barely able to stand up. Mr. Hudson purchased him, lavished affection and care, gave him confidence which has built up to superb daring. He has his CD and TD degrees and is about to start on his CDX.

Meantime Glen Johnson and Rex, experienced in every act of the show, stand by to fill in wherever needed.

The club has completed a 15-minute, eight millimeter film on the show which made its debut at the meeting of the Scarborough Branch of the GSDC recently. The general meeting of the club saw it December 4. It is a highly professional film, accompanied by music and commentary on tape. Toronto and Hamilton area clubs are invited to send in a request for a showing. The film will be mailed on request to more distant organizations. Requests should be addressed to Mrs. Ethel Cook, Secretary, 2439 Prospect St., R.R. #2, Burlington, Ont.

Mixed Color Breeding

There has been, and still is, much controversy as to the results to be expected when a litter is produced through mixed color breeding. Many of the statements are being made by persons who do not have even a basic knowledge of color genetics.

These persons are aptly termed "self made incompetents". Their main purpose in discussing this interesting and serious part of producing better quality Great Danes (black in particular) is to undermine the breeder who is sincerely trying to upgrade the quality of the black Great Dane and who have indeed done so in a most spectacular and successful manner.

I am not an expert in this field either but do enjoy the privilege of associating with several well known breeders in the USA who are producing top quality blacks. In talking with these persons and by keeping an open mind I was able to acquire many useful bits of knowledge, some of which came as a surprise to me and dispelled many doubts I previously had held concerning mixed color breeding.

We now own a black female of mixed color breeding. I greatly admire this color and since I was unable to find a harlequin breeder who could supply me with a female of the type and quality which I desired I decided to purchase a female of mixed color ancestry. This female will be bred to a black stud of mixed color breeding and the best of the black puppies will be retained for future black to black matings. This will give us the foundation of our black line.

To mix fawn or brindle with harlequin bloodlines is a foolish and wasteful thing to do as this will most certainly contaminate the harlequin line with genes for brindling and fawn. On the other hand, since the blacks originally used for the foundation of mixed color blacks that exist today were from harlequin breeding we will come up with white spotting.

But how often does one see fawns and brindles of pure color breeding with these identical spotting patterns on forechest and toes and many of the fawns with a forbidding black shading throughout their coats or the brindles with too black a base color instead of a fawn base color. Indeed, it seems that the blacks from mixed color breeding are far superior in every way to the blacks produced from harlequin breeding.

The statement was recently made that anyone who breeds a harlequin to any color other than harlequin or black is dishonest. I cannot agree with this opinion as I feel dishonesty enters into the picture only when the breeder of a mixed color litter fails to inform the purchasers of said puppies of the mixed color ancestry. As previously stated, to introduce fawn or brindle into pure harlequin lines is a foolish step but is no more dishonest than to knowingly allow a harlequin stud of pure color breeding to service a harlequin female of known mixed color breeding.

I would advise anyone to keep their fawn or brindle bloodlines pure through the more acceptable and conventional breeding methods.

If, on the other hand, you have a little bit of adventure in your soul and would like to try your hand at breeding blacks, contact a breeder with several years experience in producing blacks through the mixed color method. These people are, on the whole, delightful, dedicated breeders who have certainly proven their beliefs and slayed many a "bogeyman".

At any rate, in the many years we have spent in Great Danes I have yet to see a black from harlequin breeding to be of equal quality with the majority of blacks from mixed color breeding one sees in the show ring.

As one oldtime breeder of mixed color blacks put it to me — "to trod the proven path is not breeding, it is production".

St. Bernard Notes

We attended the Northern Illinois St. Bernard Club Specialty held in Wheaton, Ill. on October 15. This was their second Annual Specialty which drew an entry of 161 individual St. Bernards from Oregon to Conn. and Vancouver to Ontario. There were 78 dogs, 63 bitches and 20 Specials with an additional 18 double entries to make a total of 179 entries, an all-time St. Bernard entry. The judge was Mr. John F. Stanek of Columbus, N.J.

Our 20 month old smooth coated male, Ch. Rocharest's Al-Ver-Don Frausty, won the Open Smooth class with an entry of nine dogs and went on to become the RW Male. Frausty was handled by Al Saba Jr. of Mass. Douglas and Karen Black's Booze C.D. took the male points and went on to BW. Mr. Stanek chose Am. Ch. Sky-croft's Hamilar Barce for his BB, owned by Frank Weber, Ill. BOS went to the smooth Am. Ch. Rude's HiJink's v Buster, owned by Stanley Rude. This was also the winning combination at the Ohio Specialty and Jinks was the BOS at the National Specialty held in Pa. in September. Adding to Jink's record, she is the top-winning St. Bernard female in the USA with numerous group wins and placings.

Also noticed at the show were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hughes of Vancouver, B.C.

Frausty has been shown just 12 times in Canada and with Lorna Jackson's fine handling has a record of two thirds and one fourth in Group along with seven BB's. We feel this is a wonderful record for a smooth coated St. Bernard to achieve at just 18 months of age.

We would like to congratulate Carl Pedersen of the Pemona St. Bernard Kennels in Zephyr on his splendid win at the Greenwood KC show. His Pemona's Plato 2nd was 2nd in Group on Saturday and first on Sunday. Plato is carrying on the winning tradition started by our Mighty Tiger, his sire, before his untimely death in 1964.

Has the time come to change the Canadian Standard for the Samoyed, and Why?

Many years ago I had the privilege of serving on what was called the Standard Committee for the Samoyed. At that time a questionnaire, listing key points of our breed, was sent to members for them to vote on. The result was the Canadian Standard as it exists today, which is almost identical to the English Standard with one exception, namely weight. The English Standard specifies poundage for both sexes while our Canadian Standard calls for weight in proportion to size of frame. So far, so good. But, this past year I myself am more than ever convinced that we are lacking teeth in our present Standard. This is apparent when size is stipulated as it is in the standard. Why specify size unless we are prepared to allow judges to disqualify those that are under or over, as the case may be. I have seen Samoyeds that, I am sure, were over 24" at the shoulder be put up under Canadian judges, while Sams of correct size and superior quality were passed over. I believe the judges themselves do not consider size a factor, and why should they. We, in our standard, do not. It must be very confusing to many. However, I happen to think size is important and the answer may be that if under or over size was a disqualification our Sams would be measured the same as Poodles are. At least this would familiarize many judges with our breed which, I feel, is needed.

In March of this year I judged the Canadian Samoyed Club Booster. After judging, an exhibitor asked me why I had put his dog down. I replied that my first considerations were type and temperament, in that order. I was shocked when he replied that what I preferred was the small, pretty, Ontario type (and this from a Canadian). I consider this foolish because I was under the opinion the Canadian Standard was the same for ALL of Canada — females, 18" to 20" and males 20" to 22" at the shoulder. If we continue to ignore size why have any specified. Then we could have them as small as toys or as large as St. Bernards (with all due respect to these breeds). Personally, I would show a female at the bottom of the standard, 18 1/4", or the top, 20". Same for males in their size range. But I would not be caught dead in the ring with a Sam that I had not measured myself and found to be under or over our standard. Regardless of whether the Sam I am showing should go up or down it is my belief that any serious breeder knows more about his breed than an all-breed judge whose opinion is all that is required for that particular show, and win or lose that does not change the quality (good or otherwise) of the Sam you brought to the show that day.

The above opinion is strictly my own.

Sled Dog Racing

The directors of the newly formed International Sled Dog Racing Association met recently in Chicago. The aims of the Association are to promote and coordinate all aspects of sled dog racing on an International level, and one of its first projects has been to prepare an information kit which will be available to any group interested in sponsoring a sled dog race.

The 20 directors of the Association are elected on a geographical basis from Alaska and California through to the Eastern Seaboard. President is Dr. Roland Lombard of Mass., well known world champion sled dog driver; the two Canadian directors are Cecil McCooye of Stittsville, Ont. and Malcolm McDougall, Malamak Kennels Reg'd, Ste. Agathe, Que. Mr. McDougall, who is also Vice-President of ISDRA, will be pleased to answer any queries or to receive membership fees ($5.00 per year) from any dog lover who wishes to help further this exciting and challenging winter sport.

Canadian Races

The following is a schedule of the more important Canadian races. These attract an entry of over 20 Canadian and American teams of from five to 13 dogs each, and since every team is the pick of a much larger kennel, spectators are certain to see some of the top-performing Canadian and American Siberian Huskies, Alaskan Malamutes and cross-bred hounds. The same teams race on two consecutive days; races normally start around 1 p.m.

through the Utility trials, Ch. Byxfield Crowell Russet is now a Can. and Bda. U.D. and an Am. C.D.X. This is the first Bermuda dog to become a U.D.

Summing up, the whole show was a complete success. The exhibitors, victorious or beaten, went home happy; the quality of the dogs present was such that a win was an outstanding win. One last item of interest — this was the first Bermuda show to attract an exhibitor from Europe, and Frau Pauline Brunswicker from Cologne, West Germany, was present with two Miniature Poodles. If this is the first of many European entries, Bermuda is on its way to becoming a truly international show. □ anti-climatic, but the interesting thing is that here was a situation where opinions were rather strongly taken by individuals, all of whom were capable of making quite a bit of noise about the other person's dog (this situation is not confined to Britain). However, all were prepared to accept diagnosis under The Kennel Club and B.V.A. scheme. The important thing is that everybody accepted the scheme.

Have we in Canada the climate for a similar scheme? To answer this question in the affirmative would first of all require that The Canadian Kennel Club's administration of its part of the scheme must be impartial and confidential. The next vital factor would be the existence of veterinarians qualified to form a panel of experts to read the plates taken by the veterinarians. The third condition which must be examined is to ask, "Are we Canadians big enough to accept a national scheme or would, for example, British Columbia suspect it as being a "plot from back East?" Would French Canada demand that half the panel be French, on the grounds that Frenchness is more important than expertise? Another question which must be raised and answered in the affirmative before such a scheme would work is whether or not close cooperation between the C.K.C. and the Canadian veterinarians could be achieved on this particular project. To attempt to answer these questions at this time would be foolhardy. I do think that the existence of the British scheme and the fact that it is working, possibly incompletely, but it is working, is the important thing which all Canadian breeders and owners should consider.

Smooth Fox Terrier Wins American Title

Subject to A.K.C. confirmation the Smooth Fox Terrier Ch. Trollhattan's Top Skipper completed his American title. Skipper won Best of Variety at the Greater Lowell Kennel Club Show at Billerica, Mass. for a four point major (his third major win in the USA) in August, and BW at the Lewiston K.C. Show at Lewiston, Maine on October 8. He is owned by the Trollhattan Kennels, Truro, N.S.

Hi-Tom Notes

Our 1965 import from Australia, Clanwire Carbon Copy, female Wire Fox Terrier, has been shown 12 times in Canada — three BB, three times Group Winner. On October 15, under the world-noted judge Mme. D. Nizet de Leemans, this female, competing with top Wires, went on to Best of Breed, a remarkable feat since she has not been to the shows since September 1965, when she was group winner in the West.

Our new import female, Whitwire Moon Duster, shown at Forest City, London, Ont. on June 30, was BOS under the noted Terrier Judge, Mr. J. Devlin.

This female is now in whelp.

Wires at Montgomery

It was with great anticipation that we awaited our trip to the Montgomery Show. We had heard so much about it that we felt it a must. We arranged a baby sitter for our daughter, Kelly, and, as all breeders must, a "dog sitter" for our Wires and Lhasas. It was a long trip, over 500 miles, but an enjoyable one.

When finally at ringside, we found some lovely wires before us. There was an entry of 15 dogs, 33 bitches, and five specials (less absentees). It was wonderful to see as many as 10 in one class. The most impressive thing was the condition of the entries. So many were put down beautifully, with not one hair out of place.

Mr. Halle had a real job before him and it was encouraging to see Wires on loose leads. The judge had the top contenders in each class stand together in the centre of the ring and "Show themselves." — "No strung up necks and propped up tails there."

Mr. Halle found his Winners and Best of Winners in the young dog Country Squire of Crack-Dale. He is a real eye-catcher, owned and bred by Mrs. Silvernail and shown by Bill Thompson. Reserve Dog, C-C of Crack-Dale.

Revlis Superb, bred and shown by Mac Silver, went Winners Bitch. She is a gorgeous young bitch with the qualities to be a real winner in the future. Reserve Bitch, Oladar Dele-gate.

Mr. Halle now had the most difficult decision to make. He must choose the Best Wire Fox Terrier from the five before him. They were: his Best of Winners now handled by Mr. Silvernail; Ch. Merrybrooks Smartly Maid, the lone bitch and subsequently Best of Opposite Sex; Ch. Bengal Ryburn Regent, winner of the title World Champion in Nassau, handled by Bill Thompson; Ch. Gallant Coachman of Wildoaks, bred owned and shown by Mac Silver. He has won several Best in Show awards; and Ch. Rigador Right Again, shown by Peter Green. This dog was Best in Show here in 1965.

Mr. Halle's choice was Ch. Gallant Coachman of Wildoaks. He is a hound marked dog, possessing a long, lean head, great reach of neck, a short back, good quarters, and the personality to make him a great dog. Mac was thrilled.

All in all it was a wonderful experience for us. We found the show impressive, the people friendly, the countryside beautiful and most of all so many Wires in such faultless condition. It was encouraging and an incentive to work harder. It was also satisfying to notice that many Canadian Wires could hold their own in such top competition. We will try to go back next year. Perhaps we will take a Wire of our own. Maybe some other breeders will be interested enough to go with us.

Schnauzer entries in the Specialty, comprising 118 dogs representing 62 kennels. One could not help thinking that if these dogs represented the work being done by Miniature Schnauzer breeders across the USA our breed has nothing to fear in spite of the current population explosion in Miniature Schnauzers.

Quality was uniformly high; grooming and handling outstanding. In fact, one top handler told me it was the strongest entry he had ever seen.

Area breeders turned out in full force to boost the entry and all seemed in good spirits despite the fact that top wins went to out-of-state dogs. Winners Male and Best of Winners was a popular win to Landmark's Masterpiece, an eight and a half month old male handled to perfection by Barbara LaBounty, owned by Gloria Weidlein, Burbank, Calif. Nine-year-old Ch. Andre's Viceroy, owned by the Czapskis, brought cheers and tears from the onlookers when he proudly topped the class of 'younger' veterans.

Then came the great moment; 22 Specials pranced into the ring and the spectators burst into spontaneous applause. There were 17 dogs and five bitches while a list of the handlers in the ring at that time would read like a "Who's Who in Professional Handling". We did not envy the job of Judge Charles O. Taylor as these exquisite little soldiers paraded their quality and Miniature Schnauzer charm before him. But, at long last, he had his winner — Ch. Mankit's Signal Go who scored a first by winning this Specialty for the third consecutive year. "Go" is owned by the Emanuel Millers of Noblesville, Ind. and handled by Wayne Miller.

In my opinion the biggest thrill of the day came when 15 year old Patsy Laughter of Holly, Mich. and her homebred Miown Erich's Hi-Hope came from the Open Class to score Winners Bitch and then Best Opposite Sex to "Go". Both these little girls are youngsters worth watching.

If one might criticize it would be the lack of interest shown in the Group judging by members of the Miniature Schnauzer fancy. Once the Specialty had been judged the great gallery of Schnauzer observers seemed to melt away. During Group judging only a handful remained to watch and cheer. In my opinion a great little Champion that had won over such a strong entry deserved a lot more support than was forthcoming.

The Staffordshire Bull Terrier Club of Canada

The first year of the club has been a very successful and eventful one. The club was organized in December 1965 to promote and improve this rather rare breed. The term "rare breed" is used with some hesitation since in England the Staffordshire Bull Terrier is one of the more popular terriers. In Canada, however, it has not yet received the recognition that it deserves. Some considerable progress has been made in the past year. The club, under its capable and enthusiastic President, Dr. N. E. Cooke, and his equally capable and enthusiastic executive, has held two Booster Shows. One was held in the spring under the auspices of the United Kennel Club in Montreal and the other in the Toronto area with the Scarborough Kennel Club show. There was a good turnout at both shows and Ch. Terrco's Dickie the Kid won Best of Breed at both. Many more dog lovers now know more about Staffords as a result of these shows since exhibitors at both shows were kept busy answering questions.

As a result of rising interest in the Stafford more than twice as many of the breed were entered in the shows this year as were entered in 1965 and there were three group placings as well as a Best Canadian Bred in Group. At the moment the demand for this breed exceeds the supply and plans have been made to import more stock from England. This, of course, is excellent for Staffords in Canada and should improve the breed here.

The club has some 30 members at present and we hope that this will increase in the coming year. The club is an associate member of the Staffordshire Bull Terrier Breed Council which was formed recently in Great Britain. This will allow the club to keep fully informed on the breed standard and on desirable points to aim for in our breeding programs.

Anyone interested in knowing more about the Staffordshire Bull Terrier or in joining the club should contact the secretary, Dr. P. M. Cooke, 3482 Grey Ave., Montreal, Que.

The Welsh Terrier Specialty — 1966

What are you doing Sunday, October 15, 1967? Why not join us in Gwynedd Valley, Pa. for the Welsh Terrier Specialty, held in conjunction with the Montgomery County Terrier Show. This show is a MUST for all serious Welsh breeders. In fact, I think I could go as far as to say this show is a MUST for any serious Terrier breeder.

Don't feel you have to exhibit. I would say well over half the Canadians who attend go simply to observe the show and the dogs, as well as enjoying the drive through the mountains in all their Fall splendor — what more delightful way to spend Thanksgiving weekend!

The Welsh Specialty Judge, Mr. Jeremiah O'Callaghan, drew an entry of 35; 14 dogs, 15 bitches and six Specials. These dogs were drawn from 10 States and one Province and I feel overall type was much improved over last year. This gentleman is obviously an oldtimer in Welsh type as the "Wire Fox" Welsh either stayed at home or were not placed . . . very, very pleasing after some of the Welsh judging in the U.S.A. in the past few years. His Winners Dog was Penzance Telestar Satellite, owned by Mrs. Nell Benton Hudson. Winners Bitch was Pool Forge's Penny's Thought's, owned by Mr. A. Watt. This bitch went on to Best of Winners and Best Opposite Sex to her sire, Ch. Pool Forge Fast Freight, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wimer III. This is the second year in a row that Fast Freight has taken this Specialty.

Quite a thrill for many of us to see Ch. Caradoc Llwyd back in the ring at the age of eight — he won the Specialty in '61 and '64. He came out of retirement a few months back and has been consistently taking the Breed and placing in the Group. Unfortunately, John Goudie took sick the day of the show (he's not been well for some time now) and was unable to handle — these two were so much a team that Caradoc Llwyd just didn't have the spark without him. It was heartbreaking to see the old warhorse go down, but wonderful to see him in the ring just once more!

Other Canadian Welsh fanciers at Montgomery were Betty and Bob Wood (Hurry-Home Knls.), Beaurepaire, Que., along with their son Chris and daughter Leslie.

Travelling with us to enjoy the scenery and see how we "terrier types" live, was Jay Whalen (Jaylen

How can I urge you Welsh Terrierites to get down there next year! With or without a dog, the trip is worthwhile. If you're going to breed good ones, you must see the best.

This year nearly all the Canadian exhibitors and/or spectators stayed at the same motel, which made it even more fun. I'm sure they'll have a room for you next year, why don't you plan to come?

Ross and I took 35mm slides of the whole show — mind you, a goodly number of Welsh, but we did get most of the Terrier Group, some Braces and of course, Best In Show. If any club or individual should be interested, do contact us. They're not Cecil B. deMille, but they are reasonably good!

to see whether the name shown on the application is identical to the name of a dog previously registered individually, and if it is found that such name has been previously used in connection with the registration of a dog of the same breed, then a numeral is added to the end of the name. In this way, it is possible to differentiate between dogs otherwise having the same name. A check is then made to see that the date of birth corresponds with the date of birth for the litter of which the dog is part.

If the dog is tattoo-marked, the Registrar checks to see whether the same markings have been previously used on any other registered dog, that the identification letters were registered by the person seeking to register the dog individually, and that the year-letter is the proper year-letter according to the year of birth of the dog.

If the dog has been nose-printed for identification purposes, the Registrar will examine the two nose-prints accompanying the application. He must be satisfied that the two nose-prints were taken off the same dog, and it will, therefore, be seen that the time which is required for him to satisfy himself in that connection will depend largely on how good are the prints which accompanied the application. If the Registrar cannot reasonably accept the prints, then, of course, the application is returned to the applicant with a request for additional prints.

The name of the breeder of the dog (owner or lessee of dam at the time of mating), and the name of the person showing on the application as owner at birth of the dog must correspond with the record of owner or owners (or lessee) as shown on the record for the dam of the dog.

If the dog is an imported dog, the Registrar checks the information shown in that connection on the application, and he must then check the official documents accompanying the application to see whether such documents are complete, show all the required information required for registration in Canada, and were issued by an organization whose records are recognized by The Canadian Kennel Club. The Registrar must see to it that the documents accompanying the application show the ownership of the person seeking to register the dog in Canada and must see to it that the name of the dog as shown on the application corresponds exactly with the name shown on the documents accompanying the application (change of name is prohibited by the Club's By-laws).

He would then check the section relating to transfer of ownership if the dog has been sold. He will see to it that the name of the sire, his registration number, name of the dam and her registration number are properly shown on the application. As far as possible, the signature or signatures appearing on the application are checked with earlier records. If partnerships are involved, the Registrar must check to ascertain whether the person signing on behalf of the partnership is the person recorded as having the authority to do so.

If a dog is imported, a three generation pedigree is required. This pedigree must show the registration numbers of all 14 immediate ancestors.

If the dog is over five years of age when registered, the Registrar will require statutory declaration indicating why the dog was not registered at an earlier date.

If, after all the foregoing checks are made, the application is found to be in order, the Registrar will then:

1. Assign a registration number to the dog;
2. If tattoo marked, he will place on the applicant's tattoo record, opposite the markings shown on the application, the registration number assigned to the dog;
3. If nose-printed for identification, he will adhere one of the nose-prints to the back of the application.

To prevent duplication of names of dogs, an index card showing the dog's name and registration number is placed in the perpetual index file maintained in alphabetical sequence.

The application with the accompanying office records for sire and dam are then returned to the voucher file, and the file is then turned over to the Typing Department.

When the certificate of registration is typed, a carbon copy is made. This copy is used for posting changes of ownership and progeny records. Titles earned by the dog are also posted on this record. Index cards for the stud book are also prepared in the typing section.

(The above by no means covers all of the functions of the Registrar's Department, but due to space limitations the balance of this Department's work responsibilities will be detailed in the January issue). □

he has been used in Europe as a trick and show dog for many years, especially in the countries bordering the Mediterranean.

The Bichons Frises originated in the Canary Islands. He was known to be in Spain in the 1700's, in France in the 1500's and in Italy at still an earlier time. When France won a victory over Italy in a war in the early 1500's the Bichons were introduced into France by returning soldiers and officers. It was later under the rule of Henry III that the Bichons enjoyed great popularity. The King kept several of these little dogs, often carrying one or more about with him. They have been immortalized in paintings dating back to the 1700's — usually as an addition to a portrait, or with ladies and children.

The Bichons (Les Bichons Frises) is odorless, does not shed and requires very little trimming. For good looks, brushing three times weekly does the job. Of course one can brush him every day and he looks ready to show. His semi-curly coat is all white or sometimes brushed with gold, or his ears can be a solid gold color emphasizing his face. He generally weighs between ten and 12 pounds.

He is a merry companion, clowning, and intriguing with his dark eyes and pert black nose. He is affectionate and gentle-tempered — a really remarkable toy dog.

The Bichons are not registered with the AKC but are registered with the BFCA — the national Bichons Frises Club of America.

For information on the breed write Mrs. Goldie L. Olson, 14525 - 148 N.E. Woodinville, Wash. 98072, USA.

Brussels Griffon

History of this breed is interesting to all B.G. fanciers. Through the courtesy of Miss Flora Hamilton Burns, with her research into the life of the late artist, author Miss Emily Carr, Victoria, B.C., a new book is being published by Clark Irwin Co., Toronto, Ont., "Hundreds and Thousands". It contains the factual data of these first western Canadian B.G., bred by Miss E. Carr which were from the kennels of Mr. Van De Camp and Mrs. Ward, Montreal, Quebec. Some were from the Cedar Kennels, in the 1925 era, of Mrs. Olivia Cedar, Pelham, N.Y., who advertised in English Breed Book, of that era, breeding from direct Belgian imports.

Miss Carr exported the following B.G. to —

Venus De Milo — C.K.C. #49972 — Red Female, wh. March 18, 1925, Petit Jean X Alberclaire Sugar Plum, to: Mrs. A. C. Miller, Columbus, Ohio.

1927 — Malmo Cerise — C.K.C. #63252 — Red Female, wh. June 19, 1926; Malmo Skezix — C.K.C. #63251 — Red Male, wh. June 17, 1926: #1 — Petit Jean X Bella of Alberclaire, #2 — Ginger Pop X Alberclaire Sugar Plum.

Skidoo — C.K.C. #70028 — Red Rough Female, wh. June 17, 1926, litter sister #2 —

Cupid — C.K.C. #70460 — Red Rough Male, wh. Feb. 6, 1928, to: Mrs. Charles Gibson, Chicago, Ill.

Sheik — C.K.C. #55225 and Tiny Titus — C.K.C. #55227 — Red Rough Males, Petit Jean X Bella of Alberclaire to: Mrs. C. S. Jensen, Portland, Oregon.

Do write me direct, when any B.G. fanciers trace these pedigrees of this 1925-1928 era. I have pictures of these B.G. and feel the book mentioned carries same.

Our rare breed seldom enjoys fame of this wide scope.

Maltese

We rarely hear much of the Maltese so I thought I'd share my success with other Maltese owners. Eye stain is a common problem of this breed and diligent work is required to remove it. I'd like to express thanks to all persons and magazine articles that have helped me with this problem, making it possible for me to pass it on to others. I met with complete success and now have a Maltese free from stain.

stained hairs. This aggravates the situation and is considered a fault in the show ring. Peroxide can be used on particularly bad stains, but this too aggravates the eyes, as well as making the hairs brittle. I used peroxide only once a week, soaking a piece of cotton ball and dampening the affected area, in addition to the following:

Every day with a fine comb, remove the "sleepers" that collect at the corner of the eyes. Dampen the whiskers and then make a paste of 1 teaspoon of Boric Acid Powder and 1 teaspoon of Fullers Earth, which incidentally can be bought at a drug store. Fullers Earth is a bleach that will not irritate the eyes. Place this paste on the stain with a baby brush and leave it until it dries. Then carefully brush it out. Follow this procedure with the placing of a small amount of Desitin ointment in each eye corner. This ointment has a cod-liver oil base which the tears roll off. Keep the top hairs tied up out of the eyes using a soft paper and an elastic.

When bathing the dog, use Johnson's No Tears Shampoo on the face which will allow you to really work on the stain with no discomfort to the dog. However, beware of another dog licking the eyes of the dog being treated. Boric acid is a poison that builds up in the system and can kill a dog.

It's not my purpose to write why or what causes eye stains, but I do suggest a visit to the veterinarian to see that nothing is causing the dog's eyes to tear.

Beaupre's Chu Olivia, which we imported from Beaupre's fine Peke Kennel in England at eight weeks, has completed her title while still a Junior Puppy. We were so impressed with her type and quality that we had to see more of her breeding in Canada, so we persuaded Mrs. Dromey to sell us her mother, Mr. Fred Schultz of Winnipeg has imported Beaupre's Chu Olivia's sire from Mrs. Mirylees so now both her sire and dam are in Canada. Olivia's litter sister is winning consistently in the show rings in England. We feel these bloodlines will contribute to the improvement of the breed in Canada.

Pomeranian Statistics for 1966

I thought it would be very interesting to know how our Poms made out for the year in comparison to '64 and '65, so I have done a little research and have come up with some eye-opening information.

When you read these figures please bear in mind that they are from January to October of '66 only, so the show figures could possibly change although the overall picture will in all probability remain the same.

Starting back in 1964, where we get our show stock for '65, we had 630 litters raised with 1,061 Poms being registered. Out of these 1061 registered Poms only 42 breeders were exhibitors and only 61 different Poms were shown. We had 21 champions made in '65.

In 1965 we had 235 breeders raising 616 litters, registering 1,131 for our show stock in 1966. Yet again in '66 we had only 38 exhibitors showing 59 different Poms and with only nine new champions reported up to October.

Obedience is shameful and should give us all red faces. Here we are not doing justice to our little dogs. One title in '65 and two in '66. I can't understand this because a Pom needs take a back seat to no breed when it comes to obedience. There are five Kenlynn Poms with obedience titles.

I believe the above figures should prove a few things to all breeders. Either we are not raising good enough Poms to go into the show ring (and if this is true we had better do something to raise the quality of our stock) and next, are you as a breeder giving all the help and encouragement that is needed to get the new owners of your good Poms to show them? If even half the breeders would vow to do this, our little balls of fluff would gain in popularity, quality and, for the breeder, profit.

My New Year's resolution for '67 is that Alberta will top all other provinces in Canada for Poms shown in conformation and obedience. Will you take up this challenge? I hope so.

"Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all" from Kenlynn Poms.

BOOSTER SHOW ENTRY TOPS SPORTSMEN'S RECORD

A record number of booster shows, 25 in all, makes history in the two decades of Canadian National Sportsmen's Dog Shows. Several clubs have never participated before, including two American clubs, the German Short-haired Pointer Club of America and the American Irish Water Spaniel Club, officials tell Dogs in Canada. The big Booster Day is Saturday, March 18, 1967, final of the five days of Sportsmen's Dog Shows. The regular shows and obedience trials are scheduled March 11, 15, 16 and 17, and as usual will be held in the spacious easterly extension of the Coliseum, Canadian National Exhibition Grounds — clean, warm and easily reached by spectators and exhibitors.

Al Boliska, well-known commentator, will again emcee the famous Indoor Invitation Retriever Trials, held in the arena of the Coliseum. The American entry will be larger than ever, with several owners of leading field trial competitors requesting a bid to enter. This great indoor event attracts a total audience of 35,000 to 40,000 people during the eight trials.

The shows will have a Centennial flavor, honoring Canada's 100th birthday.

A Record?

Pictured here is a litter of six Toy Manchesters born September 25 — three males and three females. Breeder Mrs. Cora Smith, Box 34, Ayr, Ont., wonders if this might be a record litter for this breed.

The Boston Terrier

Why is it people who are supposed to be interested in this breed will favor a small one over a good-sized one, especially a male. Anyone should know that the male of any breed should be larger than the female. At our kennel we have Banker, a 17 lb. male with beautiful strong muscular body and lovely disposition. A good male that will last. We have had little fellows that payed the rent for our veterinarian all the time we owned them, but we sold them for pets. I would like to find a good 15-16 lb. female for breeding purposes. I'm sure if we keep on breeding small Boston Terriers that it won't be long until the breed will run out like any other animal if bred back to runts in a litter. We will soon have nothing. I love the Bostons too much to see this happen.

Seminar — November 5 and 6, 1966
THE POODLE IN ACTION
Held at the Hospitality Motor Inn, Willoughby, Ohio.

1. Anatomy of the Poodle, by Elizabeth F. Trainor V.M.D., Amherst, New Hampshire.

Dr. Trainor, the wife of a well known professional handler, trainer, and manager of the famous Harmo Poodle Kennels, has had many years of association with the Poodle. She gave an excellent lecture on the anatomy of the Poodle. Dr. Trainor carefully selected slides of Poodles in the show ring to make her points very clear to the breeders present. She then went further with x-ray pictures which were very illuminating. They revealed baby teeth with dangers involved when these teeth did not fall out on their own. Slides of the tremendous roots, particularly of the Toy Poodle, were shown and her strong advice was to have these baby teeth extracted before they perhaps affected the position of the adult teeth or even bite.

I, for one, would very much like to have this lecture again.

2. Mrs. Ruth B. Sayres — Bric-a-Brac Poodles, Mechanicville, Penn. Gait of the Dog in the Conformation Ring.

Mrs. Sayres, eminent breeder of the Bric-a-Brac Poodles and equally well known as handler and judge, covered her subject by prompting questions from the floor. During the question and answer period she revealed many of her preferences, likes and dislikes. Mrs. Sayres was extremely strong about presenting the soundness of the Poodle. She is very much against overly long hair, long ear furnishings out of balance with the complete dog, and stacking of the Poodle in the ring. She strongly recommended that the Poodle be shown on a very loose lead so that he is capable of showing himself in his natural gait. Following this she stated that the handler should never run, not even with the Standard Poodle.

In conclusion, the main message was to choose your natural show puppy, sound, balanced, and then train him before entering him in the ring so that he shows himself and his quality without the need of his handler.

3. Movement in the Ring and the Sporting Heritage of the Poodle, by Dr. William H. Ivens, Jr., Ivardon, Holiday House, Doylestown, Pa.

Dr. Ivens gave an interesting standards of the breed reading from 1876 in Russia, then the German followed by the French, English and American Standards. The United States followed the English Standard and it is practically the same today. Of interest in these early standards of the continent were many requirements that today would be major faults, such as — NO stop desirable, flat and webbed feet for the Poodles retrieving in water. At the same time they asked also for a large eye and a squirrel tail. Much of this, Dr. Ivens pointed out, would let today's breeders realize where, genetically, a lot of their problems originated.

Films of the Poodle Club of America 1960-1964 were shown and Dr. Ivens pointed out many famous dogs and their handlers. The films were in color and personally I enjoyed them as I do looking through the family photo albums — food for thought and great fun.

4. Working Gear of the Retrieving Poodle on Land and Water, by Mr. Charles LeBoutillier, Jr., Stonewood, Brooklandville, Md.

Mr. LeBoutillier had made a great study of the retrieving ability of the Standard Poodle — fascinating to watch. His colored slides were very interesting and his Poodles were extremely efficient and well trained. We saw slides of our breed diving off a high bridge to the water and again with no fear of the water or terrain nor the temperature of the water he was working in. The harder the conditions the more he apparently enjoyed doing his job. Since Poodles are classified Non-Sporting they are not officially allowed to enter in the field trials. After watching these slides one is left with the feeling that they should have the opportunity to prove whether they have the ability to compete and prove their earlier birthright. Mr. LeBoutillier must enjoy his Standard Poodles — the bloodlines, I understand, are the same as our conformation Standards in the ring today — his whites going back to The Duke — his young stock sired by Alfonso and Promise. There was an excellent black Standard used and forgive me, I didn't pick up the bloodlines of this one — one track minded!!

5. A Visualization of the Poodle Standard from a MacDowell Lyons' Approach, by Miss Janice C. Martin, Camelot, Belleville, Ohio.

I unfortunately missed the visualization of the Poodle Standard from a MacDowell Lyons' Approach by Miss Janice Martin because of Mr. Ellis' sudden illness during the seminar. However, from several comments I understand she put a lot of time and research into her subject.

There was a good turnout and I think our Poodle breeders showed their deep interest in being present at the seminar. The Western Reserve Poodle Club, their officers and Miss Janice Martin deserve great credit.

Those present from Canada were Mrs. Douglas Weir, Miss Mary Jane Weir, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hager and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ellis.

Poodle Futurity

The William Penn Poodle Club Futurity was held at the George Washington Motor Lodge near Philadelphia, on the Sunday of our Thanksgiving weekend, so it was possible to enter. I saw several Canadians there, Mrs. Grace Edwards and Mrs. Audrey Jeffreys of Toronto, and Mrs. Carpenter of Kingston.

The day itself was blisteringly hot, and of course Mrs. Weir and I were in wool suits. This condition prompted us to stay outside, so we saw little of the judging. Most of the big eastern Poodle kennels were represented, and Hilda Meisenzahl was there from California; nevertheless, there were few handlers in evidence and most of the puppies were shown by their owners.

The show-giving officials were very friendly and helpful. The show started promptly at 9 a.m. and continued, with one short luncheon break, until 7 p.m. Despite the lack of handlers, most of the puppies were old beyond their years, finished showmen at six months, standing for hours on end to be scissored. There was one exception, a silver Standard female who was still a pup and simply refused to believe it was all for real. After having endured the examination of the judge and negotiated part of the slippery floor, she gave up, lay down, and covered her eyes with her paws. My heart warmed to her!

Since we were one of the last classes to go in, I saw little of the finals. There are two sections of the Futurity, 3-12 months and 12-18 months in all varieties. The winners in each section from the three varieties compete, and the two finalists — a puppy and a young adult — meet for Best in Match. The Judge was

U. E. Walden, and one of the finalists was Martha Jane Ablett's Silhou-Jette's Watchword, a lovely white Miniature, 10 months old, and a showing fool. The other finalist was a black Standard shown by Mrs. Mason, I think Bel Tor Away We Go, but I am not sure. Silhou-Jette's Watchword won, and Judge Walden later commented that the puppy had excellent conformation, both front and rear, to go along with his vivacious temperament. The winner must have collected close to $1200 in prize money.

There are several special classes, two of which interested me highly, the Stud Dog and Brood Bitch. These classes contain the dog and two of the get, to be judged on the contribution of the parent to the litter. There is no requirement for show trim here. It is quite a sight to see three dogs per entry, and quite a job to get handlers for all of them. The Stud Dog was Douai Mixmaster and, so that the trip was not without success, the Brood Bitch was my own Ravenslea Golden Glintula. She was 5½ years old, and it was her second show in her life. Quite a triumph for the old girl, since twice she was mistaken as a "young adult". Although no one knew me, she was applauded as she was awarded the trophy, and Mr. Walden was most complimentary. Let me add that credit must be given young Mike Lamb of Arnprior who did so much to train Tula when I could not keep her at home. As for Tula — she thinks dog shows are great fun, especially when she gets to sleep on motel beds and eat snacks at parties! All in all, a worthwhile trip.

The World's Best Cattle Dog

by LES BINGHAM

THROUGHOUT the world there are hundreds of races of dogs — tame, half-wild and wild. They differ in appearance and character, for different types had to be evolved to meet varying conditions in particular areas.

In Europe the dog has been used since prehistoric times as a helpmate in working sheep and cattle.

So, too, the early settlers in the unfenced wilderness of the newly-discovered continent of Australia quickly found that dogs were essential for bringing home wandering cattle.

They had taken dogs with them from England, but soon realized that these long-legged, thick-coated English breeds were useless for distance runners, and could not stand up to the heat of the Australian summer.

Australia possessed a wild dog, known as the dingo, whose origin still remains a mystery. It is generally believed to have evolved from a domestic version of the dhole, or wild dog of India, which is said to have accompanied the early aborigines to the Australian continent.

To survive in the Australian wilderness the dingo learned to hunt silently the fleet-footed kangaroos and emus, subtly manoeuvring them into gullies and rock pockets, where it could run in and tear them to pieces.

The dingo, however, is a ruthless and efficient killer. Unfortunately, he kills not only because he is hungry but also for the sake of killing. He ranges alongside a lamb, and in a vicious snap rips out its flank.

If he is hungry he eats the best part of his kill. If he is not, he might kill a dozen lambs in as many minutes.

In their search for a dog to suit the conditions in the new south land, the pioneer Australian settlers wondered about this killer dingo.

Could the savage instincts of this wild dog be bent to the will of man?

He alone of the dog world seemed able to withstand the climate and tough conditions of the Australian continent.

In the Hawkesbury River area of New South Wales a cattle drover named Timmins tried to find the answer. He crossed a black Smithfield bob-tail with a dingo.

The progeny, known as Timmins' Heelers, were quiet and cunning, but they were also savage biters and very hard to control. A squatter named Hall decided that, despite these bad points, the idea behind Timmins' experiment was a good one.

An Australian Heeler. With a touch of dingo in him this type of dog has been bred as a working dog for controlling cattle.

In 1840, Hall used the dingo to cross with smoky-blue Merles, or smooth-haired Collies, from Scotland.

Hall's Heelers were a great improvement on those bred by Timmins, for they were easily controlled. They were tireless workers with the instinct to creep up silently behind animals and nip them on their way.

There were both red and blue speckles, but the blues became more popular because their color was a natural camouflage against cattle that kicked, and they were almost invisible by night.

To give added intelligence and a love of guarding homes and gear, the Kelpie and Dalmatian were later mixed into the breed.

Another breeder, Robert Kaleski,

ANSWERS TO STANDARDS QUIZZ NO. 22 SIBERIAN HUSKY

2- 9	10-20	18- 3
3-14	11- 1	19-11

helped to establish the Australian Blue Heeler as a pure breed in the 1890's. He used a pure dingo pup to breed his blue heelers.

Some aborigines took three dingo pups from their nest in the foot of a hollow tree near a waterhole high in the ranges along the north coast of New South Wales.

Of pure wild strain, these pups were uncontaminated by blood of domestic dogs "gone bush".

The tribe kept the three pups. One was quieter and more friendly than the others, and he received most of the handling and attention from the tribe until he was passed on to a white man.

This was the pup used by Robert Kaleski to infuse into the breed the splendid characteristics which make it the best cattle dog in the world.

The Blue Heeler is not big as dogs go, but he is heavy for his stocky size, yet lithe and fast. The wedge-shaped snout and heavy lower jaw gives him more "biting power" than dogs twice his size.

The Blue Heeler will bring the scrubbers out of the mountain ranges, herd the big mobs over the plains, run them into the cattle trucks, savage the red-eyed bull, or gentle the nervy milker.

It is the dingo in him, however, that makes him the silent, ruthless biter, hard as nails, devoted to the man who owns him, and a menace to the unsuspecting stranger.

The blue cattle dog not only works cattle and horses, but he is also a great fighter, a fine watchdog, a killer of snakes, a good game dog, and a man's best mate.

Although still regarded as a wonder animal in Australia, the feeling has been growing in recent years that this tireless little worker is growing soft, and is beginning to lose the alertness, cunning and power inherited from his part-dingo ancestry.

A leading veterinary surgeon, Dr. A. R. McNiven, has been concentrating on this problem for 12 years, following out his theory that the dingo strain must be used if the cattle dog is to continue to cope with Australian inland conditions.

He believes that the strain should receive a re-infusion every ten generations and, to that end, has been mating pure dingoes with registered Queensland Blue bitches.

Today, McNiven's one-eight and one-sixteenth dingo blues are in great demand. They have been so successful that orders for pups have been pouring in from all over Australia.

More than 100,000 blue cattle dogs with steely muscles, keen ears and amazing endurance, work tirelessly through burning summers and freezing winters, often over country where neither man nor horse could find a footing.

Although the breed is peculiar to Australia, it has become well-known in other countries, and is now making a bid for fame on Texas ranches in America. □

by NORMA DONDERWITZ

What is a Specials Dog? To state it simply it should be "Something Special, Something Outstanding".

To enter in the Specials Class in the United States the dog must be a Champion of record. While this is not the case in Canada, generally speaking the Specials dog is a Champion, and is competing for Best of Breed or Best of Variety. Therefore it is assumed that the Specials dog should command attention over the class dogs. And he or she (this applies to

FIRST OF ALL QUALITY AND CONDITION:

The dog must be of top quality conformationwise to be considered over the class dogs. Never show the Specials dog out of coat and condition and of incorrect weight. Have you ever heard the ringside remark "Wonder how that dog ever finished?" Well, perhaps the dog finished in top competition and condition but now does not look his best. The exhibitor may be too anxious to Special the dog and not be willing to wait until the dog looks his best.

SECONDLY, SHOWMANSHIP:

Do not Special a dog who is not an outstanding showman. If the owner hopes to win Breeds, Groups and be a contender for Best in Show he must have a dog who catches the judge's eye for showmanship.

THIRD, CAMPAIGNING:

If you have a top Specials dog, campaign him, not spot him. It is true some judges will not like your dog. No one is going to win them all. However, breeders and spectators are still going to admire a beautiful specimen and how else can you sell stock and stud services if your "great dog" is home in the kennel?

To sum it up briefly, there are dozens of Champions confirmed every year, but few are true Specials Dogs.

Orphans of the Desert

by MARY PAOLOZZI

YOU'RE riding along the highway enjoying the scenery and you notice a car pull over to the side, stop, and from it emerges a man, or more often a woman, holding a grocery carton. Walking gingerly across the sand in high heels, the woman deposits the box behind a large creosote bush out of sight of the highway.

"More bottles and trash," you say to yourself, "but at least she didn't throw it on the side of the road as so many do."

Would it surprise you to learn that the box held a litter of helpless three-day-old puppies? Would you believe it if told that a dog who had become a burden to his owners because the family was going on vacation, is put out of a car on a lonely desert road to "find a new home"?

"No one would do that!" you say. You'd better believe it! It happens over and over again, as desert dwellers will tell you. "Five adorable puppies dumped by a heartless person in my front yard," reads an ad in a local paper . . . "Please, somebody give them a home . . ."

As a recent emigree from the city, I am amazed at man's cruelty to animals. Often when we are out driving we see a dog wearily plodding along the highway headed for — where? He doesn't know, for he has been abandoned by someone to whom he gave love and protection, and for whom he is now searching. Should he meet him, he would greet his rotten owner joyously for having been so stupid as to have "gotten lost."

Granted some of the animals we see on the highways may have strayed from their homes, and the chances are they'll find their way back. But it is the orphans of the desert who are doomed to misery and eventual death — sometimes slow, agonizing, sometimes violent and sudden, who stir our hearts with pity and against whose owners our wrath is directed.

Occasionally, as we sit on the patio enjoying the cool breezes of a late afternoon, we see a group of dogs running aimlessly across the desert. "Wild dogs!" the natives will say as they shoo their pets into a safe place and get their guns ready.

Wild dogs? More than likely they are dogs who have been pushed out of cars in a lonely spot and left to fend for themselves. If they manage to survive and meet another lost dog, they cast their lot together as lost humans would do.

As they become accustomed to the desert heat, learn methods of survival, change their eating habits from specialized dog foods and table scraps to "catch as catch can" meals in the creatures which inhabit their strange surroundings, other abandoned and stray dogs join them, and they become a "pack". They're crafty, suspicious and antagonistic.

Desert folk will tell you that these roaming dogs are more dangerous than coyotes. They have known Man, have been mistreated by him and have grown distrustful. They've been shooed away, shot at when they approached a cabin in search of food and water. So Man has become an enemy instead of a friend.

Whether they would attack humans is debatable, but having associated with them in the past, they would take more chances than a coyote. The coyote wants no part of civilization.
He's a free soul and wants to remain
so. Of course there are instances where coyotes have become quite tame. Some desert housewives place their table scraps out a short distance from the house and a coyote family living in the vicinity has come to expect a free handout.

One of my friends has been enjoying a nightly ritual for several months. She places food not too far from the house at a certain time each evening. Shortly afterwards a mother coyote and her young ones approach with seeming dignity and restraint, enjoy the meal, and trot off contentedly. Where papa is my friend doesn't know, but she did see mama carry off a carton of cottage cheese which was added to the menu because it had gone sour. Perhaps papa is too proud to accept charity publicly.

As compared to the coyotes, the dogs who roam the desert in pairs or in packs may appear to be wild, but they seem to remember happier days and a little coaxing and kindness will make them drop their guard and forget their distrust of humans. One false move, however, may make them think you are an enemy — then watch out! A friend of ours bears a scar on his right hand which he received when he tried to pat the head of a dog who stopped by one day, too weak to move. After water and a meal, he perked up and, supposedly in his new-found strength, lashed out at what he mistook for a menacing hand.

Not long ago a pack of dogs passed within sight of our cabin. They circled, then sat down and watched to judge our reaction. Were we friends or foes? My heart went out to them but my head said No! If I fed them, we'd have them as permanent boarders. Another week, another pack, and it would be endless.

I just sat and watched and hoped they would continue on so that my conscience would stop troubling me.
Where would they go? I could not guess. They dared not go into town, 18 miles in one direction, and in the opposite, a distance of 45 miles to another desert community. For an

LOVELY MALTESE PUPPIES

Mrs. H. J. Brunotte

animal lover, it was distressing.

Eventually the dogs moved on — all but one — a small and fluffy white Poodle-like dog. He sat and watched me and seemed to hope that I would call him to me. I wanted to. He seemed so helpless and so eager for human companionship.

I felt certain he must have been the latest addition to the group. The littlest. Not yet hardened. He watched me. I watched him. I'm sure that we spoke to each other in whatever passes as mental telepathy between human and canine. I know that I told him that I wanted him, but it couldn't be, and he seemed to counter with a "Couldn't you give me a chance?"

We watched each other's reactions, and then the pack moved farther away. Fluffy glanced at them, then back to me. Then it was that my husband walked out from around the house and the little one took a look at what he must have considered a mortal enemy and ran off and joined his companions.

Fluffy sat down once or twice as they ranged Eastward and looked back still pleading, I am sure, for a home and love.

I often think of this orphan of the desert. Had he merely strayed away from his family, or had some heartless owner abandoned him? How did he make out with those toughies he was traveling with? Is he still roaming, a hardened member of a pack of wild dogs, or has he succumbed to desert heat and thirst?

I'll never know, and perhaps it's just as well.

Travellers: Mrs. Blanche Roberts, Toronto, inveterate traveller, enplaned for New Zealand November 16 where she will visit her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beeson, 11 Temple St., Remuera, Auckland, N.Z. This is her second trip "down under" within the past few years . . . Among Canadians noted at the Mohawk Valley Dog Show, Schnectady, N.Y. November 12 were Mrs. E. Golby and Mrs. D. T. Weir, of Willowdale, Ont., Miss Mary Blackburn of Ottawa (whose Yorkshire Terrier puppy was piloted to Best of Breed by Mrs. Weir), Mrs. Betty Hyslop, Brockville, Ont., Mr. R. Duguid and Mr. Arthur Samuels, Toronto . . . Mr. Samuels also attended the Onandaga show at Syracuse, N.Y., the following day, as did Mrs. Helen Sinclair of Lenair Dachshund note, Meadowvale, Ont.

Dorothy Sweet, Grador Shelties, Escondido, Calif., accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harris of San Diego, visited with Mrs. Helen Lovett, Ronas Hill Kennels, Stittsville, Ont. in October. Mrs. Sweet is an AKC licensed judge of Collies, Shelties and Borzois and is the owner of the Ch. (Can., Am. & Mex.) Ronas Hill Eric The Red, believed to be the only living triple champion Sheltie, according to Mrs. Lovett. During her visit Mrs. Sweet selected four more Sheltie puppies for her kennels.

Congratulations to Dr. Wilfrid Shute, Port Credit, Ont., 1st Vice-President of the Doberman Pinscher Club of America for the past two years, who has been named President and is the first Canadian to hold this office. He also judged the annual Specialty show of the club for the third time. This is an honor, in that membership at large elects the judges. Dr. Shute believes he is the only Canadian to have been selected three times. He judged 14 shows in the States this year, in addition to several in Canada. . . . To Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Weir, Tyldesley, Willowdale, Ont., who recently marked a major wedding anniversary, although the chronology was not divulged.

New address: Mrs. M. Smith, Ardenne and family, plus Yorkshire Terriers and Poodles have moved from 100 Grange St., Guelph, Ont., to country surroundings on Stone Rd., R.R. 2, neighbor to the University of Guelph.

Quebec Notes: California-bound and sent off with farewell parties and presentations — the Gerald McNally family (Geraura Kennels) Roxboro, mid-November. In addition to making a name for himself in the show ring with his top-winning Schipperkes, Gerry is a well-known obedience judge and trainer and has been the mainstay of the three Montreal obedience clubs over the past years. It will be difficult to fill his shoes, maintain members. Best wishes go with him and his family for continued success in his new venture. . . . A charter has just been drawn up for the new Hochelaga Kennel Club in Montreal. Officers are: President, Irving Diamond; Vice-President, G. P. Hanson; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Anita Judson; Treasurer, Robert Taylor; Secretary, Mrs. Shirley Streeter, 4453 Laniel St., Pierrefonds, Que. Plans are underway for a Sanction Match in the near future.

Died: Chester C. Gregory, New Glasgow sportsman, at the age of 82. For many years he was a leading Maritime hockey player and former New Glasgow councillor. In later years he became interested in breeding and showing Boston Terriers on the Maritime circuits as well as United States and Canadian west coast shows. He was a member of The Canadian Kennel Club and was active in the New Glasgow KC. Mr. Gregory was one of the first sportsmen nominated for the Nova Scotia Sports Hall of Fame.

Miniature Schnauzer Maddie, Andrew the cat (rescued during a storm), and Miniature Poodle Lisa, shown here, enhance Dogs in Canada's staff. Lisa's owner is secretary Lynda Pilkey.

Happy return: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Odenkirchen are back in Canada after one year in their native Holland. Nine Chow Chows travelled with them and two were due to arrive later, bringing new blood into their Mi-Pao kennels. They have acquired 12 acres of beautiful woodland near Waterdown, Ont. While in Holland they attended several shows and returned with Challenge Certificates. Their strain is well represented in Holland through several litters produced by their Int. Ch.

Chang-Shi Hong Kwong. Mr. Odenkirchen speaks five languages and his wife four.

Soiree: Mrs. Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins (Kennels of the Rouge) Rouge Hills P.O., Ont., entertained recently for her house guest, the noted international judge, Mme. Denyse de Lee-mans of Belgium. A few days earlier she regaled companions at a dinner party with her experiences in judging behind the Iron Curtain.

Recuperating: Mr. W. McDerment, Toronto, to whom many flowers and plants have been sent. Some cards have been mislaid at the hospital, creating a problem in conveying thanks to senders. All the kind friends who have sent flowers and cheering notes are thanked by the family through Dogs in Canada . . . Mrs. Clare Smith of Clarewood, Toronto, a long time breeder and exhibitor of Chihuahuas is hospitalized following major surgery November 10. Central Hospital, Sherbourne St., is her address at the time of writing.

Married: Mr. W. Monaghan, a former Ontario Director of The Canadian Kennel Club and Mrs. June Watson, breeder of Border Terriers and active club worker, in Vancouver. They are now living in Ottawa.

Christmas holidays: Mrs. Meta Loveridge of The Canadian Kennel Club office is spending Christmas in Vancouver, the guest of Mrs. Elsie Murray.

Football hero "Nobby" Wirkowski, former quarterback for the Toronto Argonauts, then coach of the team for several years before becoming personnel manager, is the owner of a Miniature Schnauzer, purchased from Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Roseneath Kennels, Hespeler, Ont. Although Domingo is of show stock, the family regard him primarily as a pet.

Secretary of State Judy LaMarsh, who a year ago purchased her first Miniature Poodle from Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ellis, De La Fontaine Poodles, Streetsville, Ont., recently purchased another. The puppy, out of the same dam as the first, which was accidentally killed, is still to be named. Sire of the new female is Damoiseau de la Fontaine, grandson of the famous white Square Dancer. Miss LaMarsh visited the Ellis' in October.

Engaged: Recently returned from Ontario and wearing a beautiful engagement ring is Miss Marjorie Cummings (Glenmargo Shelties) of Richmond, B.C. The wedding date is set for February 18. Her future home, along with the Shelties, will be Burlington, Ont.
