CARBOHYDRATES IN THE FEEDING OF DOGS

For centuries men have fed their dogs carbohydrates — in the form of bread and potatoes. These carbohydrates are a primary source of energy for dogs, and today are obtained usually through the processed grains in commercial dog foods. Another source of energy, of course, is in fat and excess protein — that protein which is secured over and above the needs of the body.

Carbohydrates can be in the form of starches or sugars. Contrary to the opinions of some, starches can be digested and utilized for energy even though dogs do not secrete ptyalin — the enzyme found in the saliva of humans and some animals which aids in the digestion of starches.

However, dogs cannot digest milk sugar efficiently, and therefore abnormal quantities of milk cannot be tolerated. Too much milk in the dog's diet can result in soft droppings or even scours — that condition akin to diarrhea or dysentery in humans.

Dogs require energy for normal body functions and maintenance, movement, work, temperature regulation and digestion.

Hardworking dogs such as sled dogs and lactating bitches require maximum energy intake — which can be provided by a small increase in the amount of fresh meat in the ration. This extra meat acts as a stimulant to the appetite and effectively increases food intake for both working dogs and lactating bitches.

Household pets, resting at normal temperatures, require the least energy expenditure. Fortunately, in this respect, food intake in dogs is regulated primarily by energy consumption and sugar level in the bloodstream; the intake increases or decreases to supply only the dog's need.

After breeding, the bitch increases her caloric (or energy) need only slightly until the last third of the gestation period — at which point her food intake should increase by 20% above the normal maintenance level. This high level is necessary for maximum milk production.

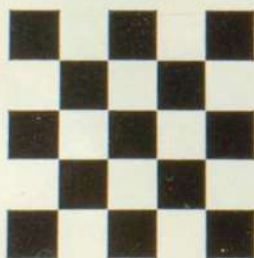

Another member of the canine family with a high energy requirement is the young puppy nursing his mother. At 8 weeks of age he eats enough dry food to equal approximately 8% of his body weight. By the time he is 3 months old his food intake is only one half what it was at the 8-week level (4% of his body weight per day), while at 4 months his food intake has declined slightly more, and continues to decline during the rest of the dog's life.

Energy utilization within the dog's body requires specific dietary vitamins and minerals. These are all supplied in the dog's normal ration.

A deficiency of energy makes for a thin animal, while an excess of energy is deposited as fat. Thus, inducements to encourage your pet to eat more than normal usually produce nothing more than obesity, and an animal prone to diseases and even a shortened lifespan.

So, feed your dog all that he needs to maintain good health and a thin muscular condition. Of course, dogs being readied for the show ring will require somewhat more food than normal. But never, never encourage or teach your pet to become a beggar or to eat more than he needs. This can only make him sluggish and inactive — a dull pet indeed.

Ch. (Can. & Am.) Faydon's Jai Alai, top winning Chihuahua in Canada two years in a row (1967 and 1968). He is a group winner in both years. Jai Alai finished his U.S. title in four straight shows with four Best of Winners and three majors — including a BW at the Miami Chihuahua Specialty in January, 1968. Bred, owned and shown by Don and Faye Fitzgerald.

Am. Ch. Pittores Peekaboo, bred, owned and shown to her American title by Pat Pittore at one year old, Peekaboo also has five points in Canada.

Luce's Ima Smartee has 13 points and two majors, his most recent win being Winners Dog at Westminster (February, 1969). He also has three points in two shows in Canada. Breeder, owner, Mrs. Rozel Luce, Kennedy, N.Y., U.S.A.

Ch. Brecon's Timid Tiger finished his championship at eight months of age with group placings. He has just recently been exported.

Ch. Ladybird of Quantico, bred and shown to her Canadian title by Mr. and Mrs. Peterson of Trenton, Ont., finished her title at 6½ months, winning four out of six shows with four Best of Winners and two Best of Breeds (over Special), five Best Can. Bred Puppy in Group. Now owned by Carole Humfreys in California where in her first U.S. show she has a five point major and a group fourth. Watch for their new male, also an Individualist puppy, who has a Best Puppy in Sweepstakes win (defeating 94 all breed pups) and will start his show career this spring — called Crusader.

Individualist is also the father of Ch. (Can. & Am.) Brecon's Demi Tasse (second top Chihuahua 1967) with lots of group placings and two Best Puppies in Show. Yawn was an International puppy Champion. Ch. Brecon's Cinammon Sinner — puppy Champion with a Best Puppy in Show as well. Faydon's Dulcie (eight points) litter sister to Jai Alai.

TO THE EDITOR

"HUMANELY SPEAKING", FEBRUARY ISSUE

... Although no one knows better than I the extensive, dedicated work in animal welfare of Mr. Hughes, I must answer some of his remarks in "Humanely Speaking". I quite realize that this article is not concluded, and no veterinarian can employ a 'needle' with more dexterity than Mr. H. However, as an owner-breeder of various animals for 50 years, I have to affirm my happy, helpful association with the veterinary profession as a whole. As far as this group being considered 'inferior' — in Britain, at one time, being 'in trade' was not 'comme il faut', either! Besides, social and professional status as considered a hundred or more years ago is rather 'Old Hat' today. In regard to 'the average person with an ordinary income', this is a questionable situation. What, really, is the so-called 'norm'?

Veterinary fees have gone up. So, too, have bread and butter and milk! If a person can't afford decent care for any animal, be it so little as a goldfish, he shouldn't have it!

I feel Mr. Hughes has generalized in too great a degree. What professional body does not have incompetent, unethical members?

I herewith salute those dedicated veterinarians it has been my very fortunate experience to know, and express my admiration for those who diagnose and treat 'those who cannot speak for themselves'.

VeNORMA D. MacKENDRICK

Oakville, Ont.

... Mr. Hughes' "Humanely Speaking" in the February issue of your magazine is, in my opinion, very, very far from being correct, if it is meant as a general criticism of veterinary personnel in this area.

I am, and hope to remain, very pleased to call our veterinarian Doctor. In 21 years I have found the majority most unlike his description of the profession. Charges are not unfair, services are excellent and they take a genuine interest in the "patients" and problems of us breeders. Most of them will, however, probably agree that the owners frequently need treatment more than the pets.

If this is Mr. Hughes' best effort, I would rather you print a blank page than do harm to our excellent relationship between the veterinarian and breeders.

GEORGE E. TABNER

Komoka, Ont.

... Hooray!! for Tom Hughes of "Humanely Speaking". I'm so glad that someone as knowledgeable as he has come right out and put veterinarians in their place. Who among us has not been the victim at one time or another of the vet's exorbitant fees, unnecessary treatment and/or hospitalization of our animals? Fortunately there still are a few, a few only, that still charge a fee that is within reach, but even they are hard pressed now by pressures exerted by their colleagues and the Veterinary College for standards that are extreme and virtually impossible and frankly unnecessary. I hope this article brings an overwhelming response and that all vets especially are made aware of the feelings of a dissatisfied public and that we don't expect a fancy office with superficial trimmings that encourages the corresponding fancy fees.

BERT & JO-ANNE TAYLOR

Richmond Hill, Ont.

... Merely by chance, I assure you, I read Tom Hughes' column in the February issue of Dogs and am moved to protest to you that such utter nonsense is being published in what is otherwise a very informative and interesting publication.

Besides being a network of contradictions, the article is without any purpose unless Mr. Hughes

If you have any suggestions, any comments or constructive criticism to make concerning articles in this magazine, or with regard to shows, your opinion of what is happening to various breeds with regard to size, color, coat, etc., write a brief letter to the Editor. We must reserve the right, however, to edit same. Opinions expressed in this department do not necessarily reflect those of the publishers.

intends to reveal one in the March issue. If the average wage earner cannot afford veterinary fees, which I have never found to be high, let alone scandalously high, then he cannot afford and should not own an animal.

While I am in favour of the column being included in Dogs, I do appeal to you to find a successor to Mr. Hughes as soon as possible.

HOW TO BOOST SCOTTIE INTEREST

... The 1968 Scottish Terrier Specialty, held at Don Mills with the Scarborough K.C. Championship Show, could hardly be termed a resounding success with an entry of 11 Scots. It must be obvious to the Scottish Terrier Club that something is wrong. Each year less and less Scottish Terrier breeders, owners or kennels show their Scots. Why? Names synonymous with the Scot, kennels that once dominated the show ring, while still actively engaged in breeding top quality Scots have dropped out of showing.

Perhaps as an outsider, I could make a few suggestions.

First there is not enough publicity. Properly advertised across Canada I see no reason why Scots from the west coast could not participate, and there are some very fine Scots out west and indeed all across Canada. Suitable advertising in the States would draw a large entry of dogs, since such a Specialty show, together with Burlington the day before and Scarborough the same day, could give enough points to finish a dog at one outing.

Secondly, I would suggest that the judge be picked by ballot at the club's A.G.M. (if that is not done now). And again why not occasionally invite one of the top Scottie people from England. There's been quite a few British judges over to the continent in the past few years. Mrs. Dallison, Gosmore; Mrs. Muriel Owen, Gaywyn and recently Dr. E. King, Brunnoch, each a Scottie Specialty Judge and a leading kennel owner and breeder in England.

Third on my list would have to be lack of appeal. The Scottish Terrier Club of England draws an entry of around 97 Scots with a total of about 200 class entries. What a sight that must be! There are literally dozens of prizes, trophies and something pretty nearly for everyone. Now for sure only two of these entries will get the male and female C.C. and two more the Res. C.C.'s, but that does not deter Scottie enthusiasts from entering and competing for the other prizes. How about this: For the best brindle bitch which possesses good pasterns and is sound in front and hindquarters. Best puppy under 9 months. Best Red or Wheaten bitch. And so the list goes on. I counted a total of 32 trophies, including one offered by a Canadian breeder for the Best Wheaten dog or bitch. Also not forgotten are the Veterans and Brace entries. Also produce Stakes for Bitches and Stakes for Studs and their progeny. And under English K.C. Rules a Ch. may still compete in the classes, thus making it that much harder to finish a champion. (I'm not sure I agree with that, though.)

To spark up some interest I would be happy to donate a perpetual trophy, suitably named (The Glentadbar Trophy or The Tobasco Trophy) for "The Best Puppy either sex, bred, owned and exhibited by a person who has never owned, bred or exhibited a Champion Scot." In this way it would encourage novices and ensure that the trophy would not fall into the hands of the more experienced showman, but would remain year after year an incentive for the newcomer. I have a list of trophies and their conditions offered at the S.T.C. Eng. show and they are most interesting and I feel sure would arouse more interest in bringing out Scottie people, if followed on a modified scale here.

Recently I was talking to a veteran breeder (not Scots) and she put it this way, "I breed the very best but leave the showing of my dogs to those that have the stomach for it". I'm afraid at the moment so do I except for the local fun matches, with the emphasis on FUN!

IN REPLY TO MR. FROST

... I was very interested in the advertisement in the February issue by Mr. G. W. Frost regarding removal of records from the Canadian National Live Stock Records.

I wonder if Mr. Frost has ever visited the office of the Live Stock Records on Queen Street in Ottawa. Certainly anything would be better than quarters in which they work. Desks with masses of paper so close together it is no wonder it takes anywhere from two months to seven months for registrations to go through.

After five years of registering dogs, I have had litters registered anywhere from 23 days to five months after forwarding papers to the Live Stock Records office. On one occasion I took a transfer paper in rather than mailing it in the hope that it might be processed a little more quickly. This was a transfer remember, and it took six weeks before I received the papers.

As for individual registrations, I have received these anywhere from two months up to seven months after they were mailed to the office.

I know the fact that the quarters for the Live Stock Records are so overcrowded, old and smelly certainly has some bearing on the efficiency of the personnel. However, if it is decided to leave matters as they now stand, i.e., having registrations, records and processing done by the Canadian National Live Stock Records, then we should certainly press for better working conditions for the employees. From what I have seen, these must surely be the worst in Canada.

S. M. BLACKBURN (MISS)

Ottawa, Ont.

... The following is offered in commentary on "letter to the Membership of The Canadian Kennel Club" over the signature of that club's Vice-president, George W. Frost, as appears in Dogs, February, 1969.

Mr. Frost decries against the efforts of R. C. Willis to sway the vote to have the records of pure-bred dogs moved from C.N.L.S.R. Ottawa to the C.K.C. in Toronto. However, Mr. Frost is relying on the same technique as did Mr. Willis, i.e., — a published letter to the membership — to achieve exactly the opposite effect. Further, Mr. Frost is one down in that he is trying to reverse a course of action that has been already voted upon and accepted.

Right or wrong as Mr. Frost may be, the fact remains that the voting membership of The Canadian Kennel Club HAVE HAD THEIR OPTION and that less than one-third of them care what happens to the records should now have no bearing on the matter. The fact remains that if even, as alleged, C.N.L.S.R. are victims of circumstances beyond their control, it still takes three months to process a domestic registration certificate. And this is very interesting as well because if the same dog had been for export, the export certificate can be processed in three days.

Status Quo can be the death knell of any business. The present system is not working well so we must try for something better. This question of computerization of records is not new. It was one of the recommendations of the Warnock-Hersey Report to the C.K.C. in 1965 and the subject of much heated debate at the C.K.C.'s Annual Meeting in February of 1966.

Machine tabulation of certificates and records may not prove to be perfect but it will prove to be better, faster and more efficient and that alone will justify any increase in costs.

I favored this move in 1966. I favor it now.

OBJECT TO BASENJI ITEM!

... One point that does disturb me is the article on "Anemia Study in Basenjis". This strikes me as a slap in the face to our beautiful breed so to speak. I realize you published the material as a result of a report from the Morris Animal Foundation. I wonder just how much actual research has gone into this report. I'm afraid I find it hard to believe one particular type of anemia is found only in Basenjis. I have been a breeder of dogs for several years and have never experienced anything like it. Nor do I know of any breeder that has.

The Basenji is known to be one of the hardest

WE NEED YOUR HELP! The Post Office has increased the cost of mailing each issue of "Dogs in Canada" by more than 1,000 percent! This is a serious blow to our budget. We believe this is completely unjust, for they have not applied as steep an increase to other publications, including U.S. owned Time and Reader's Digest. They have legislated against publications that are published "by or under the auspices of an association", and say we do not fit their definition of a magazine which can enjoy second class mailing rates. Hundreds, if not thousands of publications in Canada have been dealt this same blow. It can result in throttling the press in Canada and destroying a vital part of our country's communication system. If you agree this seems totally unfair and that your magazine deserves the same treatment as other "magazines" we ask that you write the cabinet minister responsible for this injustice, telling him you believe it is highly discriminatory to reclassify Dogs in Canada and to increase the mailing cost by over 1,000 percent. These rates will come into effect with the April issue. We need your immediate support in our fight against what we believe is unfair discrimination. Please write today to:

breeds. I don't know if you know the background of the Basenji — but to survive the conditions of their native land they had to be hardy. I'm sure if they suffered some type of anemia it would have shown up long before now in our land. Your article, or maybe I should say the Morris Animal Foundation, quotes a small percentage. How many people stop to think of the difference between 15% and 0.0015%. I am only assuming you got this Basenji news from the U.S. publication The Basenji, however I do feel it might be a very good idea to have some very good foundation to back up an article such as this or better still leave it unpublished unless it has been very carefully checked before publication.

I enjoy your magazine and I know we are all very poor about contributing to the news of our chosen breed.

Since I have ground my axe now I would like to tell you about another little article I once read in your "Letters to the Editor". It was from a man stationed overseas with the Armed Forces, writing to ask if you had anyone registered with the C.K.C. owning a Rottweiler. I was very surprised to note no one had registered any in Canada. At that time I was also interested in one. There was one here in Calgary for sale, owned by a German man. He told me at the time that if I ever wanted to breed her I would have to send her to the States to a male or import one from the States. If one was brought over I wonder if it could be registered with the C.K.C. or is this one reason there are none of them here. They must be recognized, because they are listed in the Dog Show Rule Book.

Thank you for your time, yours is a big job.
MRS. H. O. BALDWIN

... Several of our club members have drawn to my attention the detrimental effect on the promotion and popularity of the Basenji in Canada that could be caused because of an item in the December issue of Dogs in Canada "Breed Notes", page 18, paragraphs headed "Anemia Study in Basenjis."

The Basenji is one of the hardest of all the known breeds of dogs and is the oldest known pure-bred breed in existence. The Basenji dates well beyond the Egyptian Dynasties of the Pharaohs. The breed had to be hardy to survive the primeval conditions in which it lived down through the ages.

Can you imagine your next door neighbor who is interested in owning a Basenji picking up the December Dogs in Canada and reading that item? People believe what they see in print and most do not realize the difference between a small percentage say of 25% and 0.0025%.

This anemia is said to be known only to Basenjis and is of a particular type affecting a very minute percentage of the breed. I am from "Missouri" that it may not be found in other breeds and despite the learned statements on the subject by Dr. John B. Tasker, Mr. Gene P. Seary, and the Morris Animal Foundation, what proof do we have that this is based on the scientific research work of experts or is it publicity surrounding the thesis of students rationalizing with little and limited pure research.

SYNSPUR GOLDENS

... I wish to point out that there is no connection what so ever with my English Synspur Golden Retrievers and certain Canadian bred dogs now appearing in shows at Calgary, under the prefix of "Synspur" ... the only dog in Canada entitled to use my prefix is Synspur Larry, sired by my Ch. Synspur Lunick, belonging to Elliott More of Montreal, imported in 1968. Ch. Lindy's Prairie Dawn Dolly, imported in 1965 by Mrs. Stuart Walton of Oak Lake, Man., was sired by my Synspur Stolford Andruscus and is correctly registered by her breeder with the English K.C. under her breeder's prefix.

PUREBREDS FOR PLEASURE, PROFIT, PRESTIGE — PHOOEY

The trials and tribulations of dedicated breeders are well known to most of us. Of the three P's in canine liturgy, pleasure is the only one relevant to breeding and showing dogs. Selling puppies is where we relinquish profit and prestige. There are breeders of ill repute listed in the kennel directory who sell puppies for less than half what it costs a reputable kennel to produce. These are sold without kennel (non-breeding) contracts, which if employed more often would curtail a lot of competition from pet owners, the pet usually being unworthy of reproduction. Where is profit and prestige when our kennel directory is a media in distributing junk to the public, thereby cutting the throats of conscientious breeders! There are those who assert that competition is good. I will agree that good competition serves a purpose but why allow an overflow of inferior puppies on the market. This is not competition, it is destruction!

The more popular breeds recorded in the stud books by individual kennels are often a page in length. Each year these same kennels could win awards for breeding the largest number of poor quality pets. Some of these breeders never go near a conformation ring let alone ever glance at a book on genetics ...

Too much competition is evident in our local pet columns when puppy sales are quoted at $69.00. It's as though the advertiser were trying to lure prospects from her competitor who sells puppies for $70.00. It is a sorry mess when one resorts to the cut-throat soliciting that is synonymous with the discount houses.

DALMATIAN MOURNED

... I would like to express the thanks of Dalmatian people across Canada for the many times you've used "Transcanadals" to report news of our breed. We appreciate it so very much.

Gone but not forgotten, our Ch. Willowmount Fudge Fanfare (Winnie) passed away February 1 last. Bred by Kay Robinson in 1957, Winnie was first sold to Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Shepley who used Winnie as their foundation bitch for their Al-N-Dal kennels. During this time she whelped champions Al-N-Dal Maximilian and Al-N-Dal Bonnie. Max is perhaps Winnie's best known son as he went on to become Canada's second top winning Dalmatian, I believe back around 1964, and Bonnie was well known as an obedience dog and was owned by Miss Helen Thompson up to the time of Bonnie's untimely death.

During the time we owned Winnie, she whelped our own champion Peppermill's Trumpeter and his litter sister, who also went on to win her title, Ch. Peppermill's Fudge Sundae. Another son, B/W Peppermill's Gay of the Moors, is currently working on his championship and a bitch from that litter, Peppermill's Miss Cinder, owned by Miss Thompson, is in training for her C.D. degree.

My thanks and gratitude to Kay Robinson and the Shepley family for making it possible for Winnie to have been our dog these past five years.

ON VITAMIN E

... The January issue of Dogs in Canada has just reached me here in Florida where I'm enjoying an extended vacation following judging assignments at Tampa and Orlando in January.

May I say I was amazed on reading the letter published over the signature of B. Sorrell D.V.M. I didn't know that there were veterinarians anywhere who were so totally unaware of the status of Vitamin E. As long ago as 1958 the Annotated Bibliography on Vitamin E, published by The National Vitamin Foundation, listed 4,585 titles, medical, veterinary and in the basic sciences. Since 1958 the number of articles has more than doubled. Yes, indeed over 10,000 scientists have been mining gold at the foot of "The Vitamin E Rainbow".

As early as 1946 Dr. N. H. Lambert of Dublin, Ireland, at that time president of the National Veterinary Medical Association, published in both the English and the American Veterinary Journals, his results in treating cardiovascular disease in dogs and cats and since then there have been something over 600 articles in the medical literature written by over 800 clinicians and investigators from 35 countries supporting the use of Vitamin E in cardiovascular disease.

Dr. Sorrell admits that the combination of selenium and tocopherol (Vitamin E) is an effective drug but limits its effectiveness to muscular disorders! Yet many exceedingly well qualified veterinarians have carried the investigation of its use into other fields and have declared it effective in the treatment of blood vessel obstructions in horses, in some forms of arthritis and in some specific skin disorders. Other veterinarians have found it apparently useful in checking hip dysplasia, when the condition was discovered and treated in time. All puppies are born with normal hip joints. Some go on to develop hip dysplasia. No one should presume to decide that the condition is purely genetic until the evidence is all in. To do so is to be most "unscientific". This is especially true in the current status of the knowledge on hip dysplasia. The current theories, and they're still merely theories, are based on a very small series of cases.

I hope that when a cure for hip dysplasia is found there will be no "uninformed veterinarians". Certainly some of the profession are 23 years behind Dr. Lambert.

"THANKS"

... For the breeders of Vaughan Township I would like to thank The Canadian Kennel Club for delegating the club solicitor Mr. Watson to speak for us at the council meeting held on 11/26/9. At the same time many thanks for hard work to Mr. R. Sparkes. Also at the meeting representing the Kennel Club were Mr. Norman Brown and the most interested director Mrs. Hilda Pugh. Mrs. Pugh had just arrived from England and hardly had any rest after her journey. She really boosted our morale and this helped a lot.

For myself and most of the breeders, thank you all for all your effort and hard work on our behalf.

CAN'T COUNT?

... I am sure that some of your readers may be amused by the following incident which occurred during the all breed championship dog show held by the Dartmouth Kennel Club July 1, 1968 in the Dartmouth Arena.

The story is actual; I was assisting the ring steward (Mrs. V. H. McMillin) by handling the microphone and other assorted chores. The judge was Mr. Roy Montague of Halifax. The veterinarian was Dr. Mowbray of Truro. I do not recall the name of the exhibitor involved, or her parents — perhaps just as well.

Anyway, the circumstances were these — Mr. Montague was judging four male Miniature Poodles and in one specimen a young lady of some 17 summers (a novice exhibitor) had some trouble in determining if both testicles were correctly descended in the scrotum. Accordingly, the judge asked the ring steward to obtain the services of a veterinarian for an official examination. This was done promptly. Dr. Mowbray who was present competing in the concurrent Obedience Trial being conducted by the Kings Obedience Club kindly offered to examine the Poodle. After he had completed the necessary certificates (finding the dog to be normal, incidentally, albeit somewhat nervous) both copies were passed to the ring steward, one for CKC and one for the owner, now standing outside the ring with her younger brother and parents, all looking quite mystified over the apparent fuss. When delivering the vet's certificate I attempted to explain the examination and its purpose and summarized this homily by saying that the judge had apparently some doubts or difficulty in making a decision and had (most properly) asked for a medical opinion, or in other words had asked the vet to "count the number of testicles present". At this, the exhibitor's mother asked in a tone of utter disbelief: "What! Up to two?"

What price some seven or more years specialized education at University?

CORRECTION IN BYTOWN TRIAL SECRETARY PHONE NUMBER

... If the latest issue of Dogs in Canada carrying the advertisement for the Obedience Trials of the Bytown Dog Obedience Club has not yet been run off, could you make one correction. The telephone number of the Trial Secretary should be 836-4334. This was our mistake.

CORRECTION, PLEASE!

... I have just finished reading Sandy Briggs "Retrievers in the Field", January '69 issue.

I'd like to take this opportunity to correct a statement of hers that will give many of your readers an erroneous impression of field trials. Our club, the largest retriever club in Ontario and Quebec, does not use live pigeons at our trials during the winter! We discontinued this inhumane practise many, many years ago. As a member of the club's executive for over five years, I do not appreciate being linked in any way with Sandy's statement.

As you can see, I feel very strongly about this as our constitution advocates conservation and this has not been accomplished by inhumane methods. As a point of interest, most of our trials are attended by an officer of the Humane Society at our request.

CRUFTS STATISTICS

... I thought you would like to know the statistics for Crufts Dog Show. Entries are 17,684, dogs 7,786, an increase over last year of 1,043 and 769 respectively despite the restrictions for entries. One wonders where they will put them all, although Olympia is a very much larger place than the N.Y. Gardens and there is an adjoining large hall which is used also.

Her majesty, the Queen is paying Crufts a visit the first day, when Hounds, Gundogs and Terriers are done — this is the first time a reigning monarch has done so.

I have been officially asked to handle two Borzoi from the Keepers Kennels and am very proud of the honor as these dogs are really tops and have done quite a bit of winning so I am going over for a visit for over two weeks.

I shall be visiting several Borzoi and Bulldog kennels and have been asked to meet Mrs. Chadwick, the well known author of the book on Borzoi.

Have just been made a member of the Borzoi Club of England.

Am to prepare a few write-ups on my visit and matters of interest and will be happy to send to you copies of same which may be of interest to your readers.

MEET THE COLLIE —

"Lassie" waiting at the gate for the school bus is a familiar sight to many thousands across this country, not only on television, but it is also the sight they see every weekday as their own Collie waits for his children to return from school. Eric Knight's "Lassie Come Home" has immortalized the Collie for the present generation as Albert Payson Terhune did for the previous generation.

These heroic tales of courage and devotion are not as farfetched as some might think. Collies have been bred for several hundred years to herd livestock, to protect the farm or home and all its occupants, especially young children. The Collie watches over young children today with the same instinctive vigilance his ancestors devoted to their flocks. The Collie will patrol a hundred acres, but he can adapt to a city yard with ease.

There is a wonderful, but often misunderstood, trait of independence in most Collies that is a product of the herding background. The good herder handling large flocks often found himself working far away from his master, where he was thrown upon his ability to think and act for himself. This ability to act independently often became developed to the point where a confident, good-working, self-assured Collie would become sulky and "insulted" if given too much direction. It has been said that the Collie is the dog "with the keen mind of a man and the winning ways of a woman". He will not go out of his way to seek trouble but will capably meet it should it come his way.

The almost human, very intelligent forward look of the Collie can best be described by Terhune's famous phrase "the look of eagles". This, together with the arched neck and proudly carried head give him the appearance of always "looking over the top of, never through or under the fence". The long blunt wedge of the head (which fits so nicely into your hand when he wants attention or to comfort you) not only adds greater beauty and balance, it also enables the dog to nip heels of horses and cattle with little danger when herding.

The magnificent well-fitting coat provides protection from all weather and insulation against the heat, and the luxurious ruff protects the head, particularly those sensitive ears from the elements. The sight of such a dog makes an unforgettable impression.

The regal bearing and the storied past of the Collie, however, does not prevent his being the ideal chum of ordinary humans.

AND THE SHETLAND SHEEPDOG

He is the smallest, and liveliest member of the Collie family. His name tells you where he came from and what job he was built to do. In the past fifty years, however, he has largely left his native crofts and has moved south, east and west, given up most of his work (though you will find him in obedience competitions everywhere), and has improved his appearance.

When you meet a Sheltie (that is what his friends call him) it is quite likely that his size will surprise you. He always seems to be smaller than you would expect; the top of his head is below the height of your knee. He has a full coat, with a gorgeous mane, and ample feathering on his forelegs and tail. His lines are delicate and graceful, but do not be deceived; there is nothing delicate about his constitution. He is a tough and tireless animal, and that superb coat of his is wind-proof and waterproof, besides being conveniently dirt-repellent.

Notice his ears. In repose, or when he is racing at speed, they lie flat against the head, but when he is at the alert they spring up, straining in every direction to catch the least sound, and are never still. The tips, however, hang gracefully forward.

One of his greatest assets is his expression: few dogs have such a winning look or can smile so sweetly! He has a way of tilting his head slightly to one side, and looking at you out of the corner of his eyes, which melts the sternest heart. The Sheltie certainly knows how to ask for what he wants.

He is an inquisitive animal, too; he was not given that tapering nose for nothing, and it is disconcerting to find how much it can get into.

Like all sheepdogs he tends to be a one-man dog, but he can nevertheless be very sociable. He mixes well with other dogs, is never happier than when romping in a pack with other Shelties, and takes well to children (especially if brought up with them). He should never snap and, unless over-excited, is not noisy. Nowhere, however, does breeding tell so much as in temperament, and the Sheltie is not a dog to buy from anyone but a recognized Sheltie breeder.

The English Shetland Sheepdog
Club Calendar)

NOTICE

From time to time our attention is drawn to the practice of some breeders who, when advertising or otherwise offering dogs for sale, indicate in some way that the purchaser of a dog sold as pure-bred will be required to make a higher, or additional, payment in order to be furnished with a certificate of registration. Such persons should note that the price at which a dog is sold, or the purpose for which a dog was purchased, has no bearing whatever on the obligation of the seller to supply the purchaser with a certificate of registration issued by The Canadian Kennel Club for a dog sold as pure-bred.

The Live Stock Pedigree Act, a federal statute, requires that when a person sells a dog as pure-bred, or contracts to sell a dog as pure-bred, he must furnish, or agree to furnish, a certificate of registration, together with fully-recorded transfer of ownership to the buyer.

Article XXXI, Section 3 of the By-laws of The Canadian Kennel Club reads as follows:

"A member may be suspended or expelled, or a non-member deprived of the privileges of the Club, if it is proven to the satisfaction of the Board that when selling, or otherwise disposing of a dog for a consideration (monetary or otherwise), the person disposing of the dog has asked or required the new owner to make any form of payment specifically for the purpose of being furnished with a certificate or registration."

To avoid possible prosecution under the Live Stock Pedigree Act and/or possible disciplinary action by The Canadian Kennel Club, members and others engaged in the selling of dogs as pure-bred are cautioned to refrain from the practice of quoting two selling prices for the dogs, one "with papers", the other "without papers", or to in any other way indicate that an additional payment is required for a certificate of registration.

This notice is published by an order of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS

BY JAKE GIACOMELLI

I think this month I'll describe some of the unusual and perhaps, in some cases, comical happenings that I have seen occur or that have occurred in the rings that I have been judging in.

In the Directional Jumping exercise the handler was given the order from the Judge "Bar Jump to your right". Let me explain what lay in that direction: first, there was the Bar Jump, then about 2½' further out was the side of the ring made up of 24" high solid fencing, then just behind the spectators was the edge of the stage platform and below this platform edge was a 6' drop. This particular ring was set up on a large stage overlooking all the other breed and obedience rings below. Got a rough idea of the set up? Well, anyway, the handler at this point has passed everything quite well, it's one of the last Trials of the year in the U.S.A. before all the new rule changes come into effect. He needs only one more leg to finish, so he desperately needs and wants this leg. (The dog, incidentally, was a large, rather happy working German Shepherd).

The handler, feeling the moment was right, shot his arm strongly to the right (with plenty of body English, I might add) and simultaneously exclaimed "Over"; whereupon his dog instantly took off for the side of the ring that was being pointed at, but instead of heading for the Bar Jump, leaped over the side of the ring between a small opening in the crowd and disappeared from view. There was an audible involuntary gasp from the spectators, followed by a moment of stunned silence. I guess everyone thought the dog had gone over the edge of the platform. Fortunately, our hero stopped short of the edge and someone was holding him when the handler went out to get him. Why the dog jumped towards the crowd and side of the ring, instead of the Bar Jump I'm not certain. It's not that it didn't like the Bar Jump, the owner said his dog didn't mind the Bar at all. The only conclusion I could come to in this particular case was that the dog was sitting at a slight angle facing the side of the ring and not paying too much attention, so when it received the command and signal the dog was startled into action and jumped the first obstacle it saw, which was the side of the ring. In any case it was an exciting few seconds, believe me!

How about the incident of the Belgian Tervuren in the GO portion of the Directional Jumping exercise! The ring was a beautiful outdoor ring on a golf course in the Laurentians of Quebec, and the handler had just given his dog the command and signal to GO! The dog immediately galloped out straight as an arrow to the other end of the ring; whereupon the handler shouted "Fido, Sit". I believe the dog's ears flicked backwards as if it had heard the command — however, instead of turning around and sitting it cleared the strand of rope at the end of the ring, kept right on running until it disappeared from sight over the rise of the hill. After the few quick "Oh! Isn't that too bad!", everyone had a good laugh, including the owner, who was a good sport. How's the saying go? "You pays your money and you takes your chances."

The Standard Poodle in the Drop on Recall exercise receives the "Down" command while coming in. Upon hearing the command, stops, does a full stretch (like it was yawning), then slowly lowers its front legs and chest touching the ground while his rear end is still in the upright position, accompanied by a tail wag that appears to be keeping time with an invisible metronome (I wish you could have seen the handler's face!)

Then there was the dog who, on the Retrieve on Flat did a perfect Drop on Recall at the midway point from where it had left its handler and the dumbbell it was to retrieve. Apparently the dog must have heeded a "Down" command that was given to another dog about three rings away at the same time it was running out to retrieve its own dumbbell. (It had to be given another command to retrieve).

In the Scent Discrimination exercise there was the little Boston Terrier that went right on past the articles to the other end of the ring, right under the ropes, did an exploratory sniff of two spectators, and then came right back into the ring and completed the Scent Discrimination exercise very successfully.

(I've seen this one often enough). On the Retrieve over High Jump, after receiving the command to "Fetch", the

UMANELY SPEAKING

BY TOM HUGHES

Since this average man (described in last month's issue) with his wife and two children represents the group of people which own and possess more small animals than any other, he is a good example of the problem. This man simply cannot afford a veterinary bill of, say, $100. If he was to purchase an item from the store for $100, he would almost certainly have to take that payment on some easy credit terms. I do not know how many veterinary hospitals offer charge accounts, credit terms, revolving payments, call them what you will, but it does not matter whether they do or not; what matters is the mental attitude of the owner of the animal who simply looks on this additional expense as the straw that will break the camel's back. He cannot afford his other expenses, but he can avoid the veterinary bill by simply not taking his animal to the hospital.

As a result, the animal either gets better or suffers and gets worse. In every animal shelter run by the Humane Society across Canada, we see countless thousands of animals brought in for destruction which are the result of neglect of veterinary attention at an early stage in the development of the disease or problem.

The veterinarians, as a profession, prefer to be unaware of the problem. As a matter of fact, as recently as a few days ago I received a letter from the Toronto Academy of Veterinary Medicine which seemed to indicate that this group of veterinarians, at least, do not recognize the problem, or that it exists in any form, other than the animals owned by indigents, whatever they are. Can you wonder why the veterinary profession holds such a bad public image. Certainly they do everything they can to encourage a bad image, and nothing that I have ever seen to inform the public or to discourage that reputation. True, the Toronto Academy and the O.V.A. have, from time to time, put on displays at exhibitions such as the Sportsmen's Show, the C.N.E. and the Royal Winter Fair, but I have never noticed much emphasis in these exhibits towards this particular problem. In fact, I have never ever met a veterinarian who will even admit that it exists, at least, not publicly.

What is needed, and needed badly, are voluntary free animal clinics staffed by qualified veterinarians, using facilities and premises provided by the State, or more probably the public through some effort organized by the Humane Society (who else?), to which a member of public could bring their pet without any form or reverse snobbery, and have the animal examined and some advice obtained, which might help to alleviate the suffering without breaking the man's bank account and putting him into debt. I am well aware of the reaction of the veterinary profession to such an idea. No doubt they can see dollars and dollars going out of the window. But I wonder if that would be the case. I doubt very much if it would. Surely the person who is prepared to make the sacrifice and spend the money now on a veterinary fee, is still going to do it. Indeed, a voluntary fee clinic in which the owner of the animal may make a contribution towards the cost of examination and some basic treatment might even be encouraged to go on to a proper veterinary hospital if he was aware of the actual cost involved. Some animal owners do not take their pets to a hospital because they have a mistaken idea of what it is going to cost. As a result, some animals suffering from a relatively minor condition are not treated when they could have had the condition cleared up for a relatively minor expense. When the condition has deteriorated further, if they do then go to a veterinary hospital, the expense is out of proportion. As a result, the animal is then killed.

Even killing animals is an expensive business. Everybody knows the cost of injecting protective serums.

Probably the injection of protective serums is considered the real gravy on the part of the veterinary practice, but I often wonder whether it is not short sightedness on the part of veterinarians. There might be a lot more pet animals kept if people were not so frightened of keeping pet animals by the cost of injecting against, say distemper.

President of the Dog Training Club of Bermuda this year is Mr. Terry J. Wendt.

Plans are in progress for two all-breed limited championship dog shows and two licensed obedience trials to be held June 20 and 21, with a post entry trial June 22. For details write Mrs. James A. Kyme, show secretary, Palm Cottage, Middle Road, Warwick, Bermuda.

Note the dates for the four all breed championship dog shows and four licensed obedience trials: November 11, 12, 13 and 15, with a post entry trial November 16. Enquiries should be addressed to Mrs. Edward Flieger, Soncy Cottage, Pembroke, Bermuda.

Only dogs owned by Bermuda residents and dogs from abroad which have competed in BKC shows in the past and require points to finish their championships, may be entered in the limited championship shows. The obedience trials are not subject to this restriction, advises Miss Forster.

British Columbia Notes

The new President of the Alberni Valley KC is Harold (Bud) Bishop (Totem Kennels); Secretary, Mrs. Barbara Crowley (Klitsa); Show Superintendent, Dick Vandermolen (Rynaak); Treasurer, Mrs. Gerti Christian.

New imports: Mrs. B. Crowley's brother and sister Dutch Keeshonds from the well-known Flakkee Kennels in California. Sire of these outstanding pups is Ch. Cornelious Wrocky Selznick. Their grandsire, Ch. (Can., Eng. & Am.) Wrocky of Wistonia was "Top Kees for All Time" until 1967 when his record was surpassed by his grandson, Ch. Flakkees Sweepstakes, half brother to Wrockys Image and Saucy Sue.

Mrs. Nell Vandermolen (Ryn-ak) also recently imported another outstanding Kees puppy from Modesto Kennels, Calif.: Modesto's Canuck of Ryn-ak, sired by Ch. Ruttkays Go Man Go. Canuck's half brother, Ch. Vanfutz the Strutter of Modesto took the breed at the 1968 Kees Specialty at Devon, so the future of the West Coast Kees looks rosy with the additions of such top quality pups.

If the show goes on the West Coast notice an unusual looking breed in the Working competition, that shaggy looking puppy is a Bouvier des Flandres, rare out west. He is Mrs. G. Christian's new American import from the famous kennel of Deewall in New Jersey.

A perky little Lakeland Terrier, Sunlocks First Edition, flew out to B.C., showing great promise for Mrs. Fran Zimmerman, Franklin River via Port Alberni, V.I., B.C.

Silver Sea Spray of Totem, five months old and topping a large Working entry at Victoria, with 11-year-old Wendy Bishop. Judge was Mr. B. Dahl.

Recent Sanction Match winner in Victoria was Silver Sea Lance of Totem, a Samoyed Junior puppy, going BB (over five Sams) into the Group and topping a large entry to go Best in Show at the Junior Kennel Club show. Judge was Mrs. J. Brazier. At the next show held by the Vancouver Island club, Victoria, Silver Sea Spray, half sister to Lance, trained, prepared and shown entirely by 11-year-old Wendy Bishop, placed 1st in Group. A thrill for such a youngster, but many of these youngsters do a very professional job, as witnessed at the Century Championship Dog Show when a Junior Handler was awarded BCB in Show. Hats off to Master R. Brumpton, Ladner, B.C. and the judge who had the courage of his convictions. Many of these youngsters are above average in timing and presentation. Mrs. Elsie Murray should take a bow, and her assistants as well, for the work they have done over the years.

CRISIS IN THE ONTARIO HUMANE MOVEMENT

For many years your publishers have been actively interested in the humane movement. This article reflects our deep concern with two bills now before the Ontario Legislature.

"The humane movement in Ontario will be destroyed if two Bills, 73 and 74, now before the Ontario Legislature, are enacted," states Tom Hughes, General Manager of the Ontario Humane Society.

If you want to protect pet animals from seizure by unscrupulous dealers, if you want to protect your animals against abuse in the medical research laboratories, if you want to maintain a humane movement in Ontario . . . then we strongly urge you to convey your thoughts to your local Member of Provincial Parliament by telephoning him, writing him, organizing petitions, protest meetings, picketing the Legislature and any form of protest you can think of.

The main points of these two new and incredible bills is given later in this article.

The Ontario Humane Society, at the present time, operates under the Ontario S.P.C.A. Act. This Act has been in force with amendments since 1919. As recently as 1955, the Government of Ontario re-defined the powers of the Society to prevent unnecessary suffering on the part of animals. Very briefly, the Act allows Inspectors of the Society to enter premises to investigate complaints of cruelty and to examine the animals on those premises. This authority has been jealously guarded and never intentionally abused. It has made it possible for the Society to intervene in countless thousands of cases of cruelty to animals. But for the intervention of the Society, these animals would have suffered unnecessarily. It has resulted in thousands of prosecutions for cruelty being taken, the majority of which have resulted in convictions. It is impossible to estimate the animal suffering that has been alleviated by this intelligent legislation.

During the last 50 years, the humane movement in Ontario has painfully and gradually built up a chain of modern Animal Shelters throughout the Province. At the present time there are 28 Animal Shelters with a capital investment running into millions of dollars. These Animal Shelters provide a haven for unwanted stray or abandoned animals. They are built to the highest possible standard and are operated efficiently and humanely. The standard maintained in these Shelters is as high as the average veterinary hospital. "By comparison," states Mr. Hughes, "there are hundreds of public pounds in Ontario which are a disgrace to the province and a living proof of the indifference and apathy of public officials, all of whom know perfectly well that these scandalous conditions exist but who have failed to take any action to remedy them."

"The Ontario Humane Society has repeatedly brought these conditions to the attention of the Government, both Provincial and Municipal, and yet today these shocking and scandalous conditions still exist, living evidence of a total lack of concern for animals on the part of public officials." Fifty years of progress toward a civilized community, in which animals are protected against cruelty and neglect, now appears to be coming to a dramatic and tragic end.

Mr. Wm. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture, has introduced Bill 73 into the Ontario Legislature. Bill 73 is described as "An Act to Regulate the Procurement and to Provide for the Welfare of Animals Used for Teaching and Research". The Act will license dealers in animals for research and the premises in which animals are used for experimentation.

The Research Animals Bill means very simply that any pound, or any Animal Shelter operated by the Humane Society, will be forced to surrender to research institutions AND TO DEALERS, ON DEMAND, ANY UNCLAIMED UNSOLD ANIMAL. Read that sentence again. It means that some of the unscrupulous dealers in animals for research can walk into any Animal Shelter and demand unclaimed, unsold animals. These dealers can then take these animals back to their own premises, keep them, sell them, resell them, and do anything they like with them. And to make certain that the Society cannot embarrass these licensed dog dealers or registered research facilities, the Act prohibits the Ontario Humane Society inspectors from investigating their premises. In other words, the Government of Ontario intends to legalize all dealers in pets and give special protection to the pet dealers.

The second piece of legislation, Bill

74, introduced by Mr. Arthur Wishart, Attorney General, who is an MPP for Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. Hughes states, is "clearly and simply intended to eliminate the Ontario Humane Society as an agency capable of enforcing the laws that protect animals in Ontario."

Bill 74 requires the Inspectors of the Society who receive a complaint of cruelty or neglect from the public, to appear before a Justice of the Peace. The Inspector will have to fill in a form describing the alleged neglect (which he has not seen himself!) and swear an affidavit, on oath, that he feels the complaint is reasonable, and ask for a warrant to enter and check the animals. How the Inspector can make such an affidavit without having seen the animals is a mystery. Where the Justices of the Peace are going to be found, to make these warrants available, is a mystery. Armed with the warrant, if he ever gets it, the Inspector will then try to carry out an investigation. Since in most country districts the presence of the Inspector is very soon known throughout the area, and since quite often the purpose of his visit is soon common knowledge, it seems reasonable to assume that most persons will have taken action to eliminate the animals, destroy the evidence or simply remove the cause for complaint. Presuming, however, that the Inspector does get into the premises where the animals are believed to be neglected, he may then, under the new legislation, decide that the animals are being neglected. If this is his opinion he will then have to call for a veterinarian. The Act does not say who is to pay for the veterinarian but nevertheless, he is to call in a veterinarian. If the veterinarian agrees that the animal has been neglected, the inspector may either feed the animal or may remove it.

The Act goes on to create a "Review Board". Who will sit on the Review Board is not known, but the Board will hear complaints from anyone who has been investigated by an Inspector of the S.P.C.A. or a Humane Society or whose animals have been removed. This Board may call witnesses and may order that the animals shall be returned to the person from whom they have been taken and may assess the costs of the seizure against the Society.

This means, very simply, that Inspectors of the Society will be wrapped up in red tape, intimidated by the presence and potential action of the Review Board, and generally prevented from carrying out their job.

The reason for this two-fold legislation is pretty clear.

On the one hand, scientific interests are determined to obtain a cheap supply of animals, and they look to people's pets to provide this supply. Obviously, research is necessary, and must go on. But the method proposed by the Government to obtain these animals is tantamount to removing the rights of people to private property and giving police powers to dog dealers to force their way onto private property and to remove animals from that property. Remember that the Shelters are the private property of Humane Societies and the animals in the Shelters are the private property of the Humane Society.

On the other hand, agricultural interests are concerned with the increasing activity and efficiency of the humane movement, and see in the humane movement a threat to the increasing use of animals in production-line techniques in the research laboratories. The proposed legislation is disgraceful, totalitarian, un-Canadian. It is the sort of legislation one would expect in Russia, not in a democratic Canada, from a Conservative Government.

Tom Hughes, General Manager of the Ontario Humane Society, says, "There will be no Humane Society in Ontario within a short period of time if this legislation goes through. The public will not support any Society which abandons its principles in the interests of expediency. I foresee very clearly the closing down of the Animal Shelters in the province, or of them being taken over by Municipalities and run as dog pounds. I foresee, very quickly, the cancellation of the contracts between the Society and the Municipalities, under which the Society provides animal services for Municipalities. I foresee the Society releasing all its Inspectors because they simply will not be able to perform any useful function.

"Countless thousands of men and women have given their lives, money and effort into building up an efficient, humane organization, of which Ontario can justly be proud. The largest Humane organization in Canada is in danger of being destroyed by the thoughtless, arrogant action explicit in these proposed pieces of legislation by our Government.

"Despite the many briefs presented by the Ontario Humane Society to the Government of Ontario, including a plea for the proper licensing of all commercial horse establishments and PMU farms, and authorized regular inspections by Humane Society inspectors... at no time prior to the Government introducing this new legislation was the Ontario Humane Society consulted, or given an opportunity to discuss it, or even made aware that it was being considered.

"Only Governments can make laws and only Governments can repeal them. We appeal to you, as an individual interested in animal welfare, to stand up for your individual rights and voice your protest in every way possible to your local Member of Provincial Parliament. Help us to try to protect pet animals from seizure by dealers and abuse in the laboratories. With these new Bills, the Government of Ontario has, to all intents and purposes, served notice that they intend to destroy the humane movement. The public of Ontario must serve notice on the Government, quickly and emphatically by any legal means, if they do not wish this to happen. Act now or it will be too late."

It is difficult to rationalize the action taken by the Government, it is difficult to understand why they would ignore the work and accomplishments of the Humane Society, built up by individuals in an effort to conserve what is good and correct what is wrong and inhumane. It is difficult to understand why so many animals are required for medical research, in the tens of thousands or even hundreds of thousands annually. Doubtless there is duplication and repetitious testing in medical classes and between universities.

It is hoped that our elected Government will listen to the raised voice of informed public opinion and withdraw this ill-considered piece of new legislation.

Summary of Bill 73:

"The operator of a pound is required, except in certain specified circumstances, to sell any unclaimed dog or cat that is in the pound to a dealer or operator of a research facility within the specified time limits".

"Inspection of dealers' premises and research facilities is provided for, along with other ancillary matters." (The government appoints the inspectors).

"Pound includes premises that are used for the detention, maintenance or disposal of dogs or cats that have been abandoned, have strayed, have been impounded pursuant to a bylaw of a municipality or have been left at the premises to be disposed of by the operator thereof."

Except under the authority of a warrant under section 14 of the Summary Convictions Act, an Inspector shall not enter any part of a dwelling without the consent of the owner or tenant unless the occupant is a licensed dealer, or unless he has reasonable grounds for believing that the occupant is maintaining in such part animals that are used or intended to be used in research.

Sections 12, 13 and 14 of the Ontario S.P.C.A. Act 1955, do not apply in respect of animals in the possession of a licensed dealer or the operator of a registered research facility.

Subject to subsection 2, the redemption period shall be 48 hours, or such longer period as the regulations prescribe.

Bill 73 goes on to cancel out portions of the 1955 Ontario S.P.C.A. Act, Sections 12, 13 and 14... those portions which specify that "If there is any reasonable ground for believing that an animal has been confined in any place without necessary food, water and attention for more than 15 hours, an inspector or agent of the Society may open and enter the building in which the animal is confined and may supply it with the necessary food, water and attention as long as it remains there without such necessities or, if he deems it advisable, may remove the animal." (Section 12, 1955 Ontario S.P.C.A. Act). In the words of the proposed Act, these regulations are not to apply in respect of animals in the possession of a licensed dealer or the operator of a registered research facility.

Bill 74, presented by the Minister of

POUND

A pound is a public place, owned or operated by a municipality, in which animals are impounded for having contravened a bylaw which prohibits these animals from being at large.

HUMANE SOCIETY ANIMAL SHELTER

is a building owned and operated by a Humane Society, in which unwanted animals are sheltered and made available for adoption to the general public, and to which the general public may deliver animals for euthanasia. These Shelters are sometimes used to house impounded animals under the terms of a contract between the Humane Society and a municipality, but the Shelter still remains the property of the Humane Society when this contract exists.

THE POUNDS ACT BRIEF

was presented by the Ontario Humane Society to the Hon. Darcy McKeough, Minister of Municipal Affairs. At no time prior to introducing this legislation (Bills 73 and 74) was the Ontario Humane Society consulted or given an opportunity to discuss it or made aware that it was even being considered.

Agriculture, repeals the same sections of the 1955 S.P.C.A. Act, and attempts to enact instead a regulation requiring that the inspector or agent of the Ontario Humane Society must obtain a warrant of authorization from a justice of the peace before he can enter the building or place; on this warrant, he must provide information on oath "that there are reasonable grounds for believing that there is . . . an animal that is in distress". Every warrant issued under subsection 1 shall be executed between sunrise and sunset, unless the justice by the warrant authorizes the inspector or an agent of the Society to execute it at night.

Section 14b of the proposed new bill announces formation of an Animal Care Review Board of three persons who shall be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor; whereby the owner or custodian of any animal deems himself aggrieved with the inspection of an animal by the inspector or agent of the Ontario Humane Society or by the removal of an animal, he may within five days of receiving notice of the order or removal, appeal against the order or request return of the animal. And where, in the opinion of the owner or custodian, the animal has ceased to be in distress, he may apply to the Board to have the order revoked!

Copies of these proposed bills may be obtained by writing the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly, Room 110, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Up to four copies may be obtained free; beyond that, they are 25c each.

A brief entitled "The Regulation and Control of Public Pounds in Ontario" was submitted to the Minister of Municipal Affairs, Province of Ontario, by the Ontario Humane Society, in January 1969. This brief detailed a survey of existing public pounds, a report on the Animal Shelters operated by Humane Societies, and a recommendation for a form of new legislation, in an attempt to improve the sometimes appalling conditions in local municipal pounds. The problems outlined in the Pound Brief were spelled out: (1) to ensure that any animal impounded under the authority of either Provincial legislation or municipal bylaw, is held in facilities which are adequate for the particular animal's reasonable requirements; free of risk of abnormal exposure to disease; provided with adequate food, water, shelter and care; (2) to ensure that any person whose property is impounded by the local authority has a reasonable opportunity to recover his property; and finally, (3) to guarantee a humane merciful death to any animal which has to be disposed of.

The brief suggested that "Given adequate Regulations, the Ontario Humane Society could easily bring to an end the present neglect and abuse of animals . . ." and pointed out that the inspection of pounds could be included in the duties of all inspectors. The cost to the Government of Ontario to provide the extra assistance to the Humane Society would only be a fraction of the expense which would be incurred by the Government if police officers were used to inspect pounds, or if some special force of 'inspectors' were created for the purpose. The Humane Society already has a trained force of inspectors and it has the organization to administer and supervise inspectors. The Province of Ontario would thus obtain expert enforcement at no cost to the taxpayer.

This brief was presented in January of this year to the Hon. Darcy McKeough, Minister of Municipal Affairs for the Province of Ontario. There has been no reaction from the Department of Municipal Affairs, although the problem of animal control is certainly one of great concern to the municipalities.

Reprints of this article may be obtained by writing Dogs in Canada and enclosing 10c per copy.

Clip this form and sign it. Mail it to your local Member of Provincial Parliament. Copy the message and write a petition by obtaining signatures of others interested in animal welfare and mail it to your MPP. ACT NOW OR IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I protest the principles outlined in the proposed legislation Bills 73 and 74 on Animal Research, and revisions to the Ontario S.P.C.A. Act. I appeal to you to speak for the Ontario Humane Society and the private citizens who support it. Surely our Government will not force the Society to turn over live animals for medical research. The charter of the Ontario Humane Society to prevent cruelty to animals would be meaningless if this legislation were enacted.

Canine "Family" Control

A study into ways to control reproduction in dogs is being undertaken at the School of Veterinary Medicine, Colorado State University, by a team of veterinary scientists. The research will attempt to utilize a luteinizing hormone which is secreted by the pituitary gland. Efforts will first be directed toward attempting to develop a simplified technique for isolating the pure hormone. Immunization against the hormones which regulate testicular function in males and ovarian function in females might have a twofold purpose: reproductive processes might be delayed for a short period of time or be permanently halted if need be.

The study is supported by the Seeing Eye, Inc., Morristown, N.J. and the Scaife family of Pittsburgh through the Morris Animal Foundation, Denver, Ohio.

Organization of a Junior K.C.

by HUGH A. MUNRO

IN June of 1967, the Ottawa Kennel Club held a special general meeting with a panel discussion regarding the formation of a Junior Kennel Club. The panel consisted of Mrs. Pat Randal, Saskatoon, Mrs. June Monahan, and Mrs. Doris Courtney of Ottawa, with Dr. F. George Walker chairing the discussion.

During the winter of 1967-68 a series of eight meetings were held for junior members of the O.K.C. to determine the response to an educational program on dogs for juniors. Our attendance averaged 18 juniors.

The enthusiasm of our junior members made it abundantly clear to the O.K.C. Executive that there was a definite need for a Junior Kennel Club in the Ottawa area.

To this end, the O.K.C. Executive gave terms of reference to two of their members, Bob Tape and the writer, to draw up guidelines for the formation of a junior club. A deadline was set so that, following approval by Executive, the suggested guidelines were to be presented to the October general meeting.

After approval of the guidelines by the general meeting, advertisements were placed in the local Ottawa papers announcing formation of a kennel club for juniors, the date and location of the organizational meeting and a phone number for information.

Mrs. Thora Brown (formerly Miss Thora Britten), well-known in Toronto dog circles, was appointed advisor to the new junior club. The writer was appointed O.K.C. Director responsible for the junior club.

The organizational meeting was held November 9 at which time the objectives and structural guidelines were presented to the juniors, and they were asked for suggestions on subject matter for the winter meetings.

The second meeting, held November 16, was devoted to discussion, conducted by Mrs. Brown, of duties at dog shows. Then duties were assigned to the juniors for the O.K.C. November 23 and 24 shows.

At the November shows 20 members of the new Ottawa Junior Kennel Club effectively carried out assignments as Assistant Ring Stewards; Runners, issued arm bands to exhibitors and sold show catalogues.

December 7, at their third meeting, they elected their own Executive: President, Michael D. Pritchard; Vice-President, Miss Sera Willis; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Iveagh Munro; Directors, Miss Carole Willis and André Dubé.

Later in December, the Executive drew up the following program for the current winter: Handling and Grooming; Mechanics of a Dog Show; Anatomy of a Dog; Films on Obedience; Movement and Faults; Show Rules and Entries; Diseases and First Aid; Show Care; Standards Study Sessions; and for the final meeting, before people go to cottages or take dogs on holidays, they will have a lecture on rabies.

All meetings are held on Saturday mornings to avoid conflict with school studies and our final winter-spring meeting will be held in mid-May to avoid conflict with preparation for school examinations. □

WESTMINSTER AND A BLIZZARD

One of the mightiest storms in New York's history highlighted this year's big show

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

THE annual pilgrimage of dog people, some with dogs, to New York City had a new focal center in 1969. The new Madison Square Garden Center was waiting to receive them for the first time. For most visitors and exhibitors this meant a different hotel and a different parking lot. The hotel where most of us ended up marked the weekend with several of the pre-Westminster specialties, a full house, the normal weekend reduction in staff for an empty hotel, four elevators out of service and a number of looted rooms. Sunday opened with 16" of snow and a wind of 30 miles per hour velocity. Last year it was a garbage strike. This year it was a blizzard. Exhibitors who planned to arrive on Sunday were hours late. Some never arrived. Some terriers got out to 168th Street for the terrier show on Sunday and were still there Monday night.

As a locale for a dog show the new gardens proved to be as inadequate as the old. The rings were even smaller. The benching area was just as cramped as before. It was, however, cleaner and the ceilings higher. The grooming area was hopelessly inadequate and as cold as the benching area was hot. Reserved seats, lots of them, eight dollars each and comfortable.

It is difficult to express an opinion about the absentees. Some were due to the storm but many were undoubtedly the usual "get your name in catalogue whether you go or not", ones. Collies, with 28 entered, had 13 present. Because of the major win requirement to qualify for entry, most of the entries were specials. Points were scarce in almost all breeds.

Best in Show went to an extremely nice Skye Terrier, Glamour Good News, owned by Walter F. Goodman and Mrs. Adele F. Goodman of Oyster Bay, New York. This bitch is a litter sister of the Skye who won Best of Breed at the Gardens in 1967 and 1968. As usual she was handled by co-owner Walter Goodman. Group I went to an English Springer, Ch. Magill's Patrick CD, from Renton, Wash. This was the only western dog to make it to the final selection. The Hound Group saw Ch. Crosswynd's Cracker Jack, a Smooth Dachshund owned by Mrs. Charles C. Stalter and handled by Dorothy Hardy, repeat his 1968 group win. In that year he came very close to going all the way. This year he had just a little less sparkle. The Working Group was won by the Old English, Ch. Prince Andrew of Sherline. The Toy Group provided considerable interest as an Italian Greyhound of magnificent temperament and showmanship won the crowd but lost out to a Toy Manchester, Ch. Ren Reh Lorelei of Chameron. The Non-Sporting Group was won by a gorgeous red Chow, Ch. Gotschall's Van Van, who displayed a considerable dislike for judges.

Two Canadian sisters from Toronto were in the Junior Showmanship competition but lost out to a spectacular young gentleman, Charles Garvin from Ohio. This lad was absolutely marvelous as he moved his Dalmatian with all the grace and poise of a ballet dancer. Our unsolicited advice to mothers with young people who wish to make a career of handling dogs is to send them to ballet school.

Canadians had breed wins in each of groups four to six. Pamela Mack and her Corgi, Ch. Mackson's the Young Pretender; Betty Hyslop and her Cairn, Ch. Redletter Twinlaw Seaspirit; Mrs. N. R. McCarvill's Miniature Poodle, Ch. Tranchant Annabelle and the Canadian hero of the show John Babbidge with his wife's Papillon, Ch. Jaclair's Letson. Clarice Babbidge had gone off to England and Crufts with the instruction to her scarcely doggy husband John to bring four Paps to the Gardens where she would meet him on Sunday evening. Came the blizzard and no Clarice. Monday morning John won Winners Dog, Winners Bitch, Best Opposite Sex and Best of Breed. John told me that as he left the ring the judge, Melbourne T. Downing, quietly said, "I like your dogs but I would have to give you zero for handling."

Shirley deBoer had both sets of points with her Boxers and a puppy bred by her was Best Puppy at the Boxer specialty on the Sunday. Betty Hyslop had Winners Dog and Best Opposite Sex as well as her breed win. In addition, the Winners Bitch was sired by her dog. A Canadian owned and bred Ridgeback was Best Puppy at the specialty.

As usual, Canadians were present in considerable numbers. Mary Curran, stewarding at the Airedale specialty. Robert Walters and Yan Paul judging. Ronald and Madeleine Worthington, Airedales. Albert Aaron, the owner of the Ridgeback puppy, and Mrs. Aaron. Anita Chapman, Poodles. Luc Boileau, Whippets. Cliff Thompson, Schnauzers. Mrs. de Forest Simmons, Yorkies. The Duguid family, Airedales. Herb and Shirley Streeter, English Setters. Peter Wright, Scottish Deerhounds and Norwich Terriers. Mrs. Newbolt, Deerhounds. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Berquist, Yorkies. Irving and Sarah Diamond, Dachshunds. Ron Herd, Boxers. Bobbie Ellis, oozing charm as usual. Valerie Reid, Poodles and Terriers. Ron Reid, Corgis. Joan Kyle, Pointers and Poodles. Catherine Martyn, Springers. Ann Snelling, Springers. Susan Corbin, Poodles. Reg Scott, Shelties. Jack and Sybil Jardine, Shelties. Sigi and Mitzi Muntz, Shelties. Michael Millan, Boxers. Sandy Wells, Poodles. Jean Raymond, Norwegian Elkhounds. Bill Dawson, busy listening to people telling what was wrong with the CKC. Fred Peddie and Herb Williams, Chows. Nigel Aubrey-Jones, Pekes. George and Gloria Fierheller, Maltese. Beryl Smith, Yorkies. Susie-Mae Weir, Yorkies. Joyce MacKenzie handled a brace of Newfoundlanders, American owned, to Best Brace in the Working Group. Blanche Roberts, grande dame extraordinaire. Sharmion Aune, Maltese and quite a few others including Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins whose Westie placed in the sweepstakes at the Sunday specialty. □

IMPORTANT NOTICE

It has been brought to our attention on several occasions that copies of DOGS IN CANADA have not been received as early as they should have.

As you know, newspapers and periodicals are not handled by the post office with the same dispatch as first class mail. Despite the fact that your publishers exert every effort to print and mail the issues in good time, we have absolutely no control, once they are out of our hands, over the time of arrival.

"Lady Charlotte" as she is fondly known, is congratulated by publisher Kaye Peer. Below, she demonstrates brushing of Pomeranians. She handles Joy herself.

Behind Mrs. Walker, Princess, Joy and BeeBee is the 50' autographed banner presented by her bowling club last year. Message reads: "May you have many more strikes."

Happy 100th birthday MRS. WALKER!

Meet the World's Wittiest, Oldest Active Bowler-Dog Exhibitor

WHATEVER the exact date of her birthday, as far as her "doggy" and other friends are concerned, chipper Charlotte Walker will be feted on the occasion of her own centennial on March 22.

When the oldest dog exhibitor in Canada, and surely the entire world, is honored during the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show, her 100th birthday will be marked by a series of "happenings".

Without disclosing too much of the widespread plan, she will be the recipient of tokens of love and esteem from about 25 breed and obedience clubs in and around Toronto. Ralston Purina of Canada Ltd. will convert their booth to form a "throne" at which Mrs. Walker will receive felicitations for an hour or so at a time, as long as her strength permits. An honor book is also being provided by the company for signatures of well-wishers.

To start the reception she will enter the ring on the arm of a Ralston representative, piped in by Scott Murray, young and talented piper in full regalia. The presentation of the gift from the Exclusive International Toy Breeders Club will be made by courtly Judge Louis Murr who, on behalf of the club, two years ago presented Mrs. Walker with a painting on velvet of her beloved Pomeranian, Joy. The ceremonies will likely take place in the late afternoon of the 22nd between the Breed and Group judging.

Wayne and Shuster, knowing she is a devotee, expressed the wish to have her on their show, but will be away on a U.S. commitment at the time and instead are sending their oldest fan a framed picture. The Sportsmen's Show Committee will make a special presentation as will the Toy Breed Club of which she is an honorary life member.

For about a week before and after the memory-making day Mrs. Walker will be at home to friends at her residence, the home of Mrs. A. J. Symons, 234 Ryding Ave., Toronto, with the exception of Friday, March 21 and of course the following two days when she'll be at the shows, exhibiting and receiving.

At the age of "fourscore and twenty" twinkly Mrs. Walker has a fairly busy calendar. She and her diminutive friend Joy, that is. Until recently she accompanied her mistress to church. Mrs.

Walker finally had to give up going to services. "Can't hear a thing the minister says," she admits.

Joy and Charlotte go way downtown to the Olympic Bowling Club once a week where, under the auspices of the Rummymede United Church Second Mile Club, she still bowls over 100. Generally Mrs. Symons drives her, but during a recent spell of heavy weather the tiny twosome made the long trip by bus and subway.

She is in remarkably good health and along with her mail, avidly reads Dogs in Canada. Three years ago she flew alone to England (she was born in Bristol). On landing in London flight attendants raced to bring her a wheelchair. She indignantly refused the fuss. "I walked on this plane, thank you very much, and I'll walk off."

Rarely at home alone, she nevertheless can fend for herself, under the watchful eye of friends. She insists upon grooming the three household Poms and cooking up special dishes for them and for the big white cat. It's her activity that keeps her so keen and alert. Pomeranians have been her big interest for the past 45 years. Under the prefix Pom Pom she has raised and exhibited more Poms than she can remember, a number to their championship.

She attends as many dog shows as possible as well as club meetings. A satin collar attests that she is an honorary member of the LTBA Prov. Grand Lodge and is a Past mistress of the True Blues. Membership in The Canadian Kennel Club goes back to 1925. Her many friends include those in the Second Mile Club and others ill at home or in hospital. Some are in their 80's. "I've got to go and cheer up those old folks," she says with a chuckle.

The secret of her longevity? She doesn't really know. Her sister, two years older, passed away just two years ago. Not ill, just stopped in her tracks, as Mrs. Walker puts it.

Letters of congratulations are anticipated from Her Majesty the Queen, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Premier John Robarts and Mayor William Dennison.

Breed and other club officials wishing information on the club presentations should immediately contact Mr. Bob-John Ellieff, 391 Rhodes Ave., Toronto. □

Labrador Notes

Three Canadian Labrador Retrievers were entered December 8 at the Ingham Co. KC show at Lansing, Mich., competing with an entry of 13 females, 14 males and one champion. Canadians made strides: first in Open Male Class, WD for 5 points and BOS, was the two-year-old black male, Ch. Wimberway's Friendly Freddy, owned by Greg Sephton of Richmond Hill, Ont. First Open Bitch, WB (5 points) BW and BB over the champion was Ch. Sunnybrae Ben Y Vrackie, an imported yellow, not yet two years old, owned and handled by Sandy Briggs of Wimberway, near Markham, Ont. This win completed Vrackie's American title. She has been shown six times in the United States and has gone BW five out of the six times shown, taking a major entry every time.

Amanda of Jodonga, Can. CD, a two-year-old black bitch owned, trained and handled by Carol Brethet of Burlington, Ont., took High Score in Trial, Highest Scoring Sporting Dog and High Score in the Novice Class with 198½ at a recent Obedience Trial in Buffalo, N.Y., to gain her second leg toward her American CD. "Mandy is currently training for her CDX and recently scored 197 in the Open 'A' Class at the North York Obedience Club's Obedience Match."

Setter Import

Oscar F. Scholz reports the arrival of a promising young English Setter female, a blue belton named Shalleagan's Littlest Angel. Purchased from Dr. H. E. Schneider, Shalleagan Kennels, in the States, "Angel" is a daughter of the BIS winner Am. Ch. Chandelle's Anchor Man and a granddaughter of the BIS winner, Am. Ch. Margand Lord Baltimore. She will make her debut in the 1969 show ring says Mr. Scholz, who has the Fichtental Kennels in Fort William, Ont.

B.C. Cocker News

A note of sadness in my column this month due to the needless and tragic death of a very promising English Cocker bitch, Chasemore Cinnamon, owned by Mrs. Elly Watson of Vancouver. Mrs. Watson believes the amphetamine or "speed" pills were thrown over her backyard fence by a number of youths that she saw loitering there earlier in the day. All three of her English Cockers had eaten the pills, but two-year-old Cinnamon became very ill and died shortly after being rushed to the veterinarian. The other dogs were ill and vomited, but recovered. Cinnamon had a very successful two weeks last summer, touring the Eastern U.S. shows, (see November 1968 Breed Notes) and had earned seven American points. She was a daughter of the top-winning English Cocker in Canada for the past three years, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Colinwood Coastguard.

The Annual Sanction Match of the B.C. Cocker Club was held February 2. The members wish to thank all the exhibitors who supported the Match in spite of a very heavy snowfall. This certainly proves that "doggy people" are very special people indeed. BIS was "Sahib", an English Cocker recently imported from England by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whittall of West Vancouver. Winner of Group 2 and Best Can. Bred Puppy in Show was the Whippet, "Trudy" owned by Mr. and Mrs. Webster of Aldergrove; Group 3, Shetland Sheepdog, "Charm", owned by Mrs. W. MacArthur, Richmond; Group 4, Smooth Fox Terrier, "Rista", owned by Mrs. Johnson, Aldergrove; Group 5, Yorkshire Terrier "Dilly" owned by B. Suzette of Vancouver; Group 6, Miniature Poodle "Gus" owned by Mrs. Lee Watts, West Vancouver. Judges for the Match were C. Overby and Beverly Nelson of the Seattle, Wash. area; Mary Wilkinson, Lavinia Miller, and Evelyn Crawford, all of Vancouver. A very successful show in spite of Mother Nature's efforts to make the roads virtually impassable.

Mrs. Eileen Miles reports that she's very pleased with the seven lovely buff puppies (three males, four females), presented to her on Boxing Day by Ch. Wee Thistle's Miss Chief. Proud papa is Ch. (Can. & Am.) Twinsand's Talisman. She is keeping a male and a female to show and is hoping that some of the others can be placed in show homes.

Twinsand's Talisman is also the sire of a litter of blacks (one male, four females) born in quarantine in England. Mother is Timothy's Black Jewel, exported by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lilley in November, to Mr. Richard Wylde of Shrewsbury.

English Cocker news from Pat Power at "Willowbrook": Ch. Cochise Cambyes (Imp.) and Ch. Cochise Carioca (Imp.) have a family of six blue roan puppies, (three males, three females). Greta Mathiasen is taking the pick bitch puppy and Pat is keeping a boy for future showing. This litter is a repeat breeding of a litter that produced two champions and another with eight points. Ch. Willowbrook Fancy Me Blue, one of these Champions is mothering a litter of three (two b/w boys, one blue girl) by Ch. Westering Home of Weirde (Imp.). Looks like Willowbrook will continue to be in the winner's circle this season.

I received a very nice letter from Mrs. Tina Côté, Bayuwar Kennels, of Pierrefonds, Que., in answer to my plea for English Cocker news. Mrs. Cote's foundation bitch was purchased from the West Coast kennel of Miss V. Lyne, (Ranzfel, Reg.). A daughter of this bitch has been gathering some nice wins. Ch. Bayuwar's Blue Blazes has several BB wins and took a Group 4th at Three Rivers. She is the top winning English Cocker bitch in the east for 1968. "Jeannie" is now linebred to Ch. Courtdale Buccaneer (Imp.), with puppies due in mid-March.

Golden Triangle Action

The Golden Triangle Cocker Spaniel Club held a fun match in conjunction with the Ottawa KC Sanction Show January 26, reports Liz Willis (Morganne Cockers) Ottawa, Ont.

"Our entry was very good and most encouraging. BB was awarded by Mrs. Pam Mack to a lovely little black girl handled by Mr. A. Donderwitz and owned by Mr. Newman. BCB went to Mrs. D. Willis' lovely tri boy, who was handled as usual by Sera Willis. Mr. Newman's black girl went on to 1st in the Group, a very nice win for her first time shown. Mrs. Willis' boy went on to Best Puppy in Show. A very successful day for Cockers."

The club has scheduled two more such matches. Mrs. Norma Donderwitz was invited to judge the American and English entries February 23 and on March 30 Mrs. Marion W. Brown will do the honors.

A Booster Show for American and English Cockers is planned in conjunction with the Ottawa KC in the first week of May. "We are looking forward to a good entry from both our American and our English Cockers."

Mrs. Jean Bateman has been elected the liaison and advisory representative for local English Cocker breeders and owners. "Interest among these people

English Cockers Active

On the occasion of the St. Bernard Club's Sanction Show in Oakville, February 9, there was an entry of seven English Cockers ranging from Junior Puppies to Open and including blue roans, black and white, orange and white and solid black. This is an amazing entry for a Sanction Show.

I am sure this rise in enthusiasm for showing English Cockers will give us plenty to talk about when the Golden Triangle Cocker Club hold their Booster Show on May 3 in conjunction with the Ottawa KC show. We hope to see many new faces.

Basenji News

The Basenji Club of Canada has elected the following slate of officers: Immediate Past President, Joseph L. Pearson, New Westminster, B.C.; President, Malcolm E. MacDonald, Saint John East, N.B.; Vice-President, Alfred L. Braun, Paradise, Mich.; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Marilyn F. Corbett, Toronto; Club Historian, Margaret E. Robertson, Victoria, B.C.; National Show Chairman, Margaret Baldwin, Calgary, Alta.

Regional Zone Representatives and Chairman: Far West, Betty Lou Sinclair, Castlegar, B.C.; Mid West, Eileen Berryman, Saskatoon, Sask.; Eastern, Donna Kent, Lambeth, Ont.; Atlantic, Harriett Quinn, Gunningsville, N.B. Editor of the club Newsletter: Thomas E. Potter, Elmira, Ont.

Harriet and Jim Quinn and myself attended the Basenji Club of America Eastern Specialty Show held with the Eastern Dog Club All Breed Show at Boston, Mass. The Specialty was sponsored by the Basenji Club of New England. We were warmly welcomed by members of this club and their hospitality was wonderful.

The Quinns' Can. Ch. Benji Tricop Golden Bakobi placed 4th in a very strong entry in the open dog class.

The Specialty winner was Am. Ch. Reveille Re-Up owned by Elaine S. Hoffman and bred and handled by Miss Damara Bolte, Alexandria, Va., U.S.A.

While in New England we were house guests of Richard Gilbert, President of the BCONE and his wife Marnee, at Walpole, Mass.

One of the highlights of our visit was being able to meet and chat with the owners of the first Basenji in North America and the founders of the Basenji Club of America, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Phemister.

Phemister's Congo, a little stowaway from Africa, was taken and cared for by the Phemisters. This was in 1939 or 1940. Later they obtained other Basenjies from Miss Veronica Tudor Williams in England and Dr. A. R. B. Richmond, Toronto. Phemister's Congo was bred to a Canadian Basenji and in August, 1941 produced the first litter to be raised to maturity in America.

It would be amiss not to remember the part played by Dr. A. R. B. Richmond who pioneered Basenjies in Canada in 1940 and who owned and made the first Basenji Champion in the world, Ch. Kwillo of the Congo. Also Mrs. Sheila Anderson, of Glenairley Kennels, Victoria, B.C., who bred the first Canadian Basenji to gain a conformation championship and an obedience title, Ch. Joss of Glenairley CD, and Mrs. Roberta Jenkins, Blue Nile Kennels, whose Abakaru of the Blue Nile was the first Basenji to win a Hound Group in Canada and the first Canadian-Bred Champion to win an American Specialty show (1953). Can. Ch. Abakaru of the Blue Nile was also the first Canadian Basenji to win an American title in four straight shows!

Both Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Jenkins are Honorary Members of the BCOC and Mrs. Anderson is our Honorary President and Patron.

Another highlight of our trip was the opportunity of meeting the President of the Basenji Club of America, Mrs. Clara Bradley and her husband "Doc".

Following the judging a most enjoyable dinner was held by the BCONE in downtown Boston.

Canadian Basset Earns Italian Championship

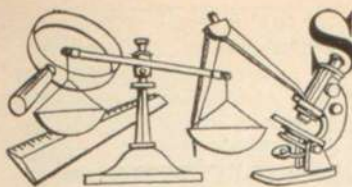

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter (Westacres) Oakville, Ont., have received the good news from Italy that their own Can. Ch. Westacres Fanny Rosa (Ch. Westacre's Hugo the Red ex Ch. Hartshead Fanfare) is now an Italian Champion, undoubtedly a "first" for a Canadian Basset.

And more! They have also learned that the puppy, Westacres Felicia (Ch. Schaufelein's Logy ex Ch. Westacre's Effies), is two-thirds of the way toward her Italian title. She was sent to Italy at the age of four months.

Saluki Notes

Help! Somebody somewhere must have a Saluki that has done something interesting. Ours is such an independent breed that there must be at least one interesting dog in Canada. Please write and I promise to pass the information on. Let me know of recent imports, litters, and litter colors. It could be quite interesting to follow Mrs. Adley's lead and formulate some generalization about color inheritance in Salukis.

STANDARDS QUIZZ

Standards Quiz No. 67. Compiled by H. Malcolm Stephens. Object is to match the first set of numbers (which relate to various parts of the dog) with the second set of numbers (which describe that part of the dog). For example: 8-1 Nose — always brown. Scoring: 16-17 correct — you could be judging. 14-15 correct — you should start thinking about judging. 12-13 correct — good if you are in another breed. Less than 12 — you must be in another breed. Answers on page 41.

There are apparently three color variations: the Irish marked, which is mostly colored with white trim on the tail tip, feet, legs, and/or face; the particolored, which has patches of color on a white background; and the solid color. Has anyone actually seen a solid colored Saluki? Although they apparently exist, there does not seem to be any good evidence to prove it. The Irish markings appear to be dominant, but dominance in coat color is, to the best of my knowledge, unknown.

One of the many interesting things in breeding Salukis is not knowing what colors will result in your litter. When my fawn Irish marked bitch (whose father was a tri-color) was bred to a tricolor, there were four fawn males, one tricolor female, and one cream female, all Irish marked. The nearest cream was the sire's grandsire and the bitch's great-grandsire, Baytor Beda. Cathy Chemago's litter had seven tricolors and one cream, if my memory is correct, and her bitch is red and white spotted while the sire is a tricolor. In the case of Ch. Warm Valley's Niki of Macksons ex Sumeru's Lockni Yani Macksons, both dogs were Irish marked and have produced, in two litters, a mixture of 13 solid pups with Irish markings and six particolors, indicating that both parents carried both genes.

Maybe some day there will be enough known to predict litter color, but when that day comes, a lot of the excitement of predicting litter characteristics will have gone.

Belgian Sheepdogs in Competition — 1968

In 1968, Belgian Sheepdogs increased their activities in CKC competition over previous years. This increase has been growing for some years now and indications are that it will continue in the future as more and more representatives of the breed find their way into Canadian homes. Interestingly as well, the competition in Belgians which used to be confined to Ontario and British Columbia has now spread across Canada and can be found in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. Several representatives of the breed are now in the Maritimes and it is hoped that they will find their way into competition soon.

During the year, there were Belgian Sheepdog entries at 60 All Breed Championship Dog Shows and one Specialty Show for Belgian Sheepdogs. In these shows, Belgians managed to place in the Group on five occasions. Group Seconds were won by Ch. (Can. & Am.) Kis-Tam's Candide Pataud CD, owned by J. Kennedy and K. Johnston; Am. Ch. Our Valiant Du Garde Roux, owned by L. Shroyer; and Ch. A-Yacht's Conita, owned by L. and E. Stanbridge. A Group 3rd was won by Ch. Qu'Chevre De Braise Rouge CD, owned by S. Curry; and a Group 4th was won by Ch. (Can. & Am.) Mars De Fauve Charbonne UDT, owned by J. and D. Allen. Final totals show that during the year five Belgians earned the title of Champion.

In Obedience Trials during 1968, Belgian Sheepdogs did more than their share of winning. Twenty-nine Qualifying Scores were earned by Belgians during the year. Of these eight earned Belgians the distinction of being placed first in their Class, and of these eight, four went on to win the award of Highest Scoring Dog in Trial. These were Ch. (Can. & Am.) Mars De Fauve Charbonne UDT, owned by J. and D. Allen; Luci's Spook of Elmdale Farm UD, owned by L. and E. Stanbridge; and Am. Ch. Olinda of Georjune and Knight O Free Lance Accolade, both owned by S. and A. Kodis. Totals show that four Belgians received their CD; one received his CDX and one received her UD. In gaining these degrees, two dogs, Alder-Vista's Carissa, CD owned by L. and E. Stanbridge and her daughter Mi-shaook's Donita CD, owned by E. Walters, qualified for the Dog World Award of Merit.

After all the results are looked at, it has to qualify as a successful year for Belgian Sheepdogs in CKC competition. It is hoped that 1969 will be even more successful.

Collie and Sheltie News

With Spring just around the corner and every red-blooded dog breeder eager to get that young hopeful in the show ring, it seems a good time to reflect on the process of learning to evaluate our dogs.

Recently a Collie breeder, judge and author, wrote of a good example of negative thinking regarding one of her bitches. This bitch is described as a "flyer" who finished her Championship at about ten months of age defeating many "nearly flawless" individuals.

On the negative side the owner writes that this bitch had two rather prominent white haws; her eyes were a fairly light amber color instead of the preferred dark brown; she had no stop at all; she had a white blaze that ran all the way from her nose, up between her ears; her ears were rather low and placed wide apart; she had a somewhat too wide front, tended to turn out at her elbows and she had a slightly swayed back.

Please remember this description is the owner's and not my own. Now the novice begins in dogs by invariably learning the faults. Some unfortunately never progress beyond this stage regardless of how many years they are breeders and exhibitors. At ringside they loudly proclaim the faults of the winning dogs. Their ideal is the faultless specimen and they are doomed to disappointment and mediocrity.

One Collie here at Sovereign was as close to "faultless" as I have encountered and she never ceased to amaze me because she was so plain. As compared to the Collie described above, she was flat in skull, full in muzzle with correct stop, she had dark eyes, correctly tipped ears, well placed; good spring of rib, straight back and moved adequately. On the negative side, she had absolutely no style; her eyes were slightly larger than desired, she lacked animation to give her the elegant head carriage of the Collie and she had no expression. Although her faults were minor, she was mediocre.

The battle of knowledge is not won when we can successfully fault a Collie or Sheltie but when we can recognize the positive virtues. Great dogs with many virtues will be remembered by the "negative" breeder for the one or two obvious faults, rather than the degree of perfection that give the dog his greatness.

To finish the owner's description of the first mentioned bitch, she is referred to as a glamorous creature. The things about her which made her outstanding were her lovely expression, her great coat of glorious texture and color, her arch of neck, her style and showmanship, her beautiful balance, her graceful way of moving; all these things added up to a winner.

Correct evaluation of a good Collie or Sheltie is in developing an eye for the virtues as well as the faults and measuring the degree of excellence against the seriousness of fault.

The mail has been extremely heavy this month and I love it, as long as you do not expect answers. I wish I could write to each of you to acknowledge your letters but I will have to take this way of thanking you.

Many of the letters requested topics for discussion in this column and I am thankful for your suggestions. Because of your letters we will be discussing Kenneling, Collie and Sheltie ears, the Bearded Collie and beginning a kennel and breeding program. If there is a subject you would like discussed in this column just drop me a line.

Before the good weather comes you may have time for a good book and I would like to recommend very highly, The New Knowledge of Dog Behavior by Clarence Pfaffenberger. This book was awarded Best Technical Dog Book of 1963 by the Dog Writers Association of America and it should be "required reading" for all breeders. We do much to influence the popularity of a breed by the temperament of the dogs we offer for sale.

Elizabeth Swanson (Chordeiles) writes on Sheltie size and in my view has come up with the best suggestion and we received so many letters of concern on the size question. Mrs. Swanson says "I really don't think our present 3" range would be necessary if there were a range for each sex. It might not be a bad idea to go all the way, and cut it to a 2" range (males 14-16", females 13-15").

"In The Show Ring"

New Champion, Drewlane's Sugar And Spice began her show career with a five-point win and won her championship in grand style, taking her second Best of Breed. Her proud owner is Mrs. Lyle Drewery and she was handled by Kay Barnes.

Ch. Jo-Ro's Topper's Trademark finished his title in three shows never less than Winners Dog. He is sired by Ch. Sunnycrest Black Topper ex Ch. Jo-Ro's Jancee and his proud owner, Joan Morris, handled him to his title from the Bred by Exhibitor class.

Ch. Jo-Ro's Starboy, owned by Marshelt Kennels, is another new Sheltie Champion and full brother to Ch. Jo-Ro's Topper's Trademark.

? ? The Question Box ? ?

Marge Scott of Campbellville, Ont. writes "Was wondering if you have any suggestions for putting weight onto a male Collie. We have about exhausted our ideas and have to hold him out of shows because of weight problems."

Well, this is a problem that cannot be solved overnight and what works for one will not work for the next. You might try some of the following and stick with what brings some results. First you must restrict his exercise, keep him quiet in a stall or pen except for regular, short exercise periods. Usually these dogs are fussy eaters and will not touch their food if there are additives or supplements mixed in it. Try giving them their supplements in pill form until the appetite improves.

You are undoubtedly using a good quality meal or kibble now but perhaps if the meat ration is increased it might be more palatable. A very economical food that we use for all puppies and adults alike, is a powdered milk replacer. This is used to raise calves without a mother, so is a good rich milk and cheap source of protein. Offering food frequently works for some and puts others off completely. I remember when Int. Ch. Sovereign Dougie's Choice went through a "thin" period when a year old and my dear grandmother would feed him a buttered chopped egg from her hand each morning and she is certain it was this bit of babying that started him eating everything in sight. Fortunately once they start to eat it is somewhat easier to get them to eat more than they require for maintenance. We feed them quietly in their own stalls first, then the dogs we want heavier are put out in a large run together with fresh pans of food. Whether it is greed or the sight of others enjoying the food, the dog will usually eat a great deal more this way.

I will be expecting more news of new Champions after the Sportsmen's Show so be sure we hear about your winner.

Why Must It Be A Doberman? Part II

(translations from the Dobermann Verein Booklet)

The Doberman in a home

Is the Doberman suitable as a house dog in a family home? First of all let's examine his exterior appearance. He has short, close-lying hair, therefore he does not suffer as much from heat in summer as long-haired dogs do. Hence no hesitation exists with a Doberman to take him out for a walk in the sun, on holidays or weekend trips. There is no reason to exclude him from these enterprises. On the other hand during rainy weather, snow and mud, he doesn't bring any dirt into the house. His short, thick hair cannot soak full of water as the coat of a long haired dog does. Briskly rub with a towel and his wet hair is dried quickly and free of odor. His long legs keep his body well above rain puddles, snow, mud and wet grass, thus his belly doesn't touch the ground as the small breed dogs do; therefore cold-sicknesses are as good as non-existent. Outside the dog is in continuous movement — in the house he dries quickly again.

The housewife knows the value of a smooth coat with regards to furniture and carpets. The Dobe doesn't lose hair which bothers a tidiness-loving eye. Even the feared change from winter coat to summer coat in long-haired varieties passes imperceptibly in our Doberman. His coat needs almost no special care; you couldn't ask for a cleaner dog in a home.

How is his relationship with children?

To that, first of all, it has been established that the Doberman is a dog requiring love and something to lean on. He is happy in people's company and subordinates willingly. Usually he considers the children of the house as playmates, who are in need of his strong protection. Additional babies to the family he accepts without digression and often feels competent to guard their sleep in the crib, their play pen and garden. Give him a feeling that he belongs; should he become a member of a family he should be treated as one of the children, who is not favored but also is not neglected, so in a little while you wouldn't want to miss him as a member of your family.

He loves to go for walks, especially where he can have a romp. Moving about is his life element. For this reason his master must find time for him regularly. A dog is not a stamp album, that could be put aside when not in the mood for it. Get him used to being near his family at an early age, so there is no fear that he might wander away during his walks, for he is drawn to be near his family. He will be forever concerned that his members of the family stay together. This is especially noticeable when the family divides into two groups. He will be running from one group to another, undecided as to which group he should join.

Because of his sharpness and incorruptibility he is a dependable protector of family, house and home. In his company a person feels secure. You can leave the apartment or house in his care without any worries. No unauthorized person would risk putting his foot past the door if he is confronted by a Doberman. He accepts house friends when he sees by the action of his master that they are welcome guests. Good upbringing is essential; naturally this applies to every dog or child. The dog must be brought up correctly. A bad-mannered dog becomes uncivil and thus a menace. When properly brought up and trained, the family grows fond of their affectionate companion and wouldn't want to be without him.

Can a Doberman also be kept in a kennel?

This question too could be entirely answered with a "yes". About half of the members of the Dobermann verein keep their dogs in kennels. The short coat of the Doberman is no reason to prevent him from living in a kennel. As in any other animal that is exposed to permanent influences of the weather, his coat adapts, depending on the environment (I must point out though, the winters in Germany are in general much milder than in Canada). Besides, the kennel dog is not unprotected. His dog house must be built in such a manner that no rain could penetrate. The sleeping quarters should be protected from draft and cold east winds. The dog should not sleep on stone or concrete. He loves wood — (no oak wood because of tannic acid) — or a heap of straw on a wooden plank bed. Warning: do not use felt as bedding. Felt settles easy and quickly in the intestines and can cause serious trouble. The dog is very grateful for an appropriate run, which lets in sun and also has shady places.

However, a kennel dog needs to be taken out. No matter how spacious his kennel and run, it is no substitute for a one hour walk, romp or trotting beside the bike. The Dobe always waits for the person who is taking him out for his walks. With a thankful look the dog goes back to his kingdom after a good romp or a short bike trip — especially when he always finds a clean kennel.

German Shepherd Activities

The Dominion German Shepherd Dog Club held their monthly meeting in Burlington, Ont., February 2, with President Harry Watson in the chair. A fast recovery is hoped for Jo and Frank Brett, Pickering, Ont. and Marlene Kay, Buffalo, N.Y., and for all those "under the weather".

The meeting was divided into two parts. Plans were finalized for the "Afternoon with Ernest Loeb" scheduled for February 23. For information on more of this type of educational entertaining sessions, write Mrs. Ethel Cook, Secretary, at 2439 Prospect St., Burlington. The second portion of the meeting concerned the 1969 Specialty Show to be held June 29, under Specialty Show Chairman George Cook. Capt. William Goldbecker (co-author of "This is The German Shepherd") has been approved to judge the regular classes. Tilley Watson is preparing an outstanding trophy table and Annie Burr has great ideas for the refreshment booth.

All members of our club were sorry to hear of the death of Peggy Pugh who so capably stewarded for us last year. She will be greatly missed at this coming show and many more to follow.

Our Educational Chairman, Frank Butt, R.R., Pickering, Ont., would be pleased to hear from any Shepherd breeder, owner or exhibitor who has suggestions as to topics for future sessions.

This club marked its 100th meeting February 12. A panel discussion on "Preparing a Bitch for Whelping and Whelping Problems" was held under the monitoring of Ian Stewart, long-time Dane breeder under the prefix Zordane and Mrs. Vera Campbell, Countydane Kennels, Dane breeder and the club's active Show Chairman. A question and answer period followed.

New trophies have been offered to stimulate interest in the Great Dane. Mrs. Florence Westbrook has offered the annual trophy to be known as "The Florence Westbrook Obedience Trophy" to be competed for by any individual with a Dane in Obedience trials. The winner also receives a year's membership in the club. Mrs. Westbrook, owner of the famous Harlequin Ch. (Can. & Am.) Zepton Von Zordane, Can. & Am. To stimulate the campaigning of Canadian-bred Danes Mr. and Mrs. William Jeaynes have offered a trophy for the "Top Canadian Bred Dane in Canada".

Member Mrs. Ruth Bucknell of Sheridane Kennels has long felt that breeders should have something to show for their efforts and has offered a perpetual challenge trophy for "Breeder of the Year", open to members of the GDCC.

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Fletch have offered a "Puppy of the Year" challenge trophy, for which club members only are eligible. For more details write the Secretary (see Club Directory listing in this issue).

Still-Rare Breed Has Seven Entries at Ottawa

It's a far cry from the time the first Pulik were introduced to Canada. Seven were entered in the 82nd and 83rd Championship shows held in November by the Ottawa KC. Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Adams, 812 Baseline Rd., Ottawa, were kind enough to submit the photographic record shown here.

All seven were entered in both shows.

Szuszi, a Canadian-bred three-year-old with a beautiful corded coat, took the BB on both days. She was shown by handler Garry MacDonald (owned by Mrs. Irene Szallasi), and appears in the centre of the photo flanked by two of Mrs. R. D. McLellan's Pulik. The two dogs on the left are shown with their owners, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Coe of Ottawa. Of added interest is that of the seven dogs only two were bred outside Canada. These are on the far right of the photo and were purchased in Budapest, Hungary by the writer and his wife in November 1967 while on a visit to Eastern Europe.

daughter of Ch. (Can. & Am.) Wisherwood's Marika and Individualist, bred and owned by Jean Westwood of Vancouver, B.C.

Our Brecon's Blackadot (photo in this book's Honor Roll in group placings) was a Toy Group winner in 1968. She finished her U.S. title in January, 1969 and is now bred to Individualist.

Ch. Brecon's City Slicker, co-owned with Jean Westwood, has three Best Puppy in Shows to his credit in 1968 and eight points in Bermuda as well. He is a son of our Ch. Brecon's Touche and his dam is Individualist's litter sister, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Brecon's Black Magic.

The male, Lagymanyosi Betyar, comes from the well known Hungarian breeder, Bordacs, and the female, Kiraly-laki Csitri, on the far right in the photo, was sired by the Ch. (Hungarian and Int.) Aranyhegyi Fustos.

Our experience showing Betyar and Csitri at several shows throughout Ontario over the past year has been rewarding; our only regret is that more Puli owners don't bring their dogs to the shows. There is one lesson we have learned and that is not to expect a judge to recognize that the Puli takes up to three years to develop its long heavy corded double coat. However, perhaps as more Pulik are shown and the breed gets the recognition that such an easily cared for, intelligent, hardy, and devoted one deserves, the judges will gain more experience and knowledge of the unique character of this ancient breed.

Preshus, a true orange son of the B.I.S. winner Ch. Bonner's Stylepepper Preshus, at stud. His daughter, Oak Hill Thistle, was first in 6-9 months puppy bitches at the recent Pom Specialty in February, 1969 in New York City, and is bred and owned by the Hanawalts of Bethal Park, Pa. His son, Oak Hill Thorn, is also owned by the Hanawalts and has six points and one major in the U.S. and will be shown in Canada this year.

The winnings of these dogs appear in the S.V. Zeitung — Look up their winnings. Check for yourself. Don't be carried away by spectacular advertising. Do a little research by reading the "Zeitung". The results are there.

Sheltie Earns Triple CD in Just Seven Months

The Mountain City Obedience Club, Montreal, celebrated with a Christmas dinner December 13 at Ruby Foo's, a restaurant well-known to exhibitors in the Montreal area.

Members also celebrated the success of Norma Brennan and her Sheltie, Grayfield Peach Brandy (Bonnie). The pair graduated from an advanced training course last May 31, and by the end of July had completed Can. CD and earned two legs on the Am. CD. In October the latter degree was finished and in November Bonnie had earned her Bermuda CD (subject to confirmation).

Earlier in the year the club held a Halloween Party which featured a costume ball for the dogs. Reports Secretary Patricia Murphy: "the costumes were very good and most original and the dogs seemed to enjoy it as much as the audience."

Newf News

Congratulations to the members of the Thousand Island Kennel Club for their fine effort put forth to help make the Santa Claus parade in Brockville a huge success. The theme of their float was "Snoopy" of comic strip fame. A very large dog house in the middle of the float with Snoopy on the top, and the entire float covered in red and white tissue, forming the usual Merry Christmas greetings, won the club first place. Leading the float was a gorgeous Newfoundland, Ch. Kimtale's Sir Basil, owned by Dr. D. Moore of Brockville, Ont. Basil was hauling a lovely decorated red cart, and caused a great deal of delight. Also in attendance were other members of the club, with their dogs, and the owners dressed in the attire appropriate to the breed. However, Basil certainly stole the show.

Another stolen dog? Dryad's Benjamin, a three-year-old black Newfoundland, went to the end of the lane to investigate a car stopped there. When the owner, Mr. Barraclough came out of his barn, both car and dog were gone. Ben is very large, all black, but has a few white hairs on the side of his head from an old scar. He also limps on the left rear when he is weary. If anyone should know of the whereabouts of this dog would they kindly contact the Barracloughs at 924-2581. This is from the Brockville - Athens area.

The other day I was glancing through a 1945 CKC stud book and of course turned to the Newfoundlands. It is very interesting to note that in 1944 only 24 Newfoundlands were registered. Of these only 17 were born in 1944 and the other three were born in 1943 and 1939. The full pedigree is given with most of these, which makes it all the more fascinating as there are certainly some interesting pedigrees. These include the famous names of Shelton, Mill Creek, Kenmount and Waseeka, all of which I'm sure appear in most of the pedigrees of today, in Canada.

Speaking of pedigrees, how many of you read and study the pedigree of the dog you intend to use for stud? I know of some breeders who use the dog around the corner because he is pure-bred and it won't cost anything to ship the bitch away off somewhere. A pedigree is half the battle in improving our breed, so let us take a little more care in our choice of studs. Just because a dog is good-looking does not mean he is going to produce good puppies. However if his parents and grandparents behind him have produced good type Newfs then it stands to reason that he probably will too. However you must also check what is behind your bitch. If she is a really good bitch then you should breed to something which is equally as good from the same strain to improve what you already have. If your bitch has three or four faults, then breed to a stud which does not have these faults, preferably from the same strain but not too closely bred to your bitch. If your bitch is really not good at all, then don't breed her!

It is with much regret that I report the death of Mrs. Maxine Rice and her

Saints' Sanction Draws Big Entry

When the Saint Bernard Club of Ontario held an all-breed Sanction Show February 9 at the Oak Queen Mall in Oakville, Ont., entries totalled 210, including 27 St. Bernards. A Saint puppy owned by Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Seaman went BB and placed 2nd in Group. Humphrey V. Ensign, owned by Robert Marr, was WD. Group III was judged by Mr. Don Davis who has just attained his judging certificate for this breed.

The club's next venture is the Booster Show, March 22, to be held in conjunction with the Sportsmen's Show. We are looking forward to a large turnout and hope to draw some American entries. Last year this Booster was pleased to have from the United States Ch. Skycroft's Hamilar Barca who went BB, attained his Canadian title in three days and also had a BIS with 700 dogs competing. We are sorry to learn this dog is now deceased. Sincere sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weber of Ashland, Ohio. Also to Mr. Carl Pedersen in the loss of his great companion, Ch. Pemono's Plato.

Let's Talk About Terriers

How about that! Mail, mail and more mail. Golly, I can remember when January and February columns consisted of nothing but the Welsh Terrier Standard and now we have all this gorgeous mail and on a variety of breeds from coast to coast. Thanks a million gang, it sure does help to take the cobwebs out of one's brain during a long, cold winter!

A letter from Mrs. Ronald Worthington, Kerworth Airedales, Laval, Que. relates: "Whilst my husband was in England recently he purchased an Airedale bitch, Araricions of Tanworth." (I hope I have the spelling correctly. I might ask here that anyone who is including a dog's name or the name of its breeder to print these names, as you wouldn't believe how difficult it is to decipher names that you aren't familiar with.) "This bitch has been shown lightly in England and has done very well, going BOS with an entry of 78 Airedales at the age of 11 months. She is by Eng. Ch. Searchlight Tycoon ex Samantha of Tanworth. Tycoon was top winning Airedale in '67 and BB at Crufts in '68, he was undefeated in his breed this last year. We are looking forward to showing our bitch in Canada and the U.S. this year." We'll all be looking forward to seeing her, Mrs. Worthington.

On next to the Bull Terrier newsletter, which was excellent to start with and is still improving. The drawings in it are just a delight and the news is real newsy. I understand this terrific little epistle is all due to Gail Gordon — she surely deserves a tremendous amount of credit. This month I especially enjoyed a poem from Stan Oakley:

*"He stands like a Boxer, firm, active and keen,
With his punishing jaw, long, powerful and lean.
He's up on his toes all ready to go,
Like a flash of a gun to meet playmate or foe.
He's strong as a Bulldog, as fast as a deer,
There's no dog with the dash
Of a White Cavalier!"*

Now to a delightful letter from

Madely Crickmae, Wymark Reg'd., Whonnock, B.C. "As my own breed, the Smooth Fox Terrier, does not get very much attention from most all breed magazines, I thought perhaps you might find space to report the passing of my Ch. (Can. & Am.) Madison Meridian — 1956-1969. He was bred by the late Mr. W. G. Village. As a young dog Meridian assisted me in many ways to run various Red Cross Outpost Hospitals in B.C. In the Queen Charlotte Islands his favorite job was to break all the rules and if I were busy with an urgent case he would go in and entertain patients who might otherwise have felt neglected. His reward was to fly in the Little Beaver planes which he loved. He was not a BIS dog, although he almost always placed in the Group. I felt that Percy Roberts at the Seattle show described him best when he said, 'Lovely style and magnificent showmanship'. He is the grandsire of the puppies I hope to show in '69!"

Thank you so much Miss Crickmae for your kindness about the column. It belongs to you and anyone else who wants to contribute, no matter what breed of terrier. Thank you even more for introducing us to Meridian — he must have been quite a dog! How I wish I'd had the opportunity of meeting him in person. I'm sure his grandsons will live up to his reputation.

Now to his Wire-Fox counterpart and a letter from Ruth Hehr of Calgary. This deals largely with the All Terrier Club of Alta., of which Ruth is Secretary. I will report on this later in the column, but for now let's hear a little of Ruth herself, "I personally am a newcomer to this hobby of dog showing. I breed Wire-Haired Fox Terriers and have just imported a new male from Mrs. M. Whitworth, Whitwyre Kennels, England. He is of very high quality and I have great hopes for Tiger as he is already close to being a Canadian Champion at 11 months. I really enjoy your articles, but I wish, like you, that more Western news would come in. We are avid dog lovers out here, but sometimes neglect to tell people. You will hear from us more regularly, I hope." To this Ruth I can only add — amen!

On now to our Scottie brethern. A letter from Leni Forsdike, Port Credit, Ont. tells us that on January 7 Lochlea's Saucy Samantha whelped a litter of eight — four boys and four girls and all are doing well. Big litters seem to be the "in" thing in '69! Leni goes on to say, "We have just had Mr. and Mrs. R. Tongue of Melbourne, Australia as our guests. We all met last September when we were house guests of Jane Knight Hepburn, G.M. of the well known Dalbane Scottie prefix, Suffolk, England. The Tongues are of course Scottie fanciers as well and we had a delightful visit hearing all the details of their Championship shows and the difficulties of importing new bloodlines due to shipping and quarantine regulations. We also had even more enthusiastic discussions comparing the various merits of the bitch we have just imported, sired by Eng. Ch. Gosmore Eilburn Admaration, to her litter brother who is now en route to the Tongues in Australia."

On top of big litters, this really does sound like the "year of the imports".

Next a letter from Dr. Cooke of Montreal reporting the progress of the Staffordshire Bull Terrier Club. "We had three Booster shows during '68 held in conjunction with the Montreal, All Terrier and Ottawa shows. BB at the first two was our Ch. Terrco's Dickie the Kid, while the third show went to Phylis Gent's imported bitch, Ch. Bandit's Angelique. Plans are now underway for the third Annual General Meeting which will be held in Ottawa this year. The American SBTC report that their membership is steadily growing and they hope to be admitted to the Miscellaneous Class sometime this year or at the latest 1970. We certainly wish them well and will support them in any way we can." Thanks Dr. Cooke, your club certainly seems to be gaining by leaps and bounds.

Well, it's Westie time and who do you suppose has made the front page again — you're right, Jeannie, Angus, Maggie and Alex with a darling photograph on the front page of the Halifax Mail-Star. Apparently Boots went in one day on business with the four of them trailing along as usual. The news staff were so enthralled that this picture with the four of them at the news desk in front of a typewriter resulted. Boots, I've often wondered, you wouldn't like to undertake a publicity campaign for Welsh Terriers, would you? Boots and his wife figure that Jeannie and Angus have travelled about 100,000 miles with them, while Maggie and Alex are just novices, they're only up to about 30,000!

A follow through now on Ruth Hehr's letter on TATC of Alta., a most progressive club as I've mentioned before. They are now getting ready for their first Specialty to be held in conjunction with the Alberta KC shows in February. As this young club has gone first class all the way so far, I'm sure their first show endeavor will be a great success. Ruth goes on to say, "The Club has been in operation for two years now. We have had guest speakers from all across Canada and we are hoping to have many more in the next year. We also correspond with other clubs both in the U.S. and Canada trying to gain more knowledge. The club has 35 members representing 12 terrier breeds and our monthly meetings always have an educational segment!" Hallelujah to that last statement Ruth, so many clubs fall short in this area. Do let us know the results of the Specialty.

Here's a fascinating hypothetical question posed by Joan Morden of Tannenbaum Schnauzer fame, who has also done such outstandingly good jobs at both Sanction and Sweepstake Terrier judging. How about it Joan, when are you going to take the big plunge? Mind you after your question, I can see some of your reservations. She says, "Let's pretend we have just become the owners of a pretty Bedlington bitch. Those in the know say we'll have no trouble finishing her. Let us further pretend that we set about learning all we can of this engaging animal.

Step one — Learn your Standard. All goes well in this department until we come to this: 'EARS — Moderate size, filbert shaped . . . with a fringe of silky hair at the tip.' We ask in vain for an explanation of this filbert shape. Perhaps there is a long-forgotten definition such as "molera", a word only the Chihuahua people can interpret? The most reasonable seems to be that it refers to the shape of the fringe or pom-pom or whatever, hanging at the end of the pendant pinna — not the pinna itself. Oh, well!

"To add to our confusion research brings us to the latest edition of Visualizations of the Standards which describes the ears so — 'triangular, tips rounded, low set . . . with a small tassel at the tip.' No mention of that kooky filbert. In fact a comparison shows that the AKC Standard is dated 1967 and reads quite differently from our CKC version. What to do? We, I guess, have to assume that Canadian judges are filbert men, whereas Americans are triangularists!

"Further checking shows that eight of the current Terrier Standards in our CKC book of Standards are at variance with those of the AKC. The Bedlington and Lakeland (whose American Standard is a great improvement over our 14 line version) are extreme cases. But isn't it time the breed clubs concerned requested a bit of up-dating over here. If we had a good Bedlington that was an also-ran in Canada because its ears failed to look like filberts, we would, after all, have only ourselves to blame. A nutty situation — and no pun intended!" It surely is a hard nut to crack, isn't it Joan? Oh dear, that really was terrible, but I just couldn't resist!

I agree with you, we simply have to do something about updating our Standards — my CKC book is dated 1962 and there have been many changes in both Canadian and American Standards since then. Certainly the new Lakeland Standard is a perfect example, there is simply no comparison to the old one and it's been in effect in the U.S. for at least two years now. I've never been one to go along with everything the U.S. does, but I do think Standards should be the same in the two countries, someday maybe even worldwide, but that's looking a little too far in the future. As it is now there's just too much traveling back and forward across the border to have variances in Standards.

What I also can't understand is that why, when these new Standards are being compiled that the CKC and AKC don't get together on them and insist that clubs stick to a definite format, i.e. (1) General Appearance (2) Head (3) Neck, etc., etc. Judges must just about go out of their minds if they have to look something up quickly in a Standards book as things are now. If these descriptions were only uniform for each breed, it would be a cinch.

This is the ideal time to start with so many Standards being revised, but on just reading two new Standards that have just been approved by the AKC for Irish and Westies, I don't hold out much hope. The Irish starts with Head and lists General Appearance second to last, while Westies start with General Appearance, don't list Head at all, but do list Skull somewhere along the line!

I know I've taken up a lot of your time this month, but I have to include this "doggy tale" from Mavis Ritchie, Devil's Own Scotties. "During the show-and-tell period in the third grade, Mike mentioned that his pet Beagle was expecting puppies. From then on the class eagerly awaited the news of their birth. When the day arrived Mike announced glumly, 'Well, they're here'. It was obvious that he was disappointed, but because of the intense interest of the class in the puppies, the teacher asked, 'What's wrong, Mike? Tell us more'. 'Well,' he said, 'I wanted a Collie and my sister wanted a Poodle and all we got were Beagles and, well, we've already got a Beagle!'" show by going WB under Judge G. Past. Blackador is a homebred 4-lb. black and tan female. She makes the ninth U.S. homebred Champion for Brecon Kennels, who have finished a total of 19 U.S. Champions in five years. "Dottie" was also a Toy Group winner in 1968 under Mrs. Margaret Thomas at the Dartmouth KC show in July and went on to win Best Puppy in Show that night. In 1968 she amassed a total of 15 Best of Breeds with 12 Group placings and was only shown for four months as a puppy. She won 14 points and both majors as a pup in the U.S. last year. Sandra Nelles' Brecon Kennels are located in Unionville, Ont.

Can. Ch. Ladybird of Quantico, bred by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pedersen of Trenton, Ont., stole the show at 9½ months under Dr. Harold Huggins when she beat 15 females to take WB and five points. Ladybird is a daughter of Ch. (Can., Am., Mex. & Bda.) Brecon's Individualist out of Brecon's Ysabella Y Quantico. She became a Canadian Champion in six shows and three Best Puppy in Group, defeating two American champions en route. She is a tiny 2¾ lb. fawn dynamo and is now owned by Carole Humphreys of Glendale, Calif.

Trials and Tribulations

dog does a flashy takeoff, clears the jump beautifully, picks up the dumbbell, then suddenly, from where the handler is standing the dog seems to disappear momentarily until all of a sudden a face with perhaps a sheepish and worried expression appears from one side of the jump and there the dog remains frozen, wondering what it should do next — in the meantime, his handler is dying just a little bit at a time!

As my final case for this article, there's the "Bouvier" who I thought was going to receive a perfect score. It was in the Utility Class. For the three scent articles, the Seek Back and the Signal Exercise and the Directional Jumping exercises the dog had received a perfect score — ZERO for each of these exercises! But he crossed everybody up — he stayed beautifully for the Group exercise and received the full 35 points, thus ruining the perfect score he had going for him! Some time ago I received a lovely letter from the owner of this Bouvier — he now has his Canadian and American Utility Degree.

Remember how the old Air Force motto used to go — "Per Ardua ad Astra" — "Through Adversity to the Stars"!

Humanely Speaking

I often meet people who say they would like to have a dog but cannot afford to have it protected properly. Again, people will say that they have had an animal, lost it through disease, could not afford veterinary treatment and do not want to go through the same routine again, with all the heart-break this incurs.

The whole area requires fresh thinking and the thinking must come from the veterinarians. I know perfectly well how they want to be considered as "Doctor" so and so, and I know how much they want to have their status clarified and improved within the community. A good step towards this path would be for the Veterinary Association to appoint a professional public relations organization to spend some of their fabulous money that they earn collectively on this important aspect of modern communications and at the same time try to cultivate a change in attitude towards the whole problem of sickness and ill health, or less than normal health in a small animal in the community as a whole. Who knows — if these steps were taken within the not too distant future the veterinarian could acquire within the community the reputation and the status of the "friendly veterinarian." The alternative might well be that the goose will stop laying the golden eggs because the goose will have died from a disease known as greed. □

Honorary Life Membership

A surprise party was recently held at the home of Mrs. Mary Miller, 256 Ominica St. W., honoring her for the services rendered to the Moose Jaw Kennel Club and dog lovers of the city.

Mrs. Miller with Mrs. Ruckaber and Bill Dawson.

Barry Trites proposed the toast to Mrs. Miller and Mr. Dawson, Saskatchewan CKC Director, gave a talk on the history of the Moose Jaw KC during the past 20 years, also outlining the part Mrs. Miller played during those years. She had been Secretary for the Mid West Circuit of dog shows when Alberta and Saskatchewan held their shows concurrently. When they discontinued and Saskatchewan clubs decided to form their own circuit Mrs. Miller was unanimously nominated Secretary, a position she continues to hold. Mrs. Miller received an award for Outstanding Service to Dogs in April, 1956.

During the evening Mrs. Miller was presented with a beautiful French Provincial jewel case and an honorary engraved life membership.

PROFILE OF YOUTH

Sherrill Ferens

This is the sixth in a series of brief profiles featuring up-and-coming young people in the dog world.

Readers are invited to send in their nominations for this series. The people they nominate must have shown outstanding ability and sincerity, and must be under 30.

Sherrill Ferens with Ch. Pill Pedler's Top Cricket.

This month's profile is a compact bundle of blonde energy. Sherrill Ferens received her start in dogs when she became a junior member of the Ottawa Kennel Club. Characteristically, she plunged in with both feet and attended classes on handling, breeding, genetics and obedience over a period of two years. During this time she was top junior handler in the club.

Her first good pure-bred was an Irish Setter bitch given her by the late Mrs. Blanche Bleeks Walters as a reward for training one of her young dogs. This launched Sherrill and her parents on a restricted program of breeding Irish Setters. Marriage and two children interrupted her doggy activities.

In 1962 the purchase of two German Shepherds put Sherrill back into dogs in a serious way. These were trained in obedience first under Mrs. Lorna Casgrain at the Mountain City and subsequently under Gerald McNally at the Lakeshore Obedience Club. Like so many successful handlers Sherrill moves like a ballet dancer when handling a dog. Her success with her own dogs led to requests from friends to handle their dogs. In 1964 a switch from Shepherds to Samoyeds was made with the purchase of a foundation bitch. This met with almost instant success when Ch. Fer-View's Hi-Star, bred, owned and handled by Sherrill was the top Samoyed in Canada.

Since 1964 Sherrill has handled 15 dogs to their championships and bred seven champions. During the same period she handled three dogs to their CD and also the first Samoyed owner-trained and handled to its TD. All this with two small children. Now you see where my opening sentence had its foundation.

Sherrill's interests in dogs center on Samoyeds and Shepherds but extend to the whole Working Group with a secondary interest in Hounds and gun-dogs. Her long term ambition in dogs is to breed better Samoyeds and to open a modern boarding kennel with grooming and training facilities plus handling on a professional basis. With her drive and energy these should come to pass before too long.

Outside activities have been centered on horses, both in the hunting field and the show ring. Back injuries necessitated recent surgery and terminated any further active riding. The Ferens have a Samoyed sled team comprising all their dogs which is raced whenever opportunity presents. Swimming and water-skiing fill in any idle moments in the summer.

DOGS & PEOPLE

In the news: Lively present from his staff to U.S. President Richard Nixon was "Tim", six-months-old Irish Setter ... "Mr. Charlie", short-sighted Standard Poodle owned by dog-groomer Harold Nash of Berkeley, Calif., forgot his glasses and lost his way. It was three weeks before he arrived back home. His owner had Mr. Charlie fitted with glasses when he began bumping into objects. Dog-napping rather than straying is suspected ... Not that the deliberate mixing of breeds is condoned in pure-bred circles, but the housing of these unusual hounds is noteworthy. Tom and Isabel Riedel who live near Bath, Ont., designed beds for four of their dogs which fit under a bunk-bed for humans. Weekend Magazine columnist Doyle Klyne tried the hand-hewn beam sleeping system out for herself. The fifth dog snoozed on the upper deck. The breed? The Riedels mixed Bassetts and Beagles to create "Basseagles".

Dear Abby: A lady writes that she had been married for 27 years, and the owner of a Chihuahua for eight. Problem was that for the past three years increasing asthma attacks resulted in specialist's advisement to get rid of the dog. The husband does not agree and the lady fears her previously considerate man seems more concerned about the dog. Abby suggests in turn "tests" for the husband "and a good place to start would be his head".

Politics: Tashi Lhama Pascoe quickly received enough signatures to qualify as a candidate to run as president of the governing body of Wellington College Federation of Students in Guelph, Ont., but has been disqualified. Tashi is a Lhasa Apso.

Homemaker: Moya and Gillie Fenwick, husband and wife acting team, maintain their reason for residing in Toronto is their dog. When they left England 11 years ago for a short visit to Newfoundland, their Cocker Spaniel came with them. Upon realizing the dog would have to go into lengthy quarantine on their return home, they came on to Toronto, were cast in plays immediately and are still here.

Litigation: The plaintiff stated the dogs were ferocious and vicious. The owners maintained their two Bull Terriers, "Uno", 13 and "Prince", 7, were docile and affectionate. Charles and Betty Weaver of Weston, Ont., sued John and George Sheard of Downsview on the grounds that the dogs, left unattended in the John Sheard's car, leaped out the open back windows, attacked and bit the lady who was walking her own dog August 27, 1966. She claimed that "in the confusion her feet became tangled in her dog's leash and she fell, breaking her right shoulder and suffering other injuries". Although the plaintiff sought special damages of $250 and general damages of $10,000, the Sheards consented to judgment against them for $700, inclusive of costs. In his statement of defense John Sheard averred that Mrs. Weaver tantalized the dogs.

Honored: Shown receiving the CHAKKA Annual Award (1968) are

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Smith, Fredericton, N.B., on behalf of their Labrador Retriever, Ch. High-on Wrappingdale. Mrs. Marian L. Wait, Canadian Kennel Club Director for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, makes the presentation. Donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Beesley, the new award is presented by the New Brunswick KC Inc. for the top winning Canadian-bred New Brunswick-owned dog of the year. Although this covers some 30 shows and "Wrapper" was not shown until August, the Lab led the field.

Travellers: Canadian Judge R. A. Cross who assessed the big Pal International Show at Sydney, Australia late in 1968. Material provided this office by Mr. A. J. Saunders, (Hi-Tom) Richmond Hill, Ont., shows that more than 20,000 people attended the show. Trophies and prizes were valued at more than $5,000 (Australian funds), including the BIS award of a Morris Mini panel van. Top dog was the Afghan hound, Ch. (Eng. & Aust.) Mazari of Carloway (Imp) owned by Mr. and Mrs. D. Roche. Interestingly, twice as many women as men exhibited ... The Saunders party has returned from a three-month holiday in Australia, Honolulu, Hawaii, Fiji, San Francisco and Los Angeles. They visited several kennels en route and kindly sent colorful postcards of some of the ports of call.

Animal talent provider Lorna Jackson recently rounded out the cast for Bananas, a new teenage television show (dogs, rabbit and monkey and a Persian cat owned by Dr. Ellen Brown) for the children's nursery show Mr. Dress-up. For the Three Musketeers she provided Mr. and Mrs. Ken Millard's "Joey", a show champion and obedience-trained Whippet. The owners have recently moved to Ontario from the West Coast. In another assignment she obtained two Great Pyrenees owned by Miss Lois McIntosh, (Limberlost), Toronto — Ch. Quibbletown Valkyrie and a young dog, "Freckles" as photographer's models.

Are your dogs eating well... or just expensively?

IN THE NEXT two minutes, you will read about three vital factors of the Gaines Professional Service Plan: the foods, the rebate and the Plan itself. Then you will understand how active members of the Plan feed their dogs one of the world's best dog foods and save money!

1. The foods: We offer you a choice of four—Gaines Meal, Rally, Gravy Train and Gaines•burgers.

Each is a perfect balance of all the nutrients your dog is known to need. (They are the same nutrients recommended by the National Academy of Science for proper canine development!)

Gaines foods are so good they can produce a difference in canine health that you can actually see. So, your dogs eat well.

But what about the expense?

2. The rebate: The Gaines Professional Service Plan rebate is, consistently, the most generous in the business.

We pay out $1.50 per 50 pounds of food. ($15 every time you return the weight markers from 10 fifty-pound bags.)

Below, is an example of what that could mean to you over one year:

200 (50 lb. bags) X $1.50 = $300.

(Calculate the number of fifty-pound bags fed in one year. Multiply by $1.50. That's how much Gaines could save you in one year.)

3. The Plan: Besides excellent foods and savings, there are other benefits to which members are entitled: free direct delivery; latest information from the Gaines Research Centre; free guidance on kennel management; unlimited supplies of hand-out brochures covering the breeding, training and general care of dogs; access to the Gaines film library; free entry into the Gaines National Kennel Directory.

Summary: Active members of the G.P.S.P. enjoy a choice of four nutritionally perfect dog foods, the best rebate in the business, and a wealth of information to help them produce the healthiest dogs imaginable—at a whopping saving.

You can become a member of the Gaines Professional Service Plan, simply by filling out the attached post-paid entry card, and dropping it into the mail.
