Big food for small puppies

Growing puppies need almost 3 times more energy per pound than fully mature dogs. That's why Purina created Puppy Chow, a new special formula food that meets a normal puppy's high nutritional need. Vital statistics: 27% protein, 9% fat, delivering approximately 2,200 calories per pound, plus all the required vitamins and minerals.

Puppy Chow is made in the shape of tiny milk bottles with holes in their centres for maximum absorption of the milky sauce which is made when water is added. These puppy-size pieces make for easy eating and digesting. Puppies love the exceptional flavour and texture. Tested and proved to be a favourite at the Purina Dog Centre where puppies of many breeds showed sound weight gain and growth from weaning through their first year.

THE STORY OF "SCHER-KHOUN" AND "SHADRACK" — PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

Our first contact with Boxers was in 1947, when my wife, Shirley, purchased a Boxer pup from the late Spencer and Mary Weller of the well-known Briardale kennels. The Wellers were to have a great deal of influence on the breeding and showing philosophy of our kennel and they were of tremendous help in getting us started on the right foot.

Our breeding program started around 1957, but on a small basis. Prior to 1957 we exhibited Boxers, while Shirley apprenticed for her handler's license and then became a full-fledged handler. During 1962 we were able to step up our breeding program because we had moved into the country, just north of Toronto.

TO THE EDITOR

NEVER THE TWAIN SHOULD MEET

. . . At the Sportsmen's Dog Shows held in Toronto, our Obedience club found itself in a rather awkward situation. While Obedience judging was taking place nearby, Mr. Eisenmann's dogs were performing on stage.

While Mr. Eisenmann's dogs' performance spoke well for his method of training, Mr. Eisenmann spent most of his time denouncing Obedience training to explain why his way was better.

The purpose of our Booster Show at the Sportsmen's Shows was to promote public interest in well-behaved, Obedience-trained dogs. Certainly Mr. Eisenmann's comments did nothing but hinder this.

Obviously these two exhibits are not going to enhance one another and should not be presented together at the Sportsmen's Shows or any other place. If Mr. Eisenmann would like to compete with Obedience clubs, let him do it in the judging ring with his dogs; not to an uninformed audience with words.

MRS. M. HORNE
Secretary, Oshawa Obedience Association.

REGARD FOR RESPONSIBILITY

. . . All too frequently those of us in business are made sharply aware of improper conduct of business and poor satisfaction in receiving goods and service. This is an instance of excellent conduct of business and high regard of professional responsibility and I do not wish to let it pass without referring to you.

I bought a puppy from Frances and Danny Kucera in Richmond Hill early this year and through no fault of this kennel the animal sickened and died. This being an extraordinary happening Mrs. Kucera insisted on replacing the animal which she has done.

I have no doubt that the Kuceras have an excellent reputation among breeders and they are deserving this high regard.

REMARKABLE ROTTWEILER

. . . Re: Obedience — 1969 in Review, by Mrs. Betty McHugh, April, 1970.

We were pleased to receive the Obedience Issue of Dogs in Canada last month, but upon reading the above noted feature were quite disappointed in seeing the Rottweiler missed.

We are the proud owners of a female Rottweiler, Ch. Kuhlwald's Flora, who completed both her CD and CDX Degrees in 1969. She was awarded The Canadian Kennel Club obedience certificate for her Companion Dog degree on March 8, 1969, and the CKC Obedience Certificate for her Companion Dog Excellent degree on October 12, 1969.

As the Rottweiler is almost unheard of in Canada we felt that we should draw this omission to your attention.

(MRS.) WM. HUGH IVANITZ
14412 - 79 St., Edmonton, Alta.

JUST FOR THE RECORD

. . . With all due respect to Mrs. Betty McHugh's analysis of Obedience activities I feel that I must draw your attention to an omission in the feature "Obedience 1969 in Review" published in the April issue of Dogs in Canada. In the statistics for Obedience titles by breeds, under terriers there is no report on Australian Terriers. Whilst a member of the Bytown Dog Obedience Club, Ottawa, my Australian Terrier, Bardes Tinkle Toes Terrie, obtained her CDX degree in 1969. The certificate was issued by the CKC on March 1, 1969 and the title reported on page 48 of the July 69 issue of Dogs in Canada. After all, we have been given to understand she was the first Aussie to obtain the CDX degree in Canada.

ENGLISH TOY TERRIER IS TOY MANCHESTER HERE

. . . Re your March issue Dogs in Canada page 8 under caption "Great Pyrenees Proves Crufts Greatest Dog". Quote, "some of the breeds shown that are not seen in shows on this continent, for example the English Toy Terriers". This breed is shown here under the name of the TOY MANCHESTER TERRIER. Incidentally, it was the Toy Manchester Terrier (English Toy Terrier) that took the Group at Crufts this year. She is Ch. Stealaway Golden Girl. The Toy Manchester Terrier that took the Group at Westminster 1969 was Ch. Renreh Lorelei of Charmaron, who was also awarded Best in Show at the CNE Dog Show held in Toronto, September, 1969.

(MRS.) FAITH BOURNE
Fai-Cliff Kennels, Reg'd.

A NOVICE EXHIBITOR ASKS

. . . Much time, work and money has been spent in preparing a dog for entry into the show ring.

As a competitor, all we really ask is that the judging be done by a qualified individual who is unbiased and informed.

But how can a judge be unbiased when he is judging progeny of his own breeding?

Is this morally or ethically legal?

(MRS.) ADELLE SMITH
2520A Eglinton Ave. E., Scarborough, Ont.

(Neither immoral nor illegal to our knowledge. However, some judges are known to be most severely critical when assessing progeny of their own breeding. — Ed.)

"FEE INCREASE NOT SUFFICIENT"

. . . Thank you, for the addition to your department listings of the new column "The Exercise Pen" by A. D. Stephen. It is indeed a most welcomed and long awaited one. As Mr. Stephen so aptly puts it — "we have only lacked a way to make contact" — and he is right!

In noting the proposed new scale of fees as listed in the Message from the President — Mrs. Hilda Pugh (Dogs, May feature) of The Canadian Kennel Club we believe the suggested increase is not sufficient and should be augmented.

GRACE E. PROBERT

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS DOBE?

. . . I have just heard from Mr. Eugene Rame of Willowdale, Ont., of the loss of his Doberman male. Last September the dog was left in the care of friends who have a farm in the Lake Simcoe area. The dog apparently adjusted well and after a week he was allowed off leash. Two days went by without any trouble, but on the third day he took off after a partridge into the bush and that was the last time he was seen. A thorough search was made of the area and Mr. Rame, on his return from vacation, continued this for several weekends, putting up reward posters within a radius of 50 miles, but to no avail.

Mr. Rame writes that they all miss Lance very much, especially the children, and feels that because he was such a good-natured dog, someone has taken him in.

Lance is a four-year-old, black and tan Doberman male. He is tattooed on the right flank J7K.4X. He is further distinguished by a narrow cowlick down the foreface.

I realize that after several months it is probably futile to hope to get the dog back, but thought it was worth the effort just on the off-chance that one of your readers had heard of such a dog. If anyone has any information I should be most grateful if they would contact me.

TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS

BY JAKE GIACOMELLI

I have a little gem for you this month that may stir up a bit of a hornet's nest! This particular item has bothered me for a long time and I've been curious to know how others felt about the same thing.

If you recall, both the C.K.C. and A.K.C. Obedience Regulations state that for a dog to do the principal feature of the "Stand for Examination Exercise" —

> "The dog must stand in position before and during examination and to show no shyness nor resentment".

In other words, any dog who cringes when being approached by a Judge for examination, even though it has never moved from the place where it was standing, should be failed because it has given evidence of shyness. With the present rules, this is rightly so!

I imagine that when the original Obedience Rules and Regulations were drawn up, conformation requirements were uppermost in the minds of the planners, and as a result jumping heights, etc. were established, and by the same token a good sound dog was to show no shyness tendencies. Again, rightly so! — if the improvement of the breed is uppermost in our minds.

However, from a strictly Obedience viewpoint let's take a second look at this.

Example 1. Here we have a sound, well-bred dog coming from a good environment and a complete extrovert — loves most people. Teaching this dog to stand and stay for examination and to show no shyness is really quite easy — not much effort in obedience training required here.

Now let's take Example 2.

This dog is also well-bred — however, for some reason or other spent most of its young life away from people and things and did not receive the socialization it should have had. Also, partially as a result of an overprotective owner, finally developed into a really shy and timid dog.

What about this dog? Have you any idea of the work, patience, perseverance and discipline required to make him stand still in one place to accept a stranger's hand touching him. You'll never really know unless you've trained one or have been quite close to the problem by spending a considerable amount of time helping a trainee in overcoming the problem.

What I'm leading up to is this — do you or do you not agree that a timid dog who, in spite of all his real or imagined fears, who forces himself to stand and stay in one place even though obviously cringing and showing fear, is giving a far greater display of obedience than a gay extrovert who welcomes your touch?

I've had them in the Novice classes and I've had them in Utility — these fearful fellows who have hated every second of the examination, yet remained in place in spite of their fears and often the thought has crossed my mind — "I wonder if the people watching have any idea the amount of obedience this dog is exhibiting in forcing himself to accept my touch?".

I haven't written this article with any thought of suggesting a change in the Stand for Examination regulations because I am sure these rules were written by people with far more knowledge than I'll ever have in the dog game. However, how about dropping me a very brief note answering the question I posed above. Don't expect any answer, however, because I'm already two months behind in my correspondence as it is.

If I get enough replies I'll give you a summary of the count received for and against.

Last month when I wrote about the U.S.A. National Obedience Championship runoff I forgot to tell you that this event was the result of a brainchild by Barbara L. Miller, the Editor of Chips, the national Obedience magazine.

She was there in person to make the presentations. It was quite an emotionally charged event for Barbara — after so much planning the great day had arrived. Mrs. Miller and Chips deserve a lot of credit for such an ambitious undertaking. □

Jake Giacomelli, 51 Wardrope St. S., Stoney Creek, Ont. is much in demand as an Obedience judge. His wealth of experience in this phase of dogdom, combined with his sense of humor, ensure a lively series.

POINTING BREEDS
IN THE FIELD

PLANTED AND RELEASED BIRDS

Each spring, amateur trainers part with their funds to enter dogs in pointing breed stakes where planted or released quail, pheasants or chukars are the game bird. In many cases they might as well donate their entry, keep the dog in the car and ask for a charitable donation receipt. Generally speaking such birds, particularly in the spring, are not adept at the art of flying. Their wing muscles are not well developed, the hens are interested in nest building and the cocks interested in the hens. After release or planting on the course or in the birdfield, these feathered friends chirp and march around necks outstretched wondering where their pals are.

Barrelling along comes your pointer with a ten dollar entry riding on his nose. The scent is there, but the bird just does not do the things a native or wild bird does. Often disaster is quick to follow.

The amateur trainer has worked his dog on native game. Woodcock, pheasants, huns and quail fly. If they run they do so silently and stealthily. This difference is of great significance in training for field trials in which domesticated game birds are used. The entire instinct of a dog drives him to catch the cheeper or the bird that flaps up 22 feet and at the shot flutters down obviously mortally wounded by the blank pistol.

Perfect training involving long patient hours is required to help a dog endure such a strain on his instinct. Very often the keen amateur does not introduce his dog to the exact kind of situations he will encounter when a broody hen quail chirps out from under his nose, postures on a grassy knoll and is lifted into halting flight by the toe of the master's boot. How many times have all of us chased one of these creatures around in circles desperately trying to get it airborne? I have plucked them out of groundhog holes under the unbelieving eyes of a pointing dog. As I extracted the hen pheasant the dog and I stared one another in the eye both of us knowing full well that the extraordinary was the probable in a bird field. Both of us also knew that there was a better than even chance that a "sketchy piece of work" was about to ensue.

Professional trainers and experienced amateurs have introduced their charges to just such situations in the training program. Birds are picked up in front of the point and thrown right in the standing dog's face. Running cheeping birds are chased right under their bellies. The impossible is made commonplace by the pro as he develops his dog's nerve to sustain training under stress. Even then the chase is often on when ten dollars is riding on the dog.

Since the reality of single course field trials involves planted and released game, competitors should obtain domesticated game birds and work their dogs on them before spending the entry fee. To do otherwise places an otherwise able dog in a situation with which he has not had to cope. This is unfair to the dog, the club and the brace-mate.

In my experience great care must be taken when training on planted birds. Some dogs, if submitted to training pressure in such situations, are prone to soften on point, blink birds, and loose character. This part of training should be alternated with work on native game to ensure style and character. Study of the nature of the individual dog will indicate the necessity for caution in introducing repeated training sessions of considerable stress. Your dog has to have some fun.

Before you enter, ponder what it is you and the dog may encounter. Try as best you can to duplicate the probabilities. Chances are in a single course event you will discover an encounter that neither you nor your dog have seen before. How do you and your dog cope with a pheasant perched bobbing on an elm branch 16 feet in the air? Maybe the judge will say, "fire your gun and bring your dog on". If he doesn't, do it anyway. The next bird is just ahead in a groundhog hole, under a woodpile, standing on a hillock in full view, or if you are in luck crouched in the grass ready to be pointed and flushed into a meteoric flight out of sight and sound. □

A HOSPITABLE ATMOSPHERE — "THE FRIENDLY SHOWS"

The Exercise Pen

by DOUGLAS STEPHEN
Mgr., CKC Shows & Trials Division

My association with the dog game has mostly been as a conformation breeder and exhibitor, and what with the pressure of shows and litters, I didn't look far beyond that small area. My eyes were opened with a bang, though, when I was invited to attend an experimental "small pack on cottontail" Beagle trial at the Wentworth Beagle Club's running grounds. The location, near Waterdown, was well named considering the weather, but the unofficial event attracted 33 hounds handled by Wentworth stalwarts and by members of the York County Beagle Club whose Secretary, Carol Foster, had asked me to come along. It's a whole new thing for anyone bored with sitting at shows waiting for a brief moment of truth in the ring. In Beagling everyone participates, as gallery, handler or judge and because of this you don't see all that many Beaglers with sagging waistlines. Beaglers hike through field and stream (or what seemed like inland seas, under the conditions we splashed through!) until some old bunny decides to sprint for his daily constitutional. Then the fun begins. The hounds quarter the field, find the scent, give tongue and then all hands are off, with the two-leggers usually pelting along at a respectful distance behind the four-leggers. Watching the dogs work and trying to outguess the judges is fascinating and it is no trick at all to see how Beagling could get a real hold on a dog fancier. I've vastly oversimplified the whole thing here, but if your curiosity is whetted, contact a Beagle club near you. My guess is that you'll be made really welcome and that your first Beagle Trial won't be your last. I know mine won't.

Another interesting experience that recently came my way was an invitation to watch an Obedience Judging class arranged by Miss Bay Myers. Some of the leading trainers in the Oshawa-North York-Burlington area put various breeds through their paces and again my eyes were opened. The dogs worked impressively but the real kicks came afterward, in the discussion. Bay kept the teapot full while handlers and makee-learnee judges had their performances analyzed and dissected by their fellows. Quite a training session, with a bit of group therapy thrown in! I went home delighted but very thoughtful as well. Here were a group of dog enthusiasts with a good thing going and yet I had never made contact with them before. Why? Their fault, or mine? Or both? Never mind, the point is that I now enjoy my own dogs better for having seen how others have fun with theirs. So here's an idea: next time your Club has trouble finding a really interesting subject for a meeting night, try inviting somebody from an entirely different brand of dog fancy to talk to your members and perhaps demonstrate a bit of their sport. There are so many wonderful things about dogs that the wider your view of them, the more there is to see and appreciate in your own. Oh, and lest I forget, do make a note on your calendar to attend the Canadian Open Sheepdog Trials in September. They're held in Ontario, near Bond Head, and from all accounts are a truly remarkable event. Since they require lots of acreage and lots of sheep, such trials are not likely to be seen very often so if watching dogs work at the very highest level appeals to you, don't miss the chance. More on this in a later column. See you then? □

■ The common dog tapeworm Dipylidium caninum, was first described in 1758, and in 1880 it was found that fleas were intermediate hosts. A high percentage of dogs harbor the parasite, but few show ill effects. Cases of human infection have been reported, mostly in small children who somehow manage to swallow an infected flea. A different species of tapeworm, Echinnocus multilocularis, has been found in the Saskatoon area by Dr. G. Wobeser of the University of Saskatchewan. Although common in Europe, Asia, and the large sheep and cattle districts of Australia, it was only detected in North America in 1951, infecting Alaskan wildlife. This smallest tapeworm of medical importance measures 2.5-9.0 mm in length, and can be diagnosed only by feces analysis. It poses a potential threat to human health, since if transmitted to man, it causes tumor-like cysts, especially in the liver. Dr. P. L. Stovell of Canada Agriculture points out that fleas are not the intermediate host of this species, and cautions that since dogs may become infected by eating tissue containing larvae, they should never be fed raw offal. Animals or man can also become infected by swallowing eggs from the feces of carnivora or rodents harboring the adult form, and children's sandboxes, if used as latrines by cats, can become a reservoir of infection. □

THE TOP TEN DOGS, ALL BREEDS
THE TOP TEN DOGS, EACH GROUP
THE TOP THREE DOGS, EACH BREED
PICTORIAL GALLERY OF MANY OF THESE DOGS

Once again we take pleasure in presenting the results of the past year's show competition. The system used for establishing the top winning dogs is based on one point for each dog defeated from Best of Breed to Best in Show. We gratefully acknowledge the many, many hours spent by Mrs. Kathleen Martyn in compiling this information from the official Show and Trial Results as published by the CKC in Dogs in Canada Magazine. Every effort has been made to ensure the utmost accuracy of these statistics, results of which are final.

A handsome certificate has been awarded by Dogs in Canada to the owner of each of these top winning dogs who earned national distinction in keen competition during 1969.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOARD

The annual meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Hotel Vancouver, Vancouver, B.C., commencing on March 2, 1970, and concluding on March 12th.

Following is a summary of major items of business dealt with by the Board at the meeting.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

"DOGS IN CANADA"

At its annual meeting in 1969 the Board agreed to pay to the publishers of "Dogs in Canada" 90% of the postage costs ($7300 for the last nine months of 1969) on the mailing of the magazine to members of the Club, such postage costs having increased considerably because of new postal charges on association magazines.

The Board agreed to continue the payment policy until its semi-annual meeting in September. In the meantime a special Committee (Mrs. Edna Joel, Chairman) appointed by the Board will review all aspects of the Club's relations with the publishers of "Dogs in Canada".

ACCOUNTS WITH CLUBS HOLDING SHOWS AND TRIALS

After considering costs relating to the handling of shows and trials, the Board instructed the Secretary to take appropriate steps, after consulting the Club's solicitor, to have the various rules for competitive events amended along the following lines:

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS RE FEES

In 1969 the Board decided that the Club could no longer operate under an income based on a scale of fees which had not been altered for seventeen years. A special referendum ballot had been conducted in 1969 but proposed increases in fees were not approved. At its semi-annual meeting the previous Board directed that the subject be placed on the agenda of this meeting.

At this meeting the Board appointed a special Committee to study the matter and to submit its report and recommendations on a new scale of fees. The Committee consisted of Mrs. Edna Joel (Chairman), Gordon Ashcroft, Ronald Sless, and the Secretary-Treasurer ex-officio.

Later in the meeting the Board received the report of the special Committee which recommended that a special referendum ballot be conducted on a new scale of fees (see scale as reported in the message from the President — Page 3 of May issue). The Committee also recommended that the Board take steps to have Section 4 of Article XXXV (Fees) amended to permit the Board to increase fees under certain stipulated conditions.

The Committee's report was accepted, and the Board directed that the proposed scale of fees be published in the first available issue of "Dogs in Canada". The Board also directed that a special referendum ballot be conducted in August.

The Board also appointed a Finance Committee (Peter Savage, Chairman; Fred A. Fraser, and George N. Mehlenbacher), with the following terms of reference:

(1) To review budgets prepared by division heads and to submit recommendations to the Board.
(2) To review the portfolio of the Club's investments and to submit recommendations to the Board.
(3) To review the Club's income and to submit recommendations to the Board.

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR 1969

The Board received the financial statements for the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1969. After questions had been answered by the Secretary-Treasurer, the Board directed that the statements be placed before the members attending the Annual General Meeting on March 7th.

INTERNATIONAL MATTERS

DOGS CROSSING THE BORDER

After receiving the Secretary's report on discussions with Mr. George N. Mehlenbacher, the Board decided to ask Mr. Mehlenbacher to carry on as Chairman of a special Committee appointed to inquire into the possibility of obtaining elimination of duties, bonds, etc. on dogs crossing the Canadian-American border for any purpose whatsoever.

REGISTRATION STUD BOOKS AND RELATED MATTERS

REGISTRATION DIVISION

Dr. F. George Walker, Chairman of the Project Candor Committee, submitted the final report of the Committee, the report taking the form of the minutes of the last Committee meeting held on February 14th.

In its report the Committee made observations or recommendations with regard to the message appearing on the reverse side of membership cards, the handling of applications which are incomplete or include obvious errors, the retention of records, the locating of premises for the Registration Division, and a recommendation that the Board appoint a "Registration Division Committee" with "broad terms of reference" to continue in operation at the pleasure of the Board.

With its report the Committee submitted a tentative budget for the Registration Division.

During a discussion of the Committee's report Dr. Walker:

(1) reviewed developments in respect of registration of dogs since the Warnock Hersey Management Consultants' report was received by the Board in 1965;
(2) stated that "we are in no way fully operational on the computer" although certificates of individual registration and more recently, litter kits, were being produced through the computer;
(3) reviewed a statement showing statistics on unprocessed work still on hand;
(4) proceeded to report on the background of recommendations set out in the minutes of the Committee meeting held on February 14th.

The Board received the report and proposed budget as information, and dissolved the Project Candor Committee.

The Board:

(1) appointed a Registration Division Committee composed of Mrs. Hilda Pugh (Chairman), Mrs. Edna Joel and Mr. George W. Frost;
(2) placed the Registration Division Committee in charge of the Registration Division, subject to such instructions as may be given by the Board from time to time;
(3) instructed the Committee to submit a report and recommendations to the Board on all matters pertaining to the Division;
(4) instructed the Committee to submit a report and recommendations on the following points:
    (a) the reliability of our registration records and certificates issued by the Division;
    (b) the financial aspects of the operation of the Division as it stands at present and our financial commitments, past and present;
    (c) the advisability, or otherwise, of continuing the computer operation;
(5) decided that as of March 16th Mr. Cowans, as Registrar, ceased to be responsible to the Project Manager, and empowered Mr. Cowans to make such checks as he deemed necessary to ensure the accuracy of certificates issued by the Club;
(6) referred to the Registration Division Committee for consideration the various recommendations set out in the last report of the Project Candor Committee;
(7) referred to the Committee letters received from Mr. T. W. Carter and Mrs. George F. Lovett.

The Secretary was authorized to discuss with the Canadian National Live Stock Records Committee charges assessed by the Live Stock Records for work on applications which had not been completely processed before the records were transferred to Toronto; and instructed the Secretary to provide each member of the Board with a copy of the minutes of the last (1969) meeting of the Live Stock Record Committee.

The President was authorized to select a suitable gift to be given to Miss M. McClymont as a token of the appreciation of the Club.

BREED STANDARDS

The Breed Standards Committee (Mrs. Irving Diamond, Chairman) reported that in connection with the proposed new standard for the West Highland White Terrier, many letters had been received, the majority of which took strong issue with one or all of the items of size, coat, and color. It was the Committee's recommendation that the proposed new standard be returned to the sponsors for reconsideration in the light of the suggestions contained in the letters received following publication of the proposed new standard in "Dogs in Canada". The Committee's recommendation was approved.

The Breed Standards Committee recommended that a proposed new standard for the Belgian Sheepdog be approved. The Board concurred with the recommendation of the Committee and declared that the new standard would come into effect on January 1, 1971. Judges and interested fanciers may obtain a copy of the new standard by writing direct to the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club.

The Breed Standards Committee reported that it had considered a proposed new standard for the Vizsla, but found that the proposed standard did not comply with policies applicable to the submission of a proposed new standard, as approved by the Board of Directors on February 21, 1968. The Board concurred with the recommendation of the Committee.

The Breed Standards Committee reported that it had studied a standard for the German Shepherd Dog, as published by the German Shepherd Dog Club of Calgary. It found that the standard did not conform with the standard for the German Shepherd dog as published in The Canadian Kennel Club's Book of Breed Standards. The Board concurred with the finding of the Committee, and directed that the German Shepherd Dog Club of Calgary be informed that the only standard that is recognized by The Canadian Kennel Club for the German Shepherd Dog is that included in The Canadian Kennel Club's Book of Breed Standards.

After considering a report of the Breed Standards Committee, the Board referred back to the Committee for further consideration, the question of whether, in Miniature Schnauzers and in Golden Retrievers, a dog would be disqualified if under the minimum height as stipulated in these breed standards.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION

The Board considered a letter received from Miss Sandy Briggs inquiring as to the possibility of obtaining registration of a litter born in Canada resulting from artificial insemination, where the semen was imported from England.

The Board instructed the Secretary, after consultation with the Department of Agriculture, to draft the necessary regulations pertaining to the importation of semen for use in Canada.

KENNEL NAMES

The Board considered a proposal that consideration be given to amending the By-laws by deleting reference to the registration of a "kennel name" and by substituting provision for the registration of a "prefix" (as is the practice in Great Britain). This proposal was ordered referred to the By-laws Committee for the drafting of a suitable proposed amendment to the By-laws, the draft amendment to be submitted to the Board for further consideration.

STUD BOOKS

The Board considered a report that the cost to publish the Club's stud book for 1968, including labour costs at the Club's head office, was about $14,500, yet revenue on the sale of the volume was approximately $2,700. It decided that, pending an analysis of the production of stud book copy through the computer, preparation of copy for Volume No. 73 (for 1969) would not be proceeded with at this time.

FINNISH SPITZ

The Board considered a letter received from Mr. Ray Rinta, Vancouver, inquiring about the possibility of the Club recognizing the Finnish Spitz for registration and competitive purposes. As it appeared that there would be sufficient dogs to meet the minimum requirements for the recognition of a breed, the Secretary was instructed to obtain copies of the Finnish and British standards for the breed, and to then refer the file to the Board Standards Committee and later the Registration Committee for consideration.

INTERNAL AND ADMINISTRATION

AMENDMENTS TO BY-LAWS

The Board considered several reports submitted by a Special Committee (Mr. George W. Frost, Chairman) appointed by the Board to review the Club's By-laws and to study and report on specific matters relating to the By-laws which had been referred to the Committee by the Board for study and report.

The Board considered the Committee's report on a draft of a proposed new Article XV (Discipline) as submitted by the Club's solicitor. The Board did not concur with a recommendation of the Committee that Article XV be not amended; however, the matter was held over for further consideration at a future meeting.

The Board concurred with a recommendation of the Committee that the By-laws be not amended to require that advance notice of a specified number of days be required on any matter which may be raised at the Annual General Meeting, this in order that all relevant files may be available at the Annual General Meeting.

The Board considered the report of the Special Committee with regard to the possibility of amending sections 2 and 3 of Article XXIX of the By-laws, more particularly as it concerned information required in the case of the registration of a dog imported from the United States. The Board decided that the Committee on By-laws, together with the Club's solicitor and Secretary, would prepare for the consideration of the Board at its semi-annual meeting, a proposed clarification of section 2 of Article XXIX.

The Board considered a recommendation of the Committee on By-laws that the By-laws, inclusive of all recent amendments, be published in up-to-date form. After considering the question of cost to implement the Committee's recommendation, the Board decided to defer consideration of the recommendation to its semi-annual meeting.

At its semi-annual meeting in 1969, the Board of Directors, acting on the recommendation of the then Chairman (George N. Mehlenbacher) of the Amendments Committee (By-laws), and the Secretary, asked the Special Committee reviewing the By-laws to review and submit a proposed new Article XXXVIII dealing with amendments to the By-laws. The Special Committee submitted for the Board's consideration a proposed new Article XXXVIII. This was reviewed section by section, changes were made following discussion, and the Committee's submission, as amended by the Board, was approved by unanimous vote of the entire Board. The Board also approved a proposed revision of Article XIII, Section 14, dealing with the matter of the Amendments Committee (By-laws). An instruction was given the Secretary that the two proposed amendments were to be included in a special referendum ballot which is to be conducted later this year with regard to proposed increases in fees.

An amendment to the Club's By-laws which came into effect on March 3, 1969, required that when two or more dogs of the same breed and sex are included in the same shipment, the dogs in the shipment must be tattoo-marked in the country of origin before being shipped to Canada and the tattoo markings must be recorded on the export certificate issued by the Kennel Club in the country from which the dogs were exported to Canada. After discussion the Board agreed that tattooing would not be necessary in the following cases:

(1) where two dogs of the same breed and sex are included in a single shipment, but one is white and the other is black (or other clear-cut cases where distinction can be made on the basis of colour);
(2) where each dog is shipped in a separate crate, and to the crate there is firmly attached identification of the dog within the crate.

OFFICE PREMISES

The Board considered a report received from the Committee appointed at its previous semi-annual meeting in connection with relocating the head office of the Club, the Club having to vacate its present premises by July 31, 1970.

After analyzing the cost of providing space within the office for meetings (Board, committees, etc.) as compared with the cost of rental of accommodation for meetings outside the office, the Board decided that provision would be made for a Board Room within the new premises. It considered the amount of space that would be required, assuming that the Registration Division is not, for the time being, located in the head office, and the ceiling which should be set in terms of rental costs. The Property Committee was empowered to obtain office space not to exceed 3,500 sq. ft. at a price not to exceed $6.00 per sq. ft.

STAFF

The Executive Manager reported that Mr. A. Douglas Stephen had been engaged to fill the new position of Manager of the Shows & Trials Division and had commenced his duties as a member of the staff on February 12th, Mr. T. S. Adams, retiring member of the staff, having very kindly agreed to remain on the staff to March 27th to acquaint Mr. Stephen with policies and procedures relating to the operation of the Division.

The Board then set the following terms of reference for the Manager of the Shows & Trials Division:

(1) He will operate all the machinery for approval of dog show events of all kinds, including the approval of dates and judges and of any printed material (such as premium lists) which are or may be the responsibility of the C.K.C.
(2) He will operate the apparatus necessary to recording, collating and publishing show and trial results.
(3) He will establish a budget (requires Board approval) to engage staff sufficient to maintain his Division at optimum efficiency.
(4) He will advise, and undertake to implement, schemes, projects, and programmes which will promote the cause of pure-bred dogs, of dog shows, and of the C.K.C.
(5) He will, as necessity arises, make recommendations for the modification of the Dog Show Rules, Field Trial Rules, and Obedience Trial Rules, and present these to the Board of Directors for policy decision.
(6) He will carry out such cynographic research as may be required to validate recommendations on rules and procedures.
(7) He will work in consultation with, but independently of, other C.K.C. Divisions, and reports, and is responsible to the Board of Directors.

The Board decided that the Manager of the Shows & Trials Division would present, at meetings of the Board, such matters as concern his Division; he would participate in the discussion of such matters, and would receive a copy of the minutes after the meeting in order to implement the decisions of the Board.

The Board decided that Mr. Adams would receive an honorarium of $250 for services rendered the Club.

MEETINGS OF THE BOARD

The Board decided that the semi-annual meeting of the Board would be held at Toronto, commencing on Monday, September 21st, and that regular meetings of the Board would be held, if necessary, on each of the following dates: April 15th, May 16th, June 17th, July 18th, August 19th, October 17th, November 18th, December 12th.

Mr. Ronald Sless was appointed Chairman of a Special Committee to study proposals which the President had placed before the Board with a view to reducing substantially the total cost of travelling expenses and allowances in connection with regular meetings of the Board.

The President suggested that the transaction of business at the annual and semi-annual meetings of the Board could probably be expedited if, as each item of business is placed before the Board, each item is accompanied by a resolution, prepared by a Special Committee, a Council, or the staff, recommending a specific course of action on the item.

The President was appointed Chairman of a Committee to meet with the Secretary, when the agenda for the semi-annual meeting has been prepared, to submit to the Board with the agenda, a list of recommendations in the form of resolutions. The Chairman was empowered to name the Committee.

The Board received a report submitted by Mr. Gordon M. Ashcroft, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee, in which Mr. Ashcroft stated that due to the Club's present financial position, the Committee recommended that no promotions be entered into. The Chairman pointed out that an article concerning the buying of a puppy had been published in the last Kennel Directory.

QUINQUENNIAL ADJUSTMENT

The Board considered a report submitted by a Special Committee (Mr. Fred A. Carter, Chairman), appointed to study the question of fixing the number of Directors to be elected in each electoral zone. ANNUAL MEETINGS — 1971

The Board decided that the next annual meeting of the Board would be held at Toronto, commencing on Monday, February 22, 1971, and that the Annual General Meeting would be held on Saturday, February 27th.

BUSINESS ARISING OUT OF THE ANNUAL GEN-

ERAL MEETING (Vancouver — 1970)

The several comments, criticisms and proposals arising out of the Annual General Meeting on the subject of the maintenance of registration records and the issuance of certificates of registration, were referred to the Registration Division Committee for consideration.

The comments and suggestions advanced at the Annual General Meeting with regard to revision of the championship points schedule (Chapter 21 of the Dog Show Rules), the requirements for a championship, special events and attractions at championship shows, training classes for those wishing to establish eligibility to judge, the Miscellaneous Class, dog show supplies (entry forms, armbands, etc.), the removal of Specials Only, etc., were referred to the Dog Show Council for consideration.

Arising out of comments at the Annual General Meeting with regard to the licensing of professional handlers, a Special Committee was appointed (Mr. Ronald Sless, Chairman), to consider the question of licensing professional handlers, the Committee to submit its report and recommendations to the semi-annual meeting in September.

The Board directed the Secretary to refer to the appropriate Councils & Committees, for consideration, other comments or proposals advanced by members at the Annual General Meeting.

MEMBERSHIP MATTERS

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

The Board confirmed approval given applicants for membership reported to the Board on lists #55 for 1969, and lists #1 to #7 inclusive for 1970.

The Board considered recommendations prepared by members of the staff with regard to proposed "regulations regarding the admission of clubs to membership in the C.K.C." It directed that copies of this draft be sent to each Director in order that each Director may take the matter up with clubs for discussion, the subject to be considered again at the next semi-annual meeting of the Board.

The application of the Vernon Fish & Game Club for associate membership was ordered held in abeyance pending the formulation of policies regarding the admission of clubs to membership.

The Board instructed the Secretary to prepare for the consideration of the Board at its semi-annual meeting, a proposed amendment to the By-laws which would have the effect of deleting any provision for non-resident members.

DOG SHOWS

JUDGES

The Board considered a report received from Mr. George N. Mehlenbacher, Chairman of the Chapter 7 Committee (responsible for the processing of applications submitted by persons wishing to establish eligibility to judge at championship shows held under the Club's rules), the report indicating that the Committee had reviewed and processed 76 applications for approval to judge in the few months that it had been operative since its appointment last June. The Board also considered a number of questions raised by the Committee with regard to the present system of issuing judges' permits. The Board considered the Committee's recommendation that the Board seriously consider strengthening the regulations. A Special Committee was appointed to study the entire question of the issuance of judging permits on the understanding that the Committee would present its report and recommendations later during this annual meeting of the Board. The Committee consisted of Mrs. Irving Diamond (Chairman), Mrs. Edna Joel, Mr. William Dawson, and Mrs. Hilda Pugh, President (ex officio).

Later in the meeting the Board received the report of the Special Committee, the Committee having submitted a proposed new system of issuing judging permits. During a discussion of the proposed new policies outlined by the Committee, a number of changes were made, after which the recommendations of the Committee, as amended, were approved, and the Board declared that the new system of issuing judging permits would come into effect on August 1, 1970. The Board also decided that in the meantime, judging permits, under the old system, would not be considered in connection with any applications received by the Club after March 16, 1970.

Chapter 7, Section 1, of the Dog Show Rules, reads in part, as follows: "Section 1. The Board of Directors is empowered to do any or all of the following from time to time, as it deems advisable:

(b) fix policies and requirements applicable to residents of other countries selected to judge at a championship show held under these Rules."

Following discussion, the Board decided that a resident of another country is eligible for approval to judge in Canada, at a championship show held under C.K.C. rules, only the breed or breeds for which such person has been approved by the Kennel Club of a country in which he resides, to award championship points or challenge certificates; and such approval is not automatic, but is simply on the basis of each individual show for which a non-resident may be selected as a judge. The Board also decided that, subject to the right of appeal to the Board of Directors, the Manager of the Shows & Trials Division is authorized to decide whether approval is, or is not, to be given a resident of another country to judge at a championship show held under the Club's rules, having regard for the policies stated above.

The Board considered the appeal of a person who had applied for the issuance of a judging permit from the decision reached by the Chapter 7 Committee, which had rejected the application, and the Board decided that the appeal could not be sustained.

No action was taken on a letter from the Chairman of the Show Committee of a show-giving club, who raised a number of questions with regard to the policy, set by the Board in 1969, that a judge at a championship show held under the Club's rules, must not be called upon to judge more than 175 dogs during the course of a single day, the Board deciding that the policy, set by the previous Board, would continue in effect.

Mrs. Diamond pointed out that her husband is in the process of establishing eligibility to judge, and she did not feel that it would be advisable for the Committee of which she is Chairman, to deal with any application or report having to do with her husband's judging privileges. The President was named Chairman of a Special Committee to deal with any applications submitted by Mr. Irving Diamond in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 7 of the Dog Show Rules.

DISQUALIFICATIONS

The application of Mrs. Hilda Hauck, Lewiston, N.Y., for the reinstatement of her Miniature Poodle MISTY VISTA'S MAKE WAY FOR ME, and the application of Mrs. Jean M. Wilson, Vancouver, B.C., for the reinstatement of her Pomeranian PERKY POMS TINY TOM, were approved, and the dogs were reinstated.

As the result of a question which had been raised, and after considering the opinion of Dr. Robert C. M. Williams, Honorary Veterinarian of the Club, the Board ruled that kennel cough is a highly communicable disease, and therefore Sections 13 and 15 of Chapter 16 of the Dog Show Rules are applicable.

WEIGHING AND MEASURING

After discussing the forms now in use for reporting official weight or height, and the procedures that are followed in the determination of weight or height, the Board agreed that the Club would:

(1) advise clubs that the dog's name must not be included in the report of the official measurement form or in the report of official weighing form used at championship shows;
(2) continue to use the report of official weighing for Dachshunds for registration purposes;
(3) prepare a separate report form on weighing to be used at championship shows, but note particularly the provisions of the rules which vary from official measuring (here again, the dog's number only is to be used, not its name);
(4) incorporate appropriate instructions on the forms.

ENTRY FORMS

A proposed new entry form which has been submitted by Dog Show Associates was ordered referred to the semi-annual meeting for further consideration.

SANCTION MATCHES

Referred to the Dog Show Council for consideration were the questions of "professional handlers" at sanction matches, and a suggestion that there be a definition of what dogs may be entered in sanction matches.

PREMIUM LISTS

On the Secretary's recommendation, the Board directed that the approval of the classification and prize list in premium lists be over the name and title of the Manager of the Shows & Trials Division rather than over the name of the Secretary-Treasurer, as has been the case for many years.

SHOW DATES

The Board considered letters received from the Windsor & District Kennel Club and other clubs on the question of simultaneous shows within the same zone. These letters included letters received from the German Shepherd Dog Club of Ottawa regarding a proposed Specialty Show in Ottawa on July 19th, a letter from the Prince Albert Kennel Club expressing that Club's concern over the fact that simultaneous dog shows are to be held at Prince Albert and Calgary in May, and a letter from the Kawartha Kennel Club regarding simultaneous shows at Peterborough and Montreal. After a lengthy discussion, Mr. George W. Frost was appointed Chairman of a Special Committee to study the matter, and to submit recommendations later during this annual meeting of the Board. The Special Committee did submit a report later in the meeting; however, this was ordered referred to the semi-annual meeting for consideration.

Mr. Sless reported that he had convened a meeting of representatives of show and obedience clubs operating in British Columbia, and a schedule of show and trial dates had been agreed upon for 1971. He asked the Board to consider authorizing the Shows & Trials Division, upon receipt of a block of applications, to process them without regard to the standing resolution which currently provides that a date will not be granted more than a year in advance. Mr. Sless' request was approved.

The Board approved the applications of the Humber Valley Kennel Club (Newfoundland) for the dates of September 2nd and 3rd, and approved the applications of the Ladies Kennel Club of New Brunswick for the dates September 3rd, 4th and 5th.

The request of the Kawartha Kennel Club, seeking priority rights on dates which would conflict with shows at Montreal, were tabled for later consideration, and the application of the German Shepherd Dog Club of Ottawa for permission to hold a Specialty Show on July 19th, was left to the discretion of the Manager of the Shows & Trials Division and the Secretary.

JUNIOR HANDLING COMPETITIONS

Mr. Ronald Sless was appointed Chairman of a Special Committee on Junior Kennel Clubs and Junior Handling Competitions. The Board referred to the Committee for consideration a letter received from Mr. Ed Dixon of the Scarborough Kennel Club, to which was attached a copy of Mr. Dixon's letter to the Ottawa Junior Kennel Club on the subject of "Ontario Junior Handling" Competitions.

CLASSES AND AWARDS

No action was taken on the request of Mr. Ashcroft that a special certificate awarded by the Club for Best Canadian-bred Puppy in Show be awarded to the Toy Manchester Terrier RED RIVER RASCAL, which was shown as a listed dog at the Thunder Bay show held on September 22, 1968, the dog at that time being a listed dog, rather than a registered dog as required under the conditions under which these certificates are awarded.

The Board referred to the Dog Show Council for consideration and report at the semi-annual meeting, a proposal submitted by the Forest City Kennel Club that the Dog Show Rules be amended in order that for English and American Cocker Spaniels, the variety classes be discontinued at all breed championship shows.

The Board referred to the Dog Show Council for consideration, a proposal submitted by the Dominion German Shepherd Dog Club with regard to its wish to conduct a futurity for German Shepherd Dogs in 1972.

After considering the request of an exhibitor for a correction in the awards as marked in a judge's book for a show held in August of 1969, the Board agreed that requests for corrections in judges' books could be eliminated largely if the exhibitors or their agents would check the posted pages from the judges' books before leaving a show, and in the event of any error or omission, immediately draw the matter to the attention of the Show Secretary in order that, hopefully, all necessary corrections could be made by the officiating judges before the judges' books are dispatched to the C.K.C. The Board agreed that arrangements would be made for the publication in each premium list and catalogue of a notice drawing this to the attention of exhibitors and their agents.

INTERPRETATIONS

The question of whether a dog show superintendent must be a member of the Canadian Kennel Club was referred to the Dog Show Rules Committee for consideration.

REDRAFTING OF DOG SHOW RULES

The Board received a report of a Special Committee (Mr. George N. Mehlenbacher, Chairman) appointed by the Board to draft new Dog Show Rules.

JUDGES' SEMINARS

The Board decided that until such time as the Club's financial position permits, no funds would be allocated for judges' seminars, this to be applicable also to judges' seminars for obedience and field trials.

MISCELLANEOUS CLASS

The Board approved the Secretary's recommendation that the Bernese Mountain Dog be added to the list of breeds eligible for entry in the Miscellaneous Class.

The Board deferred for reconsideration, the question of whether the Ibiza Hound would be permitted to be entered in the Miscellaneous Class, pending receipt of additional information.

OBEDIENCE TRIALS

REPORT OF OBEDIENCE COUNCIL

The Board considered a report submitted by the Obedience Council (Mrs. Hilda F. Pugh, Chairman).

The Board referred back to the Council for further consideration the Council's proposal that a new paragraph reading as follows, be added to Chapter 3, Section 10 of the Regulations:

> "Any abuse of a dog in the obedience ring must be reported by the judge to the C.K.C. in his or her judge's book. Any abuse of a dog anywhere in the trial grounds may be reported to the C.K.C. in writing, by the Obedience Representative, the Trial Committee, or any interested spectator, within five days of the offence."

The Board directed that notice be given of a proposed amendment, recommended by the Council, regulating the hours a judge may judge at a trial.

Held over for consideration, along with the question of a policy also for championship shows, was a recommendation of Council that the Board of Directors set a definite policy as to air miles distance (minimum) between licensed trials on the same date.

The Board concurred with a recommendation of Council that processing of an application to establish eligibility must be handled by Council at Council meetings, and the Chairman of the Council is not entitled to make any of the customary decisions on his own.

AMENDMENTS TO OBEDIENCE TRIAL REGULATIONS

A number of amendments to the Obedience Trial Regulations, of which notice had been given in the October (1968) and December (1969) issues of "Dogs in Canada" were held over for consideration at the semi-annual meeting of the Board.

OBEDIENCE TRIAL JUDGES

The Board considered the appeal of an applicant from a decision of the Obedience Council, the applicant wishing to establish eligibility to judge the Novice, Open and Utility Classes. The Board accepted the Council's recommendation that the applicant be asked to give a practical demonstration of his ability to judge, and to take a further oral examination, and to provide the Council with information on any judging he has done in connection with trials.

The Manager of the Shows & Trials Division and the Secretary-Treasurer were asked to study and bring to the Board at its semi-annual meeting, proposed policies regulating distance between obedience trials and between judging engagements.

FIELD TRIALS

FIELD TRIALS FOR FOXHOUNDS

Mrs. Pamela B. Mack, Chairman of the Field Trial Council for Foxhounds, reported that no licensed field trials for Foxhounds under C.K.C. rules had been held in 1969. The Board instructed the Secretary to convey to Mr. E. D. Bonnyman and to Mr. W. A. Baldwin, members of the Council, its appreciation of their letters, which informed the Board of developments with regard to Foxhound field trials.

FIELD TRIALS FOR POINTING BREEDS

After reviewing correspondence, the Board took no action with regard to a substitution of judge for a trial held by the New Brunswick Field Trial Association on November 1st and 2nd, 1969.

The Board referred to the Field Trial Council for consideration, a letter, dated February 24th, from the Pointing Dog Division of the Alberta Field Trial Club, reporting four recommendations emanating from a meeting of the executive and representative members of the Alberta Field Trial Club, held on July 4, 1968.

FIELD TRIALS FOR RETRIEVERS

The Board approved the application of the Golden Retriever Club of Canada for priority rights on dates in the months of May 1970, 1971, and 1972.

The Board considered the appeal of the Eastern Ontario Retriever Club in respect of its application for date, and directed that the dates be approved, but the priority rights held by the Eastern Ontario Retriever Club be forfeited and its date fees also be declared forfeited.

The Board directed that proposed amendments to the Field Trial Rules for Retrievers, as reported in the December (1969) issue of "Dogs in Canada", be held over for consideration at the semi-annual meeting.

FIELD TRIALS FOR BEAGLES

Mr. Donald Duff, Chairman of the Field Trial Council for Beagles, reported that there had not been a meeting of the Council since his report to the last semi-annual meeting of the Board.

Mr. Duff pointed out that the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Beagles, as at present in effect, required that three Official Measurers shall measure a Beagle if application for official measurement has been submitted to the C.K.C. and reported that since notice had been given in the December issue of "Dogs in Canada" of a proposed amendment which would require but one Official Measurer and two witnesses, many letters had been received objecting to the proposed change. The question was ordered held over for further consideration.

Referred back to the Field Trial Council for consideration were a number of proposed amendments to the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Beagles, of which notice had been given in the December (1969) issue of "Dogs in Canada", along with letters of comment received.

Referred to the Field Trial Council for consideration were Mr. George W. Beniston's proposals with regard to the appointment of Official Measurers in the area west of Toronto, and his suggestion that the Board approve, for distribution, a memorandum entitled "The Status of a Licensed Beagle Field Trial Judge".

The Board received as information, a letter (dated January 20th) which the Quebec and Eastern Ontario Association had addressed to Mr. Duff, Chairman of the Council.

FIELD TRIALS FOR SPANIELS

The Board considered correspondence and gave instructions with regard to the application of the Scotia Springer Spaniel Club, which sought permission to hold a licensed field trial of May 2, 1970.

The Board empowered the Field Trial Council for Spaniels to prescribe regulations for the holding of hunting tests for Spaniels, and the manner in which Hunting Test Certificates would be issued and recorded on the records of the Club (Chapter 11, Section 26 of the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Spaniel Field Trials).

AMENDMENTS TO FIELD TRIAL RULES AND REGULATIONS

The Board referred to its semi-annual meeting for consideration, a number of proposed amendments to the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for all types of trials (of which notice had been given in the December, 1969, issue of "Dogs in Canada").

GOOD AND WELFARE

The Board referred to the semi-annual meeting for consideration the question of allocating funds for research.

LICENSING OF DOGS AND KENNELS

The Board approved for payment, an account (totalling $600) received from the Club's solicitor in connection with his activities on behalf of the Club regarding developments relating to the Township of Whitchurch and amendments to the Dog Tax and Livestock Protection Act (Ontario).

TRACKING TESTS

REPORT OF CHAIRMAN OF COUNCIL

The Board received the report of the Tracking Test Council (Mr. Gordon M. Ashcroft, Chairman). The Board concurred with the Council's recommendation that reference to T.D. and T.D.X. be deleted from the list of approved judges for Tracking Tests.

The Board directed that the procedure in respect of the processing of an application of a person seeking to establish eligibility to judge Tracking Tests, be amended by deleting reference to "apprentice judge" and substituting reference to "applicant judge".

APRIL 15, 1970

A regular meeting of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club was held in the Club's offices at Toronto, on Wednesday, April 15, 1970. The following were present: Mrs. Hilda Pugh (Chairman), Robert L. Blyth, Mrs. Irving Diamond, George W. Frost, Mrs. Laura Getty, Dr. Allan McDougall, Mrs. Pamela B. Mack, Mrs. Marian Wait.

The following represents a summary of the major matters of general interest dealt with at the meeting.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

INVESTMENTS

The President and Secretary were authorized to complete the documents required in order to deposit in the Club's account at the Bank of Montreal, the proceeds from the redemption of Ontario Hydro bonds (in the amount of $8,000) which had matured on April 1, 1970.

CASH REQUIREMENTS

The Board considered a report addressed to members of the Board by the President, in which the President pointed out that in view of the Club's financial position, cutbacks in certain areas of activity were recommended.

The Board concurred with the recommendations that in show reports published in "Dogs in Canada", the awards to be reported include only information with regard to each dog and the name of its owner, awarded Winners, Best of Breed, and Best of Opposite Sex.

The Board concurred with the recommendation that when reporting a title winner, we would temporarily discontinue the practice of showing the name of the sire and the name of the dam of the dog earning the title.

The Board concurred with a recommendation that summaries of major items dealt with at meetings of the Board be published, rather than the detailed minutes, as has been the practice for some time.

The Board considered the Club's current cash position and authorized the President and Secretary to arrange for the bank loan to be increased by $25,000.

The Board discussed a proposal which Mr. David S. Robertson of Kamloops, B.C. had presented at the Annual General Meeting with regard to increasing the recording fees from 50c to $1.00 per dog per show or trial. The Secretary was instructed to ask each Council to consider and report within thirty days on the proposal.

INTERNATIONAL MATTERS

THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB

The Board considered a letter received from The American Kennel Club with regard to advertising in the American Kennel Gazette, published by The American Kennel Club, of coming dog shows in Canada. The Secretary was instructed to contact The American Kennel Club with a view to obtaining an arrangement which would enable Canadian show-giving clubs to continue advertising in the Gazette in a manner which would be satisfactory to The American Kennel Club.

REGISTRATION, STUD BOOKS AND RELATED MATTERS

REGISTRATION DIVISION

The Board considered reports dated March 26th and April 7th which the President, as Chairman of the Registration Division Committee, had addressed to members of the Board.

The Board noted the Committee's report that the Club's Registration Division, heretofore located in two separate locations, had been consolidated into a single office at 4 Eva Road, Etobicoke, Ontario, in a building otherwise occupied by Grace Computer Services.

The Board decided that arrangements would be made with the Post Office for the delivery of mail to the Registration Office at 4 Eva Road, Etobicoke, the Post Office box at the Charles Street Post Office to be phased out as soon as possible.

The Board noted that the members of the Committee had made numerous visits to the Registration Division with a view to acquainting itself with developments at the Division, on what is being done, and what should be done to ensure a smoother running and less costly operation.

The Committee reported to the Board that instructions had been given the Registration Division that there were to be no further expenses incurred or financial commitments made without the prior approval of the Registration Division Committee.

The Board concurred with a recommendation that a previous instruction given the Division that it was not to reply to mail, but to concentrate on the production of certificates, be rescinded, and that the Registrar be empowered to use his discretion in any case where it was felt that an immediate answer or an early answer was highly imperative.

The Board concurred with a recommendation of the Committee that the Club's auditors be asked to visit the Registration Division with a view to advising on what steps ought to be taken for proper accounting records.

The Board concurred with a finding of the Committee that the Club has no alternative but to go on with the computer operation.

The Board concurred with and authorized the Committee to proceed with the rental of office accommodation at 4 Eva Road, the space to be 1,400 sq. ft. at a cost of $3.50 per sq. ft. The Board also approved the Committee's request that it be granted permission to inquire into the possibility of obtaining dead storage space at nominal rental rates for many files which, while not used extensively, should be in a form where these can be referred to if necessary.

The Board decided to hold in abeyance for further study, a proposal that, in order to decrease expenses, certificates of registration for individual dogs be of a single generation rather than a two generation as at present.

The President was authorized to poll members of the

CH. (CAN., AM. & BDA.) ROLLICKING PETER PATCHET
Top winning Kerry Blue Terrier, 1969
Fourth Top Winning Terrier

Photo: Judge Kenneth MacDonald; Handler Edward Alberico; Group 1st, Tonawanda Valley K.C., Batavia, N.Y., 8 June, 1969.

Attending 21 Canadian shows in '69, Peter was awarded 19 BB and 2 BOS, with a total of 4 Group 1st, 4 Group 2nd, 3 Group 3rd and 3 Group 4th; this includes his Best in Show at the Ottawa K.C. on 3 May.

Peter finished both his U.S. and Bermudian titles in '69; interesting to note that he won Groups in all three countries from the classes — with amateur handling — in his quest for his titles. We feel that this is proof of the pudding, indeed!

This was our 3rd consecutive year to hold the "Top Spot" for the breed in Canada.

Along with his BIS-winning sire, Ch. (Can & Am.) Rollicking Raconteur, and his sons, Ch. Rollicking Sinner Man and the pointed Rollicking Oriflamme, Peter is at stud with his breeder/owner.

First in Group

Yaralla Aussies once again take Top billing! For the fourth year we have either won or placed in the top three with 3 different homebred Champions. Our showman for '69 is "TEASER" who commenced his show career at 7 months by going 2nd in an entry of 21 Jr. All Breed Males in a puppy sweepstakes under Judge James Bennet, Seattle. At 8½ months he placed 4th in an entry of 24 Jr. All Breed males in a Breeder's Sweepstakes under the noted English Judge Mrs. Judy De Casembroot. In addition to this in Canada Teaser had 6 Group placings and 2 Best Canadian Bred Terrier in Group and was seldom defeated for Best of Breed. Stateside (4 times shown) he has 2 Best of Breeds and 1 RW (17 males) at the Aussie Specialty in California. We are extremely proud of the fact that our winner this year is the 3rd generation of Yaralla breeding to attain this honor. Ch. Yaralla's Coora and Ch. Yaralla's Aragoon (twice) having been winners in previous years.

Teaser is a harsh coated Blue and Tan, with substance, type, correct size and with the proper hard bitten expression and Terrier spirit required in a GOOD AUSSIE.

FLASH! Just arrived from 'down under' — Nayook Twinkletoes in whelp to the winning Aust. Ch. Bluebell Top Flight.

EXPORT TO JAPAN?

Decidedly No, says Ann Turner, and tells why not

■ In 1967, Dr. Tony Carding, a British veterinary who with his wife spent 18 months in Japan as full-time Advisors to the Japanese Animal Welfare Society, reported to the World Federation For the Protection of Animals on animal welfare problems in Japan. According to the Cardings, dogs in Japan have no legal protection from abuse and, indeed, are subjected to the most horrendous of conditions. At that time, up to 1000 dogs a month were being crated and flown out from Britain to Japan. In fact, the export of dogs to Japan was encouraged by the Kennel Club, London which benefited financially from the sale of export pedigree certificates. However, due to the widespread distribution of Dr. Carding's report by the WFPA and subsequent lectures by Mrs. Carding, many breeders protested to the Kennel Club, urging it to refrain from encouraging exports to Japan.

In the spring of 1969, the Cardings' allegations were further substantiated by a series of articles written by Ken Gardner of "The People", a British Sunday newspaper with a circulation of more than 5½ million. Mr. Gardner spent more than a month in Japan and his reports entirely verified Dr. Carding's accounts of the dangers to which all animals in Japan are exposed. With the publication of Mr. Gardner's articles, public protest in Britain began on a large scale. British breeders decided that ethical values were of greater import than money. Today, U.K. dog exports to Japan have dropped to a minimum, but as a result, Japanese dog importers are turning elsewhere. They are turning to Canadian breeders.

The Japanese Animal Welfare Society is most anxious that Canadian breeders should be aware of the conditions revealed by Dr. Carding and Ken Gardner.

What exactly then are the facts?

■ The number of stray dogs in Japan is a grave social problem. Stray dogs frequently roam the country in bands, attacking and killing small children and old people, and ravaging cattle and crops. The basis of this stray dog problem is in the Buddhist teaching, (the prime influence of Japanese culture), the most significant effect being the injunction to refrain from taking life. The original teaching was that whoever kills shall bear the responsibility for his act and should remember that this may affect his own fate. From this, it was an easy step to teach that one must avoid bearing such responsibility at all cost and that the only way to do this is to refrain from ever ending life. Thus, a Japanese will never kill his own dog. He simply abandons it to the streets. He knows the dog will die but it has not been deliberately killed. Its life is in the hands of Fate. To the Japanese, suffering is not so abhorrent as killing. Indeed, part of the Japanese philosophy is to bear pain well. But such a philosophy has naturally created an enormous unwanted dog problem.

How then are the Japanese coping with this situation? To put it simply, stray dogs are treated and disposed of in the most primitive and barbaric manner imaginable.

There is no anti-cruelty legislation in Japan; however, there are strict anti-rabies control laws. Under these laws, dogs must be kept chained up. Frequently, the length of these chains is specified as 3 feet, and may be even shorter. Also, because of the Japanese habit of living on the floor, and the very high standards of domestic hygiene, dogs are not allowed in the home. A dog in Japan is certainly never viewed as "part of the family".

The traditional method of parting with a dog which is no longer desired is "to put it away from the house". It it almost impossible to have a dog put away humanely in Japan, and consequently, because of the religious injunction, dogs are simply abandoned and puppies are commonly put into boxes and left somewhere — to further swell the stray dog population.

To deal with the problem, the Government has set up dog pounds in all large towns and cities. Early each morning, teams of dogs catchers scour the streets with wire nooses in search of dogs. They may take any unchained dog, even if it is in a garden. Poisoned bait is placed in the streets. The treatment afforded to these dogs once they are in the pounds is abhorrent. In "The People", Ken Gardner wrote of these pounds:

. . . I was shown into a vile smelling, unventilated shed where four dogs were lying. One had a leg almost hanging off. Another had its stomach ripped open. They were all semi-comatose, lying in their own excrement. (I saw) . . . a large dog lying there pitifully injured and immobile with fear. The steel wire with which it had been caught was still around his neck, biting so deep in the flesh that its windpipe was visible . . . I found a brown paper bag . . . packed with dead puppies in an advanced state of decomposition.

If the dogs should somehow survive the conditions of the pound, a crueler fate awaits them. Again, quoting Ken Gardner,

. . . the sight that remains so horrifyingly planted in my memory was that of the slaughterer at Himeji, in Southern Japan. Officially, this man's job is that of chief dog catcher at the town's dog pound . . . but he is also in charge of the slaughtering of unclaimed dogs at the pounds — which means nearly all . . . It was my painful duty to watch powerless as he carried out this part of his work. The first victim was a brown dog of indeterminate breed. It was dragged, terror stricken, into the slaughter-room at the end of a thin wire leash. With a deft jerk, the man swung the animal through the air to land on the ground in front of him. Placing his right foot firmly on the leash to keep the dog captive, he then grasped a heavy galvanized iron bar about four feet long. The dog seemed to know what was happening. Its head lifted pleadingly; its front leg stiffened; it tried to jerk away as the executioner raised the bar above his shiny brilliantined head. There was an unbearable sad look in the dog's eyes. It gazed up at the man looming over him in what seemed like a silent, final plea for its life. But it was not to be. The bar crashed down . . . three times. The wretched animal gave a small grunt and lay still. It was then swung upwards to hang by a paw from a hook on the ceiling.

The next victim was a pregnant bitch. This time, the dog-killer had to deliver five blows with the bar.

And still the creative lived — squirming, quivering, moaning as she endured untold agony from the vicious blows... Even when the man finally slit the animal's throat with a knife she still lived on for a few more seconds of agony as she was spiked up to hang from the ceiling alongside the first dog.

It is a horrifying scene and one which is repeated across Japan daily. Dogs are poisoned with strychnine which gives a painful and prolonged death. They are electrocuted. They are hanged. Their throats are slashed. In addition, scores of dogs die "naturally", from exposure to intense heat or freezing cold, and from lack of food and water. It is officially estimated by Japan that two million unwanted dogs are killed each year.

■ Many pounds send dogs to be used for experimentation or practice surgery. Fifteen thousand are used in Tokyo City alone each year. Tokyo State University keeps up to 400 dogs although it has no adequate kennels and employs no full-time attendant. In the state hospitals, dogs are kept in filth and squalor. A wet concrete floor in a cold cellar serves as a recovery room. It is often the following day before an animal used in experimentation is given water. If it dies before the doctor returns it is often thrown onto a heap of dead animals without a post-mortem examination. If it lives, it will be chained up to die in its own time or

CANINE BREED IMPROVEMENT: selection and relationship

Part 13/Conclusion — The mating system

by LEE FORD, Ph.D.
Genetics Consulting Service
Rt. 1, Box 230, Butler, Ind. 46721

■ The mating system practiced acts on the distribution of genes in the individuals in the population. Non random mating acts on the zygotic equilibrium and modifies the relative proportions of homozygous and heterozygous individuals in the population.

This gives us several important considerations. If there are present non-additive effects, as heterosis (hybrid vigor), then the mating system practiced may determine the special breeding value of the individuals and of the whole population. If a non-random mating system is practiced, then the amount of additive effects is important. For example, in consanguineous matings, when the total variance is formed by the genetic differences, it is not the same as in a random-bred population.

COMBINATIONS

Through the use of selection and controlled mating, the dog breeder may use his males and females in whatever combination he desires. This means that some of the more populat males are used many times, not only by the one breeder, but by those buying the stud services. Also, it means that some of the more populat males are used over several generations, sometimes with their own daughters and granddaughters. All of these various combinations of mating systems and use of individuals can be fitted, more or less, into five general breeding plans.

RANDOM MATING

If there is no selection and the males and females are mated more or less at random, without control of genetic factors, we say there is random mating. Random mating results when the chances for a sperm uniting with an egg is left up to chance or luck more than anything else. Sometimes breeders think they are using another form of mating, but in reality it is still random mating, depending on chance for results.

GENETIC ASSORTATIVE MATING

Genetic assortative mating results when those are mated who are more related to each other than to the rest of the population. The popular concept of linebreeding, as well as inbreeding, would fall under this category.

SOMATIC ASSORTATIVE MATING

Somatic assortative mating is when those who are phenotypically alike are mated, with no particular attention paid to their actual relationship. Usually these individuals are not closely related genetically, but are mated because they are similar phenotypically.

GENETIC DISASSORTATIVE MATING

Genetic disassortative mating is when dogs in the same kennels are mated without regard for their genetic background. If we are not too particular in definition, this really is one form of random mating and is studied statistically as such.

SOMATIC DISASSORTATIVE MATING

Somatic disassortative mating is when those with contrasting phenotypes are mated, generally in the hopes of getting an animal with the best points of both parents. Often it is based on hope, is the result of chance, and apt to result in disappointment.

STATISTICS

For statistical considerations of this material, we refer you to the published works of Wright and Lush and others. It is quite complicated statistically, and the thinking is definitely mathematical.

CHANCE

Random mating assumes that all population members have an equal chance to produce offspring, and that the female gametes have an equal chance of being fertilized by any male gamete. Actually this is not really true. Generally deviations are not large unless really close relatives are mated. Under random mating, except for what selection can do to change during the first generation, there is little change from generation to generation in (1) gene frequency (2) amount of genetic variation (3) genetic relationship between sibs.

VARIABILITY

Many breeders think that selection greatly reduces the variability of a population. It may come as a shock to them to find out that if it were possible to select for mating only animals of a given phenotype, the variance in the offspring would still be over 98% of what it would have been had no selection been practiced.

GENETIC ASSORTATIVE MATING

The extreme of this type of mating is inbreeding. The main features of this form of mating are as follows: (1) to fix the phenotype as controlled by the genotype (2) to fix alleles (3) no effect on gene frequency (4) total genetic variability increases (5) total genetic variability decreases within lines (6) greater accuracy of determining the average genetic worth of a family is possible (7) breeder is able to uncover undesirable recessives (8) satisfactory for traits not adversely affected by inbreeding.

SOMATIC ASSORTATIVE MATING

We consider somatic assortative mating in two senses. (1) In regard to the phenotypic resemblance between mates, which results in no change in gene frequency and increases the variability and decreases the heterozygosity. (2) In regard to the phenotypic resemblance of mates for only certain specific characteristics. This probably gives a higher genetic correlation between mates.

DISASSORTATIVE MATING

In genetic disassortative mating, and if no ancestors are in common, this is then similar to random mating.

Somatic disassortative mating is of two types: (1) Using single selection, which is not of much value for selecting heterozygotes and (2) using components, which is satisfactory for the production of commercial stock for sale, but not too good for great permanent genetic gains.

THE BEST SYSTEM

From this brief review of the mating systems, it is apparent that any one system does not have all the answers for the breeder. The breeder can not possibly settle on one mating system and find all of his troubles solved. Far from it. He can, however, have a certain purpose in mind, and use a certain system best fitted for what he desires. His best approach, of course, is to have a flexible mating system, based on what he wishes and what his information is at the time.

BLOOD RELATIONSHIPS

Schemes of mating by formal blood relationships, as recommended by breeders of some time ago, are of questionable utility.

INFORMATION

The best mating system for a breeder depends on how much information he has regarding the genotype and environmental effects of his animals, and how best he can use these facts. This involves the true art of breeding. This is why it will be quite some time before the layman can purchase from the well known breeder a stock of animals, breed them, and come up with as good a result as the old timer. It takes a lot of know how and a lot of good thinking to come up with winners, whether you are working in dogs, cattle, poultry, or other protoplasm. It will be a long time before the commercially sold dogs, although of top quality, in the hands of the uninitiated can continue to produce the same top quality as they have in the hands of the original breeders. Thus the secret is essentially a thorough indoctrination

The BORZOI

by PYOTR ZEMTSOV

Courtesy Novosti Press Agency

This dog, of the famous "Rubin" Wolfhounds of Moscow, demonstrated at the 31st exhibition of hunting and toy dogs held in the Soviet capital and filmed in "War and Peace".

THERE is hardly a hound more graceful and elegant than the Russian Wolfhound, or the coursing Borzoi, as it is called by experts. It is very slender, and has a high exterior, sharp eyesight, thin but muscular legs, a long lean body and a narrow muzzle. All this speaks for strength, dexterity and speed. And indeed, the Russian Borzoi is capable of performing a leap as quick as lightning. It runs very swiftly and gracefully, as if it were flying. Borzois are usually 31 - 33" high, while some hounds even reach the height of 34".

The length of hair and the coloring of the Russian Wolfhound varies. One often encounters two-color dogs — a black-and-white, red-and-white, straw-colored, and very seldom — purely white.

The Borzoi is of a very ancient origin which has not been sufficiently studied so far. A peculiar feature of the dogs of this species is their weak sense of smell. But on the other hand no other dogs can compete with the Wolfhounds when it is necessary to chase an escaping animal. Swiftness is an inborn quality of the Borzois. Man noticed it in ancient times and has been making use of it ever since for chasing hares, foxes, wolves, jackals and other animals.

Hunting with Wolfhounds used to be a particularly popular sport in Russia in the 19th century. Rich aristocrats kept large kennels. Peasant serfs were taught to take care of the dogs and serve as huntsmen. Particularly rich owners of hounds had their own varieties of the Borzoi with peculiar coloring, manner of running, etc.

At the beginning of the present century, owing to certain reasons, the number of pure-bred dogs in Russia was sharply reduced. Of those that remained the Persian and the Golitsin breeds were the best. They became the progenitors of the present Russian Borzoi hounds. These hounds chased the fox and the hare well, and had very good marks for reaction and sportiveness. It is to be regretted, however, that the owners of these dogs paid more attention to exhibiting them than to developing their hunting abilities.

Nevertheless at the beginning of the 1930s sportsmen dog breeders started taking out their hounds into the fields to chase hares, foxes and even wolves. Gradually the dogs began to restore their natural hunting abilities. Amateur dog breeders were helped by experts. Beginning with 1952 all the hounds are annually tested in wild-beast chasing. Field tests have proved that the Borzois have not lost their natural abilities. The number of hounds has considerably increased.

Hunting (chasing) with Wolfhounds usually begins after the crops have been taken in from the fields. A Borzoi looks very picturesque when swiftly chasing a hare across a field of winter crops. The hounds also run very well on black paths and on the first snow. Pure-bred Wolfhounds can chase animals until a snow crust is formed for the latter may cut their legs.

Borzois are very wiry dogs and capable of chasing animals over long distances. Their speed often reaches 44 miles an hour.

THE HUNT

In the old days it was called a hunt without shooting. Probably one can find no better name for this fascinating spectacle. Just try to picture an escaping wolf followed by three wolfhounds flying across the ground. The distance between the chased animal and the hounds becomes smaller and smaller. At last two of the hounds catch up with the beast and having reduced their pace for several minutes run side-by-side with it. The third lags behind a little. Then almost simultaneously two of the front hounds seize the wolf by the ears — one by the left, and the other by the right one. The wolf is stopped. The third hound makes use of this opportunity and seizes the beast by the throat.

Demonstration at the second all-Union exhibition of service, hunting and toy dogs in Moscow.

Hunting with Borzois was particularly popular in Russia in the past century. Many hunters tried to catch the wolf alive. For this purpose, during the final stage of the chase when the animal was already stopped, a tall strong huntsman would thrust an iron rod between the wolf's jaws and tie them up with a leather strap. Nowadays wolves are not caught in that way for it is very dangerous for the huntsman, and the hunting society does not recommend this method any longer.

Very popular is combined hunting, i.e. hunting with Borzois and Foxhounds. As it is known, the wolfhound runs by sight, and not by scent, whereas the Foxhound has a very keen sense of smell. The idea of combined hunting lies in the Foxhounds chasing the fox, the hare or the wolf out of the woods or the thicket into the open field where huntsmen with Borzois (each huntsman holding three dogs) stand waiting for them. As soon as the wolfhounds see the animal, the huntsman lets them go. When chasing a hare there is no need to send three greyhounds after it, unless the huntsman wants to de-

WHAT IS A SOUND DOG?

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

■ A question frequently asked around the ringside by the interested but uninformed observer is, "What is he looking for?" This will probably produce one of two replies from a more experienced bystander.

1. If he thinks the judge is doing a poor job, he will say, "I don't know either."
2. If he thinks the judge knows what he is doing, he will say, "He is looking for conformation with the standard and for soundness."

Since there are so many ways in which a judge can do a poor job and since most of these provide a story in themselves we will save these for future months. By our monthly breed quizes we try to make our readers aware of breed standards, not only for their own breed but also of other breeds. This leaves "Soundness". There is very little in doggy literature about soundness. Our horsey friends are probably much more conscious of the subject than are doggy people. A phrase describing a horse which was current for many years was "Sound in wind and limb". This same phrase was also used to describe slaves and for all I know may still be in use today in those countries where slaves are still traded.

Some doggy people, and I among them, say, "A dog which is not sound should not win a prize." There is nothing in the dog show rules for most countries to support a judge who withholds a ribbon for lack of soundness. Most breed standards ignore the subject. The Kennel Club requires a judge allocating a Challenge Certificate to sign a declaration to the effect that the dog to whom the certificate is awarded is worthy of becoming a champion. I am quite certain that if asked, any official of that organization would say that this included soundness, yet nowhere is it spelled out.

A SOUND DOG SHOULD BE SOUND IN WIND, LIMB, EYE, EAR, TOOTH AND COAT.

Most dogs which appear in the show ring can pass the sound in wind test. They can move about the ring without experiencing too much difficulty. Their respiratory and circulatory systems not having been rotted with tobacco and alcohol, are usually pretty good. Some of the short-nosed breeds may pose problems in this area, particularly when short noses are combined with massive size as in the English Bulldog. Far too many show dogs are handicapped by handlers who are not themselves sound in wind rather than the other way around. For our non-horsey friends, horses which are fed dusty hay frequently develop respiratory problems which render them unsound in wind, hence the interest in the problem in the horsey set.

■ Sound in limb is a much more extensive problem in dogs. Straight shoulders restrict the ability of the dog to cover the ground and in many cases thus restrict his ability to perform the duties for which he was originally bred. The dog can still move however and this is a relatively minor aspect of unsoundness. Continuing down the foreleg, elbows present the next location of possible unsoundness. The manifestation of unsoundness at this point may take one of two forms, turned out elbows or elbow dysplasia. Dr. E. Seiferle, as quoted by Smythe in his The Anatomy of Dog Breeding, says that elbows which stand off from the body do so because the muscles, such as the pectorals, which normally bind the elbows closely to the chest wall, are underdeveloped. Presumably the right sort of exercise will cure this. Other causes of loose elbows or elbows which protrude also exist. From the soundness point of view, a dog which is out at elbows will tire quickly. Such a dog is not sound. Very little intelligent work has been done on elbow dysplasia. This is an area which some research body might take up.

As we continue our journey down the foreleg, the next area where unsoundness may manifest itself is the pastern. A dog which is down in pastern will be forced to carry his weight not by the column of bones but by the muscles and tendons coming down the back side of the leg. Where this occurs the dog is unsound.

■ Dogs come with one of two types of foot, the cat foot or the hare foot. Each is good for the purpose for which the dog was developed. In the cat foot the third digital bone or phalange is shorter than the same bone in the hare foot. This makes the cat foot more suitable for general work and the hare foot more suitable for short bursts of speed. A broken down foot where all the phalanges are extended rather than arched is an unsound foot. This can sometimes be corrected by exercise and kennelling on very coarse gravel.

■ The first joint in the rear leg where unsoundness may appear is the hip joint. The problem is dysplasia, a very serious problem in many breeds which will not go away by ignoring it as some breeders appear to do. The ball and socket joint between the pelvis and the femur either fails to develop properly or deteriorates due to calcium deposits and/or atrophy. A dog with this condition is unsound. This may possibly be the most serious threat to the well-being of pure-bred dogs today.

The next joint in the rear leg where unsoundness may appear is the stifle joint which corresponds to the knee in humans. Here the problem is slipped patella or kneecap. The patella, which acts as a fulcrum to aid in the transmission of force from the upper leg to the lower as the leg is extended, rides in a groove in the distal end of the femur. If the line of the groove is not in line with the direction of force then the patella is pulled out of this groove and motion of the joint is restricted. This is not a new development but has been present in dogs for a long time. The difficulty is that it appears to be hereditary. It is very prevalent in certain breeds. A dog with this condition cannot walk comfortably on all four feet and is therefore unsound.

■ Now let us look at eyes and soundness. Here the judge has a definite responsibility, by custom if not by dog show regulations, to ascertain if the dog can or cannot see. This is usually done by seeing if the dog's eyes will follow a moving object such as the judge's hand. To the breeder, the responsibility for soundness in relation to the eyes goes much deeper. There are several eye afflictions which are hereditary and for which the reputable breeder has a responsibility not to breed from stock which may carry such afflictions.

In January 1970, Dogs in Canada carried an article about progressive retinal atrophy and what is being done about it in England and how little in Canada. There are also other eye afflictions which require action such as ingrown eyelids. Any dog suffering from any of these is not sound. How many judges have you shown under who did not even take the trouble to check to see if your dog could see?

Soundness in ears is a fairly general thing. Here the judge has a responsibility to learn if the dog can in fact hear. This is usually done by making silly noises to which the dog responds. In some of the white breeds deafness is sometimes associated with albinism. In white Bull Terriers, for example, breeders like dark pigmentation around the eyes and a black patch somewhere as evidence that the dog is not an albino and therefore not likely to be or become deaf.

Soundness in teeth was fairly fully covered in an article on that subject which appeared in February, 1970, Dogs in Canada and will not be repeated here. A dog with incomplete dentition, unless the teeth have been lost in a working accident, is not sound. Likewise a dog with teeth which are in poor condition due to diet is un-

The event was held April 25 in conjunction with the two day United Kennel Club Show at Pointe Claire. Competent breeder-judge was Mr. Don Combee from Marietta, Georgia. Mr. Combee, along with his delightful accent, completely charmed contestants and friends at the excellent after-show dinner, where he gave a very constructive critique on the dogs of the day and showed photographs of his own winning dogs.

Another highlight was the Sheltie Veterans class with Ruth Lane's gorgeous-for-any-age Ch. Summit's Gold Dust, C.D. who is a grand 14 years old! With him in the ring was his daughter, Sybil Jardine's Little Miss Muffett who was 13 years old! Must be all that tender loving care.

Collie stud dog was won by Audrey Gray's Ch. Brandywyne Cloud Nine with his two daughters, Grayfield Singing Rain and Grayfield Snow Drop. The winning Sheltie stud was Diane and Michael Hill's Riverhill Readybrek with his two daughters, Soleste Moon Glow and Braedean's Bright Jewel. At its annual meeting club members elected the following slate of officers for 1970: President, Dr. M. I. McArthur; Vice-President, Mr. C. H. Francis; Treasurer, Mrs. J. On February 1 the club held a benefit Sanction Match with the proceeds donated to Mrs. G. M. McKenzie and Mr. Roy Dewsbury to assist them in overcoming their tragic loss of a few months ago.

To the best of our knowledge this Sanction Match established a record entry of 327 with net proceeds of $340.97.

We were pleased with the success of this Sanction Match as it enabled the Progressive Kennel Club to participate in a very worthy cause. We would therefore like to thank all of the exhibitors who entered at our show and consequently made this contribution possible.

Unwanted Pregnancy

Scientists at Colorado State University are developing a means of "vaccinating" dogs against unwanted pregnancy and/or its undesirable side effects.

They innoculate dogs with a hormone known to be essential to the reproductive cycle. The injection stimulates production of antibodies which suppress the dog's own secretion of the hormone, just as a flu shot induces antibodies which oppose the flu virus, with resulting immunity.

Lloyd C. Faulkner, D.V.M., Ph.D., is directing the study being made under grants from Seeing Eye, Inc., and the Sciafe family of Pittsburgh through the Morris Animal Foundation of Denver. Working with him are three young scientists: John Lunnen, Michael Faith and Jack L. Tribble.

The study has two major phases. One is to isolate and recover the immunizing hormone in quantities large enough to be of practical use. The second is to develop practical ways of applying it.

The needed hormone is the pituitary luteinizing hormone (LH) of cattle, which previously had been tested successfully against rabbits. Its extraction and purification is complex and costly, but Dr. Faulkner says scientists at Colorado State may be getting reasonably close to simplified methods.

Small quantities of the hormone have been made available for experiments through the National Institute of Health. Test injections of laboratory dogs have been followed by marked antibody activity and a lowering in the quality of semen.

Such results, Dr. Faulkner says, present "exciting possibilities" for application to canine population control; regulation of the reproductive function, and suppression of abnormal tissue growth in sexual organs.

LH immunization, which inhibits or blocks production of sex steroids and release of sex cells in both male and female, may prove to be the ultimate substitute for current means of reproduction control in the dog, according to Dr. Faulkner. □

NOTICE

From time to time our attention is drawn to the practice of some breeders who, when advertising or otherwise offering dogs for sale, indicate in some way that the purchaser of a dog sold as pure-bred will be required to make a higher, or additional, payment in order to be furnished with a certificate of registration. Such persons should note that the price at which a dog is sold, or the purpose for which a dog was purchased, has no bearing whatever on the obligation of the seller to supply the purchaser with a certificate of registration issued by The Canadian Kennel Club for a dog sold as pure-bred.

The Live Stock Pedigree Act, a federal statute, requires that when a person sells a dog as pure-bred, or contracts to sell a dog as pure-bred, he must furnish, or agree to furnish, a certificate of registration, together with fully-recorded transfer of ownership to the buyer.

Article XXXI, Section 3 of the By-laws of The Canadian Kennel Club reads as follows:

> "A member may be suspended or expelled, or a non-member deprived of the privileges of the Club, if it is proven to the satisfaction of the Board that when selling, or otherwise disposing of a dog for a consideration (monetary or otherwise), the person disposing of the dog has asked or required the new owner to make any form of payment specifically for the purpose of being furnished with a certificate or registration."

To avoid possible prosecution under the Live Stock Pedigree Act and/or possible disciplinary action by The Canadian Kennel Club, members and others engaged in the selling of dogs as pure-bred are cautioned to refrain from the practice of quoting two selling prices for the dogs, one "with papers", the other "without papers", or to in any other way indicate that an additional payment is required for a certificate of registration.

This notice is published by an order of the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club.

This month's column will be short and to the point as your columnist is in the middle of whelping a litter.

In last month's column it was reported that Pam Mack had lost her lovely black dog, Juniper's Jamtime. However, Jamtime says he really isn't gone at all, but rather it was his kennel mate, Baliwick Bagpiper who passed away. And Jamtime is still very much with us. Sorry about that, Pam.

English Cockers

Jutta Wollweber
R.R. 2, Rockwood, Ont.

English Cocker breeders are fortunate to have a breed that whelps easily and makes excellent mothers.

There is neither the space nor the need to cover all the aspects of whelping here as numerous outstanding books on this subject are available. Only a few tips that I found helpful: utensils to have on hand well before whelping time, heat lamp, thermometer, cotton batten, disinfectant, basket, hot water bottle, towels, litmus paper, vaseline, scissors, BFI powder, eye dropper, Esbilac.

Parturition is a natural process and should not cause anxiety. Most bitches, even with first litters, know exactly what to do. It is advisable though, to stay close by.

A lot of my own habits have been carried over from the horse stable and I hesitate to say whether they are of the same value in dogs. However, I find a lot of parallels and believe in them.

Most bitches refuse their food on whelping day (which is usually night) so this is a very good indication. If a bitch strains more than an hour without producing a pup call the veterinarian. Each puppy has its own afterbirth, which is perfectly normal for the bitch to eat and should not be discouraged. I never feed a regular meal to the bitch until 24 hours after whelping, meantime only giving her small light snacks every three or four hours of milk and honey, consommé or such. After that I still keep to the frequency of meals but go on to cottage cheese, egg, fish and as soon as the pups start drinking larger quantities, lots of good meat is absolutely essential to make all the milk the growing litter needs.

The normal vaginal discharge at first is of a ghastly looking green color, later becoming red. The bowels the first day after whelping will be loose and almost black but will soon return to normal.

Avoid visitors for at least a week. Peace, quiet, semi-dark and warmth should prevail in the maternity ward. Enjoy these first three weeks in which "Mama" does all the work and which will fly by, to be superceded by what seems to be a never-ending vicious circle of preparing meals, washing dishes and cleaning messes. But oh, what bliss, and who of us would want to miss it for too long?

WORKING GROUP

Outstanding Boxer Mourned

Bob and Sheila Verhulst of Burnaby, B.C., had a great loss in the death of their Ch. (Can. & Am.) Style Setter of Kargotor. Style was 8½ years old. His show career started at the early age of four months with his breeders, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Cauldwell, when he took the breed and Group III at a Sanction show. He continued his winning with his new owners by taking BIS at the Western Canada Boxer Club's Sanction show.

Style finished his championship at the age of 15 months with his handler, Mrs. Pat Tripp. At this show he won BB and Group IV. The next night Style won what was to be the first of five BIS (four Canadian and one American) and many Groups. When shown in the USA he acquired his

Pat Blenkey
Wrath's Reg'd. Dobermans
58 Hatton Dr., Ancaster, Ont.

The first educational session of the DPCC was held on April 19 at Emsley Kennels, Toronto. This took the form of a mock show. Our judges were people who had never judged before and whose names were drawn from a hat. The original intention was that these people would give a critique of the dogs they had chosen as winners, and then the rest of the membership would enter into discussion. Unfortunately, although the day was dry, the wind was very strong and very cold, so this discussion did not materialize. However, there were plenty of ringside judges which made it just like a regular show!

We had a total of 18 entries, eight of which were puppies. Our members had extended invitations to new Doberman owners, and by the end of the afternoon we had quite a few new and interested members. Adrienne Jack judged all the males. Her winners were as follows: Junior Puppy, Peter Millar and "Flint"; Senior Puppy, Jim McGriskin and "Storm"; Open Male, Margie Johnson and "Lowenbrau Artful Dodger," who also went WD. Bitch classes were judged by Jim McGriskin whose winners were: Junior Puppy, Sylvia Feistl and "Asta"; Senior Puppy, Gord Horton and "Hyjay's Bronze Bridget"; Open Bitch, John Blenkey and "Wrath's Cabanuela" who also went WB.

Best Puppy, Best of Winners and Specials were judged by Mrs. June Hurst, who selected "Storm", owned by Shirley de Boer and handled by Jim McGriskin, as Best Puppy, and Scoring: 32-34 correct — you could be judging. 28-31 correct — you should start thinking about judging. 24-27 correct — good if you are in another breed. Less than 23 — you must be in another breed. Following fortification with various forms of "liquid refreshment" Shirley de Boer gave some instruction on handling and ring etiquette. This proved to be most informative, and we received many useful tips. Certainly if all this instruction is digested — and used — there should be plenty of fancy handling evident in the Doberman ring at forthcoming shows.

It is indeed unfortunate that more of our members were not present, but distance prohibits this in many cases. However, maybe some enterprising members from the various provinces could arrange a similar type of event for their part of the country. It's certainly well worth while.

Our thanks go to Mabel and George Hall of Emsley Kennels for the use of their property, to Shirley de Boer for her time and to all the members who came out and helped to make this day such a success.

The club has decided to institute Annual Awards in the following categories:

Dog of the Year (dog or bitch winning most Best of Breeds).
Best of Opposite Sex to Dog of the Year.
Sire of the Year.
Dam of the Year.
Puppy of the Year (puppy defeating most Dobes in breed competition).
Breeder of the Year (member of DPCC breeding the most champions finished in current year).
Best Canadian Bred (dog or bitch winning most BCB).
Obedience Dog of the Year.
Highest Scoring Dobes completing their CD, CDX, or UD in current year.

The above awards, except Breeder of the Year, are open to any Canadian-owned and/or bred Dobes. In addition, all club members who finish a Conformation or an Obedience Champion in the current year will be awarded a plaque by the club.

All Western and Maritime Dobe owners — send your show results and names of your finished Champions to either Barry James, 24 Victoria St., Georgetown, Ont. or Mrs. June Hurst, 1506 Simcoe St., Oshawa, Ont., who are compiling the statistics for the awards and soliciting trophy donations .

In most stud ads we see the above mentioned. Just what does the stud owner truly mean when he makes this statement? Who approves the bitches, and what qualifies this person as an expert?

To begin with, the owner of a stud should have enough knowledge of his breed to enable him to select from within his own litters, those pups which are pets only, those which are show prospects and those which are not show stock but are not necessarily pet stock and are suitable for breeding purposes, not having any major faults. Any dog with a major fault is not show stock no matter how good the overall picture may be and I would prefer all breeding stock not to have a major fault.

I do not believe anyone becomes an expert in all phases of the dog game, no matter how long he has been breeding, as there are hundreds of situations which can arise in any breeding program unforeseen and over which we have no control, (old Mother Nature has a way of tripping up even the most knowledgeable). Many of these situations could be avoided if we were all such great experts.

The best we can do is try not to fall into the "expert trap" and look at our own and other's stock honestly. If one refuses, or cannot see that their own stock has faults they should not put themselves in the position of judging other's dogs.

It is the right of any stud owner to pick and choose the bitches his stud will be bred to, but if he does not know how to select within his own kennel he does not know enough to approve or disapprove of any bitch.

In many cases, we find that "approved" simply means any bitch whose owner can afford (in some cases the exorbitant) stud fee and faults, major or minor have little to do with it. Unfortunately, there are too many breeders around (not necessarily in Canada) who, even if they are capable of determining a bitch's qualities, fail to bother looking at the bitch either before or after she arrives to be bred, and who make no bones about their failure to do so. But the stud fee is always requested before the mating takes place.

To my humble way of thinking, an approved bitch should be one with a combination of bloodlines which by past performances, has proven to be capable of producing superior specimens (remembering that not all dogs in these lines are producers).

She should be of average size at least, have good clear color, and be from a background of good clear color; she should be hard of back, deep of body with corresponding layback of front and rear quarters, (equally balanced) nice depth and width of brisket with a broad well filled-in forechest, long clean neck topped with a definitely feminine head with dark eyes and good bite, a proper set-on of ears, nicely sloping rounded croup with high tight feet, and above all a good sweet temperament.

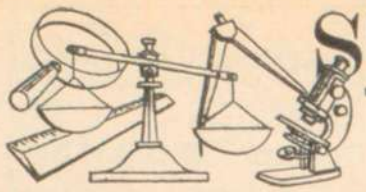
The above type of bitch is of course near perfection and very hard to come by. Therefore if a bitch of this quality comes your way but she has a back that is perhaps not so hard, or she is a little light of eye or she is slightly long in loin, or her neck could be longer, or her feet could be a little tighter but she has no major faults, for heavens' sake "grab her", providing your stud can balance her lack of good points and has no major faults himself. And, this is a big "and", providing you honestly feel your stud can produce with this bitch. If not, then be honest enough to admit it and send her where you feel she could do better.

I would say that it is preferable that the bitch be related to your stud, but not necessarily so. If either she or your stud are very intensely inbred, an outcross mating is permissible if done with specific reasons in mind.

Under no circumstances accept a bitch just to be able to brag of how many "breeders" have used your stud, or even to keep the bread on the kennel table. If your dogs have become or are this much of a financial burden to you, that you have to rely on stud fees dishonestly earned then you have no business in Great Danes. Or if your ego's health depends on the number of bitches serviced by your stud, you do not belong in Danes. They do not need or deserve you.

Remember, a percentage of the pups out of inferior or unsuitable bitches will end up in the show ring whether sold as pets or not, and it is then you will get back some of the "lumps" you have given the breed by indiscriminate breeding.

If you are truly concerned for the future of your breed (we all profess this) as we all should be, then prove it by intelligent and sensible breeding practices.



STANDARDS QUIZ

Standards Quiz No. 89. Compiled by H. Malcolm Stephens. Object is to match the first set of numbers (which relate to various parts of the dog) with the second set of numbers (which describe that part of the dog). For example: 18 - 1 Loin — wide. Scoring: 21-23 correct — you could be judging. 18-20 correct — you should start thinking about judging. 15-17 correct — good if you are in another breed. Less than 15 — you must be in another breed. It's How You Meet the Challenge That Counts

Edith L. Freeman, Editor
The Samoyed Ass'n. of Canada Bulletin

ness. I use the wording purposely for be sure, if they continue breeding any length of time, these fortunates will encounter it, for the law of averages will catch up with them.

There are two kinds of breeders who have run into HD, and two kinds of methods of dealing with it. The first keeps it a deep dark secret; he sells the puppies for a good price and repeats the breeding. The purchaser of his stock needn't bother contacting him if they find themselves with a mature Sam who is a cripple. This breeder will come up with all sorts of causes for this lameness, most of them being something which happened after they purchased the pup from him. This type of breeder may also advertise his stock as being x-rayed, but does not say x-rayed "clear". That last word is the magic one.

Then we have breeder No. 2 who also encounters HD. He doesn't bury either his head or his records in the sand, however, but sets out to do something constructive about it. If he hadn't before, he will now read all he can find about HD; he will discuss his situation with others similarly afflicted; he will x-ray all breeding stock; he will discard those found to be dysplastic and he will sell pups with an agreement to replace any found to be dysplastic at one year of age or older; he will seek out clear stock and use no other when planning future breedings. He may, and probably will, encounter HD again in some future breedings but nothing like the amount No. 1 breeder will encounter.

No. 1 breeder is strictly a breeder in name only. His kennels mean one thing only and that is a source of income. He will keep Sams until the well runs dry and then switch to another breed, and proceed to flood the market with inferior stock in that breed also. Heartbreak follows in his wake but he cares not.

Consider breeder No. 2. He also encounters heartbreak but it is his own. Dogs he has lavished affection on have to be discarded; they cannot be used for breeding; they love this dog and cannot bear to part with it, and so he's carried along with this added expense cheerfully shouldered for the sake of the dog.

Should this man be penalized? If so, why? Should he not rather be commended and honored for his integrity and willingness to shoulder the burden himself instead of unloading it on others?

Please give this matter some thought and be ready to spring to the defense of such a breeder when you hear someone downgrading his kennel and dogs. Remember — it is wise to be kind to all persons on the way up, for you meet the same persons on the way down.

There is nothing disgraceful in encountering HD. It is the way you decide to meet the challenge that counts.

The Joys and Tribulations of Showing a "Rare" Breed

Eric Jorgensen
535 Hunterplain Hill, Calgary, Alta.

Recently we purchased a Giant Schnauzer, and after our first show in February, I can only now appreciate the frustrations of other readers who have indulged themselves in the so-called "awkward" breeds. Since there is no competition whatsoever in the breed there is no comparison to other dogs at all if you fail to place in the Group. You feel you have a good example of the breed and yet there is no recognition of this. I have heard people who own the less popular dogs complain that their feeling is either that the judge is not familiar with the Standard or that he tends to lean toward the more popular breeds in an effort to please the majority of the exhibitors. I know of people who own exceptional examples of a rare breed and yet in four years of showing they have yet to place any higher than a Group 4th. I feel this is a terrible shame and worse than that it bears out the fact that for some reason, the majority of the judges do ignore good dogs in favor of the more popular breeds. Why?

Many of the judges have held licenses for many years, and they are judging very frequently — but a person begins to wonder if they are as aware of all the Standards as thoroughly as their licenses require.

It is true, and I don't believe that anyone can deny the fact that even the judge has his preference in breed and that when he judges the Standard he uses is the version he sees when he reads it. I can verify this very simply by just studying the results of shows published in Dogs in Canada.

When I am entering a show I study the judge's past choices and I know not only what he puts up most consistently, but even the type of dog toward which he leans in the breed.

This all points back to the age-old argument of the judges being forced to use the point schedule of judging. In truth, if accurate judging were to be consistent, then certainly this would have to be the only answer. There is to be no argument offered on a person's opinion or preference.

I have been showing for quite a while, and in a sense I enjoy the way the judging is done now, but only when I show a dog which has competition within its breed. You can win today and lose tomorrow, but at least you can win! There is no satisfaction in a BB ribbon where there is no competition and going in for Group judging seems somehow so futile, since you realize that in a sense you are handicapped. Certainly the other dogs in the ring are good examples of their breed, since they had to work to get in the ring — but might not the "one of a kind" be perhaps as good or possibly better?

I would suggest that perhaps at this level, Group judging, the point system be instituted and by doing so the "awkward" breeds would also stand a good chance. Certainly something must be wrong when good dogs (even rare) never seem to get high placements. For example, how often have you seen BIS won by a Vizsla, Basenji, Malamute, Belgian Sheepdog, Great Pyrenees, Newfoundland, Mastiff, Griffon, Pulik? In all the years of breeding, certainly exceptional examples of these breeds must have been shown sometime!

TERRIER GROUP

Let's Talk About Terriers

Barbara G. Pirrie
58 Wolfrey Ave., Toronto 6, Ont.

Well, with the show season in full swing news is just a bit scarcer than usual, but I well know what it's like trying to get those "young hopefuls" in show condition and keep correspondence up. It's well nigh impossible! In fact there are many, many times that I wish my "chosen" breed could have been a nice short coated little dog that required no trimming. Mind you this "breed" would have to have other requisites as well. First it must begin with the letter 'A' (in this way at a show you get the misery over early). Secondly, it cannot have a tail (which, if it doesn't exist, therefore cannot drop just at the exact second the judge is taking a last look). And last, but not least it shall have prick ears (which can't fly hither and yon whenever the little "dear" decides to really foul you up in the ring)! If this mythical breed is ever developed, you can be sure I'll be its first exhibitor.

Enough of this dreaming and on to the news. Have heard from Hilary Dude, Balacadia Reg'd. that the Airedale Club of Canada has just been formed. Its first meeting was held at the Sportsmen's Show. Hilary is President; John Voortman, Vice-President; Carole Preece, Secretary; Elma Lewis-Watts, Treasurer. The Board of Directors was also appointed: Mary Curran (Northern Ontario), Mildred Black (Southern Ontario), and Madeline Worthington (Eastern Canada). This sounds like a most enthusiastic new club, which already boasts a membership of 37; unfortunately none from the West as yet, but I'm sure this will change as soon as the news reaches them. The club is planning its first Booster show to be held in conjunction with the Barrie show, Sunday, August 2 and are hoping to hold another Booster with the Ottawa show this fall.

On top of their plans for their Boosters they have already published the club's first Newsletter, which is just bursting with show results, news, litters, etc. For those who haven't had an opportunity to see it as yet, here are two items of much interest for Airedalers. The Decade Book of the Airedale Terrier Club of America is now available at a cost of $6.00 per copy. This book was edited by our own Mary Curran and there are over 300 pages just crammed with photos and the history of the breed. Anyone wishing a copy should write to Mary, 18 Summit Ave., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The other item comes from Mrs. Helene Walter, 3655 Howard, St. Hubert, Que., who has successfully traced her dog's pedigree back to the Airedale, Jerry. (I'm afraid I'm a bit nonplussed here — was this the first Airedale?) Anyway, Mrs. Walter has graciously offered to help anyone who is interested in doing the same. If you would like this service she'll help all she can, but don't forget to send her your pedigrees.

Hilary, I think you did a marvellous job on your first edition of the "King's Herald". I certainly enjoyed reading it. Anyone interested in joining the club, if for no other reason than to keep on top of Airedale "doings" throughout the country, should contact

On now to the Bull Terrier newsletter and it's just as fascinating as ever. Congratulations on the cover, Gail — most unusual — and also on all the old prints of BT's. They really haven't changed very much, have they? Some terrific news for B. Terrierites. At the Ottawa Sanction Match, April 5, the BT, Lares Lucky Do, owned by Robert Cole, took Best in Match. With the marvellous turnout you people had at the Sportsmen's Show, this lovely win, and your second Booster coming up in conjunction with the Terrier Breeder's show — this could just be the year of the Bull Terrier!

Next to a letter from Margaret McClory, Cairngorlynn Reg'd., Beamsville, Ont. Actually, this is more of an open letter to Mrs. Barbara Hollings, who bred Cannycairn's Fergus, Redstart of Highhedges and Robert of Highhedges. "To you, Barbara, a great big 'thank you' for coming to this side of the Atlantic and giving all of us the opportunity to own these excellent dogs. And from me, 'thank you' for the opportunity of meeting you and for helping me to increase my knowledge in raising my favorite little 'lion hearts'." Certainly, I think all Cairn enthusiasts will echo Margaret's sentiments.

Now for some Cairn news which is not nearly as pleasant to report. Recently the McFarlanes lost their Ch. (Can. & Am.) Badenoch's Hamish Ruadh, born June 15, 1955. I well remember dear old Hamish — he and I were making our ring debut at just about the same time. When Kay told me the news it was almost like the ending of an era for me. He was quite a dog!

Pamela Running, Runwyre Kennels, Brampton, Ont., delightedly reports nice winning at the Wire Fox Terrier Club of the Central States Specialty at Glendale, Ohio. Her Runwyre Romano went Best in Sweepstakes under Judge Mrs. Jean Bigelow of the famed Roylu Kennels. In the show classes Romano was 1st in the nine to 12 class. Her Can. Ch. Runwyre Resurrected was 2nd in Open. First time shown in the U.S.A.

Was talking to "Mike" Macbeth the other day and she had some very good news for the Dandie people. At two of the Ottawa Sanction shows Linda Bergh's Gaybob's Far Horizons took a 3rd and a 4th in Group.

"Mike" was also most enthused over the fact that Dog World Magazine had selected her Dandie, Ch. Glahms Macaroon, to represent the breed in their Visualizations of the Standard issue — this after seeing him on the March cover of Dogs in Canada. Congratulations, "Mike" that's a real honor for a Canadian bred dog.

To Schnauzers next and a note from Rebecca Hawley telling us that at the Samoyed Club of Manitoba's Sanction Match, George Taylor judging, Mrs. Bernice Nicolson's Rosehill Patrick (11 months) took 1st in Group and Best in Match. Our Terriers are doing awfully well this year, aren't they? Let's hope this continues on into the point shows.

Becky goes on to mention that she had sent me the item on the Schnauzer "Inky" and she wondered if I'd received it. Yes, I most certainly did and enjoyed it immensely. It will appear soon in Dogs. Unfortunately I didn't receive it, as quite often I don't other items, until after the 10th, which is the closing date for Dogs. So if any of you think I've forgotten you or not received your news, it's more than likely the time element, if not the Post Office.

On now to Westies and a letter from Bud Flanagan, Manderley Reg'd., with news of yet another new club. This is the National West Highland White Terrier Club and it officially came into existence on April 19 with a present membership of 19. President, Mrs. J. Flanagan; Vice-President, Mr. R. Gordon; Secretary, Mrs. A. D. McGillivray, 467 Juliana Dr., Oshawa, Ont.; Treasurer, Mr. A. D. McGillivray. Directors: Mrs. T. Adams, Mr. H. Flanagan, Mr. L. Hall, Mr. M. Mutchison, Mr. W. E. Thorndyke.

Bud goes on to say: "I should point out that this club is not primarily a show-giving club, although it is possible that we may hold Sanction Matches or Booster shows, if requested to do so. Our main purpose is to teach the many beginners about our breed and to this end we are holding sessions on grooming, handling, whelping, housebreaking, Obedience — all this largely interspersed with good fellowship. We also intend to issue newsletters or bulletins, probably four a year to begin with."

All luck, Bud, and I hope that maybe you can hold it down to an educational club. So often clubs start out in this manner, but in no time flat end up being strictly show-giving clubs, and the educational bit goes by the boards.

Well, there you have it! No doggy cures or tales this month — where are you all? My dogs can't be the only 'kooky' members of the Terrier Group. And surely someone out there must have found a miraculous cure for something or other. See you next month.

First Papillon Club

Mrs. Vincent T. Scott
R.R. 3, Campbellville, Ont.

A "first" for Canada is the formation of the Papillon Club of Canada.

On April 12, in the home of our President, Mr. Harvey Smith, breeders as well as those owning Papillons realized that to familiarize the public with the little "Butterfly Dog" and also to help and encourage each other, a club should be formed.

A most enjoyable luncheon followed by a business meeting was held and our future plans call for a Sanction show as well as a Booster show having our goal set on Specialty Shows in the years to come.

The balance of the Executive are: Vice-President, Mrs. Rosa Ionson; Treasurer, Mrs. Joyce Jacobs; Secretary, Mrs. Marjorie Scott, R.R. 3, Campbellville, Ont.

Breeders and owners of Papillons interested in this club are asked to write to the Secretary at the above address for further information.

On Yorkshire Terriers

Fay Gold, noted Yorkie specialist, writes about "A plan for the organization of a national roster of work study groups functioning in their own area, on an autonomous basis, for the study of genetics by breeders of the pure-bred dog." This is a preliminary draft, "which should be followed soon with news of a plan for Work Study Groups, autonomous on form, held together by an advisory council and a National Genetics Newsletter. There is no reason why it should not be an International Newsletter and organization . . . I would like to hear from Canadian fanciers, since this is to be an all-breed undertaking. I will try to start the first Work Study Group in my area, and report on it to all who contact me — at Box 856, Times Square Stn., New York, N.Y. 10036, U.S.A.

"I brought up a motion at the annual meeting of the Yorkshire Terrier Club of America at the Westminster KC Show in February 1969, to hold a Genetics Seminar at the February 1970 show. The meeting was not in favor, since it meant too crowded a weekend, what with the Y.T. Specialty, the Westminster Show and the Annual meeting to be held. The President, Betty R. Dullinger then appointed me Educational Chairman to plan and hold such a seminar at another time.

"Two such meetings were planned and held, in which about 35 people participated; one on October 26 at the time and place of the Progressive Dog Club (Toydogs) in Brooklyn, N.Y. and the other at the Pennsylvania Civic Center at the time of the KC of Pennsylvania show. The significant thing about these two was that the Yorkie people stayed away, so we must assume that they know all they need to know about the new science of Genetics. Breeders of many other breeds attended and enjoyed both meetings very much. At the second, the idea was projected of continuing these seminars in the future on an open basis to all breeds.

"This statement is therefore an attempt to project the form in which we can continue to meet and study the basics involved in this science. The plan is to organize Work Study Groups in one's own neighborhoods; to hold classes, gather data, and locate the proper authorities to collate it and evaluate this material.

"Should there be enough Work Study Groups involved there is no reason why a symposium could not be held once in two years to which would be invited men and women active in the fields of genetics and bio-chemistry to participate in presenting their material and collaborating in open discussion with the membership and other participants at the symposium."

Am. Ch. Mi-Pao's Batoe Ketjil (Rocky) owned by J. Murphy of Little Rock, Ark., bred by the writer, was shown 12 times this year, taking 11 BB, five Group placings and then went on to take BB at the Specialty Show of the North Texas Chow Chow Club in Fort Worth, Texas, March 20. Judge was Mrs. Clara Alford of Catoosa, Okla. There were 48 entered with two absentees. One of these was the 11-month-old female, Am. Ch. Mi-Pao's Kim, who finished her title the week before, undefeated. She is a daughter of the BIS winner, Ch. Mi-Pao's Oetara (top-winning Chow, 1969), and is owned by G. Medlock of Little Rock, Ark. Another daughter of Oetara found her way to Mrs. Frances I. Reid, editor-owner of The American Chow Chow magazine.

A litter of five Mi-Pao pups was widely scattered in December, 1969. While two remained in Ontario (Kitchener and Kingston) one took off for Maryland, another for Texas and the last for Salisbury, Rhodesia.

Another import from Holland will try to add some of her qualities to the Mi-Pao Kennels. She is a black daughter of the Canadian-bred Mi-Tan's Istri-Ganti and the black Dutch male, Tschiang Kai Tchek van Mongolie, who won the last three Specialties in Holland in a row under English, Dutch and German judges, over entries of 80. Tschiang is out of Ch. (Dutch, German & Swiss) Wamchow Che Foo ex Black Ming Lee of Silverway.

The elderly Dog

At no time in his life does a dog deserve more consideration than in his old age.

With a little extra care by his owners, and veterinary treatment if needed, the elderly dog will continue to be a healthy, loving companion.

All aspects of daily care become more important as the dog ages, advises the Gaines Dog Research Center.

Proper nutrition is essential for maintaining his good health. Soft-moist products are complete, balanced foods and their digestibility is a particular advantage to the older dog.

Metabolism slows down as the dog ages and he'll require less food. Don't let him become obese. Snacks and extra helpings may only shorten his life.

Moderate exercise helps keep his weight down and his system regulated. But long walks or rough play can be overtiring.

Skin glands secrete less oil and older dogs tend to have dry skin. Brushing helps counteract this by stimulating the skin and removing loose hair.

Teeth inevitably wear down with age. Have them periodically checked by a veterinarian to prevent abcesses and other painful infections. The dog may lose teeth but this need not create feeding problems, for the soft-moist products are easily chewed. Don't let him risk breaking teeth on bones or hard biscuits. (If he likes biscuits, first soften them in liquid.)

Arthritis and rheumatism are apt to bother the elderly dog. Keep him warm, dry and out of drafts.

He may suffer loss of hearing or sight from natural diminishing of these senses or physical ailments.

Cataracts, indicated by a cloudy or bluish film over the eye, can sometimes be corrected with prompt veterinary care.

Symptoms of ear inflammation are the dog's shaking his head or worrying at his ears. Again, immediate veterinary treatment is necessary.

A blind or deaf dog can lead a contented life if his owners keep him reassured and safe. Don't confuse a blind dog by changing the location of his bed or feeding bowls, or placing furniture where he's likely to stumble into it. Barricading stairs may prevent a mis-step and dangerous fall.

Avoid startling a deaf dog by not walking up directly behind him. Or, warn him with heavy footsteps. He'll feel the floor vibrate. Stay in his line of vision when giving instructions. He'll quickly learn to watch his owner and his super sensitive nose acts as an efficient second pair of ears or eyes.

Aging dogs are prone to kidney ailments. Danger signals are excessive water consumption, and increase or decrease in urination.

If a puppy is brought into the household, don't let him pester the older dog. Give the old fellow just as much affection as before. Let him know he's still "top dog".

Older dogs are most secure in the routine they've known for years: accustomed food given at the same time each day, regular exercise, familiar things in familiar places. But the comforting presence of his family, with lots of attention and even a little spoiling is the longtime pet's best reward. □

Canadian Dog Shows

Having heard many cast aspersions as to the merits of the Canadian dog clubs shows, I decided to combine business and pleasure and attend a series of these shows for my vacation. I had heard they were "set up", much too "easy", "unknowledgeable judges", etc. and etc. Since we loved vacationing in Canada we decided to try it anyway.

We arrived in a downpour at Saint John, New Brunswick, Canada, at 6 p.m. Since their breed shows start at 1 p.m. daily, groups at 8 p.m. followed by Best in Show, your schedule is available in advance and you can plan your days. This was a group of six shows, all at one place, for six consecutive days. We were entered for the last four only. Next morning, we went to Rockwood Park, high on a hill overlooking Saint John and set up our tent, had lunch, groomed our Labradors and set out to find the grounds. I wanted to be there early for I was sure the little I knew about showing would be different than was done in Canada. We arrived at 3 p.m. — our judging was at 5 p.m.

My first impression as we approached the grounds was to turn around and go home. I couldn't believe this was dog show grounds. There was a racetrack, grandstand and all, on the left of the three long low exhibition buildings, and behind it was a huge carnival with merry-go-rounds, ferris wheels, midway, monsters, wheels of fortune, games of chance and all the rest. The little red sticker on our windshield worked magic and we were afforded a small parking space in an already full muddy lot.

Admission to a dog show for a spectator is a quarter but my exhibitor ticket opened a barn type door and I was face to face with a new experience. A few familiar faces appeared in the crowd, people you only recognized as exhibitors were friends here in a different country, and they greeted us warmly, pushed crates around in cramped quarters and made room for us and we were at home that quickly. As a word of caution — no one told me until it was too late — rest rooms with Laddies on the door doesn't mean Ladies. I should have looked for Lassies! Mercy!

Watching just a few breeds judged, I knew nothing about presenting my dog here would be any different. As Open Dogs were called someone said pleasantly "Ladies first" and a young girl waited to follow me into the ring. As always, once in the ring I was only aware of my dog and his response to my efforts to show him. Later, as we worked around the ring I knew the other exhibitor moved a nice young dog and I was surprised as 1st in Class and Winners Dog came to me, but this is not to speak of my victory or defeat so much as to relate my personal feelings about Canadian shows.

As for the judging itself, I must say I don't ever remember having a dog of mine so well examined, gone over, moved and scrutinized before. The whole atmosphere seemed to say, enjoy this, take your time, let everyone see this animal from all angles.

People were informed by the ring steward continuously as to what class and what breed was being examined. If the judge knew what his decision was to be, he certainly convinced me that I had as good a chance as any dog there. No one in the ring, in any breed, was ignored or overlooked. I felt everyone had equal consideration.

Labradors, fortunately, are a popular dog in Canada and they carried the largest entry in the Sporting dogs, eight altogether, including two beautiful Canadian Champions. The immediate reaction of the Canadian people to the one Lab there not from Canada or of Canadian breeding, couldn't have been nicer. Their pleasant smiles and eager congratulations as ribbons and points mounted warmed my heart, and like no other show I have ever been to, spontaneous approval and acceptance of a possible winner was there for me to enjoy.

Professional handlers, state friends and new friends, all joined together and always you heard, "want a coke?", "join us for a hot dog", "give you a hand with your crate", "have a chair", "can I help hold one of your dogs at ringside for you?", "please stop by later". People together with a common interest, to pick winners from 237 entries, but most of all to have fun doing it.

Points do accumulate easier in Canada. They only require ten for a Champion against our 15. If you have the only representative of your breed an automatic Best of Breed gives you a point, however you must beat competition at least once to finish a champion. In the states we must have competition for every point and we require two major wins to be included in the 15, which they do not.

As our final day of showing approached it was obvious to all that there was a chance our Lab could finish. I consoled myself by saying we had then accumulated eight points in three days and by not finishing of course we would have to come back again. Labs were called over the "mike" and I again had the feeling of wanting to go home. "Joe's" big brown eyes said "come on Ma, let's just try" so once again the pretty young Canadian handler, or agent as they are called, said "Ladies first", and when we beat her dog for one more point she was so happy for me and so eager to congratulate me that I felt I was part of a storybook. Since all four bitches had taken turns at being Winners Bitch our chances of taking Best of Winners for that needed last point seemed impossible. I was aware of a goodly crowd watching, but I heard their whistles, cheers and applause before I heard the judge say, "Dog — Best of Winners". I never saw him point to me but they did and what thrilled me most of all was that the people I had beaten were glad for me, spectators, exhibitors and handlers alike, eager to congratulate me. Finishing a Canadian Champion in four shows will be a thrill that time will dim, but never will I forget the warmth of the people and the lesson in sportsmanship I saw exhibited and I hope someday to have the opportunity to lose as gracefully to them at an American show as they did to me. To be a winner is pleasant for anyone, but to be a loser and do it well takes a fine sportsman.

RECENT WINNERS

Recent Winners is one of the most popular sections of Dogs in Canada. Cost for including a photograph of your dog winning at this year's shows is certainly nominal — just to cover costs. There's a good representation in this month's issue — commencing on following page. We urge you to make sure you obtain a photograph of your dog when he makes his next win and take time to send it along. Let everyone know how well he (or she) is doing!

SPANIELS FOR SPORT — by Talbot Radcliffe. Howell Book House, New York, 1969 — $7.50.

Owners of flushing spaniels interested in training them for field performance will be delighted with Mr. Radcliffe's book. Using as a base H. W. Carlton's "Spaniels Their Breaking for Sport and Field Trials" first published in 1915, Mr. Radcliffe develops Carlton's concepts of training on the basis of his modern experience. Experience he has as his fame as a breeder, trainer and field handler is well known. The author has captured field championships in Britain and the United States.

In the introduction, the essence of the book is summarized in point form. In the text these highlights are developed with great skill and sensitivity. Of particular interest is the emphasis on the Psychology of the dog. In developing Mr. Carlton's ideas the author brings fresh style to sound old ideas and blends modern research knowledge into his text. These chapters are useful and indeed required study for any dog owner as the findings and the philosophy are not confined to the training of flushing spaniels.

The later chapters deal with the mechanics of training and special situations encountered in the field. Photographic and diagramatic illustrations support the content.

Mr. Radcliffe builds on Carlton's writing with a crisp dogmatic style that is easy to follow and positive in attitude. The author tells us what he has discovered and does not equivocate. His beliefs are based on study and reason. The reviewer would like to have seen more illustrations and the addition of a bibliography. The book is well indexed.

Along with "Training Your Spaniel" by Clarence J. Pfaffenberger, now in its second edition, "Spaniels For Sport" is required reading for Cocker, Springer, Clumber, Sussex and Welsh spaniel trainers. To quote Mr. Radcliffe, "Let common sense control your progress. Don't expect wonders from a youngster. Take time to finish. Be just in punishment. Hunting a brace or team is a great thrill. Also it is great fun. The pupil should learn to be a success and should expect to be a success. It will then be a success, because success breeds success."

How can we quarrel with common sense, justice, fun and success.

Miss Gertrude Stenhouse, sired by the leading U.S. sire of that era, Ch. Captain Lookout Of Thorhall ex Ch. Canyonair's Teacher's Pet. Other outstanding sires used in our breeding program were Am. Ch. Canyonair's Man On Fire, Am. Ch. Marjack's Golden Windjammer and the outstanding Canadian sire, Ch. Standfast of Blossomlea, who sired four of our champions, including Shadrack's dam, Ch. Scher-Khoun's Carousel.

Slowly the picture was developing with each generation being an improvement over the previous one. On October 18, 1967, the 5th generation of Scher-Khoun Boxers was born, sired by Tri. Int. Ch. Millan's Fashion Hint ex Ch. Scher-Khoun's Carousel. It was apparent from the beginning that our Centennial project was going to be successful. Both Shadrack and his littermate, Syncopation, stood out and from the moment they stepped into the show ring they were winners, seldom to be defeated, both in Canada and the U.S. They were soon nicknamed "The Terrible Twins" and we are happy to report that they are both American as well as Canadian champions.

"Shadrack", being the male, was extensively campaigned during 1969, accumulating a very impressive show record for a dog who was just over two years old by the end of 1969.

He has won to date seven Bests in Show, 14 Best Canadian Breds in Show, 60 Bests of Breed including seven in the U.S., three of which were large Boxer Specialty shows, having been judged by more than 50 different judges. He finished for his Canadian title without defeat in the classes and he attained his American title in six shows including wins at Buffalo, Chicago, Detroit and New York Westminster.

Shadrack was handled to all these wins by Shirley and it is a pleasure to watch Shadrack and Shirley work together as a team. It is obvious that they show to win and they seldom, if ever, let each other down.

Our breeding program and kennel management are a collective effort, where we decide together on the selection of stud dog, bitches, evaluate our pups, etc. The actual grooming and showing are left in the hands of Shirley, while I look after the training and conditioning. It is not uncommon to see me jogging along a lonely country road with one of our young dogs. This exercise is both beneficial for me as well as the dogs, and nothing gives me more pleasure when a judge later on compliments us about the excellence of the movement of our Boxers.

In our kennel we consider the bitches our most important asset, the philosophy being that one can always go to the stud dogs of one's choice. Our bitches are all of championship quality and each one has produced two or more champions. One of these bitches, Ch. Backchat of Blossomlea 2nd, who was purchased several years ago from Miss Jean Grant of the well-known Blossomlea kennel, is the dam of five champions to date and a sixth one is on the way. She is also the dam of Ch. Scher-Khoun's Coquette, who was the youngest bitch to ever win a Winners award at the American Boxer Club Specialty show in 1969 at the age of 7½ months.

In the past we have successfully bred Miniature Pinschers, Basset Hounds and we own an outstanding champion Doberman sire, Ch. Kurtzhaus Thunder. We feel that to do a proper job you should concentrate on one breed at any one time, although the experience in other breeds has stood us in good stead in our Boxer breeding program.

The fact that Shirley is a professional handler also helps to get us in touch with many other breeds and this has also contributed to our successful breeding program, which includes 14 Canadian champions, three of which are also American champions, one is a Bermudian champion, while three more have won majors in the U.S. We have also bred the Boxer Puppy of the year for the last three years, have won the Boxer Club of Canada Puppy Match award three out of the last four years and The Boxer Club of Canada Specialty shows in 1966 and 1968.

We feel, however, that our biggest contribution to Boxers in North America is still to come. Shadrack is turning out to be an outstanding producer with three champions to date, which could grow to 12 by the end of 1970 (in a recent string of six shows the Winners Dog and Bitch awards were all won by dogs sired by Shadrack, while at the recent Buffalo Boxer match both the adult dog winner and puppy winner were sired by Shadrack). Several of his pups are of outstanding quality, which is the sign of a great stud dog. One of his sons, "Meshack", looks very promising indeed, having already scored impressive wins in Pittsburg and Buffalo at 7½ months. He is the result of Shadrack/Syncopation mating, which we have repeated. We feel that the "Shadrack" and "Meshack" combination could be the most powerful stud dog force which has been offered to North American breeders in many a year. We certainly hope that the breeders will plan to incorporate these two in their breeding program as this will result in a higher degree of uniformity than presently exists in the Boxer breed. To those breeders who are anxious to obtain a bitch sired by Shadrack, drop us a line, as we know of numerous litters that have recently been whelped or are expected in the near future.

To win the Top Dog of the year award is very exciting indeed and it is a terrific promotion for the breed. Another way of promoting the breed of course is through a Boxer club. We are actively involved in The Boxer Club of Canada, where I serve as the President and Educational Chairman and Shirley is the Membership chairman. We look forward to a greater and a more national participation and membership in the Club.

We also look forward to forming a husband and wife judging team, as we feel we are well qualified because of the practical experience attained in the last 20 years. Shirley is doing her first Group III assignment in July 1970 and she has also been invited to judge the 1970 Detroit, Mich. Specialty Sweepstake show.

Because we are not able to exhibit "The Fearsome Threesome" of "Shadrack", "Syncopation" and their son "Meshack" right across the country, we are in the process of putting an 8 mm movie together. To those of you who are interested, drop us a line and we will gladly lend it to you, as soon as it is finished.

Although Shadrack is The Top Dog for all of Canada and is a Canadian as well as an American champion and a sire of champions, we have decided to defer the raising of the present stud fee of $100 until the end of 1970. We hope that this will encourage the breeders and particularly the far-away breeders who have to consider shipping cost as well to use Shadrack, but we recommend that you give us plenty of advice, in order to avoid disappointment.

Finally, we would like to thank all of our fellow exhibitors and dog fanciers for the many congratulations received throughout the year and the excellent sportsmanship displayed. Our dream came through. We thank you all and may your dream come through as well. Good luck.

used in another experiment.

It should be pointed out that these animals are not the victim of calculated cruelty. It is a Japanese characteristic to see only what is beautiful. At one point, the Cardings visited the hospital at Sendai. Finding the conditions particularly distressing, they sought out the doctor in charge of the department to which the kennels belonged. The doctor said he was sympathetic to the work of JAWS and was most hospitable. However, he would not go with the Cardings to the animal quarters. "He explained that he never went as they were too dirty and the smell was too bad. 'He would go,' he said, 'if they were clean and if some roses were planted . . .' "

Naturally, breeders are distressed to learn of the conditions existing in Japan. However, frequently breeders feel that pure-bred dogs for which the Japanese pay a high price will be protected. This is not the case. Imported pure-bred animals are subjected to the same conditions.

Japan has become dog-conscious in recent years as part of the country's "Westernization". Among the country's newly rich it has become a status symbol to own a fine pure-bred dog and people are willing to pay high prices for them. But they are not regarded as family pets. Like all other dogs in Japan, they will be chained up under the house. When they become old or sick, they will be abandoned for a young dog. Let loose in the streets, they will become the prey of the dog catcher and his wire noose. Even if a dog is kept by the family, as Dr. Carding notes, "It is an unusual dog owner whose dog never escapes from the garden. A pedigree is no protection against a strychnine meat ball". Ken Gardner noted that in every pound in Japan which he visited, he saw pure-bred Western dogs.

■ However, the majority of dogs imported into Japan are brought in, not by individuals, but by the Tokyo Chikuken Company. The majority of dogs imported by this company are bitches. However, again, the dogs are not sold to individuals, they are hired out. Persons who rent dogs from the company do so, not from a love of animals but from a desire to make money. The company urges potential clients "to make a profit while enjoying the keeping of a dog". As part of the contract, the hirer agrees to produce 20 puppies from the bitch and sell them to the company. The puppies are sired by a dog provided by the Tokyo Chikuken Company, and as a stud fee, one puppy from each litter must be given to the company. The bitches produced are in turn leased out — again with a quota of 20 puppies to produce. The company operates on a highly commercialized basis. All dog food for the contract dogs must be bought from the company, as must all veterinary treatment, kennels, leashes, water bowls, etc.!

While one certainly cannot blame the company for the conditions in the pounds and hospital labs, it is not difficult to see that this business will very quickly produce an enormous number of dogs in a country which already has a burdensome unwanted dog problem. It is also very likely that many of Tokyo Chikuken's customers will have no further use for their dogs after they have produced their 20 puppies and will be willing to abandon them.

■ These then are the facts concerning the treatment afforded to animals in Japan and now Canadian breeders must ask themselves, can they, in all honesty, sell their dogs to Japanese importers, knowing the treatment which ultimately awaits them?

Japan is a highly advanced nation, one which will have an increasing effect in Asia. Therefore, it is imperative that higher standards of animal protection be adopted in Japan as soon as possible. The weight of international opinion must be brought to bear on the Japanese government to persuade it to introduce protective legislation for animals. Improvements are being made. More humane methods of killing animals are being experimented with and the Japanese government has introduced a program of sterilization for dogs. In addition, the Japanese Animal Welfare Society has instituted a training program for the pound attendants who are held in low esteem by the Japanese. These courses have done much to improve the care which is given to the stray dogs which are picked up. But much remains to be done, and Western breeders must not add to what is already a crisis situation.

In revealing the present situation in Japan, tribute must be paid to Miss F. MacGregor of West Vancouver, B.C., Honorary Representative in Canada of the Japanese Animal Welfare Society. Miss MacGregor has campaigned tirelessly to bring these conditions to light, and indeed, supplied much of the material for this article. It is fitting, therefore, that I close with Miss MacGregor's words concerning sales to Japan:

> If approached, refuse politley. If you sell to a dealer, refuse to sign papers UNTIL YOU KNOW your dog (or cat) is not going to the Orient. Money is not everything. □ in the basic concepts of genetics and breeding.

The author wishes at this time to thank the Dogs in Canada editorial staff for cooperating in the presentation of this series on dog genetics and breeding. And I am sure that the staff joins the author in wishing all of you dog fanciers and breeders the best of luck in your new ventures in Canine Breed Improvement.

velop "a passion for hunting" in them. Any dog set on a hare or fox seizes it by the back of the neck and shaking the prey up finishes the hunt in one movement. Pure-bred and well-set dogs can quite well manage even a strong full-grown wolf. This is the result of their natural dexterity, instant reaction and iron grip.

When hunting in the steppes, the Foxhounds raise the beast lying in the thick grass and the Borzois following them start the chase, overtake the Foxhounds and continue coursing till they reach the beast.

In some places, such as the Saratov, Oryol and Volgograd regions of the Russian Federation, a very ancient method of hunting wolves with Borzois is used. It is simple, even primitive at first glance. The idea is that the hunter puts three wolfhounds into a sledge and covers them up with a horse-cloth or sheepskin-coat so that they should not be seen and the wolves could not scent them. Then the hunter harnesses a horse to the sledge and rides to the place where the wolves have been seen. The wolves don't fail to chase the horse. The hunter tries to draw them out into an open place, and when the wolves following the sledge find themselves far from the wood, he takes the cover off his hounds and now the wolves become the object of the chase.

Speaking of wolfhounds here, we had the pure-bred Russian Borzoi species in mind. But besides these there exist in the rural localities of the USSR many crossbreeds (their number has not been recorded) with the English greyhound, the Kazakh wolfhound and others. These are common hunting dogs, and though they do not have the same appearance as the pure-breds and get only "satisfactory" marks at the exhibitions, some of them surpass their noble "kinsmen" in hardiness and capacity for work. Thus, for instance, the Russian steppe and central-Russian Borzoi are capable of long coursing and can run across the snow without their legs getting injured. Moreover, they have a good sense of smell and can pursue an animal even through small woods. But they cannot be compared with the pure-bred in speed, reaction and sportiveness.

At present about 300 pure-bred Borzois have been registered in the USSR. About a hundred of them live in Volgograd. The vast steppe expanses of that region offer wonderful opportunities for sportsmen. More than 70 wolfhounds live in Moscow, 30 in Leningrad, the rest in Lvov, Tallinn, Kirov and other places. Their owners are mostly members of dog breeding societies.

One can buy a Borzoi pup only on the oral recommendation of a dog breeder. And if the owner of the pup is not sure that the dog will be in good hands, he will not sell it for any money and always finds a suitable pretext for refusing. But if he is sure that the buyer and his family are indeed fond of dogs, he can sell the pup for a small price, on the installment system, or even make a present of it.

The Society always helps the new owner of a pup. He is given advice on how to feed it, how to arrange its day, where to place it in the flat, how many times to take it out for a walk and many other useful things. Not less than once in three months members of the Society visit their new member and see how the pup is developing. The fact is that Borzois require special care. Thus, for instance, from the age of four months till the age of ten months a Borzoi pup must be fed about one pound of raw lean meat a day (pork and mutton are excluded) in order to make its muscles stronger. The dog should not be kept in the flat for a long time, or it may develop rickets. On the other hand, a dog brought up in city conditions, on finding itself in an open field and at last starts running around and may "lose its strength" i.e. not be able to run long in the future. This should also be avoided, for swift running is one of the most valuable qualities of the Borzoi. Therefore young dogs should be accustomed to running about a great deal, at a stadium, for instance. Dog breeding societies usually help the owners of Borzoi pups to arrange for their charges to run about a football field or the nearest stadium.

Often inexperienced dog breeders, noticing large excrescences on their pups' legs, are very much upset believing that their charges are developing rickets. But these are the so-called "size bumps", and the larger they are, the taller will the dog grow to be.

The Society also recommends a special diet for grown-up dogs. It is very nourishing and small in volume (meat, butter, carrots).

When the time comes to teach the dog hunting, the Society organizes expeditions to the proving ground, which is a field 3-4 miles long without any shrubs. Here the young Borzois are not trained, for these dogs have all the necessary qualities from birth, but they are taught in the following way: an old hound is joined by three young ones and all of them set on an animal let out of a cage. In the course of the hunt the young hounds learn to seize the fox and the hare by the back of the neck and the wolf by the ears and the throat. The young dogs learn these methods quickly, for when still pups they involuntarily imitate all kinds of grips when playing with one another.

Cases have been recorded where a young dog not taught to hunt the fox, for instance, was taken fox-hunting. The dog would chase the fox and then seize it by the hind leg. Naturally, the fox would turn its head and bite the dog in the muzzle. After such a severe experience such a hound usually refuses to chase foxes, but it can be used to chase wolves. This proves that wolfhounds must be taught to hunt the required animals, or else they will not develop the necessary hunting passion and fierceness.

There have been cases, that should be regretted, of course, when the owners of a Borzoi turned it into a pet. Then the dog lost all its hunting abilities and became just a lap-dog. At present, owing to the Society, all the grown-up Borzois in Moscow have their annual "practice". They run and chase game at proving and hunting grounds.

sound. Some breeders of toy dogs appear to be rather careless in this regard. Most toy standards say little or nothing about teeth. This should not relieve the breeder of the responsibility of feeding his dogs an adequate diet to produce good teeth. Before the days of distemper vaccines a dog used to be excused distemper stains on his teeth. Today fortunately we have a whole generation of breeders who have never faced this problem. Clean teeth as compared with dirty teeth is a matter of presentation not of soundness.

■ Soundness of coat is usually a matter of health or heredity. A dog whose coat is not in excellent condition is not a sound dog. This may only be a passing phase and may be curable. On the day, however, the dog is not sound. The exception to this is the bitch who has cast her coat while nursing a litter. Conditioning of coats is an art in itself and each breeder has his own pet theories which are usually a mixture of science, old wive's tales and soothsaying. For this article let us restrict ourselves to saying that with the one exception a dog with a poor coat may be unsound.

To conclude, soundness is a subject to which all too many of us pay lip service and little more. Our judges are guilty of the same sin. More emphasis on soundness is required. This could be achieved by a simple amendment to the dog show rules adding the words, "No first prize shall be awarded to any dog which, in the opinion of the judge is not sound in each or any of wind, limb, eye, ear, tooth or coat. □

DOGS & PEOPLE

Travellers: Mary and Bruce McRae, Toronto, longtime breeders of American Cockers, have been forced, due to business pressures, to entirely give up dogs. Meantime travel has been a respite. Mary and Mrs. Lilah Lymburner, another longtimer who was once highly active in English Springers, and still busy in high level government affairs, had a Caribbean cruise. Bruce attended an International Labour Organization meeting at Geneva, Switzerland in May. Mary joins him June 11 for side trips to Austria, Germany, England and Scotland . . . Mrs. Win Terelly (Vakker-Lund), Gravenhurst, Ont., attended the Norwegian Elkhound Specialty at Anaheim. She was the guest of the Norwegian Elkhound Association of Southern California and on their invitation judged the Puppy Sweepstake. "Had a marvellous time" . . . Customers flew to Toronto from Mexico to pick up a male and female Scottish Terrier pups from Mrs. Hilda Pugh. "Maybe we'll develop a Mexican Scottie market," she suggests.

Honored: by the London Canine Association, Canada's oldest dog club — Mrs. F. Anderson, London, Ont., who with her late husband bred Miniature Dachshunds for many years; Mrs. Madeline Thornton, R.R. 3, London, breeder of Scottish and Boston Terriers and Jack Harris of Harris-Shire Kennels, Komoka, Ont., longtime breeder and exhibitor of Scottish Terriers. . . . Johnny Crockett, a Champion six-year old white and orange male Setter captured the coveted Purina Award for the Top Field Trial Bird Dog in the United States during the 1969-70 season. He is the first setter to win the Purina Award in its seven years of existence.

Dogs in the news: Penny, a six-year-old spaniel, was awarded a share of the three $100,000 grand prizes given recently in a New York lottery, relates the New York Times. Mrs. Harry Wentworth of Albany, N.Y., has decided to put the money in the kitty until it's needed. Cheque, made out to Marge and Penny Wentworth, presents an unusual cashing procedure to the bank and to the revenue department for taxation.

In Irvington, N.J., the sum of $2,000 was voted for training and upkeep of each two man-dog police team. That was last November. Now police state they will not volunteer for K-9 corps duty without a very substantial increase in the amount paid each policeman for the care of the dogs, although an additional $300 had been voted for patrolmen who feed and house the dogs they work with. K-9 Corps duty usually is night work.

A man in England was reported looking seriously thin and ill-fed. He was. Court found his wife had been devoting his share of the food money to the dog.

A dog called Trash, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Art McCandless of Duncan, B.C., has survived more catastrophes than most. Lately he's been sporting a cast on his left leg. His owners first obtained him in Williams Lake, B.C. A family found Trash in a garbage dump, barely distinguishable, according to the Toronto Star Weekly from the rest of the trash — badly beaten and left for dead in weather at 60° below zero. The family revived him and gave him to the present owners who immediately loved his sweet nature. But Trash and motor cars kept up a running duel. A pickup truck ran over him. When his family moved to Duncan, he rammed the hubcap of a moving car and received head cuts. Then one dark night Art ran over his dog in the driveway. Trash was in serious shape but managed to wag his tail. Rushed to the veterinary, he somehow survived. At least for a period of eight weeks the sling has prevented Trash from tackling cars.

Moe, a dog with a heart condition, is credited with saving the life of a Scarborough, Ont., man who slept soundly while flames ran through his home. Moe ran up and down until he awoke his owner who broke a front window, pushed the dog through, then jumped.

New role: Only Obedience classes in Canada run by a dog catcher, to our knowledge, are those of Ted Smith, superintendent of canine control in Scarborough, Ont. Classes are held at the Rotary Youth Centre, until June 18, when graduation ceremonies will be held. Cost of the course is $15, and includes a lead and training collar. Funds are turned over to the Borough of Etobicoke. Graduation plaques are provided by the borough. Ted, who works with his own dogs in Obedience, has bred Shelties for about 24 years and has shown them for 15, reports Globe and Mail columnist Eldon Stonehouse.

New film: At a time when less and less television coverage is being accorded major dog shows, Gaines Dog Research Center has brought out a new film, "Way of a Show Dog" presenting the glamorous and everyday world of a show dog. The 25-minute sound and color film captures the excitement of famous American shows and portrays backstage preparations by the dogs' handlers. Essentials of care and training as well as veterinary attention are shown, plus the development of the dog in show experience. The film was made with the cooperation of the Professional Handlers Association under the supervision of a committee represented by D. Lawrence Carswell and Robert Kendrick, PHA President William Trainor, well-known to thousands of Canadian exhibitors, appears in the film. For booking details contact Gaines, General Foods Ltd., 2200 Yonge St., Toronto.

Recuperating: Mrs. Betty Dickson (Ziska) Dorchester, Ont., now home following surgery and a brief sojourn in Bracebridge, Ont. She expresses her thanks to the many friends who sent cards and flowers. At the time of writing she was equal to replying personally. . . . Out of circulation in breeding and exhibiting, Walter and Violet Martin of London, Ont., still keep up with the news through Dogs in Canada, writes the latter. Violet is recovering from surgery. Walter was for many years one of Canada's busiest handlers. . . . Mrs. Dolly Wall, Vancouver, a former Canadian Kennel Club director for British Columbia, has been hospitalized, as has former CKC president Vic Williams.

Anna Katherine Nicholas, BIS judge at Westminster this year and the third woman in history to be so honored, wanted to be a dog show judge from the time she was a tiny girl. She earned her first assignment at the tender age of 16!

The unnerving "service" by postal workers across Canada is creating disorder in the lives of more than households and business (and publishers in particular). Rick Campbell, well-known radio and television commentator, says his dog faithfully accompanies the neighborhood postman for several blocks then returns home. Now, when the postie fails to appear, the dog thinks it's Sunday.

...things, the most consistently generous rebate in the business. ($15 when you return the weight markers from 10 fifty-pound bags.) And then there's the question of nutrition:

HOW EXPERT ARE GAINES on canine nutrition? Well, our published text (THE BASIC GUIDE TO CANINE NUTRITION) is considered to be one of the best on the subject. That's how expert.

And that's why Gaines' foods are more than a simple collection of vitamins and minerals. Each one is a complete, balanced diet, containing the key nutrients in the proper amounts and proportions as recommended by the National Academy of Science for proper canine development!

The result is four canine rations—Gaines Meal, Rally, Gravy Train and Gaines•burgers—each designed to build healthy, robust animals you can be proud of. Which of the four you feed is a matter not only of choice, but of necessity. (We'll explain that in a future story.)

Other benefits to which members are entitled: free direct delivery; latest information from the Gaines Research Centre; free guidance on kennel management; unlimited supplies of handout brochures covering the breeding, training and general care of dogs; use of the Gaines film library; free entry in the Gaines National Directory of Kennels.

Now, let's talk about that rebate again.

...d before, the Gaines rebate, at $1.50 per 50 lbs., is consistently the most generous in the business. Below you can work out for yourself just what that could mean over one year.

Example:

200—50 lb. bags × $1.50 = $300.

(Calculate the number of 50 lb. bags fed in one year. Multiply by $1.50. That's how much Gaines could save you in a year.)

Dogs in the news: Penny, a six-year-old spaniel, was awarded a share of the three $100,000 grand prizes given recently in a New York lottery, relates the New York Times. Mrs. Harry Wentworth of Albany, N.Y., has decided to put the money in the kitty until it's needed. Cheque, made out to Marge and Penny Wentworth, presents an unusual cashing procedure to the bank and to the revenue department for taxation.

Now police state they will not volunteer for K-9 corps duty without a very substantial increase in the amount paid each policeman for the care of the dogs, although an additional $300 had been voted for patrolmen who feed and house the dogs they work with. A dog called Trash, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Art McCandless of Duncan, B.C., has survived more catastrophes than most. Lately he's been sporting a cast on his left leg. His owners first obtained him in Williams Lake, B.C. A family found Trash in a garbage dump, barely distinguishable, according to the Toronto Star Weekly from the rest of the trash — badly beaten and left for dead in weather at 60° below zero. The family revived him and gave him to the present owners who immediately loved his sweet nature. But Trash and motor cars kept up a running duel. A pickup

New film: At a time when less and less television coverage is being accorded major dog shows, Gaines Dog Research Center has brought out a new film, "Way of a Show Dog" presenting the glamorous and everyday world of a show dog. The 25-minute sound and color film captures the excitement of famous American shows and portrays backstage preparations by the dogs' handlers. Essentials of care and training as well as veterinary attention are shown, plus the development of the dog in show experience. The film was made with the cooperation of the Professional Handlers Association under the supervision of a committee represented by D. Lawrence Carswell and Robert Kendrick. PHA President William Trainor, well-known to thousands of Canadian exhibitors, appears in the film.
