Doberman Pinscher is Best in Show at Jamaica KC

KINGSTON, JAMAICA — the Jamaican-bred brown and rust Doberman Pinscher, 2½-year-old Gaius Tranquillus of Hope, took BIS at the Jamaica KC's tenth anniversary championship show, April 4.

Special guest of the club was Mrs. Hilda Pugh, Canadian Kennel Club President, whose knowledge of club and obedience matters was particularly welcomed.

The young Doberman, a pet of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis F. Youngblood of Stoney Hill, Kingston, shares his home with two Siamese cats. He is known as "Loke", the name of the Norwegian god of mischief. Loke was first shown in 1969 at ten months and was placed 2nd in Puppy, 1st in Novice and 3rd in Open Doberman classes. This year was only the second time of showing. The show attracted an entry of 169, with German Shepherds and Dobermans leading. A Saint Bernard was shown for the first time in Jamaica.

The event, reports Mrs. Pugh, is very colorful, with many social amenities and an exhibit by the Junior SPCA. Champions, (CC's) are earned in three shows under three different judges. Next year the club hopes to inaugurate an obedience trial.

"The main problem," observes Mrs. Pugh," is lack of experienced people to train in handling. If anyone is planning a Jamaican holiday, do call in at the JKC and be assured of a warm welcome. The hospitality is of the highest; warm, friendly people trying to make it in the dog world."

Adamant James repeats – BIS at Chicago too!

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

The English Springer, Ch. Chinoe Adamant James, scored a double when he repeated his Best in Show win at the International Kennel Club show following his similar win in New York at the Westminster KC show in February. This double has rarely occurred in the history of these two prestige shows. He is owned by Milton E. Prickett of Lexington, Ky., and was handled at Chicago by Clint Harris. Other group winners were the Doberman, Ch. Dolph von Tannenwald; the Westie, Ch. De Go Herbert; the Yorkie, Ch. Continuation of Gleno; the Standard Poodle, Ch. Haus Brau Executive of Acadia and the Bloodhound, Ch. The Rectory's Rabbi. The press table was hoping that the Bloodhound would go all the way so we could use the headline, "Ecumenical Victory at Chicago."

Best Brace in Show was Betty Hyslop's lovely Cairn brace, Cairndania Davey's Douglas and Cairndania Davey's Delia. This Canadian bred and owned brace victory, following the Canadian Chow brace victory in the Non-Sporting group at New York, is very gratifying to we Canadians who support and expose our dogs to the best of American competition.

Canadian Best of Breed wins were scarce. Mrs. Babbidge dominated the Papillon competition when her Ch. Jaclair's Kawartha Jason won the breed and placed second in the Toy Group. Jason's son, Jaclair's Doodles of Josandre, co-owned with Mary Jo Loye, was Best of Winners. Bruce Owen scored a Best of Winners victory with his Griffon, Gaystock Bozmare Bon Ami. Audrey Benbow continued her long string of Borzoi wins in American shows with Best of Winners with her Sirhan Porchai.

Reporting Betty Hyslop's continuing Cairn victories is a pleasant but repetitive task. This year her Ch. Cairndania Brigery's Berry-Red was Best of Breed and fourth in the Terrier Group. Canada's professional handler of international status, Pat Tripp, was a strong contender in the Terrier Group with that wonderful Sealyham, Ch. Polrose Pacesetter, owned by Mrs. Florence Houston of Surrey, B.C. Pat placed third in the Working Group with an American-owned Samoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith of Thunder Bay took a White Bull Terrier to Chicago and came up with Best of Winners. The dog is registered as Maerdy Moonstone. Thomas and Marian Soper of Chesley, Ont., scored a Winners Bitch win with their Siberian,

Newly created organization is SAD, sign of new hope

TORONTO — Alan McGinn, a former assistant Secretary-Treasurer of the Ontario Humane Society, has formed a new society to care for stray dogs and cats. Named The Society for Animals in Distress (SAD), the organization is awaiting a provincial charter before seeking permission to run a lottery to help finance the sanctuary. Mr. McGinn, who is working without salary, has set up a program whose objectives, in addition to helping strays, includes the discouragement of "the use of any animal for medical research who has not been specifically bred for the purpose and who has not known exclusively a clinical environment, and to insist that any laboratorial experiment involving the use of an animal is conducted without distress to the animal."

Other objectives: to discourage the killing of animals for pleasure, to encourage the use of artificial furs as efficacious substitutes for natural skins, to discourage the indiscriminate breeding of pets, to encourage the credo of kindness to all created beings.

THIS MONTH'S COVER DOGS

KENNELS OF THE ROUGE Regd.

(Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins)
1 Evelyn Ave., Rouge Hills, Pickering, Ont.

Our cover this year features one of our chief stud dogs and two young bitches.

McCallion's Sprig of the Rouge (Posy), pictured at 6½ months, came to us from the McCallions of Erie, Pa., sired by Am. Ch. McCallions Spur of the Moment (a double grandson of Am. Ch. Loch Crest Highfalutin and so carrying strong lines back to Eng., Am. & Can. Ch. Cruben Dextor) out of Tourie's Merriment of the Rouge (Am. & Can. Ch. Mercury of the Rouge ex Tyndrum Tourie) who combines our early breeding on Dextor lines with Tyndrum's American and Shiningcliff background. She already has puppy wins to her credit.

Judy Hannijin of the Rouge (Judy), pictured at one year, is fifth-generation Rouge breeding over a selective period of 19 years. While her sire, Am. & Can. Ch. Shipmates Hannibal (still hale and hearty at 12 years of age) has been the stud dog round whom the greater part of our line breeding has pivoted for the last nine years, he and her dam, Ch. Jinty of the Rouge, are respectively great-grandson and great-grand-daughter of Ch. Fanfare of the Rouge, who was out of Dextor's first North American litter.

Can. Ch. Winde Mere Rouge Midshipman (Chip), now 4½ years old, a stud fee puppy from Mrs. Keith Balsdon, is a Hannibal son out of Galatea of the Rouge (Am. & Can. Ch. Gallant Lad of the Rouge ex Can. Ch. Philomel of the Rouge), who combined the best of our Canadian and American and English bloodlines. In 1969 Chip acquired eight points in the U.S., including a 4-point major (he finished in Canada at 12½ months, his wins having included a Group placing at the CNE and Best Canadian-Bred Puppy in Show and twice in Group). Not shown last year, he is now being groomed for the U.S. showring again. He is in steady demand for stud service and siring consistently pleasing puppies.

Of our 1970 "cover girls", Feolin Dryad of the Rouge (sired by our Ch. Laurie's Piper of the Rouge out of Mrs. Steele's Ch. Birkfell Sincerity) was Best Puppy in Sweepstakes at the 1970 CWHWTC Specialty, then won the Group from the Puppy Class at Charlottetown, P.E.I., and was Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Group next day there, handled by our kennel manager Sandy Briggs. With time out for a litter in the fall, she took points (she now has nine) at three of the 1971 Sportsmen's Shows and Best Canadian Bred in Group at the third show.

Another of our studs, Am. & Can. Ch. Winde Mere Gay Gordon (Am. & Can. Ch. Danny Boy of the Rouge ex Winde Mere Ragamuffin), co-owned with his breeder, Mrs. Keith Balsdon, completed his U.S. title in 1970, with majors at the Chicago International and at Lansing, Mich., and two-point wins at Butler Co. Pa., Warren, Ohio, and Erie, Pa., at the last two also taking Best of Breed over Specials and a Group 3rd at Warren. In Canada he took 2nd and 4th in Group at the two Metropolitan K.C. shows, and this year won the Group at the sixth Sportsmen's Show, also placing Best Canadian Bred in Breed at the National WHWTC Specialty show, handled at these two shows by Malcolm Fellows.

Am. & Can. Ch. Vancots Rouge Remembrance (Am. & Can. Ch. Rannoch-Dune Down Beat ex Am. Ch. Natalie of the Rouge) for the second time took Best of Opposite Sex at the WHWTC of America Specialty (77 Westies present) at Montgomery Co., Pa., and has now been bred to Judy's litter brother, Junior Hannijin of the Rouge, currently our youngest stud.

During the year Rouge-breds owned by other people have done us great credit. Can. Ch. Joshua of the Rouge, owned by Mrs. David Cook of St. John's, Nfld., climaxed a two-year total of nine Group 1sts, six Group 2nds, two Group 3rds and three Best Canadian Bred in Shows, with a Best in Show all breeds at St. John's a week before his seventh birthday, while Mrs. Cook's Can. Ch. Hoosier Lass of the Rouge scored two more Group 1sts.

The Lorne Gignacs of Ottawa also gave us a most rewarding year with six Group placings and a Best Canadian bred in Group.

Judges unanimous for Afghan at best ever Sportsmen's...

TORONTO — The 24th consecutive Sportsmen's shows at the Queen Elizabeth Bldg., Exhibition Grounds, must surely have hit an all-time record for entries, excitement and innovation.

Of the six shows, March 20, 21, 24, 25, 26 and 27/28 combined, five Bests in Show went to the incredibly beautiful Afghan Hound, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Ammon Hall (Nomad). Not one of the noted BIS judges, Messrs. Nelson R. Groh, Irving Diamond, Len Carey, Heywood R. Hartley and Theodore Wurmser could turn him down. BIS winner in the second show (Nomad was not shown that day) was another upset. Representing a notably rare breed in North America, the Harrier, Ch. Johnsons Pretty Boy Floyd, owned by Barbara A. Miller of Glen More, Pa., was Judge Henry H. Stoecker's top choice. He was the only Harrier entered at the CNSS and earlier this year one of two shown at Westminister. He is believed to be the first Harrier to capture a BIS in Canada.

Nomad is co-owned by James Playfair and his sister, Mrs. N. P. (Pat) Gray of Boonton, N.J., who have a hobby kennel, Grayfair. They obtained this glamourous winner when he was 3½ years old. In the 2½ years of campaigning he has been entirely in the possession of handler Tom Glassford and obviously adores him. Nomad, who was top winning Afghan in the States in 1970 and No. 3 Hound and winner of 26 Groups in 1970, has five American BIS to his credit. He was enroute to Toronto for the 1970 Sportsmen's Dog Shows when Tom was stricken with a ruptured spleen and hospitalized and neither appeared in the ring.

The entire six Sportsmen's shows were outstanding for "firsts" — the largest Canadian dog show entry ever, with the final two-day entry totalling 1,078 — and the largest number of Specialty shows, nine in all. This was the first time in 24 years the CNSS entertained specialties — every one a "hit" on its own, and grossing alone an entry of 333 dogs. The string of 20 Boosters brought an excitingly high entry and benching for these promotional types of competition was eye-catching and often downright artistic. The Saluki Club of Canada won the prize for the best decorated club bench.

Bearded Collies, recently recognized as a breed by the CKC, made their first conformation appearance, a showing of 11 in all.

In a complete reversal, large breeds were tops in numbers and popularity. Spectators as well as entrants were fascinated with the beautifully marked Siberian Husky representation, 57 in all, and 51 Newfoundland dogs plus 39 Saint Bernards. Conjectures as to the switch are many: present economy, "recession" notwithstanding, permits Canadians to purchase and maintain large dogs; in an apartment-oriented population, owners and superintendants appear more tolerant; the crime wave scare, penetrating parts of Canada, invites the ownership of large dogs as companion-guardians. Furthermore, owners of the larger working breeds have shown enterprise and tenacity in bringing their big fellows to the attention of the public through demonstrations and participation in public affairs.

Noticeably scarce among formerly well-represented small breeds were Chihuahuas, Pekes and Toy Poodles and in the larger, more robust breeds, Miniature Poodles and Chow Chows. And whatever happened to Dachshunds — all sizes, all coats?

In the Sporting Group the Golden Retriever, Ch. Forget-Me-Not's Star, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Horst Schlotzer, Locust Hill, Ont., took Group I honors twice and Best Canadian Bred in Group five out of the six shows. The Old English Mastiff, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Ballyherugh's Cormac O'Conn, owned by Ruth Wallace, Ramsayville, Ont., topped the Working Group in one of the shows and is believed to be the first of his breed ever to do so.

An exceptionally fine job of announcing was done by John Nicholson, in a no-nonsense, easy-on-the-ear voice. Gratifying to exhibitors was the assistance of a crew of white-coated men who sped up the task of loading and unloading crates and gear, courtesy of the CNSS. The little double-decker buses, provided courtesy Purina, made the short distance between the Coliseum, where the [illegible] show was held, and the Queen Elizabeth Bldg. a fun trip.

Throngs of adults and children who might never otherwise have seen a dog show, let alone dreamed of the existence of so many different breeds of aristocratic canines were drawn to the shows by the magnetism of Chuck Eisenmann's Littlest Hobo and pals in their incredible demonstrations of working obedience. Purina again sponsored the attraction.

Six great shows, splendid competition, excellent accommodations and facilities for exhibitors, one of the most popular: the Lounge. Additional reports on more aspects of the CNSS appear elsewhere in this issue.

Show Superintendent Hudson Kalloch tells Dogs that plans are now underway for the 1972 Sportsmen's Shows, during which the 25th Anniversary will be celebrated.

...retriever trials draw huge crowds

TORONTO — The Sportsmen's Show Retriever Invitation Trials, only one of their kind in the world, drew thousands of spectators of all ages to the Arena of the Coliseum daily throughout the Sportsmen's Shows, March 19 through 28.

Chairman H.V.P. Lewis reports this event as the largest in the history of these exciting trials, held in a setting similar to a field containing shrubbery, fences and streams. The 63 Retrievers came by invitation only, from Vancouver to Halifax and American points. Of the total entry 48 were Labradors, 13 were Goldens and two were Chesapeake Bays.

The winner, the six-year-old FT Ch. Bonnie Brook's Tuff & a Half, repeated his remarkable win of last year — once again capturing for his owner, Mr. Charles Cooney of New Woodstock, N.Y., the ultimate trophy, The Purina Gold Whistle. Handler again was Jim Weitzel of Paynesville, Ont. Only once before has a competitor earned the Gold Whistle two years hand-running: Bill Hutchinson with his retriever, "Colonel". Second was the Black Lab, FT Ch. Glen Logies Beau Marque, owned by Louis Carroll, Toronto; third was Robmac's Ebony Blaze, owned by R. J. McKay, also of Toronto, while fourth was FT. Ch. Knightswood Ranger, black Lab owned by Eric W. Ellsworth of Chatham, Ont.

Judge Billy Wunderlich of St. Paul, Minn., possibly the best known Retriever trainer in America, particularly of Goldens, assessed the finals. Mr. Wunderlich, with longtime film star Andy Devine, assisted Mr. Lewis in organizing the first field trial east of Winnipeg in 1950 and judged the trial as well. Twenty-two top American champions competed, a considerable number for that time, particularly in view of the fact that retriever training had commenced in Ontario just two years before.

The 1971 finalists emerged from rigorous daily competition which netted winners silver trophies, rosettes and ribbons for judges' awards of merit. The retrievers placing first in each of the nine preliminary stakes competed on the final Sunday for the Ralston Purina Gold Whistle. Each of the nine preliminary stakes consisted of several series of retrieves on which the performance of each dog was rated. The final trial was made up of a series of completely new tests. The dogs were tested on two types of retrieves, a "marked bird" in which the dog observes the fall of the bird or a "blind" in which the dog retrieves a bird he has not seen fall.

"One of the great events of the dog world" is Mr. Wunderlich's assessment of the Indoor Invitation Retriever Trials.

Geronimo gets high point dog trophy for 1970 Competition

CALGARY — At the recent annual banquet and dance of the Calgary Retriever Club, presentation was made of trophies for the 1970 trial year. The Chuck Bjork Memorial Trophy, presented to the highest point dog in open all-age competition, was won by Ray Koskinen's F. T. Ch. Geronimo who totalled 34 points last year. Trophy was presented by former club member Wayne Peterson. Koskinen also was awarded the Ruthe Lowe Memorial Trophy for the most points in licensed field trials in open all-age competition during 1970. The Grainger Memorial Trophy was won by B. J. Letourneau of the Edmonton Sporting Club with a total of 18½ points. The trophy, donated to the club by members Lyman Turner and the late V. Grainger, is given to the junior dog in Alberta earning the most points in licensed trials during the year. The Calgary Brewing Trophy, presented to a club member owning the dog awarded the most cumulative points in licensed field trials in the puppy, junior and qualifying stakes, was won by John Peterson with his puppy. He also won the club's Puppy Trophy for the highest point total, puppy, in 1970 licensed trials.

scored by their Ch. Dancer's Eminence of the Rouge, plus a 2-point win in the U.S. (handled throughout by Laurie Gignac), while their Ch. Denisette Mandan of the Rouge took three 3-point wins from the Junior Puppy Class and was Best Canadian Bred Puppy at the CWHWTC Specialty. At Chagrin Valley, Ohio, she helped her young handler Mark Gignac to the honor of being Best Junior Handler at that 3,400 dog show, and then completed her title just before whelping a fine litter of five, sired by her [illegible] mate, from which we have acquired a most promising [illegible] bitch puppy.

The Shewans' Ch. Gem's Heart of the Rouge, Mme. Laflamme's Ch. MacChip Charm of the Rouge and Mrs. More's Ch. Hanpiper of the Rouge, all completed their titles in the last year. Mrs. Eyre's Miller's Host of the Rouge CD, [illegible] ing completed that title is working on his CDX and has some points on his conformation title as has Mrs. Eyre's Pipedance Damsel of the Rouge. Mrs. Sherman's Gale's Rouge in of the Rouge, awarded the CWHWTC's Manderley Challenge Trophy for her [illegible] wins, now has six points towards her title after raising a promising litter of five, from which also have acquired a bitch puppy.

During the year, we have [illegible] out show prospects to B.C., New York, Quebec and Indiana. We continue to breed for high quality and temperament. All our dogs take turns living in the house in our puppy room, situated off the kitchen, affords our youngsters the constant communication with humans and older dogs which is important in their development.

The kennels are situated [illegible] Hwy. 2, one mile east of the Sheppard Ave. Cloverleaf [illegible] changes 62 and 63 of Hwy. 2 and 17 miles east of downtown Toronto. Visitors are welcome. Phone 416-282-7934.

Spruceridge's Aktineq, Ed Dixon's Dachs, Vondixoner Stardachs Jacob, was Winners Dog from the puppy classes.

Several other Canadian dogs were present and placed in the ribbons. Some of these attracted very favorable comment.

The Chicago show covers so much area and attracts such a large gate that any list of Canadians present either as exhibitors or as spectators is bound to be incomplete. Final figures on the gate were unavailable when we left but at noon it was running 1,800 ahead of the 1970 figures. The entry of dogs at 3,637 was the highest in the history of the show and restored the International to top spot as the largest dog show in U.S.A.

She renewed acquaintances and made many more . . . from Whitehorse, Yukon, came Charles J. Blascsok, President of the fledgling Yukon KC, which already boasts a membership of more than 80.

TO EUROPE: Among visitors to European dog shows this year will be Dr. and Mrs. D. O. Spettigue and family of Kingston, Ont., who will sail for England in June on a year's sabbatical. Mrs. Spettigue is the owner of Ch. Sovereign Scotch Tip, BIS winner and one of the leading Canadian Collies in 1970. Scotch Tip will be leased to Mrs. Ariel Sleeth, his breeder, during Mrs. Spettigue's absence. The family will reside in Jersey, Channel Islands, with excursions to the Continent, perhaps including Austria, where a son of Scotch Tip is being shown.

JUDGING ASSIGNMENT: Mrs. Elisabeth Golby (Florian) Willowdale, will be judging Kerry Blue Terriers at the Maidenhead, England 21st anniversary open show, August 7. Elisabeth, who has grown up with horses on the East coast, is a volunteer worker with CARD (Community Association for Riding for the Disabled). Workers give each person specified exercises to inspire confidence and help in the use of paralized arms and legs. This organization is becoming world-wide, she tells Dogs. "I decided one day that I had selfishly devoted so much of my time and life to raising Kerries — it gives me so much satisfaction to help disabled people enjoy riding horses as well as improving their condition and encouraging their confidence in facing everyday life."

"We inspired several Chesapeake owners from the Ottawa area to enter the Sportsmen's show with their youngsters, for the first time." The McKenzies, in addition to raising fine Sporting breeds, have two horses, with snowmobiling and airplane construction as interests.

FIRE: Mrs. Gerda Friedrichs, noted for her Trakehnen Farms and riding school at Keswick, Ont., tells Dogs her home was recently burned out. In addition to her school lodge and stables, which contained a museum of riding equipment, paintings and mementoes, her home was a haven of priceless paintings, figurines and furnishings. Only the home was destroyed: her fine horses were some distance away at the school. She is devoted to her German Shepherd dogs. "Trakehnen" has been in existence 235 years — since 1732 in East Prussia and since 1957 in Ontario.

Communications - the vital link that needs repair

Communication is the act of exchanging information. It is a critical factor in the efficient functioning of any work force. Experiments have clearly demonstrated that the better the communication, the better a job is done. But it would appear that communication has become almost a forgotten art within The Canadian Kennel Club. Our present situation resembles two opposing forces, 'The Board' and 'The Membership', each spinning busily within its own orbit almost completely unaware of each other's problems. In the widening gap between them, lines of communication have broken down. In their place rumor thrives; threatening and destructive. We believe the time has come to repair the old lines and establish new ones so that together we may get on with the job. We have a common purpose. It requires united effort.

No one understands this better than CKC President Hilda Pugh. She has used every means at her disposal to bring the two elements closer. Her messages published in this magazine have been well received. They have reached every single member of the CKC. We believe they were largely responsible for the successful passage of the up-dated schedule of fees, without which the CKC would not have survived financially. Once the membership understood the problem they voted strongly in favor of correcting it. They acted with reason. If something as unpopular as a voluntary cost increase fared so well, why cannot the Board of Directors of the CKC establish previewing of major legislation as a regular practice. We think this could prevent much of the costly wasted effort of the past. It would guarantee good, workable amendments. And it would keep our problems at home where they belong.

We well remember the adoption and the later rescinding of the Revised Schedule of Championship Points amendment a few years ago. This became the subject of a great deal of ridicule. One writer, in attempting to explain this now-they-do, now-they-don't situation concluded his article by stating that: 'Canada was still the only country where a dog could become a champion without ever defeating a single member of its own breed'. Good copy. Poor image.

We can think of several others. The recent 'Specialty Show' amendment appears to be falling into this category. How much better it would have been had this amendment appeared as a proposal instead of a 'fait accompli'. Objections might then have been cleared through these pages for all to read and understand. This would have provided the Board with a precise, written opinion poll to guide them in their decision. Instead, this amendment has become another needless extravagance.

It might be argued that each province has its directors who act as liaison officers between the executive and the membership. But regardless of how dedicated and hard-working, directors have their limits. Time and distance prevent them from reaching all their members. And a word-of-mouth interpretation is a poor substitute for the written word.

The membership is continually changing. The dog fancy is attracting more members who are young, intelligent and interested. They are aware of the principles of responsible government. They look for proof that the governing body truly represents their thinking. They are members by choice. They have a great deal to contribute if given half a chance. Surely common sense tells them that the club has reached the point of crisis. They want to help but they are frustrated in their efforts to be heard. We suggest that a reader forum for pending legislation would be the logical place to start.

Jamaica pure-bred situation reveals many contrasts

Our good-will ambassador CKC President Hilda Pugh has just returned from another private busman's holiday. What began as a week-long vacation in Jamaica turned into an intensive examination of the island's pure-bred dog situation. It reveals contrasts.

The Jamaica Kennel Club is remarkably self-reliant. Its members are interested and enthusiastic but they are shy of professional training help. They are eager to learn but have little opportunity to do so. They are keen to improve the quality of their dogs but are prevented from importing breeding stock because quarantine restrictions forbid both the import and export of dogs to and from the island. This was not always the case and the present pure-bred dog population stems from individuals acquired during the days when import restrictions were more relaxed.

When it became known that Mrs. Pugh was a visitor to their tenth all-breed championship dog show, The Jamaica Kennel Club, which numbers 400 members, made her extremely welcome. When Mrs. Pugh learned that Jamaica had never held an obedience trial, she couldn't resist the challenge. On the two days following their show, interested members turned their attention to obedience with Mrs. Pugh as group leader. Two training and instruction sessions were held. Attendance numbered in the twenties and enthusiasm ran so high that it was well past midnight both days before handlers, trainers and dogs were willing to call it quits. Mrs. Pugh says there were some 'natural' trainers among the group who gained a great deal in self-confidence as the sessions progressed. Instruction will be continued by correspondence and next year, hopefully, Jamaica will hold its first obedience trial. This may be the first time in obedience history that training has been directed extra-murally. It promises to be a fascinating experiment.

The administration of the Jamaica Kennel Club is entirely voluntary. Officers are elected by the membership at the annual general meeting. Members who are unable to attend, may vote by proxy. Despite membership dues, a schedule of fees and show entry fees that are modestly low, the club is completely self-sustaining. Charges are kept to a minimum in order to bring club privileges within the reach of everyone interested in pure-bred dogs. Even the juniors pay a small fee to enter the Junior Showmanship competition which is held in conjunction with the all-breed show and judged by the person who has been assigned to judge the show. Club offices are maintained in Kingston, staffed by volunteer workers. A monthly news bulletin is published and distributed free of charge to all members. The club enjoys excellent relations with the S.P.C.A. and the two groups work in close cooperation with each other.

Interestingly enough, registrations in Jamaica are on computer! A punch card system was installed under the direction of club member Mr. Jutsum who is a professor of physics and manager of the computer centre at the local university. The club reports that the system is entirely satisfactory.

All prospects would seem to augur well for the Jamaica Kennel Club's future. But there are serious handicaps. The 'island in the sun', a vacationer's paradise, steeped in history, is a great distance from the centres of dog activity. Club members work along by themselves with little communication from other kennel clubs. The club suffers from lack of professional help and, even if available, the cost of bringing trained professionals in would be prohibitive. Some members think that the calibre of the dogs could deteriorate unless breeders receive instruction in and adhere to sound breeding principles. Handling and showmanship instruction is another area where help could be put to good use.

Opening good channels of communication between Jamaica and other kennel clubs would go a long way towards helping the islanders work through their problems. Mrs. Pugh suggests that CKC members might find it interesting to exchange information with this comparatively new club. She reports that although the club is designated as 'all-breed' the Jamaican preferences run to smooth-coated breeds of the working group. The climate and the difficulty of maintaining coats has naturally influenced dog owners away from such breeds as Siberian Huskies, Collies, Samoyeds and so on. The islanders, says Mrs. Pugh, are hungry for useful reading material and she is certain they would welcome anything we might be able to send them in this line. Copies of articles, old books, in fact any material that has proved its worth in a training and/or breeding way would be valued. Juniors too, she says could play a part in inter-club communications. An interesting Junior K.C. project might be to arrange a Canada-Jamaica pen pal section. And if any CKC members are planning a visit to the island, Mrs. Pugh strongly urges them to contact The Jamaica Kennel Club office in Kingston where the 'welcome mat' really means 'red carpet treatment'.

Well said, Mrs. Hicks

After reading the numerable complaints about our new format on Dogs I feel I must express my approval!

Surely the sincere breeder and exhibitor would much rather read the show results than see the pretty pictures presented in a classy magazine. I feel the more one can read about Canada's dog world the better it is for all concerned.

We all look forward to the day when the CKC will operate at top efficiency and have a solid financial position and I am very sure that after another year has passed we will enjoy these privileges again but let's back up the hard working executive and praise them for their hard work instead of complaining at every turn!

If we can have a larger club magazine and save money too, all the better! Mrs. Betty-Anne Hicks, North Vancouver, B.C.

Are Pet Shops the Answer?

Re Mrs. Lorna Jackson's article (December-January issue) . . . on whether imported dogs are ruining the Canadian market, and the possibility that pet shops could be pressed into acting as a middleman. . .

It is the mass produced litter for re-sale business which is ruining the pure-bred dog movement, domestic or imported. We are facing an over-production of dogs. The trend today is to breed indiscriminately and turn out the puppies as soon as possible, usually for export. And it is a fact that the pet shops are the market for which these puppies are produced.

The only valid solution is the collaboration of the national kennel clubs — the Kennel Club, England, The Canadian Kennel Club, the American Kennel Club et al, and the active participation of the breeders. . . . The objective is to protect the interest of the dog and the second the protection of the market.

Mrs. Jackson's arguments are all wrong, especially where she states that American and British dogs are sold for less than Canadian. Nowhere does she mention the term "Litters for re-sale" or the fact that pet shops get their dogs through this traffic. And I do not understand her use of the term "exclusive pet shops". These establishments are set up to sell dogs on a quick turnover with the highest rate of profit possible. They are the ones who buy at $50 and sell at $350, and they are not too careful as to what pedigree they give the dog either.

Mrs. Jackson, you are barking up the wrong tree. You are not thinking of the dog, per se; you are only thinking in terms of buying and selling. It is definitely not in the best interests of the pure-bred dog to allow the pet shop to take over the job of selling and it is not necessary. This article seems to play along with a trend here in the U.S. where the pet shops and chains are lobbying for legislation to deny small breeders and the kennels the right to sell a dog. Is this what Canadian breeders want? I hardly think so. Neither do the American breeders, who are coming together to fight this trend.

The answer is education and advertising . . . propagate the idea of informing the public what a pure-bred dog is like, how he is produced, that it takes about five months to produce a good puppy from the time of selection of the stud to the time when he leaves for his new home. . . Suggest that The Canadian Kennel Club carry through a program of advertising to educate the public . . . advise people to attend shows and the breeders.

Please, do not sell our dogs short. — Fay Gold, New York, N.Y.

Correction, please!

In the March issue of Dogs in Canada, I placed an ad (on page 22) concerning "Warbonnett Wardance". There was an error made. I would like it corrected, so it will not cause confusion or embarrassment to the rightful winners. "Warbonnet Wardance" has been shown out of the province in B.C. It should read Northern B.C. (Prince George) Dog Club — B.B. — 2 1sts. 2 winners. Handled by Mark Webster.

She did not show in the Northern Ontario Dog Club Show. — M. Dalke, Mission City, B.C.

(We apologize for the error. Mrs. Dalke's original copy read "Northern Interior Dog Club" and not Northern Ontario. - Ed)

repairs were not finished so they gave me a small car to go home in and I had to come back in ten days to Vancouver to pick up my car. I could not take my four Smooth Terriers home with me since I had no room in this small car, so a friend offered to take them for me in her boarding kennels for ten days. In the meantime she was going to advertise them in the local newspaper since these four pups were for sale.

One day she got a phone call for a smoothie and those people did want to come out and see them. My friend had to go out in the afternoon for a couple of hours so she told the people not to come between such and such an hour since she would not be home. What do you think these nice people did? Well, they came at the time my friend was not home and helped themselves to one of my Smooth Fox Terriers.

We have put up a $50 reward since we would like to get this pup back. He is 2½ months old, has a whole brown face and lots of brown on his body. So that's why I ask has anybody seen Sammy? — Mrs. R. Thomasius, Beaver Cove, B.C.

Right show, wrong club

I am writing to bring to your attention a mistake in the wording below the picture of the Samoyed on page 19, March issue of Dogs in Canada. The International Samoyed Society have never held a show at Scarborough and we are the only Samoyed club in Canada to have that name. The show held at Scarborough was the Canadian Samoyed Club, and has no connection with our club. – Mrs. Blanche Millar, London, Ont.

Credit to Toronto's Beardie enthusiasts

Thank you for your article by Mac Stephens on our newly recognized breed – the Bearded Collie. As one who had the only "Beardie" in this area for several years, I really appreciate seeing something about them in our publication and having someone with whom to discuss this interesting dog. Also, you can imagine my pleasure when I had in my hand "Slippers' " Canadian registration certificate.

May I add just a little concerning the Canadian efforts on behalf of Beardies? At the time of writing, Mr. Stephens possibly was not aware that a small but very active Bearded Collie Club had been formed, with its nucleus in the Toronto district. Also, that "Gael", a champion bitch owned by Carol Gold, produced Canada's first litter of Beardies — Torontonians, all nine of them.

Much as we, in Montreal, would like to feel that we were instrumental in having this breed recognized in Canada, I want to say that the ground work and organizing was done by this enthusiastic group in the Toronto area. Our part was very small but we hope to do bigger and better things. Mrs. Barbara Blake of Waterdown, Ont., is the Secretary of the Bearded Collie Club, and should anyone require information, she will be glad to supply it. — Muriel Ratner, Montreal.

More on White German Shepherds

I imagine that this is one of many letters that you will receive on your recent article: "The Invincible White Shepherd".

I am surpised, and very shocked to see such an article, about a book which purports to "explode popular MYTHS about the inferiority of the white German Shepherds . .".

For many years, both in Europe and North America, dedicated breeders have been striving to eradicate this strain from today's bloodlines, just as they are erasing blues and long-coated Shepherds. All of the above are serious faults according to the standards. If my memory serves me correctly, whites and long-coats are both non-registerable and non-breedable in Germany. In France, we put them to sleep.

Unhappily, in North America they can still be bred, and until recently shown. In the U.S.A. they are now automatically disqualified . . . hopefully, this once, Canada will follow suit soon.

Dogs in Canada is supposed to be the official organ of The Canadian Kennel Club. Therefore one would expect it to do everything in its power to support the efforts of breeders to improve the pure races. By printing such an article, and thus inadvertently giving this book so much free publicity, they have dealt the serious breeder quite a blow. We try to educate the public, and they turn around and say, "But I read about it in Dogs in Canada . . . ", what does one answer?

I hope that, by way of amends Dogs in Canada will have this book reviewed by serious breeder judges such as Mr. G. Garrett, a regular contributor to your magazine, or Dr. Q. Laham and print their unedited opinions.

I wish to apologize for my typing, and also for anything I said which may have offended you, but I was quite upset by this article. – C. Patrick Ormos, Montreal

(It's the serious breeder's responsibility to improve his or her breed. It's this publication's responsibility to present all points of view. By doing so national attention is focussed on problems and resultant comments such as reproduced here will help bring things to a head. Hopefully complacent breeders will be galvanized into action. – Ed)

The perfect squelch

Pat McCormack (No dogs in motels is possible B.C. ruling) might like to see in print the following anecdote from "The Elkhounder":

A vacationer seeking a hotel room for himself and his dog received the following reply from an inn-keeper in Kingston, Jamaica: "I've been in the hotel business for 40 years, and never have I had to eject a disorderly dog. Never has a dog set fire to a bed. Never has he sneaked a girl into his room. Never has a dog stolen a towel or a blanket or gotten drunk. Your dog is very welcome. If he will vouch for you, you can come along as – Win Terelly, Gravenhurst, Ont.

Another view from ringside

Your new format is not as good for saving and collecting but the reading content has definitely improved so I feel the loss of some style is worthwhile.

I wish to agree wholeheartedly with Dr. Spettigue in "A View from Ringside". It is supposed to be the worth of the dog as a physical specimen we are looking for, not ribbons, trophies, wins, stud fees, handling fees, judging assignments and higher prices for our pups. What we want to know is, did I produce a better specimen of my breed? Not, can that pro win for me?

Lucille E. Meystedt in "Will the True International Ch. hold up its Paw" first quotes Webster as defining international as "Two or more countries or a group with members in two or more countries", then goes on to say a dog with its Canadian and American Ch. isn't an International Ch., I count two. A dog with its American and Mexican Ch. isn't an International Ch., I count two, a dog with its Canadian and Bermudian and American Ch. isn't an International Ch., I count two or more countries there, three to be exact.

I've been in dogs for sometime and don't even know if C.A.C.I.B. points can be won in North America? – Grace L. McDonald, Winnipeg, Man.

Will the real International Champion stand up?

Since the March issue of Dogs in Canada I have been asked if I can rightly advertise my champion as an International Champion.

I think this matter came up because of the article on "Will the true International Ch. hold up its paw". I know many people have used the word International Champion very loosely but I can assure you that we have earned the right. I am enclosing photostat copies of the 4 C.A.C.I.B. points, sanctioned by the F.C.I., also the championship award certificate. I do quite a lot of advertising and feel you should have this proof for your files. – Mary R. Olver, Prince Albert, Sask.

Obedience

Send correspondence direct to Jake Giacomelli, 51 Wardrope St. S., Stoney Creek, Ont.

The dog shows and obedience trials held by the Canadian National Sportsmen's Dog Show under the most capable direction of Hudson Kalloch of Centerville, Mass., was really quite a doggy event again this year.

In the obedience end of things, of which I was mostly interested, noticed the rings were well washed and disinfected prior to each trial. Every time I looked, Jack Critchley of Windsor way was cracking his big whip keeping the maintenance boys on their toes! They were constantly cleaning up after careless or thoughtless spectators or exhibitors.

The dog shows and trials were held in the spacious Queen Elizabeth building, and there was plenty of benching so that the public could visit with their favorite breeds.

The obedience ring itself was certainly quite an improvement — it was large, floor very level, ample matting, completely curtained off, and the stewarding on the days I observed was excellent.

The only change I would like to see would be to put the Obedience ring as far away as possible from the "Littlest Hobo" act, for the simple reason that it was almost impossible for the Judges to be heard by the exhibitors, or the dogs to hear clearly their handler's commands due to the loudness of the speakers being used by the "Littlest Hobo".

The Sportsmen's Show is quite a phenomenon — you would think that with all the noise and distractions, the Obedience dogs would find it impossible to work, but because of the tremendous amount of both, the dogs tend to ignore it. I observed quite a few good working dogs. Your biggest risk was the possibility of a loud speaker erupting overhead just as a handler was giving a dog a command!

What about this for a standardized level of proficiency — three lovely Papillons, owned by the same family, all in the same class and all three placing first with tie scores of 193 each. The wife and husband handled one of the dogs each and a friend (Mr. Babbidge — one of Canada's top Papillon breeders) handled the other one for the runoff — so who wins the runoff? Mr. Babbidge! Last time I saw him he was still floating as high as the black (helium-filled) balloons the children were holding at the end of a long string — except that somebody forgot to tie a string on him. Somehow I had a feeling this was his first top win in Obedience, and not even with his own dog either!!

The Dogs in Canada booth had many exciting new books for sale this year and as a result managed to purloin a few bucks from the Giacomellis as well as many others who found their wide assortment of doggy books too irresistible to pass by.

Have you ever watched Audrey McNaughton make chalk portraits of live dogs? It is absolutely uncanny how she captures the likeness and expression which makes your dog different than all the rest.

When she first starts it seems that she hasn't a hope of coming up with anything that resembles the dog she is drawing. As you keep watching, however, the pieces start to drop in gradually and the likeness begins to appear and if perchance you have to go away for a few minutes and then come back again, the similarity to the dog being portrayed is startling!

If you have a favorite dog, please don't miss the chance to have it portrayed by this lady. I am sure you will treasure it for the rest of your life.

We spent a week of our holidays going to the Sportsmen's show this year and must say we found it most enjoyable and will probably do it again next year — see you there!

Every time you "shoot" your dog the result will make you happy

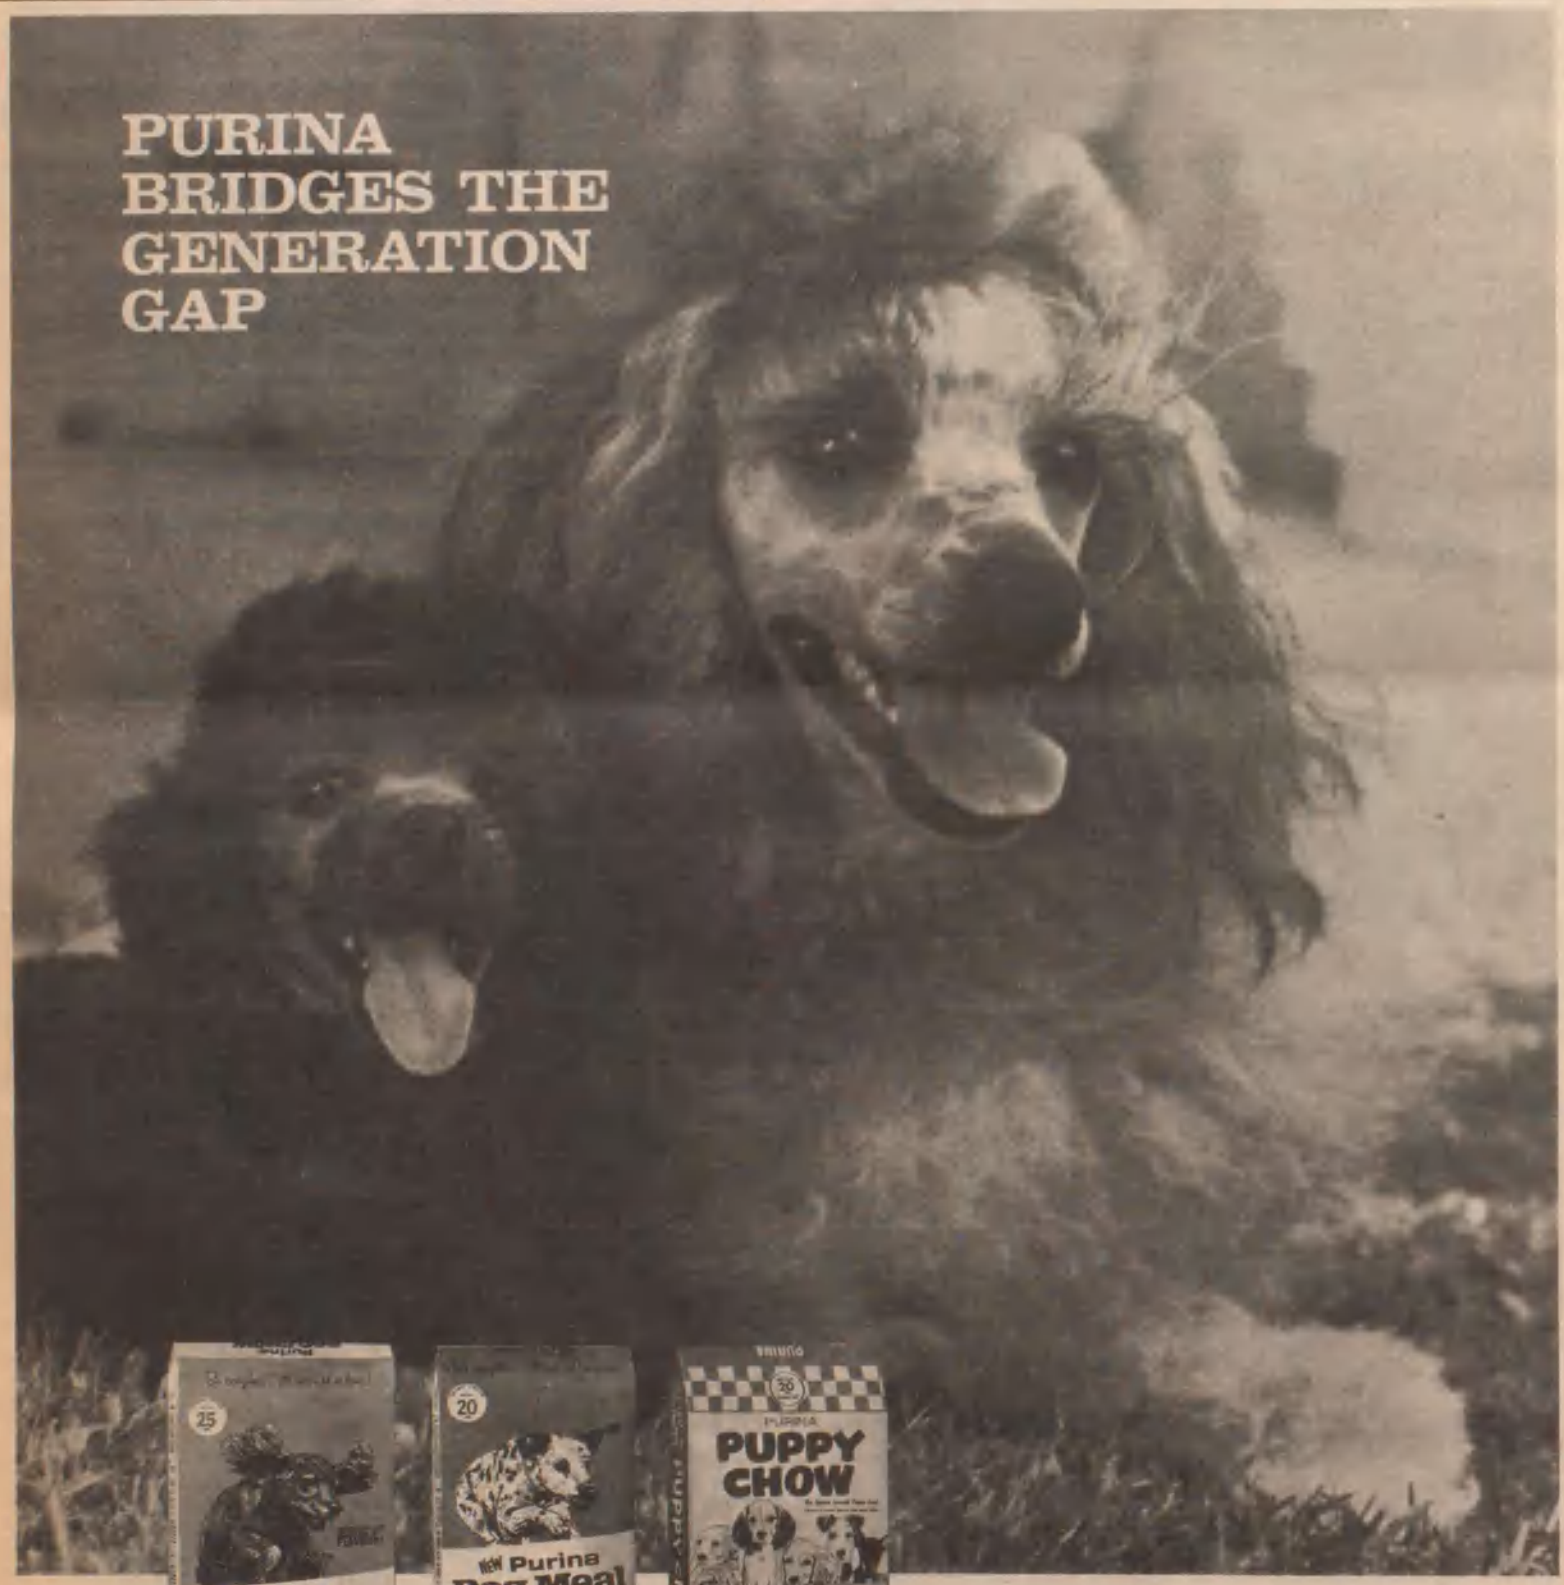

Some dogs, like people, are real ham actors. Point a camera at them, and they just naturally go into a pose. Or by contrast, are overcome with the desire to be somewhere else.

A camera, to most animals, is an unfamiliar article. Before you take your dog's picture, show it to him, let him sniff it. Set him up, or have someone else set him up in various positions. Make it fun. Then do a "dry" run in several positions so you'll know the best angle and will be alert to catch the shot you want.

The old saying, "opportunity knocks but once" has a familiar counterpart in picture taking. You don't get a second chance — unless you're using an instant printing camera such as a Polaroid Land Camera. With the new Polaroid Colorpack 80 you shoot, you score, because you know almost instantly whether or not you were successful.

The Colorpack 80 is a double-barrelled camera; it uses both black-and-white film, which requires no after-coating and shows the results in only 30 seconds — or color, which produces beautiful pictures in just one minute.

For adults only? Not at all. Children, from their very early teens, can handle this camera. As for price, the new square format film is comparable to conventional picture-taking cost.

APPRECIATION

TO MY FRIENDS OF THE "RACE APART", THE DOGGY PEOPLE!

The Scottish bard said "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley"

Such was my lot on the third of the Sportsmen's shows. Ere the judging commenced, an ambulance had borne me to "Emergency" in St. Joseph's hospital in Toronto.

To Audrey McNaughton, to Lorna Jackson, to Doris Wilson, to Hudson Kalloch and to that wonderful person, one of the most loved members of this "peculiar people", Dr. Ellen Brown, who ministered so effectively in the absence of a medical doctor (no! she didn't give me a rabies shot), a very special thank you.

Forty-six years ago I was admitted to the tribe, through the Fort Garry Kennel Club in Winnipeg (a Whippet owner).

Oftimes through the ensuing years, I presume as most members I have been "fed up" with the whole shebang. We are a warrior tribe and at times the darts and spears have filled the air. Then something happens, a need arises, some member is in trouble and there emerges (that which was always there though not always evident) that beautiful something, unique and almost indefinable, loyalty? fellowship? affection? love, maybe? Call it what you like, it matters not the name, but it's there and we are glad and proud to be one of the "Doggy People".

On Sunday night my son went to the show to get my dog and equipment. Upon his return (I was now in Oakville Hospital) he brought with him one of the finest tributes I have ever received, a paper (looks like the matter al Audrey uses to draw her portraits on) folded to make four sheets. Such artistry — on one of the inner pages showed a Whippet in hot pursuit of a rabbit who was crying for help. At the bottom corner of the page a question. The poor little rabbit — what does he do? The answer was there, but it will be more fun if you answer it yourself. Yes! the artist signed it (L.J.) whoever that is.

On the front page was a wee dog, also a Whippet, sitting on his haunches and weeping, saying "Please get well soon Andy! And underneath, these words:

ANDY
The show is mad
and we are too
But think of us
as we miss you
We hope you rally
Well and fast
and this time
That it will last
So keep your cheer
Be glad of rest
And we poor mortals
Will do the rest.

The remainder of the space was taken up with the names of many well-wishers. Thank you one and all.

My keenest competitor in the breed over the past few years (whose darts I have taken out of my hide, many times) put the finishing touches on my dog (not with laudanum) before entering the ring and my dog "took the breed" to complete the points required for his Canadian title.

To crown it all, a gift from the "doggy people" of a beautiful book, "The New Dog Encyclopedia" which, with the paper of good wishes, is now one of my treasured possessions.

The Lord bless you one and all. I am proud with you to be a member of the "Race Apart", the doggy people.

ANDY DALBY

P.S. I am now at home, much improved and look forward to seeing you all again, at the dog show of course —

HOW TO RAISE A GOOD DOG

by ALAN C. SECORD, B.V.Sc., M.Sc., D.V.Sc.
SECORD ANIMAL CLINIC, TORONTO

Study of basic behavior patterns in the dog should be an area of great importance. A well trained dog is a credit to the owner and is welcome in the neighborhood. On the contrary, an untrained, hooligan dog is a nuisance to everyone.

The most important contribution to the understanding of the correct age for and proper application of training for dogs comes from Dr. J. P. Scott and his colleagues of the Roscoe B. Jackson Laboratory, Bar Harbor, Me. Their studies of the mental development of puppies were undertaken because dogs resemble people in many of their important mental processes and emotional traits, and in their highly developed patterns of social behavior. From these studies of puppies has come much new knowledge that is now applied in teaching children. In addition, there has evolved a new and better understanding of how and when to train dogs to be acceptable to people.

Dog a Pack Animal

No matter how it has been altered by close association with and interference by man, the dog is essentially a pack animal. As such he is subject to rules of behavior and to a social order dependent on age, sex and physical superiority. Wherever groups of dogs are kept together, there is always a "top" dog and a descending sequence to the youngest and weakest member. If males and females are kept separate as is often the case in hound packs, the same social order occurs among the females. Pack law is rigid and has no use for a weak member. When a fight occurs, and the weaker dog is badly hurt, all the other members will pile on and kill the underdog. This trait is so strong, even in pet dogs, that a badly injured dog, yelping in mortal agony, may attract every other dog within hearing to come running and attack, with the intent of gang-killing it, according to pack law.

Man-Dog Relationship: The relationship of dog to man is apparently much as if the dog were giving his allegiance to a super pack leader. There is a loyalty and a wish to please on the part of the dog that motivates the close man-dog companionship. Good trainers say they never consider a dog really well trained until there has been a difference of opinion which has been settled by the trainer and dog having a session to see who is really the "Boss." Once a dog challenges its owner's authority, the best way to finish such a session is to lift the dog off his feet by the loose skin of his neck and shake him until he gives in. If a dog achieves dominance over a person, that individual can never again handle this dog, because from then on the dog considers himself higher in the pack social order than his master. Dogs can certainly smell or perceive fear and cannot be fooled by one who is afraid. Authority over a dog is established by tone of voice and manner, as well as by physical dominance.

A Puppy's Development

Puppies at three weeks of age have their first teeth and should be fed solid food as a supplement to the bitch's milk. If the dam is a good mother, she will begin feeding her puppies at about this age by regurgitating food that she has retained long enough to be partially digested. As the puppies' age and appetite increase, she will bring them food she has just eaten and immediately regurgitated.

House-training: The dam will keep her puppies clean by licking and swallowing their excreta until they begin to take solid food. From then on the pups will crawl away from their bed to a corner and will be responsible for their own toilet. It is easy to house-train a new puppy, if one is careful for the first 48 hours . It is particularly important that the first elimination occurs in the spot that the puppy is expected to use as a toilet from then on. A new puppy should be kept under constant supervision by a competent person so that it is never permitted to make a mistake in the wrong area. If this happens, the pup always goes back to the same spot and will be much harder to train. With care, a new puppy should be house-trained in a few days.

A puppy will never soil his bed; therefore, a good way to teach cleanliness is to tie him there on a short leash of about 18", letting him off every hour and carrying him out to the yard for his toilet. Another way is to keep him in a small shipping crate between trips to the yard. After a day or two, he may be allowed loose in a room after he has just been successful outside. He should be under the watchful eye of a responsible person who never lets the pup out of sight. When the pup is taken short and gives warning, as they all do by looking for a spot, it can be rushed outside in time. It would be a mistake to punish a puppy-unless it is caught in the act.

Personality Development: Puppies raised in kennels away from much human association will become man-shy unless they are handled frequently, starting at four to five weeks. If puppies are kennel raised without handling until four months of age, they may become so shy that they will never be able to adapt themselves to the stress of family living and the noise and commotion of city traffic. The most impressionable age is from seven to 16 weeks. If a client asks, "What is the best age to buy a puppy for a companion dog?" the answer should be to select him at five weeks, to be delivered at exactly seven weeks.

In the relationship of dog to master, it seems that the imprint or attachment should be made early. Dogs kept in kennels soon form their own behavior pattern with other dogs, which may not be a good one for a pet animal. To put it simply, a companion dog should be a people's dog and not a dog's dog. Puppies should be exposed to the stresses of their expected environment while they are young and unafraid. Puppies raised with children accept them naturally, but older dogs, suddenly exposed to children's shrill voices and sudden quick movements, may bite because of fear rather than viciousness.

A dog's behavior is also determined by the strain. Proved temperament and trainability of the parents is equally important as physical perfection or an impressive pedigree.

Puppies are born blind and deaf. In their first three weeks of life their only drive is for survival. They respond only to hunger, cold and pain. A puppy is safe from disturbances that could affect his personality. After three weeks, when his eyes and ears open and his motor and sensory drives are developing, comes the most crucial stage in his life. The puppy is ultrasensitive to his environment. From three to eight weeks a dog's capacity for learning first appears, and his first social adjustments to man are made. This is primarily a period of exploration and adjustment to the outside world. It is the critical time when a puppy is made or ruined as a people's dog instead of a dog's dog. Pups socialized by people between five and eight weeks of age develop the strongest primary attachment to man. Experiments have shown that pups not socialized until after 14 weeks never got over being timid and wild. Their withdrawal reaction to people became so intense that the normal relationship of dog to master could not be established. It is true that patience and careful training may partially overcome this shyness, but the dog and owner would both start under a severe handicap.

Training a Puppy

Value of Early Training: A puppy is going to start learning things good or bad as soon as his mental capacity is developed. In training, it is much easier to teach him the right things that you want him to do as soon as he is able to learn. It is more difficult to correct faults than to prevent them. A pup should be taught what he should do as soon as he is able to take direction. If a puppy's simple training is started at seven weeks, with continuous short periods daily, and gradually applied discipline when necessary after three months, he should be well on his way to becoming a trained dog by the time he is four months old. By that time he will have been taught to learn, and he will continue to do so as long as he lives. The expression, "You can't teach an old dog new tricks" is not true, if he has been taught to learn commands and accept discipline at the right time — early in life.

Fundamentals of Training: All dogs should be taught to be good companions by learning simple obedience to commands such as sit, stay, come, heel, and the meaning of "No." A trained dog does what its owner wants it to do and does it willingly when he is asked. It has been proved that as little as ten minutes a day, every day, for a puppy starting at seven weeks can produce a well trained dog by the time he is 16 weeks old. To produce the best results, it is essential to provide continuous, uninterrupted daily lessons. Repetition, consistency, praise for good performance, and gentle force for misbehavior, with a relationship based on mutual affection, are the fundamentals of training. Once a dog has been trained in this early impressionable period to accept discipline and obedience, he will continue to learn with experience for the rest of his life.

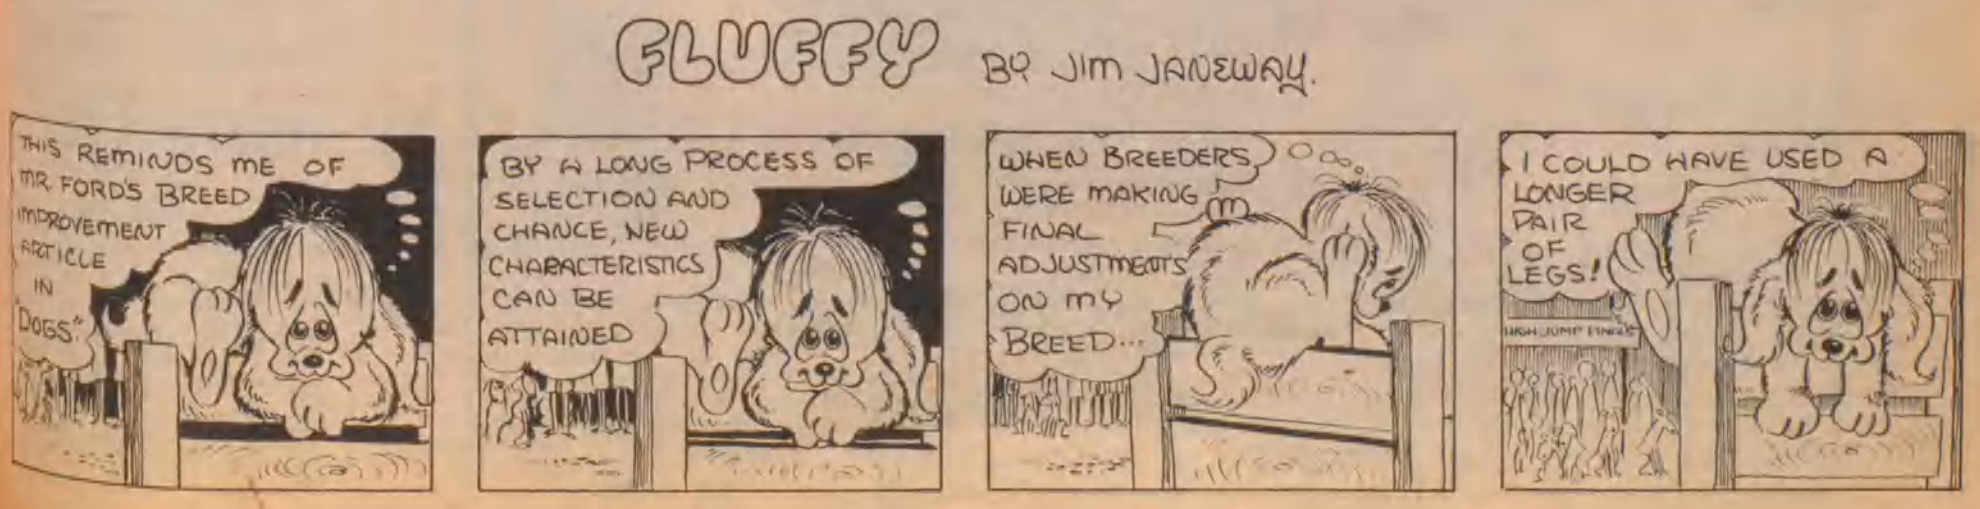

Other Canine Characteristics

Understanding of Man: The bond of understanding between a companion dog and master is very close. It is better developed on the part of the dog than the master. Dogs certainly know many things such as the day of the week, time of the day and whether or not they are to be taken for a walk or left behind. They seem to have a mental telepathy or be able to read signals from the tone of voice or facial expression, which enables them to know quickly man's moods and even his thoughts.

Protective Territory Instinct: Dogs are protective of their territory and will defend it and their own people against intruders. They seldom cause trouble in strange places. The closer to their home, the more aggressive will be the defense. This usually takes the form of barking and bluff as a warning. Some dogs will bite a person who in their eyes is a trespasser. Insecure, shy dogs will bite from fear, particularly if they think they are cornered or threatened. A dog that has achieved dominance over a person may bite that individual if there is ever a difference of opinion. A well trained, well oriented dog will seldom be a problem.

Clues to Temperament: To the experienced dog handler, every dog gives definite clues in his eyes and facial expression that reveal his probable temperament. Some men who have handled thousands of dogs are seldom if ever bitten. Others carry numerous scars of what they consider occupational hazards and find it difficult to give a worm capsule or cut toenails without getting bitten. Dogs should be approached with a confident, firm manner that indicates the "Boss" is to take over.

The training and ownership of a companion dog is a very rewarding experience. Every person who raises and trains his own dog will agree that he learned a great deal that has helped him to better understand his dog.

MISS HEATHER P.R. DROPE

Heather is the first female member of the dog world to be featured from the Maritimes. Her home is in Halifax, N.S. She started her show career approximately ten years ago by entering the family pet, a Chihuahua, in a sanction show with the result of Best Puppy in Show. This was followed by another sanction show win of "Best in Show", with the breed she now concentrates on, Poodles. This same Poodle Ch. Bar-Ray-M Lady Cynthia, before retirement received two group firsts and many Best Canadian Bred in Group. She later produced two champions under Heather's kennel name of Dubonnet Reg'd.

Recently obedience became part of her activities and, with her homebred Ch. Dubonnet Tom Collins CD, finished in Canada then moving on to U.S.A. with two American CD legs to his credit.

At practically any Maritime show Heather can be found efficiently handling dogs for other persons and in the past year has come up with approximately ten group firsts, a Best in Show with a Boxer and three Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show with a Basenji. A further credit to her handling and grooming ability (plus handling quality dogs) was a placement with a puppy in the 1969 Poodle Club of America Specialty.

She has handled to their championship many breeds such as Toy and Miniature Poodles, Chihuahuas, Dachshunds and a Welsh Springer.

One would think she is too busy to have travelled 13,000 miles to shows in 1969 but this was done.

On the personal side she is an avid skiier, bowler, Director of the Halifax Kennel Club, Director of the Saint John Poodle Club. More fascinating than anything is the fact that she owns her own dog grooming salon in Halifax where she professionally grooms all breeds.

It is the hope of many friends and Poodle lovers that one day Heather will find time to do Poodle specialty judging.

THE POORHOUSE RE-VISITED

The Ontario Bird Dog and Conservation Association is also broke. Not counting stamps on hand they lost $100.79 last year. There seems to be about $12.28 worth of stamps in the cash box. Nobody has paid their 1970 dues. The Association's Notice of the 1971 Annual Meeting appeals to the nine fellows who usually attend to do so or the outfit is dissolved. I gather they need some cash.

This ancient group has served Ontario pointing dog clubs in two major ways:

(1) They have hosted the Annual Championship in Ontario and

(2) They have fostered a fraternity of resistance to anything remotely related at The Canadian Kennel Club.

The members have for years not registered their dogs in CKC and quite unwittingly have held back their money for such registrations that they would never make. How were they to know this would put us in debtor's prison?

All I ever suspected of these old time pointing dog people is that they were stubborn. Who in heaven's name would have guessed they were after us and would emerge with twelve dollars to our zero. As a matter of fact, for years I have listened to them whisper about all the bonds we had. Reference was also made to the glory of our annual meeting with rooms full of happy, healthy and wealthy delegates busily voting on whether Article VIII, Section (b) of the Field Trial Rules (Pointing Breeds) should be amended to read "any judge, who during the running of a trial, finds that in the interests of the trial he must go to the washroom, should consult the field trial committee. The field trial committee shall rule on the matter and in the case of a protest such evidence as may be pertinent along with a fee of $10.00 shall be submitted to the CKC."

These guys have always contended that after such weighty matters were dealt with, we had a swell cocktail party and a big dance. These were sour grapes because a couple of times the O.B.D.A. met in a pretty stuffy room in the cellar of a Toronto hotel. Twelve dollars worth of five cent stamps won't rent much even in Toronto.

After we got the computer they really got militant. One fellow even talked to Ted Gundersen and wondered whether he and a few of us could get an old high-back Underwood and start wacking out certificates for bird dogs in an upstairs room over an abandoned warehouse. Ted was on his way to Rio to judge and wasn't about to become registrar for our bird dog gang. Besides, he felt that nine fellows wasn't enough. I told him that we would make enough mistakes filling out the forms and thus keep an equivalent number of staff busy corresponding with us.

Of course all of us in the pointing dog game regret and understand the present predicament of the CKC. We understand because we have been in an insolvent position for a long time. As pointed out by one board member, we don't complain very much. We can extend our sympathy to the parent body. That's about all however, as twelve dollars won't go very far. Do you accept stamps?

POINTER WINS NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Wrapup, white and liver pointer bitch owned by James Hinton of Alabama, captured the National Championship. A field of 46 competed in the three hour heats held at Grand Junction Tennessee beginning February 15 and completed February 27. In convincing fashion this sparkling young bitch handled six bevies of quail under the observation of Judges Dunn, Hurdle and Winnmer and 9 horseback riders in the gallery.

CANADIAN FIELD TRIALER PASSES

Francis W. Benson of Saskatoon died December 30, 1970. Mr. Benson was one of Canada's best known trial judges, officiating at a dozen championships in the past seven years. He was an ardent pointer fan and was much beloved for his spirit and good humor. Western Canada has lost a good man.

lish Kennel Club, and both the Labrador Retriever Club and the Golden Retriever Club of the United States. The Working Certificate is required by these clubs and by the Labrador Owners Club on all bench (show) champions before they are recognized in the clubs' records as full champions. The bench champions who have not qualified for their Working Certificates are called "show champions."

While open to all Retrievers, it is intended that the Working Certificate be directed primarily to dogs who are not normally working on the field trial circuit. The idea is to help bridge the gap between the show dog and the field dog. Tests are set between the puppy and the junior level, but are not an additional field trial stake. The aim is to test the dog's natural ability, instinct, interest and desire to work in the field.

The Labrador Owners Club Working Certificate is as follows: "This shall be for all Retrievers, regardless of age, to determine their natural ability and desire to work in the field. Judging shall be done by a Licensed Field Trial Judge in conjunction with the Club Executive, to keep the tests consistent year after year. Tests shall include a land single and a water double which may be taken as two singles to prove the dog will re-enter the water. Dogs must exhibit no evidence of gunshyness or hard mouth, but may be held on line. To qualify, the dog must receive a total of 60% or more of the available marks. Pheasants or pigeons to be used on land, live ducks on water."

As a long-time breeder of Labrador Retrievers, it was for the good of the breed as a whole and to promote the retention of natural abilities and retrieving instinct in SHOW dogs, not field trial dogs, that I put forward the idea of the Working Certificate to the Labrador Owners Club in 1967. I had been appalled to see Labrador Retrievers amassing points in the show ring when they had never been out in the field and probably had little or no idea about retrieving on land or in the water with guns and game birds. It is not the dog's fault; they have been bred solely for show and have not had their natural retrieving instincts encouraged by either their breeders or their owners. I personally regard a Labrador not only as a retriever, but also as an all-round dog, reliable, intelligent, good tempered, with a desire to work in the field, either in trials or hunting. It would be criminal to let the Labrador Retriever end up in Group 6, the Non-Sporting group, with dogs whose natural abilities have been ignored by earlier breeders in favor of an attractive show-ring appearance. Some of the Sporting dogs have already gone this route, leaving only a few of the many Sporting dogs actually being dual-purpose bred for field work. Let us keep the Labrador Retriever as a dual-purpose dog and require that bench winners prove they are worthy of being called Retrievers.

As originator of the idea of the Labrador Owners Club adopting the Working Certificate, I would like to point out that Marvin Calhoun was at one time a member of the Labrador Owners Club and was on the Executive when the Working Certificate was first proposed, and he is fully aware of the amount of time spent in discussion — it was actually over a period of three years — among members at trials, at executive and annual meetings. Many versions were composed, presented, discussed, criticized and reworded before one was found acceptable to the majority and was finally approved at the club's annual meeting in November 1969.

Throughout the summer of 1970, field training sessions were held once or twice a week and members owning non-field trial dogs were encouraged to come out and see what their dogs could do, and take part in the pre-tests for the Working Certificate, with the hope that they would get enthused and want to continue in field work. In the late summer, qualifying tests were run, judged by experienced field trialling club members who had judged at training trials. The dogs which passed the club judges were then eligible to compete for their Working Certificate under a licensed field trial judge. The first judge outlined his proposed tests, the club executive approved them and recorded them so that when the second test for the Working Certificate was held, the same tests were used. The land single in cover was a good medium length junior test. The back-to-back water singles (or the double) were equally good. Not all the competing dogs passed, and not all the dogs who were trying out in the qualifying tests passed. Of the 36 dogs who gained their Working Certificates last Fall, 24 had placed previously or have since placed in the junior or qualifying stakes in training trials. The youngest to compete and gain the certificate was 11½ months of age, and she won the puppy stake in a training trial later that day.

As club trainer, and as a trainer of field and obedience dogs outside the club activities, I do not agree with Marvin Calhoun that a few minutes or days training will turn a young, or even an old, keen working dog into a steady dog or one that is reasonably steady. Some of the top field trial dogs in Canada and the U.S.A. have broken in the open and National field trial stakes, but they are still top dogs and much sought after for breeding. Even some of the most reliable dogs, regarded as completely steady by their owners or handlers, have been known to break and any keen dog requires a refresher course occasionally on this, so the requirements for the Working Certificate have been made to include dogs that are held on line. A dog that is held on line does not score as high as a steady dog, but the held dog is still not allowed to go until his number is called and must make a quick, clean retrieve and deliver to hand. The dog that drops the bird on delivery is penalized, but the dog that leaves it way out in the swamp is failed. A major part of the training of dogs for junior and for Working Certificate work is calming them down in their exuberance and enthusiasm to sit on line until their number is called, starting to steady them and getting the clean pick up and delivery.

The most important point to realize concerning the Working Certificate is that the dog trying for it is not necessarily field trial material. It is the dog that is an obedience dog, the dog that hunts just a few times a year and the dog that is solely a show dog, for whom it is intended. Field trial dogs are welcome to compete for the Working Certificate, but the test is initially for the non-field trial dog and is to test the dog's natural ability and desire. As club trainer and as a breeder, I have been pleased to see the number of dogs that have gone on to field trial work when their owners had never thought about it previously nor had they intended going in for it. It was mainly because they were invited and encouraged to try for their dog's Working Certificate that they got enthusiastic and were thrilled to see what their dog could do — he was much more intelligent and capable than they had realized, and, they have a certificate to prove it!

STANDARDS QUIZ

Standards Quiz No. 97. Compiled by H. Malcolm Stephens. Object is to match the first set of numbers (which relate to various parts of the dog) with the second set of numbers (which describe that part of the dog). For example: Scoring. 21-23 correct – you could be judging. 19-20 correct – you should start thinking about judging. 16-18 correct – good if you are in another breed. Less than 16 you must be in another breed. Answers on page 24

JOHN KELLOGG'S BOOK OF DOG TRAINING — by John W. Kellogg — $8.75

Mr. Kellogg's book on Obedience Training falls far short of being a model text on the subject. It is complete, in that the author covers his subject from the purchase of a puppy through every degree to its adult competence in UD and tracking.

Exercises are clearly and simply explained and are accompanied by excellent drawings depicting the stages of learning. But it is the very simplicity of the book which is its downfall. As anyone who has taken a dog through to an obedience degree well knows, there are always problems. Mr. Kellogg assumes that a dog begun right, finishes right, with no headaches in between. Perhaps some do, but the majority do not.

The author also fails to identify any of the exercises with life situations. One gets the impression that a dog should be trained for the sake of competing in trials and performing before one's friends; not to make him a better friend and companion to man. Obedience training is far more than the performance of tricks. Soon or late, the bright youngster, who Mr. Kellogg describes as a likely candidate to enjoy obedience training, is going to ask 'why'. This text will not give him an answer.

I particularly liked the opening paragraphs and find the AKC ring procedure section worthy inclusions. But, in this reviewer's opinion there are many more worthwhile texts on the subject. — Joan Morden.

MISS HEATHER P.R. DROPE

Heather is the first female member of the dog world to be featured from the Maritimes. Her home is in Halifax, N.S. She started her show career approximately ten years ago by entering the family pet, a Chihuahua, in a sanction show with the result of Best Puppy in Show. This was followed by another sanction show win of "Best in Show", with the breed she now concentrates on, Poodles. This same Poodle Ch. Bar-Ray-M Lady Cynthia, before retirement received two group firsts and many Best Canadian Bred in Group. She later produced two champions under Heather's kennel name of Dubonnet Reg'd.

Recently obedience became part of her activities and, with her homebred Ch. Dubonnet Tom Collins CD, finished in Canada then moving on to U.S.A. with two American CD legs to his credit.

At practically any Maritime show Heather can be found efficiently handling dogs for other persons and in the past year has come up with approximately ten group firsts, a Best in Show with a Boxer and three Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show with a Basenji. A further credit to her handling and grooming ability (plus handling quality dogs) was a placement with a puppy in the 1969 Poodle Club of America Specialty.

She has handled to their championship many breeds such as Toy and Miniature Poodles, Chihuahuas, Dachshunds and a Welsh Springer.

One would think she is too busy to have travelled 13,000 miles to shows in 1969 but this was done.

On the personal side she is an avid skiier, bowler, Director of the Halifax Kennel Club, Director of the Saint John Poodle Club. More fascinating than anything is the fact that she owns her own dog grooming salon in Halifax where she professionally grooms all breeds.

It is the hope of many friends and Poodle lovers that one day Heather will find time to do Poodle specialty judging.

THE POORHOUSE RE-VISITED

The Ontario Bird Dog and Conservation Association is also broke. Not counting stamps on hand they lost $100.79 last year. There seems to be about $12.28 worth of stamps in the cash box. Nobody has paid their 1970 dues. The Association's Notice of the 1971 Annual Meeting appeals to the nine fellows who usually attend to do so or the outfit is dissolved. I gather they need some cash.

This ancient group has served Ontario pointing dog clubs in two major ways:

(1) They have hosted the Annual Championship in Ontario and

(2) They have fostered a fraternity of resistance to anything remotely related at The Canadian Kennel Club.

The members have for years not registered their dogs in CKC and quite unwittingly have held back their money for such registrations that they would never make. How were they to know this would put us in debtor's prison?

All I ever suspected of these old time pointing dog people is that they were stubborn. Who in heaven's name would have guessed they were after us and would emerge with twelve dollars to our zero. As a matter of fact, for years I have listened to them whisper about all the bonds we had. Reference was also made to the glory of our annual meeting with rooms full of happy, healthy and wealthy delegates busily voting on whether Article VIII, Section (b) of the Field Trial Rules (Pointing Breeds) should be amended to read "any judge, who during the running of a trial, finds that in the interests of the trial he must go to the washroom, should consult the field trial committee. The field trial committee shall rule on this matter and in the case of a protest such evidence as may be pertinent along with a fee of $10.00 shall be submitted to the CKC."

These guys have always contended that after such weighty matters were dealt with, we had a swell cocktail party and a big dance. These were sour grapes because a couple of times the O.B.D.A. met in a pretty nice room in the cellar of a Toronto hotel. Twelve dollars worth of five cent stamps won't rent much even in Toronto.

After we got the computer they really got militant. One fellow even talked to Ted Gundersen and wondered whether he and a few of us could get an old high-back Underwood and start wacking out certificates for bird dogs in an upstairs room over an abandoned warehouse. Ted was on his way to Rio to judge and wasn't about to become registrar for our bird dog gang. Besides, he felt that nine fellows wasn't enough. I told him that we would make enough mistakes filling out the forms and thus keep an equivalent number of staff busy corresponding with us.

Of course all of us in the pointing dog game regret and understand the present predicament of the CKC. We understand because we have been in an insolvent position for a long time. As pointed out by one board member, we don't complain very much. We can extend our sympathy to the parent body. That's about all however, as twelve dollars won't go very far. Do you accept stamps?

POINTER WINS NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Wrapup, white and liver pointer bitch owned by James Hinton of Alabama, captured the National Championship. A field of 46 competed in the three hour heats beginning February 15 and completed February 27. In convincing fashion this sparkling young bitch handled six bevies of quail under the observation of Judges Dumas Hurdle and Winnmer and 60 horseback riders in the gallery.

CANADIAN FIELD TRIALER PASSES

Francis W. Benson of Saskatoon died December 30, 1970. Mr. Benson was one of Canada's best known trial judges, officiating at a dozen championships in the past seven years. He was an ardent setter fan and was much beloved for his spirit and good humor. Western Canada has lost a good man.

lish Kennel Club, and both the Labrador Retriever Club and the Golden Retriever Club of the United States. The Working Certificate is required by these clubs and by the Labrador Owners Club on all bench (show) champions before they are recognized in the clubs' records as full champions. The bench champions who have not qualified for their Working Certificates are called "show champions."

While open to all Retrievers, it is intended that the Working Certificate be directed primarily to dogs who are not normally working on the field trial circuit. The idea is to help bridge the gap between the show dog and the field dog. Tests are set between the puppy and the junior level, but are not an additional field trial stake. The aim is to test the dog's natural ability, instinct, interest and desire to work in the field.

The Labrador Owners Club Working Certificate is as follows: "This shall be for all Retrievers, regardless of age, to determine their natural ability and desire to work in the field. Judging shall be done by a Licensed Field Trial Judge in conjunction with the Club Executive, to keep the tests consistent year after year. Tests shall include a land single and a water double which may be taken as two singles to prove the dog will re-enter the water. Dogs must exhibit no evidence of gunshyness or hard mouth, but may be held on line. To qualify, the dog must receive a total of 60% or more of the available marks. Pheasants or pigeons to be used on land, live ducks on water."

As a long-time breeder of Labrador Retrievers, it was for the good of the breed as a whole and to promote the retention of natural abilities and retrieving instinct in SHOW dogs, not field trial dogs, that I put forward the idea of the Working Certificate to the Labrador Owners Club in 1967. I had been appalled to see Labrador Retrievers amassing points in the show ring when they had never been out in the field and probably had little or no idea about retrieving on land or in the water with guns and game birds. It is not the dog's fault, they have been bred solely for show and have not had their natural retrieving instincts encouraged by either their breeders or their owners. I personally regard a Labrador not only as a retriever, but also as an all-round dog, reliable, intelligent, good tempered, with a desire to work in the field, either in trials or hunting. It would be criminal to let the Labrador Retriever end up in Group 6, the Non-Sporting group, with dogs whose natural abilities have been ignored by earlier breeders in favor of an attractive show-ring appearance. Some of the Sporting dogs have already gone this route, leaving only a few of the many Sporting dogs actually being dual-purpose bred for field work. Let us keep the Labrador Retriever as a dual-purpose dog and require that bench winners prove they are worthy of being called Retrievers.

As originator of the idea of the Labrador Owners Club adopting the Working Certificate, I would like to point out that Marvin Calhoun was at one time a member of the Labrador Owners Club and was on the Executive when the Working Certificate was first proposed, and he is fully aware of the amount of time spent in discussion — it was actually over a period of three years — among members at trials, at executive and annual meetings. Many versions were composed, presented, discussed, criticized and reworded before one was found acceptable to the majority and was finally approved at the club's annual meeting in November 1969.

Throughout the summer of 1970, field training sessions were held once or twice a week and members owning non-field trial dogs were encouraged to come out and see what their dogs could do, and take part in the pre-tests for the Working Certificate, with the hope that they would get enthused and want to continue in field work. In the late summer, qualifying tests were run, judged by experienced field trialling club members who had judged at training trials. The dogs which passed the club judges were then eligible to compete for their Working Certificate under a licensed field trial judge. The first judge outlined his proposed tests, the club executive approved them and recorded them so that when the second test for the Working Certificate was held, the same tests were used. The land single in cover was a good medium length junior test. The back-to-back water singles (or the double) were equally good. Not all the competing dogs passed, and not all the dogs who were trying out in the qualifying tests passed. Of the 36 dogs who gained their Working Certificates last Fall, 24 had placed previously or have since placed in the junior or qualifying stakes in training trials. The youngest to compete and gain the certificate was 11½ months of age, and she won the puppy stake in a training trial later that day.

As club trainer, and as a trainer of field and obedience dogs outside the club activities, I do not agree with Marvin Calhoun that a few minutes or days training will turn a young, or even an old, keen working dog into a steady dog or one that is reasonably steady. Some of the top field trial dogs in Canada and the U.S.A. have broken in the open and National field trial stakes, but they are still top dogs and much sought after for breeding. Even some of the most reliable dogs, regarded as completely steady by their owners or handlers, have been known to break and any keen dog requires a refresher course occasionally on this, so the requirements for the Working Certificate have been made to include dogs that are held on line. A dog that is held on line does not score as high as a steady dog, but the held dog is still not allowed to go until his number is called and must make a quick, clean retrieve and deliver to hand. The dog that drops the bird on delivery is penalized, but the dog that leaves it way out in the swamp is failed. A major part of the training of dogs for junior and for Working Certificate work is calming them down in their exuberance and enthusiasm to sit on line until their number is called, starting to steady them and getting the clean pick up and delivery.

The most important point to realize concerning the Working Certificate is that the dog trying for it is not necessarily field trial material. It is the dog that is an obedience dog, the dog that hunts just a few times a year and the dog that is solely a show dog, for whom it is intended. Field trial dogs are welcome to compete for the Working Certificate, but the test is initially for the non-field trial dog and is to test the dog's natural ability and desire. As club trainer and as a breeder, I have been pleased to see the number of dogs that have gone on to field trial work when their owners had never thought about it previously nor had they intended going in for it. It was mainly because they were invited and encouraged to try for their dog's Working Certificate that they got enthusiastic and were thrilled to see what their dog could do — he was much more intelligent and capable than they had realized, and, they have a certificate to prove it!

STANDARDS QUIZ

Standards Quiz No. 97. Compiled by H. Malcolm Stephens. Object is to match the first set of numbers (which relate to various parts of the dog) with the second set of numbers (which describe that part of the dog). For example: Scoring, 21-23 correct – you could be judging. 19-20 correct – you should start thinking about judging. 16-18 correct – good if you are in another breed. Less than 16 you must be in another breed. Answers on page 24 breed in the 20's and 30's in America. These early Bassets are well described and their qualities may be seen in North American rings today.

In his chapter on the Basset in other countries the author deals with the "American" Basset and discusses the tendency of some breeders toward "show-bench curiosity types" which both he and most lovers of the Basset abhor. He makes the point that a hound overdone in any aspect is an unbalanced and therefore undesirable specimen of the breed.

There is a chapter on standards and breeds which with clear language and diagrams gives the novice, the oldtimer and the judge standards by which to judge the breed. As a breeder of Bassets my own feelings on reading this chapter were — "this is one of the great contributions to appreciation that Basset writers have given us".

The author deals at some length with the various "offshoots" of what is known in both the CKC and AKC standards as the "Basset Hound." Breeds named are the Griffon Vendien, the Fauve de Bretagne and the Bleu de Gascon. These less well known breeds will be seen to have had their influences in evolution. There are chapters on kennelling, care, whelping and show procedure which will be helpful to novice and experienced owner alike. The author also deals with hunting and working Bassets obviously from personal knowledge and research.

This is altogether a delightfully written and most informative book written by a "lover" of the breed for his kind of people — all those who are owned by the Basset Hound. For the dedicated breeder there is a restatement of original intentions which we all had when we started breeding — the improvement of the breed. Fran Carter

ASPCA Guide to Pet Care – by Diana Henley — $1.50

Here is a 70-page booklet on pet care written by Diana Henley, head of education for the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It covers not only the buying and care of a dog but gives information about the care of cats, five types of rodents, parakeets and canaries and a few remarks on fish, reptiles and frogs. It is well illustrated throughout with appealing pictures of various pets.

About half the booklet is devoted to the dog. It mentions that there are 116 AKC recognized breeds divided into six groups, giving three examples from each group. Nothing further is said about the various pure-bred dogs available. However, it does stress the questions you must ask yourself before choosing your dog or cat, then follows through with sections on where and how to buy a healthy pet.

The following chapters are full of good information presented in a simple, readable form on living quarters, feeding, exercise and play, home grooming, immunization, skin disorders and parasites stressing that you should see your vet for proper diagnosis and treatment. Then a section on housebreaking followed by easy-to-follow instructions with pictures on basic obedience training. Even the three pages devoted to spaying and breeding are full of sensible comments.

It is one of the better booklets put out for the first-dog owner regardless of whether he chooses an expensive show prospect or that cute pup from the litter down the street.

Not being an authority on cats and other pets described here, I can ice to say that I learned a lot about their care from the ASPCA Guide to Pet Care. – Susan Radley Fraser

DOGS — BEST BREEDS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE — by Wilfrid Bronson — $4.75

This book tells you most anything you want to know about dogs — the way back to prehistoric times. This book tells anything from what dog would suit you and your home to some of dogs' "weird" habits. Wilfrid S. Bronson has written and illustrated this book to help you understand your dog better and since there are many different breeds to choose from he tells you what dogs would be right depending on your home and surroundings.

The author also points out the proper way to care for your dog so he will be a happy and healthy pet. At the back of the book there are 50 diagrams of some well known breeds under the headings of Small, Medium, Big and Giant. Even if you are not a dog expert the information and comical diagrams will bring you pretty well up to date.

I think it's a very worthwhile book for research or for pleasure. It would make a nice gift and would appeal to all dog lovers. The whole book sets out to tell you something about your dog or the breed you are most interested in so you and your dog will understand and get along better. – Tori Dunn [illegible]

DACHSHUNDS

CAN. & MEX. CH. HEIDENHEIM'S OUTWARD BOUND
"Calvin" returned to us last October after taking WD at Westminster (1970) and with 7 points and 1 major towards his American Championship at the age of 13 months. He attained his Canadian Championship in the Fall and then went to Mexico, where he gained his Mexican Championship. His wins in 4 shows there were: 3 Best of Breeds, one Best of Opposite Sex, one 4th, one 2nd and one 1st Hound Group placings. He is sired by our very special HEIDENHEIM'S BLACK FALCON (Top Dachshund 1962) out of CAN. CH. TIMBAR'S LOVER'S LANE. We feel he is a most outstanding dog with the temperament to match. He will continue campaigning this year with his handler, Mr. Hans Brunotte, and we hope he will complete his American Championship.

CAN. CH. HEIDENHEIM'S BLACK FALCON
Falcon, who has become quite a celebrity in U.S.A. due to the quality of his progeny, is now an old man and will only be "at stud" to very special ladies! Two of his recent litters are outstanding, one with Mrs. Barbara Nichols of Gardena, Calif., and the other with Dr. Wm. C. Nixon of Randolph, Mass. Mrs. Nichols also has our HEIDENHEIM'S PROUD HERITAGE, son of CAN. & AM. CH. TIMBAR'S MARJORAM by AM. CH. TIMBAR'S ROYALE, who has done well in Puppy Matches and will be campaigning this year.

TIMBAR'S SAGE
Red litter brother to MARJORAM is an important factor in our breeding programme. He has some beautiful progeny to enter the ring this year. We would like to wish "Good Luck" to HEIDENHEIM'S SOUVENIR (Owner Mrs. Angela Tyler of Stittsville, Ont.) a beautiful red Sage son with style and substance. HEIDENHEIM'S SUGAR & SPICE (Owner Mr. K. L. Cole of Saskatoon, Sask.). Sugar has made a fine start in her first 2 shows, going WB, BOW, BOS and BEST CAN. BRED PUPPY IN BREED and GROUP at both shows, amassing 6 points.
also to:
HEIDENHEIM'S PRIMA DONNA (Owner Mrs. H. W. Lawrance, Cowichan Station, B.C.) a lovely black MARJORAM and ROYALE daughter.

HEIDENHEIM'S POLONAISE
A new addition to our stud force, black son of CAN. & AM. CH. TIMBAR'S MARJORAM and AM. CH. TIMBAR'S ROYALE (WD at the Dachshund Specialty at Westminster, 1970). This dog is exceptionally beautiful but is a slow maturer, so we are holding him back from the show ring until he is at his peak development.

CAN. CH. TIMBAR'S LOVER'S LANE
We have a beautiful litter from Lover by FALCON. This is a repeat breeding of "OUTWARD BOUND" and is the first of four top quality litters planned for this season.

CAN. & AM. CH. TIMBAR'S MARJORAM
Marjoram campaigned for and gained her Canadian Championship last year. She showed for a limited time in Specials and then retired from the ring temporarily to make way for OUTWARD BOUND. However, in the 6 shows she entered as a Special, she took 4 BOB, 1 BOS, two 3rd and one 4th Group placings. She will be bred to FALCON this Spring.

TOY POODLES

CAN. CH. JETSET'S LITTLE REBEL

Last but not least, "Skippy" gained his Canadian Championship last season and, thanks to Mrs. Brunotte's excellent training, is now a most extrovert little showman. He will continue to show with her in Canada and U.S.A. this year. The son of AM. CH. SILVER SPARKLE OF SASSAFRAS, he is at stud to approved females.

We cannot thank Mr. and Mrs. Hans Brunotte enough for the very special care they give our dogs and for the expert way they present them; theirs was no small contribution to the success our dogs had last year.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: DETERMINATION OF THE NUMBER OF DIRECTORS TO BE ELECTED TO THE C.K.C. BOARD

Section 5 of Article XII of the By-laws of The Canadian Kennel Club provides for what is known as a "quinquennial adjustment", that is, that every five years a determination will be made of the number of Directors to be elected for each electoral zone for the following five year period. The statistics employed in making this determination include the number of members of the Club and the number of individual registrations.

In considering the advisability of amending this section of the By-laws the Board was concerned with the fact that the total number of members of the Board may increase without regard to cost, and it also felt that individual registrations should not be a factor in calculating the number of Directors to be elected for each electoral zone.

The question has been considered by a number of committees during recent years. One such committee was headed by Mr. Fred Carter and the report submitted by the committee of which Mr. Carter was Chairman was turned over to a special committee (Mr. George V. Frost, Chairman) which had been appointed to review the Club's By-laws.

At its annual meeting in March of 1970 the Board of Directors considered the report submitted by Mr. Frost as Chairman of the special committee, the report reading as follows:

The problem of a revision of Article XII, Section 5, of the Club's By-laws has been presented to the Board for a number of years without any concrete action being taken to resolve the problem.

The past Board Members have been and are well aware that Section 5 is not realistic and it is imperative a revision be made to prevent the Board becoming unwieldy.

The enclosed revised report submitted to the 1969 Semi-annual meeting by Mr. F. Carter and his committee is in the opinion of the By-laws Committee a revision that would be acceptable to the members.

This proposed revision would be a major step in expediting the administration of C. K. C. affairs and a substantial saving in costs.

The By-laws Committee recommend Board approval to process the proposed revision of Article XII, Section 5 of the Club's By-laws.

Revised report of an amendment to Quinquennial Adjustment, submitted to 1969 Semi-Annual meeting by Mr. F. Carter and his committee. The revision has the approval of Mr. F. Carter, Committee Chairman.

The Committee recommends that Directors be elected on the following basis of Membership, Ordinary and Associate, as reported by the Canadian National Live Stock Records for 1968. Directors to be elected as follows:

Province	Members	Directors
Ontario	3260	4
British Columbia (Inc. Yukon)	1018	1
Quebec	735	1
Alberta	566	1
Atlantic Provinces	440	1
Manitoba & Saskatchewan	460	1

On this basis although Ontario has over 50% of the total membership it has four Directors out of nine.

The number of Directors to be elected for the electoral zones as above shall be determined and adjusted every four years.

It is recommended that the office of 2nd. Vice President be discontinued, as it is felt this office serves no useful purpose in an organization of this size. (end of report)

In accordance with an instruction given by the Board, this report is published in order that interested members of the Canadian Kennel Club may submit their comments. All such comments should be addressed to the Secretary of the Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto 12, Ontario, and must be received by the Secretary not later than June 30, 1971. It is requested that comments refer specifically to C.K.C. file No. 9 A 60.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: CHAMPIONSHIP POINT RATINGS FOR IRISH SETTERS

The Irish Setter Club of Canada submitted to the Board of Directors for consideration a proposal that the scale of point ratings for Irish Setters in all zones be amended by requiring two dogs of the same sex for one point.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to submit their comments for the consideration of the Board of Directors, for this proposal will be considered by the Board at its semi-annual meeting in August of this year. All such comments should be addressed to the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto 12, Ont., and must be received by the Secretary not later than June 30, 1971. It is requested that comments refer specifically to C.K.C. file No. 11 D 34.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: CHAMPIONSHIP POINT RATINGS AND REQUIREMENTS FOR A CHAMPIONSHIP (CONFORMATION)

Notice is given that at its semi-annual meeting in August this year the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club will review the present structure of point ratings, and in doing so will consider the possibility of requiring two dogs of the same sex for one point and a major award before the title of "Champion" is conferred on a dog.

The views of interested members and clubs are solicited, and all such letters of comment received will be considered by the Board of Directors. All such comments should be addressed to the Secretary, The Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto 12, Ont., and must be received by the Secretary not later than June 30, 1971. It is requested that comments refer specifically to C.K.C. file No. 11 D 34.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: INTERBREEDING OF COLLIES

The Board of Directors has considered a proposal that the interbreeding of Collies should be permitted. We are informed that this is permissible in both the United States and Great Britain. It is suggested that if interbreeding is permitted, an individual Collie would be registered according to its actual coat, i.e. Smooth or Rough. It has also been suggested that the adoption of such a proposal would not necessitate a change in the current system of recognizing the Collie (Smooth) and the Collie (Rough) as separate breeds for dog show purposes.

To give effect to such a proposal would necessitate an amendment to the Club's By-laws, and the Board at its semi-annual meeting in August this year will consider whether to authorize the placing of a proposed amendment in the next referendum ballot which is conducted.

Members of The Canadian Kennel Club and clubs interested in this matter are invited to submit their comments for the consideration of the Board of Directors. All such comments should be addressed to the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto 12, Ont., and must be received by the Secretary not later than June 30, 1971. It is requested that comments refer sperifically to C.K.C. file No. 7 R 69.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: CLASS DIVISIONS AT CHAMPIONSHIP SHOWS

At its recent annual meeting the Board of Directors considered a suggestion advanced by a specialty club that the Open Class in the breed at specialty shows be divided by colour at the option of the specialty club holding the show.

When considering this proposal the Board felt that it should deal with this question not only as it concerned the particular breed sponsored by the club submitting the proposal, but rather should consider such a proposal as it may concern any breed in which exhibitors may be interested in class divisions by height, weight, or colour.

The Board of Directors at its semi-annual meeting in August this year will consider this proposal and whether to proceed with appropriate amendments to the Dog Show Rules. It solicits the comments of all interested members of The Canadian Kennel Club and clubs wishing to support or oppose such a proposal. All comments should be addressed to the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto 12, Ont., and must be received by the Secretary not later than June 30, 1971. It is requested that comments refer specifically to C.K.C. file No. 11 D 56.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

SUBJECT: Registration of imported dogs

On March 3rd, 1969, the following addition to the By-laws of The Canadian Kennel Club received the approval of the Minister of Agriculture for Canada and became effective on that date:

If an imported dog was part of a single shipment which included two or more dogs of the same breed and sex, then notwithstanding the provisions of these By-laws the dogs included in the shipment are not eligible for registration in the Club's records unless:

(1) before each dog was exported to Canada it was tattoo marked in accordance with the provisions of Article XXVII of these By-laws;

(2) the record of such tattoo markings appears on the certificate of registration (or export certificate) issued by a recognized Kennel Club or Stud Book in the country from which the dogs were exported to Canada;

(3) each dog in the shipment was accompanied by its certificate of registration or export certificate.

POINTERS

German Short-haired

Robert J. Fisher — There is no doubting the fact that since his introduction to North America in the mid 1920's, the German Short-haired Pointer has firmly established himself in this country and is owned, admired, and hunted by many ardent sportsmen. His intelligence, cleancut profile, cleanliness and pleasing disposition, coupled with his many versatile field talents, have endeared him to many dog lovers, so that he now ranks 11th in the list of the top 20 most popular breeds.

This upswing in interest and popularity has accelerated in recent years, due in large measure to the increased numbers of immigrants of European descent who have brought their interest in the breed with them from the countries of their birth. There are also many native Canadian outdoorsmen who, in looking for a totally versatile hunting dog, have discovered in the Short-hair the perfect hunting companion, capable of performing equally well in the duck blind or the upland bird field. Short-hairs can be relied upon to be consistent producers of game when other breeds have either quit or failed to produce. It has to be admitted that they do not have the speed of the pointer, or the flash and dash of the setter, nor do they retrieve with the merry enthusiasm of the retrieving breeds which are specialists at the game, but at the end of a good day's hunting, the man with the Short-hair usually has an enviable bag of game, which after all is what really counts. What appeals to many people also, is that the same dog who will perform so admirably in the field, is the perfect house dog and gets along well with young children.

The year 1970 now past, was a great year for the Short-hair in Canada. Entries at field trials just about doubled over previous years, and entries at dog shows quadrupled. A few years ago if there were two or three dogs in a show this was about all one could expect. Currently it is not at all unusual to see 18 or 20 dogs per show. The reference is to Canadian dog shows of course, because in the U.S.A. there are many more dogs shown. There are now two GSHP breed clubs operating in southern Ontario, both of which are actively sponsoring CKC licensed field trials, booster shows and Short-hair specialties. There are other breed clubs in Canada's other provinces which are also actively working to promote interest in the breed. A major problem with a country as large as ours, is that distances which separate Short-hair clubs in their various locations, make communication and inter-club competition difficult and prohibitive. As interest in the breed continues to grow, no doubt many other Short-hair clubs will come into existence, which will fill in the gaps between major areas, so that in time there will be a whole string of clubs from coast to coast.

One may gain the impression from the preceding paragraphs that all is going well with the Short-hair in Canada. Unfortunately such is not the case. For several years now it has become increasingly apparent to those who know and love the breed that many of the dogs bred here are vastly inferior to those imported from Germany. This is evidenced by many conformation defects, failure of some dogs to perform in the field and dogs displaying shyness, viciousness and other temperamental defects. Most European imports surpass domestic strains in all respects.

It has to be freely admitted that there are some exceptional and outstanding dogs currently being campaigned in the field trials and show rings around the country, but the sad thing about it, is the fact that these dogs are the exception and not the rule. The average Short-hair falls far below European standards. When one compares the average domestic dog to the average import one receives a rather rude awakening to the fact that most domestic dogs rank far below their German cousins.

Every year breeders and fanciers import more and more breeding stock which are then crossed with domestic strains, but a wholesale improvement fails to take place. Why? Because after one or two generations the imported quality has been lost or watered down to the degree where the expected results exist only as a theory on the pedigree papers of the progeny, obviously something went wrong. All too often we are inclined to blame the imported dog. Or we simply shrug our shoulders and say, "well you can't expect them to send their best dogs over here". We try to lay the blame everywhere but where the blame really lies, ourselves.

You may also notice that the flow of imports is always from Europe to North America and seldom the reverse. This speaks for itself. Why do we want German dogs, and why do Germans not want our dogs? The answer is obvious.

The main reason for our failure to retain imported quality seems to be that over the years three distinct types of Short-hair have emerged in North America, due in large measure to the varied interests of breeders and owners. The three types referred to can be summed up basically as field trial dogs, show dogs and versatile hunting dogs, which latter as we all know, was the original purpose for their creation and existence as a separate breed.

The field trial specialist, who owns his Short-hair for this one purpose only is not generally concerned with conformation or temperament defects, and is prepared to overlook them providing his dog will run well in the trials. The man who shows his dog is not usually worried about his dog's failure to perform in the field, because many of today's top show dogs are never hunted. The man who simply owns his Short-hair as a hunting companion cares very little about conformation or top notch field trial ability and is prepared to overlook all manner of defects so long as his dog produces game. It can, therefore, be readily seen that all groups are partly responsible for the negligence to the written conformation and performance standards of the breed, which are supposed to apply to every animal possessing the name German Short-hair Pointer. All groups tend to emphasize only their particular area of interest, unfortunately to the degeneration and splitting of the breed.

Fortunately for us, European breeders have not lost sight of the original goals and objectives laid down so many years ago. This is why their dogs are superior to our own. Over the years and today European breeders have been virtually forced to produce dogs which measure up in all ways. It is not unheard of for a German breeder to destroy all but two of a litter and then only register one of the remainder. This care and selection has produced results for them; we should take a lesson from their experiences. Organizations such as Klub Kurzhaar and The German Hunter's Association are groups responsible for the European rules and regulations, which over the years have produced and maintained consistent standards of quality and excellence.

In any breed of dog, good quality just does not happen by chance. It is the result of a great deal of knowledge, hard work, careful selection, rigid training, and realistic rules and regulations carefully tailored to the breed, with a knowledgeable and well organized group of sincere dedicated men to back them up. In other words, a breed association. It is our hope that as current interest in our breed continues to grow in Canada there will come into existence a breed association similar to those in Germany, which by their efforts over the years have produced such enviable results.

Genetically speaking, enough good imported stock is already available to Canadian breeders. What seems to be lacking is the knowledge, proper selection, breeding techniques, rules and an overall governing body to back them up. It will only be as collectively, breeders, owners and trainers lend their dedicated support to such an association, that general overall improvement can take place in the breed as a whole.

The original Standards for the German Short-hair Pointer were written many years ago by men who truly knew what they were after in their versatile "super" dog. The qualities and abilities they desired, combined in a single animal, were as elusive then as they are now. While field trial enthusiasts go their own way, and show folks go their own way, and the third group do not really care, nothing of any real consequence can ever happen. It is our collective responsibility to preserve and protect, breed and train, to the written Standards for the breed in their entirety no matter what our private interest may be. It is high time for field trial and show folks to get together and combine their activities. The only dog better than a field trial Short-hair is a "good looking" field trial Short-hair and the only dog better than a show Short-hair is one which can "hunt" also.

Several of the top sporting breeds are today ruined almost beyond repair by breed splitting. German Short-haired Pointer breeders are in a position to stop this in our breed by taking the logical action of creating and supporting an overall governing body or association and helping to write and adopt the rules necessary to preserve and improve our breed. It is our belief this should be done independent of The Canadian Kennel Club or the American Kennel Club, as it appears these organizations are primarily responsible for what breed splitting has already occurred, by failing to insist that dogs meet minimum field or conformation Standards respectively prior to granting championship titles. This has allowed breeders to diverge from the original breed Standards and concentrate on one aspect only. The result is show dogs which cannot hunt and field dogs which look like Whippets, (no offence to Whippet fanciers intended).

It is significant that when one reviews the breed as a whole there are more dual champion Short-hairs than all other sporting breeds combined. The breed was built on dual-champions and will continue to progress on the merits of dual champions of the future. Even the most ardent field trialer recognizes that show dogs are necessary to the breed and most show folks admit that the beautiful show animal is useless if he cannot hunt. What appears to have gone wrong with domestic strains is that far too much emphasis has been placed either on performance alone or on conformation alone. What has been forgotten or neglected is a basic principle of the breed's founders, that looks and ability are supposed to be possessed by the same animal, not two different ones.

The future of the German Short-haired Pointer in Canada will be ensured if breeders will keep in mind what was originally intended. The dog is admirably suited to the Canadian environment and can handle the roughest terrain or coldest weather without hesitation. In short, he deserves to be here. We should, however, always keep in mind that dual champions are never out of style. The more there are around the better it will be for the breed. If the CKC or the AKC would adopt new approaches to their appraisement of a dog's overall merit by amending their rules, a great deal could be accomplished. For instance a field championship should never be granted to any dog which fails to demonstrate a satisfactory retrieve, on enter water, or one which has several major conformation defects. Similarly, no show dog should be awarded his bench title until after he has demonstrated satisfactory field performance. If these organizations will not cooperate in this respect, then it will be up to breeders and owners to form their own association and apply these rules. If rules such as these have done so much for the breed in the country of its origin, then obviously these rules should apply here also.

Today the German Short-haired Pointer is considered by most to be a really topnotch hunting dog. How long he will maintain this position will be up to breeders collectively, since we are the ones who are responsible for making the decisions as to which way the breed will go. Most of us who are honest about it will readily admit that we still have a long way to go before we will be satisfied with our efforts. It would be interesting to find out how many of us care enough about the breed to do something constructive about the present situation, and work towards solving the problem.

RETRIEVERS

Chesapeake Bay

Elizabeth Lavoy — Have heard it said that once in a lifetime everyone is entitled to have one dream come true. April 18, 1970 was my time. Marjory and I were at Reston, Va., a new city, a government project not yet on the map, which made it hard to find. Due to an accident we were waved down a side road and so missed the sweepstakes, which were judged first. We met Mr. E. V. Weems, who had judged the sweeps, almost at once. Besides being an all-round judge, he had been a Chesapeake breeder for many years and had very definite ideas as to what a good Chessie should look like.

Mr. Max Riddle was judging the remaining classes. He kept them moving along nicely. Although we were too far away to tell much about the individual dogs, I was struck by the uniformity of size and color. Most of the Chesapeakes were sedge, a nice medium brown. There were only a few dead grass and some dark sedge. The dark ones had a different textured coat, very glossy and very dark. They were also very neat and close to type.

There were about 65 Chesapeakes. About the time I expected to see about six dogs appear for BB selection, nearly two thirds of the whole lot were brought into the ring. It was a very large one. First they ran in circles, then each dog was run up and down the middle again, then everyone stood their dogs and waited — and waited. Having already decided which dog should be the BB and being the fidgety type, I studied my catalogue. There were 23 champions in the ring. Many of them had obedience degrees, which no doubt accounted for the patience with which they stood and waited for the judge's decision. Everyone seemed to be holding their breath, awaiting the magic words. At last Dr. Horne's Ch. Eastern Waters Brown Charger, CD was BB and Ch. Koolwaters Ange Gnu, CD, BOS.

While having punch and a lovely luncheon courtesy the Chesapeake breeders and exhibitors, we met Dr. and Mrs. Horne and family.

My face was getting hot and I realized why Mr. Weems had said that he and his sister always wore a hat to these shows. Then we had trouble finding the car. When we had arrived there were just a few cars, but now the field was full and it was easy to see how the 2400 had got there.

One of the highlights of my trip was seeing the Silverdart kennel and their lovely Chessies. Margory and Phyllis favor the dead grass color and the coats are very thick and heavy. They told me that they have shipped several pups to Alaska and have very good reports of them.

After ten days away, home and my own pack looked good to me.

SPANIELS

Brittany

Leslie Miller — I have had some response to forming the Prairie Province Brittany Club. As all clubs should be, it will be formed to promote dual qualities in our breed. I hope it eventually can hold point trials and shows and be of service in educating people about the breed. Keep that response coming to me at Box 15, Maple Creek, Sask.

I would like to express how nice I think the new tabloid form of Dogs in Canada is!

WEIMARANERS

Excerpt from Weimaraner News — [official journal of The Weimaraner Club of Great Britain, January 1971, submitted by Alastair Ford, Forge Griffham, Bt. Sussex, England.]

I have noticed with a certain amount of interest over the past year a number of cases of overshot mariners with blunt teeth.

As far as I can ascertain, it would appear to be a generally harmless state of affairs but if any of your dogs do have evidence of it I would appreciate if you could watch it and if you ever find it to let me know what happens.

It was first brought to my notice when, after scaling one of a dog's teeth on the eve of a show and finding everything under, I was dumbfounded when the judge looked up and informed me that a lower canine of the dog's teeth was dead. Sure enough the previously beautifully formed ivory tusk was now a peculiar shade of violet. Now it is true to say that in humans, as a general rule, when the tooth discolors to this extent it is a sign that the tooth is dead.

There are, it is fair to point out, other conditions which bring this but they are all quite rare (but then so is the Weimaraner) and in humans, the most frequent cause of discoloration of a tooth is decomposition product formed from red blood corpuscles that have usually brought about by conditions that produce a very rapid peraemia of the pulp causing hemolism with extravasation of the blood corpuscles. Or to put it in other way, after a blow on the tooth, a bruise forms within the centre of the tooth which causes the blue color.

The tooth usually dies, forming an abscess and then either has to be extracted or root treated.

Naturally therefore, I have visions of an early extraction or possibly a root treatment. Having filled a dog's tooth before and also done a partial root treatment I had grave doubts about going the whole hog. As far as I could make out by means of various tests which I hasten to add would have terrified to do on someone else's dog, the tooth was still vital. I decided to leave well alone and see further developments.

I did not have to wait long — three weeks later the hopelessly pink tooth turned blue. I was beginning to get worried and began to make a few discreet enquiries. It turns out that there are a few who have knowledge at least four dogs at present being shown in the U.K. who show this strange phenomenon but perhaps the most interesting feature is that in all cases the tooth color is gradually returning to normal. So far, I believe no extractions have been necessary. I would be interested to hear if in fact anyone has had to have it done.

I have not as yet been able to determine if this discoloration is common in all dogs or just in the breed. Perhaps some of our members can advise on this point. One thing I have established is that after checking the pedigree of the dogs concerned do not be misled that this is a hereditary defect. Perhaps I should not be pessimistic on this point because geneticists would have us believe that even the way in which we wipe our noses depends on our parents.

If ever I find out the reason for this defect, if that is the correct term, I shall let the Editor know immediately.

DREVERS

R.M. Thompson, Alpat Kennels, Uxbridge, Ont., breeders of the Swedish Drever Hound, has recently added two new bloodlines to their breeding stock. They are a male, Harkilas Bos III, and a female, Harkilas Ana II, who

...ased from Lennart Davids-...Harkilas Kennels, Satila, ...through the Swedish Ken... Stockholm, Sweden. Mr. ...Swedrup, Secretary General ...Swedish Kennel Club advis... that Harkilas Kennels are top ...dets of the Drever in Sweden ...the animals supplied are ...specimens of the breed. Af... trans-atlantic flight a very ...weary, perplexed pair of ...Bus and Ana arrived at ...Airport on February 9 at ...p.m.

Since that date both animals ...completely adjusted to their ...Canadian surroundings and ...made added pleasure to their ...owners. Both puppies are de... favorably as fine speci... of the breed well within the ...Standards.

The Drever was first introduced ...Canada in 1954 by Dr. C. H. D. ..., Chief of the Fish and Wildlife Branch, Department of Lands and Forests, Ontario and Dr. Alan ...Secord of the Secord Animal ...Clinic, Toronto. At that time three ...animals, a male and two females ...were imported. Alpat Kennels began breeding from progenies of these original imports and two animals, an unrelated male and a female, also imported from Sweden in 1966. Puppies from these breedings have been sold in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. Many new owners have revealed through correspondence, their delight in owning a desirable pet and agile hunter wrapped up in one compact parcel in the form of a dog.

IRISH WOLFHOUNDS

Mrs. R. Ide, Val Roche — The Irish Wolfhound Club of Canada has been born. It has been a long time coming but at last we have a breed club for Irish Wolfhound fanciers.

The 1971 executive merges the experience of President James G. Reynolds, Vice-Presidents Mrs. Wm. R. Morrison and Mrs. A. H. Lee, Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Ide, Val Roche, Castleborn Kennels, Sweet Meadows Farm, Box 6, Newington, Ont., and Directors Mrs. John Scarlett, Mrs. J. Sikora, Mrs. Barbara Daley, G. Laughton and Allan Fournier.

The club was organized in an effort to meet the growing needs and requests of Irish Wolfhound fanciers across Canada, for an informed and dedicated group of people whose ultimate goal is to upgrade the breed in Canada.

We will endeavor to accomplish this through the encouragement of good breeding practices to educate and hopefully prevent exploitation;

—through educational articles, talks and seminars provided by professionals in such fields as nutrition and development in Irish Wolfhounds, genetics and hereditary factors common to our breed and others, kennel facilities and management, showing, handling and grooming;

—through an open exchange of constructive ideas and experience between breeders, owners and fanciers, to be published in our monthly club bulletin;

—through the support of our first booster shows.

These are just a few of the things that we need right now! Your Executive have pledged much of their time and efforts to realizing as many of these goals as possible — but we will need your support. It has to be a team effort. We are a young club, open to new ideas and suggestions. Your letters of enquiry will be welcomed and we look forward to meeting with and hearing from as many IW fanciers as we can this season. Membership forms and any additional information may be obtained by writing the club secretary.

Jan Morden — Each season sees more and more of this magnificant breed appearing and we understand that the newly-formed breed club is making plans to hold its first booster in the fall. For hound enthusiasts everywhere, Dog is pleased to reprint the following LIST OF POINTS IN ORDER OF MERIT as published in The Irish Wolfhound Club Year Book 1967-68-69:

1. Typical. The Irish Wolfhound should not be quite so heavy or massive as the Great Dane, but more so than the Deerhound, which in general type he should otherwise resemble.
2. Great size and commanding appearance.
3. Movements easy and active.
4. Head long and level, carried high.
5. Forelegs heavily boned, quite straight; elbows well set under.
6. Thighs long and muscular; second thighs well muscled, stifles slightly bent.
7. Coat rough and hard, specially wiry and long over eyes and under jaw.
8. Body long, well ribbed up, with ribs well sprung and great breadth across hips.
9. Loins arched, belly well drawn up.
10. Ears small, with Greyhound-like carriage.
11. Feet moderately large and round, toes close, well arched.
12. Neck long, well arched and very strong.
13. Chest very deep, moderately broad.
14. Shoulders muscular, set sloping.
15. Tail long and slightly curved.
16. Eyes dark.

Note: — The above in no way alters the "Standard of Excellence", which must in all cases be rigidly adhered to; they simply give the various points in order of merit. If in any case they appear at variance with Standard of Excellence, it is the latter which is correct.

RHODESIAN RIDGEBACKS

Alice Sinclair — The Rhodesian Ridgeback Club of the United States has received a letter from the AKC stating that after December 31, 1971, Ridgebacks whose pedigree to the third generation shows any ancestor registered only with the Kennel Union of South Africa, will not be acceptable for registration with the AKC.

I quote the paragraph that affects Canadians: "This means that Rhodesian Ridgebacks whelped in other countries, such as England (or Canada), and registered with the Kennel Club in London, (or CKC) will not be eligible for AKC registration if imported into the USA, if any of the dogs in a three generation pedigree is registered only with the KUSA."

Check your dogs' pedigrees now. If any of them have third generation ancestors registered only with KUSA, they can never be registered or shown in the US. Worse still, if any of them have first or second generation ancestors registered only with KUSA, their progeny cannot be registered or shown in the US.

Write the AKC, 51 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10010, for application forms. The fee is $5 (US) and they will accept a photocopy of your dog's CKC registration, if you copy both sides of the form. I'm sorry, I don't know if they will accept litter registrations.

SALUKIS

Carole Adley — The Standard of Points for the Saluki, used in the U.S.A. and Canada, is that drawn up by and approved by the British Saluki or Gazelle Hound Club. In 1970 the British club published a booklet for breeders and judges with some notes to augment and clarify the Standard, as follows:

"Points the Saluki Club would ask judges to note in the interest of the breed.

Type! Almost alone among the breeds Salukis vary enormously in type and each type is correct. The reason is the special place held by the Saluki in the Arab tradition and the immense size of the Middle East area which has had the Saluki as a hound of the chase. Originally each tribe had the Saluki best suited for hunting the particular game in its own country, but by tradition, which still holds good in the Middle East, Salukis are not bought or sold but presented as marks of honor. It follows that those presented to Europeans and brought to this country have come from a wide variation of terrain and climate and vary accordingly. The Standard has been drawn up to cover all types and confronted by a variety of types in the show ring a judge must make his selection on the Standard of points and soundness of conformation.

Head — Should not be domed or Borzoi type.

Nose — Liver or black. Attention should be called to the fact of liver being a dark reddish brown. Clearly liver should not be penalised.

Ears — Note here the leather of the ear should be of such length that when brought forward (not pulled) the bottom tip should reach the corner of the dog's mouth. Provided the ear is covered with silky hair which may grow only from the top half the standard is complied with but longer hair is also correct.

Eyes — Bright, large and oval are the points stressed.

Teeth — Strong and even with a good scissor bite.

Neck — Long, supple and well muscled but not thick.

Chest — The chest when viewed from the front should not be an inverted "V".

Forequarters — Shoulders sloping and set well back, well muscled without being coarse. A sloping shoulder is important for the angle it makes with the upper arm or humerus.

Hindquarters — Note the moderately bent stifle, i.e. not straight in stifle or over angulated.

Loin and Back — A fairly broad back means a moderate spring of rib, not barrel ribbed and not slab sided. A slight arch over the loin but in no way roached backed.

Feet — A Saluki characteristic is that the two middle toes of all four feet are considerably longer than the two outer toes.

Tail — A good guide to the length of tail is that the tip of the tail bone should normally reach to the hock. The importance of this is that the tail is used as a rudder when the Saluki is running at speed. Note especially here that the Standard states set on low and carried naturally in a curve. There is nothing about low carriage. A low tail set indicates the length of the pelvis as this is set more or less at the end of this important bone. The pelvis should be long and gently sloping as a powerful lever for jumping power. A too short and too steep pelvis gives a sharp cut off look to the rear, instead of the sweeping powerful spring from hip to hock which is so desirable. Normally the tail should not be carried above the line of the back except in play. The feathering at the end of the tail may give the impression of a loop when carried in a natural curve but this should not be confused with a tight ring of bone which is undesirable.

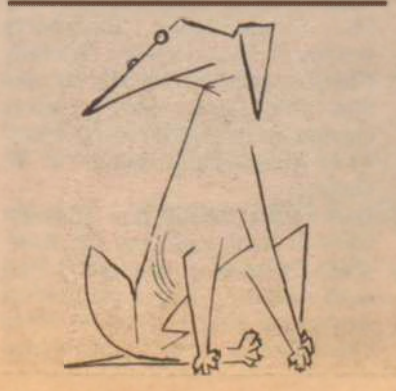

Coat — Slight feathering is often encountered on the throat. Whiskers should not be cut.

Color — Any color or combination of colors is permissible.

Weight — The wide variation in the Standard is in recognition of the fact that the Saluki comes from a vast geographical region which causes wide variations in height. It follows that a Saluki should not be penalized on account of size, provided it is within the Standard.

Movement — The movement of a Saluki is a very important characteristic of the breed. The action of a Saluki is different from that of a Greyhound. It is more springy when walking and at a trot it is more prancing. As one well-known judge put it each step should look as though it was a push-off for the next.

ed a male from Holland. "Marco" is a son of the highest-scoring police dog there and grandson of the Dutch over-all champion of working dog trials for Bouviers. He sounds a really lovely boy but had a poor welcome to Canada; a mixup by airport personnel resulted in his being lost at the airport for several hours. However, all's right now and I'm looking forward to seeing this promising dog.

I have imported a male from the du Clos des Cerberes Kennels of Edmee Bowles. "Orlando" is a silver, dark-masked son of Ch. Telstar du Clos des Cerberes out of Ch. Pallas du Clos des Cerberes. He'll be making his debut soon.

Miss Bowles is an exceptionally interesting person. While preparing the Bouvier history which will shortly appear in this column, I found her a gold mine of information. She is very helpful and as generous with her time as a very busy life allows. In her 70's, but still going strong, Miss Bowles is devoted to the breed and many top dogs have come from her kennel.

Bouvierites will be saddened to learn of the death of Ch. (Can. & Am.) Boris Van De Ouden Djik, CD, (Nikki), top-winning Bouvier in Canada in 1968. Owned by the Blandford Kennels in Michigan, Nikki had personality plus and was not only a winner but sire of winners, some of whom now reside in Canada. Death was due, I'm told, to heartworms, a horrible malady that seems to be spreading all over the States from its origin in the South.

BOXERS

Jean Grant, Thornhill, Ont., reports the following wins at Cruft's by Ch. Gaymitz Jolly Rodger offspring: 1st Post Graduate Dog, Fairbrother's Jolly Swagman; 1st Debutante Bitch, Ward-Davies' Tyngarth Talking Point of Winuwuk; 3rd Graduate Bitch, Fairbrothers Jolly Stroller. Five other bitches by Rodger are winning well, but were not entered at this show.

COLLIES/SHELTIES

Ariel Sleath, well-known breeder, judge, horsewoman and farm owner reports on the cross-country activities of these breeds. Send your news items to her direct: Sovereign Kennels, R.R. 6, Kingston, Ont. — The glamour show of this part of the country has come and gone with the special excitement that the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show always fosters. The combination of a well-run show in a beautiful building with top international competition and an appreciative audience combine to weave the magic of this prestige show.

Despite the convenience of the unbenched show for the exhibitors, the Sportsmen's Show leaves little doubt in my mind that the spectators and those interested in purchasing a pure-bred dog, would truly appreciate a few more "formal" benched shows.

Behind every one of the many show dogs entered was a brood bitch and a breeder using his talent to create. There was decision, selection and the mechanics of raising and training the offspring. Perhaps the most difficult thing to buy in this dog game, is a good proven brood bitch. If you have the money it takes, you can usually buy a winner or a top show prospect. However a good brood bitch, who has proved her "breeding ability" is worth her weight in gold to any kenne and the one fortunate enough to own her will seldom part with such a prize.

Many of the best brood bitches have been champions but such is not always the case. Many champions of both sexes fail to transmit those desirable qualities that won their points. Some great producing bitches have never been outstanding in the show ring. However, the bitch not good enough to show should not automatically become a brood bitch!

So how do we recognize a good "unproven" brood bitch? What qualities would we look for? For every breeder who thinks he has found the magic formula there is an exception to be found. Despite the exceptions, in its simplest form, there is no substitute for good line breeding in the pedigree and good quality or type in the bitch.

Whether selecting a stud or a brood bitch it is wise to avoid trends or fashions in the breed. Also avoid like the plague, breeding stock with any disqualifying or defective stock. The breed as a whole suffers greatly from the lax breeder. Fashions in dogs, like milady's apparel, are not very lasting. So by all means use your breed Standard as a guide. What does she look like? Is she a typey, showy individual or would you prefer a doggy, plainer bitch? Some do and both types have been found in the coveted "proven brood bitch" category.

I would look for a bitch with no structural faults, as I do believe these are more difficult to correct. She should have good balance, soundness and be free of the most prominent fault of that particular breed at that particular time. She should have good spring of rib and good depth. I would insist on two other qualities — good coat factor and correct ears. These two "plus" qualities go a long way. There is little enough show time for the Collie and Sheltie without having coats working against you.

Ears I consider extremely important. However, I feel much more consideration should be given to the base of the ear rather than the tip. The care given the ear while "hopeful" is developing has much to do with final carriage but a flat base is responsible for many ills. So I would be more fussy about placement and shape of the base than whether or not they were pricked. Low placement detracts so much from the expression and character. I would be absolutely uncompromising on the shape of the base of the ear. It must be rounded to provide the correct tulip shaped ear.

It seems impossible that I could have come this far in describing what I would look for in a brood bitch without mentioning the area that is most important to me in the finished product, the head. Well, I did have my reasons. My brood bitch would absolutely have to be linebred or closely bred from a good head line or she would never pass my test. She may be used in outcrosses but I would never invest in an outcross bitch for the purpose of producing winners. This, plus the fact that she should have no structural faults, as mentioned earlier, would assure us of good typey offspring with a complementary stud dog.

Last but not least, she should not be flighty, but stable and steady, so you may depend on her to be shipped to top studs and to raise those puppies you are investing so much in.

Should you own a good stud dog, the bitch would be chosen in much the same way, except she should be very, very strong where the weakness lies in the stud you are committed to. Should you be a kennel of bitches, you have more opportunity to choose the best available bitch and then select her mate from the top studs in the country.

Whether a show bitch or not, a good brood bitch always possesses good honest quality with good breeding behind her. If I had to choose between the champion outcross with insigifnicant breeding behind her and the rather plain bitch, either linebred or closely bred from a good producing line, it would be "Plain Jane" all the way. To be a successful breeder you must produce winners. You must be able to recognize and select a complementary stud for the "producer".

From Edmonton, Alta.

Jo Raymer (Mantoga Kennels) writes of the growth of the breed in Edmonton. Sheltie entries in March, 1967 EKC were seven dogs entered in the breed and none in obedience. The same show, 1971, had 19 entered in the breed and 15 in obedience.

The Shetland Sheepdog Fanciers Club in Edmonton held their first conformation match with an entry of 27, Best of Breed to Mrs. T. Paul's Pixie's Autumn Mist.

Mrs. Raymer writes of two litter brothers, Bronze and Brilliant, who are champions and obedience trial champions. A third one from this litter, Bella of Mantoga CDX, owned by Mrs. A. Galeschuk, is just starting Utility and could become the third OT champion from this litter. Quite a record!

From Mahone Bay, N.S.

Mr. Rupert Zwicker (Imperial Kennels) sends news of the Canadian Broadcasting Company making a 15-minute television program of Imperial Collies, which is being shown regionally. Mr. Zwicker left for England, Scotland and Europe March 25 for a month and planned to see some Collie kennels while there.

DOBERMAN PINSCHERS

Pat Skinker — The first Doberman Pinscher Club of Canada awards dinner, held at Valhalla Inn, Toronto, February 20, attracted about 50 members. Bill Haworth had braved storms in the Montreal area to drive down, and all the way from Thunder Bay came Susan Berst and Suzanne Doiron.

This event was the culmination of months of work by June Hurst, who had looked after the tedious job of compiling the scores and wins and had also arranged the whole dinner and dance. Unfortunately Club President Ralph Jack was unable to attend, so the awards were presented by Vice-President, Mrs. Joey Purdy, assisted by June.

The award winners are as follows:

Dog of the Year — Ch. Othello v Ahrtal (by Am. Ch. Cassio v Ahrtal ex Eucinda v Ahrtal) owned by Jack Goldberg and bred by Tess Henseler. (Trophy donated by Arabesque Reg'd).

Best Canadian Bred — Ch. Schauffelein's Troll Arabesque (by Ch. Schauffelein's Extra Special ex Ch. Midnight Glow of Arabesque) owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Purdy, bred by Arabesque Reg'd. (Trophy donated by Mr. W. Beckley).

Best of Opposite Sex to Dog of the Year — Ch. Ashuniong's Heidi (by Am. Ch. Highbriar Minos ex Ch. Bonnie v Mannerheim Nagidrac) owned by Giles Pouliot, bred by Harold Butler and Dr. W. Shute. (Trophy donated by Jack Goldberg, Thaeburg Reg'd).

Sire of the Year — the late Ch. Schauffelein's Extra Special (by Ch. Schauffelein's Blackberry Brandy ex Schauffelein's Specially Fancy) owned and bred by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Purdy. Sire of seven champions in 1970. (Trophy donated by Mannerheim Reg'd, Dr. W. Shute).

Dam of the Year — Ch. Midnight Glow of Arabesque (by Ch. Kurtzhaus Thunder ex Quinesta's Twilight Fantasy) owned and bred by Arabesque Reg'd. Dam of three champions in 1970. (Trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ron Schauffelein Reg'd.)

Breeder of the Year — Mrs. Berst, Pyrmont Reg'd. Breeder of four Champions finished. (Trophy donated by Mrs. Boland, Kaukauna Reg'd).

Puppy of the Year — Ch. Gillen's Thor (by Ch. Kurtzhaus Thunder ex Moonlight-Haven's Malena) owned and bred by Mrs. John Hill. (Trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. Barry Nobelin Reg'd).

Obedience Dog of the Year — Wrath's Apolda Blunderbuss CDX, Bda. CD (by Ch. Bramar Argonaut CD ex OT Ch. Stormy Rebel UD) owned and bred by Mr. and Mrs. John Key. Average score 198/200. (Trophy donated by Mrs. Susan Berst, Pyrmont Reg'd).

Highest Scoring Dog Complete CD — Ch. Pyrmont Botawna Palos CD (by Ch. & OT Ch. Berst's Palos v Hoyt UD ex Ch. Sirrahwald CD) owned by Suzanne Doiron and Mrs. Susan Berst, bred by Mrs. Berst and trained by Suzanne Doiron earned her CD degree with an average of 196/200. (Trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. John Blenkey, Wrath Reg'd).

Highest Scoring Dog Complete CDX — Wrath's Apolda Blunderbuss, Can. CDX, Bada CD was trained by John Blenkey earned her CDX degree with an average of 198/200. (Trophy donated by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Lowbrau Reg'd).

Highest Scoring Dog in UD — Ch. Lorric's Kosharé UD (by Ch. Kaukauna's Journeyman Ebenbouie Cloche) owned by Ida Silverman, bred by Max Magee. Average score of 191/200.

Forty-two Dobes received their Championships in 1970. Of these belonged to club members.

Second place for leading dog was a tie between two dogs who produced three champions each. Ch. & OT Ch. Berst's Palos Hoyt UD and Ch. Tedel's Touch. Two dogs produced champions each: the late Ch. Kurtzhaus Thunder and Ch. Toledobe's Linebacker.

In second place for breeder of the year, with three champions was Arabesque Reg'd (Hall and Simone LeBrun).

Twenty-nine obedience degrees were earned by Dobermans in Canada in 1970, six only of which owned by club members. There were 24 dogs earning CD, 3 earning CDX and two earning UD.

A special award was made to Bill Haworth and his Dobe Ch. Sugar Kandy Kane CD in part that Kandy played in the capture of two armed bank bandits last September. This made front page news and received widespread newspaper coverage in the Montreal area and resulted in excellent publicity for our breed. It was felt by members that a special award should be given by the DPCC and this took the form of a framed citation which Bill appeared to be overjoyed at receiving.

GREAT DANES

Mrs. E. McKeown — The Metropolitan Great Dane Club held an impressive specialty show in conjunction with the Sportsmen Shows, March 27. Judge Heywood Hartley.

This year the Great Dane Club of Canada wants an active membership, so the club's meetings are now divided into business and functional. Education is the subjects dealing with breeding, showing and the health of Danes, with refreshments served during a chatting session.

Our February meeting was an interesting. Mr. showed movies of Ch. Bella Dane, Bart Spanish Dane, Nandanes Tamara, Deacons Golden Fury and were younger dogs. Next an informative film of Kennels taken 16 years ago harlequin lovers, shots of mous Graft Dane's Hunt round out the evening.

terriers

Barbara Pierie, a diligent and enthusiastic reporter, writes on all breeds in the Terrier Group. Send news items directly to her at 58 Wolfrey Ave., Toronto.

Well, the Sportsmen's Shows have come and gone once again and it was another good year for Group IV. The Terrier Breeder's booster show drew an entry of 140, with all breeds with the ex- ception of the Border and Nor- wich represented. The Airedale specialty attracted an entry of 24, the National Westie Club had an entry of 20 and the Bull Terrier Booster drew an entry of 11. Un- fortunately didn't have the oppor- tunity to see the Westie or the BT shows, but I'm sure they were excellent. I did, however, see the Airedale specialty and I must compliment them on their turnout, their trophies (all of which were mounted with an Aire- dale figurine) and their sports- manship. They really seemed con- cerned for their fellow exhibitor — pleased when someone won and disappointed over the others' losses.

Some-time after the judging I was in conversation with a young couple, rather new to the breed and you can just imagine my amazement when they said they had just approached a breeder in search of a stud dog for their bitch and after studying the pedigree he suggested another exhibitor's dog would better fit this particular bitch's bloodlines. If all clubs could work together with this type of cooperation, wouldn't it be a wonderful world!

We had some charming newcomers to the Sportsmen's Shows this year from the West in the persons of Dirk and Shirley Schmidt and Jean Jones from Calgary. Both they and their dogs made quite an impression! Sometimes I have the feeling that we in the East get just a bit smug about our Terriers . . . the Western ones couldn't possibly be as good or, heaven forbid, even better. Well, I can tell you, this threesome gave us all something to think about. It was a long trip, especially in a Datsun, but we'll hope to see them back another year and if they can make it in this direction, surely we can make it in theirs?

BULL TERRIERS

Now to ye olde newsbagge and the Bull Terrier Club. Wow, do they have big plans for this year! Their next booster will be held in conjunction with the Terrier Breeder's show in June, at which time they plan to hold the regional competition for dogs eligible to compete in the North American Bull Terrier Championship to be held in California this year. This competition will be held outdoors after the regular show.

The next booster will be held with the Greenwood show in August at which time the presentation of the Haymarket Faultless perpetual trophy will be made to the BB dog or bitch (club members only are eligible). This trophy, a large replica of Ch. Haymarket Faultless, was donated by Mrs. Girouard of Ottawa to honor the only Canadian-bred and owned BT ever to take BIS at Westminster.

As you all know Greenwood is to be held at the Gardens this year (Maple Leaf that is) so it's a real showcase for this first presentation.

KERRY BLUE TERRIERS

We have a new American Kerry import in our midst, a little gal by the name of Aodair's Chances are Reenie. She's a Chance's Are pup and is owned by Mrs. Doreen Fletcher.

Casey Gardiner had some very pleasant news from the Detroit show. In an entry of 17 her bitch, Ch. Kerrycroft's Renegade Kathleen took WB and BW. Still with Kerries and a very flattering invitation for Larry Langley, who has been invited by the USKBTC to judge the Puppy Sweeps at their winter specialty in New York.

These Kerry people really get around. Good luck, Larry and I admire your courage. This I really mean as after my one and only (ever, ever, ever) judging assignment at a sanction match some six years ago, I'm still known as the "Teeth and Testicles Woman". Once I got in the ring I could not remember one single, solitary word of any Standard (which I had studied diligently for weeks). I didn't know whether I was judging a Great Dane or a Cairn, but whatever it was I had T and T!

WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIERS

Good news for Gerald Croft. At the Hamilton sanction match Pam Running gave him the breed and 1st in Group with his puppy bitch, Elgercroft's Chromatic Sheena. He repeated this win at the CWHWT match under a gentleman I know rather well, Ross Pirrie. We'll look forward to seeing more of this little gal.

You all know that Ab Kaye has not been well for some time, well he's home now and recovering beautifully, but he was badly hit by the death of his beautiful Go Go girl. Luckily with a great deal of tender loving care, Muriel and he have been able to nurse along a little bitch from the litter, so there's hope that we'll see Go Jr. in the ring next fall.

Did you know that we've a new Terrier Club in the area? This is the Rideau Club, last fall and already they've their first specialty set for summer in conjunction with a Kars show.

All good luck to this club and let's hope they get support.

JAPANESE SPANIELS

In the March issue it was incorrectly stated that Valleja's of Sutton, Que. "formerly was devoted to Japanese Spaniels, recently acquired a French bulldog." Mrs. Whitford's note stated, "Our kennel until now devoted entirely to Toys."

PEKINGESE

Re-Hil-Va's Rita Ch. an 11 month-old female Pekingese puppy shown in two sanctioned shows, received two First Prize ribbons, one Winners ribbon and BCB Puppy in Breed, "plus a glass statuette which resembles Phillies," writes Connie Bark, Hamilton, Ont. Owners of the bitch are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook also of Hamilton.

TOY POODLES

Mrs. Mavis Dustow of Sunset Poodles, Edmonton, Alta. left Toronto March 23 to accept the annual award of the Poodle Improvement Association for Top Toy Poodle (All Varieties) Canada owned, for 1970. Honored was the chocolate toy female Ch. Sunbridge Springpould Emma.

It is not that we don't have good dogs here — we have in most breeds — but we have become used to an easy, almost effortless certainty that in time "Popsy's" championship is inevitable. Just where is the challenge or the prestige?

Before your wrath descends, let me quote a few instances in my own breed, Basset Hounds. Recently an American male Basset won a three point win, four of its sex being defeated. It was hopelessly unsound in front, knuckling over badly in its forelegs — a disqualification in our breed — but we learned afterwards that it had completed its Canadian championship that day. This dog would never have a hope of an American conformation title, yet there he is sporting Canadian champion before his name. How this owner's friends back home must have talked. I foresee quite an invasion of also-rans as good as "so and so"! Then take the case of another Basset shown when there was no competition at all in its sex. It was a lean, undeveloped hound with a poor front and definitely not champion calibre, so much so that at one show short of a point for its championship, it was disqualified by a leading hound authority. One would have thought that a disqualification for unsoundness would have been unsurmountable, but no, the dog was shown again and now has its championship!

Bassets, I'm sure are not alone in the annals of the "Boo-Boos of Bygone Years"!—what a best seller that would be for not only does the present system upgrade the poor specimens but it downgrades the worthy ones as well. Surely some urgent action is required. The majority of us loathe the complainers among us who lodge their deposits and rip their rivals' dog to pieces.

What then can be done? Firstly, in my opinion, a much more critical opinion from the judges is needed with very strong emphasis on all disqualification points in each breed, then a considerable revision of our points system and a much more active approach from the breed clubs in the form of a selected deputation to the CKC if and when objections are necessary to blast wide open any incidents of poor judging. I feel that until the time comes when entries at shows are vastly increased, bringing with it high quality exhibits in greater numbers, a much more drastic weeding out approach is needed in the present show system. Otherwise could it be a case of "champions all"?

SAD "AD"...

the Society for Animals in Distress

YOU COULD HELP IT SPELL HAPPINESS.

This concerns you and everyone of us who cares about what happens to strays — dogs, cats, the hapless ones — who, with your help, needn't be the helpless ones.

SAD is dedicated to these clear-cut objectives:

- To provide sanctuary and succor for animals in distress
- To discourage the killing of animals for pleasure
- To encourage the use of artificial furs rather than natural skins
- To discourage the use of any animal for medical research who has not been specifically bred for the purpose and who has not known exclusively a clinical environment, and to insist that any laboratorial experiment involving the use of an animal is conducted without distress to the animal.
- To discourage the indiscriminate breeding of pets
- To encourage the credo of reverence for life.

Animals may be adopted by way of application and agreement to adhere to specific terms and conditions which ensure continuing care of the animal in their new home.

More thoughts about bites prompted by American friends

by H. MALCOLM STEPHENS

This provocative (we hope outburst has been prompted by some American friends who very kindly sent me their version of a proposed revision of the standard for one of the rarer breeds of hounds. I liked the standard as proposed very much except for one item which I quote, "The bite is level, scissors or reverse scissors."

Reverse scissors presumably is a euphemism for a slightly undershot jaw. By way of explanation my friend states that nowhere in the literature is the bite mentioned and the bite specified is suitable to the function for which the hound was bred. Having watched my various Poodle friends anxiously checking their puppies to see if they were going to be undershot my reaction to the suggestion quoted above was prompt and sharp.

Some breed standards provide for undershot bites. These, however, are restricted to those with wide or brachycephalic skulls. Most puppies are born with heads which are almost square. The long-headed breeds grow in length of head at a rate greater than the rate of growth of the head in width. This gives us our dolichocephalic heads which are roughly three times as long as wide and the more common mesaticephalic heads which are roughly twice as long as wide. The short-faced breeds however grow in length at roughly the same rate as they grow in width of skull.

With this rate of skull growth, however, the lower jaw frequently grows slightly faster than the upper and as a result the lower incisors fall ahead of the upper incisors. This is undershot jaw shown in B.

C. R. Stockard in his 1941 work with the rather formidible title, the genetic and endocrinic basis in form and behavior as elucidated by studies of contrasted pure line breeds and their hybrids, has published some findings which are significant. Various short-faced breeds such as Bulldogs, Pekingese and Brussels Griffons were crossed with breeds of normal head shape. It was found that while the results varied according to the various breeds crossed, in general the short-faced type had a strong influence on F1 (the first generation hybrids) although it was not dominant. In most cases the F1 pups were less uniform in skull type than in other characteristics such as length of leg. The length of the upper and lower jaws was inherited independently so that in these crosses, especially the F2s (the second generation crosses), many instances of overshot and undershot jaw occurred, sometimes to an extreme degree. Backcrossing to the more normal-skulled parent gave uniformly normal-skulled litters. Backcrossing to Bulldog types gave a wide variation in the puppies.

Stockard was not particularly concerned about bites as such and his comments say nothing specific about the inheritance. It is possible to make a few empirical deductions and ask you as dog breeders to comment from your observations which may either refute or support such deductions. The fact that the F1 crosses were very mixed up in head shapes (including bites) indicates that there is a strong possibility that some of the normal-headed parents were carrying a recessive gene for short heads. This recessiveness is confirmed when the F1 progeny were crossed back to normal-headed parents.

In those breeds where the standard calls for a level bite we frequently find the problem of undershot pups in a litter from parents with level or nearly level bites. Sometimes we in our Kennel blindness are guilty of considering almost level as level and breeding from it. If the specimen is in fact undershot and as indicated by our conclusion from Stockard's work undershot is recessive, we are just compounding our troubles for many generations to come.

The frequency of undershot mouths in Poodles supported by their regular occurrence in Afghans gives a lot of support to the conclusion that many of breeds, particularly those standards call for a level have specimens in their ground which when doubled particular mating will give undershot mouths in the litter.

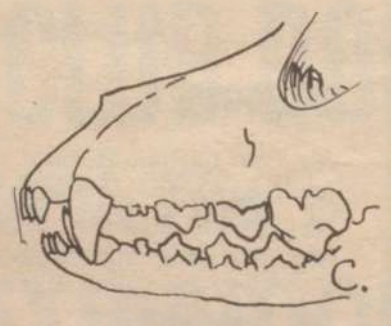

Those of you in breed with mal heads should be very scious of this problem aware if your breed standard for a level bite. There are breed standards which level teeth when this means across and not level with to the teeth in the opposite Then there are those sta where no mention of made. Here the problem as bad. I recall judging a show where I had a large a Tibetan breed and was at the variety of mouths tain that some of them nothing but mush.

I suggest therefore breed standards which level bite be re-examined breeders in these breeds selves if this is what they want. I suggest that all or normal-headed breeds men with a bite which slightest suspicion of being shot should be bred from in my opinion very strong that the condition of jaws in long-headed breeds cessive and like all recessive acteristics may crop up generations. Any reader views to the contrary to comment.

C — Overshot bite

Overseas demand growing for Miniature Schnauzers

NEW YORK — Terrier breeders have long looked to Great Britain as a source of quality breeding stock and many of the great show terriers on this continent are British imports. It was, therefore, interesting to talk with state-side breeders of Miniature Schnauzers at their New York Specialty and learn that in this breed the trend is reversed. Many of them said they were currently trying to breed quality specimens suitable for export to England. They explain the 'try' because in the U.S. ear carriage and shape is of little significance because cropping allows them to trim the ear to suit the dog. They are just now realizing how far from satisfactory most MS ears would appear were they left uncropped. At Cruft's 1971 Dog Show both the CC winners were littermates sired by an American import as was also the Reserve CC male — all with attractive uncropped ears. A noteworthy selling point current in breed advertising in Great Britain proclaims "true American type". J.M.

SCRAPBOOK

A little ruthless laughter clears the air as nothing else can do; it is good for us, every now and then, to see our ideals laughed at, our conception of nobility caricatured; it is good for solemnity's nose to be tweaked, for human pomposity to be made to look ridiculous."

—Aldous Huxley

"Yes, well your story pleads the cause
Of those dumb mouths that have no speech,
Only a cry from each to each
In its own kind, with its own laws;
Something that is beyond the reach
Of human power to learn or teach,
An inarticulate moan of pain,
Like the immeasurable main
Breaking upon an unknown beach."

(Interlude, The Bell of Atri, by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow)

A Compassionate Deception

I WAS JUST past the dinner hour and I was sitting in the lobby of the Hotel Adolphus in Dallas, glancing through the evening paper. Someone crossed the beam of the photoelectric eye and the front door swung open. A police dog walked through the entrance, guiding a young lady wearing dark glasses. She paused uncertainly a few feet from the desk and stood there a moment until the clerk called, "This is the desk clerk, miss. May I help you?"

The young lady moved forward until the dog stepped with his nose a few inches from the desk. "I'd like a room, please," she said softly.

"I'm sorry," the clerk said with genuine Hotteron courtesy, "but we do not allow animals here. Perhaps you could leave him with someone?"

"I don't know anyone here," she replied. "And besides, I need him with me."

"Well," the clerk hesitated, "if you'd keep him in your room . . . ."

"Oh I will," she said quickly.

About an hour later I took the elevator upstairs. I was surprised to meet the same young lady in the hall without her dog and minus the dark glasses. She gave an involuntary gasp, then smiled.

"You probably think I'm an awful fraud," she laughed, "but I just had to get Rugo in somehow. I couldn't leave him alone here with strangers. He's a war veteran, you see. He's blind."

IF ONLY—?

If only my dog had stood on the Stand
When I gave him the signal, a move of one hand
If only he'd stayed on the one-minute Sit
Instead of deciding 50 seconds was "it".
A Figure Eight perfect, I almost could boast
If only he'd gone around that other post.
If only he'd dropped on the Signal I gave
And not when he saw that spectator wave.
The Retrieve on the Flat, he knew just what to do,
If only he'd brought back that dumbbell I threw.
The High Jump Retrieve, only one thing he lacked—
And that was the dumbbell he didn't bring back.
On the Broad Jump, if only he'd jumped all the way
And not tiptoed between, to my utter dismay
When I signalled the glove, it was there in plain sight—
If only he'd gone for the glove on the right
His Go-Out was perfect, he went just so far—
If only he hadn't both times jumped the bar
We'd have had a two hundred—he could do everything—
If only he hadn't run out of the ring!

While not overly strong on photographic quality the submission of Mrs. Ann Fulton of High Prairie, Alta. won this month's photo contest because of the excellent, candid example of the patience of a dog with a child. Mrs. Fulton's daughter Jody Ann is completely engrossed in cutting Judy's Erin's toenails, no doubt improving her bird dog qualities.

Send in your favorite photograph to become eligible to win a Polaroid black and white/color camera. Prize for repeat winners is a book of their choice from Dogs in Canada's book list. Must have been taken by yourself. All photos become the property of Dogs in Canada unless accompanied by stamped self-addressed return envelope. Publishers are not responsible for any loss or damage to the photographs. Entries will be judged on the basis of unusual situation for human interest and overall photographic quality. Address entries attention of Photo Contest Editor. Monthly deadline for receipt of entries is first of month preceding issue date.

BARK-A-WORD

Jo Ouellet

HOW TO DO IT: The trick is to find the hidden word. To do so you'll have to first locate all the listed words. You'll find these words in the grill spelled out horizontally, vertically or diagonally either forwards or backwards. Once located you encircle each letter of the word in the grill then cross it off the list. Don't bother to cross any letter because it might be also involved in another word going in another direction. Just encircle each one. When you've located all the listed words in the grill you'll be left with the given number of letters as indicated for the solution. This will be your BARK-A-WORD.

Last month's answer—DEMONSTRATION

Dog fancier: "Do you believe in clubs for dogs?"
Newcomer: "Heavens, no! I adore dogs!"

Owner to over-exuberant Boxer: "Come on, Buddy, wear yourself out. Come on, boy, wear yourself out."

Getting quite frantic, anxious exhibitor to wife: "For Pete's sake, aren't you ready to leave? We go in the ring at 10 o'clock."
Wife, calmly: "Just be quiet. I've been telling you for the last hour I'll be ready in a minute."

"SOON "HOMER" HAS COMPLETED A RAPID OBEDIENCE SCHOOL. HE LOOKS AT IT AS EXTRA--CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES."

BACK TALK

"Good work of breed pioneers at stake," say Mr. and Mrs. William Gottschalk, Cosburn Reg'd. Miniature Schnauzers; "breeders must stay conscious of the welfare of the breed in the face of rising popularity."

Bill and Ethel Gottschalk live quietly these days but it was not so many years ago that their dogs were forces to be reckoned with in the show ring in both Canada and the United States. Under the kennel prefix Cosburn their homebred Miniature Schnauzers were consistent breed winners and scored well in the open classes at dog shows. Several Best In Show trophies are among the beautiful mementoes that overflow the display cabinets in their West Hill, Ont., home. Often seen at ringside, the Gottschalks retain a lively interest in their favorite breeds. Ethel is licensed to judge Groups IV, V and VI in Canada and is a frequent judge of Miniature Schnauzers in the U.S. They are both active members of the Miniature Schnauzer Club of Canada and maintain a small kennel of breeding stock. Nowadays this activity too is limited and they average about two litters a year. An unfortunate accident four years ago has prevented Mr. Gottschalk from actively exhibiting in the show ring. But both the Gottschalks take vicarious enjoyment from the accomplishments of the descendents of their great homebreds Am. Ch. Cosburn's Esquire and Am. Ch. Cosburn's Aristocrat both figure prominently in the pedigrees of many of today's outstanding winners, a fact of which Canadian dogdom can be extremely proud.

Bill Gottschalk attended his first Canadian dog show as a newspaper reporter for the Guelph Mercury. This was the Guelph Kennel Club Show, the year 1920. His interest in dogs increased and over the years he has been successfully associated with a number of breeds. But it is with Miniature Schnauzers that the Gottschalks have become most closely identified.

They became members of The American Miniature Schnauzer Club in 1947 when the membership totalled only 40. Today's roster numbers more than 450.

They both agree that one of the best dogs of the breed to have been shown in Canada was Ch. Benrook Beau Brummell, an American bred which they owned, a son of the great Ch. Dorem Display. But on the question of which dog contributed most to the breed in Canada opinion was divided. Ethel favors "Beau" but Bill thinks the credit should go to a bitch, Lisa V. Kleinwald, whelped in 1948.

The story of the acquisition of Lisa has to be unique. It seems the Gottschalks and the late great Ted Ward attended a Buffalo dog show together. There they saw two of Lisa's daughters in the ring. They liked both of them very much but the one that caught their eye more placed second to her sister. They expressed an interest in buying her but were told that the owner would like to sell both the bitch puppy and her mother. This created a slight problem because of wartime U.S. dollar restrictions. So while the Gottschalks pondered possibilities, Ted Ward struck a bargain. For the down payment of $10, the balance to be payable when and how it could be arranged, the bitch puppy and her mother became the Gottschalks' property. It was a purchase they would never regret. Later that year the puppy, who became registered as Cosburn's Sweet Tribute won Best In Show at the Exhibition when she was just ten months of age. And the mother Lisa enjoyed a fabulous career as a producer. Although she was not considered of show calibre, her progeny proved her quality. She was bred to a number of stud dogs and in each of her litters had one or more outstanding puppies. Through Lisa came Aristocrat and Admiration, the latter the sire of Esquire who became the cornerstone of many great bloodlines. The 1971 Best of Winners at the New York Specialty was a closely linebred Esquire grandson.

Mrs. Gottschalk was a member of the committee which drafted the breed standard in 1958 which has been in use in both Canada and the U.S. since that date. Both the Gottschalks agree that it fits the Miniature Schnauzer of today. They would like to see just two revisions. One would be the inclusion of a height differential between the sexes. The other would be a change in eye size from the present "small to medium" because, as they point out, breeding for the smaller eye could lead to problems such as entropion and very few specimens do have a truly small eye. They both agree that the Miniature Schnauzer's feet could stand a lot of improvement. But the greatest fault they find in dogs being shown today is lack of substance. Contrariwise they abhor any tendency towards coarseness. They feel that breeders should aim towards a balance. As the late English judge McDonald Daley phrased it when describing one of the Gottschalk's dogs "I rarely see a dog which is elegant and yet robust, with no trace of coarseness — a real accomplishment."

Generally the Gottschalks say, the Miniature Schnauzers in the ring today are vastly improved over specimens of 25 years ago. Formerly there would be perhaps one or two outstanding dogs and the rest were mediocre. Nowadays there are good ones everywhere. Exhibitors, they say, used to attend the shows to publicize the breed rather than win. Today the Gottschalks think shows have much too strong a commercial aspect; shows are not as much fun nor as friendly as they used to be. They also prefer the benched to the unbenched show. The Gottschalks used to show their dogs from the midwest through to the Atlantic coast in both the U.S.A. and Canada. They recall great holidays when competent help was available and they would be able to take off with four or five show dogs for a long weekend. Nowadays, even if they were so inclined, they think the cost and work of the three-show weekend would make it something less than a holiday. They also think that too many shows tend to cheapen a title. In the old days, fewer shows meant larger entries and a Best of Breed was a very satisfactory win.

Over the years Miniature Schnauzers have increased enormously in popularity. When the Gottschalks first became interested in the breed, they ranked about 105 in registrations. Last year, they say, they ranked in fifth place and were threatening to take over number four. Such popularity is well deserved, they think. The breed is clean, small, attractive, hardy and of good temperament generally. However, they think that far too many people are breeding far too many puppies indiscriminantly. They warn that popularity often spells the downfall of a breed and they are fearful that this will happen to Miniature Schnauzers. Too often, the Gottschalks say, breeders become over-confident in their ability to predict the outcome of matings. Many mismatches occur. Faults can be picked up and reinforced which eventually destroy the years of study, heartbreak and hard work of the dedicated breed pioneers. The Gottschalks say that today's breeders must be careful or they will be in trouble. That they should be conscious of the welfare of the breed instead of producing just to meet the increasing demand for puppies.

One of the best things about their dogs, say the Gottschalks, is that it has been a hobby they have been able to enjoy together. Although they are not as active in the sport as they once were, they can reminisce about their great wins together. After all, with cabinet after cabinet filled with beautiful trophies to remind them, it would be pretty difficult to forget. — Joan Morden.

Bill Gottschalk with a winning Miniature Schnauzer was a familiar sight in the showring for many years.

New clubs forming in Newfoundland

by MEGAN NUTBEEM

HARBOUR GRACE, NFLD. — The Gander Kennel Club is now being formed by a group of interested pure-bred dog owners in Gander. They should be able to draw from the town of Grand Falls as well and have the potential for a most successful club.

We have been fortunate in having Carl Weston, a Maritimer, transferred to Newfoundland. Mr. Weston has been a keen exhibitor and organizer of field trials in the Maritimes and has done well with his own English Pointer. At the present time he is trying to form a Newfoundland Bird Dog Club to be run under CKC sanction for the many sporting dogs in this province. With the number of keen hunters here I feel that before too long we should see some interesting field trials taking place.

The Newfoundland KC has also been encouraging basic obedience classes. There were 18 dogs in the first two courses and the third course is well underway. Before long it is hoped that obedience trials can be held in conjunction with the all breed championship shows. Obedience courses, hopefully, will gradually become an integral part of all clubs. The main difficulties to date in the other Newfoundland clubs are either finding somebody with experience in obedience willing to undertake the classes or finding suitable indoor accommodation. Our weather is so unpredictable that outdoor classes would be uncertain, so an indoor location is essential.

The Conception Bay KC held handling classes, particularly for young and novice exhibitors during the Easter holidays, with the purpose of encouraging greater participation in our dog shows.

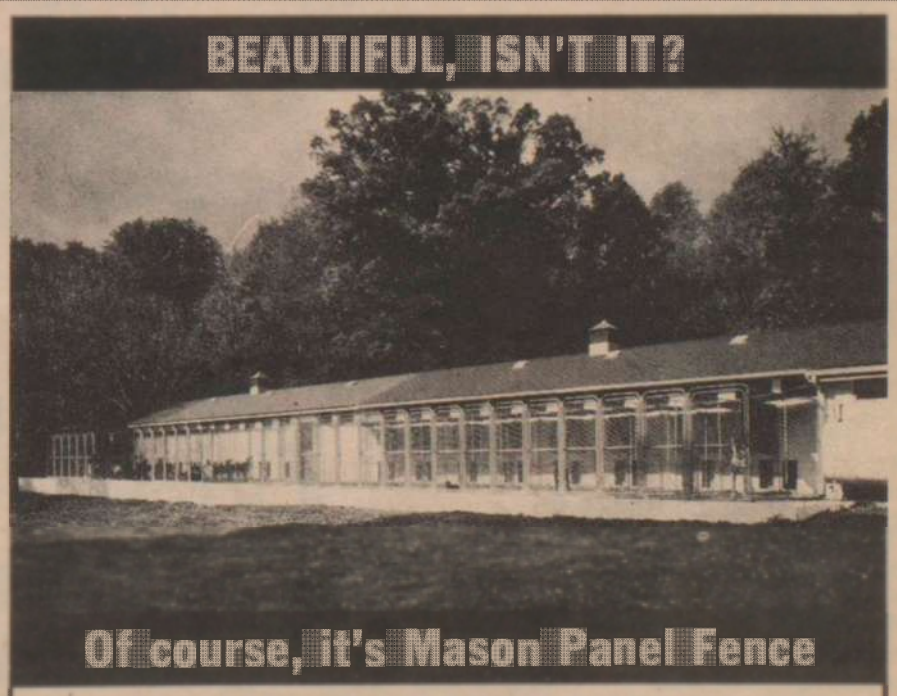

Among recent English imports: a wheaten Cairn in whelp, Selkirk Vixen, bred in Scotland by Eng. Ch. Craiglyn Cavalier, now a part of the family of Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Wells of Carbonear, who already have Selkirk Tartan Tamm and Irish Setters Mrs. Safford Crummey, St. John's, recently returned with a Pekingese puppy, Chung Migo's Destiny, and a two-year-old Yorkshire Terrier.

Are you prepared to give mouth to muzzle resuscitation to your dog?

by DEBBIE LYON

Mouth to muzzle resuscitation—it certainly doesn't sound appealing but it may be necessary to save the life of a dog that has stopped breathing. Accidents can happen and man's best friend is no more immune to injury than his owner. But what does an owner do if his dog has been hit by a car, or burnt, or has a broken leg?

Dogs are just like humans, though not in physical appearance. They have bones, tissues and organs which can get injured or broken. If the owner knows something about human first aid, all he must do is improvise somewhat to help his canine friend. If he doesn't know what to do, it's best to do nothing at all rather than create further damage. He can only get the dog to a veterinarian as soon as possible.

If an owner feels he can help an injured animal until professional aid is obtained, then he must remember one thing. A dog can't really understand what has happened or that his owner is trying to help him. In pain and shock, a dog will snap or bite without prejudice. He must be restrained with a tight muzzle of gauze, tape or other material.

The three priorities in treating any injured human or dog are breathing, bleeding and shock. If a dog isn't breathing, artificial respiration must be started immediately. If he is breathing, severe bleeding must be controlled and by doing this, shock will be lessened.

In applying artificial respiration to a dog, it is important for the owner to keep in mind that the animal's head and neck should be extended and its tongue pulled out as far as possible. In mouth to muzzle, the dog's mouth must be shut; the owner must cup his hands around the nose and breathe into the nostrils at a count of five between breaths. If there isn't an injury to the chest area, the owner can attempt to revive the dog by applying firm pressure to compress the chest once again to a count of five.

To see anyone or any animal bleeding isn't a pleasant sight though the situation may look more serious than it really is. Direct pressure on the wound is the best way to control bleeding. By placing a sterile gauze pad on the wound and applying pressure right on top, the bleeding will usually be controlled. If the owner finds a foreign body in the wound and can't easily remove it, he must build pads around the wound and apply indirect pressure to it.

The signs and symptoms of shock in humans and dogs are just about the same. And so is the treatment. Warmth, rest, head lower than the rest of the body and no liquids to an unconscious dog are musts. The owner should not leave the dog and should make sure the animal continues to breathe without difficulty.

If the dog has come in contact with live electricity, the owner must act swiftly. He must shut-off the current or remove the cause, or the animal from the cause, with some non-conducting material. He must be careful to avoid injury to himself in the process. Severe burns to the body of the dog can always be expected in such a case.

And for dry burns, a sterile dressing should be applied and the owner should watch for shock in the animal. A scalding liquid must be washed off with cold water and soap and a dry dressing applied. Chemical burns are best treated by neutralizing the chemical—an alkal for an acid burn and vice versa. An owner should avoid using jellies or ointments as these complicate further treatment and delay healing.

Probably the best course of action an owner can take for a dog with a broken bone is to keep the animal as quiet and still as possible while seeking professional help. Splinting is not only impracticable but dangerous. The owner must always remember that his treatment is first aid, that he is only doing those things required to keep the dog alive until professional assistance is obtained. Attempting too much can be worse than doing nothing at all.

If a wound and protruding bone accompany a fracture, dressings should be applied around the bone and indirect pressure applied. The owner should not attempt to put the bone back in place or in any way apply direct pressure upon it. All he must do is control the bleeding.

Poisoning is a frightening, deadly accident, especially if the source is unknown. If a dog is known to have swallowed a poisonous substance, forcing him to vomit is a safe course of action unless burns are apparent around the mouth. In this case, a corrosive poison has likely been taken and an antidote should be given. If the poison is being absorbed through the skin, the dog should be washed in lots of soap and water.

A dog's eyes are delicate and readily exposed to danger. If an owner finds an object in his dog's eye, he must restrain the animal from scratching or pawing it. He should seek professional aid rather than attempting to remove the object himself.

"Proptosis" is an injury where the eyeball is forced out of the socket. The eye must be kept moist, possibly by wrapping the eyeball in a wet dressing. Speed is important in getting the dog to a veterinarian in order to save eyesight.

A dog locked in a hot, stuffy room or car, can develop a type of heat stroke. The owner must act quickly to get the dog in a cool place and lower its body temperature. If time is wasted, permanent brain damage can result.

A dog can become hysterical from a great variety of causes. Digestive disturbances, malnutrition, infection or just plain excitement can lead to a nervous disposition. The hysterical dog shouldn't be confused with an animal that has rabies or is suffering from fits or convulsions. The owner should avoid restraining the dog forcibly and shouldn't attempt to apply any type of treatment. If the dog is on a leash, he should be tied up in a cool, shaded area. Or, if possible, he should be placed in a kennel or run. The owner should allow the dog to calm down, and at the same time, seek professional assistance.

There are many various injuries which may seem of minor importance but which should be attended to with as much diligence as serious ones to avoid tragic consequences. For some dogs, Bulldogs and Boston Terriers, a bite or sting in the throat area can cause swelling which complicates an already difficult breathing process. For minor bites and stings, a baking soda paste will help to relieve pain and itch.

And a small wound, however insignificant it may seem, can lead to serious infection if not treated. Good, old-fashioned soap and water, a teaspoon of salt in a glass of water or hydrogen peroxide can be used as antiseptic solutions to clean the wound. It should be covered with a sterile dressing and once again the owner should avoid jellies or ointments.

Sprains, strains and bruises aren't uncommon injuries to man's best friend. Bruises on the dog's tail can be treated with packs of boric acid or Epsom salts solution. Gentle massage of stiff, sore muscles helps relieve pain. And sprains can be treated with cold compresses.

Knowledge, speed and a calm approach to an injured dog can help both the owner and the animal. It takes only a small amount of time to study the fundamentals of first aid. It takes only a small amount of time for a dog to die from a serious, untreated injury. So having a canine first aid kit readily available isn't such a bad idea. Accidents can always happen.

During 1970 the top six of the "top ten" dogs registered in the United States remained the same as in 1970. Poodles, German Shepherds, Dachshunds, Beagles, Miniature Schnauzers and Chihauhuas, in that order. St. Bernards, placing seventh, climbed from the 11th position in 1969. Pekingese placed eighth, Collies ninth and Labrador Retrievers tenth. Placings in Canada usually reflect a similar pattern.
