Canadian puppy wins triple crown at American specialty

WHEELING, Ill—A ten-month old bitch puppy, Sunburst Solar System, pushed Canadian-bred Bull Terriers to the top by winning Best of Breed from the puppy class at The Bull Terrier Club of America's "diamond anniversary specialty", held in Wheeling, Ill. The total entry, both colors, was 58, judged by Mr. Cecil Mann of Newbury, N.Y.

Solar System then went on to win the club's top award, The Silverwood Trophy, an invitational competition open only to Bull Terriers bred in America (this includes Canada and South America). The finalists, 47 in all, competed under a panel of five breed specialist judges which included Mrs. Norma Smith of Thunder Bay, Ont.

The Silverwood Trophy was donated to The Bull Terrier Club of America by The Bull Terrier Club in memory of Bill and Hope Colket, founders of Silverwood Kennels. The trophy is an exact copy of the famed Regent Trophy fashioned by one of England's outstanding woodcarvers, Mr. J. Harris.

Sunburst Solar System, who also topped the puppy sweepstakes under Judge Elizabeth Strickland, was bred by Mr. and Mrs. G. Travers, Toronto. She is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Len Spicer, Georgetown, Ont., and is handled exclusively by Mrs. Spicer.

THIS MONTH'S COVER DOG

Once upon a time, there were two littermates. Susan Radley (Fraser) brought them for me to see; she liked the male; I fell in love with the female. However, I was a student, with more dogs than I could afford, and so I did not buy her. The male was "Tramp"; the sister "Becka" (Ch. In Style of Hi Crown). In the course of time, "Becka" was bred to Int. Ch. Black Rogue of Belle Glen. Again, the demands of my career intervened; I did not hear about the litter until all were gone. Still, I kept track of them. In the fullness of time, one of those puppies, Int. Ch. Bibelot's Windi Go-Go, was bred to Int. Ch. Monfret Music Master. This time I acquired a male—Bibelot's Songmaster Titian—"Percy".

"Percy" was not particularly impressive as a puppy—and here I would like to make a plea to breeders to wait for puppies to grow—to "get it all together". He was not shown seriously until over the year, but then, he took R.W. over American Champions at the P.A.A. Specialty; 3 and 4 pt. wins over American champions for his championship; and a Gr. 2 under John Devlin at Kingston. He was then retired until he reaches full maturity.

"Percy" is bred to produce short backs, deep chests, well angulated shoulders and rear quar-

Vets irate at rabies shots

TORONTO—Members of the Ontario Veterinary Association have threatened to stop all medical services to Scarborough's animal pound if borough staff members continue vaccinating stray animals for rabies, according to Globe and Mail report.

Since June all inoculations have been administered for rabies and distemper by staff "trained by veterinarians at the University of Toronto", says borough treasurer Roy Arnold. Dr. R. W. Stonehouse of the Amherst Veterinary Hospital, which provides treatment for injured pound animals, the report stated, issued the threat because pound staff are not qualified to control a disease which is highly infectious.

Dr. Andrew Fletch, who trained about 15 borough staff to administer the serums, claimed the OVA authorized the training program.

A guide to prevention of puppy mortalities

by C. F. ROSSOW, D.V.M.,

Approximately one-third of all puppies born will be dead by the time they are of weaning age. This dreadful fact is the result of a recently conducted worldwide survey. However proper handling and understanding of the potential problems can substantially reduce this loss of puppies.

Crying is considered one of the first indications that something is wrong with a newborn puppy. When this occurs it is essential that the female be examined to make sure that her milk production is normal and the puppy is getting its fair share. Other causes of crying at this age could include colic and possibly bacterial and/or viral infection.

The puppy off by itself in the whelping area, whether it is crying or not, usually indicates rejection by the female. Rejection can be brought on by lack of proper size and development of the puppy; however, the most common cause is that the pup's body temperature is below normal. To the bitch this puppy is not only cold but it fails to exhibit the vitality of a normal healthy pup. A newborn puppy's temperature should be 94 to 97° during the first week of life. A sick puppy's temperature drops to between 78 and 83°. It is imperative that a cold puppy be warmed slowly. If a heating pad, incubator or other source is used for supplemental heat, the puppy should be turned frequently.

Feeding the cold puppy is another critical function. It is essential that the proper type of food be fed to avoid further complications. A cold pup's blood sugar is normally low. To keep him from dying it must be replenished in two to four hours. The best way to feed him is with a sugar solution. This can be prepared with a teaspoon of sugar to an ounce of water and fed by a dropper every 30 minutes to an hour.

Another sign of a sick puppy is his inability to nurse. Placing your finger in the mouth of a normal puppy will result in a considerable amount of sucking. To contrast this a sick puppy will roll the finger in his mouth and make every effort to reject it.

Another means of evaluating health and performance is the puppy's weight. Puppies normally gain some weight each day and should be checked at least every four or five days to see that proper gains are being made. A good rule of thumb is that a puppy's weight at birth is doubled by the time he is eight to 12 days old.

BACTERIAL DISEASES

Generally bacterial diseases are cyclic in nature. They usually appear between January and April mainly because during this time of year puppies are usually kept inside in a closed environment. This usually results in poor air circulation conducive to bacterial growth and infection.

1. Umbilical Infection

The umbilical cord of a newborn represents an opportunity for a local as well as ascending type of infection. The probable cause is a Streptococcus or Staphlococcus bacteria that is contaminating the immediate environment at the time of whelping. The infection can result in either early death or delayed death as a result of heart complications or arthritis. In examining the infected navel area a discoloration can be observed ranging from blue to red depending largely on the stage of development. If a yellow pus material is evident then in all probability the pup will expire in a very short time. However every effort should be made to bring the condition under control mainly by exercising sound sanitary procedures in management.

2. Skin Conditions

Staphlococcus infections can cause sores or small blisters about the head and neck areas. Control measures for this include management changes in the whelping area and treatment with the proper level of antibiotics.

3. Puppy Septicemia

This condition generally occurs in puppies three to 40 days of age. It is the result of a bacterial infection that has gained entrance into the blood stream. Staphlococcus and Streptococcus organisms are usually the culprits responsible. The lack of proper sanitation in the environment and/or the bitch are the possible sources of contamination. Mastitis and involvement of the female genitalia, such as vaginitis, should be considered as other possible problem areas. The usual sequence of events evidencing that Septicemia is present is that a single puppy will start to cry excessively. This puppy may become bloated and exhibit periods of straining. Paralysis may develop which can lead to convulsions. During the first 24 hours a second puppy will start exhibiting similar signs. This malady can easily progress through the entire litter of puppies. Treatment in some cases requires drastic measures along with antibiotics and supportive individual care of the puppies. The bloat must be controlled and if necessary the stomach should be tapped. All pups should be removed from the female until the source of the problem has been determined and corrected.

4. Puppy Viremia

Puppy viremia is observed in a crying puppy that is six days old or older. The cause ters, good temperament and a dense black coat. His head approaches what I consider good Poodle expression. I would suggest that his breeding complements that of "Tramp". I have had good results in his first litter to a Tramp daughter.

THE YEAR AT TITIAN

It is hard to maintain a full time career and a show kennel. Inevitably, the kennel suffers. After both "Percy" and last year's December cover dog, Eng. Ch. Vulcan Champagne Goldsmith, won their Canadian championships this spring, I stopped showing, in order to care for career and puppies. Hip dysplasia has become a serious problem in Poodles. All dogs in the kennel were x-rayed in the luxoid position this year and fortunately all but one received their certificates from Dr. Pennock at Guelph. Copies of "Mr. Smith's" and "Percy's" are available to interested breeders.

We received good news from England. "Mr. Smith" has his first champion daughter—"Vulcan Bedecked in White"—and his son, "Vulcan April Love," completed his junior warrant (the third generation to do so). Other puppies were well placed in the shows, especially at Windsor.

In the kennels, you could not ask for two more friendly and playful dogs than "Percy" and "Mr. Smith". They are kenneled together and never give me a moment's worry. Both have sired puppies which we hope to show next spring. Despite their unrelated backgrounds, both dogs approach my ideal of The Poodle.

Last year's cover story told of the rare friendship given to me by the owners of Vulcan Kennels in England. This year, I wish to thank "Percy's" breeder, Susan Fraser, for being a friend over the years.

People

FETED: Well known dog personality Albert Collins was feted recently by The Hochelaga KC, Montreal. Now retired, this all-breed judge was noted for his unhesitating honesty when asked for an opinion on a dog. "Do you want me to tell you what you want to hear or what I want to tell you?" prepared the questioner forthwith. Mr. Collins' career in dogs began over 60 years ago in London, England, when he became interested in Smooth Fox Terriers. When he came to Montreal in 1910 he established himself in Wire Fox Terriers in spare time while training horses for hunter trials in which that city's elite competed. At that time he met and married Minnie, now deceased, the mainstay of his life and kennels through thick and thin. Despite the Depression, Mr. Collins built up the largest boarding kennel in the area. Concerned with promoting goodwill and interest in pure-bred dogs, he devoted much time in organizing several dog clubs, including the Dog Fanciers Association and the Montreal Fox Terrier Club. Later on he added numerous breeds to his kennels. His judging career began in 1923 with an assignment at the Central Canada Exhibition. Mr. Collins is pictured here receiving the club's token of appreciation from President Ron Muncey.

HONORED and very surprised was Cliff Tushingham when he was the guest of honor at a reception and buffet held on September 24 at the Holiday Inn, Don Valley, Toronto. More than 80 friends of Cliff's gathered to mark the occasion of his 50-year association in the dog and horse fancies. Emcee for the affair was long-time family friend Nobby Wirkowski, NHL hockey star. Presentations on behalf of all his well-wishers were made by Mrs. Ruby Gilbert, aged 84, Dr. George L. Weber and CKC President Mrs. Hilda Pugh. Greetings from friends unable to attend included telegrams from George Ward, Constantine, Ill., Dr. John E. Leeson and Kenneth Thompson of the Thompson Newspapers.

RECEPTION: Mrs. Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins, Kennels of the Rouge, Pickering, Ont., entertained at a supper party in honor of Mme. Denise de Leemans, of Brussels, Belgium, world renowned judge and official of the FCI.

VOLUNTEER WORKER: Taggers for the Toronto Humane Society tag day ranged in age from four years to 75. Hit of the corps of 10,000 volunteers, however, was the outgoing Newfoundland "Andy" who, with owner Bill Kirkwood, collected the sum of $375 on their own. The pair have given their services to other drives as well in the past few years. Andy has also come to the fore in dog shows.

NEW SALON: Well-known breeder, exhibitor, CKC director and pet shop proprietor Anita Chapman has just opened a handsome new salon at 286 Avenue Rd., Toronto. The Dog Bath Boutique sign tops a smart canopy. The house, well over 100 years old, with high ceilings and a splendid fireplace, has been well adapted to the requirements of a salon. Community-minded Anita is making her contribution to ecology by way of plastic "Doggie Disposal Bags". Concerned with the not-so-far-out possibility that one day dogs may be banned altogether from streets and parks, she is doing her bit toward educating the public to cleaning up with the least possible discomfort to themselves after their dogs.

IN A NEW ORBIT: At a time when most men would be applying the brakes, Dr. Wilfrid E. Shute, one of North America's leading heart specialists, Doberman Pinscher breeder and all breed judge is starting a whole new life. His schedule is breathtaking. With his house and practice sold, he has taken an apartment in the Toronto area but will re-establish in California where he has been assigned to consult with a large heart clinic and head a research foundation group on heart disease in Florida. Dr. and Mrs. Shute plan to spend some time in California early this month, will visit with their daughters in Vancouver for the Christmas season, then head for Florida. Dr. Shute's dog show plans include Crufts, Westminster and later Bermuda where he will judge. He will also keep an interest, if somewhat distant at times, in his Dobermans.

RECUPERATING: A.C. (Red) Lane, Summit Lane Labrador Retrievers, Centerville, Mass., home following a session in hospital. He is well-known to countless Sportsmen's Show exhibitors as former assistant to Show Superintendent Hudson Kalloch. His wife, Ruth, is renowned for her Shetland Sheepdogs.

SYMPATHY: to Mrs. Harry Reno, Port Huron, Mich., in the loss of her husband. Mrs. Reno is well-known to Canadian breeders and exhibitors of American Cocker Spaniels. She has shown her Abbi's Cockers faithfully at a number of Canadian shows.

DECEASED: Dale Daniels, California Dachshund breeder, founder of the famous Dachshund bloodline, "v.d. Daniels".

SYMPATHY AS WELL: to Mr. and Mrs. Bart Wilson, Iona Station, Ont., in the loss by fire of 16 Miniature Dachshunds, many of them champions. The Wilsons had just finished building their new kennel. In attempting to rescue the dogs, Mrs. Wilson fell and fractured a kneecap.

CKC says cropping stays

Readers will be relieved to learn that "the dialogue with the C.K.C. with regard to unnecessary cosmetic surgery in purebred dogs" which began in August 1971 (report from Semi-annual Meeting, Dogs in Canada November 1971) is finally at an end.

This innocent-appearing request from the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association certainly kept the pot boiling for more than a year. And, although it undoubtedly referred to surgery involving tails, ears, eyes, mouths and so on, it somehow deteriorated into the "battle of the ear crop".

The subject received national publicity. And, as Eldon Stonehouse stated in his article in The Globe and Mail, there certainly were few "fence-sitters" among dog lovers. They were either "for" or "against" cosmetic surgery with a vengeance.

So, because of all the attention it received and the importance which seemed to be attached to it, a committee was appointed by the Board to investigate the matter.

In June 1972 this committee, under the chairmanship of Director Ed. Dixon, published a request for opinions from breed clubs and persons who were interested. Letters, more than 500 of them, as well as several petitions containing thousands of names, poured in to committee headquarters. By far the greater number favored continuation of cosmetic surgery for those breeds currently subject to such requirements.

It is interesting to note that the most frequently stated argument in the few "against" letters received was that cropping was becoming too expensive. Only one letter mentioned cruelty and this was in reference to a litter of pet shop Miniature Schnauzers imported from the U.S.A. midwest.

At this time the C.V.M.A., it is reported, would have been happy to drop the whole thing. In fact, four veterinarians volunteered to serve on the committee to help speed things up a bit. Their services were gratefully declined and the investigation continued.

Committee members observed cropping performed both by veterinarians and by laymen under supervision. They checked after-care and the effects of the surgery on newly-cropped puppies. At no time did the committee find anything wrong — no cruelty — no traumatic reactions. Thus the committee recommended to leave things as they are re ear cropping and tail docking. A recommendation that was unanimously approved by The Board of Directors at the 1972 Semi-Annual Meeting of the C.K.C.

An interesting suggestion is included in the committee's report. It is proposed that if, in the future, any person has a bad experience with cropping or knows of such a case, whether performed by a veterinarian or a layman, it should be reported to the local authorities for investigation. As far as this present committee is concerned, the subject is now closed.

"Perhaps he'd rather NOT go out"

Weary as a "twice told tale"

The ban on ear cropping in England began in 1895 as the result of a letter to The Kennel Club from its patron King Edward VII. Now, Mr. T. R. Hughes, General Manager of The Ontario Humane Society, headlines an article addressed to the general public in the fall issue of the Society's newsletter, Animals Voice. "Cosmetic Surgery Should Be Abolished!" This has the ring of a royal command but the article says too little, too late.

It also falls into the error of equating ear cropping only with "cosmetic surgery" and utterly ignores other areas such as eyes, tails, mouths and so on. Mr. Hughes' arguments against cropping are both slanted and in error when he states that "the only reason why this practice is maintained is simply because the showing of dogs calls for certain "standards" set by The Canadian Kennel Club."

Quite obviously Mr. Hughes has not observed first-hand the misery suffered by many of the drop-eared dogs. This ranges from a lifetime committed to wearing their ears pinned together on top of their heads to permit air circulation to the disfiguring Lacroix operation, the only sure way to correct deep ear infections. Pet owners are notoriously inept at keeping drop ears clean.

Further, in the smaller breeds, particularly Miniature Schnauzers, the single deterrent to total breed exploitation is the ear crop.

On the other hand, if The Canadian Federation of Humane Societies and the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association were to join forces and take a stand on cosmetic surgery performed to correct inherited, disabling defects, and if they would make such surgery reportable and thus render the dogs involved ineligible for breeding and show purposes, they would be making a real contribution to the betterment of dog humanity.

Yorkie coat color

Three cheers for Wendy Anne Desaubies for her article on Yorkie coat color (Breed Notes, October issue of Dogs in Canada).

It is a mystery to me why we have a breed standard when the breeders feel no obligation to breed to it, and the judges no obligation to judge to it. With enough publicity such as this, perhaps they will begin to live up to that obligation. I hope so.—Margaret Hacking, D.V.M., Puslinch, Ont.

Frustrated

I would like, through your magazine, to air a valid grievance on the behalf of fellow exhibitors, with regard to show photographers. At three different shows this year, in Ontario, with three different photographers, I have met with the following frustrations: the photos of the first show were all destroyed, by an error in their development. The second show photo was received after a long wait and long distance phone call, although being paid for in cash on the day of the show and was of indifferent quality. The third show photo I still have not received, one month after the show, although payment was sent in the day following the show after being informed that unless I sent a money order I would have to wait ten days for the cheque to go through.

I can think of no other instance where one pays for something before delivery or without knowing what one is getting for one's money. This is partiuarly annoying if the photos are needed for advertising and whilst on the subject of advertising, it is too bad that we cannot get black and white pictures rather than color as they reproduce much better.

Needless to say, from now on we'll be doing our own photography of any wins we may wish recorded!—Rosalie N. Harvie (Mrs.), Barrie, Ont.

Foster mother found

I would like to thank the breeders who telephoned me and wrote when they heard that I had lost my Chihuahua bitch while whelping.

It was heartbreaking to lose the mother, then I realized that I had three orphan Chihuahuas and no mother for them. I started to bottle feed them but they were very tiny and two started to regurgitate so I decided that if I were to save them I had to do something more positive.

I telephoned breeders in the area and while they had no nursing mother available they were trying to find one. Mrs. Ellen Overby from Komoka came to my rescue. She wasted no time and said to bring the puppies up right away. My husband and I bundled the babies in a warm container and started off at eleven that night. It was a long drive but we got there about 12.30 or close to 1 a.m. Mrs. Overby had found a new mother with two puppies and plenty of milk so she took us on to Ilderton to Mrs. Vera Dann.

The first thing we knew, my crying puppies were nursing happily on their new mother. Mrs. Dann took wonderful care of the puppies and they all survived. I cannot adequately express my thanks to these two breeders for so unhesitatingly giving me the help I needed. I hope that perhaps sometime I may be as able to do as much for someone else.—Mrs. C. G. Peterson, Grimsby, Ont.

Judges take note?

From an A.K.C. pamphlet for new judges, and also being distributed to all currently approved judges:

"EXPENSES. When accepting an invitation judges should inform the club if they intend to charge expenses. Those who can afford the small expenses of transporting themselves short distances to shows should not charge anything. Obviously, The American Kennel Club does not approve of judges covering a charge for services by means of a padded expense account. A judge who feels entitled to a fee over and above normal personal expenses should indicate this to the show-giving club. Except for a comparatively limited number of professional judges who spend almost every weekend judging and who do no breeding or exhibiting of dogs themselves, AKC does not expect judges to charge anything more than actual reasonable expenses. Any judge who charges a fee for his services renders himself, as a professional judge, ineligible to become, or remain a Delegate to The American Kennel Club . . ."

Canadian judges might take note, with possible profit to Canadian show-giving clubs (?).—E. C. St. John Green, Nova Scotia.

Not so recent

I have just received my October copy of Dogs which never fails to give hours of enjoyment. I look forward to its arrival, though always a bit late due to its long journey before reaching Bermuda.

This month my eye fell right to the article on the front page entitled "Litter from Royal Alliance Not Pedigreed".

It is an amusing story but unfortunately has been written up as if it just happened last week or last month by the use of the word "recently" in the second line.

I am sure that your paper is well aware that Mr. Binney passed away very tragically well over a year ago. Enclosed please find a tear sheet from The Kennel Gazette of September 1971 substantiating this.

May I take this opportunity to tell you how much I like the new style versus the old magazines. The articles are so interesting, and there seems to be so much more in them.—Mrs. L. E. Outerbridge, Smith's Parish, Bermuda.

In the Field

POINTERS

Address correspondence on Pointers in the field to Wm. McClure, Box 15, Manotick, Ont.

Nine year old Friend repeated his 1971 win in the 1972 renewal of the New Brunswick Field Trial Association's continuous course trial on native woodcock and grouse. Owner Harold Hatfield flushed two intensely pointed "cock" over his dogs forward slashing race which carried him to all available cover. Friend wheeled to mark the flight of his birds, not moving from his tracks or relaxing his intensity on his favorite game bird. A single nonproductive stand was also charged to Peggy's Friend.

Second Place went to the pointer bitch Hop River Sue, owned and handled by Bob Etsell of Massachusetts. Sue had four perfect finds coupled with a more restricted race and some uncertainty around her game. Three fruitless stands and a miscue on one bird rounded out Sue's performance. A high wind made conditions difficult in this 7th brace.

Oscar Macdonald's pointer bitch, Dirk's Smoking Lady, was third with a rough handling first half again in a high wind, a high and pretty find with all in good order and another bird contact on which her bracement failed to back causing Lady to move up and bump her bird, stopping to its rise.

Blue Point Rex, Jennie, Jigger de Leigh, Alderwood's Dandy, Timberdoodle Sam, Mike, Shenstone Danger Man, Corky de Leigh, DeLigh's Lonesome Luke, Kirk D'Oasis, Sandstorm Craigknoll, Princess of Hilltop and Monctonian Knight completed the field.

A total of 52 woodcock were under official observation in the eight braces on the justifiably famous Hanwell Settlement grounds near Fredericton. Two old farmhouses mark the historical McNaughton Cover, long noted as fine shooting grounds for Fredricton sportsmen. Old orchards dot the hillsides and the everpresent alders cover the bowl of the valley. Hardwoods, birch and spruce line the hilltop bordering the alder runs of the woodcock. The courses which circled the bowl of the hillside alders provided eight one-half-hour courses. Dotted about were dismantled woodcock banding traps used under the supervision of Tim Dilworth, University of New Brunswick and Northeastern Wildlife Station biologist who with his students banded over 200 woodcock in the McNaughton Cover this summer. Certainly the field trial contingent could testify to the bird concentration on these splendid grounds with 76 woodcock and six grouse judicially observed during the running of the two-day event. Every brace in all three stakes had multiple opportunities on game. Wind of increasing velocity and some rain made scenting and holding birds increasingly difficult during the running of the Open Shooting Dog. Some old timer woodcock hunters commented the "timberdoodle" is making more use of his legs each year. Crossbreeding with pheasants has been blamed!

A field of four featured the Open Derby topped by Rex's Little Knight, Pointer dog owned and handled by Clayton Buckingham. This rangy, hard-driving dog had a solid find with Derby manners and a couple of touch and go situations on grouse. Runner up was Meg, Pointer bitch owned and handled by Mr. Gori. Meg was rough to handle, forward and had two touch and go bird contacts. A total of five woodcock and four grouse were officially observed in the Derby.

The Open Puppy was won by Tim Tuft's Brittany dog, Belle's Dominion Tober. Tober had a solid find and a bump with a hard forward cover searching race. Second was Jill, pointer bitch owned by Mr. Provost with a fast, stylish race, less mature than the winner and four bird contacts. Third went to Bounce de Leigh, Brittany bitch owned by Basil Hawkins with two solid finds, a busy close and smooth handling pattern and good application. Hard on the heels of this trio was Sweep, Wirehaired Pointing Griffon owned by Mr. Schmit, with four well-handled birds. A total of 19 cock and two grouse were seen in the stake.

President Basil Hawkins of Nashwaaksis, N.B., and his hard working committee chaired by personable Bill Mathews carried off an exciting thirteenth renewal of their cover trial. This club, with its congenial and dedicated group, share a mutual interest in dogs and woodcock. They know their bird and its habits and annually have scheduled their trial to meet the migratory ways of the woodcock. Their bird counts testify to their judgment.

Saturday night the "Serene Woodcock Hunters" gathered at president Hawkins home where hostess, Joan Hawkins, made us all comfortable with good food and Maritime hospitality. Your scribe previewed slides of the 1971 renewal along with those I was privileged to take during the judges gift-of-all-gifts, a woodcock hunt in this group's favorite covers following the trial in 1971.

It was a privilege to share judicial honors with Freeman Swan of Oromocto, N.B., in the Open Shooting Dog, David Clark of Woodstock in the Derby and Ron Ashfield of Nashwaaksis in the Puppy. These men, like all NBFTA club members, know their dogs and their birds.

Canine Brucellosis is puppy killing disease

(excerpted from The Gaines Dog Research bulletin)

Canine brucellosis is a disease caused by an organism, Brucella canis, which results in abortion and stillbirths. The disease has been identified in many breeds of dogs and poses a problem in several large breeding kennels.

The disease is highly contagious and is spread by actual contact with infected tissue (usually B. canis infected fetal or placenta tissue, amniotic fluid and seminal discharge). The organism is able to penetrate the mucosa lining of the mouth, nose, eyes, digestive tract or genital organs of all animals and is dangerous to humans as well as dogs. Infected animals and those suspected of having the disease should, therefore, be handled with extreme care. And, once infected, dogs should be segregated from their kennelmates for at least two years and not be used for breeding purposes until all evidence of the disease has passed.

Onset of Canine Brucellosis is marked by enlarged lymph nodes in either the throat or groin depending on the area of contact. Once inside, the organism multiplies rapidly. First symptoms appear about two weeks after exposure. Bitches generally abort between the seventh and the ninth week after breeding. The only evidence may be a viscous, bloody or greenish-grey discharge. In addition to clinical symptoms, infected males may be reluctant to breed. It is possible to confirm diagnosis by a test of a suspected dog's blood serum performed at a laboratory. A simpler test for more general use may soon be made available.

Research to find an effective treatment for the disease continues but, at the time of writing, the report states that the only way to break the cycle of infection is to breed non-infected females to non-infected males. Immunity to the disease is another area under study and it appears likely that inoculation against the disease may soon be possible.

Should dogs eat human food? ...people don't eat dog food

by Dr. JIM CORBIN
Director Purina Pet Care Center

Frequently a dog owner will say, "I'm sure a dog needs variety in his diet! Would you like to eat the same thing all of the time?" Generally the dog owner is referring to taste, but he also refers to nutrition.

When a particular dog food is tested, it is usually fed for a long period of time. In most cases several generations are used in this testing. Some have been fed to as many as 14 generations. To control the intake of these animals, they are fed only the single diet being tested and water.

Tests such as these conducted at the Purina Dog Care Center over the last 45 years, have turned up many interesting facts:

- Dogs can grow, mature, reproduce, lactate and live in a healthy state on a single diet and water. Nothing else is required.
- Desire for variety in the diet is a learned trait and not necessary. This has been proven by dogs raised on a dry diet that have turned down offers of meat for several days.
- Foods for dogs contain combinations and fortifications of ingredients that are nutritionally adequate and complete.
- Early offering of variety leads to finicky dogs that can develop into problem eaters.

Variety is needed in the normal human diet since:

- Many human foods are severely deficient in one or more nutrients.

fered last January as a non-profit community venture, proved so successful that many requests were received to offer it again next year. It includes all phases of ring procedures, lectures on anatomy of dogs, grooming, question and answer periods on the CKC's dog show rules and commences and concludes with training sessions for dogs and their handlers.

On the completion of the program a fun match was held and it was delightful to see the improvement in the performance of all the dogs entered; some of them, while still in the puppy class, went on to attain their championship status.

Kelowna holds first sanction in 12 years

KELOWNA, B.C.—October 1 was the first Sanction Match to be held in the vicinity in over 12 years. There was an entry of 74 dogs, judged by Mr. Carroll Overby from Washington.

Mr. Overby chose a ten-month-old Dalmatian, recently imported from England, as his Best in Show, "Dulcie" Wharfavon Greive is owned by 11-year old Julie Nield, Vernon, B.C.

Best Canadian Bred and Best Canadian Bred Puppy was Rodonna's Shauna, Boxer owned by Mrs. Edna Hugo of Oliver, B.C.

The show was a tremendous success with quite a few dogs from the U.S.A. and as far away as California.

The club is already planning a spring match.—Mrs. Bernice Carby.

Obedience

Send correspondence direct to Jake Giacomelli,

Have observed or judged at so many well-run trials since the last article I've almost forgotten what a poorly run trial is like! Allantown Dog Training Club, Pa., with its absolutely gorgeous weather (again) and excellent stewards has to be one of the best of the outdoor shows. Montreal D.O.T.C. trials, held in the fabulous Laurentians with its breath-taking scenery, will again, I am sure, take the Canadian record for the greatest number of Obedience entries in one trial or multiple trials, for that matter. Perhaps I've been unlucky, but their weather has been strictly for the ducks!

The Hamilton Dog Obedience Club's Fall spectacular with its limited entry and fun weekend in mind ran with the usual efficiency of a well-oiled machine. Also, it was truly gratifying to see the club reach as far away as Winnipeg for Gordon Ashcroft and Bermuda for Adrienne Lightbourne, both doing an excellent job of judging.

The western and eastern clubs are always reaching far afield for their obedience judges—but quite a few of the clubs in central Ontario mainly stay close to home for their judges, I suppose because there are quite a few obedience judges in this area, they are easier to contact and being close are much less expensive. Sure! Use your home judges occasionally but forget the almighty dollar for awhile and start reaching further afield for some of our good Canadian judges in the east and west—you may receive a pleasant surprise at their style and abilities. There are also some pretty terrific American judges who have Canadian licenses that aren't too far away either.

WELL RUN TRIALS

The Nipissing Kennel Club held a small but well-run trial—fine, eager stewarding, good equipment and a most relaxed atmosphere—a nice place to spend an enjoyable weekend.

Twin Ports Dog Training Club trial held at Duluth, Minn., had a calibre of stewarding I can't remember ever seeing. At the completion of the words "Exercise Finished" the stewards took off to their assigned tasks like halfbacks on a split second timed play—believe me, with stewards like that, judging is sheer pleasure! The ring setup left nothing to be desired, there was ample of everything. The table stewards were like human computers. The Duluth K. C. trial the next day was along the same lines as the same stewards worked for it, too.

I guess for sheer excellence of perfect equipment the Dayton Dog Training Club of Dayton, Ohio, has to be the best I've seen to date anywhere! It would take a complete article to do it justice in its description. I can say this—that any person who had never stewarded before couldn't make a mistake setting their jumps up. What with built in steel measuring tapes and very easily moveable adjustments, it was the easiest equipment to work with and the least confusing that I've ever seen.

If the past month is any example of what's ahead, obedience has sure come a long, long way from a decade ago. So many clubs are so much better now in all aspects of obedience—their training, the way they run their trials, their stewarding, the great improvements in their equipment, such as matting, the jumps, and the fine fencing, etc., making up the obedience ring perimeter.

CONFIRM ARRANGEMENTS

Now I have a little gripe to pass on to Trial Secretaries and/or Trial Chairmen. When contacting your judges by telephone for judging assignments, follow this up with a letter for confirmation of classes, judging fees, etc. and request an answer as soon as possible. If your judge doesn't answer, write again—it's possible he never got your letter.

Nothing is more nerve-shattering than when, after six-months of waiting to hear from a club, you assume they've had a change of heart regarding your services and you innocently accept an assignment to work for another club. With all correspondence relating to this other club dutifully completed you suddenly are startled upon reading in a premium list to find that you are listed as a judge for the club that phoned but never followed up with correspondence.

If the clubs are far apart and the date is still open no harm has been done. However, if the clubs are relatively close, entries can be definitely affected and most judges I know try to avoid this situation if they're aware of it. But worse than that, is that your judge could be irrevocably booked with a club from another country and here you have a judge in your premium list in name only—because you have no written proof that you ever booked him.

For judges, I can only say nothing is more aggravating to a Secretary or Chairman than having to wait indefinitely for an answer from a judge—so phone if you like, but follow it up within the week with a letter.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

Anyone interested in submitting random thoughts for this column should send them directly to Mr. James G. Reynolds, Box 3138, R.R.3, Ottawa, Ont.

As usual, the "size question" has cropped up on a number of occasions during this past show season. Can a good little one compete with his bigger brother? Is oversize a sure way to win under judges who say, "the bigger the better"? Standards aren't much help in many breeds and thus the judge is left to his own devices. No matter what the interpretation, one thing is for certain and that is bone and substance are not at all the same thing as height. Perhaps that should be remembered more often.

With few exceptions, shows seem to be levelling off this year as far as numbers are concerned. Perhaps now clubs can concentrate on the educational aspect of shows so that quality can grow by the same leaps and bounds that quantity has.

* * *

Whatever has happened to that lovely canine quality—brains? More and more often we seem to run into dogs which lack common sense. Some argue that this is due to some breeds demanding narrower and narrower skulls. I'm not sure that I can agree with this but at least I think the blame is being directed to the right area—the breeder. Perhaps too much emphasis is being focussed on physical conformation and not enough on the mental. Quite often it seems that the top show dogs and extroverts are the ones which have too little rather than too much sense. Let's not forget that much as we want a "Best in Show" winner most of our clients want an intelligent companion.

I hate to belabor CKC's problems but once again I would like to raise the hoary chestnut of a CKC show to be the "Crufts of Canada". We have our "big" shows in the east and the west but as Mr. Trudeau found out "the twain don't meet". Wouldn't it be a pleasant change to find a show where we'd see the people and dogs that we read about in British Columbia or New Brunswick etc. etc. We have shown that local shows can't offer the attraction to bring all together but maybe CKC could put together a prestigious enough event to make a truly national dog gathering. Every year . . . every five years . . . every ten years . . . ?

* * *

Every kennel has its pensioners who have served it well. It behooves kennel owners to remember their debt to these individuals as Canada goes through its annual deep freeze playfully known as winter. Extra warmth, a more careful diet, a draught-free bed and lots of affection are ingredients necessary for these oldsters. Let's not forget them.

The Magic of Christmas

There's a wonderful magic in Christmas
That no one can quite comprehend . . .
It's found in the smiles of the people we meet
It's part of the greetings we send.
It's part of each glad Christmas carol,
It shines forth from each gleaming tree,
It sparkles in each flickering candle
And holly wreath gay as can be,
It glows in the smouldering Yule log
And twinkles in bright stars above . . .
And fills every heart, as it thrills every heart
For the magic of Christmas is love.

Toronto Sun columnist reports that a friend of Don Sangster has a dog who sits around the kitchen staring at the stove while his wife is cooking, refusing to budge under any circumstances. Whenever anyone asks where the dog is Mrs. Sangster replies: "Oh, he's riding herd on the range."

"HOW'S THAT FOR FANCY FETCHING?"

I heard the bells
on Christmas Day
Their old familiar carols play
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth
good-will to men

Longfellow - Christmas Bells

Let's dance and sing and make good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

G. MacFarren (before 1580)

Deep in the winter night, the family will come one by one, carrying great and small boxes, brilliant in all colors, ribboned in red and green, silver and gold, bright blue, placing them under me with the hands of their hearts, until all around me they are piled high, climbing up into my branches, spilling over onto the floor about me. In the early morning, with all my candles burning and all my brilliant colors standing out and twinkling in their light, the children in their pajamas and woollen slippers rub their sleeping eyes and stare at me in amazement. The mother with her hair hanging down her back smiles and glances here and there, and the father looks up and down at me, quiet and pleased, . . . for I am the Christmas Tree

(from the Book of the Year, by Fritz Peters)

When cows or sheep or fowls are chased
Their working parts may be displaced;
So, big or small, or young or old,
Your dog must really be controlled.

(From "The Country Code" at the Northumberland Parks display at Alwinton Fair, October 14, 1972. Submitted by Anne Haggarty.)

SCRAPBOOK

If you've ever been puzzled because your dog doesn't go into the same tail-wagging raptures over his packaged dog food as the four-legged actors in the TV commercials do, I saw one TV show in which the BBC did a fair tongue-in-cheek job of illustrating that one dog's meat may well be another dog's — well, here's how it went.

They took one large, floppy dog, two food bowls, a tenderloin steak and a package of commercial dog food which they gallantly forbore to identify. The steak dish was marked Brand X. The dog-food dish was labelled Our Brand. The dog was turned loose. It went first to the steak dish, snuffled at it half-heartedly for a bit, then ambled over to the other dish. Its eyes lit up. Slowly and deliberately it cocked its back leg over the contents and strolled off-camera.

I wouldn't swear to it, but I think it was whistling as it went. (Reprinted from "Penn's Ottawa" column, The Ottawa Citizen).

Stargazing with Pluto

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 23rd through Dec. 21st.

That happy dog bubbling over with enthusiasm for life, the one who literally has a "grin" from ear to ear, trots gaily up to greet you, and suddenly you find yourself knocked off balance or sitting surprised in the grass. To be angry at this dog, who has been taught more gentle manners, is to waste your time and energies, for artless and awkward though he may be, he is, in his own mind completely unoffensive. He is a typical Sagittarian dog born under the ninth sign of the zodiac and symbolized by the Archer.

Your canine Archer is of the third fire sign in the zodiac, and even if his eyes are dimmed by age, you will still see that fire glowing in the sparkle of his eyes which Sagittarians, human or canine, are noted for.

The Sagittarian puppy is a wonderful combination of activity encompassing curiosity, humor and independence with a happy willingness to learn. These little Archers are complete extroverts and they are truly "people" dogs with a deep need for companionship. They have an intent eagerness for life and all that it offers. Consequently they will tackle early training with zeal right along with you. Take a hint now before you start training him . . . don't try to bribe him into obeying a command. Oh, it may work for a time or two, but he'll soon see through your subterfuge, and then it will be "game over"! The Sagittarian is honest and forthright . . . no cunning wiles or chicanery in his makeup. And he is eager to learn, but to learn by fair rules and logical commands. His extreme curiosity will compel him to investigate all the environs of training, and his happy, sometimes gregarious, nature will be an asset in his acceptance of commands.

If you have a kennel, don't be surprised to find that the dog at the top of the social structure is a Sagittarian. The Archer needs a cause in life, and wants the responsibility of "kennel manager". He is well suited for this role as his ruling planet, Jupiter, is not only responsible for his high spirits but for his tolerance as well.

Sagittarian dogs, like their counterparts, Gemini, are group dogs. Although devoted to hearth and home, they dearly love a social gathering. If your high-spirited dog has been taught to perform tricks, he will exhaust his repertoire and without a second's hesitation do one encore after another as long as he has an appreciative audience.

Those readers who are contemplating a sporting dog to be used for hunting or field trial work will do well to purchase a dog born under the sign of Sagittarius. His exuberance, his willingness to work, and once again . . . his curiosity, will make him an avid hunter. Point birds he will, and that one word of praise for his find will recharge him to a repeat performance time and time again. Old timers will say he has "staying power", but you will smile to yourself and know he is a typical Archer living his life to the fullest.

Do not deny the Sagittarian dog his most innate desire . . . that of human recognition and companionship. Rejection and inattentiveness will reverse his character. Natural tolerance will become arrogance while the gay gregarious nature will become one of hostility.

A Sagittarian dog is an eternal puppy. He may never outgrow his clumsy puppy ways, but what a delightful, amusing and cheerful dog to claim as a friend!

PROPOSED NEW STANDARD FOR THE DALMATIAN

A proposed new standard for the Dalmatian is published here-under. This proposed new standard will be considered by the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club. Persons and clubs having an interest in the proposed standard are invited to submit their comments for the consideration of the Breed Standards Committee and the Board of Directors, all such letters to be addressed to: The Secretary, The Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto 12, Ontario, so as to be received not later than December 31, 1972. When writing please refer to file 7 R 10.

1. ORIGIN AND PURPOSE—The Dalmatian is thought to be of Central European or Mediterranean origin and is known at least from the middle ages. Because of its affinity for horses and capacity to travel great distances at a steady pace, it came to be used as a dog to run with and guard coaches and was known as a stable dog. Even later, the Dalmatian became popular as a dog to travel with and guard horse drawn fire fighting equipment especially in the United States of America.

2. GENERAL APPEARANCE—The Dalmatian should be a well balanced, strong, muscular and active dog, free from coarseness and lumber; capable of great endurance and speed compatible with its purpose.

3. TEMPERAMENT—A lively, active dog of good demeanour.

4. SIZE—Overall balance is of prime importance and the height of dogs ideally is 22 - 24 inches, bitches 21 - 23 inches.

5. COAT AND COLOUR—The coat should be short, hard, dense and fine, sleek and glossy in appearance, but neither woolly nor silky. The colour and markings are most important. There are two acceptable colours: white with black spots and white with liver spots. The ground colour should be pure white. Black spots should be as deep and rich as possible. Liver spots should be of a colour closer to chocolate than to tan or yellow. The spots should not intermingle, but be as round and well defined as possible, the more distinct the better; in size they should be from that of a dime to a half dollar. The spots on the face, head, ears, legs, tail and extremities should be smaller than those on the body.

6. HEAD—Should be of a fair length exhibiting a moderate amount of stop, and not in one straight line from the nose to the occiput bone.

a) SKULL—Flat, rather broad between the ears and moderately well defined at the temple. It should be entirely free from wrinkle.
b) MUZZLE—Should be long and powerful, never "snipey"; the lips clean, fitting the jaws moderately close.
c) NOSE—In the black-spotted dogs, should always be black; in the liver-spotted dogs, always brown.
d) MOUTH—The teeth should meet in a scissors bite. The incisors of the lower jaw should touch very lightly the bottom of the inner surface of the upper incisors.
e) EYES—Should be set moderately well apart, and of medium size, round, bright and sparkling, with an intelligent expression, their colour greatly depending on the markings of the dog. In the black-spotted dogs, the eyes should be dark (black or brown); in the liver-spotted dogs, they should be lighter (amber or light brown). Blue or partly blue eyes are undesirable and should be penalised.

The rim around the eyes in the black-spotted dogs should be black; brown in the liver-spotted dogs. No dog should have flesh-coloured eye rims.

f) EARS—Should be set on rather high, of moderate size, rather wide at the base and gradually tapering to a rounded point. They should be carried close to the head, be thin and fine in texture, and always spotted, the more profusely the better. Solid black or liver is undesirable.

7. NECK—The neck should be fairly long, nicely arched, light and tapering and entirely free from throatiness.

8. FOREQUARTERS

a) SHOULDER—Should be well-laid, not straight, and should be clean and muscular denoting speed. It should be laid flat against the body.
b) LEG—The forelegs should be perfectly straight, strong and heavy in bone; elbows close to the body.
c) PASTERNS—Pasterns should be straight.
d) FEET—Forefeet should be compact, with well-arched toes, and tough elastic pads. Nails in the black-spotted dogs should be black or white; or a nail may be both black and white; in the liver-spotted dogs, brown or white; or a nail may be both brown and white.

9. BODY

a) TOPLINE—Should be level and may arch slightly over the loin.
b) CHEST—Should not be too wide, but very deep and capacious, ribs moderately well sprung, never rounded like barrel hoops (which would indicate want of speed).
c) LOIN—Should be strong and muscular.

10. HINDQUARTERS

a) UPPER THIGH AND LOWER THIGH muscles should be clean, powerful and well defined.
b) HOCKS—Should be well let down.
c) STIFLE—Should be moderately well bent.
d) FEET—As for the forefeet.

11. TAIL—The tail should reach the hock, being strong at the base and gradually tapering towards the end, free from coarseness. It should not be set on too low down and should be carried with a slight upwards curve but never curled. It should preferably be spotted.

12. GAIT—The Dalmatian should have great freedom of movement; a smooth, powerful, rhythmic stride and action with a good reach and drive. Viewed from behind, the hind legs should track the fore with no indication of the body moving at an angle to the point of direction. A short stride and/or a paddling action are incorrect.

13. FAULTS

Partly flesh coloured nose.
Cow hocks.
Flat feet.
Incompletely coloured eyerims.
Any eye colour other than black, brown or amber.

14. DISQUALIFICATIONS—Patches, a patch is defined as a solid sharply defined mass of black or liver that is appreciably larger than any other of the markings on the dog. Several spots that are so adjacent that they actually touch one another at their edges do not constitute a patch.

Tri-colours.
Any colour other than liver and white or black and white
Undershot or more than 1/8" overshot bite.

NOTICE

PROPOSED NEW STANDARD FOR THE VIZSLA (SMOOTH)

A proposed new standard for the Vizsla is published hereunder. This proposed new standard will be considered by the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club. Persons and clubs having an interest in the proposed standard are invited to submit their comments for the consideration of the Breed Standards Committee and the Board of Directors, all such letters to be addressed to: The Canadian Kennel Club, 111 Eglinton Ave. E., Toronto, Ontario. M4P 1H9, so as to be received not later than March 31, 1973. When writing please refer to file 7 R 10.

1. ORIGIN OF BREED—The Vizsla (pronounced as if spelled VIZH-LA) is of Hungarian origin, where various records indicate its history as going back many centuries. It was the companion hunting dog of the early warlords and landed aristocracy who used it for general purpose hunting. It was known in Hungary as the "Yellow" Pointer. In North America it is used primarily as an upland bird dog, where its excellent scenting and retrieving characteristics have been widely acclaimed. It is a strong swimmer and also retrieves well from water.

2. GENERAL APPEARANCE—The Vizsla is a short-haired, medium-sized sporting dog. It conveys the impression of an alert, muscular, well-balanced animal with a distinctive and aristocratic appearance.

3. TEMPERAMENT—The Vizsla is intelligent, calm, obedient, and easy to train. It is a sensitive dog which becomes attached to its owner and develops a strong but not overly aggressive protective instinct. In the field, the Vizsla is an eager, happy hunter which is at home on land and in the water.

4. SIZE—The standard size, measured at the withers, for the Vizsla is 23" for males, and 22" for females. A dog of good bone and substance in this size range shall weight from 50 lbs. to 65 lbs. A bitch weighs about 10 lbs. less. The length to height ratio should be approximately 1:1.

5. COAT AND COLOUR—The hair of the Vizsla should be short and dense and should lie close to the skin. Each hair should be thick and elastic and the coat should have a glossy sheen.

The correct colour is a golden-rust, sometimes described as the golden colour of the crust bread. In some strains slightly lighter or darker shades may predominate. A white mark on the chest under 2" diameter is permissible but not desirable.

6. HEAD

a) SKULL—Should convey an impression of being lean and muscular, with a median line down the forehead. The top line of the skull should be straight. The skull tends to be comparatively narrow in relation to its length, with that of the male being slightly wider. The occiput is slightly visible. The stop should be slight and sloping rather than abrupt.
b) MUZZLE—The muzzle should be approximately the same length as the skull. It should be narrow, end squarely, and have clean straight lines.
c) NOSE—The solid colour should match the coat but may be slightly darker. The nostrils should be moderate in width.
d) MOUTH—The jaws should be strong and well developed teeth meeting in a scissor or even bite. The lips should be smooth and well developed and cover the teeth tightly. The lips extend in a level line ¾ of the length of the muzzle.
e) EYES—They should be almond-shaped, bright and intelligent in appearance. The colour is in harmony with or darker than the colour of the coat; they should be moderately deep set. The eyelids close neatly and cleanly with no overlap. The nictitating membrane should not be overly exposed.
f) EARS—The ears should be thin, silky and moderately tapered with rounded ends. They should just meet under the jaw, or reach to the corner of the mouth, but should not extend as far as the canine teeth. They should be set about ½" below the level of the skull and hang close to the cheeks.

7. NECK—The neck should be of medium length in proportion to the body. It must be well muscled, with a definite arch at the nape and widened to blend smoothly into the forequarters. The skin of the neck should be smooth and tight.

8. FOREQUARTERS

a) SHOULDERS—The shoulder blade should be of medium length and must be tightly held in place. The angle formed by the shoulder blade (scapula) and the humerus should be approximately 90°. The musculature should be firm, smooth and clearly defined.
b) UPPER-ARM (HUMERUS)—The bone structure should be heavy, smooth and well covered by strong firm muscles. The skin should be firm, pliable and smooth. The upper-arm should be equal in length to the shoulder blade (scapula).
c) LOWER-ARM (Radius and Ulna)—Strong big bones with good muscles. The legs should be straight whether viewed from the front or side. The angle at the elbow joint should be approximately 135°.
d) PASTERNS—The angle that the pastern makes with the lower leg should be nearly straight (about 175°-180°).
e) PAWS—The paws should be cat-like with tightly closed toes and big rough pads. The feet should be webbed. The nails should be short, firm and well-curved, and their colour should be similar to that of the eyes, nose and coat. Dew claws should be removed.

9. BODY

a) TOPLINE—The topline should be broad and smooth and is slightly arched over the loin and croup to the base of the tail; there is a slight depression at the juncture of the withers and the back.
b) CHEST—The chest should be deep reaching down to the elbows and moderately broad. A cross-section of the chest is oval with well sprung ribs, narrowing between the elbows to permit free and easy leg movement. Width of the chest between the forelegs is at least 6" for a male and 5" for a bitch.
c) LOIN—It should be broad, strong and well muscled.
d) CROUP—It should be heavily muscled and smoothly rounded to the base of the tail.
e) ABDOMEN—The abdomen should be trim and neat with a moderate "tuck-up".

10. HINDQUARTERS

a) HIPBONE (Pelvis)—This is the framework which forms the basic support for the hind legs. These pelvic bones should be wide and strong. The musculature attaching to these bones should be very well developed and gives strength to the hindquarters.
b) UPPER THIGH (Femur)—This bone should be heavy, straight, round and smooth. Muscle attachments should be very powerful, broad and evenly distributed. The angle at the hip joint should be 90°.
c) LOWER THIGH (Tibia and Fibula)—Should be well muscled. These bones should be longer than the femur. The angle at the stifle joint should be 110°-120°.
d) HOCKS—The angle at the hock joint should be from 125° to 130°.
e) PAWS—Same as the front.

11. TAIL—The tail set is lower than on the other continental pointing breeds. In motion it is carried outstretched, at or above the horizontal level. A portion is docked, approximately 1/3, so that the tip of the shortened tail is level with the juncture of the upper and lower thigh. It should be thicker at the base than at the tip.

12. GAIT—Viewed from the front, the dog's legs should appear to swing forward in a free and easy manner, with no tendency for the feet to cross over or swing wide. Viewed from the rear the gait should be true-tracking. The topline is level when the dog is in motion, while the head is carried high and the tail "flags" constantly at the proper level.

13. FAULTS

a) Very nervous dogs should be heavily penalized
b) Very dark or very light colour coat
c) Hare feet
d) Light yellow, green, blue or "Pop" eyes
e) Throatiness
f) Dogs 10 lbs over or under the standard weight
g) Dew claws not removed
h) Roached, hollow or camel backs
i) Too steep a croup
j) Undershot or overshot bites

14. DISQUALIFICATIONS

a) A dog 2" or more over or under the standard height.
b) White markings over 2" on the chest or white markings anywhere else other than the chest.

Some days were ...d with poor scenting conditions, ...others our cockers performed better. A typical outing consisted of two hours driving there and back and two hours work. We tracked over all sorts of cover, from low grass to marshy patches thigh-high in reeds. Gradually we increased the length of the track until we were doing 5/600 yards with several corners and delaying up to one hour. We would train on our own plus going to Claire's country property where she (and her keen young daughter Brenda) laid tracks for us and she would show us how to "read" our dogs. By having them skip their usual morning feed, they were really eager to find the leather article under which they knew would be a piece of sliced ham or other delicacy. As they became more proficient, we no more baited the article but gave them a little something in reward for indicating it. Since the months of July/August are unsuitable for tracking here, effectively our training lasted only through June, September and most of October, say three full months.

The actual trial came almost as an anti-climax. Where we had been used to much harder going with four or five corners, we were judged over fine open fields and only two corners to negotiate. True, there were ducks flying around and hunters firing not far off which gave rise to a few anxious moments but otherwise it was easier than many of our practice runs. Tension was present of course and we were delighted at the end to receive from Mr. Bill Strutinski a souvenir in the shape of a token chamy article—a nice touch on his part which we greatly appreciated.

VIZSLAS

Tibor Reiter, 76 Vancouver Ct., Oshawa, Ont.—On October 22 at Kelso Conservation Area, over 20 families turned up in pouring rain to attend the first meeting of the Vizsla Club of Ontario. We plan to hold our next meeting indoors, to choose a temporary committee and then we hope to be well on our way with our new club. Any Vizsla owner who did not know about this meeting, but would be interested in joining the club, please get in touch with the writer. Telephone 579-0319.

WEIMARANERS

Victor Nunn, 1168 Haig Blvd., Mississauga, Ont.—It seems appropriate this month to reflect on Weimaraner activities this past year. The newly founded Weimaraner Association of Canada has provided the impetus for increased interest in conformation, obedience and field work amongst Wy owners.

An inaugral fun match held in early June attracted 19 entries. Several of these dogs were shown regularly at CKC shows during the summer, culminating in an entry of nine Wys at Barrie in August.

A series of three votes were taken for the purpose of upgrading the Weimaraner standard. One concerned coat color, another coat length, and the third, size.

Field training classes were offered this summer under the competent direction of Walter Ogorodnikov. Not all dogs were suitable for field trials but most displayed excellent pointing and retrieving instincts. Those dogs who graduated showed their paces at a picnic held in September.

Jim Chittenden, owner of two UD Wys, held obedience classes for Weimaraners only during the summer. Two CD titles and one CDX title were earned by club members during the year. All breed classes, both novice and advanced, are planned to start in January with Jim again acting as instructor. The services of professional handler Jim McGriskin have been engaged to teach members interested in showing their own dogs. This will be held in conjunction with the obedience classes.

A busy year by anyone's standards and the members of the WAC will relax at their annual Christmas party to be held at the home of John and Sally Williams on December 9, where plans for 1973 showing, hunting and obedience work will be the topics for conversation.

May I take this opportunity to wish all readers of this column a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

NORWEGIAN ELKHOUNDS

Grace McCorkell, 3020 Downing St., Windsor 15, Ont.—At long last we think we are on the way to a complete revision of the Elkhound standard. With a breed club now to act on this surely we will see adopted a standard that will give new breeders and all qualified judges an ideal description on which they can proceed. The evidence for the need of a proper standard is right there before us in the show ring if, indeed, a complete descriptive standard will accomplish anything. Regardless of the outcome we intend to work for improvement of the breed in the kennel and in the show ring.

It has been the policy of the CKC to adopt AKC standards of breeds that do not have a club or association, or dedicated group of breeders to present improvements and suggestions. Somehow or other the CKC failed to keep up with what slight improvements have been made over the border. I am referring to the height of bitches in the old standard. It is several years ago that the AKC standard was changed from 18" to 19½", the same as in Norway. So here we are with a beautiful new Kennel Directory just out and in it we find the old short-legged figure 18". Regardless of where the blame for that lies surely there are enough of us across the country now to have some influence on what is right or wrong for our breed.

In September, after several years of struggle to come up with a standard that would satisfy almost one hundred percent of the membership, the Norwegian Elkhound Association of America were successful in seeing adopted a new revised standard. They are now awaiting the seal of approval from AKC. This new standard is published in the November issue of our newsletter for members of the club. Non-members are welcome to a copy by sending a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to the editor, M. E. Lewis, Box 53, Locust Hill, Ont.

We may find it necessary to make some changes in the new American standard to suit all Canadians with an interest in our breed and this is what we are attempting to find out now. If it needs to be revised it will be before we present it to the CKC for approval. We are now soliciting comments and eagerly watching the mail for them.

BEARDED COLLIES

Carol Gold, 39 Claxton Blvd., Toronto 10.—Just back from England, where I submerged myself in Beardies for three weeks. I was fortunate in choosing a charter flight that got me to England in time to attend the Bearded Collie Club specialty show in Manchester. Over 100 Beardies were entered, including many of the best-known. The show was held in an auditorium, the entire centre of the hall being given over to the ring, which was not separated from the audience. Spectators, competitors and their dogs filled the two rows of chairs which lined the sides. Judging took over five hours and involved much less handling of the dogs than is usual in Canada. Very little "bait" was used, and the dogs were not as groomed as they would be in this country. In fact, over-grooming of Beardies is frowned upon as uncalled-for in a working breed.

I was honored, as President of the Bearded Collie Club of Canada, to be asked to present the trophies and cups to the winners. Best in Show was the dog, Rossbourne Cynpeg's Hobo and Best Bitch and Reserve Best in Show was Marguerite of Tambora.

During the rest of my holiday I managed to visit a great number of Beardie breeders. As is typical of dog people in England, only a few in our breed have what could be termed kennels. The great majority have three or four Beardies who live in the house and are family pets—or in some cases, working farm dogs—as well as show and breeding stock.

Many of the breeders I had met before, others were new acquaintances. But all were friendly, very hospitable and patient in answering my multitudinous questions. They brought out their dogs to be filmed, they pointed out their faults and their virtues and were interested and concerned about the breed in North America. I really appreciated all their help and time . . . and knowledge.

Beardies are the only breed in England to which the Kennel Club has granted the right to use unregistered working dogs in breeding programs. A number of breeders are taking advantage of this and the results are very good. Working Beardies, from lines of unregistered shepherd's dogs, have thrown typical Beardies, thus demonstrating the purity and antiquity of the Bearded Collie. This does present one slight problem for the potential Canadian buyer, in that the CKC does not allow us to register a dog with less than three generations of registered ancestors. So the buyer must be sure his dog is at least three generations from an outcross. Since the Kennel Club registers the outcross and its progeny, it is quite possible to have a Beardie registered here whose pedigree disappears in the 4th generation. Or dissolve into names like "Shaggy", "Mirk", "Bess", etc.

Four years ago, when I left England after living there for several years, judges were still putting up heavily coated Beardies. Somehow, the breeders have managed to educate the judges into recognizing the correct, flat coat which shows plenty of daylight, and the incorrect, standoff, profuse coat is seldom seen in the cards. Also, judges have learned that a Beardie's eyes must be visible, not hidden behind a faceful of hair like an Old English Sheepdog.

Temperment? Well, at the show, with over 100 Beardies present, none crated, all lying snoozing on the floor or watching the proceedings, there was not one mutter or disagreement between any of the dogs, nor did any dog show any less than amiable friendliness toward the humans present. (and I put quite a few dogs to the test, because I took movies of the whole show and this often meant using any available dog as an elbow or camera rest. I got licked a lot.)

Checking on size, I was assured that breeders are keeping Beardies well within the ideals as laid down by the Standard (20-21" for bitches, 21-22" for dogs). Some breeders prefer bitches to be slighly smaller, but I myself am with those who stick to the standard.

The films I took include just about every major winning dog and many of the background dogs in our breed. If anyone presently judging Beardies or planning to apply for their license to judge Beardies would like to see these films as an aid to developing an "eye" for type, please contact me.

COLLIES/SHELTIES

Ariel Sleeth, well-known breeder, judge, horsewoman and farm owner reports on the cross-country activities of these breeds. Send your news items to her direct: Sovereign Kennels, R.R. 6, Kingston, Ont. —This is the time of year for reflection, for looking back at past mistakes and triumphs. Hopefully to have learned from both of them so that we may reach even higher in our aims for the coming new year.

I do believe that our breeds, the Collie and the Sheltie, draw to them a particular kind of person with character and dedication that is reflected in the quality and the popularity of these breeds. I also believe that the road ahead for the Collie and Sheltie is going to require the very best effort of dedicated breeders and that always in the foreground we must keep our sights on what is best for the breed rather than the individual dog or kennel or person.

This month's column is going to consist entirely of the answers to Mrs. Ramson's requests last month.

First a report on the Canadian Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Assoc. Symposium and Eye Clinic held October 14 in Montreal, from the President, Mrs. Dorothy Fountain.

On October 14 the Canadian Collie & Shetland Sheepdog Association, Montreal and District, held its second Eye Clinic, with Dr. Richard Donovan, of the Retinal Foundation, Boston, again doing the testing and lecturing.

This clinic attracted 113 dogs, all but a half dozen of which were Collies and Shelties. This figure doubled our first clinic. On finding that there was a problem concerning the Shelties especially, breeders begged, borrowed and paid for dogs already sold so that further checks could be made on breeding stock. Most breeders realize that haphazard checking is not the answer and the more (ideally all) that can be checked the better. It is often the ones not brought that are the affected ones. As proof of the sincerity of breeders, we had a Sheltie breeder from Halifax with two entire litters of Shelties, Collie breeders from Kingston and Ottawa and interested breeders travelled alone from Sudbury and Vermont just to hear our speakers during the symposium and evening. It might be mentioned here that Mrs. Joan Gordon of Halifax has already run a very successful clinic in Halifax, along with a veterinarian, and is already planning another one. In spite of that she has come up to both our clinics. We salute breeders of this calibre.

This was our first branching out into having secondary happenings. There was a grooming demonstration by our own Hazel Slaughter, a much appreciated talk on 'Raising Collie Pups' by Mrs. F. Sleeth, Kingston, and Mrs. Marianne McDonough of Troy, N.Y., spoke on the Genetics of the Collie (Head) to a very keen audience. We wish to thank all these people for their time and help.

We had a sliding rate of fee so as to encourage breeders to test all stock. It costs approximately $4.08 to test one dog (considering all expenses) so many breeders were subsidized by the one and two dog owners. Each clinic has operated at a loss to the club financially. This past clinic would have had quite a sizable loss except that our tireless Irene Leduc ran a cafe all day and served dinners at night, resulting in a $100.00 profit. As it stands our loss amounts to approximately $75.00.

It is apparent that these clinics will have to be continued—once yearly at least and ideally twice. The Ottawa area is being canvassed in the hope that there will be sufficient numbers to warrant having a clinic there in the spring.

We would hope that other clubs in other districts of Canada would take it upon themselves to sponsor similar clinics. This is a most worthwhile contribution by a club in helping to produce sound stock. If any club is interested and would like information as to how to go about arranging such a clinic, we would be most willing to help.

My own observation of the clinic from the view of a breeder having stock checked was most favorable. On arrival, a secretary fills out forms for each dog that is to be examined and payment is made at this time. Once the forms are completed and signed by the owner of the dog, they are given to Dr. Donovan to be completed at the time of your appointment. The form filled in by Dr. Donovan is then given to the owner of the dog. Along with the findings of the eye check, the dog is rated on the form as breedable or not breedable.

The only improvement I could suggest in this method would be the use of the dog's registered name and number (if available) rather than the call name. I think the registered name on the form would have greater value to the purchaser of the dog or to the party considering the dog for stud.

I was disappointed not to be able to stay for the dinner, and talk by Dr. Donovan. This was illustrated with colored slides of the various problems occurring with staphyloma, chorio retinal change and PRA. Mrs. Hazel Slaughter sent a note, at my request, saying the one thing Dr. Donovan stressed was the need for complete honesty between breeders. What is needed is a program of intelligent breeding; don't hide your head in the sand, but on the other hand don't panic and have all dogs checked by a competent and specializing optomologist.

The booklet "Guidelines for Dog Show Judges", published by the AKC and distributed to all AKC judges, would make dog shows much more pleasant and sportsmanlike if followed by all judges. I think we are inclined to take for granted a judge's lack of consideration for the exhibitor because it occurs so frequently. The following are some of the more pertinent points contained in the booklet

Responsibilities

It is vitally important for all judges to understand their responsibilities to the sport. Judges represent the entire sport and in particular The American Kennel Club. The judge, and the judge alone, decides all awards. These awards influence the breeding plans of fanciers, and consequently have an impact on breeding trends and the development of a breed. This influence on the sport must always be kept uppermost in a judge's mind.

Responsibility to the Exhibitor

All exhibitors, whether veterans with their Best in Show winners or novices with their obvious house pets, pay the same entry fee for the same purpose, to have their dogs passed on and placed accordingly. Payment of an entry fee indicates the exhibitor considers the judge capable. It must be remembered for every experienced exhibitor there are hundreds of newcomers. To slight them will eventually cause many to lose interest and quit the sport. The big exhibitor, the professional handler, and the judge all need the novice. The entire future of the sport depends on the novice.

The Challenge and Responsibilities of Judging

Judging can be one of the most challenging and rewarding experiences in the sport of pure-bred dogs. Knowledge gained from breeding and exhibiting can be enhanced by judging. Until you have stood before a class of dogs, evaluated and placed them, your education in the sport is incomplete.

A judge's responsiblities are great. They must know the Rules and breed standards and judge strictly in accord with them; they must demonstrate complete impartiality in their decisions; and they must act in a manner befitting the dignity of their position.

At the Show

On the day of the show judges should not visit the grooming or exercise areas, examine or have in their possession a catalogue, discuss the merits of the dogs of the breeds to be judged, or talk at length with those who may be exhibiting under them. Judges should not accept invitations to social functions immediately before a show, where the host or guests are likely to be exhibiting under them. It is, of course, proper to attend an affair given by the club holding the show, unless the dinner will be attended by individuals exhibiting at the show.

I have only touched on the information available in this booklet but I am sure all would agree if only those discussed above were acted on it would be an improvement. It is discouraging to have the novice frightened out of the sport. It is discouraging for the knowledgeable breeder to hear a judge point out and comment on a dog being "lovely" when knowledge of the breed standard would tell him or her, the individual was very mediocre. Perhaps The Canadian Kennel Club will come up with a booklet such as this to distribute to their judges.

Isn't this adorable?

Bull Terrier that thinks he's a kitten. "Big question", says the owner, "will he Meow when he grows up?"

Newsy Notes

From Oklahoma, U.S.A.
Comes the sad news of the passing of Florence Cummings of Arrowhill Collies. Mrs. Cummings was a judge and author. Her storehouse of knowledge dated back to 1910. Albert Payson Terhune purchased several Collies from her and she was known for her "eye for a good Collie".

From British Columbia
The Shetland Sheepdog Club of B. C. Sheltie Tails brings news of the passing of a great Sheltie, Ch. Thistlerose Arcwood Aladdin, the noted sire of champions both in the U.S. and Canada. Aladdin has been one of the "pillars of the breed" and will be missed by the fancy and his owner, Mr. Leslie Roger.

From Montreal, Quebec
The Bright Eyes and Bushy Tails Bulletin contained a few works of wisdom by Irene Leduc—

I'm careful of the words I say
To keep them soft and sweet,
I never know from day to day
Which ones I'll have to eat

EDLINGTONS

rs. Rezin Davis, a past-resident of the BTCA, was the thor of this charming story en-titled 'The Christmas Dog;' presented in the '55 issue of the club bulletin.

"On that first Christmas night, after the angels had sung their carols to the shepherds in the field, and the shepherds had followed the star leading to the Child in the manger and worshiped Him as was foretold by the prophets, they returned to their flocks.

"Now two of the shepherds were older men with many sheep which they had left with their wise guard dogs so that none might go astray. But the third shepherd was young and had but few sheep; his only dog was a little black, furry puppy. Before he had gone on his journey he had told the puppy, "You are only a little black puppy but I trust you to guard my sheep."

"When the shepherds returned, the flocks of the older men were grazing peacefully but the sheep of the young shepherd were all scattered and the little black puppy was nowhere to be found. The shepherd searched far and wide and finally discovered him lying in the bushes badly cut and wounded; near him lay the body of a mountain lion that had tried to steal the sheep.

"Then the shepherd gathered his dog in his arms and bathed his wounds and said to him, "You are only a little black puppy but you obeyed me and saved my flock. From now on you will change and grow to look more and more like a sheep, so all will remember your bravery on the birthday of the Saviour of the World."

"And this took place. To this day, Bedlingtons are born fuzzy, black puppies, then slowly change to the lamb-like dog we all know and love. That is why the motto of the Bedlington Terrier is "Head like a lamb—but heart like a lion."

BULL TERRIERS

The Bull Terrier Club of Canada has in production a new quarterly magazine on Bull Terriers. The Bull's-Eye is edited by Mr. Bob Johnson and contains many interesting articles and photographs. Anyone wishing information concerning this magazine can contact the club secretary, Mrs. Joan Davidson, 7163 Darcel Ave., Mississauga, Ont.

On October 14, at Wheeling, Ill., The Silverwood Trophy Competition for the best bred North American Bull Terrier was held. We are pleased to say that Canada did very well at this competition with the winner being a lovely white, Canadian-bred bitch, Sunburst Solar System. She is owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. Spicer and bred by Mr. and Mrs. G. Travers of Toronto. The runner-up and best colored Bull Terrier was the well-known Canadian-bred bitch, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Molyba Snip Snap Sororum, owned and bred by Mrs. H. Molyneux, Uxbridge, Ont. Best of Opposite Sex was won by a colored male, Am. Ch. Highland's Big Ben who is bred and owned by Forest and Agnes Rose of Illinois. The best white male was Ch. (Can. & Am.) Tantrum's Trad Lad, bred by Mr. and Mrs. P. Hyde, Phelpston, Ont., and owned by Mrs. Paula Shames. The runner-up male was also a Canadian-bred dog, Mr. Wiggins, who is owned by O. Paul Maier of Winnipeg and bred by J. Cowan.

If you have an interest in B.T.'s you should try to attend this event next year when it will be held in conjunction with the Montgomery County Kennel Club show.

KERRY BLUE

P.A. system announcement at a recent championship show "All Kery Brown Terriers to ring one." Following day's announcement, "will all Blue Terriers stand by, please."

This brings to mind a situation that occurs occasionally in the Kerry ring. Kerries, as most people know, go through a color transition. The correct mature color is any shade of gray blue or gray from deep slate to light silver-gray, of a uniform color throughout except that distinctly darker blue to black parts may appear on the muzzle, head, ears, tail and feet. The coats of Kerries under the age of 18 months may be dark blue in color or any shade of brown with or without a grayish tinge, without regard to uniformity.

Judges should give more consideration to the "transition stages" of Kerries, keeping in mind that a young Kerry "Blue" just might well be a Kerry "Brown."

MINIATURE SCHNAUZERS.

The Miniature Schnauzer Club of Canada is to be congratulated for their advertising campaign. They, along with The Terrier Breeders Association of Canada, have been placing ads in the local newspapers to help to assist the general public in the purchasing of pure-bred dogs. Maybe if more clubs followed the example of these and several other breed clubs, we could help to encourage more people to buy from reputable, recognized, Canadian breeders.

STAFFORDSHIRE BULL TERRIERS

Ian and Joan Trott have recently received their long-awaited puppy from England. He is already attending our Canadian shows and I understand has just graduated from Mrs. Pugh's obedience class. Congratulations to Pride of Black King; hope to see you in the obedience ring too!

From Pat Cooke at Terrco Kennels comes the report of the attaining of a kennel manageress. Mrs. Pat Anderson is one of the Staffordshire B.T. Club of Canada's most enthusiastic workers and has had a great deal of experience in the care of animals, having been with the Alta Vista Animal Hospital in Ottawa. The Cookes are also delighted to have Pat's Stafford bitch, Terrco's Honey Buff, with them again. "Buffy", I hear, is telling her kennelmates just exactly how de-

by JOAN MORDEN

Many of our terrier breeds have a size problem", says Cliff Tushingham of Dorcliff Kerry fame.

If you were to ask Cliff Tushingham to name his favorite breed his answer would be: "Terriers!" Cliff has had a lifetime interest in both horses and dogs and, except for his first pet, which was a Rough Collie, he has been a terrier enthusiast for almost 50 years. He has kennelled upwards of 60 terriers at one time and over the years has owned or handled quite a variety including Airedales, Fox, Welsh, Irish and Kerry Blues.

Cliff started in dogs as an apprentice while he was just a youngster and progressed through all the stages—kennel helper, groomer, handler, exhibitor, breeder and judge. Today he confines his handling to dogs that he owns, and is approved to judge terriers in Canada and seven terrier breeds in the U.S. He has retired from the Toronto Fire Dept. where he was employed for 30 years and with his wife Dorothy, also a dog enthusiast, divides his time between their Toronto apartment and their summer home on Buckhorn Lake. Cliff is also president of the re-activated Canadian Professional Handlers Ass'n., an organization in which he was very active during its earlier years.

His first job was at Walnut Kennels, a renowned Airedale kennel owned by Sam Bamforth whose dogs, Cliff says, were shipped to every country in the world. Later he moved to Oakville, a town which he recalls was the center of Canadian dogdom at the time. One of the chief reasons must have been the fact that the late, great Ted Ward and his son George were located there just a block away from Cliff. It is regrettable, he says, that today there are no terrier men of Ted Ward's calibre in Canada with whom young handler aspirants can train.

At this time, too, the Kerry Blue Terrier was just being introduced into Canada. The breed attracted Cliff which, to a dog lover, means buying and showing a few. He says that the first specimens brought over from Ireland were a wild, tough lot. At home the dogs had to prove themselves as workers before they were entitled to seek a bench championship. Working meant bringing down both a badger and an otter so toughness was a "must".

One of the greatest dogs that he imported came from England, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Downsview Dolphin, who more than proved his quality on this continent. The dog was out of the top English sire and dam at that time and became the top winning terrier in Canada. In 1940 Dolph won "The Dog of the Decade" award, a special prize offered by Dr. Secretan and Mr. Norman Brown to the terrier with the best winning record. Dolph was Best in Show at the Canadian National Exhibition and completed his American title by going Winners Dog at the Morris and Essex and Westminster shows and Best of Winners at Ketonah.

Dolph became the foundation Kerry stud at Longview, which was Cliff's registered kennel name at that time. Later, after his marriage, this name was changed to Dorcliff, the prefix which is probably better known in the fancy.

Then the war years intervened. Cliff enlisted in the navy and had to leave his dogs. Dolph was entrusted to the care of the late George Davies. But, like a true dog man he sought out the dog shows wherever he was stationed. And handled whenever he could. He recalls winning Best in Show with a Doberman Pinscher when he was stationed on the west coast. Then a serious injury, multiple fractures of the spine, invalided him home and he spent many long, weary months recovering in Christie St. Hospital in Toronto. Then he was back with his hobby.

Breed texts credit Cliff with making a considerable contribution to the development of Kerries both in Canada and the U.S. And one of the dogs most responsible, he thinks, was Am. Ch. Dorcliff Damsel who finished her American title in three shows with two group firsts to her credit. In 1960 Damsel won the Popular Dogs award in the U.S. for the top producing brood bitch. Quality Kerries, Cliff says, are still coming down from her.

With so many years' experience in the dog game, Cliff is able to compare the dogs of today with those that went before. He makes some interesting observations. The first that came to mind was the unsuitability of the Lhasa Apso in the terrier group. "Who ever heard of a terrier with an undershot mouth?", asks Cliff. He likes the breed but thinks it belongs in the Non-Sporting group. And he also thinks that we are growing many of our terriers much too big on this continent. He sees this as the reason why we must keep on importing breeding stock from overseas. He cannot understand why North American breeders are unable to keep some breeds down to size as the English do. And although he thinks that our Kerries are structurally superior to the overseas dogs, he thinks this breed, too, has a size problem in North America. He also thinks that our Lakelands and Welsh are, in many instances, becoming almost indistinguishable one breed from the other.

On the question of handler training, he hopes that the handlers association will work out an apprentice system that will train true professionals for the future. And he does not entirely approve of the regulation forbidding judges of one group from handling in another. He says that 90% of our best breed judges come from the ranks of the handlers. Working with dogs and showing them, Cliff thinks, is the best schooling for a judge.

STAFFORDSHIRE TERRIERS

There have been more and more people contacting me for information concerning the American Staffordshire Terrier. This dog is too often confused with the Staffordshire Bull Terrier, the breed seen in our Canadian shows.

May I suggest that anyone wishing to purchase the larger Staffordshire Terrier first make sure that the dog is registered with the American Kennel Club. The UKC registered Staffordshire Terriers available are not eligible for CKC registration and therefore are not allowed to compete in our Canadian championship shows. It would be nice to see both the American Staffordshire Terrier and the Staffordshire Bull Terrier in our shows so that possibly some of the confusion arising between the two breeds could be cleared up.

WELSH TERRIERS

Thanks to Barb Pirrie for this article by Barbara Jacoby taken from the Welsh Terrier Club of Northern Illinois bulletin.

Training the Welsh Terrier: Firm, consistent correction, combined with loving praise, is the only way to train Welsh Terriers. Two short periods daily are best for them. If you feel frustrated, stop and begin again the next day. I suspect that the dogs stay up nights, thinking how to outwit me during the next day's training session. They are not spiteful — just independent. Remember, it takes longer to train a 'Welshie' than any other breed. Keep in mind, that although the training is hard work, it is all worth the effort. It enhances the marvellous Welsh Terrier personality and builds a close, happy relationship with your dog. A good obedience school is an invaluable help. Choose one with great care. Treat any school that advocates harsh training methods as if it had the plague. Welsh Terriers are terrible busy-bodies. At first they will work with their heads screwed on backwards. The key to their training is love. If you love your Welsh, you will have patience to always balance your corrections with lots of sincere praise. A Welsh Terrier shows his love for his master through his gay and exhuberant performance in obedience.

Soundless Devotion
(by Leslie Savage Clark)

A dog's love knows no boundary lines,
No sign of wealth or place.
Across the years his faithful feet
Have followed every race.
Through 'Asian jungle, English moor,
The steppes or Arctic snows,
Beside a master 'round the earth
Some dog's devotion goes.

'Satan', 'Marshall', 'Sparky', 'Duchess', and I would like to wish everyone a very happy holiday season and a very prosperous New Year.

CHIHUAHUAS

Mrs. C. G. Peterson, 1 Robinson St. S., Grimsby, Ont.—Canadian, American, Mexican Champion Quantico's Little Crusader was awarded the all breed Best in Show by Mrs. Carl Cass at the Meri-Miss Kennel Club show, held in Meridian, Miss. October 30. Noted breeder, judge Mrs. D. Crouse chose this Chihuahua as her Group winner. This is a great win for a Chihuahua as three of the competing dogs were multiple Best in Show winners and one the top dog in his breed. Crusader was bred by me and is co-owned by me and the Humphreys Chihuahuas of California. This gives Crusader a total of 32 group placements and one all breed Best in Show and one Best in Specialty Show to date. Crusader is, at the present time, top winning Chihuahua in the United States.

POODLES

Susan Radley Fraser, 2109½ Yonge St., Toronto 7—Canadian Standard Poodles have been doing some nice winning at American dog shows in the past few weeks. The William Penn Poodle Club Futurity was well attended by several Standard Poodle breeders from Ontario. Six month old black Amical Avante Garde of Bibelot was Best Standard male Poodle in the Puppy Futurity. Bibelot's Hail The Chief was fourth in this class. Second in the 6-9 month old bitch class was my Bibelot's Hey Look Me Over and fourth in this same class was Mary Jane Weir's Titian Sweet Susie-Q.

The Standard brood bitch class was won by Penny Nevile's Ch. Bibelot's All My Love represented by Amical Avante Garde of Bibelot and Amical Amity of Bibelot.

My black Ch. (Can. & Am.) Bibelot's Smart Cut has just returned from a quick and sunny trip to Texas where he won the Lone Star Poodle specialty.

Canadian bred Standard Poodles did some nice winning at the Topeka Poodle Club Specialty. Jean Lyle's black Ch. Wycliffe Thomas Too, was WD and his sister, Wycliffe Titonia, was WB. The third littermate, Ch. Wycliffe Tiara, owned by Jane Blueman, was Reserve. Best Standard Pup went to my Bibelot's Hey Look Me Over. The stud dog class was won by Ch. Wycliffe Donald Dhu.

He would also like to see our terrier standards updated to conform to the A.K.C. standards because of the interchange of show and breeding stock between the two countries.

And Cliff would like to see a return of the former prestige to Canadian dog shows. He thinks that far too many are held in unattractive surroundings. And he would like to see the introduction, at all shows, of an adequate "ready ring" to protect dogs and their handlers from the bustling crowd of ringside spectators.

He also thinks that judging schedules should be more detailed and that, when a dog is reported absent by someone other than the handler or owner, that person should have to sign a statement to this effect. Too often, Cliff says, dogs have missed their chance in the ring because someone has erroneously reported them absent. He thinks, too, that after the age of 40, all judges should be required to pass periodic eye examinations. Failure to do so, he thinks, should result in withdrawal of approval to judge.

Cliff's thoughts and reminiscences are legion and it is not possible, in the space of one short article to cover all the highlights from a 50 year career. He talks of things like an entry of 57 Kerries at the Royal Winter Fair dog show; of how the Wards, Ted and George, travelled long distances to shows in a truck piled high with show dogs and of the old wooden building where the C.N.E. dog shows were held. Recently Cliff was guest of honor at a surprise reception held in Toronto. Gifts presented to him on that occasion promise to become his dearest treasures. More than 60 guests paid tribute to a man who for 50 years has continued to give his best to his chosen hobby.

Eastern eases rule for pets

NEW YORK — Eastern Airlines, following several years strict observance of the Federal Aviation Authority rule that bans all heavy carry-on baggage that cannot fit under the aircraft seats, including kennels and bird cages, now welcome a limited number of very small household pets back inside its passenger cabins.

Eastern now permits one pet container each for its first class and economy sections aboard domestic flights. The only catch is the container must measure not more than 19" in length, 17" wide and 7½" in height to pack snugly beneath the seat in front of the passenger. The normal excess baggage charge for animals, however, will still apply. Because of the limit to two such containers on each flight, passengers planning to carry small dogs, cats or birds with them are advised to call Eastern in advance so that space may be reserved.

Eastern, with the help of a manufacturer, is developing a new light-weight, waterproof cardboard pet container meeting these specifications. They are available free on request to passengers at most airports. Reservations for pet space may be made at the same time passengers book their flights, either through travel agents or Eastern's own ticket offices, or by telephone.

Containers to hold larger pets for transportation in the baggage compartments of all aircraft will continue to be sold at airports in the customary manner.

"Malve" - an Austrian born Bull Terrier and friend

A wild seal, a rare visitor, somehow wandered into the Bay of Lubeck on the Baltic Sea and stayed to make his home there. He was in the habit of coming ashore to sleep where he was discovered, one evening, by "Malve", an Austrian-born Bull Terrier. At first curious and unsure of each other, the two have become good friends. Now, when "Malve" is out for a walk the seal swims in to shore and the two often enjoy an hour-long romp.

THE ANIMALS CAME IN ONE BY ONE—Buster Lloyd-Jones; Wm. Collins & Son - $5.95

Now in its fourth printing, this treasure is a "must" for dog lovers.

Buster Lloyd-Jones was born to be a "healer of animals" although, at first, his family was rather difficult to convince. This autobiography tells the story of how the author overcame his parents objections to his chosen profession and several bouts of poor health to become one of England's most skilled veterinary surgeons.

It is also the story of a man who had compassion for England's pets who, by the thousands, were put to sleep when World War II broke out. On a ten acre estate, bought for the purpose, Buster Lloyd-Jones kennelled hundreds of displaced family pets. There were 100 Dachshunds alone to say nothing of other breeds and crossbreeds, cats, tortoises, sheep, goats and so on. A menagerie that never stopped growing.

How all these wartime residents were maintained makes fascinating reading. The book is loaded with heartwarming anecdotes, delightfully illustrated. It is a joy to read, a pleasure to give. —Joan Morden

THE COMPLETE DOG BOOK OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB—$8.50

Released just in time for Christmas giving (and don't forget yourself) is the new improved 1972 edition of this extremely important book. So informative is it that if there were but a single dog book the writer could own, it would be The Complete Dog Book.

More than 190 excellent photographs and drawings include 7 new breed pictures and anatomical sketches that clearly depict structure and gait.

All Standards for the 116 breeds recognized by the AKC have been completely redesigned. The 22 changes made in Standards in the four years since the last edition make it important for breeders exhibiting in the States to consult.

For the first time the Complete Dog Book shows how dogs are measured, what disqualifications apply to all breeds, how to pronounce foreign breed names.

In 100 pages the expert staff of Cornell's Research Laboratory for the Diseases of Dogs tells how to keep your dogs alive, healthy, happy and well-behaved. Vital for the novice, useful to the experienced breeder. — Kay Peer

A PLACE FOR MURDER—Emma Lathen; Pocket Books —95¢

Here's the perfect "stocking stuffer" for dog loving mystery buffs. The murder of an outstanding professional handler on the eve of the local dog show sets John Putnam Thatcher, banker cum sleuth, into action.

The locale, a village set in posh Connecticut country, will be very familiar to readers. As will the local gentry, show committee problems and the quaint country inn suddenly brimful of exhibitors and their dogs.

The denouement is plausible and keeps the reader guessing almost to the very last page.

The author is referred to as America's Agatha Christie although I am sure I've read that Emma Lathen is not one, but two, writers, collaborating under this pseudonym. The style is fast-paced, clever and funny. —Joan Morden

Remembrance of a splay-footed mutt is touching story is from the script of a oadcast of the Bill McVean show, "Let's Personal."

ere was an item in the paper some ne ago that brought back memories. It as a press release from South Korea out the death of Major Pochon.

The Major was a dirty little dog of un-tain ancestry, who was adopted back 1951 by the 59th Squadron of the nerican Air Force.

And as I read the item, my mind went ck to the Second World War, and I ndered what ever happened to Josh-ns?

Joshkins was a black-and-white, splay oted mutt, who held the rank of Ser-ant in the British 2nd Tactical Air rce. He had originally been attached Bomber command somewhere up the glish midlands, where he acquired his ly bad habit.

It was his way of saying "Good Luck" the crews, to leap gaily into the air, d snap at the propellors as the aircraft ied out. It was a pretty sight, and he s really in no great danger, as the ps on a Lancaster cleared the ground a fairly safe distance.

I first met Joshkins at Biggin Hill, the Battle of Britain fighter base just south-west of London. He had been transferred to fighter command and (as a result of the difference in prop clearance between Lancasters and Spitfires) he was nursing a rather nasty gash on his lip. The experience didn't cure him, though. He still would rush out with the scramble, and perform a death defying back flip inches from the tip of a spinning propellor.

But as far as I know, he was only wounded the one time. (Sergeant dogs learn fast).

Joshkins belonged to no one in particular. He attached himself to our squadron which was 411—the Grizzly Bear Squadron—126 Wing, and men arrived, rotated, or went missing, and new ones came, but Josh went on forever.

Shortly after D-Day, the squadron moved across the channel to France, and of course Josh went along. There wasn't room in the fighters, so he travelled across with the "stand down" crews—in a paradrop Dakota.

The trip was uneventful, except for one nearly fatal incident. I was present, and can verify the facts.

Our escort was a squadron of American Thunderbolts. Now above all things in heaven and earth, Josh hated Americans. He had been in too many pub brawls with them, I guess.

Well, he just sat there glowering through the open door of the aircraft, (they had taken it off to drop parachutists) mumbling to himself, until one of the T-bolts jockeyed in a little too close.

Like a cork out of a bottle—Josh shot straight out the door, in a heroic attempt to grab the aircraft by its wingtip and flip it over on its back.

The only thing that saved him, was that his leash was hooked to the parachute drop wire on the roof of the Dakota, and we hauled him back in . . . badly shaken, but unharmed!

I often wondered what the Thunderbolt pilot thought, when he saw a dog shooting at him, across 9,000 feet of sky!!

During a war, time hangs pretty heavy, and it's mostly boredom. Josh was the greatest morale booster any bunch of guys ever had. Hs was always ready to play with you if you felt playful, or let you scratch his ear if you were homesick. He seemed to know who had just lost a buddy, and he moved in with them until the hurt passed. Then he'd move on to the next guy—because Joshkins was nobody's dog but his own!

Josh led his squadron across Normandy, through France, into Belgium, and wintered in Holland, waiting for the 1945 spring offensive. When the war ended, Josh and his squadron were at an airfield deep in Germany—up north of Hamburg. A place called Utersen—and, gradually the unit started breaking up. First one group left for home, then another, until finally my turn came.

The day I left, I remember Josh and a handful of men standing in the chow line. That's the last I ever saw of him. I think I cried a bit because Sergeant Joshkins the dog, didn't know—(but those few remaining men knew)—there was a tight law against taking a dog off the continent. He either had to be left (to starve), or be put away.

I still wonder whether someone, somehow managed to smuggle Josh back to England.

Maybe, but I think a medal should be struck for Joshkins and for the last man to leave.

• Many human foods contain rmally occurring toxicants and ould not be consumed in excess Kantities.

If man were to eat only one od as his sole diet serious nutri-nal problems would develop. hile most humans eat a variety foods, many do have a tenden-y to consume excessive quanti-es of specific foods which also n lead to nutritional problems.

Practically every natural food nsumed in the human diet is k-tritionally unbalanced. Eaten large quantities many "normal ods" can even be toxic to hu-ans and dogs. For example:

• Estrogenic or female-like rmone activity has been detect-in honey, carrots, apples, ums, cherries, wheat, rice, oats d potatoes.

Turnips, cabbage, spinach and rrots are goitrogens and in ex-ss prevent normal iodine utili-tion.

• Lathyrism, which shows up muscular weakness and para-sis in the legs of animals, has en associated with some leg-nes consumed in human diets.

• The functions of cholinester-e, an enzyme that helps control rve impulses in the body, are paired by such foods as uash, broccoli, cabbage, pep-r, oranges, strawberries, toma-es, lima beans and potatoes. ese foods contain cholinester-e inhibitors which interfere th nerve activity. (Many com-ercial insecticides contain in-edients that inhibit this enzyme d causes death in many in-cts.)

• Even spices such as ginger, tmeg, red peppers and mustard ntain toxicants.

It is easy to see from this brief scription that several foods mmon to the human diet can eate serious nutrition and alth problems when fed to gs. Since our research shows at dogs don't want variety (it's learned desire) and don't need riety (most commercial dog ods are nutritionally balanced d complete) it would be a mis-ke to feed your dogs human ods merely for "variety" rea-ons.

While man consumes many dif-rent foods because no one food nutritionally complete in itself, gs are more fortunate in that ey do have dog foods that are mplete and require nothing ore—Reprinted from "Purina ennel News"

No insects, dogs or cats in China

WHITBY, Ont.—Whitby businessman Richard Matthews visited the Great Wall of China during a three-week visit to that country. But one of the things that impressed him most there was the lack of insect pests, dogs, cats and birds. He was told that all such animals had been eliminated as non-productive. He said he thought elimination of the birds was not necessarily intentional but probably was a side effect of an insect obliteration project undertaken in recent years.

Basenji owes last five years to a pacemaker

Five years ago when Count, a pet Basenji, failed to respond to regular treatment for congestive heart failure, he was referred by the family veterinarian to The University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine.

As the only possible way to increase his life span, Dr. Jas. Buchanan, a specialist in cardiac disease of animals, implanted a pacemaker in Count's abdomen which was connected to his heart by fine wires, a procedure which had been tested but never before used in the actual treatment of canine heart disease.

Now 14 years old, Count celebrates five years of living with his pacemaker and has set a canine survival record. His success has also opened the way for the use of pacemakers in therapeutic canine medicine.

If a Muscovite's pet is ill . . .

If a Muscovite's dog, cat, rabbit or any other pet falls ill he knows what address to apply to: the Moscow City Veterinary-Sanitary Station. Lyudmila Sergienko, correspondent of the Moscow regional newspaper Leninskoye Znamya, recently visited this station. This is her report.

In the spacious waiting room of the station I found a huge English Bulldog gravely awaiting his turn. From time to time his gruff bark rang out. He cannot stand cats but for some unknown reason there were quite a few of them in the room.

In the x-ray room, Dr. Peter Otto, who has been working here for 36 years, was receiving patients. Someone had swallowed an eraser and an operation had to be urgently performed. Somebody else had already managed to get hurt in the autumn hunting. Dr. Otto examines each patient carefully, for a long time, stroking and watching it while asking the owner about its habits and nature. And all his movements are so loving and tender that it is impossible not to have faith in him. And the animals trust him, even the fiercest and most nervous.

"If you had come a little earlier," Dr. Otto told me, "you might have made the acquaintance of a four-footed actor. We have only just removed the stitches and discharged from our hospital a wolf who is playing in a film at the Mosfilm Studio."

Veterinary surgeon Lilia Barbashova completes the cropping of the Boxer Zita's ears.

"Anything serious?" I asked.

"Eight days ago, this wolf, who was reared at Durov's Corner (a popular menagerie-museum in Moscow), underwent a complicated abdominal operation. Would you believe it, he had not been finicky about his food with the result that kaprostasis set in and a part of the intestine had to be removed."

We walked down a long, echoing corridor, past a row of white doors. Dr. Otto was making his rounds. He was welcomed by happy yelps and barks from Alsatians, hounds, and Dachshunds. Only one little Bolognese lay sadly with her nose on her paws and refused to raise her head. She was not interested in visitors, she had only just undergone a difficult operation.

"Your patients probably don't know how to behave after a severe operation. Don't they try to remove the stitches themselves?"

"Never. Here, the instinct of self-preservation helps. Moreover, after severe internal operations we usually keep them under an anaesthetic for a day."

The veterinary surgeons of this hospital perform up to 1,000 operations a year.

"But we also make cosmetic operations," says the surgeon quite seriously. "Fashions have to be obeyed. We clip fox-terriers' tails, for instance, when they are four days old. And how the owner of a Doberman Pinscher or Caucasian sheepdog will reproach us if the ears clipped in puppyhood (again this is the fashion) will not stand erect! In such cases, we have to pick up the scalpel again."

"Have you also had wild patients?"

"Only once. A few years ago the well-known Soviet animal tamer, Walter Zapashnoy, brought us a wild leopard with a smashed forepaw. Apparently the beast had been caught in a trap. It was impossible to give it an anaesthetic. So we decided to operate under a local anaesthetic. With the help of a special fixture, the leopard was pressed down in the cage and the injured paw drawn out through the bars and operated on. He is well again and has returned to the circus."

We came to the door of the operating room. I was helped into a white overall and the door firmly closed behind me. A Dachshund lay on the table held in a vice. Veterinary surgeon Lilia Barbashova removed an abdominal rupture. While, in the next room, Dr. Otto was preparing a fluffy playful kitten for an operation.

"Surely, you are not going to operate on it?" I asked.

"Yes, we are," replied the surgeon. "Behind every animal stands its owner. By helping the four-footed sufferers we, actually, help people."

is a herpes virus that has entered the blood stream. Many treatments have been attempted with varying success. The best result thus far is to place the pup in an environmental temperature of 100°F for two to three hours with a gradual reduction to 85°F over a two-day period. The humidity should be maintained during this period otherwise the dogs will pant excessively and possibly dehydration problems can develop. Heating pads or heat lamps could be utilized as the heating source.

As a preventative measure it is always best to examine the dog's prepuce and the bitch's vulva for any signs of blisters that look like cold sores. Usually an animal with a lesion such as this might be harboring the herpes virus.

5. Spraddle Leg

Usually puppies start standing between 17 and 18 days of age. At 21 days they should be standing with no tremor. If a spraddle legged pup is observed it is usually the result of a management problem. A rough type of surface such as gravel should be placed under the dog.

6. Parasites

In preventing puppy losses it is essential that a good parasite control program be established.

Roundworms: Even though a bitch is found negative for internal parasites, it is still conceivable that the new puppy will develop roundworms two to three weeks after whelping. The bitch could have roundworms larva encysted in her muscles that are activated during pregnancy. Consequently the puppy is infected in utero no matter what preventative measures are exercised.

Other transmitters of roundworms are a variety of "bugs" that are capable of carrying the eggs and depositing them in areas frequented by the puppy such as food and water bowls.

Hookworms: Some individuals raise dogs on wire to control parasites. This is most effective in preventing hookworm problems. Hookworms should be one of the first things considered when a pup loses the normal light pink color in his gums. It is essential that puppies be carefully observed because a good infection could cause the puppy to die within 12 to 14 days.

7. Distemper and Hepatitis

The only way to control both of these conditions is with a solid preventative program. This basically means vaccination on a continual basis. Breeding stock should be vaccinated annually and the puppies to be started as early as six to seven weeks of age with frequent vaccinations thereafter.

As most professional breeders realize the most effective programs for the prevention of infections, parasites and other illnesses include three factors: management, feeding and preventative measures. Once these areas have been cared for, the mortality rate of your pups should decrease. - Reprinted from "Purina Kennel News".
