Dachshund on wheels

SHALFORD, England—When Topsy, the lively little dachshund, met with a road accident and remained paralyzed from the waist down, it seemed to be the end of the line. A dog which can't walk around isn't much of a dog.

But this was not to be. Topsy's mistress, Mrs. Rose Morgan of Shalford, Essex, decided to do something about it, fast. She made a device which enables Topsy to lead an almost normal dog's life again. The dog's new rear legs are, in fact, wheels.

Mrs. Morgan fitted her pet with a collar harness which is attached to a tiny cart. The rear legs of the animal rest on it. Using the front legs the normal way, Topsy gets about almost as well as was possible before the accident happened. A local veterinarian helped make the new "legs."

Eastern season launched at 27th Sportsmen's Show

TORONTO, Ont.—Seven dog shows and seven Best in Show dogs—that was the story of this year's series of Canadian National Sportsmen's Dog Shows. The shows were held in the Queen Elizabeth Building, Exhibition Park, from March 16 to 24.

And although the total entry was down by about seven percent due to the lower turnout of dogs from gasoline-short U.S.A., the gate promised to be up over former years. So if they might not be considered a smashing financial success, the 1974 shows more than held their own.

Exhibitors were a bit chagrined to find that parking rates had doubled since 1973. But at $1 per day, supervised parking adjacent to the show building still seems like a bargain.

Canadian-bred dogs took three of the seven Best in Show awards, all of them owner-handled. And for the first time since the shows have been increased to seven, Dogs in Canada was told, there was not a single BIS repeater.

At the first show Mr. Kurt Mueller's BIS choice was a black American Cocker Spaniel, Shelbyshire's Storm Warning, owned by Norman A. Austin and Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Padula, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., handled by Mr. Padula.

At the second show Mr. Tipton's winner was the Canadian-bred Chow Chow, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Mi-Tu's Han Su Shang, owned by J. C. F. Peddie and H. E. Williams of Toronto. Fresh from his Best of Breed win at Westminster this young dog continues to make quite a name for himself.

Mr. Harvey Gratton awarded BIS at the third show to a Pointer,

Pet store convicted!

P.J.'s Pet Centre Ltd. of Etobicoke, Ont., was found guilty of not furnishing a Canadian Certificate of Registration to Mrs. Terry Turner of Mississauga, Ont.

The charge was heard before Judge A. E. Newell and was prosecuted by Crown Counsel Paul Taylor. Particulars of the charge were that Mrs. Turner purchased, from P.J.'s, an Afghan Hound bitch in May, 1972 and was not furnished a certificate as required under the Livestock Pedigree Act, Chapter 168, of the Statues of Canada.

Judge Newell did, however, dismiss a similar charge against P.J.'s regarding a dog purchased by Mr. Ralph Boddy of Willowdale, Ont. The charges, in this case, were not sustained despite the fact that Mr. Boddy has not received a CKC certificate.

AM. & CAN. CH. SHIPMATES HANNIBAL

Our cover this year pays tribute to the late Ch. (Can. & Am) Shipmates Hannibal, both as a loved companion and as chief foundation dog of our modern stock.

Acquired as a two-year-old from his breeder, Mrs. S. J. Navin of Shipmates Kennels Reg., when we were increasing our Westie stock and going out of Bullmastiffs and Papillons, his qualities as a dominant sire became evident as we acquired top quality bitches as stud fee puppies from American breeders who appreciated his quality and were generous enough to help us obtain stock in this way. He represented strong linebreeding back to the famous Ch. (Can., Am. & Eng.) Cruben Dextor, both through his sire, Roseneath Gay Kilt (whose parents were respectively sired by the littermate Dextor sons, Cruben Dugald and Ch. (Eng. & Am.) Cruben Moray, while his dam was also out of a full sister of Dextor's), and through his dam Shipmates Confection (whose parents, Fons of the Rouge CD and Teena of the Rouge, were respectively a son and granddaughter of Dextor, Fons and his sister, Can. Ch. Fanfare of the Rouge, Teena's dam, having been out of the first litter sired by Dextor in North America, in 1952).

Line-breeding from Hannibal's sons and daughters, with suitable outcrosses from time to time, has resulted in the definite type by which our dogs are known and we stress good heads, harsh white coats, good fronts and strong rears with the driving action which is a proper characteristic of the breed, combined with a happy temperament. Widely used at stud till the age of 11½, Hannibal sired

Dear Sirs:

On Jan. 14 of this year my German Shepard Dog gave birth to 13 pups, 10 of them survived. Several days later my "Lady" passed away.

The 10 pups had to be bottle fed about 5 times daily. It was a tremendous chore, but well worth it, because they all survived. They are now 6 weeks old and doing very well.

They were kept alive with your wonderful formula "Esbilac". I had to use about 30 Cans or more but now they are fat and healthy. I didn't Believe it possible. Many persons told me that my 10 pups would never live. Thanks to your product, Esbilac, they are alive today.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Vito Battista.

P.S. I am enclosing a picture for you.

Those who've used it know it's good. Why not give it a try?

FETED: Tom and Thelma Adams, at a surprise party in the Barcelona Room at one of Toronto's Holiday Inns. Among the 40 guests were their good friends Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Blomidon American Cockers. The Adams bought their first Westie from the Browns. Mr. Brown spoke and gave a presentation of leather bookends, hand-painted with a picture of their new champion puppy, Ch. Roseneath Candyman. The Adams leave soon for their new home on the west coast . . . Mrs. Hilda Pugh, president of the CKC, has been made a member of the Canadian Council of Animal Care. The organization is headed by Dr. Rowsell and is funded by the Canadian government. It is presently undertaking a study of transportation of all animals, especially dogs. At a meeting held recently in Ottawa, nationwide heads of the food and transportation industries set up a standing committee of which Mrs. Pugh is a member.

TRAVELLERS: Mrs. Tim (Pudge) Reid, formerly of Stittsville, Ont., and in recent years of Mesa, Ariz., telephoned Dogs on her way from Victoria, B.C., for a visit in Portugal for two months. Having spent much time on the road in recent years, she is now living in an apartment where she enjoys her hobby of painting . . . Small world. Mrs. Alice Simpson, Rosehill Kennels, Hespeler, Ont., discovered that she was in Hawaii at the same time as Dogs' publisher Kaye Peer, although paths did not cross. However, she entered a hotel in Waikiki to discover a familiar face, judge Mrs. Doris Wilson of Oakville, Ont.

AT THE SPORTSMEN'S SHOW: Chatting with various breeders and officials, we noted Mrs. Thelma Adams gamely watching her entries in the ring from a wheel chair. She is recuperating from foot surgery . . . Bud Flanagan, (Manderley Poodles, Brooklin, Ont.) tells Dogs he is now spending more time on photography with a view to the future. This is in addition to his work with the kennels, his own job, and appearing in about four Little Theatre plays a year . . . Admiring an unusual watch worn by Sportsmen's Show director John Fleming, we learned that he has a great fondness for watches, an interest readily come by. His great grandfather was Sir Sanford Fleming, the Canadian who was knighted for originating time zones in 1915 which became world recognized. . . . Noted judge Tom Gately of Pineville, Pa., one of America's veteran judges, is equally well known on the racetrack. He owns, breeds and races harness horses and is internationally respected in that field as well. Mr. Gately began showing Boxers in the early 1930's and retired after a serious accident in 1969. Among the famous Boxers he handled was Ch. Sigurd v. Dohm . . . Well known judge John Lundberg of Guelph, Ont., had a near brush with disaster when driving home after the show the first day. A tire blew on the highway at 70 m.p.h.

NEAR TRAGEDY: Mrs. Tony Marsh of Bermuda, well known to Boxer fanciers in Canada, suffered both severe injury and heartbreak when one of her normally good natured Boxers attacked her. The dog, just after falling, turned on her. The efforts of three men were required to subdue the dog. An autopsy on the dog showed the reason—the brain had literally burst, sending the animal into a frenzy.

RECUPERATING: Jessie Carr of Wee-Mite Kennels Reg., Lynden, Ont., has been in the hospital for exploratory surgery . . . . Sporting judge Frank Jones, Minesing, Ont., is recovering from two operations . . . Andre Jeannotte, Wakefield, Que., is recuperating at home from a heart attack.

IN MEMORIAM: Miss Frances Angela of Portland, Mich., noted judge of poodles and toy breeds, passed away recently. A long-time breeder of Standard Poodles under the Torchlight prefix, she was a great friend of poodle devotees. She was recovering from a stroke when pneumonia caused her demise. . . . Alexander John Horn, Milton, Ont., passed away after a lengthy illness on March 30. Jack Horn purchased his first Staffordshire Bull Terrier in 1947 and in 1952 he came to Canada with his wife Myrtle. Two Staffords, Oky Boy and the bitch Red Rali of Bandite, formed the basis of the Horns' kennels, Patty's Reg. The Horns, having joined the CKC in 1953, had just recently received their 20 year pins. In 1965, the Staffordshire Bull Terrier Club was formed with Mr. Horn as one of the founders and this club now has members from coast to coast. . . . George W. Cook, director of the Dominion German Shepherd Dog Club, passed away suddenly. He was known as a "doer", active in obedience classes and trials. He leaves his wife Ethel and four daughters.

Canaan club progresses rapidly

The Canadian Canaan Club, formed early in 1973 with a constitution designed to promote the Canaan Dog in this country, held its second executive elections by mail.

Elected to office for a two-year term are: President, Dwayne D. R. Hoard of Calgary, Alta.; Vice-President, Leona Simon, Calgary; Secretary-Treasurer, Suzan Horovitch, Barnwell, Alta., and four directors: Wynn Armstrong, Fort St. John, B.C.; Sam Green, Montreal, Que.; Florence Hogarth, Hamilton, Ont. and Terry Bagley, Grand Centre, Alta.

The membership of the club as of March, 1974 was 36, embracing five provinces, three States, England, Malawi (Africa) and Israel. The club is most anxious to obtain representation from provinces not currently involved and who may be interested in breed promotion: the Maritimes, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Yukon and North-West Territories.

The club offers its members a valuable bi-monthly newsletter, "The Canaan Wit."

There are now ten Canaans registered in the club's studbook which is retained in Barnwell, Alta. With a litter expected shortly and an Israeli import on the way, the Canaan population is slowly growing. The Canadian Canaan Club has applied to the CKC for admission of the breed into the Miscellaneous Class for showing purposes.

Breed and club information are available upon request from the secretary, Mrs. S. Horovitch, Box 56, Barnwell, Alta., T0K 0B0.

A.K.C. regulations

When it was first learned that the American Kennel Club had adopted new regulations concerning the registration of dogs whelped outside of the U.S.A., the Canadian reaction was—"They must mean dogs whelped overseas—surely it doesn't mean Canadian-bred dogs too!"

Correction—the new AKC rules do mean Canadian-bred dogs too.

Below is the revised procedure for registering all purebred dogs whelped outside of the U.S.A. with the American Kennel Club.

1. Application for registration must be made on forms obtainable from the American Kennel Club.
2. Included with the completed application there must be the dog's individual registration certificate; a certified three generation pedigree of the dog; two colour photographs of the dog being registered. These must measure not less than 3" by 4". One is to be a side view and one a front view of the dog in a standing position.
3. The application must be notarized. That is, the applicant must swear, before a notary public, that the dog in the photograph is the dog described in the application.
4. The registration fee of $10, U.S. funds, must accompany the application.

The only exception to these regulations is in the case of a dog whose sire and dam are both individually registered with AKC. Then the requirement of the three generation pedigree is waived.

Many Canadians are indignant over these changes. All this fussing with pictures and notarizing takes time and trouble to say nothing of the extra expense. One Canadian who has just been through the procedure reports that it cost $37 to register one dog.

An even stronger reason for indignation is that Canada is the only country in the world that maintains a national dog identification registry. It is argued that once a dog has been granted its CKC registration, this should serve as proof of pedigree in any country. And it is also said that because CKC accepts AKC registered dogs in good faith, the American club should continue to return the favour. These all seem to be valid arguments against applying AKC's new registration policy to Canadian-bred dogs.

However, a precedent has been set and perhaps Canada should consider adopting a similar policy. Not in the spirit of retaliation but as a means of discouraging the mass importation of pet stock into this country.

Unlike the U.S.A., where individual registration of a purebred dog becomes the responsibility of the purchaser of a dog, in Canada, under the Canada Livestock Pedigree Act, the responsibility rests with the seller of each dog sold as purebred.

Think of the effect on imports of pet stock into Canada if it was equally difficult and expensive to obtain a CKC certificate of registration. Imported show and breeding stock would cost a little more—but nowadays, what doesn't? Those who import strictly for breed improvement would offer little objection. But could the dealers who import litters for resale finance the added costs? Instead of the lengthy, frustrating, costly business of petitioning for protective tariffs, it is just possible that AKC has given Canadian dogdom the answer to one of its most serious problems.

Onward

Another weekend and hopefully, another step forward in obedience for Nova Scotia.

Blois and I flew to Toronto and motored to Hamilton to attend the Godsil-Self seminar sponsored by the Hamilton Dog Obedience Club, Inc.

One cannot help but admire the knowledge, enthusiasm and training ability that these two professionals possess. I enjoyed every minute of it. And I returned to Nova Scotia filled with ideas and once more charged with enthusiasm to carry me forward in our training program. And yes, Jake Giacomelli, I too, am looking forward to the third and even fourth Godsil-Self seminar symposium.

This seminar was exceptionally well organized. Nothing was amiss. The hospitality left nothing to be desired. It was super. What joy it must be to work with such harmonious individuals. I envy them!

Thank you Hamilton Dog Obedience Club for giving Blois and me the opportunity of attending your seminar.—Reta Boyd, N.S.

Praises air lines

In recent issues of Dogs magazine, I have read many letters strongly criticizing the handling of dogs and puppies by the air lines. I'd like to add my experiences. I have been shipping the tiny Pomeranians for nearly 25 years and have always received excellent, courteous service from all airlines, both here in Canada and the United States. A tiny three or four month Pom puppy is a very vulnerable item and the airline officials have always given them every consideration; keeping them in the warm office 'til the last minute before takeoff and then loading them individually and quickly.

Occasionally a dog has gone astray but the officials at the Kelowna Airport (Pacific Western) that I ship from have always been most cooperative in making every effort to trace the lost pup, always entirely at their own expense. And the pup has always turned up well cared for, clean and neither hungry nor thirsty. Perhaps proper care in shipping is a help and I always see that proper crates are used, well protected against bad weather, warm bedding, and food and water fastened in so it won't spill. I've certainly seen dogs arrive at the airport in improvised containers, no food, no water, no bedding. Just an animal shoved in a box.

One thing I find most useful, is to let a pup sleep in the shipping crate a few nights before shipping time, to get used to it; they take the trip better. Also a few trips in the car to get them adjusted to motion.

A little care on the part of the shipper can do a lot to ensure the new owner a happy, well-adjusted puppy.—Joan Zavaglia, Vernon, B.C.

Airline cooperation

I am writing this because I have read so much lately about airlines and the death of dogs. I have flown a few dogs and because we thought one of our Borzois was badly frightened, because of his flight on Air Canada, I contacted the president and stated my case. I was given an invitation to see for myself how dogs are handled by Air Canada in their Vancouver terminal.

Air Canada also suggested that we tell any group interested in making the inspection tour that they could arrange it. Club representatives could report back. A challenge for all airlines is to provide the same tour inspections.

I extend my thanks to Mr. Fred Pope for allowing me to tour Air Canada and to the president who so quickly answered my correspondence and personally looked into my problem.—Bonnie Pelliccia, Vancouver, B.C.

Priority dates

I am writing this in hopes that it will be read by the president and directors of The Canadian Kennel Club and all clubs that are interested in priority dates for trials and shows.

In June 1972, as a trial secretary, I made application for priority dates. After some months I was advised by the CKC that these dates were under consideration.

There has still been no reply. In September I was informed that the Board had passed the dates. My question is, "What has happened to them"?

I know of one club in this vicinity that has received priority dates and have had them for several months. Is it a case of some "have" and some "have not"?—Miss Miriam M. Stacey, Hamilton, Ont.

Foul play

There is always someone ready to scream "foul play" about the unfair treatment of the public by the breeders. I would like to relate a recent experience, in reverse.

One evening a couple arrived enquiring about a puppy. At the time I had one female puppy for sale. The gentleman started asking a lot of questions about showing and he was promptly told that this puppy was strictly pet stock and not to be used for showing or breeding, to which the response was, "Oh that's all right, we just want a pet for our son" and the pup was sold for $125. Unfortunately I was out of non-breeding certificates but once again we stressed the no showing, no breeding terms of sale and once again we were assured that this was agreeable.

It seems a neighbour of the couple, supposedly a sincere breeder, convinced them that the pup should be shown and bred and that "I could not do a thing about it".

So, because I sold the pup in good faith, with nothing ... ing, I now, as a member ... CKC, have to supply this ma... papers and give him free ... to show a dog with our name ... is non-show quality.

Of course the moral of ... story is, do not sell unless ... have the non-breeding certi... to hand out even if it means ... a sale.—Jean M. Palmer, ... Ridges, Ont.

dog, one for show and one to work.

The solution to this problem is relatively simple. If we insist that before a dog is granted his field trial championship of record, that he be granted a certificate from a judge at a championship show which states that he is a reasonable example of the breed insofar as conformation is concerned and similarily require such a certificate from the judge at a licensed field trial as to the show dogs ability to carry out the work for which the breed was developed, would this not ensure that our field dogs were of good conformation, and that our show dogs are not all "stupid" as Mr. Teyek would have us believe.

Mr. McIntyre bewails the "stranglehold the English Pointer and Setter people have on bird dog trialling in Canada". I would like to refer him to the Coming Events section of Dogs in Canada and he will see that field trials under CKC are still very much alive and well in Alberta and B.C. All I can say is that if they want CKC field trials, then let them combine with others of a like nature and organize one. It takes work and dedication on the part of all members of a club to run a field trial but you would be surprised what can be done if you want it badly enough. –G. A. Donaldson, Wainwright, Alta.

Likes us

I am the owner of a kennel here on Vancouver Island and I have only praise and admiration for your magazine and The Canadian Kennel Club.

When I think of the long hours you work to please the public, I feel that it would be nice to receive this short note saying a big "thank you all", especially the kennel club for putting up with all my mistakes; I appreciate their patience. We are getting our registrations back so much sooner. – Ida Atlee, Quabium Beach, B.C.

We just received our March issue of Dogs In Canada. We are very pleased with the publication.

Thank you kindly; keep up the good work. Look forward to the newsy issue each month. I would like to see more write-ups and pictures of the Yorkshire Terrier. – Shirley M. Farrier, Petersburg, Ont.

Golden Lab?

In your March issue, page 7, there is a sad tale of an orphan puppy. There is also mention of a "Golden Lab" in connection with the apparently inherited short tail of the little beastie concerned. Come now.

Surely a publication so closely associated with The Canadian Kennel Club should do a little editing. Isn't it bad enough that ignorant, undogwise journalists on daily publications keep referring to "golden" Labradors?

The article says that four pups "were born with stubby tails inherited from their stubby tailed Golden Lab type father . . ." To the best of my knowledge the only breed in the Sporting Group, or at least among those recognized in Canada, that has a naturally short tail is the Brittany Spaniel. Am I correct?

Oh well, as long as the pup got a good home, short tail and all. Eldon Stonehouse, Scarborough, Ont.

(Well, now, it's a long "tale"—but you're quite right—a yellow Lab isn't a Golden Retriever—Ed.)

Unjust discrimination

Through an editorial published in the English Dog World, I noted that an English judge, Joe Cartledge, has been refused approval to judge the Terrier Group in Canada by The Canadian Kennel Club. Mr. Cartledge needs no introduction to terrier fanciers in this country. He is considered an authority on these breeds and amongst other accomplishments, he has judged the Terrier Group at Crufts.

The reason for this refusal is because, in England, he has not awarded Challenge Certificates in Miniature Schnauzers (in the Non-Sporting-Group there) and American Staffordshire Terriers (which are not recognized by the English Kennel Club).

I doubt if the Board of Directors or the Judges Committee of the CKC are aware or familiar with the system by which judges are approved to judge breeds at championship level in Britain. They are not licensed; after considerable experience at sanction matches, members and open shows, an invitation must come from one of the societies that organize the 28 annual all-breed championship shows. Challenge Certificates are offered at the discretion of The Kennel Club.

Anyone aware of these facts regarding procedure of awarding Challenge Certificates and approving judges, immediately realizes that it is practically impossible for a judge to award Challenge Certificates in every breed.

British judges' knowledge and experience should benefit the Canadian fancier. Denying them the opportunity of judging in Canada and to deny Canadian fanciers the opportunity of learning from the world's great judges seems an odd way of improving purebred dogs, which should be the prime concern of the CKC. Unjust discrimination is not only wrong but it brings ridicule upon us. R. William Taylor, Montreal, Que.

New drug aids back problems

Like humans, one of a dog's most common ailments is a "back problem". Your veterinarian calls it dog disc disease, or locomotor dysfunction. Older dogs are particularly susceptible to lameness and impairment of their gait. Unfortunately, many dogs have been destroyed when these problems occur since, in serious cases, there was no relief. Now there may be new life for that pet who appears to suffer from the pain of dog disc disease.

The Canadian National Health and Welfare Department has approved use of a new veterinary drug called Palosein ® to relieve that "nagging back ache". It's already proved effective in treating inflammatory diseases in horses in the United States. It is made from bovine liver and it takes 1,000 pounds of liver to make one gram of Palosein.

Dandie picnic . . .

In her first American show, Mrs. Linda Church's Dandie Dinmont, Torcroft Old Spice, took WB, BW, BB and third in the group when several Canadians entered six female and two male Dandie Dinmonts in Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Church's Danlin Kennels are in Calgary.

Lorna Kendal, Torcroft Kennels, West Vancouver, also reports that Mrs. Julia Switzer, also of West Vancouver, was another happy winner. Although she was not able to personally attend the show her puppy, Torcroft English Muffin, just ten-months-old, "was shown by American competition and from senior puppy class she was awarded Reserve Female." Dr. Josephine Deubler of Philadelphia, a Dandie breeder, was the judge.

The Canadians enjoyed a surprise on the part of the hospitable Seattle breeders—a real picnic lunch at this bench show.

Add supplements* to Purina Dog Chow?

You can. But you don't have to.

We find that adding warm water brings out our famous Dog Chow flavor. But everything else is right in the bag. All 43 nutrients any dog needs—vitamin A to zinc oxide. So add supplements? Sure. But isn't it nice to know you don't have to?

*Purina Research Farm Fact: Eight of our brood bitches have whelped over 100 puppies each—on a diet of Purina and water only. With the exact, no-supplement program we recommend on our package, 92.8% of the 668 puppies whelped alive at our Farm last year were weaned—against a national average of around 60%.

Mrs. Thelma Brown awarded BIS to Mrs. Hyslop's Cairn Terrier, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Cairndania Brigrey's Berry Red and Mr. Freeman Perry put up the Bull Terrier, Ch. (Can. & Am.) range all the way from obedience-trained champions who gaily enter into the spirit of things to squeakie toys that need a lot of help in gaiting. One by one the judge eliminates the entries for misdemeanours until the ultimate winner is declared. This year's contest was judged by one of Martha Thorne's young apprentices and won by Lorna Jackson handling a Boar Hound otherwise known as "squealy pig", a rubber toy. It's a real fun way to lessen the tension build-up of a demanding week.

Seventh show: Bull Terrier, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Regina of Colostaurus, with owner Gail Gordon and judge Freeman Perry.

At the Sportsmen's

Retriever trials

The Indoor Retriever Trials, held in the Arena weeknights and Sunday afternoons, has been steadily growing in popularity. This year, however, it was a case of standing room only! Spectators tell Dogs that while they meant to drop in for a look, they sat spellbound until the last minute of the day's trial.

As participation is by invitation only to top retrievers in trials throughout North America, the entry was limited. American owners and handlers as well as Canadians from the West, reports H.V.P. (Bumpy) Lewis, Chairman of the Sportsmen's Dog Show committee, were astounded at the replica of an outdoor field trial setting. As were spectators who saw it for the first time. Split rail fences, brush, streams and a cover of dry leaves create possibly the only indoor replica of its kind in the world. Christmas trees and autumn leaves are meticulously fireproofed and stored for use at the trials.

Winner of the Golden Whistle, coveted award culminating the series of trials, was won by a young dog, just three years of age. FT Ch. Golden Bale's Rufus, a Golden Retriever, outshone veterans of many seasons. He is owned by Tom Bales, of Don Mills, Ont., a veterinary surgeon.

Cost of the internationally-renowned event was underwritten by Purina.

13 Canadian and four American champions and his champion grandchildren and their champion progeny are numerous and distinguished in their achievements.

Of our current stud dogs, Ch. (Can., Am. & Bda.) Laurie's Piper of the Rouge (out of Can. Ch. Annie's Memory of the Rouge), Can. Ch. Winde Mere Rouge Midshipman (out of Galatea of the Rouge), and Can. Ch. Junior Hannijin of the Rouge (out of Can. Ch. Jinty of the Rouge) are all Hannibal sons, while Ch. (Can. & Am.) Winde Mere Gay Gordon (bred by Mrs. Keith Balsdon, out of Winde Mere Ragamuffin) is his grandson, sired by the late Ch. (Can. & Am.) Danny Boy of the Rouge, and our youngest stud, Rouge Manabee Zebedee (Can. Ch. Jokar's Maccabee ex Wigtown Mandy) is in turn a Danny Boy grandson. Piper is now the sire of two US and six Canadian champions, including two group winners and three CD holders, while Midshipman is sire of one American and two Canadian champions and a CD holder, and Junior has one champion to his credit.

Our show activity in 1973 was minimal, due partly to settling in our new kennel, caring for a gratifying number of litters and Mrs. D-J's judging schedule. Can. Ch. Rouge Something of Wigtown (a Piper daughter out of Can. Ch. Wigtown Nightingale) completed her title late in the year after giving us a fine litter. Piper gained his Bermuda title in November, handled by our kennel manager Sandy Briggs, and in March of this year Sandy took Can. Ch. Rouge Dancing Pippa Springcasa ("Honey"), whom we have re-acquired from Mrs. Martyn, and Zebedee to Bermuda, where Honey gained three 3-pt. wins and three Group 3rds, and Zeb took a 3-pt. win and placed Best Puppy in Show at the first show and Best Puppy in Group at the other two. He subsequently gained points towards his Canadian title at three of the Sportsmen's Shows of this year, under the new point system now in force, and has been proven as a stud.

During the past year in Newfoundland, Mrs. Carter's Can. Ch. Annie's Tom Tom of the Rouge and Can. Ch. Rouge Chip's Gemista completed their titles, as did Mrs. Haynes' Can. Ch. Rouge Julie Juvan of Dunrovin in British Columbia, the latter having taken Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Show her first time out and completing her title in four shows while still a puppy and going over specials on the way. In Ontario, Mrs. Charlesworth's Pip's Chuckles of the Rouge CD took time out after completing her CD title to give us a litter by lease and is now back in training for her CDX, while Len Hunter's Can. Ch. Annie's Memory of the Rouge completed her title. [illegible] dled by Sandy Briggs (after [illegible] ducing a number of champ[illegible] Len felt she should really get [illegible] own title, which she did at [illegible] years of age!).

As well as parting with Ha[illegible] bal, the year was further s[illegible] dened by the loss of our bel[illegible] old-timer Can. Ch. Ship[illegible] Demosthenes "Filbert" (For[illegible] the Rouge CD ex Teena of [illegible] Rouge) at almost 16 years of [illegible] —he had made a significant [illegible] tribution to our breeding pro[illegible] over the years—and by the [illegible] death at only ten years of [illegible] Ch. (Can. & Am.) Danny Boy of [illegible] Rouge, owned and loved by [illegible] Peckan family. A son of Ha[illegible] out of Am. Ch. Klint[illegible] Moment, although not widely [illegible] at stud he had sired a numbe[illegible] American and Canadian cha[illegible] ons, including a BIS winner, [illegible] two group winners, and was h[illegible] self a group winner from [illegible] classes and winner of the C[illegible] dian Specialty over a record b[illegible] in 1966. We are glad to [illegible] number of his grandchildren [illegible] in our breeding program.

Send correspondence direct to Jake Giacomelli, 51 Wardrope St. S., Stoney Creek, Ont. Opinions expressed are the writer's and not necessarily those of the publishers or The Canadian Kennel Club.

Probably one of the most often observed handler errors [illegible] the Novice "A" Classes, to a fair degree in the Novice "B" Class and to a certain extent in the Open and Utility Classes, is the handler who flashes that instant downward look to his (hopefully about to sit) dog. Quite often this downward look is a look or a glare that contains what almost any dog could construe as a downright look of hostility in it. When the above-mentioned glances are usually always accompanied by an instanteneous downwards and sidewards movement of the head, most dogs will either hurry up their sit or try to straighten up a crooked sit.

Can't count the number of times I've seen a dog remain standing after the handler has come to a halt, and only after the sudden downward movement of the head and eyes has the dog even made an attempt to sit. Perhaps this may be part of the reason why you didn't score as well as you thought you should have in the heel on lead or off lead exercises. It's not easy to get rid of a continuously practiced bad habit. Every time you stop you'll have to think about not moving your head. This doesn't mean, of course, that you shouldn't watch your dog from the corner of your eyes in order to be ready to administer an instant correction for a sloppy or poor sit (when training that is).

POINT LOSSES

Adaption of pace at all turns including the "figure 8" is certainly a great source of point losses for many handlers. From personal experience judging trials, I notice it mostly on about turns, right turns and the outside turn on the "figure 8". The best suggestion I can give you to help eliminate this type of adaption is to try these turns many times without your dog and at the same time try and think what you would do if you were out walking alone and you suddenly decided to turn back or perhaps turn right to go down another street. Your movements would undoubtedly be very natural with no hesitation at all at the turns as you continued onward to your new direction. You can also lose points for adaption on straight heeling. I'm sure one of the main reasons for adapting pace is to make the dog appear that it is heeling and keeping pace with its handler. Next time you adapt pace try and remember that the points you may have saved for your dog not lagging may have caused you to lose even more by your pace adaption.

BE NATURAL

One form of adaption that stands out in my mind is the one pulled on about turn—watch it some time, you may get quite a surprise at the variations. I've seen it take up to a full three or four second count before the handler has made his complete about turn and then moved on forward. If you were doing a similar reverse of direction by yourself on an ordinary city street you would have everybody stopping to look at your unnatural action. Remember! To be natural is the answer!

Although the maze of noise and activity may never cease, the Sportsmen's Show is certainly to be congratulated on the excellent obedience ring conditions this year. No pillars or posts in the ring, six full mats, excellent standard ring equipment, fully curtained ring stalls, spotlessly clean ring and probably one of the most important ingredients —real top-notch, cracker-jack ring stewards!

For those of you who may have missed seeing the Godsil-Self [illegible] our general area, here's your chance once again.

The Oshawa Obedience Association is sponsoring a Godsil-Self [illegible] on the weekend of October 19 and 20. If you're interested I'd suggest you move fast in order to not miss out on a truly fascinating weekend of training methods. For additional information contact Mrs. Rita [illegible] R.R. 3, Newcastle, Ont. L0A 1H0.

Unless something comes up that requires reporting, will continue next month with more handler errors that may cause point losses while exhibiting.

POINTERS

Address correspondence on Pointers in the field to Wm. McClure, Box 15, Manotick, Ont.

The author of the following excerpts from a series of letters was a simple honest bird dog lover. His letters stretching over a four year period are part of my treasured possessions after 15 years of dog breeding. The author and I shared much—the love of training a bird dog, shooting and phonetical spelling. We never met, but I grew to know him well from his first letter of enquiry about buying a pup to his last letter the October before he died. The time span is four years.

"I received your letter and don't know what to do. Dose your dogs bark in the kennels. My wife like dogs but cannot stand one barking. The reason I gave my setter away every time my wife went out of the cottage she bark, and when I left in the morning for work she started and I had to bring here with me. I have five of her pups and they are nice dogs. I am sending you two picture of them . . . . . Sincerely".

"I suppose the dog you have would do me. I don't hunt much if I get a good hunter I would like to run in dogs triles. You will be feed up on me asking questions but I want to have a dog I love. Dr. Rankin always thought I make a dog do anything . . . . . Sincerely".

"Thank you for your kind letter. Now I am sending you five dollars (a deposit) for a male pup. The pup will not be old enough to point this fall but I could have fun training it. I told you I used to Breed dogs. In 1952 my wife die and I live a lone for 5 years and in 1958 in February I was foolish enough to get Married again. I have a good wife but awful nervous and cannot stand a dog barking and she don't see why I need a dog but I don't drink or smoke and I love a dog and I am going to have one. I don't get time to hunt much but if you have a dog you will get out more. I am sure if I get a nice pup you will get more order from here . . . Sincerely".

"I have been wondering how the litter turn out. Today I had the man in that give me your name. He saw the female you sold here last year he said she was very long legs and big. I was very much disapoited I guess you told me so much about that Females you had I thought your were all like that. I will be looking for a letter from you . . . . Sincerely".

"Received your card today. I was sorry I had written you. I guess that man had me up set some when I wrote you he has a Brittany and it is the only one of it kind. I should not of lisson to him. I will be writing you again before you ship the pup . . . . . Sincerely".

"Receiver your letter and I will take the pup. I would waite but would like to have one I could half some work on this Fall. I will send you money before you ship him Has your new litter been born yet. Sincerely".

"As I was unable to go to the airport I sent a man who lives nearby and he brought the pup. well he brought the female by mistake and the lawyer got the male but on Sunday we got it all straightened out and the little pup who I am going to call Joe is just doing fine. my old retriever is very happy to have little Joe for company . . . . . Sincerely".

"I am sorry to be so long writing. I like my dog well. he is quite never make a noise my wife is very much satified. Yester I took him out he did not hunt I rased a bird and he found the sent. I think he has a good noise. then I found three partridge and purty soon he made a nice point then they move on and he made another point. I was quite supprise at him. I like him very much . . . . . Sincerely".

"Just a few lines to let you know how Joe and I made out in Oct. at first he was slowe. I never spoke to him I just let him a lone after I had him out a few times he began to hunt a little. Oct. 18 I took him out and the first three birds got up I kill them with three shot and he found them and after that he start to hunt he bump some. On thursday he point all he found and held them and did not chase any. I was proud of him. he the nice dog for his size I every owned and my wife like him very much. I hope you have good luck . . . . . Sincerely".

"I suppose you think I have forgotten you but I think of you very often. I like my dog so much I think of you. Joe is a wonder. my wife like him very much. She think I have Joe spoil. I would like to put Joe in field triles but I cannot get away. my wife said there were no dogs as nice as Joe. I hope you have good luck with your dogs . . . . . Sincerely".

Exceptional opportunity to discuss eye defects

The Dartmouth Kennel Club and Nova Scotia Veterinary Medical Association announce an eye clinic to be held in Dartmouth, N.S., on Saturday, June 8. The clinic will be conducted by Dr. R. C. Riis, DVM, a veterinary opthamologist currently attached to the New York State Veterinary College of Cornell University. Following the eye clinic, Dr. Riis will discuss eye defects in dogs.

Any breeder or owner interested in having his dogs examined or in attending the discussion afterward should contact Miss F. Wagner, 75 Lake Major Rd., Westphal, R.R. 1, Dartmouth, N.S. Applications for an appointment should reach Miss Wagner by May 27.

CORRECTION

RETRIEVERS

Address correspondence on Retrievers to Miss Sandy Briggs, R.R. 1, Markham, Ont.

This year Ontario will host the National in early October. A pre-National trial is being discussed by the Ontario Retriever Field Trial Association and this will hopefully be held the last weekend before the National, and the week after the new Pine Ridge Retriever Club's trial. Members of the Niagara Peninsula Retriever Club are busy planning events and schedules for the National which will be held near Galt, in south central Ontario not too far from Toronto.

The Canadian Kennel Club's field trial council met late in 1973 and while everything that was discussed there has probably been relayed back to the clubs by the provincial representatives, everything that was brought up at this meeting has to be passed by the CKC board, then be published in Dogs in Canada when members can comment on the proposed suggestions. While the field trial people on the whole are not CKC voting members it will be wise for each club across the country to take a copy of the notice and pass them on to their members for comments, so individuals can make their comments without having rules changed and then hearing someone say "who changed that?" or "how come?"

For the benefit of newcomers to the field trial game, we are going to try to discuss the different field trial stakes that are held at training and licensed trials. Any suggestions from readers, or queries, would be gratefully received.

The Puppy Stake, held regularly at training trials, and now becoming more popular at licensed trials although not a licensed stake and not recorded by the CKC, is really a fun stake if the owners and handlers can remember this. The puppy stake is for dogs under a year of age, and like all retriever trials is open to all breeds of retrievers and the Irish Water Spaniels.

In a licensed trial puppies should be over six months of age to compete, but in many training trials one sees pups younger than this competing. Puppy owners will often bring their very young (2-3 month old) pups out to let them watch, see the other dogs, birds, guns and to get an idea of what trialling is all about. This is a good start for the puppy as long as he is not kept out watching too long or too close to the guns. However, the novice has a tendency (and nothing said here will have any effect) to say that "my dog can do that!" and the next week he comes back full of enthusiasm and runs his three month old puppy against the 11 and 11½ month old pups. Tests at the trials are not designed for these young pups and frequently are much too tough for these young 'uns. Tests in a puppy stake in winter usually include four or more single marks of varying distance up to about 75 yards in varying cover: uphill, downhill, across hills, and even over small ditches or into patches of cover are included and a good judge will set up tests which allow the puppy to mark the fall of the birds, use his memory and use his nose. The bird should land where the puppy can see it, not vanish behind the top of a hill or cover and while in the air the puppy should be able to see it clearly. Many handlers like to hold their pups' heads so that they cannot look away as the bird is thrown, should the echo of the gun or something else distract their attention at the critical moment.

In the summer trials the tests are usually equally divided between land and water tests, with small live ducks being used for the water tests in southern Ontario, dead ducks or dummies in other areas. The land tests use dead pigeons, dead pheasants, or dead ducks, again varying with the location. Puppies do not have to be steady and are usually held on line. The older pups are often being trained to be steady and the handlers like to have them stay as they approach the year old mark when they will have to be steady in Junior stakes. Many handlers hold the dogs while the bird is in the air and most judges advise the handler to let the dog go when the bird hits the ground rather than holding them and calling their number after the bird has fallen. Once the puppy has found the bird he/she should bring the bird back and deliver to hand, although some judges stop marking the dog once it has picked up the bird. A puppy can be brought to the line and taken from the line on lead and, as in the Junior stake, if a dog is brought to line off leash the judge could penalize the dog for poor line manners if the dog takes off out to the gunners before the bird has been thrown. Once the puppy has retrieved the bird and the handler has the bird in his hot sticky hand, the best thing to do is to put the pup on lead before he decides that the throwers have a second bird for him and again faces the possibility of a "poor line manners" penalty by taking off from you while you are telling him what a great puppy he is . . . and don't forget to praise him for a good job.

It makes it much easier to keep him coming in promptly with the birds for the rest of his life if the pattern is well established early. Enthusiasm, marking ability and bird handling are all watched in the pups and a puppy that is an accurate marker through any type of terrain is far more use in later stakes than one that is excellent on steadiness, great on the return, good at bird handling and pickup but that gets lost once he has a retrieve off the flat with no more than short grass for cover.

A puppy can be taught an awful lot that will stand him in good stead later on if he is taken slowly . . . a simple wide angle double can be accomplished by most pups when they are about 5-6 months old, but this doesn't mean they should be forced to go on to Junior stake at six months when they are still inexperienced and at an age where it is easy to confuse them.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

Anyone interested in submitting random thoughts for this column should send them directly to Mr. James G. Reynolds, Box 3138, R.R.3, Ottawa, Ont.

From a reader comes a traditional complaint—the showing of bitches in season. On the one hand you have the exhibitor who has paid his entry fee and knows that this judge thinks his girl is tops. On the other you have several handlers who have also paid their entries and have male dogs who have to use the same ring even if not in the same breed. This can be very upsetting to the dogs and decidedly dangerous for handlers with the larger breeds. Along with all of this there has also from time to time been the question as to whether or not a handler has used a bitch in season to deliberately upset males in the ring and thus hamper their chances of winning. If you must show a bitch in season then use one of the sprays available on the market today, try to place your bitch away from the males in the ring and give your fellow exhibitors a break.

* * * *

Stewards are not second class citizens. Perhaps few jobs, including that of judge, are as interesting or frustrating as that of ring steward. It is the steward who can make or break a judging schedule. It is the steward who keeps novice and indeed very often old time exhibitors where they should be and when. It is the steward who heads off possible errors in the ring including the sorting out of Canadian Bred and Canadian Bred Puppy judging. Finally, it is the steward who far too often bears the brunt of a disgruntled exhibitor's anger. With all of this clubs should train and encourage stewards and once they have them, recognize their very special talents. Far too often on show day the steward is lost as the "big cheeses" take the bows for a great show. Next time on show day how about a "tip of the top" to the stewards?

* * * *

Having just returned from judging a sanction show I could not help but be forcibly reminded of how much damage a sanction show judge can do. Our sanction shows are intended as a training ground for puppies, exhibitors, stewards and judges alike. Consequently, the at nosphere is much more relaxed and exhibitors, particularly novice exhibitors, find it much easier to approach the judges with questions concerning their exhibits. Few judges who have much experience pretend to be breed specialists for every breed. Thus they usually confine their remarks to general points and suggest exhibitors keep showing to get other opinions. The novice judge may, however, feel too threatened in his position of decision maker to admit such a lack of knowledge and hence make some pretty specific comments and statements which he or she is in no way qualified to make. Clubs should endeavour to remind exhibitors of the learning nature of the sanction shows and novice adjudicators should remember the long range effects which even the most casual remark can have on the novice exhibitor.

As the show season gets underway exhibitors fill out their entry forms and spend hours grooming their charges. In those breeds covered with coat, copious time is spent teasing, snipping and shaping. Little time, however, is spent on what is under the hair. Condition is probably one of the least understood words among today's exhibitors. Most think it refers to cleanliness although some neglect even that. Little time is spent on developing flesh, muscle-tone and genuine, not canned, lustre to the coat. Some of the fault probably lies with the multitude of good prepared diets available. These claim to be all purpose and thus the art of selecting just the right diet for each animal has declined. Even more in decline is the idea of regular exercise to produce muscle tone rather than the flab carried by so many of our show dogs. Our use of fenced runs has cancelled for almost all of us the long exercising walk which plays such an important part in condition. Unfortunately, not all dogs exercise properly in their runs even if given the time and opportunity. Similarly our grooming lacquers etc. cover so much that little time is spent in achieving the natural sheen which good health and fitness produce. Modern conveniences are great but they have helped, in my opinion, to replace that thing called condition.

Watch those customers! A breeder has to develop a sixth sense concerning clients for puppies. Until a few years ago this sense had to be geared to problems such as were there children? How old? Who was at home during the day? etc. etc. Now, however, there is an increasing frequency of an old but formerly minor problem—the dog dealer. This is the person who appears ostensibly to buy a pet puppy of breed X which he or she has always wanted. This person has all the right answers to questions from the concerned breeder. In reality, the puppy is already sold to someone else and begins what is often a sad chain in the puppy's life. Even more dangerous is the dealer who goes to the famous kennel to buy a pet but in reality wants to breed dogs with famous prefixes for parents and sell them based on the breeder's hard-earned reputation. This latter, can, to a degree, be prevented by the non-breeding contract but it would not be realistic to believe that this prevents the dogs being bred and the progeny attributed to other parents or that a dog and his pedigree can be kept as a show piece for the other dogs being produced.

In a meeting at the Ottawa Kennel Club to study the proposed changes in dog show rules Lillian Dube reported that the removal of the Best Canadian Bred award might end some confusion. The last time she ring stewarded and asked an exhibitor, "Is your dog Canadian Bred?", the answer was, "Oh no, she's a virgin".

* * * *

At a recent championship show a judge who is well known and well respected was leaving the ring after a hard day's work. With him he was carrying his empty coffee cup whereupon an exhibitor walked up and dropped a penny in the cup for the "Blind Judges' Fund".

One of the most interesting rebuttals to the concept of restricting the number of shows permitted a club and thus making way for new clubs to gain show dates, has come from the Barrie K.C. Coming as it does from a club which

registrar's FORUM

M. G. KIRKPATRICK

During the month of March another new breed was added to the Canadian Kennel Club's recognized list. This new breed is the Tibetan Terrier, whose breed Standard was published in the March "Yellow Pages". We would extend our thanks to all of those breeders who patiently waited until we had the required number of acceptable applications.

GETTING DOWN TO BASICS

One of the primary reasons for the miscalculation of fees, is the misunderstanding as to who is the applicant. The applicant varies from transaction to transaction so we will take them one at a time.

Litter Application: The applicant of a litter application is the owner of the dam, at the time of birth. The only exception is when a dam might be leased and in that case, the lessee would be the applicant.

INDIVIDUAL Application: The applicant, on an individual application, is the owner at birth. This owner at birth will usually be the same as the breeder, but the fees are always assessed against the owner at birth. This previously mentioned difference would appear when a dam is sold in whelp. It doesn't, however, alter the fact that the fees are assessed against the person who owns the dam at the date of whelping.

TRANSFER Application: The applicant, on an application to transfer a dog, is the person selling or otherwise disposing of the dog.

"FOREIGN DOG" Application: The importer of a foreign dog is the applicant. The exceptions would be those owners, not residing in Canada, who wish to register their dogs for show purposes.

EXTENDED PEDIGREE Requests: The fee for an extended pedigree (three and four generation) is assessed against the person requesting that transaction. Ownership of the dog has no bearing on the assessment of the fee.

FEE ASSESSMENT

All fees are assessed against the applicant as explained above. Regardless of who actually submits and/or pays for the transaction, the fee is determined by who should be the applicant.

WHAT ABOUT PARTNERSHIPS?

The most common problem arises when individuals, who are principals in a partnership or a company, attempt to register or transfer dogs in their own name, using membership rates. There is, of course, no problem when those individuals hold separate memberships in their own names.

Example: If John Smith, Bill Brown and Harry Green apply for membership as a partnership, then only those three individuals, acting together as the applicant, may enjoy membership rates.

Example: If Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith are approved, as a partnership membership, then they must, as that partnership, be the applicant. Sidney Smith or Mrs. Sidney Smith may not act individually as applicants and enjoy membership rates in the registration of dogs or litters owned solely by either one. The reverse is true in those cases where a husband or a wife hold a membership and attempt to obtain membership rates when registering jointly owned dogs.

Further problems arise in the registration of litters when the partnership or company is indicated as the applicant, when in fact, the litter was owned at birth by one of the individual principals of that partnership membership or company.

THE SOLUTION?

The solution to this problem is one of three alternatives:

1. The individual who owns the breeding stock obtains an individual membership.
2. The individual breeding stock is transferred to the partnership (or company).
3. Each individual in the partnership or company obtains an individual membership.

One of the above solutions will prevent your applications from being rejected for insufficient fees. Amended membership applications may be obtained from The Registration Division. While we are on the subject, it would simplify matters greatly if your membership, tattoo, kennel name and any other "registrations" were all in the same name.

Durant le mois de mars, une autre race fut additionnée à la liste reconnue par le Cercle Canadien du Chenil. Cette nouvelle race est le Terrier Tibétain, lequel standard de race fut publié dans les "Pages Jaunes" de l'édition du mois de mars. Nous désirons apporter nos sincères remerciements à tous les éleveurs qui ont su attendre patiemment que l'on est accumulé le nombre requis d'applications acceptables.

REVENONS AUX PRINCIPES FONDAMENTAUX

Une des raisons primaires causant des erreurs de calcul, est le malentendu à savoir qui est le requérant. Le requérant varie de transaction à transaction et nous les prendrons une à la fois.

Demande d'enregistrement d'une portee. Le requérant sur une demande d'enregistrement d'une portée est le propriétaire de la chienne à la date de naissance de la portée. Il y a exception seulement si la chienne a été louée et dans ces cas, le concessionnaire serait le requérant.

Demande d'enregistrement d'un chien PARTICULIER: Le requérant, sur une demande d'enregistrement d'un chien particulier, est le propriétaire à la naissance. Le propriétaire à la naissance sera normalement le même que l'éleveur mais les tarifs sont toujours imposés au propriétaire à la naissance. La différence mentionnée ci-haut apparaît seulement si la chienne a été vendue pleine. Il ne modifie quelque même pas le fait que les tarifs sont imposés à la personne qui est propriétaire de la chienne à la date de naissance de sa portée.

Demande de TRANSFERT de propriété: Le requérant, sur une demande de transfert de propriété est la personne qui vend ou d'une manière quelconque dispose du chien.

Demande d'enregistrement d'un chien IMPORTE: Le requérant est l'importateur du chien importé. Les exceptions seraient pour les propriétaires, ne résidant pas au Canada, qui souhaiteraient enregistrer leurs chiens pour fins d'exposition.

Demande d'un PEDIGREE de plus d'une génération: Le tarif pour un pedigree de plus d'une génération (trois et quatre générations) est imposé à la personne demandant cette transaction. Le propriétaire du chien n'a aucun rapport avec l'évaluation du tarif.

EVALUATION DES TARIFS

Tous les tarifs sont imposés au requérant tel qu'expliqué ci-haut. Le tarif est déterminé par rapport à la personne qui est le requérant même si la transaction a été faite et/ou a été payée par quelqu'un d'autre.

PARLONS MAINTENANT DES ASSOCIATIONS?

Le problème le plus commun survient au moment où des individus lesquels forment une association ou une compagnie, tentent d'enregistrer ou de transférer un chien au seul individu d'une association ou d'une compagnie en employant les tarifs de membre. Evidemment il n'y aura aucun problème si chacun des parteniares est membre individuellement.

Exemple: Si Yvon Boisvert, Jean Brunet et Marcel Lafleur font une demande d'admission comme membre en association, ils peuvent bénéficier des tarifs de membre seulement si ces trois individus le font ensemble comme requérant.

Exemple: Si Monsieur et Madame Denis Roy sont appréciés comme membres en association, ils doivent alors être le requérant. Denis Roy et Madame Denis Roy ne peuvent agir comme requérant individuellement et bénéficier des tarifs de membre pour l'enregistrement d'un chien ou d'une portée étant la propriété uniquement de l'un ou de l'autre. L'inverse est vrai dans les cas où un mari et

By JOAN MORDEN

"Exhibitors are missing a lot of fun by becoming too commercial", says Jack Critchley, assistant superintendent of the Sportsmen's Show dog shows."

"We can relax now", said trouble-shooter Jack Critchley, "this year's Sportsmen's Shows are officially open". It seemed an odd thing to say. Judging had been proceeding for several hours. "What do you mean?" I asked him. "Well", said Jack "every year a little old lady comes to the show and threatens to let all the dogs out. She says dog shows are cruel. I just finished talking her out of it. She's gone on her way". Wouldn't that be a jolly sight! Several hundred dogs playing "catch me" all around the Queen Elizabeth Building? Thanks to Mr. Critchley it hasn't happened yet. Nor have dozens of other potentially troublesome incidents because Jack is a natural diplomat whose manner strikes just the right balance between discipline and humour. He keeps control without losing friends.

That is no small trick when the seven Sportsmen's Show dog shows cover a fatiguing ten-day stretch and exhibitors are required to keep their dogs benched until nine o'clock each night. Jack recalls that after a friend joshingly told him he had a soft job, he kept track of complaints. At a single show, between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. he took care of 300 complaints.

This is the way to spend one's holidays? Jack, who is the superintendent of an electrical contracting firm in Windsor, Ont., has been spending his like this for the past eight years. And for more than ten years before that he was a Sportsmen's Show exhibitor: a real benched show enthusiast whose way with dogs and people came to the attention of Show Superintendent Hudson Kalloch. So, when Mr. Kalloch was looking for an assistant his first choice was Jack. It has been a very satisfactory arrangement.

Jack's breed is Weimaraners which he has bred and shown under the kennel prefix "Sonny Glen". This seems to be a remarkably long-lived line. At the present time the Critchleys have five oldsters at home whose ages range from 12 to 16 years. In addition they have a Standard Schnauzer and eight cats that just wandered in and attached themselves to the family. Jack explains the cats by saying that in addition to purebred dogs his hobbies are animal welfare and woodworking. He said this as though the two go together and in a rather unusual way they do.

The Critchleys have always supported animal welfare substantially both with funds and with honest-to-goodness hard work. Of late they have become concerned about the problem of unwanted companion animals and have launched a "spay fund-raising program" of their own. Jack makes a variety of decorative woodenware articles which Mrs. Critchley sells at a "flea market" each week. Proceeds from these sales are used to defray part of the cost of spaying animals which belong to people who are unable to finance the full cost of the surgery themselves.

The Critchleys believe that indiscriminate breeding should be stopped but they also feel a great responsibility for the animals that are already with us. And their home has become almost a mini-adoption centre for homeless animals that have been picked up in the Windsor area.

Not all of these strays leave for another home. Occasionally one comes to the Critchleys and stays. The most celebrated of these was Bruno, The Drug Store Dog. He was found lying in the doorway of a Detroit drug store with his right leg in a cast. Bruno was in very bad shape. Some detective work revealed that he was indeed homeless. It was learned that Bruno was a street dog who spent his days hanging around a bar in a poor part of the city and his nights sleeping in a telephone booth if he could find one that was empty. When he met with an accident, the local derelicts passed the hat to have Bruno mended. But that was as far as his attention went. The Critchleys took Bruno in charge and he came to live out his last years with them.

Now Bruno has a successor. A little fellow that was found abandoned in a ditch, more dead than alive. Jack estimates the age of this one was about six weeks at the time he was found. Naturally, after a four week stay in an animal hospital and a lot of tender nursing care thereafter, the Critchleys found it was impossible to let this puppy go too.

Such cases of cruel abandonment have helped to firm up Jack's resolve to give a lot more of his time to animal welfare when he retires. Meanwhile, his chief avocation is to help with the problems surrounding the phenomenal growth of the Sportsmen's Shows. In addition to running a king size complaint department, Jack is responsible for the mechanics of the show. He must make sure that each dog that is entered in each show has a suitable stall. This means that because of the great variation of show entries, frequent changes in the benching set-up must be made, a job that keeps Jack and a helper working right through the night. Last year the benching set-up was rearranged no less than five times during the shows. That's a good way to lose a lot of sleep. But, weary and hoarse though he gets, Jack says he loves every minute of it.

He takes great pride in the shows. He has seen entries rise and facilities enlarged and improved to handle them. But, Jack says, he is concerned that many exhibitors may be becoming too commercial. It used to be that exhibitors came to the shows for the pure joy of showing their dogs and perhaps learning something as well. But today only winning seems important. He gets awfully tired of exhibitors who dream up lame excuses for an early release when they lose.

He thinks that dog shows generally used to be a lot more fun. Although as a staff man he would take a dim view of such a prank today, he recalls with a twinkle the bedlam that broke when a wag let some mice loose in the terrier group.

Of the shows, Jack thinks they will just keep on getting bigger and better. He has seen the moves from the West Annex of the Coliseum to the Sheep and Swine Building and then to the present Queen Elizabeth Building location. The next move, he predicts, will be to the Automotive Building. He hopes he'll still be around to see it. And, like me, so do a lot of other people.

D'autres problèmes surviennent sur une demande d'enregistrement d'une portée démontrant une association ou une compagnie comme requérant lorsque seulement une personne de cette association ou de cette compagnie est le propriétaire à la naissance.

LA SOLUTION?

La solution à ce problème est une des trois alternatives suivantes:

1. L'individu qui possède les chiens d'élevage devrait obtenir un abonnement comme membre individuel.

2. Les chiens d'élevage devraient être transférés au nom des personnes formant l'association (ou compagnie).

3. Chaque individu d'une association ou compagnie devrait obtenir un abonnement comme membre individuel.

Une des solutions ci-dessus mentionnées préviendra le rejet de vos demandes d'enregistrement pour tarif insuffisant. Vous pouvez obtenir une demande d'admission rectifiée, de la Division des Enregistrements.

Puisqu'on est sur le sujet, il simplifirait les choses grandement si votre abonnement, vos lettres de tatouage, votre nom de chenil et autre "enregistrements" seraient tous sous un même nom.

NOSTALGIA

by LORNA JACKSON
R.R. 1, Sebright, Ont. L0K 1W0

Ed Dixon made some comments on Canadian judges in his Backtalk interview. I came across this little gem under "Manitoba Gossip", written in 1943 by Alex Gostick: "We were all impressed with Wilfred Shute's letter in the July number, on the subject of judges, especially the last two paragraphs. They are worthy of some thought on our part. The crop of all-breed judges is not large and if care is not used in making a choice, our dogs as well as our shows suffer. Whether we are satisfied with our present judges or not, if we are progressive we will keep on building toward the future. Judges grow old just like other humans."

In many cases the same problems crop up today as they did years ago and from time to time I will try and find ones that should be of interest to you all. I hope many of you will send in your old pictures to me as they are of historical interest as well as invaluable records for breeders and exhibitors. Like everything else, style and fads show through the years. Some breeds show marked changes while others remain almost as the original. In many cases changes are made to suit the judge's fancy and when that type wins, then more are brought into the showring. Often when the right type is shown it isn't recognized as such, yet the Standard remains the same. The British Samoyed Club, in their last journal, had an article titled "Our Modern Type". "We were intrigued by the recent Samoyed judge who referred to the old type and then described one of his winners as a 'modern type'." Perhaps he too should be asked to explain what he means and why the breed should have a modern type.

Is it possible in a breed like this to retain the qualities which were originally demanded for the dog to fulfill its work when this work is no longer available? Or should one breed for different attributes, when, because of the passing of time or new conditions, a dog's purpose in life changes? How can new people coming into a breed fully understand the old nature of the breed's work? Again, if the kennel clubs require the working dog's appearance to be taken into account, then it must decide what the working appearance constitutes and not leave individuals to come up with their own, often off-beat, answers. So come on you old dog breeders and send in some good pictures of your good "back in time" dogs.

Notice, in the February issue of Dogs in Canada picture no. 3: the Old English Sheepdog is Ch. Brady Snap of Clearbrook; the Afghan is Ch. Raja El Myia, owned by Dr. Ellen Brown; the Wire-haired Fox Terrier is Ch. Chestnut Tooth, Mrs. H. G. I. Shute and C. H. Shute.

1 Professional Handlers Association of Canada annual Christmas dinner, in the Forties.

2 Ch. Wischer's Dulcy. This sensational winning brindle bitch, owned by David Fingard, took her championship in three shows. Few Danes with such show records have produced as many puppies. "Dulcy" yielded 45 puppies in three litters. Sire is the famous Ch. Muldoon and on the dam's side there is the outstanding Ch. Odin von Birkenhoff.

3 St. Bernard, Ch. Bonnie Lady, two-years-old, was bred by Mrs. Nellie Mollard, Lake Manitou Kennels, Sask.

4 Ch. Basford Golden Nymph import, one of the great winning Bulldogs around 194[illegible] Owned by Reg Sparkes.

5 Two Irish Wolfhound pups owned by B. Henderson and his sons, who were also active exhibitors of Irish Setters and Wire-haired Fox Terriers.

6 These Newfoundlands are some of the famous Laurel Brae dogs owned by E. Emmett. Among some of his great dogs were Ch. Laurel Brae Life Guard and Ch. Laurel Brae Gael.

Revised Gaines Dog Chart includes 25 new illustrations

Twenty-five new illustrations are included in the recently revised "Gaines Guide to America's Dogs," the popular dog chart is available now in a new and completely up-to-date format from Gaines, 2200 Yonge St., Toronto, at $1.00 each.

In addition to depicting for the first time the four breeds newly eligible for registration with the American Kennel Club, the chart contains new pictorial representations of 21 other breeds. The new full-colour illustrations were necessary because the Standards of many breeds have changed since the dog chart was first printed in 1958.

Breed data such as average height, weight, colour and origin is listed under each illustration and the 127 dogs pictured are identified by breed in the six AKC groups. A brief explanation of each group is also provided.

The first bird dogs?

by H. M. STEPHENS

The breed histories for the various bird dogs start after a breed had been developed to work with the fowler and his nets. There is no legend or folk tale as to when dogs were first trained to work with feather rather than fur. Differentiation in type of dog goes back a long way in time. The Assyrians had their Mastiffs which served as guard dogs and war dogs. These were called, "chained-up, mouth opening dogs." This is possibly one of the most complete breed names ever used. Xenophone, that famous author and soldier of the fourth century, B.C. had his pack of Harriers. The desert peoples had various types of gazehounds. The Romans had lap dogs which we now know as the Italian Greyhound. None of the literature before 1000 A.D. mentions dogs used in the hunting of birds. There is mention of the Egyptians using cats to hunt ducks.

Frederick II of Hohenstaufen (1194-1250) in his masterpiece, De Arte Venandi cum Avibus possibly provides the first record of dogs being trained to assist in the hunting of birds. This book bears the date 1245 A.D. but is obviously the work of several years' detailed observation of game birds and of the falcons used to hunt them.

This book deals with the care, training and use of the falcon in tremendous detail. Young falcons are not bred in captivity but taken from the nest of their wild parents. Their training extends over two or three years during which time each bird is given daily exercise to his handler. The number of man-hours invested in a trained falcon is tremendous. A ruler such as Frederick II maintained several hunting establishments and at each of these there would be several trained falcons plus a number of younger birds in the course of training.

A favourite game bird for the falconer was the crane or heron. This involved flighting a [illegible] falcon against a 20 to 25 lb. quarry. The falcon was capable of forcing the crane to the ground but once there had difficulty in avoiding its beak and wings. Dogs were trained to come to the assistance of the falcon and hold the crane until the hunter could come up and capture the bird who was kept alive, if possible, in order that he might either be fattened

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Proposed increase in Fees.

Article XXXV, Section 3, of the By-Laws of The Canadian Kennel Club sets forth the various fees payable to the Registration Division of The Canadian Kennel Club in connection with services provided by the Division.

Section 4 of the same Article reads as follows:

The Board is empowered to alter, vary, or change fees, including membership fees, institute new fees or discontinue existing fees, subject to the following conditions:

(a) The Finance Committee (appointed as provided in Article XIII of these By-Laws) shall have recommended to the Board the proposed changes;

(b) All members of the Club shall be informed of all proposed changes in fees at least three months prior to the application to the Minister of Agriculture for Canada for approval of any change in fees;

(c) The Minister's approval shall be obtained;

(d) The effective date of any change of fees approved by the Minister shall be not less than 30 days after the members of the Club have been advised of any change in fees approved by the Minister pursuant to this Section.

The Finance Committee of The Canadian Kennel Club submitted to the Board of Directors of the Club, at its Annual Meeting held in Halifax, Nova Scotia, commencing on March 27th, 1974, a recommendation that the schedule of fees as set forth in Article XXXV, Section 1, of the Club's By-Laws be altered as follows:

	MEMBER		NON-MEMBER
	Present	Proposed	Present	Proposed
1. Registration of litter	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00
2. Registration of individual dog born in Canada	2.50	3.00	5.00	6.00
3. Transfer of ownership	1.50	2.00	3.00	4.00

The Board, by resolution, concurred with the recommendations of the Finance Committee, and directed that notice of these proposed changes in the schedule of fees be published in the Club's official organ. Notice is hereby given that after the expiration of three months from the publication of this notice, application will be submitted to the Minister of Agriculture for Canada for approval of these proposed changes in Article XXXV, Section 1, of the Club's By-Laws.

In the event the Minister of Agriculture for Canada should approve these proposed increases, notice of not less than thirty days will be given members of the Club as to the effective date of the new fees. Until such notice is given, these proposed increases are NOT in effect.

By Order of the Board of Directors.

POINTERS (GERMAN SHORT-HAIRED)

Mrs. Madeleine Hopkins, R.R. 3, Manotick, Ont. K0A 2N0—We are happy to announce the formation of The German Short-haired Pointer Club of Eastern Canada. The club's officers are: chairwoman, Mrs. Clare Park; treasurer, Peter Hopkins; secretary, Mrs. Madeleine Hopkins; directors, Irving Shaw, Mrs. Isobel Shaw, Kent Gilder and Grant Westcott.

Our club strongly supports the concept of producing a truly versatile dog.

RETRIEVERS (LABRADOR)

Sandy Briggs, R.R. 1, Markham, Ont.—In 1955, Eileen McEachren, then the vice-president of The Canadian Kennel Club, went to Bermuda to judge a dog show. Following the show she met with the show committee and announced that the CKC was willing to register dogs owned and bred in Bermuda until such time as the Bermuda K.C. could do so themselves. Shows and obedience trials went into full swing under CKC rules until May 1967 when the Bermuda K.C. rules and regulations were put into effect.

In January 1968, the Bermuda Kennel Club set up its own registration office and in 1970, the all breed club of Bermuda took over as the show giving club in Bermuda, while the dog training club of Bermuda ran the obedience trials and tracking tests.

Between 1955 and 1968, when The Canadian Kennel Club was registering dogs owned and bred in Bermuda, over a dozen Labradors, nearly all locally owned, completed their Bermudian titles. The first dog to hold all three titles (Can., Am. & Bda.) was the American black bitch, Spenrock's Banner, owned by Janet Churchill of New Jersey. Since 1968, any dog being shown in Bermuda must be registered unless it is individually registered with the BKC and since then, at least 15 more Labradors have earned their titles. This number of Labradors with Bermudian titles is reflected in the popularity of the breed in the islands, with many of the dogs coming directly to Bermuda from top kennels in England. Exports from Canada and the U.S.A. have swelled the numbers of dogs there, as a foundation for future breedings. At the shows now, Labradors and German Shepherds have the largest breed entries.

No Labrador has yet won a BIS in Bermuda, although several have placed high in the group. Also, no Labrador has yet won both his/her championship and OBD, although several Labradors have won CD and CDX titles and are continuing to work upwards.

Field trials are non-existent in Bermuda, due to local conservation and fire arms laws. There are a few places where training could be done but all water training would have to be done either off sandy shores or coral rocks, which can cause poisoning through cuts on the feet. Tracking, while popular, has not seen any Labradors competing there yet, although Golden Retrievers have done very well at it.

RETRIEVERS (NOVA SCOTIA DUCK TOLLING)

Larry Levsen, Box 1813, Regina, Sask. S4P 3C6—"Toller Talk", the new club newsletter for The Nova Scotia Duck Tolling Retriever Club of Canada, includes these items of interest: The Toller people in the Moose Jaw—Regina area arranged, in December 1973, a meeting to discuss the foundation of a club. We decided to go ahead with the idea on a tentative basis, officially setting it up in June 1974. Anyone interested in joining can mail their membership fee of $5.00 to Ron Saxby, 851 Retallack St., Regina, Sask. The fee is valid for one year, to May 1975. Elections will be held by mailed ballot each year in June. In order to vote in this coming election, please submit your fees.

A caretaker executive of three members was elected to organize and establish the club. They are: president, Ken Armitage; treasurer, Ron Saxby; secretary-editor, Larry Levsen. The functions of the above executives are spelled out in our tentative constitution.

"Toller Talk" will print articles submitted by Toller people and breeders, as well as submissions from judges, CKC officials and other interested parties. We intend to make this a quarterly, with issues in January, April, July and October.

SETTERS (IRISH)

Joan Colbourn, R.R. 7, Ottawa, Ont. K2H 7V2—With the dog show season in full swing, we have a better opportunity than at any other time of the year to assess the dogs that we are breeding and/or showing in relation to other dogs in the ring. Because of the tremendous interest in the Irish Setter lately, more dogs than ever before find their way into the show ring—good ones and bad ones! The change in point ratings should assist in making each dog with the "Ch." in front of its name actually worthy of the championship. If we had a Standard for our breed that was less open to individual interpretation we would be on the way to giving the newcomer to the dog game a Standard which would mean something to him and to the breeder.

The Standard is what we breed to but what about those hidden things that our fine dogs carry? These are those hereditary faults which some of us know about, but few are admitting that dogs of our breeding could have: hip dysplasia, ectropion, entropion, epilepsy, gastric-tortion and progressive retinal atrophy (P.R.A.). Research goes on to find out more about these abnormalities but the researchers could use a lot of information that we have and are not giving to them. We can x-ray all breeding stock to attempt to avoid hip dysplasia. But what of P.R.A.? This is carried by a simple recessive gene, which means that a healthy, unaffected dog can be carrying this recessive gene and if mated to a normal (P.R.A. clear) dog will pass on the recessive gene to ½ of the pups in the resulting litter; the other half of the litter will be normal (P.R.A. clear).

There is no way at present (other than test breeding) to know which pup is which, carrier or normal. Sooner or later two dogs carrying the recessive P.R.A. gene will be mated and the resulting litter will be ¼ normal; ¼ will have P.R.A. and thus be blind by two years of age; ½ will be P.R.A. carriers, appearing to be normal.

The tip of the P.R.A. iceberg is beginning to show. Some breeders are acknowledging that this is a problem, especially if they have actually come up with a blind puppy. Approximately 10,000 Irish Setters in North America are P.R.A. carriers.

SPANIELS (IRISH WATER)

Maggie McKeown, 962 Maitland St., London, Ont. N5Y 2X4—I am interested in contacting breeders and owners of Irish Water Spaniels in Ontario, especially those whose dogs are from the same line as my Treaven's Irish Dancer.

BASSET HOUNDS

Ted Klunder, publicity chairman for The Basset Hound Club of Canada, writes: Our club recently elected its new officers: president Louis A. Bowman; vice-president, Jim McKnight; secretary, Flarene Sills; treasurer, Peter Elston; directors, Roxanna Bowman, Rosemary McKnight and Barbara Elston. We now have over 70 members.

Quite a contingent of Basset exhibitors from Canada went down to the Detroit K.C. show at Cobo Hall on March 10, where the Basset Club of Greater Detroit held their annual specialty. The Bowmans, Sills, Chapmans, McKnights and Dane Sutherland had entries from Ontario. The Macklins travelled down from Winnipeg with three entries. There were 52 Bassets entered, providing for a 5-pt. win in males and a 4-pt. win in females. The judge was Wallace Alford of North Carolina.

The McKnights, with home-bred and owner/handled Ch. Chantinghall Dominic, won the Open Male Class out of 13 entries, then went on to WD and BW. This was "Dominic's" first U.S. show.

The Chapmans, with Ch. Sand-Dells Ali-Oop, bred by Ron Sandell, won second in the Open Bitch Class out of 12 and went on to RW.

BEARDED COLLIES

Carol Gold, 39 Claxton Blvd., Toronto 10, Ont.—The Bearded Collie Club of Canada specialty, March 16, drew an entry of 25.

Visiting the specialty were Jerry and Maria Jozwiak from the Midwest Bearded Collie Club in Chicago. Everyone was glad to see John Leduc and son Barry out with Abbigael.

I've had a number of questions about the history of the breed in Canada. Although we keep hearing about pet Beardies that had been here for years and I've heard of one that worked at the Department of Agriculture experimental farm in Ottawa, the first registerable Beardie to come into Canada was Muriel Ratner's Bracky of Bothkennar, who arrived in Montreal in 1963 (and is still fit and bouncing today). That was it, until I arrived home from England in 1968 with my Wishanger Marsh Pimpernel. The next to come, in the Spring of 1969, was Osmart Brown Barnaby, imported by Dr. and Mrs. MacLennan of Toronto, followed that summer by Osmart Black Cherry, imported to Regina by Bob and Helen Wilson. It was almost a year later, in the Spring of 1970, that the last three we needed for recognition arrived, Tarskavaig Black Maria, imported by Barbara Blake and Tarskavaig Black Velvet and Cynpeg's Hillbilly, imported by Alice Clark, all within a month of each other.

The Bearded Collie Club of Canada was formed in April 1970 and Beardies were recognized in August of that year. The first Canadian-bred litter, registered at the time of recognition, was by Osmart Brown Barnaby and Wishanger Marsh Pimpernel.

BRIARDS

Jan Charbonneau, 680 Ramsey Lake Rd., S.S. 1, Site 2, Box 7, Sudbury, Ont. P3E 2C5—During the month of February I attended Westminster as a spectator. We had a breed entry of ten dogs with Best of Breed going to a dog from the Open Class, Gelee Haricot D'el Pastre. Not only was this dog amateur owner handled to this lovely win but he was also the only natural-eared Briard entered. In a time when the cropped ear is becoming the vogue in the show ring, this was an exceptional win.

There seems to be some confusion as to what is more acceptable ear-wise for our breed and I would like to comment to clarify this situation. The Briard Standard states that both ear types are perfectly acceptable and that no preference shall be given to one or the other.

If a dog carries natural ears, they should not lie flat against the head, like the American Cocker but should stand out a little then fall downwards. Frequently, the natural ear is too long and this is a fault; it should be equal to or slightly less than half the length of the head.

The cropped ear should be carried vertically upright and well parallel (neither converging nor diverging), emphasizing the parallel lines of the head. When alert, they should face forward, free of the skull, well opened with long hair falling over the opening.

In either case, the ears must be attached high, have a thick leather and be firm at the base. The low ear set gives a common expression because the head appears too arched which is faulty.

Briard ranks in Canada have been boosted with the arrival of three new puppies. Kent and Carol Gregoire, of Winnipeg, have recently acquired a tawny male, Iberville de Savoir Vivre, from the Detroit area. Alice Clark, of Campbellville, has a tawny puppy bitch, Pa'Chick's Interlude, also from Detroit and I have a black male, Phydeaux Windfall, from New Jersey.

COLLIES/SHELTIES

Ariel Sleeth, well-known breeder, judge, horsewoman and farm owner reports on the cross-country activities of these breeds. Send your news items to her direct. Sovereign Kennels, R.R. 6, Kingston, Ont.—When you leave home for "dog show day" you must be prepared for almost anything. You must have read throughly all information in the premium list pertaining to the day of the show. The trend fo formal attire requested for group judging may find you totally unprepared. Check the times for group judging and be prepared to be away from home for that time, should it be necessary. Even a puppy who wins Best Canadian Bred Puppy must stay for the judging of Best Canadian Bred Puppy in Group.

If judging is out of doors be prepared for rainy weather or too much sun for you and your dog. Judging inside or out, be prepared for excesses in temperature, hot or cold. Pack carefully. If attending many shows have a permanent list and check off as you pack. Don't forget to carry your dog's own drinking water if you plan on being away more than a day. Too much time and expense are invested to have your "hopeful" upset by a change in the drinking water.

On arrival at the show, check the catalogue, be sure that you are entered correctly, before it is time for your breed to be judged. Have him clean and well groomed and be ready when your class is to be judged. Don't forget to have fun with your dog before going in the ring. Remember, you trained him to look forward to this; enjoy it together.

If the results are not as you hoped, keep your head and try to learn something from the placings. Put yourself in the judge's place and try to imagine what he saw when he looked at your dog. Watch the judging and try to determine what is most important to him in any breed. If you can learn something from each showing that may be useful in the future it will not be a wasted effort nor will you take as long in your trip to the winner's circle.

Most exhibitors use liver for bait and although it is messy, it does seem to be what most dogs love best. This recipe for liver jerky, by Dorothy Burns, may prove helpful, especially if you are showing for two or three days without the convenience of being able to cook a fresh supply.

Liver jerky is actually dried raw liver and can be made in quantities long before the show. It keeps well and can last unrefrigerated for several days.

To prepare: Take ¼" strips of raw liver as it comes from the store. Lay the strips, not touching, in a flat pan or cookie sheet. Dry them at about 100° in the oven for about 24 hours, turning once during this time. They are ready when a strip snaps cleanly without showing insides. They will be dark brown and shiny. The strips can be carried in hand or pocket with no mess.

Judging from the mail this past month, Dogs in Canada readers are finding the articles on training their pups for show useful. Have enjoyed hearing from Sharon Davey, La Crete, Alta., the Yoergers, Vavenby, B.C., and Sylvia Easby of Oshawa.

From Dartmouth, N.S.
Miss Frances Wagner sends news of an eye clinic with Dr. Riis, on June 8. This clinic will be for all breeds. Contact Frances Wagner, 75 Lake Major Rd., Westphal, R.R. 1, Dartmouth, N.S. B2W 3X7 and take advantage of these tremendous opportunities kennel clubs are offering the breeders.

DOBERMAN PINSCHERS

Mrs. Terri Coutts, R.R. 1, Harrow, Ont.—My husband and I have just returned from Germany on a Dobe hunting trip and we would like to share it with Dobe fanciers. I had heard many conflicting reports on the German bred Doberman. We learned the German Dobes are no better or worse in conformation than the Dobes found in North America. They are not sharper than our dogs; they have generally nice temperaments, like ours; good protectors but once introduced are completely trustworthy. I also feel in the working area, our Dobes work every bit as nicely as theirs do but please take into consideration the difference between individual dogs. The German markings just beautiful! They are the est, richest rust I have ever I think we could improve that line.

Another mark of the Ger Dobe is their deep brisket have nice briskets here but is that touch deeper, generall

I think that the Germans to have a problem with low tioned Dobes. It is more co than we see over here.

North American breeders be proud of the work they done with the Dobes.

We visited Herman Palm Germany, of Furstenfeld. Palmers treated us wonderf They spoke no English and a word of German, so we h slight communication prob Their dogs are their whole and of all things about his Herr Palmer is most proud their beautiful dark markings rightly so. I found his Dobes the most consistently beau heads.

Our trip taught me much Dobes. "The grass is not al greener on the other side."

In my previous litter sired by Ovation I was delighted with the perfect eyes. Too many breeders make no attempt to breed out undesirable flaws. It is so much easier to cut them out. This may hide the fault in the showring, but a serious breeder should take up the challenge of "breeding out" weaknesses.

tore, S. India, two days by train, to attend these shows and it was all well worth it. Jaguar went Reserve to Best in Show, Best Puppy in Show and Best Imported Dog in Show the first day and went all the way to Best in Show the second day! Jewel went Best of Opposite Sex in Show both days. This was a fantastic win for these 7½ month-old Canadian-bred littermates!

On January 29, they completed their Indian championship title by receiving their third Challenge Certificates at an all breed show in Madras. That day the pups turned eight months and Jaguar finished in style by going BIS again!

Gregory L. Lutz, R.R. 6, The Hanwell, Fredericton, N.B. –On January 8, 1974 one of the greatest Dobermans of all time, Am. Ch. Cassio Vom Ahrtal, died at the age of ten. "Cassio", in a decade of many great Dobermans and unparalled Doberman popularity, was one of the true greats who will live on and influence the breed for many years to come.

"Cassio" was bred, owned and loved by the famous Tess Henseler of Ahrtal Kennels, a woman who has bred more than 64 Doberman champions. "Cassio" has left his mark so deeply that it will shine as long as there are Dobermans. At the time of his death he was already the sire of the phenomenal number of 36 American champions and the grandsire to many others. His blood is well represented in Canada and the foundation of many stud forces here.

GERMAN SHEPHERDS

Anne Auclair, Box 17, R.R. 2, Wallenstein, Ont. –The Town and Country G.S.D.C. is holding a matinee show the day after the G.S.D.C. of London's specialty, both of which are the holiday weekend in May. For further information on the matinee show call Ed. Callesen, 293-3562.

The G.S.D.C. of Central Ontario will run a Group 3 matinee show on August 18. Information, Tony Monk, 270-9977. The Ontario County Kennel Club show at Oshawa will feature two boosters for Shepherds. The first, on June 8, sponsored by the G.S.D.C. of Central Ont.; judge, Tony Monk. The Sunday booster, sponsored by the Town and Country G.S.D.C., will be judged by Jim Gilcher.

This year competition will be sharpened by the new point rating. This should not be discouraging but rather make those hard earned championships much more precious.

At his first Sanction Match he was Best of Breed and Best Puppy in Working Group. The second time out he again was Best of Breed and on to Working Group First, and now GO WEST YOUNG MAN TO CLOVERLEAF KENNELS, CALGARY, ALBERTA. Excelling in breed type and temperament, we know he will be an asset to the breed and his temporary fee while at stud in Calgary is $75.00.

TWO more Champions for CH. R. REFLECTION to add to his list and with Spring shows now underway we hear 3 more are started! At the prestigious Can. Sportsmen's Show CH. ENELRAM CASEY completed his title with a Best of Breed over Specials, and CH. SHELT-RIE STRAWBERRY BLONDE, only 8 months, came out into the ring for her debut and returned to the U.S. with her title!

Our CH. REFLECTION daughters are in whelp and these litters of planned breedings will soon begin to arrive! Living up to our reputation, these puppies are superbly bred and carrying some of the very best of today's bloodlines the breed has to offer, with such sires as CH. R. REFLECTION OF SHELDON, CH. SHELDON THIS IS THE GENERAL, FAIR PLAY OF SEA ISLE, BELTANE'S KING BISHOP and CH. G. D. REVEILLE OF SEA ISLE. These litters will be evaluated and offered to sincere fanciers of the breed!

FLASH: "Steven" makes his debut at the three-day Chatham show. First day BW and Best Puppy in Group — Stan Whitmore, Third day BB over special AND AGAIN BEST PUPPY IN GROUP — Winnifred Heckman.

AUSTRALIAN TERRIERS

As its name denotes, the Australian Terrier is a native of Australia and is of comparatively recent origin, dating from the year 1885 when it was first exhibited in Melbourne as the Australian Rough. Several terriers entered into the composition of this terrier, although there is no general agreement as to the particular breeds in the dog's heritage. It has the rich blue and tan colouration of the Yorkshire, the erect ears of the Cairn, the soft-haired topknot of the Dandie Dinmont and the weather-proof coat of the Scottie but these characteristics of other breeds do not necessarily indicate its ancestral background.

"The Australian Terrier is one of the smallest of the working terriers: about 10" at the shoulder and from 12 to 14 lbs. Its outer coat is harsh and straight, about 2½" all over the body, with a short, wooly undercoat. Its colour may be blue-black or silver-black with rich, tan markings on head and legs. The blue-black is bluish at the roots and dark at the tips; in silver-black, each hair carries black and silver alternating, with black at the tips.

"The Australian Terrier has had breed status in England since 1933 and it's well known in other parts of the British empire. The breed has been steadily gaining in popularity in the U.S. in the last few years. The Australian Terrier became the 114th breed to be approved for AKC recognition." When this article was written in Popular Dogs, June 1960 issue, the breed was just gaining AKC recognition and was still being shown in the Miscellaneous Class.

BORDER TERRIERS

June Monaghan of Birkhill Borders writes: "My Ch. Shelburne Trigger, bred by Kate J. Seeman, finished his American championship in December 1973, with a Group 4th at the San Mateo K.C. show under Dr. Huggins and a Group 3rd at the Antelope Valley K.C. show, under Nick Calicura. He is now co-owned with Dale R. Gourlie of North Hollywood, Calif. Ch. (Can. & Am.) Birkfell Bobber Burills, co-owned by Dale Gourlie and Elizabeth J. Watson, was second Border in the U.S. under the Kennel review system.

"1974 is the 25th anniversary of the Border Terrier Club of America. The specialty will be held at Woodstock, Vt., on July 12. Judge will be W. R. Irving of Musselburgh, Scotland. The day before, there will be an American Working Terrier Association trial. For further information write to the secretary of the B.T.C.A., Miss Van der Veer, R.R. 1, Box 254, North Windham, Conn. 06256."

Any articles on Borders would be most appreciated.

BULL TERRIERS

Many people have inquired about possibilities of purchasing BTs on breeding terms and have asked exactly what is involved. The Bull Terrier Club bulletin of England has, in its November issue, an article on how the English deal with this situation.

"Breeding terms are an arrangement between vendor and owner which, if fairly applied, can be of great benefit to both.

"With the ever-soaring price of breeding, it is of immense value to the vendor to be able to place good breeding stock in a home where the bitch can double as family pet and brood bitch. The new owner benefits by getting a much better bitch than would normally be available and at much reduced cost. In addition, there should be co-operation between vendor and owner that will be of tremendous help to the novice starting with a first show bitch.

"The Kennel Club will register the breeding terms and this or some legally binding agreement should be drawn up so that both parties are fully aware of the commitment involved. In the case of the K.C. form, one copy goes to the K.C., one to the vendor and one to the owner. The K.C. form has considerable advantage because it can be arranged that the vendor (the breeder) is to be the registered breeder of the puppies while the bitch can be shown under the name of the purchaser. This is a great advantage to both parties in the case of show stock.

"Some novices have agreed to exhorbitant breeding terms but this is not necessary and if they 'shop around' they will find that most reputable breeders will be ready to sell a good bitch on terms something on these lines.

1) The bitch shall be given a good home for the whole of her natural life.

2) If the bitch suffers from any illness other than minor complaints, the breeder will be informed and will assist with advice and any possible assistance.

3) The bitch shall be mated to a dog of the breeder's choice at the second or third season as is mutually convenient.

4) The breeder will select one or two puppies from the complete litter at eight weeks and shall have the option to buy any others that the owner does not wish to keep personally.

5) The stud fee will be paid by the vendor who will take one puppy in lieu.

6) Should the bitch not produce a litter after the first mating, then she will be mated at her next and if necessary yet again. If she misses three times then the owner will be considered to have fulfilled his terms, retains the bitch and has no further breeding commitment.

7) If, for any reason, the purchaser is unable to keep the bitch as required by the agreement, the bitch shall be offered to the vendor at a sum not exceeding the purchase price, the offer to be in writing and a minimum of 14 days notice given.

"In the case of a very valuable bitch, two puppies from the two litters may be asked for, but in all cases a time limit must be set and when the conditions are fulfilled the vendor has no further call upon the bitch which is then outright property of the purchaser-lessee with whom she remains, as agreed, for the whole of her natural life. A barren bitch must be considered as having fulfilled the agreement as long as she has been mated as required. Should the owner be unsuccessful in rearing the litter, then some arrangement must be made whereby the breeder whelps the bitch next time and returns her to her home together with an agreed proportion of the litter.

"In order to facilitate the easy working of breeding terms it is unwise to place the bitch at a distance greater than 50 miles or two hours travelling from the vendor.

"Price is a very difficult point on which to give guidance but a fair approximation is half the normal selling price. The more puppies that are asked for, the lower the price should be, so that if you want a really good one and can't afford a big price but can guarantee a really good and careful home, you can get one and pay in puppies."

Don't forget the weekend of June 1. Starting on Saturday there will be a BT booster show for the Bull Terrier Fanciers Association in conjunction with the Progressive K.C. show in Don Mills, Ont. Mrs. Joan Morden will be judging. For information contact Mrs. Joanne Johnson, 79 Spring Garden Cres., Willowdale, Ont. June 2, in conjunction with The Terrier Breeders' Association of Canada specialty show, Don Mills Arena, Don Mills, Ont., there will be a Bull Terrier specialty show. The Bull Terrier Club of Canada has Jon Cole, a breeder/judge of BTs in the U.S., to judge its second annual specialty. If you are a BT enthusiast, do not miss this great weekend. For more information, write Paul Wettlaufer, 1550 Avenue Rd., Toronto M5M 3X5.

FOX TERRIERS (SMOOTH)

Again this month some more breeding news by the Rev. A. J. Skinner, Ba., from his book, The Popular Fox Terrier: "Mons. M. Ecorcheville, the continental expert, says, "One may become a fancier, but one is born a breeder.' Still, there are many obvious pitfalls against which the young enthusiast can be warned to prevent him from falling into errors that have caused so much loss of time to others.

"The first is what may be called 'compensation'. The novice possesses, it is supposed, a good all-round bitch with fair legs, body, balance and coat but weak in head. The first idea is to look around for a good stud dog excelling in that particular point. This is wrong. First, find a stud dog as good as the bitch in those points where she excells and possessing withal a more correct head. But this is not all.

"The pedigree of the stud dog should be examined to ascertain if he comes from a family of good heads and whether his sire and dam excelled in that particular. Furthermore, the progeny of the stud dog should be inspected, if possible, for the same feature. If such is found to be the case, it would seem that a sure dominance in heads has been secured.

"Utilizing the services of such a dog, it will be found, according to the Mendelian rule, out of every four puppies, one will be a good head—pure-dominant; two good heads—impure-dominant; one bad head—recessive.

"The two (impure-dominants) with good heads may do all the winning on the show bench and to outsiders may appear the most valuable dogs but if it is intended to carry on breeding with any degree of success, the one to be retained for that purpose is the good-headed pure-dominant. How is the dominant to be discovered? Three bitches with dominant heads should be mated with three dogs possessing good heads. Any litter that has even one bad head in it comes from an impure-dominant. The pure-dominant will

"When the question of compensation is multiplied (for most bitches have more than one defect), the problem is even more complicated because in some mysterious way, pairs of qualities are linked together."

STAFFORDSHIRE BULL TERRIERS

From Colin Smith in Finland comes this article which originally appeared in "Staffi", the Finnish S.B.T.C. magazine.

"The Staffordshire Standard does not commit itself to a description of the breed's characteristic movement, which has been and still is a cause of much confusion amongst non-specialist judges. It has been asked many times why this description has never been included. The original members of the parent club of the breed did not consider that anyone familiar with the breed could need to know this point. They concentrated on describing those points which could cause confusion. Remember that the Stafford did not come from just one area of the "black country" but from as far away as Manchester and Scotland. The founding fanciers tried to describe an ideal that everyone could aim for.

"Unfortunately for the general terrier judge, the Stafford does not move like a Fox Terrier, which too often is the action they look for. His feet come closer together when moving than when standing still. This gives him his characteristic jaunty, rollicking appearance. The feet must never cross each other in action but apart from this it is impossible to be dogmatic. The rear feet are usually noticeably closer than the front. The dog's movement should express his breed."

It is with great sadness that the Staffordshire Bull Terrier Club of Canada reports the loss of one of its most outstanding founding members, A. J. Horn of Patty's Kennels in Milton, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Horn introduced the Stafford to Canada and to the Cookes of Terrco Kennels in Quebec.

WEST HIGHLAND WHITE TERRIERS

Westie news this month comes from the Kennels of the Rouge. Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins, who has just returned from Chicago after having completed a large terrier judging assignment, is proud to announce that Ch. (Can. & Am.) Laurie's Piper of the Rouge has received confirmation of his Bermudian championship.

Sandy Briggs, this year at the Bermuda K.C. shows, handled another two "Rouge Westies". Rouge Mananbee Zebedee took a 3-pt. win, won Best Puppy in Group and finally went on to win Best Puppy in Show the first day. The next two shows saw him take another two Puppy in Group awards. Ch. Rouge Dancing Pippa Springcasa, again handled by Sandy Briggs, took three 3-pt. wins and three Group 3rds, leaving her just one point short of having her Bermudian title.

Mrs. Daniell-Jenkins lost Ch. (Can. & Am.) Shipmates Hannibal at almost 15 years of age. "Hannibal" was the stud dog around whom the greater part of the "Rouge" line-breeding has pivoted for the last 12 years. Thirteen of his puppies are Canadian champions and four have their American titles. "Hannibal" will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved him.

CAVALIER KING CHARLES SPANIELS

Mr. E. Beneditti, of the Cavalier club, writes: I received a very encouraging letter from Lady Forwood and the English Cavalier Club. She wishes us well and also asked me to let all breeders know that there was no embargo on the purchase of stock from English breeders. I can confirm this from my own personal experience.

I was pleased to see eight Cavaliers at a recent sanction match and nine on the first day of the Sportsmen's Show, the largest Cavelier entry at a point show in Canada. Perhaps we will soon see more entries, not forgetting that we want quality rather than quantity.

CHIHUAHUAS

Margaret McClory, Mountain View Rd. S., Beamsville, Ont.—At the Oakland K.C. all breed show, held in March in Oakland, Calif., and boasting an entry of over 2,300 dogs, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Quantico's Little Crusader won BIS. Mrs. H. Walsh gave "Crusader" BIS and Mrs. H. Harding gave Group 1st.

This places "Crusader" among the top ten toys in the U.S.A. and is now the second winning Chihuahua of all time. To date he has won three BIS (all breeds) and four BIS (specialty shows).

The Rosemount memorial trophy offered to the breeder of the dog was presented to Mrs. C. Y. Peterson, Grimsby, Ont.

MALTESE

Sharmion Aune, 23 Upper Trafalgar Pl., Montreal, Que. H3H 1T2—Conditioners and oils play an important part in the day-to-day grooming of a Maltese coat. This column will deal with conditioners, the following column, with oils.

Some exhibitors would never dream of brushing and combing a coat while it was dry, preferring to use one of the many conditioners available.

A conditioner is much "lighter" than an oil and can be found in spray cans, atomizer-type bottles or you can make your own by combining a creme-rinse designed for human use (Breck Protein Creme-Rinse, blue in colour, is good) with water in a jar or plastic bottle with atomizer device. Avoid yellow coloured rinses of any description.

Mr. Groom and St. Aubrey manufacture good coat dressings, Happy Hair, No More Tangles, Avon Sheen are other products. I tend to use both conditioners and oils designed for humans, finding the lanolin in some of the Dog products makes the coat "sticky".

While the dog is lying on its side, start with the tummy hairs and work in layers to the part, likewise with the other side. Spray the conditioner on the first layer, brush well through the coat and finish off by combing that layer. Take another layer and repeat the procedure. For added penetration through the coat, spray the conditioner on the brush as well. Pay particular attention to the problem areas, under the arms, behind the ears and under the mouth, the bitch's skirts and the male's hair around the sheath.

Other exhibitors prefer to use creme-rinses after a shampoo as their conditioner.

Every bath should be followed by a creme-rinse and if the dog is not being exhibited after his bath, you can rinse his creme rinse off very lightly being a bit more diligent with the heavier rinses. Should the dog be shown rinse thoroughly or the coat will appear greasy.

The type of rinse you use depends on the type of coat the dog has and the job you wish the rinse to do.

I rely on Mr. Groom Texturizer Creme-Rinse diluted as directed or Lambert—Kaye Tangle-Free Rinse used full strength. I rarely dilute anything, including shampoos but Mr. Groom is quite heavy otherwise.

Vitacoat (England) makes a particularly outstanding product called Lano-Lactic. It is shaped like a bar of soap and you must "brew it up" on the stove. The result is a very heavy rinse which is particularly good for the heavier and drier coat. Rinse it off quite well or you run dangers of clogging pores but leave enough to do the job you wish it to.

Clairol Conditioner has proved beneficial to the slightly damaged and dry coat; Wella Balsam or Wella Cholestral for the same problem. Used in conjunction with hot towel treatments each time you bathe the dog and careful daily grooming, a coat can be restored.

Hot towels are prepared by putting two bath towels in boiling water. Using rubber gloves so that you can handle them, squeeze one towel quite dry and wrap it around the dog with the conditioner on his coat. Alternate towels as they cool and keep the water hot. This procedure should last at least 15 minutes.

Some others use a heating pad in conjunction with heat and condition treatments, wrapping the dog first in a hot damp towel, then a dry towel and then holding the dog on their laps while a heating pad is held around him.

For coats that are badly damaged and brittle, spend some time with a reliable hairdresser. They have ideas that have proven most valuable to me in the past.

Finally, mayonnaise is another super conditioner. I believe that the formidable and breath-taking Am. Ch. Joanne-chen's Maya Dancer, second top dog all breeds in the States in 1972, who was conditioned and handled so superbly by Mrs. Peggy Hogg, was often conditioned in mayonnaise.

After wetting your dog, work the mayonnaise well into the coat with your fingers. Proceed as above with hot towel treatments, shampoo out (you may require two soapings if you want to get it all out) and follow up with the creme-rinse of your choice.

CHOW CHOWS

Chow Chow Fanciers Club of Canada—At the Battle Creek Kennel Club show held in Battle Creek, Mich., on March 9, two Canadian Chows walked off with honours again! Ch. Mi-Tu's Han Su Shang was awarded Winners Dog and Best of Winners, while his sister Mi-Tu's Han Su Linn was Winners Bitch and Best of Opposite Sex.

The next day at the Detroit K.C. show, in an entry of 16 Chows, Ch. Mi-Tu's Han Su Shang was again awarded Winners and Best of Winners for a 4-pt. major win to complete his American title. Mi-Tu's Han Su Linn was awarded Reserve Winners Bitch to another 4-pt. major.

By attaining the status of American champion, Shang brought with him another record of the kennel of Chows owned by Herb and Joan Williams and Fred Peddie, members of the Chow Chow Fanciers of Canada and that is that the Bu Dynasty kennel is the only Chow kennel in North America to own three Canadian and American champion Chows. The other kennelmates of Shang are Ch. (Can. & Am.) Lidice's Ko Ko Can., Am. CD ("Ko Ko" is a home bred dog and the most titled Canadian bred Chow in the history of the breed) and Shang's sire, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Foo H'Sing's Mister Linn Wu (Buda). It is interesting to note that all of these dual champions are also multiple group and specialty show winners.

LHASA APSOS

Barbara Ratledge, 614-140 Sixth Ave. S.W. Calgary, Alta.—Grooming the Lhasa Apso is not difficult if the structure of the coat is understood. It is composed of a long, hard but not coarse, outercoat and a soft dense undercoat. It is this undercoat that is cast out in the Spring and must be removed. When the undercoat is cast, it works out into the top coat and if not brushed it will become matted. If you find your Lhasa Apso scratching continuously, this retained dead coat could be the cause.

The grooming of the Lhasa Apso should not be neglected for longer than a week. The following grooming aids should be collected before you start to groom the dog. A grooming table with a non-skid top of ribbed rubber or a thick terry towel, fastened to the top, will give the dog sure footing. Also required are a natural bristle brush, two steel combs—one fairly coarse for finishing and a fine comb for removing mats in the area around the eyes and nose, a slicker brush, a pair of dog nail clippers and a coarse file, a rubber-backed pin brush, a spray bottle filled with cream rinse and water, a can of non-greasy coat conditioner, a damp wash cloth and a coarse knitting needle.

When introducing a puppy to grooming, place him on his back on your lap while you brush the underside. Then train him to lie on his side on the grooming table. Snarls and mats that form on the stomach and inner legs are more easily reached when in this position. Regular grooming of the puppy coat stimulates the growth, removes the dead hair and allows the new coat to come in more readily. Picking up his paws, checking his mouth and touching his ears will make it easier later on for nail clipping, teeth cleaning and ear inspection.

Start the grooming by cleaning the eyes and face with a damp cloth. Keep boracic acid solution on hand to wash the eyes. A tooth brush dipped in corn starch is good to loosen the matter under the eyes, then use a fine comb. Next, lay the dog on his side and start at either the neck or the rump. The coat should be sprayed lightly layer by layer, the layers being separated with the knitting needle. Begin grooming each layer at the ends of the coat and work your brush closer to the base of the coat towards the dog's skin. Upon encountering any tightly matted section, spray the matted area a little damper then gently pull the mats apart without breaking too much hair. Gently whisk the mat with the pin brush to break up the mat. Each mat must be broken up individually, which is time consuming but will save the coat. After both sides have been groomed, lay the dog on one side and then the other to do the stomach, chest and legs. These areas are groomed in much the same way as the sides. When grooming a male, remove any sticky [illegible] charge with mild soapy water, being careful not to leave any soap in the coat. The legs, as a general rule, are more liable to be matted than any other part of the body. First, the leg is sprayed with creme rinse solution, then with wig brush, brush, again in layers around and down the leg to the foot. Be careful that, if the dog's claws have been left on, you don't catch them. Then, the slicker brush is gently used to remove any loosened mats the wig brush missed. The tail can be done at this time and should be sprayed with creme rinse and brushed with the pin brush and then combed out.

The dog is then stood up and work is begun on the head. With a natural bristle brush, groom the underside of the ear fringes first. Then brush the rest of the head including the whiskers and beard. Repeat the procedure with the slicker brush and lastly use a comb.

The hair around the feet should not be allowed to get too long and may be trimmed; don't overtrim.

Because of the heavily feathered rear quarters, stools occasionally stick to the coat. They should be cleaned immediately as any stool left on the skin will tend to irritate and cause a sore. If a stool has become immeshed in the skirt, do not try to pull or comb out. With a puppy, sit him in a small dish of warm soapy water; in a few moments the stool will loosen and can be removed with the puppy is still sitting in the water. An adult's back end can be held under a warm water tap and a coarse comb gently worked the stool out, being careful not to catch the vent. The area is then shampooed and brushed dry.

SCRAPBOOK

Lament of a Loser

Sing a song of dog food and entry fees to shows,
I buy these things and others, while friends amass new clothes.
My backyard's full of training jumps, my kennel's full of stool,
But neighbours play about their yards, admiring their new pool.
The wretch, he waits till backs are turned, to chew on favourite chairs,
While frolicking about the house, leaving residues of hairs.
My friends, their bag is golf and bridge, as off to clubs they go,
But only nuts go train their dogs, when it's ten degrees below.
My hands are filled with blisters, I groom and thin with shears,
Only to find the next morning, my kids have cut his ears.
Saturday night, friends go on the town in fine clothes and hair set,
My evening consists of bathings dogs—guess who gets the most wet?
At 5:00 a.m. I load the car, while others are fast asleep,
To get lost on the way to the doggone show, it's enough to make you weep.
The judge he stands awaiting, to contemplate my "prize",
But lo he likes another—how good are that man's eyes?
My stomach calmed from pre-show nerves, this day has taken its toll,
The lunch counter I depart to—only to find a stale sweet role.
I load the car with all my gear—my crate, my dog in tow,
But I'll do the same thing next week—see you at the show?

May

Who first beholds the light of day
In Spring's sweet flowery month of May
And wears an Emerald all her life,
Shall be a loved and happy wife.

"IN PING PONG, WE DO NOT JUMP THE NET!"

A Boy and a Dog

A Dalmatian puppy, by name of Ben,
Into a litter was born.
His mother looked at him lovingly,
He was clumsy, big and forlorn.

He was raised with love and affection,
Mom gave a big kiss and a wink,
"We love you as much as the others, dear Ben,
Tho' your nose is incredibly pink."

God works his love in mysterious ways,
Somewhere there was someone for Ben,
Then Michael appeared as tho' from the blue,
A lovely young man about ten.

Michael had many a trouble,
His playmates did laugh and did scorn,
For Michael as Ben, tho' cruel it may be,
Alas, was imperfectly born.

A boy with limbs that were twisted and braced,
A pup who was spotlessly plain,
Fate stepped in with a careful hand,
They would soon ease each other's pain.

The boy has found a new reason to live,
The pup a reason to bark,
Days are they in a bright new way,
And deep love has found its just mark.

Burnaby, B.C., a curfew ngs for dogs. Under the law dogs must be under con- by 10 p.m. or the owners ll be penalized. So says a oklet "It's Against the w", published by Reader's gest.

Cruelty of the Chained Dog

I wish someone would tell me what it is that I have done wrong.
Why do I have to stay chained up and be left alone so long?
They seemed so glad to have me when I came here as a pup,
There were so many things we'd do while I was growing up.

The Master said he'd train me as a companion and as a friend;
The Mistress said she'd never fear to be alone again;
The children said they'd feed me if I would only stay.

But now the Master "hasn't time", the Mistress says I shed,
She doesn't want me in the house, not even to be fed.
The children never walk me, they always say, "not now".
I wish I could please them, won't someone please tell me how?

All I have for them is love, I wish they would explain
Why they said they wanted my love, then left it on a chain.

Mrs. Hutchins takes Sylvia for a walk. But she must watch those puffs of wind!

With her brother, who is regarded as small!

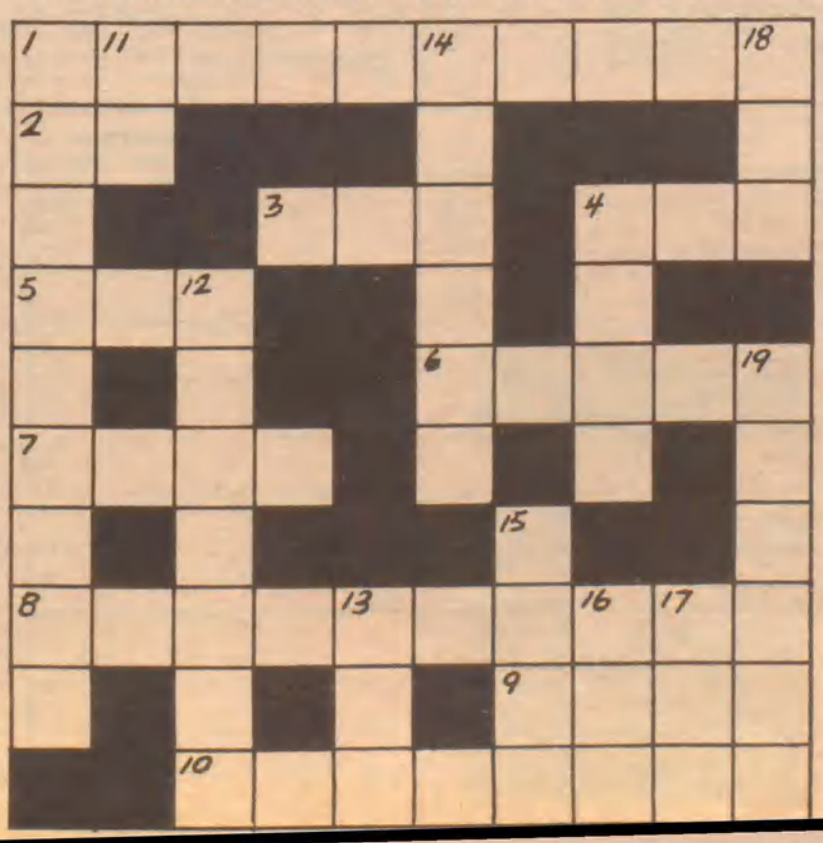

Sylvia - world's smallest dog?

Mrs. Connie Hutchins of Walthamstow, East London, claims she has the world's smallest dog. Sylvia, a tiny bundle of Yorkshire Terrier, measures only 5¼" from ear tip to front paw when sitting and 3½" from her shoulders to the ground standing. At birth she weighed only 1½ oz. and was only ten oz. at five months, only one month away from being fully grown! She will weight at the most 12 oz., while Yorkshire Terriers fully grown are usually about three lbs. Mrs. Hutchins, an expert breeder, says Sylvia's mother abandoned her at birth and she had to feed her with a doll's feeding bottle teat.

"She is a lovable little thing and seems quite normal in behaviour—and certainly in her appetite!" says Mrs. Hutchins. "Her brothers and sisters, although much bigger and stronger, have to fight her off their feeding bowls—for she finishes her food first!".

has welcomed two new members recently, from the Yukon Territory; both are owners of Camplaren puppies but as yet the owners haven't met, deterred by 300 miles of gravel road! Lily Dickson is a resident of Faro and Joan and Ken White live outside Whitehorse.

There is a birthday at Fairlaur Kennels April 26, when Franlaur

Franlaur Taktuk, 14-years-old, relaxes at home.

Taktuk will be 14. The old lady housedog (bed and chesterfield dog, too), is very black still and agile but she does have selective hearing. Her pet peeve is still cats.

The Schipperke Club of Canada booster is in Brockville, Ont., on August 18, with the renowned judge Ellsworth Gamble. Mrs. J. Bernhardt, R.R. 2 Brockville, Ont., is chairwoman of the booster committee and all trophy donations should be forwarded to her.

Yorkie tops entry at Show of Champions

PORT HOPE, Ont.—Canadiana set the theme for the Pine Ridge Kennel and Obedience first "Show of Champions" which was held at the conclusion of the club's all-breed show on Saturday, March 30.

All rounder Mrs. Margaret Thomas judged the 55 entries by group and then from the six finalists selected her winner. This was the Yorkshire Terrier, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Todwill's Fearless Fosdick, handled, as always, by his owner Dr. Ellen Brown, Willowdale, Ont. At last report Dr. Brown was still in a state of shock from the thrill of it all. Her prize, as owner of the winning dog, will be an all-expense paid trip to Crufts Dog Show in 1974 or the cash equivalent, whichever she prefers.

Winning the other groups were: Sporting—American Cocker Spaniel, Ch. Winsome Way's Baron of Ray Rilla owned by R. W. Darou and A. C. Dashner of Cookstown, Ont.; Hound—Whippet, Ch. Keeler's Sundance Kid owned by Mrs. P. L. Alward of Uxbridge, Ont.; Working—Doberman Pinscher, Ch. Schauffelein's Shady Lady CDX owned by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Heal, Greely, Ont.; Terrier—Cairn Terrier, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Cairndania Brigrey's Berry Red owned by Mrs. Betty Hyslop, Brockville, Ont.; Non-Sporting—Chow Chow, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Mi-Tu's Han Su Shang owned by J. C. F. Peddie and H. Williams of Toronto, Ont.

Group winners were presented with special rosettes featuring the official Canadian tartan as well as a piece of wrought iron sculpture. These were of typical Canadian wildlife crafted in Canada by a Canadian artisan.

Club secretary Donald J. Fox reports that Pine Ridge was more than pleased with this initial effort which was presented in cooperation with the Ralston Purina Co. of Canada. Most exhibitors honoured the club's request to wear evening clothes to make this a gala occasion. And despite freezing rain and fog which made driving treacherous, a good gallery of spectators was on hand to support the event.

Current plans are to repeat this special show again in 1975.

Six Canadian dogs earn their Bermuda titles

A dozen Canadian dogs gained many of the top awards as well as half a dozen championships at the three all-breed dog shows in Bermuda on March 1-2-3, at the immaculate Botanical Gardens. Heywood Hartley, Dr. Frank Booth and Mrs. Margaret Thomas formed the judging panel to assess dogs from across Canada, U.S.A., and Bermuda.

Top visitor's dog with a Best in Show, two Group 1sts and a Group 2nd was the Doberman bitch, Ch. (Can. and now Bda.) Schauffelein's Shady Lady, Can. CDX owned by Fred and Anne Heal and handled by Harold Butler.

Mr. Butler had two other dogs with him on this, his first trip to Bermuda. The German Shorthaired Ch. (Can. & Am.) Adam Treu of Dobroyd Hall, owned by Irving Shaw, won the group all three days to earn his title, and the German Shepherd, Ch. Glensaxon Polaris, owned by E. W. C. Egerton, earned points towards his title in strong competition.

R. J. Verrault, handling Ch. (Can. & Am.) Graymorn's Geordie Macbagpipe, for the first time scored two Group 2nds and a Group 1st to complete his Bermudian title. This happy, tail-wagging Dandie Dinmont is co-owned by Mr. and Mrs. Verrault and Joan MacKinnon.

The writer had seven dogs entered to handle but only six present. In the Sporting Group, Ch. Huntingdon Apollo, WC, black male Labrador owned by Norma Turner, was BW all three days to complete his title. Wimberway the Jubilant Jocelyn, CDX, owned by teenager Sandra Hallam, was RWB every day, and Ch. Spruce Thyme, English Setter, co-owned by Sally Vertulia and Joan Detmold, was BB each day and took a third and fourth in group to complete his title. In terriers, three Westies owned by Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins all earned points towards their titles: Rouge Manabee Zebedee, nine-months-old, earned 3-pts., three Best Puppy in Group awards and was BP in Show the first day. Ch. Junior Hannijin of the Rouge also earned 3-pts. and Ch. Rouge Dancing Pippa Springcasa was BB each day and third in group to take nine of the ten points needed for her title.

American handler Barbara Partridge brought a large number dogs including Ch. Night Tax Woodsmoke owned by Mrs. Miller of P.E.I. This whippet several group placings and pleted his title.

has done a phenomenal job with the three days of shows which it holds, it is well worth study by dog fanciers and organizations across Canada.

The basic contention is that any show can follow dog show rules but that there are "ways" and "ways" of following these rules. Barrie suggests that what is needed is not just a set of rules for conducting shows but also a set of "supporting standards".

A comprehensive checklist is suggested which might be used to report on the quality of a show. This list covers a wide gamut of activities and personnel under the following 15 major headings:

1. Premium list; 2. pre-show advertising; 3. show location; 4. gate control; 5. grounds or building; 6. show equipment; 7. staff; 8. communications; 9. superintendent; 10. secretary; 11. arm bands and catalogues; 12. puppy sweepstakes; 13. food facilities; 14. trophies; 15. banquets and/or other attractions.

In turn each heading is subdivided into other categories. This list, quite apart from the intended purpose, could be invaluable to a club or organization as a self-evaluation tool. Such a tool could improve any club's show inestimably. A club genuinely interested in such improvement would do well to contact the Barrie K.C. for a copy of this list.

The idea is proposed, however, not for self-evaluation as much as for aiding the CKC in deciding what show dates might be reassigned. It is suggested that a pool of volunteers offer themselves to observe a show. Two names are chosen by lot by the CKC from this pool for each show. These observers are completely separated from official CKC dog show representatives and are interested in applying the "quality tool" rather than seeing how closely official dog show rules are followed. The club sees this function as being that of "Exhibitors' guardian" and in that way echoes the work done by the U.S. owner-handlers' organization.

The reports would be scored by a predetermined scale, averaged and filed with the CKC and the show-giving club. In addition, the report, at a cost borne by the show-giving club, would be published in Dogs in Canada. This would serve not only as publicity for the clubs ranked at the top but would give clubs something to strive for. It would also, through the improvements arising out of it, give the exhibitor a better show.

Barrie suggests that from this ranking list might come a logical method by which, if necessary, dates could be freed, thus enabling new clubs to gain dates. They argue that such a logical approach and process makes far more sense than taking dates away from a club simply because it has multiple dates with no regard for the excellent shows it is providing. The proposal is that the calendar year be broken into two halves. The bottom five clubs in each half year block should be "required to show cause why their dates should not be lifted" for redistribution. It is implied that the opportunity show cause would include a chance for the club to hold a more show which also would be rated. Should no improvement be noted the dates would be declared available. Should, within the months, no club apply for the the club originally holding the date could reclaim it.

Thus we have an interesting system, by no means infallible but at least a positive, well-planned suggestion. There are so many aspects of this total plan that deserve study that such a big treatment as this is scarcely It is to be hoped that both the and local clubs will study the Barrie plan and implement the ideas which they feel to be in best interest of Canadian exhibitors and dogdom.

IT SHOULDN'T HAPPEN TO A VET and IF THEY COULD ONLY TALK—by James Herriot—Pan Books Ltd.—1.25 each

Here are two paperback volumes. Originally published in hardcover under the single title All Creatures Great and Small, this American best seller (that the N.Y. Times called "the happiest book of the year". These are just what the doctor ordered to read one over the winter doldrums. The author is witty, at times very funny as he recounts his experiences as a young veterinary surgeon. He learns quickly there is a lot more to the profession than the theory he learned in college.

The locale is north Yorkshire. The pages teem with colorful characters like the "dead animal collector" who assumes the duties of county animal pathologist.

Anyone who has ever had anything to do with living creatures will enjoy these two. —J. M.

Three reasons why you should try New Gaines Prime.

1. FUSSY EATERS

Kennel tests show that dogs prefer the tender, moist chunks of Prime* over leading dry dog foods. Prime is available in Beef, Chicken and Liver flavours.

2. BREEDING

High quality protein is necessary for the bitch in whelp. The protein in Prime averages 95% digestable. Prime also provides the vitamins, minerals and nutrients breeding females are known to need for strong, healthy litters.

3. YOUNG DOGS

Prime provides young, growing dogs with a source of concentrated energy in the form of protein and carbohydrates. Just 6 ounces of Prime are nutritionally equivalent to 16 ounces of high grade canned food.

Gaines offers substantial savings on Prime and other Gaines products through the Gaines Professional Plan.*

spot, then the third day Harold Butler won with the Dobe, Ch. (Can. & Bda.) Schauffelein's Shady Lady CDX.

In the junior showmanship competitions, Sandra Hallam of Woodbridge handled her yellow Lab, "Jocie" to a first and second placing respectively, in the Open Class. Junior showmanship rules in Bermuda differ from ours in that the junior must handle a dog owned by him/her or a member of his/her immediate family and the dog must be entered in the all breed show. The junior enters the dog with the number of the dog in the all breed show and must wear the arm band in the ring. The entry was composed strongly of Labradors, with the entire Novice Class being composed of youngsters handling young Labrador puppies. The Open Class had several Labradors, two Shepherds, a Lhasa and a Peke.

As is the rule in Bermuda, a get-to-know-you cocktail party was held the night before the shows and the last day of the shows a dinner party was held where several of the major awards were presented. The judges all were taken on quick trips around the island between judging assignments and Dr. Booth and his wife, both making their first trip to the islands, stayed over after the shows in order to sightsee at leisure.

up for the table or saved for sport another day. The details of the training are of interest as it is probably the descendants of these dogs which became our first pointers and spaniels.

The dogs recommended for this training were to be either scent hounds (Harriers) or gazehounds (Greyhounds) as these had been trained for generations to assist in the chase. A dog was selected for training at about a year of age. The dog should have a thickset body with a good coat of hair so that it can endure hard work and resist the cold. The dog should be of medium size, agile and male, as a bitch in heat might upset the other dogs. He must have no fear of water. He must be quick to understand what is taught and what is forbidden. All of this could be written into the preamble of the breed Standard of any of today's gundogs.

The chosen dog must not be allowed to hunt quadrupeds. If possible the falconer himself should feed the young dog. The dog should be fed in the presence of falcons so that he will distinguish between them and other birds by their odor and appearance. When the falcon is fed, the dog should be present, to make him realize that she (only the female falcon responds to training) is dear to his master and that he must not harm her. The dog should be given a snack such as bread or cheese so that he takes it in his mouth almost under the falcon's feet. He should be made to sniff the falcon in order that he may distinguish her odor from that of other birds. If he attempts to harm her he should be reprimanded at once. The falcon with whom the familiarization is done shall not be the falcon with whom he hunts, as the falcon in the hunt must fear the dog a little.

The dog is then trained with a feather lure on which cheese is placed. The falcon, already trained to the lure, seizes the [illegible]. The dog is slipped or released [illegible] encouraged to drive off the [illegible] from the lure to get at the [illegible]. The next step is to introduce [illegible] dog to the wild bird. Here a [illegible] goose is recommended. The [illegible] encouraged to bite the goose [illegible] is reluctant to do this a piece [illegible] cheese fastened to the back of [illegible] goose will help. The goose is [illegible] to a field and her wings tied. A [illegible] con is flown at the goose and [illegible] dog slipped. Several falconers [illegible] required at this stage as [illegible] the dog reaches the goose [illegible] nearest falconer must first [illegible] the goose and teach the dog to [illegible] proach gently so that he will [illegible] injure the falcon. Then let the [illegible] beneath the feet of the falcon [illegible] the goose but prevent him [illegible] carrying it off or worrying it.

The dog is now ready for [illegible] field. A falcon is flown at a crane. As the birds come to the ground the dog is released. He will run [illegible] and seize the crane on the [illegible] where he has found the cheese [illegible] the poor goose. The falcon, [illegible] being accustomed to this particular dog, will stand off. The falconer can then ride up and thrust [illegible] crane's beak into the ground and [illegible] hunt servant will take the crane in hand while the falconer [illegible] his falcon back to his hand and [illegible] wards her. The dog, too, gets a treat and the falconer rides in search of further prey.

Afghan pup wins S.D.K.C. Sanction

Eight hundred or more spectators enjoyed the third annual all-breed Sudbury & District K.C. sanction show, which drew 143 entries. Judges Miss Mary Jane Weir and Mrs. Susan Radley Fraser, Toronto, chose as Best in Show and Best Puppy in Show the nine-month-old male apricot Afghan, Endeavour's Crusador. It was a special victory for his handler, 11-year-old Pamela Pancel, who also captured the Best Junior Handler's trophy in an entry of 34 boys and girls. Owner of this engaging young Afghan is Bill Black of Sudbury. His sire is a BIS winner, Ch. Amberhall's Serperant Tooth; dam, Ch. Endeavour's Rubi of Rai-Mar.

Other group wins: Sporting, American Cocker owned by Ron Burton, Garson, Ont.; Working, Boxer, Shirley Bell, North Bay, Ont.; Terriers, Miniature Schnauzer, John Kozlich, Sudbury; Puppy, West Highland White Terrier, Rosemarie MacNeil, Dowling, Ont.; Toys, Toy Poodle, Inga Bigger, Sudbury; Non-Sporting, Miniature Poodle, Marlyse Ferguson, Sudbury.

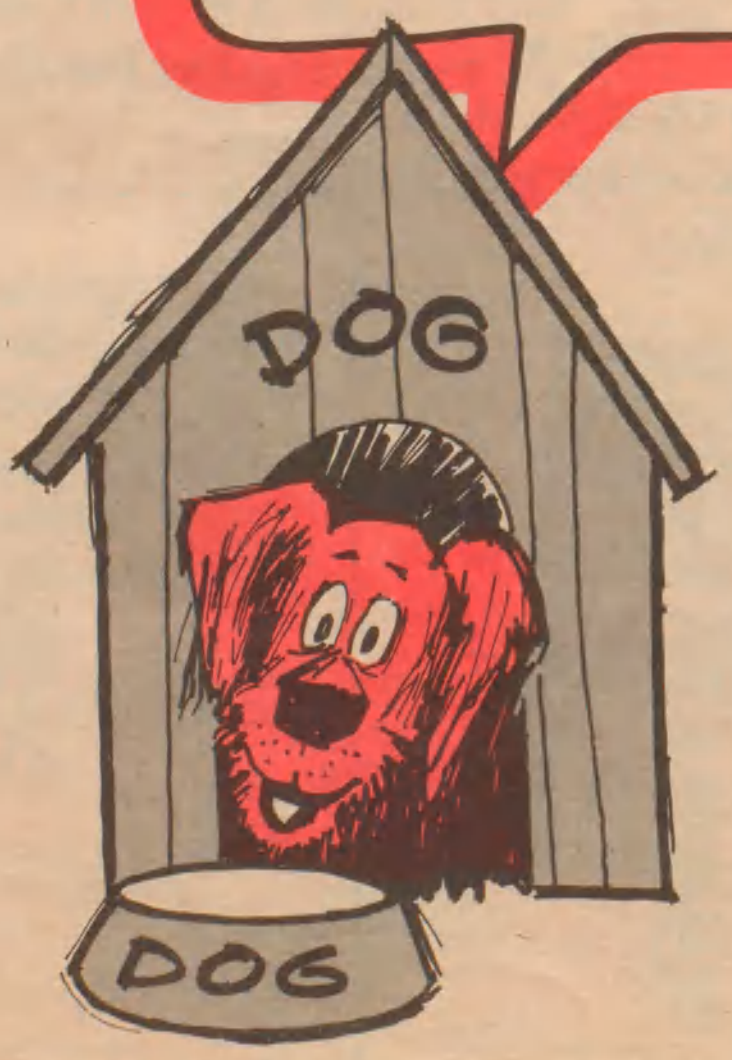

For the first time the club held a parade of champions, with 23 receiving rosettes. Segments of the show were taped for local television broadcast.

The SDKC is now working on the championship shows and obedience trials to be held July 26, 27 and 28 in the Sudbury Arena.
