Quality Breeds Quality.

Over the years, many concerned groups have worked to improve the standard of dogs. For instance, as a breeder, you concentrate on improving certain select traits. And we, as a dog food manufacturer, have worked hard to produce a dog food that provides the optimum balance of nutrition and good taste.

In short, whether you're dealing with dogs or dog food, quality breeds quality.

That is why as Canada's leading manufacturer of dog food we have established such high standards for our Dr. Ballard's products. Why we regularly conduct nutritional tests—on every product. Why we are so conscientious about consistency. Why we work so hard to add new flavours.

And why as a further commitment to quality we submit our products for testing by the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association to ensure they meet its nutritional standards.

So when you feed your dogs Dr. Ballard's, you're not only keeping them healthy, but you are assuring they'll grow satisfactory to standard. After all, quality breeds quality.

Dr. Ballard's®

We put our leadership to the test.

Do you really know what your advertising dollar is buying?

You purchase advertising space for various reasons — to sell puppies, to promote a stud, to let your colleagues know about your success. What you purchase is more than a portion of a blank piece of paper on which you will eventually see your advertising words and photograph. What you actually purchase is visibility in a given number of copies of a magazine which is mailed out to your market.

Comparative buying is essential today, if we are to cope with soaring inflation and the diminished dollar. It makes sense at any time. One should compare different brands, or models, or houses or whatever before making a final purchase decision, using criteria which vary according to individual need. Only after this investigatory process can you feel satisfied you are indeed obtaining value for your money.

Purchasing advertising space is no exception. However, unlike a detergent or car, or clothes, advertising space is an intangible. Somewhat like insurance. You probably need it, you are told you need it, and you usually buy it. But you can't look at it, feel it, consume it.

So, how do you compare magazine to magazine in order to satisfy yourself you're getting the best value for your money?

One of the measurements used by advertising agencies is the 'cost per thousand' — referred to as CPM. For example, if 20,000 copies per month is a magazine's circulation (press run) and the cost for a page advertisement is $250, then the 'cost per thousand' works out to $12.50 for that page. If a page in a magazine costs $100 but only 2,000 copies are printed, that page is costing you $50 per thousand copies printed.

Obviously, therefore, what might have appeared to be a bargain at $100 is no bargain at all.

A page of advertising in mass-circulation magazines such as Macleans and Chatelaine and Time will cost $10,000 or more — for one issue, of course. However, if you are selling a product that is of interest to the majority of their readers, the money is probably well spent and the cost per thousand is reasonable at $10 or so.

But, if you cannot provide your product to millions, and only a small percentage of the magazine's readers would be interested in your product, and the cost is beyond your pocketbook — those magazines are not sensible 'buys' for you.

That's when you look around for magazines reaching 'specific interest' groups, groups that have an interest in your product — such as dog magazines. It behooves you, therefore, when considering advertising in dog magazines, to make a point of finding out all about their guaranteed circulation — not just what is claimed.

Dogs in Canada magazine, for example, charges breeders and show-giving clubs about $14 per page per thousand. The 'commercial' rate is considerably higher, but still most competitive when compared to rates charged manufacturers by other specific interest publications. Much lower than many.

Breeders are charged this below-industry rate because (a) they have limited puppies to sell, (b) they have a limited number of buyers for the select 'product' they are selling and (c) they are, in the main, hobbyists. This 'double rate card' philosophy is accepted and practised by most dog magazines.

So, the message is clear. Make sure what your advertising dollar is truly purchasing. Only then can you be sure a bargain is a bargain.

SCIENCE DIET...NOW IN CANADA!

It's here...the scientifically-balanced diet that provides all the nutrition your pet requires for a happy, healthy life.

Science Diet foods help keep a dog fit, because they fit the four lifestyles of a dog: GROWTH for puppies, MAINTENANCE for normal adult dogs, LACTATION for gestating and lactating dogs. And MAXIMUM STRESS for stressed or working dogs.

Science Diet cat foods contain the proper balance of nutrients needed for good health. And, low ash levels that aid in the prevention of urinary disorders.

Each Science Diet formula is designed for precise nutritional performance without supplemental feeding. Each diet provides the proper nutrition, high digestibility, low stool volume and consistent ingredients to take the guesswork out of feeding.

Because of its special nature, Science Diet is available only through pet shops, grooming shops, kennels and veterinarians.

Ch. (Can. & Am.) Ragamuchkin Adamant George, a proven stud, was sired by Am. Ch. Ragamuchkin Fan-Fare ex Devanvale Ginger. His impressive pedigree includes Am. Ch. Stentaway Ragamuchkin Romeo, Am. Ch. Mayfair Barban Lapereau, and Am. Ch. Devanvale Shopshire Lad.

George will be specialed this year by his handler, Ms. Elaine Macdonald or his co-owner Miss Linda Kocman.

I met George when I drove down to Ohio to breed my champion to George's father (Fan-Fare, WD Westminster 1976). It took me 2½ months to convince Marsha Frank to part with him. George is what every Yorkie breeder dreams about — very, very sound, level topline, fantastic coat, and superior showmanship. His pedigree speaks for itself.

In his Canadian show ring debut at the Metro K.C. show, judge Mr. Pierce of Australia gave him Best of Breed for five points, over specials, in an entry of 15. The following day, under American judge Ed Jenner, George won another five points at the Yorkie Booster over 14, taking BW. He finished his title the following weekend at the Kitchener-Waterloo show, taking the breed and another 3-pt. win under Mrs. Phyllis Wolfish.

We have a small but select Yorkie kennel. In 1978, four of our dogs finished — three were homebreds. Ch. Brecon's T.N.T. (sired by Ch. Brecon's Dark and Dangerous); Ch. Brecon's Cubic Acres Cassanova (sired by Brecon's Cavalier), owned by M. Beatty and J. Kruch of Kitchener; Ch. Brecon's Puff O'Smoke (sired by Ch. Brecon's Dark and Dangerous), owners, Mr. and Mrs. R. Durrer of Hanover. Ch. (Can. & Am.) Ragamuchkin Adamant (George), our cover dog.

We also breed Chihuahuas and our two long coat girls, Ch. Brecon's Love Bug and Ch. Brecon's Chestnut Charm. Both finished their American championships in 1978. Love Bug was WF at Westminster in 1978 and Best Long Coat in show at Mid-Jersey Chihuahua specialty. Charm was fourth in the group at Dayton, Ohio, in May 1978. Charm is also top-winning Long Coat in Canada in 1978. Shown only six times as a special, she won all six breeds (defeating American and Canadian champion specials in three shows) and a Group 2nd at Brantford K.C. under American Mr. A. Treen. We also had the top Long Coat in 1977 with Ch. (Can. & Am.) Diachi's Toi Ebon Elf, a group winner. — Sandra Nelles Edwards, Brecon Kennels, 9893 Leslie St., R.R. 2, Gormley, Ont. In support of our canine population

In reference to an editorial in Dogs in Canada, October issue — 'Love That Canine Hall of Fame', I would be very interested in trying to have this program shown in this area. As in many other parts of Canada, our canine population is suffering from adverse articles appearing in the news. How quick we forget the good that the canine world has brought to us. I would like to know the television network and who I should write.

Valerie Brideau-Boyce
2 Harris St., Saint John, N.B.

I've owned, trained and worked with the German Shepherd for 20 years and believe that I am fully qualified to make the following statements. I was extremely antagonized by the stand taken by the Canadian Medical Association on the aggressiveness and willingness of German Shepherds to bite people frequently and almost at random. Although I appreciated the rebuttal by the CKC, there were several points that were not addressed, one being that breeding deficiencies contribute to the problem and that breeding of any purebred line of dog by uneducated, unqualified or greed-driven breeders should be condemned.

As scientists, more than any other body of people, the medical profession knows that to express such a rash opinion was unsound, unprofessional and unscientific. It was not based on research that would isolate causes or reasons behind the statistics quoted. Consequently, a profound statement was made based on superficial knowledge . . . an error they would not make in their own area of expertise.

Because of the Shepherd's looks and size it is and has been put to uses that have given it an undesirable reputation. A well bred German Shepherd Dog, encouraged and treated properly without fear or superstition, will not be the dog that the medical profession claims. I can train most any dog to be what I want it to be and I condemn the position taken by the medical profession as a witch hunt . . . not an intelligent opinion based on the proven research and study that one would expect from the medical profession.

Surely I can't be the only person to ask how many diseases does man pass on to man compared to the small number that dogs pass on to man?

Could not the CKC arrange to have time on the CBC on a nation-wide program to have pro-dog talks and interviews? There are many fascinating subjects concerning the dog that could be talked about, such as dogs in art, literature, folk lore, history, war, peace, heroism, work, hunt, sport, leisure. These are but a few and I'm sure the CKC could do a great job of work on such a program.

I feel that the time for such a series is at hand. A dispassionately presented program could do much to minimize the effect of the anti-dog propaganda.

A record?

On October 20, 1978, our bitch Saint Bernard, Swissview's Krishna Hansford, gave birth to 17 beautifully marked pups. One was born dead.

By giving her eight pups every three hours around the clock, she managed to feed them all herself. At 16 days we began helping her by feeding puppy chow put through a blender every six hours, on alternative shifts. Today, the 16 pups all have new homes except one, which we kept. All are healthy and about seven have gone to show homes.

We wondered if this might be a record for survival of Saints in this country actually weaned by the mother. Thought your readers might know.

Call for action!

During the last three years there has been increasing emphasis on dog control on the part of the public, the press and legislators.

The CKC must develop a realistic position and educate the general public or life is going to be difficult. The Board of Directors must begin dealing with this matter, no matter how controversial, by agreeing on an objective and considering alternative means of reaching it.

BREAKTHROUGH IN CANINE CONDITIONING!

CAN-ADDASE

- PROMOTES HEALTHY WEIGHT GAIN
- STIMULATES APPETITE
- IMPROVES SKIN & COAT CONDITION
- IMPROVES DIGESTIVE EFFICIENCY
- INCREASES & MAINTAINS VITALITY
- INCREASES FOOD ENERGY VALUES

It is known that dogs are not able to utilize a significant percentage of their food intake. CAN-ADDASE was developed to break down the crude protein and fats contained in commercial dog foods, allowing the digestive system to assimilate increased nutrient value easily and naturally without changing the normal diet.

CAN-ADDASE contains digestive enzymes, produced via microbial fermentation similar to the methods employed in antibiotics production, together with lacto bacillus and vitamins of the B complex group.

Because CAN-ADDASE will allow the dog to assimilate considerably more of those proteins and fats contained in a balanced standard diet, the need for further expensive special diets, or protein and fat supplements are virtually eliminated.

CAN-ADDASE is now included in the conditioning program of many of Canada's leading kennels.

CAN-ADDASE is now available at leading pet and veterinarian suppliers.

Some great American stud dogs

A look at thirty-seven top producers

By Irene Khatoonian Schlintz

In my records, the past as it relates to great stud dogs can't go farther back than 1956 when I computed my Phillips Point System, or more accurately, 1965, when I began keeping records to find out who were top producers. Everything recorded is determined by what is published in the American Kennel Gazette beginning in March of one year through February of the following year. To qualify, five champion offsprings' names must be published during this period.

The top ten breed ratings were not established until 1964, so some of the records of the older studs' offspring may not look as good as the newer ones.

Many years ago an editor asked me to write an article on what I thought made a dog great. It was implied that I should consider the subject from the point of view of show wins.

Now, how are you going to explain to a parent, whose dog of questionable ancestry saves his child's life, that he doesn't own the greatest dog on earth?

Is it the accumulated total of the number of champions a dog sires or is it the number of top ten winners among his champion get, or is it an entire litter of champions, and finally, is it a ratio of the total number of puppies produced versus the number of champions? The last one I would eliminate immediately. For many years I asked this of owners, and the percentage of replies from owners of stud dogs was very small, and for a good reason. Suppose the dog had just sired a number of litters a few months before the inquiry. All the puppies are much too young to show, so the ratio of champions to puppies would be very small.

A breeder is the only one who can determine what is important to him based on the facts he has to study. I decided to list all dogs who had sired 50 champions or more but the list was too long in the first three groups, so I cut it to 60 champions as recorded to November 1, 1978.

Sporting Group

Since 1965 a few sporting breeds have still failed to have a representative qualify as a top producer. On the other hand, the American Cocker Spaniel has a fantastic record. Eighty-two sires have qualified as top producers. There are many of the sporting breed sires with better than 40 champions. This group has an outstanding record compared to the others.

Ch. Adam V Fuehrerheim (Adam x Tessa V Fuehrerheim), German Short-haired Pointer, whose show career was not too great, but he was number ten in the breed in 1967. This was the same year he qualified as a top producer, continuing for 12 consecutive years. He was the sire of 112 champions out of 40 dams, and 32 of them finished after his death in 1974. Eleven of his offspring were in the top ten for the breed, and two were top producers.

Ch. Misty Morn's Sunset CD, TD, WC (Ch. Sunset's Happy Duke x Amber Lady of Tercor Farm), Golden Retriever. He had a good show record beginning in 1969 when he made the top ten in his breed. He was the number one Golden in 1970. He became a top producer every year from 1972. He now has a total of 102 champions out of 46 dams. Six of his offspring have been in the top ten winners' circle for their breed.

Ch. Shamrock Acres Light Brigade (Ch. Shamrock Acres Casey Jones x Whygin Busy Belinda), Labrador Retriever. He has an excellent show record, beginning in 1967 when he was number two in the breed. In 1968, he was the number one Sporting Group winner and number five among all breeds. He won 12 Bests in Show that year. He has qualified eight times as a top producer since 1968, with a total of 85 champions out of 43 dams. He is a second generation top producer on his dam's side and is the sire of a top producer. Eight of his get have become top ten show winners in their breed.

Ch. Guys N'Doll's Shalimar Duke (Ch. Hillsdale Sentinel x Ch. Guys N'Doll's Bridget O'Shea), English Setter. His show career began in 1969 when he earned the number ten spot in the Sporting Group and jumped to number four in 1970. He has sired 65 champions out of 24 dams. He has been a top producer six times since 1971. Through his dam, he is a second generation top producer. Five of his get have become top ten winners.

Ch. Shamrock Acres Light Brigade, Labrador

Ch. Clarkdale Capitol Stock, Black Cocker Spaniel

Ch. Afternod Yank of Rockapleanty (Ch. Wee Jock Adair CD x Ch. Afternod Ripple), Gordon Setter. His show career started in 1971 when he placed number three in the breed, but by 1972 he was number one in the breed and number ten in the Sporting Group. Through his sire, he is a fourth generation top producer. He is the sire of 62 champions out of 24 dams, and four of them have placed in the top ten for their breed.

Ch. Artru Sandpiper (Ch. Artru Johnny Be Good x Ch. Bar-C-Kar's Peau Rouge), an ASCOB Cocker Spaniel. Little is known of his show career. Both his parents were top producers, and he has sired two top producers. His champion offspring number 66 out of 41 dams. Six of his children have been top ten winners in the Cocker Varieties.

Ch. Clarkdale Capitol Stock (Ch. Dekarlos Dashaway x Clarkdale Closing Quotation), Black Cocker Spaniel. He had an excellent show record beginning in 1958 through 1960, placing in the top ten in the group each time, but in 1959 he was number nine for all breeds. He did not become a top producer until 1968. He left 76 champion offspring out of 55 dams. One was a top producer and four became top ten winners.

Ch. Dreamridge Dominoe (Ch. Scioto Bluff's Sinbad x Ch. Dreamridge Dinner Plate), a Parti-coloured Cocker Spaniel. I am not familiar with his show career. He has been a top producer every year since 1970. His sire was a second generation top producer but his dam was a fourth generation top producer. He is responsible for two top producers and three top ten winners from his 82 champion progeny out of 47 dams.

Orients It's A Pleasure (Ch. Poling's Gay Blade x Ch. Orient's Truly Yours), a Parti-coloured Cocker Spaniel. A non-champion who produced 118 champions in all three varieties, out of 71 dams. He became a top producer in 1965 and repeated this honour seven times.

Ch. Scioto Bluff's Sinbad (Ch. Hall-Way Hoot Mon x Ch. Scioto Buff's Judy), a Parti-coloured Cocker Spaniel. In 1963 and 1964 he was the number three Parti-coloured Cocker Spaniel, and in 1965 became a top producer. He won this recognition eight times before his death in 1974. He left behind 118 champion children out of 71 dams. Five of them became top producers, and four were top ten winners.

Ch. Dunelm Galaxy (Ch. Dunelm Pygmalion x Ch. Dunelm Stardust), English Cocker Spaniel. He maintained an excellent show record for five years, beginning in 1966. His best years were 1968 and 1969, when he was number eight and number seven in the Sporting Group, respectively. With the exception of 1975, he was a top producer every year starting in 1969. He is responsible for 88 champions out of 37 dams. Four of these have become top producers, and six are top ten winners.

Ch. Salilyn's Aristocrat (Ch. Inchidony Prince Charming x Ch. Salilyn's Lilly of the Valley), English Springer Spaniel. He was campaigned in 1966, and was number one in the Sporting Group with 18 Bests in Show and 48 group placings. In 1967, he became the number one top winner for all breeds with 45 BIS and 79 group wins, of which 73 were group firsts. He has been a top producer every year since 1968. He holds the all-time record for all breeds with 176 champions out of 92 dams. Both his parents were top producers and he is the sire of four top producers, plus 11 top ten winners.

Ch. Salilyn's Classic (Salilyn's Encore x Ch. Salilyn's Arista), English Springer Spaniel. His show career began in 1973. In 1974 he was number six in the All Breed top ten. In 1975, he was in fifth place in the All Breed competition with 22 BIS and 75 group placings. That same year he became a top producer and has rated as such every year since then. To date he has 73 champions out of 32 dams. He is a fifth generation top producer through his sire and so far three of his get have become top producers. Four are top ten winners.

Ch. Maximilian Von Der Reiteralm (Ch. Val Knight Ranck x Bella Von Der Reiteralm), Weimaraner. His show career was not spectacular like his top producing sire, who was number five in the Sporting Group in 1959. Sixty of his children have won titles and are out of 18 dams. Two of them are top producers, and two others became top ten winners.

Hound Group

Of the six groups, the Hound Group rates second in number of stud dogs to produce 60 champions or better. Compared to show entries, number of championships completed during the year and total dogs registered, I was surprised that some breeds did not have one representative in the top category. Many Afghans, Bassets and Salukis, to name a few breeds, have had a large number of top producers with an average of about 25 champions per stud dog.

Ch. Reveille Re Up (Ch. Reveille Recruit x Ch. Reveille Ruffles of Rose Bay), Basenji. His show career began in 1967 through 1971. In 1969, 1970 and 1971 he was in the number five place in the Hound Group, winning several BIS each year. Since 1971 he has been a top producer six times. His 72 champion get are out of 24 dams. He is a second generation top producer on his sire's side and a third generation on his dam's side. His dam had 20 champion children. He is the sire of two top producers and seven top ten winners.

Some great Canadian studs

For total impact, laurels go to 'Tramp'

By Edna Joel

As 1978 drew to a close, I found myself doing a little reminiscing. I began to think about outstanding dogs that have made history in their respective breeds. One that immediately came to mind was the young Kerry Blue bitch that appeared before me at a terrier specialty in 1955. A beautiful silver blue with lovely conformation, she just would not put her tail up. Even so, she had so much quality she could not be denied the bitch points. Bred in England by the J. H. F. Barlows of the world-renowned Bog Kennels, Bhoys Brigid of the Bog (Vicki, to her friends) had been purchased during a visit to England by Mrs. Spicer. In Canada, she joined the Tailteann Kennels of the late Eileen McEachren. After her first terrier show here, she was obtained by Tregoad Kennels, owned by Elsie Betts, Thornhill, Ont. An affinity developed between the two and the bitch blossomed under Elsie's care. Eventually she was bred, and produced a litter of five — three dogs and two bitches.

The three dogs are now immortalized in the annals of the breed and their descendants continue to carry the banner.

The trio were Can., Am., Eng. & Aust. Ch. Tregoads Vicky's Cappy, Can. & Am. Ch. Tregoads Vicky's Victor and Can. & Am. Ch. Tregoads Vicky's Gallant. Each rapidly gained their titles in Canada. Cappy was sold to Mrs. Isabel Meade in the U.S. Handled by Henry Sayres, he soon gained his American title, winning groups and Bests in Show. Shortly after Mrs. Meade's death, Cappy was sold to David Roche of Sydney, Australia. David, well known on this side of the world, took Cappy to England. Owner-handled, he quickly gained his British title. His first Challenge Certificate was awarded by Arthur Gunning of the Tanjax Kerries who said the only thing he did not like was the dog's 'American trim'. From England, he went to Australia where again, owner-handled, he won his fourth title. In all four countries he has left his mark as a sire.

Ch. Tregoads Vicky's Victor was also sold to the United States where he proved his ability as a top show dog and top producer. Bred to Am. Ch. Kerryglens Nan-C-Lin by the Melvin Schlessingers, he sired the all-time record winning Ch. Melbee's Chances Are, known as Tommy, a gorgeous animal with lovely conformation and personality to burn. At the age of two he had won it all, handled to most of his wins by Elsie Betts' daughter, Lesley. Chances Are also proved himself a great sire.

Ch. Tregoads Vicky's Gallant was retained by Mrs. Betts and finished in the States where he moved with his owners when they chose the sunny climes of California over the winters in Ontario. Gallant did most of his winning in Canada, having a number of groups and nine BIS to his credit before departing to the sun and semi-retirement. He, too, made his mark as a sire.

The next great to come to mind was the near perfect Skye Terrier, Ch. Talisker Fairy Wonder. To quote Dr. E. S. Montgomery's The Complete Skye Terrier, "this dog had a faultless ear set, right on top of his head, a beautiful length of neck which fitted perfectly into well laid-back shoulders, good length and lowness, and an ideally carried and well set on tail." Bred in Ste. Agathe, Que., by Mrs. Percy Adams, who had devoted a lifetime to the benefit of the breed, he was a breeder's dream come true. I was lucky enough to be the first judge he was exhibited to and it was a joy to assess him. Unfortunately, he was exhibited sparingly because his handler, Walter Martin, of London, Ont., suffered a heart attack and decided to retire as a handler. The dog was shown in the States by Bill Trainor, after which he returned to Ste. Agathe where, as a stud, he passed his outstanding qualities on to his progeny who are now passing them on to their descendants.

For total impact, however, without doubt the laurels belong to the 'Tramp', a Standard Poodle more properly known as Ch. Bibelot's Tall Dark and Handsome. Bred by Susan Radley Fraser, of Toronto, he was a show stopper in every sense of the word. Friends loved him, foes wished he belonged to them, all fell for his charm. He appeared to enjoy every moment of whatever he did. Having won his Canadian and American titles before he was a year old his owner decided to send him to England to compete.

In quarantine in Britain he was groomed regularly by Marilyn Willis. His debut into the British show ring, looking a picture of elegance and beauty, set the fancy on its heels. Handled by his owner, who flew in for the event, Tramp won his first Challenge Certificate in April 1966 at Bath championship show under Bill Foster, whose written critique read in part, "beautifully constructed dog, and presented in immaculate condition." Tramp's grooming and presentation had not been seen in this variety's ring before (for some reason Standards always seem short of hair). His second CC came quickly. His third, giving him his title, was awarded at Leed City championship show June 4, 1966, by Joe Braddon. Later in the day he went on to Best in Show. He finished in 1966 as the Dog of the Year in Britain.

Compared to the U.K. Standard Poodles, he was slightly smaller in stature but the breed standard gives no minimum or maximum in height. Unlike many, he was beautifully balanced and fitted into the written standard perfectly.

During his stay, the wise breeder made the most of Tramp's availability and used him at stud. His progeny started to appear in the show ring and one could never fail to pick out a Tramp son or daughter. When he returned to Canada, his influence on the progress and stability of this variety could not be doubted. What to do next? Susan decided she would enter Tramp in obedience. Happy to oblige, he won his CDX.

Winning 31 Bests in Show in three countries, siring 53 champions in nine countries, the total achievement of Tramp can never be correctly assessed.

To those of us who knew him, Tramp had all those indefinable things apart from type, quality, balance, that give that little bit extra: fun loving, mischievous with a little glint in his eye that smiled at you. He died in April 1978. But he will never really die as long as there are his descendants.

The value of the brood bitch

A kennel's success centres around her selection

By Dr. Braxton B. Sawyer

Most articles set forth the facts, then draw conclusions. That is the way I usually write; but for this article on the value of the brood bitch in a breeding kennel, I am turning things around, so to speak. I shall first give my conclusions and then give the reasons for these conclusions. These conclusions are very deep and positive since they represent my experience in breeding 17 different breeds to championships over a period of more than 40 years as well as a thorough study of genetics. Also, during these years, I have served as a consultant and have planned the breeding program for about as many litters for my friends as I have for myself. Careful and detailed records have been kept, both of my own litters and of those I have observed. From this study and experience, my conclusions are:

The success of every dog-breeding kennel centres primarily around the selection of the proper brood bitch. The foundation of all things must be strong and free from faults or the structure upon which we build will crumble. A single producing bitch may be, and has been, more often than not, the cornerstone of a successful strain of any breed. No kennel is stronger than its brood bitches, regardless of how many big-name stud dogs they boast.

Let me say here, and let me say it very emphatically, when I use the word 'breeder' I mean a person who is interested in improving his breed — not someone seeking a short cut to the blue ribbon tables. Those people are parasites on the breed.

Why do I think your brood bitch is so important to your breeding kennel? What has been my experience with all kinds of brood bitches? Why do I think more careful research should be given in selecting your brood bitch than your stud dog? The length of this article precludes giving all the answers, but here are some:

The Stud Books require you to own a brood bitch before they will register you as a breeder. You need not own the stud dog, but you must own the bitch.

Your brood bitch is a fixture of the strain. The bitch contributes one of the two haploid sets of chromosomes which determines every zygote; and at this point she (genetically speaking) contributes exactly one half. The stud dog is through with the puppies at the break of the 'tie', but the bitch is not. Her overall health and skin condition can affect the puppies. Her diet will affect the puppies — so will her parasites, her food, her general care; but most of all, her type and temperament.

As a breeder, judge and historian, Dr. Sawyer is one of the most highly respected authorities in the world. More than 8,000 puppies of many breeds have been whelped in his kennels. His collection of nearly 5,000 dog books is one of the largest anywhere.

My experience tells me overwhelmingly that what we call 'breed-type' is more dependent upon the brood bitch than the stud dog. Above, I mentioned that I had kept carefully detailed records of my breeding experience with 17 different breeds; and for the past ten years I have judged about 40 shows per year from coast to coast and in foreign countries. I have kept every catalogue of every show and have checked and kept detailed breeding records of all the great winners of all breeds over the past ten years.

These records have corroborated and confirmed my kennel breeding records and conclusions. The one overall fault I have observed with the majority (not all) of the top winning males of all breeds is that they have not been 'dripping with breed-type'. 'Breed-type' is a must with me for any breed.

To breed the average bitch and add a large number of the names of top winning stud dogs in the columns of your pedigree is to get farther away from 'breed-type' in your puppies. My records show that it has been great brood bitches that have come through and saved what little 'breed-type' we have left in some breeds.

My records, my study and my experience tell me loud and clear that the temperament of the puppies is more dependent upon the bitch than the stud dog. I realize that temperament is a genetic, as well as an environmental, problem; but God deliver me, and may He deliver you, from ever breeding any more wild, crazy bitches.

The temperament of the bitch while she is carrying the puppies affects the puppies. Her temperament while she nurses them greatly affects them. Her temperament in a run next to them for the first three to four months of their lives just about fixes them for life. If your breed is one you actually hunt in the field, the habits your puppies learn from their mother in the field stay with them for life. Temperament is getting to be a problem in all breeds. It can be reduced more than one half if we recognize it for what it is — a brood bitch problem. Brood bitches are hidden from the public more than stud dogs. That helps the temperament problem leak in through the brood bitch.

Selecting a real top producing brood bitch is much more difficult than selecting a top producing stud. The main reason being the brood bitch is capable of producing a much smaller number of offspring than is the stud. The largest number of puppies I ever got from one brood bitch was 50. I kept records on one stud dog that produced over 1,000 puppies. Suppose he did produce 60 champions and she produced only two? That is not the test.

When I select a brood bitch for my kennels, here is how I go about it. I want a good full sized specimen of the breed. I want good rich colour and perfect colour pattern of the breed. Her whole conformation must be without serious fault. You don't find absolute perfection, but not one serious conformation fault will I tolerate in a brood bitch. Her eyes must have proper colour. Her mouth and bite must be perfect. Her head and breed-type must be excellent. Her temperament must be perfect. She need not be a top winner or a littermate to a top winner. Neither must her pedigree be full of unfamiliar dogs. She must be a good, free eater. These are the things I demand of the individual. Then, when I have found this individual that impresses me so much, I look 'under the hood'.

First, I want to see her pedigree. One's ability to read and interpret a pedigree

Do you know your responsibilities as a breeder?

If you are the owner of a stud or bitch, check this list

By Joan Morden

Almost every dog book has pages of information on 'how to breed' and 'how to raise and train a litter'. But only rarely does one touch on the matter of responsibilities as they apply to the owner of the sire and dam. This in itself seems irresponsible. The breeding of purebred dogs, whether for pet, show or replacement breeding stock is a serious undertaking. These days it involves more than leaving two dogs to run together and letting Nature take its course. As one well known authority puts it: 'When you become a dog breeder, you are breeding dogs for Canada. It is as important as breeding any other type of livestock. Only your best effort is good enough.'

If you are the owner of the bitch

Before you even consider breeding you should have a good idea of what's to become of her puppies. Will you be able to find suitable homes for all of them? If there is little public interest in your breed, don't bring another unwanted litter into the world.

- Once you've decided to breed, make sure the bitch's immunity is up-to-date. Booster shots are best given midway between seasons to ensure adequate acquired immunity for the puppies. At this time, too, take care of necessary worming. The administration of drugs and/or booster shots is contraindicated after breeding, especially during the first trimester.

- Make arrangements with the owner of the stud, advise the probable date the bitch will be ready for servicing and reserve this time. Good studs are often in demand and bitches are accepted on a first-come basis. So book your dates.

- Supply the stud dog owner with a three-generation pedigree, a certificate of health signed by your veterinarian and for the protection of the stud dog and the litter have the bitch checked for Canine Brucellosis.

- When the bitch comes in season, isolate her from her kennelmates and keep her confined as long as her season lasts, 21 days minimum.

- Reconfirm dates with the stud's owner and at about the ninth day have your veterinarian do a vaginal smear to determine the exact time of ovulation.

- If the bitch is to be shipped by air, obtain all necessary documents, health certificates etc., that will accompany her.

Book flight time and advise the stud's owner of the flight number and time of arrival. Do not tranquilize her for the trip because it is thought that this can interfere with conception.

- Immediately on being advised that a successful mating has taken place, forward the stud fee. Keep in mind that you are paying for a service to a proven stud dog. This is not a guarantee that conception has taken place and the fee is not refundable if the bitch does not have puppies. A return service is customary and should be spelled out in the terms of the 'Certificate of Service' which the stud owner should provide. Make sure you understand the terms of this agreement.

- If you are taking your bitch to the stud you will probably be able to witness the breeding yourself. But don't insist on helping at the service. Your presence could be a distraction.

- When the bitch is back home continue to keep her confined as long as seems necessary. The fact she had been bred does not guarantee that she won't escape and find herself a second mate. If this should happen, whether or not the litter is purebred it would be ineligible for registration.

- Notify the stud's owner immediately the litter is born and forward The Canadian Kennel Club litter registration application for signature. Complete your portion and forward to the Registration Division for processing. Then as the litter is sold, register, identify and transfer each puppy individually.

- Do sell all the puppies subject to the Non-Breeding Agreement.

If you are the owner of the stud

You must satisfy your own conscience re the quality of the bitches you accept for service. Some breeders contend that withholding the services of a good dog is not in the best interests of a breed because the owner of a bitch who is determined to have her bred will find a stud dog somewhere.

Selective or not, it is the prime responsibility of the stud owner to know the inherited problems, if any, in the breed and not to offer at stud any dog known to be affected or a carrier of a disabling inherited problem. Nor should you allow your stud to service a bitch who exhibits or is known to carry such a problem. (The exceptions here are test matings which are carried out under scientifically controlled conditions and the province of this article.)

- Before being offered to a stud, a dog should be proven to have produced at least one litter of healthy puppies.

- The owner of a bitch should be in good service to bitches in poor physical or mental condition and the reasons for the refusal to breed.

- The owner of a stud should provide a copy of the bitch's pedigree and advise her of a suitable time to breed. He should have the fortitude to refuse a mating if it would likely result in a defective puppy rather than correct it.

- You should know the terms of the agreement and not accept more bitches than you can reasonably be expected to breed in a given period of time.

- The stud should be in good physical condition and checked for Canine Brucellosis as soon as bitches brought to him for service.

- If a bitch is being bred, the stud owner should know the flight number, time of arrival and be at the airport to pick her up on arrival. Live free dogs should be placed. The sooner the bitch gets started, the better.

- Immediately the bitch is bred, contact the owner. Advise her of your care, treat her as if she were your own. Exercise her on her accustomed food to help her overcome her strangeness. Kennel her with your other dogs, introduce her to the stud only at the time of service.

- Call in an 'arm's length' person to assist or merely observe the mating. Advise the owner of the bitch of the services of the stud dog. And, if any problems arise with the litter, for example, a stillborn puppy, be the result of a mis-mating, the owner has proof that the stud dog is capable of producing dental matings while the bitch is in season.

- Make the necessary arrangements and advise the bitch that she has been bred, her time of arrival and the flight number.

- Forward the signed 'Certificate of Service' and receipt for the stud fee received.

- Complete and return the registration form as soon as possible to avoid delays in processing at C

Ireland's oldest terrier is Canada's newest breed

Raise a fine old Irish whiskey and welcome the Wheaten

Ireland's oldest terrier — Canada's newest breed — that's the pert and appealing Soft-coated Wheaten Terrier. Full recognition by the CKC this year makes him the 24th member of the Terrier Group and the 143rd breed in Canada.

The size and temperament of the Wheatens make him an ideal pet for the city dweller. Standing about 18 to 19 inches at the shoulder, he's not too big for smallish quarters, yet still a hardy, unspoiled dog. His genial character makes him a delightful companion. Unlike some of his feistier terrier relatives, he's not one to go looking for a fight, yet he'll defend when the occasion demands. A quiet canine, he barks only when there's good reason.

Interestingly, pups are born quite dark in colour, usually with black masks. However, the dark hairs disappear as the little Softie matures and the coat clears to pale gold.

In addition to the colour and texture, the attractive coat has two other plus factors. It's non-shedding and reportedly non-allergenic.

So, with all that going for him, it's surprising that the Wheaten has gone virtually unnoticed for so long. And it has been a long time. There are written accounts of the breed as far back as 1785 in County Kerry, Ireland. The breed didn't have a name of its own back then. They shared the generic term 'Irish Terrier' with Erin's other native terrier breeds but writings describe "open coated terriers of wheaten colour" and they were portrayed in a number of paintings and etchings.

Finally, the mists opened for the Wheatens. The year was 1932. The place was a terrier field outing in Ireland. Entrants and spectators watched a Wheaten put on a spectacular performance and a few of them were so impressed that they decided to band together to promote official recognition of the breed. They formed a club, drew up a standard and selected a name, the Irish Wheaten Terrier.

That was their first mistake. The name was too similar to that of the well-established Irish Terrier. The Irish Kennel Club refused recognition. Negotiations were sawed for several years. Then, in 1937, both agreed on the descriptive mouthful — The Soft-coated Wheaten Terrier — and the breed acquired a name of its own and an official status for the first time in its long history.

A three-year-old male named Kingdom Leader was the first to reach the rank of champion, having had to earn a Field Title in advance of his conformation title. The Irish Kennel Club required that certain of the terrier breeds must first prove themselves capable in the field prior to acquiring awards on the benches.

Recognition brought no rush of popularity. The Wheatens increased slowly in number and quality. The early 40s brought on a brouhaha that rocked the dog show benches. It seemed that beside the clipped, stripped and snipped show terriers, the naturally-shown Wheatens resembled "a ring full of small haystacks", as someone unkindly commented. So several exhibitors took to presenting their Wheatens neatly "topped and tidied". A roar of protest went up. The country's two Wheaten clubs held opposing views. The Irish Kennel Club refused to take sides, maintaining that no rules had been broken. The judges seemed to like the neater look. In time, the furor subsided and now most Wheatens are shown in a scissored state.

The benefit of the battle was the ensuing publicity and photos that appeared in dog publications around the world. As a result, interest was engendered in several countries and Wheatens left the Emerald Isle for the first time.

A few of the breed went to England in 1942 and the Kennel Club granted them recognition a year later. Interest waned after that, but perked up again with the

A dog Christmas party

The last show of 1978 provided cheer to the less fortunate

*'Twas the week before Christmas
And all through 'Her' house,
Little creatures were stirring,
Perhaps, even a mouse.
Exhibitors were dreaming of fabulous wins
While judges were praying
They'd avoid any sins.
Credit Valley club members
Were living in dread
As thoughts of their burdens
Raced all through their head.*

Credit Valley Kennel Club members needn't have worried — if indeed they did. Their first and second all breed shows held at the Queen Elizabeth Building in Toronto's Exhibition Grounds December 16 and 17, went off without a visible hitch.

It was an exhibitor's event all the way — scrupulously clean, judging on time, and plenty of aisle space.

Billed as a 'dog Christmas party', club members worked long and hard to carry out the Christmas theme — towering Christmas tree, Santa Claus with gifts for dozens of lucky prize winners, colourfully wrapped trophies (valued in total at around $18,000, according to a club representative), Salvation Army band and many more ingenious bits of showmanship reflecting the season.

Saturday's entry was an impressive 1,575 with Sunday a still respectable 1,113. Three specialties were held — the first for the Black & Tan Coonhound Fanciers of Canada, on Saturday, as well as a Borzoi specialty; while on Sunday, the first Brittany Spaniel specialty held in Canada was staged by the breed's Ontario club. Twenty-three Brits were judged by Mr. R. Shulte who selected the ten-year-old veteran Ch. (Can. & Am.) Torbec Little Rover, owned by T. G. McIntyre of Milton, Ont., as his Best in Show. The 'dual dog' concept stressed by club founders was reinforced by the mixture of field trial, hunting and show dogs in the entry.

Saturday's Best Puppy in Show — the Black & Tan Coonhound Codach's Lyrical Rebel Yell, owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. Lewis of Toronto — went all the way to Best in Show on Sunday, under Ed. Dixon. Age was recognized at the Saturday show when the eight-year-old Alaskan Malamute Ch. (Can. & Am.) Innuits Sweet Lucifer was pointed out for Best in Show by Roy Montague. This was a particularly emotional moment for proud handler Lorna Jackson.

And chances are there were few dry spectator eyes when the unofficial judges selected the 18-year-old Samoyed Kona-watim's Nadita Jessica as their winner from a ring-packed Veteran's group. Owned by Daniel Row, Jessica was accompanied in the ring by her 14-year-old daughter. Other owners dropped their leads as this venerable dog stepped slowly but surely around the ring.

From the moment this last show of 1978 was opened by Mississauga's mayor (followed by a minute's silence in honour of the late John Crawley, founding president of the club) to the last hurrah on Sunday, the spirit of Christmas was felt. And in true Christmas tradition, those less fortunate were the beneficiaries. Due to the efforts of club members and the show's supporters, $1,000 was donated to the Salvation Army and an equal amount to the Mississauga Hospital.

According to a club representative, many companies have already booked space for display booths at the 1979 events, which undoubtedly reflects the satisfaction felt by all participants in the club's first shows.

Using this breeding program, the results since 1970, just eight years, have been 55 homebred champions. Countless more have been bred from our stock for others. This is why we ask you to consider . . .

Breeder's viewpoint

By Ariel Sleeth

How to choose the right stud dog. How to assure that the mating will 'click'. How to avoid introducing serious problems. This month we will scratch the surface of the subject — selecting a stud dog.

If you want to delve more deeply into this subject, read thoroughbred journals. With the money involved in the hundreds of thousands, those breeders learned fast not to trust a hit-or-miss breeding program. I was little more than a baby when I accompanied my grandfather to look at horses and discuss pedigrees. To that man a pedigree was a picture book, and he made it his business to know the picture that matched the names. It was from horse journals that I first learned the importance of the sires having breed type, regardless of where you needed improvement. It would seem that these old-time breeders did not consider it worth the improvement in one area, if you used an animal strong in that area but lacking good breed type.

When my husband decided to breed registered Polled Herefords as a hobby, I began to read the history of the breed and about the breeders and bloodlines that had gone before. I was surprised to find the same message. It matters not whether you are breeding for speed or for beef, it is the sires that excel in breed type that make the most lasting contribution to the breed. For example, you would think that in breeding beef cattle there would not be too much consideration given to head type in a herd sire, but such is not the case for invariably the bull that possesses great head type has the genetic formula to produce the other important features of that breed. Of course, you also look for depth of loin, length of back, and strong legs to carry all that meat but you think twice about buying the bull that possesses these things and has a common head.

Many breeders read a pedigree and determine the worth of the stud dog by how many champions it contains, how well known they are, and whether or not they were on the cover or pictured in their favourite breed magazine. The quality of the dog does not rest with the advertising campaign of his owner nor does his productivity as a stud dog.

Before you can move out into the world of stud dogs and make a suitable choice, you must know yourself — or rather, your bitches. Take pencil and paper and list the qualities that need improvement in your line. List the strengths that you do not want to lose. Many breeders breed round and round in circles, getting one thing, losing another, never bettering, just changing. Avoid that merry-go-round at all cost. When your list is complete, take a look at the owners of studs whose dogs, not just the stud dog you are considering, excel in the qualities that you need most. When you have found one or two kennels, then it is time to zero in on their studs and do what is often the only thing the owners of good bitches do — find the stud that best complements your bitch.

The stud dog that will better your stock has breed type, comes from a bloodline that is strong in your weak areas and complements your bitch. To improve your odds, you will think of this stud dog as 'three dimensional', and if you have depth in the qualities you are looking for in his sire and dam as well, you have indeed improved your chances of breeding a good litter. If, however, the sire and dam of the stud are not strong in the areas you are looking for, that stud does not have the depth to improve, but will probably just hold what you have without too much worse.

Don't rush off yet. Remember the three breeding aims — to get, to hold and to avoid. Know the breed problems of your particular breed and ask the owner of the stud what he has done to determine if his stud is affected, or a carrier. For example, if your breed has an eye problem, expect to receive a copy of certification for the stud. And, if possible, be prepared to show the stud owner certification for your bitch, should you be asked.

Offer a bitch for breeding that is in good health and condition — choose your stud dog in the above manner, and you will have climbed one step up the ladder of success. The offspring from a litter planned with this thoroughness will make a sound foundation for the next step up.

Obedience

By Jake Giacomelli

In last month's article I pointed out that as a result of an official ruling from the CKC (printed in the yellow pages of the May, 1978 issue of Dogs in Canada) jumps should be marked strictly in the metric system from January 1, 1979 onward. Since that article I was fortunate to speak with a member of the Obedience Council and was informed that the above ruling may be held in abeyance for a while. In the meantime, watch upcoming issues of Dogs for any updating on this subject that the CKC may bring to our attention.

Recently, while waiting to start the next class at a trial sponsored by the C.O.C.M. in Winnipeg, I stumbled on a conversion figure that will make it easy for anyone to quickly convert the metric reading on the jumps back to the inches that they are familiar with. I'm thinking mostly of our American exhibitors who may be wondering if the metric reading on the jumps is the correct height for their dog. Here's how simple it is! Multiply the total of the C.M. by number 4, then drop the last zero from the resulting total and the figure you have left is the number of inches that particular jump is set for. The following are some examples:

Jump Setting	X 4	Total	Drop last zero	Setting in inches
20 C.M.	X 4	80	- 0	8"
35 C.M.	X 4	140	- 0	14"
55 C.M.	X 4	220	- 0	22"
70 C.M.	X 4	280	- 0	28"
85 C.M.	X 4	340	- 0	34"
90 C.M.	X 4	360	- 0	36"

Suddenly, looking at a jump marked strictly in centimetres no longer holds the fear of the unknown.

Following is an additional bit of information that may come in handy in setting the correct number of boards in the Broad Jump under the metric system — inches and C.M. will be shown:

16" to 28"	2 boards	40 C.M. to 70 C.M.
32" to 48"	3 boards	80 C.M. to 120 C.M.
52" to 72"	4 boards	130 C.M. to 180 C.M.

There seems to be a trend these days for conformation champions to also obtain their Utility degrees. Many of these dual dogs are often used for stud purposes as well. I sincerely hope one day our Obedience Council will, in their wisdom, amend our present obedience regulations so that all Utility dogs coming in for the Group Examination exercise must be kept on lead while being lined up for the group exercise (after which the lead would be removed and placed with the armband, of course). As most of you probably know, our Canadian rules state: "In the Utility Class the dog shall not be put on the leash or guided or controlled by the collar at any time, and the leash shall be left on the judge's table from the time the dog enters the ring until it leaves." At present there is no other provision made for our potentially explosive situation where up to 15 Utility dogs are coming in off lead for the group exercise. Some of these champion stud dogs and others, too, are quite quick to snarl a challenge at another dog. These dogs are too valuable to be risked in this manner. Our American cousins have this point well covered — they permit their dogs to be brought in on leash for all group exercises, regardless of class — Novice, Open and Utility. I hope we allow it, too, one day.

Jake Giacomelli welcomes your comments and queries. Write him at 51 Wardrobe Street S., Stoney Creek, Ontario L8G 1S3.

"Another of his doggie tricks, I suppose."

"Maybe we ought to let him in this winter."

Corrections in Judges' Books

SUBJECT: The Manager of the Shows and Trials Division:

- (1) reported that on occasion a letter is received from an exhibitor who claimed that published show reports are not entirely accurate as to awards credited to their dogs;
- (2) reported that if on investigation it is found that this originates from an error in the typing of the report, then corrections are immediately possible; however, for the most part these claims involve apparent errors in the marking of judges' books;
- (3) reported that in such cases it is the custom to communicate with the officiating judges, and if they authorize corrections in the judges' books, then corrections are made on the records of the dogs involved;
- (4) reported that on occasion a judge finds it difficult to recall the award in question, and this is no doubt due to the time lapse between the event and when the judge receives an enquiry from the Shows and Trials Division;
- (5) enquired of the Board whether in such circumstances the Shows and Trials Division may proceed to make corrections provided it is satisfied from information obtained from other sources that corrections are indicated.

- (2) reported that it had been a long standing policy that in no circumstances would we permit acceptance of any entry that was not in the hands of the show secretary by the stipulated closing date;

Sanction Matches before Championship Shows

SUBJECT: The Acting Manager:

(1) Pointed out that at its last meeting the Board had prescribed policies applicable to all-breed clubs being required to hold a specified number of sanction matches before being permitted to hold championship shows; and

(2) Stated that the possible adoption of comparable policies for specialty clubs had been referred to this meeting.

Mr. E. Smith suggested that in the fixing of policies applicable to newly formed clubs consideration be given to requiring registration under the Societies Act (or comparable provincial statute) in the province in which the club is located, to requiring a statement as to the financial position of the club.

Mr. Dixon stated that to require a newly formed club in Ontario to have a specified number of sanction matches before being permitted to hold a specialty show would present problems because of the already existing difficulty in finding satisfactory dates for all clubs wishing to hold sanction and/or championship shows in the province.

Motion # 617-12-78

Moved by Mr. Devlin, seconded by Mr. Elston:

"THAT, we do not at this time implement Motions # 193-03-78 and # tinue the existing practice of seeking and following the recommendation of the local Director(s) when processing an application received from a club which has not, within the three preceding years, held a specialty show in the province in which it is now seeking permission to hold such an event."

SUBJECT: SOFT-COATED WHEATEN TERRIER

At its meeting held on January 6, 1979, the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club approved the standard for the Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier as set forth hereunder.

This standard is effective May 1, 1979 and specimens of this breed registered in the records of The Canadian Kennel Club or eligible for such registration are eligible for entry in shows and obedience trials under C.K.C. rules held on or after May 1, 1979.

The Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier has been placed in the Terrier Group.

Standard for the Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE: The Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier originated in Ireland. It was an all purpose working farm dog used for destroying vermin, hunting small animals and guarding against intruders.

GENERAL APPEARANCE: The Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier is a medium sized, hardy, well-balanced sporting terrier, covered abundantly with a soft, wavy coat of clear wheaten colour. The breed requires moderation in all points and any exaggerated features are to be shunned. The Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier should present a square outline with an overall appearance of a strong, well co-ordinated, happy animal.

TEMPERAMENT: Good tempered, spirited and game. Affectionate and loyal. Alert and intelligent. Defensive without aggression. He does not start a fight, but should always stand his ground; exhibits less aggressiveness than is sometimes encouraged in other terriers.

SIZE: Ideal height for males is 47 cm (18½ in.), for bitches 44.5 cm (17½ in.). Ideal weight for males is 16-18 kg (35-40 lbs.), for bitches 14-16 kg (30-35 lbs.).

COAT AND COLOUR: Abundant, single coated, soft textured and wavy, showing no trace of wooliness or harshness at maturity. The hair does not shed. Colour is pale gold to warm honey. Some dark shading may be found on the ears and muzzle, but should not be present in the body coat. Latitude in coat colour must be given to dogs less than twenty-four months of age. For show purposes the coat should be trimmed to present a neat outline. The head, with the exception of the fall and beard, should be trimmed to present a rectangular outline and should be in balance with the rest of the body. The ears should be relieved of fringe, but not taken down to the leather. The tail should be trimmed enough to be tidy. Overstylizing is to be penalized.

HEAD: Well balanced and moderately long with skull and foreface of equal length and in good proportion to the body. The skull is flat and Tail of medium length, usually arched, a full arch is most desirable. Coat. Outer coat straight and stiff, undercoat soft and dense. Outer coat on the neck, back and rear parts of the thighs longer than elsewhere. Colour black, preferably slightly brownish or dull, mostly with distinct white markings or spots on the head, neck, chest, abdomen and legs. So far allowed but not desirable are: dewclaws, white colour with black markings, wolf-grey colour or spots. Faults: Weak bones, snipy muzzle, curly or wavy coat, bat-like ears, domed forehead, light or wall-eyes, loose skin under the neck, too deep chest, barrel-like chest, straight shoulders and straight hocks, flat paws, straight or whip-like tail, unusual colours and savage disposition towards humans.

SUBJECT: NEW STANDARD FOR THE SCHNAUZER (GIANT)

At its meeting held on November 15, 1978, the Board of Directors approved a new standard for the Schnauzer (Giant) as set forth hereunder.

This new standard becomes effective on March 1, 1979.

Standard for the Schnauzer (Giant)

Origin and Purpose — The Giant Schnauzer is generally considered to have originated in the mountains of Bavaria in the 1810's. Rather than being bred for a specific purpose he was bred, and is noted for, his versatility. He has been used over the years as a drover's dog, a brewery guard, a cart dog, a herding dog, and a superlative police dog.

General Appearance — The Giant Schnauzer is robust, more heavyset than slender dog, square in build. He should resemble a larger and more powerful version of the Standard Schnauzer. The sound, reliable temperament, rugged build, and dense, weather-resistant wiry coat make for one of the most useful, powerful, and enduring working breeds.

Temperament — Combines spirit and alertness with intelligence and extreme reliability; amiable in repose and a commanding figure when aroused. Shy or vicious dogs shall be dismissed from the ring.

Size — height at the withers for males is 65 to 70 centimeters, for females 60 to 65 centimeters, mediums preferred. Size alone should never take precedence over type, balance, soundness, and proper temperament. It should be noted that too small dogs generally lack the power and too large dogs the agility and maneuverability desired in a working dog.

Coat and Colour — coat close, strong, hard and wiry, shorter on ears, skull, throat, and under tail. Slightly longer on legs and under chest, with beard and eyebrows adding to the rectangular appearance of the head. The eyes are not obscured by too-long eyebrows. The undercoat is soft and dense. Colour may be black, salt-and-pepper, or black-and-tan.

Black — deep, solid black. A small white patch on the chest is allowed.

Salt-and-pepper — outer coat to a combination of banded hairs (white and black) and some solid black and solid white hairs, appearing as a medium to dark gray, peppering evenly distributed with no trace of patterning, and a gray undercoat. Dark facial mask to emphasize the expression. Eyebrows, inside ears, whiskers, cheeks, throat, chest, legs, and under tail are lighter in colour but include peppering.

Black-and-Tan — deep, solid black, with rich tan on eyebrows, muzzle and throat, chest, legs, inside ears, and under tail. A small white patch on the chest is allowed.

Head — strong and elongated, gradually narrowing from the ears to the tip of the powerful, ferretting snout, rectangular in appearance and in proportion to the sex and substance of the dog. The length of the head is one-half the length of the back from withers to the base of the tail. The masseters (cheek muscles) are strongly developed, though no strongly-marked cheek form is to disturb the rectangular appearance of the head and beard. The SKULL is flat and unwrinkled, in width not more than two-thirds the length. Occiput not prominent. Muzzle is well-filled under the eyes, both parallel and equal in length to the skull, ending in a moderately blunt wedge. The lips are tight, not overlapping, black and the nose is large, black and full. The tongue may be either pink or pink with black or gray spots. Bite — a full complement of sound, white teeth (6/6 incisors, 2/2 canines, 8/8 premolars, 4/6 molars) with scissors bite. The upper and lower jaws are powerful and well-formed. Eyes — medium-sized, dark, oval, turned forward with tight lids. Ears — small and V-shaped button ears, of moderate thickness set high on the head, and dropping forward closely to the cheek — or cropped, evenly cut, not overly long, with as little bell as possible, placed high and carried erect in excitement with the inner edges parallel.

Neck — strong and well-arched, or moderate length, blending cleanly into the shoulders, with skin close-fitting at the throat, in harmony with the dog.

Forequarters — Shoulders slanting, well-angled, and flat, but strongly-muscled, well set-on, giving no appearance of a terrier front. The upper end of the scapulae (shoulder blades) are, from the side, in a vertical line above the elbows. The angle between the scapula and humerus (upper arm) is 90°. Elbows are set close to the body. Forelegs from the elbow down, seen from all sides, are vertical without any curve, with strong 100 wide. Cheeks are clean; moderate stop. The muzzle is square, powerful and strong, with no suggestion of snipiness. The nose is black and large for the size of the dog. Lips are tight and black. Teeth are strong and white, meeting in a scissors or level bite with scissors preferred. The eyes are dark hazel or brown, medium sized and well protected under a strong brow. Eye rims are black. Coat should fall forward over the eyes. The ears are small to medium in size, breaking level with the skull, and dropping slightly forward, close to the cheeks, pointing to the ground rather than the eye. "Rose" or "flying" ears are objectionable.

NECK: Medium in length and set well upon the shoulders, sloping into the back.

FOREQUARTERS: The Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier should have good reach in front. The shoulders should be well laid back at a 45 degree angle with a clean smooth appearance. The forelegs are straight when viewed from all angles and are well boned and muscled. Dew claws should be removed. Feet are round and compact with good depth of pad. Nails are dark, pads black.

BODY: The body is compact. The chest is deep but not round. The ribs are well sprung. The back is strong with relatively short coupling. The anatomical slope of the croup is 10 degrees, but with muscle fill in must appear level.

HINDQUARTERS: The Soft-Coated Wheaten Terrier requires good drive from behind, so requires a strong well muscled rear assembly. The legs should be well developed with powerful muscles, well bent stifles, turning neither in nor out. The hocks are well let down and parallel when viewed from behind. Dewclaws on rear legs must be removed. The nails are dark.

TAIL: The tail is docked so that half to two-thirds of its original length remains. It is high set, carried gaily but never over the back.

GAIT: The gait is free, graceful and lively, having good reach in front and strong drive from behind, straight action fore and aft.

FAULTS: Coat texture deviations, any colour other than wheaten (with latitude given to young dogs), black hairs throughout the body coat, cowhocks, shuffling, crabbing, roach or slack back, poor pigment, snipey muzzle, rose or flying ears, overstylizing of the coat.

DISQUALIFICATIONS: Over or undershot mouth, over aggression, nose not solid black, yellow or light eyes.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: RECOGNITION OF THE KARELIAN BEAR DOG

At its meeting held on January 6, 1979, the Board of Directors decided that the Karelian Bear Dog would be recognized for purposes of registration and this decision was effective immediately.

Specimens of this breed are not however eligible for entry in shows and obedience trials held under Club's rules until such time as the Board of Directors has approved a standard for the breed.

A proposed standard for the breed is published hereunder. Persons and clubs interested in the breed are invited to submit their comments with regard to this proposed standard so as to be received by the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor Street West, Toronto, Ontario, not later than July 31, 1979.

Origin and Purpose

The Karelian Bear Dog is a native of the area once known as Karelia in Northern Europe but which, since 1946, has been known as the Karelo-Finnish Soviet Socialist Republic, where for centuries he hunted moose, roebuck, and hare, and fought the wolf. Over the last decades, the principal breeders of Kerelians, the Russians, have tried to strengthen the breed to give it the power and aggressiveness needed to fight bears. Thus the Karjalankarhukoira (this being its original Finnish name) has become a Russian bear dog through crossing with the Utchak Sheepdog, an intrepid animal who has no fear of fighting wild beasts. The Karelian Bear Dog not only warns the hunter of the presence of bear, but does not hesitate to attack him and put him to flight.

General appearance. The Karelian Bear Dog is medium sized (height at withers: dogs 54-60 cm, bitches 49-55 cm) of robust build, strong, slightly longer than high, has a thick coat, cocked ears, is of an inbound character, brave and persevering; its senses, particularly scent, are sharp, wherefore it is suitable for big-game hunting.

Head shaped as a blunt wedge, fairly broad at the forehead and cheeks. Forehead slightly arched, stop gently sloping, protuberances above the eyes only slightly developed. The muzzle is high and its bridge preferably straight only slightly tapering towards the nose. Nose black and well developed. Lips thin and tight fitting. Ears cocked, pointing slightly outwards, medium sized and fairly blunt at the points. Eyes rather small, brown. Look alert, often fiery.

Neck muscular, medium sized, curving, covered with thick coat.

Body sturdy, back with well developed muscles nicely sloping without bulges or hollows. Chest spacious, extending approximately to the level of the elbow. Abdomen slightly drawn up.

Forelegs sturdy, shoulders relatively sloping and muscular. Elbows pointing straight backwards. Forearm straight, pastern only slightly bent. Paws thick, high and roundish.

Hindlegs. The knee pointing straight forward, hock straight backward. Thighs look very broad due to the profuse coat, particularly in their upper parts. Front line of leg curving without sudden bends. Hock comparatively straight. Hind paws slightly longer and lower than forepaws.

SUBJECT: New Breed Standard For Schnauzer (Giant)

patterns and good bone. Feet are short, round, extremely compact, with close, arched toes (cat's paws), dark nails, and thick, tough pads.

Body - compact, substantial, short-coupled, and strong, with great power and agility. Topline is short and straight, sloping moderately to the rear, extending into a slightly rounded croup. Chest is moderately broad with visible, strong sternum (breast bone), reaching at least down to the elbow, and slowly tapering up and back to a moderate tuck-up. The loin (distance from the last rib to the pelvis) is short, giving the impression of a compact body. The length of the dog from sternum to point of rump is equal to the height at the withers.

Hindquarters - strongly muscled, in balance with the forequarters; femur (upper thighs) are strong and slanting, the stifles well-bent, with tibias (second thighs) approximately parallel to the extension of the upper neckline. The hocks are short, perpendicular to the ground while the dog is standing, and, from the rear, parallel to each other. The hind feet are slightly smaller than the forefeet. The hindquarters do not appear overbail or higher than the withers.

Tail - set moderately high, carried high in excitement, from 5 to 10 centimeters long (docked to the second or third joint).

Gait - The trot is free, balanced, and vigorous, with good reach in the forequarters and good driving power in the hindquarters. When moving at a fast trot a properly built dog will single track. Back remains strong, firm, and flat. Movement from the front and rear should be clean and true, the legs being thrown neither in nor out.

Faults - soundness (both temperament and conformation) and type are of prime importance. The foregoing description is that of the ideal Giant Schnauzer. Any deviation from the standard must be penalized to the extent of the deviation. The Giant Schnauzer should always be considered and judged as a working dog.

Disqualifications - Overhot, undershot. The judge shall dismiss from the ring any shy or vicious giant schnauzer.

Shyness - a dog shall be judged fundamentally shy if, refusing to stand for examination, it repeatedly shrinks away from the judge; if it fears unduly any approach from the rear; if it shies to a marked degree at sudden and unusual noises.

Viciousness - a dog that attacks or attempts to attack either the judge or its handler is definitely vicious. An aggressive or belligerent attitude toward other dogs, while not desirable, shall not be deemed viciousness.

Your heart's been in your throat ever since you entered the ring. You need only one point to finish and your stomach is queasy when the judge points and says: "Winners!" — voila! Your first champion. Of course you want a picture of this momentous occasion. But make sure you know the ropes.

FINDING A PHOTOGRAPHER

There's no rule prohibiting any amateur from taking pictures at any show. But unless your volunteer photographer knows what he is doing, you could wind up with a shot of half the dog's head and in the process waste everybody's time. Except in rare circumstances, your safest bet is one of the professional photographers supplied by the show-giving club. Easily accessible, most of them know their jobs will get you a good picture, quickly. Sometimes the host club will designate a separate ring in which all group pictures are taken.

FINANCIAL MATTERS

The cost of an 8 x 10 colour picture can range from $3 to $12 a print. Many photographers give a special rate if you order more than one. You pay on the spot in most instances and yes, your cheque is acceptable. Or, you might be given an order blank stamped with the name and date of the show. Fill in the details and either give it to the photographer at the show with your money, or mail it later. Your photos are usually sent to you in about two weeks, either prepaid or C.O.D. To protect yourself, get prices and procedures straight before ordering. If the photo is really bad, ethical professionals will drop you a line saying so, and return your fee. If an unacceptable print is mailed to you, return it promptly with a note stating why you are refusing it; if your reason is valid your money will be returned. If you are treated rudely or do not receive pictures already paid for, write the show-giving club, outlining the problem.

ARRANGING FOR PICTURES

If you should go Winners Dog, for example, thank the judge, saying, "Do you have time for a picture, later?" If he says yes, ask the steward to call the photographer on her walkie-talkie. If she doesn't

QUESTION: I have heard that Dalmatians are predisposed to kidney stones and gout. What is the cause of this, and is it somehow related to the spotted coat pattern of this breed? Can feeding a special diet help to prevent these problems in Dalmatians?

ANSWER: In rodents, carnivores, marsupials and ungulates, purines are broken down to uric acid which is acted upon by the enzyme uricase to form allantoin, which is excreted via the kidneys. In man and in the chimpanzee, the last step is omitted. Hence, in these species, the chief end product of purine catabolism (breakdown) is uric acid. Unlike all other breeds of dogs tested thus far, Dalmatians follow the same pattern as in man and the chimpanzee and ex-crete uric acid in their urine at an unusually high level for their species. This is believed to be the result of an inherited metabolic defect in purine metabolism.
The major site of this abnormality appears to be in the liver, with the kidney only playing a minor role.

The net result is the formation of urate calculi (stones) in the urinary tract, and occasionally uric acid crystals in other tissues.

The aim of treatment in animals with uric acid stones is to decrease the amount of uric acid and ammonium and hydrogen ions in the urine. Use of the drug allopurinol has been shown to be the most consistent method of lowering urinary uric acid levels. The action of this drug is to inhibit the enzyme xanthine oxidase, which inhibits the conversion of xanthine to uric acid. The result of this is that less uric acid and more xanthine is excreted in the urine. This drug must be given for life.

Diet is probably a questionable form of treating dogs with uric acid stones but may help to reduce stone formation. Low purine diets, especially low in meats but high in vegetables, have been advocated by some and not advised by others as a means of lowering uric acid levels.

ers. Signs of the disorder, which are variable in each case, commence between the ages of six weeks and 18 months, and are induced by exercise or excitement. Increased stiffness, flexion, and extension of the limbs are observed, often to the point where the animal will lose balance.
Spasms may affect the muscles of the neck and face also. A short period of rest usually alleviates the signs and treatment with diazepam (Valium), a muscle relaxant which functions within the central nervous system, usually stops the signs.
Continual daily therapy with this drug usually decreases the incidence of 'attacks'.

QUESTION: In a previous column you mentioned that the chondrodystroph-ic breeds (e.g. Dachshund, Pekingese, Basset Hound) suffer from a high incidence of intervertebral disc rupture, which causes compression of the spinal cord. Is there a means of lowering the incidence of this problem? Are there other internal problems associated with these dogs?

ANSWER: In such breeds, one can successfully select for resistance to intervertebral disc disease by selecting for relatively straight legs. In this case, modifying genes result in a variable expression of chondrodystrophy, and legs are an indicator of this. A straight-legged Dachshund is more resistant to disc disease, not because of his legs per se, but because he is a less dystrophic animal.

Because premature disc degeneration is so common in these breeds, these animals should be kept in trim body condition (obesity puts added stress on discs), and they should be discouraged from climbing stairs and jumping.

The genes for chondrodystrophy result in a number of metabolic changes including increased parathyroid activity, abnormal calcium metabolism, and a tendency for calcium deposits in the kidneys. The abnormal calcium metabolism is expressed as unequal skeletal growth and distorted ossification patterns.

Hunting dogs

By Gord McIntyre

This column is about hunting dogs — all purebred breeds still used in recreational hunting in Canada. These include CKC breeds that can still hack it in the field; a host of big trail hound breeds like Blueticks, Plotts, Redbones, Walkers, and some CKC recognized breeds whose fanciers choose to register them elsewhere lest their individual breed's integrity be destroyed, split into sub-species, or perverted by the narrow, selfish, breed-blind extremist crazies in the camps of the pet/show and hunting/trial enthusiasts.

Obviously, there'll be times when this column will excite anger and generate controversy. There's no way the extremist freaks mentioned above, and their fellow-traveller breeders, are ever going to admit they're royally screwing-up their chosen hunting breeds. The best all-round interests of their breeds pale in significance to their only interest — which is winning.

Hopefully though, this column will be more than a crusading vehicle for those who wish to see the best interests of their breeds protected, promoted and enhanced: both as handsome, obedient and beloved family pets, and as hunting buddies who can produce in the field. Editor willing, I'd occasionally like to put the reader in my pocket and take him or her along on hunts with the various breeds, so that he or she might better appreciate their specialized abilities, and marvel at the wonderfully wide world of the hunting breeds.

If you find hunting morally offensive, please ignore this column. It's not aimed at people like you, but people like me — unless you're in the hunting breeds. Just let us be. Neither your brilliantly expounded anti-hunting polemic, nor your scathing diatribe, are going to change our love of hunting one smidgin. We and our dogs joy in the hunt.

The publishers asked me to present readers with my credentials and briefly describe my views on hunting dogs. I'd rather not. A column should be judged on its own merits; not its writer's. But since they're paying the piper, I'll dance to their tune.

I shot my first bird over dogs 32 years ago. However often I find time to hunt with dogs for upland birds, waterfowl, coons, coyote or fox, hare or rabbits, bear — it's never enough. Only then, or when I'm fishing a trout stream, or wilderness canoe tripping, am I fully alive; tuned into and as one with Nature.

My breeding-genius and show-crazy wife and I operate a fair-sized breeding kennel of a continental pointing breed and a Group 6 breed. We've been in the business (or is it a calling?) for 13 years, and I've been writing about hunting dogs for the last 11 of them.

I'm a member of the Outdoor Writers of Canada, and write on a number of outdoor subjects other than dogs. I contribute articles on a regular basis to two Canadian outdoor publications, and one large circulation daily.

Until recently I was a provincial CKC Representative to the Pointing Breeds, and I belong to two breed clubs, one kennel association, and three hunting-oriented conservation organizations.

By profession I'm department head of a secondary school history department. In addition, I've 22 years service in the armed forces reserves — land and sea, can tack-on a C.D. before my B.A. when dealing with the kind of people who attach importance to initials after one's name.

As to my views about hunting dogs — there's really only one: that each breed still being hunted be true in all respects to the ideals and vision of those dedicated enthusiasts who conceived it, and/or developed it. Hence, I'm an absolute nut on natural hunting ability, conformation, movement, soundness, brains, temperament, health, and that magnificence of spirit and raw courage under adverse hunting dog people call 'heart'.

As I see it, only that hunting dog that excels in all these areas is a true champion. Working together, shows and trials were designed to develop just such dogs. In the main they've failed miserably to do so and the reasons why, and suggestions for improvements, will fill many future columns.

Finally, I've nothing but contempt for those of the hunting breed fancy who don't ask what they can do for their breed but rather, what their breed can do for them? They are the enemy. We, who hunt with dogs, must attack them as savagely as we do the slob and kill-crazed butchers who masquerade as hunters.

Questions and comments should be directed to Gord McIntyre at R.R. 4, Bolton, Ontario L0P 1A0.

Temiskaming show

Thirty-three breeds were represented at the Temiskaming K.C. sanction match held at New Liskeard, Ont., with an entry of 96 in conformation and obedience. The club hosts its first two championship shows July 24-25.

First Golden TDX

At the Sudela Dog Training Club's Fall tracking test held in Cloverdale, B.C., Mrs. Margaret Best awarded Bonnie Island Gypsy Rose, Can. CDX, TDX, Am. Cd, TD, owned by William and Joanne Fraser, Victoria, B.C., a TDX. This makes her the first Golden from B.C. to earn this honour, according to her owners. 'Gypsy' gained her American TD at 14 months and her Canadian TD two months later.

Lhasa booster

Not only was the Lhasa Apso Canada Club's booster the first on the west coast — it culminated in a memorable ceremony. Tribute was paid to the late Ch. (Can. & Am.) Teako of Abbotsford, multiple BIS and group winning Lhasa bred and shown by Mrs. James Roberts. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were honoured with a special display of Teako photos and Tibetan motifs, a tea cloth depicting Teako and ten other Abbotsford champions hand-painted by Mrs. Debby Hodgson, who also created a cake in the likeness of Teako.

New clubs

The Whippet Fanciers of Ontario invites membership from all persons interested in purebred Whippets. Information is available from Lorraine Nunn, R.R. 1, Millgrove, Ont. L0H 1V0. The interim executive includes: president, Terry Taft; vice-president, Bob Boxma; secretary/treasurer, Mrs. Nunn; directors, Kathy Futter, Mary Secord and Jan Van Doornick. The latter will edit a quarterly newsletter and welcomes submissions at 9893 Leslie St., R.R. 2, Gormley, Ont.

The recently formed Canadian Rhodesian Ridgeback Association held its first booster at the Fort Garry K.C. show with an entry of 26 — the largest entry of Rhodesian Ridgebacks in the breed's history in Canada. Fanciers wishing to join the club are invited to contact the secretary, Mrs. M.J. Apostle, 579 Valour Rd., Winnipeg, Man. R3G 3A7.

Gas leak detectors

Outwitting technology in locating gas line leaks, the trained Labrador Retrievers of Ian Avery's Crossfield, Alta., kennel score high, even in inclement weather. His dogs specialize in identifying mercaptan, an additive to natural gas which gives out a distinctive smell. A major find was that of Jackie, original of the team. Although more than one leak was suspected, she found 40. While machines are limited to moving directly over a line to detect a leak, this canine sleuth covers an area five metres in width.

Ian Avery, right, heads six-member squad.

Moustache best

Another majestic win for famed Borzoi Ch. (Can. & Am.) Kishniga's Deser Song; he was pronounced Best in Show in a record entry of BIS competitors at the prestigious 12th annual Purina Invitational Show of Shows. The event is Canada's sole competition where entry is by invitation only to dogs which have won BIS in Canadian shows. The winner is decided by a panel of judges.

Recent imports

A number of U.K. Golden Retrievers have arrived in Canada. Katherine and Nan Gordon, Rysa Goldens, purchased Bessram Lachlan of Rysa from H. Ingram of Scotland, where the Golden is recognized as a native breed. From England, Marie Horne and Betty McHugh, Chien-dor Kennels, Whitby, Ont., obtained Nortonwood Jerome from Mr. and Mrs. F.R. Bradbury; Ch. Styal Squire (sub. CKC conf.) was acquired by Mr. and Mrs. D.P. Nixon from Mrs. H. Hinks; Clive and Pauline Taylor, Cedarcroft, Schomberg, Ont., obtained Styal Samador from Mrs. Hinks and Pinecrest Kendall from Mr. and Mrs. J. Balaam.

Zoltan de Nemethy, Newmarket, Ont., has imported a Kuvasz.

VALUE OF THE BROOD BITCH

mens of his breed. His total expense has been around $10,000. He is now in the national centre of attention with his breed. He is happy and an inspiration to be around. That is not all — he has orders for puppies during 1979 that will repay his capital investment. But that is still not all — the best is yet to come.

This person has experienced the greatest thrill that can come to man in his association with dogs. Man can get a lot of pleasure from 'possessing' a dog. He can get a lot of pleasure from 'campaigning' a dog, but the greatest thrill of all is the satisfaction that he has been able to create.

It is my honest conviction that if we ever improve our breed type and temperament, we must start by ruthlessly culling in the brood bitch pen, not just sitting in the seat of the scornful.

Hagen Vitamin Mineral Diet Supplement

Hagen Vitamins follow the latest recommendations of the National Research Council for the minimum daily requirements of vitamins & minerals...

The key to this supplement is palatability due to the high concentration of Liver (33-1/3%). The Liver also is a source of protein which stimulates growth, weight gain and appetite.

This formulation contains ingredients which give sheen to the pet's coat, better bone structure and overall nutritional balance.

Hagen Vitamins for dogs are the best vitamin and mineral formulation available on the market.

Atlantic action

by Jay Underwood

This month's feature reminds me of a discussion several of us had during a show some time ago. It was about the problems arising from mating a bitch in her first heat. Several friends had remarked upon the tendency of virgin bitches to become extremely nervous when meeting the stud, especially since she is on unfamiliar territory. A great many will refuse to let the stud 'do his stuff'. The problem could possibly be avoided by taking the stud to the female, rather than the reverse, which is the more common practice. A male is usually more ready to perform on strange ground than the female.

The Maritime fancy is gearing up for the start of the 1979 season, which begins in March with the Cobeguid dog show in Truro on the 24th and 25th.

I noticed in the November issue that the British Postal Service plans a special dog stamp issue. Fanciers can enrich their hobby by collecting these dog stamps, which are issued by a great many countries. I had planned to write a book on the subject but other commitments got in the way. However, I still have a 99% complete list of all the dog stamps issued throughout the world, complete with the Scott catalogue number. If any reader would like a copy I'd be glad to send them one, gratis.

In the meantime, I'll include a short section of my list in this column. My complete list represents eight full sheets — there are over 400 stamps and 36 countries included. Collectors can use the Scott numbers if they want to buy these stamps from dealers, or to catalogue their collection.

The U.S. has only issued three dog stamps. One of them, Scott #RW26, is a hunting permit stamp featuring a Lab. Also in 1959, #1128 was issued. In 1969 the most famous U.S. dog stamp was issued for the Humane Society, Scott #1307. The stamps in my list are only those which feature dogs prominently. I should point out that there are many more stamps on which dogs do appear but the focus of a collection would be lost somewhat if I listed them all.

Hat's off to the Airway Beagle Club in Sydney, N.S. Members held a trial on December 2 and 3, which gives them the honour of being the last club to stage an event in the Maritimes in 1978. It's good to see that dogs are being put through their paces in all kinds of weather and so late in the year.

Marguerite Aldrich, Assisi Airedales, wrote to say that her local club, the Newfoundland (all breed) Kennel Club, is trying to get a March 1979 show date. Natives and regular visitors to the New circuit will know only too well how long it is between shows in the winter. The season finishes in September and starts again in May. That's eight months without a show!

Canadian enthusiasts should be proud of the CKC. Our national club has begun to recognize breeds that are still classed as Miscellaneous by the AKC, such as the Pharaoh Hound, and Canaan Dog. This illustrates the advances in breed development being made in Canada. Breeders of the newly recognized breeds deserve a pat on the back for a job well done.

Keep everyone up to date by writing Jay Underwood at R.R. 1, Eureka, Pictou County, Nova Scotia B0K 1B0.

Dogs West

BY FRED EDGE

Don't you just love the kids? Nothing gives me greater pleasure at a dog show, other than the dogs themselves, than the boys and girls who turn out for the junior handling competitions.

These are the better amateurs and the pros of tomorrow — the tomorrow, in fact, of purebred dog breeding, showing and trialing today, and they deserve every bit of encouragement and help we can give them.

This is true for all of us, as individuals and as breed and all breed clubs.

Look at your pro hockey teams, your pro football teams, your top tennis clubs — just about any organization that wants and needs strength in the future — and you'll see a well-supported farm system, based on bringing along young people. If more dog people and clubs don't recognize this, and lay down a solid game plan to do something about it, we dog people, our dogs and our clubs soon could become an endangered species.

Think about it.

Then, if you or your club haven't already, do something about it.

What brings all this to mind was the first annual Manitoba Junior Handling championship, brought about primarily by an enthusiastic youngster named Mathilde Labovich, president of the Manitoba Junior Handlers Association, Winnipeg's Northwinds Dog Shows, and a local grooming shop (Exclusive Dog) who combined to put up a handsome trophy and a cash prize — designated to help the winning boy or girl in his or her hobby, or career in dogs.

Geoffrey Hicks found his parents' Scottish Deerhound a little too much to handle.

The accompanying photos show how it all came out, for two of the young people involved.

For all you scent hurdle racing fans — possibly the greatest crowd-pleaser at midwestern dog shows — the Regina Kennel and Obedience Club's Bad News Bears won the Belvedere Cup, emblematic of the Saskatchewan championship, for 1978. In second place was the Anubis Dog Fanciers' Pharaohs, just two points behind the Bears.

Equally close was the finish in Manitoba, where the Labrador Club of Manitoba edged out the Competitive Obedience Club — also by just two points — to win the provincial championship and the Universal Bindery trophy.

The two teams will meet at the Regina Kennel and Obedience Club's three days of shows and trials, May 25, 26 and 27, to decide the national champions.

Maureen Lyttle, 13-year-old winner of top junior handler trophy.

The Sagebrush Working Dog Club of Canada, Kelowna, B.C., sent along a note on its new executive, ending with a warm invitation "to sagebrush country" to meet up with some of its dogs and dog people. With any luck, Sagebrushers, I just might make it, sometime in '79!

Club president is Paul Adams; Verna Adams, secretary, Penny Dennert, treasurer, all of Kelowna, and Eillian Williams, vice-president, Pinitan Lake.

All that deep-freeze we get in most parts of the west in winter has its positive side — as noted by Stephanie Horan, Calgary, editor of the Puli Pipeline, monthly voice of Puli Canada.

She found at a specialty in southern California that Puli owners were 'open-mouthed' at the length and density of the visitors' dog coats, with the Californians convinced that the cold weather, combined with absence of and ticks, and winter's a lot to do with it.

For her part, Stephanie her hosts and hostess plenty enough winter to for export, and in the nary you certainly have amen to that.
