Quality Breeds Quality.

Over the years, many concerned groups have worked to improve the standard of dogs. For instance, as a breeder, you concentrate on improving certain select traits. And we, as a dog food manufacturer, have worked hard to produce a dog food that provides the optimum balance of nutrition and good taste.

In short, whether you're dealing with dogs or dog food, quality breeds quality.

That is why as Canada's leading manufacturer of dog food we have established such high standards for our Dr. Ballard's products. Why we regularly conduct nutritional tests – on every product. Why we are so conscientious about consistency. Why we work so hard to add new flavours.

And why as a further commitment to quality submit our products for testing by the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association to ensure th meet its nutritional standards.

So when you feed your dogs Dr. Ballard's, you're not only keeping them healthy, but you are assuring they'll grow satisfactory to standard. After all, quality breeds quality.

Dr. Ballard's®

We put our leadership to the test.

A new and terrifying organism is latest threat to kennels

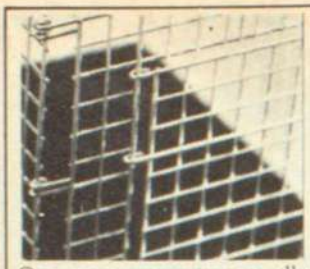

Recently articles have appeared in dog publications headlined 'corona type' virus. But the subject of these stories is actually a new and terrifying organism identified as parvovirus. To compare the two is like calling apples 'oranges' and simply adds confusion. For this reason, Dogs in Canada decided to set the facts straight and devote this month's Your Dog's Health column to a discussion of up-to-date information on pv, see page 30

That breeders are concerned about this latest threat to their kennels was evidenced earlier this year when a symposium sponsored by the Markham Kennel Club and conducted by a team of three researchers from the Ontario Veterinary College, drew an audience of 236. What they learned was that both the corona and parvo viruses attack the gastrointestinal tract. But their effect on the animal is different. Cv invades the surface cells of the lining of the tract. So with warmth, rest and supportive medication, recovery from an infection is highly likely. Pv on the other hand, invades deeply into the intestinal lining to the layers where new cells are manufactured. These are constantly replacing old cells of the surface layer which slough off and are eliminated. This means that despite the best treatment, areas that have been badly eroded by pv are either beyond repair or take a much longer time to be restored to normal because cells that would be available for the healing process have been destroyed or their numbers seriously depleted.

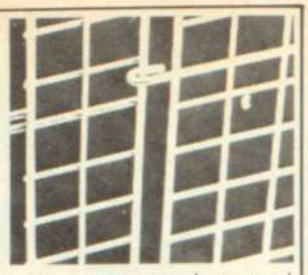

Pv has an affinity for rapidly replicating cells and there have been a number of sudden deaths in young pups where the heart has been affected. A pup may appear well, eat a good meal and drop dead in two hours without showing any of the usual clinical signs of pv infection — diarrhea, vomiting, lethargy etc. At post mortem it has been found that pv infection has caused inflammation of the heart muscle which brought on heart failure and death.

Prevention, it seems, is still a long way off. The O.V.C. researchers are close to developing a pv vaccine. But even if this was perfected, government regulations would prohibit its availability for at least two years. Meantime, keeping pv out of the kennel is up to the breeder. There are a number of things that can be done, especially if dogs are being shown. (1) Keep stress at a minimum. (2) Do not let your dog sniff about the muzzle of other dogs. Pv is found in saliva and can be transmitted mouth to mouth. (3) Do not let people pat your dog on the muzzle. (4) Keep show dogs isolated from kennel mates. Change your show clothes and wash hands well before touching kennel dogs. (5) Report incidents of exposure to pv to the Dept. of Virology at O.V.C. and your experience good or bad. (6) Have post mortems done on all pups that die suddenly and have tissue samples sent to O.V.C. for pathological examination. (7) Support the O.V.C. research team with funds. A target figure of less than $30,000 will keep the study going. Dr. Povey, who heads the research, is an internationally reowned virologist and Canadian breeders are fortunate to have him as close as a telephone call. If every one of them would donate just ten percent of the Charitable Donations allowance ($10) each taxpayer deducts when filing Income Tax returns, the fund would go well over target. Donations should be sent to O.V.C., made out to 'Parvovirus Research Fund'.

Handle with care — a learning experience

Few people can captivate an audience like Martha Covington Thorne. On February 24 and 25, Martha alternately lectured and demonstrated with floor work at a Handle With Care seminar sponsored by the Regina Kennel and Obedience Club.

Almost every subject which touches on dog showing was covered, and the people and demonstration dogs varied from rank novice to seasoned multi-Best in Show winners.

All audience questions were answered with a sense of humour, anecdotes and a great deal of experience.

This was Martha's first exposure to Western dog people and their hospitality, though her assistants, J'Nevelyn Martin of Regina and Geri Thompson of Winnipeg, were not strangers to the nearly 100 people there.

Martha commented on the almost faultless running of the seminar by the R.K.O.C. work crew, the good to excellent dogs in attendance and the intelligent questions from the attentive audience.

Seminars such as these teach, among other things, good sportsmanship and a rational approach to dog shows — both new and old dog fanciers can take advantage of the information presented and more should be encouraged across the country.

Clubs wishing details on their presentation may contact the Regina Kennel and Obedience Club, Box 936, Regina, or Martha Covington Thorne, Box 119, Fournier, Ont.

Good public relations

A public relations campaign to improve the image of dogs is good, but the CKC is missing a golden opportunity to demonstrate a genuine concern.

Allow all dogs to compete in obedience trials regardless of registration. This would accomplish the following: 1) allow owners of mixed and unrecognized breeds, who take part in classes, to continue in competition; 2) benefit communities by encouraging all dog owners to discipline their dogs, take pride in ownership and improve general care and training; 3) afford the owners of purebred, but non-CKC registerable dogs, the opportunity to popularize their breed and work toward recognition; 4) demonstrate, before the public, the CKC's willingness to take steps to improve the dog situati expose more people to organize activities.

Just fact — no brag

Should the CKC and breed club me establish some ethical standards to inate all or some of the wild and mi ing claims made by certain kenn their published and 'handed out' ture and advertisements?

Recently, a Canadian kennel dist ed leaflets advertising their kennel some wild claims and statements. American publication, a Canadian k listed their dogs as champions and Canadian champions, possibly misle some readers into believing that dogs were U.S. champions.

One only needs to read Canadia U.S. dog publications to realize th above practice is not uncommon.

Some time ago I saw an advertise in Dogs in Canada, put in by a s breeding kennel of no great stan advertising a whole litter of pups as pups at two weeks of age. I wish (aft years in the show/breeding game) I pick show pups out at two weeks of At two weeks you see the colours you at two months you can eliminate who won't make it and at four m you can usually select your pick of But even at four months, there is uncertainty.

It is time the CKC and breed members cooperated to draw up st ards for ethical advertising to attem put a stop to the flood of mislea bragging garbage that is so often beli by 'John Public' and prospective novice breeders.

Five-year search for the show English Foxhound is finally ended

Donna and Dennis Somers have no regrets for foregoing some of life's luxuries for Forego

By Joan Morden

Dennis Somers began looking for a show quality English Foxhound about five years ago. His search started because of these words: 'A miniature Foxhound, solid and big for his inches', part of the description of the Beagle in the breed standard section covering 'General Appearance'. Now that we've gone metric the standard reads 'big for his cms'. Which seems a bit silly. But when Dennis became interested it still read 'inches' and the Foxhound referred to was the English not the American version.

Dennis is a successful breeder whose 'Densom' kennels, Brampton. Ont., is the home of 19 champion Beagles, 17 of which are also finished in the U.S., the other two being within a few points of completing their American titles. Being a keen student of his breed, Dennis was curious about the background and thought that if he knew more about the Foxhound, he would have a better understanding of his Beagles. The trouble was there just weren't any English Foxhounds around for him to study. So he did the next best thing. He studied them in textbooks, new and old. And the more he researched, the more the idea took hold that one day he would like to own a show quality Foxhound.

He began to make enquiries about buying one. True, he saw the occasional specimen being shown in the U.S. but they failed to measure up to Dennis' mental picture of the ideal type.

First he enquired in Britain, where the breed is not exhibited at championship shows but does compete at special hound events. Britain still has several famous packs of hounds, one composed of dogs of a type that fit Dennis' specifications. But his enquiries were rebuffed with the information that the Masters of the Packs do "not let them out to common folk". On with the search. Canadian packs, and there are a few of these, turned out to be a disappointment, the hounds being of a lighter, speedier type than those found in England. Canadian breeds, it seems, are bred to run well over rough Canadian terrain and, Dennis suspects, represent some mixed breeding. By contrast, the English hounds are sturdier, built for endurance not speed.

He wasn't making much progress finding that hound. And then came the joyful circumstance that spurred him on to greater effort. Dennis met and married

Donna, another Beagle enthusiast who, by a compatible coincidence, had also been researching the Foxhound. Now there were two of them spreading the word that they were looking for a show quality English Foxhound.

The search took them to Parker Harris, an acknowledged Foxhound authority. The last time an English Foxhound had been shown in Canada it had won the Hound Group and Parker had been the handler. They drove to Syracuse, N.Y., only to learn that Parker had dispersed his English Foxhound stock. Only one old dog was left. Meanwhile, on the show scene something very interesting was happening. A dog called Mr. Stewart's Cheshire Federal, owned by Richard Reynolds of Long Island, was winning groups. The Somers made a point of seeing him and decided here was their kind of English Foxhound. Almost by accident they learned that Federal had sired a litter out of a dam bred by Parker and sired by his Canadian group winner. Word had it that the puppies were looking good.

Dennis immediately contacted the breeder, liked what he heard and, sight unseen, put a deposit on a pup. When the litter was almost six months' old the Somers went to choose their pup. The only trouble was, never having seen an English Foxhound puppy before, they had nothing to compare him with. Selecting by instinct rather than experience, both Donna and Dennis liked the same pup. He had good bone, balance, beautiful feet and every time he stopped he set himself up and stood four-square. They closed the deal, brought the pup home and christened him 'Forego'. Dennis says the name has a double meaning. He was very fond of a racehorse by that name and the pup was Donna's Christmas present. They had to forego a few things in order to buy him!

For the first few weeks, living with the hound posed its problems. "We almost sent him back", says Donna. He wouldn't walk on lead and he was not what you could call the least bit social. They decided to teach him how to be a Beagle. Kennelled with some Beagle puppies, Forego thrived and he's been fun to have around ever since.

Are Foxhounds like Beagles? Not really, say the Somers. Both mentally and physically, Forego is developing at a much slower rate than a Beagle. In the beginning, he seemed to be having difficulty controlling his strong hindquarters. But after the kennel was revamped to give him lots of room to run, he improved dramatically. Now, at 11 months, the pup is doing well. Those who are familiar with the breed standard know that girth of particular parts is stressed as opposed to height and weight. 'Forego' now measures within the standard's specifications.

He was also introduced to the show world last winter at matches where he made a few nice wins. But before he hits serious show campaigning, he's in for a different sort of training.

"I'm not going to have a big dog like that around that is not under voice control!", states little Donna, "He's going to obedience classes."

"She'll put a title on him too", claims Dennis. "If she can train Beagles to earn a CDX degree, she'll do it with Forego." He could become Canada's first English Foxhound to hold an obedience degree as well as being Mr. Only in his breed in the show ring.

Somehow, it seems doubtful that Forego is teaching the Somers much about Beagles. There isn't much they don't already know. But, up to now, he has taught them a lot about English Foxhounds.

The name of today's increasingly popular sport is lure coursing

And when there's so much fun involved, it's not difficult to imagine why

By Heather Loube

The roar of a motorcycle in the adjoining field distracted his attention from the Fall plowing. Thinking his new neighbour was rounding up the huge white Charolais cattle usually grazing there, he was startled to see a small white creature zigzagging crazily across the grass. Three large dogs were chasing the poor little thing but never appeared to catch up with it. Even stranger, the dogs were wearing brightly coloured cloths on their backs. A hedgerow intervened so the puzzled farmer resumed his task. As he turned his tractor, the view improved and once again, the little white thing darted around the field, never completely eluding its pursuers, never having the sense to escape into the thorny bushes beside the field nor run under the fence. The exhausted creature finally stopped, the hounds closed in and pounced on it. People he had not noticed before rushed up to the dogs and led them away. A lad on a motorbike seized the remains and sped all around the field. Three new dogs appeared dragging their handlers behind them, eager for the prey. The pathetic white object lay curiously quiet in the grass. Suddenly, it zipped off! The hounds in their jackets of yellow, pink and blue were released on another merry chase. After watching this spectacle repeated several times, the farmer concluded, with some relief, that the creature was mechanical and that this was some sort of game.

The name of the game is lure coursing. It is played by the sighthound breeds: Afghan, Borzoi, Scottish Deerhound, Greyhound, Irish Wolfhound, Saluki, Whippet, Pharaoh and Ibizan Hound, which were originally bred for their ability to hunt many types of game from small rabbits to large wolves. Lure couring is a simulation.

The lure is the key element of a lure coursing system. It may consist of a rag, a rabbit skin, or most often, a white plastic garbage bag! Other equipment requirements are a lure machine, pulleys and line. The lure machine reels in the line at speeds up to 70 kilometers an hour. At the end of the line is the lure which the hounds chase. Pulleys are the devices which permit the lure to change direction and thereby simulate turns made by live game. The length of course, the sharpness of turns, the terrain, as well as many other factors are variables used in designing and simulating the hunt. Since the hounds do not really 'course' that is, attempt to control the lure as when hunting live game but rather only 'chase' and are manipulated by the lure, the sport is also referred to as lure chasing. It is not, however, racing. Racing is a test of speed only. Coursing tests the speed, skill and endurance of the hounds. The first one over the finish line isn't necessarily the winner.

Organized lure coursing which began in 1972 in the States spread to Canada in 1976 with the formation of the Canadian Sighthound Field Association. Its goal is to preserve and further develop the natural beauty, grace, speed and coursing skill of the gazehound through a system of lure field trials. The main functions to achieve this aim are to act as a co-ordinating and recording agency for lure field trials in Canada. The Association publishes a quarterly magazine containing all the official trial results, lure coursing articles and pertinent information.

In order to enter a lure field trial, a sighthound must be at least one year old. Spayed bitches, altered males and monorchids are permitted. Those exhibiting breed disqualifications, bitches in season and dogs judged to be lame or unsound before the trial begins are not allowed to compete.

Each hound at a trial has the opportunity to run twice over an irregular, predetermined course of from 500 to 1,000 yards. Each breed with an entry of four or more is a separate stake with lesser entries combined in a mixed stake. Each run or course is determined by a random draw. The second course is a reverse of the preliminary. Released in braces or trios to the sound of the huntmaster yelling "Tally-ho!, the hounds wear identi blankets to make the task of ju easier. Two judges score each dog o basis of speed (25), agility (25) thusiasm (15), endurance (20), and f (15). Thus the total possible score fc two runs is 400 and the highest sc hound in each stake is the winner.

To obtain a field championshi hound must have one first or two se placements and a total of 100 points. maximum possible points per trial which is based on the number of e per breed. Unlike the conformation second, third and fourth places are awarded points. It is possible, alth difficult, to win a field championship minimum of three trials.

By the end of 1978, the Can Sighthound Field Association had a ed 38 championships to hounds B.C., Alberta, Quebec and Ontar well as the United States. Many o field champions are also conform champions, some were Companion and almost half were also American champions.

Watching the hounds doing what c naturally is an unforgettable experien is a rare opportunity to observe sighthound in its working gait: the dc suspension gallop. The hound that isn't a hound

To suggest that the dachshund isn't a hound at all can enrage even the mildest of breeders

By Dorothea Daniell-Jenkins

To question whether the dachshund is still in fact a hound, as some people would have you believe, is one way to rouse a dachshund breeder to a state of indignation sometimes bordering on downright fury, particularly where the Miniature Dachshund is concerned.

Claims of origin in antiquity are made by many breeds, including dachshund supporters, who find dogs something like Bassets or dachshunds in 6th century Egyptian tapestries. The 16th century 'St. Hubert' hounds' description as 'low-set, medium-sized, long in body, not very speedy but possessed of exceptionally accurate scenting powers and pleasingly mellow voices' could apply to Basset and dachshund alike; while 17th century writings make reference to 'badger dogs' (the original dachshund name), and 18th century references are to 'low-stationed dogs with either straight or crooked legs' that occur in all colours, including white and dapple, 'small sharp dogs that like to trail' and 'sharp dogs that work in the burrows of badger and fox'.

Until World War I the dachshund in Germany was owned and bred almost entirely by the elite and the nobility, the national foresters maintaining a type dictated by individual hunting requirements. The breed's introduction into England through Queen Victoria's consort, Prince Albert, resulted in popularity of the breed and establishment of the English Dachshund Club, with a standard, in 1881. Although a German stud book was established in 1879, with 54 entries and the names of breeders, the German Dachshund Club was not established until 1888 and a standard set up in 1889. Ultimately, the English Club realized its breeding was more nearly approaching the German type of dog, and the English standard was changed to conform to the German one.

Early imports into the United States in the 19th century were both German and English, but they were chiefly used by hunters, and the first dachshund (no size or coat mentioned) registered by The Canadian Kennel Club was an American-bred import from Ohio, in 1889 ('Lina' CKC No. 561). But the general public has little interest in hunting and adopted the dachshund for the convenience of its size and its temperament, as a house pet and a show dog. The breed therefore became increasingly popular in both these respects.

While the war hysteria of World War I caused such intense hatred and active persecution of everything German that the dachshund was re-named 'Badger Dog', the Dachshund Club of America was maintained, and the breed name was restored to dachshund in 1923, with only 26 registered by the American Kennel Club. Then their popularity mushroomed, so that by 1939 there were over 3,000 registrations a year in the U.S. The first long-haired was registered by the AKC in 1931, although separate coats wer established in the Hound Group 1943. In Canada, the first registr described as 'Standard' were in (Wire-Haired), 1934 (Long-Haired) 1942 (Smooth) respectively. The Miniatures, as such, were not registe Canada until the 1950s, although the reached the U.S. in the early 1940s.

Up until late in the 19th century, ting wild game with a shovel a dachshund was considered an eff way to keep the rural areas free badger, fox, martin, otter, weasel, f and small vermin. The dachshund lo a hole or cave, worked its way through underground and then cornered its prey, barking loudly; the men followed the sound and began digging at the point from which it came, despatched the quarry and let out the dachshund. In this way, field trials became established, with more rules, and some above-ground tests were added. Now the shovels have been discarded in the U.S. but field trials continue as a sport.

Field trials have been sponsored for dachshunds in the U.S. since 1935, but with the growth in popularity as a show dog and a house pet, the club was almost split in two, since some dissenters thought the 'hunting dachshund' should be the breeder's goal. However, the Dachshund Club still controls field activities, and the rules established in 1935 are still in force. They involve artificial burrows, blood trails, 'above the earth' tests and tests 'under natural (below- the-earth) conditions' wherever possible. They include an open-to-all stake for dogs, another for bitches, and a third class for field trial champions only.

The Germans still make a field trial award in two countries under two different judges a requirement for obtaining both a national and international championship (CAC and CACIB).

In actual hunting, combined use has been made in the field of a Pointer and a dachshund, 'the pointer covering the open spaces and the dachshund flushing game from thickets and coverts'. Today, dachshunds are used by some deer hunters in Canada; they are used in California for hunting pheasant and quail. For many years, the late Mrs. Leavett maintained a pack of dachshunds and hunted them regularly.

Dachshund racing was initiated in the United States in 1966 in the Eastern States and in 1974 in the West. The sport is on the increase, especially as an alternative to dachshund field trials in areas where open land is limited or unavailable, game scarce, and owners unable to spend a whole day from dawn to dusk at a trial. Anyone who has seen demonstrations such as are put on at the Golden Gate Kennel Club show, cannot doubt the dachshund's speedy eagerness to chase and catch that lure!

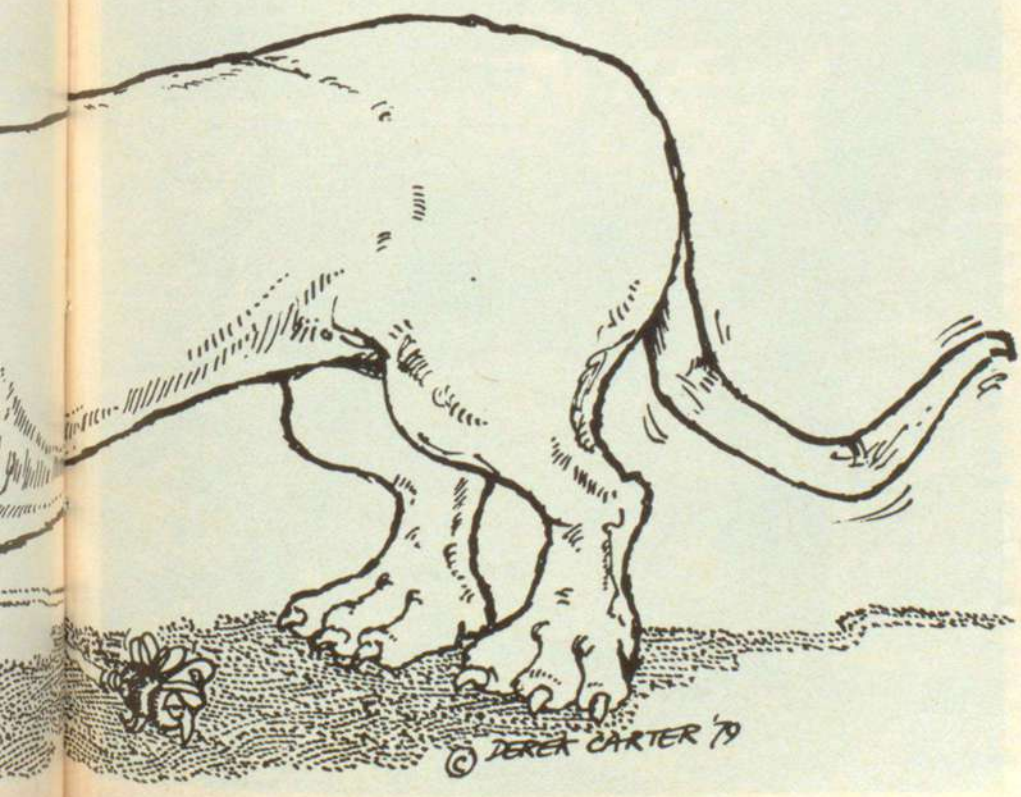

It is interesting to note that the dachshund was originally placed in the Working Group in the United States, then spent two years in the Sporting Group, and was finally placed in the Hound Group in 1931.

Some people think the Miniature Dachshund should be moved to the Toy Group. This parallels in reverse the suggestion that the Italian Greyhound should be moved to the Hound Group, and seems equally undesirable. The Italian Greyhound, while partaking often in lure racing, is a true 'toy' version of an Afghan or Greyhound-sized dog, and the Miniature Pinscher is a true 'toy' from the Doberman Pinscher size. But a Miniature Dachshund is so close in comparable size to the Standard, being in U.S. competition only divided in the Open Classes by the 10-lb. weight limit, that it is in no sense a 'toy' breed. Its development, after all, came from the effort to produce a dog that could more easily penetrate into badger holes and get through thick underbrush. Also, breeders had become concerned that the Standard dog was becoming too big to be effective for its original purpose, and the Germans particularly still promote a smaller, actively working dog.

Over the years the Miniatures have established a secure position for themselves in the number of championships and top awards they have achieved in competition with the Standard, in all three coats.

Following a discussion on how much training a dachshund might need to take part in field work, one noted breeder observed: "Without special training, all that a dachshund really needs is rabbit country, a fresh Tally-ho!, and a chance to prove his natural skill."

The dachshund is still very much a hound.

You, too, can have a little Egyptian in your life

With amber eyes and sleek coat of burnished copper, the Pharaoh adds regal presence to the Hound group

By Alice Bixler

Intense concentration showing in every line of his face, Howard Carter used his well-worn crowbar to gently ease out the last stone blocking the entranceway. Then, taking a portable electric light in his grasp, he stepped 3,000 years into the past.

The bright beam broke apart 30 centuries of darkness. An amber glow reflected back as the light touched inlaid gold panels on an immense gilt shrine that almost filled the room. Inside it, there was a second shrine and within rested the mortal remains of Ancient Egypt's most famous king, Tut-ankh-amen.

Almost reverently, Carter and the two other archeologists skirted the shrine and moved down the passageway beside it. Their light illuminated a doorway at the end. It wasn't sealed as the others had been and the men could see the greatest treasures of the tomb inside the chamber. Directly in front of the entrance, almost blocking it, was a high gilt pylon on carrying poles. Atop it was a cherry wood statue of an elegant, long-limbed dog. Reclining, yet alert with large ears erect, he was Anubis, on guard.

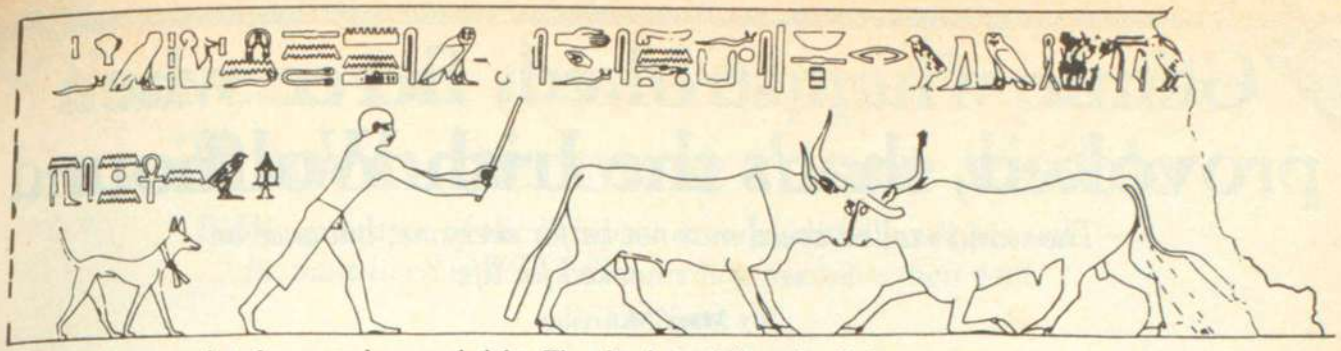

That handsome statue is remarkably like the Pharaoh Hound, a breed virtually unchanged over 5,000 years of time. Several breeds can claim ancient lineage but few are as well documented as the Pharaoh Hounds. Early Egyptians were avid hunters and often went coursing with a pair of swift hounds, speeding after them in a chariot, bow and arrow at ready. The hunting hound was such an important part of the daily life of ancient Egyptian nobility that it was frequently depicted in paintings, reliefs and carvings. The earliest of these representations is a circular disc showing two hounds hunting gazelle. It was circa 4,000 B.C., well before the first dynasty.

The distinctive outline of the Pharaoh Hound with its large, erect ears, aristocratic head, graceful arched neck and long whip tail curved over the back is seen again and again. With such a wealth of art from which to draw, it's a bit surprising that a drawing from the tomb of Antefa II (2,300 B.C.) was selected as the insignia of the breed clubs of England, the U.S. and Canada. Unity, perhaps, or just a better price on pins?

Dogs were held in high regard in many parts of Egypt but the city of Cynopolis topped the list. Inhabitants accorded canines divine honours. They were so adamant about their status that they waged a violent civil war with the people of Oxyrhinchus, who had committed an unpardonable sin by killing and eating some dogs. The dogs weren't normally on the menu of the Oxyrhinchus people. They had only eaten them in retaliation because they learned that the Cynopolites were dining on fish which they considered sacred. Different strokes for different folks.

In parts of Egypt where the dog was revered, it received incredible respect. When a pet dog died a natural death, everyone in the home would shave their heads in mourning. Any food or wine in the house at the time could not be used. The deceased dog was interred in a sacred chest, embalmed and entombed with great ceremony while bystanders beat themselves in token of grief and wailed laments to its honour.

No doubt the mourning must have been loud and long for the Pharaoh Hound, Abuwtiyuw. In 1935, an expedition working near the Pyramid of Cheops at Giza found an inscription recording his burial. Translated, it reads: "The dog which was the guard of this Majesty. Abuwtiyuw is his name. His Majesty ordered that he be buried ceremonially, that he be given a coffin from the Royal Treasury, fine linen in great quantity and incense. His Majesty also gave perfumed ointment and ordered that a tomb be built for him by the gangs of masons. His Majesty did this for him in order that he might be honoured before the great god, Anubis."

Anubis was the guard of the gods Isis and Osiris. It was his duty to escort departed souls safely to the next life. There seems to be some dissention among historians as to whether Anubis was represented as a jackal or as a dog. From the statue in his tomb, it's evident that King Tut wanted his nether region companion to resemble the familiar hounds with whom he had played as a child.

With the passing of the centuries, the Pharaoh Hounds might have become as extinct as the Pharaohs themselves if they hadn't caught the attention of the seafaring Phoenicians. They took some of the fabled red hunters to Malta and the neighbouring island of Gozo. There they bred true for over 2,000 years. The Maltese named them Kelb-tal-fenek, or rabbit dog. The hounds were owned by peasants and farmers who treasured them for their ability to hunt both by scent and sight. They bred carefully and culled ruthlessly to retain the breed's virtues. In time, it became the National Dog of Malta.

In 1960, Pauline and General Adam Block of England were posted to Malta. Their daughter Sara, then a child of 12, recalled her first glimpse of a Pharaoh Hound. "It was quite a sight! Imagine a hilly terrain covered with pocket-size fields surrounded by rough stone walls. Somewhere in the midst was a flat-roofed square stone house, lived in by a peasant family of at least 12. As we approached the house, we noted this magnificent dog prancing around on the roof. Naturally, we were curious. So we asked the owner all kinds of questions. After much garbled conversation and hand flapping, we got our answer, Kelb-tal-fenek."

In a short time, the Blocks had a Pharaoh Hound. The chance encounter was to have a far-reaching effect on the breed. Pauline Block later sold a pair to a friend, Mrs. Liddle-Grainger, who took them back to England with her. They produced a litter in 1963. Mrs. Block went back to England with one P.H. but returned to Malta to get two more. The dogs were first shown in England in 1963 but it wasn't until 1974 that the Kennel Club granted Challenge Certificates to the breed.

A respected judge and breeder, Mrs. Ruth Taft Harper, brought the first pair of Pharaoh Hounds to the U.S. in 1969. In the following year, several enthusiasts formed the Pharaoh Hound Club of America Inc. There are about 300 of the handsome hounds in that country now and the American Kennel Club admitted them into the Miscellaneous class at the beginning of this year.

It really is a small world after all. The Blocks' daughter, now Sara DeLisle, moved to Vancouver, B.C., and when a friend, Mary Hudson, was looking for a dog back in 1971 naturally a Pharaoh Hound was suggested. Rowerdennan Ramesis Rex (Rama to his friends) arrived at the Vancouver airport in June of that year, the first of his breed in Canada. By coincidence, Peter and Ann Dearing emigrated from England a few months later bringing with them a litter sister to Rama as well as his dam in whelp. The first Canadian litter was born soon after. Mrs. DeLisle, too, decided it was time to have another Pharaoh Hound in her life again and imported a male. In 1973, the Canadian Pharaoh Hound Club was formed. They publish a very informative newsletter, The Anubis News. The ranks of the Pharaoh Hounds in Canada has now swelled to over 80, with the greatest number to be found in Western Canada. The CKC granted full recognition to the breed and they'll appear officially in the show rings from May 1. The Western Gazehound Society will be holding a Pharaoh Hound specialty class in their July 13 specialty show at Richmond, B.C., a big event for the breed.

It's a far cry from the warm climes of Malta to the sub zero temperatures of Canadian winters. But the short-haired hounds have adapted each in its own way. Club president Barry Barske relates the tale of a Pharaoh Hound in Manitoba who shivered throughout his first winter but grew a thick undercoat the following year and now roams his owners' acreage on the coldest days with no apparent discomfort.

Mr. Barske's own male, a California for the first three years of his life, prefer to take Winnipeg winters in very small doses. He holds the house record for tiptoeing through the snow in a circle and without stopping, exercising himself full and returning to the warm haven of home in just under ten seconds.

With amber eyes and sleek coat of burnished copper, the Pharaoh Hound is indeed a striking dog. "But they are not everyone's dog," says Ann Hartman of Vancouver. She describes them as "extremely adventuresome and inquisitive and so fast." The handsome hounds are loyal to their owners and can be standoffish with strangers. But once accepted by them, Mrs. Hartman says "the makeup will be washed off with kisses."

The breed has been exported to many parts of the world. Ironically, the Egyptian government is attempting to bring the breed back to its native land and is importing them from Malta. The webbed toes of the Pharaoh Hounds will once more tread the sands of the Sahara as they did so many centuries ago.

'Lucky' seven Sportsmen's Shows for seven different dogs

The high degree of professionalism established over thirty-two years was again evident at this year's series of outstanding shows

Just as the Canadian National Exhibition has come to signify the end of summer and back to school for Canada's Easterners, the venerable Canadian National Sportsmen's Shows are synonymous with the start of another active show year.

The gate was understandably down somewhat from last year's record-breaking attendance, when Good Friday provided an opportunity for Torontonians to go to the dogs en masse. However, the approximately 5,500 total entry represented an increase of about ten percent over the last two or three years, and the quality was outstanding.

The public was given the opportunity of seeing some of the rarer breeds, e.g. Akitas drew entries of from ten to a high of 14; on March 18, 14 Cavalier King Charles Spaniels were on display; Rottweilers were well represented at every show; 26 Bull Terriers competed at the last show. And it's been some time since the Working Group ring saw so many entries — at three shows, over 300 each.

The Yorkie specialty drew an impressive entry of 26. Competition in the four obedience trials ranged from a low of 30 to a high of 87.

For the third year in a row, winner of the Purina Invitational Retriever Trials Gold Whistle was Mr. Magoo, 12-year-old black Labrador Retriever owned by Kenneth Howarth of Winnipeg.

As chairman of the Sportsmen's Dog Show Committee, he created high standards and fought to keep them. Prior to the Sportsmen's Shows, his executive experience was gained with the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair dog shows, long defunct.

The son of an animal-loving rector in Quebec's Eastern Townships, Bumpy had strays for pets and early showed a flair for training. During the Royal show days he and friends trained their Flat-coated Retrievers with limited success.

Hungry for knowledge, he investigated retriever trials which were just catching on in the States. With newly gained expertise he trained for such outstanding men as E. P. Taylor, R. A. Laidlaw and Vincent Massey, furthering his education under the noted Billy Wunderlich in Hugo, Minn. By 1950 he was ready to launch the first retriever trial in Eastern Canada.

Invasion of the body snatchers

Your efforts to keep your dogs safe from parasites will be aided by Dr. Martin DeForest's in-depth articles

Part one of three parts

The topic of internal parasites in dogs is not one which most people find very appealing. However, a general knowledge of the more common canine internal parasites is very important to dog owners who wish to keep their premises clean and their animals in excellent health and condition.

What is a parasite?

A parasite is a small organism which lives at the expense of a larger animal known as the host. Parasites may live inside the host (the so-called endoparasites or internal parasites) or may live on the body surface of the host (ectoparasites or external parasites). The dog is the definitive or final host of several parasites. Some parasites go through many intermediate hosts before reaching their final host. Larval stages of parasite usually live within an termediate host, which may act as a v if it transfers its parasite to a final h

The most common internal parasit dogs are roundworms, tapewo hookworms, whipworms and h worms. This article will deal with the blem of roundworm infections. others will be dealt with in two subsec issues.

Roundworms in dogs

Roundworms are also known as nemotodes, and are very common in dogs, especially puppies. The most common roundworm of dogs is Toxocara canis.

Adult worms are found in dogs, wolves, foxes and other wild canidae, and are not found in cats, man, or other hosts. The adult worms are creamy white in colour. The females are up to six inches in length and the male worms are up to four inches.

The life cycle of T. canis

In general, the eggs of T. canis are said to require two to six weeks to develop to the infective stage, which is known as a 'second-stage' larva.

Infection by T. canis can occur as follows: (1) by ingestion of infective eggs; (2) prenatally (via the bitch); (3) by ingestion of infective larvae by the bitch in feces passed by pups; and (4) by ingestion of infected intermediate hosts.

(1) Infective eggs

When infective eggs are ingested, the larvae hatch and penetrate into the wall of the small intestine and are transported to the liver. They eventually reach the lungs (via the bloodstream), then ascend the trachea and are swallowed. Upon reaching the digestive tract, they develop into adult, sexually mature worms which begin passing eggs. This sequence of events, which is known as tracheal migration, occurs in dogs five weeks of age and younger. As dogs become older, the migration pattern of T. canis larvae changes. Instead of breaking out into the alveloi of the lungs, the larva are carried back in the circulation to the left side of the heart. From here, they are sprayed out in the arterial blood to all parts of the body (mainly to muscle). This sequence of events is called somatic migration. Thus, for the greater part of a dog's life, the ingestion of T. canis eggs results in the seeding of larvae in various muscles of the body. These larvae remain undeveloped, but alive, for long periods of time, accumulating in the tissues of dogs. The life cycle for larvae in the tissues is at a dead end for male dogs and spayed bitches. In entire females, these dormant larvae in the tissues serve as a source for prenatal infection.

(2) Prenatal infection

After the forty-second day of gestation, larvae from the bitch's tissue gain entrance into the puppies in utero (within the uterus). The exact route by which this occurs is unknown. Not all of the larva in the bitch's tissue gain entrance into the pups during any one pregnancy. It may take two or three litters for the larva in the bitch's tissues to become depleted by transfer to the developing puppies within her uterus. This is providing, of course, that there is no re-infection of the bitch. Larva within the developing pups are found in the liver and lungs. Further growth, development, and migration does not occur until the pups are born. Worms grow to sexual maturity and begin passing eggs in the feces of pups by 21 — 40 days after birth.

Ingestion of infective larvae

Ingestion of infective larvae is another way by which roundworm infections in dogs occur. Roundworms have no teeth or suckers by which they can anchor themselves to the wall of the digestive tract of the host. In order to maintain their position of choice within the small intestine they must continuously 'swim upstream'. Otherwise, they are expelled in the intestinal contents by peristaltic movements of the digestive tract. In puppies, some of the infective (third, fourth and fifth stage) larvae are unable to maintain their position and they become 'flushed-out' in the feces. The bitch characteristically ingests puppy feces as a maternal instinct of cleanliness. In doing so, she ingests Toxocara larvae which have already undergone tracheal migration in a dog. Consequently, these larvae grow directly (without migration) to adults within the bitch. The feces of the bitch will contain T. canis eggs 25-46 days (average 32) after whelping. This worm burden in bitches will abort spontaneously in an average of 60 days, but in the meantime, thousands of T. canis eggs will be shed into the environment.

Opposite page, roundworm photographically enlarged many times actual size. Above, specimens nearly size as, representing example of heavy infestation. Roundworms are common in dogs, particularly puppies. The females can be up to six inches in length.

(4) Ingestion of infected paratenic hosts

The life cycle of T. canis is prolonged or 'carried over' in a wide variety of 'paratenic' hosts. A paratenic host is one in which the parasite does not develop to an adult, but remains alive for long periods of time. The paratenic host is not necessary for the parasite to complete its life cycle. Any non-canine warm-blooded animal can act as a paratenic host for T. canis larva. Thus, small rodents, cats, birds, and even humans which ingest infective T. canis end up with infective (second-stage) larva in their tissues (mainly muscle). Should dogs (or other canidae) ingest these infected paratenic hosts the larvae will infect the dog. If the dog is young, tracheal migration will occur and if the dog is older, somatic migration occurs. This means of infection is undoubtedly more significant in the wild canidae (foxes, wolves, and coyotes) due to their predatory means of survival.

The migration of T. canis larvae within the liver and lungs of unborn or newly born pups seldom creates any problems. The presence of larvae within the tissues of adult dogs is usually also without clinical significance. However, heavy worm burdens growing to adults in the intestine of pups may create a 'pot belly' appearance and may produce weakness, vomiting and diarrhea with mucous. Where young dogs vomit a worm or two, it likely indicates a heavy worm burden, since worms are usually not present within the stomach unless numbers are unusually high. Occasionally, T. canis infections can be fatal in cases where worms migrate into and perforate the bile duct or pancreatic duct, causing peritonitis.

Treatment

There are various anthelmintics on the market for treatment of roundworm infections in dogs. Commonly used medications include dichlorvos (TASK), piperazine (PIPCIDE), diethylcarbemazine (HETRAZAN) and mebendazole (TELMINTIC). The efficacy against adult worms is reportedly high with all of these treatments, but none are effective against larva migrating in tissues. Piperazine salts are the usual treatment for removal of T. canis in dogs (especially pups) due to their low cost and high degree of safety and efficacy. Treatment with piperazine can begin as early as eight days after birth, before worms begin passing eggs. To prevent contamination of the premises with eggs, it is best to remove worms from pups before or as soon as possible after eggs are being passed (21 — 40 days). The bitch should always be wormed at the same time that the puppies are wormed. No treatment prevents prenatal infection, so it is of no use worming bitches (unless fecal examination reveals the presence of eggs) until after whelping.

Control of T. canis infection in kennels

The ultimate source of T. canis on any dog premises is the infective egg. Eggs are passed characteristically in very high numbers in the feces of young puppies and lactating bitches. The eggs are capable of good survival in the environment. They are extremely sticky, and are easily dispersed to virtually any object of contact by the feet and fur of dogs. A constant supply of eggs in the environment permits re-infection of entire bitches. This results in a large supply of infective (se

Dear C.K.C. Member:

I have accepted nomination for and subsequently been elected to several chairmanships of Councils and Committees within the framework of The Canadian Kennel Club. It is my belief that in any democratic organization each and every member should take part in the up-dating of the rules and regulations and this applies to the Councils and Committees I am chairing.

It would be a simple task for me to sit locally with a group of individuals selected by me to serve on these committees and rehash rules and regulations to suit ourselves. However, ours is a national club and I strongly believe that your input would be invaluable to me and my Councils and Committees. For example, perhaps a rule change that would be desirable in Ontario would not be an improvement in Newfoundland, or vice versa.

The Committees and Councils which require your input are:

The Dog Show Council
Kennel Names Committee
Promotion (Public Relations) and Anti-Dog Legislation Committee
Amendments to the By-Laws Committee

An update of our Club By-Laws is long overdue. Legal advice will be solicited.

Before decisions are made and proposals published for the consideration of the membership, your thoughts, ideas and suggestions are being solicited. We need your involvement.

As I am not employed by The Canadian Kennel Club and seldom attend the office except for meetings, I would ask that you send your letters directly to my home address.

Your input will be ot tremendous help in contributing to a better Canadian Kennel Club — for us all.

Obedience

By Jake Giacomelli

This article may create a certain amount of controversy, but I think it's a subject worthy of discussion. I'm speaking specifically of the jumping heights in obedience for our dogs.

Over the years I've seen many dogs who obtained their show championship, then went on and earned their CD, but were not able to advance further in obedience due to being physically incapable of jumping once and half their height at the withers. What a pity so many owners of one or two obedience-trained dogs are unable to clear the height their dog must jump! (The dogs that is.) You just can't keep buying dogs until you find the good jumper, unless you're prepared to end up with a house full of dogs.

When you think of it, many of today's dogs are probably not in much better shape than their owners — living the confined life that they do in the average home.

I think of obedience as a real fun, social sport that everybody should be able to enjoy, not just the people who were lucky enough to buy a puppy that grew up to be a good jumper. Just imagine what a whole new area of untapped exhibitors could appear from both Canada and the U.S.A. if suddenly our Canadian obedience sport was to declare that from a certain point in time all breeds, entered in Canadian trials, would have to jump only once their height at the withers. I think I can already hear the whoops of joy! I didn't always think this way, but I believe the years have mellowed me. Too often I've seen handlers, while training their dogs for some phase of Open or Utility, repeatedly order their dogs over the maximum jumping heights in order to try and perfect a certain part of the exercise. Unfortunately, it's the dog who suffers by repeatedly having to expend maximum effort — and how about the repeated landings? That can't be too good for the dog's shoulders either; especially for the overweight dogs, of which there are many in our affluent society. Just think how much less dogs would have to suffer at the hands of unknowing or inconsiderate handlers if the jumping heights were reduced to only once the height at the withers.

I know the purists are going to scream at the mere thought of reducing the jumping heights — yeah! "You're gonna ruin the breed." Why so? After all, there are many specialty events such as schutzhunds, field trials, etc. where the inhere ability of a certain breed can be tested its maximum, so how are we going to ru the breed?

How often I've seen beautifully train Novice dogs win their classes, trials, D World awards — the whole thing, y have to stop with their CD degree becau they were incapable of clearing th magical figure of once-and-a-half t height at the withers. Yet these same do could clear once the height at the withe quite easily. Does it make a dog who only able to clear once the height at t withers, because of his physical incapabi ity, less obedient?

It's too bad that when the jumpir heights were established many years a the dogs didn't have an input into t decision. I'm sure they would have opte for less!

How much safer it would be for dogs i indoor trials.

I'd like to hear from the obedien fancy regarding this subject — pro or co — either way. I won't answer your lette personally, but I'll summarize in a lat column.

You know, if enough of us got togeth (especially the voting members of th CKC) we could present a case. In th meantime, 'I have a dream!'

In the ring

Martha Covington Thorne

In all of dogdom there probably exists no wider gulf than that between those who believe dogs should be evaluated solely on the work they do and those who insist that movement, type, coat, and body structure comprise the only necessary basis for evaluation.

These two factions pull steadfastly in opposite directions, year after year, one group tugging for all its worth, yelling "It is more important to accomplish than to be!", while their opposites carol, "Beauty is more important than ability!" And neither camp seems to realize that such disharmony holds back the development of sound, healthy, purebred dogs, everywhere.

I started in dogs by pioneering obedience training on the eastern shore of Maryland where I bred Chesapeakes, Goldens and Labradors for many years. Later, I earned my 'living' training and handling retrievers as gun dogs and field trial winners. For 20 years I've exhibited my own and other people's dogs in show rings all over the U.S. and Canada. This background has given me a rich understanding of all points of view in this old controversy. I don't hold with the theory that a dog is no good if he doesn't pull a cart, attack on command or kill rats any more than I support the nonsense that a bench title is all that is necessary to make a dog worth $5000. I have been known to stutter and turn a violent shade of purple when I hear that obedience dogs are those who couldn't cut the mustard in the breed ring. And there are ragged holes in ceilings all over the place, which I have caused upon overhearing the theory that if a retriever has no natural field ability and isn't championship material, "We'll take her home and breed her!"

Admittedly, over the years the gap has lessened and the ever-increasing popularity of working trials or working certificates is a giant step in the right direction, in my humble opinion, though it comes as a blow each time I run into evidence that not all dog folks feel the same way.

Last year, I sought to amuse my handling classes in Quebec and Ontario by describing for them the pulling competitions held at an American show I had attended in Detroit. I was shocked to discover that a great many of my listeners obviously didn't approve of such activity; some thought it downright cruel when I told with delight of a tiny Bichon Frise pulling more than his weight with obvious enthusiasm. 'Cruel', to my way of thinking, is forcing a dog to do something he has no interest in or aptitude for — we see evidences of this every weekend in the show ring, in obedience rings and in the field. But such instances are in the minority, thank God. Instead of making snap judgments, it might be wiser for all of us to keep an open mind and make it our business to learn as much about the other guy's field of endeavour as possible. Not because we necessarily care to participate, but because knowledge in every field of dog activity cannot help but enrich all fields of dog activity.

Most of our preconceived notions and traditional resistance to change comes about through lack of understanding which fosters suspicion and fear. What we don't understand we distrust. The 'outsider' sees a small dog taking a jump in obedience and because he cannot conceive of teaching a dog to do this he immediately distrusts the trainer and his methods. The field trialer comes to a show and watches a class circling the ring — just running around, to his unpracticed eye. He doesn't understand, so he puts the scene down.

The show handler often gets up at 5:30 to drive to a show in the rain, sleet and snow to lug equipment in and out of buildings, spending the rest of the time bent over a grooming table or dashing around a ring, trying to keep warm with cold coffee or stay cool with hot ice cream. The obedience buff does much the same thing and so does the retriever trainer or the working certificate participant. And we all enjoy what we're doing and sincerely believe we are bettering our breed through our interests. But as long as the working dog enthusiast tends to ignore the existence of breed standards, and the show dog buff has no conception of the importance of the work a dog was bred to do, both of them are selling their breeds short. Instead of looking DOWN on each other, commonsense says we could accomplish twice as much looking INTO each other. What do you think, hmmmmmmm?

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Proposed amendments to the Dog Show Rules.

Notice is hereby given that at its semi-annual meeting in September the Board of Directors will decide whether approval should be given any or all of the proposed amendments to the Dog Show Rules reported hereunder.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to submit comments with regard to any or all of these proposed amendments. Letters of comment are to be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor St. W., Toronto, Ont. M6S 4V7, so as to be received not later than June 30th, 1979.

When writing please identify by number(s) the particular proposed amendment(s) about which you are writing.

Please note: Group petitions will not be considered.

(1) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 4, BREEDS, CLASSES, AWARDS AND STAKES, Section 3 (h) be amended by the addition of the following after the words "shall compete with dog(s) awarded Winners for the Best of Breed award":

"A foreign-born Miniature Dachshund (of any coat) which has earned all of the awards and championship points required for championship status shall, while still under one year of age, be eligible to be entered for "Specials Only" provided however that application for registration of the dog is submitted to The Canadian Kennel Club within two months after the dog reaches one year of age."

(2) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 4, BREEDS, CLASSES, AWARDS AND STAKES, Section 4(a), be amended by the addition of the following:

"A brace should be judged as identical twins – same colour, same size, same gait, same stride. When viewed from the side while gaiting they should appear as one dog and its shadow. A brace should be handled on one lead by one handler."

(3) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 8, SELECTION OF JUDGES, Section 3, be amended by the addition of the following:

"Withdrawal of entries may be made by telephone but must be followed up in writing to the Show Secretary to be received not less than seven (7) days after the closing of entries. All refund of entry fees must be made by the show-giving club within seven (7) days after the show."

(4) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 8, SELECTION OF JUDGES, be amended by the deletion of the present Section 6, and the substitution therefor of the following:

"SECTION 6. A judge shall not be required to judge more than 175 dogs at the breed level in a single day including dogs entered in stakes, unofficial classes, and specialty shows held on the same date. Where a judge is engaged to judge more than one show on the same date in the same place it is the joint responsibility of the clubs engaging that judge's services to ensure that this rule is enforced.

When entries close and it is found that the total number of dogs entered under the judge exceeds 175 dogs then it is the responsibility of the club (or clubs) for whose show (or shows) the judge has been engaged to judge to seek the approval of The Canadian Kennel Club to transfer to another judge (or judges) sufficient dogs to reduce the total number of entered under the judge to 175 dogs (the total may be reduced to 165 dogs).

For each violation of this rule the following penalty will be imposed: A minimum penalty of $50.00 for one to ten dogs above the limit; and $5.00 for each additional dog above ten."

(5) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 9, JUDGES, be amended by the addition of a new Section reading as follows:

"SECTION 20. A judge shall not accept judging engagements which require his presence at more than one location, even in the same city, on the same date."

(6) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 9, JUDGES, be amended by the addition of a new Section reading as follows:

"SECTION 21. A judge who knowingly is party to a violation of the provisions of Chapter 8, Section 6, of these Rules as it applies to the 175 dogs limit will be subject to disciplinary action."

(7) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 9, JUDGES, be amended by the addition of a new Section reading as follows:

"SECTION 22. A judge in the course of judging dogs at the breed level must maintain a judging rate of not less than 20 dogs per hour and not more than 25 dogs per hour."

(8) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 9, JUDGES, be amended by the addition of a new Section reading as follows:

"SECTION 23. A judge shall not violate any written agreement with a show-giving club which clearly stipulates that he will not judge the same breed(s) and/or award(s) at another show within a stated time and distance. Such agreement or contract must have been properly completed before the show-giving club seeks C.K.C. approval of its judge."

(9) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 16, ENTRIES AND ENTRY FEES, Section 3, be amended by the addition of a new paragraph reading as follows:

All cheques tendered in payment of entry fees must be made payable to the club holding the event, and such cheques are not to be made payable to a person or organization engaged by the club or association to perform functions on its behalf."

(10) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 16. ENTRIES AND ENTRY FEES, be amended by the addition of a new Section reading as follows:

"SECTION 16. An exhibitor has the right to withdraw an entry at any time up to the closing date and time as published in the premium list, or when the premium list indicates that there will be a limit on entries then the actual closing time will be the time and date at which the limit is reached regardless of the closing date as published in the premium list.

Withdrawal of entries may be made by telephone but must be followed up in writing to the Show Secretary so as to be received not less than seven (7) days after the closing of entries.

All refund of entry fees must be made by the show-giving club within seven (7) days after the show."

(11) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 17. DISQUALIFICATIONS, be amended by deleting the words 'castrated, spayed,' in Section 1.

(12) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 19. THE DOGS AND THEIR EXHIBITORS, Section 7, be amended by the addition of the following:

"In the preparation and issuance of a judging schedule a show-giving club shall not schedule a judge to judge less than 20 dogs per hour and not more than 25 dogs per hour at the breed level."

SUBJECT: Proposed amendment to the Dog Show Rules – Proposed new Chapter 21 on Champions and Championship Point Ratings

Notice is hereby given that at its semi-annual meeting in September the Board of Directors will decide whether approval should be given the proposed amendment to Chapter 21 of the Dog Show Rules as set forth hereunder.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to submit comments with regard to this proposed amendment. Letters of comment are to be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor St. W., Toronto, Ont. M6S 4V7, so as to be received not later than June 30th, 1979.

Please note: Group petitions will not be considered.

IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 21. CHAMPIONS AND CHAMPIONSHIP POINTS, be deleted in its entirety, and the following be substituted therefor:

CHAPTER 21
CHAMPIONS AND CHAMPIONSHIP POINTS

SECTION 1. A dog awarded WINNERS at a championship show held under these Dog Show Rules shall be credited with a number of championship points (ranging from 0 to 5), and the determination of the number of championship points to be credited to a dog awarded WINNERS shall be as provided hereunder.

SECTION 2. The schedule to be employed in the determination of the number of points to be allocated a dog awarded WINNERS shall be as follows:

Dogs competing*	1	2	3 to 5	6 to 9	10 to 12	13 or more
Points allocated	0	1	2	3	4	5

*Includes the dog awarded Winners.

SECTION 3.

(a) If a dog awarded WINNERS was also awarded BEST of BREED at the show then all dogs in competition in the breed including all Specials Only dogs shall be totalled, and the total thus determined shall be applied against the schedule set forth in Section 2 above in order to determine the number of championship points to be allocated to the dog awarded WINNERS.

(b) If a dog awarded WINNERS was also awarded BEST OF OPPOSITE SEX to BEST OF BREED then all dogs of the same sex including those competing for Specials Only shall be totalled, and the total thus determined shall be applied against the schedule set forth in Section 2 above in order to determine the number of championship points to be allocated to the dog awarded WINNERS.

(c) If an American Cocker Spaniel awarded WINNERS was also awarded BEST OF VARIETY then all dogs competing in the Variety, including all Specials Only dogs in the same Variety, shall be totalled, and the total thus determined shall be applied against the schedule set forth in Section 2 above in order to determine the number of championship points to be allocated to the dog awarded WINNERS.

(d) If a dog awarded WINNERS was also awarded BEST OF WINNERS then all dogs in the breed (exclusive of those competing for Specials Only) shall be totalled, and the total thus determined shall be applied against the schedule set forth in Section 2 above in order to determine the number of championship points to be allocated to the dog awarded WINNERS.

(e) If a dog was awarded WINNERS only then all dogs of the same sex in class competition shall be totalled, and the total thus determined shall be applied against the schedule set forth in Section 2 above in order to determine the number of championship points to be allocated to the dog awarded WINNERS.

NOTE: The number of championship points to be credited to a dog awarded WINNERS shall be determined by the highest number of points possible under ONE of the foregoing subsections (a), or (b), or (c) or (d), or (e).

SECTION 4. In addition to championship points allocated at the breed level a dog awarded WINNERS which also places in the regular Group competition as provided in Chapter 4, Section 3 (q) of these Rules shall be credited with the following additional points save that not more than 5 points will be credited to a dog for a single show:

First in Group – 4 additional points.
Second in Group – 3 additional points.
Third in Group – 2 additional points.
Fourth in Group – 1 additional point.

SECTION 5. In addition to championship points allocated at the breed and group level, a dog awarded WINNERS which also places Best in Show at an all-breed championship show shall be credited with 5 championship points inclusive of any points earned at the breed and group level.

SECTION 6: In order for a dog to be recognized as a Champion it must:

(a) earn at least ten championship points under at least three different judges; and

(b) be registered in the records of The Canadian Kennel Club.

Only when these requirements have been met may a dog be recognized as a Champion and its owner at the time of the dog completing its championship be provided with a Championship Certificate.

EXPLANATIONS REGARDING THIS PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Since this proposed new system of allocating championship points contemplates a significant change from the system in effect for many years, these explanations are included to clarify how the system, if it should be introduced, would be applied.

The proposal has two main purposes:

(1) To provide for a more equitable distribution of championship points both regionally and as between breeds.

(1) To provide a system which exhibitors would likely find easier to understand and apply.

It is felt that some examples of the application of the proposed system would enable interested persons and clubs to more readily understand its main features as compared with the present system.

EXAMPLE NO. 1: In a breed at a given show there were 2 males and 1 female in class competition and 3 Specials Only dogs competing (1 male and 2 females). The Winners female was also awarded Best of Breed, and since there was a total of six dogs in competition in the breed the Winners female would be credited with three points.

EXAMPLE NO. 2: In a breed at a given show there was 1 female in class competition and two females competing for Specials Only. The Winners female was awarded Best of Opposite Sex. Since there was a total of three females in competition the Winners female would be credited with two points.

EXAMPLE NO. 3: In American Cocker Spaniels at a given show the following dogs were in competition in the Black variety: 2 class males, 4 class females, 3 males competing for Specials Only, and 1 female competing for Specials Only. The Winners Male (Black) was also awarded Best of Variety and would be credited with four points because there was a total of 10 dogs competing in the variety.

EXAMPLE NO. 4: In a breed at a given show there were 2 males and 4 females in class competition. At the Winners level the Winners male earned 1 point and the Winners female earned 2 points. The Winners male was awarded Best of Winners and since there was a total of six dogs in class competition he was credited with 3 points instead of the one point earned at the Winners level.

EXAMPLE NO. 5: In a breed at a given show there was one male in class competition and one female in class competition. Each was awarded Winners but no points for Winners. The Winners female was awarded Best of Winners and would therefore be credited with one point because there was a total of two dogs in class competition.

EXAMPLE NO. 6: In a breed at a given show there was one male in class competition and it was awarded Winners. There was a female Specials Only dog competing for Best of Breed which was won by the Winners Male. The Winners male would be credited with one point because there was a total of two dogs competing in the breed.

EXAMPLE NO. 7: In a breed at a given show there was one male in class competition and it was awarded Winners. There was a male Specials Only dog competing. The Winners male was awarded Best of Opposite Sex over the Specials Only male, and therefore would be credited with one championship point.

As will be noted from the foregoing, a dog will not be credited with one point unless, at some level in competition, it defeats another dog either for Winners, or Best of Winners, or Best of Variety, or Best of Breed, or Best of Opposite Sex, or places in group competition.

At its recent annual meeting the Board of Directors approved the following amendment to Chapter 21, Section 1, of the Dog Show Rules: "Chapter 21, Section 1, is amended to require two dogs for one point in all breeds in all zones; however if there is only one dog and one bitch in class competition in the breed, then the Best of Winners award will carry one championship point." This amendment becomes effective on January 1st, 1980.

To recapitulate, the proposed system outlined in the proposed amendment to Chapter 21 of the Dog Show Rules has the following features:

(1) A single point rating for all breeds in all zones.

(2) The determination of the number of points a dog may earn at the breed level involves a count of all dogs a dog awarded Winners at the show defeated if it was also awarded Best of Winners, Best of Breed, or Best of Opposite Sex, or Best of Variety in American Cocker Spaniels.

(3) A discontinuation of the 'one dog, one point' arrangement in all breeds, although a dog which earned no points for Winners may earn one (or more) points in defeating a dog for Best of Winners, or one or more dogs for Best of Breed, or Best of Opposite Sex, or Best of Variety in American Cocker Spaniels

(4) Provision for additional points for a class dog placing in the regular group or Best in Show.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Amendments to the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Pointing Breeds.

At its annual meeting in March the Board of Directors, acting on the recommendation of the Field Trial Council for Pointing Breeds, approved the following amendments to the Field Trial Rules and Regulations for Pointing Breeds.

These amendments become effective on July 1st, 1979.

(1) Chapter 10, section 1 has been deleted in its entirety and the following has been substituted therefor:
SECTION 1. A pointing dog shall become Field Trial Champion of Record after having won ten points at Field Trials licensed by the Canadian Kennel Club of the required ten points, at least three points shall have been won in an unrestricted senior open stake, not more than two points shall have been won in puppy stakes, and not more than two points shall have been won in derby stakes.

(2) Chapter 5, section 4, which reads: "No judge may judge the same stake held by a club on consecutive days in championship events", has been deleted.

(3) Chapter 9, section 4 has been deleted in its entirety and the following has been substituted therefor:
SECTION 4
(1) Each trial giving club shall set up a committee of three people, one of whom is a member of its Field Trial Committee, to deal with any protest against a dog, any violation of the Field Trial Rules, any complaint as to the manner in which the trial-giving club conducted its trial, any condition prevailing at the trial, the failure of the trial-giving club to comply with the requirements of the Field Trial Rules and Regulations, or of any of the conditions applicable to the trial as announced in the Premium List of the trial. The names and addresses of the Chairman and members of this Complaints Committee are to be published in the premium list.
(2) An offence which occurs during the judging of a stake may be protested, but the Chairman of the Complaints Committee must be verbally notified as soon as possible, and the written protest or complaint must be in the hands of the Chairman of the Complaints Committee within 60 minutes of the conclusion of the judging of that stake.
(3) Complaints or protests regarding other alleged offences must be submitted to the Chairman of the Complaints Committee within a reasonable time after the alleged offence has taken place, but no complaint will be accepted for investigation if received more than one hour after the conclusion of the last stake of that day.
(4) Where the person making the protest or complaint is aware, at the trial, of the information on which he is basing his protest or complaint, the protest or complaint must be lodged at the trial. If the Complaints Committee is satisfied that the person submitting the protest or complaint was not, at the time of the trial, in possession of the information on which he is basing his complaint or protest, they may entertain and process such a complaint or protest if received within seven days after the trial.
(5) Each protest or complaint must be on an official form, or a reasonable facsimile, obtainable from the trial giving club. These forms are to be supplied by the Canadian Kennel Club and will include all information setting forth the procedure to be followed. Each protest or complaint must be accompanied by a deposit of $10.00, and must be submitted to the Chairman, or any member of the Complaints Committee. No protest or complaint arising out of a field trial will be entertained by The Canadian Kennel Club unless this procedure is followed.
(6) The Complaints Committee shall first review the protest or complaint as it was outlined on the official form. It shall then be empowered to investigate the protest or complaint in any manner it deems advisable, such as interviewing the parties concerned and their witnesses, and examining dogs, documents, etc.
(7) The Complaints Committee shall have no authority to penalize or to make any changes in the placement of dogs. If the Committee rules that the protest was frivolous, then the deposit of $10.00 is forfeited to the trial-giving club. If the protest or complaint is sustained, or the Committee rules the complaint reasonable, then the deposit must be refunded.
(8) When the Complaints Committee has concluded its investigation, it will report its decision to the Chairman of the Field Trial Committee, who shall then inform the persons concerned of the Complaints Committee's decision as soon as possible.
(9) The Complaints Committee shall investigate every protest or complaint, and report the result of the investigation, and the disposal of the $10.00 deposit to The Canadian Kennel Club within fourteen days. Except in the event of an appeal, the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club is empowered to take such action as it deems necessary and appropriate.
(10) Any party involved in a protest or complaint shall have the right of appeal to the Board of Directors of The Canadian Kennel Club, but such an appeal must be in writing, and in the hands of the Secretary of The Canadian Kennel Club within twenty-one days of the conclusion of the field trial where the offence occurred, subject to normal postal service.

(4) Chapter 9, section 2 has been deleted in its entirety and the following has been substituted therefor:

(5) Chapter 11, section 1.e. has been amended by the addition of Brittany Spaniels, Griffons (Wire-haired Pointing) and German Long-Haired Pointers.

(6) Chapter 11, section 1.j. has been amended by the addition of Brittany Spaniels, Griffons (Wire-haired Pointing) and German Long-Haired Pointers.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: New standard for the Kuvasz.

Notice is hereby given that at the annual meeting of the Board of Directors held in March 1979 the Board of Directors approved a new standard for the Kuvasz as set forth hereunder.

This new standard becomes effective on January 1st, 1980.

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE: A Hungarian breed whose forbears can almost certainly be traced back to the Tibetan Mastiff, the present type Kuvasz was first recorded in Hungary in the Ninth Century. Since that time, they have been widely used in their native land, primarily as guardians but also for tracking, hunting, herding and as companions.

GENERAL APPEARANCE: The Kuvasz is a large working dog with a pure white, medium length wavy coat. Although strongly built, he possesses grace and lightness of foot, with no hint of bulkiness or lethargy, and is exaggerated in no aspect.

TEMPERAMENT: Temperamentally, the Kuvasz is an intelligent dog with a great deal of independence of spirit. He has been used for centuries as a guardian and has very strongly developed protective instincts.

SIZE: The recommended sizes are:

Males: 28-29½ in. high at the withers with a corresponding weight of approximately 88-115 lbs.

Females: 26-27½ in. high at the withers with a corresponding weight of approximately 66-93 lbs.

COAT AND COLOUR: The double coat is formed by a coarse outer guard coat and a thick, wooly undercoat. The texture of the guard coat is rough so that the coat readily sheds dirt and shows no tendency to mat. The length of the hair follows a definite pattern: head, ears, front of forelegs and feet are covered with short, straight, dense hair ⅜ - ¾ in. in length. The guard coat on the body and thighs is medium length (1½-4¾ in.). Some coats have long, loose waves anything in between. On the adult dog, the coat must not be tightly curled nor should it lie completely flat, but the degree of waviness will vary considerably from one specimen to another.

There is a ruff and mane of longer hair about the neck and chest, more prominently on the males, and feathering of 2-3¼ in. on the back of the legs. The tail is thickly covered in long wavy hair 4-6 in. in length. Puppies may have either straight or curly coats but should lose these characteristics with their first adult coat.

The coat is a lustrous, pure white, although ivory is permissible, but not preferred. A yellow saddle is to be severly penalized.

The skin is well pigmented, preferably grey in colour. The nose, eyerims, lips and flews are black. The roof of the mouth should be dark. Pads of the feet are black or slate grey and slate coloured nails are preferred.

HEAD: From the tip of the nose to the top of the occiput should measure slightly less than half the dog's height at the withers. Viewed from above, the head should narrow, gradually and smoothly, from the ears to the nose. The skull and muzzle are of equal length and the width of the skull should be slightly less than its length. While there is a gentle and graceful arch of the forehead above the eyes, the stop should be only slightly marked. A distinct furrow runs from between the eyes to the top of the occiput.

The muzzle, which tapers gently from root to nose, is strongly built with a punishing bite. It is never snipey but neither should it be coarse or clumsy. Skin on the skull and muzzle should be clean, dry and close-fitting. The lips should be tight and show no flews.

The eyes should be as dark as possible, ideally a coffee-black. They are almond shaped with close-fitting rims, set well apart and a trifle obliquely.

The nose is of good size with well-developed nostrils. The teeth are large and very strong. Dentition should be complete, and the teeth meet in a scissors bite.

The Kuvasz has drop-ears of a traingular shape with a gently rounded tip. Set well to the side and nearly at a level with the top of the ear, the upper portion stands slightly away from the head while the lower third falls close to the cheek. When the dog is alert he brings the whole ear slightly toward the front, giving him a keen and alert appearance. The ear should be small and neat and when pulled over the face should just cover the eye.

NECK: The neck should be powerful, slightly arched, and of medium length. There should be no dewlap.

FOREQUARTERS: The shoulders are well-covered with good, hard muscle. The shoulder blade and upper arm should be at right angles to each other and of good length, allowing the dog ample reach and follow-through of stride. Elbows are close without being constricted and the whole foreleg should describe a straight line from shoulder to forepaw when viewed from the front. The leg should be of good, strong bone, without being coarse or clumsy. The pasterns should have ample spring and the feet should be of the type known as "Acat feet", tight and well arched with deep, resilient pads. There should not be much hair between the toes.

BODY: The withers are prominent and slope gently into a strong, level back of medium length. The chest reaches to the elbow, with a well developed forechest and medium spring of rib. The ribs behind the forelegs must taper inward to allow complete freedom for a long, easy stride. The loin is strong and gently arched. There is a distinct but moderate tuckup. There should be a well formed, slightly sloping croup which is broad and well muscled.

HINDQUARTERS: The hindquarters are well angulated. The angle between pelvis and upper thigh should be 90 degrees to correspond with the proper angle in the forequarters. The upper thigh itself should be of good length, creating the correct bend of stifle (110-120°). The bend of the hock joint should be about 130-140° with the metatarsus being short, strong and perpendicular to the ground. Rear paws are somewhat longer than forepaws but should nevertheless be tight and well arched with deep, resilient pads. Dewclaws are undesirable and should be removed.

TAIL: The tail is set on low, a smooth continuation of the slope of croup. The tip, when straightened, should reach the hock. The tail hangs straight down and may be slightly turned up at the tip but should not curl when the dog is relaxed. When the dog is excited the tail will curl up to the level of the loin, but should not be carried over the back.

GAIT: The trot is smooth, elastic and far-reaching, often showing a tendency for the hind foot to overreach the front. As the dog's speed increases, he will tend to single-track. When he is moving fast, he will carry his head low, at a level with his shoulders.

The Kuvasz should move effortlessly, enabling him to travel great distances without fatigue.

FAULTS: Since the Kuvasz is a working breed any faults of soundness should be considered serious. Faults in type which should be guarded against are: too short a muzzle, applehead or bulging skull, no visible supra-orbital ridge, too much stop; giving an uncharacteristic setter-like appearance, drooping haws or pendulous flews, hound ears, lying back in the ruff. Too long a neck, barrel chest, loose or sloppy shoulder assembly, yellow eyes or yellow markings, sullen appearance or distrustful expression (not to be confused with reverse), extreme nervousness, overshot or undershot mouth, gay tail.

DISQUALIFICATIONS: Over or undersize as follows: Males — over 32 in. or under 25½ in. Females — over 30 in. or under 23½ in.

So pronounced a lack of pigmentation as to have flesh-coloured eye rims. Colour other than white.

PETITIONS

While input from Clubs and individual Members is welcomed and encouraged, group petitions will not be entertained either by the Board of Directors or Canadian Kennel Club Committees and Councils.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Proposed new standard for the Doberman Pinscher.

Notice was published in the September (1978) issue of "Dogs in Canada" with regard to a proposed new standard for the Doberman Pinscher, and comments on this proposed new standard were solicited.

All comments received by the stated deadline have been considered by the Breed Standards Committee. At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors held in March 1979 the Board approved a recommendation of the Committee that the proposed standard, with changes indicated by the Committee, be republished and comments be solicited.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to comment on the proposed standard published hereunder. All letters of comment must be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor St. W., Toronto, Ont. M6S 4V7, so as to be received not later than June 30th, 1979.

Please note: Group petitions will not be considered.

In the proposed standard published hereunder the changes recommended by the Committee in the standard published last September are indicated in ITALIC type.

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE – The Doberman Pinscher originated in Germany around 1890, and takes its name from Louis Dobermann. Originally it was used almost exclusively as a guard dog.

GENERAL APPEARANCE – The appearance is that of a dog of good middle size, with a body that is square: the height measured vertically from the ground to the highest point of the withers equalling the length, measured horizontally from the forechest to the rear projection of the upper thigh. The Doberman should be elegant in appearance, with proud carriage, reflecting great nobility, and should be compactly built, muscular and powerful, for great endurance and speed.

TEMPERAMENT – Energetic, watchful, determined, alert, fearless, loyal, and obedient.

SIZE – Height at withers – Males 26" - 28", ideal being 27½", Bitches 24" - 26", ideal being 25½"

Major Faults – Coarseness, fine Greyhound build, undersized or oversized. Dogs outside the recommended size limits are to be severely penalized, with the amount of penalizing directly proportional to the amount of size difference from the recommended.

COAT – Smooth haired, short, hard, thick and close-lying. Invisible gray undercoat on neck permissible. Allowed colours – black, red, blue and fawn. In each colour the more strongly pigmented coat is the more desirable for both body colour and markings.

Markings – Sharply defined, and appearing above each eye, and on muzzle, throat and forechest, and on all legs and feet and below tail. White on chest, not exceeding one half square inch permissible.

HEAD (shape, eyes, teeth, ears)

SHAPE — Long and dry, resembling a blunt wedge, both frontal and profile views. When seen from the front, the head widens gradually towards the base of the ears in a practically unbroken line. Top of skull flat, turning with slight stop to bridge of muzzle, with muzzle line extending parallel to the top line of the skull. Cheeks flat and muscular. Lips lying close to jaws, and not drooping. Jaws full and powerful, well filled under the eyes. Nose, solid black in black dogs, dark brown in red ones, dark gray in blue ones, and dark tan in fawns.

Faults — Head out of balance in proportion to body. Ram's, dishfaced, cheeky or snipey heads.

EYES — Almond shaped, not round, moderately deep set, not prominent, with vigorous energetic expression. Iris of uniform colour, ranging from medium to darkest brown in black dogs, the darker shade being the more desirable. In reds, blues and fawns, the colour of the iris should blend with that of the markings, but not be of a lighter hue than that of the markings.

Faults — Slit eyes. Glassy eyes. Round eyes.

TEETH – Strongly developed. Lower incisors upright and touching inside of upper incisors – a true scissors bite. Forty-two teeth (22 in lower jaw and 20 in upper jaw) correctly placed. Any deviation from this to be severely penalized, with the amount of deviation directly proportional to the amount of penalization.

EARS – Either cropped or uncropped. If cropped, they should be well trimmed and carried erect. The upper attachment of the ear, when held erect, should be on a level with the top of the skull.

NECK — Carried upright, well muscled and dry. Well arched, and with nape of neck widening gradually toward body. Length of neck proportioned to body and head.

BODY — Back short, firm, of sufficient width, and muscular at the loin extending in a straight line from withers to the slightly rounded croup. Withers pronounced and forming the highest point of body. Brisket full and broad, reaching deep to the elbow. Chest broad, and forechest well defined. Ribs well sprung from the spine, but flattened at lower end to provide elbow clearance. Belly well tucked up, extending in a curved line from chest. Loins wide and muscled. Hips broad in proportion to body, breadth of hips being approximately equal to breadth of body at rib spring. Tail docked at approximately the second joint, should appear to be the continuation of the spine, without material drop.

Major faults — Sway or roach back

Faults — Overly rounded or flat croup

FOREQUARTERS

Shoulder blade — Sloping forward and downward at a 45° angle to the ground, and meeting the upper arm at an angle of 90°. Shoulder to be as close to 45° as possible. Relative length of shoulder and upper arm should be as one to one, excess length of upper arm being much less undesirable than excess length of shoulder blade. Height from elbow to withers approximately equals height from ground to elbow.

Legs, seen from the front and side, perfectly straight and parallel to each other from elbow to pastern; muscled and sinewy, with round, heavy bone. In a normal position, and when gaiting, the elbow should lie close to the brisket. Pasterns firm, with an almost perpendicular position to the ground. Feet well arched, compact and catlike, turning neither in nor out. Dew claws may be removed.

Major faults — Loose shoulder, straight shoulder

Faults — Weak or knuckled over pasterns. Hare feet. Splay feet.

HINDQUARTERS — In balance with forequarters. Upper shanks long, wide and well muscled on both sides of thigh, with clearly defined stifles. Hocks while the dog is at rest: hock to heel should be perpendicular to the ground. Upper shanks, lower shanks and hocks parallel to each other, and wide enough apart to fit in with a properly built body. The hipbone should fall away from the spinal column at an angle of about 30°. Upper shank and lower shank are equal in length. The upper shank should be at right angles to the hip bone. Croup well filled out. Cat feet, as on front legs, turning neither in nor out. Dew claws, if any, may be removed.

Major faults — Straight stifles. Cow hocks. Spread hocks.

Faults — Hare feet. Splay feet.

GAIT — The gait should be free, balanced and vigorous, with good reach in the forequarters and good driving power in the hindquarters. When trotting there should be a strong rear action drive, with rotary movement of hindquarters. Each rear leg should move in line with the foreleg on the same side. Rear and front legs should be thrown neither in nor out. Back should remain strong, firm and level. When moving at a fast trot, the properly built dog will single track.

DISQUALIFICATIONS — Shyness, viciousness.

Shyness — a dog shall be judged fundamentally shy if, refusing to stand for examination, it shrinks away from the judge; if it fears an approach from the rear; if it shies at sudden and unusual noises to a marked degree.

Viciousness — a dog that attacks, or attempts to attack either the judge or its handler, is definitely vicious. An aggressive or belligerent attitude towards other dogs shall not be deemed vicious.

SCALE OF POINTS — As shown on the original standard

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Proposed new standard for the Bull Terrier.

Notice was published in the September (1978) issue of "Dogs in Canada" with regard to a proposed new standard for the Bull Terrier, and comments on this proposed new standard were solicited.

All comments received by the stated deadline have been considered by the Breed Standards Committee. At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors held in March 1979 the Board approved a recommendation of the Committee that the proposed standard, with changes indicated by the Committee, be republished and comments be solicited.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to comment on the proposed standard published hereunder. All letters of comment must be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor St. W., Toronto, Ont. M6S 4V7, so as to be received not later than June 30th, 1979.

Please note: Group petitions will not be considered.

In the proposed standard published hereunder the changes recommended by the Committee in the standard published last August are indicated in ITALIC type.

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE: The Bull Terrier originated in England and is the Gladiator of the canine race.

GENERAL APPEARANCE: Must be strongly built, muscular, symmetrical and active, with a keen, determined and intelligent expression, full of fire and courage but of even temperament and amenable to discipline. Irrespective of size, dogs should look masculine and bitches feminine.

SIZE: There are neither weight nor height limits but there should be the impression of maximum substance to the size of the dog.

COAT AND COLOUR: The coat should be short, flat, even and harsh to the touch, with a fine gloss. The skin should fit the dog tightly. For white, pure white coat, markings on the head are permissible. Any markings elsewhere on the coat are to be severely faulted. For coloured, colour to predominate. If two dogs are of equal quality, then brindle colour is to be preferred. Skin pigment should not be penalized.

HEAD: The head should be long, strong and deep, right to the end of the muzzle, but not coarse. Viewed from the front it should be egg-shaped and completely filled, its surface being free from hollows or indentations. The top of the skull should be almost flat from ear to ear. The profile should curve gently downwards from the top of the skull to the tip of the nose, which should be black and bent downwards at the top. The nostrils should be well develc ped. The distance from the tip of the nose to the eyes should be perceptibly greater than that from the eyes to the top of the skull. The underjaw should be strong.

The teeth should be sound, clean, strong, of good size, and perfectly regular with full dentition. Either a level bite or scissors bite is acceptable. If a scissors bite, the upper front teeth should fit in front of and closely against the lower front teeth. The lips should be clean and tight.

The eyes should appear narrow, obliquely placed and triangular, well sunken, as dark as possible and with a piercing glint.

The ears should be small, thin, and placed closely together. The dog should be able to hold them stiffly erect, when they should point straight upwards.

NECK: The neck should be very muscular, long, arched, tapering from the shoulders to the head, and free from loose skin.

FOREQUARTERS: The shoulders should be strong and muscular but without loading. The shoulder blades should be wide, flat, and attached closely to the chest wall, and should have a very pronounced backward slope of the front edge from bottom to top. The forelegs should have the strongest type of round quality bone and the dog should stand solidly upon them; they should be moderately long and perfectly parallel. The elbows should be held straight and the strong pasterns upright. The feet should be round and compact with well-arched toes.

BODY: The body should be well-rounded with marked spring of rib, and a great depth from withers to brisket, so that the latter is nearer the ground than the belly. The back should be short and strong with the top line level behind the withers and arching or reaching slightly over the loin. The underline from the brisket to belly should form a graceful upward curve. The chest should be broad viewed from the front.

HINDQUARTERS: The hind legs should be parallel viewed from behind. The thighs must be muscular and the second thigh well developed. The stifle joint should be well bent and the hock well angulated, with the bone to the foot short and strong.

TAIL: The tail should be short, set on low. It should be carried horizontally. Thick at the root, it should taper to a fine point.

GAIT: The moving dog shall appear well-knit, smoothly covering the ground with free, easy strides and with a typical jaunty air. Fore and hind legs should move parallel each to each when viewed from in front or behind, the forelegs reaching out well, and the hind legs moving smoothly at the hip and flexing well at the stifle and hock with great thrust.

FAULTS: Any departure from the foregoing points should be considered a fault and the seriousness of the fault should be in exact proportion to its degree.

DISQUALIFICATIONS: Deafness, blue eyes.

NOTICE

SUBJECT: Proposed new standard for the Maltese.

Notice was published in the September (1978) issue of "Dogs in Canada" with regard to a proposed new standard for the Maltese, and comments on this proposed new standard were solicited.

All comments received by the stated deadline have been considered by the Breed Standards Committee. At the annual meeting of the Board of Directors held in March 1979 the Board approved a recommendation of the Committee that the proposed standard, with changes indicated by the Committee, be republished and comments be solicited.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to comment on the proposed standard published hereunder. All letters of comment must be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor St. W., Toronto, Ont. M6S 4V7, so as to be received not later than June 30th, 1979.

Please note: Group petitions will not be considered.

In the proposed standard published hereunder the changes recommended by the Committee in the standard published last September are indicated in ITALIC type.

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE: The Maltese is of spaniel origin, and has been a household pet for many centuries.

GENERAL APPEARANCE: Should suggest a vigorous, well proportioned body with a mantle of long white straight coat hanging evenly down each side.

TEMPERAMENT: The maltese is among the gentlest mannered of all little dogs. They are intelligent, vigorous, very affectionate and seemingly fearless. Aggressive behaviour towards judge, handlers and other dogs is to be severely penalized.

SIZE: Weight under 7 lbs. with from 4 to 6 lbs. preferred. Not to exceed 10" at the shoulder.

COAT AND COLOUR: Should be of good length, but not so as to impede action. The coat is single, that is, with no undercoat. It hangs flat, straight and silky on either side of the centre part, which should run from tip of nose to tip of tail. The texture should be even throughout with no suggestion of woolliness, curliness or cosmetic alteration. The long head hair may be tied up in a single topknot or divided into two. The colour is PURE white but lemon markings on puppies should not be penalized.

HEAD AND SKULL: Head in proportion to the size of the dog. From stop to centre of the skull (centre being between forepart of the ears) and stop to tip of the nose should be equally balanced. The skull is slightly rounded, rather broad between the ears and moderately well defined at the temples. The stop is moderate. The muzzle is fine and slightly tapered, but not snipey, with a good firm underjaw. The nose is small, black and in balance with the size of the eyes. Teeth may meet in an even edge to edge bite or in a scissors bite. The lips should be black.

EYES: Should be dark brown with black eyerims. Halos of pigmentation around the eyes give a more beautiful expression. The shape is not quite round but not almond shaped, and their size should be in proportion to the size of the face, there should be no suggestion of bulging or prominence and the expression should be gentle but very alert.

EARS: Should be low set, the hair long and well feathered and hanging close to the side of the head, the hair to be mingled with the coat at the neck and shoulders.

NECK: Of sufficient length and proportion to the body to give a high carriage of head.

FOREQUARTERS: The shoulder blades are sloping at an approximate 45 degree angle, elbows are well knit and held close to the body. Forelegs are straight, their pastern joints well knit and devoid of appreciable bend. The feet should be round and small. Pads of the feet are black. The hair around the feet may be trimmed to give a neater appearance.

BODY: Should be in every way well balanced. Essentially short and cobby — the height from the withers to the ground to equal the length from the withers to the root of the tail. The topline should be straight from the tip of the shoulders to the root of the tail. Ribs should be well sprung, chest fairly deep, at least to the elbows, the loins taut, strong and well tucked up underneath.

HINDQUARTERS: Legs are fine boned and nicely feathered. Hind legs are strong and moderately angulated at the stifles and hock. The hock is straight, turning neither in nor out.

TAIL: Is set high and should be long haired and carried well arched over the back with the tip resting on the hind quarter on either side.

GAIT: The gait should be smooth and flowing without extended weaving. In stride the forelegs reach forward, straight and free from the shoulders, elbows close. The hind legs move in a straight line with good driving action. The topline is level, head held high and tail carried gracefully over the back resting on the hindquarter.

Transfer of ownership:

In all cases the applicant is the person from whom the dog is being transferred, NOT the person to whom it is being transferred.

Registration of Lease:

The applicant is the recorded owner of the dog, not the person to whom the dog is leased.

Registration of tattoo identification combination:

The applicant is the person to whom the combination is to be allotted.

Order for certified pedigree:

The applicant is the person submitting the request for a certified pedigree.

3. Membership privileges are not transferable from one person to another. For example: If the husband is a C.K.C. "Ordinary" member, but it is his wife who is the applicant, these membership rates do not apply unless the wife is also a C.K.C. "Ordinary" member.
4. If the applicant is a partnership, membership rates apply only if the partnership is currently a C.K.C. "Ordinary" member, OR if each and every person in the partnership is currently a C.K.C. "Ordinary" member.

Your dog's health

By Dr. Martin DeForest

QUESTION: What is known about the recent outbreaks of parvovirus infections in dogs?

ANSWER: Late in the summer of 1978 an outbreak of diarrhea (often bloody) and vomiting occurred in dogs in many parts of Canada. At the same time, a similar disease was reported in various parts of the United States (Eugster, et al, 1978: Appel et al, 1978). Through personal communications, we are aware that an apparently identical disease is occurring in Europe, Australia, and South Africa.

The underlying aetiological agent appears to be a virus with characteristics of the parvovirus group. A similar disease entity is caused by the canine coronavirus and it is difficult to differentiate clinically, in most cases, from parvovirus infection. As with other gastro-intestinal infections, the clinical signs of the disease vary greatly and may be influenced by age, environmental circumstances and resident bacteria and parasites (Appel et al, 1978).

Dogs of all ages are affected by parvovirus, and deaths can occur in both adults and pups. Mortality appears to be highest among puppies, however. The most obvious clinical signs of the disease are vomiting (which may be severe and protracted), anorexia (no appetite), diarrhea and rapid dehydration. At the onset of the disease the feces are usually light grey or yellow-grey in colour. However, the first sign of the disease may be fluid diarrhea, either streaked with blood or markedly hemorrhagic. This may persist until death or recovery occurs. The rectal temperature may be elevated (104-106°F), especially in puppies. Older dogs may have normal or only moderately elevated (103°C) temperatures. Some dogs have a loose (pancake) stool and recover, while others continue to vomit and have severe hemorrhagic projectile diarrhea until they die. Pups often succumb with shocklike deaths which may occur as early as one to two days after the onset of illness.

Leucopenia, an abnormally low number of white blood cells, is a common feature of parvovirus infection, especially during the first four to five days of illness. This is frequently accompanied by fever.

Parvovirus enteritis is characterized by necrosis (cell death) of the epithelium (cellular lining) of the crypts in the small intestine. Often the crypts are dilated, with extensive loss of epithelial cells. There may be necrosis or depletion of lymphoid tissue as well. Histological the lesions of canine parvovirus infecti are remarkably similar to those of feli panleukopenia (cat distemper), which also caused by a parvovirus (Appel, et 1978).

When presented with a dog which vomiting and has diarrhea, your veteri arian must consider all possibilities, these signs are associated with ma conditions, such as bacterial and parasit diseases, acute pancreatitis, poisoning 'shockgut' (tryptic enteritis), and canin hemorrhagic gastroenteritis. Viral gastr enteritis is also a likely cause of the clinical signs, especially where sever dogs are affected and where other ev dence suggests contagious disease.

Prompt symptomatic treatment essential in severely ill dogs, and especia ly in puppies. Treatment of both canin coronavirus and parvovirus infections similar and is aimed at control of dia rhea, vomiting, and dehydration. Intes tinal astringents, anti-emetics, and intra venous fluids are useful in this regard.

It is not known exactly how parvoviru is transmitted, but likely the dog itself the prime carrier. Clinically norma 'carriers' may be the prime reservoir o the virus, which is excreted primarily in the feces. Virus particles may be shed in saliva, vomitus, feces, and urine of acutely infected dogs. Parvovirus infection ap pears to be highly contagious and spreads rapidly when dogs are congregated or housed in close confinement.

There are many unanswered questions concerning the resistence of the virus to inactivation by physical and chemical means (Black, et al, 1979). No specific vaccine to combat the disease is available as yet, although killed feline panleuko penia vaccine is being investigated for use in dogs.

Pacific action

By John and Stella Loftus

The Evergreen Kennel Club celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary with two shows on March 10 and 11. We always enjoy dog events. They invariably afford us the opportunity to meet with friends, renew acquaintances and catch up on the latest news. This was no exception.

Had a long chat with our good friends, Flora and Susan Hewitt (Wild Rock). Flora, looking fit and tanned, had just returned from a three-week sojourn in California. While in Palm Springs she visited with Lois and Bob Waters and conducted several handling classes for members of the Kennel Club of Palm Springs, formed a year ago under the guidance of Mr. Waters, the current president. A side trip to Arizona included the Suharo Kennel Club show in Phoenix, where Bob Waters judged some of the Non-Sporting breeds and also BIS.

Wild Rock's Brussels Griffon, Ch. Wild Rock's Keepsake, has amassed 12 points toward his American title including two majors at four sets of shows. A kennelmate, Ch. Wild Rock's Ophelia, garnered six points at the same shows. Their Scottish Deerhound, Ch. Wild Rock Squire o' Tir-Nan-Og, captured several BB awards from the classes in the U.S., and a Group 3 placement. Sad news was the sudden loss, from a heart attack, of their 5½-year-old constant house companion, Ch. Wild Rock's Bells, who was the top Brussels Griffon in Canada for 1976. Susan is quite enthused over her latest acquisition, a female Wire puppy. Worrindale Winter Jasmine shows great promise.

Joseph Brant (Satelier Shetland Sheepdogs) informs us that his Ch. Esquire's Casino Royale is the current B.C. top sire with 11 champions to his credit and more pointed get on the way. Casino is a son of the famous Am. Ch. Halstor's Peter Pumpkin, all-time leading sire in the breed.

Kathy Whitby, staunch right arm of Virginia Lyne, Ranzfel English Cocker Spaniels, had a nice win with their Ch. Ranzfel Union Boss, taking WM and BW for a 5-pt. major February 25 at the Seattle Kennel Club show, supported by the English Cocker Spaniel Club of America with an entry of 28.

Also managed a word or two with the exuberant Stella Newby (Worrindale) of Cairn and Wire Fox Terrier fame. Mrs. Newby related she is most anxiously awaiting the arrival of a male Cairn puppy from Doris Harris (Tail's End) in California. Stella has also been asked to judge the Lakeland Terrier Club of America puppy sweepstakes, being held this year in conjunction with the Great Western Terrier specialty in Los Angeles prior to Beverly Hills.

During the course of the Saturday show a tragic accident occurred which might have proven fatal. While being taken from the building, a young Wire female, Plawsworth Jubilee Market, owned by Miss Barbara Watt and sired by the famous Ch. Wyrequest's Pay Dirt, managed to slip her lead and despite the efforts of everyone in the vicinity escaped the confines of the PNE grounds and ran out onto a nearby street. Mr. Sandy Bryce, an owner-handler, gave chase and although unable to catch up managed to keep pace. He also witnessed the accident when she ran into the path of a truck and was able to pinpoint the alley where the frightened and hurt Jubilee had darted and taken refuge among some empty cartons. Sandy stood guard and managed to send back word of their location. Shortly after, the distraught owner arrived, gently gathered up her 'baby' and rushed off to a veterinarian. The preliminary report indicated a badly smashed pelvis and a dislocated hip. Our sympathy to Barbara Watt. We sincerely trust that Jubilee will come through the ordeal wi flying colours. Earlier in the day the litt gal had completed her title. We shou like to publicly commend Sandy Bryce fi his role in this episode. Without his a the outcome may well have been sadde It is comforting to know that the dc game still nurtures people who have genuine concern for others and are pn pared to assist to their utmost.

A busy upcoming weekend schedu should offer considerable variety to th dog-loving public. The Surrey Dog Obed ence Training Club, a comparatively ne organization, is holding its first Sprin tracking trials April 7 and 8 in th Cloverdale area, while the B.C. Cocke Spaniel Club is sponsoring a specialt show for both American and Englis Cockers on April 8 in the Recreatio Centre, Delta. In addition, The Dandi Dinmont Terrier Fanciers Club is havin an all breed sanction match and mod obedience trial on April 8 in the Recrea tion Centre, North Delta.

Dogs West

BY FRED EDGE

What a beautiful series of wins it was!

At the Winnipeg Fort Garry's Spring shows and trials, celebrating Manitoba's oldest kennel club's diamond jubilee, a Brittany Spaniel from Bloomington, Minn., went high point in trial three days running.

Apaches Fair Lady, just under four years, owned and handled by Richard Foster in Novice B, scored a remarkable 199 (out of a possible 200) on each of the three days, sending her dad home with more silverware than you see in a Birk's window.

It was a joy to watch.

Still on the subject of obedience, the most recent issue of the Thunder Bay (Ont.) Kennel and Training Club's newsletter features the late Ch. and O.T.Ch. Honours Tartan Tyke UD — owned and handled by Margaret Hunter.

Tartan, who died in 1977, was Canada's first UD Scottie. Two years after her death, she still is the only Scottie in Canada to have earned its UD.

I liked this comment by Ed Bracy, outspoken judge from Memphis, Tenn., judging at the Fort Garry: "Too often there is too much foliage on our coated dogs, and not enough branches."

Mrs. J. H. Daniell-Jenkins (Dee), of Pickering, Ont., who also judged at the Fort Garry, expressed the opinion that the standard of Canadian dogs is "generally good everywhere," with slight variations geographically.

"Terriers and Toys are a little weak in the Yukon, for instance, but Working and Sporting dogs are strong. Numerically, shows vary from area to area," she added, "but in every show you always find some very good dogs."

Mrs. Daniell-Jenkins (who objects to the liberationist "Ms.", incidentally) is judging for the first time in Saskatchewan at this month's Regina Kennel and Obedience Club's shows and trials, May 25, 26 and 27.

A feature of these shows will be competition for the Canadian Scent Hurdle Championship, with the Labrador Retriever Club of Manitoba, provincial champions, pitted against the Regina Kennel and Obedience Club's Saskatchewan champions — the Bad News Bears.

Have you ever wondered if you were at a disadvantage, showing against a well-known handler?

I discussed this with James Kilgannon, affable judge from South Edmonton, Alta., and this was his comment: "I never look at the handler's end of the lead. It is the dog that I am judging, not the individual who brings him into the ring.

"Sometimes I see a dog, like him, put him up — and never see him again.

"Sometimes I recognize a dog I have liked, and have put up, and after a few shows I realize that his owner knows I like him and is following me from show to show.

"I don't like that."

Somebody with the Grande Prairie (Alta.) Regional Kennel Club has a good sense of humour, and it shows in the club's most fetching and informative newsletter.

This newsletter is chockful of amusing little line drawings of pooches, pawprints and free-style boxed items — a real pleasure to peruse.

Two of the items of general interest: Dorothea Haverstock has resigned as CKC director for Alberta, replaced by interim director Bud Haverstock; many judges will be asking exhibitors personally to show their dogs' bite, due to a mouth virus currently a problem in many parts of the country.

Winnipeg's Academy of Veterinary Medi cine is to be commended, and hopefully emulated, for two special services it ha initiated over the past while.

The Academy has set up a 24-hour seven-days emergency clinic for animals providing a full range of services, and a the Fort Garry began volunteer staffing o all Winnipeg point shows and trials by an Academy member.

In my most recent copy of The Last Post, from the Regina Kennel and Obedience Club, there is a thought-provoking article on making friendly overtures to new club members — or just someone new to dog showing and trialing.

Remember when you first started showing or trialing your dog, and didn't know a soul? Remember when you could have used a little grooming or training advice, or just the pleasantness of someone to talk to?

Next time you go to a club meeting, or a show, and see someone standing alone, looking a little forlorn, think about it.

Then do something thoughtful.

Atlantic action

By Jay Underwood

We salute the Abegweit club, Charlottetown, and its members. They will be holding their two shows of the year next month. The club is the only show-giving club on the Island, and the June shows are the only P.E.I. shows for the season. They are good!

This month's focus is on hounds. It couldn't come at a better time for the Maritimes, since there are a number of Pack Beagle trials taking place within three of the four provinces on three consecutive weekends, beginning in St. John's, Nfld., with the Rod and Gun Club's trial on the 12th and 13th, followed on the 19th and 20th by the Atlantic Beagle Club's trial in Nova Scotia, and on the 26th and 27th by the Fundy Trail Beagle Club's trial in New Brunswick. That's almost a circuit, especially with two more Nova Scotia trials held on the first and second weekends of June, the Central Nova Club on the 2nd and 3rd, and the Airway Club (Cape Breton) on the 9th and 10th.

Hounds are well represented in the Maritimes, with the rarer breeds being seen more frequently. One such case is Barbara Townshend's Otterhound, Pam-Burn's Cream o' Tartar, the only Otterhound in the Maritimes. According to Mrs. Townshend, an O.H. was shown in Halifax last year. She hopes to import a male and start establishing the breed under her Labara prefix.

Any other Maritimers who have an 'only-one-in-the-Maritimes' dog might like to drop me a line and a black and white photo for possible inclusion in Atlantic Action.

I received a copy of the Newfoundland (all breed) Kennel Club's newsletter from editor Jacky Petrie. It's a credit to the club and packed full of information.

Her club hosted a lecture by Rachel Page-Elliot on Dogs: Their structure and Function in St. John's on April 7. Mrs. Page-Elliot is the author of Dogsteps. This is another of these Maritime area seminars and lectures that prove we Easterners are matching the Upper Canadians in this respect. Dr. Quentin LaHam, of Ottawa (who judged at the Cobequid Club's March shows), gave a short lecture on canine structural abnormalities on the evening after the first show on the 24th.

There's been some concern voiced about puppy farms that are opening for business in Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, I haven't as yet heard of any on the Island or in New Brunswick. No one likes to see these places open, but unfortunately there is little one can do about it if these farms operate within legal boundaries. If you have a legitimate complaint or wish to voice concern on the matter contact your local S.P.C.A. or provincial Department of Agriculture.

Keep everyone up to date by writing Jay Underwood at R.R. 1, Eureka, Pictou County, Nova Scotia B0K 1B0.

Breeder's viewpoint

By Ariel Sleeth

Anyone who has come to know me through these columns, will be aware of my belief in the responsibility of kennel clubs and breed clubs to function as teaching and leading forces, as well as promoting dog shows. While in Calgary recently, I was pleased to meet the members of the Alberta Shetland Sheepdog and Collie Association. It was evident that when breeders come together it's knowledge they seek.

This is the direction that many clubs are focusing on, such as the Dominion Collie and Shetland Sheepdog Association. This year it is holding a dinner and symposium on June 2, prior to its specialty show the following day. Speaker is Dr. R. Huff, on 'Kennel Management and the Pregnancy Program'. I have heard Dr. Huff before and know this will be an informative evening. Gord Meyers, R.R. 2, Milton, Ont., is the convenor.

Another club which has done well for its members and friends is the Ottawa Kennel Club as well as the Bytown Springer Spaniel Club. They are holding a seminar April 28 and 29, featuring Canine Structure — Dr. E. Trainor; Dog in Motion — Rachel Page Elliot; Grooming and Conditioning — William Trainor; Show Handling — Michael Dachel.

What a weekend that promises to be. If you have been fortunate enough to attend such a seminar or symposium, be sure to express your gratitude to the club and let other clubs know what can be done for the members. Most clubs are more familiar with the function of holding shows (and clubs are holding more shows than ever before). A single show is now the exception as two and three-day shows, and even more, have become commonplace.

All clubs do not have the services of professionals and perhaps do not realize the extent of their responsibility to judges and exhibitors to produce a smooth running, efficient show. Trying to maintain a happy balance between club members, exhibitors and judges can be quite a juggling act, but it is worth the effort. Most of the pre-show problems have been ironed out when the judge comes on the scene and it is the club's duty to do all that is possible to provide the exhibitors with a knowledgeable, rested, comfortable judge, who will be ready and able to perform for long hours with courtesy and good judgment.

Prior to the show date, ask your judge if you can be of help with any travel arrangements and hotel reservations. Be sure your judges will have quiet rooms in a quality motel. Be sure they are picked up at the airport and driven to the accommodation. These judges are in an unfamiliar city and are deserving of your hospitality. If there are a number of out-of-town judges, it is nice to assign a non-exhibiting member of the club to act as host or hostess.

On the day of the show, arrange transportation to the site. Remove all responsibility from the judge so that he may concentrate on his assignment and be in an excellent frame of mind. Sometimes I wonder if the cranky, irritable judge we sometimes find in the ring is the result of dealing with travel complications, luggage, finding satisfactory accommodation and coping with a multitude of problems.

Be sure there are cool beverages available if the weather is hot, a coffee break if desired, and a quiet lunch away from the exhibitors.

Your responsibility is not over after his assignment. Provide prompt transportation to the motel or to the airport, as required. Word can spread, and an inconsiderate club may have difficulty attracting judges who will bring a good entry. Those responsible for specialty shows with less responsibility, take very good care of their judges and usually avoid the horror stories that are told by some not so fortunate — that is this breeder's viewpoint.

Hunting dogs

By Gord McIntyre

Last month I defined 'breed integrity' as the ideals envisaged for their breeds by those who originated or developed them; "intelligent animals with pronounced natural hunting ability, the necessary conformation to hunt long and hard when conditioned, and of excellent temperament."

The Brittany Spaniel Club of Ontario has pointed the way for other breed clubs interested in preserving or restoring and enhancing their breed's integrity. Its brochure to prospective members reads:

"The Brittany Spaniel Club of Ontario was formed in April 1978 to promote and encourage the image of the 'Ideal Brittany' as being a versatile pointing breed which has:

a) the natural ability and desire to both point game staunchly and retrieve from land and water.

b) the proper CKC approved conformation which will allow it to hunt long and hard when properly conditioned.

c) the temperament to be both a year-round family pet and a worthy show champion.

d) sound, healthy and is apparently free of all congenital defects such as hip dysplasia.

In order to foster the development of the Brittany, the club sponsors training clinics, a quarterly newsletter, and competitive events in the Field (F. D. test, trials) as well as the show ring (booster and specialty). The large number of dogs participating in the latter two areas is a strong indication that we are attaining our goal of keeping the Brittany a true 'Dual Dog'."

In his annual report, club president Ted Palmer of Niagara-on-the-Lake, states, "Discussion was initiated this year with the British Columbia Brittany Club with a view to acting on matters of common import. It may in the future be possible to consider the formation of a Brittany Spaniel Club of Canada to give us an even stronger voice with CKC in matters relating to Sporting Dogs in general and Brittanies in particular.

Ted Palmer has the key to maintaining and enhancing his breed's integrity: a nation-wide, breed-dedicated club working with an informed, sympathetic and responsive CKC executive and Field Trial Council for the Pointing Breeds. In fact, is not his way — the only way?

Certainly one of the chief purposes of CKC's by-law Article V. Objects, is for it to provide all possible assistance for tho dedicated to promoting the best all-rou interests of their breed. Surely no elect executive of CKC would deny any or requests to this end, from a breed-ded cated club whose members have demo strated their willingness to subordina their private, selfish or petty interests the best all-round interests of their bree Or am I being naive?

The Brittany Spaniel Club of Ontar has taken the first step by identifyin what it considers the "Ideal Brittany." national club might disagree.

Is the present CKC conformatio standard the ideal one for Canadian Bri hunted in tight New Brunswick woodco cover, and in wide-open western sharpta country? If the national club conside the ideal Brit to be a short to mediu range gun dog, will it countenance F. T Chs. being awarded to U.S. style tri Brittanies that work at eye-straining di tances?

Is the ideal Brit one that has earned it Dual Ch. — both Ch. and F. T. Ch.? O are there weaknesses in existing show an trial rules which permit dogs to get thi treasured title without fully expressin breed integrity?

At best, a 'breed ideal' is something fo breeders or fanciers to aspire to. It en courages them to 'dream the impossibl dream.' In practice, the national bree club that sets too demanding standards o breed integrity, and doesn't provide some compromise that will admit of individual show and trial interests, is doomed to fail ure. No compromise is ever totally satis factory but in dogs as in politics, you can only achieve the possible — not the 'impossible dream.'

Suppose a Canadian Brittany club were formed: could it demand more of its show dogs than they earn one leg of a CKC Field Dog test before being awarded a Ch.? Should it ask more of a trial Brit that in order to get its F. T. Ch., it be assessed in some manner by licensed show judges, as a typey specimen within the conformation standard?

In the next and final article of this series, we'll take a look at CKC's show, test and trial rules, and suggest possible changes a national breed club might ask CKC's executive to make.

Questions and comments should be directed to Gord McIntyre at R.R. 4, Bolton, Ontario L0P 1A0.

cond stage) larva in the tissues for prenatal transmission to successive litters of pups. If the adult worm burden is not removed from pups and lactating bitches, there will be extensive seeding of the environment with T. canis eggs shortly after the birth of every litter.

It is important to remember the bitches with no eggs in their feces are not necessarily free of the parasite (living in their tissues). The ultimate proof that a bitch is free of roundworms is for her to whelp worm-free pups. Should a bitch whelp a litter with a heavy worm burden of T. canis, one should expect that the next litter or two will also be infected, even if she is not re-exposed to more T. canis eggs. With good environmental hygiene and regular treatment of lactating bitches and puppies, it is possible to make breeding kennels Toxocara free after two or three generations of puppies (the period of time required to deplete the supply of larva in the bitch's tissues). Probably the best disinfectant for elimination of T. canis eggs in the environment is a 10% solution of Dettol in hot water. This should be left on the area to be disinfected for several hours.

T. canis infection in man

The infective eggs of T. canis pose a definite public health hazard to humans. When people ingest infective eggs, somatic migration occurs and larvae become distributed into the body tissues. This condition is known as Visceral Larva Migrans (V.L.M.). This is generally not a problem in adults, because of personal hygiene, but is of concern in young children of crawling age who play on the floor which may be contaminated by young puppies passing large numbers of T. canis eggs in their feces. Usually there are no clinical signs where low numbers of eggs are involved. Where egg numbers are large, the following symptoms may be seen in children: laboured breathing, enlargement of the liver, skin conditions (dermatitis), loss of vision in one eye, central nervous signs, and lethargy (no energy). Death has even been reported although this is very rare. However, this still emphasizes the need for veterinarians and dog breeders to attempt to remove all patent infections of Toxocara canis from dogs in order to prevent contamination of the environment by infective eggs. Often, this may take several treatments before fecal rechecks are negative following worming. But, the benefits of having healthy worm-free dogs and a clean environment clearly justify all of the efforts required to eliminate this parasite from our dogs.

IN HOSPITAL: Mrs. Sarah Diamond, Quebec CKC Director, is in Lakeshore General Hospital, Pointe Claire, Que., suffering from broncho-pneumonia.

Cancel the paper. Call the kennel. And don't forget the Vanguard!®

Vanguard is a new hepatitis vaccine that also protects against one of the most important causes of "canine cough."

That's got to be the best news yet for dog owners whose pets have sometimes experienced a troublesome, hard to cure "cough" problem.

Vanguard is a Norden development. It contains the first and only hepatitis vaccine made with an adeno type-2 virus. Vanguard effectively immunizes against hepatitis . . . also against adeno type-2 pneumonia, bronchitis, and pharyngitis which are associated in the "canine cough" complex.

Why not do your pet — and yourself — a favor by providing him with Vanguard protection. Vanguard comes in combinations to protect against lepto as well as distemper and parainfluenza, two other diseases that can cause "cough."

Before you leave on your trip, ask your veterinarian about Vanguard protection for your dog on his own boarding kennel vacation.

Profile

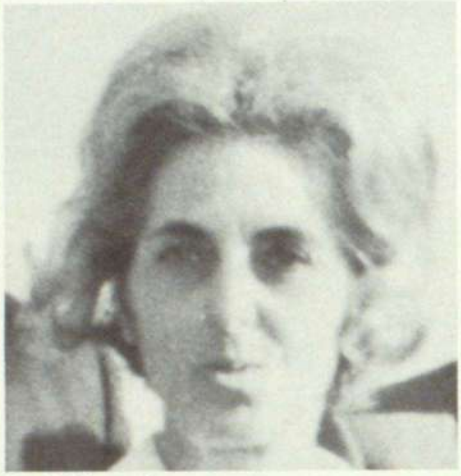

Quebec's CKC Director is outspoken, dedicated, and hardworking

BY JOAN MORDEN

Each segment of the dog fancy seems to have definite ideas about the background experience that equips an individual to become an effective member of the Board of Directors of the CKC. Breeders favour a strongly breeder-oriented Board; exhibitors want their directors to be well acquainted with the ways of dog shows and obedience trials. While those who are on the executive of local and breed clubs lean towards those with a thorough knowledge of Club By-laws and Boardroom procedure in general.

Rarely does one individual possess all these attributes. And when someone does, that person is usually so involved in private activities any suggestion of running for office in the CKC is rebuffed with the comment: "Not me — I don't have the time!" This was not the case with Sarah Diamond. Even though she and her husband Irving were deeply involved with all breed and specialty clubs; operated a large boarding facility and enjoyed breeding and exhibiting on a limited scale, when Mrs. Diamond was approached she allowed her name to stand. A lady with her list of qualifications had no trouble being elected and she is now serving her fourteenth year as director from Quebec.

It seemed a natural progression for someone who has always been closely associated with dogs. Mrs. Diamond was born and raised in England where her mother selectively bred Yorkshire Terriers and a few Smooth Fox Terriers. Her husband, too, comes of a doggy background having owned Scottish Terriers, Boston Terriers and St. Bernards. So nothing could have been more normal than that they should enjoy the dog hobby together. And they kept things on the 'hobby' level, breeding Dachshunds under the prefix 'Di-Mar'. Although one associates Di-Mar chiefly with Miniature Smooths, the Diamonds have bred and shown both Mini Wires and Standard Smooths. Nowadays their breeding program is restricted to no more than one litter of Mini Smooths a year to preserve the bloodline. And because both are now approved championship judges — Mr. Diamond an all-rounder and Sarah approved to judge Groups Two, Four and Six — they no longer show their Di-Mar stock in competition. Of the Dachshund breeds, Mrs. Diamond thinks there has been great improvement in all six varieties in the last

Sarah Diamond

20 years. She would, however, like to see the Minis weighed automatically before entering the ring and championship status withheld until after one year of age in all breeds where there is a weight or height limit. This way, she says, we would know that champions are within the standard for their breeds.

While she sees a number of things in need of change in the show area, for example, fewer championship events and the introduction of Plan 'A' and Plan 'B' Sanction Matches, as in the U.S., she finds little to criticize in the present system of approving judges. Having studied systems operating in many parts of the world, she has concluded that there is no 'perfect' system. And that, in the final analysis it is the exhibitors' prerogative to withhold entries from judges they consider incompetent.

While at one time the Diamonds' boarding facility was a large one, today it is back pretty much as it started — a home away from home for dogs they have bred and those belonging to friends. No longer are they asked to board the 'exotic'. Once a request to board a pet Boa Constrictor was received. Even though a diet sheet was provided, Sarah opted out on this paying guest and referred its owners to the local zoo. Once they hosted a pet crow belonging to visitors from the U.S. who were staying with friends of the Diamonds. When it came time to go home the bird was not allowed to cross the border. So, foiling the Customs official, the owners released the crow, allowed it to fly across the border by itself and, once across, called it back to the car.

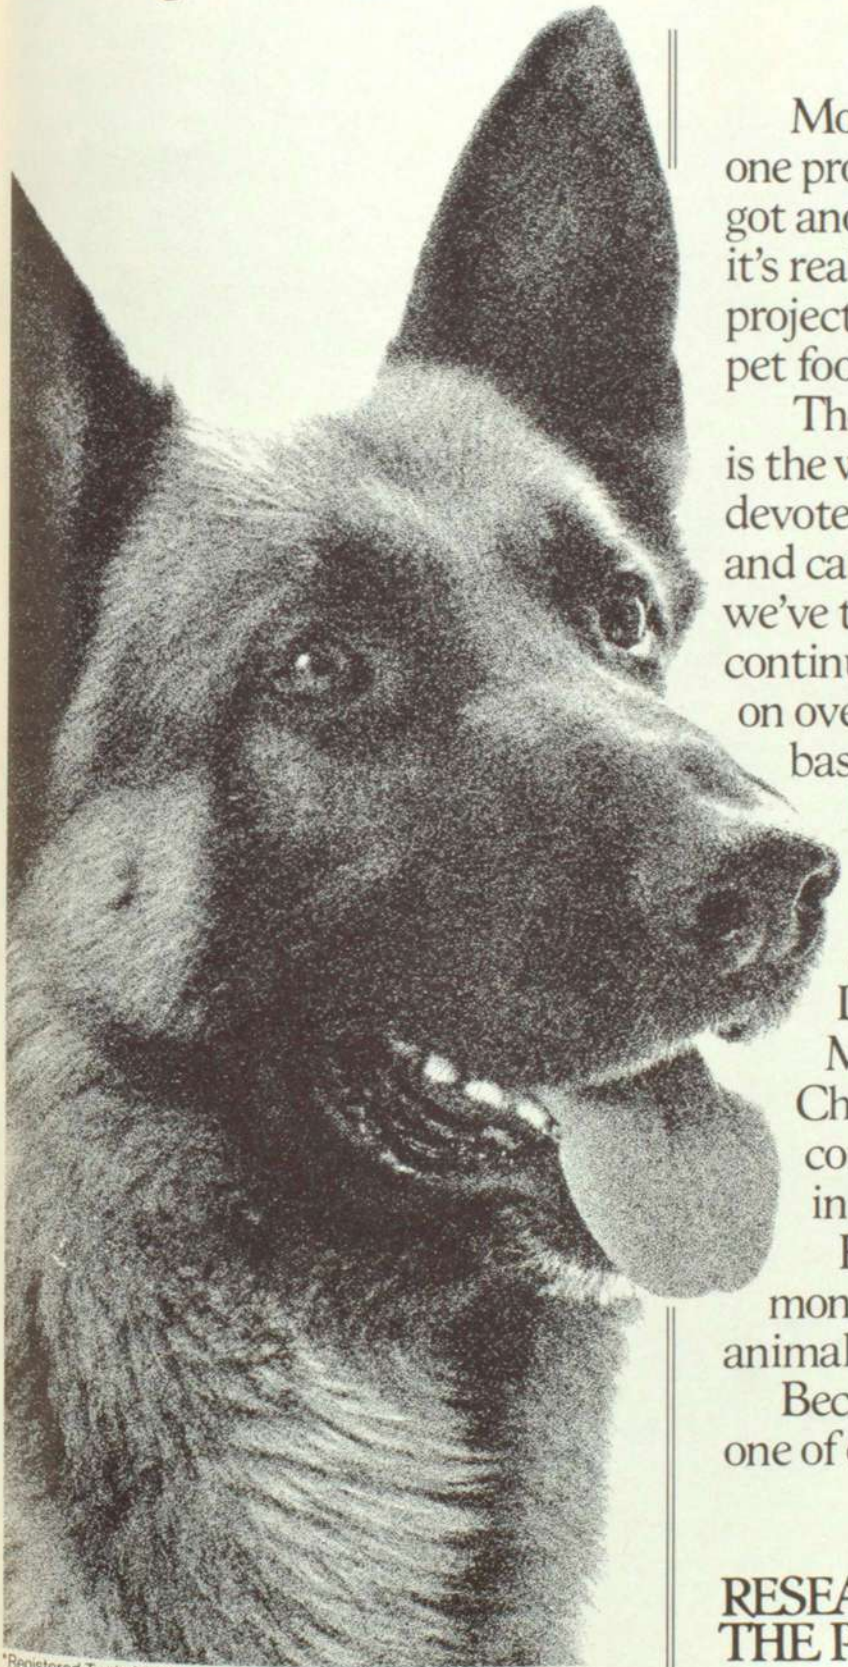

These and other sidelights made the kennel experience an interesting one for Sarah. But today, her chief commitmen is to the CKC Board of Directors. Durin her terms of office she has served on th Chapter 7, Registration, and Breed Stan dards Committees; she has been a membe of the Liaison Committee to Dogs i Canada as well as sitting on numerou special committees. She has been chair man of the Dog Show Council and, cur rently, is chairman of the Stud Boo Committee. She reports that she is ver pleased that the investigative work com pleted so far gives promise of the publica tion of a Stud Book in the near future.

There has been a vast increase in th number of people interested in purebre dogs as a hobby during the past ten years This is true especially in the Province o Quebec. Mrs. Diamond believes that thi involvement can only work for the goo of the fancy. She is strongly in favour o the Club taking an active role in th education of the general public regardin the purchase and care of the dogs the buy, not only in her province but in a parts of Canada. Like many, she is con cerned about the number of importe purebreds destined for pet shops, but say that she sees nothing that the Club can d legislation-wise regarding import restric tions. She points out that when the Clu presented an amendment to this effect th Minister of Agriculture refused to sign because such an amendment would be i restraint of free trade. The answer, sh believes, is a vigorous CKC sponsore program of public education. Until, an unless, such a program is adopted she see no hope that the present situation will im prove.

Such outspoken comment does no always find favour in all quarters. But o one point even her critics are in agree ment. Mrs. Diamond is a dedicated, har working and intelligent person who bring a strong voice on behalf of her consti tuents to the Board of the CKC. Con sistently she has placed the will of the ma jority ahead of her personal ambitions.

ONE OF PURINA'S PET PROJECTS:

RESEARCH.

Most people know us for one project—pet food. But we've got another—research. And it's really our most important project, because without it no pet food can be complete.

The Purina Pet Care Centre is the world's largest facility devoted entirely to pet nutrition and care research. Since 1926 we've tested the effects of our continuously improved products on over 18,000 dogs in studies based on palatibility, growth, breeding, digestion and maintenance.

That's why we can state that Purina* Dog Chow,* Purina Dog Meal and Purina Puppy Chow dog foods deliver complete, balanced nutrition in flavours dogs like.

Research. We invest more money on it than any other animal food manufacturer.

Because your pet's health is one of our pet projects.

RESEARCH.* THE PURINA DIFFERENCE.

Before you buy another bag of dry puppy food, remember who has to eat it.

This is hard and dry.	This is soft, moist and meaty tasting

A puppy is really just like a baby. Now, you wouldn't give a baby hard, dry food. So why give hard, dry food to a puppy? Especially when there's Gaines* Puppy Choice.*

Unlike dry puppy food, Gaines Puppy Choice is soft and moist and has the meaty taste puppies just love. It's also easy to digest, and has all the special nutrition a growing puppy needs.

So instead of picking up a bag of hard, dry puppy food, pick up a box of Gaines Puppy Choice Food for Puppies. Your baby will love you for it.

Think of it as baby food for puppies.
