In the proposed standard published hereunder the changes recommended by the Committee in the standard published last September are indicated in ITALIC type.

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE: The Maltese is of spaniel origin, and has been a household pet for many centuries.

— GENERAL APPEARANCE: Should suggest a vigorous, well proportioned body with a mantle of long white straight coat hanging evenly down each side.

— TEMPERAMENT: The maltese is among the gentlest mannered of all little dogs. They are intelligent, vigorous, very affectionate and seemingly fearless. Aggressive behaviour towards judge, handlers and other dogs is to be severely penalized.

— SIZE: Weight under 7 lbs. with from 4 to 6 lbs. preferred. Not to exceed 10" at the shoulder.

— COAT AND COLOUR: Should be of good length, but not so as to impede action. The coat is single, that is, with no undercoat. It hangs flat, straight and silky on either side of the centre part, which should run from tip of nose to tip of tail. The texture should be even throughout with no suggestion of woolliness, curliness or cosmetic alteration. The long head hair may be tied up in a single topknot or divided into two. The colour is PURE white but lemon markings on puppies should not be penalized.

HEAD AND SKULL: Head in proportion to the size of the dog. From stop to centre of the skull (centre being between forepart of the ears) and stop to tip of the nose should be equally balanced. The skull is slightly rounded, rather broad between the ears and moderately well defined at the temples. The stop is moderate. The muzzle is fine and slightly tapered, but not snipey, with a good firm underjaw. The nose is small, black and in balance with the size of the eyes. Teeth may meet in an even edge to edge bite or in a scissors bite. The lips should be black.

EYES: Should be dark brown with black everims. Halos of pigmentation around the eyes give a more beautiful expression. The shape is not quite round but not almond shaped, and their size should be in proportion to the size of the face, there should be no

NOTICE

SUBJECT: The Standard for the Schipperke.

For the benefit of those exhibitors, judges, and clubs who may be under a misunderstanding as to the current C.K.C. standard for the Schipperke, we publish the C.K.C. standard for the Schipperke which became effective on September 1, 1977.

Schipperke

Origin and Purpose – The Schipperke is thought to have originated in the Flemish province of Belgium from the native black sheepdogs now believed to be extinct, the Leauvenaar, from which the Groenendael Belgian Sheepdog has also probably evolved. The Schipperke may lay claim to being one of the oldest purebreds in Europe, for in 1690 a show for the Schipperkes of the Guild workmen was held in the Grand Place of Brussels. The Schipperke is an excellent and faithful little watchdog, a hunter of moles and other vermin. He seeks the company of horses, can be used to hunt, and is a good rabbit dog.

General Appearance – The Schipperke should have a short, thickset, cobby body with hind-quarters slightly lighter than the foreparts. The head is foxlike and the expression is questioning, sharp and lively, not mean or wild. The distinctive black coat, ruff and tailess rump give a unique silhouette to this small dog.

Temperament – The Schipperke is active, agile, indefatigable and continually occupied with what is going on around him, careful of things that are given him to guard, very kind with children, and suspicious of strangers. He knows the ways of the household, is always curious to what is going on behind closed doors, or about any object that has been moved, betraying his impressions by his sharp bark and upstanding ruff.

Size – 5.443 kilos to 8.165 kilos.

Coat and Color – The coat must be black, abundant and slightly harsh to the touch, short on the ears, front of the legs and on the hocks, fairly short on the body, but longer around the neck, beginning back of the ears and forming a ruff and cape which give the appearance of the withers being higher than the hindquarters, and a jabot extending down between the front legs. The coat is longer on the rear where it forms a culotte, the points turning inward. The undercoat is dense and short on the body, very dense around the neck making the ruff stand out. The culotte should be as long as the ruff.

Head

Skull – fairly wide, narrowing at the eyes, when the ears are up in the alert position, the correct skull in profile will appear flat.

Muzzle – tapering, not too much stop. The length of the muzzle from tip to stop is equal to the length of the skull from the stop to the occiput.

Nose – small and black.

Mouth – teeth strong and even, a level or scissors bite is acceptable.

Ears – very erect, small, triangular, placed high, strong enough not to be capable of being lowered except in line with the body.

Neck – Strong and full, slightly arched.

Body

Forequarters

Chest – broad and deep in the brisket, ribs well sprung, broad behind the shoulders.

Shoulder – muscular and sloping.

Legs – straight, well under the body, with bone in proportion to the body.

Pasterns – straight.

Back – strong, short, straight and level.

Loin – muscular and well drawn up from the brisket but not to such an extent as to cause a weak and leggy appearance of the hindquarters.

Hindquarters – lighter than the foreparts but muscular and powerful.

Croup – slightly sloping, rump well rounded.

Thighs – muscular and powerful.

Metatarsus – short.

Tail – Docked to no more than 2.54 cm in length.

Feet – Small, round and tight (not splayed), nails straight, strong, and short.

Gait – Unrestricted, free and vigorous. The Schipperke is tireless and quick to move in any direction. In a correctly proportioned and angulated Schipperke at a trot, the feet and legs converge as seen from the front or the rear, and each hind foot falls on or ahead of the print of the forefoot.

Disqualifications – Any colour other than solid black, drop or semi-erect ears, overshot or undershot mouth.

suggestion of bulging or prominence and the expression should be gentle but very alert.

EARS: Should be low set, the hair long and well feathered and hanging close to the side of the head, the hair to be mingled with the coat at the neck and shoulders.

NECK: Of sufficient length and proportion to the body to give a high carriage of head.

FOREQUARTERS: The shoulder blades are sloping at an approximate 45 degree angle, elbows are well knit and held close to the body. Forelegs are straight, their pastern joints well knit and devoid of appreciable bend. The feet should be round and small. Pads of the feet are black. The hair around the feet may be trimmed to give a neater appearance.

BODY: Should be in every way well balanced. Essentially short and cobby — the height from the withers to the ground to equal the length from the withers to the root of the tail. The topline should be straight from the tip of the shoulders to the root of the tail. Ribs should be well sprung, chest fairly deep, at least to the elbows, the loins taut, strong and well tucked up underneath.

HINDQUARTERS: Legs are fine boned and nicely feathered. Hind legs are strong and moderately angulated at the stifles and hock. The hock is straight, turning neither in nor out.

TAIL: Is set high and should be long haired and carried well arched over the back with the tip resting on the hind quarter on either side.

GAIT: The gait should be smooth and flowing without extended weaving. In stride the forelegs reach forward, straight and free from the shoulders, elbows close. NOTICE

SUBJECT: Proposed amendments to the Dog Show Rules.

Notice is hereby given that at its semi-annual meeting in Septembe the Board of Directors will decide whether approval should be given to proposed amendments to the Dog Show Rules set forth hereunder.

All interested persons and clubs are invited to submit comments with regard to any or all of these proposed amendments. Letters of comment are to be addressed to the Secretary-Treasurer, The Canadian Kennel Club, 2150 Bloor St. W., Toronto, Ont. M6S 4V7, so as to be received no later than July 31st, 1979.

When writing please identify by number(s) the particular proposed amendment(s) about which you are writing.

Please note: Group petitions will not be considered.

(1) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 20, Section 2, of the Dog Show Rules, be amended by the addition of the following:

"Specifically prohibited is the wearing in the judging ring of any pin, ring, or other insignia which identifies the wearer as a professional handler and or as a member of a professional handlers association. Failure to comply with this rule will result in disciplinary action by the Board."

(2) IT IS PROPOSED THAT: Chapter 4, Section 3, of the Dog Show Rules, be amended by deleting the provision for the awards of Best Canadian-bred and Best Canadian-bred Puppy at the breed, group, and show level at ALL-BREED championship shows, and by substituting provision for the award of Best Puppy to be mandatory at the breed, group, and show level at all-breed championship shows.

(NOTE: This proposal does not contemplate any change in the present rules which permits a specialty club to provide for the award of Best Canadian-bred at its specialty show, and a specialty club would continue to have the choice of offering the award of Best Canadian-bred Puppy or Best Puppy at its specialty show. Note also that this proposal does not contemplate any change in the present rules which requires provision for a show classification for the Canadian-bred Class to be offered at all-breed and specialty championship shows.)

Pacific action

By John and Stella Loftus

We would like to take the opportunity to announce two forthcoming events which we feel should be of great benefit and interest to all breeders of purebred dogs:

Symposium — "Anatomy of Movement", sponsored by the Fraser Valley Dog Fanciers as part of their continuing educational program on April 28 and 29 in the Queen Elizabeth Sr. Secondary School, Surrey. The panel will consist of Dr. Quentin La Ham and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis M. Brown. This might well be termed a 'must' for those wishing to increase their knowledge of canine structure.

Symposium — The Second Canadian Symposium on Pets and Society is being held at the Hyatt Regency, Vancouver, May 30 — June 1. The theme is 'Proper People and Proper Pets'. Leading experts from across North America will address the delegates under the major headings of 'The Pet and its Relationship to the Family', 'Pets and the Neighbourhood', and 'Pets and the Municipality'. Registration fee is $75.00 which includes all coffee breaks, luncheons, a dinner and a copy of the proceedings. Presented by the Canadian Veterinary Medical Association and the Canadian Federation of Humane Societies, it is sponsored by Dr. Ballard's Pet Food Division of Standard Brands Food Company. This should prove to be of considerable value to all breeders, since pets and society are an emerging municipal issue across the country and rapidly becoming more of a public issue. Those wishing more information are asked to contact: Second Canadian Symposium On Pets and Society, Suite 1200, 615 Dorchester Blvd. W., Montreal, Que. H3B 9Z9.

Report — The BC Cocker Spaniel Club Specialty Show for American and English Cocker Spaniels took place on April 8. It was a pleasant, well-organized and relaxing event with 74 entries. Judge was Miss Barbara J. McCormick of Sylmar, Calif. American Cocker BB was awarded to Kaplar's Krackshot, owned by Judith D. Weisbeck, Enumclaw, Wash. English Cocker BB went to Ch. Ranzfel Newsflash, owned by Virginia L. Lyne, Sydney, B.C.

Congratulations to: Harold and Wendy Baker, Edmonton, on the BIS award to their English Cocker, Ch. (Can. & Am.) Ranzfel Night Cap of Harwen at the March Sportsmen's Show. This is a litter brother to the aforementioned Newsflash ... New owner, Doug. MacFarlane, Lahabra, Calif., whose English Cocker, Ranzfel-U-Know-It, took WD and BW for a 5-pt. major at the recent Kern County Kennel Club show at Bakersfield, Calif. ... Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Victoria, and her Golden Retriever, Ch. Orion of Alderbrooke, Am. & Can. CD, CDX on the completion of his American title with a BB at the show in Corvallis, Oregon on March 10.

Correction — In the March issue the caption under the picture of the members of the Western Canada Kerry Blue Terrier Club should have read Mrs. Phonnie Minet. Our apologies to Mrs. Minet.

Crufts 1979 — For those readers who may not have heard, the show moved to a new locale this year, the Earls Court Exhibition Bldg., with 32 rings for show and an extremely large area set aside for obedience. It is reported that attendance was extremely heavy but quite orderly. Supreme Champion (Best in Show) was awarded to the Kerry Blue Terrier, Ch. (Am. & Eng.) Callaghan of Leander. Reserve Best in Show went to the Smooth Coat Chihuahua, Eng Ch. Belmuriz Brevier.

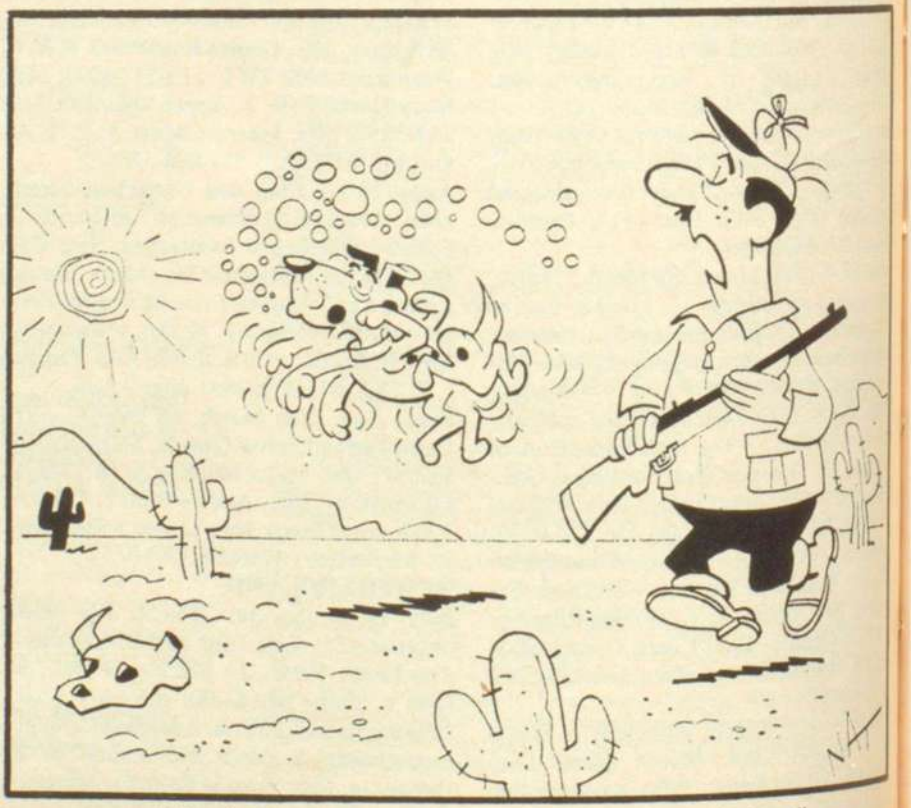

How About That!! — It would appear that we shall soon be able to form the B.C. Chapter of the Ottawa Kennel Club with the following members now pretty well settled in these parts: Heather Alexander, Patricia Anderson, Sally and Bob Avery and family, Diane and Lorne Gignac and family, Helen Lovett, Isline, Eric and Susan Sadler, Alison Strang. Now word has it that we can probably add to the list with the proposed move to this area of Joy and Stewart Picozzi and family with their Uptondean Westies. Perhaps it is the moderate climate, the hospitable people and the gracious living out here that are the main attractions! As a matter of fact, from our standpoint, the combination could not be better.

Gentle Reminders — To those of us out here in Pacific Action country, take heed of the coming events and mark your calendar: Western Canada Pekingese Club — Specialty — June 23; B.C. All Terrier Club — Specialty (Terriers) — June 28; Lions Gate Kennel Club of B.C. — all breed shows — June 29 and 30.

In closing, we should like to express our sincere appreciation to those who have submitted items of interest. We welcome news concerning American wins, U.S. judging assignments, births, deaths, the sick, etc.

Until next month, may all your efforts exact a fair measure of success.

News? Contact John and Stella Loftus, Apt. 62, 2212 Folkestone Way, West Vancouver, B.C. V7S 2X7.

Dogs West

BY FRED EDGE

Without exaggeration, it must be considered the foremost annual community showcase for dogs in North America.

It is called Dogs in Action, and it went into its third year the last week in April at Winnipeg's Polo Park Shopping Centre — the largest in mid-western Canada.

For six days, the public saw almost all of the 140 or so breeds and varieties recognized by The Canadian Kennel Club, as good friends and neighbours, in show, obedience, indoor field trial and special displays, from noon to 2:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to closing.

Conceived and co-ordinated by Elaine Vande Vyvere — assisted this year by co-ordinator Pam Parisian — Dogs in Action was so successful its first two years that dog clubs in various other cities in Canada and the United States have sent observers, with an eye to setting up something similar.

Polo Park executives describe it as their most popular Mall presentation, with some 250,000 persons visiting the booths and taking in the events and displays over its six-day run.

The full schedule of Dogs in Action is too extensive to go into here (interested clubs should write Elaine Vande Vyvere, 14 Kenwood Place, St. Vital, Man. R2M 1Y3), but a highlight of opening day is the ceremonial awarding of plaques to dog people and dogs who have performed special services over the year or years.

My favourite award this year was to a woman named Marg Agland, who breeds and shows Weimaraners, "for being a true friend to lost, abandoned and injured animals" over a great number of years.

Marg Agland.

Marg Agland seems to act almost as a magnet to dogs and cats in trouble — or they to her.

I don't know how many instances I have heard of where she has found a dog by the roadside, or a dog or cat has walked up to and practically knocked on her front door, and she has taken the animal in, had it cared for by a vet, personally paid for its treatment and shots, and found a home for it.

Diane Rosvold, secretary of the Northern Alberta Setter Association, sent me the last two copies of their newsletter — The NASA News — edited by Kathy Hawker, South Edmonton.

"NASA is western Canada's newest trisetter club," Ms. Rosvold wrote, "formed in August, 1978. Our present membership of 63 includes people from all over the province of Alberta and is expanding into other provinces."

The club's first specialty will take place September 21, under judge Roy Jerome, Setter specialist from California, the day preceding the two days of Edmonton Kennel Club shows and trials.

NASA members are looking for a big turnout ("The best in the west — or all Canada, for that matter!") and request that Setter people interested in their specialty contact Ms. Rosvold at 8415 — 176A St., Edmonton.

The new Director of Nursing at Whitehorse General Hospital arrived with six beautiful Bearded Collies, including three champions — bringing to a total of seven the number of Bearded Collies in the Yukon.

She is Gail Slessor, and she is a former member of the Fort Garry Kennel Club, Winnipeg.

Ms. Slessor is looking forward to this month's three days of shows in Whitehorse, June 15, 16 and 17, sponsored by the Yukon Kennel Club, where they no doubt will have their biggest entry of Beardies ever.

David Helgesen, president of the Rhodesian Ridgeback Club of Western Canada, Whonnock, B.C., has been elected to the board of the Rhodesian Ridgeback Club of the United States — only the second time that a Canadian has held office in the American club.

There is a very amusing article in my most recent issue of the Thunder Bay (Ont.) Kennel and Training Club newsletter, by Corey Ford, titled: Every Dog Should Own A Man.

"Every dog should have a man of his own (it begins). There is nothing like a well-behaved person around the house to spread the dog's blanket for him, or bring him his supper when he comes home man-tired at night.

"For example, I happen to belong to an English Setter who acquired me when he was about six months old and has been training me quite successfully ever since. He has taught me to shake hands with him and throw a ball for him to fetch. I've learned not to tug at the leash when he takes me for a walk; I am completely housebroken, and I make a devoted companion . . . . . "

On the subject of newsletters, since I receive a great number of them every month from clubs throughout the west, I would like to make the point that they are, without exception, exceptionally well done.

Some are more elaborately produced than others, but all of them show the results of a great deal of thought and effort — and, most of all, great love for dogs — and I wish to congratulate the editors of, and contributors to, these print voices of dog people and their dogs.

I also wish to express my appreciation to the clubs who send me copies of their newsletter. Due to limitations of space, I can't always draw from each one for this column, but I do read and thoroughly enjoy them, and when an item appears of general western interest, you can be assured that it will turn up in Dogs West.

Readers are invited to send their western news to Fred Edge, The Croft at River Hills, River Hills, Manitoba R0E 1T0.

Atlantic action

Oops! I've got to start this month with a series of apologies for a few blunders I made earlier in the year. First of all, I apologize to the Miramichi Club in Chatham, N.B. for saying that they were holding shows in April, which they are not. It seems I got my Chathams mixed up because it is the Kent Club in Chatham, Ont. who hold their shows in April. So, by way of penance we'll salute the Miramichi Club, whose shows are on the 5-6-7 and 8th of July, and remind them that "to err is human . . . ."

Truro's 'Show Spectacular' will be held again this year in October, although I was chastised for calling this event the 'Show of Shows' (which is the name of the show in Ottawa). I'll stand by it because in our area it is the show of shows.

Two rather important meetings were held during the Cobequid club's shows of March 24 and 25. The first was held to discuss possible interest in forming or establishing a tracking club in the Maritimes. As I noted in an earlier issue, Maritimers have to go to Quebec and Ontario in order to get a TD certificate, and a number of tracking enthusiasts are now hoping to bring at least one trial or seminar to the area. It was suggested at the meeting that a tracking club be incorporated into a schutzhund club, since tracking is an integral part of schutzhund training. Unfortunately, because the meeting was held during the show, attendance was small. Anyone interested in helping to organize such a club can contact Pat Wellings at R.R. 1, Brookfield, Colchester Co., N.S.

The second meeting will be of more concern to the Nova Scotia clubs. It concerned the organization of a federation of dog clubs (Nova Scotia) associated with Sport Nova Scotia. I feel that our friends in the daily press jumped the gun a bit when they reported that the meeting would be held "to organize a federation . . ." Blois Boyd, organizer of the meeting, stated that it was being held simply to gauge the interest and reaction of the kennel clubs in the province. Representatives of the clubs in attendance will report the intentions of the proposed federation to the members of their own club and gather an initial reaction to the proposal. According to Flora MacKenzie, CKC director for Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, the idea of federating the Scotian clubs has been in the works for some time and a steering committee has been formed. Apparently the CKC has been considering initiating a ruling that will limit clubs to only one show per year, according to sources, and if so that rule may well be the death of several small Maritime clubs. However, there's little need for clubs to panic, at this time as 1982 has been set as the date for bringing in the ruling. If you have anything to say on the matter, get in touch with your CKC representative. I'm sure both Maritime CKC directors would appreciate some input.

Interest in training Newfoundland dogs in water skills etc., has been growing for some time in the region. There have been a few water trials held in Maine in the past, and now Canadian enthusiasts are hoping to organize such an event. It's encouraging to note that breeders and owners are becoming concerned that their breeds (in Group 3 especially) should not lose their ability to carry out the tasks for which they were originally bred. Perhaps, if enough concerned enthusiasts get involved they can turn the tide of 'Fad-ism' that has threatened the working instincts of so many breeds in groups 1, 2, 3 and 4. Interested breeders and owners can contact the press

Martha Covington Thorne

Of all the terms we do battle with in classes and clinics, SIDEWINDING and PACING seem to cause the most trouble, so let's meet the enemies head on and slay them.

This is no place to go into breeding and bloodlines which might be responsible for these faults. We are simply going to discuss minimizing these problems in the show ring.

Pacing

In the ring a dog should travel at a trot. This two-beat gait requires the dog to lift the right forefoot and the left hind foot, followed by the left forefoot and the right hind foot. If you look directly down on a dog in a strong trot, the skin moves diagonally right to left, left to right, over and over.

Sometimes caused by structural imbalance, sometimes by laziness or weariness, the pace is a four-beat gait which sees both legs on the same side of the dog moving simultaneously. When looking down on the dog you will see his back wobble from side to side.

It is alarming how many experienced handlers either cannot tell when a dog is pacing or, if they can, have no idea how to correct the fault. If you have a hunch all is not well, have someone else gait the dog until you can clearly determine when the dog is trotting and when he is pacing. Next, practice with the animal until you can tell what he's doing when you, yourself, are gaiting him. When you can, you're half way home free!

The ring is no place to take chances on your dog's pacing, for once he's goofed he's a dead duck. It is most important that you start the dog fast. Start off with a tight leash over the dog's head literally picking him up and throwing him into a fast trot. Even if he breaks into a gallop, don't slow your own rate of speed, but snap back on the leash and use your voice until the dog is trotting. Believe me when I say that a gallumph or two is more forgivable in a judge's eyes than six feet of pacing! Once the dog is trotting well, loosen the leash just a bit and keep encouraging the dog vocally. Finally, regardless of whether or not you wind up between the dog and the judge, NEVER CHANGE SIDES with a dog prone to pace! Any such change gives this kind of dog the excuse he needs to slip back into the no-no gait.

Sidewinding

This method of movement sees the dog going along with his head close to his handler's side and his rear section swung away across the mat. The crab-like nature of his progress causes this fault to also be referred to as crabbing.

While sidewinding is sometimes structural, I have found that in eight cases out of ten it is merely a matter of bad handling. Puppies and young dogs leash broken by stringing them up so that they can hardly breathe, soon learn to make themselves as comfortable as possible by keeping as much of themselves as possible away from the tormentor. Solution number one is obvious — loosen that leash!

The second step is to change the dog to your right side; the unfamiliarity of being on the 'wrong' side will sometimes cause a dog to straighten up and fly right. Each time your dog starts thinking about crabbing, change sides again and keep that leash loose! If this fails, practice gaiting with the dog between you and a wall or fence. If the dog should start to get ahead of you, don't jerk on that leash! Speed up enough to keep slightly in front of the animal and try to slow him down using a change of voice tone.

Ideally, the idea is to wind up moving a bit ahead of any dog so that as he looks at you or for you, he is looking straight ahead. If his head is straight, chances are good that his body will follow his head. Dogs that watch their handlers as they move are beguiling, but if they have to turn and look over their shoulders to find their handlers, they will also sidewind.

Pacing or sidewinding — it's all a matter of practice to offset these shortcomings. They can be offset and conquered if you admit the problem and face it squarely. Never mind what everyone else is doing. Concentrate on your own dog and his particular problems and let the rest of the world go by.

Obedience

By Jake Giacomelli

Recently, at obedience get togethers with some of our Western Canadian exhibitors in two different cities, I brought up the subject of our dogs having to jump only once the height at the withers instead of once and a half. If there were any dissenters, they didn't make themselves known. In fact, most were enthusiastic about the idea. I just hope that if, in due time, we can get enough people interested in this subject to speak out on it the CKC may consider it as worthy of consideration and possible action in this direction. I just hope it's not an 'unreachable star' situation.

While packing my briefcase, I noticed that one of the persons who had attended the Seminar had left a signed letter, giving her views on the subject. She mentioned points I hadn't even thought of. Here is an excerpt from it: "I know of a UD Sheltie who broke a bone in her foreleg taking a regulation size jump; thereby ending her career. Many shows are held on cement and animals are not built to take off and land on inflexible surfaces (even those which are conformationally correct). Show horses and human track competitors are never worked on cement unless there is a deep footing of sawdust or other springy surface on top." And to top it all off, most of our Canadian obedience trials are of the indoor variety and the floor surfaces, besides being very inflexible, are in many cases very slippery.

The previous article discussing jumping heights appeared in last month's Dogs, so by the time I receive replies (if any), and allowing printer's time requirements, it'll probably be a September article before I can get back to you with a summary of the response on this subject.

The more I think of it, I know of no better gift that we, as obedience exhibitors, can give to future (as well as present) generations of obedience dogs than the gift of having to jump once the height at the withers, or 30 inches, whichever is less. Why 30 inches, instead of 36 inches? It's only a personal opinion, of course, but I've noticed that of the breeds that are eligible to jump once the height at the withers, or 36 inches, whichever is less, there are some who are actually higher than 36 inches at the withers, and when they come down from doing the maximum of 36 inches they seem to land terribly hard, and who knows what damage occurs. Let's try and make it easier for all breeds!

Ever hear the one about the lovely young lady who wanted to sneak her dog on board with her in the train at Waterloo Station? Well, anyway, she packed her dog in a small ventilated suitcase and when she entered her berth on the train she placed the suitcase in the baggage rack opposite from where she was sitting, under which sat a debonair British officer. The young officer, upon seeing this attractive female passenger, tried (but to no avail) to strike up an acquaintance. However, as the train rolled along, a sudden yellow stream started to dribble from the young lady's suitcase on to the officer's uniform. Seeing his opportunity to break the ice with the young lady, and in the manner of a man who's been around in his time, he let some of the yellow liquid fall on his fingers and after tasting it, addressed his remarks to the young woman: "Haig and Haig, 1958, I believe?" The gal looked up with a haughty look and replied, "Sorry, Airedale, '79!"

In closing, please don't be apathetic on this subject. Write in, let me know how you feel on this important issue. It's not a case of babying or diminishing the quality of our dogs — it's a question of being a little more considerate in what we do to them in the name of our sport.

Jake Giacomelli welcomes your comments and queries. Write him at 51 Wardrope Street S., Stoney Creek, Ontario L8G 1S3.

Breeder's viewpoint

By Ariel Sleeth

Anyone who has been breeding dogs for any length of time has encountered that feeling of utter futility when a special, long-awaited litter runs into trouble and the puppies die one by one. Often a commonsense approach to good puppy management can prevent a problem and this is the most successful approach when dealing with neo-natal puppies. Remember, bitches have been raising their young for years without our help and seem to do better when we do not interfere with the natural process too much. There is usually a reason, that we are unaware of at the time, for a bitch rejecting a particular puppy and although we may prolong his life, we cannot save it.

The first four weeks of the puppy's life requires knowing supervision, especially at the critical times in his development, but not interference unless warranted. The following three weeks are in preparation for standing on his own four feet. This month, however, we will concentrate on the first week of the puppy's life as this is the period when most neo-natal deaths occur. There will never be another week in your dog's life as critical as this one.

We begin after the litter has been whelped and the dam made comfortable with her babies. The area should be draft free and warm, but not so warm as to cause the bitch discomfort. A temperature of 70° is ideal for healthy puppies and the location should be isolated from visitors and onlookers. A heating pad under a portion of the whelping box keeps the puppies comfortable for the first 24 hours, unless the puppies are weak, but we prefer that the pups look to their mother for heat, snuggling in and nursing. When the mother is outside for exercise, healthy puppies will pack, lie in a heap, not scattered all over the whelping area indicating a problem is developing. If you know how healthy puppies behave and develop you will be quick to recognize a deviation from the norm indicating a problem.

Each puppy should be thoroughly examined and weighed and a record begun. The puppies will be weighed daily for at least two weeks and if there is a failure to gain each day you will be alerted.

THE FIRST DAY it is important to check the umbilical cord and cut it to about ½" with sterilized scissors. Swab the area around the cord with iodine or alcohol. Check the puppies frequently to be sure they are actually sucking and not just snuggled close to the mother. Record those that have nursed and give assistance to the others to get them started. After 12 hours, if some have not nursed, you should give them glucose or sugar and water (mixed 1 tsp. sugar to 1 tsp. water) to keep the blood sugar up. A low blood sugar will result in lack of strength and convulsions in young puppies.

Not too long ago I was a believer in using tube feeding if the puppy did not nurse within a few hours after birth. Now I do not interfere until after 24 hours, allowing the puppy to get hungry enough to nurse from his mother. Since waiting and helping the puppy, the natural way, I cannot recall having to tube feed any puppies.

THE SECOND DAY weigh and record the puppies' weights. The umbilical cord should again be swabbed and you will be able to tell by the feel of the pups if they are nursing and doing well. They should be round and firm and fully packed. If some are not, again try to help them nurse from the mother, give them some glucose with the tube and if all fails, tube with Esbilac. Usually the mother is more active today and there may be some danger, especially in the larger breeds, of a puppy being crushed. Check frequently and keep things quiet.

THE THIRD DAY is an important one, as in normal puppies the umbilical cords will have fallen off and the area will be smooth and healed. If you have a puppy that's not gaining, you will probably find the cord still attached. Before it becomes infected, swab again and apply an antibiotic ointment to soften and help the cord to disconnect. If all is going well, this is the time to remove dew claws if that is desirable in your breed.

The rest of the week is usually quiet, requiring only a watchful eye. There are a few do's and don'ts if a problem should occur. If you have a crying puppy — DO NOT FEED MILK. Keep warm and quiet and give glucose when crying stops. Can be returned to mother when active. DO NOT FEED A COLD PUPPY, he cannot digest the food but can absorb the glucose.

The first week over, you are halfway there. That is this breeder's viewpoint.

Hunting dogs

By Gord McIntyre

(Last in a series)

Should fanciers decide to form a national club of their CKC hunting breed in order to preserve and enhance its breed integrity, they'll have to take a long and searching look at their breed's conformation standard; how judges now interpret it in the show ring, and the CKC rules under which their dogs are presently trialed or tested. In certain still-popular hunting breeds like Beagles, Labradors and English Springers, this is bound to generate much debate; less so in the continental pointing breeds.

Conformation Standard

By way of example, let's pick on the Labrador. What is the ideal conformation for a dog of this super breed, hunted under varying Canadian conditions? Should it have the short-coupled and powerful lines of present show Labs; the chiselled, lean and rangy muscularity of many of today's field trial athletes, or some in-between compromise?

Each of these two types of Labs is a thing of beauty to certain show and trial fanciers, but is it the best-built Lab for Canadian hunting conditions? If show, trial and hunting Labrador enthusiasts can't agree on a single Canadian Lab conformation standard, then they obviously care nothing about preserving and enhancing their breed's integrity, and are willing to see this magnificent breed split into two or three inferior subspecies. And scratch another fine hunting breed — destroyed by the breed-blind, narrow and selfish interests of extremists in the ranks of trialers and show people.

No Lab fan will want any changes made to his breed's coat or otter tail, but size . . .? Should minimum and maximum height and weight standards be set? And what do Lab folk make of famed, Oklahoma hunting dog trainer, Delmar Smith's, statement to me, "Yuh want a real Lab, yuh gotta go to England. We've messed the breed up over here?"

He went to England recently, and returned with two yellow Labs, a gift from the Queen's kennels. Can his views on North American Labradors be dismissed or ignored out-of-hand?

Judging Standards

A national hunting breed club to which CKC is necessarily responsive, must insist that judges never fault any dog in lean, fit, muscled hunting condition, nor any long-haired hunting dog whose coat shows the result of many hard hours of field work.

Since only a miniscule minority of show judges have ever hunted or trialed, most will have to be educated to ignore their present prejudices toward fat show dogs, and ones with marvellously groomed coats that never saw briars or burrs.

Many Group I and all breed judges would be delighted to judge a breed specialty held in conjunction with a CKC field trial or test. And most would welcome the opportunity to see and learn about hunting dogs that can still hack-it in the field. However, in the case of badly show-trial split breeds, expect any judge worthy of that name to withhold ribbons.

Since the average hunting dog doubles as a year-round pet, show judges should be highly critical in their assessment of temperament. Equal or even greater stress should be placed on the dog's gait in the ring.

Sadly, too few judges have sufficient knowledge to translate the gait they see in the ring, to the dog's movement in the hunting field. Else why do so many put up dogs that would quickly tire while hunting, or trip over their own front feet when running full-out? A judge who knows the proper gait for your breed, is one to show under.

While running the retrieving event at a big "Sportsmen's Waterfowl Day", a competing Weimaraner caught my eye. I said to its owner, "That dog is a shoo-in for its show championship."

"He has it," was the reply. "Funny thing though . . . he didn't win and he didn't win . . . then zip-zip, bang-bang, he finished fast."

"You won when you started showing him under American judges," I stated — not asked.

"How did you know that?" he queried with some astonishment, and the small crowd around wide-eyed me.

That was three years ago. Hopefully I'd be wrong if I made such a statement today.

Field Trials and Tests

These were originally intended to test dogs' field performance under actual or simulated hunting conditions. Those of the spaniel and pointing breeds, and Beagle hare trials, do this at least reasonably well. Beagle brace trials on cottontails and retriever trials — don't.

Half hour Beagle brace trials test only hunting desire and that undefinable thing called 'nose' — not stamina. Consequently there are heavy-bodied, short-legged, bowed-fronted, cow-hocked, barrel-chested aberrations of Beagles sporting F.T. Ch

Your dog's health

By Dr. Martin DeForest

QUESTION: What is known about demodectic and sarcoptic mange infections in dogs?

ANSWER: Demodectic mange (also known as 'follicular mange', 'red mange', and demodicosis) is an inflammatory skin disease of young dogs characterized by the presence of larger than normal numbers of demodectic mites, a microscopic external parasite. It is a disease believed to be associated with an immunodeficiency state wherein the animal's immune defence mechanism is not functioning adequately.

The mite, Demodex canis, is a normal inhabitant of canine skin. It is present in very small numbers in most healthy dogs. When conditions in the animal favour reproduction and growth of the mites, hair loss (alopecia) and reddening of the skin (erythema) result. This disease state is referred to as demodicosis. The condition can be either localized or generalized in distribution, which drastically alters the prognosis for recovery. The localized form carries a much more favourable prognosis.

Almost exclusively, this is a disease of young dogs between the ages of three and 12 months. When the disease is seen in adults, it usually has been present since their youth. Originally, it was believed to be a condition which primarily affected the short-haired breeds, but we now know that any breed can be affected. Puppies with this condition acquire mites from their dam while nursing. There is believed to be an hereditary predisposition to developing the disease. Some breeders can even predict which litters are likely to be a problem.

The skin lesions and course of the disease vary with the type (i.e. localized vs. generalized infection). With the localized form, a patch of skin develops mild reddening and partial hairloss. The area may also develop fine silvery scales. Itchiness (pruritis) is usually not present. Most common sites are the face (especially around the eyes and lips) and on the front legs. Many of these cases will heal without treatment but in some animals, it will progress to the more generalized form of the disease.

Generalized demodicosis is one of the most severe canine skin diseases and it may even terminate fatally. With this form of the disease, numerous lesions appear on the head, legs, and trunk. The patches get progressively larger and some coalesce to form plaques. Secondary bacterial infections of the skin often occur to make the situation even worse.

To arrive at a diagnosis of demodicosis, your veterinarian will perform skin scrapings, which he will examine under the microscope. Skin biopsy will also help to confirm the presence of mites in the hair follicles.

Treatment of the condition is tedious and may be necessary for a long period of time in order to achieve a cure. For localized demodectic mange, one should apply an acaricidal preparation once daily to the affected areas. These medications must be thoroughly 'rubbed-in' to insure that they penetrate to the hair follicles, which is where the mites live. Treatment of the generalized form involves, first of all, clipping all hair from the dog. The animal is then treated in three sections (each comprising a third of the total body surface) with a solution of ronnel and propylene glycol. One of these sections is treated every day, so that a given third of the dog receives treatment every three days. This minimizes the possibility of creating a drug toxicity problem. Continuation of this treatment may be required for many weeks. Skin scrapings conducted during the course of the treatment allow your veterinarian to monitor the progress of treatment. A new product, not yet on the market, called Dermadene (Upjohn) promises to revolutionize the treatment of both demodectic and sarcoptic mange in dogs.

Sarcoptic mange (also known as 'canine scabies') is an intensely pruritic (itchy) transmissible skin disease of dogs. The condition is caused by the mite Sarcoptes scabiei, var. canis. Canine scabies can affect dogs of any age, sex, or breed, and is highly contagious. This one is also transmissible to humans, and frequently the owner and other household members develop skin lesions soon after the dog is affected.

Sarcoptes scabiei is known as the 'itch mite'. The female mite burrows into the skin of dogs to lay her eggs, but the dog mite does not burrow into human skin. Grooming demonstrations

The Ottawa Kennel Club has introduced grooming demonstrations at their sanction matches for the benefit of spectators and novices. The club hopes to help inform the public of this aspect of dog ownership by showing the work involved in maintaining a mature dog's coat. Demonstrations by breeder-members take place prior to the judging.

Classes in dog behaviour

A federal grant from the Young Canada Works program has been given to the Toronto Humane Society to hire four multilingual students to teach summer courses in dog behaviour to children, according to The Globe and Mail (May 4). Annette Christensen, assistant executive director of the society, explained that children, especially those from countries where pets are not so prevalent, are often bitten because they are not aware of how to interpret the facial expressions and body language of dogs. The program, which will give hints on pet care and how to deal with animal complaints, will be held at community centres, libraries and places where English is taught as a second language.

BOOKS

DIFFERENT BREEDS HAVE DIFFERENT NEEDS — and few books tell it like it is. The authors of Sheltie Talk and Beardie Basics know you don't feed, train or groom a Shetland Sheepdog and a Bearded Collie in the same way. There are even important differences at whelping time. Know the truth about your breed! Profile

BY JOAN MORDEN

When a British product is successful in the Canadian dog supplies market, that's not news. Many of our best known and most trusted items, whether they be conditioners, supplements or grooming aids, originated in Britain. But when trade moves in the other direction, that is news. Right today a Canadian-developed dog product is making it big in the British market and has the blessing of the Ontario Department of Trade and Development to help it along.

The newsworthy item is a dog food additive which sells under the trade name of Can-Addase but is popularly known in this part of the country as 'Tony Monk's stuff'. As one might surmise, product developer is Tony Monk, breeder, exhibitor and judge who thinks he's found the answer to dogs that we call 'bad doers'.

It seems quite appropriate that the British dog world has opened its doors to Tony and his product. Tony is English-born, raised and educated in Nottingham, a city famed for lace-making and early development of the French Bulldog. Tony's father raised and showed Pekingese as a hobby. And while this breed might be credited with introducing Monk junior to the world of dogs, his tastes lay more with the working breeds, specifically German Shepherds. Thus, one of the first things he did after emigrating to Canada in 1958 was to indulge his preference. He bought the Shepherd he had always wanted and made friends with breeder George Gerigs, now deceased, of Whitehart Kennels.

Mr. Gerigs must have recognized a fellow dog enthusiast when he met one because he took Tony under his wing and carefully instructed him in all the things he had learned about Shepherds during his career as breeder/trainer. Tony recalls that Gerigs had an extensive film library and that for two years he spent most weekends visiting Whitehart Kennels, studying the films, going over and grading Shepherds.

With such a background and Gerigs' encouragement, Tony applied for and received permission to judge his favourite breed. Qualifying under the former system of testing, Tony became one of Canada's youngest championship show judges. His first assignment was at the Sportsmen's Show. A prestigious beginning for a young man of 25.

Meanwhile he had begun a modest breeding program of his own and in 1962 registered his kennel prefix, Blaisenberg, a name taken from one that had belonged to a German kennel that had gone out of business in 1934. Now established in the Mississauga, Ont., area, Blaisenberg is home to about 20 adult German Shepherds, seven of which are champions. Puppy production runs from four to eight litters a year and Tony says most litters are well reserved before they are whelped.

Tony Monk.

In addition to the Shepherds, the Monks have one Doberman Pinscher, a wire Fox Terrier which belongs to Tony's son Wayne, and soon to be acquired, a Soft-coated Wheaten Terrier. In short, the Monks have taken to dogs as a family hobby. They all enjoy 'show weekends' and, win or lose, are having fun in the sport. Tony refuses to take either his wins or defeats too seriously. But he is very serious when it comes to breeding. For example, he believes that any kennel is only as good as its bitches. And he is fussy about the quality of the outside bitches brought to Blaisenberg studs for servicing. He says he has no trouble placing his puppies in suitable homes and that 80 percent of his sales are generated by the Kennel Directory of Dogs in Canada Annual. He has found that this publication encourages enquiries from serious buyers.

Of Shepherds generally, Tony says that in his opinion the most successful breeders are those who are the most critical of their own stock. He thinks that some may be over-emphasizing the importance of side gait to the detriment of other structural features. 'Blinded by side gait' is the way he puts it.

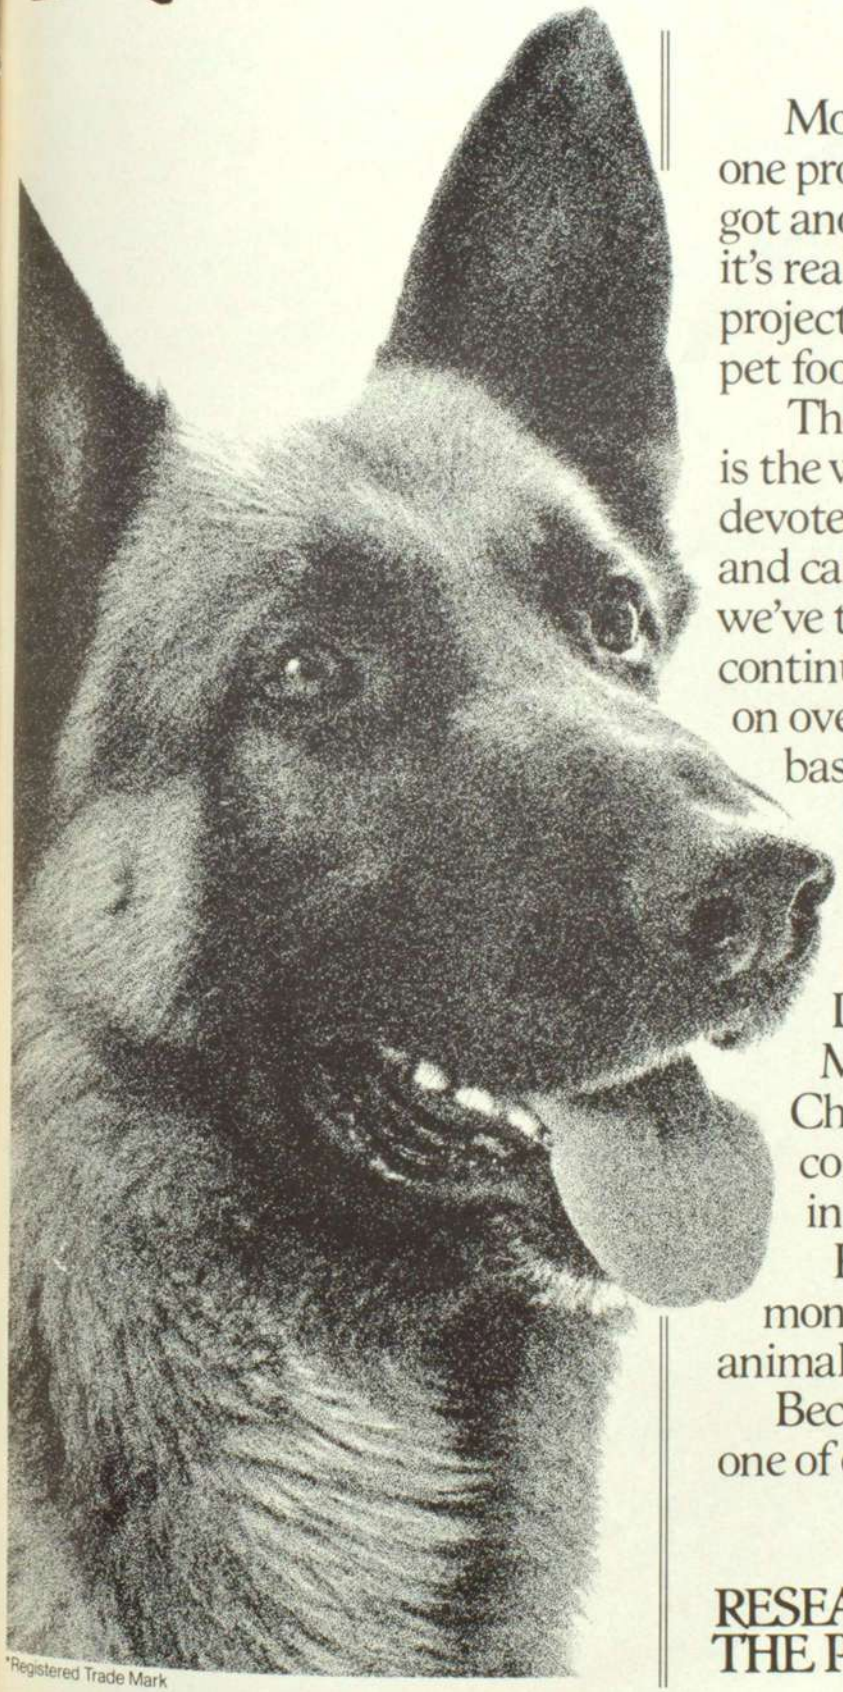

How did formulating Can-Addase come about? Developing a dog food 'improver' seems a far cry from Tony's training as a mechanical engineer. But it was the engineer's brand of logic that led to solving the riddle of the 'bad doer'.

Tony explains that for some time he had been puzzled about the dog that could not be brought into top condition no matter how well fed and tended. Littermates, in fact, could develop along entirely different lines. One would grow sound and strong in bone and muscle while its sibling stayed always a shade under par. He reasoned that if food and intake was optimum, some deficiency must be within the dog itself, an inability to utilize the nutrients available in balanced dog foods. He researched the question of canine digestion and from material obtained from the Ontario Veterinary College learned that dogs manufacture digestive enzymes which break down elements in a balanced dog food converting these into nutrients which are absorbed into the blood stream. While all dogs were supposed to produce an adequate supply of these enzymes, Tony reasoned that an enzyme deficiency could be responsible for the 'bad doers'. To test this theory he put together an enzyme supplement and tried it out on his own dogs.

Results were 100 percent successful. After more experimenting and palatability was increased and, as a bonus, lactobacillus in proper balance was added. Results continued to be excellent and Tony was convinced he was onto something good. A company was formed and Can-Addase went into production. On the market for a few months now, breeders who have used the supplement are enthusiastic and Tony has a growing file of unsolicited testimonials describing its benefits. He stresses that this is not an additive. It contains no vitamins, minerals or food elements — protein, fat or carbohydrate — that would unbalance a correctly formulated commercial dog food. It is a natural product that makes a quality dog food more digestible. He fully expects Can-Addase will have its copiers but laughs, saying that when he hears another enzyme supplement described as being 'just as good as Can-Addase' that will be the day he'll know his product has it made.
